Farm Prices Spur Rise In Wholesale Price Index

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government said today a steep increase in farm prices pushed wholesale prices up eight-tenths of a percent during April, marking the biggest gain in six months and signalling a sharper rise in the cost of living ahead.

The increase ended five months of relatively stable wholesale prices and was an abrupt break in the steady stream of upbeat economic reports this year.

Declining farm prices during the first three months of the year had held down the over-all wholesale price index. But in April, farm prices jumped 4.2 per cent while the index for processed foods was up 1.9 per cent. This produced a 2.8 per cent increase in the agricultural sector.

Wholesale price changes eventually are reflected in retail prices, although there are time lags and relationships are not precise.

Industrial prices rose three-tenths of a per cent last month, continuing the moderating trend of recent months. However, the April report did not reflect recently announced increases for steel and other products which will show up later as they work their way through the wholesale price chain.

Economists consider industrial prices a more reliable barometer of basic inflationary trends rather than farm prices which often move erratically.

The Ford administration has warned that the sharp slowdown in both wholesale and consumer inflation during the first quarter could not be expected to continue.

April's eight-tenths of a per cent rise in the wholesale price index followed an increase of only two-tenths of a per cent in March and declines in both January and February. It was the sharpest monthly increase since October's 1.1 per cent rise.

White House economists expect an inflation rate at the consumer level of about 6 per cent this year, an improvement over the 7 per cent rise in 1975 and well below the sharp 12.2 per cent advance in 1974.

During the first three months of this year wholesale prices fell at an annual rate of 1.8 per cent while retail prices rose at an annual rate of 2.9 per cent, the smallest quarterly increase in almost four years.

In April, the wholesale price index stood at 181.3, up 5.3 per cent over a year earlier. That meant that goods selling at wholesale for $100 in the 1967 base period cost $181.30 last year.

Farm price increases were the largest in a year. The biggest increases were for livestock, eggs and coffee. However, there were some declines for grains, live poultry and milk.

The Labor Department said

higher prices for beef, veal, fish and roasted coffee were largely responsible for a rise in the index for processed foods and feeds. Over the past year, farm products rose 8.6 per cent, while processed food and feeds were down eight-tenths of a per cent.

Industrial prices were up 6.1 per cent over the year.

Among price increases for industrial goods last month were a 2.1 per cent jump in costs for hides, skins and leather products; a 1.2 per cent rise for metals and metal products and a 1.5 per cent increase for non-metallic mineral products. Higher prices also were reported for paper products, chemicals and rubber and plastic products.

Higher prices for gas fuels, electric power and crude petroleum more than offset declines for most refined petroleum products, the government said.

The category of wholesale prices related most directly to retail prices is the sector called consumer goods. These prices rose 1.4 per cent in April after declining in each of the previous three months.

Wholesale prices of consumer goods, basically the prices paid by supermarkets, rose 3.9 per cent following steady declines since last October. The increase was the biggest in more than a year.

Three 'Just Had A Desire To Try' Rebuilding Plane

By ALLEN CLARK

Hickory Daily Record
Written for AP

HICKORY, N.C. (AP) — Back on Nov. 7, 1947, a snappy L-16 reconnaissance plane rolled from a forgotten assembly line into the Army Air Corps.

A war came and went, the Air Corps became the Air Force, and the old "tail dragger," (wheel on the tail) went to the Civil Air Patrol with wings slowly deteriorating and motor sputtering.

The CAP eventually sold the aircraft to a Charlotte man. He held on to it until a banker, a salesman and a computer man decided to rebuild an airplane.

Their choice was the strut-winged, fabric-covered ex-lookout plane with rotting interior and 85-horsepower engine that wouldn't start.

"Well, we knew absolutely nothing about rebuilding airplanes," said Steve A. Burleson, a pilot and bank branch manager in Hickory. "We just had a desire to try."

Burleson, 32; his brother,

Eddie, a Charlotte sales representative for an airline, and Carrel D. Bess, a nonpilot but a jack of all trades and a computer technician from near Hickory, bought the plane about 14 weeks ago for "a reasonable price."

They vow they'll take her up in another two weeks.

"We rented a wrecker and a flat-bed, and froze our cans off in January, but we hauled it up here," Burleson said. "A friend of mine let us use an old warehouse he owns in a residential neighborhood to work on it."

Burleson said his makeshift rebuilding crew didn't quite know where to start, but got help from all directions.

Jack Horton, an aircraft inspector for Cannon Aircraft in Hickory, watched every move and made suggestions.

Carroll Smith, an "A-number-one airframe man," helped. So did Roy Watts, who reworked most of the rotten wooden innards.

"I was amazed at the number of people around Hickory who know about fixing airplanes," Burleson said.

Before they did anything, Burleson and company checked with neighbors to see if they minded airplane-fixing next door.

"They were fantastic," he said. "They even check in periodically to see how it's going."

So the Burleson brothers, Bess, and friends stripped off the old fabric, covered the wings and fuselage, bought new glass, replaced metal rods, put on new fabric, aluminum-coated it—everything, all on weekends since January.

"It was like opening a Christmas toy after Roy (Watts, the woodworker) got through," said Burleson. "He labeled each wooden slat, 'part A goes to part B,' just like a model airplane."

Next came the covering. "We had to use an old clothes iron to heat up the dacron fabric so it would shrink around the wings," Burleson said. "Tight enough to bounce a quarter, but not too tight to bend anything."

As the operation turned out, he added, "It was duck soup not as hard as rebuilding a car engine."

Now, with everything needed to finish-instrument panels, propeller, seats—the men hope to be reconnoitering the skies of western Piedmont Carolina soon.

"We always wanted to do it, and it's been a thrill and a real experience putting this one together," Burleson said. "But we'll probably sell it."

An old Vultee BT-13 (onetime military trainer plane) sits piecemeal at a Charlotte airfield right now. The men bought it recently.

"We'll fly the L-16 for a weekend or so, I guess," Burleson said.

"Then, we'll start on the Vultee."

Unemployment Up

The unemployment rate rose slightly in Pitt County in March, according to the Employment Security Commission, and registered at 6.4 per cent of the civilian labor force which is made up of those employed and those who are unemployed and are seeking employment.

The March, 1976 6.4 per cent unemployment rate was 0.9 per cent higher than the January, 1976 5.5 per cent unemployment rate but was 2.1 per cent lower than the March, 1975 8.5 per cent unemployment rate.

Total employment in mid-March was estimated at 34,870, an increase of 440 or 1.3 per cent over January, 1976. The agricultural employment registered the largest percentage of increase while nonagricultural employment showed small declines.

According to the Employment Security Commission total employment is expected to climb in the next six months in both manufacturing and agriculture sectors.

MARRIAGE ENCOUNTER?

I have heard something about a marriage encounter weekend course, but haven't been able to learn any real details about what's involved or how one enrolls. Could you find out more for me? M.B.

Bill and Marlene Farrior of Farmville told us a little about the course, but said the probable reason you've been able to learn so little about it is that, though it's several years old and flourishing throughout this country and others, Marriage Encounter is usually publicized only by word of mouth, friend to friend.

Marriage Encounter weekend courses are conducted by volunteer couples at motels or hotels or on college campuses for about 30 couples at a time. The program was started by the Catholic Church, but is for people of all religious persuasions. "It is a crash course teaching the techniques of good communications to couples with good marriages who want to have great marriages," the Farriors said. "It's for couples of all ages. It is not a sensitivity session, but a private dialogue between husband and wife. It is not marriage counseling and is not intended for couples with serious problems between themselves. The couple spends a weekend together away from their children and the distractions of everyday life and each concentrates on communicating deeply with the other."

Usually a couple has a sponsoring couple. However, if a couple is interested and knows no one who has taken the course, they may call Bill and Marlene Farrior at 753-5146, or Carl and Marilyn Huber of Greenville at 756-7766.

Highway Priority Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's latest $17.5 billion installment on the nation's interstate highway system places top priority on closing gaps in intercity routes.

President Ford on Wednesday signed a bill extending the 20-year-old Federal Aid Highway Act for two years.

The measure also allows states and cities to use funds from withdrawn segments of interstate highway projects for other road and mass transit projects. It also insures states the use of federal aid funds for resurfacing and restoring existing roads.

The bill was a compromise that extends major highway programs until the next Congress can deal more fully with some pending road proposals. A Ford administration effort to alter the highway trust fund was sidetracked in Congress last year.

Ford, who signed the bill at a White House ceremony attended by numerous congressmen and Transportation Secretary William Coleman, said primary responsibility for selecting projects and administering them will continue to rest with state and local authorities.

Highway 264 Ass'n Is Eyeing Monday Hearing

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Tom Taft, president of the Highway 264 Association, said today he would like to "get a crowd out Monday night," for a hearing schedule by the North Carolina Department of Transportation on alternative locations for highway improvements to the U.S. 64 - U.S. 264 corridor between I-95 and U.S. 17.

That hearing has been set for 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Council Chambers of the Greenville City Hall. A second public hearing has been set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Tarboro, at the Edgecombe County Court House.

I think that it's the sentiment of most business and community leaders that our position is that the billion dollar investment that is going to be made in phosphate in Beaufort County; the university, the medical school, and industry in Greenville; and industrial development in Farmville and Wilson, demand a primary four-lane road to specifically serve that area," Taft said.

"We are not opposed to any other road being upgraded. In fact the truth of the matter is we probably need two major corridors in the area."

The Highway 264 Association head said "the public hearing... is an opportunity for the citizens to come and make their desires known, and I urge every citizen in Greenville and Pitt County, who is dissatisfied with the present road system, to come to this public hearing and make his feelings known."

Representatives of William S. Pollard Consultants, of Memphis Tenn.—hired by DOT to study alternative locations for a limited access corridor into Eastern North Carolina—are scheduled to be at both hearings to present procedures and work schedules for the study.

Taft said DOT's "charge to the consultants is to study the needs of U.S. 264 and U.S. 64 and a possible corridor." Such a corridor could follow either U.S. 64 or U.S. 264, or a different route.

According to Taft, the Monday hearing here "is sort of an opportunity to speak up in a constructive way... rather than belly ache to your neighbors about how bad 264 is."

Begin Ironing Out Differences Over Budget Versions

RALEIGH (AP) — A legislative conference committee will begin working today to iron out the final differences between House and Senate versions of the 1976-77 state budget.

The appropriations committees in the two chambers completed their separate work after grinding hours of meeting Wednesday. When they were finished, the differences between the two budget proposals could be measured in hundreds of thousands, rather than millions of dollars.

Both documents do what most legislators hoped to accomplish in this year's short budget session: without raising taxes, provide the pay raise that teachers and state employees were denied in 1975 when the recession forced an abrupt reduction in state revenues.

The amount of the raise seemed settled at 4 per cent plus $300 for each employee Wednesday in one of the agreements that were reached. A proposal by a number of Senators, led by James Garrison, D-Stanly, to add an additional increment for highly experienced teachers and employees was rejected by legislative leaders in both houses.

That will cost the state a total of $110 million, although legislators estimate that $7.7 million will come from the increased taxes paid by state employees as a result of the raises.

The legislators also agreed to anticipate $67 million in windfall revenue from an acceleration in the collection schedule for income taxes withheld by corporations.

With those figures agreed upon, there remained only a relatively small list of differences:

—The House has approved $11.4 million for immediate completion of the statewide kindergarten system. The Senate has yet to act on a similar proposal.

