Something Different For '76

IT'S A STICKER FOR '76—When North Carolina motorists line up after the first of the year to purchase their new auto license tags they will be getting a small blue sticker instead of the usual metal plate. Laura Godfrey, of the Department of Transportation, displays a 1975 tag with the sticker in the upper right corner. Similar stickers will be used for years 1977, 1978 and 1979. New plates are to be sold in 1980. (AP Wirephoto)

Gird For Battle Over Income Tax

By HOWARD BENEDICT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and Congress are girding for a veto battle that will determine whether Americans find their income taxes increased by about 8 per cent on the first day of 1976.

A bipartisan group of senators met with the President late Thursday to discuss differences on legislation to extend last year's tax cuts into the new year, but the session ended in a deadlock. Sen. Russell Long, DLa., told reporters after the meeting with Ford, "We were unable to agree on anything."

Ford told the lawmakers he will veto the tax cut measure if it is sent to him without an attached spending ceiling of $395 billion for the next fiscal year.

If Ford vetoes the tax cuts and if his veto is upheld, most American workers will face an automatic tax increase on Jan. 1. The tax cuts in effect this year expire on Dec. 31 unless extended by Congress.

James T. Lynn, director of the Office of Management and Budget, told reporters after the Thursday meeting that the President had informed the senators that he "respectfully disagrees" with their efforts to continue tax decreases without placing the limit on federal spending and that Ford told them "we'll have to let the system work."

"The President made it very clear that without an expenditure ceiling he will veto the proposal put forth by the Finance Committee," Lynn said.

Ford has said he believes Congress will not override his veto. Congressional Democratic leaders predict "it will be close."

Long said a tax bill is expected to clear Congress early next week and it should be on the President's desk late in the week. Asked about a Ford veto, Long replied, "We'll try to override and we may or may not. Then we'll see what happens after that."

Of the four senators at the White House meeting, only Carl Curtis, R-Neb., supported the President's position. He predicted that the House, at least, would sustain a Ford veto.

Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., told reporters, "We're not all that far apart," but he contended Ford is asking Congress to violate procedures prescribed by the new congressional budget law. Under that law, Congress won't consider spending for fiscal 1977 until next spring.

"We're being asked to make spending ceiling decisions that could affect millions of Americans in 1977," Long said. "Maybe we can do that six months from now."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the Budget Committee, agreed that by May Congress might be able to tie a spending lid to the taxcut, but "right now, we do not have details on his $28-billion proposed tax cut. We'll get it in January with his budget message and we told him we'd look at the figures then."

The congressional tax cut bill, in its final form, is expected to include a six-month extension of the tax cut adopted last Jan. 1 as an antirecession measure. Both the bill passed by the House and the measure expected to win Senate approval next week lack spending ceilings.

Adopt Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today gave final passage to Congress' budget resolution setting a $374.9 billion spending ceiling and a $74.1 billion budget deficit for the federal governent in the fiscal year ending june 30.

The vote was 189 to 187 on a compromise resolution the Senate passed 74 to 19 on Thursday. The President's signature is not required.

The resolution is binding on congressional spending and revenue decisions for the rest of this fiscal year. It is part of a new congressional budget-making process established under the 1974 Budget Control Act.

Doctors Charged

RALEIGH (AP)—A total of 20 Tar Heel physicians have been arrested since March in a crackdown on illegal dispensing of prescription drugs, the State Bureau of Investigation said.

The arrest of six doctors was announced initially in March and 14 more have been arrested since then as have seven pharmacists, the SBI said, but refused to release names.

An SBI spokesman said he believes the crackdown has tightened up the illegal supply of prescription drugs on the street.

Joan Little Technically Again Fugitive From Law

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Unless she is arrested first, Joan Little's attorney said he expected to meet with her today and file for appeal bond with the state Supreme Court.

Miss Little was technically a fugitive because she didn't turn herself in after an earlier bond was ordered forfeited, Beaufort County Dist. Atty. William Griffin said Thursday.

But, Jerry Paul, her attorney, said he didn't know authorities were looking for her until he saw the 11 o'clock television news Thursday night. "As far as we knew, we had until Monday...," he said.

Miss Little, 21, a black, was acquitted last summer in the icepick slaying of a white jailer in Beaufort County. In a trial that attracted international attention, a jury acquitted her in the August 1974 death of Clarence Alligood, 62. She testified she stabbed him in self defense after he forced her to have sex with him.

Miss Little is now appealing a 1974 conviction on breaking and entering. She was in jail pending appeal on that when the stabbing occurred.

Court officials in Beaufort County said orders were issued Tuesday to local and Raleigh authorities to arrest Miss Little.

Last month, the state Court of Appeals said it found no error in Miss Little's trial and ordered her to begin serving her seven-to 10 year sentence. Paul said he had until next Monday to file a request that the state Supreme Court hear the case.

The Appeals Court refused to continue Miss Little's $15,000 bond to let her go free until the high court decided whether to take the appeal. So, Paul said, he asked Superior Court Judge John Webb on Monday to continue the bond, which Webb did.

Later, Paul said, someone in Beaufort County told the Appeals Court of that decision and it ordered that she not be allowed to remain free. Paul said the court was "just being vindictive. They want Joan in jail," he said.

Paul said he then asked the Supreme Court to allow appeal bond and he understood it would be allowed. But, he said, Miss Little needed to sign the papers but she couldn't be found. He said she was to meet him at his office this afternoon.

Rescue Sixteen As Ship Sinks

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — Rescuers picked up 16 survivors and continued to search today for eight crew members still missing after a Liberian freighter sank early Thursday off North Carolina, the Coast Guard said.

Thirteen of the survivors were picked up from a large life raft about 90 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras by the Hays, a Navy research ship that spotted a flare about 8:45 p.m. Thursday.

The other three were picked up early today a few miles away, the Coast Guard said.

One crewman reported "in not too good shape" was being treated by medical personnel aboard the Navy ship California, the Coast Guard said.

The others were reported in reasonably good condition, according to rescuers.

Most of the survivors were aboard the Hays.

The captain of the sunken, 315-foot Drosia told rescuers the ship was enroute from New Orleans to New York with a cargo of sugar when a hatch ruptured and the ship sank in about four minutes about 4 a.m. Thursday, the Coast Guard said.

The Coast Guard said the vessel was owned by Lampsis Navigation Ltd. of Monrovia, Liberia. The agent was listed as Polaris Marine Agency of New York.

A Coast Guard spokesman at Portsmouth, Va., said it had not been determined where the survivors would be taken.

Tree Is Found

Greenville's Community Christmas tree, reported missing by Recreation Director Boyd Lee on Thursday morning, has been found.

The 15 foot live cedar, planted on the knoll on the north side of the Elm Street gym, was sawed off sometime Wednesday night.

"The tree was found late yesterday morning," Lee said. "It was in the living room of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity house on East Tenth Street. The boys concerned have indicated they are willing to pay for the tree." Eaton Corporation had donated $150 to members of the Greenville Youth Council for purchase of the tree. "Police are continuing investigation of this matter," Lee added.

"I want to say we're amazed and grateful for the public response we've had from people wanting to donate a tree," Lee remarked. "We're going to check with people who've offered to give a tree to find one that will be suitable."

Ceremonies originally planned for Sunday will not take place at that time. "However, we will certainly have the ceremonies at a later date, and will be announcing the date and time," Lee said.

WHERE'S THE REST?

I have been laid off by Tidewater Construction Company. I just received a Savings Club check from the Bank of Virginia for $181.81. I know I have more than $300 in the Savings Club. They took out a quarter for every hour I worked. Since I'm no longer with the company or the Ironworkers Union, I don't know why I didn't get the full amount I'd paid in. I could certainly use it this Christmas. There was no statement with the check. J.M.

Hotline called the Bank of Virginia in Norfolk first, but were told we'd have to contact the Local 79 Ironworkers' Union in Norfolk. We got the full story then. The money taken out of your pay up to Sept. 1 is in the Dec. 1 "Christmas" check; the rest will be in a July "vacation" check. "The bank does us a favor by getting the checks out near the first of December," a Union officeworker said, "Statements aren't sent out till January. But if Mr. M. will send me a stamped self-addressed envelope, I'll send him his statement right away."

Now that you understand the situation, you say you're satisfied to wait till July for the rest of your savings.

ASTROLOGY, NUMEROLOGY

Sheltered Workshop Ass'n Is Told Greater Awareness Seen

"Today is the day of the disabled," Evelyne R. Villines told some 200 members of the North Carolina Association of Sheltered Workshops last night at their annual awards banquet held at the Moose Lodge.

"Today there is a greater awareness, commitment and concern for those who happen to be a little bit different," Mrs. Villines said. "I see the disabled speaking out for themselves, too."

However, the disabled are still not totally accepted or without problems in today's society, according to Mrs. Villines, a handicapped person herself, who is executive secretary of the Iowa Governor's Committee on Employment of the handicapped and Director of Development for the Iowa Lutheran Hospital.

Mrs. Villines put much responsibility on the counselor of disabled persons to listen to their problems and needs and "let people know you care about them and their disability."

Handicapped people, she said, should have the opportunity to "stand, sit or lie side-by-side and hold an air of dignity" with normal people.

"With the help of God and people who are dedicated to help us (a disability) really doesn't have to be the greatest thing in our lives," Mrs. Villines said.

Time and again, Mrs. Villines drew applause from the crowd as she filled her off-the-cuff speech with sometimes humorous, sometimes sad personal experiences, all designed to

Reagan Wrests Lead From Ford In GOP Poll

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N.J.—Newly announced presidential candidate Ronald Reagan, former governor of California, has registered dramatic gains since mid-October and has moved into a lead over President Gerald Ford as the top 1976 nomination choice of Republican voters nationwide.

Trailing President Ford in a mid-October survey, 25 to 48 per cent, as the No. 1 pick of Republican voters (asked to choose from a list of 10), Reagan now leads 40 to 32 per cent.

Factors which could help explain Reagan's sharp gains are his announcement of his candidacy on Nov. 20, as well as President Ford's declining popularity. The President's approval rating, 47 per cent in the mid-October survey, declined to 41 per cent in the latest survey, which was conducted after his sudden and surprise cabinet shakeup. The survey, however, was conducted prior to President Ford's just-completed trip to China.

Currently No. 3 in the nomination choices, although far behind Reagan and Ford, is Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, selected by 10 per cent. Next is Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, the choice of 6 per cent. All others on the list receive 3 per cent or less of the vote.

This question was asked to determine the first choice of GOP voters from a list of possible presidential candidates:

"Here is a list of people (respondents were handed a card with 10 names) who have been mentioned as possible presidential candidates for the Republican nomination in 1976. Which one would you like to see nominated as the Republican candidate in 1976?"

Here are the latest results compared with those recorded in October:

Choices Of GOP Voters For '76 Nomination

	Latest	October
Ronald Reagan	40 %	25 %
Gerald Ford	32	48
Barry Goldwater	10	7
Nelson Rockefeller	6	5
Charles Percy	3	2
Howard Baker	2	2
Elliot Richardson	2	3
Mark Hatfield	2	1
John Connally	1	1
James Buckley	1	1
No preference	1	5

Ford Had Consistently Been Top Choice

Until the latest survey, President Ford had consistently led the field of GOP presidential possibilities, including Reagan, by a wide margin. Prior to Ford's becoming President, however, Reagan had been the favorite of Republican voters nationwide.

With the sharp gains made by Reagan in recent weeks, the conservative vote, as represented by the vote given the three men on the list who are identified with the conservative viewpoint—Reagan, Goldwater, and Sen. James Buckley of New York—now matches the non-conservative vote. In earlier surveys, the total non-conservative vote was predominant, by about a 2-to-1 ratio.

Reagan Also Registers Gains With Independents

Candidate Reagan has also registered gains among independents and is currently in a virtual tie with Ford as the top choice of this iimportant bloc of voters. Reagan wins 27 per cent, and Ford 25 per cent.

In the mid-October survey, Ford led Reagan with independents 26 to 20 per cent.

In third places among independents today are Goldwater, the choice of 11 per cent of independents and Rockefeller, the choice of 8 per cent. All others receive 6 per cent or less of the vote.

With Republican party affiliation at an all-time low, the GOP must obviously nominate a candidate who has the widest appeal among independents and dissident Democrats. And although independents lean 2-to-1 Democratic in their basic political outlook, they remain important to GOP presidential fortunes because they have voted Republican in every presidential election in the last quarter-century, with the exception of 1964.

Honored For Roles In EROW

PITT COUNTY FARMERS . . . James A. Little (second from left) and Robert May (third from left) were honored recently for their participation in the Extension Research on Wheels tobacco disease control and prevention program. With them are Wally Ausley, a radio announcer, and Ken Bateman, Pitt County Agricultural Extension agent.

At the Extension Research on Wheels (EROW) review held in Raleigh recently James A. Little of near Winterville and Robert May of near Farmville were recognized for their contribution to the EROW Program.

Both conducted on-farm tobacco disease control tests. J. L. Gurganus of Bethel, was also recognized but was not present at the meeting.

The EROW program is a cooperative venture between tobacco growers, the County Agricultural Extension Service and the State Extension Specialists. EROW tests are conducted to obtain information on the prevention and control of tobacco diseases. They are grown by tobacco farmers under regular growing conditions. The information obtained is published in Tobacco Information, which is available at the Agricultural Extension Office, 203 W. Third Street.

No Digging Today For Hoffa's Body In Dump

By HENRY GOTTLIEB
Associated Press Writer

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — There was no digging today at a Jersey City refuse dump where federal investigators say the body of former Teamsters President James R. Hoffa and an underworld figure may be buried.

On Thursday, federal investigators said they were readying equipment to dig up a section of the 60-acre site known as Moscato's Dump but did not say when the excavation would begin.

There were no law enforcement persons in evidence at the dump today. But scores of newsmen and onlookers maintained a vigil at the dump, waiting for the bulldozers to roll in.

Robert C. Stewart, a member of the U.S. Organized Crime Strike Force, said Thursday, "Within the past 24 hours the government has received information from an informant whose information has proved reliable in the past, which should enable the government to focus attention upon a more precise and limited area of the dump.

"The government has surveyed the area and has undertaken to obtain the equipment necessary to conduct the search," Stewart said in an affidavit used to obtain an extension of a search warrant granted last week. "The logistical problems are however, exceedingly formidable and additional time is needed to conduct the search."

The original search warrant was to expire today.

Sources said the informant who supplied the information was a convicted member of organized crime who may be trying to trade information about Hoffa in return for leniency in an unrelated case.

He is currently under protective custody by federal marshals, and federal officials have refused to make any public comment about him.

The warrant does not name Hoffa as the object of the search. It directs the FBI to find the body of a reputed loan shark named Armand "Cokey" Faugno, who disappeared three years ago after he was indicted on counterfeiting charges. However, sources said the informant provided information related to Hoffa's burial.

Officials theorized that solving the disappearance of Faugno could provide leads in the Hoffa case.

Federal sources said the witness may provide information, unrelated to Hoffa, that could be used to put pressure on three men under investigation by a grand jury in Detroit in the abduction of Hoffa.

The three, all from New Jersey, are Salvatore Briguglio, 47, of Paramus; his brother, Gabriel, 30, of Union City; and Thomas A. Andretta, 38, of Hasbrouck Heights. The three were named by a government informant as responsible for Hoffa's abduction-murder and a source has said one was picked out by a witness in a lineup.

Salvatore Briguglio and Andretta were indicted with Faugno in 1971 on charges they conspired to counterfeit $250,000 worth of postage stamps, food stamps and federal reserve notes. Briguglio and Andretta pleaded guilty to the charges.

Salvatore "Sam" Provenzano, now president of Teamsters local 560 in Union City, was indicted but later cleared in the same case.

The Briguglios and Andretta are all associates of Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano, brother of Salvatore, a power in the Teamsters union and an opponent of Hoffa's.

