

Some Hospitals In Patty Now Alone; Diary N.C. May Accept Only Emergencies Details SLA Activities

RALEIGH (AP)—Unless something happens to head off the problem, a number of North Carolina hospitals may begin rejecting all but emergency patients next Wednesday.

That threat arose Wednesday when more than 50 hospitals learned they may be without medical malpractice insurance coverage when their current policies expire Oct. 1.

Michigan Mutual Insurance Co. had planned to offer the hospitals insurance, but decided that it wouldn't. Instead, the company has petitioned the courts for exemption from a state law requiring the coverage be offered.

Wake Superior Court Judge Donald Smith was to hear petitions filed by Michigan Mutual and six other firms this morning.

John Marston, vice president of the North Carolina Hospital Association, said hospital officials are to meet Friday to search for a solution.

Without the insurance, "a number of hospitals have indicated they can offer no more than emergency, life-giving services," Marston said. But some hospitals have indicated they won't cut services, he said.

The 1975 legislature passed a law requiring all the 350 companies offering general liability insurance in North Carolina to participate in a pool for malpractice insurance. The companies would share the risks and the profits for the coverage. A suit challenging the constitutionality of that law is pending.

The pool has been gutted by temporary injunctions exempting 136 of the companies from the law until the constitutional question is settled. Michigan Mutual and the six other firms want to join that group.

A spokesman for Michigan Mutual said the company didn't want to be left with all the malpractice coverage risk after other companies were freed from the pool.

The hospitals' problem may be solved if St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co. decides to offer malpractice coverage. It insures more than 90 per cent of the state's 5,500 physicians.

The company had demanded higher rates and a different form of coverage. Tuesday, Insurance Commissioner John Ingram said he conceded to most of the company's demands.

Ingram's said he would allow company-requested changes to be in effect until the end of February.

A St. Paul spokesman said company officials want to study Ingram's compromise before deciding whether to offer the coverage in North Carolina.

Last week the St. Paul threatened to stop offering the insurance voluntarily unless Ingram granted their requests.

Ingram told the company at a hearing Monday that he needed further justification from it on its rate increase request before the compromise becomes final. And by February, the courts may rule on the constitutionality of the medical malpractice reinsurance pool set up by the legislature at Ingram's request.

At first, Ingram rejected St. Paul's requests, then asked them to present a modified proposal at a second hearing, held Monday.

By WILLIAM HELTON Associated Press Writer SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With her Symbionese Liberation Army cohorts moved to another jail, Patricia Hearst finally was separated today from all remnants of the tiny band of terrorists that kidnaped her 19 months ago.

The newspaper heiress remained in a nearby county jail, while William and Emily Harris, her fugitive comrades during much of the period since her kidnaping Feb. 4, 1974, were in Los Angeles, awaiting arraignment on 18 state felony counts.

Until Wednesday night Miss Hearst and Mrs. Harris shared adjoining cells at the San Mateo County Jail, where they and Harris had been held since their capture a week ago. The two women frequently played cards to kill time, jail officials said.

Miss Hearst, who Wednesday ordered her occupation on jail records changed from "urban guerrilla" to "not employed," will stay at the jail while her attorneys fight to have her freed on bail.

Her attorney, Terence Hallinan, said Miss Hearst gave "urban guerrilla" as her occupation because she "felt pressured and couldn't think of anything else."

Meanwhile, the FBI found a day-to-day diary containing intimate details of SLA activities in the apartment where the Harris were captured, the San Francisco Chronicle reported today.

The diary contained detailed handwritten notes on the April 15, 1974 bank robbery in which Miss Hearst faces charges and describes an incident outside a Los Angeles sporting goods store in which Harris almost was captured, the newspaper said.

Earlier Wednesday, a federal grand jury indicted a 27-year-old house painter who had been linked by revolution and romance to Miss Hearst. The grand jury charged Steven

Another 'No' To New York City

MAYORS MEET WITH FORD—President Ford and his advisors meet with various mayors at the White House Wednesday. The mayors were seeking aid or federal guarantees to pay off municipal bonds if cities default. (AP Wirephoto)

By MIKE WATERS Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration says the financial condition of New York City has no direct effect on the rest of the country and the federal government will not bail the city out of its monetary crisis.

Mayor Abraham D. Beame, backed by the 14 mayors who make up the U.S. Conference of Mayors executive committee, pleaded for help for New York before a congressional committee and in a meeting with Ford.

Beame said the meeting with the President was "disappointing."

Appearing Wednesday before the Joint Economic Committee, Beame said, "New York is not here for a handout. It's not asking for anything that hasn't been done for private enterprise." He warned that the city is on the brink of bankruptcy and if it falls over the edge it will have an effect on every city in the country.

But Treasury Secretary William E. Simon told committee members that New York could avert financial disaster by adopting a stringent austerity program. Even if the city defaults on its bond obligations, Simon said, "it would continue to exist and operate."

"You can't stand there day after day and say that all they can do is go bankrupt," shouted committee Chairman Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.

"The city is not going to go bankrupt," Simon countered.

"The city is still going to function."

But Mayor Moon Landrieu of New Orleans warned that if New York does default on its obligations it would "make it difficult, if not impossible, for any city to borrow money."

And the chairman of the Municipal Assistance Corp. said the Ford administration was taking a serious risk in predicting minimal consequences for a New York bond default.

Felix G. Rohatyn, in an interview with the Washington Post, said, "The risk they may be wrong is of a high order. If they're wrong, they will regret their decision a half hour after they let the city default."

Simon told the committee that a Treasury Department analysis of a possible New York City default concluded that it would cause only a temporary adjustment period in the financial market.

Lost Weight Drinking Beer

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson has some good news for beer drinkers: Drinking beer can help some people lose weight.

If, that is, they had been drinking hard liquor before they switched to brew.

Wilson says, "Contrary to all medical opinion, I've lost a lot of weight since I began drinking more beer."

Few Problems

The more than two and one-half inches of rain that has fallen over the Greenville area has caused only a few problems.

According to Mayo Allen, Public Works Director, he has had no major problems because of the rain this week. He reported a few storm drains had to be cleaned out to allow better water flow.

Allen added that the rain has delayed some repair work on Greenville streets and that the work will be done as soon as weather permits.

A spokesman for the North Carolina Department of Transportation reported a few washouts on some dirt roads in the county and that a few highway shoulders have washed out. Highway department crews were in the process of fixing them today, the spokesman reported.

The highway spokesman reported a couple of problems were experienced yesterday with high water but that the water had already run off this morning.

Rainfall in the Greenville area, according to the Greenville Utilities Commission weather station, is as follows: Monday, 0.43 inches; Tuesday, 0.97 inches; Wednesday, 1.13 inches.

The Tar River level was reported at 4.8 feet this morning at 8 a.m. and rising.

No-Vote Action By Undecided Planning-Zoning Commission

By TOM BAINES Reflector Staff Writer

The Planning and Zoning Commission, in an unusual move Wednesday night, failed to agree on whether to approve or deny a rezoning request and therefore, took no action on the matter.

The no-vote action took place on a request by Robert E. Laughter and others to rezone some 66 acres from R-6 to R-9. The City Council will receive no recommendation from the Commission as to approval or denial but the Council can still schedule a public hearing and vote on the request.

The rezoning request, which involves property in an area bounded by E. Fifth Street, Laurel Street, a line extended along E. Third Street and Ash Street, was tabled in July in order for the board to have more information on the request and also to get a legal interpretation of the rezoning petition.

The unusual request for rezoning was initiated by residents in the area who, according to group spokesman Rev. Dan Earnhardt, wished to avoid conflicts or competition raised by other zoning in the area and who sought to preserve and maintain the residential nature of the neighborhood.

The Commission, at the July session, was unsure as to whether the rezoning petition could be legally submitted by a group of persons who did not own the land in question. Most of the 66 acres is owned by the Brown heirs, it was noted, and efforts were made to contact as many of the heirs as possible.

Rezoning of the property, according to Earnhardt, would prohibit dense apartment usage as permitted under the R-6 zoning designation, a less restrictive zone than R-9.

James T. Cheatham, attorney representing several of the Brown heirs with ownership of approximately 60 per cent of the land in question, asked that the request be denied and he cited legal questions involved in the request to change the property to R-9. Cheatham said that the Council should have a chance to act on the matter.

Lawrence Watts of Raleigh, one of the heirs, said that he felt the question of rezoning came up because the residents of the area did not have confidence in the Brown heirs' land management ability. He agreed that the land has not been managed properly and he asked that he be given an opportunity to come up with a land plan and to work with the residents.

Watts, who acknowledged that he would have more planning flexibility under R-6 than R-9, said he would be opposed to the devaluation of the area residents' property just as much as he would be to his property and he assured the citizens that the property would not be misused.

Rezoning of the property to R-9 would result in several parcels becoming non-conforming uses under the new designation. Commission chairman Eddie Howell said that he would not recommend that anyone's property be made a non-conforming use unless they approved of the action.

City Planner John Schofield reported at the July meeting that the request marked the first time that residents of a neighborhood had petitioned for upgrading their neighborhood. Schofield said last night that since the 60 days tabling period had expired, some action would have to be taken on the matter.

Commissioner Karl Faser, noting that the Brown heirs owned a "good part of the land," said that he saw no alternative but to recommend that the Council deny the rezoning request. Faser's motion did not gain a second.

Board member Mrs. Ruth Trevathan then offered a motion to accept the rezoning request

Public Disclosure?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is reportedly close to requiring full public disclosure of all U.S. commitments under the Sinai peace accord as the price of approving the agreement.

Committee members said the near consensus was reached during a closed two-hour meeting Wednesday. Another session on the resolution to allow the use of 200 civilian technicians in early-warning desert watchposts is scheduled for today.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., said he doubted that a committee decision on the resolution could be reached this week. But action might come next week if the Ford administration agrees to make all documentation public, he added.

Case said he informed the President of the growing demand for disclosure at a White House meeting of Republican congressional leaders and "there was no indication he disagreed."

Panama Canal Treaty Is Rocked By House Vote

By GEORGE GEDDA Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prospects for a new Panama Canal Zone treaty appear more remote today following House action aimed at retaining full U.S. control over the waterway.

Just 24 hours after a violent demonstration at the U.S. embassy in Panama, the House of Representatives served notice it will settle for nothing less than continued undiluted U.S. control over the waterway.

The House, for the second time in three months, voted Wednesday to deny the State Department funds for surrendering any of the privileges the United States now has in the 500-square-mile area. The vote was 203 to 197.

At issue is the State Department policy of negotiating a new treaty giving Panama a gradually increasing role in the operation and defense of the canal, an 11-year-old goal which has eluded three presidents.

Panama's case for a new treaty will be argued today by Colombian President Alfonso Lopez Michelsen, who is scheduled to meet with President Ford at the start of a two-day official visit.

Panama was once a province of Colombia, and Lopez has been an enthusiastic supporter of Panama's demands for jurisdiction over the Canal Zone.

The Panamanian government leaked word last weekend that the United States has agreed to give Panama full jurisdiction over the Canal Zone within three years after the signing of a new treaty.

Panama would be given full authority over police, education and all other services in the zone.

The leak was an apparent violation of a bilateral pledge to observe secrecy, and the State Department rebuked Panama, saying such practices hinder efforts to reach a mutually acceptable arrangement.

What triggered Tuesday's demonstration was Panama's disclosure that the United States hopes to retain the right to defend the canal for an "indefinite period."

An estimated 600 to 800 rock-throwing Panamanians, mostly high-school students, attacked the U.S. embassy, breaking about 100 windows. The United States protested the "inadequate protection" given the embassy and Panama apologized.

The only encouraging note for the State Department is that the sentiment for a new treaty is much stronger in the Senate than in the House. The Senate will now take up the House's no-concessions amendment.

HOTLINE

752-1336

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day.

JINGLE JOKE

About four weeks ago, I received a phone call from a lady asking me to sing the Campbell Soup jingle. I had my daughter to say it for her and she said that was okay. She said we'd won a case of chicken noodle soup and would receive it in about two weeks. Is there any way I can find out more about this? Mrs. J.M.

Hotline dealt with a similar situation, written up June 11, 1974. We were told then that the company hears continuously from people all over the country who are being kidded by their friends. They said only Ted Brown of WNEW Radio Station in New York makes the sing-the-jingle calls for them. If you wish, though, just in case yours could have been a legitimate call, you may write to Dean Bair, Advertising Manager, Campbell Soup Company, Campbell Place, Camden, N.J. 08101. Someone in his office will check your name against their list of parties called and probably will let you know whether you indeed are a winner.

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

AVON INFORMATION

Hotline recently published names of two persons in the Greenville area who purchase Avon bottle empties. We have since received the following information in response to an inquiry to Avon Products Inc. of New York City.

The company does not sell or cooperate in the sale of empty Avon bottles. However, they told us of a number of publications on Avon bottle-collecting, including "Avon-3," $9.95, and "Avon-4," $12.95, published by Western World, 511 Harrison St., San Francisco, Calif. 94105; "Encyclopedia of Avon Bottles," $11.95, by Bud Hastin, Box 9868, Kansas City, Mo. 64134; and "The Antique Trader," a weekly newspaper which publishes advertisements of books, dealers, price lists and news about Avon bottle clubs.

Sara Jane Says Actions Due Rage, Frustrations

By TIM REITERMAN
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —
Last weekend, Sara Jane Moore gave authorities information about a private gun collector and possible firearms law violations.

On Monday, she bought a .38-caliber revolver from the same collector and fired it a short time later at President Ford in an assassination attempt that failed when a bystander hit her arm as she took aim.

In an interview with the Los Angeles Times, Mrs. Moore said her attempt on Ford's life was the result of personal rage and frustration.

She said she acted alone and that the assassination attempt was "a kind of ultimate protest against the system."

But in her first interview since her arrest, Mrs. Moore also said, "I'm glad he didn't die. I did want to be prevented. I don't like to kill people."

She told the Los Angeles Times that she acted alone and was driven by personal rage and frustration.

Law enforcement sources told The Associated Press that Mrs. Moore volunteered information about Mark Fernwood of Danville, Calif., who admits selling her the .38 Monday and a .44-caliber revolver two weeks ago.

A federal source said Mrs. Moore, a one-time FBI informant, gave police information about possible weapons violations, prompting them to contact the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, which enforces federal gun control laws.

The source declined to elaborate on the information but said ATF agents subsequently met with her for more than an hour and were "interested" enough to initiate an investigation.

Federal law enforcement sources here and in Washington said the 45-year-old mother with radical connections had not previously supplied information to ATF and was never paid anything. The source said she was not operating as an informant when she purchased the weapons.

The FBI says she operated as a paid agent for the FBI between June 1974 and June 1975, when she publicly announced the arrangement in an underground newspaper interview.

Mrs. Moore was arrested after firing a shot in the direction of President Ford as he left San Francisco's St. Francis Hotel. Her gun was deflected and Ford was not hurt. Police said that during the preceding 48 hours she apparently tried to reveal her intentions.

Police inspector Jack O'Shea said he talked to her by telephone on Saturday. He said "a red light went off in my head" when she mentioned going to Stanford University to "test the system."

O'Shea said he alerted the FBI, ATF and Secret Service that she might be a potential assassin and en route to Ford's Stanford University speech.

Police confiscated the .44-caliber gun and detained her until one chance to kill Ford had passed, then she was released. But she purchased the second gun Monday and fired the shot which put her behind bars.

