Syrian Troops Said On Road To Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Jet fighters rocketed and strafed Beirut today. Leftist Lebanese Moslems and their Palestinian allies claimed Syrian troops and tanks were advancing on the capital from east Lebanon under heavy air cover.

Deafening rocket explosions shook the city, but there was no immediate word of the targets, casualties or extent of damage.

A newsman saw rockets whistling down from one jet, but he could not identify the plane. The rockets slammed down in the direction of southern Beirut, where guerrillas of the radical Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine have been battling pro-Syrian guerrillas from the Saïqa organization.

Other eyewitnesses said some of the jets carried the Syrian air force emblem. Associated Press newsman Mohammed Salam saw them strafing a Moslem area midway along the two-mile front line between the city's Moslem and Christian sectors.

Radio Beirut, controlled by the Moslems, said some of the jets were Syrian air force MIG21's and some were Lebanese air force Hawker-Hunters from the Riyak base in eastern Lebanon, which the Syrians occupied last week.

Shortly after the fourth strafing run, half-track vehicles of Yasir Arafat's Palestine Liberation Army equipped with anti-aircraft missiles were seen touring the Moslem sector.

The Palestinians claimed Syrian gunboats shelled the Kleiaat air base in northern Lebanon after guerrillas and renegade Moslem troops of the Lebanese Arab Army occupied it. They said it was the first Syrian naval action since an estimated 6,000 Syrian troops invaded Lebanon last Tuesday to try to end the civil war between Lebanese Moslems and Christians.

The new joint central command of the leftist-guerrilla alliance claimed its forces knocked out four Syrian tanks and captured two in battles during the night 15 miles east of the capital.

There was no confirmation of any of these reports. Local observers suggested that the leftists might be inflating reports of Syrian military activity to bring diplomatic pressure from other Arab governments on the Syrians.

One Palestinian communique said MIG17 and MIG21 jets bombed "allied" positions as Syrian ground forces attacked leftist-held villages along the Damascus-Beirut highway on the edge of Lebanon's Christian enclave.

Yasir Arafat, the chief of the Palestine Liberation Organization, called again for an urgent summit conference of Arab heads of state to get the Syrians out of Lebanon.

Radio Damascus made no mention of a march on Beirut or attacks on guerrilla mountain positions. But it accused Arafat's Al Fatah guerrilla organization of attempting "an all-out bloody crackdown" on Palestinian guerrillas of the Saïqa organization, which is controlled by Syria.

Spokesmen for Al Fatah claimed their guerrillas attacked dozens of Saïqa offices in Beirut's Moslem area Sunday night and captured them.

A Saïqa spokesman denied these claims. He said Saïqa mortars were hitting Fatah positions in the city and "defending our positions elsewhere in the capital."

Some guerrilla sources said more than 70 persons had been killed and 120 wounded in the fighting between the pro-Syrian and anti-Syrian Palestinians which broke out Sunday. But it was impossible to determine whether these figures were accurate.

Police reported 39 persons killed and 75 wounded during the night in clashes between Lebanese Moslems and Christians.

Heavy fighting between Saïqa and Fatah guerrillas flared up today around the King's Hotel, where The Associated Press has its office, in the Rauche quarter of West Beirut.

mand-detonated mines will be used to halt traffic into Beirut should Syrian units advance to Lebanon's war-torn capital. (AP Wirephoto)

Wood Proposes

RALEIGH (AP) — Many of the ills of public education in North Carolina could be solved by bringing teachers' salaries up to the national average, Democratic gubernatorial candidate George Wood said at a press conference today.

Wood proposed that educators' salaries be brought up to the national average of $12,500 by granting two 10 per cent pay increases during the next two years.

Wood also suggested that the state superintendent of education be appointed by the state board of education rather than publically elected. The change would require a vote of the General Assembly and a public referendum. Wood said he thought the people of the state would approve the change because "basically, it'll work better."

Although Wood cited several other state educational problems—large schools, overcrowded schools, inadequate teachers and weak administrators—the teacher's pay raise and the superintendent change were the only specific solutions he offered.

The pay raises would help improve classroom instruction, Wood said, and would also free local supplement money to be used to better school administrations.

Although the 20 per cent salary increases would cost the state $150 million over the next two years, Wood said he does not believe funds would be hard to obtain. He said economic forecasts indicate the state's revenue growth will be large next year. And if financial growth failed to provide the necessary funds, state spending could be cut, or additional taxes could be levied.

Wood did not specify how state spending would be trimmed, but did say that a tax increase might entail raising the income tax of persons in higher income brackets.

Coroner E.W. Harvey Is Resigning As Of June 30

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners at their morning session today approved a fireworks display for Greenville, gave their okay to plans for the Briarwood Subdivision and accepted the resignation of Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey.

July 4 celebration in Greenville. Commissioners also heard reports from several county departments and agencies.

Reese Hart, director of the Pitt County Development Commission, told the board that several projects are moving ahead.

Hart noted that Georgia-Pacific is planning to develop a lumber and plywood distribution center on a 15-acre tract of land in the industrial park area North of Greenville, while a local food wholesaler is planning to expand its operations to a 30-acre tract of land North of the city.

He also told the commissioners that plans by Vermont-American to expand its operation here are progressing.

Hart urged the board to move ahead on a proposal to establish a revenue bond authority to handle financing of industrial construction through use of the recently enacted state industrial revenue bond program passed recently by voters from across the state.

Hart also expressed concern that the waste water treatment facilities in Greenville may not be adequate to handle the needs which might be required in the future by heavy industry wishing to locate here.

Ralph Hall, project engineer for the new hospital reported that paving is under way at the new facility and said finishing work—painting interior walls, installing ceiling and floor tile and the like—is under way at the new site.

He said the hospital should be able to take over the north wing of the new building August 1 to begin moving in equipment and training employees so the complete move can be made about the first of the year.

Commissioners delayed taking action on a petition signed by a number of persons in the county requesting Pitt Legislators to seek action by the General Assembly to outlaw hunting on or from any public road in the county or from the right-of-way of public roads.

Commissioners Charles Gaskins said action on the petition should be delayed in order to "give folks a chance to express themselves...hear from folks who are in opposition...to the proposed ban."

The board "accepted with regret" Harvey's resignation—to become effective June 30. Harvey has served as coroner for 17½ years. His current term of office expires December 1, 1978.

In a letter to the board, Harvey said he was resigning the post due to the fact that he is retiring from Pitt Memorial Hospital as credit manager and his future plans will not allow him to fill the post of coroner.

Commissioners, acting on recommendations of the county Planning Board, approved the Briarwood Subdivision. The new subdivision is being developed on property South of Brook Valley on property in the Arthur Tripp estate.

The fireworks display approved by the board is being sponsored by the Greenville Jaycees in connection with their Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day.

BE WARY

I have written to numerous companies which advertise "Earn money stuffing envelopes at home." Each reply is about the same—send $5 or $7.50 and they, in turn, will send me a book telling me how to make money. I wrote to the Better Business Bureau in another state, which sent me information about one of the companies I'd written to and they stated what I thought—it seems to be a gimmick aimed at housewives especially.

My question is—are there any businesses in this area or elsewhere which pay to stuff or address envelopes at home? J. H.

Hotline has received numerous questions over two years about envelope stuffing, but has never been able to get any concrete information about such advertising's being illegal. However, most of the ads seems to hold out exaggerated hope for a "no training, no product investment" home business. When the person sends in his $5 or $7.50 or whatever amount, as you say, all he gets back is a list of companies which might need his services. Some also include "deals" for clipping newspaper items.

Stephanie Fountain in the N. C. Attorney General's office said that when N. C. citizens call the Consumer Affairs Hotline asking for advice as to whether to answer such an ad, they are not encouraged. Often these deals are pyramids of sorts, involving local citizens as legitimate-seeming addresses to whom new prospects may address their inquiries. She said that the Attorney General's office would be glad to hear from anyone who has been involved in this type of deal.

She added that complaints have decreased in recent months. She feels that many people are becoming wary of this kind of operation.

To answer your final question, we know of no business in this area which pays individuals at home to stuff or address envelopes.

Evacuations 50 Miles From Burst Teton Dam As Idaho Losses Mount

By BOB KUESTERMAN
Associated Press Writer

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Flood waters continued to roll across southeastern Idaho today, forcing evacuations 50 miles from the site where the Teton Dam burst two days ago.

The official death toll stood at six, with 135 persons missing. Officials said many of the missing may just be out of touch with relatives. A breakdown in telephone communication and road travel hampered efforts to determine the status of the missing.

The names of the dead have not been released.

The farming town of Firth was evacuated during the night. Officials said this morning the town was under water. No injuries were reported in the community of 400 because of the early warning that the slow-moving flood crest was coming.

Merle Tebbis, federal disaster emergency director in Boise, said considerably more damage was expected. The dam burst has already flooded several communities upstream.

Part of Idaho Falls was evacuated after midnight when a bridge, battered by the still-rising waters, began buckling and threatened to break. It held, and observers said the water level appeared to have dropped several feet by sunrise.

There were numerous rumors connected with the disaster, including one that rattlesnakes were floating downstream from the Teton Valley. Blair Seipert, the police chief of Rexburg, the worst-hit city, said the valley was infested with the poisonous snakes but he had heard of no one being bitten.

Officials say thousands of people were warned that the controversial earthen dam was about to collapse, and the advance notice helped reduce the casualty toll.

But the wall of water left a muddy wasteland of ruined homes, farms and businesses. Officials estimated damage in the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Gov. Cecil Andrus, who flew over the region while workmen on the ground began the clean-up, said it would be an "absolute miracle if we get by with a small number of casualties."

As the rupture of the 307-foot-high dam occurred, a warning was being sounded by the sheriff's department and thousands moved to safety on land above the rampaging water.

Then they watched helplessly as the wall of water and debris, hurling houses as if they were toys, crashed through their homes. Cattle were found on rooftops and wedged between houses as the water pushed them along.

