U.S. Sends Help To India Mine Disaster

By MYRON L. BELKIND
Associated Press Writer
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The U.S. government is supplying high-capacity pumps to help pump out the flooded coal mine in northeastern India in which at least 372 trapped miners are feared dead, Minister of Mines Chandrajit Yadav announced today. But it was doubtful that any of the missing men would be found alive.

Yadav said the pumps were being flown from the United States by Air India, India's international airline. He did not announce how many were being earlier or when they would arrive. Earlier he said it would take the five pumps on hand at the mine at least 10 days to remove the 110 million gallons of water he estimated were in the flooded shaft.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi said "everything humanly possible is being and will be done to rescue the workers" trapped Saturday by an explosion and subsequent flooding in the Chasnala colliery 160 miles northwest of Calcutta.

Officials said Mrs. Gandhi has asked several other countries to send rescue and pumping equipment. But they acknowledged it would be a miracle if any of the men survived.

High-powered pumps sucked water from the mine Sunday while the grieving wives of the trapped men remained at home, certain their husbands were dead.

The attendance register at the government-run mine indicated that 372 miners were in the shaft at the time of the explosion. But officials of the mine workers' union said men from the previous shift may still have been below, and that as many as 700 workers might be missing.

Officials said the 1,250-foot-deep shaft was filled with water to within 150 feet of the surface, and most of the miners would have been working in the lower levels. But Yadav said some might have been saved by air pockets.

Unofficial reports said the explosion was due to accumulated gas and that it caused the mine's walls to buckle, opening a passage for water from an abandoned shaft to flow into the No. 3 shaft 80 feet away.

Yadav said the old shaft had not been worked for 30 years and served as the water supply for the surrounding area. As the pumps removed water from the shaft, trucks brought drinking water for the town of 4,000.

The worst previous mine disaster in India occurred 10 years ago when 265 miners died in a cave-in.

Senator Says Vote Bars U.S. 'No-Win' Situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — By cutting off further funds to factions fighting in Angola, the Senate has saved the United States from embroiling itself in a "no-win situation" in the African country, says the ranking Republican member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., also said today that cutting off funds to anti-Soviet factions in Angola will work against the Russians, who are heavily backing one of the groups fighting for control of the newly independent country.

"Our strategic interests are best served by leaving the Russians exposed high and dry as the major force intervening in Africa," Case said in a statement.

The Senate, by a 54 to 22 vote just before Congress adjourned on Dec. 19, amended the defense appropriation bill to bar use of funds for covert U.S. military aid to anti-Soviet factions in Angola.

Case said that "in the early stages, a relatively minimal amount of U.S. military aid was at least understandable."

But he said the situation began changing sharply in recent months.

He said the Chinese Communists, who had been opposing the Soviet-backed faction, "decided to disengage from the conflict and the South Africans entered in a big way, tainting in African eyes the two groups we backed." South African support of a faction also supported by the United States troubled some congressmen and African leaders who were disturbed by South Africa's apartheid policies.

"With the heavy flow of Russian equipment to Angola, and Cuban technicians and troops to handle the weapons and spearhead the military operations, it became obvious that we were becoming involved in a no-win situation," Case said.

Some congressmen feared a Vietnam type involvement might be looming in the African country, newly freed by Portugal.

"Even State Department officials privately admitted that the best we could hope for is that the groups we backed in the north and south of Angola might be able to 'hang on' long enough to achieve a military stalemate," Case added.

Case said the best way to protect U.S. interests is to work through the Organization of African Unity and other diplomatic channels in an effort to end the conflict in Angola.

He described it as basically "a tribal and personality conflict" and said any gains the Russians might make from aiding the Marxist Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola are likely to be short-lived.

"The history of Africa since World War II indicates that the forces of African nationalism are far more powerful than any professed ideological comradeship," Case said.

Henderson Won't Seek Reelection

WALLACE, N.C. (AP) — Rep. David N. Henderson, D-N.C., chairman of the House Postal and Civil Service Committee, announced today he will not seek reelection to a ninth term.

The surprise announcement was made in a news release issued from Henderson's home here.

In the release, Henderson cited family responsibilities and the "strenuous duties" of his committee chairmanship.

Henderson's aide Charles O. Whitley, 49, of Mount Olive, said he will seek the nomination to the Third District seat.

Henderson, 54, would have faced a challenge for the Democratic nomination from State Rep. Jimmy Love and Joseph Overby, a Smithfield funeral director.

Henderson is also chairman of the Subcommittee on Manpower and Civil Service and a member of the Public Works and Transportation Committees.

He represents the eastern North Carolina counties of Bladen, Duplin, Harnett, Johnston, Lee, Onslow, Pender, Sampson and Wayne.

"The main consideration (for not seeking reelection) is I hope for a less strenuous and more relaxing way of life at the end of next year," Henderson said.

He noted he had completed 28 years in public service, including 15 in Congress, two years on the staff of his predecessor, four years in the Army Air Corps during World War II, and four years as solicitor and judge in Duplin County General Court.

On plans for the future, he said, "I don't have any beyond my plans to continue serving through 1976."

Asked if he would return to his law practice in Wallace, Henderson said, "Well, certainly that's one of the viable options. Having been out of practice some 15 years, it will not be as easy to begin the practice as it was in 1949. I would enjoy coming home and practicing (law) if that is my decision

Might Limit Ingram

RALEIGH (AP)—The chairman of a legislative study committee says he expects his group to propose legislation that would take from the insurance commissioner power to regulate insurance rates.

Rep. Guy Revelle, D-Northampton, said he expects the committee to recommend that insurance rate regulation be placed in the hands of a multi-member appointed commission similar to the state Utilities Commission.

Such a move has the strong support of the insurance industry which has become frustrated by Insurance Commissioner John Ingram's adamant opposition to rate increases.

Ingram appeared before the committee to voice opposition to the proposal and also to oppose a plan favored by the industry calling for "open competition" under which the insurance industry could put rate changes into effect without government approval.

"The opinion (of the committee) is that we need some kind of commission, but the question is how to regulate the powers," said Revelle who has appointed a five-man subcommittee to draft a bill for consideration by the full committee.

Ingram has said the "the public is looking to the commissioner's office for protection" against higher rates. However, Revelle said, "We're not trying to strip the man...We haven't discussed at all what the powers of the insurance commissioner should be."

However, the committee appears likely to recommend that the commissioner be stripped of the power to review rate requests for insurance in such areas as auto coverage and homeowners' policies. The proposed rating commission which might have three members and would be appointed would take over that power.

Holdup Charged 3 Men

Three men were arrested by Greenville Police Saturday night on armed robbery charges in connection with a robbery and shooting at the In and Out store on N. Greene Street.

A store employee, West Shields Jr., was shot in the upper leg during the robbery. He was taken to Pitt County Memorial Hospital for treatment, but was not admitted.

Arrested were Samuel Joyner of 200 Cadillac St.; Donald Gray Taylor of 1121 W. Fifth St. and James Alvin Turnage of 611 Ford St. The men were in a car traveling towards Greenville near the river bridge at the time of their arrest.

Another store employee, Roy Simmons, said two men entered the In and Out store between 10 and 10:30 Saturday night armed with a small caliber pistol. They fired two shots and took around $160 from the cash register. One of the shots hit Shields in the leg. A .25 caliber automatic pistol and over $150, along with a cash drawer, were found in the car with the three men, according to Police Chief Glenn Cannon.

Murder Undeters Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate intelligence committee says the murder of CIA agent Richard Welch should not curtail congressional efforts to investigate U.S. intelligence agencies.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Sunday that "this regrettable event must not be used as an excuse to curtail the effort by the Congress to expose improper activities" within the intelligence community.

Welch, head of CIA operations in Greece, was murdered last Tuesday by three gunmen who shot him as he and his wife returned to their home from a Christmas party. His wife was not injured in the attack.

In a statement, Church rejected as "totally unfounded" any suggestion that the investigation by his panel had anything to do with the death of the CIA agent.

He said it had been the practice of his committee not to obtain the names of CIA agents involved in overseas operations, "for the express purpose of avoiding any possibility of exposing agents."

Polish Fishing Vessel Seized

NEW YORK (AP) — For the second time in two months, a Polish fishing vessel has been seized for poaching along the Atlantic seaboard, according to the U.S. Coast Guard.

The Lepus, a 288-foot stern trawler with a crew of 98, was seized by the Coast Guard on Sunday 11 miles off the coast of Long Island with 364 tons of mackerel aboard, a spokesman said.

It was not known how much fish had been taken legally outside the 12 mile limit, the Coast Guard said.

The ship, whose home port is Gdynia, Poland, was escorted to the Coast Guard station on Governor's Island in New York harbor.

The ship's master, Olejniczak Bronislaw, was scheduled to be arraigned today before a U.S. Magistrate.

Penalties for fishing in the forbidden zone range up to forfeiture of vessel and cargo and a maximum of $100,000 in fines. If found guilty, the ship's master could be sentenced to up to one year in prison.

Another ship, the Humbak, was seized off the coast of Massachusetts last month. The ship was released after the Polish Government, which owned the ship, agreed in an out-of-court settlement to pay $560,000 in fines, the Coast Guard said.

Eight other seizures made on the Atlantic Ocean this year involved two Italian vessels, two Japanese and one each from Bulgaria, the Soviet Union, Spain, and Cuba, the spokesman said.

Chief Justice Sharp Among 'Time' Honorees

NEW YORK (AP) — Time Magazine, which usually selects a "Man of the Year," this year is honoring 12 women as women of the year, including Susie Sharp, chief justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court.

Miss Sharp was among those whose names came up in the speculation for a successor to the resigned U.S. Supreme Court Justice William Douglas.

First Lady Betty Ford, tennis star Billie Jean King and Connecticut Gov. Ella Grasso are on the Time list. Also named were Carla Hills, Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development; Texas Congresswoman Barbara Jordan; Jill Ker Conway, Smith College president; Alison Cheek, assistant priest at St. Stephen and the Incarnation in Washington.

Also named Sunday were Carol Sutton, managing editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal; Kathleen Byerly, a navy lieutenant commander based in San Diego; author Susan Brownmiller; and Addie Wyatt, women's affairs director of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's union.

It's not the first time Time has honored women instead of a man or a group. Other women to be honored have included Queen Elizabeth II.

At Raleigh Justice Sharp said she was "surprised" and "very pleased" at the selection. Justice Sharp said she could understand the selection of Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Grasso.

"I'm just surprised that I got in among them," said Miss Sharp who is used to being out of the ordinary.

A few years ago she was the first woman to become a Superior Court judge. Then in 1962 she became the first woman to serve on the State Supreme Court. In 1974, she became the first woman in the nation to be elected as a state chief justice.

'Wounded Knee Massacre' Label Denied By Army

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has concluded it is "unfair and inaccurate" to describe as a massacre the killing of nearly 150 Indians at Wounded Knee, S.D., 85 years ago today.

The Army, after a new study, denied that cavalrymen engaged in "deliberate, intentional shooting of helpless persons" in an episode that modern-day advocates of Indian rights have cited as a brutal example of mistreatment. "Contrary to the popular conception of the Wounded Knee episode, the civilian authorities and the Army showed great restraint and compassion in the events leading up to the encounter," the Army said in a report to the Senate Judiciary Committee. "Restraint and precautions were even observed during the battle. "It is undisputed that an Indian fired the first shot. It is clear also that a number of Indians opened fire with concealed weapons. "There is not an iota of evidence that any orders were issued, nor can it be implied that there was any indiscriminate killing. In fact, numerous orders were issued to control the firing," it said.

The report, based on study by Army historians of official records and private publications, was sent to the panel in opposition to a bill that would pay $3,000 to heirs of 146 Sioux men, women and children killed and at least 33 injured at Wounded Knee on Dec. 29, 1890. Among other things, the Army is concerned that award of blanket indemnities to descendants of the Wounded Knee victims would set a precedent for claims based on other alleged massacres of Indians by Army troopers during the Indian wars.

The panel is scheduled to hold a hearing Jan. 20 on the Wounded Knee bill introduced by Sen. James G. Abourezk, D-S.D. An aide to Abourezk said descendants of the Indian victims can be located. He said an organization on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation can help in this.

The 23-page Army report traces events that preceded the shooting and reviews the tragedy itself. Historians view Wounded Knee as the last fighting of the long Indian wars of the 19th century.

The clash culminated efforts by the Army to force Indians, including a group led by a chief named Big Foot, to return to the reservation.

In the months before Wounded Knee, tensions mounted and white settlers became alarmed. The report said the Army began action to get the Indians back on reservations, by persuasion if possible. According to the account, the cavalry intercepted Big Foot's band. Rations and tents were given to the Indians and a conference arranged for the next day.

"Big Foot and the chiefs were ... requested to persuade their followers to turn in their weapons," the Army report said. "Big Foot resorted to subterfuge and very few weapons were relinquished ... A search of the tepees disclosed 60 concealed rifles. As a result of this concealment, the Braves were asked to remove their blankets."

Shortly afterward, the shooting began and the fighting, much of it hand-to-hand, spread to the outskirts of the camp. "It is reasonable to assume that a number of women and children were shot when the troops returned the fire that they had been receiving," the report said, noting some 65 soldiers were killed or wounded.

The Army acknowledged that "individual excesses occurred" despite what it called pre-cautionary efforts to control the troopers' firing.

But it said excesses "were the actions of inexperienced, untested troops who were carried away in the heat of battle, just as were the Indians."

