Kubasov, Leonov In Safe Soyuz Landing

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Soyuz cosmonauts, partners in history's first international space mission, blazed safely back to earth today, parachuting to a pinpoint landing on a flat, featureless plain in their homeland.

For the first time, the world had a televised look at the landing of a Soviet spacecraft. TV cameras mounted in helicopters picked up the Soyuz as it descended from the skies toward the plain in south central Russia, about 300 miles east of the Baikour Cosmodrome, where they were launched last Tuesday.

had begun to remove the hatch. Just two minutes after the landing, Leonov and Kubasov stepped from the spaceship in their white spacesuits and both gave bearhugs to the rescue workers and waved at cameras.

spashdown in the Pacific on Thursday.

The astronauts were still asleep at the time of the Soyuz landing, with their spaceship drifting along 135 miles above the Pacific south of Japan.

A short time later Houston mission control wakened them with the word of the successful Soyuz landing.

"Very, very good, give them my best. Glad everything went good," Commander Stafford said.

Stafford, Brand and Slayton will remain aloft until Thursday to conduct earth observation, solar astronomy and other scientific experiments.

Alexei Leonov and Valeri Kubasov rode their spaceship, dangling under a single red and white parachute to a touchdown, or a "thumpdown" as newsmen here dubbed it, at 6:51 a.m. EDT.

About eight feet above the surface, small braking rockets fired downward to cushion the landing, stirring up a great quantity of dust.

Within 30 seconds a helicopter had landed beside the bellshaped Soyuz and a team of rescue workers walked across the plain towards the capsule.

Doctors at the scene reported both were in "very good condition."

Mission Control reported they landed just 6.2 miles from the intended landing point.

Ten minutes after landing the cosmonauts were taken to a helicopter for transport to a nearby medical facility.

Beirut Paper Says Israel And Egypt Agree To Truce

By The Associated Press
The Beirut newspaper Al Anwar said today that Egypt and Israel have agreed to a three-year truce under which U.S. troops will man electronic listening posts in the Sinai Desert and Israel will pull back from key mountain passes and the Abu Rudeis oilfield.

wide buffer zone in the Sinai Desert. Egypt's President Anwar Sadat has said his country will not renew the mandate of the Security Council unless the Security Council adopts new resolutions calling for an Israeli pullback from occupied Arab lands.

Al Anwar, which has good connections in Cairo, published details of what it described as a five-point disengagement accord conveyed to President Anwar Sadat by U.S. Ambassador Hermann Eilts, who returned Sunday night from Washington.

The paper said the proposals "resulted from intensive contacts in the past few days between Washington and Jerusalem" and that "both sides have notified the United States of their approval of the accord."

There was no official confirmation from Cairo, where Sadat is scheduled to announce the Egyptian stand Tuesday in a speech to the opening session of the newly-elected National Congress of the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's only legitimate political organization.

Al Anwar said the new disengagement accord centers around Egypt's agreement to a three-year truce with Israel. It listed the following five points:

—Israel will withdraw "completely" from the Mitla and Gidi mountain passes and the Abu Rudeis oilfield.

—Israel will withdraw "gradually" from the rest of the Sinai Peninsula without the need for new disengagement agreements.

—The mandate of United Nations forces in the Sinai will be extended annually and will be renewed after each fresh Israeli withdrawal.

—Electronically equipped C130 aircraft of the U.S. Air Force will discontinue their surveillance and reconnaissance flights over Egyptian-Israeli front lines.

—Several electronic listening stations, each manned by three American soldiers, will be established in the Mitla and Gidi passes "to monitor military moves on both sides of the truce lines."

An informed source in Cairo said Sunday that Egypt would withdraw its opposition to the continued presence of the U.N. force in Sinai if it found clarifications from Israel on a new disengagement agreement acceptable. The present mandate for U.N. troops expires Thursday.

Interviewed on the ABC program "Issues and Answers," U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim said extension of the peacekeeping mandate was extremely important for future efforts to negotiate a settlement between Egypt and Israel.

Postal Union Contract Is Given Tentative Approval

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A new labor agreement for the nation's postal workers is expected to contribute to an increase in the cost of mailing a letter before the end of the year.

The new contract, tentatively agreed to early today, averted the possibility of a strike by the nation's 600,000 postal workers. Details of the settlement were not announced but the postal unions won one major victory, retention of a no-layoff clause.

"The wages which we pay postal workers is one element of our costs. They're going to go up," Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar said at a news conference at which the settlement was announced. Labor-related costs are 85 percent of the Postal Service's costs.

Bailar also said that the Postal Service expects to lose $800 million dollars in the fiscal year that began July 1. He said the Postal Service needs higher rates to start breaking even.

"I'm certain there will be (postal rate) increases before the end of the year," Bailar said. The largest possible increase would be to 13 cents per first-class letter.

The Postal Service in 1973 asked the independent Postal Rate Commission to make present postal rates permanent. The commission is expected to approve a schedule of permanent postal rates within a few months, and the Postal Service then can raise the rates by instituting new temporary rates.

The average postal clerk, postman or pick-up truck driver now makes about $13,500 a year at top scale, plus fringe benefits.

Chief federal mediator W. J. Usery Jr. called the labor settlement "a victory for collective bargaining, a victory for the postal unions and a victory for the Postal Service."

Usery said ratification by all of the four postal unions would take "upwards of 30 days."

"We still have a lot of work to do. We have a lot of language to clean up. But an agreement has been reached and we have had a handshake on it," Usery said.

The negotiations continued more than two hours past the expiration at midnight Sunday of the old two-year contract. Union leaders had instructed members not to leave their jobs while negotiations continued past midnight, and there were no reports of job actions.

The Postal Service had said federal troops might have been used to move the mails if there had been a strike.

REFLECTOR HOTLINE

752-1336

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day.

A YEAR'S EFFORT

I am studying amateur radio at home and am building a radio system. July 12 I ordered a TA33 Mosley Antenna from Trigger Electronics in River Forest, Ill., sending a check for $148.72. I have my canceled check, but it's now September and I still don't have the merchandise. I want either the antenna or a refund as soon as possible. R.E.

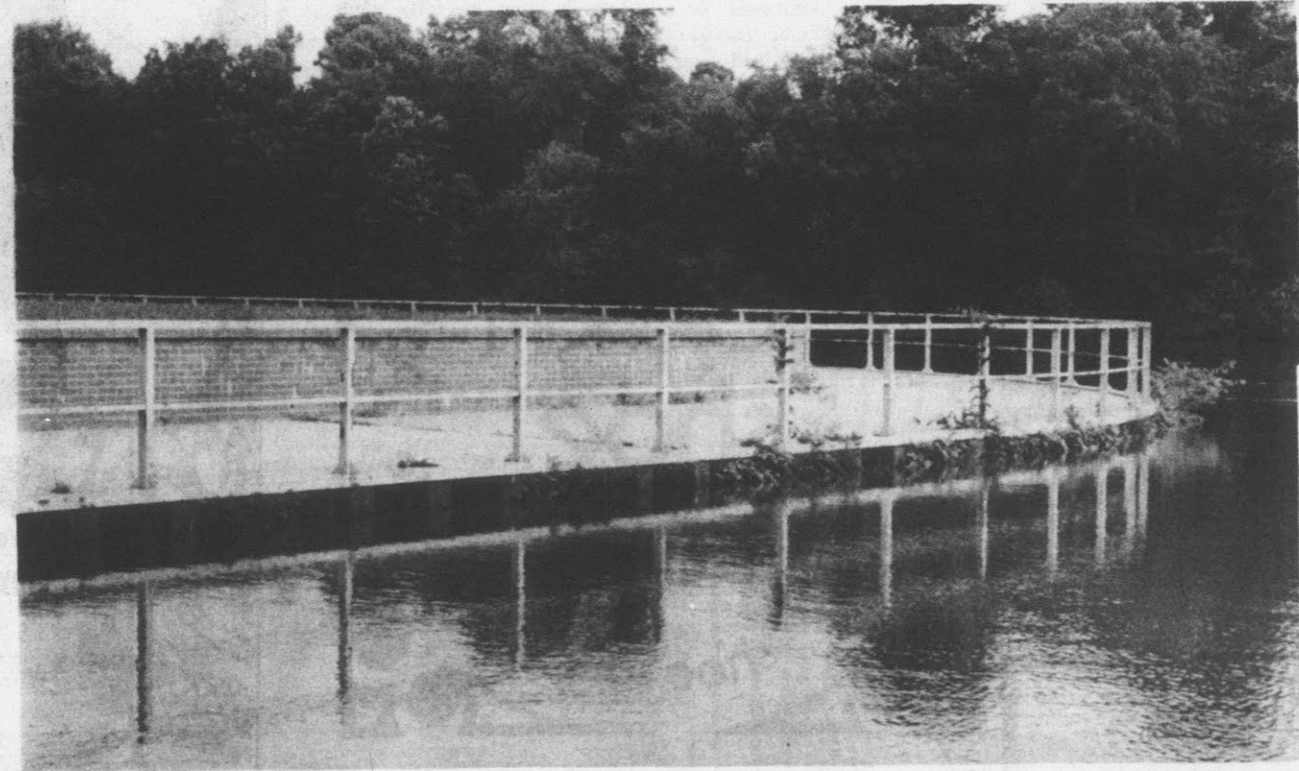

As soon as possible turned out to be a year and a week from the date of order. Hotline's first correspondence with the mail-order firm revealed that the item was backordered and they were trying to get it for you from the manufacturer in Missouri. When it still didn't arrive by the first of the year, we started appealing to them by letter and then by phone to process you a refund. In the meantime, you had found the equipment locally. A response to our letter of May 9 said the check apparently had been lost in the mail, as it had been sent, and that they were reissuing another one. When this one didn't arrive, we called again and talked to Miss Jones, the writer of the last note. She said she didn't know what had happened, but that she would see that a refund was sent. It still took another month, but you report you now have the check in hand.

HAZARD TO CYCLISTS

I was riding down the bypass and noticed the danger of the storm sewer drains running parallel instead of perpendicular with the bike rider. Can something be done about this hazard? N.N.

Public Works Department Director Mayo Allen said his department, too, has noticed the hazard. All the grates the city has put in in the past two years have been ones that run perpendicular to the flow of traffic. However, there are some old ones still around that are gradually being replaced. If one particular one is causing serious problems for bike riders, Allen said he would be glad to hear about it and may be able to replace at least some of those reported with the newer type. He may be reached through the City switchboard, 752-4137.

No Flooding Problems Yet From Tar River As It Inches Higher

ON THE RISE—The Tar River, reported at a level of 17.2 feet this morning, is expected to crest at 19 feet on Tuesday morning. Here the river threatens to flood over the boardwalk and into the Town Commons at First Street. (Reflector Photo by Jordy Whichard)

By JAMES KYLE
Reflector Staff Writer

The flooding Tar River is presently causing few problems in Greenville, but it is still almost two feet below the predicted crest of near 19 feet expected early Tuesday, according to the U.S. Weather Service in Raleigh.

The weather service reported the river level at 17.2 feet at 10:30 this morning and stuck with their crest prediction for Tuesday morning. The Tarboro crest prediction of 28 feet today should be exactly right, a weather service spokesman said.

"I don't see any real difficulty at this time from flooding"

Greenville Utilities director Charles Horne said this morning. The sewage pumping stations are pumping a lot of river water entering the lines through joints and cracks, but "total inflow is being handled by the pumps," Horne said. "We're not pumping anything into the river at the present time," according to Horne.

Water was "just starting" to come out of the storm drains at Tar River Estates, this morning according to manager Jerry Cox. No flood problems existed there at the time however, Cox said.

Flood waters covered the swimming pool and entered the party house at Tar River Estates Apartments last March. The waters also covered River Drive along the river front, but didn't flood any apartments.

Several other apartment complexes along the river front were also threatened with water in the March floods.

"Most of our problems start after the water goes down," Public Works director Mayo Allen said this morning. His department is "taking all precautions" to help the public. "As of now, there are no problems," Allen said, but he asked that citizens call the Public Works if they see any problems.

Boiling orders, requiring persons to boil their water before consumption, have been issued to residents of Shady Knoll Trailer Park, according to Jimmy Stocks of the Pitt County Health Department. Residents in the lower areas of the Meadowbrook subdivision may also receive boiling orders, Stocks said.

The Health Department is "ready for any problems" that may arise, according to Stocks, although there "aren't any right now."

No information on possible crop damage from flooding was available from Pitt County farm agents this morning.

ECU Grad In Colombia Jail; Says No Charge

STATESVILLE, N.C. (AP)—David Edwards, 34, of Statesville, N.C., says he has been held in jail in Barranquilla, Colombia, since July 10 without official charge and without being told when he will be tried.

He denies involvement in any illegal activity. But he says that after his arrest he signed a document written in Spanish without knowing what it said because he hardly reads or speaks Spanish.