She will be taken to San Diego Friday for psychiatric examination at the federal Metropolitan Correction Center — one of three federal facilities designed specifically for pre-trial mental examinations of prisoners.

Planning-Zoning . . .

and recommend approval to the Council. Her motion also died for lack of a second.

Howell, in view of the no-action on the motions, pointed out that the Council would be informed that the commission could not "come to terms" on the request and therefore would not recommend to deny or approve the petition.

It was pointed out that the matter will appear on the Council agenda regardless of the commission action.

In a related matter involving the question of who may petition for a rezoning change, the Commission endorsed an amendment to Article X, Section 32-139 of the Zoning Ordinance.

Schofield, who read a letter from City Attorney David Reid on the interpretation of the ordinance, read the proposed amendment to the Commission for consideration. It stated, "A petition for an amendment to either the Zoning Ordinance or the official zoning map of . . . Greenville may be initiated by the City Council, the Planning and Zoning Commission, any department or agency of the city, or the owner or authorized agent of the owner of the property within the zoning jurisdiction of the city that desires an amendment to either the Zoning Ordinance or map which would affect property in which he has vested property right recognized under existing law."

He asserted that the amendment, which will be forwarded to the Council for action, clears up the ambiguity of the ordinance relating to petition eligibility.

A request by Cherry Oaks Inc. for satellite annexation of the Windy Ridge Condominiums on State Road 1704 (14th Street Extension) was approved by the Greenville board and will be recommended to the Council for action.

According to an annexation impact study compiled by the planning staff, the subdivision contains some 17.56 acres and will contain 102 residential units, including 52 two-bedroom units and 50 three-bedroom facilities.

Schofield, in discussing the study, pointed out that the Police Department indicated that it could service the area but would need three additional patrolmen and one additional vehicle in order to provide efficient police protection.

No problems exist with the ability of the Fire Department or Public Works Department to service the section, it was noted, although Public Works director Mayo Allen indicated that the increased service level would bring the current service ability to its maximum level of efficiency with current personnel and equipment.

According to the impact study, the estimated 1975 real property evaluation for the city is $189,734,104. Annexation of Windy Ridge should increase the 1976 evaluation by $732,235 to a total of $190,466,339, not including the cost of the subdivision's recreational complex.

Schofield said that the staff feels that "this is one of the prime growth areas" and the staff recommended that the area be annexed.

The commission after hearing objections from several residents, denied a request by Mrs. John Collins to rezone the northwest corner of E. Fifth Street and Harding Street from R-6 to Office and Institutional.

Mrs. Collins said that she planned to remodel the building on the lot, formerly used as a service station, and use the facility for an office building. She told the board that she needs to utilize the property, which is listed in the name of her husband, John Collins.

Jack Spain, a resident of the area, said that he has fought attempts to utilize the property three times and he contended that Mrs. Collins was not legally entitled to petition to have the property rezoned since it is listed in her husband's name.

Spain, who said that residents in the area oppose the rezoning, contended, "This comes up every year with a different request."

Attorney Jack Lewis, representing Mrs. Collins, said that the property owner "desires no use that would distress the neighbors" and he pointed out that the owner does not plan to continue use of the building as a service station.

"Mrs. Collins and her husband wish to do nothing to change the nature of the area," Lewis asserted.

Another resident said that if the property is rezoned, there would be no assurance that the use of the building would remain as an office, since other uses are permitted under Office and Institutional zoning. It was pointed out that anything permitted under O&I would be allowed in the zoned area.

Other residents cited the potential increase in traffic in the neighborhood and voiced their objections to any change that would alter the residential aspect of the section.

The board voted unanimously to recommend that the request be denied by the Council.

In a routine matter, the revised preliminary plat of Westhaven Subdivision, Section III, was accepted and recommended for approval. City Engineer Charlie Holliday explained that the plat now shows a street pattern that conforms with original street plans. The street pattern was the item in question when the matter was considered recently.

In business on the Joint City-County agenda, a rezoning request by Cherry Oaks Inc. to rezone 102 acres, known as Camelot Subdivision, from RA-20 to R-15 was approved. The property is located on State Road 1725, it was noted.

Two items were tabled for further study by the joint board.

They involved a request by Dr. Charles Pace to amend the Medical Arts zoning district to include "residential quarters for resident manager, supervisor or caretaker" and "apartments," and request by the Greenville Board of Adjustments to consider the addition of "flea market or roadside sales stand"

Timber Cutting Is Reduced By Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The timber harvest in Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina will be sharply reduced as a result of a federal appeals court ruling against clear-cutting, the U. S. Forest Service says.

The service said Wednesday that a ruling Aug. 28 by the 4th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond would affect timber sales in nine national forests in the four states.

The ruling ended in national forests in those states the practice of clear-cutting—felling all trees in an area—which has been under fire from environmental groups for years.

The court said trees in those national forests could not be harvested unless they were dead, mature or of large growth, and unless they had been marked individually.

The government originally planned to sell 285 million board-feet from the four states during the rest of the fiscal year ending June 30.

But Forest Service chief John R. McGuire said the ruling meant that only 30 million board-feet could be sold during the period.

Timber removed from the market this year, officials said, includes about 12 million board-feet in Virginia, eight million in South Carolina, six million in North Carolina and four million in West Virginia.

The timber harvested in the four states, the agency said, primarily would involve dead and dying trees, including those killed by an epidemic of the Southern pine beetle.

McGuire said timber to be cut was clearly eligible for sale under the appeals court's interpretation of an 1897 law which set up the agency's timber-cutting program.

McGuire said the possibility of appealing the ruling to the U. S. Supreme Court was being considered, but officials said no decision had been reached.

Charged In Dog-Shooting

A 59-year-old Texas man has been charged in connection with the shooting of a dog on the East Carolina University campus Sunday morning, according to Greenville Police Chief E. G. Cannon.

The chief identified the man as Ralph Stephen Richards of Lancaster, Texas.

Cannon said Richards was taken into custody by local police about 11:30 p.m. yesterday on charges of discharging firearms in the city, possessing a firearm on the ECU campus and cruelty to an animal.

Cannon said Richards allegedly shot a pet dog to death about 10:20 a.m. Sunday while the dog was being exercised in the North parking lot at Ficklen Stadium by Mrs. Marilyn Lowery of Wilson. The dog, according to the chief, was owned by Mrs. Lower's mother, Mrs. Charles Vincent of 928 East 14th St.

Bond for Richards was set at $600. The case was scheduled to be heard in District Court on October 6.

Stresses Procedures In Govm't Budgetary Role

An Assistant Director of the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill in urging citizens to take part in local budgeting decisions, stressed selectiveness, early involvement and familiarity with the process in a speech to the Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters Tuesday night.

John Vogt, an instructor in local government and budgeting, discussed the nature of budgeting, the difference in city and county budgeting and the possibilities of citizen participation in the process. Vogt led a question-answer session at the League's first general meeting of the year at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Several candidates for local offices, as well as the general public, attended.

Vogt explained that the North Carolina General Statutes prescribe legal guidelines for budgeting. The guidelines require the heads of local agencies to submit budget requests to the finance officer by the end of April each year. The city manager then reviews these requests and submits a budget per se to the governing board who enact a final budget ordinance by the first of July.

Vogt said he felt citizens should become involved in the budgeting process at the earliest opportunity. He explained that the public hearing required by law before finalization of the budget is usually held too late in the process to insure effective citizen input. Vogt suggested early contact with agency heads of the specific area of budget interest.

"Citizens should concentrate on specific issues in the budget and should check up on the budget during each stage of its review," said Vogt. "They should also have some background in budget-making jargon."

Vogt described the budget as a plan for the fiscal year, an agreement among competing factions. "I prefer to think of a budget as an allocation of limited resources among competing needs," said Vogt. "And bargaining always plays an important role."

In describing trends in local budgeting, Vogt cited the recent drift from line-item budgeting to program budgeting. Line-item budgeting stresses the relation between money budgeted and material purchased while program budgeting stresses the relation between funds allocated and objectives achieved.

Along with program budgeting, Vogt said that there is now an increase in citizen interest in local budgeting.

"Watergate contributed to a lack of confidence in executive branches at all levels," explained Vogt. "This accentuated public interest."

Improving The Plight Of The Ordinary Housewife

By MARIANNA OHE
TOKYO (UPI) — Japan's most powerful women's organization is conservative, focusing on consumer issues rather than such feminist issues as equal pay and abortion.

With six million members in all of Japan's 47 provinces, Chifuren, the National Federation of Regional Women's Organizations, concentrates its attention on improving the life of the ordinary housewife.

Following the oil crisis of late 1973, which brought shock to Japan's economy, the organization set up some 20,000 "thrift centers" where housewives could save money by buying and selling second-hand clothes cheaply.

In 1970, it succeeded in reducing the price of Japanese color television sets by 20 per cent through a boycott. Satoko Tanaka, Chifuren's general secretary, believes Japanese women must change within themselves before they can claim their birthright of equality. And she thinks this is beginning to happen.

"I have noticed a change among Japanese women in the last five years," she says. "They really want to get out of their homes and into the world."

Mrs. Tanaka, 49, joined Chifuren in 1963 to help its president, former member of parliament and suffragette Shigeri Yamataka, run the fast-growing organization.

Since its formation in 1952, Chifuren has helped elect women representatives to national as well as local legislatures, conducted voter education campaigns, fought for passage of the Anti-Prostitution Law of 1956, worked to improve city garbage collection and sewage systems, and pressed the government to strengthen its inadequate measures to protect consumers.

"We talk to members of parliament and other government leaders often," Ms. Tanaka says. "It's very easy for us even to see the prime minister."

Although its aims and accomplishments are conservative in comparison with the activities of feminist groups in the United States, Chifuren started out far behind its American counterparts.

It was only after the end of World War II that Japanese women were given the right to vote and equal status with men under the constitution drawn up by General Douglas MacArthur.

Before that they were relegated to a legally inferior position in society, under a family system based on Confucian ethics in which women ate separately from men starting from the age of seven.

Upon marriage they were transferred to their husband's home to begin a life of servitude in the new household — even to their children.

Today, most Japanese women play a major role in choosing their own husbands and control household finances. They still face widespread discrimination in the working world and live mostly restricted home lives centered around their children, but they feel a sense of freedom and ease in their lives compared to the pre-war days.

In a recent government survey, 90 per cent of the women questioned supported the traditional role separation in which "the husband is out of the house, the wife is in."

The survey found Japan's 10 million working women, one third of the labor force, face male-female wage gaps that widen every year, discrimination in promotions and forced retirement at the time of marriage or the birth of a child.

"The consumer and feminist movements are not as strong here as in America," Ms. Tanaka says. "Somehow, because we lost the war, our sense of freedom is weak. The strength of the American meat boycott two years ago lay in person-by-person participation, the individual commitment each person brought to the movement."

Asked why she doesn't bring Chifuren's strength directly to bear on such issues as equal pay and better day care centers, Ms. Tanaka replies, "Change must begin within the individual woman. There is a big gap between women educated before the war and those educated afterward."

OLD-TIME CONCORD GRAPE PIE—Nowadays cooks can use a food mill to remove the seeds from the pulp in short order.

Concord Grape Pie Recipe Is An American Original

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

"The Concord grape is the leader of the slip-skin variety and one of our best known grapes — an American Original. This sugar-rich berry of the winy flavor was developed (around the 1850s) by Ephraim Bull of Concord, Mass., from the seed of a hearty wild fox grape which sprung up by his garden wall. It was a grape different and decidedly delicious in flavor."

That was what the late Clementine Paddleford wrote in 1958 in her "This Week" food column as she bemoaned the fact that Concord grape pie "has become a rarity on the pie roster."

A rarity? Yes, but even today some American families name it their favorite pie. One of these, the Sam Bogens of Port Washington, N.Y., have a Concord grape arbor in their backyard and, come September, Ruth Bogen treats her family and friends to the native American dessert. Last fall, when Sam and Ruth were away, their grown children made a special trip home to harvest the grapes and bake the pies! If you pick Concord grapes from your own vines or catch some in a market, you may enjoy trying Ruth's recipe.

RUTH BOGEN'S CONCORD GRAPE PIE

7 cups stemmed Concord grapes, about 2½ pounds with stems
1½ cups sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
Grated rind of 1 orange
Pastry for a 2-crust 10-inch pie

Rinse grapes. Slip skins from pulp. Reserve skins. There should be about 2 cups skins, 2¼ to 2½ cups pulp with seeds. Heat pulp to boiling. Put hot pulp through a food mill with spring and scraper removed — see note below — to rid it of seeds. In a medium saucepan stir together the sugar, cornstarch, salt and orange rind; stir in grape pulp. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in skins. Cool.

Halve pastry, making one part slightly larger than the other. On a prepared pastry cloth, with a prepared stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out largest half of pastry to about 1½ inches bigger than inverted 10-inch pie plate. Fit into 10-inch pie plate. Add grape filling. Cut off overhanging edge of pastry so it is about ½ inch from rim of plate. Roll out remaining pastry into a 13-inch round; cut into ½-inch strips. Place strips over filling at 1-inch intervals to form a lattice design. Trim strips even with outer rim. Fold lower crust over strips. Seal. Crimp edge.

Bake in a preheated 450-degree oven 10 minutes; continue baking at 350 degrees for 25 minutes longer. Serve warm or cold — pie is less runny cold than when warm.

Note: To remove the spring and scraper from an American-made food mill, first unscrew the nut on the bottom of the mill. Then hold the scraper and spring with nut attached in the left hand and turn the nut clockwise. Replace nut without scraper and spring and place food mill over a bowl so you can put the hot grape pulp through it to rid it of seeds. The reason for removing the scraper and spring is to relieve the pressure on the paddle and avoid crushing the seeds.

Bridal Couple Entertained

Miss Diane Owens and Jerry Mumford were entertained Saturday night at a miscellaneous shower.

The honoree was presented with a corsage of carnations. Mrs. Melvin Owens, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. LaRue Mumford, mother of the bridegroom-elect, were remembered with corsages of carnations.

The community building was decorated with magnolia, ivy, candles and wedding bells. The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth with yellow net and centered with a bouquet of mixed summer slowlers flanked by a candelabra decorated with ivy, bows and ribbon streamers. The mantel featured magnolia, candles and wedding bells.

Hostesses were Mrs. Donnie Allen Ross, Mrs. Thelbert Manning, Mrs. Clifton Butler and Mrs. Dewey Keel.

The wedding will take place Oct. 19 in the Community Baptist Church, Ayden.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

While sitting in the doctor's office last week awaiting my appointment, I leafed through a magazine that sent a chill down my spine.

It showed the Hemingway clan, Muffet, Puck and Margeaux, at a picnic in the mountains. It seems Muffet just authored a new book called, "The Picnic Gourmet," setting out to prove a picnic could be very special.

To perform this miracle she chose a remote mountain spot by a cooling stream, cloth napkins and table cloth, enameled Chinese plates, big wine goblets, and of course a simple menu of cold watercress soup (kept cool in the stream), asparagus-wrapped ham, whole wheat bread baked by Muffet, strawberry daiquiris, chicken roasted and stuffed with wild garlic and herbs, yogurt, cucumbers and mint, banana cake and for a touch of the ordinary, four-bean salad.

You cannot imagine what this does to a woman who thought aspic was a ski resort in Colorado and turkey divan was a bad buy on a sofa.

