Kissinger Avers Foreign Policy Is Set With Ford

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
OSLO, Norway (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger insisted today that he coordinates all foreign policy decisions with President Ford despite any "mumbling" to the contrary in the White House.

As an example, Kissinger told a news conference that before his recent Africa trip he went over all the points he intended to make with the President and briefed all concerned members of the President's staff.

"That does not mean that there may not be somebody without anything to do with foreign affairs mumbing something in the corridors of the White House," he said.

Kissinger's comments were his latest rebuttal to attacks on him and his foreign policies by candidates in the presidential campaign.

The secretary spoke at the conclusion of the semiannual meeting of North Atlantic alliance foreign ministers.

The 1½-day meeting ended with a reaffirmation of the ministers' commitment to "deterrent and defensive strength."

"Only if the security of the peoples of the alliance is guaranteed in this way can East-West relations continue to improve," the ministers said in a joint statement.

Diplomatic sources said the conference communique strongly reflected Kissinger's views, expressed in his address to the council Thursday.

On other topics, the statement:

—Expressed hope for a satisfacfactory U.S.-Soviet agreement on strategic arms limitation. Diplomats emerging from behind the closed doors told newsmen that Kissinger had little progress to report on SALT.

—Voiced concern about the serious situation caused by the continued instability in the Middle East. The ministers said rapid progress must be made toward a just and lasting settlement.

The ministers made no official mention of Africa, although it was reportedly discussed at some length in the morning session.

Kissinger missed most of the discussion on Africa, spending much of the morning in talks with Turkish Foreign Secretary

Ishan Caglayanil, Britain's new foreign secretary, Anthony Crosland, and Icelandic Foreign Minister Einar Agustsson. Topics included the Greek-Turkish dispute and the Iceland-British "cod war."

In his address to the ministers Thursday, Kissinger reportedly told the allies that America supports the independence of East Europe from Soviet domination and will never accept the sphere-of-influence concept for Europe.

U.S. officials said the secretary told the closed-door meeting that the United States is committed to encouraging the independence of East Europe and has taken positive steps in this direction.

Consumer Price Rise For April Led By Increased Costs Of Retail Foods

WASHINGTON (AP)—Led by the first rise in retail food costs in four months, consumer prices increased four-tenths of a per cent in April, the government said today.

The increase was the biggest price rise since January and was twice as large as the March increase of two-tenths of a per cent. However, it still was well within the Ford administration's prediction for an over-all 6 per cent increase in prices during all of 1976.

The Labor Department said the price of food rose six-tenths of a per cent during April, the first rise since a six-tenths of a per cent rise in December. Food prices had declined during the first three months of 1976 by a total of 2 per cent.

There were higher prices during April for fresh fruits and vegetables, coffee, pork, poultry and dairy products. The price of beef fell six-tenths of a per cent, but the decline was smaller than in the previous two months.

The department said the Consumer Price Index stood at 168.2 in April, meaning that goods which cost $100 in a base period in 1967 cost $168.20 last month.

However, workers' spendable earnings still were up 3.8 per cent for the 12-month period ending in April.

Prices for commodities other than food rose three-tenths of a per cent in April, the same rate of increase as in the previous two months. Prices charged for services rose five-tenths of a per cent, the smallest increase in eight months.

Medical care costs rose seven-tenths of a per cent, down slightly from the average monthly increase of about 1.1 per cent since last November.

There were mixed results on fuel prices, with the cost of gasoline and motor oil dropping nine-tenths of a per cent, the fifth consecutive monthly decline. However, prices charged for fuel oil and coal rose three-tenths of a per cent, the first increase in six months.

Figures in the Consumer Price Index were adjusted for seasonal variations. However, the over-all increase in the price index on an unadjusted basis also was four-tenths of a per cent.

School Condemned

An emergency special call meeting of the Greenville Board of Education is being held at 1 p.m. today.

Superintendent Glenn Cox announced the emergency meeting shortly before noon today, noting "that the City Building Inspector has condemned the Third Street School building as unsafe, and because of this ruling the board must take immediate action to close the school and relocate the students."

Details on where Third Street students will be relocated for the remainder of the school year will be carried in Sunday's paper.

Cooling Efforts In Calif.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter, Morris Udall and Frank Church have signaled they will not make massive efforts fighting California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in the June 8 California primary because of Brown's home-state power.

Udall and Church bowed out of a televised debate with Brown in Los Angeles next week, spokesmen said Thursday. Carter said he would concentrate on New Jersey and Ohio which also have June 8 primaries.

Udall also indicated he will make major efforts in those two states — and did mention California — while Church is concentrating on the smaller primary states before June 8 to seek momentum for the California voting.

Meanwhile, the candidates were seeking votes in some of the states that are holding their primaries this Tuesday, in addition to states voting on June 8.

Alabama Gov. George Wallace was in Arkansas, Church and Brown were in Nevada and Oregon, Udall in Kentucky and New Jersey and Carter in Nevada and California. Ronald Reagan was in Nevada and President Ford remained in Washington.

Says Session Disgraceful

By DAVID R. NELSEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Jim Holshouser sharply criticized the legislature today for what he called a "disgraceful" special session on the budget earlier this month.

"I've never seen anything like it," he said, adding that he was "ashamed of the performance."

While he praised the General Assembly's expansion of the kindergarten program so that all eligible 5 year olds can attend this fall, the governor had nothing else positive to say during a morning news conference.

Most of his outrage was directed at budgetary matters but he was also miffed that the legislature rejected his nominees to fill vacancies on the Utilities Commission.

He said the legislature "doesn't understand the confirmation process." He stated later that the rejection of his nominees and other actions taken by the legislature were based on partisan political factors rather than reason.

Holshouser refused to name any of the legislative leaders except Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt, who is seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, but he did single out leadership in the House.

He said Hunt called for stiff penalties for crime but the legislature cut the budget for corrections. The governor urged newsmen to ask Hunt where the prison inmates would be housed, since the state prison system is already overcrowded.

"The people in control — particularly in the House of Representatives — lack any vision..." he said, referring to the Democratic majority as having the weakest leadership he has seen in the legislature.

The legislature cut funds for programs that gave people access to government agencies through free long distance telephone lines. The governor promised to find the funds to insure that those programs continue.

"We're not going to stand by and let the people be that poorly served, he said, adding: "We will keep those hot lines open."

Alternatives In School Busing Goal Pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, denying that his offensive against court-ordered school busing is connected with upcoming primary elections, is considering ways to use federal money to help school districts avoid extensive busing, administration sources say.

Ford is also considering seeking new legislation as part of "a whole range of approaches" to limit the use of busing as a desegregation tool, according to a White House source.

The source declined to give details on how federal funds could be used to reduce busing ordered by federal courts.

Though officials are reviewing administrative and legislative proposals to curb busing, the first action in the Ford campaign will come on the judicial front if Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi decides to use the Boston school case as a vehicle for seeking new Supreme Court guidelines on busing.

Levi was to explain his views on government intervention in the Boston case at a meeting with Ford this afternoon. Justice Department spokesman Robert Havel said Levi had reached no decision as of late Thursday and that he may not do so until after the session with Ford.

Meeting with a group of visiting reporters from Kentucky on Thursday, Ford suggested the test case could even be made in Louisville, where busing orders led to racial unrest last fall.

The President told the Kentucky visitors he is considering three alternatives to busing, suggested several months ago.

Armed Robbery

Greenville Police are investigating an armed robbery reported at midnight last night at the Stop-N-Go at 2900 East Tenth St.

