Tornadoes Strike Omaha, Devastating 400 Blocks

By EDWARD C. NICHOLLS
Associated Press Writer

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — National Guardsmen patrolled 3,400 square blocks of Omaha today to prevent looting after tornadoes that killed three persons, injured more than 100 and did millions of dollars of damage.

The National Weather Service said the three twisters which hit Omaha were among about a dozen which struck widespread areas of northeast Nebraska Tuesday, causing loss of livestock and substantial property damage in rural areas. No deaths were reported outside of Omaha.

After surveying the damage in Omaha from a helicopter, Gov. J. James Exon said, "It's just devastating. I've lived in tornado country all my life and I've never seen anything comparable to this for property devastation. This is certainly the biggest loss in property damage that ever has hit Nebraska."

He said at least 500 homes were destroyed and at least 1,000 severely damaged.

Acting Douglas County Coroner James Keenan identified the dead as Margaret Burke, 86; Lloyd Kramer, about 40; and Pamela Myers, 23. All were believed from Omaha.

Police said Kramer died when the roof of a northwest Omaha service station collapsed while he was standing on it watching an approaching tornado. Keenan said the Myers woman, a waitress, died when the restaurant in which she was working was struck by a tornado.

Police said Mrs. Burke's body was found behind a home about one-quarter block from her own residence. Her home was blown away.

Early today, eight hospitals reported treating 132 persons with injuries. The most seriously injured was a man who lost an arm, authorities said.

Storm sirens started wailing at 4:30 p.m. as a huge black cloud moved in over the city from the southwest, and the tornadoes soon touched down. Forty-five minutes later, the storm alert was over, but sections of this city of 350,000 were in shambles.

The two areas most severely damaged were a 300-square-block area in the southwest portion of the city and its southern suburbs and a 500-square-block area in northwest Omaha.

Some of the most severe damage occurred at the 848-unit Wentworth Apartments, the city's largest. About 70 per cent of the complex, which houses about 1,800 persons in suburban Ralston on the city's southern edge, sustained severe damage.

One Wentworth resident, Army Capt. William Rollins, said, "I'm wiped out. Everything is smashed to smithreens."

Another resident, Beryl Scott, said she was in her office overlooking the complex when the twister struck the building housing her apartment.

She said her first thought was, "Oh, my God, my children!"

She said she rushed to her apartment and found her two children safe, though virtually all her possessions were lost and two cars were leaning into the living room.

Tel Aviv Ambush

By The Associated Press

Arab guerrillas shot and killed an Israeli truck driver delivering Arab workers to their homes, Tel Aviv police reported today. It was the third guerrilla attack in Israel in four days.

The truck, riddled with bullets, crashed and burned Tuesday night near the town of Jenin in occupied West Jordan.

In Moscow, W. Averell Harriman, a U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union during World War II, said he believes the Kremlin wants to cooperate with Washington in seeking an end to the Mideast conflict.

Harriman, heading a U.S. delegation for ceremonies marking the 30th anniversary of the end of the war in Europe, told newsmen he expected the Geneva peace conference on the Middle East to resume soon.

See Partial Refugee Aid

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — There were increasing signs today that President Ford will get only partial funding for his Vietnam refugee program, which administration officials say will run out of money next week.

This news came after Ford told a nationally broadcast news conference Tuesday night that he had been encouraged by signs of support for his plan to bring the refugees to the United States for resettlement.

Ford has asked for $507 million to resettle some 135,000 South Vietnamese who are headed for the United States following the conquest of their country by the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

"I imagine the Senate would approve part of the money," Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd said. "But I personally would not approve the full amount."

The West Virginia Democrat added that Ford's request would give each Vietnamese refugee $3,000 each and "that is too much money."

Rep. Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., chairman of a House subcommittee handling the refugee bill, suggested that some aid might be appropriated on an interim basis, at least until the administration can come up with more precise figures on what is needed.

House International Relations Committee sources said $382 million would fill the immediate needs of the refugees.

Administration officials, led by Ambassador L. Dean Brown, head of the State Department's refugee task force, said Tuesday that the available money is only enough to continue the resettlement effort until next week. He put the figure at about $28 million.

Even if Congress agrees on an amount to fund the refugee program, there is considerable evidence that the action will come well after Brown's deadline.

House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., said Tuesday night the bill might get to the floor next week, but only if Eilberg's subcommittee and the full panel move in the next few days.

The Senate appears even more of an obstacle with Byrd predicting that it might take weeks to reach a final vote.

Mass Saigon Rally

By The Associated Press

"A sea of people" gathered at South Vietnam's former presidential palace today and heard the commander of the Saigon area promise leniency for former opponents of the Viet Cong and respect for the lives and property of foreign residents, Saigon radio reported.

The mass rally, held under a mammoth portrait of Ho Chi Minh, was designed to introduce the new administration for the Saigon region. It marked the regime's first week in power.

In neighboring Cambodia, the last convoy of about 250 foreigners trapped in the country, including five Americans, was reported just 36 miles from the Thai border.

At the same time, the Khmer Rouge radio said Cambodia's new leaders have launched a big campaign to "clear the country of filth and garbage" left by the war and are pursuing an "offensive to increase production" in order to be "completely independent of all foreigners."

At Subic Navy Base in the Philippines, about 20,000 weary refugees arrived in a convoy of 26 South Vietnamese navy vessels after a week's journey from the Vietnamese coast.

U.S. officials said the vessels now belonged to the United States because U.S. Navy officers boarded each ship before they entered Philippine waters and took over title.

The move apparently was designed to meet a Philippine government demand that no ships or personnel of the former Saigon regime enter its territory.

Assign 18 To Murder Probe

RALEIGH (AP)—Eighteen Raleigh police officers have been assigned to investigate the death of Elizabeth Rosenberg, 24, a North Carolina State University coed who was found beaten to death Tuesday.

Mrs. Rosenberg had been beaten with a 40-pound iron and concrete post, police said. Investigators said no motive has been determined in the case, though her purse hasn't been found.

Set Calendar For County's Schools

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

A 1975-76 school year calendar was adopted by members of the Pitt County Board of Education at its meeting yesterday.

The first workday for teachers will be on Aug. 18 with student orientation being held on Aug. 22 and Aug. 25.

The first full day of school will be held on Aug. 29 and Sept. 1. Thanksgiving holidays will be Nov. 27 and 28 with Dec. 22 through Jan. 2 being observed for the Christmas holiday. April 16-23 have been designated as Easter holidays. The final day for students should be June 9 with teacher workdays to run through June 15.

Junior and senior orientation will be held on Aug. 22 and freshman and sophomore orientation programs have been scheduled for Aug. 25.

John McKnight, testing coordinator for Pitt County Schools, was given permission to make application to the Division of Development, State Department of Public Instruction, for funding as a demonstration center for testing, evaluation and research. McKnight would continue to work with Pitt County personnel in developing criterion objectives in reading and language arts as well as serve as a statewide resource person in helping other school units set up testing programs.

The board agreed that teachers who wished to do so would be allowed to take personal leave on June 10-11 so they may participate in summer school programs at East Carolina University. It was reported that registration for summer school will be held on June 2 and the final teacher workday is June 11. Teachers must have their work completed through June 9 in order to be granted leave.

Upon recommendation from Mrs. Kathryn Lewis, Pupil Personnel Director, the board agreed to request three positions in alcohol education for the coming school year from the Pitt County ABC Board. This would be an increase of one position over the present two available to the school system.

Board members adopted the Family Policy Acts as it relates to school records. Parents or guardians of the students may have access to the administrative and supplementary files at reasonable times upon filing written request. After the student reaches the age of 18 or enters a post-secondary school, the parent's right to access transfers to the student.

Other persons who have legal right to examine records include: authorized representatives of the government as set under law; organizations or

No Expansion

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina natural gas distributors will no longer be allowed to add new customers, the state Utilities Commission has decreed.

The commission said Tuesday the new order was necessary in view of the latest shortage predictions from Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Co. in Houston.

Transco, which supplies all of the state's natural gas, said North Carolina may suffer a curtailment of 60 per cent next winter. Last winter's 40 per cent curtailment forced factories to close down or reduce operations temporarily.

The only exceptions to the ban on expansion of gas sales will be when a current residential customer wants to increase his volume by adding a new gas appliance or expanding his home.

If extra gas is left over, it will be allotted only to small consumers with no alternative fuel sources.

A commission official said no new gas will be available to large commercial or industrial users.

RALEIGH (AP) — Tighter regulation of lobbyists was approved by the North Carolina Senate Tuesday while a Senate Appropriations subcommittee was proposing a $76 million cut in state spending for education to help balance the state's budget.

The proposed budget slashes include $45.3 million for the University of North Carolina system, $14.6 million for the community college system and $14.9 million for the public schools. The recommended budget cuts included a $14.2 million cut in funds for expansion of the 16 units of the university system, increased tuition in the university units and the community colleges and an increase in the student-teacher ratio in the community college system.

Legislative leaders are seeking a $232 million cut in the budget proposed last January for the next two fiscal years by Gov. Jim Holshouser and the Advisory Budget Commission. The cuts were made necessary by state revenues falling below expectations.

The subcommittee recommended about $28.2 million for the East Carolina University Medical School, a cut of $7 million, and an increase of $2.5 million for improvements at the law school of North Carolina Central University in Durham. The law school has been threatened with loss of accreditation if it is not improved.

The Senate approved a bill to tighten regulation of lobbyists. It was held for final Senate action today after which it must go to the House.

The bill requires lobbyists to register with the secretary of state and requires them to make quarterly reports on their expenditures in excess of $25 in behalf of legislators. The bill would specifically require the registration of officers of corporations whose duties include lobbying.

In other action, the Senate passed and sent to the House a measure which would broaden state law regulating campaign contributions and expenditures. The law passed by the 1974 General Assembly would require periodic reports on campaign spending and contributions from all candidates for statewide and district office. The bill would amend the law to include candidates in county and municipal elections in cities and counties of over 25,000 population.

State Secretary of Corrections David Jones told a Senate appropriations subcommittee that new prisons could be built at less cost if prison labor were used. The Advisory Budget Commission recommended $18.2 million for prison construction for 1975 and $19.6 million for 1976. However, Sen. I. C. Crawford, D-Buncombe, the subcommittee chairman, said these figures would have to be cut in the face of revenue shortfalls.

SLOW—HUMPS

I think humps in the streets of residential areas or other places where there are a lot of children or pedestrians are a good thing, but aren't there some kind of specifications for their engineering? I've gone over some that will throw your car out of line if you go over them even once even after having come to a complete stop. Also, are there any regulations about the way they should be marked or about warning signs to go near them? L.B.

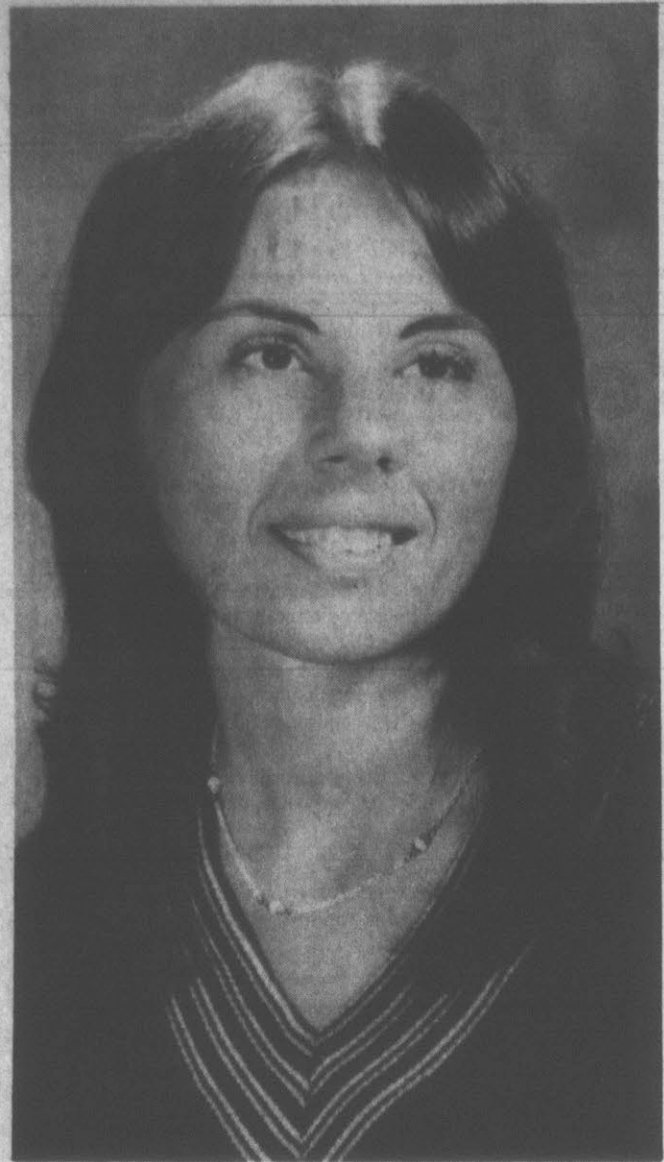

A Barrus Construction Company spokesman some time ago told Hotline theirs are made eight inches high with an 18-inch slope on either side. Since most safety humps are used on privately owned property, there seem to be no regulations for marking or placing signs near them. Hotline has seen some painted bright yellow with "Slow—Humps" on either side. This is ideal, we would think. Those on the East Carolina campus seem to be the best constructed to do the least damage to the front end of a car that we've seen.

Voice Feelings To Other Drivers

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: When I was younger, I used to drive a car as though I were going to a fire. But now that I am married and have a son, I realize how precious life is, so I no longer drive that way.

I want to know if you think it's wrong to ask the person who is driving too fast to slow down. My husband says I should keep my mouth shut, and my trembling knees and nerves to myself.

Don't I have the right to have a safe trip? When I've been a passenger in cars with reckless drivers, I have promised God that if He would only let me get home safely, I would never get into a car with that driver again.

