Coffman Elected Utilities Chairman At Tuesday Meet

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector Managing Editor

George Coffman was elected chairman of the Greenville Utilities Commission Tuesday night.

Coffman, owner of Coffman's Mens Wear here, succeeds Dr. Howard Gradis, who told the commission last night that he would be unable to serve as chairman for another year. Gradis remains as a member of the commission. Coffman has served on the commission for five years and was recently appointed to a second five-year term.

Tom Shea, a Burroughs Wellcome executive, was named vice chairman of the commission. He succeeds Dr. Ray D. Minges, who nominated Shea.

Curtis Howell was renamed secretary and Donald Hudson was renamed assistant secretary to the commission.

The commission looked at a lot of deficit figures in the March financial report.

The operating income statement showed deficits for the electric, water and sewer operations. The electric deficit was $73,550, water, $13,485 and sewer, $13,718. Only the gas department showed a net income of $32,048. The total monthly deficit for all operations was $68,706.

Director Charles Horne said the report "doesn't look too bright." But, he pointed out, new electric rates recently instituted had not begun to reflect in March.

Horne also reported that GUC made its largest payment for electric power purchase in March — $1,080,000. On a bright note, Horne reported that the fuel charge is scheduled to drop this month.

Commissioners approved a rate increase for gas of 11.27 cents per million cubic feet to offset an increase from GUC's supplier.

Other matters the commission considered at the meeting:

—heard report that natural gas may be in short supply during the summer.

—heard report that a site for future new water treatment plant has been acquired.

GEORGE COFFMAN

—adopted resolution accepting state grant of $62,270 for the West Greenville sewer system addition and heard that an Economic Development grant may be possible.

—approved policy for budget billing program for electric heat customers.

—heard that work was underway on proposed 1975-76 budget.

—heard report on fiscal control act, as it affects GUC.

—heard report that Environment Protection Agency had ordered further treatment of affluent from Sewage disposal plant and ordered chlorinator at cost of $5,214, —authorized director to discuss further with two developers the cost of extending water lines to their subdivisions.

Voted ERA 13-2

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina House Constitutional Amendments Committee gave a favorable report today to a bill to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The final vote in the committee was 13-3 in favor of ratification. It came after the committee voted 10-6 against a motion to report the bill out without prejudice.

The bill is expected to come up for debate as a special order of business on the House floor next Tuesday. ERA sponsor, Rep. Herbert Hyde, D-Buncombe, said he believes there are 65 or more favorable votes on the floor. There are 120 representatives.

Hyde predicted the debate would last two days. He said he did not think it would change many minds about the amendment, but that a handful of persons were still undecided and wanted to hear both sides.

Today's committee vote followed more than two months of wrangling over the amendment, which included charges that committee chairman Rep. Hartwell Campbell, D-Wilson, was stalling in an attempt to kill the bill.

Campbell denied the charge and said he wanted to thoroughly study the issue before reporting it from the committee. Two subcommittees he named to study the effect of ERA on state laws and state government reported to the full panel today.

Eight Hanged

..SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Eight persons convicted of plotting against President Chung Hee Park's government were hanged today, the Defense Ministry announced. ..They were the only executions to result from the emergency decrees Park issued in late 1973 and early 1974 to quell a growing wave of demonstrations demanding democratic reforms to modify his dictatorial rule, officials said. Six other persons including poet Kim Chiha and some student leaders were sentenced to death with them, but their sentences were commuted to life imprisonment. ..On Tuesday the Supreme Court upheld the other death sentences passed by special military courts. ..The eight men were members of the outlawed left-wing People's Revolutionary party and were arrested in April 1974. They were charged with conspiring to launch an uprising that would replace Park with a Communist regime.

Provincial Capital Bitterly Contested

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — North Vietnamese troops fought their way into the heart of a provincial capital 40 miles east of Saigon today in the five-week-old Communist offensive's first attack on a major city in the capital region, the South Vietnamese command reported.

At the same time, more opposition politicians in Saigon went into hiding to avoid a further police crackdown on dissent following the bombing attack Tuesday on President Nguyen Van Thieu's palace by an air force pilot, political sources said.

The attack on Xuan Loc, the capital of Long Khanh Province, began before dawn after a 2,000-round artillery barrage. Street fighting was reported around a church and the bus station, but later field reports said most of the North Vietnamese had been driven from the city, leaving small pockets of resistance.

Secret police reportedly moved on the homes of at least two opposition leaders hours after the apparent assassination attempt. The sources said the politicians had been warned by friends and had gone into hiding to avoid arrest.

The battle promised to be the first test of whether the demoralized South Vietnamese army could make an effective stand after its devastating retreat from the northern and central provinces. However, it was too early to tell whether the attack on Xuan Loc was te start of an offensive against Saigon itself.

The city is the headquarters of the 18th infantry division and an armored cavalry unit which have been under heavy North Vietnamese pressure in the area for several weeks.

Other North Vietnamese or Viet Cong forces overran a district capital near one of the Saigon government's few remaining footholds on the central coast and made a number of smaller attacks in the Mekong Delta. Most of the latter were reported between 70 and 120 miles southwest of Saigon.

In Cambodia, the Khmer Rouge insurgents cut the supply road and railroad between the Thai border and Battambang, the country's second largest city, and there was almost continuous fighting on the east bank of the Mekong River across from Phnom Penh and at Kompong Speu, an isolated provincial capital 30 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

Premier Long Boret began picking up the reins of the government again after accompany President Lon Nol abroad, but he refused to confirm or deny a report that he met Monday night in Bangkok with representatives of the Khmer Rouge.

Wallace Charges Liberal Conspiracy

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has come to North Carolina to fight what he says is a conspiracy of liberal Democrats trying to thwart his unannounced presidential candidacy.

Wallace was due to speak this morning to a committee of the North Carolina Senate which is considering a bill to abolish the state's presidential primary.

Wallace won the 1972 North Carolina primary easily. He also won in Tennessee and Michigan. In those three states, as well as Texas, he and his campaign aides feel there is an effort afoot to deny him the 1976 delegates he feels should be his.

Wallace flew to Raleigh Tuesday night. At an airport news conference, he said, "Some top leaders of the Democratic party — the so-called liberals— are involved in a concerted effort to get rid of me by taking away the primaries. They don't want the average man to speak."

Abolition of the primary would mean a serious diminution of Wallace's strength in North Carolina and other states, he believes. "The average man doesn't have time to stay up all night at conventions (where delegates are selected in non-primary states) like the liberal activists. He's got to go to work the next day."

An Associated Press survey of the states mentioned by Wallace found efforts underway in each of the legislatures to abolish or alter the primary.

In Michigan, the chairman of the House Election Laws Committee has called for abolition, saying the primary wastes money and proves nothing. Wallace aides say United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock is behind the move.

A UAW vice president, Donald Frazier, said he opposes the primary but the union is not lobbying against it.

The Texas legislature is finishing work on a bill to give that state a primary for the first time. The bill's sponsors acknowledge help in writing it from presidential aspirant Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex.

The Texas bill would elect 75 per cent of the state's delegates in 31 district races. Wallace aides note that there would be no proportionate shares of those delegates awarded and say it would probably work to Bentsen's advantage.

Asks Wesleyan College Be An ECU Branch

ROCKY MOUNT. N.C. (AP) — The chairman of the board of North Carolina Wesleyan College has proposed that the Methodist institution become a branch of East Carolina University for at least two years.

Earlier this year, the trustees asked that the state take over operation of the four-year college, which is in deep financial trouble.

Dr. William Friday, president of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, has recommended against state takeover.

The new proposal came in a letter from Chairman J. Phillip Carlton to the University of North Carolina Board of Governors and was intended as an alternative to the earlier request. The letter was sent Monday but was made public today.

In the letter, made public today, Carlton proposed that the financially troubled college be operated as a constitutent institution or as a branch of East Carolina for not less than two years. During that time Friday would monitor the college operation to determine if it were "serving a useful purpose."

The recommendation will be discussed at the governors' meeting Friday.

If the decision were made to close the school, the facilities would be turned over to the Council of State of "the appropriate state agency," Carlton said.

Calton has indicated that the school will not reopen next fall unless state aid or a substantial private grant is forthcoming.

Leo Jenkins, chancellor of East Carolina, said his institution would not object to taking over N.C. Wesleyan.

VIETNAMESE ADOPTION—HOW?

How does one begin proceedings to adopt a Vietnamese child? B. J.

Hotline has had several inquiries similar to yours. Nguyen Van Phuong of the Embassy of Vietnam said all the children being evacuated from South Vietnam now have already either been adopted or are being brought to the United States with agreements already made for them to be adopted immediately. In other words, the proceedings for each of their placements were made long ago.

However, Phuong supplied the names of several agencies which are licensed to conduct intercountry adoptions. One he recommended, which Mary Lehman of Pitt County Social Services Department's Protective Services Division also mentioned is Holt's Children's Service of Vietnam, Box 2420, Eugene, Ore. 97402.

"There are many more American families seeking to adopt Vietnamese children than there are Vietnamese children available for adoption," Phuong said. He said persons wishing to adopt a Vietnamese child must comply with the laws of the state in which they reside, Vietnamese adoption law, and United States immigration law.

The first step, Phuong and Mrs. Lehman said, is to contact the local agency (County Social Services) and be vertified as meeting the adoption requirements of this state. Of course, contact may also be made with the agency.

Hotline has an adoption information sheet sent from the Embassy of Vietnam and names of several other agencies, but we are not publishing these because of lack of space and because we are not sure all are still active. Anyone wishing to see the list may visit The Daily Reflector news room.

REFUSE IT

How can I stop getting packages in the mail that I do not want? I recently got a book from the National Wildlife Library that I had not ordered. E. K.

When you receive any package you do not want, you should leave it unopened and write REFUSED, the date, and your signature on it. The Post Office will then return it at no cost to you, said Jim Wainwright, assistant superintendent of mails of the Greenville Post Office. It also would be wise to write to the company, telling them you are returning the package in this manner and do not wish to receive any others, he said.

Giving Away Work

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Job-hunting is tough in these times, but Del Ausland has prospective employers calling daily. No doubt about it, his price is right.

Ausland, a truck driver and businessman, put a classified ad in the local newspaper recently that read:

"40-year-old man would like to work free one day per week (for exercise and to help farmer)."

He said he received nine calls through Tuesday, but already has settled on the man he'll be working for.

"Instead of paying for a health club, I decided to do what I did as a boy — pitch hay and manure, plow, disc," he said.

Now he's toiling from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. one day a week for Norman Moe, who has a 160-acre dairy operation just outside Rochester.

Ausland, who is married and has a 3-year-old daughter, averages two round trips to Chicago weekly for the trucking company. In addition, he owns a beauty parlor. Between them, he says he makes enough money so he can afford to give away one day of work.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Band lead "Skitch" Henderson has surrendered at the Allenwood federal penitentiary to begin a six-month term for filing flase income tax returns.

Landed At VC Airfield

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The jet pilot who bombed President Nguyen Van Thieu's palace Tuesday landed later at a Viet Cong-held airfield, a spokesman for the Viet Cong delegation to the Joint Military Commission in Saigon said today.

