Apollo's Docking Probe Stuck

Soyuz Is Steered Into Linkup Position

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Two Soviet cosmonauts today successfully shifted the orbital path of their Soyuz spaceship, steering it into position for a cosmic linkup Thursday with an American Apollo craft.

Cosmonauts Alexei Leonov and Valeri Kubasov fired their spaceship engine for 21 seconds and reported the maneuver was performed perfectly. The Soviet Mission Control

Center reported the burn placed Soyuz in a near circular orbit of 137 to 139 miles above the earth, precisely where the cosmonauts want to be to receive the visiting Americans at 12:15 p.m. EDT Thursday over West Germany.

Apollo astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Vance D. Brand and Donald K. Slayton were informed of the successful maneuver by their control center, and Slayton remarked: "Superb. Great." "They're up there waiting for you," the U.S. capsule communicator said.

It was the second orbit change maneuver for Soyuz since it was launched from the Baikonur Cosmodrome in central Russia Tuesday.

Apollo also has conducted two orbital shifts and plans several more as it closes in on Soyuz, serving as the target vehicle in the celestial chase.

Aboard Apollo, the astronauts wrestled with what Mission Control termed a minor problem—a docking probe that was stuck in the tunnel which will connect the two spaceships when they are linked together.

Ground controllers said the problem should be easy to overcome. If the harpoon-like probe could not be removed, the spacemen would not be able to transfer between the two craft.

They said the problem did not endanger the American astronauts.

Neil Hutchinson, one of the flight directors, said even if the spacemen could not remove the probe with the simple fix, they could completely field strip the mechanism and get rid of it that way.

Brand tried to remove the device Tuesday night but was unable to undo probe latches with a special tool. He reported the tool passage was blocked by an out-of-position connecting mechanism.

Mission Control radioed instructions to remove a cover plate with a screwdriver and relocate the blocking mechanism.

The astronauts planned to do the job, expected to take 20 minutes, later in the day.

"It doesn't look like much of a problem," Slayton said.

The Soviet Control Center informed the cosmonauts of the situation and said: "They have no problem; they know what to do and how to do it. So everything is in order."

The cosmonauts also reported everything in order aboard Soyuz. They said they had a good view of earth and an especially good look at the Nile River.

They complained mildly when ground control interrupted their lunch twice to perform technical tasks.

Richardson Reports To Trustees

Pitt Hospital IS Accredited

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer
"Pitt Memorial Hospital is accredited," Hospital Director Jack Richardson told the Trustees last night, referring to recent fear that the hospital might not be reaccredited by the AMA Joint Committee on Accreditation.

"One of two things will happen—either the hospital will be given provisional accreditation until we can get into the new hospital or we'll be resurveyed in September, by which time we'll surely be ready," he said.

Board Chairman W.R. Duke praised Dr. Eric Ferrington and Richardson for the way they were able to answer and document all the questions put to them when the three went to Chicago June 19 to discuss the hospital's accreditation with officials of the Joint Committee on Accreditation.

"Pitt Memorial handled 52 or 53 patients during the June 26 disaster drill, and all went well," Richardson said. "The simulated bus wreck was good practice for the rescue people and for us also. We need at least two drills a year, though not always on such a large scale, to meet accreditation requirements."

Proposed constitution and bylaw changes were presented to the trustees for their scrutiny. Changes include having an assistant treasurer; having the top administrator be designated as director; having the executive committee of the Trustees responsible for reviewing the bylaws of both the trustees and the medical staff at least once a year before the annual meeting; having the trustees approve medical staff bylaws, rules, and regulations prior to their adoption and be made aware of recommendations insuring medical staff patient care evaluation activity studies and audits; having medical staff privileges reviewed by a joint conference committee when the Board does not concur with a medical staff recommendation; and having the director responsible for developing a system to provide for the safety of patients and employees.

It is thought now that about 40 of the 100 acres in the new hospital site might be sold to the state for placement of the medical school's basic medical science building.

This land would be located on the state road which connects the Stantonburg Road and Highway 43, North of the hospital site, the trustees were told. This would place the hospital, with its rehabilitation center, the mental health clinic, and the basic medical science building all adjacent to one another.

The budget for the new fiscal year is almost ready. Included in it is a $190,000 labor cost increase expected when minimum wage goes to $2.25 Jan. 1. Also expected is a big increase in utilities, the cost of which is running between $11,000 and $12,000 per month now.

It's expected that the new hospital, with more than 300 beds, can be run with little more labor than the present 200-bed facility. Trustees were told. Better arrangement, many improved message and other types of systems, and all private rooms, which will eliminate the high percentage of transfers now needed, all will make this possible, Richardson said.

A contract with ARA Food Services was approved. Beginning with the new fiscal year, ARA will take over management of the hospital's dietary department. The hospital expects to save $11,000 the first year on this arrangement and hopes to have better delivery and more selection of foods for the patients as a result.

The Board accepted the resignations from the medical staff of Dr. Robert Cargill, dentist; Dr. Al Weimer, anesthesiologist; and Dr. Paul Erckman, pediatrician.

A resolution of appreciation was passed honoring Dr. Joe Pou, who recently left Greenville. Pou served as chairman of the Citizens for the new Pitt Memorial Hospital and worked hard and long for the passage of the bond issue to build the new hospital.

Construction Manager Ralph Hall said the hospital is 45 per cent finished, with more than $7 million paid out.

American Health facilities of Atlanta has been retained to program equipment for the new hospital. Only about $750,000 is allocated at present for new equipment, so as much as is possible, old equipment from the present hospital will have to be used, he said.

Hall invited each of the trustees to take a quarter-mile hike each way through the hospital, saying it's impossible to appreciate the scope of the project until you tour it.

Tobacco Hearing Friday

First District Congressman Walter B. Jones, chairman of the House Subcommittee on Tobacco, announced Tuesday that the Subcommittee will hold formal hearings in Greenville this Friday. The hearings will be held between 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. at the Moose Lodge in Greenville.

A major topic for discussion is a bill introduced by Rep. Dawson Mathis of Georgia which would permit transfer and leasing of tobacco allotment across county lines to adjoining counties. Other proposed legislation to be discussed is a change from the present support price on tobacco to a 70 per cent parity concept, which, under present conditions would increase support prices 10 to 12 cents per pound, Jones said.

Members of the committee who will be present in Greenville are Rep. Jones, chairman; Rep. John Breckinridge of Kentucky; Rep. Charles Rose of North Carolina; Rep. John Gettelle of South Carolina and Rep. William Wampler of Virginia.

Jones, who said he is aware of the controversy surrounding both of these proposals, noted, "This is an effort on my part to permit farmers, processors and warehousemen the opportunity to be heard and to permit the members of the committee to appraise themselves of prevailing circumstances in Eastern North Carolina, and to receive the views and comments of as many interested parties as time permits."

The hearing is the final one in a series held in cities in Virginia, Kentucky, South Carolina and North Carolina.

Zarb Expects Hike In Gasoline Prices

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb told Congress today that gasoline prices could be expected to rise another two to five cents a gallon between now and Labor Day.

He said gasoline prices could be expected to fall sometime in September — if the Middle East oil producers do not raise their price in the interim.

His testimony came as Congress was edging toward final action on the first part of its energy program while President Ford prepared to ask the lawmakers to let U.S. oil prices rise.

With energy matters occupying most of the time of the Senate and House, Ford planned to add more to the agenda — possibly today — by submitting his plan to gradually raise the government-controlled price on most U.S.-produced oil.

That will bring Ford into sharp conflict with the heavily Democratic Congress. The administration's energy plan is based on cutting consumption by sharply raising fuel prices while the Democrats are pushing for mandatory conservation and lower prices.

Zarb appeared before subcommittees of the Senate Government Operations and Commerce committees, which are investigating the reasons behind declining inventories of gasoline and the recent increase in gasoline prices. Oil company executives testify Thursday.

Zarb said the FEA has seen no evidence to indicate the large oil companies engaged in a conspiracy to force up gasoline prices by creating a shortage. He conceded there could be some brief regional shortages during the summer travel months but said the agency does not anticipate any nationwide shortages.

$85.57 Day In Greenville

The Greenville Tobacco Market yesterday averaged $85.57 per hundred pounds after selling 800,430 pounds on the first day of the 1975 selling season. Last year the Greenville market averaged $83.45 per hundred pounds on opening day after selling 822,268 pounds of tobacco for $686,221.

The Wendell Tobacco Market obtained the highest average in the Eastern Belt yesterday which was $88.88 per hundred pounds. That market sold 20,126 pounds of leaf for $17,888.

The Wilson market sold more tobacco than any other market in the Eastern Belt. The market sold 1,105,635 pounds of leaf for an average of $85.95 per hundred pounds.

The lowest average in the Eastern Belt was received on the Williamston market yesterday. That market averaged $81.84 per hundred pounds after selling 240,454 pounds of tobacco for $196,785.

The Kinston market averaged $84.00 per hundred pounds while the average received on the Rocky Mount market was $83.88 per hundred pounds.

The tobacco markets in Ahsokie, Tarboro and Robersonville opened yesterday with the other markets in the Eastern Belt but those three markets did not hold sales.

Agree To Seek Israel's Ouster

By FAROUK NASSAR
Associated Press Writer
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Forty Islamic nations resolved early today to seek Israel's expulsion from the United Nations at the next General Assembly session, the Saudi Arabian radio reported.

The resolution was approved at the closing session of a four-day conference of Moslem foreign ministers at Jidda, the Saudi port on the Red Sea.

Saudi Arabia's foreign minister, Prince Saud el Faisal, who presided over the meetings, told a news conference a committee was appointed to "follow up and insure the implementation of this and all other resolutions taken by the conference."

A spokesman for the Palestine Liberation Organization said the committee would begin talks with other African and Third World nations to line up a majority vote against Israel in the General Assembly.

Farouk Kaddoumi, the head of the PLO political department and its representative at the conference, said the resolution represented the "determined will of 600 million Moslems around the world."

The resolution was approved two days after Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger warned Third World nations that attempts to "manipulate" the world organization might turn it into "an empty shell." Kissinger's speech was generally viewed at U.N. headquarters in New York as a warning that U.S. financial support of the organization might be greatly reduced if Israel were expelled.

CBD Meetings

The Downtown Greenville Association has urged all merchants in the proposed Evans Street Mall area to attend one of two meetings in the Central Business District office, 319 S. Evans Street on Thursday.

The meetings are scheduled for 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., according to Dave Mosier, the association's executive secretary.

Mosier noted that the staff of the Redevelopment Commission will explain the contractor's construction schedule for the mall and answer questions concerning the mall.

The association also invited other interested persons to attend the meetings.

Shipping An 18th Century Home Piece By Piece

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer
ROCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — For 20 years, Arnold Skromme and his wife collected 18th Century furniture. Now, they have found a colonial house to match and plan to ship it home to Illinois piece by piece.

Skromme has been dismantling the 217-year-old, sixroom frame house for the past two weeks and soon will pack the boards, beams, split-board lathing and even original "rose head" nails into a freight car bound for Moline, Ill.

"This is a home for the rest of our lives. It will be the last we'll ever build," the 58-year-old agricultural engineer for John Deere Co. said Tuesday.

He estimated that the project will cost "between $50,000 and $100,000, at least." Along with six college students, his wife, a son and a neighbor from Moline, Skromme has marked and numbered every disassembled piece of the house.

According to state records, the house was built in 1758. It has never had electricity, water or plumbing. It relies on six fire places converging into a single chimney for heat. No one has lived in it regularly since 1950.

"We've been collecting 18th Century furniture and now it's all in a modern ranch-style house and it doesn't fit at all. We wanted to get a house for our furniture," Skromme said.

He said he had looked at more than 50 old houses from eastern Pennsylvania to northern New England.

Last August, he came upon the Dame homestead, as the house here is known. He bought it for an undisclosed price.

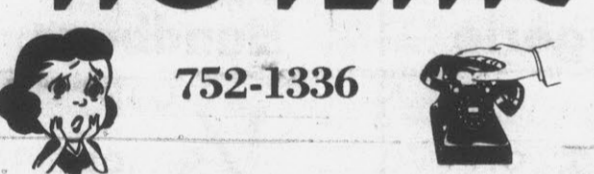

Local historians say the house was built by Jabez Dame in 1758 on land bought by his father two years earlier. Twice it was attacked by Indians and once suffered fire damage. Except from 1854 to 1866, the 27-by-37-foot house was continually owned by the Dame family until Eldredge Dame agreed to sell to Skromme.

Skromme said that when the project is finished, only a granite foundation, some timber used in a renovation project in 1842 and the six-fireplace chimney will remain in New Hampshire.

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day.

OVEREATERS ANONYMOUS

Is there an Overeaters Anonymous in Greenville? I know I am a compulsive eater and feel I might be able to fight it better if I had the companionship of others who are, also. I really need to lose weight. Mrs. G.A.

