'Severe Repression' Threat In Portugal

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Pro-Communist Premier Vasco Goncalves formed a temporary government in riot-torn Portugal today and announced it would use "severity and repression" against those who oppose it.

Acknowledging that he had difficulty putting together even a stopgap Cabinet in the midst of the worst political and military crisis of the 15-month-old Portuguese revolution, Goncalves also warned the nation it faced more austerity measures.

Four persons have been killed and scores injured in anti-Communist violence in northern Portugal in the past week. The demonstrators are enraged at the radical leftward turn of the Portuguese revolution despite the clear mandate given to Socialists, Popular Democrats and other moderate leftists in last April's constituent elections.

The Socialists and the Popular Democrats, frustrated with the country's extremist leadership, quit the government last month, provoking the latest crisis.

There were fears that the confrontations, which have forced the government to send marines into northern towns, could reach into the Portuguese capital and turn into full-fledged civil war.

Saying the country was "in the most difficult moment of the revolution," the premier warned:

"In the fight against the neo-fascist phenomenon that lately has been multiplying in our country, severity and repression will be used."

President Francisco da Costa Gomes, pleading for moderation in the face of civil strife and military dissent, said the new cabinet was "a transitory solution."

Goncalves named two vice premiers, a civilian and a military man, to head the cabinet, Lt. Col. Antonio Arnao Metelo and Joaquim Teixeira Ribeiro, an economics professor.

But they will remain subservient to the three generals who were recently given supreme political power by the Armed Forces Movement: Goncalves, Costa Gomes and internal security chief Otelio Saraiva de Carvalho.

All 131 Persons Aboard Survived

CRASH—A Continental Airlines 727 with 131 persons aboard crashed on takeoff at Stapleton International Airport in Denver Thursday. There were no deaths though hospitals reported that 38 persons were treated and 15 were admitted. A spokesman for the Fire Station Site Given City Council's Approval

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The City Council last night confirmed 2405 and 2407 Memorial Drive as the site for the city's new fire station and with the action, disposed of an item that had been surrounded by controversy for months.

The vote to construct the new station at the Memorial Drive property owned by the city followed a public hearing during which, surprisingly, no one appeared in opposition.

The matter, expected to take some time on the 21-item agenda, was taken care of in a matter of minutes as Mayor S. Eugene West went through the formalities of declaring the meeting a public hearing and asking for comments from the audience.

Councilman Clarence Gray voted against the motion to confirm the station site while members Joe Taft, Mildred McGrath, Percy Cox, Dr. Frank Fuller and John Howard supported the measure. The city is now in a position to seek bids on the construction of the new station, deemed a necessity by the state fire insurance board which ruled that the present Chestnut Street facility must be replaced.

The station matter created a stir months ago when some of the property owners of the area proposed for the fire facility indicated their opposition to placement of the station in a residential district. Eddie Dozier of 107 Glenwood Avenue, whose property backs up to the rear of the proposed site, voiced the greatest concern and fought the city's action through a court suit. The suit was resolved when the city admitted error in that the definition of a "public utility or use" does not embrace a fire station or sub-fire station.

The now vacant lots were purchased by the city after unsuccessful attempts to buy other property in the area that had been viewed as more suitable. The Council, after a great deal of opposition developed towards proposals to amend the city's zoning ordinance by allowing municipal government buildings as permitted uses in all zoning districts except "flood plain," agreed to include the stipulation that a public hearing will be held on such matters to give citizens a say on city proposals.

Last night's public hearing satisfied the requirements of the amended ordinance and the lack of any opposition on the matter was in contrast to meetings of recent months when exchanges on the proposed fire station location were lengthy.

The Council adopted a resolution last night restating the concerns of the board relating to the health, welfare and well-being of citizens living in the area known as West Meadowbrook.

The resolution, stipulating that action be taken in several areas "with all deliberate haste," directed that projects already approved for implementation in the area outside the "flood plain" be carried out, that the staff of the city will pursue an investigation towards providing federal relief to people living in the area, and that no dwellings be constructed or improved in the area designated as "flood plain" or city services be extended within the "flood plain" area.

The "flood plain" section was defined as all property lying 150 feet south of Moore Street to the Tar River. Howard said that he believes the Corps of Engineers will soon stipulate that construction can be undertaken in the "flood plain" as long as the first floor level is built above the 100-year designated flood level.

Cox contended that the 100-year plan puts some two-thirds of the city in the "flood plain." "We might have to alter this but I think we should go ahead and have something on record," West added.

The mayor explained to several residents of the West Meadowbrook section, who attended the Council session, that no sewage or water extensions will be made in the designated "flood plain" area but services that are already there will not be withdrawn.

The city's chief inspector, Alton Warren, reported that an estimated 75 per cent of the structures in the "flood plain" area are substandard and would not warrant repairs.

Warren said that out of 41 structures in the area, he did not believe there are more than two or three that can be repaired for $800 or less. He said that several thousand dollars would be necessary in many cases to rehabilitate homes in the area.

According to the inspector, the land in West Meadowbrook is too low to meet sewer requirements and will not pass a percolation test as required by the Health Department for placement of septic tanks.

He said that the matter involves more than just a desire of the residents to continue living in the area. He cited the health hazards in the section and pointed out that water is contaminated during flooding periods.

The resolution, which does not constitute an ordinance, passed with Howard and Gray voting against approval.

A resolution was also adopted approving the sale of Disposal Parcel R-7 in the Central Business District Project to

Tobacco Expert Blaming Quality, Export Market

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—

A government tobacco expert blames poor prices for U.S. flue-cured leaf on poor quality and a depressed international market, not on a surplus.

There is no surplus in the United States, but probably an imbalance of grades, says J.J. Todd, deputy director of the U.S. Agriculture Department's tobacco division.

His remarks in a telephone interview Thursday came against a background of complaints by some growers, and from lawmakers in tobacco-growing areas, that an increase in tobacco acreage allotments last January had created a surplus and driven prices down. They have urged Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz to reduce quotas for next year.

Todd said the government estimated that as of July 1, (Continued on page 6)

Special Meet Set For Jones' Subcommittee

First District Congressman Walter B. Jones today announced that he has called his Tobacco Subcommittee back to Washington from the current congressional recess for a special meeting, scheduled to be held Wednesday, August 13.

The special commission session will involve hearings and a business session to report HR-9000 legislation recently introduced by Congressman Jones. If successful, the legislation will increase the support price of tobacco from 92.5 cents to 99 cents per pound.

In view of the problems being encountered by tobacco farmers during the current selling season, Jones felt it imperative that the subcommittee meet to report this bill before Congress reconvenes on September 3.

Jones stated "I took this action to try to assure farmers and the buying companies that support price would be increased before next year under the new formula in the hope that it will stimulate buying companies to a greater activity this season.

"Unfortunately, due to the mechanics of legislation, this will probably be of little assistance for this year but will insure a greater income next year." Interrupting the August recess, when most members of Congress are working and traveling through their respective districts is virtually unprecedented. "However", Jones stated "in this situation time is of the utmost importance and the legislative process must get underway immediately."

Feeling Pressure

NEW YORK (AP) — Standard Oil of Ohio has announced that competition had forced down the price of gasoline one cent per gallon at company-operated stations.

A second company, Union Oil Co. in Los Angeles stated Thursday it won't raise wholesale gasoline prices by more than two cents a gallon for the remainder of the year, even if oil price controls and import tariffs are dropped.

Sohio said its gasoline price cut applied to wholesale prices to dealers as well as to retail prices at company-operated stations in Ohio, and at Boron stations in New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Michigan, Kentucky and Indiana.

The new Sohio prices at company stations were 59.9 cents a gallon for regular and unleaded gasoline and 63.9 cents for premium.

Fred Hartley, president of Union Oil, said he is convinced competitive pressure will prevent massive price hikes this year.

The government has estimated prices would leap by seven cents a gallon by letting oil price controls expire Aug. 31 as scheduled.

STATE LINE RESTRICTIONS?

We are planning to move to California. What things can we not take across the state line—plants and the like. We're leaving the middle of August. Mrs. J.B.

Howard Singletary of the Pest Control Division of the N.C. Department of Agriculture said the only restrictions on the movement of plants concerns those possibly infested with pests which have to be inspected specifically for the area to which they will be moved. In your case, your plants may need to be inspected for the State of California guidelines. It will not be necessary to concern yourself with the restrictions of the states through which you will pass. To have plants inspected for moving, Singletary suggested you call the Department of Agriculture Extension office in Goldsboro, 735-1941.

There are no particular items like cigarettes which may not be taken across state lines, as long as you can reasonably show that they are for your personal use.

In The Name Of Detente And At Taxpayers' Expense

By JANET STAHAR
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the name of detente and at the taxpayers' expense, several House and Senate delegations are traveling abroad during the August recess.

The range of trips being taken by members this month include swings into France, the Soviet Union, Romania, England, Germany, Saipan, Cuba, the People's Republic of China, Italy and Switzerland.

Congressional critics call these foreign trips "junkets" because most expenses are paid by the congressional committees which arranged them. Defenders of the trips say members will gain knowledge about the nations being visited.

The delegations usually receive red-carpet treatment from foreign leaders who hope to woo them into looking at their country favorably.

It's the usual practice for spouses to go along, but members must pay for their spouses' expenses. Congressional funds, however, pay for committee counsels or other official aides in the party.

After returning home, they will write newsletters and hold news conferences to tell things they learned about the foreign mood, military hardware, waterways, banks, food supplies and what those other nations think of Americans.

One of the most ambitious trips is the current visit by 19 House members to the Soviet Union, Romania and Yugoslavia. Headed by Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., the members are meeting with government leaders and visiting industrial and agricultural sites.

"In the wake of the Apollo-Soyuz space mission and the Helsinki Treaty we have a unique opportunity to contribute to the easing of tensions and the goal of world peace which we all share," said traveler Robert H. Michel, R-Ill.

Michel also said he intends to gain insights into U.S. grain sales to the Soviets — "We want hard dollars and good prices for our products and I hope on my return to be satisfied that will be the case."

Besides Albert and Michel, others in the group include Armed Services Committee Chairman Melvin Price, D-Ill., Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., Edward P. Boland, D-Mass., Phil M. Landrum, D-Ga., John Brademas, D-Ind., Delbert L. Latta, R-Ohio, James H. Quillen, R-Tenn., Phillip Burton D-Calif., William J. Green, D-Pa., Sidney Yates, D-Ill., Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky., Agriculture Committee Chairman Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., Tom Bevill, D-Ala., Marvin L. Esch, R-Mich., Bill Archer, R-Tex., George E. Danielson, D-Calif., and Millicent Fenwick, R-N.J.

In other trips, Reps. William C. Wampler, R-Va., ranking minority member on agriculture, and W. R. Poage, D-Tex., chairman of the livestock and grains subcommittee, are planning a two-week excursion to Moscow, Leningrad, eastern Russia and Mongolia to study agriculture conditions. They will be accompanied by two staff aides.

House Armed Services member William L. Dickinson, R-Ala., and two committee aides are on a week-long inspection of Cuba, the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay and military installations in the Panama Canal Zone.

