Over 100 Arrests Today In Boston Busing Strife

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Police made over 100 arrests as U.S. Marshals backed by National Guard troops helped get the buses rolling today as a new and extensive busing program came to the nation's oldest public school system. Police riflemen were stationed on rooftops and U.S. marshals guarded bus routes as National Guard troops stood by to help implement the court-ordered desegregation program. At South Boston High School, police and state troopers lined the corridors and officers stood at the entrances to other schools as black pupils arrived in buses for the first day of classes under a new desegregation program.

National Guardsmen were standing by, and 100 U.S. marshals helped patrol school grounds. Police riflemen were stationed on rooftops at Charlestown High School, which is being integrated for the first time this year. A group of about 200 whites gathered on Bunker Hill Street and burned a human in effigy with a racial epithet printed on it while black children entered the high school one block away. Police said a 22-caliber bullet was fired through the side of a police van in Charlestown, but the officer driving the van was not injured. Police reported some 100 arrests, mostly for disorderly conduct. Many of those taken into custody were said to be members of the protesting Committee Against Racism. Police spokesman Steven Dunleavy said a group of 40 was arrested in South Boston before school opened this morning, and about 60 persons who gathered at the police station to protest the arrests were also taken into custody. Scattered arrests were also reported in Hyde Park, the South End near Roxbury and in other parts of South Boston.

Pres. Ford Adopts 45-Day Delay On Oil Price Decontrol

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today embraced a proposal to extend oil price controls for 45 days as Republican senators told him they can sustain his promised veto of a six-month extension. Ford and key aides met for nearly 90 minutes with nine GOP senators in a breakfast session, then immediately went into a conference with both Republican and Democratic congressional leaders in the hope of promoting an oil policy compromise. The two meetings today followed one Saturday at which seven Democratic senators agreed with Ford that the best course would be enactment of a measure to phase out price controls. GOP Sens. William V. Roth of Delaware and Lowell Weicker of Connecticut told reporters after the breakfast meeting that they were confident the Senate would vote Wednesday to uphold Ford's veto of the Democratic-sponsored six-month extension of controls. But they indicated a close vote. Roth, chief sponsor of a bill to pare the control extension to 45 days, said he thought foes of the six-month bill could produce the 34 votes to sustain the veto in the 100-member Senate. It had been assumed Ford would embrace the 45-day extension but the first formal word of that came from Roth after the breakfast meeting. The other 8 GOP senators who attended the meeting agreed to join him as co-sponsors of the measure, he said. "I think real progress is being made," Roth told reporters. He predicted a compromise agreement with congressional Democrats on a gradual phaseout of controls. Ford has indicated he wants all controls lifted within 39 months, but Weicker said, "I think he is flexible." Weicker said it was time for Congress to "talk turkey instead of playing politics," on the oil issue. The senator, who said he favored immediate decontrol, blamed "the inability of Congress to make decisions" for rising energy prices and higher unemployment. He said Congress must share responsibility with the price-hiking Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries. In Tehran, Iran, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi said today the OPEC nations will increase the price of crude oil this month. He said the price increase would be sufficient to give Iran oil revenues for 1975 of nearly $22 billion.

Teacher Strikes In Dozen States Extend Vacation

By NICK TATRO
Associated Press Writer
Teachers strikes in a dozen states extended summer holidays for nearly a million public school pupils today as a result of contract disputes involving pay, class size and job security. Meanwhile, New York City's 1.1 million school children began classes today while officials of the financially strapped city met with union leaders in an attempt to avert a strike by 65,000 teachers.

Here are the highlights of key disputes: NEW YORK: One-third of the state's public school districts were beginning the new year without contracts. Union officials cited salaries, class size and job security as the key issues. About 50,000 pupils were affected by scattered teachers strikes in New York last week. Many students attended classes taught by stand-in teachers and one dispute was settled Sunday. New York City's 980 schools opened as teachers and officials met around-the-clock session trying to draw up a new contract before the old one expires at midnight. ILLINOIS: Chicago teachers planned for a four day after their negotiating team turned down the school board's offer of a one-year contract extension on Sunday. The strike by 26,708 teachers began Wednesday and has prolonged summer vacation for some 529,000 pupils. PENNSYLVANIA: About 150,000 students are affected by strikes in 30 school systems. Most of the districts involved are "small and the issues are money, fringe benefits and class sizes. MONTANA: In Great Falls, Mont., hopes of settling the city's 2-week-old strike were crushed Sunday when talks broke off indefinitely. NEW JERSEY: Contract talks were underway to end a teachers strike in Secaucus and to avert a threatened one in Englewood. Walkouts continued in Hoboken, Boonton and Wa-naque.

duty at public schools in Wilmington, Del., for the first time since teachers went out on strike last Tuesday. About 800 teachers and teachers' aides vowed at a rally Sunday night to remain on strike despite a contempt-of-court and a $1,000-a-day fine. NEW JERSEY: Contract talks were underway to end a teachers strike in Secaucus and to avert a threatened one in Englewood. Walkouts continued in Hoboken, Boonton and Wa-naque.

Dunn Resigns

RALEIGH (AP)—State Bureau of Investigation Director Charles Dunn resigned his position today, reportedly to take a post in the upcoming gubernatorial campaign of Edward O'Herron. Dunn's acting replacement will be Haywood R. Starling, who now is deputy director of the bureau, where he has worked for 28 years. Dunn, a former newspaper reporter and aide to former Gov. Dan K. Moore, had served as SBI director since 1969. "God law enforcement and the name Charles Dunn are synonymous in North Carolina," Atty. Gen. Rufus Edmisten said in accepting Dunn's resignation today. Dunn reportedly will become campaign manager for O'Herron, a drug store chain owner from Charlotte.

Teacher strikes were scattered around the nation with 28,000 off the job in Illinois; 7,800 in Pennsylvania; 2,000 in Michigan; 900 in Wilmington, Del.; 2,200 in Rhode Island; 900 in Lynn, Mass.; 1,200 in New York State; 9,900 in New Jersey; 1,300 in Berkeley and San Jose, Calif.; 900 in Ohio; 600 in Tacoma, Wash.; 850 in Great Falls, Mont.

The strike began Aug. 25 when teachers took to the picket lines instead of reporting for a scheduled week of orientation. The union says 852 of its 890 member teachers have honored picket lines. DELAWARE: Police were on

Assassinated
BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Terrorist gunmen in a speeding car assassinated the inspector general of the Colombian army today, military authorities said. They said Gen. Ramon Arturo Rincon Quinones was sprayed with bullets as he was being driven to the Defense Ministry in a limousine. The general's chauffeur was seriously wounded. Rincon had conducted a strong campaign against leftist guerrillas.

Guards Riding Buses

By BILL HENDRICK
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Armed National Guard troops and police rode nearly empty school buses today as classes resumed in Jefferson County after four days of noisy and sometimes violent antibusing protests. Despite the guards, attendance was reported down sharply at several schools. Many buses carrying white children to schools in the southern part of the county were nearly empty. Buses bringing black children, however, were reported nearly full. Supt. Ernest C. Grayson said 95 buses did not make runs because drivers did not show up or else there wasn't sufficient gasoline to operate the vehicles, adding that this affected 16 per cent of the countywide fleet. Grayson said some service stations refused to sell gasoline to bus drivers. He added that there were reports that some drivers had been threatened. He added that normally a pool of 70 to 75 drivers would be in reserve but because of last-minute resignations and terminations, there were practically no additional people to turn to. U.S. District Court Judge James F. Gordon on Sunday ordered the police and Guardsmen to ride the buses following four days of violence in which an estimated 200 persons have been injured and about 500 arrested.

Dies In Collision

AYDEN—Three persons were injured — one fatally — when two cars collided in the Northbound lane of N.C. 11 about 1.6 miles South of here about 7:45 p.m. Sunday. Highway Patrolman Kenneth Ross said Ardel Jenkins of Route 1, Winnabow died about 8:30 p.m. in Pitt Memorial Hospital. Pitt County Coroner and Medicin Examiner E. W. Harvey said Jenkins died of internal injuries suffered in the crash. According to Trooper Ross, the Jenkins car was headed South on N.C. 11 when the vehicle went out of control, cross the median of the four-lane highway and collided with a Northbound car driven by Charles Williams Fussell of Ayden. Both Fussell and his father, William F. Fussell of Ayden — a passenger in the car — were injured, according to the Highway Patrolman. Damage was estimated at $850 to the Jenkins car and $750 to the Fussell auto.

Death By Beating

Junius Carroll Boyd, 21, of 306B Darden Dr. has been charged by Greenville Police with murder in connection with the beating death of a woman here early Sunday morning. Chief Glenn Cannon identified the dead woman as Novella Laughinghouse Wilson, 52, of 407 Cadillac St. In addition to the murder charge, Boyd has been charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill in connection with the beating of James Greene, 40, also of 407 Cadillac St. who was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment of severe head injuries. According to Cannon, Boyd allegedly beat the two—possibly with the heel of a heavy shoe—about the head, sometime before 1 a.m. He noted that Boyd, at 1:03 a.m., called the Greenville Rescue Squad to the scene to transport Greene and Mrs. Wilson to the hospital. Mrs. Wilson died shortly before 9 a.m. Pitt County Coroner and Medical Examiner E.W. Harvey said an autopsy is being performed on Mrs. Wilson's body at Chapel Hill to determine the exact cause of death. The beating incident occurred at 407 Cadillac St., Cannon noted.

Small Tremors Continue Panic East Turkey's Quake Survivors
By ISMAIL KOVACI
Associated Press Writer
LICE, Turkey (AP) — Small tremors continue to panic survivors of the earthquake that devastated a section of eastern Turkey two days ago. Officials say the quake killed more than 1,800 persons, and they fear the total will rise as they hear from isolated mountain villages. Necmettin Esenler, a municipal clerk who lost eight members of his family held out his bloody hands and tearfully said: "I dug out my two-year-old daughter Vedra from under a rock with these hands." Women in dusty black shawls chanted mourning songs alongside the rag-covered bodies of their children. The stench of death filled the air at Lice, capital of the province which suffered most from the quake at noon Saturday. The town of 8,000 was reduced to rubble. Officials said the burial grounds would not be large enough for the 840 persons believed to have died in Lice. At least 1,000 more died in surrounding villages, officials said. Some survivors wandered around in a daze, trying to find relatives and possessions. Others fought over tents, blankets and clothing being distributed by rescue workers. Military planes brought in 17 tons of food, blood, antibiotics and other relief supplies. Mobile hospitals and mobile kitchens were set up. About 2,000 troops worked alongside civilian rescue teams. Premier Suleyman Demirel toured the area and pledged: "No one will be left starving or homeless." The Turkish quake measured 6.8 on the Richter scale and struck along the Anatolian Fault, which runs in a crescent shape from Turkey's Aegean coast northeast along the Black Sea and then south into the eastern mountains. A quake along the fault in 1939 killed 30,000 people, and 2,964 died in a quake in 1966 at Varto, not far from Lice. At midday Sunday, a relatively strong earthquake rumbled through northwestern Yugoslavia, more than 1,000 miles from the Turkish quake site, causing minor damage but no casualties, authorities in Zagreb reported.

Postal Service Said Moving To 'Kokomo Plan'

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service is moving to impose a new mail-delivery system that is resented bitterly by the nation's 200,000 letter carriers, a union leader says. President James H. Rademacher of the National Association of Letter Carriers said he has been informed by Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar that the Postal Service will move to implement the controversial Kokomo Plan. Rademacher said Bailar told him that an announcement of the decision would be made at today's National Postal Forum in Washington. The Kokomo Plan, a computerized program designed to increase the efficiency of letter carriers, "amounts to a 20 per cent speedup," Rademacher said in an interview. Rademacher said Bailar told him that the Postal Service had decided to move from the testing stage to implementation. "Undoubtedly, the Postal Service wants to move on this nationwide," Rademacher said. When the Postal Service began testing the program, the letter carriers union voted to strike if the plan is implemented nationally, despite a federal law prohibiting postal workers from striking. However, a recently concluded labor agreement provided for binding arbitration before new work rules are put into practice. Rademacher said his union would not strike while the arbitration continues. Asked whether it would strike if the arbitration ruling goes against the union, Rademacher said, "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it." The Kokomo plan involves taking computerized measurements of the number of letters delivered, miles walked and other factors on each mailman's route. Then the routes are restructured so that each carrier would have to do equal amounts of work. The Postal Service tested the plan first in Kokomo, Ind., and then in Portland, Ore. Union members in both cities complained about the plan, known formally as the Letter Carrier Route Evaluation System. Rademacher said, "The plan is not working in Portland." He said that since the tests began at the Rose City Station in Portland half the carriers have asked for transfers to other stations.