Meanwhile, in Detroit, Stephen Andretta was jailed Thursday for contempt of court for refusing to testify before a federal grand jury probing Hoffa's July 30 disappearance.

Andretta, of Little Ferry, N.J., the 40-year-old brother of Thomas, holds a $25,000-a-year job with Local 560.

Grants Amnesty For 10,000

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Jomo Kenyatta has announced an amnesty for 10,000 prisoners.

Kenyatta said Thursday in a two-paragraph statement carried by the government news agency that he was granting the amnesty to mark the country's 12th independence anniversary Friday.

He said he hoped those released "will join hands with law-abiding citizens" in building the nation.

Informed sources said about one-fourth of the felons convicted last year are affected. The amnesty does not include political prisoners, the sources added.

Charge Trio In Editor's Death

By TIM AHERN
Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police have charged three Philadelphia men with murder in the stabbing death of newspaper editor John S. Knight 3rd.

None has been arrested, Joseph Golden, chief of detectives, told a news conference Thursday night. "We don't know where they are," Golden said. Robbery was the motive for the crime, he said.

Golden said the FBI is being asked to join the case because of federal arrest warrants charging the three men with interstate flight to avoid prosecution.

Charged are Salvatore Soli, 38; Steven Maleno, 25; and Isais "Felix" Melendez, 20. Warrants signed by Municipal Court Judge Edward Quinn charged each man with murder, attempted murder, conspiracy, aggravated assault and three counts of robbery.

Knight, 30, was the special projects editor at the Philadelphia Daily News and grandson of John S. Knight, founder of the Knight newspaper empire.

He was stabbed to death Sunday morning at his luxury apartment in center city. It had been reported that Knight may have known one of the intruders and that one of the three men was a homosexual.

On Wednesday, Golden said Knight was bisexual and that homosexuals were being interviewed. He refused on Thursday to discuss any aspect of the private lives of the suspects. Golden said he did not want to prejudice any future criminal case.

Golden did not explain why he thought robbery was the motive. Police have said jewelry, silverware and a $4,000 wristwatch were taken, but about $300,000 worth of paintings and art work were left untouched.

Rosemary McKinnon, a house guest at Knight's apartment, was stabbed as she tried to escape down the elevator. Her husband, John, was not injured. Golden said it was the stabbing of Mrs. McKinnon which prompted the charges of attempted murder.

Golden refused to say how police obtained the names of the suspects, saying only "they were arrived at through intensive investigation."

Knight was a graduate of Harvard, where he roomed with McKinnon. He worked at the Detroit Free Press, a Knight-Ridder newspaper, before coming to Philadelphia last year.

He was buried Wednesday in Columbus, Ga., where his widowed mother lives. Knight's father, John Jr., was killed only days before Knight was born in 1945.

Police Hunt Ex-Imate

WILMINGTON (AP)—A 27-year-old Wilmington man who was released from North Carolina's death row is being sought in the kidnaping of a 13-year-old girl, authorities said.

Christopher L. Spicer was acquitted of a 1973 murder three months ago in a retrial. The new trial was ordered by the state Supreme Court after Spicer spent eight months on death row in Central Prison.

Officials said Spicer is now being sought in the abduction of a girl who told authorities she had been forced into a car in front of her home.

The girl told police Spicer and another man and a woman took her to Maxton where she was left in a room and guarded by the unidentified woman, police said. She told officers she escaped when the captors became high on drugs and hitchiked back to Wilmington.

Officers said Spicer is also wanted on 11 armed robbery and assault with a deadly weapon charges. Those grew out of a pool hall robbery where a man armed with a shotgun robbed those in the room.

Firemen Called To Two Blazes

Greenville firemen responded to two fires early today—one a gasoline fire at the Kwik Pik at 2010 East Tenth St. and the other a building fire at Auto-U-Fix-It on Ficklen Street.

Fire officers said the blaze at the Kwik Pic erupted after a gasoline tank truck collided with a gas pump at the station, about 1:50 a.m.

Police who investigated the incident, said a tractor-trailer hauling gasoline was parked at the fast service grocery, with the driver of the truck atop the tanker when an air line of the truck ruptured, releasing the breaks.

The rig rolled backward for 75 feet and collided with a gas pump. The impact tore the pump loose and an electrical spark caused from wires to the pump tearing loose caused an explosion of gas from the pump and a fire.

Investigators said an estimated $3,000 damage resulted to the tractor-trailer—which still carried some 1,500 gallons of gasoline—and about $1,500 damage was done to the gas pumps.

The driver of the truck, officers said jumped from the tank before the collision and escaped injury.

Employees of the store said flames leaped about 30 feet into the air.

Police, while on patrol about 5:25 a.m., smelled smoke and then discovered a fire at the auto shop.

Responding firemen reported heavy smoke damage resulted to the building.

The blaze was confined primarily to a storage room and officers said the fire may have been caused by a heating unit.

Your Perfume Should Please Sense Of Smell

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If actress-author Arlene Dahl ever finishes her "little brochure" for women on how to please a man's sense of smell, it should be a wow.

The idea is motivated by the rituals of Persian and French women.

"Persian women always have been interested in pleasing all five senses of their men, one reason why interest in fragrance is so strong in that part of the Middle East where they burn incense and color the bottoms of their feet, palms of their hands, lobes of their ears. In fact, the bottoms of their feet are considered one of the beautiful parts of the body. The men start kissing women at the feet and work up to the lobes of the ears," she says.

It is one reason she chose Teheran to introduce her new perfume. At the invitation of the Empress, the event will take place in the Royal Palace, she says.

As Miss Dahl sees it, American women are missing a lot by not using perfume to please a man's "sense of smell." Some do, but the way they apply it, it might as well be water, she says, and sometimes it is — toilet water — which really does nothing for women or for men. French women place perfume on parts of the body where they want to be kissed, she says.

In fact, a man should present the perfume, then he would choose what he likes, "a gift of love." A woman's nose may "turn off" after a few hours and she may not really know what the scent is doing for her.

"I have never met a woman who doesn't want to please the man in her life. Women's Lib has some good ideas, but my only argument with them is the way they present them. You don't need to throw away your lipstick and bra to prove something. You can attract an audience by sight and smell and then hold them with what goes on in your mind and heart, and perhaps what you feed them at the dinner table."

The fifth sense is the sense of touch. There may come a time when he will want to caress your face, she advises. She offers a good facial for those who would be prepared for that eventuality.

"Apply two beaten egg yolks to a clean face — but not around the eyes — with a little cotton. Lie down on a slant board for 15 minutes. (Feet up. Head down.) Then rinse off the egg and you will feel well-rested, ready for makeup and dinner."

Miss Dahl, 47, has smooth, creamy skin and a beautiful chin line, and willingly shares some of her facial exercises which she says she does while her skin "is having its breakfast" of moisturizing lotion.

A chin exercise she says she got from the "still beautiful" film actress Norma Shearer is this one: Press your thumbs under your chin bone, open your mouth pressing lower jaw against the thumbs, hold for the count of five.

She smooths her skin by applying moisturizing lotion to the back of her hands, gradually rolling her oiled hands from the chest up as she smooths and oils it.

Another double-chin foiler is this one: sleep on a baby pillow instead of a big pillow. The little pillow will support the back of your neck "but it won't leave parenthetical lines on your face."

Girlfriend Doesn't Like Courtesies

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am dating a girl who refers to herself as a "feminist." I consider myself a gentleman and not the least bit chauvinistic.

Here's my problem: Nancy objects to my doing things like opening doors for her, helping her with her coat and standing up when she enters the room.

These old-fashioned courtesies have become second nature to me, and I feel foolish when Nancy refuses to allow me to perform them.

This is the only thing that bothers me in our otherwise perfect relationship.

I hope you print this, because Nancy reads your column, and I want her to see it.

"S"

DEAR "S": All right, so assuming she sees it—that still doesn't solve your problem. Nancy says these old-fashioned courtesies have got to go, and you feel foolish capitulating. If you want your "otherwise perfect relationship" to get off the ground, either start treating Nancy like one of the boys or find a girl who doesn't regard the old-fashioned courtesies as chauvinistic.

DEAR ABBY: Cathy is my best friend. We are both 15. Cathy spends a lot of time at my house. When my father is home, he has the habit of kissing Cathy on the lips whenever she arrives and goes home. Do you consider this proper behavior for a 38-year-old man?

Also, my father is always trying to get Cathy to sit on his lap. Sometimes she does and sometimes she doesn't. I don't know if this is embarrassing to Cathy or not. As a daughter it doesn't bother me, but I sure wouldn't want Cathy's father kissing me on the lips or asking me to come sit on his lap.

What is your opinion?

DADDY'S DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: I think Cathy is a little too OLD to be kissed on the lips by your father. And your father is much too YOUNG to have a 15-year-old girl on his lap.

DEAR ABBY: Allen and I have been married for four years and have a darling baby girl who is nearly 3.

Allen is an excellent provider, and I am content to stay at home and be a full-time wife and mother.

My problem? I feel that woman was put on earth to serve her husband and bear children, but every time I mention having another baby, Allen explodes. He says, "One is enough and that is final!"

Abby, I've always wanted six children, but I'd settle for just one more. To me a large family means everything. I have literally begged him, but he refuses to hear of it. In fact, he says if I get pregnant, he will divorce me!

I went on the Pill after our first child was born, but I stopped three weeks ago. Allen doesn't know I stopped, and he'd hit the roof if he did.

If I do get pregnant, what is my next move? I hate being underhanded, but it was my last resort.

Please help me.

WANTS ANOTHER BABY

ECU Student Selected Finalist In Contest

Cynthia Lynn Yow of Seagrove, a freshman student at East Carolina University, is among the finalists in this year's Maid of Cotton contest.

Sponsored by the cotton industry, the competition involves young women from cotton-producing states and is designed to select an annual good will representative for the production of cotton goods. The winner receives a $1,500 scholarship and a wardrobe of cotton clothing.

As one of 20 finalists, Miss Yow will receive expenses and air travel for two to the Maid of Cotton contest in Memphis, Tenn. Dec. 29-30.

Lynne is the daughter of Shirley James Yow of Seagrove and a graduate of Southwestern Randolph Senior High School, Asheboro, where she was active in student government, Beta Club activities and athletics. She represented her school at the Governor's Youth Meeting and for two years was the school's delegate to the Mars Hill Leadership College.

She was also the recipient of numerous awards from civic organizations awards from civic Rotary Club and the Kiwanis Club and was an active participant in 4-H Club projects on the loca, state and national levels, and held several offices in her church.

In 1974 she was selected by the Northern Piedmont Area Development Association as the region's "Outstanding Youth."

At ECU, Miss Yow is a member of the Young Democrats and the Student Volunteer Association and currently serves as clerk to the campus Student Legislature.

Last summer she worked in the Washington, D. C. office of noted consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

N.C. Branch President Was Local Guest

The Patient Circle of the Kings Daughters had its December meeting at the home of Mrs. Luther Moore Tuesday night.

Effective January, 1976, the meetings will be on the second Wednesday afternoon of each month at three o'clock.

Several patients at the Greenville Nursing Home and some needy families will be remembered at Christmas time.

Miss Eunice McGee gave a Christmas program, which she ended with a poem.

Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell introduced the president of the North Carolina Branch of the Patient Circle of the Kings Daughters, Mrs. Sherill High of Durham, who talked briefly on the work and progress of the organization.

She stated that as of Jan. 13, 1976, the Order will celebrate its 90th birthday, and it is hoped that the week of Jan. 12-19 will be proclaimed Kings Daughters and Sons Week.

The January program will be on "Founder's Day." She showed several photographs taken at the state convention held in Southport this year, and stated that the state convention will be in Greenville in 1976.

The general convention will be held May 3-7 at Motel Sonesta, Hartford, Conn. At the end of her talk Mrs. High held installation of officers for the ensuing year, and ended with a prayer.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. L. L. Rives and Miss Mary Wells.

Mrs. Polly Dail, president, presided at the meeting.

Beta Sigma Phi Chapter Meets

The Eta Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi had a meeting Tuesday at the home of Carolyn Powell. The chapter had a special guest, Leslie Ford, to present a program entitled "Women in Art."

She showed slides depicting the way art has expressed the woman through the ages.

During the meeting, the members discussed future social events and ways and means functions. The members decided to sponsor a garage sale in the spring.

After the meeting, pledge rituals were held for Jackie Brown, Jackie Gehrlein, Sally Howard, Fran Fostar, Anne Stroud, Gwen Sullivan and Pat Thigpen.

The Ritual of Affirmation was also performed for Beth Morin and Jan Staleny. The sisters exchanged Christmas gifts and had refreshments.

Author Has Favorite Recipe

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

"Cooking is like writing poetry. You add a little of this and a little of that, you put in a word or take one out, and then — if you are lucky — you have something good to eat or a good poem," P. L. Travers said. She was discussing her latest book, "Mary Poppins in the Kitchen: A Cookery Book with a Story" (Harcourt Brace Jovanovich).

It's not surprising that P. L. Travers should couple cookery and poetry. Long before she wrote "Mary Poppins," she was known as a gifted poet. Pamela Lyndon Travers was born, of an Irish father and a mother of Scottish and Irish descent, in Australia but spent only her young years there. After that she lived in England; in recent years she has divided her time between that country and the U.S.A.

It was while living in England, recovering from an illness, that she began to write "Mary Poppins," the book that has enchanted young and old readers all over the world. "Mary Poppins in the Kitchen," for which Maurice Moore-Betty was the Culinary Consultant, tells the further adventures of that classic figure, her friends and relatives and the children she looks after.

When asked to name her favorite recipe in "Mary Poppins in the Kitchen," Miss Travers said, "Ceiling Cake." Apart from the delightful association of its name with Mary Poppins's Uncle Wigg who could hang (or sit) in the air, that cake is worth making because it has delicious milk-chocolate flavor.

CEILING CAKE

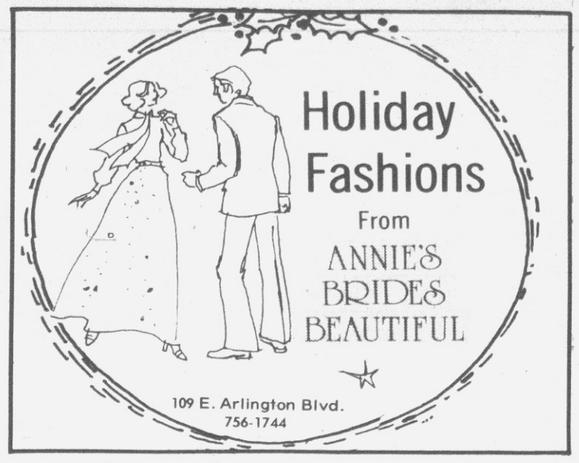

1 large egg, separated
2 squares semi-sweet chocolate
¼ cup (2 ounces) butter
¾ cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon vanilla extract
¾ cup milk
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour (sift first and then measure)
Round cake tin, about 9 by 2 inches

Set the oven at 375 degrees. Butter and flour the cake tin. Shake out the excess flour. Separate the egg yolk from the white. Melt the chocolate in a small bowl standing in hot water. Cream the butter — beat it till light and creamy. Add the sugar gradually and continue beating. Add the egg yolk and beat even harder. Mary Poppins makes us take turns when we make cakes. Stir in the melted chocolate. Stir vanilla into the milk. Add the baking powder and salt to the flour. Add some flour to the chocolate mixture and then stir in some milk, a little more flour, and then some more milk till both have been used up. Beat very thoroughly. Beat the egg white till stiff and fold gently into the batter. Pour into prepared pan. Bake for 30 minutes.

Can See Only Good Resulting

UNC at Chapel Hill, N.C. State University and Duke University Wednesday announced that a center for joint research will be built at the Research Triangle Park.

Dr. John Caldwell, former N.C. State Chancellor will be president of the corporation, and he announced that state industries and foundations have pledged approximately $2.5 million to start the center. The center's purpose will be to stimulate study and research involving the three universities.

