

Expect Reagan Announce His Candidacy Thursday

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — In scattered states that soon will be political battlegrounds, Ronald Reagan's campaign forces are at work, making telephone calls, searching Republican rosters for volunteers, preparing for a test of strength with President Ford.

The Ford political apparatus is gearing up, too, after a start viewed as too slow by some of the President's allies.

So as Reagan declares his GOP presidential candidacy, both sides are hard at the political spadework that will be crucial this coming winter when the primary elections begin.

In New Hampshire, more than 7,000 telephone calls are being made each week, seeking Republican voters and volunteers for Reagan in the first of the primaries, little more than three months away. Reagan's Florida campaign chairman forecasts a landslide victory over Ford in the March 9 primary there. A Reagan campaign lieutenant in Illinois predicts primary showings that will force Ford to quit the campaign.

All of this has happened while the former California governor was insisting he had not made up his mind whether or not to run for the Republican nomination. He stuck to that for nearly five months after giving his blessing to a Washington-based campaign committee.

Now that phase of the Reagan campaign is over, and he is announcing Thursday that he is, indeed, going to contest Ford for the GOP nomination.

Reagan's rites of candidacy begin in Washington Thursday morning, and take him to Miami, Manchester, N.H., Charlotte, N.C., Chicago and Los Angeles, on an inaugural campaign tour that ends Friday night.

The Miami to Manchester route, with selected stops in between, will be familiar to Reagan by mid-winter. Those states, plus North Carolina and Illinois, are crucial to him.

He has to win, or come very close to it, along that early primary election route if he is to build the momentum it will take to convince establishment-minded Republicans they should drop an appointed, incumbent President in favor of a conservative challenger.

Ford campaign managers contend they can afford to lose in early primaries and still beat Reagan. One of them, Stuart Spencer, said defeats in the New Hampshire and Florida contests would not undo the Ford campaign.

Campaign strategists size up the primary picture this way: the race is close in Florida and New Hampshire; Massachusetts is tilting toward Ford. North Carolina and Illinois primaries are too far away for most analysts to predict.

Shadow On The Moon

LUNAR ECLIPSE OVER GREENVILLE — Citizens of Greenville watched last night as the moon performed a wonder of the universe, a total eclipse. The eclipse started about 5:03 and was not visible until about 5:15. The show lasted till 7:08 when the earth's shadow left the moon's surface. For those who missed last night's performance the next show will be in about 1978. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Transit Planning Work Is Discussed

Members of the City Council and the Public Transportation Commission met last night with representatives of East Carolina University to discuss the work program of the upcoming transit planning study and how it would relate to university operations.

City spokesmen offered an analysis of the work program of the transit study for the ECU representatives and described the kind of results expected from the study, which involves a $25,512 Federal allocation and a $6,378 commitment from the city.

A possible time schedule of implementation was also discussed, as well as what can reasonably be expected from the program.

University participation in the study, which basically investigates the transit needs of the whole city, was emphasized to assure that the transit report includes all elements of Greenville.

Should a community-wide transit system be deemed feasible, the study would outline a five-year capital and operating budget and get into actual logistics of the operation including what types of vehicles are needed for the system and how many.

The involvement of the people of Greenville in the planning process was described and also a way of evaluating the system was discussed.

The four-month study is expected to begin in January and will be conducted by Alan M. Voorhees and Associates, Inc. of McLean, Va., transportation planning consultant firm.

The suggestion was made to see whether the university would be willing to create a committee to work with the Transportation Commission. A letter will be written to ECU Chancellor Dr.

Leo Jenkins asking him to look into the idea of creating such a committee.

Meeting with city officials last night at the dinner meeting were Clifton Moore, vice chancellor for business affairs at ECU; Dr. Ed Monroe, vice chancellor for health affairs; Dr. Lloyd Benjamin, chairman, of the Faculty Senate; Jimmy Honeycutt, president of the Student Government Association; and Greg Davis, SGA transit operator.

During a public meeting of the Transportation Commission at city hall following the dinner session, the first draft of the immediate action program was presented.

Commission members were asked to take the draft home, go through it and make any revisions they feel are necessary. A recommendation on the program should be ready for the City Council from the Commission by the first of the year.

Jury Expected Get Best Case This Afternoon

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

The jury was expected to begin deliberation in the case against Dr. Andrew Best, a Greenville physician, charged with six counts of illegally distributing controlled substances, this afternoon.

Dr. Best was arrested March 26 on the charges following an undercover investigation by agents of the State Bureau of Investigation during February and March of this year.

The presentation of evidence in the case was completed yesterday afternoon. Presiding Judge Bradford Tillery then denied a motion by the defense to have the case dismissed.

Summons before the jury by both the defense and prosecuting attorneys began as trial, which started November 10, resumed this morning. The jury arguments were followed by Judge Tillery's explanation of the law involved.

In the opening jury argument, District Attorney Eli Bloom said "I'll tell you right now, he's (Dr. Best) a good man. But we say he's violated the law."

"The question of fact... that's where the jury comes in," he explained. "You have to decide the question of fact."

"That man is not a criminal. We don't want him to go to jail," Bloom continued, "but we say he has violated the law."

Defense attorney Marvin Bloom countered by saying, "obviously there are some questions in this case. Somebody should have some doubt... some reasonable doubt.

Blount continued, "This is the most serious day in Dr. Andrew Best's life. I hope you don't forget that."

"The day the government tells us how to practice medicine, we're in trouble. That's what this case is about."

Reject Appeal

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Court of Appeals today rejected Joan Little's appeal of a breaking and entering conviction.

The court ruled that there were no errors in the trial and let stand Miss Little's 7-10 year jail sentence.

Miss Little was in the Beaufort County jail on that conviction when she stabbed jailer Clarence Alligood during an alleged sexual assault. She was acquitted in August of first degree murder charges in that case.

After that, the Court of Appeals heard her appeal on the breaking and entering conviction. Her attorney, Jerry Paul, said at the time that he expected an adverse ruling and would continue the appeal into the federal courts.

Personal Incomes Again Advanced, But Slower Pace

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government said today that Americans' personal income advanced in October for the third consecutive month, but at a progressively slower pace.

The Commerce Department said individuals' income from all sources before deductions for taxes advanced by $1.06 billion, or at an annual rate of $12.7 billion to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $1,263.6 billion.

Along with other indicators of economic activity, the personal income report provided further evidence of a slackening growth rate in the economy.

The October advance was 1 per cent, compared to increases of 1.2 per cent in September and 1.4 per cent in August.

Commerce said pay raises for federal civilian and military personnel accounted for $2 billion of the increase at an annual rate.

Private wages and salaries climbed at an annual rate of $6.2 billion for October, compared with a $6 billion advance in September.

The over-all advance in wages and salaries came despite a smaller climb in manufacturing payrolls, which had risen at an annual rate of $3.1 billion in September but rose $3 billion in October. Commerce said the gains were widespread, however, with the electrical machinery, transportation equipment, food and textile industries showing the largest increases.

The latest advance left the level of personal income for October 8.3 per cent above where it was in the same month a year ago.

The sharpest slowing of growth in the latest report involved farm income, which had risen 5.5 per cent in September but rose seventh-tenths of 1 per cent in October.

Another government report, released Tuesday, showed that the housing industry is showing signs of life. The industry is not without its problems, however, including a continued low level of new construction on apartment buildings and a level indicator of future activity.

Hospital Trustees Approve 'Sharing'

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees voted last night to approve the percentages on the Pitt Memorial Hospital Board as 60-40; 60 per cent Pitt County residents, 40 per cent people recommended by the UNC Board of Governors.

As part of the same action, representation of the Trustees' executive board was set at four to three—four of the Pitt County trustees and three of the Board of Governors' trustees.

The vote was not unanimous. With 14 voting, 12 voted for and two against.

Delton Perry of Bethel and Kenneth Dews of Winterville were named to a committee to make recommendations on the number of members of the Trustee Board once the affiliation with the Medical School is completed.

A call meeting was set for next Wednesday to discuss the hospital's participation in an agreement on the Family Practice Center to be located here as part of the Eastern Area Health Education program.

Trustee Eugene James asked for expressions of feelings from the other trustees on whether the Hospital Emergency Room should have a physician's service 24 hours a day. A large number indicated that this is what they think their constituents want.

Trustee Hap Moye said the hospital's pension plan needs some restudy, that Book & Co. seems to be interpreting it differently from what he reads. He feels that certain hospital retirees are not getting what they should.

The Board approved an amendment to the contract with Freeman and White architectural firm for additional services prompted by the Medical School agreement.

Ralph Hall, hospital construction manager, reported that the hospital is 60 per cent complete and on schedule. He said it should be finished by November, 1976, about a year from now.

Approval of staff privileges for most of the physicians and dentists in the area was completed. The county has about 63 active hospital staff members and about 25 courtesy and consulting staffers. Chief of Staff Eric Fearrington said. He praised Dr. Kelly Wallace, Staff Credentials Committee Chairman, for the extensive and precedent-setting work he has done this year to prepare for these approvals.

Credit also was given to Mrs. Sylvia Waters, nurse, for the outstanding work she has done on the Infectious Disease Control Committee and to Drs. Lee West, Cecil Rand, James Carter, and Kelly Wallace for the hours spent last summer to bring the hospital's audits and other records into order so accreditation could be gained.

Dr. Fearrington said it was his regretful position as chief of staff and liaison person between the medical staff and the trustees to report two areas of disagreement. The staff, he said, is disturbed that its executive board called for an emergency joint meeting with the trustees' executive board on Halloween night and not one trustee attended. Only they and Hospital Director Jack Richardson were there. Board Chairman W.R. Duke explained that the meeting was called only the morning of the same day and that a quorum of trustees could not be obtained at such late notice.

He also reported that the medical staff feels the Board has departed from its own 1969 rule that the medical staff representative on the Board would be picked by the County Commissioners from a list of three submitted by the medical staff. This was not done this year when Dr. Wooten replaced Dr. Don Tucker, they say.

These differences need to be worked out, Trustee Mrs. Helen Moseley said. She said the Hospital Board, the County Commissioners, and the Medical Staff need now more than ever to speak with one voice, so they can best meet the needs of Pitt Countians now that the affiliation with the medical school has come about.

Awaiting Ford's Stance On NYC

By MIKE WATERS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — As President Ford prepares a new statement of his administration's view of New York City's financial crisis, there were more reports that Ford will support federal aid to the city.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen declined to rule out a new administration position in today's statement, telling newsmen they would have to wait for the announcement.

Ford in the past has insisted he will oppose any federal "bailout" of New York City and that the city and state should take tough steps to solve their local problem.

One person who is predicting a new Ford policy, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said after meeting Tuesday night with Ford that the President seems close to some kind of aid for the city but that "there's been no change in position" on Ford's opposition to pending aid legislation.

A conflicting view came from Rep. Peter Peyster, R-N.Y.,

who also met with Ford. He said Ford's statement today would not contain any new proposals dealing with the crisis and added that the President seems to be waiting for the New York legislature to act toward solving the crisis.

Meanwhile, one nonadministration source close to the issue said Tuesday evening Ford was described as leaning toward a $2.3-billion loan guarantee for three years if the New York legislature accepts Gov. Hugh Carey's package for fiscal reform and more taxes.

The Los Angeles Times also reported today that Ford's statement will support loan guarantees. The newspaper said Ford's plan will call for three-year loan guarantees totaling $2.5 billion. Ford is expected to insist on New York City's bringing its budget into balance within three years and will threaten cancellation of the guarantees if city officials fail to continue budget tightening and fiscal reform.

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day.

COMMUNITY CHESS CLUB?

Is there a chess club in Greenville? If there is, I would like to be contacted because I love the game. C.L.

Hotline investigated and found that there is a Rose High School team and an East Carolina University team, but apparently no community team or group. We reported this to you and asked if you'd like for us to appeal for interested persons to contact you. You said that you're a youngster and don't feel you could organize such a group. Anyone else interested in being the organizer should call Hotline at 752-1336. We'll be glad to get interested parties together.

Of course, there may already be a club of which we did not learn. If so, we'd like to be made aware of it.

HOTLINE APPEAL

DONATIONS FOR PRISON

On a recent visit to Maury State Prison with the Yokefellow Prison Ministry, I was disturbed at the physical condition of the building. The walls and windows are barren of decoration and paint is peeling off the walls of some buildings. I realize that prisons aren't to be luxurious, but at least they could be livable. L.W.

Anyone wishing to donate wall paint, pictures, magazines, books, or fireproof curtain fabric, please contact Vista at 758-2030 or bring the items to 501 E. Fifth Street between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Franco Failing

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco survived another night, but medical sources reported today that he is showing marked new signs of heart failure.

One source close to Franco's doctors said irregularities in the 82-year-old dictator's heartbeat "are now almost uninterrupted."

The sources also reported that peritonitis — infection in the abdominal cavity — was increasing. Franco has had three major abdominal operations to check the recurrent hemorrhaging there.

The doctors, meanwhile, reported that Franco's condition was unchanged. The first brief announcement on the 34th day of his illness said he had a quiet night. There was no indication of a recurrence of the massive abdominal hemorrhaging which he suffered early Tuesday.

Disparity In Sentencing For Crimes Revealed

At the Tuesday night meeting of the Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters, Herman G. Moeller spoke on the subject of whether criminals with similar backgrounds convicted of similar crimes receive similar sentences.

Moeller, Program Coordinator of Correctional Services at East

Carolina University, guest speaker at the meeting held at the First Presbyterian Church, has had 33 years experience with the U.S. Bureau of Prisons, from which he retired as Deputy Director in 1970.

Basing his remarks on studies made over the past 40 years, Moeller said the studies revealed a wide disparity in sentences. He pointed out that, although most decisions made by judges are subject to review, sentencing in North Carolina is not subject to review; nor are judges required to state the reasons for the sentences they impose.

Statistically, the U. S. confines more people to institutions than does any other country; and North Carolina, in proportion to population, confines more people than does any other state. Moeller suggests that the overcrowding and expense of penal institutions can be alleviated by judges' investigating alternative dispositions of cases.

On Dec. 2, in a follow-up on this subject, the League of Women Voters will consider the following questions in the area of Criminal Justice:

1. Should pre-sentencing investigations be mandatory in N. C. superior and district courts?
2. Should N. C. judges be required to state in writing the reasons for a sentence in every criminal case?

3. Should the range of penalties be more narrowly defined, hence narrowing the limits of judicial discretion?

4. Should North Carolina institute a system of appellate review of sentences?

The public is invited to attend the LWV meeting.

Brown-Murphy Vows Solemnized

GRIFTON — On Sunday afternoon at two o'clock in the First Christian Church, Miss Shirley Elaine Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dawson Murphy of Grifton, and Randy Carroll Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lindy Hart of Ayden, were united in marriage with the Rev. Edwin Respass officiating at the single ring ceremony.

Mrs. Donald Koon, organist, and Jimmy Smith, Trumpeteer rendered a program of music. Mrs. Troy Jackson, vocalist, sang "The Song of Ruth."

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Don Casey and Miss Lucretia Waters of Raleigh presided at the guest register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white bridal mist and cluny lace styled by Eve Musico for Milady. The gown was fashioned with a high wedding band collar of lace and the bodice, with sculptured lace flower design and tiny covered buttons, featured a see through lace over blue satin cummerbund with bow in back. The lace and button details were repeated on the long cuffed Gibson Girl sleeves and on the hemline of the A-skirt and bordered the built-in chapel train.

Her face framed by matching lace flowers and pearls was attached to a mantilla of silk illusion flowing into a chapel length train. She carried a cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses, centered with a white orchid, ivy and satin ribbons.

Miss Sylvia Lamb of Chamblee, Ga., was maid of honor. She wore a formal gown of jade green sugar cane jersey designed with a scooped Elizabethan neckline outlined in candlelight Venice lace edging. Appliques of floral Venice lace also encircled the neckline. The gown was styled with long fitted sleeves with a flounce at wrist and a full circular skirt flowing from the empire waistline. She carried a cascade of white roses, carnations showered with ribbons and ivy.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Dain Riley of Raleigh, Miss Cheryl Barnes, Miss Anne Troutman of Grifton and Mrs. Jimmy Pressley of Kinston. They wore gowns and carried flowers similar to the honor attendant. Miss Elizabeth Koon served as flower girl. Her long white gown with blue was fashioned after that of the bride and she wore a circlet of white flowers in her hair and carried a basket of flower petals.

Todd Hart cousin of the bridegroom, of Ayden was ring bearer and carried the ring on a white brocade lace trimmed pillow.

The bridegroom's best man was his father. Ushers were Michael Foss and Ronald Hardison of Grifton, Kim Manning of Williamston, and Billy Bland of Everetts.

The bride is a graduate of the Ayden-Grifton High School and Lenoir Community College, Kinston. She is presently employed at Lenoir Memorial Hospital, Kinston.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Williamston High School and Pitt Technical Institute, is engaged in farming.