Putting down the magazine, I couldn't help but remember our last family picnic. "We 'chose' the last spot in the park... between the 'facilities' and a camper full of kids whose father sat in a folding chair without a shirt drinking beer.

As I was cleaning the spilled baked beans out of the car trunk my husband noted the kids had left the lid open on the cooler and the ice had melted. Bacteria was moving in on the potato salad.

The older boy took charge of the hamburgers... throwing his body over a grill to reserve it, then yelling back for the charcoal, the charcoal lighter, the hamburger and the matches. We had everything but the matches.

We were seated around a stadium blanket when a motorcycle ran over the Twinkies. A Frisbee landed in the potato salad. Our youngest cut his foot on a flip-top can and bled on the last two ice cubes. I checked on the Tab I had put in the stream to "chill." Someone had stolen it.

"What seems to be the trouble?" asked the nurse summoning me for my appointment.

"I have just developed a pain back here," I said.

"In the neck?" ("No, lower.")

"Your shoulder?" ("Lower.")

"Your back?" ("A little lower.")

"Here!" ("You got it!")

Retired Mailman Has Valuable Tip

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a retired mailman with a valuable tip for your readers: If you have something important or irreplaceable to mail, such as legal documents, pictures or film to be developed, take it to the post office and mail it INSIDE the building.

Why? Because in the summer, the inside of that corner mailbox on the street can get as hot as 140 degrees, which can foul up film. In the winter, some those mailboxes leak like sieves.

Years ago, when I was on collections, I'd bring mail in from some corner boxes that was soaking wet and stuck together—just one big glob. The ink had run on the envelopes, and some of the addresses weren't even legible. (Beware of the mailbox with the big, heavy lock hanging in front. They are the worst offenders for getting mail wet!) Another thing: Some juvenile delinquents will buy a popsicle, eat half of it and throw the rest into a mailbox, and you know what a melted, sticky popsicle can do to the mail! If my letter makes your column, just sign me...
EL MONTE READER

DEAR EL MONTE: It'll make the column all right. And it may even make the mailbox on the corner obsolete.

DEAR ABBY: I love to grow plants. About a year ago, someone gave me some marijuana seeds, and I planted them. Well, they thrived and are really beautiful. I have never smoked marijuana, and I don't plan to. I know it's against the law to grow it, but would like to know what the fine would be if I were caught.
Please answer in your column for obvious reasons.
NO NAME IN CALIF.

DEAR NO NAME: Arthur Groman, a top-notch California attorney, says that you would be charged with "possessing marijuana," and the penalty would vary, depending upon the quantity of marijuana found in your possession.
He suggests you destroy the marijuana and plant geraniums. And if you're wise, you'll take your cue about what to grow from Groman.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been dead for six years. We had a wonderful marriage in every way. Our daughter, now 16, misses her father almost as much as I do. She and I have always had a very close and loving relationship.

About six months ago, I met Manny and we were attracted to each other immediately. He was at my home for dinner one night last week. One thing led to another, and he ended up spending the night in my bedroom.

My daughter came home from a date and saw Manny "spending the night" with me. She ran crying to her room and locked herself in. A few days later, she told me she "hated" Manny, and she's been very cool and distant to me ever since.

Did she expect me to be loyal to her father forever? Abby, I am 39 and only human. Should I break up with Manny just to make my daughter happy?
ONLY HUMAN

DEAR ONLY: Admittedly, we are all only human, but when a daughter discovers her mother's feet of clay, mother usually winds up as "mud."

I doubt if breaking up with Manny will make your daughter "happy." In time, she may understand that mothers have needs, too, but your lack of discretion netted you (and Manny) some well-deserved criticism.

It Could Improve The System

The first non-jury session of Superior Court is being held here this week, and we can see how it can improve the court system.

Resident Superior Court Judge Robert Rouse said the non-jury term is in accordance with the new pretrial Criminal Procedures Act.

Judge Rouse called the session "an innovation in our criminal procedure in North Carolina." He said the court would dispose of all non-jury matters possible during the week. Since no jurors were called during the week they will not be waiting around while time consuming non-jury matters are taken up.

To be handled during the week are such matters as arraignments, motions and matters not requiring a jury. Guilty pleas could be accepted in some cases, probation revocation hearings and post conviction hearings could be held.

The non-jury sessions will be held in counties having 20 or more regularly scheduled criminal Superior Court sessions.

The non-jury sessions are experimental, but they could make for a more efficient court system. Anyone who has been called for jury duty recognizes that jurors spend much of their time waiting while various legal matters are argued before the judge. If these matters can be handled in the non-jury sessions, then things can be cleared for moving right into jury trials when the jurors are on hand.

No doubt it will take some time to work out the non-jury sessions so they are most effective, but we think that this system will be highly successful in streamlining the courts.

ECU Challenge Gift Is Worth Considering

An anonymous businessman might make a $250,000 challenge gift for enlarging Ficklen Stadium, Dr. Leo Jenkins told the ECU board of trustees last week.

If that is met, there is the possibility of a second $250,000 challenge gift.

Jenkins said between $1.5 million and $2 million is needed to enlarge the stadium to 35,000 seats.

It is something that should be strongly considered. Not only would the stadium provide seating for football games, but it could provide seating for other large functions here in the East. The prospect is exciting.

'Chaos' In Art World

By JOHN M. LEIGHTY
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The nation's art museums are on the verge of financial chaos, according to writer-critic Barbara Goldsmith.

"We are moving toward a terminal nightmare of beautiful museums that are closed," said Ms. Goldsmith, an insider to the art world.

A major reason, she contends, is that the "super rich" leave their art collections to museums, which then have to use taxpayers' money to build new wings and maintain paintings and other art objects.

The Metropolitan Museum in New York, she pointed out, already is closed two days a week because of fiscal difficulties.

"You can always find a man who will build a monument to himself," she said of the practice of some millionaires of leaving their collections for display in a special area bearing their name.

"The problem is we have to support it with taxpayer money."

Museums on the West Coast, she said, have the same policy of tax-supported special wings and maintenance of special collections, such as the Avery Brundage Collection at San Francisco's Asian Art Museum in Golden Gate Park.

The Brundage gift, she said, did not include a maintenance fund.

"It's the people who are paying for it," she said. "That's my pet peeve."

Ms. Goldsmith, a journalist and former art critic, drew on her real life experience with high class art manipulation in her recently published first novel, "The Straw Man."

Most people, she said, don't understand what goes on behind the directors' doors in the nation's museums and galleries, mostly because the rhetoric and explanations are made so complex.

She believes that most gifts would allow for building and

THIS AFTERNOON

Many Aides Wait For Job

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—Not so many years ago, there was alarm in North Carolina as elsewhere in the nation that not enough trained teachers were available to fill the classroom slots.

Not now. Things have gotten so tight that many young college graduates are taking jobs as teacher aides. "It's almost a built-in form of apprenticeship," says Julie Geile, an elementary school aide at the Emma Conn School in Raleigh.

Miss Geile is a college graduate, fully certified to teach with a degree in early childhood education. But instead of a regular classroom job where average salaries run over $10,000 yearly, she is an aide at a salary of about $3,800.

"But it is a foot in the door. When a job becomes available, I will have a better chance at it by being on the inside," she explained.

An Over Supply

The story is not unusual today in North Carolina where a teacher oversupply continues to grow with each college graduating class.

For the 1974-75 school year, local superintendents across the state listed a need for 6,587 new teachers, with the broken down into a need for 4,009 teachers with no prior experience; 1,639 experienced teachers who had been out of the field for a year or more; 939 who had experience in another state.

The teacher turnover in that school year was 2,320, including retirements, deaths, and teachers who moved from one district to another—thus filling part of those 6,587 jobs listed as needs.

Current production of new teachers from North Carolina colleges is running well over 7,000 per year, and is expected to exceed 7,500 teaching graduates this year.

A recent report on teacher supply and demand issued by the State Department of Public Instruction notes "continued high production is expected the new supply has exceeded the demand."

Need for new teachers remains high, however, in early childhood and elementary education, and in special fields such as science and education of exceptional children.

Need Guidance

State School Supt. A. Craig Phillips thinks future teachers should be aware of the situation, and need guidance in making college decisions which will affect their future careers.

"It is hoped," Phillips noted, "that the facts presented will be used by counselors, teachers, administrators, and parents in advising students regarding their educational programs and occupational choices."

The overabundance of certified teachers is particularly noticeable in the state's urban areas where all teacher aides hired in certain school districts are fully certified college graduates, even though regulations require only high school graduation.

The result often is that the teacher and the aide can function as a teaching team, rather than working in a situation which had originally been envisioned as one providing relief to the teacher from routine and clerical duties.

Beth Morgan, a first-grade teacher at Rousesville Elementary School in Wake County, is now a regular classroom teacher who reached her post through working as an aide in previous years.

That was, she recalls, "the only way to get a job" in a school system where 100 per cent of the aides are certified teachers.

A Word From Teachers

What is wrong with America's public schools? Obviously something has gone disastrously wrong, for the average scores on standard high school achievement tests are dropping year by year. In a recent column I called attention to these slipping scores, and I suggested the blame should be put upon "the educational establishment."

The column provoked a torrent of angry mail. Some of it came from angry parents. Most of it came from angry teachers. The teachers felt they had been unfairly put upon. They responded with one voice: "We're not to blame. They deserve equal time."

The teachers do not deny that educational standards are sliding down hill. They make the point, which I should have made, that countless teachers are struggling desperately but vainly to preserve the old standards. Responsibility for the decline, in their view, rests not upon teachers, but upon parents, courts, legislators, bureaucrats, and school administrators.

Wrote a teacher in Warren, Ohio: "I would indict those parents who do not teach children the proper attitudes. They send children to school improperly dressed, allow them to be excessively absent, and write excuses which we know to be untrue. This is the norm, not the unusual."

From a teacher in Fresno: "For every parent who wants his child to learn, and works with us toward that end, I could name you a dozen who don't give a damn. These are the parents who resist homework, let their kids watch TV half the night, let them goof off over the weekends, and then complain bitterly at a 'D' or an 'F.'"

From a teacher in St. Louis: "Discipline is not merely a problem. Discipline is a nightmare. The courts have made it just about impossible to suspend or expel a disruptive child. Some of the students know more law (or think they do) than a lot of lawyers, and they openly sneer at threats of punishment. I could have taught another ten years, but I quit in June. I'd had all I could take."

Perhaps the best letter came from a teacher in Greenville, S. C. She wrote: "The public school system is today and always will be only what the society wants it to be." Rightly or wrongly, she continued, society now has imposed a number of responsibilities on the schools in addition to the teaching of basic skills. One such responsibility is to reduce racial prejudice, to teach "adjustment to change," and to maintain the paperwork and extensive record-keeping required by racial quotas and desegregation.

"In addition, the school has been mandated to provide adequate nutrition for all students. This means having the necessary facilities and serving a hot lunch which meets government specifications. At grade school level, this also means teacher time spent in supervision rather than in teaching or planning. This year we are also mandated to serve a nutritious breakfast when students arrive by bus before they get to their classes. No extra money is provided for this responsibility, so it will necessarily come out of monies previously budgeted for the classroom."

Other teachers, scattered about the country, wrote to say that their days are not long enough for the responsibilities heaped upon them. "I am supposed to be mother, father, minister, and probation officer," wrote a teacher in upstate New York.

The GALLUP POLL

Public Employe Strikes?

BY GEORGE GALLUP

(Copyright 1975, Field Enterprises, Inc. All rights reserved. Republication in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with the written consent of the copyright holders.)

PRINCETON, N.J., Sept. 24—At a time when public employe strikes are erupting across the nation, a majority of Americans believe policemen and firemen should not be permitted to strike.

Opinion is about equally divided in the case of strikes by sanitation workers.

While the American people have traditionally supported the right of public employes to join unions and organized for collective bargaining, they have just as consistently voted against their right to strike. The feeling has been that public employes should relinquish this right when they perform vital, health and life-related roles in society.

When strikes do occur, the public for 30 years has favored compulsory arbitration. One plan which has consistently been backed in for a government-appointed committee to decide an issue and compel both sides to accept the terms, if after seven days the union and the employer cannot reach an agreement.

Strikes Seen As Adding To Financial Crisis Of Cities

Some observers feel that the growing power of public employes' unions, dramatized by strikes across the nation, will add greatly to the financial crisis threatening many cities. Encouraged by the outcome of strikes in certain areas of the nation, public employes are taking a strong stance in contract negotiations and are increasingly using the strike as a bargaining tool.

Union Families Favor Right To Strike

While persons in non-union households oppose strikes by policemen, firemen and sanitation workers, union families understandably vote in support of the right to strike.

Following are the questions asked in the survey, the national results and comparison of the views of union and non-union families:

"Should policemen (or firemen or sanitationmen) be permitted to strike, or not?"

Other Editors Say The Jail Judge

(The Raleigh Times)

We cheered when the General Assembly passed the law effective July 1 that made a driver automatically guilty of drunk driving when he blew .10 on the Breathalyzer.

It was, we thought, a tough law and that would rein in those who hurtle down the highways and streets in deadly weapons while drunk at the controls. But come to think of it, we've heard no howls from the courthouse from the hundreds who've been "automatically" found guilty and had their driving privileges revoked under the new law.

We suspect it's because not many are losing their licenses. In most courts across the state, the old standby, $100 fine and costs, is still the most popular disposition in drunk driving cases. Solicitors and attorneys are still arguing that allowing the convicted to keep his license, so he won't be deprived of means for making a living, is essential to bargaining with the defendant for a guilty plea. Otherwise, they contend, the courts would grind to a halt because the dockets would be so overloaded by drivers contesting the charge.

So, that dramatic, far-reaching legislation by the General Assembly hasn't amounted to much.

But in Greensboro, District Judge Darl Fowler has hit upon something that should be copied by judges across the state.

Judge Fowler also allows a lot of convicted drunk drivers to keep their licenses after they've paid the $100 fine and costs for first offense drunk driving. But there's a difference. They don't drive away from the courthouse right away. They first go to jail for three days and they attend once-a-week alcohol abuse classes for a year.

As Judge Fowler notes, such punishment isn't going to have much impact on the alcoholic. But for the businessman headed home after the cocktail party or the teen-ager who's had too much and is jetting down the street at excessive speed, three days in jail offers considerable time for thought.

In a social system that still tolerates moving the public drunk from his harmless snooze on the park bench and approves locking up pot smokers, putting the deadly dangerous drunk driver away for three days is an idea that ought to catch on like wildfire.

The Business Lexicon Changes

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Just as the challenges, problems and accomplishments of business are always changing, so also is the business lexicon.

During the past year, if you seek to follow events in the world of business and finance, the continued reference to three phrases: capital shortage, consumer confidence and crowding out.

In fact, you will find considerable feeling among economists, academics, businessmen and government officials that these three terms are as important as any to Americans today, no matter what their economic status.

CAPITAL SHORTAGE — James Needham, chairman of the New York Stock Exchange, has done the most to publicize this situation, but it is now by far the No. 1 subject of speeches by top executives of major companies.

Unusual measures are taken to encourage savings, they say, there just won't be enough capital in the 1980s to finance jobs, plants, pollution control, housing, mass transportation and other necessary projects.

Reginald Jones, chairman of General Electric, refers in the current Harvard Business Review to a "capital gap of $50 billion a year" between 1977 and 1980, under current tax structure.