Kansas City Chosen Republican Convention Site

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republicans will hold their 1976 presidential nominating convention in Kansas City, a mid-America locale contrasting with the Democrats' Manhattan meeting.

The final choice came down to Kansas City and Cleveland, both filling what party sources conceded was a desire to hold the convention in a Midwestern setting. Kansas City apparently won out because of insurmountable housing problems in Cleveland.

The Republican decision was made by the site committee late Sunday after 3½ hours of closed-door deliberation. Routine approval of the 7-0 vote was expected today from the Republican National Committee.

Still, some idea of the sacrifice Republicans were willing to make to get the right geographical setting is seen in the fact that some conventioners will be quartered as far away as Topeka, Kan., and St. Joseph, Mo., both about an hour's drive from the convention site.

Cleveland had offered to bring in cruise ships and temporary modular housing to provide enough hotel space but still would have required sending some delegates to Akron, Ohio.

Housing was an unusually difficult problem for the Republicans because they will have their largest convention next year, at last count more than 2,200 delegates and an equal number of alternates.

It will be the first nominating convention for Kansas City since 1928, when the Republicans nominated Herbert Hoover. The Republican convention is tentatively scheduled to start Aug. 16, the Democrats July 12 in New York. The party in the White House traditionally goes last.

Cleveland had the appeal of the largest city in the country with a Republican mayor, Ralph Perk, who led his city's delegation before the site committee.

But Missouri Gov. Christopher S. Bond, chairman of the Republican Governors' Association, appeared in support of Kansas City, promising adequate police protection during the convention. Mayor Pro Tem Richard Berkley led a 17-member Kansas City delegation to lobby the site committee.

The City Council has pledged $500,000 in services and facilities for the Kansas City convention, and Mayor Charles Wheeler, a Democrat, has offered to head a fund drive to raise another $300,000 from private sources.

Wheeler said the city's central location was the top factor in winning the convention. Wheeler said the convention will mean about $16 million to Kansas City — divided equally between outside money being spent and the more intangible national publicity the city will receive. The City Council approved a contract last week that would provide up to $500,000 in services and facilities although opponents argued that the cost would be more than $500,000 and would burden the city financially.

The city had trouble last year in finding money to assure police protection for the Democratic mid-term conference. Finally, the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration provided $60,000 for police overtime.

Urge Civilian Join Portugal Cabinet

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer
LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal's military president and premier-designate are pressing the country's leading civilian politicians to return to the cabinet following the removal from power of pro-Communist Gen. Vasco Goncalves.

to achieve an understanding with the masses."

Earlier the powerful security chief, Gen. Otelo Saraiva de Carvalho, warned that the military leaders would appeal directly to the people, over the heads of the politicians, unless the parties come to heel.

Goncalves and his cabinet resigned again early Sunday following his expulsion on Friday from the Revolutionary Council. The president's office announced that Costa Gomes accepted the resignations.

This left Portugal without a government, but that is nothing new. Since the Socialists precipitated the political crisis six weeks ago by quitting the cabinet, the civil service has been running the government while the military and political leaders maneuvered.

Costa Gomes, bowing to pressure from anti-Communist officers, fired Goncalves from the premiership on Aug. 29 but tried to appease the Communists by making him commander of the armed forces, a post the president had been filling.

Costa Gomes also asked Goncalves to stay on as acting premier until Adm. Pinheiro de Azevedo formed a new government.

The appointment of Goncalves to the top military post angered the officers who had forced him out of the premiership and crystallized the overwhelming anti-Communist sentiment among the army and air force officers who were responsible for the revolution in April 1974.

At a showdown meeting Friday night that may prove to be another turning point for Portugal, the anti-Communists excluded Goncalves from the Revolutionary Council. This automatically disqualified him from serving either as premier or commander of the armed forces.

Sources close to President Francisco de Costa Gomes and Vice Adm. Jose Pinheiro de Azevedo, the premier-designate, said they hoped to reach agreement with the Socialists, Popular Democrats and Communists by Tuesday.

But the Socialists and Popular Democrats, who together polled two-thirds of the vote in the April election of a constitutional assembly, were reportedly reluctant to join a cabinet containing the Communists.

On-The-Job Screening For Cancer Being Tried

By ROBERT H. REID
Associated Press Writer
KANNAPOLIS, N.C. (AP) — A cancer specialist believes on-the-job examinations may be the best method of insuring early detection.

"I think that most people who work an 8-hour day just don't have the time to sit in a doctor's office for several hours for cancer screening," said Dr. Siegfried Heyden. "We are a little bit better off by coming to the people rather than waiting for them in a specialized clinic."

Dr. Heyden, a staff physician at the Duke University Comprehensive Cancer Center, is conducting a month-long program to check some 1,100 workers at Cannon Mills for cancer, diabetes and other chronic ailments. The project is being financed primarily by the Cannon Foundation.

The center hopes the pilot screening program will someday make a cancer check at work as common as company-sponsored flu shots.

Heyden, who patterned the screening program after one he conducted two years ago in Switzerland.

The examination takes less than 10 minutes.

It includes checks for blood in the stool and bowels, a rectal examination for men and a pap smear and breast examination for women. The results do not necessarily point conclusively to cancer but they give clues that further tests should be administered, he said.

The medical team also presents a 40-minute lecture and a 20-minute question and answer session for groups of 50 employees.

"I believe this will encourage those people who are health conscious to go to their physicians on a regular basis and demand this type of screening," Heyden said.

"If a person has no pain and is feeling good, he does not think he can possibly have cancer. But this is not always the case."

Cancer strikes about one in every four Americans and kills more persons in this country each year than any ailment except heart disease. Doctors agree that many cancers can be cured if detected early.

After conducting a screening program at industries in the St. Gallen canton of Switzerland, Heyden returned to Duke University and developed a pilot testing project. A hospital in nearby Concord suggested he contact Cannon Mills to see if it would agree to serve as a test plant.

Management agreed to allow workers to attend the classes and examinations on company time. Each worker attended a one-week cancer familiarization class during the last week of August and testing began last Tuesday, he said.

So far no confirmed cases of cancer had been detected. But Heyden said enlarged but non-cancerous prostate glands had been found in several men and a large number of hypertension cases have been discovered.

May Pay Double For Education

LIMA (UPI) — Peruvian students who go abroad for college educations and graduate studies must pay double for their education unless they agree to return to their country.

Recent regulations require a student and his parents to swear that he will return to Peru. The promise must be given before the government will approve a student's purchase of foreign currency for study abroad. Failure to keep the promise is subject to a fine equal to the amount of foreign currency bought.

Six-Month Cultural Cruise Is Scheduled As Bicentennial Gift

By RUDY CERNKOVIC
PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Western Pennsylvania's Bicentennial gift to America will be a million-dollar cultural vessel that will take music, art, poetry, dance, theater, painting and crafts to 76 cities next spring.

Theodore Hazlett, president of the A.W. Mellon Educational and Charitable Trust, says, "The tour will bring enrichment to small towns that normally never would have access to any type of cultural enrichment."

"It is the most imaginative of the ideas that we have reviewed for celebrating the nation's Bicentennial," he said.

Robert Austin Boudreau, founder of the American Wind Symphony orchestra, has planned the program. A self-propelled vessel now under construction at Norfolk, Va., will begin its six-month voyage April 30, 1976 at Gulfport-Biloxi-Ocean Springs, Miss., and end in Brownsville, Tex.

The concept of the floating center for arts is a dream of Boudreau's that began eight years ago. In 1957 he founded his American Wind Symphony, a wind, brass and percussion ensemble, in Pittsburgh.

Music lovers along inland waterways of Pennsylvania, the West Virginia, Connecticut and New York applauded Boudreau's offerings.

Boudreau now will present his special brand of music to broad horizons. After the Bicentennial tour opens in Mississippi, the vessel will sail through eastern intracoastal waterways to Canada, then by the way of the Great Lakes to the Mississippi and throughout inland waterways before ending the tour at Brownsville.

The vessel, designed by the late Louis Kahn, a world renowned architect, will be 195 feet long, 35 feet wide and will contain a 200-seat theater and two art galleries. One gallery will display painting and sculpture and the other is for crafts.

At the time of his death in 1974, Kahn had been designing the John F. Kennedy Memorial to be constructed in Washington.

He also designed the Paul Mellon Center for British Studies at Yale and the Jonas Salk Institute, La Jolla, Calif.

During the 25,000-mile trip the orchestra will not appear in stadiums or symphony halls.

Instead, its space will be created by sky, land and water. The concerts will be highlighted by dance and fireworks displays, theater presentations and painting and sculpture exhibitions.

After the Biloxi opening, the floating center will head through Florida, Georgia, the Carolinas, Virginia, Maryland and Delaware. In May, the vessel will dock at Philadelphia for a special performance for the convention of the General

Federation of Women's Clubs. Then on to New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Then the floating center leaves the United States for a voyage to Canada where residents of Montreal, Kingston and Toronto will share the excitement of the Bicentennial of their North American neighbors.

Back to the United States for visits to Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana, West Virginia and on to Texas.

Hazlett spearheaded a drive for construction of the floating center by approaching Pittsburgh's major industries and foundations for contributions.

The vessel and the tour will be financed by a dozen of Pittsburgh business corporations. U.S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin Steel, Mellon Bank, Westinghouse Corporation, Rockwell International, PPG Industries, Alcoa, Sears Roebuck, Allegheny Ludlum, Koppers, Dravo, Pittsburgh National Bank, Mine Safety Appliance, Equitable Gas and Eastern Associated Coal Corp., have pledged more than $300,000 towards the cost.

Other contributions include $200,000 from the Laurel, Benedum, Richard King Mellon, Buhl, Heinz, Hillman, Scaife and A.W. Mellon Foundations. The Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania donated $150,000 and the Federal Bicentennial Commission contributed $45,000.

DAR Begins Bicentennial Year Programs

The Major Benjamin May Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will begin its observance of the Bicentennial of the country's birth with a program of interest to the local communities.

It will be given by Dr. Thomas A. Williams, a professor in the department of romance languages at ECU. The presentation is entitled "Tales Of The Tobacco Country" and consists of folklore, tall tales, true (or semi-true) adventures and happenings of eastern North Carolina.

The meeting will take place Saturday, Sept. 13 at 3 p.m. in the Chapter House, Farmville. Hostesses are Mrs. Milton D. Barnette, Mrs. W. Leroy Bass, Mrs. Lawrence Cutchin and Miss Tabitha M. DeVisconti.

All members are asked to attend and interested persons who believe themselves to be eligible for membership in the society are invited.

Cookbook Author Can Tell Area By Aroma

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

"I could close my eyes and walk around Jerusalem, and tell by the food smells what area I was in," says Joan Nathan.

People in the sacred city tend to live in enclaves and cook according to their national heritages, she added. Miss Nathan is an American who served for a time as foreign press attache to Jerusalem's Mayor Teddy Kollak.

In an interview, she said she could identify Moroccan neighborhoods by the scent of cumin, Rumanian, by the smell of onions, and Egyptian enclaves, by the pungent aroma of garlic. She said the sweet smells of baklava, kourumbiades and other confections permeated Greek homes, especially at Easter.

Miss Nathan, now married and living in Cambridge, Mass., was in New York City to promote "The Flavor of Jerusalem" (Little, Brown), a cookbook that she wrote with Judy Stacey Goldman.

The flavor in the title refers to both the food and the atmosphere of the city that is sacred to both Arabs and Jews. Jewish, Christian, Moslem and Armenian quarters are close together in the heart of the city. There are German and Greek neighborhoods, a Russian compound and an Italian synagogue, as well as Anglican and Assyrian churches and El Aksa Mosque.

Miss Nathan said the international population includes many Oriental Jews whose traditional foods resemble Arab dishes of the countries where they have lived. For example, medias (stuffed vegetables) are popular among Sephardic Jews of Middle Eastern heritage.

"There are certain recipes they don't want to change," she said, adding that the only difference between some Jewish and Arab cooking is the Jewish adherence to dietary laws that forbids mixing of meat and milk products. Middle Eastern Jews do not serve laban, or yogurt, with certain meat dishes in the Arab manner.

Church Regular Shows His Need

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who has got to be the world's biggest liar, cheat and hypocrite, yet who never misses a Sunday in church?

HATES HYPOCRITES

DEAR HATES: I can't think of a better place for him. A church is a hospital for sinners, not a museum for saints.

DEAR ABBY: I am one broken-hearted, 17-year-old girl. Bobby and I went together for three years and planned on getting married this Christmas when Bobby turns 18. (I am ashamed to admit it, but we had been having sex since I was 14.)