Federal officials today sought to learn why the new earthen dam collapsed and spilled its 80-billion-gallon reservoir.

The dam's reservoir was being filled for the first time after construction was delayed several years by court actions of environmentalists who maintained it would harm fishing in the region.

Some 36 Pitt Demo Delegates To N.C. Meet

Some 36 Democratic delegates from Pitt County will attend the 1976 State Democratic Convention on Saturday, June 12 at Dorton Arena in Raleigh.

Betty Speir, chairman of the Pitt Democratic Executive Committee, said that the key speaker for the session, which convenes at 11 a. m., will be South Carolina's 1974 Democratic standard-bearer Charles "Pug" Ravenel.

The Pitt delegates list includes Charles L. McLawhorn, Irma S. Worthington, Elaine S. King, W. R. Duke Jr., Jack Lewis, Walter B. Jones, Rev. B. B. Felder, Father H. C. Mulholland, Vincent P. Fagan Jr., Rufus Huggins, Ann Burks, Lawrence Zieherman, Mona Moye, Thomas Langston, Blanie Moye, Kathryn Lewis, Henry Oglesby, David Bosley, Betty Speir, Willie M. Carney, J.

B. Congleton, Thomas McCaskill, Carolyn Ketter, Martin Goldfarb, Peggy Taylor, David Reid Jr., Mildred McGrath, D. D. Gross, Merrill Bynum, Artemis Kares, A. A. Fahrner, Lewis W. Evans, Benjamin Daniel, E. Bruce Beasley Jr., Johnny Edwards, and Mrs. Viola Boyd.

The Pitt chairman requested that delegates who find themselves unable to attend to notify their precinct chairman or her as early as possible so that an alternate may be assigned to the seats and proper credentials transferred.

According to Ms. Speir, the principal business of the state convention will be the election of the remaining 25 per cent of the North Carolina delegation to the Democratic National Convention, election of two presidential electors "at large," and adoption of the 1976 state Democratic Party platform.

O'Neill Appears Heir To Rep. Carl Albert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill Jr. was speaker of Massachusetts' House of Representatives before he was elected to Congress in 1952. Soon the burly Irish-American politician is likely to wear that title in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Nuke Plant Seeing Delay

RALEIGH (AP) — Hearings on a nuclear power plant to be located near Raleigh are not expected to resume until late this year.

Carolina Power and Light had asked that the once-suspended hearings begin by Aug. 1 so construction of the plant could begin in December. That would put the plant on line by 1984.

But a Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) spokesman told the utility that it could not schedule the hearings before Aug. 1 because of a large work backlog.

According to CP&L officials, construction delays increase the price of the plant, now expected to cost about $3.6 billion. When the company first announced the plant's construction in 1971, cost was estimated at $1.1 billion.

CP&L suspended hearings on the plant in October 1974 because of financial problems and a low electrical use growth rate. When it asked the NRC last month to resume the hearings, it took the first step toward construction of the W. Shearon Harris plant it had made in 18 months.

ent to Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma, who announced Saturday he will not seek re-election.

O'Neill, a liberal, is expected to be a forceful speaker.

O'Neill is a native of Cambridge, Mass., where his father directed the city water department and was a Democratic party stalwart. His grandfather was a bricklayer who emigrated from County Cork, Ireland.

A Boston College graduate, O'Neill served 16 years in the state legislature, including the last four as speaker, before winning John F. Kennedy's congressional seat when Kennedy ran for Senate in 1952.

O'Neill is considered a master of the behind-the-scenes work in Congress who prefers to exert his influence in cloak-rooms, committees and conferences rather than on the House floor.

He helped direct the 1974 impeachment proceedings against former President Richard M. Nixon. Writer Jimmy Breslin lionized O'Neill's impeachment role in the book, "How the Good Guys Finally Won."

Two Wrecks Here Sunday

An estimated $1,800 property damage resulted from two collisions investigated by Greenville Police here yesterday.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 12:30 a.m. mishap on Avery Street, 46 feet East of the Summit Street intersection involving a car driven by Susan Faye Feamster, 400 Kirkland Dr., and a parked car owned by Walter Edward Briley of 603 Avery St.

Investigators, who charged Miss Feamster with hit and run driving, estimated damage at $300 to the Feamster car and $800 to the Briley vehicle.

No charges were made following investigation of a 12:27 p.m. collision at the intersection of South Wright Road and Jefferson Drive.

Police said cars driven by Strah H. Elks of Route 4, Tarboro and Elizabeth Catherine Bailey of 1112 Ragsdale Rd. collided, causing an estimated $200 damage to the Elks car and $600 damage to the Briley vehicle.

Farm Scene

By LEROY JAMES
Agri. Exten. Agent

Although there is some feeling that soybeans don't need fertilizer or lime, research indicates that soybeans respond to both.

While it's true that soybeans aren't high fertilizer users compared to most row crops, good fertility is just as important for high production as it is with other crops.

Soybeans grow best in soils with pH values between 6.5 and 7.0.

Not only are phosphate and potash fertilizers more efficiently used in this pH range, but deficient or toxic amounts of micronutrients are less likely to occur.

The availability of molybdenum and pH is especially important. At pH values below 6.5, nitrogen-fixing organisms in the root nodules can't get enough molybdenum for the atmospheric nitrogen-fixing process. As a result, plants become deficient in nitrogen.

Although a fall application is preferred, lime may still be applied where needed to this year's crop to improve soybean yield.

Apply and incorporate lime into the soil during seedbed preparation.

Phosphate and potash fertilizers should be applied according to soil test.

If soybeans are grown in a soil with a pH of 6.5 or less, seed should be treated with molybdenum at a rate of one-half ounce per acre. However, the use of molybdenum should not be substituted for a good lime program.

Miss Debra Lynn Stocks Weds Sunday Afternoon

Miss Debra Lynn Stocks and Ray Carlyle Smith were united in marriage Sunday at three o'clock in Boyd Memorial Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. DeWitt F. Helm officiated during the double ring candlelight ceremony. At altar was a profile prie-dieu where the couple knelt for the prayer.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Dean Stocks of Rt. 8. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Elbert L. Braxton Jr. of Rt. 8, and Mr. Ned C. Smith of Greenville.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Guyla Corbett of Ayden, organist, Emerson Hobgood of Farmville, vocalist, who sang "A Time For Us" and "Whither Thou Goest" and Tim Devinney of Winterville, vocalist, who sang "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride entered the sanctuary escorted by her father and was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a formal length gown of white silked organza over peau de soie. The bodice featured an empire waist, sheer yoke, colonial neckline and leg-o-mutton sleeves. Venise lace appliques were applied on the yoke and bodice and encircled the neck and sleeves. The A-line skirt featured lace appliques down the front and around the skirt. A detachable chapel-length train fell from a bow at the back waistline.

Her tiered elbow length veil of silked illusion, bordered with Venise lace to match her gown, was attached to a Camelot cap of sculptured lace flowers. Her bouquet of white daisies, white sweetheart roses and baby's breath was tied with white satin streamers.

The sister of the bridegroom, Miss Brenda Smith, was maid of honor. She wore a blue chiffon floor length gown trimmed with matching blue lace. The empire bodice featured a V-neck outlined in lace and a chiffon capelet with an A-line chiffon skirt. Her headpiece was a blue shoulder veil of illusion attached to a rosette petal cap. She carried a nosegay of mixed spring flowers.

Miss Christy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Smith, was the flower girl. She wore a full length yellow gown accented by yellow flowers on a white lace trimmed empire waist. The full skirt featured a ruffle flounce hem. Mixed daisies worn in her hair matched those carried in her flower basket.

The step-father of the bridegroom, Elbert L. Braxton Jr., served as best man. Ushers were Craig Smith, brother of the bridegroom, and Danny Memolo of Greenville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Stocks chose a full length dress of mint green voile with white flocked dots. The empire bodice, long sleeves and colonial neckline were trimmed with white embroidered lace. She wore a white orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a formal length gown of pale blue knit with long sheer sleeves of chiffon and accented with matching embroidered lace at the waistline and neckline.

Her corsage was a white orchid.

The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Fannie Mae Stocks, wore a white sheath dress with pale blue dots complemented by a contrasting dotted short sleeved jacket. She was presented a white orchid corsage.

The bridal couple and wedding guests were entertained at a reception hosted by the bride's parents in the fellowship hall of the church. The hall was decorated with arrangements of spring flowers. After the bride and bridegroom cut the first traditional slice, the three-tiered wedding cake and punch were served by Mrs. Sallie Musselwhite, Mrs. Janice Smith, and Mrs. Joyce Baker.

Music for the reception was provided by the Crusaders. Miss Sarah Musselwhite presided at the bride's register.

The bride chose a mint green ensemble for traveling. She wore her mother's corsage.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points in Virginia, the couple will reside near Winterville.

The bride graduated summa cum laude from East Carolina University with B. S. and M. A. degrees in mathematics. The bridegroom is a graduate of Winterville High School, Pitt Technical Institute and is employed by North Carolina Equipment Co.

A rehearsal dinner party was given by the bridegroom's parents Saturday night in the fellowship hall of the church.

MRS. THOMAS EDWARD RIGSBY

Couple Weds In Sunday Ceremony

STRAITS — Miss Mary Catherine Styron, of Rt. 2, Beaufort, and Thomas Edward Riggsby of Greenville, were united in marriage Sunday at 3 p.m. at Straits United Methodist Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Umstead.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William D. Chadwick of Rt. 2, Beaufort, and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Riggsby of Farmville.

Mrs. Candice Davis, organist, and Miss Vickie Spargo, soloist, provided nuptial music.

The bride was given in marriage by William D. Chadwick. She wore a floor length white gown of polyester crepe with long fitted sleeves and a long train of lace. The bodice and collar were covered with lace. The gown was trimmed with embroidered lace around the waist and down the front. The train attached at the waist.