"Business will seek to close the gap by simply lowering their investment in plant and equipment; they will cut back inventory spending; and they will cut back their financial asset holdings," he writes, adding:

"In any of these eventualities, the result will be a reduction in the business activity, more unemployment, slower growth in productivity, and the kind of chronic inflation and stagnation."

Chase Manhattan Bank maintains that if the gap isn't closed we will have unemployment in 1985 at twice the current rate. Among its recommendations for improving the climate for accumulating capital:

"Encourage an ever-growing base of personal savings, establish more realistic depreciation allowances, give preferential tax treatment for retained corporate earnings reinvested in the business."

In addition: Ease the "harsh" tax treatment of capital gains, encourage foreign investment, stabilize fiscal-monetary policy, eliminate "unnecessary" controls and regulations that restrict economic activity.

CONSUMER CONFIDENCE — Arthur Burns, the Federal Reserve Board chairman, states that consumer confidence is essential to economic recovery, but he worries about it being hampered by fears of inflation.

Broadly speaking, a consumer is said to have confidence when he has both the ability and willingness to buy. If either is lacking, he isn't likely to be an enthusiastic buyer. And that's important. It's the consumer — n

To the editor:

There will be an unscheduled extra Bloodmobile visit in Greenville Sept. 30. The reason for this visit is that there are not enough people donating blood to adequately supply the 59 hospitals in the region. One of these hospitals is Pitt County Memorial.

When the Bloodmobile was in Greenville Aug. 12, 13, and 14, it ran 25 units per day short of meeting goal. If every chapter came in this short, the region would be 100 units per day under what we need. All summer we have averaged exactly that. For the last two weeks the region has been 800 units per week short. Because of these drastic shortages the blood center is forced to hold some extra visits. We have scheduled one of these visits in Greenville.

PLACE: Greenville Moose Lodge

DATE: Sept. 30, 1975

TIME: 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Please, won't you help Pitt County meet these needs.

Strength For Today

THE EDUCATOR

James A. Garfield, elected President of the United States in 1880, always felt that Mark Hopkins, President of Williams College, was his ideal educator. He used to say that the best college in the country was a log with Hopkins on one end and a student on the other.

His admiration for Hopkins arose when, desperately poor, he applied for admission to several colleges. At that time—in the 1850's—applicants wrote directly to college presidents. Most of the college presidents replied to young Garfield with curt notes showing very little interest in a boy who could not pay his way through school. But Hopkins ended his reply to Garfield with the following: "If you should enter Williams College and I could, at any time be helpful to you, I should consider it a privilege to have you call on me."

Personal interest is an indispensable characteristic of the educator. It is this quality which brings out the best abilities in the person who is being educated.

Festival Parking

Highway Patrol Sgt. P. C. Eure said persons attending the country music festival tonight at Minges Coliseum—sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club for the benefit of Pitt Memorial Hospital and the School of Medicine at East Carolina University—should enter the parking area at the coliseum by way of Charles Street and Ficklen Drive.

Sgt. Eure said traffic for both the 6:45 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. shows will be routed into the parking area from Charles Street and Ficklen Drive.

Traffic leaving the parking area from Charles Street and Ficklen Drive.

Traffic leaving the parking lot following the performances will exit along Berkley Road and 14th Street, according to the Highway Patrol official.

Sgt. Eure said members of the Highway Patrol, the Greenville and East Carolina University police departments and the Pitt County Sheriff's Department will be at strategic points directing traffic into and from the parking areas, as well as parking cars for the show.

The country music festival is featuring the popular singer Dolly Partin.

Gardeners Urged To Participate In Pitt County Fair

By KENNETH R. BATEMAN
Assistant Agricultural Extension Agent

Next week, September 29 through October 4 is Pitt County Agricultural Fair Week. All Pitt County home gardeners are encouraged to participate by exhibiting their fruits and vegetables.

It is important to select specimen that are uniform in size, shape and color, free from insect, disease or mechanical injury and true to type.

True To Type

The specimen should be clean; it adds to the "good looks" of the exhibit. Remove the excess soil by brushing or washing. Generally root crops need to be washed. Leafy vegetables may be dipped or sprayed to remove dirt, dust or any foreign matter. Peppers and eggplant may be wiped with a damp cloth or a cloth to which a drop of salad oil has been added. In all cases, do the job carefully and do not injure or bruise the specimen.

Uniformity
One of the most important factors for a winning exhibit is uniformity. The specimen should be as nearly identical as possible in size, shape, color, freshness and degree of maturity. Pick a specimen that is most nearly perfect—and then select the others just like it.

Quality and Condition

Cultural perfectly and right degree of maturity are the main points to consider in selecting vegetables for exhibition. The condition or degree of maturity should be at its best for good eating. Entries should not be over-ripe, wilted or too immature. For cultural perfection the entry should be free from insect or mechanical injuries, cracks or blemishes, disease spots or wilt and mold.

Size

The size should be medium to slightly larger, or the size most commonly sold in standard

Swimmer Fails Marathon Try

NEW YORK (AP) — Diana Nyad plunged into the oily East River intent on swimming around Manhattan. But 6 hours and 45 minutes later she gave up her marathon eight miles short in the treacherous tides off the lower tip of the island, "cold, frozen and tired."

Miss Nyad, 25, the world's top-ranked woman marathon swimmer, had hoped to be the first to conquer the 28-mile circuit Wednesday in a record eight hours. She managed to complete about 20 miles during a constant downpour.

"Take her out, take her out," the Coast Guard had radioed when Miss Nyad, who had been stroking steadily, seemed to go limp in the choppy, 50-degree water.

The 128-pound swimmer was pulled onto a police launch and later taken to Brooklyn Hospital to be treated for chills and exhaustion. Otherwise, she was all right and added: "I'm going to give it another go."

Miss Nyad, who is working for her Ph.D. in comparative literature, declined to postpone her swim despite heavy rain because she had picked a day when calm currents would offset the hazardous waters of Hell Gate in the East River.

Sindlinger & Co., a market research firm that interviews more than 1,100 families each week, states that consumer confidence is not, as many believe, an amorphous, subjective term.

To have confidence, Albert Sindlinger states, a consumer must give neutral or positive answers to all four of these questions:

How does your present income compare with six months ago — up, down, or same? What do you expect your income to be in six months — up, down, or same? What do you think job conditions in your area will be in six months — more, less, or same? What do you think business conditions will be in your area — better, worse, same?

CROWDING OUT — This term is used to describe a condition that many analysts fear will come to pass, if it doesn't already exist, a condition in which government, business and individuals fight for an insufficient supply of credit.

Says Henry Kaufman, the highly regarded monetary analyst at Salomon Brothers, the investment banking and brokerage firm:

"No economic recovery can gain sustainable momentum unless the credit system is capable of putting funds into the many and diverse sectors of the economy. This is not happening."

Crowding out, he states, "is with us now, and the financial disturbances caused by it are rippling quickly into the real world."

The U.S. Treasury, for example, is offering interest rates sufficiently high to pull money out of savings banks. This leaves the latter in a poorer position to make home mortgages. The homebuyer, therefore, is crowded out.

before she started, she donned a white bathing cap and goggles and slid into the water at 1 p.m. as orange peels and plastic bottles floated by.

Once past the Hell Gate and into the Harlem River, she was cheered on by startled tourists on a Circle Line tour boat. By 4 p.m., swimming at 60 strokes a minute, she was under the George Washington Bridge.

Harbor Police had predicted that the waters around the Battery, the southern tip of Manhattan, would be Miss Nyad's biggest challenge. And they proved to be her downfall.

She had hoped to "break the apparent unofficial record of 8 hours and 56 minutes set by Byron Summers on Sept. 18, 1927. Six persons are reported to have completed the swim, three of them women.

Kilpatrick. . .

"On a single day recently, I had to cope with a 14-year-old girl who was pregnant and with another girl, also 14, who was still strung out on whatever drugs she had been taking the night before. I had to have a long talk with a boy out on probation for assault. We had a committee meeting on study halls. After the last period, the principal met with several senior teachers to discuss 'due process' procedures for suspension hearings. When I got home that night, my husband asked me what I had been doing that kept me so late. I told him I didn't know, but I hadn't done much teaching."

A teacher in Birmingham wrote to say, indignantly, that she, at least, continues to teach the diagramming of sentences. Others said they willingly would teach Latin — if any students were willing to take it. A teacher in Memphis commented that she exhausts herself in teaching spelling to high school seniors, "but few of them want to spell. They don't think it really matters."

The saddest comment came from a recently retired teacher in Akron, who wrote in disdain of the fads, innovations, restrictions, and extraneous demands heaped upon the schools. "Older teachers take the new ideas and teach in spite of them. Young teachers aren't aware of what is missing, mainly discipline, order and facts. You are correct when you say that standards will steadily diminish. And there is no one more horrified than I."

Reagan Opposes Gun Controls

LES SEAGO
Associated Press Writer
MEMPHIS (AP)—Security for presidential candidates may need review, but stiff gun control laws are not the answer to the assassination threat, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan said Wednesday night.

"I'm opposed to the ordinary kind of gun control...I don't think that's the answer," Reagan said during a news conference preceding a $100-a-plate Republican fundraising dinner.

Reagan said agencies responsible for candidates' safety should adopt security procedures and candidates should agree to abide by them.

"I suppose if they had their way, they'd like to lock you up in a glass cage," Reagan said.

Reagan concentrated on Republicanism, Americanism and free enterprise in his speech to some 800 party loyalists, including Sen. William E. Brock, U.S. Rep. Robin Beard and former Gov. Winfield Dunn.

The speech was virtually the same one he has given at each stop on a speaking tour that will take him to 34 cities in 13 states over the next six weeks.

Earlier Wednesday Reagan met with a group of business leaders in Atlanta and delivered a speech in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

The one-time movie and television star said he does not consider himself a presidential candidate.

He said he would make up his mind about making the race in November after his speaking tour is completed.

Asked what issues he and President Ford differed on, Reagan replied:

"I haven't put together any list. I'll simply state my own beliefs."

Reagan said he did not believe a battle over the GOP presidential nomination with Mr. Ford would divide the Republican party.

He said California Republicans had avoided dividing the party because they adopted what he called the 11th Commandment: "Thou shalt not speak ill of another Republican."

Reagan was questioned by newsmen about the reason for two presidential attempts in California within the past three weeks.

"It isn't that Californians are different," he said. "We were deliberately picked as a kind of battleground."

He said New York and Michigan were also the scenes of student unrest during the past decade.

"Don't blame the people because the guerilla bands chose to come in and do their thing there."

In his speech afterward, Reagan attacked the Democratic party, liberals, bureaucrats and government welfare programs.

"I find it interesting that the Democrat National Convention will be in New York," he said. "Let the leaders of that party see at first hand what their philosophies can achieve."

He urged the highly partisan crowd to reject pleas for the GOP to be a party that is everything to everybody.

"We don't have to sell our souls to organized labor's hierarchy in Washington," Reagan declared. He said it was degrading to promise more welfare programs to minorities and dishonest to promise more social security benefits to the elderly.

ON THE ROCKS—The Liberian flag freighter Northern Breeze founders on the rocks off the Chilean coast after splitting in two last week when it ran aground enroute to Valparaiso, Chile. The crew escaped safely, but salvage workers fear the ship will sink before its 300 tons of general cargo can be removed. (AP Wirephoto)

Inmate Held In Slaying

RALEIGH (AP)—A murder charge has been lodged against a 21-year-old Odum Correctional Center inmate who was accused in Monday's stabbing death of another inmate, prison officials said.

Garland R. Hancock of Robbins was charged Tuesday in the death of Terry Giddeons, 22, authorities said.

Giddeons was slain with an instrument made from a shoe's metal arch support, a prison spokesman said.

Hancock was held in isolation in the Odum Correctional Center, located in Northampton County, to await transfer to Central Prison in Raleigh, the spokesman said.

Hancock was serving a five-year sentence for breaking and entering and theft, plus additional sentences on escape convictions, the spokesman said.

Giddeons was serving a 12-year sentence. He was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in 1969 in Pender County.

The State Bureau of Investigation is continuing its efforts to determine the cause of the stabbing incident.

Tour Awaits Holshouser

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Jim Holshouser will leave Saturday for a seven-day industrial development and trade mission to Europe.

The trip will be highlighted by the opening of North Carolina's European office in Dusseldorf, West Germany. Stops in Switzerland and England are also planned.

The governor will visit six cities to meet with persons interested in locating industrial facilities in the state or in buying North Carolina Products.

Going with Holshouser will be a security aide, North Carolina Department of Natural and Economic Resources deputy secretary George Little, Division of Economic Development Assistant Director Tom Broughton and gubernatorial news secretary Jack Childs.

"We're not knocking down doors drumming up business. The people with whom the governor will meet are interested in investing in the United States and want to talk turkey about North Carolina," said Robert Leak, director of the Division of Economic Development.

"Western European industrialists want to talk to the top man when the time comes to choosing between various states. That's why other states have spent so much time shuttling their governors to Europe," Leak said.

In addition to Dusseldorf, cities on the itinerary are: Stuttgart, Frankfurt, Zurich, Hamburg and London.

Check the fluid in your car's brake system regularly. If you find that fluid must be added you should have the whole system checked out.

CBS Sues To Examine Evidence In King Death

MEMPHIS (AP)—CBS, Inc., wants to examine the ballistics evidence in the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., but first must win approval from a judge.

Criminal Court Judge William H. Williams set a hearing Friday on the CBS petition, seeking permission to view the evidence.

Meanwhile, James H. Lesar, Washington, an attorney for convicted assassin James Earl Ray, objected Wednesday to the network's request, saying publicity of the evidence would violate Ray's rights.

Williams said the petition is likely part of an attempt by CBS to determine whether conspiracy allegations are true.

CBS said in its petition it plans a broadcast for Nov. 30 on the assassination of King. It proposes an examination and photography of the murder bullet, test bullets, cartridges, the 30.06 rifle found at the scene and the windowsill from which the assassin fired.

"There is a question whether the bullet which killed Dr. King can be demonstrated to have come from the rifle found at the scene of the crime," the petition said.

The petition said there is also a question whether the rifle found at the scene is the same rifle that made the markings on the windowsill.

Lesar argued that because Ray's appeal of the denial of his petition for writ of habeas corpus is pending before the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati, the petition should be denied.

But CBS attorneys argued it should be allowed access because Ray is a convicted and sentenced felon and not an accused person awaiting trial.

Lesar also objected to CBS obtaining information Ray's attorneys could not obtain for an evidentiary hearing last fall. He said it is a "subversion of due process of the laws for CBS to be able to obtain this vital evidence because it is rich and powerful, when he (Ray), whose right and liberty are at stake, cannot."

Williams said the evidence, which was actually received and exhibited during the Ray trial, is in the hands of Criminal Court Clerk J.A. Blackwell and, should Williams grant the request, CBS will not be allowed to remove the evidence from the clerk's possession.

Pumpkin Theft

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The 1,000 pumpkins being raised for a benefit sale by the PTA of the Eastover Elementary School in Charlotte have been stolen. All summer long the PTA members, pupils and teachers had tended the patch between Weddington and Matthews near Charlotte.

But when they went to harvest the pumpkins last Saturday, all were gone.

They were going to be sold in front of the school. The $650 or so they would have brought would be used to buy slides, tapes, and other materials to supplement the textbooks. The materials had already been ordered. So the school will have to come up with some other money-making project in a hurry.