Well, last week, he slam tore my heart out when he told me that he'd been fooling around with a 15-year-old girl and got her pregnant. Now this girl's parents are on top of him to marry their daughter. They say he either has to marry her or go to jail.

Abby, please help me get my mind straight. I can't turn off my love for Bobby.

He says he will marry the girl to give her baby a name, and as soon as he can, he'll divorce her and marry me. He wants to keep on seeing me anyway because he says he still loves me, regardless. What should I do?

ALL TORN UP

DEAR TORN: If I were you, I'd forget him, dear. If Bobby could have been fooling around with another girl while planning to marry you, his "love" for you couldn't have been very sincere.

Don't see him again—ever. He spells trouble with a capital T.

DEAR ABBY: I surely do sympathize with "Smoked out," whose friend's smoking made him sick. I had the same problem with my dad.

He would always smoke cigars in the car. One time when I was about 7, he was smoking a cigar in the car, and I said, "Dad, your cigar is making me sick."

He replied, "No, it's not."

Then I said, "Yes, it is."

He repeated, "No, it's not."

Then I threw up in the car.

He hasn't smoked cigars in the car since.

Same Reasoning Applies Here

A merger of Raleigh and Wake County schools seems to be near final approval following 14 years of debate. It appears that only approval by the State Board of Education is needed to bring the merger about.

The Raleigh school board approved the merger last week after a long meeting and the county board followed after the federal courts refused to intervene. Finally the Wake County commissioners gave approval to the merger.

The pending merger in Wake County calls attention to the fact that sooner or later we here in Pitt County are going to have to give serious consideration to a merger.

Presently we operate the county schools under its board and the city schools under a city school board, with both units going to the county commissioners for funds.

As Greenville grows, the lines between the county and city systems become more confused. Even now there is a county school under construction on N.C. 11 north almost within sight of the Greenville city limits.

Many of the reasons for merger which have been advanced in Wake County would apply here: a more efficient system, higher quality of education and financial savings.

The opposition to a merger might be less here since the suburban areas of Raleigh were more developed than suburbs of Greenville are at present. Thus at this time there might not be a radical change in the make-up of the student bodies of Greenville and Pitt County schools if a merger occurred.

There was a time when the city high school was considered far superior to the small county high schools, but, with the four major high schools which have been built in the county, educational opportunities should now be about the same in the county as in Greenville. This, too, would make merger easier.

Merger of Greenville and Pitt County schools might not come tomorrow, but it is something that will be considered here. The Raleigh-Wake County merger points in this direction for us.

Kindergarten Proves Merit

By BILL NOBLITT
ROANOKE RAPIDS—How can you prove the soundness of the public school kindergarten program, now spreading across North Carolina?

State education officials tried by comparing test scores of students who had kindergarten with those who didn't. But that effort got so bogged down in a fuss over statistical methods and charges of sabotage and espionage that the point was missed.

The point is that kindergarten does increase the readiness of children to learn in school, and one way to see that without a statewide study is to visit Roanoke Rapids.

Eight years ago, while other school systems were still arguing, Roanoke Rapids went full speed ahead on a public school kindergarten program for all five-year-olds in town.

Prove Worth
 Standard test results have proved the worth of early childhood kindergarten, and the most recent round of testing produced some astounding results.

"But it is extremely difficult to be totally objective in measuring. It is hard to pin the advancements on any single thing such as kindergarten," says Robert C. Clary, associate superintendent of the Roanoke Rapids school system.

"We have improved instruction in reading, math, and through use of the learning disabilities resources center we have improved overall. All of these tend to work toward improving standardized test scores.

"And those scores are improving.

"But aside from that, there is subjective evidence which we find convincing," Clary says.

"There is teacher evidence—teachers indicate that kindergarten is a tremendous help to them in getting the learning started in first grade. Take a simple thing: the children already know how to tie their shoes or go to the bathroom, because they learned that in kindergarten.

8-month Lead
 "So, based on teacher evidence, kindergarten is improving our schools. Our teachers say they are ready to teach reading and mathematics to their first-graders a full eight months earlier than before kindergarten," Clary said.

That is almost a full school term of advancement for the state's first system to put in a fullscale kindergarten program.

Some critics argue that the program is not effective because some of the students are in split sessions—going half days to kindergarten class. Superintendent Joseph W. Talley rejects that: it is not the length of time, but the quality of instruction, he says.

Talley worked with a special committee of the local school board to install the pioneering kindergarten program eight years ago. The commitment was so strong that at first the board aimed at financing the program entirely locally.

"Then we decided that regardless of brightness, family income or any other consideration, if all of our children did not have kindergarten, they were educationally deprived.

"So, we put all of our federal funds for educationally deprived children into building the kindergarten program. Now that the state money is coming for kindergarten, we can use the other resources for something else," Talley said.

This fall's eighth-grade class in Roanoke Rapids is the product of public school kindergarten. In four more years, they will be graduating. "We are all satisfied that they will have a better education. But how do you prove it?" Talley wonders.

REMEMBER WHAT HAPPENED TO GULLIVER!

By ART BUCHWALD

Victory Gardens 1975

WASHINGTON—One of the results of high food prices is that people are starting to raise their own vegetables in their back yards. This is a good thing if you're trying to save money; it's a bad thing if you're invited over to the amateur farmer's house for dinner.

People who raise their own produce take great pride in what they have grown, and as a dinner guest you have to go to great lengths to show your appreciation for what they have raised.

The other night we were invited to the Styrons. Mr.

Styron had torn up his backyard to plant vegetables, he said, to beat the inflation.

After a few drinks we sat down at the table.

"Where's the eggplant?" Styron asked his wife.

"We haven't served the soup yet," Mrs. Styron said.

"Is there something special about the eggplant?" I asked.

"Nothing," said Styron, "except that I grew it myself."

"That's amazing," I said, not mentioning I hated eggplant.

"It's really nothing. All you need is the right soil and aluminum foil to keep off the cutworms and a lot of manure. Are you finished with your soup yet?" he asked impatiently.

"Almost," I said, lifting the bowl to my lips.

Mrs. Styron brought in a large baked sea bass. Styron rushed into the kitchen and came out with the eggplant. "Don't eat too much fish," he warned me. "You won't have room for the eggplant."

I took a small serving of fish and a large serving of eggplant.

"This bass is delicious," I said.

"What about the eggplant?" Styron demanded.

"It's excellent," I said. "Almost as good as you can get in a store."

"It's better than you can get in the store!" he shouted.

"That's what I meant," I said. "You really can't find good eggplant in a store any more. I guess that's because everybody is growing his own."

"Have some more," Styron said, holding out the serving bowl.

I took some more eggplant, though my eye was really on the bass dish.

"Now," said Styron, "I have a surprise for you." He rushed off into the kitchen.

"Whatever happens," said Mrs. Styron, "please don't laugh."

Styron came in with a large plate on which were four tiny garbled pieces of corn. "I picked them this afternoon," he said proudly. "I was afraid I wouldn't have any this year because of the blight, but damned if they didn't sprout up in spite of it. The corn is called Silver Queen."

"They're beautiful, Styron," I said. "It's a shame we have to eat them. You could have sold your whole crop to Russia."

"I wouldn't let the Russians have my corn," Styron said. "They wouldn't appreciate it. Don't worry about the kernels being uneven. That's the way they're supposed to look."

"If I eat the corn, can I

Other Editors Say Strike Subsidy

(Jacksonville Daily News)

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare finally is coming to grips with the issue of paying welfare benefits to strikers. Under a directive scheduled to take effect this month, aid to families with dependent children—the welfare category which now can cover striking workers—would be denied in any case where an idle worker is not also qualified to receive unemployment compensation.

This rule in effect would end the practice in many states of putting families on welfare when the breadwinner goes on strike. Only New York and Rhode Island currently provide unemployment benefits to strikers.

To no one's surprise, complaints are pouring in from labor unions. But the labor argument—that a wife and children are not to blame when a striker's pay is cut off—is a weak one. Welfare programs have a humanitarian purpose, to be sure. Yet the philosophy behind them, as generous as it has become in recent years, is not so broad as to make the public responsible for supporting the family of a person who has a job and is voluntarily choosing not to go to work.

We do not have to look far to see a more compelling reason for unions to resisting this welfare reform. The promise of welfare checks for a striker's family loads the dice in favor of unions in a labor-management dispute.

Strikes occur when both sides have weighed the economic consequences of a walkout. Union members have to decide whether the prospects of a better contract are worth a loss of income. Employers have to consider whether sticking by their contract offer is worth a threatened shutdown of production and loss of business. Bargaining in such an atmosphere becomes weighted in favor of the union if workers can turn to public welfare to ease the economic impact of a strike. That is hardly a situation leading to a fair settlement of a bargaining stalemate.

If the impact on strike settlements is obvious, the impact on public treasuries is harder to calculate because of the complexities of welfare financing. A study by the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance produced an estimate that a 71-day strike by the United Auto Workers against General Motors in 1970—shutting down 137 GM plants and idling 329,000 workers around the country—cost the American taxpayer $30 million in various welfare benefits paid to strikers. That was nothing but a $30 million public subsidy to the "war chest" of the UAW.

Legislators and welfare officials often find it difficult to assure that welfare programs are not abused by able-bodied people who are dodging their responsibility to try to find a job and hold it to support their families. The issue is quite clear when it comes to welfare benefits for workers whose idleness results from nothing more than a union's strike strategy. The taxpayer has no responsibility to make it easier for a striker to stay away from his job.

The INSIDE REPORT

Bonn Cautious On Detente

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
BONN—Skepticism over detente in the nation that has most to lose if it goes sour explains the confidential study just getting underway at highest levels here to analyze post-Helsinki Soviet policy.

One tentative conclusion: the 25th Communist party congress next February in Moscow will surpass everything to date in enshrining detente as the way of the future in hopes of seducing the West.

There is irony in the fact that the liberal Social Democratic (SPD) government of Chancellor Helmut Schmidt is now displaying private concerns about the course of East-West detente. It was Schmidt's predecessor, Willy Brandt, who singlemindedly pushed Bonn's far-reaching political changes with Moscow and Eastern Europe five years ago culminating in the Helsinki conference on European security.

But Schmidt, a muscular realist whose political problems stem as much from his own left wing as from the conservative Christian Democratic (CDU) opposition, is no Brandt. Indeed, despite Schmidt's genuine support for reciprocal detente, he is far more wary than Brandt (still very active as elected head of the SPD) over what he has termed the "psycho-political" aspects of detente.

Accordingly, under Schmidt there is no illusion but, rather, nervous questioning about the durability and direction of long-range American policy made by a divided Washington government. As one top policymaker here told us: "In the U.S., Europe seems farther and farther away and illusions grow easily."

The prospect of Moscow really allowing its Communist empire to melt in the afterglow of Helsinki is mocked by Schmidt's own advisers. An example given is Soviet foreign minister Andrei Gromyko's grim remark in 1973 that the indispensable "third basket" in the Helsinki agreement—exchange of ideas, cultures and persons between East and West—would assure major political relaxation.

Whoever thinks the "third basket" will be allowed to change internal conditions in Eastern Europe, Gromyko replied, "is a mastodon."

Along similar lines, Helmut Kohl, leader of the opposition CDU and hence chancellor-designate if his party wins next year's election, told us that if Helsinki damages the West, "it will damage us here in Germany more than anyone else."

Kohl said that the fiery attack on the Soviet Union by exiled Russian author Alexander Solzhenitsyn in Washington last June 30 "was passed around here from hand to hand." On a visit to East Germany two weeks ago, Kohl saw large, illudened slogans at the Dresden railroad station which symbolized what he called Moscow's "true approach" to detente. They read: "Steel production in England is the lowest since World War II," "Unemployment in Essen (center of West German industry) is the highest since World War II," "All cadets of the People's Army have passed their tests and are now lieutenants."

Sharp skepticism both within and without the Schmidt government by no means points to any schism with the Ford administration. Nor should it evoke the spectre of that favorite ogre of the Kremlin, German revanchism. To the contrary, with all its industrial miracles and its fulcrum position in Europe's heartland, West Germany is as inextricably tied to the U.S. as it was in the 1948 Berlin crisis. That fact is well understood by generals and politicians alike.

Moreover, the skepticism is somewhat mitigated by recent Washington decisions of a more timely nature.

The assignment of two American brigades to the German-manned sector of the central NATO front for the first time ever is viewed as a brilliant political-military move, at least offsetting NATO troop reductions of the Dutch, British and Belgians.