The bride's headpiece was made of lily-of-the-valley with a veil which fell just below her waist. She carried a nosegay of yellow, white and light blue dried flowers.

Mrs. Abbie Guthrie of Straits, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of bright blue polyester crepe with embossed chiffon butterfly sleeves. The gown was trimmed around the waist and tied in back with satin ribbon. She carried a nosegay of yellow dried flowers.

Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Robin Styron of Straits, sister of the bride, and Miss Jane Gible of Gloucester. They wore floor length gowns of mint green polyester crepe with embossed chiffon butterfly sleeves. The gowns were trimmed around the waist and tied in back with satin ribbon. Their flowers were nosegays of yellow dried flowers.

William E. Riggsby served as his son's best man. Ushers were Alan Kalameja of Buffalo, N.Y., and Jerry Hilliard of Raleigh. The couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina University. The bridegroom is a graduate of East Carolina University and is working on his master's degree in intermediate education.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony in the church reception hall. The table was decorated with a centerpiece of daisies and gladioli in a basket with white candles.

Mrs. Westbrook Named 'Girl of The Year'

Mrs. Shirley Westbrook was honored Thursday night as the Alpha Omega's "Girl of the Year" for 1975-76 at a dinner held at the Beef Barn. Members and their husbands were present for the event. Mrs. Westbrook's award was presented to her by the awards chairman, Mildred Hecker and President Barbara Woods.

Raymond Spain was named "Man of ESA" and was presented a gift in appreciation for his help in sorority projects. Louise Spain was awarded her first degree pallas athene while Mildred Hecker received her second degree. Letchworth-Oakley Vows Said

FARMVILLE — Miss Nancy Susan Oakley of Farmville became the bride of Allan Ray Letchworth of Rt. 2, Walstonburg, Sunday at the Farmville United Methodist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Richard Calhoun. Nuptial music was provided by Lee Hendrix of Greenville, organist, and David Hardison of Walstonburg and Susan Parker of Farmville, soloists.

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Oakley of Farmville. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hardy Letchworth of Rt. 2, Walstonburg.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a formal white gown of delustered satin and re-embroidered lace. The gown was styled with a high neckline, empire waist and full bishop sleeves. Ruffles of sheer organza and lace embellished the bodice, forming a V-deffect. The A-line skirt flowed into an attached chapel train and was bordered with rows of lace and ruffling. The chapel length mantilla of silk illusion, bordered in lace, was attached to a capulet of matching lace. The bride carried a cascade of yellow and white daisies and pom poms.

Miss Betty Jo Frizzelle of Farmville served as maid of honor. She wore a yellow polyester gown fashioned with a high neckline and an A-line skirt. She carried a white basket of daisies with a touch of yellow pom poms. Her yellow hat featured a yellow ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Miss Pam Hardison of Walstonburg, Miss Cheryl O'Conner of Farmville, Miss Beth Lloyd of Roanoke Rapids, cousin of the bride, Miss Julie Hobgood of Tarboro, cousin of the bride, Miss Elaine Saunders of Farmville, cousin of the bridegroom, and Miss Donna Brann of Farmville, cousin of the bride.

They wore gowns of yellow, white and green floral organza, fashioned with round necklines and deep flounced collars. Their sleeveless bodices met fitted waistlines encircled with solid yellow cummerbunds with long streamers in back. The flowing skirts were bordered with deep flounces. They carried baskets of daisies and wore yellow hats with ribbons.

Miss Andrea Craft of Farmville served as flower girl. She wore a gown of yellow dotted swiss with white lace and yellow ribbon and accented with a cape collar. Her hat matched those of the bridesmaids. She carried a long-stemmed yellow daisy.

Ray Letchworth served as his son's best man. Ushers were Kenneth Letchworth of Walstonburg, brother of the bridegroom, Jerry Smith of Walstonburg, Greg Shackelford of Walstonburg, Les Hardison of Wilson, uncle of the bridegroom, Greg Oakley of Walstonburg, brother of the bride, Jeff Letchworth of Walstonburg, cousin of the bridegroom, Danny Hamm of Snow Hill and Rusty Edmundson of Statonsburg.

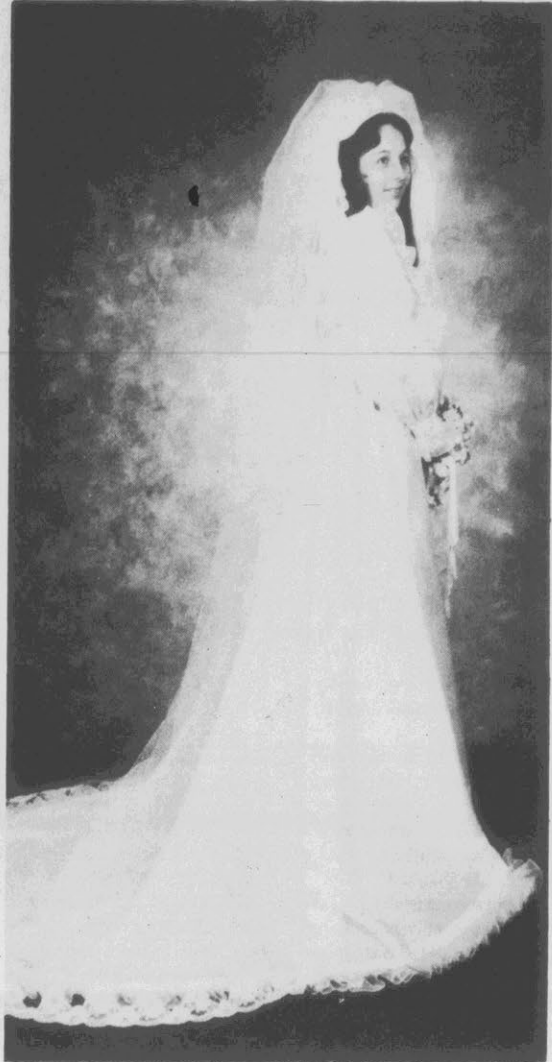

After a wedding trip to Orlando, Fla., the couple will reside at Rt. 1, Farmville.

The bride is employed at the Farmville Division of U. S. Industries. The bridegroom is employed at Collins and Aikman.

She is a graduate of Farmville Central High School and attended Lenoir Community College. He is a graduate of Greene Central High School and attended Lenoir Community College.

Following the rehearsal, the parents of the couple entertained at a cake cutting at the American Legion Building, Farmville.

The table was decorated with spring flowers and candelabra with yellow candles. Mrs. Ellen Parker served the wedding cake after the couple cut the first slice. Mrs. Joyce Saunders poured punch.

MRS. ALLAN RAY LETCHWORTH

Couple Weds In Recent Ceremony

Kathleen Ann Harmon and Larry Raymond Tucker of Charlotte were united in marriage Sunday, May 30, at a ceremony performed at the home of bride's parents.

Father Tom Palco of Chapel Hill performed the double ring ceremony at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harmon of Bear Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry K. Tucker of Rt. 1, Grimesland.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white formal gown of polyester with sculptured off-white roses. The gown was fashioned with an empire waistline, A-line skirt, sweetheart neckline and cape sleeves. The gown was made by the mother of the bride. She carried a nosegay of yellow and white marguerite daisies with baby's breath.

The maid of honor was Mary Lou Harmon of Bear Creek, sister of the bride. Richard Tucker of Rt. 1, Grimesland, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Charlotte.

The bride attended UNC at St. Gabriel's Women's Club Officers Named

On Tuesday evening, St. Gabriel's Women's Club installed new officers for the coming year.

Those installed were, Mrs. Rolf Kannen, president; Mrs. Michael Archie, vice president; Mrs. Gregory Stamp, secretary; and Mrs. Douglas Newton, treasurer.

Mrs. Kannen invited all the women of the parish to attend the club meetings which are held at St. Gabriel's School on the first Tuesday of every month at 8 p.m.

Mrs. James Villan reminded the members that all parishioners are invited to the picnic, sponsored by the church board, which will be held at the Jaycee Park Sunday, June 27 at 2 p.m. Mrs. Frank Bennett, out-going president, announced an invitation to a Bicentennial Mass at St. Peter's Church June 29 at 6:30 p.m. to be followed by a picnic in the park.

Father H.C. Mulholland introduced two Sisters of the Immaculate Heart Order, Monroe, Mich., who spoke about their mission of pastoral works.

Mrs. Bennett was presented a gift from the club for her leadership during the past year. She thanked the chairmen of the club committees and her fellow officers, Mrs. Ebron, Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Storey for their assistance.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Raymond Lyder.

Blue Laws Difficult To Write

Controversies over the Sunday Blue laws have been going on for many years. Chiefly the complaints about the laws banning sales of most items on Sundays were that they were inconsistent and some very necessary items which might be needed on Sunday could not be purchased. The local City Council took action last week which will liberalize the Blue Laws and allow the sale of some items which were previously prohibited. Included were items of personal hygiene, items of medicinal and therapeutic necessity, ladies hose, picnic supplies, flashlights and flashlight batteries and household maintenance supplies, sporting goods and toys. A section also allows for "Emergency repairs, services, and sale of materials and part incident thereto are permitted on Sunday." Even the liberalizing amendment, however, came on a split vote. Three councilmen voted in favor and three against, with the three against being in favor of doing away with the Blue Law entirely, or favoring a referendum. The liberalization of the law will certainly help the situation whereby personal hygiene items, flashlight batteries and other things that might be needed on short notice can now be purchased. The changes also leave open the question of just what is an emergency which would allow the sale of certain items. This obviously would have to be up to the store operator's discretion. Down the road we can see possible court tests of whether or not men's hose shouldn't be sold if women's are allowed. Blue laws are always difficult to write, interpret and enforce. The liberalization approved by the council last week will be helpful in some specific cases, however. We shall see how it works out.

