Neighbors Hail Blockade Step By Mozambique

By The Associated Press

Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africa said today Mozambique's "state of war" border blockade of Rhodesia could cause the situation to escalate into something "much more serious."

He told his parliament in Cape Town that apart from "the danger inherent in the situation itself," the presence of Cuban troops and Soviet arms in Africa "is an aggravating factor, especially in view of the Russian policy and tactics to exploit such situations to their own advantage and to achieve their well-known aim of world domination."

Cuban troops helped the Soviet-backed faction win the civil war in Angola.

Tanzanian and Zambian government and ruling party newspapers today hailed Mozambique President Samora Machel's pronouncement of a "state of war" with Rhodesia as a milestone in the struggle of black nationalists against white rule in southern Africa.

Machel on Wednesday declared the border between the two countries closed and said Rhodesian assets in Mozambique, consisting mostly of railroad equipment, would be seized.

Vorster said border blockades "do not constitute the answer to political differences" between nations and have the potential of accentuating points of difference.

"So far, South Africa has not been directly affected by these events and it is still too early to determine the precise effect of the action taken," he said. Mozambique borders both on Rhodesia and on South Africa, and provides Rhodesia's major access to the sea.

"But the situation is and remains one which can have distressing consequences and every further development will have to be carefully evaluated and every step to protect the interests of South Africa and its peoples will have to be taken with calm deliberation," Vorster said.

But they said the loss of rolling stock is expected to have an adverse effect on Rhodesian efforts to reroute exports previously sent through Mozambique.

Initial assessments said not a great deal of money is involved.

In Dar es Salaam, Uhuru, the official newspaper of Tanzania's ruling Tanu party, said today that "the announcement of a state of war in Mozambique means that Tanzania is also at war.

"The time for talks is over.... The liberation struggle in Zimbabwe (Rhodesia) has now reached a state of no return," Uhuru said.

The Tanzanian government's newspaper, the Daily News, appealed for "moral and material support" for Mozambique and guerrilla forces from "friends of Africa all over the world."

The two national daily newspapers of Zambia, the Zambia Daily Mail and the Times of Zambiu predicted an intensification of guerrilla warfare against Rhodesia.

There has been limited official reaction from the Smith government, but in interviews Rhodesians said Machel's speech was a sign of weakness and predicted the border closing would hurt Mozambique more than Rhodesia.

Informed business sources said most Rhodesian businessmen have been realizing their assets and moving out of Mozambique since the Portuguese decision in 1974 to grant the territory independence.

Flays 'Wheat Panic'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says he is "damned mad" at people who seem to be panicky over the wheat situation in drought-plagued areas of the Great Plains and who want the United States to start rationing grain exports.

"We're just so damned far away from that, it isn't even funny," Butz told a reporter Wednesday.

The possibility of another round of grain export embargoes has caused much apprehension among farmers who still are fuming over the administration-delayed sales to the Soviet Union last summer. The embargoes were imposed after Russia bought large quantities of wheat and corn, but sales were resumed last fall after record U.S. crops had materialized.

Butz also denied that he has predicted that wheat exports will be down 100 million bushels from what the Agriculture Department has been estimating for the season that will end June 30.

A report circulated in the grain trade this week that Butz had said wheat exports would drop below expectations. Butz supposedly made the remarks during an appearance Monday in Newport Beach, Calif.

One version, as interpreted by the trade, was that Butz said drought losses might total 200 million bushels of wheat this year but that the U.S. reserve going into the new crop year would be 100 million bushels larger than previously estimated because of a decline in exports.

Butz emphatically denied making a prediction that wheat exports would fall by 100 million bushels. Butz said he had commented on the seriousness of the drought in parts of Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma and Texas and that losses might range up to 200 million bushels.

But he said in the interview Wednesday that even with such a loss the 1976 total wheat crop will still be huge and will provide enough wheat for U.S. consumers and foreign buyers.

Wholesale Price Index Sees Sharp Drop In February

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wholesale prices fell five-tenths of a per cent in February, the sharpest drop in nearly a year, as lower farm prices offset increases for industrial goods, the government said today.

February marked the fourth month in a row that wholesale prices did not increase ahead and signaled lower prices ahead for consumers. Changes in wholesale prices usually foreshadow retail price trends.

The Labor Department said a 2.3 per cent drop in farm and food prices contributed heavily to the favorable price report. Industrial goods increased three-tenths of a per cent, but the rise was less than in recent months.

The continued easing of inflation was welcome news for the Ford administration which has cited the easing of wholesale and consumer prices as proof that its economic policies are working.

The five-tenths of a per cent drop in February was somewhat of a surprise, as some administration officials had said they expected some increase. White House economist James L. Pate had noted that raw farm prices had increased early last month along with lumber prices, but these apparently were not reflected in the latest wholesale price report.

Over the past three months, wholesale prices declined at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 3.8 per cent.

All prices cited in the Labor Department report are seasonally adjusted. Unadjusted, wholesale prices showed no change last month.

The wholesale price index, which is unadjusted, remained at 179.4 in February, meaning it cost $179.40 to buy at wholesale what would have cost $100 in 1967.

The last time wholesale prices rose was in October when they increased 1.8 per cent. They were unchanged in November, declined four-tenths of a per cent in December and were unchanged again in January.

February's drop was the sharpest since a similar decline last March. The last time prices failed to increase in any four-month period was between December, 1974, and March, 1975.

Schools Asked For Clues To Victims

COLUMBIA, N.C. (AP) — Law officers are asking school systems along the East Coast to check attendance records in the search for clues to the slaying of five persons found Tuesday in a mass grave.

Three of the five were boys between the ages of 5 and 14 years. The other victims included a woman about 60 years old and another woman in her early 20s.

State medical authorities said all five had been bludgeoned to death and their bodies set afire.

Dr. Page Hudson, state medical examiner, said today no identification had been made.

"Most are children so the odds of children having fingerprints on file are virtually zero and the odds of the women having fingerprints on file are also virtually zero," Hudson said from his Chapel Hill office.

An agent with the State Bureau of Investigation, which joined the case, said the nationwide flu epidemic might make it difficult to gain a lead through school records.

"One problem there is the flu epidemic so a child being absent from school really isn't noted," the agent said.

The bodies were found at the edge of a pine forest by forest ranger Ronald Brickhouse, who was inspecting a brush fire.

Brickhouse said he saw a mound of fresh dirt and thought perhaps someone had buried a diseased animal and set it afire to keep germs from spreading.

"Then I saw two bodies with just a little dirt over them," he said. "My belly turned and I hustled out of there and called the sheriff."

Tyrrell County Sheriff Royce Rhodes said he did not believe the victims were local residents. Hudson said physical resemblances indicated that "at least some" of the victims may have been members of the same family.

Officers suspected the victims were slain away from the county and brought here for burial. The gravesite was near a logging trail about six miles south of here.

An SBI spokesman said about 15 agents, as well as officers from state forestry and wildlife agencies, had been sent to Tyrrell County, a sparsely populated area on the state's sandy coastal plain.

"Everybody that's got a badge or ever wanted one in Tyrrell County is helping us on this," he said.

The agent said a number of tire tracks had been found near the grave but they may have been left by vehicles used to fight the brush fire.

Agents gave the following descriptions of the victims:

—A white woman in her early 20s, about 120 pounds, 5 feet 9 inches tall, with long dark hair and wearing denim jeans and jacket.

—A white woman about 60 years old, 5 feet 4 inches tall, with greying dark hair, and weighing 108 pounds. She was wearing brown plaid slacks, blue shortsleeve shirts, a white jacket with basketweave design and fur collar and cuffs.

—A white male, aged about 14, 5 feet 8 inches tall, 108 pounds, brown hair.

—A white male, aged about 10, 4 feet 7 inches tall, 57 pounds, brown hair.

—A white male, aged about 5, 3 feet 11 inches tall, 42 pounds, light brown hair.

The three boys were wearing pajamas, officers said.

Bayh Is Out Of Running

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Birch Bayh announced today he is suspending active campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In a statement read at a crowded news conference in his New York headquarters, the Indiana Democrat said that he will "continue to speak out on issues that concern the American people."

He said that he "intends to take an active role in the selection of our Democratic nominee, to see that the principles of those of us who count ourselves progressive Democrats are represented in our nominee."

Bayh said his decision to withdraw from the campaign was triggered by his poor showing in primaries.

The senator said that "in the wake of the New Hampshire and Massachusetts primaries our campaign treasury is depleted and we are left without the resources necessary to conduct the kind of active campaign required here in the Empire State.

"It is unrealistic to expect that any organization — even the excellent organization we have here in New York — can run a credible campaign without the dollars required to get the job done."

In his formal statement, the senator made no mention of the possibility of throwing his support to any other candidate.

Retiring

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield announced today he will not seek re-election this year after 23 years in the Senate.

The Montana Democrat said in a statement that 34 years in public office, including service in the House, "is not a long time. But it is time enough. I will not be a candidate for reelection in the 95th (Congress)."

"My conclusion has been reached in this instance with my wife Maureen Hayes Mansfield, who has been with me through all these years and whose sensitive counsel and deep understanding have been so much a part of whatever may be the sum of my contribution to Montana and the nation," Mansfield said.

Mayday Search

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — The Coast Guard launched an air and sea search today after receiving a distress call from a vessel reportedly sinking about 16 miles northeast of Cape Hatteras.

A spokesman for the Elizabeth City Coast Guard station said dense fog and zero-visibility were hampering the search.

Several Coast Guard stations from Chincoteague, Va. to Charleston, S.C., reported hearing Mayday signals about 11:10 p.m. Wednesday from a ship identifying itself as the Rainbow. The ship reported it was sinking fast with four persons on board.

The Coast Guard said it had no description of the vessel and was checking registration records for clues to the ship.

A search plane was dispatched last night from Elizabeth City but had to turn back because of fog, the Coast Guard said.

Joining in the search were an airplane from the Elizabeth City Air Station, Coast Guard vessels from Cape Hatteras and Oregon Inlet, and a Navy helicopter from Naval Air Station at Virginia Beach, Va.

The Coast Guard said it tried unsuccessfully to contact the vessel by radio after the distress signals were received.

TRAFFIC BLOCKED

Is there anything that can be done about the frequent blocking of traffic created by cargo trucks having to use public streets as maneuvering space for loading and unloading. Trucks at Fieldcrest Mills used to be terrible about blocking Hooker Road, but they're doing much better now. Ormond Wholesale on Dickinson Avenue is still quite a problem, though. Is there anything they could do to alleviate the problem? J. R.

