

Unemployment Dips For The 5th Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate edged down to 7.5 per cent of the work force in March, marking the fifth straight monthly decline and the longest sustained drop in 14 years, the government said today.

of its cautious economic policy. It also has been a boost to President Ford's election campaign.

Other economists, including Sidney L. Jones, assistant treasury secretary for economic affairs, say statistics can move rapidly for a period of time, then reach a plateau and "hang up for a while."

ALL IN YOUR POINT OF VIEW I would like to know why the people of Pitt County have to pay taxes to support the county hospital and yet we pay the same cost for hospital care that patients from out-of-county pay.

County Attorney W. W. Speight said you are right that county tax money was used to build the present hospital and is being used for the new one, to a large extent, though there are other sources such as the Duke Endowment and state money channeled here because of the medical school and the rehabilitation affiliations.

torney Tom Taft in guiding the United Fund to a record year in pledges and contributions totaling $233,432. Taft coordinated the drive as overall chairman.

In addition to Dansey, other officers elected for the coming year included: Taft, first vice president; J. Curtis Hendrix, (succeeding Hugh Bazemore who moved from Greenville) second vice president; Lester Z. Brown, secretary; W. B. Chalk, treasurer; John Farley, assistant treasurer; and James T. Cheatham, legal counsel.

New board members elected for 1976-77 included John S. Whichard, Don Parrott, A. T. Galya, John H. Bizzell, Dr. Dean Hayek, Reid Hooper and Tom Reese.

Fasler, recognizing Taft for his efforts as chairman, observed that the young storney "has done a marvelous job for the United Fund" and called him "an asset to Pitt County."

The outgoing president, noting that Taft undertook the job as chairman during a difficult solicitation period, commended him for surpassing the goal of $222,044 and presented him an engraved silver brandy snifter.

Taft recognized the various division chairmen of the recent campaign and presented engraved them plaques. Receiving plaques were: William T. Sneed, Industrial Division; Vick King, Advance Gifts; Jerry Powell, Special Gifts; Bill Duckett and Robert Donald Parrott, Goal Busters; Melvin Stanford, East Carolina University; and Tom Reese, "200" Plus.

Urges Work Order

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The president of a major trucking line has called on President Ford to send striking Teamsters back to work for an 80-day cooling off period by invoking the Taft-Hartley Act.

W.L. Nahrgang, president of Johnson Motor Lines, added, "We have 73 terminals in 21 states and there are pickets around all of them."

He called union wage demands "horrendous."

The strike started early Thursday after Teamster and management negotiators at Arlington Heights, Ill., failed to reach agreement on a three-year national master contract.

Eleven thousand truck and drivers and terminal workers in North Carolina and South Carolina joined fellow Teamsters in the nationwide strike, halting operations at most terminals.

"As far as our people and the employers with whom we have contracts are concerned, the strike is 100 per cent effective," said W.C. Barbee, president of Local 71 in Charlotte and the Carolinas Joint Council No. 9.

The mood on the picket lines was low-key. "Everybody's just standing around waiting," said C.E. Snuggs, 54, of Rockingham, N.C., a driver for Johnson Motor Lines for 24 years.

Trucking company officials in North Carolina reported the strike has been quiet and most operations have stopped. Carriers say North Carolina has home offices of more major trucking lines than any other state.

Among the trucking lines being picketed were Associated Transport, Roadway Express, McLean Trucking Co., Hemingway Transport and Ryder Truck Lines.

A spokesman for McLean, based in Winston-Salem, said Thursday that all but nine of the company's 119 terminals in 33 states were shut down, and the nine were only in partial operation.

Budget Committees Add To Deficit, Clash Ahead

Flaherty Is In The Race

By ROBERT B. CULLEN Associated Press Writer RALEIGH (AP)—Republican David Flaherty announced his candidacy for governor today and tried to put some distance between himself and the Holshouser administration he served in.

"I'm absolutely divorced from the Holshouser administration," he said. "The governor has told me he won't get involved in any candidacy. I'll be my own man."

Flaherty said he felt the administration had had some problems, and he said that he would not employ Holshouser's top political aide, L. Gene Anderson, if he is elected.

Flaherty said he was going to match his record in state government and business against that of any other candidate.

The former state secretary of human resources started his formal campaign with an apparent advantage in money and organization. He reported contributions of $12,000 in January and was the first Republican to open and staff a state campaign office.

Flaherty, 47, also has the support of the politically powerful Broyhill family, which employed him before he came to state government in 1973.

He moved to North Carolina in 1956 to work for Broyhill after growing up in Massachusetts. He rose to director of the furniture firm's plastics division.

Flaherty served two terms in the state Senate, starting in 1969. While there, he became friendly with James E. Holshouser, a GOP legislator from Boone. Holshouser was also an ally of the Broyhill family.

When Holshouser was elected governor in 1972, the first major appointments he made came from the ranks of Broyhill employees: Flaherty and Bruce Lentz, who has served as head of two state departments.

Flaherty's record in the legislature had indicated some interest in social services. One of his major concerns was an unsuccessful effort to establish a second state school for the deaf and blind in the western part of the state.

He also sponsored legislation to raise teachers' salaries to the national average; to protect farm property from suburban sprawl through lower property tax assessments; and to let insurance rates be set in a free market.

As overseer of the Department of Human Resources, Flaherty had control of the state's largest agency. His three-year record shows that, statistically at least, he was a typical administrator.

During his tenure, the department's expenditures rose from an actual $473 million in fiscal 1972-73 to $717 million authorized for the current year. The increase, 51.5 per cent, closely parallels the overall increase of about 50 per cent in total state spending for the period.

Employment in the department rose from 12,718 to 15,501 workers, with many of them involved in mental health programs.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A last-minute addition for job-creating programs boosts the proposed congressional budget target to more than $413 billion, which would mean a federal deficit of $50 billion next year and a clash this spring with President Ford over spending.

Ford is seeking a $395-billion spending lid for the 1977 fiscal year, which begins October 1, and a deficit of no more than $42.9 billion.

The House and Senate budget committees met in separate sessions Thursday and approved outlay and revenue targets which would increase both spending and the federal deficit.

Both panels also recommended against a Social Security tax hike and for the retention of the existing income tax cut.

The House panel set a $413.7-billion target, and approved an amendment opposed by all Republican members, adding $2.2 billion in anticipation that Congress will pass job-creating legislation to replace a bill Ford has vetoed.

Hours later, the Senate panel settled on a $413.1 billion budget which would mean a 1977 deficit of $50.7 billion, $100 million more than envisioned by the House panel.

The committee figures now go before the House and Senate. A compromise will have the full Congress agreeing on one figure. Floor action is expected by Easter.

Major increases over Ford's January recommendations included more than $6 billion in the category of education, employment and social services and $3 billion in income security.

Scattered Small Arms Fire In Beirut As New Cease-Fire Effected

By FAROUK NASSAR Associated Press Writer BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The 20th cease-fire in the 11-month-old Lebanese civil war took effect at noon today. Only scattered small-arms fire was reported in Beirut and nearby mountain resort towns that have been the scene of hard fighting in the past two weeks.

The truce was to last 10 days. A Syrian blueprint called for Christian President Suleiman Franjeh to resign during that period, opening the way for political reforms to increase the political and economic power of the country's Moslem majority.

Spokesmen for the warring leftist Moslems and right-wing Christians said their young street fighters were generally observing the cease-fire. They reported only minor violations.

Palestine guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat told all guerrilla groups to help enforce the standoff.

Franjeh sent no word that he would resign. But the Syrian government, which pressured leftist warlord Kamal Junblatt into accepting the cease-fire with a threat of military intervention, publicly guaranteed that the 65-year-old president would quit as soon as a new president was elected.

Franjeh was bombed out of the presidential palace east of Beirut by Junblatt's forces March 25. His temporary headquarters in the Christian port of Jounieh 12 miles north of Beirut would not say officially whether he would quit. But some aides said he would stay on even if a new president were elected.

The 99-member parliament was scheduled to meet Monday to adopt a constitutional amendment ending Franjeh's term immediately and permitting election of a new president. Another session was tentatively set for Thursday for the election.

Christians still have a 6-5 majority in parliament and presumably will choose another Christian president. But Junblatt reportedly has agreed to this despite his insistence that the religious basis to Lebanon's political system must be abolished, and majority — meaning Moslem — rule must prevail.

When the French freed Lebanon after World War II, the Christians were in the majority and a political system was adopted giving them the presidency and dominance in parliament, the civil service, the armed forces and ultimately the economy.

Now the Moslems are in the majority, and for 11 months they have been fighting for more power. Syria proposed after the last cease-fire in March a 50-50 division between the Moslems and Christians, but Junblatt seized the military initiative and has been demanding Moslem control as a prelude to conversion of the free-enterprise economy to socialism.

"We now want a quick transition from sectarianism to a modern secular system," Junblatt told reporters after agreeing to the new cease-fire, the 20th in the nearly year-long fighting that has taken an estimated 14,000 lives.

Police reported no fighting in Beirut for the second night but said there were sporadic clashes in the summer resorts in the hills overlooking the capital. Spokesmen said Junblatt's tough mountain warriors made repeated forays in attempts to win control of Kakhaleh, a strategic crossroads town seven miles east of Beirut.

Police spokesman said the Christians repulsed the attacks for the fourth day.

Women's Awareness Week Planned Ologge-Allred Vows Spoken

Panel discussions, speakers forums and art and photography exhibitions are among activities planned at East Carolina University for its annual campus "Women's Awareness Week," April 4-10.

The observance officially begins with a Community Awareness Fair Sunday, April 4, at 2 p.m. in Mendenhall Student Center. Several women's organizations in the ECU area will host students at special display booths and provide information about their goals and opportunities for members.

Among exhibiting organizations are the Association of Insurance Women, the Business and Professional Women's Club, the League of Women Voters, the National Organization for Women, Police Women and the Women's Political Caucus.

"Health Concerns for Women" is the topic of a Monday evening forum in the Student Center. The forum will begin at 7 p.m. and will feature the following speakers:

"Pregnancy and Abortion," Lona Ratcliffe of the ECU nursing faculty; "Cancer of the Uterus, Cervix and Breast," Sue Pennington of ECU nursing faculty; and "Venereal Disease," Dr. Dan Jordan of the ECU infirmary staff.

On Tuesday, many ECU departments will sponsor special programs on women. Among them are "Careers in Chemistry for Women," with DuPont chemist Chris Glover, at 1 p.m. in 201 Flanagan Building, and programs offered by the business education and sociology and anthropology departments.

A program on women in adult education will be offered by ECU's Office of Adult Education Wednesday, April 7, at 7 p.m. in 129 Speight Building.

Also scheduled for Wednesday is a panel discussion, "Title IX Affects You," at 7 p.m. in 244 Mendenhall Student Center. Among the panelists are ECU staff members and Lynn Heather Mack, executive director of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students.

A recognition program and reception for outstanding women students will be held Thursday, April 8, at 7 p.m. in the Student Center. Among the honorees are women nominated by their academic departments, and ECU's "Who's Who" nominees and marshals.

Winners of an essay contest sponsored by the Eastern Carolina Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) will be announced and will be given awards totaling $50.

Dr. Sandra Thomas, vice president of student affairs at Meredith College, will speak on "Beyond the Bicentennial."

Three special exhibits will be on display throughout Women's Awareness Week. They include a women's art show in the Student Center Gallery, featuring art work by ECU School of Art faculty; a selection of photographs during the past 80 years in the lobby of the campus library; and displays on career opportunities in physical education, business, aerospace and sociology and anthropology in the Mendenhall Multi-Purpose Room.

ECU's women's residence-halls will also sponsor individual activities throughout the week.

Wife Needs Advice About Marriage

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you in desperation. After six years of marriage my husband just walked off and left me. I feel like my whole world is falling apart.

One day three months ago I came home and discovered that he had moved out, lock, stock and barrel. I nearly went out of my mind.

Two weeks later he called to say that he was living out of town and was involved with another woman, but that he didn't want a divorce.

He comes in town once a week to see me. We go out together and he supports me. (He's a musician.) He says he still loves me but he doesn't want to live with me or stop seeing me.

Abby, I don't want a once-a-week husband, but I don't want to lose him. My friends tell me that I'm a fool and that as long as I give him his freedom to come and go, he'll never come back to me permanently.

Should I give him an ultimatum? I still love him. Please tell me what to do.

OUT OF MY MIND

DEAR OUT: Do nothing in haste. The worst mistake a woman can make is to give her husband an ultimatum if she isn't ready to accept the consequences. If you still love him, hang in there, and in time you will know what to do.