My husband has a fit every time I complain about somebody's driving. (Not his. He's okay. I mean friends and relatives who drive beyond the speed limit whether they are late or not.) Am I wrong?

NO EASY RIDER

DEAR NO: No! You are absolutely right! Whenever possible, avoid riding with reckless drivers. Should you find yourself trapped with one, let your feelings be known—loud and clear.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently invited to a friend's home for dinner. The table was beautifully set, but after the guests were seated, I was surprised to see that the hostess had not set a place for herself.

She said that she was "on a diet" and had already eaten her diet dinner. Then she served us and didn't even join us at the table.

Was this proper? I felt as though we were invited to her home to be given a free meal—like a couple of charity cases. What is your opinion of this?

FED, NOT ENTERTAINED

DEAR FED: Your hostess should have sat with her guests and eaten her "diet dinner" unceremoniously while you ate yours.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Farmer's Wife Wants New Role

By ELDON BARRETT
SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The stereotype of the farm wife committed to a life of pig slopping, childbearing and standing strong but silent beside her man no longer is an accurate picture, at least in the Pacific Northwest.

A recent survey conducted by a Chicago firm in Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho showed that farm wives want fewer children, vacations and more leisure time and a decision-making role in family life.

"Views and attitudes of rural wives have taken a perceptible turnaround in the past five years, showing a more sophisticated approach to modern living and a growing awareness of their involvement in the world about them," said a spokesman for Estech, Inc., the firm that conducted the survey in an effort to analyze market trends.

In the farm wife survey, 380 women ranging in age from 24 to 44 were contacted. Fewer than 12 per cent indicated they had no interest in participating in business discussions and decisions.

A similar survey conducted five years ago showed the percentage was more than 35 per cent.

Enrollment Ceremonies Held For Members

Enrollment ceremonies for new members of the Academy of Friendship were conducted Sunday afternoon at the Moose Temple with Greenville Chapter No. 1305, Women of the Moose, as hostesses.

Miss Ada Jones, a member of the Greenville chapter and deputy grand regent for North and South Carolina, presided over the session which saw 100 new candidates enrolled, from 26 North Carolina chapters and five chapters in South Carolina.

The ritual team from the Greenville chapter, directed by Mrs. Betty Diehl, conducted the installation. Following the meeting, refreshments were served. Mrs. Earline Coghill was in charge of preparation and serving, assisted by the chapter's community development committee chairmen.

Approximately 200 members and candidates were present for the occasion.

Greenville WOTM members enrolled as Academy members were: Mrs. Doris Faulkner; Mrs. Hollie Simonowich; Mrs. Gerry Overman; Mrs. Doris Harris; Mrs. Brenda O'Geary; Mrs. Phyllis MacLardie; Mrs. Estelle Steiner; Mrs. Rosalie Beck; and Mrs. Odell Evans.

to the present-day farm wife is family planning," a summary of the survey said. "The majority of those involved in the survey, 63 per cent, noted that the ideal number of children was two or three.

"Only seven per cent expressed a desire to have five or more."

The 1970 poll showed 42 per cent wanted big families of five or more.

The results also showed that unprecedented numbers of farm wives were taking paying nonfarm jobs these days. Thirty-six per cent of those questioned in the four states were holding down fulltime positions, as opposed to 17 per cent in 1970.

An Estech spokesman said the survey indicated the Pacific Northwest farm wife likes her life style.

"Few really put any emphasis on leaving the rural community for city life," he said. "Also, about 69 per cent hope their children will remain in farming."

As for education, 64 per cent of the farm mothers surveyed want their children to receive a higher education and some are anxious that they go to an agricultural college.

"All in all," the survey concluded, "today's farm wife in the Pacific Northwest is knowledgeable, forthright and independent."

Good Food Rescued By Unusual Savings Bank

By ALICE Z. CUNEO
SANTA CLARA, Calif. (UPI) — The Food Bank here is an unusual savings institution. It rescues good food that would otherwise be wasted.

"What we do is take advantage of waste in the agricultural system by rescuing food before it gets to the dump to help people who are facing a food emergency," says Paul J. Growald, the bank's director.

Growald's nonprofit organization is near the heart of one of California's major food producing regions. It collects and distributes a small fraction of the millions of pounds of edible food destroyed annually in the United States.

The food he gathers is perfectly good to eat but may be cosmetically unacceptable for the marketplace: a funny-shaped apple or a yellow cauliflower, for example. Other fresh food Growald collects may have been stored after harvest with the hope of sale at high winter prices. If the demand never materializes, the food is destroyed.

In addition to fresh produce, canners and food processors often are left with many cans of acceptable products that are underweight—a can of tomatoes, for instance, that contains 12 rather than 16 ounces. The industry recently received Food and Drug Administration approval to sell some of these underweight products to institutions. Growald hopes to collect and distribute to charitable organizations about 15 tons of food a week, or 750 tons a year, from his warehouse, a glorified garage and a 40-foot donated refrigerator which is still at another facility because he has no place to put it.

His staff consists of a part-time truck driver and volunteers. He hopes to get some emergency federal employees to stretch out the project's $28,000 federal Community Services Administration grant.

His goal is a three-day basket with six to eight pounds of food for one person at a cost to the Food Bank of $1.39.

Charitable organizations, such as the Salvation Army or San Francisco's St. Anthony's Dining Room, are feeling the economic pinch from two sides, Growald said.

"Charities traditionally got their money and food from private individuals, but now contributions are off 25 per cent and the requests are up 25 per cent, meaning they have half the resources for each request," he said.

Caldwell Remarks Surprising

It has to be surprising that John Caldwell, retiring chancellor of N.C. State University would propose delaying the ECU Medical School development.

Dr. Caldwell said in a talk to the N.C. State alumni last weekend that both the medical school and the proposed School of Veterinary Medicine should be delayed.

The difference, of course, is that the ECU Medical School is an ongoing program which has been actually been teaching medical students for three years. The Veterinary School is only in the planning stage and still has to prove itself to the taxpayers.

Ten years of debate and study led to the establishment of the ECU Medical School and now intricate planning is underway for its expansion to a full four-year school. It would be disastrous to the state's health care program to further delay the medical school's development.

Dr. Caldwell has never seemed to be strongly opposed to the developments at ECU; yet he has taken up the cries of the school's bitterest enemies, namely that the medical school's development should be halted or that a bond issue be considered. Dr. Caldwell also sought to link the proposed tuition increase for higher education to the costs of developing the medical school.

The Legislative budget makers are attempting to avoid eliminating programs, and we think that is the way they should proceed. With careful budgeting we can hold things together during these critical financial times and prepare for a brighter future.

If Dr. Caldwell wants to see dropped an N.C. State University program which has not even been started, then it is proper for him to say so. However, calling for elimination of an already established program on another campus could lead to a budgetary look at all on going programs on all campuses. There are some programs which would have far more difficulty withstanding the public scrutiny than the ECU Medical School, which will be providing for our health needs in the years ahead.

THIS AFTERNOON Lower Prices May Result

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—You probably won't notice an immediate drop in prices of certain merchandise on July 1, when North Carolina's fair trade law ends.

But in a year or two—certainly over the long run—"I think it will bring about real reductions in prices," says the chief sponsor of the repeal measure recently passed by the General Assembly.

What repeal of the fair trade measure means to the purchaser is that the manufacturers of certain items can no longer set a price which must be charged by all retailers handling that merchandise.

The law was complex, not listing items specifically, but leaving it up to the manufacturer to determine whether his goods would be fair traded.

"Fair Trade is a misnomer," says State Rep. James E. Long, D-Alamance, who managed the repeal in the assembly. "The law actually was completely the opposite; it is legalized price fixing."

Use Concentrated
Use of the fair trade law was largely concentrated in several areas—electronic components, hardware (especially power tools), jewelry (particularly watches), some bicycles, and furniture (especially mattresses).

In addition, manufacturers could attach the fair trade ruling to specific items within a line—thus a watch with a particular brand name would be fair traded, while dozens of other watches made by the same company would not be.

Long thinks repeal will save North Carolina consumers up to $200 million yearly in purchase power. The national estimate is that various fair trade laws cost consumers $2 billion yearly; the Ford administration is pushing for repeals.

North Carolina's withdrawal from the fair trade ranks brings the number of states down to 32 in which fair trade laws exist. At one time, 46 states had such laws, mostly enacted during the Depression years to preserve competition as prices and sales fell.

Until four years ago, North Carolina had a companion law which required that if only one retailer signed a pricefixing contract with a particular manufacturer, the agreement was binding on very other retail merchant in the state. Struck down by the State Supreme Court, that provision's end meant that manufacturers then had to set prices with each retailer handling the line.

The single most noticeable effect of the state's fair trade system has been the absence from discount store aisles of the particular items on which manufacturers set a minimum retail price.

Discount operations largely dependent on volume purchase and sales techniques have opted for other items which could be sold lower, rather than handle the fair-traded merchandise.

On Discount

"They will now be able to handle this merchandise, and that will bring prices down. The merchant can (effective July 1) sell at whatever price he wants to—even taking a loss to attract customers," Long said. "I think it will open up competition."

Opponents of the repeal measure based their resistance mostly on the complaint that allowing such volume handling will drive the small retailer out of business.

Long thinks that won't happen. "Many people will pay a slightly higher price to trade with a local retailer rather than deal with the volume discount store system."

"We like to deal with people we know on a first-name basis. We also get better service, prompt replacement of a defective item, and we know we can go in the small shop and get personal attention in both the purchase of a particular item, and in handling any problems," Long said.

INSIDE REPORT S. Korea: Nuclear Power?

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — A chilling byproduct of the Vietnam debacle is the possibility of South Korea developing its own nuclear capability out of fear that the U.S. can no longer be counted a dependable ally.

Seoul's defense plan always has been predicated on a combined U.S.-South Korean air force combating an invasion from Communist North Korea. Based on the Vietnam experience, the Koreans now have good reason to fear Congress would rule out any American combat. That would guarantee North Korean air superiority.

To compensate for that, there is active consideration in Seoul for developing a nuclear deterrent — well within its technological means. Ironically, then, determination by the U.S. Congress to keep hands off all Asian wars will encourage nuclear proliferation and might lead to World War III.

Long concerned about Pyongyang's military preparations, the Seoul government became particularly alarmed by the April 18-26 visit to Peking by President Kim Il Sung of North Korea — his first official trip to China in 14 years. Was he there to ask for arms and moral support in a renewed Korea war? The U.S. does not know.

The Republic of Korea (ROK) outnumbers the northerners 560,000 to 410,000. But South Korea's air force has only 210 combat aircraft to the North's 598. Nuclear capability would more than make up the difference.

Tough Talk For Thais
A stiff but unpublicized demarche from the U.S. embassy in Bangkok has dissuaded Thailand's government from turning over to Vietnamese Communists up to 120 U.S.-supplied war planes flown into Thailand by South Vietnamese pilots seeking asylum.

Thai Foreign Minister Chatchai Chunhawan, hell-bent for accommodation with Hanoi, announced the planes would be given to the Communist victors. But the U.S. informed Bangkok in unequivocal terms that the planes legally belong to the United States, and Bangkok agreed.

What made Chatchai so quixotic is the fact that Hanoi is sending U.S. M-16 automatic rifles, abandoned by South Vietnamese soldiers, to Communist guerrillas in northeast Thailand. Now the U.S. may give the abandoned planes to Thailand for anti-guerrilla action — if Thailand is willing to risk taking them.

Ford And 1976
Stung by published reports that President Ford will not be a presidential candidate next year, top White House aides held their first campaign-planning session last weekend behind closed doors.

With counselor Robert Hartmann, Mr. Ford's long-time confidant, presiding over the Saturday evening planning session, the small group of aides quickly agreed on this: it is dangerously late to start planning a presidential campaign for a candidate who has never run for national office, whose credibility as President is widely disparaged and who is still not perceived in the public mind as having decided to run.

Thus, the meeting reached these conclusions:

1. A planning committee must be named quickly and given three months to draft overall campaign strategy divided into three parts: the pre-convention period, the convention itself and the fall campaign.
2. The new, crazy-quilt campaign expenditures law must be thoroughly researched. It is filled with potholes and boobytraps that no one in the White House is even close to defining.

3. A campaign organization, geared into the Republican National Committee, must be ready to take over from the planning group. Mr. Ford's old friend and congressional crony, Melvin R. Laird, has flatly refused to be full-time campaign chairman. So that spot may go to a former or incumbent governor (possibly ex-Gov. Winfield Dunn of Tennessee) or Congressman (possibly Rep. Al Quie of Minnesota).

One likely choice for the top operating job in the still-unformed planning committee is Jack Mills, tobacco industry lobbyist here and a former Republican political operative with close ties to Laird and the President.

Present at Last Saturday night's planning session were mainly White House aides: Hartmann's two assistants, Gwen Anderson and Jack Calkins, among others. But one surprise was a Commerce Department bureaucrat (Social and Economic Statistics administrator named Edward F. Failor).

A former Iowa Republican operative and backroom power in the national Young Republican politics, Judge Failor was a member of the secret "attack group" of

Strength For Today

PEACOCKS AND EAGLES
"They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles."

There is a vast difference between a peacock and an eagle. The peacock has beautiful feathers which he displays very proudly; but his wings are so small and ineffectual that it is difficult for him to get off the ground. The eagle, on the other hand, has no colorful feathers at all, but his powerful wings enable him to soar—higher than almost any other bird.

The difference between these two birds is reflected in differences of behavior among Christians. Some display their virtues with great pride. They derive great satisfaction out of what they believe to be their moral superiority. But the Bible has no commendation for this type of Christian. Instead it commends the eagle variety of Christian. His interest is not to parade his virtues but to emulate the eagle, soaring above the difficulties of life through faith.

The Statue of Liberty was gazing toward Europe when I tapped her on her shoulder. "Ma'am," I said, "if you look the other way, we have about 55,000 Vietnamese refugees coming in from Guam and the Philippines. I thought you might hold your torch high and light the way for them."