After a wedding trip to Atlanta, Ga., the couple will reside at Rt. 1, Ayden.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride. Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Mark Phillips. Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Rasberry invited guests into the dining room. The bride's table was covered with a white lace over blue cloth and centered with a silver and crystal epergne with white flowers. Punch was poured by Mrs. L. D. McCotter and Mrs. Joe Speight served decorated wedding cakes. Mr. and Mrs. Archie Rogers presided at the champagne fountain.

Miss Bertha Johnson and Miss Inez May received in the gift room and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ogles greeted guests in the den. Mr. and Mrs. Wade Lehman presided at the guest register. Mr. and Mrs. Troy Jackson received on the patio and Mr. and Mrs. Max Scheetz said good-byes.

Pre-nuptial events honoring the couple included a buffet dinner given by the parents of the bridegroom Saturday evening at King's Restaurant. A cake cutting was held following the rehearsal at the home of Mrs. Dorman McCotter.

Hosts and hostesses included Mr. and Mrs. Troy Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Don Casey, Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn and Mrs. Helen Speight.

Mrs. Leon Lamb, Mrs. L. A. Butler and Mrs. Kenneth Barnes entertained at a bridesmaid luncheon Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Koon and Mrs. Sallie Johnson honored the couple at an informal steak supper Friday evening.

Shower Honors Bridal Couple

Miss Lois Brown and Jim Barrett, whose marriage will take place Nov. 29, were honored at a floating miscellaneous shower Saturday night.

Hostesses were Mrs. James Brown and Mrs. Viola Brown. The honoree and her mother were given corsages of white carnations and baby's breath. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth over yellow linen and centered with an arrangement of fall flowers.

District President Visits Here

Mrs. Evelyn Malpass of Mount Olive, second district president, was a guest at the meeting of the VFW Auxiliary held Thursday evening.

Mrs. Malpass congratulated the group for their participation in activities during the past year and announced that a special party would be held at the Veterans Hospital, Fayetteville, Jan. 2.

Mrs. Carrie West, president, expressed her appreciation to those who participated in the Buddy Poppy Sale and in the rummage sale. She announced that a wreath was placed on the lawn at the Court House on Veteran's Day.

A donation of $50 has been sent to the Burn Center, $75 to the N.C. Cottage at Eaton Rapids, Mich., and $35 to O'Berry Center. Mrs. West gave a report on the District Two meeting held recently in Grifton.

A membership Christmas party will be held at the Post Home Dec. 10.

Mrs. Mary Taylor was enrolled as a new member.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ruth Evans, Mrs. Sallie Musselwhite, Mrs. Doris Oakley and Mrs. Maggie McLawhorn.

Wedding Invitation

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Pierce request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Joan Ellen, to Anthony Lee Wilson, on Sunday, Nov. 23, at 5:00 p.m. at Rountree Christian Church, Ayden, followed by a reception. No invitations were mailed.

MRS. RANDY CARROLL BROWN

Thanksgiving Program Given At BPW Meeting

The program of the Greenville Business and Professional Womens Club, which met at the Ramada Inn Thursday evening, centered around the theme, "The Horn of Plenty."

The president, Lucille Moore, welcomed the members and guests and turned the meeting over to Mrs. Ruth Scott, chairman of the program committee. Mrs. Scott introduced the chairman of the Finance Committee, Mrs. Reppy Baker, who, with other members of her committee, gave the program.

Mrs. Baker, in her talk on "Freedom From Want" said that other countries admired the United States of America, not only for its freedom from want but also for its other freedoms, citing East Germany as a country not having these freedoms.

The next speaker, Mrs. Naomi Edwards, told how one could raise plenty of fruits and vegetables by using all the available space around a home such as spaces along walks and fences and in apartments, by using window boxes, flower pots and other containers.

Mrs. Helen Snyder showed some needlepoint articles and crewel embroidery among other things which she had completed.

Dough flower pictures, ceramics and needlepoint articles were displayed by Miss Lucille Yelverton. In concluding the program, Mrs. Baker read a Thanksgiving prayer.

Mrs. Moore commended Mrs. Arlene Mallison and her committee for the outstanding work they did for National Business and Professional Womens week.

During the business session the club selected three organizations to support at Christmas with gifts and donations to be brought to the December meeting.

Corresponding Secretary Mrs. Colleen Cargile read a letter from Mayor West inviting the Greenville Business and Professional Womens Club to participate in the Greenville Community Planning Program. In response to this invitation, it was decided that the two committees, Civic Affairs and Public Relations, would meet together and decide on how the club could cooperate with the Greenville Community Planning Program.

Miss Carolyn Fulghum invited the members to attend a meeting, sponsored by the AAUW. The president announced that the December meeting will be Wednesday, Dec. 10.

The decorations carried out the Thanksgiving theme using chrysanthemums, and a horn of plenty overflowing with autumn fruits and vegetables placed in front of the speaker's stand.

Consider Calorie Counters When Entertaining

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I love to cook and entertain, but it irritates me no end when after going to a lot of trouble to prepare a lovely company meal, a guest just picks at the food or says, "Sorry, I can't eat that," or, "No dessert for me, please."

Don't you think calorie-counters should show a little consideration for the hostess, enjoy whatever is served and diet at home?

ANNOYED HOSTESS

DEAR ANNOYED: No! Pressing food on calorie counters is as inexcusable as pressing alcohol on an alcoholic. Many people refuse dinner invitations to avoid the possibility of being forced to eat things they shouldn't just to please the hostess.

Staying at home leads to loneliness and depression, which in turn causes many people to eat out of self-pity.

So here's a plea to well-meaning hostesses: Consider calorie counters when you entertain. Have plenty of fresh fruit and vegetables, and DON'T ever point out that someone is eating very little, should you notice it.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I live in a beautiful apartment complex. Recently, the apartment directly above us was rented to a young bachelor. This guy brings his girl friends home to spend the night with him. Since his bedroom is directly above ours, we are sometimes jolted wide awake at 2 or 3 a.m. by the sounds of their amorous activities.

We are in our late 20s and are not prudes, but we're tired of being awakened, losing sleep and feeling as though the ceiling will come down on us at any moment.

I say my husband should have a man-to-man talk with the guy. He says the guy probably doesn't care who hears him. We'll go to the manager of the complex only as a last resort. We love our apartment and don't want to move, but we'd like some uninterrupted sleep.

How should we handle this?

TWO SLEEPY PEOPLE

DEAR SLEEPY: Even if your neighbor doesn't care who hears him, he has no right to disturb you. Make a tape recording of the bedroom bedlam and have your husband present it to him as evidence. And if that doesn't work, play it for the manager. Sweet dreams.

DEAR ABBY: Do you believe in kissing on the first date?

It seems to me that any guy who takes out a girl and spends his hard-earned money to show her a good time should be entitled to a goodnight kiss.

DISGUSTED WITH WOMEN

DEAR DISGUSTED: A kiss should not be expected in return for an evening's entertainment or anything else. It's strictly a voluntary show of real affection. And if two people feel like kissing on the first date—I say, why not?

Farm-City Week Is A Special

There are weeks for the observance of almost everything, but Farm-City Week should have a special significance in our area.

National Farm-City Week begins Friday and continues through Nov. 27.

For Pitt County it will be more than just a week marked on the calendar. A Pitt County Farm-City Tour has already been held in preparation for the observance. Also during the week various city clubs will have farm guests in attendance and an open house at the Joe Wilson Poultry Farm is planned Sunday, Nov. 30.

An industrial tour, with farm families especially invited, has been planned for December.

Curtis Hendrix, chairman of the event, said the activities are designed to bring about a better understanding between rural and urban citizens. The observance is planned to increase the understanding of farm and city residents of each others' way of life. The theme for the 1975 National

Farm-City Week is "A declaration of interdependence."

In our county the farm and urban societies are so intertwined that there is reasonably good understanding between the two. Over the years, however, an industrial base has grown in Greenville, Farmville, Ayden, Winterville and other areas so that the county's economy is not almost totally dependent on agriculture as it once was. While this was happening, vast changes have been taking place on the farms where new equipment and other innovations are rapidly changing age old ways of doing things.

We expect a continued strengthening of the farm economy in our area and we anticipate more industrial growth. Both are going to be important to building a strong economy in Pitt County and we are pleased that Pitt County agriculture and industry seem to be growing together.

Rumsfeld Acceptable In The Senate's View

In contrast with the storm that blew up when the President fired James R. Schlesinger as secretary of defense, there was little discussion when Donald H. Rumsfeld was confirmed by the Senate for the post this week.

Rumsfeld was the only witness at Senate Armed Services Committee hearings last week and was unanimously approved by the committee.

Rumsfeld is obviously acceptable to the senators to head the big Department of Defense. Considering Schlesinger's fate, Rumsfeld will have difficult decisions to make before recommending the course of defense spending for the nation.

Drug Money Misdirected

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—Most of the money poured into drug programs in North Carolina is not being used directly with drug-related problems.

Some $2 million in federal, state, and local funds are channeled into the 24 local drug treatment or education programs across the state each year.

"Only five to 10 per cent of that effort is directed at drug-specific problems," says F.E. (Roy) Epps, director of the N.C. Drug Authority.

A variety of approaches are followed by the different drug abuse programs locally across the state: some provide residence treatment, counseling, telephone hotlines, outreach programs, people to talk to civic groups and students about drug abuse, etc.

Less Than 10 Per Cent
There are, Epps estimates from his routine reports flowing into Raleigh from the field, about 10,000 contacts made by citizens with local drug abuse programs in a given month. Many are repeat contacts, however.

"And I would have to say that less than 10 per cent of those are drug-specific contacts... and that is based not on an assumption but on fact.

"That is based on the actual reports filed by the local programs detailing the people with whom they work, and the problems that they have," Epps said.

A program evaluator from the Raleigh headquarters is currently making field visits to audit program activities and records.

In one local unit he found that money was budgeted for 40 treatment slots, while only 10 people were currently engaged in the program.

Of those 19, only one person had a clearcut drug abuse problem of a current sort; three had a complexity of problems with drug abuse as a side-problem; the remainder were in the program for a host of other reasons—not connected to drugs.

"The problems being dealt with in drug abuse centers run the gamut of human problems: rape counseling, runaways, venereal diseases, illegitimate children, abortions, family crisis. People call or come in to the drug crisis centers with these on a regular basis," Epps said.

The question is not whether the people have a genuine problem and need help, he says, but whether that help should properly be given in the drug abuse programs.

Community Problem
"That is a question the local communities must face. The clients are seeking help—are there adequate resources available to provide that help; or does the community want the drug abuse programs to continue in that role?" Epps wonders.

Of the 24 local programs across North Carolina, five are considered comprehensive drug abuse centers under federal guidelines.

Those units must stick very closely to providing services only in drug-related cases, and are doing so in an appropriate way with about 1,000 treatment slots being used, Epps said.

Of the remaining 19 programs, with staffs of from two to five people, contacts range from 50 monthly up to 700 or 800. The percentage being worked with who have genuine drug-specific problems in some instances falls below the five per cent mark.

The alternatives appear to be two: the drug abuse centers could make much better use of the money being spent by concentrating on the drug problems and letting other community mental health, counseling, social services agencies handle the non-drug cases; or, the substantial tax dollars being spent on drug abuse programs could be sharply trimmed.

The state drug commission is currently trying to draw up guidelines and standards for the money grants which will spell out requirements for admission and records keeping to trim out the non-drug clients. Still, the experts argue that many of the human problems being dealt with at the clinics can and do contribute to drug abuse and need to be dealt with to avoid their developing into a drug problem.

Voters' Limited Choice

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — "Why," I cried the other night in despair, "out of a country of 240 million people can't we find an outstanding person to run for President?"
"It's very simple," said Turnbill, starting to write on a cocktail napkin. "There are 144 million people in the United States over 18 who are eligible to vote."
"Right," I said.
"But at the moment there are only 99 million registered voters."
"Well, you would still think that we could find one person in 99 million."
Turnbill asked the waiter for another cocktail napkin.
"Out of this 99 million, 38 million are under 35 years of age and are therefore ineligible to run for the Presidency."
"That probably eliminates a lot of good people," I admitted.
"Now 1 million were not born in this country so they can't run either."
"That still leaves us with 60 million people to choose from."

"Wait," said Turnbill, starting on his third napkin. "About half of this number, 30,456,782 to be exact, are women."
"So?"
"Well, you and I know the country isn't ready for a woman President for at least 20 years."
"That long?" I said in sorrow.
"Do you want facts or do you want to get sentimental?" he asked.
"Just give me the facts," I told him.
"This leaves us roughly 29 million presidential prospects," he said.
"Even that's enough to find an outstanding man for President," I told Turnbill.
"But," he said, now writing on the tablecloth, "at least 3 million of the 29 million have a fear of flying. You can't have a President of the United States who is afraid to fly. It would be a sign of weakness to our adversaries."
"All right, we're down to 26 million people to choose from."
Turnbill took out a pocket computer. "We have to take off 2 million because their wives don't want to move to Washington. Then there are 2 million more who are in some sort of trouble with the IRS and couldn't stand an audit."
"I must admit you're really cutting it down."
Turnbill kept hitting the keys of the computer. "Then there are 12 million who are just about to get a divorce or are living with someone in what Middle America still calls 'sin.'"
"I forgot about them."
"And you have to eliminate the gay people."
"You mean the country would never elect a gay person?"
"They won't even let one serve in the Air Force," (Continued on page 5)

INSIDE REPORT

Rhetoric Meets Reality

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — That the gap between rhetoric and reality was getting him in deep trouble again became evident to President Ford last Wednesday night when he encountered Sen. Dewey Bartlett, a conservative Republican from oil-producing Oklahoma, at a White House dinner.

Bartlett was a member of the Senate-House conference that had just finished a compromise energy bill blessed by the Ford administration. The President asked the Senator his opinion of the bill. Bartlett replied that neither he nor any other Republican on the conference committee had signed the report. Mr. Ford was silent, wearing an expression that could only be described as grim.

He might well be grim, for Bartlett's complaint began a furious campaign by the oil industry and its congressional allies to veto a bill that continues the oil price control system so often condemned by Mr. Ford. But a veto, repudiating commitments by the President's own deputies, scarcely seems possible.

Much more than the energy bill is involved here. Mr. Ford's accelerating personal decline may be partially traced to his playing the righteous, inflexible conservative on the campaign stump and the pliable congressional-style compromiser in Washington. A similar duality is developing on the New York crisis and is threatened in the coming battle over tax cuts.

Nowhere is the gap between presidential rhetoric and reality wider than in energy. Convinced by economic advisers that oil price decontrol was the best way to encourage production and discourage imports, Mr. Ford has travelled the country exhorting the Democratic Congress for insisting on controls. The issue also fits the President's campaign theme of governmental deregulation.

But when Mr. Ford faced the reality of decontrol in September following his veto of control legislation, he backed away from the abyss. Immediate decontrol, his advisers now privately told the President, might stifle

To the editor:
Sunday's Reflector contained a letter from two of the faculty at East Carolina University expressing concern for the quality of English usage demonstrated by local school officials, and it was suggested that a report on the illiteracy rate of administrators might be illuminating.
Although I fully share their concern for the quality of communication skills found in the schools (at all levels), I have some reservations about the manner and forum chosen to express these concerns. Perhaps a personal complaint to the school board or the principal would be a constructive alternative. I might also add that unless the spelling of the word "principal" in the second paragraph of the letter was an error made in the Reflector composing room, we ought to consider extending the proposed report on illiteracy even further.

40 Years Ago Today

November 19, 1935
Application of sanctions against Italy by 51 nations of the world in accordance with the League of Nations action was the signal for an Italian aerial attack on the Ethiopian forces on the northern front, which the fliers said resulted in 2,000 deaths among the Ethiopian soldiers.
Haile Selassie, preparing to join his subjects at the front, expressed doubt as to the efficacy of the sanctions. The ruler of the African empire said that while grateful for the imposition of the restrictions by the nations involved, he felt that the hostilities never would have begun if such measures were of a force to prevent war.
The Emperor was more optimistic about the position of the Ethiopian army in the field, insisting Ethiopia has not yet met defeat and that they have not yet pitted their full strength.

To the editor:
Almost all I've read or heard so far is criticism of our local law enforcement officers. I'd like to hear something on their behalf.
If the police had left the downtown crowd alone Halloween night, many people say nothing would have happened. That's possible, but who's to say? If they had let the crowd have their way, there would have been numerous complaints from irate citizens trying to get through the downtown area. Either way the Police Department would have been criticized. I have to tell my four-year-old not to play in the street. But why does someone have to instruct 17-25-year-old adults not to play in the street?
Law enforcement is an unappreciated job all the way up the line. If Chief Cannon is forced to resign, I feel it would be a mistake. He's not perfect, granted. But when there is a perfect human put on this earth, maybe we'll be lucky enough to get him as our police chief. Until then I think Chief Cannon is doing a fine job and as well or better than anyone else could. Maybe his decision Halloween night could and should have been different. But isn't hindsight ALWAYS better than foresight? He gave the order he felt was right and his men followed it. Two weeks later his men are still behind him.
Any law enforcement officer is in the profession because he likes his job. The money isn't nearly enough to compensate for the danger, abuse, hours, criticism, and missed holidays with his family. Believe me, I know. My husband is a Greenville policeman and proud of it. Police officers are human and don't profess to be perfect. But over all I think they do a good job and do it to the best of their ability. And once in a while it would be nice to hear a good, kind word for them.

