

Several N.C. Hospitals Undecided

RALEIGH (AP)—Spokesmen for several North Carolina hospitals have said they will wait until the last minute before deciding whether to cut back services in light of a potential medical malpractice insurance crisis.

Administrators of more than 50 hospitals whose policies expire next Wednesday considered cutting back services to only emergency patients if the insurance coverage can't be obtained. A meeting of hospital administrators was scheduled for today to seek a solution to the problem.

Thursday, Superior Court Judge Donald Smith temporarily exempted Michigan Mutual Insurance Co. and almost 100 other companies from a new state law requiring liability insurance companies to participate in a pool for medical malpractice insurance.

Earlier, some 130 other companies had been granted similar orders. The orders have gutted the pool. There are about 350 companies that offer general liability insurance in the state.

Michigan Mutual had considered offering the hospitals insurance coverage, but decided instead to seek exemption from the law. A spokesman said the company didn't want to carry the malpractice risk alone since the pool was virtually defunct.

The insurance companies are exempted from the law's provisions until the courts decide whether the law is constitutional. A hearing is scheduled in Wake Superior Court Nov. 3.

Adopted by the 1975 legislature, the law requires all liability insurance companies to share the risks or profits of medical malpractice insurance. It would be similar to the reinsurance pool that provides liability insurance for high risk motorists.

Malpractice insurance rates have skyrocketed because the number of suits against those in the medical profession have increased. The malpractice pool was set up in an effort to ensure availability of the insurance to hospitals, doctors and nurses.

Meanwhile, the company that provides malpractice insurance to more than 90 per cent of the state's 5,500 physicians hadn't decided by late Thursday whether to continue offering the insurance voluntarily. Spokesmen for St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co. said last week they would not voluntarily offer the coverage unless Insurance Commissioner John Ingram allowed them a rate increase and some other concessions.

Tuesday, Ingram announced he had conceded to most of the company's demands. A St. Paul spokesman said Thursday the company is awaiting a written order from Ingram. After studying that, company officials will decide whether to continue offering malpractice insurance.

Ingram's order allowing higher rates would be in effect through February. Ingram has asked the company to provide additional data supporting the request for higher rates. Also, the suit against the malpractice insurance pool law may be settled by then.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A private conversation recorded by authorities reveals Patricia Hearst as a still-ardent "revolutionary feminist" seeking freedom on bail, but not if "I'm a prisoner in my parents' home."

The transcript of excerpts from a jailhouse conversation with childhood friend Patricia Tobin was made public Thursday. It was recorded last Saturday. Two days later Miss Hearst initialed each page of an affidavit saying that statements she made earlier renouncing her parents and proclaiming allegiance to her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers resulted from a tortured mental state.

Because the transcript lacked parts of the conversation, it left some ambiguities about changes in Miss Hearst's political views.

It also left Patty's parents apparently shaken. Her mother, Catherine, usually composed, called newsmen "a bunch of ghouls" as they sought comment on the transcript. Mrs. Hearst and her husband, San Francisco Examiner President Randolph A. Hearst, cut short a jail visit with their daughter on Thursday night.

Comments from Miss Hearst's attorneys were not available. The conversation, recorded at the San Mateo County jail, opens with Miss Hearst declaring: "I'm not making any statements until I know that I can get out of you, know, bail... bailed out, and then if I find out that I can't, for sure, then I'll issue a statement."

"But I would just as soon give it myself in person and it'll be a revolutionary feminist perspective totally, and you know I never got it guess... I'll just tell you, like, my politics are real different, from way back when."

Miss Hearst laughed and then added: "And so this creates all kind of problems for me in terms of a defense."

Six-Day Run By Pitt Fair Opens Monday

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County American Legion Agricultural Fair will open Monday for a six-day run at the fair grounds at the intersection of the Airport Road and Memorial Drive.

Sponsored by the American Legion posts of Greenville, Farmville and Ayden, the theme of the fair this year will be "Our Country—Its Heritage and Horizons."

Fair manager Sam Winchester said a large number of educational exhibits and commercial displays will be on view in the exhibit hall while livestock—cows, chickens, ducks, pigs and other animals—will be exhibited in the livestock building.

The Buck-Page Exposition Shows will be on the midway once again this year with more than 15 rides, six shows and 35 concessions. All school children will be admitted to the fair any day Monday through Friday at half-price, while children under 12 will be admitted for half-price on Saturday.

According to Winchester, Senior Citizens Day will be held on Wednesday, from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. All senior citizens will be admitted free during this period. He noted that a special program and refreshments have been scheduled for the Wednesday morning period.

Pre-schoolers will be admitted free on Thursday morning from 9:30 to 11:30 and a special program of demonstrations, rides and refreshments has been scheduled, the fair program of demonstrations, rides and refreshments has been scheduled, the fair manager explained.

Handicapped children, according to Winchester, will be admitted free from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. on Friday. Special demonstrations, rides and refreshments have also been scheduled for that period, he explained.

East Carolina University and Pitt Technical Institute students will be admitted for half price on Thursday, upon presentation of their school identification cards, Winchester noted.

He said, too, that all ladies will be admitted free on Monday until 8 p.m.

According to Winchester there will be a total of 26 educational displays, on exhibit in the exhibit hall along with 11 commercial displays. In addition, the fair manager said, exhibits in various departments, such as field crops, horticulture, eggs, arts and crafts, clothing and house furnishing, canned fruits and vegetables, preserves and jellies, and floral arrangements will be on display.

Persons wishing to receive premium lists for the fair, Winchester noted, may call 758-1101. "We'll get a copy to them," he said.

"We're hoping the livestock show will be improved this year," he noted, adding that regulations on the transportation and display of swine have been relaxed, allowing "for a much better hog show."

Attendance at the fair last year was about 41,000, Winchester said.

"We're planning on a lot of fun and frolic," again this year, the manager emphasized.

Taft New Prexy Of 264 Ass'n

WASHINGTON, N.C.—Greenville attorney Tom Taft was elected president of the Highway 264 Association—a group interested in seeing U.S. 264 developed into a four-lane limited access highway—at an organizational meeting here last night.

Other officers of the newly-formed association vice-president William H. (Bill) Page of Washington, secretary Reese Hart of Greenville, and Mrs. Robert T. (Ann) McGughey of Farmville. Tom Riley of Wilson is finance committee chairman.

Taft said this morning that the purpose of the Highway 264 Association is "to accomplish the development of U.S. 264 into a limited access, four-lane divided highway from Zebulon to the coast."

He noted that membership in the group is open to "anyone... person or corporation or group, interested in the improvement of U.S. 264. It's a new organization, but we're going to have a committee of 1,000."

"We are interested in citizens along U.S. 264," Taft emphasized. But "it's sort of the chambers of commerce of Greenville, Wilson, Farmville and Washington, right now," he

Trade Surplus Again Reported For U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bigger exports of farm products swelled the size of the nation's trade surplus during August, resulting in the seventh straight monthly surplus, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said U.S. exports exceeded imports by $1.035 billion during August, representing an expansion from July's $977 million surplus.

The nation's trade balance for the year so far now shows a $7.4 billion surplus. Government officials once had expected the figure would be $2 billion for the year. The surplus continued to swell in August despite projections of a diminishing surplus over the remainder of the year.

Commerce said the value of exports rose 1.3 per cent during August while imports climbed more slowly — by seven-tenths of 1 per cent. Both growth rates represented a slowing from July, when exports had advanced 2.2 per cent and imports shot up 13.7 per cent, primarily due to a surge in oil imports.

The Commerce figures showed that the volume of oil imports rose 5.1 per cent to 189 million barrels. Specialists have pegged the rise in oil imports to stockpiling by domestic users in anticipation of a price increase expected from the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries during their current meeting in Vienna.

But the oil imports were more than offset by American farm and food exports. Soybean exports were up $47 million. Corn exports were up $42 million. Tobacco, cotton, rice and wheat exports also posted gains.

Exports of passenger cars were up $52 million, and exports of computers and parts showed a $25 million gain.

Senate Votes Reactivate Oil Price Controls Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate voted today to reactivate oil price controls for another 50 days while seeking an elusive agreement with President Ford on long-term energy policy.

The measure now goes to the House where leaders said it would be taken up almost immediately.

The Senate measure is a substitute for a previously passed House bill that would have extended price controls until Oct. 31. Under the Senate proposals, the oil price controls that expired Sept. 1 would be reactivated retroactively and applied through Nov. 15.

The extension is part of a compromise proposed Thursday by Ford and quickly accepted by the Senate Democratic Caucus. The revival of controls will give Congress and the President a new chance to resolve their difference over energy policy.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said it would provide "a period of stability" for reasoned and deliberate efforts to reach a compromise on long-range pricing policy."

But Sen. Dewey Bartlett, R-Okla., argued it was a mistake to revive and extend price controls. If there is any compromise to be reached, he said, it was likely to be reached "from a position of no controls at all."

Since the price controls expired Sept. 1, U.S. oil companies have not rushed to raise their prices because of the expectation that Congress and the administration would agree to extend them retroactively.

The next step is for Congress to get back to the problem it has been unable to solve since January: how to form an energy program that Ford will accept.

Ford has given no indication that he will back away from his oft-stated position that price controls should be ended to force conservation.

Portuguese Socialists Given Secret CIA Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Central Intelligence Agency, seeking to offset Soviet support for the Communist party in Portugal, has been funneling up to $10 million a month to Portuguese Socialists.