CUSTODY CASE—SPCA officer Jim Hill holds one of two cats that may have belonged to Patricia Hearst and which have now become custody cases. The cats were found in the Morse Street apartment in San Francisco where Patty Hearst was arrested with Wendy Yoshimura. This black male cat is believed to be Miss Hearst's car because her mother said Patty had asked about the black cat. (AP Wirephoto)

Pastor Resigns After Struggle

GASTONIA (AP)—The embattled pastor of a white church in a racially changing neighborhood of Gastonia has given up a 10-month fight.

A church faction wanted him to resign, and the Rev. Bartley P. Horne has done so.

The 66-year-old minister will move to Kings Mountain and start collecting Social Security.

The congregation has decided to sell the Cleveland Heights Baptist Church. It will be sold to a black congregation, the Christ Community Baptist Church, which now is meeting in a house.

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market showed some scattered losses in very quiet trading today, waiting out a decision by oil-exporting countries on their post-Oct. 1 prices.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 5.16 at 821.03. Losers and gainers were closely in balance in the over-all count on the New York Stock Exchange.

A short time after the opening investors received notice that they would apparently have to wait until Friday at least for the final word on the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries' pricing plans.

Ahmed Zaki Yamani, the Saudi Arabian oil minister, left the OPEC meeting in Vienna today indicating that an impasse had been reached.

Saudi Arabia has pushed for no increase at all and has said it will agree to no more than a nominal boost. Yamani said a group led by Iran was insisting on an increase of more than 20 per cent.

Teleprompter was the big Board volume leader, down 1/4 at 6 1/4. A 126,200-share block traded at 6 1/4.

Aluminum issues came under pressure amid signs of downward pressure on industry prices through discounting.

Reynolds metals lost 1 1/4 to 19 1/4. Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical was off 2 1/4 at 23 1/4, and Alcan Aluminum dropped 1 1/4 to 21 1/4. Alcoa was delayed in opening because of an imbalance of orders.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was unchanged at 45.51 after the first hour.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index edged up .04 to 84.77.

No Banzais For Visitor

HONOLULU (AP) —The traditional "banzai" cheer will be eliminated from the official functions here for Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako of Japan when they visit next month.

Officials said it is feared the use of "banzai" might be misconstrued by certain segments of the American community and revive "ugly memories of the war."

"Some Americans still connect it with the battlefield yell, the 'banzai' charge and Japanese soldiers committing hara-kiri," said Seiyei Wakukawa, executive director of the Hawaii Committee to Welcome Their Majesties.

"Banzai" literally means "10,000 years," and although the phrase does not mention the emperor, it was meant to be translated as "long live the emperor," Wakukawa said.

The use of the "banzai" cheer is common in Hawaii where just under one-third of the population is of Japanese ancestry. Wakukawa said there would be no attempt to prevent people on the streets from yelling "banzai" when the royal couple passes by.

Nat'l Poster Child Named

Mt. PLEASANT, Tenn. (AP)—Tammy Patterson, 6, has been named the 1976 March of Dimes national poster child. Tammy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson of Mt. Pleasant, was born with multiple birth defects, including a defective bladder and kidneys and an underdeveloped spine and rib cage.

The announcement was made at a news conference in White Plains, N.Y., Wednesday night.

"We are tickled and thrilled," Patterson said. "The March of Dimes has done a lot for Tammy. We hope as national poster chairman, she can do a lot for the March of Dimes."

As the national poster child, the girl will travel with her mother to at least 34 states, including a stop next week at the White House in Washington.

After undergoing two spinal operations at Vanderbilt Hospital in Nashville, Tammy is able to walk with the aid of half-leg braces and recently mastered climbing stairs, according to her parents. She also has an artificial bladder.

The girl is a first-grade pupil at a local elementary school.

'Farm' Losses

WASHINGTON (AP) —The District of Columbia is a city of massive marble buildings, granite monuments to past leaders and high-rise apartments and offices surrounded by miles of pavement. It's no great shakes as farming land.

That may be why the Internal Revenue Service's statistics show that the 240 residents of the District who list themselves as farmers claimed $2.65 million in farm losses in 1973.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, bringing the Washington farmer community to the attention of the House today, said he was somewhat surprised to discover that there are farmers in the city.

"Are 240 apartment dwellers along upper Connecticut Avenue claiming losses on their windowboxes?" he asked. "Do the quarter-million dollar penthouses on the top of the Watergate support truck farm operations?"

Vanik said he had decided the bulk of the farm owners in the District must be absentee farmers — "gentlemen farmers who have never gotten their feet muddy."

Glen Campbell's Wife Is Suing

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Singer Glen Campbell's wife of 16 years filed suit for dissolution of their marriage Wednesday in Superior Court.

Claiming irreconcilable differences as grounds for the suit, Billie Jean Campbell, 36, asked for custody of their daughter and two sons and for reasonable support payments.

Campbell, who broke into show business at age 6 performing on Houston and Galveston radio stations, married Billie Jean Nunley, a former beautician, in Las Vegas on Sept. 20, 1959.

Campbell's marriage to Diane Kirk in 1956 ended in divorce in 1959. He also has a daughter by that marriage.

Approve Four Bank Branches

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Banking Commission has approved application of four banks to open branches.

The United Citizens Bank of Winston-Salem was authorized to open a branch on Reynolda Road in Winston-Salem; the Mechanics and Farmers Bank of Durham was given permission to open a branch on Rock Quarry Road in Raleigh; American Bank and Trust Co. of Monroe was authorized to establish a branch on Eastway Drive in Charlotte; and First Citizens Bank and Trust Co. of Raleigh was permitted to open a branch at McGee's Crossroads in Johnston County.

Growing Evidence Of Crimes Threatens Trouble For Patty

By EVANS WITT
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —A growing net of evidence of murder, robbery and bombings is touching the radical comrades of Patricia Hearst, threatening to draw the newspaper heiress into more legal troubles.

Authorities want to find three of her companions for questioning about a brutal bank robbery that ended in murder, a source close to the investigation confirmed Wednesday.

There were also reports that marked money taken in that April bank robbery near Sacramento was found in the apartment where Miss Hearst and fellow fugitive Wendy Yoshimura were arrested here last week.

Other law enforcement officials said that the Symbionese Liberation Army — which kidnaped Miss Hearst and then, she said, converted her — and its allies were responsible for a series of terrorist bombings in the San Francisco Bay area and were planning more attacks.

The three radicals federal agents want to question are James Kilgore and Kathy and Josephine Soliah. With the Soliahs' brother, Steve, now in custody, the three have been linked with the April 21 holdup of a Crocker Bank branch in the Sacramento suburb of Carmichael.

Soliah, 27, was arrested along with Miss Hearst and was indicted Wednesday for hiding her, at the time she was a federal fugitive, in a San Francisco apartment that authorities say he rented.

Authorities believe the other three went underground after the arrests of Miss Hearst, Soliah, Miss Yoshimura and SLA members William and Emily Harris.

During the Carmichael robbery, one of four ski-masked robbers fatally wounded a female customer, apparently without reason. Then the robbers went behind the bank counter and stomped on the heads of persons they had ordered to the floor.

Police also said they believe a fifth person waited outside the bank in a second getaway car. The bandits fled with $15,000.

A law enforcement source told The Associated Press that the fingerprints of Soliah and Kilgore, 27, were found on the getaway cars in the Carmichael holdup.

CBS News reported Wednesday night that marked bills taken in the Carmichael bank robbery were found in the apartment where Miss Hearst was arrested. CBS also said that a FBI sketch of a woman linked to the robbery resembled Miss Hearst.

The FBI and other officials refused to comment on the reports.

In another development, the San Francisco police department dropped its warrants seeking the arrests of the Soliah sisters, Kathy, 28, and Josephine, 24, for investigation of explosives and illegal weapons violations.

"After consulting with the district attorney, we decided we did not have enough evidence, so the search was called off," said Police Sgt. Victor Rykoff.

But sources said federal authorities are still looking for the two, described by a police all-points bulletin as armed and dangerous.

Soliah, a house painter and friend of Kilgore, was also indicted on a charge of being an accessory after the fact to an SLA robbery of a San Francisco branch of the Hibernia Bank on April 15, 1974.

Rose Gets Toughest Test In Cardinals

Rose High School's Rampants put their winning streak and their Number One ranking on the line Friday night when they travel to meet strong Jacksonville. Kickoff is set for 8 p.m. in Jacksonville.

The Rampants go into the game with a three-game winning streak, having downed three members of the Division II conference, Goldsboro, New Bern and Kinston, Jacksonville, however, was the pre-season favorite, and until this week was ranked fourth in the state.

However, Wilmington's

Hoggard High School came up with a 27-21 upset victory over the Cardinals last week, snapping their win streak at three.

Rose, meanwhile, considered itself lucky to get away with a 21-15 victory over Kinston High School, although the game was not really that close. Kinston was in the shadow of the goal when the game ended, however, with the potential winning touchdown within sight.

The two Kinston scores came off long runs—a 100-yard kickoff return and a 70-yard fumble return. Except for them, the Vikings were held in check with less than 100 yards offense going into the final three minutes, when they drove the length of the field and nearly pulled it off. A potential touchdown pass with one second left just fell off the tips of a receiver's fingers.

"The scores really wasn't indicative of the game," Rose Coach Dave Bumgarner said. "We made a lot of mistakes. We blew blocking assignments and running assignments. We didn't go what we should have done.

The defense did a good job, but the kickoff team was too aggressive and it hurt us. They were all trying to make the tackle instead of filling their lanes."

"It's just a question of refining our execution, and getting a little more experience on our younger players."

Bumgarner feels that Jacksonville will, indeed, be the toughest team the Rampants have faced this year. "They are highly talented, they have a good quarterback and a good receiver. And they are awfully big."

The loss to Hoggard last week could have two effects on the game. Jacksonville could be sky high, Bumgarner thinks, in an effort to get back on the winning side. "But we could see that they can be beaten. In fact, they were ahead, 21-0, at the end of the first period, and Hoggard shut them off and won it."

The Cardinals, like the Rampants, run the wishbone. "Leander Green, their quarterback, tries to run the ball and he does a good job of it. We not only have to stop him, but we have to stop the pitch off his runs, too. They don't go up the middle as much as we do, but they are an extremely explosive football team. Both of their halves are speedy. They're not big, but they get around the ends pretty good."

Bumgarner noted that the Cardinals have an outstanding passing game. "Green throws the ball well and isn't afraid to put it in the air." He threw two touchdown passes last week. "He likes to scramble around until someone gets in the clear."

Defensively, the Cardinals will be the biggest team the Rampants have faced. "They had a 6-4 230-pound tackle and a 6-5, 240-pound tackle in their defensive line," the coach said. "They run a shifty defense that will make it tough for us to run. Last year, they shut down our side game entirely. We were lucky to win last year (22-21) and a safety meant the difference. They are a very physical club."

at split end instead of Kent Phillips.

The Greensboro Daily News dropped Rose to second in its weekly poll of 4-A schools because of the closeness of the win over Kinston. Sanford currently ranks first. Jacksonville tumbled to ninth place with its loss. The Burlington Times-News lists Rose first and Jacksonville fifth.

Everyone is expected to be ready to play this weekend with the possible exception of William Joyner, injured in the New Bern game. "We still don't know if he'll be ready."

Meanwhile, Doug Paschal's return has helped the Rampant middle game. He'll be in the backfield along with Mac Blount and Mike Joyner, while Henry Trevathan handles the quarterback duties.

Surprised Joe Godette Is Out To Prove He's Worth Ranking

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

When the 1975 football season was about to begin, the Greensboro Daily News came out with its pre-season predictions about the state high school races. They also came out with their annual "Top 100" which lists those players that paper feels will be the best in the state.

On that list this year were three Rose High School players—and for two of them, it was no big surprise, Doug Paschal and Mike Brewington. But for the third, it was somewhat of a shock. He'd started only briefly as a junior, and only then when the regular starter had become ill.

"It really surprised me," Joe Godette, 6-3, 200, now a starting guard for the unbeaten Rampants said. "Since I never really was a starter, it was somewhat of a shock. I don't feel that I've really lived up to it as yet, but I guess you can't tell until you look back at it at the end of the year."

Coach Dave Bumgarner may take exception to that statement, however. "Joe is a super kid and a super player," Bumgarner said. "We don't have any bad players and Joe is another example of the good ones we have. I just hope that he isn't overlooked by the college people. He's an outstanding blocker and can play defense too if we need him. I do think he's one of the premier linemen in the state."

Godette started his football career in the seventh grade on the recreation department's tackle team. The next year, he moved onto the E. B. Aycock team as a starting guard. He missed his sophomore year due to a non-football injury, and this probably left him an entire year behind—and was the primary reason he didn't start as a junior.

"I was a reserve guard all last year until Lee Hill (the starter) got sick. After that, I started the rest of the way," Joe said.

Godette feels that the toughest part of being a member of the offensive line is not being able to use your hands—a no-no for the offense. "It confines you like no other position in football," Godette said. "So far I haven't run up on anyone that I've not been able to handle, but I understand that Jacksonville has some real good people, so I might be getting a real test from them."

Pirate Women Opening Field Hockey Season

By CONNIE HUGHES
Special to the Reflector

When Laurie Arrants, new field hockey coach for East Carolina University, arrived in Greenville, two things greeted her an out-of-shape team and an opening match with her alma mater, Winthrop.

The scene has changed. It's a conditioned, experienced group that travels to the University of North Carolina-Greensboro's Sports Day this weekend to take on a South Carolina club team and the field hockey team from Winthrop College. The conditioning came via Laurie Arrant's "Happiness Drills."

These drills are seven continuous minutes of wind sprints, calisthenics and perspiration.

Also returning is junior Gail Betton, named last year to the Deep South and South East Regional teams. Betton, at right link, may be hampered this fall with ankle problems.

At goalie will be a new talent from Fairfax, Virginia. Freshman Sally Birch will be the girl in the cage this weekend. Coach Arrants is happy with her freshman, "I have high hopes for this one. Sally is very aggressive and the team is comfortable with her back there," she smiled. Birch had four years of goalie experience in high school.

As in the '74 season the Pirate field hockey team will be playing "systems," but the system has changed. "Systems" as opposed to regular field hockey style frees the coach to utilize her personnel in any arrangement on the field. Arrants has planned a 4-2-4 offense with a man-to-man defense.

her undergraduate work as a center half.

"The Winthrop team is a team that can come up from behind and bite when you least expect it. We can't take them lightly," said Arrants.

Following this weekend's matches, the ECU team will host Duke University on Oct. 7 at 4 p.m. on the field behind ECU's Allied Health building. The team is a member of the Deep South Field Hockey Association.

Rankins Honored

A freshman track star at East Carolina University has been named to the high school All-America team, it was announced today.

Coach Bill Carson announced that Scholastic Coach Magazine had named Marvin Rankins, a 1975 graduate of Bertie Senior High School, to its All-America track team.

Rankins turned in a :13.7 time in the high hurdles, and an :18.6 in the low hurdles around the turn. His low hurdle time is the second fastest time ever recorded for a high school athlete.

"This is the third straight year that we have signed at least one high school All-America selection," Carson added.

Rankins will make his first runs for the Pirates during the winter indoor season.