ABUNDANT LIFE
It was Jesus who coined the term, "the abundant life," and unfortunately the term is often misconstrued in the modern world.
The term is often identified with "abundance" in a material sense. The abundant life seems to connote better houses, larger incomes, more social services, reduced rate of inflation, the abolition of depressions.
But the abundant life spoken about in the Bible deals with spiritual and not

Why Families See Hard Times

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)— Many American families fell into unexpected financial difficulty over the past two years because they came to rely upon a second income, often provided by a working wife, that was lost in the recession.
At one point the second income might have been used for luxuries, such as a vacation or home improvements, while the husband's income paid for the essentials of life.
As times got tougher, the second income became a necessity. More and more it went to support an established lifestyle. It financed needs rather than something extra.
The American Bankers Association found this practice high on the list of financial problems that plague many families today.
Other common difficulties, the ABA found, result from delays in seeking relief from creditors; assuming new loans to meet payments on existing ones; anticipating earnings that don't materialize; divorce, and the absence of emergency funds.
The following difficulties, and their causes, complete the list:
—UNWILLINGNESS TO CHANGE LIFE-STYLES. Some families are unwilling to lower their standard of living to compensate for lost income. Believing their setback to be temporary, they decide to ride it out.
In fact, for many families the belief that material conditions get better each year is the essential element in their interpretation of the American dream.
"These people come to financial counselors bewildered," said one respondent to an ABA survey of members and financial counselors.
The solutions are the obvious ones: more income or fewer expenditures.
—OVERESTIMATING RETIREMENT INCOME. Most retired Americans live on far less income than when they were working. For them, growing old means growing poor.
"Thirty-four per cent of all retired people live entirely on Social Security checks—they have no other income—and the average Social Security check for a retired couple today is just over $300 a month," the ABA says.
Even those who receive company pension income find their funds have diminished in value through inflation.
"Remember, if you need $1,000 a month to live today, in 10 years—if today's inflation continues—you'll need $2,000," the ABA observes.
—INDIFFERENCE TO BUDGETING. "Inflation clobbers these people because they have no way of measuring the true impact it has on their lives," the bankers say. "Because they don't keep records, such people don't realize that something that cost $1.10 years ago now costs $1.70."
—CARELESS ATTITUDE TOWARD MONEY AND CREDIT. Until a few years ago, it seems safe to say, most people in the years since World War II believed money and opportunity were on the upswing. As a consequence, many families believed in spending now, worrying later.

fragile economic recovery. Thus, the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) began negotiations for new legislation which reached its climax Wednesday night.
That compromise was worked out between Democratic members of the Senate-House conference (led by Sen. Henry M. Jackson) and FEA deputy administrator John Hill, with Republican conferees not deeply involved.
The end product has the flavor of Scoop Jackson far more than Jerry Ford. It would roll back gasoline prices a few cents (a pet Jackson project) and maintain multi-tiered price controls for 40 months with neither a phaseout during that time nor guaranteed decontrol in the future. Marginally profitable "stripper" wells would be newly controlled, with provision for control of future Alaskan oil. General Accounting Office (GAO) federal investigators would have access to the books of the giant oil companies.
Worst of all, the bill departs from the Ford goal of energy independence by substantially increasing oil imports. "Let's call it the OPEC relief act of 1976," snaps one official at FEA.
"This bill contains about everything the President is against," a Republican congressional leader from a non-producing state told us. One middle-level FEA official caustically compared his agency's endorsement of the bill to former Sen. George Aiken's famous suggestion that the U.S. declare the Vietnam war won and get out. Lacking Aiken's sense of irony, the oil industry is angrily demanding a veto.
Why then is FEA administrator Frank Zarb advising the President to sign the bill, with agreement from senior White House aides?
There are sound reasons. The Senate and House bills considered by the conference were far worse from the administration's viewpoint before the FEA's Hill began negotiating. Had he not negotiated, Mr. Ford would have vetoed the legislation—leading to two unpleasant alternatives: either a veto override resulting in a highly regulated oil industry, or a sustained veto resulting in immediate decontrol. Besides, as FEA senior officials lectured oil lobbyists last week, this was the best they could hope for considering deepening public hostility.

night, the President addressed a Republican fundraiser in Charleston, W. Va., with an exhortation of congressional "retreat from responsibility" in its energy bill, for which he hinted a veto. Just 24 hours later, Mr. Ford's energy aides were approving a new bill, whose most important change was cosmetic: an increase in the composite oil price ceiling per barrel from $7.55 to $7.66.
Since it is unlikely the President would repudiate Zarb and his other advisers by vetoing the bill, he faces new hostility from the Republican right on the eve of Ronald Reagan's challenge. By angering liberals with hard-line promises on oil decontrol and then infuriating conservatives by compromising on them, President Ford once again has secured the worst of two worlds.

Turnbill said.
"So where are we now?" Turnbill kept hitting the computer. "We're down to 9 million."
"That still is a lot to pick from."
"Not exactly. There are at least 2 million who could never pass an FBI security check because they belonged to some left-wing organization or were involved some way with Watergate."
"All right, so you have 7 million left. Can't we find one good man in 7 million?"
"We could except that the country will never accept a President who has had a mental disorder or has been treated by a psychiatrist."
"And 7 million people in this country have been treated by psychiatrists?" I asked.
"Not 7 million," Turnbill said. "There have been only 6,999,987 who have had psychiatric treatment."
"So that leaves us with Ford, Reagan, Humphrey, Wallace, Carter, Jackson, Bentsen, Bayh, Shapp, Udall, Harris, Sanford and Shriver," I said.
"Turnbill rechecked his figures. 'That's all there is. I'm sorry about that.'"
"Don't be sorry," I told Turnbill. "At least you're the first guy who ever explained it to me."

spills usually occur when oil is transferred from tankers to smaller barges.
Any tanker spilling or dumping in U.S. waters must notify the Coast Guard or face a $10,000 fine and criminal prosecution. The polluting vessel must also pay all cleanup costs.
Structural failures caused the most of recent major oil spills, followed by ship groundings, explosions, collisions and break-downs.

Opponents of supertankers say the ocean-going behemoths, some one-fifth of a mile long, take half an hour and miles of water to come to a complete stop, and generally have only one propeller and rudder.
But the Coast Guard says most tanker accidents are caused by human error, and that few if any can be blamed on poor maneuverability.

"There is not a single incident where it appears that an improvement of even 30 per cent in stopping ability could have prevented the casualty," it says.
"Maneuverability has received the most attention, but evidence showed it is not the most important in reducing risk of pollution," the Coast Guard said.

Christmas Parade Scheduled Dec. 6

The annual Greenville Christmas Parade, coordinated by the Greenville Jaycees, will be held on Saturday, Dec. 6, beginning at 10 a.m.
Parade project co-chairmen Joseph Gurganus and Don Brady announced that the theme of this year's parade, "Putting Christ in Christmas," will be carried out by floats depicting religious and family activities.

A popular entry as always, they said, will be Santa Claus. Area bands, marching units and drill teams will be featured in the parade along with commercial and club floats, the co-chairmen reported.

They said that area church groups are being encouraged to participate by entering floats. Trophies will be awarded in various classes.
The Christmas event is being sponsored by local industrial and commercial firms along with the Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

Urge Office To Review Forgeries In ECU 'ID' Cards

Women's Church Role

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Roman Catholic hierarchy in the United States is being urged to establish an office focusing on the role of women in the church, including the question of their ordination as priests.

"This proposal is by nature aimed at sustained substantive long-term involvement by the National Conference of Catholic Bishops and the United States Catholic Conference in the women's issue," some 250 bishops were told at their annual meeting Tuesday.

The bishops, who conclude their meeting Thursday with votes on major policy statements, were in executive session most of today.

Bishop Michael F. McAuliffe of Jefferson City, Mo., head of a bishops' committee on women in society and the church, noted in his report that there is a wide range of opinion about women's roles.

"The seriousness of the issues demand urgent and extensive attention from the church at all these levels and the failure to provide such attention, we believe may prove costly," he told the meeting.

The office for women's concerns proposed by McAuliffe's committee would serve as a center of study and research, maintain contact with the Catholic and other churches working on issues and provide a focus for other parts of the Catholic church structure.

At a news conference, McAuliffe was asked about ordaining women.

"I would doubt very much if that is possible in the near future," he said. "When the Son of God came on earth he came as a male ... for 2,000 years we have not had women in the priesthood."

A tradition of 2,000 years is hard to overcome, the bishop said. He said the bishops will not send representatives to a conference on ordination of women later this month in Detroit.

East Carolina University officials are currently investigating the forgery of student identification cards by non-students, according to Associate of Student Affairs, Rudolph Alexander.

In a statement released Monday to the ECU Student Government Association (SGA), Alexander said the administration is giving guilty parties until 5:00 p.m. on Friday, November 21, to turn in forged ID cards and avoid legal prosecution.

Alexander said the university has "absolute proof" of more than 40 individuals, ECU students and non-students, being involved in the forgeries so far. He said non-students borrow the activity cards of currently enrolled students and take them to the student center on dates when replacement ID's are being made for those which have been lost or stolen. These non-students forge the name of the activity card owner and have their own picture put on the duplicate ID. He said this action is carried out through the "complicity of some university students."

If a person turns in a forged card by Friday, Alexander said, no legal action will be taken, but the student and non-student involved will have a conference with a university official and will have to write a letter to the university explaining how and why the forgery was made and show that they "fully recognize what they have done."

After Friday, "any and all persons involved will be charged with forgery or aiding and abetting forgery," according to Alexander. He said the university is currently searching the files on more than 12,000 ID cards and investigating any questionable ones. They are turning up "concrete evidence" of forgery, Alexander said.

Investigating Theft From Car

Greenville Police Chief Glenn Cannon said today that an investigation is continuing in the theft last week of some $25,752 in checks and $341 in cash from a car parked at the U.S. Post Office on Second Street.

Cannon said the cash and checks, contained in a bag, were reported taken from a car about 9:45 a.m. November 11.

The chief said Doris Paul of 2403 Slay Dr. reported she stopped at the post office while on her way to a bank and when she returned to her car, the bag and its contents were missing.

The checks and cash belonged to Sunnyside Eggs, Inc. Cannon explained.

Alexander told the SGA this matter concerns all university students because each one has paid an activity fee which provides numerous activities and facilities at the university. He said persons who have not shared in these payments should not have equal access to them. University students should also be concerned that student documents have been forged.

Those who turn cards in by Friday will not be reported to the public school system or any other authorities, Alexander said. "We are interested in stopping this business and acquainting these young people with the seriousness of what they have done."

Adjustments Bd. Meets Thursday

The November meetings of the Greenville and City-County Board of Adjustments is scheduled for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

The city-county board will hold a public hearing on a request for a special use permit by Jonathan W. Overton and Daniel P. Powers Sr. who are seeking to utilize the structure located six tenths of a mile from the intersection of Tenth Street and 264 Bypass on the north side of the Washington Highway as a real estate office.

The property is zoned for RA-20 usage.

The board will also discuss the meeting date for the December session. The regular date falls on Christmas Day and a change in the meeting schedule will be considered.

The Greenville board will consider four items, including: a request for extension of a special use permit by Mrs. Violet Stocks in order to continue the operation of a flea market in the structure located at the Pitt County Fairgrounds on the southeast corner of Airport Road and Memorial Drive (zoned Unoffensive Industry); Request by Smith-Waldrop Motors for a special use permit in order to operate an automobile sales and service at West End Circle on property zoned for Shopping Center usage;

Request by Sobalco Inc. for a special use permit in order to construct multi-family dwellings on the vacant lot adjacent to University Condominiums between Cedar Lane and John Avenue (R-20 zone); and

Consideration of a change in the date of the December meeting.

Bible Week Proclaimed

Mayor S. Eugene West has proclaimed the period of Nov. 23-30 as Bible Week in Greenville in conjunction with the Laymen's National Bible Committee's sponsorship of the 35th annual commemoration of faith through the Scriptures.

West, in issuing the proclamation, pointed out, "The Bible was the single most influential document in shaping the ideas and principles on which our nation was founded 200 years ago."

He observed, "An understanding of the Biblical teachings on personal and social moral responsibility has been and continues to be essential for the well-being of our free, democratic society.

Noting that "a recovery of these moral and spiritual values remains a high priority among the people of our land," the mayor urged "all men, women and children of all faiths to observe the week by reading the Scriptures."

Hold Nightly Revival Here

The Church of God, Skinner and Spruces St., is now in an old-fashioned revival featuring Rev. Charles W. Clayton, evangelist from Atlanta, Ga.

Rev. Clayton has traveled in 14 countries, spoken in camp-meetings, conventions and youth meetings.

Congregational, choir, and special singing will be a feature of the nightly services. Services begin at 7:30 p.m. and are expected to continue through Sunday, Nov. 30.

The public is invited to attend.

Indicted In Two Killings

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A man accused in the ambush slayings of two sheriff's deputies has been indicted on first-degree murder charges.

A Mobile County Grand Jury Tuesday charged the man, Jere Chatom, 22, of suburban Eight Mile, on two murder counts and two of assault with intent to murder in the Monday incident.

Chatom was held under bonds totaling $1 million.

He was captured Monday after a massive manhunt in a wooded area near the Mississippi line in west Mobile County.

The body of another man sought in the case, Michael Wilson, 27, was found near the scene of the shootout.

The episode began Monday morning when a deputy gave chase to a speeding vehicle and called for help when his patrol car was disabled by shotgun blasts.

The dead deputies—David Beck and Robert Stolz—were among the first to arrive. Authorities said the men were caught in a crossfire from a wooded area near a vacant house. Deputy Sam Morgan was wounded in the arm.

Evidence Of 6-Year FBI Campaign Against King

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI conducted a six-year campaign to destroy Martin Luther King Jr. as a leader of the civil rights movement, according to evidence made public by the Senate intelligence committee.

Evidence released Tuesday showed FBI bugging of King's hotel room, a blackmail attempt which King interpreted as a suggestion that he kill himself shortly before he was to receive the Nobel Peace Prize, and an effort to find and promote a replacement for King as a "national Negro leader."

One document raised the possibility that the FBI was responsible for King's checking in to the Memphis hotel where he was killed in 1968.

High-ranking FBI officials are scheduled to appear before the committee today to be questioned about what Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., called an historic revelation of widespread, illegal conduct by the nation's chief law enforcement agency.

According to committee lawyers, the FBI campaign against King also included an unsuccessful 1964 effort to prevent King from meeting Pope Paul VI; a warning to then-New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller not to meet with King, and an attempt to convince a major university which had awarded an honorary degree to then-FBI director J. Edgar Hoover not to make a similar presentation to King.

Chief counsels F. A. O. Schwarz III and Curtis R. Smothers told the committee the campaign began with a January 1962 memo in which Hoover concluded that King was "no good." The campaign escalated sharply after the August 1963 civil rights march on Washington despite a determination by agents just prior to the march that the Communist party had "failed dismally" in its efforts to infiltrate the movement led by King, the lawyers said.

The finding that Communists had failed to infiltrate the civil rights movement was rejected by Hoover with the notation, "Time will only prove you're wrong," according to a series of memos read by the staff.

Several days after the march, William C. Sullivan, chief of the FBI domestic intelligence division, responded with a note that read "the director is correct ... We regret greatly the memo did not measure up to the standards that the director had every right to expect."

Another memo followed, recommending increased coverage of Communist influence in the civil rights movement, to which Hoover responded, "I can't understand how you can so agilely switch your thinking."

Ten days after than an unofficial memo written by Sullivan stated "it is obvious to us now we did not put the proper interpretation on the facts.... We regard Martin Luther King to be the most dangerous and effective Negro leader in the country."

That memo was followed by a December 1963 meeting at which bureau officials discussed a total of 21 different tactics for dealing with King, including "the possibility of placing a good-looking female plant in King's office," staff lawyers said.

One month later the first of 16 electronic bugs and eight wiretaps on King was installed, according to the lawyers.

Thirty-four days before King was to receive the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize, his wife received an anonymous letter sent by the FBI and accompanied by a tape picked up by one of the bureau's bugs, Schwarz said. The letter read in part, "King, there is only one thing left for you to do. You know what it is. You have just 34 days in which to do it. You are done. There is but one way out for you."

Staff members refused to describe the contents of the tape except to say that it contained material embarrassing to King. Smothers said the idea behind the letter was that the FBI had enough material to discredit King should he accept the Nobel prize.

According to Mondale, King interpreted the letter to be a suggestion that he commit suicide.

A March 1968 memo whose stated purpose was "to publicize hypocrisy on the part of Martin Luther King" raised the possibility that the FBI may have been instrumental in King's checking into the Lorraine Hotel in Memphis, Tenn., where he was shot and killed on April 4, 1968.

