

Business Indicators Up For 4th Straight Month

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's index of leading business indicators rose 1.9 per cent in June, pointing to an improved economy in months ahead, the Commerce Department said today. It was the fourth consecutive month the indicators have pointed to improvement.

The department also reported a record trade surplus during the second quarter of the year of $3.5 billion and a record surplus in the first half of 1975 of nearly $5.5 billion.

Imports of petroleum and petroleum products were reported down to an average of just under 5.7 million barrels a day in the second quarter of the year, compared with an average of slightly more than 6.2 million barrels a day in the first quarter. Cost of oil imports was listed at $5.9 billion, down from $6.5 billion in the first quarter.

The Commerce Department said eight of the nine categories in its index of leading indicators increased in June. This was led by an improvement in total liquid assets of financial institutions. Also increasing were average work week, sales deliveries, changes in prices of a select category of goods, stock prices, the money supply, new orders from business and building permits.

The only indicator that fell was contracts and orders for plant and equipment.

The increase of 1.9 per cent in the indicators put the index at 98.3 per cent of the 1967 average of 100, the highest since last October when it was 103.

The index had increased 2.2 per cent in May and 3.4 per cent in April.

The Commerce Department recently revised the indicators index to provide what it feels is a more accurate measure of business trends in the economy. But it is also reporting the old index, and this declined 1.4 per cent in June, the first drop since it was replaced.

It is possible to make meaningful comparisons between the new index and business indicators of past years since the Commerce Department revised past indices to reflect the new system of economic measurement.

The Commerce Department report on second quarter trade follows by a day its report on Monday that the nation had a trade surplus in June of $1.7 billion, which was a record.

The quarterly trade report was on a balance-of-payments basis, meaning it excludes military trade of U.S. defense agencies and other adjustments that are included in the monthly trade reports.

The Commerce Department said the trade improvement resulted from a larger reduction in imports than in exports, with imports declining $3 billion, to a total $22.3 billion while exports declined $1.4 billion to a total of $25.8 billion.

It said the changes were due primarily to steep reductions in imports of petroleum and other industrial supplies, and in exports of agricultural commodities, which declined 22 per cent to $4.9 billion in the second quarter.

Ford's Oil Pricing Proposals Debated

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Senate tax specialists work out a formula for rebating any windfall oil-company profits to consumers, House parliamentarians are debating whether to send President Ford's latest oil price plan to the floor for a vote.

The House Rules Committee, which controls the flow of legislation to the floor, may decide today whether to clear the way for a House vote on a resolution rejecting Ford's revised oil price plan. The panel is to hear testimony from Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, told the Rules Committee on Monday that the full House should have a chance to vote on Ford's plan as quickly as possible.

Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the Commerce subcommittee on energy, also urged sending the Ford plan to the floor but said steps should be taken to allow a floor vote on whether virtually all of Ford's price decontrol plan should be combined with some Democratic proposal for a windfall profits tax.

Such a strategy would be "the best way out of the thicket into which we've wandered," Dingell said.

Meanwhile, the Senate Finance Committee today was taking up proposals to return windfall oil company profits to consumers in the event oil price controls expire Aug. 31.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the panel, assumes that Ford and Congress will be unable to resolve their differences over energy policy this week and, therefore, that price controls will expire in five weeks, when Congress is on vacation.

It is widely anticipated that such a sudden expiration would quickly boost prices for gasoline and other petroleum products, and congressional tax experts estimate the oil industry would gain $18 billion in unexpected profits.

Long's committee voted Monday in favor of a windfall profits tax that would collect 90 per cent of oil company profits accruing as a result of the removal of price controls. However, the companies would be allowed to avoid a portion of the tax by reinvesting a greater share of the windfall in the search for more oil and gas.

Committee experts said the tax would collect enough over its six-year life to finance a rebate of $361.29 for every U.S. citizen 16 years and older, regardless of whether the citizen drove autos.

The resolution before the House Rules Committee would reject Ford's latest oil price plan which was sent to Congress last Friday. Under the law, that plan automatically goes into effect unless either the House or the Senate votes by a majority to reject it five working days after the President submits it. That deadline is Friday.

Leaders Gather For Signing Of New 'Charter'

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Leaders of Europe and North America began gathering today for the signing of a charter that accepts the postwar map of Europe in exchange for promises of more civil liberties for East Europeans.

President Makarios of Cyprus and Liechtenstein Premier Walter Kieber were first of 35 government leaders to arrive for the three-day European Security Conference, which opens Wednesday.

The leaders were arriving under the strictest security ever imposed in this neutral nation of 4.7 million people, the only non-Communist nation that shares a border with the Soviet union.

Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, who prodded the West to agree to the conference, was to arrive by train from Moscow later today following by President Ford in the evening.

Ford was due to fly in after a two-day visit to Warsaw and talks with Polish Communist party chief Edward Gierek.

The President, criticized by some conservative congressmen for attending the conference, has said it "represents significant progress in our continuing efforts to achieve a more productive East-West relationship."

The 30,000-word charter, a sort of code of conduct for nations, is not legally binding, although it is expected to carry moral weight. The signing is set for Friday.

The Soviets pushed for the supersummit as a salvation for a continent ravaged by two world wars this century and countless national conflicts during the past millennium.

"The European horizon is becoming lighter, the dawn of peace and cooperation is breaking," two Soviet correspondents for Pravda, the Soviet party newspaper, reported from Helsinki.

Override Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress today overrode President Ford's veto of a $2 billion health bill, the first time in five tries this session that the House mustered enough votes to enact into law a measure that Ford rejected.

The vote was 348 to 43, or 99 votes more than the two-thirds majority necessary to override.

The Senate met in a rare weekend session Saturday to override Ford's veto 67 to 15.

In his veto message, Ford called the health package excessively costly and said some program duplicated existing health efforts.

Reveals Nixon Queried

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lawyer seeking public access to tapes and documents of Richard M. Nixon's years in the White House said today the former President was questioned at length July 25 on the tangled issue of who owns the materials.

For more than seven hours, Nixon answered questions under oath during a civil suit deposition taken at his San Clemente, Calif., home, said William Dobrovir, an attorney for columnist Jack Anderson.

Dobrovir declined to characterize Nixon's physical appearance or general condition.

In response to a request from Dobrovir a special three-judge court had said Nixon must orally defend his contention that the presidential papers belong to him. Nixon had previously filed an affidavit saying the materials were needed for a number of reasons, including completion of a book on his presidency. A new law gives possession of the millions of documents and thousands of hours of White House tapes to the government.

Besides Dobrovir, lawyers for the Special Watergate Prosecutor, the Justice Department, Nixon, and various groups seeking access to the presidential materials were present during the questioning.

Tobacco Farmers Grow Impatient Waiting For Those Higher Prices

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Tobacco farmers in southeastern North Carolina were growing impatient for higher prices for their crops as sales entered their fourth week.

John H. Cyrus, tobacco specialist for the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, said Monday farmers aren't getting enough money to cover their costs.

Cyrus and Bill Little of the North Carolina Farm Bureau both reported increasing protests and discontent Monday.

The states' growers have been dissatisfied with prices since markets along the South Carolina-North Carolina border opened July 9. So far there has been little complaint because most of the sales have been low quality, bottom-of-the-stalk tobacco.

But tobacco grower Clyde Gore, president of the Columbus County Farm Bureau, said after Monday's sales that the floor contained "the most dissatisfied farmers I've ever seen."

He said grades that were selling for $1.15 to $1.20 per 100 pounds last year were getting $1.03 to $1.06 Monday.

"It's time things should have moved. Now the farmers are beginning to get impatient," Gore said.

Tabor City grower C.W.

1000 said he, his workers and a group of other farmers would throw buyers out of the New Tabor warehouse if prices didn't go up.

"Either the companies buy tobacco or they go out into the streets. We've just got a situation here we can't live with any longer," Todd said.

Cyrus did say, though, that on the average, prices across North Carolina are better this year than they were at the same point last year.

Pres. Ford Ends His Poland Visit

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
KRAKOW, Poland (AP) — Moved by a visit to the former Nazi death camp of Auschwitz, President Ford today vowed a dedicated pursuit of peace and then flew off to Finland for a supersummit on European security and cooperation.

Ford spent two days in Poland before flying to Helsinki for the European security conference and scheduled meetings with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Soviet Chairman Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Before leaving this southern Polish city, Ford placed a wreath at an international monument marking the site of the infamous gas chambers where more than four million persons died. He then toured a children's hospital built with funds largely donated by Americans of Polish descent.

Ford also joined with Polish Communist leader Edward Gierek in a joint communique characterizing their meetings as "friendly and constructive" and "expressed their will and conviction that future visits by the leaders of both states at the highest level will contribute to further strengthening of Polish-American relations."

Thousands of people from this part of Poland that produced many Polish-Americans streamed into the Old Square from all directions to see the second U.S. president to visit this country. Former President Richard M. Nixon visited Poland in 1972.

DANGEROUS INTERSECTIONS

I am wondering if the State Highway Commission has given consideration to widening Washington Highway at the intersection with Port Terminal Road. Visibility is poor there and many accidents have occurred, one of which resulted in death about a year ago. E.A.

The intersection of Highway 102 and State Road 1700 is dangerous. Could the stop sign there be made more noticeable? E.N.