Emergency Descent As Airliner Depressurized

CHICAGO (AP) — "I was in the cockpit with the pilot. He told me to get out of there and find my mother. He was not scared when the plane dove, but I sure was."

"My ears were popping like crazy," added 9-year-old Bobby

Sullivan of Mequon, Wis., after 183 passengers aboard a charter jet flight from Honolulu to Chicago landed safely at O'Hare International Airport. The plane suffered a sudden failure in cabin pressure that forced what airport officials described as an emergency landing in Oakland.

No one was injured seriously when the Capital Airways International Charter DC-10 suddenly depressurized Saturday night, officials said. The plane had been flying at 32,000 feet as it approached the San Francisco Bay area for a scheduled stop in Oakland.

Officials said the plane made an emergency descent to 16,000 feet and landed minutes later.

However, Duke Rose, a Capital vice president, denied that the plane made an emergency landing.

"The plane had to stop in Oakland for fuel and a new crew anyway. It was not that big of an incident," Rose said at Capital's corporate headquarters in Smyrna, Tenn. Rose said the cabin depressurization could have been caused by the freezing of a valve which controls the pressure inside the aircraft.

"A thing like that happens very rarely," he said. "That frozen valve probably forced the altitude drop."

Ten of the 183 passengers on the plane were taken to two nearby hospitals for treatment of nausea, headaches, earaches and other effects of the sudden loss in pressure, Oakland police said.

All were released in time to board the repaired plane for the second leg of the flight to Chicago.

Bob Faerber, Capital's manager in Chicago, said the official cause of the cabin depressurization has not been determined.

"The (oxygen) masks just popped down and they had to go to a lower altitude," he said. "When the plane landed, the mechanics couldn't find anything wrong."

The incident is being investigated by the Federal Aviation Administration, he said.

Soldier Shaken By Bomb Scare

By DOUG STONE
Associated Press Writer

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A young Ft. Campbell, Ky., soldier says a bomb scare aboard an airliner gave him the worst moments he's known in his life.

"My palms became wet and I started praying," said Army Spec. 4 William Bassford, 21, who was among 127 passengers on a Delta Airlines 727 jet forced to make an emergency landing Sunday at Charlotte, N.C.

The aircraft got to the ground with two minutes to spare before a bomb was supposed to go off.

Bassford thinks he was the first passenger to know about the threat.

"I have a big left ear," he said, explaining that he overheard one stewardess tell another about the emergency.

The flight was Delta's No. 275 from Boston to Atlanta with a stop at Washington, where Bassford boarded following a holiday leave at the home of his parents in Hollywood, Md.

He was en route to Atlanta for a changeover to Chattanooga, where he plans to spend a week with a girl friend and her parents.

Authorities said a caller told Delta's operation center in Atlanta that a bomb would go off aboard the plane at 11:15 a.m. The aircraft landed at Charlotte at 11:13 a.m. after receiving an emergency radio message.

Bassford said the stewardesses were "nervous and shook up" as they began flicking on

No Smoking signs and telling passengers to fasten seat belts. "When people asked them questions, they just ignored them," he said. "They wouldn't tell us anything."

Convinced 2 Abandoned

HAYS, Kan. (AP) — It took two tries and 50 miles of driving to convince him, but a Colby, Kan., man was finally persuaded Sunday that he had left his wife and daughter behind at a stop near Ellsworth, authorities said.

Highway patrol troopers stopped Terry Schneider in Russell, after receiving a call from Mrs. Schneider saying that her husband had left her and her daughter behind when he drove from the highway stop.

According to the patrol, Schneider told officers the first time he was stopped that he had not let anyone off and continued driving westward on Interstate 70.

The troopers again stopped Schneider near Toulon, between Russell and Hays. He told them his wife and daughter were in the back of the van asleep. After checking and finding his family missing from the van, Schneider drove back to the highway stop to get them.

Police Shootout Over Patrol Car

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — The Genesee County prosecutor and Flint police say charges may be filed in a shooting incident that began between a black policewoman and a white policeman.

Police officials said the incident occurred during shift change Saturday after a dispute between the two officers over who would drive a patrol car they were to have shared for the day.

Investigators said race and sex did not appear to be factors in the shooting.

The policewoman — Madeline C. Fletcher, 20 — was under police custody in the intensive care unit at Hurley Medical Center. She suffered a gunshot wound to the chest.

Also hospitalized was Walter Kalberer, 34, an eight-year veteran of the force. He was listed in satisfactory condition with a bullet wound in the left thigh.

Police said Kalberer was being guarded after receiving threats from an unknown caller.

Police said the two officers were not regular partners but were assigned to share the patrol car for the day. They said Miss Fletcher got behind the wheel of the car and Kalberer tried to remove her forcibly.

Officers said Miss Fletcher then swung her nightstick at Kalberer and he knocked the stick away with his nightstick.

Miss Fletcher then started to walk away, but turned, pulled her .38-caliber revolver and fired two or three times, striking Kalberer once in the leg, police said.

Police said Kalberer fired four times at Miss Fletcher while two of three officers in the area also fired at her. They said they hoped ballistics would determine which officer fired the shot which struck her, but it was not known if any bullets were recovered.

Miss Fletcher was hired under an affirmative action program in 1974 and finished her one-year probationary period on Dec. 15.

Mrs. Rohrer Might Run

RALEIGH (AP) — The Secretary of the state Department of Cultural Resources, Grace Rohrer, is thinking about seeking the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor next year.

Mrs. Rohrer, the highest ranking woman in the Republican state administration, says she will make her decision within the next two months.

She said Democrats as well as Republicans have encouraged her to make the race because they are satisfied that she has done acapable job.

At least four Democrats are seeking the office. Mrs. Rohrer is the only woman to express an interest in the nomination so far.

She is originally from Winston-Salem. Her father, the late Howard Jemison, was a state legislator from Forsyth County. She took over as state Republican chairman when Frank Rouse resigned.

In 1972 she received 43 per cent of the vote in a bid to unseat veteran Democratic Secretary of State Thad Eure.

Couple Weds In Double Ring Ceremony Sunday

Miss Kathryn Ann Arnold and Robert Glenn Wetherington pledged their marriage vows in Proctor Memorial Christian Church Sunday at four o'clock in the afternoon. The Rev. Joseph F. Bennett officiated during the double ring service.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James Stanley Arnold Sr. of Rt. 1, Grimesland and Mr. and Mrs. William Ronald Wetherington of Rt. 1, Ernul.

Guests were invited to register upon entering the church by Miss Rita Mills of Ayden. Mrs. Paul Majette, church organist, played a program of nuptial selections. As soloist, Miss Laura Wilson of Chocowinity, sang "Always," "A Time For Us," and "I'll Walk With God." At the conclusion of the ceremony she sang "Wedding Prayer."

After speaking their vows, the couple removed two outside lighted tapers from a three branch silver candelabra and lighted the middle taper symbolizing the union of marriage.

The bride entered the sanctuary escorted by her father and was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a formal wedding gown of white miramist and peau de 'ange lace. The gown was designed with an empire bodice of peau de 'ange lace, roses centered with pears and featured a Victorian neckline. The long fitted sleeves were cuffed in matching lace. The bodice was fashioned with an overlay of lace forming a cape effect. The A-line skirt fell into a built-in full circular chapel length train. The skirt was embellished with lace appliques centered with pears and bordered by twin rows of peau de 'ange lace.

The bridal headpiece was a face-framer of Venice lace flowers with scattered seed pearls and rhinestones from which flowed a bouffant finger tip length imported illusion veil. The bride wore a silver cross given to her at birth by a great uncle and aunt and also pearl earrings, a gift from the bridegroom. The bride carried a bouquet of white rosebuds, baby's breath and stephanotis centered with a rose threated white orchid corsage. Completing the design was stephanotis attached to white satin streamers tied in love knots.

Miss Melissa Arnold of Washington, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. Milton Ray Miller of Vanceboro, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Darlene McRoy of Greenville, Miss Lulu Arnold of Washington, and Miss Terry Elks of Grimesland, all cousins of the bride.

The attendants wore formal length gowns of pink polyester crepe designed with an empire bodice, high neckline and butterfly sleeves with embroidered trim. The headdress were American beauty red satin bows interwoven with baby's breath. The maid of honor carried a nosegay of American beauty red roses, baby's breath and greenery tied with matching streamers. The matron of honor and the bridesmaids carried bouquets of American beauty roses tied with matching streamers.

Miss Laurie Ann Taylor of Grimesland, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. Her attire was like the honor attendants and she carried a white wicker basket filled with American beauty red roses, baby's breath and greenery tied with matching ribbon streamers.

Michael Dean Arnold of Grimesland, the bride's brother, attended as ring bearer. He carried the wedding rings on a heart shaped pillow of satin covered in lace.

Ronnie Wetherington of Ernul, brother of the bridegroom, attended as best man and other groomsmen were Sandy Arnold of Grimesland, brother of the bride, Michael Wetherington of New Bern, brother of the bridegroom, Woody Jarvis of Grimesland, and Rick Pendleton of Aurora.

Church hostesses were Mrs. George Taylor Jr. and Mrs. Herbert Mills Jr. of Grimesland, both aunts of the bride. For the wedding Mrs. Arnold chose a blue formal gown with jacket trimmed in lace, blue accessories and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Wetherington wore a floral knit floor length gown with jacket and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids. The bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Herbert Mills Sr. of Grimesland and Mrs. J. G. Arnold of Washington, were presented corsages of white carnations.

The bridal couple and wedding guests were entertained with a reception following the service in the church fellowship hall hosted by the bride's parents.

Following the reception, the bride changed for traveling wearing a rust shade two-piece dress with brown accessories and the orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, Mr. and Mrs. Wetherington will make their home on Rt. 1, Chocowinity.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Chocowinity High School and is a sophomore at East Carolina University. Mr. Wetherington is a 1970 graduate of Farm Life High School and is presently employed as a statistician by Texasgulf Inc., Aurora.

Chaplain Forgets Hometown Faces

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a Catholic Army chaplain serving in my 16th year.

Every time I return to my hometown of Walla Walla, Wash., someone approaches me on the street and inevitably asks, "You don't remember me, do you?"

I certainly don't want to hurt anyone's feelings, but after being away for 16 years, sometimes my memory lets me down.

Can you suggest a gracious reply to this embarrassing question?

Sign me, "NOT MOTHER GOOSE—JUST FATHER BEAVER"

DEAR FATHER BEAVER: Honesty is always the best policy, so practice what you preach.

Say, "I'm sorry, but I don't remember your name." (P.S. After this hits print I have a feeling you won't be faced with that problem in Walla Walla again.)

DEAR ABBY: You told T.L. who had given his girl friend an inexpensive wristwatch for her birthday that gifts of jewelry (at any price) were too "intimate" for 14-year-olds.

I object to your applying the prudish standards of your generation to the youth of today.

Just because T.L. gave his girl friend a watch doesn't mean it's time for bed.

FUMING IN FLORIDA

DEAR FUMING: Okay. And I guess it's time for me to reconsider.

DEAR ABBY: I am 62 and recently widowed. I have a brilliant 30-year-old daughter, and it isn't just "Mother" talking, Julia is an only child who has an excellent position and is also working toward her doctorate.

She has a limited social life because she's never met anyone who appreciates what a sweet and wonderful girl she really is.

Julia has always lived at home. I do everything for her—cooking, laundry, etc. She's the intellectual type and has no interest in domestic chores.

I am living in fear that one day I'll be gone and Julia will be alone and helpless. We have no close relatives. She is friendly with her co-workers, but she says all the men there are either married or gay.

Julia adored her father and went into a terrible depression after he died, so she started seeing a psychoanalyst. After a few months she said he wasn't helping her, so she quit.

I've suggested that she get an apartment with another girl, but she won't hear of it. I hate to nag her. What can I do to help Julia make a life of her own so she'll be less dependent on me?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Encourage her to resume her analysis. (Perhaps she quit seeing him because he was getting uncomfortably close to the truth.)

You may have to be "cruel" to be kind, Mother. Throw Julia out of the nest and force her to try her wings. I'll bet she flies when she knows she has to.

DEAR ABBY: Recently I lent my ID to a friend and he got into trouble while carrying my ID in his wallet.

It has caused me a lot of trouble, and now my name is in records and files where I don't want to be.

I was stupid. Please print this letter so other people will think about the consequences before lending out their ID's.

DUMB BUT LEARNING

DEAR DUMB: Done!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Miss Regina Moser Weds In Claremont Ceremony Sunday

CLAREMONT—Miss Regina Dee Moser of Claremont and Michael Edward Craven of Greenville were married Sunday in a double ring ceremony at St. Mark's Lutheran Church here.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Stanley Stiver with David Moser, cousin of the bride, assisting. A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Karen Keating, organist, and Rick Chapman, trumpeter.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Franklin Moser of Claremont, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edward Craven of Greensboro.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a white, formal length gown of peau de soie and imported French re-embroidered alencon lace. The gown was fashioned with a sheer yoke with scallops and was also applied to the sleeves and the Victorian collar. The demi-belle skirt fell into a cathedral length train and was bordered with lace scallops and pearls around the hem. Lace and pearl appliques adorned the skirt. The gown was designed by the bride and made by Mrs. Opah Schaffer of Stoney Point.

Her headpiece was a cathedral length mantilla of English illusion topped with a bouffant veil with lace appliques. It was attached to a lace and pearl encrusted Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of red roses, baby's breath and carnations.