H.L. Ormond of Ormond Wholesale recalled when Hotline called recently about this situation that we had talked to Police Chief Glenn Cannon about the same situation about a year ago and that he had had a visit from Chief Cannon at that time.

"We know our trucks do block the street at times," he said, "but we do everything in our power to keep it to a minimum. We have all our own trucks loaded during the night so they can be on their way in the mornings before the trucks carrying incoming goods get here. And the trucks do block the street only as they are maneuvering into position to unload. All the time they're loading or unloading, they're completely clear of the street.

"We're just located on a busy thoroughfare. When we built this place, people wanted to know why were going so far out in the country."

MEALS FOR BOARDS?

I, as a Pitt County taxpayer, would like to know how the County Board of Health justifies having its meetings at the County Club and Three Steers Restaurant and how the Pitt Memorial Hospital Board can afford to have dinner meetings every single month. R. P.

"It takes a lot of time and energy to do an unappreciated job like serving on a public board," Health Director Roger Barnaby said. "These men and women are taking valuable time from their own activities to serve their fellow citizens and I, personally, am dismayed that such a small item would be questioned." He referred the question to County Manager Reginald Gray.

Gray said the County contracts with the State of North Carolina to run the Health Services of the County. So the Board of Health is paid through the state-county funds set aside for these services in accordance with state law. Each member is paid $10 for each meeting attended, plus the cost of his or her meal, plus 15 cents per mile traveled to and from the meeting, he said.

The hospital, in contrast, is a private non-profit organization and its Board policy is set by the hospital charter and the Board's own bylaws. Members are paid no per diem. Meals prior to each Board meeting are served in the hospital cafeteria, with the tab picked up by the hospital, Gray said.

Convene Saturday

Pitt County Democrats will gather for their county convention on Saturday, March 6 at 1 p.m. at the Pitt Courthouse.

Pitt Democratic chairman Henry Oglesby said that the convention will be held in the District Court Room.

Oglesby noted that business to be handled during the convention includes the election of officers of the Pitt Democratic Executive Committee, as well as election of representatives to the state executive committee and members of various district executive committees.

Also, the convention will elect 37 delegates and 37 alternates to both the district and state Democratic conventions.

First District Rep. Walter Jones of Farmville has been invited to attend the session and will make brief remarks, the chairman noted.

Bond Opposition By Coy Privette Seen Gamble

By DAVID R. NELSEN
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP)—Separating himself from the crowd and grabbing the spotlight, Republican gubernatorial hopeful Coy C. Privette has announced opposition to a proposed $43 million higher education bond issue.

Admitting his decision would be damaging politically, Privette said the proposal is ill timed, "irresponsible" and "bad business." No other gubernatorial candidate agreed with Privette's opposition with all of those polled later supporting the issue that is on the March 23 primary ballot for voter approval.

Privette's surprise opposition was revealed before some 100 persons at a forum for governor and lieutenant governor candidates set up by the North Carolina Merchants Association at the group's annual meeting in Raleigh. For the most part, the other candidates did little more than praise the free enterprise system and tell the businessmen they are under too much government regulation.

Privette resigned a Baptist pastorate in Kannapolis to seek the GOP nomination.

Bolstering his opposition with figures, Privette said predictions are that college enrollments will decline some 23 per cent in the next 15 years. There are 7,000 vacancies in private and religious colleges in North Carolina, he said, adding, the state owed $361 million in bonds at the end of last fiscal year with this year's payment being $58 million.

"Are we being responsible and biting the bullet when necessary?" he asked.

Before Privette spoke out, support for the bond issue was nearly universial. Officials of the 16-campus University of North Carolina system have warned that if the issue fails, it may be necessary to cut enrollments at some campuses. Also, State Treasurer Edwin Gill has endorsed the proposal, saying the debt would not be a burden on the state.

Privette disputed the state's ability to take on additional debt at a time emergency measures are being taken to balance the budget and teachers and state workers may not get a pay increase for the second year in a row. He said a pay raise is more important than the bonds. "We've got enough money to build brick and mortar but not enough to invest in people," he said.

When questioned later by newsmen, Privette said he is a trustee of Wingate College which has about 200 vacancies. There are 1,200 students there this school year, he said, but denied he was trying to pump up private schools such as Wingate through defeat of the bond issue.

He also said the 7,000 vacancies is an estimate supplied

Patty's Repudiation May Thwart Effort

By TONY LEDWELL
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst's repudiation of two of her underground companions may thwart her attorneys' efforts to have damaging evidence against her thrown out.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter said Wednesday he would decide "first thing in the morning" whether to throw out evidence seized at the last hideout of Symbionese Liberation Army members William and Emily Harris.

Carter said that in making his decision he would give serious consideration to the prosecution's argument that Miss Hearst "lacks standing" to dispute the evidence because in her testimony she disavowed the Harrises.

Miss Hearst's trial for bank robbery hit a day-long snag when defense attorney F. Lee Bailey, prompted by a state judge's ruling in the Harrises' case in Los Angeles, moved to suppress more than 1,000 documents, notebooks and weapons found in their apartment.

Some of the material has already been presented to the Hearst jury.

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said the disputed documents include plans to rob banks in the Sacramento area, some of which contain Miss Hearst's fingerprints and handwriting.

Browning argued Wednesday that Miss Hearst lost her "standing" to contest the search of the Harris dwelling when she disavowed the Harrises, with whom she lived for more than a year during her 19-month underground venture.

The government has sought to show Miss Hearst was a willing convert to terrorism and participated voluntarily in the 1974 San Francisco bank holdup in which she is charged.

Miss Hearst's lawyers have tried to show she took part in the robbery and stayed with the group out of fear for her life from SLA members, including the Harrises.

A judge in Los Angeles ruled Monday that the evidence was not admissible in the Harrises' case, which involves state charges stemming from activities there in Maq 1974. The same judge ruled Wednesday that evidence seized in an FBI search of Miss Hearst's hideout could be used.

In Miss Hearst's case, the government denied Bailey's contention that the FBI knew for at least 30 hours the identities of the Harrises and had sufficient time to obtain a search warrant.

Two FBI agents who participated in tracking down the remnants of the terrorist band that kidnaped Miss Hearst on Feb. 4, 1974, testified during a two-hour hearing Wednesday that they were not certain of the Harrises' identities until moments before the Sept. 18 arrest.

Miss Hearst was captured shortly thereafter at another house several miles away.

Jurors were not present during the evidentiary hearing, remaining sequestered at their hotel.

Leo Brenneisen, an FBI agent who assisted in the capture of the Harrises, said he was not absolutely certain it was the fugitives until he approached them as they returned from jogging.

Because the arrest occurred on the sidewalk, a search warrant normally would have been required to enter the apartment. The agents, however, said they broke a window, searched the flat but did not touch anything until they obtained a warrant the following day.

Another FBI agent, Lawrence Lawler, confirmed that the Harris house had been under surveillance for more than 24 hours before their arrests and told of standing "within 18 inches" of Harris a day earlier.

Lawler said he had spotted a man matching Harris' description enter a laundromat on Sept. 17. He followed the man, clad in cutoff jeans, into the facility and noticed a scar on one knee.

"That was one of my purposes in going into the laundromat," he said, "to notice any characteristics that would help us identify that individual."

No Charges In Accidents

Two collisions here yesterday resulted in an estimated $1,000, according to Greenville Police Department reports.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 1:07 p.m. collision on Memorial Drive west of the Gum Road intersection and involved cars driven by David Scott of 1206B VanDyke St., Clifton Earl Wilson of 602B Roosevelt Ave. and James Oliver Taylor of Route 1, Ayden.

No charges were made by police who estimated damage at $200 to the Taylor car and $450 to the Wilson auto. No damage resulted to the Scott vehicle.

Again no charges were made following investigation of an 8:40 a.m. collision on Dickinson Avenue 40 feet East of the Columbia Avenue intersection involving cars operated by Timothy William Toates of Eastbrook Apts., and Vincent Forbes of Farmville.

Police estimated damage at $200 ho the Toates car and $150 to the Forbes auto.

February Domestic Car Sales Jump 22 Per Cent Over 1975

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Domestic car sales in February jumped 22 per cent from the year before, signaling an accelerated market recovery and bolstering forecasts that 1976 would be the third best sales year ever for the auto industry.

Foreign car sales, however, did not fare as well. Import sales fell an estimated 27 per cent from February 1975 to give foreign makers their fewest sales for a February in six years and their smallest share of the total market for the month since 1972.

The four U.S. car makers reported on Wednesday sales of 650,649 new cars during February. The year before, by contrast, the domestic companies logged sales of only 535,718 cars — an eight-year low for the month — despite cash rebates offered briefly to combat a worsening industry recession.

The most recent figures were lower than some analysts expected and trailed by 16 per cent the February sales record set in 1973.

But analysts also noted that the latest daily selling tempo gave the industry a seasonally adjusted annual sales rate of 8.8 million domestic cars, up from 8.3 million in January and the highest rate for a single month since August 1974.

If that rate holds for the rest of the year, the industry would wind up with its third best sales year on record. The makers sold 9.3 million cars in 1972 and a record 9.7 million in 1973 before the energy crisis and then a recession sent sales tumbling. Domestic sales last year limped in at 7.4 million, a 13-year low.

General Motors' February sales were up 25 per cent from the year before, Chrysler was up 23 per cent and Ford was up 18 per cent. American Motors was off 9 per cent.

Analysts attributed AMC's declining sales to a recent softening in the small-car end of the market, where AMC has specialized in recent years.

February sales of imports fell to an estimated 106,000 from 146,400 last year.

'Contempt' Upheld

RALEIGH (AP)—A contempt of court citation against Jerry Paul, Joan Little's chief defense attorney, for remarks he made during Miss Little's trial last summer has been upheld by the state Court of Appeals.

The court ruled Wednesday that Paul, who served five days of a 14 day sentence before being released pending appeal, must serve the remaining nine days in the Wake County Jail later this month.

Unless the State Supreme Court acts in the meantime to stop an order for his arrest, Paul will be directed to report to Wake County Superior Court on Monday March 15.

In its ruling, the appeals court said that private warnings trial Judge Hamilton Hobgood made to Paul in his chambers were adequate notice under legal due process.

Mrs. Karen Galloway, one of Paul's law partners, said Paul's attorneys will ask the state Supreme Court to review the case. The court can review it or refuse without citing a reason.

Paul's contempt contempt citation came at the end of the trial in which Miss Little was acquitted of murder in the fatal stabbing of Clarence Alligood, a Beaufort County jailer.

During jury selection, Paul accused Hobgood of denying Miss Little "an opportunity to effectively pick good jurors" and of taking the judicial process back 100 years by refusing to let her attorneys ask some questions of potential jurors.

