

HUD Gives Go-Ahead For Downtown Mall

By TOM BAINES Reflector Staff Writer The Department of Housing and Urban Development has reviewed the proposed downtown pedestrian mall plans and has authorized the Redevelopment Commission to advertise for construction bids.

had gained approval. Laney said that the commission will advertise the mall for bids today in the newspaper and again on June 17. In addition, the advertisement will appear in the Dodge Report and Association of General Contractors listings.

Downtown businessmen have expressed a concern over the possibility of construction work going on in the district during the Christmas season, it was noted, and the Nov. 26 completion date should eliminate any concern over the construction time element.

An attractive lighting system will be incorporated, he added, using the same type of lighting that will be installed in the pedestrian walkways. The lighting system will tie the walkway system, the pedestrian mall and Town Common together with a common theme. The general architectural theme of the new mall will be traditional with effects created through the use of traditional materials.

The mall will be designed in such a way that if the downtown businessmen desire to add an overhead canopy at a later date, such an addition can be tied in with the existing facility.

Laney told commissioners that he, commission chairman Billy Laughinghouse, and Wade Trask, owner of Shoemasters Inc. here, visited Salisbury, Md., on May 20 to view the city's two-block open mall.

place in Southside while on structure was demolished. Dan Sullivan, assistant CBD project manager, reported that two relocations were handled in the project area since May, involving the Army Surplus Store and Jackson's Show Store.

$17.5 Million Budget Is Under Study Of Pitt Commissioners

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer Pitt County Commissioners yesterday began hearings on the proposed 1975-1976 budget for the county which, if approved as recommended by county manager Reginald Gray, would total about $17.5 million.

The estimated net valuation used last year for budget purposes was $643.7 million while the estimated valuation this year is $691.3 million. Proposed general fund expenditures for the coming fiscal year total $2.3 million as compared with the 1974-1975 budget of $1.9 million.

Commissioners have little or no control over this department's budget. Most of the programs are mandated—established by state and federal authorities—and commissioners are forced to fund the programs.

Under the county-wide school capital outlay budget, which is recommended at $1.22 million, the city system would receive $400,000. This compares with $318,000 received in the 1974-1975 budget. The total school capital outlay list of expenditures totals $1.22 million as compared with $1.5 million for the current year. Requests in the county school's capital outlay proposals include a $100,000 increase for new buildings and fees (from $403,300 in '74-'75 to $508,000 in '75-'76).

Major reductions reflected in the 1975-1976 proposal are in the areas of health and revenue sharing. Revenue sharing funds included in the list for the coming

Pay Hikes Are Included In Senate Budget Plans

By NOEL YANCEY Associated Press Writer RALEIGH (AP)—A Senate Appropriations super subcommittee has worked out a balanced state budget for the next two fiscal years that would provide a pay hike for all state workers of about 1.8 per cent the second year of the biennium.

The recommendations of the super subcommittee will be presented to the full Senate Appropriations Committee today. Meanwhile, Rep. Jimmy Love, D-Lee, said he has recommendations ready to present to his committee today that will bring the budget within $2 million of a balance for next fiscal year and will show a surplus of several million dollars the second.

committee recommendations do not call for a tuition increase. Love said the House committee recommendations propose an increase from $200 to $400 per North Carolina student in state aid for private colleges. The Senate proposals would increase this to $350 the first year of the biennium and $400 the second year.

Varied Topics At Recreation Seminar

By JAMES KYLE
Reflector Staff Writer

The mentally retarded, deaf, and physically handicapped usually have a lot of leisure time and recreational programs for them can fill this time and help in their development, according to Alice Keene.

A program for these "exceptional persons costs more, but it is worth it," said Ms. Keene, coordinator of programs for exceptional children and adults for the Greenville Recreation and Parks Department.

Speaking at a recreation seminar for area recreation commissioners and advisors, Ms. Keene said, "Give special populations a chance—it will be worth it for you and for them."

The seminar, held last night at city hall, was sponsored by the N.C. Recreation and Park Society and the N.C. Department of Natural and Economic Resources.

The program dealt with many aspects of parks and recreation work including legal problems, effective boards, current legislation, and programs for special populations.

The seminar was the fourth of five similar programs which are being held each Monday night in different areas of the state. Commissioners from as far away as New Bern attended Greenville's seminar.

Ernest H. Ball, attorney for the N.C. League of Municipalities, discussed the legal responsibility of recreation or parks departments. He talked about the problem of liability in accident suits and the purchase of liability insurance.

Most accident liability cases hinge on the question of negligence, Ball said. Negligence was defined as the failure to exercise the care that a reasonable person would exercise under the same circumstances. A plaintiff must prove negligence and that the negligence was the "proximate cause of the injury to collect damages. There can be no negligence on the part of the plaintiff (contributory negligence).

Incidents of negligence involve a failure to act about 80 percent of the time, Ball said. He cited an example as a failure to keep a foot bridge on a municipal golf course in proper repair. This led to an accident, and the city was liable.

Governments can purchase liability insurance and waive their liability up to the amount of insurance purchased, Ball said. The increase in liability insurance has caused courts to be more lenient towards the plaintiff in liability suits, according to Ball. Courts previously have had a tendency in these cases to "protect the public treasuries from the razing of juries," Ball said.

Accident liability is especially important in the area of parks and recreation, Ball said, because of the great amount of facilities involved. Recreation boards should take two steps to avoid accidents and to avoid liability for accidents: make periodic inspections of facilities; and, keep proper records of inspections and maintenance. These inspections and records will help show a lack of negligence in an accident suit.

Steve Moler, a recreation consultant, discussed the characteristics of effective recreation-parks boards and the duties of these boards.

Moler said any recreation program should have some type of advisory committee. This committee should be established by ordinance to make a legal commitment to the citizens and define the duties and responsibilities of the committee.

"Ethical relationships" between committee members was discussed. All news of committee action and decisions should go through the chairman, and not individual commissioners, Moler said. Committee members should also put aside "sectionalism"—trying to get things for their section of the city—and "pull together" and work for the entire city.

The areas of responsibility for the recreation-parks committee were said to be: policy development, budget, land acquisition, and public relations. The need of citizen participation on committees is also important, Moler said. Recent recreation and parks legislation was discussed by Harold Moses, chief of the State Recreation-Park Consulting Services. The most important recreation-parks legislation in North Carolina is the Recreation Enabling Law of North Carolina, which gives local governments the power to establish recreation boards and facilities. Another law lets them spend tax money for recreation without a vote of the people.

Two recreation-parks bills killed in the state legislature this year were: a bill which would allow the use of school buses for recreation departments during the summer, and a bill which would make matching funds available to each county for recreational use.

Recreation people need to try again on these bills, Moses said. An important bill passed in Congress this year allows recreation agencies to buy federal surplus property, according to Moses.

A recognition and appreciation reception will be held Tuesday evening from 8:30-9:30 honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Howard M. McLamb at St. James United Methodist Church.

ference. He has served as Goldsboro District superintendent and as a pastor at Pink Hill, Fairmont in Raleigh, Ahoskie, Hamlet and Jarvis Memorial Churches.

The Rev. McLamb organized the Nobles Chapel Church in addition to 15 other churches and received more than 2,000 members during his 25 years as a pastor.

Gifts will be presented and brief words of appreciation will be given by E. Hoover Taft Sr., Mrs. Bill Cutrell, R.L. Cannon Jr. and the Rev. Charles Mercer of the conference program.

F.R. Randolph and James C. Lee are ministers at St. James Church.

Lawyers Praise Judge For Joan Little Trial

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—North Carolina lawyers familiar with Superior Court Judge Hamilton Hobgood are unanimous in their praise of the man selected to preside at the murder trial of Joan Little next month.

"There's no reason for either side to complain. If I were either a defense attorney or a solicitor, I'd be happy. He's an absolutely splendid judge and as fair as a judge can be," said Raleigh attorney Howard Twigg in a typical comment.

State Supreme Court Chief Justice Susie Sharp selected Hobgood Monday to handle the trial, saying he was a man of experience and proven ability.

Another judge, Henry McKinnon, presided at the pre-trial hearings in the case earlier this year. He asked not to be assigned to the trial, citing personal reasons.

JUDGE HAMILTON HOBGOOD

Hobgood, 64, is a native of Louisville and one of the most experienced trial judges in the state. He was appointed to the bench in 1955 by the late Gov. Luther Hodges.

"I've tried over 50,000 criminal cases, and in every one I try for the same things. One is to try the case according to the law and the other is to make sure everyone gets a fair hearing," he said in a telephone interview from Warrenton, where he was holding court Monday.

Hobgood said he didn't expect to run the Little trial as just another case. "Obviously, you have administrative problems when you have tremendous crowds and news media," he said. "I take them as they come."

Durham attorney James Rowan, a member of the firm defending Miss Little, said he was pleased with the selection. "He's very hard working and conscientious. He'll give us and the state a good trial," Rowan said.

"He's a superb judge...not tough, but very evenhanded and fair. He tries cases right down the middle," said Wake County Dist. atty. Burley B. Mitchell Jr.

McKinnon had been expected by many people to continue presiding over the case. But he said that the "strains of the spring" pre-trial hearing and other personal matters, including a serious auto accident that injured his wife, caused him to decline the job.

Hobgood recently served on a legislative study commission that recommended more paroles and probations for criminals in the state prison system. He has also been active in seeking better legal representation for the poor.