Likewise, the decision of Gen. Alexander Haig, the NATO commander, to conduct fully-integrated military maneuvers this fall—also for the first time—is seen as a display of allied power calculated to impress Moscow. When West Germany proposed full-scale maneuvers by an army corps near the Czech border shortly before Soviet troops seized Prague in August 1968, they were vetoed by NATO political headquarters as unduly provocative.

Approval of Haig's plan for highly-publicized maneuvers now is perceived as the proper response to widespread detente jitters.

Most important to the Germans is the absence this year of Congress's annual orgy on U.S. troop withdrawals from NATO, but most Schmidt advisers regard this blessing as strictly temporary.

The implications of detente dominate backroom con-

Strength For Today

TWO BESETTING SINS
 Two besetting sins, closely related today, tend to make a mockery of religion.

The first of these is idolatry. Moses and the prophets of Israel spent much of their time combating the tendency of the people to worship graven images. Today in the Western nations we have a new kind of idolatry which is just as destructive to spiritual life—the worship of money, pleasure, and power. People who devote their lives to the pursuit of these objects are as guilty of idolatry as the Israelites who worshipped Aaron's golden calf.

The related sin today is religiosity—going through the motions of worship and church membership without any commitment to a changed life. Those practicing religiosity recite creeds on Sunday and violate everything they stand for on Monday.

These sins are not monopolized by a few; unfortunately most of us share them to some degree. For the health of our spiritual lives it is vitally important to recognize them for what they are.

Housing Industry Trying Ideas

By JOHN CUNIFF
 AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—If you continue to have faith in our ability to innovate and work hard then you still might have confidence that our housing predicament will be resolved in the near future.

Right now it's a tight knot, and nobody seems to be able to untie it — not the government nor the builder nor the lender nor the potential home buyer.

Interest rates are high, so are land and labor and materials costs, and so of course are prices. Depending upon the estimate you use, the median price of the typical one-family house today ranges from $37,000 to $41,000.

When you consider that the median family income is less than $13,000 you realize immediately that hundreds of thousands of potential buyers are simply priced out of the market. Relatively few Americans can afford a new house.

Instead, they are forced to rent. But with interest rates to apartment house builders back up to 10 per cent, after decline during the spring and early summer, that type of construction is in the doldrums.

This, of course, is a terrible and complex situation that has vast consequences for the economy. It is fair to ask, in fact, how the economy can move ahead with housing and automotive industries depressed.

But it is at times such as these, judging by the past, that Americans demonstrate their ingenuity. Will the challenge be met? So far it hasn't been, but that doesn't mean efforts aren't being made.

Among the innovations: —The National Association of Home Builders now offers warranties on new homes, and the National Association of Realtors is developing a program for warranties on new and used homes.

Under the home builders' plan, called the Home Owners Warranty Program, registered builders can provide a 10-year protection package on new home construction.

—Lenders are attempting to develop more flexible mortgages. So far the biggest development has been the variable rate mortgage, which still hasn't obtained federal approval nor, in fact, the acceptance of the homebuying public.

Under a variable rate mortgage the financing cost to the buyer would rise or fall, depending upon economic conditions, rather than remaining the same for the entire 20- or 30-year life of the mortgage.

Few In Liberal Ranks

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
 Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP)—An opinion survey conducted for the State Board of Education contains some interesting information for 1976 gubernatorial aspirants.

The $17,000 survey was conducted by Walter De Vries, who handled the polling for Democratic candidate Hargrove Bowles in 1972. De Vries and his staff interviewed 700 North Carolinians, which experts say is about enough to produce a valid sample. Although the survey was primarily concerned with education, De Vries included a number of questions about political attitudes.

To begin with, he found that 53 per cent of the people perceive themselves as conservatives. Only 25 per cent said they were liberals. The rest were self-styled moderates or unsure.

That predominant conservative thinking is reflected elsewhere in the survey. The vast majority opposes busing; it thinks that discipline and violence in the schools are more important problems than curricular matters.

The typical respondent had an income in the $7,000-$10,000 range. He or she said that the economy and unemployment were the major problems facing the country. That might seem to offer fertile ground for a liberal candidate.

But when asked which programs on the state level needed more money, the respondents mentioned crime control programs most often. Liberal favorites like pollution control and welfare reform were on the bottom of the list.

But when asked if they would favor a 5 per cent tax hike to finance the new programs, two-thirds of the respondents said "no." While 69 per cent favored more money for crime control, only 33 per cent said they would be willing to pay higher taxes to provide it. Other state program categories suffered a similar loss of support when higher taxes were mentioned.

In another question, the respondents were confronted with a hypothetical situation in which it was necessary to raise taxes. Which taxes would they raise?

More people—29 per cent—mentioned the sales tax than any other tax. Raising the income tax was favored by 17 per cent and 11 per cent said they would not raise taxes in any conceivable situation.

Although many economists consider the sales tax a regressive levy that falls disproportionately on the poor, the people apparently feel otherwise. It is seen as a "fair tax that everyone pays," De Vries said.

The surveyors also asked which institutions inspired the greatest confidence. Most of the institutions listed were educational. But the governor's office and the General Assembly were also on the list. Neither fared very well.

An identical 30.9 per cent of the respondents placed great confidence in the legislative and executive branches. Institutions ranking higher included groups like the state teachers' organization.

All of this would be only academically interesting if polls had not become such a major factor in serious statewide campaigns. Similar surveys have been or will be done by the 1976 candidates. Bowles, in 1972, used to carry De Vries' latest results in his jacket pocket for easy reference. The polls will help shape the 1976 campaign and the succeeding four years in state government.

No longer is there much chance that an aspiring candidate will independently analyze the state's problems, come up

Bicentennial Trips Early

RALEIGH (AP)—Predictions that tourism would hit record levels in 1976 as tourists visit bicentennial attractions next year may have boosted record vacationing at North Carolina resorts this summer.

William Arnold, director of travel development for the N.C. Economic Division of Economic Development, says tourists trying to beat next year's crowds may be part of the reason figures based on tax records show that hotel and motel sales in the state went up 17 per cent in June and 16 per cent in July, compared with the previous year.

"It was a backlash from the two previous years when we had economic problems and a gas shortage. A lot of people sacrificed, or were afraid of venturing too far from home," Arnold said.

"People are beginning to find out that they can't do without their vacations," he said.

The summer vacation season is considered over after the Labor Day weekend. Arnold says figures through that time won't be available until about two weeks.

Vacationers traveled shorter distances and stayed at vacation spots longer, according to state officials and tourism industry spokesmen.

Kenneth Wayne Jackson, 24, of Winterville, was charged with damage to private property following an incident at Home Savings and Loan Co. at 543 Evans St. about 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Officers said Jackson allegedly broke an electrically operated gate to a parking lot at the loan company.

"If you want to. But don't forget there's a Swiss chard salad to come."

"Swiss chard?"

"Yup, they said I couldn't grow chard because my soil had too much acid in it, but I fooled them. The leaves are brown, but outside of that you would never know it wasn't real chard. I mixed it with my own home-grown tomatoes. So which do you want—fish or chard?"

"Chard, of course," I said.

Styron was in seventh heaven. "There is nothing in the world like growing your own vegetables and fruit."

"You also grow fruit?"

Styron disappeared into the kitchen and came out with a plate. "Well, what do you think?"

"You're growing green tennis balls," I said.

"No, stupid. It's watermelon. Rose wanted to serve hot apple pie and ice cream, but I said you could have that any time. How often do you get watermelon right out of the garden?"

"Miniature watermelon," my wife said. "Bill, you've started an agricultural revolution."

Styron smiled modestly. "The earth has been good to me."

A half-dozen traffic collisions investigated by police here yesterday resulted in an estimated $7,760 property damage and injured three people, officers reported.

Heaviest damage resulted from an 8:10 p.m. collision at the intersection of Golden Road and Cedar Lane involving a car driven by Rexford Eugene Piner Jr. of 1312 Sanata St. and four parked cars. Police identified the owners of the parked vehicles as Mary Bland Brewer of 103 Westwood Dr., David Lewis McGowan of 120 Osceola Dr. and Floye Smith Russell of 1605 East Wright Rd.

Pharmacy In Ayden Robbed

AYDEN—Local police and Pitt deputies are investigating an incident at Edwards Pharmacy, 215 S. Lee Street here, on Friday that resulted in the theft of over $800 in cash.

Police Chief Tommy Burney said that Mack Edwards, owner of the pharmacy, reported that a group of at least five persons entered the store just before closing time and, after splitting up and attracting the attention of the store clerks, someone apparently went behind the counter and took the day's receipts from a money bag.

Burney, who urged area merchants to be on the watch for groups using the same approach, said that a similar incident was reported in Wilson where several hundred dollars was taken from a drug store.

He noted two Grifton store managers reported that apparent theft attempts using the same group approach were recognized by their clerks but thwarted when the clerks remained by the cash registers.

Miss Nathan recalled a Fourth of July party to which she invited both Arab and Jewish friends.

"There were no problems whatsoever," she said. "You don't expect them to love one another. There's a war on. But they all love Jerusalem."

"In the fifth year of reunification, I went to an archaeology lecture. Jews, Christians and Arabs packed the hall."

The spirit of cooperation also extended to contributing recipes and anecdotes for the book.

The recipe for pita, a Middle Eastern flat bread, came from a Moslem Arab friend, who permitted the use of her photograph in the book, but not her name.

"One man I met was a rabbi who introduced me to Yemenite Jews. One Arab kept saying, 'my wife is a terrible cook. Go to my cousin instead.'"

The kinafah recipe came from an Arab woman who said she had not been making it because the pastry was too difficult.

After the Six-Day War, the woman started baking the cheese and nut-filled confection with frozen pastry from an Israeli supermarket.

Miss Nathan said contact between Arabs and Jews also includes steady traffic in agricultural products between Jordan and Jerusalem:

Police reported the Warren car collided with a utility pole resulting in an estimated $1,800 damage to the Warren car and $100 damage to the pole.

No charges were reported following investigation of a 2:50 p.m. mishap on Hooker Road, 50 feet North of the Pendleton Street intersection.

Investigators identified drivers involved as Marietta G. Keeping of 2709 Shawnee Dr., Elva Mills Hardee of Route 2, Ayden, and Bertha McCarter Murphy of Ayden.

Officers estimated damage at $200 to the Keeping and Hardee autos and $250 to the Murphy vehicle. Mrs. Hardee and Mrs.

Deborah Ann Lurawery of Jacksonville and David Macon Lancaster of Route 1, Vanceboro were identified as drivers of cars involved in an 8:55 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Cotanche and Eighth Streets.

Damage was estimated at $200 to the Lurawery car and $500 to the Lancaster auto by officers, who charged Miss Lurawery with failing to yield the right of way.

No charges were reported following investigation of a 9 p.m. collision at the intersection of Fifth and Tenth Streets in-

Prosecutors Find No Evidence Of Conspiracy To Assassinate

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The name of Charles Manson may dominate the case of Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, although prosecutors say they find no evidence of a conspiracy in the attempted assassination of President Ford.

Manson, convicted of murder in the deaths of nine persons, is reputed by some authorities to still have a strong influence over some of his communal "family," despite the fact he is in prison.

Among the most loyal is Miss Fromme, 27, charged with attempted murder of the President after pointing a loaded .45 caliber pistol at Ford from an arm's length away as the President shook hands with well-wishers near the State Capitol on Friday.

She once said of the Manson family: "They're my life."

FBI agents who interviewed Manson, 40, in his San Quentin jail cell over the weekend say he denied any role in a conspiracy to kill Ford but refused to answer specific questions.

U.S. Atty. Dwayne Keyes and Sacramento Police Chief William Kinney both said during the weekend they had no evidence of any Manson involvement. And Miss Fromme's roommate, Sandra Good, another loyal Manson follower, said Manson had nothing to do with the incident.

FBI spokesman Tom Griffin said Manson, 40, was interviewed at San Quentin Prison by two agents. "In one and a half hours we came up with absolutely nothing of any evidentiary value or any lead value either," he said. "We got no answers to specific questions as to the actual event or any conspiracy or plan."

In recent months, Miss Fromme and Miss Good have launched new efforts to promote Manson's philosophy. They visited newspaper offices and drafted "press releases" quoting Manson.

In July, they contacted an Associated Press reporter who had covered Manson's trial. Miss Fromme said in a statement joined by Miss Good: "If Nixon's reality wearing a new Ford face continues to run the country against the law, your homes will be bloodier than the Tate-LaBianca houses and My Lai put together."

Miss Fromme, being held under $1 million bail, has not entered a plea. Her arraignment was continued until Thursday.

