

Terrorists Surrender Selves In Algiers

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Terrorists who seized the Vienna headquarters of the world oil cartel surrendered to Algerian authorities today after releasing in Libya and Algeria their last hostages, including Saudi Arabia's oil minister and the interior minister of Iran.

Venezuelan Minister of Mines and Hydrocarbons Valentín Hernández Acosta, who was released Monday, said he was convinced that the terrorist leader who identified himself as "Carlos" was indeed the widely sought gunman of that name. Hernández Acosta told newsmen in Paris he spoke to Carlos in Spanish and the man claimed that was his identity.

Carlos is the code name for a Venezuelan terrorist accused of shooting three men in Paris in June and is believed connected with a number of international terrorist incidents in the past year. From the outset of the Vienna raid, he has been regarded as possibly the leader of the group which seized the headquarters of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries on Sunday.

In Munich the Bavarian Interior Ministry announced German authorities were investigating reports that the woman member of the terrorist gang is a West German.

In Vienna, Austrian officials said the government would seek extradition of the six terrorists from Algeria.

There was no immediate indication in Algiers what the government there planned to do with the five men and one woman.

The pro-Palestinian terrorists gave up less than 48 hours after they invaded the OPEC building on Vienna's Ringstrasse during a meeting of the member countries' oil ministers Sunday. The terrorists killed three persons at the OPEC headquarters, including an Austrian plainclothesman, a Libyan representative and an Iraqi security guard.

They were reported trying to get to Baghdad, seat of the leftist Iraqi government, and their surrender apparently was due to the refusal of other Arab governments to refuel their Austrian DC9 airliner and their failure to get a longer-range Boeing 707 from Algeria or Libya.

Austria provided the plane that brought them to Algiers on Monday with 10 OPEC oil ministers and 31 other officials from the OPEC governments after the terrorists promised Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky that they would release all hostages in the Algerian capital.

Instead they freed only 20 hostages during their first stop in Algiers, including Algerian Oil Minister Belaid Abdessalam and members of his delegation, the non-Arab oil ministers of Ecuador, Gabon, Nigeria and Venezuela, and lower-ranking officials. One of the terrorists, who was shot in the stomach during the Vienna attack, also was unloaded in Algiers.

Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani of Saudi Arabia and Interior Minister Jamshid Amouzegar of Iran were among the five oil ministers still held captive, and Abdessalam returned to the plane as a voluntary hostage to show his solidarity with the others.

After negotiations with Algerian Foreign Minister Abdelaziz Bouteflika, the terrorists and their remaining 22 hostages were flown Monday night to Tripoli, the Libyan capital. Bouteflika said they would be making more stops and there was talk of a tour of the other oil capitals to demand more aid for the Palestinian cause.

Energy Bill Signed, But--

Price Decrease 'Unlikely'

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration says consumers probably will not see any decrease in prices for gasoline and fuel oil, despite President Ford's signature on a bill rolling back crude oil prices.

The small potential price decrease probably will be neutralized by cost increases in oil production and the recent 10 per cent price increase by oil exporting nations, Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb said Monday.

The energy bill, signed by Ford on Monday, requires a rollback of the average price of U.S. domestic crude oil to $7.66 per barrel, a decrease of about $1.09 from recent levels.

Zarb said this rollback, plus removal of the import fee, would theoretically allow price reductions of about 2.5 to 3 cents per gallon on consumer petroleum products.

However, the increases by the oil exporting nations and current and postponed cost increases within the oil industry probably will wipe out these potential savings, he told reporters.

At most, Zarb said, petroleum prices might drop by about 1.5 cents per gallon. But under provisions of the bill oil prices may be increased by some 10 per cent a year. At that rate, even that small saving would be wiped out shortly.

The bill will virtually end oil price controls by early 1979.

If Ford had vetoed the bill, prices would have increased by about 6 to 8 cents a gallon immediately, Zarb said.

Minority Voter Ranks Increased

RALEIGH (AP)—The registration of black and other minority voters in North Carolina increased during the past year while white registration declined, state Elections Director Alex Brock reported today.

Brock said the number of blacks registered in the state total 367,030, an increase of 6,470 compared to a year ago. The registration of Indians and other minorities, he said, total 18,842, up by 1,204.

The white registration totaled 1,906,485 as of Nov. 10, a decrease of 4,963 from the total a year ago.

Brock said he attributed the minority increases to "rather vigorous registration efforts."

Figures showed Democratic registration increased by 9,290 during the year while Republican registration declined by 235. Independent and "no party" registration rose 73 and the American Party was up by 4,272.

As of Nov. 10, the total registration in North Carolina was 2,292,357, with Democrats having 1,663,594 compared to 537,333 for the Republicans. Brock said the number of precincts in North Carolina had increased 43 to 2,341.

The number of 18, 19 and 20 year olds registered to vote totals 161,000, an all-time high.

Meetings Set

Two meetings will be scheduled for Dec. 29 and 30 by the Convener Group appointed Nov. 28 by Governor James Holshouser.

The meetings will be held at 7 p.m. in the Willis Building to discuss information, opinions and recommendations pertaining to the ultimate board size and method of nominations for a Health Systems Agency for Region 6 of the Governor's Health Service Area.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

TARBORO, N.C. (AP)—A possible candidate for Democratic nomination for state labor commissioner has ruled himself out of the running.

In an announcement Monday, Gene Simmons, a former state senator and Senate reading clerk, said he won't seek the post for personal reasons. The Tarboro tobacco warehouseman said several weeks ago he was considering the race.

Break-Ins And Thefts Charged Local Youths

Five local youths were taken into custody by Greenville police early Monday morning on charges of breaking, entering and larceny. Chief Glenn Cannon said four city break-ins were cleared as a result and noted that several county break-ins were also cleared when the teenagers were arrested.

Cannon identified the youths as Noel Weldon Bradley, 16, of 2613 Cherokee Dr.; Eddie Carl Strickland II, 18, of Rt. 4, Greenville; James Alvin Stencil, 16, of Shady Knoll Trailer Park Lot 5; Gregory Glen Tyson, 17, of Rt. 8, Greenville; and a 15-year-old juvenile.

Cannon said the juvenile and Bradley were charged in connection with the theft of money from coin-operated drink machines at Plaza Shell, Porter's Arco, Leo's Perco and the North Greene Texaco service stations.

Strickland and Tyson were charged in connection with the thefts from Plaza Shell and Porter's Arco, while Stencil was charged in connection with the North Greene Texaco and Leo's Perco cases.

An estimated $10 in change was taken from each of the service station drink machines.

Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson said the arrests also cleared four county cases. He said Bradley, Stanley and the juvenile were charged in connection with break-ins at the Lewis Tyson store on Rt. 4, Greenville, and at the Greenville Livestock Yard, Rt. 5, operated by D. M. Owens. Sheriff Tyson said about $40 damage was done to the drink machine at the stock yard and about $2 worth of change was taken.

Bradley, Strickland and Tyson were charged with entering the Belvoir Grammar School, according to Sheriff Tyson. They and the 15-year-old were charged with breaking into the home of the school's principal, Alston Burke, at Rt. 4, in Belvoir.

First Family Departs For Colorado Vacation

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President Ford will have to do without the guidance of his regular ski instructor when he arrives here for an eight-day Christmas stay. The instructor is taking a Christmas vacation of his own.

Dennis C. Hoeger, who has been skiing with the Ford family for five years and was Ford's teacher a year ago, will remain in Denver to spend Christmas with his family.

Ford flew from Washington to Vail early today.

Cold, partly cloudy weather was forecast here, with no mention of snow. It hasn't snowed for a week, but a 32-inch base was reported at the top of the mountain with two feet of snow midway down the hill.

Robert Dorf, administrative director of the Vail ski school, said Hoeger decided it would be "just too much of a crunch" to try to get in enough instruction during Ford's eight-day stay. The President spent two weeks here last year.

Nonetheless, Ford will have plenty of company on the slopes, including Secret Service agents, members of the Vail Ski Patrol and Pepi Gramshammer, a family friend and a former member of the Austrian National ski team.

The arrival of Ford, his wife Betty and their son Jack, 23, will bring the First Family together for Christmas. The three other children, Susan, 18; Stephen, 19; and Michael, 24, arrived Saturday, accompanied by Michael's wife Gayle, 23.

The Fords will rent from millionaire Houston businessman Richard Bass the same chalet they stayed in a year ago.

Qualified As Bidder On Evans Street Parcel

Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Association, 105 W. Fourth Street, qualified yesterday as a bidder on an Evans Street parcel located between Eighth and Ninth Streets.

Bob Martin, representing Farmers Mutual, appeared before a special meeting of the Redevelopment Commission and requested that the firm be authorized to submit a bid on Disposal Parcel T2-a located in the middle of the block between Eighth and Ninth on the west side of Evans.

Martin said that Farmers Mutual plans to construct an office building on the site, if successful in bidding. The structure would contain some 1,500 square feet, he informed commissioners, and would meet all building requirements of local and state codes.

The Redevelopment Commission will advertise for bids on the parcel, which contains 12,000 square feet and is two parcels down from the Art Center, in January.

Commissioners yesterday approved Mrs. Florence Blount as the high bidder, subject to City Council approval, on the building located at the southwest corner of Fourth and Evans Street. Mrs. Blount submitted a bid of $36,660 for the former McKay-Washington building, now occupied by Julienne Card & Gift Shoppe Inc.

The Commission opened bids on Dec. 15 to sell the structure, which measures some 70 feet by 34 feet. Sale of the building will be made subject to renovation up to full code standards.

The matter is expected to be on the January Council agenda.

In another matter on the special agenda, the Commission approved the awarding of first and second appraisal contracts to Eddie Dozier and Les Turnage for appraisals on the proposed site for construction of elderly housing by the city under the Community Development Program.

The proposed site is located between Third and Fourth Streets behind St. Paul's Episcopal Church and across from John's Flowers. The parcel contains approximately one and a half acres.

Four proposals for the appraisal work were submitted and the Commission awarded the contracts to Dozier and Turnage as the two low appraisers.

Commissioners authorized the advertisement for a public hearing before the Redevelopment Commission of the West Meadowbrook Community Development Program for Jan. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Imports Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will import in the next five years as much oil as it has consumed from all sources in the last 3½ years, a Library of Congress study says.

The report, for the congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, also concludes that in 1977 the United States will be forced to import 50 per cent more oil than it does today.

All of the increase in foreign oil would come from North Africa and the Middle East, the study said.

"Energy may well become the 'Achilles heel' of U.S. foreign policy the same way as agricultural shortages are for the Soviet Union," which is forced to buy huge amounts of U.S. grain in bad crop years, the study states.

The study said U.S. reliance on Arab oil will grow. It said domestic oil production, as projected, will continue to decline by 8 per cent a year and Canada and Venezuela will cut back their exports to the United States to conserve their own resources.

It also concluded that Great Britain would become energy independent by the early 1980s and Norway would begin to export oil from its North Sea fields.

The study's assumptions include early, successful discoveries of offshore U.S. oil sources and production by 1985 of the oil equivalent of one million barrels a day in synthetic fuels.