The Little trial will probably be the most celebrated case he has ever tried. It has already attracted international attention.

Miss Little is accused of first degree murder in the icepick slaying of a jailer, Clarence Alligood, in Beaufort County last year. She says he was trying to rape her.

The trial was moved from Beaufort County to Raleigh at the request of the defense, which said it would be difficult to find an impartial jury in the area.

Wagon Train Threatened

STANWOOD, Wash. (AP)—Spokesmen for the Stillaguamish Indians say the 94-member tribe may try to cut off at the pass a Bicentennial wagon train en route to Pennsylvania.

The three Conestoga wagons and a horseback escort set out from the U.S.-Canadian Peace Arch near Blaine, Wash., Sunday on a 3,000-mile, year-long journey to Valley Forge, Pa.

The itinerary calls for a stop early Thursday at Island's Crossing, six miles north of here and just an arrow's flight away from the tribe's combination office and souvenir store.

"We're going to hold them over as guests until the secretary of Interior signs our papers of recognition," tribal spokesman Frank Allen said Monday. "We've waited too long while they played political football with our lives back there. We aren't asking for gold or silver, just his signature recognizing us as a federal Indian tribe."

Winterville Bd. Holds Hearing On Town Budget

WINTERVILLE—The Winterville Board of Aldermen conducted a public hearing last night to review the 1975-76 fiscal year town budget.

Town Clerk Elwood Nobles said the proposed budget for the coming year totals $671,965, as compared to the current budget of $452,110. The increase in the budget for next year is due to the high cost being paid for electricity.

Nobles said the proposed budget figure is based on the same tax rate of 70 cents per $100 valuation as the budget last year. He noted the budget does show an increase in water and sewer taps and water and sewer deposits.

The board has set a meeting for Monday, June 16, to give final approval to the next fiscal year budget.

Arrest Youth On Drug Count

Linwood Earl Duffie of 314 Conley St. was charged with possession of marijuana by Greenville Police yesterday.

Chief Glenn Cannon said the 16-year-old was arrested on Tyson Street about 12:40 and placed under a $500 bond pending hearing of the case in District Court.

Trapped 4 Hours In Refrigerator Car

MARTINSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Wilbur Holsinger apparently isn't too much the worse for wear after being trapped in a railroad refrigerator car for four hours, buried under 20 tons of potatoes.

Holsinger, a 20-year-old employe of a fruit and vegetable packing firm in this south-central Pennsylvania community, was unloading potatoes Monday at the Cove Apple Factory, moving them from an opening in the bottom of the car to a conveyor belt.

The load jammed, authorities said, and Holsinger climbed into the car in an effort to kick it free.

Police said there was apparently an air pocket in the pile, for when Holsinger kicked it, part of the pile caved in under him and the rest collapsed on top of him.

Rescue workers were unable to saw through the thick steel sides of the car, so they slid boards around him and began unloading the potatoes by hand.

After uncovering his face, they managed to burn a three-foot hole in the side of the car to free the rest of the potatoes—and Holsinger. He was eventually taken to a hospital in nearby Roaring Spring, where he was listed in satisfactory condition.

On being released, his only complaint was that it was cold in the 40-degree car.

He also asked one of his rescuers what time it was. On being told it was about 7 p.m., he remarked, "Oh, boy! I'm on overtime."

Two Wrecks Investigated

An estimated $1,250 property damage resulted from two collisions investigated here by Greenville Police yesterday.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 9:50 a.m. mishap at the intersection of First and Jarvis Streets involving vehicles driven by James William Grimes of 1702 West Fourth St. and Hugh Jackson Sawyer of 121 North Harding St.

Police, who charged Sawyer with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety, estimated damage at $700 to the Grimes car and $250 to the Sawyer auto.

No charges were made following investigation of a three-vehicle mishap on Memorial Drive at the Tar River Bridge about 4:25 p.m.

Police identified drivers involved in the collision as Wilbur Ray Nichols of Route 4, Greenville, James Thomas Wyche of Riverview Estates and William Stephen Holloway of Route 3, Greenville.

An estimated $50 damage resulted to the Nichols and Wyche cars, while damage to the Holloway auto was placed at $200.

Trim excess fat from beef. In a large heavy ovenproof saucepot or casserole heat oil; add beef and brown on all sides. Remove beef and pour off fat. Return beef to saucepot and add remaining ingredients. Cover tightly and bake in a 325-degree oven until tender — 2½ to 3 hours; to test doneness cut a small slice from beef because it will not respond to the usual fork test. Foolish Girl Wants Helping Phrase

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Do you have a paragraph or a phrase that would make me think twice when I am tempted to take a drink?

I am not a heavy drinker. In fact, I hardly ever drink at all, but when I do, it hits me hard.

I made a fool of myself again last night, and I am sick of it. I've done that only five times in my life, and it only happens when I am out with friends. The next day when I wake up, I have to depend on other people to tell me what I did.

If I had just one meaningful phrase to keep me from weakening and having a drink with my friends, I would carry it with me. A Bible is too big to carry around. I am 20. Thank you.

FOOLISH GIRL

DEAR GIRL: When you are faced with temptation, tell your friends that hard liquor is "poison" to you and that you cannot drink it. Then silently pray: "Oh, Lord, give me the strength I need right now," and quickly pour yourself a non-alcoholic beverage. After one sip, pray again: "Thank you, Lord, I made it!"
Try it, and let me know the results, I care.

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column has caused me to drop my campaign to get the letter "q" removed from the dictionary and transferred to "k," where it belongs. I quickly discovered that I might be dead before anyone would even be interested.

Couple Weds In Ceremony

LAKE MURRAY, S.C.—Rebecca Faye Chavis and Gary O'Neil Wall of Columbia, S.C., were united in marriage Saturday at 4:00 p.m. in a lakeside ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Waikart here.

The Rev. Bryan Crenshaw officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Chavis of West Columbia, S.C. She was graduated from Columbia High School and is employed as a secretary by Columbia Electric Repair Co., Inc.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A.D. Wall of Grifton, N.C. He was graduated from Farmville High School, Vanceboro, N.C., and East Carolina University, Greenville, N.C., with a bachelor of science degree in business administration. He is employed as a staff accountant by Owen Steel Co., Inc.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony. After a wedding trip to Hilton Head, S.C., the couple will reside in Columbia, S.C.

Wedding Invitation

Mrs. Marie B. Harrington and the Rev. J.B. Morris request the honor of your presence at their wedding Sunday, June 15, at 3:00 p.m.—at the St. Paul Pentecostal Holiness Church. No invitations were mailed.

Personal

Miss Diane Cobb of Falkland is in Hawaii visiting her aunt, Mrs. Dennis Biggs, Maj. Biggs, and their sons, Mitch and Rodney.

The Biggs will accompany her home in mid-July.

Now I would like to start a campaign to get all people to knit using the phrase "made love" when they mean "had sex."

I am irritated beyond words when I read that "a couple met at a party, went to a motel and made love." It's an insult to the act of lovemaking! What they did was have sex. Love had nothing to do with it.

Before I risk wasting my time on this campaign, please tell me if you think I have a point.

VAL (MASCULINE)

DEAR VAL: You have a point, but whether it's worthy of a campaign raises another question. I plead not guilty. When I mean "They had sex," I don't say, "They made love."

DEAR ABBY: You blew it! The lady with the kid who refused to eat anything but peanut butter and jelly sandwiches and chocolate ice cream doesn't need a doctor's help. All it takes is this:

Don't buy any more peanut butter or ice cream, and when the kid gets hungry enough he'll eat anything. Including liver and spinach.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

What you don't need to read today is another column about the state of the world, but frankly I'm worried sick.

Last week was a week you wouldn't believe. It all began on Monday when the kids filed into the kitchen completely dressed.

I stood there with my iron (the one with the 50-foot cord) and asked, "Who wants something pressed?" No one moved.

My car with the new battery started. I found a parking place in front of the supermarket, got a shopping cart with four wheels that all went in the same direction at the same time, and found a sale on something edible. That night Rhoda looked a little fat, and I cooked a dinner that no one had had for lunch.

I began to feel a little edgy, but figured by the next day things would get back to normal. They didn't. At the library, all three of my books were out. I ordered Col. Sanders extra crispy chicken and they had it. I went to bed thinking, things have to get worse tomorrow — they couldn't get any better.

On Wednesday, I ran for a bus and made it. The dentist said I had no cavities. The phone was ringing when I arrived home and even after I dropped my key a few times I answered it and they were still on the line. The Avon lady refused me service, saying I didn't need her. My husband asked me what kind of a day I had and didn't leave the room when I started to answer.

By Thursday, I was a basket case anticipating what was in store for me, but it didn't happen. My daughter told me my white socks looked good with wedgies. The checkbook balanced. No one snacked and ruined their dinners and a film at the school, "The History of Sulphur," was cancelled.

On Friday morning, I was sobbing in the kitchen when my husband tried to comfort me. "I can't help it," I said, "things were never meant to go this well. I'm worried."
"Now, now," he said patting my shoulder. "Things can't go rotten all the time. We couldn't appreciate them if they did."
"I know I'm going to get it," I said. "Do you know that yesterday I went into the boys' room and their beds were made? (He frowned.) And that we got a note from the IRS apologizing for being late with our rebate? This isn't like us," I whined. "The bad times I can handle. It's the good times that drive me crazy. When is the other shoe going to drop?"