The spokesman said the flier was promoted from lieutenant to captain and given the Liberation Distinction Service Order Second Class.

He declined to give the exact location of where the plane had landed.

South Vietnamese authorities earlier had identified the pilot as 1st Lt. Nguyen Thanh Trung, who was stationed at Bien Hoa Air Base 15 miles north of Saigon.

He took off on a routine mission Tuesday in support of South Vietnamese government ground troops, then turned toward Saigon to strike at the palace, they said.

Thieu, who was not hurt in the attack, later vowed he would remain in office despite growing pressures that he resign. At least two other persons in the palace compound were reported killed in the attack.

After making the bomb run, the pilot and plane — a South Vietnamese air force F5 fighter-bomber — vanished.

Israeli Official Coming To U.S.

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon will go to Washington next week for talks with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, the government announced today.

On Tuesday qualified Israeli sources said the government was considering making an offer to withdraw from half the occupied Sinai Desert to promote a second stage peace pact with Egypt.

HHH Manager To Stand Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge has let stand a federal indictment accusing Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's 1970 campaign manager of arranging an illegal $12,000 campaign contribution from Associated Milk Producers, Inc.

In refusing to dismiss the indictment Tuesday, Judge Edward Weinfeld ordered the defendant, Minneapolis lawyer Jack L. Chestnut, to stand trial May 5 on one count of willfully violating federal election laws.

Bad News: 'There's No Wrinkle Eraser'

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Hardly a likely source to debunk antiwrinkle creams — he formulated a product that some dermatologists have said must have those properties — Dr. Frank P. Panzarella insists "there is no such thing as an antiwrinkle cream and it is about time women realized it."

Panzarella achieved a Ph.D. in biochemistry and has taught biochemistry at Fordham University. He is speaking out because "so much malarkey has been disseminated about skin creams.

"The skin is divided into three parts," he explained. "The lowest is subcutaneous fatty tissue, the next part is dermis and the next is epidermis.

"It is the dermis, often referred to as the true skin, that has the collagen, that is responsible for young people having firm and elastic skin. With age, and some people say with ultraviolet of the sun, deterioration of collagen takes place and the skin becomes less firm."

It is the dermis that would need to respond to outer treatment, but it isn't possible. Even though there is a lot of emphasis on creams containing collagen in Europe and the United States "it cannot get through the skin to the dermis."

The surface of the skin, the stratum corneum, is a tough barrier that keeps materials from entering the body and it prevents essential materials from leaving the body, he contends. About one-thousandth of an inch, it consists of 15 or 20 layers of dead cells that were formed at the junction of the dermis and epidermis. Nearing the surface, they break down and become lifeless.

"It is these lifeless cells you see when you describe a woman as having beautiful skin," he remarked. "Actually you see only lifeless cells of hair, nails and skin when you look at her.

The stratum corneum gets thinner as we age, he says, and the aging process cannot be changed by stuffing oneself with any particular mineral, vitamin or anything else "no matter how much we hear about miracles.

"In our laboratories we have prepared highly purified diets providing every amino acid, fatty acid, polyunsaturated fats and so on, maintaining animals on it and we have discovered that all of these things are essential — the body is balanced. The lack of any one thing can bring about changes to the skin. There is no single factor for aging," says Panzarella, who is president of the 50-year-old Doak Pharmacal Co., that makes more than 30 products for dermatologists. It entered the consumer field about 10 years ago.

"No matter what is put on the skin, taken by mouth or injected, the aging process in the dermis will not change. Certain dermatologists are equipped to perform dermabrasion to get new young tissue to form in the derma, but it is a risky procedure in hands that are not expert," he cautions.

The only thing that can be done for the skin is to provide moisture to the stratum corneum and retain it. Moisture creams should perform this function, but none do, in his opinion.

Sun contributes to the wrinkling of aging skin if one doesn't use sun screens and air conditioning has drying effects, he warns. An ideal climate would be moist and sunless, but "no one would want to live there."

The cream he formulated was originally intended for minor irritants and is known by the number of the experiment which was successful after more than 400 tries. Its smoothing qualities appealed to dermatologists who concluded it must have antiwrinkle properties.

"It looked as if wrinkles disappeared, but actually the cream binds moisture to the stratum corneum, plumping the surface to give the appearance of smooth and unlined skin," Panzarella explained.

When cosmetics companies are forced to list ingredients in their products by a government ruling which will take effect next year, Panzarella's secret will not be revealed — he was able to patent the use of two moisture-binding agents.

"There really isn't a cream in the world worth more than 25 cents for two ounces," he continued, "but other things add up — the cost of containers, boxes, labels, advertising, promotion and so on."

Looking far younger than his years, Panzarella's own age-defying skin program includes using a cream at night, a deep-action cleanser and mild and controlled abrasion which helps remove dead skin cells "which just don't pop off," he says.

BIOCHEMIST Dr. Frank P. Panzarella in his laboratory.

Cut a slice from tops of small tomatoes (rinsed and dried) and scoop out about ½ inch of the tomato pulp to form slight indentations. Fill indentations with minced sweet onion and dot with butter, then sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a moderate oven just until the tomatoes are hot through — 20 minutes or so.

Homemaker's Haven

By SUE B. MAY
Home Economics
Extension Agent

Home safety is always an important subject and the safety of mobile homes is no exception. The mobile home has come into prominence in recent years as a source of family housing for millions of people. Many innovations have come about in mobile home designs making them quite attractive to all type families especially retirees, young marrieds, military personnel and students.

Mobile homes meet a real need in our society; they are attractive, comfortable, and provide relatively low-cost housing. They are, however, necessarily of light weight construction and generally have flat sides and ends. Because of this, they are quite vulnerable to high winds. The winds of hurricanes, tornadoes, or even severe thunderstorms can toss mobile homes around, roll them over and smash them into other property. Reports and field tests have shown that winds as low as sixty miles per hour have overturned mobile homes.

Tying the mobile home down securely will help provide protection from severe winds for both the occupants and the unit itself. Severe wind conditions such as have been experienced this spring make us more conscious of the importance of having mobile units securely anchored. Late model units have anchor straps built in at the factory but many of the older models do not. A complete kit for a mobile home without built-in straps is available on the market at a reasonable price.

Extension housing specialists suggest the following general recommendations for anchoring a mobile home:

1. Locate foundation piers at about ten-feet intervals under the frame.
2. Piers should be of concrete or steel.
3. Footings under block piers should be sixteen inches by sixteen inches by six inches.
4. Anchor ties should be attached to the outriggers of the frame or over the top of the coach.
5. Ties passing over the coach should be fastened securely to the coach at both top corners. Commercial metal roof brackets are available for use with both cable and strap over-the-top ties.
6. At least one anchor should be placed near each front and rear corner of the unit — more are recommended where strong winds are prevalent.
7. Several types of anchors are available — one may be better for a certain type soil than another. Reliable dealers will be equipped to provide detailed information as to the proper type anchor for each individual situation.

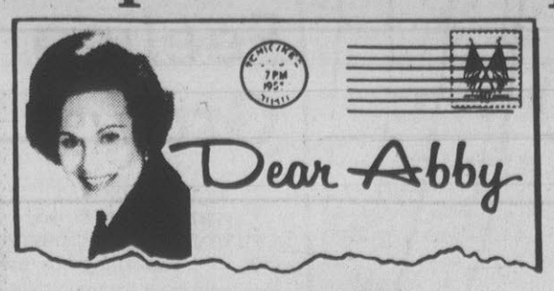
People Can Inspect Credit File



By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Some additional information on how one can improve his credit rating: Under federal law, anyone is permitted to inspect his (or her) credit file and offer corrections and inaccuracies. Erroneous information can result in a poor credit rating.

If one is refused a loan or a charge account, he has the right to know the name and address of the consumer reporting agency or credit company that supplied the adverse information.

This law applies to investigation reports causing denial of a job and is contained in Title 15, U.S. Code, section 1681.

DENNIS B. KAVANAUGH, ATTORNEY AT LAW

DEAR MR. K.: Thanks for the addition.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have only one child, a son, now married and living in California. (We live in New York.)

My elderly mother is very ill, and her days are numbered. She has always relied heavily on me, and being a very dutiful daughter, I gave her lots of time and attention. Because of this, my son has never been too fond of his grandmother. However, my son, husband and I are very close.

While talking to my son (long distance), I said, "Keep your woolen suit pressed because you will need it when you come east for your grandmother's funeral." His reply: "I hadn't planned on coming."

When I told my husband this, he said, "If he doesn't want to come, don't hassle him."

Abby, don't you think that out of respect for my feelings, my son should come for his grandmother's funeral? I offered to pay his plane fare both ways. If I had brothers and sisters, the situation would be different, but my husband and my son and his family are all I have.

I don't mean to be a demanding mother, but in a time of sorrow I feel it would be comforting to have those dear to me near. Would I be unreasonable to insist that he come?

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If your son, knowing how much you want him near you in your sorrow, chooses not to come, shame on him. But if you, knowing that he doesn't really want to come, insist that he does—then shame on you!

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago, I wrote asking if you knew of a travel club for nonsmokers. You replied that you did not, but suggested I contact the American Cancer Society. They did not know of any either.

Now there is one! The Nonsmokers' Travel Club, which I was instrumental in forming. We are an off-shoot of GASP (Group Against Smokers' Pollution), and now have 71 members. We are in the Washington D.C. area, but have members from all over the U.S.A.

We have two domestic bus trips, and three foreign trips planned for 1975. Our buses will have nonsmoking drivers and nonsmoking tour guides. Our foreign trips will travel in the nonsmoking section of scheduled airliners. Once at our destination, we will travel in our own bus with a nonsmoking driver and guide.

If you think this will be of interest to your readers, please mention it in your widely read column.

MILDRED A. POST, CHAIRPERSON

DEAR MILDRED: It's mentioned. Those interested in traveling without the annoyance of tobacco smoke may write to me (and please include a stamped, addressed envelope) for the address of the smoke-free travel club.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Put Springtime In Fruit Jam

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

No doubt about it. Not since grandmother's day has there been so much interest in "putting up" foods. The craft renaissance has helped bring this about.

Now through May, when rhubarb is in its peak season, is the time to consider putting up Spring Fruit Jam in which rhubarb is combined with strawberries and pineapple. This jam is delicious; when we made it and gave away most of our yield, the recipients lauded it.

The recipe calls for processing in a boiling water bath because the U.S. Agricultural Research Service now recommends this procedure for jams in order to protect their quality.

SPRING FRUIT JAM

2 pounds rhubarb
1 quart basket or 2 pint baskets strawberries
20-ounce can crushed pineapple, undrained
16-ounce bottle light corn syrup
6 cups sugar

Cut off the leaves and trim the stem end of the rhubarb stalks. Slice stalks into ½-inch pieces; turn into a large saucepot. Rinse, hull and crush strawberries; add to rhubarb with pineapple, corn syrup and sugar. Over medium heat bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Continue boiling, stirring often, until mixture begins to hold its shape in a spoon — 35 to 45 minutes. Remove from heat; skim. Ladle into clean hot preserving jars leaving ¼-inch headspace. Seal immediately according to jar manufacturer's directions. Process in a boiling water bath for 10 minutes. Cool on a wire rack. Label and store in a cool dry place. Makes about 9 one-half pint jars.