The biology graduate of East Carolina University, who had been traveling in the South American country since January, was interviewed by telephone over the weekend.

Be said officials have accused him verbally of being involved in drug traffic or importing contraband into Colombia. He quoted one official as saying, "It's one of the other; I don't give a damn which."

Edwards, who says he is working toward a graduate degree at Appalachian State University, had planned to return to Statesville by last Saturday for the birthday of his father, Parks Edwards of Rt. 10, Statesville. But he called his father last week to tell him he had been jailed as he boarded a plane for the United States, and was being held for a military trial.

"I want out of this place. I want out of this place bad," he said in the interview with a newsman. No date has been set for his trial, he said.

"They keep telling me they are waiting for some sort of wire." American embassy officials in Bogota, the capital of Colombia, have been trying to contact the municipal jail in Barranquilla, about 500 miles north of Bogota. The embassy officials said last week that they suspected the arrest was drug-related.

Reagan Appearances Outpace Other Candidates

Abandoning His Fight To Protect The Bears

MCCLEARY, Wash. (AP) — Windsor Olson, private eye, has been kicked by Boy Scouts and attacked by loggers. That's why he is giving up.

"I have officially resigned," says the founder and former president of Save Our Bears — S.O.B. "And there is no one who is willing to replace me."

As stew pots loaded with bear meat simmered last weekend at the 17th annual Second Growth and Bear Festival in this small Grays Harbor County community, Olson seethed in stoic silence.

The private eye, who works out of a small office in Seattle, decided eight years ago that the good people of McCleary should be making their fabled annual stew out of protein other than bear.

"Their reactions were somewhat surprising," said Olson. "And not a little frightening. I was even kicked by the Boy Scouts. It is very discouraging to be kicked by a Boy Scout."

"I was attacked by a drunken logger. Fortunately I was quicker than he was, or he had had more beer than he should have, because I was able to avoid his haymakers."

How did a hard-boiled private detective become involved in a cause against soft-boiled bears? "It all seemed so unnecessary," said Olson. "They really had a lovely civic festival going there. Why did they have to go out and shoot all those animals — some years as many as 20? They used to award trophies for who shot what."

"What was worse, they would drag the animals through the streets ... some old bear bleeding away. It was rather a sorry spectacle."

But the general chairman of the Bear Festival, Jerry Elofson, said dead bears are no longer paraded through the city's streets.

Elofson said the bears come from a variety of sources — some are killed by state game officers as animal control; others are shot by hunters hired by the timber companies — to prevent the bears from eating up tender young evergreens — and still others are shot by pri-ivate citizens.

Elofson said the recipe for enough stew to feed the thousands of visitors includes 500 pounds of bear meat, 40 pounds of beef to moderate the flavor of the stew, 1,200 pounds of vegetables — carrots, potatoes and onions — and a 50-gallon spice pot.

He said that the reaction to the stew has always been enthusiastic ... but not from Windsor Olson, private eye.

"Over the years, we tried to get them to substitute beef, or, if they were so tough down there — and come to think of it, they are so tough down there — why didn't they fight the bears, man to bear, instead of shooting them?"

"We suggested that they dress up the toughest loggers in motorcycle leathers, a helmet and spiked track shoes and let them run through the woods trying to capture the bears without weapons."

"We even set up a fund to buy the necessary equipment — $400, which we sent to them. They sent it back."

By DOUG WILLIS
Associated Press Writer
TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Ronald Reagan says it will take more than cheering crowds with Reagan-for-President banners to make him run against President Ford next year.

The former California governor says he wants to know how much deep support there is for his potential candidacy out in the heartland of America. And he admits that he is thinking seriously about challenging Ford in the Republican primaries in 1976.

But, the 64-year-old former motion picture actor said in an interview Sunday, he won't make a final decision until later this year. Meanwhile he has a speaking schedule rivaling that of any declared candidate.

This week he has appearances in six states.

"It's getting to the keep-you-awake-at-night stage," Reagan said when asked about his presidential ambitions.

He said, "I've neither opened nor closed the door."

"You have to feel there is a call to duty from a sufficient number of people."

"If my decision should be yes, then I have to go the primary route," Reagan said.

"We're not challenging an elected president. He was appointed to that office."

The Los Angeles Times in its Sunday edition quoted Ford's 1976 campaign manager as dealing out any possibility of a deal with Reagan to keep him out of next year's Republican presidential primaries.

"We have made it clear this is going to be an open campaign, and you can't have deals in an open campaign," the Times quoted Howard H. "Bo" Callaway as saying.

Callaway said there was no chance of a meeting between Ford and Reagan to discuss Reagan's potential candidacy, the Times reported.

Callaway said he is "operating on the presumption" that Reagan will run, the newspaper said.

Reagan says he's not discouraging people who want him to run for President but isn't encouraging them, either. Instead, he's asking them to wait.

Reagan refuses to endorse Ford for election. He says a vigorous primary contest would be good for the GOP.

He has no formal campaign committee. But in June he gave the go-ahead to a "Citizens for Reagan Committee" which was announced last week under leadership of Nevada Sen. Paul Laxalt.

The Laxalt committee will gather information which will help him determine whether to run, Reagan said.

Reagan's speaking tours have the atmosphere of a presidential campaign. He looks and sounds like a campaigner. There are large crowds, many Reagan-for-President signs and banners, police escorts and supporters urging him to enter the campaign.

The voter preference polls say Reagan is the strongest potential GOP challenger to Ford but is slipping. Last spring he trailed the President by 12 points in the Gallup Poll and by seven points in the Harris Poll. This month Ford's margin over Reagan is 41 to 20 in the Gallup and 40 to 17 in the Harris Poll.

Many conservatives who are dissatisfied with Ford want Reagan to run. But some say they fear a repeat of 1968, when they say Reagan waited until too late to launch his campaign.

Program Gets $101,400 Grant

The Driver and Traffic Safety Program at East Carolina University has received a grant of $101,400 from the Governor's Highway Safety Program Office for continuation and expansion of the ECU teacher certification program in driver education.

Dr. Alfred S. King, coordinator of Driver and Traffic Safety at ECU, said the program is a result of the N.C. Board of Education ruling which requires full certification for all North Carolina driver education teachers by September, 1977.

The certification standard requires completion of an undergraduate degree program in Driver and Traffic Safety Education.

response to the ECU program from driver education teachers has been "overwhelming."

"More than 900 teachers have requested certification through ECU, and 246 of them have now completed the requirements," he said.

Certification standards of the ECU program are based on competency. It was adopted by the UNC Board of Governors at the July, 1974 meeting, and is the first competency-based undergraduate program for driver education teachers in the nation.

Renewed Fighting Has Hit Angola Peace Hope

LUANDA, Angola (AP) — A major liberation movement has called for full mobilization of its forces after one of its garrisons came under continued attack from a rival group.

Observers fear the renewed fighting may have wrecked any chance of a peaceful transition to independence scheduled for Nov. 11 in Portugal's last African colony, and that a full-scale civil war is the likely alternative.

The Chinese-backed National Front for the Liberation of Angola (FNLA) issued the mobilization order Sunday after troops of the Soviet-supported Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola (MPLA) resumed pouring heavy mortar fire into a Luanda harbor fortress where 600 FNLA soldiers have been under siege since Thursday.

The attack came after a report from the FNLA's headquarters in Kinshasa, Zaire, said the FNLA had rejected a cease-fire reportedly reached

Saturday night between the two sides.

The FNLA communique accused Portuguese troops of renegeing on pledges to remain neutral in the dispute by fighting alongside MPLA soldiers to prevent FNLA reinforcements from entering the capital of the mineral-rich southwest African colony, scheduled to become independent Nov. 11.

A 5,000-man FNLA column is reportedly held up at Caxito, 36 miles from Luanda, after advancing from the north.

The besieged Sao Pedro da Barra fortress guards the entrance to Luanda harbor from the top of a 200-foot cliff. The MPLA already controls Luanda's African suburbs, while Portuguese forces hold the city center.

A third liberation movement, the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola, has so far refused to be drawn into the feud but has said it is reluctant to take part in any further talks with the other two groups on settling their differences unless there is a firm determination to renounce the use of force.

HEREDITY EFFECT ON EFFICIENCY... Selection of the best and mating the best to the best is one way of improving efficiency of production. Selection is a slow process and is more effective for improving the highly heritable traits.

Cross-breeding also causes improvement in the imported economic traits, especially those related to physical fitness. Improvements from cross-breeding are made much more rapidly than those of selection only.

Because of the fact that several traits are important in efficient swine production, the desired program to improve over-all swine productions is one in which selection is practiced among the pure breeds to improve the highly hereditary traits. These improved pure breeds should then be crossed to take advantage of hybrid vigor.

Hybrid vigor is defined as the percent increase in superiority of the crossbred progeny over the average of the pure breeds that make up the cross. The farther apart the parents are in relationship, the more hybrid vigor can be expected. This means that crossing breeds should produce more hybrid vigor than crossing families within a breed. Research has shown that the three-breed cross is superior to the two-breed cross in many areas. One of these advantages shows a 30 percent difference between the progeny of crossbred sows over those of purebred sows. The advantage is mostly in larger litters farrowed and weaned. This suggests that the crossbred sow is a better mother. All the reasons why are not readily apparent. It is apparent however, that heredity does greatly affect the efficiency of production.

Outlook For Quints' Survival Said Good

DALLAS (AP) — The outlook for survival of the Davis quintuplets is good although their respiratory systems still are monitored closely, a hospital administrator says.

Their 20-year-old mother, Debbie Davis, got her first look at the four girls and a boy Sunday. She had been recovering from the Caesarean surgery required Friday to deliver the six-week premature infants.

"She was up and around this morning and when she saw the babies was smiling and happy, feeling great," said Parkland Hospital administrator Jim Shafer.

"The outlook for survival of the quintuplets is positive," Shafer said Sunday. "Their condition is good, but it has to be remembered they are still in intensive care. We are monitoring their respiratory conditions closely but that is not a great concern."

Three of the babies suffered mild respiratory distress Saturday. All are being fed intravenously with sugar water to prevent the development of low blood sugar.

Their father, Jerry Davis, said the girls will be named Chelsea, Charla, Chanda, and Christa and the boy will be Casey. Davis, 21, is a $175-a-week mechanic.

"We don't know yet which girl will get which name," he said.

The babies will remain in Parkland's intensive care nursery for another four to 10 days at a cost of $750 per day. They will then be transferred to the low birth weight nursery where the cost is $300 a day. It is not known how long they will remain there.

Unsatisfied On Ga.-Fla.

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP)—The third week of auctions on Georgia-Florida flue-cured tobacco markets begins today with many growers still upset over prices.

About 80 farmers met at the Ware County Courthouse in Waycross Saturday night and agreed to withhold their best leaf from the market if prices do not rise.

Julian Bennett, president of the National Farmers Organization in Georgia, said those who attended the meeting "are going back to their warehouses...and urge their friends and neighbors not to give away their quality tobacco."

In addition, two growers pulled about 3,000 pounds of their tobacco off the warehouse floor in Statesboro Thursday and burned it outside the market. They said they would be

Huggins-Stancil Vows Solemnized On Sunday

AYDEN—In a double ring ceremony Sunday at 3:00 p.m., Alice Marie Stancil became the bride of Ronnie Dale Huggins in the Community Baptist Church here.

The ceremony was conducted by Stanley E. Wingard, church pastor. A program of wedding music was presented by LaVerne Crandal, organist, and Mrs. Robert Kittrell, pianist. Eddie McDaris of Goldsboro was the soloist and Bobby Lee Taylor was guitarist.

Daughter of Mr. Thomas E. Staffell Jr. of Rt. 2, Smithfield, and Mrs. Mary Alice Stancil of Greenville, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal length gown of white organza and taffeta. The sleeveless gown was designed with a high neckline encircled with floral Venise lace. The bodice featured a sheer yoke outlined in a double flared ruffle of organza. Floral Venise lace over satin ribbon enhanced the modified empire waistline with long streamers flowing down the gown back. A double flared ruffle flounce of organza edged the hemline and attached chapel length train. Lace flowers were applied around the flounce. She wore a three tiered illusion veil edged in floral Venise lace held in place by a Camelot headpiece trimmed in floral lace. The bride carried a bouquet of daisies and carnations with greenery and lace streamers.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mildred H. Huggins of Ayden.

The maid of honor was Kathryn Kittrell of Greenville and bridesmaids were Gail Marie Davis and Pam Douglas, both of Greenville, and Tammy Huggins of Ayden.

The attendants wore formal length gowns of dotted swiss over taffeta in rainbow hues of maize, blue, pink and Nile. The gowns were styled with open V-necklines accentuated by a ruffle of self-fabric. The gowns featured short butterfly sleeves and a satin belt centered by a bow encircling the waistlines. The flared A-line skirts were edged in a ruffle flounce of the dotted swiss. They each carried two long-stemmed carnations that matched their gowns.