DEAR ABBY: My boss thinks he's perfect. I've worked for him for 11 years and he always automatically corrected his mistakes without calling them to his attention.

Lately, whenever I make a mistake and he catches it, he will call my attention to it with scorn and derision. I dislike this. After all, if I did my work exactly as he instructed me, there would be literally 20 times the mistakes.

Would you advise me to point out all of his mistakes so that he would realize how many he makes?

SECRETARY

DEAR SEC: No. Continue to correct his mistakes automatically and without comment—that's what you're being paid to do. However, do let him know that you resent the "scorn and derision."

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I both smoke. We have smoked for years and realize that we have set a bad example for our daughter, 14, but we can't quit now. We know for a fact that our daughter smokes, but we refuse to give her permission to smoke in our home.

To compound our problem, my mother-in-law (who also smokes) agrees with the child. She claims that we are wrong in making a "sneak" out of the child. She insists that we allow our daughter to smoke in front of us and has even given her cigarettes.

I disagree and am appalled by my mother-in-law's attitude. Is there a solution?

WITHHOLD OUR NAMES

DEAR WITHHOLD: Your mother-in-law would have made a perfect serpent in the garden of Eden. The obvious solution to your problem is for you and your wife to quit smoking. And for goodness' sake, as long as your daughter is a minor and you have anything to say about it, do not give her permission to smoke in your home—or out of it!

Sen. Sebo To Speak Here On April 9

N.C. State Senator Katherine Hagen Sebo will be guest speaker at a dinner meeting jointly sponsored by the East Carolina University chapter of the American Association of University Professors and the ECU Faculty Senate Friday, April 9, at 6:30 p.m. at the Riverside Restaurant here.

Sen. Sebo, now on leave from Guilford College where she is an assistant professor of political science, holds a PhD degree from American University's School of International Service.

She is also AAUP State Chairman of Committee "A" on Academic Freedom and Tenure; a national and state board member for the American Civil Liberties Union; and a member of the Women's Political Caucus, the Women's Equity Action League, the League of Women Voters, and the Altrusa Club.

A former member of the Greensboro Mayor's Committee on the Status of Women, Sen. Sebo was selected her community's YMCA Woman of the year in 1975.

Sen. Sebo was reared in South India, the daughter of missionaries, and received the BA degree in government from Oberlin College. Before joining the Guilford College faculty, she

Cooking Is Fun

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Once in a while a cook creates a marvelous new recipe, but it has a short life. Somehow it doesn't make the mainstream of cookbookdom. That's what happened to a recipe for Banana Fudge; to the best of our knowledge it was developed in the '30s or '40s, but hasn't been widely heard of since. Now another cook has come up with another version, this creamier than the original formula, and we're happy to pass it along.

From the point of economy alone, this candy is worth making; at current New York City prices, it costs only about $1.65 for three pounds and can double for a good many desserts.

NEW BANANA FUDGE

3½ cups sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup (8-ounce container) light cream
¼ cup butter or margarine
3 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 cup mashed ripe banana (3 medium)
1 tablespoon vanilla
½ cup chopped (medium-fine) walnuts

Into a heavy 2½-quart saucepan turn the sugar, salt, cream, butter, corn syrup and banana. Over moderate heat, stirring constantly, bring to a boil; over low heat continue boiling, still stirring constantly, until mixture reaches 238 degrees on a candy thermometer or a half-teaspoon of it, dropped into a cup of very cold water, forms a soft ball when it is removed to the

New Jersey Off-Shore Oil Prospects Hopeful

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—After making a favorable report on the prospects of oil under the Atlantic Ocean off New Jersey, a research vessel is poised to check the ocean bottom off North Florida.

Roy Davis, chief of the expedition aboard the Campeche Seal which arrived here Thursday, said the team just finished checking 3,000 square miles off New Jersey near Atlantic City.

"That area will be up for bid for the oil companies, I think in May," said Davis of Teledyne Exploration Co. of Houston, Tex. "The prospects look good there."

He said that previous explorations in the Gulf of Mexico turned out to be failures.

The Campeche Seal, owned by Seal Craft Operators of Galveston, Tex., is a seismographic research vessel which drags two and a quarter miles of cable containing special sensors and four air guns which fire every 15 seconds, Davis said.

The sound, bouncing off the ocean floor to the sensors, indicates likely places for oil deposits. Data recorded from the sensors is analyzed at Teledyne's headquarters and used as a guide on whether to drill test wells, Davis said.

He said six or seven major oil companies will buy the data, but refused to identify the oil firms backing the preliminary search.

The Campeche Seal will cover about 3,000 square miles off North Florida in the next two months of explorations, he said.

Promising formations, such as salt domes or faults in the ocean floor may indicate trapped oil deposits, Davis said. "but you can't prove it until you drill."

"I know that there has been a lot of research work in Savannah, but I don't think anyone has done too much off the coast of Jacksonville," Davis said. "The oil companies think this is a good geological place to look."

Sixteen-Year-Old Drivers Less Safe

RALEIGH (AP)—Sixteen-year-old school bus drivers have more accidents than adult drivers, though student drivers in the 17 to 19 age group have records equal to adults, the state Board of Education was told Thursday.

Dr. Patricia Waller of the University of North Carolina Highway Safety Research Center said a study of statistics shows that if 16 year-old drivers are included, student bus drivers have a poorer, safety record than adults. But, when considering only drivers in the 17 to 19 age group, they are as safe as adult drivers, she said.

A lack of experience by 16-year-old drivers is probably the reason for that group's higher accident rate, she said. The researcher suggested that drivers no younger than 17 with a year's experience be hired in the future.

While 16-year-old drivers tended to have more accidents, she said their accidents were no more severe than those of older drivers. The study was based on 1971-72 statistics.

Some 14 per cent of the state's school bus drivers are 16 and about 85 per cent of the drivers are students, she said. Also, of the 1,548 accidents involving school buses last year, the bus drivers were charged with violations in only 412 cases, she said.

Sonnenfeldt Has Congress Fuming

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Facing his toughest Republican critics across the breakfast table last week, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger tried — but failed — to deflect their wrath by attributing the Sonnenfeldt doctrine to sloppy State Department notetakers without actually repudiating it.

Members of the Study Committee, a group of conservative Republican Congressmen, were up in arms over a secret briefing in London last December by State Department counselor Helmut Sonnenfeldt. We reported last week that Sonnenfeldt had told U.S. ambassadors to European nations that the U.S. should strive for a permanent "organic" relationship between the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe to avoid World War III. Breakfasting with the Study Committee three days later, Dr. Kissinger suggested our column was based on inaccurate State Department cables. Trying to keep up with the Secretary of State's smoothly flowing prose, some present even thought he had totally rejected the substance of the Sonnenfeldt doctrine. In fact, he had not.

"Henry's answer did not satisfy me or, I suppose, any of the others," one Study Committee member, a strong supporter of President Ford, told us. Therefore, the ruckus over the Sonnenfeldt doctrine will continue until it is unequivocally repudiated by Kissinger or the President himself.

The breakfast meeting, sought for nearly two years by conservative Congressmen seeking a first-hand grilling of Kissinger, immediately turned to the Sonnenfeldt doctrine. Rep. Edward J. Derwinski of Illinois, one of Mr. Ford's most important conservative backers and a national leader in the Polish-American community, suggested the Sonnenfeldt doctrine is "the straw that broke the camel's back" following U.S. acquiescence at Helsinki in Soviet control over the Baltic states.

Derwinski reflected rising anger among ethnic nationality groups that could affect not only Mr. Ford's contest with Ronald Reagan for the Republican presidential nomination but the November general election as well. Accordingly, Derwinski told Kissinger, the Sonnenfeldt doctrine must be disposed of as quickly as possible.

In reply, Kissinger said he had not read the State Department cable reporting Sonnenfeldt's briefing and did not know what it contained until he read our column (though, in fact, he

Army Cuts Aired

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

The Army completed this year's military base cutback announcements Thursday by listing 29 forts and other installations to be closed or reduced in a cost-cutting move. A total of 4,500 civilian jobs are likely to be erased while another 13,218 service personnel and civilian employees probably will be transferred, with budget savings estimated at $42 million a year or more.

Army Secretary Martin R. Hoffman told a briefing that about 1,400 of the military men involved will be shifted to combat units from support jobs. This would equal about two additional mechanized infantry battalions.

Hoffmann said that, as a result of cutbacks which started years ago, the Army now has the same number of soldiers in the continental United States as in 1960, but they are stationed at 40 per cent fewer bases than 16 years ago.

In a departure from past practice, the Pentagon has been spacing out its base reduction announcements, apparently in hopes of softening the political impact.

The Navy and Air Force disclosed their base cutback plans last month in separate announcements.

With the new Army list, the 1976 total of bases to be shut down, reduced in scope or consolidated stands at 160, with 22,000 jobs to be eliminated. The Pentagon claims all this will yield annual savings of about $248 million.

Sixteen of the 29 bases or forts would be closed. They include: Ft. Hamilton and Ft. Totten, N.Y.; Ft. MacArthur, Los Angeles; Ft. Buchanan, Puerto Rico; the Savannah Army Depot, Ill.; the Jefferson Proving Ground, Ind.; Arlington Hall Station, Va.; Vint Hill Farms Research Station, Va.; and family housing at Schilling Manor, Kan., and seven district recruiting headquarters.

The most heavily affected base is Ft. Devens, Mass., which would lose 4,372 military personnel and 846 civilian jobs with the planned transfer of the Army Security Agency Training Center, a special forces group, an engineer battalion and other troop units elsewhere. Ft. Devens would be left only with a reserve training mission.

Next hardest hit would be the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., which would lose 1,578 military and 741 civilian positions with the shift of an ordnance school to Redstone Arsenal, Ala., and relocation of some other activities to Ft. Eustis, Va.

Strength For Today

GOD REMAINS

Sorrow is one of the most common of human experiences, and how to rise above it is something which people of even the most outstanding qualities sometimes do not learn. As we stand in the midst of loss, it is difficult for us to remind ourselves that anything of value is left in life. It seems as if everything has been swept away. Our friends may try to solace us with pious commonplaces. We are told that it might have been worse, or that it is all for the best, or that it must be en-

Still 26 Ordeals Ahead

Some appreciation of the deadly wearisome game posed by presidential primaries can be further appreciated by remembering the ordeal of the past six, and looking ahead to the 26 to come. That's right, 26 still lie ahead.

Two of those future contests are for Democrats only; but that's small consolation for either side. The last stop is California (June 8), the state which offers the richest harvest of delegates for campaigners who are still in the running by that date.

The drumfire barrage of political sounds on the public ear during the drawn-out campaign conceivably could bring about a self-induced blindness and deafness to all that the campaigners say and do. That is not good.

It is further depressing to reflect that in the political process the primaries represent only the opening round. The major and critical firming of alliances and gathering of delegates will come after the primaries are over.

True, the system winnows out the weak and unfit for what is regarded as the most demanding and difficult job in the world. The survivor is entitled to something better than that.

Last year there was a burst of talk that several southeastern states might unite to hold a combined preferential primary. It was a good idea, except that it didn't get off the ground.

More recently a proposal was made that a national primary was in order. The response was a deafening silence.

The Daily Reflector has suggested North Carolina would be well advised to drop the presidential primary. That proposal stands; and is reinforced in our eyes by experience and anticipation of what is yet to come.

Must End Erosion Of Service

Despite the fact that there were lines at the postal windows on Saturday, this service is going the way of others on April 3.

That day the windows will be closed and patrons will have to rely on the coin operated machines for their needs.

It is regrettable when a postal service that was used and obviously needed is discontinued. Somehow we are going to have to find a way to stop the erosion of postal services.

Not Only The Press Needs To Retain Right-To-Know

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — North Carolinians carried a fight for freedom to top levels of the Washington Bureaucracy and won a reversal of federal regulations which would have sharply restricted the rights of the public to know about possible criminal records of individuals.

Led by Gov. James E. Holshouser, Jr., the North Carolina effort marshalled the forces of the state Broadcasters' Association, Bar Association, and Press Association in opposition to regulations which, once effective, would have had the weight of law.

But the issue of free access to criminal records by the public goes far beyond the importance of that matter to the press alone, keen though press interest is.

No Information

Those new federal regulations published by the U.S. Justice Department said essentially that the only access to criminal justice information from courts or police sources would be in current cases, and even then the information could be gained only if the asker knew the date of the court action.

Thus, rather than being able to inquire about a specific person and get a complete rundown of any previous brushes with the law as is now the case, the information would have been available only in a limited manner, with the asker needing to know the answers before being able to get them verified.