—The Senate has approved about $500,000 more than the House agreed to fund enrollment increases in the universities and community colleges.

—The House has approved $1.47 million to give teachers an additional 2.3 days of sick leave per year. The Senate has rejected that item.

—The Senate has appropriated $189,000 for research and evaluation in the Department of Public Instruction. The House has not.

But these differences were judged susceptible to compromise by most legislative leaders. "I think we've got it whipped," said House Speaker James C. Green, D-Bladen.

Inciting Gang War Charged Ploy By FBI

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI directed more than 200 Cointelpro operation against the Black Panther party and promoted a gang war between the Panthers and a rival group in which four persons were killed, a Senate report says.

Information from the FBI intelligence program also led to a 1969 raid in which Chicago police killed Fred Hampton and another Panther, the report said.

The report by the staff of the Senate intelligence committee denounced the FBI tactics as "deplorable" and added that "equally disturbing is the pride which (bureau) officials took in claiming credit for the bloodshed that occurred."

It said, "Some of the FBI's tactics against the BPP were clearly intended to foster violence, and many others could reasonably have been expected to cause violence."

In addition to promoting warfare between the Panthers and rival groups such as the Blackstone Rin Chicago and U.S. Inc. in Los Angeles, "the FBI employed the full range of Cointelpro techniques" in an effort to destroy the party's effectiveness, the report said.

The gang war that erupted between the Black Panthers and U.S. Inc. resulted in the shooting deaths of four party members along with several beatings in 1969. An FBI memo noted that "although no specific counterintelligence action can be credited with contributing to this situation, it is felt that a substantial amount of the unrest is directly attributable to the program."

The report said FBI tactics sometimes were used during a lull in the violence as the groups tried to work out differences peacefully.

The 38-page document is one of 13 volumes being released by the intelligence panel in support of its final report issued last week. The supplement described in detail a number of Cointelpro tactics used against the Black Panthers between 1968 and 1971.

It said the FBI attempted to convince an Indianapolis landlord to tell his Black Panther tenants to move their offices; forced eviction of a Panther from a public housing project in San Francisco by informing housing officials she was using the apartment for a free breakfast program, and used anonymous letters and phone calls in an effort to get Father Frank Curran, a Catholic priest, transferred for letting Panthers use his San Diego church for the breakfast program.

One of the most extensive FBI letter-writing efforts was an attempt to split onetime party leaders Eldridge Cleaver and Huey Newton, it said.

A document on the 1969 Chicago police raid that resulted in the deaths of Hampton and Mark Clark claimed "the raid was based on the information furnished" by an FBI informant.

Staff investigator Arthur Jefferson said he requested all FBI documents concerning the incident but that the FBI turned the document over to him only after its existence had been revealed during a $47.7 million civil suit brought by the families of Hampton and Clark.

Greenville Inches Up In Its Population Bracket

Figures released by the Office of State Planning on the 1974 Average Permanent Resident Population figures for North Carolina counties and municipalities show that Greenville ranks 13th among those municipalities with 33,700 residents.

The figures represent an increase of 4,637 persons or 16 per cent over the 1970 census total. Greenville moved up one position in the rankings since 1970, overtaking Wilson which has a 1974 estimated population of 32,300.

State planning population estimates show that Pitt County grew by 700 persons between 1970-1974. The county ranks 21st among North Carolina's 100 counties with a 1974 population of 74,600.

However, the county ranked 19th in 1970 which indicates that it has not grown in proportion with the state's other counties.

Every incorporated area in Pitt County experienced growth between 1970 and 1974, the figures indicate. Greenville grew by the greatest absolute number but Simpson and Grifton experienced the greatest percentage increase in their population base with 35.8 per cent and 33.9 per cent, respectively.

The state's 1974 estimates also suggest that while the county's incorporated areas are growing, the population base in the unincorporated areas has decreased by 5,873 persons.

State population figures show that North Carolina grew by 279,941 persons between 1970 and 1974, with a significant amount of this growth concentrated in the Piedmont crescent.

Charlotte is the state's largest city with 290,590 persons while Greensboro, Raleigh, Winston-Salem, Durham, High Point, Asheville, Fayetteville, Wilmington, Gastonia, Burlington, and Rocky Mount rank second through 12th, respectively. Completing the top 20 behind Greenville are Chapel Hill, Wilson, Goldsboro, Salisbury, Kinston, Hickory, and Statesville.

Engagement Announced

MISS JANICE HOWARD is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lodreg Howard of Farmville, who announce her engagement to Jessie Lee Mercer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Mercer of Greenville. The wedding will take place June 19.

Bride's Mom Send Thanks And 'Regrets'

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday I received the following letter in the mail:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. X:
Five months is long enough for anyone to wait for an acknowledgement of a wedding gift. In spite of my continual urging, my daughter, who incidentally was taught better, has not gotten around to writing her thank-you notes, so please try to forgive her laziness and accept my thanks for the lovely wedding gift you sent. Sincerely yours,
MRS. BLANK

Well, Abby, What do you think of the above? Sign me...

FLABBERGASTED

DEAR FLABBER: I think it's evidence that there is at least one mother who finally backed up her bark with a bite.

DEAR ABBY: When a boy asks a girl to the senior prom, how long should he be kept waiting for her answer?

Our son asked a girl, and so far she has kept him dangling for five days. I think she is keeping him dangling until she gets a better offer, and if she doesn't get any, she'll accept. So, Abby, how long should he dangle?

TONY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: After dangling for five days, Tony should consider himself cut down and free to ask another girl.

DEAR ABBY: This isn't the most earthshaking problem in the world, but it bothers me enough to write a Dear Abby letter.

My husband always has to be reading something. He has to have a newspaper, a magazine or a book in his hand all the time. He even takes reading material to the table to read while he eats. Naturally this precludes any conversation.

He uses an electric shaver so he can read the morning paper while he's shaving.

When we're visiting friends or relatives in the evening, my reader picks up anything he can find to read, and he's lost in it for the rest of the evening.

I know there are worst faults, but we've been married for four years and it's getting worse. Help me.

GREAT FALLS FAN

DEAR GREAT: I think your husband reads constantly to escape contributing to the conversation.

Furthermore, it's rude to read in the presence of others. If you can't get his attention long enough to tell him how you feel about his constant reading, write him a letter and ask him to read it.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is the world's dullest man. Whenever we go to a friend's home, he goes off by himself and listens to the radio, or else he just sits and talks to the dog! He never has a thing to say. I try to draw him into the conversation, and he answers with "Yes" or "No." What does a wife do when she is married to a moron like this?
BORED

DEAR BORED: Who picked the moron? And why?

Age No Bar To Role In World Relief Activities

By GENE SCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — From Thailand to Tanzania, from Greece to Ghana, the name of Irene Auberlin is known with affection and gratitude.

And now and then, a little prayer is said on her behalf.

For Mrs. Auberlin, a widowed 80-year-old grandmother, is the guiding force behind an organization which for the past 23 years has distributed more than $240 million in free medical and dental supplies to missionary hospitals and clinics in every corner of the globe.

Mrs. Auberlin is president of World Medical Relief, Inc., a nonprofit, nondenominational organization dedicated to helping the world's destitute sick.

Operating out of a drafty, eight-story brick warehouse deep in Detroit's ghetto, World Medical Relief neither buys nor sells supplies. Yet it has furnished hospitals in countries around the world with equipment and supplies ranging from bedpans to iron lungs. Many medical facilities have been furnished from the ground up.

Countless letters in Mrs. Auberlin's file attest to the gratitude of those helped by her organization.

"We operate differently than any other charity organization," said Mrs. Auberlin in an interview. "All our supplies are donated to us."

"Hospitals send over used but still serviceable equipment. Pharmaceutical houses donate drug samples, moving companies contribute trucks and drivers, national firms ship carloads of items being replaced by new products on the market."

"Some comes from hospitals installing new equipment to replace older stuff, which they turn over to us. But it's still usable equipment. If not, we won't accept it."

Despite the millions of dollars in supplies that have passed through World Medical Relief, the organization is managed on a threadbare financial shoestring.

World Medical Relief operates with an unusually low overhead for an organization that has collected, sorted, crated and shipped more than 60,000 tons of medicines and equipment since it began in Mrs. Auberlin's basement and garage in 1953.

"We don't pay freight of any kind, incoming or outgoing — nothing," she said. "I'm not paid, and our executives never have been paid here. Among our volunteers, we don't pay the four Mennonites who work here, because they are doing Christian services."

"We don't buy anything. We beg our trucks and our typewriters, and their repair."

In a way, it could be said that a Korean waif started it all.

The orphan appeared on a 1953 network television newscast with a chaplain who had adopted him. The chaplain pleaded for help for the untold numbers of other children whose parents had been killed in the Korean fighting.

"Something struck me to get some clothing and vitamins together," Mrs. Auberlin recalled. "So I collected some from friends and neighbors — and I haven't stopped since."

World Medical Relief moved to its present location in 1965 after it outgrew three successively larger warehouses.

Money to purchase the building and its adjoining parking lot came mainly from a major gift of stock from the Kresge Foundation, augmented by gifts from corporations, clubs, societies and individuals.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

In an old musical called "The King and I," the King of Siam was often perplexed by life's inconsistencies. In his words, "Is a puzzlement."

Some things to me are still a puzzlement.

How come pens never have any ink in them except when you forget and put them in the washer and your entire laundry turns blue?

If the national average of children is 2.3, how come every car off the assembly line only has two back windows?

Why do they waste silicone on an ironing board?

How can an owner of a vicious dog look at his dog baring his teeth and know "he's smiling;?"

Why would anyone want to get on an elevator and face the back anyway?

Why is it whenever a department store offers to pierce your ears they always put the counter on the main aisle?

Why is there a rectal thermometer in my sewing basket?

When will someone ask me to diagram a sentence like my old Freshman English teacher said they would?

How come the wheels on my shopping cart won't turn in the supermarket, but when I start to empty the groceries from it into the car, it oils in and out of traffic in front of cars and people as if it had a motor attached to it?

How did my crock pot know the exact day the warranty ran out?

Why do I assume that those two Doves nuzzling in a tree are married? Isn't it possible they're fooling around?

Why do four out of every five Americans insist on earring in their car when everything in the car slants?

Why do I tell everyone that I'm raising my children to think for themselves... and feel crummy when they do?

How come the first thing I notice in a doctor's office is whether or not his plants are dead?

What possible need does a mirror serve in a bathroom? How does the senior class know the exact moment my son sits down at the dinner table and places its calls accordingly? Is a puzzlement.

Fast Action And Less Talking

The General Assembly which began an extraordinary special session this year has two major items facing it—a salary increase for state employees and teachers, and malpractice insurance.

Since the session was set to consider budgetary matters, only a two-thirds vote was necessary to take up malpractice insurance, or for that matter anything else.

Since the adjournment of the Legislature last year the revenue projects have ridden a roller coaster. At first it appeared that the expected income would fall far short even of the projections in the budget. That meant cuts in spending were possible and pay raises were doubtful.

Legislative committees have been at work in the meantime, though, and from the darkest times the state's economy has now improved to give a rosier revenue picture.

Thus the Legislature will be asked to approve some items cut from the budget, but also to approve a pay increase of 4 percent plus $300. In an election year it is unlikely that the legislators will balk on this.

The Legislature has decided to take up the physicians malpractice insurance issue, although finding the formula which will keep malpractice insurance available to physicians might be more difficult than the financial matters.