Her Man Was Street-Smart Not Well-Read

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is for Joe's lady friend who is concerned about Joe's poor grammar:

I think she is both immature and a snob. I am a retired school teacher whose late husband's education ended with the third grade. He, too, used poor grammar.

I never considered it a fault because he had attributes that far outweighed his lack of education. In fact, his knowledge of many subjects was far superior to mine.

MABEL IN GAINESVILLE, FLA.

DEAR MABEL: I'm not putting down men who achieved success with "book learnin'," but even more credit is due those "street-smart" winners who made it without.

DEAR ABBY: That woman who complained because they are now letting women work side by side with men in the coal mines is absolutely right!

It has been proved that one of the biggest reasons for the increase in the divorce rate is letting men and women work together. It all started when women went to work in war plants during World War II. Why would it be any different in the coal mines?

As long as women can work where they can throw themselves at men, the ones who want to can start a lot of trouble.

BEEN THERE

DEAR BEEN: So what's the alternative? Are you suggesting segregating the sexes where both men and women are employed? That would set equal opportunity back 100 years!

You can't stop a woman from throwing herself at a man at work—or anywhere else—if she's the type who'd do so.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 42-year-old woman with a wonderful husband and family. However, I have had a problem that has been with me ever since I can remember.

I don't believe the parents who raised me are my real parents. I know I am not adopted! I have a birth certificate from Queen of Angels Hospital in L.A., and everything is in order, but what drives me nutty is: How can I be sure that I am the person on that birth certificate?

I have never felt that I was the child of my parents. Since childhood, people have observed that I bear absolutely NO resemblance to either of my parents, or to any of my brothers or sisters.

I was born when an earthquake hit L.A., and my mother didn't see me for three days during that time, so I think it's possible that some of the babies in the hospital nursery were mixed up.

How can I make sure that I am really the child of my parents? I don't care if you print this.

DIANE IN CATHEDRAL CITY

DEAR DIANE: An infant's footprint is usually registered at the time of birth, so you could make a comparison. But think it over: What will you (or your parents) gain from discovering an error? You both have a stake in this, you know.

Sex Stereotypes Are Now Changing

Next time you pull into a garage to have your carburetor fixed don't be surprised if a female pops open your hood and starts to work. Of if your son brings home a new suit he made as a part of his home economics class, don't be shocked. Sex stereotyping in occupational education is on the way out thanks to New Pioneers, a project designed to eliminate sex bias in North Carolina's schools.

New Pioneers operates under the State Department of Public Instruction's Division of Occupational Education. According to recent enrollment statistics, nearly 1,000 more girls joined agriculture classes in 1975 than in 1974, a 20 per cent increase over last year. Trade and industrial education courses showed a gain of almost 700 female students. From 1974 to 1975 girl's enrollment in farm production jumped from 173 to 554, bricklaying I from 16 to 93, carpentry I from 51 to 187. Options have opened up for boys as well. Male enrollment in foods and nutrition went from 300 in 1974 to 571 in 1975. Housing and home furnishings rose from 42 to 102 and advanced home economics increased from 100 males to 293.

Amanda Smith, project director, feels that teachers must learn to recognize sex bias and deal with it effectively. "Boys and girls will only feel free to make untraditional choices if we do a good job of informing them about programs," said Ms. Smith.

The New Pioneers project staff has worked with state consultants and local directors of occupational education, principals, superintendents and teachers. Specific strategies were suggested to encourage students to be more open-minded in making course selections. Public announcements, bulletin board displays, poster contests, and career days were suggested ways of helping to inform students of available choices.

Another suggestion New Pioneers offered was for communities to find people who work in unusual jobs and ask them to come talk to students. Ms. Smith feels that "girls need to see that a woman who is working as a mechanic or electrician is still female. Comparably, boys need to see that a man who nurses or works with young children is no less a man."

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

Without a shred of humility I can tell you there is one soothsayer in this country who can predict the future with phenomenal accuracy. Me.

That's right. I can tell what television shows will be cancelled, what fashions will be in, and what is due in the way of price increases. My system is a little bizarre, but the conclusions are very dependable.

TELEVISION: Any show I watch consecutively for three weeks will be cancelled . . . due to low ratings. Producers have been known to watch the mails for my fan letters so they will know when to make their move. Tim Conway has begged me not to watch the Carol Burnett Show.

FASHIONS: I use the old yo-yo-hemline trick. When my skirt hemlines go up and I spend a year and a half shortening my slips and my coats, skirts immediately go down leaving me with a coat that looks like a leftover from my 10th birthday. When I buy a new long coat that covers the dress, the skirts immediately go up again. At the moment, I'm in a "tacky" pattern and holding.

FOOD PRICES: Anything my kids develop a craving for is going up in price. I knew sugar would go sky high three months before they began to hike prices. My kids were using it to build castles, make Christmas ornaments, have sugar fights, and eat raw by the handfuls for after-school snacks. That was the week it went up to $2 a pound.

FOOD AND DRUG SCARE: I predicted this when I got a case of tuna at 19 cents a can only to hear that somewhere a batch of tuna had been released containing a lethal amount of mercury. Also, I have never gone on a diet in my life that a test mouse somewhere didn't either drop dead or become terminal from drinking my brand of dietary soft drink.

WEATHER: This is the easiest of all. Putting weed killer on our grass will insure a drought. Camping out under the stars — a monsoon. Planning our first winter vacation in Florida — unseasonal snow.

You cannot imagine what a burden it is for me to control the country's destiny — knowing that the minute I buy a car, the automotive industry must design an entire new body for next year's models, or that every Wednesday I'm going to get sick and recover on Thursday when all the doctors return.

Just the other day I was telling my husband about a surveyor who was compiling questionnaires and asked me if I thought sex was a fad and was on its way out.

Hey, relax, folks, I told him yes.

Dinner-Reception Given Couple Tuesday Evening

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carrigan were honored Tuesday night at a dinner and reception given by the College of Regents of Greenville Chapter No. 1308, Women of the Moose, at the Moose Temple.

The Carrigans, residents of Greenville for many years, are moving to Leesburg, Fla.; to make their home.

A dinner, prepared and served by members of the College of Regents, was served at seven o'clock with collegians, past senior regents, and chapter officers attending.

A reception was held at eight o'clock, in the Red Room, with WOTM members, members of Greenville Moose Lodge No. 885, and invited guests participating.

A skit, written and narrated by Miss Ada Jones, was presented depicting highlights in the career of Mrs. Carrigan as a WOTM member over a number of years. Those taking part were: Mrs. Molly Harris; Mrs. Beulah Jordan; Mrs. Betty Diehl; Mrs. Bonnie Singleton; Mrs. Josephine Dees; Mrs. Rachel Hobgood; and Mrs. Joyce Smith.

Mrs. Carrigan was presented a certificate of appreciation for her work in the chapter. A second certificate attested the chapter's winning an Achievement Award for 1956-57 while Mrs. Carrigan was serving as senior regent. Mrs. Wilma Turner, chapter senior regent, presented both certificates on behalf of the chapter.

Both honorees spoke briefly expressing appreciation for the honors bestowed upon them and regrets at moving from Greenville.

Refreshments were served to members and guests following the program.

Private Institutions' Chance

Those responsible for development of public institutions seldom like to think in terms of limited growth.

That attitude is not always a matter of empire building either. The public institutions are there, after all, to serve the needs of the people and limitation denies the service to some segment of the society.

Nevertheless the UNC Board of Governors has found that it had to put a limit on the growth of the university system for next year because of the lack of funds and facilities.

The board approved a resolution last week calling for a growth rate next fall of 3½ percent, with some individual campuses being less than this, and some more.

The effect at East Carolina University, for instance would be to limit the freshman class to 2,500 and the over-all enrollment to 10,500. The current enrollment is 10,370. School officials say they expect to do this by raising the predicted grade average from 1.5 to 1.6.

N.C. State has raised its predicted grade average from 1.8 to 2.0 in order to get within its budgeted number of students.

UNC-Charlotte will be allowed somewhat more growth than some other campuses—from 6,100 to 7,020, so it plans no changes in entrance requirements.

While closing the door on admissions might seem harsh to a prospective student who wants to enter a specific state university and finds he can't, the overall situation isn't all that harsh.

There are a number of private colleges in the state which have vacancies, and the taxpayers now have a stake in seeing the spaces are filled since a state subsidy to private institutions is now in effect.

Times have been tight for the state of North Carolina for the past year or so, so it will be to the benefit of all of us if the spaces now available in private colleges are filled. The limitation on growth of state universities placed by the Board of Governors could encourage some prospective students to seek admission to the private institutions.

We're Definitely Wired Up For Sound

Greenville and Pitt County are definitely wired up for sound.

Carolina Telephone and Telegraph announced last week that the 50,000 phone had been installed on the local system. The district now includes Ayden, Bethel, Farmville, Fountain, Greenville and Snow Hill.

There's also a lot of talking going on all those phones. There were 410,000 local calls and 40,000 long distance calls per month on the Greenville exchange in 1950. Now the monthly figures are 7 million local calls and 675,000 long distance.

That's a lot of growth.

Energy Data Queried

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators claim the U.S. gas industry may be overstating the nation's gas shortage by as much as 102.7 trillion cubic feet.

That represents enough gas to cover this year's projected shortages by "at least one hundred times over," Michael Lemov, chief counsel of the House oversight and investigations subcommittee, said Wednesday.

Lemov appeared at a Senate Interior Committee hearing to support legislation that would establish an independent federal agency to collect and evaluate energy data.

Lemov, speaking on behalf of the House panel's chairman, Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., said the subcommittee compared figures submitted by the American Gas Association on reserves of 153 offshore gas fields with an unpublished survey of the same fields recently conducted by the U.S. Geological Survey.

The industry group said proven reserves in these fields amounted to 14.7 trillion, The Geological Survey estimated the same fields contained reserves of 23.4 trillion cubic feet, or 37.4 per cent more than the industry estimate, Lemov said.

"Were such a disparity to exist nationwide, the AGA reserve shortfall would amount to 102.7 trillion cubic feet," Lemov said.

But he said the adminis-

Tax Expert Sees Revision

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — North Carolina's property tax law needs major surgery, not just patchwork repairs, the tax supervisor of the state's largest county believes.

Robert P. Alexander of Charlotte has told a legislative study commission that only careful, thorough revision can cure the ills and eliminate the inequities in the present system.

"I'm not asking for an immediate push legislatively, but rather a careful study of the systems at work in other states . . . study them carefully and let's write a model law for North Carolina," Alexander urged the group chaired by State Rep. Robert A. Jones, D-Rutherford.