Serving as matrons of honor were Mrs. David Eckard, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Roy Price, both of Claremont. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Steven Ward of Hickory, Miss Nancy Johnson and Miss Suzanne Williams of Winston-Salem, Mrs. Bill Queen of High Point, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Kathy Hoke of Claremont, and Miss Gail Allison of Bridgeton, N.J.

Honorary bridesmaids were Mrs. Michael Bollinger of Claremont, Miss Berta Harrell of Scotland Neck, Mrs. Robert Whitwam of Greenville and Miss Cecile Doss of Burlington. Dawn Eckard of Claremont, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl.

The matrons of honor wore floor length gowns of deep rose quiana nylon, with long sleeves and cuffs, cowl necklines, and straight fitting lines. They carried bouquets of carnations, baby's breath and greenery.

The bridesmaids wore dresses styled identical to those of the matrons of honor, in old rose quiana nylon. They carried identical bouquets. The flower girl wore an old rose gown trimmed in ivory lace and deep rose velvet ribbon. She carried a basket of petals.

Jack Craven served his son as

MRS. MICHAEL EDWARD CRAVEN

best man. Ushers were Phillip Craven of Greensboro, brother of the bridegroom, Bill Queen of High Point, Donald Williams of Charlotte, Michael Parrish and Phillip Parrish of Durham, Tim Lindsay of Burlington and Roy Price of Claremont. Ring bearer was Chase Craven of Greensboro, cousin of the bride.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Greenville. The bridegroom is employed by Heilig-Meyers Furniture Co. and is a graduate of the East Carolina University School of Business. The bride is a graduate of the ECU School of Art. A reception was held after the wedding. Refreshments were served by Miss Cecile Doss, Mrs. Michael Bollinger, Miss Berta Harrel and Mrs. Robert Whitwam.

A champagne luncheon for the bride was hosted Saturday by Mrs. Alton Barringer of Claremont at the Holiday Inn, Hickory.

A party was held Saturday after the rehearsal, hosted by the bride's parents.

Mushrooms Are Important

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—One of the surest ways for a Czech to get his picture in a newspaper is to find a huge mushroom.

Fond parents usually forego their chances for brief fame by passing the credit to their offspring and so newspaper readers will find out that schoolboy Vladimir Trnka found two champignon mushrooms together weighing five pounds or that another boy found one as large as a football.

Czechoslovakia claims 1,400 varieties growing within its borders. Some are so rare they appear only once in 20 years.

The town of Stachy is famous for growing the king of mushrooms — the chubby boletus. These are protected like treasure and each is fixed with a number and "date of birth." In 1974 200 were counted. By late October 1975, 135 had poked up their brown caps.

Mushroom picking is such a rage in the fall that even black limousines of top officials can be seen parked along the edges of forests where mushrooms are bountiful.

But the mushroom craze can be carried too far. In Hradec Kralove, for instance, the town council had to prohibit mushroom picking in the local cemetery.

Mushroom picking is not limited to the fall. Some hardy varieties thrive under snow and some appear in the spring when the snow begins to melt.

Despite continuous warnings in the press, 10 to 20 Czechoslovaks die each year of mushroom poisoning. Last July saw a mass poisoning at Velka Ida in which 19 persons were hospitalized, of whom eight died.

The Zbraslav Hospital south of Prague alone treated 100 cases of mushroom poisoning in 1974.

Bridge Winners Announced

Saturday afternoon duplicate bridge winners at First Federal Savings and Loan were:

Mrs. Neal Aldridge and Mrs. D. J. Lewis, first; Mrs. Lacy Harrell and Mrs. Shirley Dail, second; J. W. McArthur and P. D. McArthur, third; Mrs. J. W. H. Roberts and Mrs. John Ulrich, fourth; Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Rogers, fifth.

Classes For Expectant Parents To Begin Jan. 12

Evening classes for expectant parents are available free of charge for any interested couples at the Pitt County Health Department beginning Jan. 12, with each series of classes running for six weeks.

These classes will be held in addition to those already existing in the community; the Lamaze Classes and "Preparation for Parenthood" offered by the ECU School of Nursing.

Alta Whaley, R.N., the maternal and child health coordinator for the Health Department will teach the series and plans to have a variety of specialists assist her including a physical therapist, a nutritionist, and a nurse from labor and delivery at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Couples are urged to attend the classes which will be held in the lobby of the Health Department every Monday at 7:30 p.m. Anyone desiring to take this course should call the Health Department, 752-4141, and register with Miss Alta Whaley, the nurse in charge.

The schedule for the first series is as follows: Jan. 12: Review of Reproductive Systems; Physical and Emotional Changes in Pregnancy; Growth of the Baby During Pregnancy; Problems Encountered; and Warning Signals; Jan. 19, Nutrition; and Exercises; Jan. 26: Labor and Delivery; Feb. 16: Growth and Development in First Year.

Scholarship Established

The Alpha Nu Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa Honorary Sorority for women educators will award a scholarship yearly beginning June, 1976. Funds from this scholarship will be designated for tuition and books.

The recipient will be chosen from the four area high schools on a rotating basis alphabetically until an applicant is selected. Qualifications for the scholarship are: the recipient must be accepted at Pitt Technical Institute as a prospective teachers aide and maintain a "C" average.

Anyone may contribute to the Alpha Nu Scholarship fund in memory of family member or friends of Alpha Delta Kappa members. Remembrance cards are available from any Alpha Num Member. It will be funded through special projects during the year by Alpha Nu including the recent Christmas social auction.

Members of the Scholarship Committee include Frances Gold, Bea Little, and Anne Worthington.

'Jungle' Concerning Industry

New York, beset with financial problems, is also having to be concerned about some of the nation's major corporations moving from the city.

The New York Times reported that Union Carbide Co. has conducted a two year study which should determine whether its corporate headquarters will be moved from New York.

It is a matter of major concern for New York since Union Carbide occupies a 50-story headquarters in New York and has a staff of 3,600. Even more important, however, is the fact that a Union Carbide move away from the city could influence other corporations to forsake New York.

The New York Times reported that Union Carbide is expected to make a decision early in 1976, and its decision will be based on a study which has been exceptionally thorough.

According to The New York Times article, one problem various companies are having is in persuading young managers and engineers that they should come to New York to work and live, even to further their careers. Reportedly many of the bright young people, the life blood of any company, are saying that they "don't want to live in that jungle."

There was a time when New York attracted the young because it had so much to offer in the way of culture and entertainment. Now, however, the crime rate, high cost of living and the general attitude of individuals in the sales and service fields have changed this image of New York and the city no longer attracts the young.

New York is still the nation's most important city insofar as trade and commerce are concerned, and we would hope that it can remain so. The big city, though, will have to find answers to the problems of crime and high living costs and complacency, before its image is improved.

Terry Failing Attract

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Almost 18 months ago, an interviewer asked Duke University President Terry Sanford whether he thought his lack of a Washington base would hinder his candidacy for the presidency.

How, the interviewer wanted to know, did Sanford hope to attract the attention of the national news media when so many senators and others with direct access to the Washington opinion makers would be trying the same thing?

Sanford replied that he was more concerned with building a viable campaign organization. If he could do that, he said, the press would have to pay attention to him.

The events of the past 18 months have cast doubt on Sanford's thesis and raised the question of how powerful the national media has become in the selection process that eventually produces a president.

Sanford's candidacy has for the most part failed to attract national attention. Early this month, he held a "Valley Conference" on the economy in hopes that the Washington press corps would treat it like a major event. The press did not. The only reporters covering the event were from the North Carolina media.

That was typical of the way Sanford's candidacy has been treated. It's not that the press doesn't respect Sanford. There just seems to be a collective attitude that he will have to prove he is a viable contender before he will get much attention.

Sanford's problem is developing a campaign without first getting attention from the press. It is difficult to win the support of people who have never heard of you.

Another relatively obscure Southerner, Jimmy Carter, has dealt with the problem by concentrating his efforts in a few key areas which he felt would draw attention.

Carter worked hard to make a good showing in a couple of meaningless straw polls in Iowa and Florida. The results indicated very little except that some reporters were paying attention. The ensuing stories swept Carter out of the ranks of the dark horses and into a position of prominence. He was recently on the cover of the New York Times magazine.

Sanford, on the other hand, has concentrated his efforts in New Hampshire, Massachusetts and North Carolina. In the first two states, he is another face in the crowd. The North Carolina primary will probably not attract much attention until next March.

Sanford's disadvantageous position raises questions about the role played by the press in selecting a president. In an excellent book about the coverage of the 1972 campaign, "The Boys on the Bus," author Timothy Crouse detailed how a small group of Washington correspondents acted as an informal screening committee for presidential candidates.

The committee had no real power. It was just a dinner group and its lack of influence was shown by the fact that the eventual nominee, George McGovern, "failed" the screening test.

McGovern later forced the press to pay attention to him. Other candidates can do the same thing. President Ford has instant access. So do many senators. So do the governors of California and New York.

But for a candidate like Terry Sanford, being ignored by the press can diminish whatever small chance he has of winning the nomination. Sanford's task, then, is still the one he defined last year and the one McGovern succeeded at in 1972—to make the press pay attention. It will not be easy.

Keeps Ours A Safe, Friendly Community

There are lessons in New York's problems for cities even as small as our own Greenville.

We can avoid some of the big city's problems by avoiding some of the things that brought them on. We can do this by efforts ranging all the way from individual stores making certain that their clerks remain friendly and helpful, to the city's making sure that our police force is kept up in training and in compensation.

If we can keep Greenville a friendly and safe community to live and shop in as it grows, then we need not fear for our future.

"Alas! Is there no end to my troubles?"

THIS AFTERNOON

Programs Seeking Funds

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—A variety of programs are in the works in counties across North Carolina as plans are developed for local activities to replace juvenile training schools.

But the shift will not come cheaply. Various estimates place the initial cost at upwards of $1.5 million, and only part of that will be available through savings at the training schools where between 40 and 50 per cent of the young people will be removed. Training school population generally runs between 700 and 1,000.

Approaches vary from county-to-county, and that is how it should be says District Court Judge A. Lincoln Sherk of Winston-Salem.

Local Study

Each county is to study its own needs, and seek to develop special ways of working with the youngsters who are required by law to no longer be committed to training school except for crimes. Effective in July, 1977, the "status-offenders" must be handled differently: the truants, the runaways, the disobedient will not be sentenced to training schools.

The most immediate and obvious answer is residential group homes where around nine youngsters can be housed and fed, attend local schools and community activities, and take advantage of community counseling and mental health services.

Planners see the need for room for 425 children in some 11 existing group homes, and seven new ones. They may be operated by contract with private agencies, or by local government agencies.

Diversionsary programs, into which status offenders can be channeled by the courts, would include local temporary home shelters for the delinquent and undisciplined, and for runaways. Other approaches include work and school camps, and planners hope local communities will come up with others.

Efforts are currently underway to channel federal funds from the Law Enforcement Assistance Act into this state effort. Some $400,000 has already been secured, and the Governor's Law and Order Commission, on which Judge Sherk sits, is seeking another half-million.

Sherk is also chairman of the Technical Advisory Committee on Delinquency Prevention and Youth Services, a group formed by the Department of Human Resources to help implement the programs to handle the status offenders in coming months.

Many Agencies

One of the immediate problems, Sherk says, is trying to pull together the various state agencies and study groups which in one way or another have a hand in dealing with juvenile problems.

That in itself is no easy task, since numerous studies have shown that a host of public and private service and counseling agencies have

Good Business For CIA

By ART BUCHWALD
WASHINGTON — Many stories have come out about the CIA, but this is one that is still buried secretly in the archives. It has to do with an agent named Greensleeves. He was young, energetic and imaginative. The CIA decided to set him up in a souvenir shop across the street from the palace of a South American dictator where he could keep tabs on the comings and goings of government officials.

They gave him enough money to buy the shop and the souvenirs so the operation would be legitimate. This exchange of cables, after they were decoded, tells the story.

"CIA Headquarters, Langley: Business excellent. Have sold $16,000 worth of souvenirs thanks to Dictator Tacos three-day anniversary celebration in front of palace. Please tell our people in Taiwan I need more Tacos ashtrays, paperweights and letter openers. If all right with you, am planning a sale on Dictator Tacos music boxes that play 'South of the Border.' — Greensleeves."

"Greensleeves, Paella, South America: Glad to hear you are doing well businesswise, but what the hell is going on at the palace? We hear Tacos may be overthrown by right-wing colonels. Please advise at once. — Frogmaster."

"CIA Headquarters, Langley: Sorry I have been too busy taking inventory to pay much attention to palace, but have good news. Discovered a factory outside Siesta that makes cuckoo clocks and hand-painted scarves. Have bought three gross at half-price. Expect sales figures in June up 20 per cent over May. Had to pay off customs to get cigarette lighters into country, but will add bribe to price of item. — Greensleeves."

"Greensleeves, Paella, South America: Why no word from you on Tacos assassination attempt and his exile from country? Who is now in charge of Paella? Urgently need list of junta and whether it's pro- or anti-American. — Frogmaster."

"CIA Headquarters, Langley: Agency has nothing to fear from Tacos overthrow. I got wind of it two weeks ago and had Tacos Birthday Sale on Saturday, where I marked down all Dictator Tacos items 50 per cent. The bronze busts moved especially well as did Tacos pillowcases. We also unloaded 4,000 plates with portraits of Mrs. Tacos. Only item that didn't sell as well as expected was night light of Tacos standing next to Virgin Mary. But I plan to remove Tacos and just sell them as Virgin Mary night lights. Tell our Hong Kong people that I am sending them photograph of Colonel Chill which I would like them to have framed with sea shells. Also need 3,000 beer mugs commemorating the junta's revolution of July 5. By the way, tell our Hong Kong man to check packing. (Continued on page 5)

INSIDE REPORT

Pulling The Eagle's Claws

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — The coming election-year session of Congress, having tasted blood in blocking secret Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) funds to Angola, may push to outlaw all covert CIA operations in the future.