Another Armed Services delegation will go to Saipan and Tinian to inspect properties that would be leased to the United States for defense under the covenant approved by the House establishing the Northern Marianas as a U.S. commonwealth. That group consists of Reps. Charles H. Wilson, D-Calif., and Mendel J. Davis, D-S.C., and Del. Antonio B. Won Pat, D-Guam, all members of the military installations and facilities subcommittee. The People's Republic of China is being visited for two weeks by a joint Senate-House group: Sens. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., and Reps. Margaret M. Heckler, R-Mass., Paul Findley, R-Ill., and Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-Calif.

Merchant Marine and Fisheries Chairwoman Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., and the panel's chief counsel are on a two-week trip to Germany and London to study waterways and harbor traffic systems.

On the Science and Technology Committee, Rep. Louis Frey Jr., R-Fla., is visiting space facilities in Paris and the European Center for Nuclear Research near Geneva.

Rep. John Jarman, R-Okla., is the appointed member of the interparliamentary union group holding a conference in London. He also will be stopping in Copenhagen, Oslo, Stockholm and Dublin.

Guam, Manila, Australia and

New Zealand are on the itinerary of Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., chairman of judiciary's immigration, citizenship and international law subcommittee. Others on the two-week trip include Reps. Herman Badillo, D-N.Y., and Thomas F. Rainsback, R-Ill. They are looking into programs dealing with refugees.

Chairman Fernand J. St. Germain, D-R. I., and members of the subcommittee on financial institutions supervision, regulation and insurance, are on a two-week trip to meet with officials of banks in England, France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy.

They are gathering information on international banking for pending legislation on foreign bank operations in the United States.

St. Germain said this is his first overseas trip during his 15 years in Congress. Identities of those with St. Germain were not available from either the Banking subcommittee or St. Germain's office.

One of the most unusual trips — paid for by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration — was taken by scuba diver Rep. William Alexander, D-Ark., of the Appropriations Committee and Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., of the Commerce Committee's oceanographic panel.

They spent three days in an underwater research laboratory in the Atlantic off Freeport in the Bahamas. Weicker said afterwards that Congress needs to set a higher priority for ocean research.

Travel Spending In Pitt Gained

Travel spending in Pitt County during 1974 was $8,287,534, according to figures published in the 1974 North Carolina Travel Survey.

Pitt's 1974 travel expenditures reflected an increase of 60 per cent over 1973 travel spending of $5,194,143, the survey revealed.

According to the survey, Pitt's 60 per cent increase ranked the county sixth in the state in percentage of travel spending improvement over 1973.

Several neighboring counties also experienced increases in expenditures last year over 1973, including: Martin County, $5,980,186 (1974), $5,373,734 (1973), 11 per cent; Greene, $12,180, $11,245, eight per cent; and Beaufort, $6,356,923, $5,487,550, 16 per cent.

Total travel expenditures in the state during 1974 amounted to some $978.9 million, according to the report, as the travel industry ranked only behind textiles and tobacco in the amount of revenue generated for the state's economy.

The 1974 figure represented an increase of six per cent over the $923.2 million spent by all travelers in North Carolina during 1973.

Widowed Spouses With Good Marriages Go for Second Round

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: George and I have been married for 32 years, and with so many of his friends dropping dead of heart attacks and my friends dying of cancer, we started talking about what we would do if the other one were to die.

I told George that if he were to die, I'd never marry again, and he said I obviously didn't have a very high opinion of our marriage.

Then George told me that if I were to die, he would definitely marry again, which proved that he thought more of our marriage than I did.

I asked him if he had anybody in mind, and he named a woman whose husband is still living. I asked him what about her husband, and he said, "Well, if YOU can die, HE can die, too, so I'm just assuming you were both dead."

One word led to another, and now we aren't speaking. Abby, is it true that people who think highly of their marriage will marry again if a spouse dies, and those who don't, will not?

If that's true, I'll apologize.

GLADYS
DEAR GLADYS: Apologize.

DEAR ABBY: To begin with, from August through December of last year, I had a running battle with the credit department of a large, well-known, high-class, New York-based department store. They claimed I owed them $100.

After much correspondence, they finally admitted that due to a computer error, instead of MY owing them $100, THEY owed me 10¢!

For the last six months, they have been sending me a monthly notice that I have a credit of 10¢.

Abby, so far, it has cost them 60¢ in postage to call my attention to a 10¢ credit. Don't you agree that this is absurd?

It's no wonder the state of New York is broke. Those know-it-all easterners think they are so smart that nobody can tell them a thing.

Please print your comments on this ridiculous situation, and I will gladly spend a dime to mail it to them.

HAD IT IN L.A.
DEAR HAD IT: I agree, it's foolish to spend 10¢ month after month to inform a customer of a 10¢ credit. But why indict a whole state for the nonsensical business practice of one company?

DEAR ABBY: A woman complained that her husband deserted her and their children, and when she tried to locate him through the Social Security office, they told her he was alive, but they refused to disclose his whereabouts. (You said, "Even bums have rights.")

No more! Beginning July 1st, a new law has gone into effect that permits wives to have access to federal data (I.R.S., Social Security, Civil Service, Defense Dept., etc.) to locate deserting ex-spouses who have failed to pay alimony and/or child support.

Designed primarily to keep mothers off welfare, the law can be used to locate even middle-class or upper-class nonsupporters.

It would be helpful if you published the following address of the Parent Locator Service because so few attorneys, and even fewer mothers whose husbands have deserted them, know of its existence:

James S. Dwight, Jr., Administrator
Social and Rehabilitation Service
Room 5004, M.E. Switzer Bldg.
Washington, D.C. 20201
Sincerely,
S.M.S.: Pamona Attorney

DEAR MR. S.: Thank you for the extremely helpful information. Thousands of deserted wives will bless you tonight. And an equal number of runaway spouses who have been successfully hiding out will curse you.

Fuel Clause Appeal Set

RALEIGH (AP)—An appeal to the state Supreme Court is planned in the state Court of Appeals ruling that the fuel adjustment clause levied by electric companies is legal.

Deputy Atty. Gen. I. Beverly Lake said Wednesday's decision was expected. He filed the challenge to the clause.

In its decision, the court said the state Utilities Commission has "the power to fix just and reasonable rates."

The clause allowed electric companies to automatically pass on higher fuel costs to customers. In April, the commission amended the process by requiring prior approval before the fuel charge could be changed.

When fuel costs were at their highest last winter, customers bills were increased about 25 per cent because of the provision. Utility officials have argued that it would bankrupt the companies if they weren't allowed to pass on to customers the higher fuel costs.

No Charges As Cars Collide

No charges were made following investigation of an 8:06 a.m. collision here yesterday on Greenville Boulevard, 75 feet East of the Arlington Boulevard intersection, police report.

Officers identified drivers of the vehicles involved as Edmond Ward Batchelor of Route 2, Spring Hope and Jacob Charles Whiteford III of 1736 Beaumont Dr.

Damage was estimated by investigators at $800 to the Batchelor car and $450 to the Whiteford auto.

Actor's Son Faces Hearing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Theodore Knight Jr., 20-year-old son of actor Ted Knight, has been arrested along with a companion on charges of burglary and receiving stolen property.

Young Knight and Howard Klein, 21, were arrested last week and charged in a break-in at the offices of a Woodland Hills dentist.

Van Nuys Municipal Court Judge Richard Amerian scheduled a preliminary hearing for Sept. 16. Defendants are free on $1,000 bond.

Police said officers were led to Klein's apartment by a neighbor who reported seeing someone moving a heavy object inside. Police said a safe found in the apartment contained a small amount of dental gold and various papers.

Knight's father plays newscaster Ted Baxter on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show."

Ex-King Leopold of Belgium, actor Curt Juergens and singer Frank Sinatra are among those invited to the reception in the 18th century Tremsbuettel castle, which has been converted into a luxury hotel.

It was the second marriage for the surgeon from Texas, who has four grown sons. His first wife died and he met Miss Fehlhauer two years later at a cocktail party in Houston in 1973.

Handicapped Get Typing Skill At N.Y. College

NEW YORK (AP) — "Miracle workers." That's what a group of parents are calling LaGuardia Community College, one of its programs and one of its instructors.

The parents all have children with physical or mental disabilities who attend a "Typing for the Handicapped" class at the college, which is part of the City University of New York. The class, which is free, meets Friday nights and all day Saturday 50 weeks of the year. It is not limited to children, but teen-agers tend to dominate the group. Over the three years that the class has been in existence, the students have been as young as 7 and as old as 80.

The students suffer a variety of handicaps: brain injury or damage, blindness, deafness, cerebral palsy, strokes, mental retardation, missing limbs — either congenital or through accident. But their handicaps don't seem to matter to Jack Heller, coordinator of the LaGuardia program.

Parents and youngsters interviewed together to Heller's seemingly endless energy and dedication.

As Peter Wolyniec, a 24-year-old graduate of the class who now works as a computer operator for a midtown-Manhattan collection agency, put it: "Jack Heller helped me build up confidence in myself. The typing skill is nothing without that. The class shows handicapped people that if they can do typing, they can do other things too." Wolyniec has just three fingers on his right hand and lacks a left hand.

The details of each student's case differ. But the differences or, more precisely, the recognition of them are why the LaGuardia program succeeds when others have failed, according to several parents.

Heller, a lumbering giant of a man who cooks the "graduation" dinner, has custom-designed typing instructions for each pupil, regardless of the disability.

"I started creating these specialized instructions 25 years ago when amputees from the Korean War started showing up in a class I was teaching at Adelphi University. Now I have a series of instructions suited to virtually any handicap. If I don't have a suitable set of instructions, I design a new one.

I do whatever I have to do to make the person a more productive human being."

He is now helping to create a similar course for the City Colleges of Chicago.

Because a major objective of the class is to train the students to be employable as typists or office-machine operators, only standard office equipment is used. Heller, a former typewriter mechanic, also designs special aids such as an inexpensive brace that will support the arms of a cerebral palsy victim. For the deaf, he has a typewriter attachment that makes a light flash when the carriage nears the margin; for the blind, a buzzer that indicates the bottom of the page.

"One of the great benefits," said one mother whose 9-year-old son is in the class, "is that when we started here a year ago, we had a very angry, frustrated child whose most frequent words were 'I can't' or 'everyone hates me.' Now we

The Daily Reflector, Greenville, N.C.—Friday, August 8, 1975—3 have a young man who says 'I'll try,' 'I'll do my best.'"

"These children are born facing failure," added another woman. "And they know they are failing. This is the one place where they never fail; even if they make mistakes, they're encouraged."

In addition to parents, the volunteers who help with the class often include the students themselves.

Form Letter's Out If Job-Seeker Wants Employment

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Since your column is so widely circulated, you can do much for the serious unemployment situation in this country.

I am an executive secretary with one of the top 100 companies in the country. Almost every day, we get applications for employment, some from new college graduates and some from older men who have been in the business world 20 to 30 years.

I'd like to tell these people not to use form letters with their names typed in but to type out neat, individual letters with the attached resume. My boss feels a form letter indicates that the applicant wants a job with ANY company, but an individualized letter means he wants a job with OUR company and no other. The form-letter applicants are not even answered, but are thrown in the wastebasket!