Chief Glenn Cannon quoted the clerk on duty at the time as saying a man, armed with a small caliber pistol, entered the store about 11:35 p.m. and ordered the money taken from the cash register and put into a bag. The attendant was then ordered to lie on the floor while the masked gunman escaped on foot.

Cannon said $121 was taken in the robbery.

George Wood Stresses Agricultural Interest

By JAMES KYLE
Reflector Staff Writer

Democratic gubernatorial candidate George Wood stressed his eastern North Carolina background and interest in agriculture in an interview here yesterday.

"There hasn't been a governor from east of Raleigh since 1933," Wood said, referring to the election of John Ehringhaus from Pasquotank County in that year.

A farmer and agribusinessman, Wood also said there hasn't been a "full-fledged farmer" in the governor's office in many years.

Wood, a native of Camden, said his chances in the race are good and he has been well-received in all parts of the state. He said interests in agriculture and education have provided him with many associations across the state.

Presently a member of the University of North Carolina Board of Governors, Wood served in the state legislature from 1963 until 1972, serving four years in the House and six in the Senate.

He originally campaigned for lieutenant governor this year, but joined the governor's race on April 29. One reason for this, he said, was the fact that his long-time friend, Skipper Bowles, dropped out of the contest.

The results of a public opinion poll which showed around a million Democrats were undecided on a candidate for governor and threats of the legislature to take appointive powers away from the lieutenant governor also prompted Wood to leave the crowded field of candidates for lieutenant governor and get into the race for governor.

Wood said the people of North Carolina are right now most concerned with the economy and unemployment. To improve these, Wood said he wants to attract industry to the state.

He proposes setting up a separate department of government to help locate industry in North Carolina. This department should be in the executive branch, he said.

Wood said he wants to see small industries, which can be easily absorbed into communities, attracted to the state. "We have the climate, education, people and all the necessary ingredients to do this job," he said.

Wood is also interested in better highways for eastern North Carolina and said he feels the next governor will have to put emphasis on getting those roads.

Wood said roads are necessary to develop the eastern part of the state to its full potential. He proposes a plan to link Greenville to Raleigh and also link Norfolk, Va., Morehead City and Wilmington with four-lane highways.

A greater emphasis in secondary education and vocational instruction in the state's high schools is also needed, according to Wood. Since only 20 per cent of all students get to college, a system of vocational training is needed for students who do not plan to attend college.

Wood also said he supports the East Carolina University Medical School and that he was one of its supporters on the UNC Board of Governors.

Cyrus Optimistic On Tobacco Crop's Marketing Prospects

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The chief of the Field Crop Section of the N.C. Department of Agriculture said Thursday that he is optimistic about the tobacco picture for the upcoming marketing season.

John Cyrus, speaking during the annual meeting of the Eastern Carolina Warehouse Association here, said that he is looking for a better season than the market has experienced in recent years and he pointed to the weather as being the only limiting factor.

The marketing expert, who annually attends the opening of the Eastern Tobacco Belt with a first stop in Greenville, predicted a better price support ratio for growers this season than in past years in view of a more stable price situation involving production supplies. The leveling out of fuel costs was also cited as contributing to a better outlook for the grower.

Cyrus predicted a price average for the state of $110 per hundred pounds for the coming season, up substantially from this past season's $101 per hundred pounds. He contended the average could climb even higher if a good crop is produced.

He sounded a note of warning concerning the rash of new warehouses going up and cited the grower designation plan which allows the farmer to select the warehouse of his choice for marketing as leading to the warehouse building spree.

Cyrus said that the addition of too many new facilities will spread the tobacco poundage thin since there is only so much poundage available in a given area.

Warehousing, Cyrus observed, is not as lucrative as it was in past years.

North Carolina this year will have an effective quota of 942 million pounds, he added, compared with last year's quota of 932 million pounds sold.

In addition to Cyrus, other tobacco industry personnel participating included Jimmy Hill, managing director of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association; Spencer Edmondson, Bright Belt president; and Shelton Griffin, director of Tobacco Associates.

The warehousemen reelected Harding Sugg of Greenville for another term as president and selected Charlie Griffin of Windsor as vice president, Jack Sharpe of Robersonville as assistant vice president, and J.N. Bryan of Greenville as secretary-treasurer.

The session served as a joint meeting of the eastern warehousemen and Coastal Plains Warehouse Association.

ALANON, ALATEEN

Could you please print some information in your column about the AlAnon program here in Greenville? How does one go about getting in touch with someone to join this program? Also, is there an AlaTeen program here? I don't want to leave my name and number.

Ben Webb, coordinator of the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Program of the Pitt County Mental Health Center said anyone having any bona fide interest in joining either the Alanon of the AlaTeen group here should call the Mental Health Clinic, 752-7151. Someone in the Alcohol and Drug Abuse section will then call a member of the group who will contact the interested person or family. These measures are, of course, to keep membership anonymous, the basis of the AlAnon philosophy. The two groups mentioned are for spouses and children of alcoholic persons.

WATCH HERE

My watch was sent back to the Alcor Manufacturing Company in Flushing, N. Y. Sept 4, 1975 by the Nichols Department Store here. I understand it is to be returned directly to me. I've written them twice, and Nichols tells me they've written, yet it's never come back. B.S.

Hotline wrote to the company and received an answer promptly. The person writing said that she would need to know Nichols' repair number in to look up your watch. When we called Nichols to ask about the repair number, we learned that your watch is at the store. We gave you the message that you may pick it up any time you like.

Wins Annual Speech Test

Mrs. Susan Carroll of Fountain recently won Pitt Technical Institute's Seventh Annual Speech Contest. Susan is enrolled in the Teacher Assistant Program. Her winning speech, entitled "Horace, The Invisible Pig," was a humorous speech.

Also participating in the contest were Patricia Flanagan and David Carroll.

The certificates, trophies, and plaques were presented to the winners by PTI President, Dr. William E. Fulford, Jr.

The Speech Contest was part of the Pitt Tech Student Government Association's Field Day exercises. Students, faculty, and staff attended a barbecue lunch which was followed by faculty and staff-student softball games, and a band concert.

SGA President, Lonnie Rouson, said the day's activities were successful and helpful in bringing faculty, staff, and students closer together.

Award Goes To Student

"The Father Maurice Spillane Outstanding Student Award" was presented to Miss Coleen A. Lemnah, of 1107 N. Overlook Drive, last evening.

The presentation was made during graduation ceremonies at St. Peter's Church for graduates of St. Raphael School.

Home-School Association President-elect Mrs. Jane Whichard presented Miss Lemnah with an engraved plaque, a $50 U.S. Savings Bond and a letter of congratulations from outgoing HSA President Frank Trotta.

Miss Lemnah's name and graduation date are also engraved on a memorial plaque on display at the school.

The award was established in January of this year by the St. Raphael Home School Ass'n in honor of the Rev. Spillane who was transferred to St. Paul's parish in New Bern after 14 years of serving St. Peter's parish and St. Raphael School in Greenville.

Severe Ground Erosion At 4 Schools Treated

Sixty-three acres of severely eroding school grounds at four Pitt County High Schools have been seeded to permanent grass, according to Ralph Tucker, of the Mid-East RC&D Council.

The seedings followed construction of 750 feet of grassed waterway; 1,350 feet of diversion; regrading of 16.6 acres of severely eroded subsoil; and installation of nine corrugated metal pipes. The land was limed, fertilized, disked lightly and seeded with tall fescue and common Bermuda grass seed.

Fourteen thousand square feet of clayey subsoil areas have been covered with excelsior matting used to slow down soil washing. Concrete structures will be built this month to control water at critical places. Concrete aprons will be formed and poured around two storm drains. Dry sand-cement mix will be used in burlap bags to lay up two grade control structures. Sixteen cubic yards of concrete will be used to pour two paved waterways.