Bobby Jones of Hookerton was best man and ushers were Tommy Stancil III of Greenville, brother of the bride, and Carlton Perry Jr. of Ayden.

The mother of the bride wore a formal length gown of mint green chiffon designed with an open portrait neckline. The mother of the bridegroom selected a formal length gown of blue polyester with an empire waistline. The mothers and grandmothers wore corsages of white carnations.

After a wedding trip to White Lake, the couple will reside in Ayden.

The bride graduated from Rose High School and works at Harris Super Market. The bridegroom attended Ayden-Gritton High School and Pitt Technical Institute. He is employed by the Ayden Sport Shop.

A cake cutting was held following the rehearsal Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D.L. Smith.

Mrs. Smith and Miss Donna Jones assisted in serving.

A bridesmaids luncheon was given by Mrs. Robert Kittrell and Kathryn Kittrell Friday.

Delinquent Citizen Wants To Pay Up

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know if the U.S. government has what they call a "conscience place" where a person can go and pay the government what he has cheated them out of. If so, where is it? I want to die clean.

WANTS TO REPENT

DEAR WANTS: There is no one place. If you've cheated on your income tax, write to the Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D.C. with a note of explanation. If you've cheated on something else, send your remittance to any U.S. Treasury office with a note, and they will channel it to the proper place. (P.S. In the meantime, pray. You know how slow the mails are.)

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Trapped," the young woman whose husband beat her and kept her a prisoner in her home with no money of her own. You told her to go to a family service agency for help. How could she get there? She doesn't drive.

My husband also kept me a prisoner, and I didn't drive. He never allowed me to have any friends, never gave me a penny for anything and wouldn't even let me go to church. He'd hit me when I complained.

When I threatened divorce, he said nobody else would have me. I had two children and no training for a job, so I put up with it for six years.

I finally started to talk with my minister on the phone. He told me that God didn't intend for marriage to be a test of anybody's endurance. He advised me to give my husband a time limit to seek help, and if he refused, to leave him with no regrets.

I took my minister's advice. My husband laughed in my face, told me no other man would have me and slapped me and the children around. Finally, I left.

I stayed with my parents for six months while I found a job and a place of my own. For two years I lived alone and found that I had an inner strength and a faith in God I didn't know was there.

I joined "Parents Without Partners" and dated when I could. I stayed with the church and sang in the choir. Then, one night at choir rehearsal a young man who had recently returned from the military service walked in. I soon found out he was single.

To make a long story short, we have been married three years and now have a child of our own. I couldn't be happier.

Please print this, Abby. If it gives just one woman the courage to gather up her self-respect and leave a situation that's as hopeless as mine was, it will be worth it.

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR ABBY: You had a pretty good flap going some time ago about printing the Ten Commandments on bed sheets.

Saw something the other day that reminded me of it. Being of Social Security age, I really appreciated it.

On display in a novelty shop was a pillow case, emblazoned in big block letters: "DON'T EXPECT MIRACLES."

Miss Joy Denise Hill Weds

ATLANTIC—The marriage of Joy Denise Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Ardell Hill of Atlantic, and Charles Adrian Whichard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Guy Whichard of Greenville, was solemnized Sunday.

The double ring ceremony at 4:00 p.m. was performed by Ed Seymour in the Atlantic Methodist Church. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Helen Mason, organist, and Lewis Gidley, soloist and guitarist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length white gown of leno weave fashioned with a white lace bodice and batiste sleeves with cuffs of lace. The hemline of the skirt featured a white batiste ruffle. The bride wore a white picture hat and carried a bouquet of peach colored roses and white baby's breath.

The honor attendant was Barbara Hill of Morehead City, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Cindy Hill of Morehead City, sister of the bride, Bridesmaids were Cindy Hill of Morehead City, cousin of the bride, Esther Hill of Atlantic, sister of the bride, and Jeannie Hill of Atlantic, cousin of the bride.

The best man was Lewis Gidley of Greenville and ushers were Eric Hill of Baltimore, Md., and Edward Hill of Atlantic, both brothers of the bride, and Danny Stapleton of Greenville.

The bridal attendants each wore a full length peach colored print dress with a peach bib. They wore matching picture hats and carried natural straw baskets filled with ivy, white mums and baby's breath.

A reception was held at the church following the wedding. Those assistant were Mrs. Pam Montgomery, Mrs. Marie Hill and Miss Sandy Goodwin. The couple will reside in Greenville.

Annual Family Reunion Held

Over 300 people attended the third annual Sneed-Laughinghouse family reunion held Saturday and Sunday with the theme, "Working For Unity."

The Saturday's events included a bus tour of Greenville, followed by a reunion workshop and a cookout. On Saturday night, the youth and adults were entertained by a disc jockey and band at the Cavalier Club.

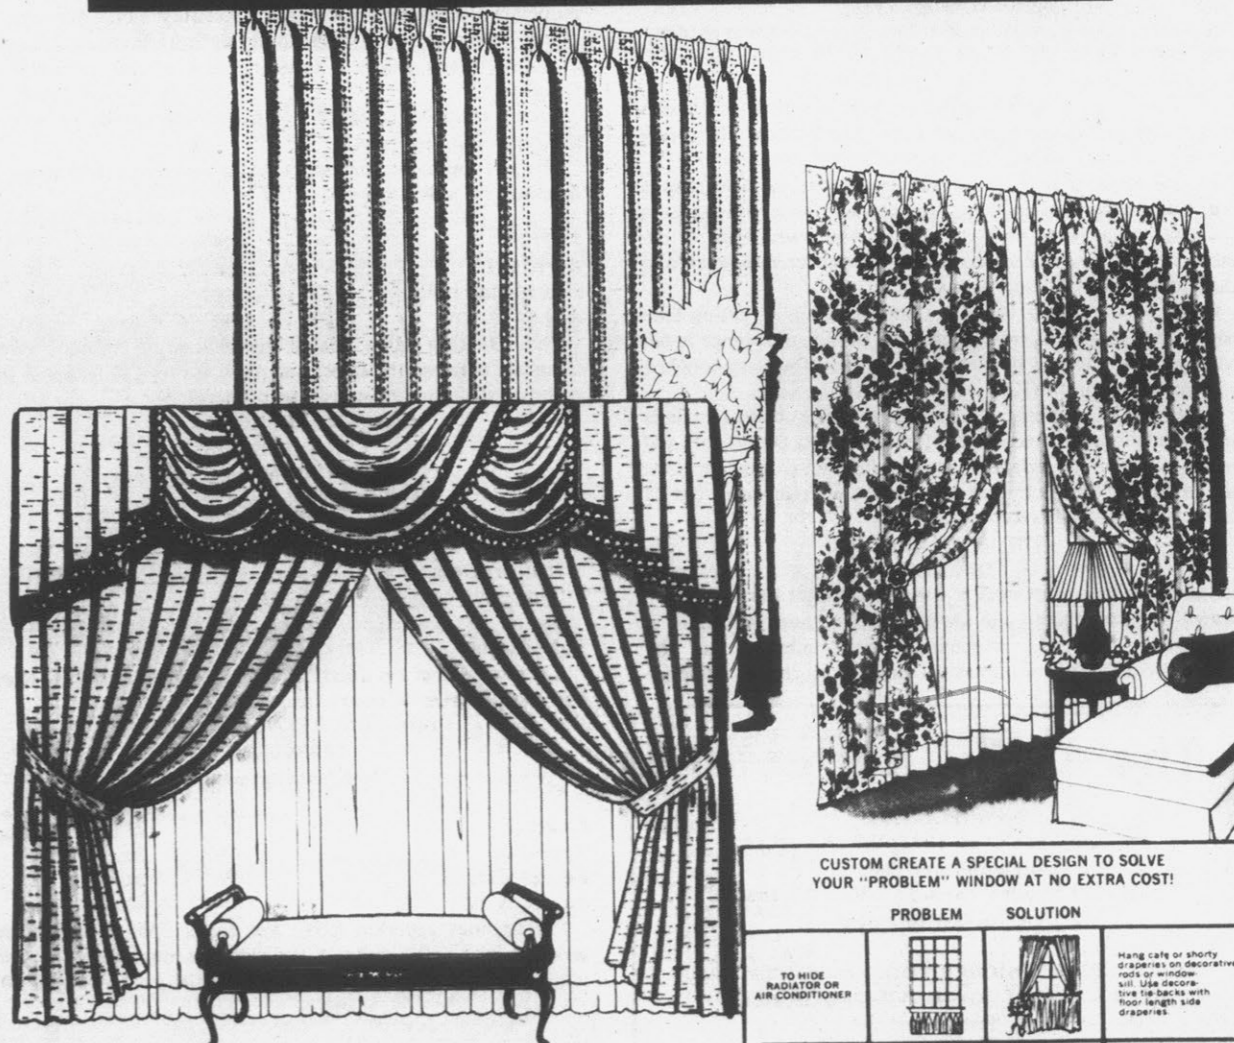

On Sunday, the family members attended various churches in order to emphasize the sub-theme of the reunion, "A Family That Prays Together, Stays Together." The reunion climaxed with a fellowship hour, executive committee meeting and banquet held at the West Greenville Recreation Center. A short program before the banquet included a memorial ceremony. A candle was lighted in remembrance of those family members who had died since the first family reunion. There were gifts given to the key persons who has helped to coordinate the reunion in the various states.

The states represented were North Carolina, Florida, Michigan, Massachusetts, Maryland, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Virginia, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia and Ohio. Also gifts were given to the oldest ancestors and youngest present, who were 74 years and 11 months, respectively.

In July, 1976, the family reunion will be held in Baltimore, Md.

Not The Way It Was Intended

It is not a new thing. The phenomena has been observed in other countries for a number of years and occasionally in the United States; but in the past year Americans have seen a rising trend of public employees wielding their power to test the authority of government.

To put it plainly, unions are challenging governments in their role of governing.

The process has contributed to the economic brink of disaster which Great Britain and Italy face, and are a part of the picture of uncertainty and insecurity in such countries as Argentina and Portugal. Political processes and the workings of internal government as well as the field of foreign affairs in several other countries are modified by the insistence and militant demands of spokesmen for organized labor.

One government, The Netherlands, has even permitted its soldiers to form a union.

In this country, the various levels of government encourage the self-protective factor of unionization among business and industrial employes, and benefits have accrued therefrom. But there can be no double standard; so government is in the dubious position of acquiescing to "organizing" among its own employees.

That trend is growing. It is not a particularly happy trend because in a union the member serves two masters: his duty and loyalty to his fellow members, and his obligation to the successful operation of an industry, a business, or governmental agency. Divided loyalties do not work.

We have seen strikes against municipal governments, against county governments and against state governments. There was, this past weekend, a possible strike against a federal agency. Should the trend reach its ultimate point the ordinary voter and his established levels of government can step aside and leave the practical side of governing (taxes, priorities in domestic affairs, quality of public services, budgetary and fiscal policies) to their former public employees.

If that is what the American voter wants; the American voter can have it.

"Tell me why!" cried the eagle,
"Please tell me why, great bear,
We glory in such things up here,
We dare not do down there?"

Would Protect Patty

By MIKE DUNSTAN
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)
Patricia Hearst's mother says she will protect her kidnapped daughter from defamatory publicity, even if it means legal action against Miss Hearst's former fiancé, Steven Weed.

The 27-year-old Weed says he has completed two-thirds of a book about Miss Hearst, her kidnapping and the effort to get her back. He said he doesn't now have a publisher for the book, but hopes to finish it in time to resume his graduate studies in philosophy at the University of California in Berkeley.

"I hope there is nothing negative in the book," Catherine Hearst said in a weekend telephone interview. "I wouldn't imagine that there would be." Asked if she would take action against Weed if she felt material in the book would be defamatory, Mrs. Hearst replied, "I'm considering defending Patty and if that involves legal action, we'll certainly do that."

But she said that she currently was not considering any action to block Weed's book. "How could I? I don't even know what is in the book," she said.

The Chicago Tribune reported Sunday that Weed said he was on "good terms" with the Hearsts until a magazine article appeared written by a former collaborator of his on the book.

The article detailed the couple's three-year-old love affair before Miss Hearst was kidnapped and told of the couple's use of drugs and other intimate details of their life together.

The newspaper said after a lengthy court battle, Weed has severed all connections with his collaborator.

Mrs. Hearst said she feared that any detrimental publicity about her 21-year-old fugitive daughter might hurt her defense in a future trial. After her kidnapping Feb. 4, 1974, Miss Hearst renounced her parents and reported that she had joined her captors, the Symbionese Liberation Army.