To try and repair one problem without tackling them all would only compound the situation, Alexander says. And the problems are many.

Many Problems

For more than an hour Alexander detailed in human terms the shortcomings of the present system used by county and municipal governments across the state.

Right now the biggest problem is revaluation every eight years, presenting taxpayers with tremendous increases in property values for tax purposes. But the tragedy, Alexander said, is seen in widows and other older people who simply can't pay the tax bills, and go without food to meet their public obligations. Most of those who appeal the appraisals in Mecklenburg, he said, fall in that category.

"They are coming in to ask how they can pay their tax bills . . . they're not asking for a lower appraisal or favored treatment, just some way to handle it," he explained.

The appraisals currently being done by consulting firms are another big problem — the firms simply can't handle the volume of work and don't have sufficient data to work with. The result is sloppy appraisals which rightfully generate citizen anger in many cases, he said.

Another major problem in most counties — but not Mecklenburg where Alexander says he would quit should it ever occur — is political interference in the tax system. Wherever county commissioners give favored treatment to certain classes of property such as farmland, then inequality is bound to result, he believes.

Alexander fears that a court test could result in new tax systems and evaluation techniques being required rapidly without sufficient time to iron out kinks and build the most fair and effective system.

Model Law

Rather, he said, the legislative commission should seek to write a model law and take action in the 1977 General Assembly.

Alexander proposed several elements which ought to be part of a new law:

1. Full disclosure should be required of the actual sales price in every real estate transaction. Deed stamps currently used more often than not reflect a price lower than the actual selling price, although in a few cases a higher value is shown by the stamps, particularly if a syndicate is seeking to influence potential stockholders.

2. Every county should be mapped so property can be accurately identified as to location and size.

3. Reappraisal of property for tax purposes should be done by county employees, not an outside firm, and should occur annually if possible, or at least more often than every eight years.

4. A deferment system for hardship cases (determined privately, not before a public board) should allow taxes to be paid when the property is sold or inherited, or relieve the elderly from threat of having to lose their homes.

5. A state computer could be used to tally all sales and use data from counties to assist the country appraisers in keeping figures up to date.

Import Quotas Justified

President Ford is getting plenty of pressure these days, from both sides, on the troublesome issue of specialty steel imports. It isn't a matter of life or death, but it is surely a matter for public discussion.

This is the situation: America's specialty steel industry is in trouble, and the trouble is not of its own making. Technologically, our manufacturers are equal to, or superior to, any steel makers in the world. The trouble stems directly from cut-price imports that have steadily eroded the domestic market.

The industry makes stainless steel and scores of other highly specialized steel products. In one sense, the maintenance of a strong American industry might indeed be a matter of life or death, for the specialty products are widely used in national defense. It would be folly to let our domestic plants go under, thus making us dependent in some critical hour upon foreign suppliers.

In January the International Trade Commission recommended a mild system of quotas on imported specialty steels. The President has authority to accept the recommendation or to reject it. He must act by March 16. The question is close, as all such questions are close, but in my own view, Mr. Ford should affirm the ITC's decision and put the quotasinto effect.

This is because (1) the industry's position is right on the merits and right in principal also; (2) the damage these quotas might do in foreign relations is slight; and (3) this is the first major test of the Trade Act of 1974.

The figures are not greatly in dispute. As recently as 1960, imports of all specialty steels affected by the ITC decision amounted to only 16,400 tons, about 2.6 percent of the domestic market. Last year these imports came to 154,000 tons, or nearly 19 percent of the domestic market. In some individual areas, notably stainless wire rod, imports claimed as much as 62 percent of domestic sales.

The 19 domestic manufacturers, with the active help of the United Steelworkers union, made an impressive case before the ITC. Their chief argument was that they did not fear fair competition from abroad. What they cannot effectively combat is unfair competition—the competition of nationalized, socialized producers who operate outside the profit system. Japan, England, France and Sweden go by one set of rules. The American producers, not swathed in cotton wool subsidies, must live by another.

The quotas recommended by the ITC are in no way drastic. For example: Imports of stainless sheet and strip, which account for half of all stainless imports, amounted to 66,000 tons last year. The ITC proposal would permit as much as 79,000 tons in 1976. No quotas at all would be imposed on semifinish stainless or on many other specialty products.

It is difficult to understand how such mild impositions could justify the anguished howls we are hearing from abroad—especially since the Common Market nations have made their own quota deal with Japan. The ITC's total package would reduce imports by only 5 percent from the plump sales of 1975. Only the most ardent defenders of untrammeled "free trade" could charge unfairness.

If the ITC's decision were plainly wrong, or if it had been based on mere caprices of protectionism, of course the President should set it aside. Quotas at home invite

INSIDE REPORT

N.Y. Demo Death Wish

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—The visit here last week by Gov. Hugh Carey of New York made clear that the old death wish by his state's Democrats is the major obstacle keeping their strongest potential candidate, Ambasador Daniel Patrick Moynihan, from running for the U.S. Senate.

Breakfasting with reporters during the winter governors' conference, Carey listed two of the three political facts of life that, in combination, discourage Dr. Moynihan from running as the best Democratic chance to unseat Conservative-Republican Sen. James Buckley.

Fact No. 1: Carey cannot support Moynihan without a clean bill of health for Moynihan from New York's black political leaders who now oppose him. Fact No. 2: The only way Moynihan can turn aside their wrath is to visit these leaders personally and plead his case. But Fact No. 3, unstated by Carey, is understood by every realistic New York politician: even if he crawled on his belly, Pat Moynihan could not end antagonism toward him by the black politicians.

And Pat Moynihan, having spoken out boldly at the United Nations against the world's arrogant potentates, is not about to crawl before small-time politicians—whether it would succeed or not. But their continued hostility guarantees Carey will not give Moynihan the encouragement that may be necessary for him to run.

The likely result is a winner of next September's Democratic Senate primary as unelectably far to the left as former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, whose nomination in 1974 ruined a golden Democratic chance to defeat liberal Republican Sen. Jacob Javits. Clark is running again but may be defeated by an opponent, incredibly, to his left: Rep. Bella Abzug. As she tirelessly campaigns across the state, the ominous reality is that Mrs. Abzug finds no other candidates on the hustings competing with her.

Neither Mrs. Abzug, Ramsey Clark nor anybody else in sight seems able to win back enough catholic voters to unseat Sen. Buckley—except for Moynihan. Running as a bread-and-butter liberal and hard-line anti-Communist (ideologically similar to Sen. Henry M. Jackson, endorsed by Moynihan for President this weekend), Moynihan might even cut into conservative Republican voters. "It is madness—sheer madness—to let Buckley off the hook when we have Moynihan," one Democratic party leader told us in impotent fury.

The "madness" stems from black bias that begun in the spring of 1965 against Moynihan, considered a civil rights purist until then. As Assistant Secretary of Labor, he wrote a report on the Negro family offensive to black leaders despite its statistical, clinical tone. Resentment simmered for five years, then exploded in January 1970 with the leaking of the notorious "benign neglect" memo.

Laughter Needed

(Chapel Hill Newspaper)

There used to be a little laughter in politics. Not anymore! Even the laughable candidates are taking themselves so seriously that no one can find anything funny. Only one candidate has said anything that has relieved the tension among the rank and file. "If the government were to take over the beer plants," declared Gerald Ford, "a six pack would cost $50.00." That is so true that it's really not so funny when you think about it for a while.

They tell the story about the fellow who was vacationing in the western part of North Carolina who struck up a conversation with a 75-year old mountaineer.

"Where you from, fellar?" the visitor was asked.

"Washington," came the reply.

"Washington, D.C.?"

"That's right," said the visitor.

"You've got some pretty smart fellas back there, ain't ya," the mountaineer inquired? The visitor agreed. "You've got some that ain't so smart, took, ain't ya?" Again the answer was in the affirmative.

"Damn hard to tell the difference, ain't it," inquired the native as the conversation ended.

Another fellow we know says he never votes because he doesn't want to feel in anyway responsible for anything that is going on in Washington.

Here's an old political quote that could apply to the current presidential race: "After looking over the field of candidates I'm thankful that only one of them can get elected."

It is so sad that at a time when we need laughter in America more than ever, most of us have lost our ability to laugh. Maybe things are too good for us. Even in the middle of World War II, hardly a day went by that we didn't laugh about gas rationing, the heat of battle, or the sacrifices we were making. A "kilroy was here" sign could make our day. Laughter helped us to win the war. It can also help us keep the peace. It can certainly brighten our day. It is so sad that in almost everything we do we take ourselves too seriously.

40 Years Ago Today

Russia, under Joseph Stalin, is ready to war with Japan if necessary to preserve Outer Mongolia's independence, the Soviet dictator said in an interview given to Roy W. Howard, chairman of the board of Scripps-Howard newspapers and published today.

"If Japan ventures to attack the Mongolian peoples' republic and seeks to destroy its independence, we have to be able to help that republic," Howard quoted Stalin as saying.

"It is impossible to say" when the next war will come, Stalin said. "Now days, wars are not declared. They simply start," the Soviet leader added.

BIG MEN DON'T WORRY

Success often comes to men who have very little fear of failure, or who are determined to accept failure philosophically if it does arrive.

This point is illustrated well by an incident in the life of Abraham Lincoln. In the summer of 1864 Lincoln was warned by a friend that the Secretary of the Treasury, Salmon P. Chase, was secretly conniving to get the Republican nomination in November. "Oh, don't worry about Chase," said Lincoln to his worried friend. "He has just as much right to want to be President as anyone else. And if the people want Chase to be President, then I want him to be President."

Of course Lincoln was renominated and re-elected in 1864. His good nature, his unwillingness to abide by the will of the people were all part of his credentials as a great man. In this election year it would be encouraging if we could see more of Lincoln's attitude.

Metropolitan Areas 'Hurting'

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's major metropolitan areas are still experiencing recession-level unemployment rates despite an improving national job picture.

For the third straight month, the Labor Department reported Wednesday, 131 of the nation's 150 major labor areas were classified as having substantial unemployment of 6 per cent or more. Manchester, N.H., was dropped from the list while Kenosha, Wis., was added in the December accounting.

The unemployment rate ranged from a low of 4.2 per cent in Richmond Va., and Harrisburg, Pa., to 15.1 per cent in Muskegon, Mich.

Jobless rates of 10 per cent or more were common in cities throughout Michigan and other big industrial states such as New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and California, where the recession hit hardest.

The nationwide jobless rate was 8.3 per cent in December and dropped in January to 7.8 per cent. But direct comparisons with state figures may be misleading since some state figures are not adjusted for seasonal variations.