Chips and putts from area golf courses:
Ayden

The Ayden Golf and Country Club is scheduling a Super-Superball Tournament for this Sunday at the club.

Those members wishing to play are urged to contact the pro shop no later than Friday to sign up.

Brook Valley

Brook Valley Country Club held its annual Superball Championship tournament over the weekend. The top honors went to the team of Tommy Boone, Bryan Berkey, James Sawyer and Gerald Crane with a 119. Second place went to Lee Alcorn, Ed Reep, Bill Goodwin and Carlos Murray with a 121.

Finishing third were Reese Hart, Red Hawley, Don McGlohn and Bill Sneed, with a 122. Also at 122, but taking fourth place were Bob Helmick, Edwin Clark, Cletus Jackson and Joe Clark. Fifth went to Jim Lunch, Harry Shope, Horace Topping and Charlie Kuehn with a 123. A total of 22 teams participated in the tournament.

Lawton Nisbet shot his best round at Brook Valley, carding a 37-40—77. Spencer Hill, playing in the same foursome, had his best nine, a 34.

Sammy Kee had his sixth career hole-in-one on the 213-yard eighth hole. He used a three-wood for the shot. Playing with him were Paul McMahon, Jim Grauer and John Jackson.

Entries are coming in fast for the seventh annual Reynolds May Fourball Tournament. Brook Valley members and members of other Pitt County clubs who wish to play are urged to get their entries in quickly. The deadline is October 3, or when the field reaches 72 teams.

The fall edition of the Mixed Spectacular will be held on October 5. Couples wishing to play should sign up by October 2. A drawing will be held at a social hour on October 3, and dinner will follow the tournament.

Greenville

A Ladies Golf Social will be held at the Greenville Golf and Country Club on Monday. Ladies from New Bern, Washington and Brook Valley have been invited to participate. Greenville members wishing to take part should sign up at the club. A 10 a.m. tee off is scheduled.

A Hidden Hole Tournament will be held for this week's Ladies' Day on Friday.

The Women's Match Play Tournament will be held during October. Those wishing to play should sign up by October 1.

A Ringer Ladies Tournament is now underway at the club and will continue through December 1. Details can be obtained at the pro shop.

A Super Captain's Choice will be held on October 12, with a pig picking to follow. The field is limited to the first 100 to sign up, and only a few berths are still open.

The M. B. Massey Jr. Memorial Fall Junior Tournament will be held in October, with signups closing on October 1. First round matches in the match play tournament are slated for the week of October 1, with the finals on October 19.

In last week's Ladies' Day, an alternate shot of pair tournament was held. First place went to the team of Peggy Barnes and Dorothy Woolles with a 33. Second were Nancy Monroe and Bernie Rawl, tied with Harriette White and Mary Dale White, both teams carding a 34.

In a Captain's choice Tournament, the team of Howard Waldrop, Alex White, Nancy Monroe and Dorothy Doyle took first. Second were Dan Wright, Larry Land, Harriette Wooten and Pell Fulp. Third place went to Ed Warren, Don Wilkerson, Gay Waldrop and Myrt Leslie. Finishing fourth were Charles Vincent, Dean Painter, Jane Collie and Audrey Thiele. The team of Don Mattox, Bob Daniel, Bernie Rawl and Chris Andresen finished fifth.

Latest Offer Appears Dead

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Only two of the 26 teams have cast their votes thus far, but it appears the National Football League players are on the verge of throwing management's latest contract offer for a tremendous loss.

And once again the threat of more player unrest looms ever larger in a contract dispute which has been going on for nearly 20 months. Despite the negative reaction to the offer, though, the chances of another players' strike appears slim.

On Wednesday, the Houston Oilers voted early and unanimously to reject the latest proposal by the NFL Management Council, the owners' bargaining arm. And the Buffalo Bills issued a 42-1 vote in opposition.

The offer submitted last Monday in a meeting in Chicago between the NFLMC and NFL Players Association was termed by the owners "our best shot." But the NFLPA simply passed it on to its union members without a recommendation — and there were reliable reports that Kermit Alexander, president of the union, and the rest of the NFLPA leaders were almost wholly against it.

The union leaders had said Tuesday, when the talks broke off, that the teams would probably start voting today.

But the Oilers and Bills, clubs which refused to join last week's five-team walkout triggered by the New England Patriots, got the jump on the other 24 teams — and it appeared they were setting the tone for the voting.

Spokesmen for several other teams expressed their opinions that, when their ballots were counted today, the votes against the owners' offer would be similarly overwhelming.

Although there are nearly 1,200 active players in the league, the only ones voting will be the members of the union, the 950 or so who have paid their dues or pledged to do so. The verdict will be determined by a simple majority.

And if that verdict is to reject — as it appears almost certain — the next step will be up to the players. They'll have to decide whether to strike for a third time in 14 months, try to negotiate again or continue to play without a contract as they've done since Feb. 1, 1974.

Ed Garvey, the executive director of the union, has indicated Monday's four-year offer would have been acceptable based on the main economic items such as insurance benefits and pensions. The players' pension fund, by the way, is in danger of going broke if a new contract isn't signed this year.

Oakland Finally Captures West Flag

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Guess what? The Oakland A's won a pennant.

Normally that wouldn't be news — but it is now that they've finally secured the American League West.

The A's, who usually nail this thing down earlier, took an agonizingly long time before collecting their latest flag with a 13-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday night.

The defending World Champions had the opportunity to wrap up their fifth straight West championship last weekend, but lost three straight games. Meanwhile, the runner-up Kansas City Royals won all their games and kept the suspense going.

"It was a lot tougher job this time," Oakland Manager Alvin Dark admitted.

The Royals went down fighting, cheating the Minnesota Twins 4-2 just a couple of hours before Oakland took care of the White Sox.

In the other American League games, the Baltimore Orioles bombed the Detroit Tigers 8-1 and the Milwaukee Brewers turned back the Cleveland Indians 10-3. A doubleheader between the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees was rained out.

Reggie Jackson slammed home runs his first two times up to launch the A's to their big victory. Jackson raised his home run total to 34, tying him with Milwaukee's George Scott for the league lead, by hitting a two-run shot in the first inning and adding a bases-empty homer in the third off Chicago starter Jesse Jefferson, 5-11.

The A's scored at least one run in each of the first five innings as Vida Blue coasted to his 21st victory of the season behind the 13-hit A's attack. He left after six innings.

Royals 4, Twins 2
George Brett's tie-breaking single in the eighth inning helped Kansas City beat Minnesota.

The Twins pulled into a 2-2 tie by scoring twice in the top of the seventh inning. In the seventh, the Royals used five pitchers and the Twins five pinch hitters.

Orioles 8, Tigers 1
Baltimore's Jim Palmer notched his 22nd victory, beating Detroit with strong batting support from Paul Blair and Lee May. The victory moved the Orioles within 3½ games of first-place Boston in the American League East and kept the Red Sox "magic" number at four.

The second game of the scheduled two-night doubleheader at Baltimore was postponed and will be made up as part of a two-nighter tonight.

With the score tied 1-1 in the fifth, Baltimore scored five times to chase loser Joe Coleman, 10-18. Blair and May each contributed a two-run single to the rally. Blair also drove home one of Baltimore's runs in the sixth off Lerrin LaGrow.

Brewers 10, Indians 3
George Scott drove in four runs with a double and his 34th homer, leading Milwaukee over Cleveland. Jim Colborn, 11-12, was the winner, getting the benefit of five runs in the first two innings.

The Brewers pounced on Cleveland starter Fritz Peterson, 14-8, ending his winning string at 10 games.

Desperation Swing Ends Seaver's No-Hit Bid; Mets Then Lose, 1-0

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Strange things happen in baseball these damp, September days when teams are playing out the string and guys like Joe Wallis get their shots at the big time.

Wallis, recently up from the American Association, found himself standing between New York Met ace Tom Seaver and glory Wednesday at Wrigley Field. Seaver had gone 8 2-3 innings without giving up a hit in the scoreless game and Wallis hadn't gotten the ball out of the infield in three trips.

Two quick fastballs ran the count to 0-2. A hanging curveball was next and Wallis lunged at it and lined a single into right field.

End no-hitter.

"It was a desperation swing," admitted Wallis, whose previous claim to fame was going 3-for-4 in the minors against Denny McLain. "He fooled me with two fastballs and I was looking for another one."

Eventually the Cubs won the game 1-0 in the 11th. Wallis was around to get a walk in the 11th but both Seaver and Cub starter Rick Reuschel departed after 10.

"Five years ago losing a no-hitter would have been a big emotional letdown," said Seaver. "Today, I just wanted to get the next batter out. If I get the no-hitter, I get it; if I don't, I don't."

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati beat Houston 6-4, Philadelphia clubbed Pittsburgh 8-1, Los Angeles routed San Diego 14-0, Montreal trimmed St. Louis 6-2 and Atlanta edged San Francisco 7-6 in 11 innings.

Seaver has never had a no-hitter but he's had five one-hitters. He's lost three no-hitters in the ninth. Wallis, who was playing right field in place of ailing Jerry Morales, joins Chicago's Jimmy Qualls, who broke one up in 1969, and San Diego's Leron Lee, who spoiled another in 1972, on Seaver's personal hit parade.

Nuggets, Nets Seek NBA Berths

By CRAIG AMMERMAN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Nets and Denver Nuggets, the most attractive teams in the American Basketball Association, are applying for admission to the more established National Basketball Association in moves that could seriously damage the ABA's future.

The Associated Press learned of the developments Wednesday. Sources high in both leagues said the NBA hierarchy is aware of and approves of the moves which are designed to bring the Nets and Nuggets into the league as expansion franchises in 1976.

The moves, if successful, would strike a serious blow at the ABA when it is beginning to challenge the NBA on most fronts.

Sources said the deal is far from complete. The NBA owners have not approved it. The court suits — charging violation of anti-trust laws among other things — that will surely come have yet to be fought. A pending suit by the NBA players' union could get in the way. But both sides are serious and want to complete the deal, sources said.

"The application (for admission) is a sure thing," said a source close to Denver president Carl Scheer.

Scheer and Nets' owner Roy Boe met here Wednesday, completing a series of intricate negotiations that began a month ago. NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien has ZABA President John Y. Brown said.

Brown said if the Nets and Nuggets go ahead with their plans, suits will follow. But the clubs were moving ahead anyway. The Nuggets scheduled a 1 p.m. news conference in Denver. Meanwhile, attorneys for the clubs were to appear in a New York federal court to file briefs which sources said were intended to head off any possible suits from the NBA Players' Association.

The scenario, which could result in the expansion of the 18-team NBA into four five-team divisions next year and move such players as Julius Erving, David Thompson and Marvin Webster into the league, began unfolding at least one month ago. As told by sources in both leagues, this is what happened:

—Boe and Scheer, wishing to reopen negotiations on a merger of the two leagues, approached the NBA about making an application for membership. Their intent at the time was to try to force a merger.

—They invited the ABA champion Kentucky Colonels to join them. Brown confirmed that and said he and his wife Ellie, who owns the club, declined.

—Boe and Scheer were told by the NBA that a merger was not possible. At the same time, they were told it was entirely possible they could join the league, that, indeed, the NBA would like to have them.

—Then negotiations began on possible fees the two clubs would pay to join as expansion franchises. Denver and New York balked at paying the $6.15 million sum charged the last expansion club because most of that fee was to reimburse other clubs for supplying players. Denver and New York don't need players. Fee arrangements have not yet been worked out.

Tree Says Got No Car

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP)—Wayne "Tree" Rollins, Clemson's 7-foot-1 basketball center, is quoted as denying a report that he received a car in violation of rules of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The Charlotte, N.C., Observer reached him after Jo Jo Betha, former Clemson basketball player, said that he, Betha, and Rollins had received cars through a rental agency.

The players were contacted after a published report that the NCAA had placed Clemson on two years probation for violation of basketball recruiting regulations. Clemson has the right to appeal any ruling by the NCAA. The school contends it is forbidden by NCAA rules from making any statement until an announcement is made by the NCAA.

The Observer contacted Rollins at the training site for the U.S. Pan American basketball team at Adams State College in Alamosa, Colo. It quoted him as denying that he had received a car, and denying knowledge of Betha's having received one.

Betha is in preseason training with the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association. He has finished his basketball eligibility at Clemson, but could still play football this fall. Former Clemson basketball coach Bates Locke, now an assistant with the Buffalo Braves of the National Basketball Association, has denied he made the payments on rental cars for some of his Clemson players. The Greenville, S.C., Piedmont reached him in Buffalo Wednesday after the paper said it had learned from informed sources that he had made payments at a Greenville bank on a car financed for Betha. The paper quoted him as denying making payments on a car for Betha, and as being unable to understand the remarks attributed to Betha. Locke said the only car he knew Betha to have at Clemson was an old one that would not run.

City Counts Pressure Building Up 3 Accidents For Nixon To Testify

An estimated $3,750 property damage resulted from three collisions investigated by Greenville police yesterday.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from an 8:15 a.m. collision on Memorial Drive 510 feet North of the Fifth Street intersection involving cars driven by Talmale Lorenz Barnett of Goldsboro and Rufus Huggins of 1500 Spruce St.

Investigators, who reported Barnett was injured in the collision, estimated damage at $1,000 to the Barnett car and $1,200 to the Huggins auto.

Barnett was charged with exceeding a safe speed.

Loran Edward Norris of 1305 Evergreen Dr. was charged with following close following investigation of a 4:20 p.m. mishap on 4th Street, 30 feet West of the Greene Street intersection.

Officers estimated damage at $450 to the Norris car and $700 to an auto driven by Grover Cleveland Avera of 11 Avon Lane.

No damage resulted to a third vehicle involved in the mishap—a car driven by Lubie Fernando Harris of Route 2, Greenville.

Police made no charges following investigation of a 3:34 p.m. mishap on Cotanche Street north of the Fifth Street intersection.

Officers reported cars driven by Eugene Frick Scott of Wilson and John Mayo Moody of Bethel collided, resulting in an estimated $275 damage to the Scott car and $125 damage to the Moody vehicle.

Arrest For Conspiracy

OCALA, Fla. (AP) — An unemployed service station attendant has been arrested on a charge of conspiracy to kill President Ford after first being freed when he told FBI agents about the plan, authorities say.

John Clayton Massey, 32, was arrested Wednesday night at a truckstop near this North Florida town after an all-state alert.

"He came to the FBI office in Ocala and gave some information about supposed plans of himself and others to hit the President and Sen. (Edward M.) Kennedy," said Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert Yerkes.

Yerkes said Massey was allowed to leave after he told about the plot. Arthur Nehrbass, agent in charge of the Jacksonville regional FBI office, said he couldn't explain why Massey wasn't detained then.

"I don't have an answer right now," Nehrbass said. "There was an investigation underway. He did not make an overt threat that he would kill the President.

"The answer may come out, but I can't answer it tonight even though I know it makes us look bad."

Neither Yerkes nor Nehrbass would describe the alleged assassination plot or say how many others might be involved.

Ford, the target of two assassination attempts in California within the past three weeks ago, is scheduled to attend the University of Florida homecoming in nearby Gainesville next month.

ceived an invitation to testify — and the threat of a subpoena if he refuses — from a Senate committee, and was directed by a federal judge to answer questions under oath in a civil suit.

The Senate Intelligence Committee voted unanimously to invite Nixon's testimony on a broad and illegal plan for surveillance of domestic dissenters which the former president approved but later halted.