AMA Rule Is FTC Target For Complaint

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission, trying to bring competition to doctors' offices, says the American Medical Association illegally prohibits its 170,000 members from advertising their services, qualifications and prices.

In a complaint filed Monday the FTC named as defendants the Connecticut State Medical Society and the New Haven, Conn., County Medical Association in addition to the American Medical Association.

The AMA said it would fight the FTC.

ices "have been stabilized, fixed or otherwise interfered with; competition between medical doctors in the provision of such services has been hindered, restrained, foreclosed and frustrated, and consumers have been deprived of information pertinent to the selection of a physician and of the benefits of competition."

Alfred Dougherty Jr., deputy director of the Bureau of Competition, told a news conference the FTC complaint would not require doctors to advertise but only allow them to do so if they wished.

"We think there is enough hucksterism in this country without hucksterizing medicine," said AMA chairman Raymond Holden and AMA president Max Parrott in a joint statement issued in Chicago.

The statement said, "It is ironic that the FTC should attack a code devised and operated as a standard of conduct in the best interest of the patient."

FTC officials said the Connecticut groups were named as representatives of all state and local groups that use the AMA code.

The complaint comes at a time when the Ford administration is making a broad push to increase competition in all sectors of the economy. It also follows a Supreme Court decision that held that legal societies could not fix the prices their lawyer members could charge.

A ruling on the merits of the complaint will not be made until the defendants have had a chance to present their side of the case.

The FTC said it would open hearings before an administrative law judge on Feb. 9. The ruling by that judge could be appealed to the full commission and to the federal courts.

The complaint is based on the AMA's principles of medical ethics, a code which prohibits member physicians from advertising or soliciting business or from engaging in price competition.

The accusation alleges that as a result of this code, and of similar codes adopted by state and local medical associations, the prices of physicians' serv-

Disagree On Angola Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—North Carolina's senators don't see eye to eye on aid to Angola, although both are considered hawks on most military matters.

Republican Jesse Helms and Democrat Robert Morgan made their positions known in House speeches last week.

Helms voted in favor, but reluctantly, for a bill aimed at ending U.S. aid to anti-Soviet forces in the Angolan civil war. He said he preferred to pull out now rather than leave it to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger for a "negotiated surrender" that would be "long, protracted, painful and expensive."

Morgan voted against the bill, which the Senate passed 55-22. It hasn't been considered by the House yet.

Morgan said, "There is no reason for freedom-loving Americans to abandon the Third World to totalitarianism, for if we do we are not only isolationists, we shall find ourselves isolated."

Commutation For 225 Inmates

RALEIGH (AP)—Shortened sentences have been ordered for 225 Tar Heel prison inmates who now will be home for Christmas.

Following tradition, Gov. Jim Holshouser commuted sentences for inmates close to their normal release time.

It was the smallest commutation of Holshouser's three years in office. Last year 251 inmates were freed early and in 1973 some 265 inmates were released early.

Under the governor's order inmates who would normally be freed between last Friday and Jan 9 are to be released before Christmas.

Wildlife Area Will Be Flooded

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has proposed an area east of Kansas City on the Missouri River as a replacement for the Trimble State Wildlife Area. Trimble will be flooded by the Smithville Reservoir in 1978. It is the location of a flock of giant Canada geese once thought extinct.

Monday Saw 2 Accidents

An estimated $1,600 property damage resulted yesterday from two collisions investigated by Greenville Police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 12:40 p.m. collision at the intersection of Farmville Boulevard and Line Avenue involving cars driven by Kenneth Reginald Brown of 1211A Legion St. and Gloria Turnage Tyson of 600G West 14th St.

Police, who charged Mrs. Tyson with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety, estimated damage at $600 to the Brown car and $350 to the Tyson auto.

Mamie Felder Tyson of 701 West Fourth St. was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of an 8:23 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Grande Avenue and Chestnut Street.

Officers said the Tyson car, which suffered an estimated $400 damage, collided with a truck driven by Norman Griffith McLeod of 206 North Summit St. which received an estimated $250 damage in the collision.

New Try For Rate Boost

RALEIGH (AP)—Blue Cross-Blue Shield of North Carolina will try again to get the rate increase it has requested for non-group policyholders, the company's president said.

Thomas A. Rose issued a statement Monday that his company would implement the rates approved Dec. 1 by Insurance Commissioner John R. Ingram, but the increased income won't be enough to offset costs. He said Blue Cross-Blue Shield will make a second appeal to Ingram for the increase.

In July, the agency requested an increase averaging 49 per cent but Ingram allowed an average 37.9 per cent raise in rates. The increase takes effect Jan. 1 and affects about 305,000 non-group policyholders.

Rose said the new rates won't cover the cost of claims and administrative services and still allow the company to increase its reserves as required by law. The reserves are now about 2.6 months of operating and claims costs, but law requires three months reserves, he said.

In the four categories the firm had sought increases, Rose said losses now amount to about $650,000 a month.

Scouts Present 'Eagle Roster'

The leadership of Boy Scout Troop 362 last night presented their Greenville Moose Lodge sponsors a plaque listing the 23 Eagle Scouts on the troop roster since it was chartered.

Assistant Scoutmaster and Advancement Committee Chairman Bill Shaw made the presentation to lodge Governor James Fleming.

The lodge also heard reports of Christmas activities which included a contribution to the Salvation Army, remembrances for the widows of former Moose members, the delivery of fruit baskets to residents of the Greenville Nursing Home (assisted by Santa Claus) and the Christmas party for children of the Moose held Sunday evening.

The membership was reminded only a few New Year's Eve dance tickets were still available. Attendance this year will be held to a fixed number, with favors, hats and an early-morning breakfast being provided the revellers.

Santa, who rarely misses a lodge meeting, reported in late; explaining he had been visiting children at Pitt Memorial Hospital and it had taken longer than he had planned.

Secretary E.M. Baldrée announced the enrollment of new members would take place next Monday night.

Two Died In Sunday Fire

MAPLE CYPRUS — Two men died in a house fire in this Craven County community near Grifton early Sunday morning.

Craven County Fire Marshal Henry Sermons identified the dead men as Walter Greene, 80, and James Evans, 58. William Rhem, a third occupant of the house, sustained second degree burns on his face and hands and is hospitalized in New Bern.

Sermons quoted Rhem as saying that he woke up when he heard Evans hollering. Evans' clothes were afire, he said, and he assisted him in putting them out. At that instant, he said, fire rolled into his room and he went out the window, thinking Evans was behind him. He never saw him again. Greene's body was found on the charred bedsprings.

The fire was well underway when it was spotted by a Craven County Deputy Sheriff, Sermons said. The house was burned to the ground before the nearest fire department could get there.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

It is the week of Christmas. The house across the street has lights strung across the eaves and a spotlight on an eight-foot Santa Claus who is ready to descend the chimney.

The house next door has a bigger-than-life manger scene on the front lawn with a live camel and blue lights that spell out "Oh Holy Night."

Others in the neighborhood illuminate the darkness with candles by the entranceway, candy canes blinking in the windows, stained glass doors, bells and wreaths that swing from mailboxes and driveway lamps.

Our house is not what you would call a religious experience. Our doorbell is illuminated.

If you turned off your car lights, you'd hit us.

We live with a fire freak. Translated to layman's terminology, a fire freak is a person whose umbilical cord was shorted. He cannot pass a Christmas tree without feeling how dry the branches are... can never see a night light burning that he doesn't reach out and feel the wall... can never pass a candle in church without spitting.

We are the last ones in the neighborhood to put our tree up and the first one to take it down. The entire cycle takes about three hours.

"You are ruining our Christmas," I said to my husband. "Why can't we put our tree up before Christmas like other people? And why do we always have to decorate it with garden hose and fire extinguisher? And dump it in a garbage can of water?"

"Many people take those same precautions," he counselled.

"With a plastic tree? Be serious. The children and I have made out a list of no-nos for this Christmas and we would appreciate it if you would follow them."

"1. No more roping off parking space in front of the house that says, 'Reserved For Emergency Vehicles.'"

"2. No more replacing the mistletoe with dry garlic buds. It is NOT the same."

"3. We demand that we have at least a porch light lit during the holidays."

Later one of the kids said, "How did you talk him into the porch light?"

"I told him it was the only way the fire department could read our house number."

It was fashioned with a high ruffled collar and lace overlaying the princess cut bodice. All lace details were repeated on the long fitted sleeves and the bouffant skirt. A deeply flounced lace ruffle formed the hemline of the skirt and the built-in semi-cathedral length train.

Her Juliet cap was of matching lace, with pearls attached to a three-tiered veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white roses interspersed with red sweetheart roses and showered with candlelight ribbon.

Miss Lorraine McLawhorn of Kinston served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Lynne McLawhorn of Kinston, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Brenda Holliday of Chapel Hill, Miss Teri Avery of Greenville, cousin of the bride, and Miss Rose Harper and Miss Sue Norcross, both of Kinston.

The bridesmaids wore gowns identical to the maid of honor's. They carried similar nosegays of white pom poms, red sweetheart roses and white ribbons.

The flower girls wore formal length gowns of burgundy polyester knit which featured long sleeves and high necklines edged in lace. They carried white baskets filled with red rose petals and showered with white ribbon.

Serving as best man was the bridegroom's father. Ushers were George Ervin McLawhorn of Kinston, brother of the bride, Mark Mills of Woodstock, Va., Jim Mills of Raleigh, and Don Mills of Kinston, all brothers of the bridegroom, and Billy Holliday of Chapel Hill. Timmy Peed, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Carboro.

The bridegroom is attending the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and is majoring in math. The bride is employed as an optometric assistant in Chapel Hill. She attended Lenoir Community College.

A reception followed the wedding in the church fellowship hall.

An after-rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents at King's Restaurant.

A luncheon was given for the bridesmaids at the Kinstonian Restaurant by Mrs. Alice Mansfield and Mrs. Lynne M. McLawhorn, sister-in-law of the bride, both of Kinston.

Wife Doesn't Dig Co-Ed Coal Miners

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband works in the coal mines, and I just found out that they recently hired some women to work right alongside the men!

Abby, I don't want my husband working with women. I've talked to lots of other wives, and they feel the same way about it. We can see nothing but trouble ahead. What can we do about it?

CUMBERLAND, KY.

DEAR CUMBERLAND: You may not dig your husband working with women, but it's highly unlikely that "his" and "her" coal mines will become a reality.

I personally dig equal opportunities for women—above or below ground.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old male who has been seeing a psychologist about a stuttering and stammering problem I've had since puberty.

My therapist is a middle-aged woman who was recommended to me by my physician.

During our last session, my therapist suggested that a sexual relationship between us might be the answer to my problem. She knows that I am married, and although I have told her that my sex life at home is not ideal, I've also said it is not a serious problem to me. Anyway, I don't know how this could be related to my stuttering and stammering problem, do you?

Will you please ask your consultants what they think about this situation?

Hurry your reply as I told her I would think about it. Perhaps I should tell you that the therapist is also married.

WAITING TO HEAR

DEAR WAITING: I urge you (and any other patient whose therapist suggests that sex between them should be part of the "treatment") to refuse firmly, report the incident to the ethics board of the therapist's professional association and look for a new therapist. (P.S. The physician who recommended this therapist should also be informed.)