She later was accused of participating in a bank robbery and the FBI has been seeking her and two SLA companions, Emily and William Harris, since they eluded police after a shootout in Los Angeles in which six SLA members were slain.

"I know the Hearsts are not happy with me for writing a book but I find it hard to believe they would take any sort of legal action to stop publication of it," Weed said.

Mrs. Hearst said there was tension between the family and Weed over his planned book. "Naturally, there would be," she said. "I don't think he should make a financial advantage of Patty."

A Better Energy Picture

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—The energy crisis appears to have let up its grip on North Carolina, and in the words of one of the top industry hunters in the state, it is now an "energy dilemma... not a crisis."

Things are looking better, says Robert E. Leak, chief of the economic development section of the Department of Natural and Economic Resources. "I feel a little more comfortable about the situation than I did just a few months ago."

That comfort may be a slim one, however. It is largely due to sharp curtailment of energy use in North Carolina, which means available supplies today will go further.

And that curtailment is naturally due to the twin restraints of inflated energy prices which have caused some users to cut back; and to the loss of industrial boom times in the wake of the economic recession.

No Rejoicing
Hardly reasons for rejoicing—except to the degree that the energy supply appears improved.

Leak said a survey of 1,484 users of natural gas in the state shows that all except 187 of them have alternative sources and supplies: either coal, electricity, or other petroleum products.

Still, those 187 which cannot list available alternatives represent 74,500 jobs. The future for employment in those particular plants, Leak says, is "somewhat uncertain," but he is satisfied that many of the firms will be able to locate other energy.

In the short-term, Leak said, there should be sufficient natural gas in the coming year to operate North Carolina's industrial complex; home heating requirements, he says, will certainly be met.

Looking further ahead, Leak is encouraged by continuing decreases in energy demand across the state as deliberate efforts from the state level down concentrate on changing the "industrial mix."

Currently the state is dominated by textiles, furniture, apparel, and food processing activities. All have a high energy use, based on a complicated formula which provides the number of British Thermal Units (BTU) per employee.

Leak sees a sharp decline between now and 1990 in the importance of those industries—particularly textiles—in the state's employment picture. Textiles, for instance, he predicts will end up showing a sharp decline in energy use, with apparel, food, and furniture industries showing lower use but not as sharply down.

New Industry
In the place of those present industry leaders, Leak sees the state turning to medium and low energy users, such as the manufacture of office and computer equipment, scientific equipment making, optical and photographic equipment plants, etc.

Overall, since 1972, North Carolina has reduced use of fuel oil by 200 million gallons, and of natural gas by 25 billion cubic feet.

As to electricity, Leak sees projections by major power companies that the cushion of power above demand will be trimmed as accurate, but thinks a strong shift of the state's industrial complex from present high energy users to moderate or low users will help absorb that energy loss.

"We have verified these forecasts of a 6.5 per cent growth rate, rather than a 10 per cent growth," Leak says.

But he is encouraged by the prospects in future years of the impact on energy use which will be felt from the decisions which can be made by the Department of Natural and Economic Resources: the types of industry in the state, the location of power plants, and the communicating of problems and solutions to the business and industrial community.

Give blood, brothers.
It's so easy to give... yet so precious.
Help someone else with the gift of life.

The GALLUP POLL

Congress Sinks In Esteem

By GEORGE GALLUP

(Copyright 1975, Field Enterprises, Inc. All right reserved. Republication in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with the written consent of the copyright holders.)

PRINCETON, N.J.—The U.S. Congress is experiencing a serious decline in public esteem, with only 29 per cent of persons interviewed in the latest nationwide survey saying they approve of the way Congress is doing its job.

The latest job performance rating given Congress is down nine points since April and is the lowest score given the legislative branch during the Ford presidency.

President Ford's current job performance rating is 23 points higher than that given Congress. In the April survey, the rating given Ford and Congress was virtually the same.

Further evidence of the current low esteem for Congress is found in another Gallup study reported last week, which shows Congress to be rated about 10 points lower than either of the other two branches of government—the executive branch and the judicial branch (Supreme Court).

Democrats in the survey give Congress a higher rating than do either Republicans or independents, but the difference is not what one would expect in view of the fact that Democrats hold a wide margin over the GOP in House and Senate seats.

Approval of Congress's performance has declined 10 points among Republicans since April, 11 points among Democrats and seven points among independents. Among Democrats, approval has fallen off five points among Southern Democrats but 13 points among Northern Democrats.

THE WHY BEHIND DECLINE

One of the key criticisms of Congress is that the legislative branch is cumbersome and unresponsive. Others feel there is too much "partisan bickering." Still others cite the congressional failure to override a single Ford veto as evidence the legislative body is disorganized and ineffectual.

CAN CONGRESS REGAIN ESTEEM

A lack of public knowledge about the workings of Congress could be a factor in the low rating it receives. For example the approval rating of Congress reached as high as 48 per cent in a survey conducted following the televised hearings of the House Judiciary Committee on Watergate last July. Those six days of public debate were followed closely by the television audience and gave many people a firsthand look at the operation of Congress.

Here is the question asked to determine the public's rating of Congress and the trend:

"Do you approve or disapprove of the way the U.S. Congress is handling its job?"

	Approve	Disapprove	No Opinion
LATEST	29%	54%	17%
April 18-21	38	48	14
Feb 28-March 3	32	50	18
Aug 16-19, 1974	48	35	17

The following table shows the change in ratings given Congress between the latest and April surveys in terms of the political affiliation of survey respondents:

PER CENT APPROVING OF CONGRESS' JOB PERFORMANCE

	April	Latest	Point Change
Republicans	35%	25%	-10
Democrats	44	33	-11
Southern Democrats	40	35	-5
Democrats outside South	45	32	-13
Independents	34	26	-8

A comparison of the trend in the job approval ratings of Ford and the Congress is shown below:

FORD-CONGRESS POPULARITY RATINGS

	Far J.	Congress	Point Difference
LATEST	52%	29%	23 pts.
April 18-21	39	38	1
Feb 28-March 3	39	32	7
Aug 16-19, 1974	71	48	23

The findings reported today are based upon in-person interviews with 1,558 adults, 18 and older, in more than 300 sampling locations across the nation during the period June 27-30.

The Dog Days In London

LONDON—London is now working on a problem that New York City has yet to seriously deal with. And that is to do about dogs that do things on the sidewalk. This great metropolis has street inspectors who walk around their respective boroughs citing people whose dogs "have fouled the footpaths."

One of the greatest of all London's street inspectors is Mr. William James Parr of the borough of Camden. I saw Mr. Parr on television one night making his rounds and asked if I could accompany him for a few hours the next day. He kindly consented, and we met in front of the Camden town tube station.

Mr. Parr is a middle-age, modest man who neither glorifies his work nor puts down his job. If he can make London a cleaner place for people to walk, he feels he is earning the taxpayers' money.

The law is specific. "No one in charge of a dog shall allow it to foul the footpath."

Mr. Parr pounds the pavements every day, and when he spots a person and a suspicious dog he follows them at a respectful distance. Only when the crime is actually committed will Mr. Parr approach the person and identify himself as a street inspector. "I wish to inform you of what I have seen." He'll point to the evidence and then will recount the details of the incident. Finally he will say, "Do you wish to challenge that?"

Whatever the person says Mr. Parr writes down in a book and promises that the statement shall appear in the report.

"You don't warn them of their constitutional rights?" I asked.

"No, I don't. It's not necessary when one deals with dog fouling."

"Suppose the person denies the dog belongs to him?"

"That's where observation is terribly important. If the dog is not on a leash but obeys the person's commands, it's obvious it belongs to the person charged. I then ask if there are any mitigating circumstances the person would like to plead."

"Such as?"

"Perhaps the dog has been constipated and fed a physic or a conditioning powder and can't control himself. I tell them all these facts will be reported to the town clerk."

"If it's a mad dog, can they plead insanity?" I asked.

"No," Mr. Parr replied. "Would you spare a friend or a politician whose dog you caught in the act?"

Mr. Parr seemed shocked I would even suggest it.

"Certainly not. That wouldn't be fair. I do my job without favor or ill will."

"What reaction do you get from a person who has been cited?"

"Most people say, 'Oh, I'm terribly sorry.' A few might protest the dog was walking behind him and he hadn't noticed it, and once in a while they'll say, 'Why aren't you ever here when Stover's dog

Other Editors Say Clothing Stamps?

(Henderson Dispatch)

As if there were not already enough scandal in the issuing of food stamps, a New York congressman is preparing to introduce in the House a bill to authorize "clothing stamps." If that were ever enacted, the free loaders would just about have it made. About all that would be left would be free stamps to buy a new family jalopy.

Food stamps alone are costing taxpayers well up in the billions of dollars a year. Vote clothing gimmicks and additional billions would be added to the colossal Federal deficit.

If the government feeds and clothes them, many would never hit a lick of work. It's time for workers who have to pay their own way, and care for the vagrants in addition, to rise up and shout that they have had enough. If they should vote in that direction, the free wheelers who pass out your money and mine would learn that there are other people in the United States besides the free loaders.

Government already is far along toward the status of siphoning off such cash from those who have a little left that they can call their own, leaving but a smattering for needs of private business for expansion and development.

Many sources of capital are drying up and Washington is to blame by way of doling out the people's substance. The government will need still more if this "clothing stamp" idiocy should by some reckless action on Capitol Hill become law.

Surely Congress should have better judgment, though things almost as ridiculous have been approved since the "Young Turks" took over the country last January.

We just can't believe that all this handout and giveaway is genuine sympathy and concern for the poor. It impresses one as a buildup for votes next election day. But, one way or another, the government continues on its merry way down the road toward ultimate bankruptcy. As legend tells it, Nero fiddled while Rome burned. Have the fires been lighted in America?

By JOHN H. LYST

The Indianapolis Star
Written For Associated Press
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Do economic policies, like fine wines, mature with age? Well, maybe.

That's the suggestion of an Indiana University professor who has taken a look at some 3,200-year-old ideas for coping with economic recession.

Dr. Richard N. Farmer, chairman of the International Business Department at Indiana, says economic rules of the ancient Chinese, with a couple of glaring exceptions, really aren't much different from modern policies to rescue an economy.

Writing in Business Horizons, a publication of the Indiana Graduate School of Business, Farmer notes that "recessions and depressions are not new phenomena. People have always had difficulty in keeping their economies on a reasonably even keel."

Farmer examined a list of policies offered by Huang Chen in the Second Century B.C. "Some of this ancient advice sounds surprisingly familiar."

Among the policies were:

1. Distribution of surplus treasures.
2. Limiting of taxation.
3. Mitigation of the severity of criminal punishment.
4. Withholding of labor conscription.
5. Lifting of legal prohibitions against the use of state property.
6. Abandonment of trade restrictions.
7. Elimination of social ceremonials.

8. Simplification of funeral rites.

9. Prohibition of public musical performance and all amusement.

10. Encouragement of simple and easy marriage.

11. The holding of prayer services.

12. A check on thieving and banditry.

Farmer, in his analysis of these policies, noted food stamps and government job programs take care of policy No. 1.

"The pending tax cut nicely disposes of policy 2. We seem to practice policy 3 all the time, perhaps more for humane reasons than antirecession purposes."

"As for policy 4, we have already ended the draft, thus showing how perceptive we were in anticipating the current recession."

"Policy 5 is neatly covered by the proposals to keep the various government oil reserves for public use. Our new trade act exemplifies policy 6, although the proposed increase in the oil tariff suggests that we are not following this policy carefully enough."

"The elimination of social ceremonials has not been tested, but since nothing else seems to be working, why not give policy 7 a try?"

Farmer said no one has suggested policy 8 either and "one suspects that Huang Chen might be pulling our leg a bit."

He said policy 9 seems "more antirecession than antirecession."

Strength For Today

DEATH AS VICTORY
Often we can judge the worth of a person by the way he or she faces death. Death is a terrible thing if it follows a useless, self-centered life. The sting of death is indeed sin, and when people come to their last hour, weighted down with the realization that their lives have been of no value to themselves or anyone else, the sense of futility and defeat is overwhelming. "If I only had it to do over again," comes the anguished cry, but the anguish is only deepened by the knowledge that it cannot be done over again.

If a person's life has been lived in righteousness and faith, then death is not a calamity but a triumph. The mortal puts on immortality and death is swallowed up in victory. Under these circumstances death can be accepted with equanimity because of the knowledge that it is but the opening of a door to a new and better life. "O death, where is thy sting; O grave, where is thy victory!"

Cambodians Describe Slaughter

By CHHAY BORN LAY
Associated Press Writer
ARANYAPRATHET, Thailand (AP) — Khmer Rouge soldiers ambushed three groups of Cambodians fleeing toward the Thai border last week and killed nearly 300 men, women and children without warning, witnesses say.

About a dozen survivors told the Associated Press over the weekend the ambushes occurred about 50 miles from the Thai border near the provincial capital of Battambang in north-west Cambodia. There was no official confirmation of their account.