Many qualified applicants who badly need a job strike out because they didn't take the time to send a personalized letter.

CONCERNED SECRETARY

DEAR SECRETARY: Thanks for a worthwhile tip. A word to the wise should be more than sufficient.

DEAR ABBY: Here is our dilemma: Our only son, John, committed suicide at age 22. His wife, Bonnie, was pregnant at the time. She immediately went to Canada to live with her people. (We live in New Jersey.)

Our grandson is now 2-years-old, and we've never seen him because neither of us has had the money to visit.

Bonnie wrote to say she was married last June and her husband is adopting our grandson. We can understand why Bonnie wants to forget the tragic past and start a new life, and we agree that she should. (She's only 24.) But where does that leave us? Our grandson is all we have left of John.

What if Bonnie decides to put us out of her life and not even tell her son about his natural father? If that fair to us? Should we try to keep in contact with Bonnie in hopes that we can see our grandson one day? Or would it be better for him if we dropped out of the picture? We will abide by your decision.

JOHN'S GRIEVING PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Leave it to Bonnie to make that decision and accept it—regardless. I pray for your sake that she keeps in touch with you, sends you snapshots of your grandson and gives you the pleasure of sharing in his growth. And also hope, when the lad is old enough to understand, she will tell him the truth about his natural father.

DEAR ABBY: I must take issue with you concerning an item in your column. One of your contributors signed "Coleen" was undoubtedly the innocent victim of a fallacy.

The saying that she attributed to a "12-year-old girl" is a famous quotation by Camus, a French philosopher. Perhaps you would like to set the record straight.

FRED IN EL CERRITO

DEAR FRED: Ten whacks for me with "The History of the French Revolution" for not having checked out the quote. Yours was the first of many letters I received pointing out the error. Thanks to you and all the others who wrote.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HOPING IN MEMPHIS": When a man says, "Can't we be friends?" it's the beginning of the end.

45th Annual Reunion Planned

KINSTON—Several hundred people from across the United States are expected to assemble at the Croom Meeting House Sunday, Aug. 17, which is located on Highway 55, about eight miles south of Kinston, at Sandy Bottom.

Since 1930 the Crooms have been meeting to honor the memory of their descendants, have fellowship and a picnic lunch.

The Croom Meeting House built by Lo-Croom in 1823 is owned by the Croom Family and contains its original furnishings.

The morning program will begin at 11 a.m. The oldest and youngest attending and those traveling the greatest distance will be recognized. Charles Dunn, director of SBI, will speak. A brief business session concludes the program.

Those attending are asked to bring a picnic or covered dish dinner for the picnic at 12:30 p.m.

The Croom family has been traced back to Ireland as outlined in the book "The Croom Family" by Mrs. Doris C. Outlaw, who plans to attend this year's reunion.

Shouldn't Be Easy To Impeach

Abe Fortas, a former U.S. Supreme Court justice, says he would like to see a strengthening of the presidential impeachment process.

Former Sen. Sam Ervin of the North Carolina, who was chairman of the Senate Watergate Committee, thinks otherwise.

Fortas in a talk to the Futurology Institute at the College of Mount St. Joseph maintained that the present impeachment process is not adequate.

"We can't sit back and breathe a sign of relief because President Nixon resigned," he said. "Mr. Nixon was not removed from office by Congressional procedure; his tapes removed him from office. The standards and procedures of impeachment are not adequate to remove a runaway president."

Ervin, a constitutional scholar, said, "I don't think we ought to tear down the Constitution just because we did one bad apple in 200 years."

Ervin did see the need for creating a special prosecutor's office which would be separate from the executive branch. He feels Watergate would have been disclosed sooner except for a Justice Department under pressure from the White House.

As it was, good investigative reporting and "a courageous judge" were credited by Ervin with uncovering the Watergate scandal.

We would surely have to come down on the side of former Sen. Ervin in this debate.

The framers of the Constitution didn't make it easy to impeach a president, and if they had it is entirely possible that some presidents might have been impeached and removed from office by now, probably only for taking unpopular stands while executing their Constitutional duties.

It is true, of course, that government was at a standstill while the nation debated Watergate, and a total vacuum might have existed if the impeachment proceedings had gone on. Nevertheless, we should not make it any easier for another branch of government to quickly seize presidential powers. In a time of crisis a coup could occur which would be disastrous for Constitutional government.

Removing a president from office is the most serious thing that can occur in our form of government. There should be no quick and easy routes. The dangers that would be brought about by such short cutting could be worse than those we seek to avoid.

"Actually, it only hurts when the President laughs... about the veto-proof Congress."

Exodus From Angola

By LARRY HEINZERLING
Associated Press Writer
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Tens of thousands of refugees are pouring out of Angola on a "great trek" to safety from the violence-torn Portuguese colony where an estimated 5,000 people have died in the past year in fighting between rival liberation groups.

The massive exodus is the largest flood of white refugees fleeing an African nation since the bloodshed and chaos in the former Belgian Congo (now Zaire) in the early 1960s.

Abandoning their homes, farms and jobs, they are leaving by air, land and sea in a desperate bid to escape the growing bloodshed in what is potentially one of Africa's most prosperous nations. Many have flown to Portugal but others are escaping in long convoys of cars and trucks to emergency refugee centers in neighboring South-West Africa.

Three rival African movements are fighting for control of Angola, which is scheduled to be granted independence on Nov. 11.

The three rival movements are the Soviet-backed Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola, the Chinese and Zaire-supported National Front for the Liberation of Angola and the socialist nonaligned Union for the Total Independence of Angola.

Angola was home to about 450,000 whites before the collapse of the 500-year-old Portuguese empire last year following a military coup in April. An estimated 150,000 have already fled the country and returned to Portugal on commercial flights from the Angolan capital of Luanda.

Portugal's national airline, TAP, has been unable to cope with the refugees. Airline authorities recently announced plans to use charter flights to help evacuate about 200,000 in the next three months.

However, thousands who are fearful that the airlift may never get off the ground have made their own plans. They are filtering south by car and truck to the more peaceful southern area of Angola.

An estimated 20,000 are already crowded into schools and

Mobile Home Tags Helpful

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—Local tax officials will soon have some help in what has proven an all but impossible task—keeping track of mobile homes, and collecting property taxes on them.

Beginning with the first day of 1976, mobile home owners will have to get a state permit to move a mobile home on the highways; that permit must be displayed on any home on the road.

The purpose is to help city and county tax collectors pick up an estimated $3.8 million per year across North Carolina from mobile home owners who haven't listed for tax purposes, or don't pay if they have listed, then pick up and move.

The new law also requires mobile home moving companies to provide local governments with enough information to help keep track of mobile homes being moved.

Thus, both the owner and the moving company can be held liable under the law if a permit is not gotten before a move.

Collect Taxes
Local tax supervisors are required under the new law to collect all taxes owed by the mobile home owner before a moving permit is given.

The need for such a system to keep track of and tax mobile homes has grown increasingly obvious the past five years as sales of mobile homes boomed.

An estimated six per cent (more than 300,000 people) of the state's population live in mobile homes. Between 1970 and the end of 1975 there were 112,073 mobile homes sold in North Carolina by over 500 dealers. That puts this state third in the nation in citizens living in mobile homes second nationally in annual sale of mobile homes; and eighth in the Southeast in manufacture of mobile homes.

The state has 34 mobile home manufacturers, and even though the recession has pushed 15 manufacturers out of business, and closed some 400 dealer lots, industry representatives expect boom times to reappear.

The reason is obvious: the average stick-built house today runs over $37,000. The average mobile home cost is now about $8,000—and that includes furnishings, draperies, carpet, and appliances.

Can't Afford
Many people who just can't afford a new house of conventional design are turning to mobile homes, and in North Carolina where more than half the population still lives in farm or small town settings, it is far easier to find a place for a mobile home than in more urban states.

Economics are obviously the foundation of the mobile home boom: in the under-$20,000 housing market, 96 per cent are now mobile homes. Under $30,000 mobile homes make up 69 per cent; and overall, almost half of the new single-family housing units occupied each year in North Carolina are mobile homes.

While the new law will enable government officials to keep track of mobile homes, and collect taxes on them, it does not resolve a host of other issues which will become more and more critical as sales continue to escalate.

A major problem is whether such homes should be classified as real property, or personal. They are now in the personal property category, similar to automobiles.

Even more critical is the historic battle to keep mobile homes out of particular communities through zoning and other restrictive local ordinances. Many property owners fear a decline in property values and overcrowding of facilities if mobile homes are permitted.

But as more and more Tar Heels turn to mobile homes, the pressures to permit them without severe restriction will mount. And as designs change and new federal safety and livability laws take effect this year, the old attitude of home owners toward the "trailers" will likely show a gradual softening. Modern mobile homes are a far cry from the trailers of old.

The Beersheba Tailors

(Does Israel have an atomic bomb? Mr. Buchwald was one of the first to find out they were working on one in 1958.)
WASHINGTON—There has been a great deal of excitement in the United States and Israel over suspicions that Israel might be working on the development of an atomic bomb.

Apparently U.S. State Department officials are furious because, when the Israelis built their atomic energy plant 20 miles outside of Beersheba, they told the United States it was a textile plant. The United States was kept in the dark until recently when CIA photographs revealed that the building wasn't what it was cracked up to be.

It was just by chance that the Americans didn't find out the secret six months ago.

I heard the following story from an Israeli taxi driver high in government circles.

It seems that an important American diplomat stationed in Israel needed a new suit; and since someone had told him about the new textile plant, he decided to go out there and see if he could possibly get one wholesale.

As he drove south toward Beersheba, Israeli intelligence agents were alerted, and a half-hour before he got there the head of the atomic energy plant was notified that an American was coming to buy a suit.

A hurried conference was called with the other scientists to decide what to do. They were afraid that if they refused him entrance he might get suspicious and start prying into the plant, so the scientists agreed the only sensible thing to do was let the diplomat in and pretend that nothing was going on.

The scientists all removed their white smocks, rolled up their sleeves and stuck pins and needles in their vests.

When the American diplomat arrived, he was immediately ushered into a large room where he saw men cutting suit forms out of asbestos patterns.

The head of the plant greeted the diplomat. "What can I do for you, sir?" he asked.

"I was wondering if I could buy a suit wholesale."

"Naturally. That is what

Other Editors Say Lest We Forget

(Washington Daily News)
In the everyday procedures in a courtroom sometimes so many tend to forget that the overriding responsibility of a court of law is that of finding and meting out justice.

In Raleigh in the Joan Little trial so many dramatics, so many theatrical sidelights, so many colorful statements, the throwing out of an attorney for the defense, the keeping out of another, the various charges being made by attorneys on both sides, the coverage by all the news media, the demonstrations outside, the presence of national figures, and the other visible actions combine to cause us to wonder if true justice is ever harder to come by.

Justice is not a one-sided thing. We are thinking in terms of justice to all and for all. There is justice to Joan Little and there is justice to society itself. If we discolor the trial itself to such an extent that pure unadulterated justice becomes impossible to come by, we have done injustices to at least one side and perhaps to both sides.