Prudence Now Will Be Helpful

The state is not starting a day too soon putting a holddown on expenditures.

It was reported last week that, while there had been no public announcement, Gov. Holshouser has asked state officials to minimize spending.

Budget Officer Kenneth Howard said there was nothing specific. "We're just tightening down generally."

Corrections Secretary David L. Jones said the governor has requested administrators to look closely at budgets and cut every way possible. "Instead of putting on a freeze, he thinks we have the ability to cut anyway," Jones said.

State revenues have been running below expectations so far this fiscal year. Although things are improving, these early disappointing months are not expected to be made up.

If the state is to have any money left over at the end of the fiscal year, it will have to be saved out of the operating budget and that appears to be the reason for the cautious spending.

We approve of the tightening down order. It is the one way the state can build up surplus funds so that pay increases can be granted to state employees and teachers, without resorting to a tax increase.

Since both were denied pay raises this year because of the financial problems brought on by the recession, it seems essential that some increase be granted next year. At best, state employees will only be staying up with the inflation rate which has still continued to rise, despite the economic slump.

If the state spends prudently now, it can have funds for salary increases in the next fiscal year; thus the holddown on state spending is proper.

No Question Of Need For Fire Station

The City Council last week approved $242,000 in bids for construction of a new fire station on Memorial Drive.

The station will replace an older fire house on Chestnut Street, a project that has been planned for sometime.

The location of the new facility was controversial, but the council finally decided it would be built at 2405-2407 S. Memorial Drive.

There is no question that the station needed to be relocated. Getting the building constructed and in use will be beneficial to the city.

Panel School-Change Idea

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—A legislative study group has quietly formed its consensus of which way re-organization of the state's public school leadership should go.

"By everybody's admission, we must decide that we don't want the State Superintendent of Public Instruction elected. Boards—at the state level like the local—need to be in charge of the superintendents," says William E. Poe, Charlotte attorney, nine-year veteran school board chairman, member of the legislative commission to revamp school law, and chairman of a subcommittee charged with seeking some answers to the complexities in the public school hierarchy.

"It certainly came out in the public hearings across the state, and has come forth prominently in other studies conducted... that we need a change," Poe said.

Clear Need
State Rep. A. Hartwell Campbell, D-Wilson, also a member of the subcommittee on organization, said there is a clear need for "both the superintendent and the controller to be diminished in size."

"Something needs to be done and must be done to resolve possible conflicts between the superintendent, the State Board of Education, and the controller," Campbell said. "I'm not speaking of personalities—but of structure."

The record shows, however, there have been constant conflicts of both personality and structure in the public instruction leadership. The superintendent is elected statewide, the State Board of Education appointed, and the controller set up to monitor budget and spending operates independently of the superintendent.

The situation has produced numerous conflicts between Supt. A. Craig Phillips, Board Chairman Dallas Herring, and Controller A. C. Davis.

While the solution put forth by the Poe subcommittee is still tentative and subject to change, the entire commission on public school law has endorsed it without disagreement as to philosophy. Some discussion of details continues.

Plan Proposed
Here is the Poe plan:

1. An amendment to the State Constitution would remove the state superintendent as an elected official. He would be hired (and fired) by the State Board of Education, and serve as chief administrative officer to the board, carrying out policy and implementing decisions. That, basically, is how local school boards work.

2. An amendment to the State Constitution would change the method of appointment and makeup of the State Board of Education. There would be 11 members; one from each of eight school regions, and three appointed by the governor.

Each local school board would nominate one person, and the 147 nominees submitted to the General Assembly for selection of the eight members. The governor would submit his nominees to the legislature for approval, and would take into account minority (race, sex, political party) representation in his nominations.

3. The financial officer would work for the superintendent as an assistant or deputy superintendent.

Poe said his group finds the attitude strong both among the public and the commission for change. The biggest problem would be convincing the public that none of the top school people would be elected.

"If either is elected, you run the chance that somebody will put up a lot of dollars and win the race. Our feeling is that the General Assembly should be responsible, and with 170 members only one step removed from the grassroots, you will have protection of the public interest... also, you will have grassroots representation by the nominations from local school boards," Campbell said.

INSIDE REPORT

Reagan Revived Memories

By ROWLANDEVANS and ROBERTNOVAK
WASHINGTON—Late Saturday night, Dec. 13, in Houston, Tex., Ronald Reagan sent shudders up supporters' spines by evoking grim memories of the 1964 Goldwater debacle and pointing the way to his own possible self-destruction.

Suddenly ahead in the Gallup Poll for the presidential nomination, Reagan was riding high at the Southern Republican conference with President Ford conspicuously absent and Ford operatives making conspicuous mistakes. But when asked from the floor following his banquet speech about insolvency in the Social Security system, Reagan began describing a highly complicated—and questionable—scheme for wholesale Social Security reform.

The scheme, involving government retirement bonds, certainly would not make Social Security voluntary. But that's what it sounded like to many old pros, including a newspaper reporter who stated as much in his story.

For Republicans, coupling "voluntary" with "Social Security" is bitterly evocative of 1964 when just such a proposal by Sen. Barry Goldwater doomed him in the New Hampshire primary and helped bury him in the general election. Thus, even though Reagan did not and surely will not actually propose the retirement bond plan (which does not make Social Security voluntary in any event), he offered succulent goodies for party foes—including Ford operatives—who want to make him the Barry Goldwater of 1976.

Indeed, the Ford camp hopes Reagan has ruined himself among the large retired populations in the key primary states of Florida (34 per cent of Republican voters) and New Hampshire (27 per cent). But deeper damage to Reagan stems from questions raised about ideologies influential in his campaign and about the candidate's own lack of discipline.

Conservatives with undying loyalty to Goldwater throughout 1964 are not willing to suffer another campaign of ideological disasters and another undisciplined candidate. "I will not go for Reagan if he's going to be another Goldwater," a nationally prominent conservative, regarded as pro-Reagan, told us. "And he's going to be another Goldwater if he gets all mixed up in philosophy."

The Social Security gaffe in Houston reflects division within the Reagan camp between philosophic theorists and practical politicians. Jeff Bell, Reagan's brainy idea man (who authored his politically dubious scheme to transfer $90 billion of federal spending to the states), feels the campaign must put forth new ideas—such as the Social Security scheme.

Practical politicians enlisted in Reagan's army strenuously disagree with such high-risk tactics. "You cannot educate in a campaign," says the astute Rep. Philip Crane of Illinois. Crane's views were vigorously endorsed this week by Reagan political advisers during secret meetings in Los Angeles planning the campaign.

But Jeff Bell cannot be made scapegoat for Reagan's bungle in Houston. Reagan himself failed to show the personal concentration and political sensitivity characteristic of his two campaigns for governor of California and essential for his presidential campaign.

Lack of concentration was shown in Houston when he forgot careful advice to preface any Social Security discussion with a pledge to "save" the system so the aged will continue to get their checks; instead, Reagan dove into a full discussion of the hideously complicated retirement bond plan. His

Strength For Today

TO THE ENDS OF THE EARTH
When the Christian church began centuries ago, it was a great witnessing movement. There were no colleges or seminaries or church buildings. There was no church organization. The apostles in Jerusalem were surrounded by a multitude of people who considered it their duty to witness to the resurrection of Jesus Christ and to his potency in transforming the soul and making life new.

This witnessing told the good news to neighbors, and so the gospel spread rapidly.

Then came persecution. Christians were scattered to all parts of Palestine, and ultimately, to all parts of the Roman world. Wherever they settled down, they again carried the good news, and Christianity then became a world movement.

From these circumstances surrounding the spread of Christianity we draw the eternal spiritual principle that the place most effectively to begin to build the kingdom of God is right where we happen to live and in the circumstances in which we are placed.

A Better Way Is Needed

Hubert H. Humphrey, the famous non-candidate, appeared on the CBS morning news last week. He said little that he hadn't said before, this being the rule observed by all non-candidates, but he said something about the presidential primary system that merits passing thought.

The present system, said the Happy Warrior, "is emotionally, physically, and financially exhausting."

The Hump should know. He has probably traveled more miles along the campaign trail than any other politician now active on the national stage. He has the hide of a bull elephant, the stamina of Gunga Din, and most of the time he's had enough money. But when the trail ended in California in 1972, Humphrey was drained, bone-tired and broke.

Oregon conceived the presidential primary in 1910. LaFollette's Progressives took up the idea; it caught on like the hula hoop. By 1916, no fewer than 26 states had taken it up, but the fad went out like streaking. There were only 17 state primaries in 1968. Then the fad came back. The 1972 election saw 23 primaries. This time around, a record 28 have been scheduled.

Over the years, critics have denounced the presidential primaries as absurd, chaotic, fatuous, insane, irrational, and so on down the alphabet to zany. Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota says that "our present nominating system is something close to anarchy and in desperate need of fundamental and comprehensive change."

Let me say amen to all of the above. The quadrennial lunacy begins in New Hampshire on February 24. It winds up in California, Arkansas, New Jersey and Ohio on June 8. It will be remarkable if any two states have identical ballots. The Democrats work by one set of rules, the Republicans by another. In some states individuals run for election as delegates to national conventions; in other states the presidential candidates name their own delegates. Degrees of commitment vary.

The whole business is wacky, and the nature of news makes it wackier still. Next month the safaris to New Hampshire get under way in earnest. The mating call of sound trucks will spread across the snowy land. From base camps in Manchester and Concord, the several candidates will hunt the wary voter. TV crews will come in pack trains; reporters, bearing portable typewriters, will march in ritual files. On the morning of February 25, we will bag the trophy known as Significance; we will interpret What It All Means.

It will mean mighty little. New Hampshire is a great state—but by any yardsticks of population, race, religion, age, education, occupation, and political affiliation, New Hampshire has no national meaning. None. But it comes first: Numero Uno. That makes it news. The Massachusetts primary on the following Tuesday, March 2, will be more important and less regarded. Who can name the second guy on the moon?

Mondale has introduced a bill to introduce some sense of order to what he describes as "this mindless process." He proposes a series of six primaries, two weeks apart from late March to mid-June, to be conducted by region. No state would be required to conduct a presidential primary; no candidate would have to run in all that were held. But Mondale would have one set of uniform ground rules, and his plan would eliminate most of the mad and costly scramble from coast to coast.

Other Editors Say In Other Cities

(Chapel Hill Newspaper)

Before the ink even got dry on the bill allowing New York City to borrow $3.2 billion and pay it back over the next 10 years, the word is out in Washington that the D. C. government must come up with $45.5 to $56.5 million through employment layoffs or tax increases between now and July 1. The city had already approved new taxes for the current fiscal year amounting to $46 million. City administrator Julian Dugas says there are only two ways to get the needed money—further layoffs or an immediate tax increase. Folks residing or doing business now in Washington, D. C. are probably saying, "Virginia and Maryland, here we come."

It was also reported in the Washington report that for the past several years the city had paid a considerable part of this year's bills from next year's budget. In other words, the city does not pay for certain expenses incurred near the end of the fiscal year (June 30) until the beginning of the next fiscal year (June 30) until the beginning of the next fiscal year, when the payments are then made out of the new year's budget.