"The killing was horrible. I saw blood streaming from their bodies which were riddled with bullet holes," one of the survivors said. "I heard them screaming for help as I ran from the scene. I nearly killed myself when I saw my friends gunned down."

The survivor, Ung Tia Seng, 32, said he and his two children were part of a group of 200 Cambodians who had slipped out of a forced labor camp but fell into a Khmer Rouge ambush about 20 miles northwest of Battambang City. Only about 30 of their group made it to Thailand, he said.

A second ambush occurred about 10 miles east of Battambang when the Khmer Rouge opened up on about 100 refugees strung out in a line, the survivors said.

"They didn't give us any warning, but just opened fire on us. Even babies were shot," recalled Ky Teng, 32, who said he and about 70 others were the only ones to survive.

The third ambush reportedly took place at a village some 15 miles west of Battambang. Uk Sam Huon said he witnessed the deaths of some 30 members of his group after he climbed a tree when the shooting started.

"I was so afraid. I looked down from the tree and saw everyone running in disarray," he said. "Some of them fell and died immediately, while others tried to take cover. But the Khmer Rouge kept firing."

In other Indochina developments:

—Thai Prime Minister Kukrit Pramoj left on a week-long visit to the Philippines and Singapore for talks on the situation in Southeast Asia including the Soviet and U.S. naval presence in the Indian Ocean and the future of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

—Hanoi Radio accused the U.S. and Thai governments of acting "against the people of Vietnam" by planning joint naval maneuvers off the coast of Thailand at the end of July. U.S. and Thai officials in Bangkok said they had no knowledge of such an exercise but a U.S.

Embassy spokesman said Thai-U.S. naval maneuvers are held periodically.

—Saigon Radio said the South Vietnamese government is rebuilding its economy by resettling thousands of urban dwellers in rural projects known as "new economic areas," and providing them with rice, seeds and farming equipment.

Three Arrested Over Weekend

Three Greenville residents were arrested, two on drug-related charges, over the weekend, Police Chief Glenn Cannon reported.

Fentress Highs Chappel Jr., 18, of Lot 32 Lawson Trailer Park, was arrested Friday on charges of possession of narcotics and possession of marijuana. Bail was set at $350 for the two charges, according to police reports.

Owens Dexter, 16, 1504 Halifax St. and Wayne Clemons, 17, 304-A Darden Dr. were arrested Saturday on larceny charges. Bail for each was set at $200. Dexter was also charged with simple possession of marijuana.

Bail for the marijuana charge was set at $500, according to reports.

Plan Survey On Gambling

Interviewers from the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan will contact families in Pitt County this week in a survey about gambling in the United States.

Conducting the interviews locally will be Virginia Linsche. The survey is part of a national survey of 2,400 people being conducted in 74 areas of the United States between now and the end of August.

The survey asks respondents to express their views about gambling, as well as possible legalization of gambling. In addition, it asks a variety of questions about gambling behavior and reasons for gambling.

Data collected in the survey will be analyzed by the University of Michigan social scientists. Their analyses, together with studies and knowledge gained from hearings, will be used by the Commission on the Review of National Policy Toward Gambling, in recommending changes, where appropriate, in practice and laws about gambling to local, state and federal legislative and enforcement agencies.

Adopt Moving County Seat

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP)—Removal of the county seat of Brunswick County from Southport to the vicinity of Supply and Bolivia has been approved by voters of Brunswick County by a 2 to 1 margin. The Brunswick Board of Elections said the vote in a referendum Saturday was 5,814 in favor of the proposal and 2,984 opposed.

The law under which the election was held requires the Brunswick County Commissioner "forthwith" to select a site for the county seat within one-half mile on either side of U.S. 17 from 1 1/2 miles southwest of the crossing of U.S. 17 and N.C. 211 to the southwestern limits of the Town of Bolivia.

Opponents of the shift were surprised at the size of the winning margin.

The voting climaxed an often emotional campaign over the issue. Supporters of the move said it would mean a more central location for the county seat. Opponents cited tradition and Southport's size as reasons for keeping the county seat there.

Rep. Allen C. Ward, D-Brunswick, introduced legislation in the recent General Assembly setting up the referendum. The measure was opposed by the Brunswick County Board of Commissioners. However, the commissioners had not taken an official stand on the referendum since the legislature approved the bill.

Under terms of Ward's measure, Saturday's affirmative vote means that county commissioners must initiate discussions with the Local Government Commission regarding financing relocation of the county seat.

The law says that if the relocation can be done without issuing bonds, construction contracts must be let no later than July 1, 1977.

If bonds are to be issued or a financing agreement must be entered into, the commissioners must apply to the Local Government Commission with 10 months and any bond election must be held with 22 months.

ECU Library Director To Georgia State U.

Dr. Ralph E. Russell, director of library services at East Carolina University for the past two years, has resigned to accept a position as librarian of Georgia State University in Atlanta.

Eugene W. Huguélet, associate director of library services at ECU, has been appointed acting director for the academic year 1975-76.

During Dr. Russell's period of leadership in ECU's Joyner Library, the library initiated the classification of its holdings according to the Library of Congress System, replacing the old Dewey Decimal System. In addition, the "open stacks" method of circulation was begun, enabling all student users of the library to select volumes directly from the shelves rather than request titles from library employees at the circulation desk.

Other important changes initiated by Dr. Russell were installation of an automated shared-cataloguing system and faculty governance for library services personnel.

Free chess lessons will be given beginning this week at Sheppard Memorial Library. Lessons will be given to children in the Children's Library (downstairs in the main library building) on Wednesday evenings beginning at 7:30 p.m.

As well as encouraging marriage through tax laws, Farmer suggested "a perverse, modern twist to policy 10 would be legislation to make divorce easier and cheaper. This could be a real boon to the housing industry because the parting mates would need two residences instead of one."

He called policy 11 a "mind boggler" but suggested that mass prayer might be worth a try.

On the law-and-order policy 12, Farmer said it was started long before the current recession and that "bigger appropriations for police forces and expenditures for advanced security systems indicate that, as banditry increases, the citizenry will continue to increase their defenses."

All of this, he suggests, may tend to prove that there is nothing new under the sun, and that rare economic policies may not necessarily improve with age either.

No Evidence Of JFK Conspiracy

NEW YORK (AP) — John J. McCloy, a member of the Warren Commission that investigated the 1963 assassination of President Kennedy, says he is convinced Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone.

"I went down there (to Dallas) convinced, well, not convinced, but thinking there must have been a conspiracy," McCloy, 80, said Sunday in a television interview.

"It was a strange sort of a thing," he continued. "But when we got down there, I couldn't find any connection." McCloy described as "just nonsense" theories that there was a conspiracy involved in Kennedy's death.

"A dog lover would turn in his neighbor?" It was my turn to be shocked. "I'm afraid so."

One of Mr. Parr's biggest problems is that he is the only one in the borough authorized to catch dogs fouling the walks.

"Most of the offenses," he told me, "take place at 7:30 to 8:30 in the morning and then in the evening at sunset. I work from 8:30 to 4:30, so I have to get up early on my own time if I want to catch many dogs in the act. Or stay late in the evening."

"When you follow a person and a dog, how can you be sure the dog will break the law?" I asked him.

"You have to have a sixth sense about these things," Mr. Parr replied.

When a person is cited, the town clerk then decides whether to bring it to trial. Most people, Mr. Parr said, plead guilty and throw their dogs on the mercy of the court. The fine could be as much as $40; but the person, unless he has a compulsive dog fouler, is never fined more than five or ten dollars.

Camden is considered a high dog density area, and yet Mr. Parr has never lost a case.

He also has never been bitten by a dog or an owner. It is typical of England that, despite the dangers of his profession, Mr. Parr does not carry a gun. Yet he performs one of the greatest services known to mankind. If New York City only had 10 tall men like him.

New Puppet Shows Set

A new group of puppet shows by the members of the Summer Puppet Theater will be presented at two of Greenville's libraries this week.

The first presentation will be on Tuesday, July 22 at the children's room of Sheppard Memorial Library—with two show times, at 11:00 a.m. again at 2 p.m.

On Thursday, July 24, the puppet shows will be shown at East Branch Library, at 11:00 a.m. and again at 2:30 p.m.

Features in this round of shows are: "The Adventures of Amos—Part II" from Robert Lawson's Ben and Me; "Eeyore Loses A Tail and Pooh Finds One," adapted by Rachel Caspar from Milne's Winnie-The-Pooh; "A Flag For A New Country," a children's play by June Behrens; "Tigger Has Breakfast," from Winnie-The Pooh; and "Peppie The Phew Visits Schnouzer and His Friends," a puppet show assembled by members of the Summer Puppet Theater.

Charlie Hayek directs the theater. Performers are Rachel Caspar, Jay Holley, Kathy Hayek, Stephen Johnson, Nancy Johnson, Marcy Piper, John Shaw, Pierson Shaw, Brent Holmes, Barry Holmes, Beth Carlson, Ilana Mollenbaum, Cynthia Minch, and Anne Richards.

In memory of our daddy and husband.

Four years ago today when you passed away, we never thought we would miss you so much and loved you so good. But, Daddy, God saw that He loved you more so He called you to be with Him, Because He loved you the most. But Daddy we are still weeping and missing you each year. But Daddy we are praying every night and day that we will meet you on that Golden Shore and all of us can be together forevermore. Still loving you and missing you more and more every year.

No Time To Be Homesick

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — "I am homesick sometimes, but I have no time for it now," says Anne Poh-tamo of Finland, the new Miss Universe.

The tall, green-eyed, blonde fashion model was crowned here Saturday night. One of her prizes is a $10,000 personal appearance contract which will keep her busy traveling for a year.

"I'm usually homesick before I go to sleep, but I've been so tired here that I really haven't thought about it," Miss Poh-tamo, 19, said Sunday.

She will fly to New York on Wednesday, but it will be another month before she gets to go home for a while.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market eked out an uneven gain today on the report of a truce agreement between Egypt and Israel.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up .78 at 863.19, while gainers led over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading was relatively quiet. A Beirut newspaper reported that Israel and Egypt had agreed on a five-point pact calling for a three-year truce.

The stock market is often sensitive to middle East diplomatic developments, particularly because of the importance of Arab oil to the West.

But brokers said the response to the truce report was muted by the fact that it had not been officially confirmed by mid-morning.

And the market also had to contend with a continued uptrend in the bank prime lending rate. The First National Bank of Chicago this morning matched a quarter-point increase in the basic rate on corporate loans posted Friday by New York's First National City Bank, to 7 1/2 per cent.

Pan American World Airways, the Big Board volume leader, fell 1/2 to 3 1/2 in trading marked by a 125,500-share block at that price.

Two Accidents Over Weekend

Two weekend automobile accidents resulted in an estimated $650 damage, according to Greenville Police.

Cars driven by Maxine Ward, of Fountain and William Stewart Goodson of 1102 E. Rock Spring Rd. collided Saturday at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Farmville Boulevard.

Damages were estimated at $150 to Goodson's car and $175 to Miss Ward's auto. Miss Ward was charged with a safe movement violation.

James Edward Corey Jr. of Rt. 9, Box 402 Greenville was charged with having improper tires when his car struck a stop sign Sunday at the intersection of Greenville Boulevard and Highland Avenue. Damage was estimated at $300 to Corey's car and $25 to the sign.

CHIEF CANNADY

FARMVILLE — Farmville's new police chief, Marston Cannady, took office Thursday. The 48-year-old Sampson County native, said Friday he is impressed with the friendliness and receptiveness of the Farmville citizens and with the demeanor of the police officers here. "Many people have stopped in to say hello," he said, "and everybody's been real nice."

The Commissioners unanimously chose the Clayton chief of two years from a field of 11 candidates for the job vacated by Carl C. Tanner, who stepped into a lieutenant's rank in the department. He will move his wife, Judy, here soon. The couple has two married daughters.

Cannady said he entered law enforcement work rather late in life, in his 30's. He has been a Cumberland County Deputy sheriff and Community Relations Officer of the Dunn Police Department.

Registration for the camp-out will be Monday evening 8:00 p.m. at the Ayden Community Building. A $2.00 registration fee should be turned in at this time.

Tugboat Sinks; Three Treasure-Hunters Dead

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — "There are 100 ways a ship can sink — it's a powerful ocean," says the father of one of three young treasure hunters who drowned when their top-heavy tugboat capsized and sank. Just last week, Mel Fisher had sent a case of champagne out to his son, Dirk, to celebrate discovery of five brass cannons that salvagers say are from a long-sought Spanish treasure ship.

