House Kills Anti-ECU Move; Senate Okays Med Funds

RALEIGH (AP)—The House today overwhelmingly endorsed the expansion of the East Carolina University medical school.

This came as the House voted 70-42 to kill an amendment by Rep. Ben Tison, D-Mecklenburg, to strike a $28 million medical school appropriation from an $87 million capital improvements appropriation measure.

In offering his amendment, Tison noted that another Mecklenburg legislator, Republican Rep. Carolyn Mathis, is sponsoring a bill to submit the ECU appropriation to a vote of the people.

"Let's put this thing to the people of North Carolina to decide," said Tison.

Rep. Kitchin Josey, D-Halifax, the House majority leader, opposed the amendment, saying it would "deal an absolute death blow to the East Carolina University medical school." The House approved Josey's motion to table the amendment.

Without debate, the North Carolina Senate today gave swift approval to a $6.5 billion state budget for the 1975-77 budget.

Surprisingly, both measures sped through on a 44-0 vote and were sent by special messenger to the House.

The measure calls for 3.6 billion from the general fund and 68.2 million to provide capital improvements, including $32 million for expansion of the East Carolina University medical school.

The House gave tentative approval Thursday night to a $6.6 billion state budget. There are major differences in the House and Senate bills.

The two big money bills are expected to wind up in conference committees which could study them over the weekend.

The House bill appropriates $4.5 billion for continuing state government operations and $87 million for capital improvements.

One attempt was made in the Senate to amend the budget. Sen. Ollie Harris, D-Cleveland, proposed that $100,000 be taken from the operating funds for the ECU medical school and be used for salary adjustments for state employees. This was rejected 36-9.

Sen. Ralph Scott, D-Alamance, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, explained the two budget bills.

Scott took note that today is Friday, the 13th. He said, "Considering the tight money situation, it's easy to see why some folks have regarded this budget as an ill-fated budget from the world go. They profess to see black cats and spooks and all kinds of dark things in it.

"But I don't think we ought to look upon this day as Black Friday. I think we ought to look upon it as a case where we found a silver lining in some dark clouds."

Scott, terming the budget balanced and sound, said, "It is as forward looking as we could make it under the circumstances. And I am proud of it."

The budget approved by the House calls for $28 million for expansion of the ECU medical school.

The House approved the spending bills as reported from the Appropriations Committee without change.

Rep. Herbert Hyde, D-Buncombe, made the only effort to change the budget. He offered an amendment to eliminate state aid to private colleges except in cases when a student had been denied admission to a state school because of lack of facilities.

Although Hyde said the proposed state aid of $400 per

North Carolina student was unconstitutional, his amendment was quickly killed. It was tabled on a motion by Appropriations Committee chairman, Rep. Jimmy Love, D-Lee.

The House budget differs sharply from that prepared by the Senate, but representatives were told the upper chamber is likely to substitute the House version for its own when it reaches the Senate.

House Speaker James Green promised that any changes in the budget passed by the House would be approved by the full House Appropriations Committee.

"You can say this is one session when one or two people did not run into a corner and write a budget," Green told the House.

Both the House and Senate versions of the budget were cut sharply from spending proposals made by Gov. Jim Holshouser and the Advisory Budget Commission. The legislature was forced to make cuts to accommodate revenue shortfalls caused by poor economic conditions.

Love said his Appropriations Committee cut a total of $150 million from the expansion budget. Rep. Billy Watkins, D-Granville, chairman of the House Base Budget Committee, said his group cut the continuation budget by $90.8 million.

The House bill makes no provision for a pay raise for state employees. The budget commission had recommended a 5 percent pay boost this year.

Neither does the House budget call for increased tuition at state universities. The Senate version calls for a $50 increase for North Carolina residents and $100 for non-residents.

If the $28 million East Carolina capital improvement appropriation goes through unscathed, a total of $43 million would be available for expansion of the medical school. Previous legislatures appropriated $15 million to begin the expansion.

Energy Bill Slowly Losing Its Punch

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is continuing to vote on amendments to the energy tax bill, although its main features to encourage conservation already have been eliminated.

"We can't call it a major bill now," said Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., on Thursday although "it still has some worthwhile things in it."

Wright, who directed the original House Democratic energy task force in a search for alternatives to President Ford's proposals, spoke after proposals to tax automobiles with low gasoline efficiency were defeated.

The House, which resumes debate on the bill today, voted for auto fuel economy standards enforced by civil penalties after rejecting a tax on gas-guzzling autos.

Rep. Joseph L. Fisher, D-Va.,

proposed strengthening the gas-guzzler tax in the bill reported out by the Ways and Means Committee. His amendment was defeated 235 to 166.

We must "lean gently but firmly" on the industry to produce more efficient cars, especially since the House on Wednesday had rejected any gasoline tax increase for the same purpose, Fisher said.

Wright urged approval of the Fisher amendment so it couldn't be said that "we chickened out and refused to even bite the marshmallow."

Opponents of Fisher's amendment said it would lead to additional unemployment in the automobile industry.

"All the automobile industry needs is one more regulation — that's all," said Rep. Elford A. Cederberg, R-Mich. "If you want more unemployment, you'll get it if you adopt this kind of amendment."

After voting down Fisher's attempt to strengthen the gas-guzzler tax in the committee bill, the House voted 306 to 86 to eliminate the tax completely and instead establish civil penalties for poor fuel economy.

The civil penalties approach was proposed by Rep. Philip R. Sharp, D-Ind. Under Sharp's amendment, each automaker's average fuel economy for all of its auto production in a model year would be required to meet standards of 18.5 miles a gallon for 1978 models, 19.5 for 1979 ones, 20.5 for 1980 and ultimately 28 for 1985 models.

The Transportation Department would determine figures for 1981 through 1984.

Violations of the standards would subject the automaker to a civil penalty amounting to $50 per car produced in the model year times the number of miles per gallon by which the standard was missed.

The House also voted down efforts to delete two other provisions of the committee's bill.

One provision is to give Americans a $710 million tax break for insulating their homes. This would give a tax cut of up to $150 on the first $500 an individual spends for insulating a principal residence owned or rented by the person paying for the insulation. An attempt by Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind., to delete this feature was rejected, 281 to 108.

Another provision left in the bill would repeal the tax of roughly $3 a tire on radial tires. Backers of the feature said radial tires improve mileage by between 3 and 5 percent.

Agreement Between ECU, Pitt Memorial

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—East Carolina University officials have reached agreement with Pitt County Memorial Hospital to allow the ECU Medical School to use the county's new hospital for teaching purposes.

The plan could save about $8 million by eliminating the necessity for construction of a separate teaching hospital for the medical school. The county facility is already under construction.

East Carolina Chancellor Leo

Jenkins and other university officials reported the agreement Thursday to the UNC Board of Governors Planning Committee. The agreement calls for a 100-bed tower for the medical school to be added to the new county hospital at state expense.

The addition would cost an estimated $12.3 million, compared with about $20 million for a separate teaching hospital.

Funding for the medical school was expected to become an issue in the state House today. Opponents of the school planned to try to remove construction funds from the House appropriations bill, which won tentative approval Thursday night.

Another bill before the House would place the funding of the school before the voters of the state as a bond issue.

The medical school and the hospital failed to reach an agreement last fall to allow ECU to use the new facility. The failure of negotiations forced UNC President William Friday to recommend a separate 200-bed teaching hospital for the medical school.

The agreement has been approved by ECU and the Pitt County Board of Commissioners. It must still be okayed by the UNC Board of Governors and accreditation officials.

The expansion of the hospital must also be approved by the Department of Human Resources in order for it to be eligible for Medicare and Medicaid reimbursements. Public hearings would be required before such approval would be granted.

In other action Thursday, UNC President William Friday recommended a candidate for dean of the medical school to the board's personnel committee. The full board was expected to approve the appointment today, but the name could not be learned.

The position has been vacant since Dr. Wallace Wooles resigned last August.

Hathaway Sworn In

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stanley K. Hathaway, being sworn in as interior secretary, is committed to a balanced program of environmental preservation and resource development, President Ford said today.

In remarks prepared for the swearing-in ceremony at the Interior Department's headquarters, Ford praised Hathaway's record as governor of Wyoming and his administrative skills.

Hathaway, during his Senate confirmation hearings, was criticized by environmental groups for allegedly ignoring ecological considerations during his eight years as governor of Wyoming.

Ford said, "Gov. Hathaway has assured me that as secretary of the interior, his highest commitment is to a balanced program of the preservation of our environmental heritage, the wise management of our great natural resources, and the support of our national energy goals."

The President continued: "And I have assured him that I wouldn't want it any other way."

Some Doubts About Murders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the House intelligence committee say they were told sketchy details of CIA involvement in an assassination plot against the late Dominican Republic President Rafael Trujillo, but some members were uncertain whether that was the plot that ultimately led to the dictator's murder.

Only one of five members interviewed said Thursday that a very brief report to the panel last week would support a statement by Rep. James V. Stanton, D-Ohio, that the CIA was involved in the successful assassination of a foreign leader.

Rep. Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., contending that what the panel was told about the 1961 Trujillo assassination would support Stanton's statement, said Trujillo's killing "could be traced to actions that were taken by the CIA."

He declined to give details, and Stanton refused to say whether he knows more than the committee was told in a secret session last week or whether he in fact is referring to the Trujillo assassination.

Trujillo, a long-time dictator of the Dominican Republic, was shot down by assassins as he drove outside Santo Domingo.

Dr. William Edward Laupus has been appointed as Dean of the East Carolina University School of Medicine.

The appointment was made by virtue of action taken by the University of North Carolina Board of Governors today, ECU Chancellor Leo Jenkins said early this afternoon.

An Indiana native, the 54-year-old Laupus has for the past 12 years been professor and chairman of the Department of Pediatrics at the Medical College of Virginia (MCV) in Richmond.

He received his undergraduate degree from Yale University and won his medical degree from the Yale University School of Medicine in 1945.

Dr. Jenkins said, "Dr. Laupus is not only a distinguished member of his profession, but also is recognized as an outstanding medical educator and administrator. We sincerely believe that the selection committee and all those who have been involved in the careful and thorough search are to be congratulated and commended."

Early in his career, according to Dr. Jenkins, "Dr. Laupus was cited for exceptional experience in Ophthalmology of small infants and young children while engaged in research in Retrolental Fibroplasia at New York Hospital, Cornell Medical Center." The new dean also has special experience in Neonatology and pediatric cardiology.

Dr. Laupus interned and completed his residency at New York Hospital, Cornell Medical Center, then served as an instructor at the Cornell University School of Medicine from 1950 until 1952.

Dr. Laupus is president-elect of the American Board of Pediatrics and has been an official examiner of the board since 1966.

The new ECU medical school dean has also authored or co-authored more than a score of papers and book chapters during his career.

He is married and has four children.

Dr. Laupus' appointment as dean of the medical school at ECU is effective July 1, according to Dr. Jenkins.

The selection process for the dean began with the formation of a search committee more than a year ago.

Communications Grant Awarded

The Region Q Emergency Medical Services Council has been awarded a $61,407 grant to complete a basic radio communications system in the five-county Mid-East Commission planning region.

The $61,407 grant from the State's Office of Emergency Medical Services will be matched with $20,469 in local funds to provide the $81,876 needed to complete the basic system for Pitt, Beaufort, Martin, Bertie and Hertford Counties.

Stuart Savage of Greenville, chairman of the regional EMS council said the completed system will link the seven hospitals, 24 rescue squads and five ambulance services as well as central dispatch points in each county, into a common system.

Contracts have already been awarded to the General Electric Company for the first phase of implementation of the system. According to Savage, the regional EMS council has contracted with GE to provide for some $75,000 worth of communications equipment for the region.

Included in that project — funded in part by a state grant of just over $24,000 awarded to the regional EMS council by the state earlier — are five base stations to be installed in hospitals within the region and 23 mobile radios.

Pitt's share of that contract amounts to $8,351, with $3,429 coming from the EMS grant, and includes a new base station for Pitt Memorial Hospital, as well as a new mobile radio for the Grifton Rescue Squad.

Pitt, under the latest grant, will receive about $39,050 worth of communications hardware, — including 17 multi-channel radios to replace and up-date single channel units now in operation; another base station to establish central dispatch capability; and 30 pager-monitors designed to improve notification and response times of rescue squads.

The county's share of the cost will be about $9,800.

Other county's shares of the project include: Martin, $12,825; Beaufort, $3,250; Bertie, $17,500 and Hertford, $9,250.

Installation of the equipment hopefully will be completed within 180 days and will make the region conform to the state-wide hospital-rescue communications system.

Thomas M. Harmelink, deputy chief of the Office of Emergency Medical Services said in notifying the regional council of the award, "The greatest factor in the success of this application was that it demonstrated a truly regional approach to the development of an EMS system."

The Mid-East EMS Council was formed just over a year ago in an effort to improve emergency medical care for the residents of the five-county area.