There are numerous cases in which people need to know a person's possible criminal background: A bank guard or night watchman should be trustworthy; a person handling the funds for a business or charity drive should be honest; a candidate for political office should have his record inspected so voters can judge; a person hired to work with young people should be clean of previous offenses.

The governor labels his work in overturning the federal regulations a major accomplishment of his term in office.

Oddly, no other state governors or national press leaders foresaw the problems envisioned by this state's leadership.

Like so many federal directives which have significant effect on the daily lives of citizens, the regulations were contained in bulky, technical papers.

"They were just another set of regulations which came down to an agency which was told to prepare a plan following them," explains Sam Long, the governor's legal aide.

Too Late

"Often, by the time you realize there are important problems, it's too late to do anything about it. The regulations have taken effect, and the plans are drawn."

In this case, though, top officials got concerned, carried their questions to Deputy Attorney General Harold Tyler, and found that he was astonished to see what his own agency was proposing.

Tyler arranged public hearings in Washington. North Carolina was the only state represented; the others either being unaware or unconcerned, Long says. Officials of major communications corporations were represented, to protest that their employees often worked on security lines and needed to be checked. Otherwise, there was little obvious interest from elsewhere.

Justice Department people say the involvement of Gov. Holshouser was critical in overturning the proposed regulations.

Long sees the victory as an example of what an aroused people can do from time to

Why You'll Never See The Commercial On TV

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON—The most popular type of commercial on television these days is a man coming up to a typical housewife in a supermarket or laundromat and asking her to try two products—one which his company is selling and one manufactured by a rival company. Invariably the skeptical housewife chooses the product being advertised.

It may have gone through some viewers' minds that there must be cases where the housewife preferred the rival's product over the one the man is pushing. But we never see these on TV.

I wonder what the television commercial people would do if something like this happened:

The scene is a laundromat. A TV crew comes in, sets up its cameras and lights. A good-looking announcer, his hand holding a microphone, stops the first lady who comes in. "I beg your pardon, ma'am. What is your name?"

"Janet Diamond, and I'm a housewife and I have three children who just can't seem to stay out of the dirt."

"And what kind of soap do you use, Mrs. Diamond?"

"Bofo. I've been using it for years."
"Well, we're going to try a little experiment today, Mrs. Diamond. Are you game?"
"Sure."
"We're going to take half your laundry and wash it with Bofo. And we're going to take the other half and wash it with the all-new powerful White Thunder, made especially for getting dirt out of children's clothes."

"All right."
"First we're going to blindfold you, Mrs. Diamond, to make sure this is a completely honest test. There we are. You can't see, can you?"
"Nope."

"Good, now here is a box. Put a cup in the machine. That's fine. Now come here. Put this cup into this machine. I've divided your laundry in half. We push the button and now we wait."

"All right, Mrs. Diamond, take off your blindfold. Look at these two batches of clothes. Which one is brighter, lighter and whiter?"

"This one."
The announcer gulps. "Please take another look, Mrs. Diamond. Which pile of clothes has none of those dirty leftover stains that make washing such a chore?"

"This pile here. The clothes really do seem whiter."
"CUT!" the director yells. "What the hell is going on?"
The announcer says, "She keeps saying the pile of clothes washed with Bofo is cleaner than the one washed with White Thunder."
"Are you crazy or something?" the director

40 Years Ago Today

April 2, 1936

The Mercer County, N.J. grand jury is so deeply into an investigation of the Lindbergh baby murder that it may bring another stay of execution for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, who is scheduled to die tomorrow night.

The grand jury heard Governor Harold G. Hoffman and Attorney General of New Jersey David Wilentz today. It appeared likely the jury would carry its inquiry into tomorrow.

There were unconfirmed rumors that Dr. John F. Cundon, the intermediary "Jasie" in the case, would also be called before the jury.

Argentina Quietly Accepts Junta Rule

By WILLIAM R. LONG
Associated Press Writer
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, (AP) — Argentina has shrugged aside its Peronist past and settled with resignation into life under a new military regime.

There has been no outpouring of public resistance or protest since the armed forces overthrew President Isabel Peron on March 24 and put her under detention.

The powerful Peronist labor movement, established in the late 1940s by Juan D. Peron, Isabel's late husband, has taken the coup in stride, not reacting even when the military government suspended the right to strike and detained many union leaders.

Politicians of all persuasions calmly cleaned out their desks in Congress when the junta shut it down in one of its first decrees.

The three-man junta appointed one of its members, army commander Jorge Videla, 50, as president. In his first speech after taking office, he indicated that the junta considers its primary tasks to be controlling political violence and repairing the crippled economy.

During Mrs. Peron's 21-month administration, more than 1,700 persons were killed by rightist and leftist terrorists and security forces battling the leftists. The armed forces pressed for emergency power to fight the violence, but the proposals languished in Congress.

Since the coup, the junta has issued decrees establishing "special war councils" to try cases of subversion — the junta's term for political terrorism — and providing the death penalty for some terrorist acts.

Security forces reported killing more than a dozen leftist guerrillas in stepped-up operations during the first days after the coup. The campaign includes road checkpoints, raids on buildings suspected of being subversive centers and an undisclosed number of arrests, but the population at large has not been affected.

Life for the vast majority of Argentina's 25 million people has gone on as usual since the coup. There is no curfew, and the streets are mostly free of military personnel during the day.

Analysts say that the military leaders are being careful to avoid repression and violation of rights so as not to provoke adverse international reaction. "They are very aware of the Chilean experience," said one source, referring to international concern about human rights under Chile's military government.

Qualified analysts say Videla prefers more moderate methods than some other generals, including the army's regional commanders in Buenos Aires and Cordoba. They say Videla wants to avoid the right-wing dictatorship image of some other South American military regimes.

Although the junta suspended activities of all political parties and banned five far-left Marxist groups, the Soviet-oriented Communist party was not outlawed.

Deny Lockheed Attorney To Rides 'Hidden'

ATLANTA (AP) — Georgia officials say there was nothing unusual or hidden about a 1972 trip that presidential aspirant Jimmy Carter made as governor on a Lockheed-Georgia plane with the company paying his way.

"It was the kind of thing we frequently do to save the state money if we find someone like that is flying someplace," said Ed Spivia, spokesman for the state Bureau of Industry and Trade.

Coca-Cola officials say Carter, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, also rode on that company's jets to several governors conferences. A Carter spokesman said the trips on Coca-Cola planes were all on state business.

Both Lockheed and Coca-Cola have major installations in the Atlanta area. Lee Rogers, a public relations executive with Lockheed-Georgia, said the state's industry-seeking department planned the South America trip for Carter, who was interested in encouraging the opening of consulates in Atlanta to boost foreign trade and investments.

"He was seeking Georgia business and we were seeking to sell planes," said Rogers, who added that it would have been illegal for Carter to pay for the flight. "On a demonstration plane we cannot charge passengers," Rogers said. "We're not in the airline business."

The Lockheed trip was planned "well before the governor planned to go," he said. Duane Riner, press secretary to Gov. George Busbee and once an aide of Gov. Carter's, said Carter conducted a news conference at Lockheed's landing strip at the end of the trip. "There were certainly no attempts to hide the fact that he was on a Lockheed plane," Riner said.

Carter campaign spokesman Rex Granum agreed the trip was well-publicized—"not your midnight sneak-away-to-South America kind of trip." Granum said Carter made the May 1972 trip "to promote Georgia goods, and one of the goods he was promoting was Lockheed as well as other Georgia industry."

Revival Series Begins Sunday

Revival services will be held at the First Pentecostal Holiness Church beginning Sunday night and continuing through Friday. The evangelist will be the Rev. Raymond Potter, pastor of the Oak Street Pentecostal Holiness Church, Goldsboro. He is also secretary of the North Carolina Conference of The Pentecostal Holiness Church and director of missions.

The church is located on Brinkley Road at Plaza Drive. Services will begin at 7:30 p.m.

"Every once in a while, something happens to make the struggle worthwhile. You beat your head against the wall day after day...but this proves that you can win," Long believes.

Attorney To Be Speaker

Francis Patton of Leesburg, Va., an attorney at law, who has specialized in income tax, will be the featured speaker at the Greenville Chapter dinner-meeting of the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International Monday, April 5, at 7 p.m. in the American Legion Building.

The attorney's visit to Greenville is sponsored by a group of businessmen, members of the FGBMFI Chapter. The dinner-meeting is open to women and men and all interested persons in the community.

Patton will be introduced by Jim Brownell. A singing program led by the Rev. Wayne West and Mrs. West of Williamston will begin about 7:45 p.m.

Patton was awarded his AB degree from Washington & Lee University in 1934. He studied law for one year and was then awarded his law degree, having satisfactorily completed the state bar examination.

From 1942 to 1945, he was a special federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Agent in Washington, D. C. He was a professor of law for three years at the International School of Law in Washington.

Mrs. Patton will accompany her husband to Greenville.

New Bern Elder To Lead Service

Elder Willie Cerant of New Bern will render a service at the Pray House Holiness Church Sunday at 4:30 p.m.

He will be accompanied by her choir and congregation. The church is located at 1811 S. Pitt St. and the local pastor is Elder M. C. Cousin.

The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Diamond is about to cry. "But you wanted me to tell the truth."

"Who said we wanted you to tell the truth? We wanted you to say White Thunder made your clothes whiter." "Then why did you blindfold me? Why didn't you just tell me which pile to say was whiter?"

"Because we wanted the test to look honest, stupid!" the director yells.

"Don't call me stupid. And I want 50 cents from you so I can wash this White Thunder pile of clothes over again. Look at the stains still left on them."

The director holds his head in his hands. "I'm going to cut my wrists."

Mrs. Diamond holds her hand out. "Fifty cents, please."

The director hands her 50 cents and yells to his crew. "Pack it up. We're getting out of this madhouse."

As they're leaving Mrs. Diamond says, "When will this be shown on television? I have to call my mother and tell her to be sure and watch."

The director replies, "The night Daniel Schorr replaces Walter Cronkite as anchorman on the CBS News."

Budweiser Supply Said Dwindling Due Strike

By PAUL STEVENS Associated Press Writer ST. LOUIS (AP) — Until he ran out, a tavern owner in St. Louis limited his supply of Budweiser, Busch and Michelob beers to his best customers.

A Detroit distributor of the Anheuser-Busch, Inc., products plans to halt operations today for the first time in 15 years.

And when striking beer bottlers in St. Louis sent men to taverns and stores to discourage customers from buying the Anheuser-Busch beers, they couldn't find any establishments with supplies on hand.

The month-long nationwide strike by about 8,000 Teamsters beer bottlers at the nine breweries operated by Anheuser-Busch has begun to take its toll on the beer drinking public.

The company, which claims to be the world's largest brewmaster, has reopened its breweries with salaried management personnel, but it won't say how much beer they are producing and shipping. There are indications it is down substantially.

Most tavern owners and suppliers who did not stock up when the bottlers, members of the Teamsters International Conference of Brewery and Soft Drink Workers, went on strike March 1 have drained their supply and switched to competing brands. And those who did build inventories may soon face the same situation.

In St. Louis, home of Anheuser-Busch's largest brewery and one of its largest beer outlets, the flow of beer has virtually halted.

The union bottlers have called for a nationwide boycott against Anheuser-Busch products.

Work rules and grievance procedures are at issue at seven of the nine breweries, while in St. Louis and Newark, N.J., money is the prime issue.

Several of the bottlers' union locals rejected pay increases of $2.25 over three years before the strike began. The company said bottlers now average $6.71

Radio Marathon For Strickland

A radio marathon will be broadcast from Tom Strickland tonight from 8 to 12 p.m. on WNCT, WEQR, WGDR, WGTN and several other Eastern North Carolina radio stations.

The marathon will be a four-hour pre-taped program of questions and answers with gubernatorial candidate Tom Strickland.

The war of 1812 was costly but inspired national unity, gave recognition to men of the western border and made Andrew Jackson a political power.

Ford To Wisconsin; Demos Are There And In New York

By The Associated Press
President Ford took his campaign for a full term in the White House to Wisconsin today while Democrats battling for their party's presidential nomination sought votes there and in New York.

First on Ford's agenda for today was a news conference in Milwaukee, followed by a trip to West Bend. He planned stops Saturday in Fond du Lac and Green Bay — all in search of urban, ethnic and farm votes in Tuesday's balloting.

Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, Washington Sen. Henry M. Jackson and Arizona Rep. Morris K. Udall, contestants in the Democratic race, were on a single stage in New York City on Thursday. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., unannounced as a candidate but willing to accept a draft, was there, too.

Humphrey drew frequent and loud applause as he called for a new Marshall Plan to rebuild the cities. The Marshall Plan was devised after World War II to reconstruct Europe.

The New York primary is also next Tuesday. By evening, Carter and Jackson were in Buffalo and Udall was headed for Wisconsin. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has been in Wisconsin for several days and planned to stay there through the weekend.

The primaries in Wisconsin and New York are the first since Ford was upset by Ronald Reagan in North Carolina on March 23.

Reagan, the former California governor, is listed on the GOP ballot in Wisconsin, but he called off all campaign appearances in the state this week to concentrate on a national television speech Wednesday night. In the speech, he assailed Ford's administration, particularly of foreign policy.

Discussion at Thursday morning's forum in New York City, sponsored by the National Conference of Democratic Mayors, was on urban issues.

Jackson and Udall, as they have before, called for a federal takeover of all welfare costs, while Carter said he was against the idea.

The former Georgia governor said such a takeover would add $15 billion to $20 billion to the budget without improving benefits. The states should carry the welfare burden, he said, not local governments.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has said it does not know exactly how much it would cost for the federal government to assume all welfare costs.

Neither Jackson nor Udall said specifically how they would pay for such a program, although Jackson has said he would finance his social programs through full employment, which he has said would raise the government's income tax revenues.

Wallace, in an interview in Rhinelander, Wis., said the United States is more dependent on foreign energy sources than it was during the oil embargo of 1973-74. He called for Congress to enact a national energy conservation plan.

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, the most recent entrant in the Democratic race, said he will ask the three television networks to sell him a half-hour for a live address.

In Neenah, Wis., former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird accused Reagan of making a phony attack on America's military might in his nationally televised address.

Fellowship Will Meet Sunday

The Greenville Unitarian Fellowship will meet Sunday, April 4 at noon in the First Federal Savings and Loan Building on Greenville Boulevard. The meeting will begin with a potluck luncheon and fellowship hour, followed by a short business meeting for election of officers, and a discussion.

Each family is asked to bring one covered dish and eating utensils. The speaker for the meeting will be Helen Parks who will discuss "The Creative Encounter" as presented by Dr. Rollo May and others. Anyone interested in Unitarianism is invited to attend.

Student Spoke To State Board

Martha Bennett, a student at Farmville Central High School and vice president of the N.D. Distributive Education Clubs of America, addressed the State Board of Education this week during a public hearing on the state plan of education.

The purpose of the meeting, held at Crabtree Valley in Raleigh, was to present ideas for the board to consider before making its final draft of the state plan.

Miss Bennett was asked by the state Distributive Education Department to promote the expansion of opportunities that occupational youth organizations offer students.

Schubert Mass To Be Sung By Choir

A major musical work performed by the Chancel Choir of Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church, featuring Mrs. William E. Tripp Jr., and Miss Cathy Wilson, sopranos; Dr. Ed Clement, bass; and Stuart Aronson, tenor, will be presented Sunday at 11 a.m. in the sanctuary of Jarvis Methodist Church.

The major work is Franz Schubert's "Mass in G," which conveys in its content the message of the Lenten and Easter seasons. It dramatizes through its expressive melodic lines and romantic harmonies Christ's suffering and final victory during this Passion season.

The performance will be conducted by Dr. David Foster, director of music of Jarvis Methodist Church. It is free and open to the public.

In addition to the leading soloists, members of the choir for the Mass are Robert Barnes,

Honor Society Names Officers

New officers for 1976-77 have been elected by the East Carolina University chapter of Sigma Xi honor society in scientific research.

They are: Dr. Grover Everett of the Department of Chemistry, president; Dr. Tullio J. Pignani of the Department of Mathematics, president-elect; Dr. Susan J. McDaniel, assistant provost, secretary; and Dr. Joseph G. Boyette, dean of the Graduate School, treasurer.

Chosen to comprise the chapter's Committee on Admissions are Drs. Hubert Burden and the Sam Pennington of the School of Medicine, Dr. Jean Lowry of the Department of Geology, and Drs. Edward Ryan and Everett Simpson, Department of Biology.

Speaker At Revival Here

Dr. Elmer S. West Jr. will lead revival services at Oakmont Baptist Church here Sunday through Wednesday.

DR. E.S. WEST, JR.

Dr. West is now pastor of Ginter Park Baptist Church in Richmond, Va. He has been director of program development for the Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention and Secretary for Missionary Personnel for the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board. He has held pastorates in North Carolina and Virginia. A Mays Lick, Ky. native, he is a graduate of the University of Richmond and Colgate Theological Seminary and has done graduate work at the University of Chicago. He and his wife, a New Orleans native, have four children.

The revival services will begin each evening at 7:45 p.m., with the Sunday morning service at 11 o'clock. The public is invited.

SINGING PROGRAM

A gospel program will be held Sunday at 7 p.m. at the New Life Holiness Church in Simpson. The Golden Notes of New Bern and the Mighty Bell of Williamston will perform.

REDDRICK TO SPEAK
Raymond Reddrick, principal of G.R. Whitfield School will be the guest speaker at the 15th annual Men's Day service at Phillippi Missionary Baptist Church Sunday at 11 a.m. The public is invited.

Gospel Sing On Saturday Night

GRIMESLAND—A gospel sing will be held Saturday night at 7:30 at the Grimesland Free Will Baptist Church.

The featured singers will be the Temples Quartet. The pastor, Rev. Gordon Hart, and the church members invite the public to attend.

Appreciation Day Scheduled

Pastor Appreciation Day will be held Sunday at Grindle Creek Church of God.

The morning service will be presented by the official board of the church and appreciation will be shown to the Rev. James B. Morris for his dedication and leadership of the church as pastor.

The members and friends of the church will then honor the Rev. Morris and his family at a banquet at a local restaurant.

The Rev. Morris became pastor of the church in September, 1974. Plans are being made in the near future to extend the church facilities by the building of a new sanctuary. A parsonage was given to the church by the Rev. Morris' wife.

The Rev. Morris has held pastorates in Nebraska, North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland and Ohio.

EVENING SERVICE
Services will be held at Sweet Hope F.W.B. Church Sunday night at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Jasper Tyson and the Poplar Hill F.W.B. Church will conduct the services.

The Gospel Chargers

Will be the featured singers at Grace Baptist Church
Saturday Night At 7:30 P.M.

Several other groups will be participating.
Located on Highway 11 By-Pass, between Winterville and Ayden. Rev. Robert A. Joyner invites everyone to attend.

AMBITION and ENERGY

Ambition is strong in some people. They have the unique ability to define their goals in life and they are able to channel their skills and energy in order to realize these ambitions.

Of course, each of us has our own individual goals — all different in proportion and nature. And, each requires a different amount of energy to be realized. If we fail, we should exert more energy! For this ability to keep trying — in the face of great odds... can lead eventually to success.

To one degree or another then, all of us are constantly using up our individual energy supplies. To tackle the fresh challenges and problems of each tomorrow, we need a dependable source of unfailing power. Such continuous power is always available to you within the supporting bonds of the Church.

Last N.Y. Demo Nat'l Convention Was Disaster

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats last held their national nominating convention in New York City 52 years ago with high hopes of winning the White House. But they suffered a staggering defeat and went into eclipse for eight years.

The delegates to that record-setting convention came to detest New York, and the city returned the feeling.

"As the exhausted and frustrated delegates fled the old Madison Square Garden in early July 1924, they could not foresee all this," Robert K. Murray writes in the forthcoming issue of the Smithsonian magazine. "But they had already privately vowed they would never again entrust the destiny of their party to another convention held in New York City."

Murray, a history professor at Pennsylvania State University, adapted the article from his new book, "The 103rd Ballot," — a reference to the Democrats' nominating battle.

Before 1924 the city had been host to a major political convention in 1868, when Horatio Seymour was nominated in Tammany Hall by the Democrats, only to be defeated by Ulysses S. Grant.

In 1924, the Democrats had reason to hope. Working for them were an economic recession, the aftermath of the Teapot Dome scandals, the lightweight image of Calvin Coolidge, and his battle in the GOP with Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, who wound up heading a third party ticket.

But the Democrats — split into Northern, Western and Southern wings — were denied victory in November. Coolidge won going away over Democrat John W. Davis, and the Republicans captured both houses of Congress and most governorships and state legislatures.

Many issues divided the Democrats: farm versus city, native against immigrant, Catholic versus Protestant, Ku Klux Klan versus anti-Klan, religious modernism against fundamentalism, and dry against wet.

There were two front-runners: William G. McAdoo and Alfred E. Smith. In the end, 16 men were nominated and, after 103 ballots, the nomination went to Davis of West Virginia.

McAdoo, a former Treasury secretary and son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson, was militantly dry, a Protestant and farm-oriented. Although he had lived in New York for most of his life, he drew his major support from the Klan-infested Western and Southern wings of the party.

Al Smith, a native New Yorker and product of Tammany Hall, was serving his second term as governor. He was a Roman Catholic, a wet, and a vigorous opponent of the Klan.

His campaign manager, Franklin D. Roosevelt, called him "the happy warrior" as he put his name in nomination. The label stuck.

New York was chosen as the convention over rival bids from Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco. New York made the highest money offer of $255,000, of which $55,000 was pledged by George L. "Tex" Rickard, sports promoter and operator of Madison Square Garden.

The city's contribution to the 1976 convention is not fully determined but it has been estimated at from $1 million to $2 million.

This was a different garden than the 1924 site. Built in 1890, it has been replaced by another with twice as many seats — still barely enough for the Democratic convention.

"New York took its role as host seriously," Murray writes. "In truth, the metropolis reacted to the coming of the Democrats like a small town ... Restaurants agreed to keep their food prices steady and to cater to the delegates' every whim. Restaurateurs promised fried chicken, Virginia ham and waffles for Southerners; hot tamales and chile con carne for Southwesterners; steamed sweet potatoes, butterscotch pie and boiled turkey for Westerners and egg noodles and wiener schnitzel for mid-Americans ...

"Coney Island announced it would remain open around the clock if necessary. Broadway and the entertainment world geared themselves up ... Delegates could go to the legitimate theater and enjoy 'Abie's Irish Rose,' George White's 'Scandals,' Eddie Cantor in 'Kid Boots' or Will Rogers in 'The Ziegfeld Follies.'"

The city doubled its pickpocket squad and bunco detail; known thugs were put in jail without bail.

Whatever euphoria the delegates felt on arrival was soon dissipated. The weather was hot and muggy; buses were mobbed and out-of-towners were shoved away by natives. The national press carried stories about delegates being ripped off by hotels, restaurants and taxi drivers.

Murray says New York went all out for Al Smith with banners, shouted comments and repeated playing of "The Sidewalks of New York."

McAdoo was so incensed he stayed away from several events, claiming the city was trying to stack the convention for Smith.

The basic trouble was that New York represented something alien to most of the delegates, Murray writes.

Here almost three-quarters of the white population were either foreign-born or the children of foreign-born," the author says. "Here was the largest concentration of Jews and Catholics in the country."

"Here was the home of Wall Street, of Sunday baseball and boxing, of Tammany Hall. And here was the Sodom of the Prohibitionists — home of such infamous night clubs as the Silver Slipper, Rendezvous and the Cotton Club, where the suckers came to hear the throaty songs of Helen Morgan or suffer the insults of the brassy Texas Guinan, and where liquor was easier to get than water."

As the complaints grew, the city turned waspish. Hotel managers and maids said the newcomers knew little about tipping; cabbies said their fares were saying, "Charge it to the convention."

Murray goes on: "McAdoo was so stung by the boorish action of the pro-Smith claque both in the city and the convention that he absolutely refused to withdraw or release his delegates, fully convinced that the 'evil' forces of the East and of the liquor interests were arrayed against him."

"Smith, contrary to the advice of his campaign manager, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, unwisely used the issue of the Klan to inflame the Madison Square Garden galleries in a futile attempt to defend himself and the battered honor of his city."

"The various favorite sons, meanwhile, despite the fact they could muster no significant delegate strength, insisted on remaining in the race and thereby helped to prolong the stalemate."

The convention lasted from June 24 until July 10. At one time or another, delegates cast ballots for 58 different persons.

They cast 103 ballots before choosing Davis as presidential nominee and Gov. Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska as his running mate.

They heard more speeches, spent more time in committee and witnessed more demonstrations than any other political convention. They also wrote an endless platform, spent more money, went further into debt.