Fisher, founder of Treasure Salvors, Inc., wiped away tears Sunday as a sister ship brought in the bodies of Dirk, 21, skipper of the tug Northwind; his wife, Angela, 21, and Rick Gage, a diver from New York City. Nine others escaped when the 60-foot tug took on water before dawn as it lay at anchorage in calm seas in the lee of the Marquesas Keys, 36 miles from Key West.

One of the survivors, Donald Jonas, 19, blamed the sinking on a toilet pump that malfunctioned and sucked in salt water.

At the same time, the boat's load of diesel fuel shifted to the same side, capsizing the vessel, he said.

Jonas said he and another crewman, Donald Kincaid, awoke as the boat began listing and attempted to switch fuel valves to pump out the water. But the boat sank in five to 10 minutes, he said.

"It happened so fast," Jonas said. "Everyone else was sleeping. It just happened too fast to know. It was a helpless cause."

Jonas said his life was saved by an air pocket in the engine room. He escaped through a port door and swam to the surface.

Kincaid, 29, said he yelled at everybody to get up. Kerry Curry, 12, had been asleep on the upper deck. "He literally floated up the side of the boat and we put a life jacket on him," Kincaid said.

Kincaid said he took a head count as people began to pop up and knew three were missing. "But we also knew it was impossible to get to them," he said. "It was complete blackness inside the ship."

The survivors floated on a raft until they could arouse the crew of the sister ship, the Virgalona. Divers recovered the bodies of the victims.

The tug had been working at what salvagers say is the wreck site of the Nuestra Señora de Atocha, a Spanish galleon that was laden with 47 tons of New World gold and silver when it was blown onto a reef in a 1622 hurricane.

French Disclaim Invasion Story

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — The Organization of African Unity said today French troops and battleships were invading the Comoro islands in the Indian Ocean and threatening to dismember the self-declared independent nation.

A French official in Paris called the report completely false.

"There is no landing, and no warships in the area," the spokesman at the French Ministry for Overseas Departments and Territories said.

PTI Course Re-Certified

The North Carolina Department of Natural and Economic Resources recently notified Pitt Technical Institute of re-certification of graduates in the Air and Water Resources Technology Curriculum.

The Wastewater Treatment Plant Operators Certification Committee has announced that the course of study meets the requirements of an "Approved Technical Course." This means that graduates will be qualified to take the Grade 2 wastewater operators exams.

Graduates of the course should also be capable of passing the Grade 3 exam, but would have to have a year of work experience before being eligible to take that exam.

Previously graduates had to work one year before being eligible to take the Grade 2 exam, and two years before being eligible to take the Grade 3 exam.

Is It Really Cheaper To Own Your Own Telephone System?

Before you buy telephone equipment from a catalog, store, or salesman—BE SURE YOU KNOW ALL THE FACTS. Don't sign a contract for a new phone system without the answers to these questions:

- Who will be responsible for taxes and insurance?
- Are there additional charges for maintenance service?
- Who replaces equipment damaged by fire or flood?
- What happens if you need to make additions or changes?
- Can you get emergency repairs 7 days a week?

Only through a special connecting device may privately owned and maintained telephone systems be attached to the telephone company's facilities. Such devices are provided by the telephone company at rates approved by the N.C. Utilities Commission.

Unfortunately, some current advertising does give the impression that it is cheaper to own your own telephone system. However, the fact is that any customer owned system must be installed in compliance with approved tariffs. These tariffs require a connecting device on all such installations.

Some state regulatory agencies have expressed concern about the quality of service being rendered by customer-owned equipment. Also of concern is the effect which customer-owned equipment could have on the rates charged by telephone companies to all their customers.

Investment costs, service costs, replacement costs, and taxes are items you don't contend with when the telephone company provides your telephone equipment.

Just call your local Carolina Telephone business office. They'll give you straight answers.

Rights And Wrongs Highlight Sweep

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
The moment Wilbur Wood let go of the ball, he figured he'd figured he'd done something right. Wood recorded his third straight complete-game victory Sunday in the Chicago White Sox' 9-2 rout of Milwaukee, the opening game of a double-header. He would have had his third straight shutout had it not been for a mistake that Gorman Thomas slammed down the left field line for a two-run homer.

also smacked a two-run single. Eric Soderholm's second RBI single put the Twins ahead 4-3 in the seventh inning of the nightcap. But in the ninth, Munson tripled, Rick Dempsey singled him home, then Ed Herrmann delivered a game-winning double to left-center. Rangers 10-2, Red Sox 5-3 Tom Grieve and Lenny Randle drove in three runs apiece as Texas snapped the Red Sox' 10-game winning streak in the opener. In the second game, Cecil Cooper doubled and Rick Burleson singled him home with the deciding run in the top of the seventh. It gave the Red Sox a 3-0 lead and enabled them to withstand Toby Harrah's two-run homer in the bottom of the inning.

Maltbie Wants To Keep On Winning

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — There was a little doubt — just the shadow of suspicion — in Roger Maltbie's mind after he'd won a golf tournament last week.

"When you win your first tournament," the square-jawed, 24-year-old rookie said, "you wonder if maybe it was an accident, if you'll ever win again."

That doubt has vanished. "When you win your second," Maltbie said after winning again Sunday, "you know it wasn't a fluke. You've proved something to yourself. You've proved that you can win again."

And the young man who suddenly finds himself in the role of a budding sensation on the pro golf tour paused and smiled.

"I don't want to sound cocky, but now that I've proved I can win again, I want to win as many more as I can. I want to win again, and again, and again, and again."

"It wouldn't surprise me if I won two more tournaments before the year is over. I'll probably shoot 88 in my next start, but if I win two more, I won't be surprised."

Maltbie, a stocky, well-spoken product of San Jose, Calif., said he wasn't surprised at his come-from-behind victory Sunday in the $200,000 Pleasant Valley Classic, a triumph that made him the first tour rookie since Bob Murphy in 1968 to win consecutive tournaments.

He'd won the Quad Cities Open the week before and now joins the illustrious company of Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, Hale Irwin and Tom Watson as the game's only multiple winners this season.

"That was a great thrill," Maltbie said. "But most of the really big players were playing in the British Open."

"This is a much bigger thrill. Some of them weren't here, but a lot of them were. That gives you a tremendous feeling."

In the second game, Stein jumped on a Pete Broberg mistake and sent it over the wall for the first grand slam of his career, the big shot in a 10-5 victory that gave the White Sox a sweep of the Brewers.

In the rest of the American League, New York swept a pair from Minnesota, 14-2 and 5-4, Texas trounced Boston 10-5, then lost 3-2, Detroit defeated Kansas City 7-3, Cleveland belted California 10-4 and Oakland beat Baltimore 5-2.

The Brewers were behind from the opening inning, when Chicago scored four runs. Ken Henderson gave Wood all the offense he needed with three run-scoring singles.

In the second game it was the Brewers who scored four times in the first inning. But the lead didn't last too long. Stein had a run-scoring single in Chicago's two-run second, then he unloaded his grand slam in the fourth after the White Sox had loaded the bases on a hit batsman and two singles.

Bombers Win

The Bombers pushed over five runs in the fourth to send them on their way to a 20-9 rout of St. Peters in semi-pro baseball action yesterday.

Robert Johnson, Willie Streeter and Marvin Hardy had three hits each for the Bombers.

Yanks 14-5, Twins 2-4 The Yanks lambasted Ray Corbin and four relievers for 17 hits in the opener, including two-run homers by Thurman Munson and Bobby Bonds and a solo shot by Roy White, who

Coaches Pleased With Players

Coaches for this year's Boys Home All-Star game got their first look at their players Sunday in light workouts and both Daryl Allen of the North and Jerry Carpenter of the South were pleased with what they saw.

"Most of them reported in good shape. We were pleased with their condition, said Allen of Aoshkie. "We had a good practice."

"I was impressed with the kids," said Carpenter who coached Gastonia Ashbrook to the state 4-A title. "They had a lot of enthusiasm which you would expect."

Both teams began working on getting the offenses in. "We tried to familiarize them with our system and some of the things we will require of them through the week. We put in a few plays," Allen said.

The North will be using a power-I as South. Defensively, the North will use a 5-2 or a 6-1 alignment.

Allen said that he will try to stress running more than passing. "You won't see a lot of passes."

The South's Carpenter also began putting in plays Sunday. "The offense will take longer to learn. We are limited on defense. Offensive timing will take longer to learn," he said.

The South coaches did put the team into groups but only got a brief look at everybody.

In addition to the power-I, the South may run from a slot-I. Where Allen predicted a limited air attack, Carpenter expects to

Palmer Wins Open Win Four-Shot Edge

By CHRIS CONNELL
Associated Press Writer
NORTHFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Sandra Palmer has placed her name alongside those of such famed women golfers as Babe Didrickson Zaharias, Mickey Wright, Patty Berg and Betsy Rawls as a winner of the U.S. Women's Open. But the tiny blonde from Texas says frankly: "I've never felt that I was really in that class."

The 34-year-old veteran counted five bogeys with five birdies for an even-par final round 72 Sunday and a 72-hole total of 295, seven-over-par on the Atlantic City Country Club course.

She coasted home with a four-stroke edge over 18-year-old amateur Nancy Lopez and pros JoAnne Carner and Sandra Post.

Miss Palmer took the lead for good on the ninth hole, but insisted, "I was fighting for my life out there. When you get a lead, you start feeling protective."

The 5-foot-1½ blonde from Fort Worth earned $8,044 to boost her season's earnings to nearly $65,000, tops on the tour.

Miss Palmer, who shot 78 in the first round but followed with 74-71-72, attributes her success to hard work.

"I was not a good player when I came on the tour. In fact, I was terrible. It just shows what happens when you're conscientious and you work real hard," said the former college homecoming queen.

Miss Lopez three-putted the 18th green for a bogey and a 75 to lose sole possession of second place. The powerful Mrs. Carner also finished with a 75, while Canada's Miss Post had a 76.

South Africa's Sally Little, who had been tied with Miss Palmer and Miss Post for the third-round lead, topped her first tee shot into the rough and dropped far back into the pack with an 81.

Miss Lopez' finish was the best for an amateur since Catherine Lacoste won in 1967. She insisted she was not nervous on the 18th green, but admitted, "I really wanted to birdie it pretty bad."

Her parents, Domingo and Marina Lopez, flew out from Roswell, N.M., to cheer her on the final round, and she said, "I could hear my father back in the crowd."

The hefty brunette said she had decided to remain an amateur and enter Tulsa University this fall because, "I'm not in a rush. I figure if you're good, you may as well practice more and more and be really good."

She added that she wants to continue her education because, "You can't play golf all your life."

Susie McAllister of Beaumont, Tex., closed with a 72-300 for fifth, while defending Open champion Sandra Haynie of Fort Worth had a 76-301 for sixth.

The 6,165-yard course, buffeted by winds from the nearby Atlantic Ocean, yielded only two sub-par rounds during four days of play — Miss Palmer's 71 Saturday, and a 70 by Miss Little on Friday.

Beltone Takes Ladies Tourney

Beltone of Greenville battled back from the losers bracket to win the championship of an invitational Ladies Softball tournament this weekend.

Saturday Beltone beat Kingston, 4-1 and USSSA, 5-0, but fell to Coca-Cola of Roxboro, 4-3.

Sunday, Beltone came back to whallop Abbot, 21-2, they edged the Raiders of Plymouth, 6-3, and struggled to an extra-inning win over People's Bank of Rocky Mount, 10-9.

Beltone remained alive with a 9-5 win over Anaconda-Long moving into the championship game against Marina Restaurant of Elizabeth City.

Beltone rallied for six runs in the first inning but Marina came back with three. Beltone ices the win with three more runs in the second on a homer by Peggy Bennett. Beltone won, 10-4.

That forced a second game between the two. P.J. Taylor hit a grand slam in the second and Rouse and Dempsey also added homers as Beltone took a 9-2 win.

By winning the tournament, Beltone qualifies for the state and World championships. The Most Valuable Player was Sharon Dempsey of Beltone. Twenty-one teams participated in the two day tournament.

Contracts, Cuts Taking Their Toll

By The Associated Press
The annual stumbling block of contract disputes, led by controversial Washington running back Duane Thomas, was in evidence over the weekend as attendance at National Football League training camps rose to capacity levels.

The seasonal axe also began to fall, with unwanted rookies, free agents and vets beginning their slow lumber into the phantom zone: the released lists.

Thomas, who reportedly wants a $168,000-a-year contract, was one of two veterans missing Sunday as the Washington Redskins got their camp under way, the other being newly acquired tight end Marv Fleming.

Coach George Allen ordered that Thomas not be permitted to practice in the Redskins camp at Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pa., until he signs, because he became a free agent May 1.

The Washington Post reported that Thomas, who rarely played in his first year with Washington in 1973 and gained only 347 yards in 95 carries with six touchdowns last season, earned about $80,000 in 1974.