The Soil Conservation Service, which administers RC&D funds for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, is cost-sharing on these school ground seedings by division of work. All of the work is being performed by the Pitt County Schools Maintenance Department under the supervision of Carl Heath. About 1.8 man years of employment will be required.

Thomas Craft, associate superintendent of schools, is serving as contracting officer for the RC&D Measure. The Soil Conservation Service is reimbursing the School Board for all the materials being used, which are expected to cost $17,290.

The Mid-East RC&D Project is sponsored by the Boards of County Commissioners and the Boards of Soil and Water Conservation Districts. The Council is concerned with the natural resources of the five-county area consisting of Beaufort, Bertie, Hertford, Martin, and Pitt Counties. Ralph Tucker, Burney Tucker, and J.H. Mobley represent Pitt County on the Mid-East RC&D Council.

Color Hues Give Personality Clues

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A quick way to gain some insight into the personalities of your fellow apartment dwellers is to check out the color schemes in their apartments, says the editor of a magazine devoted to apartment living.

Psychologists have known for a long time that certain personality types tend to prefer certain colors because they feel more in harmony with them. And because apartment dwellers tend to decorate with more individuality, the colors they choose may be especially revealing, says Dave Jordan of Apartment Life magazine.

Neighbors who use a lot of blue in their decor are often the type of people who like quiet, tranquil relationships, he maintained. Blue is a calm color and the person using it may be exhibiting an "easy-does-it" attitude as the result of a recent upheaval that taxed the individual's ability to cope or as the result of a lifetime of playing it cool.

The red neighbor is just the opposite and generally is a varied-interest person looking for excitement. "If you're seeking an active conversationalist, look toward your neighbor with the red living room," says Jordan.

White rooms can indicate two different types of people. "On one hand," Jordan says, "people who decorate in white may be cold and icy and tend to be sterile thinkers with life styles to match. On the other hand, these people may be aloof because they are genuinely above average and interested in and interesting to those standing apart from the crowd. You'll have to decide which type of person your neighbor is."

If you agree with your green neighbor, you'll find a strong ally; if not, watch out. Those decorating in green tend to be stubborn and tenacious and aren't happy if they don't get what they want. According to Jordan, green people often overcome rather than avoid obstacles, so step aside if you're in their way.

Yellow is a bright "sunshiny" color and apartments this color indicate the same type of person. If you're in the market for some positive thinkers, stop by the apartment where yellow dominates. You'll find out why all those "smile" buttons are yellow.

"A bit different" is sometimes the best way to describe that person who decorates completely in purples and violets. "You may find that the person living in an apartment of violet believes in magical relationships, the Hollywood version of life, and maybe even the Tooth Fairy," says Jordan.

You've read about the sensuous male and female — you just might find them in the nearest brown apartment. People using this color tend to enjoy their bodies and like to decorate their apartments with "comfy-cozy" companions.

"If you're the kind of person who likes cognac, suede and sitting in front of a fireplace on a deep shag rug, you've found a friend in a brown apartment dweller," Jordan adds.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

A father of four in Pelham, N.H., wants to know how I handled the problem of hand-me-downs.

He writes, "The girls, 10, 12 and 14, are still growing in varying degrees. They haven't worn anything that 'fits' in eight years. Twelve is just an inch shy of 14 and 10 wears tight. All three have an obsession about their height. They spent a week around the TV set watching the Winter Olympics waiting for someone over 5-3 to win a medal."

Well Pelham, N.H., you're not going to believe this, but on Feb. 16, 1969, at 8 a.m., a rare phenomenon took place in the Bombeck kitchen.

I looked at the kids as they readied for school. Something was weird. I could feel it. Then it hit me. Everything fit.

I can only compare it to a religious experience. The jacket sleeves broke just below the wristbones. The hems swirled at just the proper height at the knee. The darts in the dresses crested at just the right angle. The shoes clung snugly to the heel and not one kid had a safety pin on him!

"Something's wrong with this skirt," said my daughter irritably.

"What's the matter?" I asked. "The waistband. It's smooth. I feel funny without a roll around my waist."

"I hate these gym shoes," said my son. "I can't get used to wearing one pair of socks. I liked it better when I wore three pairs to get them to fit."

"Are my shoulders really this small?" said another son as he fingered the shoulder seam in the sweater.

"Children!" I said excitedly. "You are experiencing a manifestation that occurs with the regularity of Halley's Comet. All the hand-me-downs today are hand-me-fits!"

That day they were miserable. After all, kids like to look like all the other kids.

On Feb. 17, 1969, they once again appeared in the kitchen. During the night, the 10-year-old's arms had grown two inches, forcing him to wear the 12-year-old's sweater. The 10-year-old's feet had grown into a pair of boots that unfortunately had Snow White's castle on them, and the 15-year-old rolled up the sleeves on Daddy's shirt 18 times and the only gloves that fit him were black leather crushed to the elbow.

Oh well, I have the year 2969 to look forward to.

Pitt Women's Caucus Gives Contibution

A check for $200 was donated by the Pitt County Women's Political Caucus to Irma Worthington of Ayden, candidate for the N.C. House of Representatives.

The campaign contribution was formally presented to Mrs. Worthington Tuesday afternoon at the Pitt County Board of Elections office, after she filed for the Eighth District race.

The Women's Political Caucus is a nationwide, bipartisan, nonprofit coalition of voters which promotes the participation of women in the political process.

Among its chief functions are encouraging qualified women to run for office, raising women's issues in political campaigns, working for more appointments of women to policy-making positions and supporting legislation to end discrimination against women.

Freddie Jacobson, treasurer for the Committee To Elect Irma Worthington, accepted the Women's Caucus check from three caucus representatives: Mildred McGrath, Greenville Mayor Pro-Tem and former First District Caucus representative; Selma Forbes, secretary of the Pitt County Women's Political Caucus; and Tennala Gross, president of the N.C. Women's Political Caucus.

Give Elderly Room That Has A View

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I just returned from having visited an elderly friend in a nursing home, and it was so depressing to see all those old people sitting in their rooms just staring at the bare walls I could have cried.

The windows are so high they couldn't look out unless they stood up, and most old people cannot stand for very long—if they can stand at all!

Abby, why can't they build the windows in those homes low enough for people to look out of while sitting in their chairs? To see the leaves turn colors, the flowers blooming, the seasons changing, the people and automobiles pass, or even an occasional bird or squirrel would mean so much to them. It couldn't help but reduce their feeling of isolation and loneliness.

I hope you care enough to print this.

SOMEONE WHO CARES

DEAR SOMEONE: I care, too. Thank you for a wonderful letter.

DEAR ABBY: I see so many letters in your column from wives worrying about the "other women." The smart wife doesn't have to worry. She looks at it this way:

The male animal is an automobile with the key always in the ignition. Just because another woman comes along and wants to steal him—even for a joyride—she is no more entitled to keep him than the thief who steals an automobile.

The smart wife doesn't panic. She faces the matter forthrightly and takes positive action. After all, the key is in the ignition for HER use, too.

She should run the motor until her Don Juan is completely out of gas, and let the other woman wonder what happened when her lover registers "empty."

SECURE IN LONG ISLAND

DEAR SECURE: In defense of the male animal, I consider your metaphor a prime example of "reverse sexism." But I'm sure the males won't object.

DEAR ABBY: About the "NERVOUS WRECK" whose husband taught their 15-year-old son to mistreat his mother: The poor woman said, "Our preacher is very young and says he's had no training in marriage counseling, so he can't help me. Besides, he won't even talk to people who do not tithe, and my husband is one of them."