Sources said CIA aid was sent to the Socialists through a roundabout network involving CIA contacts within Western European countries such as West Germany's anti-Communist Social Democratic party.

A State Department official said the CIA money involved ranged from about $2 million a month to nearly $10 million a month since June. But no overall total was offered.

Sources said other conduits for the under-the-table aid were anti-Communist labor unions and business organizations which operated within North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations.

Portuguese Socialist party head Mario Soares denied Thursday that the party received money or arms from any foreign sources.

"This is completely false as far as the Socialist party is concerned," Soares said in Paris.

But sources in Washington not only confirmed the CIA aid but added that it was far exceeded by contributions to the Socialists from Western European countries.

With regard to Ford administration estimates that the Soviets were sending the Portuguese Communists $10 million a month, Soares said, "I have no proof that would allow me to confirm such a report."

Legislation allows for CIA covert activities if the President certifies it is needed for national security and congressional oversight committees are informed of the activities.

Sources said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger did receive approval from the committees for the Portugal operation.

Greenville attorney Mack Howard was elected Pitt County Republican Party chairman at the GOP county convention held last night.

In addition to Howard, who replaces Dixie Greene as the county party head, other officers named by the convention include: vice-chairman Mrs. Barbara Ellis, secretary Mrs. W. E. Grantmyre, and treasurer, Sam Sewall.

Following the election of officers, the convention elected 57 persons to serve on the county Executive Committee with the four party officers and precinct chairmen. The Republicans also elected 44 delegates and a like number of alternates to represent Pitt at the First Congressional District convention and the State Republican convention.

The First District convention will meet in Greenville at 3 p.m. October 11 at the Pitt County Court House. A dinner will follow at 7 p.m. at the American Legion building with Tennessee Congressman Robin Beard scheduled to be the keynote speaker. The State Republican convention will be held November 14 and 15 in Raleigh.

County GOP members were told last night that Pres. Gerald Ford may attend a reception scheduled for November 14, while John Connally of Texas will be the keynote speaker on November 15.

SOLAR ENERGY RESOURCES

When will the solar house at N. C. State University be ready for the public to see? I remember that this past legislature appropriated money for such a project. I am very interested in learning more about solar energy as a method of residential heating and cooling. M.M.

Rep. Sam D. Bundy gave us the name and phone number of the sponsor of the Solar Energy bill. Then Rep. Henson Barnes, a Goldsboro attorney, told us all we needed to know. He said he has collected a wealth of information on solar heating and cooling and will be glad to share it with anyone who's seriously interested if they will call him and arrange a time. He said the project of building a house and providing it with solar heating and air conditioning had to be cut down after his request for a $55,000 appropriation was honored with a $30,000 grant, but that a several-phased project to find ways to decrease the costs of solar heating and cooling is being carried on at NCSU because of this financing.

Dr. F.O. Smetana, a Professor of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering at NCSU is in charge of the project. He said an exhibit showing solar collector panels, ways of storing heat, and using a windmill as a source of mechanical energy to run a heat pump will be on view at the State Fair Oct. 17-25. In a limited way, he said, he and other persons working on alternate energy source projects at N. C. State are available to the public for technical assistance.

Dr. Smetana suggested you may be interested in attending a seminar on solar heating and cooling being held at the N. C. State Faculty Club Friday and Saturday, Oct. 3 and 4. It's being planned for architects and builders and other interested persons. Friday sessions will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Registration, which must be made in advance by contacting the Division of Continuing Education, is $35 per person. The next morning from 8:30 to noon, an open give-and-take session will be held. There is no charge for the Saturday session.

Rep Barnes also told us of a building contractor, James N. Brown of Wilkesboro who has built a solar-heated house. Dan Holcomb of Holcomb Brothers Heating and Air Conditioning, Elkin, installed the system, he said. Perhaps these men also could provide you with some practical information.

Settlements Are Offset By New Teacher Strikes

Study Finds Switch To Coal Is Only Solution

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Unless the government quickly begins to promote the use of coal, the United States will depend on foreign oil and gas for half of its total energy by the turn of the century, a computer projection study shows.

The study, prepared at Dartmouth College, says domestic production of petroleum has reached its peak and that a dramatic shift to coal is the only way to avoid much greater foreign dependence.

The research, based on a computer model of the nation's energy use, was conducted by Roger F. Naill and Dennis L. Meadows of Dartmouth and John Stanley-Miller of the University of Southern California.

The report was published in the current issue of Technology Review at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

By the year 2050, the nation probably will have shifted to such energy sources as nuclear, solar and geothermal power, and the researchers say. But between now and then, the United States will have to get by with its traditional kinds of energy, and its favorites, oil and gas, are running out.

If the government begins now to promote the use of coal, the fuel could account for nearly 80 per cent of the nation's energy by the year 2000, and foreign imports would be almost nonexistent.

If current policies continue, the study says the nation will have to import 50 per cent of its energy by then. Coal will account for 20 per cent, and the rest will come from American oil and nuclear and hydroelectric power.

About 20 per cent of the nation's energy from all sources now comes from imported oil and gas.

"If we want to avoid a huge dependence on imports, it seems to us that coal is the only reasonable alternative," said Naill, the director of the project.

Quality Dipped On Leaf Mart

FARMVILLE—Offerings on the Farmville Tobacco Market were not as good Thursday as on previous sales days, it was reported by Louis Williams, sales supervisor.

According to Williams, primings, lugs and non-descript grades accounted for most of the volume sold yesterday with the top grades continuing to bring prices equal to last year's quotes.

Stabilization receipts yesterday accounted for only 2.19 per cent of gross sales, he reported.

The market sold 368,444 pounds on yesterday's sale for $405,546, an average of $110.07 per hundred pounds. For the season, Farmville warehouses have sold 22,600,537 pounds for $22,365,169, an overall average of $98.96.

By The Associated Press

Settlements in three teacher strikes were offset by five new strikes and the continuation of earlier strikes that are keeping more than 200,000 public school pupils home from classes around the nation.

The largest of the strikes intensified on Thursday when a judge ordered a $20,000-a-day increase in the fine levied against the Boston Teachers Union for defying a back-to-work order.

Suffolk Superior Court Judge Samuel Adams ordered his $5,000-a-day fine against the 5,000-member union increased to $25,000 daily and found the union president and four others in contempt for continuing the strike which began Monday.

Union president Harry Robinson said the union cannot afford to pay the fine, "but I don't see teachers going back to work without a contract."

About 500 Boston teachers have crossed picket lines at Boston's 162 schools, which are under a federal court-ordered desegregation program that requires the busing of 26,000 of the city's 86,000 pupils. Attendance Thursday was 12.7 per cent, up two-tenths of one per cent from the previous day.

Negotiations between the teachers and the Boston School Committee broke off without any apparent progress Thursday, with talks stymied over job security, class size and pay. Teachers, who now earn $9,772 to $19,756 annually, rejected the committee's latest offer of a 6 per cent pay raise.

Meanwhile, strikes were settled in two Pennsylvania communities and in one district in New York state, but new walkouts were reported in Indiana, Illinois and Pennsylvania. And teachers in two Michigan districts staged a one-day walkout.

Teachers in Idaho Falls, Idaho, voted overwhelmingly Thursday night to man picket lines beginning today. A total of 8,938 students were enrolled in the district as of Sept. 1.

More than 12,000 school children in Benton Harbor and Wayland, Mich., were affected by a one-day teacher strike, with some Benton Harbor schools remaining open but most in Wayland shut down Thursday.

In Indiana, 4,000 pupils were dismissed from classes after the 200-member Jennings County Classroom Teachers Association voted to strike. Teachers there are seeking a 16 per cent wage increase to raise starting salaries to more than $8,000 annually.

The 265 teachers in Tinley Park and Sauk Village, Ill., voted to strike on Wednesday, and more than 5,000 students were kept out of schools closed in those districts Thursday.

In Carmichaels and Shikella-my, Pa., teachers ended strikes on Wednesday, but their colleagues in the Central Bucks District of Bucks County voted Thursday to go out, leaving 6,673 teachers and 128,841 pupils in 19 Pennsylvania school districts still strikebound.

Substitute teachers are keeping schools open for 31,000 pupils in Niagara Falls, Williamsville and Ballston Spa, N.Y., and in Plattsburgh a week-long strike affecting 173 teachers and 2,800 pupils ended when teachers voted to accept an 8.7 per cent pay raise this year and an 8 per cent hike next year.

Wilmington, Del., schools reopened Thursday, but there was no indication that the city's three-week-old teachers' strike is near an end. Some 14,200 students are attending classes on a part-time, rotating basis.

Fromme Plans Her Court Case

By BOB EGELKO
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Lynette Fromme says she will handle most of her own defense on charges of trying to kill President Ford, despite her lack of legal training.

"I'm determining the entire case," the 26-year-old disciple of convicted mass murderer Charles Manson said in an interview from a visitor's cell at the Sacramento County Jail.

She said she expected to do most questioning of witnesses and make the closing argument to the jury.

Miss Fromme faces trial Nov. 4. The charges against her stem from an incident Sept. 5 when witnesses said she pointed a loaded .45-caliber pistol at Ford as he was shaking hands near the state Capitol.

Earlier this week, U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride allowed her to act as her own attorney and named federal public defender E. Richard Walker as cocounsel.