Included are: Mrs. Ruth Cox, president; Mrs. Arlene Collins, vice president; Mrs. Muriel Modlin, recording secretary; Mrs. Frances Cassick, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Goin, treasurer; and Mrs. Helen T. Sermons, education director.

Members voted to send $25 to the Loveland Home for retired EDS members, located in Loveland, Col., and $25 to the North Carolina ESA scholarship fund.

Members entertained residents of the Greenville Nursing Home at a "have fun party" last week.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Odell Evans.

HEW Failed To Do Homework

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare's office of Civil Rights has told the UNC Board of Governors to suspend planning for a School of Veterinary Medicine at N.C. State University.

It has told UNC President William Friday to do new racial impact studies and if North Carolina still persists in locating a School of Veterinary Medicine at N.C. State then the state must put a comparable institution in stature and attractiveness at North Carolina A&T.

The letter in discussing previous study of the matter said, "The study appears to justify the continued inequality between predominantly black and predominantly white institutions and fails to take into account actions promised in the plan to enhance the predominant black institutions."

Well, apparently HEW failed to do its homework on this issue, or else it really doesn't care too much about the facts.

As we understood the thrust of the civil rights action of the 1960s, it was to end segregation, not perpetuate it. This is being done as more and more blacks are admitted to the previously white institutions. These young blacks would have gone to the all-black schools in the days of total segregation. The answer here, however, is to encourage whites to go to the former black campuses.

As for "continued inequality between predominantly black and predominantly white institutions", the facts on annual expenditures per student simply don't bear that out.

It is true that N.C. State has more money to spend per student than N.C. A&T. $3,485 to $2,553, according to the 1974-75 figures.

But many other state universities fall well below N.C. A&T in annual expenditures per students and most of them are the former all-white institutions.

There are nine below A&T: ECU, $2,283; Appalachian, $2,246; Fayetteville, $2,309; N.C. Central, $2,272; Pembroke, $2,161; Charlotte, $2,015; Greensboro, $2,494; Wilmington, $2,320; West Carolina, $2,192.

Admittedly there are a number of factors which go into such figures; some programs are more expensive than others. But it can readily be seen that, though there is a difference in what is spent on a per student basis at the various institutions, it in no way follows the lines of formerly all-white or all-black universities.

The capricious letter from HEW has created some grumbling in the Legislature about the vet school matter, with some thought being given to the idea of forgetting the whole thing. With money so short this idea could be attractive.

We hope, however, that the Legislature will go on and appropriate a token amount for the vet school so that a court case can be made of this ruling. Given the facts in the case, North Carolina should be able to rely on the fairness of the courts to obtain a reasonable ruling on this matter.

KEY MEMBER OF THE QUARTET IS MISSING!

Bitter Feeling Grows

By DENIS D.GRAY
Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — "The Americans appear to be great humanitarians. They give temporary aid, but ultimately they think only of themselves," the former government minister said. "We in Cambodia have been seduced and abandoned."

Resentment against the United States is mounting among Phnom Penh's political elite. It is being stoked by a growing feeling that the U.S. Congress will turn down further military aid to Cambodia and that its delay on the vote is a parting act of cruelty.

The domino theory is not a debating point here in higher political circles. It is accepted as an undeniable law.

Government leaders insist that if the United States deserts Cambodia, all of Southeast Asia will go Communist. They argue U.S. honor will be spoiled and Asian allies may well side with the Communist regime in China rather than believe the bankrupt word of the Americans.

But there is little evidence of anti-Americanism among those who do not hear the latest news from Washington. Frontline soldiers and Phnom Penh's average citizens say they cannot believe there may soon be no American bullets for their rifles or rice for their bowls.

Americans are regarded as being on "their side;" such loyalties are simply not severed in their insular world.

"I don't think America will let us die," one young soldier on Phnom Penh's southern defense line says.

Among Phnom Penh's major groups, only the students have called for an end to U.S. aid, saying it prolongs the agony of war. Unlike South Vietnam, where an undercurrent of anti-Americanism has existed for years, there have been no overt acts of hostility reported against Americans in areas of Cambodia still controlled by the government.

Many government leaders see American policy in Cambodia as oddly ineffective and any U.S. withdrawal of aid as pure betrayal. A composite attitude gathered from numerous interviews runs this way:

—The United States supported the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, and its troops invaded the country in 1970 to protect U.S. soldiers and hasten their withdrawal from South Vietnam. The United States also bound itself to the Phnom Penh government through vast monetary aid and — until August 1973 — by air support.

—Americans have obviously interfered in internal Cambodian affairs, but they failed to exert the pressure needed to force out useless and corrupt generals and inert leaders, including President Lon Nol. By their almost schizophrenic approach the Americans are in large part responsible for the near collapse of the Phnom Penh government.

Cabinet ministers, legislators and former officials insist that with more aid an energetic government could be generated and peace concluded through a formula of military strength and willingness to negotiate. Their solutions, however, are vague, almost fanciful, as are their explanations why five years of such aid has produced only military and political failure.

Crime Conflict In Focus

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—Debate on the floor of the Senate as bills put forth by a penal reform commission are argued is bringing into sharp focus two directly opposing viewpoints on crime in the General Assembly.

The first proposals are relatively minor ones: don't charge an inmate for escape if he voluntarily returns within 24 hours when he was outside on work or study release; let a sentence for escape run along with the active sentence already in effect.

These are the first of a host of reform measures generated by a commission chaired by former State Senator Eddie Knox of Charlotte.

Yet to come up for floor action are such highly controversial reforms as pre-court diversion—allowing the district attorney and a suspect to sign a contract for rehabilitation action thereby avoiding trial, conviction, and a criminal record; and the "quick-dip" sentencing system which would give a convict a six-month look at the inside of a prison, then parole him. Also, uniform sentencing systems, early parole, mandatory parole, and others.

Reduce Inmates

State Senator Lamar Gudger, D-Buncombe, chief sponsor of the reform legislation, defends the movement as designed not only to cut down on numbers of inmates in prison, but to catch and correct problems in young, first offenders; hopefully sidetracking a life of crime.

Stiff opposition has already sprung up to those early, minor changes—promising even more bitter argument when the heavier pieces of legislation come up for consideration.

Senator Donald R. Kincaid, the senate's lone Republican, joined the opposition largely headed by Democrats Thomas E. Strickland of Goldsboro, and Harold W. Hardison of Deep Run.

The principal line of the opposition is that reform action is largely directed at liberalization, and that runs against the demands of grassroots Tar Heels.

Kincaid denounced the 24-hour return period as a "furlough, a head start on another crime," and warned that future consideration of the quick-dip sentencing innovation will be in reality offering a "quick-trip" for inmates headed for more trouble.

The vote was fairly close—26 for the measure; 17 against. But Hardison and Strickland argue that senators are not hearing the voices back home demanding the state crack down on crime rather than getting easier.

"You know, as long as that voice is way off yonder in the wilderness, we don't pay it much attention. But you just wait till it happens to you, or your neighbor," Hardison argued.

Free Murder

He described a case in his county in which a man was sentenced to 50 years in prison for a "cold-blooded murder. . .and after just five years that man is going about his business in the community, hunting and fishing and visiting relatives. People are sick and tired of this. There is something wrong in our society, and the people are not going to let this continue."

Strickland, who plans to run for governor to give conservative, grassroots opinion a voice, says both urban and rural crime is growing so rapidly it is the number-one problem in the state and demands prompt attention.

There are scattered reports from across North Carolina of citizen-backed vigilante organizations springing up: farmers who band together and take turns patrolling rural roads, jotting down license plate numbers and descriptions of strange cars; various court-watch activities in which citizens monitor trials and sentences; community crime prevention societies to test local attitudes and monitor police performance.

Kincaid told follow senators about one group in his home county (Caldwell) in the subrubs and rural areas surrounding Lenoir.

The Gamewell Community Crime Prevention Society, he said he grown rapidly to 75 members.

Washington Celebrities

WASHINGTON—Something is happening in Washington. For the first time newspapermen are becoming more famous than the people they write about. I don't know if you can credit Spiro Agnew or the Nixon White House gang for the trend, but it's having a tremendous effect on the business, and some journalists are finding it difficult to handle their celebrity status.

As soon as Burt Brillo broke the story on the break-in of the Wesley Heights Taco Hut, he was besieged by other reporters wanting to do profiles on him. Brillo, who happened to be a police reporter at the time, achieved stardom overnight by discovering that the Taco Hut had been used by the CIA to feed their midnight-to-8 a.m. shift. While this in itself would have been enough to make it a front-page story, a source whom Brillo has yet to name leaked the fact that two of the employees of the Taco Hut had entered the United States illegally from Mexico.

It was luck plus perserverance that made Brillo the most talked about man in Washington.

Besides getting a book contract to write the story of how he broke the story, Brillo was also signed up for a lecture tour and was interviewed by Barbara Walters, Mike Douglas, Dinah Shore, Merv Griffin and Johnny Carson—all on the same day.

Through his press agent I managed to get an interview with Burt in his ranch house overlooking Capitol Hill. The press agent warned me I could only spend 30 minutes with him as Women's Wear Daily was going to take pictures at 5 o'clock.

I didn't know what to expect when I rang the doorbell, but I was pleasantly surprised to find Brillo a warm, sensitive human being who hadn't allowed all the adulation to go to his head.

We sat by the swimming pool and a Japanese manservant brought us gin and tonics.

"Most people," he said, "think that newspapermen are different. But actually I'm just like anyone else except I live better and pay more taxes. Sure, I was lucky in the Taco Hut break-in, but I find in this business you're only as good as your next story. That's why I'm being very careful what I choose for my next assignment. Oh, I've been offered lots of reporting jobs, but they're all junk-bank robberies, embezzlements, espionage trials and even a war or two. But I'm not about to rush into anything. I have to think of my future."

Mr. Brillo, there was a rumor that Omar Sharif was going to play you in the movies. How do you feel about that?"

"Omar tried to buy the story, but I don't think he'd be right for it. I told the producers if they could get Al Pacino or Steve McQueen, I would be interested. I don't want to make the error Woodward and Berstein did by having two nobodies like Robert Redford and Dustin Hoffman portray them. Most police reporters make the mistake of selling their stories without casting approval."

"What's the toughest thing

Other Editors Say Picking Battlefield

(Greensboro Daily News)

One side-effect of the Watergate affair was to stimulate bidding for the Democrats' 1976 national convention. The other day the party's site selection committee heard city officials from Cleveland and Kansas City make strong bids for the convention. But that was considered no more than a warmup for the main bout, a free-for-all among Los Angeles, New Orleans, New York and Miami Beach.

Cleveland and Kansas City already have two strikes each because they lack the hotel and motel rooms to accommodate the convention delegates. Their combined record for producing losing nominees amounts to a third strike against them.

Each has been the scene of a single national convention since 1856, when the Republican Party was formed and the modern two-party system came into existence. The Democrats nominated Williams Jennings Bryan at Kansas City in 1900 and the GOP nominated Alfred M. Landon at Cleveland in 1936. Both candidates got buried alive at the polls.