Miss Good, 31, insisted at a Saturday news conference that Manson did not order Miss Fromme to kill Ford. "Squeaky acted totally of her own volition," she said. "Manson didn't order her to do this. Squeaky is acting on the will of many people."

Stephen Kay, one of Manson's prosecutors, had said Friday: "The Manson girls just don't act on their own. They act at the behest of Charles Manson. I think Charles Manson had a hand in it."

Commenting Sunday on the case, Pope Paul VI warned that declining spiritual values endanger modern life and said he was amazed and grieved at what he called the "homicidal attempt" on Ford's life.

In Moscow, the Soviet press said it was a symptom of "the cult of violence" in the United States. "It looks like attempted murders are becoming a permanent fixture of large political campaigns in the U.S.A.," said Komsomolskaya Pravda, organ of the Communist youth movement.

Predecessor Warns Women Of 'Suffering' After Ordination

By MARGARET SCHERF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Four women who defied their church's hierarchy to take vows as Episcopal priests have been warned by one who preceded them: "You will suffer and you will hurt."

But, added the Rev. Alison Cheek Sunday in an ordination ceremony not recognized as valid by the bishop of Washington: "You will have joy and you will have peace."

The ordination ceremony at the Church of St. Stephen and the Incarnation attended by some 1,000 persons also was marked by protest.

The Rt. Rev. William Creighton, bishop of Washington, had issued a pastoral letter read to Episcopal congregations Sunday asking them to boycott the ceremony.

He also asked that the ordained women not be allowed to function as priests in churches of the Washington area.

And at a time in the ceremony allotted for voicing objections, two men came to the front of the church to do so. Speaking of resigned Bishop George Barrett of Rochester, N.Y., who performed the ordinations, Dr. Emile Oberholzer asserted: "This bishop is without jurisdiction over the candidates."

He added: "These ordinations will compound the difficulty of opening ordinations to women and will endanger the unity of this branch of Christ's church."

In a brief response, Bishop Barrett said those participating in the ceremony "do not take the order of the church lightly, but there are times when overriding considerations must supplant canons and rules."

Then he addressed the four women: "My sisters, do you believe that you are truly called by God and His church to this priesthood?"

"I believe I am so called," they answered in unison.

About 50 priests, more than half of them in clerical garb, joined in the traditional laying on of hands that marks initiation into the priesthood.

They included the Rev. Cheek, who was one of 11 women ordained July 29, 1974, in a Philadelphia ceremony later ruled invalid, the Rev. William A. Wendt of St. Stephen and the Incarnation Church and the Rev. L. Peter Beebe of Oberlin, Ohio.

The Rev. Mr. Wendt and the Rev. Mr. Beebe have been brought to trial in church courts for permitting women ordained in Philadelphia to function as priests. Guilty verdicts in both cases are under appeal.

The church's House of Bishops has twice voted approval of the principle of women priests but has said the ordinations should not proceed until the General Convention has a chance to act on the question at its next meeting in September, 1976.

The four women ordained Sunday, all of whom were deacons, are the Rev. Alison Palmer, who also is director of the Office of International Labor Affairs for the State Department; the Rev. Lee McGee, a chaplain at American University in Washington; the Rev. Dr. Betty Rosenberg of Arlington, Va., a pastoral counselor; and the Rev. Diane Tickell of Anchorage, Alaska.

An instrument made by a master guitar maker in Spain may include 12,000 hand-carved pieces.

Urge Shooting U.S. Observers

By The Associated Press
The Palestine Liberation Organization has called on Arab nationalists to shoot American technicians who may be stationed in the Sinai Desert under the Israeli-Egyptian pact.

"The Palestinian revolution... regards the U.S. military presence in Sinai as an enemy target that should be shot by every struggler and every nationalist in our Arab nation," the PLO newspaper Al Thawra said in Beirut on Sunday.

The newspaper called the proposed presence of the American civilian technicians at warning stations in the Gidi and Mitla passes "dual occupation" of Egyptian land by the United States and Israel.

"We are confident the first shot will be fired by an Egyptian soldier, because the Egyptians are known for their nationalism and will never allow an imperialist American flag to flutter over any spot of Arab territory," Al Thawra wrote.

Palestinian guerrillas are unlikely to constitute any threat to the Americans since they probably cannot get to the Sinai from their bases in Lebanon and Syria. Nor are any Egyptian soldiers likely to attack the Americans. But such talk from the PLO could make it harder for Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to get the necessary approval from the U.S. Congress of the new American role.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin in an interview Sunday on the ABC program "Issues and Answers" said without the American presence, "it is doubtful if the present terms of this agreement can be maintained."

But PLO chief Yasir Arafat in interviews with Time, Newsweek and the CBS program "Face the Nation" said the "United States is paying too much for too little;" the Palestinians "can stop most of the consequences of the new agreement," and the Palestinians "are looking for more escalation; we expect continual support of our cause from the Soviet Union."

Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon told U.S. News & World Report that Americans "should be pleased with the fact that, after many years of Soviet progress in the area, the U.S. is again becoming the major power in the Mediterranean and the Middle East."

Meanwhile, a new outbreak of another religious war, between Christians and Moslems in northern Lebanon, took 15 lives Sunday. Unconfirmed rumors that armed Christians had abducted and murdered 25 Moslems in Tripoli brought armed bands into the streets of that city, Lebanon's second largest.

The army took to the streets to restore order, and officials said three persons were killed and 11 were wounded. Then at dusk an armed group ambushed a civilian bus and opened up with machine guns, killing 12 persons and wounding at least 25.

Fall Webworms Hit Pitt Pecan Trees

By EDWIN L. YANCEY
Fall webworms are eating the leaves of pecan trees in Pitt County. The small caterpillar's webs can be spotted throughout the county. Many of these trees have already been stripped of foliage.

Growers who have spray equipment adequate to reach high into the trees can control the insects by using Carbaryl (Sevin) insecticide. Where several trees are grouped, airplane spraying may be practical.

According to Dr. J.R. Baker, Extension Entomologist, the webworm will not actually harm the tree, even if it is completely defoliated. This year's pecan crop should not be severely damaged because the nuts have already filled out. Next year's crop may be reduced by the infestation. It is not expected, however, that the reduction will be great if the trees were healthy before the attack.

Several persons whose homes are near infested pecan trees have reported that the caterpillars are getting into the house, falling on porches, and becoming a general nuisance. Dr. Baker recommends spraying outside walls with diazinon insecticide.

Most observers feel that this is the worse attack of fall webworms on pecan trees in this area in many years. Dr. Baker commented that from Raleigh west, however, they have fewer of the insects than usual.

Charitable Group Holds Homecoming

FARMVILLE—The H.B. Sugg Charitable Organization of Farmville held its annual Homecoming festivities Labor Day weekend.

Members and friends from New York, Connecticut, Maryland (Baltimore), Washington, D.C., Boston, Mass., and other cities were present.

The organization which was established in 1963, have held its annual Homecoming celebrations in Farmville since 1970. The highlights of this year's events was a picnic at a camping site near Farmville.

Approximately 300 people attended this event.

Saturday night the group held its annual cabaret at the Farmville Armory. There were approximately 500 members and friends present.

Sunday at 3 p.m., the group was invited to attend a special program at Saint John Free Will Baptist Church. The speaker for that occasion was L.H. Mosley, a former teacher of H.B. Sugg High School, and currently the principal at Gumberry High School in Gumberry.

The H.B. Sugg Charitable Organization sponsors activities in various cities yearly. The funds from these activities are used to support churches, recreation programs, special events given by the local communities and any charitable programs that is approved by the executive committee.

The organization has chapters in New York, Connecticut, Boston, Washington D.C., and Baltimore, Maryland.

The national officers for the organization are as follows: Cleveland Vines, Chairman; Willie Whitfield, President; James W. Taylor, Vice President; Deseree McLawhorn, Secretary; Rudy Cobb, Treasurer; L.C. Gorham, Financial Secretary; Dorothy Hinton, Chairman; and Mr. & Mrs. John L. Burge, Advisors.

Farm Scene

By KENNETH R. BATEMAN
Assistant Agricultural Extension Agent

Operation R-6-P is the name of a campaign designed to reduce six pests of tobacco, including three diseases (mosaic, root-knot and brown spot) and three insect pests (hornworms, budworms and flea beetles.) The goal for Pitt County is early, total, and complete participation in the R-6-P Program. This means that each grower needs to carry out an early and complete R-6-P Program on his own farm and then encourage his neighbors to follow through with the same program.

Each grower that carries out Operation R-6-P can expect higher net income from future crops by reducing pest damage. However, he may gain even more if all growers within his community follow the same practice. Many disease and insect pests don't stay put but move around from field to field. Losses from six pests have been reduced by grower participation in the R-6-P Program and use of other control methods.

The importance of the whole community "ganging up" on the six most destructive pests of tobacco is illustrated in the following example. One field left within a community with stalks standing can provide a place where certain disease and insect pests can build up and prepare themselves for the winter months—ready to attack the new crop. These pests not only damage crops on the farm where stalks are left standing, but they move to other fields within the community.

The four steps in the R-6-P Program are:

1. Cut or shred tobacco stalks.
2. Turn out stubbles so wind and sun can dry them.
3. Disk all of the crop beneath the soil 2 weeks after plowing out roots. (A second disking may be necessary to complete this job.)
4. Seed winter cover crop of wheat, oats, or barley. Some growers may be able to do the job with fewer steps.

Woody's Ramblin's

BY WOODY PEELE

"We missed a hell of a chance to beat N.C. State," Coach Pat Dye lamented Sunday afternoon after watching some of the game films on Saturday night's 26-3 loss to the Wolfpack.

"We made a lot of mistakes—got some silly penalties, and you have to give State some credit. But you've got to make a first down on fourth and six inches too.

"We have some areas we need to improve and we will. And offense didn't grade out well, especially the line—and again, it's not all their fault. Our offense is predicated on what their defense does, and we didn't adjust well to their defense."

Dye praised the running of Kenny Strayhorn and Willie Hawkins, however. "I think Mike Weaver was rushing himself a little on the passing downs," Dye said. He added that the starting quarterback role for Saturday's game with Appalachian State is up in the air between Weaver and Jimmy Southernland.

The coach appeared to be quite pleased with the defensive effort he got out of his young team. "The secondary played one of its best games," he said. The secondary intercepted three of All-America candidate Dave Buckley's passes, and had the chance at several others.

"Harold Randolph did what I expected of him. We have an awful lot of speed and ability on the defense, and I expect it to get better." Randolph led the defense with 21 tackles.

Dye felt that State did a good job defensively, and that they had done a fine scouting job on the Pirates. "You'd think they had someone down to watch our practices," he joked.

The Bucs came through the game in good health, despite a few bruises and bumps. Everyone is expected to be ready to play against Appalachian, including Rickey Bennett, who is expected to get the go-ahead to work this week.

Dye also said that he wasn't too concerned with the punting game. "We didn't want to return the ball on us and they didn't. It may not look as good to kick 30 yards and not get a return, but sometimes a 45-yard kick will get a 20-yard run-back, and you've actually lost ground."

What did disturb Dye was that his offense wasn't able to move the ball off the goal line to give the punter any room to work.

"Our blocking breakdown hurt our middle game," Dye said. "We plan to get back to some fundamentals this week, and then to get the ball to Strayhorn and Hawkins more."

The Bucs this week will also work on their defensive kicking game, including the punt rush. "They (ASU) have the number one punter in the country, and we've got to try and get to him."

"Appalachian also has two great linebackers, and an outstanding quarterback in Robbie Price. They have good running backs, and (end) Devon Ford is a threat when ever he's on the field. Their offensive line is bigger than State's, and I expect them to be just as physical both offensively and defensively as State was."

The offense must improve, however, during this short week, if the Bucs are to get off on the right foot in the Southern Conference race. A victory over Appalachian would go a long way toward the return of the title to Greenville.

Hansen Takes Trans-Am Race

BRAINERD, Minn. (AP)—Jerry Hansen of Wayzata, Minn., captured the 33-lap Trans-Am feature Sunday at the Land-O-Lakes Region Sports Club of America races at Brainerd International Speedway.

Vince Muzzin of Northville, Mich., collected the $4,100 first place check in the 15-lap Formula Ford race while Bill Brack of Toronto topped the 30-lap victory in Formula Atlantic Formula B competition.

Hansen drove his Corvette an average 99.143 miles per hour. He battled with Bob Tullius of Herndon, Va., until Tullius went out with a broken axle on the 12th lap.

Muzzin drove his Lola T-340 an average 99.65 m.p.h. on the three mile track. Brack slipped past Bobby Rahal of Belleville, Ill., at an average speed of 113.45.