"It's a little like a mirror image of the old McCarthyism," one critical Senate Democrat told us. "This time, instead of alleged Communism, it's the CIA that destroys everything it touches and is responsible for everything that goes wrong."

The troubled new African state of Angola, posing perplexing problems that might not be remedied by clandestine CIA activity, could become the catalyst for Congress decreeing an end, across the board, of all CIA "dirty tricks" and other secret operations abroad.

epitome of the Democratic cold warrior, opposing CIA-channelled Angolan aid.

But the real goal of these Senators may extend far beyond Angola. "A showdown on the whole issue of covert aid abroad is coming," Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming, a rare Democrat supporting Angolan aid, told us, "and in the worst possible time, the presidential election year of 1976." If so, the irony is deep.

President Ford a year ago made a major concession to rabid CIA critics in Capitol Hill—signing a new law requiring notification of six congressional committees before he approves undercover CIA operations. On Angola, the administration informed not just six committees (the Appropriations, Armed Services and Foreign Relations panels in both Houses) but also the two select committees probing the CIA.

Exactly how many legislators thus were made privy to CIA's Angolan operations is unknown, but it probably exceeds 50 members—about 10 per cent of Congress.

Other Editors Say Independence Day

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

Why is the Fourth of July not officially observed as our national Independence Day?

That's a good question, one that Sen. Jesse Helms has been asking. And he hopes to have an answer by action in Congress.

The Tar Heel senator has introduced a resolution in the Senate which would correct this oversight that has existed throughout the years.

He notes that it is "interesting, and just a bit ironic," that July 4th has never been proclaimed on a continuing basis as Independence Day.

After all, that date may well be the most significant anniversary date in the country's history.

There have been such proclamations, but only for a particular year. For example, Presidents Truman and Eisenhower both issued proclamations of such a nature.

The joint resolution proposed by Sen. Helms calls upon the President to issue a proclamation of a continuing nature which refers to the Fourth of July of each succeeding year.

Actually, the resolution idea was a suggestion by the North Carolina District Exchange Club. Helms offered praise for the N.C. group and the National Exchange Club for the work they have done in preserving and stimulating appreciation for our national heritage.

It seems fitting that the suggestion for such a proposal should come from a Tar Heel civic group and offered as a resolution by a North Carolina senator.

After all, the importance of the participation of North Carolinians in the Revolutionary period cannot be overlooked. There are, for example, the Halifax Resolves, the Mecklenburg Declaration, the First Provincial Congress meeting at New Bern, the Edenton Tea Party and the Battle of Moore's Creek.

And then, too, July 4th itself has been a special day in this state. The first official observance of the date as Independence Day was in the town of Salem—now Winston-Salem. It was pursuant to a resolution of the General Assembly of the state and a resulting proclamation by the governor.

So, in light of our role in the nation's pursuit of independence, we commend Sen. Helms for his proposals.

We hope the Senate will seriously consider his resolution.

Strength For Today Govm't Statistics Criticized

ORIGINALITY VIA COPYING

The English novelist, Robert Louis Stevenson, is said to have developed his remarkable literary style by copying the writing style of other authors. For some weeks, for example, he would try to put what he had to say in the form used, perhaps, by Cicero and other Roman orators. Next he might try the style of Tolstoy and other Russian authors. Then, later on, he might try to write like Voltaire and leading figures of the French Enlightenment.

One might think that the result of this apparently slavish copying would be the destruction of Stevenson's own personal literary creativity. But it didn't turn out that way. Stevenson learned something from each of the authors he copied. When added to his own, individualistic way of looking at things, the experiment produced a style both original and graceful.

If we are not afraid to learn, the whole world will come forth to lay its treasures at our feet. Everyone has something to teach us, and what we learn from others will contribute to our own originality.

NEW YORK (AP) — Criticism of the government's official employment statistics is growing among the professionals who use them, with some openly claiming the extent of job distress is understated by many hundreds of thousands, even millions.

If true, the consequences are almost immeasurably vast, distorting economic planning, government policy decisions, political strategy, revenue sharing and prospects for the jobless themselves.

The statistics have defenders too, but the claims by some critics appear to be so telling that the general credibility of the monthly figures could be severely damaged.

Strong sentiment exists among some economists for a high-level review of concepts and procedures, and it appears to be growing.

Although he defends the figures as sound, Julius Shiskin, the commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, is among those seeking a review. He said the matter is now at the White House for consideration.

Also seeking a review is Prof. Robert A. Gordon, who headed the most recent study of the job figures — the Committee to Appraise Employment and Unemployment Statistics. It was established by President John Kennedy in 1961.

Gordon, who completed today his term as president of the American Economic Association, observes that hundreds of millions of dollars in revenue sharing is distributed on the basis of local job figures that cannot be fully trusted.

Much of the general criticism is centered on interpretations used in formulating the official jobless rate figure, but it extends far beyond that to include the techniques employed and the accuracy of the raw data.

The BLS itself notes that in most of 1975 more than 1.1 million jobless Americans were excluded from both the labor force and the unemployment figures because they were discouraged and not actively seeking jobs at survey time.

In addition, many hundreds of thousands of people in temporary government work projects, who would have been counted as jobless a decade ago, were considered employed because of changes in standards, one of which— (Continued on page 5)

Equal Pay For British Women

By MICHAEL WEST
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP)— Britain entered a new era of women's rights today as laws came into operation banning sex discrimination in jobs, education, housing and services and establishing the right to equal pay for equal work.

The Sex Discrimination Act and the Equal Pay Act have been hailed as one of the biggest steps forward in women's rights in Britain since women got the vote in 1918. But critics say there are still large loopholes.

The laws prohibit advertisements for employes of a specific sex, men-only bars, restrictions on union membership because of sex, refusal of a mortgage to a woman because of her sex and requiring a male guarantor for a woman applying for a charge account.

The new legislation gives Britain's 8 million working women the right to equal training, promotion, transfer and tenure with the 14 million male workers. Women doing the same, similar or equivalent work as men can claim the same pay and fringe benefits such as sick pay and rights to a company mortgage.

In education, girls who find, for example, that there is less provision for them to study science than there is for boys can demand equal treatment.

There are numerous exceptions, however. Private homes, firms with less than six workers and private clubs are exempt. Men are not permitted to be midwives or women to be miners or monks. Single-sex schools will continue.

Also exempt are singers and actors, masseurs, lavatory attendants, those in jobs that involve physical contact such as corset fitting, employes on ships and remote construction sites and workers in single-sex prisons.

An employer can also reject a woman for a job if he believes she does not have sufficient strength or stamina. But if the woman demonstrates she meets this requirement, the employer must hire her.

Women can go to the courts or industrial tribunals when they believe their rights under the new laws are being violated. An employer can be ordered to pay as much as two years' pay as compensation.

Heart Surgery For A 'Healer'

TULSA, Okla. (AP)— Kathryn Kuhlman, the internationally known "miracle healer," was reported in satisfactory condition in a hospital here after open-heart surgery.

Tink Wilkerson, a long-time friend of Miss Kuhlman, said physicians had replaced a mitral valve in Miss Kuhlman's heart on Sunday. She was hospitalized here in July for what her physician described as a "minor heart flareup."

Wilkerson said Miss Kuhlman had been in a Los Angeles hospital since late November but "was not responding to treatment as rapidly" as she did last summer in Tulsa.

Miss Kuhlman decided to come here when the need for open-heart surgery was indicated.

The evangelist dislikes being called a faith healer and disavows any credit for healing.

Air Traffic Controller Game Is A Crisis Test

By CHRIS CONNELL
Associated Press Writer
POMONA, N.J. (AP)— In a darkened room at a federal test facility here, a game of make-believe is being played which could spell the difference between life and death for airline passengers.

Air traffic controller Fred Ranger is seated before a console with a green screen crisscrossed by lines, plane identification numbers and altitudes and the flashing words, "CONFLICT ALERT."

The 20 Air Route Traffic Control Centers the FAA operates throughout the country to direct traffic between airports. Unlike their fellow controllers who guide takeoffs and landings from towers at airports, the controllers at these outposts work at consoles like the one manned by Ranger in similar darkened rooms.

The area over which Ranger's planes were flying does not exist. It is a mythical region called the "universal data set" that was designed to mirror the topography and the troubles that pilots encounter throughout the nation.

FAA centers in Memphis, Denver, Kansas City and Fort Worth already have added "conflict alert" systems to their computers' programs. In the wake of five near-misses since Nov. 26, the FAA has stepped up plans to install the program at the other 16 centers by next month, Ranger said.

"CAT 2601, make a 90-degree right turn and descend 1,000 feet," he said into the microphone attached to his headset.

"Roger," responded a woman's voice over the intercom. In a moment, the squiggle that represented airplane CAT 2601 veered to the right and its vector lines moved out of the way of another plane marked CAT 2602 on Ranger's screen. The flashing stopped and the alert sign disappeared.

Ranger proceeded to direct both planes back to a collision course, then moved them away from it again.

None of the action took place in the skies. Ranger was seated in one Federal Aviation Administration lab here, and the woman "pilot" was in an adjacent building at a simulated control panel.

The FAA and two computer firms worked jointly for three years on the 14,000-word computer program that makes "conflict alert" possible. The warning flashes automatically when flight patterns indicate that two planes will pass within five miles of each other at about the same altitude.

Ranger is among 40 controllers at the FAA's National Aviation Facilities Experimental Center here who test methods used to direct America's air traffic. The base near Atlantic City employs 1,800 persons in all phases of test work.

The conflict alert system is the one of the newer systems in the FAA's safety network, and a recent rash of near-miss jet collisions has made it one of the most talked about.

The lab here is a mock-up of in 1965 — appears never to have been announced publicly.

These factors, and one other definitional change, would have pushed the 9.2 per cent peak of unemployment, reached last May, to near 11 per cent, and November's 8.3 per cent rate close to 10 per cent.

Prof. Charles C. Killingsworth of Michigan State University, an esteemed authority on labor, contends that even some so-called experts are unaware of statistical deficiencies, and thus compound the impact.

One common mistake, for example, is to attribute a declining jobless rate during the late 1960s to the effect of fiscal and monetary policy, when in fact much of the decline resulted from definitional changes and other factors.

One of these factors was a military draft that took 900,000 young men out of the labor force directly, and, says Killingsworth, "drove thousands — between 100,000 and 200,000 at one point — into schools."

Econometric model makers, who construct numerical equations of the economy and how it interacts, erroneously assumed the changes were caused solely by fiscal-monetary policy, and thus reached misleading conclusions.

Similar errors are being made again today, he said. From a recession low point last March, the work force has expanded by 1.5 million jobs. Even academics and government officials tend to think of these jobs as market-generated.

The fact, says Killingsworth, is that one-third of the improvement has been in work programs supported by federal funds to help provide work for the unemployed during economically difficult times.

"These jobs have nothing to do with economic recovery and expansion, but they are interpreted that way," he said.

More distortions occur in seasonally adjusting the figures, critics say. Shiskin concedes there have been difficulties with the seasonal factor, designed to remove effects of recurring events, such as Christmas, from the overall trend.

Critics also claim the popularly used jobless rate doesn't really measure the full extent of underemployment, which includes those working part-time, temporarily or beneath their skills.

The common theme that unites all critics is that if the jobless figures do not in fact reflect reality, then neither do the very important business and government decisions made with them as the basis.

that Sen. John Tunney of California, author of the anti-aid amendment, actually started to walk out on Kissinger during a Dec. 18 closed-door meeting. The reason: Tunney thought Kissinger was about to reach a compromise, and compromise was one thing Tunney did not want.

Tunney was persuaded to stay, but the political gesture of a walkout was not lost on his fellow Senators. Running for reelection, Democrat Tunney has moved conspicuously toward the right on social-economic issues in keeping with the times. His leadership of the anti-CIA forces on Angola will balance that political shift for liberal Californians spawned on Vietnam.

Following his humiliating loss in last week's Angolan vote, President Ford is now looking to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota to bail him out. As a former Vice President, and the leading Democratic presidential prospect, Humphrey knows well enough the fearful risks in tying the hands of a President trying to compete on even terms with Moscow.

But the odds run strongly against Humphrey or anybody else in Congress bailing out Mr. Ford — or permitting U.S. competition with the Soviet Union on even terms.

Rather, the anti-CIA mood is running so strong and deep that a blanket ban on any clandestine role by the CIA seems more likely than retrieving the U.S. position in Angola.

It is precisely such a singular withdrawal from superpower responsibility that is now weakening the resolve of both Zaire and Zambia, U.S. supporters in the Angolan civil war, to risk continued opposition to Soviet-backed forces. Other nations are also watching, uneasily, as Congress systematically pulls the claws of the American eagle.

New Gimmick

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)— Some banks have given china, small appliances, trading stamps and other inducements to depositors.

The young United Citizens Bank will offer customers regular gasoline at 49 cents a gallon, four or five cents less than the regular price.

Beginning in mid January, customers will be able to use a special credit card which will activate gas pumps at the drive-in window. The transaction will be transmitted to a computer at an oil company whose president Roger Page Jr., also is an official of the bank.