That memo, which a staff lawyer said bore a notation indicating that Hoover had approved it, recommended furnishing "a cooperative news media source" with the information that King, while urging a boycott of white merchants, was staying in a white-owned hotel despite the fact that "there is a first class Negro hotel in Memphis, the Hotel Lorraine."

A staff lawyer said there was no evidence other than Hoover's notation that the scheme had been put into operation but he noted that newspaper stories to that effect appeared at the time. According to the staff lawyer, King went to Atlanta for the weekend and when he returned to Memphis checked into the Lorraine.

Smothers read from FBI memos in which he said the bureau outlined its objective of taking King "off his pedestal and reducing him completely in influence." The bureau earmarked a man of its own choosing, a person who was not a civil rights leader, to take King's place as "a new national Negro leader."

Schwarz and Smothers declined to identify the person concerned, saying that he asked to remain anonymous.

That person was asked never told by the FBI of the role some proposed he play and was "shocked and astonished" when committee staff members relayed the information to him, Smothers said.

Warn Big Drop In College Frosh

DENVER (AP) — Freshman enrollment at the nation's four-year colleges will drop 23.8 per cent in the next 15 years, a survey by an educational consulting firm indicates.

The survey predicts that enrollment at the four-year schools will be down from the current 1.1 million to 836,000 by 1990.

The figures were contained in a report developed by Education & Economics Systems, Inc., of Boulder, Colo. and released today.

Underlying the predictions is a drop in the number of young people who will reach college-going age in 1990. Based on 1973 birth rates, a 23.8 per cent drop — from 4.22 million to 3.21 million persons — is projected in the number of 17-year-olds who will form the pool from which most college freshmen will be drawn in that year.

Based on these population projection, several other four predictions for the country's degree-granting institutions were outlined in the survey.

—The number of high school graduates will fall 22.3 per cent from 3.16 million to 2.46 million. Not only will the number of students in high school decline, but the decades-long trend toward a higher graduation rate among high-school-age persons has leveled off in recent years, according to other educational researchers.

—The number of first-time enrollments at both two- and four-year institutions will be off 17.8 per cent from 1.87 million to 1.54 million.

The only bright spot in the survey was in the projection for total enrollments. Total enrollment at both two- and four-year institutions is expected to rise slightly because of the return of former drop-outs and graduate students.

The survey figures were developed by studying education and population trends of the past 10 to 15 years and extending them 15 years into the future, said John J. Gaskie, vice president for Education Systems, a profit-making firm.

Life Termers Make Escape

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Two inmates of the state prison unit in New Hanover County escaped early Tuesday after removing an air conditioner and crawling through the opening, authorities said.

They were identified as Thomas Fuller, 30, of Wilmington and David Norris, 30, of Fayetteville. Both were serving life terms for murder.

Prison Supt. D.L. Wafford said the men were sleeping in a hallway because of the overcrowded conditions in the prison. He said they slipped into the canteen, removed the air condition and squeezed through two openings about eight inches in diameter.

At last report, the two prisoners were still at large.

Key Senators Got Union Funds

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An unofficial tally shows organized labor gave $1.4 million in 1974 political donations to many Senators whose votes have now helped virtually assure passage of a bill sought by construction unions.

The bill is up for amendments and a possible final vote today after backers marshalled two more than the 60 votes needed Tuesday to cut off a week-long filibuster against the controversial measure.

The bill would allow a striking construction union to picket an entire building site, even though the union is striking only one subcontractor. If trades unions working for other subcontractors honored such picket lines, a lone striking union could close down an entire building site. Such "common sites" picketing has been outlawed for 25 years as an illegal secondary boycott.

The controversial measure attracted lobbying from opponents who also contributed money to congressmen and senators who opposed the bill.

The measure passed the House in July. President Ford has indicated he will sign it under certain conditions.

Computer printouts from the citizen lobby Common Cause gave this picture:

—Of the 62 senators who voted to end the filibuster against the bill, 26 got union money totaling $1,403,504 during the 1974 election season.

—Of the 37 who voted against ending the filibuster, five got labor donations totalling $44,350, about 3 per cent of the donations given to those who voted in opposition to the measure.

Almost without exception, the 31 senators who received labor money last year were among the one-third of the Senate that was up for election in 1974. The other two-thirds normally would not receive political contributions until they faced an election.

Common Cause says its computerized list is being checked for accuracy and may contain some errors, but is believed by lobby officials to be substantially accurate. It covers all donations listed by nationally registered political committees for the period Sept. 1, 1973, to Dec. 31, 1974.

An AP sampling of union donations during 1975, based on original reports by 18 AFL-CIO political committees, shows the lopsided pattern of giving is continuing into the 1976 election race.

The tally for 1975 shows $118,623 to 20 senators who voted for ending the filibuster while about one-tenth of that total, or $11,950, went to five senators who voted against ending the filibuster.

In the House, the AP's tally shows the 18 AFL-CIO political committees in the sample gave $93,495 this year to 78 House members who voted for the bill. It passed the House on July 25. A check of contractor-related political committees turned up only $5,000 so far this year to three House members who voted against the bill.

The leader of the Senate filibuster, Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., received $17,250 in 1974 donations from business-related political committees including $3,000 from a group run by Associated General Contractors.

Letter Bombs Add To Unrest In Australia

By TOM KENT
Associated Press Writer
SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Letter bombs sent to Australia's caretaker prime minister and another conservative leader today brought violence to the nation's acute political crisis.

Federal police found and defused a letter bomb addressed to Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser in Canberra shortly after a letter bomb addressed to the premier of Queensland state went off in a Brisbane mail room and injured two clerks.

Fraser's political maneuvering resulted in the unprecedented ouster last week of Laborite Prime Minister Gough Whitlam, and there was speculation that the bombs were mailed by an embittered Labor party supporter.

Whitlam condemned the violence, saying: "Decent Australians will have no part in these methods. They are totally foreign to our way of life."

Bob Hawke, the head of the Australian Council of Trade Unions, urged the people to avoid violence in the campaign for the general election Dec. 13.

The Australian Postal Commission offered a $25,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of those responsible.

"The worst has happened," said an editorial in the Sydney Sun. "Violent words can breed violent actions ... the political tough talk has to stop. Now."

Governor-General Sir John

Kerr dismissed Whitlam and called an election to name a new Parliament after the conservative majority refused to approve the government's budget unless the Laborites agreed to an election. Whitlam refused, saying he still had a majority in the lower house, and only the lower house could drive a government from office.

The ousted prime minister charged that both the conservative blocking of his budget and Kerr's removal of him were unconstitutional violations of the British parliamentary system under which Australia is governed.

Officials said the Brisbane letter bomb was addressed to Premier John Bjelke-Petersen and exploded in a mail room on the 14th floor of the state executive office building. Two clerks, 20 and 25, were injured, neither seriously.

Couple Killed By Overdose

GREENSBORO (AP)—An overdose of headache powders killed a couple in nearby Trinity, says Dr. John Butz of the state medical examiner's office.

A deputy said he picked up 15 to 20 headache powder wrappers in the mobile home where the bodies of Charlie C. Hulín, 45, and Mrs. Betty B. Hulín were found a week ago.

Grandparents May Be Facing Kidnap Charge

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — An Ohio couple, granted custody of their grandson after he was severely beaten by his father, faces abduction charges for fleeing to Florida after officials ordered the boy returned to his parents.

Nelson Kelber, 57, and his wife, Elizabeth, 55, are awaiting Gov. Reubin Askew's decision on whether to extradite them to Ohio where they face a possible 15-year jail sentence if convicted on the abduction charges.

The elder Kelbers fled Ohio after a municipal court ordered in August 1974 that their grandson, Harvey Jr., then 9, be returned to Harvey and Andrea Kelber of Painesville, Ohio, for at least 30 days. The court said that would give the boy a chance to know his real parents.

"We're mother and dad to him," said Elizabeth Kelber, who expressed fear the boy would be beaten if returned to the parents.

The youth was turned over to the grandparents nine years ago after suffering two broken legs, rib and skull fractures and a torn windpipe in two beatings. The father was convicted of child abuse.

Lake County, Ohio, prosecutor Paul H. Mitrovich said the court can't deal in the possibility of a repetition of child abuse.

"A psychiatrist can say this may happen in 95 or 50 per cent of the cases, but that can't be admitted as evidence," Mitrovich said. "It simply depends on who you want to believe. The grandparents are operating emotionally and outside the law."

"I've had cases where a child has been given back to his parents after eight years and the child has flourished," Mitrovich said.

He said the child was technically in the care of the welfare department when Nelson Kelber and his wife took him out of Ohio.

"The courts and everybody in this county all seem to be in our favor," said Andrea Kelber, 32. "We just want a chance for him to be here so we can be friends. I don't think it would be so hard."

She said her husband, now 33, has worked out his problems and won't abuse the boy. The couple has another child who has been unharmed.

Nelson said there is expert testimony showing a drastic reduction in repeats of child abuse after a child reaches an age at which he can communicate.

Two Men Die In Car-Bus Wreck

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP) — Two young men were killed Tuesday when their car collided headon with a church school bus from Sharpsburg, authorities said. The accident occurred on N.C. 43 about one mile west of here.

Trooper R.J. Melton said none of the 15 pupils on the bus from the N.E.W. Christian Academy were seriously injured. All were treated and released at Nash General Hospital.

part threw most of the students, many of which were elementary school pupils, to the floor or against the seats, and one was thrown against the gearshift stick.

Bulluck said he looked up and saw the car, skidding sideways, was almost on top of him. "The only thing I could do is slam on the brakes and turn the bus to the side of the road."

He said the left front tire caved-in the passenger side of the car.

A passerby pulled the two men from the back seat of the burning car, Bulluck said. It was not determined immediately who was driving the car.

Bud McLamb, who was working nearby, said the bus driver rounded up the students in an orderly fashion and had them wait in a field until help arrived.

Bud Rimel, chief of the Stone Creek Rescue Squad, said Bulluck did a "fantastic job of getting the children out of the bus, considering the car hit the bus right under the driver's seat."

He said the bus driver definitely saved the children's lives and prevented serious injury.

Investigate 3 Break-Ins

Break-ins and larcenies at three rural homes on Nov. 5 are being investigated by the Pitt County Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that Charles Edward Neal reported the theft of some $565 worth of property, including a television set, shotgun and rifle and $100 in change, from his home on Rt. 8, Box 259, Greenville.

The sheriff said that a window was broken to gain entrance.

Some $203 in property, including a television set, was reported taken from the home of Elton Martin of Rt. 2, Box 232, Robersonville, the sheriff said.

Entrance to the house was gained by breaking out a glass pane in a rear door, he added. Damage to the house was estimated at $20.

Herbert Smith of Rt. 1, Box 66, Stokes told deputies that a stereo, television and .22 caliber rifle was taken from him home. He said the items were valued at $285, according to the sheriff.

Mineral, Jewelry Show For Hobgood

Jewelry, minerals, a "while you wait" soil analysis for gardeners and farmers, a photographic exhibit, and a science fair will be among the attractions at the 5th Annual Coastal Plain Gem and Mineral Show this year, to be held Saturday and Sunday at Hobgood Academy in Hobgood.

Gem, mineral, and jewelry dealers will be offering everything from rockhound equipment to finished jewel products.

Hours of the show are 10:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. Saturday, and noon to 5:00 p.m. Sunday. There will be a special exhibition of gem faceting on grinding rough stones into finished polished gems, and a large rock saw, with teeth made of diamonds, that will be cutting geodes and slabs of mineral material.

One of the outstanding exhibits will be the display of bones of a 60,000,000 year old whale, recently dug up on the Mahlon Whitehead farm, near Scotland Neck. These fossil remains tell us that the area was ocean bottom at that time.

American Indian artifacts will be on display, including the nationally famous collections of Capt. H.E. Thomas of Rocky Mount.

Identify Body In Lenoir County

KINSTON, N.C. (AP)—The partially decomposed body of a young woman found near Kinston Oct. 13 was identified as Wanda Denise Smith, 20, the Lenoir County Sheriff's Department said.

Miss Smith's last known address was in Jacksonville, N.C. A farmer found her body which was bound and gagged.

The state medical examiner's office in Chapel Hill said Miss Smith died of asphyxiation and was identified through fingerprints.

Uninsured Coin Collection Gone

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A coin collection valued at $35,000 has been stolen from a Charlotte salesman, a day before he was to have put it in a bank because of thefts in his neighborhood.

Charles Blankenship reports the uninsured collection was stolen from the trunk of his car Monday. The coins were in cases, and weighed more than 200 pounds.

The American Baseball League was organized on Jan. 29, 1900, in Philadelphia and originally consisted of eight teams.

Some U.S. Businessmen Lost All In Vietnam's Fall

Editors Note: Men grown rich and powerful by the Vietnam war were finally ruined by it when Saigon fell to the communists in April. In the first of two articles of these men, AP special correspondent Peter Arnett writes of the U.S. businessmen in Vietnam who gambled all on the country's future and lost.

By PETER ARNETT
AP Special Correspondent
HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — By April of this year Clyde Bauer's 19 years of hard work in Indochina had built him a $3 million business domain.

Robert Burns was $150,000 ahead after recovering from two serious business reverses in South Vietnam.

Steve Konevitch happily contemplated his new $45,000, 65-foot freshwater boat moored in the Saigon river. It had been purchased from the proceeds of a lucrative contract he had netted with the U.S. government.

Now all three are flat broke in Southern California. Like more than a score of other American businessmen who invested their time and money in South Vietnam, they were financially wiped out by the Communist takeover of Saigon in April.

At the beginning of this year the Hollywood-born Clyde Bauer was overseeing his 6,000 employees and considering establishing yet another chapter of the Lions Club. (He had already started 19 Lions Clubs in South Vietnam in the previous 10 years.) Now he is counting his unsuccessful job applications, 250 so far.

Robert Burns is doggedly attempting to collect the $150,000 which he figures five governments owe him. His last contract was providing food, drink and entertainment in Saigon to the International Control Commission comprised of Polish, Hungarian, Indonesian and Iranian delegations.

Steve Konevitch scrambled out of Vietnam on the last helicopter April 29 with $10 and a change of clothing, and is discovering that he is "too old for work at home, 46 going on 47." He worries about his business disaster in a two-roomed apartment in Hayward, Calif., with his Vietnamese wife and three children.

Adjusting to life back home without hopeful prospects has come hard to the three American expatriates who between them spent 44 comfortable years in Southeast Asia.

"Ironically, the Vietnamese who worked for us in Saigon are better off now in America than we are," said Clyde Bauer who personally arranged for 100 Vietnamese families — about 700 people — to be evacuated to the United States before Saigon fell.

How come these Americans didn't see the writing on the wall in Vietnam and get their money out?

"I kept telling myself I'm going home soon, but I never did," Bauer said. "All my business associates were Vietnamese who seemed to have confidence in the future, and it was catching."

Bauer started out in Saigon in 1956 as the agent for Luftansa and Civil Air Transport airlines, and eventually established and controlled 12 companies involved in banking, insurance, automobile importing, fishing and travel. Bauer estimated that his share of his flourishing concerns was worth $3 million before Saigon's collapse.

Because he believed that "if a businessman takes something out of a country he has a responsibility to put it back," Bauer, a familiar figure in Saigon over the years, established his Lions Clubs, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the Vietnam Council on Foreign Relations, the Tourist Association and Vietnam, the Cancer Society — even the Vietnam Orchid Society.

Bauer also maintained close personal relations with President Nguyen Van Thieu and other senior officials, many related to his Vietnamese wife Simone. And he was close with American officials.

Robert Burns, born in Cambridge, Mass., and a former U.S. Army officer and State Department official, said he predicted years ago that Saigon would probably fall to the Communists around 1975 because of weakening American resolve.

"I told my Vietnamese business partners to make their money by then and get out, and I had the same idea," Burns said, but fate kept interfering. A million-dollar fish processing plant they established at Rach Gia on the Gulf of Thailand was destroyed in a Communist rocket attack late in 1973, and insurance had been impossible to obtain.

A contract to provide large quantities of dehydrated rice to the Vietnamese army collapsed when military reverses in the Mekong Delta in 1974 forced the price of raw rice to three times the contracted price of the processed variety.

Burns went into business alone last year with an open-ended contract "to feed and keep happy" the Communist and non-Communist delegations in the International Control Commission based at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport.

Steve Konevitch, born in Middleton, Pa., recalls "I should have known better, I should have gotten out earlier." But the former U.S. Air Force officer who had previously operated businesses in Thailand, kept reinvesting in Vietnam with profits from two contracts with the U.S. government, one to ship rice to Cambodia, the other to air-condition U.S. offices in Saigon.

Coming home was traumatic for all three.

While his wife hocked her jewelry to pay the rent, the newly-poor Bauer looked around for help "and I discovered that while we had lots of friends when we had money, they are not around now that we need them."

His former friends included some of his Vietnamese business associates now in America who were quietly spiriting money out of the country while Bauer was reinvesting his own profits in Vietnam.

Bauer has even offered to work six months free to prove his managerial abilities "but it seems impossible to get any takers," he said.