Caldwell said it is hoped that the National Humanities Center sponsored by the American Academy of Arts and Sciences will be attracted to the Research Triangle because of the development. Other projects that may be considered include programs in international affairs, East Asian studies and technology applications and implications to society.

Caldwell called the project a "logical and future-oriented extension to the pattern of cooperative programs already opening in the Research Triangle area."

We can see nothing but good coming from this joint effort by the three great universities in the Research Triangle Park area. That was, after all, why the park was established—to draw on the vast resources of the area universities.

We think also that cooperative efforts by the three universities can set a pattern of cooperation between all the states institutions of higher learning that can be most beneficial to our state.

We have come through a period of keen rivalry between the state's higher learning institutions. Out of it, however, was born the University of North Carolina System, which includes all the state universities. The state is also making grants to the private colleges. All of this can be drawn together in cooperatives ventures that could help us get the most out of our higher education system.

This Chapel Hill-N.C. State-Duke venture can be a major step in the direction of higher education cooperation.

Most Differences Can Be Talked Out

We are pleased to see that the threat of a business boycott has been terminated by the ECU Student Government Association.

The SGA voted not to give final approval to the boycott at the recommendation of Tim Sullivan, chairman of a committee to investigate the Halloween night downtown troubles.

Sullivan reported that the Greenville city manager had been cooperative with the committee, and charges were dismissed in court against many who were arrested on Halloween night.

We never felt that boycott was the best way to proceed, and it shows us that most differences can be talked out by the interested parties.

China Intends Sell Oil

By BARRY SCHLACHTER
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — China may be ready to start exporting more of its oil to finance industrial development at home, Japanese and Western petroleum experts here say.

The Chinese haven't given out any figures on their oil wealth but some foreign estimates have put their reserves at around 70 billion barrels. Others put the potential even higher than that, when possible offshore deposits are considered. Saudi Arabia, the world's largest oil nation, says its reserves are at least 164.5 billion barrels.

A clearer picture of China's intentions is expected when Peking signs its first long-term oil agreement with Japan, possibly next spring. The Japanese want to diversify their sources of oil, which they now get chiefly from the Middle East.

But the experts say a number of obstacles stand in the way of China's admission into the circle of major oil exporting countries.

Chinese oil, heavier than Arabian oil and higher in wax content, costs more to refine. Chinese ports still can handle tankers only one-sixth the size of supertankers, making transport costs relatively more expensive.

However, many Western countries like the United States, France and Australia, for a variety of reasons, have shown interest in purchasing Chinese oil.

China's reasons for exporting oil are seen as political as well as economic, although Peking has operated quite unlike members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) since it began selling oil in 1973.

"I don't see China using oil as a weapon like OPEC — threatening to cut it off," said a Western diplomat here. "This is not Chinese behavior."

Community Colleges Eyed

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — North Carolina's community colleges and technical institutes are undergoing the heaviest scrutiny of their history.

Now added onto other probes already underway is a panel to be appointed by State Board of Education Chairman Dallas Herring. That study was authorized by the Board of Education after a Research Triangle Institute study of future development needs for the system.

It comes at a time when one legislative study commission is looking at the administrative structure of the Community College System; another legislative study commission is looking at all state law on public education with an eye to restructuring the system; the Legislative Services Commission has asked staff representatives to take a look at programs and problems in community colleges; and the state auditor's office has been running a regular series of audits on individual campus operations.

Numerous Ills

From the complexity of activity, there is no clearcut definition of problems which cut across the Community College System, even though numerous isolated and individual ills have been singled out.

At the top, there is much debate about conflicts in a system which operates under supervision of the same board which oversees public schools, while the administration setup is under an appointed official; the public school administrator is elected statewide.

Rather widely reported are conflicts of programs and use of facilities between public school vocational education people and those in community colleges or technical institutes; some signs of jealousy and competition between high school principals and community college or technical institute people over which students belong to them; and some backlash regarding a number of "Hobby" courses offered by the community college system.

Individually, surveys and audits have uncovered several examples of enrollment padding, obviously done to increase budget allocations, and misuse of travel allowance money — both isolated to individual campuses. An audit also raised questions about state funds spent for job-training courses in private plants without strict regulation on numbers of time students would take the course.

Much Is Right

On balance, most sources report a great deal of pride and satisfaction with the Community College system, supported by the rapid enrollment growth across the state, and by the readiness of local governments and citizens to support their institutions.

In all of the study and questioning activity, there is no hint of animosity toward the system; no indication that severe change might be in the offing which would do harm to the system.

Rather, talks with a wide cross-section of people involved in the various activities proves an intent to seek to iron out problems and improve the system.

Those close to the situation realize, however, that the numerous studies now underway on the one state agency are certain to produce a host of conflicting recommendations and confusing reports about conditions.

The action by the State Board of Education in establishing a study commission of its own is seen by some as being an effor to upstage the other activities, and produce recommendations more nearly in line with current thinking of board members and Chairman Herring.

The Research Triangle Institute study projects a doubling of Community College System enrollments in the next five years, and the need for funds, facilities, and programs to handle the estimated one million-plus, students, and that will demand a great deal of study.

'Golden Age Of Flying'

WASHINGTON — Airline stewardnesses have been complaining lately that they are not treated with enough respect by pilots and passengers. That may be so, but they're lucky they weren't working in the '30s. The Assn. of Flight Attendants has provided me with some of the rules that airline stewardnesses had to obey in the early days of flying.

As you can see from the rules the '30s were known by everyone except the stewardnesses as the "golden of age flying."

"Remeber at all times when on duty to maintain the respectful reserve of a well-trained servant. A ready smile is essential, but never permit yourself the intimate attitude of a 'traveling companion.'"

"Punch each ticket at each point passed." (Some flights involved up to 13 stops.)

"Tag all passangers baggage and check it on board."

"Remember to carry on board picnic baskets containing cold fried chicken, applies, rolls, cake and vacuum flasks with hot coffee for passenger meals."

"Captains and pilots will be treated with strict formality while in uniform, and a rigid military salute will be rendered the captain and the pilot as they go aboard and deplane. Check with the captain and pilot regarding their personal luggage and place it aboard promptly."

"Wind the clocks and altimeters in the cabins."

"Keep the cabin windowsills dusted and use a small broom on the floor before every flight."

"Check the floor bolts on the wicker came seats in the Ford Tri-Motors to make sure they are securely fastened before each flight."

"A propeller in motion can be fatal to anyone who walks into it."

"Swat flies in the cabin after takeoff."

"Warn passengers against throwing lighted cigar butts out the windows particularly over populated areas."

"Face the rear of the plane when talking to passengers or serving lunch. Bending while facing toward the front of the plane tends to place the seat of your pants in the next passenger's face."

"Carry a railroad timetable just in case the plane is grounded somewhere."

"When slippers are available on long night flights, you will advise persons desiring to sleep as follows, "I have slippers available, sir, if you would care to remove your shoes and rest your feet.'"

"Assist the passenger to remove his shoes, if he so desires, and clean the shoes thoroughly before returning them to him."

Now that, girls, I submit, was how to run a airline.

Everyone has his own favorite airline story from years gone by. My favorite took place in the late Forties when I was flying from Belgrade to Zagreb in Yugoslavia. We were sitting on a DC-3 when one pilot got on board. There was no stewardness. The plane took off and in a half-hour the one pilot of the plane came back to the cabin and started serving coffee and candy sourballs.

We all gasped when we saw him walk out of the cockpit. The pilot grinned and said, "What the matter? You people have never heard of automatic pilot?"

Paul Newman likes to tell the story of when he was with the Actor's Lab in Hollywood and they had an exercise. The problem the actors were told was that it was World War II, and the last plane to leave the

Other Editors Say Ho-Hum To Ethics

(The Raleigh Times)

The Legislative Ethics Commission in effect said "Ho-hum, who cares" when it voted Thursday to exempt current legislators from filing reports on where they get their money and how much until next spring.

In fact, one commission member did say almost exactly that. "It's not going to make any difference . . . and it's going to be a whole lot of work," Mecklenburg Rep. Roy Spoon (R) said before he moved to delay the new ethics law's effective date until May, when all who seek election or re-election to the 1977 General Assembly will have to file.

One possible interpretation of this attitude would be that legislators are probably going to find loopholes in the law regardless of whether and when they file formal income and finance reports. We hope that is not the right interpretation.

But in a year when headlines are dominated by reports of wholesale dollar-distribution by coporations to both executive and legislative politicians, it would seem that the commission charged with enforcement of the new ethics law would apply it as soon as possible to all incumbents, if for no other reason than to indicate good faith to the public.

On hearing the commission's decision, Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt, who is running for governor, said the General Assembly when it passed the ethics law had intended it be implemented right away and urged legislators to comply anyway, noting he plans to do so.

Other legislators who want to be reelected and are aware of the public's current fed-upness with elected officials as shown in poll after poll would do well to follow the Hunt lead and send in finance reports in January—even if it is a lot of work.

40 Years Ago Today

December 12, 1935

North Carolina tobacco growers were paid over $103 million for the nearly 500 million pounds of weed they sold up to December 1 this year.

Wilson led all markets in season's sales up to this month and Greenville was second. Wilson averaged $21.10 per hundred pounds, with Greenville just under $20 at $19.97.

The Greenville tobacco market will close tomorrow afternoon after a season generally conceded to have been a successful one. The average should end up at over 21 cents per pound.

At the meeting of the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges last week in Louisville, Supt. Junius H. Rose of the Greenville City Schools was elected to membership on the accrediting committee for the state of North Carolina.

The GALLUP POLL

Ford Popularity Slipping

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N.J.—In a survey conducted following his cabinet shakeup but prior to his recent trip to China, President Ford's popularity rating slipped to 41 per cent approval, the lowest point since May.

Those who approved of his job performance in the survey were outweighed by those who disapproved (46 per cent). In the previous (early November) survey, equal proportions (44 per cent) approved and disapproved.

The President's current rating is only four points above his low point since taking office—37 per cent, recorded in April and January of the current year.

Following is the question asked to determine presidential popularity since Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidency:

"Do you approve or disapprove of the way (name of incumbent) is handling his job as President?"

Here is the trend since May:

Ford Popularity

	Approve	Disapprove	No Opinion
Nov. 21-24	41 %	46 %	13 %
Nov. 1-3	44	44	12
Oct. 17-20	47	40	13
Oct. 3-6	47	37	16
Sept. 5-8, 12-15	47	36	17
Aug. 15-18	46	37	17
Aug. 1-4	45	37	18
June 27-30	52	33	15
May 30-June 2	51	33	16
May 2-5	40	43	17

Ford Popularity
(Per cent who approve)

CURRENT	41 %
Average in current year	43
Average since taking office	46
High while in office (recorded August 1974)	71
Low while in office (recorded January, April 1975)	37

Other Presidents

	High	Low	Average
Nixon	68 %	24 %	48 %
Johnson	80	35	54
Kennedy	83	57	70
Eisenhower	79	49	66
Truman	87	23	46
Roosevelt	84	54	68

The latest results reported today are bawed on 1,507 adults, 18 and older, interviewed in person in more than 300 scientifically selected localities across the nation during the period Nov. 21-24.

RETURN FORBIDDEN

One frequently finds on narrow, one-way roads in Germany signs carrying the words, "Ruckgang verboten" — return forbidden.

This sign is also along many of the pathways of our lives. We may think we can go back into yesterday, but we cannot. We may wish that we had done certain things that could have averted unhappiness and disappointment, but we cannot go back and undo what we have done on some distant day.

Jesus said that when men chose his way of life, they made a tragic mistake if they turned back into the ways of the world. "Whosoever putteth his hand to the plow and looketh back is not fit for the kingdom." For those who would seek the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, a kindly heavenly father has placed along the pathway this warning — Return forbidden.

Hoping For A Quality Society

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "In the past century we built America into history's richest society," said the speaker. "In the next century, we will build in America history's quality society."

The speaker was not the first to articulate what many people now believe and hope will be the underlying theme of the country's third century, the translation of material riches into a better life for people.

Irving S. Shapiro, nevertheless, is perhaps the corporate executive who has most clearly presented the theme in terms of the challenge to business. He is chairman of E.I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.

In an address to the N.Y. Board of Trade a few days ago, Shapiro spoke remarkably clearly about topics on which businessmen often are accused of substituting rhetoric for sincerity, and trying to cover their failures with criticism.

"A lot of good, a lot of sound progress," he said, is going to emerge from our present confrontation with economic realities, the realization that some of our institutions are failing, that energy costs are rising, that inflation is likely to be persistent, that population growth is slowing.

Forced to recognize that the past cannot be the sole model for the future, Americans will use their talents, their dedication, their spirit, their creativity to meet the new challenges, he said.

And what are they? He listed these, among others:

—"We must complete the substantial progress made in our effort toward complete racial and sexual equality of opportunity, so that all individuals can be judged and advanced on the merits of capabilities alone.

—"Industry and communities and individuals must effectively control pollution, where so much tangible progress has already been made.

—"With a more selective investment program, geared to new market demands as well as to capital restraints, we should strive to bring more stability to the economic cycle, moderating the violent gyrations that bring personal hardship to many innocent victims....

—"We must recognize the continuing revolution in consumer expectations, and respond with products of durability, utility and value, fully tested for safety and performance by manufacturers of integrity.

—"Business must get its ethical house in order.... Shoddy ethical and moral performances by a small number of businessmen have tarred all business people."

In seeking such quality goals, "in adjusting to new economic realities," said Shapiro, "I see four specific areas in which business and industry can proftably work to ease our transition to new objectives."

1. "We employers must intensify our sensitivity to the aspirations and personal goals of our people, whose attitudes can help or hamper our economic evolution."

2. Business must develop a more effective content in communicating with the public, the news media and public officials, in order to "moderate misconceptions and overexpectations that plague us."

3. A better working relationship must be built between law and science, "in order to smooth the way for sound technological answers to the new public concerns that are pressing in on industry's future.

4. "We need to sit down with government and on the merits — contributing our best objective exercise — help devise sound programs that will meet the goal of providing better protection for the American public."

BICYCLE SALE—Thirty eight bicycles were sold at public auction yesterday and the $946 received will go to the school fund. The bicycles sold were recovered by police over the past year. They had either been stolen and recovered by officers, or found by lawmen abandoned. Their proper owners could not be determined because the bicycles had not been licensed as required by the Greenville City Code. Each year the department sells at auction bicycles that for one reason or another, have not been claimed by their rightful owners. Chief Glenn Cannon said that if bicycle riders would have their bicycles registered they would stand a better chance of having their bicycles returned to them if lost or stolen. Two Views Of Coma Victims

From California

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — "We're not monsters. We loved our little boy, but we did what we thought was right."

So says Jennie Turney, who sought a new life for her family thousands of miles from the hospital where her first-born son lay unconscious in a coma for nine years.

Timothy Turney, who suffered severe brain damage when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver on his way to kindergarten in January 1967, died Sunday at age 14 without ever regaining consciousness.

At the time of Timothy's death, his legal guardian was listed as the Alameda County welfare department, and the coroner's office said it was unable to locate his parents.

But the Turneys returned this week from their new home in Fairbanks, Alaska, to arrange funeral services for the son they left behind seven years ago.

"The first two years were hell," Mrs. Turney said Thursday. "My husband Ted and I both came close to a breakdown. That's the reason we pulled out and moved to Alaska. We had practically neglected the other children."

She said the strain showed especially on the second-oldest boy, Jeff, who started "doing really bad in school."

"Some people thought we were monsters for leaving our little boy, but we loved him and he was always in our prayers," she said.

The Turneys made several trips to Fairmont Hospital in Oakland after moving to Alaska, where Turney works on the Alaska Pipeline at Prudhoe Bay. He works nine weeks straight and then gets two off.

Mrs. Turney said her other three sons, the youngest of whom is 6, "are all doing fine now."

Doctors said Timothy's vital organs continued to function while he stayed in the coma, breathing without aid of a respirator. He barely grew, and at death was 55 inches tall and weighed only 45 pounds.