Reports of this year's salary offers by the Redskins were conflicting. The Washington Star said Thomas was offered $60,000, with the Redskins prepared to go as high as $80,000, while the Post put the figure at $84,000.

Thomas met with Redskins'

President Edward Bennett Williams in Washington on Friday and said another meeting is scheduled with the Redskins this week, but it could not be confirmed.

Fleming, formerly signed to Miami but traded last month, is also holding out.

Meanwhile, holdout quarterback Joe Namath showed up at the New York Jets' camp Sunday to pick up a playbook, but the superstar free agent gave no firm word as to when he might be officially reporting.

For the first time since 1961, Bob Lilly was absent from the Dallas Cowboys' camp. Lilly, the team's first draft choice ever, announced Saturday he was retiring from football after a 14-year career in which he was All-Pro seven times and a Pro Bowl player 11 times.

Doctors advised Lilly that bone spurs in his neck could cause paralysis if he kept playing.

In other developments, the New England Patriots announced linebacker Rod Shoate, their second-round draft choice from Oklahoma, had decided to pass up the College All-Star camp in Chicago. The Patriots declined to discuss progress in negotiations with Shoate, who had been scheduled to report Aug. 2.

Twelve-year man Irv Goode was the only vet failing to report to the Miami Dolphins' camp. The whereabouts of the reserve offensive lineman were unknown.

I'LL TAKE THE HIGH ROAD—As the Cub's Andy Thornton comes on the low road, Dodger third-baseman Ron Cey takes the high road to gather in a wild throw by catcher Steve Yeager in the sixth inning in Los Angeles Sunday. Los Angeles settled down to win, 5-3. (AP Wirephoto)

Kingman's Hit Beats Astros But He Was Mad About An Error

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Dave Kingman came off the field after going three-for-five, belting two home runs, driving in six runs and getting his 12th game-winning hit.

Dave Kingman was mad. "Hey, you gave me that error?" bellowed Kingman. "That should have been an error on the shortstop."

Kingman is a hard man to please. You'd think that after hitting a three-run homer in the fifth and two-run belt in the eighth to lift the Mets past Houston 10-9 Sunday, he'd be a happy man. But he preferred to talk about a ground ball in the third which shortstop Jack Heidemann threw to first and Kingman dropped for an error. "The throw was bad," Kingman claimed. "It should have been Heidemann's error."

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia clubbed Cincinnati 11-4; Los Angeles beat Chicago 5-3 in 12 innings; Atlanta edged Montreal 5-4 in a suspended game before the Expos won the regularly scheduled contest 6-5 in 11 innings; San Francisco and Pittsburgh split, the Giants winning 2-1 and the Pirates coming back 7-1, and St. Louis swept a pair from San Diego 3-1 in 11 innings and 10-2.

Bob Watson belted a pair of two-run singles to help the Astros take a 9-6 lead into the bottom of the eighth. But doubles by Jesus Alou and Felix Millan chased Houston starter Dave Roberts and brought in Wayne Granger. Joe Torre singled to make it 9-8, then Kingman unloaded his second homer of the game and 18th of the season to give New York the victory.

Philis 11, Reds 4
Mike Schmidt drove in four runs with a single and his 19th homer of the season for the Phils. Philadelphia took a 4-0 lead against loser Clay Kirby in the first on five walks, an error by first baseman Tony Perez and Schmidt's single. Rookie Tom Underwood, 10-7, got the win.

Dodgers 5, Cubs 3
John Hale's two-out, two-run homer in the 12th lifted Los Angeles to victory. Reliever Mike Marshall, 6-7, was the winner. Bill Madlock drove in a pair of runs for Chicago with a single and his fourth homer of the season.

Braves 5-5, Expos 4-6
The Braves won the suspended game on the strength of two-run homers by Darrell Evans and Dave May. The game was called by rain May 15 with Atlanta leading 4-1 in the fourth, but the Braves protested that the umpires hadn't waited long enough for the rain to go away. NL President Chub Feeney agreed and ordered the game continued.

Montreal got revenge in the nightcap when Pete Mackanin singled home the winning run in the 11th inning.

Giants 2-1, Pirates 1-7
Ed Halicki, 4-6, fired a two-hitter and scored the first San Francisco run. Halicki doubled in the eighth off loser Jim Rooker, 7-5, and scored on Von Joshua's triple. Bobby Murcer singled home Joshua. Manny Sanguillan homered in the ninth for Pittsburgh.

The Pirates came back in the nightcap with five runs in the eighth inning, two of them on Richie Zisk's home run. Ken Brett, 6-2, was the winning pitcher and contributed an RBI single.

Cardinals 3-10, Padres 1-2
Ron Fairly's two-run double in the 11th gave St. Louis reliever Al Hrabosky, 7-2, the victory in the opener. Ted Simmons singled home the first Cardinal run and Hector Torres drove in the San Diego score.

The second game was Cardinals all the way as Mike Tyson drove in four runs with three hits and Buddy Bradford hit a three-run double. John Curtis, 6-7, won it with a five-hitter.

Penske Liked It, Hartman Did Not

By JERRY GARRETT
AP Sports Writer

It was a good day, almost a great one, for Roger Penske. As far as Butch Hartman was concerned, though, he'd rather not talk about it.

Penske had two McLarens entered in the Indianapolis car portion of the $100,000 twin 200-mile races Sunday at Michigan International Speedway, which he also owns. He had a highly competitive Matador in the 200-mile United States Auto Club stock car half of the double-header.

And in the stands were a record 52,000 paying customers. The Matador finished second with veteran Bobby Allison at the wheel and young Tom Sneva ran a strong second in one of the McLarens behind A.J. Foyt.

Hartman finished first in the stock car event, but the four-time USAC stock king was disqualified when his Dodge was found to have a 24.2 gallon gas tank, two gallons over the legal limit.

That gave unheralded Terry Ryan, who had finished 23.8 seconds behind Hartman, his first victory ever.

In other racing Sunday, Cale Yarborough repeated as winner in the Nashville 420 and second place Richard Petty moved to within $6,400 of $2 million in career NASCAR winnings. Yarborough's Chevrolet took an easy victory, despite a spinning tangle with David Sisco earlier in the race. Behind Pet-

Stars Ousted

CONCORD — Greenville's Senior Babe Ruth All-Stars dropped two straight games and were eliminated from the state tournament Saturday night.

In their first round game, Greenville fell to Yadkin Co., 7-4. In Saturday night's game, Meeklenburg Co. rallied for seven second-inning runs to beat Greenville 7-2 and send them packing.

Greenville will play Washington's All-Stars in two games to close out the season. The first game between the two will be July 29 in Greenville, the second on the 30th in Washington.

No other information was available concerning the games.

Hignite Gets To Third

DURHAM — Ron Hignite made it to the third round of the ECTA tennis tournament held at the Hollow Rock Racket and Swim Club this weekend before falling to the eventual men's champion.

Hignite, club pro at Greenville Golf and Country club, beat Tom Spragensm the Durham city champ, 7-5, 6-2 in the first round and Cecil Martin of Clinton, 6-1, 6-0 in the second round but lost to Norm Chambers, 6-4, 6-1 in the third round of play. Chambers went on to win the men's open title.

Wes Hankins also of Greenville, teamed up with Hignite in the doubles competition to win a first round match over Scott and Howard of Durham but lost to Spragens and Donnan in the second round. Other ECTA club members who participated in the tournament were Tom and Ann Sayetta, Dom Dempsey and Gwen Waller.

Finishing behind Foyt and Sneva were Billie Vukovich, Pancho Carter — both of whom ran out of fuel as the race ended — and Bobby Unser. Unser was third in the stock car race, followed by Jigger Sirois and Ramo Stott.

In Silverstone, England, Emerson Fittipaldi won the British Grand Prix in his McLaren to gain on over-all leader Niki Lauda of Austria in the world driving championship standings. Fittipaldi's victory at rain-soaked Silverstone Saturday put him in second place in the standings, 14 points behind Lauda with five races left.

Fittipaldi, the reigning world champ, was the only left on the course when the red flag, ending the race prematurely due to torrential rains, gave the Brazilian the victory.

Q.1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠ AKQJ ♠ AKQ73 ♠ AJ10

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
2 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
3 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Despite the fact that there is an apparent misfit, your hand is so rich in controls that you should not yet be prepared to settle for three no trump. We suggest a bid of four clubs to see how partner reacts. If he rebids his spades on third time, we would invite a slam by raising to five spades.

Q.2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ 10763 ♠ KQ1084 ♠ 983 ♠ A
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
1NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Two hearts. A rebid of hearts suggests a double purpose—emphasizes the quality of your suit and suggests that your hand is unbalanced and therefore not suited to no trump. Two hearts should be your safest part score contract.

Q.3—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ AKJ5 ♠ KJ7 ♠ 98752
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
Pass 2 ♠ ?
What action do you take?
A.—Double. This is for penalties. Your hand rates to take five or six tricks on defense, and from the auction you can surely expect at least one trick from your partner. The double could result in a substantial profit for your side.

Q.4—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ 83 ♠ J9832 ♠ Q10974 ♠ A
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠ ?
What action do you take?
A.—Your hand has great playing potential but almost no defense. In fact, your diamond length detracts from partner's defensive potential. Some sort of preemptive action is called for, and we have a slight preference for five diamonds, though we won't quibble if you decided that four diamonds are enough.

Q.5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠ 7 ♠ KQ1093 ♠ AQ52 ♠ AK8
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ 2 ♠
3 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
4 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Four no trump. This hand is ideally suited to a Blackwood convention. If partner has two aces and a king, you can safely bid the grand slam for his king is certainly in diamonds.

Q.6—Both vulnerable, as South with 40 on score you hold:
♠ A873 ♠ AQ982 ♠ AQ42
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1NT Pass
2 ♠ Pass 2NT Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Game has been reached and we see no point in looking for a better contract at a higher level. Partner could not give you preference to hearts or raise diamonds, nor did he take either opportunity offered to bid spades. Ergo, he has a long club suit, so you should take your chance at an eight-trick contract.

Q.7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ 95 ♠ AJ3 ♠ K76 ♠ Q9632
Partner opens the bidding with one spade. What do you respond?
A.—One no trump. You have a balanced hand with 10 points in high cards, which is the top for this bid. Neither your hand nor suit are strong enough for a re-sponse of two clubs because you have no convenient rebid.

Q.8—As dealer, vulnerable, you hold:
♠ AKQ4 ♠ AQJ7 ♠ AKQ10 ♠ 5
What do you open?
A.—Two diamonds. A rare example of a demand bid with only a four-card suit. However, there is no real alternative. Your hand is just too strong to risk opening one of a suit—the likelihood of getting passed out is too great. Two diamonds is preferred to two of either major lest partner insist on a major suit contract with inadequate support when the hand really belongs in no trump.

Teleprinter For Truckers

NEW YORK (AP) — Work trucks equipped with teleprinters are being evaluated as time-savers, reports Electrical World magazine. Cab-installed teleprinters can relay work assignments or directions to the truck even when the driver may not be available. There's also the advantage of having a permanent record of all communications exchanged.

The Houston Lighting & Power Co. is testing the system at its Magnolia Park division. A small computer terminal is servicing six teleprinter-equipped trucks. "If the system proves itself, it will probably be expanded to take in many other types of field jobs," a company spokesman told the publication.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The idea is downright wholesome: a designated time each night for television programs a family can watch together.

Programs that neither bore adults with simplicity nor inundate children with violence and sex. That's the plan for the hours between 7 and 9 p.m. each day of the week on the East and West coasts, and between 6 and 8 p.m. elsewhere.

So much for the abstract. The reality, as the three networks go about putting just such a plan into effect for the fall season, is that the "family viewing time" has thrown the television industry into controversy.

Top-rated shows like "All in the Family," "Kojak," and "Sunday Mystery Movie" are getting later, post-family time slots. Comments: "A sham ... a scary mess ... a euphemism for some very dangerous goings on." Larry Gelbert, coproducer of "M.A.S.H."

— "A significant step in responsible self-regulation, and in protecting the rights of our diverse audiences." Arthur R. Taylor, president of CBS Inc.

— "A public relations device ... prior censorship." Writers Guild of America.

— "Not censorship ... not a straight-jacket on creative freedom." Robert T. Howard, president of NBC Television. "This industry has redoubled its efforts to show that it is responsive to public concern over the treatment of sensitive subject matter."

— "A terribly inadequate response to the problem." Rep. Torbert H. Macdonald, D-Mass., chairman of the House communications subcommittee. He has little faith in network self-regulation. "If this whole thing depends on their reasonableness, their good faith, that's like writing a letter to Santa Claus," he says. — "A wonderful idea." Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate communications subcommittee.

CBS's Taylor proposed family viewing time early this year, after the Federal Communications Commission asked the networks to suggest how TV violence might be curbed.

FCC Chairman Richard E. Wiley was enthusiastic and got all three networks to agree to set aside time for family programming.