Labor Department officials said the state figures also reflect the still-incomplete process of feeding new annual benchmarks into the complex federally mandated system of computing employment and unemployment by the states. Once completed, they said, the area figures are likely to be revised down somewhat.

Nevertheless, the figures give a fairly accurate reflection of the trend in employment across the country, said Dudley Young, assistant commissioner for labor statistics.

The number of labor areas with substantial unemployment peaked at 135 last September, then declined slightly in October and November before leveling off. In contrast, the nation's unemployment rate has fallen from its recession peak of 8.9 per cent last May to 7.8 per cent in January. The February figures are due out Friday.

"While the national picture is improving, pockets of high unemployment such as Michigan, which is heavily dependent on the auto industry, are very stubborn and are staying at a high rate," said Martin Taylor, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

In a telephone interview, Taylor said joblessness in Michigan will be lower this year than in 1975 but will still average 10 per cent or above.

The paradoxical pattern of high unemployment despite continuing economic recovery is reflected throughout Massachusetts, where there are such jobless rates as 11 per cent at Boston, 11.4 per cent at Brockton, 13.3 per cent at Lawrence-Haverhill and 13.7 per cent at New Bedford.

Many Suffer Wintry Storm

By The Associated Press

A large part of the nation was experiencing bad weather this morning. Inclemency stretched from Arizona, through the south and central Rockies, across the midwest and into the northeast.

A strong winter storm centered over New Mexico dumped snow over the northern two thirds of Arizona, the south and central portions of the Rockies and the high plains.

Heavy snow warnings were up for northeast Arizona and for the Colorado mountains and northwest Kansas. Southeast Colorado was also warned of heavy snow. Parts of Arizona expected accumulations of up to 15 inches.

To the east of the snow area, winter storm warnings were in force for the entire day for west and northern New Mexico and southwest and north central Kansas.

The storm was expected to move northeast, so winter storm watches were posted for all or parts of Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Overnight, showers and thundershowers triggered by a stationary front reached from Oklahoma across the mid-Mississippi and Ohio valleys into Pennsylvania. Locally heavy amounts, almost an inch, were reported. Flash flood watches were posted in southeast Wisconsin and northern Illinois.

In parts of the precipitation area, freezing rain fell. A freezing rain warning was issued for Wednesday night for northwest Missouri and southeast Kansas.

About 100 National Guard troops were helping several small communities — designated as emergency areas — after a Wednesday ice storm left thousands of homes and businesses without power over much of southern Michigan.

Political folklore has Moynihan, a liberal Democratic counselor in a conservative Republican White House, urging President Richard M. Nixon to neglect black probelms. In truth, the memo urged less talk, not less action. In words outrageously distorted since then, Moynihan wrote:

"The time may have come when the issue of race could benefit from a period of 'benign neglect.' The subject has been too much talked about . . . We may need a period in which Negro progress continues and racial rhetoric fades."

This moderate advice has been transmogrified by New York's black leaders into proof positive of Moynihan's unfitness for elective office. No sooner had Moynihan resigned as UN Ambassador and been mentioned for the Senate than the well-regarded Rep. Charles Rangel, who represents Harlem in Congress, was on the telephone protesting to key Democrats. Every prominent black Democrat in New York has since joined Rangel's charge.

But the greater madness is how the party's state leaders have been immobilized by that veto. Carey, once enthusiastic about Moynihan, has cooled to the point of his suggestion here last week that Moynihan go before Rangel and plead for absolution.

Does that mean, the governor was asked over breakfast, Bella Abzug should go before white middle-class New Yorksers and similarly beg for their favor? No, said Carey, whites do not qave that much impact on Democratic primaries in New York—a statement palpably untrue. In fact, few Democratic politicians believe Rangel, Manhattan borough president Percy Sutton or any of Moynihan's black critics could deliver a bloc vote against him in the primary.

Rather, Carey was demonstrating an enduring axiom. of New York politics: apart from how many votes they control and apart from any merit of their objections, black leaders can keep any potential candidate from being liberal Dr. Moynihan at Harvard and the conservative Sen. Buckley in Washington, New York's Democratic death wish is functioning as of old.

quotas abroad. Free trade should be the rule, not the exception. But here it is evident that the ITC acted after prolonged hearings; the commission considered testimony from every quarter; and it came to the reasoned conclusion that the domestic industry had suffered "serious injury" because of the excessive imports.

This was the commission's first major case since the 1974 Trade Act was passed. For the President to repudiate its findings would be to destroy the ITC's reputation before the commission has a chance to make a record. Taking all these circumstances into account, I would go for the quotas. They won't hurt much abroad, and they should help significantly here at home.

tration and, to some degree, Congress, have been forced to accept the AGA estimates because of a lack of any separate energy data-gathering function within the government.

The AGA has been lobbying for decontrol of prices for gas shipped in interstate commerce.

Moss, in a statement, said because of such disparities it has been impossible for his investigators to determine the true severity of the natural gas shortage.

There have been allegations — repeatedly denied by the industry — that gas producers have been deliberately holding back gas to create pressure for decontrol.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, recovering from some early selling with a lift from some good news on inflation.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.65 at 980.48, while losers maintained a 3-2 lead over gainers in the over-all tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading continued to lag behind the heavy pace of January and February.

The Labor Department reported this morning that its wholesale price index dropped 0.5 per cent during February, providing further strong evidence of a slackening in inflationary pressures.

Brokers noted some uneasiness in the market, however, over the outlook for interest rates.

The fear was that recent credit-tightening steps by the Federal Reserve signaled a shift in Fed policy which might push interest rates into a sustained uptrend.

Declining interest rates were widely cited as a major factor in the stock market's dramatic rally at the beginning of the year.

Litton Industries was the most active Big Board issue, unchanged at 16.

Most other stocks showed only fractional price changes.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was off .15 at 103.41 after the first hour.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index dropped .33 to 103.41.

Report Peeping Tom In Bethel

BETHEL — Chief of Police Walter Gray of Bethel today reported that Bethel residents during the early morning hours called police, reporting an alleged Peeping Tom sighted in three separate instances.

"The first call came shortly after 12:30 a.m. this morning," Gray said, with the other calls coming at later hours." Gray added that he had the entire police force out in an attempt to locate the person reportedly spying on homes in Bethel.

"We are asking citizens of the town to report to us any information they might have that would give us a lead," Gray stated.

Officers reported the Rose car collided with a fence at 1011 Elm St. causing an estimated $500 damage to his car and $300 damage to the fence.

Find Ancient Camp Site

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A team of University of Tennessee archaeologists has found what it believes is the oldest undisturbed Indian campsite in the Southeast United States.

Dr. Jeff Chapman says a campsite uncovered in the Little Tennessee River Valley in East Tennessee dates back to 7,500 B.C. The campsite has been designated the Icehouse Bottom Site.

"In addition to finding what we believe to be the earliest undisturbed campsite, we also found evidence of the use of textiles by Indians in the Southeast," Chapman said.

The UT archaeologist said radioactive techniques were used to establish that textile impressions found on clay hearths date back to 7,500 B.C.

The Icehouse Bottom excavations indicate Indians occupied the site periodically for about 9,500 years, Chapman said.

The excavations, begun last summer, are financed by the National Park Service and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Mariner said the regular weekly meeting time for EGA, Sundays from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. remains unchanged.

by the Association of Independent Colleges. The schools could increase enrollment by 7,000 students without additional faculty or facilities, he said.

Under questioning, Privette said some of the projects in the bond program are justified and cited the classroom building proposed for the UNC-Charlotte campus as an example. He refused to detail which programs were not justified but promised to outline his stand on each project later.

Each candidate's address was limited to five minutes. Here are highlights of comments by other gubernatorial candidates:

—Democrat Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt said state revenues should be increased by attracting better paying industries, not by a tax increase. He also called for a stronger law against bad checks.

—Republican Transportation Secretary Jacob Alexander called for freedom for businessmen from government regulation. Government should be run by businessmen to be efficient, he said.

—Republican Human Resources Secretary David Flaherty opposed any tax increase, opting for savings through more efficiency in state government through businesslike operation.

—Republican Wallace McCall, assistant pastor of a Rosman Baptist church, cited honesty, sobriety and dependability as a platform and called for higher moral standards.

—Democrat Edward O'Herron Jr., head of the Eckerd drug store chain, said, "Business is being held back and stifled by regulations, rulings and governmental interference" and promised to work against that.

—State Sen. Thomas Strickland, D-Wayne, recounted his experience and legislative record, citing bills he sponsored that would help businessmen.

Not at the meeting were Democrats Reginald Frazier and Hargrove Bowles, who is unannounced but a likely candidate.

The seven lieutenant governor candidates, all Democrats, appeared at the forum. Only one, state Rep. John Jordan of Alamance County, agreed with Privette's opposition to the bond issue and said he agreed with Privette's reasons. In his talk, Jordan called for repeal of the state inventory tax.

Former Chapel Hill Mayor Howard Lee said government must adjust to the poor economic conditions and have some "belt tightening."

Wake County Commissioner Waverly Akins said the inventory tax needs restructuring but didn't explain how it should be changed.

House Speaker Jimmy Green of Bladen County reviewed his record in local and state governments and reviewed some problems businessmen face.

State Rep. Herbert Hyde of Buncombe County said campaign issues will be the economy, crime, education and utilities. He said he has worked in the legislature on each of those problems.

We would like to take this time and thank our many friends for the cards, flowers, foods and any other acts of kindness shown us during the death of our mother and wife, Mrs. Carrie Harris Green. We extend a very special thank you to the Mitchell Funeral Home for the beautiful service rendered. May God bless each of you.

Western Mich. Gains Playoffs

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Western Michigan basketball team is a big shot now ... and not just in Kalamazoo.

A school with a big campus but little basketball tradition, the Broncos struck it rich Wednesday night with a 73-58 victory over Miami of Ohio that won a spot in the National Collegiate Athletic Association playoffs.

"Hey, fellas, we're in the tournament!" Coach Eldon Hall announced with glee after the victory that secured at least a tie for the Mid-American Conference championship.

The 14th-ranked Broncos, who last won the Mid-American Conference 25 years ago, can win the crown outright by beating Bowling Green at home this Saturday. But they don't have to clinch the league title to go to the NCAA playoffs, since they took both meetings with Miami this year and thus qualified automatically in the event of a tie.

Eldon had to be convinced by reporters that his team had made the playoffs, which gives you some idea of the losing image Western Michigan has shouldered for years. Last season, the Broncos finished fifth in the league with an 8-6 record.