We want Joan Little to get pure color blind justice, and we want her to feel that justice has been done after the trial is completed. But the same token we want the state and the people of North Carolina to feel that despite the dramatics, justice has prevailed.

The atmosphere in this trial has been such that a lot of people must wonder if justice can prevail. If we at any time and anywhere along the line discolor the parts of a trial, then when the answer eventually comes, there could be people who question its justice like quality. We do not want that to happen.

In this trial in Raleigh justice is being sought and justice now and forever outweighs all other factors there. They can discolor the efforts and they can make it appear to be anything but a criminal trial, but the forces in control must be firm in their quest.

Whether we have a "cause celebre" in America, we must examine the search for justice carefully. We cannot leave justice to anyone to chance. And the "we" to which we refer belongs to all the people, not only of North Carolina but of America and particularly of the very human beings today involved in the trial in Raleigh.

What we are trying to point out here is that justice can easily be bypassed as our thoughts turn to other matters connected with the very search for justice.

Let not the search be in vain. Neither let it be tainted with the brush of racism nor the darkness of ignorance. Let it be pure, straight-forward, unadulterated, and color blind.

Let it speak the truth—insofar as human beings can find the truth.

The INSIDE REPORT

Dangerous Omen For Ford

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON—Behind their restrained optimism, Ford administration economic policymakers now confront foreboding private forecasts from their own experts: rampant new inflation, high interest rates, unacceptably high unemployment and longterm rot in two basic industries, autos and construction.

These pessimistic predictions were contained in the highly confidential quarterly review of the administration's top-level Economic Policy Board two weeks ago. When the board itself met July 26, that pessimism was deepened by policymakers who generally disagree on what to do next.

In sum, President Ford faces the same unsolved economic puzzle he inherited a year ago. While top advisers stress resurgent inflation, technicians point to hangover from the recession. Lack of cures for either malady is Mr. Ford's most dangerous liability for 1976.

The EPB's quarterly review, based on July 20 data, forecasts unemployment around 9 per cent through September and dropping only to 8 per cent by the end of 1976. "The President has indicated that unemployment in this range is unacceptable," it adds.

The EPB staff is clearly alarmed by what is happening in inner city ghettos: "A strong case can be made that black teenage unemployment at 40 per cent levels portends serious social and economic consequences for the nation, demanding special action."

The report analyzes unemployment in blunt language fastidiously avoided by administration spokesmen. Calling unemployment "extremely high by historical standards and most unsatisfactory if viewed in isolation," the government experts acknowledge that new stimulative government programs would risk runaway inflation, then add:

"Great uncertainty exists as to this risk. But it is a fact

Public Forum
To the editor:
Contradiction in the pages of "The Daily Reflector"? Stories appearing two weeks apart give Reflector readers two impressions on TV's new "family viewing time" slated for the fall season.

The Associated Press (July 21) says the plan "has thrown the television industry into controversy" and quotes the Writers Guild of America as calling it "a public relations device... prior censorship."

And then what read like an editorial, but appeared on the front of "TV Showtime," a story says: "The family viewing concept is not considered to be censorship..."

No, the networks don't use the word "censorship," and thus the press syndicate for "TV Showtime," which relies on network sources of information, hesitates to make waves by soliciting the views of the networks' detractors.

"TV Showtime," it seems could benefit from some additional feature sources, such as the wire services.

that inflation has been abating more rapidly than was expected when overall economic strategy was formulated prior to the February budget. It is also a fact that unemployment has turned out to be much worse than expected."

Top policymakers claim this analysis has been overtaken by the surprisingly low seasonally adjusted 8.4 per cent unemployment announced last Friday. Moreover, at the July 26 EPB meeting, Treasury Secretary William Simon sharply challenged the forecasts, arguing inflation remains the greater danger.

But the general tone of the meeting was overriding gloom. The consensus: rising interest rates and prices, without substantial reduction in unemployment.

The EPB review is equally pessimistic about the cost of living. "Inflation appears to be very stubborn," it says. "... and we do not expect further improvement."

What's more, its forecast of 5.5 per cent inflation through 1977 does not account for the new Russian wheat deal or a new international oil price increase.

The missing oil price gap is filled by a confidential report to the EPB by Paul W.

40 Years Ago Today

August 8, 1935
Heavy sales marked the opening today of the Border Belt tobacco markets and saw the weed being bid in at prices which warehousemen said were about in line with last year when prices were around 21 to 22 cents.

Some observers felt the demand for the lower grades was greater than a year ago.

As usual on opening day, the bulk of the offerings were of first pullings and medium types. Despite the dry weather which made handling difficult, virtually all the markets had an unusually heavy break.

A million pounds were sold on the floors at Mullins, one of the largest South Carolina markets.

One pile of finer quality was bid in at Timmonsville for 50 cents a pound but the bulk of the sale there was cheaper grades and early sales averaged around 20 cents. The warehouses had 450,000 pounds on their floors.

Strength For Today

A RULE OF PRAYER
There is an old rule of prayer which has a great deal of validity: Pray as if everything depended upon God, and then get up off your knees and work as if everything depended upon you.

Many people do not appreciate that prayer involves human cooperation. They think that all they have to do is ask God for something. If he is disposed, He will give it; if not, He will refuse it. Actually, God upon receiving our prayers immediately appoints us a committee of one to help answer the prayer.

God does not do this because He needs our aid before He can respond to our prayer; He demands our participation because He wants to have the increase of power which comes from doing our part. The most mistaken idea of prayer is that which pictures man as a weak and passive agent sending petitions to heaven, and then folding his hands and waiting for a reply. Prayer is answered for those who energetically try to make their prayers come true.

Householders In Market Place

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The big banks and insurance companies that ordinarily buy vast volumes of tax-exempt bonds, which finance state and municipal governments, have been withdrawing from the market in recent years.

Whether they return as buyers over the next few months will probably determine how successful some cities and states are in raising much-needed funds. Expectations are that they will return.

However, commercial banks and fire and casualty insurance companies have sharply curtailed their purchases the past five years. Householders, meanwhile, have replaced them as the major factor in the market, accounting for 69.3 per cent of net purchases in 1974, and remaining an important factor this year.

The householders' big entry into the market is causing some worry in financial circles. Already it is probably a big factor in forcing some municipal borrowing costs to record high levels and in reducing the liquidity—or buy-sell activity—of the market.

Comments Business Week's Magazine: "That is an unnerving prospect at a time when the market is already frantic over the possibility of a New York City default on $741 million of short-term notes maturing Aug. 22."

Many reasons are given for the reduction of activity by the big banks and insurers. "Municipal financial troubles are, of course, high on the list. Institutional researchers were aware of the declining financial stability of some cities long before the full extent of the New York City crisis became known.

Both banks and insurers had their own internal problems, too.

The banks have suffered a deterioration of their investment portfolios both in 1974 and this year and thus have been cautious investors. Added to this problem are substantial loan losses.

One consequence of this is to reduce the need by banks for ways to cut taxes. Tax-exempts serve that function, but losses cut taxes just as well.

The fire and casualty insurance companies have been taking their licks too, suffering from what they consider to be depressed earnings and investment losses.

As with individuals, this depresses their willingness and ability to be active in municipal markets.

Despite their reduced activity in municipal markets over the past few years, both insurers and bankers are expected to return soon if they get their internal problems corrected.

Will householders remain big buyers? That cannot be foretold. They recognize that yields on municipals are much better than bank interest. And they have newly formed municipal bond funds to facilitate their investments.

At the same time some investment advisory services have been warning them to avoid the municipal market. As one put it this week: "Mistrust of all municipal debt obligations is spreading rapidly..."

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

There's no doubt about it. Doctors are finally coming into their own. They are the darlings of the talk shows, the heroes of television and the most sought-after guests at cocktail parties everywhere.

The other night I lucked out and found myself seated next to my doctor at a dinner. "How much free advice do you figure you've given out tonight?" I chided.

"Every professional gets it," he smiled good-naturedly. "I mean how many homes without a piano does Liberace get invited to?"

"But how do you survive?" I asked. "People must drive you crazy with their symptoms."

"First," he said, "I divide them. I tell them I'm strictly an Ob-Gyn man. That weeds out all of the men. I re-route them to a party where an urologist is holding court or to a theater where I know an internist is in attendance."

"Then, I divide the women. I listen to the hysterical ones first. The ones who have just read a Reader's Digest story which gave them three months to live. I always reassure them you lose something in the condensation."

"What about the others?"

"I tell them even though it is a cocktail party, I take my work quite seriously and would not presume to offer a diagnosis on a simple interview. I then invite them to come over to a corner and take their clothes off for a full professional examination."

"You sound flip," I said, "but it must bug you to dispense all that free medical advice all the time."

"Not at all," he grinned. "The two women have fled. I too circulate among the guests. Tonight alone, I have saved $550 in professional fees. That CPA over there gave me two new deductions I hadn't even considered, the attorney in the corner advised me on my partnership, the educator trying to eat his salad told me what to do about my son's reading problem and that professional golfer at the end of the table just knocked three strokes off my game."

"Incredible," I said.

"By the way," he said, "as a newspaper humorist, aren't you going to say anything funny all night?"

"Sure," I said, "take two aspirins and call me in the morning."

"Is that supposed to be funny?" he said.

"You thought so when you charged me $10 for it last April."

MacAvoy, a member of the President's council of economic advisers.

Forecasting a $2-a-barrel increase by the international oil cartel, MacAvoy sees more inflation and another 200,000 to 300,000 unemployed workers throughout the ensuing 18 months.

The EPB's quarterly review is starkly bleak about autos and construction.

It predicts construction unemployment will still be at 15 percent in 1976 but hints at even worse. Recovery of multi-family residential construction, now "at extremely depressed levels," may be "retarded."

The auto forecast is far worse, suggesting permanent depression resulting from a change in the nation's auto culture: "There are no consistent signs that the auto industry is emerging from the worst and most prolonged sales slump since World War II."

It appears that the historical growth pattern of the auto industry is now... undergoing a fundamental change, leading to a significant dampening of demand for years to come.

The upshot: sustained unemployment, with 11 percent of the auto work force on "indefinite layoff" next year.

The EPB review cautiously suggests that measures aiding the auto industry might be "justified because of the stimulative benefits which would flow to the rest of the economy." But the EPB comes down against special measures, apart from Mr. Ford's proposed relaxation in emission controls. Nor does it recommend special measures for the construction industry or black teenagers.

To one dissenter within the administration, "this is more of the same and that's not enough." Conversely, top policymakers see it as a courageous battle against ruinous inflation. But Gerald R. Ford, returning from the heady world of summitry, might ponder what such grim economic omens have meant for past Republican presidential candidates.

Terrorists Release Hostages In Libya

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Japanese Red Army terrorists freed their final four hostages early today and handed themselves over to Libyan authorities after a four-day drama that began with the seizure of the U.S. Embassy in Kuala Lumpur.

Tight security measures were in force at Tripoli airport as the Japan Air Lines DC8 landed after a 6,900-mile flight from the Malaysian capital, Libya's Arab Revolutionary News Agency reported.

The agency said all aboard the aircraft were safe. The flight took 15 hours, including a two-hour refueling stop in Colombo, Sri Lanka.