From France

LONS LE SAUNIER, France (AP) — Walking home from a dance 20 years ago tonight, 19-year-old Paul Balay and two friends were run down by a car. One friend died and Balay suffered head injuries that put him into a coma from which he has never emerged.

For 16 of those 20 years, his mother has cared for him at home in this little town in eastern France.

"I will look after him all my life if necessary," said 63-year-old Marie Balay. "God put us on this earth, and He will take us back when He so desires."

She says she doesn't agree at all with the parents of Karen Ann Quinlan, "but of course everyone is free to think what they wish."

Miss Quinlan, 21, has been in a coma for eight months in a Denville, N.J., hospital. A judge last month rejected an appeal by her parents that life-support equipment be disconnected.

Mrs. Balay still refuses to leave her son's side, although she said, "After the operation, doctors told me that his central nervous system had been too badly damaged to ever expect him to recover."

She has made several pilgrimages to Lourdes to pray for a miraculous recovery, which she admits is the only hope for a change in her son's vegetable-like existence.

Balay was in a hospital for four years after the accident. His father had died two years before the accident. His widowed mother decided he was "getting practically no care" and that the hospital charges were too high. She brought her son home.

"I had no medical training, but it's not difficult to look after Paul," she said. "He had a tracheotomy, and I have a respirator for him, and he gets food through a nasal tube. It really does not require very much work, but of course I can't ever leave him for very long, a few hours at most, but I sometimes have a nurse or someone to spell me for a while."

Social security pays most of the cost of keeping Balay alive, and Mrs. Balay still receives small insurance payments from the accident judgment. Her livelihood is the income from a small shop.

She said her religion helps her cope with the emotional strain.

"I am a Catholic, a practicing Catholic, and I have very great faith," she declared.

The future is in God's hands, she added, but "as long as I live, I will look after Paul."

persuade Japan not to invest in Soviet oilfield development. It also has sold refined petroleum products at terms favorable to Thailand and the Philippines to sweeten the proposition of establishing diplomatic relations.

Romania, which China has courted, could be the first European market for Chinese oil with the recent purchase of 3.5 million barrels of crude, Petroleum Intelligence Weekly has reported.

Some Western observers predict the Chinese will be exporting as much as 700 million barrels a year by 1980, but others say more realistic estimates would be about half that.

The Japanese experience in the past 2½ years it has purchased Chinese oil indicates there are some serious shortcomings which may limit foreign sales.

The high cost of refining due to heavy weight and high wax content and inadequate port facilities are chief among Japanese complaints.

Japan today is China's top customer for oil, contracting for 40.6 million barrels this year, up from 28 million barrels bought in 1974, according to Japan's External Trade Organization (JETRO). JETRO estimated the Chinese will have exported a total of 70 million barrels in 1975.

Toshio Komoto, Japan's minister of international trade and industry, recently returned from talks in Peking expressing confidence that China's present $12.30 a barrel price to Japan will drop during negotiations for what reportedly will be a five-year agreement. The Japanese now pay $11.48 a barrel for Middle East oil.

Philippines was just about to take off. The fledgling actors and actresses were told to persuade the guards at the bottom of the steps that they had to get on the overloaded plane.

Each student made a passionate plea—one said she was pregnant, another that he had to report to the President, a third that he was needed by the Army. All their pleas failed. Finally, one student actor ran up to the guards and screamed "I have to get on the plane! I just have to get on the plane!"

"Why?" asked the guard.

"I'm the pilot!"

Five Accidents Here Thursday

An estimated $6,250 property damage resulted yesterday from a series of five collisions investigated by Greenville Police.

Heaviest damage, according to officers, resulted from a collision involving cars driven by Alyce Bert Seaton of 117 Fletcher Dorm and Sheila Renal Godette of 706 Bancroft Ave.

Investigators, who reported the cars collided about 8:30 a.m. at the intersection of Farmville Boulevard and Line Avenue, estimated damage at $3,100 to the Seaton car and $1,000 to the Godette auto.

Miss Seaton was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign.

Queenie Smith Patterson of Route 2, Ayden was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 1:05 p.m. collision on Greenville Boulevard 250 feet West of the Arlington Boulevard intersection.

Officers said the Patterson car collided with an auto driven by Thomas Davis Loman Jr. of Village Green Apartments. Damage was estimated at $600 to the Loman car and $300 to the Patterson auto.

Levi Gardner Jr. of Route 2, Ayden, was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 7:30 a.m. collision at the intersection of Tenth and Charles Streets.

Police said the Gardner car collided with an auto driven by Bobby Rodney Lassister of 2812 Crockett Dr., resulting in $300 damage to the Gardner car and $100 damage to the Lassiter car.

No charges were placed following investigation of a 10:24 p.m. collision at the intersection of Charles and 14th Streets.

Cars driven by Jane Lampe of Millersville, Md., and John Anson Brock Jr. of Cary were involved in the collision which resulted in an estimated $400 damage to the Lampe auto and $50 damage to the Brock vehicle.

Cars operated by JoAnn Godwin Sutton of Route 2, Grifton and Georgiana Lawson Patrick of Winterville were involved in a 4:37 p.m. mishap on Memorial Drive, 10 feet South of the Trade Street intersection, investigators reported.

Police, who made no charges, estimated damage at $300 to the Sutton car and $100 to the Patrick vehicle.

Purse-Snatching Is Investigated

Police are investigating the snatching of a purse at Pitt Plaza yesterday.

Chief Glenn Cannon said Joyce Wells Purvis of 1916A South Pitt St. reported she was approached from behind by two men who grabbed her purse and fled.

The purse, valued at $10, contained $20 in cash and $128 in food stamps, Mrs. Purvis reported.

Eighth Graders To Present Play

The eighth grade students of Grifton School will present a play titled "Finders Creepers" at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 18 at the Grifton School auditorium.

Tickets are $1 for adults and high school students, and 50 cents for elementary school students. They may be purchased at the door.

The play features two boys who visit their uncle, unaware that he has recently become a mortician. They meet two girls who aid them in trying to solve a supposed murder, with hilarious results.

New Mayor Is Elected

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Moscone says one of his first priorities as mayor of San Francisco will be to prove to skeptics that he is not an irresponsible big spender.

Moscone, a liberal state senator, scored a narrow victory Thursday over conservative county supervisor John Barbagelata to succeed Joseph Alioto next Jan. 8.

The 46-year-old Moscone led Barbagelata by 13 percentage points in the 11-way primary for mayor last month. But his margin in the nonpartisan runoff was a slim 2.1 per cent.

With 941 of the city's 942 precincts counted in unofficial returns, Moscone had 101,417 votes to 97,138 for Barbagelata.

Alioto, who did not endorse either candidate, sent Moscone a telegram shortly before midnight reading, "Bravo, George, Bravo."

"I and my staff are ready to assist you in any manner you desire in the transition of administrations," Alioto said.

Moscone said in a pre-election interview he will combine a liberal political philosophy with tight spending controls.

"Somehow people get the idea that if you are characterized as liberal, that you are unconcerned about people's pocketbooks. That's not terribly correct," he said.

Moscone, the Democratic floor leader in the state Senate for the past nine years, built a reputation as a liberal in Sacramento. Barbagelata tagged him as a big spender and "conductor of the gravy train."

Patty's Defense To Be Fear Of Death

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst gave prosecutors a lock of her hair and samples of her handwriting after her attorneys revealed her defense against bank robbery charges would be "fear of death."

Before she was returned to her San Mateo County Jail cell after a federal court hearing Friday, Miss Hearst spent 3½ hours giving the government samples of her handwriting.

She also let them pluck strands of her chestnut brown hair, presumably for comparison with hair found on items of evidence.

The handwriting samples could be compared with written memoirs found in the apartment where Miss Hearst was arrested Sept. 18. The "narratives and chronicles" record events from the kidnaping of the newspaper heiress on Feb. 4, 1974, through the robbery of the Hibernia bank on April 15, 1974.

Authorities have said they do not know who wrote the documents.

The government dropped a request for a sample of Miss Hearst's voice for comparison with tape recordings sent after the bank robbery. The defense apparently will concede she made the recordings.

The key question confronting jurors at the trial set to begin Jan. 26 will be whether she was forced to participate in the robbery six weeks after she was kidnaped by the Symbionese Liberation Army.

F. Lee Bailey, chief defense lawyer, told U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter that "fear of death" would be Miss Hearst's prime defense.

"We'll have a simple defense — somebody put a gun at my head and I did what they told me," said Bailey.

The judge told U.S. Atty. James L. Browning he understood Bailey "will not take a position that (her defense) is insanity or diminished capacity. What he is saying is there is a mental condition that goes to the defendant's ability to commit the crime."

The defense strategy falls within federal guidelines on a defense called "coercion." The federal code says, "In order to provide a legal excuse for any criminal conduct, the compulsion must be present and immediate and of such a nature to induce a well-founded fear of impending death and serious bodily injury."

It also requires "there must be no reasonable opportunity to escape the compulsion without committing the crime or participating in the commission of the crime."

Miss Hearst, in her first court appearance in a month, smiled as she spotted her family seated in the front row. She was pale and thin but modishly attired in a deep blue velvet blazer, light blue slacks and white turtleneck sweater.

She sat quietly, sometimes whispering to attorney Albert Johnson as Bailey and the judge discussed her mental condition, which Bailey called "a changing phenomenon and improving."

Hanging Of The Greens Service Slated Sunday

Ropes of fresh garlands and wreathes will decorate Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church in a special "hanging of the greens" service Sunday at 5 p.m.

The service is free and open to the public, and will include a 100-voice procession singing carols followed by 17 youths carrying an abundance of cedar roped garlands and handmade cedar and boxwood wreathes.

The program will also feature well-known selections sung by five choirs and three soloists in a contato. Mrs. Patti Hiss, contralto; George Kirch, bass; and Steve Koch, tenor. Director of the music is Dr. David Foster.

At the altar, a tree will be decorated with styrofoam Chrismons (Christian symbols) covered with gold sequins and with white lights. Taking part in the decorating of the tree will be Dr. and Mrs. Jasper L. Lewis Jr. and Dr. and Mrs. A. Dan Warren.

A scripture reading and an explanation of the greens will be conducted by the Rev. James H. Bailey, pastor of Jarvis, while the Chrismons will be explained by the Rev. John Farmer, associate pastor.

Playing a leading role in the designing of the greenery have been Dr. and Mrs. Tom Patterson. The greenery will be hung at the altar and across a 75-foot area of the sanctuary.

Taking part in the "hanging of the greens" will be Bill Barrett, Donna Blackwell, Tina Brewer, David Burks, Ron Butler, Robert Capwell, Ricky Capwell, Jill Cherry, Joe Goodson, Ted King, Julie Moore, Herb Ormond, Mack Stocks, Tom Proctor, Howard Wilkerson, George Wilkerson and Garrett Young.

Two special selections of the program will be "The Holly and the Ivy" and "How Far Is It To Bethlehem" sung by the Chancel Choir.

The Cherub and Crusader Choirs will perform "Mary Had a Baby," a traditional American selection, and "Jesus, Jesus, Rest Your Head," an Appalachian carol.

Sleeth's "Noel! Noel! A Boy is Born," and Simeone's "The Little Drummer Boy" will be sung by the Wesley Choir. Two numbers by the Youth Choir will include "Once in Royal David's City," and "Rise Up Shepherds and Follow."

Prior to the combined choirs singing "Silent Night," the Chancel Choir will perform a Cantato, "For Us A Child is Born" by J. S. Bach. They will be accompanied at the organ by Mickey Terry.

Members of Jarvis Church have been designing the garlands and wreaths in workshops this week. The Chrismons were handmade last Sunday night during a Christmas festival dinner.

'Love Feast' On Sunday Evening

The annual Christmas Love Feast will be observed Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. at Saint James United Methodist Church, located at 2000 Sixth Street.

The service has become a tradition at St. James, having been observed each year since 1953, one year following the organization of the church.

The Love Feast (Agape Meal) is an ancient Christian rite. In the early church, it was probably a mean provided by the Christian fellowship for charity to the poor and widows. After the Protestant Reformation, the custom was revived by the Moravian Church in Europe. It was first observed on American soil by Moravian colonists in 1753. John Wesley, founder of the fellowship called Methodist, incorporated it into the worship life of the Methodist Church.

St. James has combined several elements including scripture reading and Christmas is a share of bread and water as a symbolic reminder of Jesus, and the lighting of the candles.

Sheila Marlowe, music director, will lead the Chancel Choir, Dale Tucker the Youth Choir, Linda Davis the Chapel Choir, and Charlene Holloway the Cherub Choir in the special Christmas music. Nursery service will be provided.

The pastors, Rod Randolph and James Lee, and the members of St. James Church invite the Greenville community.

Holding Talent Show At Church

SIMPSON — A talent program will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Simpson Chapel Church. Various groups will participate.

The members of the church will celebrate their pastor's birthday Saturday at 6 p.m. The pastor is the Rev. Matthew Best.

The guest speaker will be the Rev. A. L. Miller of Woodstock FWB Church. Other guests include the Pugh Sisters, Shirley and the Eight Specialists. Dinner will be served following the service.

First Sermon As New Pastor

The Rev. Jack Paramore will preach his first sermon as pastor of Trinity Free Will Baptist Church here Sunday.

A native of this area, Paramore has been Director of Development at the Free Will Baptist Bible College in Nashville and has been an evangelist preaching in more than 1,500 churches in the past 20 years.

The congregation of Trinity invites the public to come and hear the new pastor.

Bicyclist Dies

A 43-year-old bicycle rider died in Pitt Memorial Hospital late yesterday afternoon from injuries received earlier in a collision with a truck.

Police identified the victims as Richard E. Thomas of 612 Pitt St.

Officers said Thomas died about 5:15 p.m. of head injuries received when the bicycle he was riding collided with a truck about 3:39 p.m. on Third Street, 14 feet West of the Nash Street intersection.

Driver of the vehicle was listed as Chester Rogers of Route 4, Greenville.

Police, who made no charges, said Thomas apparently failed to stop for a stop sign at the intersection and ran into the path of the Rogers truck.

Dog-Poisoning Reports Heard

Reports of dog poisoning in the Cedar Lane area have been received by the Humane Society, according to Society member, Evelyn Beasley.

Ms. Beasley said a strychnine-type poison was found to be the lethal agent in one fatal case that was seen by a veterinarian. Dog owners are urged to keep personal control of their animals at all times.

Dog poisoners are subject to arrest and prosecution under both state and local laws.

Plan Christmas Party Sunday

The annual Christmas party for members of the Pitt County Historical Society will be held Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Wesley Harvey, 1021 E. Wright Rd.

Assisting Mrs. Harvey will be Mrs. Dink James, chairman of the Refreshment Committee, and Mrs. Mae Joyner Gates, Mrs. Frederick Sorenson and Mrs. James E. Phelps. Various members of the society will provide an assortment of home-made Christmas party foods for the occasion.

Mrs. Harvey's home will be decorated with local evergreens and lighted candles for this traditional observance of Christmas.

Coffee-Drinking In U.S. Down

NEW YORK (UPI) — Coffee drinking in the United States last year was down from the year before, continuing a decline that started in 1962, according to the National Coffee Association. The association says per capita consumption came to 13.1 pounds of green coffee beans, down from 13.6 pounds in 1973.

He was a retired editor and a wise one. But he was a realist — as a newspaperman must be. One of his sayings became legendary in that busy pressroom:

When the front page makes you happy — it's been a great day!

I'm one who has noticed that the great days seem farther apart. Nor can I blame on my ulcer the headlines that don't make anyone happy. Someone else said: men make the news; reporters only write it.

It's time to give thought to the roots of happiness. After all, what happens every day is simply the fruit of a million vines. Down at the roots is where the fateful choices are made which inevitably bring forth their fruit.

This is a mighty fine newspaper whose service to the community is to tell us what news men have made today. We also have some mighty fine churches. Their service to the community is to mold the faith and character of the men who will make the news tomorrow.