Hotline has heard of no Overeaters Anonymous chapter in Greenville. We'd love to hear of one. There was an article in the July issue of Good Housekeeping Magazine by someone who greatly benefited from being a member of the organization—100 pounds worth.

According to this article, O.A. meetings are based on the proven effectiveness of Alcoholics Anonymous's approach. "My name is Janice," the author had to admit, "I am a compulsive eater." She was then provided with a high-protein, low-carbohydrate, three-measured-meals-a-day diet and a food sponsor whom she could call day or night for encouragement. The same serenity prayer said to be used by A.A. is used by O.A.

O.A.'s headquarters are at 2365 Westwood Boulevard, Suite 25, Los Angeles, Calif. 90064; its phone number, 213-475-8654. Yearly conventions are held in Los Angeles. A monthly magazine called Lifeline is published there.

WHAT'S LIABILITY?

I am interested in knowing the legal dangers of becoming involved in an accident by giving First Aid. I want to know what could be done to the person who offered help if they failed and the person died. J.T.

Rosemary Green in the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office found the following paragraph from the North Carolina General Statutes. "Any person who renders first aid or emergency assistance at the scene of a motor vehicle accident on any street or highway to any person injured as a result of such accident shall not be liable in civil damages for any acts or omissions relating to such services rendered, unless such acts or omissions amount to wanton conduct or intentional wrong-doings."

"Court cases will at times not follow through as the statute reads," Ms. Green said, although they do in the great majority of cases. She also said doctors are required by law and their code of ethics to help accident victims.

Chinese Influence Extends To Woman's Future Hairstyle

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Good news for fortune cookie stuffers looking for new messages — it seems there will be a Chinese-type hairstyle in every fashionable woman's future come fall.

It may even be called Fung-hwang time. The legendary pheasant-like bird of good omen hasn't been seen since the days of Confucius, and should reappear for a momentous event. Or so the lore goes.

Meanwhile the Oriental influence in fashion is here. In hairdos it may be seen in gleaming long straight hair, sleek short hair, shiny bangs, intriguing queues (long braids) decorated with butterflies or posies, chop-chop cuts and other close-to-the-head Ming Toy styles. More interesting styles will emerge, too, for sophisticated mature women as the Eastern look in fashion gets underway, predicts Aileen Platt, fashion director of Roux. She has designed four handsome coifs to emphasize variations in hair color from soft to the vivid jewel tones highlighted with compatible tints which may complement the new fashions.

"I've been trying to think of Oriental styles suitable for every type woman. Many fashion people are predicting that black will be the right color hair for new fashions. But Western women do not look good with black hair in my opinion. I don't think the fashion look should be carried so far that it looks like a costume party. It should be an American version of Oriental styles.

"Putting a blue cast over black hair would give a blue onyx tone which would be more flattering than dull black. Highlighted with a few strands streaked with bright blue, lapis and jade green, it could be a terrific look because it provides opalescence," she contends.

Her crystal ball envisions brown hair streaked with carnelian, and she can see striking effects achieved by using a lively tiger-eye gold to gild blonde hair "which should have more impact with brocade" than ordinary pale blonde.

Some European women, she says, are coloring their hair completely in jewel-like colors such as deep amethyst, a combination of cyclamen and a russet rose, but from her own long-time experience with hair coloring, she doubts the average American woman would go that far. But highlights they like.

Among the prettiest Chinese styles are those dressed with butterflies. If one's hair isn't long enough for a queue, a fall may be pinned to it. It may be braided or just "planted" with flowers, she suggests.

"To achieve a sleek hairdo with the kind of body needed for these hairdos, the hair should be shaped underneath when the top layer is being cut, hairdressers tell me."

If a woman gets bored with her jewel-tone hairdo, "she can always throw a tint over the whole thing to cover it up," she advises.

The jewel tints are based on five accent colors — yellow, red, green, blue and violet, combined with other tints and must be applied professionally. The tints may be applied after the hair has been bleached and colored, but can be put over any hair if the tint is darker than the color of the hair. A few strands are tinted to the desired highlights, which should result in a more glowing effect.

Main Passions Are Good Company, Food

By RONALD E. COHEN
United Press International
Breathes there a hostess who hasn't made mental plans for a dinner party, then had second thoughts because someone in the family was on a diet?

Well, that's happened to Beryl Marton more than once, and she decided to do something about it.

She wrote a book — "Diet for One, Dinner for All" (Golden Press).

It does not set forth a specific, foolproof formula for losing weight. Instead it shows how you can fit a dieting regimen into your normal pattern of living, eating and entertaining.

In an interview, Mrs. Marton said the book is designed for people who diet, but who have to feed other people at the same time.

She says her two main passions in life are good food and good company. These days she is surrounded by both. She and her husband, Mort, a former woodenware designer-manufacturer, moved from New York's suburban Westchester County to Vermont several years ago.

They bought a lodge near Stratton Mountain. Fundador Lodge is a ski resort in the winter, a vacation retreat in the summer. Vacationers and local residents alike hail the cuisine, and the kitchen is Mrs. Marton's personal domain.

Each evening she cooks for 50 people. She estimates that she eats half a serving of sauce just tasting it during the preparation.

She concedes you can lose weight on food like broiled chicken, unbuttered vegetables, lean meat.

But wouldn't you rather lose it with shrimp remoulade, fillet of beef with mushroom sauce, mousseline potatoes, mixed green salad, fruit in champagne with sherbet, and a red bordeaux to wash it down? And all for less than 500 calories, like all the menus in her book? Mrs. Marton says you can, with half a portion of shrimp with sauce; beef with two tablespoons of sauce; a half portion of potatoes; and a half serving of fruit with a scoop of sherbet. If you have watched your calories the rest of the day, she says, go right ahead and have full portions.

"You have to be terribly careful with hors d'oeuvre," she added. "You can eat 250 calories just nibbling."

She disagrees with people who do without breakfast or lunch, and really think they are doing themselves a favor.

"They'll eat two times as much chicken or three times as much fish or a whole pound of steak — that's 900 calories — at dinner."

But she added: "I think you're better off eating 500 calories of steaks than 500 calories of carbohydrates. But you should really not eliminate all sugar from your diet. You need fruit for the natural sugar in it."

She thinks herself lucky not to have a passion for any really forbidden food, but concedes you must adjust your mind to dieting and learn to push away from the table.

Here is Beryl Marton's recipe for mousseline potatoes: Saute one finely chopped onion in two tablespoons of butter until limp. Saute a half pound chopped mushrooms in one tablespoon of butter until moisture disappears. Mix eight medium boiled, mashed potatoes, the onion, the mushrooms and one half cup of sour cream in a bowl, and season with salt and pepper. Pat mixture into a greased, shallow two-quart baking dish and sprinkle with one-quarter cup of grated parmesan cheese. Bake in preheated 400-degree oven for 25 minutes. Makes eight servings of 183 calories each.

Dog Owners Come Visiting Despite Reader's Allergy

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am highly allergic to dogs. The odor of dogs makes me sick. I can even smell it on people's clothing. My problem is that my son has married a dog lover, and they have a dog.

I explained to them what my problem was and even offered to buy my daughter-in-law a monkey or any other kind of pet she wanted if only she would get rid of the dog. So far, she still has the dog.

Of course I can't go over to their place, and when they come to see me, the odor of their dog is on them, and I can't tolerate it for long.

It seems to me that my daughter-in-law could live without a dog if she had to choose between having one and seeing me. What do you think?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Asking a dog lover to get rid of her dog is asking a lot. But I agree, people are more important than dogs. Or they should be.

DEAR ABBY: I've been a widow for two years and have relocated to a completely different area where I have no close friends and no one to talk to about this.

I met a gentleman last year, and I like him very much. He wants to marry me, but I don't want to relinquish my freedom.

I do not want a legal tie with him for one reason. He is addicted to alcohol. He seems to handle it wisely, but I don't want to be his wife. Also, we are both in business and I need some time to myself. I enjoy his company enormously, however, and we are compatible in every way. I am 57 and he is 63.

I've considered suggesting to him the new "living together" arrangement so many younger people now find to their liking. He's pressuring me for an answer.

What do you say?

"57 AND HOLDING"

DEAR "57": Remain holding. Don't marry him feeling as you do. And don't suggest living together, either. Continue to see him as long as you enjoy his company, but if he gives you an "either-or," take the "or."

DEAR ABBY: The problem briefly: Our daughter (a good student at an out-of-town college) recently volunteered the information that she is a lesbian. We were stunned since we had no inkling of this.

After discussions and correspondence on the subject, she flatly refuses any form of counseling and says that she is happy at the present time and sees no need to change.

What more can we as parents do to keep her from ruining her life? We love her.

NEW YORKER

DEAR NEW YORKER: Why do you assume that her sexual preference will necessarily "ruin" her life? If you love her, accept her as she is and let her know it.

Alcove Bed May Solve Those Space Problems

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer
Alcove beds are becoming popular in the current space crunch.

It is reasonably simple for an experienced do-it-yourselfer to build one, if the space is available. It is the choice of method that puzzles some do-it-yourselfers.

If the smaller, lighter, 30-inch mattress is to be used, setting it on a frame covered with plywood that is supported on the three sides nearest the walls may do the trick. But if a larger mattress — 36 inch or 39-inch — is to be used, it may be more reassuring to have firmer support.

A showroom at High Point, N.C., uses a method which provides the super sturdiness necessary when a larger mattress is used. At least you'll know with this cage-like contraption that you aren't going to sag. Even so, many do-it-yourselfers might feel that the additional support isn't necessary even with the larger mattress. Much depends on the confidence of the worker.

The box-like frame was built of 2 by 2s with 2 by 4s used for supports and 2 by 2s used as crosspieces. Supports and crosspieces were set about 8 inches apart. It was covered with 3/4-inch chipboard. Frame and stringers were nailed to the 2 by 4 supports with 3 1/2-inch nails after the holes had been drilled in the 2 by 2s to prevent splitting.

Four 2 by 2s were cut the length of the alcove and the supports were cut 14 1/2 inches to provide a height of about 20 inches above the floor when the mattress was in place.

Paneling was used over the studs of the alcove opening's frame, which was built on 16-inch studs on center with allowances made for top plate and sole plate on either side. A double header supported the short studs that ran from the top plate to the header.

The room at High Point was designed by Douglas Sackfield of Simmons' Interior Design Department to illustrate a special "bunkie" mattress which can be set into the alcove. It is the kind of mattress used in bunk beds.

"Actually a board over the frame isn't necessary with this mattress because it comes with a piece of plywood and foam rubber attached to it," said a spokesman for the designer. "It can be used with other bases."

They worked with 40-inch by 76-inch dimensions to accommodate the 39-inch mattress, 75 inches long. (A 36-inch mattress is also available.)

Another kind of frame, the spokesman pointed out, might have supports at the ends with slats across an upper frame that could support the mattress with its built-in board. This method would provide storage space under the bed if one needs it.

DO-IT-YOURSELF ALCOVE—This one has bookshelves and the mattress is set on a heavy box.

Advancing Age Made Her Work Harder

By DENNIS MONTGOMERY

Associated Press Writer
MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP) — Poet Beulah Bell first broke into print with a protest song. Now, after a 57-year hiatus, she's publishing again.

"The first thing I wrote of any note was in '18," the 88-year-old black woman says. "It was a protest song during the war. I called it the 'Negro Soldier Blues.'"

Unlike most latter day war-protest songs, this one was for fighting — and the right of blacks to do some of it. Then 32, Mrs. Bell dashed off the eight-verse song after the U.S. Army refused to induct her brother for World War I. It was a time, the song notes, for setting people free at home and abroad.

Renamed "The Friendly Adjutant-Protest Song," it's among 60 pieces published in "Two Roads," a 75-page, soft-bound volume Mrs. Bell paid to have printed.

"I can't take it with me," she says. "It don't cost too much. I guess I'll make it back."

Sales, she says, are going rather well. Copies are distributed through area groceries and drugstores.

Divided into sections titled Sacred, Young Love, Family and Patriotic, her poems reflect her rural heritage with homespun language, simple rhythm and often a touch of earthy humor.

Born in Cape Girardeau, Mo., Mrs. Bell attended school through the ninth grade and made education her profession. "I studied up on some subjects so I could pass the teachers' exam and I taught school," she said. "That was about 1907 I guess."

"It was a country school down at Rock Ledge. If somebody didn't take me in a horse and buggy I'd have to ride a freight train, in the caboose. Some very amusing things happened."

There was the time, she says, she was chased to class by a pack of wild hogs, something which seems funnier now than it did at the time.

Later she married and moved to Mount Vernon where she was active in the church, the school and civil rights efforts. She organized the forerunner of the local PTA and reared two children. Through the years she continued writing as a hobby.