C.W. Snell, District Engineer for the State Department of Transportation, said he will look into the problems at both of these intersections, but he knows of no previously made plans for changes at either place. He asked that anyone with a suggestion for his department put it in writing and send it to P.O. Box 1587, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

SATISFIED

My husband ordered some shoes from Bill the Hatter Inc. of Chicago, Ill. Nov. 11, 1974, sending a check for $27.95. He has received a letter saying they didn't have the shoes he requested, but would send them when they had them. After some time he wrote and asked them to send his money back, but they haven't even answered this request. Mrs. N. D.

Hotline's request for a refund for you prompted the company to mail you a credit slip for the amount paid. With this you say your husband ordered some merchandise he likes very much.

Some 58,000 Refugees Waiting

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly three months after President Ford said he was "damned mad" about the reception accorded Vietnamese refugees, 58,000 have yet to find homes or jobs in the United States.

Nonetheless, more than 57,000 others have been placed with U.S. sponsors and the flow from resettlement camps to U.S. communities continues to average about 700 daily.

While resettlement officials in and out of government are quick to provide the statistical evidence of refugee movements, they are less willing to predict success for the long-term assimilation of refugees into American life.

"The refugees have arrived in large numbers, all at essentially the same time, during a period of serious economic recession which directly affects employment opportunities," says Welles Klein, director of the American Council for Nationalities Service.

"There is ambivalence in this country about the program," Klein continued. "It is politically sensitive and being carried out under rather intensive public scrutiny. None of this is necessarily conducive to a calm and pragmatic approach to meeting human needs."

Find Two Seals In Big White Shark's Stomach

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Two hefty harbor seals weighing 300 pounds have been found in the belly of a great white shark caught off the Southern California coast near Catalina Island.

The consumed seals weighed in at 175 and 125 pounds each. The dissection was continuing but scientists said they were sure nothing more of interest would be found in the great white's massive digestive system.

ach had aroused some curiosity. The 14-foot-long shark, whose liver weighed more than 140 pounds, is drawing scientists the way the movie "Jaws" is drawing audiences, and Larry Mansur, captain of the boat that caught it, said he would like to sell the creature to a scientific institution.

Vatican Ties Are Broken

ATHENS (AP) — The Orthodox Church of Greece today severed relations with the Vatican in protest over the Roman Catholic Church's continued recognition of the Catholic Unitarian sect here, the archbishopric in Athens announced.

The announcement said the decision was taken after the Vatican "violated the agreement not to appoint a new Unitarian archbishop in Greece, thus terminating efforts to reconcile differences between the Catholic Church and the Orthodox Church of Greece."

Sale Of Hawk Missiles To Jordan Is Deferred

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with congressional opposition, the Ford administration has deferred its proposed sale of 14 Hawk missile batteries to Jordan.

A number of legislators have criticized the proposed sale on the grounds the number of batteries is excessive and would tip the balance of power in the Middle East.

The Ford administration's deferral of its request for congressional approval, announced Monday, takes pressure off Congress which has 20 days in which it can veto proposed military sales to foreign governments. The period would have run out Wednesday, shortly before the legislators are set to begin an August recess.

A critic of the sale, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said he hopes the administration will use the extra time to go back to Jordan's King Hussein to make sure he is "taking into account the views of the committee regarding the 14 batteries." There were conflicting accounts of whether the deferral meant the administration is ready to scale down the $350-million proposal, which already has been voted down by the House International Relations Committee.

Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the deferral came because his panel and the House committee had developed "overwhelming evidence" that the proposed sale is excessive.

"I hope that any new notice sent to the Congress after the August recess will reflect what I see as the overwhelming concern in Congress that the proposed sale to Jordan was larger than her requirements for purely defensive purposes," Case said. He also said the deferral "leaves the door open for a possible compromise."

But State Department spokesman Robert Anderson said the deferral was only a chance "for resubmitting the notification (of the sale) within a time framework which would permit Congress to deal with the issue." He said, "There is no change" in the numbers of missiles proposed.

The formal withdrawal came in a letter from Robert S. Ingersoll, acting secretary of state, who said the administration is prepared to extend the legal 20-day period as much as three times by withdrawing and then resubmitting its formal sales proposal.

Power Outage In 2 Areas During Night

Two areas served by Greenville Utilities experienced power failures last night, according to Malcolm Green of Greenville Utilities.

In addition to a "small outage" beyond Stokes to Martin County, Green said a large area south of Greenville experienced a blackout when a power substation's protective device failed.

The affected area ran from Pitt Plaza to Craven County and from Grimesland to Winterville and Ayden, according to Green.

The power failure was caused when a protective device at a substation failed to function and blew the fuses at the substation.

This dimmed the lights in the affected area and they were completely cut off when the repair crew arrived. The lights were out for about an hour and a half, Green said, from 11 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

The power was cut completely off by the repair crew to avoid damage to anyone's motors in the affected area, Green said. He advised that anyone noticing their lights dimming for a period of time shut off motors in use—air conditioners, refrigerators, bulk tobacco barns, etc. He said there is a chance that during these dim periods the motors can be damaged.

Venezuela To Nationalize

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The lower house of Congress approved legislation Monday night to nationalize U.S.-owned oil companies running Venezuela's oil industry which earned the nation $10 billion last year.

Exxon, Shell, Gulf, Mobil, Sun and Texaco subsidiaries with assets unofficially estimated at about $1.1 billion would be affected by the bill, which goes to the Senate.

Both houses are controlled by President Carlos Andres Perez' Democratic Action party.

Venezuela produces 2.5 million barrels of crude oil a day.

Opposition parties support the nationalization but oppose provisions in the bill which would permit mixed public and private companies to operate in certain areas of the oil industry.

The bill provides for payment of a yet-unspecified compensation based on the net book value of the oil companies' fixed assets. The bill provides for payment either in cash or in public bonds over a period of 10 years.

The foreign oil firms in this South American nation operate mostly on a concession basis. Their 40-year concessions are scheduled to begin expiring in 1983.

Perez has promised that the nationalization process would be completed this year. The oil industry will be administered by a new state holding company called Petroleos Venezolanos — or Petroven.

FINAL FIGURES—Budget Director James Lynn at a Washington news conference Monday, released final figures on the 1975 budget which showed the nation had a total budget deficit of $44.2 billion, compared with a 1974 deficit of $3.5 billion. (AP Wirephoto)

'Best Day' Of Season Monday

FARMVILLE—An increase in the quality grades of tobacco was responsible for the highest average of the season yesterday on the Farmville Tobacco Market.

According to Louis Williams, sales supervisor of the Farmville market, more cutters appeared on the market than any day this year. A few leaf grades were sold yesterday for the first time this season.

Top price paid yesterday was $1.05 for some grades of cutters. Stabilization receipts were the lightest in several days.

The market sold 418,928 pounds for $369,451, yielding an average of $88.19 per hundred pounds. So far this season, the market has sold 3,074,384 pounds of tobacco for a season's average of $85.40 per hundred pounds.

Shot Without His Bullet-Proof Vest

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Despite ribbing from fellow officers, Patrolman Richard W. Wise wore his bullet-proof vest every day he was on duty, except one.

His vest was being laundered Monday when a man Wise stopped for a traffic check shot him in the back.

The 32-year-old policeman survived. He coughed up the bullet, apparently from a lung, doctors said. He was listed in satisfactory condition after surgery.

Police said Wise, the father of three young sons, was shot after he stopped Alexander Thorpe, a 36-year-old prison escapee from Jacksonville, on a traffic violation.

Witnesses told police that Thorpe shot Wise in the back and then fired five more bullets at the officer as he lay wounded in the street, a police spokesman said. After Wise was wounded, he shot six bullets into Thorpe's car but did not hit Thorpe, the spokesman said.

Thorpe was later captured by police after he attempted to hide under a rooming house near the scene of the shooting, police said. He was reported in serious condition with a head injury which police information officer Mike Gould said Thorpe suffered when he scrambled under the building or during a scuffle with police when he came out holding a brick and resisted arrest.

Thorpe was charged with assault to murder.

Police said the car Thorpe was driving was stolen Sunday from a Jacksonville man who was shot in the leg by the thief. They said Thorpe escaped from a state prison facility on March 31.

Davenport-Johnson Vows Said Miss Dianne Boyd Weds On Saturday

MRS. DAVID EDWARD DAVENPORT

COATS—Miss Mary Ellen Johnson and David Edward Davenport pledged their vows in a double ring ceremony Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in a garden wedding at the bride's home here. The Rev. Ralph Byrd officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Herbert Johnson of Coats and the late Mrs. McClellan Eason Johnson and the parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edward Davenport Jr. of Farmville.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Edison Johnson Jr. of Cary, classical guitarist, Mrs. Mike Smith of Coats, pianist, and Mrs. Jimmy Jones of Garner, soloist, who sang "It Seems I've Always Loved You."

Mr. Johnson presented his daughter for marriage. The bride wore a formal gown of silk knit jersey fashioned with an empire waistline beaded with flowers of pearls and accented by a high banded neckline and long fitted sleeves. The flowing gown featured a chapel train attached just below the shoulders. She wore a Juliet cap studded with pearls and carried a classical nosegay of white roses, stephanotis, baby's breath and springerli fern.

Mrs. Gary Brown of Rt. 1, Benson, served as matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of apricot silk jersey designed with a high draped neckline, butterfly sleeves, and an empire waistline. Her banded headress was of matching silk jersey and she carried a clustered nosegay of white roses, baby's breath, and springerli fern.