ECU Trying Regroup Next Saturday

By The Associated Press
East Carolina's Pirates, slim choices of the league's coaches to win their third Southern Conference football title in four years, will try to regroup Saturday night against Appalachian State, the team that started their downhill slide in the circuit last year. The Pirates were 26-3 victims last Saturday night of 13th ranked North Carolina

State in one of two season openers that matched Southern Conference teams against Atlantic Coast Conference foes. In the other, William and Mary's Indians suffered a complete breakdown in their kicking game and were trounced 337 by North Carolina's Tar Heels. But the Indians have a week off to try to correct their mistakes, whereas the Pirates will have to accomplish it this week.

Four league teams besides Appalachian will be making their first start this weekend. Virginia Military's defending champion Keydets are at home against Delaware and Richmond's Spiders go to Cincinnati in afternoon action. The Citadel's Bulldogs entertain Presbyterian and Furman's Paladins play host to Tennessee Tech in night games.

East Carolina drove to the N. C. State 30 the first time it had the ball but missed a first down by inches and State took a 10-0 lead on a drive and a fumble recovery.

Alabama Begins Quest For New Nat'l Crown Against Mo. Tonight

By HERSCHEL NISSENON
AP Sports Writer
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Bear Bryant's 18th Alabama team begins another quest for college football's national championship tonight with players and coach alike tempering their initial optimism with some second thoughts.

"When they reported back for practice, that's all they talked about," says Bryant, whose 242 victories in 30 years at Maryland, Kentucky, Texas A&M and Alabama are third on the all-time list and who sends the second-ranked Crimson Tide against Missouri tonight before an expected crowd of 65,000 plus a national television audience (ABC, 9 p.m., EDT).

"But there hasn't been much talk of a national championship in the past few weeks because they've looked so bad in practice. You always have a lot of 400 hitters in February. Back in the spring, I thought we'd have a shot at it, but I'm not so sure now."

But this is a regular-season game and Bryant hardly ever loses one of those—22 in a row and 43 of the last 44. Bowl games, of course, are a different story and the Bear's recent record of post-season self-destruction stands at 0-7-1.

"I forget about those games as soon as I can," he says, "but the kids still get a lot of lip music about it. They seem more determined and they did a lot of conditioning work this summer on their own. Some guys came back 20-25 pounds lighter."

Like all card-carrying members of the coaching profession, the Bear is running scared and he might have some justifiable cause since Missouri finished 7-4 last season and tied for second in the powerful Big Eight Conference.

"Missouri scares me to death," Bryant says. "They have that 230-pound tailback Tony Galbreath, who can fly, and they have one of the finest passers in the nation in Steve Pisarkiewicz. I'm sure they will test our inexperienced secondary.

"Coach Al Onofrio has always had great defensive teams. Our offense has been so inconsistent they may man-handle us like they did that year (1968 in the Gator Bowl when Missouri won 35-10). Darn right I'm worried. This is one of the toughest opening games we've ever faced."

Players Trying To Sell Tickets

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Some Shreveport Steamers players are manning phone booths trying to sell tickets—the plasma that will keep their struggling World Football League team alive.

Steamer officials have launched Operation Full House and started cutting corners to try to fend off the financial collapse of a franchise that based its future on the hope 20,000 fans would turn out for each game.

The team, 2-4, has managed that attendance figure only once in five home games this season. And players and coaches, fighting to save their jobs, have even climbed into ticket booths trying to hustle the commodity few seem willing to buy.

The players know what happened to the Chicago Winds. The team folded recently because it couldn't pay its bills under the WFL's new financial system.

But Coach Marshal Taylor, who recently assumed general manager's duties in a front office reshuffle, said that's not about to happen with the Steamer.

"We're in good shape and not in any way close to closing," he said. "We're strong financially, and the men who are backing us could go out and raise another $500,000 if they had to do it." Taylor denied reports that some players have been paid less than the league minimum of $500 a week.

He said the team has reserves that would allow it to meet payroll and creditors, but he's asking 21 players who signed contracts for fixed sums to accept percentages of the gate instead.

"That way, we could pay bills and not worry," he said. "But we don't have to live on the gate now. We have our reserves, but on down the road..."

He said all but six of the 21 players on fixed contracts agreed to renegotiate.

Defensive tackle Ron Rydalk refused to go along and walked out saying he couldn't accept the cut. Fullback Jim Nance says he'll stick around awhile but adds, "I'm

The Citadel To Open Saturday

CHARLESTON (AP)—The Citadel play its first football game of the season next Saturday, but without tight end Dickie Regan, who had started 18 straight games for the Bulldogs.

Coach Bobby Ross said Regan bruised a kidney in a scrimmage last weekend and tests indicate the injury has not healed sufficiently for him to play against Presbyterian.

"We hate to lose Dickie for Presbyterian," said Ross. "He's proven to be one of our better players. We just hope, now, he'll be ready for our second game. Tight end is a position we don't have depth at. We'll make the best of what we have."

Regan, a 6-4, 215-pound junior, was the leading pass receiver among tight ends in the Southern Conference last season, catching 21 passes.

Ross said John Bradford, a junior, will be the probable starter against PC. The game will be played at The Citadel.

Rites With For A Speedskater

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Funeral services are to be at 10 a.m. Tuesday for Lamar Ottsen, an internationally known speed skating figure and chairman of the U. S. Olympic Committee's speed skating committee.

Ottsen, 62, died of an apparent heart attack at O'Hare International Airport in Chicago, where he had been to make arrangements for American skaters at the 1976 Winter Olympics in Innsbruck.

Ottsen, a coach or official for the U. S. team in each Olympic since 1952, was elected to the National Speed Skating Hall of Fame in 1970.

Cincinnati Clinches The Flag

Veteran Players Back On Rose Tennis Team

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Rose High School's girls' tennis team expects a much more attractive record this fall with the return of six of the top eight players from last year.

Second year Coach Gwen Waller feels that it is quite possible that the Lady Rampants could come away with a winning record, and she is hoping that last year's 4-9 record can be reversed.

"I'm not sure how we'll do in the conference. We have one new team in Northeastern, and I don't know what they'll have as yet. Wilson, of course, will be the team to beat, as in the past."

Miss Waller has had her veteran players working a lot during the summer, giving her the basic six, but some of them are getting pressure from the four newcomers on the team.

Only one of the girls who participated in the singles event was lost through graduation, giving plenty of experience in the singles. Returning are three seniors, along with three juniors. Joining them are two other juniors and two sophomores.

Marty East returns as the number one singles player, and has held onto the spot through the early challenge matches. Serena Matney has captured the number two spot, while Kitsy Bailey is number three.

Sheri Augspurger is at number four, while sophomore Karen Jeffries has moved into the starting lineup in the fifth position. Peggy Barber is now sixth.

Jill Carney, who had the number three position last year, has been knocked down the ladder to number seven, but vows to get back into the elite six shortly. Others, in order, include Cindy Talbert, Sally Augspurger and Kathy Murphy.

The top six above are expected to get the starting call in the opening match tomorrow as Rose entertains Kinston. All matches will be played at 3 p.m. at Jaycee Park.

Miss Waller is not sure what her lineup for doubles will be at this time. "We'll be doing a lot of switching around here," she said. "A lot will depend on how the singles come out."

The two top doubles players back are Misses East and Matney who played together last year, but will probably be split up this year.

"We have more depth than last year, and we seem to be a lot stronger," Miss Waller added.

"But it will be hard to say how we'll do in the conference and in the sectionals. This year, we can take six instead of four to the sectionals, and we may end up with three doubles teams there, and that should give us a good chance to send some folks to the state meet."

Miss Waller has to take on a lot of the out-of-school work on the team herself. During the summer she works with those returning. "Actually Sally and Cindy played exhibition for us last year, but I told them that they would have to try out again."

We don't have a feeder school to send us players, so much of the early learning has to come from the recreation department program or the tennis club work." To held out here, Miss Waller aids in tennis instructions during the summer with the Greenville Recreation Department.

"I definitely think that we'll be an improved team this year," she concluded. "Just what our record will be depends on a lot of factors. But I think it will be a winning one."

Orantes Upset Jimmy Connors

By KAROL STONGER
AP Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—The usually staid center court at the West Side Tennis Club took on the atmosphere of a bull ring.

Manuel Orantes, the 26-year-old left-hander from Barcelona, was the master, making defending champion Jimmy Connors see red in the ring.

"Vamos, maestro," hundreds of Spanish-speaking fans shouted. "Manuel, Manuel, Manuel. Orantes, Orantes, Orantes. Ole, ole, ole."

The cheers rang true.

Orantes taunted Connors by playing to his two-fisted backhand, kept him at bay on the baseline, then brought him in with drop shots and set him up for the kill.

The 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 victory in the U.S. Open Championships Sunday ended Connors' chances of retaining the title and reigning with his former fiancée, Chris Evert, who won the women's crown on Saturday.

Orantes' victory came less than 18 hours after his "miracle match" with Guillermo Vilas of Argentina. In that under-the-lights semifinal, the third-seeded Orantes came from far behind and beat the second-seeded Vilas 4-6, 1-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-4.

"I was so excited," Orantes said Sunday of his comeback from death's door against Vilas. He felt that momentum carried him through Sunday's final.

In his first official act as champion, Orantes rushed to his wife, Virginia, and smothered her with kisses.

"She was more excited than I," he said. "She always stays calm, but after last night she was more tired than I."

The 23-year-old Connors advanced to the final Saturday afternoon with a 7-5, 7-5, 7-5 triumph over Sweden's Bjorn Borg, the No. 5 seed, breaking him in the 12th game of each set.

He then sat on the sidelines and cheered Chris to her 5-7, 6-4, 6-2 triumph over Evonne Goolagong of Australia.

The Evert-Goolagong was a baseline duel that gave Chris her first U.S. Open crown, her 84th straight match on clay and her 18th tournament triumph on the surface without a loss.

Miss Evert, at 20, now has won every major title except the Australian Open, which she says she probably will never win because she doesn't want to travel down Under during the Christmas holidays.

Miss Evert's victory was worth $25,000. She received another $900 as a semifinalist in the women's doubles. Not counting accessories and endorsements, she has banked a record $280,927 so far this year.

Miss Goolagong, now a three-time runner-up at Forest Hills, earned $12,000, increasing her 1975 earnings to $109,109.

Tom Watkins Joins Ranks Of 'Greats'

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Tom Watson, an intelligent and usually highly articulate young man, seemed almost at a loss for words.

"It's a great feeling to have," he said, then paused. "It's very hard to put into words, to describe just what it means."

"I can tell you this. It means a very good deal, it gives you a very good feeling inside, to know that you've won when you're facing players the caliber of Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Lou Graham."

Of those major-title holders, only Nicklaus was a threat to Watson in Sunday's final round of the World Series of Golf and his bid fizzled and failed in a series of frustrations that had the usually self-contained Nicklaus, scowling, muttering and, at least once, angrily tossing his club.

Watson, one of the game's brightest young stars, held him off with a solid, last-round 71 and won by two strokes in the last World Series to be played under its exclusive, four-man format.

"I think the change will be good," the red-haired, 25-year-old Watson said. "It's great to have just the four winners of the major titles, but I think it will be even better to have the others in the tournament, the foreign players, the amateur champions, the point leaders, the double winners."

The tournament which, for the last 14 years, brought together only the holders of the major titles, will expand its format to include some 28-30 players next season. Watson, as the defending World Series of Golf champion, is the first qualifier.

He won this one by a relatively comfortable two strokes with a 140 total, matching par on the tough, 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club course.

Nicklaus, the Masters and PGA title-holder and a heavy pretournament favorite, biered the last two holes for a 70 and was second at 142.

Weiskopf, the Canadian national champion, and Graham, the U.S. Open king, never really got in the chase for the $50,000 first prize. Weiskopf had a closing 70 and a 145 total. Graham was 71-147. Nicklaus, who now has won this title four times and been second in six others, collected $15,000. Weiskopf won $7,500 and Graham got $5,000.

Chalking up another victory en route to the National League's West Division title was a breeze. The tough part was sitting in the locker room, waiting for the telephone to ring.

And when it finally did, the flag officially belonged to the Cincinnati Reds.

They'd clinched a tie for the crown Sunday with an 8-4 victory over San Francisco, a romp powered by George Foster's four runs batted in.

An hour or so later, the tie was broken. The phone rang and the word came though that Atlanta had beaten second place Los Angeles 5-4.

In the rest of the National League, Pittsburgh remained 5½ games on top in the East by shutting out Montreal 6-0, St. Louis belted New York 12-4, Chicago beat Philadelphia 6-4 and Houston defeated San Diego 3-2.