Burns is working temporarily as an adviser to an old friend in the scrap metal business while attempting to recover the $150,000 he claims he is still owed. So far his daily registered letters, including two to the President of the United States, have resulted only in a letter from an aide to the Shah of Iran who suggested that Iran was responsible for only two per cent of the debt.

"Send the money," Burns immediately replied upon receipt of the letter.

Steve Konevitch, like the other two financially ruined Americans, maintains the independence that characterized their business activities abroad. None will accept welfare payments or consider food stamps. "My pride won't allow me to say I'm broke," said Burns who tries to keep $10 in his bank account to keep it open.

Konevitch said: "The government is giving me nothing; I have not asked for it."

Bauer said: "I've helped Uncle Sam over the years. Maybe he could do us a favor to give us a chance again somewhere where we left off, and not as gas station attendants."

All three men see their only financial salvation as going into business again, and are talking with possible future partners. Bauer's lawyer lent him $25,000 to move into a modest home at Huntington Beach, and Bauer hopes to go into business with an inventor of electronic gadgets.

Konevitch is talking with a potential partner in the real estate business. Burns, who drives around Irvine, Calif., with "Vietnam Evacuated Americans, Jobs Needed," painted on his auto, is calling up old contacts in government for contract leads.

For all three, life has turned upside down in just a few months.

Seek Cause Of Warehouse Fire

KINSTON, N.C. (AP)—Investigators were still looking Tuesday for the cause of a fire that gutted a tobacco warehouse Monday night causing an estimated $1 million damage.

The blaze was discovered by a passing patrolman about 10 p.m. but the structure was engulfed in flames when firefighters arrived.

Virgil Harper and Dempsey Hodges Jr., owners of the structure, said the warehouse contained about 750,000 pounds of tobacco.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market retreated slightly today in a continuation of the profit taking that set in on Tuesday. Trading was moderate. The 11:30 Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off .94 at 854.30, and losers outnumbered gainers by a-out a 3-2 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market atmosphere was dominated by cautious waiting for an expected announcement from the White House regarding New York City's money problems. A key question in efforts to stave off a financial collapse by the city has been whether President Ford might change his frequently stated position against federal assistance to avert a default. Texaco was the most active issue on the Big Board, down 1/4 at 23 1/4. A 130,000-share block moved at 23. Garlock jumped 7 1/2 to 29 1/2 in its first trade since Colt Industries announced a $32-a-share tender offer for the company's stock. Awards Go To Two Students Terrie Ruth McManus of Norwood and Michael Dennis Walker of Asheboro, undergraduate students at East Carolina University, have received research awards from the ECU Institute for Coastal and Marine Resources.

The awards of about $500 each, are given annually to support deserving projects conducted by ECU students. Research reports of the projects may be submitted for the Empire Award for significant contributions in coastal marine research. A certificate and cash award is made each year through a fund established by the Empire Brush Company of Greenville.

Bicycle Safety Program Given
The Simpson 4-H leaders sponsored a bike safety program at the Simpson Community Building Saturday afternoon.

Participating are members of the Simpson and Moyewood 4-H Clubs. Trooper A. G. Wright of the State Highway Patrol demonstrated good bicycle safety techniques. Alvin McPhatter, an East Carolina University student, led the participants in outside bicycle activities. Several awards were given to the outstanding participants.

Bandits Took Cash, Drugs

More than $600 in cash and a quantity of drugs were taken during an armed robbery at the Big Value Drugs store at 2800 East Tenth St. last night. Chief Glenn Cannon said two masked men entered the store about 8:40 p.m. — one armed with a pistol and the other armed with a knife. They forced one store employee and a customer to the rear of the building and forced them to lay on the floor while the two bandits took $603.46 in money from two cash registers. The two robbers then forced pharmacist Lester Seaberg to take a quantity of drugs from the narcotics locker and place them in a bag.

Cannon said most of the drugs were recovered from behind the store where the robbers dropped them on their flight from the scene. Investigation of the armed robbers is continuing, he said.

Oversight Is Remedied
ELM CITY, N.C. (AP)—Ten years before his death in 1920, Micajah Thomas Williams ordered a 16½-foot monument for his grave.

But by some oversight, the Nash County farmer neglected to arrange for the monument's erection. The 7½-ton marble monument had lain in weeds next to his grave near Elm City for 55 years. The monument was finally raised with a giant crane and placed onto cement footing Tuesday by Joyner Memorial Co. of Wilson.

Williams' grandson, Wade H. Rice, 76, watched the project he had helped begin as a boy. At that time, young Rice helped drive a mule team that brought the heavy monument to the Williams-Iverette family cemetery. But when Williams was buried in 1920, the obelisk remained scattered on the ground. The years passed and weeds grew up around it.

Rice said that raising the monument had been a dream of his sister, Mrs. Tina Rice Moss, for many years. When she died in Mississippi, Rice and a cousin, Mrs. Ernest Smith of Maryland, decided to pay for raising the monument.

Mamie Visits Chapel For Ike
ABILENE, Kan. (AP) — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who visits her late husband's home town at least once a year, this year made a brief and unannounced visit to the chapel where the former president is buried.

Dr. Don Wilson, deputy director of the Eisenhower Center, said the 79-year-old Mrs. Eisenhower spent about two hours Monday at the center. "She brought along a few personal and family gifts for the museum," Wilson said. Greg Gift, DE coordinator at Farmville Central High School, stated that local chapters of DECA are closely associated with the instructional program. The student-directed activity is an effective part of the learning and training process in developing future leaders for marketing and distribution. "Many of our business leaders are involved in the in the activities of DECA," Gift said. "These businesses provide laboratory environment in which the student tests, observes, applies concepts and skills learned in the DE class at school. Through supervised training, the student gains experience and learns the basics of business in our free enterprise system."

Congress Agrees To Close ABM Base

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House and Senate agree on closing the nation's only antiballistic missile base but congressional conferees still face 215 points of disagreement on defense spending and one big dispute with President Ford over total arms costs. The $112.6-billion Senate defense bill, passed 87 to 7 Tuesday, is $8.3 billion less than Ford asked. The figure covers appropriations for the 15 months ending Sept. 30, 1976. The House earlier voted $111.8 billion for the same period.

Ford has insisted repeatedly that his defense budget had little fat to trim. However, the bill's supporters made no mention of any threatened veto. The Senate rejected, 55 to 38, a last-minute effort by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., to slash another $568 million from the bill.

Eagleton said the military has become such a spend-thrift that the effectiveness of U.S. forces has been reduced. Sophisticated weapons "have given rise to the mistaken notion that automated, push-button wars are feasible ... and they have spawned the erroneous idea that machines, not people, win wars," he said.

Eagleton said the Pentagon is "infatuated with gadgetry" and is depleting scarce resources. But Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, argued the budget has been cut to the bone and said only the defense posture of the United States protects the world against "the unholy ambitions of some other country."

The Senate bill remained virtually in the same form as approved by the Senate Armed Services Committee. But that panel made more than 200 changes in the House bill. Several changes were made on the Senate floor, although they would have relatively little effect on the spending totals. The biggest debate on the Senate floor ended in a 52 to 47 vote directing that the nation's only antiballistic-missile facility (ABM), located at Grand Forks, N.D., be mothballed except for its radar. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who led the drive to shut down the ABM facility, said development of sophisticated offensive missiles has made the base obsolete. The ABM system at Grand Forks has just been made operational. Kennedy said $6 billion had been spent to bring the lone ABM system into operation. It was designed as a defense system to protect intercontinental ballistic missiles in Grand Forks silos. The House also voted to dismantle the ABM base, including its radar.

DECA Week In Farmville
FARMVILLE—National DECA Week is being observed here this week. Greg Gift, DE coordinator at Farmville Central High School, stated that local chapters of DECA are closely associated with the instructional program. The student-directed activity is an effective part of the learning and training process in developing future leaders for marketing and distribution.

Best Case...

Attorney General and past chairman of the East Carolina University Board of Trustees — was among a dozen character witnesses who testified before the defense rested its case yesterday afternoon. Sen. Morgan said Dr. Best's character and reputation was "good." On cross examination by the prosecution the senator said the character and reputation of Michael Boulus—an SBI agent that testified earlier in the trial is "good," adding that "Mike was in the first group of agents I hired ..." after becoming Attorney General.

Two other physicians — Dr. Ed Monroe, vice-chancellor for health affairs at ECU and Dr. C. G. Garrenton of Bethel—testified earlier in the afternoon. They responded to a series of hypothetical questions posed to them by both the defense and the State, just as a number of other physicians had earlier. Dr. Garrenton, who has been practicing in Bethel for 39 years, told the court that the physician in the hypothetical situations "certainly was doing what any normal doctor would do."

When asked about phenobarbital being given to one of the agents, he noted that the half-grain tablets were "hardly strong enough to raise all this fuss about." Dr. Monroe, who was a practicing physician in Greenville for 12 years before joining the staff at ECU seven-and-a-half years ago to develop a medical school at the Greenville campus, said Dr. Best "frequently referred patients to me," and added that Dr. Best "has the busiest family practice in Greenville. Pitt County, and the surrounding area."

Monroe, responding to one of the defense's hypothetical questions said, "it is not good medical practice. It's bad as compared with good and ideal," but indicated a physician with a busy practice may not be able to follow ideal procedures. In the case of the woman in the State's hypothetical situation, Dr. Monroe said the actions of the physician when the lady first visited his office were "somewhat outside" the normal course of medical practice in the state and added that the prescription for Ritalin "may or may not have been given for a legitimate medical purpose."

He said, however, that the physician's actions in the subsequent visits were probably within the normal course of practice in the state.

Roanoke Faces Second State Testing

SHRINE BOWL PLAYERS—Doug Paschal, left, and Mike Brewington have been chosen to represent Rose High School in the annual North-South Shrine Bowl in Charlotte in December. The game annually sends the top high school football players of the state against those from South Carolina. Paschal, a running back, and Brewington, a linebacker, are highly sought after by college teams as they wind up their high school careers. Both will be in action Friday night as Rose travels to Garner in the second round of the State 4-A Playoffs. (Reflector Photos)

Greene Central fumbled three times and lost; Roanoke fumbled seven times and they won. Greene Central had the lead, and lost it, and Roanoke had it, lost it then got it back. And only Roanoke can advance in the state football playoffs.

The Rams bowed to Edenton, 13-12, in a tough game that saw Greene Central take a 12-0 lead by the second quarter but the Aces pulled out their hole card, Willie Holley, who returned a kickoff 83 yards for the first Edenton score and John Norris got the winner in the third period on a one-yard dive.

Roanoke scored first but Pamlico came back in the frame period to go ahead, 7-6. Roanoke then proceeded to blow the Hurricanes out in the second quarter with 15 points en route to a 40-19 win.

The Rams got a pair of one-yard touchdowns, one each by Tony Albritton and Anthony Corbett but the kickoff return and a third-quarter scoring drive nailed the Rams.

The Rams could have won it in the closing seconds driving to the five but a field goal was missed.

Roanoke's Noland Respass said the his defensive unit played one of its worst games of the year. It allowed 265 yards rushing by the Hurricanes most of it going through the middle of the Redskins' line. The Redskins offense, however, had an outstanding game. "I think our offensive backs did a better job than our line," said Respass. "They made a lot of big plays. They ran hard and when the hole wasn't there, they moved outside."

Ricky Spruill, the 'Skins leading rusher, gained 141 yards in 21 carries while Ricky Purvis had 152 yards on just two returns, both for touchdowns.

Respass singled out those two along with Danny Rollins, Noah Clark and June Griffin for their play, Friday night.

Before the game, Respass said he was worried about the team's attitude. "We had poor practices all last week. When we scored and then fumbled, it took a lot out of us. We could have been behind, 14-6, or ahead 14-0." The Hurricanes recovered a Purvis fumble that set up their go-ahead touchdown.

As the game went on, Respass said he began to worry about the defense. "We had bad technique. The linebackers and the line did a poor job. We are working on it this week. We can't allow mistakes this week."

Respass also praised Pamlico's backs for their showing.

The coach felt the big difference in the game was the kicking team of the 'Skins. "It separates us from a lot of teams. We spend a lot of time on returns." Wyatt Daniels also handles returns for Roanoke.

This week, the Redskins travel to face Fairmont. Fairmont won a squeaker over previously unbeaten, but twice tied Hallsboro (Respass faced Hallsboro last year with the Robersonville Eagles and beat them to move into the state finals), 19-18. "According to a lot of papers who rank teams," Respass said, "Some rank them No. 1 and No. 2. Others rank us No. 1 and them No. 2. It will be one of the biggest (2-A) games of the season. We know how people up there play and we look to a tough game."

"They have outstanding personnel and good size. We will be in a much better frame of mind."

Respass said that Fairmont runs split-back offense and likes to run option plays and dives. Roanoke will be working on stopping the inside game this week.

"Fairmont will be as good as anybody we have played this year. We want to see some good weather," he added.

Morgan Feels He Is 'A Complete Player'

OAKLAND (AP) — Joe Morgan says he always was his team's smallest player from Little League to the major leagues. But he won the National League Most Valuable Player award by being a "complete player."

"I think of myself as a complete player, and I've tried to combine everything into my game — hitting, fielding, stealing bases and scoring," the Cincinnati Reds' 5-foot-7 second baseman said during an interview at his home here.

"I got the MVP award because the club was having a great year and I was having a good year along with it."

As the Big Red Machine ground out pennant and World Series victories this season, Morgan hit .327, fourth in the league, and reached base safely about half the times he came to bat. His 132 walks led the league, his 67 stolen bases on 77 attempts were second, his 107 runs were fourth. He drove in 97 runs, smashed 17 home runs and 27 doubles. He capped the season with the winning hit off Boston in the seventh game of the World Series.

After being selected MVP Tuesday, Morgan said: "The thing I'm most surprised about was the margin of victory. It was the largest margin in the history of the award. That's quite an honor."

Morgan got 321½ points in the balloting, followed by Philadelphia Phillies outfielder Greg Luzinski with 154 and the Pittsburgh Pirates' Dave Parker with 120.

"The only thing that separates me from other guys with great credentials is that I do more things," he said. "Luzinski didn't run bases and steal like Joe Morgan. But on the other hand, I didn't hit home runs like he did."

Morgan's baseball career started in lower middle-class East Oakland, at the foot of the hills where he, his wife and two children now live in a fashionable home with a swimming pool.

"I was always the smallest guy on all the teams I played for, starting with Little League. But I always was the best hitter on the team, always hit more home runs and things like that," he recalls. "Size was never a hindrance to me; it just was in other people's minds. A lot of scouts used to tell me, 'You're a great little ballplayer. I wish I could sign you.'"

"That never really bothered me. I always figured they were the ones who were losing, not me."

After a year at Oakland City College, Morgan was signed in 1963 by Houston for a $3,000 bonus.

Eleven years later, Morgan reacted with subdued joy at receiving baseball's highest award.

"I look at it as a team victory," he said. "Without them, the thing would not have been possible. When there was that last out in the Series, I was so happy I was frightened. I don't think any award could take the place of that."

Doug Paschal, Mike Brewington Selected To Shrine Bowl Team

Two Rose High School athletes have been picked to appear in the annual Shrine Bowl of the Carolinas. The game will be played on Saturday, December 13, 1975.

The game annually pits the top players from North and South Carolina against each other.

Named to the team from Rose High School were linebacker

Mike Brewington and fullback Doug Paschal.

Paschal, the leading runner on the Rampant team that will enter the second round of the State 4-A Playoffs Friday, has rushed for 832 yards in nine games this season. He missed the first two games of the year and returned for the third. Against Seventy-First last week, he picked up 116 yards on 28 carries.

During the season, he has a 4.5 yard rushing average. Paschal has scored 54 points to lead the team in that category too. He also has pulled in five passes for 66 yards.

Brewington, who is the leading defensive player on the team, also has made several appearances on the offensive unit, playing tight end. He has caught four passes for 104 yards, three of them for touchdowns. He's also blocked a number of punts, taking one of them back for a touchdown.

Others chosen for the North Carolina team include:

Ends: Billy Ray Washington, Jacksonville; Steve Vance, Jamestown Ragsdale; Chris Burk, Greensboro Grimsley; Thomas Swatzel, Hickory; and David Waymer, West Charlotte.

Tackles: Rodger Craig King, Taylorsville Alexander Central; David Thomas Singleton, Maiden; Michael Ruff, West Henderson; John Hayworth, High Point Central; Jimmy Richard Coffey, Icard East Burke; and Charles Valley, Salisbury.

Guards: Eddie Bulen, Fayetteville Reid Ross; Ralph Cecil Gaskins, Wilson Fike; Howard Roscoe Myrick, Wilmington Hoggard; William C. Thomas, Kernersville East Forsyth; and Albert Kirby, Clinton.

Quarterbacks: James Willis Streater, Sylva-Webster; John A. Isley, Wilmington Hoggard; Monte Hunter, Asheville.

Backs: Derrick Baker, Newton-Conover; Hicks Beam, Shelby; Mitchell Strickland, Sanford Central; Leader Green, Jacksonville; Rick Lyvon Vanhoy, Morganton Freedom; Billy Ray Vickers, Forest City Chase; Randy Dale Fowler, Salisbury East Rowan; Charlie Eugene Davis, Richmond County.