If the Democrats chose their convention cities on the strength of past performance, they would pick Chicago (which doesn't much want the 1976 convention), Philadelphia (another non-bidder), Los Angeles or Atlantic City: Nine of the party's 12 presidents in the last 119 years were nominated in those cities. Chicago conventions produced five winners in 10 tries. Philadelphia is batting two for two and Los Angeles and Atlantic City each had one hit for one at bat. The two New York conventions, by contrast, generated the nominations of Horatio Seymour in 1868 and John W. Davis in 1924. Neither ever won free room and board at the White House.

The truth is that if the Democrats could unite around a candidate from the party's moderate (by Democratic standards) center, they probably could have a winner even if they held their convention next year in a tent city on the outskirts of Grand Rapids, Mich. But if they again split up into factions warring over ideology, they might do well just to call the thing off altogether.

The INSIDE REPORT

Strauss Found A Big Ally

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss sealed an important victory over the party's left wing by quietly procuring undercover help from one of the left's most prestigious figures: Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers (UAW).

On the day before Democratic state chairmen elected a head of their organization, Strauss persuaded Woodcock to halt UAW support for Alabama state chairman Robert Vance. That insured victory for Donald Fowler, South Carolina's pro-Strauss state chairman, over Vance, a bitter personal foe of Strauss who became allied with the party's most militant liberals.

Woodcock's assist reflects Strauss's success in broadening his political base after being elected national chairman in December 1972 by moderate-to-conservative Democrats . While compromises and retreats have cost Strauss support among old-line AFL-CIO leaders, he has won new allies on the left — such as Leonard Woodcock.

Woodcock's underlings have been another matter, however. William Dodd, UAW national political action director, and other functionaries of the big union were collaborating with left-of-center unionists to reelect Vance. What's more, their overriding intent was to discredit Strauss and establish the state chairmen's organization under Vance as a rival to the Strauss-run national headquarters.

On March 19, Strauss telephoned Woodcock in Detroit. He informed the UAW chief that his lieutenants "are messin' in my affairs." Strauss then detailed four separate cases of UAW operatives pressuring state chairmen to vote for Vance.

Strauss reminded Woodcock that they had worked closely together to compromise intra-party disputes and promote liberal legislation. Hadn't he always played square, Strauss asked. But now, he said, this silly business was keeping him from working for progressive programs on Capitol Hill by consuming his time.

was news to him. He was leaving Detroit in one hour, he told Strauss, but he could make good use of that hour . He did. Woodcock effectively neutralized UAW operatives in the closing hours of the Vance-Fowler campaign.

That not only guaranteed Fowler's election, but undermined attempt to forge the left-of-center unions into a monolithic opposition against Strauss.

A footnote: What to do about Strauss consumed much closed-door discussion time during the recent national meeting in Chicago of Democratic liberals. The consensus seemed to be that the only way to get rid of him soon was through indictment on technical charges arising from an illegal political contribution by Ashland Oil Co. covering two years — 1970 and 1971 — a prospect viewed as remote by Strauss and his aides.

Teddy Out West

Among the reasons Democratic politicians put less than full faith in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's pledge that "I will not accept a draft" for President in 1976 are backstage developments such as a secret meeting between him and Southern California Democratic fat-cats set for April 12 at the Bel Aire mansion of Carroll

Strength For Today

WHAT IS MAN?

One answer is: He is a collection of sulphur, lime, fat, phosphorus, sugar, potassium, and water. Enough sulphur to rid a dog of fleas, enough lime to whitewash a chicken coop, enough fat to make six bars of soap, enough iron to make a small nail, enough phosphorus to cover twenty match heads, enough sugar to sweeten a cup of coffee, enough potassium to explode a toy cannon. The total value of these elements, if purchased at a drug store, would be about three dollars.

But is this all there is to a man? Of course not. The Bible has a much more meaningful evaluation of man when it says that he is a being but little lower than the angels. He is an heir of God; a joint heir with Christ; a being for whose salvation God suffered through the person of His son on the cross.

The Bible will not allow to go unchallenged the statement that man is nothing more than three dollars worth of chemicals.

Fair Trade Laws In Disrepute

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The most important activity of the Federal Trade Commission today is antitrust action, a spokesman said, but within that category the focus clearly is on fair trade pricing arrangements.

"Fair trade laws are little more than anticompetitive price-fixing, unadorned with any redeeming features," Lewis Engman, FTC chairman, told Congress earlier this year.

He added: "We doubt that we needed them when we got them. We are confident that we do not need them now." He cited a 1969 report suggesting that fair trade laws cost the consumer $1.5 billion a year.

Fair trading, in which a manufacturer generally sets a price that his distributors and retailers are expected to honor, began during the depression of the 1930s, the first law being enacted in California.

In 1937, the Miller-Tydings Act went into effect, permitting individual states to write fair trade laws granting exemption from both the Sherman Antitrust Act and the Federal Trade Commission Act.

And in 1952 the McGuire Act was passed, permitting manufacturers to hold retailers to fixed prices even though the retailers declined to sign contracts of agreement.

At their height, fair trade laws existed in 46 states. The number now is down to 36. Only 13 still have McGuire Act provisions.

The rationale for fair trading is that it prevents cutthroat competition. That might have been so during the depression of the 1930s, says Richard Givens, head of the New York FTC office, but it isn't true any longer.

"During the 1930s, the problem arose from a deficiency of buying power, which led to drastic price declines and intense competition involving numerous sales below cost on a large scale," Givens said in an interview.

"The type of economic pinch which exists today is entirely different. The present situation arises out of the scarcity of certain limited resources, such as petroleum, and the increase in the cost of such items."

Because certain expenses are forced higher, the manufacturer and probably the retailer also strive to keep prices compensatorily high instead of resorting to innovative, cost-cutting techniques.

The worst-type of price-fixing, according to Givens, is horizontal, which exists when retailers, distributors or manufacturers, instead of competing, agree to sell for the same price.

By contrast, vertical leaves some room for competition. It generally involves the manufacturer of a certain product insisting that the retailer sell for a certain price. But that still leaves competition among retailers, and among different manufacturers also.

You may be certain price-fixing of some sort will always prevail. Practitioners fail to recognize that, in their self-interest, they are reinventing old techniques to avoid competition. "Their excuses are seductively rational," says Givens.

Among the techniques are what have come to be known as phantom freight charges, the customer being charged for freight from a given distance even though that distance might not have been involved.

Tying arrangements are another knot. If you buy one product you must buy Rosenbloom, owner of the Los Angeles Rams.

The party's big moneymen in that area, by no means all devoted Kennedyites, last week received this tantalizing and faintly conspiratorial telegram from Rosenbloom and two old Southern California Democratic warhorses, entertainment mogul Lew Wasserman and lawyer Paul Ziffren:

"Please join us at brunch with a small, select group of Californians for Sen. Edward Kennedy...very casual dress. The Senator would like to have you join us, and he hopes to be able to call on you for advice and support necessary to assure that the goals of the 94th Congress are achieved and progress continued into the 95th."

Recipients pondered whether this cryptic little telegram might be a clandestine signal for a Kennedy presidential campaign.

In fact, the "small, select group" invited to the 11 a.m. brunch will be asked to support Kennedy's 1976 Senate campaign. Similar out-of-state fundraisers for the Massachusetts campaign are planned for New York and Washington.

What struck some of those who received the telegram was the fact that the blue ribbon invitation list to Rosenbloom's brunch would be exactly the same if Kennedy were running for President. Indeed, some who write those $1,000 checks for Kennedy next Saturday may feel they are in fact contributing to a campaign that will expand to Presidential dimensions in July, 1976 — despite Kennedy's no-run, no-draft statement of last Sept. 23.

another; that is, if you buy the copying machine you have to buy the paper too.

But of all the devices, fair trading is probably the most obvious. Says Engman:

"Repeal of the Miller-Tydings and McGuire Acts will encourage market innovation, it will reduce prices and it will increase consumer choice in the market place."

about being a successful newspaperman?" I asked.

"The lack of privacy. I can't go out to the store without being mobbed by my fans. Of course, they're the people who made me and I should't complain, but sometimes I wish I was back to being just plain Burt Brillo again, covering the Third Police Precinct on the lobster shift."

"I guess you're bothered by a lot of female admirers, too."

"What investigative reporter isn't? But after a while the thrill wears off and you wish you could find someone who would love you for yourself and not just because you're the author of the Taco Hut story."

A tall leggy blonde came over to us. "Mr. Brillo, your barber is here."

I apologized for keeping him so long.

Brillo gave me a wide toothy smile and a warm handclasp.

"That's perfectly all right. I used to be a newspaperman myself."

Big Profits By Steel Producers

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The nation's major steel producers have announced record earnings for 1974 and expressed confidence 1975 would be another year of high profits.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's biggest steelmaker, announced it had doubled its earnings over the previous year and Bethlehem Steel Corp., second biggest, reported 113 per cent increases over the earnings figures for 1973.

Genealogical Truths Aired

By DR. H.G. JONES, Curator
North Carolina Collection
Written for the Associated Press

CHAPEL HILL (AP)—The mention of a genealogical society conjures up visions of mansions, honorary titles, family trees, and tedious lists of who-begat-whom. But if the first issue of the "North Carolina Genealogical Society Journal" is a precedent, the state's newest statewide cultural group is going to shake a few genealogical trees.

In fact, the new journal, bearing a state seal discontinued in 1836, provides a rich assortment of the fruits of tree -shaking, and some of the characters that fall out are less than ideal candidates for ancestor worship.

Edited by George Stevenson of the State Division of Archives and History, the journal carries the usual bibliographical and where-to-find-what articles, but its feature is a section containing summaries of colonial coroner's inquests. Abstracted by one of the state's outstanding young historians, Haywood Roebuck, the article raises more questions than it answers, and that accounts for much of its charm and amusement. A "Trancient Person" by the name of Bryan Ponn starts off the entries. According to the inquest, Ponn drank "over much Rum" at Benjamin Dumas's house in Anson County in 1753. Beating and cursing his horse, he then tried to cross the Peedee River. Both man and beast drowned. Two years later Henry Woodward of Beaufort County was killed "by Mischance of his horse striking him at his fall." In 1757 Elizabeth Knott of Bertie was murdered by an Indian who broke her skull with a tomahawk "or a Lightwood Knott." A year later William Lock of Bladen County drowned in a puddle of water through "an Accident Permited by God."

Poor John Cappinhead of Craven County in 1772 may have had something to drink too, for his candle set fire to his "pettiauger" (small boat) and he was burned to death. In the same county the next year Hector, a slave, was "wilfully and maliciously" stabbed in the neck by a wench named Pegg.

In 1760 in Duplin County, William Peacock was killed in his cornfield by one of his slaves who was promptly tried, condemned, and burned at the stake. The same year in Hertford County, Thomas Crew, a schoolmaster with an estate "of very little Value" drowned himself in Chowan River. A year later in Pasquotank Anne Lambroshier died five minutes after her husband swatted her head with a Delft pitcher; and in 1762 Pettycord Earp of Northampton was killed when a well-sweep broke and fell on him.

Also in Pasquotank in 1770 John Fox died on King's High Road "through the heat of liquor and a small Scramish betwixt him and Charles West." In Pitt in 1773 Thomas Hardie choked his wife, Ann, to death; and the following year James Jones's death was described thusly: "Over drinking and lying in the Road In the Sun , the liquer working in him . That was the Cause of his unhappy death."