The statue seemed irritated. "We have too many people in this country now. What am I going to do with 55,000 Orientals?"

"The same thing you did with everybody else. Welcome them. They're tired and they're poor and they are yearning to breathe free."

"And what about jobs? Who is going to support them?" she said petulantly.

"You never worried about that before," I said. "Whoever came to this country eventually found jobs, and almost all of them made very good citizens. There is no reason to think the Vietnamese will be different. After all, you are the mother of exiles."

"Times have changed," she growled. "The American people aren't that thrilled about having a bunch of refugees dumped on them. Who is going to feed them? How many will go on welfare? How do we know their kids won't get in trouble in the streets? We have enough problems in this country without asking for more."

"But," I pleaded, "we're responsible for them being refugees. We screwed up a country like it's never been screwed up before. We supported their corrupt governments, loaded them down with weapons they couldn't use, defoliated their rice paddies and wrecked their families."

"We left the country in a mess. The least we can do is take in whatever huddled masses escaped to our teeming shore."

"That's easy for you to say," the Statue of Liberty replied, "but we have to think of Americans first. They don't want any more foreigners in this country."

"But most of our fathers and grandfathers were foreigners. You've welcomed them all. Tell me the truth. Do you have anything against

Combat Duty Doubts

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The fight to open the three U.S. military academies to women will be carried to the House floor but a congressman leading the effort says he'll probably drop his bid to make women eligible for combat as well.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., lost the fight in the House Armed Services Committee on Tuesday but said he can win in the full House.

His amendment to eliminate the ban that keeps women out of the academies and certain military duties, including combat, was tabled by the committee 24 to 12. Stratton said that when he goes to the floor, he'll probably drop the part about the combat.

"People don't want to see women on the battlefield," Stratton said. "When people think of combat they think of women shooting rifles in foxholes and that is hard to visualize for some people."

He said he does not favor it himself and that under Army, Navy and Air Force definitions of combat, the women would be Navy ship officers, pilot instructors and missile silo officers.

Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., also said combat was the real issue in the committee vote.

"They're afraid of the next election," she said. "They want to be very careful they don't say something that will come out as putting women into combat."

Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., said he favored admitting women to the academies but proposed an amendment that they be required to meet the same physical and mental standards as men.

"If you're going to lower standards for officers of the United States, Mao Tse-tung might be correct when he says the United States is a paper tiger," Ichord said.

Stratton's amendment was tabled on a motion by Chairman Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., of Confederate Memorial Day will be observed here on Friday, May 10, under the auspices of the George B. Singletary Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The program will begin with the gathering of chapter members and any confederate veterans at the high school at 11 a.m. The group will then proceed to the Cherry Hill Cemetery with the high school band for brief services.

The group will then go to East Carolina Teachers College for another short program.

Anyone having flowers they wish to give to be used to decorate the graves of the veterans are urged to send them to Mrs. Charles Laughinghouse on Thursday afternoon.

William H. Taft, campaign chairman for the Greenville District Boy Scouts, has announced that Camp Charles, the council camp for the scouts in the East Carolina Council, will open on June 2.

On that date, the first of three week-long camp sessions will begin.

Accounting Makes Difference

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — One of the major roles of accountants is to produce comprehensible reports on the financial condition of corporations. Sometimes the results are more than the public can understand.

The problem is that there's more than one way to report, and those different methods might produce remarkably different appearances, as investors learn from time to time.

Accounting is not an exact science any more than is the law. A full time, seven-man Financial Accounting Standards Board is constantly checking methods and issuing instructions on what can and cannot be done.

During the past week Ford Motor reduced a $105.8 million first-quarter loss to $10.6 million by changing its accounting method. Chrysler Corp. reduced a $116.9 million loss to $94.1 million.

In each instance the reduction was accomplished by switching to the "flow through" method of accounting for investment tax credits and abandoning the deferred accounting technique.

In the deferred method, a company amortizes the tax credit, which was raised recently to 10 per cent from 7 per cent, over the life of the newly installed equipment.

Under flow through, amortizing is out. The entire tax benefit is permitted to flow right on through to the first year, uninterrupted by amortization.

William Bousquette, assistant controller of Ford, explained it this way:

"You buy equipment worth $1,000, on which you can claim a 10 per cent investment tax credit. When you put it into service you get a $100 tax credit, because on flow through the credit is included in income when received.

"On the old, deferred basis, which had been followed by Ford, that $100 tax credit would have been taken into income over the life of the asset. A 10-year life would have meant $10 each year for 10 years."

In other words, no magic, no cheating, and over the long run, probably no marked impact on the financial fortunes of the company. But the immediate appearance is changed, and markedly so, and that counts with investors.

For one thing, while Ford did manage to make its losses look less embarrassing for the present, it probably made future profits a bit less attractive because it won't have those amortized tax benefits.

Some people still think the flow through is gimmickry, and Bousquette concedes its tough to dispel that notion.

"We were very sensitive" about the situation, he said. "We clearly showed what our losses would have been without this change."

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—Lee Roy Hargrave Jr. took an amphetamine overdose in an apparent suicide attempt Tuesday night shortly after being convicted of murdering an elderly heart patient at the hospital where he had worked.

Hargrave, unconscious, was taken to Medical College of Virginia Hospital in Richmond, 25 miles north of here, where he was listed in satisfactory condition early today.

The 21-year-old former nurse aide at Petersburg General Hospital is also accused of murdering five other elderly patients in the hospital's coronary care unit during a two-week period last June. Medical examiners said all six patients died of overdoses of lidocaine, a heart depressant.

The jury reported its verdict about 8:30 p.m. and Circuit Court Judge Oliver Pollard Jr. sentenced Hargrave to life imprisonment.

Hargrave, defense attorney John Baker, and Petersburg Deputy Sheriff David Dunn went into a room off the courtroom and Hargrave asked permission to go to an adjacent bathroom for a drink of water.

Baker said Hargrave went in, stayed a few minutes and came out with a cup in his hand.

He collapsed, unconscious, about 9:30 p.m., according to Dr. Francis N. Taylor. Sheriff Harry B. Hartman Jr. came out of the court house and told waiting reporters, "He's passed out and irrational."

Investigator Pete Ierardi, a member of the defense team, said he saw Dr. Taylor write down that Hargrave had taken between 20 and 30 amphetamine tablets and an unknown quantity of tranquilizers.

Ierardi said he didn't know where the convicted man got the drugs, but sheriff's deputies later said an empty bottle was found, either in the bathroom or on the unconscious man. Deputies indicated the tablets apparently belonged to Hargrave's mother.

Hargrave showed no emotion when Pollard imposed the life sentence. He told the judge he had nothing to say before sentencing.

A Petersburg Circuit Court grand jury indicted Hargrave on six murder charges, but so far he has only been tried on one count — that of killing Miss Josephine Thomas, 73, on June 30, 1974.

The prosecution called 29 witnesses during six days of testimony to try to establish there had been a "scheme of murder."

Most of the prosecution witnesses were nurses who had worked with and supervised Hargrave on the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift in the coronary care unit. The prosecution said all six of the patients died on overnight shifts while Hargrave was working.

Nurses testified that Hargrave often reported patients in trouble when their conditions were satisfactory, and some said they saw him enter patients' rooms with what they suspected was lidocaine.

None of the nurses said they

Baker said he will appeal the conviction.

Commonwealth's Atty. J. Thompson Wyatt said he has not decided what action will be taken on the other five murder charges.

Judge Pollard scheduled a hearing Thursday on a motion by Baker seeking bond for Hargrave pending an appeal. Hargrave has been free under $35,000 bond since mid-December.

the committee's manpower subcommittee.

Nedzi said it was not a matter of sex discrimination but of studying the potential impact of the amendment.

"I believe this will stimulate lawsuits to establish quota systems and affirmative action that may throw the whole military education system out of whack," Nedzi said.

He said his subcommittee will study the issues and report out a bill as soon as it can. Stratton said he hopes the House will already have voted to open the academies to women by then.

His amendment was to a $32-billion weapons bill that may go to the House floor early next month, and that is when Stratton said he will try to get approval for admitting women to West Point, the Navy Academy at Annapolis, Md., and the Air Force Academy in Colorado.

The Senate approved a bill in the last Congress to admit women to the academies but would have to approve a new bill for this Congress.

Martin County Art Festival Opened Later Than Planned

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

It's a lovely place to go to see an art show. Not far from the big metal bridge that crosses the Roanoke River over U.S. 17, the main building of Moratoc Park nestles under trees fresh with the green of a new spring. Cardinals, mocking birds, jaybirds and even a rarely seen bluebird dash back and forth between the trees. The Roanoke makes a big sweep here, and on the distant shore white half gallon plastic jars move to the motion of every fisherman's boat.

Inside the spacious community building, which has been constructed of weathered boards gathered from a number of old Martin County buildings and left unpainted, school children from 14 Martin County schools and adult art students from Martin Technical Institute are holding a second annual Martin County Arts Festival.

"Actually, it's being held a little later than originally planned because of the flood waters that have just subsided," Eugene Rogers, Superintendent of Martin County Schools, remarked.

It's perhaps just as well that the festival date is a little late, as adult viewers and students both commented on the pleasure of getting out in the warm spring sun, enjoying the scenery as well as the show.

The 14 county schools with examples of student art work are Oak City; Robersonville High; Church Street, Williamston; E.J. Hayes, Williamston; West Martin; Bear Grass; Andrews, Hamilton; Rodgers, Bear Grass; Williamston High School; East End, Robersonville; Jamesville; Farm Life in lower Martin County; North Everetts; and the Williamston Junior High School. Art work by crafts and art students at Martin Technical Institute round out the showing by county artists of all ages.

With a few exceptions — such as some of the small decorative items made by students at Church Street Elementary School and the remarkable animal drawings of Mike Bennett of Oak City — the art fare itself, is about par of what is expected of school children, that is, it is bright, colorful and imaginative. One of the best features of this festival is the big, airy showing space. There's ample room for large numbers of people to wander around the different viewing areas without crowding up. There's also the bonus attraction of spending a few minutes standing at the windows at the end of the building, watching the brown waters of the Roanoke flow by.

The Martin County Schools Art Festival will be open through Sunday, May 11, with the following hours applicable.

Research Report In Publication

Two East Carolina University biologists have a scientific research report appearing in a special publication of the Oklahoma Academy of Science. "Helminth Population Dynamics in the Cotton Rat," a study in parasitology by Dr. James S. McDaniel of the ECU biology facility and James R. Coggins, former graduate student at ECU, is among studies of parasites included in the publication by scientists from all over the U.S.

Today through Friday, 7 a.m. till noon, 1-3 p.m. and 7-9 p.m., Saturday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday, 1 to 9 p.m. There is no admission charge and the public is invited. A number of towns and county people have volunteered and are on duty as hostesses at all hours.

To reach Moratoc Park from Greenville, take the U.S. 17 by-pass north around Williamston. Cut left just before the river bridge, travel about 300 yards and cut right on a small dirt road leading to the park. It is marked by a large shingle covered sign reading "Moratoc Park." A traveler can also go through town and cut left immediately after crossing the railroad tracks.

County School Bd. Meets...

persons conducting studies on behalf of educational agencies with permission from the Board of Education; parents of dependent students, 18 or over, who are still in public school; and cases of emergencies involving the health and personal safety of the student or other persons.

School records may be transferred from one school to another without the parents' consent. However, parents must be notified that the transfer is taking place.

Board members voted that mid-term and final examinations will be taken by all students, regardless of their grade average or rank in school.

Assistant Superintendent Jack Edwards said he had met with the four Pitt County high schools principals and that they voted unanimously to have the Pitt County Board of Education require mid-term and final examinations for all students and that no exemptions be made regardless of grade average.

The board also approved that the mid-term and final examination grades would count as one-fourth of the total grade for Level I and II students.

Level III students would be required to participate in examinations but their scores will not be counted as one-fourth of the total grade.

The following recommendations for placement of kindergarten through eighth grade students in reading texts were adopted: teacher judgment; achievement tests scores; placement tests that go with reading books; and Informal Reading Inventory to students needing further testing.

In addition to the above recommendations, basal reading program-tutorial program which is not available with new text in grades two and three, the following procedures should be adopted: in first grades new tutorial programs will be used; second and third grade students will continue in MacMillan program; and second and third grade students will use new reading adoptions that have the tutorial program as supplementary books.

The First State Bank of Winterville was selected as the depository for Title I funds for the 1975-76 school year.

J.L. Keeter, assistant superintendent, told board members that an income survey is needed before another Title I project can be submitted for funding. He explained the survey would be made soon and that parents would be asked if their income was over or under $4,000. No signature is required on the survey forms.

Keeter reported that $800,000 for Title I programs has been assured for the next school year and that there is $400,000 from the current year which can be transferred to next year. The present Title I budget is approximately $1 million.

Keeter explained that Part "C" of Title I will be discontinued after the current school year which will result in a loss of $50,000 to the Title I budget. He said the Title I program will have to be phased down so the loss of funds will not affect the program.

Keeter reported that a Title I School Parent Advisory Council had been established in each of the county schools and they seemed to be working well. He said about 100 parents are involved in the councils.

Medical social counselors and social workers employed by the county system were given the same personal leave benefits as the teachers receive.

Each teacher is allotted two personal leave days per year with a $20 a day salary deduction. The maximum number of personal leave days that can be accumulated is five.

Sparky McCaskill of the Winterville Insurance Agency met with the board to discuss liability insurance for board of education members.

McCaskill discussed an insurance policy from St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Company, St. Paul, Minn., which provides liability protection to members and employees of school boards plus reimbursement coverage for school officials.

The policy was developed to meet the growing need among school districts for financial protection from allegations of negligence or breach of duty made against individuals responsible for the direction, management or implementation of school district objectives and purposes.

The board agreed to study the liability policy to see what position the board should take on the matter.