Something For Citizens To Consider

The City Council will have a public hearing on an amendment to the charter setting four-year staggered terms for council members and keeping two-year terms for the mayor. The staggered terms aren't a bad idea since it will assure some experienced representation on the council at all times. We are not strongly opposed to the four year terms but we have to wonder if this should not be considered carefully. Asking the council members to face the voters every two years is not an extremely heavy burden in an area as limited as the city. At least it is something that citizens should think about and express their thoughts to the council.

THIS AFTERNOON

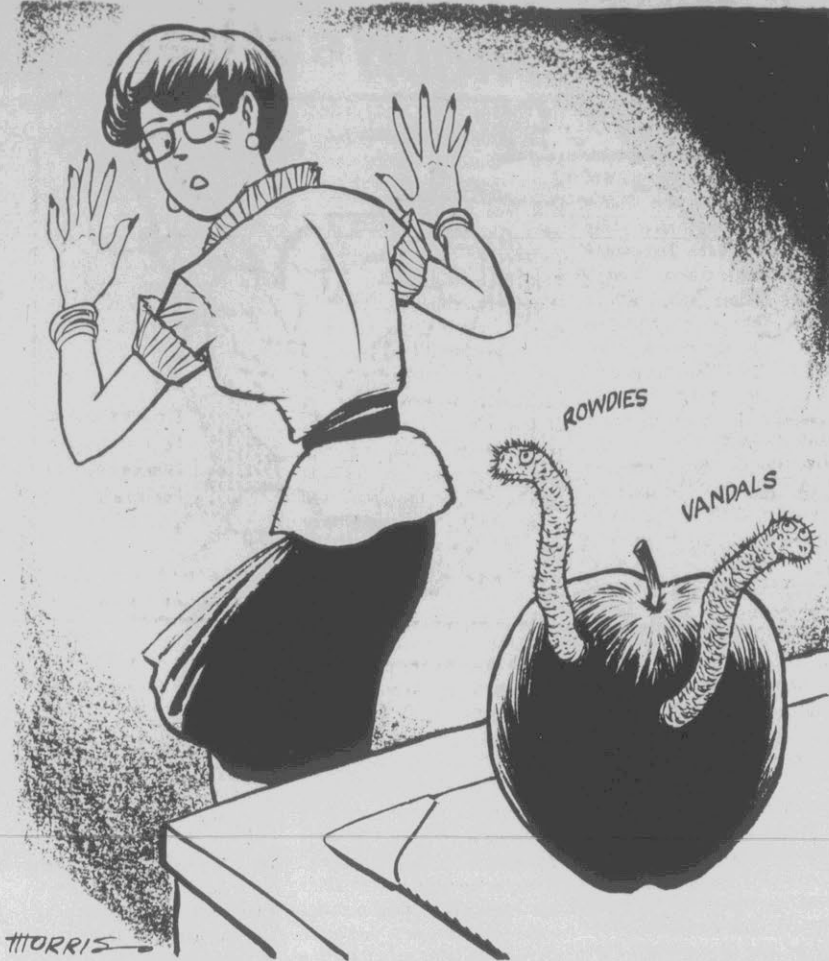

Higher Education Business

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—Aside from other obvious benefits to the state, higher education also ranks right up among the top business enterprises in North Carolina. Colleges and Universities did more than one billion dollars worth of business last fiscal year. And as enrollments climb and tuition (and other costs) along with them, the dollar value of higher education will likely continue to increase. A breakdown of current revenues college-by-college for North Carolina's public and private four-year schools, junior colleges, and the community college system contained in a recent "Statistical Abstract of Higher Education in North Carolina" published by the university system shows total revenues were $1,004,731,424. Inside Info According to University President William Friday, the abstract is designed to give legislators, educators, and other interested citizens added knowledge about who is being educated, where, and the resources supporting that education. The book is loaded with graphs, charts, and tables, from which a wealth of information on student growth, faculty credentials, costs, etc. can be gleaned. There are currently 168,644 students in higher education; 137,465 are full-time students and 31,179 part-time. Men outnumber women by 92,148 to 76,496; and in-state students (133,133) far outnumber out-of-state (35,511). The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is the "biggest business" campus industry with revenues totaling $193.5 million in 1974-75. Nearby Duke University, a private school, comes in second in the state with $169.4 million during the same period. And while tuition at Duke is higher than at state-supported schools, that source of income doesn't make the big difference. Duke collected $36.8 million from government contracts; $1.4 million from state and local grants and contracts; picked up $19.2 million in private gifts, grants, and contracts and another $13.6 million in income from endowments. The university hospital also brought in $60.8 million. Tuition income totaled $21.9 million. UNC-Chapel Hill collected $13.9 million from tuition and fees. State government appropriations to the university totaled $61.7 million (Duke doesn't get any), and the other incomes totaled $46.7 million from federal contracts; $11.8 million from private gifts, grants and contracts; $1.4 million in endowment income; $3.3 million for sales and services of educational activities; $22.5 million for sales and services of auxiliary enterprises; and $10.4 million from "other sources" for a total of $193.5 million. Ranks Third N. C. State University at Raleigh had revenues totaling $101.7 million to rank third in the state. After those big three, there is a big drop to fourth-place Wake Forest ($38.4 million), followed in order by several public universities with the following totals: East Carolina ($33 million); Appalachian ($28.5 million); UNC-Greensboro ($26.4 million); Western Carolina ($19.5 million); N. C. A&T ($18.6 million); N. C. Central ($14.3 million); then further drops to the least revenue public college for UNC-Asheville ($3.3 million) and the N. C. School of Arts ($3.3 million). Following Duke and Wake Forest on the private college list of high income producers are Davidson College ($6.7 million) and a host of schools in the $4 and $3 million range. Outranking, in revenues, all junior colleges (where the peak is $3.1 million at Wingate), and many four-year public or private schools is the top Central Piedmont Community College in Charlotte with revenues of $13.1 million, with the remainder of the community colleges running in the $3 million range and below.

THE APPLES TEACHER GETS THESE DAYS!

Names Being Missed

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — What happened, Bozo Burleson? Where are you, Bee Sweatt? Cat got your tongue, Rudy Nesmith? Did they take away your credit card, Dr. Bob Hannon? Bozo, Bee, Rudy and Dr. Bob are among the missing this year. They were expected to turn up at the state Board of Elections before the May 28 filing deadline, but they never did. In case the names are unfamiliar, each of them has run for high office in North Carolina in the recent past. Each has drawn some votes, to boot. Dr. Bob won the confidence of 4,966 of his fellow citizens when he ran in the Democratic primary for the U.S. Senate in 1974. Unfortunately for him, Robert Morgan had 294,000 votes. Rudy Nesmith, the candidate of the U.S. Labor party, bettered Dr. Bob's showing in the general election that year. He got 8,974 votes. Unfortunately for him, Morgan got 633,000. Bee Sweatt, running in the Republican primary for that same Senate seat, got 6,520 votes, which were not enough to stem the tide engineered by Gov. Jim Holshouser for William Stevens. Bozo Burleson, after running unsuccessfully for many offices as a Democrat, was last heard from in 1972 as a gubernatorial candidate in the American party primary. Changing parties didn't help him. He lost to Arlis Pettyjohn, 335 to 251. Though their absence probably will not deter the onward march of history, they might have given 1976, already a dreadfully dull campaign year, a little spice. Bee Sweatt, for example, campaigned on a promise to stamp out a conspiracy that was making dope addicts of our youth by secreting heroin in the audio-visual equipment of the community college system. None of the other candidates has picked up the Sweatt banner, so it must be assumed that the conspirators' activities go on unabated. Rudy Nesmith fervently believed that Nelson Rockefeller was leading everyone but him and his comrades in a plot to enslave the world. Because he was on the ballot, television stations had to give Rudy equal time on their interview shows, and he would often expound his party's dogma. Rudy hit upon a way of turning aside probing questions from reporters that most other candidates could only dream of trying. "Do you know that you are a pawn of the international conspiracy headed by the Rockefeller and the CIA?" he would calmly ask. Pretty soon, he got no more probing questions. Like many candidates, Dr. Bob Hannon was under-financed. He had a novel way of trying to solve the problem, however. He sent press releases to the news media asking them to send him money. Often his press releases were scrawled on the back of rather scurrilous postcards, but that was in keeping with the nature of the Hannon campaign. No one, least of all the candidate, knew for sure where the Ph.D. he claimed had come from. Nor were his ideas tradeable to any known western philosophy. Dr. Bob did leave, however, one of the most candid comments ever uttered by a cam-

No Good Sports Around

WASHINGTON—Every time you turn on the television to watch either football, hockey, basketball or baseball, you see a whale of a fistfight. It seems that for some reason athletes are losing their tempers a lot faster than they used to and, much to the delight of the fans, they start swinging at each other at the slightest provocation. Are American sports contests getting out of hand? Dr. Heinrich Applebaum, an avid sports fan and president of the Society for the Advancement of Violence in Sports, doesn't think so. "If anything, there isn't enough," he said. "The American public deserves more fighting for its money." "But, Professor," I said, "I thought sports were supposed to develop character and teach young people to play by the rules." "Balderdash," he said. "I'd rather see a hockey player hit another hockey player with a stick any time. That, to me, is SPORT." "How can you say that?" "This is a violent world. Let the kids learn it while they're young. I'm not saying you should kick a basketball player when he's down—at least not when the referee is looking. But if you can get a punch into his kidneys, it's certainly going to add a lot of fun to the game." "Why?" "Because the other guy will figure out a way to get even; such as kneeling his opponent in the groin." "But what has that got to do with sports?" "It makes winners out of people, and winning in life is everything. When you go out to a baseball game, what do you want for?" "Someone to score a run?" "No way. The reason you've paid five bucks is that you hope the pitcher will throw a beanball at the batter's head." "Why would you hope that?" I asked. "So then the hitter will fling his baseball bat at the pitcher's stomach. This will cause the catcher to take a swing at the hitter with his mask, and that will bring out the players from both benches for an all-out melee. That's what you pay five bucks for." "But if you want violence why don't you just go to a prizefight?" "That's planned violence. The fighters are allowed to hit each other. What grabs the American sports fan is unplanned violence—the kind that can erupt at any moment." "Isn't football violent enough for you without fighting?" "Are you kidding? The thing that makes football fun is to see one player stick his finger into another player's eye, without getting penalized for it." "Why not a penalty?" "Because if there were a penalty the other player who got stuck in the eye would feel he got satisfaction. If there's no penalty, then he'll think of some way to get even, like trying to break the other guy's leg. We believe penalties take all the fun out of football." "It sounds awfully cruel to me." "That's because you're not a true sports fan. There was a