In another big game Wednesday night, No. 15 Missouri downed Kansas State 81-72 to clinch at least a tie for the Big Eight title. In the Southern Conference playoffs, Virginia Military Institute defeated Appalachian State 71-64 and Richmond whipped William and Mary 84-78 to advance to tonight's finals.

Tom Cutter and Jeff Tyson combined for 39 points to boost Western Michigan past Miami. Cutter and Tyson hit 15 of the first 18 points scored by the Broncos in the second half. The 6-foot-8, 220-pound Cutter finished with 23 points and provided the edge for Western Michigan in rebounding throughout the game. Tyson scored 16 points.

Willie Smith poured in 38 points as Missouri downed Kansas State and moved a step closer to nailing down an NCAA berth. The Tigers, 11-2, now lead the Wildcats, 10-3, by one game in the Big Eight standings, and each team has one game remaining.

Ron Carter converted a four-point play with less than three minutes left to ice VMI's victory over Appalachian State. Mike Morton scored 25 points in leading Richmond over William & Mary.

Along with the Southern Conference finals tonight, four other leagues will hold playoffs — the Atlantic Coast Conference, the Ohio Valley Conference, the Southwest Conference and the Metro-Six. In addition, the Eastern College Athletic Conference will start first-round play in three regional tournaments — the New England, the metropolitan and the Upstate New York.

Two of Army's tackles, John Gallagher of Piqua, Ohio, and Ken Liepold of Cicero, Ill., weigh slightly more than 245 pounds.

FARMVILLE — Defense was the main ingredient in victories cooked up by North Pitt boys and girls and D.H. Conley last night as each advanced in the Eastern Carolina basketball tournament.

Defense played a major role in the three team's wins. Conley shut out Farmville Central almost six minutes in the third period rallying from 38-29 down to 42-38. The Vikings kept the pressure on in the early part of the fourth period and passed the Jaguars for a 61-59 win.

Their victory pits them against Greene Central tonight in a 7:00 p.m. game.

The North Pitt girls forced Ayden-Grifton's inside game almost to a halt while the Big Orange Machine purred along under Kathi Manning's direction. The Pant-HERS slammed A-G 53-39 and will face North Lenoir tonight.

In the final game, North Pitt's boys' defense forced A-G's boys out of their offense and into a rush-it game which opened up a tight game and the Panthers won easily, 78-51.

Conley's Shelly Marsh felt the factor in the Vikings' win was Randy Hibbard. Through the first half, the Vikings moved little and when they did they were sluggish.

But in the third period, Hibbard hit two buckets that gave the Vikings new life and Rick Mobley cracked it up in the fourth with 18 points leading Conley to the win.

"We didn't move that well," Marsh said, "The shots were better." Conley has had trouble taking good shots lately. Marsh said the Vikings were tight and afraid to go inside. "Our difference was Hibbard . . . driving in the lane.

"We did a decent job of keeping them from taking second and third shots," Marsh added. "We gained momentum when (Mitchell) Foskey fouled out. We were trying to get them to foul." Marsh said he was not worried about his own team's fouls because Farmville Central did not have a good free throw percentage.

Farmville Central's Mike Terrell said that when the Vikings sped things up, the Jaguars fell out of their offense. "We made three or four bad passes. When they sped things we got out of the offense. We played a great ball club," he said.

Marsh looks for a tough game tonight with the Rams. Conley's chances for a district berth remained alive with its win. Farmville Central is assured of one even though they lost.

After fighting a tough first four minutes, Farmville Central finally took a lead on a drive by Keno Farrow and the Jaguars outshot Conley, 8-4, in the closing two minutes of the period for a 20-15 lead.

Farmville Central surged out to a 30-19 lead midway through the second frame but Conley rallied to close within three, 30-27, at halftime.

Buckets by James Baker, Foskey and Timmy Ward put the Jaguars up by 11, 38-27, but Conley began to turn things around as they got a bucket from Randy King, a free throw and a bucket from Hibbard pulling within 38-32.

Conley forced four quick Jaguar fouls, two on Baker and one on Foskey, slowing the Jaguars down further and Mobley's bucket with 2:16 left in the period cut the lead to 40-38. FC was able to hang onto a 42-38 lead at the end of the quarter.

After trading baskets, the Farmville Central lead vanished as Mobley hit two free throws tieing the game, 44-44. Farmville Central moved ahead two more times, 46-44 and 51-50, but Trent Blount's free shots with 4:26 and Johnny Streeter's three-point play with 2:58 left put Conley ahead to stay.

In the final 1:31, Conley out hit FC, 9-4, and got Foskey and Baker both to foul out along with Ward leaving Keno Farrow to carry the Jags but he could not do it alone.

Mobley's final-period surge netted him 27 points. Farrow led the Jaguars with 18, Baker scored 11 and Ward and Foskey 10 each. Farmville Central outrebounded Conley 37-27 with Foskey grabbing 12 and Baker 12 also.

North Pitt's girls spotted A-G the first basket of their game then came back to go ahead on scores by Kathi Manning and Joy Forbes, 13-8, in the first frame.

The difference remained the same at halftime, five points, but North Pitt opened it up in the third period moving out by 12, 35-33, on a field goal by Manning.

A 12-12 fourth period finished the game and A-G's season. Manning led the Big Orange with a big 21 points and Forbes scored 12. Audrey McCarter led A-G with 22.

North Pitt hit the boards better in the second half of the boys game pulling down 21 rebounds for a total of 32. Donnie Perkins had nine and Jackie Best six for North Pitt.

After struggling to break away, Ayden-Grifton finally put some space between the scores on buckets by Willie Forbes, Vern Davenport and Paul Ricciarelli, 12-6. Conley caught up, 12-10 and trailed by two at the end of the period, 16-14.

North Pitt scored seven straight between 6:55 and 5:04 to take a 21-17 advantage and buckets by Kenneth Roberson and Perkins made it 27-21.

But North Pitt cooled off then and was outscored, 10-3, in the final three minutes as the Chargers tied the game, 30-30.

The lead was juggled for the first two minutes of the third period until Roberson's basket got it back for North Pitt for good, 36-55.

North Pitt pulled out to a 51-41 lead by the end of the frame and added 17 points to the spread with a 27-10 fourth period.

Perkins again led the Panthers with 24 points, Virgil Pilgreen scored 15 and Roberson 14. Davenport had 11 and Forbes and Ogden Braxton 10 each for A-G.

North Pitt's Cobby Deans said the Panthers had started in a 1-31 but ended up in a 2-3 zone defense. "We decided to play straight defense. We did make some mistakes, we got burned three times on inbounds play."

Deans praised Pilgreen and Roberson for their consistant play. "That's what we need," he said. "We need it from a few other players."

The semi-finals continue tonight at Farmville Central and the finals are set for tomorrow night.

Squire Rally Falls Short

By The Associated Press

The Virginia Squires are in a rut.

"The early part of the game ... the first 24 minutes ... in the last three games we've fallen behind by 18-20 points," said Squires Coach Zelmo Beatty. "And in all three games against St. Louis, Denver and Indiana we've gotten back into the game and cut the lead to two.

"We've got to start doing something about the way we start playing at the beginning of the game."

Indiana scored the first 11 points of the game and built up a 19-point advantage, 56-37, late in the second period before Denver began a rally that fell short as the Pacers captured the American Basketball Association contest 104-95.

In other ABA games Wednesday, San Antonio rolled over St. Louis 143-111 and Denver stopped New York 121-100.

The Squires, who have lost 22 straight on the road, trailed 71-51 with six minutes left in the third period. Then they pulled to within two points, 97-95, with 1:30 left before Indiana ran off the next seven points to win the game.

Billy Knight paced the Pacers with 28 points and Len Elmore added 21. Virginia was led by Mack Calvin's 22 and Mike Green's 20.

Spurs 143, Spirits 111

Billy Paultz scored 33 points and grabbed 12 rebounds to spark San Antonio past St. Louis. Largy Kenon added 21 points and 23 rebounds and James Silas connected for 20 points as the Spurs chalked up their 14th victory in their last 20 games.

Marvin Barnes led St. Louis with 29 points.

Nuggets 121, Nets 100

Bobby Jones, who finished with 21 points, led Denver to an 18-2 spurt in the first quarter and the Nuggets went on to an easy victory over New York.

Annual ACC Finale Opening Today

By GORDON BEARD
AP Sports Writer

LANDOVER, Md. (AP)—The 23rd Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament, out of its usual element but no less frenetic for players and fans, opens today with a tripleheader involving evenly matched teams.

The only squad not slated for action in the first round was defending champion North Carolina, the nation's No. 4 team which was given a bye after winning the regular season title with an 11-1 record.

But two other nationally ranked teams were among those ready to perform before 19,500 fans at Capital Centre, in the first ACC tournament ever played outside the state of North Carolina.

Maryland, ranked No. 9 in the nation and seeded second in the tournament, was to open the program at 1 p.m. against Duke, which finished last in the league and has been further weakened by an injury to freshman star Jim Spanarkel.

The second game, starting at 3 p.m., matched 17th-ranked North Carolina State, the winner of three titles in the last six years, against a Virginia team which has never advanced to the finals.

Closing out the program, at 5 p.m., will be a contest between Wake Forest and a Clemson team that is ineligible for NCAA play because of recruiting violations but capable of winning its first ACC championship.

Friday night's semifinals, to be televised into New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, in addition to the regular ACC network, will match North Carolina against the Wake Forest-Clemson winner, and the two winners of the other first round games. Saturday night's title game will be nationally televised.

Although North Carolina won the regular season race by four games, seven of the victories by the Tar Heels were by three points or less, and three times they had to go into overtime before prevailing.

The season was marked by so many upsets and close decisions that every team feels it has a chance just by being consistent during the three-day affair. Last-place Duke lost seven games by six points or less, and sixth-place Virginia dropped five by four points or less.

Duke and Maryland split their two regular season games, as did Wake Forest and Clemson. State held a 2-0 edge over Virginia, but the victories were by two-and seven-point margins.

Maryland, which won its only title in 1958 and has been the runner-up in three of the last four seasons, lacks size but can run any team into the ground with a three-guard offense of John Lucas, Mo Howard and Brad Davis. Lucas leads the Terps with a 20.4-point average.

Duke, led by Tate Armstrong's 23.9 average, announced Wednesday that Spanarkel would be sidelined for the tournament because of an ankle sprain suffered Feb. 21. The Blue Devils have reached the semifinals 16 times, most in the ACC, but have been bounced out in the first round the last three years.

State, which leads the pack with eight titles, lost last year by a 70-66 score. It comes into the tournament with three straight losses, but the Wolfpack meets an old friend in Virginia.