First, what kind of lily-livered nincompoop can that preacher be? Ask him how he would have dealt with the Samaritan woman at the well of Sychar (John 4, N.T.)! The Savior this pastor claims to serve broke Jewish tradition by daring even to speak to the woman; I wonder if she "tithed"?

I further wonder at the attitude this hypocrite would take toward the woman taken in adultery (John 8:1-11) or the widow who cast a mite into the treasury of the temple (Mark 12:41-44)? That smart aleck needs to be "shepherding" a flock like I need a hole in my head, and you can see from this letterhead that I am a preacher.

Let's call a spade a spade. That hypocrite pastor should be brought to his knees.

Thanks, kid!

Smoking Is A Personal Choice

Government bureaucracy never ceases to extend its tentacles.

The government some years back went to work on the cigarette industry. The bureaucrats decided that a warning should be put on all cigarette packs and in all cigarette advertising. They also eliminated all television advertising.

So now cigarette packs carry the warning, "The Surgeon General has determined that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health."

Cigarette smoking has continued however, even at a record pace. This upsets the Federal Trade Commission which now is considering adding the words "may result in your death" to the warning.

There is hardly a person in the nation, young or old, rich or poor, who is not aware of the warning presently printed on a pack of cigarettes. One would think that if there are dangers in cigarette smoking the government has done its job in warning of those dangers. Following that if there are still those who choose to smoke that should be their business in a free society.

To bureaucracy, however, that is not enough. The tentacles of government must reach further and further into our personal lives.

Visit Is Important To Old Friendship

French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing this week described his country as a "dependable friend" (of the United States) in prosperity and adversity.

At the White House he said relations between the two nations are at their best. Never has there been a time when contacts "have been more frequent, consultation more sustained and cooperation more good-willed."

France's friendship with the United States stretches back to Revolutionary War days. Our country sorely needs to continue its friendly relations with France, and d'Estaing's visit is important in this respect.

THIS AFTERNOON

Battle For Prison Space

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—The North Carolina General Assembly

came and went without Gov. James E. Holshouser, Jr., agreeing to meet with those seeking to get him involved in shifting prisoners to other space to relieve overcrowding.

"The governor did not see fit to meet with us," says Lt. Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr., who requested the meeting . . . then asked for a rejection in writing.

"We wanted that in writing so it would be clear that efforts were made . . . and in the event of disruptions this summer due to overcrowding the record would be clear," Hunt said.

Even without the governor's agreement, the General Assembly placed into law some recommended changes and the funds to carry them out.

But the actual work can only be done by the agencies involved under the direction of the governor.

Up To Them
Will the change be carried out? "Something must be done," Hunt says, "but the Legislature can only legislate . . . it is up to the executive now."

The measures do not go as far as the recommendations which were put forth by the Commission on Correctional Programs.

That study group chaired by former state senator Eddie Knox of Charlotte has suggested several sweeping steps: turn Women's Prison in Raleigh into a medium security unit for men, take over two juvenile training schools and some empty hospital space for prison use.

Adopting some of that, the General Assembly has written into the new budget law for 1976-77 that the Richard T. Fountain Reception and Diagnostic Center in Rocky Mount be transferred from the Division of Youth Services to the Department of Corrections.

The Youth Services Commission had rejected the suggestion by its director, Ray T. Shurling, that Fountain be closed, and the staff at Fountain has resisted that direction strongly.

The legislative action settles that dispute.

Further, the General Assembly has directed the Department of Corrections to use their own initiative during the coming year to pull together funds from unspent building project budgets, excess profits of the Prison Enterprises Fund, and any federal funds they can find to remodel Fountain and other property to relieve overcrowding in prisons.

Prisons officials say they have some 13,200 inmates in space for 10,200, with men sleeping in showers, hallways, and recreation rooms.

Worst crunch is at Central Prison where the maximum security inmates number some 1,500 in space for 900.

Will They?

But the big question remains: will the Department of Corrections take advantage of the flexibility set out in the law to bring about the changes? It is known that internal feuding among top leadership at the Department of Corrections has kept the problem from being resolved during the past two years.

There are now some clear signals, however, that Corrections officials will go ahead with at least minimal changes even in the absence of prodding from Gov. Holshouser.

A memorandum from Deputy Corrections Secretary Donald P. Torppa to legislative leaders indicates that the Fountain School will be used to house some 450 inmates, while additions would be built at two other existing prison camps to accommodate an additional 500 men.

Meanwhile, Knox has notified the various members of his commission of the refusal of the governor to meet and discuss alternatives and possible solutions through executive order.

He suggested to the various judges, district attorneys, law officers and others on the commission that if any had influence on Gov. Holshouser, it be used to persuade him to meet and discuss the situation. Spokesmen in the governor's office continue to say his schedule does not permit such a session.

Losing Agency Mail

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is telling its agencies to try to save money by sending some mail through private delivery firms instead of through the more expensive U.S. Postal Service.

The General Services Administration made the statement about the government's own mail agency in a bulletin circulated last month to federal agencies.

The bulletin, entitled "Reducing Mail Costs," was released Thursday by Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill.

One of the 10 recommendations contained in the bulletin was: "Use commercial small-parcel carriers as a cheaper alternative to priority mail and U.S. Postal Service-insured parcels."

United Parcel Service, a Connecticut-based company, has surpassed the Postal Service in recent years in the parcel field. Its rates average about 20 per cent below those of the Postal Service.

For example, a two-pound parcel sent from Washington to New York costs 93 cents by the government's parcel post and 75 cents by United Parcel.

A Postal Service spokesman, commenting on the GSA bulletin, said "Government agencies are mandated by law to use the most economical means available to them."

The GSA bulletin said "increases in postage rates have significantly increased mailing costs" in recent years.

It said the federal government's postage costs increased from $301 million in fiscal year 1972 to $403 million in 1973, $457 million in 1974 and $519.7 million in 1975.

"Since fiscal year 1972, therefore, the increase has been over 72 per cent. Additional increases averaging about 29.7 per cent went into effect Dec. 31, 1975."

Simon, a critic of the Postal Service, said he found the GSA bulletin while looking into the extent of government use of private alternatives to the Postal Service.

"It's another example of how the Postal Service, with its inefficiency and increasing rates, is pricing itself out of the delivery market. There's something seriously wrong when public agencies have to abandon the public mail service in order to save money," he said.

A Rehabilitation Dream

WASHINGTON—The revelations that the FBI has been committing all sorts of crimes, including break-ins, forgery, illegal bugging, violating civil liberties and worse, raises an important question. Should the people responsible for breaking the law of the land be tried and sent to jail?

Roderick Wilcomb, of the "Society to Rehabilitate Wayward G-Men," says it would be wrong to send FBI agents to prison for crimes committed in the name of national security.

"Society will not be served by putting these people away," he said. "Many of them came from broken homes and never had the breaks you or I had. If I thought punishment was the answer, I would be for it. But there has to be a better way to solve the FBI crime problem than locking the agents up."

"What do you suggest?" I asked. "We have to teach them a trade so they can become responsible citizens again and learn that there is no future in crime."

"What kind of a trade?" "We could teach them how to catch criminals—car thieves, kidnapers, hijackers and members of the mob. We could train them in law enforcement methods without breaking the law themselves. Once they learned the trade, they could go out and get jobs and not have to resort to housebreaking, spying and dirty tricks."

"That sounds like the bleeding-heart approach to crime," I accused Wilcomb. "Do you realize that many of these men did not commit one crime, but went back and back again?"