Bridesmaids, dressed identically to that of the honor attendant, were Mrs. David E. Nordan of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Robert C. Brown of Ronda, sisters of the bride, Miss Linda Davenport of Farmville, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Wayne Royal of Rt. 3, Dunn, and Miss Diane Hopkinson of Naples, Fla.

Miss Janet Davenport of Farmville, sister of the bridegroom, attended as junior bridesmaid, and was attired similarly to the bridesmaids. Miss Kelly Lee Nordan of Atlanta, niece of the bride, was the flower girl and wore a long apricot dress covered with a sheer white pinafore. She wore baby's breath in her hair and carried a basket of white rose petals.

Cousins of the bride and bridegroom, serving as honorary bridesmaids, were Misses Ellen Samuels and Elizabeth Samuels of Cincinnati, Ohio, Miss Jo Ellen McLamb of Benson, Mrs. Larry Parrish of Durham, and Miss Carol Manning of Virginia Beach, Va.

Mr. Davenport attended his son as best man. Ushers were Jimmy Manning of Plymouth, cousin of the bridegroom, Harry Smith of Farmville, Bert Smith of Sanford, Mellic Elliot of Fuquay-Varina, Tom Jones of Murfreesboro, and Mike Taylor of Greenville. Michael Todd Brown of Ronda, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Jesse R. Mann of Coats, aunt of the bride.

For the occasion the bride's stepmother, Mrs. Johnson, chose a light blue floor length dress of cotton lace with a beaded neckline. Two white cymbidium orchids adorned her gown.

The bridegroom's mother selected a white and yellow chiffon ensemble. She carried an identical orchid corsage.

For travel the bride changed to a three-piece white jersey pantsuit and wore a corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride received a B.A. degree in English education from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and is working toward her M.A. degree. The bridegroom is also a graduate of U.N.C. with a B.A. degree in economics. At Carolina he was a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity.

Upon their return from a trip to the mountains of North Carolina, the couple will reside in North Carolina.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home.

The bride couple was honored Saturday at a rehearsal dinner given by the parents of the bridegroom at Heath's Steak House, Dunn. Following the dinner, a dessert hour was given by the grandmother of the bride at her home.

The bride-elect was honored at a luncheon at the Hickory House, Garner, Saturday given by Mrs. Kesler Eason, Mrs. Larry Parrish, Mrs. David E. Nordan and Mrs. Robert C. Brown.

PINETOWN—Miss Dianne Vivian Boyd and Cullen Glenn Haddock of Greenville were married Saturday at 3:00 p.m. at the Five Points Free Will Baptist Church here.

The Rev. Dwight Boyd, brother of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Wanda Poorman, pianist, and Mike Poorman, soloist, provided the nuptial music. Poorman sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white formal dress of silk georgette over taffeta. The high waist was accentuated with grosgrain ribbon which ended in a bow in the back. The sleeves, waist and skirt were appliqued with Venice lace which also adorned the neckline and A-line skirt which flowed into a semi-traditional train. The sheer sleeves ended in a ruffle at the wrists.

Her headpiece was a veil of embroidered Venice on a white band. The bride carried a Bible adorned with a white orchid with bridal satin streamers.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Nathan W. Boyd of Pinetown, and Mr. and Mrs. Cullen Haddock of Greenville.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Kathy Jackson, cousin of the bride. She wore a dress of yellow flowered chiffon spattered with white daisies over yellow crepe fashioned along princess line with puffed sleeves. Her headpiece was a white straw hat decorated with a matching yellow band. She carried a nosegay of white daisies and greenery adorned with yellow streamers.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Connie Bowen of Greenville, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Joyce Boyd, sister of the bride. They wore dresses of yellow chiffon spattered with white daisies over green crepe. Their headpieces and flowers were identical to the matron of honor's.

The best man was the bridegroom's father. The ushers were Danny Bowen of Greenville, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Charles Boyd, brother of the bride, Carlos Jackson, both of Pinetown, and Gene Hemby of Greenville.

The mothers of the couple wore carnations and the grandmother of the bridegroom, Mrs. L.O. Hemby wore white daisies.

A reception followed the ceremony. The couple was honored by Mr. and Mrs. Cullen Haddock and Mr. and Mrs. Donny Hemby, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hemby and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Bowen.

After the wedding couple takes a wedding trip to unannounced parts, they will make their home in Greenville.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Bath High School and is presently attending Pitt Technical Institute. The bridegroom is a 1971 graduate of

MRS. CULLEN GLENN HADDOCK

J.H. Rose High School and is presently engaged in farming and is associated with Haddock's Garage.

Following the rehearsal, a party was given by the parents of the bride at the fellowship hall of Five Points Free Will Baptist Church. The bride's color of yellow and green were used to decorate the room. Some 50 friends and members of the bride couple's family attended the cake-cutting.

Reader Liked Abby's Advice

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: You gave good advice to the widow who didn't know what to tell people when they asked how her husband had died. (He committed suicide.)

I'd like to reinforce your view. Many years ago, when I was the editor of a small newspaper, one of the town's leading citizens, who was also an attorney and church leader, made some bad investments. Shortly thereafter, he killed himself.

His two daughters, who were my cherished friends, sent their boyfriends to ask me to please leave out that their father had committed suicide when his death was reported in the paper. The competing newspaper agreed to omit it if we would.

I refused, saying, "If we omit it, the girls will be living a lie for the rest of their lives. If we print the truth, it will be forgotten in 24 hours."

I published the truth and the family admitted afterward that I had done the right thing. They also bought 50 newspapers.

EX-CITY EDITOR

DEAR ABBY: I have been teaching Sunday school for five years. I teach first-grade children who are 6-years-old. My problem is the pastor's son. This child pulls rank on me at every turn I make. He lets me know that because he is the pastor's son, I can't tell him what to do.

You can imagine what this does to me and the other children. I get absolutely no cooperation from his parents. The father is merely an older replica of his son.

What can I do to remedy this situation? I am fond of my class and love to teach, but I can't take much more verbal abuse or the kicking this child dishes out. I've bent over backwards to be nice to him but get nowhere.

MISTREATED

DEAR MIS: Discipline him as though he were the son of Joe Blow. And if he doesn't shape up, tell his parents to keep the boy home, or YOU'LL stay home.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Alumni Give Record Amount

GREENSBORO—Alumni of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro have contributed a record total of $167,737 during the 1974-75 fiscal year.

This marks the third straight year that the UNC-G alumni have set a record in the amount of money they have given to the Greensboro institution.

The $167,737 contributed to the alumni Annual Giving Program during the fiscal year ending June 30 easily surpasses the $153,543 given by UNC-G alumni in the 1973-74 fiscal year.

Serving as chairman of the UNC-G alumni fund drive in Pitt County was Mrs. Charles P. Adams, 1907 Forest Hill Dr., Greenville.

Miss Ruth Wilson of Raleigh served as chairman of the Alumni Annual Giving Council during the 1974-75 year. She has expressed her appreciation for the support alumni have given to UNC-G during the fund drive.

Funds raised during the campaign are allocated to campus programs not provided for by state appropriations. These include more than 30 Alumni Scholarships, Alumni Teaching Excellence Awards, the Alumni Professorship, loan funds for needy students, debate team expenses, special academic programs and other designated needs.

David B. McDonald, director of annual giving at UNC-G, pointed out that the $167,737 contributed by alumni this year brings to $1,477,740 the total amount given in the 12-year history of the Alumni Annual Giving Program.

He also noted that approximately 2,000 alumni volunteers contributed their time and effort in helping make the 1974-75 alumni fund drive successful.

National Pageant To Begin Aug. 4

Miss North Carolina Teen-ager 1975 Lori Turner will compete in the finals of the fourth annual Miss National Teen-ager Pageant Friday, Aug. 8.

The pageant will be held at the Alliance Theatre, Atlanta, Ga. Miss Turner was selected as Miss North Carolina Teen-ager at state finals held in Raleigh April 19.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winston V. Turner of Fayetteville, Miss Turner has been the recipient of several honors since being crowned. She has met with the governor, appeared in numerous parades and festivals and has been a guest at local, state and out-of-state pageants.

Fifty states and the District of Columbia will be represented at the national pageant. Each of the contestants will arrive in Atlanta Monday, Aug. 4, to begin a week of activity. The host hotel for state queens is the Terrace Garden Inn.

While in Atlanta, the girls will have dinner with Governor George Busbee and each will present him a gift, symbolic of her state. There will be a tour of the Georgia State Capitol, Six Flags Over Georgia, Underground Atlanta and Stone Mountain.

The reigning Miss National Teen-ager Lisa Lyon of New Port Richey, Fla., will crown the new queen.

Household Hints

Crabgrass preventers applied to shrub borders and garden areas in the spring should prevent the sprouting of annual weeds throughout that time.

To keep curtains and draperies from wrinkling when you move them from one house or apartment to another, fold them lengthwise, place on pants hangers, pin securely and hang in a clothing wardrobe provided by the movers.

Bleaches help remove stains but all damage fabrics. To minimize damage, measure accurately, following label directions.

Judgment Is Up To The Future

The United States wound up the Apollo space program last week when the last space capsule dropped to the ocean surface in the Pacific.

Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Vice D. Brand and Donald K. Slayton emerged from the space craft and were taken to the carrier USS New Orleans where a fitting welcome had been arranged.

This last mission did not match many others for international excitement. Certainly the missions which circled the moon and finally the first manned craft to land on the moon had held the world spellbound.

This one was significant, though. For one thing it was the last of the series and probably the last time an American will be in space for four years. But for another there was the historic linkup between the Apollo and the Soviet spacecraft Soyuz.

The linkup was not without controversy. Some said we were only giving the Russians technical information which they can use to match our space accomplishments. Others criticized it as nothing more than an expensive publicity stunt. However, one feels about the space linkup, it will have to be recognized that it went flawlessly.

It is too soon to determine if there will be any positive results from the space meeting. We may look back in future years and see it as the beginning of cooperative space ventures which will save billions for the national treasuries. Or it may not affect anything at all.

Regardless, the Apollo space program in general has served our nation well in terms of scientific knowledge and exploration.

We are confident that there are benefits to mankind to be gained from venturing out in space. Next the space shuttle will be developed and that is expected to cut the cost of space travel immeasurably. It is impossible to predict how right now, but eventually we believe the money spent on space travel will return dividends.

THIS AFTERNOON The Backbone Of Transit

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—It will likely be rubber tires on paved roads which carry most Tar Heels where they want to go well into the next century.

"At this time, and in the foreseeable future, the only way to transport people in North Carolina is on roads," says Transportation Secretary Jacob F. Alexander.

The buying public may be drifting toward smaller cars, "but the trend is not away from auto transportation... people are not going to bicycles," Alexander said.

The recently appointed chief of the state Department of Transportation dismisses off-handed the comments from time to time that high-speed rail or monorail transportation should be started now—especially between Raleigh and Charlotte along the Piedmont Crescent.

"We'll never live to see it," the Salisbury resident said.

Several Problems

Problems are several:

speed must make such a system more attractive to riders than cars; an express wouldn't likely have enough riders, and a train stopping at every town along the way would be slow; and the cost is astronomical.

Alexander is often asked if he doesn't feel that his department has a responsibility to "educate" people away from cars and into some form of mass transit.

"Absolutely not... our job is to build and maintain roads," he says. The department has a mass transit staff looking at new programs and approaches, but even there it appears to be "wheeled transit using roads," Alexander said.

For one thing, North Carolina doesn't have the urban concentration of people which would make a subway or other form of mass transit economically feasible. Even Charlotte, the largest city in the state, has settled on bus transportation as the best means of mass transit for many years to come.

For another, there is just no demand for development of exotic mass transit systems in a state boasting a pretty good road system, and in which private cars are the established means of getting about, for most people.

A study prepared by Transyt Corporation of Newport Beach, California, recently spoke to the prospects of mass transit covering the Piedmont Crescent. That study concluded that alternatives to present transportation do not offer good enough performance to offset the enormous cost.

Rural Transit

One of Alexander's main concerns regarding mass transit, however, are the elderly, the sick, and the poverty-stricken who live in rural areas of the state.

Seven demonstration programs in North Carolina have been proposed to the federal government seeking mass transit funds for projects involving some 21 counties. Those projects are aimed at the rural sections.

North Carolina is also due to get about $34 million in federal funds over a six-year period, but most of that will go to Charlotte.

But Alexander does not believe we "need or can use large-scale mass transit systems in our cities. We may come to that, and are studying and planning," he said.

Of course the possible shift of people from cars to other forms of transportation may be forced by the rapidly rising gas prices, and would be accelerated by another fuel shortage.

Even so, Alexander does not see his job as one of trying to get people to switch from cars now, in preparation for such a possibility.

The assignment, he says, is providing the needs of the people as the people themselves express those needs. It is not his job to educate people or "tell them what kind of transportation to use," Alexander said.

The GALLUP POLL Crime-Rate In Past Year

By GEORGE GALLUP

(Copyright 1975, Field Enterprises, Inc. All rights reserved. Republication in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with the written consent of the copyright holders.)

PRINCETON, N.J.—One household in every four in the United States has been hit by crime at least once during the last 12 months, with either property stolen or a member of the household a victim of an assault or mugging.

The picture is still more shocking in the case of households in the nation's largest cities (500,000 and over) where one household in three has been struck in the last year.

Crime statistics based on police reports paint a grim picture of growing crime in this country. Yet, if anything, the situation is worse than that reflected in these statistics, since, as the current survey indicates, almost four in 10 incidents were not reported to the police.

Non-Whites More Likely To Be Victims

The survey results reported today indicate that non-whites and lower income persons are somewhat more likely to have been victimized, particularly in the case of crimes against persons, than whites and upper income groups.

The following table shows the percentage of households struck by the various types of crime, with the 1972 figures for comparison.

The following questions were asked in the survey:

"During the last 12 months, have any of these (list of crimes handed to respondent) happened to you?" "Did you happen to report this to the police, or not?"

Per Cent of Households Hit By Various Types Of Crime During Last 12 Months

| HOUSEHOLDS:                       | 1972 | Today |
|-----------------------------------|------|-------|
| Home broken into, or attempt made | 7%   | 11%   |
| Money or property stolen          | 8    | 11    |
| Property vandalized               | 8    | 10    |

PERSONS:

| Assaulted or mugged; money or property taken from person by force or threat of force | 2 | 2 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---|---|

Many Do Not Report Crimes

As the table below indicates, a large percentage of crimes are not reported to the police:

| HOUSEHOLDS:                       | All Incidents 8% | Reported Incidents 5% |
|-----------------------------------|------------------|-----------------------|
| Home broken into, or attempt made |                  |                       |

What Series Has Shown

Today's report is the third and final report in a three-part series on crime in America. Here are highlights from the series:

*Crime is viewed as the top problem facing cities in the view of persons living in urban areas. Worry over crime even overshadows concern over economic problems. A generation ago, many problems were named ahead of crime by city inhabitants as their city's number one problem.

*The weight of opinion among all major population groups is that the crime situation has worsened during the last 12 months.

Fear of crime continues to grow, with a record 45 per cent afraid to walk in their neighborhoods after dark and 19 per cent fearful even within their homes.

*One household in four has been hit by crime (personal or property) at least once during the last year. The ratio is one in three among households in the nation's largest cities.

*If anything, the bleak picture painted by crime statistics based on police reports is actually worse, since, as the survey determined, nearly four in 10 incidents were not reported to the police.

The results reported today are based on in-person interviews with 1,558 adults, 18 and older, interviewed in person in more than 300 scientifically selected localities across the nation during the period June 27-30.

Strength For Today

HANDS AND FEET

Christianity is often called the religion of the spirit. But it might just as fittingly be called the religion of the body. One of its outstanding teachings is that until our religion gets out into our hands and feet, causing us to go places and change things, it is not religion in the best sense of the term.

Some of us prefer to keep religion in the realm of theory. Jesus insisted that we carry it out into life and translate it into action. Many people believe that religion is something we can keep in our heads. They assume that they have done the will of God when their religion eveluates in professions and declarations.

The word "mind" seldom occurs in the Bible, but the words "hand" and "feet" occur thousands of times. The soul of religion is prayer, consecration, the inner yielding of life. The fruit of religion, on the other hand, is errands of mercy, crusades of compassion, service to God and man.

One More Dandy Benefit

It must be the heat. On a sizzling Friday afternoon a couple of weeks ago, the Senate passed a bill known as the Energy Labeling and Disclosure Act. The Senate did not merely pass the bill; it passed the bill without a dissenting vote, 77 to zip, and there wasn't even a murmur of disagreement.

The possibility suggests itself, doctor, that I am losing my mind. I am hallucinating, maybe? Everything is so strange. If this bill was not a classic example of liberalism—of paternalism, big brotherism, and bug-eyed consumerism—I have taken leave of my senses. Doctor, the bill is a bummer.

Yet look who voted for it! Byrd of Virginia! Helms of North Carolina! Both Scotts, Stennis, Talmadge, Thurmond, Tower! Jim Buckley of New York! Merciful heavens, doctor, there is not a sounder man in the Senate than Buckley. And he voted ye!

Is it all a dream? A fantasy? Doctor, you will think I am making this up. The bill applies to all home appliances that ordinarily consume more than 200 kilowatt hours of power a year. It also applies to all new automobiles and pickup trucks. The automotive provisions may be feasible—determining miles-per-gallon isn't so hard—but the home appliance requirements are bizarre.

The reasoning behind this bill, as Senator Moss explained, is that "it is extremely difficult for a consumer to determine the

40 Years Ago Today

July 29, 1935

A new survey will be made in Pitt County communities not included in the federal rural electrification survey completed here sometime ago, it was made known today by I.O. Schaub, director of the State College Extension Department.

Persons desiring this service have been asked to obtain blanks at the local farm department and file them for consideration of the federal government which is planning extensive electrification of rural communities throughout the nation.

"It appears," said Schaub, "that this will be the only opportunity of this sort that the various communities will have to have their conditions looked into by the Rural Electrification survey committee, so I trust that you will cooperate in every way."

E.F. Arnold, director of the farm department, said today he had received a batch of blanks and urged persons desiring to take part in the survey to visit the office and obtain copies.

The Pitt County tobacco crop is described as the best in many years by persons who have visited various sections of the county during the last several days.