State has beaten Virginia 11 in a row and in the tourney has a perfect 7-0 mark over the Cavaliers.

Kenny Carr of State led the ACC with a 27.7-point scoring average and he also was third in rebounding, grabbing 10.7 a game. The 6-foot-7 sophomore, whom Coach Norman Sloan compares favorably with superstar David Thompson of recent vintage, is one of the many youngsters on the Wolfpack squad.

Virginia relies heavily on Wally Walker, the league's No. 3 scorer with a 22.3 average, and Billy Langloh, 14.0.

Clemson, socked with a three-year probation, should be loose while trying to win only its fifth game in tourney history and reach the semifinals for the fourth time.

A victory over Wake Forest would be No. 18 for the Tigers, the most ever by a Clemson team. Sometimes erratic, Clemson has won three straight after ending a five-game losing streak. Wayne "Tree" Rollins, second in rebounding, tops the Tigers with a 13.7 scoring average.

Wake Forest, which opened the season with an 11-1 record while whipping North Carolina, State and Maryland during a four-game stretch, cooled off considerably after that but beat State last Saturday.

The Deacons' Skip Brown was fourth in ACC scoring at 21.2, with Rod Griffin seventh at 18.3 and Jerry Schellenberg 12th with a 15.7 mean.

VMI, Richmond Post Victories

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)— Virginia Military Institute and Richmond, a pair of teams which has mastered the fourcorner offense, meet tonight for the Southern Conference basketball tournament crown and a place in the NCAA tournament playoffs.

"Our players have a lot of confidence in the four-corners," Richmond coach Carl Sloane said Wednesday night after his team had used it for 39 of the game's 40 minutes in defeating slightly-favored William and Mary, 84-78.

"I'm not a real big four-corner man," declared VMI coach Bill Blair. "I hate to play basketball like that." His team, which led the conference during the regular season, had just polished off underdog Appalachian State, 71-64, by playing keep-away ball for their game's final 32 mimutes.

Jeff Butler scored when the going got rough and totaled 22 points in Richmond's victory. His teammate, Mike Morton, tallied 25 points to exactly match the point production turned in by Ron Satterthwaite, star of the W&M effort.

Will Bynum, who had 18 points, scored 14 of them in the first half to pull VMI well in front of an early 14-7 lead by Appalachian. Ron Carter contributed a three-point play, then a four-point play in the closing minutes to insure the victory.

Appalachian was unable to get the kind of scoring it needed to stay in the running with VMI, which outshot Cremins' team 61-42 per cent. Richmond overbalanced W&M on the shooting percentage also, 72-47 per cent.

Netters Drop First

The East Carolina tennis team opened its spring season yesterday afternoon, bowing to Salisbury State College, 7-2, here.

William & Mary will invade Greenville tomorrow to test the young Pirates, who hope to improve on last year's seventh place Southern Conference finish.

Williamston Gains Finals

WILLIAMSTON—Williamston's unbeaten girls moved into the finals of the Northeastern Conference basketball tournament with a 71-27 romp over Washington last night.

In the boys' division, Washington's unbeaten Pam Pack downed Roanoke Rapids, 79-65, to gain the finals.

Tonight, the Edenton and Plymouth girls meet for the right to face Williamston, while Ahoskie and Tarboro's boys challenge for the berth opposite the Washington boys.

Williamston, now 21-0 on the season, got all they needed in the first period of the game, burning the nets for 28 points, while allowing only two. They continued to streak away in the second frame, building the lead out to 47-11.

The Tigerettes kept it up in the third period, running their lead to 63-15. Washington finally outhit them, 12-8, in the final period.

Sissy Taylor led the way with 24 points, while Paula Bennett had 12 and Nancy Williams, 10. Donna Hicks led Washington with 15 points.

Philadelphia Romps Past Boston, 123-110

By The Associated Press

"I don't know how we could play any better basketball than we did," said Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue.

The 76ers deserved the praise after they devastated Boston 123-110 in a National Basketball Association game Wednesday night.

"We played a super game, individually and as a team," Shue said. "It was our best effort of the season ...

"We played a beautiful defensive game in the first half. When they came within six points of us, we did not turn the ball over any more. And because of their press we were able to freelance and score from the field."

Or as Boston star John Havlicek said: "It turned out that it was not one of our better games."

In other NBA games Wednesday, Detroit nipped Seattle 114-110, Houston stopped New Orleans 113-105 and Phoenix crushed Cleveland 108-92.

Behind Doug Collins, Fred Carter and George McGinnis, Philadelphia rolled out to a 19-point first half advantage before Boston whittled the margin down to six points in the fourth period. Then Collins and Carter led a 76ers spurt that gave Philadelphia a 26-point lead late in the game.

Collins finished with a season-high 38 points, Carter added 31 and McGinnis 28.

Pistons 114, Sonics 110

Down by 11 points early in the third period, Detroit went on a 20-8 spurt to take the lead for good enroute to its victory over Seattle. Still the Pistons needed five points from Eric Money and four from Curtis Rowe to salt away the victory. Rowe and Money finished with 25 points each while Bob Lanier added 24 and Al Eberhard 22. Guarjs Fred Brown and Slick Watts were high for Seattle with 24 and 21 points, respectively.

Rockets 113, Jazz 105

Ed Ratleff scored 33 points and Houston used a 38-19 third period scoring bulge to topple New Orleans. The Jazz outscored Houston in every period but the third in losing their fourth straight.

Pete Maravich paced the losers with 25 points.

Suns 108, Cavaliers 92

Paul Westphal's 31 points and a tough defense carried Phoenix to its victory over Cleveland. It was only the Cavs' third loss in their last 12 games while the Suns posted their 10th victory in their last 15 outings.

Cleveland pulled to within five points, 81-76, with 6:51 to go, but the Cavs failed to score for nearly two minutes while Phoenix built up a 14-point advantage. Campy Russell paced Cleveland with 25 points while Alvan Adams added 20 for Phoenix.

Will Waive One Clause

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Players' boss Marvin Miller says a clause which threatens to wipe out dozens of spring training games might be overlooked if major league baseball owners settle the labor war.

The clause referred to by Miller, executive director of the Players Association, is in the expired labor contract and says that players cannot be forced to play exhibitions until they have at least 10 days in camp.

The California Angels announced Wednesday they had cancelled their March 9, 10 and 11 games in Mexico, because they would not be within the 10-day period.

Most camps were scheduled to open last Monday, but the owners say they will keep them closed until there is a new labor pact or sufficient progress in contract talks. The ruling could eliminate many games, since all teams are scheduled to be in action by March 13.

"With respect to the rule, you can't be required to play until you are in camp 10 days, but the players could waive that," Miller said Wednesday after a 2½-hour negotiating session with the owners' Player Relations Committee, which both sides called fruitless.

ABC Continues Lead In Ratings

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Last week's Nielsens are in and guess what? ABC is No. 1 in the weekly ratings for evenings shows for the seventh consecutive week. Its string of victories began the week of Jan. 12-18.

If you keep track of such things, the season's consecutive-win title still belongs to CBS, which logged nine straight weeks as No. 1 from the week ending Nov. 23 to the week ending Jan. 11.

But ABC is coming on strong, bolstered by the success of its theatrical movie showings, two weeks of Olympics and such staples as "Laverne and Shirley," "Happy Days," "Six Million Dollar Man" and "Bionic Woman."

And with 25 full weeks now in the Nielsen file, ABC, for 20 seasons the No. 3 network, now appears to have an excellent chance of ending this season — Nielsen considers it over in April — a strong No. 2.

So what? So it can mean greatly increased revenues next season for ABC, since the average ratings for a current season influence the prices a network can ask of sponsors for shows the following season.

Although CBS still leads this year's ratings race, ABC only is one rating point behind (696,000 homes in civilian terms), according to Nielsen averages from the start of the season to Feb. 29.

It's a bit of an improvement over ABC's season-to-date averages at this time last year. They showed viewers in nearly 2.9 million fewer homes watching ABC wares, compared with those observing CBS programs.

And how is NBC doing? Not so good. The current season-to-date averages show it trailing CBS by slightly more than one million homes andABC by half a rating point, or 348,000 homes.

Which is in sharp contrast to the ratings averages at this time last year. They showed NBC giving CBS a run for the money, the NBC goods seen in only 342,000 fewer homes than the CBS wares.

Now that we've got that out of the way and are bracing for the rerun season, when can we expect the networks to announce their prime-time schedules for the 1976-77 season?

Ed Vane, an ABC vice-president, says March 26 is his network's target date. Lee Currlin, CBS' programs chief, says he's shooting for April 1.

NBC's program chief, Marvin Antonowsky, only will say he expects to have his fall schedule set by "early April." He and his competitors revealed all this at an industry lunch here this week.

Last year, NBC was the first to announce its fall schedule, doing that on April 21, followed by CBS and ABC. The three-network ratings race for 1975-76 generally began on Sept. 8.

This year, they're setting their fall schedules earlier and the start of the 1976-77 season later. The idea is to give program producers more time to come up with the quality many critics claimed was AWOL from most shows offered at the start of this season.

CBS hasn't yet said when its new season will begin, but you can bet on late September. NBC says it's aiming for "the last week in September," while ABC says it expects to start its new season on Sept. 27.

Validate Cutoff Scores In Nat'l Teacher Exams

RALEIGH (AP)—Cutoff scores on the National Teachers Exam (NTE) that would eliminate 60 to 70 per cent of the black applicants for teacher certification in North Carolina have been validated in South Carolina, North Carolina's top teacher certification official says.

Director J. Arthur Taylor of the Division of Teacher Certification said the validated cutoffs were 100 to 150 points higher than North Carolina's 950 cutoff, which a federal court held unconstitutional because it discriminated against blacks.

Taylor said that in South Carolina, Educational Testing Service (ETS), makers of the NTE, had validated cutoffs ranging from 1,050 to 1,100, depending on which subject area test the applicant took. These cutoffs have not been tested in court.

A three judge federal panel ruled in the North Carolina case that the state had the right to set minimum standards of academic proficiency for teacher certification but that the state had failed to show that the 950 cutoff separated competent teachers from incompetent ones. The judges did not rule out the possibility of using a NTE cutoff as a measure of academic proficiency if the cutoff were validated, or shown to separate good teachers from bad.

Still before the court is the question of whether the state will have to pay damages to applicants who failed to score 950. It has been estimated that it could cost the state as much as $8 million if the judges rule against the state.

As a defense against being ordered to pay damages, the state Board of Education has contracted with ETS to determine what cutoffs would have been valid in North Carolina.

About 30 per cent of the blacks who have taken the NTE in North Carolina failed to score 950, compared with about 2 per cent of the whites, Taylor said.