Miss Fromme said she would not allow Walker "to make any statements or make any moves without my express permission," and said she would dismiss him if he did not comply.

She said she expected to look at several law books before the trial, but "I don't expect to get deep into it. I don't care to."

She also indicated she would try to discuss ecology and saving redwood trees during the trial despite MacBride's warning to stick to the issue of her guilt or innocence.

Orientation Session Set

An orientation program to acquaint volunteers with the proposed Yokefellow Prison Ministry program for the Eastern Area Reception-Diagnostic Center at Maury will hold here on Monday at 8 p.m.

Price Bowen, case analyst supervisor at the Maury facility, said that the meeting will be held at the Presbyterian Center for East Carolina University, 401 E. Ninth Street.

Bowen said that "any mature Christian man or woman over age 21 who would be interested in this non-denominational, interracial, lay-clergy movement" is invited to attend the session.

According to the supervisor, in 1970 Yokefellow Prison Ministry of North Carolina began a ministry to inmates based on the belief that the inmate's greatest need is to be accepted as human, and to have offered to him or her a chance for self growth and maturity in all areas of life.

The purpose of the ministry, he explained, is to help serve the needs of residents in correctional institutions by promoting and establishing small non-sectarian Yokefellow groups that meet weekly, involving outside volunteers meeting with inmates inside correctional units.

Needed 3 Days To Get Out Of County

DOBSON, N.C. (AP)—Why did the hitchhiker cross the road?

To speak to a rabbit.

It took three days, including some time in jail, for the 28-year-old hitch-hiker from Akron, Ohio, to finally get a ride out of Surry County.

He was tried last Tuesday in state District Court in Dobson on a charge of impeding the flow of traffic. He had been arrested Saturday evening after deputies received complaints that a man was running back and forth across U.S. 21 near Elkin.

The deputies said that one complaint was that a man on all fours had jumped like a dog at passing cars.

They said another report was that the man was taking off his clothes in the highway.

And they quoted a resident as saying a man had sprinted through a yard throwing leaves in the air.

Judge Leonard H. Van Noppen asked the hitchhiker why he was running across the road. He replied that he had seen a hurt rabbit on the other side of U.S. 21, and he went over and askee he rabbit if anything was wrong. He said the rabbit told him "No."

So the hitchhiker said he crossed the highway again.

After hearing this, the judge gave the man a choice. Thirty days in jail or get out of Surry County.

Deputies gladly gave him a ride to the Virginia state line.

Report No Charges In Three Accidents

No charges were reported in three traffic collisions investigated by Greenville Police yesterday that resulted in an estimated $1,500 property damage and injured two persons.

Police reported James Earl Williams of 109 Abee Rd. and a passenger in his car were injured when the vehicle collided with a car driven by Henry Lee Cooper of Route 4, Greenville about 11:10 p.m. on Fifth Street, 50 feet West of the Cadillac Street intersection.

Damage was set at $600 to the Williams car and $250 to the Cooper auto.

A car driven by Wesley Thaddeus Adams Jr. of Greensboro and a truck driven by Theodore Edgar Tice of Jacksonville collided about 8:35 a.m. at the intersection of Greenville Boulevard and Fairview Way, according to police.

Damage was estimated at $150 to the Aams car and $200 to the Tice vehicle.

No damage resulted to a truck driven by Wiley Burton Tripp of Route 8, Greenville following a collision about 2 p.m. on Dickinson Avenue, 100 feet West of the Maxwell Street intersection.

Investigators identified the driver of the second vehicle involved as Evelyn Civils Cole of Route 1, Farmville, and set damage to her car at $300.

"Waste not, want not" is particularly true in these days of rampant inflation. However, even that philosophy must be tempered by circumstance, and failure to recognize that cost South his contract on this hand.

South correctly evaluated the trick-taking potential of his hand when he jumped to four hearts over his partner's no trump opening. A bid of three hearts would offer partner a choice of contracts and might connote interest in slam, whereas South was not the slightest bit keen to play anything other than game in hearts.

West led the king of spades and continued with the ace. He then shifted to the jack of clubs. Declarer tried to finesse, but it lost and the contract was doomed.

Declarer failed to make his game because the king of diamonds was in the wrong hand. Had dummy held the three top diamond honors, South would have seen that he did not need the club finesse, for he could take two club discards on dummy's diamonds.

However, since he had the king of diamonds in his own hand, declarer should have realized that dummy's A-Q-J were all winners. All he had to do was overtake the king of diamonds with the ace and discard two clubs on the queen and jack. This line would work anytime the diamond division was no worse than 5-3 and would even succeed if the diamonds broke 6-2, providing the player with the short diamonds held the singleton ace of trumps. In that case, the defender would be able to ruff the third diamond when declarer discarded his last club, but he would be doing so with the master trump.

Note that it would not help declarer to win the ace of clubs and then come to his hand with the king of diamonds to set up three winners in dummy. There is no quick re-entry to dummy to make use of the diamonds, and that play is unnecessary. Declarer needs only two discards, not three!

DEAR ABBY: Re: the infuriating letter from SEEN IT ALL may I inquire whether SHE chooses her work clothing to please her neighbors? Why does she expect the pansy planter to kowtow to her prudery? If "Pansy Planter" wished to plant her garden in the nude, why should it affect your priggish letterwriter and her apparently humorless family? Let them erect a wall around their patio if they can't stand the view.

"LIVE AND LET LIVE"

DEAR LIVE: For another view, please read on:

DEAR ABBY: A reader signed SEEN IT ALL complained about a 68-year-old neighbor lady who displayed her uncovered rear end to the entire neighborhood while planting pansies.

Your reply was too mild. I would have told the offended neighbor to take a good, clear color photo of the pansy planter using a zoom lens, have it enlarged, and send it to her with the following note:

"A guest took this while HE was visiting us."
WICHITA, KANSAS

DEAR WICH: You topped me. That should be the end of it.

DEAR ABBY: I am unmarried and my father is a widower. (We share a house.)

I find it most irritating after cooking a hot dinner to have to compete with a newspaper every time I put a hot plate of food in front of my father.

He always has a newspaper propped up against his water glass because he likes to eat his dinner and read at the same time.

I think this is very inconsiderate! After all, I would like a little company while I am having my dinner, but this doesn't seem to occur to him. This has been going on for years, and I am very annoyed at this point.

My father is 80. I'll bet you are going to tell me that nothing can be done to change him at his age, but age is no excuse for rudeness.

WHAT TO DO?

DEAR WHAT: I don't know how many other pleasures your father has at age 80, but I'll wager they are few. It would be easier for you to adjust to his "habit" than for him to change it. If you haven't mentioned your irritation, do so. He just might be more flexible than you are.

DEAR ABBY: I've been dating an attractive divorcee I'll call "Mary" for about six months. I date no other woman, but I have made no commitments to Mary, either.

For my birthday last month, she gave me an expensive gold I.D. bracelet, engraved, "Hands off! I belong to Mary."

I pretended to be delighted with this gift, and have worn it a few times just to please her, but I've quit wearing it because the idea of being labeled somebody's private property turns me off.

Mary keeps asking me why I'm not wearing the bracelet. I keep telling her I "forgot" it. I hate to lie, but I don't want to hurt her feelings. What should I do? Sign this...
"I BELONG TO ME"

DEAR "I": Level with her. Tell her you appreciate the "thought," but don't want to wear a sign declaring that you "belong" to anyone. Because you don't.

Indian Jewelry Rarely Antique Says Manager

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Family Living Editor
If a merchant tries to sell you genuine antique American Indian silver jewelry, be suspicious. Little exists outside of museums, says Phyllis Lauder. Articles must be at least 100 years old to qualify as antique. Mrs. Lauder is general manager of the nonprofit American Indian Arts Center in

New York City. In an interview, she said American Indian silver jewelry as we know it was not made before 1870. The center is run by the Association on American Indian Affairs, a voluntary citizens' organization established in 1963 as an outlet for the work of Indian and Eskimo master painters, sculptors and craftsmen.

Mrs. Lauder said the best Indian jewelry on the open market now is contemporary, partly because the early work used coin silver.

"Indians today are better technicians," she added, pointing out a heavy corn bracelet set with rows of turquoise, coral and shell kernels; the price, $1,200. The silversmith was Don Johnson, a Navajo who is known for his work with heavy stipler silver encrusted with coral or turquoise. Johnson often uses precious ores to line his work, and signs it with a black opal on the underside.

Until recently, few Indians used signatures or hallmarks, Mrs. Lauder said. The Hopis now stamp everything that comes through their cooperative, and some well known silver and goldsmiths are starting to identify their work.

The vogue for Indian jewelry has raised prices and led to mass production by manufacturers. Some hire Indians for their assembly lines and advertise their work as "American Indian Made" or "Made by Chief So-and-So" or "Indian Designed."

Many fakes are being imported from the Orient, Mrs. Lauder said. She urges purchasers to check each article carefully for the mark of foreign manufacture, or signs that such a mark has been removed.

Mrs. Lauder also said that stabilized turquoise is becoming more prevalent. Stabilizing increases a gem's durability and life without detracting from its value, she added.

She said that genuine turquoise eventually will become spotty or lighter in color. Stabilizing, or hardening, treatment cannot always prevent this.