Everyone is hoping for a short session—two weeks if possible and 30 days at the most—during this election year. Possibly the political theory is that the less talking done during this session will mean the least criticism of incumbent candidates by challengers in the upcoming campaigning.

Based on that we expect things to move quickly in this special session.

Reminder Of Important Work By ARC

The dedication of a new activities building, constructed at a cost of $576,145, at the Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center last weekend serves to remind us of the important work this facility is doing.

The facility has been in operation here for some time but the originally planned activities building was not constructed in 1969 because of the lack of funds.

Now the building has been added and we think it should be helpful to ARC personnel in carrying out their work.

THIS AFTERNOON

Bright Spot For Juveniles

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—North Carolina took a giant step this week to reverse past practices in dealing with juvenile delinquents.

The General Assembly has firmly signaled its backing for two major shifts: increased support for community treatment programs in place of training school commitments; and endorsement of plans to revamp the program within the training schools themselves.

"This direction is a bright spot for the children of North Carolina," said State Rep. Claude DeBruhl, D-Buncombe. "For the first time in my 20 years in the General Assembly we can be encouraged about what we are doing for the children."

From the complicated juggling of budgetary figures which legislators have been dealing with emerges several key program changes:

New Direction

—At least one training school (Fountain in Rocky Mount) will be closed despite efforts by the Youth Services Commission to keep it open.

Staff will be moved into restructured programs.

—Money once slated for various building projects at training schools but no longer needed because the population is down sharply was shifted into new directions;

The assembly re-affirmed its belief in community treatment alternatives to state institutions, and in the removal of non-criminal (truants, runaways, etc.) from the training schools.

Ray T. Shurling, director of the Youth Services Division of the Department of Human Resources, said the emphasis inside the training schools will be put on basic education for the some 800 youngsters.

"We plan to keep the children longer. Some who might have gotten out in six months will remain a year or longer. We intend to teach them to read and write," Shurling said.

The longer term is bad from one view, but good, "if the single biggest handicap to living in modern society can be overcome," Shurling thinks. "Public school law says a kid of 12, 13 or 14 must go to public school, or back to training school. If he can't read or write, he can't perform successfully in school and he'll be back.

"We intend to revamp and revitalize the whole academic program. I think we can win because we have teachers who care, and who are under no administrative pressure to exercise social promotions," Shurling is meeting with educators from the N. C. Association of Educators and the State Department of Public Instruction to draw plans for the shift.

Local Effort

With the seed-money from the General Assembly in hand to push community treatment, Shurling's next task will be to break the logjam which has some $250,000 in federal frozen in the Governor's Law and Order Commission. The money is available for local community programs if cleared by the Holshouser administration.

"We have the state money, and will move expeditiously to create those community alternatives. But they must be locally originated, operated, and supported," Shurling said.

"I absolutely refuse to participate if this smacks of state operation of a multitude of mini-institutions instead of genuine community programs."

The goal is to involve civic groups, private agencies, and public agencies in rehabilitation, mental health, counseling, and shelter activities to keep children in local communities while providing help in solving problems and schooling.

Population in state training schools has been cut in half as the state moves in new directions. This year, 91 counties have filed their intent to develop community treatment plans. The others are expected to either do so, or take part in regional programs. Already, some 240 various community treatment programs are underway and ready to receive additional children once state or federal funds are available.

OUR SELF-SUFFICIENCY OLYMPICS!

Fewer Enlist Today

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The upturn in the nation's economy is giving young men a better shot at the job market and their interest in the all-volunteer military service is on the decline, according to a new survey conducted for the Army.

Maj. Gen. Eugene P. Forrester, the Army's top recruiter, says the survey "indicates a new surge in confidence in civilian job prospects and in young people's economic futures coupled with a declining interest in military service."

By and large, the services have been able to meet their enlistment quotas since the recession took hold in 1974.

But results of the survey, disclosed at an Army conference this week, spells bad news for the Pentagon's hopes of maintaining an all-volunteer military force if the economy booms.

The survey tends to support the recent warning by the Defense Manpower Commission, which said that if a robust economy develops, the supply of recruits will probably not be large enough to support needs of the service."

Quoting from the survey, Forrester said he found that interest in the Army among young men "is sharply down when compared with comments made even as recent as six months ago."

"Many young men do not feel the Army or any of the services is a viable alternative to a civilian job," the survey said.

"They feel the Army has tightened up its requirements for enlisting, but that it is for fellows who 'can't cut it' in the civilian world."

There was no indication of how large a sample was taken by the private firm that conducted the survey for the Army.

AMBASSADOR SCRANTON

Drawing Rave Reviews

By SERGE SCHMEMANN
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Although only a few weeks on the job, U.S. Ambassador William Warren Scranton is winning rave reviews from his U.N. colleagues.

His soft-spoken, even-handed approach is credited with stilling the U.S.-Third World tempest that blew up after his predecessor, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, adopted a sharp answer-back strategy against those who criticized the United States.

"People tell me there's a great deal more effort going on to try to temperize statements, resolutions, etc., than has previously been the case," Scranton said in a recent interview with The Associated Press.

Does he believe his low-key style has contributed to this change?

"The answer to that would automatically be put down as egotistical, but I'll try," Scranton said. "The sensitivities I get from others is yes, that this has helped."

"They know that I'm sincerely interested in listening and wanting to know what their thinking is, and likewise that I'm very straightforward in putting forth what the U.S. stands for and why."

There is little question that a large measure of Scranton's attraction stems from the fact that Moynihan ranked both allies and opponents alike with his well-publicized sallies against Third World and Communist targets. Scranton goes to great lengths to stress that he is not critical of his predecessor.

"Moynihan made a vigorous impression here," Scranton said. "I've said many times there was a lot of excellent things he did — most outstandingly the revivification of the pride of American people in themselves, which I thought was a tremendous boost."

He emphatically added that "if the U.S. is strongly attacked here, I will do likewise."

But in the busy delegates' lounge of the U.N. skyscraper on the East River, Scranton's quiet approach is drawing praise.

The British ambassador, Ivor Richard, who publicly cast Moynihan as a hip-shooting Wyatt Earp, said of Scranton: "He seems to have made a splendid start at the U.N. I have great respect for him and considerable admiration for the way he has taken to his job. I'm sure my views are shared by many of my colleagues at the U.N."

Such words are strong stuff among diplomats, who normally avoid any public evaluation of one another. Privately, the raves are less restrained.

"The change of atmosphere is remarkable," said a West European envoy. "He's done an enormous amount in the last month to bring the U.S. back into the mainstream of the United Nations."

The Europeans are not alone in finding a change of atmosphere since Scranton—a 59-year-old millionaire lawyer, patrician, statesman and former Pennsylvania governor—moved into the 11th-floor ambassador's suite at the U.S. mission.

"He has handled his job with dignity and with serious interest in trying to find a

'DOMINO' IN CALIFORNIA

Nuclear Power Ballot Test

By RON ROACH
Sacramento Press Writer
SACRAMENTO (AP) — Californians go to the polls June 8 in the first ballot test of concern over power plant safety vs. the need for more electricity.

And both sides agree approval by most of the Golden State's nine million eligible voters of the Nuclear Power Plants Initiative—Prop. 15—would help similar campaigns in other states.

Will it pass? It's too soon to tell, according to pollster Mervin Field. He said the public is "incredibly confused" on the issue. But his latest California Poll of 1,034 adults through March 31 found 65 per cent were aware of the initiative and sentiment was about 5 to 4 against the measure.

"California is critical. If its proposal is passed, it will send tremors far beyond California. If the initiative passes, a 'domino' effect could reverberate through states with similar pending initiatives," says a memo written by John W. Simpson, a Westinghouse official in Pittsburgh, Pa., and president of the Atomic Industry Forum, a trade association.

Simpson's memo was written for the AIF board of directors and was published by Friends of the Earth, a proinitiative conservation group. Westinghouse officials confirmed the memo was Simpson's.

California's is the first test of public reaction to the questions of nuclear power plant safety. In November, voters in Oregon and Colorado have similar decisions to make. The industry must make its stand in California, says the Simpson memo.

Opponents call it the "nuclear shutdown initiative" because they say it is too much to ask for two-thirds of California's legislature to approve of nuclear fuel recycling and waste storage methods, or require the utilities to waive federal Price-Anderson Act liability limits.

Proponents call it the "nuclear safeguards initiative," and the want restrictions—even a ban on new plant construction—unless the questions of nuclear fuel recycling, waste disposal and storage are answered to the satisfaction of two-thirds of the California Legislature.

Passage of Prop. 15 "could deter further (presidential) and congressional support for nuclear power. It could influence the world nuclear developments," says Simpson.

David Pesonen, an author of Prop. 15 and chairman of the campaign, says:

"It's the first attempt in the nation to put public control over nuclear power. If it's safe, if there are ways to dispose of radioactive wastes, why does the industry oppose Prop. 15? It merely makes them show it is safe."

He predicts, if the initiative passes, that candidates in November elections will have to re-evaluate their positions, and the Congress may act to bring about federal regulations.

A California Assembly committee held extensive hearings on nuclear power last fall, and determined that it could not totally believe either side.

They felt the initiative too restrictive, and the two-thirds majority vote of the legislature is widely considered impractical by the lawmakers themselves, so they have proposed their own legislation as an alternative. (Continued on page 8)

HELPING THE UNWORTHY

We often hear the expression, "God helps those who help themselves." There is a certain overtone of cynicism in the statement, an implication that God isn't interested in and isn't needed by the person who helps himself.

Jesus never showed much interest in helping the people who could help themselves. His attention was drawn toward the diseased, the handicapped, the outcasts—all those whom their capable and businesslike contemporaries considered as unworthy of attention. The pages of the New Testament are full of accounts of how Jesus went out of his way to help people beneath the notice of the leaders of society—people who could in no way help themselves.

"God helps those who help themselves" is often a subtle justification for refusal to help others who are really in need. God would probably regard us with much more favor if we made it our policy to help the unworthy as well as the worthy. Their need is often greater, and if we don't them, no one will.

Soft Drinks Are Going Metric

By JOE FRAZIER
Associated Press Writer
The soft drink industry, which pours the biggest taste of America much of the world ever gets, is going metric in the United States.

Since 7-Up introduced the industry's first metric bottles into the American market a year ago, half-liter, liter and two-liter bottles of 7-Up, Coca-Cola and Pepsi have turned up in nearly 70 cities.

With the new bottles has come an educational and advertising blitz which, industry spokesmen say, will give the more than 30 million people in metric bottle markets the closest look they have had to date at the metric system.

The metric system of weights and measures is used by 95 per cent of the world. The United States is one of very few nations, and the only major one, without it, or without a specific commitment to adopt it.

Bottling plants in countries with the metric system have used metric bottles for years. The government is encouraging a gradual phase-in of liters, centimeters and kilograms to replace quarts, yards and pounds.

"We're getting lots of requests for our metric conversion charts," said Bill Trebilcock, manager of the Portland, Ore., Coca-Cola bottling plant. Coke's first metric bottle, a two-liter size, was introduced in Portland in February and in Seattle a few weeks later.

Trebilcock says the bottle has been well received.

But he says because of its size—more than a half gallon—it usually is purchased by adults for family use.

While most children today are taught the metric system, most adults have only a vague familiarity with it.