We heard a car turn into the garage and make the sickening scrape of an immovable wall. We smiled. Things are looking up.

Combined Efforts Benefit All

Gov. Holshouser formally announced last week that Stallings Field at Kinston has been designated as the regional airline facility for this area.

The field will provide service for Goldsboro, which has already agreed to moving its Piedmont service to Stallings; Greenville, Kinston, New Bern, Washington and the general area.

New Bern has fought the designation and it still has scheduled service. Some service will be continued at Jacksonville because of the Marine facility there.

The designation carries with it the grant of nearly $2 million in state and federal funds for construction of a 40,000 square foot jet terminal and access roads at Stallings.

"The increasing economic needs of Eastern North Carolina require better airline service which can be gained only by a consolidation of flights into a central location," the governor said. "I urge all of the cities in the region to put aside local differences and work to develop an airport which can provide the level of services to serve as an economic and transportation stimulus for all of the Coastal Plains Region."

That is something that Greenville and Pitt County have been saying for years. We have long recognized that it was essential that one central airport be established to serve this entire area if we are ever to have adequate air service.

The Stallings location suits us. There is an adequate highway between Greenville and Kinston and the state can work toward developing dual laned roads between all the cities to be served and Kinston in order to make the regional airport concept work. We can also continue to utilize feeder airlines, such as Wheeler, to give us good connections with the major trunk lines.

Eastern North Carolina will be far better off if all its cities will combine their efforts to develop a central airport which will provide frequent flights.

Stallings has been designated as the regional facility, so now let's do all we can to make it a first class airport.

Tight Power Supply

By TERENCE HUNT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans will be able to get enough electric power during periods of peak demand this summer if there is no disruption in the availability of oil, coal and natural gas, the Federal Power Commission said today.

The only area of the country where generating capacity may not meet demand is the Tennessee Valley Authority region where generating resources are marginal, the commission said. However, it said adequate resources in adjoining areas will allow the TVA to buy any additional power that may be needed.

The commission said energy supply problems this year appear to have eased somewhat compared to 1974, although consumers are paying higher prices for power.

"Although energy supply does not appear likely to present a major problem in 1975, it could become critical in a few years because of the delays of nuclear plants now under construction and the expected further tightening of fossil fuel supplies," the commission said.

"If electric load growth returns to historic rates the energy supply problem will become even more difficult," it added.

Despite the prospect of adequate generating capacities this summer, the commission said that "even a slight disruption of the pattern of planned energy supplies for electric power could result in some local or regional difficulties in maintaining reliable supply to meet the summer demand for electric energy."

The peak electric demand load expected this summer for the United States, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, is estimated at 373,782 megawatts, an increase of 11 per cent over last year, the commission said.

The generating capacity expected to be available this summer is 466,932 megawatts, providing a reserve margin of 93-150 megawatts, or 24.9 per cent of the estimated summer peak load.

40 Years Ago Today

June 10, 1935
City and county officials left today for Chapel Hill to attend the sessions of the Institute of Government which will be held there this week.

Acting Mayor H. H. Duncan and Alderman Vernon Parrish were among the officials leaving Greenville at noon today. Others were expected to attend the meetings also.

The regular weekly session of county court, scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed to the following week because of the absence of officials and lawyers who are attending the Institute of Government in Chapel Hill.

Edeard O. Pitts, the Alabama lad who made Sing-Sing famous on the athletic fields, was ruled ineligible today to play ball in the minor leagues because he is an ex-convict.

Pitts plays with the Albany Club of the International League.

POLITICAL NOTES

No Shortage For Lt. Gov.

By JOHN KILGO

There will be no shortage of candidates for lieutenant governor next year.

Chapel Hill Mayor Howard Lee will not seek another term as chief executive of the college community, and right now is busy an organization to help him run for lieutenant governor.

Lee has had his eye on this race for a number of years. There are, of course, many people in the state who feel former Gov. Bob Scott will run again for lieutenant governor. Scott would like to be Governor again, and a successful campaign for lieutenant governor next year would set him in motion to run for Governor in 1980.

Mecklenburg State Senator Herman Moore is also making sounds about the lieutenant governor's race. Moore admits he's put up some trial balloons, and he says he's getting encouraging news.

Moore has not been happy with committee appointments made by Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt in the Senate, and House Speaker Jimmy Green.

Moore feels Hunt and Green have favored legislators from rural and eastern areas with the choice committee assignments. He has said on more than one occasion that legislation important to urban areas seldom gets out of committee. He wants to change what he sees as a wrong.

Moore has also been critical of the Legislature for apparently going on with plans for the East Carolina University med school, in a year when the state faces a budget deficit. Sen. Moore realizes he would have to have support from the East to win such a race, but he says people down there have been receptive to his possible candidacy.

This is not the first time Moore has taken a serious look at the lieutenant governor's race. He almost decided to run last time.

Now he is disenchanted with the way things are going in Raleigh and is giving the race another look. Don't look for him to say one way or the other in the next few weeks. He says he would wait until the fall to decide definitely.

INSIDE REPORT

Ford Has Family Pledge

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—President Ford's private word at an intimate White House stag dinner that "the Ford family is solidly behind" his decision to run for President next year removed the last shred of doubt that his candidacy is for real.

In the upstairs family dining room, Mr. Ford told 10 Republican congressional leaders on May 20: "I don't care what anyone says, I am in this race to stay and the Ford family is solidly behind me."

That was taken as a denial of continuing rumors—all unconfirmed—that Mrs. Ford is not yet out of the woods from her cancer surgery last September and that her health was influencing Mr. Ford's 1976 intentions.

Also present were White House staff chief Donald Rumsfeld; Robert Hartmann, the President's most intimate White House aide; Dean Burch, temporary head of the Ford pre-convention planning organization; and David Packard, the wealthy former Deputy Secretary of Defense (now back in California as board chairman of Hewlett-Packard) who will be finance chairman of the Ford presidential campaign.

In the two weeks since that cozy, unpublicized political chat ended all doubt about the President's commitment to run, Mr. Ford has had a string of political wins, including his European trip, sustaining his veto of the jobs bill, and defeating Senate attacks on military spending. A footnote: Mr. Ford was warned by Sen. John Tower of Texas, one of five Senate leaders at the May 20 dinner, that former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, a possible presidential contender, has a large Republican constituency, while Mr. Ford does not. The President replied that he represented "what I call the moderate approach" in Republican politics, and said he would need "all the help that I can get" in building a Ford-style Republican constituency.

Saigon's Non-Government While some congressional liberals are urging U.S. recognition of the new Saigon regime, the fact is that no real government has emerged there. Just as the war was run from Hanoi, so is administration of the conquered southern territories now a function of the North Vietnamese politburo. What surprises experts here is the Communists' failure to construct even the facade of an independent southern government.

This demolishes Capitol Hill pressure on President Ford to recognize the "Provisional Revolutionary Government" (PRG) in hopes of influencing Saigon to take a course independent of Hanoi. Indeed, today's true state of affairs undermines the ridiculous argument that the war was really a civil war between the PRG and the old Saigon regime.

Authority today is exercised by Col. Gen. Tran Van Tra, chairman of the capital's military management committee. An ethnic northerner, Tra is a colonel-general in Hanoi's army and an alternate member of the central committee of the North Vietnamese Communist party.

It is General Tra, not local revolutionaries, who has imposed Communist dictatorship in Saigon—censorship, book burning, padlocked newspapers, abolition of political parties, enforced "registration" of politicians.

Saigon's leading civilian Communist is Pham Hung. A native southerner, Hung has long been a key figure in the Hanoi regime and accompanied Ho Chi Minh on trips around Asia. He was a member of the Hanoi politburo and a deputy premier of North Vietnam when assigned in 1967 to run the southern war for Hanoi as head of COSVN (Central Office of South Vietnam).

Official Hanoi statements make no distinction between North and South Vietnam and say little about PRG. "We hail the beautiful land of Vietnam," Le Duan, first secretary of the Communist party, said May 15, "from now on whole again, from Lang Son to the Cape of Ca Mau. . . Our fatherland certainly will be reunited. Our fellow countrymen in the south and in the north certainly will be reunified under one roof."

Nevertheless, Hanoi probably will persist in the fiction of an independent government in Saigon for the foreseeable future and may seek two Vietnamese seats in the United Nations.

Ford Must Go? A worried leader of the American Jewish Community slipped privately into the Oval Office to assure President Ford that a quarter-page "Ford Must Go" advertisement in the May 19 New York Times did not reflect responsible American-Jewish opinion. With Mr. Ford pushing an American — rather than pro-Israeli — Middle East policy, these leaders were fearful the ad, signed by American Jews Against Ford (AJAF), would anger Mr. Ford and hurt Israel.

The Jewish leader informed Mr. Ford that the AJAF address in New York City listed in the ad is the address of Rabbi Meir Kahane's small, vocal and extremist Jewish Defense League (JDL).

That persuaded the President that the advertisement's accusation against him — "he is strangling Israel with pressure that can only be called political blackmail" — does not represent the American Jewish mainstream.

AJAF claims no connection with the JDL beyond temporary use of its office. It was founded in March with this goal: A million signatures on a petition pledging signers to vote against President Ford in 1976 unless he adopts a pro-Israeli policy.

Love is skin-deep. Give Blood.