Ted Moore, resident manager of the Ramada Inn in Greenville, asked that the Ramada Inn property be released from the county school district so the property could be annexed by the city school district.

Moore told the board that his two children have been attending schools in Greenville and that he has received a letter from the Greenville Board of Education stating that $120 must be paid to them in order for his two children to continue attending the city schools.

Moore said the children on either side of the Ramada Inn are in the city school district and that the Ramada Inn property is located within the Greenville city limits. Therefore, he felt his children should be allowed to attend the city schools at no cost.

Supt. Ott Alford said the tax value of the property mentioned, according to county tax books, is $1,015,455 which would mean a big loss to the county schools budget. Board members agreed to take the matter under consideration and Moore would be notified as soon as a decision had been made.

Mrs. Gaynor Mills, director of the Pitt County PTA Council reading and math tutorial program, appeared before the board to ask for support of the program's continuation. The program, being conducted at Bethel Middle, G.R. Whitfield and A.G. Cox Grammar School, was financed through Elementary and Secondary Assistance Act funds.

Mrs. Mills pointed out a noticeable gain in both the areas of reading and math from the students who had participated in the program. She explained a budget for the next school year will be submitted to the Atlanta office this month and will be approximately $1 million.

Board members approved three units of credit for military-related education and training experience be allowed toward high school graduation.

Association Supt. Tom Craft was authorized to work with the board of trustees of the Pictolus Baptist Church toward the purchase of .5 acres of land located behind the church property. The church requested that the board of education either sell or lease the property which is not used by the school system and is not accessible directly from the present school campus. The church would like to use the property for parking and for beautification of the area.

Charge Driver In Accident

Jack Mack Walston of 406 Elizabeth St. was charged with driving under the influence and failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety yesterday following investigation of a 7:50 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Fourth and Elizabeth Streets.

Police reported the Walston car collided with an auto driven by Helen Lane Moore of 306 Elizabeth St., causing an estimated $200 damage to the Moore car and $75 damage to the Walston vehicle.

ment at Duke University in Durham—which he established—since 1969.

His position in supporting the medical school at East Carolina was based, Lee explained, on the "fact that North Carolina could stand an additional medical school."

Where it should be located, he indicated, was immaterial.

"Having worked with Duke's medical school, I felt we were short of doctors. Whether the school should be here (at ECU) or not... we needed another facility."

He emphasized, "I'm still very much in support of the idea. Youngsters shouldn't have to travel across the state to one medical school."

Lee noted, "I feel this is a new opportunity to develop another section of the state and it's certainly not totally unrealistic to move in this direction."

The mayor indicated there was a "mixed reaction" to his initial statement supporting a second four-year state supported medical program.

"A lot of people said as mayor of Chapel Hill, I was selling UNC out... playing politics. Others said they agreed with my position."

"Then there were those that took sort of a bland position," according to Lee.

Commenting on the possibility of the medical school using the new Pitt Memorial Hospital as its prime clinical teaching hospital, Lee said "it seems to me that this is the most logical way to go."

He said he conceives of regional medical centers being established in the state. Illustrating, Lee explained "Pitt and Greene Counties and one or two others" could be served by a regional hospital, "which would have superior facilities."

"From that hospital, satellite clinics would be developed. Then outposts from the satellite clinics would take high quality medical care to the cross roads communities."

Lee said "I'm not sure a complete teaching hospital is the way to go... a cross between a teaching and community hospital," he said "is good and the only way to reasonably go."

Lee said yesterday that he intends to "take a long, hard look" at his becoming a candidate for the State's lieutenant governor post. "I hope that I can mount a strong campaign."

He emphasized, "There's no doubt I'm interested." But said he has to look at the "financial risks... if I can find the money... a half-million dollars."

Lee said if he becomes a candidate for the state post, he will "try to design" a campaign that will "take the big money out and put little people in."

A decision on whether to try for the lieutenant governorship will be made "sometime in the fall," he explained.

His term as mayor ends the first Monday in December. He has called a news conference for Monday (May 12) "to disclose whether I'll run for mayor again. The final decision will be Friday or Saturday and announced Monday," Lee said.

Will he seek another elective post if he decides against trying for the lieutenant governor's post?

"It's very difficult to say what other office I might be interested in. My sole interest and direction at this time is lieutenant governor," Lee explained.

How Senators, Congressmen Cast Votes

By ROLL CALL REPORT
WASHINGTON—Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes April 24 through April 30.

House
LUNCH—Adopted, 213 for and 176 against, an amendment increasing the federal school lunch subsidy as it applies to non-poor students participating in the program. The amendment, in effect only for the fiscal year beginning July 1, would mainly benefit students from families with incomes of at least $10,020.

The increase would raise the subsidy for this income category from 22 cents to 27 cents per meal. Students would pay the difference between 27 cents and the cost of producing the meal. Other participants in the federally-subsidized school lunch program receive either free lunches or lunches greatly reduced in price.

The amendment was attached to HR 4222, legislation designed, in part, to extend and expand the government program insuring that students receive at least one hot, nutritious meal daily.

Supporters said the extra five cents subsidy would spur recently-declining participation by middle income students, whose patronage is necessary to maintain the "economy of scale" that keeps costs low or non-existent for poor students. "It is the $10,000 — $15,000 middle-income parents that we want to try to hold in the school lunch program. . .," said Rep. Carl Perkins (D-Ky.).

Opponents doubted that the additional five cents would be an effective incentive. Rep. Shirley Chisholm (D-N.Y.) said the bill lacked safeguards to assure that the subsidy would be used as intended. She also said it was unfair to raise the per-meal subsidy of middle income children to a level almost 20 percent higher than that received by food stamp recipients.

Rep. Walter Jones (D-1), L.H. Fountain (D-2), David Henderson (D-3), Stephen Neal (D-5), Richardson Preyer (D-6), Charles Rose (D-7), W.G. Hefner (D-8) and Roy Taylor (D-11) voted "yea."

Rep. James Martin (R-9) and James Broyhill (R-10) voted "nay."

Rep. Ike Andrews (D-4) did not vote.

CHILD NUTRITION—Adopted, 238 for and 152 against, an amendment to counter the Department of Agriculture's past unwillingness to spend all money appropriated by Congress for the Supplemental Feeding Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC). The amendment, attached to HR 4222 (above), directs the department to spend all WIC funds approved by Congress. HR 4222 authorizes $250 million for WIC in fiscal 1976.

The WIC program grew out of evidence linking infant abnormalities with deficient nutritional and medical care of pregnant women, nursing mothers and newborn children. It channels federal funds through local agencies.

One supporter, Rep. George Miller (D-Cal.), said WIC spending should prevent future spending of "astronomical amounts of money on cures, rehabilitative costs, and custodial costs." He said Agriculture Secretary Butz's "hostility" makes necessary congressional action to assure that "money under this program will be spent."

One opponent, Rep. Albert Quie (R-Minn.) said the amendment was a "false promise" because it assured prospective participants in the WIC program of money which has not been appropriated in a separate funding bill.

Fountain, Andrews, Neal, Preyer, Rose and Hefner voted "yea."

Jones, Henderson, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "nay."

AMTRAK—Rejected, 155 for and 198 against, an amendment to prevent increasing from $60,000 to $85,000 the salary of Amtrak's president. The amendment was proposed to a bill (HR 4975), subsequently passed and sent to the Senate, providing $1.1 billion in financial aid to the National Railroad Passenger Corporation.

One supporter, Rep. Spark Matsunaga (D-Hawaii), said, "Amtrak has become a quasi-governmental agency, and the salary of its president ought to be set accordingly. Cabinet members receive only $60,000."

Rep. Anthony Moffet (D-Conn.), the sponsor, said the pay raise would offend "many of my constituents and the constituents of my colleagues (who) are facing economic hardship."

One opponent, Rep. James Haley (D-Fla.), said Amtrak must compete with private companies, for example the Southern Railroad which pays its president $200,000 a year. Rep. Harley Staggers (D-W. Va.) said the $20,000 increment was a small price to pay for an executive "who can cut thousands and millions of dollars in running the railroad as we want it to be run."

Fountain, Henderson and Taylor voted "yea."

Jones, Andrews, Neal, Preyer, Rose, Hefner, Mating and Broyhill voted "nay."

VIETNAM—Adopted, 46 for and 17 against, the conference report on a bill (HR 6096) appropriating up to $327 million for humanitarian aid to South Vietnam and evacuation of Americans and certain Vietnamese from the area. The House rejected the conference report three days after South Vietnam surrendered. The Senate vote was taken before the surrender.

Sen. Robert Morgan (D) and Jesse Helms (R) did not vote.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market recovered from some early losses and swung upward today in active trading. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, down more than 4 points in early trading, turned and gained 1.95 to 836.67 at 11:30 a.m. Losers led gainers by a narrowing margin on the New York Stock Exchange and trading was active in spurts.

"The same forces that have been driving it up are still there—uninvested cash and conviction about an economic recovery," said Robert Wade of Drexel, Burnham & Co.

Profit taking gnawed away at early prices today but failed to take hold despite a sharp selling wave developed in the previous session.

"The correction still lies ahead and when it will come is anyone's guess," Wade said.

Glamor stocks and blue chips, which came under some of the heaviest selling pressure in the previous session, snapped back today. Du Pont, off 3 points Tuesday, was up 1 1/4 to 131, and General Electric, off 2 points the day before, rose 1 to 46 1/2. IBM gained 1 1/4 to 211 1/4, and Burroughs rose 1 1/4 to 100.

Steels, also down sharply on Tuesday, were generally mixed today with U.S. Steel down 1/2 to 59 1/2, Bethlehem Steel up 1/2 to 37 1/2, and Armco Steel unchanged at 29 1/2.

Today's most active issue was Williams Cos., off 1/4 to 32 1/2, followed by Curtiss-Wright, up 1/4 to 12 1/2 and Commonwealth Oil, unchanged at 12 1/2.

The NYSE composite index was down .01 at 46.90 at 11:30 a.m. and the Amex market value index was up .06 at 85.80.

Obituaries

Crawford

Funeral services for Mrs. Ethel Allen Crawford, 80, widow of John R. Crawford, were conducted Wednesday at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Ronald Nichols and the Rev. Billy Adams. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Crawford died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Tucker, in Smithfield. A Pitt County native, she spent most of her life in the Red Oak community, where she was a member of the Red Oak Christian Church and a Gold Star Mother.

Surviving her are three daughters, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. James Allen of Greenville, and Mrs. James McKenna of Martinsville, Va.; her stepmother, Mrs. Mary Harrington of Portsmouth, Va.; two brothers, Chester Allen of Greenville and Clinton Allen of Florida; four sisters, Mrs. Sarah Johnson of Portsmouth, Va., Mrs. Lee Richards of Chesapeake, Va., and Mrs. Charles C. Jackson and Miss Beulah Harrington, both of Greenville; 10 grandchildren; and 10 great grandchildren.

Crech

KINSTON—Funeral services for Mrs. Rena Woodard Crech, 72, were conducted yesterday at the First Baptist Church here by the Rev. Ray Hodge. Burial was in the Bethany Church Cemetery, Kenly.

Surviving her are three sons, Harold and Dr. Stephen K. Crech, both of Greenville, and Worley Y. Crech of Kingsville, Tex.; five sisters, Mrs. Eva Pittman of Morehead City, Mrs. Leola Earp of Selma, Mrs. Hazel Wooten of LaGrange and Mrs. Elgie Nearing and Mrs. Mary Talton, both of Smithfield; three brothers, Clarence and Herman Woodard, both of Selma, and J.T. Woodard of Nashville; and seven grandchildren.

Evans

Mr. Don P. Evans, 77, died in the Greenville Nursing Home Tuesday.

Graveside services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Greenwood Cemetery by the Rev. Tom Davis, executive secretary of the Albemarle Presbyterian Association. The body will be at the Wilkerson Funeral Home.

Mr. Evans, a native of Pitt County, spent all his life near Greenville and was a retired farmer.

He is survived by a sister, Miss Louise Evans of Greenville, and a brother, John L. (Bill) Evans of Greenville.

Art Student's Work Displayed

Paintings, prints and drawings by Rudolph H. Hofheinz, senior student in the East Carolina University School of Art, are on display this week in the Mendenhall Student Center.

A candidate for the BS degree in art education, Hofheinz has a minor concentration in painting.

His show includes oil, acrylic, and watercolor paintings and collages; lithocrayon and woodcut prints; and several drawings done in ink and charcoal.

Hofheinz is a member of the ECU chapter of Delta Phi Delta honor society in art. He plans to begin graduate studies in art this fall, and eventually hopes to teach commercial art and painting on the college level.

Winterville Bd. Votes Buy Metal Town Tags

WINTERVILLE — The Winterville Board of Aldermen, Monday night, voted to purchase metal town tags for 1976.

The town has been using windshield decals this year but voted to return to metal tags so the slogan "Friendly Community" could be placed on them as in 1974. The tags can be bought from the North Carolina Department of Corrections for about the same price as the windshield decals.

J.L. Keeter and Mrs. Joyce Mills of the Winterville Recreation Commission, asked the town for permission to use the lights at A.G. Cox Grammar School for the summer recreation program. They also asked that the town employ at least one person to coordinate the summer program and that money be put in the next fiscal budget for summer recreation.

The town agreed to furnish the lights but the other requests will be taken under advisement. The board said it would try to get an employee for the summer program through government assistance.

It was decided the 1974-75 delinquent tax sale would be held June 9 at 12 noon in front of the municipal building. Dates for advertisement in local newspapers are May 12, 19, 26, and June 2. The final date for persons to pay their taxes so they will not be advertised is May 9.

The board amended the 1974-75 budget to add an additional $89,000 to the power purchase fund due to the increase in the cost of purchasing power during this year.

The board voted that all town businesses would be closed between the hours of 10 a.m. and 12 noon every Sunday. A town ordinance which stated different closing hours for the various businesses was amended to read that all businesses should be closed each Sunday during the hours of 10 a.m. and 12 noon.