Our churches are working at the roots of happiness!

Voting Rights Law Requires An Effort By States

By DOUG WILLIS
Associated Press Writer

In Utah, election officials printed cartoons on the ballot to comply with the Voting Rights Act of 1975.

In San Francisco, city fathers spent $140,000 to print election notices and ballots in Spanish, Chinese and Tagalog. And they were still sued by civil rights attorneys for not complying with the new election law.

In at least nine states, local officials are grappling with the problem of providing ballots in the language of American Indian tribes that have no written languages.

Up to 11 more states may face that same problem next year. The cartoons were the solution found by officials in one Utah county to the problem of providing ballots in languages without a written form.

The Voting Rights Act of 1975 ordered state and local election officials "to guarantee language minority persons ... access to the electoral process in their own language as well as English."

The law, passed by Congress this year in the rush before a late summer recess, is a major extension of the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

That measure was aimed primarily at Southern states to combat the use of literacy tests and other devices which had kept blacks off voting rolls. But the 1975 extension is expected to affect all or part of at least 26 states.

It comes into effect in any region in which 5 per cent or more of the local voting population uses some language other than English as its primary language.

Any region where 50 per cent or more of the voting age population did not go to the polls in the 1972 presidential election might also be affected, depending on Justice Department and court findings.

So far, the new act, which took effect in stages Aug. 6 and Oct. 3, has not had much of a national impact because of the relatively few elections in the past four months.

But where it has been put in force so far, results have variously been negligible, costly-but-ineffective or comic.

In Utah's San Juan County, officials produced a three-part ballot for a $7 million municipal bond election Nov. 4. One section was in English, one in the Navajo language and a third, for those who read neither language, used Indian pictographs.

The "yes" ballotline showed a man holding money with a cartoon cloud over his head showing a new school building. The "no" line showed both the money and the school building crossed out of the cartoon.

The bond measure passed by a comfortable margin, and officials report no confusion or problems.

Very few areas have calculated costs so far. But those that have made estimates put high dollar figures on the act.

In California, where 39 of 58 counties are covered, Deputy Secretary of State Michael Gagin says it will cost the state $3 million over the next seven months and a total of $8.4 million for the next 18 months.

Gagin says the cost to California cities and counties will be even greater, for an over-all total in California for the first two years of about $20 million.

In New Mexico, state costs are estimated at $100,000 a year.

Results in some areas so far have been less than spectacular.

The City of Ventura, a coastal community 60 miles north of Los Angeles, held an election last month for three city council seats. The city fell under provisions of the new law because census data indicated that in excess of 5 per cent of its population was Spanish speaking.

Some 3,850 Spanish-language ballots were printed, and candidate qualification statements were translated into Spanish and mailed out along with other election materials in English. A total of $3,600 was spent to comply with the law. When the 9,604 ballots were counted, officials found only three Spanish-language ballots had been used.

Similar accounts of high costs and low response were reported in other regions. And local officials are reporting frustration in meeting requirement even with the extra expense.

Oklahoma Election Board Secretary Lee Slater said in the one election held so far under the new law, officials met the problem of languages without written forms by providing interpreters.

"We had to hire four interpreters who could speak Cherokee, and they sat around all day doing nothing," Slater said.

Oklahoma has 40 other tribes, and the act could affect 23 of its 77 counties.

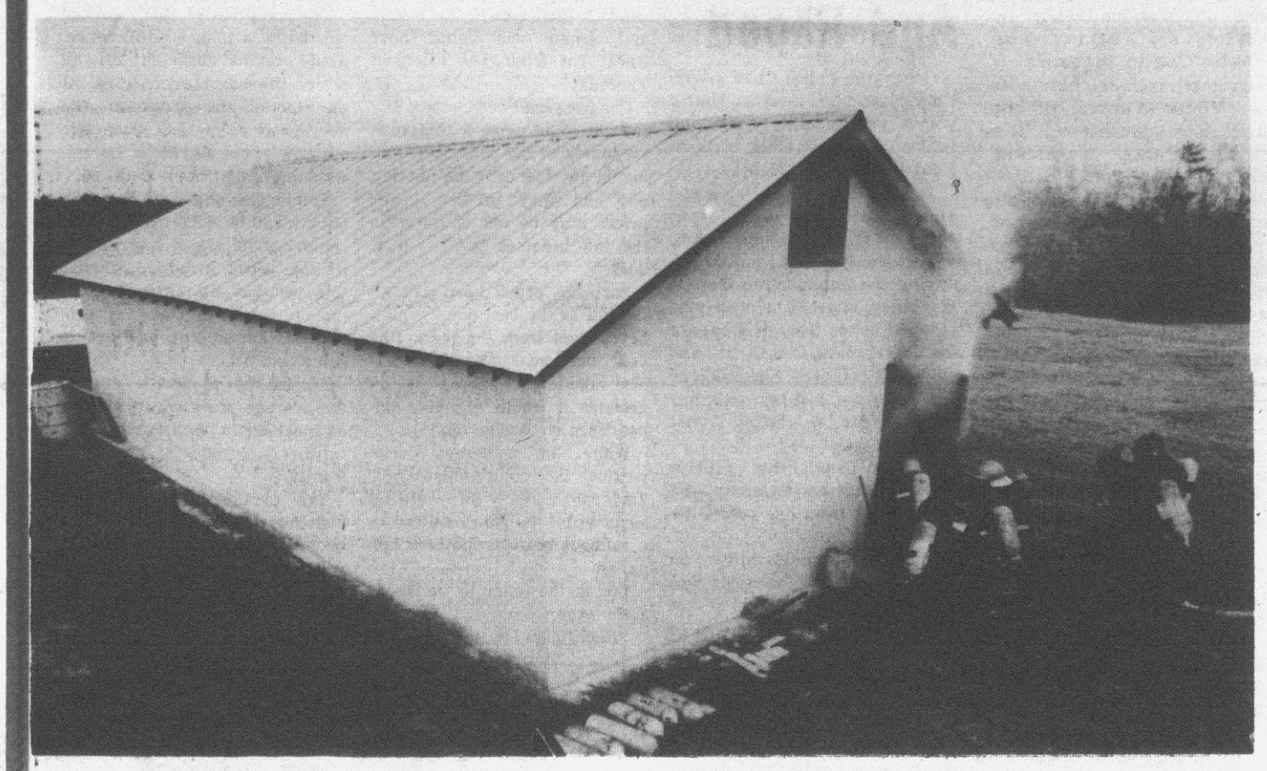

Said Slater: "If we have to provide interpreters all over the state, we will have a real problem, both in financing it and in finding the interpreters."

In Idaho, Deputy Secretary of State Jerry Hill said he is obligated to provide alternative ballots in two counties for Shoshone Bannock Indians, even though nearly all of the Indians also read and write English.

Hill said an Idaho State University faculty member has developed a phonetic translation of the Shoshone Bannock language, but that none of the Indians read it.

On the Duck Valley Reservation in northeastern Nevada, Robert Robey, chief tribal judge, said there have been attempts made to produce a phonetic written version of the Shoshone-Paiute language.

"Nobody could understand even that. Almost everybody here reads and writes English," Robey said.

SMOKE AND HEAT TRAINING FACILITY—Members of the Greenville Fire Department prepare to enter the new smoke and heat training facility constructed by the department. According to Fire Chief Jesse Smith, the building was constructed by department personnel on their off-duty time with building materials supplied by an appropriation of the city of Greenville. The 20 by 40 foot structure will give training personnel the ability to simulate heavy concentrations of smoke, intense heat, attic fires, and multiple room fires. The facility is located in city owned property at the city landfill, and is the second training ground for fire fighters. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Retired Adm. Zumwalt Regards Kissinger As New Chamberlain

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Ret. Adm. Elmo Zumwalt, likening Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to Britian's World War II appeasing Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, said Thursday Kissinger should be fired.

"I think it's mandatory that the President fire Kissinger, so we can get back to an American foreign policy," Zuwalt said.

"I don't think Mr. Kissinger can be called a traitor. He just doesn't believe in the American people's essential toughness. I think he believes, as Mr. Chamberlain did, that his people cannot be rallied," said Zumwalt during an interview.

Zumwalt said the secretary of state's underestimation of the American people has led him to policies of accommodation, "to get the best he can, even if it means inferiority."

Zumwalt earlier accused Kissinger of withholding information from President Ford about private agreements with the Soviets and about what Zumwalt called "gross violations" of the SALT-1 agreements.

Kissinger responded Tuesday saying, "The Admiral got carried away by political ambitions."

The secretary said the charges of withholding information and violations of the agreements are a "total falsehood," and the charge of secret agreements is "essentially false."

Zumwalt said Thursday he welcomes "Henry's salvo," because it brings foreign policy questions into public debate.

"Now that he's made that step, maybe we can get him to be more accurate about the facts, too," Zumwalt said.

The former chief of Naval operations told reporters the Russians are continuing to outspend the U.S. militarily and are now is a position to use military superiority to "back the U.S. up and break it off in them economically."

The first example, he said, was the Soviet's role in persuading the Arabs to quadruple oil prices, resulting in nations, with one billion people, facing starvation.

The Soviets will, he said, continue to pay lip service to detente, since it enables them to continue with their long range aim of reducing the U.S. to supplying the world through "two huge udders, one marked technology and the other, grain."

He said the U.S. is not only failing to spend enough on war-making machinery but also "spending our money wrong."

He said he welcomes Ronald Reagan's decision to campaign for the Republican presidential nomination as a way of injecting the defense issue into the political debates.

Zumwalt said he is seriously considering a race for the Senate seat held by Harry Byrd Jr., an independent, in Virginia.

Zumwalt also called for universal conscription for all Americans. "Every young man and young woman" should serve the country, either in the armed forces or in the Peace Corps or the Job Corps or similar programs, he said.

Two Left Dead In Wilson Fire

WILSON, N.C. (AP)—A child and an elderly man died early Thursday when fire swept the home of the child's parents.

Officials identified the victims as Rochelle Denise Brown, 9 months, and Sam Vick, 81. Vick was babysitting when the fire broke out, apparently in the front of the house, officials said.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, burdened by concern over the interest-rate outlook, slipped into a broad decline today.

Trading was light.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.07 at 828.66, and losers outpaced gainers by close to a 2-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the primary source of concern was the jump in the nation's money supply to a record level which showed up in Federal Reserve statistics issued after the close Thursday.

Such a bulge in the supply of cash and checking account deposits in the hands of the public theoretically might prompt the Fed to tighten its credit policy.

The Fed has repeatedly stated its aim of keeping monetary growth to a moderate rate in order to avoid rekindling inflation.

The market also seemed to be feeling the effects of the most recent University of Michigan survey of consumer confidence, which showed that the gradual rise of optimism earlier in the year had come to a halt.

Texaco was the most active issue on the Big Board, down ¼ at 22¾.

Avon Products, opening late, rose ½ to 35. The company called off a plan to diversify into insurance through the acquisition of Monarch Capital Corp.

Investors had given the proposal a cold reception, pushing Avon shares' price down more than $7 following its announcement.

The NYSE's composite index dropped .15 to 46.14 in the first hour.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .14 at 81.86.

Zarb Concedes Savings In Energy Bill

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb, who earlier expressed doubts that a congressional energy plan would mean lower fuel prices, now says the bill should save consumers about 2.5 cents a gallon on fuel oil and gasoline.

Although the Democratic-sponsored plan would temporarily run counter to President Ford's own energy program, he has not said whether he will veto it.

Zarb told Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., in a letter that while the congressional plan's price cuts might not be felt immediately, "prices will be less in future months than they otherwise would have been under a continuation of the present program" of price controls.

Portions of the Dec. 6 letter from Zarb were printed in a conference committee report on the compromise energy bill, on which a final vote in the House and Senate will come next week. The letter was released Thursday.

Congressional economists say the bill could mean a temporary saving of 3.5 cents per gallon on gasoline or home-heating oil, and they predict lower prices may be felt as soon as the bill becomes law — if it does.

Zarb has urged Ford to sign the bill as the best energy plan he can get from Congress this year, but conservative lawmakers adamantly oppose it on grounds it would increase dependence on foreign oil.

While the conferees were writing the compromise bill, Zarb said publicly he would be surprised if the plan resulted in a rollback of even one cent per gallon.

But in the letter to Jackson, Zarb wrote:

"Regardless of the rate at which the cost reductions flow through in lower prices to consumers, the conferees may rest assured that their actions, if enacted by the Congress and signed by the President, should result in a savings to consumers of about 2.5 cents per gallon on petroleum products."

Democrats predict Ford will have to sign the bill, with its temporarily lower fuel prices, or jeopardize his chances in the nation's first presidential primaries of 1976. Those tests are scheduled in 2½ months in New Hampshire and Massachusetts, wintry states heavily dependent upon oil for heating.

The compromise bill, worked out during a 16-day conference, would retain controls on oil prices through March 1979. At the start of the program, the average price of U.S. domestic oil, now about $10.50 a barrel, would be rolled back to $7.66.

The biggest share of the rollback would be accomplished by removing the $2-per-barrel tariff that Ford imposed earlier this year on all imported oil and on that portion of U.S. production that is not subject to price controls.

During the 40-month period, the average price could rise by as much as 10 per cent a year, returning to today's levels by mid-1977.

The president could allow higher prices for hard-to-produce oil, such as that from very deep wells or from above the Arctic Circle, so long as the price of easy-to-get oil was cut to maintain the average.

Ponder Use Of Garbage

CHARLOTTE (AP) — An engineering consulting firm says it may be possible to wring money and energy out of the half-million tons of garbage buried in Mecklenburg County landfills each year.

Instead of being buried, the garbage could be searched for metals suitable for resale. It could be processed into fuel for industrial use, according to a preliminary report prepared by Henningson, Durham and Richardson Inc. of Charlotte.

And, instead of costing taxpayers money, this process of disposal of home, industrial, business and municipal garbage could be profitable.

The county commissioners will discuss the report at next Monday's regular meeting.

The report says the 415,000 persons who now live in Mecklenburg County produce 512,750 tons of garbage a year or 9,835 tons per week. By 1995, the county's population is expected to produce 17,535 tons of garbage a week.

Was Robbed And Raped

Greenville Police Chief Glenn Cannon said this morning that a young woman was raped and robbed in the 400 block of West Fourth Street last night.

The incident, which occurred shortly after 10 p.m., was reported at 10:47, Cannon said.

The victim was quoted as saying she was followed from a downtown store by a man who stopped her in front of a vacant lot at 415 West Fourth St. and asked for a match. She said the man then grabbed her, took her to the rear of the lot, and assaulted her.

Cannon said the victim reported that her attacker took $50 in cash from her before he fled on foot.

The chief, commenting on several recent attacks on women, urged victims of an attack to report the incident to police immediately. He said calling family members and friends before notifying police gives an attacker just that much more time in which to make good his getaway.

SELLING DINNERS

Fried chicken, fish and pot pie dinners will be sold Saturday from 10:45 a.m. until 5 p.m. at Mt. Calvary FWB Church, corner of Hudson and Fourth Streets.

Plates will be $1.50 each and proceeds will go to the church.

illustrate the points she made. The group seemed to agree when she denounced the term, "sheltered workshop," and proposed, "extended work opportunity program," a term she said was more "positive."

"We must give disabled people the right to make decisions," she said. "The loneliness that exists in the lives of disabled people must be curtailed." Mrs. Villines said disabled people should be given the right to "live rather than exist."

Mrs. Villines' keynote address followed a welcome from Greenville mayor Percy Cox who praised the work of Howard Dawkins of the Eastern Carolina Sheltered Workshop here.

State representative Horton Rountree also welcomed the group and told them "bring the facts to us" when requesting government funds. "We wish we could give you more but have but so much money to spread around."

The annual awards ceremony followed the keynote address. The maximum number of awards possible were awarded this year—two certificates of appreciation and a distinguished service award.