As the Washington Star points out the D. C. operation is "much the same thing as charging all your Christmas presents so you can delay payment until January."

This information is furnished mainly for you to put in file B. The same situation will be repeated in hundreds of cities throughout the country in 1976. The demands of the people who cannot pay taxes are becoming so great that the demands of the people who do pay taxes are going bankrupt. That leaves a collision course that dictates the two groups must operate in opposite directions if the country is to survive. When there are once again fewer handouts and lower taxes, there will be hope for survival. In our bicentennial year it would be a good time to give more than passing thought to the problem and do something about it.

Letters To The Public Forum

To the editor:

Your editorial of Dec. 15 tells me like it is: "Congress Votes for more inflation". It is true that deficit spending by the Federal Government is the CAUSE of inflation.

However, your explanation of why it causes inflation is not exactly correct. If the Federal Government did in fact "borrow" the money from our economy, it would not cause inflation (but it would keep businesses from growing by tying up available money). Borrowing money does not cause inflation. It makes no difference if you spend your own money or if the government borrows it and spends it. That does NOT cause inflation.

A lot of people were taught that banks must balance their books; that is, they may not lend more money than they take in in deposits. Our school teachers continue to teach that, as a fact, to our children. But it is not true. The Federal Reserve Bank is authorized by congress to "increase the money supply". As the country grows that is necessary and if left alone they could do a good job of it. But when congress decides to spend more money than they collect in taxes they make up the difference by having the Federal Reserve Bank "increase the money supply" by the amount of the deficit. In other words, they print that much money.

When this worthless money is spent it creates temporary shortages and inflation follows shortly thereafter.

Just think, the federal government's deficit this year is bigger than ever!

Sincerely yours,
Joseph C. Hunt

To the editor:

It is that time again—the Christmas season, a remembrance of the birth of Christ, Prince of love and peace. The customary greeting "Merry Christmas" in the year 1975 somehow, to me, does not seem fitting.

Throughout the Universe there is strife: Christians and Moslems, Catholics and Protestants in Ireland, Arabs and Israelis, Chinese and Russian Communists, Basques and Spaniards, Communists and Non-Communists in Portugal.

There are victims of malnutrition and hunger at a time when there are people living in an overabundance of luxury. There is the over-indulgence of the 'haves' versus the frugality of the needy 'have nots'. Greed and selfishness appear to be the overpowering drives of many people 'in all walks of life' and apathy is a fault of many also.

Let us make it a "Merry Christmas" for the children. But, for Christ, let us resolve, each and everyone of us, to give a gift of personal integrity. Hopefully, personal integrity en masse could lead to national integrity.

Blessed Christmas, blessed Christmas!

Sincerely,
Helen Y. Trapp

Kimchi Is Pure Korean

By LEON DANIEL

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — When I lived in Japan I worried about the future of a people who ate seaweed and threw away turnip greens because they considered them inedible.

As an East Tennessean, I was raised on turnip greens. I couldn't understand how the Japanese could throw away the greens and eat only the turnip, a vegetable as uninteresting in Tokyo as it was in Knoxville.

The Japanese made out just fine, however, so now I have turned my concern to the dietary habits of the Koreans, who eat kimchi, a fiery side dish of vegetables pickled with red peppers and garlic.

No Korean meal is complete without kimchi. It is the ultimate in Seoul food.

It is estimated that this year the almost seven million residents of this capital city will devour 114,000 tons of cabbage, the staple ingredient of kimchi.

But it is the 4,600 tons of red peppers and 2,480 tons of garlic that go into Seoul's annual kimchi production that makes eating the stuff a character-building experience.

All who eat kimchi emit a powerful odor when they breathe outward. This presents no problem because just about everyone — foreigners included — eats kimchi.

They eat it because they like it, not necessarily in self-defense.

This is the season for making winter kimchi.

The markets here are filled with women in brightly colored Korean dress sniffing red peppers and squeezing those oblong Chinese cabbages some call celery cabbage.

There are many recipes for kimchi, but all Korean housewives employ special touches which give their own an individual flavor.

In addition to cabbage, garlic and red peppers, kimchi often contains in various combinations turnip, cucumber, spinach, onions, parsley and ginger. Fruit and fish can be thrown in for extra pungency.

When the ingredients are mixed they are placed in a large earthenware jar and allowed to ferment for a month or so.

40 Years Ago Today

December 23, 1935

Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh and their son, Jon, have sailed for Europe, his friends and business associates disclosed today, giving rise to contradicted speculation on whether they will make their home in England.

The New York Times said the famous aviator and his family would establish a permanent residence in England because of repeated kidnap threats against Jon.

Business associates of Colonel Lindbergh in Pan-America Airways confirmed his departure for England, but said his connection with the line as research head was unchanged.

At Englewood, N.J., home of Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Morrow, a close friend of the family insisted they had gone away merely for a Christmas holiday trip.

Two Manson Followers Indicted For Mail Threats

By STEVE LAWRENCE
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — One of the last of Charles Manson's original band has been indicted with another woman on charges of conspiring to mail 171 threatening letters to business and government leaders. The indictment was issued Monday against Sandra Good, 31, former roommate of Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, convicted of trying to assassinate President Ford and sentenced to life imprisonment. Susan "Heather" Murphy, 28, a former nurse, was indicted on the same charge, and Miss Fromme was named as an undicted co-conspirator.

FBI agents arrested Miss Good and Miss Murphy at Miss Good's apartment soon after a federal grand jury returned the sealed indictment. Their arraignment was scheduled later today but there was some expectation it might be delayed.

As she was driven from her apartment, Miss Good rolled down a window in the back seat of the FBI car and asked, "What about Nixon and his friends and their conspiracy?"

Miss Fromme was Miss Good's roommate until she was arrested Sept. 5 in Sacramento after pointing a .45 caliber pistol at Ford. Both women were early followers of Manson, the convicted murderer of actress Sharon Tate and six other persons. Most of Manson's early followers are either in jail or have dropped their allegiance to him.

Miss Fromme and Miss Good have urged a halt to pollution of the earth and say an "International People's Court of Retribution" would act against polluters. Miss Good said the court had members in major cities around the world.

Babcock would not reveal to whom the letters were addressed except to say that they were business and government officials. But he said threats were similar to those made by Miss Good when she released the so-called death list.

Last Sept. 11, Miss Good released a list of 70 government and business leaders and firms, saying they were marked for death by such a court unless they stopped polluting the earth.

The charges carry a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. They were held in lieu of $50,000 bond each.

The indictment accuses Miss Good and Miss Murphy, said to be a more recent convert to Manson's philosophy, of conspiring with Miss Fromme over at least a three-month period to mail the letters. It says that on the same day Miss Fromme was arrested, Miss Good and Miss Murphy gave the letters to a friend, Michael Davies, and asked him to mail them. Instead, said Asst. U.S. Atty. Bruce Babcock, Davies turned the letters over to the FBI.

lack of sensitivity over linking himself to 1964 was clearly revealed with this comment: "Barry Goldwater, God bless him, tried to warn the people years ago and nobody paid any attention."

Fortunately for Reagan, he did not commit himself ("I just offer this as an example of the thinking of some knowledgeable people," he said). In fact, he met privately in Los Angeles Tuesday with economic advisers who called the retirement bond scheme outrageously expensive for the federal government. Surely, no more will be heard of it.

Nevertheless, Reagan damaged himself. In 1964, 1965 and even in his first campaign for governor in 1966, Reagan often proposed voluntarism in Social Security ("Do not exchange freedom for the soup kitchen of compulsory insurance," he said on May 23, 1964). There were no such quotations in the last decade. But the Houston gaffe could—and probably will—be used by the Ford campaign to show that in the political veteran of 1976 is concealed the political novice of 1966.

Worse is the pattern of putting ideology above practical politics which Reagan political advisers sought to end in this week's Los Angeles meetings. Besides the $90 billion spending-transfer plan and the Social Security venture, Reagan also suggested in Houston that grain sales to Russian depend on Kremlin reductions in armaments—angering farmers outraged by Mr. Ford's grain embargo this year. That pattern of busy-body problem solving, far more than Bo Callaway's puerile criticism, threatens to slow down the Reagan campaign before it fairly begins.

Pentagon Convinced No Try To Blind Satellites

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say a mysterious phenomenon that caused concern about possible Soviet efforts to blind U.S. early warning satellites resulted from flames from a ruptured natural gas pipeline in Russia.

These sources say a study has convinced U.S. experts that the Soviets did not, as first feared, focus laser beams on a stationary American satellite on guard against possible surprise missile attack.

Secretary of Defense Donald H. Rumsfeld told his first Pentagon news conference Monday that he is now satisfied the Russians had not been experimenting with possible use of high-intensity laser beams to blind the sensors on U.S. satellites. These infrared sensors are designed to detect missile launches inside Russian territory.

"It is clear to us that there is not a violation of the U.S.-Soviet nuclear arms limitation agreement) in that connection," Rumsfeld said.

The 1972 arms agreement forbids both countries from interfering with "national means of detection," a euphemism for satellites that keep watch on the other side's territory.

The new defense chief indicated, without saying so explicitly, that he has seen no concrete evidence of any Soviet violations of the strategic arms accord.

Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt, retired Chief of Naval Operations and now a potential Senate candidate from Virginia, has accused the Russians of cheating on that agreement.

The concern of U.S. intelligence officials was triggered during the fall, when a U.S. early-warning satellite in a stationary orbit more than 22,000 miles in space was illuminated on five occasions by a strong infra-red light source from Western Russia.

Although the satellite was not for acid indigestion, it also should be reported that kimchi constitutes the main sources of Vitamin C in the Korean diet.

It is estimated that a housewife of a five-member family will buy about 100 cabbage heads, as well as the other ingredients, to produce winter kimchi.

About 100 woman hours are required to make the stuff, which in its final stage becomes reddish orange and is sliced into small chunks served in small side dishes at all meals.

No one is certain when the Koreans started eating kimchi.

The Chinese may have had a hand in it when they introduced red peppers and garlic to the Korean Peninsula about 2,000 years ago.

My wife Carobel, a South Carolinian who once talked bemused Tokyo grocers into saving their turnip greens for her rather than throwing them out, sampled kimchi last weekend during her first trip to the Republic of Korea.

"Delicious," she said, chop-sticking several varieties from the food-laden table.

I followed suit. Not necessarily in self-defense.

Oregon's Sen. Robert Packwood proposed much the same plan four years ago; his idea was for five regional primary dates, a month apart from March through July. Packwood's bill never got off the ground, and Mondale's measure may not fly either.

Both tradition and the Constitution stand in the way of federal regulation of the process that leads ultimately to the naming of presidential electors.

But at least part of Mondale's bill should pass. He proposes a study commission to work on this problem in advance of the 1980 elections. The idea is sound. "It is impossible," Mondale correctly observes, "to devise a perfect system. It may even be impossible to devise a good system. But it should be possible to come up with a system that is far superior to the one we have at present." Having just put a fresh ribbon in the old portable, I will say amen to that, too.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market steadied today in bargain hunting after a two-session slide. Prices were mixed in quiet trading.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.42 at 840.05. But losers held a slight over-all edge on gainers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted that relatively little selling carried over into early activity this morning from the 13.46-point decline in the Dow over the two previous trading days.