Spinal Arthritis Is Not So Rare

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)— Ankylosing spondylitis, a type of spinal arthritis once considered rare, may afflict three million Americans whose symptoms have not been diagnosed, according to Drs. Andrei Calin and James Fries of the Stanford School of Medicine.

The disease, characterized by back pain, stiffness and inflammation, limits movement and can result in fusion of the spine. People with a certain hereditary antigen are susceptible to the disease, and drugs are available which effectively control its painful symptoms.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced again today, but ran into some profit taking after almost a week of steady gains.

Trading was active. The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 1.41 at 881.22. Gainers held a 3-1 edge on losers at the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow climbed more than 3 points in the early going, following a 15.43-point rise last week, but then began to settle back.

Analysts noted that the halting of the market's advance came as the strong rally of late in the bond market came to a pause this morning.

Wall Streeters have said that the bond market was leading the stock market upward because its upsurge had the effect of inspiring optimism on the interest rate outlook and at the same time reduced yields on interest-bearing investments which compete with stocks for investors' favor.

They also noted that it was not surprising for some traders to want to take profits after the 41.01-point runup in the Dow over the past three weeks.

Pan American World Airways was the most active issue on the Big Board, down 1/8 at 5 1/4. A 500,000-share block traded at that price.

The NYSE's composite index rose .22 to 47.82 in the first hour.

Money Stolen

At Local Plant

Some $50 in cash was reported stolen from Prep Shirt Manufacturing Corp., N. Green Street, on Sunday, according to Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson. Sheriff Tyson said that the money was removed after forcing open a cash box, which had been taken from a metal drawer at a plant office.

Entrance to the plant was gained through a window on the north side of the building, it was noted. The plant had been closed for the week.

Prep Shirt officials reported the break-in and theft at 5:45 p.m. Sunday.

Probe Break-In

At Black Jack

Pitt County deputies are investigating a break-in that occurred Sunday at a Rt. 3, Black Jack home. Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that Ray Hardee of Rt. 3, Box 314, reported that someone entered his home between 5:30 p.m. and 6:40 p.m. while he was away and took a portable television set and $45 in cash.

The sheriff said that entrance to the residence was gained by breaking a glass in a door at the south end of the home. Damage was set at approximately $10. The incident was reported by Hardee at 6:54 p.m. Sunday.

Nine Die In Plane Crash

GRANBY, Colo. (AP) — There were apparently no survivors among the nine persons aboard a twin-engine propjet which crashed while ferrying eight Californians to a skiing holiday at a mountain resort.

The Colorado Civil Air Patrol reported late Sunday that two men who dropped from a helicopter to the wreckage of the plane near the Continental Divide had fired a signal flare indicating that no one was alive at the site.

The pilot of a search plane spotted the wreckage Sunday at about 8,000 feet on the east side of the Divide near the Winter Park ski area. It ended a two-day air-and-ground search for the aircraft.

The Mitsubishi MU-2, chartered by Star Aviation of Denver, left Denver's Stapleton International Airport on Friday with another light plane for the Little King Ranch near Grand Lake.

Ford Calm, Aide 'Distressed'

By FRANK CORMIER Associated Press Writer

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President Ford says he doubts those pictures that show him taking a spill in the snow will lose him any votes because "there are more skiers that fall down than stand up."

Ford made the observation Sunday as his press secretary, Ron Nessen, defended him against jokes about his alleged clumsiness.

Nessen acknowledged that there is a widespread impression, aided by impressionists and cartoonists, that Ford is clumsy.

"This is the most unconscionable misrepresentation of a President," Nessen declared. He described Ford as healthy and graceful and "by far the most athletic president within memory."

With more fresh snow on the slopes here, Ford presumably will do his final skiing of the holiday today. He returns to the White House on Tuesday, ending an eight-day vacation. Before leaving, he is expected to act on some of the 27 bills still awaiting his signature or veto.

Skiers say Ford cuts an impressive figure on the slopes, navigating Vail Mountain's most difficult runs with seeming ease. But Ford had the misfortune to tumble on Friday in front of news photographers whose films were seen around the globe.

Returning from nearly three hours of skiing Sunday, Ford was asked by a reporter if he thought a wrong impression of him had been conveyed by a series of mishaps that began with a tumble down an airplane ramp in Salzburg, Austria, last fall.

The President, assuming he was being asked about the impact of his spill Friday, replied, "No, every skier takes a fall once in a while." He suggested tumbles on skis would not cost him votes.

Ford also skied for about three hours Saturday with the three members of the White House press corps generally judged to be the group's best skier. They were unanimous in terming the President an excellent skier with fine coordination.

"Even your own colleagues who ski say he is good," Nessen protested. "How can you and others therefore class him as clumsy?"

Indira Urged Postpone Elections For Year

By MYRON L. BELKIND Associated Press Writer NEW DELHI, India (AP) —

Leaders of India's ruling Congress party today urged Prime Minister Indira Gandhi to postpone the March election of a new parliament for a year.

A few hours earlier, Mrs. Gandhi in a speech to the youth wing of the party warned: "Some internal and external forces still continue to pose a threat to India, although they are lying dormant at the moment. These forces are waiting for a small mistake to pounce upon India and create chaos in the country."

Strike Hits BBC News

LONDON (AP) — Lady Jane Wellesley, a friend of Crown Prince Charles, today joined 700 British Broadcasting Corp. journalists who staged a 24-hour strike for more money.

The proposal, put before the annual party convention which opened today in Chandigarh, was linked with others by the party leaders calling for continuation of Mrs. Gandhi's emergency rule and for sweeping changes in the constitution.

The United States appeared to be her target when she said: "Some foreign forces have always helped our enemies and not tolerated our becoming strong. Now they are trying to teach us what democracy is and what we should do."

The procession of cars from the funeral home passed the trucks parked at the roadside about a quarter of a mile from the cemetery. The drivers stood at the front of each truck with their hats over their hearts. There was no driver at the second truck.

All the proposals were certain to get an overwhelming endorsement from the party convention.

When the several hundred mourners reached the graveside, the truckers were cued to move.

Postponement of the elections would insure adoption of constitutional changes because the Congress party has an overwhelming majority in the present parliament. There is widespread speculation that Mrs. Gandhi will replace the present parliamentary system of government with strong presidential rule and that she will then take over the presidency.

The resolution introduced at the party congress said extension of the emergency and postponement of the election was necessary because "forces of destabilization are still actively at work within the country and from outside."

Charles Clyborne, radio dispatcher at Pilot Freight, said the funeral was fitting, since other professions, such as police and military, have special funerals. "Why not a funeral like this for a man who spent more than 30 years in the trucking business?"

The strikers are all members of the National Union of Journalists. They want extra pay for working so-called unsocial hours, such as nights and weekends, raised from $390 a year to $800.

Revis said in a telephone interview that the mourners seemed genuinely moved by the truckers' tribute. "It was very sad and yet it was appropriate for a man who had been in the trucking business," he said.

Christy was 56 when he died, and would have been eligible for retirement next year.

A Warning For Looters

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The government warned looters today that they carried off poisoned food and deadly gas from a government warehouse they pillaged.

The gas, an insecticide spray, was in metal containers marked "Defium" that were stolen during the looting of the warehouse Saturday, the government said.

"Just opening them can raise the direct danger of death," said the warning from the Ministry of Information published in local newspapers.

The announcement also warned that beans, lentils, rice, flour, sugar and cocoa hauled off by the looters had been sprayed with "toxic products" to protect them from rodents and insects.

"The effect of these toxic products remains for at least 10 days," it said. A ministry official said the food would not kill anyone but would cause sickness. There have been no reports of victims, he added.

Armed looters smashed a wall of the warehouse and carried off food worth $3 million. The looters opened up with machine guns and rocket grenades to drive off security forces who tried to intervene.

Street clashes between Moslem and Christian gunmen subsided Sunday, and the lull continued today.

The pilot, Lee Hollingsworth, radioed that he would seek a break in the weather by flying north and was not heard from after that.

Passengers aboard the plane included Stuart Nelson, 42, his wife, Myrna, 36, and their children, Tiffany, 5, and Sabrina, 2; Mrs. Nelson's mother, Bobbi Ross, 60; Bob Petersen, 10, and Gary Nuhvirian, 28, all from the Los Angeles area.

Unhurt In Car Wreck Sunday

A traffic accident early Sunday morning occurred on Dickinson Avenue when a car driven by Rose Spiller Smith of 1613 E. Wright Rd. was forced off the road by an unknown vehicle.

Ms. Smith was not injured, but $500 damage was done to her car and $5 damage done to a utility pole she struck, trying to avoid being hit, according to police reports.

...It's a Bicentennial book like no other! An entertaining, fact-packed trip back to 1776.

"76," produced by The Associated Press, tells about the rascals, the blunders, the unsung heroes, the mischief, and the life of the man in the street in America and Europe during that "turning point" year. It's a backstage of history your teacher never told you about.

It is a book about Washington—not the national monument—but the man. About Beaumarchais, the implausible Frenchman who kept the Revolution going when he wasn't writing "The Marriage of Figaro." About John Adams, the Puritan's Puritan, and his cousin, Sam. About the Declaration of Independence and what Ben Franklin whispered to Jefferson.

About America's last King, really not a bad chap. It is a book about 1776 in England as well as America, filled with the raucous life of the city streets, the hilarious hardships of the traveler, the bawdy goings-on of the English manor and the American frontier.

All narrated in lively style and illustrated with hundreds of rare color and black and white pictures.

For a vibrant, vivid voyage to the year it all began, order your copy of "76" today and celebrate Independence for only $7.95. With this attractive, 300-page book you will receive a large full color wall map of colonial America.

Staubach-To-Pearson Pass Beats Vikings

ROGER BETTER DODGE — While Dallas Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach (12) looks for a receiver, Minnesota's Carl Eller (81) leaps over Cowboy blockers Robert Newhouse (44) and Rayfield Wright (70) during the first quarter of the NFC playoff game in Bloomington Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Pittsburgh's defense put the Steelers on the road to their second straight Super Bowl, but Roger Staubach short-circuited Minnesota's hopes for a third straight trip to the National Football League championship game.

The Steelers, who muffed Minnesota 16-6 to win all the marbles a year ago, did a similar job on Baltimore's cinderella squad Saturday, roughing up the Colts 28-10 to put an end to the "impossible dream" of the league's turnaround team of the year.

That triumph, built on Mel

Blount's crucial interception and Andy Russell's 93-yard touchdown run with a fumble, vaulted the Steelers into the American Conference championship game.

And, in a rematch of last year's AFC title game, it will be against the Oakland Raiders, who rode Ken Stabler's three touchdown passes to a big lead over Cincinnati Sunday, then had to hang on for a 31-28 victory.

Minnesota appeared all set to charge into its third straight National Conference championship. The Vikes led Dallas 14-10 and had the Cowboys buried on their own 25-yard line with fourth down and 16 yards to go ... and less than a minute to play. Clearly a miracle was needed.

And the Cowboys got it. First Staubach hit Drew Pearson on a 25-yard right sideline pass to put the ball at midfield. And two plays later, with 24 seconds to go, he unloaded a bomb that Pearson caught at the Minnesota five and carried into the end zone for the touchdown that gave Dallas a shocking 17-14 upset.

Now the Cowboys ride into Los Angeles to face the Rams in the NFC showdown. Los Angeles, with Lawrence McCutcheon rushing for a record 202 yards, reserve quarterback Ron Jaworski running for one touchdown and throwing for another, and defenders Jack Youngblood and Bill Simpson returning interceptions for scores, beat the St. Louis Cardinals 35-23.

Both the Steelers and Rams are rated six-point favorites to make it into the Super Bowl.

"We hang in, we don't fold," linebacker Jack Ham said after Pittsburgh yielded just 154 total yards to the Colts, who had barged into the playoffs as the East Division champion with a 10-4 record, more than a 180-degree reverse from last year's 2-12.

Blount's theft was "the best interception I ever saw," said Ham after the Steelers' cornerback grabbed Marty Domres' pass and returned it 20 yards to the Baltimore seven. On the next play, Rocky Bleier scored to put Pittsburgh ahead 14-10.

Russell's gallop with a Bert Jones fumble was "the worst run I ever saw," laughed Ham, who had jolted the ball loose from the Colt quarterback's hand on the Pittsburgh doorstep.

Russell, who played with an injured knee, scooped up the ball and was escorted slowly but securely down the right sideline for the score.

"I think we're the best two teams in football," said Baltimore running back Lydell Mitchell. "I felt that if we won this game, we'd win the Super Bowl."

His former Penn State teammate, running back Franco Harris, committed two of Pittsburgh's three fumbles — but he also rushed for 153 yards and scored a touchdown.

"This is no reason to celebrate," Oakland tight end Bob Moore, one of Stabler's three touchdown targets, said following the victory over the Bengals. "We set out at the first of the year with just one goal — reaching the Super Bowl."

Moore caught an eight-yard touchdown toss, Mike Siani nabbed a seven-yarder and Dave Casper grabbed a two-yard flip. Ken Anderson's fourth-quarter touchdown passes — 25 yards to Charlie Joiner and 14 yards to Isaac Curtis — made it close.

Staubach's touchdown pass wiped out a Minnesota lead built on Brent McClanahan's one-yard touchdown run with 5:11 to play. "It was the most important catch of my career," said Pearson.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry added: "I still can't believe Drew caught it." And Minnesota Coach Bud Grant couldn't believe offensive interference wasn't called on the play.