After a closed-door vote, the 11-member committee, headed by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, directed its chief counsel to begin negotiations with Nixon's attorneys for the former president's voluntary testimony.

One of Nixon's lawyers, Herbert J. Miller Jr., declined to predict how his client would respond, telling reporters only that he would meet with the committee's representative.

Church said Nixon would be "the best witness" on the so-called Huston plan and warned that if Nixon does not appear voluntarily, the committee may "ultimately have to face the prospect of a subpoena."

The Huston plan was approved by Nixon in July, 1970, and called for a stepped up program of domestic surveillance, including mail intercepts. Nixon approved the plan, but five days later revoked his order when then-FBI director J. Edgar Hoover objected.

Meanwhile, in an unprecedented action, a U.S. District Court Judge ordered Nixon to give a deposition in a suit by a former National Security Council staff member whose telephone was tapped.

The decision marked the first time a federal court has ordered an ex-president to testify as a witness in a civil suit.

The suit was brought by Morton Halperin, whose phone was tapped for 21 months in 1969-70. He seeks damages that could exceed $300,000.

U.S. District Court Judge John Lewis Smith Jr. ruled that only President Ford can invoke presidential confidentiality on Nixon's behalf and that Ford has not done so. Smith directed that Nixon be questioned at or near his home in San Clemente, Calif.

Acid In The Rain

WASHINGTON (AP)—Parts of all of 24 eastern states, including North and South Carolina, are experiencing heavy doses of sulfate pollution, which can cause acid rainfalls and health threats.

Those threatened most often are children, asthmatics and heart patients, according to the Environmental Protection Agency.

The EPA says power plant smoke and other sources of the pollutants should be controlled to prevent sulfate levels from rising higher.

Sulfates exist in heavy concentration in other areas of the country, but the EPA says the problem is particularly concentrated in part or all of 24 states in a square roughly cornered by Illinois, Massachusetts, North Carolina and Tennessee.

Acid rains, observed in regions of high sulfate concentrations, can lower the acid-alkali balance of soil and water and damage vegetation, the agency said.

Elected as new trustees were Mrs. Wilbur N. Cooper of Burlington, and Mrs. R. Kennedy Harris of Greensboro.

Mayor's Power Disconnected

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—The Fayetteville Public Works Commission, a city-operated utility, disconnected electricity to Mayor Jackson F. Lee's stately 18th Century home Wednesday after his bill became five days delinquent.

Power was restored in an hour and a half, after the mayor paid.

He said, "I'd been carrying the bill around. I really didn't know when it was due. It was just one of those things."

South Bronx

All-too-common occurrence in New York's South Bronx: fire rages through abandoned section of row of houses on partly razed block.

Sun brings residents out on stoops on still inhabited streets.

Contained within the sprawling diversity of the nation's largest city is perhaps its starkest urban wasteland—New York's South Bronx. It's a 6.3-square-mile ghetto rapidly going from bad to worse, where crowded and noisy streets still alive with activity alternate with silent and deserted ruins. Its population today is estimated at about 350,000, 58 per cent white, 39 per cent black and three per cent other. They are mostly the poor and helpless. Those who could, have moved away.

And so the South Bronx is dying a visible death, as a fatal blight invades block after block of its walkup tenements and high rise projects, as vandalism and fires eat away at deteriorating property, contributing to as well as making permanent the hopeless abandonment of slums which only recently were homes.

Parents Lost Karen Long Ago

By LESLIE BENNETTS
The Philadelphia Bulletin
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Except for the bed, it is a normal living room, cluttered with the usual cheerful family array of photographs, children's drawings, mementos. It is hard to walk around, however; most of the cramped space is occupied by the giant chrome surgical bed that glitters so coldly in the afternoon light.

A human being is lying on the bed. She cannot move, cannot speak; no one knows whether she feels or thinks. Her limbs, once young and strong, are twisted and crippled from disuse; they twitch meaninglessly on the sheets. She is 17 years old.

Elsewhere, over in New Jersey, a legal and medical controversy swirls heatedly around the case of Karen Quinlan, a young woman suspended in a mysterious coma whose parents want to terminate the extraordinary measures keeping her alive. Here in Northeast Philadelphia lies what is left of another young woman named Karen. These parents lost the girl they knew to massive brain damage long ago. She did not die, however; space-age medical technology kept her body going.

In July of 1973, 15-year-old Karen Vikingstad seemed to have a promising future ahead; she was an A student in accelerated courses. She swam, ran track, was talented in art, on the piano, on her beloved flute. She was robustly healthy. Until that morning when her brother's clock radio sounded, and Karen called out for someone to turn it off. Moments later she was choking, her tongue hanging out, eyes rolling in their sockets.

No one knows what happened or why. By the time Karen was rushed to the hospital, her brain had been deprived of oxygen for so long it was damaged beyond repair.

"Her heart stopped once or twice more that evening, and they had her hooked up to every possible machine to keep her body functioning," says Mrs. Vikingstad. "But they knew then what severe brain damage there had been. Wasn't that the time to come and say to us: 'I'm sorry, your daughter is dead?' I know it's not an easy question for them, either, but someone had better look into what happens afterward to the lives they're saving by their heroic measures."

Her eyes are desperate as she gestures toward her insensate daughter. "She's had over two years now of what they call life — but that's not life." Mrs. Vikingstad has given up hope for her daughter. She is enraged over opinions put forth in the debate over Karen Quinlan. "If I had known two years ago what I know now, I would have pulled every one of those plugs that kept my daughter alive. I wish I had the courage, but I didn't, and what can I do now? Can I stop pouring the food into the tube in her stomach and let her slowly starve to death? I can't do that...."

Grocer Recalls Manson, Sara Jane Liked Candy

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Sara Jane Kahn and Charles Manson bought a lot of candy from Van Watson when they were children.

Sara Jane was a serious pupil, but Manson "liked to pay a little hooky," says Watson. Sara Jane, now Sara Jane Moore, is in jail charged with trying to kill President Ford. Manson is serving life in prison for the 1969 murder of actress Sharon Tate and six others.

And one of Manson's followers, Lynette Fromme, also is charged with trying to kill the President, in a separate incident.

"Kathleen Manson, Charles' mother was a clerk in my store for three or four months," Watson said in an interview Wednesday.

"Charles was about 9 or 10 years old, then, around 1942. He was just an ordinary boy, nothing outstanding. I sold him a lot of candy.

"He'd come in two or three times a day, whenever he got a penny."

Watson said he was shocked to learn that Sara Jane Kahn was the person accused of shooting at the President.

"I knew her from childhood," he said. "She came in the store to buy candy on her way to school. She was a loner — almost always by herself. She never had much to say about anything. She always had a couple of books under her arm and seemed to take school seriously."

The Kahns lived in a log house up Woodward Drive from his store and the Mansons lived in a house across the street from the store.

"I was very much surprised at the way those two children turned out," Watson said. "Charles wasn't much good at going to school — he liked to play a little bit of hooky."

"But I expected Sara Jane to grow up and become somebody with a good education and a responsible position in life."

"I never dreamed she would be somebody who'd try to kill the President."

It was not known whether Manson and Sara Jane Kahn knew each other while living here.

Farmville Mart $110.04 Day

FARMVILLE — The volume of sales on the Farmville Tobacco Market on Wednesday consisted of approximately 75 per cent leaf and smoking leaf grades, according to sales supervisor Louis Williams.

Offerings of primings and lugs, Williams reported, were much heavier than on previous sales days this week and non descript tobacco also showed an increase in volume compared with Tuesday's sale.

Leaf and wrapper grades accounted for the top price on the market yesterday.

Stabilization receipts accounted for 2.04 per cent of gross sales and reflected the smallest volume so far for the season.

Farmville warehouses sold 757,870 pounds yesterday for $833,931, an average of $110.04 per hundred pounds. To date, the market has sold 22,232,093 pounds for $21,959,623, an average of $98.77 per hundred pounds.

Business Meet For Chapter

The Greenville Chapter of the Women of the Moose will hold its business meeting tonight at eight o'clock.

Senior Regent Wilma Turner will conduct the meeting. Members are urged to attend and bring items for the flea market which will be held Saturday, Sept. 27.

Abortion Theme Whaling Was Once An Industry In Doctor Show Along North Carolina's Coast

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) The situation: A poor, married mother of five, her husband unemployed, is in her sixth month of pregnancy. She asks the doctor who delivered her fifth child for an abortion.

He's sympathetic, but refuses, saying he would have performed the abortion had she seen him much earlier. She becomes hysterical, goes home and attempts self-abortion with a pair of scissors.

She's rushed to the hospital in critical condition. Her doctor allows the fetus to die as he works feverishly to save her. A nurse reports this to an anti-abortion group called "Reverence For Life."

After a stormy press conference where the doctor defends his actions and his colleagues defend legalized abortion, the "Life" group persuades the authorities to arrest him for the death of the fetus.

Such is the gist of tonight's "Medical Story" on NBC, a strong, emotionally loaded story which appears the composite of several real-life dramas that evolved after the U.S. Supreme Court's controversial decision on abortion in January 1973.

The court said a woman's decision to have an abortion is strictly up to her and her doctor in the first three months of pregnancy. After that, states may regulate abortion procedures. In the last 10 weeks of pregnancy, though, states can ban abortions except where necessary to save the life or health of the mother.

None of this is made clear in tonight's "Medical Story," although the besieged doctor—played by Vince "Ben Casey" Edwards—sets three months as the point after which he won't perform nonemergency abortions.

He's a warm, decent father of two who undergoes much soul-searching in every abortion request. But he and his fellow doctors strongly defend legalized abortion as necessary, if only to keep women from risking their lives with unlicensed, unskilled abortionists.

His soul-searching alter ego is a pediatrician (Diane Baker). She's opposed to fetal destruction and, after the emergency operation that causes the death of the sixth-month-old fetus, she demands to know why she wasn't summoned. Edwards tells her there was no time.

She angrily demands that the hospital require the presence of a pediatrician in all abortion operations to determine if the fetus has a chance to life. The demand is denied.

During the hour, there's a subplot about another woman in her final month of pregnancy. Although fully exposed to X-rays before she knew she was pregnant, she tells Edwards she has decided against an abortion, even though her child may be born deformed.

This may please anti-abortion groups, but it muddles the main issue, which comes when the head of "Reverence For Life" (Dane Clark) hotly accuses doctors of a "growing indifference" to life and is accused by them of cynically exploiting one emergency case to attempt making all abortions illegal again.

Still, the show is extremely thought-provoking.

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — The recent placement of whales upon the list of endangered species is graphic evidence of how even the world's largest living being can be killed off by the terrible weapons of man.

Almost as long as man has been able to transmit information the huge air-breathing mammals of the sea have occupied a place in his folklore. For many centuries men armed only with sharpened harpoons stalked the Leviathan of the sea, but the relentless tide of battle turned against the whale only after the invention of the awesome harpoon cannon.

North Carolinians may shrug their shoulders and pass off the fates of whales as being unrelated to their state. Many of us have forgotten that whaling was once an occupation along our own seacoast.

The Lords Proprietors in the Fundamental Constitutions of 1669 laid claim to all whales, but twelve years later they authorized Carolinians "to take what whales they can and convert them to their own use..."

John Lawson in 1709 wrote that whales were "very numerous," and six years later the proprietors gave encouragement to "any New England Men or others to catch Whale, Sturgeon or any other Royal Fish upon your Coast, during the Term of three years, they paying only two Deerskins yearly to the Lords as an acknowledgement to them for the same."

Deer skins seemed to be an odd payment for a whaling licence. Later the proprietors claimed a tenth of the oil and whalebone, but after North Carolina became a royal colony, the fee was dropped.

By 1755 Gov. Arthur Dobbs, describing the Cape Lookout area, said that "the whale fishers from the Northward have a considerable fishery from Christmas to April, when the Whales return to the Northward." The cape, nearby Islands, and Beaufort constituted the main whaling center of the colony.

Although there are scores of families of cetaceans, there are two main types — the toothed whale and the baleen whale.

The toothed whale, particularly the cachalot or sperm whale, was most prevalent along the North Carolina coast in colonial days.

This specie was prized because its massive head yielded large amounts of spermaceti, a waxy substance superior to regular whale oil, and its intestines often contained ambergris, a precious substance used in the making of fine perfumes.

Occasionally the baleen whale was also found off North Carolina. Its blubber was rendered into whale oil, but the mouth of this huge mammal furnished another sought-after commodity: hundreds of limber splitts called baleen or whalebone, up to ten feet long with fringed edges to trap crustaceans. These substitutes for teeth were popular in the manufacture of corset stays, combs, gowns, and expensive silk materials.

Though the use of metal and later plastic substitutes for baleen near the end of the nineteenth century reduced the value of baleen just as the development of kerosene had reduced the need for whale oil in lighting, industry found continuing uses for whale carcasses.

Meanwhile, factory ships were constructed large enough to permit the processing of whales at sea. New Englanders remained the unchallenged whalers of America. Mass production was beyond the competition of the determined whalers of North Carolina, and very little whaling was undertaken by Tar Heels following the Civil War. Some, in the old tradition, occasionally succeeded in taking a whale, and massive boiling kettles were kept in readiness. Perhaps the last village characteristic of old whaling centers was Diamond City which was washed off the Outer Banks by a storm in 1918.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Study many phases of your life that you have been too busy to give proper attention to in the past. Arrange to make whatever changes you decide upon. Also contact important allies and discuss your future relationships.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Do the research work that is important and come up with right information. Start early if a short trip is necessary.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A new approach is necessary to handle work ahead of you more effectively. Know what co-workers expect of you. Coordinate efforts.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) There may be changes in plans for recreation, but you have a good time just the same. Plan happier future with mate. Be pleasing.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Understand the views of associates for better working arrangements. Get rid of confusion where personal tasks are concerned.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get together with that good friend even with another tagging along, since this new acquaintance could be helpful later.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Handle some public duty well since it could mean a good deal to you and your community. Take care of credit matters now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get out to appealing activities and meet interesting persons of good character. Free yourself of that handdog attitude.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Handle responsibilities and stop haggling about them, now that they require work. Understand what close ties expect.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find out what is expected of you by partners before getting down to work, or you could be doing the wrong thing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be ingenious in execution of duties ahead and derive fine benefits thereby. Release the energy within you intelligently.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You desire recreation, so contact good friends early and set up appointments. Do any creative work precisely. Follow plans.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Give your home and kin more attention, sorely needed now. Be prepared for some new project that will start soon.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will need to be taught to finish whatever has once been started, since there is a tendency to get into anything and everything here, but to lose interest and go on from one thing to another. With correct training, this child will become successful. Slant education along lines of the big salesperson, the manager, public relations, etc.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Assassination Today Is Not Major Fear In West Europe

By FRED COLEMAN
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Western Europe's governments have increased protective measures for their leaders in recent years because of terrorist activities.

But assassination is not yet the threat to Europe's leaders that it is to America's, and the security screens appear to be considerably less elaborate than those across the Atlantic.

President Charles de Gaulle was the target of several plots in the aftermath of France's withdrawal from Algeria. A Soviet army lieutenant opened fire on a motorcade in the Kremlin in 1969 but Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev was not hit.

Basque nationalists blew up Spanish Premier Luis Carrero Blanco in December 1973. A gang of anarchists bombed the homes of three British cabinet ministers, and last year a man who was later declared a mental case tried to kidnap Princess Anne and her husband.