Centers: James Butler Jr., Fayetteville Seventy-First; Norman Abrams, Sanford Central; Ronnie Bumgardner, Sylva-Webster.

Specialists: Mark Hooper, Brevard; Reggie Tice, Jamestown Ragsdale.

Spiders Might Put It All Together To Win

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
RICHMOND, Va.—Perhaps no basketball team in this South will be as closely watched as the Richmond Spiders during the early days of the season.

Coach Carl Sloan went out last spring for his first full-recruiting tour and came back with six top prospects—one freshman and five junior college transfers. Joining them is another transfer who was not eligible last year.

If Sloan can get these players to jell with a few of the hold-overs, he could come up with a team that could walk to the Southern Conference championship and possibly into the national rankings.

"These seven players will be among our top nine," Sloan admits, shunting aside most of those left from previous years. Of these back, only 6-2 guard Kevin Eastman, 6-0 guard John Campbell and 6-8 Steve McCurdy might end up with some duties on the team. And right now, only Eastman appears to have a chance at a starting role.

"Eastman will definitely be a major factor in our game," Sloan said. "Campbell and McCurdy will be used a lot."

With that situation, Sloan feels that he has the players capable of winning the conference title. But bringing them together as a team will be the job.

The junior college people include 6-9 center John Brown, who averaged 18.0 points and 15.5 rebounds at Columbia State Junior College; Jeff Butler, a 6-8 forward who was second team All-American, averaging 15.7 points and 15.6 rebounds at Robert Morris J.C.; Tony Marshall, a 6-7 forward, averaging 17.3 points and 11.7 rebounds at Columbia State; Craig Sullivan, a 6-7 forward, with a 14.6 scoring and 10.5 rebounding average at Cumberland J.C.; and Paul Webb, a 6-3 guard who led the national J.C. scoring with a 35.9 mark at KIWASSE J.C.

Joining them is freshman Mike Morton, a 6-8 forward, who averaged 19.7 points and 12.5 rebounds in high school. Also joining the group is Larry Slappy, a 6-0 transfer from Ohio University.

"If all goes well, Brown could make us great," Sloan said. "We really have eight or nine people who could start, so we don't really consider the five to take the court at the start as starters, so to speak."

Webb, according to Sloan, is in the same category as a shooter as Pat Tallent (whom Sloan had at George Washington) and last year's Spider star Bob McCurdy, who led the nation in scoring. "Morton will also play a lot," he added.

The biggest problem is the lack of varsity experience in a major college situation. "I think our defense will be better than last year, considering that Eastman may not start."

Right now, Sloan plans to have Butler at a high post, Brown at a low, with Sullivan and Marshall at the wings. Slappy would be the point guard. "Webb could play the wing for us. Eastman will play a lot, going more against a zone defense."

Sloan figures that Brown is the key to the Richmond success. "He's averaged 21 points and 21 rebounds in our scrimmages. He'll have to perform like a true center. But he's just fair defensively right now. He's a little overweight and out of shape and this hurts him. He played a zone all during junior college, so this is new to him."

Sloan says the early part of the season may tell a lot. "If we get beat early, it could hurt us. We would like to open with an easier schedule (Wake Forest, Appalachian State, Davidson and Maryland in the first 10 days). But if we get the bugs out early, we could be very, very good."

BLIMP'S EYE VIEW

The top of the Empire State Building and a passing helicopter come into viewfinder of photographer in blimp over mid-Manhattan.

Drifting in: lower Manhattan and Battery Park.

Hangin' in there near rooftop level in a blimp, your view of Manhattan's towers is something else again.

You're ahead of the birds when you're in the blimp—they can't tote cameras with them on the wing. And they probably take the views for granted, anyway.

Down in the street, pedestrians have to crane their necks to peer upward at the ranks of skyscrapers closing in over them.

From high flying jets, passengers look olympically down on a flattened-out, model toy version of the spiky city.

To hobnob convincingly with the high-risers you're better off somewhere in between: floating, bobbing, dipping in among and just above the pinnacles, the square tops, the spires and masts of Manhattan's upper levels, in slow motion. Apart from hailing a friendly helicopter now and then, it's like existing for a while in your own space-time warp—a unique and private dimension.

AP Newsfeatures.

Chrysler Building: a spire of gleaming curves.

Looking past World Trade Center towers, right, Manhattan rooftops give way to East River and, beyond that, Brooklyn.

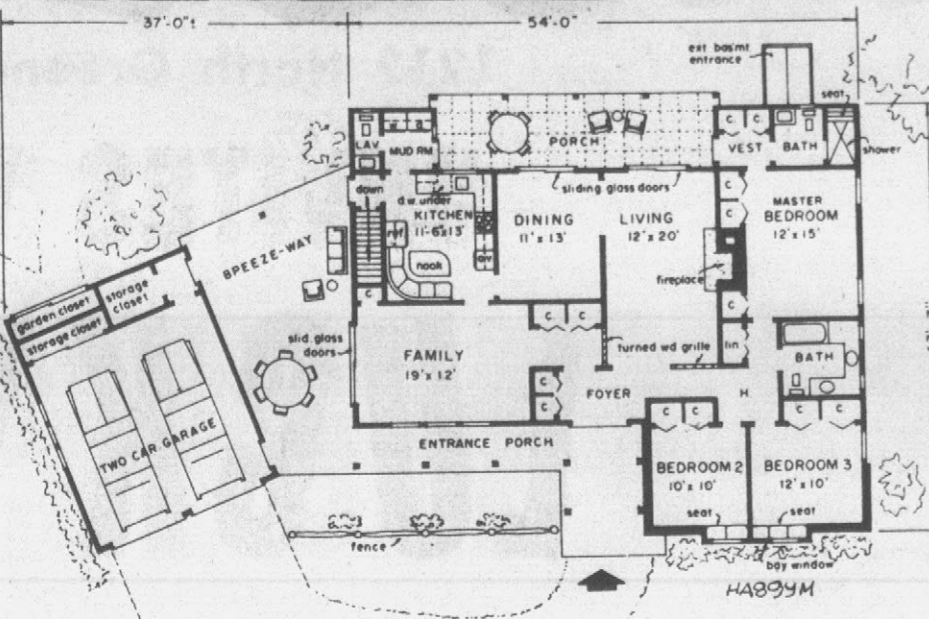

Close in to World Trade Center's twin towers there's a glimpse of plaza down, down below.

On a sunny afternoon, blimp cruises gently around Manhattan Island's lower edge.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

CALIFORNIA WESTERN house is complete with a breezeway. This one-story ranch house is really suitable for all parts of the country. It is long and rambling with porches and a low roofline, giving it a country flavor. This ranch, Plan HA899M, has three bedrooms and a very workable traffic flow. The foyer channels traffic directly to the bedroom wing, to the formal living and entertaining area or to the family room and kitchen. Architect for the 1,820-square-foot house is Rudolph A. Matern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N.Y. 11501. Anyone wishing to know the cost of the blueprint can write to him, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cleaver Resigned To His Fate

NEW YORK (AP) — Resigned to the possible imprisonment that he eluded for seven years as a fugitive abroad, Eldridge Cleaver, the once strident Black Panther information director, was to be taken to California today to face charges of parole violation and assault. Cleaver was immediately arrested by FBI agents during a prearranged surrender Tuesday evening when he arrived from Paris aboard a Trans World Airlines jet. He said he had made no deal with the authorities.

On his transatlantic flight, Cleaver was "officially" accompanied by three FBI agents, and at Kennedy Airport he was met by three more. As the one-time revolutionary speed through customs, agents formed a human barrier against some 75 shouting and shouting reporters who mobbed the area, trying to interview him.

In 1968, Cleaver was paroled from prison after serving nine years of a 14-year term for assault with intent to kill in California. He was rearrested a short time later following a shootout between Oakland police and the Black Panthers. Scheduled to surrender Nov. 27 of that year for re-imprisonment on parole violation charges, Cleaver says he was already in Montreal by then, the first stop in a fugitive odyssey that took him to Cuba, Russia, North Korea, Algeria and France, among other places.

Cleaver's erstwhile Black Panther fellows disassociated themselves from him. David DuBois, editor of the party's weekly newspaper, told National Public Radio in Washington: "We don't want our party to be associated with Eldridge Cleaver and we don't want the work of the party to be associated with Cleaver."

Martin Native Has Role As Law Intern

Johnnie E. Mizelle, a native of Martin County, is one of two law students serving with the Commonwealth's attorney as a law intern from the William and Mary College School of Law. Mizelle, 29, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie T. Mizelle of Rt. 1, Robersonville.

A graduate of East End High School, Mizelle receives $150 a week from federal, state and city funds and was chosen from 20 applicants. The program with which Mizelle is associated with is designed to show future attorneys the prosecutorial side of the law, the advantages and disadvantages.

He also graduated from North Carolina Central University at Durham in 1967. He is president of the Black American Law Students Association at William and Mary and travelled throughout Virginia to encourage blacks to apply to law school.

He is married to the former Gloria Walker of Littleton and they have a 10-month-old daughter, Jonita. Mrs. Mizelle is employed as a probation officer with the juvenile court in Hampton.

Cleaver, 39, was handcuffed and arraigned at U.S. District Court in Brooklyn, despite his attorney's objections that the handcuffs were unnecessary since Cleaver had returned voluntarily to this country to face the charges against him.

In a letter published Tuesday in the New York Times, Cleaver declared: "With all its faults, the American political system is the freest and most democratic in the world. The system needs to be improved, with democracy spread to all areas of life, particularly the economic."

"All these changes must be conducted through our established institutions and people with grievances must find political methods for obtaining redress."

Stagnant Air Over State

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina residents are urged to eliminate all unnecessary automobile trips and perhaps step up the use of car pools for the next few days, particularly in congested metropolitan areas.

Surrenders In Murder Search

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Henry Wilson Greene Jr., 27, surrendered voluntarily Tuesday to answer a charge of murdering a 20-year-old woman. A nationwide police bulletin had been issued for him.

"I think a situation exists in the country now where I can have my day in court," Cleaver told newsmen in explanation for his return.

Cleaver was also served with a subpoena to appear Jan. 20, 1976, before a Senate internal security subcommittee. The subpoena was signed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee. It could not be immediately determined why the subcommittee wanted Cleaver to appear.

Greene, son of a Wilmington pharmacist, is accused in the death of Mary Elizabeth Day, whose body was found in a shallow grave near Burgaw last Friday. She was the daughter of a Wilmington insurance executive.

Superior Court Judge Perry Martin denied bond for Greene Tuesday afternoon. But the judge suggested to Greene's attorney that he renew his bail request in about two weeks.

People are further urged to cooperate in eliminating other forms of air pollution by refraining from all types of outdoor burning. Outdoor burning is not banned but merely discouraged," McColman said.

He said NER will continue to monitor all regions of the state and any significant deterioration in air quality will be reported to the public immediately.

James A. McColman, air quality section chief of the Department of Natural and Economic Resources (NER), issued the request Tuesday following the issuance of an air stagnation advisory by the National Weather Service on Monday.

"Middle-aged or older women are among the great consumers of jigsaw puzzles. They are a challenge, a good way to pass the time." Scenes from famous paintings still are big favorites.

Mizelle was featured in an article in the Times-Herald of Newport News, Va., recently.

Adult Ego Said Cause Of Too-Advanced Toys

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Family Living Editor
A child who gets a Christmas toy or game that's too old for him can blame the adult ego. Toy designer Jeffrey Breslow says parents tend to trade up when they select gifts for children. Each is convinced his or her progeny is very advanced.

Breslow, 32, and the father of 3- and 6-year-old sons, isn't so sure that's a good idea. In an interview, he said the under-5 set is a particular risk, since a game intended for older children may have small pieces that could be dangerous if a moppet tried to swallow them. Game boxes usually have stickers saying the product is not recommended for children below a specific age.

The frustration factor also is important. A child whose manual dexterity isn't equal to a toy or game won't benefit from it. Chances are, he won't even play with it after the first try.

Breslow is an industrial designer and a partner in a leading independent toy design firm in Chicago. Its clients include America's major toy manufacturers. Toy and game designs may change, but children do not, he said.

They are turned on by familiar things. Breslow cited the popularity of licensed property figures and designs as an example. He predicted that big sellers this Christmas will include the Evel Knievel Stunt Game and fast food service games whose corporate symbols are as readily recognizable as Santa Claus himself.

"Games and toys really are a way of acting out established roles for children," the designer said. A child may pretend to be an ice cream vendor, for instance, with a tricycle bearing the corporate symbol of a nationally known company. Breslow said toys like these do not necessarily create a market for future purchases.

"We are building a new generation of very astute consumers. Five to 12-year-olds are a big toy-buying age. They become very critical, very selective. "Children tend to emulate their parents in choosing toys. A 5-year-old girl will accept a Shirley Temple doll because her mother accepts it," he said. The child probably doesn't even know about the child movie star it depicts. "Games teach cooperation, winning and losing. Children learn how to play a role, accept defeat at an insignificant level (which prepares the child for adult life). A great many frustrations can be acted out. "The successful games are role-playing ones: real estate agents in Monopoly, art dealers in Masterpiece."

Breslow said this Christmas's big trend is magic. He said it grew out of the popularity of "The Magic Show," now in its second year on Broadway.

He expects this season's big toy item to be a plastic-molded top hat, the stage magician's traditional prop, complete with a dozen tricks. They include cards, hidden compartments, a bunny scarf that expands to 25 times its original size.

Breslow thinks the toy musical instrument is dying. "Parents would rather rent a real one and teach a child to play it right. A toy musical instrument is a bad imitation of the real world."

He sees its only function is as a cheap way of finding out whether a child is interested in a particular field.

Dolls still follow tradition, in that they must be beautiful to sell well. This year's gimmicky dolls include one that grows taller, develops breasts and gets older. Another changes her hair color, courtesy of a pivoting wig.

Forecasters at the Raleigh-Durham airport said late Tuesday a strong high pressure system with light winds and poor dispersion will remain nearly stationary for at least another 36 hours over the state.

The stagnant air, they said, will cause smoke, dust and gases to accumulate especially near industrial areas.

RALEIGH (AP)—Education is expected to solve social and economic problems, but only $6.67 is spent per day to educate a child, a Raleigh businessman complained. In a talk to the North Carolina State University Education Foundation Tuesday Hugh L. Stone Jr. said three times more is spent to keep a man in prison than is spent to educate a child. "We spend $50 a day for a hospital bed, $3,600 a year to keep a man in jail, $7,500 a year to keep a boy in a detention home and only $1,200 a year to educate a child," he said. Stone is owner of a company that supplies materials to schools. He was reelected president of the foundation at the meeting. "Education is expected to solve all of the social and economic problems of the day for a lousy $6.67 per day per child—not even good babysitting wages," he said. The foundation raises private money to support the university's school of education which has an enrollment of 1,048.

Explorer Of The 'Inner Space'

By RICHARD SALTUS
AP Science Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Adam Smith, his sport coat not quite covering the "Dior" signature on his shirt pocket, sat behind tinted glasses in a Beverly Hills hotel.

He did not look like a man who had chanted in Sufi communes, hung out with reclusive swamis, tried the I Ching on the stock market, or who had been described by his publicists these days as "an astronaut of inner space."

In fact Smith, author of the best-selling "The Money Game" and "Supermoney," showed none of the usual signs of having returned from a journey through various pop-psych movements such as EST, TM, Arica and experiments with altered states of consciousness. That is, he tends to speak in normal English, shows no signs of fuzziness around the edges and makes no claims to have found The Answer.

"It makes me chilly when people say they know the truth," he said during an explanation of why there is an intentional detachment, an absence of judgments, in his new book "Powers of Mind."

Adam Smith is, of course, the same fortyish George Jerome Waldo Goodman whose casual, wry humor made the intricacies of high finance accessible to readers who ordinarily flee at the first hint of supply and demand curves.

"Powers of Mind," though it deals with profound questions about how we perceive the world and what scientists know about the brain, is likewise breezy and comical.

"I purposely adopt that tone, that detachment, because it creates a person you can trust," said Smith. "There isn't much of me in it for the same reason: it's not an autobiography, it's a book about the things that are in it."

In describing the current state of man's investigations into his nonrational, nonverbal nature, the book covers a lot of ground. The way we see the world, says Smith, is largely determined by the words, labels we put on things. If you can't name it, it doesn't exist.

But an awful lot of things we experience refuse to be pinned down by logical, rational explanation; hence the entire history of mysticism and the current enthusiasm for parapsychology, mind-altering drugs and research into the more mysterious operations of the brain.

All this is Smith's territory. Skipping around in the book, you may find him stoned on mescaline in a laboratory experiment, contemplating a vision of a giant cobra; talking to physicists about the nature of time (and checking to see if they wear wristwatches); learning tennis by Zen principles; getting spooked in a sensory deprivation tank.

Ultimately, the traveler found he had to return from his excursions because his way was blocked by language. He had ventured into realms beyond reason, where language — which serves to describe and order our everyday world — was as useless as a crude and inaccurate map.