A trio of Tyrrell County people suffered strange deaths in the 1760s: Thomas Harrison was fatally injured when a loft of corn house fell; Adonijah Devenport was killed by a burning tree which fell "while fighting fire in the field before the door of his father"; and Marey Pagit was killed "by the unResistabell vahor and force of thundor and Lightning."

The reports of inquests provide a refreshing reminder that our ancestors were but poor mortals who endured or succumbed to troubles not too different from those faced by their twentieth century descendants. The North Carolina Genealogical Society, by continuing to show all the gnarled branches of genealogical trees, can contribute substantially to our knowledge of history. Charles R. Holloman of the State Department of Community Colleges is president of the new organization.

Consensus In Education Reached By Local LWV

Members of the Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters have reached consensus on recommendations concerning the Pitt County and Greenville City educational systems, according to Rhea Resnik, president of the LWV. This consensus concluded a two-year study directed by Doris Jean Haggard in order to determine the current status of both school units in Pitt County.

LWV members agreed that:

—Additional funds are needed to improve upon and add to current instructional programs, support services, and instructional facilities.

—Increased costs to improve present instructional facilities and programs should be financed by the use of revenue sharing money, local bonds, increased local supplement and-or increased property tax rates.

—In order to help insure the hiring of qualified personnel, there should be an increase in the local salary supplement, better advertising of position vacancies, and more recruiting outside this geographical area.

—The teacher evaluation process needs improvement, including more relevant training for supervisors.

—The school board should be composed of members elected by districts by voters in these districts.

—The process of communication among all major groups concerned with local education, such as parents, teachers, school administrators, school boards and students, needs strengthening.

—Current regulations should be changed to enable local high schools to cooperate with Pitt Tech in offering expanded vocational education and opportunities should be increased for selected high school students to take university courses at ECU.

Information compiled by the LWV during this two-year study of the two local school systems has been condensed and published in booklet form. Copies of this booklet have been given to the Pitt County School System, the Greenville City School System, and the county commissioners.

Reference copies are available at ECU's Joyner Library and Sheppard Memorial Library. A limited number of copies at fifty cents apiece are available for sale and may be obtained by writing the LWV at P. O. Box 1551, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Art Carney, Burstyn And Mafia Film Win Oscars

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Art Carney, Ellen Burstyn and a movie about the Mafia were the stars of the 47th Academy Awards. Francis Ford Coppola's "The Godfather, Part II" won top honors with six Oscars, including best picture.

The sweep made the 36-year-old Coppola Hollywood's undisputed wunderkind, but Carney was the sentimental victor of the festivities.

"I'm numb, I'm happy, why should I be embarrassed - I'm Irish!" he exclaimed after his surprise win as best actor for playing a 72-year-old cross-country traveler with a cat in "Harry and Tonto."

Carney's win was a delight to the audience, which rose in tribute to the veteran television actor. It was his first starring role in a movie.

He said his agent urged him to do the role by saying, "Do it! You are old!" But backstage, Carney, 56, laughingly said, "I'm still a kid!"

Miss Burstyn, nominated twice before, finally won as best actress for her role as the errant housewife with ambitions as a singer in "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore."

Robert De Niro, the young Mafia don of "Godfather-II" and Ingrid Bergman, one of the suspects in "Murder on the Orient Express," won as supporting performers in the 47th annual ceremonies at the Music Center.

The awards shaped up as producer-writer-director Coppola's night, despite heavy betting on "Chinatown," which won only one Oscar, for original screen play.

The "Godfather" sequel won him Oscars for best direction and screen play adaptation (with Mario Puzo), as well as for De Niro, art direction and original dramatic score.

It was also a "family" matter, to pun "Godfather-II" — Coppola's father, Carmine, composed the score with Nino Rota, and his sister, Talis Shire, was nominated as best supporting actress in the film.

Coppola was also nominated in two other categories — best picture ("The Conversation," which he produced and which competed against "Godfather-II") and for best original screenplay for "The Conversation."

Miss Burstyn, in a New York play, and De Niro, making a film in Italy, did not claim their awards. Miss Bergman was there and she received a standing ovation from the admiring audience.

"Amarcord," Frederico Fellini's affectionate autobiographical film of prewar Italy, was named best foreign language film of the year.

Best song Oscar went to "We May Never Love Like This Again," from "The Towering Inferno." The disaster film also won for cinematography and editing.

The closest thing to controversy came when producer Bert Schneider accepted the award for best documentary feature for his film opposing the Vietnam War, "Hearts and Minds."

The producer read a telegram of friendship from the Viet Cong delegate to the Paris Peace talks.

Later in the program the Motion Picture Academy answered through emcee Frank Sinatra: "We are not responsible for any political references made on this program tonight and we are sorry they were made."

A Review
Visual Experience Plus An Up-Tempo

Ramsey Lewis and Earth, Wind, and Fire performed last night in Minges Coliseum.

Ramsey Lewis opened the performance with a song called 'Cohesion', this was the best song he played. The song was refreshing and moving; however, from this point on it was downhill all the way. Mr. Lewis' performance was characterized by its uneveness. It would be smooth then very rough, this is not what is normally hears when listening to his albums, they are very polished and professional. One factor that caused the uneveness of his performance was his use of a synthesizer. A performer can use a synthesizer very effectively and tastefully, however, the occasions that Mr. Lewis did this were too far apart. Mr. Lewis' performance could at best be called boring and repetitious.

Earth, Wind, and Fire appeared on stage literally with a flash and a bang. At the moment they began coming on stage the audience was on its feet in anticipation of what was to come. The audience responded well to the performance they were given. It was a pleasure.

Earth, Wind and Fire's performance was marked not only by good music but also a certain amount of theatrical performance. The audience was shown large flashes of fire and the stage becoming covered with fog. The visual experience was almost as entertaining as the music.

Their musical ability can be noted for the range they provided the audience with. They offered very up tempo music that had everyone on their feet and other songs were smooth, at times taking on the texture of glass.

At a few times during the concert one of the vocalists would be heard in tones that would remind one of the vocalists Barry White or Sly Stone; however, Earth, Wind, and Fire was not imitating these performers. They have their own unmistakeable identity. Maurice White, as leader of the group has done an excellent job with his production of them.

With both entertaining music and a pleasing visual display, how could they miss?

Bond Issues Hit Obstacle

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Voters have rejected Charlotte plans for a $55 million expansion project, including a new terminal, for the city's Douglas Municipal Airport.

Voters also turned down two other items on the $55.9 million transportation bond refrendum, while approving two others.

Complete but unofficial returns gave approval for the city to buy its own bus system, and build more sidewalks. But a pilot bikeway system and authority to levy a tax for the bus system were defeated along with the airport issue.

Here are the unofficial results:

—Airport, $55 million, lost, 16,888 to 14,575.

—City Coach Lines purchase and improvement, $2.5 million with matching federal funds, won, 16,426 to 15,089.

—Sidewalk construction, 32 miles, $1.5 million, won, 15,669 to 15,422.

—Pilot bikeway system, $500,000, lost, 16,197 to 14,965.

—Authority to levy property taxes to subsidize bus system, lost, 18,978 to 11,667.

The Giant Tortoise may live as long as 200 years.

Joint Flight Unaffected

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet officials have assured the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) that the failure of a manned Soyuz space flight last weekend will not affect the joint U.S.-Soviet mission planned for July.

A member of a NASA delegation visiting the Soviet Union in connection with the joint mission said Soviet officials told his group "categorically that the failure of the flight has no impact on their plans or their confidence" for July's Apollo-Soyuz linkup.

The Russians said Saturday's Soyuz 18 flight was brought back to earth shortly after takeoff because the third-stage rocket that was to put the spaceship into orbit veered off course. The two cosmonauts returned safely to earth, the announcement said.

The NASA official said he was told a different type of booster rocket would be used.

He said he thought the Soviet explanation was "basically honest."

SHARING— Two young South Vietnamese boys share a drink at a refugee camp at Vung Tau, once a resort about 40 miles southeast of Saigon, as they and other refugees from the Central Highlands wait for an uncertain future. CIA Urged To Try Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency is being urged by the head of the congressional Joint Atomic Energy Committee to make another attempt to recover a sunken Soviet submarine from the floor of the Pacific Ocean.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., who said his committee had been briefed on the CIA operation, said the spy agency "made some significant discoveries" when it raised part of the submarine last year.

Pastore refused to elaborate, but his comments appeared to support recent news accounts that the crew of the CIA-financed Glomar Explorer salvage ship recovered two nuclear-tipped torpedoes and other valuable intelligence information from the Soviet vessel which sank in 1968.

Pastore, who spoke with newsmen before entering a closed meeting with CIA Director William E. Colby Tuesday, said he would recommend the CIA recovery ship return to the wreckage site this summer to complete the operation. He called the mission "a classic example of what the CIA is supposed to be doing."

There is confusion over whether the CIA intends to make another recovery effort. CIA officials have been quoted as saying that public exposure of the operation has ruled out any chance of sending the Glomar Explorer back for another attempt.

Gives Program For Collectors

Mickey Elmore presented the program at the meeting of the Greenville Collectors Club Monday night at the home of Dave and Debbie Pruette.

He discussed the life and inventions of Thomas Edison. He showed examples of Edison's inventions such as a mimeograph machine, a cylinder record player, light bulbs and a battery jar.

Reports were given on a club trip to Suffolk, Va., to attend a flea market, recently. Two members reported on a recent trip to the Antique Show in Richmond, Va.

Several members showed some antiques they had purchased recently.

The next club meeting will be held May 12 at the home of Fred Cole in Kinston.

Lost Job Over Washing Cups

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP) — A clerk in the Black Hawk County sheriff's office is out of a job because of a spat over who should wash the office coffee cups.

Sheriff Wendell Christensen said Tuesday he fired Carletha Johnson for "a poor job performance and being a disruptive influence in the office."

He said Mrs. Johnson and another employe were involved in a "fist swingig, foot-kicking" fight over whose turn it was to wash the cups.

Litter Contol In Winterville

WINTERVILLE — The Winterville Board of Aldermen Monday night adopted an ordinance prohibiting the throwing or depositing of trash on public or private property.

According to the ordinance it is unlawful for any person or organization or private corporation to throw or deposit trash upon any street or sidewalk, except with written permission of the owner or occupant of such property. It is also unlawful for drivers or passengers of a vehicle to throw or deposit litter upon any street or public place within the town.

The ordinance further stated that is is unlawful for contractors or subcontractors to allow debris, paper, or cartons to be left on premises of new construction or vacant lot to be blown away by normal winds.

Any person found guilty of violating this ordinance will be guilty of a misdemeanor and will be charged not more than $50 or imprisoned for not more than 30 days.

In other business, the board heard a request from Eddie Harrington, developer of the Baywood Subdivision, located on the White Road near Sunnyside Eggs, Inc., that water lines be extended to his project.

The board members told Harrington that the town has the water but are not financially able at this time to have the lines extended.

Harrington agreed to work out a reimbursement plan so that persons who purchased lots from him could help finance the water lines project.