Board members discussed the tiling of open ditches in the area. Mayor Walter Dail said several complaints had been registered with the town concerning the matter of open ditches. He explained that the town could not tile any of the ditches before the new budget year.

He said the town would contact Seaboard Coastline Railroad again about the large ditch that runs parallel to the railroad tracks. The ditch is located on railroad property and should be tiled by the railroad company. The town has previously been told by the railroad that it would be too costly to tile the ditch.

Town Clerk Elwood Nobles reported that construction has been started on the tank and water well project.

Iraqi Attache Speaker At ECU

Dr. Tarik Al-Rawi, Cultural Attache from Iraq currently assigned to the Indian Embassy in Washington, D.C., will speak at East Carolina University, Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Mendenhall Student Center Room 244.

He will discuss life in Iraq today, and the effect of the oil shortage and embargoes upon industrialized nations. The public is invited to attend the presentation and the question and answer period following Dr. Al-Rawi's address.

The Iraqi diplomat's ECU appearance is sponsored by ECU's International Students.

Rampants Defeat Bertie By 5-0 Score

Some Similarities Between SF's Pete Falcone And LA's Koufax

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

He is a young left-hander just breaking into the National League. He went to Lafayette High School in Brooklyn, N.Y. There end the similarities between Pete Falcone of the San Francisco Giants and Sandy Koufax of the All-Time Baseball Greats.

For now, that is. After all, the 21-year-old Falcone made his fifth major league start in his team's 25th game Tuesday night. Koufax didn't appear in his first game until the end of June 20 summers ago and didn't start until July 6.

A 19-year-old Koufax pitched a total of 42 innings his first season, while Falcone already has worked 37. The last eight of those innings were spent beating Atlanta, 7-1, holding the Braves hitless for the first six innings and losing his shutout on an eighth-inning balk.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers topped the Houston Astros 3-1, the Montreal Expos crushed the Chicago Cubs 9-4, the Cincinnati Reds clubbed the San Diego Padres 7-3 and the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the New York Mets 2-1 in eight innings. The Philadelphia-St. Louis game was rained out.

Eventually, Randy Moffitt came on in relief of the 21-year-old who had expected to pitch baseballs in the Texas League this year after owning lockers in previous seasons at Great Falls, Mont.; Fresno, Calif., and Amarillo, Tex. The two finished with a three-hitter that went into the books as Falcone's third victory in four decisions.

Koufax, in his first year, was 2-2.

"He has the poise of a 10-year veteran," says Manager Wes Westrum of his southpaw, who spent a year at Kingsborough Community College in Bayside, N.Y. before moving up to Great Falls.

The hit was a clean one, driven to right field, and Falcone was not overly distressed that a swing of Dusty Baker's bat had ruined his seventh inning.

"If it had been a dribbler, I would have been mad," the pitcher said. "But Baker hit it nice. I was thinking about a no-hitter, but I wasn't worried about it."

He gave up another hit before leaving for a pinch hitter in the top of the ninth. An unearned run had spoiled the shutout an inning earlier.

Dodgers 3, Astros 1
Don Sutton carried a one-hitter into the eighth inning for the Dodgers but lost that on two leadoff hits. His second consecutive shutout and 23 consecutive scoreless innings rode away on Bob Watson's ninth-inning home run.

Steve Garvey hit a two-run single and Ron Cey hit his seventh home run to back Sutton's four-hitter, his 15th victory in 16 decisions and the Dodgers' 10th triumph in 12 games.

Expos 9, Cubs 4
Montreal's Mike Jorgensen has two career grand-slam home runs. Rick Reuschel has watched both of them from the pitcher's mound.

Three Are Unbeaten

Little Mint, Piggy Wiggly and Beltone all claimed wins last night in the Women's Softball League.

In the opener, Beltone took a 39-1 victory over Wachovia. The lone Wachovia run came over in the fourth inning, but by then, they were far behind.

Beltone pushed over 15 runs in the first inning, then came back with eight in the second, including homers by P.J. Taylor and L. Rouse. They added three in the third as Taylor homered again, then picked up six in the fourth with Taylor again homering. They closed out with seven in the fifth as Rouse got her second homer.

The second game saw Piggy Wiggly take a 22-0 victory over the Daily Reflector. Piggy Wiggly pushed in nine runs in the first inning and got another in the second. They scored two in the fifth with J. Johnson homering, then exploded for 10 in the sixth. S. Pittman and L. Whitehurst homered in the final frame.

In the last game, Little Mint rolled to a 17-0 win over Coca-Cola. Little Mint got four in the first with D. Garrish homering. They added four more in the third with B. Forbes getting a round-tripper. One crossed in the fourth and eight in the fifth with D. Edwards getting a home run.

The first was Sept. 6, 1973. "You remember," Jorgensen said. "You don't get so many of them that you forget."

The fourth-inning blast over the right-field fence at Jarry Park gave the Expos and Steve Rogers an 8-0 lead.

Reds 7, Padres 3
Pete Rose says he still isn't comfortable playing third base instead of left field, but he's doing fine at the plate, including four hits in five at-bats to key a 14-hit Cincinnati attack.

Joe Morgan added three hits, including a home run and a triple, to power the Reds and pitcher Jack Billingham past the Padres. Willie McCovey's three-run home run in the fourth inning provided the San Diego scoring.

Pirates 2, Mets 1
Pittsburgh catcher Manny Sanguillen hit two run-scoring doubles before the clouds opened up on Shea Stadium. The safeties gave Ken Brett all the runs he needed to beat Tom Seaver.

The Jaycees romped to a 10-0 victory over R. C. Cola yesterday as Teddy Gartman pitched the first no-hitter of the year.

Gartman went the distance for the Jaycees, striking out nine and walking five in tossing the no-hit victory.

The Jaycees pushed over two runs in the first inning. Larry Talbert led off with a double and scored on Gartman's single. Mike Pollard singled and Elvy Forrest walked to load them up. A walk to Crowell Pope scored Gartman.

Falcons Defeat Conley Vikings

HOLLYWOOD — Charles B. Aycock High School scored a 6-3 victory over D. H. Conley yesterday.

Conley grabbed off the initial lead in the game, scoring a run in the first inning. Joey Baggett singled and Randy Adams walked. Keith Gould also walked, leading the bases. Eugene Forrest singled to score Baggett.

Aycock came up with four runs in the fourth inning to take the lead for good. Jay Edgerton walked and Gary Davis also got a free trip. A walk to Randy Taylor loaded the bases. Jackie Dunn doubled to drive in all three of the men on base. Eddie Finch then singled in Dunn for a 4-1 lead.

The Vikings came back with two runs in the sixth, cutting the lead to 4-3. Gould and Forrest both walked, and scored when Donnie Cox singled.

Aycock came up with two more in the seventh as insurance runs. Finch walked and Ricky Cannon tripled him in. Joey Durham followed with another trip, scoring Cannon.

Conley is now 7-9 in the Eastern Carolina Conference and 8-10 overall. The Vikings will host Southern Wayne today.

Two-hit pitching by Mike Belton and a big fifth inning carried the Rose High Rampants to a 5-0 win over Bertie yesterday as the Rampants kept their title hopes alive.

The Rampants are now 10-2 in the Division II standings and have to win every remaining game while hoping that Rocky Mount is knocked off by someone else. Rocky Mount has beaten the Rampants twice which would mean they get the title if things end in a tie.

Mike Belton allowed only one hit out of the infield, a double in the fourth as he rolled to the win. He walked three and struck out 16. Loser Billy David had a perfect game going for three innings until Grif Garner got on by an error in the fourth. The no-hit bid was ended two outs later as Macon Moye doubled.

Bertie had two chances to score, in the first and fourth, but both times they were shut out. The Rampants got all their runs in the fourth as Davis faltered. Davis got his act back together in the remaining innings preventing another score.

Belton struck out the first two Falcons but Stuart White reached on an error, Andy Flood walked and Ben Pillman got an infield single to load the bases. Belton fanned the next man getting out of the jam.

Bertie rallied again loading them up in the fourth. Pillman doubled to center and Joey Perry reached on an error. Pierce walked but Belton came through again with a whiff to end the inning.

Then it was the Rampants' turn to knock on the door. But they were able to open it. Garner led off reaching on the error.

Jaguars In 2-1 Victory

FARMVILLE—Farmville Central pulled off an upset victory over Southern Nash yesterday, 2-1, on a two-hitter by Tony Oakley.

Oakley went the distance for the Jaguars, allowing just the two hits, while striking out six and walking two.

The victory raised the Farmville Central record to 7-11 overall.

Both of the Farmville runs came over in the second inning. Bobby Wooten walked and Mike Jenkins ended the Jaguar scoring with a two-run homer.

The lone Southern Nash run came in the third. Faircloth singled and stole second. Henley reached on an error, allowing Faircloth to score.

Farmville will travel to C. B. Aycock on Friday.

Garner was able to race around to third on the play. Kelly Heath grounded out but Garner scored. Moye doubled and took third as the centerfielder lost the ball. Mike Brewington singled to right driving in Moye and a walk to Keith Jones and an error on Ron Hunt's hit scored Brewington. Eddie Connolly walked to reload the bases. Jack Jenkins fouled off several pitches then lined a base hit into left to score both Jones and Hunt for a 5-0 lead.

Heath tripled in the fifth but could not score.

The Rampants will be on the road Friday visiting Northern Nash.

Polyglas Radial

This new Polyglas tire makes it easy to join the switch to radials—especially during this sale period. Both the 70-series wide tread and the 78-series sizes provide radial handling and performance, with all the built-in advantages of fiberglass cord belts and polyester cord bodies. On dry pavement, the grip-block tread is designed to give real cornering assurance. On wet roads, wide tread grooves help channel water out from under the tire for good contact, good stopping traction. This 30,000 mile tire is an unusual value—especially during this sale period. Act now.

Four Remain Unbeaten In Church Loop Action

Four unbeaten teams remained that way last night in the Church Softball League. Trinity and Grace recorded their third wins, while Oakmont and Immanuel racked up their second straight.

In the opening game on one field, Oakmont took an 18-13 win over St. Gabriel. Oakmont pushed over three in the first, then added three more in the second with Danny Singleton homering. They picked up one in the third, then got three in the fourth on homers by Singleton and Lanny Norris. Four more crossed in the sixth and another four in the seventh.

St. Gabriel never caught up, scoring one in the second, five in the fifth, two in the sixth and five in the seventh.

Trinity gained a 12-9 win over St. James in the second game. Trinity pushed in a pair in the second, but St. James came up with six in the third to take the lead. Trinity came back with three in the fourth, then tied it with one in the fifth. St. James went back out with one in the bottom of the fifth, but Trinity took over for good with three in the sixth. They added three more in the seventh.

St. James got its final two runs in the bottom of the sixth. In the final game, First Christian downed First Presbyterian, 5-3. Christian pushed in four runs in the second inning and added another in the fourth. Presbyterian got all three of its runs in the sixth inning.

In the opener on the other field, Grace took a 6-1 win over People's Bible. Grace got three in the first, then came up with one in the second. They added the other two in the sixth. People's one run came in the fourth.

University-Mt. Pleasant scored a 13-3 victory over Arlington Street in the second game. U-MP scored a pair in the second then got two more in the third. They added two more in the fourth, scored one in the sixth and closed out with six in the seventh inning.

Arlington got one run in the fifth and two in the sixth for its three-run total. In the final game, Immanuel nipped First Free Will Baptist, 7-6. Free Will scored one in the first, but Immanuel came up with two in the second and one in the third. FWB got one in the fourth and three in the fifth to hold a 5-3 lead. Immanuel tied it up with two in the bottom of the fifth, but FWB got one in the seventh for a 6-5 lead. D. Rumbley doubled in two runs in the bottom of the seventh for Immanuel to take the victory.

AP Sports Writer

Joe Coleman thought he threw a good pitch. Nelson Briles knew he threw a bad pitch. Both pitches came down behind a fence as two-run homers but Coleman and Briles came up with victories anyway.

Detroit's Coleman was tagged for a two-run homer by Milwaukee's George Scott in the very first inning but that was the only hit he allowed as the Tigers rallied to end the Brewers' five-game winning streak 4-2.

Kansas City's Briles blanked Texas on four hits until Willie Davis tied the game with a two-run homer in the eighth. But the Royals retaliated with four runs in the bottom of the eighth and trimmed the Rangers 6-2.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox downed the Cleveland Indians 4-1, the Oakland A's shaded the California Angels 5-3 and the Minnesota Twins beat the Chicago White Sox 4-1. The New York-Baltimore game was washed out.

Coleman spun his one-hitter although he hadn't pitched in more than a week.

"With that much of a layoff it might hurt you," he said. "Your arm may be strong but your legs hurt."

Scott's first-inning homer following a hit batsman gave Milwaukee a 2-0 lead.

"It was a sidearm curve," Coleman said. "I'd throw it again. I didn't think it was a bad pitch."

Manager Ralph Houk did. "The only bad things he did all night were hanging that breaking ball to Scott and walking Hank Aaron in the ninth," Houk said.

Bill Freehan's fourth-inning homer off Pete Broberg started the Detroit scoring. Ron LeFlore put the Tigers in front with a bases-loaded two-run single in the fifth and scored the final run in the seventh when he walked, stole second and came home on a single by Gary Sutherland.

Royals 6, Rangers 2
George Brett delivered a tie-breaking single and Frank White added a two-run hit in Kansas City's four-run eighth. After the Rangers tied the score on Davis' two-run homer, Jim Bibby issued a leadoff walk to John Mayberry in the bottom of the eighth and Hal McRae singled him to second.

Reliever Steve Foucault fanned Harmon Killebrew but Brett snapped the tie with a single and the runners wound up on second and third on the throw to the plate. White followed with a two-run single, took second on the throw home and scored on a single by Buck Martinez.

Briles, 3-0, finished with a six-hitter.