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day.

HOTLINE APPEAL

HEARING AID BANK

Persons having hearing aids not in use are asked to donate them to a newly formed hearing aid bank. Mike Ernest of Vocational Rehabilitation said the bank is a non-profit organization, so any donations to it will be tax-deductible.

The purpose of the bank, he said, is to help persons who cannot afford to pay regular prices for the aids and who are not eligible for full assistance, to receive them at a reduced rate. Small fees will be charged to cover the cost of medical examinations, hearing tests, earmolds, and batteries. Anyone wishing to donate or needing more information may call Debbie Ingram at the Pitt County Department of Social Services, 758-2167, Ernest said.

REBATE WHEN?

Have all the income tax rebate checks been mailed? I haven't received one. Who should I contact about this? H. M.

The rebate checks are still being mailed out, according to Edith Harrington of the Internal Revenue Service. However, if you filed your return in February or March and haven't received any correspondence requesting additional information, you should have received your check by now. If you need help in this area, call the IRS at 752-6218.

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

CEMETERY KNOWN

J.T. Lang of Farmville answered Hotline's Tuesday appeal about the whereabouts of a Ward Cemetery on the Little Contentnea Creek. He said it is located on the B.F. Lewis Farm northwest of Farmville and that he will be glad to give the appellant any information he can about it or even take him there if he likes. This generous offer has been relayed to the appellant by Hotline.

Emily Post Etiquette Updated

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In 1922 it was called "The Blue Book of Social Usage" and it reflected a world of white gloves, afternoon teas, chaperones, butler-staffed houses and formal rules of etiquette laid down by its author, Emily Post.

Today, in its 13th revision and still bound in blue, it's called "The New Emily Post's Etiquette" and its current author, Elizabeth L. Post, discusses wedding attire for pregnant brides and birth announcements from unwed parents.

"Emily Post would have been shocked, as would almost anyone who lived through the Victorian Age," admits her granddaughter-in-law, who has revised the book twice before — the last time in 1969. "But I also know she realized etiquette had to change as times change."

The present Mrs. Post isn't always happy about the changes, she admitted in an interview. "There's no question, though, that when something is widely done you have to consider it more seriously. I don't always approve, but manners must keep up with lifestyles."

Thus she grudgingly okays the use of Ms., which "serves a useful purpose in business," though she doesn't like it socially. "I don't see why women are anxious to hide their marital status in social situations," she says. "In fact, I would like to see men have a term to establish whether or not they're married, rather than eradicate the designations for women. It's helpful."

As for how to refer to a "roommate" of the opposite sex, she thinks "covenant" is the most indicative word she has heard used. But when it comes to introductions, she suggests saying "John's friend" to the older generation and "the girl he's sharing an apartment with" to a peer.

When the roommates come home for an overnight visit, everybody has a right to stick to his own standards and what is right in his own home, Mrs. Post believes. "If you have a good relationship your children will know how you feel and won't embarrass you."

"There's no reason an unwed mother shouldn't have a baby shower," says the author. "though I wouldn't make a big production of it. Many girls are proud and happy and want their babies and if they feel that way there's no reason they shouldn't send announcements if they wish. I try not to get into the moral issues but talk about how to cope."

Pointing out that the women's liberation movement has strongly affected manners, Mrs. Post declares she's all for going Dutch with someone you go out with often, though she still thinks the man should pay the first time he asks a woman out.

Mrs. Post, who is author of several books on etiquette and frequently lectures on the subject, also writes a nationally syndicated column. The new edition of the etiquette book, she says, reflects areas of broadest interest as indicated by letters to the column.

"The subject of weddings draws the most mail," she reports. "Even if a girl has been living with a man she wants a lovely wedding. It is still a big day in the life of a mother and daughter."

"A large percentage of letters deal with divorce problems — people who are divorced or whose parents are divorced — and the question of who should be invited to the wedding or give the bride away," she continues. "It is very difficult. All I can do is to come to an answer that will make the best situation for the most people. You can't establish rules where relationships vary so much."

When she isn't dealing with matters of etiquette the 55-year-old "Libby" Post indulges in her favorite sport, fishing, or her hobbies of traveling, gardening, cooking and painting.

She lives in Waterbury Center, Vt., with her husband, William G. Post, who was Emily Post's only grandson and who is director of the Emily Post Institute. They have four grown children.

Although she was "very nervous" about her initial meeting with the famous first lady of etiquette, she recalls of Emily Post, who died in 1960, "Grand-mama was a very gracious lady, had a wonderful sense of humor and was a very warm person. I like to think she would have been happy to know I would take over her work."

("The New Emily Post's Etiquette" is published by Funk & Wagnalls.)

Convention Delegates Are Named At Meet

Convention delegates were named at the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary last week. The convention will be held June 26-29 in Winston-Salem.

Named were Mrs. Sarah J. Ashton, Mrs. Betty A. Levey, Mrs. Etta Gill, Mrs. Frances Gwynn and Miss Margaret Register. Junior members Tammy and Paige Levey will be color bearers at the opening session.

Mrs. Gwynn will be installed as district president. Mrs. Levey presented awards to the poster winners including: Theresa Powell, first place; Catherine Harper, second; Mark Grossnickle, third; Lynette Keller, president's award; Robin Jones, chairman's award; and Theresa Holly and Cynthia Buck, junior awards.

Mrs. Charles Dickens, Mrs. Cynthia McAllister and Mrs. Gwynn were given certificates of appreciation by Mrs. Levey. All volunteers and members of the auxiliary who assisted with Poppy Day were given certificates of appreciation by the president and the poppy chairman, Mrs. Levey.

Members who served on the committee for Memorial Day services were Mrs. Frances Strawn, Mrs. Jackie Goodson, Mrs. Martha Forrest, Miss Register, Mrs. Gill and Mrs. Ashton.

Several members attended a luncheon in Tarboro May 21 given in honor of the national president. Those attending were Mrs. Gill, Mrs. Ashton, Mrs. Mayo Rogers, Mrs. Mae Fleming, Miss Annie Turner and a guest, Mrs. Alice Teel.

Mrs. Ashton presided at the meeting and the devotional was given by Mrs. Faye Adams. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ashton and Mrs. Levey.

His Was A Case Of Bad Judgment

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband was recently the master of ceremonies at a banquet that about 300 people attended. Many of the town's leading citizens were there.

Well, my husband stood up there and told one dirty joke after another. (He never told me those jokes at home.) Some in the audience laughed, but I noticed the looks on the faces of some of the others, and they seemed shocked and somewhat disgusted. I was embarrassed, to say the least, and could hardly hold up my head.

Afterward, when I went to the powder room, none of the women there even spoke to me.

Abby, why would an educated man like my husband get up before a group of men and women, and tell filthy jokes? I can't have you sending your reply to the house since my husband gets the mail first and I don't want him to know I wrote to you.

ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: Your husband probably thought he was being entertaining. It was simply a case of bad judgment. Let him know that you were disappointed in him. He may learn from it.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother. She is usually a very sweet and considerate person, but when we take her to the movies, she hoots and howls and talks out loud. This is not only annoying to the other people in the theater, it is also very embarrassing for my husband and children.

We really love Mums and wouldn't hurt her feelings for the world, but taking her to a movie is a hassle. Please give us any suggestions you might have since Mums is coming again soon and she loves to go to the movies.

HER DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Hooting and howling during the funny parts would normally distract no one, but if Mums is the only one who thinks a sequence is funny, her problem may be bigger than yours.

Talking out loud is unfair to others, so gently shush her when she gets carried away.

Or take her to drive-in movies. Only those in your car will be annoyed, which would eliminate the embarrassment.

DEAR ABBY: My mother has been dead for several years, but a friend of hers (now quite elderly) asked me if she could use my home to entertain 16 ladies at a birthday luncheon. She explained that her small apartment wasn't adequate.

I agreed gladly, but I did absolutely nothing for the party. The woman who gave the party provided the food and flowers, and even hired the help.

I later learned that one woman declined the invitation because she felt that since the party was being given at my home, the invitation should have come from ME!

This has bothered me. Should I have sent out the invitations?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: No. You were not the hostess. You only agreed to have the party in your home.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

CIA Reforms Should Be Followed

While the Rockefeller Commission found that the Central Intelligence Agency mainly complied with its charter, there were some unlawful domestic operations by the agency.

The agency is barred by law from internal security functions. Nevertheless, the Rockefeller commission found that the CIA had engaged in opening of mail and surveillance of American citizens, a violation of individual rights.

There were also incidents of experimenting on unsuspecting citizens in the late 1950s with LSD and breakins and wiretaps against its own personnel.

In the mail opening allegation, the report says that 2,300,000 items of mail headed to and from the Soviet Union were examined outside. Some 33,000 envelopes were photographed and 8,700 were opened.

The commission report says President Johnson used the CIA in 1967 to determine if there was foreign influence in the civil riots of the time. The Nixon administration was said to have misused the CIA.

The commission had recommendations for avoiding future violations by the CIA. It said all White House requests should come through a single high level channel. A new joint Congressional "oversight" committee should be established. The President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board should have watchdog capabilities. Distinguished citizens with varying backgrounds and experience should be included as well as a full-time chairman and staff.

The committee also said Congress should study whether it would be possible to reveal the presently secret CIA budget. The committee recommended that the CIA director serve no more than a ten year term.

Unfortunately it is obviously necessary that the United States maintain a spy agency. If it weren't the Central Intelligence Agency, the duties would have to be delegated to some other agency. It is highly important, however, that the CIA's activities not interfere with the basic rights of American citizens. This was clearly spelled out in the CIA's charter but apparently there have been violations.

The reforms recommended by the Rockefeller Commission should be implemented, so that the likelihood of further domestic activities by the CIA is lessened.

Little Salt On Talks

WASHINGTON—While the rest of the country is fast asleep, there are men in Washington working on new defense weapons that will protect us from any enemy foolish enough to test our will. One of them is Kipness who lives down the street. The other day at an outdoor barbecue, Kipness told me about a new weapons system he was involved with which would make all other systems obsolete. It was called WANGO, which stands for Walter Arthur Neil George and Oscar.

Kipness said, "I don't believe I'm speaking out of school because we're going up to The Hill in a few days and ask for $15 billion to get it off the drawing board."

"What is it?" I asked. "Well, as you know we now have submarines that can fire 10 multiple missiles at one time. WANGO is a system that can fire 10 submarines from a missile at the same time."

"That's a lot of submarines," I said. "But what good is it to fire submarines from the air at the enemy?"

"It's not good," Kipness said, "except that it's a chip in the SALT talk poker game."

"I'm not too sure what the SALT talk poker game is all about."

"It's quite simple. When you negotiate with the Russians, you have to have a certain amount of chips. You say to them, 'If you give up MIRVing, we'll give up MARVing.' Our chip is the MARV and their chip is the MIRV."

"What's a MARV?" I asked. "A maneuverable re-entry vehicle. MARV gives us a substantial increase in the accuracy of strategic missile warheads and the ability to knock out an adversary's missiles in the silo."

"That sounds great," I said. "If it works. On one will know for five years whether or not it will fly. So that's our chip. The Russians don't know, either. It's like the B-1. Everyone assumes that by the time the B-1 is built bombers will be obsolete. But by building them we're proving to the Russians that we mean business."

First Navy Battle

By MARY MACDONALD Associated Press Writer MACHIAS, Maine (AP) — Two hundred years ago today, 20 angry frontier lumbermen armed with pitchforks seized a British warship that had come here for wood to build barracks in Boston.

The episode in Machias Bay was the first naval battle of the American Revolution. Fought 300 miles up the coast from Lexington and far from colonial commercial centers, it was called the "Lexington of the Sea" by pioneer writer James Fenimore Cooper.

The battle, which is being re-enacted today, pitted the British schooner Margaretta against its own escort sloop, the Unity. The young patriots had sneaked the Unity out from under the British noses and used it to capture the Margaretta.

News of the patriot victory spread rapidly and boosted the colonists' morale. The Unity was renamed the Machias Liberty and within a few weeks had captured the British naval schooner Diligent.

The Margaretta came up from Boston on June 2, 1775, with the Unity and the Polly in the king's service. It had been nearly two months since the "shot heard round the world" was fired at Lexington.

The sloops, both loaded with supplies to trade for wood, belonged to Captain Ichabod Jones, a wealthy Boston merchant. He had the colonists at a distinct disadvantage and he knew it.

People in Machias feared hunger that spring.

On May 25, 1775, they had written a letter to the Congress of Massachusetts Bay, noting that they had had a hard time getting provisions since the previous fall's severe drought.

The 100 families of Machias asked for help and noted with pride, "We have not purchased any food of those persons whom we suppose to be inimical to

40 Years Ago Today

June 13, 1935 Ty Wagner and "Ace" Parker belted two home runs out of the park to grab the spotlight as Greenville defeated New Bern 8-3 at Third Street School here yesterday.