"Most of the complaints we get are from buyers who say they're having trouble figuring out the cost per ounce. That's understandable; the system doesn't use ounces," he said. To smooth things out, tags with metric conversion tables on them grace the necks of the bottles in stores.

Less subtly, store signs and billboards read: "Bigger than a half gallon," or "Two liters equal 67.7 fluid ounces."

7-Up has elaborate metric workbooks for school children and an abundance of metric conversion gadgets available as well. In a lighter vein, there are decals depicting "Liter Ship," "Liter of the Pack," "Follow the Liter" and "Born Liter."

After decades of success, even in the hardest of times, why change?

"It's not radical, it's rational," says 7-Up's Mick McDonough in St. Louis, Mo. "Most bottlers see metric sizes as a consumer value in a competitive market."

"If somebody has a 28-oz. bottle on the market, then you have to go to a quart, or 32 ounces," he said. "So why not go metric and go to a liter (33.8 ounces)? It's going to happen someday anyway."

"It's a long-term proposition, but it's short term in the more competitive bottle sizes we see every day," he said. No bottling plant is completely metric yet, and Don Green at Coca-Cola headquarters in Atlanta said total acceptance of the new idea may be 10 years away.

40 Years Ago Today

May 6, 1936

More than half of the delegates have been chosen for the big political party conventions next month in Philadelphia and Cleveland.

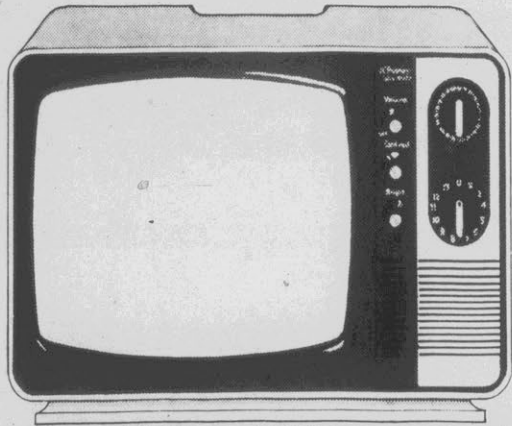

With immediate attention directed sharply toward primary battlegrounds in California and South Dakota, the latest tabulations showed the Democrats have picked 552 of their 1,100 delegates to the national convention which will renominate President Roosevelt.

Incomplete returns in the California Republican vote showed that delegates pledged to Governor Alf M. Landon of Arkansas, without his endorsement, were running behind a slate of uncommitted delegates.

Of the 11 instructed Republican delegates, 90 are for Landon and 21 are for Senator Borah of Idaho, 316 Republican delegates remain to be selected.

The California Legislature was recently polled by the Sacramento Union and found 5 to 1 against the initiative. Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, has not taken a stand. He says he will, but first must study the pending legislation.

Federal officials say that the U.S. Constitution preempts states from regulating nuclear energy. But these same officials, who say Prop. 13 will lose in the courts if passed, told the legislative hearings that California's 21 million people could not be ignored in Washington.

Simpson said as many as 14 other states were targets for initiatives.

Both sides have issued dire warnings.

Utilities that operate the three existing nuclear plants in California say there could be "rolling brownouts" if nuclear plants are shut down. Without nuclear power, there will be a greater dependence on Arab oil, or even dirty-burning coal, the utilities argue.

Pesonen describes proponents as a coalition of "antinuclear Project Survival" and groups like the Sierra Club that don't believe nuclear power is safe enough and warn of a lethal legacy for future generations.

Resort City Is Short Of Water

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)—Tourists visiting this resort city at the entrance of Great Smoky Mountain National Park may have to ask for that glass of water when they go into a restaurant this summer.

City Manager Richard Barton says the city commission will meet May 18 to consider a proposed emergency ordinance limiting the use of water, which is in short supply.

The proposed ordinance would ban the watering of lawns and gardens, washing of sidewalks and use of water in swimming pools that have no recycling system, and would even forbid restaurants to serve water unless customers ask for it. Fines of up to $50 could be imposed for violations.

Mayor Ralph Maples said the city water system has a capacity of 1.8 million gallons a day. At the height of the summer tourist season, water consumption reaches as much as 1.7 million a day.

Mrs. Cheek has served at the Arlington Street Christian Church, Fort Worth, Tex., First Christian Church, Wilson, and the First Christian Church here. She was the assistant dean of women at Atlantic Christian College for three years and was Neighborhood Chairman of Greenville Girl Scouts for three years.

She is married to Alston H. Cheek Jr. and they have a son and a daughter.

ton's personal brand of quiet diplomacy are cited by diplomats to explain why they like him.

They recall that before making his first speech, Scranton set the prepared text aside and said: "I really would greatly appreciate it if over the next few weeks and months any one of you and preferably all of you would be kind enough to talk with me in the corridors or at the social functions or wherever..."

Said Ambassador M. Fereydoun Hoveyda of Iran: "In the first contact we had, I was impressed by his knowledge of problems and the courteous way he has in contacts with everybody."

Scranton, however, is well aware that the honeymoon mood could be shattered. The issues underlying U.S.-Third World confrontations — the wide gap in wealth and development, clashing ideologies, the Mideast stalemate, southern Africa, human rights — are still there, and the anti-American bloc voting that has characterized the United Nations in recent years is far from overcome.

But for the time being, at least, Scranton believes that the hostilities are muted.

"There is no change in our policy," he said. "But I do feel that a number of those who felt antagonistic in 1974 and 1975 realize that it hasn't helped get done what they wanted done, and it certainly hasn't helped in the general impression of the United Nations."

"I think a lot of representatives of countries are beginning to realize that if we're going to keep an effective U.N. we've got to have at least the essence of a consensus for what it's doing."

Scranton noted that at recent Security Council meetings on East Timor and on Rhodesian sanctions, Third World members "went out of their way to try and get various viewpoints together and I think that's what the U.N. is all about."

New Look At Bill-Delivery

RALEIGH (AP)—Faced with rising postage costs, Carolina Power & Light Co. has decided to embark on a new experiment in hand delivery of monthly bills.

Starting in June, 40,000 CP&L customers in Raleigh will begin receiving their bills in clear plastic envelopes that will be hung from their doorknobs.

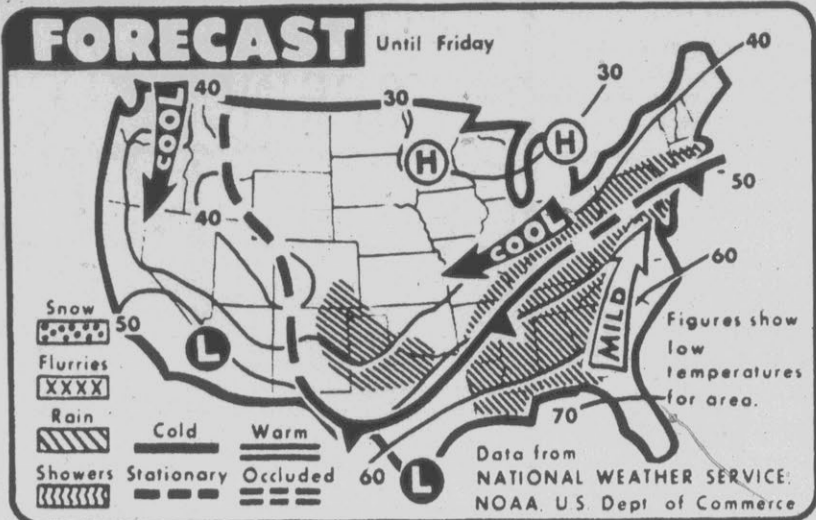

The company will deliver the bills by hand for six months to determine if the method is less expensive than mail delivery. After the experiment, it may begin hand-delivering bills in all of its urban service areas.

It now costs $5,200 a month to deliver bills to the 40,000 residential Raleigh electric customers affected.

The company experimented with hand delivery in 1972, but found that the cost was the same as for mail delivery. Recent postal rate hikes have prompted CP&L to take another look at the hand delivery possibility.

Four full-time employees will be hired to deliver the bills, which will be hung on customers' doorknobs because only U.S. mail can be placed in mailboxes.

Open House Set Sunday

An open house will be held by Greenville Villa on Mother's Day, May 9, as part of the observance of National Nursing Home Week and North Carolina Senior Citizens Month.

The public is invited to visit the nursing home during the hours of 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday.

A proclamation designating May as Senior Citizens Month has been issued by Governor James Holshouser. The week of May 9-15 will be observed as National Nursing Home Week by more than 8,000 nursing homes and convalescent centers throughout the nation.

Featuring the theme, "We Care," the North Carolina Health Care Facilities Association and its 141 members throughout the state are inviting the public to join with them in the observance.

Weighs Offer By Fisk Univ.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—President Prezell R. Robinson of Raleigh's St. Augustine's College is considering an offer to become president of Fisk University in Nashville, Tenn., according to sources at St. Augustine's.

Neither Robinson nor Judge Howard L. Bennett, chairman of the Fisk Board of Trustees, would comment Wednesday on the offer, but the sources said Robinson has not decided whether to accept it.

Robinson has been president of St. Augustine's for 10 years. During that time, the school has built several buildings, increased its enrollment, and avoided the financial problems that have plagued many black colleges.

Totie Fields Is Planning Return

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Totie Fields, who had her left leg amputated, is resting comfortably in a New York hospital and is expected to return home within 10 days, the comedian's manager says.

Howard Henderstein said Wednesday that Miss Fields has been moved from the intensive care ward at Columbia Presbyterian Hospital.

Miss Fields, 46, had surgery for phlebitis in her left leg on April 18, but the operation was unsuccessful and the leg was amputated to just above the knee two days later, Henderstein said.

The night club entertainer is expected to return to the stage sometime this summer, Henderstein said. Miss Fields will probably make her show business return in Las Vegas, where she has a home.

Many Awards Presented At Scout Camporee

WASHINGTON, N. C. — In excess of 400 scouts and a large group of scouting leaders from Pitt County traveled to the North Bonner Campsite east of here this past weekend to take part in the annual East Carolina Council Camporee.

Davis said that a variety of awards and citations were earned by the area scouts during the event.

One of the key awards went to a patrol of Troop 550 of Winterville for being one of only three patrols from the entire Council to achieve a perfect overall score of 3,750 points on all events and scouting procedures. Davis said that the achievement of a perfect score is almost unprecedented.

Special awards were presented to Troop 191 of Mt. Calvary Free Will Baptist Church for cooking; to Troop 362 of the Moose Lodge for its gateway, reflecting a bicentennial motif; and to Troop 550 of Winterville for its campsite layout.

Davis pointed out that the Pitt scouts camped in the Gold Area of the Camporee and were led by David Cobb as area chief and Hugh Benson as associate chief.

Adult leaders taking part in the event from Pitt included Dr. Milam Hohnson, Frank Saunders, Pratt Williamson, Ray Parker, and Heber Adams. In addition, members of the APO scouting fraternity from East Carolina University assisted.

According to the scout executive, the extreme dry conditions threatened to force a postponement of the camporee but the state forestry office allowed the event to proceed providing no campfires were started. Davis said that only cooking fires were allowed and they had to be confined to the center of a ten-foot cleared area and extinguished immediately after cooking chores were accomplished.

In addition, in observance of the strict regulations concerning fires, a 24-hour fire guard was required, Davis said, and those duties were handled by Explorer

Post 33 of the Greenville Fire Department. A dozen of the post members served as fire guards until 5 a.m. Sunday when the rains allowed the fire duty requirements to be cancelled.