"I had to go on the state when I was a little older, when my husband and son passed," she says. A welfare caseworker noticed a stack of her poems on a table one day and encouraged her to seek an outlet.

Scholarship Fund Given ECU Medical School

A $15,000 scholarship fund for future students in the East Carolina University School of Medicine has been established by Lucy Hardee Olsen of Durham in honor of her daughter, Roberta Olsen Slivon of Lake Bluff, Ill.

Mrs. Olsen formally presented a check to begin the fund to ECU Chancellor Leo Jenkins Tuesday. According to her agreement with ECU officials, the fund will be used to award scholarships to selected medical students, regardless of race or sex, who demonstrate unusual promise and interest in a career in medicine, as well as good moral character and academic excellence.

Scholarships will be awarded on the basis of recommendation by the medical school's admissions committee.

Mrs. Olsen's father, the late Dr. Parrott R. Hardee of Granville County, was a physician, as well as two of her brothers, the late Dr. E. Bacon Hardee of Vero Beach, Fla. and Dr. Walter P. Hardee of Durham who retired from practice in 1973.

Her daughter, for whom the scholarship is to be named, is a graduate of Bryn Mawr College and studied three years at the Duke University School of Medicine.

Mrs. Olsen described herself as "a longtime admirer" of Chancellor Jenkins and of "his efforts to establish a medical school in eastern North Carolina."

She is a former postmaster in Granville County and taught in the public schools there before joining the teaching staff of the American School at Manila in the Philippines, where she met and married Carl E. Olsen of Oak Park, Ill., an import-export agent. The Olsens were imprisoned by the Japanese at Santo Tomas during World War II.

Olsen died July 17, 1960.

"We are indeed most grateful to Mrs. Olsen for her generous gift to our medical program," said Chancellor Jenkins. "To receive this scholarship fund during the critical early phase of the development of the ECU School of Medicine is not only a valuable source of financial support but a great encouragement to our medical faculty."

"I am sure the fund will benefit many deserving young students of medicine in years to come."

Also expressing appreciation for the scholarship fund were Dr. Edwin Monroe, ECU Vice Chancellor for Health Affairs, and Dr. William Laupus, newly-appointed dean of the medical school.

Plan Liquor By The Liter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The familiar half-pint of booze, often smuggled in the American hip pocket, will be a thing of the past under a new Treasury Department plan.

In fact, in the spirit of metric conversion, the department proposes to do away with the half-pint, pint, fifth, quart and other measures familiar to U.S. drinkers.

The elixir itself isn't threatened, just the standard size bottles it comes in. Treasury is asking drinkers of liquor to join wine lovers in the forefront of the United States' conversion to the metric system.

The department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms formally proposed on Tuesday that distilled spirits sold in the United States be packaged in six standard size metric bottles by Jan. 1, 1979.

The changeover would begin next Jan. 1 with both metric and non-metric bottles in use during the interim period.

A changeover of wine bottles to metric sizes already is under way, also to be completed in 1979.

There are eight bottle sizes under consideration, with hearings scheduled for Sept. 10 in Washington on the change.

Dies Of Immolation In Restroom Of Airliner

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A Miami man entered a restroom aboard an airborne National Airlines jumbo jet, doused himself with a flammable liquid and lit it, police say.

Officers said the man, identified by the airline as Anthony G. Townsend, 24, was severely burned and was dead by the time the DC10 made an unscheduled landing at Jacksonville late Tuesday.

None of the other 57 passengers aboard Flight 1601, en route to Miami from New York's Kennedy International Airport, was injured, police said.

"The restroom was charred from the intense heat, but there was no indication the plane was ever in danger," said Jacksonville police spokesman Robert Morgan.

No suicide note was discovered, but police said Townsend's body was found slumped over newspapers which he apparently had spread on the floor to aid in starting the blaze.

Townsend had also stuffed his shirt into the sink and a coat into the toilet, apparently to seal the room off, officers said.

Police said they could not immediately determine the type of liquid used in what they described as an apparent self-immolation. They said it might have been a can of lighter fluid.

The fire was discovered by a stewardess who opened the restroom door for another passenger, 7-year-old Karen Piarro of Miami Beach, Fla., said Anthony Piarro, the child's father.

"The stewardess opened the door and flames shot out," said Piarro, who with the other passengers completed the trip to Miami aboard an Eastern Air Lines flight. "We all rushed to the front of the plane."

Another passenger, George Pizarro of Miami, also said there was some panic when the flames shot out.

"There was a flash of light," Pizarro said. "Stewardesses came running down the aisle, shouting, 'Tell the captain, tell the captain,' and the other passengers kind of panicked a little."

Pizarro said stewardesses "worked fire extinguishers for

Auto Sales Are Improved

DETROIT (AP) — Sales of U.S.-built cars in early July were the strongest for the first 10 days of any month since last October, topping normally stronger June levels by 6 per cent.

However, deliveries for July 1-10 were off 5 per cent from the weak levels of a year ago and were the lowest for the period since 1971.

Auto officials concede the industry still hasn't snapped out of its two-year slump, but they said the latest figures — running counter to the expected seasonal trend — are a further indication of gradual recovery in the new car market and the economy as a whole.

Early July sales normally are off 8 per cent from the first 10 days of June.

"The industry is moving into the second half of 1975 with excellent prospects for increasing sales," Ford Vice President Bennett E. Bidwell said. "The economic climate is improving."

GM Vice President Mack Worden said the industry's improvement "is in line with a strengthening of the nation's economy."

One analyst said early July sales figures released Tuesday indicate the industry is recovering faster than had been expected.

Leaning To N.Y. Choice

MIAMI (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss says the party is leaning toward New York City as the site of next year's convention, the Miami Herald said today.

In a Washington-dated story, Strauss was quoted as saying that published reports that New York had been selected are not "inaccurate enough to be called wrong."

A party committee is scheduled to meet Sept. 8 to select a city for the convention, and the other two primary contenders are New Orleans and Los Angeles, the newspaper said.

The Herald also reported that Miami Beach, site of the last two Republican conventions and the 1972 Democratic convention, apparently will not be host to either convention in 1976.

Quoting unidentified GOP sources, The Herald reported that state Republican leaders have passed the word they don't want their convention in Florida. And Strauss was quoted as saying Miami Beach was out of the running for the Democrats because its facilities are booked for the week the Democrats want.

$325,000 Earmarked To Start Renewal Program

The city has earmarked roughly $325,000 in Community Development funds for the first phase of an urban renewal program in the South Evans Street area near Southside.

Responsibility for the project, under the city's Community Development format, has been assigned to the Redevelopment Commission, according to Joe Laney, executive director.

Laney said that the project will be bounded generally on the east by Evans Street, on the west by Seaboard Coast Line Railroad, on the south by Norfolk & Southern Railway, and on the north by 11th Street. The proposed program will involve approximately a 12 square block area.

The present use of the project area, which is adjacent to both the Redevelopment Commission's Southside renewal project and Newtown housing development, is mixed, according to Laney. The northern portion is mixed residential and industrial while the remainder of the area is primarily low income residential with quite a few dilapidated houses.

Plans now call for a detailed inspection to be made of all the structures in the project area to see whether they are in sound enough condition to make it economically feasible to repair them and bring them up to standards. If they can be repaired, the emphasis will be on rehabilitation. Laney said that if structures are not sound enough to warrant repairs, the property will be cleared.

The director explained that it was felt that a market analysis by someone experienced in that field would be helpful. A plan for the implementation of the program, to be developed by the city, would be based on the recommendation by the analyst.

The Redevelopment Commission, meeting Monday night authorized the execution of a contract for a maximum of $1,750 with Francis Scott Key of Atlanta for the marketability study.

Key, Laney added, will examine existing uses in the area, recommend proposed reuses for the land, and with each proposed reuse offer an idea of what the marketability of the property will be. Some of the property may not be marketable at all, he noted.

Key has done a great deal of analytical work in Greenville for the Commission, it was pointed out, including studies in Shore Drive, the Central Business District project, and in Southside.

The market study, which will begin soon, should be completed within 30 days and include an update on all of the local market data.

The $325,000 budget allocation includes an estimated $162,000 for acquisition, $50,000 for project improvements, $12,000 for site clearance and administrative costs, and some $100,000 for other activities including relocation and other acquisition expenses. Laney emphasized that the Commission plans to work closely with citizens in the program area to insure that they get their input into the project and help to shape the overall plan.

Prices Down On Ga.-Fla.

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) — Prices on the Georgia-Florida flue-cured tobacco markets Tuesday were down an average of more than $2 per hundred pounds.

Sales Tuesday averaged $85.97 per hundredweight on volume of 3,415,061 pounds, according to the federal-state Market News Service.

Monday's average was $87.99 per hundred weight, the highest of the season.

After five days of sales, 22.5 million pounds have been sold at an average slightly over $87 per hundred pounds.

Meanwhile, in Atlanta, Commissioner of Agriculture Tommy Irvin announced an extension of the increased sales rate to allow more tobacco to pass through the warehouses during the first four weeks of the sales, expected to last 12 to 14 weeks.

The extension means that farmers in the belt may be able to sell half their crop within the next four or five weeks, Irvin said.

Bulloch County growers met Tuesday night in Statesboro to consider ways to bring up the tobacco prices. Randy Taylor, a spokesman for the growers, said suggestions ranged "from the extremes of burning of excess or cutting down excess acreage allotted and planted this year, to milder speculations on no selling until desired tobacco prices are reached."

Taylor said no definite plan was adopted.

Chooses To Await Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—A decision not to commute the sentences of the 82 persons on North Carolina's death row has been reaffirmed by Gov. Jim Holshouser of North Carolina.

Holshouser told a news conference Tuesday in answer to questions he would maintain a "basic posture" of awaiting court decisions on the constitutionality of the capital punishment law.

A group of opponents of the death penalty announced last week that they were sending Holshouser a petition urging him to reduce the sentences of death row occupants to extended prison terms. The signers included Democratic presidential hopeful Terry Sanford and the Rev. Collins Kilburn of the social ministry of the State Council of Churches.

Holshouser said he had not received the petition yet, but he reiterated the position on commutation he originally took more than a year ago—that he would not act while the death penalty question was under review in the federal courts.

"I don't think it is proper for me to step in until final (court) review," said the governor.

Self-Sufficiency In Oil Sought

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Argentina aims for self-sufficiency in oil production by 1977, Energy Secretary Miguel Revestido announced recently.

Revestido said the government will build a new refinery at Comodoro Rivadavia in Southern Argentina capable of refining 5,000 cubic meters of oil per day as part of the plan to boost production. Argentina currently produces about 87 per cent of its petroleum and imports the rest.

Warns Bureaucracy Will Grow

By WILLIAM E. HAUDA
MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Civilization is doomed unless some way can be found to check the growth of bureaucracy.

That warning was issued by Prof. Arthur H. Robinson, a University of Wisconsin geographer, as he unveiled a new rule that for the first time showed the relationship between Parkinson's Law and the Peter Principle—two satirical commentaries on society.

Robinson's Law was outlined in a paper the professor presented to the exclusive Madison Literary Club.

"I do not want to become yet another prophet of doom, for I am essentially an optimist," Robinson said. "But I must point out that if Robinson's Law is allowed to operate unchecked it will have a profound impact upon civilization."

The professor said his law demonstrates that bureaucracy must continue to expand and "the only hope for the human race is for the rate of population increase to continue to exceed that of bureaucratic growth."

Robinson said population increase must eventually be checked, by limits of space if nothing else, and that means bureaucratic growth will catch up. At some time, he said, "the entire population will become one big bureaucracy which, of course, under such a condition could no longer grow."

cratic operation.

Cyril Northote Parkinson, an English professor of history, proclaimed in 1957 that work expands so as to fill the time available for its completion. Canadian Prof. Laurence J. Peter declared in 1969 that, in any hierarchy, every employee tends to rise to the level of his incompetence.

"One day, while reflecting on the universal nature of Parkinson's and Peter's laws, it dawned on me that they had to be related and that they could only be corollaries or derivations of some higher, more universal law," Robinson said.

"To begin with, it was obvious that the one law, Parkinson's, dealt with the growth of a hierarchy while the other, Peter's, dealt with motion within a hierarchy.

The physical facilities are surveyed with a view to shifting offices, partitions, desks, telephones and so on," Robinson said.

Robinson said any reorganization within a bureaucracy requires energy and, if productivity is to remain constant during the change, it can be maintained only by adding energy through growth of the bureaucracy.

"Robinson's Law must operate because promotion is obviously required in a bureaucracy since the natural loss of the more experienced in a hierarchy must be replaced by the less experienced."

Evaluating New Information On King's Slaying

MEMPHIS (AP)—The Atlanta Police Department sent two intelligence officers to Memphis Tuesday to check possible new information in the 1968 slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a spokesman said.