Coming one behind the other in the fifth inning, the two circuit clouts furnished the main thrill for a half holiday crowd estimated at between 1,500 and 2,000.

The victory enabled Greenville to forge into first place and the game between the two clubs today was being watched with interest by all eight towns in the league.

Greenville business houses observed their second half Wednesday holiday yesterday with the Greenville-New Bern baseball game holding the spotlight for fans, while scores of others took cooling plunges in the municipal swimming pool and still others spent the afternoon at nearby watering places.

The closing yesterday was decidedly more widespread than the week before because a number of stores that were unable to close last Wednesday had time to prepare for closing yesterday. —James Kyle

The N.C. SCENE

A New Way Of Life

By DAVID T. FLAHERTY Secretary, Human Resources

RALEIGH—In the summer of 1970 Rusty returned to Rutherford County. It was only 37 miles—but a whole world away—from where he had been.

For eight years Rusty had lived in a state institution for the retarded. There he had shared a room with 19 others. Conditions were crowded and life was regimented from morning to night. He had no decisions to make regarding his life and he had no responsibilities—even to himself.

Rusty was 22 years old when he moved back to his home county and into the neat two-story brick house in Forest City with seven other men who were also mentally retarded.

At first what he liked best about his new home was turning out his own lights at night and falling asleep without hearing others cry. He learned to clean his own room and help mow the yard and keep the garden.

Now Rusty is 27. He can go to church, swim at a neighborhood pool or go to a community dance if he chooses. He can also visit with his friends or have them in to visit with him.

But most important—Rusty goes to work everyday. For three and a half years he had held a steady job as dishwasher at a downtown lunch counter, earning approximately $2,500 a year.

Not Unusual

Rusty is not unusual. He is one of eight mentally retarded adults living in North Carolina's first Group Home for the Mentally Retarded. Rusty's home was the pioneer effort in North Carolina to establish more normal living conditions for a group of people who have traditionally been denied the right to choose a place to live, the right to work and receive a fair wage, and other human privileges.

Since that first home established five years ago, 23 others have sprung up across the state and 21 more are in the planning stages.

For the retarded, Group Homes have meant their first chance to live almost normal lives and to become as independent as possible. But for the citizens of their communities, Group Homes have provided a chance to learn more about mentally retarded people—first hand rather than by hearsay.

Hearsay: Retarded people don't work. They sit around all day or just walk around the neighborhood.

Reality: Many of them work in sheltered workshops while others find employment as gardeners, dishwashers, laundry workers, waitresses, janitors and other jobs. Employers discover they are good workers—dedicated, reliable and enthusiastic.

Hearsay: Community homes for the mentally retarded are costly to the taxpayer.

Reality: Keeping a resident in an institution for 1973-74 costs $10,000. The total average cost of keeping a resident in a North Carolina Group Home the same period was only $3,934.

Hearsay: Retarded people would be better off in a rural area than an urban area.

Reality: Towns and cities offer necessary transportation, jobs, recreational facilities, churches, and other opportunities.

Hearsay: Retarded people are often involved in criminal activities and are apt to become violent and irrational.

Reality: Statistics show that frequency of arrest, crimes and other anti-social behavior is no greater among retarded people than any other segment of the population. Because they are so eager to be accepted and respected as responsible, they are less likely to be involved in such activities.

Not Best Hearsay: It's best for "these people" to be kept in institutions.

Reality: Separating retarded people from others increases their problems. Neglect, lack of stimulation, emotional deprivation add to their condition.

Hearsay: It's not safe for a mentally retarded person to live in a normal neighborhood, they could be hurt.

Reality: Retarded people are entitled to the right to take risks. Denying a person the freedom to make choices and the right to succeed or fail by his own efforts—is to deny the person the satisfactions of independence and adulthood.

How do they choose who will live there and who's in charge of them?

Fifty percent of the residents come from the region's mental retardation center and the other half from the community. Many—like Rusty—return to their home community from an institution. Those chosen for Group Home living are chosen on basis of their ability to take care of their own personal needs, their ability to use the community and to participate in a work program. They must have no outstanding medical or behavior problems. Each home has a live-in home director who develops each individual's program and is also in charge of the operation and maintenance of the home.

POLITICAL NOTES

Reasons Lie In Between

By ROBERT B. CULLEN Associated Press Writer RALEIGH (AP)—Somewhere between the partisan statements of both Democrats and Republicans lie the real reasons that James W.C. Daniel will not serve on the North Carolina State Utilities Commission.

Daniel was rejected Wednesday in the new legislative confirmation proceedings when the Senate voted 41-4 against him.

Gov. Jim Holshouser's other nominees, Raleigh attorney J. Ward Purrington and Charlotte economics instructor Barbara Simpson, were confirmed, although Miss Simpson had to weather a 72-42 vote.

Republicans immediately charged that Daniel's rejection was not based on his qualifications. They said that the Democrats had decided to reject one of Holshouser's nominees no matter who he was.

"Jim Daniel was the last one aboard, so he was the one that had the gangplank pulled away," said George Rountree, Holshouser's legislative lobbyist.

Democrats were definitely vague when they tried to explain why Daniel was unacceptable when Miss Simpson and Purrington were not.

Daniel, like the other two, had no obvious conflicts of interest; he had a college degree in accounting and experience in the stock market as a salesman for a New York broker.

Nonetheless, he did not impress the Democrats when they questioned him at his confirmation hearing. He admitted that he had not bothered to read the utilities statutes prior to the hearing.

He also lacked some of the advantages enjoyed by the other two. Purrington is an ex-legislator, a former "club member." Turning him down would have been tantamount to admitting that just because an individual serves in the General Assembly is no guarantee he is competent.

Miss Simpson is female, and as such she offered a special qualification for a previously all-male commission. She also impressed some committee members with her forthrightness in answering questions.

None of them, as Rep. Herbert Hyde, said, were "John the Baptist or Oliver Wendell Holmes." The governor's office had frankly admitted they were not likely to be.

Since their appointments are guaranteed for only two years at $30,500 per year, it was difficult to persuade a competent individual to give up a home and a job to sit on the commission.

But the legislature was intent, as Sen. McNeill Smith said, on sending the governor a message. They had tried to do that before.

During the deliberations on whether to expand the commission and who would appoint the new members, legislative leaders talked with Holshouser about whom he would appoint if he were given the power.

They left the meeting with the impression that Holshouser had agreed to appoint a "consumer-oriented" individual to one of the three seats. Holshouser was vague about exactly what he had agreed to, although he was certain he had not accepted any particular individuals.

"Consumer-oriented" is a term that, like obscenity, is difficult to define but easy to recognize when it's seen. None of the governor's three appointees had it.

Daniel, in the eyes of the legislators, was the weakest of the three appointees, so he was rejected. They were determined, in the first (Continued on page 5)

Strength For Today

WILD CHERRIES

A farmer cutting wild cherry trees which had grown up in a stand of young pine explained that the cherry trees had been preventing the pines from achieving normal growth. Where there were no cherry trees the pines had reached ten or fifteen feet in height; where the cherries had sprung up the pines were stunted and undernourished.

Here is another example of worthless things overshadowing and stunting our better qualities and potentialities. The wild cherry trees performed no useful function; their small, scanty fruit is bitter. The trees have only one important characteristic, and that is fast growth.

But this is in itself a threat. The farmer had planted the pines as part of a reforestation project. Many of us have plans and dreams as useful as this farmer's project. But somewhere down in our lives wild cherry trees are starting their growth. The time to cut them out is when they first get started. Otherwise all we shall have to show for our well-laid plans is small, bitter fruit.

Encouraging Early Retirement

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) —

Corporations increasingly are encouraging the early retirement of high-salaried management men between the ages of 50 and 55 by offering them bonuses, generally in the form of higher pension benefits.

Eugene Jennings, management professor at Michigan State University and consultant to many blue-chip companies and their executives estimates that activity probably has tripled in the past four years.

"Most of the large corporations are doing it," said Jennings, although he concedes that precise statistics still are difficult to come by. Very few medium- and smaller-size companies are engaged in the practice. Activity is especially strong, however, in the big automotive, computer, aerospace and chemical industries, and other industries that equally are under great pressure to accommodate themselves to changing conditions.

In the immediate future, says Jennings, one of every eight or nine men who have worked in a large company for 30 years and is reaching 55 will be vulnerable to early retirement.

But: "The more successful you are in a large corporation the greater the probability you'll have to work to the mandatory retirement age."

Most of the early retirements involve upper middle managers in the $30,000 to $60,000 salary category, "once very competent people who find themselves in nonvital areas of their companies."

Some are good men who withered in bad jobs. Some have marked themselves off. Some simply made the wrong turn, "opted for the wrong pocket, from vital activities to those less so."

Many of them, Jennings observes, have been killing themselves with frustration as they plod through nonessential, fringe jobs. Often they become poor examples for other employees.

Their reactions to early retirement vary. The workaholic is devastated, no matter how generous the buyout. He fails to see the new opportunities before him.

The workaholic, Jennings says, usually is a person who as a child was told that work is the most crucial part of the life cycle. Such people sacrifice personal and private privileges to the job."

A second type accepts the change more calmly. He is the bored but still youthful type, "the man who hasn't let the system crank out of him the desire to be productive."

If he has an advanced degree, such as a master of business administration, he frequently moves into teaching.

A third type handles the transition most smoothly of all. This is the manager who all along has been preparing for a second career. In fact, his second career already had overlapped his primary occupation.

This person often becomes a tax consultant, real estate man, salesman, lawyer in private practice, or perhaps establishes a small management consulting firm.

Ford Unveils Utility Building Plan

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford unveiled today proposals designed to spur the building of new power plants through liberalized tax write-offs and tax-deferred treatment of utility dividends that are reinvested.

Ford, in a statement, said he accepted and endorsed all recommendations on the subject presented to him by his labor-management committee that studied ways to hasten utility plant construction and the conversion of oil and gas-fired plants to use of coal as a power source.

Secretary of Labor John Dunlop told reporters the proposals would result in a tax break for utilities in fiscal year 1976 of between $500 million and $1 billion. He said members of the labor-management committee would carry the proposals to Congress personally.

At a briefing, Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb said the amount of energy the nation generates from nuclear power could increase from 2 per cent to about 20 per cent by the late 1980s "if we can get this program and solve other problems such as safeguards and disposal of nuclear wastes."

Key committee recommendations endorsed by Ford included:

—Granting of a 12 per cent investment tax credit to utilities for an indefinite period, with application of the credit to work already in progress. Congress recently boosted the tax credit for utilities to 10 per cent from 4 per cent for a two-year period, but the committee said this did not go far enough.

—"The urgent need for equity capital in the electric utility industry," said the panel, "should be met by a legislative provision that dividends which are reinvested in new issue common stock of the company have tax deferred."

—Extension beyond the scheduled Dec. 31 expiration of a program for five-year fast tax writeoffs of pollution control facilities. In addition, Ford and the committee recommended the same favored tax treatment be granted for the expense of converting power plants to the use of coal.

—"Stretch out, as necessary, present environmental restrictions on energy production and use to reduce energy consumption and facilitate expansion of domestic energy output."

The labor-management committee began its report to Ford by estimating that at the end of last year utilities had postponed or canceled the building of 106 nuclear power plants and 129 coal-fired plants.

It said this "jeopardizes our national objective of lesser dependence on imported oil, threatens economic growth and is likely to counter efforts to reduce high unemployment."

Among the panel's other recommendations were these:

—Depreciation for tax purposes on utility construction spending as it occurs, provided such costs are included in a utility's rate base.

—Extension of the Price-Anderson Nuclear Indemnity Coverage Act.

—Federal efforts to encourage greater use of coal and nuclear energy by utilities.

—Establishment of a small federal task force of experts "to serve as troubleshooters, to discover the impediments to the completion of electric utility plants and to take steps to relieve the particular situation wherever possible."

Ford said he would move promptly to create such a task force and declared, "In view of the long lead time on construction, completion of plants now in advanced stages of planning or under construction must have top priority."

The committee also urged "prompt and reasonable action on rate applications."

It recommended a thorough study and evaluation of "new and innovative rate schemes, such as peak load pricing and rates designed to foster conservation."

Ford briefed Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress on the broad package of proposals an hour before making them public.

Design Changes Likely On C5

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is considering design changes in its huge C5 transport planes as a result of a crash that killed 155 persons during the orphan airlift from Vietnam.

Meanwhile, operating restrictions on the largest plane in the world continue in force, the Air Force said Thursday.

Air Force investigators ruled out sabotage or error by the crew in the April 4 tragedy and blamed failure of a ramp locking mechanism.

When the locks became unlocked in flight a chain reaction was set off. There was rapid decompression, the ramp and pressure door blew out, and the pressure door hit the fuselage and cut important control cables.

"The investigators were not able to conclusively determine the specific reason for unlocking of the ramp locks because a significant number of the key parts were not recovered," the report said.

The pilot tried to steer the plane back to Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport but it crashed short of the runway with 330 persons aboard.