The Rev. Jim Trader of Bath, formerly of Ayden, was in charge of church services at the campsite on Sunday.

Some 3,500 scouts from the 21-county Council attended the Camporee.

Grandmaster In Chess To Visit

World renowned International Chess Grandmaster Pal Benko will be in Greenville this weekend giving a simultaneous exhibition and lecture. The exhibition will be held in the J. H. Rose High cafeteria at 12:30 on Saturday. Benko's visit is being jointly sponsored by the J. H. Rose High Chess Club and the United States Chess Federation.

Pal Benko, one of the 11 International Grandmasters in the United States, is currently ranked ninth in the United States with a rating of 2,490. The New Jersey Grandmaster's recent tournament results include first place finishes in the 1975 National Open, U.S. Open, and World Open.

This is the first time a Grandmaster has visited Eastern North Carolina. His visit follows the Rose chess Team's winning of the State High School Championship, also a first for Eastern North Carolina.

The School Chess Program, begun by the USCF in 1975, attempts to promote American chess by having noted US Masters visit high schools. The cost of the visit is split between the USCF and the local organization.

The public is invited to come to the exhibition and urged to bring a chess set. There will be a 50 cents admission charge to help cover the costs of the Master's visit.

Offer Mark Equipment

The Greenville Police Department and the Pitt County Sheriff's Department are sponsoring a "Mark-A-Thon" Sunday from 1 p.m. until 6 o'clock at Pitt Plaza, in cooperation with the Pitt County Insurance Exchange and the Pitt County Association of Insurance Women.

Chief Glenn Cannon and Sheriff Ralph Tyson said the Sunday Mark-A-Thon is being held in an effort to aid individuals with citizens band radios, FM converters, monitors, tape players or other electronic equipment in their vehicles by having the equipment marked with an easy-to-identify number.

Both law enforcement officials said marking electronic equipment with special identifying numbers (generally an individual's driver's license number) will make it easier for police to identify stolen items and aid in preventing thefts of such equipment from vehicles.

In addition to engraving an approved identification number on the electronic equipment, officers, Sunday, will mark each item with a fluorescent ink not visible to the naked eye under normal light.

The officers will also affix a sticker to each piece of equipment identifying it as having been "marked for ready identification and recorded with..." the police and sheriff's departments.

Windshield stickers, warning that "all electronic equipment in this vehicle has been marked for ready identification..." will also be distributed to those persons participating in the Mark-A-Thon program.

Both Chief Cannon and Sheriff Tyson urged persons who wish to have their equipment marked to have the items already disconnected. "It will be easier for us to have the items disconnected before they get there," Cannon said.

Although primarily designed for electronic equipment in cars, officers Sunday will mark "anything they bring," Sheriff Tyson noted.

Chief Cannon said similar programs in other cities have resulted in a marked decrease in the theft of electronic components from vehicles.

Regional Event

The Regional Special Olympics event will take place on Saturday at the East Carolina University Track and Field area beginning at 10 a.m. The olympics will continue until 3 p.m.

About 400 handicapped athletes from Pitt, Martin, Beaufort, Wilson, Nash, Edgecombe and Halifax Counties are scheduled to take part.

A number of track and field events are planned. Winners will attend the statewide Special Olympics to be held in Raleigh May 21-23.

The Regional Special Olympics is co-hosted jointly by the ECU Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and the Greenville Parks and Recreation Department.

The meet is open to the public and all interested persons are being encouraged to attend and to give support to the handicapped athletes of this area.

Patty, 'Squeaky' In Same Prison

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Patricia Hearst, the star boarder in an ultra-modern prison without bars, has settled into a daily routine dominated by her meetings with psychiatrists and counselors, her warden says.

Warden J.D. Williams said the 22-year-old convict-heiress is "doing O.K." at the federal Metropolitan Correctional Center where she was brought for a special evaluation.

"She is here for study and observation," said Williams.

The results of those studies could help U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter determine Miss Hearst's final sentence on bank robbery charges.

Convicted March 20 in San Francisco, Miss Hearst is under a temporary 35-year sentence, a formality required for her commitment at San Diego.

Her arrival here was delayed when she was hospitalized for a collapsed lung April 13.

Williams said in a telephone interview that Miss Hearst is undergoing medical as well as psychological tests in a format designed to put her at ease.

"We don't call for six or eight hours of continuous interviews," Williams said, "because we don't want to antagonize anyone or get them frustrated. That's why they give us 90 days for such studies."

When she is not being interviewed, Miss Hearst may choose from a number of prison activities — watching TV, sunning on the roof or playing basketball or volleyball in the outdoor exercise area.

After a visit last weekend, Miss Hearst's father, San Francisco Examiner President Randolph A. Hearst, said his daughter was using the rooftop sun area. During her seven months at the San Mateo County Jail, the slim newspaper heiress' only exposure to the outdoors was during her rides to and from the federal courthouse.

Williams said Miss Hearst's day begins at 6:30 a.m. when she is served breakfast in her room. She and four other inmates are confined in the third floor hospital unit — apart from more than 400 other inmates. The institution's other celebrity prisoner, Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, is housed on the ninth floor and has not met Miss Hearst. Miss Fromme was convicted of attempting to assassinate President Ford.

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock prices rose in quiet trading today, rebounding from the three-week low they reached on Wednesday.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 4.33 at 990.79, and gainers took a 6-5 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

As trading began, the government reported that the rise of its wholesale price index accelerated to a 9.6 per cent annual rate in April from 2.4 per cent the month before.

But economic observers had given investors several days' advance warning that the April figure was likely to show a substantial rise.

Some, in fact, appeared to have been encouraged that the jump in the index wasn't even larger than it turned out to be. McDonnell Douglas rose 1/2

2 1/4 in active trading. On Wednesday the company received a $233 million contract for fighter planes.

Otis Elevator gained 3/4 to 45 and United Technologies added 1/4 to 67 1/4. The two companies announced agreement Wednesday on terms for their planned merger.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks added .09 to 53.76 in the first hour.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .05 at 102.11.

Highway 264...

"We're extremely concerned," Taft commented, "that the consulting firm understand the needs of the 264 area. If we are going to continue any productive highway-oriented development," U.S. 264 needs to be improved.

"Half-way measures will not satisfy us," Taft emphasized.

Taft noted that a fund-raising campaign, designed to raise money with which to promote U.S. 264, is progressing. "The first reports coming in are good," he said.

The purpose of the Highway 264 Association, organized in September 1975, is "to accomplish the development of U.S. 264 into a limited access, four-lane divided highway from Zebulon to the coast," Taft, a Greenville attorney, said.

He noted that membership in the association is open to "anyone . . . person or corporation or group, interested in the improvement" of the highway. Taft said anyone interested in becoming a member should contact "Bill Mitchum at Branch Banking and Trust Co. He can arrange membership."

Rocky Mount Eases Past Rampants, 4-3

STRETCH—Phillies first baseman Tommy Hutton gets the ball before Houston Astros Larry Milbourne can get back to first on a pickoff attempt in the first inning of Wednesday night's game in Philadelphia.

However, Umpire Frank Pulli called a balk on pitcher Steve Carlton and awarded Milbourne second base. The Phillies won, 6-3. (AP Wirephoto)

ROCKY MOUNT — Steve Partin hurled a perfect game for five innings against Rose High School last night, but his Rocky Mount teammates had to rally for a run in the bottom of the seventh to pull out a 4-3 win over the Rampants.

Partin sailed along without a baserunner until two were out in the sixth inning. Greg Sasser then broke up the attempt at a perfect game with a single that just dropped into left field ahead of the charging fielder. Rose went on to push over two runs in the seventh, but couldn't hold off the Gryphons, who scored one in the fourth, two in the sixth and one in the seventh.

Partin ended up with a two-hitter, walking just two and striking out four. He got good help from his teammates, who made no errors, and saved what could have been the first hit in the fourth, when Greg Clark made a diving catch in left field.

Rose, which used three pitchers, didn't have as good of luck. Two of the four Gryphon runs were unearned, as errors helped them along. Rocky Mount also pounded out nine hits, all of them singles, and benefited from seven walks.

Even after a double play got the Rampants out of one jam, they got into another in the first inning. With two down, a single and two walks loaded the bases before a line drive ended the frame.

Two walks put Rocky Mount into scoring position in the third, but again, a double play came to the rescue.

In the fourth, however, Rocky Mount broke the ice with a run. Gary Ward opened the inning with a walk and Phil Braswell singled. Both were sacrificed out by Michael Upchurch.

Billy Luther grounded back to third, where the ball was bobbled, then relayed to the plate, not quite in time to catch the sliding Ward, scoring the first run.

Another hit, by Clark, loaded the bases, before Rose finally got out of it with a strikeout and an infield out.

The Rampants finally got something going in the sixth. Sasser broke open the perfect game with a single, then stole second. David Dixon walked, and Jim Wilkerson hit a grounder to short that was played too late to second to get the speedy Dixon. Sasser, meanwhile, kept on coming and beat the relay back to home to tie it up. Mike Belton followed that up with the only other Rampant hit, scoring Dixon for a 2-1 lead.

Rose couldn't hold it, however, as Rocky Mount charged back to take a 3-2 lead. Braswell reached on an error and Upchurch, attempting to sacrifice, reached on a fielder's choice that got no one out. After a sacrifice moved them to second and third, hits by Ricky Smith and Randy Roberson each scored a run, giving the Gryphons the lead again.

Rose tied it with one in the top of the seventh. Eddy Conolly walked and Jay Chenier ran for him, moving to third on two wild pitches. Wright Hooks then laid down a perfect squeeze bunt, scoring Chenier.

But it was to be Rocky Mount's night. Partin singled to open the bottom of the seventh. After he was sacrificed to second, Ward reached when Sasser fell trying to field his grounder to short. Braswell was intentionally walked, but Upchurch spoiled the strategy by getting a single to score the winning run.

The loss killed the Rampant chances at the title. They are now 11-7 overall and 6-5 in the league, in third place. Rocky Mount is now 10-9 overall and 3-8 in the conference. Two of their wins came over Rose.

First Federal Gains Opener

First Federal opened its Little League career with a 7-4 victory over the Graniteers in the Tar Heel Little League yesterday.

The Graniteers pushed over three first inning runs, but First Federal, with one in the first and four in the fourth, got all they needed.

The Graniteers got three in the opening frame for the lead. Lance Searl reached on an error and Tony Ellis reached on a fielder's choice. Isaac Smith singled in two runs, and scored when Mike Tucker sacrificed him in.

The only other Graniteer run came in the fifth when Steve Holloman scored after he reached on a single. A balk brought him across.

First Federal got one in the first as Randy Warren walked, stole both second and third and scored on an error.

They added four for a 5-3 lead in the fourth. Horace Barrett walked, Clifton Warren singled, and a passed ball scored the first run. Warren scored on Keith Stocks' hit, and Joseph Joyner got a hit to score Stocks. Montgomery Carter doubled in Joyner.

Two more came over in the fifth, with Warren, Stocks and Joyner getting key hits.

East Carolina Adds Another To List Of Basketball Recruits

East Carolina University has signed its second All-Metro basketball player from Maryland. Coach Dave Patton announced today the signing of 6-7 forward Herb Gray from Bowie High School, named to the ten man first team All-Metro Squad.