A spokesman said the officers will try to talk to Atty. Gen. Ray Ashley in Nashville today and later may try to meet with Houston attorney Percy Foreman, one of King's original attorneys.

gation," the spokesman said. "Some of it (the information) checks out and some of it doesn't...there doesn't appear to be any CIA involvement at all."

Another spokesman said the information, received last month by Atlanta Police Commissioner Reginald Eaves, is inconclusive as to a possible conspiracy in the King slaying.

"But much of the information we received...appears to be true," the spokesman said.

"At that point, a critical condition would be reached, for it follows from the operation of Robinson's Law that if a bureaucracy is limited to a constant size then its total productivity must steadily decrease," he said.

"Obviously, if the decrease were not somehow checked, ultimately a condition of zero productivity must occur. The world's entire population would then be one large bureaucracy which would accomplish nothing positive because it would be entirely occupied with reorganization."

Robinson, who said he has no idea of what should be done to prevent bureaucracy from overtaking the world's population, enunciated a law that shows the relationship between the two accepted principles of bureaucratic operation.

"Robinson's Law may be described in operational terms as the principle of promotional innovation. Stated very simply, the principle of promotional innovation derives from the fundamental law that in any bureaucracy work alters upon advancement."

Robinson said proof of the validity of his law is apparent in the behavior of all bureaucrats who have been promoted, regardless of whether they have reached the level of their incompetence. He said they "make waves" and call attention to themselves by reorganizing, in an effort both to demonstrate that they merited promotion and because they are looking forward to another in the future.

Jumped Out; Minor Hurts

WARRENTON, N.C. (AP)—A Virginia minister suffered only minor injuries when he jumped from a speeding car along Interstate 85 Monday to escape kidnapers.

The Rev. Harmon Volz of LaCrosse, Va., told the Warren County sheriff's office he jumped because his two kidnapers had threatened to kill him.

"It's a wonder that he's still alive," said Warren County Sheriff Clarence Davis of Volz' escape just inside the North Carolina line. He was treated and released by Community Memorial Hospital in South Hill, Va.

Wife Assault Charged Judge

WHITEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — State District Court Judge O. Wilton Hunt was released on his own recognizance Tuesday after being charged with assaulting his wife, Joyce, court officials said.

A warrant for Hunt was issued Friday by a magistrate after consultation with Chief 13th District Court Judge Ray H. Walton and the districts other judge, Lewis Sauls.

According to the sheriff, Volz said his two kidnapers jumped into his car when he stopped at a stop sign while enroute home from Emporia, Va.

"One of them put a hard object to the back of the minister's head," Davis said. "He thinks it was a pistol. And they demanded that they drive him to his home."

The sheriff said Volz told him that as the men searched his house, he hid his wallet and ran into a bedroom and locked the door. But the abductors kicked the door in and forced Volz to accompany them.

He would not go into detail but said, "provable" information relates to smuggling and narcotics involving either confessed killer James Earl Ray or the slaying itself.

As for the conspiracy possibility, he said, "We have nothing conclusive."

But the spokesman said the information could open new leads involving a conspiracy. "It looks like what we might turn up could be true," he said. "We just don't know whether we can prove it."

Mrs. Hunt charges that her husband pulled hair out, leaving a bald spot about the size of a half dollar, and pushed her over furniture, causing bruises to her foot and arm.

She further alleges that the July 7 assault broke stitches from recent breast surgery.

Hunt's trial has been scheduled for Thursday. A judge has not been selected to hear the case.

An FBI spokesman in Atlanta said the FBI was given all the information which Eaves received.

Wilburn K. DeBruler, agent in charge of the FBI in Atlanta, dismissed it as "no new information."

He said the FBI received similar files in 1971 and the new files were forwarded to the Department of Justice in Washington.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.

Partly cloudy with widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers Friday through Sunday. Highs may reach the lower 90s and lows in the 70s.

Singing Group To Give Program

The Singing Ormonds of New Bern will sing at the Faith Assembly of God Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The church is located north of Burroughs Wellcome on Highway 13.

The public is invited to attend.

"I thought it was my only chance," Volz said in describing his jump from the speeding car.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market posted a moderate gain today in a continued favorable response to evidence of an improving economy.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 2.34 at 884.15, and gainers held a 5-3 edge on losers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading was active. Brokers said the market seemed to be drawing some additional support from the Federal Reserve Board report late Tuesday that industrial production rose in June for the first time in nine months.

The news was taken as the strongest signal to date that the economy was beginning a rebound from the recession.

But analysts also noted an increased current of profit taking after the Dow's climb to a new 15-month closing high on Tuesday.

Cicorp was the most active issue on the Big Board, up 1/2 at 36 3/4.

Gold issues declined broadly, with ASA, Ltd., off 2 at 44; Homestake Mining down 2 1/2 at 50 1/2; Dome Mines off 1 1/2 at 48 1/2; and Campbell Red Lake Mines 1 1/2 lower at 29.

Then Wall Street Journal reported that an investment adviser who has long been bullish on the group has been urging his clients to sell out of the issues during the past month.

Allied Chemical was up 1 at 39 and Getty Oil added 2 1/2 to 36 1/2.

Third Juror Seated In Little's Trial

Obituaries

Elks
Mrs. Addie Creech Elks, 56, widow of Jim Elks, died in Pitt Memorial Hospital this morning. A graveside funeral service will be conducted in Greenwood Cemetery at 2:30 p.m. Friday by her pastor, Rev. Lalleon Narron, and Rev. Chester Phillips, pastor of Grace Free Will Baptist Church.

Mrs. Elks, a native of Pitt County, lived most of her life in Greenville. She was a member of St. Paul's Pentecostal Holiness Church.
Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Don Sizemore of Franklin, Ohio, and Mrs. Louise Miori of Miami, Fla.; four grandchildren; her mother, Mrs. Lida Creech of Greenville; a sister, Mrs. Grover Peaden of Greenville; three brothers, J.B. Creech, Willis Creech and Earl Creech, all of Greenville.

The family will be at the home of Mrs. Grover Peaden, 2611 Calvin Way, and will receive visitors at the Wilkerson Funeral Home from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday.

Wood
Mr. Alfred F. Wood, 79, of Dudley's Crossroads near Vanceboro died last night in Beaufort County hospital.

Masonic funeral services will be conducted Friday at 3:30 p.m. at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Carson Tyson, Methodist minister of Vanceboro and the Rev. Charles Umstead, Methodist minister of Beaufort. Burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Park.

A New York City native, and a retired farmer, he was a long-time member and former chairman of the Vanceboro School Board and a member of the Regional Housing Authority of Goldsboro. He was a member and Past Master of Vanceboro Masonic Lodge 433 and belonged to the Vanceboro Eastern Star, Scottish Rite and K.C.C.H.; York Rite, Shrine, and the New Bern Shrine Club.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Ruth Stapleford Wood; a foster daughter, Mrs. Marie Joyner of Greenville; three sisters, Mrs. Grace Cox of Ayden, Mrs. Daniel C. Proctor Jr. of Parkton, and Mrs. Daniel S. Currie Jr. of Fayetteville.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggest that memorials be made to the Crippled Children's Hospital, c/o Ralph Hill, Vanceboro Masonic Lodge No. 433. The family will receive friends at the funeral home Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Rescheduled

"We were all disappointed that because of the rains we could not have the 'Sunday In The Park' concert either on Sunday or Monday," Stuart Aronson commented about the twice cancelled concert by local musicians Norah Moore, Billy and Sandra Swinson and Tony and Leigh Dugue.
"Because I feel the program they have put together is such a fine one," Aronson said, "I've decided to schedule it for Friday night, July 18, beginning at seven o'clock. I hope this will be a good time for having it, that community people will be able to attend then as they do on Sunday evenings." Aronson is coordinator for the Park Series.

The concert will be held at the usual site on the grassy slope between Third and Fourth Streets east of Reade.
In addition to the five musicians who will be singing and playing on guitars and dulcimers, Aronson will join in for a couple of songs.

"We also have lined up Wilton Dubris, a steel drummer who was formerly a member of a Trinidad Steel Band," Aronson said. "He's really great, and I think the public will like his kind of music."

If it rains Friday night, Aronson said, an effort will be made, if at all possible, to reschedule the concert for a later date.

'Open Door' Is Now Limited

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Despite an avowed open door policy to news media by state prison officials, an inquiry by The Fayetteville Times into prison conditions has been impeded by a newly issued prison policy directive.

The policy was signed by Secretary of Corrections David Jones on June 11, four days after the Times began publishing a series of articles detailing charges leveled by inmates in the Cape Fear Valley region against the prison system.

The policy includes provisions which say that only specifically identified prisoners can be interviewed, and only then after the news media representative signs a "pledge" to afford prison officials the right to respond to charges "prior to publishing, broadcasting or televising the product of the interview..."

The Times had unrestrained access to area prisoners until June 18, when Bladen County Prison Unit officials flatly denied the newspaper access to prisoners at that unit. Officials said the unit superintendent was away, and gave this as a reason for the exclusion.

That was approximately the same time the new policy was directed down to the regional offices in Fayetteville, a spokesman for the office said Tuesday.

Supply Greece With Aircraft

DALLAS (UPI) — The Greek military began receiving aircraft this year from the Texas based LTV Aerospace Corp.
The U.S. firm is supplying half of the 60 A-7H Corsair II aircraft for the Hellenic Air Force. The last aircraft in the $260 million package is scheduled to arrive in Greece in 1977.

APPOINTED
RALEIGH (AP) — Lt. Gov. James B. Hunt today announced appointment of State Sen. Lynwood Smith, D-Guilford, to the State Ports Authority.

By CATHY STEELE ROCHE

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — A Wake Forest music equipment salesman was seated today as a juror for the trial of Joan Little, a 21-year-old black charged with murder in the death of a white jailer.

Mark Nielson, 26, joins two women selected earlier for the jury panel.

Miss Little is charged with first-degree murder in the stabbing death of jailer Clarence Alligood, 62.

Her attorneys filed a discovery motion Tuesday in Wake County Superior Court seeking a statement made to the prosecution by trusty Terry Bell, who was at the jail the night Alligood was killed, and statements by other state witnesses.

Hobgood noted that Paul's comments were in the record, but did not comment on the charge.

The defense discovery motion seeks statements made to the state from several potential prosecution witnesses.

Paul said the defense had learned that the trusty, Bell, told the state about a month ago that he helped Miss Little after she stabbed the jailer.

Miss Little was the only female prisoner at the county jail in Washington, N.C., last Aug. 27, the night Alligood was killed. She says he was trying to rape her and that she stabbed him in self defense with his own icepick.

Defense attorney Jim Rowan said Bell told the prosecution that he had helped Miss Little rearrange the scene after the stabbing. Alligood was found slumped on a cot in the cell from which Miss Little had fled. He was naked from the waist down.

Paul said Bell recently retracted the statement and that a polygraph test administered by state authorities indicated he was lying in his original story.

Paul said parts of Bell's statement "can only indicate he was watching" the incident. Bell was assigned to clean up the cell after Alligood's body was removed by authorities.

Dist. Atty. William Griffin said he did not know whether he would call Bell as a witness in the case. Paul said the state would be forced to call Bell because he was apparently the only witness at the jail who could testify that Miss Little made a telephone call on the night of the slaying.

Better Day In Farmville

FARMVILLE — Prices on the Farmville Tobacco Market yesterday were higher than those of last year's opening day. Increase in price support accounted for most of the increases, Tobacco Board of Trade Sales Supervisor Louis Williams said.

"Grady for grade prices will continue to increase when leaf grades begin to appear on the market. Quality was better than last year, due to less damaged tobacco," Williams noted.

"Better grades of primings brought from 90 to $1.01 a pound. Lower grades of primings that consisted of a great deal of green leaves went to Stabilization."

"Stabilization receipts this year were much heavier than last year."

He added "Most growers were pleased with their average, knowing in advance that demand for primings and lugs would be approximately the same as last year."

"The market yesterday sold 763,204 pounds for $648,631.76, for an average of $84.99 per hundred pounds. Last year on opening day the market sold $390,968 pounds for an average of $83.36," Williams said.

Hayes Ordered To Pay Alimony

MEMPHIS (AP) — Singer-composer Isaac Hayes has been ordered by a chancery court judge to continue alimony payments to his former wife.

Chancellor Robert Hoffman took under advisement Tuesday the possible reduction of alimony payments.

Hayes testified his wife was not entitled to further alimony payments because she was living openly with another man, in violation of the terms of their 1972 divorce decree.

Mrs. Hayes denied she has been living with a man.
McDonald Yawn, Hayes attorney, argued that Mrs. Hayes gave birth to a child out of wedlock. He said that constituted living with a man and that was grounds for cutting off $29,000 alimony payments.