Red Sox 4, Indians 1
Bill Lee's six-hit pitching and Bob Montgomery's two-run single led Boston to its fourth straight triumph. Montgomery's second-inning single off Dick Bosman put the Red Sox ahead 2-0 after singles by Jim Rice and Rico Petrocelli and an error by second baseman Jack Brohamer loaded the bases.

The Sox doubled their margin in the third on a hit batsman, Fred Lynn's RBI double and a single by Rice.

Lee lost his shutout when George Hendrick homered in the sixth.

A's 5, Angels 3
Sal Bando doubled home the winning run in the seventh inning after Claudell Washington tied the score with a leadoff homer. The A's added an insurance run in the eighth on singles by Phil Garner and Bill North and Washington's sacrifice fly.

After Washington slammed his second home run of the season, tying the score 3-3 and chasing California starter Ed Figueroa, reliever Don Kirkwood retired two batters but walked pinch hitter Charlie Sands. Pinch runner Matt Alexander stole second and scored the go-ahead run on Bando's double.

Aycock Romps By Goldsboro

E. B. Aycock romped to a 16-2 victory over Goldsboro Junior High School yesterday.

Aycock pushed over four runs in the first inning. Ronnie Chapman reached on an error and stole second. Greg Lee singled in Chapman, then moved up on a wild pitch. Jeff Aldridge walked and Mike Shank singled in Lee. Aldridge and Shank each stole up with an error letting both runners score.

Aycock came up with another in the second. Reggie Spain singled and was sacrificed up. He took third on an out and scored on Lee's hit.

In the third, Aycock got five more. Joe Downing singled and stole second. Jerome Ross got a hit and Danny Boyd reached on an error, scoring Downing. Both runners stole up, and Reggie Spain singled in Ross, then stole second. Bobby Wornoff reached on an error, scoring Boyd, and a double by Lee scored both Spain and Wornoff.

The final six came in the fourth. Ross was hit by a pitch and moved to third on passed balls, from there he stole home. Chapman walked and Wornoff reached on a fielder's choice that scored Chapman. Shank then hit a grand slam homer to finish the scoring.

Goldsboro's runs came in the fifth inning.

Jamesville In Win Over Lakers

JAMESVILLE—Jamesville High School maintained its lead in the Beaufort-Hyde-Martin Conference with an 11-4 victory over Mattamuskeet yesterday.

The Bullets got a boost on Monday night when they beat their chief rival Belhaven, 3-0. The Bullets are now 9-2 in the league.

Last night, Jamesville opened up with five runs in the first inning. Larry Pierce led off with a hit and Eric Davis walked. Bill Brown singled to drive in Pierce. Robbie Hardison walked and Steve McCombs reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Davis. Jeffrey Holliday doubled in Brown and Hardison, and Ronnie Padgett's hit scored McCombs.

Mattamuskeet came back in the second with four runs, but only through one hit—the only hit they got off Brown during the night. Enson reached on an error and Bunn singled. Following an out, an error let Enson score. Blount and Williams both walked to load them up. Cahoon and Simmons both reached on an error, scoring Bunn and Blount. Cuttrell hit a sacrifice fly to score Williams.

Jamesville came back with five more in the fourth. Clifton Hardison was hit by a pitch and scored when Padgett tripled. Davis reached on an error and Jerry Ange singled in Padgett. Brown doubled to score Davis, and Robbie Hardison singled in Ange. McCombs got a hit to score Brown.

The other Bullet run came in the fifth. Padgett walked and moved to third on outs. He scored on an error.

The Bullets run came in the fifth. Padgett walked and moved to third on outs. He scored on an error.

The Bullets move out of the conference on Thursday, traveling to Saratoga.

Greene Central Downs Panthers

SHOW HILL—Greene Central High School rolled to a 12-0 victory over North Pitt yesterday.

Don Holloman tossed a one-hitter at North Pitt during the game. He struck out eight and walked four in six innings of work. He was taken out in the seventh after he gave up the first hit in the top of the sixth. Curtis Shirley went the final frame, allowing no hits, striking out three and walking two.

Greene Central pushed in four in the first. Bonnie Blizzard reached on an error and Jerry Carraway singled. Tim Butts doubled to score Blizzard. William Brown tripled in both Carraway and Butts. Thomas Hooker reached on an error to score Brown.

In the third, the Rams got another run. Brown doubled and after Ronnie Whitley walked, Joe Heath singled to score Brown.

A sixth run came over in the fourth. Carraway was safe on an error and Butts singled. Floyd Adams reached on an error, scoring Carraway.

The final six came in the fifth inning. Jeffrey Suggs reached on an error and Jeffrey Warren ran for him, stealing second. Heath struck out, but when the ball got away, he reached safely, with Warren scoring on an error on the play. Jerry Speight walked and Blizzard beat out an infield hit. Carraway singled in Heath and Speight and Butts was hit by a pitch. Brown walked to score Blizzard and wild pitches brought in Carraway and Butts.

Greene Central travels to Aycock today, while North North Pitt is at Ayden-Grifton on Friday.

Barry Leads Warriors To Even Series

By ERIC PREWITT
AP Sports Writer
OAKLAND (AP) — Rick Barry came out a winner in "one of the most memorable games

I've ever played in." And after scoring 36 points

Tuesday night, leading the Golden State Warriors to a comeback 111-106 victory over the Chicago Bulls, Barry isn't haunted quite so much by the fatal mistake he made two games earlier.

"Thank God it's even now," the Warriors' star said after doing his bit in squaring the National Basketball Association Western Conference finals at two games apiece.

The fifth game is scheduled here Thursday night.

The Bulls blew a 19-point lead in the fourth game of the best-of-seven series, but guard Norm Van Lier vowed later, "We're going to win the play-off."

Chicago has a 2-26 all-time playoff record in road games, but Van Lier feels, "We're the better team, and we're going to prove it."

There were no flat predictions of victory from the Warriors, but Barry noted, "It's a three-game series now, and we'll have the homecourt advantage twice."

Barry, in Game 2 at Chicago, threw up a foolish shot in the closing seconds, giving the Bulls the ball and the opportunity they needed to pull out a 90-89 victory.

The Warriors' forward and his teammates started off miserably Tuesday night, trailing 35-18 after one quarter and by 39-20 early in the second period. Jeff Mullins came off the bench to score eight points in the second period, Barry added six and it was 52-50 Chicago at halftime.

The third period was even, but the Warriors overtook the foul-troubled Chicagoans in the final period. Barry had 26 of his points in the second half.

Bob Love had 27 points to lead the Bulls.

6-5 Win For Tiger Ladies

Next Move Is Namath's

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The next move belongs to Joe Namath.

By now, his attorney, Jimmy Walsh, has conveyed to the free agent quarterback the "substantial" offer that New York Jets' President Phil Iselin has made to sign him.

How good is the offer? "I wish," said Iselin, "somebody would offer it to me."

Iselin refused to confirm or deny published reports of a $1 million, three-year bid by the Jets but agreed that "one million dollars is a good, round figure."

Joe Willie also has the $4 million World Football League offer to consider.

WILLIAMSTON — Williamston's Lady Tigers pushed over two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning getting help from an error to squeeze past Northeastern, 6-5, in a softball game yesterday.

The Tigers had to hold off the Lady Eagles in the seventh as Northeastern picked up a run. Northeastern got the lead early picking up three runs in the first. D. Woods singled and Meekins reached on an error. T. Horton reached on a fielder's choice that scored Woods. Meekins scored on an error and Horton scored on a ground out.

Williamston tied it up with three in the last of the third. Terry Hopkins singled and an error on the play let her come around to score. Deborah Rogerson singled, moved to third on a hit by Cissy Taylor and was sacrificed in by Valeria Barnhill. Taylor scored on a hit by Cynthia Taylor.

D. Jackson got the lead back in the fourth for the Lady Eagles on a home run but Williamston tied it again in their half of the inning. Cindy Cullipher singled and moved around on hits by Debbie Brown and Hopkins. A pickoff play on Cullipher at third was errored letting her and Brown score.

C. Chambers cut the lead to one for Northeastern in the seventh reaching and moving around to score on errors.

The Tigers are now 8-1 overall. Rogerson lead Williamston with four hits while Barnhill, Bell and Hopkins had two each.

'College-Bound' Program Held

Miss Angela Jones was crowned 'Miss College Bound of 1975' during a program Saturday night in the West Greenville Recreation Center.

The program was sponsored by the Greenville Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, during which time $4,500 in scholarships were awarded to the 13 participating girls.

A senior at Rose High School, Miss Jones is the daughter of Mrs. Agnes Jones. She was crowned by Patti Leary, president of the chapter. First runner-up was Miss Bernita Johnson, a senior at North Pitt High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.B. Johnson.

Miss Reanee Ivey, a senior at Rose High School and the daughter of Mrs. Marion Wilkes and Joe Ivey, was named second runner-up. She was also the recipient of the Elinor Johnson Award, based on scholastic achievement, class rank and SAT scores.

Other scholarship winners include: Miss Wanda Carmon, daughter of Mrs. E. Carmon; Miss Cedita Graves, daughter of Mrs. Barbara Graves; Miss Patricia Taylor, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. John Taylor; Miss Rhonda Taft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Taft; Miss Jackie Costin, daughter of Mrs. Rosa Costin; Miss Michele McDowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson McDowell; Miss Natalie Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Fleming; Miss Gail Ebron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ebron; Miss Jessica Carney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Carney; and Miss Pearl Holiday, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Holiday.

One major feature of the program was the Elizabeth City State University Society of Modern Dance rendition called "Signs of the Zodiac." Recognition was given to all Greek organizations.

Opening lead: Ace of ♠.

Proponents of five-card major opening bids give much weight to the security responder has in knowing that partner has at least a five-card suit when he opens one heart or one spade. They tend to overlook the power of the 4-3 major fit. In the recent Vanderbilt Team championship, played at the American Contract Bridge League's Spring Nationals in Hawaii and won by a team captained by Dr. George Rosenkranz of Mexico City, a hand came along that demonstrated the effectiveness of a 4-2 major fit!

The bidding shown was that of U.S. internationalists and former world champions, Mike Lawrence and Bobby Goldman, sitting North and South, respectively. Lawrence's bid of four spades was a cue-bid en route to some diamond contract, possibly a slam, for he suspected on the auction that Goldman might have a singleton club. The last thing that he expected was that his partner would pass! As it is, Goldman made the winning decision, for a study of the full layout reveals that four spades is the only makable game contract. In hearts, declarer must lose two trumps and two clubs, while at a diamond contract the defenders can prevail by playing three rounds of clubs, promoting a trump trick for West.

Against four spades, the defenders started with three rounds of clubs. Goldman ruffed the third club with a low trump, and West had a Hobson's choice. If he over-ruffed, declarer would win any return, draw all the outstanding trumps and reel off five diamond tricks and two hearts for his contract. But it would be no better for West to discard.

Declarer would draw three rounds of trumps, leaving West with the only remaining trump, and start running diamonds and then hearts. West could ruff at any point that he wished, but would be the defenders' third and last trick.

One Granted
New Trial

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Supreme Court upheld three death sentences in rulings handed down Tuesday, but ordered a new trial for a man sentenced to death in a Robeson County first degree murder case.

Mickey Bell won a new trial on the grounds that the judge did not allow attorneys to question potential jurors in the case about their attitudes toward capital punishment.

The court unanimously upheld the other convictions, appealed on procedural grounds.
However, Chief Justice Susie
Sharp and Justices James Exum and J. William Copeland dissented in the application of the death penalty in all three instances.

The court sustained the death sentence of Johnny H. Boyd in the shooting death of a retired school teacher in her Lincoln County home. Augusta Pearl
Henderson, 84, was found dead in her bed after a burglary.

The death sentence of Richard Gordon was also upheld for the slaying of two young employees of a Charlotte fast food restaurant. The two were shot to death as they left a Burger
Chef in Charlotte after closing for the night.

The court also upheld the death sentence of Mark
Douglas Burns for first degree rape in Onslow County.

Land Converted
To Other Uses

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) —
The U.S. Department of Agriculture reports some 21 million acres of farmland had been converted to other uses in the last 10 years. Economists further note that, in the same period, 10.5 million acres of previously unproductive land was adapted for agricultural purposes through irrigation, drainage and clearing.

Despite the apparent progress, however, The Middlesex County Bulletin.

New Personnel Policy Adopted By Williamston

WILLIAMSTON—The town of Williamston has adopted for the first time a comprehensive Town Personnel Policy to govern all phases of hiring, firing, salaries, benefits and retirements of town employees. The policy, adopted Monday at the May meeting of the Williamston Town Board, is based on the personnel policy drawn up and in use in Greenville.

A recommendation that Williamston consider the hiring of a full time recreation director was made at Monday's meeting when Rev. Jim Horton, pastor of the Episcopal Church of Williamston and chairman of the Government Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, urged board members to consider the idea. Horton said the town needed a director to consolidate, coordinate and oversee the various individual recreation programs now in operation. The board will give consideration to this recommendation.

Also relative to recreation, a group of citizens living adjacent to tennis courts have complained about lights remaining on at the courts past the 10:30 p.m. closing time. Herbert Gay, chairman of the Williamston Recreation Commission, said he would look into the possibility of having an automatic clock to cut the lights off at the 10:30 hour.

Representatives from the White City area of Williamston presented a petition objecting to a Williamston Housing Authority plan to acquire land in the area for the projected building of 45 additional public housing units. The issue of acquiring land at that site was discussed at last month's meeting.

Approval was given to J.E. Griffin for final plat plans for 25 building lots in the White City Area. The preliminary plans have previously been approved by the Town Planning Board and the town board. Monday's action constitutes final action on this matter.

Nelson B. Prince, for several years chairman of the Williamston Board of Adjustments, tendered his resignation, which was accepted with regrets. Prince noted his work as chairman of the board was increasingly conflicting with his job at Weyerhaeuser.

A public hearing for June 2 was set on the issuance of $500,000 in town sanitary-sewer bonds. The amount to be issued was adopted at Monday's meeting.