Although rain damaged the crop somewhat, it was said that there was still enough tobacco left to go well above the federal allotment, and that it is curing up splendidly.

Economic Uncertainty Lingers

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — After convincingly foretelling the end of the recession, at least as it is interpreted by the followers of statistics, the stock market seems to have succumbed to a case of nerves.

It isn't alone. The banking, investment, industrial and consumer segments of the economy are equally upset. Suddenly the future isn't as certain as they had thought.

Beginning last December the market took off on a 300-point advance in the Dow

Jones industrial average, heralding the end of production declines several months later. But now it can't seem to see a few weeks ahead.

The immediate confusion arises from the direction of interest rates and inflation, both of which are headed in the wrong direction from a stock investor's viewpoint. Something may be very wrong, the market is saying.

Could it really be true that prices are rising again? And interest rates too? Just weeks after we thought the bottom of the recession had been reached — even before we

Mixed Reaction Over Reorganizing Railroads

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The long-awaited government reorganization plan for ailing Northeast railroads has won a mixed reaction in Congress but also pledges that action will be taken on the problem promptly.

Sen. Vence Hartke, D-Ind., chairman of the Senate Transportation subcommittee handling the problem, said the federal planners who announced the plan Monday were to be commended for their work. But he said some changes in the plan clearly were needed.

His panel already has conducted hearings on parts of the plan and will complete these soon after Congress returns from its August recess.

The Indiana Senator said his panel then will draft legislation to implement the plan, embodying some of its own ideas.

Hartke said he was confident Congress could enact the legislation this year.

Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., senior Republican on the subcommittee, was not enthusiastic about the proposal. He called it "A mishmash which does not go nearly far enough."

After the outlines of the plan became known earlier in the year, many members of Congress criticized it for proposing to eliminate thousands of miles of track.

Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., repeated such criticism Monday. He said such a large abandonment would cost many jobs, and urged that there be a two-year moratorium on any such withdrawals.

The plan would consolidate seven railroads into a 15,000-mile system to be known as ConRail, stretching from the Atlantic to the Mississippi River. Backbone of the system would be the bankrupt Penn Central.

Also covered by the plan are the Erie Lackawanna, the Reading, the Central of New Jersey, the Lehigh Valley, and Lehigh and Hudson River, and the Ann Arbor.

The U.S. Railway Association said the reorganization would be the largest corporate reorganization in American history.

Mrs. Alligood Is Staying Home

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP) — The widow of slain Beaufort County jailer Clarence Alligood, a stout, grey-haired woman with her hair pulled back into a bun, sat in her living room shelling butter beans as testimony started in the trial of Joan Little.

"He liked colored people in their place, but he was not lovey-dovey with them. If he was interested in sex, he would have gone out and found one of his own kind," she said.

Elsie Alligood said she does not plan to leave the neat, six-room brick farm house seven miles from the Beaufort County jail to attend Miss Little's trial in Raleigh.

"I don't know whether I could sit through it," she said. She said she has angina, high blood pressure, and a bad leg. Two years ago, she was operated on for cancer.

Mrs. Alligood, 62, said she wanted justice to be done in the Little trial, and that if it was proved that Joan Little murdered her husband, she wanted her convicted.

But, she said, she did not want her put to death, North Carolina's only penalty for first degree murder. "I'm a Christian. The Bible says 'Thou shalt not kill.' I wouldn't say to kill her, but she ought to be put away where she can't do it again. I hope to the Lord justice is done."

Mrs. Alligood told an interviewer she believed Miss Little had assistance from someone in killing her husband in a Beaufort County jail cell last August.

"I can't believe a 105-lb. girl killed him by herself. He weighed about 200 pounds," she said.

Asked about what Joan Little has told of the death of her husband, Mrs. Alligood said, "She has really told some tales. She first said she did it, then she said she didn't do it. I don't know how they can believe her."

Mrs. Alligood said her husband, who formerly drove a truck for the state, had been working as a jailer for about 18 months. She said her husband didn't say much about his work, but that he occasionally told her about local people who had been locked up.

She said he told her a "little colored girl," Joan Little, was in the jail. That was the only reference she said her husband had ever made to her.

Four of Mrs. Alligood's six children did attend the trial in Raleigh Monday. Don Alligood, 32, said life has been a nightmare for his family since the killing. He did not want to comment on the progress of the trial, on the advice of John Wilkinson, the attorney retained by the family to help the prosecution.

Back in Washington, Mrs. Alligood said her youngest son, 16-year-old Tony, dropped out of school to get married after his father's death. "It near about killed him when his father died," she said.

She said she told her son there were "good and bad colored people just like there were good and bad white people."

STRANDED—Sarah Coburn, tenant of this Dallas, Tex. apartment, explained to newsmen her situation. "I told my landlord I wasn't paying any more rent until he fixed the leak in my kitchen roof." She continued, "Then this morning he just came out and tore down the stairs." The landlord not only tore down the front stairs, but the back stairs as well. The city ordered the owner to replace the stairs within 24 hours or face a fine. (AP Wirephoto)

Elvis Buys Car For A Stranger

MEMPHIS (AP)—Mrs. Menie Person never expected to meet Elvis Presley when she was browsing in a car lot, much less wind up on his gift list.

Mrs. Person, a bank teller, was caught by surprise Sunday night when she was admiring a custom-made Cadillac belonging to Presley.

"I had my head over in it (his personal car) and he came out of the back parking lot and asked if I liked it," said Mrs. Person. "You don't expect to find him on a car lot that time of night (9:30 p.m.)."

Mrs. Person said she was "still standing there with my mouth open," but managed to compliment Presley's personal car.

"He said, 'That one's mine, but I'll buy you one,'" she said.

"He caught me back by the arm and carried me back to the parking lot where he had come from and told me to 'pick one out.'"

The car Mrs. Person selected was a gold and white model that lists for about $11,500.

When he learned her birthday was Tuesday, Mrs. Person said, he handed her the keys to the car and wished her "Happy Birthday" and told an aide to write her a check "to buy some clothes to go with the car." She did not disclose the amount of the check.

Mrs. Person and her husband Troy already owned a Cadillac, a 1974 model, but that didn't bother Presley.

"He (Presley) told me to keep it," said Mrs. Person. "He told me to give it to my husband or whatever we wanted to do."

Presley's gifts of automobiles over the years have gone to friends, professional associates and in one case, a politician—former Shelby County Sheriff William Morris Jr.

During the past weekend, Presley had a turboprop airplane value at $1.2 million delivered to Las Vegas as a gift to his long-time manager, Col. Tom Parker.

Profit In Oil Sharply Down

NEW YORK (AP) — Three oil firms report that the recession and taxes sharply reduced second-quarter and first-half oil profits.

Gulf Oil Corp.'s second-quarter earnings fell 49 per cent to $160 million, Union Oil Co. of California's second-quarter profits dropped 47 per cent to $42 million and Phillips Petroleum Co.'s were off 10 per cent at $111.2 million, the companies reported Monday.

First-half earnings were down 28 per cent at Phillips, 46 per cent at Union and 41 per cent at Gulf.

Most oil companies reported similar results last week.

Partly responsible for the declines was the repeal this spring of the industry's federal subsidy for exploration and drilling.

The removal of the oil depletion allowance boosted taxes by millions of dollars. Phillips said the new tax law cost it $18 million in the first half.

The largest earnings declines have been posted by the international oil companies such as Gulf which benefited directly from the huge price increases on foreign oil last year. The foreign price hikes gave the internationals a multibillion-dollar bonus of inventory profits which was not repeated in 1975.

Recession this year has cut production and profits and many of the companies' earnings have fallen below the third quarter of 1973 — the quarter just before the oil embargo.

Gulf's second-quarter profits were $160 million or 82 cents a share compared with $315 million or $1.62 a share in 1974. Revenues dropped to $3.86 billion from $9.33 billion a year earlier.

Phillips earned $111.2 million or $1.46 a share the previous year. Revenues were $1.29 billion against $1.32 billion.

Six-month earnings were $165.9 million or $2.18 a share on revenues of $2.52 billion compared with $232.4 million or $3.06 a share on revenues of $2.47 billion.

Union Oil earned $42 million or $1.02 a share from $79.6 million or $1.94 a share. First-half earnings were $82.1 million or $2 a share against $152.5 million or $3.72 a share. Six-month revenues were $2.58 billion from $2.14 billion.

Disruptive Preachers

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Two preachers from the Chattanooga area are scheduled for a city court hearing Thursday after being arrested for disrupting a service honoring the president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

Police arrested Charles Mathis, 33, and Claude Mack Green, 32, Friday night and charged them with inciting a riot, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

The two men, who live in Rossville, Ga., have been released on their own recognition, police said Monday.

Police said Mathis and Green interrupted a program at which Mayor Pat Rose welcomed Mormon President Spencer W. Kimball to Chattanooga for dedication of a new Mormon church.

Waving Bibles, Mathis and Green leaped to their feet during the ceremony and one of them shouted, "How can you, Mayor Rose, as a Christian, stand up there and welcome him (Kimball) to this city? He is dedicated to the overthrow of this government and the church."

Police said Mathis and Green identified themselves as Baptist preachers.

Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., announced he will offer an amendment to exclude members of Congress from the pay increase provision. If Congress members were excluded, "I think you will see enthusiasm for the bill greatly dampened," he said.