Gray averaged 25 points per game his senior year, which was tops in the Maryland suburbs Metro area, and 21.8 points per game for his career. His rebounding career average was 12.3 over two years. Game highs included 38 points and 28 rebounds.

Additional honors include All-County for two years, All-State as a senior and one of eight players to be honored by WTOP-TV on the Topper Awards Show, a district athletic honor in the Metro area.

Gray has been selected to play on a Metro area team that will go against a Russian high school all-star team on May 11 at the Capital Center. Earlier this year, Gray played on the Metro All-Star team in the McDonald's Classic for a Washington, D. C., AAU team in the national tournament in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Over the last two seasons at Bowie High School, Gray has set 18 of 32 school records, including ten season records, three game records and five career records. The school career records are: highest scoring average (21.8), most field goals scored (411), most field goals attempted (886), most free throws made (184) and most total points scored (1006). "Herb gives us an ingredient that we are missing," said Patton, "in that Herb is an outstanding outside shooter and fills the lane on the break. Also, Herb is one of the fastest players from one end of the court to the other that I've ever seen."

"His attitude and dedication is also a plus. He'll contribute greatly to our program."

The Seat Pleasant, Md., native is the fourth signee for Patton this year. Earlier, Herb Krusen of Silver Spring, Md., also an All-Metro player; Jim Ramsey of Cary, N. C.; and Don Whitaker of Louisburg Junior College announced their signing with East Carolina University. Transfer Greg Cornelius, from New Albany, Ind., will also be eligible for the 1976-77 season.

Optimists Rip Kiwanis, 15-5

The Optimists romped to a 15-5 win over the Kiwanis in a game shorted to five innings by darkness in the North State Little League yesterday.

The Optimists pushed over five runs in the first, added one in the second, and came up with five in the third to put the game on ice. They added four more in the fourth.

Two walks, a double and a single got things going for the Optimists as Tommy Heath's double and a passed ball got the first two runs in. Jonathan Hause singled in another run, and a two-run homer by Paul MacMillan finished it off.

In the third, Hause singled to get it going, and after MacMillan reached on a fielder's choice, Rudy Stalls hit a three-run homer. Sammy Hodges followed with a solo roundtripper, and Andy Holloman scored after doubling, when Jeff Porter singled.

A series of walks, climaxed by a double by Brian Hill got the Kiwanis three runs in the second, and two more crossed in the third on more walks.

Hodges, Porter and Michael Moon combined for a one-hitter for the Optimists.

Pitchers Have Rough Time In Chicago

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It wasn't healthy to be a pitcher in Atlanta or New York Wednesday night. It's never healthy to be one in Chicago. St. Louis' Pete Falcone had a neat three-hit siffout going in the eighth inning in Atlanta when Jerry Royster knocked him down — and out of the game — with a double off his knee-cap. It didn't hurt much — and neither did the performance of relievers Mike Proly and Al Hrabosky, who kept the Braves hitless and preserved the Cardinals' 4-0 victory. New York's Jon Matlack was working on an equally neat six-hit siffout against Cincinnati in the 10th inning, when cramps in the fingers of his left hand — his pitching hand — forced him out of action. Ken Sanders took over and got the final out of the inning. In the 11th, the pain set in. Tom Hall couldn't do anything right. In one-third of an inning, he gave up two hits, two walks and the two runs that gave the Reds a 2-0 victory over the Mets. In Chicago, the wind was blowing, namely blowing up the pitchers' earned-run averages by blowing baseballs out of Wrigley field at an alarming rate. Los Angeles ripped a club-record seven home runs, two by Henry Cruz, in their 16-hit attack and the Cubs got 21 hits, including a pair of three-run homers from Rick Monday. The Dodgers' power prevailed for a 14-12 victory that extended their winning streak to 11 games.

In the rest of the National League, Philadelphia beat Houston 6-3, San Diego defeated Montreal 6-4 and Pittsburgh downed San Francisco 6-1. Reds 2, Mets 0. George Foster's tie-breaking single and an RBI hit by Ken Griffey ended the goose-egg marathon between the Reds and Mets. Joe Morgan opened the 11th with a walk off Hall and stole second. After Perez drew a one-out walk, Foster grounded his single to left. Dodgers 14, Cubs 12. The Dodgers, taking advantage of the 31-mile-an-hour wind, also got homers from Bill Buckner, Ron Cey, Steve Yeager, Bill Russell and Ed Goodson. They scored in every inning but the ninth. Don Sutton stayed around just long enough — less than six full innings — to pick up the victory. "I'm happy we won," he said, "but what am I supposed to do, be happy I gave up seven runs? If I had to play 81 games here, I'd take my chances selling Toyotas in California." Padres 6, Expos 4. Doug Rader's three-run homer in the fourth wiped out Houston's 3-0 lead, then pinch-hitter Ollie Brown chipped in with a two-run homer later in the inning to wrap up Philadelphia's victory.

Barry Hot, But Suns Overshadow Warriors

By ERIC BREWSTER
AP Sports Writer

OAKLAND (AP) — There was no stopping Rick Barry, but somehow the Golden State Warriors collapsed around their captain. "It was a wasted effort, the night as well, having played home," Barry said in disappointment Wednesday night after scoring 44 points in a 108-121 playoff loss to the Phoenix Suns.

Phoenix, where the Suns have a home-court winning streak. "We have confidence that we can play with Golden State. I'm not predicting we're going to knock them out of the playoffs. They're a great team, the champs. But they're not going to beat us by 25 points again," said Paul Westphal, who led the Phoenix scoring attack with 31 points. The Suns regrouped after the first game embarrassment and played a little slower and a lot smarter, Westphal and other players explained. The Suns were patient on offense and usually were rewarded with good shooting opportunities.

They were able to work the ball inside on us. That made the difference," said Warriors Coach Al Attles. "Their little shots killed us." Westphal made 14 of 19 field goal attempts, sneaking inside for many shots, and the Suns' other starting guard, Ricky Sobers, scored several of his 23 points from close range. All five Suns front courters were in double figures. Sobers, a rookie, was the team's defensive standout, virtually shutting off Golden State's All-Star guard Phil Smith. Smith, who averaged 29.5 points in the opening series against Detroit, got off only six shots and totaled eight points in 23 minutes Wednesday night, fouling out early in the fourth period after Golden State had cut a 10-point Phoenix lead to North Johnson's Pearson, winning the shot and discus was the only other double winner. Summary of winners: Shot put: Pearson (NJ) 44.2; High jump: L.S. She topped Gay Bryant of Walnut Creek, who finished second with a 160. Her teammate Thomas of Brook Valley was the low net winner in the championship flight with a 114.

Other area winners included Nancy Monroe, low net winner in the first flight with a 145; and Don Aldridge, low gross winner in the fourth flight with a 196. Both of them are from Greenville Golf and Country Club. Mrs. White also won the prize for the longest drive.

Vanessa Teel started the victory for Williamston as she Hopkins went two for two, and Sharon Speller, two for two, and Valeria Barnhill, two for five with a double for the Tigerettes. Ervin led Edenton with four hits in three trips. Williamston took a 3-0 lead and 6-0 in the bottom of the first to Chocowinity. Williamston 7, Edenton 0.

Palmer Hurls Two-Hitter At Chisox

By FRED ROTHENBERG
 AP Sports Writer

Chicago White Sox Manager Paul Richards had a little secret to tell: "If Kelly doesn't miss the take sign in the first, he probably would have pitched a no-hitter."

Richards was talking about Baltimore Oriole ace Jim Palmer and his personal nemesis Pat Kelly, who stroked a leadoff single, effectively turning Palmer's no-hitter into a one-hitter.

Palmer didn't allow another hit until Ralph Garr's two-out bloop single in the ninth and finished with his seventh career two-hitter and a 2-0 gem of a victory against the White Sox Wednesday night.

But the damage had been done in the first inning because Kelly's hitting was a lot better than his vision.

Kelly had worked the count to three balls and one strike, and Richards flashed the don't-swing sign to his third base coach Jim Busby, who then relayed it to Kelly.

Something must have been lost in the translation because Kelly swung away, lacing a hard single between first and second.

"Kelly usually leads off with a single off me," Palmer said. "I felt comfortable with him on base."

Elsewhere in the American League, the Kansas City Royals downed the Boston Red Sox 8-4, the Minnesota Twins rocked the Detroit Tigers 8-2; the New York Yankees ripped the California Angels 10-4, and the Cleveland Indians beat the Oakland A's 3-1. The game between the Texas Rangers and Milwaukee Brewers was postponed by rain.

Palmer, who won the Cy Young Award in 1973 and 1975, settled for his 37th career shut-out, a continuing Oriole record. The fireballing righthander has three one-hitters to go with the no-hitter he threw against the Oakland A's in 1969.

Yankees 10, Angels 4
 The expected pitching duel between California's Nolan Ryan and New York's Catfish Hunter fizzled, although Ryan said he had his best stuff of the season and Hunter finished with a six-hitter.

Two-run singles by Mickey Rivers and Thurman Munson keyed a six-run eighth-inning rally that chased Ryan, 3-2.

Royals 8, Red Sox 4
 The Red Sox, American League champions last season, are still reeling. Last in the AL East, the Red Sox lost their sixth straight game and now find themselves with a 6-11 record, six games behind the first-place Yankees.

Ford's homer was his fourth of the season while Kusiak's was his first of the year.

Indians 3, A's 1
 Alan Ashby singled off Oakland relief ace Rollie Fingers to

Twins 8, Tigers 2
 Dan Ford drove in four runs with a two-run homer and a single and Craig Kusiak slugged a three-run homer to lead Minnesota over Detroit.

STUNS STEELERS
 NEW YORK (UPI) — O.J. Simpson of the Buffalo Bills turned in the best individual rushing performance of the 1975 NFL season against the Super Bowl Champion Pittsburgh Steelers. Simpson dented the Steeler defense for 227 yards on 28 carries to tie former Cleveland star Jim Brown with four 200-yard games in a career.

Petty After Ninth Victory

By JOE EDWARDS
 Associated Press Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Richard Petty seeks his ninth Grand National victory on Nashville's short track Saturday night although Cale Yarborough has been the big winner here during the last three years.

Petty, of Randleman, N.C., last won at the five-eighths mile Nashville Speedway in 1974. Earlier victories were in 1964 (twice), 1965, 1966, 1967, 1969 and 1971.

Yarborough, of Timmonsville, S.C., won this race—the Music City 420—in 1973 and the companion Nashville 420 in July in 1974 and 1975.

He's been the most successful driver this year, having won the first leg toward the national driving title.

Petty, who has claimed six previous national driving crowns, has won only one Grand National event this year and is in third place in the point standings. Benny Parsons of Ellerbe, N.C., is second.

The first 10 spots in the 33-car field will be filled in qualifying Friday night, with the rest of the field qualifying Saturday afternoon. There are 40 entries.

In addition to Petty and Yarborough, other top drivers competing will be Buddy Baker, who won last Sunday's Winston 500 at Talladega, Ala.; Parsons; Bobby Allison; Dave Marcis and Darrell Waltrip.

David Pearson is passing up this race as he has for the past several years.

Waltrip won his first Grand National race here last year. Since then he's won twice on other tracks.

Saturday night's race, and the one here in July, are the only Grand National events at night.

Race officials said the purse totals $56,250 with the winner getting $6,265.