Generally, however, terrorists in Europe concentrate on less predictable targets. They bomb public buildings or seize foreign embassies and airliners. But British sources say security arrangements for European government leaders are under constant study. Each time there is an assassination attempt on either side of the Atlantic, these procedures are reviewed and sometimes strengthened.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, Chancellor Helmut Schmidt of West Germany and French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing frequently walk through crowds shaking hands in their own countries, but they rarely do so on foreign soil.

The British royal family has never modified the round of public appearances at home and abroad that is the biggest part of its job. A Buckingham Palace official commented after the attack on Princess Anne: "The royal family have no intention of living in bullet-proof cages."

All European governments are close-mouthed about their security precautions, but some precautions have become known.

Three years ago, Edward Heath while prime minister usually had only one bodyguard. Now Wilson has more than the Yard refuses to say how many.

Italian officials will say only that President Giovanni Leone is protected by "a good number" of security men.

Before Brezhnev visited Paris last December, a number of East European emigres were sent to Corsica for the duration of his stay.

When Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin visited Britain in 1967, five carloads of armed men traveled before and behind his car in addition to the usual motorcycle escort.

In the Soviet Union, officials never mingle in crowds.

Security services cooperate across the Iron Curtain in advance of major East-West visits. British agents watch all ports and airports in Britain for weeks before a visit by President Tito of Yugoslavia. French security officials are already in Moscow preparing for President Giscard's visit on Oct. 15.

Rural Post Office Is Fading From The Scene

By STRAT DOUTHAT
Associated Press Writer
BIG OTTER, W.Va. (AP) — Alvira Boggs' friends and family flock to see her almost every day.

They come for the good news and the bad; the checks and the bills. And it's seldom that they leave empty-handed.

Mrs. Boggs runs the Big Otter Post Office, one of the smallest postal facilities in the United States and an establishment that is fast disappearing from the rural American scene.

"I've got about 20 regular customers scattered out over about a five-mile radius," said the smiling, friendly woman. "But sometimes I'll get customers from as far as 10 miles away."

Her tiny, one-room post office — number 25020 on the ZIP code list — sits out in front of the Boggs home here in this central West Virginia farming community in Clay County, some 40 miles north of Charleston. The Postal Service wants to close more than 12,000 small offices, but members of Congress whose constituents are served by the offices are mounting opposition.

The General Accounting Office reported to Congress in June that closing 12,192 smaller offices would save the Postal Service about $100 million a year. It also said there would be no cutbacks in service because of the closings. It was not known if the Big Otter office is on the list of those the service wants to shut down, but it's the kind of facility the GAO was referring to.

"When a community loses its post office, it also loses its identity. There is no road back," Rep. Keith G. Sebelius, R-Kan., said in opposing the GOA report Tuesday.

In the face of stiff opposition from Sebelius and others, the GAO softened its stand Tuesday and suggested a compromise might be reached.

As the congressional debate goes on, Mrs. Boggs continues her job. When she's not too busy, Mrs. Boggs, who has been postmistress for 24 years, often sits on the doorstep and watches the bluebirds while waiting for a customer.

"I'm open six days a week but I don't keep formal hours," she said, as a pair of bluebirds played a few feet away. "If somebody stops by of an evening, I'll get their mail for them."

Now, Mrs. Boggs says she worries about her job.

"I'm afraid they'll close our post office," she said. "They've closed so many, you know. But lots of retired folks live around here, and we need our own post office."

The bidding:
South West North East
1NT Pass 3NT Pass
Pass Pass
Opening lead: Nine of ♠.

Suppose you elect to lead a short suit against an opposing no trump contract, either for reasons of safety or in the hope of striking your partner's long suit. Is it better to lead from a doubleton or to choose a suit in which you hold three cards? Experience proves that it is seldom right to lead from a doubleton, and this knowledge enabled East to come up with the winning defense on this hand.

The bidding was unremarkable. Both North and South simply added up their points and reached three no trump on a power auction.

West had no good opening lead. A heart lead from his long suit seemed to risk more than it stood to gain. From the auction, he knew that he could not expect much in the way of high cards from his partner, and his heart suit was so sketchy that it was unlikely that East 259, Norwood, New Jersey could have enough help there to establish tricks in the suit. Also, it was quite possible, and indeed would have been the case, that a lead from the queen would present declarer with a trick he could not otherwise make. Since a lead away from either minor ace was also unappealing, West chose the nine of spades out of safety rather than conviction.

Declarer called for dummy's queen, and East considered the situation. If he thought that West was leading from a doubleton, it would have been right to win the king, for otherwise the defenders might not score a spade trick and it could be vital for East to use his immediate entry to lead through declarer. But if East grabbed the king, his spade suit would be permanently dead as a source of tricks for the defense, since his hand was entryless.

East was aware that his partner was unlikely to lead a doubleton, so he saw a chance to bring his long suit into play. Instead of winning the first spade, he signaled encouragement by following with the seven. Declarer had no way of collecting nine tricks without scoring tricks in both minor suits. West won the ace of diamonds and knocked out the ace of spades. When he later got in again with the ace of clubs, he was able to lead a third spade to his partner's king, and East reeled off three spade tricks for a one-trick set.

Dressing Difficult For The Disabled

NEW YORK (UPI) - Ready-to-wear clothing often isn't ready to wear by the 21 million Americans who are physically disabled.

A new audio-visual program developed by two manufacturers of home sewing products is designed to help. The program is being used by the Cooperative Extension Service to show the handicapped and disabled how to convert their apparel into easy-on, easy-off garments. The service is a nationwide network of federal, state and local governments that helps Americans help themselves. Its program includes sewing suggestions and recommendations of the best styles and accessories for specific disabilities.

Its tips include: Converting back openings to the front of a garment by applying a zipper or using self-gripping nylon fasteners; Making a zipper easier to open and close by adding a pull-tab made from a large ring, a ribbon, a piece of leather, a yarn tassel or old jewelry;

Adding fabric patches to the underside of a garment to prevent wear and tear of a fabric by those who use crutches.

Seam tape also can be stitched to the underarm to help counter extra stress created by crutches. Knits and stretch fabrics are recommended for their extra give, and shirts with long tails, overblouses or sweaters or bodysuits for the best appearance.

Anyone who wears braces should choose pants with legs loose enough to fit over the braces or a cast. Tabs sewn into the inside of a waistband can be used with a hook to pull up slacks.

wear on the inside caused by a brace or cast. Unlined slacks can be reinforced by sewing or ironing on extra fabric.

Women who have had a mastectomy will find dolman or kimono sleeves comfortable and attractive for swollen arms. The sunken area in the armpit can be fitted with a shield of soft fabric padded with lamb's wool or polyester batting, and attached to a bra.

Elastic sewn inside sleeve wristbands makes it easier to put on or remove garments with only one hand or put on or remove garments more easily if both hands are weak.

Shorter length jackets are more comfortable for anyone in a wheelchair than longer ones, which tend to bunch up. Moderately full skirts or dresses also are better than slim ones. Slacks are especially convenient for anyone who must be lifted out of a wheelchair. Clothing that wraps is comfortable and easy to wear. Capes make ideal outerwear.

The best materials don't wrinkle easily; the best garments move with the wearer and allow for extra stress.

Fusible webbing inside a garment or leather patches and appliques on the outside help reinforce high stress areas.

When a Pony Express rider made his first ride from Sacramento to Placerville, Calif., in 1860, he covered the distance of 55 miles in two hours and 45 minutes.

TARHEEL TOYOTA HAS NEW OWNERS WITH NEW IDEAS

Why Do We Offer A 100,000 MILE WARRANTY?

Read For Yourself Our Reason

Every car dealer in the country is talking "dependability" these days. At Tarheel Toyota, we've decided to do something about it. A new car warranty that's longer than any other warranty in the world (exclusively for Tarheel Toyota). Bill Draper can tell you why. "Nobody else in the world has a car like this. I've seen how the Toyota is made, the quality of the workmanship, the integrity and the craftsmanship that go into this car. I know the Toyota inside and out." Until now, most new car warranties haven't been much more than discounts on the car repairs you knew you'd need. Our warranty is our guarantee of faith in Toyota. "Nobody else in the world can put this kind of warranty on their car. My faith and my knowledge and experience with Toyota tell me I can do it. Toyota builds an automobile to last." Our knowledge of the Toyota comes from research, from first hand information from our service department and from a great number of satisfied Toyota customers. For 100,000 miles or 3 years from the day you purchase your new Toyota, we guarantee to replace or repair your motor, transmission and rear end, if they fail under normal driving conditions. We'll ask you to keep the vehicle properly maintained and we'll ask that you bring it back to Tarheel Toyota for any repairs covered by this warranty. We're offering the 100,000 mile, 3 year warranty in addition to the new car warranty offered by Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A. It's a promise. A guarantee of Toyota quality, Toyota dependability.

12 MONTHS OR 12,000 MILES USED CAR WARRANTY

This guarantee applies to cars selling for $1000.00 and up. On a 50-50 basis. All work must be done in our shop. This warranty does not apply to any sport cars, high performance or air cooled engines or 4 speed transmissions (except economy cars). Most good used cars (even if they look like new) are only guaranteed for a month. Or for a thousand miles. No more. And some are not guaranteed at all. But at Tarheel when we say a used car is in excellent condition, we're willing to stand behind it. We're willing to do something a little extra for it. So we guarantee its motor, its rear end, and its transmission for twelve months or twelve thousand miles. If you're in the market for a better used car, come out to Tarheel and look at ours. We'll show you some as good as new. Guaranteed. Asterisk denotes warranted car.

Atlanta Mayor Insists Black Firms Participate

By LEA DONOSKY
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — This city's black, first-term mayor has angered white politicians and delayed a major airport expansion project with his unyielding demand that black companies participate in the $400 million contract.

It's part of Mayor Maynard Jackson's demand that black-owned construction companies be included in government construction contracts.

"I think the time has come to stop pussyfooting around," said Jackson, 37, first black mayor of this Southern capital city. "Either government ought to shut up talking a good game or government ought to do something about it."

To back up his demand on the airport contract, Jackson says he is drafting an ordinance that will guarantee black businessmen a share of every city contract.

His approach appears to be more direct and forceful than that of other black mayors in major American cities.

Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley has pushed a program to make black firms aware of upcoming city contracts, and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young has insisted on a quota of minority employees for firms bidding on city work. Similar efforts have been made in Gary, Ind. by Richard Hatcher.

Jackson, however, moved swiftly and directly this year to reopen architectural and engineering contracts for the airport expansion and insisted that the contract holders recruit black-owned firms to do 20 to 25 per cent of the work.

After 11 weeks of negotiations, the existing contractor, Atlanta Airport Engineering Inc., recruited a black-owned New York firm to share in the engineering contract. And two architectural firms agreed to take in four black-owned firms on a joint venture basis.

"It's an idea whose time has come," Jackson said of the joint ventures. "It is the next logical step in the equal employment opportunity sphere."

He said that resistance to the idea comes from people who believe "rather accurately, that if this catches on and spreads nationally, blacks will achieve a level of economic power unparalleled in the history of the country.

"The irony of the resistance to the idea is that the resistance is often by people who criticize blacks for not being resourceful. Now, here's a chance for blacks not to get a giveaway."

A black voter majority and a strong relationship with a biracial city council make it possible for Jackson to make such a stubborn stand, said state Sen. Julian Bond, a Jackson supporter who briefly sought support for a presidential bid this year.

"Most black mayors do not have the same kind of good relationship with the city council that Jackson has," said Bond who is black. "Although they may want to do the same thing, political realities keep them from that. This along with the black political majority is the major reason for Jackson's strong position."

Jackson collected nearly 60 per cent of the votes two years ago to defeat incumbent Mayor Sam Massell. At that time blacks made up just slightly less than half the registered voters. Today, black voters comprise 51.4 per cent of the voters.

So far, Jackson has not taken a strong position on an annexation controversy, an issue that concerns the black political majority. While annexation of predominantly white suburban areas would increase the city's tax base, it also would dilute black voting strength.

Jackson's critics say he is trying to force firms in Georgia for many years have used joint ventures to handle large government jobs. But, he said, he opposes city contracts being awarded solely on the basis of race.

"I think it chases away other bidders or people who might render service to the city by imposing on them a partnership they don't want or need," said

Lambros, one of four council members to vote against including minority firms in the airport contracts.

Another council opponent, George Cotsakis, who like Lambros is white, said he thinks an alternative is to have a "good administrator" privately tell the low bidder the city would like to see minorities included in the job.

Cotsakis said he doesn't like the idea of mandating black participation.

And the current procedure with its emphasis on race, he said, is "building up a lot of rednecks and people who don't want to be rednecks."

Resignation By Prelate

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — The Episcopal House of Bishops has accepted the resignation of the Rt. Rev. Robert P. Varley, believed to be the first bishop of the church ever to admit publicly that he received treatment for alcoholism and drug addiction.

The Nebraska bishop offered his resignation after four of his largest parishes stopped making contributions to the diocesan budget at the start of 1975 while he was receiving treatment.

In another action, the House of Bishops voted to censure three members who ordained 11 women as priests in an irregular ceremony at Philadelphia on July 29, 1974.

Bishop Varley said during a later interview that his dependency on drugs began about four years ago when he began taking tranquilizers for a high blood pressure condition and "that led to alcohol and other chemical dependency drugs."

Varley said he had entered the Hazelden Foundation of Minnesota in January and was cured within six weeks. He said he has been offered a job there as a program director.

Censured for ordaining the 11 women at Philadelphia were the Rt. Revs. Robert L. DeWitt of Ambler, Pa.; Daniel L. Corrigan of Santa Barbara, Calif.; and Edward R. Welles of Manset, Maine.

Censure is the strongest action the House of Bishops can take against a member, but it does not affect a member's standing as a bishop.

Chairman For Annual Dinner

MOUNT OLIVE—Bobby Bazen of the Black Jack FWB Church has been selected to serve as chairman of the annual Pitt County FWB dinner for Mount Olive College which will be held Monday, Nov. 17.

The Pitt County dinner is one of the 17 dinners held annually throughout eastern North Carolina on behalf of Mount Olive College which is sponsored by the North Carolina State Convention of Original Free Will Baptists.

The steering committee selected to serve with Bazen includes: J.C. Boyd, Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beddard, Ayden; Randolph Harris, Winterville; and Richard Bundy, Farmville.

Sales And Use Tax Reported

Sales and use tax collections in Pitt County during August totaled $168,252, according to a report issued by J. Howard Coble, Secretary of the N.C. Department of Revenue.

Coble reported that net collections in Beaufort County amounted to $73,690 while Martin County recorded $47,667 in collections and Greene County had $13,123.

The secretary said that net collections in the 95 participating counties totaled $9,933,597 for the month.

Historic Fare For Celebrating

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (UPI) — President Harrison's electioneering stew and Martha Washington's gingerbread with apple sauce helped launch the Bicentennial celebration in the Walla Walla school district.

Food service supervisor Cloella Rimbey, who was responsible for the menus during a Bicentennial festival, chose the name of the stew to commemorate Harrison's inviting all eligible voters to dinner during his presidential campaign in 1840. Menu ideas came from Mrs. Rimbey's private cookbook collection, said the "School Foodservice Journal."

In the game of marbles the term "for keeps" means that each player keeps marbles he shoots out of the ring.