Assurance was given J.E. Leathers, president of Martin County Citizens Association, that $1,400 requested for assistance to the Mary S. Gray Library would be considered in the budget now being prepared for the coming fiscal year.

The town budget was amended by $65,935 to provide for increased cost in operations that are exceeding amounts in the original budget for various departments of the town.

Other issues considered and actions taken at Monday's meeting are:

—Approval of rezoning from R-15 to R-6 property owned by W.G. Peel on U.S. 17 (Windsor) by-pass. There were no objections raised at the public hearing held Monday.

Weaver Realty Company is interested in building about 66 units of a multi-housing project on the land.

—Permission was granted Buck-Page Expositions to conduct kiddy rides at Martin Plaza from May 12-17.

—Approval was given to the Williamston Jaycees for a benefit Palmetto Rides event at Grant City from August 11-16.

—A public hearing for May 22 was set for a petition by Barrus Construction Company to place an asphalt plant in the offensive industrial zone west of Williamston. Current ordinances do not have provisions for asphalt plants and the ordinance will need amending to include this facility.

—Approval was given to a change in the by-laws of the Mid East Commission. The change reduces the number on the commission's board.

—The Department of Transportation ruled that a traffic light requested at West Main and Sycamore was not justified; but did offer to take action to cut down three trees and place an outside 36 by 36 inches Stop sign at that point.

School Sponsors Spring Festival On Saturday

A Spring Festival, sponsored by the Greenville Christian Academy, will be held Saturday from 5 p.m. until 9 p.m. at the American Legion Building on St. Andrews St., off Greenville Boulevard.

Crafts, made by academy students and parents, will be for sale as part of a Country Store, featuring home-made pies and cakes, fresh vegetables and canned items.

Many games will also be played.

Hot dogs, hamburgers and drinks will be sold.

A program of Gospel music by the "Melody Makers Quartet" will be featured at 7:30 p.m.

Admission to the festival is free and the public is invited to attend.

Mount Rainier in Washington state has 26 glaciers, more than any other U.S. peak outside Alaska.

Family Viewing Time Previewed

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — When the new TV season starts in September, the first hour of nightly network programming is supposed to be suitable for "general family" viewing. So what will it look like?

You'll be up to your ears in situation comedies, for one thing. Of 22 sitcoms on tap next fall, 18 will appear during the "family" hour — eight each on CBS and ABC and two on NBC.

There will also be two returning variety shows, CBS' "Tony Orlando and Dawn" and a new live effort on ABC with Howard Cosell. There's also an as-yet unchosen ABC Western, there will be four other hour-long action-adventure series afoot. NBC is returning "Movin' On" and "Emergency" and beginning a new David McCallum series, "The Invisible Man."

ABC's other new entry in the "family" action-adventure field is "Mobile Two," starring Jackie Cooper as a TV investigative reporter and Edd "Kookie" Byrne — a blast from the past — as his sidekick.

There will also be two returning "family" dramas — NBC's "Little House on the Prairie" and CBS' "Walton" series.

Two new family series will face NBC's durable "Disney" show on the first network hour Sunday nights. They are ABC's "Swiss Family Robinson" and CBS' "Three For the Road."

Open House

An open house will be held at the Greenville Nursing and Convalescent Home on Mother's Day, Sunday, as part of the observance of National Nursing Home Week and North Carolina Senior Citizens Month.

The public is invited to visit the nursing center during the hours of 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Sunday.

A proclamation designating May as "Senior Citizens Month" has been issued by Governor James Holshouser. The week of May 11-18 will be observed as National Nursing Home Week.

Featuring the theme, "We Care," the North Carolina Health Care Facilities Association and its 132 members throughout the state are inviting the public to join them in the observance.

New Safeguard For Consumer

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Door-to-door salesmen offering products costing in excess of $25 must offer consumers a "cancellation form," according to family management specialists at Texas A&M University.

If the consumer decides he doesn't want the product within three days after the purchase, he may fill out the form, send it to the manufacturer and thereby have the contract nullified.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to continue to put in action the plans you decided upon yesterday, and to add some new ideas. The hectic pace slackens tonight so you can get a good rest.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are full of ambition today as to how to improve your position in life and become more successful socially. Improve health.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Keep promises. Use more up-to-date methods for best results. Reach better understanding with loved one. Avoid sadistic person.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make necessary changes, new arrangements for a brighter future. Handle that civic matter that crops up in a most intelligent way.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Contact bigwigs and executives and gain their backing for your projects. Pay bills and improve credit. Increase income.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have to think big in order to get big, so do just that. Make the right contacts. Don't permit others to deter your progress.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You may have to give up old outlets and replace with the new for real progress now. Make relationship with mate more ideal.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Go over with allies some particular project to iron out kinks. Listen to what others say first and then quietly express your views.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan your time carefully and you can handle duties ahead with efficiency. Try to cooperate more with co-workers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) By joining with those you really appreciate, you can make this a fine day and p.m. You make business progress via social avenues.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Home is fine for whatever is most important for you to do. Rid self of whatever has been causing friction. Have gumption.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Meet partners in a.m. to iron out any wrinkles in your joint projects. Then get busy on work needed. Social chitchat in p.m.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You now know how to handle monetary affairs in a most intelligent way and should do so without further ado. Have workable budget.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be a gifted child with extraordinary vision and imagination. But will be one of those brilliant starters who do not finish anything unless you as parents teach early to persevere. Give a fine education that will help this progeny put ideas to work intelligently. Ideal chart for whatever has to do with building, selling, the arts, etc.

Lions Adapt To Cold Winters

WEST MILFORD, N.J. (AP) — Though native to a subtropical climate, the 35 African lions at Jungle Habitat, a drive-through animal park here, have adapted happily, and in their own special way, to the cool northern New Jersey winters.

According to Richard L. Needelman, general manager of the 1,000-acre preserve, his lions spend a good deal of time together in the winter months inside their warm, comfortable shelters, where they have taken to mating, which has produced several new cubs in time for the park's opening in April.

Teen Job-Service Planned By Center

A youth employment referral service called Dial-A-Teen will be offered by Real Crisis Intervention Center this summer.

Its purpose will be to provide paying jobs for persons between the ages of 14 and 21 who need them.

The employment hopefully will come from the community in the form of odd jobs, but may include full-time or regular jobs, also. "We will accept requests from local citizens and businesses to refer one or more youths to them who meet certain requirements," Linda Williams, coordinator of the service said.

"Dial-A-Teen will then choose one of more youths from its files and make arrangements for the youth(s) and the potential employer to meet. While Dial-A-Teen will be willing to relay any information it has to either party, specific details will be between the teen and the employer."

Young people who wish to apply should visit the Real Crisis Intervention Center at 1117 Evans Street beginning May 15 from 3 to 6 p.m. Monday through Fridays and from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturdays. Persons wishing to hire may call 758-HELP beginning Monday, May 26, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 to noon Saturdays or stop by the Center.

"We would hope that people wanting to hire youths would give us one day's notice," Ms. Williams said. "However, we will do our best to fill all requests."

"This program can benefit young people by giving them a chance to learn responsibility and skills while earning money. They also can attain a sense of pride and self-reliance. The community can profit by the services performed and by gaining closer contact with its young people. Public support is urged in this effort."

For more information one may call 758-HELP between 9 and 5 any day.

National Govm't Set Up By Continental Congress

EDITOR'S NOTE — Two hundred years ago this week the Second Continental Congress convened in Philadelphia. In declaring independence from Britain and conducting a war to back it up, the Congress became our first national government.

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer
With no authority, no money, frightful problems and a very good chance of hanging, the men of the Second Continental Congress declared and won independence for the United States of America.

War had already begun when they convened 200 years ago this week in Philadelphia's State House, later to enter history as Independence Hall. An army of Massachusetts Minutemen and assorted New England militia had laid siege to the British in Boston and was beginning to learn the need for national leadership. No state could go it alone. The rebel legislature in Massachusetts knew this and asked Congress to take over the makeshift army. Out of circumstance and necessity, Congress began making war. Simultaneously, the Second Continental Congress moved reluctantly toward becoming the federal union that had long been dreamed of and discussed, but had eluded the independent and suspicious colonials. As early as 1754 the colonies had sent representatives to a convention in Albany, N.Y., to consider unified action against the Indian threat, but Benjamin Franklin's plan of union was rejected. They met in a Stamp Act Congress in 1765 and issued a declaration denying Parliament's right to tax them. But the Congress vanished when the Stamp Act was repealed and the crisis ended.

The First Continental Congress was called in response to the Intolerable Acts, including the closing of Boston port, in retaliation for the Boston Tea Party. It debated, passed a resolution asking the repeal of 13 "unconstitutional" acts of Parliament and threatened economic reprisals.

The First Continental Congress, mostly a debating society with no pretense of government, adjourned Oct. 26, 1774, and agreed to meet again May 10, 1775, if their demands had not been met.

When the Second Continental Congress convened on the appointed date, 200 years ago Saturday, the cold war with England had turned to a hot one, and necessity again forced Americans to forge a new institution. This second congress quickly issued an advisory to the colonies to arm themselves. Then it raised companies of riflemen from Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia to help the embattled New Englanders.

to work things out with the mother country. On July 5, 1775, it adopted the Olive Branch Petition, professing attachment to the crown and pleading a desire for peace and reconciliation. It begged the king to intervene personally and prevent any further hostile actions.

America was not seeking independence and revolution. It merely wanted to preserve for itself the traditional rights of Englishmen and self-government.

"We are reduced to the alternative of choosing an unconditional submission to the tyranny of irritated ministers or resistance by force," Congress explained to the people. "The latter is our choice. We have counted the costs of this contest, and find nothing so dreadful as voluntary slavery."

In the meantime, Congress did what Congresses still do. It recessed and spent a month with the people, sensing out the public mood before jumping too far one way or the other.

By the time it reconvened in the fall, George III had brusquely rejected its Olive Branch and declared the members a pack of rebels. Meanwhile, rebel arms were doing pretty well.

So Congress moved reluctantly ahead with the war and the first American government began to evolve. In November, Congress appointed a secret committee to seek out foreign assistance. This was the beginning of the State Department.

When the British were forced out of Boston the following spring, things had gone too far to turn back short of military victory and independence.

On July 4, 1776, the Second Continental Congress took the final step toward nationhood and the responsibilities of national government. It declared the 13 American colonies an independent nation, free by right to govern itself.

Honor Lists At Academy

Pace Academy students named to the Honor Roll and Principal's List were announced by Mrs. Carol Whitaker this week.

Your second check from Chrysler Corporation —for a full $200.

You don't have to wait for your tax rebate check to take advantage of Chrysler's additional $200 rebate —a limited time offer on our new Darts, Dusters and Valiants.

All you have to do is go down to your Chrysler-Plymouth or Dodge dealer and buy or lease one of our new 1975 top-rated Dodge Darts, Plymouth Dusters or Valiants. You make your best deal with the dealer. Then, we'll send you a $200 rebate straight from Chrysler Corporation.

There's still more. Dodge and Chrysler-Plymouth dealers also have available special cash allowances that they can pass on to you right now on other models of our great cars.

And here's "The Clincher." For the first 12 months of use, any Chrysler Motors Corporation dealer will fix, without charge for parts or labor, any part of our 1975 passenger cars we supply (except tires) which proves defective in normal use, regardless of mileage. The owner is responsible for maintenance services such as changing filters and wiper blades.

Here's how our top-rated compact cars help your dollars go farther, too. As you can see from the chart, when compared with the listed compacts offered by major competitors, our cars are number one in most of the things you're looking for in a compact.

Rank	Gas Mileage According to test results published in EPA's Buyers Guide, Valiant and Dart 6's got better gas mileage in city and highway driving than the most popular 6's offered by Chrysler's major competitors. The Ford and GM products listed below attained identical mileage and are ranked alphabetically.	Trunk Space Valiant and Dart are the runaway leaders in trunk capacity for both two-door and four-door models.	Resale Value According to recent Automotive Market Reports, one-year-old two-door Valiants and Darts are worth more and have a higher percentage of return on original sticker price than comparable models of the compacts listed below.	Roominess Index According to Automotive Industries' Roominess Index, both Valiant and Dart two-door hardtops and four-door sedans are tops in interior roominess.	Unlimited Mileage Warranty For twelve full months.

Parking Meters Have Been Issue For Forty Years

By JOHN D. THOMPSON
OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Nettie Ridley remembers the world's first parking meter and she hasn't changed her mind about it to this day.

"Well, I just quit parking on those streets," she said.

Harold Chappell was there, too. He thought it was a reasonable idea.

"Why shouldn't a person pay a small fee to park?" he said.

The first working model went on public display May 8, 1935, and battle lines were well drawn before the actual installation in downtown Oklahoma City on July 16, 1935.

When the device sprouted from the curb, things began to happen.

A rancher put in a nickel and tied up his horse, saying it beat taking it to a rubber of bridge. Serious foes began a long fight in court.

The Rev. C. H. North was the first person arrested for a meter violation. Police Judge Mike Foster accepted the pastor's explanation that he had gone to get change and dismissed the case.

R. H. Avant of Clinton, Okla., was the first to actually pay a fine, $11.

Judge Foster suspended Mrs. C. W. Alley's $3 fine for overtime parking, allowing her time to sell some chickens to raise the money.

The meter was designed as a means of controlling the proliferation of automobiles into the center business area. Businessmen and Chamber of Commerce officials in Oklahoma City and other metropolitan areas wanted a way to control the surge of autos into downtown areas.

Posted time limits on the streets did little good. They were ignored or circumvented by simply wiping away the chalk mark a policeman placed on a tire to tell how long a car had been in a particular spot.

The parking meter, which originally charged five cents for one hour of parking time and made the driver subject to a fine of up to $20 for overstaying the limit, changed all that.

"I parked in a motor hotel, but that was first come, first served and there was not always room," said Mrs. Ridley, who to this day will not go downtown unless absolutely necessary.