Ambassador Duo Chosen More Artists, Craftsmen Won Sidewalk Art Show Recognition

1976 Community ambassadors . . . Hank Dunbar and Pamela Bath will represent Greenville overseas this summer. Both are Rose High juniors.

Pamela Bath and Hank Dunbar have been chosen for the two Greenville Community Ambassadors to live abroad with a family in the summer of 1976. For both it will be their first trip to Europe.

The two juniors are among more than 1,800 high school and college students nationally who have been selected as representatives from America to other nations under the auspices of The Experiment in International Living.

Ms. Bath, a native of Ann Arbor, Michigan, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bath. She has been living in Greenville for ten years. She will be staying with a French family, but she does not yet know the town or the name of her host family.

Ms. Bath has been active in music studies for several years and has won numerous local, regional and state awards for achievements in violin. She has played in the Rose High Orchestra for two musicals, Oklahoma and Carousel and had the lead feminine role in the school's production of My Fair Lady.

A native of Lumberton, he is a member of the National Honor Society. Ms. Bath is a ballet student at the Ballet Arts Workshop and is a member of the Madrigal Singers of Rose High School. Her hobby is collecting dolls.

Hank Dunbar will represent Greenville in the Alpine country of Austria, where he hopes to have an opportunity to visit the Olympic city of Innsbruck and chances to take in some of the famed music, opera and ballet events for which the country is noted.

A native of Lumberton, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Dunbar of Farmville (they previously lived in Greenville). Dunbar has lived in Greenville for eight years.

Fishing and swimming are the two favorite pastimes of the ambassador-elect to Austria, who like Ms. Bath, has not yet been notified of the town or family who will be his host.

He admits that at this point his command of the German language is limited to "hello," "I love you," "goodnight" and "goodbye."

Dunbar is active in Greenville Youth Council and Student Government activities, and is a member of the Rose High Madrigal Singers. He has appeared in the school's productions of My Fair Lady, Ten Little Indians and Carousel.

Here's something a soybean farmer can rely on.

Roger Walker

From almost invisible bugs, to hail stones big as your fist, when it comes to all the variables soybean farmers contend with, it's a wonder they have any crop at all.

Most times, it's just not enough to do a good days work. Things can just turn against you and your crop. That's why it's so important to have good weed control you can count on. And in this uncertain business of coaxing soybeans out of the ground, it's wise to rely on a tested and proven tool. Like a labeled Lasso* plus Lorox* tank mix, proven performance for many growers.

It's one of the best soybean tank mixes because Lasso plus Lorox controls many grasses like giant, green and yellow foxtails, fall panicum, and crabgrass. The tank mix also controls many tough weeds like smartweed, ragweed, and teaweed—even reduces buttonweed competition.

And you won't be experimenting with your soybean seedlings with Lasso plus Lorox. Its good crop tolerance has been proven by many farmers.

Lasso plus Lorox. Now, you can at least be sure of your weed control.

Lasso the herbicide to start with. And stay with.

Lasso is a registered trademark of Monsanto Company

Going Blind But Won't Give Up Art

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Dan Girouard got fed up with the pressure of an advertising job a couple of years back and decided to junk it in favor of art.

With his new wife, he headed to Orlando to put the finishing touches on his college degree so he could go on to graduate school and teach painting.

"Then he started to go blind. 'I woke up one morning and my eye was full of blood,' says Girouard. 'I went to the doctor, who said, 'Dan, I don't think you're going to be able to paint any more.'"

For a man who depended on his eyes to interpret the world, the start of blindness was a staggering blow.

"My whole life was visual," says the bearded Girouard, stabbing the air with a cigar that he chews without lighting. "I looked at people, situations, and was able to be perceptive and translate it into an art form."

Girouard, 29, suffered from juvenile diabetes and the blindness was not totally unexpected. "But I didn't think it would happen so soon — not in my 20s."

While he retains a tiny bit of vision, the possibility of total blindness looms over him. He can no longer read and has learned braille.

Although he can still paint a little with the help of powerful magnifying glasses and with his wife helping pick out colors, Girouard has now geared his art around pottery, where hands can replace vision.

"If my eyes hold out, I'll probably continue to paint a little," he says. "But it's more or less pottery all the time from now on."

And his blindness has not changed his plans. He still wants to get a master's degree and teach art, perhaps to handicapped children.

Therein lies a problem. He says government counselors don't think a blind person can get a job teaching art and couldn't make a living at it.

Instead, Girouard says, counselors have urged him to use his art only as a hobby while going into something else for a career.

"They are willing to find me a job as a computer programmer or work in greenhouses," Girouard said. "But I'm an artist."

"I was an artist first, then I became blind. I'm not good in arithmetic. I'm not good in science. I'm good in art. That's it."

"I'm trying very hard not to let art become just a hobby. I'll tell you one damn thing — I'm going to fight."

He recalls a visit from a counselor who saw his paintings and offered to send him to a psychologist.

"She said my paintings showed a lot of frustration," Girouard said. "I said, 'Lady, get your ... off my property.'"

After he finishes his remaining coursework at a community college here, Girouard and his wife plan to move to his native Louisiana where he can take some special education courses and brush up on his pottery at the University of Southwestern Louisiana.

Then he hopes to be accepted, somewhere, into graduate school and figure out some way to pay for it.

"I think it's feasible," he says. "I don't think a blind man has got to work in a candy store."

'Builder Of Year' Named Report Five Collisions Occurred On Wednesday

The Greenville Home Builders Association has selected local contractor Ollie Harrington as "Builder of the Year."

Harrington's selection was announced during the association's May meeting this week.

OLLIE HARRINGTON

He was chosen, it was pointed out, on the basis of his "outstanding 29 year building career and his contribution to the Greenville community."

Harrington will go on to compete with other award recipients from throughout North Carolina for the state "Builder of the Year" award.

A Greenville native, he began his career in the construction business at the age of 19 as a carpenter's helper. He now owns Ollie Harrington Real Estate and Building Co. and is licensed general contractor and real estate broker.

Harrington and his wife, Grace, are the parents of three children.

An estimated $4,850 property damage resulted yesterday from a series of five collisions investigated by Greenville Police. Officers estimated heaviest damage resulted from an 11:30 a.m. collision at the intersection of Third Street and Memorial Drive involving cars driven by Myrell Nichols Blowe of Aulander and Dallas Mayo Jr. of 1118 Colonial Ave. which caused an estimated $1,100 damage to the Blowe car and $600 damage to the Mayo vehicle.

Police, who reported Blowe and a passenger in his car were injured, charged Blowe with failing to stop for a stop light. An estimated $500 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 12:03 p.m. collision on Atlantic Avenue 300 feet south of the Imperial Street intersection.

Officers, who made no charges, identified the drivers of the vehicles involved as Joe Anderson of 611 Church St. and Malissia Short Scott of 1502 West Fifth St.

No charges were made following investigation of a 7:35 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Fifth Street and Robert Avenue which involved vehicles operated by Charles Quentin Brown of 1307 North Overlook Dr. and Betty Anne Manning of Grifton.

Investigators estimated damage at $125 to the Brown car and $200 to the Manning auto.

Two of the collisions occurred on the Pitt Plaza Parking Lot, according to police, who made no charges in either of the incidents.

The first of the mishaps occurred about 4:33 p.m. and involved vehicles operated by Clifton Bell Hickman of 707 West Greenville Boulevard and Evelyn Dail Webb of Bell Arthur.

Damage was estimated by police at $600 to the Hickman car and $450 to the Webb auto.

The second collision occurred at 8:55 p.m. and involved cars driven by Bryan Hobbs of Raleigh and Joyce Crane Garden of Route 3, Washington. Damage was set at $400 to the Hobbs car and $375 to the Garden car.

Adopted Son Is Booked In Murder Probe

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The adopted son of actress Jane Russell and former football star Bob Waterfield has been booked for investigation of murder.

Robert "Bucky" Waterfield, 20, was freed on $5,000 bond Wednesday morning on an attempted murder charge. Hours later he was booked again after the death of the man Waterfield allegedly shot.

Oscar Hernandez, 26, was shot in the head Sunday at a Cuyama bar, said Santa Barbara County sheriff's deputies. They said Waterfield fired a pistol from a car, hitting Hernandez, who was sitting in the bar.

Waterfield, a farm worker, surrendered to authorities voluntarily and was held without bail pending arraignment. He is one of three adopted children of Miss Russell and Waterfield.

No Fine, No Points For 'Changed' Man

WINSTON-SALEM (A) — State District Court Judge John C. Clifford says extensive talks with John Kerr Spencer III have convinced him the 24-year-old son of a Winston-Salem businessman is a "changed person."

That's the reason Spencer walked away from the courthouse with no fine and no points added to his driving record although highway patrolmen said he led them on a 13-mile chase at high speed on his motorcycle.

Spencer was assessed only $50 court costs, and paid Monday.

He had been arrested Nov. 23 and charged with speeding more than 100 miles per hour, speeding to elude arrest, failing to heed a blue light and siren, and carrying a concealed weapon.

He later pleaded guilty to lesser charges of speeding and reckless driving. Court records show that Judge Clifford decided to postpone judgment indefinitely. The charge of carrying a concealed weapon was dismissed.

Eventually, Spencer received a prayer for judgment continued. This meant no fine, and no driving-record points.

In the last six years, according to records at the Department of Motor Vehicles, Spencer has acquired four speeding violations and a conviction of careless and reckless driving.

His license was suspended early last year. It was returned last May.

A-Rating To Invite Views From Public

The Pitt County School's Sanitation Report was submitted to the Board of Education Monday by Assoc. Supt. Tom Craft. Of the 21 schools inspected only one school received below a Grade A rating.

The following are the grades received by the schools: Ayden Elementary 95.5-A 3-8-76; Ayden Grammar 90.5-A 1-15-76; Ayden-Grifton 97.0-A 1-13-76; Belvoir Primary 90.5-A 2-16-76; Belvoir Grammar 90.0-A 2-16-76; Bethel Elementary 96.0-A 4-1-76; Chicod 82.0-B 2-3-76; D. H. Conley 91.0-A 1-21-76; A.G. Cox 93.5-A 1-20-76; Falkland 90.0-A 2-9-76; Farmville Central 90.5-A 2-9-76; Farmville Middle 90.0-A 2-7-76; Grifton 95.5-A 1-22-76; G.R. Whitfield 90.0-A 2-18-76; H.B. Sugg 90.0-A 1-22-76; North Pitt 95.0-A 2-4-76; Pactolus Elementary 91.0-A 2-17-76; W.H. Robinson 90.0-A 1-21-76; Sam Bundy 91.5-A 2-2-76; Stokes Elementary 90.5-A 2-10-76; Stokes-Pactolus 91.0-A 2-10-76.

"The Grade B that Chicod received was because of a sewage problem which is presently being corrected," Assoc. Supt. Craft explained.

A public hearing scheduled by the N.C. Department of Human Resources here May 18 is designed to give the public an opportunity to express their views on an application to the U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare asking that the Human Resources Department be named the State Health Planning and Development Agency.

An article published in yesterday's edition of The Daily Reflector incorrectly reported that the hearing was to be held on a proposal from the Eastern Carolina Health System Agency that it be designated a state health planning and development group.

The hearing on the Department of Human Resources' application to be named the State Health Planning and Development Agency is set for 7:30 p.m. May 18 at the Willis Building (East Carolina University Regional Development Institute), at the intersection of First and Reade Streets.

The Greenville hearing is one of six scheduled state-wide on the application.