The manufacturer of the airplane, the Lockheed-Georgia Co., said, "Lockheed is in general agreement with the official summary report issued by the Air Force which pointed out no structural failure was involved in the C5 accident in Vietnam."

The Air Force said the entire locking system in the fleet of 77 C5s is being studied for possible changes and that certain control cables and hydraulic lines may be placed differently to prevent them from being cut in any similar accident in the future.

"I guess $15 billion isn't too much to pay for a chip like WANGO."

"Fifteen billion dollars is just to find out if it will work. We'll need $40 billion to put it into production. But it's a good investment, because if it works we also can sell it to the Shah of Iran."

"And if it doesn't work?"

"We'll sell it to the Shah anyway. The important thing when talking with the Soviets is for us to keep coming up with new weapons systems so they'll know we're serious about trying to stop the arms race."

"And then they'll come up with new systems to show they're just as serious about disarmament."

"Right. The more weapons we both can develop, the better chance we have of coming to the SALT agreement. If we let them know we have WANGO, they may be willing to stop making IVAN."

"What's IVAN?"

"It stands for Ilitch Victor Anatole and Nathan."

our country."

But when the Margareta arrived, her guns were fixed on the colonists' homes. A town meeting was called June 6, and the people of Machias voted to give Captain Jones the lumber in exchange for food.

But Jones and British Lt. James Moore made two drastic mistakes.

Immediately after the town meeting, Jones brought the Unity and the Polly down to the town wharf and began distributing the goods and loading lumber. But he refused to distribute provisions to people who had voted against him in the meeting.

The second mistake was Lt. Moore's. He insisted the townspeople take down their Liberty Pole, a tall pine with its limbs and foliage cut except for a tuft on top.

Machias held another town meeting and vehemently refused to touch the Liberty Pole, which stood in a prominent place in town.

Tradition has it that on Monday, June 12, Joseph Wheaton and Dennis O'Brien decided to make off with the Unity. Two other young men joined them and they rowed out to the sloop.

The captain protested, but the four colonists piloted the Unity back to the wharf.

Dennis O'Brien's older brother, Jeremiah, took command of the Unity, and 35 patriots set out to take the well-armed Margareta. They themselves were armed with 20 fowling pieces and a number of pitchforks, clubs and axes.

The Unity approached the Margareta, demanded her surrender and was answered with a warning that she would fire.

"Fire and be damned!" responded a patriot.

The two vessels exchanged fire, and Lt. Moore was killed. Twenty colonists armed with pitchforks boarded the Margareta and an hour later the battle was over. Two patriots were dead and four wounded.

The four-day bicentennial celebration of the patriots' victory will include a memorial service for Jeremiah O'Brien and a fish chowder dinner.

legislative confirmation process, to assert their right to wield some influence, not only in the character of the appointees, but on their philosophy.

The future of the seventh seat is up in the air. The legislature is hoping that Holshouser will send another nomination before it adjourns next week. But he has no legal obligation to do so, and is probably in no mood to give them another target.

He may wait and try to make an interim appointment after the adjournment. But that would only enrage the legislators, and so probably the seat will remain vacant until next year.

Compromise Aids Winn-Dixie Dropping Trading Stamps Adjourment Rush

By RICHARD WATERS
Associated Press Writer
CHARLOTTE (AP) — "NOTICE — S&H stamps to be discontinued," says a handbill, being passed out this week at Winn-Dixie supermarkets in about two dozen North and South Carolina cities.

A Winn-Dixie spokesman said Thursday that 45 of the 81 stores in the Charlotte division would no longer issue the popular trading stamps at the close of business Saturday as an economy move precipitated by inflation.

The other stores in the division do not give stamps, but the Greenville, S.C., division, which serves most of South Carolina, will continue to issue stamps, the spokesman said.

Already the announcement has triggered some "panic" among some Charlotte stamp savers, according to an S&H spokesman, but Sumter, S.C., redemption center reports only a slight increase in business this week. Plans to discontinue stamps were revealed Monday by Winn-Dixie, the nation's seventh largest supermarket chain.

"Inflation has brought high rent and other costs, and we've had to stop the stamps along with economizing in other areas to keep food costs at the lowest possible level," said a Winn-Dixie spokesman. Winn-Dixie has given S&H stamps in the Carolinas for about 20 years, says one source.

Two other companies serving the Charlotte area have gone out of business in the last two years. FS Gold Stamps, whose chief client was Harris Teeter supermarkets, folded in 1972 soon after Harris Teeter discontinued stamps. Gold Bond, mainly distributed by Colonial Stores, closed in early 1973.

None of the other chains contacted Thursday is using stamps. But S&H is working with other supermarkets and other accounts about picking up the Winn-Dixie franchise, according to an S&H spokesman in Charlotte.

"We're quite busy right now," said the spokesman, who didn't want his name used. "The publicity that we've had through the paper and word of mouth has caused people to panic naturally, like they did a couple of years ago when FS went of business, but that was a locally owned company," he said.

"We're nationwide and we have over 500 redemption centers throughout the United States," he said, "so we're not going to leave the people holding their books."

"We wish they would wait and get something later that they really want instead of getting something they don't need," he added.

Lela Adair, manager of the Sumter redemption center, said, "They (people) get uneasy when something like that occurs, they think the stamps are being discontinued, but what it really is, it means that Winn-Dixie has stopped giving stamps in some areas."

The committee also approved a bill partially closing the "prayer for judgment continued" loophole in the traffic laws. The bill limits a driver to two PJC's in a five-year period before they begin counting against his record.

Under present law, some drivers are never assessed points for violations because they persuade judges to give them PJC's, a form of indefinitely postponing judgment.

In other action, the full Senate and the House Finance Committee both approved a bill providing a $1 income tax return checkoff to finance a political campaign in North Carolina.

The checkoff would enable a taxpayer to divert $1 of his tax payment to the political party of his choice. No party could get more than $200,000 in a year. The money would be usable for assisting Congressional and statewide candidates in the general elections.

The House surprised supporters of the East Carolina medical school when it voted 57-53 against killing an ECU bond issue bill by sending it back to a committee. The bill remained on the calendar for a vote Friday.

It would authorize a $40 million bond referendum in 1976 to finance the school. ECU supporters oppose the bill because they do not think the voters will approve it in the current economic climate.

The bill faces a determined effort to kill it in the Senate even if it passes the House. Sen. Russell Kirby, D-Wilson, opposes it and he can, under Senate rules, kill it by refusing to allow a vote on it before adjournment in a few days.

Society To Hold Meet

The Pitt County Historical Society will meet Thursday, June 19, at the Greenville Golf and Country Club, for a dinner meeting which will begin at seven o'clock.

Reservations for the meal must be made with the secretary, Miss Annie Turner, by noon June 17.

Dr. Ralph Hardee Rives, president of the society, will speak on "North Carolina in the Eighteenth Century," emphasizing the life of the people in this area at the time of the War for American Independence.

A meeting of the Board of Directors and other officers of the society will be held at the club, in the Fieldcrest Room at 6:30 p.m.

Library To Show Film

GRIFTON—A special attraction for all children at the Grifton Public Library will be free movies shown every Thursday at 2:00 p.m. from June 19 to July 31.

The June 19 movie, For The Love Of Fred, is the amusing account of a caterpillar who needs love before he can change into a butterfly. This film features the Ritts puppets.

The children participating in the Park Program will walk to the library each Thursday for these films. All other children are also invited to view the movies which are borrowed from Sheppard Memorial Library in Greenville.

Six Accidents In Greenville

An estimated $3,400 property damage resulted yesterday from a series of six traffic mishaps investigated by Greenville Police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 4:52 p.m. mishap at the intersection of 14th and Charles Streets which involved cars driven by Charles Edward Highsmith of 138 West 16th St. and Carey Atkinson of 1518 Fleming St.

Police, who estimated damaged at $750 to the Highsmith car and $600 to the Atkinson vehicle, charged Highsmith with failing to yield the right of way.

Reta Currin Womble of 110 Greenwood Dr. was charged with failing to see her intended movement made in safety following investigation of a 5:50 p.m. mishap on Greenville Boulevard, 138 feet West of the Arlington Drive intersection.

Officers said vehicles driven by Sharon Marie Pierce of Washington and Shade Tomas Riley of Azalea Gardens were also involved in the mishap.

Damage was estimated at $100 to the Pierce car, $500 to the Riley auto and $150 to the Womble vehicle.

No charges were reported following a 9:30 p.m. collision at the intersection of Third and Ford Streets.

Police said a car operated by Lucile Turnage Waller of Rocky Mount collided with a parked car owned by Willie Dixon of Route 1, Farmville, resulting in an estimated $250 damage to the Dixon auto and $150 damage to the Waller car.

William Louis Mills of Route 1, Greenville was charged with following too close following investigation of a 12:50 p.m. collision at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Farmville Boulevard.

Police reported the Mills truck collided with a car operated by William Haywood Howell of Maury, causing an estimated $50 damage to the truck and $300 damage to the Howell car.

A 1:30 p.m. collision on Sixth Street west of the Memorial Drive intersection resulted in Hargie Ellen Harrington of Route 8, Greenville being charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

Investigators reported the Harrington car collided with a vehicle driven by George Billy Jones of 1008 Forbes St., causing an estimated $200 damage to the Harrington car and $100 damage to the Jones auto.

No charges were made after cars driven by James Clifton Walker Jr. of 300 Elizabeth St. and Steven Robert Umstead of 117 Baker St. collided about 6:45 p.m. at the intersection of

Final Rebate Checks In Mail Today

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The last of the federal government's tax rebates were in the mail today, but the effect of the rebates on the economy may not be known for some time.

The Treasury Department said 63,221,161 tax rebates with a total value of $7,896,737,163 were sent to taxpayers.

Some straggler rebates — where there is doubt as to the amount to be returned or who is to receive it — may still be mailed in weeks ahead, but the last of the routine rebates have been mailed, a treasury spokesman said.

The treasury said it is ready to mail out about 34 million Social Security and railroad retirement bonus checks of $50 each as soon as the special appropriation has cleared Congress and is approved by the President.

The tax rebates were voted by Congress and approved by the President as part of a program to stimulate the economy by putting extra purchasing power in the hands of consumers.

The hope was that consumers would use the money to buy autos, appliances and other so-called big-ticket items and help push the nation's economy out of a deep recession.

Early results of the rebates in the first weeks after the government started mailing them were inconclusive.

For example, the Commerce Department reported Thursday that retail sales were down nearly 1 per cent in the week ended June 7, the second weekly decline in a row. But prior to the two weeks ending June 7, retail sales were showing gains.

Some economists predicted that many taxpayers would use their rebates to pay off past debts or put them in savings accounts, which would result in less benefit to the economy.

Another part of the government's tax program to get the economy moving appeared to be having an impact. The Commerce Department said sales of single-family homes increased 25 per cent in April, the biggest monthly jump in 12 years.

A major factor in the increase appeared to be a tax credit for home buyers equal to 5 per cent of the purchase price of the home, up to a maximum $2,000, on homes that were built or already under construction in late March.

There also were these economic developments:

—Carla A. Hills, secretary of housing and urban development, said she was urging President Ford to veto a bill before him designed to encourage construction of 400,000 new homes in the next year.

The bill, which includes mortgage interest subsidies, also was criticized by White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen who said the increased federal borrowing caused by the bill would dampen any decline in interest rates and aid a limited group of "lucky families." —Nearly $2 billion for various job-producing programs was approved by the House Appropriations Committee. The funding had been canceled by Ford's veto of a $5.3-billion jobs bill.

—A separate program to finance summer jobs for disadvantaged youth won a $473.4-million appropriation from the Senate and is now before President Ford.

Honor Graduates

Two Greenville students graduated with honors from Atlantic Christian College at the school's 73rd commencement May 16.

Linda Ethelene Cobb graduated "magna cum laude" and Gaynell Baker graduated "cum laude" from the Wilson school.

Fifth and Reade Streets.

Police estimated damage resulting from the mishap at $100 to the Walker vehicle and $15 to the Umstead car.

No injuries were reported in the series of mishaps.

Over 1,100 At Lenoir

KINSTON—Summer school registration at Lenoir Community College stands at 1,169 students—557 day students and 612 night students—Registrar Theron P. Jones said. This is a gain of 325 students over the 844 who had enrolled at this point last summer, Jones stated. He says the gain is about 43 per cent and continues the unprecedented rise in enrollment experienced in the spring quarter when more than 2,000 students registered at the Lenoir County institution.

Decision Soon On $2 Return

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — With inflation having eroded the dollar, a decision will be made within a month or two on whether to bring back the $2 bill in 1976, says Deputy Treasury Secretary Stephen S. Gardner.

"Personally I favor the idea, and I think the secretary favors the idea," said Gardner. Treasury Secretary William E. Simon recently said he tends to support it.