Even experts need chemical laboratory tests to identify fake turquoise, Mrs. Lauder said, so there's all the more reason to buy only from reliable sources.

Surprisingly, she does not put Southwestern trading posts in that class, unless they are accepted as reliable by Indians themselves. However, co-ops run by and for the Navajos, Zunis, Hopis and many pueblo tribes in the same area are trustworthy.

Wherever you buy, she recommends asking for and getting a bill of sale stating clearly that the purchase was individually handmade by a member of the tribe or by one of the pueblos. The bill also should contain the artist's name, if known, the fact that the silver is sterling, and that the turquoise is genuine, natural, and untreated or stabilized, as the case may be. Coral, jet and serpentine also should be identified as genuine.

Mrs. Lauder thinks most jewelry that is sold at big hotel auctions and one to three-day sales instead of in legitimate auctions is "the best of the worst," or production line jewelry.

"The really good things are made by one person," she said. A belief persists that pawn is particularly valuable.

"There's a mystique about pawn," she said. "A lot of people think it is legitimate because the Indians made it for themselves."

"An Indian will leave something (at a pawnshop) for cash; maybe he won't redeem it." When this happens, the pawnbroker is free to sell it.

She recommends caring for turquoise jewelry "as a thing of value. It's not a diamond that is hard. You can't wear it while washing dishes without damaging the stones."

She said settings should be cleaned and polished with jeweler's rouge cloth, chamois impregnated with jeweler's rouge. It is inexpensive and sold in hardware stores.

Reputation Restored After 450 Years

NOVELTY, Ohio (AP) — Elizabeth Boyer, an attorney who reads medieval French, is trying to rectify what she sees as a 450-year-old injustice to a French noblewoman accused of misconduct with a lover.

"It seemed terribly important to me that I not go to my grave with this information on yellowing sheets which might be lost for another 450 years," Dr. Boyer says. "I felt a responsibility to the material and to the girl."

The tale concerns Marguerite de la Roque, who traveled to Canada in 1542 with her guardian Jean Francois de la Roque, known as Roberval. With the pair were her nurse and her lover, whom Roberval would not allow her to marry.

Roberval accused the girl and her lover of indiscretions while on the ship, and he had them and the girl's nurse set ashore on a barren, rocky island near the coast of Labrador.

There began a struggle for survival. They spent their first winter huddled in a cave that Dr. Boyer describes after a visit as dark and slimy.

Dr. Boyer, who founded the national Women's Equity Action League based in Cleveland, became interested in the girl when she noted what she felt were discrepancies in a history book.

Long a history buff who had wanted to be a historian or an archaeologist instead of entering the legal profession, she decided to check on the matter in the Library of Congress while in Washington, on business.

And she felt that since the ship on which the young woman traveled was crowded and offered little privacy, the young woman was innocent of what she was accused of. Finding no studies or books about the affair or the subsequent island travail, she decided to right the unjust treatment the girl had received.

She also felt that literature doesn't provide women with enough role models.

Publishing houses, however, wanted either pure romance or a history book, not a combination. The upshot was that she published the book herself through a contract for 2,500 copies with an independent printing company in Michigan.

"For me it's a documentary," she says. "I only added conversation. There is not a thing that is jazzed up."

Besides visits to the cave, her research included three weeks in the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris, more weeks in the French provinces and a trip to Edinburgh to determine how ships of the day were steered.

"Historians and writers of fiction have portrayed woman as pseudopsychological, soul-searching, convoluted and emotional," she says. "Practically every heroine you run into you'd like to give a kick in the slats."

"Marguerite had a simple, clear, task-oriented mind or she wouldn't have made it," she adds. "The book is all based on things Marguerite said. Inspection is kept to an absolute minimum."

How Much Will It Cost U.S.?

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger isn't through with fixing up the Middle East. He announced this week that Israel and Syria are ready for a border settlement.

He didn't say how much it would cost the United States.

Just why this country should be expected to pay off other countries to keep the peace is not entirely clear.

The picture is further clouded by why the multi-millions of dollars we contribute toward securing peace should be spent on further weaponry. It strikes us as a frail reed to lean upon.

None of the peace-programming measures appears to take into account the most virulent source of friction in the Middle East, the future of the Palestinian refugees. Those unhappy, unsettled, angry people have been manipulated by outside forces; and constitute an abrasive element which is crying for attention. It is by now almost trite to say that until and unless the refugee problem is resolved there can be no peace in the region.

It would be far more relevant to the interests of peace if those North African states were interested in fertilizer plants, desalinization plants; electric generating facilities and the like . . . rather than more tanks, guns, rockets and warplanes. Economically, neither Israel nor its neighbors can afford the cost of war or armaments.

If the foregoing is true, acquiescence of Sec. Kissinger to "consultations" with Israel on possible acquisition of those Pershing missiles is even further remote from the needs of peace in the Middle East. Those missiles carry with them a nuclear potential; and their mere possession would give rise to demands for equivalent weaponry by their neighbors.

That's all we need. For despite all disavowals of arming those carriers with atomic warheads, disavowals go down the drain when the heat of combat dictates.

Granted, we desire peace in the Middle East. But so too should the opposing forces. Peace should be, to them, infinitely more desirable than to us . . . thousands of miles away.

Why, then, does peace in that tiny sphere of rivalry seem to be only possible if Americans pay for it? Why must the price be in terms of more weapons whose only value can be in the alternative which everyone claims they are trying to avoid?

SHOULD BE THE KEY TO A JAIL TERM!

Tyranny Rears Head

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The new United States ambassador to the United Nations, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, says the tyranny of the majority about which his predecessor complained last year is rearing its head at this year's General Assembly.

Like Ambassador John A. Scali last year, Moynihan in an interview Thursday night was referring to steam-roller tactics which the Asian, African and Communist countries can exert when they band together.

Scali was complaining about the 1974 assembly restrictions on Israel's right of reply to its Arab assailants, its barring South Africa from the assembly and its according Palestine guerrilla chief Yasir Arafat the honors previously reserved for chiefs of state.

Moynihan cited the Communist attempt last week in the assembly's steering committee to keep off the agenda a pro-South Korean resolution sponsored by the United States, Japan, Britain and others.

He said the opponents of the resolution took the attitude that "we won't even talk about it." "Well, that is inadmissible behavior," he declared. "That's the totalitarian mind at work."

Six Communist countries plus Mozambique and Senegal voted against putting the resolution on the agenda, but it squeaked through on a vote of 9-8 with 7 abstentions.

Moynihan said even if all questions and all sides are given a full hearing in the assembly, the United States is "going to lose a lot of votes — probably lose most of 'em."

However, "in a representative body, when a respectable number of members . . . say, 'Let's talk about that,' a respectable representative body says 'Yes.'"

Asked if he expected Israel to be barred from the assembly this year as South Africa was last year, Moynihan replied: "It certainly does not appear that this is going to happen."

"As we understand it," he continued, "there has been an agreement reached among the countries that might have been disposed that way that they are

Rural Drug Abuse Grows

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—The big traffic in drugs in North Carolina is centered around big cities, college campuses, and military bases, but experts are concerned over signs of increasing use in small-town and rural North Carolina.

There is, the Drug Treatment Task Force has determined, "a new and significantly different" problem in the complex drug-taking scene which the task force labels "rural widespread poly-drug abuse."

The poly-drug abuse term refers to growing use of alcohol, marijuana, cocaine, and even heroin in rural sections and small towns as opposed to the traditional hard-drug heroin street-addiction pattern.

Trying to get atop the new trend, the task force has recommended to the North Carolina Drug Commission as one of its top priority approaches in the coming year, emphasis on rural drug use and combat programs.

A Profile
Trying to pinpoint drug abuse prevalence, geographical problem areas, and the "at-risk" population is one of the most difficult jobs in drug abuse programs, the task force report notes. Pulling together a wide variety of information from police files, court records, drug abuse clinics, private physicians, etc., the study just delivered to the drug commission chaired by State Rep. Chris S. Barker, Jr., (D-Craven) manages to paint a relatively clear picture of drug abuse in the state.

There would appear to be some 150,580 regular users of illegal drugs, with about 2,650 on heroin; 7,760 on cocaine; 15,880 using methadine or amphetamines; and 7,120 using LSD.

Marijuana is far and away the biggest drug in use, with 109,480 regular users reported, and another 60,230 said to be using it occasionally in social surroundings.

Regular drug use is heaviest in "high population counties, high military concentration areas, and high college student population areas," and appears most prevalent in the 15 to 29 year age brackets, with the largest group of users between 20 and 24 years old.

Top Centers
A statewide survey found that Onslow County in which U.S. Marine activities are centered (Camp LeJeune) had 1,710 drug arrests last year, leading the state in arrests, convictions, and residents sentenced to prison. Mecklenburg County leads in admissions to mental health centers, serum hepatitis cases, and drug-related deaths.

Guilford County, with a concentration of population, and students in colleges, leads in juvenile petitions for drug abuse, and drug abusers on parole.

The overall pattern of use shows heaviest drug abuse in the Charlotte area (Mecklenburg, Gaston, Rowan counties); ranking second is the Piedmont Crescent section including Forsyth, Guilford, Orange, Durham, and Wake counties; third is the Ft. Bragg military concentration in Cumberland and Robeson Counties; fourth, the Marine concentration in Onslow, Cartaret, Lenoir, and Wayne counties; fifth Buncombe County areas surrounding Asheville; sixth, the east-central counties of Pitt, Nash, Beaufort, Edgecombe, Greene, and Wilson, and finally the rural counties in which the "rural widespread poly-drug abuse" is noted.