Wilcomb replied, "That's because society never gave them a chance. A lot of them started hanging around with guys like J. Edgar Hoover when they were young, and they never had an opportunity to learn right from wrong. Most of them played 'follow the leader.' If Hoover said, 'Let's break into a house,' they all followed him. If he said, 'Let's stick a bug in Martin Luther King's hotel room,' nobody questioned it. If he said, 'How about forging a letter?' everyone immediately sat down and started writing letters on unmarked paper. Maybe they were mischievous, but as Efram Zimbalist once said, 'There is no such thing as a bad G-man.'"

"Wilcomb," I said, "I'm for rehabilitation providing the person has learned his lesson. But how can we be sure these black bag operators and break-in artists won't go back to their old tricks once you put them on the street again?"

"They won't if we teach them skills such as fingerprinting, filing and typing up reports. You don't just give up on a person because he once violated the law. I know many of these people, and they say they would like to make good if society would only give them a chance. But people in this country don't seem to want to rehabilitate FBI agents who went wrong; they want to punish them. Do you know what it would cost the taxpayer if we sent every FBI agent who committed a crime to prison? Millions of dollars. Why can't we use the same money to train them to be honest law enforcement

Other Editors Say After 46 Years

(Chapel Hill Newspaper)

Anyone who has lived past the half century mark can remember when radio was mostly static. Back in the early thirties, most homes made certain that the evening meal was finished by six-thirty so that the family would gather around the radio and hear Lowell Thomas at 6:45 and Amos & Andy at 7:00. Our father would light his pipe, settle in his favorite chair and listen to Thomas. The familiar Thomas introduction of "Good evening, everybody," was all that was needed for the children to keep quiet or leave the room. The youngsters were too young to appreciate Thomas, but they looked forward to Amos & Andy at 7:00 and if a disturbance occurred during the newscast they were sent to their rooms.

As we grew older, Lowell Thomas became a part of our nightly radio ritual. The man's voice was exuberant, and one always had the feeling that he was telling the truth. There was not the loudness of the late Walter Winchell nor the twang of a Gabriel Heatter. Thomas always led you to believe that he was telling it like it was not how "HE" thought it was.

At the ripe old age of 84 Thomas ended his career as a newscaster on Friday night. For 46 years, from all over the world, he had presented his five nights a week radio show, first on ABC then for 15 years on NBC before settling in at CBS for the past 30 years. On his last newscast he said, "It seems odd that at one time I had all the air of the world to myself alone, to tell about the day-by-day adventures of the human race. Human interest, adventure, colorful stories from around the globe have been my specialty, and the present radio format allows only time for headlines." Thomas plans to take an extended vacation, go glacier skiing in the mountains of British Columbia and Alaska, finish three books and a television series called "Lowell Thomas Remembers." That should be enough to keep an 84 year old man busy, and it will give us an opportunity to relive some of our forgotten past. Lowell Thomas became a legend before there was any TV. Few men have survived in any job for 46 years. Fleeting memories of the past remind us of his great contribution to all phases of communications. He will be missed, but we old timers will never forget him.

CARTER'S RELIGIOUS CANDOR

Strikes A Familiar Chord

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of news analysts "are mystified" by Jimmy Carter's religious convictions, he says. "I don't think they doubt my sincerity, but they just don't understand. I don't make a big issue out of it, but neither do I hesitate to say publicly that the most important thing in my life is Jesus Christ."

That outspoken candor about it, a characteristic of the evangelical element in American Christianity, has seemed odd to some more reserved church adherents as well as to secular commentators, but it strikes a familiar chord in broad reaches of U.S. religious life.

"There is a hidden religious power base in American culture which our secular biases prevent many of us from noticing," writes Roman Catholic philosopher Michael

Novak of Bayville, N.Y. "Jimmy Carter has found it."

That extensive base is the doctrinally traditional, evangelical sector of the country's churches, and it's a big one, estimated at from 30 million to 40 million of the nation's 132 million church members, about half the 80 million Protestants, a major segment of all mainline denominations, and a dominant part of some of them.

Although the open religious style may seem strange to some Northeasterners, it's a common quality in the country's heartland churches, in the Far West, and particularly in the South, bastion of the nation's biggest Protestant body, the 12-million Southern Baptists, including Carter, who is regarded as the front-runner for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Jim Newton of Memphis, Tenn., editor of World

Mission Journal, published by the Southern Baptist Brotherhood Commission of which Carter is a trustee, recently did a taped interview on a campaign plane trip with him about his religious attitudes.

Asked how he handled questions about being a "born again" Christian, he said, "It's very difficult for anyone who has not had that experience to understand. . . Many of the newsmen who asked about this have never had this experience. Some of them are downright cynical about it. I think it worries some of them."

"I just explain my own spiritual experience openly and honestly. When I was first asked this question, I had to decide how I was going to respond with the same kind of openness and honesty to this question that I would to any question."

Consequently, he adds, he explains that although he had been a church member since childhood, about 10 years ago, in 1967, he sensed some void in his spiritual life, that he was "missing something important," and began praying about it, discussing it with others, including his sister, evangelist Ruth Carter

Stapleton, on a long walk in the woods near his home.

"I had a personal spiritual experience that is difficult to explain to people who have never had such an experience," he went on. "I began to grow. I participated in several pioneer mission efforts (in areas where Southern Baptist work is relatively new) . . . I became uniquely aware of the Holy Spirit as an integral part of my life. I learned that I cannot depend on myself for every need and to solve every problem . . ."

"I feel my limitations more intensely. I used to deny my limitations and conceal them. Now I am much easier in my relations with other people and with God." But he added that his frankness about his faith has puzzled some secular commentators. "Some have been quizzical, some doubtful, some defensive."

While other candidates, both in this campaign and in the past, have espoused religious faith, the difference often cited is that their expression of it usually is broadly amorphous, in contrast to Carter's "specificity" — a common trait of (Continued on page 5)

Strength For Today

THE STORM SUBSIDES
In the New Testament we find the description of how, as the apostles struggled one night with their boat on the storm-tossed Galilee, they beheld Jesus coming toward them walking on the water. Then we are told that when He entered the boat, the waves ceased.

It is always true that the waves cease and the storm dies down when Christ comes into the boat or when He comes into the home, or the office, or the mill, or the social group, or the council of the nations. Immediately upon His entrance, the storm dies down.

Every life is storm-tossed. Every household knows a season when the winds threaten to wrench the building off its foundation. There are times when every one of us labors in a storm. And across the turbulent waters comes Jesus, desiring us to take Him into the boat, that the storm may be quelled.

The friends of Jesus were astonished when they saw what happened, and so are we when we perceive his quieting power today.

Low Fares Attract Bus-Users

By DEAN LOKKEN

Associated Press Writer

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) —

As other cities raise fares to keep mass transit systems going, the Utah Transit Authority says its 15-cent rides, backed by a sales tax, have lured riders back to its buses.

The secret of the UTA success lies in taxpayer approval in late 1974 of a ¼-cent sales tax and an infusion, in less than two years, of about $20 million in federal funds.

The rise in ridership follows the lowering of fares to 15 cents for adults, which UTA officials say is the lowest general bus fare they know about anywhere in the United States.

One transportation planner who has had a hand in the growth says arrival of 203 more buses in the coming weeks will relieve the crowded, standing-room-only conditions of commuter hours.

"During the peak riding time now, a lot of people are sticking with their cars because there is standing room only on the buses," he says.

The new popularity of riding the bus in Salt Lake, Weber and Davis counties — with total population of about 760,000 — wasn't an overnight affair.

Two years ago, the bus system was limping along with an annual ridership of 4.4 million, higher than some previous years, but below the $5 million of 1966. The UTA's budget then received a subsidy from a state liquor tax fund.