Gardner said the $2 bill may be more useful to people now because of changes in price levels in recent years. The bill was removed from circulation in 1963 on the ground that it was not being used.

A recent survey conducted for the Federal Reserve Board by students at the Harvard Graduate School of Business concluded there still is not much public support for a $2 bill, a board spokesman said.

The Harvard survey said a "considerable marketing effort" would be required to gain public acceptance for the $2 bill. But Gardner said in an interview that he doesn't have much faith in such surveys — "To go out and ask people if they would use something they are not now using, in part encourages negative answers."

The Treasury Department will probably make the final decision by midsummer, but the Federal Reserve Board's opinion is considered important because the board would be responsible for putting the bills into circulation.

If a decision is made to go ahead with it, Gardner said one reason for printing the bill in 1976 is to overcome past public resistance by tying the bill to the nation's Bicentennial observance.

A controversy would be almost certain to develop over whose portrait the bill should carry. There is some sentiment in Congress for a woman, such as the late suffragette, Susan B. Anthony.

However, Gardner said there also will be support for using the portrait of Thomas Jefferson, the third president, whose portrait was used on the old $2 bill. Proponents of Jefferson argue he would fit the Bicentennial theme.

Plan Support For Mrs. Gandhi

By MYRON L. BELKIND
Associated Press Writer
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Leaders of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Congress party today began organizing public support for her decision to remain in office despite her conviction of election law violations.

However, Mrs. Gandhi's political stock was depressed further by the announcement of a decisive defeat for her Congress party in the election of a new legislature in Gujarat state. The party won 140 of the 168 seats in the legislature three years ago, and she campaigned vigorously for Congress candidates this year.

But her party won only 74 seats to 86 won by a coalition headed by 79-year-old Morarji Desai, a foe of Mrs. Gandhi since they battled for control of the Congress party in 1969 and split the party.

The voting took place last Sunday and Wednesday, before Judge Jag Mohanlal Sinha found Mrs. Gandhi guilty on Thursday of illegally using government officials in her 1971 campaign for Parliament and banned her from holding public office for six years.

Judge Sinha stayed the sentence for 20 days to allow the prime minister to appeal, and she was expected to ask the Supreme Court to extend the stay until the appeal was decided. Her political foes demanded that she resign at once, but Mrs. Gandhi announced that she would await the verdict of the highest court.

Her lawyers announced that they would need a few days to study Judge Sinha's opinion before filing the appeal. Meanwhile, Congress party officials said demonstrations and other special meetings were being organized throughout the country to support Mrs. Gandhi.

In New Delhi, buses from the government's transport service and trucks from the municipal corporation carried persons to Mrs. Gandhi's residence for a rally in her behalf.

Three Hurt In Wreck

GRIFTON—Three people were injured near here last night when a car went out of control, ran into a roadside ditch and struck a large tree.

Highway Patrolman John Brooks identified the driver of the auto as Robert Earl Mewborn of Route 2, Grifton. He said the mishap occurred about four miles East of Grifton on N.C. 118 about 7 p.m.

Mewborn and two passengers in the vehicle were taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital in Greenville for treatment of injuries they received in the collision.

Trooper Brooks said the car, listed as a total loss and valued at $400, ran off the left-hand shoulder of the roadway and traveled out of control for 178 feet before crashing into the tree.

Mewborn was charged with having improper tires on the car.

NEW YORK (AP) — Concern over the potential impact of renewed economic activity on interest rates and the availability of capital pushed the stock market into another slow but steady decline today.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 2.59 at 816.72, and losers held a 3-2 edge on gainers at the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was quiet.

Analysts noted concern that a pickup in the economy might lead to a return to the high interest rates and capital-raising squeeze of last year.

A Wall Street Journal article this morning said the nation's banks might be unable to meet the demand for funds for plants and equipment that would logically accompany a resurgence in the economy.

Earlier in the week, Gaylord Freeman, chairman of the

Two Join United Fund

The board of directors of the Pitt County United Fund, meeting last night, voted to accept two new agencies into the United Fund.

Accepted by the board following discussion were the Pitt County chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and Real Crisis Intervention Inc., located at 1117 Evans Street.

Budget requests will be submitted by the two agencies for consideration this year by the United Fund's sub-budget committee. The committee requested that all agencies of the United Fund submit their requests by July 12.

The board also voted to approve Tom Allen as the new treasurer, replacing Eugene Carson Jr. John Farley was accepted as assistant treasurer.

Tom Taft, overall campaign chairman for the upcoming fund drive, was on hand for the board session and discussed preliminary plans for the campaign.

Creel Presents Daniel Award

State Labor Commissioner Billy Creel last night presented the N.C. Department of Labor "Certificate of Safety Achievement" to officials of Daniel International Corporation during ceremonies here at Dwight's Restaurant.

The award was given in recognition of Daniel's Procter & Gamble Project here having operated for one million employee hours without a disabling injury between Oct. 8, 1974 and April 8, 1975. The awards ceremony and dinner was attended by some 40 of the company's management officials, superintendents and guests.

Creel, praising all of the workers who made the award possible, emphasized that "if any one of your employees had occurred a disabling injury at any time during this period of six months, your wonderful safety record would not have been possible."

He added, "Your outstanding record shows that you have been working hard for years to maintain safe working practices and a safe working environment."

The commissioner said that top management belief and support, careful planning, and the full cooperation of supervisors and workers are all necessary elements of a successful safety program.

Daniel International, with an office in Greensboro, is the general contractor for the Greenville Procter & Gamble construction project.

Nolan Wins Sixth Straight With Arm And With Bat

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Gary Nolan doesn't want to set the world on fire — he just wants to put a little heat on the opposition.

"I have no special goals," says the Cincinnati pitcher. "All I'd like to do is go out every fifth day and keep us in the ballgame. That's my only goal."

For a fellow who's won six straight games, including Thursday night's 10-1 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals, that's a pretty modest goal.

In the other National League games, the Montreal Expos beat the San Diego Padres 3-2 in 15 innings; the Philadelphia Phillies stopped the San Francisco Giants 4-1; the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the Houston Astros 4-2 and the New York Mets blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0. The Atlanta Braves beat the Chicago Cubs 5-4 in the first game of a doubleheader and their second game was suspended after eight innings because of a curfew with the Braves leading 6-2.

Nolan not only gave the Reds some pitching Thursday night, but some hitting as well. He doubled home two runs in Cincinnati's seven-run sixth inning.

Nolan's double followed two-run singles by Tony Perez and pinch hitter Joe Morgan.

The seven-run inning tied Cincinnati's high for the season and made it easy for Nolan, who allowed three hits in six

Texas Blasts Gamecocks On 18-Hit Barrage, 17-6

By DAN EVEN

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — There'll be no third or fourth-place finish for Texas this time around in the College World Series.

The Longhorns have finished in those disappointing positions five of the last six years.

"We came here with the idea of winning the national championship and our job is not over," said Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson after his team crushed South Carolina 17-6 with an 18-hit attack Thursday night.

"We hope to complete our mission Saturday night."

South Carolina's initial defeat in the tournament left three teams once-beaten and the Gamecocks battle Arizona State tonight to decide Texas' title game opponent.

Arizona State, 61-12, used a masterful four-hitter by John Poloni and Bob Pate's 11th-inning run-scoring single to eliminate Oklahoma 1-0 in the night's other game.

Texas, making its seventh series bid in eight years, received a bye into the finals in a drawing among the three survivors after its battering of South Carolina.

"Drawing the bye was a big boost for us, there's no doubt about that," said Gustafson, whose team is second-ranked and 55-6 on the year.

Texas captured series titles in 1949 and 1950, but since it's been frustration—14 series trips with only a title game chance in 1953.

South Carolina, 50-5, came into its game with a 16-game winning streak. But Texas quickly served notice with a pair of long two-run home runs by Rick Bradley and Doug Duncan.

The Longhorns chased starter Greg Ward with two more runs in the second and continued the assault against three successors. Bradley with four runs batted in, Blair Stouffer with four hits and five RBI and Mickey Reichenbach with three hits led the onslaught.

"I'm not sure that Nolan Ryan could have got Texas out tonight," mused South Carolina Coach Bobby Richardson. "This is the first time this has happened to us all year. Our pitchers just couldn't get people out."

South Carolina pulled within three runs twice, but a six-run seventh inning made it a romp.

"We're 3-1, the same as the other two teams, but you wouldn't know it by the way we played tonight," said Richardson, whose team beat Arizona State 6-3 Wednesday night. "We just have to come back and play the solid ball we're capable of."

Junior left-hander Tim Lewis, 10-0, will face Arizona State's Greg Cochran, 14-0, in the rematch.

Poloni, 10-1, pitched the best game in the series in keeping the Sun Devils alive for a chance at their fourth title. He struck out eight and walked one.

An infield single by Ken Landreaux and a sacrifice set up Pate's game-winning hit, the 11th off gutty Oklahoma loser Bob Shirley.

"John's effort was superb considering he hasn't pitched for us since May 15," said Arizona Coach Jim Brock. "He battled and gave us a tremendous effort."

"This has not been the kind of year he had hoped for, but he never quit working and continually tried to improve himself. Tonight was the dividend."

Oklahoma Coach Enos Semore also complimented the junior left-hander, who was a sixth-round summer draft selection of the Texas Rangers. "I didn't think he would throw that well," said Semore

Aaron Comes Home With First Homer In Almost Ten Years

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

Hank Aaron finally came home to Milwaukee Thursday night ... with a home run.

It was Aaron's sixth of the season and 739th of his career, but his first regular-season homer in Milwaukee County Stadium since he connected off Philadelphia's Ray Culp on Sept. 20, 1965.

"I knew eventually it would come," said Aaron, who spent the first 12 years of his career in Milwaukee with the Braves and walloped 398 homers, 185 of them in County Stadium. But since the Braves moved to Atlanta in 1966, Aaron's only Milwaukee homer came in an exhibition game two years ago.

Aaron's solo blast off Vida Blue helped his new team, the Milwaukee Brewers, defeat the Oakland A's 9-7. Elsewhere in the American League, the Chicago White Sox trounced the Boston Red Sox 9-2, the Kansas City Royals edged the Cleveland Indians 2-1 in 10 innings, the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Texas Rangers 7-1 and the California Angels trimmed Detroit 7-1 after the Tigers got the final three outs in the suspended second game of Wednesday's two-night doubleheader to nail down a 5-3 triumph. The Minnesota Twins and the Yankees were rained out in New York.

Besides his homer, the 41-year-old Aaron singled and scored in a three-run first inning and doubled home a run in the second. George Scott also homered for the Brewers while Gene Tenace and Billy Williams connected for Oakland. It was the 400th of Williams' career.

White Sox 9, Red Sox 2

Home runs by Deron Johnson and Bob Coluccio helped Jim Kaat to his ninth victory, although the Red Sox reached him for 11 hits. By losing for the fourth time in the last five games, Boston's lead over the idle Yankees in the East Division was chopped to one-half game.

Royals 2, Indians 1

Jim Wohlford raced home from third base with the winning run on a passed ball by Cleveland catcher John Ellis in the 10th inning, giving Steve Busby the victory over Eric Raich, his former teammate on a College World Series winner at the University of Southern California.

Harmon Killebrew tied the score in the Kansas City seventh with his ninth homer and 568th of his career.

Orioles 7, Rangers 1

Jim Palmer notched his 10th victory with a seven-hitter and Mark Belanger knocked in three runs. Palmer's victory gave him a 10-3 record, best in the American League. He ran his scoreless streak to 20 innings — his last outing was a one-hitter against Kansas City — until the Rangers scored in the eighth on singles by Cesar Tovar and Mike Hargrove around a walk.

Angels 3-7, Tigers 5-1

Joe Lahoud drove in four runs with a pair of homers, including a three-run shot in a six-run third inning, as California beat Detroit. Earlier, John Hiller got the last three outs to complete a sparkling relief stint as the Tigers nailed down a 5-3 victory in the completion of the second game of Wednesday's two-nighter, which was suspended by an American League curfew after eight innings.

A Terror At Bat

BALTIMORE (AP) — Brooks Robinson, peerless third baseman for the Baltimore Orioles, did a lot of running for a 38-year-old in a mid-April game against Boston. The Birds won 11 to 3 and Robinson figured in the scoring of more than half the runs.

He made four hits, including a triple, in five trips to the plate, scored four times and drove home two runs. His hitting also helped pitcher Mike Torrez who gave up 11 hits but was able to go the distance because of the big lead furnished mostly by Robinson's bat.

Tom Morgan, who had a 67-47 American League pitching record, is the pitching coach for the San Diego Padres.

Rose Rained Out

Rose High's game with Charlotte Harding was rained out last night. The game will be played tonight beginning at 8:00 p.m. and if necessary, a third game will be played Saturday.

All Babe Ruth games scheduled for tonight have been cancelled because of the Rose game.

Floyd Among Green's Challengers

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — If you're looking for a sleeper in next week's U.S. Open Golf Championship at Medinah, Ill., circle Ray Floyd. He's playing superb golf now.