Allen and Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Ind.-Va., complained that the pay raise was buried in a bill having nothing to do with pay raises, and Allen said members of Congress traditionally have sought to avoid a vote squarely on the issue of whether their own salary should be raised.

For the past two years, a voluntary program, sponsored by the Commerce Department in cooperation with the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers, has been working tolerably well. Left alone, the voluntary programs probably would tell consumers more about energy costs than consumers really want to know. What the typical shopper truly wants to know about a refrigerator is, can he get service, does it fit the hole in the wall, and does it come in avocado green? But, doctor, 77 senators voted for this bill. Even the sane senators voted for it. Who's loony now?

Bass' Homer Sparks Bucs To 6-3 Win

Top Seeds In City Finals

Kentucky Fried Chicken and the Little Sluggers, the top seeded teams in the City League Tournament, came through with victories last night to move into the finals of their respective divisional races last night.

The Sluggers took a 12-7 win over Jock's in the winners' bracket of the National Division, while the Chargers ousted One-Hour Koretzing, 8-2. In the American Division, KFC beat Morgan, 17-1, in the winners' bracket, while Pier Five downed the Rockets, 26-2.

Wednesday, on Field One, Jock's will meet the Chargers at 7:30 p.m., followed by Morgan and Pier Five. The winners move into the divisional finals, with the winners there meeting for the overall league title in a best-of-three series.

The Sluggers pushed over three runs in the first, but Jock's came back with five in the second, then added another in the third. The Sluggers scored three in the third with Bill Kuykendall homering, and added one in the fourth. After Jock's got one in the fifth for a 7-6 lead, the Sluggers pushed ahead with two in the fifth.

Kuykendall walked and John Barrow reached on an error. Hits by Ronnie Craft, Tony Dail and Doug Phillips brought them around. Four more came over in the sixth.

Pier Five had little trouble with the Rockets. Pier Five picked up five in the first and never trailed. They added three in the second, six in the third, three in the fifth, one in the sixth and eight in the seventh. The Rockets got one in the first and another in the sixth.

The Chargers pushed over four in the first for all they needed against One-Hour. They added two in the third, one in the fourth and one in the sixth. One-hour scored one in the fifth and one in the sixth.

In the other winners' bracket game, KFC romped past Morgan. KFC pushed over four in the first with Mike Aldridge homering. They added one in the second on Charles Meeks homer, then got one in the third, seven in the fourth, with Meeks again homering, and closed with four in the fifth.

The lone Morgan run came over in the second.

By WOODY PEELE

East Carolina University got only three hits, but one of them a three-run homer by Addison Bass, did the trick as the Pirates rallied last night to take a 6-3 win over Methodist College.

The victory evened the Pirate record in the N.C. Summer Collegiate League at 13-13 and left them in third place in the standings. Methodist, which had been tied with the Bucs fell off to 12-14.

Two Methodist pitchers, starter John MacMillan and reliever Earl Bunn, held the Bucs almost in check as far as hits were concerned, but walks helped to put them in trouble. The Bucs got their first three runs off four walks, a fielder's choice and a base hit, and the final three came after two walks had put men on for Bass.

Overall, the two Monarch hurlers walked 13 Pirates, while managing just four strikeouts. Winner Dean Reavis gave up six hits, four of them in the second inning when Methodist scored all three of its runs. He walked two and struck out four.

Methodist struck for the lead in the second inning. Buddy Gooch led off, reaching on an error. Sam Tolar and Bobby Cobb followed with singles, scoring the first run. Following a sacrifice, Robert Redd hit a high chopper over first base that then turned foul. When it was over, both Tolar and Cobb had scored and Redd was at second with a double. John Donaldson followed that with a single, but Glenn Card cut down Redd, trying to score from second, at the plate.

Methodist got only two other runners as far as second. Tolar singled to open the seventh, but died after moving to third on a sacrifice and an out. In the eighth, a hit by Donaldson and a walk put a man on second.

East Carolina put men as far as second in the first on a pair of walks, and in the second on a hit and a wild pitch. But they were the only Pirate threats until the sixth.

With one down in the sixth, Alan Smith and Howard McCullough both walked. Bob Feeney ran for McCullough and a walk to Bass loaded the bases. Card grounded to second, where Bass was forced, but Smith scored on the play. A passed ball let in McCullough, and after Ken Gentry walked, Eddie Lawing singled, driving in Card with the tying run.

The payoff came in the seventh. Robert Brinkley and McCullough both walked, bringing up Bass. He drilled the ball out of the park in near dead center, some 390 feet from home, providing the Bucs with the winning margin.

East Carolina will continue its home stand tonight, playing host to UNC-Wilmington. They are at home again Wednesday with UNC-Chapel Hill, then close out their home season on Friday with a doubleheader with Louisville. Game time tonight is 7:30 p.m.

Moose Reach Tourney Finals

The Moose moved into the finals of the Industrial Softball League's post-season tournament last night with an 8-5 victory over Burroughs-Wellcome.

Others games saw State Highway out the Jaycees, 12-0, while Daniel Construction, the regular season champ, beat Greenville Utilities, 27-0.

State Highway will meet Daniel at 7:30 p.m. on Field Two at Evans Park on Wednesday, with the winner taking on Burroughs-Wellcome at 8:30 p.m. The winner of that game will meet the Moose for the title.

The Moose jumped off to a 5-0 pushing over five runs in the opening inning. Burroughs-Wellcome came back with five in the second, however, tying the score.

The Moose came back with two runs in the fifth to win it. B. Puryear singled and C. Carroll got a hit. A double by D. Skinner and a hit by B. Hawood brought in the two runs, for a 7-5 edge. The other run came in the sixth.

Daniel had little trouble with Greenville Utilities. Daniel got four runs in the first inning and came back with six in the second, with Job homering. They added there in the third, six in the fourth, three in the fifth with Lewis homering, two in the sixth and three in the seventh as Gray homered.

The other game saw the Highwaymen romp to an easy win over the Jaycees. The Highwaymen pushed over seven runs in the first inning, and added one in the second. Four more came over in the fourth.

Phillies Flexing Eastern Muscles

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Just when it looked like baseball fans wouldn't have anything to get excited about for the rest of the summer, what with Oakland, Cincinnati and Boston running away with their respective divisions, along came Philadelphia.

The Fightin' Phils beat Pittsburgh 5-2 Monday night, their eighth straight victory over the Bucs. The loss left Pittsburgh a respectable 4½ games in front in the National League East, but at least the Phils are close enough to stir some sabre-rattling on both sides.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati whipped San Francisco 8-4, New York rocked St. Louis 11-7, Atlanta trimmed Los Angeles 5-3, San Diego blanked Houston 2-0 and Chicago beat Montreal 4-2.

A pair of young right-handers, Pittsburgh's Bruce Kison and Philadelphia's Larry Christenson, were locked in a 1-1 battle in the eighth when the Phils' broke it open with three runs. Dick Allen's bloop triple down the right field line drove in two runs and Ollie Brown singled for the third one.

Reds 8, Giants 4
Cincinnati stretched its lead in the West Division to 13½ games but also managed to set a major league record by failing to get a complete game out of its pitching staff for the 44th straight contest. Dan Driessen clubbed a three-run homer in the first inning and George Foster replaced him in the sixth in time to hit a two-run single for the Reds. Chris Speier homered for San Francisco.

Mets 11, Cardinals 7
Felix Millan, who has hit in 21 of his last 22 games, collected two doubles and two singles and drove in three runs for New York.

Braves 5, Dodgers 3
The Braves jumped on Los Angeles reliever Mike Marshall for three runs in the eighth—a two-run single by Biff Pocoroba and an RBI-single by Phil Niekro—to win it.

Padres 2, Astros 0
Dave Freisleben, 5-10, tossed a five-hitter and drove in a run with an infield grounder as San Diego's winning streak and Houston's losing streak both reached five games.

Cubs 4, Expos 2
Jose Cardenal's first homer in nearly two months, a tie-breaking two-run shot in the fifth inning, gave Chicago the victory.

Fisk Comeback Made Known With Two Blasts

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Carlton Fisk couldn't get over the Boston Red Sox' enthusiasm. The feeling, quite naturally, was mutual.

"Pudge," as he's affectionately known, was a oneman wrecking crew in ancient Fenway Park Monday night. He hit a run-scoring single in the first inning, crashed an extraordinary two-run homer in the fourth inning, slammed another homer in the seventh and capped his five RBI performance with a bases-loaded, tiebreaking single in the bottom of the ninth that gave the red-hot Red Sox a 7-6 victory over Milwaukee.

In the rest of the American League, Detroit shut out New York 3-0, Minnesota outlasted Kansas City 9-8, Oakland beat Texas 12-6, Chicago defeated California 3-2 and Cleveland downed Baltimore 7-5 in 10 innings.

It might be noted that Fisk returned to the lineup about a month ago—after a year's lay-off due to knee surgery last year and a broken arm in this season's spring training.

In 31 games, he has batted a solid .330, hit five homers, driving in 21 runs and scored 18.

Tigers 3, Yanks 0
Vern Riffe pitched a six-hitter for Detroit to hand the Yankees their fourth straight loss and third straight shutout. Willie Horton's homer off Larry Gura triggered the decisive two-run second inning.

Twins 9, Royals 8
Lyman Bostock's bases-loaded single with one out in the bottom of the ninth boosted the Twins past Kansas City and handed Whitey Herzog his first loss in five games as manager of the Royals.