Since he would need language to interpret and report on the territory he had passed through, he could not toss it away and, lightened of this necessary burden, forge ahead.

Here was the voyager returned, gulping down his sandwich in order to rush off to another interview, being pushed around by a schedule.

The longest flight made by the Wright brothers was 852 feet in 59 seconds.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1975

Opening lead: King of ♣.

Discarding a loser on a loser is one of the most effective ways of breaking communications between the defenders' hands. Generally, there is no way to counter this maneuver, but West found an inspired solution in today's hand.

By increasing the value of his singleton diamond to 3 points in view of the established fit, North's hand revalued to 13 points in support of hearts. Therefore he felt he had enough value for his jump to four hearts.

West was understandably reluctant to lead from his diamond tenace, so his natural choice was the king of clubs. One glance at dummy convinced declarer that there was a very real danger of a club ruff. Since the opponents held the ace of trumps, it would not do to win the ace of clubs and try to draw trumps, for that would only succeed in the unlikely event that the player who was short in clubs also held a singleton trump.

From the opening lead and East's eight of clubs to the first trick, declarer decided that West probably had length in clubs. If he also held the ace of hearts, there was nothing declarer could do to avoid a club ruff. However if East held the ace of hearts, and the missing spade honors, there was a ray of hope. Declarer intended to play three rounds of spades, discarding dummy's diamond on the last round. If East won that trick and had the ace of trumps and a singleton club, he would be unable to reach his partner for a club ruff.

Therefore, after winning the ace of clubs declarer cashed the king and ace of spades and continued with the nine of spades. Had West carelessly discarded on this trick on the assumption the spade would be ruffed in dummy, declarer's play would have succeeded. But West wondered why declarer had failed to draw

Arrest Two For Larceny

Two persons have been arrested by the Pitt County Sheriff's Department in connection with a Nov. 12 break-in at North Pitt High School.

Arrested were Thomas Whitley Thomas, 17, of 406 Meade Street, and Dennis James Singleton, 16, of Rt. 6, Box 166, Greenville, according to Sheriff Ralph Tyson.

The sheriff said that Thomas and Singleton are charged with breaking into the school and taking some $30 in change from vending machines inside the school building.

Entrance to the school was gained by breaking a glass pane on a door, it was reported. Damage to the facility was estimated at $50.

Sheriff Tyson said that the two men were apprehended while they were allegedly attempting to break into a school in Edgecombe County. He said that they are charged in Edgecombe County in connection with that incident.

Metric Measurement

Mortality Rate High Among '75 TV Shows

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—In November 1974, 12 television series, 11 of them new had been axed by the networks. So far this season, 10 series, all of them new, have been cut by NBC and CBS. More cuts are afoot.

ABC says perhaps four of its series won't be back at mid-season. It's not saying which yet, but "Barbary Coast," "Matt Helm," "Mobile One" and "S.W.A.T." all appear the leading low-rated candidates.

All but "S.W.A.T." are first-season entries.

If they get the chop, it'll mean that 13 out of 26 new weekly shows got pink-slipped before the year's end, compared to 11 out of 24 new shows in the first half of the 1974-75 season.

The mortality rate for new shows may only be slightly higher this season, but the interesting thing is that NBC is doing the heaviest program-whacking now instead of ABC, traditionally third in the ratings.

Last season, one of ABC's worst, the network raised a few eyebrows with quick, fifth-week cancellations of two new series, then followed that up by excising four more new series from its schedule.

NBC had the advantage of good ratings and took its time. In mid-November 1974, it said it was axing only three series, two of them new.

This season, with ABC enjoying surprisingly good ratings and pressing NBC for the network's traditional No. 2 slot in the weekly Nielsens, the positions seem reversed.

In only the third week of the current season, NBC canceled the new, low-rated "Fay" and "The Montefuscos" series. It since has axed four more series, all of them new, for a total of six newcomers ousted.

The latest NBC pink slip victims are two hour-long medical shows, "Doctors' Hospital" and "Medical Story," which will leave the network in mid-January.

Diary Of Henry Wallace Is Unsealed Arrests Made In 2 Break-ins

By VAL CORLEY
Associated Press Writer
IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — One-time Vice President Henry Wallace called Harry Truman "a small opportunistic man," said J. Edgar Hoover was becoming an "American Himmler" and mused about Franklin D. Roosevelt's interests in astrology.

The observations were made in the 42-volume diary of Wallace, unsealed Tuesday on the 10th anniversary of his death.

The University of Iowa library, which has custody of the diary, released excerpts from the 1944 volumes giving Wallace's characterizations of some of his contemporaries.

"He is a small man of limited background who wants to do the right thing," Wallace wrote of Truman.

Wallace met with Truman in August following the Democratic convention where Wallace was dropped as vice presidential candidate in favor of Truman.

Wallace said of Truman in his diary, "He is a small opportunistic man, a man of good instincts but, therefore, probably all the more dangerous. As he moves out more in the public eye, he will get caught in the webs of his own making."

"I went to Chicago to get out of being vice president, not to become vice president. It will be very hard on my family," Wallace quoted Truman.

On another occasion, Wallace wrote: "I got it on very good authority yesterday that Edgar Hoover continually has Drew Pearson shadowed."

"Hoover specializes in building up a file against the various public figures and especially against the columnists.

"He has not as yet built up much of a file on Walter Winchell. Winchell so far has been too smart for Hoover. Hoover is apparently on his way to becoming a kind of American Himmler," he said comparing the FBI director to the Nazi Gestapo chief.

In December, four months before President Roosevelt's death, Wallace expressed concern on Roosevelt's deteriorating health and mused about the president's interests in astrology.

"His mind isn't very clear anymore. His hand trembles a great deal more than it used to."

"You know all the astrologers are agreed it (World War II) will not end until 1947," Wallace quoted Roosevelt.

"When the President referred to the astrologers, I judged that he half-way believed in them," Wallace wrote.

NEW YORK (AP) — Martha Mitchell, who is suffering from a rare form of bone cancer, has been admitted to Sloan-Kettering Memorial Cancer Center, the Daily News reported in today's editions.

Mrs. Mitchell, the wife of former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, checked into the hospital here early Tuesday under the assumed name of Diane Mitchell, the News said.

Housing Shows Signs Of Life

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The housing industry, which so far has been playing its expected role as a laggard in the general economic recovery, is showing signs of life.

The industry is not without its problems, however, including a continued low level of new construction on apartment buildings and a level indicator of future activity.

Government figures on changes in personal income were to be released today.

The housing industry signals were contained in a Commerce Department report Tuesday showing that the number of new housing units started in October were at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1.458 million units. That represented a 15 per cent increase over September, when starts were at the 1.268 million unit level.

It was the highest level of activity since June 1974, when the starts rate was 1.533 million and left the October figure 31.8 per cent ahead of last year — the industry's worst since 1966.

At the same time, however, commerce officials reported that the number of starts on new apartment buildings fell to 257,000 units, down 3.4 per cent from September.

The low level of apartment building construction has been blamed on high interest and operating costs by industry specialists, who estimate that rent increases of about 15 per cent would be necessary to encourage greater production in the current market. Rents over the last three years have gone up by about 5 to 6 per cent a year.

And commerce officials said the number of new building permits issued in October was virtually stable at 1.092 million units. That represented a slip of 3,000 from September, when a rise in permits issued had provided a hopeful sign that future activity in the industry was headed up.

Arrests have been made in connection with two recent incidents involving break-ins and larcenies at rural homes.

Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that deputies arrested Ellen Elizabeth Crisp, 17, Jennifer Brown Donnelly, 18, and Frederick Bailey, 22, all of 510 W. Seventh Street, Washington, and charged them with a break-in and larceny at the home of Mrs. Minnie Mae Smith on Rt. 1, Box 340, Grimesland.

The sheriff, noting that the incident was reported on Nov. 9, said that the three persons are being held in Beaufort County Jail where they are also charged with four breaking and entering incidents in Beaufort County. Bond for each of the three was set at $5,000.

Mrs. Smith, according to the sheriff, reported the theft of some $1,537.80 in property, including an antique grandfather clock, a milk stole and various other items.

He said that deputies recovered a clock and some $75 worth of property.

Entrance to the house was apparently gained by breaking out a window pane in the front door, it was noted.

Sheriff Tyson said that Stephen Johnson, 24, and Willie Arthur Lane, 54, both of Rt. 4, Greenville, have been arrested and charged with a break-in and larceny at the home of Raymond Harris on Rt. 1, Box 439, Winterville.

The sheriff, who said Harris reported that the incident occurred while he was away from home on Nov. 7, reported the theft of some $835 in property, including a rifle and shotgun and four watches.

In addition, according to the sheriff, a hot water heater at the Harris home was chopped up, apparently with an ax, and left in the middle of the floor. Damage was estimated at $1,000, it was noted.

Entrance to the Harris home was gained through a garage door.

Thai And Laotian Forces See Border Duel; Planes Strafe

By DENIS D. GRAY
Associated Press Writer
BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Two Thai planes strafed Laotian positions, and Thai and Laotian guns duelled across the Mekong river border between the two nations as Thai forces tried to recover a grounded patrol boat, reliable reports from the northeast frontier said today.

Thai marines and frogmen, working under cover of darkness Tuesday night, recovered the body of a navy man killed aboard the grounded boat by Laotian gunfire, the Thai military command reported. But the boat was still aground.

While the Bangkok government tried to play down the crisis with its northern neighbor, the Laotian Communist government in a broadcast accused Thailand of "brazen and open violation of Lao sovereignty" intended to "create tension along the Lao-Thai border."

Reliable reports from the scene and Thai sources in Bangkok gave this account of the Mekong river action:

Three Laotian gunboats fired on a 30-foot Thai patrol boat Monday as it passed between an island and the Laotian bank of the river near the Thai border town of Tha Bor, 325 miles north of Bangkok.

The Thai boat was damaged and grounded on the island. One crewman was killed and several were wounded. Another Thai navy boat was sent to the aid of the grounded boat, but heavy Laotian fire drove it off.

The Thais moved land reinforcements to the area, including two tanks and armored vehicles. The attempt to recover the body and the boat continued Tuesday, with the Thais firing howitzers across the river into Laos and the Laotians firing mortars and machine guns.

Two prop-driven Thai T28s strafed the Laotian positions for about 15 or 20 minutes. The Thais also used a small artillery spotter plane.

The fighting stopped after the body of the navy man was recovered early Wednesday.

The Laotian government broadcast a different version of the incident. It said three Thai patrol boats made three attacks on the Laotian shoreline and hamlets along it but were driven off. It claimed one of the boats was sunk and the Thais were forced to abandon the other two.

The broadcast also said three Thai planes attacked Laotian territory, and Thai 105mm howitzers fired on two different areas of Laos. But it said the only casualties were three water buffalo.

Four Accidents Here Tuesday

An estimated $3,200 property damage resulted from a series of four traffic collisions investigated here yesterday by Greenville Police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a three-car collision on Greenville Boulevard 200 feet West of the Hooker Road intersection about 5:35 p.m.

Drivers involved in that collision were identified as Louise Whitehurst Snowden of 223 York Rd., James Earl Padgett of Route 4, Tarboro and Floyd Lee Daniels of 112 Greenfield Blvd.

Officers, who reported a passenger in the Snowden car was injured, charged 20-year-old Daniels with driving under the influence and possession of marijuana.

Damage was estimated at $700 to both the Snowden and Daniels vehicles and $500 to the Padgett car.

An estimated $300 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 4 p.m. mishap on Memorial Drive 24 feet West of the Trade Street intersection.

Investigators identified the drivers involved as Frederick

Dennis McLawhorn of Route 1, Winterville and Shirley Sumner Pitt of 2509 East Fourth St. and reported McLawhorn was charged with failing to yield the right of way following investigation of the mishap.

William Earl Dickerson of Route 1, Grimesland was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 6 p.m. collision on Greenville Boulevard, 200 feet South of the Alexander Circle intersection.

Police reported a truck driven by Dickerson collided with a car operated by Ernest Samuel Alexander of Scotland Neck causing an estimated $350 damage to the truck and about $100 damage to the Alexander car.

An estimated $250 damage resulted to a parked car owned by Thomas Franklin Whitaker of Route 3, Greenville after being struck by a car driven by Leona Tucker Hudson of 1400 Chestnut St. about 5 p.m. on Ninth Street, 75 feet West of the Forbes Street intersection.

Investigators said no damage resulted to the Hudson car.

Mrs. Hudson was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

DECA Chapter Is Observing 'Week'

National DECA Week is being observed this week in more than 5,500 Chapters where Distributive Education is taught in the public school system.

Rose High School DECA and East Carolina Collegiate DECA are observing this student-directed activity as an effective part of the learning and training process in developing future leaders for marketing and distribution.

Through research projects and recognition events, the activities of the local DECA chapter brings into sharper focus the various instructional parts of the DE program.

ECU DECA members are: Wayne Edmonds, Roanoke Rapids; Joe Whaley, Kinston; Brigitte Helms, Beaufort; Jerry Sinclair, Rt. 6, Clinton; Steve Evans, son of Stacy J. Evans, Rt. 2, Greenville;

Pat Moore, son of Martin Moore, Raleigh; Cindy Bullock, Durham; Aaron Croom, Rt. 2, Dover; Mary Britt, Rt. 2, Newton Grove; Larry Bisette, Rt. 1, Bailey; and Jessica Johnston, daughter of Jesse C. Johnston, Rt. 1, Greenville.

To Address 'Achievers'

The Rev. Oddvar Berg, a native of Norway and former missionary to the Philippines, will be the guest speaker at the annual 4-H Achievement Program Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the American Legion Building.

He will speak on "What's Right With America?"

Entertainment will be a medley of patriotic songs presented by the 4-H Youth Sing For Patriotism, a biennial singing group composed of young people throughout Pitt County.

Awards will be presented to 4-Hers for their participation in projects, demonstrations and events.

Persons interested in organizing a 4-H Club are invited to attend the meeting.

Ehrlichman Insists Novel 'All Fiction'

NEW YORK (AP) — Former White House aide John Ehrlichman has turned novelist but he insists that his political thriller of White House intrigue and blackmail is all fiction, according to CBS Evening News.

But CBS said the novel, "The Company," contains unflattering portraits of a Richard Nixon-like president and an H.R. Haldeman-like chief of staff as well as a CIA director resembling Richard Helms.

Daniel Schorr, CBS newsman, noted Tuesday that one of the unsolved mysteries of Watergate was what President Nixon meant when, speaking of the use of the CIA in the cover-up, he told Haldeman, "Well, we protected Helms from a hell of a lot of things." And Haldeman replied, "That's what Ehrlichman says."

Leaf Mart Sale Light

FARMVILLE — The volume of sales on the Farmville Tobacco Market yesterday were light. Offerings consisted of mostly low grades of leaf, lugs and primings.

In addition to low grades of tobacco, several sheets of leaf and cutter grades sold for $1.20 per pound. Prices as a whole have held up unusually good considering the large crop sold this year.

Large quantities of non-descript and damaged tobacco is appearing on the floors as the end of the season approaches.

Stabilization receipts accounted for more than 17 percent of gross sales yesterday.

The market sold 302,924 pounds of leaf for $290,479, for an average of $95.89 per hundred pounds. To date, the market has sold 41,105,439 pounds of leaf for $42,192,781, for an average of $102.65 per hundred pounds for the season.

Workshop On Collective Bargaining Set

A workshop on collective bargaining will be sponsored by the Faculty Senate at East Carolina University Dec. 4, according to ECU Faculty Senate officials.

Dr. Henry C. Ferrell Jr., of ECU, will be moderator for the information-gathering session which is expected to last two hours. Dr. Ferrell is chairman of the UNC Faculty Assembly which will sponsor a university-wide collective bargaining workshop in Chapel Hill the following day, Dec. 5.

Speakers at the workshop here will be Dr. Robert Nielsen of the American Federation of Teachers, Gerie Bledsoe of the American Association of University Professors and Bob Simpson, National Education Assn., all of Washington, D.C.

Scholarships For 2 Women

The women's Residence Council of East Carolina University has presented two scholarships to women students.

Naomi Ballance of Micro, is the recipient of the Ruth A. White In-State Scholarship. A junior Elementary Education major, she is a resident of Umstead Residence Hall.

The Carolyn Fulghum Out-of-State Scholarship was presented to Anita Bowman, a freshman from Washington, D.C. She is a resident of Tyler Residence Hall and plans to major in Music Therapy.

The scholarships are for $200.00 each and are to be used for educational expenses at East Carolina.

How Tar Heel Senators, Representatives Voted

BY ROLL CALL REPORT
WASHINGTON—Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Nov. 6 through Nov. 12.

House
BUDGET—Adopted, 225 for and 191 against, a resolution (H Con Res 466) setting federal spending levels for fiscal 1976. The measure sets ceilings of $373.9 billion for total federal outlays and $72.1 billion for the federal deficit. H Con Res 466 is headed for a House-Senate conference.