The task force complained that treatment in North Carolina is "hindered by numerous problems" in administration, management, and program activities at all levels largely due to a lack of clearly defined responsibility and authority.

Barker said the newly established commission which he heads should be able to relieve that problem by providing overall coordination to the numerous agencies involved.

Roll On, Jordan, Roll

WASHINGTON—Washington went into a tailspin last week when King Hussein of Jordan refused to accept 532 Hawk surface-to-air missiles that the United States urged him to buy.

Hussein was angry because he said the United States had attached conditions to the sale. And Henry Kissinger was worried because Jordan could upset his Missiles for Peace game plan.

This is what was going on at the State Department during last week's crisis.

"Mr. Secretary, this cable just arrived from Jordan. Hussein is very upset because someone told him he could only use the Hawk missiles we're selling him for defensive purposes. He said he's never been so insulted in his life."

"Who told him he could only have them for defensive purposes?"

"I don't know, sir. Some damn fool who wasn't clued in on the big picture."

"Well, fire him." We can't have our State Department people telling foreign leaders when they can shoot our missiles in the air."

"Yes, sir."

"This is very serious. Do you realize if King Hussein refuses our missiles, then Israel could refuse them and then Egypt could become suspicious and would not buy any, followed by Saudi Arabia, Yemen and Abu Dhabi? My whole Middle East peace plan is based on everyone buying American missiles.

"Not to mention planes, tanks and spare parts. If we allow Hussein to get away without buying the Hawk missiles, it will upset the military balance in the area. How can we justify selling Israel so many missiles if Hussein doesn't take any?"

"You better get my King Hussein on the phone . . . Your Highness, Henry here . . . What do you mean he doesn't want to speak to me?"

"Tell him I'm sorry he feels insulted and that's what I'm calling about . . . Thank you . . . Ah, Your Highness, it's good to hear your voice . . . Now please, Your Highness, there's been a misunderstanding . . . That's right, I told you could have the Hawk missiles with no strings attached . . . There aren't any strings attached . . . We have this stupid law passed by Congress that U.S. weapons can only be sold to countries who need them for defense . . . You know how they are. They don't want someone to start a war for no reason at all . . . Of course, I know you wouldn't start a war . . . Sure I trust you . . . We trust everyone in that area . . . Do you think we'd sell weapons to people we didn't trust? . . . Wait, wait . . . Listen to me. All you have to do is promise us you won't use any of the Hawks offensively or transfer them to another country . . . It's just a formality. Do you think we're going to come into your country and say, 'Hussein,

INSIDE REPORT

Jerry Brown's Revolution

By ROWLANE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—The spectacular success of Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr. assaulting sacred cows the past nine months is reflected by his private plans for next year: start repealing wasteful government programs, including politically inviolable veteran's benefits.

That Brown would even consider such a risk shows how wrong his Democratic critics were last January when they predicted to us that the new Democratic governor's public support would be gone by autumn. "I thought the people would have caught on to Jerry by now," one hostile Democrat said last week. "Now I wonder whether they'll ever catch on." Such Democrats, who once sneered at former Gov. Pat Brown's little boy, now consider him a political genius.

But this grudging admiration does not extend to the substance of his governorship. Viewing him as a pitchman disguising wild inefficiency, conventional Democrats fail to truly perceive Jerry Brown's revolution. Declaring the limits of government in solving today's problems, he is radically transforming the tone of the California Democratic party.

While appreciating the insuperable obstacles keeping him from the 1976 presidential ticket, there is no doubt Brown wants to spread his revolution nationwide. Easily the country's most interesting politician today, Brown dramatically contrasts with avowed Democratic presidential candidates serving up generation-old liberal nostrums.

Even some Brown aides confess he flunks conventional liberal tests of what a good governor ought to be. His legislative requests are few, long-range planning is nonexistent and the organizational chaos of his office is unchanged from the day he entered it.

Instead, Brown has captured and held the public imagination, mainly with highly-publicized self-abnegation and a rhetoric blending Ronald Reagan and George Wallace. That rhetoric is most pointed when he criticizes liberal Democratic U. S. Senators and intellectuals.

"I'm not even sure what a multi-national (corporation) is," he told us in his office last week. "These over-developed brains talk about multi-nationals when people are getting mugged and raped and shot on the streets. If that's Wallaceism, then the Democratic party is in a lot of trouble." This fits Brown's recent confidential remark to a key Democratic politician that "the people expect me to kick tails."

But politicians who see Brown merely "tail-kicking" for popular applause miss the significance of his deeply-held philosophy: skepticism about the effectiveness of government rare among liberals and pessimism about the perfectibility of man unique among politicians of either party. From that pessimism stems his repeated admonition for Americans to "reduce material expectations" — advice probably more acceptable to today's voters than most politicians believe.

Brown's profound pessimism was displayed recently when Democratic legislative leaders, chatting casually with the governor, asked whether he would sign a bill raising liquor taxes to finance anti-alcoholism programs. The onetime Jesuit seminarian's reply could have come from no other leading politician: since an alcoholic is a sober man driven to drink by a disorderly world, how can spending more government money help him? He vetoed the bill.

Unlike politicians from George McGovern to Jerry Ford, Brown never calls himself a "problem solver." Rather, he sees many federal programs doing less to solve problems than provide "leaf-raking jobs for the upper-middle class." Consequently, Brown wages guerrilla warfare with the federal bureaucracy, a current dispute over federal regulations risking the loss of millions in aid for California. That outdoes even Reagan, his conservative Republican predecessor as governor, in

Other Editors Say Banishment

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

President Gerald Ford, target of two assassination attempts in 17 days, says he will not go into seclusion.

He feels the American people must be able to see their President. And he feels the President must be able to mingle with the people.

John Kennedy and Harry Truman both said that anyone willing to pay the price could kill the President of the United States.

Gerald Ford, of course, recognizes this fact. Unfortunately, one attempt on the life of the President can trigger another.

The nation's press cannot ignore the biggest news of the day. The assassination attempts must be covered.

But perhaps, as in the case of Lynette Fromme, the press goes too far. Miss Fromme is a weirdo follower of mass murderer Charles Manson.

It would be difficult for any of us to try to understand what goes on in her strange mind but obviously one motivation for the attempted shooting of the President was to attract attention herself.

Now she is revelling in that attention, granting interviews and rambling on about how we should "save the redwoods" and spare the man who killed a movie star and cut her unborn child from her womb.

Somewhere in the land today might be another Lynette Fromme craving the public eye. The interviews with Miss Fromme do nothing to discourage some one else who might see in an assassination attempt a way to get in the limelight.

Perhaps the best way for us to handle these people is to keep them in solitary confinement with only their lawyers permitted to see them.

Inevitably, as these things occur, the cry increases for gun controls. Ignored is the fact that a person who will attempt to murder the President of the United States is going to have no qualms about stealing a gun or purchasing one illegally.

The best deterrent in these cases would be a swift trial and banishment of the guilty parties from society for the rest of their lives.

40 Years Ago Today

Registration at East Carolina Teachers College has so far broken all records up to noon of the second day of registration, but exact figures will not be available for several days.

The bulk of the students will be fully enrolled before classes begin tomorrow morning. Quite a few, however, will not have their schedules completed, for various reasons.

No student is fully enrolled until his schedule is completed and approved and until certain financial obligations have been met.

Some transfers from other colleges are delayed in completing schedules because of adjustment of credit courses.

The practice-teaching lists are not completed as there is a careful check on prerequisites which in some cases causes some delay.

Some few will enter late. —James Kyle

Strength For Today

THE GREATEST SIN
Who is the villain of the New Testament? Judas Iscariot, of course. Did he rob or murder? Did he blaspheme or commit adultery? Of course not. He moved in the godliest circles and to all outward appearances seemed to be a loyal disciple of Jesus.

But he had one great failure which in effect left him more depraved than the most hardened criminal. He had an unloving heart. Jesus could do something with Peter who was a coward, but he could do nothing with Judas who had a heart of stone. Peter could weep and repent; for the unloving Judas nothing was possible but greed, betrayal, and ultimately self-destruction.

Thrift Institutions Worrying

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's thrift institutions — the savings banks and the savings and loan associations — again are worried that they are losing out in the competitive battle for the consumer's dollar.

Restricted by federal regulation to offering only 5.25 per cent on passbook savings and 7.75 per cent on six-year savings certificates, the thrifts find themselves no match for Uncle Sam's 8-plus per cent.

That's what the Treasury is offering on notes these days, and some of them are in denominations small enough to attract funds that otherwise would repose within the coffers of the thrift institutions.

The big commercial banks, say the thrifts, are in a much better position to survive, enough though the upper limit of interest rates they can offer is one-quarter point lower.

The commercial banks have other sources of income; they aren't dependent, as are the thrifts, on catching consumer savings. They derive funds and income from a broad variety of business services.

Unlike the thrifts, commercial banks aren't undermined when the money of small savers is withdrawn, attracted away by higher interest rates elsewhere. But withdrawals are devastating for the thrifts.

You might think then that the thrifts would find logical and fair the prediction by George McKinney, chief economist of Irving Trust, that federal officials soon will permit higher interest to be offered on consumer savings.