Strength For Today

FAILURE LEADING TO SUCCESS

Phillips Brooks was one of the greatest preachers of a past generation. For years he held the people of Boston spellbound. He even preached in Westminster Abbey on several occasions. When he died, the whole Christian world paid respect to his memory and he is looked upon to this day as one of the greatest preachers of the Christian evangel of the world has ever known.

Yet, until he achieved success as a preacher he was a disappointed man, because what he really wanted to be was a teacher. But when he started a teaching career in a boys' school his failure was complete.

Failure is often the door through which God leads us to our greatest successes. Often we do not know ourselves as well as we think, and many of us can be poor judges of our potentialities.

In amking our plans in life, therefore, it is wise to ask the advice of someone who knows us better than we do ourselves. God steered Phillips Brooks to a great career. He can do the same for us.

Granite State Deprived

The Constitution says, plain as day, that "no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate." But New Hampshire, whose ratification long ago brought the Constitution itself into being, is being denied what the Constitution guarantees it.

Since the 94th Congress convened in January, New Hampshire has had one senator only. The Granite State has been the victim of the Senate's delay. If the contested seat should now be awarded to Democrat John Durkin, the entire Congress will suffer from the Senate's shame.

This discreditable situation dates from last November, when Democrat Durkin and Republican Louis Wyman finished in a virtual dead heat. Wyman was at first declared the winner. On a recount, Durkin appeared to have won by ten votes. Then the New Hampshire Ballot Commission, the state's highest authority, certified Wyman by a two-vote margin.

Durkin protested Wyman's certificate of election, as he had every right to do. The Constitution says that each House of Congress "shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members." But it never was dreamed that the Senate would usurp the rights of the people themselves.

That is what is happening in the Wyman-Durkin contest. The people of New Hampshire have been forgotten altogether. The Senate Rules Committee has plodded through 46 meetings, lasting 200 hours, in a tedious effort to examine and to rule upon more than 900 individual ballots. Now the committee has sought the "sense of the Senate" on 36 questions it was unable to decide for itself.

This is a sham. The entire Senate cannot possibly pass intelligently on the contested ballots. The danger — and it is a grave danger to the Senate itself — is that the unresolved questions will be resolved by party-line votes. The Democrats now have 61 seats, the Republicans 38. By giving the seat to Democrat Durkin, the Democrats would gain still greater advantage in committee memberships.

Such an advantage would be purchased at a fearful price. Repeated public opinion surveys have demonstrated how little confidence the people have in Congress — and in public bodies generally. The widespread feeling is that politicians, as a class, are a tricky bunch, ever ready to pull a sly one. The House of Representatives did nothing to dispel that wretched image when it recently voted itself a $10 million backdoor raise in perquisites and staff.

In the case at hand, the Senate Rules Committee already has left an impression of bias. The committee spent almost four months in a review of Durkin's evidence. Not until April 25 did it get to Wyman's evidence. His every substantive request was rejected.

On May 6, the committee sent four staff members to Nashua to inquire into certain alleged irregularities. A transcript of the staff hearing discloses blatant partiality. Majority staffer James H. Duffy flatly refused to let minority members pursue relevant lines of inquiry. The hearing resulted in no more than a perfunctory look at the matters in controversy.

Some of the contested evidence deals with Manchester voting machines that were out of whack. Thirty-seven ballots appear to be missing from Dover and Troy. In Nashua, at least two absentee ballots may have been illegally cast. Returns from ten other cities are in doubt. Under these confusing circumstances, the Senate could not conscientiously award the seat to either

Other Editors Say Asked For It

(Henderson Dispatch)

Present financial crisis faced by New York City has the sympathy of municipal people throughout the country. Others may be some extent on a smaller scale be in a like predicament. But it is fair to assume that the Municipality of New York, and others, asked for it.

New York in particular has a welfare handout program that would frighten and stagger the imagination. Its teeming millions, with hands outstretched for gratuity, have been led to believe that big government will take care of them. And so it has, but at the expense of colossal debt and virtual insolvency.

The city has appealed to Big Brother in Washington for help, and was turned away. Big Brother is equally as badly off and hasn't the money even to meet its own obligations except as it borrows. But New York's credit, according to reports, has been exhausted. It has spent and spent until the tax burden has become so heavy that many concerns are moving away to escape the drain on their resources. And that in a measure reduces the city's sources of income and intensifies its problem.

What it all adds up to is that government at all levels has simply gone overboard in spending money. In some instances, the outlay exceeds the ability of citizens to pay, except when outrageous taxes are imposed.

To sell bonds or to borrow billions of dollars, as the metropolis is trying to do, only makes bad matters worse. Government, like individuals who support it, needs desperately to live within its income, at all levels. The State of North Carolina is required by its Constitution to operate on a balanced budget. Vance county and the City of Henderson always balance their budgets. Not all local governments do. Even so, big spending goes on.

New York's problem is its own. We do not need to worry about that here. But the big city is both an example and a warning to all other levels of government.

Signals Still Read 'Caution'

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — There is very little evidence in corporate spending plans to suggest that business expects a sharp recovery from the recession.

Not only is actual spending down, but so are plans for future spending. Plants and equipment aren't being added or improved at a rate that would indicate optimism. The signs instead still read caution.

In fact, the producer's view on spending appears to be very much like that of the typical consumer: beware of big expenditures, watch your pennies, pay off your debts and, in general, get your house in order.

The latest quarterly survey of spending by the Commerce

Department indicates business will pay $114.2 billion for plant and equipment in 1975, which means an increase of 1.6 per cent over 1974.

An increase of that size really amounts to a decrease, because of an inflation-induced variance in the buying power of the dollar. Further confirmation of the cautious mood comes from cutbacks in plans for future spending. A Conference Board study of manufacturers' first-quarter plans for future spending showed a cut of 9.4 per cent from the previous quarter.

Moreover, studies show also that money previously appropriated is often left unspent, indicating cancellation of expansion or modernization plans because of a poor economic climate. The significance of the statistics can't be underestimated because they seem to say this: While the index of leading indicators suggests a recovery is almost certainly on the way, it isn't likely to be a sharp one.

Any time you have consumers and producers both holding back, waiting for the green light, you have a leadership void, a situation in which everyone is waiting for the next guy to make the move.

It is this disinclination to get away from the starting blocks that represents the biggest economic challenge to the Ford administration. It isn't a new situation; it has happened many times in the past, leading inevitably to political exhortations to "get this country moving again."

Words, however, aren't likely to work in the current situation, because there is considerable evidence to indicate that the various segments of the economy are sick of words, don't believe them and won't act on them. Until the future comes into better focus, both producers and consumers seem to be saying, "we'll stand pat."

The reasons why the future remains blurred are many — the lack of an energy program, the realization that unemployment seems to be a long-term rather than short-term problem, the uncertainty about prices.

How do you get someone to make a move? Ah that's the question, the answer to which solves the problems of us all.

Ayden Assessment Hearing Set

County Budget... Pledges Tell All

AYDEN—The Ayden Board of Commissioners Monday night set July 14 as the date for a public hearing to discuss the preliminary assessment for curb and gutter projects on three areas in town.

The areas include Kennedy Estates, Allen Drive, and Martin Circle. The hearing will be held in conjunction with the regular monthly board meeting. Board members adopted proposed residential VEPCO rates for the Town of Ayden. The new rates will be put into effect this billing period and will be mailed in July.

Denison Garrett reported on the Migrant and Seasonal Farm Workers Association which has established an office on South Lee St. Garrett explained the office, established to help migrant and seasonal workers find employment in Pitt County, is financed through a grant from the Department of Labor. He explained the office will be available to assist migrant and seasonal workers while they are in the area. Steve Nobles and Gratz Norcott were reappointed to two-year terms on the Ayden Municipal Board of Elections while Eugene Smith was named to a two-year term. Smith replaces Fred York who has moved from Ayden. Board members approved a budget amendment to transfer unused funds from the water and sewer fund to the general fund. Mayor Ross Persinger was named to represent the town on the Mid-East Commission. The board voted to enter into a contract with the Life of Virginia insurance company for a retirement program for town employees. The policy is an individual retirement act and the town has agreed to contribute a portion of the amount for persons who have been employed by the town for at least three years as of July 1, 1975.

Employees who wish to build up their retirement program may contribute to the fund but they do not have to do so. Board members agreed to assume ownership of the activity bus at Ayden-Grifton High School and be responsible for insurance and maintenance. School officials asked the board to take over responsibility of the bus which was purchased by Ayden citizens in 1964 for Ayden High School. Since the Ayden-Grifton School was formed, the school has been responsible for upkeep and insurance. The school last night requested that the ownership be transferred to relieve them of the expense. Board members named a committee to set up rules and regulations and bylaws regarding the use of the bus. Three names were forwarded to the Pitt County Board of Commissioners for appointments and reappointment to the Ayden Planning Board. Marvin Baldree was named for reappointment and the names of Peggy Hill and Betty Little were submitted for appointments. The appointments must be approved by the Pitt County Commissioners because the area involved is the extraterritorial area in Ayden.

Howard Lee To Need $100,000

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The black mayor of Chapel Hill, Howard Lee, who plans to seek Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor next year, will try to raise at least $100,000 by September to finance his campaign. Lee said in an interview Monday before speaking to the Charlotte Women's Political Caucus that he plans to employ an agency next month to begin fund raising, organizing and polling. He also said he hopes that former Gov. Terry Sanford will win the Democratic nomination for president. But Lee said that if he is a candidate himself, he wouldn't endorse Sanford, or candidates for any office. Lee said endorsements wouldn't be in the best interest of his campaign, or theirs.