As selling pressure dried up, analysts said, buyers began to move in, in some cases to cover short positions by buying back shares borrowed and sold earlier.

Brokers found little in the economic news to push the market strongly in either direction. They said the main influence on prices continued to be maneuvering for yearend tax purposes.

Glamor issues led the market's comeback attempt. Polaroid was up 3/4 at 30; National Semiconductor gained 1/4 to 38 1/2; Burroughs was up 1/4 at 84, and Xerox rose 1/2 to 50, all in active trading.

Scot Lad Foods was the most active issue on the Big Board, unchanged at 5 1/2.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks edged up .01 to 46.49 in the first hour.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was unchanged at 81.75.

Reviving Issue Of Terrorists

By WILLIAM N. OATIS Associated Press Writer UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The terrorist attack on the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries has revived the issue of terrorism at the United Nations, and Venezuela and Colombia are going to request a special General Assembly session to take up the problem.

The Venezuelan Foreign Ministry said Presidents Carlos Andres Perez of Venezuela and Alfonso Lopez Michelsen of Colombia agreed to propose the special session to analyze "growing insecurity" and approve a treaty "to prevent terrorist acts and punish them quickly and severely."

Perez was impelled to action because his oil minister was among those taken hostage in the attack Sunday on the Vienna headquarters of the oil cartel; he was released unharmed. Perez told a news conference it is time "for a world agreement against terrorism."

A Venezuelan spokesman said the Venezuelan and Colombian delegates to the United Nations would meet today to draw up a request to Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim for the special assembly session.

After receiving the request, Waldheim will have 30 days to poll the 146 U.N. members. If a majority approves holding the session, it will be held within 15 days, or probably early in February.

Last Monday, the General Assembly for the third year in a row passed the issue of international terrorism on to next fall's session without debating it.

Waldheim first proposed the subject for the assembly's agenda in September 1972 after Palestinian terrorists killed 11 members of the Israeli Olympic team during the Munich Olympics.

Arab and African delegates contended that terrorism was an acceptable weapon against political oppression. Their pressure forced Waldheim to expand the scope of his proposal to include the causes of terrorism.

Those attending from Greenville were Don and Della Bolby, VAVS chairmen; Carolyn King, Atwood and Elizabeth Gurganus; and James Briley.

Angry Reactions To Eagle Firing

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles, General Manager Jim Murray and the city's sports writers reacted bitterly Monday to the firing of head Coach Mike McCormack.

"I have to say without a doubt this is not our finest hour," Murray told newsmen after Leonard Tose, owner of the National Football League team, announced the firing at a press conference and then walked out, refusing to answer questions.

"I think this is the louiest thing that has happened since I've been with the Eagles. We're a 4-and-10 team and all of us are to blame," Murray said.

"Firing Coach McCormack is the biggest mistake Mr. Tose could possibly make," linebacker John Bunting added.

For the fourth time in seven years the Eagles face the upcoming NFL college draft — and this year, an expansion draft — without a head coach. And no one has an inkling of who McCormack's successor will be.

"I have not interviewed anyone to replace Mike. Jimmy Murray and I will go to work on this," Tose told the press conference.

Tose said McCormack's dismissal at the end of his three-year contract was based "in no small way ... on our won-loss record."

The Eagles, 16-25-1 under McCormack, played their best year in 1974 when they finished 7-7.

McCormack said he learned of the firing during a three-minute meeting with Tose Monday morning. "He asked if I had any questions and I said I didn't," said McCormack. "We didn't have anything else to say, so I left."

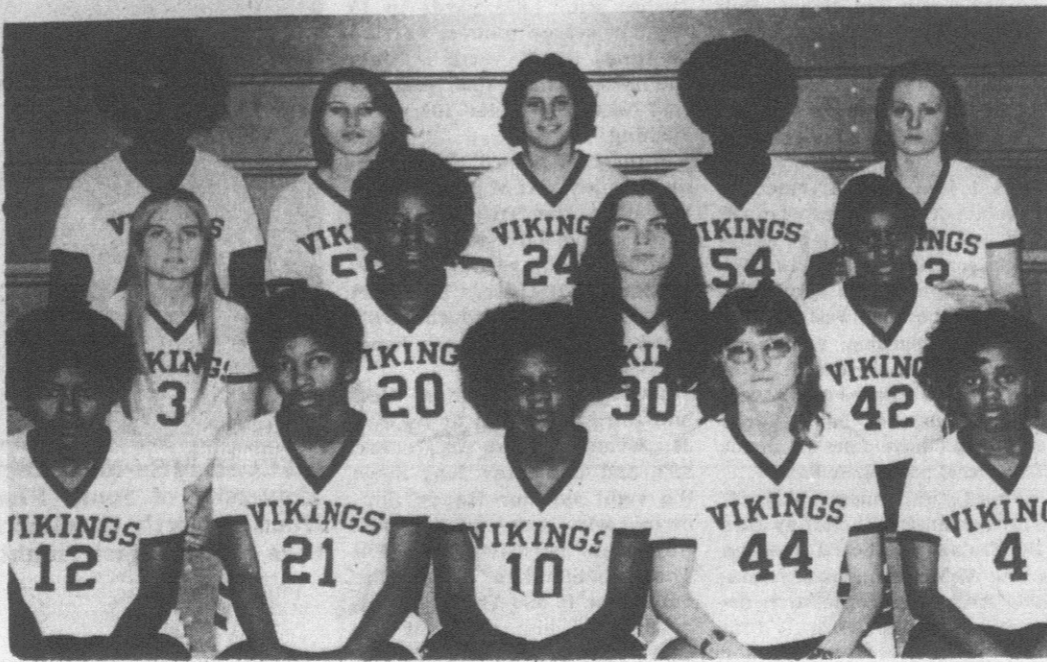

Murray said he had told Tose that firing McCormack "would be the most unpopular thing he ever had to do as the owner, but he was determined to make a change."

While cleaning out his desk, McCormack said he thought he had a chance at staying on until the Denver game two weeks ago, which the Eagles lost 25-10.

"After we played so badly there, I felt this might be coming," he said.

As for McCormack's future, Coach Paul Brown of the Cincinnati Bengals, who coached McCormack during his All-Pro career as a Cleveland Brown tackle, said recently, "As long as I'm in football, you don't have to worry about Mike McCormack."

"I know this," McCormack said. "I'm walking out of here with my head up. Regardless of record, this is a much better football team now than it was three years ago when I came in here. I am in no way ashamed."

Future Uncertain For Valkyrie Basketball

By TOM FOREMAN JR., Reflector Staff Writer

If Conley's girls basketball team had stuck to playing Jones Senior's girls team, their record would be a lot better than the dismal 2-4 standing they register now.

The Valkyries only two wins have been at the expense of Jones Senior. The first game was fairly convincing, as Conley raced to a 39-29 Triumph. Conley scored 39 again in the rematch of the two schools, but Jones Senior could only muster 18 of the first game total. Otherwise, the season, minus a few bright spots has not been to pleasant for Coach Jan Claiborne.

Havelock whipped the girls the first time by 22, and escaped with a narrow two-point win on Conley's home court. Farmville Central has taken the measure of the girls without much trouble for the other two losses.

The outlook is not especially promising. The Valkyries are among the shorter teams in the conference, and their schedule of teams up until now has been taller. But Coach Claiborne expects as conference play manifests itself, the teams will be more of an equal stature. In fact, she saw promise in the fact that her team only lost to Havelock by two in their last encounter.

"If the girls get down in a game, they tend to stay down, and say 'well, we've lost again.' We played our best game against Havelock, however. It was a good note to end on before Christmas."

The problem in the four losses, and maybe in the two wins, boils down to the fundamentals of basketball. Conley has been unable to hold on to the ball, thus causing turnover which lead to easy baskets for the opposition.

Also, the team is shooting for a low percentage, which does nothing for point production. All these mistakes, however, may be behind the Valkyries, and they may be bound for competitive action once conference play begins in the new year.

Evelyn Fleming is the captain of the ballclub. Last season, she was second in the conference in rebounding. Seniors Annie Wooten and Mary McCracken help out at the wings, with Miss McCracken being the best free throw shooter on the squad, at a 95 per cent clip. Lillie Baker gained her first start of the season against Havelock, and is seen by coach Claiborne as the best ballhandler.

Two sophomore come off the bench. Kay Dixon and Teresa Mills help with their rebounding and scoring, respectively. Miss Mills is "a good spark from the bench," Claiborne added. A third sophomore who will get more playing time as the season progresses is Darlene Hines.

The impression is that Conley is a young team. Graduation took only two from their ranks last year, and will only take two more this year. With a combination of experience and improvement, Conley and coach Claiborne may be able to overlook their lack of height and make the campaign worthwhile. If not, they could always try and schedule Jones Senior for twenty games next year.

Did Cowboys Con Way In?

By DENNE H. FREEMAN, AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — As the Dallas Cowboys prepare for their ninth sojourn in the last decade into the National Football League playoffs, a brief review of their regular season uncovers a "science fiction" campaign.

Twelve rookies, a midget-sized fullback, the wild shotgun formation, and a young but hard-sticking defense put a 10-4 record on the board.

"That would have been hard to believe in preseason," said Coach Tom Landry, who saw his team drop out of the playoffs in 1974 for the first time in eight years.

Now, the Cowboys travel to cold Minnesota to meet the Vikings Sunday in the first round of the NFL playoffs and fullback Robert Newhouse puts it this way: "It could be 100 below (zero) but this is what we've worked 14 games for."

Newhouse, in particular, has been a primary cog in the Cowboy attack. He gained 931 yards, the second best ground gaining effort by a fullback in the Cowboys' 16-year history.

The Cowboys needed a great year from a running back because Calvin Hill departed for the now defunct World Football League. Preston Pearson, acquired from Pittsburgh, took over for Hill and Newhouse replaced the retired Walt Garrison.

"Preston is a tremendous blocker and has a lot to do with Newhouse's success," said Landry.

Such rookies as Randy White of Maryland, Thomas Henderson of Langston, Okla., State, Randy Hughes of Oklahoma, Bob Breunig of Arizona State, and Burt Lawless of Florida, have injected enthusiasm into the team.

"I've had more fun playing on this team than any I've been on with the exception of our Super Bowl champion team," said 13-year veteran Lee Roy Jordan of Alabama. "The enthusiasm is contagious. This team didn't know it was supposed to lose."

Jordan, and safety Cliff Harris lead a sometimes porous defense that found itself in a clutch 31-10 victory over Washington.

Landry decided on the spread formation for obvious passing downs in the summer because quarterback Roger Staubach had been sacked numerous times in 1974. With the move, Dallas' proficiency on third down jumped 10 per cent.

"I would have to say it (the spread) has been a big help for us because Roger, even when he hasn't found a receiver, has scrambled for some big third downs," said Landry.

The Cowboy defense has been an opportunistic one and the team is a plus-14 in the turnovers from 1974. Dallas recovered one more fumble than the opposition and had eight more interceptions.

The club was a minus five on turnovers last year.