McKinney maintains that the small saver is entitled to a "reasonable" return on his savings. The present restrictions represent an inequality, an inequality that federal officials can quickly correct if they so choose.

McKinney feels certain that this will take place, if only because "things of interest to the nation generally get done." Pressure will be brought, he said. "Maybe Congress will have to act."

Well, the thrift institutions don't think it's a very good idea. They agree that if permitted to offer higher rates on savings they would attract more money. But at what cost?

Said Kenneth Thygeson, economist of the U.S. League of Savings Associations: "I just don't think the S&Ls and mutual savings banks have the earnings capacity to pay substantially higher rates."

Thygeson points out that net income after taxes fell in 1974 to $1.482 billion from $1.896 billion a year earlier. "We did a survey, a summary, and found them down even more in the first half of 1975," he said.

The thrifts therefore seem to be caught in a vice. They can't compete unless interest rates drop. And they can't correct the situation by offering higher interest rates either, even if permitted by regulators.

Meanwhile, they fear disintermediation — a big word that means, simply, a movement of money toward higher rates. In July the savings and loans accumulated $3 billion in savings; in August, only $1.2 billion.

Neo-Reaganism has been a delicious surprise for California conservatives, now involved in a new love affair with Brown. Not even Brown talking about "narrowing material disparities" worries them, mainly because Brown attacks high salaries for senior government officials rather than vastly better-paid corporate executives. When he says a janitor deserves a pay increase more than the Chief Justice of the United States, businessmen do not object.

"Your Highness, have I ever lied to you? Once you buy them they're yours to do with as you like. You can shoot them all off on New Year's Eve for all we care. . . I know the Russians have offered to sell you SAM missiles, but they're no match to th Hawk. Our Hawks will give you twice the bang for the buck. . . It's in this month's Consumer Reports . . .

"I'll tell you what. If you take the Hawks, we'll throw in $3 million worth of Red Eye shoulder-fired rockets and a brand-new $90 million Vulcan anti-aircraft gun system. . . No, you don't have to accept any bribes from Lockheed or Northrop. . . We'll make this one a straight sale. . .

"I don't want to beg, Your Highness, but your acceptance of a multi-million-dollar arms deal from the United States means a lot to me. . . As a friend I'm asking you, please take them. . . You'll think it over? Thank you, thank you from the bottom of my heart. . . I don't know how I can ever repay you. . . Goodby."

"Do you think he'll take them, sir?"

"He better—or we'll never have peace in our time."

The Face of Faith

Sometimes a face is striking. It isn't the sort of face you're accustomed to. It's a face you wouldn't have expected to see. But you have seen it! That's why you call it striking.

The Face of Faith is like that . . . The eyes seem lifted toward the hills, to a source of strength. The lips are firm with a courage that rests neither on prowess nor weapon. The countenance shines with a joyous light . . . a light that seems to reflect some mystic Sun though the world around is cast in shadow and gloom.

I see the Face of Faith each Sunday . . . the face of a child . . . perhaps your child!

I am her Sunday School teacher—and the joyous light of that striking face inspires me to seek more faithfully in the worship and work of my Church the help of God.

You are her parents. How that confident, expectant radiance must inspire you!

Pirates Seeking First Road Victory

It'll be wishbone against wishbone Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. (EDT) when the East Carolina University Pirates invade Carbondale, Ill., to meet the Salukis of Southern Illinois in an intersectional football game.

It will mark the eighth meeting between the two teams who have played seven tough games. Last year, the Pirates escaped from an upset with a 17-16 victory as the Pirates rebounded from a 13-0 deficit to pull it out late in the game. Even then, it took a safety on a bad pass from center on a punt to help the Pirates along.

This year's Southern Illinois team is greatly improved, despite its 0-2 record. The Salukis lost to powerful Southwest Louisiana, 27-10, then bowed on the last play of the game, a 50-yard field goal as time expired, 23-31.

The Pirates go into the contest with a 1-2 record, having won their first game of the year, a 20-0 decision over William & Mary, last week.

East Carolina holds a 5-2 margin in the Southern Illinois series, and has won the last three in a row. The Bucs have won two of the three games in Carbondale.

The heavy rains which have drenched the area, however, have put a definite damper on the pirate preparedness. "If we were getting ready to play water polo, we'd be in top shape," Coach Pat Dye said. Several times this week, the Bucs have sloshed through the rain and mud, and once, they were forced inside to work by lightning. "We need to get the work in badly," Dye said.

DE Cary Godette

Southern Illinois does not present an easy opponent for the Bucs, according to Dye. "They run a defense similar to the one Missouri ran against Alabama (when they play a wishbone team). And we really don't see the wishbone that often either," the coach added. "Only Southern and Appalachian run the 'bone against us.' " "We were lucky to win against them last year. We moved the ball well, but we got some bad breaks. Then, they got some that helped us, too," Dye said.

Over the past two years, Southern had trouble with its kicking game against the Bucs. Two bad snaps turned into touchdowns in the last game at Carbondale, and one last year, gave the Bucs the safety that won the game. "I would imagine that they've improved this situation," Dye said. "But we'll run our normal kick game—we'll rush some and return some."

quarterback. Leonard Hopkins has 34 yards rushing on 24 carries, and has hit nine of 23 passes for 194 yards and one touchdown. Gary Linton has rushed six times for 28 yards and missed on his only pass attempt. Hopkins is slated to start against the Bucs.

Ivy Moore is the leading receiver with six catches for 145 yards.

"They've got a fine offensive line," Dye said. "But one thing that impresses me is that their backs block coming out of the backfield like ours did—last year. This hurt us against Appalachian on the option, but I hope that we've got it worked out."

Defensively, the Salukis build around Primus Jones, their middle guard. Jones in two games has nine tackles, 11 assists, and has thrown two runners for losses. Steve Weathersby, who moved from fullback to defensive tackle, is also a standout, along with end John Flowers.

"I feel like they have a good football team. I can't see any glaring weaknesses on defense.

"Then, too, we haven't played well on the road," Dye added. "And a dog that won't fight out of his own back yard isn't much of a dog. We've got to get the reputation of being tough both at home and away. I know too that we're not going to have too many fans up there, and none on the field."

effort in the country, is the leading scorer with a 10.0 average. He stands 13th in the nation in scoring.

Steve Hale will replace the injured Jim Bolding at safety.

Rampant Cubs Lose Fourth; Go Scoreless

Rose High's Rampant Cubs extended their scoreless game streak to four here Thursday as they were handed a 25-0 defeat by the Jacksonville High School junior varsity.

The Rampant Cubs, still looking for their first points of the year, threatened in the first period as they drove to the Jacksonville 17 but penalties stopped the effort.

Jacksonville took the lead in the second quarter when Mickey Newsome fielded a punt on his own 11-yard-line and returned it 89 yards for the game's first touchdown. The conversion try failed.

Later in the second quarter, Jacksonville began a drive at the Rose 30 that ended with Sal Speziale scoring on a one-yard run. Again the conversion attempt failed.

The visitors wrapped up the game with a third score in the second period as quarterback Walter James connected with Theodore Tyler on a 27-yard pass play to extend the lead to 18-0 at the half.

A third quarter score by Jacksonville, set up when the Rampant's Lorenzo Owens fumbled a punt on the Jacksonville 23, saw Newsome scamper 38 yards for the tally. Penalties had pushed Jacksonville back to the 38-yard-line before Newsome's run. Skip Layaza kicked the conversion to close out the scoring.

The Cubs threatened several times in the game but penalties and fumbles, one of them occurring on the visitor's five-yard-line, kept them from scoring. Another drive was halted by Jacksonville on their own four-yard-line as the Rampant Cubs failed again to cash in on a scoring chance.

The Rampant Junior varsity will host Reid Ross of Fayetteville on Thursday.

Gallagher's Catches Boost Pirate Scoring

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Last week in the Ficklen Stadium press box, newsmen were laughing after Terry Gallagher, East Carolina's split end, missed on a pass reception. "Guess he only wants touchdown passes," one writer joked.

At the time, Gallagher had a total of four receptions on the year, all for touchdowns. Three of them came against Appalachian State, when he piled up 218 yards in a trio of catches. His first reception against William & Mary was also for a score.

A few minutes later, however, the string came to an end as Gallagher caught a pass—and failed to score. He made up for it late in the game, snaring his sixth season catch. It was a diving grasp in the end zone for his fifth touchdown. Not a bad average, however, five touchdowns on six catches.

"I guess I'm kind of lucky," Terry said. "I guess I was just in the right place at the right time to get them."

Gallagher's 72.7 yard average against Appalachian didn't qualify for an NCAA record since a minimum of five catches is necessary. But East Carolina has been informed that Gallagher's mark will be put into the record book as an unofficial mark should anyone wonder about a less-than-five catch average.

"I guess 72 yards a catch is pretty good," the Warner Robbins, Ga., native said. "But we had to throw long since we were backed up so deep most of the game."

Gallagher is really somewhat surprised to have done so well. "I figure we'd run the ball more

(in the wishbone offense). But the defense has been playing up so close that we've had the pass. The line has blocked real well for the quarterbacks, and the quarterbacks have thrown well, too. Everyone is playing the run, and they really weren't expecting us to throw long at Appalachian." Gallagher was at least 10 yards downfield beyond the closest defender when he grabbed the first bomb at Appalachian.