The convention boomed William Jennings Bryan and degenerated into a riot over condemning the Klan in its platform.

"In tons of debris collected, food consumed and soda pop drunk, it also set records," Murray writes. "The caterer to whom Tex Rickard gave the hot dog and cold drink contract made a fortune."

Seven Traffic Mishaps Investigated Yesterday

One person was reported injured and more than $4,000 property damage caused in a series of seven traffic collisions investigated yesterday by Greenville Police.

Heaviest damage resulted from an 8:33 a.m. collision at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Dickinson Avenue involving cars driven by Kay Jefferson Vick of 2707 South Memorial Dr.

and William Robert Jones of Route 1, Bethel, and a truck driven by Ernest Credle of Winterville.

Police, who made no charges, estimated damage at $20 to the Vick car, $800 to the Jones auto and $100 to the Credle truck.

A 10 a.m. collision at the intersection of Greene and Dudley Streets involved a truck driven by Calvin Coolidge Hansley of Route 6, Greenville and a car operated by Lonnie Wilson of 909 North Railroad St.

No charges were made by investigators, who estimated damage at $300 to the Hansley vehicle and $600 to the Wilson car.

Danny Lynn Perry of Route 2, Colerain was reported injured in a 4:21 p.m. mishap on Tenth Street, 500 feet East of the Ernul Street intersection when the Perry car collided with a parked vehicle owned by Joseph Edward Hathaway of Greenville. Damage was estimated at $200 to the Hathaway car and $400 to the Perry vehicle.

No charges were made. Again no charges were reported following investigation of a 2:50 p.m. collision at the intersection of Dickinson and Wade Avenues that involved vehicles driven by Winnie Watson Evans of 211 Dalebrook Cir. and Janet Lynn Hannatt of 413 Pittman Dr.

Damage was set at $290 to the Evans auto and $300 to the Hannatt car.

Investigators reported cars driven by Charles Lornzo Steven of Princeton and Donald

Engene Ingold of Route 1, Julian collided about 2:30 p.m. on Cotanche Street, north of the Tenth Street intersection causing an estimated $300 damage to the Steven car and $200 damage to the Ingold auto.

No charges were made following investigation of the collision.

Jessie Mae Murchison of Route 5, Greenville was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 4:15 p.m. mishap on Greene Street, 35 feet North of the Second Street intersection.

Police reported the Murchison car collided with a vehicle operated by Nancy Langley Pittman of Route 1, Greenville causing an estimated $40 damage to the Pittman car and $250 damage to the Murchison auto.

No charges were made following investigation of a 7:57 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Third Street which involved cars operated by Samuel Earl Andrews of Route 1, Bethel and Lacy Streeter of 1704 West Third St.

Officers estimated damage at $150 to the Andrews vehicle and $100 to the Streeter car.

Investigators reported cars driven by Charles Lornzo Steven of Princeton and Donald

Engene Ingold of Route 1, Julian collided about 2:30 p.m. on Cotanche Street, north of the Tenth Street intersection causing an estimated $300 damage to the Steven car and $200 damage to the Ingold auto.

No charges were made following investigation of the collision.

Arrest Trio For Break-In

Three persons have been arrested by the Pitt Sheriff's Department and charged in connection with a break-in and larceny at a Rt. 2, Ayden residence.

Charged with breaking into the home of Michael Young at Rt. 2, Box 83, Ayden were William Gregory, 18, of Rt. 2, Box 121-A, Ayden, Maurice B. Langley, 17, of 103 Throver Street, Ayden, and Daniel McCoy Chapman, 18, of W. McKinley Street, Ayden, according to Sheriff Ralph Tyson.

Young reported the theft of some $385 worth of property, including jewelry, clothes, money, rings, a pistol, and a portable cassette recorder.

Sheriff Tyson said that the incident took place Monday while Young was away at work. He noted that a screen was torn from a door to gain entrance to a back porch and the rear door to the house was forced open.

All three persons arrested were scheduled for hearings in Ayden District Court on April 8. Bond for each person was set at $1,500.

Special plaques were presented to Burroughs Wellcome, Fieldcrest Mills, Procter & Gamble; East Carolina University, The Daily Reflector; North Carolina National Bank; Pitt Memorial Hospital, Wachovia, Carolina Leaf Tobacco Co., JC Penney, Pepsi-Cola, Garner-Wynne-Manning, and Du Pont.

Dansey, who presented Faser an engraved silver branch snifter for his service as president, noted, "If there has been a better president, then I don't know him."

Taft also cited Faser for his leadership and direction during the campaign.

Taft recognized the organization's executive director Joe Tripp and said that it is "unbelievable what Joe does for the United Fund." He said that Tripp is a "gentleman" and "someone the United Fund needs and couldn't do without."

Thursday's meeting, it was pointed out, was sponsored by Big Value Drugs of Ayden and Greenville, First Federal Savings & Loan Association, First State Bank, Home Savings & Loan Association, and Planters National Bank & Trust.

Dansey, a native of Hampton, Va., has been involved in the building contracting business since moving to Greenville. A graduate of East Carolina University where he earned a degree in accounting, the new president is a former member of the Greenville City Council.

A past member of the Greenville Jaycees, Dansey was the first local representative to receive the coveted Freedom Guard Award from the North Carolina Jaycees. He is also a past recipient of the local chapter's Distinguished Service Award.

Active in the Republican Party, the new president was instrumental in forming the Young Republican's Party of Pitt County and served as chairman of the party's 21-county First Congressional District.

Dansey is married to the former Bonnie Lynn Phillips of Huntington, W. Va. and they have two children.

RALEIGH (AP)—The state Board of Education has rejected a legislative plea to find ways to cut next fiscal year's budget and, instead, will ask for an additional $39 million appropriation.

At its meeting Thursday, the board said that any budget cut would force a reduction in the number of teachers. That would be "disruptive to public education, which this board cannot tolerate," the panel said.

Board members said they will leave it to the legislature to decide if the number of teachers is to be trimmed. The 1976-77 fiscal year begins July 1.

The board said the additional funds are needed just to continue offering the level of services now being offered in the state.

In hopes of making up for an anticipated $70 million revenue shortage and coming up with the $69.5 million for a 5 per cent pay raise for teachers and state workers, the legislature's Joint Appropriations Committee has asked all state agencies to trim next year's budgets by 6 per cent.

About two thirds of the state's general fund money is used for education with the bulk of the expense being salaries. Staff reductions would be necessary if there are cut and that should be a legislative decision since "they are the ones accountable to the people," the board decided.

State law sets minimum teacher-pupil ratios with smaller classes required for younger children. The board could perform only limited cutting of teaching ranks without legislative action to change required teacher-pupil ratios.

When the appropriations panel meets April 26, several members of the education board will attend "to speak up for our budget." The General Assembly is to meet in May for a special session to review next fiscal year's budget.

The board said it needs an additional $14 million next fiscal year for public instruction. Because of the recession, fewer teachers have quit, resulting in more money than usual going for automatic pay raises for additional teaching experience, the board said.

Another $25 million is needed for community colleges just to continue providing existing services because enrollment has increased 30 per cent, said Dr. Ben E. Fountain Jr., president of the community college system.

Also at Thursday's meeting, the national teacher of the year, Ruby Murchison of Fayetteville, told the board about the White House ceremony where she was presented her award by President Ford.

Discuss Delays In Construction

AYDEN—The Contentnea Metropolitan Sewage District Officers met with Peabody S.E. and Inc. Thursday to discuss delays in the construction of the CMSD plant in Grifton.

The Executive Vice President of Peabody explained the personnel problems that the company has had with the project. He said that the superintendent of the project resigned because of a sickness in his family." Don Russell, secretary of the CMSD project said.

"He showed us a chart with dates and times of completions of particular portions of the project and they lined up within the time frame that we agreed with. He gave us assurance that procedures with earth removal will begin next week," Russell said.

"The company has moved $300,000 worth of equipment to the construction site and have brought a dirt removal superintendent in for the job.

"It looks like the project will be under way by next week and will be completed by our original completion date December 15, 1976. Equipment is coming in on a regularly scheduled basis and the vice president of Peabody assured us that the delay in construction will not interfere with the other contractors' deadlines for the project.

"We all feel much better after meeting with Peabody. We now feel that the completion of the project will be right on schedule," Russell said.

More Arrests In Vanceboro Break-In

Several more arrests have been made by the Pitt Sheriff's Department following investigation of a recent break-in at a Rt. 1, Vanceboro home.

Deputies arrested Hyman Chapman Jr., 17 of Rt. 3, Box 212-B, Greenville, and Robert Carmon, 18, of Box 623, Winterville, on charges of breaking, entering and larceny at the home of Henry Vega.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson reported that officers also charged Dianne Streeter, 18, of Box 338, Winterville, with receiving stolen property in connection with the Vega incident.

Sheriff Tyson, who noted that Claude King Jr., 23, of Rt. 6, Greenville, was arrested earlier on the Vega charge, said that some $585 worth of property was recovered.

Bond for Chapman and Carmon was set at $2,000 each with hearings scheduled in District Court here. King's bond was set at $5,000, the sheriff said.

Mallory Has Fond Memories Of Some Of His Returning Players

By WILLIE PATRICK Special To The Reflector (Second Of Two Parts)

Jim Mallory remembers winning that NAIA national championship very well, back there in 1961.

One of the stalwarts of that great team was Floyd Wicker, a third baseman.

"Floyd was one of the two or three best freshman performers I ever saw," Mallory recalled Thursday, while sitting in his office of Dean of Men at East Carolina University. "He had a rifle arm, could have been a great basketball player if he wanted to, and was also allergic to the books."

Wicker's allergy was short-lived, though, because he signed a pro contract shortly after that season.

Merrill Bynum and Jim Martin were but two more contributing factors to that national championship.

"Bynum had great power," said Mallory, of the outfielder now a resident of Aurora, N.C. "He was great to coach, always gave 100 percent then some, and had a great series in Omaha."

"Martin was probably the most determined player to come to East Carolina, ever. When he got here, he couldn't run, hit, or field. He had a mediocre arm, but he worked at all other aspects of his game. I must have hit him 10 million ground balls. It paid off, though: he got to be a tough out and played professional for about nine years after he left East Carolina."

Mallory had a series of championship teams in the mid-50's, prior to the national champions. Though they didn't win that title but once, don't be fooled into thinking that they didn't have some fun. That was due to some great people involved.

"Gather Cline was a great power hitter," said Mallory. "And you should have seen Carlton Barnes' magic bat. We had a great clutch hitter in Jerry Carpenter and a super hustler in Al Vaughn."

"The best liked player was one who didn't get to play much for me... except for a fine game he pitched in the playoffs. Earl Boykin had a sore arm one year and a broken leg the next and didn't get to pitch too much his last year, but he did the job when he was needed."

While Mallory and Smith have done their best to choose up sides for Saturday's "Graybeard Day" game, a potential problem can be noted when checking the playing times of a number of the stars mentioned today and in the first part of this story. Some players played for both coaches, so who will play for who Saturday?

"I guess we will have to have a draft... where we select the players according to what we need," said Mallory.

The Department of Athletics has also invited a number of performers who predate the opposing coaches. They include Sandy Sanderson, Doug Jones, Charlie Bill Moye and Garland Little.

Due to difficulties in some cases in trying to locate out of town players, players in the immediate area were not sent specific invitations. The Department of Athletics hopes that these players will take it upon themselves to join the group at 9 a.m. Saturday morning. Due to an expected overflow crowd, the registration will be held in the lobby of Minges Coliseum, and not Scales Fieldhouse, as had been previously noted.

And, due to the tremendous number of players who have indeed contributed their efforts to the program, the Department wishes that all players come to the game and be a part of the program, the first of many more to come.

Tigers Down Redskins, 8-1

ROBERSONVILLE—Williamston High School romped to an 8-1 victory over Roanoke yesterday.

Tommy Gardner picked up the victory for the Tigers, pitching a three-hitter. He got relief in the seventh inning, however, from Artie Rogers. During his six innings, Gardner struck out 11 and walked three. Rogers gave up no hits, and had no strikeouts and one walk.

Roanoke got its lone run in the first inning, taking a brief lead. Ken Gurganus reached on an error and came around to score on Eddie James' single.

Williamston came up with a pair of runs in the third inning. Don Wynne singled and stole second. He took third on a passed ball, and Mike Koesy walked. Koesy also stole up, and Ken Herman walked, loading the bases. Butch Davis then singled in both Wynne and Koesy.

In the fourth, the Tigers added three more. Herbie Rogers walked and so did Wynne. Koesy singled to load them up, and a hit by Herman scored Rogers and Wynne. Tim Hardison hit a sacrifice fly to drive in Koesy.