When she can't be out in front to personally tend the stand, Mrs. Beachum sells asparagus by the honor system. Bags of the vegetable are marked with prices and folks just leave the money on the stand. In five years of depending on asparagus lovers' honesty, she says she has lost only about $5. But Mrs. Beachum can't say very much about cherry customers.

He said the chief question facing society today is whether Democracy and order can be maintained.

County Budget... Pledges Tell All

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Frank Church said today the Senate intelligence committee will make "full disclosure" of Central Intelligence Agency involvement in assassination plots but added he can't say yet when or how. "We do have hard evidence of CIA complicity in murder plots and murder attempts," Church said on NBC's "Today Show." "I'm confident that a full disclosure will be made in a way that relays the facts but avoids the injury we all want to avoid." He said the public is entitled to know "the good, the bad, the right and the wrong" and it will be incumbent on the Senate committee to release the information on the assassination plots. But he added: "The manner, the timing, the method is yet to be determined." Church, an Idaho Democrat, said President Ford's decision to withhold from the public for now the assassination material gathered by the Rockefeller Commission demonstrates that the executive branch cannot investigate itself. "I believe it can fairly be said that in this case the buck stops at the Select Senate committee," he declared.

Howard Lee To Need $100,000

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The black mayor of Chapel Hill, Howard Lee, who plans to seek Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor next year, will try to raise at least $100,000 by September to finance his campaign. Lee said in an interview Monday before speaking to the Charlotte Women's Political Caucus that he plans to employ an agency next month to begin fund raising, organizing and polling. He also said he hopes that former Gov. Terry Sanford will win the Democratic nomination for president. But Lee said that if he is a candidate himself, he wouldn't endorse Sanford, or candidates for any office. Lee said endorsements wouldn't be in the best interest of his campaign, or theirs.

Problem For Newlyweds

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Oliver and Cynthia Smith were married two weeks ago and things seemed quite normal until last Friday when several trucks from an Indianapolis lumber company pulled up to their home with a load of lumber, 60 tons of sand and 60 tons of pea gravel, supposedly for home improvements.

The dumfounded Smiths sent the trucks away still loaded. Then the phone began to ring. First it was a woman verifying an order for a 34-by-20-by-10 deep swimming pool that was nearly as large as their yard, then another woman asking if they had ordered a central air conditioning system.

Saturday, more trucks arrived—with 1,000 pounds of potatoes, 1,000 pounds of tomatoes, 10 cases of lettuce, 120 dozen eggs and 120 dozen doughnuts. Police were investigating the situation and Smith's only comment was "We've had a problem with deliveries."

Long Road To State Finals

By CHIF LAMBETH

Wednesday night!
That has been on the top of the Rose High Rampants minds for the last week-and-a-half as they have been preparing for the state 4-A baseball championship beginning Wednesday night at Harrington Field.

The Rampants returned home to meet Richmond County which had been beaten only once. That loss was in the Perry tournament by lowly Plymouth. Richmond got a run in the third but the Rampants got all they needed to dispose of Richmond in the fifth with a four-run rally. Kelly Heath pitched the victory.

Next came the long weekend at Laurinburg. After some bad breaks, the Rampants finally played Scotland and smashed the Scots, 10-3, as Heath picked up his second tournament win. Belton had to come in in the sixth as the fire got a little out of hand.

And now the last three months come down to Wednesday and Thursday night and maybe Friday night. The Rampants will host Charlotte's Harding High School in a best-of-three series which by some reports, should be a easy victim for the Rampants. Harding has won 14 games made to and lost six and could be tougher than it has been made to be.

The Rampants began their drive last March. They opened with a 8-0 win over Washington by a one-hitter by Mike Belton and Jimmy Averette but were upended by Kinston, 9-6. The next major stop was the Gaylord Perry Tournament which the Rampants won easily beating Rocky Mount, 12-0. But Rocky Mount came back in the conference games to beat the Rampants twice. That threw a obstacle in the Rampants' way.

Bertie was the spoiler and the Falcons surprised Rocky Mount one Friday afternoon while Rose was beating Northern Nash and the Rampants won their last two to claim the title.

In the first round of the playoffs, Rose spotted Wilmington Hoggard two runs in the first but batted back to tie the game in the third and won it in the sixth. In that game Wesley Deal and Belton combined to pitch a four-hit, 5-2 win. Deal got into trouble in the first but Belton put out the fire and eild the Vikings to just two hits the rest of the way.

over six in the sixth for a 12-10 lead. The Jaycees got one more in the sixth, but it wasn't enough.

The Daily Reflector moved within a half-game of league-leading Daniel Construction with a victory over the Moose last night in the Industrial Softball League.

Daniel is now 8-2 in the league while the Reflector is 8-3. The Moose fell off to 7-4.

In the opening game, Burroughs-Wellcome romped to a 15-5 win over Greenville Utilities. B-W pushed over six runs in the first inning and added one in the second. Seven more crossed in the third, and they closed out with one in the fifth.

The Reflector took a 12-8 win over the Moose in the second game. The Reflector pushed over four in the first inning and added seven in the third. They scored one more in the fourth.

The Moose got three in the fifth with B. Campier homering, and added two in the sixth and three in the seventh with B. Puryear homering.

East Carolina University scored in each of the first four innings last night and snapped their two-game losing streak in the Summer Collegiate League, downing Louisville, 7-3.

The Bucs thus won their first game of the year, giving them a 1-2 mark on the year. Louisville is now 0-1.

The Bucs pushed over one each in the first two innings, then added two in the third and three in the fourth. Louisville clicked with one each in the third, fourth and ninth frames.

East Carolina had good fielding in the game, not committing an error. They also pulled off two more double plays, bringing their total to six in three games.

The Bucs were in charge all the way, never trailing. The closest Louisville came after the Pirates edged out to a 2-0 lead was when they nipped it back to 2-1.

Bob Feeney went all the way to collect the victory. He gave up 11 hits, but four of them came in the final inning—and none of those four got out of the infield.

It was Feeney's first victory against one defeat. East Carolina pushed over its first run in the opening inning. Steve Bryant's grounder to short got Geoff Beaton, who had walked, but the double-play ball was not in time. Bryant then stole second and moved to third on a balk after Robert Brinkley had walked. Alan Smith reached on an error, allowing Bryant to score for a 1-0 lead.

The Bucs got another run in the second. Beaton reached on an infield hit with two away. Bryant followed with another single. Brinkley then singled to right, driving in Beaton for a 2-0 lead.

The Bucs picked up two more in the bottom of the third. Glenn Card led off with a single and moved up on a wild pitch. Addison Bass walked and both moved up on a passed ball. Howard McCullough then singled to center, scoring both Card and Bass.

The final three Pirate runs all came in the fourth. Smith led off and was hit by a pitch. Card singled to center and Bass walked to load them up. McCullough hit a sacrifice fly to score Smith and move Bass to third. Pete Paradossi singled, driving in Card. Beaton then was safe on an error, scoring Bass.

The Bucs had only one more threat the rest of the way, when McCullough walked and Paradossi singled in the sixth. Louisville had a minor threat in the second, putting a man on second with two down.

Then, in the third, the Hurricanes got a run. Gene Sessions singled to short and stole second. Craig Weisner walked and Randy Warrick singled, loading them up. Charles Stevens singled to right, scoring Sessions, but a double play got the Bucs out of further trouble.

The fourth saw Louisville get another run. That came on a two-out, solo home run by Jeff Petty.

A double play got the Bucs out of another scoring situation in the sixth with a walk and a single put men in scoring position. The eighth also saw a threat on a single and a walk.

Louisburg to its last run in the ninth. With two down, Sessions singled off Feeney's leg. Tommy Warrick then beat out a bouncer back to the mound and Weisner singled to first, beating that one out, loading the bases. Randy Warrick then singled to deep short, scoring Sessions, but a fly ball then ended the rally and the game.

The Pirates return to action Wednesday night, traveling to meet UNC-Wilmington. A home game with Wilmington on Friday will not be played if the State 4-A playoffs are still underway.

Ayden-Grifton Stays Unbeaten

LITTLEFIELD—Ayden-Grifton nipped Farmville, 3-1, in a Senior Babe Ruth League game last night.

The victory kept Ayden-Grifton atop the Senior Babe Ruth League standings with a 3-0 record. Farmville fell to 0-2 with the defeat.

Ayden-Grifton pushed over two runs in the second inning to take the lead. Steve Noble walked and Chris Riggs doubled, driving him in. Sammy Whitehurst walked. Riggs, who had moved to third on a relay, then came home when the catcher's throw back to the pitcher following a pitch was errored.

The third saw Ayden-Grifton pick up its other run. Al Butts walked and Ricky Haywood singled. Randy Nelson then walked to load the bases. Noble grounded out, but it allowed Butts to score.

The lone Farmville run came over in the fifth inning. Oakley walked and moved around to third on two outs. He scored when Cobb reached on an error. Farmville 000 010 0-1 4 1

Games Delayed

The Greenville Babe Ruth League and the Greenville Recreation Department's softball leagues will suspend play for the balance of the State 4-A baseball Tournament, which opens here Wednesday at Harrington Field.