"The ball was underthrown," Pearson said, "and I was fighting back to get underneath. (Cornerback Nate) Wright was shoving me to keep me outside. The ball struck me in the hands and I got hit on the arm by somebody. The ball slid down and I caught it between my elbow and my hip. It was just a lucky catch."

Grant insisted: "There as no question — it was offensive pass interference. It was as clear as day and night. Wright was pushed."

In a tragic sidenote, the Rev. Dallas Tarkenton Sr., father of Vikings quarterback Fran Tarkenton, died of a heart attack at his home in Savannah, Ga., while watching the game on television.

St. Louis quarterback Jim Hart was forced to throw constantly — and for the most part unsuccessfully — against the Rams after they got the scores a few plays apart on interception returns of 47 yards by Youngblood and 65 yards by Simpson. "Their two quick touchdowns threw our game plan right out the window," Hart said. "After that, we had to put the ball into the air."

When Jaworski, playing in place of injured James Harris, stayed on the ground, he was successful, running in from five yards out. And he was successful through the air, too, with a 66-yard touchdown bomb to Harold Jackson. "I learned I was going to start when the coach said: 'Ron, you're it.' I wasn't nervous until they told me I was going to start, then the adrenalin started flowing."

His son, Fran, left the stadium in Bloomington, Minn., where the Dallas Cowboys had defeated the Vikings 17-14, unaware of his father's death but was told a short time later.

A friend of the family said the minister was not particularly interested in football, but added, "I think he was interested in the games Fran played."

Dallas Tarkenton Jr. said, "He was just sitting in a chair. I saw him gasp for breath; I could tell he had had a heart attack. We started mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and everything we could think of and the ambulance got here very quickly...he never came to."

A native of Norfolk, Va., the elder Tarkenton served several

Southern Teams Get Back Into Action

By The Associated Press

After more than a week of inactivity other than practice, five of the eight Southern Conference basketball teams get back into the swing of things tonight in holiday tournament action.

Furman's Paladins, 1-4, and The Citadel's Bulldogs, 2-4, play in the Poinsettia Classic for which Furman is the host, and Davidson's Wildcats, 2-5, are hosts for the Charlotte Invitational.

Two other teams take to the road with Virginia Military's redhot Keydets, 6-1, playing in the Hall of Fame Classic at Terre Haute, Ind., and East Carolina's Pirates, 3-4, in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

The Citadel goes against Rutgers and Furman meets Georgia Tech in the Poinsettia Classic. Davidson takes on Hofstra at Charlotte, VMI meets host Indiana State in the Hall of Fame Classic and East Carolina tackles Rollins in the Tangerine Bowl.

VMI has won its last four starts and East Carolina now boasts a three-game winning streak after losing its first four.

Despite East Carolina's recent success, Coach Dave Patton says "we have not played yet the type of basketball we are capable of playing. I can see little bits and pieces here and there, off and on, so I know we're capable. It's just a matter of time."

GOPHER BALLS

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Bob Gibson, at the end of his long career with the St. Louis Cardinals, was the only National League pitcher to serve up two grand slam home runs in 1975. Rusty Staub of the New York Mets (April 22) and Peter LaCock of the Chicago Cubs (Sept. 3) were the hitters.

Advice Helps Snyder Spark Cavaliers To Win Over Braves

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

A good shooter can't help his team if he's not taking his shots.

That's what Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch told Dick Snyder, the veteran Cavs guard, and Snyder took his advice. After scoring 10 points in the first half, he erupted for 26 in the second half to lead Cleveland to a 111-88 rout of the Buffalo Braves Sunday night.

"He's a good shooter," said Fitch. "This may sound ridiculous, but if he'd been looking for a shot in the first half he would have scored a lot more. We called time out early in the game and I told him he was hesitating when he was open. 'A shooter has to shoot when he gets the opening.'"

Elsewhere in the NBA Sunday night, the Portland Trail Blazers beat the Golden State Warriors 96-92, the Detroit Pistons defeated the Kansas City Kings 103-87, the Milwaukee Bucks edged the Phoenix Suns 88-85, the Boston Celtics beat the Los Angeles Lakers 123-113 and the Seattle SuperSonics defeated the Houston Rockets 116-106.

Snyder hit 15 of 24 shots from the field and all six free throw tries in helping the surging Cavs to their ninth victory in 10 games.

Buffalo made just three of 17 shots from the field in the second period, scoring only 11 points and falling behind 47-37. Snyder scored 12 points and Jim Clemons 10 in the third period as the Braves broke the game open.

Bob McAdoo, in his second game since his brief suspension last week, led Buffalo with 26 points.

Blazers 96, Warriors 92
Bill Walton, back in action after being sidelined with dislocated fingers, started an eight-point run midway through the fourth quarter that lifted Portland to victory. After Walton's basket put the Blazers ahead 85-84, Geoff Petrie added a basket and a pair of steals to set up the other scores in the burst.

After Golden State closed to within one, Petrie, who had 24 points, iced the game with a basket and free throw in the final minute.

Pistons 103, Kings 87
Curtis Rowe scored 29 points to lead the Pistons to only their second victory in the last 12 games. Detroit center Bob Lanier was ejected in the second period after shoving referee Richie Powers.

Bucks 88, Suns 85
Phoenix led by 10 points going into the final period, but went scoreless from the field through the first 9:13 of the fourth quarter and Milwaukee came from behind to win. Jim Price led the Bucks with 20 points.

Celtics 123, Lakers 113
Dave Cowens topped Boston with 23 points, including a lay-up with 9:15 to play that put the Celtics ahead to stay 97-95. John Havlicek also had 23 points, while the Lakers' Kareem Abdul-Jabbar had 28 and Gail Goodrich 27.

Sonics 116, Rockets 106
Seattle built an 84-72 lead through the first three periods, then reserve forwards Tal Skinner and Mike Bantom helped turn back a late Houston surge. Skinner grabbed several key rebounds while Bantom held Houston's Rudy Tomjanovich to just eight points in the second half.

Houston's Calvin Murphy and Seattle's Fred Brown tied for scoring honors with 23 points each.

Four ACC Teams Remain Undefeated

By The Associated Press
Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams have won 42 games this season and lost only five.

Four of the seven teams are undefeated: Maryland, N.C. State, Wake Forest and North Carolina.

Two ACC teams, Maryland, ranked No. 2 nationally, and Clemson play in holiday tournaments which open tonight.

In the Maryland Invitational, the Terps, 7-0, play Seton Hall in one first-round game, and Alabama meets Princeton in the other.

In the Charlotte Invitational, Clemson, 6-2, completes the opening-night doubleheader by playing Boston College, which has dropped its last four games after winning its first three. Davidson, 2-5, meets Hofstra, 5-4, in the opening game.

On Tuesday, Wake Forest, 7-0, which won the Gator Bowl Tournament by beating Florida 78-75 in overtime Saturday night, will be home to Rhode Island, and Duke will be home to Vermont.

Duke and ninth-ranked North Carolina State won their games in the Raleigh Doubleheader Saturday.

The Duke Blue Devils, 5-1, beat Western Kentucky 111-90. Willie Hodge and Tate Armstrong scored 25 points apiece for Duke.

North Carolina State, 7-0, defeated Auburn 79-74. "We beat a good team that had a good night," said State coach Norm Sloan. "We're young and we show it. We have to fight for what we get. We did not crack or fall apart tonight." The Wolfpack won by tallying 12 points in the final four minutes to six for Auburn, which lost its third game against four victories.

ACC teams will be idle Wednesday and Thursday. On Friday, Duke meets North Carolina 6-0, and N.C. State

Wake's Future Rests On Sophomore Griffin

By F.T. MACFEELY
Associated Press Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Wake Forest's hopes of challenging the Atlantic Coast Conference's national powers for the basketball title depend largely on sophomore Rod Griffin, who led the Demon Deacons to the Gator Bowl tournament championship.

Griffin, named the most valuable player in the tourney, combines strength with the finer basketball skills. He carries 220 pounds on a 6-foot-6 frame and still has the tender touch and high leaping ability associated with slender hoopers.

He also demonstrated great concentration when he calmly made four free throws in the final 43 seconds of overtime that gave Wake Forest a 78-75 victory over Florida in the championship game Saturday night.

Griffin's more publicized teammate, slick ballhandler Skip Brown, made the all-tourney team along with him. Others selected were Bob Smyth and Al Bonner of Florida and Cricket Williams of Jacksonville, which nosed out St. Joseph's of Philadelphia 91-90 in the consolation game.

"Florida was able to control the tempo of the game all the way," Wake Forest Coach Carl Tacy said. "They also did a good job on the boards. We weren't shooting well but played when we had to and were good enough to win."

Although the Florida Gators were decided underdogs, Coach John Lotz said he was tremendously disappointed because "the breaks didn't go our way."

Florida led 37-35 at halftime and held the game's biggest margin at 53-48 and 55-50 midway in the second half. The Gators' Len Sanders missed an alley-oop shot with six seconds left in regulation and the score 69-61. Then Ric Clarkson missed a jumper from 17 feet with nine seconds left in overtime that would have put Florida ahead 77-76.

"If Clarkson made that shot, we might have won," Lotz said.

Griffin led Wake Forest's scoring in both tournament games. He had 21 points in Friday night's 107-83 victory over St. Joseph's and 29 against Florida. He had 17 rebounds in the two games and played a strong defense.

The Demon Deacons are now 7-0 for the season and begin ACC play next week.

Florida is 4-3, but Smyth confidently predicted "we are on our way now that we are putting it together." The Gators are rated in the second division of the Southeastern Conference.

St. Joseph's and Jacksonville are independents with young players still working on unity. St. Joseph's record is 4-4 and Jacksonville's 2-5.

KICKER ROUGHED — Kicker Ray Guy of the Oakland Raiders looked like this in a punt situation late in the fourth quarter Sunday in Oakland. Guy punted into the Cincinnati end zone, (top), a 48-yard kick, but the Bengals were penalized fifteen yards for running into the kicker (bottom). Minutes later the game was over and Oakland had won, 31-28, for the right to meet Pittsburgh in the AFC championship next Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

Maryland, Florida Square Off Tonight

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

The first full week of major college bowl games begins tonight when 13th-ranked Florida and No. 17 Maryland square off in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., and one of the two teams is almost sure to lose a reputation that it can't win the big ones.

Both teams have lost bowl games over the past two years. But a tie is the only thing that will keep one of the teams from breaking that jinx tonight.

Florida, 9-2, also lost close regular-season contests in 1975 to North Carolina State and Georgia. While Maryland beat N.C. State, the Terrapins, 8-2-1, lost to Southeastern Conference opponent Tennessee and could manage just a tie with Kentucky in another SEC game.

The first bowl game that could have a bearing on the national championship is Wednesday night when Penn State meets once-beaten Alabama in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. Earlier Wednesday, N.C. State and West Virginia, both unranked, meet in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta.

The fourth-ranked Crimson Tide, 10-1, will be out to break a bowl jinx of its own and enhance its chances of a national championship if No. 1 Ohio State and No. 2 Oklahoma lose their bowl games. Third-ranked Texas A&M lost 20-0 to Southern California last Monday in the Liberty Bowl.

Alabama has lost its last eight bowl appearances. Linebacker Greg Buttle of the eighth-ranked Nittany Lions, 9-2, believes Alabama is the team to beat.

"Alabama deserves to be No. 1," he said Sunday. "The wishbone is hard to stop, and Alabama plays it better than any one we've seen."

N.C. State, 7-3-1, scored a 49-13 victory over West Virginia, 8-3, in the 1972 Peach Bowl, and the two are expected to provide a high-scoring contest again this year.

On New Year's Day, Thursday, there are three bowl games, the Cotton, Rose and Orange Bowls, and all but the Cotton could provide this year's national champion.

Ohio State, 11-0, meets No. 11 UCLA, 8-2-1, for the second time this season in the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif., and Oklahoma, 10-1, and No. 5 Michigan, 8-1-2, meet in the Orange Bowl at Miami.

Twelfth-ranked Georgia, 9-2, and No. 18 Arkansas, 9-2, battle in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

The Buckeyes trounced UCLA 41-20 in midseason, but the Bruins have improved. Ohio State's chances of winning and topping Oklahoma as the country's best college football team will depend on how well they can contain UCLA All-American quarterback John Scarra, who accounted for 1,907 total yards last season.

Oklahoma closed out a two-year NCAA probation this season and is appearing in its first bowl game since they defeated Penn State in the 1972 Sugar Bowl. Michigan, likewise, is making its first appearance in any bowl game other than the Rose Bowl, where it's played six times, the last time following the 1971 season.

In Saturday's major bowl game, Texas routed Colorado 38-21 in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.

Halftime Speech Keys Texas Rally

By B.F. KELLUM
Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas players said Coach Darrell Royal's halftime speech was not the fiery Knute Rockne sort of thing — but it worked.

The Longhorns, down 21-7 at the half and having looked real bad in getting into that position, roared back for 31 points in the second half — 24 in the third quarter — to defeat Colorado 38-21 in the 17th Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl Saturday.

Rockne, the late Notre Dame coach, was known for his inspiring halftime speeches. He also chided his players, once reportedly referring to them as "girls" after a ragged first-half performance.

Royal didn't do that. He just told them they were not going to quit.

"Coach Royal said we could lose but we couldn't quit and we decided we didn't want to lose either," tackle Bob Simmons said.

Linebacker Bill Hamilton said the team was "down in the first half, playing sloppy. The coach told us that and we knew it. We knew we could come back."

Royal said it was the team's desire rather than anything he said that caused the dramatic turnaround.