The plane, flown by a nine-man Japanese crew, left Kuala Lumpur on Thursday with the five terrorists, another five radicals freed from Japanese prisons and the four hostages — two Japanese and two Malaysian government officials.

A Japanese Foreign Ministry spokesman in Tokyo, quoting a report from Tripoli, said ambulances and four or five cars pulled alongside the plane after it landed and the four hostages stepped out unharmed.

The spokesman said the terrorists and the freed radicals left the airport in three cars, but he could not say whether they were in custody or where they had been taken.

Libya said earlier it had agreed to allow the plane to land as a "humanitarian measure" to help save human lives, but did not say what arrangements had been made concerning the terrorists.

The freed hostages and the crew were taken to an airport lounge and would hold a news conference later, the spokesman added.

The drama began Monday when the five hooded terrorists invaded the U.S. Embassy and seized 52 hostages, including U.S. Consul Robert Stebbins and a Swedish diplomat.

They threatened to blow up the building and kill their hostages unless the Japanese government freed the imprisoned radicals. Four of the convicts were members of the fanatical Red Army that has carried out several international terrorist attacks, including the 1972 Lod Airport massacre in Israel in which 26 persons died.

The terrorists, who wounded two policemen, a watchman and a hostage during the siege, drove to the airport with 15 of their captives after the radicals arrived from Japan.

They spent a day conducting further negotiations from the airliner and took off after freeing the final 15 Embassy captives in exchange for the RALEIGH—Over $300 million has been channeled into rural North Carolina through Farmers Home Administration's lending programs in the fiscal year ending June 30. According to James T. Johnson, state director, this is over $100 million more than in the previous fiscal year.

Loans to farmers during the fiscal year amounted to more than in any previous year. Some 4,744 families received over $98 million for operating credit, farm ownership, farm and livestock emergency loans, and rural youth loans.

More than 7.5 million families in North Carolina are affected by FmHA assistance to towns, communities, counties, as well as by loans to individuals.

Loans for 5921 individual housing units were made under the Rural Housing program. In addition, 12 loans were made for rental housing units, two for site loans to non-profit corporations to develop building sites, and a loan to provide housing for migrant labor. More than $111 million was extended to borrowers for housing under these programs.

Quality Up On Farmville Mart

FARMVILLE—The volume of sales on the Farmville Tobacco Market yesterday consisted of more cutters and leaf grades than any previous day this year.

According to Louis Williams, sales supervisor, offerings of primings and lugs were off as compared with Wednesday's sale. Nondescript grades accounted for less of volume than any previous sales day.

A heavier volume of leaf and cutter grades were responsible for the highest average of the season.

The market sold 386,850 pounds of leaf for $360,450 for an average of $93.18 per hundred pounds. To date, the market has sold 6,785,028 for $5,995,975, giving an average of $88.37 per hundred pounds for the season.

Whitfield Will Be Club Speaker

WINTERVILLE—Carl E. Whitfield, community development specialist with the Governor's Highway Safety Program, North Carolina Department of Transportation will be the guest speaker at the Winterville Ruritan Club Tuesday night.

Whitfield will outline the federal standards and guidelines of the highway safety program at the 7 p.m. meeting.

A Greenville native, Whitfield has recently been assigned to the Region One office in Greenville, which covers 24 Eastern counties. He is a former member of the North Carolina Highway Patrol.

Respond To 33 Fire Alarms During July

During July the Rural Fire Departments in Pitt County answered 33 alarms covering 32 fires.

Building fires other than homes, mostly tobacco barns, accounted for the largest number, 13, of the total fires. There were six house fires, three automobile fires, four woods or grass fires, three miscellaneous fires, one house trailer fire and one case of mutual aid.

Property estimated at $69,650 was lost to the fires, with a $117,300 estimation for the value of property involved in the fires. In addition, property valued at $164,500 was directly exposed to the fires.

Ayden was the most active of the county's fire departments during July, answering seven alarms.

the peace of GOD

It isn't easy to explain how the Church can help you find strength and comfort. You can't prove it by mathematical equations, but once you experience it, you have no doubts. And, having felt it, you want to share this deep, abiding peace with others.

No matter how stormy it is outside, in the Church you can find peace. Isn't it wonderful to know that you can take all your cares and worries to God and feel His peace and quiet? Then, having found this peace, you can carry it with you wherever you go. Through the Church you can help others find it.

Peace — God's peace — the Church — God's Church. Are you acquainted with them?

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks rallied today after some initial hesitation, with brokers crediting hopes for an easing of upward pressure on interest rates.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 7.19 at 822.98. Gainers took a 6-5 lead over losers after trailing early in the session at the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading remained relatively light, however.

Analysts cited a favorable response to Federal Reserve figures issued late Thursday which showed that the surge in the nation's money supply during May and June had tapered off to a virtually level pattern in July.

That data raised hopes that the Fed would not need to tighten its monetary policy further to keep the expansion of the money supply within its target range of 5 to 7 1/2 per cent.

The positive feeling was offset at first by a new increase in the prime lending rate by First National City Bank, from 7 1/2 to 7 3/4 per cent.

But investors were apparently hoping that the recent rise in the basic charge on business loans might not go much further than that.

Anaconda, the Big Board volume leader, jumped 2 1/2 to 18. Crane Co. said late Thursday it planned an exchange offer for 23 per cent of Anaconda's stock.

The Big Board's composite index gained .02 to 46.12 in the first hour.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .09 at 86.26.

Syntax, the Amex's most active issue, rose 3/4 to 32 1/2.

this year's crop, plus inventories, amounted to a 2 1/2-year supply, which is considered normal.

Flue-cured prices on Southern markets last week averaged below the $1.05 a pound which growers claim they need to meet expenses.

"Last year we had record high prices and a vintage crop," Todd said. "This year's crop just doesn't measure up to last year's crop in flavor and aroma" because of a cold spring and heavy rainfall in the growing areas.

Overseas sales of unprocessed flue-cured tobacco during the last fiscal year were 548 million pounds, 50 million pounds less than the previous year, Todd said.

"We lost a market in Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos," he continued. "Japan and the Germans are not on the market too strong this year, either."

Tobacco officials also blame the British government's recent announcement of an increase in tobacco excise taxes for reducing export trade.

The administration encouraged farmers last year to accept a 15 per cent increase in planting allotments to satisfy domestic and overseas demand. This year's crop is believed to be about 12 per cent larger than last year, Todd said.

In answer to complaints of low prices, Butz said last Tuesday that he would call the Tobacco Advisory Committee to meet this month. The committee advises the secretary on tobacco policies and quotas.

Butz also said he was considering a boost in the price of tobacco sold by Flue-Cured Tobacco Stabilization Corp. The corporation pays government support prices to farmers who are unable to sell elsewhere or who are not satisfied with the price offered at regular auctions.

Autistic Children's Foundation Meets

By MARIAN BAILEY
Reflector Staff Writer

"There is always so much misunderstanding about autistic children," Dr. Jerry Sloan, clinical director of the North Carolina Autistic Children's Foundation here in Greenville.

The newly installed president, Raymond Horne, host for the television show MONTAGE, shown on WCTI in New Bern, presided at the meeting.

The meeting of the foundation, which is still in organizational state, was attended by people from all over eastern North Carolina. Selection of an honorary chairman was discussed and it was agreed that baseball star and N.C. native Catfish Hunter should be asked to fill the position. Andy Griffith, television personality and native of N.C. native also has naturally agreed to possibly accept this position for 1976-1977.

Dr. Gene Grace, a Durham ophthalmologist, reported that he had sent all major media organizations news releases on the progress of the group. He also offered a personal donation of 1 1/2 acres of land located between Chapel Hill and Raleigh to be developed as a camp for autistic children at such a time when the foundation can build and maintain one.

A need for vocational training for autistic children after they have finished their formal teaching and cannot be taught more by the teacher was expressed. These youngsters cannot make the transition from school and homes to sheltered workshops. Appropriating funds for vocational training was discussed.

"The number one need is education," Horne said. "We need to concentrate on that."

The group set a goal of 1,000 new members for the upcoming year. "We hope to eventually have Autistic Associations like fire stations everywhere but we must be realistic about setting our goals," Horne added.

Obtaining support from 1 civic clubs on the local level was discussed, with the possibility of the Kiwanis Club of Greenville taking the Children's Autistic Foundation as their major project for the upcoming year.

Another meeting for the purpose of organizing a professional media project will be held on September 4.

Autism, one of the most mystifying diseases yet to be conquered by medical science is a condition which has been described and delineated in medical journals but it has not been understood.

A medical dictionary defines autism as, "the condition of being dominated by subjective, self-centered trends of thought or behavior." Even with its textbook language, that is vague definition at best. But even scientists talk about autistic children with such non-scientific expression as "trapped inside invisible walls," "the trance children" or simple "daydreamers."

Review Hospital Plans For Expansion Project

White Stores Inc. for use as a parking lot.

The property, for which a purchase offer of $24,275 was made, is bounded on the north by Dickinson Avenue, on the east and south by White Stores Property, and on the west by Reade Circle. The property contains 15,108 square feet.

An environmental management plan work proposal, drafted by the new Environmental Advisory Commission, was endorsed by the Council. The Council action authorizes the EAC to seek proposals from professional agencies on the cost of an environmental study.

Some $10,000 has been budgeted in the Community Development format for EAC use, it was pointed out. The Council would have the final authorization on the awarding of a contract for the study.

A request from the Greenville Inspections Department to rezone 38 acres in West Meadowbrook from R-6 to R6-MH (mobile home) was approved by the Council. The action was in spite of a recommendation by the Planning and Zoning Commission that the rezoning request be denied.

Cox said that he did not feel that the planning board had all of the facts concerning the rezoning request when it made its decision to recommend denial.

Mrs. McGrath said that, "I think there should be some place... where people can own their own homes... and not have to spend $30,000 to $40,000."

Warren said that under the new R6-MH designation, all lots proposed for mobile homes would have to be inspected and mobile units would have to meet specifications before they would be allowed in the zone. Warren said that in his opinion, the area in East Meadowbrook already designated R6-MH has been upgraded by the zoning change.

Other business action by the Council included: approval of a recommendation by the Traffic Commission that the west end of Myrtle Avenue from Line Avenue to Myrtle be changed from two-way to one-way traffic headed west.

Approval of bids received at the public auction on the sale of surplus city equipment totaling $4,130 for nine items; authorization to seek bids on the purchase of a sanitary landfill compactor;

Authorization to enter into a lease-purchase agreement with Truxmore Industries Inc. for the acquisition of a 1975 model, 23-cubic yard container loader;

Adoption of 1975-76 extraterritorial fire protection rate of ten cents per $100 assessed valuation, representing a one cent reduction over the 1974-75 rate;

Waiver of privilege license requirements for the Jaycees to have the Palmetto Rides at Pitt Plaza Aug. 4-9 and for a wrestling match at Guy Smith Stadium on Aug. 12;

Accepting the annual report of the Board of Adjustments; renewal of mobile home permits for Mrs. Queenie Evans Boyd, William L. Johnson, and ISO-AERO Services Inc.;

Approval of applications for taxicab operator's permits by Kenneth Earl Arrington, Ms. Willie Mae Hammond, and Jesse T. Brewington; setting of public hearings for Sept. 4 on an application for a mobile home permit and on a rezoning request by J.B. Kittrell to rezone 1.18 acres on the west side of Clark Street from R-6 to Unoffensive Industry.