In order that fans may attend the Rose-Harding games on Wednesday and Thursday, there will be no play in the Babe Ruth, the Prep Babe Ruth, the Industrial, the City, the Church and the Women's Softball Leagues.

Should the series continue to Friday, those games would also be postponed. If the series is over by then, the schedule would resume with the games set for that day.

Parker Destroys Reds As He Leads Buc Win

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

There was a time when Dave Parker dreamed about playing for Cincinnati. Then he grew up and left town. A lot of the Reds' fans probably wish he had never come back.

"I lived a street over from old Crosley Field and I was always over at the ballpark. I always wanted to be a ballplayer," Parker said after belting a three-run homer that wrapped up a five-run first inning and started the Pittsburgh Pirates on the way to a 9-2 pounding of the Reds.

In Monday night's other National League game, Los Angeles silenced Montreal 4-0. St. Louis beat Atlanta 5-4, Chicago tripped Houston 4-3 in 10 innings, San Francisco overhauled New York 5-4 and San Diego defeated Philadelphia 8-3.

The Bucs threw a wrench into the Machine before the 22-555 fans had even settled back into their seats ... and long before Fred Norman had a chance to settle down on the mound for the Reds. Norman had been almost invincible at Riverfront. This time the arm cracked wide open.

Rennie Stennett singled, Al Oliver singled, Willie Stargell walked, Richie Zisk ripped a two-run single and Parker unloaded his eighth homer of the year.

So much for Mr. Norman. Rawly Eastwick took over and it seemed the Buc barrage was over.

It was, until the fourth inning.

Then Stennett singled, Oliver singled, Willie Stargell rapped his ninth homer of the season and Zisk topped things off with his third homer.

Cubs 4, Astros 3

The Astrodome nearly suffered a first, mainly a rainout. Instead, Houston suffered through its ninth straight defeat, the result of Jerry Morales' tie-breaking double in the 10th-inning for the Cubs.

The game was delayed 54 minutes by a torrential downpour that flooded roads around the indoor stadium, causing both fans and players to be late, and knocking out communications at the ballpark.

Dodgers 4, Expos 0

Andy Messersmith said all along that all the Dodgers needed to get going again was home cooking. Against the Expos, Messersmith was cooking with gas, striking out 12 Expos en route to a four-hitter and his second straight shutout.

Cards 5, Braves 4

Ted Simmons ruined Blue Moon Odum's debut with the Braves by ripping a tie-breaking two-run homer in the fifth inning that boosted the Cardinals past Atlanta.

Giants 5, Mets 3

San Francisco, trailing New York 4-1 in the bottom of the ninth, tied the game with three runs, then Bruce Miller greeted reliever Bob Apodaca with a game-winning single.

Padres 8, Phillies 5

John Grubb and Enzo Hernandez each drove in two runs to push the Padres past the Phillies. Grubb drove in his runs with two doubles and Hernandez had four of San Diego's 14 hits.

Mix-Ups Didn't Matter In Wins

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The Minnesota Twins had their batting order mixed up while the Texas Rangers had their schedules mixed up Monday night. It didn't really matter, though. Both teams won anyway.

Danny Thompson and Dan Ford batted out of order for the first nine innings of Minnesota's 11-10 triumph over the Cleveland Indians because Twins Manager Frank Quilici gave the public address announcer a different lineup card than he gave home plate umpire Lou DiMuro.

Nobody on the playing field noticed the error until the ninth inning, when some exasperated Cleveland fans began yelling to DiMuro.

Meanwhile, the Rangers mistook their game with Boston for batting practice, crashing four home runs — giving them seven in two games — in a 12-4 rout of the Red Sox.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland trimmed Baltimore 4-3 in 15 innings, Kansas City topped Detroit 5-2, Milwaukee nipped Chicago 1-0 and California defeated New York 5-3.

"I just followed the little red-headed guy like I've been doing for the past week and never thought anything about it," said Thompson, who should have preceded Ford to the batter's box at Cleveland. He finally did, in the 11th inning, and drove in Eric Soderholm with the winning run.

In Boston, the battle-weary Texas bats were anything but tired despite a 17-inning game Sunday in the nightcap of a doubleheader and a 12-inning game Saturday.

Jim Sundberg blasted a grand slam homer in the second inning, red-hot Jeff Burroughs hit his 14th of the season and fifth of his last six games in the third, then Toby Harrah and Jim Spencer added two-run shots in the eighth to complete the rout.

The Red Sox were not to be denied their share of the power display. Their runs came on Bernie Carbo's second career grand slam.

A's 4, Orioles 3

Vida Blue, not one to waste effort, came out of the bullpen in the 15th inning, threw one pitch and preserved the Oakland triumph. Joe Rudi's single had chased home Bill North with the winning run minutes earlier.

Royals 5, Tigers 2

Amos Otis hit a two-run, inside-the-park home run in the eighth inning to highlight Kansas City's victory over Detroit.

"That's the hardest I've run in a long time," offered Otis, who has tried for the circuit four times in the past and been thrown out at the plate each time.

Veteran Lindy McDaniel picked up the victory with five innings of four-hit relief.

Brewers 1, White Sox 0

Darrel Porter's home run in the ninth inning provided Milwaukee's run. In Sunday's game, Porter had driven in all four of the Brewers' runs.

Three Milwaukee pitchers held the White Sox to three hits.

Angels 5, Yankees 3

Pinch-hitter Bruce Bochte scored Dave Collins with a ninth-inning single to carry California past Catfish Hunter and the Yankees, ending New York's eight-game winning streak.

HIS SECRET WEAPON

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — Fifteen minutes after nibbling on a peanut butter and jelly sandwich, veteran golfer Al Geiberger sank a birdie putt on the first playoff hole and earned $40,000 in the Tournament of Champions here. The putt cost Gary Player more than $16,000 since he had to settle for second place.

The T of C win moved Geiberger into fourth place in 1975 PGA tour earnings with $106,545. Geiberger has a low blood sugar condition and uses much energy in four-hour golf rounds. So he often stacks peanut butter sandwiches in his golf bag. The tall blond calls them his "secret weapon."

Hurler HAD To Sell His Coach

By DAN EVEN
AP Sports Writer

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Oklahoma's Marty Kunkler is a pitcher, but he should be a salesman.

"I had to talk Coach 'Enos' Semore into letting me throw tonight," said the sophomore left-hander after tossing a five-hitter to keep the Sooners in the College World Series with a 7-0 victory over Eastern Michigan.

The inside information plus a 10-hit attack left Oklahoma one of four teams in the running for the title in the double-elimination tournament that started with eight.

Second-rated Texas survived a belated rally by Seton Hall to oust the Pirates 12-10 in the night's other elimination-round game.

The tournament's two unbeaten — Arizona State, 60-11, and South Carolina, 49-4 — clash Tuesday night.

Pairings for Wednesday night find Texas, 54-6, going against South Carolina and Oklahoma, 52-9, matched against Arizona State.

Kunkler, who is 11-0 on the season, was in control all the way. Only one Eastern Michigan runner advanced as far as third base. He struck out eight.

Terry Bogener singled in the Sooners' first run and they added four more in the third on a single by Jacky Parish, a fielder's choice, a double steal and an error.

The Seton Hall-Texas game was strange.

The losers scored an unearned run in the top of the first, but Texas sent 15 men to the plate in the bottom of the inning and scored 10 runs.

It appeared the Pirates were going to be put very far out to sea.

But with Ricky Cerone driving in three runs and the Texas defense and pitching floundering, Seton Hall closed to 11-9 in the sixth. Terry Ray, making his third appearance in as many Longhorn games, came on to pitch out of the bases-loaded jam in the sixth and surrendered only a solo homer in the rest of the way.

Mike Anderson, with a triple and two singles, and Keith Moreland, with a double, two singles and four runs batted in, led Texas.

Hornets On TV

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—All 10 away games of the Charlotte Hornets of the World Football League will be shown on television in the Carolinas and Georgia this fall.

Hornets President Upton Bell announced Tuesday that Turner Communications Corp. had contracted to carry them on seven TV stations. Turner operates in Charlotte, Greensboro-High-Point-Winston-Salem, Raleigh-Durham, and Greenville-Washington-New Bern, N.C.; Columbia and Charleston, S.C., and Atlanta.

Six of the games will be played on Saturday night, including the first game July 26 against San Antonio; three will be on Sunday afternoon, and one on Tuesday night.

The Hornets also announced the signing of two assistant coaches, who will work with the defense. They are Lindy Infante, now at Memphis State University, and Herb Paterra of Wyoming, formerly of Michigan State. Bell said head coach Bob Gibson expects to announce his fourth and final assistant soon. Jim Vecchiarella was hired earlier.

Labor Board Latest To Charge Grid League

By CRAIG AMMERMAN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The tangled legal mess which engulfs the National Football League is headed for yet another courtroom, this time on a government agency's complaint that the league has not acted right in some of its dealings with the players' union.

Already besieged by a pair of federal suits challenging its rules which bind a player to one team and a suit brought by former players, the NFL now is in a fourth court.

The latest charges, 15 of them, were issued Monday in a complaint filed by the National Labor Relations Board. It alleges, among other things, that the NFL instituted a 15-minute overtime period and a punt rule without consulting the players, that it withheld information about such things as salaries and injuries and that four union officials were cut from their teams because of union activity.