The 32-year-old Floyd won the Kemper Open last week for his first tour victory in six years. And Wednesday he tied the course record of 63 in winning the pro-am event of the rain-delayed $150,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic which gets underway today.

Floyd settled down two years ago after he married Maria Primoli, daughter of a Philadelphia tavern owner, giving up a life that earned him a reputation of a playboy who was tossing away a potentially great golf career.

He didn't win in 1974, but his dedication was evident in his bank account. After earning $39,646 and ranking 77th on the tour in 1973, Floyd picked up checks of $119,385 last year, 18th on the money list. He is 12th on the list so far this year with $85,000. So, he wasn't surprised when he won at Kemper. He felt it coming.

Floyd credits his wife with changing his attitude. Maria Floyd had heard about her husband's hidden talent. She also knew his playboy's reputation. So, they sat down and had a talk.

"Do you want to do it (win)?" Floyd recalled his wife asking him. "If you do, do it properly," she advised.

"My career is a complete turnaround," Floyd said. "You can say I matured."

Floyd hadn't exactly been a bust during his previous 12 years on the tour. He won the PGA in 1969, earning $109,957 that year. It was the last championship he won, not very satisfying for the guy who was rookie of the year when he broke in 13 years ago.

The Philadelphia tournament begins on the 6,687-yard, par-71 Whitmarsh layout with a single round of 18 holes today and Saturday with a 36-hole windup Sunday. Hubert Green is the defending champion and among his chief challengers are Floyd, Player, Tom Weiskopf, Johnny Miller, Billy Casper and former Philadelphia titleholders J.C. Snead and Dave Hill.

Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Arnold Palmer and Hale Irwin are not competing here.

Steady rains, which began early Wednesday night and continued through Thursday, were expected to move out of the area and the weekend forecast called for clear skies.

Meet Scheduled

Friday and Saturday, June 20 and 21, there will be a Junior Olympics National Decathlon championship qualifying meet at the East Carolina Track.

Registration for the event will be from 3-3:30 Friday afternoon with five events to be run Friday and the other five on Saturday. The top three finishers will go on to the regional meet and the winner there will compete in the nationals.

Pittsburgh Youth Bags Marbles Title

WILDWOOD, N.J. (AP)—Pittsburgh has produced the class of the field in the National Blue Marbles Tournament once again.

For the third time since 1970, a Pittsburgh youth, Richard Unser, walked off with the boys' title at the annual competition here Thursday.

Unser, 14, defeated Jeff Rice, 13, of Cumberland, Md., who set a record in compiling a 51-5 mark during four rounds of preliminaries. It was the second year in a row Rice finished second after leading through regulation play.

In the girls division, another Pennsylvania shooter, Sharon Woolworth, 13, of Reading, defeated Jerrilyn Keene, 12, of Baltimore, 5-2. Miss Keene led the preliminaries with a 28-7 record.

The finals were played indoors in a recreation center because of a torrent of rain that hit this resort Thursday. The three previous rounds were played on cork rings set on cement on the beach.

"We had to play indoors on cement this morning," said O.T. Hester, of Greensboro, N.C., the tournament director. "In the afternoon we got rags in, turned 'em over and played on the linoleum on the back of 'em. The kids said it turned out all right."

The two winners won $600 college scholarships. There was no battle of the sexes, as was the case last year when a Pittsburgh boy emerged the over-all winner.

Third place in the boys' division went to Walt Margano, 12, also of Pittsburgh, who came to the tournament with an infected thumb, thanks to his pet German shepherd.

Although he played the first round with a bandage on his thumb, Margano compiled a 45-11 record. His brother was the champ five years ago.

Unser said he felt his city's honor was riding on him because of Walt's injury. "People jokingly said, 'If the title doesn't come back here, don't bother coming back,'" he related.

The girls' runners-up were Karen Kaminski, 13, and Judy Bogiljevac, 13, both of Allegheny County, Pa.

The other boys in the semifinals are Boyle Barton 14, of Radford, Va., Tony McGuire, 14, of Reading, Robert Marshall, 14, of Charleston, W.Va., Charles Coleman, 10, of Baltimore, and Tony Shaw, 13, of Greensboro.

Fifteen boys and eight girls from six states completed.

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Bench is among four Cincinnati Reds dominating the early balloting for the National League All-Star team, released Friday by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office.

Bench, who has been on the NL team the last seven years and started the last six, has a huge lead for the catching spot — 327,894 votes to 60,713 for runner-up Manny Sanguillen of Pittsburgh.

The other Reds topping early returns are Joe Morgan at second base, Dave Concepcion at shortstop and Pete Rose in the outfield.

Morgan has drawn 249,174 votes thus far, nearly five times as many as Pittsburgh's Rennie Stennett, presently second in the tally with 55,778.

Concepcion, seeking his first starting role, has attracted 182,836 votes, followed by Larry Bowa of Philadelphia with 136,121. Rose has 215,612 in the outfielder's race, followed close behind by the Mets' Rusty Staub with 151,322 and Del Unser with 147,583. Neither Staub nor Unser have started previously, though Staub was a reserve five consecutive times (1967-71) and played in three games.

Base-stealing ace Lou Brock of St. Louis is also an outfield contender with 108,086 votes, as is Los Angeles' Jimmy Wynn with 98,347.

Two Los Angeles Dodgers have an early advantage in the infield. The Dodgers leaders are first baseman Steve Garvey, a write-in selection in 1974 who ended up most valuable player in the midseason classic, with 191,197 ballots and third baseman Ron Cey with 203,815.

New York's Mike Phillips has drawn the most votes of any write-in candidate this year, polling 28,489 to place him No. 5 among shortstops.

Current American League leaders include second baseman Ron Carey of Minnesota and outfielder-designated hitter Hank Aaron of Milwaukee, both of whom have been chosen as starters every year since fan balloting began in 1970. Other AL leaders, announced last Monday, are Yankee catcher Thurman Munson, first baseman George Scott of Milwaukee, third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez of Detroit, shortstop Bert Campaneris of Oakland and A's outfielders Reggie Jackson and Joe Rudi.

Pitchers and the remainder of the squad will be chosen by the All-Star coaches.

Morton Left Hanging After Getting Three Hits

By ED SHEARER
AP Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — "You're looking at the limbo kid," said Atlanta Braves pitcher Carl Morton.

"It's a strange feeling," he added. "That's the first time I've ever had three hits in a suspended game."

Morton now must wait eight weeks and the Braves must record three more outs before officially logging a victory over the Chicago Cubs in Thursday's nightcap of a doubleheader that was suspended in the eighth inning with Atlanta leading 6-2.

The Braves won the opener 5-4 when Darrell Evans raced home with the winning run with two down in the ninth as the Cubs' Bill Madlock booted a grounder with the bases loaded. Morton stopped the Cubs on six hits through eight innings and led the Atlanta attack, twice singling and scoring runs and then producing a two-run double in the Braves' three-run eighth.

The suspension came because the National League office had ordered that no inning be started after 10:15 p.m. because the Cubs had to return home for an afternoon game today.

"I was sitting on the bench caught between emotions, hoping for a fast inning to go ahead and finish the game," said Morton. It appeared the game might go to the ninth when the Braves began to bat six minutes before curfew in the eighth. But, they started a long inning, with Morton's two-out double prolonging it past the 10:15 time limit.

The game will be concluded on Aug. 9 prior to a regularly scheduled game between the teams.

Morton says he isn't concerned about finishing the game. "I'd like to, sure, but only if it happened I was to start that day."

Ralph Garr and Dave May belted first inning homers in the opener as knuckleballer Phil Niekro sought his fifth straight complete game victory.

But the Cubs knocked him out in the eighth, and gained a 4-4 tie when reliever Tommy House balked with the bases loaded.

"I honestly feel I didn't balk," House said. "It was a decision play on his (umpire Ed Vargo) part. He felt I did and was emphatic."

House was more disappointed over costing Niekro his seventh victory.

"It's not my job to win ball games," he said. "I'm supposed to save them and I wanted to save that one for Phil."

Meanwhile, Cub Manager Jim Marshall was shaking his head over his club's failure on the road. The defeat was the 12th in the last 13 road games for Chicago.

"We just haven't been able to get hits at the right time," said Marshall. "But we'll come out of it. There's a lot of games left. Maybe we can get straightened out on this home stand."

Sleeping Habits Attacked By Coach

By GEOFFREY MILLER
PARIS (AP) — Bjorn Borg, the heart-throb of a million female tennis fans, was given a new order by his coach today: "Stop sleeping in the nude."

The 19-year-old Swedish star, defending his French title, had the scare of his young life Thursday. He cricked his neck in his hotel shower and thought he would have to pull out of the quarter-finals.

Masseurs got him fit in time, and he slammed Harold Solomon of Silver Springs, Md., 6-1, 7-5, 6-4.

But Lennart Bergelin, the coach who has made Borg into a world star, told him this sleeping in the nude has to stop.

"It is asking for trouble, sleeping naked in the air conditioning of hotel bedrooms," Bergelin said. "It may have had something to do with this neck trouble."

"I am going to buy him a smart modern night shirt, and he is going to wear it from now on."

Borg said that two hours before the match against Solomon, he thought it was impossible to play tennis. He sat in the dressing room at the Roland Garros Stadium, scarcely able to turn his head.

The match was put back 1½ hours. The three masseurs took it in turn to gouge him, pummel him and jerk his head around.

Another of America's hopes bit the red dust of the center court when Adriano Panatta of Italy defeated John Andrews of Fullerton, Calif., 6-3, 5-7, 7-6, 6-2.

Andrews, ranked No. 47 in the United States, had caused a big surprise by reaching the quarter-finals.

Borg and Panatta are scheduled to meet in the semifinals Saturday. The last surviving American, Eddie Dibbs of Miami Beach, Fla., is paired against Guillermo Vilas of Argentina.

Meanwhile the attention Friday was centered on the women's semifinals, with two Americans still gunning for the title.

Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the defending champion, was facing Olga Morozova of the Soviet Union. Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif., had to play the powerful Czech left-hander, Martina Navratilova.

BARRIE, Ont. (AP) — The $20,000 Ontario Open tournament kicks off the Canadian professional golf tour today.

Veterans Moe Norman and Bob Panasiuk lead the field of 152 onto the 6,818-yard, par-72 Barrie Country Club course for the start of the 54-hole tournament.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The price of success — if you're a fan of the Philadelphia Flyers — is $1 a game. That's how much the National Hockey League champions have raised prices.

Announcing the increase in a letter sent Thursday to season ticket holders, the two-time Stanley Cup winners blamed inflation and pointed out that they probably could have raised prices quite a bit more and still sold out every game.

GRIFTON—Roy Lassiter pitched a one-hitter and Frankie Pollard slapped out a double and a single in leading Chicod to a 3-1 win over Grifton's Rogers' Furniture in South Pitt Little League action yesterday.

Chicod got only one other hit in the game. Chicod is now 3-3 while Grifton is 2-4.

Odum Hoping For New Life With Braves

By ED SHEARER
AP Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — John "Blue Moon" Odum, who once appeared headed for major league stardom, is hoping a change of scenery and more work will get him back in the groove.

The 30-year-old right-hander, acquired by the Atlanta Braves from Cleveland Saturday, hasn't approached the success he enjoyed in 1972 when he helped the Oakland A's begin their string of three straight world championships.

Odum had a 15-6 record with the A's in 1972 but plunged to 5-12 and 1-5 marks the last two seasons, working almost exclusively as a relief pitcher last year.

The plunge began shortly after Odum was shot in the side while attempting to foil a robbery in his home town, Macon, Ga., during the winter after the 1972 season.

It is something Odum declines to discuss, but says he doesn't think it contributed to his downhill slide.

"I was so close to death I don't even like to think about it," said Odum. "I've just tried to forget that. I don't want to talk about that."

Odum says he hopes things will be better for him in Atlanta, 70 miles north of his hometown. "I'm quite sure it will. It can't be any worse than what I've been through."

The veteran pitcher, in his eighth full season in the majors, started the year at Oakland, but was dealt last month to Cleveland, where he pitched a two-hitter against Kansas City on June 4. He had requested an additional $8,000 from the Indians, but they refused and dealt him to the Braves.

"I wanted a change of scenery because I was not pitching much in Oakland, and then in relief, which I don't care for," he said. "I felt they had lost confidence in me at Oakland, but that was because of Alvin Dark and the pitching coach (Wes Stock)."

Odum made his Atlanta debut against St. Louis Monday night, but lasted only five innings and was tagged with a defeat, giving him a 1-3 record this season with three clubs.

Victors Battle Over Tiny Island

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The island near where Cambodian forces seized the Mayaguez was captured this week by Vietnamese troops in fighting between the two recent Communist victors in Indochina, U.S. intelligence sources say.

The battle was fought for Poulo Wai, a tiny rock island in the Gulf of Thailand some 60 miles from the Cambodian coast, the sources say.