Hayes pays $15,000 a year in child support.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF INTENT TO PERFORM FLOOD ELEVATION STUDY

The Federal Insurance Administration of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development announced today that under authority of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended, (P.L. 90-448) and the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, (P.L. 93-234) it will fund a detailed study of the flood hazard areas in Greenville, North Carolina.

The study will be performed for the Federal Insurance Administration by the Wilmington District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The purpose of this study is to examine and evaluate the flood hazard areas in the community which are developed or which are likely to be developed and to determine flood elevations for those areas. Flood elevations will be used by the community to carry out the flood plain management objectives of the National Flood Insurance Programs. They will also be used as the basis for determining the appropriate flood insurance premium rates applicable for new buildings and their contents, as well as determining the rates to be used for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and contents.

This announcement is intended to notify all interested persons of the commencement of this study so that they may have an opportunity at a public meeting, soon to be announced, to bring any relevant facts and technical data concerning local flood hazards to the attention of the Chief Executive Officer of the community for forwarding to the appropriate representatives of the Federal Insurance Administration.

BUSINESSMEN, EMPLOYEES, AND PROFESSIONALS!!!

Is the cost of your current individual and group health plans skyrocketing?? If so, does monthly rates of $14.00 - $35.00 sound reasonable for such benefits as $250,000 MAJOR MEDICAL PROTECTION, $55.00 a day for semi-private room, etc. Then why not give us a call and see for yourself the savings we can offer you.

Nationals Rally In Ninth, Beat AL, 6-3

By DICK JOYCE
AP Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — National Leaguers may fight among themselves during the regular season but there's nothing like the sight of American League uniforms to get them together once each summer. "These guys battle each other tooth and nail during the season," Manager Walter Alston said, "but at an All-Star game, it's great to see the enthusiasm and cheering. I'm proud of them all." Alston's National League squad beat the American League 6-3 Tuesday night in the 46th midseason classic. It was the NL's 12th triumph in the last 13 meetings. Alvin Dark, the AL manager from Oakland who saw his club rally from a 3-0 deficit and tie the score — only to give up three runs in the ninth inning — said: "Wait 'til next year."

Bill Madlock, the Chicago Cubs' third baseman, and Jon Matlack of the New York Mets who pitched the seventh and eighth innings, were named cointerwinners of the Commissioners Trophy, the most valuable player award.

Madlock, the National League's leading batter making his first All-Star appearance in a reserve role, singled past third baseman Graig Nettles for two runs, breaking the 3-3 tie.

Pitt County Wins Pair To Move Into Title Contest

By CHIP LAMBETH

Mike Teachy slammed two triples and a double driving in three runs and Scott Evans and Kevin Adams had three hits each to carry Pitt County past Washington West, 18-7 and into the finals of the District VI Babe Ruth tournament, last night.

Teachy had earlier pitched the Pitt County win over Washington East. He slapped a homer and a single and drove in four runs in the 9-5 win.

Pitt County was to meet Greenville for the championship of the 14-15 year old bracket. In the 13-year old playoff, Greenville beat Washington West, 3-2 to move into the finals against Pitt County's 13-year old stars (See related story.)

Pitt County had a tough battle with Washington East for five innings but blew the game open in the sixth scoring four runs. Teachy got Pitt County started in the top of the first with a error scoring Whitehead and a hit by Glen Davis scored the other two runners. Dale Bailey led off the sixth with a walk for Pitt Co. and when Mike Phillips reached on an error, Bailey scored. Roger Jenkins sacrificed Phillips to third and Setliff reached on a fielder's choice scoring Phillips.

Kevin Adams got a single and Evans beat out an infield hit scoring Setliff after Phillips scored on an error. Pitt County spotted three-run-homer to left driving in Paul Setliff and Scott Evans.

Washington countered with a run in the bottom of the first and added another in the second. Pitt Co. made it a 4-2 game in the third as Teachy sacrificed in a run and another came across on an error.

Washington, however, was not down yet and it rallied to tie the game in the last of the fourth. Doug Whitehead reached on an error and Chip Moore singled. Mike Chandler reached on an

Pace Provides Winning Hit As Greenville Takes 3-2 Win

Micah Dixon sacrificed home the tying run and Peter Pace singled home the winner as Greenville's 13-year-old all-stars beat Washington West, 3-2, last night and moved into the finals of the District VI Babe Ruth tournament.

In the opener, yesterday, Washington West's 13's eliminated Craven Co. 14-6. Greenville sent Washington packing in the second 13-year old game, 3-2. In the 14-15 bracket, Pitt County beat Washington East, 9-5 and Washington West, 18-7 to move into the title bout with Greenville, today. (See related story.)

In the first 13-year old game, it was the second inning when the first run came across. Washington got four to take the lead but Craven Co. pushed in two in the bottom of the frame cutting the lead to 4-2, and then went ahead in the third, 5-4.

The game was tied in the bottom of the fifth, 6-6 but in the top of the sixth, Washington put Craven Co. away. Michael Bowen led off reaching on an error and moved to third on James Lamb's single. Charlie Wallace beat out an infield hit scoring Bowen. A hit by Horace Lee scored Lamb. A walk to Don Sawyer and an out brought in two more runs.

Washington put up four more in the seventh. The third game of the night was an exception to the way the 13's have been playing in the tournament. Some of the other games have ended up 16-13, 10-9, and 14-6. But in the Greenville-Washington game, the teams played a clean game.

Washington committed only two errors; Greenville one. Both teams got good pitching as well. Horace Lee went the distance for Washington walking five, striking out three and giving up just four hits. Junior Hardee got the win for Greenville pitching a three-hitter. He fanned five, walked three. Neither teams could mount much of an offense although Washington loaded the bases in the first on three walks. Michael Odum was cut down at the plate trying to score on a wild pitch.

Finally in the fourth, Washington broke through with two runs. Lamb singled and took second on an error as Wallace Lee singled in Lamb and Waters got a hit to drive Wallace. Greenville fought back with a run in the bottom of the fifth. With two out, Robert Morehead singled and stole second. Micah Dixon reached on an error that let Morehead score.

Only one man reached base again for Washington, that was on an error in the fifth. Skip Topping saved a base hit in the sixth as he made a long throw to retire Lee, who hit a pitch to deep short.

Mickey McGrath led off the seventh with a pinch-hit error and Glen Moore walked. McGrath took third on a passed ball and Moore took second on a fielder's choice. Morehead walked to load the bases and then Dixon lofted a long fly to center scoring McGrath to tie the game, 2-2. Pace came up with two out and lined a hit to center scoring Moore from second to win the game.

National Has Better Depth Says Rose

By MIKE O'BRIEN
AP Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — It isn't that the American League doesn't have players as good as those in the National, according to Cincinnati firebrand Pete Rose. The National League just has more of them.

"It's our depth," said Rose, an almost perennial All-Star who joined the Reds in 1963, the year the National League began its All-Star Game domination. The NL made it 12 victories in the last 13 games by winning 6-3 Tuesday night.

"They have great players and great teams," Rose said of the American League, "but it seems the guys on our bench are better than the guys on theirs."

Reserve strength paid off for the Nationals in the ninth inning when Reggie Smith singled and Al Oliver doubled, setting up Bill Madlock's tiebreaking two-run single. All three were late-inning replacements.

Oliver said NL Manager Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers told him he wanted to save him for the late innings. "I've been pretty successful getting some key hits against the Dodgers," Oliver said. "Maybe he wanted to save me for a clutch situation. I've always seemed to come up in a lot of key situations. I love to hit in the clutch."

Madlock, once an American Leaguier with the Texas Rangers, said the NL players displayed more confidence in the dugout. "I couldn't believe the guys on the bench," he said.

"It was fun. What they were saying was unbelievable, getting on their guys and everything. Ballplayers in the National League are more aggressive ... The American league bench looked like they were just sitting there, waiting to lose."

"We have more stars," Madlock added. "Maybe not as many more since they got the designated-hitter rule, but we have more stars as far as all-around ballplayers."

Alston said he initially had planned to use Oliver earlier. "But he was my last left-handed hitter on the bench and I thought I might use him better in the ninth," he said. "That's one decision I'm glad I made."

Winning left-hander Jon Matlack of the New York Mets, the fourth pitcher used by Alston, provided further reserve strength by striking out four batters in hurling scoreless seventh and eighth innings.

"I really think the National League has more talent," said Matlack. "This is the cream of the crop from both leagues and it should be an even match, but it hasn't been."

Madlock, once an American Leaguier with the Texas Rangers, said the NL players displayed more confidence in the dugout. "I couldn't believe the guys on the bench," he said.

Beltone pushed over a run in the second which proved to be the winner as Piggy Wigly fell, 7-2 to Beltone and out of a tie for first place in the Leagues Softball League last night.

The Reflector fell behind, 4-0, in the first but rallied to tie the game in the second. Little Mint rallied back in front, 10-4 in the fourth but three in the sixth and five in the seventh tied the game, 12-12.

Oakland Gliding To Fifth Division Title

By RICHARD H. SMITH
AP Sports Writer
OAKLAND (AP) - This was going to be the year it ended. Billy Martin's upstart Texas Rangers were stronger. Kansas City would mount a serious challenge throughout the season. And either would be capable of doing in an Oakland club which had lost its biggest fish.

But the beat goes on in the American League West, where the Oakland A's, minus Catfish Hunter, are doing very well, thank you.

So well they can wrap up a fifth straight division title with less than break-even baseball the rest of the season, provided owner Charles O. Finley has it figured right.

Finley says 90 victories can "keep it alive in '75" for his three-time world champions. That's how many the A's won last year after coming up to the All-Star break with a 55-41 record and a nine-game lead.

At this year's recess, the A's are 55-32 with an 8½-game lead over Kansas City.

One important reason Oakland is so far on top is that they have avoided serious injuries. The only regulars to miss more than four games have been Bert Campaneris (eight) and Bill North (seven).

Kansas City, meanwhile, had to go three weeks without dangerous Amos Otis and had pitchers Nelson Briles and Lindy McDaniel on the shelf for a month each.

A's Manager Alvin Dark isn't convinced 90 victories will send his team toward another World Series. "Kansas City is too good for that," he says, but the Royals must improve on a 47-41 record.

Dark says the Royals are well balanced, noting that their hitting and speed match his club's. Royals' Manager Jack McKeon says, "It all comes down to consistency in pitching. If we get it, we have a good shot at the pennant."

The four current non-contenders all look for a better second half. Here's a rundown:

-CHICAGO: A nine-game winning string moved the White Sox from last to third, but they still trail by 14 games. Back trouble kept Bart Johnson disabled and a bad elbow sidelined reliever Terry Forster.

-TEXAS: The Rangers, a major disappointment, are 15½ games back mainly because Martin hasn't found a set lineup and slugger Jeff Burroughs and pitcher Ferguson Jenkins haven't found their 1974 form.

-MINNESOTA: Ark looks for the Twins to finish third and says pitching injuries have dropped them to fifth. Bert Blyleven missed three weeks with a shoulder muscle tear and a virus sidelined Joe Deckler for a month. Rod Carew's .372 average kept the Twins going even though Larry Hisle was out three weeks.

-CALIFORNIA: Manager Dick Williams thinks his last-place Angels "can only get better." He's pleased with the pitching of Ed Figueroa and Frank Tanana and says "if we can get Nolan Ryan and Bill Singer squared away and healthy, that'll help tremendously."

All of which leaves Oakland in very nice shape, but not perfect. From July 17 to Sept. 2, the A's have only two days off.

"That's a lot of baseball and we'll need every starting pitcher we have," said Dark, who has been using only two starters in regular turns, left-handers Ken Sherman, Brian Dowling and Gary Danielson.

Kupec Signs With Hornets

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - Chris Kupec, the nation's most accurate college passer last season, signed with the Charlotte pro football Hornets Tuesday after courts denied him another year of eligibility at the University of North Carolina.

He wanted the eligibility to compensate for 1973, when he played briefly in only two games and then was sidelined for the season after breaking his collarbone. He sought an injunction against the Atlantic Coast Conference, which has a rule that an athlete who plays in more than one game runs out his eligibility for that season. He was denied an injunction in federal District Court, and then lost an appeal before a U.S. Circuit Court judge last Monday.

Terms of Kupec's contract with Charlotte of the World Football League were not disclosed. Kupec, a resident of Syosset, N.Y., is 6 feet 3 and weighs 199 pounds. He is expected to play in Saturday's preseason exhibition against the Chicago Winds in Winston Salem, N.C. His addition gives the Hornets four quarterbacks, one over the NFL limit. The others are Tom Sherman, Brian Dowling and Gary Danielson.