If that isn't enough to distract a fan from the game, consider this:

—The Joe Kapp case, in which a federal judge has ruled the Rozelle Rule and portions of the college draft to be illegal, now goes to a jury trial to determine damages owed Kapp, in late July or August.

—Now on trial in a Minneapolis federal court is a suit brought by former player John Mackey, in which the Rozelle Rule and other NFL restrictions binding a player to one team are challenged.

—Scheduled to begin July 7 in Providence, R.I., is a suit brought against the league and the union by retired players who are seeking a piece of the league pension plan.

With all that going on, and with a hearing on the NLRB case now scheduled for July 22 in New York, rookies are to be reporting to NFL training camps July 9 and veterans on July 15. All the while, last summer's strike which resulted in no labor contract still has not resulted in an agreement between the players and the owners.

In filing the complaint, the NLRB rejected 17 other charges which the union had filed against the league. Most important among those was an allegation that the NFL had failed to bargain in good faith.

But it did carry forth a charge about the league making changes such as sudden death overtime outside of collective bargaining, and an allegation that union officials Bill Curry, Kermit Alexander, Tom Keating and Ken Reaves were cut or traded because of union activity.

Also carried forth is a charge that Miami told players Manny Fernandez and Bill Stanfill, because "of their participation in the strike," to return bonus money "paid for signing a standard player contract." Also, accusations that the Kansas City, St. Louis and Dallas franchises placed meetings between the union and non-striking players under surveillance, and that Houston threatened its employees with fines and suspensions and other reprisals for union activity.

The complaint said as a result of these actions, the NFL and its clubs had "refused to bargain collectively and are refusing to bargain collectively" and are "thereby engaged ... in unfair labor practices."

NLRB Regional Director Sidney Danielson, who issued the complaint, gave the NFL Management Council 10 days to answer the complaint. He set a July 22 hearing date before an administrative law judge.

Warren Beatty A Money Maker

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Warren Beatty's office is the penthouse of the Beverly Wilshire Hotel, a cluttered apartment with sundeck from which he can gaze down at the community that was portrayed in his movie "Shampoo."

On a recent afternoon Beatty stretched out in the smog-strained sunshine and talked about his latest assault on public complacency.

In his 15-year film career, Beatty has acted in 14 movies and produced two. The first of his productions was the 1967 "Bonnie and Clyde," which aroused a storm of controversy and a bundle of money.

"I made the picture for $1.9 million and to date it has earned about $35 million," said the producer-star.

"I'm hoping it will climb to $40 million. Even though it has already been on television, it is still being played in theaters."

His second production is this year's "Shampoo," which is drawing the same reaction in terms of talk and money.

"Shampoo" cost $2.5 million below-the-line," he said, referring to actual production expense; talent costs probably added $1.5 million.

"The figures Columbia has been giving me are unbelievable. They're talking about maybe $35 million domestic and $15 million foreign. I don't expect the foreign reception to be as big as here, although the picture has opened well in London and is building every week."

Beatty is well aware that many people are shocked by the raw sex and blunt language of "Shampoo."

"Older people are especially upset by the picture," he observed. "Younger people aren't. The critics also had trouble dealing with 'Shampoo' and some dismissed it as a porno-flick. But it has won more Establishment approval than did 'Bonnie and Clyde.' "Both pictures break the rules. Whenever you force a new category on the critics, the critics are confused."

"A new category looks like a mistake. Thus a lot of reviewers thought it was wrong to mix up comedy with violence in 'Bonnie and Clyde.' But that was the idea behind the picture: to illustrate the casualizing of violence."

"Shampoo" depicts the collapse of the nuclear family. Younger people are alerted to that theme; older people don't want to be alerted to it."

Beatty's next project: a film biography of John Reed, the American Communist who died in Russia. Beatty intends to direct as well as produce and star.

'Father' Is Honor Title

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The word "father," in addition to its use on Father's Day, is often a title of honor given to men famous in various fields of human activity. Among the best known of these, reports Hallmark Cards researcher Sally Hopkins, is Geoffrey Chaucer (1340-1400), the Father of English Poetry; Hippocrates (460-377 B.C.), the Greek physician known as the Father of Medicine, and James Madison (1751-1836), America's fourth President and Father of the Constitution.

Other famous "fathers" include Izaak Walton (1593-1683), author of "The Compleat Angler" and Father of Sport Fishing; the classic writer Homer, Father of Epic Poetry; Samuel Adams (1722-1803), often called the Father of America; Aristophanes (445-385 B.C.), Greek playwright who is the acknowledged Father of Comedy, and William Caxton, known as the Father of Printing after his introduction of the printing press in England in 1476.

The familiar title "Father of His Country" bestowed upon President George Washington was also conferred on earlier great leaders. According to Miss Hopkins, Cicero, Julius Caesar and the Emperor Augustus were all called "father" of their country by Romans.

Common Cause Director Here

Nancy Roberts, N. C. executive director of Common Cause, will be in Greenville to meet with First Congressional District Common Cause members Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church.

Ms. Roberts of Raleigh and Ted Most, of Kinston, program action committee member of Congressional District I, will speak on "Common Cause in North Carolina."

Disc Jockey Trend Aids Discotheques' Boom

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer
The pulsating beat of recorded music is replacing live entertainment at an increasing number of the nation's night spots. Radio stations in several major cities have adopted a disco format in their programming. And recording stars who are the heavy favorites of dancers are going on promotional tours.

It is the rhythmic sound of jingling coins in a recession era as much as the hot beat that has contributed to the revival of dancing until dawn on floors of stone and steel under shattering strobe lights.

Club owners have found it cheaper to hire one good disc jockey instead of a bunch of live entertainers. Top hits and new releases are free from record companies. In some clubs, such as the Sound Machine in Los Angeles, drinks are less than $2.

Some observers of the frantic activity say people are trying to dance their money problems away. And those who can't afford the cover charge now have disco music piped through their stereos at home. Radio stations in New York, Los Angeles, Cleveland, Philadelphia and Washington play hits such as "El Bimbo" and "The Hustle" for up to five hours every night.

Discotheques were imported from France about 10 years ago. Back then limousines packed with jet setters jammed the streets in front of those first discotheques. Arthur's in New York was probably the most famous.

The current discotheque revival is more egalitarian than before. Straights and gays, black and white, the young and the young at heart join together in thousands of clubs across the nation, bouncing to that distinctive disco beat.

Mr. Laff's in New York, formerly a singles bar, became a discotheque in 1972 when the pub scene got overcrowded. Owner Phil Linz said business was booming better than ever.

Last year, Faces in Chicago featured live entertainment. Now, the club is a private discotheque with more than 2,000 members. Manager Tom Thillens said he installed $75,000 worth of sound and lighting equipment including mirrors and a stainless steel dance floor with lights that pulse to the music.

"It was tough finding decent singing groups all the time," said Thillens. "This way you have more control over the entertainment and equity left over. And I think people have more fun. The live music was only a distraction. People want to hear what's new and by the time the groups got to the music it was old."

Concern about reputable customers has kept New York's Le Club, a private discotheque, in business for 14 years. "The minute you start letting anybody in, it's the kiss of death," said director Patrick Shields. "We like people who are socially on the up and are visibly attractive — or at least, not obtrusively unattractive."

The membership is closed at just under 1,000 people who pay $1,000 entry fee plus $175 annual dues.

A 'New Audubon' Is Walking Woodland

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A "New Audubon," attracted to the same climate and abundant wildlife as the famous 19th century naturalist, is trekking Louisiana's woodlands, creating another series of American bird paintings.

He's Richard Sloan, a blond and bearded artist with intense blue eyes who was acclaimed eight years ago by the director of the Field Museum of Chicago as "Today's Audubon." Limited edition prints of his work bring up to $400.

His task was commissioned by the Griggsville Wild Bird Society. It takes him into the forests of Louisiana and the tropical jungles of South and Central America.

John J. Audubon escaped bankrupt business deals in Pennsylvania in 1820 and nestled in Louisiana to begin his collection. Sloan ran last year from urbanization.

"We moved from Barrington, Ill., a suburb 40 miles northwest of Chicago," he said. "We'd become increasingly dissatisfied with the overcrowded conditions...the whole big city thing got to us."

He's just completed a 22x28-inch painting of the snow egret. Each takes from 10 days to six months.

"I have about 11 or 12 more to do. There are 50 birds in all — 29 state birds plus 21 others."

"However, my first love is wildlife in general, birds and animals. The bird thing has been going on for the past 12 years."

"I always try to see the bird in the wild first. I won't even paint one I haven't seen first hand. Then I take photographs and color notes. Sometimes I borrow bird skins from museums and study them. A good mount done by a first-class taxidermist can be useful, too."

The house he finished this year was built to let the outdoors in. Its den opens onto a deck with a wooded view. Off the master bedroom is a bath with see-through glass. "It doesn't work the other way, though," says his wife Arlene, who has taken some of the 5,000 color slides in his collection.

As a child, Sloan sketched the action as he listened to the Lone Ranger on the radio. Painting and drawing are "just things I've always wanted to do. No question about it."

CIA Drinan Files No Bargain

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — For $8.10, Rep. Robert F. Drinan got to see the files the FBI and the Central Intelligence Agency compiled on him.

They are a collection of newspaper clippings, official memoranda, and notices about speeches he has given before and after his election to Congress in 1970.