The U.S. cargo ship Mayaguez was fired on and captured by a Cambodian gunboat off that same island May 12 while the freighter was en route to Thailand. At the time, the Cambodians claimed the ship was in Cambodian waters because it was several miles off the island. That seizure triggered a three-day crisis which culminated in U.S. recovery of the ship and its crew.

Intelligence sources say Vietnamese troops landed by boat on Poulo Wai the night of June 10. This island has been claimed in the past by both Cambodia and Vietnam.

Khmer Rouge soldiers resisted their one-time allies and fighting continued until the Vietnamese troops overran the Cambodians and took control of the island, these sources say. There was no word on the size of the contending forces or of the extent of any casualties. The intelligence sources would not say how they learned of the battle. But it is believed that U.S. planes have been keeping watch on that area since the Mayaguez episode to guard against a repetition with other American ships sailing those waters.

The fight for Poulo Wai Island came only six weeks after the end of the Indochina war which saw Communist regimes topple U.S.-backed governments in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

The Communist of the Vietnamese gave strong support to the Khmer Rouge during the five-year effort by the Cambodian Communist insurgents to gain control of their country. However, there have been traditional differences between the Vietnamese and Cambodian peoples, and some U.S. officials think these may be surfacing again.

Apart from this, officials say the possibility of oil beneath the Gulf of Thailand has intensified disputes over islands and seaward boundaries.

Cambodian And Thai Gunboats In Fight

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The Thai government ordered naval and marine reinforcements into disputed waters of the Gulf of Thailand today after a sea battle with Cambodian naval forces in which one Cambodian boat was reported sunk and six Thai marines were reported wounded.

A clash in the gulf also was reported between Cambodia and South Vietnam. U.S. intelligence sources said South Vietnamese troops occupied Poulo Wai, a tiny island 60 miles from both the South Vietnamese and Cambodian coasts, after a battle Tuesday night. It was near Poulo Wai that Cambodian gunboats intercepted the American freighter Mayaguez.

Police sources in Bangkok reported an hour-long duel Thursday between Thai and Cambodian gunboats after a Cambodian gunship captured a Thai fishing vessel. The sources said another Thai fishing boat escaped under fire from the Cambodians.

It could not be learned whether the fishing boat was recaptured. The battle occurred about 200 miles southeast of Bangkok in waters claimed by both Thailand and Cambodia. Cambodian boats have captured several Thai fishing boats in the area since the Communists took over the Cambodian government.

An unconfirmed account in a Bangkok newspaper said a Thai border policeman was shot and wounded in a 15-minute battle between Thai and Cambodian soldiers on the border near Aranyaprathet, 200 miles east of Bangkok. It said Thai reinforcements were sent to the area.

Radio Phnom Penh, the only regular source of information from Cambodia, was silent without explanation this morning.

Elsewhere in Southeast Asia: A Laotian government broadcast charged that an American woman held in a Vientiane jail for 10 days was "a CIA spy" who paid Laotian air force pilots to fly their T28 fighter-bombers to Thailand as the Communist Pathet Lao was taking control of the government and the armed forces last month. The broadcast said this "shows that the Americans still continue to aggress and interfere in Laos."

The woman is Rosemary Conway, 26, of Chicago and Las Vegas, a former teacher of English at the international school in Vientiane. The broadcast said she was still "under investigation" but claimed she had been spying in Laos since 1974. She was arrested in a Vientiane hotel with a second lieutenant in the Laotian air force.

A Saigon broadcast said banks in the South Vietnamese capital have reopened and were issuing funds for the purchase of agricultural products, to get firms producing "necessary products" back into operation and to pay civil servants who have gone back to work for the government.

Large Oil Find In South Alabama Court Orders Food Stamp Plan Revision

CREOLA, Ala. (AP) — Getty Oil Co. has confirmed an oil discovery that state officials have called the most exciting find in the Southeast in the last 20 years.

An announcement Thursday by the Houston, Tex., based oil firm capped a week of testing in this oil-rich south Alabama area. The tests revealed that Getty's Lyles Hatter 4-10 No. 1 well produced at a daily rate of five million cubic feet of gas and more than 1,500 barrels of condensate, a high-grade hydrocarbon.

The Hatter well is about one mile west of Getty's Peter Kline 3-14 No. 1 well. At that site, oil was produced late last year at the rate of about 3,400 barrels of condensate per day.

Getty and Alabama Oil and Gas Board officials have said the specific gravity of the oil in the Getty area is extremely high, indicating a high quality, naturally refined oil.

An estimate of the amount of oil under the south Alabama land and its potential effect on domestic oil supplies is not immediately possible, officials said. As testing goes on, however, geologists and engineers will get an increasingly better view of what may or may not be below the surface.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

Agriculture Department is under court order to draw up a new food stamp plan that will allow all recipients to obtain a nutritionally adequate diet.

The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Thursday that the present formula for food-stamp payments to 19.6-million participants is invalid because it fails to provide such a diet to all recipients. It gave the Agriculture Department 120 days to draw up a new plan.

However, the court allowed the present rules to remain in effect pending department action because of "the critical importance of the allotment regulations to the functioning of the entire food stamp system."

"For a family that needs a loaf of bread, the offer of a slice is poor comfort," the three-judge court said in an opinion written by Judge J. Skelly Wright.

The ruling is "the most far-reaching legal decision ever rendered in the antihunger area," said Ron Pollock, an attorney and director of the Food Research and Action Committee, which brought the suit.

"For the first time it signals that poor people will have an opportunity to obtain nutritionally adequate diets as a matter of entitlement."

The department has not decided whether to appeal the decision further, said Edward J. Hekman, administrator of the Food and Nutrition Service in the Agriculture Department.

The court said that 1971 amendments to the Food Stamp Act marked a major shift in the policy of the law, a shift from supplementing the diets of low-income households to guaranteeing those households an opportunity for an adequate diet.

The plaintiffs, who included members of low-income households, the City of New York and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, claimed that the Economy Food Plan on which food stamp allotments are based does not provide a nutritionally adequate diet.

They also claimed that even the Economy Food Plan allotments provided under the current schedule.

The court said it would not render judgment at this time on the adequacy of the plan.

The current figures allow $46 a month to a family of one person, $154 for a family of four and $266 for a family of eight. For each additional family member above eight, $22 is added monthly.

Kissinger May Resume Shuttle

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is likely to resume his Middle East shuttle diplomacy next month if differences between Israel and Egypt on a Sinai settlement can be narrowed further.

Sources said the visit of Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin has improved chances of reviving negotiations, but a final decision by President Ford awaits post-summit deliberations in Jerusalem and Cairo.

Kissinger is said to be reluctant to board the shuttle again unless he is 90 per cent certain it would produce an agreement. His last effort collapsed three months ago.

Ford expects to know within the next two weeks whether terms for an Israeli withdrawal in Sinai can be arranged.

A key factor in plotting administration strategy is Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam's visit here next Friday. Egypt and Syria are pressing for a prompt withdrawal of Israeli forces on the Golan Heights, but Israel doubts that a deal can be struck with Damascus.

"Especially between Egypt and Israel there is a possibility of gradual change," Rabin told a news conference on Thursday.

The prime minister also emphasized that there will be no agreement with Egypt until Israeli cargo is permitted to pass through the Suez Canal. A test of last year's secret understanding on passage of Israeli cargo is expected within the next few weeks.

Rabin said he believes "there is a basis for negotiations" over Sinai again. "But knowing the Middle East one has to have patience. Don't expect anything quick or it might not work," he said.

Kissinger was guardedly optimistic.

"We have the impression there is a certain parallelism on both sides," he said.

As for prospects of his returning to the region, Kissinger replied: "A trip is not excluded."

Elected To College Board

FAYETTEVILLE—The Reverend James H. Bailey, pastor of Greenville's Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church, was elected to the Methodist College Board of Trustees at the North Carolina Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church last week. He joins nine other new members.

The Reverend Mr. Bailey, a native of South Carolina, has been an instructor of religion at North Carolina Wesleyan College, is a frequent speaker on college campuses, and has also published papers and sermons in the Congressional Record, North Carolina Christian Advocate, and other periodicals. He has served pastorates in Fort Mill, S.C., Saluda, Elm City, Wilson, Weldon, and Lumberton, N.C.

He received a bachelor of arts degree from Wofford College and a bachelor of divinity degree from Duke University Divinity School. In addition he has completed additional graduate study at Syracuse University, Southern Lutheran Seminary, and Yale University Divinity School.

He is a member of the Masons, director of the campaign for the Methodist Retirement Home in Lumberton, president of the Human Relations Commission and vice-president of the Conference's Commission on Christian Social Concerns.

He is listed in Who's Who in American Methodism, and was a Staley Lecturer at Columbia College. The Rev. Mr. Bailey is married to the former Helen Hill, and they have four children.

Ideals Of Baha'i Are Becoming Wide-Spread

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
New York (AP)—"The earth is but one country, and mankind its citizens."

That planetary interdependence has become a common theme nowadays and it's a central credo of a religion begun in Iran 130 years ago and which now reaches into many countries—the Baha'i faith.

Its ideal of international government "is becoming more and more accepted," says Dr. Dorothy W. Nelson, dean of the University of Southern California law school and an officer of the National Spiritual Assembly of Baha'is in the U.S.

As the first American woman to head a major law school, Dr. Nelson says the discipline of law and justice themselves point to the present need of an interlinked world system.

"Inevitably we are moving toward it," she said in an interview. "It won't be brought about only by Baha'is. The plan is of God."

She said that with the swelling interconnections of the globe's communications, transportation, scientific advances, commerce and economy, and with its common fate subjected to its military potentialities, "People are realizing increasingly that only through sharing will we be able to feed the world and solve the problems of the international economy. Once we recognize we are one world, we can forget tariffs, forget boycotts."

"There would be enough food to feed the world if we just let those countries produce what they can produce best instead of competing to become independent and self-sufficient. Some kind of working international structure is the way to bring about world peace and the happiness of mankind."

This vision of a cooperative world commonwealth was held up in the middle of the last century by the Baha'i founder, Baha'u'llah, an Iranian teacher whose voluminous writings are regarded by followers as revelations from God.

"Oneness of humanity, oneness of God," goes a key saying.

The unitary goals stress equal rights and worth of male and female, equality of races, an end to nationalistic prejudices, the basic harmony of religion and science, universal education and equal justice for all.

"Fill Your Place At Grace"

Bounty

For centuries men have been using nets to reap the rich harvest of the sea. There is a classic rhythm to the saga of the sea and fishermen. It is a tale filled with danger and persistence—success and failure. Indeed, it is very much akin to life itself.

You may not have to wrest your living from the sea, but you can learn a lesson from those who do. Fishermen the world around are, for the most part, devout folk. They've learned the meaning of faith. They know God. Seldom will you see even the smallest harbor town without a church. There men—and the women who wait for them—go to pray.

Have you been to your church lately?

Some New Material Set For The Summer

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Summer is almost upon us. And reruns, ABC calls them "encore telecasts," are in full bloom now. But don't bury your TV set. That'll only cause Crabbenmas, a distant cousin of crabgrass. Besides, the networks will air eight new mini-series and one reread this summer. Honest. Seven are music-comedy-variety shows. The eighth features weird sports events, and the ninth is ABC's "The Texas Wheelers," the Lone Star family sitcom that bombed last fall. ABC is first in the summer pool, starting Thursday, June 26, with a rerun of the first "Wheelers" episode. The next five Thursdays will feature segments never seen because of the show's abrupt axing. Don't miss the opening. It's Western humor at its sardonic best.

The next summer show starts Sunday, July 6, when CBS brings on a four-Sunday series called "Joey & Dad." It's a music-variety effort starring singer-dancer Joey Heatherton and her father, Ray, a veteran broadcast personality known mainly in the New York City area.

Come Thursday, July 10, NBC gets in the summer swing with a four-week music-variety number starring Gladys Knight and the Pips. On Thursday, Aug. 7, NBC starts another four-week series of similar fare.

It'll star Ben Vereen, the black singer-dancer who won Broadway's Tony award for his work in the musical, "Pippin."

On Saturday, July 12, ABC starts four weeks of "Keep On Truckin'," a music-comedy show featuring what ABC calls "a stock company of resident zanies, impressionists, stunt-people, singers and dancers."

Hokay. On Wednesday, July 30, ABC begins a six-week fun & music caper hosted by singer-humorist Jim Stafford, who among other things once wrote a hit song called "My Girl Bill."

On Thursday, Aug. 7, ABC's fourth summer entry arrives. It's a five-week series, "Anything Goes," in which teams in different U.S. cities hold outlandish sports contests, such as a waterbed relay race.

On Sunday, Aug. 10, CBS checks in with a four-week comedy-variety series starring "The Manhattan Transfer," a singing group of two young men and two young women who are big in some New York circles.

The men wear top hat and tails, the women evening gowns.