The Council tabled action on payment of the city's share of retirement for prior military service for certain police employees. Action was also tabled on appointments to boards and commissions and a one-year emergency permit for a mobile home permit was approved for James Worsley for the placement of a mobile home at 1009 VanNortwick Street for use as a personal residence.

Low bids submitted by Barrus Construction Co. for paving of the parking lot at Evans Park were accepted. Approximate cost of the project is some $24,536.65 with a 30-day completion schedule.

Barnhill Contracting Co. offered a figure of $29,054.60 while W.T. Wooten Construction Co. submitted a $27,760.40 figure.

Three streets were also approved for maintenance by the city in Tucker Estates.

The hospital administrator Jack Richardson filed notice with the Department of Human Resources on the planned expansion several weeks ago.

The project, which would expand such clinical areas as the emergency room, surgery, laboratory, x-ray and medical records, as well as modifications which would provide additional cafeteria space, space for clinical faculty offices and space for classrooms, is estimated to cost $7.5 million.

Richardson said the additional space will be needed to "accommodate an increased patient flow as a result of the medical school" using Pitt Memorial as its primary clinical training facility.

The hospital administrator said the review agency will hold a public hearing in Greenville "sometime" within the next few weeks in connection with their review.

Richardson added that the review should be completed by the last part of September.

Dunn Speaks At Meeting

WINTERVILLE—Charles Dunn, director of the state Bureau of Investigation for North Carolina, was the keynote speaker for the annual ladies night of the Kiwanis Club of Winterville.

Dunn spoke on crime in North Carolina and stressed the importance of crime prevention in the area of our youth.

Dunn explained that a large percentage of the crime committed in North Carolina is done by young people.

"In order to head off crime down the road, we should put more emphasis on prevention of crime among the young which, in turn, will cut the crime rate drastically.

"Give the young people something to do... keep them busy... and the crime rate will drop," Dunn said.

Dunn was introduced by Bennie Thompson of Winterville who is a senior at Campbell College and an apprentice in the SBI program.

Mrs. Janie Cox, who just celebrated her 85th birthday, was a special guest.

Entertainment was provided by Steve and Sherry Miller and VanLora Finch.

Approximately 100 persons attending the meeting.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.

Partly cloudy with a chance of evening showers or thundershowers Sunday through Tuesday. Highs in the 80s and overnight lows in the 70s.

Former Inmates Tell Experiences

By CATHY STEELE ROCHE
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP)—The sexual behavior of a slain North Carolina jailer has for the first time been made the focal point of the Joan Little murder trial as three former inmates testified he had made sexual advances to them or to Miss Little.

The three women, all black like Miss Little, testified Thursday that the white Beaufort County jailer, Clarence Alligood, had made sexually suggestive remarks.

A New York criminologist was to take the stand today as the defense sought to show in the second day of its case that Alligood was stabbed during a struggle. Defense lawyers said the testimony would center around the pattern of blood stains found in the cell.

Alligood was found stabbed to death in the jail cell from which Miss Little had fled last Aug. 27. He was naked from the waist down and there was semen on his thigh.

Miss Little, 21, said she stabbed Alligood with an ice pick to stop a sexual attack. The prosecution claims she killed him to escape.

Phyllis Ann Moore, 19, who was confined with Miss Little, testified that Alligood twice made sexually suggestive remarks to Miss Little within a five-day period when he came to the cell block to serve breakfast.

Annie Marie Gardner, 26, testified that Alligood, 62, fondled her breast in the jail during her 44-day sentence. Rosa Ida Mae Roberson, in the jail 21 days, said the Alligood "bothered her so much about sex" that she tried to slash her wrists.

Both Mrs. Roberson and Miss Gardner were released before Miss Little was an inmate.

Mrs. Moore said Alligood talked to Miss Little when he came to the women's section of the jail. "I heard him ask her if she missed her man," she said. Miss Little only turned away, Mrs. Moore testified.

The next time Alligood made the comment Miss Little sounded disgusted and threatened to report him, Mrs. Moore said.

Kilmer Vs. Fans In RFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill Kilmer will learn how fickle the Washington fans are tonight when the Redskins meet the Atlanta Falcons in RFK Stadium in an exhibition game.

Kilmer, a 13-year veteran who has been in the middle of controversy during the off-season, will be the undisputed team leader when he opens at quarterback and plays at least the first half.

During the off-season, the Redskins retired Sonny Jurgensen, who had become as much a part of the scenery as the Capitol Dome, the White House or the Washington Monument.

Kilmer expects to hear some chants from the stands from fans of Jurgensen or Joe Theismann, who has been the No. 2 quarterback, and possibly advocates of Randy Johnson, the No. 3 signal caller.

"I always love to play at RFK," said Kilmer. "The fans have been good to me. I certainly understand their feeling for Sonny. I had the same feeling, too, because he was a great, great player."

The Falcon-Redskin game opens the first full week of exhibitions in the NFL.

On Saturday, Philadelphia is at Pittsburgh; Minnesota meets the New York Jets at Phoenix, Ariz.; Dallas travels to Los Angeles; Cincinnati is at Miami;

Buffalo plays at Green Bay; St. Louis goes to Kansas City; Baltimore is at Denver; Houston and New Orleans play the inaugural game in the new Superdome, and Chicago visits San Diego.

The first full weekend of pre-season games wind up Sunday when Detroit and Oakland clash at Berkeley, Calif.; Cleveland is at San Francisco and the New York Giants take on the New England Patriots at Foxboro, Mass.

Kilmer got the Redskins off to a winning start last Saturday by hitting on 11 of 16 for 130 yards, including a 48-yard touchdown to Charley Taylor, for a 17-9 victory over Cincinnati in the Hall of Fame game in Canton, Ohio.

The Falcons, with Marion Campbell beginning his first full season as head coach, are coming into RFK Stadium with a record of never beating the Redskins in three preseason and three regular season games, although his Atlanta team managed a 20-20 tie in 1967.

Jack Pardee also begins his first season as Chicago Bears coach. And like Atlanta, the Bears are experimenting with quarterbacks, including veterans Gary Huff and Bobby Douglass and rookie Bob Avelini.

At New Orleans, a sell-out crowd of 74,000 is predicted for the first game to be staged in the yet-to-be-completed Superdome. Houston, which came on strong at the end of last season, has added All-Star rookies running back Don Hardeman, linebacker Robert Brazile and wide receiver Emmett Edwards.

The St. Louis-Kansas City matchup will be the 10th tussle for the Governor's Cup. The Chiefs have a new coach, Paul Wiggin, while St. Louis Coach Don Coryell will open with virtually the same team which won the NFC East with a 10-4 record last season.

Another intra-state rivalry pits the defending Super Bowl champion Steelers against the Philadelphia Eagles. This time, the Eagles have quarterback Rom Gabriel from the start of the year.

Al Woodall will get the starting nod at quarterback for the Jets, but Joe Namath is sure to see some action against the defending NFC champion Vikings.

At Green Bay, signal-caller John Hadl will be starting his first full season and former Packer quarterback Bart Starr will be making his coaching debut. Buffalo, with O.J. Simpson, is anxious to make a strong bid for AFC Eastern title.

Baltimore also has a new coach—Ted Marchibroda—and Denver might be a rough place to start. In Los Angeles, about 65,000 fans are expected to see the 30th annual Los Angeles Times Charities game. While the Rams hold an 8-7 edge over the Cowboys in pre-season play, Dallas has won the last four.

Forrest Gregg will make his coaching debut when his Cleveland Browns meet the 49ers. Both teams have undergone extensive revamping in the off-season. Detroit will start Greg Landry, out most of last season with a shoulder fracture, at quarterback, while Oakland will go with veteran Ken Stabler.

Craig Morton is starting his first full season with the Giants, but New England is out to prove that last year's success was no fluke.

WHOOPS—Detroit Tigers' Bill Freeham was forced out at second by teammate Aurelio Rodriguez as Baltimore second baseman Bob Grich (right) tried to squeeze around for a double play in the first inning of Thursday night's game. Baltimore won, 7-6, in 10 innings. (AP Wirephoto)

Black Jack In Upset Victory

Black Jack knocked off National Division regular season winner Grace last night in the Church Softball League tournament, sending both of the champs into the losers' bracket. First Christian, the American winner, had already fallen into the losers' bracket.

In losers' games last night, Memorial Baptist, Trinity Free Will Baptist, First Free Will Baptist, and People's Bible Church all were eliminated.

Tonight, Christian meets St. James, with the winner taking on Oakmont. The winner of that game will meet St. Gabriel on Monday for the divisional title and the right to go into the league finals. Also, University-Mt. Pleasant meets Immanuel, with the winner meeting Grace. The winner takes on Black Jack Monday to determine the other finalist.

University-Mt. Pleasant stayed alive with a 7-1 win over First Free Will. U-MP pushed over two runs in the second and then added three in the third with Duckett homering. They got one each in the fifth and sixth. The lone FWB run came over in the sixth.

The second game in the National saw Black Jack nip Grace, 7-6. Black Jack got two runs in the first, and added three more in the fourth for a 5-0 lead.

Grace rallied for four in the fifth, but Black Jack came back with two in the seventh to up the lead to 7-4. Grace got two in their half of the frame, but it wasn't enough.

In the final game, Immanuel downed People's Bible, 5-4. Immanuel got one in the second, but People's came up with three in the fifth to take the lead. Immanuel regained the lead in the sixth with four runs, then held off a rally by People's in the seventh that saw one run come in.

First Christian kept its hopes alive with an 8-7 win over Memorial in the first game in the American Division. Memorial came up with three in the top of the first, while Christian scored a pair. Christian then moved ahead with two in the fourth, 4-3. Memorial went back out with two in the fifth, but three by Christian in the bottom of the frame put them ahead again. Memorial tied it up with two in the sixth. Finally, in the eighth, a hit by D. Hawkins drove in J. Pinner with the winning run for Christian.

St. Gabriel downed Oakmont, 14-12, to be the lone unbeaten in the division. St. Gabriel pushed over five in the first, but Oakmont got two. St. Gabriel added one in the third while Oakmont got two more. St. Gabriel got another in the fourth, with Oakmont scoring two to cut the lead to 7-6.

St. Gabriel added one in the fifth, but three by Oakmont put them into the lead for the first time, 9-8. St. Gabriel came back with three in the sixth to take the lead for good. They added three more in the seventh. Oakmont got one in the sixth and two in the seventh. Danny Singleton had a homer for Oakmont.

The final game saw St. James take an 8-0 win over Trinity. St. James broke the ice in the fifth, scoring two runs. They added six more in the sixth, with Hagan homering.

Woody's Ramblin's

BY WOODY PEELE

The start of the 1975 collegiate football season is just four short weeks away from tomorrow—but as far as the Southern Conference is concerned, there is no clear-cut favorite this time around.