Last spring Congress carried out the "target" phase of the new congressional budget process, which seeks to improve upon the piecemeal, uncoordinated approach the House and Senate formerly used in appropriating money. H Con Res 466 implements the second, "binding" phase of the process.

One supporter, Rep. Brock Adams (D-Wash.), said the resolution reflects realistic spending levels, and harmonizes with the Administration's updated FY 1976 budget totals.

Opponents criticized the "binding" ceiling as inflationary. Rep. Delbert Latta (R-Ohio) said, "We cannot spend our way into prosperity."

Reps. Stephen Heal (D-5), Richardson Preyer (D-6) and Charles Rose (D-7) voted "yea."

Reps. Walter Jones (D-1), L.H. Fountain (D-2), David Henderson (D-3), Ike Andrews (D-4), W.G. Hefner (D-8), James Martin (R-9), James Broyhill (R-10) and Roy Taylor (D-11) voted "nay."

FEDERAL ENCLAVE—Adopted, 201 for and 150 against, an amendment retaining a President's power to appoint a White House-level federal overseer to administer the so-called federal enclave—the District of Columbia area containing most of the city's federal buildings, parks and monuments.

The amendment reversed its parent bill's intent to repeal the overseer provision and thus give the D.C. government more control over the enclave. HR 10041, the parent bill, was passed and sent to the Senate.

The 1973 Home Rule Act giving self-government to Washington residents contained the "Federal enclave" overseer provision to assure that federal interest would not be damaged by any ineptitude on the part of the fledgling D.C. government.

HR 10041 would not have relinquished federal ownership of the enclave; rather, it would have increased the D.C. government's authority to administer municipal services within the enclave. Passage of this amendment, however, denied such an expansion of authority. Most of the amendment's supporters were opposed to the granting of home rule to the District of Columbia.

Rep. William Ketchum (R-Cal.), the sponsor, said his amendment would benefit the area "where most of our constituents come to visit and tour their nation's capital."

One opponent, Rep. Gilbert Gude (R-Md.), said the position of special enclave overseer is not needed because the D.C. and federal governments "have worked extraordinarily well together to keep the service area in a condition of which we can be proud."

Jones, Fountain, Henderson, Andrews, Neal, Preyer, Rose, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "yea."

Hefner did not vote.

CONSUMER AGENCY—Passed, 208 for and 199 against, a bill (S 200) creating a Consumer Protection Agency (CPA), the first independent federal agency devoted solely to consumer representation. The CPA would advocate consumer interests before other federal agencies and in the courts. It would "self-destruct" in seven years unless Congress continues it. S 200 was headed for conference with the Senate.

Supporters said the CPA is needed to assure consumers "equal representation" in government councils. Rep. Bella Abzug (D-N.Y.) said the "need for such representation exists largely because many of our existing 'regulatory' agencies often act as little more than advocates for the very industries which they are supposedly controlling."

Opponents said consumer needs should be met by existing federal agencies and that the CPA would become an unnecessary layer of bureaucracy. Rep. Floyd Spence (R-S.C.) said S 200 "sets the consumer against business, business against the government, and the government against itself."

Neal and Preyer voted "yea." Jones, Fountain, Henderson, Andrews, Rose, Hefner, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "nay."

Senate
COMMON-SITE PICKETING—Rejected, 25 for and 54 against, an amendment to weaken a bill (HR 5900) permitting job-site picketing by construction unions. The amendment sought to allow individual states to outlaw the provision of HR 5900.

HR 5900 was designed to counteract a 1951 Supreme Court ruling which prohibits on-site picketing on grounds that such picketing would unfairly jeopardize contractors or subcontractors not directly involved in the dispute.

HR 5900 asserts that a building project is a "joint venture" and thus all subcontractors and the general contractor can be picketed and struck simultaneously. The bill was headed toward passage and conference with the House.

Supporters of the amendment generally oppose the right of on-site picketing. Sen. James Allen (D-Ala.), the sponsor, said the amendment "recognizes the principle of states' rights." He said it was modeled after the right-to-work provision of the Taft-Hartley Act which similarly permit a state to say "No, thanks."

Opponents of the amendment generally support on-site picketing. Sen. Harrison Williams (D-N.J.), said the real issue is assuring equal treatment under the law for construction unions and their industrial counterparts, which are permitted the right of job-site picketing.

Sens. Robert Morgan (D) and Jesse Helms (R) voted "yea."

GOVERNMENT-IN-THE-SUNSHINE—Passed, by a unanimous vote of 94 "yeas," a bill (S 5) advancing the goal of conducting the public's business in public. To this end, S 5 would open to the public all "non-sensitive" official meetings of 47 federal agencies. The measure would primarily affect multi-commission regulatory agencies which decide policy questions during official business meetings, such as the Federal Communications Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Federal Election Commission. S 5 was sent to the House.

Any agency session dealing with "sensitive" information—such as certain military or diplomatic matters—could be closed to the public if a majority of the participants so voted, and if the reasons were specified in writing. Another provision of S 5 would prohibit secret discussions between an agency official and any individual with a stake in a decision pending before that agency.

The Senate passed S 5 one day adopting a resolution opening to the public virtually all Senate committee meetings. Members generally lauded "government-in-the-sunshine" as a way to foster public trust in the federal government. They said S 5 would encourage better meeting attendance and preparation on the part of agency officials, thus improving the quality of decision-making.

Morgan and Helms voted "yea."

Phones Rely On Solar Energy

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona's Yuma is profiting from its desert location by pioneering the use of solar energy along its highways.

Emergency notification units containing radiotelephones will be installed along an experimental stretch of highway for use by motorists in distress. And the batteries installed in the radiotelephones will be kept charged by solar energy.

A Disaster In Imported Snails

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The dangers of importing illegal species of pets was demonstrated in 1966 when a young traveler brought in a pair of African snails as pets. The result was disastrous.

These snails can grow to the length of about one foot. They devour flowers, bushes, trees and house paint, and their slime trails ruined the painted wall of a house. It took six years to wipe out the 100,000 descendants of the original pair of snails.

Bioglass May Replace Bones

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A University of Florida professor is experimenting with glass to replace diseased or shattered bones.

On the basis of laboratory "bioglass" tests on animals, he says it's conceivable that someday large portions of the human body may be "more ceramic than man."

Bioglass is the first imitation substance scientists have found that bonds with living bone, says Dr. Larry Hench, in charge of the university's Biomedical Engineering Program, where the material is being tested.

Hench, working with two colleagues, came up with the idea for bioglass six years ago because of the amputations suffered by Vietnam veterans with irreparably shattered bones.

"In those first two years of the program, it was the three of us against the world," he said.

In the last two years, dozens of monkeys, baboons, cats, rats and sheep have been fitted with imitation bone parts, teeth, jawbones and hip bones made of bioglass.

If experiments with animals continue to produce good results, Hench said, the ceramic substitute may someday save arms and legs mangled in car wrecks or fractured and wracked by cancer.

But he predicts that human implants of bioglass are at least two years away.

Good results have been noted in tests where baboons were given bioglass teeth, implanted into sockets where natural teeth had grown, Hench said.

Preliminary findings showed the bioglass teeth bonded firmly to the jawbone within months of the implant and without damaging gum tissue.

Gary Miller, a graduate student testing the strength of the process, said bioglass works by "tricking" the body into thinking it's real bone.

The chief ingredient of bioglass is the same as ordinary window glass, a quartz sand called silica.

Added to it are sodium oxide, calcium and phosphorous, which Hench said are released from the glass like tiny time pills as the living bone absorbs and merges with the imitation.

Researchers say bioglass is too weak to hold up in load-bearing parts of the body such as the bones of the leg. So they tried coating stainless steel and aluminum oxide with bioglass.

Hench said hip joints made this way were successfully implanted in monkeys and sheep, saying that the sheep experiment was particularly exciting "because you're getting up toward the same weight as man."

Swan-Watching Kept Schulberg Close To Home

BUDD SCHULBERG and GERALDINE BROOKS

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Books Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Writer Budd Schulberg used to move around a lot, living his life in many places, but now he thinks he's finally settled down — thanks to a pair of swans.

About five years ago, Schulberg — who had spent his days in such places as New York City, Vermont, Mexico, Europe, Pennsylvania, Florida, New Jersey, Los Angeles — and his wife, actress Geraldine Brooks, left the West Coast and went to New York's Long Island.

"The swans happened to us," Schulberg says with a smile. "We found a house on an inlet and saw the swans swimming about out there on the water. It's still a very rural area with lots of wild life and birds even though it's near Westhampton. We saw the swans, they attracted us, and we bought. We love our place on the inlet, and we like the swans very much. We like to hear them tapping on our windows."

It was a while, however, before the Schulbergs and the swans got friendly enough for the big birds to get that close to the house, as Schulberg reveals in his latest book, "Swan Watch." Miss Brooks took the photographs which illustrate her husband's text.

"I'd always been interested in birds," says the 61-year-old Schulberg, an easy-talking man with heavy dark brows that are in sharp contrast to his white hair and beard. "I raised pigeons as a kid and I know a lot about them. And my interest in birds shows in movies I wrote such as 'On The Waterfront' and 'Across The Everglades' as well as in my novel 'Sanctuary V,' although it's not a prominent feature."

Soon after moving into the house, Schulberg began keeping a log of the doings of the swans, whom he and his wife dubbed Loh and Grin, although "I didn't know I would eventually do a book about them."

He also set about befriending the swans, although warned they had nasty tempers, and eventually succeeded, so much so that "now I can actually stroke the male's back, and when I fill his food bowl I can say 'Wait' and he'll stand back and wait until I'm finished instead of rushing in. The female's a bit more timid, but friendly enough."

Now that "Swan Watch" is finished, Schulberg, probably best known for his novels "What Makes Sammy Run?" and "The Harder They Fall," is working on "an autobiographical book about Hollywood, my earliest memories of Hollywood."

Schulberg was 4 when his family left New York City for Hollywood where his father, B. P. Schulberg, headed a major film studio for about 10 years, "from the middle '20s to about the middle '30s."

"I'm trying to recapture how Hollywood was then," Schulberg says. "It was totally different than now, much smaller, a completely different world. Everyone seemed to know everyone else, and I met a lot of the top printed writers. They sort of met at a book shop, and I kind of hung around them, men like John O'Hara, F. Scott Fitzgerald, William Saroyan, William Faulkner. There were other good writers too, but they were swallowed by Hollywood and lost the drive, the desire to write books."

Determined to write, Schulberg started out selling short stories and at 26 published his very successful first novel, "What Makes Sammy Run?" His writing career was interrupted by a 3 1/2-year stint in the U.S. Navy during World War II, during which he headed a team getting photographic evidence for the Nuremberg trials, but quickly resumed after his discharge.

Schulberg has written for television, the stage and the movies, but likes writing books the best "because I can stay home and do it by myself, for better or for worse it's all mine. Whatever the words are, they are all mine."

"But, at the same time," he adds, "I really like films — that is when I can get the right subject and the right director. That's probably why I've done so few films."

Ken Serrat Is Forty And Still Dreams

By MARIAN FOX
Associated Press Writer
MEMPHIS (AP)—Few singers, if they made it to the top, would spend their new wealth on a herd of buffalo, but that's what Kenny Serrat would do. "I'm forty and I've still got dreams," he says.

Part of those dreams include 20 or 30 buffalo for his ranch in Trout Creek, Mont., and another is a number one record on the country charts.

Serrat, a protege of Merle Haggard, worked country music into his life until 1967 when he packed his guitar and moved to Montana.

"I'd been bagging around for 15 years and finally said to heck with it (my music career)," he said in an interview.

"I went up there and started a logging outfit and a hunting guide service in the winter. I have a ranch with sheep, cattle, horses. I enjoyed myself for about five years."

But music wasn't totally out of his life and he still, in the back of his mind, wanted a music career. So much so that when Haggard called him to ask him to join a tour in 1972, he went.

"When he called and said come to Spokane, I didn't even take my guitar," he said. "I really thought I had no desire to get back into the music business."

He had to go back to Trout Creek to pick up his guitar and rejoin the Haggard tour. "I've been on the road ever since."

Serrat sounds a lot like Haggard. He says that's because they both idolize the same singers, like Lefty Frizzell and Marty Robbins.

Serrat has a thorough understanding of his music. He was born in northeast Arkansas, son of a Pentecostal minister whose church was an arbor.

"Our church was full of music," he said. "In fact, American church music has country roots and vice versa. Both types have a deep sincerity."

Serrat was in his early teens when his father moved the family to California. Like the Joads in Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath," the Serratts followed the crops up and down the coast, picking grapes, oranges, lemons, tomatoes and prunes. The family went to every area of the country, except New England, looking for work.

Serrat has picked cotton, plowed fields with mules, laid bricks, dug ditches and logged. He's been an electrician and a horticulturist, grafting trees from Fresno to Phoenix.

"I never hated that time and I never felt sorry for myself for going through it," he said. "Honest work doesn't lower a man's character. It's a benefit and when something good comes along, you appreciate it all the more."

Serrat would like to have that number one country single, but if it doesn't come along, he won't be defeated.

"I've talked with young people who say, if they don't make it, they don't know what they're going to do," he said. "I don't think anybody should get into it that deep. I don't want to get so wrapped up in it that if I get washed out, I won't be able to do anything else."

Searches For Shopping Carts

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Robert Davis makes his living "fishing" for shopping carts. He started a company recently called Reno Powerwash. Davis, sole employe of the company, not only fishes for the carts but he repairs them for markets.

Davis makes his cart-searching rounds shortly after day-break most mornings. He covers much of the northern half of the city in his quest.

He claims that in an hour he usually finds 12 carts. His gear consists of a quarter pound grappling hook and 20 feet of heavy cord.

He offers two types of rates to his clients. For the higher price he not only retrieves, but washes and repairs all existing carts.

His lower priced service covers retrieval of carts, but no maintenance.

Increasing Cuba Trade Volume

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—An Argentine firm, Caissutti Metalworks, reports shipping 60 truckloads of machinery and equipment to Cuba valued at $4.5 million.

Argentina has been increasing its trade with Cuba since renewing diplomatic relations in 1973.

A Medicine Man Needed At Center

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — One thing the University of Oregon Health Sciences Center doesn't have, but would like to have, is an Indian medicine man.

Dr. Herbert Fowler, director of a national mental health project being established at the center, says, "I am convinced that a medicine man can help bridge the gap between this world and the Indian world."

"The medicine man can teach us a lot about developing programs Indians will accept," Dr. Fowler said.

The $1.2 million project's director is part-Indian and but one of eight native American psychiatrists in the country. He says most of the 250 tribes in America have a medicine man who is expected to attend to the physical and psychological needs of Indians.

One-quarter Sioux, Dr. Fowler is the grandson of a doctor who practiced medicine at Wounded Knee in 1890.

Influenced by his grandfather, he studied medicine and later went into practice as a psychiatrist.

Dr. Fowler stresses that no treatment actually will take place at the UO health center. However, the program is expected to set up satellite centers that eventually will offer treatment to Indians and Alaska natives.

Before coming to the mental health project a month ago, Dr. Fowler was associate professor of psychiatry at the Michigan State Medical school in East Lansing.

The mental health project for minority groups was authorized by Congress three years ago.

There are two similar projects in the United States for blacks, one for Spanish-speaking Americans and one for Asian-Americans.

The Indian project was last to get started because there are so few Indians and Indian professionals in the country.

Indians and "Indian thinking" persons are expected to staff the central program and satellite centers, he said.

Basic ideological differences between Indians and the dominate white society have caused most white-planned mental health programs for Indians to fail, Dr. Fowler said. "Indians have a non-materialistic way of thinking. They are imbued with thousands of years of culture. We still cling to that rich culture and its own religions," he said.

Many Indians, he said, especially those in urban settings, have lost their identity and are "in trouble."

The research project will be directed toward finding reasons why most mental health clinics are a bad experience for Indians.

Researchers also will try to discover reasons for child abuse, a problem that is just beginning to surface in the Indian community, Dr. Fowler said.

Alcoholism programs also will be studied, he added. "We need to know what will work for Indians," he said. "Alcoholism programs in mental health centers can boast an eight to 20 per cent, five-year success rate for non-Indian clients."

"The success rate with Indians is zero. Perhaps these programs need more traditional Indian ways of treating alcoholism, like sweat lodges. We hope to find out."

Program headquarters are being set up in Gaines Hall at the University of Oregon Health Sciences Center. It is supported by a number of grants, the largest being $1.2 million from the National Institute of Mental Health.

Train Tour Of Rural Jamaica

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (AP) — The "Governor's Coach," a specially fitted-out diesel train that tours the mountainous countryside of northwestern Jamaica, is one of Jamaica's most popular tourist attractions.

The conducted 80-mile, six-hour excursion, often called "The Catadupa Choo-Choo" after the country town that is one of the stops, features a Jamaican calypso band on board, complimentary rum punch and lemonade and a full picnic lunch. The coach leaves Montego Bay and winds its way into the mountains through the coffee and coconut plantations with stops at picturesque small towns. At the Catadupa street market, passengers may order shifts, shirts or skirts to be custom made and picked up, finished, on the return trip.