The development includes 55 acres which is divided into 35 lots.

Town Clerk Elwood Nobles announced the fossil fuel charge this month will be $11.44 per 1,000 kilowatts as compared to $13.17 for the previous months.

Nobles said this was the first time the charge has been less than the previous month. The pattern has been an increase each time.

Soul City Builder Welcomes Audit

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP)—The embattled developer of soul city has indicated he would welcome a compromise on a resolution directing a halt to state assistance to Soul City and an audit of state money already spent on the project.

That was Floyd McKissick's reaction to the compromise suggestion made by Sen. Jim McDuffie, D-Mecklenburg, Tuesday as the Senate Local Government and Regional Affairs Committee heard McKissick recite the story of the community he is developing in Warren County.

McDuffie asked McKissick if he felt the committee would "be acting responsibly" if it deleted mention of a fund cutoff and merely called for a state audit.

"We welcome the audit, especially so since we are aware that such an audit will show no irregularities nor improprieties," McKissick said. "We consider, however, the proposed halt to state funding to be both uncalled for and of questionable constitutional merit."

MCKissick was peppered with questions about how much state and federal money has been spent on Soul City and how much there is to meet the eye to show for the money that has been spent.

During the hearing, both the mayor of Henderson and the chairman of the Warren County commissioners came to the McKissick's assistance..

"We feel in Warren County this development will gradually proceed to the point that it will add substantially to the tax value of Warren County," said Claude Bowers, chairman of the Warren commissioners.

Henderson Mayor George V. Boyd spoke of the $12 million regional water project being built by his town, Oxford and Soul City.

"We cannot afford any delay in funds for this project because the city of Henderson is now liable for the contracts that have been let," Boyd said.

McKissick described the water project as 40 per cent complete.

McKissick told the legislators Soul City had been given the green light for actual development only a year ago and he reiterated that it is on schedule. He said an industrial building is 80 per cent completed and said that a start will be made soon on housing.

He said that news stories which have said that there is little to show for millions of dollars in state and federal funds had been detrimental in trying to interest industries in locating at Soul City.

Sen. Bobby L. Barker, D-Wake, said he was willing to amend the resolution so that funds for the water project would not be cut off, that there would be no cutoff for highway projects already let to contract, but that there should be a cutoff of funds for about $200,000 worth of road jobs not yet let to contract.

TEA DRINKERS

MOSCOW (UPI) — Moscow's seven million citizens drink 5,000 tons of tea a year, according to government statistics.

Organizational Changes For Schools Approved

WILLIAMSTON—Changes in the organization for several schools in Martin County for the coming school year were approved at the April meeting of the school board held on Monday. Composition of these schools will be: West Martin School, Oak City, kindergarten through grade eight; Edna Andrews School, Hamilton, kindergarten through grade eight; East End School, Robersonville, kindergarten through grade five; the old Robersonville High School will serve grades six through eight; and North Everetts in Everetts, kindergarten through grade six.

At 2 p.m. on April 17 bids will be opened for the construction of a Martin County Civic Auditorium, planned for construction on the site of the new Williamston High School. This will be a multi-purpose plant to serve both the high school and the community.

In school elections, Eugene Rogers was reelected Superintendent of Martin County Schools; Gomer Griffin was reelected Associate Superintendent; and Raymond Robertson was reelected Assistant Superintendent. All are for two-year terms.

Liability insurance for the county's school staff in the amount of $1 million was approved; and a motion was approved to restrict use of school-owned activity buses to school use only pending a further look into insurance coverage on non-school use of such vehicles.

Mrs. Regina Moore, earlier named to fill a newly created seventh member position on the board, was sworn in at Monday's meeting. Mrs. Moore is serving as a member at large. In a reorganization of the school board, George McRory remains chairman and Macon Holliday remains vice-chairman.

Superintendent Rogers informed the board that operations for schools in utilities and other plant costs are exceeding the amounts budgeted, and that the school system would need additional appropriations to finish the school year.

Heath Powers Rose Past Wilson, 11-2

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

WILSON — Kelly Heath slammed a two-run homer in the top of the fifth inning and it ignited a rally that carried Rose High School to an 11-2 victory over Wilson High School yesterday.

Wesley Deal added a one-hitter to the Rampant effort, going all the way, striking out nine and walking five. The lone hit off him was a one-out double in the first inning. After that, except for the walks, he kept Wilson off the base paths.

The Rampants fell behind by two runs in the first, came back with one in the second, then gained the lead on Heath's round-tripper. But they kept the rally alive, scoring four more runs in that big fifth inning. They added one in the sixth and three more in the seventh.

The victory kept the Rampants right on the heels of Division I front-runner Rocky Mount, Rose is now 2-1 in conference play and 7-2 overall.

Rose had a chance to score in the first inning. Jack Jenkins reached on an error and Griff Garner beat out a bunt. Both moved up on a wild pitch. Then, after an infield fly and a strikeout, Macon Moye walked, but a grounder to third ended the frame.

Wilson then came up with two in their half of the first. With one down, Donnie Prince, who had been a late addition to the lineup, doubled to left center. Stan Johnson and Tim Hinnant both drew walks. Russell Smith reached on a fielder's choice that got Hinnant, but scored Prince. Johnson and Smith pulled a double steal, scoring the second run.

But after that, Wilson got only one more man as far as second base. That came in the fourth when Hinnant walked and a balk was called on Deal.

Rose got one run th the second. Ron Hunt opened with a walk and Eddie Connolly also drew a free trip. Jenkins singled, driving in Hunt to cut the lead to 2-1.

It stayed that way until the fifth. Garner led off with a walk, and Heath followed with a towering drive that cleared the fence in left, giving Rose a 3-2 lead. But the damage was only beginning.

Mike Brewington followed with an infield pop that was lost in the sun and fell in for a hit. Moye singled to left and Keith Jones beat out an infield hit to load the bases. Hunt singled to left, scoring both Brewington and Moye. Jones scored on a wild pitch and Connolly walked. Jenkins got another hit, scoring Hunt for a 7-2 Rampant lead.

The sixth saw another Rampant run cross the plate. Brewington got a hit and Moye followed with a Texas leaguer. Brewington was out trying to steal third, but Moye moved up on the play. A wild pitch put him on third and he scored on Hunt's second hit.

The seventh was another good inning for the Rampants, as three more Rose runners scored. Deal led off with a single and David Sixon ran for him. Gregg Sasser reached on an error and a long fly to right by Garner put Dixon knocked the ball loose on his slide, scoring safely. Moye then doubled to right, scoring both Sasser and Heath with the final two Rampant runs.
Sasser and Heath with the final two Rampant runs.

Moye led the Rampant hitting with three, while Jenkins, Brewington, Hunt and Deal each had two.

Rose returns home on Friday to play host to Northeastern at 4 p.m. at Guy Smith Stadium.

Ayden-Grifton Nips North Lenoir By 1-0

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer

LITTLEFIELD — Ayden-Grifton's Dennis Cristiano held North Lenoir to just two hits and helped the Chargers get a run in the fourth to squeeze past the Hawks, 1-0, yesterday.
yesterday.

Cristiano was working on a perfect game until the Hawks got their first hit, a ground rule double, in the fourth. Cristiano, up until then, had retired 11 batters, eight straight by strike outs. He gave up another hit, that coming in the sixth as Charger second baseman Steve Noble did not charge a grounder and let the batter beat it out.

Cristiano fanned a total of 12 batters and walked three. His opponent, Kendall Daniels was about as tough, limiting the Chargers to three hits. He walked three, also.

The Chargers had a chance to score in the first but missed it. Paul Setliff led off with a single and stole second. He was forced at third by Randy Nelson. Nelson took second on a wild pitch but died there.

The Hawks broke Cristiano's string of whiffs in the fourth as the first two men up grounded out. Mike Jones then doubled over the centerfield fence. After walking the next man, Cristiano got out of the frame with another strike out.

The Chargers put together a brief rally in the fourth and it netted them their only run. Ned Craft slashed a single to center and stole second. A passed ball put him on third and an error on Cristiano's fly to right brought Craft in.

Mike Eubanks reached on an error in the fifth for the Hawks but was later nailed stealing third on a beautiful throw by catcher Craft.

The Chargers loaded the bases in the fifth on an error and a pair of walks but could not score again.

North Lenoir threatened to tie it up in the seventh as Mike Eubanks walked and stole second but he was left standing there as Cristiano struckout the last two batters.

The Chargers will be on the road Friday visiting North Pitt.

Williamston Rips Pam Pack

WASHINGTON — Williamston High School romped to an 11-2 victory over Washington High School yesterday in a Northeastern Conference game.

The Tigers banged out seven hits and took advantage of five Pam Pack errors on the way to their fifth league victory in seven starts.

Williamston pushed over three runs in the first inning. Roy Lilley singled and stole second. Phil Selby singled, and when the ball was also errored, Lilley came around to score. Eric Godard waled and Mike Bryant drew a walk, loading the bases. Gary Jones reached on an error, allowing both Selby and Godard to score for a 3-0 lead.

Washington cut the margin to 3-2 in the bottom of the second. Tommy Drake tripled and scored on Eddie Cherry's single. Chick Gurganus got a hit, and Robbie Kreisher reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Cherry.

Williamston put the game on ice in the third, pushing over four runs. Tim Hardison walked and Godard walked. George Brown reached on an error, and Mike Bryant singled in Hardison. Jones grounded out, but Godard scored. An error let Brown in, and Greg Roberson's fielder's choice plated Bryant to make it 7-2.

Dick, Lee To Coach

Opposing scouts may scratch their heads more than one time during the East Carolina University Purple-Gold football game on Saturday, April 26th.

In fact, if the game even resembles a football contest, it might very well be a modern day miracle.

Coach Pat Dye has announced he is going to turn his gridders over to two honorary coaches for the 3:30 p.m. game in Ficklen Stadium.

Sports fans of eastern North Carolina may rightly understand why it may take a miracle to make it a game. For the 26th, Dye has asked that Dick Jones of WITN-TV in Washington Coach one team, and Lee Moore of WCTI-TV in New Bern coach the other. Dye will watch the game, or whatever develops, from the press box.

One can imagine Jones' team snapping the ball on the cadence of "That's Sports", while Moore's team will retaliate with a laughing defense, incited by another of Moore's "clean-cut" sideline jokes.

The fans should be in for a treat when these two competitors of the TV world go head-tophead in coaching the Purple-Gold game. But for the visiting scouts, it could be a nightmare assignment.

Aycock In Win Romp

E. B. Aycock romped to a 19-4 victory over Southern Nash yesterday, evening their record at 1-1 on the year.

The Phantoms pushed over six runs in the first inning of the game and were never in trouble.

In that fateful frame, Bobby Wornoff led off with a double and scored on Danny Boyd's single. Boyd moved up on a balk and Jeff Aldrige reached on an error. Reggie Spain walked, loading them up, and Michael Shank reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Sprain. Joey Downing then cracked out a grand-slam home run, running the score to 6-0.

Aycock went on to pick up one more in the second, four in the third and eight in the fourth.

Southern Nash scored once in the third, twice in the fourth and once in the fifth.

Ronnie Chapman, Woronoff, Greg Lee, Boyd, Aldridge, Shank and Downing each had a pair of hits to lead Aycock.