"We want Pittsburgh," the Reds' Johnny Bench shouted when word of the title clinching came through...and the chant spread throughout the clubhouse as quickly as the champagne-and-beer shower. "We're number one! Beat the East!"

Manager Sparky Anderson was less than his usually placid self, congratulating the men who have given him his third division title in the past four years. "Nice going, everybody," he shouted...then he shouted even louder when he caught a blast of the bubbly. "Yow, that stuff is cold!"

Braves 5, Dodgers 4

Marty Perez' two-out tie-breaking single in the ninth inning gave the Braves their victory and officially made Los Angeles an also-ran.

"It has to be our biggest disappointment, coming off last year," said the Dodgers' Steve Yeager, reflecting on the 1974 team that made it into the World Series against Oakland.

Pirates 6, Expos 0

First-inning homers by Al Oliver and Dave Parker and Jerry Reuss' four-hit pitching carried Pittsburgh past the Expos. Art Howe added a three-run double in the eighth to wipe out the slightly bitter taste of hitting into a triple play.

In the fourth, Parker doubled and Richie Zisk walked. Shortstop Tim Foli snared Howe's looper to left with an over-the-shoulder catch, then wheeled and fired to second baseman Pete Mackanin to double off Parker for the second out. Mackanin whipped the ball to first baseman Jose Morales to nab Zisk, completing the triple-killing.

Cards 12, Mets 4

Ted Simmons drove in four runs with three singles and Mike Tyson added a three-run homer in the victory that kept the second-place Cardinals within striking distance of Pittsburgh and dropped the fourth-place Mets 7½ games off the pace.

Cubs 6, Phils 4

The Phils fell seven games back as Chicago scored six runs in the sixth inning, five unearned on four Philadelphia errors.

Astros 3, Padres 2

Danny Frisella uncorked a bases-loaded wild pitch in the bottom of the ninth inning to give the Astros their victory over the Padres.

Modest Catfish Wins 20th Game For The Fifth Straight Year

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Catfish Hunter, chivalrous and humble, said he owes it all to his supporting cast. It's hard to believe that Hunter, either the fisherman or the pitcher, has ever cast a longer line or told a taller tale.

Hunter, the most consistent pitcher in baseball in the 1970s, Sunday joined a couple of immortals from yesteryear by winning his 20th game for the fifth straight year. Only Hall of Famers Walter Johnson and Lefty Grove had drawn five a kind in the American League before.

"It feels great, but I owe it to the teams behind me," said Hunter, who turned in the A's green and gold for the Yankee pinstripes and got a lot of green and gold for doing it. "To Oakland for the first four seasons, and to the Yankees this year. A pitcher is only as good as his team."

The Yankees, who beat Baltimore 2-0 Sunday behind Hunter's six-hitter, are thinking about next year while his former teammates are looking toward another World Series.

The Kansas City Royals, five games behind the A's, charge into Oakland tonight riding an eight-game winning streak. On Sunday, the Royals beat the California Angels 8-7 in 11 innings.

Elsewhere in the AL, Oakland beat Texas 4-1 and 7-3; Cleveland took a pair from Detroit, 7-2 and 9-0; Boston beat Milwaukee 6-3, then lost 7-3, and Minnesota pounded Chicago 9-1.

Royals 8, Angels 7

The powerless Angels must have been envious Sunday when Kansas City blasted five home runs, three by Tony So-lita, whose 11th-inning RBI single was the game-winner, and two from John Mayberry, major league leader with 33 homers.

A's 4-7, Rangers 1-3

"Our bullpen has kept us in the race all year," Oakland Manager Alvin Dark said following a doubleheader sweep of Texas.

Dick Bosman, with shutout relief help from Jim Todd over the final 3 and 2-3 innings, won the first game and Sonny Siebert, with relief help from Paul Lindblad, Todd and Rollie Fingers, won the second game.

Twins 9, White Sox 1

Steve Brye returned to the Minnesota lineup with a boom. Brye, making his first plate appearances in two months after being on the disabled list, pinch hit an inside-the-park home run, then in his next at bat, he slugged a conventional over-the-wall shot.

Red Sox 6-3, Brewers 3-7

George Scott slugged a three-run homer to lead Milwaukee over Boston in the first game after the Red Sox whipped the Brewers in the opener on Carlton Fisk's tie-breaking double.

Indians 7-9, Tigers 2-0

Oscar Gamble and George Hendrick were the hitting stars in Cleveland's slugfest over Detroit. Gamble cracked a triple and a homer and drove in three runs as Fritz Peterson won his eighth straight game with a six-hitter. Hendrick drove in three runs with his 21st homer and a single in the opener.

Natural Gas Probe May Evolve Into New Argument

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP)—The State Utilities Commission's current probe into the profits of North Carolina's natural gas distributors is likely to evolve into an argument over bookkeeping techniques.

Depending on the figures used and the way they are compiled, the gas distributors either have or have not earned profits in excess of those allowed by the commission.

In its latest compilation, the commission's staff found that Public Service Co. was earning 17.29 per cent on common equity as opposed to an allowed rate of 16.50 per cent; Piedmont Natural Gas was earning 16.49 per cent as opposed to an allowed rate of 14.06 per cent; and North Carolina Natural Gas Co. was earning 14.89 per cent as opposed to an allowed rate of 14.18 per cent.

The earnings per share of each of the companies also rose. Piedmont's went from $2.05 to $3.06 in the fiscal 1974-75; Public Service's rose from $1.19 to $1.98 and NCNG's from $1.40 to $1.88.

The commission has made no determination that the three companies' profits were, in fact, excessive. But it is highly unusual for a utility to earn its allowed rate of return, let alone more than that, said commissioner Tenney Deane.

By contrast, the state's three major electric power utilities are showing rates of return on common equity in the 6-8 per cent range. Their allowed rates are in the area of 12 per cent.

The key factor in the case may be the way the figures are compiled. As one commission staff member wrote in assessing the earnings report:

"Generally, there is a substantial difference in the rates of return shown in reports to stockholders and in applications for rate increases. The figures shown here are more nearly like those developed for stockholders."

This "substantial difference" is what the gas companies are counting on to absolve them.

In stockholders' reports, the companies account for virtually every item of revenue and expenditure in the period covered. The report, if it is properly done, is an accurate reflection of the company's performance for the year covered.

But when the Utilities Commission considers rates, the accounting procedures are modified.

The commission does not, for example, pay attention to "non-recurring" items. An unexpected windfall or loss, while it affects the stockholders' report, does not affect a rate case.

The commission also "annualizes" its figures. Permanent revenue and expenditure changes which begin during a fiscal year are artificially extended to cover the entire year for ratemaking purposes.

Spokesmen for the gas companies believe that the modified figures will show their companies earning less than the allowed rate of return.

"I don't believe it'll be up to what's allowed. It will not be in excess," said Frank Barragan, president of NCNG.

"The figures haven't been prepared yet. But we believe they'll show we're earning less than 14 per cent on common equity," said J.D. Pickard, president of Piedmont.

Piedmont and Public Service won rate increases from the commission last January. NCNG has not had one since the 1960s, Barragan said.

Piedmont's vice president for consumer affairs, Forrest Collier, said Piedmont had several favorable occurrences during the past year which will not be counted in rate case figures.

The company bought one billion cubic feet of gas from Washington (D.C.) Gas and Light Co. and resold it to industrial customers at a profit. That was a non-recurring item, Collier said.

In addition, Piedmont turned a handsome profit from the sale of stored gas, Collier said. The company bought the gas in anticipation of having to cope with the demands of a cold winter. It was stored underground in Pennsylvania.

As the winter proved warmer than normal last year, Collier said, the company was able to sell that gas to some industrial customers at higher than the normal rate. It had paid a premium for the stored gas, but still turned a profit on it, he said.

It will be up to the commission to decide whether the companies' accounting decisions are allowable. The companies are supposed to submit their figures within a week.

"Maybe we caught them in an unusual situation. I don't know. But we're not going to let them earn anything more than they're supposed to," Deane said.

Peanut Field Day Coming

For the latest information on peanut production, growers are urged to attend the Annual Peanut Field Day and Membership Meeting of the North Carolina Peanut Growers Association, on September 10, 1975. The day-long session will begin at 10 a.m. at the Peanut Belt Research Station at Lewiston, N.C.

Lieutenant Governor James B. Hunt, Jr., will be the featured speaker for the morning program.

Following a free lunch, displays including equipment, seed quality, and peanut diseases will be observed. A field tour will include a discussion of the Extension Quality seed contest; Resistance to Southern Corn Root Worms, and a demonstration of Granular Pesticide application equipment.

For further information, call the County Extension Office, 758-1196.

Wheelchair Rider Killed

By The Associated Press
Alfred Price, 43, a disabled man trying to cross a Charlotte street in his wheelchair, was one of the five persons killed in North Carolina traffic accidents over the weekend.

The toll was the lowest weekly rate this year. It raised traffic deaths for the year to 993, or 58 fewer than at the corresponding time last year.

Norman Terry Wilson, 19, Hill was killed when the motorcycle he was riding hit a mailbox near his hometown of Chapel Hill.

Andrew Lawrence King, 18, of Cameron, was struck and killed by a vehicle seven miles south of Raleigh.

Another pedestrian, Sanford Allen Mitchell, 17, of Rt. 1, Hallsboro, was killed by a car four miles north of Lake Waccamaw in Columbus County.

Ellis Allen, 50, died when a car in which he was riding hit two utility poles in his hometown of Charlotte.

Robert Larry Swayney, 26, of Belmont, was killed when his car hit the concrete median stop on U.S. 29-27 at the Cramerton crossroads, and then hit trees alongside the road.

Raleigh Police Rule Out Strike

RALEIGH (AP)—Raleigh police officers ruled out striking as a means resolving grievances Sunday.

The Raleigh Police Officers Association says it will seek changes in the department through the City Council and a publicity campaign using area media advertising and directed toward Raleigh citizens.

But it warned that if that doesn't work, alternatives such as picketing, work slowdowns and speedups or massive sick leaves will be considered.

A decision on those alternatives won't come until after a planned Thursday meeting with the City Council, said spokesman T.R. Believeau.

The association again indicated Sunday that it still wants the resignation of police chief Robert Goodwin and changes in the operation of the department.

Explaining that "we would just hurt ourselves and the citizens of Raleigh," Believeau said a strike was "completely ruled out."

In other action Sunday, the association unanimously rejected a request by Goodwin for a meeting to discuss grievances. The association then decided to change that action and send the issue to committee where it will not be acted on, said a member of the group's governing council, John R. Knox.

Knox said the RPOA will demand at Thursday's meeting that the department get a new chief, even though he says he has been told that no discussion of personnel matters would be allowed at that meeting.

"If we get the chief's resignation, that will solve the problem," he said. Knox said the group wants a new chief come from outside the department.

What action will be taken in response to Thursday's meeting will be decided at an RPOA meeting next Sunday, he said.

Among the officers requests are higher pay and an end to officers' promotions being decided by the number of arrests they make. The officers also charge the chief has failed to make effective a districting system under which officers are assigned.

Millions Yearly Visit Tijuana

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP)—Tijuana, less than a half hour's drive from downtown San Diego, is visited by more Americans than any other foreign city in the world.

According to the best available count, more than 30 million U.S. citizens crossed the border at Tijuana last year to eat a Mexican meal, watch a bullfight or a jai alai game, or make purchases.

Persons reentering the United States may bring back $100 in merchandise duty free, provided they have not claimed a similar exemption within 30 days.

What action do you take?
A.—It is a close choice between a double and an overall of three diamonds, and we slightly prefer the latter. Bypassing the spade suit might seem unusual, but our aim is to show both our suits as cheaply as possible. Were we to bid spades first and the opponents bid on, we would have to introduce diamonds at the four-level. By bidding diamonds first, we can get in both our suits by rebidding in spades.

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 ♥ Pass 1 ♣ Pass 1 NT Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Bid two clubs. With two weak doubletons, you do not want to play no trump if there is a better contract available. A new suit after partner's no trump rebid is not forcing, so partner is free to pass, give preference to spades, or rebid a good five-card suit of his own.

Indeed, there are many hands that would play better in four spades even with a 4-3 fit, so if partner chooses that contract you have done the right thing.

Working Policeman Has Donated Kidney

CHICAGO (AP)—Patrolman Michael Nicoletti of the Chicago Police Force passed the seventh anniversary of his kidney transplant Aug. 2. It was also his daughter's fourth birthday.

Nicoletti, 45, is a patrolman with the corporation counsel's office. He is on light duty, serving summonses, warrants and notices of building code violations.