"Those meters are what made people quit going downtown. And then the shopping centers started building and why would anyone pay to park at a meter or in a parking garage when they can park free in a huge parking lot. The parking lot ruined downtown Oklahoma City."

Chappell and others disagreed.

"I think it (the meter) was very good, I think it was really right," Chappell said. "People should pay a little bit of their money to park on the street."

Carl B. Magee, who envisioned a mechanical timing device to control automobile parking, could not foresee his brainchild as something that would drive people to shopping centers—as then unheard of—or as a revenue gathering device.

But controversy wasn't new to him. Magee, a former Albuquerque, N.M., newspaperman, had testified before the Senate Public Lands Committee that was partially responsible for the Teapot Dome exposure. He also was arrested for libel and contempt in New Mexico and sentenced to prison but was pardoned by the governor.

Magee later shot a bystander in a scuffle with the judge who sentenced him. After his acquittal he went to Oklahoma City and started the weekly Oklahoma News.

His concern soon turned to traffic control—finding a way to alleviate the congestion caused by the rapidly expanding number of automobiles on the streets.

Although his concept was simple, it also was exacting. He turned to the engineering department of Oklahoma State University to design an operable parking meter.

The project was turned into a contest, with money provided for materials and a prize for the best design. Numerous models were offered but none was up to the standards demanded by Magee.

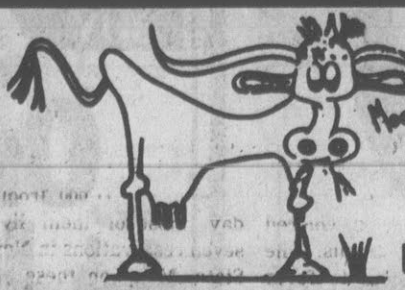

Professors H. G. Thuesen and G. A. Hale then took a personal interest in the problem. They perfected the first complete and operable meter in 1933.

With the workable device in hand, Magee and Thuesen traveled to Kansas City and St. Louis to talk with prospective manufacturers.

Finally, Magee raised enough money to form his own corporation, Dual Parking Meter Co., to promote and sell meters built by the Macnick Co. of Tulsa, Okla. Magee's thoroughness in planning and design is attested to by the fact the meter in use today is little different from the Park-O-Meter No. 1 installed in downtown Oklahoma City 40 years ago.

Early court actions drew considerable controversy but national publicity and created failed to remove the meters.

Iroquois Want Wampum Return

By STEVEN P. ROSENFELD
Associated Press Writer
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Who can buy or sell the history of a people? To whom does it belong?

That question pits the Iroquois Indian Confederacy against the State of New York, which "owns" 26 historic wampum belts as dear to the Iroquois, they say, as the Constitution is to other Americans.

A lawsuit prepared on behalf of the Iroquois by the Advocates for the Arts, a national organization, will seek return of the wampum, now locked in a vault of the New York State Museum across from the Capitol. Once formally approved by the Iroquois tribes, the suit will be filed in U.S. District Court here. It could call into question the legal status of other collections and of cultural memorabilia in other museums.

"They are history, the process devised by the Six Nations (the Iroquois Confederacy) of continuing our government — our way of life," Chief Oren Lyons of the Onondaga tribe says of the wampum belts. "They are very important, very essential."

Wampum, a word derived from the Algonquin for string, refers to belts and woven strings of white and colored beads made from shells. The beads are arranged to form symbols and patterns that tell in a rudimentary way, of the history, religion and culture of the Iroquois. They did not write their language.

Probably the most noteworthy item in the collection the state has is a beaded mat known as the Hiawatha belt, named after a Mohawk chief thought to have lived in central New York in the 16th Century.

Less than two feet long and just 10½-inches wide, this belt is reputed to be the official record of the unification by Hiawatha of the Mohawk, Oneida, Onondaga, Cayuga and Seneca Nations to form the Iroquois Confederacy. The Tuscarora later became the sixth nation of the league. The mat is adorned with five linked symbols signifying the original five nations.

There are 11,000 Iroquois today, most of them living on seven reservations in New York State. Many on these reservations want the wampum returned for use in religious ceremonies and other rituals still practiced by the tribes. The wampum are regarded by some Indians even today as having mystical power and special importance in ceremonies.

Most of the wampum belts in the state collection were made by the Iroquois between 1750 and 1800. They were kept by the chiefs of the Onondaga nation, who also were the traditional keepers of the council fire of the Iroquois confederacy. They also were the interpreters of the wampum designs. In 1899, state officials convinced the Onondaga nation to elect the University of the State of New York as keeper of the wampum and wampum records. Five belts were sold to the state for storage and display in the Albany museum, and the collection has been enlarged through gifts, bequests and further purchases.

Lyons maintains that the Indians never had the right to sell or give away the belts to the state and to other collectors. In one or two cases recently, historical societies have returned wampum in their collections to the Iroquois.

"Any sale would be similar to some individual in the United States selling the Constitution," the Onondaga chief asserted. "They don't have the right to sell it. These are possessions of the state, of the Indian people."

For insurance purposes, belts in the state collection have been valued at $250,000, but museum and Indian official alike say the belts actually are priceless.

Philip Tarbell, a full-blooded Mohawk who is the museum's director of Indian affairs, insists the state will not sell off parts of its collection or allow it to deteriorate. "We intend to share them with my people," Tarbell said.

The curator of the museum's Indian collections, Charles Gillette, said keeping the wampum belts and other artifacts in one collection is helpful to scholars.

"Museums are merely collecting points for these objects so they can be studied at one time," Gillette said.

The Iroquois first asked about five years ago for the return of their wampum belts. Their request is an outgrowth of the Indian Rights movement and of a desire by many of the nation's Indians to revitalize tradition.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

TRADITIONAL IN APPEARANCE—This house is a departure from the features of houses erected 200 years ago, without sacrificing the character of Early American domestic architecture. Notable are the wide roof overhangs which add to length and reduce maintenance cost due to the protection of the side walls from the weather. Incorporated are a linen chute, mud closet, package receiver, family room bookshelves, pantry, broom closet, generous foyer, large closets, cross-ventilation, separate dining room, bay windows, kitchen eating space. The first floor of Plan HA880Y has 904 square feet, the family room 315 square feet and the second floor 945 square feet. Architect Herman York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica, N.Y. 11432 will answer questions about the cost of the blueprint that are accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Students Use Computer To Reveal Future

By JAMES O. CLIFFORD
OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The sixth grade boy pumps information into a computer in an effort to solve a food distribution problem in the world of the year 2000 and feels confident he has an answer.

The boy is taking part in an unusual program at Twin Pines Day School, a private institution of 180 students, many of them considered gifted.

Margaret Spurrier Alafi, the school's founder and director, got the idea for the course when she read Alvin Toffler's "Future Shock," the book that details the kind of world man will live in years hence.

"Toffler said that no one was giving kids any sort of idea of what to expect," Mrs. Alafi said. "These children are going to face a far different world. If they are prepared it will be much easier for them."

The course, the director said, is not intended to be a crystal ball because the future contains "many unknowns and trends that can be reversed."

However, the teachers found early that children were very pessimistic about the world that awaits them.

"We hope that course gives them a feeling of control so they won't think of themselves as just victims," said Mrs. Alafi, a University of California graduate who has observed educational institutions on four continents.

The students, like many adults, expressed a fear of machines, especially the computer.

"We feel we have now given them a very positive attitude toward the computer," Mrs. Alafi said. "They know it can be controlled."

Teacher Paul Williams has no doubt that a good deal of the "future shock" will be caused by technology. He takes the children to the Lawrence Hall of Science about twice a week where they work a computer.

"They are very turned on by the computer and have learned how to program it," he said.

Williams said the students have become so confident with the machine that they play games.

"We play a game called Prince in which the student has economic control of an area and can make up his own problems and solutions. Another involves landing a rocket on the moon."

Betsy Lenz, the teacher in charge of the course, feels movies have given children a sensationalized view of the future and made them "very accepting and pessimistic."

Ms. Lenz thinks it is important for the students to become aware of what institutions are worth carrying over from the past and what they want the future to be like as well as knowing what it probably will be like.

"All agreed that the family was important," Ms. Lenz said. But the future family will be different.

"When I asked them to describe a family they said it was mother, father, children and the dog and cat," she said.

However, after some thought, the children realized this description did not even fit the majority of students because of divorce.

The students felt that parents of the future should have the responsibility of rearing their children but most wanted the children to have far more control of their world than today.

"They are willing to have rules but they wanted to have a good deal more control in their own world, such as deciding what school they would go to."

Keeping in touch with the future even extends into the school's art program.

The children set up their own environmental design for the world of the future, art teacher Mary Rudge said. Their imaginations knew no boundaries.

Take Mary for example. The fifth grader solved the problem of crowded hospital baby wards by simply making the babies smaller.

"But we gave them a shot to make them bigger later on," she said. "There would still be big people in the world and we wouldn't want them to step on the babies."

Prime Time For Girl Athletes
CUPERTINO, Calif. (AP) — Four women physical education teachers accused Cupertino High School officials of sex discrimination. The instructors had complained for weeks that the boys' basketball team was getting use of the gym floor during the prime time of 2-5 p.m.

The Fremont Education Assn. led the fight and won. Now, under a new ruling, the girls will get the prime time while the school's undefeated boys' basketball squad will have to work out at a later time.

The women have conceded, however, that they are willing to make special arrangements for the gym if the boys' team gets into the area championships and requires more practice time.

The port of Buffalo, N.Y., on the Great Lakes, handled 9,226,253 tons of cargo in 1972.

Opry Mixed With Opera

OPERA AND OPRY—Soprano Roberta Peters and Loretta Lynn come together for a duet during their taping of the Mike Douglas Show as the Opry House in Nashville. (AP Wirephoto)

By MATT YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—
The opera and the Opry—about as far apart as Butcher Hollow, Ky., and Scarsdale, N.Y.

But on the stage singing a duet at the Grand Ole Opry House here last week were the Metropolitan Opera's soprano Roberta Peters and the Opry's queen of country music, Loretta Lynn.

They were brought together for a taping of the Mike Douglas Show after appearing together earlier on a TV show in Philadelphia. When the opportunity arose again, both jumped at it.

The duet was "Secret Love." The same slightly coquettish smile was on both of their faces at one time or another during the performance.

"You're still too high," Miss Lynn, in hair curlers during rehearsals, told the band. "Sometimes I can get up there, but I've got the croup this week."

But Miss Peters had no trouble with Hank Williams' "It's Your Turn to Cry," although the style probably was not anything like Williams ever could have imagined.

Afterwards, the two singers, both in denim outfits, danced a little arm-in-arm jig in a dressing room as if they were two best friends who hadn't seen each other since school days.

There was a lot to catch up on—their children and Miss Lynn's latest grandchild, new jewelry, cooking, how busy their schedules are and, of course, music.

The respect and warmth each felt was as radiant as their eyes. "When I'm singing a song, I'm living it," Miss Lynn said. "I can tell she does, too, by every word."

Miss Peters also was keen to the similarities in the different styles of music. "Country and opera are deceptively tragic. There are a lot of triangles in the storylines of both."

Both said they think television has been the impetus in breaking down the barriers between various styles.

"I'm going to teach her 'You Ain't Woman Enough to Take My Man' and she's going to teach me one of those operas, and we're going on the Opry together," Miss Lynn said. That was fine with Miss Peters, who noted there are several English language works that would be perfect for the occasion.

But not perfect, according to Nashville's leading lady. "No, I want to do one like you do," Miss Lynn said. "I want you to learn me three lines of Italian."

Said Miss Peters, "I think it's a lot of fun to do that kind of thing. You can do both."

Efficiency Saves Cash

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Case Western Reserve University professor says an air conditioner that's electrically efficient can save enough to cover its purchase in a few years, compared with operating costs of one less efficient.

But Dr. B. Samuel Tanenbaum, professor of electrical engineering and coordinator of Case Western's energy research, also says air conditioners use more electricity than any other item in a typical home or apartment, averaged over a year.

Dr. Tanenbaum said in a recent interview that public demand for the most efficient units should encourage manufacturers to increase the units' efficiency in future models for competitive advantage.

Other steps he recommended for saving energy and operating costs include closing blinds, curtains or shades, saying that "this alone can reduce the heat entering a house by 10 to 20 per cent."

He also suggested adding awnings and insulation.

And he said one should figure how much cooling power is needed because "it is more economical to buy an air conditioner that just barely meets your needs" than to have an oversized unit that constantly cuts in and out.

'Free' Bus Ride Cost Him $298

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Off-duty bus driver Gert Venter came across a stalled double-decker city bus and got it going.

He and some friends enjoyed what they thought was a free ride through the streets until the vehicle hit a tree.

It cost Venter $298. A Johannesburg court ordered him to pay the amount off in monthly installments to the Johannesburg City Council for damage to the bus.

South Africa Adds Phones

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — South Africa, a nation of almost 25 million people, had 1.9 million telephones installed throughout the country by the end of March, Post Office officials have told Parliament.

Most of the existing phones have been installed in the offices and homes of the nation's white minority of four million.

Honeybees Add To Yield Of Soybean Crop

CHICAGO (AP) — A University of Wisconsin scientist is conducting experiments to interest honeybees in pollinating soybean crops, and the result could be inexpensive hybrid soybeans to help feed the world.

Prairie Farmer, a rural magazine, reports that Eric Erickson has been conducting bee pollination tests in caged soybean plots. Honeybees were thought to have little benefit for soybeans, a self-pollinated crop. But Erickson's studies are showing that bees can increase soybean yields by as much as 16 per cent.

He is now screening several hundred varieties and breeding lines of soybeans for their attractiveness to honeybees. Bees could help make hybrid soybeans a reality someday. Without bees, hybridization requires tedious, expensive and time-consuming hand pollination. Prairie Farmer is a Leisure Group I publication of American Broadcasting Companies, Inc.