"I told them we had a chance as long as we didn't quit," Royal said. "I don't recall ever having a bigger turnaround. But true defeat comes from within — you are not defeated as long as you keep trying."

The 10th-ranked Buffaloes jumped to a 14-0 lead on a one-yard run by Terry Kunz and a four-yard pass from quarterback David Williams to Dave Logan.

Texas, ranked ninth, cut the lead to 14-7 on a 21-yard pass from quarterback Marty Akins to Alfred Jackson, but the Buffaloes hiked the lead to 21-7 seconds before the half ended on a 25-yard pass from Williams to Don Hasselbeck.

The second half was all Texas, with the Longhorns scoring on a three-yard run by Jimmy Walker, a four-yard run by Johnny Jones, a seven-yard scamper by Ivey Suber, a blocked punt and recovery by Tim Campbell and an Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl record 55-yard field goal by Russell Erxleben.

Colorado Coach Bill Mallory said the blocked punt by Campbell was the turning point. The touchdown narrowed the margin to 21-19 and Akins passed to Earl Campbell for the two-point conversion to tie it at 21-21. Erxleben's field goal two minutes later put the Longhorns ahead to stay.

"The blocked punt had to be the turning point," Mallory said. "It gave them momentum and just switched the entire attack."

Indiana May Get Tough Test From St. John's

By KEN RAPPOPORT

College basketball has been trying to rebound for several years in New York City, but it took the Indiana Hoosiers only two days to set it back several steps.

The nation's top-ranked team has made the Holiday Festival Tournament virtually its own, dominating two outclassed New York teams and threatening to wipe out a third.

"They're awesome," says St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca, whose team meets the Big Ten brutes tonight in the finals of the 24th Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden.

The Redmen represent the ride of New York basketball this year. They're ranked 17th in the country, have not lost a game in nine starts and figure to give Bobby Knight's monster team more than just token opposition.

But beating the boys from Indiana may be something else.

The Hoosier hotshots hardly broke a sweat while beating Columbia 106-63 and Manhattan 97-61 behind fabulous Scott May in earlier Festival games. St. John's, sparked by Frank Alagia, has struggled to beat Temple 67-59 and South Carolina 71-59.

"We can't run with them," says Carnesecca of Indiana, a team whose five starters average 6-feet-7. "If we try, they'll run us right into the East River. But we must play our own game as much as possible, the style that got us here."

The Redmen's game plan is to play a controlled, slowdown offense, stressing disciplined ballhandling and no wild shots.

While the country's No. 1 team was zeroing in on the Holiday Festival title in New York, No. 11 Louisville was locking one up at home. The Cardinals defeated Texas A&M 102-88 in the championship game of the Holiday Classic in Louisville.

In other weekend action, ninth-ranked North Carolina State beat Auburn 79-74; 10th-ranked Tennessee defeated Penn 77-70 and Tulane walloped Ohio State 80-65 in first-round games of the Sugar Bowl Classic in New Orleans; Rhode Island stunned 14th-ranked San Francisco 85-77 to win the Ocean State basketball classic in Providence, R.I.; No. 19 Minnesota trimmed Creighton 80-74 to win the Pillsbury Classic in Bloomington, Minn., and in the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City, it was No. 19 Centenary 82, Bowling Green 69; Utah State 105, North Texas State 87; Eastern Kentucky 74, Oklahoma City 62, and Long Island University 69, Long Beach State 62.

Elsewhere, Kansas edged Nebraska 69-66, Colorado beat Oklahoma 61-50, Missouri stopped Oklahoma State 81-79 and Kansas State routed Iowa State 81-67 in the first round of the Big Eight Tournament at Kansas City; Wake Forest won the Gator Bowl tournament by whipping Florida 78-75 in overtime, and Detroit took the Motor City Classic with a 74-67 whipping of DePaul.

After disposing of Columbia with ridiculous ease, Indiana tore up Manhattan as May scored 32 points. Alagia, St. John's little package of dynamite in the backcourt, exploded for seven points in a 13-2 run late in the game to help the Redmen beat South Carolina in Saturday night's semis.

Wesley Cox scored 13 of his 19 points in the first half and Phil Bond had 15 of his 23 also

Holtz Being Considered

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Lou Holtz of North Carolina State University, one of five coaches reportedly under consideration for head coach of the New Orleans Saints, acknowledges he has been contacted by the National Football League club.

But he says that at present he is just trying to prepare his team for its meeting with West Virginia in the Peach Bowl in Atlanta on Wednesday. The N.C. State Wolfpack is 7-3-1 this season and 33-11-3 under Holtz, the best four-year record in its history.

Others reportedly under consideration by the Saints are Hank Stram, former Kansas City Chief coach, who is thought to have the inside track; Miami Dolphins assistant coach Monte Clark; another unidentified NFL assistant; and Barry Switzer, coach of Oklahoma University.

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Dartmouth is the Jaycee Holiday Festival basketball champion after knocking Tennessee State from the nation's unbeaten ranks.

With Sterling Edmonds scoring 20 points and grabbing 17 rebounds, the Big Green rallied from a 24-15 halftime deficit for a 50-49 victory Sunday night, handing Tennessee State its first loss in eight games.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Dodgers have acquired pitcher Cesar Noreno and catcher Fernando Camargo from Monterey of the Mexican league in exchange for pitcher Jim Allen and catcher-outfielder Lee Robinson, a team spokesman said.

Moreno, 20, is a 6-foot-2 right hander, while Camargo, 19, hit .297 for Salamanca of the Class A Mexican league. Camargo stands 6-2 and throws and bats right. Both players will join the Albuquerque Dukes, the Dodgers' AAA farm club in the Pacific Coast League, a spokesman said Sunday.

Allen and Robinson played for Albuquerque last season. Allen was 2-3 with an ERA of 4.61. He appeared in 40 games. Robinson hit .274 with four home runs.

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Half-miler Mark Enyeart of Utah State said Sunday he is getting over the effects of a summer injury to his left foot and will run in the Jan. 16-Sunkist Invitational in Los Angeles.

Enyeart said, however, he would probably have to wear a foot brace "most of the time."

Enyeart stretched a muscle at a Pan-African-West German track meet in North Carolina. He said he had problems with the injured arch until a heel and cup arch support was made for him.

A political science major, Enyeart said he would like to run in amateur meets for three or four years after this season, with the Olympics as a "definite goal."

Steele's Catch Beats SC State

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Tight end Ronald Steele hauled in a 29-yard scoring pass in the fourth quarter to give Southern University a 15-12 football victory over South Carolina State in the Pelican Bowl.

Only 6,748 fans witnessed Saturday night's contest, billed as the national black football championship game.

By contrast, 73,214 highly vocal fans packed the Louisiana Superdome Nov. 30 when Grambling University trounced Southern 33-17 in the second annual Bayou Classic.

South Carolina drew first blood, recovering two Southern fumbles in the second quarter and converting both to touchdowns.

The Jaguars came back in the fourth period on a 10-yard scoring dash by Michael Bryant and an 86-yard scoring drive in the last three minutes of the game.

Quarterback James Johnson led the drive, calling two running plays before he hit Steele with a 42-yard bomb. Then on the next play, he hurled the 29-yard scoring pass and Bryant ran for a two-point conversion. Johnson picked up 164 yards in the air, completing seven of 17 passes with only one interception. His favorite target was Steele, who caught five passes for 129 yards.

South Carolina State picked up only 20 yards in the air but gained 112 yards on the ground, led by Charles Burgess who rushed 14 times for 83 yards.

The victory gave Southern a 9-3 season record, while South Carolina State dropped to 8-2-1.

Q.1—As South, vulnerable.

♠KJ7 ♥J72 ♦K105 ♣J1093

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1NT Pass

2 ♥ Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—Bid three hearts. You have a maximum one no trump response, so we favor a move toward game. Since partner is likely to have a six-card suit in this sequence, a raise if preferable to a rebid of two no trump, despite your balanced distribution.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠K98 ♥Q7632 ♦Q862 ♣7

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ 1NT ?

What action do you take?

A.—Bid two spades. It is a losing tactic to sell out to an enemy contract when you might have a partner in your direction, but if you don't act now you probably won't get another chance. Partner can't play for more values than you have, for with a better hand you would have doubled one no trump for penalties.

Q.3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠9872 ♥QJ103 ♦A7 ♣AQ6

What is your opening bid?

A.—One club. While your heart suit is biddable, you would be awkwardly placed if you opened one heart and partner responded two diamonds. The "convenient" opening bid of one club makes it possible for you to rebid easily no matter what response partner makes.

Q.4—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠8 ♥Q1076 ♦KJ7542 ♠93

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1NT Pass

3 ♣ Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—Pass. Partner's jump rebid shows a very good hand, but it is not forcing. You have about as little as you might have for your initial action, and your singleton in partner's suit is an added drawback. You cannot bid four diamonds in an attempt to correct the contract, for that would be a cue-bid in support of spades.

Q.5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠KJ87 ♥AJ52 ♠95 ♣Q96

Partner opens the bidding with one spade. What do you respond?

A.—No response is entirely satisfactory. You are a whit short of a jump raise to three spades, so you must plan to make two bids. We suggest that you bid two hearts to show where most of your outside strength is located. Since your intention is to support spades at your next turn as cheaply as possible, you can afford to make this response with only a four-card suit.

Q.6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A108 ♥A9 ♦QJ8 ♣QJ982

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass

3 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Your honors in the minor suits have suddenly gained added weight in view of the double fit. We suggest you cue-bid three hearts now, with the intention of cue-bidding four spades at your next turn. That should give partner a strong idea of your slam ambitions.

Q.7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠982 ♥75 ♦AK3 ♣AJ76

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♣ Pass

2 ♣ Pass 2NT Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—Though you opened a minimum you should not seize this opportunity to bow out of the auction. It is still your duty to steer the hand into your best contract. With both doubleton and four-card spade support, you must return to three spades.

Q.8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A95 ♥KQ83 ♦AK104 ♠94

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♣ Pass

2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two diamonds. You are too strong for a simple raise to two spades, and a jump to three spades is never recommended with only three-card support. The solution is to bid a new suit, intending to support spades at your next turn if partner bids again. If he doesn't, then it is most unlikely you will have missed a game.

When should you double—

for penalty or for take-out?

Associated Press Writer
NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — On New Year's Day 200 years ago, Norfolk was bombarded temporarily out of existence.

British ships, firing from the Elizabeth River, bombarded the city of 6,000 with merciless fury. By week's end Norfolk lay in ruins.

With the sun at their backs in mid-afternoon, the crews manning the 88 guns of five British ships unleashed a deadly barrage. By nightfall, fire had spread along the waterfront, consuming marketplaces, shops, warehouses, homes and the courthouse.

What happened after the bombardment started has been a source of contention among historians.

Popular tradition holds that the guns of the British ships, commanded by Lord Dunmore, Virginia's last royal governor, accounted for the fire. Historian H. J. Eckenrode thought otherwise. He wrote in 1916 that although the fires were caused by cannon fire, many provincial soldiers seized the chance to plunder and destroy for profit.

Drunken soldiers, Eckenrode said, pillaged stores, warehouses and homes, taking the booty and in many instances selling it on the streets to anyone with money enough to buy.

During their rampage, the soldiers and civilians also set more fires, the historian added, putting the torch to buildings and goods well out of reach of the British guns.

The plundering, Eckenrode said, continued even after Dunmore's guns fell silent and ended only when Col. William Woodford ordered his Virginia troops to stop or face severe penalty.

By then, however, more than two-thirds of Norfolk, including 900 homes, was in ashes. What was left of the city was destroyed the next month to deprive British soldiers of food and shelter.

In the days preceding the bombardment, British troops near the city were running low on supplies. Virginia troops had taken charge of Norfolk on Dec. 14. Patriots who had fled the Tories to live with relatives in adjoining counties returned to their homes the last two weeks of December.

Dunmore's fleet, meanwhile, kept its guns zeroed in on the city, and the temptation to fire on the ships proved too great for colonial sharpshooters who lined the river shore.

For days, the riflemen picked off British troops who dared to raise their heads above the decks.

British foraging parties sent to the town repeatedly were repulsed, and by the end of November, crewmen of the British fleet had nearly exhausted their supplies.

In desperation, the British sent a message to Col. Robert Howe, the colonial commander: Ceasefire and provide rations — or a bombardment will begin. Howe refused.

And so, about 3:15 p.m. on Jan. 1, guns aboard the ships began a fearsome barrage of double-headed bar, chain and grapeshot.

For nearly 11 hours that New Year's Day, the blast of cannon and the crackle of rifle fire echoed across the river and through the streets of Norfolk.

The British sent landing parties, but they were driven back to their ships. Fighting raged for three days.

Old St. Paul's Church was not spared. The cannonade destroyed its roof and windows, leaving much of the building a blackened ruin. A cannonball struck one corner of the church, stuck in the gaping hole, and was cemented over. It remains intact today, a sight for tourists.

For months after Norfolk burned, not a single person lived amid the ruins. Finally, William Goodchild returned. He went to a certain spot, dug for a few minutes and found what he feared had been lost forever — a chest filled with Spanish coins he had hidden before he fled.

Goodchild bought a lot and built a house. It was the first, small step in the reconstruction of Norfolk, today a city of 730,000.

Prima Donna To Sing Farewell

NEW YORK (AP) — Dorothy Kirsten, who first sang at the Metropolitan Opera 30 years ago in Puccini's "La Boheme," will make a real prima donna's farewell to the Met on New Year's Eve, singing Floria Tosca, in Puccini's "Tosca."