Certificates of appreciation went to Bob McAlister, workshop specialist for the western region, and Davis Godwin, director of Lee County Industries, a sheltered workshop in Sanford.

The distinguished service award went to Richard C. Parker of Raleigh. Parker is the director of adult services for the mental retardation section of the Division of Mental Health.

Association members held a series of meetings this morning followed by a speech from state House Speaker, Jimmy Green at lunch.

D. H. Conley Highlights

By CYNTHIA PATRICK

During the past week many exciting events took place at Conley High School.

The chorus, along with their director, Mrs. Melinda Haithcock traveled to Tarrytown Mall Tuesday night to furnish Christmas carols for shoppers there.

Ron Braxton's physics and aerospace classes went to Chapel Hill Tuesday to visit the Morehead Planetarium.

Ray Joyner spoke to the student body Monday and Thursday on corrections.

The FHA's annual Mother-Daughter-Son banquet was held Tuesday at the Greenville Moose Lodge.

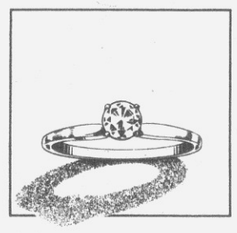

Teachers and students decorated their doors with Christmas decors linked with the Bicentennial. Wednesday at noon the doors were judged and the winning door was that of Mrs. Deborah Dutton. Jasper Woods received honorable mention.

The boys junior varsity basketball team defeated the Jaquars of Farmville Central 66-65 Tuesday night. The Valkyrias lost to the Lady Jaquars 57-38.

The matmen of Conley defeated Williamston 52-15 Monday night.

Roanoke Girls Look For Lineup

By TOM FOREMAN JR.
Reflector Staff Writer

Normally when two schools merge, the athletics of the two schools should prosper. Such was the case at Roanoke High School. Their first year of operation netted them the state championship in 2-A football. Now comes basketball season, and the same combination of schools is supposed to produce the same results, but not necessarily.

Though Roanoke girls basketball coach Phil Griffin has a wealth of talent from both Robersonville and Oak City, he has yet to come up with what he feels is the proper combination for a winning basketball team. Griffin has a total of nine potential starters, four from his own Oak City team of last season. He has not placed what he feels is the best team out on the floor.

Griffin says he is in an experimental stage, trying different girls to run the offensive and defensive patterns of his ballclub. He describes the situation as "weird." Griffin adds, however, that most of the girls have been getting along rather well as a combination of two teams in one high school.

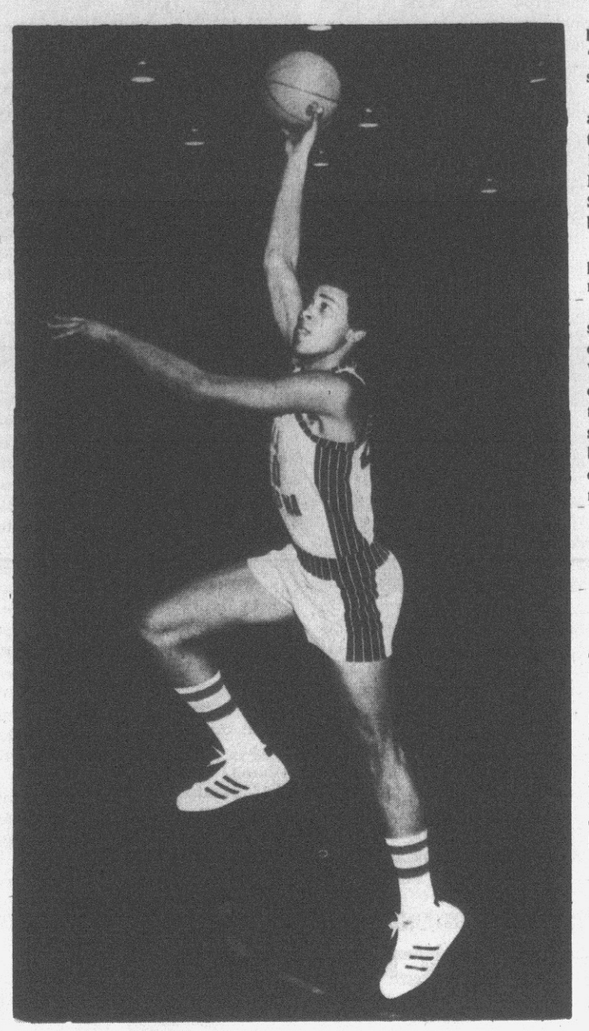

From Oak City, Griffin brought sophomores Carol Duggins, Barbara Bullock, and forward-centers Bernadine Martin and Sharon Jones. Ms. Jones is Griffin's tallest player at six feet even.

Out of Robersonville, Griffin has good talent in Phyllis McNeil, Beatrice Forrest, and Yvette Modica. Carrie Johnson is another important player in the Roanoke plans, but she has been sidelined with pneumonia, an ailment Griffin says she did not know she had. Forward Gwen Best completes the Robersonville five. Miss McNeil was described as the best shooter on the squad, while Miss Forrest will help Sharon Jones at the pivot position. Griffin also thinks that Miss Modica could be the team's, if not the league's, most valuable player.

Coming up from the freshman ranks are Lena Jackson and Mary Langley. More help comes from Fran Vandiford, Lori White, and forward Sheila Knight.

Griffin obviously does not think depth is one of his major problems for the season. "It's going to take me until Christmas to get the combinations out on the floor that work, and to find out what kind of talent we've got."

Coach Griffin views Saratoga, Elm City, and South Edgecombe as the major competitors for the girls title. But he admits that he doesn't know that much about the conference. What he does know is that his team is among those major competitors. He believes that as long as his team can score 40 points per game, and play any type of defense, they can win. All he needs now is the right combination to score the points.

Center Tyron Edwards

"It's going to be good to get home," Coach Dave Patton said. "I hope that we're going to see some different results here."

The East Carolina Pirates, after four straight defeats, all on the road, open their 1975-76 home basketball schedule against Davidson in Minges Coliseum Saturday at 7:30 p.m. There will be no preliminary game.

"I hope that part of our problem was playing on the road," Patton continued.

Despite the four losses, Patton said that is he proud of the team, especially following the loss Wednesday to Duke. "They could have quit twice — right at the start, and at the start of the second half, but they fought back both times. It's hard to do that, especially after losing three in a row."

Patton feels that he is close to getting a starting lineup now, and that this will settle things somewhat.

While the Blue Devils beat the Bucs badly on the boards, Patton did not feel that this was the key to the game. "We gave them too many easy baskets. We played good defense generally, but we didn't play well on the 'help' side. That's why (Willie) Hodge got so many easy baskets. We also make a couple of mistakes on (Tate) Armstrong, giving him some easy shots.

"We cut down on our turnovers, and I think just about every area showed improvement," the coach continued. "We really got beat from the floor by only four field goals. The rest was all on the foul line."

Davidson comes into the game following an 88-86 victory over Baylor University last night at Charlotte. Davidson won its opening game against Wofford, 110-81, but then was dropped by Richmond, 75-62, and St. John's, 91-79.

In last night's game, Davidson came from behind, scoring the last eight points to pull out the slim victory.

"They are starting three big guys inside. This may be a problem, but I'm not sure for who. Their height could be a problem for us if we go with a small lineup, or it could be for them, since I think our guys are a lot quicker."

Patton feels that the two teams are a lot alike. "We're both young and inexperienced. They're looking for the right combination and so are we."

Patton feels that the Pirates must play good defense if they are to win. "We've got to be mentally prepared to play hard for 40 minutes. We've go to do a better job on the boards."

Davidson has been paced by senior Eppa Rixey, who went into last night's game with an 11.3 average, and added 16 points to his total. "He's been playing real well. He's a lot more mature."

The leading scorer on the team is guard John Gerdy, who also got 16 points against Baylor, but averaged 21.7 in the first three games to be the Southern Conference's leading scorer.

"Jay Powell is back and he's playing well too," Patton said.

Going into the Baylor game, however, only Marvin Lively was hitting double figures with a 10.6 average. Seven-footer Tom Dore was scoring 9.3 per game. "He started against Baylor, and I think Bo Brickles wants to start him all the time and get him ready."

At the same time, Patton wants to play his big man, 6-11 Tyron Edwards more. "We haven't been able to get him any playing time due to fouls. Ty's had four or five real bad calls on him so far, and I just don't understand why they are picking on him."

Patton also wants to play Edwards more to help on the rebounding. Larry Hunt currently is the leading rebounder, while Wade Henkel, who missed the Duke game with the flu, is the number two man there.

"I think playing at home will help all of us. We're through talking about getting going in the right direction. We need to win now before it goes any further."

Reggie Lee continues to be the leading scorer for the Pirates with a 13.8 average. Hunt is hitting at a 10.5 mark, while Al Edwards has a 10.3 average.

Earl Garner led the scoring against Duke with 22 points.

Buc Wrestlers In 4-Way Meet

After a lengthy three week layoff, the East Carolina wrestling team swings back into action this weekend when the Pirate matmen travel to Bethlehem, Pa. to meet ranked Lehigh and Oregon State along with Indiana State in a quadrangular meet.

"We just feel very fortunate to be able to wrestle against teams of this caliber," said Pirate head coach John Welborn. "Lehigh and Oregon State are both truly outstanding teams loaded with talent and I don't want to overlook Indiana State because they also have a fine team. But we're looking forward to competing against them and I think we will give a pretty good account of ourselves."

Lehigh finished fifth in last year's NCAA Tournament while Oregon State was right behind the Engineers in seventh place. Both teams are definite contenders for this year's national championship.

Lehigh is led by NCAA champion Mike Lieberman (177-190), Don McCorkel (Wht.) and Lance Leonhardt (118-126). Mike Frick, who won the NCAA title at 134 last year and was named the Outstanding Wrestler in the tournament is academically ineligible and will sit out the entire 1975-76 season.

Oregon State's top performer is Larry Bielenberg who won the heavyweight division in the NCAA Tournament last year. The Ducks also have Bob Ziebart who placed fifth in the nationals in the 150 pound weight class.

While Lehigh, Oregon State, and Indiana State boast some of the top wrestlers in the country, the Pirates have plenty of outstanding performers which should fare well this weekend.

Mike Radford, Ron Whitcomb, Phil Mueller, and Tom Marriott have a combined record of 42 wins and only three losses between them. Radford, a senior from Morehead City, has swept three tournament titles this season in the 190 pound weight class and has an overall record of 11-0. Whitcomb, a senior from East Rochester, N.Y. who wrestles at 177, also has three tournament championships to his credit with an overall record of 11-0. Marriott, a senior from Herkimer, N.Y. has one title and a second place finish to his credit along with 10-1 overall slate.

Phil Mueller, boasts a 10-2 overall record at 167 and received the Outstanding Wrestler Award in the North Carolina Invitational Tournament.

The Pirates will also get plenty of help from senior Paul Ketcham (126) sophomores Paul Osman (134), Paul Thorp (150), along with freshman sensation James Kirby (126). Ketcham and Thorp are both 9-3 for the year while Osman has a 9-4 record and Kirby is 8-2.

Jeff Curtis (118), Clay Scott (134), Paul Prewitt (158), John Williams (Hwt.) and D. T. Joyner (Hwt.) will probably also see action.

Conley Matmen Down Rampants

HOLLYWOOD — D. H. Conley's wrestlers stayed unbeaten last night with a 35-26 victory over Rose High School. It was the first loss of the year for the Rampants.

Conley spotted Rose an 11-0 lead after the first two matches, and caught up midway through. But it wasn't until the final three matches that the Vikings took the lead, winning three of the final four weights.

Rose ended up winning five classes, while Conley took six. Two ended in a draw.

The win boosted the Viking record to 4-0 on the year, while the Rampants are now 3-1.

Summary:

Five Southern Teams Get Wins

By The Associated Press

Five Southern Conference basketball teams went against nonleague opponents Thursday night, and four nailed down victories.

Craig Lynch fired in a 20-foot jump shot with two seconds remaining to give Furman's Paladins a 75-73 win over Illinois.

It was the Paladins' first win of the season after three losses while Illinois dropped its first game after five victories.

Ray Miller paced Furman with 24 points and Audi Matthews had 25 for Illinois.

Davidson scored the last eight points, capitalizing on turnovers, for a come-from-behind 88-86 victory over the Baylor Bears.

Eppa Rixey and John Gerdy paced the Wildcat win with 16 points each.

The Wildcats were down 86-80 with 2:32 remaining when they started the winning spurt.

Gerdy and Rixey got two points each in the final drive, Marvin Lively converted a three-point play and Jay Powell had a free throw.

The victory was Davidson's second against two losses while Baylor slipped to a 3-2 mark.

Guard Ron Satterthwaite scored 25 points, dealt eight assists and hauled in seven rebounds to spark William & Mary's Indians to a 61-56 victory over Dickenson College.

John Lowenhaupt backed Satterthwaite with 15 points as the Indians improved their record to 4-2.

Virginia Military's Keydets hit 54 per cent of their shots from the floor and all of their free throws in a 112-65 rout of Radford College.

The Keydets, 5-1, opened a 20-point halftime lead and were never in trouble.

John Krovic led the winners wth 17 points followed by Ron Carter with 16 and Will Bynum with 15.

The only conference team to lose Thursday night was Appalachian State's Mountaineers, who dropped an 83-67 decision to the Georgia Bulldogs.

Jack Dorsey paced the Bulldogs, 1-2, with 29 points and 15 rebounds.

Al Gentry led Appalachian State, 2-3, with 17 points.

All eight Southern Conference teams are idle tonight, but three league matchups are on tap Saturday with The Citadel at Appalachian State, Davidson at East Carolina and Richmond at Virginia Military.

E. Cartaret Slips By Rams

SNOW HILL—Poor shooting led to the downfall of Greene Central's Rams last night as they bowed to East Cartaret, 40-37.

The Greene Central girls posted a 39-17 victory, while the East Cartaret junior varsity won its game, 52-50.

In the varsity boys' game, the Rams found the shooting very tough, hitting just 15 of 58 shots. "We missed a lot of easy shots in the first half," Coach James Fulghum said.

East Caratret inched out into a 5-4 lead after one period, but the two were tied at 12-12 at the half.

East Cartaret came up with the lead in the third period, scoring 16 points to nine for the Rams. That left the Mariners up, 28-21. Greene Central put on a rally in the final period, and took the lead several times, but was unable to get the ball with the lead.

East Caratret was outhit by the Rams, 16-12, but it wasn't enough. The Mariners made just one field goal in the period, but converted on 10 of 12 free throws.

Jeff Newton led the Mariner win with 20 points, 16 of them in the second half, Marvin Rouse led Greene Central with 11.

In the girls' game, Greene Central grabbed the early lead and never let go. They held a 10-3 lead after one period and were up 22-7 at halftime. They increased that to 33-15 at the half, and closed with a 6-2 advantage in the final period.

Teresa Whitley and Vanessa Hooker each had 10 to lead the Ewes.

May Question Coaching Job

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Bill Musselman, who found himself out of a job when the San Diego Sails collapsed, may be wondering today if a decision to coach the injury-ridden, financially unsound Virginia Squires was worth the trouble.

Musselman has been harping defense ever since he took over the head coaching job from Al Bianchi several weeks ago, but the Squires continue sinking lower in the American Basketball Association basement.

Thursday's night's 111-100 loss to the league-leading Denver Nuggets was a prime example. "They got tougher on defense and we let up," a deflated Musselman said. "That was it."

The New York Nets beat the Indiana Pacers 124-123 in overtime in the only other ABA game.

The Squires, 4-20, battled the Nuggets on even terms through most of the game, but saw a Denver 36-22 outburst in the fourth period ruin the effort.

"We created problems for their offense ... played good defense in the first half," said Musselman, who agreed the Squires' produced their finest effort Thursday night."