A's 12, Rangers 6
Reggie Jackson's 26th homer of the season, a two-run shot in the fourth inning, and Joe Rudi's two RBI helped the A's rout Texas and widen their West Division lead over Kansas City to 10½ games.

White Sox 3, Angels 2
Wilbur Wood recorded his eighth victory in his last 11 decisions, teaming with Rich Gosage to six-hit California.

Indians 7, Orioles 5
Rico Carty's two-out walk, Oscar Gamble's double and Charlie Spikes' two-run single gave the Indians their 10-inning triumph over Baltimore.

Front Four Are Fearsome Objects

By CHRIS J. HARPER
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Quarterback Steve Bartkowski has a problem with names—there are at least four he'd like to forget.

But the College All-Star quarterback probably will get to know the quartet of Joe Greene, L.C. Greenwood, Dwight White and Ernie Holmes, the Pittsburgh Steelers' defensive line.

"When you drop back to pass it's kind of a scary feeling," the 6-foot-4 Bartkowski said. "You don't see the front four, you're scanning your receivers downfield. But these guys are awesome. I've been hit by a 6-6, 270-pounder before, but he didn't have a name like 'Mean' Joe Greene or L.C. Greenwood."

All-Pro linebackers Andy Russell and Jack Ham also may greet Bartkowski in the backfield during Friday night's 42nd College All-Star game in Chicago. The game, which begins at 9:30 p.m., EDT, will be nationally televised on ABC.

But Bartkowski, the first-round pick of the Atlanta Falcons, said he thinks the college coaches can mount a credible offense against Pittsburgh. The All-Stars, rated 17-point underdogs, will attempt to win for the first time since they downed the Green Bay Packers in 1963 by a 20-17 count. The professionals lead the series 29-9-2.

"It's a question of not making mistakes," said the former University of California star, who passed for 4,434 yards and 20 touchdowns during his career. "If we make mistakes against the Steelers, their defense will dictate the tempo of the game. They're amazing athletes."

Bartkowski said the Steeler defense seems more vulnerable to the running play than the pass and the All-Stars will have to mount a ground game to break through the Pittsburgh defenses.

"You have to be able to run. It seems you can run on them because they're so pass-rush conscious," he said.

All-Star Coach John McKay, who led the collegians to a creditable 14-3 loss to the Miami Dolphins in 1973, agreed.

"You can't win without a running game," said McKay, the head coach at Southern California. "The quarterbacks and receivers have done well, too."

Still, the Steelers set a Super Bowl record by allowing the Minnesota Vikings only 17 yards rushing in winning 16-6 last January.

The collegians boast some talented running backs, including Louis Carter of Maryland; Don Hardeman of Texas A&I; Harold "Champ" Henson of Ohio State and Walter Payton of Jackson State.

But Bartkowski made his reputation through the air and passing often predominates such all-star games.

His core of receivers includes fleet Larry Burton of Purdue, a former Olympic runner; Pete Demmerle of Notre Dame; Emmett Edwards of Kansas; and Pat McNally of Harvard.

Home Builders, College View Capture BR Wins

Two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning gave Home Builders a 14-13 win over North Carolina National Bank and College View handed Pepsi its sixth straight loss, 15-12, in Babe Ruth League games last night.

In the opener, Pepsi scored first getting one in the first. But in the bottom of the inning, College View took the lead picking up two scores. College View added four runs to its lead in the second. Eric Deal, Chris Cannon and Robert Causey each walked to load the bases. H. L. Austin reached on an error scoring Deal. A walk to Ricky West forced in Cannon but Causey was forced at home by Tim Harris. Marshall Crumpler walked after Austin scored on a wild pitch. David Lowe singled to drive in Harris. West had scored on a wild pitch.

College View added three runs in the third on walks for a 9-2 lead. In the top of the fourth, Pepsi got back in the game with a seven run rally. Charles Daise tripled and Randy Lorimer walked. Ben Parker reached on an error scoring Daise and John Herman walked to load the bases. Bob Morehead singled in Lorimer and walks to Will Sanderson and Al Shackelford brought in two more runs. Calvin Parker sacrificed in Morehead and a double by Chris Keyes scored Sanderson and Shackelford to tie the game, 9-9.

Lowe led off the bottom of the fourth with a walk for College View and Deal was safe on an error. Cannon walked and Causey was hit by a pitch forcing in Lowe with the go-ahead run. Austin hit into a fielder's choice getting Deal at home. A single by Ricky West scored both Cannon and Cause

Raft Flotilla In Rocky Mount Slated Sunday

The first annual Explorer Incredible Flotilla will be held Sunday, beginning at 2:30 p.m. in Rocky Mount. The Flotilla will be a contest of engineering skill and humor, as the eastern North Carolina Explorer Posts will sail homemade rafts down the Tar River. The race will begin at the bridge near the Rocky Mount Arts and Crafts Center, and will continue 2½ miles downstream, ending at the boat landing in Sunset Park. All rafts entered in the event must be entirely homemade from combinations such as inner tubes, barrels, bath tubs, logs, etc. All boats must have a prominently displayed name, preferably exotic or clever. At least three explorers must be on each raft.

The race route will be patrolled by Explorer Post No. 76 of Nashville, who will follow the course with power boats equipped with safety and rescue equipment.

ST. LOUIS
SYMPHONY CLEARED
ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Symphony has been found a nondiscriminatory employer on the basis of sex by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

In August 1972, a female cellist filed a charge alleging that because of their sex, she and other female musicians were being paid less than male musicians of equal or less skill.

Seriousness Is A Critic's Ideal

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Snidely Foon, the noted TV critic, is at Camp Rerun this summer, taking a course on serious criticism of television. His editor has told him a simple "this show stinks" no longer will do.

While Snidely has been terribly busy with classes called "How to Define the Dance" and "Is Masterpiece Theater a Bore?," he still finds time to write about life at Camp Rerun, located in upstate Manhattan.

He says the camp, established in 1956 with a grant from the Tommy Sands Foundation for the Performing Arts, recently opened a TV museum filled with artifacts of major moments in television.

The museum is run by a group of chuckling retirees who used to tape ho-hos for the laugh machines of many well-known situation comedies.

"Few make a living from laugh tracks now because their laughter is old," Snidely writes. "This is a shame, but that's show biz."

He says a major draw at the recently-opened museum is a Nattering Nabob of Negativism, a lifelike machine donated by the three networks by a Mr. S.T. Agnew of Maryland.

"For a quarter, the Nabob will natter for two minutes," Snidely says. "For 50 cents, he won't."

Other treasures from the TV museum include a blown fuse from The Electric Company, a pound of treacle from the Doris Day Show and a searing 1969 political joke from the Smothers Brothers.

Also on display are Gomer Pyle's old liberty card, an ounce of guano from the Batcave, a portable riposte from Firing Line, and, from Route 66, a speeding ticket issued in Thunderbolt, Ga.

Snidely's list of artifacts boggles the mind. It includes a used scowl from Ben Casey, five boogie lessons from American Bandstand and a clear-cut moral issue from Gunsmoke.

From Mission Impossible, there's a rare edition of the only three speaking lines ever assigned Peter Lupas. For war buffs, a special treat: A destroyed Japanese battleship from Victory at Sea.

"The TV museum is a bargain for vacationers," Snidely said in closing. "You get a three-hour guided tour, lunch and a free picture of Gale Storm. And it only costs $3 to get in."

"There is one drawback, though. 'It costs $4 to get out.'"

Hopes Farmville Has Good Field

FARMVILLE—Three Commissioners' seats and the Mayor's office will be up for grabs in the next municipal election here Tuesday, Oct. 7, but so far there seem to be few grabbers.

Seats held by J.I. Morgan Jr., Leroy Redden, and W.R. Duke will be available. Surveyed recently, the three incumbent commissioners offered a yea, a nay, and a maybe as to whether each would run. Morgan says he definitely will not be a candidate for reelection. Redden says he will. Duke said he does not wish to decide until nearer the Aug.

Students participating from Greenville were: Ronald Randolph, Jace Hagans and Adrienne Reddick. William Edward Langley of Grimesland, and Joseph House, III, of Grifton also participated in the event.

15-Sept. 5 filing time. Mayor Will E. Joyner has indicated he will run.