To the editor:
The parents and teachers of the Greenville District Schools who have this past year organized PAGE (Parents for the Advancement of Gifted Education) are particularly concerned about funds for the Greenville and Pitt County School Systems. Provision of safe, adequate space to conduct classes is equally as essential to a good educational system as is a top quality instructional program. Unless sufficient funds are provided for school buildings and their maintenance, it makes little sense to worry about what goes on inside them. We urge the County Commissioners in their forthcoming budget sessions to give every consideration to funding fully the requests of the Greenville and Pitt County School Boards. To meet these budget requests we suggest the reinstatement of the 20-cent capital outlay levy for the Greenville School District; for the Pitt County Schools, the Commissioners should use whatever means they deem appropriate to meet the requests. If we truly care about the quality of our children's education — and hence the quality of their and our future — then we must be prepared to invest in it.

Remember when a man's home was his castle and no one—government or man infringed on his rights? Those days are gone. Greenville Planning Board, Board of Adjustments, and Greenville City Council rezoned property based on what? What criterion do they use? What reasoning? Some examples of their decisions: 1. all area property owners were present when the Council approved the rezoning of the Cherry property on Route 1704 and all owners except the developer objected. What reasoning? 2. A request to establish a ceramic shop at the old bail shop on 264 was refused because it was spotted zoning and rightfully so. But just recently the house next door to the old shop was allowed to become an office building for a real estate company. What reasoning? 3. The rezoning of 47 acres along the bypass and 14th Streets after years of unsuccessful tries. What reasoning? It is my opinion that the losers are always the individual property home owners who have worked

HEART OF AMERICA

Bicentennial Spirit High

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Education Editor
Fed up with the "buy" in America's Bicentennial? Sotick of taxes you'd like to lead your own revolt July 4 when America marks its 200th birthday? Forget all that. Feast your eyes on words about winning entries from the "My America" contest sponsored by the National Education Association and the Pennsylvania Bicentennial Commission. This is the only nationwide Bicentennial contest that was open to boys and girls from kindergarten to grade 12. Any contest with that spread of ages is bound to produce surprises. This one has its share. For starters—a kindergarten boy beat everyone in one state! A review of winning entries — one from each state, Puerto Rico, Guam and American schools overseas—shows this: The Bicentennial spirit's thumping in the hearts of young America. And it's tapping out a message of love for the red, white and blue. The 53 winners will gather at Valley Forge, the nation's shrine, July 4. That's where General Washington and his troops endured a hellfire of snow and ice during the Revolutionary War. On July 4 President Ford will be at Valley Forge to announce the top winner—and the first and second runner-up. Half the state winners are high schoolers. Most of the rest are from junior high. The "littles" winner, Douglas Rank, is 45 inches tall and weighs 46 pounds.

The kindergarten lad, five, beat out more than 3,000 contestants in Pennsylvania! "It's a very interesting picture I've heard you made," I told Douglas when talking to him on the phone at the Forge Street Elementary School in Palmyra—near Hershey, Pa. "I know," he said. "I can hardly get my eyes or mind off it." That was some feat. The poster at the time of our conversation was some miles away. In Harrisburg, Pa., hanging in the William Penn Museum with the other winners' works. In June the exhibit moves to Franklin Institute in Philadelphia where Bicentennial visitors may view it. The next stop is Pittsburgh in the fall. The Rank poster—er, project—includes bottle caps, yarn, paint, pictures. It depicts America through transportation—past, present, future. From horse to space shuttle. A rug is among the best of show from the tens of thousands of entries by students in public, private and parochial schools. The rug won in Massachusetts, one of the constitution states—as the first 13 states are called. Anna Camillus Keenan, rugmaker and 11th grader at St. Claire High in Rosindale, Mass., wrote: "The design is meant to convey my belief that world peace is essential if we hope to survive. "However it must start at home in the hearts of people. "Through my design I hope to constructively criticize and inspire others to do likewise the unpeaceful and disturbing state to which we are subjecting ourselves. Therefore I chose the title — 'Boston: Home Sweet Home!'" This apparently is a reference to Boston's troubles over school desegregation, an issue dividing communities. The entry is a "scatter" rug. The expression of patriotic thoughts on the theme "My America — Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow — take many forms. Art, music, crafts, poems, essays. Blue ribbon winning state entries even include a hand-made oak banjo — and a

Strength For Today

IF CHRIST CAME AGAIN
People often wonder what would happen if Christ returned to the earth again. We can be pretty sure that politicians would look on him with suspicion, that economists would ignore him, and that most churches would consider him to be an impostor. But why this repudiation? One would think that after two thousand years of Christianity the western world would have improved to the point that Jesus would be given an enthusiastic welcome. It has improved

Per Capita Income Has Soared

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — In terms of material wealth, yes, this nation has come a long way in 200 years, from net national wealth of about $4 billion in 1775 to $5,700 billion in 1975. This tremendous sum, says Prof. John Kendrick, is easier to grasp — intellectually, that is — when it is averaged to $26,530 for each man, woman and child, or $106,000 for a typical family of four. Kendrick, professor of economics at George Washington University, notes in an article for the Morgan Guaranty Survey that even though population grew 90 times, per capita income still managed a 17-fold increase.

If these figures provide you with a sense of progress in a world you thought was merely an economic treadmill, there is even better news coming. Contrary to a popular notion, the personal sector of economic society is enlarging its percentage at the expense of both the business and government sectors, Kendrick's study indicates. In 1925, the personal sector accounted for 29.5 per cent of gross national wealth, but in 1975 it had grown to 40.3 per cent, while the percentage owned by business dropped from 56.4 to 37.3. In the same period, the percentage of wealth controlled by the government rose from 12 to 21.3, but that's not the latest story. In 1948, following World War II, the percentage was 29.8. The remaining 1.2 per cent of wealth in 1975 came under the category of foreign assets, which also declined, from 2.1 per cent in 1925 to an even 2 per cent in 1948. The per capita numbers used by Kendrick relate not only to the direct holdings of individuals in the personal sector of the economy, but also their share of business and public domestic wealth, plus foreign assets. Perhaps the most astonishing figures of all are those that show the tremendous buildup of wealth in the past 20 years or so. In that time net national wealth has nearly doubled. All this might not make one week's lifestyle, but it can nevertheless add to one's sense of security, and reaffirm a person's belief that there is, after all, some gain in all the toil and labor. There is another reminder also: Americans adjust very, very quickly to improved lifestyles. Once achieved, a higher standard of living soon is obsolescent, and the pursuit of greater goals convince the weary toiler that he just doesn't have anything. Only when you pause to reflect on the material progress over a period of decades do you see the picture clearly. Like if you went back 20 decades to the time when you were worth only one-seventeenth as much as you are now.

 quilt, musical compositions, multi media presentations.
 Along with strong patriotic vibes, hope runs through the entries — as a supporting theme. Consider one sample — this excerpt from Lisa Joy Moreau's entry. The fourth grader goes to Evergreen Elementary School in Bunkie, La.
 "Tomorrow," she wrote.
 "There really is no way to tell what is going to happen in the future. I can only guess and hope!
 "I truly believe that America will always be 'Number One' in the world. I have to hope and believe this, because in a few years I will be an adult, and have children of my own.
 "I want them to enjoy the privileges I have always had."

A high school senior in Florida called his essay — "The Open Door." Steven Atwood of Lyman High, Longwood, lives in Maitland. He wrote:

"Through the golden door and the golden gate they still come. They come by the thousands each year. This fact alone tells us that people of the world still yearn to be free.

"As we approach our nation's Bicentennial, let us be patient, for as much as we are a people, we are many peoples.

"A free future hinges on open doors, open hearts and open minds.

"Let us never allow the web of indifference to enmesh a continent — a continent that sways the destiny of the world.

"In our diversity there is strength."

The homemade oak banjo won state honors for Jerry Mehelson of Cayce, S.C. He is in the eighth grade.

Robert McAteer, a seventh grader from Wilmington, Del., wants to be sure judges know his colonial house was not made from someone else's plans. He wrote:

"This is a revolutionary war era colonial house. This was not a kit project. Each piece was individually cut.

"My father helped with the power saw cutting but the house was designed, assembled, and sanded and painted by me. It was scaled one-half inch equals one foot."

It took a month to design and two months to build.

Throughout winning contestants displayed great creativity.

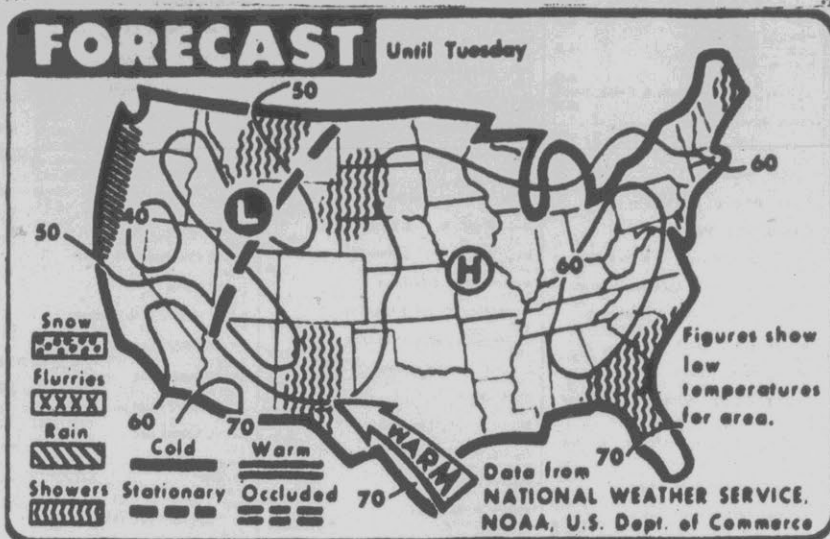

One pretended to be the American Eagle soaring over battlefields and cities—past, present, and future.