Drinan says the whole thing "is just ridiculous."

Drinan — the Massachusetts Democrat, Roman Catholic priest, attorney, former dean of the Boston College law school, and antiwar activist — obtained copies of the files under the Freedom of Information Act. It gives persons the right to see the files kept on them by government agencies. FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley said his agency received more than 1,000 requests for such files during April.

Drinan's 18-page CIA file included a document that he said in an interview Monday indicates the agency conducted illegal domestic spying. The CIA is prohibited by law from domestic spy work.

It is a review prepared by a CIA employee of a baccalaureate address Drinan gave May 21, 1973, at Sweet Briar College, in Sweet Briar, Va.

In addition to eight newspaper articles about Drinan's activities in Congress and comments made about him by a right-wing newsletter, the CIA files contain a Pathet Lao news agency dispatch about an antiwar speech the congressman delivered on the House floor last October.

The CIA files lack any reference to Drinan's three trips to Paris to meet North Vietnamese leaders or his interview with the current CIA director, William E. Colby, when Colby worked in Saigon.

"They're confused as to what they should do about people like us," Drinan said, trying to explain why his file lacked such references. "It's just a grab bag," he said. "If that's any indication of the way they operate, we're really in trouble."

The files also fail to mention a book he wrote about Vietnam. "Maybe they don't read books," Drinan said.

The FBI files on Drinan are more extensive than the CIA material on him. The FBI materials date back to 1958, when Drinan was dean of the Boston College law school and active in the civil rights movement.

In 81 pages, they contain references to lawyers' groups he worked with to protect civil liberties of Southern blacks and reports on antiwar speeches he gave.

They also include a newspaper story about his introduction of a resolution to impeach former President Richard M. Nixon. But most annoying to the congressman is a long memorandum written Nov. 4, 1970, the day after he was elected.

It details what Drinan calls the "perfectly legitimate" civil rights activities which he performed within the legal profession.

Appropriated funds pay for the record-keeping, but citizens seeking their files must pay 10 cents a page to cover photocopying costs.

Drinan was not billed by the CIA for the work, but the FBI asked him to pay for 81 pages at 10 cents a page. "It cost me $8.10 and I was taken," he said.

NOW A MUSEUM PIECE—The aircraft carrier Yorktown is towed out to sea past the twin towers of New York's World Trade Center and the spires of lower Manhattan Monday after the "Fighting Lady" of World War II was decommissioned at Bayonne, N.J. USS Yorktown Signed Over To South Carolina BAYONNE, N.J. (AP)—The Navy signed over a World War II aircraft carrier to South Carolina Lt. Gov. W. Brantley Harvey Jr. at a brief ceremony here.

Lt. Peter G. Claymore, officer in charge of the Navy's inactive Ship Facility at the Military Overseas Terminal here, said the U.S.S. Yorktown was towed from her berth Monday afternoon.

Two tugs will tow the Yorktown, known as "The Fighting Lady" in World War II, to Charleston, S.C., where she will be a feature of the Naval and Maritime Museum under construction at Patriots Point.

Claymore said the Yorktown is intact except for some ordnance and electronics gear.

Built in Newport News, Va., the Yorktown was commissioned April 15, 1943 and named for the carrier that had been sunk in the battle of Midway Island. Her first commander was Adm. Joseph J. "Jocko" Clark. The ship was decommissioned June 30, 1970, and was mothballed here a year later.

The Yorktown is a 990-foot Essex Class aircraft carrier, the principal battle carrier of World War II. The Essex is itself mothballed here, but will meet a less dignified end than the Yorktown. According to Claymore, the Essex is to be towed away next week and scrapped. The ships are worth about $1.5 million as scrap, he said.

After protracted negotiations, the Navy agreed to donate the Yorktown to the Charleston museum as long as it was used as an exhibit. The ship would again become Navy property should the museum decide to dispose of it.

Seagoing tugs Ocean Star and Ocean Prince of the Red Star Towing Co. of New York are expected to take four or five days to tow the Yorktown to Charleston, if the weather is good. The trip will cost $52,000.

Prolonged Audit For Soul City

RALEIGH (AP) — A federal audit of the Soul City project in Warren County will take longer than originally planned, the General Accounting Office has told U.S. Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C.

The GAO reported Monday that the volume of aid to the new town project meant the audit would take longer. Preliminary findings include $19 million in grants and loan guarantees to the project and $5 million in expenditures.

Fountain and U.S. Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., asked for the audit in March after a series of newspaper articles pointed out the lack of progress at the site. The GAO now says it will be finished in November.

Holshousers Out Of Mansion

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's Executive Mansion is no longer occupied by Gov. Jim Holshouser and his family.

A moving van pulled up to the massive Victorian house Monday and carted away the Holshousers' personal belongings.

The move was a temporary one for the Holshousers, whose lease on the mansion runs through January, 1977.

The mansion will undergo extensive renovations this summer. While they are being done, the Holshousers will live in a rented house in a residential neighborhood of Raleigh.

HARD WORK

NEW YORK (UPI) — A homemaker with no outside job spends more time in family-related tasks now than her counterpart did in the 1920s.

"Scientific American" says a survey shows she works 55 hours a week, compared with 52 weeks five decades ago.

4 ♠ Pass 5 ♠ Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

The opening lead is probably the single most important play in the game. If you get off to the wrong start, you may never be able to recover. Take a look at this hand from a European Championship match between Iceland and Poland.

The bidding shown is by the Polish North-South pair. South must have been wearing rose-colored glasses when he bid his hand. He could have contented himself with a bid of three spades at his third turn, and, in view of his jump to four spades, he certainly had nothing left in reserve to justify accepting his partner's slam invitation.

It was most likely from the bidding that declarer held the jack of spades, so West thought he was looking at two certain trump tricks. He therefore chose the "safe" lead of the jack of hearts, but he was soon disillusioned.

Declarer won the ace of hearts, ruffed a heart in dummy and played three rounds of diamonds, discarding his two clubs. Next, he ruffed a club, ruffed another heart in dummy and returned to his hand with another club ruff to ruff his remaining heart with dummy's last trump.

By now, declarer was down to A-K-J-8 of trumps, while West had been reduced to his four trumps. Declarer led a club from dummy and ruffed with the eight. West overruffed, but he now had to lead a trump into declarer's A-K-J and the defenders made no more tricks. Declarer just made his slam.

It is interesting to note that if West leads the king of clubs and continues the suit, even four spades can be defeated one trick. And even if West leads a trump, sacrificing a trick in that suit, the slam will go down because declarer will end up with a heart loser in addition to a trump.

Entrance To Prison Fire Hampered By Bicycles

By G. MICHAEL HARMON
Associated Press Writer
SANFORD, Fla. (AP) — Fire officials say efforts to rescue inmates from choking clouds of smoke in a fire at the Seminole County jail were hampered by more than 100 bicycles which blocked the rear entrance of the facility.

Eleven persons, including a guard who was making his second rescue trip into the smoke-filled jail, died of smoke inhalation in the blaze Monday, authorities said. Thirty-four others, including both prisoners and guards, were hospitalized.

Fire Chief George Harriett said the unclaimed bicycles were being stored at the rear entrance of the two-story building in preparation for a forthcoming auction.

Harriett also said guards who tried to unlock cells in the second-floor jail area were overcome by smoke and that gas-masked firemen had difficulty getting proper keys for the cells.

One of the dead was guard Robert Moore, a 40-year-old father of four. Friends said he must have known the odds were against him when he made a second dash into the building to rescue unconscious prisoners.

"He must have saved 10 or 15 and then went back for more," said Chief Deputy Duane Harrell. "He didn't even have an oxygen mask. He was a hell of a guy."

"I didn't see how he could try it," John Spolski, a spokesman for the sheriff's department, said of Moore's second rescue bid. "I tried to go up the stairs and couldn't make it past three or four steps because of the smoke."

Authorities also cited the rescue efforts of Elvis Webster, a prisoner who rushed back into the building after being rescued himself and helped drag out three of his comrades.

"I couldn't believe it," said a deputy. "He grabbed an air pack from a fireman, ran up the stairs and pulled three men out. He was great."

Harriett said the fire broke out in a mattress in a hospital cell and may have been started by a prisoner. He said it spread to a stack of other mattresses in an adjoining room and then to some paper and books in a nearby classroom cell.

Within moments, dense clouds of smoke filled the building, and from the outside inmates could clearly be heard banging on their cells and shouting for help.

Firemen were hampered by the limited access to the second floor — one narrow stairway and one elevator. It was more than an hour before all the inmates were brought out.

Turned Down The Prince

MONTREAL (AP) — Montreal secretary Vicki Simpson says she has mixed feelings about turning down Prince Charles' invitation to dance.

"I could die for having missed the chance of a lifetime to dance with a member of the royal family," said Miss Simpson, 26. "But Prince Charles is not really my kind of man."

She said she does not like men with a stilted style and who wear short hair greased back.

Miss Simpson and several friends went to the l'Escapade Restaurant at the Chateau Champlain Hotel last week for dining and dancing. She recognized the prince as soon as he entered, she said, and noted that he danced well.

As Miss Simpson was leaving about midnight, she recalled, the prince approached and asked: "Would you like to stay a little longer and dance with me?"

"No, thank you. I'm tired and I must go home now," she replied.

The prince was in Montreal during a courtesy visit of his ship, the Royal Navy helicopter carrier Hermes.