By contrast, ridership last year was up to 8 million and estimates this year are for 14 million.

"The day of a bus system making it on its own is over in this country and probably everywhere in the world," says Rankin, known to his associates as a no-nonsense administrator who frequently hops a bus to check flaws in scheduling and other irritants to customers.

When he took over the UTA, the system covered only half of Salt Lake County and had 63 vehicles. When new buses, purchased with federal grants and local matching funds, are put on the routes this summer, there will be 360 buses.

The routes will cover a distance, north to south, of about 65 miles, and a passenger can cover that distance for 60 cents, although most rides in the system are only 15 cents. A ride within two of the system's five zones will cost you only 15 cents, if you're an adult. Children, the elderly and the handicapped ride for a dime, but the elderly can ride free during off-peak hours.

A study indicates one of four elderly riders still pays 10 cents at all hours.

Low fares weren't accepted immediately in all three counties. Salt Lake and Weber voters adopted the sales tax beginning in 1975 and in exchange got fares dropped from 25 cents to the new 15 cents, with an additional 10-cent zone charge eliminated for most riders. That proved so popular that Davis County residents went along this year.

With a guaranteed income from the sales tax, the system went to the Urban Mass Transportation Administration and obtained about $20 million on an 80-to-20 matching basis. The bus authority ordered new buses, added routes and extended service to 11 p.m. in some areas and limited service on weekends and holidays.

Public Works Week Observance Noted

"Public works services provided in our community are an integral part of our citizen's everyday lives," Mayor Percy Cox commented in proclaiming the week of May 23-29 as National Public Works Week.

In his proclamation, Cox noted that, "the support of an understanding and informed citizenry is vital to the planning and construction of public works programs and systems such as water, sewer, streets, highways, and other types of facilities."

He noted that, "the health, sanitation, safety and general well being of this community depends, to a great degree, on these services and facilities."

"The quality, efficiency, and effectiveness of these facilities, as well as the planning, design, and construction of future facilities, is vitally dependent upon our public works engineers, administrators, and technicians," the mayor observed.

He said that attracting and keeping personnel to staff the public works departments is "materially influenced by the people's attitude and understanding of the importance of the work performed by such employees."

Cox urged "all citizens and civic organizations to acquaint themselves with the problems involved in providing public works facilities and services; and recognize the important role in our safety, health and well being that is played by the public works officials in our community."

John Dolan, head of the U.S. Customs Office in Wilmington, said officers "believe that he was one of a group of suspects that were up from the Florida area."

Discovery of the body resulted from a search instituted as a result of a tip from the Miami Police Department.

Unidentified

MESIC, N.C. (AP) — An autopsy report shows that a body found in a shallow grave near Mesic was that of a man about 50 years old who had been hit in the back of the head with a shotgun blast.

The body remained unidentified. It was found Wednesday near a trailer where several tons of marijuana were seized in January.

Authorities speculated that the victim was involved in a massive marijuana smuggling operation in which the trailer was used for storage.

John Dolan, head of the U.S. Customs Office in Wilmington, said officers "believe that he was one of a group of suspects that were up from the Florida area."

Discovery of the body resulted from a search instituted as a result of a tip from the Miami Police Department.

Bond Sales Are Matching Goal

Sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds in Pitt County during the first quarter of 1976 were $195,371 or 24.9 per cent of the county's goal of $785,480, according to R. W. Howard, county volunteer chairman.

Howard reported that not since the war loans of 1945 have North Carolinians purchased more savings bonds in any quarter of any year.

He noted that first quarter Series E and H sales in the state were $26,225,496, which is 5.6 per cent above a year ago and represents some 24.4 per cent of the state's 1976 dollar goal of $107,600,000.

Nationally, total cash sales of E and H Bonds for the first three months of 1976 amounted to $1,979 million or 4.7 per cent above a year earlier.

"I don't know," I said. "You're taking an awful chance."

Wilcomb admitted, "Sure, we'll have one or two backsliders, who would rather commit crime than do an honest day's work. I'm not saying the program will be 100 percent successful. But if we can save even 60 percent of these people, all of us will profit from it."

"I still think we should be tougher on people who commit crimes. But I'll say this for you, Wilcomb, your approach is a novel one, and while I can't support you financially I hope it works."

"Don't worry about the finances," he told me. "I'm hoping to get a grant from the Ford Foundation for a pilot program. We're going to have a halfway house where the courts will send us FBI agents who committed crimes. If we can succeed with rehabilitating this group, we may be able to persuade the Justice Department to drop charges against all the other G-men who went wrong."

That religious style, however, often is caricatured in the Northeast by "stereotypes and false images" of literature, such as Sinclair Lewis' Elmer Gantry, observed Rabbi Marc Tanenbaum, interreligious director of the American Jewish Committee.

In that sense, he adds, the evangelical Christian in the presidential race can become the object of the same sort of prejudice that faced the late John F. Kennedy about his Roman Catholicism — a tendency to fear and distrust the unfamiliar and unknown. However, in many American settings, such as a recent gospel-singing meeting in Indianapolis, where other more formally religious politicians might have felt stiff and aloof, Carter was right at home, clapping his hands, tapping his foot, joining in what for many is the familiar, old evangelical spirit.

Your Future Is Our Present Concern

Along the Potomac River... close to the Pennsylvania border... and near Washington, D.C., our nation's capital... It's fun to look at the whole world, and then put your finger on the place where YOU live. It makes you realize how important you are!

During this Bicentennial year we know that EVERYBODY in our nation is important. People can own land and houses and tractors. They can read the truth. They can think for themselves, and say what they think. They can assemble together to celebrate, or plan - or protest.

And they can worship God... in the church they choose... and bring their children... and support their church... and volunteer their talents in its work. Nobody can padlock God's House - or turn it into a museum!

Here's where I live, THANK GOD! We thank Him best by using ALL our freedoms...

Raising Dean's List Eligibility

RALEIGH (AP) — Making the Dean's List at North Carolina State University will be more to brag about in the future. The school is tightening eligibility requirements for the honors list.

NCSU officials decided to raise standards recently when they discovered that 44 per cent of the full-time student body are normally named to the list. The requirements will be raised from a 3.0 cumulative average with at least 12 hours of courses, to 3.25 for 15 hours and 3.5 for 12 to 14 hours.

Those numbers are a widely-used university code that stand for grades: anything over a 3.5 is an "A" while a 3.0 is a "B."

Provost and Vice Chancellor Nash N. Winstead said the new listing scheme was developed after he asked the Faculty Senate to study proposals last spring. He hopes the new requirements will reduce the number of students on the list to 25 per cent of the school's full time students.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — The trend on the North Carolina f.o.b. dock broiler market was steady with a weak undertone for next week's trading with supplies adequate, demand moderate.

The North Carolina dock weighted average price is 43.6 cents per pound for next week for small purchases of sized plant grade broilers to be picked up at processing plants. Estimated slaughter today was 1,050,000.

North Carolina hen market is steady with weak undertone for next week. Supplies limited but sufficient for slow demand. Prices paid per pound for hens over 7 pounds at farm, 18 cents, f.o.b. plant 21 1/2 to 22 1/2 cents.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — The trend on the North Carolina hog market was 50 cents to one dollar higher today. NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed downward today, with traders concerned by a sharp rise in the nation's basic money supply. The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones industrial average was off 3.14 to 994.13, and losers topped gainers by a 3-2 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers said Wall Street appeared to be disturbed by the sharp, $2 billion rise in the money supply reported by the Federal Reserve as the market was closing on Thursday. There was fear that the rise would touch off a general increase in interest rates.

But partly countering that news, Citibank said today it is holding its prime rate at 6 1/2 percent.