Kupec led the nation last year by completing 69.5 percent of his passes, 104 of 150 attempts. He was named to the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team and was chosen the university's Most Valuable Player and Most Valuable Back. Also during 1974 he was named the Associated Press Back of the Week when he threw a school record of four touchdown passes against Army and ran for another. He was twice named ACC Back of the Week last season.

After the signing, Kupec left for the Hornets' training camp at Gardner-Webb College in Boiling Springs, N.C., near Shelby.

Upton Bell, president of the Hornets, said, "I have watched his progress throughout his college career and know that he is not only a top prospect, but that he is also a winner. He has the size, the arm and the mental ability to play in the World Football League. The Hornets look forward to a long relationship."

Kupec was elected to Phi Beta Kappa for academic excellence.

Boston Doubts That Eastern Race Is Close

By DAVE O'HARA
AP Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) - Everyone insists the battle in the American League East is a five-team horse race, but the youthful, free-swinging Boston Red Sox are threatening to make it a runaway.

The Baltimore Orioles went into the trade market and the New York Yankees dug into the cash box last winter, becoming virtual co-favorites for the division title.

The Milwaukee Brewers acquired home run king Hank Aaron and the Cleveland Indians named veteran slugger Frank Robinson as the major leagues' first black manager.

Meanwhile, the Red Sox made what appeared to be a minor deal, sending high-salaried and aging Tommy Harper to California for veteran utility infielder Bob Heise. Boston elected to go with kids.

The kids, namely rookies Fred Lynn and Jim Rice, are the big reason Boston reached the All-Star Game break with a 50-37 record and a 4½ game lead over Milwaukee and New York. Baltimore is eight games back, Cleveland 9½ and cellar-dwelling Detroit 10½.

"We've opened a little daylight, but there's still a long way to go," Boston Manager Darrell Johnson says. "It's nice to be in front the way we are. However, I still think this is a five-team race and things won't really start to thin out until mid-August."

Rival managers in Milwaukee, New York, Baltimore and Cleveland agree with Johnson. And all five are keeping fingers crossed when they talk about pitching.

Detroit is excluded for the most part in the race. Manager Ralph Houk is rebuilding and the Tigers don't figure despite a recent winning streak.

"All we have to do is start hitting," Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver has repeatedly said, but his team still fails to hit.

Rice, the International League's MVP at Pawtucket last year, won a battle with surging Tony Conigliaro to be the designated hitter. He now is a fixture in left field, with Conigliaro trying to prove himself at Pawtucket. Rice is batting .289 with 14 homers and 61 RBI.

With Lynn and Rice hitting behind him, Carl Yastrzemski, who will be 36 next month, has had a resurgence. No longer can opposing hurlers pitch around him. He had five consecutive hits Sunday, raising his average to .313.

The Red Sox lead the American League in hitting with a lustrous .275 average. The pitching earned run average is a fat four-plus, but no one seems worried, mostly because of Fenway Park's short fences.

Boston's biggest test is just ahead. The Sox play two games at home this week, then hit the road. They will play 38 games in 35 days. The worst stretch starts Aug. 6 in Milwaukee, 15 consecutive road games.

Grace Remains National Leader

After giving up 11 runs in the first inning, Grace fought back to take a 14-12 win over First Free Will and hold on to a two game lead in the National Division of the Church Softball League.

First Free Will batted 15 men in the big first inning and got nine hits. Mills led off with a single. He was followed with doubles by Daughtry and Barker. Mayo got on with an error and McRoy singled. Sasser followed with an error and Pittman and Hines got doubles. Paramore got on with an error which brought Mills back up. He got a hit and was followed by Allen who made an out the first time up; he singled this time. Daughtry got the last hit of the inning and was the only man left on base.

Grace got only one run in the first. Bailey, who got on with an error, scored on a sacrifice fly.

Grace scored the next runs of the game in the third when Bailey, Lewis Hardee and Outland got runs. Allen scored for First Free Will in the top of the fourth.

Grace came back in the fourth and fifth to score nine runs and take the game. Bailey, Lewis, Hardee, Pugh and Norris scored in the fourth while Sidney Hardee, Smith, Holloman, Bailey and Lewis Hardee scored in the fifth.

Black Jack took a 14-2 win over Immanuel in the first game last night. Mills scored four runs, including a homer, to pace Black Jack in the win.

Peele, Smith and Mills scored in the bottom of the first for Black Jack following a run by Immanuel's Helmer in the top of the inning. Smith, Adams, Mills and Hudson scored in the second and Peele and Hardee scored in the third before Immanuel could get another run. Wood scored the final run for Immanuel in the fourth.

In last night's second game, People's Bible got two runs in the fourth inning to come from behind and take a 5-4 win over Mt. Pleasant.

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench is one of those all stars who, it seems, does his thing on an annual basis at baseball's mid-summer classic.

"You get a little generated when you're able to make a big play at a time it gets you out of a tough situation," said Bench, who subtly helped the National League to a 6-3 victory over the frustrated American League Tuesday night. "It's kind of like hitting the ball out of the park."

Bench, who also knocked in his sixth All-Star run with a third-inning single off Kansas City's Steve Busby, is now 9-for-22 in eight All-Star games for a lofty .409 average.

Bench gunned a perfect throw to Los Angeles first baseman Steve Garvey to pick off Oakland's Bert Campaneris and end the fourth inning.

"He just jumped off," continued Bench. "I'd been trying to check in the dugout to see if they wanted me to throw down, but when Bobby Bonds lunged out at the pitch it really gave me a good opportunity to throw."

The American League had two runners on base with two out in the fourth, trying to cut into a 3-0 deficit with Bonds of the New York Yankees batting at the moment Bench nailed Campaneris.

"It just happened," said Campaneris. "Bench is the only one that could have got me."

The veteran shortstop was only one of several A's who left slightly the worse for wear, along with some of the game's other top stars.

New York Mets ace Tom Seaver was tagged for a three-run homer, a 400-foot clout, by Boston's Carl Yastrzemski that tied the score 3-3 in the sixth.

"I really don't feel embarrassed at all about giving up the home run," said Seaver. "I threw him a fastball that really didn't have too much on it and he really drilled it."

Even baseball's wealthiest employe, pitcher Catfish Hunter of the New York Yankees, suffered from the American League's deflated showing against the Nationals.

Although he had already gone to the showers, Hunter was the victim of the three-run uprising in the ninth inning which gave the NL its 12th victory in the last 13 All-Star games.

Hunter gave up a single to Reggie Smith and a double to Al Oliver, then Rich Gossage came on, hit Larry Bowa with a pitch to load the bases, gave up Bill Madlock's two run tie-breaking single and Pete Rose's sacrifice fly.

"We're certainly not satisfied with our performance," Yankee third baseman Graig Nettles, who played the entire game for the AL in his first All-Star performance.

But Seaver seemed to have the most appropriate appraisal of the outcome. "The National League simply has the better club," he said. "I really don't think there's much comparison."

Christian Still On Top

Oakmont downed Trinity 9-8 last night to gain a half-game lead in the American Division of the Church Softball League last night.

Oakmont took a 3-1 lead in the second inning with scores by Rogers Caraway and Emerson. Jones scored for Trinity in the inning.

Oakmont added two more in the third with runs by Singleton and Turner. Harrell scored for Trinity in the fourth to pull them to within three, 5-2.

Trinity scored four in the top of the fifth to take the lead, 6-5. Singleton and Turner got two for Oakmont in the bottom of the inning to regain the lead, 7-6.

Each team got two in the sixth, Sasser and Cayton scored for Trinity and Harrell and Parrot scored for Oakmont to make the final score 9-8.

Kaylor, Stocks and Hunt scored twice each for First Christian, with Kaylor getting a homer, to pace their team to a 9-2 victory over St. James in the first American division game last night.

Never trailing, First Christian scored six runs before St. James could get one over. Hunt scored in the first, Stocks and Kaylor scored in the second, Stocks and Batts scored in the fourth and Jones scored in the sixth for First Christian.

Memorial put two across in the final inning last night to break a tie and post a 5-3 victory over St. Gabriel's.

St. Gabe's scored first when Colorado tallied one in the bottom of the first inning. Williams and Nichols each got one for Memorial in the top of the second to take a 2-1 lead. Cewell tied it up for St. Gabriel's in the bottom of the inning.

Colorado scored his second run in the third to give St. Gabe's a 3-2 lead. Neither team could score again until the fifth when Fowler tied it up with a run. Frank and Fowler each scored for Memorial in the seventh to give them the 5-3 win.

Officials Turn To Decision Making

MILWAUKEE (AP) - With All-Star Game festivities concluded, major league officials turned their attention today to key issues facing the sport, one of which is what to do about the San Francisco Bay Area situation.

When Walter O'Malley took his Dodgers from Brooklyn to Los Angeles after the 1957 season, he took along Horace Stoneham and got richer. Stoneham, who took his New York Giants to San Francisco, got poorer.

Stoneham is up to his eyeballs in red ink, dwindling attendance and a wind tunnel called Candlestick Park. On the other side of the Bay is Charles O. Finley and the Oakland A's, who have won three straight world championships without attracting many paying customers. Finley has said that without postseason money, he, too, would be in the red.

Baseball's recently formed Franchise Committee met last week on the problem and were to give a report on their findings at today's summer meeting of club owners. It seemed likely that one of the clubs would be moved, most likely to Seattle. Other cities interested in a club are Toronto, Washington and New Orleans. Their best chance to land a franchise appeared to be in a switch of cities because expansion is not imminent.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said owners would seek a resolution of the San Francisco problem at today's meetings, but Finley responded that nothing would be settled that quickly.

Another key matter on the agenda is consideration of extending Kuhn's contract. His seven-year term expires Aug. 12, 1976.

Kuhn needs approval of nine of the 12 club owners in each league to stay on the job, which pays $150,000. Despite opposition from Finley, he was expected to get the extension but not the pay boost he wants.

With collective bargaining sessions between the owners and players association set for later this month, the owner's Player Relations Committee was to report on the new basic agreement.

N.C. Earthquake Zone Study Ordered For CP&L

By DAVID R. NELSEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—It may be three years before results are known, but Carolina Power and Light Co. has been ordered to conduct studies that will prove whether its nuclear power plant at Southport, N.C., is atop an earthquake zone.

The order was issued by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission after three university scientists said preliminary evidence showed an earthquake may be imminent in the area. They said it appeared the earthquake would register between 6.5 and 7.5 on the Richter scale and be a destructive as the 1886 Charleston, S.C., earthquake—considered the second worst in United States history.

CP&L will pay for the study—expected cost $250,000 the first year—and it will be next spring before it is fully underway. Two years of data will be required to prove whether an earthquake is imminent.

One of the Southport plant's two nuclear units is undergoing operating tests and the second unit may go into operation early next year. CP&L will be allowed to continue operating the plant as the study is conducted.

Dr. David Stewart, director of the geophysics laboratory at the University of North Caro-

'No' To ABC By Cherryville

CHERRYVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Citizens of this Gaston County town have rejected ABC liquor stores and the legal sale of beer and wine for the fourth time in the last dozen years.

ABC stores lost Tuesday, 772 votes against and 668 in favor. Beer and wine lost 794 against and 685 in favor.

Only about one-third the registered voters went to the polls.

The nearest ABC store is in Bessemer City eight miles away.

lina at Chapel Hill, S. Duncan Heron, chairman of the geology department at Duke University, and David Dunn, an earthquake prediction specialist at UNC, petitioned the NRC to order the study.

CP&L hired as a consultant and head of the study Dr. Shelton Alexander, chairman of the geophysics department of Pennsylvania State University. Stewart said the three local scientists approved the selection of Alexander.

"The study will prove there's not going to be an earthquake or if there will be one, it will show when, how big and where," Stewart said.

WATER HEATER
NEW YORK (UPI)— Drain a pail of water from the bottom of a domestic hot water tank periodically. This removes sediment and improves efficiency—lowering the energy cost of operating the water heater.

Stewart said the ground level has raised in the area in recent years, one sign of a pending earthquake. Also, ground water

Hail Damage

FRANKLIN, Tenn. (AP)—Burley tobacco crops along the Williamson-Maury County line have been heavily damaged by hail, officials report.

"I'll tell you it's the worst loss I've seen in the state of Tennessee, and I've been in this business for 23 years," said R.T. Wallace of Franklin, an agent for several insurance companies.

Damage is expected to amount to several thousand dollars but there's no official estimate yet.

The area affected is in Middle Tennessee, just south of Nashville.

was "unusually warm, an action of faulting" and it was under pressure, also unusual.

CP&L's study will employ seven seismographs, which are sensitive devices that measure slight vibrations in the earth. Data from the seismographs will prove whether an earthquake will occur and precisely where and within a few months when.

Stewart said the Richter scale simply measures the energy released in an earthquake.

Stewart said scientists use the Mercalli scale to measure the intensity of the shaking, which causes the damage. That scale is more meaningful as it shows the effect, he said.