Hospital Week Observance To Begin May 9

Pitt County Memorial Hospital joins the nation's 8,000 hospitals in observing National Hospital Week beginning Sunday, May 9, Hospital Director Jack W. Richardson said.

The theme for the celebration, "Healthy Birthday, America!", emphasizes the efforts hospitals are making to help and encourage individuals to stay healthy.

"While Pitt County Memorial Hospital is dedicated to caring for the ill, we want the community to know that our interest in their well being extends beyond their treatment in our institution," Richardson said. "We feel an obligation to educate people about steps they can take which will make valuable contributions to their own good health."

National Hospital Week is an annual observance sponsored by the American Hospital Association and its members to give people an opportunity to learn more about the hospitals in their community.

ECU Voted Member Health Center Ass'n

East Carolina University has been voted full institutional membership in the Association for Academic Health Centers. The association is made up of administrative entities in higher education. Requirements for membership include a medical school in a university setting, a teaching hospital relationship and at least one other health profession school. East Carolina University has two such schools, the School of Allied Health and the School of Nursing. The umbrella administrative unit is the ECU Division of Health Affairs. Dr. Edwin W. Monroe, Vice Chancellor for Health Affairs, represented ECU at the recent Spring meeting of the association in Washington, participating in discussions concerning pending federal legislation in health manpower training and health care services.

The role of the association, Dr. Monroe said, is "to provide a focus of leadership in higher education contributing to the formulation and coordination of health policy on the national scene in cooperation with other national organizations representing higher education, health professional schools and the health professions."

The association, made up of 88 institutional members in the U. S. and five associate members in Canada and Mexico, also provides a coordinating role with the other national organizations to identify and to ease the problems of interrelationships among the health professions, Dr. Monroe said.

Rock Power Attracted Carmen

By LEE MARGULIES
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — It is fitting that Eric Carmen's first solo album should produce a hit single entitled "All By Myself." But on the same album is another song, "No Hard Feelings," which really tells the story of how he came to be by himself.

We was young
And still believed in "A Hard Day's Night"
But no one seemed to understand
And there was no relief in sight.

Carmen, 26, was the lead singer and songwriter for a popular rock group out of Cleveland called the Raspberries, which disbanded early in 1975 after four aggravating years of living with a teenybopper image.

"It was a classic case of young rock 'n' roll band from the sticks gets manhandled by big bureaucratic organization," he says.

While we was locked in Image Prison

Waitin' for that break
We was raped, reshaped and tryin' to escape
Caught in a rock and roll time warp.

"In the beginning," said Carmen, "we were a real good, straight rock 'n' roll band. We were writing quality tunes. Our aim was to be playable on both AM and FM radio — something no one had done in a while. That was the total goal of the band."

But not of Capitol Records, which chose to promote the Raspberries strictly as a Top Forty, teen-oriented band.

"We became pigeonholed as a teen band, which we never intended to be," Carmen said. "There was nothing wrong with having teen-age fans, but we were hoping to appeal to a much broader audience than the 13-to-17-year-olds. It destroyed our credibility (with the older audience) when Capitol would take us over to 16 Magazine every two weeks."

He said it took the group about two years to realize they could play an active role in determining their fate. They struck out in new directions musically but by then it was too late, and they only succeeded in alienating the fans they already had. Dejection set in.

We gave it everything we had to give
But it was gettin' so tough
Too much frustration makes it hard to live

I think enough is enough.
One year after the Raspberries' demise, the tousle-haired Carmen has neither hard feelings nor regrets about the experience. At least not while he's lounging beside the Beverly Hills Hotel swimming pool and musing on the success engendered by "All By Myself," which hit the top of the singles sales charts last month.

As he had hoped it would, "All By Myself" frees him of any lingering teenybopper stigma. The album version runs more than seven minutes and features a long piano solo by Carmen reflecting his extensive training in classical music.

Although that song is a rather melancholy tale of solitude, the "Eric Carmen" album as a whole is full of youthful exuberance. The tempo is upbeat with simple melodies and lush orchestrations.

The net result is that the singer-musician-composer is getting a lot more attention and airplay than he ever did with the Raspberries. He feels it's largely because people are listening to his music without preconceived ideas about it, not because it is so different from what he was doing before.

rock 'n' roll.
It hadn't happened overnight. He can still remember accompanying his mother to a grocery store one day back in Cleveland, where he still lives, and seeing an early Elvis Presley album that proclaimed on the cover, "50,000 fans can't be wrong!" "Oh yes they can," Eric told his mother.

Everett To Be Delegate

Clifton W. Everett Sr. of Bethel will be a delegate to the Fourth Circuit Judicial Conference scheduled for White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, June 28 through July 1.

Everett was appointed as a delegate by Frank H. Watson, president of the North Carolina State Bar.

Everett is the senior partner of the law firm of Everett and Cheatham which maintains offices in Greenville and Bethel. As a member of the State Bar Council, he served on the Membership, Legislative and Ethics Committees. In addition, is a member of the Board of Governors of the N. C. Bar Association, and serves as chairman of the association's Committee on Family Law and as a member of the Real Property Committee.

Everett, recently appointed by N. C. Attorney General Rufus Edmisten as a member of the study commission on Eminent Domain for the N. C. General Statutes Commission, serves as vice-chairman of the Board of Trustees of Pitt Technical Institute as well as a member of the board of directors of Home Savings and Loan Association and as a director of Diversified Financial Services, Inc.

plosion that was part of Beatlemania, he began listening to the British foursome and others, including the Who, the Beach Boys, the Byrds and the Rolling Stones. After the discipline of classical music, he was attracted to the spontaneity and raw power of rock.

Within a three-month period, Carmen says, he abandoned his classical studies, taught himself to play guitar and joined a rock band. He vividly recalls his first job with the group, playing tunes such as "Louie Louie," "Long Tall Texan" and "Hang On Sloopy" at a local dance.

"They went wild. Chicks rushed the stage; they tore our clothes; it was pandemonium," he says with a smile, then a laugh.

"I've had rock 'n' roll fever from then on."

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Handle governmental and public matters carefully. Improve your credit. Take no chances where insurance, mortgage payments, etc., are concerned.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You may have a chance to get into new interests today that could prove fascinating and lucrative so be on the alert for opportunity.

Give as fine an education as you can afford and slant it toward work in the government or in big business, since there is fine organizational ability here, as well as the ability to follow orders.

South, declarer at three no trump, had an idea of the winning play to bring home his contract. Unfortunately his technique left a little to be desired.

The auction was routine, but slightly off target. Instead of simply raising to the no trump game, North should have introduced his five-card major suit. The resulting four heart contract would have been proof against anything but the unkindest of distributions.

West led the king of spades and continued the suit as declarer held up until the third round, discarding a diamond from dummy. South realized that he had little chance of coming to nine tricks without utilizing dummy's heart suit, and that it would be vital to keep West, the danger hand, off lead. To protect against the possibility of a bare king of hearts

FORT WORTH, TEX. (AP) — When most veterinarians are closing their hospitals for the day, the Fort Worth Small Animal Emergency Clinic is busy getting charts and instruments ready for another night's work.

The after-hours clinic is the brainchild of 25 Fort Worth veterinarians headed by Dr. George Siddons. The veterinarians pooled their time and money and set up the clinic as a corporation to provide emergency care for animals who might not live through the night without the aid of a veterinarian.

MORGAN NITROGEN SOLUTIONS FUEL EASTERN CAROLINA FARMS

Chartered tankers loaded with 30% Urea Ammonium Nitrate Solution sail from Holland to our Morehead City Terminal bringing our customers the highest quality nitrogen solution available.

The Dutch, pioneers in the development of synthetic nitrogen products, combine their chemical skill and abundant natural gas resources to produce a crystal clear fertilizer solution free of product impurities and extremely low in free ammonia. This solution provides a premium source of supplemental nitrogen for agricultural crops and serves as a free-spraying vehicle for weed control and applications. Cleaner solution means less clogging of filters and nozzles and less down time in the field; low free ammonia means less solution burn on emerging crops and no annoying fumes.

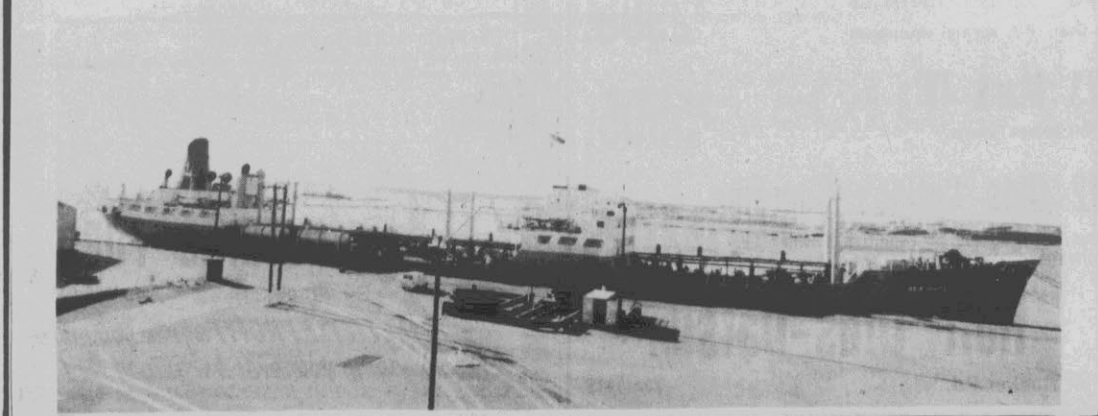

Complete operating control of our own deep-water terminal gives our customers a dependable supply of nitrogen solutions during supply shortages and heavy use periods. Morgan employees unload the ships, schedule and load our own trucks and rail cars and receive these solutions at our dealerships, avoiding time-consuming delays during the rush.

Morgan Nitrogen Solutions are still being made and sold with the same genuine concern for product quality and customer satisfaction typical of our company throughout its sixty-five year history.

Call on us when you come to the point of selecting the proper fertilizer for use under your 1976 crops.

Creator Frowns On New Barbie

By KEN DONEY
Associated Press
OAKLAND, Ore. (AP) - Bill Barton, who designed the original "Barbie" doll 18 years ago, says he's disappointed about the way Barbie has grown up.

"She's become a sex symbol," said Barton, who now has his own manufacturing business.

Barbie originally was "a very nicely thought-out concept for a little girl," Barton said, "a doll she could make clothes for, one with natural features and movements..."

"I really have some misgivings about what's happening today," he said. "She has just gotten too sexy."

The Mattel Inc. designed for Mattel Inc., Barton said, "is very similar in concept to the one on the market today. The face and most features are the same - except that her features have become exaggerated. The clothes have become oversexed."

And, said Barton, "they give her too big of a bosom, there, for the proportions of the doll."

Mattel could not be reached for comment.

Barton, who moved to Oregon from Los Angeles about a year ago, said he has some "misgivings about what's happening today," referring to "the moral implications in some of the product lines."

"I don't know if it's true, but I heard there soon will be a male doll with all the manly features. That's going beyond the realm of what's proper, I think."

"I guess I'm getting older and am becoming a prude," said the 49-year-old Barton, who lives with his family on a ranch in Oakland, a rural community in southwest Oregon.

Barton said of today's Barbie, "It has become an immoral situation where money and the selling of a product have become the most important thing."

More than 98 million dolls in the Barbie series have been reported sold, with Barbie sales accounting for most of that.