"I feel like we have a good deep threat," Terry said. "If I can get open, and the rest of the people do their job, which they have so far, we have the people to get the ball downfield."

But at the same time, Gallagher isn't worried about not getting the ball. "If we can move it on the ground and win, it doesn't make any difference. I'd like to see us have a goodyear. We've worked hard, and if we can win running, fine. I really feel like our passing will help the running game. They'll have to play us honest and not pull 11 men on the line of scrimmage."

"I think we can have a good year," Gallagher said. "The offense is doing things right now and the defense is coming around. We have so many young players, our future really looks bright if we start doing things the way we can."

As a sophomore, Terry is one of those young players with a big future at ECU. But he's already had disappointments to go with the joy of touchdown receptions. "Losing to State and Appalachian were big let-downs," he said. "We wanted those two. Beating William & Mary picked us up, and we had a good time doing it."

sometimes forgets he's in the South still. "I really feel like I'm up North. This is the furthest north I've ever been, and I've never been as far away as Illinois." The Bucs play Southern Illinois in Carbondale Saturday.

Terry enjoys listening to music in his spare time. "My roommate has a great stereo rig, and I've got a lot of records. Between football and school, I don't really have a lot of spare time, however."

If Gallagher runs under another touchdown pass this weekend, he'll be well on his way to a season record. The Buc mark for TD receptions is ten. And Terry's halfway there after three games.

Losers Meet

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)—Two high school football teams with a combined record of 1-60 since they began varsity play meet each other tonight.

Anderson McDuffie won last year, 54-0, breaking a 33-game losing streak. Since then it has lost 11 games.

Oakway has an 0-18 record in three years. Its teams have scored only 16 points to their opponents' 928.

McDuffie Coach Duane Loftis says, "We're just trying to take them one game at a time. We need a win right now to pull out any kind of respectable season."

Oakway Coach Jerry Bryant says, "Our defense hasn't been all that bad. We've been concentrating on our offense and working awfully hard, but we've got to think score before we can think about winning."

Whither George Dickel?

With or without the rocks? Either way it's superb Tennessee Sour Mash Whisky.

What? The thought that quality always takes a little longer.

How? Tennessee Coffee. Add one jigger George Dickel to hot coffee. Sweeten to taste. Top with generous dollop of whipped cream and enjoy.

There's a little bit of Tennessee in every sip.

Two Busloads

The Rose High School Rampants, who travel to Jacksonville tonight seeking their fourth straight win of the season, will have some extra support when they take the field against the Cardinals.

Two bus loads of fans, including one bus for student supporters, are scheduled to leave Greenville at 5:30 p.m. for the trip to Jacksonville.

The student bus has been arranged and chartered by Mrs. Sarah Jenkins of Willard & Webb Insurance here while a second bus, chartered by the Rose High Athletic Association, will take as many other supporters as possible.

A spokesman for the Athletic Association said that tonight's bus for general supporters is already filled but he urged persons who would like to attend the Rampant's Oct. 3 game at Reid Ross High School in Fayetteville to begin making plans now. A bus will also be chartered by the Athletic Association for that game, he added.

The spokesman said that other groups or individuals who might be interested in leasing a bus should contact the bus company for information concerning chartering. He pointed out that it is hoped that several buses will make the Oct. 3 trip in support of the football squad.

Baines Races Toward The Top

I guess it all goes to prove that you shouldn't leave a game until the final horn. Last week, in six of the games we picked, if you left early, you might have missed the exciting finish.

For instance, Rose had to go right down to the wire to hold off Kingston. Then, Virginia, Oklahoma State, Appalachian State, N.C. State, and Richmond all pulled their victors out within the final five minutes of play.

Because of the way they were pulled out, Tom Baines made a strong bid to take over the lead in our weekly poll, zooming out to an 8-3 record, discounting the tie game. The rest of us floundered around with 5-6 and 6-5 records. We all picked the other way, and our teams were among the losers in those last five minutes.

Baines didn't quite catch up, but moved into a three-way tie for second place. Jack Whichard leads the way with a 22-11 mark, while Baines, George Holland and Diane Allen are all 21-12. Joe Jenkins is 18-15, while this writer is 16-17.

Among the high school picks, a 7-1 record last week has pulled our record to 12-10-1 as we continue to recover from our horrid opening week.

Most of the area teams move into conference competition this week, with some tough games on the schedule.

Roanoke Rapids visits Williamston in a key Northeastern Conference game. Raonoke Rapids hasn't been scored on in three victories so far this year, and that must put them into the favorites' role in the game.

C. B. Aycock visits North Pitt as the Eastern Carolina Conference play opens. North Pitt has the chance to win two in a row with this one, and it's possible, but we must pick Aycock.

Conley travels to North Lenoir in another ECC game. The two teams each have lost one. The home field advantage may be the big thing in this one, so we'll go with North Lenoir.

Greene Central is at Farmville Central. The Rams are winless, while Farmville Central has won one of three. Both need wins badly as they open league play. Again, we'll go with the home team and pick the Jaguars to win it.

Souther Nash visits Ayden-Grifton. The Chargers, after a loss and a tie, got their first win last week. All their games have been against strong teams, so we'll give them the nod to keep rolling now.

West Edgcombe visits Roanoke in an Eastern Plains game. The Redskins have lost once in surprise to Williamston, while West comes in unbeaten. They'll go home beaten.

Bath is at Jamesville in a Tobacco Belt contest. The Bullets have had their troubles, and Bath should emerge on top.

The Rampants get one of their toughest tests of the year tonight in Jacksonville. The Cardinals are coming off their first loss, while Rose, still unbeaten, didn't win that handily last week. This could be a key toward the state championship if Rose can come up with a big win. The panel believes—it's a 6-0 ballot for the Rampants.

East Carolina travels out to meet Southern Illinois, looking for its second win in four games. The Bucs got moving last week behind Pete Conaty, and he's due to start tomorrow. Southern is much better than its record would indicate, so it could be a cliffhanger.

This time, there's one vote against the Bucs, a 5-1 pick to win. Diane votes for Southern.

Other winners, according to the poll, should be: Citadel over Wofford; Pittsburgh over William & Mary; Duke over Virginia; Ohio State over Carolina; Kansas State over Wake; Appalachian over Furman; VMI over Davidson; VPI over Richmond; Georgia Tech over Clemson; Maryland over Kentucky, and Michigan State over N.C. State.

Keydets Open Defense Of Title Saturday Afternoon

By The Associated Press
Virginia Military's Keydets open defense of their league title and Appalachian State's Mountaineers take the second step toward what they hope will be their first championship in a pair of weekend Southern Conference football games.

The Keydets, whose first two starts resulted in one-point defeats to Delaware by 10-9 and Virginia by 22-21, make their conference debut at home Saturday afternoon against Davidson's Wildcats, who will be opening their season.

Appalachian State, which beat East Carolina's Pirates 41-25 in its opener and then edged Wake Forest 19-17, goes to Furman Saturday night to meet the Paladins, who bowed to Tennessee Tech 17-5 and then were beaten by Richmond's Spiders in a league game 27-21.

Three conference teams have nonleague afternoon dates on the road with Richmond, 1-1, at Virginia Tech; William and Mary's Indians, 0-2, at Pitt; and East Carolina, 1-2, at Southern Illinois.

In the only other night action, The Citadel's Bulldogs, 1-1, play host to Wofford without Andrew Johnson, the 1974 conference player of the year.

Johnson, who set a league record with 1,323 yards on the ground last season, injured a knee in the Bulldogs' 16-0 defeat at Colgate last week, underwent surgery Monday and is out of action for the season.

"One of these weeks we're going to score enough points to come out on top," says VMI Coach Bob Thalman, and chances are good it will be Saturday—and that the Keydets will score a lot more than that.

The running of tailbacks Kim Glidewell and Keith Giddens, and the passing of sophomore quarterback Mark Lambert were much improved last week against Virginia and the Keydets' veteran defensive unit has been stingy, especially near the goal line.

Similarly, Appalachian has shown offensive proficiency on the running of Calvin Simon and Emmitt Hamilton and the running and passing of junior quarterback Robbie Price.

"We are pleased with the progress of our offensive unit," says Appalachian Coach Jim Brakefield. But he warns that Furman "will be tough."

Furman Coach Art Baker

says in his three years in the league the Mountaineers "impress me more than any other team I have seen. There isn't anything they don't do well."

Against Virginia Tech, Richmond will rely on the running of Ed Kreilis and John Palazetti and the passing of Larry Shaw. William and Mary Coach Jim Root still is looking for some offensive punch, the Indians having just 406 yards in total offense in two games.

East Carolina has begun to pick up on offense, led by Willie Hawkins and Kenny Strayhorn on the ground and quarterback Pete Conaty in the air, but Coach Pat Dye says he thinks Southern Illinois "will be just as tough on us" as last year, when the Pirates won by 17-16.

Dooley, Hayes Sound 'Alike'

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bill Dooley sounded just like Woody Hayes, his coaching counterpart at Ohio State, on the eve of North Carolina's football challenge of the second-ranked Buckeyes Saturday.

"I read where Woody says he can't hold North Carolina in the same regard as his first two opponents," said the Tar Heels' coach.

"Well," suggested Dooley, "we can't hold Ohio State in the same regard as William and Mary and Maryland either."