Indiana Holds Off Notre Dame, 63-60

By MARC ROSENWASSER
Associated Press Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame basketball Coach Digger Phelps said it was time to go for broke when the eighth-rated Irish slipped 14 points behind top-ranked Indiana Thursday night. But the decision almost broke the Hoosiers, instead.

As it was, Indiana held on for a tense, hard-earned 63-60 victory, its third straight of the season. The loss dropped Notre Dame's mark to 4-1.

Said Phelps: "We just made a desperate run in a desperate situation. We've got 10 guys on this team who can play basketball."

Notre Dame, using almost its entire team including three freshmen, upstaged the defense-minded Big 10 champions with a full court zone press late in the game.

The defensive pressure rattled the usually surehanded Hoosiers. Indiana turned the ball over repeatedly, and, with it, almost turned over the game.

"I've said all along that this basketball team has a long way to go," Indiana Coach Bobby Knight said. "Our concentration broke down. This is a team that has got to be better mentally if it's going to reach its potential."

But the problem was much more than cerebral.

The Hoosiers almost squandered the game after forging to a 51-37 lead midway through the second half. The Irish twice pulled to within one point in the final two minutes.

On the first occasion, Scott May hit both ends of a one-and-one free throw situation. Then, with 11 seconds to go, Quinn Buckner, who had missed a pair of free throws just seconds earlier, wrapped up the victory by hitting two.

Elsewhere in college basketball, Rutgers whipped Penn 95-80; Manhattan nipped LaSalle 79-78; Davidson nudged Baylor 88-86; Villanova routed Kings (Pa.) College 108-75; Providence walloped Evansville 98-71; Furman stopped Illinois 75-73; Kansas turned back Boise State 61-56; TCU trimmed Pan American 77-76; Georgia defeated Appalachian State 83-67; Arkansas State beat Tennessee Tech 75-74; West Texas outscored Oklahoma State 63-62 and South Alabama defeated Centenary 74-72.

Rutgers rolled past Penn behind Phil Sellers' 32 points. Rutgers led by as much as 22-15 in the first half, and after Penn stormed back to tie the game at 65 in the second half, the Scarlet Knights ran off 15 straight points to break it open.

The game was the opener of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden in New York. Rick Marsh scored 23 points and Tom Lockhart had 16 to pace Manhattan over LaSalle in the opener.

Davidson scored the last eight points, capitalizing on turnovers, for a come-from-behind victory over Baylor. The winners got 16 points each from center Eppa Rixey and guard John Gerdy.

Larry Herron scored 18 points and led five double figure scorers as Villanova romped past Kings College. Sophomore Bill Eason scored 22 points and led a second-half Providence surge as the Friars walloped Evansville.

Forward Craig Lynch hit a 20-foot jump shot with two seconds to go to give Furman a tense decision over Illinois. The loss was the first for the Illinois this season after five victories.

Kansas went ahead on Herb Nobles' eight-foot shot and then scored eight more points in a row to beat Boise State. Thomas Bledsoe's driving layup with six seconds left carried TCU past Pan American.

Jack Dorsey fired in 29 points to lead Georgia to an easy victory over Appalachian State. Dan Henderson sank two free throws with two seconds left to lift Arkansas State over Tennessee Tech.

Brad Schreck hit an 18-foot jumper with five seconds remaining to pull West Texas over Oklahoma State. John Farmer hit a layup with five seconds left, giving South Alabama its triumph over Centenary.

Bobby Bonds Unhappy Following His Trade To California Angels

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The New York Yankees startled the winter baseball meetings by unloading superstar Bobby Bonds in the first of two trades designed to give the team a new player image to go with its refurbished stadium.

The question is whether the Yanks got their money's worth in deals Thursday with the California Angels and Pittsburgh Pirates. They gave up Bonds and popular pitcher Doc Medich. In return, they got a swift outfielder in Mickey Rivers, and three pitchers, Ed Figueroa, Ken Brett and Dock Ellis, and infielder Willie Randolph.

Visibly shaken by the trade, Bonds said: "The next time something like this happens, I'll want to know what's going on and why before I leave. It's going to have to be with my consent, 'cause otherwise I'm not going."

"I tried to give the Yanks everything I had last year. The most disappointing thing was not being able to play the entire year healthy. I played hurt since June and still hit 32 homers. That's a depressing thing, that I contributed to the club and now I'm gone."

The wheeling and dealing by New York was the big news at the fifth day of the meetings, which also brought the announcement that the National League would continue to finance the financially troubled San Francisco Giants until Dec. 31. The league expects the Giants to be sold to one of a number of bidders, according to League President Charles Feeney.

Also, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn in a report after the joint meetings of the major leagues, said that forebearance, not a law suit, will bring the game back to Seattle. And he declared that the philosophy of baseball is that one of the teams in the San Francisco Bay Area, the San Francisco Giants or Oakland A's must move. He wouldn't say which one.

The general consensus on the Yankees' two big deals was that they helped themselves on the trade that sent the slugging Bonds to the Angels for Rivers and Figueroa. The jury was out on the swap with the Pirates that brought the 21-year-old Randolph, untested as a major leaguer, the controversial Ellis, and Brett, who has an elbow ailment that could end his career on any pitch.

The big surprise was moving Bonds, who came to the Yankees last year from the Giants for Bobby Murcer. Bonds played hurt most of last season, but still managed to hit .270 with 32 home runs, 85 RBI, and 30 stolen bases. He set a major league record with his 30 homer-30 stolen base accomplishment for the third straight year.

Yankee President Gabe Paul tried to explain the Bonds' trade this way: "We didn't win last season. I resisted trading him, but it opened the door for more trades."

In Rivers, New York obtained one of the fastest outfielders in baseball. The 27-year-old Rivers batted .278 with only one homer and 53 RBI, but he stole 70 bases to lead the American League. He gives the Yankees better defense in right field, and could play center if Elliott Maddox's damaged knee acts up.

Paul and Manager Billy Martin wanted Figueroa, so that Medich would be expendable in the deal with the Pirates. Figueroa, a right-hander, won 16 and lost 13 in his first full season, with a 2.90 ERA, the fifth best in the league. Medich was 16-16 with a 3.51 ERA.

Randolph comes highly recommended by scouts as a strong defensive player with a good arm. He can play second or shortstop. He appeared 30 games for Pittsburgh last season, and hit just .164. He was leading the International League with a .339 average when recalled from Charleston by the Pirates last July.

The 27-year-old Brett is strictly a gamble. He has been on the disabled list several times in the past two seasons with a chronic elbow condition. When he's healthy, the left-hander is a fine pitcher. He was 9-5 with a 3.36 ERA in 1975.

Brett also is one of the best hitting pitchers in baseball with a lifetime .266 average and 10 homers. He had a streak in 1973 of four straight home run games.

In other trades Thursday, as the deal tally mounted to 11 involving 36 players, Houston sent third baseman Dave Rader, the National League's top-fielding third baseman, to San Diego for pitchers Larry Hardy and Joe McIntosh; the California Angels moved first baseman Jim Spencer, whom they acquired Wednesday from Texas, to the Chicago White Sox for third baseman Bill Melton and right-handed pitcher Steve Dunning, a White Sox farmhand with previous major league experience at Cleveland.

There was speculation late Thursday night that the White Sox were working on a deal that would send veteran southpaw pitcher Wilbur Wood and outfielder Ken Henderson to the Atlanta Braves for outfield speedster Ralph Garr. The interleague trading deadline is midnight tonight.

McGinnis Leads Philadelphia Win

By The Associated Press

You really have to hand it to George McGinnis.

The Philadelphia 76ers did Thursday night and as a result, had a 110-106 National Basketball Association victory over the Phoenix Suns.

McGinnis kept getting the ball from his teammates and wound up with a game-high 28 points, including 14 in the last 10 minutes.

"His offense is super," said Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue. "He's been great."

McGinnis not only contributed offensively, but defensively as well. The powerhouse forward made a vital steal and turned it into a three-point play with 52 seconds left.

In the other NBA games, the Atlanta Hawks defeated the Buffalo Braves 122-99; the Cleveland Cavaliers trimmed the New York Knicks 109-95; the Washington Bullets walloped the New Orleans Jazz 117-109 and the Golden State Warriors trimmed the Portland Trail Blazers 101-89.

Nine of McGinnis' points came in the last two minutes after Phoenix had edged ahead 100-99 with 2:30 left. The victory boosted Philadelphia's record to 17-6 and gave the 76ers six straight victories. The loss snapped a three-game winning streak for Phoenix and left the Suns at 11-9. Alvan Adams was high for Phoenix with 21.

Hawks 122, Braves 99

Atlanta's John Drew came off the bench and exploded for 13 second-period points to ignite the Hawks to an easy victory over slumping Buffalo. Drew, who finished with 29 points, teamed with Tom Henderson, who popped in 10 points in the second period, as the Hawks overcame a 26-24 Buffalo first quarter margin to take a 58-44 halftime lead. Henderson finished with 21 points. The Braves lost for the eighth time in 10 games and fell below .500 at 11-12.

Cavaliers 109, Knicks 95

Dick Snyder and Bobby Smith scored 12 points each in a third-period rally as Cleveland ended a three-game losing string by beating New York. Cleveland center Jim Chones added 10 of his team-leading 26 points in the final period to help keep the Knicks at arm's length.

Bullets 117, Jazz 109

Phil Chenier tossed in 24 points and got plenty of help from his teammates as Washington raced past struggling New Orleans. Jimmy Jones had 16 points while Elvin Hayes, Len Robinson und Dave Bing each had 15 in the balanced Bullet attack.

Warriors 101, Trail Blazers 89

Paced by the shooting of Jamaal Wilkes and Charles Dudley, Golden State pulled away in the second half to beat Portland. The NBA's defending champions remained unbeaten at home through 10 games and made their over-all season record 16-6.

The 3-year-old colt Crap Shooter is aptly named. He's a son of Watch Your Step from the dam of Run the Table.

Southern Plans Future Course

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)— After two days of closed sessions that Commissioner Ken Germann said served to "clear the air", the Southern Conference was ready today to wind up its winter meeting.

Items discussed at length earlier in the week were scheduled for voting, with no major decisions expected before the May meeting in Greenville, N.C.

The future course of the conference and its views on possible new members were to be outlined today in the report of a special committee. Richmond drops out next June 30, leaving seven members. Western Carolina University has sought membership for more than two years, but the matter will not be resolved before the spring session.

Germann partially lifted the curtain from the week's deliberations by announcing a basketball television schedule and the conference's opposition to a reorganization plan for the nation's major college football teams.

The basketball tournament final March 4 in Greenville, S.C., will be telecast under an agreement reached here with independent producer Raymond Horn of New Bern, N.C. Horn outlined his proposal in two meetings with Southern officials this week. Germann said he expected to have a contract signed within 10 days.

Horn hopes to have a network of 10 to 12 stations in the conference area carry the final game.

Last season's formula will be continued. The top four regular season standing teams will be hosts in first round games. The last two rounds will be played in Greenville March 3-4.

Germann said the conference hoped to work out an extensive basketball TV package for next season. Meanwhile, it will carry five Saturday afternoon games over the TVS Network. The series starts with the Jan. 10 Furman at East Carolina game. The next three weeks, in order, games listed are Davidson at Richmond, South Carolina-Davidson at Charlotte and South Carolina at Furman. The final game, Feb. 14, has William & Mary at Davidson.

The conference is disturbed over a proposal scheduled for vote at next month's NCAA meeting in St. Louis. It would split the current Division I football playing members into Divisions I and 1-A.

The Southern is one of the conferences slated for 1-A designation. Germann said the conference would work with other leagues to defeat the proposal.

He said the change would bring many disadvantages, among them loss of prestige and television receipts and problems in recruiting and scheduling. He added it eventually could wreck some conferences.

Postal Deficit: $989 Million

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The financially ailing Postal Service says it lost $161 million more during the last fiscal year than the record deficit officials had earlier anticipated.

The Postal Service severely underestimated workers compensation payments to employes injured during the fiscal year, a spokeswoman said Thursday.

The service only recently learned of the higher workers compensation costs from the Labor Department, making the Postal Service deficit $989 million for the last fiscal year instead of the previous estimate of $828 million, she said.

As a result, the Postal Service asked the Labor Department to supply data on workman's compensation claims more frequently than once a year, the spokeswoman said.

"In our financial situation we can't afford to have this happening to us," she said.

The Postal Service has lost money in each of the four years since the old Post Office Department was reorganized into a semi-independent federal agency. The deficit for the fiscal year ending last June 30 was more than twice as high as the previous record.

Postal officials expect a still higher deficit, $1.4 billion, in the current fiscal year despite a rate increase that takes effect Dec. 28. On that date, the price of mailing a first class letter will increase from 10 cents to 13 cents. The Postal Service is losing nearly $7 million per day under present mail rates.

The higher deficit figure was published this week in the Postal Service's annual report. The report has an upbeat tone except for its discussion of finances.

"Fiscal year 1975 was a year in which the Postal Service made substantial progress in the face of severe financial problems," the report's introduction by Postmaster-General Benjamin F. Bailar begins.

Bailar said the Postal Reorganization Act established four major goals for the Postal Service: good service, better working conditions, reasonable rates and balanced costs and revenues.

"Three of these goals were met during the year and only the last was not," he said.

Bailar said in the report:

—It took an average of 1.56 days to deliver a first-class letter, compared with 1.63 days in the last year of the Post Office Department.

—About 92 per cent of employes worked in adequate surroundings, compared with 20 per cent in 1972.

—A recently inaugurated service, express mail, was expanded to 400 cities, four times as many as the preceeding year. The service guarantees overnight delivery or the customers' money is refunded.

Minister Keeps On 'Crusading'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Rev. Tom Riner has crusaded against many things he considers scourges upon the Louisville community.

He has loudly denounced area productions of the rock musicals "Hair" and "Jesus Christ Superstar."

After a tornado ripped through sections of Louisville in 1973, he marched with his "Jesus Club," warning passersby to mend their evil ways or expect another devastating storm.

Mention busing for school desegregation and he bristles.

"What we're dealing with here are demonic spirits," the Rev. Mr. Riner said.

The clean-cut, soft-spoken Baptist minister is a strong antibusing opponent and the chairman of Christians United, a protest group of local clergymen and lay people. He is also a leader in Louisville's Christian school movement, a cause which has been adopted by many only since the start of busing this fall in Jefferson County.

The Danville, Ky., native says that busing is "unnatural, illogical and absurd." He has urged opponents at protest rallies to be more militant.

"Jesus was not a compromiser," he told his audience. "To be a Christian is not to be a pansy."

The pastor of the 25-member Christ is King Baptist church talks of busing as part of a Communist conspiracy to overthrow the U.S. government.

The Rev. Mr. Riner said he believes busing would have never come to Jefferson County if it weren't for "highly sophisticated psychological warfare on the part of an elite intelligentsia."

He would not be more specific about the term "elite" other than to mention an anonymous "group of wealthy men." And he added, " I think the people responsible for busing knew what it would do to the community."

The Rev. Mr. Riner said that much of the interest in his Christian school program was probably sparked by busing. About 23,000 of the 120,000 pupils in the merged Louisville-Jefferson County school system are being bused under the terms of a court-ordered desegregation plan.

A Christian school of the type the Rev. Mr. Riner seeks to establish was opened this fall at a local Baptist tabernacle and now enrolls about 150 children.

In addition to his antibusing and Christian school causes, the Rev. Mr. Riner spends much of his time working on projects intiated by his wife, Claudia, now in her third term as president of the local Women's Christian Temperance Union.

The Rev. Mr. Riner met his wife at a Campus Crusade for Christ meeting at the University of Louisville. He said their first date took them to a homosexual bar, where the two "witnessed" to whoever would listen.

The Rev. Riner's church is independent and not a member of any organized Baptist church groups.

Free Press, Fair Trial Issue Is Approaching Confrontation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court may be ready for a head-on confrontation with the sometimes conflicting demands for a free press and for fair trials.

The question is before the court in a request for an emergency hearing on a Nebraska state court order that restricts news coverage of a mass murder case.