Another simply wrote letters to America—not Uncle Sam, not Yankee Doodle. Plain, 200-year-old America.

And a student wrote three separate letters: One to President Washington. One to President Kennedy. And one to "All Future Leaders of America." The latter one ended:

"America is becoming wiser everyday. She is no longer a toddler, no longer an adolescent but an adult hard to acquire homes of their own and not depend on the government to provide housing.

The winners are the powerful rich and very influential people and it appears they gain a nice financial bundle from each rezoning.

What can be done to help the individual property owners? 1. Allow only very rare cases of rezoning of private home property. We should be protected by the government and not injured. 2. On any rezoning question involving private home property owners, notification should be sent to all the owners that may be affected. 3. Newspaper notices should be written so the average citizen can understand.

"Why do you think the sports fan in this country is demanding more and more violence?"

"Because he's tired of being pushed around. He used to accept fair play, but where did it get him? We've wised up over the years and if we don't get blood we're going to switch our allegiance to another team."

"I guess you're speaking for a lot of people."

Thomas A. Rose, President, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina.

Tom Rose covers the state getting grass-roots views on health care.

"As President of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina, I travel the state, getting first-hand information from people. Talking, questioning, listening. Trying to identify North Carolina's health care needs. And looking for new and better ways to respond to them.

"Take catastrophic illness coverage, for instance. We studied that first through scientific surveys and I researched it personally. The answer was clear: North Carolinians wanted catastrophic coverage. Now we offer $250,000 Major Medical to our groups for just a little extra cost.

"Dental was the next-most-wanted coverage. We now offer an excellent dental program to groups of 25 or more employees.

"People want broad protection that's easy to use. For years our basic certificate has covered innovative services like same day surgery and pre-admission testing—without a hospital stay.

Last year we paid three times as many outpatient claims as inpatient.

"I know the people of North Carolina are concerned about the rising costs of health care. We're doing something about that, too. We conduct many programs designed to contain health care costs and keep subscriber rates at a realistic minimum. We're developing a new contracting agreement with hospitals and other institutions, and encouraging area-wide planning and new ways to monitor costs, like physician's peer review.

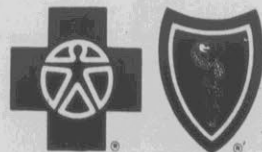

"Further, we've set up 11 Subscriber Advisory Councils across the state. They meet regularly and share with us their ideas and concerns about health care. We listen...and respond.

"Through our 19 local offices, we serve nearly half the people in the state. And all our service offices have terminals connected to our main computer. You can phone us with questions and get answers in minutes.

"Our latest innovation is sending personal monthly reports to subscribers who have had claims. This Health Care Benefits Summary will show subscribers what their claims were for and how much their Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage paid.

"We feel strongly that we owe it to all the people we serve to do everything we can to make North Carolina's health system the best in terms of service, efficiency, and economy. We think it is the best, but we're still looking for new ways to improve service. Next time I'm on the road, I'd like to see you and get your ideas, too."

Democrats To Add Women, Blacks

RALEIGH (AP) — A Democratic party nominating committee has voted to increase the proportion of women and blacks on the state delegation to the national convention.

If its slate is adopted at next week's state Democratic convention, 10 women and four blacks will be elected to the 15 delegate slots still open.

And in his first public pledge of support for presidential candidate Jimmy Carter, U.S. Sen. Robert Morgan (D-N.C.) has declared that he wants to be chosen chairman of that North Carolina delegation.

Morgan was one of the Carter-pledged delegates nominated Saturday by the special 12-member committee, headed by party chairman James R. Sugg.

Morgan had voiced support for Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) before the state primary election.

So far, only 46 of the state's 61 Democratic delegates have been officially elected.

The makeup of that partial delegation has been criticized by some party members because only four of the 46 delegates are blacks and only six are women.

Representation of blacks and women was better in 1972, when 30 women and 13 blacks served on the 64-member North Carolina delegation. The national party organization imposed sexual and racial delegate quotas that year.

Even if the nominating committee's slate is passed intact, the 61 member 1976 delegation will have only 16 women and eight blacks.

Pushing for election as chairman of the state delegation, Morgan said at a news conference Saturday that he should be chosen because "I might be in a better position, to do the state of North Carolina more good in dealing with other delegations."

Party chairman Sugg has also expressed a desire to become delegation chairman. He said Saturday that he believes he can "hold the delegation together."

Morgan announced his sponsorship of a major Carterfundraising event. The campaign hopes to raise $75,000 to $100,000 at a June 28 $1,000 per couple dinner at the Asheville home of William Cecil, Biltmore Estates owner, he said.

Based on North Carolina presidential primary election results, Carter will receive nine at-large delegates; Wallace, six.

The Carter delegates recommended Saturday by the nominating committee are: Sen. Morgan, state AFL-CIO president Wilbur Hobby, state Carter campaign manager Linda

C. Ashendorf of Charlotte, John W. Winters Jr. of Raleigh, Alfred Webb of Greensboro, Mazie S. Woodruff of Winston Salem, Jeanette Council of Fayetteville, Natalie Murray of Hickory and Anne Watson of Whitakers.

The committee's six Wallace delegate recommendations are: state Wallace campaign manager C.J. Hyatt of Winston-Salem, Doris T. Nunn of Charlotte, Sue Bumgarner of Hudson, Betty Hinson of Greensboro, Mary V. Jones of Franklinville and Thomas W. Shirely of Smithfield.

The nominating committee could not nominate a black to become a Wallace-pledged delegate because the Wallace campaign did not approve any black delegate positions.

FIRST STREETCAR

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The first electric streetcar in Mexico started operating in 1901.

Area's Water Contaminated

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Bacteria from human waste has been found in wells which supply drinking water to a low income area here, according to the Cumberland County Health Department.

The department said it found contamination in 18 of 33 unprotected wells checked in the Bell Boulevard area off N.C. 87. Part of the area is within the city limits, but the health department said sewage disposal on both city and county sides of the street consists of outdoor toilets.

Lacy Williams, director of environmental health, said the toilets and a high water table have created a health problem. "These toilets are a potential health hazard as they fill up with surface water and sewage," he said.

The area consists mainly of rental houses owned by absentee landlords or houses bought by poor families for prices ranging from $4,000 to $8,000.

There is no county law requiring a property owner to provide a sanitary water source for residents.

Williams said he thinks the solution to health problems in the area is annexation by the city, which has a law requiring a sanitary water supply. A city water line runs down the middle of Bell Boulevard but county residents still use well water.

Ray Muench, the city's Public Works Commission director, said a move to supply both water and sewer service to the area met with little success several years ago. Muench said there was interest from the property owners, "but when it came down to dollars that interest faded."

Pirates Take Tenth Inning Win

LOUISBURG — Sonny Wooten singled home Pete Paradossi with the winning run in the top of the tenth to take a 3-2 win over Louisville and get the Pirates' second win of the season. The game had been tied twice by Louisville in the fourth and again in the ninth. Larry Daughtridge went all the way for the Pirates getting his first win. He struck out seven, walked four and gave up five hits. Kevin Staley lost going the distance. He fanned nine and walked one. East Carolina broke the tie in the third when Robert Brinkley doubled to left scoring Paradossi who had reached on a throwing error.

The lead was short lived as Louisville tied it in the fourth on a single by Tommy Warrick and three walks. Wooten broke the tie in the sixth singling, moving to second on a wild pitch, stealing third and scored on the resulting throwing error on the steal.

The Pirates got two hits from Wooten and Bobby Supel. ECU is leading the summer league standings with a 2-0 record. Elon is a half-game back at 1-0. The Bucs travel to Wilson to face Atlantic Christian, Tuesday night.

Legion Loses Second; Hosts Wilson Tonight

WILSON — Two extra base hits in the fifth inning keyed a six-run Wilson rally giving Wilson an 8-0 lead which held up and beat Greenville's American Legion team, 8-0, Sunday.

The Post 39 team is 0-2 and plays Wilson Greenville tonight. Henry Baker started for Greenville but gave up 11 hits and five walks taking the loss.

Simms won for Wilson. Wilson scored first in the first as Ellis singled and scored on Barner's double. Wilson added a second tally in the third as Robin Fassnacht singled in Ellis.

Greenville had moved a man to third in the first but could not bring him in. Greenville also had a baserunner in the fourth but again failed to score.

Corbett led off the sixth reaching on an error and Jones singled. Smith tripled them both in and Ellis reached on a fielder's choice after Simms singled in Smith. Pollock doubled two runs across and a hit by Barnes drove in Pollock. Greenville only got three hits in the game.

Jaycees, Coke Take Sunday Wins

Coca-Cola moved into a tie for third place and the Jaycees moved a game out in first place in the North State League as each won yesterday in North State Little League action.

The Jaycees had to rally for three runs in the top of the sixth to break a 4-4 tie and take a 7-4 2in over Union Carbide to run the Jaycee record to 8-2. Coke got all it needed in the first inning of their home getting on a grand slam homer to beat the Lions, 5-3.

Union Carbide scored first as Dwayne Fischer walked, moved to third on walks and scored on a passed ball.