Last year, the Pirates of East Carolina were picked by most to take their third straight Southern Conference title, but it wasn't in the cards for first-year coach Pat Dye and his charges. They played one of the best games ever recorded by a Pirate team in losing a heart-breaker to N. C. State, then had to battle from behind to take Furman in the closing minutes of the game.

At that point, it looked like the Bucs would have clear sailing the rest of the way. Appalachian State was next on the schedule and they had been disappointing so far. But the Mountaineers were more than ready for a sloppy Pirate team that Saturday. East Carolina did battle back from a 20-0 deficit to take a 21-20 lead, but a miracle field goal for ASU won it, 23-21. It was the beginning of the end for the Pirate title hopes. They went on to lose both to Richmond and VMI in the league.

This year, the Pirates are looked on as one of the strongest offensive teams in the league—and if their passing attack comes through, it could be an awesome offense.

But defense is a big fat question mark, and because of this, most observers aren't picking the Bucs to return to the throne.

Most of the football magazines seen so far have picked East Carolina to finish anywhere from first to seventh in the conference.

Those that don't pick the Pirates to win generally go with Appalachian State, VMI or Furman to capture the cookies this time out.

At the annual Southern Conference Rouser earlier this week, those feelings seem to be shared to some extent. But the only teams that can really be counted out are Davidson and William & Mary—and maybe that's writing an obituary for the Indians too soon.

Davidson, of course, no longer really competes, playing only three league games.

Appalachian State, blessed with the top punting game in the country, and with two of the fastest kick-return men, has a lot of strengths. Also in their favor is the fact that they play only five league games. They have East Carolina, Richmond and Davidson at home—a sure plus for them. They also meet Furman and The Citadel.

The Bulldogs of The Citadel have the conference's Player of the Year last season, Andrew Johnson, returning, to anchor their offense, and outstanding linebacker Brian Ruff to hold down the defense. Coach Bobby Ross feels that his offense will be more wide open this year, and because of this, the 'Dogs just might be in a position to win the title.

Furman had high hopes going into last year's season, and were riding high until the East Carolina game. They lost that one in a heartbreaker and never really recovered. This year, they are a little older and a little wiser. That experience, plus some breaks in the way of keeping players healthy puts them into the title picture.

Richmond will be using a new quarterback this year, and that's the main reason they've been picked for the second division by most observers. But second-year coach Jim Tait looks back and sees that Richmond traditionally has been able to come up with a top quarterback in these situations. Add to that an experienced running game and a stout defense, and Richmond could easily be in the picture in their final year.

VMI of course, is in the role of defending champion, and the champ is always the team to beat. VMI, too, will have some holes to fill, both on offense and defense, but Coach Bob Thalman feels that the Keydets have crossed the hump in their football program. They feel they can win now, and that just might be what they need to win a second straight title.

William & Mary suffered heavily from graduation. They've also gone through a very difficult period in their program. Last year, just prior to the East Carolina game, the Indians thought football in Williamsburg might be reduced to a much lower level if not abandoned. But the next week, the alumni came through, and Jim Root feels that enthusiasm will do a lot. He's not predicting a title, but does feel that the Indians can pull off some surprises.

Overall, that means that six of the eight teams are given shots at the title this year. That's more balance than the league has had in years. Hopefully, it will stay that way—a good conference is better than one dominated by any one team.

Also, the coaches and officials of the conference feel it is improving too. The NCAA player limits are helping this. "We're not as far away from the ACC as we were a few years ago," they say.

This probably is true, and with six Southern-ACC games this year, there is the chance of a Southern win or two. But complete ACC domination may be a thing of the past.

Young, Palmer Tied For Lead

SUNNINGDALE, England (AP) — Donna Young, bidding for the European Women's Open golf title, is missing the support of her best fan—her husband.

"We come to play a big tournament in England, and the first thing he does is go off to Scotland to play the famous courses there," she said. "I can't blame him. But I always play well when he's around, although he doesn't think so."

Mrs. Young, 30, of Los Angeles, and Sandra Palmer, 34, of Dallas, Tex., were tied for first place with totals of 139 after two rounds. They have two more rounds to play on Sunningdale's 6,174-yard, par 36-38-74 course.

Their nearest rival was JoAnne Carner of Lakewood, Fla., at 143.

Mrs. Young learned her golf from her father, professional

Randy Jones, ace southpaw of the San Diego Padres, credited with helping him get more body action into his delivery.

Harry Caponi, who died in 1971 at age 49. Nowadays she says she gets most help from her husband Ken, who manufactures golf equipment.

"It always helps me a lot when I have the gallery behind me," Mrs. Young said. "And when there's somebody there who loves you and lives with you, then it means even more. "Mind you, I don't like to see him. He stays hidden in the crowd but I always know he's there."

But he is not there this time. While Donna was taming Sunningdale's treelined course with rounds of 68 and 71, husband Ken was shooting 72 on the old course at St. Andrews and 75 at Carnoustie, where the British Open was played last month.

"Today he is playing the Berkshire course and I hope to see him in the evening," Mrs. Young said. "Tomorrow he is playing Wentworth."

She has won 29,000 dollars so far this year and is aiming at an 11,000-dollar first prize here. "But he pays for our home in Hollywood Hills, Los Angeles," said Donna. "I just earn a little extra money—enough to pay for the furniture, the drapes and the sheets."

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox downed the Milwaukee Brewers 4-2, the Oakland A's trounced the Texas Rangers 10-1, the Kansas Royals routed the Minnesota Twins 10-2 and the Chicago White Sox defeated the California Angels 8-4.

Baylor's latest performance gave him 15 hits in his last 20 at-bats, raising his average from .259 to .287. Against the Tigers this year he is 21 for 44, including 15-for-25 in six games at Tiger Stadium.

Singles by Bobby Grich and Tommy Davis preceded Baylor's decisive double off ex-Oriole Bob Reynolds. Trailing 3-0, the Orioles scored six times with two out in the sixth, including two-run singles by Brooks Robinson and Mark Belanger. The Tigers tied it with two in the ninth on Gates Brown's pinch homer and singles by Ron LeFlore, Dan Meyer and Bill Freeham.

Despite the triumph—third in a row and 19th in 25 games—the Orioles remained seven games behind Boston in the AL East.

Red Sox 4, Brewers 2
Denny Doyle and Fred Lynn drove in two runs apiece and Rick Wise pitched an eight-hitter for his eighth consecutive victory and 15th of the season.

Yankees 6, Indians 3
New York combined home runs by Greg Nettles and Thurman Munson with three Cleveland errors to post its first triumph in five tries at Cleveland Stadium this season.

A's 10, Rangers 1
Joe Rudi's grand slam and two home runs by Billy Williams backed Vida Blue's four-hit pitching and enabled the A's to remain 6 games ahead of Kansas City in the AL West. Oakland and dropped six of its previous nine starts.

"The sleeping giant just woke up," said outfielder Bill North.

White Sox 8, Angels 4
Nylys Nyman's tie-breaking two-run single in the third inning and the relief pitching of Dave Hamilton sparked the White Sox. Hamilton too over from Pete Vuckovich in the fourth and blanked the Angels on three hits the rest of the way.

Unknowns Grab Share Of PGA's Spotlight

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "Are you aware," a reporter asked Jack Nicklaus as the world's greatest golfer savored his even par 70 in the opening round of the PGA Tournament, "that you are trailing such household names as Benson, Wampler and Dougherty?"

"Who?" Jack asked. "I know Wampler, but the others—how do you spell that last name?"

Nicklaus' consternation was generally shared as the pros' big family championship—one of the game's Big Four—moved into the second round behind a phalanx of the most implausible pace-setters imaginable.

Oldsters and rookies, the infirm and the insecure, the downtrodden and the down-and-out are on top, kicking divots in the faces of golf's aristocrats—Nicklaus, Weiskopf, Trevino, Palmer and Player.

The first-round leader is a slim Oklahoman, one Mark

Hayes, 26, playing his second year on the tour and in his first PGA, his bags carried by a man with a broken arm and a Masters degree in business.

Hayes shot 67, three under par over the back-breaking, 7,180-yard Firestone course. "It's too soon to get excited about leading this tournament," he said nervously.

Tied for second with 68 were Bob Benson, 35, a club pro from Easton, Conn., who operates a couple of bowling alleys on the side, and Larry Hinson, a gaunt young man with a withered left arm whose fortunes of late have been so depressing he was considering a different career.

Benson's main claim to fame is that as a teen-age assistant pro in Palm Beach, Fla., he gave lessons to the Kennedys, correcting a hook of the late President John Kennedy.

Only four other players managed to break par. They included a pair of grizzled veterans, Fred Wampler, 51, who hasn't played the tour in 15 years, and Bill Casper, 44, a two-time Open champion who has been devoting more time to his 7,000 fruit trees in Utah than to golf.

Wampler and Casper were tied at 69 with Bob Wynn of Santa Clara, Calif., a free-wheeling, 35-year-old tour veteran, and Ed Dougherty, a mustachioed Pennsylvanian.

It was not until the first day standings got down to the par 70s that names of the advance favorites began to show up.

Nicklaus was tied at that figure with eight others, among them Tom Weiskopf and British Open champion Tom Watson. The others were Al Geiberger, who won the PGA on this same course in 1966; former champion Ray Floyd; 51-year-old Art Wall, Bruce Devlin, long-hitting Jim Dent and Mike Morley, one of the plugging tour brigade.

Gary Player, seeking his third PGA crown, shot 72. Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer had 73s.

Brunson Gets Canadian Try

By The Associated Press
VANCOUVER (AP) — The British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League have brought in import defensive back Mike Brunson for a five-day tryout.

Brunson, 28, was cut this week by St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League at training camp.

He went to Arizona State and was with Atlanta Falcons of the NFL for three years and Houston Oilers of the NFL for a year. He played with St. Louis last year.

Brunson played wide receiver in the NFL, but head Coach Eagle Keys is looking at him as a defensive back.

VERNON CENTER, N.Y. (AP) — The 2-8 daily double of $269.60 at Vernon Downs on Thursday was a first here—because a woman driver guided both horses to victory.

It was a first in the 23-year history of harness action at Vernon Downs and Anne Wheeler made a few bettors very happy.

She drove Boo Nahhis to victory in the first race and a payoff of $31. In the second, she guided Banff to a $27.60 win payoff.

This is her third year as a professional harness driver.

Miss Wheeler, 35, owns both winning horses with Robert Keller of nearby Vernon.

TOKYO (AP) — Dave Johnson, formerly of the Atlanta Braves, has been placed on a 21-day disabled list by the Yomiuri Giants because of an injury, a team spokesman said today.

The 32-year-old third baseman of the Central League cellar-dwelling Giants suffered a bone fracture in his left shoulder when he was hit by a pitched ball during a game with the Taiyo Whales Wednesday.

Since joining the Japanese professional ballclub in April, Johnson has played in 68 games, getting 43 hits, including nine home runs, for a .208 average.

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Chuck Weber, defensive coach for the Cincinnati Bengals, will be sidelined at least four weeks after undergoing gall stone surgery Thursday at Christ Hospital in Cincinnati.

Weber, who has coached the Bengals defensive backs since 1970, is being replaced temporarily by offensive backfield coach Jack Donaldson. Mike Brown, son of head coach Paul Brown, has taken over Donaldson's spot until Weber recovers.