Dooley's inference is obvious. The Atlantic Coast Conference squad faces its most formidable opponent of 1975. On the other hand, the intersectional clash appears to be the easiest so far for Ohio State, more than a four-touchdown favorite.

Despite his team's underdog role, Dooley said, "We'll go to Ohio State planning on winning. I don't think you should go into any game thinking you can't win."

The last time Dooley brought the Tar Heels to Columbus, North Carolina went home with a 29-14 welt, thanks to Archie Griffin's school record 239 yards in his first experience as a college rusher.

"We did not know Griffin existed. And now you tell me he's a freshman," Dooley said after that game.

Three seasons later, Griffin is the most celebrated individual in the college game. The Heisman Trophy-winning tailback is the greatest rusher in school and Big Ten history.

"You can't stop Griffin, period," said the coach of 1-1 North Carolina. "And you can't afford to concentrate on him."

"Ohio State has so many other threats in (Cornelius) Greene, (Pete) Johnson and (Brian) Baschnagel."

Hayes, meantime, is guarding against a letdown after the Buckeyes posted back-to-back victories over Top Twenty opponents Michigan State and Penn State.

"We can't hold this team as highly as the first two. I can't lie to the kids. You can't fool them," said Hayes before sending the Big Ten powerhouse after a record 20th straight home victory.

The tailback position will be prominent in both sides' attacks before a sellout Ohio Stadium crowd of more than 87,000.

North Carolina matches Griffin with alternating tailbacks Mike Voight and James Betterson, who combined for 2,115 yards. By comparison, Griffin ran for 1,620 yards in 1974.

Voight, after the Tar Heels' 34-7 whumping by Maryland last week, said his teammates need a mean streak to become a good team.

"We have the material to win. All we've got to do is get mean. We've got to give as many licks as we're taking," said the 201-pound junior from Chesapeake, Va.

Voight and his fellow offensive players may find that difficult against a young, swarming Ohio State defense some consider better than the veteran 1974 collection. The Buckeyes have not yielded a touchdown in winning their first two games.

Meet Won By Titans

Wilson High School swept another cross-country victory here Thursday as the Titans ran past South Lenoir, Bertie and Rose High School.

The Titans topped the meet with 21 points while South Lenoir finished second with 40 points, Bertie took third with 86 points, and Rose trailed with 100 points for fourth place.

Wilson's King captured the meet with a time of 13:10. Rounding out the top ten finishers were: GoForth (W) 13:55; Ellis (W) 14:10; Warren (S.L.) 14:13; Cox (W) 14:13; Fowler (S.L.) 14:28; Newton (W) 14:35; Hill (S.L.) 14:32; Speller (B) 14:47; and Zillerman (S.L.) 14:58.

The best finish Rose could muster was 13th by Jimmy Davis at 15:14.

Rose finishers included: Johnny Evans, 15th in 15:27; Michael Dyer, 23rd in 15:52; John Lawler, 24th in 15:53; Jeff Barber, 25th in 16:05; Robert Vick, 28th in 16:28; and Michael Norfleet, 32nd in 16:52.

Four Agencies United In Sedimentation Work

Four agencies—three of the State of North Carolina and one federal—have formalized their agreement to work together to curb pollution by sedimentation in North Carolina, with each contributing specialized knowledge to the general purpose.

A Memorandum of Understanding has been signed by the North Carolina Department of Natural and Economic Resources, the North Carolina Sedimentation Control Commission, the North Carolina Soil and Water Conservation Commission, and the Soil Conservation Service—a federal agency in the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The memorandum was signed by Jesse L. Hicks of Raleigh, state conservationist who heads the SCS in North Carolina; Carl E. Sloop of Salisbury, chairman of the Soil and Water Conservation Commission; and Secretary James E. Harrington of DNER.

The Memorandum of Understanding, the first involving all four agencies, sets forth procedures for cooperation in implementing the Sedimentation Pollution Control Act of 1973, enacted by the North Carolina General Assembly. It also pledges mutual support, and, as Jesse Hicks put it, "is an expression of close cooperation between federal and state agencies and commissions." Secretary Harrington commented that "It is a pleasure to sign this cooperative agreement within such a short time of the establishment of the Commission." Chairman Sloop said "I am gratified that the role of North Carolina's 92 soil and water conservation districts is being recognized, since they have 40 years of experience in this field of endeavor. This makes our resources available to review county-level sediment control plans and to provide technical assistance in developing such plans, as well as informing the public on requirements of the program."

Chairman Phillips voiced "thanks to all the participants, not only the four who signed this memorandum but the people they represent. They are some of the best talent available to make this program highly effective, and the people of North Carolina deserve a fully effective program." The state conservationist pointed out that while Soil Conservation Service people in every county can provide technical assistance and valuable know-how on sediment control plans, "the SCS has no legal authority to enforce either the local ordinances or the statewide law. We can provide technical information to those with the responsibility for seeing that it is carried out."

No time limit on the memorandum is set. The document also outlines assignment of people for various responsibilities and spells out responsibilities agreed to by the four signers.

"In many ways, this is a landmark agreement" the signers agreed, "and one that will mean better service in an important area to the people of North Carolina."

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Good day for expansion since you are feeling aces. This is particularly true where personal aims are concerned. See good friends.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be ingenious and remarkable, with a practical eye that can penetrate into the truth of any situation, so give a fine education. Slant it along such lines as writing, selling, teaching, medicine, investigation, etc. Teach early not to give up in the middle of a project. Religion fine here.

PUBLIC NOTICE

PUBLICATION OF NOTICE
Notice is hereby given that on October 6, 1975, the City of Greenville will submit to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development a request and certification for the release of funds. The request and certification relate to the application of the City of Greenville, North Carolina, for a grant of funds under Title I of the Community Development Act of 1974 for the purpose of undertaking the projects herein-after described.

1) Purchase of a parcel of land at Eight and Washington Streets to be used as a parking lot.

2) An architectural and site plan for a proposed joint recreation-library facility to be located in East Greenville.

3) The landscaping of all existing recreational facilities.

4) The renovation of the South Greenville Recreation Center on Howell Street.

5) The removal of architectural barriers to the elderly and handicapped at existing recreational facilities.

The City of Greenville has prepared an environmental review record respecting the above-described projects for which the release of funds is being sought. The environmental review record is available at the City Hall between the hours of 8:00 am and 5:00 pm, Monday to Friday, where the same may be examined by the public and copies thereof obtained.

The applicant requesting release of funds for the above-described projects is the City of Greenville, North Carolina 27834. The applicant's chief executive officer is S. Eugene West, Mayor, the City of Greenville, P. O. Box 1905, Greenville, North Carolina 27834.

The City of Greenville will undertake the projects described above with Block Grant funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The City of Greenville is certifying to HUD that the City of Greenville and S. Eugene West, in his official capacity as Mayor, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision-making, and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the City of Greenville may use the Block Grant funds, and HUD will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. HUD will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of the certification only if it is on one of the following bases: a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the chief executive officer of the applicant; or b) that applicant's environmental review record for the project indicates omission of a required decision, finding or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 58), and may be addressed to HUD Area Office at 2309 West Cone Boulevard, Greensboro, North Carolina 27408. Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by HUD. No objection received after October 30, 1975, will be considered by HUD.

TARHEEL TOYOTA HAS NEW OWNERS WITH NEW IDEAS

Why Do We Offer A 100,000 MILE WARRANTY?

Read For Yourself Our Reason

Every car dealer in the country is talking "dependability" these days. At Tarheel Toyota, we've decided to do something about it. A new car warranty that's longer than any other warranty in the world (exclusively for Tarheel Toyota). Bill Draper can tell you why: "Nobody else in the world has a car like this. I've seen how the Toyota is made, the quality of the workmanship, the integrity and the craftsmanship that go into this car. I know the Toyota inside and out." Until now, most new car warranties haven't been much more than discounts on the car repairs you knew you'd need. Our warranty is our guarantee of faith in Toyota. "Nobody else in the world can put this kind of warranty on their car. My faith and my knowledge and experience with Toyota tell me I can do it. Toyota builds an automobile to last." Our knowledge of the Toyota comes from research, from first hand information from our service department and from a great number of satisfied Toyota customers. For 100,000 miles or 3 years from the day you purchase your new Toyota, we guarantee to replace or repair your motor, transmission and rear end, if they fail under normal driving conditions. We'll ask you to keep the vehicle properly maintained and we'll ask that you bring it back to Tarheel Toyota for any repairs covered by this warranty. We're offering the 100,000 mile, 3 year warranty in addition to the new car warranty offered by Toyota Motor Sales, USA. It's a promise, a guarantee of Toyota quality, Toyota dependability.

12 MONTHS OR 12,000 MILES USED CAR WARRANTY

This guarantee applies to cars selling for $1000.00 and up. On a 50-50 basis. All work must be done in our shop. This warranty does not apply to any sport cars, high performance or air cooled engines or 4 speed transmissions (except economy cars). Most good used cars (even if they look like new) are only guaranteed for a month. Or for a thousand miles. No more. And some are not guaranteed at all. But at Tarheel when we say a used car is in excellent condition, we're willing to stand behind it. We're willing to do something a little extra for it. So we guarantee its motor, its rear end, and its transmission for twelve months or twelve thousand miles. If you're in the market for a better used car, come out to Tarheel and look at ours. We'll show you some as good as new. Guaranteed. Asterisk denotes warranted car.