Spain and Mike Williams shared the pitching duties, scattering five hits.

Aycock travels to Goldsboro on Friay.

Chocowinity Nips Bears, 2-1

CHOCOWINITY—Chocowinity nipped Bear Grass, 2-1, yesterday, snapping a four-game winning streak by the Bears.

The game was a pitching duel between Bear Grass' Mark Gardner and Mitchell of Chocowinity. Gardner allowed just three hits, while striking out eight and walking three. Mitchell, with a two-hitter, walked three and fanned seven.

Mitchell won the game for himself in the first inning. Smith led off with a single and Mitchell followed with a home run, making it 2-0. Gardner allowed only one more hit the rest of the day, but it was to no avail.

Conley Falls To C.B. Aycock

PIKEVILLE —Charles B. Aycock High School exploded for eight runs in the second inning and went on to take a 12-6 victory over D. H. Conley's Vikings yesterday.

Conley took the lead with a run in the first inning. Randy Adams walked and scored on Eugene Forrest's double.

The Vikings added two more in the second. Joey Baggett doubled and Mike Brown walked. Randy Edens singled in Baggett, and Clennel Streeter walked to load them up. Byron Tyson reached on an error, scoring Brown for a 3-0 lead.

But Aycock came up with eight big runs in the bottom of the second to put the game on ice. Durham walked and Summerlin singled, both moved up on a sacrifice, and Taylor's hit brought in Durham. Davis singled in both Summerlin and Taylor, then stole both seconds and third. An error allowed him to score the fourth Aycock run. Edgerton walked and stole second, and an overthrow on the pickoff attempt allowed him to come the rest of the way around. Finch singled and Cannon got a hit. Durham then slammed a home run for the eight run total.

Aycock added one in the third and then got three, including a solo homer by Cannon in the sixth. Conley came up with one in the fifth and two in the sixth, but couldn't put together a big enough rally.

The Vikings, now 3-3 overall and 2-2 in the league, go to Eastern Wayne on Friday.

Wattlebird (See Vol. 21) Has bell-like call and wings of a bird, but prefers to travel by foot. Hunts forest floors for meals, bounding left and right like a ping-pong ball.

Horseshoe Bat (See Vol. 9) Night flyer with weak eyes. Follows his horseshoe-shaped nose to food by using his ears. (Guided by the echoes of his squeaks.)

Coral (See Vol. 5) Tiny, marine carnivores with mouths, stomachs and tentacles. By multiplying, they form spectacular reefs, sometimes a thousand miles long.

Tree Frog (See Vol. 20) Swings from branch to branch like a trapeze artist. Suction-cup toes keep him from falling off. His voice is more clank than croak.

Koala (See Vol. 10) Loudest voice in Australia, healthiest odor. (He eats eucalyptus leaves, smells like cough drops.) Also known as bangaroo, koolewong and... Teddy Bear.

Fossa (See Vol. 7) Looks like a wildcat, smells like a skunk. Only two feet long, but has been known to attack oxen.

How Nutrition Labeling Can Help You

Though packages of some foods have provided facts on their nutritional composition for many years, most have not. During 1973, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration issued regulations for Nutrition Labeling, seeking to encourage many food manufacturers to provide such information on nutrients.

The goal is to provide nutrient information in the same form on many foods. This information can help you:

* become more aware of key nutrients needed for good nutrition and health.
* recognize the specific nutrients present in individual foods.
* compare the nutritive values and relative costs of different foods.
* select foods for the whole day that in total will supply the recommended amounts of vital nutrients.

At A&P we are including this nutrition information on many of our private label products. Look for it and start to use it.

Williamston Board Plans Bond Issue

WILLIAMSTON — A resolution was approved Monday by the Williamston Town Board members to authorize filing an application with the local government commission for the issuance of general obligation funds in the amount of half a million dollars.

The bond issue would be used to pay the town's share of proposed improvements in the water and sewer system. Total cost of the program is estimated at $4.2 million, and the town is seeking $3.7 million from state and federal funds.

Another application approved was one to file with HUD for discretionary funds under the Community Development Act for two projects. One is for approximately $65,000 to purchase an eight acre tract on the edge of town; the other is a request for $435,000 to construct a recreation-activity center at the Police Juvenile Club Park.

After hearing a request from W. G. Peel for the rezoning of land on U.S. 17 by-pass from R-15 to R-6, the board set a public hearing on the request for the regular May meeting.

The town attorney advised the board that In-Line Company is suing the town for $8,048.65 in a breach of contract suit. In turn, town board members were advised that the normal procedure in such cases is to file a counter-suit, which will be done.

The town attorney also informed the board that the State Legislature has approved a special act allowing Bingo to be operated in Williamston by chartered civic and other charitable organizations.

In other actions, the town board approved the operation of a billiard parlor by Danny C. Stox; passed or ordinance closing Jones Street, which has never been opened; and approved Friday, April 25 as Jaycee Blood Day for the collection of blood by the bloodmobile unit.

A request by E. Rudolph Saunders to change a town ordinance to permit the keeping of horses within the city limits was denied.

A report was made by Building Inspector Eddy Beech in which he reported that the Hopkins Paper Recycling Plant outside town was beginning to acquire junk cars. Beech also informed that operators of the plant will file a special use permit with the Board of Adjustments that would permit them to deal in junk cars.

After hearing a request from Haywood Harris, Executive Director of the Martin County Community Action program for $3,500 in funds for 1975 operations, board members informed Harris an attempt would be made to work the request into the 1975-76 budget.

Painful Rise In Animal Bites

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Department of Health says 10,205 persons in the state were bitten by small animals during 1974.

Health department officials said the bite ratio was 330 per 100,000 population and represented an increase of about 10 per cent over the previous year.

More than a third of the persons bitten were under 10 years of age. Dogs accounted for 83 per cent of the bites, and cats for almost 12 per cent.

Prostate Cancer Claims Many

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — More than 15,000 American men die each year of cancer of the prostate, according to Dr. Donald R. Smith, urology department chairman at the University of California.

The overall cure rate for cancer victims is only about five to 10 per cent because too few men undergo periodic examinations advisable after they reach age 50, Smith said.

LAST WIFE

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — On April 6, 1868, Brigham Young, second president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon), married his 27th and last wife —Eliza Webb.

Pres. Ford Preparing Views On Aid For Indochina

Favors Bringing Whole Orphange

By ANN BRYAN

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — A Georgia mother with five children of her own and five adopted Vietnamese orphans started a campaign today to move an entire orphanage of nearly 400 youngsters to the United States to save them from "godless" Communism.

Betty Tisdale of Columbus is in her late 40s and is the wife of a retired U.S. Army pediatrician. She arrived Tuesday night from America.

Mrs. Tisdale said she had raised $123,000 in two days in the United States to transport the children from the An Lac — or Happy Haven — orphanage set up by the late Dr. Tom Dooley, which she has been helping to support since 1961.

Foster parents await the children in America, she said. Now she must convince South Vietnamese officials to grant visas to the children, who range from infants to teen-agers. She said an official of the U.S. Agency for International Development assured her "they would have planes for the children" if the Saigon government gave them exit visas.

The government halted large-scale airlifts of orphans after last weekend's evacuation of more than 1,700 touched off criticism in Saigon and abroad.

"All I've done for 14 years is raise money for An Lac so that the children could grow up in their own country to be better-educated citizens of their own country," said Mrs. Tisdale. "But I don't want them to lose their minds and souls to what I call a godless society."

Her plans call for flying the children to Fort Benning, Ga., where she said soldiers are converting an elementary school on the post into a nursery.

MOVING

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP)— Plans are being made to transfer Mamie Eisenhower to Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington. Her condition is described as "exceptionally good." Mrs. Eisenhower is being treated for diverticulosis.

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John G. Tower says President Ford will have to be "extremely persuasive" to get Congress to approve emergency military aid funds for South Vietnam.

The Texas Republican is chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee and a principal backer of administration foreign policy.

He spoke to newsmen as Congress awaited recommendations from President Ford to a joint session of Congress Thursday night. Ford canceled his Tuesday night plans to attend a musical performance in order to work on his speech, which is expected to give the administration's views of what, if anything, the United States should do in Indochina.

As new demands were made that the administration reveal any secret agreements between the United States and Vietnam, administration officials told Senate and House committees Tuesday the President's decision on a U.S. plan of action will follow discussions today by the National Security Council.

State Department sources reported that Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, Army Chief of Staff, has recommended that the President ask Congress for $500 million in immediate additional military aid for South Vietnam.

The amount is $200 million more than requested by President Ford in January before the start of the North Vietnamese offensive and the withdrawal of South Vietnamese forces from all but the southern one-third of their country.

Administration sources expressed doubt that Ford will pass the $500-million proposal on to Congress in view of strong opposition which already has deferred action on a prior administration request for $300 million in additional aid. The United States already has provided $700 million in aid to South Vietnam in the current fiscal year.

Pentagon sources reported that the last of the $700 million now has been spent and that no additional money is currently available. Estimates of the amount of U.S. equipment lost by the South Vietnamese during their retreat ranges as high as $1 billion, though the Long Island newspaper Newsday reported Tuesday that the General Accounting Office set the loss at some $200 million.

In another development, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said he will call administration officials before one of his subcommittees if the officials fail to make public what Jackson said were secret agreements between the United States and South Vietnam.

Jackson, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said his information on the alleged secret agreements comes from "the best of authority." He said President Ford only recently found out about the pacts.

State Department spokesman Robert Anderson said, "I am unaware of any secret agreements." However, he said he had not checked with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger about Jackson's claims.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, House Speaker Carl Albert and House Minority Leader John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., said they know of no secret agreements. "Everytime we met with Kissinger ... I always raised that question and the answer was always no." Mansfield said.

The White House had no immediate comment on Jackson's statement.

Opening lead: Five of ♣.

One of the many fascinations of bridge is how a seemingly useless card can suddenly be promoted to a winner. This extraordinary example from a tournament in West Germany was uncovered by Dirk Schroeder. East was another German writer, Josef Weiss.

Four spades was a normal contract, reached at every table in the event. Many declarers made eleven tricks. At Weiss's table, West led the five of clubs and declarer finessed. Weiss on the king and shifted to the jack of hearts. Declarer won the ace, ruffed a heart in dummy and discarded a diamond on the ace of clubs. He continued by leading dummy's remaining club honor and East ruffed with the eight.

Declarer overruffed with the jack and ruffed another heart in dummy, as West discarded a diamond. Then South led a low club from dummy. East rose to the occasion by ruffing with the queen, forcing declarer to overruff with the king. Declarer ruffed his last heart while West discarded another diamond, and then led the last club from dummy. East ruffed with the five, forcing declarer to overruff with the seven.

Thus far, South had lost only a club trick, and he still had the ace of diamonds to lose in the plain suits. However, East's continual club ruffs had created a most unusual position. Declarer was down to the ace-three of spades, and West held the four-two. The four had been promoted to a trick!

If this was a fairy tale, we would be able to report that West made his trump and scored an absolute top on the board. However, West did not realize that his four was high. When declarer led a low diamond to dummy, West rose with the ace and, thinking declarer had a fifth heart rather than another diamond, elected to exit from his hand with a trump. Declarer made the rest for the same number of tricks as everyone else.