The proposal was adopted by the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) in April. Added to the NAB's Television Code was this sentence: "Entertainment programming inappropriate for viewing by a general family audience should not be broadcast during the first hour of network entertainment programming in prime time and in the immediately preceding hour."

But the NAB made no attempt to define what is "inappropriate for viewing by a general family audience." No one else has, either.

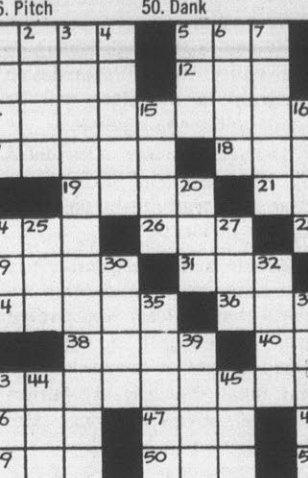

Network censors say it is a question of taste and judgment, and that even if they can't articulate the principle in a few sentences, they will know what is inappropriate when they see it.

Many believe the networks and NAB have capitulated to pressure from Wiley, Sen. Pastore and other Washington forces for less violence and sex on TV.

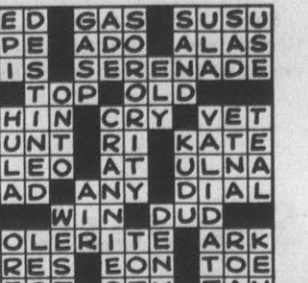

"At best," the Writers Guild of America complained, "the family viewing hour is a public relations device designed to di-

No Tracing Of Vast Oil Spill

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Thick, sticky oil is lapping at beaches in the Florida Keys. But the ship that dumped it probably will escape undetected, a Coast Guard environmental officer says.

"From past experience, I would say the chances are very small that we'll catch whoever did it," Lt. Cmdr. George Davis. "It's fair to say that whoever dumped it is halfway to Norfolk, Va., or the Panama Canal by now."

Crews stood by to shovel up the unrefined crude oil in case the isolated bubbles of oil already washed up increased on today's tides to a wave of oil, Davis said.

"There's not much chance of it hurting or killing anyone," he said. "Some of this stuff is so thick that birds could land on it."

There were no reports of boating mishaps or wildlife

Elbe Link-Up Reunion Planned

A little over 30 years ago American and Russian soldiers linked forces up at Torgau, a 16th century German town on the Elbe River in what is now East Germany. The time was 4:40 p.m. on Wednesday afternoon, April 25, 1945.

Now, a few months past the 30th anniversary of that historic event, the annual reunion of American veterans who took part in that link-up is being planned.

The reunion will take place August 21 through August 24 at the Lake Wright Motor Hotel on Route 64, Norfolk, Va.

Area veterans who were members of the 69th Infantry Division of the U.S. First Army are invited to make plans to attend. Further information can be obtained by writing to: Clarence Marshall, 101 Stephen Street, New Kensington, Pa., 15068.

Working For Official Amnesty Of R.E. Lee

By DAVE STRICKLAND
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—If Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee has his US citizenship restored, it will be mostly through the efforts of a retired assistant director of the Old Military Records division in the National Archives in Washington.

Elmer O. Parker, a native of Georgia and resident of Columbia, says Lee signed a loyalty oath to the United States, and he has seen the original copy. "I know Gen. Lee signed a loyalty oath, because I have seen it, and the original copy of the letter requesting his return of U.S. citizenship is in the Illinois State Historical Library in Springfield, Ill., today," said Elmer O. Parker.

Lee was never granted reinstatement of U.S. citizenship, Parker thinks, because an application for such and the loyalty oath signed by the former Confederate Army commander never got together.

"A letter written by Gen. Lee requesting amnesty to President Andrew Johnson about June 13, 1865 was sent through Gen. Ulysses S. Grant. Grant favorably endorsed the letter, pointing out although the president did require an oath of allegiance, he urged the president to forego the requirement in Lee's case. He said he felt the Appomattox documents the general signed were a good substitute," Parker said.

Parker said the general's letter dated Oct. 2, 1865 pledging U.S. allegiance was never recorded by any governmental agency.

"While I was working in the archives, I found the letter. It had not been marked or recorded, and looked like it was just stuck in a stack of unrecorded letters," Parker said.

"I believe he did write such a letter, because he wouldn't ask others to do something he wouldn't do himself. I think the fact that no official record of receipt of the letter is awfully strange," he added.

Parker said Congress passed an act in 1898 restoring citizenship to those Confederate soldiers still alive regardless of loyalty oaths or applications. He said Lee was dead by this time, and the act contained no posthumous provision.

"This year, for the first time, it is clear that Gen. Lee satisfied both requirements for the restoration of his citizenship. Congress will have no choice but to grant it," Parker said.

Sen. Harry Byrd, Ind.-Va., introduced a resolution in the U.S. Senate Jan. 3 that would posthumously restore citizenship rights to Lee. The bill quickly cleared the Senate and is expected to pass the House this week.

Parker says he will follow the outcome of the proceedings "very carefully."

Suggests Improving Quality Of Employee

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The director of the state Mental Health Services Division advised raising pay and qualifications of employees to lower the frequency of patient abuse in state centers, but he said even that won't eliminate the problem entirely.

Dr. N.P. Zarzar, in a report to the Legislative Mental Health Study Commission on alleged burnings of patients by attendants at the Murdoch Center in Butner, said that "some problems are bound to develop" in a system as large as North Carolina's, which has 10,000 employees, even when most employees are highly dedicated.

He confirmed that 16 center residents were burned with cigarette lighters on June 9, adding that four attendants were arrested. The burns, none of which required medical treatment, were on necks and backs, Zarzar said.

"We hope things like this would never happen, but I don't think anybody expects that," Zarzar said.

He said a thorough report on the entire mental retardation program in the state will be made to the commission.

Two of the four attendants arrested face trial on felonious assault charges in the cigarette lighter incidents.

Zarzar made no comment to the commission concerning reports that at least one patient was burned with a cigarette Dec. 11, 1974. A former attendant found innocent of charges in that alleged incident still faces a charge of soliciting a center resident for a crime against nature.

Charges against the other three in the alleged December incident were not prosecuted.

Motor City Turns To Trying Urban Trolley System

HOPES FOR THE FUTURE— Workmen guide a 75-year-old trolley onto a truck trailer at the Detroit River harbor as the city of Detroit took delivery for the last two of three trolley cars purchased in Lisbon. (AP Wirephoto)

Extension Research On Wheels Is Due In Pitt

By KENNETH R. BATEMAN
Assistant Agricultural Extension Agent

The Eastern Extension Research On Wheels Tour will begin Tuesday evening, July 22 in Lumberton, N.C. Pitt County will be one of the focal points on the tour. More than 200 tobacco industry representatives, growers, chemical company representatives, research and Extension personnel are expected on the tour. The Eastern E-ROW tour will extend through 15 counties and reach its destination Thursday evening, July 24 in Granville County. The tour stops center around tobacco disease control test sites and provide workable knowledge of all aspects of disease control.

Pitt County Phase

The annual Extension Research On Wheels Banquet will be held at the Greenville Country Club at 7:45 p.m., on Wednesday evening, July 23. This event will feature a tobacco talk and fellowship period, a dinner of prime rib roast with all of the timings. A brief program will follow. If you are interested in attending, please call 758-1196 today.

On Thursday, July 24 the group will depart Holiday Inn at 8:00 and arrive at the James Little Farm in Pitt County to view an extensive Variety Evaluation Test. The four new varieties for 1976 including Coker 86, N.C. 12, N.C. 79 and N.C. 98, the more popular varieties and advanced breeding lines can be compared at this stop.

Participants will have a chance to view all varieties where treatment with a multi-purpose chemical was used and no soil treatment.

Speight Seed Farm is the second stop of the Thursday tour. Speight G-28, a popular variety in the flue-cured area was developed on this farm. This stop provides a quick look at how the varieties are developed and what is involved in seed production.

Chemicals for black shank control is featured at the third stop on the J. L. Gurganus, Jr. Farm in Bethel. Fifty treatments involving all of the available treatments are included in this test. This location provides valuable information on black shank control with high (Speight G-28) and low (Coker 319) resistant varieties. All local tobacco growers and tobacco industry and chemical representatives are invited to attend the banquet and/or the tour.

Manhattan's Oldest Building

NEW YORK (UPI) — Historic Fraunces Tavern Museum is perhaps the only place still remaining in Manhattan to have held a Revolutionary War military court.

Gen. George Washington took over the command in New York from Gen. Israel Putnam on April 13, 1776. In the orders issued from Washington's headquarters three days later was the call to convene a court-martial the following morning of April 17.

DETROIT (AP) — The Motor City is rolling out a new urban trolley system in hopes that turn-of-the-century mass transit will revitalize a sagging downtown economy.

Three 75-year-old cars were delivered recently in preparation for the start-up of a downtown trolley run along once-ostly Washington Boulevard. City planner Alex Pollack says the last new urban trolley system in the U.S. was built at least 40 or 50 years ago. None have been constructed since then because of the cost. But, Pollack says times have changed.

"The trolley system is cheap compared to highways or other transportation systems," he said. "The whole system would cost less than six General Motors buses."

There hasn't been a trolley car in Detroit since 1960 and Pollack hopes to have the trolley system running next spring. The cost, including cars, a car barn and installation of rails and overhead powerlines, will be $600,000, he said. The cars have a 40-passenger capacity and the fare for each will be either 25 cents or 10 cents depending on response. Pollack says if response is tremendous, there will be no fare at all.

The system is financed by the state highway department, the city and some local merchants. The city went to trolleys in an effort to attract people downtown. "It's the first step in revitalizing the area," Pollack said.

The trolley will ferry convention delegates from their hotels along Washington Boulevard to Cobo Hall, a popular meeting site.

But Pollack says the trolleys also will attract children and visitors to the area. "They are historical and educational as well as functional," he said. The cars were built in the late 1800s in St. Louis and have been fully restored. They are painted red and white and have oak and mahogany interiors.

Although the cars were built in the United States, they were purchased in Lisbon.

When Detroit began looking for trolleys three years ago there were no cars available anywhere in the nation, Pollack said. But Lisbon was modernizing its transit system, "and they didn't mind selling the trolleys," Pollack said.

"They might mind now that they know how valuable they are," he added. "The value of the trolley is enormous. It's worth more than we paid for it. It's an antique as well as a functional item."

Women 'Vigilantes' Not Caught In Knife Attack

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — None of the six women vigilantes who avenged the rape of a friend by slashing the accused man with knives has been arrested, police say.

Their victim, John Dotson, 20, was being held without bond in the Volusia County Jail late Sunday on charges of sexual battery. He was hospitalized over the weekend and treated for knife wounds in the stomach, shoulders and arms, police said.

When the knifing attack occurred Friday, officers had been on their way to Dotson's home to arrest him on a complaint sworn out by a Daytona Beach woman.

The woman had named Dotson as the man who forced his way into her car and raped her a few hours earlier, police said.

"It appears to be an action carried out by women vigilantes," Sgt. Robert Sharpe said Sunday. "They took things into their own hands."

Sharpe said the case was unprecedented here. "We've had cases where individual women seek revenge for rape but never anything like this," he said.

Det. Don Walters theorized that the attackers were friends of the rape victim.

"They were revenging the rape, that's what they were doing," Walters said. "I don't imagine it would be too hard to find out who the women are."

Police said the rapist held a razor to his victim's throat, and in the struggle the woman was cut and required 22 stitches.

Police refused to give any information about their investigation. They would not say if the raped woman would cooperate in locating Dotson's attackers.

Iran Rules Out Loan To Airline

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran's rejection of a proposed $300 million loan to Pan American World Airways was mostly due to the financially ailing U.S. airline's internal affairs, says an official of Iran's national airline.

The Iran Air official, who asked that he not be identified, said the decision was final. He said that another consideration was that "Iran has other priorities for its development projects."

Pan Am officials in New York were not available for comment. The airline lost $81.8 million last year and $59 million in the first quarter of 1975.

Pan Am talks with Iran began last September.

Budget Minister Abdulmajid Majidi said last month that due to drops in oil revenue from $20 billion to $16 billion over the last year, Iran was cutting its foreign aid to emphasize domestic development projects.

Iran has said among other things it wants to upgrade Iran Air, which transported 1.4 million passengers last year, into a major international airline carrying 4 million by 1981.

Although unconfirmed by Pan Am or Iranian officials, informed sources say proposals discussed to bolster Pan Am's credit base included:

—$300 million in credits backed by Iranian financiers to replace Pan Am's $125 million in loans from U.S. banks that come due this fall.

—Assignment to Iranian interests of mortgages on Pan Am aircraft offered as collateral to get the $125 million from U.S. banks. —Iranian purchase of 13-15 per cent of Pan Am's stock.