Bucs Ink Runners

East Carolina University track coach Bill Carson inked the first two signees for next year's freshman class, picking two Fayetteville runners.

Signed from Reid Ross High School is Al Tillery, a three-sport athlete, who played football and basketball as well as track. Last year, as a junior, Tillery was named the Most Improved on the track team. He has run a school record 48.5 seconds in the 440-dash, and has a career high of 22 feet, 9 1/2 inches in the long jump.

From Terry Sanford High School will come Otis Melvin, whose specialties are the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the 880-yard dash. As a junior he was the team's most valuable track athlete.

Spring football drills reach their climax Saturday night—if not their conclusion—in the annual Purple-Gold game. Kickoff is set for 8 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium.

Coach Pat Dye will be watching from the stands to get an idea of how things might be going this fall when the Pirates all play together against an outside foe.

Jaguars Capture Three-Way Meet

FARMVILLE — Farmville Central High School captured its second straight track victory yesterday, downing C. B. Aycock and D. H. Conley.

The Jaguars finished the meet with 69 points, while Aycock had 53. Conley was right behind them with 48.

Farmville won eight individual events, while Conley took one and Aycock, three. Two events ended in ties, one with Farmville and Aycock, and the other with Aycock and Conley. Conley took both of the relay events.

Rufus Mayo and Timmy Hall were double winners for the Jaguars. Hall took the low hurdles and the 220-yard dash, while Mayo won the triple and long jumps. Sauls of Aycock took the mile and 880-yard runs.

The drills, which include 20 days of practice as allowed by the NCAA, left Dye unhappy following last Saturday's scrimmage, but he notes that in the workouts Monday and Tuesday, things picked up again. "We got a lot accomplished these two days," the coach said.

"We are still trying to get across to some of our younger players what it takes to win. In some cases, they are still a ways away, but we have more people now who can do the job, and if they come along in the fall like they should, we'll be okay."

Following Tuesday's drills, the team was split into the two units for Saturday's game. Generally, it worked out with neither unit getting the majority of the scheduled starters for this fall.

"People in this area really don't know the advantage of spring practice," Dye said. "It's like a farmer planting his crops. He goes out in the spring and prepares the land and plants the seeds. Then, if everything goes all right, he reaps the harvest in the fall. I hope that we're going to be able to reap a bumper crop."

Dye added that the results, thusly, won't be seen Saturday night. "It'll take a little while for some of these people to round into the shape we want them."

Aside from a couple of places, Dye said he was pleased with the work done so far. "We still have to find a defensive tackle. We've got several people fighting for it." They include Tim Swords, Wayne Poole and D. T. Joyner. The strong safety position is also still up for grabs, with Gerald Hall, Steve Hale and Greg Pinxton battling.

"Mike Weaver had a super spring at quarterback. Right now, he is without peer in running the offense. Our passing game this spring has been the best since I've been here, too.

We've been able to put so much pressure on the secondary by running, that we've opened up the passing game."

Pete Conaty, who passed up the spring work for baseball, will be dressed for the game, playing on the Gold team as a kicker. "He's kicked about every day, in addition to his baseball work," Dye said.

Dye didn't put forward any predictions for the game. "It's hard to tell what form it will take. Last year, in 48 minutes of ball, each team gained about 300 yards, and that's pretty good."

In addition to the fans out for the game, a number of college scouts and pro scouts will be in the stands. "I think we've got more pro scouts interested in our players than ever before," Dye said. "We've got seven or eight kids they're interested in."

Dye also added that a number of walkons have performed well in the spring. They include Ricky Holliday, Mike Umphlette, John Wrape, Jack Foushee, Vance Tingle, Don Smith, Jeff Becker, Mike Painter, Franklin McMillan, Steve Bengal, Keith Gould, Reggie Moss, Gary Newell, John Maness, Ken Ashly, Junior Creech and Paul Mattocks.

For the second straight year, two area television sports announcers will serve as "coaches" for the teams, with Dick Jones handling the Purple, and Lee Moore, the Gold.

Rams Ahead For While

PIKEVILLE—Greene Central High School held the lead in a tennis match with Charles B. Aycock yesterday, but the final results won't be known for a couple of weeks.

The singles events were completed with the two teams splitting the event down the middle. Greene entral then won the first of the two doubles matches before darkness forced a halt with the Rams up, 4-3.

The final two events will be completed on April 13 when the two meet at Greene Central. The Rams return to action today, hosting North Duplin.

Summary:
Butch Martin (GC) defeated Gary Kilburn, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1.

State In Tennis Win

East Carolina's tennis team ran into a stone wall yesterday in N. C. State and bowed to the powerful Pack, 8-1, in a match played on the ECU courts.

"State was just too good," said a disgruntled coach Neal Peterson after the match. "They have really upgraded their program there."

A win by Joe Zahran and Tim Hill in the number three doubles prevented a shutout by the Wolfpack. Peterson commented, "I'm really glad they won and didn't allow the shutout. This team is too good to be shutout." The Pirates are idle until tomorrow when they host the Braves of Pembroke State. The Pirates shutout the Braves 9-0 in an earlier match. East Carolina is home again Sunday as they face a pivotal Southern Conference match with Appalachian State.

Summary:
John Sadri (NCS) defeated Tom Durfee, 6-3, 6-1.
Bill Cisloky (NCS) defeated Jim Rafferty, 6-1, 6-1.
Carl Burmardner (NCS) defeated Randy Bailey, 6-0, 6-2.

Joe Zahran-Tim Hill (ECU) defeated Allen Spitzo-Don Belms, 7-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Meets Are Cancelled

Two track meets were cancelled yesterday, and a softball game was postponed.

The Rose at Wilson track meet was cancelled because Wilson was not ready to run. The Bertie at Rose girls meet was cancelled as Bertie has dropped the sport.

Postponed, but with no new date was a softball game between Southern Nash and Conley.

Wiechers, Brewer Survive 'Pot Luck' To Lead In Greensboro

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Some "pot luck" iron shots, a brand-new putter and some wet, shivering pickets were the first-round features in the $230,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

"The fairways were so muddy you were just playing pot luck out there," said Jim Wiechers, who survived his difficulties Thursday with a five-under-par 66 that gave him a tie for the lead with old pro Gray Brewer.

Brewer, using a new putter in competition for the first time, got his share of first place late in the cold, windy, cloudy, occasionally drizzly day with eagles on two of his last four holes.

Included in their galleries — in the dismal weather that has become a fixture at this old tournament — were some shivering, placard-carrying NBC technicians who are on strike and were picketing the cameras that are scheduled to provide national television coverage of portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. The show will go on, NBC officials said.

"I'm playing as good as I've ever played," insisted the slump-ridden, 44-year-old Brewer. "It's my putting and chipping that has held me back."

So the gray-haired veteran, winner of 11 titles in a 20-year career, took the last two weeks off, went home to Palm Springs, Calif., and worked on his short game. He finally settled on a new model of an old standard club, brought it to Greensboro and, using it in competition for the first time, one-putted half the greens and holed five putts in the 20-25 foot range.

Two of those were for the eagles that vaulted him past 19 players.

Wiechers, who has yet to gain an official title in nine years of tour activity, said he'd been playing so poorly. "I'm still just trying to make the cut."

They shared a one-stroke advantage over Dave Stockton, U.S. Open champ Lou Graham and Bob Payne, tied at 67.

The group at 68, three under par on the wet, hilly, 6,643-yard Sedgewick Country Club course, were Lee Trevino, Kermit Zarley, Don Bies, DeWitt Weaver, Miller Barber and Allen Miller.

Defending champion Tom Weiskopf headed a large group at 69. Gary Player shot a 72 and 63-year-old Sam Snead, an eight-time winner of this tournament, was at 73.

Jack Nicklaus, Hubert Green, Hale Irwin, Tom Watson, Johnny Miller and Ben Crenshaw skipped this event in favor of practice for next week's Masters, the first of the year's four major championships.

Messersmith To Tell Kuhn About It Today

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Testimony in the Andy Messersmith-New York Yankees dispute will come today from — of all people — Andy Messersmith.

The star pitcher will be the star witness in the cause celebre over whether his agent did or didn't commit him to the Yankees. The hearing was to be held in the offices of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn who said Thursday he had seen all the documents in question.

"I can't comment on it," Kuhn said after Thursday's four-hour session with representatives of both sides. "Hopefully, I'll have a decision Friday."

Messersmith, who officially became a free agent more than two weeks ago, has allowed Herb Osmond, his agent, do the negotiating for him.

According to today's editions of the New York Times, the two key differences concern the no-cut provision and deferred payments in the memorandum signed by Osmond and Yankee President Gabe Paul and the formal contract Messersmith was later asked to sign. The former Los Angeles Dodger pitcher refused to sign the contract and charged the Yankees with renegeing on the deal.

Messersmith had wanted the same no-cut provision received by Catfish Hunter, who gained his free agent status from Oakland after the 1974 season and signed with the Yankees. Under that pure no-cut provision, the player — or his heirs — receive the payments called for whether or not he plays, such as in the case of death.

He also told the Times from his Newport Beach, Calif., home that the memorandum and the contract failed to agree on the stipulations involving deferred payment. The memorandum said the interest would start accruing immediately whereas the contract said it would start in 1980, after the four-year contract had expired, the Times said.

contract," Messersmith told the Times. "Now it's a moral issue. If they were interested in my services, why did they go to the press and blow this thing up? Why didn't they call me? They never called me."

Last Sunday, in the wee hours of the morning, Osmond, who says he is "just an agent," met alone with Yankee owner George Steinbrenner and Paul. Weary and according to Dick Moss, counsel for the Players Association, "plied with drinks" by a generous Yankee management, Osmond signed a written agreement with the Yankees.

Osmond says he had no power to bind Messersmith to any contract. "I don't have power of attorney," he said. But in any case, Osmond says he signed a memorandum, not a contract. He says Messersmith is still a free agent.

Paul, on the other hand, said he had a written agreement, signed by Osmond, "to have Andy Messersmith play this year with the Yankees."

He also said Osmond had represented himself as having the power of attorney, a legal device which allows an agent to contractually commit his principal.

Johnson Pleased In Loss

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

It was only the second loss of the exhibition season for Boston, the defending American League champions, but Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson was pleased with what he saw.

What Johnson observed was strong pitching by starter Reggie Cleveland, who went five innings, and relievers Jim Willoughby and Tom House.

"Reggie had the best stuff he's had all spring, but he was up high too much," Johnson said after the Montreal Expos broke a 3-3 tie in the top of the 13th inning and went on to take a 6-5 victory.

Cleveland gave up three runs, one unearned, on seven hits. But he struck out five and didn't walk a batter. The loss was suffered by rookie Mark Bombardier, who was tagged for six hits in three innings.

Larry Bittner slammed a two-run single to cap Montreal's winning 13th inning rally. The Expos also were led by Larry Parrish's three hits.

The Red Sox came back in the bottom of the 13th, scoring two runs on Butch Hobson's double, singles by Tim Blackwell and Cecil Cooper, a sacrifice and an infield out. But it was not enough.

Chicago Cubs pitcher Bill Bonham also put on a stingy performance, tossing a one-hit shutout against the slugging Oakland A's for five innings. Bonham then yielded the A's only run in the sixth before Oscar Zamora and Mike Garman hurled hitless ball the rest of the way. Meanwhile, Jose Cardenal doubled and scored a run, then singled across another, then singled across another as the Cubs downed Oakland 4-1.

Baltimore's Mike Torrez was sailing along with a one-hitter, facing the minimum 15 batters through the first five innings before Atlanta erupted. Rowland Office and Dave May each drove in two runs as the Atlanta Braves exploded for five runs in the sixth inning and took to a 5-3 victory over the Orioles.

Jerry Martin drove in five runs, three with a first-inning homer, to help the Philadelphia Phillies slam St. Louis 16-7. When the Cards closed to 8-7 with three runs in the bottom of the sixth, Philadelphia wrapped it up with eight runs in the ninth, including a two-run homer by Bobby Tolan.

The Giants were outthit 13-5, but San Francisco game away with a 5-3 victory as a single by Willie Montanez and a triple by Ken Reitz drove in three runs in the fifth.

A bases-loaded double by Tom Poquette in the eighth inning lifted the Kansas City Royals over the New York Yankees 4-3. Jamie Quirk's solo homer and Frank White's RBI-double accounted for the other Kansas City runs.

Cleveland's Joe Lis' three-run blast with two out in the ninth sent the Indians to a 5-4 victory over Milwaukee.