Fantasizing In Maternity

By SUSAN J. REIMER
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Scholarly volumes have been written about what goes on in a woman's uterus during pregnancy. But medicine has paid little attention to what goes on in a mother's head at that time.

A mother's thoughts, feelings and fantasies reflect the physical changes of pregnancy, according to a University of Pittsburgh nursing professor who has been listening to what women have to say about pregnancy.

"We are looking at how a patient feels about the maternity experience so we can give nursing care more appropriately," said Dr. Olive Rich. "We do it from what she tells us about how she feels about herself."

Dr. Rich and her students in a masters program in maternity nursing follow women through their pregnancy. While administering nursing care, they are listening.

"Most women are surprised and not very happy to learn they are pregnant," says Dr. Rich, who has a Ph. D. in nursing. "They have active, busy lives and this will mean a drastic realignment of priorities."

The early months of pregnancy are physically unpleasant as the body adjusts, and this forms a basis for parallel mental anxiety, she said, adding:

"In the fourth, fifth and sixth months, she enters a very different period. She is more content, the initial discomfort is over and she feels the baby move and the life within her.

"She begins to withdraw her energies from the outside world and focuses them inside herself."

As she turns inward, the woman dreams and fantasizes about labor, childbirth and about her role as a mother. She worries about her own death during delivery and about any abnormalities in her child.

"She does a lot of mental preparation for what is ahead. She teaches herself the role of the mother," Dr. Rich said. "But whether this fantasizing prepares her for tragedy, we don't know."

As the pregnancy continues, the physical discomfort grows, and with it the woman's hostility, anxiety and boredom.

"It's like time will never end for her. She is not anxious to go into the difficult experience of labor and delivery, but at this point, she is truly ready to let go of the pregnancy," Dr. Rich said.

During labor, the process of inward concentration intensifies as the time of birth approaches.

Immediately after birth, the patients observed by Dr. Rich and her students experience a sense of euphoria. They have just been "spared" from the death or mutilation they fantasized birth might bring. And they have created a healthy baby after months of believing their bodies could never produce anything beautiful.

The post-partum period is virtually neglected by professional medicine, and yet Dr. Rich believes it's the most critical time in the developing relationship between mother and child.

"She has just had a most difficult physical and emotional experience, she is still weak and may be in some discomfort. And yet she is suddenly totally responsible for the care of a dependent child," Dr. Rich said. "She feels trapped, on a treadmill of irritability and fatigue, with no one to help her. She is full of guilt about the feelings of frustration and anger she has toward a child she is supposed to love."

Dr. Rich pointed out that the new mother is without the support of family members that was customary in extended families of 50 years ago. And she is also without professional care.

"There is nothing we can do to prepare her for this," Dr. Rich said. "Nursing must respond to it as it happens."

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, APRIL 10, 1975

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Many opportunities come to you in a.m. to make big headway towards important goals. Put them in action, but know that delaying conditions may develop before you reach the degree of prosperity you anticipate from them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make fine plans in a.m. for the future; it may be difficult to contact key persons later. Check written materials carefully.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Morning favors shopping, outside tasks. Work inside goes rather slowly in the afternoon. Drive carefully in p.m. with both hands.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You gain the backing of good pals during day, but they are pressed for time in p.m. Stay at home in p.m. and forget the social.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Approach career affairs in a more modern way for good results in a.m., since later there can be obstacles to progress.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have inspired ideas in a.m. and should put them in action quickly, gain the assistance of others. Plan a trip.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Keeping promises made to others is wise. Sit down with mate and have enlightening talk for good results. Be happy tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Meet those who have fine plans to discuss in a.m., but do work at hand. Win over those cool toward you. Avoid wishy-washy person.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Use positive methods to complete important tasks, then take it easy in p.m. Get right help to tone up health.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan early for any amusements you wish, so others will accompany you. Then get into creative activities that are important.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) An ideal day to do whatever is necessary to establish more harmony at home. You can easily relieve tensions. Use new approach.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Put plan to work to improve prestige, position in life, relations with others. Steer clear of a troublemaking neighbor.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Find new ways to add to present prosperity so you can have a reserve and not be worried about big bills. Get right advice.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will like to keep busy. As parents you would be wise to supervise the activities so they will be of a constructive nature, then your progeny will get an early start toward success in life. There will be an early retirement here in perfect comfort and the married life will be happy. Give good religious and ethical training, and teach to be self-sufficient.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Martin Board Hears Welfare Budget Request

WILLIAMSTON — In a very brief meeting Monday, members of the Martin County Commissioners heard a request for funds for the Martin County Welfare Budget for the coming fiscal year.

The request is $124,000 more than the budget amount requested by the Welfare Department for the current fiscal year.

Under the provisions of Title 101, the commissioners approved the proposed Williamston water-sewer plan; and also approved the Bethel Planning Area water-sewer system. Although Bethel is in Pitt County, the area served crosses into Martin County with part of the lines to serve Martin.

Disney Mapping Plans For '76

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — While the rest of the nation's 200th birthday celebration may be in disarray, the Disney organization is marching resolutely ahead with its own plans.

One can see the progress all over the backlots of Disneyland. Dancers modeling the costumes and huge heads of Pilgrims, pioneers and other "People of America."

Huge floats arriving from theatrical prop companies all over the country. Newfangled, battery-powered vehicles being tested on the backlot streets.

All this is part of "America on Parade" which will open to the public at Walt Disney World on June 7 and here on June 14.

The parade will appear daily at both parks until Sept. 6, 1976, with an estimated audience of 25 million. The Disney people don't like to put a price tag on the birthday celebration, but the cost has been reported at $8 million.

The nerve center for the whole operation is the office of Bob Jani, who plans the entertainment for both parks.

The office is appropriately decorated in red, white and blue, with handsome antiques of early America as well as models and sketches of the parade wonders to come. Also music.

"Listen to this," the enthusiastic Jani said to a visitor. He slipped a casette into a player and out came the spine-tingling sound of a Fourth of July parade half-remembered. Music will be continuous during the 40-minute parade, Jani explained, with each display ("we don't like to call them floats") carrying its own sound equipment.

The Disney organization started thinking about the bicentennial four or five years ago, said Jani. American history from Columbus to the present was researched with an eye for elements that could be placed in a theatrical setting.

"It finally dawned on me that this should not be a history lesson, but a celebration," said Jani.

"A celebration that would also be an entertainment. I wanted to create all the emotion of a party. This would be a party that everyone could enjoy — our country's 200th birthday."

Planning intensified three years ago, and 100 creative people were assigned to the parade.

The project was too big for the Disney resources and had to be handed over to 13 theatrical builders. Duplicates of everything had to be made, and delivery dates to Florida and California had to coordinated.

Now Jani is anxiously waiting for all the pieces to arrive for his May 1 target date for rehearsals.

Bridge Benefit By Cancer Soc.

The American Cancer Society will have a bridge benefit Tuesday, April 15, at 8 p.m. at the Moose Lodge.

Tickets will cost $1.25 each and may be purchased from the Moose Lodge office and from Mrs. D. Lacy Harrell prior to April 15. Her phone number is 756-2801.

Tables, cards, prizes, and refreshments will be furnished.

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Visitors wishing to see the heights of Rio overlooking Guanabara Bay and the Atlantic Ocean can take a cable car to Sugarloaf mountain, an opensided train to Corcovado where the huge statue of Christ is located or an open trolley to the residential neighborhood of Santa Tereza.

Miss Costner, a senior majoring in journalism at UNC, plans to enter law school at UNC in the fall. She had been active in campus publications including the UNC Journalist and the Daily Tar Heel, Kappa Tau Alpha journalism society and is a Journalism Foundation Scholar.

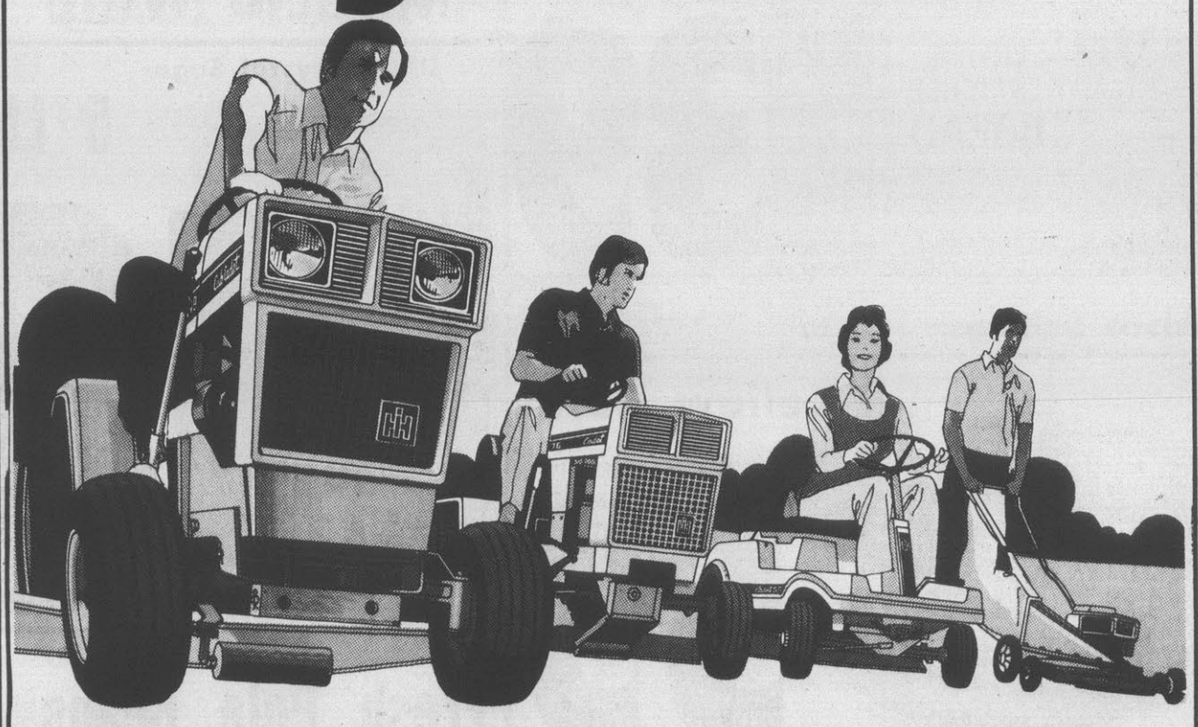
Tough choice.



The best value in your next grass-cutting machine calls for tough questions. Push it, ride it, drive it? Is 5 hp too much? Is 12 enough?

We've got some tough answers. No matter which IH equipment you choose—tractor, riding mower, power mower—it'll be a sound choice. Because you'll get a tough piece of machinery that will give you more service because it demands less attention.

And we'll help you find the right size. Not too big. And not too small, either. Versatile enough to handle all the chores you have. We have to fit you right, because we want to see you again. Even if it takes years.

We have a warehouse full of new 1974 model Cadets at tremendous savings.

For Example:

No. 86
8 H.P. Cadet with 38" mower
$1163.60

No. 128
12 H.P. Cadet with 44" mower
$1395.47