The worst earthquake in United States history was in Missouri in 1811, hitting 12—"total destruction"—on the Mercalli scale, with shock waves causing damage all the way to the Atlantic Ocean, Stewart said.

The Charleston earthquake caused damage all the way to Lake Erie and was the second worst in United States history, including the San Francisco and Alaska earthquakes, Stewart said. The Alaska and San Francisco earthquakes ranked higher on the Richter scale, but underground formations in that part of the country limit damage compared to the East Coast, Stewart said.

Should an earthquake of that magnitude strike, a nuclear power plant would break up, shooting steam and radioactive particles into the atmosphere, Stewart said. "If the wind blew it directly across Wilmington, it would be a total wipeout—everyone would be killed," he said. Wilmington is nearby and has a population of about 60,000.

Depending upon the wind, Stewart and the other scientists have said that hundreds of thousands of persons on the Eastern Seaboard would be in jeopardy.

If the siesmograph study were to agree with preliminary evidence of an impending earthquake, it would affect nuclear plants within 300 miles of Southport because the shock waves would have sufficient force to damage those plants, Stewart said.

Nuclear power plants are built to withstand earthquakes that hit five on the Richter scale, Stewart said. But, he said, an earthquake that registers seven on the scale is 1,000 times stronger and that's what is predicted for Southport.

Congress Edging Toward Energy Program Decision

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is edging toward final action on the first part of its energy program while President Ford prepares to ask the lawmakers to let U.S. oil prices rise. With energy matters occupying most of the time of the Senate and House, Ford planned to add more to the agenda today by submitting his plan to gradually raise the government-controlled price on most U.S.-produced oil.

That will bring Ford into sharp conflict with the heavily Democratic Congress. The administration's energy plan is based on cutting consumption by sharply raising fuel prices while the Democrats are pushing for mandatory conservation and lower prices.

In a related development, Senate hearings begin today on the recent increase in gasoline prices. Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb is the first witness followed by oil company executives Thursday.

On the eve of the hearings, the FEA announced it is expanding its monitoring of retail gasoline prices to assure compliance with FEA price regulations. The agency also said the nation's largest oil companies expect to be able to meet summer gasoline demand. The Senate planned to act today on a bill to roll back to $11.28 a barrel the price of "new" oil — the amount of U.S. production that exceeds 1972 levels. That oil, about 40 percent of U.S. production, is now free from price controls and sells for an average of more than $12 a barrel. "Old" oil sells for the controlled price of $5.25.

The administration plan, to be submitted today by Ford, calls for raising that price ceiling to $13.50 over the next 30 months. Administration officials contend this would force fuel conservation while giving oil producers incentive to find more petroleum.

The Ford plan will go into effect unless either the House or Senate blocks it within five working days. Ford predicts his plan would raise gasoline prices by seven cents a gallon by January 1978. The Senate Interior Committee says a 15-cent hike is a better estimate.

Meanwhile, Congress took these actions Tuesday:

—The Senate passed, 62 to 29, and sent to the House a bill extending the government's authority to control oil prices through March 1, 1976. The current authority will expire Aug. 31.

—The Senate approved on a 63-21 vote a bill requiring automakers to increase the average fuel efficiency of new cars to 21 miles per gallon by 1980.

Tobacco Samples To Be Tested For Pesticides

Random samples of tobacco will be chemically analyzed for indications of DDT, TDE, toxaphene, or endrin, according to Stacy J. Evans, Pitt County executive director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The samples will be taken at tobacco warehouses.

"Before being issued tobacco marketing cards, producers must certify whether or not DDT, TDE, toxaphene or endrin were used," Evans said. He reminded growers that it is a violation of the law to make false certification regarding these pesticides. Tobacco marketing cards are issued by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service County Office.

Since tobacco is mixed in the redrying and packing process, use of any of these pesticides by even a few producers can affect tobacco from many farms.

Evans said that finding DDT, TDE, toxaphene or endrin residue could result in loss of important markets. "Several major buyers have indicated concern about the level of undesirable pesticides in their purchases, according to notices I have received from ASCS headquarters at the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D.C.," Evans explained.

"It is very much to the beneficial interest of every tobacco grower in North Carolina to use only acceptable pesticides," Evans said. He expressed hope that the chemical analyses of tobacco samples from local warehouses would show no residue from the pesticides.

HOUSE
ELK HILLS — Rejected, 102 for and 305 against, an amendment to permit the production of oil at the Elk Hills, Cal. naval petroleum reserve and at three other national reserves.

The amendment was a substitute for another bill (HR 49) which also opened up the four naval petroleum reserves which have traditionally been held for national defense purposes. HR 49, which was later passed and sent to the Senate, would increase the nation's oil supply by permitting private companies to produce about 300,000 barrels daily, the bulk of which would come from Elk Hills. HR 49 authorizes the Interior Department to administer the production.

The substitute amendment rejected by the House was sponsored by the Armed Services Committee. It would have put the Navy rather than the Interior Department in Control of the production. Also, it would have limited use of the oil to the military.

Supporters said the amendment would prevent depletion of the nation's military oil reserves — and aid the civilian economy by lessening military demands on the commercial market. Opponents said the Interior Department should manage the reserves because of its expertise gained through leasing offshore wells and shale oil projects. They said special military demands should be met through a separate federal allocation plan if necessary.

Rep. David Henderson (D-3) voted "yea."

Reps. Walter Jones (D-1), L. H. Fountain (D-2), Stephen Neal (D-5), Richardson Preyer (D-6), Charles Rose (D-7), W. G. Hefner (D-8), James Martin (R-9), James Broyhill (R-10) and Roy Taylor (D-11) voted "nay."

Rep. Ike Andrews (D-4) did not vote.

WHITE HOUSE AIDES — Rejected, 157 for and 234 against, an amendment to prevent the White House from hiring more high-level presidential aides this year than were employed last year. As a result of the amendment's defeat, the White House would in the future be able to hire up to 95 high-level aides, compared to the present 54, if necessary.

The amendment was proposed to HR 6707, a bill designed to clarify the White House salary structure and a President's authority to hire additional aides when the need arises. President Ford had requested such a measure. The bill was later passed and sent to the Senate.

Rep. Morris Udall (D-Ariz.), the sponsor, said his "hol-the-line" amendment was designed to curb the growing power of the White House. He said the trend whereby "a growing number of second- and third-level White House assistants (are) telling the Cabinet members what to do" should be restrained.

One opponent, Rep. David Henderson (D-N.C.), said the amendment would improperly substitute "our judgment for the President's." Rep. Bill Frenzel (R-Minn.) said that because the President and vice-president receive a "nationwide mandate" they are entitled to "latitude to make the staff decisions in a manner which suits their personal styles and philosophies."

Rose voted "yea." Henderson, Andrews, Neal, Preyer, Hefner, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "nay."

Jones and Fountain did not vote.

SENATE
ECONOMY — Rejected, 19 for and 74 against, an amendment cutting by 10 percent an appropriations bill (HR 6950) for Congress and related agencies. As later passed and sent to conference, HR 6950 appropriates $825.3 million through Sept. 30, 1976 for operating the Senate, House, Library of Congress, Government Printing Office, General Accounting Office and Congressional Budget Office.

Sen. Jesse Helms (R-N.C.), the sponsor, said, "This amendment will give the Senate an opportunity to put up or shut up on economy in government." Sen. John Tower (R-Tex.) commented, "Like charity, spending cuts should begin at home, and the legislative branch appropriations bill directly affects all of us who serve in this body."

One opponent, Sen. Edmund Muskie (D-Maine), said the bill should be fully funded. He noted that it provides for "the cost of an entire branch of the government, represents less than one percent of the entire cost of the government for next year," and is about $12 million less than the budget target approved last May by the House and Senate.

Sen. Jesse Helms (R) voted "yea." Sen. Robert Morgan (D) voted "nay."

SENATE STAFF — Rejected, 44 for and 50 against, an amendment permitting two or more senators to jointly hire one legislative specialist. Each senator would contribute to the aide's salary. The effect of the amendment would be to replace the existing system whereby such Senate staff specialists must be awkwardly shifted from one senator's payroll to another's on an alternating-month basis.

The amendment was proposed to a bill (HR 6950, above) appropriating operating funds to the legislative branch through Sept. 30, 1976. HR 6950 was subsequently passed and sent to conference.

Sen. Carl Curtis (R-Neb.), the sponsor, said the House already permits joint hiring of special staffers — a practice which the Senate should adopt in the interest of "efficiency and economy." He said at present an individual senator might "not have an allowance adequate to pay the full salary for a short period of time when, at the same time, he could pay a fractional part of such a salary."

One opponent, Sen. Ernest Hollings (D-S.C.), said "... no federal employee should serve more than one master." He added that the net effect of the amendment would be to encourage members to spend surplus payroll allotments which they would otherwise refund to the Treasury. He quipped that some senators might say: "Look, why give it back to the Government? Let us give it to old Joe, and he will set us up... a southern caucus or a northern caucus or an eastern caucus or a gas caucus, but get him a little office, we will get him a telephone, he can write speeches."

Helms and Morgan voted "yea."

ENERGY RESERVES — Adopted, 60 for and 32 against, an amendment to require oil importers and refiners to stockpile up to three percent of their annual oil inventories, as a hedge against another oil embargo.

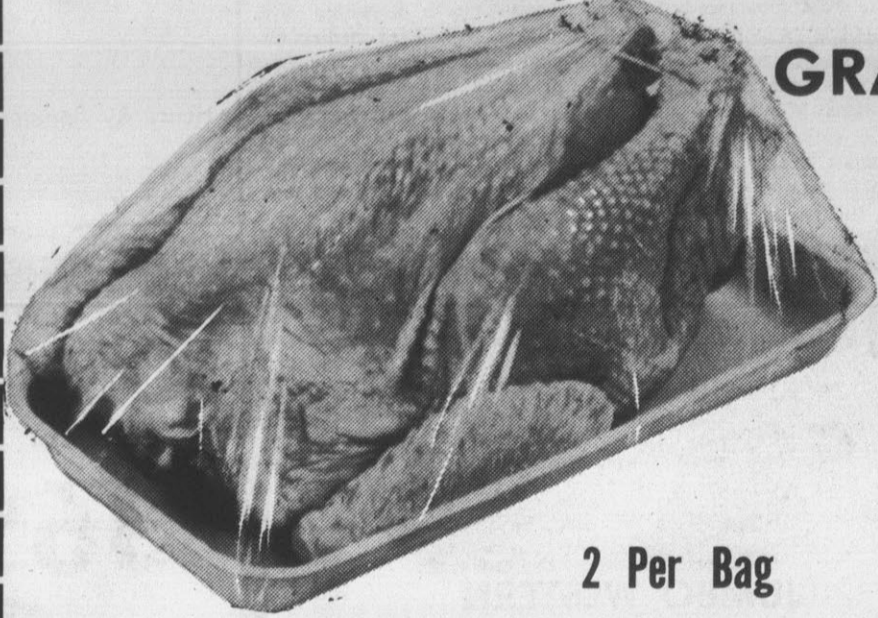

The amendment was attached to a bill (S 677) also designed as embargo insurance. S 677 provides for creating within seven years a federal oil reserve equal to 90 days' worth of oil imports. The amendment would assure adequate reserves in the interim before the longer-term goal is achieved. S 677 was later passed and sent to the House.

Morgan voted "yea." Helms voted "nay."

The lowest recorded temperature in Africa was minus 11.2 degrees at Ifrane, Morocco.

Opening lead: King of ♠.

There is an old bridge cliché that aces were made to capture kings. That is generally the case, but there are times when they have a more important use. Consider this hand from a recent rubber bridge game.

South did not have an easy rebid. With ten certain tricks in his own hand, he couldn't rebid three diamonds, which partner might pass, nor did he feel comfortable with settling for game in no trump. Instead he chose to show his solid suit with a jump rebid of four diamonds. North, who had elected to respond negatively at his first turn despite the fact that he held an ace and a king, because he did not consider either of his suits good enough to bid freely, now came alive and leaped to six diamonds, which became the final contract.

West made his natural lead of the king of spades, won in dummy. Declarer came to his hand with the ace of clubs and, in an attempt to avoid two spade losers, he exited with a spade in the hope that he would be allowed to ruff his third card in that suit. The defenders refused to cooperate. West won the trick and shifted to a trump, and declarer had no place to put his losing spade. Down one.

Declarer had a relatively simple way to make his slam. Notice what happens if he allows the king of spade to hold the first trick!

If West continues a spade, dummy's ace wins, declarer crosses to his hand in a plain suit and ruffs his remaining spade in dummy, thus losing only one spade. But it does not help the defense to shift to a trump at trick two, to prevent declarer from getting his ruff. Now South wins the trump, draws the outstanding trumps and cashes the ace of clubs. The ace of spades serves as an entry to the board where declarer discards a spade on dummy's king of clubs.