Owner Clint Murchison was overcome by the team spirit Sunday on the flight home after a 31-21 victory over the New York Jets.

Reggie Lee Top Player

RESTON, Va. (AP)—East Carolina's junior guard Reggie Lee was named today as Southern Conference basketball player of the week.

Lee, as a result of last week's efforts, is now 12th in scoring and sixth in field goal accuracy in the conference.

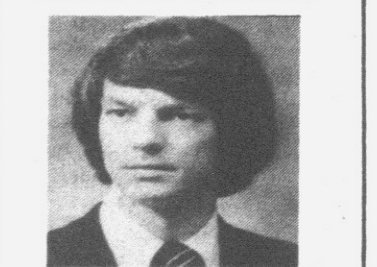

Last week as his team notched two victories, he scored 31 points. He hit on 14 of 23 from the free throw line, pulled down six rebounds and had three assists.

The 6-foot-3 junior from Kensington, Md., had his finest week of the year.

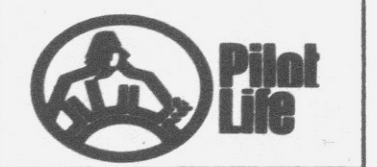

Coach Dave Patton said of Lee, "He is our most consistent player by far and has led our attack the entire season."

Heels, UCLA Challenge Top

By The Associated Press
North Carolina and defending national champion UCLA moved up to challenge Indiana and Maryland today in The Associated Press college basketball ratings.

The Indiana Hoosiers defeated Kentucky, Georgia and Virginia Tech last week and received 60 of 62 first-place votes and a near-perfect 1,236 of a possible 1,240 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Maryland, 6-0 like Indiana after routing Fordham, received the other two first-place votes and 1,086 points. Last week, the Terrapins trailed Indiana 1,198-1,016.

However, Marquette lost to Minnesota last week while defeating Wisconsin and Northwestern and the setback dropped the Warriors from third place to seventh.

North Carolina climbed from fourth to third thanks to a rout of East Tennessee State while UCLA, winning its third in a row after an opening-game loss to Indiana, crushed Seattle and jumped from sixth to fourth.

Notre Dame, idle last week, held onto fifth place while Cincinnati rose from seventh to sixth, followed by Marquette. Undeclared Alabama and North Carolina State retained the eighth and ninth spots but Tennessee moved up from 11th to 10th while Louisville dropped from 10th to 11th.

Behind Louisville, the Second Ten consisted of Nevada-Las Vegas, Washington, San Francisco, Rutgers, Michigan, St. John's of New York, and Kenucky, with Centenary and Minnesota tied for 19th place.

Last week's Second Ten was Tennessee, Washington, Nevada-Las Vegas, San Francisco, Rutgers, Michigan, Auburn, St. John's, Arizona State, and Kentucky.

Auburn dropped out of the Top Twenty by splitting two games last week, losing to Southern Methodist and beating Tulsa. Arizona State fell out by losing to Oregon State, although the Sun Devils defeated Georgia.

Here are the Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college basketball poll with first-place votes in parentheses, season records through Sunday and total points. Points based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Big Carrot Has Eluded Vikings

By BRENT KALLESTAD, AP Sports Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Another division championship has been wrapped up in the northland by the purring Minnesota Vikings football machine, but the big carrot still looms in the faraway distance for the team which could become pro football's first four-time visitor at the Super Bowl.

"We're still going to have to wait for the end result," said Minnesota Coach Bud Grant. "We want to be playing at our best in the playoffs."

The Vikings roared to victory in their first 10 games and split the final four to finish 12-2, but they overwhelmed Buffalo 35-13 in the season finale Sunday on a snow-covered enemy field.

They again waltzed through the NFL's Central Division, the so-called "Black and Blue" loop which has taken on a purple hue in recent years.

"Everything is wiped out of the book when you get to the playoffs," said Viking quarterback Fran Tarkenton. "That's where the toughest pressure in football is."

Tarkenton, 35, established himself as the game's greatest quarterback during the season, surpassing all of Johnny Unitas' lifetime passing records except total passing yardage.

Tarkenton passed for 2,994 yards and 25 touchdowns and was intercepted only 13 times in 425 attempts. Only Sonny Jurgensen ever completed more passes in a single season than the 273 completions by Tarkenton this year.

Three of Tarkenton's receivers caught 50 or more passes with versatile Chuck Foreman leading the NFL with 73 receptions. His running back partner, Ed Marinaro, caught 54 and wide receiver John Gilliam caught 50. Wide receiver Jim Lash and tight end Stu Voigt both had over 30 catches in the multiple-offense of Minnesota.

Foreman also rushed for 1,070 yards and set a team scoring record with 22 touchdowns.

Brent McClanahan is a highly-competent replacement for Foreman or Marinaro. The 202-pound running back from Arizona State rushed for 336 yards and caught 18 passes in a reserve role despite missing a handful of games with a leg injury.

For years Grant relied on his defense for the championships, and while the defense led the conference in nearly every statistical category again, Tarkenton masterminded one of the game's most productive and imaginative offenses.

Offensive line coach John Michels has developed tremendous depth with Steve Lawson, John Ward, and Charles Goodrum — all experienced players — in reserve.

Carl Eller and Jim Marshall are still the defensive ends and both enjoyed great years despite their 72 years between them.

Alan Page, 30 but still quick as ever, and 26-year-old Doug Sutherland are the tackles with rookie Mark Mullaney and veteran Bob Lurtsema used in specific situations.

Southern Cal Pops Aggies, 20-0

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

MEMPHIS (AP) — John McKay wasn't buying that sentimental approach.

No matter that his University of Southern California Trojans presented him with a 20-0 Liberty Bowl victory over Texas A&M Monday night in his final appearance as a college coach.

"Winning was the most important part of it," McKay said. "I was tired of hearing about the losing streak."

USC won its first seven games and then went into a four-game losing streak shortly after McKay confirmed that he would leave USC after 16 years to become head coach of the new Tampa Bay team of the National Football League.

His record at USC was 127-40-8, including national championships in 1962, 1967 and 1972. The Liberty Bowl was the Trojans' ninth bowl appearance under McKay, but their first outside the Rose Bowl.

"It's not only Coach McKay's last game, it's the seniors' last game, too, and we wanted to win as much for them as for the coach," said All-American running back Ricky Bell.

Bell, who made his reputation as a runner, did in the Aggies with his only pass reception in the nationally televised game and only his fourth of the year. Quarterback Vince Evans tossed a screen pass to Bell in the left flat. Guard Donnie Hickman blocked A&M linebacker Garth Ten Napel, Bell cut back to the middle of the field and accelerated between defenders. The play covered 76 yards and put USC on top 20-0 with 5:14 left in the second quarter.

A&M, forced to play catchup, couldn't. The Aggies, who relied on their running game while compiling a 10-1 regular season record and earning a share of the Southwest Conference championship, completed only 34 passes all season. A&M quarterback Mike Jay was six of 14 against USC for 99 yards and didn't have time to throw on several passing downs.

The Aggies managed only 247 yards against USC. McKay said the Trojans had heard so much about A&M — which led the nation in total defense and defense against the rush — that they wanted to prove they could also play defense.

USC was determined not to give away anything in the second half. The Trojans threw only three times in the final 30 minutes, relying mostly on Bell's running to move the football.

Bell, the nation's leading rusher with 1,875 yards in 11 regular season games, carried 28 times for 82 yards — only the second time this year he had been held under 100 yards rushing.

After USC gained a 3-0 first-quarter lead, A&M moved from its 31 to the Trojans' three. After a five-yard penalty, Jay fumbled and Dave Lewis recovered at the USC six. "That hurt ... it hurt a touchdown's worth," said A&M Coach Emory Bellard.

Two possessions later, USC had third and seven at its own 34. Evans backed up, looked left, and then threw long down the right side for Randy Simmin, who was behind All-American defensive back Pat Thomas. Simmin caught the ball at the 15 and Thomas finally dragged him down at the one. Masi Tatupu scored on the next play to make it 10-0.

Glen Walker's field goals of 40 and 45 yards rounded out the scoring.

TOUCHDOWN BOUND—University of Southern California's Ricky Bell (42) scampers 76 yards for a touchdown Monday night in the first half of the Liberty Bowl game in Memphis, Tenn.

Bell took a screen pass from quarterback Vince Evans on the play. Southern Cal downed Texas A & M, 20-0 in the annual classic. (AP Wirephoto)

Breathers Didn't Turn Out To Be Exactly That

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

The matchups looked like those early-season breathers. But it was the Maryland and North Carolina college basketball coaches who were holding their breaths at the end.

Second-ranked Maryland beat back previously undefeated North Carolina-Charlotte 70-60 and third-ranked North Carolina slipped past South Florida 70-64 Monday night.

"I always say when you play an undefeated team, it's tough to beat them," Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell said of UNC-Charlotte. "We had a chance to break it open a couple of times in each half, but we couldn't run away from them."

"They have a good club; give them credit."

With John Lucas pumping in six of his 22 points in the final three minutes, Maryland, now 7-0, staved off a late rally by the 49ers while posting its smallest victory margin and lowest score of the season.

"We've beaten Florida and Vandy (Vanderbilt), but you can't go to the well too often," said UNC-Charlotte Coach Lee Rose, whose team now is 6-1.

Midway through the second half, Maryland opened up a 56-41 lead, only to see the 49ers run off a 9-1 streak before Brad Davis and Lucas pushed the Terps ahead by nine with 2:45 left. Then UNC-Charlotte bounced back again, but Lucas added two more field goals to lead Maryland to victory.

North Carolina got a 20-point performance from forward Tommy LaGarde to take a 43-33 halftime advantage. But South Florida roared back after intermission to draw to within three points at 63-60 with five minutes left. However, the TAR Heels held off the late surge for the victory.

LaGarde finished with 24 points to pace North Carolina.

In the opening round of the Carolina Classic, guard Ronnie Daniel scored 25 points to lead Oklahoma State to a 72-69 victory over Virginia while Alex English paced South Carolina's rout of Yale 100-66. English scored 21 points in the first half and ended up with 37 for the night. The four-team tourney concludes tonight.

Elsewhere, Illinois crushed Rice 106-64, unbeaten Louisiana State stopped Fairleigh Dickinson 93-70, Purdue defeated California 97-79, Ohio State edged Evansville 79-78, Nebraska downed Vanderbilt 68-57, Tulane raced by Cornell 90-72, West Texas State beat Samford 64-49 and Arizona defeated Old Dominion 88-74.

The Colorado State-Montana game was canceled when Colorado State didn't show. CSU Coach Jim Williams said his team didn't fly to Missoula, Mont., because of fog. But Montana officials said the plane the Rams were scheduled to board landed at Missoula on schedule.

It marks the fifth time Schaffer has teamed up in baseball with Veck. They also worked together in running Boston's Suffolk Downs race track.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard Petty's record $378,865 in season winnings head a banner year for prize money in the Grand National division of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing.

Petty, whose previous best was $330,347 in 1974, and 17 other drivers had their richest season ever this year.

The NASCAR total includes point-fund and contingency awards, which boosted prize money awarded for the 1975 season beyond $3.5 million.