Their press agent says a chic Gotham magazine published by pop artist Andy Warhol calls them "the hottest new group to emerge from the underground." The same agent says Women's Wear Daily reports "they fairly reek of sophistication."

Next time you come to New York, check out all this underground reeking. Even Ed Norton wouldn't recognize it now.

But I digress. The last summer TV entry for 1975 will be a CBS conversation and variety series, hosted by Dick Cavett, ABC's urbane resident whippersnapper for so many years.

Cavett's tour begins on Saturday, Aug. 16, and expires three Saturdays later.

Mrs. Dorothy Heathcote, Professor of Drama, University of Newcastle-Upon-Tyne, England, is to be the guest of the Greenville City Schools for a two-day drama workshop to be held on Monday and Tuesday.

The two-day session is open to interested members of the community who are invited to come and observe the program. On Monday, the workshop opens at 8:30 a.m. and continues through a question and answer period beginning at 3:45 p.m. The Tuesday session begins at 8 a.m., with the last phase at 3:45 p.m. follow up with teachers.

On both days, students of different levels will be on hand to join in demonstration phases of the workshop. The demonstrations will involve students from kindergarten through grade nine.

Mrs. Heathcote, who has been the subject of a BBC Television series, will spend two days in Greenville, followed by a one-day appearance in Raleigh, and two days in Asheville.

As a young woman, she had to leave school at 14, at which time she became a weaver in a woolen mill, and later wove army uniform cloth and parachutes during World War II.

When she was 19, Mrs. Heathcote gained a scholarship to the Northern Theater School. From that beginning, she has gained a world-wide reputation as a teacher utilizing drama as an active tool for learning.

Over the years, teachers from all parts of the world—Singapore, Sweden, the U.S., Spain, Trinidad, Nigeria, Portuguese West Africa, Malta, Norway—have come to the University of Newcastle-Upon-Tyne to learn from Mrs. Heathcote. Her students have included educators and priests, nuns and nurses. It is a two year course.

Her work has been filmed in a number of British Broadcasting Company (BBC) films in a series that includes The Gangs, an analysis of violence in society, especially in the city of Glasgow; Children Growing Up, on how children develop a moral sense; and an Omnibus film, Three Looms Waiting, which traces Mrs. Heathcote's life and the use she makes of drama in teaching.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day for you to extend your activities beyond present boundaries. It's an excellent time to contact the right persons who are able to help you get ahead. Be more practical.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A good time to make plans for the future. Do whatever will make your mate happier. Take time to improve your surroundings.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study ways to have increased abundance in the future. Consult experts for the advice you need in a business transaction.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have fine inventive ideas that should be presented to others without delay. Do some entertaining tonight. Be poised.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Talking with experts now can pave the way for added success and happiness in the future. Relax at home tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Personal interests should be uppermost on your mind today for gaining happiness you have not had in a long time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get together with one who has much experience and gain the knowledge you need now. You can make much progress now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take time to improve your appearance. Joining a group affair at this time can help you advance in your career.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show more loyalty to those in high position and you can benefit greatly in the future. Improve your surroundings.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make new contacts and obtain the data you need for a new project. Be sure to be fair in all your dealings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Using your intuitive faculties will help you today in a business matter. Improve your relations with loved one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Try to reconcile with one who opposes you. Us tact and all is fine. A new contact can give you valuable data now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have many chores to do now but do the most important first for best results. Take no chances with your reputation.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she may need a little prodding to achieve the success that is in this chart. Direct the education along lines that will fit your progeny in government work or with large companies. Give ethical training early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Local Firm In Ga. Suit

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A Hilton Head Island, S.C., development firm is being sued in federal court in Augusta by two Georgia residents who say they were misled by the firm's statements about a condominium project.

Finley Merry and George Thurmond are seeking to recover nearly $750,000 in partial payments they said they and about 50 others made to the developer, Beach Associates. Beach is described as a subsidiary of Sea Pines Plantation and Comprehensive Ventures, Inc., both of Hilton Head Island, and Allen-White, Inc., of Greenville, N.C.

Merry and Thurmond contend the company's representations in both mailed and telephoned solicitations were "false and fraudulent" and violated federal law.

The class action says the developer has refused to refund money the men have paid to it.

The hallmark of an expert is his ability to keep calm in the face of disaster and to look for a possible distribution that will allow him to make his contract rather than hit the panic button.

cepted the invitation. West's club attack hit declarer's soft spot, and South realized that he would have to take some chances if he were to make his contract.

After some thought, declarer found a way to make his contract if West's distribution was specifically either 4-3-3-3 or 4-4-3-2, and South could guess which holding he had.

Then he continued with the queen of hearts, and when West followed with the jack, declarer decided to treat this as an honest card and play West for 4-3-3-3 distribution.

Carolina Dean's List

CHAPEL HILL—The following is a list of students from Greenville who were on the University of North Carolina's spring semester dean's list.

This year at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, students must make higher grades to be eligible for the dean's list. They must earn a 3.2 grade average on the 4.0 scale while taking 15 hours of credit, or a 3.5 average while taking at least 12 but less than 15 hours of credit.

The students are: Harry A. Allen III, son of Harry Allen Jr.; Roger Douglas Billica, son of Harry Robert Billica; Sally Crisp Boyette, daughter of Dr. Joseph Boyette; Debbie Kay Gilchrist, daughter of Carl Gilchrist; Robert Dalton Higgins, son of J.D. Higgins; Sharon Rachael Hodge, daughter of James D. Hodge; Jamie Susan Jacobson, daughter of D.S. Jacobson; Martha Elizabeth Lang, daughter of John Lang Jr.; Steven Montague Mitchell, son of Charles Mitchell; Mitchell Jules Reep, son of Edward Reep; Dr. Moses M. Sheppard; George William Shoe, son of George Shoe; Peter Alyea Van Veld, son of Robert Van Veld; William Henley Watson Jr., son of W.H. Watson; Kathryn Oliver Whichard, daughter of David Whichard; and Dallas G. Gilbert Whitford, son of Dallas G. Whitford.

Ayden Summer Activities Set

A summer schedule of activities has been announced for youths ages 9-19 in the Ayden area. The programs are offered by the Pitt Co. 4-H and Area volunteers with the cooperation of the Ayden Recreation Dept.

—Child Care: June 17, 1975, 9:30-4:00 at the Ayden Community Building. Instructions on proper care of children at home or babysitting will be taught by Mrs. Evelyn Spangler, Associate Home Economics Extension Agent. A certificate will be presented. Bring a bag lunch and a drink and 25 cents for craft materials. Ages 12-14 are welcome, a certificate will be issued.

—Bike Rodeo: June 18, 1975 1:00-4:00 p.m. Town Hall. Bike safety and maintenance instructions will be taught and a Bike Rodeo will be held to demonstrate skills. Prizes and awards will be given for these events. Ages 9-19 may participate.

—Baton: June 18, 19 & July 1 & 2 10:30 to 12 at the old gym. Bring your baton. Instructions will be given on various hand twirls & controls.

—Basketball: June 18, 10:30-12, old gym. Ages 9-19. Fundamentals of basketball will be taught.

—Wildlife: July 8 & 11 9-12 noon old town hall. The class will study wildlife conservation, plants and animals and construct bluebird boxes. Cost $1.50 for materials.

—Charm & Fashion: June 12th, 17th, & 19th at the Community Building. Good grooming, manicure, hair styling, posture, and make-up will be taught. Ages 9-15 may attend.

Other summer activities including camping, archery and cooking in the Ayden area sponsored by the Pitt Co. 4-H will be announced later.

Please contact Jean Johnson or Rose Daniels at the Extension Service 758-1196 for further information.

STRAIGHT TALK ABOUT GREENVILLE'S WATER

1. Q - Is Greenville's water safe to drink, and by what standards?

A - Yes! Greenville's water meets and exceeds in quality the standards set by the U.S. Public Health Service and the N.C. Department of Human Resources, Division of Health Services.

2. Q - What is the source of Greenville's water supply?

A - Greenville has a dual supply. Approximately 65 per cent of our water comes from the Tar River and the remaining 35 per cent from six deep wells.

3. Q - Is our water flouridated?

A - Yes. Flouride is added to the treated Tar River water and the deep well water has a natural flouride content.

4. Q - Why do we occasionally have a chlorine taste and odor in the water and why does it vary from day to day?

A - The chlorine taste and odor is a result of the chlorine residual which is maintained to keep the water bacteriologically safe. The concentration of chlorine, which determines the taste and odor, resulting from this residual varies with the temperature, time elapsed since treatment, rate of flow, and source of supply.

5. Q - Recent EPA reports have shown the presence of potentially hazardous chlorine-organic substances in potable water systems. Should we stop using chlorine as a disinfectant in our water?

A - No! Research performed to date indicates that trace amounts of chlorine-organic compounds may be produced in the disinfection process when chlorine is used. The effects of such small amounts of chlorine-organic compounds in drinking water are unknown. Much research is needed to determine if a problem really exists and if so, to determine a solution. The use of chlorine as a disinfectant over the past 50 years has been a major factor in the prevention of waterborne diseases. To discontinue the use of chlorine as a disinfectant could result in great harm to the public.

6. Q - What is the source of seasonal taste and odor problems encountered in our water and what can be done to eliminate them?

A - Seasonally we encounter taste and odor problems in the water being drawn from the Tar River. The predominate cause of these taste and odor problems is the result of an over abundance of algae in the river. In most instances the treatment process must be altered to deal with the specific problem. Our most effective means of eliminating tastes and odors originating in the river water is by the absorption process, using activated carbon. We are currently investigating the feasibility of using potassium permanganate in conjunction with activated carbon.

7. Q - What causes "muddy water" in the system?

A - Generally this is a build-up of chemically precipitated particles resulting from changes in pH and alkalinity within the distribution system. This occurs over a very long period of time and is found in various parts of the distribution system. During normal flow conditions this material usually settles in the pipe. When a rapid draw-off is exerted on the system, such as a main breakage or hydrant usage to fight fires, the velocity of the water in the main increases and this material becomes mixed in the water.

8. Q - The inhalation of asbestos fibers have been known to cause cancer. Is there any danger of developing cancer as a result of drinking water supplied through a system containing asbestos cement pipe?

A - No! Research performed to date indicates that there is no danger of developing cancer as a result of drinking water pumped through asbestos-cement pipe.

9. Q - What is hard water? Do we have hard or soft water and which is better?

A - The term "hardness" when applied to water refers to soap-neutralizing power of a water. The principal cause of hardness is attributed to the presence of calcium and magnesium ions in the water. Greenville's water has a hardness of about 25 parts per million and is considered to be a soft water. There is no conclusive evidence to indicate that soft water is better than hard water. However, less soap, detergents, and shampoo will be needed with soft water, and less energy is required for water heating.

10. Q - Does our Water Treatment Plant have carbon filters?

A - No. We do not have carbon filters, but we do use activated carbon in our treatment process and derive basically the same benefits which would be achieved with carbon filters.

11. Q - What analytical tests are performed on our water and what is the frequency of analysis?

A - Tests required to determine chemical dosages are performed around the clock, 365 days per year. Other water characteristics are measured only once daily. Some of the tests run include analysis for pH, chlorine residual, absence of bacteria, hardness, alkalinity, carbon dioxide, manganese, iron, alum residual, turbidity, threshold odor, copper, and fluoride.

12. Q - What is the new federal "Safe Drinking Water Act"?

A - Public Law 93-523, which was signed into Law December 16, 1974, provides for amending the Public Health Service Act to assure that the public is provided with safe drinking water.

13. Q - What will be the impact of the new Act on our treatment plant and water quality?

A - This cannot be determined until the primary and secondary drinking water regulations have been formulated. These regulations, which will be forthcoming shortly, will (a) specify contaminants which have an adverse effect on health, (b) establish a maximum permissible contaminant level and (c) prescribe treatment techniques and monitoring requirements for such contaminants. The Act will also provide for enforcement of such regulations and means of obtaining variances concerning compliance and implementation.

14. Q - Why was a piece of land purchased as a "future water plant site" when it has been only a couple of years since the capacity of the plant was doubled?

A - Considering the current growth rate of the City of Greenville, the economics involving pipe sizes, pumping distances and the availability of suitable land sites, it was necessary to secure a future plant site prior to any substantial development in the areas which would be acceptable as plant sites. There are no immediate plans for construction of a new Water Treatment Plant.

GREENVILLE UTILITIES

Set Park Program

GRIFTON—The Grifton Recreation Department Summer Park Program will begin on June 16 and meet until Aug. 8. Children ages 4 to 14 are invited to take part in the activities which will be each day from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Children may bring a bag lunch or go home to eat.

Registration will be Friday June 13 from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The cost of the program will be $5 per child for the summer. Families who cannot pay this fee are asked to contact Barbara Whitehead at the Park on Friday or call 524-4356.

Activities scheduled for the first week are games, music, painting wall murals, and making hula hoops.