"I'd like to see a number of candidates run," Duke said. "Farmville has made a lot of progress in the past few years, with much improvement in the appearance of the town due to an active building inspection program, a new sewer plant in the works, expanded water service, a much improved recreation program, many streets curbed and guttered and paved, and an enlarged and better-equipped police department. We've done all this without an increase in the tax rate, and in the face of spiraling government costs. Strong leadership is needed to continue all these efforts and to initiate new ways of serving our citizens. I challenge my townspeople to prevail on those who might be so inclined to run for Town Commissioner and Mayor. We need a good field of candidates from which to choose."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

Strange conditions of a material nature can occur now and you would be wise to act with caution and do nothing drastic of a financial nature. However, you have all kinds of opportunities to discuss objective policy matters with partners and associates and come to sensible conclusions.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Know better what is desired by partners in your relationship and don't be completely money oriented. Seize advancement opportunities.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Improve surroundings. Don't spend beyond your means. Study a social situation more closely and postpone change now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Do creative work. This is not the right day to solve that private anxiety and action now could increase trouble.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Part with that individual who is making your home life intolerable and you will feel better quickly. Get new gadgets.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Have that talk with a partner that will solve issues at hand, but don't drag in some powerful person. Avoid trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can handle financial and property affairs wisely without meeting the usual stumbling blocks now. Avoid tangents.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You now see how to make your life less tedious and your social life more satisfying. Don't permit another to needle you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Consult with a bigwig on ways to improve future, but don't confide in others. Get on good side of troublesome partner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan how to get others to go along with your plans for success. After handling important matters, go out for social activities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Listen to what bigwigs say now. Don't waste time on dull chores. Get busy with whatever is vital to your welfare.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be with interesting individuals at new places. Good day to come up with fine ideas for your advancement. Postpone home improvements.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Care and caution is the keynote now. Install new improvements at home, place of business. Get that streamlined look.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will quickly understand what is required in any association matters and should be taught early to cooperate with others more readily. Teach also to be most careful in the handling of funds, or your progeny could get into big trouble, either from overinvestment, or from becoming involved in crackpot schemes. Otherwise this is a successful chart. Give good ethical training early. College is fine here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

"The Santa Barbara Syndrome" Chills Oil Leasing

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Interior Secretary Roy Hughes, the government's top promoter of offshore oil, has heard it a thousand times in a thousand different ways. He calls it, simply, "the Santa Barbara Syndrome."

It is a fear that pervades much of the nation's coastal populace, and a newsstand proprietor on Atlantic City's boardwalk airs it as succinctly as any: "If there was an oil spill during the season, we wouldn't take in a red nickel! I don't think they need to drill for oil off here." Hughes thinks they do — if ever the nation's hunger for new petroleum is to be satisfied. But wherever he goes to make that argument, he said in a recent interview, he is confronted with the "syndrome" — that vision of a black film creeping toward the coast from an offshore oil rig, as one did six years ago at Santa Barbara, Calif.

"Governor (Brendan T.) Byrne says his billion-dollar tourist industry on the New Jersey shore is very afraid of a massive spill," Hughes recounted. "It's the same thing with Ocean City, Md., and if you shift to Alaska, it's ... the hunter and sports fisherman worried about his idyllic life being ruined."

In Southern California, Hughes is a target of wrath by a Santa-Barbara-spawned opposition group called "GOO" — "Get Oil Out."

And so it is in Florida, South Carolina and Maine, all worried about the effects of oil on sandy beaches, grassy marshlands, clam flats or lobster beds. Hughes thought, or hoped, the debate over Interior's offshore leasing plans was finally shifting to other issues.

But in extensive interviews with state and local spokesmen, shoreline businessmen and ordinary citizens, the fear of oil spills kept returning — inevitably, for Interior has no final answer.

In its environmental impact study, Interior estimated that its offshore program would result in spills, large and small, adding up to some 200,000 barrels of oil a year.

That admission opens a floodgate of tough questions:

—Who repays the tens or hundreds of millions of dollars a beach resort may lose if an oil spill ruins its tourist season? —Who pays for valuable shellfish beds if oil wipes them out?

—Will oil damage coastal marshlands that breed life for the oceans?

—If spilled oil does not come ashore, then where does it go? Will it slowly distort the ocean's life systems? Damage commercial fisheries? Send petroleum cancer agents down a food chain that ends in the seafood on your plate?

Spencer Apollonio, Maine's commissioner of marine resources, declared "The more we look at the effect of oil on marine organisms or the marine environment, the more concerned we became."

"There is a wide variety of effects — the outright kill, of course; the sub-lethal, chronic, long-term effects ... We know that a variety of organisms can store oil, transfer it apparently along the food chain."

He said Maine has studied oil's effects on shellfish "and every time we look ... we find problems. Metabolic problems, reduced productivity, reduced reproductive capability, reduced growth rates."

"Put all the information that we have together in the world, on the effects of oil on the fish,

The oceans are already oil-polluted by tanker spills and waste-disposal, Apollonio pointed out; chronic spillage from offshore drilling and production would add to the problem.

In Provincetown, Mass., on the tip of Cape Cod, skipper Alvon Forrest docked the fishing boat Zorda, and, while supervising the weighing and boxing of live lobsters under newspaper and ice, professed little worry: "If they can locate oil offshore I think it's a wonderful thing. We need it, desperately."

"Out there now, all you see is oil floating on top of the water ... and it don't bother us," he said. "It's in the mud. You can smell it. What can that hurt us out there?"

But Forrest's remarks brought a deleted expletive from Apollonio, in his Augusta, Me., office.

"Excuse me," he said, "but it is hurting. There's no way that it cannot hurt."

Oil spokesmen claim that spills cause no permanent damage to the environment, but Apollonio disagreed sharply with that, too.

"We're still studying an oil spill from 1964," he said.

The tanker Northern Gulf had hit an underwater ledge; oil washed up near a town called Friendship and soaked into the mud.

"It's still with us — I can take you down there and put your finger in it," Apollonio said. "It's still affecting the organisms, and these are second and third-generation clams we're talking about."

"At the present rate of dissipation, it's going to be with us a hundred years."

If oil is found off the South Atlantic coast, said environmentalist Brion Blackwelder in Columbia, S.C., the area's wide, grassy marshlands could face a double threat: directly from oil spills, and indirectly from channel-dredging to accommodate oil barges.

Florida and the Mid-Atlantic beach resorts, magnets for millions of vacationers each year, shudder at the thought of oil spills.

Robert Patterson, president of the Chamber of Commerce in Cape May County, N.J., said if a major oil spill hit the beaches in mid-season "our tourist business would die."

"Businessmen would lose their motels, their restaurants ... Is the oil company prepared to compensate these businessmen?"

"This is what we want to know," said Patterson, "and we want it in black and white."

The Santa Barbara incident of 1969 spilled an estimated 23,600 barrels of oil, and Union Oil Co. ended up paying some $20 million in damages.

Patterson said Cape May County tourism alone has been estimated at $754 million a year, "so (an oil company's) $200 million insurance policy wouldn't go very far."

How does the Interior Department answer such concerns? Its environmental statement concedes that the effects of low-level, chronic oil spills on the ocean "may be even more serious, but are not well understood at this time."

"Even a small amount of oil on heavily used recreational beaches is a serious impact," it adds, and the harm may last "from weeks to several years or more."

Interior's statement leaves it up to the courts to decide damage suits, but points out the delay and uncertainty this involves; Interior has supported legislation to strengthen damage-recovery claims.

The oil industry itself has backed establishment of a federal oil-spill "superfund," and President Ford has suggested a spill fund financed by an oil tax of three cents per barrel.

Meanwhile, the Santa Barbara Syndrome persists.

Shell Oil Vice President R. H. Nanz patiently repeated the industry's reassurances at an energy conference last April 30: with more than 18,000 wells drilled offshore so far, "there have been only four significant oil spills and none of them in permanent damage to the environment."

"Procedures and equipment are continually improved to reduce the chances of an accident ..."

Just six weeks later, workers were completing an Amoco natural gas well in the Gulf of Mexico, using the same up-to-date techniques and equipment as are used to control oil wells, when a strong internal pressure surge occurred.

The control techniques and equipment were activated, but the "blow-out prevention stack" of safety devices somehow sprang a leak.

Escaping gas caught fire; the rig's massive superstructures buckled; the blow-out preventer stack was knocked off; and finally gas and oil roared skyward in a wild stream.

A month later, at this writing, Amoco reported the well was still out of control.

Three Dead Of Laughing Gas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Police say their hands are tied in attempts to control what has apparently become the "the going thing" among some local young people, sniffing laughing gas.

Three teen-agers were found dead in a car in North Dallas over the weekend. A five-foot cylinder of laughing gas — nitrous oxide — was found on the floor of the car. The valve was open. A medical examiner said the youngsters died from asphyxiation.

The deaths of Ken Ribelin, 19, Mitchell Rude, 18, and Terry Lynne Long, 18, all of Dallas, are listed by the medical examiner as "unclassified."

The designation is used when officials are unable to determine whether death was caused by accident or suicide.

Narcotics officers said Monday that widespread use of nitrous oxide in place of glue sniffing and other methods of getting "high" is demonstrated by an increasing number of thefts of the gas from local hospitals.

Earlier this year, a 26-year-old orderly at Presbyterian Hospital was found dead in an operating room. Authorities said he had gone there to inhale nitrous oxide.

Nitrous oxide is described in medical texts as a general anesthetic which affects the entire body. It is used conventionally by dentists and doctors with a specific mixture of oxygen.

Officials at the medical examiner's office here said the gas creates "a blissful sensation separating the mind from the body."

"We are hearing quite a bit about nitrous oxide now," one Dallas detective said Monday. "But there is nothing we can do about it because it is not a controlled substance."

Nitrous oxide is not included in the Texas Controlled Substances Act, which regulates the possession of drugs such as marijuana, heroin and morphine.

An Underwater Park Studied

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Division of Parks and Recreation is studying a proposal for creation of one or more underwater parks for skindivers.

Jim Tyler of the Division of Marine Fisheries made the proposal for three areas — at Topsail Island, near the New River Inlet, and at Masonboro Island.

He said all three have natural formations which attract colorful and exotic plants and fish. Tyler said the only expense to the state would be marking the areas with buoys and telling skindivers they were there.