Nine drivers collected more than $100,000. David Pearson was second to Petty in earnings with $179,207. Buddy Baker was third at $169,917.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Louisiana Superdome Commission voted Monday to authorize its attorneys to fight a suit in federal court which seeks to ban smoking in the domed stadium.

"I don't think we have any choice but to oppose the lawsuit," said Mayor Moon Landrieu, chairman of the commission. "We would be letting the federal courts run the affairs of this commission otherwise."

Later, the commission shelved the issue of whether smoking should be forbidden within the cavernous stadium until they know how much such a prohibition would cost to enforce.

CHICAGO (AP) — Rudy Schaffer, business manager of the Chicago White Sox from 1959 to 1969, has been returned to that baseball front office post by new club owner Bill Veck.

Schaffer, 63, had been business manager of the Cincinnati Stingers of the World Hockey Association until named to the White Sox front office by Veck on Monday.

Kentucky Wins Game And Fight

By MIKE CLARK
AP Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE (AP) — St. Louis lost a basketball game and a fight Monday night; it is still undecided which was more one-sided.

With guard Bird Averitt scoring his 25 points in the first three periods, Kentucky cruised to an early 45-27 lead and breezed past the Spirits 126-101 in the only American Basketball Association game scheduled.

As far as the fight goes, Kentucky's Ron "The Plumber" Thomas won a short altercation with St. Louis rookie M. L. Carr after the game had long since been settled.

Carr had been beaten on a couple of picks and, when he sensed another on the way, "I guess he just decided to take it out on me," Thomas said. "He hit me a good lick."

Not to be outdone, Thomas called another screening play. And, as Carr tried to move by the muscled Thomas, "he took a swing — and I went after him."

"I had him by the jersey," Thomas said, "and I had it twisted so he couldn't get away. He never landed a punch. I got about five in. He's probably got a good mouse over his eye."

Kentucky Coach Hubie Brown enjoyed the game not so much for Thomas' policing as for the play of guards Averitt, Dampier and Ted McClain.

"We haven't been able to get the consistency with all three of them ... the way they were last year," Brown said. "But we're beginning to see daylight now that all three of them are healthy at the same time for the first time."

Averitt had an extended bout with the flu, Dampier hurt a foot and McClain had a bruised shoulder. But the three were sufficiently recovered Monday to combine for 57 points while hitting 21 of 30 shots.

The guard trio paced a Colonial attack which featured seven players in double figures. Forward Maurice Lucas had 14 while Travis Grant, Wil Jones and Artis Gilmore each had 12. Marvin Barnes led St. Louis with 25 points and Ron Boone added 19.

Belgian Next Ali Opponent

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali's next scheduled opponent is Jean-Pierre Coopman of Belgium, a man who knows his chances.

Several hours after promoter Don King said that Ali would fight Coopman Feb. 20, the fighter, who is nicknamed the Lion of Flanders, said in an interview in Brussels that he feels he is "beat from the start."

"But I promise to do all I can to be in good condition so that the match will not be a mere formality for Ali. It's a great honor, not only for me but for Belgium."

Coopman's first meeting with Ali will come at a news conference in New York Jan. 6 or 7. King said in a telephone interview from Puerto Rico that the fight would be televised live in the United States by CBS but that a site had not been determined yet. San Juan appeared to have the inside track.

Ali's next opponent was expected to be Henry Clark of San Francisco, but King said "He'll probably fight Clark in the Dominican Republic in April."

King, who promoted Ali's last fight, said he wants the champion's next "big money" fight to be against Ken Norton in the United States, July 4.

The 29-year-old Coopman, almost unknown outside Europe, has a 24-3-0 record and has won 10 straight, but the Belgian press was anything but keen about his championship shot.

"It is time Belgian managers came back to earth or showed they have a bit more scruples instead of sending their boxers to the slaughterhouse," wrote the boxing writer of the newspaper Le Peuple.

But the fighter's manager, Karel de Jaegher, said, "Jean-Pierre is a tough boy. He is not afraid of Ali."

Maryland, Carolina Hold On For Victories

By The Associated Press

Second-ranked Maryland and fourth-ranked North Carolina had go all out Monday night to preserve their undefeated basketball records.

Maryland, even with the home advantage, had to stave off a late rally to defeat the University of North Carolina-Charlotte 70-60 for its seventh triumph.

North Carolina-Charlotte has been upgrading its basketball program, and this was its first defeat of the season. It has won six. It held the Terps to their lowest score of the season and their smallest margin of victory.

John Lucas scored six of his 22 points in the final three minutes to help Maryland squelch the rally of the 49ers.

North Carolina, 6-0, beat South Florida 70-64 in a nip and tuck game in Tampa, also holding off a late surge.

Forward Tommy LaGarde scored 20 points for the winning Tar Heels in the first half, but was held to four points in the second half. However, he was the game's high scorer.

With nine minutes left in the first half, South Florida trailed by only 22-20. Then North Carolina built a 43-33 halftime advantage. North Carolina trailed by only 63-60 with five minutes left to play.

Another Atlantic Coast Conference team, Virginia, lost 72-69 to Oklahoma State in the opening round of the Carolina Classic Tournament in Columbia, S.C. Wally Walker scored nine unanswered points to bring Virginia to within 64-61. The teams then traded points for the final three minutes.

Virginia will play a consolation game tonight against Yale, a 100-66 loser to host South Carolina. That will be the only game for ACC teams until after Christmas.

Steve Sheppard, whose game-high 17 points helped Maryland defeat Fordham 81-56 Saturday, was chosen today as the ACC player of the week. He continued playing although he received a cut above his left eye early in the game. The cut was closed with five stitches after the game.

Sheppard leads the nation in field goal percentage with .743 accuracy. He has hit 52 of 70 attempts in the first six games, including five of seven against Fordham. He also has been successful on 20 of 27 free throws in those games. He hit six straight free throws after Maryland forced turnovers on Fordham's last seven possessions of the first half.

Earlier, freshman Mike Palma of Wake Forest, who had 14 points in 21 minutes of playing time in the 107-81 victory over Appalachian, was picked as the ACC rookie of the week. He has scored six points or more in each of the five Wake Forest victories. Against Appalachian he also snared seven rebounds, and had two steals, one blocked shot and two assists.

The third Saturday in November produced 16 major college football games that were decided by three points or less.

Decision Due On Reserves

NEW YORK (AP) — A decision which could eventually destroy baseball's reserve clause is expected today or Wednesday. Indications are that pitchers Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally will be declared free agents after playing without contracts in 1975.

If upheld in the court tests which seem certain to follow, such a decision would virtually destroy the reserve clause, which binds a player to one team unless traded, sold or released. The reserve clause has been upheld twice by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Peter Seitz, the New York arbitrator who declared Oakland's Catfish Hunter a free agent last winter, leading to the pitcher's signing a lucrative contract with the New York Yankees, said Monday a ruling on the Messersmith and McNally cases could come today and certainly by Wednesday.

Meanwhile, The Los Angeles Herald-Examiner said it had learned the arbitrators' verdict would make Messersmith, a 19-game winner for the Los Angeles Dodgers, a free agent, permitting him to dicker with all 24 major league teams.

Messersmith turned down the Dodgers' offer of $150,000 for the 1975 season, $170,000 for 1976 and $220,000 for 1977.

McNally's case is slightly different. The left-hander quit the Montreal Expos in midseason, saying he didn't think he could

Castro Vows No Angola Pullout

By IKE FLORES
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI (AP)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro says he will not withdraw combat troops from Angola or renounce support of Puerto Rican dissidents for the prospect of renewed relations with the United States.

"At that price, there shall never be any relations with the United States," Castro declared Monday before the first Cuban Communist Party Congress in Havana.

President Ford said over the weekend that Cuba's military aid to Angolan rebels had "destroyed any opportunity for improvement in relations with the United States." Ford said that Cuba has 4,000 to 6,000 troops in Angola.

Castro's statements, coupled with those of Ford, appeared to end a series of efforts by both countries to seek common ground for renewed ties.

Castro added that even though economic relations with the U. S. "would be useful for our country, those relations shall never be established if it is on the basis of the renunciation of one atom of our principles.

"We have supported the progressive governments and revolutionary movements in Africa since the triumph of our own revolution. And we shall continue to do so," he said. "We will never renounce our solidarity with Puerto Rico or Angola."

Later at a massive rally in the Cuban capital's Plaza de la Revolution, Castro said, "What we want from Ford is not a cancellation (of possible negotiations) but an apology for the humiliating, abhorrent and embarrassing crimes that the government of the United States prepared against the leaders of the Cuban revolution."

He referred to reports of assassination plots by the CIA.

The ceremonies and speeches were broadcast over nationwide radio and television and monitored in Miami. The Communist congress is being attended by 3,000 delegates and 86 foreign representatives.

The congress issued a statement saying it "is not opposed" to Cuba solving its problem with the United States but not if it means giving up its support of Angolan leftists.

Castro, in his speech before the congress, accused the United States of plotting with "racist South Africa" to take over Angola after its independence from Portugal in November to exploit its "riches in minerals and oil."

No Big Winter Storms Today

By The Associated Press
For a change there were no major storms threatening any part of the U.S. today, but there was little doubt winter was under way.

Frost dipped into northern Florida and the southern portions of the middle Gulf states this morning. Clear skies over the upper Missouri River valley and northern Rockies allowed readings there to fall near zero.

Snow kept falling over portions of New England and along the Great Lakes.

Three days of snowstorms over New England left as much as two feet of snow, closing schools early for Christmas, providing a boost to the area's ski industry, and frustrating motorists and shoppers.

Hazardous driving conditions prevailed despite all-day plowing operations. In the Newton-Wellesley area of Massachusetts, hundreds of cars were disabled because they couldn't climb a hill. State police reported hundreds of accidents.

Boston was under one foot of snow, and Logan International Airport was operating just one runway until early today. The airport closed for about half an hour Monday night when an incoming plane got stuck in the snow.

A travelers advisory was still in effect for the White Mountains of Arizona. Heavy snow of four inches or more was considered possible. In some areas of the central mountains, fog increased the hazard.

Travelers in east-central Nebraska were advised that light freezing drizzle — occasionally mixed with snow flurries — caused slippery roads in the Omaha-Lincoln area.

In the Northeast, gale winds continued along the New England coast but without the heavy snows of the past few days.

Showers were scattered over the lower Mississippi valley and the central coast of the Gulf of Mexico. Showers continued in the Southwest from the Pecos River of Texas to the southern California deserts. In the higher elevations, it was snow. Rain continued along the northern half of the Pacific Coast.

Temperatures overnight ranged from four below zero in Glens Falls, N.Y. to 59 in Los Angeles.

Last Of Quads Dies In Night

MEMPHIS (AP)—The last of quadruplets born three months' prematurely Sunday night died Monday, after less than 25 hours of life, officials at Baptist Hospital have said.

The infants were born about 6 p.m. Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Danny McDaniel. The first born, a boy, died at 1:05 a.m. Monday. The second born, a girl, died at 1:40 a.m. and the fourth born, also a girl, died at 3:40 a.m. The third born, another girl, died at 7 p.m. Monday.

The largest, the boy, weighed 1 pound 5 ounces. The other three were estimated at about a pound.