The Jaycees tied the game in the second when Henry Goodson singled in Mike Pollard.

The Jaycees went up by two, 3-1, in the third and made it 4-2 in the fourth but Union Carbide picked up runs in the fourth and fifth to tie it up.

Danny Woods reached on a fielder's choice in the sixth and Crowell Pope singled. After Pollard walked, two errors let the three runners scored the winning tallies.

Pope had a pair of hits for the Jaycees, David Moon had two for UC.

The Lions broke in front 2-0 over Coke in the top of their first frame on a home run by Roger Williams. But Coke got a big hit in the bottom of the inning to take the lead. Terry Smith reached on an error and Chuch Allen was hit by a pitch. Jonathan McGee's hit loaded them up and Raynor Casey singled in Smith. Billy Branigan homered scoring the other three for a 5-2 lead.

Burney Carraway walked and scored on a hit by Robert Steele in the fourth for the other Lion run.

Bench Warmers Have Hot Days At The Plate

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

There had been plenty of time on the bench for Cincinnati catcher Bill Plummer and Atlanta outfielder Tom Paciorek to think about having big days at the plate, winning baseball games for teams that seemingly had forgotten them.

Sunday, each made the best of his chances. Plummer, in the lineup only 19 times in the Reds' first 51 games this National League season, paced Cincinnati's 13-2 rout of St. Louis by driving in seven runs with a home run, a triple and a single.

Paciorek, who had watched all but 26 of the Braves' first 49 contests, cracked his first homer of the year and added a triple and single in Atlanta's 14-8 rout of Montreal.

"It was a dream day for an extra man," said Plummer, a catcher who got his chance to play when Manager Sparky Anderson gave a rest to Reds regular Johnny Bench. The three hits gave Plummer 18 for the season while the seven RBI more than doubled his total and gave him 12 for the campaign. Paciorek, with the three hits and two walks in his five times at bat against the Expos, said, "This is the first time I have ever done this since the minor leagues."

In the other NL games, Philadelphia belted San Francisco 9-3; Houston swept Chicago with a 2-0 decision in the opener and a 5-1 victory in the nightcap; Los Angeles clubbed New York 10-3, and San Diego topped Pittsburgh 6-1.

Paciorek's two-run homer capped a four-run sixth inning and Rowland Office's three-run shot keyed a four-run eighth as Atlanta shelled Montreal.

Phillies 9, Giants 3 Philadelphia left-hander Jim Kaat cracked two doubles and a single and drove in three runs as the Phillies — held to one hit through six innings — came back with five runs in the seventh and four in the eighth to swamp San Francisco.

John Montefusco, 6-5, had allowed only an opposite-field double by Kaat, 4-2, in the third until the uprising.

Astros 2-5, Cubs 0-1 Run-scoring singles by Rob Andrews and Jerry Davanon paced a four-run first inning to give Houston its second-game victory. Houston rookie Joaquin Andujar, who had two-hit Cincinnati in his last start, hurled his second straight two-hitter in the opener.

Dodgers 10, Mets 3 Bill Russell drove in three runs with two doubles and a single as Los Angeles produced a 15-hit attack for Don Sutton and pounded New York. Sutton scattered eight hits, including John Milner's two-run homer in the third inning, and fanned out seven to pull within 37 strikeouts of 2,000 for his career.

Padres 6, Pirates 1 Ted Kubiak's two-run, sixth-inning single backed Brent Strom's seven-hitter as San Diego beat Pittsburgh before an all-time Three Rivers Stadium record crowd of 51,726 on jacket day.

Strom gave up the Pirate run in the fourth inning, while John Candelaria, 4-4, was charged with all six San Diego runs, two of them unearned.

Moose, Exchange Raise Records

Exchange moved step closer to the Tar Heel Little League title Sunday with an 11-1 win over Big Value and The Moose evened their record at 5-5 with a 9-2 victory over Pepsi-Cola.

Exchange got its first runs against Big Value in the third picking up two. Big Value cut the lead to 2-1 in the top of the fourth but Exchange put it away in the bottom of the frame rallying for five around Gordon Douglas' three-run homer. Exchange scored four more in the fifth.

The Moose got two in the first on singles by Donnie Daughtridge and Kosta Maurakis and a double by Carl Woodworth. The Moose picked up three more hits and five walks in the second rallying for five runs to put the game on ice.

The Moose scored runs in the fourth and fifth. Pepsi scored its

Greenville Wins Second

ROCKY MOUNT — Greenville won its second Roanoke Tennis league match Sunday with a 5-1 decision over Rocky Mount losing only a doubles match.

The Greenville team hosts Tarboro next Sunday. The summary: Walter Jones (G) defeated Billy Jenins, 6-0, 6-1; Tom Sayetta (G) defeated Olin Wilson, 6-3, 6-2; Steve Post (G) defeated Dell Eastmon, 4-6, 5-2, 6-0; Tim Toates (G) defeated John Riley, 6-3, 6-2; Irwin Sayetta (G) defeated Earlmon Wilson, 7-6, 5-7, 4-4; Jenkins-Riley (RM) won over Post-Toates by forfeit.

Outfielder Bake McBride of the St. Louis Cardinals is the only Missouri native on the team.

Cristiano Throws Win

Dennis Cristiano had three hits and pitches a five-hit shutout leading Ayden-Grifton to a 6-0 win over Bill Clifton in Senior Babe Ruth baseball, Saturday night.

Ned Craft drove in three runs and Cristiano and Vern Davenport had doubles. Kevin Adams had two hits for Bill Clifton.

Things Go From Bad To Worse For Expos

MONTREAL (AP) — Wind up a Gary Carter doll and it's sure to run into something. The original works the same way.

Carter, the Montreal Expos' right fielder, charged head-on into outfield teammate Pepe Mangual while chasing a sacrifice fly in the first inning of a game against the Atlanta Braves Sunday. He fractured his left thumb and knocked out Mangual as well.

Against all odds, things got even worse for the Expos after that, with the Braves pounding out a 14-8 victory to sweep a three-game weekend series.

Carter, with his thumb to be in a cast for four weeks, will be lost to the Expos for at least six and perhaps eight weeks, first medical reports indicated.

A shaken Mangual, removed from the field on a stretcher, remained in hospital overnight for further observation.

Crackups come easy to Carter. In his rookie season last year, he waited until the second home game of the season, on April 19, before crashing into the right-field fence in pursuit of what otherwise would have been a home run for Dave Cash of Philadelphia Phillies. Carter turned it into an out and put himself out with two cracked ribs.

Postponements and scheduled days off meant he missed only two games, but Sept. 1 brought another disabling injury, a ligament tear in his left knee suffered in a run-in at home plate with Tony Taylor in Philadelphia.

With catcher Barry Foote out with an injury, Carter succeeded in talking his way back into the line-up Sept. 12 in time to catch the last 17 games of the season.

In spring training this year he kept a heavy date with the left-field wall at Winter Haven, Fla., and took better than a dozen stitches to the forehead for his exhibition game efforts against the Boston Red Sox of the American League.

In the latest case, the Expos were expected to announce today that they will call up from the Denver Bears of the International League to replace Carter on the roster and on which injury list he will be placed.

While Carter and Mangual underwent X rays in hospital to determine the extent of their injuries, the Braves continued to operate on the surviving Expos.

Rowland Office slammed a three-run homer to highlight a four-run eighth inning against Fred Scherman, the third Montreal pitcher, and Tom Paciorek scampered around the bases with a two-run inside-the-park homer that Andre Thornton, Carter's replacement in right field, had to pick up twice.

Bradley Gets Playoff Victory

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — The cow bell on the porch of the Bradley home in Westford, Mass., rang long and loud Sunday evening at 6:15.

It signified to the neighbors that Pat Bradley had just captured the title in the Ladies Professional Golf Association $76,000 Classic at the Wykagyl Country Club.

The 25-year-old Miss Bradley, on the tour for her third year, came through with a par four on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff with Judy Rankin, leading money winner on the LPGA trail.

For the Florida International University graduate, the victory was her first official one since turning professional after receiving her degree in physical education.

Last December, she won the Far East Classic in Melbourne, Australia, but that triumph was not recognized officially by the LPGA.

"After I won in Australia, I called home to tell my parents," explained an excited Miss Bradley, $14,000 richer for Sunday's win.

"It was 3 a.m. and my mother ran out on the porch and started clanging the cow bell despite the hour to let everyone know the good news.

"I've just gotten off the phone now, and while I was talking to my father (Richard), my mother was clanging the bell again. We're from a small town 40 miles northeast of Boston and everyone knows everyone. We call it a blanket town."

The Wykagyl Classic, sponsored by Girl Talk, a woman's magazine, might well have been called a "blanket" tourney, too.

Miss Bradley, Mrs. Rankin actually finished in a four-way tie with Bonnie Lauer and Sandra Post at 217.

Miss Bradley sank an 18-foot putt, and Mrs. Rankin a three-footer while the other two missed.

For the day, Miss Bradley, who bogied the par five 18th, Mrs. Rankin and Miss Lauer each shot par 72 on a 6,169-yard course that was pelted by rain for almost three hours.

Laura Baugh, who had a 66 on opening day, three-putted a 12-footer the final hole for a bogie and finished with a second straight 76 to wind up with 218 and fifth-place money of $3,200.

Ashe Has Shot At Title

By JOHN VINOCUR
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — If the sun doesn't go away, if the red clay courts bake a little harder, if the heat continues to live up to the balls he calls "bricks," Arthur Ashe thinks he just might become the first American in 21 years to win the French Open.

The thought is coming to him slowly at a place where he has never gotten through the quarter-finals, but Ashe stopped the kidding Sunday about his feeble chances here. His line was: "There's a seat for A. Ashe on every plane out of Paris to London."

The last American to win in Paris was Tony Trabert in 1955.