By leaving the Met, she will be able to spend more time with her husband, Dr. John Douglas French, who lives in Los Angeles.

But Miss Kirsten, who leaves the Met still getting rave reviews for her singing, isn't retiring.

She will appear in "Girl of the Golden West" in Honolulu and "Tosca" in Cincinnati. She also has scheduled a concert tour.

Holiday Toll Claimed 19

By The Associated Press
Nineteen persons died in North Carolina traffic accidents over the 4½-day Christmas holiday.

The toll for the year rose to 1,472. But it was still 100 fewer than at the similar time last year.

The count was kept from 6 p.m. Wednesday until midnight Sunday.

Twelve-year-old Lincoln Wayne Jones lost his life when his bicycle collided with a car near his home a mile north of Vanceville.

Two drivers died in the head-on collision of their cars near Gatesville in Gates County. They were Roy Burton Hall, 30, of Raleigh, and Junny Wesley Jordan, 28, of Belvidere in Perquimans County.

Burford A. Padgett, 66, of Shelby, lost his life when his car collided with another three miles west of Shelby.

Ray Theodore Pollard, 22, of Winston-Salem, was killed when his car hit an embankment one-half mile west of Winston-Salem. The Highway Patrol said the car was being pursued by police.

Brian Keith Monroe, 16, of Charlotte, was fatally injured when the car he was driving hit a creek bank two miles east of Charlotte.

Grace Evelyn DeBruhl, 50, died after her car hit a tree in her hometown of Asheville.

Roger Keith Parton, 17, of Rt. 1, Waynesville, was killed in a head-on collision three miles north of Waynesville.

Other weekend victims included: Michael Anthony Mountel, 20, of Fayetteville; Debora Jane Hedgepath, 16, of Rt. 4, Brevard; James A. Warren, 38, of Hampton, Va.; Edwards Woods, 57, and his wife, Daisy McNair Woods, 62, of Winston-Salem; Harvey Lee Burwell, 52, of Weaverville.

Doris Morse Free, 34, of Ft. Knox, Ky.; Willie Clarks, a 47-year-old Plymouth woman; Paul Broadnax, 45, of Reidsville; Nelson F. Adams, 46, of Georgetown, Tex.; and Dominique Nelson, 22, of Fayetteville.

Dennis James Singleton, Route 6, Greenville, breaking, entering and larceny and damage to coin machine, two years jail.

Eugene Walker Jr., Route 1, Vanceboro, driving under the influence, 90 days jail suspended on payment of $150 and costs.

Earl Butler, Bethel, assault on officer with firearm, not guilty.

Aubrey Eugene Edmonds, Route 4, Greenville, driving under the influence, 90 days jail suspended on payment of $150 and costs.

William Henry Green, 705 Carolina Ave., murder, pled guilty to involuntary manslaughter, five years jail, six months active, balance suspended on payment of costs.

Choices Open To PBS TV Station Manager

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Say you manage a public TV station. You and other managers get a list of 202 proposed programs, new and established. You're asked to decide which shows your station might help finance.

Which would you choose? Well, this question, recently posed by Public Broadcasting Service's station program cooperative, has resulted in station approval of only 84 programs in PBS' original list.

The number will drop even more in the final round of program cost-sharing agreements in late February. It's a hard time of decision then.

But were I running a public TV station, I'd take a deep breath, make choices on the basis of personal taste or lack of it, and hope PBS' freebie shows will meet whatever audience needs I didn't.

Station managers don't work this way, of course, but this is my show, not theirs, and this is what I'd do were I in charge:

I wouldn't buy anything from WNET in New York. They're right down the street from the big corporations and foundations, and I'd rather WNET put the bite on them, not me, for dough.

I'd kick in for such fine kid shows as "Zoom" or "Electric Company," but pay not dime one for any series devoted to opera, cooking, yoga, tennis or vegetable-growing in one's back yard.

I'd use the money instead for quality documentaries and dramas by and about minorities, and make certain there's enough loot to advertise them.

I'd pay nothing for public affairs or discussion in which the same participants simply meet each week in a studio and talk at each other the way they do on "Washington Week in Review."

If they must review the week in Washington, let 'em do it at my other office, the Tap-A-Keg Bar and Grill, and at their own risk.

I'd put up a large chunk of my station's dough for, say, a $3-million fund for 30 strong national news documentaries, provided that only 10 are made by reporters based in New York and Washington.

I'd also kick for more special events coverage, likewise "Jim Lehrer's Washington," a proposed series offering some badly needed humor in film stories about the weird ways of Washington.

It was offered by the PBS cooperative but didn't find enough takers. Three other rejected shows I would have bought are:

Superior Court

Judge Russell J. Lanier disposed of the following cases during the December 15 term of Pitt County Superior Court.

Woodrow Haddock, Route 7, Greenville, fail to comply with demoliishing order dismissed.

Jacob Holloman, Route 1, Farmville, allowing person to drive under the influence, dismissed.

Robert Johnson, Route 4, Tarboro, breaking, entering and larceny, five years jail, six months active, balance suspended on payment of costs and restitution and probation for five years.

Daniel Topping Paul, Belhaven, driving under the influence, 90 days jail suspended on payment of $100 and costs.

Stephen P. Satterthwaite, Portsmouth, Va., stop sign violation, dismissed.

Willie Wallace Jr., Route 4, Greenville, exceeding safe speed, dismissed.

Harry Walton Whitley Jr., 211 North Oak St., driving under the influence, pled guilty to careless and reckless driving, pay $200 and costs.

John Willis Wier, Williamston, driving under the influence, 90 days jail suspended on payment of $150 and costs.

John Dudley Wilkerson, Durham, speeding, pay $25 and costs.

Some Useful Tips For Money-Buyers

By MICHAEL THOMPSON-NOEL

(UPI-Financial Times)

LONDON — Paper money in circulation in China as early as 650 A.D. according to some experts. Yet it is only in the last few years that notaphily, the study and collecting of old banknotes, has broadened from an obscure hobby with a handful of followers into a flourishing sector of the art market.

At present, even some of the rarest banknotes still change hands at under $2,000 each, so investors will be on to a very good bet if in the next few years notaphily spreads and grows. At present it has only a few thousand followers, compared with the hundreds of thousands who collect stamps.

From the collecting view, banknotes are small, portable paper objects of high value and international appeal. But they possess a number of less obvious attractions.

First, they are often legitimate works of art in their own right. According to Stanley Narbeth, managing director of Stanley Gibbons Currency, a leading London banknote dealer, paper money has invariably been designed by the finest artists and engravers available to combat forgery and make the designs colorful and attractive to the public at large.

Second, old banknotes are often of great historical interest. Early notes were invariably introduced during wars, revolutions, disasters or states of siege.

Third, the battle against the forgers and the struggle to produce notes that could not be imitated is a latter-day help to collectors when it comes to authenticating individual notes.

The series of notes issued during the Boer War provides a good example of notaphily's growth potential, since there are accurate records of the quantities of notes issued.

The most common of the notes issued by President Kruger from Pretoria (May 28, 1900) were the one pound second type. These were recently catalogued at a mere $5 in circulated condition and $30 in extremely fine condition. Yet only 11,000 were issued.

The scarcest note in the set — the 100-pound note — was priced in 1972 at only $96 in circulated condition, yet only 800 were issued. Even if all 800 notes still exist, an extremely faint possibility, their value is bound to soar once their rarity is more widely appreciated.

The most interesting of the Kruger issues was the third and last, known as the "Te Velde" series and issued by the military in the field. This issue was produced at Pilgrim's Rest, a small mining town in the Eastern Transvaal.

The notes were printed on school exercise books, complete with lines, and run off on a small portable press. The most produced of any one denomination was 6,500 one-pound notes, dated May 1, 1902 but most issues were of only a few hundred each.

Even so, 18 to 24 months ago these notes were still catalogued in London at under $200 each. They obviously represent a sound buy to anyone who believes that interest in old banknotes will spread.

The same, in turn, can be said for an immense range of other banknotes of the world. Military currency of World War II has a large following, as do the prisoner-of-war issues from camps like Buchenwald. Probably the rarest of all World War II issues is the famous 2 kopek of the German occupation of the Ukraine.

They sell at well over $2,000 each for the very good reason that only two have come to light, although experts in Germany believe that a total of five may have survived.

American colonial issues of the time of the War of Independence are in great demand. These include notes signed by signatories to the Declaration of Independence. South Carolina notes of 1777, hand-signed by pioneers, fetch from $30 to well over $2,000.

Spanish and Portuguese issues are often noted for superb engraving. The extremely rare Portuguese 100 escudos of 1927 now changes hands at $1,000 plus.

In general, astute investors will attempt to discover an area or a country which is at present unpopular and buy up the material cheaply in the hope that they eventually find themselves sitting on a gold mine.

But beware the notes that were issued for the collectors' market and not for circulating as currency, particularly if they exist in large quantities.

Finally, beware of notes that are dirty or badly creased. It is possible to wash and press them without causing damage. But the most desirable notes are those that are in "very good," "fine," "very fine" or — best of all — "uncirculated" condition.

Academic Standards In China Come Under Fire

By PHIL BROWN

Associated Press Writer TOKYO (AP) — China's new college system, designed mainly to teach skill and political ideology to workers, peasants and soldiers, is coming under attack at home for low academic standards.

The Communist leadership has answered with a massive campaign listing the achievements of the new college graduates and accusing those who want to change the system of trying to restore bourgeois methods.

Instead of seeking to serve the people, students of the old style colleges sought fame and fortune, says a recent article in the Communist Party theoretical journal "Red Flag."

"Students of philosophy couldn't handle philosophy, students of literature couldn't write novels, students of engineering couldn't operate or repair machines and students of physics could only shut themselves in ivory towers and play with models," it said.

The journal said education can't be measured in the number of classes attended or the number of books read, but "we must look at the uniting of theory and practice and the ability to analyze and solve problems."

Official newspapers have mentioned criticisms that workers, peasants and soldiers have low cultural levels and that education in China isn't as good as it used to be. They have not identified the critics.

A Japanese correspondent in Peking wrote recently however, that the critics include Education Minister Chou Jung-hsin and four leaders at Peking's Tsinghua University.

He said he learned in a briefing at Tsinghua that the four university leaders wrote letters to Chairman Mao Tse-tung in August and October saying that the admission of workers, peasants and soldiers to the university was lowering academic levels.

The Kyodo News Service correspondent wrote that wall posters on the university campus claimed that Chou had stated that the academic levels of present universities can't match those of high schools in the past. Students at one university were said to be complaining about their mandatory labor service on grounds they are not workers, and students at foreign language colleges and science universities should be graduates of senior high schools, the correspondent reported.

Red Flag said high school graduates, rather than going straight to college, must go to the countryside for re-education by the peasants.

The workers and peasants, it said, come to college with years of practical experience and knowledge of the struggle against bourgeois tendencies.

And, it said, before China's educational policy was changed in the 1966-69 cultural revolution, the workers, peasants and soldiers were the nation's masters — by Communist policy — but they couldn't get into college.

The magazine conceded there were imperfections in the new system, as with anything new, but said it still is developing and improving.

Have you thought about what you are going to do and how you are going to live after you retire? Probably not. Surveys have found that most people don't give much thought to retirement. Retirement is something that just happens to them.

Your retirement years will be an important part of your life. For instance, on the average, a man aged 65 will live 13 additional years. For a woman of that age, it is 18 additional years. So you can see that your retirement is apt to be a long period of time.

Your way of life will change. You won't have the responsibility that occupies your attention now. You'll have a lot of free time.

Many people look upon their years negatively. They have free time but haven't developed any interests so they can enjoy it, or they don't have enough money to live comfortably and to do the things they'd like to do.

It doesn't have to be that way. Retirement can be a welcome change in your life, an opportunity to do things you didn't have time to do before, a time to devote to new hobbies or activities. In brief, retirement can provide a chance for you to try a new and different way of life.

What makes the difference between disappointment and opportunity? We think a good job of planning a head for your retirement.

That's a word that covers a lot of ground, of course, so let's see if we can tick off some specifics. The first step is to focus on your goals. Have you decided what you want to do with your retirement? Travel? Move to another part of the country? Stay where you are and perhaps move into a smaller home or apartment? Take up a new hobby? Start your own business? Or will you just relax and enjoy some recreational activities?

Next, have you thought about whether or not you will be able to afford to do these things? Have you estimated what your retirement income and expenses will be?

And it's never too early to start planning. Ideally, you should really begin if you are in your forties and most definitely if you are in your fifties.

Award Goes To Railroad

NEW YORK (AP) — A railroad can hardly be expected to contribute much to the pulchritude of the countryside it chugs through, but one western line has been voted a special award for its efforts to beautify America.

The national nonprofit organization working for a better environment, Keep America Beautiful, has awarded its top industry award for 1975 to Burlington Northern Inc. of St. Paul, Minn., for the reclaiming of more than 1,000 acres of semi-arid rangeland which had been surface-mined for coal between 1924 and 1958.

The cost of the three-year reclamation project in Montana was $675,000 or about $650 per acre. BN's agricultural specialists used many of the techniques of erosion control, re-seeding and fertilization that had been learned in managing the company's some one million acres of western grazing land.

Roger W. Powers, president of KAB, also lauded the railroad for its program to reduce littering by the careful placement of trash receptacles throughout the Montana wasteland.

DAM STANDING JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The Missouri Tourism Division says with 2,315 dams Missouri ranks as one of the top 10 states in the nation in this category.