He said if North Carolina had used the cutoffs validated in South Carolina, 60 to 70 per cent of the blacks and about 6 per cent of the whites who take the test would be eliminated.

Meanwhile, the state Board of Education moved closer Wednesday to developing a replacement for the NTE as called for by the legislature.

A detailed 19-page list of requirements for the new test proposed by the state Advisory Council on Teacher Education were approved by the board's policy committee.

The requirements will be sent Thursday to the full board, which is expected to send it on to the Department of Administration. Test makers would then be invited to submit proposals for developing tests that meet the requirements.

Tayor said it would cost more than $1 million—and perhaps more than $2 million—to develop the tests.

Dismissal Held Okay By Court

RALEIGH (AP)—The dismissal of a former Employment Security Commission employe for refusal to cooperate in an investigation of anonymous letters about sexual misconduct in the agency's Charlotte office has been upheld by the state Court of Appeals.

The court said the commission and the state Personnel Board did not violate the rights of Mrs. Betty Thomas Nantz in dismissing her.

Map Support For Museum

RALEIGH (AP)—Borrowing an idea from the Smithsonian Institution, a group of interested citizens has formed an organization devoted to supporting the North Carolina Museum of History in Raleigh.

Called the North Carolina Museum of History Associates Inc., the organization will financially assist the museum and be a vehicle of informing the public of the museum's programs and services, said Mrs. Thomas W. Steed Jr., president of the group.

Bettie A. Rand, publicity chairman, said the organization was patterned after the Smithsonian Associates which is aimed at supporting the famous institution in Washington.

Through fund-raising efforts, the group will help finance speakers for museum programs, underwrite catalogs for museum exhibits and purchase items for the museum collection, she said, noting the state allows the museum only $4,000 a year for acquisitions.

Membership contributions range from $5 a year for students to $15 for individuals, $25 for family up to $1,000 for charter life member or corporate donor. The associates opened a membership drive last week, Mrs. Rand said.

The museum has a collection of more than 160,000 artifacts, 25,000 prints and 30,000 color slides. It is in the Archives and History building at 109 E. Jones Street in Raleigh.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♡	2 ♠	2 ♡	5 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♡.

On a previous occasion we wrote of the use to which the Bols bridge tips could be put. At the recent invitation tournament held in Amsterdam, a Dutch international ist found that he would have profited by adopting the advice of at least one tipster.

The bidding might seem surprising. However, it can be explained by the fact that South's overcall showed a spade-club two-suiter. North judged that the two hands were likely to fit well, so he jumped to five clubs even though he held next to nothing in the way of high cards.

West led a low heart, and the play was soon over. East won the ace of hearts and put partner in with the ace of spades. West shifted to a diamond, but it was too late. Declarer won with his ace and ruffed a spade. A trump lead picked up the king and a second spade was ruffed. A heart ruff was followed by a trump to the queen, and another heart ruff felled the king. Since dummy's two hearts were now high, declarer could discard his losing diamond and claim the rest of the tricks.

Remember the sage advice of England's Jeremy Flint? He said that on occasion, it was right to lead the top card in the suit partner bid, so that you can try to hold the trick. This enables you to get a look at dummy and could permit you to make a killing shift.

With South having shown a two-suited hand and therefore being the player most likely to be short in hearts, this was the ideal time to put that advice to good work. Observe what would have happened had West led the king of hearts!

When this wins the trick, it becomes quite clear that another heart lead would be to declarer's advantage. The obvious shift is to a diamond, and that spells defeat. There is no quick entry to dummy. Declarer must play ace of clubs and another, for he cannot afford to concede a spade—the defenders will cash a diamond as soon as they get in. No matter how declarer twists, he cannot avoid losing three tricks. Try it.

Expecting more than four bridge guests? "Chicago Bridge" allows for extra players. For Charles Goren's "Chicago Bridge" rule book and score pad kit, send $1.50 in cash or checks, payable to NEWSPAPER BOOKS, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 259, Norwood, N.J. 07648.

Crime Prevention Officer For Farmville Proposed

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

FARMVILLE — Farmville Police Chief Marsdon Cannady Tuesday night presented the Commissioners with a proposal to hire a crime prevention officer, who would spend most of his time educating the public about the need for security measures to stop crime before it happens.

The salary of and equipment needed by this additional officer would largely be provided by a federal grant this year, he said, though it would be a descending grant, and would eventually be an expense of the town if the program is continued. No decision was made by the Board.

The Board approved the changeover to a high frequency radio paging system for alerting firemen and rescue workers. It was decided that the town would buy 10 units for the Rescue Squad, 10 for the Town Fire Department, and 10 for the Rural Fire Department, with the group's agreeing to buy an additional 10 for each of their respective groups. The town would provide the base unit. Commissioner Jack Farrior, who investigated the possibility of such a system, said this system will insure each firemen and rescuemen's hearing their calls and enable them to go directly to wherever they're needed instead of having to check with the station. He said The Fire Insurance Rating Bureau in Raleigh has assured him that use of this system would add points to the town's rating, thus decreasing fire insurance costs for all its citizens. Farmville already has the best rating for any town its size in the state, it was pointed out.

Commissioner Durwood Little's commendation of "the fine work" of the Farmville fire and rescue volunteer workers brought applause from the audience, made up mostly of firemen and rescuemen interested in the pager situation.

The Board authorized Farrior to investigate the possibility of purchasing land on the opposite side of the town's railroad tracks from the present fire station for an additional fire station. Increased train traffic has made the possibility of being prevented from reaching a fire with fire-fighting equipment more likely, it was pointed out.

The Rev. Bob Parvin, Chairman of the Mayor's Cleanup Committee, said that for this year's Bicentennial Cleanup Week, the town will be divided into 15 competing neighborhoods, each with a chairman. He said a gigantic garage-attic cleanout sale is being considered to kick off the week. He proposed that the town consider the use of bicentennial emblems [illegible] vehicles to bolster community spirit for this and other bicentennial activities this year.

The Town Administrator W. A. Martin was given the go-ahead to advertise for bids for a 40-horsepower tractor for the Street Department and a Lo-boy tractor for the Water and Light Department.

Water and Light Department Director J. A. Wooten Jr. said that the Federal Power Commission has disallowed a request for a 35 per cent increase for Carolina Power and Light. He said he does not know, at this time, what the percentage of increase will be, except that it should be less than 35 per cent.

The Board approved the extension of a 10-inch water line about 2,350 feet beyond Lewis's Store, at point to which the town has already planned to extend its water service. This extension will cost $15,846 Wooten said. Total cost of the water extension project is expected to be $94,609.83. It is thought the town will need a well in this area in the future.

Residents of the Butts Store area on the Fountain Highway last night petitioned for water service from the town. The matter will be considered, the Board indicated.

Changes in the method of fogging for insect control were discussed. Martin said there is a new product which can be used without the use of costly gas and oil mixed with it. Farrior questioned whether dispersal of insecticide by hired plane might be most effective. No decision was reached.

The closing of a ditch which carries town run-off water across property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lambert was discussed. Costs were cited, but no action was taken.

The Commissioners agreed to go along with an increase in the retirement benefits and costs to both the town and the town employees, if this action is carried out by the retirement fund organization to which the employees belong.

The Town Attorney was asked to draw up an ordinance against putting trash on the street. The trash must be left near the curb, but not obstructing either the street nor the sidewalk, they indicated, if the street department is to pick it up, and must be in containers or bound so as to be easily picked up. They also indicated that nothing longer than four feet or larger in diameter than six inches should be left to be picked up. Any limbs, stumps, or whatever larger should be cut up by the person leaving it, rather than by the town garbage collectors.

The dog ordinance took up considerable time, with the Commissioners trying to draft a ordinance that would keep people from offending their neighbors with their dog pens. A final form was never arrived at, but the attorney was asked to draft an ordinance that would not allow dogs or other domesticated animals to be kept in a small area that would be nearer than 20 feet from their neighbors' property line, except by written permission of the neighbor. It was also requested that each family be limited to the keeping of no more than two dogs, 12 weeks or older. This ordinance was not enacted.

Farrior made a plea for the removal of the leash law the town has had for two years, saying that it's a headache for the police to enforce and that he chose to bring up his children in Farmville because he thought it was a small enough place that dogs could run free.

Bill Garner of the Planning Board reported that the Board recommends that the speed limit on W. Wilson Street from Contentnea to Park Avenue be reduced from 25 to 20 miles per hour. (It is already 20 from Contentnea to Walnut.) The Board asked that all the speed limits in town be reconsidered, before the State Department of Transportation, which maintains Wilson Street, is petitioned to make this change.

Garner, a former Commissioner, also recommended that the mayor and Commissioner's salaries be doubled. No action was taken.

Procedures Discussed

WILLIAMSTON — Martin County Commissioners at their Monday meeting discussed procedures to be used in the county-wide communications system, particularly as it relates to fire departments. Currently, county fire departments are connected to the county-wide alarm system located in the sheriff's office.

Commissioners are working the committee system, which will have membership from town and county officials, and the fire, rescue and police departments of the county.

County Commission chairman John L. House revealed he has named from his area of the county Charlie Gurganus to represent the rescue squad division; Arvestus Long, chief of police in Robersonville and Robert Leggett, chief of police in Everetts as committee members from the police department. House said he was not sure who has been named by other commissioners to represent their respective sections of the county.

Another matter considered by the Martin County Commissioners at their regular monthly meeting was requests for office space resulting from the Martin County Board of Education vacating space in the Agriculture Building. House appointed a committee to study the various requests for space use.

Dead Fliers Said Drunk

STATESVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Two brothers who drowned Sunday when their small plane plunged into Lake Norman were too drunk to legally drive a car under North Carolina law, says an assistant state medical examiner.

Dr.Neil Hoffman reported Wednesday that Jerry Ross, 42, of Lincolnton, the pilot, and John Ross Jr., 49, of Gastonia, would have registered about .2l on the breathalyzer test for alcohol. A reading of .10 per cent alcohol in the blood is sufficient to convict an automobile driver.

Hoffman said the brothers' coordination and judgment were impaired at the time of the accident.

Witnesses said the plane had been flying low and buzzing boats just before it crashed.

Sheriff T. S. Thompson of Iredell County said he planned no further investigation.

LOADING SCENE . . . This was a typical scene at Radio Island near Morehead City last week as equipment and vehicles of the 20th Engineer Brigade were loaded on a U. S. Navy landing craft enroute to Guatemala. The military group will help repair the heavily damaged Atlantic highway between Guatemala City and the Atlantic port of Puerto Barrios.