Some analysts said the selling reflected profit taking following Thursday's 8.37-point advance. Federal National Mortgage led Big Board actives, up 1/2 to 14 1/2. Exxon Corp. rose 3/4 to 101 1/2. The company proposed on Thursday a two-for-one stock split.

Secretary-Treasurer Don Russell said the need for selling the notes was actually handed down to them by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The EPA notified the CMSD officials that they were encountering cash-flow problems in their office in Atlanta. Those problems have occurred because the funds allocated for projects have been depleted. No new funds are expected until July, it was reported to CMSD officials. More EPA Step III projects such as CMSD were under construction than had been planned. "Because of the predicament that EPA finds itself in, we, too, find that we must sell these additional notes in order to pay off construction obligations. Such obligations are currently running about $400,000 per month and are expected to go even higher to $750,000 or $800,000 by July 1. The total project is presently about 25 percent complete."

The CMSD Board agreed to ask the Local Government Commission to sell the bonds. "Hopefully they will be sold by June 1," Russell said. According to Russell the

Yastrzemski Goes To Work After Fight To Hammer Yankees, 8-2

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

Carl Yastrzemski hit his hands up, but he did his hitting with a bat and left the punching to others.

After a bench-clearing sixth-inning brawl that featured Boston's Carlton Fisk and Bill Lee against New York's Lou Piniella and Craig Nettles, Yastrzemski went to work.

the first such feat in the American League since New York's Tony Lazzeri did it 40 years ago.

According to Yastrzemski, it also woke the Red Sox up. "Until the fight, Ed Figueroa was mowing us down and we were very complacent," he said.

Rick Burleson started Boston's late inning barrage with a two-run homer in the seventh inning, Yastrzemski connected in the eighth and then capped a four-run burst in the ninth with his record-matching blow.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Kansas City Royals whipped the Oakland A's 8-4, the California Angels downed the Texas Rangers 6-3 and the Chicago White Sox edged the Minnesota Twins 3-2.

Baserunner Piniella and catcher Fisk battled to a draw after a collision at the plate, although Piniella suffered an injury to his right ring finger and went for X rays.

Royals 8, A's 4 Triples by Fred Patek and George Brett keyed a five-run seventh inning as Kansas City whipped Oakland and plunged the A's seven games behind the Royals in the American League West.

RBI double. The Royals then batted around.

Angels 6, Rangers 3 Andy Etchebarren's two-run double capped a three-run eighth inning that propelled California over Texas.

Texas starter Gaylord Perry was replaced by Steve Foucault, who gave up a sacrifice before issuing an intentional pass to load the bases.

White Sox 3, Twins 2 Rich Coggins, Chet Lemon and Jack Coghamer each drove in a run and Rich Gossage scattered seven hits to lead the White Sox over the Twins.

Chicod Is Champion

Chicod Junior High School captured the Pitt County Junior High School title with a 4-3 victory over Farmville yesterday.

The win left Chicod with a 10-0 overall mark and an 8-0 league record. Farmville finished second with a 7-1 mark.

Jesse Carmon and Carl Arnold led the Chicod hitting with two each, while Todd Oakley had two for Farmville.

Arnold got the victory on the mound, while Tony Eason took the loss for Farmville.

ELIZABETH CITY—Rose High School's Rampants make their second straight trip into the State 4-A Playoffs thanks to a 2-1 victory over the Northeastern High School Eagles yesterday.

The Rampants, who are the defending state 4-A champions, could have missed the boat if they had not captured the victory. Northeastern still had a chance, if they had won, while Bertie Senior also was hot on the heels of the Rampants.

But the victory finished the season for the Rampants with a 14-8 record, and an 9-6 Division I mark, good enough for second place in the league.

Northern Nash captured first place in the conference, and also will move into the state playoffs.

The Rampants will meet a team that has already handed them one loss this year in a tightly contested game. South View of Fayetteville won its conference championship, Division IV, and will be the host team for the first round game. That contest is slated to be played in Fayetteville Monday at 4 p.m.

South View and Rose met in the semifinals of the Gaylord Perry Tournament in Williamston earlier this year, with South View taking a slim 3-2 win over the Rampants on a long hit in the bottom of the seventh.

The game yesterday was a tight one all the way, with neither team able to do much with their opposing pitchers.

Northeastern's lone run off him came in the fourth inning. Williams Eason and Norman Watts both claimed infield hits. Eason moved on to third on a long fly out and Tim Nolan reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Eason.

Northeastern offered only one more real threat, and that came in the bottom of the seventh. Ray Scott singled, and moved up on an out. Doug Dees then walked, but Baker retired the next two to preserve the victory.

Rose got both of its runs in the first inning. Greg Sasser reached on an infield hit, and after two had retired, Eddy Connolly reached on an error.

Johnston Honored Bruce B. Johnston Jr., a Greenville insurance man, has been honored by Roanoke College as a selectee to that school's Athletic Hall of Fame.

Johnston graduated from Roanoke College (Salem, Va.) in 1958, after having completed in indoor and outdoor track for that school for four years. He competed in the high and low hurdles and in the 100-yard dash. During his senior year, he served as co-captain of the team.

Johnston was a member of the team during a five-year string of 38 dual meet victories without a loss, and his four teams were Little Eight Champions throughout his career.

He set new conference records in the indoor and outdoor low hurdles, and the outdoor high hurdles. He also broke the school marks in each of these, plus the indoor highs. He also tied the school 100-yard dash mark.

Johnston was the first triple winner in the conference meet in 20 years during his senior year. An induction ceremony was held recently for Johnston and others at Roanoke College.

The Bullets finished the regular season with a 12-2 league record, tying the team with Bear Grass. The two teams split during the regular season, and will meet in a playoff game Saturday afternoon to decide the title and the post-season 1-A state playoff berth.

Chocowinity scored first, getting a run in the fourth. Jefferson reached on a fielder's choice, scoring when Cadwell doubled.

Jamesville came back with three runs in the top of the fifth. Danny Lilley doubled and Toby Holliday reached on an error.

The final three came in the seventh. Ange singled and Robbie Hardison got a hit. Billy Brown smacked the second homer of the game for the Bullets to finish it up.

Rams Bow In Finale

SARATOGA—Saratoga Central High School warmed up for the State 2-A playoffs with a 3-0 victory over 3-A Greene Central last night.

The game closed out the year for the Rams with a 9-11 mark. Greene Central threatened in each of the first three innings, getting their only three hits in those frames.

Saratoga got one run in the second. David Goff walked and scored on a double by Shelton.

The other two came in the fifth. Bailey doubled and Rogers singled. Jones then doubled to drive in both runners.

The Rampants, who would like to make it two straight in baseball titles, will have to follow the same road the football team traveled last fall to its state crown. Due to the second place finish, the Rampant will play all their games—as long as they continue winning—on the road.

Seaver Drops Third Straight Decision

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Hey, Tom Seaver, where's that Cy Young-winning form? "I'm just not being aggressive enough," says the right-hander.

Seaver's lack of aggression is making pacifists out of the New York Mets. The high-salaried right-hander has lost three straight games, including Thursday's 5-3 decision to the Philadelphia Phillies.

Since Seaver has turned from hawk to dove, the Mets have been tailing off — losing seven of their last nine decisions.

The Phillies even teed off on Seaver's best pitches. Mike Schmidt hit a strong Seaver curve ball over the fence.

"It was a good curve ball, down and away," said a disconsolate Seaver, now 4-3.

At one point, the three-time Cy Young winner looked so unlike himself that Manager Joe Frazier walked out to the mound and asked him, "Are you sick?" Seaver replied, "No." To which Frazier replied, "Well, the ball's not getting up to the plate fast enough."