The New York Mets won their first exhibition game in nine outings when Jerry Grote smashed a two-run single in the 11th inning. The Mets gained a 5-5 tie with two runs in the ninth before clipping the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-5.

Cincinnati clobbered knuckleballer Wilbur Wood for three runs in the first inning and Jack Billingham scattered four hits in six innings as the Reds beat the Chicago White Sox 3-2. Billingham struck out four and walked none in posting the longest string of any Cincinnati pitcher this spring. Roger Metzger's run-scoring single capped a three-run Houston burst in the ninth inning that gave the Astros a 5-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Wilbur Howard homered for Houston in the fourth, while Detroit's Bill Freehan led off both the fifth and seventh inning with doubles, scoring each time.

Bill Melton, Leroy Stanton and Joe Lahoud slammed consecutive home runs as the California Angels crushed Chapman College.

The Minnesota Twins, with Bert Blyleven hurling six innings of four-hit ball and rookie catcher Butch Wynegar scoring two, closed their spring training camp with a 3-0 victory over Tacoma, their Pacific Coast League farm club.

Two Share Lead In Shore Golf

By KEN PETERS
AP Sports Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Kathy McMullen wandered into the press tent, glanced up at the scoreboard and sighed, "Love those scores."

The one she was most interested in was a 68 next to her name. Miss McMullen, who finished second in the Dinah Shore Winners Circle Golf Championship last year, and Susie Berning each had 68s Thursday to share the opening-round lead of this year's edition of the $200,000 tournament at Mission Hills Country Club.

"I had a 76 in the opening round last year," Miss McMullen recalled. "I like this better."

Her putting, sharp at times, cost her the uncontested lead. She three-putted both the first and 14th holes for bogeys, then missed two six-footers for birdies on the 16th and 17th.

But Miss McMullen, who lost the Winners Circle by a stroke to Sandra Palmer last year, said she's confident her game is in top-notch condition.

"I feel like I'm hitting the ball better now than I had in the past," she said. "I just hope can play with more consistency."

While Miss McMullen's putting was erratic, Mrs. Berning had no trouble with hers. "I dug out an old putter," she remarked, "and it seemed to do the job."

She had five one-putt greens and never three-putted as she carded four birdies on the back nine en route to a 32 after putting a par 36 on the front nine of the 6,370-yard, par-72 Mission Hills course.

Lurking just a stroke back of the leaders of the first 18 holes were Jane Blalock and Jan Stephenson, both at three-under-par 69.

Miss Blalock won the first Winners Circle tournament back in 1972 and Miss Stephenson was the LPGA's rookie of the year in 1974.

In a cluster at 70 were Kathy Whitworth, Gloria Ehret, Janet LePera, Carol Mann, Pat Bradley and Joann Washam.

Miss Palmer began defense of her title on a sour note, carding a 76 Thursday.

Sandra Haynie had a 74 but picked up $5,000 when she scored a hole-in-one on the 165-yard, par-3 eighth hole. Miss Haynie rolled in a three-iron shot for the second ace of her career.

Kuhn Joins In Toronto Fuss

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn — caught in the middle of a battle that now involves two countries, both pro leagues and some of the United States' most influential politicians — still is looking for a comfortable seat on the Toronto expansion time bomb.

Kuhn set the incendiary mechanism at seven days by announcing Thursday that the American League may expand to Canada's commercial capital if, before that period expires, the league can provide "suitable provision for Washington."

If it does not, he said, "I will consider the application of the National League" for a 1977 franchise.

The commissioner did not define what a "suitable provision" would be and said he did not expect an enthusiastic response to his ruling.

In a seven-paragraph prepared statement that outlined his position, Kuhn admitted that "this decision may well be disappointing in whole or in part to all of the parties and communities involved."

No one agreed more readily than AL President Lee MacPhail, whose opinion was that "any attempt by the Commissioner to interfere is neither just nor fair."

But there are things MacPhail and his owners may have overlooked in making the statement, such as the fact that "during the past week political HAVELOCK — Havelock High School erupted for 13 big runs in the fourth inning yesterday and romped to an 18-0 victory over D. H. Conley's Vikings.

Havelock grabbed the lead in the first inning. Dale Horne singled and stole second. Chip Keisler walked and Mike Fones reached on an error, scoring Horne. Tony Tripp then slapped a three-run homer for a 4-0 lead.

Havelock added 13 more runs in the fourth with Tripp banging out two triples in the frame, driving in four of the 13 runs. The final run came in the sixth.

Conley, shut out, got only two hits off two Ram pitchers. The Vikings, now 2-2, play host to Ayden-Grifton today.

'Poet Of The Workers' Didn't Expect Success

By PIERO VALSECCHI
Associated Press Writer
MILAN, Italy (AP) — In the hot years of student unrest, Giulio Stocchi pursued the cause of proletarian revolution by hurling tomatoes and stones at policemen and visiting political leaders.

Former U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was among his targets, Stocchi claims, hit by an egg during a visit to Italy.

Ten years later, at age 32 Stocchi, a curly haired, bespectacled philosophy student, has turned to a more genteel way to support the cause of workers — poetry.

His poems about occupied factories, fired workers and political violence — all serious problems gripping this country — have won a large audience of students and workers in the past few months.

When Stocchi first read to a crowd of 50,000 strikers crowding Milan's cathedral square last December, reciting a verse about the workers dismissed by an auto firm, he received roaring applause, louder than that given to union leader Luciano Lama.

Now dubbed "The Poet of the Workers," Stocchi says he did not expect such success.

"I was afraid to read a poem to workers. I feared not being understood. But they realized I could also support their struggle through poetry," Stocchi said.

Since his first public appearance, Stocchi has been invited to read his poems in various factories and at political rallies. He even gets "orders" for poems by workers.

"They call me at home, asking some lines about problems at their plants, or about their fight for a new contract. They now trust poetry, or at least this kind of social poetry," he said.

His most popular work, written after the Leyland-Innocenti auto factory was closed by the British parent company with the loss of 4,500 jobs, was printed by the metalworkers unions and distributed among blue collar employes of several Italian firms.

Stocchi, an avowed leftist militant, has written poems attacking President Ford's visit to Italy last year, and about leftist students killed in clashes with police.

"I write against capitalism and of Italy's social plagues. But I also deal with love. I have been writing poems since I was 15 and many of my works were devoted to love. I also read love poems to the workers and they liked them as much as the ones about their problems," Stocchi said.

"I could become a 'professional' poet, but not from the financial point of view. Professional because I could devote full time to poetry," Stocchi explained.

To support himself he translates poems from Spanish and French.

Has Ingredients To Be A Star

By DOLORES BARCLAY
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Her voice filled the small West Side night club, piercing the air with a dramatic shrill and then falling to an incredibly husky whisper, as she sang the Quincy Jones song, "Everything Must Change."

Her very large, dark eyes held the audience for one electric second. Then she smiled and eased her lithe, six-foot body away from the microphone.

The audience responded in kind, thumping feet, clapping hands and shouts of "yes, yes." They loved her. They stood by the square wooden cocktail tables applauding even louder as she left the platform stage to chat with a few friends in the crowded, standing-room-only club.

Her name is Phyllis Hyman. She's a 26-year-old Pittsburgh, Pa., native who was virtually unknown in New York until her first club appearance in December. Since then, she has attracted as avid and loyal a following among patrons of Manhattan's West Side night clubs as some of the nation's top recording stars. Many musical observers say Miss Hyman's fame will go a bit further than 96th Street.

"She has all the ingredients of becoming a star," said Barbara Harris at Atlantic Records. "There's good stage presence and an excellent singing range."

Her style is diversified. Jazz. Bossa nova. Soul. Pop. She can walk with a romantic ballad or scat-sing a Duke Ellington classic.

Like many talented new artists, Phyllis is attracting interest and gliding toward recognition partially on the strength of word-of-mouth and also through the support of other artists, such as singers Roberta Flack and John Lucien.

Phyllis also sings with Lucien in his latest, but not yet released, album. She has not yet been signed by a record company.

"My gimmick, if artists are to have one, is to be me," she said. "I don't make up speeches for the stage, and I'm not into theatrics when I sing because I want people to enjoy my singing."

Miss Hyman spoke of her fledgling career one recent afternoon after rehearsing a new pianist and drummer in her brother-in-law's tiny midtown apartment.

She sits curled on the sofa, her long legs tucked gracefully beneath her. She gestures with thin, softly narrow hands and pouts her full, very red lips as she ponders a question. She lights a cigarette and complains that the acrid tobacco makes her voice raspy.

"It really hasn't been hard, because I work all the time," she said about her stab at success.

"I don't know what it is I'm supposed to be looking for. People tell me: 'You're going to be a star in two or three years,'" she continued. "Well, I'm already a star — I have a job and a husband who has helped mold my career. What I have now is enough to sustain myself. What else comes, will be added on."

Phyllis spent her childhood in an integrated Pittsburgh neighborhood as the oldest of seven children. "We were poor, but I don't remember being poor because we always ate, we always had shoes and my family was very close."

She sang in grade school with the All-City Choir and eventually won the first voice scholarship to Robert Morse Junior College, a business school.

"I didn't really think about being a singer," she said. "I knew I could sing, but I didn't seriously think about it."

After touring the country for six months with New Direction, she returned to Pittsburgh in 1972, out of work and unsure of her future. "I was in limbo. The city needed registrars for a voting drive, so I joined up."

At the end of the year, she started singing with a group called "All the People" and headed south for Miami. Last year, she started her own act and played many of the clubs and hotels in that Florida resort city.

She married songwriter Larry Alexander two years ago. He also manages her.

"My career, since I first started, is at the right speed. I'm not rushing," Phyllis said, leaping to her feet in a grand gesture and twirling around barefoot before answering the ringing telephone by singing "hello" into the mouthpiece.

"I've always been a woman first," she said, returning to the sofa. "My career, femininity, independence and self-worth are very important to me, and I guess this shows on

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, APRIL 3, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime is good for handling practical matters. The afternoon and evening finds you developing many ideas of a logical nature. Put in motion the ideas that inspire you.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr. 19) Make payments and collections that are important. A business expert gives you good advice early in the day.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Fine time for getting into those activities that appeal to you. Improve your health and impress others. Be practical.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan important activities and then put them in motion in a most efficient manner. Listen to what an expert has to suggest.

MOON CHILDREN (June 20/21) Get in touch with personal friends early for any help you might need. Your ideas need to be reduced to a workable level.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Morning is best time to handle practical and civic matters, but the afternoon lends itself well to the personal side of life.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Those new ideas need more study before putting them into motion. A good friend can be of great help to you now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be sure to handle those credit and debit matters that are important. Use your intuition which is very accurate at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) An associate's actions are puzzling so find out what is wrong and clarify the situation. Show more affection for your mate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Handle all the work that faces you early and then engage in new interests in a most intelligent way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan some recreation that can relieve tensions once your work is done. Plan a new wardrobe for yourself in the evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If some affair at home requires fast action, be wise and get it out of the way quickly. Obtain the data you need.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Obtain the data you need so you can handle regular routines. Exercise much care in at this time. Be logical.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have many practical ideas for handling problems that come up early in life. The mind here is very logical and the education should be directed along lines of investigation. Don't neglect religious training.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

A recent tip in this column suggested that once you have found a good line of play, take another look to make sure you are not missing a better one. Had South, declarer at four hearts, followed this advice, he might have brought home his contract.

South bid intelligently to reach a good game. Once his suit had been supported, South showed extra values by bidding his second suit, and North felt that his doubleton diamond, four trumps and an ace were enough to accept his partner's invitation.

West led the king of clubs, and declarer saw no problem to the play. He would surely have to lose three spade tricks, so the whole hand appeared to hinge on how trumps broke. Declarer knew that, holding nine cards in the two hands, the percentages slightly favored the drop over the finesse, so he won the ace of clubs and cashed the ace and king of hearts. East showed out on the second heart, and in the fullness of time declarer lost three spade tricks and a trump for down one.

Some sober reflection before playing to the first trick might have steered declarer to a better line. Since the only problem would come if trumps broke 3-1, declarer should have looked for a way to score his trumps separately. All he had to do after winning the ace of clubs was to ruff a club in his hand.

Now declarer cashes the ace and king of hearts, and when East shows out declarer sets about his cross-ruff. He cashes his two high diamonds and ruffs a diamond in dummy. He gets back with a club ruff to lead another diamond. If West ruffs with his master trump, declarer discards a spade from dummy. If West does not ruff, dummy ruffs and declarer scores his tenth trick with a club ruff as West follows helplessly.