Mrs. McDaniel, 26, was listed in satisfactory condition Monday night after her first childbirth.

Dr. Jack Sanford, who delivered the babies, said the mother had taken fertility pills regularly for four months before pregnancy was determined in August.

Sanford said labor was not expected until April 20 and there was no previous indications of a multiple birth.

Club Hears Pitt Deputy

Gordon Edwards, crime prevention officer of the Pitt County Sheriff's Department, spoke Monday morning at the 7:30 breakfast meeting of the Progressive City Kiwanis Club held at the Ramada Inn.

Deputy Edwards explained that as crime prevention officer a part of his job is to assist local merchants and homeowners in the engraving and labeling of personal property and merchandise so as to make them readily identifiable in case of theft which greatly aids in its recovery and in the prosecution of those brought to justice.

Deputy Edwards also presented a display of locks that are recommended for use in homes and businesses which have added safety features so as to provide better protection against the criminal.

A short film dealing with the role of the Sheriff's office in modern day society was presented following Deputy Edwards' presentation.

Deputy Edwards urged those who are leaving town for the holidays to notify their local police and sheriff departments of their absence plus notify next door neighbors as an extra safety precaution to guard against possible break-ins.

CRAPPIE LIMIT
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Missouri will have an experimental crappie length limit of 10 inches on the James River arm of Table Rock Lake beginning in 1976. Biologists said so many fish have been taken from the lake that the remaining ones are unable to grow the desired length.

Postal Schedule

The following schedule will be observed will be observed by the Main Post Office and ECU Station during Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

Christmas Eve—Main office, full window service will be provided. Full delivery serve will be made by rural and city carriers.

ECU Station, Window service will be provided from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

Christmas Day—The Greenville Main Post Office and ECU Station will be closed. No delivery service will be provided by rural or city carriers. There will be no special delivery service or window service. There will be no mail distributed to post office boxes and no collection service.

ESC Schedule Set

The Employment Security Commission office here will observe a modified Christmas holiday schedule to process Unemployment Insurance claims.

State workers have Wednesday, Thursday and Friday off, but manager Jim Hannan says the Greenville Employment office will be open from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Wednesday and Friday, to accommodate claimants who normally file for benefits on those days.

"Individuals whose filing days fall on holidays are usually scheduled to file two claims one week later," he explained, "but instructions were received Monday from ESC officials in Raleigh that all officers would operate on Wednesday and Friday so jobless workers can file on those days to preclude the one week delay normally expected because of the holiday."

The office will be closed on Christmas Day and New Years. Claimants scheduled to file on December 25 may file on December 26 and January 1 claims may be taken on January 2.

About 400 claimants in the Greenville area normally file on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, according to the ESC manager.

Major Decline In Cotton Crop

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—World cotton production during 1975-76 will suffer its first major decline since World War II, Cotton, Inc., said in a recent publication.

The cotton organization said the production drop will probably result in increased demand, and higher prices for existing cotton supplies.

How State's Lawmakers Voted

By ROLL CALL REPORT
 WASHINGTON—Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Dec. 11 through Dec. 17.

House
 LABOR RIGHTS Adopted, 229 for and 189 against, the conference report on HR 5900, a bill legalizing on-the-job picketing by construction unions. The measure would achieve organized labor's 20-year goal of obtaining for construction unions the same jobsite picketing rights now allowed industrial unions. HR 5900 would also establish a Construction Industry Collective Bargaining Committee to facilitate pre-strike settlements, as requested by the Administration.

The conference report was later adopted by the Senate and thus cleared for the White House. However, Congress may delay sending the measure to President Ford until January to avoid a possible "pocket veto" during the holiday recess.

One supporter, Rep. Mario Biaggi (D-N.Y.), called the measure a "landmark" securing "full employee rights" for construction workers. Supporters praised the measure for providing collective bargaining machinery to aid peaceful solution of labor disputes.

One opponent, Rep. John Ashbrook (R-Ohio), said the measure would discriminate against non-union construction workers and increase the volume of work stoppages in the construction industry. He criticized HR 5900 as "a power grab by union officials."

Reps. Walter Jones (D-1), L.H. Fountain (D-2), David Henderson (D-3), Ike Andrews (D-4), Stephen Neal (D-5), Richardson Preyer (D-6), W.G. Hefner (D-8), James Martin (R-9), James Broyhill (R-10) and Roy Taylor (D-11) voted "nay."

Rep. Charles Rose (D-7) did not vote.

SYNTHETIC FUEL Voted, 263 for and 140 against, to kill a Senate-backed authorization of $6 billion in federal loan guarantees for the energy industry. The guarantees had been intended to aid certain energy companies in their development of "oil-equivalent" synthetic fuel from oil shale and coal.

The provision had been adopted by a House-Senate conference committee during consideration of the parent bill (HR 3474), which authorizes FY 1976 funds for the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA). The conference report on HR 3474 was sent to the Senate.

Supporters said the synthetic fuel project might become a white elephant with the U.S. treasury the loser. Rep. Ken Hechler (D-W. Va.) said the loan guarantees stretch "the Christmas spirit a little too far" and "extend free-enterprise for profits for the big energy companies and socialize the losses."

Opponents expressed faith in synthetic fuel as a long-overdue energy source. They said loan guarantees are necessary to inspire the confidence of private investors wary of new energy technology. Rep. Olin Teague (D-Tex.) said, "... It is time that Congress gave the American people a Christmas present of assuring them that they do not have to depend on the Arabs..."

Jones, Fountain, Henderson, Andrews, Neal, Rose, Hefner, Broyhill and Taylor voted "yep."

Preyer and Martin voted "nay."

likelihood of overriding the expected presidential veto.
 HR 5559 was later passed by the House and vetoed by President Ford. Congress subsequently sustained the veto.

At issue was whether the tax cut should be linked to a federal spending ceiling, as insisted upon by Ford. Supporters of HR 5559 said tax cuts should stand on their own merits as necessary to stimulate economic recovery. Opponents agreed with Ford that any reduction in revenue from income taxes be offset by comparable spending cuts (below).

Sens. Robert Morgan (D) and Jesse Helms (R) voted "nay."

SPENDING CEILING Rejected, 27 for and 66 against, an amendment setting a federal spending ceiling of $395 billion for FY 1977, which begins Oct. 1, 1976. The amendment, proposed to HR 5559 (above), sought to advance President Ford's recommendation that any tax-cut extension be coupled with a spending cut in the form of a ceiling on federal outlays.

Sen. Carl Curtis (R-Neb.), the sponsor, said the amendment would apply a sorely needed "brake on future spending." Sen. James Buckley (C-N.Y.) said the amendment would help break the vicious circle of inflation, higher wages, and higher taxes.

One opponent, Sen. Edmund Muskie (D-Maine), said the amendment would "completely torpedo" the new budget process which is designed, in part, to correct the historic failure of the sort of "magic spending ceilings," advocated by Ford. Under Congress' budget process, a FY 1977 spending ceiling will not be set until next May.

 The amendment was proposed to HR 8631, a bill extending the Price-Anderson Act for 10 years, which was later passed and cleared for the White House.

Sen. Mike Gravel (D-Alaska), the sponsor, criticized the Price-Anderson Act as "unfair and unconstitutional." He said nuclear power is no longer a fledgling industry that needs special federal protection from law suits.

One opponent, Sen. John Pastore (D-R.I.), criticized the amendment for its intent to "gut the expansion of the nuclear power program," which he said is an integral part of the nation's drive for energy independence.

Helms and Morgan voted "nay."

two tricks in spades, since East probably had the ace for his opening bid, and two in diamonds. However, he knew that the best way to play the diamond suit for only one loser was to hope that East had the ten together with a high honor. So declarer won the ace of hearts, drew two rounds of trumps ending in dummy and led a diamond to his nine. West won the ten and was quick to shift to a spade. The defenders took two tricks in that suit, and they still had a diamond trick coming for a two-trick set.

While declarer's play in diamonds was the correct technical approach to hold his losses in that suit to one trick, it had to be a losing play in the overall concept of the hand. It was most unlikely that West would hold both an honor in diamonds and the ace of spades, so that if West gained the lead in diamonds, he would surely shift to spades, and declarer would then have to lose two spade tricks and his contract. His only chance was to hope that East held both diamond honors!

Therefore, when a low diamond was led from dummy and East followed with the eight, declarer should have inserted the jack. When this wins, declarer continues with the ace and another diamond. His fourth diamond is now set up, and the king of spades is safe from attack since East has to win the third diamond. When he regains the lead, declarer can discard one of dummy's spades on the thirteenth diamond, to limit his losers to one spade and one diamond.

It is all very well to know how to play suit combinations. At the table, this knowledge must be tempered by consideration of the hand as a whole, and not a particular suit in isolation.

East opened the bidding with one heart, intending to reverse into spades at his next turn to show his good hand. He never got the opportunity. South overcalled in clubs and North revalued his hand as being close to an opening bid in support of clubs, so he jumped to four clubs. East realized that his partner was probably broke, so he passed, and South aggressively pushed on to game.

West led a heart, and South was not particularly pleased with his dummy. It seemed that he might lose

No Beauty Contest For Rose Festival's Queen

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Queen Anne was in town recently and NBC called to ask if we'd like to interview her. Sure, we said, never having interviewed a queen before. It was that kind of day.

It turned out Queen Anne was from California — Pasadena, to be exact, from whence NBC on New Year's Day will televise the annual Tournament of Roses parade and then the Rose Bowl football game.

Queen Anne Elizabeth Martin, 18, will preside over both events. She's a freshman pre-business major at Pasadena City College and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Martin of Pasadena. We asked her how she got into the queen business. She said she did it as sort of a lark last year, when she wound up as one of the princesses in the Tournament of Roses court of the previous year.

The blonde, remarkably poised young monarch said those applying for the court can range in age from 17 to 21, but must either attend Pasadena's college or one of 23 Pasadena-area high schools.

Why enter the contest? "Well, it's a lot of fun," the queen explained. "We meet a lot of people and you gain a lot of poise from it."

She also said it may prove especially helpful for her because she'd eventually like to go into public relations work, specializing in show business. She was asked if she entered the Tournament of Roses contest with idea of opening a few doors to her intended career.

"Well, that's the reason a lot of girls try out for it — it opens a lot of doors for you," she said.

She said that on the more tangible side, the Rose queen gets a $1,500 wardrobe and some guest shots on TV. On one such shot, she grinned, she won $1,000 from the "Hollywood Squares" treasury.

In recent years, there has been rising criticism of beauty contests in which the claimants are paraded around like so many hunks of meat. How does the queen feel about that?

"They (tournament officials) say, 'You can do anything you want on New Year's Eve, but we'll pick you up at four in the morning the next day,'" she said with a laugh.

"So you're sort of left with just sleeping... That's a long day, New Year's Day."

Some species of bottom-dwelling sea urchins are capable of boring holes in rocks, where they then spend the rest of their lives.

"Well," she said, "this (the Tournament of Roses contest) wasn't really a beauty contest. We didn't wear any bathing suits. We were just supposed to wear dresses, our own clothes. Mostly, we just sat down and talked with the judges. It's based a lot on speaking ability."