The justices have given no indication of when they will act on the request. News organizations have asked for a prompt decision, contending that if the case is allowed to wind through the courts in the usual manner, the news will be history before it can be reported.

The defendant in the murder case, Erwin C. Simants, is scheduled to go on trial Jan. 5 in North Platte, Neb. He is accused of killing six members of a Sutherland, Neb., family on Oct. 18.

Nine days after the crime, District Judge Hugh Stuart of North Platte barred reporters from reporting on confessions, details of Simants' arrest or other information that might indicate his complicity.

News organizations appealed quickly to the Nebraska Supreme Court. Failing to get prompt action, they turned to Supreme Court Justice Harry A. Blackmun, who is authorized to temporarily set aside court orders in the federal judicial circuit which includes Nebraska.

Blackmun first held back action to give the state supreme court a chance to act. When it did not do so, he upheld most of the restrictions. The news organizations appealed to the full court.

On Dec. 1, the Nebraska court issued a decision along the same lines as Blackmun's order. The news organizations appealed this too.

The Supreme Court on Monday wiped Blackmun's order off the books, saying it was a dead letter after the Nebraska supreme court acted, and agreed to treat papers filed by the news organizations as a request for a full-scale review. But the court deferred action on the request until responses were received from Nebraska authorities.

The court put off the question of whether to lift the restrictions on reporting while the matter is being thrashed out in the courts. Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall favored lifting the restrictions immediately.

High Prices Blamed In Lower Cotton Exports

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cotton exports this season are falling sharply below earlier expectations, partly because U.S. prices are too high for foreign buyers, says the Agriculture Department.

The department's Outlook and Situation Board said Thursday that exports for the 1975-76 marketing year, which will end next July 31, are expected to range between 3 million and 3.5 million bales, down 500,000 bales from a projection made on Nov. 11. Last season's exports were 3.9 million bales.

"While recovery in general economic and textile activity is boosting domestic use, foreign recovery from the recession continues to lag," the board said. "So weak demand for cotton abroad, coupled with generally noncompetitive U.S. cotton prices, is limiting our exports this season."

The department announced Wednesday that the 1975 cotton crop is expected to total 8.5 million bales, down 6 per cent from the November forecast and 27 per cent below the 1974 crop. Including a carryover reserve of 5.7 million bales on Aug. 1, this season's total cotton supply of 14.2 million bales is the smallest since 1923. "While the cut in production this year primarily stems from reduced acreage, recent deterioration in yields has further damaged prospects in many areas of the "Cotton Belt;" the board said in a report.

The "spot market price" of a common grade of cotton now is over 54 cents per pound, up about five cents from a month ago and about 15 cents higher than last year at this time, the report said.

Officials said that cotton domestically has remained competitively priced with synthetic fibers and that textile mill use during October averaged nearly 20 per cent above a year earlier, compared with a maximum 13 per cent increase for man-made fibers.

Thus, the report said, domestic use of cotton this season is still expected to range between 6.8 million and 7.3 million bales, up from last season's 5.9 million.

But with the smaller crop this year, the cotton reserve by next Aug. 1—the beginning of a new season—is expected to fall to 3.5 million and 4.5 million bales, the report said.

Sharp Rise In Accidents

RALEIGH (AP)—While North Carolina's traffic death rate continued to decline in November, the number of accidents on interstate highways increased sharply, the state Division of Motor Vehicles reported.

During last month there were 102 fatalities compared to the 126 in November 1974, a drop of 19 per cent, the agency said. In October, though, the rate dropped 34 per cent below October 1974.

For the first 11 months of this year, 1,327 persons had died in North Carolina traffic accidents compared to 1,446 deaths in the same period of 1974, a decline of 8 per cent.

Accidents on interstate highways jumped 34 per cent last month compared to figures for November 1974, Edward L. Powell, motor vehicles commissioner, said.

The total number of accidents last month was 6,692 with 92 of them causing death and 3,657 causing injuries. Seventeen of the persons killed last month were pedestrians and two were bicyclists, state figures show. The greatest number of accidents—4,982—occurred in cities and towns.

Powell also noted that in the five-year period ending last June 30, there have been only six pupils killed who were passengers in a school bus.

Terms Forum A Political Event

SEATTLE (AP) — A Seattle physician turned down an opportunity to appear at a White House Public Forum, labeling it "a huge public relations charade."

In a letter to Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, Dr. Abraham B. Bergman declined a White House invitation to speak at the forum, which opened Tuesday in Los Angeles.

Bergman, a pediatrician and director of outpatient services at Children's Orthopedic Hospital in Seattle, told Rockefeller he felt the forum was organized to benefit President Ford's re-election campaign.

"To participate in the parade of 'blue ribbon' witnesses giving five-minute spiels would imply that I take the exercise seriously," Bergman said.

Say Rate Hike Is For Future

RALEIGH (AP)—Carolina Power and Light Co. won't have the funds to build generating plants necessary for the future unless it gets its requested 22 per cent rate increase, a New York investment consultant said Thursday.

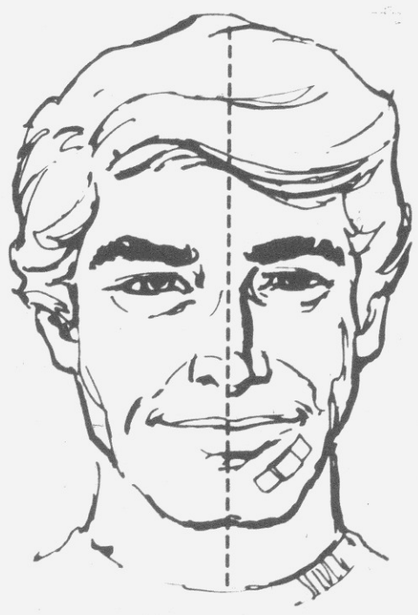

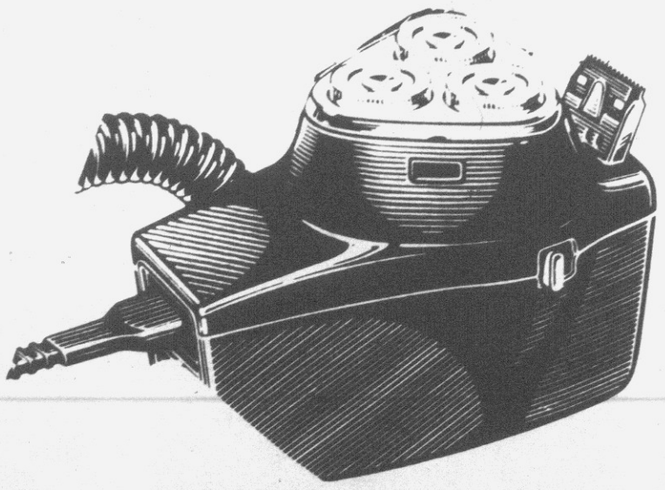

Eugene W. Meyer told the Utilities Commission that CP&L must protect is bond ratings because the economy is such that it is difficult for a company to raise funds without the highest credit rating.

If a firm's rating falls, it may not be able to raise any long term financing, he said.

Jazz Interlude In Prime Time

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jazz is a rarely heard form of music on prime-time commercial TV. But Howard Cosell, of all people, is giving the nation a taste of jazz Saturday night on his ABC variety show.

Even more surprising is that his guest, while well-known to jazz fans, isn't a commercial TV "name." He's Chuck Mangione, a young flugelhornist, pianist, composer and arranger who calls Rochester, N.Y., home.

He and his quartet are appearing with vocalist Esther Satterfield, with whom he's appeared in concerts and recorded several albums that combine melodic modern jazz with symphonic orchestra backing.

Mangione, 35, has appeared on public TV, the first shot being a critically cheered 1970 special called "Friends and Love," recorded with the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra.

But the Cosell show is only his fourth commercial TV appearance. His first, on the syndicated Merv Griffin show late last year, was unique in one major respect — the time alloted his performance on the program.

On most commercial shows, particularly talk shows, musicians are asked to play quickly, then depart. The theory is that viewers get bored easily. And those commercials, of course, must be aired.

But Mangione said that on Griffin's show, where he was backed by a symphonic-size orchestra, he got 12 uninterrupted minutes for his "Land of Make Believe," an instrumental and vocal work he and Miss Satterfield had recorded with Canada's Hamilton Philharmonic.

Twelve straight minutes of music on a talk show is considered heresy. So how'd it happen?

Well, Mangione said he'd heard from members of Griffin's band that the star liked his music, particularly his "Land of Make Believe" album. He said he'd also heard that Griffin wanted him to appear on his show.

Nothing immediately materialized, he said, so one day he went to the studio where the show is taped to at least meet the guy.

He said he saw Griffin noddling around on a piano and at first didn't want to bother him. But a mutual friend insisted they meet.

Whereupon "Merv jumped off the piano bench," Mangione recalled, "and said, 'You know, you've cost me so much money. I've bought that album for so many people.'"

He said Griffin, after asking what size orchestra he'd like for backing, asked the producer of same, "'How long have we been on camera without going to a commercial?'

"And the guy said, 'For talk, we've been on 15 minutes.' Then Merv asked me, 'How long does "Land of Make Believe" run?' I said the recorded version ran 11 minutes and 22 seconds.

"He said, 'Let's do the whole thing.' So he was the one who instigated doing the piece. He really loved and believed in it."

The earliest known primates appeared in the Paleocene period of about 70 million years ago.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♣	Dble.	2 ♣	2 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♣.

No aspect of bridge is as enthralling as the duel between a competent declarer and experienced defenders.

We heartily approve of South's "free" bid of two spades. East's raise to two clubs denotes no great strength, and is designed principally to interfere with his opponents' auction. In view of North's takeout double, South valued his hand as a responding hand to a one spade opening bid, making it worth 9 points. North's raise to game was only slightly aggressive.

West led the queen of clubs, won by the ace. The king of spades lost to the ace, and declarer ruffed the club continuation. There was a danger of losing two heart tricks and a diamond in addition to the ace of trumps, so declarer looked for an endplay. He drew the outstanding trumps and then played the ace, king and a third diamond, throwing the lead to West.

It was obvious that a third club lead would make declarer's life easy—South would ruff in dummy while discarding a heart from his hand, and a heart finesse would then limit his losers in that suit to one. However, West realized that cashing the ace of hearts would be equally futile—again, declarer would hold his heart losers to one. By a process of elimination, the only play that offered any hope for the defense was the nine of hearts.

That in itself was not enough. Declarer made the shrewd play of a low heart from dummy, and now the spotlight was on East. Had he obeyed the old saw "third hand high" and put up the queen of hearts, declarer would win the king and his combined holding of the jack-ten would assure only one loser in the suit. So East followed with a low heart, and declarer was forced to surrender. No matter how he continued, there was no way he could avoid losing two heart tricks for down one!

A well-played hand by all involved. If we had the power to do so, we would award North-South four hearts and East-West down one!

When should you double—for penalty or for take-out? Charles Goren explains all about doubling in his latest book. For a copy, write to "Goren Doubles," c/o this newspaper, P. O. Box 259, Norwood, New Jersey 07648. Enclose $1.25 in cash or checks, payable to NEWSPAPERBOOKS.

Article Published On Richard Weaver

An article on North Carolina conservative Richard M. Weaver by Dr. John P. East of the East Carolina University political science faculty appears in the current issue of Modern Age.

Entitled "Richard M. Weaver: The Conservatism of Affirmation," the East article explores the foundation for Weaver's conservative philosophy and analyzes its basis in the Platonic-Christian tradition.

Richard M. Weaver (1910-1963) was a native North Carolinian reared and educated in Kentucky. His advanced studies in English literature brought him into close association with John Crowe Ranson, Cleanth Brooks and Robert Penn Warren, influential literary critics of the 20th century.

East emphasizes Weaver's strong belief that the American South, which by the mid 1900's was almost the last stronghold of traditional values, was potentially the inspiration for restoring the nation's Platonic-Christian heritage.

"In contrast to the nation as a whole, the South had over the years nurtured its European roots, and this gave its thinking and way of life a degree of maturity not found in the more secular, optimistic, pragmatic, and progress-oritented ethic of the broader national experience," notes East.

Collectors Held Holiday Party

Members of the Greenville Collectors Club held its annual Christmas party Tuesday night at the home of Bessie and Grace Ross.

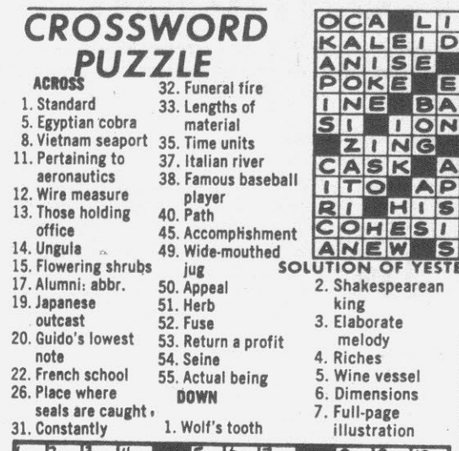

The collectors club is one devoted to all types of items people collect, and members meet monthly to exchange information and discuss trends in the forming of collections.

The January meeting has been set for January 13 at the home of Mickey and Martha Elmore.

School News

By GENEVA HOLDER

The North Pitt Panther basketball teams will host Roanoke High School tonight.

Miss Winter Sports of 1975-76 will be crowned during half time.

The junior class is sponsoring a dance tonight from 9:30 p.m. to 12 midnight. Disc jockeys Douglas Teele and Amos Joyner will provide musical entertainment in the student commons area.

The North Pitt Library Club closed Operation Santa Claus this week. Club members worked hard to make the project a success and many gifts were received.

Featured this week are Cynthia Roberts and Mike Corey.

A senior, Cynthia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oran Roberts. She is president of the Teen Dem Club, secretary of the National Honor Society Chapter, coordinating editor of the annual staff, and a member of the Senior Council and French Club.

She plans to attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and major in journalism.

Mike, a junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Corey. He is president of the junior class and a member of the FFA, SGA, and Teen Dem Club. He enjoys water skiing, basketball, baseball and music. After graduation he plans to attend North Carolina State University and major in agriculture.

The Panther wrestling team will host Rose High School on Monday.

Mrs. Donna Clark of La Grange is currently student teaching under Mrs. Betty Warren in the business department. She is a senior at East Carolina University.

The North Pitt Junior ROTC drill teams marched in the Greenville Christmas parade Saturday. The color guard also participated.

The Pershing Angels and the Pershing Rifles, drill teams from Hampton, Va., performed at North Pitt recently.

Attend Meet Of Coastal Society

The Coastal Society, a new organization dedicated to the wise use of coastal environments, held its first annual conference in Washington, D. C. recently. Representing East Carolina University was James Stembridge of the ECU geography faculty.

The conference theme, "The Present and Future of Coasts," was carried out in sessions on coastal zone management, offshore oil recovery, environmental impact assessment and legislation.

Now composed of 400 members, the Society hopes to have 1000 members at the end of 1976. Persons interested in becoming members may write Coastal Society President Herb Schwartz at P. O. Box 34405, Bethesda, Md. 20034.

POOR PRESS

ATLANTA (UPI) — The editor of the Milledgeville, Ga., Federal Union described Atlanta in a Feb. 11, 1867, editorial as "a fast place in every sense of the word. In short, everything in and about the place seems to be moving very fast except Mayor Williams, who, the last we heard from him, was steadfast and immovable."

Parenthood Course Set

Prospective parents in the East Carolina University area are invited to participate in the popular non-credit evening course "Preparation for Parenthood", to be offered again beginning Jan. 7 through the ECU Division of Continuing Education.

The class will meet Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the ECU Nursing Building, room 101, and will consist of six sessions.

The course is designed for both parents, with special tuition rates for participating couples.

As enrollment will be limited, advance registration is recommended.

Further information and application forms are available from the Office of Non-Credit Programs, Division of Continuing Education, ECU, Greenville, or telephone 758-6143.