In the other National League games, the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-1; the San Francisco Giants nudged the Cincinnati Reds 6-5; the Houston Astros nipped the San Diego Padres 5-4; the Montreal Expos blanked the Chicago Cubs 3-0 and the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Atlanta Braves 3-2.

The Phillies jumped on Seaver for four runs in the first inning, two on Greg Luzinski's double, and held on to beat New York behind Jim Lonborg and Tug McGraw. Dave Kingman of the Mets also belted a home run, his 15th of the season, to keep abreast of Schmidt in the home run race.

The unbeaten Lonborg scattered nine hits in 6 2/3 innings to pick up his sixth victory of the season. McGraw, the one-time ace of the Mets' relief corps, pitched one-hit, three-strikeout ball for the final 2-3 innings to get his fourth save of the season.

Cardinals 4, Pirates 1
Mike Tyson's two-run single capped a four-run first inning and sent St. Louis over Pittsburgh. Right-hander John Denry, 2-2, scattered 11 Pittsburgh hits — nine singles and two doubles — in registering his first complete game of the season.

Giants 6, Reds 5
Gary Matthews' sacrifice fly in the eighth inning scored rookie Larry Herndon, giving San Francisco its victory over Cincinnati and ending the Giants' four-game losing streak. The Giants, who had lost 19 of their last 23 games, collected 17 hits, but only one was for extra bases — a double by Willie Montanez which did not figure in the scoring.

Astros 5, Padres 4
Joe Niekro and Ken Forsch combined to pitch a four-hitter and Forsch drove in the winning run with an eighth-inning single as Houston beat San Diego. Niekro went the first six innings but had to be removed from the game after he was shaken up in a home plate collision with the Padres' Willie Davis.

Forsch came on to handle the Padres over the final three innings and record his eighth save of the year. The only hit he surrendered was Dave Winfield's fifth home run of the season in the bottom of the ninth.

Expos 3, Cubs 0
Andre Thornton, playing his first game with Montreal after being acquired from Chicago, drilled a two-run homer to spark the Expos over the Cubs. Thornton came to Montreal Monday in exchange for pitcher Steve Renko and outfielder Larry Bittner. Thornton was a first baseman for Chicago, but played right field for the first time since the 1973 season when he was with Richmond of the International League.

Dodgers 3, Braves 2
Steve Garvey lined a single to left with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning, scoring Bill Buckner from second base and giving Los Angeles its victory over Atlanta. The Dodgers' third straight triumph and eighth in their last 10 games moved them 1 1/2 games ahead of Cincinnati in the National League West.

Opening lead: Ten of ♣.

East is likely to hold both the ace of diamonds and king of hearts for his opening bid. The problem is to keep West off lead until the diamond suit is established for a heart discard. If you ruffed the second club in dummy, drew two rounds of trumps ending in your hand, and then ran the jack of diamonds, you have left yourself open to defeat. East wins the queen of diamonds and returns the queen of clubs, forcing you to ruff with dummy's last trump. When he gets in with the ace of diamonds, he can beat you by cashing the jack of clubs. Similarly, if you come to your hand with a trump to run the diamond jack, the defender may be able to draw dummy's trumps, cutting you off from a second club ruff.

Obviously, you have to play on diamonds before touching trumps. As the cards lie, you can lead any diamond from dummy and win, but leading a low diamond would lose the contract if West held the queen of diamonds. He would win the first lead of the suit and shift to a heart, and the defenders must score the king of hearts before you can establish the diamond suit.

Since East surely has the ace of diamonds, the winning line is to lead the king of diamonds from dummy at trick three! East wins the ace, but you are in control. The hearts cannot be attacked, and even if West had the queen of diamonds, by the time he gets in with that card you will have set up two diamond tricks. Depending on how the defense has proceeded, you will then be able to play the rest of the hand on a cross-ruff, or ruff a second club in dummy and discard a heart and a club on the diamonds.

YMCA Adds Organization For The Blind Is Being Formed

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The Charlotte Central YMCA has accepted its first woman member, a 35-year-old vice president of a bank who had been trying to become a member for 18 months. She wants to use the racquet ball facilities at the men's Y.

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

Mrs. Hazel Staley is in Greenville today to help organize a chapter of the N. C. Affiliate of the National Federation of the Blind.

MRS. HAZEL STALEY

The 21-member board of managers instructed the staff Thursday to admit Mildred Gwinn, who then paid her $70 fee and picked up a membership card.

Fred Ashford, assistant general executive at the YMCA, said the delay in accepting Mrs. Gwinn was not a question of rejecting women. He said it was a question of finding a way to give women access to the handball courts, on which racquet ball also is played, without their having to go through the lobby of the men's locker room, where they could encounter partially clad men.

There is a roundabout route involving going up two flights of stairs, crossing over the top of the men's locker area, and coming down the stairs to the racquet ball courts. This is the route Mrs. Gwinn will take.

Jim Babb, board chairman of the Y, said he now expects a wider use of its facilities by women.

Mrs. Gwinn's husband, a dental equipment salesman who also plays racquet ball, said he believed her acceptance as a member "will open up opportunities for women across the state."

The Gwinns plan to play in the national racquet ball tournament in Chattanooga, Tenn., next Thursday.

She placed second in singles in the South Carolina tournament last November. Two months ago, she was second in singles and with her partner won the doubles in the North Carolina tournament in Raleigh.

"We emphasize the of in our name," she said. Our organization is made up almost entirely of blind people. We have a few sighted members (My husband, Robert, is one), but we are a vehicle for joint action by the blind, similar to a labor union for workers or a medical association for doctors. We are the blind speaking for ourselves.

Mrs. Staley has been blind since she had meningitis as a two-year-old. A Union County native, she is a graduate of the N. C. School for the Blind, has an A. B. degree from St. Andrews College, and has graduate work at UNC-Chapel Hill and UNC-Charlotte. She and her husband, a retired military man who is now a high school graphics teacher, live in Charlotte. They have a 24-year-old son, Ken.

Mrs. Staley said she was a social worker for the State Division for the Blind before she was married. "I went back to school a few years ago, planning to prepare myself for teaching," she said, but then I got so involved with the Federation of the Blind that the paid work became less important. This is what I have to do now.

"There is some adjustment for the newly blind person," Mrs. Staley said, "but for those of us who have been blind a long time, our problem isn't as much lack of eyesight as it is lack of understanding on the parts of the people we must deal with every day. Public education is part of what we do.

"Also we're involved in legislative activity. When the Federation was formed in 1940, there were fewer than 200 blind people in the United States working in meaningful jobs. Today there are many, many more, but there are still many areas closed or virtually closed. For instance, in North Carolina I do not know of a single blind teacher teaching in a sighted school. Yet in New York and California, there are hundreds. I really wish this situation could be tested."

"Any industry that has more than $2,500 in government contracts per year must hire certain quatum of blind people, Mrs. Staley said. "If anyone is turned down for a job solely because he or she is blind, we will go to bat for him or her, if necessary."

"Persons denied housing just because of blindness also may enlist the help of the Federation."

The Federation had a long court battle that finally opened up all Civil Service job tests to blind people.

They were responsible for getting a toll-free line to the State Library for the Blind for use by its clients all over the state. The number's 800-662-2677. They also pled for and got two sound-proof recording booths for use by volunteer readers who tape material for the Library for the Blind.

The organizational meeting Mrs. Staley will attend tonight is to be held at 7:30 at the Elm Street Recreation Center. All blind people of the area are urged to attend, and all sighted persons interested in the needs of the blind also are welcome.