Weber is expected to remain hospitalized about a week.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Jazz signed a contract Thursday with Jim Lister, a free agent center from Sam Houston State.

Lister, who became the fifth center on the roster of the National Basketball Association club, averaged 22.8 points per game in four seasons at Sam Houston. He has played in Europe during the last two years.

Braulio Baeza won the 1974 Hopeful with Foolish Pleasure and seven months later, riding Prince Thou Art, Baeza won the Florida Derby while Foolish Pleasure ran third for that colt's first defeat in 10 starts.

JACK CARDS A BIRD—A serious Jack Nicklaus steps away from his putting stance to watch the ball fall for a birdie on the par-4, 460-yard 13th hole at Firestone Country Club in Akron in the first round of the PGA Tournament yesterday. Hinson Finds Swing Answer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Larry Hinson's golf retirement thoughts have all but vanished after a discovery this week that corrected his errant game.

And, after testing his new theory under competitive fire in the PGA National Championship Thursday, the look-alike for Johnny Miller isn't letting his secret out.

"The problem was in my swing, but I'm not going to reveal what it was," said the skinny North Carolinian moments after a two-under-par 68 left him a single shot behind first-round PGA leader Mark Hayes.

"It was even affecting my mind," said Hinson.

His game has been in such bad shape in 1975 that he ranks 73rd in the money race with more than $24,000. And that came after three consecutive years of missing the top 50 moneywinners.

"My game has been so awful the last six weeks I was trying to find something else to do. I really wondered if golf was cut out for me," said the easy-going 31-year-old.

Had he really been serious about quitting? "I think it passes through all the guys' minds when you play bad. Last year I missed the top 60 by one. This year I'm out of the top 60. It's so frustrating," replied Hinson, inventing an adjective to describe his slump.

Scrambling may have better described him in the opening test over Firestone's rolling 7,180 yards.

"I got in some places today a monkey couldn't get into," he cracked.

He saved par five times, once with a 20-foot putt. His four birdie putts ranged from eight to 20 feet. Only did he bogey the first and seventh holes. He caught the rough at one and a bunker on 12.

"I thought real well today," said the eight-year tourist, winner of more than $120,000 in his banner season of 1970.

"I felt like I shot 78 to 79," he said. "I've shot so many bad rounds lately, I just felt like it was that high."

"Now maybe I can convince myself I shot that high tomorrow, try to make up for it and shoot another good round," added Hinson, who has mastered the sport despite a withered left arm.

Dave Marcis Takes Pole At Talladega

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Dave Marcis has the pole position for Sunday's Talladega 500, after turning the fastest laps by a stock car at Alabama International Motor Speedway in at least two years.

Marcis' Dodge had a top qualifying lap Thursday at 191.340 miles per hour around the 2.66-mile 'speedway, the fastest of 16 tracks the NASCAR Grand National sedans run on.

Marcis, 34, a non-winner in his eight years as a NASCAR regular, ranks only behind $2 million winner Richard Petty in driver performance this season.

"We've been getting a little faster each race this season," said Marcis, a native of Wausau, Wis., now living closer to his work in Avery's Creek, N.C.

"We made some adjustments here after practice Wednesday and we thought we could go a little faster," he added. "We

Schmidt Regrets What He Said About Chicago

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

If Mike Schmidt had his way, he'd probably take back what he said last winter about the Chicago Cubs.

But it's too late now.

Philadelphia's third baseman classified the Cubs as second-class citizens in the National League East—and Chicago has made the Phillies pay for it this summer.

"Schmidt's remark rubbed us the wrong way," said Rick Reuschel after pitching the Cubs to a 5-3 victory over the Phillies Thursday night. "Last winter Schmidt said that for the Phillies to win the division, they had to beat teams like the Cubs.

"I don't think Philadelphia is that much better that they can classify us that way. It gave us a little extra incentive against these guys."

The victory was Chicago's eighth in 12 games with the Phillies and prevented them from gaining ground on the East-leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates were beaten 6-1 by the Houston Astros and maintained a four-game edge in baseball's most competitive race.

In the only other National League game, the New York Mets blanked the Montreal Expos 7-0.

Andre Thornton's three-run homer in the eighth inning helped the Cubs beat the Phillies. Jose Cardenal triggered Chicago's winning rally with a two-out double and Jerry Morales was intentionally walked before Thornton ripped his sixth homer against the left field foul pole off Larry Christenson, 6-3, giving the Cubs a 4-1 lead.

Reuschel, 8-12, then gave up a two-run homer to Dick Allen in the bottom of the inning and a double to Jay Johnstone before shutting the door on the Phillies.

Astros 6, Pirates 1

Greg Gross cracked two doubles and knocked in two runs and Dave Roberts fired a three-hitter to lead Houston past Pittsburgh. Gross doubled and scored in the first inning and then smashed a two-bagger for two runs off reliever Ramon Hernandez in the Astros' three-run sixth. The Astros supported Roberts, 7-12, with a nine-hit attack against loser Bruce Kison, 9-8.

Mets 7, Expos 0

Tom Seaver pitched a three-hitter and Mike Phillips capped a five-run rally with a three-run double in New York's victory over Montreal. It was the 15th victory for Seaver and the second in two tries for new Manager Roy McMillan, who replaced the fired Yogi Berra Wednesday.

Suited To Fans Of 'Swing Era'

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Just when I thought we'd recovered from really golden oldies like "Three Little Fishies in an Itty Bitty Poo," CBS goes and lolls out a new summer variety series to return us to all that.

The returns are Tim Hauser, Laurel Masse, Alan Paul and Janis Siegel, the young members of "The Manhattan Transfer," a new art deco group starring in the new CBS series of the same name.

They open their four-week stand this Sunday night, and we recommend that you give them a try, particularly if you've fond memories of the good old days of Glenn Miller and the Modernaires.

The Transfer gang specializes in reviving tunes of the swing era, using the voicing that made the Modernaires famous way back when, and they are very good indeed.

Alas, as part of the act, they dress up in the old, elegant evening wear of Fred Astaire's early movie days. I don't care what the ladies wear, but Hauser and Paul worry me.

They may revive the wearing of top hat and tails at a time the ancient male custom — in sophisticated circles — of resembling penguins is finally dying out. If they give it new life, they should be severely pelted with a boiled dickey.

But I digress. The group exhibits crisp professionalism, a spirit of fun and solid swing-era harmonizing on such oldies as "Tuxedo Junction," "That Cat Is High" and "Java Jive," the last performed in a cafe setting straight out of a 1940s MGM musical.

There also are two great comedy bits in the show. One features a gent named Archie Hahn, who plays a duck. He says in a quackery voice he took a bus to the show. He is asked why he didn't fly.

"It's too expensive," he explains. The other comedy bit, a monologue by Robert Klein, is awfully funny and hard to describe. Suffice it to say he demolishes marching bands, record commercials and those public service announcements for obscure causes we always see on TV late at night.

The only time the elegant vocal stars lapse into bad sound is when they briefly — and all too accurately — offer the music of the Fabulous Fifties, complete with falsetto and bass da-da-ah-ums.

This sort of thing can only revive Hudson Hornets, Nautahyde seat covers, Glass-Pak mufflers and nausea, and should be banned.

Other than that, the Manhattan Transfer has a pretty good show, and we hope the next three shows are equally as good.

Portable sociologists may proclaim the group's swing-era emphasis another indication of a national longing for the less jaded, more innocent times of the 1930s and 1940s. Okay. Big deal.

The group is fun to listen to and it's fun to hear an old-time acoustic guitar chugging away behind a big band again. If sociologists find fault with this, I hope they sit under an apple tree with anyone else but me.

Extended Benefits For Jobless Now Available

Jobless workers in North Carolina who have exhausted their unemployment payments under the federal Special Unemployment Assistance Act may now file for extended benefits, according to Employment Security office manager James Hannan.

President Ford recently signed amendments to the SUA law to extend unemployment payments up to one-half the workers' regular entitlement. Considered emergency legislation, Congress passed the SUA in late 1974 to provide unemployment payments to workers not covered by various state laws. The new law provided a maximum of 26 weeks of jobless payments to unemployed State and municipal government workers, domestics in private households and farm workers.

The amended law provides additional entitlement.

"Workers who have been paid all their SUA entitlement may now claim additional payments if they're still unemployed," reports Hannan.

"If an individual drew 26 weeks of benefits, he may now file for 13 additional weeks."

The amended law became effective July 1.

Approximately 6,300 workers are currently filing Special Unemployment Assistance claims statewide, according to Hannan. He does not know how many people have exhausted their payments under the program, but numbers of workers are now receiving extra payments.

All Employment Security Commission offices are now taking claims for additional SUA payments. They are available only to workers jobless on and after July 1, and claims cannot be taken for additional payments for weeks of unemployment which began prior to July 1.

For information, interested persons are to contact the Job Service Office at the Employment Security Commission, 1002 South Evans Street.

The bidding:

3 Pass 4 Pass
4 Pass 6 Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: Three of ♠.
It has long been our contention that there is no such thing as a blind opening lead—only deaf opening leaders. West carefully listened to the bidding, then selected the "sure" lead to defeat South's excellent club slam.

South became interested in slam the moment North made a jump rebid, however, he realized that North's preference to four spades might have been made under pressure, and that North might have only a doubleton.

To give his partner a choice of slam contracts, he jumped to six clubs, and North was happy to pass in view of his superior support for clubs.

West took time to analyze the auction before making his opening lead. South was marked with at least five spades, and North certainly had at least two. Since he was looking for five spades, it was obvious to him that his partner, East, could have at most one spade, and possibly was void in the suit. Therefore, West tried a low spade as his opening lead.

Declarer won the first trick in his hand and led a low club. However West was on the ball. He rose with the ace of clubs and continued another spade, and East's ruff was a killer.

Had West selected to passive lead, such as a diamond, declarer would almost surely have made his slam. He wins the king in dummy and drives out the ace of clubs. Regardless of West's return, declarer draws the remaining trumps, then plays the ace of spades and a spade to the king. When he discovers the 5-1 break, declarer cashes the remaining high diamond, in case the queen drops as well as for a discard of his losing spade. It is then a simple matter to take the heart finesse for the twelfth trick.

Note that, as the cards lie, six no trump can make honor. To give his partner a choice of slam contracts, he jumped to six clubs, and North was happy to pass in impossible contract to reach.

Set Detailed Soil Survey

RALEIGH—For the first time, a detailed soil survey for the entire North Carolina coastline will be made, covering the area from the South Carolina border to Virginia. Announcement of the proposed survey was made by State Conservationist Jesse L. Hicks of Raleigh, who heads the Soil Conservation Service in North Carolina.

The survey—popularly called the "Outer Banks Soil Survey"—will cover the coastlines of eight North Carolina counties—Brunswick, New Hanover, Onslow, Pender, Carteret, Hyde, Dare, and Currituck, and will provide a uniform set of soil data for the entire stretch. The survey will include all of Brown Island, Harker's Island, and Roanoke Island.

"We think this survey will have a unique function, since it will provide up-to-date scientific data that has not previously been made available," Hicks commented in his announcement.