Tired of waiting for that interminable rubber to end so that you can cut in? Charles Goren's "Four-Deal Bridge" expert guide and scorepad will introduce you to the exciting, fast-action game played in the country's great bridge clubs. Auto Makers Fear Impact Of Strike

By The Associated Press
Spokesmen for all four domestic auto makers say they face possible plant shutdowns next week as the impact of the first nationwide Teamsters strike begins to be felt.

There were no reports, however, of immediate food or fuel shortages in the second day of the walkout.

In Pittsburgh, steel industry spokesmen said production was continuing without interruption, but predicted problems in meeting customer demands if the strike continues.

The U.S. Department of Transportation said Thursday that a week-long strike would idle one million workers and result in a loss to the economy of up to $300 million.

Federal officials also said there would be "considerable consumer difficulties" if the strike lasts as long as two weeks. They projected curtailed food and gasoline supplies, since these products are heavily dependent on trucks for delivery.

The immediate impact of the strike by 400,000 Teamsters truck drivers and warehousemen was lessened because individual companies signed interim contracts with Teamster locals to keep their goods moving.

In addition, the nation's 100,000 independent truckers were reported to have little sympathy for the Teamsters strike and many kept their trucks on the road. The independents called a national strike in February 1974 to protest fuel costs, but failed to get support of the Teamsters.

A General Motors Corp. spokesman said that if the strike goes on GM will have to start closing plants early next week. He said the closings would be on an andy-to-day basis, determined by the amount of parts in stock.

Richard Haupt, director of transportation and traffic at Ford Motor Co., said that within a week the Teamsters strike "could completely halt production of the company's cars and trucks in the U.S."

In Atlanta, a Ford assembly plant employing about 2,500 workers was scheduled to shut down after its last shift today. Six GM plants in the Buffalo, N.Y., area were reported running low on parts and materials.

An American Motors Corp. spokesman said if the strike continues the firm would "really be in trouble" next week. A Chrysler Corp. spokesman said that firm, too, would begin production cutbacks next week if the strike lasts.

The strike does not affect the delivery of new cars to dealers, since auto transport drivers are covered under a separate agreement.

Large manufacturing plants also faced the prospect of shutdowns within a few days. The manager of the Birmingham, Ala., plant of International Harvester said a "strike continuing more than a few days would cause ... large manpower reductions." The plant employs 2,750 persons.

Food industry spokesmen said the strike would not affect the consumer directly for a period ranging from one to three weeks, since it would take that long for supermarkets to run short of items stored in warehouses.

Tobacco Plant Supply Good

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—North Carolina tobacco experts predict Tar Heel farmers may have a slightly early crop this year, but there won't be a shortage of plants as occurred last year.

A number of farmers lured by the warm weather set their plants out early this year. A touch of cold weather slowed growth but damage was limited, said John Cyrus of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture. "Really, the plants have not been damaged too much and there appears to be a good supply," he said.

"Some of the earlier beds back a few weeks ago got a little ahead of schedule, but generally this cooler weather that we've had in the last several days has slowed the growth down a bit," he said.

For some farmers, the cold didn't come fast enough or last long enough. Some farmers who planted too early have gone back and resowed, throwing away plants that matured too quickly, said G.W. Miller of the Wake County extension of-rice. "Last year we sowed early and it was wet and cold and the plants wouldn't grow and get big enough to set out," Millers said.

T.S. Godwin, Wayne County extension agent, predicted the season will run about a week ahead of normal. The plants have a solid chance now because that area of the state normally doesn't have a frost after March, he said.

In the northern parts of North Carolina's East where flue-cured leaf is grown, tobacco men are hoping they haven't set plants out too early. "With warm weather, plants have advanced faster than we would like to for the time of the year, but if we don't have severe weather we won't be hurt," said W.D. Lewis, extension agent in Oxford County.

Textile Pay Hike Drive

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The Textile Workers Union of America (TWUA) will seek a wage increase of at least 8 percent by next month.

It will do so to catch up with the increase in the cost of living since the last wage hike. The decision was made Thursday at a meeting of union leaders in Charlotte.

Southern Director Scott Hoyman of Charlotte said the union will renegotiate its contracts covering about 50,000 of the more than 500,000 textile workers in the Southeast.

Increases by the entire textile industry have tended to follow union wage drives. The cost of living has gone up 15 percent since May 1974, and there has been one general wage increase since then, 7 percent in September of 1975, Hoyman said. The union believes the textile industry, which has recovered sharply from the recession, is in a strong position to increase wages, he added.

The union also will try to cut the gap of $1.49 an hour between the average hourly textile wage of $3.35 in the South and the $4.84 in all manufacturing, Hoyman said.

LOW MARKS — House Minority Leader John Rhodes of Arizona meets with newsmen in Washington to announce a campaign against special interest groups that rate lawmakers on such issues as the environment. Rhodes, who has been given low marks by three such groups recently, along with others, asked the Fair Campaign Practices Committee to see if the ratings practice violates the code of campaign ethics. 12 MONTHS OR 12,000 MILES USED CAR WARRANTY

Most good used cars, if they're guaranteed at all, are only covered for a month or two. At Tarheel Toyota, we're just as willing to back our good used cars as our good new cars. So we guarantee the motor, transmission and rear end for 12 months or 12,000 miles. This warranty applies to all cars selling for more than $1000.00 or more on a 50-50 basis with all work being done in our shop. It doesn't apply to any sports cars, high performance engines or 4 speed transmissions (except economy cars). If you're in the market for a BETTER USED CAR, COME OUT AND LOOK AT OURS. We'll show you some as good as new. Guaranteed. (Owners name furnished upon request.)

Hope To Break Up Bigger Oil Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new effort to break up the nation's largest oil corporations into a host of smaller companies may have won the approval of a Senate panel but the industry giants are far from becoming one-pump outfits.

The proposal to force the break-up of the 18 largest oil companies won bare 4 to 3 approval Thursday from the Senate Judiciary Committee's subcommittee on anti-trust, but despite its earth-shaking intentions, the move caused few ripples on Capitol Hill.

Getting through the subcommittee is probably the easiest test the bill will face, and there were no predictions that it would successfully make it through the full Judiciary Committee, much less through Congress and past the President.

Backers of the measure hailed it as major legislation for consumers.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., who originally introduced the legislation, said breaking up the 18 industry giants would increase competition and "result in enormous benefit to the consuming public."

James F. Flug, director of Energy Action, a self-styled public interest lobbying group, said the measure "makes good economic sense for consumers, investors and the industry itself."

But William P. Tavoulares, president of Mobil Oil Corp., warned that even subcommittee approval of the measure was "a first step toward higher energy prices and a serious weakening of the nation's ability to become self-sufficient in energy. This is not the time for sweeping social experiments that could jeopardize the nation's energy security in order to provide short-term benefits for a few politicians."

A Judiciary Committee staff aide said it probably would be at least three weeks before the proposal would reach the full committee. But Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who won major changes in Bayh's bill in an effort to win more support for it, said he hoped the full committee would give the measure some priority.

Bayh said a filibuster to block action may be attempted in the Judiciary Committee, and he noted it is more difficult to end a filibuster in a committee than on the Senate floor.

As approved by the subcommittee, the measure would affect Exxon, Texaco, Standard of Indiana, Gulf, Mobil, Standard of California, Atlantic-Richfield, Getty, Union, Sun, Phillips, Continental, Cities Service, Marathon, BO-Sohio, Amerada Hess and Ashland.

The measure would require the companies to confine their operations to one of four principal segments of the industry — production, marketing, refining or transportation — and to divest themselves of other operations. Refiners would be permitted to retain retail outlets held prior to Jan. 1.

The subcommittee members who voted in favor of the proposal were Hart, Bayh, Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and James Abourezk, D-S.D. Voting against were Sens. Roman L. Hruska R-Neb., Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii.

Grads Meet In Burlington

Graduate of the East Carolina University Department of Library Science attended a social meeting of ECU library science alumni at the annual spring conference of the Learning Resources Association in Burlington.

Anne Briley, serials librarian at ECU, presided at an informal meeting of the ECU Library Science Alumni Association scheduled in conjunction with the conference.

Scottie Cox, associate dean at Wayne Community College and immediate past president of the Learning Resources Association, presented an award to ECU library science graduate Neal Hardison in recognition of his efforts in organizing the three-year-old LRA.

Mrs. Cox and other past and present LRA officers are graduates of the ECU department.

The Learning Resources Association is composed of community college and technical institute personnel and others interested in library learning resources.

McMillan Named President-Elect

Dr. Douglas J. McMillan, professor of English at East Carolina University, has been chosen president-elect of the ECU chapter of Phi Kappa Phi honor society.

He will automatically assume presidency of the chapter in the academic year 1977-78.

A charter member of the chapter, Dr. McMillan has been chapter vice president, board member and delegate to regional and national conventions. He is also faculty sponsor of ECU's Omicron Theta chapter of Sigma Tau Delta honor society in English and third vice president of the N.C. Folklore Society.

Dr. Frederick Broadhurst of the ECU School of Technology, last year's president-elect, is the new chapter president. Other new officers are George Broussard of the School of Music, secretary; and Youngdahl Song of the Department of Political Science, treasurer. Both will serve two-year terms.

Rescue Unit Fund-Raiser

FARMVILLE—The Farmville Rescue Squad will have a radio-thon Saturday at Station WFAG to raise funds for various squad needs.

A spokesman for the group said that the radio-thon will begin at 6:30 a.m. at the radio station and will move to the rescue squad building on Belcher Street at 9.

Funds from the radio effort, the spokesman said, will be used to help pay for radio paging units being purchased by the town and rescue members, as well as help pay off the balance the squad owes on its building and fund other needed equipment.

A goal of $10,000 has been set for the drive.

Contributions may be made to the squad by calling 753-5611 and squad members will pick up the donations. Contribution jars will also be placed in Farmville stores and in businesses in surrounding rural areas.

Ayden Invited To Seek Funds

AYDEN — A member of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) met with the Ayden commissioners Thursday to discuss an application for community development funds.

"Tom Lowe from the Greensboro office of HUD met with us to let us know that the Town of Ayden has been selected to apply for $300,000 for a Community Development Discretionary Fund," Don Russell, Ayden Town Manager said.

"This does not necessarily mean that we will receive the money but the fact that we have been invited to apply for the fund is good news," Russell said.

At Meeting On N.C. Children

Dr. David H. Giles of the East Carolina University special education faculty was in Raleigh this week at the N.C. Conference on Children.

The conference gathered invited business, political and educational leaders and was designed to develop plans toward improvement of the quality of life for the state's children during the next 25 years.

Dr. Giles chairs the advisory committee of the Pitt County Adult Developmental Activity Program.

Check Theft Is Charged Man

Claude King Jr., 23, of Rt. 6, Box 89, Greenville, was arrested by Pitt County deputies and charged with larceny of a check and false pretense following investigation of a recent incident.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that King was charged with larceny of a check from Mattie B. Frank on Feb. 6 and false pretense in connection with the incident.

The check, according to the sheriff, was in the amount of $15.

King was placed under a $200 bond and a hearing scheduled for today in District Court here.

Negotiations At A Standstill

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Negotiations remained at a standstill today as supervisory personnel at the National Broadcasting Co. coped with news releases, cameras and other video equipment as a walkout continued by some 1,700 network engineers, technicians and news writers.

Charges of sabotage were leveled Thursday by NBC officials, who alleged that 18 videotape machines were damaged in network studios in New York City.

A management spokesman said videotape cartridges were mislabeled and this had resulted in an entire segment of a soap opera being repeated for the second time in two days.

Frank Vierling, vice president of Local 77, National Association of Broadcasting Employees and Technicians, denied in New York that union members were involved in any acts of sabotage.

Supervisory personnel were on duty in NBC studios in Los Angeles, San Francisco, New York, Washington, Chicago, Cleveland and Burbank, Calif. They replaced NABET crews who walked out shortly after midnight Wednesday following a breakdown in contract talks in San Diego.

The walkout occurred despite a call from federal mediators to extend the negotiations.

The striking employees include 1,200 engineers and technicians, 200 news writers in Burbank, Chicago and New York, and 300 others ranging from maintenance workers to directors.

Union officials said the contract dispute centered on proposed wage increases and benefits which they contended NBC was attempting to take away.

Union negotiators rejected a 5 per cent wage increase in the average weekly salary of $375. Other issues involved in the dispute were the use by engineers of portable video cameras in the field and jurisdiction over the jobs of union members.

Program Will Include Quartet