There is no way for the defenders to remove both of dummy's threat cards with just one lead!

Irving Still Trying Forget Prison Life

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer
EAST HAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Clifford Irving, "Con Man of the Year" in 1972, strolls barefoot on the lawn overlooking a sunny inlet of this seaside resort. He affectionately nuzzles a pretty German woman friend and says: "Life is good. It always was."

Fine spirits for a man who a few days later declared himself bankrupt and for one still up to his neck in legal proceedings from the 1972 fiasco that erupted from his fake autobiography of billionaire Howard Hughes.

After serving 17 months in prison on charges of conspiracy and fraud, Irving, 44, moved here last July. He passes the time playing frenetic daily tennis, dining with friends and dabbling at pure fiction — a new novel he describes as an "erotic romance" about three women and man living in the Hamptons.

Clad in tennis shorts, Irving stretched his long legs on a tattered hassock in his rented cottage and reminisced about his caper.

"I'm sorry I got caught. And I'm sorry I involved my wife Edith, and I'm sorry I put my children into such jeopardy," said Irving, referring to emotional difficulties he says his young sons, Barnaby and Ned-sky, now 5 and 7, experienced when both parents were in jail.

"But I feel better and more experienced for having gone through it all. It was exciting. And there's a certain satisfaction from meeting difficulties, conquering them and coming out relatively whole."

When asked if he saw any parallels between his own futile attempts at a cover-up and Watergate, Irving quickly answered: "None at all. My motives were adventure, literature and money, not necessarily in that order. Their motives were based on the extension of a corrupt government."

He said he's tried to block out the whole experience of prison life, where, by his own estimation, he was a "troublemaker." He said he was placed in solitary confinement a few times and was accused of being the ringleader of a prisoner's strike at Danbury.

"I just don't think of all that ever. Sometimes I wonder where I was in 1973."

But he ruefully admits he's forced to think about the Hughes book all the time.

"The Autobiography of Howard Hughes" with the prefix "Auto" crossed out, was recently published in Spain. But Irving is being sued by Rosemont, a Hughes organization which owns the rights to Hughes' name, to stop publication of the book in the United States.

"It's an ongoing pain," said Irving.

He says he is nevertheless flattered that people on the street still recognize him and indicated a certain sentimental fondness for the book which friends say he is very anxious to see published.

Irving and his fourth wife, Edith, are separated. She lives on the Spanish Island of Ibiza with the two children. He doubts they will both with divorce since neither wants to marry again. Irving has arranged for a showing of her paintings in Southampton this summer.

He was asked whether he was still in touch with Nina Van Pallandt, the blonde beauty who was instrumental in unraveling the hoax and whose sudden fame launched a short-lived singing and acting career.

"I don't know whatever happened to her, but I hear she came upon a patch of bad luck," he said. "I felt good when I heard that. I think she behaved in very poor taste."

Irving exudes that same cocky air that he mustered right up to the last days of his trial. But he says he was near tears when he heard himself described by the judge as "the biggest loser I know."

His book-about-the-book, "What Really Happened," failed to make money. He says legal fees are eating up whatever resources he has from a few lectures and magazine pieces.

A few days later, his attorneys filed an application for voluntary bankruptcy in Brooklyn Federal Court. They listed his assets at $410. His debts were a bit more than that: $55,884,248.01 to be exact.

The bulk of that debt, they said, represents a $55 million libel suit pending in U.S. District Court in Manhattan. The suit was filed by Fernand Legros, an artist who was the subject of an earlier and ironically-titled Irving book called "Fake."

His lawyers said Irving also owes a mere $344,899 to McGraw-Hill, who bought the fake Hughes book. The IRS wants $140,000 in income taxes. Then there's the $192,476 in legal fees.

Has all this turned life sour for Irving?

"It's fruitless to worry about the future," he says. "I have always been easy going and irresponsible and things have always worked out."

Evacuate After Line Punctured

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—The Rayconda housing development south of Fayetteville was evacuated Tuesday after construction equipment punctured a 12-inch natural gas line.

There was no explosion or fire. Firemen had ordered the evacuation of the 20 or more homes as a precaution.

Arthur Gnann, a vice president for North Carolina Natural Gas Co., said the line was part of NCNG's primary feeder system.

Work crews lowered the pressure in the line to allow them to repair the puncture. A company spokesman said service was not interrupted.

Congress Argued On Greek As Language

NEW YORK (UPI) — At the end of the Revolutionary War members of Congress proposed that the use of English in America be formally prohibited and Greek used as the state language. It was felt this would further sever the bond between England and the new nation.

Greek was chosen because it was the language of the first democracy, but the motion was defeated because the populace would have had to be taught a whole new alphabet and language. Actually such a gargantuan project was not necessary because the American language already had begun to depart from its mother tongue, as is evident from this paragraph from a newspaper of the time.

"By the great horn spoon, the number of folk frowning at a sponging at the Catamount Tavern fourbled and fivebled on a nippy evening in late October 1781. They lifted blackjack tankards and toss pots of ale, perry quince, cider and flip to toast Gen. George Washington's defeat of Cornwallis at Yorktown and the beginning of American independence."

By the great horn spoon was a commonly used epithet of the time. Frowning meant lounging, and a sponging was a drinking bout. Fourbled and fivebled meant to increase fourfold and fivefold. Blackjack tankards were beer or ale vessels that were usually made of wax-coated leather, and toss pots were large cups. Perry quince was an alcoholic drink

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JULY 17, 1975

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Think in terms of the long-time ambitions which impel you forward. Organize your ideas so you will be able to take advantage of your ability at business and finances over a period of time. Consult with older, experienced persons.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Talk over practical affairs with kin to improve things. Solve all problems wisely and carefully. Handle business practically.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Settle some problem with an outside partner for more intelligent operation. One who opposes you needs more understanding.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Coordinate efforts with fellow workers to increase production appreciably. Make your finest talents really pay off.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make fine plans for the future and work out each detail of such meticulously for greater success. Become more creative.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Discuss your problems with kin and gain their advice. Do not confide in outsiders or there can be trouble. Read helpful books.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Talk over with allies ways to extend your present interests so all of you have more of this world's goods. Do needed paperwork.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A higher-up will give you needed backing if you show you handle assets wisely. Use hunches well in money matters.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Some well-formulated plan can now be put in action with good success in the offing. Make future decisions now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make the right arrangements to get that new personal interest into the orb of your life. Meet new interesting persons.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Contact friend who can become part of a project that would be good for both of you. A long talk solves a problem. Relax tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Please higher-ups with the quality of your work and don't resort to any erratic antics. A day for real activity, efficiency.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Try to gain the goodwill of everyone you contact today and forward aims. An out-of-towner has good ideas, so listen.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be a natural-born trouble-solver who can take any problem and work it out resourcefully, so give the finest education, and your progeny can become most successful and famous. Much success in public work here. Sports are a must. Religion important.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Wants Full Employment

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Former Gov. Terry Sanford, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president, says full employment is possible in the United States if the "fine tuning" the national administration can apply to the economy is carried out.

Sanford said Tuesday night that people and their jobs should come first, rather than manipulation of the monetary system in an effort to fight inflation.

Sanford, who has served since 1969 as president of Duke University, proposed that a national economic agency be established, comparable to the National Security Council.

He said the proposal is "radical." But he added that there is no coordination of effort under the system as it now operates, and that business and government do not have confidence in the free enterprise system.

Congress is charged with keeping the budget in balance and with providing a tax level to meet that end, he said.

"But congress never gets around to doing both of those things," he said. Sanford said the president has no real way to do anything about the situation or even to let the voters know what is going on.

"We could very well have a surtax or a subtax at pre-authorized level, so that when the budget is out of level by congressional action, the president and the economic council can put it back into balance with a surtax," he said.

He also urged reform of the Federal Reserve Board to bring about economic stability.

Double-Barreled Treat For Bad-Show Devotees

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Connoisseurs of really bad TV shows have a double-barreled treat tonight on NBC. Treat No. 1 is "The Zoo Gang" for an hour. Treat No. 2 is a second "Zoo Gang" hour.

The shows are in a six-part mini-series based on Paul Gallico's book about a group of former resistance fighters who battled Nazis in France in World War II and reunited years later to fight peacetime evil.

Prominent victims are involved in these British-made, filmed-in-France epics. They are America's Brian Keith and England's John Mills, Lilli Palmer and Barry Morse. Why are they called "The Zoo Gang?"

It is because of their wartime code names — "The Fox," "The Tiger," "The Leopard" and "The Elephant." One suspects after doing two episodes they code-named the series "The Turkey." But I digress.

The first opus establishes that a series of art burglaries is afoot in the seaside resort of Nice, where Miss Palmer runs a cafe and Mills a jewelry shop. So far, so good. Then comes "The Wolf."

He's since vanished and assumed a new name. But he's spotted by Mills when he enters the jewelry shop to have a ring fixed. Mills tells Miss Palmer, who vows immediate vengeance.

But the Wolf, Mills reminds her, "belongs to the four of us." And Keith, now a New York businessman, and Morse, a grimy Canadian car mechanic, are summoned by telegram for a Fateful Reunion.

We soon learn the Wolf is behind the art thefts, that the gang decides to get him jailed for that (Miss Palmer has first option on shooting him if the plan fails) and that her only son, a Nice police lieutenant, will get involved in all this.

There ensues much skulking, trickery and dialogue ranging from "I'm going to cry when I see them" (Miss Palmer before the reunion) to Keith's uncapturing-the-villain zingie: "I hope you have the good luck to die there (in prison). Because if you don't, we'll be waiting for you when you come out."

The whole thing is ineptitude writ large by Reginald Rose, who developed the series from the book.

The second episode, concerning murder, extortion and jewel thefts, is far more satisfying, at least for bad-show devotees. It features such great lines as: "What is going on here? I cannot go to the john without tripping over a cop" and "you have a law against laundry?"

NBC plans to air two more episodes on July 23, followed by two more on Aug. 6. It originally planned only one "Zoo Gang" a week for six weeks. Speaking for bad-show buffs, I protest the new schedule.

We need much more time to digest each episode before throwing up.

Upgrade I-85 Work Priority

RALEIGH (AP)—The state Board of Transportation has upgraded the priority for a segment of Interstate 85 near Lexington so that contracts on it will be let by the end of the year.

Transportation Secretary Jacob F. Alexander made the announcement Tuesday. The project runs from Potts Creek south of Lexington to Groometown near Greensboro.

Alexander said funds would be made available by "minor switching" from other accounts and by the use of unspent monies previously earmarked for other projects.

A Food Source In Rabbit Fish

By STEVE WILSON

PALAU, Micronesia (AP) — An American biologist appears to have achieved a major breakthrough in fish farming which could provide a great new source of food for the world's undernourished tropical nations.

Dr. James McVey's laboratory in the Palau district of Micronesia has successfully raised rabbit fish from eggs to adults, developed a complex food chain for their growth, brought on controlled spawning and begun work on fast-growing hybrids.

"To my knowledge, we have the first tropical marine commercial fish that has its full life cycle brought under control," McVey said in an interview. "I would say that we have not done anything totally new, but we have succeeded better than most."

There has been intense effort in various nations to develop commercial fish farming because of the declining catches from the open ocean. So far most of the large-scale efforts have not worked out because the fish will not breed in captivity or no one has found the right combination of economical food.

The rabbit fish used by McVey apparently is the only tropical salt water fish with major commercial possibilities which has been raised successfully in large numbers from eggs through spawning adults.

McVey said that because the rabbit fish's life cycle is completely under control the best ones are being picked out and used to develop larger and faster growing fish.

It now takes about 10 months to get the rabbit fish to good eating size. But McVey said he is confident hybrids can be developed to allow future fish farmers to harvest two crops a year. The best way to raise them is in brackish ponds, often in mangrove swamps, along the coasts of tropical countries where the land usually is not much good for other uses.

Rabbit fish ponds are being dug in various parts of Micronesia under McVey's direction

Scout Will Go To Jamboree

Eagle scout Melvin Johnson, 16-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. F. Milan Johnson of 1906 Fairview Way, will attend the 14th World Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America in Lillehammer, Norway July 29-August 8.

The Jamboree features tours of Scandinavian countries and is planned for 15,000 Scouts. Johnson will make the trip with Troop 60.

1975 SEES DROP IN ANCHOVY TAKE

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — There has been a marked drop in landings of California's commercial anchovy.

In past seasons the fishermen had to obtain permission from the Fish and Game Commission to take anchovy in February. But because of low takes the past two years the fishermen were granted permission to go after anchovy during May. Much of the blame for the low tonnage this year was attributed to unusually high winds and rough seas which have kept the purse seiners in port.