In 1968, after a year and a half on an artificial kidney, he received a cadaver kidney transplant at the University of Chicago's Billings Hospital. He is one of the most successful cadaver kidney transplant recipients in the Chicago area, according to Dr. Frank P. Stuart, University of Chicago transplant surgeon.

Patrolman Nicoletti has worked steadily since transplantation. He had one small rejection episode two weeks after transplantation, which was reversed with medicine, says Dr. Stuart.

He and his wife had two boys. A hoped-for baby girl was born Aug. 2, 1971, the third anniversary of the kidney transplant.

The death rate among kidney recipients who reject the donor organ has been 28.2 per cent but this has dropped to only 5 per cent at the University of Chicago, Dr. Stuart said.

He said that victims of severe head wounds whose brains have ceased functioning are the source of most donated cadaver kidneys. The kidneys can be re-

SHE'S A TERRORIST—Scotland Yard issued this picture this week of Ellen Mary Margaret McKearney, 21, described by police as "probably the most dangerous and active woman terrorist operating in Britain". Police said the 5-foot-3, blue-eyed woman carries explosives and cash across the sea from Ireland to Irish Republican Army bombers in Britain. (AP Wirephoto)

Pitt County
TAKE NOTICE that in accordance with Section 115-126 of the General Statutes of North Carolina, the Greenville City Board of Education having decided that the real property described herein is surplus and unnecessary for school purposes, will sell to the highest bidder, for CASH, at 110 Candlewood Street in Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, at 11 o'clock A.M., on FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1975 that certain parcel of land located in the Township of Winterville, County of Pitt, State of North Carolina, described as follows, to wit:
"BEING all of Lot No. 7, Block J, Section 11 of the Oakdale Subdivision, as shown in Map Book 20 at Page 173 of the Pitt County Registry."
This property is located at 110 Candlewood Street, Greenville, North Carolina and has thereon: a new brick veneer house with living room, foyer, den, kitchen, dinette area, three bedrooms, one and one-half baths, a paneled garage, recessed front porch, wall to wall carpet and base board electric heat. The house has copper water pipes and leaded cast iron waste lines. The yard is landscaped and has a paved driveway. The den in this house has a conventional fireplace.
The sale will remain open for ten (10) days to permit the making of an upset bid. A 10 per cent cash deposit will be required of the highest bidder on the date of sale.
The minimum bid the Board will consider for this parcel of land and the improvements thereon is $25,000.00. The Greenville City Board of Education reserves the right to reject any and all bids.
The house on the property described herein was constructed by the Rose High School Carpentry and Masonry classes. Additional information pertaining to the property described herein may be obtained by contacting Robert E. Stewart, at the Office of the Greenville City Board of Education, at 431 West Fifth Street, Greenville, North Carolina. (Phone 752-4192)
This is the 29th day of August, 1975.

NORTH CAROLINA Farm Tips

From Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

By Dr. J. W. Pou

The number of hogs and pigs on Tar Heel farms June 1 totalled 1,660,000, a decrease of 17 per cent from a year earlier, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

Despite the sharp cutback, only six states had a larger swine inventory on that date than did North Carolina.

Nationally, hog and pig numbers were estimated at 48.2 million, down 19 per cent from a year earlier.

Reduced pork supplies this year reflect the profit squeeze experienced by hog producers last year, say economists at North Carolina State University. Not only were hog prices down, but rapidly rising corn prices in 1974 made the cash grain market more profitable than feeding.

Hog farmers this year are more fortunate than cattlemen in that they have been able to quickly adjust inventories and pig crops in line with the reduced feed grain supply which will prevail until this fall's harvest.

Sharp reductions in hog slaughter have resulted in higher prices and better returns for most hog feeders, especially those farmers with farrow-to-finish operations.

"After a period of favorable returns, hog farmers likely will be more anxious to expand production," says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. "That opportunity, or the lack of it, lies largely in the size of the 1975 corn crop and resulting corn prices."

North Carolina's 1975 spring pig crop was down 12 per cent from a year earlier, and farrowing intentions for the last half of the year are down 4 per cent.

Nationally, the pig crop this spring was down 22 per cent from a year earlier and was the lowest since 1935. Intentions to farrow during the last half of the year are down 13 per cent from the same period in 1974.

Hog producers may cross their fingers and knock on wood at the mention of it, but the U. S. has not had a single case of hog cholera in over a year.

The last case was diagnosed in Mississippi in February 1974. Since then, no outbreaks have been detected.

This is a direct result of a nationwide cholera eradication campaign that required several years and millions of dollars.

North Carolina, which is one of the nation's largest pork producers, was one of the last states to reach the cholera-free goal.

Animal health experts caution that surveillance will continue. There is no cure for the disease and use of vaccines for prevention has been dropped making all hogs highly susceptible.

The disease does not affect humans.

Guard Brings Water Supply

MARSHALL, N.C. (AP) — rains had little effect on the supply. National Guardsmen today began transporting water to Marshall, a mountain town of about 1,000 residents, to help relieve a critical shortage.

Military trucks hauled the water from the Asheville water system.

The water shortage reached a critical level Friday, when schools were forced to close at noon. They will reopen today, school officials decided after learning of the emergency plans.

The shortage was brought on by leaks in an earthen dam on Hunter Creek, which supplies the town reservoir.

Danes Launch New Subsidy

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — A new Danish law providing financial support for environmental protection projects went into effect on July 15.

It provides a subsidy of up to 50 per cent for projects that cost $8,700 or more, with a maximum subsidy for any single project of $1.7 million.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed a slight loss today while investors continued to wait out developments in the effort to resolve New York City's problems.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial was down .79 at 835.18. Losers held a 4-3 advantage over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading was relatively light. A special session of the New York State Legislature was due to go back to work today on plans to deal with the financial difficulties confronting New York City.

Brokers noted a second uncertainty looming in the immediate future—the scheduled meeting of oil exporting countries later this month to work out their post-Oct. 1 pricing plans.

In the morning's economic news, the monthly survey of corporate purchasing agents conducted by a trade group found that more buying agents paid higher prices for materials last month than at any time since last December.

"An unwelcome return of price increases gives cause for concern," the trade group said. Sony was by far the most active issue on the Big Board, down 3/4 at 10 in a burst of block trading. The three largest transactions in the issue were 515,000 shares at 10, 108,900 at 9 3/4 and 100,000 at 10 1/4.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was off .15 at 45.41.

The American Stock Exchange market value index edged up .06 to 85.51.

Charged With Morals Count

Kenneth Earl Arrington, 22, of 309 Page Dr. has been charged with carnal knowledge in connection with an incident that occurred here August 13 involving a 13-year-old girl.

Chief Glenn Cannon said Arrington was taken into custody Thursday in connection with the incident.

Flushed Out After An Hour-Long Siege

CHESAPEAKE, Va. (AP) — Police flushed a suspected burglar out of a gun shop with tear gas here early today after an hour-long siege during which he laid down a steady volley of rifle and pistol fire.

Police Capt. R. W. Smith said Edward James Mitchell, 20, surrendered after a heavy exchange of gunfire that ended when the tear gas was fired into the Chesapeake Gun Works.

Neither Mitchell nor any of about 40 policemen from three cities who surrounded the building were injured in the shootout, which began about 1 a.m.

Smith said Mitchell fired

Barely Missed

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Miss North Carolina, Susan Lawrence, the former Miss Thomasville, just missed becoming Miss America.

She was chosen first runner-up Saturday night, and won a $10,000 scholarship. If for some reason the new Miss America, Tawny Elaine Godin, Miss New York, cannot serve, Miss Lawrence will take over.

Miss Lawrence, 21 years old, 5-foot-9 and and 36-24-36, is a graduate of Kings College in Charlotte, where she majored in retail merchandising. She attended North Davidson High School near Thomasville, and has worked as a model in Winston-Salem.

Miss South Carolina, Cundi Anthony of Columbia, was among the 10 finalists, but not one of the five finalists.

The Carolinas have had two Miss Americas. They were Marie Beale Fletcher of Asheville, N.C., in 1962, and Marion McKnight of Manning, S.C., in 1957.

OES NOTICE

Hold Hostages In Paris Bank
PARIS (AP) — Gangsters armed with automatic weapons held seven persons hostage in a Paris bank today and demanded a $1.35 million ransom, police said. The bank is near the Invalides, which houses Napoleon's tomb.

Police gave no immediate indication of a deadline or any threat to the lives of the hostages if the ransom was not supplied. Police reinforcements and sharpshooters were posted around the bank with orders to shoot whenever possible.

Police said there were either two or three gangsters involved. They had gas masks as well as a sawed-off shotgun and pistols, they said. Bursts of automatic weapon fire were heard after the gangsters holed up in the bank but it was not known if there were any injuries.

Mississippi seceded from the Union in 1861, but was readmitted in 1870.

 "Catfish" raises dogs on his farm in North Carolina, and he knows dogs like he knows baseball. "Vets say dogs have thinner skin than us and special dog germs. Sulfodene kills dog germs, checks itching, helps heal fast. It works for open sores, cuts, scrapes, infections. It's like a first aid medicine for dogs' skin problems."
 In veterinarian tests, SULFODENE proved remarkably effective in 9 out of 10 cases.

New Miss America Tells Of One Failure In A Life Of Successes

By RICHARD T. PIENCIAK
 Associated Press Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Tawny Elaine Godin is a perfectionist. She has a perfect 4.0 average in college. She won the first beauty pageant she ever entered. She's more critical of herself than others. And she's the new Miss America.

Miss Godin is a sophomore linguistics major at Skidmore College, and a resident of Yonkers, N.Y. She speaks French and Spanish fluently, and is knowledgeable in German, Latin, Greek and Russian.

The first runner-up was Miss North Carolina, 21-year-old Susan Heel contest as Miss Thomasville.

Miss Godin has spent 7 1/2 years living in Canada and has travelled widely in the United States and Europe.

The Virgo and sometimes believer in astrology won the Miss America Pageant on Saturday night before a national television audience and 17,853 in Convention Hall.

Although she says she doesn't pay much attention to horoscopes, Miss Godin found that "the Virgo sign applies to me quite a bit. I'm a perfectionist."

Miss Godin, who turns 19 next Sunday, has spent her entire life succeeding in endeavors and trailblazing along the way.

In high school, she was in the top two per cent of her graduating class. In college it's been more of the same. Her lowest mark has been an A.

She was the only female commentator on her high school radio station and the only student from Roosevelt High School's 2,000 students to be chosen for an accreditation committee.

The new Miss America, the second straight Virgo to win the coveted crown, completed a 12-year course at the Royal Conservatory of Music at the University of Toronto in six years.

At last week's pageant, Miss Godin, who succeeded Shirley Cothran of Texas, was the only contestant to perform an original composition. She played "Images In Pastels," her own creation on the piano.

At the traditional Sunday morning breakfast-news conference, Miss Godin, who will spend the next few days in New York, admitted to one failure in life—the rejection of her application to Williams College.

When asked if she ever had any setbacks Miss Godin laughed and replied, "Have I got a story for you."

"I wanted to go to Williams College. It was a traditional school," she said. "They didn't accept me at Williams. I made it right up to the last cut and I was terribly upset," she said.

It was already May when Miss Godin got the bad news from Williams, the only college she had applied to up to that point. Indeterred, the 5-10 1/2 native of Portland, Me., and descendant of Scottish family who immigrated here in 1661, inquired at 19 other colleges and eventually enrolled at Skidmore.

ODOR FREE
NEW YORK (UPI) — Home-makers who run their electric dishwashers only with a full load should sprinkle a handful of baking soda in the bottom of the machines when they put breakfast dishes in it. The soda deodorizes the washer, just as it absorbs refrigerator odors.

"Beyond that, tobacco is beyond any help from rain and corn is in the harvest stage so it doesn't benefit from rain."

Yancey noted that as far as the county corn crop is concerned, "We're finding it was damaged pretty severely by the drought in the early growing season. We still think there will be a 30 per cent reduction in yield. Some is not worth picking and some is pretty good."

The agricultural agent noted that the "rain is going to help fall gardens, cover crops and that sort of thing."

Light Rains Here Sunday
 Light rains Sunday and last night helped cool things off in Pitt County.

According to the Greenville Utilities Commission weather station, .68 inches of rain fell yesterday and last night. The high temperature yesterday was recorded at 86 degrees, while the low was 67 degrees.

The temperature at 11:30 a.m. today was 78 degrees.

The Tar river level this morning stood at 4.7 feet.

Pitt County agricultural extension chairman Ed Yancey said, "Any rain at this time is beneficial to the soybean crop and, I think, some help to the peanut crop."