The talk got serious as the weather got hotter and Ashe brought some of his own smoke to the center court at Roland Garros Stadium, hitting seven service aces en route to beating Jurgen Fassbender of West Germany 6-1, 6-2, 6-2 to advance into the round of 16.

The heat turns the game around for Ashe, transforming his serve and volley game from a beached battleship into a very viable strategic weapon.

In the first week of the $210,000 tournament, the red clay courts were made even slower than usual by consistently cold, damp weather.

Kite Wins First Tourney

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "It's been a long time coming," sighed Tom Kite.

"I thought I'd win my first year on the tour. I didn't. I thought I'd win my second year. I didn't. I thought for sure I'd win in my third year. And I still didn't."

"I'd see these other guys out here who were winning tournaments and I'd say to myself, 'Gee, I can beat these guys.' And, maybe over the year, I would beat them. But they were winning tournaments and I wasn't."

"I got pretty disappointed, pretty dejected."

But now, in his fourth full season on the pro golf tour, Tom Kite is a winner at last. He turned back Terry Diehl with a winning par on the fifth hole of sudden death to take the title and the $40,000 first prize Sunday in the Bicentennial Golf Classic.

But it didn't come easily. Kite had to chip in from 40 yards for a birdie that provided the momentum for a final round, five-under-par 66 that tied Diehl at 277, seven under par for 72 holes over the White-marsh Valley Country Club course.

Kite had to drop a 45-50 foot putt for par on the 17th hole that kept his hopes alive.

Then, since he'd played almost an hour in front of the other contenders, he had to sit and wait. The 26-year-old Kite, an Austin, Tex., native who has played most of his career in the shadow of his Texas teammate Ben Crenshaw, had to watch his score and Diehl tied his score and Larry Nelson — Jerry Pate and Larry Nelson — moved ahead of him. Pate, however, finished bogey-bogey to drop out of a playoff spot and Nelson played his last two holes bogey-double bogey.

And in the playoff, Kite managed to halve the first hole with a bogey — and he had to one-putt from 10-12 feet for that.

Kite, who shared the national collegiate title with Crenshaw in his senior year at Texas, pushed his earnings for the season to $100,224 after collecting the first prize in this event that formerly was known as the Philadelphia Classic.

At one time or another in the final round, nine different players — Diehl, Kite, Ken Still, Larry Nelson, Jerry Pate, Tom Purtzer, Jerry McGee, Masters champ Ray Floyd and Grier Jones — all led or shared the lead.

Pate's closing 70 left him one shot out of the playoff and third alone at 278. Nelson, with a 71, dropped back into a tie at 279 with Floyd and McGee. Floyd had a last round 70, McGee 71.

Movies Help Pole To Beat California

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Dick Pole went to the movies Saturday and he liked what he saw. Then he went out Sunday and pitched the Boston Red Sox back into the American League East pennant race.

Pole spent Saturday watching films of himself in a game against Baltimore last June. He was working a shutout at that time until leaving in the ninth with a fractured cheekbone after stopping a Tony Muser line drive with his face. But it wasn't the injury that Pole wanted to see.

"I was pitching well at that time, breaking into the starting rotation. I try to forget about the injury and I did while I was watching the films.

"I saw that now I was doing something wrong."

Pole didn't do much wrong against California Sunday, hurling seven shutout innings as Boston topped the Angels 4-1. The victory lifted the Red Sox into third place in the East, 5½ games behind front-running New York. Boston trailed by eight games as recently as last Wednesday.

Elsewhere in the American League, Texas bombed Detroit 16-6, Oakland split a pair with the New York Yankees, the A's winning 3-2 and the Yanks 5-2, Milwaukee outlasted Kansas City 4-3 in 14 innings, Minnesota swept two games from Baltimore, 3-2 and 11-6, and Chicago beat Cleveland twice, 3-2 and 5-0.

"When you're going terrible you try anything," said Pole, 23, of his movie session. "I noticed I wasn't striding on my follow-through, falling almost a foot short."

Pole allowed California six hits, struck out five batters and didn't walk any before leaving in favor of Reggie Cleveland in the eighth. Cleveland gave up a run-scoring single to Bobby Bonds for the lone Angels' run.

Carl Yastrzemski and Cecil Cooper accounted for the Boston offense against Nolan Ryan, 4-7. Yaz singled home a run in the first and another in the seventh, and Cooper had a two-run single in the fourth.

Rangers 16, Tigers 6

Tom Grieve and Juan Beniquez drove in three runs each as Texas pulled to within 2½ games of first-place Kansas

City in AL West. The Rangers collected 16 base hits and wrapped it up with semirich included Bill Fahey's two-run single and Lenny Randle's two-run double. Nelson Briles, 5-2, beat Joe Coleman, 2-5.

A's 3-2, Yanks 2-5

Vida Blue, 6-5, got clutch relief pitching from Rollie Fingers to subdue New York in the opener. Claudell Washington singled in one run for Oakland and Phil Garner singled in the other two.

The Yanks rallied for four runs in the ninth to take the nightcap, the final three when Oscar Gamble belted a two-out homer off Fingers. Dave Pagan, 1-0, was the winner, tossing a six-hitter as New York snapped a four-game losing streak.

Brewers 4, Royals 3

Sixto Lezcano's run-scoring single in the 14th inning gave Milwaukee only its second victory in the last nine games. Jerry Augustine, 1-1, was the winner and Marty Pattin, 1-6, the loser. Each team scored in the 11th to prolong the contest. Milwaukee on Von Joshua's single and Kansas City on a single by Hal O'Grae.

Twins 3-1, Orioles 2-6

Dan Ford's ninth-inning homer gave Minnesota its first-game victory, enabling Bill Singer, 5-1, to make a successful debut with the Twins. Left fielder Al Bumbry actually had Ford's hit in his glove but lost it when the glove hit the fence.

Ford drove in four runs and Larry Hise clubbed a three-run homer in the nightcap. Rod Carew collected five hits and four RBI for the twinn and Oriole mainstays Jim Palmer, 6-6, and Mike Cuellar, 2-6, were the losers.

White Sox 3-5, Indians 2-0

Nyls Nyman and Jack Brohamer doubled home a run each and Jim Essian got the decisive run home with a fourth-inning single in the first game for Chicago. Pete Vuckovich, 4-1, bested Jackie Brown, 5-2.

Ken Brett, 3-0, and Jessie Jefferson teamed for a three-hitter in the nightcap and Buddy Bradford hit a home run. Cleveland Manager Frank Robinson and coaches Rocky Colavito and Jeff Torborg were all tossed out of the game for arguing too vigorously over a bunt that was ruled foul.

Reagan Argues U.S. Has Allowed Defenses To Slip

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan, pressing his campaign argument that U.S. defenses have faltered, says that if the Soviet Union moved in Western Europe, the United States could be left with no recourse but "the one thing that none of us wants at all, the nuclear button."

"The day we push the nuclear button, we know that we do not have the nuclear superiority we once had, we don't even have parity," the former California governor said in an interview with The Associated Press.

Reagan said the Russians are now "in the position of being more truculent and aggressive with the use of conventional arms, knowing that there is virtually no way we can prevent this..."

But President Ford said every military official he depends on believes that the United States "has the military capability to carry out any assigned mission."

Reagan, campaigning for California primary election Tuesday, said he could not set a figure on the defense spending he would recommend as president.

He said he has confidence in the spending levels advocated by former Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger. Schlesinger has suggested defense spending about $3 billion higher than the $101.1 billion Ford budgeted this year.

Reagan repeated that he is determined to preserve U.S. sovereignty over the Panama Canal and the zone surrounding it. He said the administration seeks "a treaty which would call for a period in which you'd turn over the canal."

Reagan said he is not concerned about the impact elsewhere in Latin America if the canal negotiations are ended. He said nations like Chile and Peru depend on the canal. "I don't think they want a dictator of a small country there having the right and the ability to shut off that canal," he said.

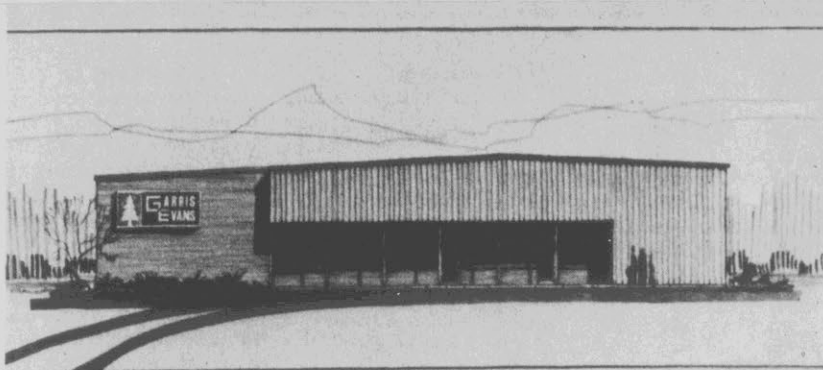

Domestically, Reagan said he still envisions the transfer of programs that represent about one-fourth of the $396 billion federal budget to state and local governments, along with tax resources to pay for them.

He said welfare, revenue sharing, community development, housing and education aid would be among them.

"It would have to be a systematic and orderly transfer, phased in so that there is no disruption of services to the people who need them and also so that there is no danger of suddenly dumping a burden on local and state government before they were prepared for it," Reagan said.

He said some programs should be canceled outright, but the only one he cited specifically was federal support of the arts. The national endowments for the arts and humanities are to receive $191 million under the current administration budget.

Reagan said that as President he would consider himself a lobbyist for the people against the government. "You stand between the taxpayers and the tax spenders," Reagan said. "He is there to see that government serves the people, that the people don't serve government."

What do you bid now?
A.—With 11 points in high cards, your hand is too strong for a one no trump response, but has neither the values nor the distribution for a jump to two no trump. We do not advocate bidding two hearts with a bad four-card suit—partner might leap to game and leave you awkwardly placed. Thus, the choice has been narrowed down to one of the minor suits, and we would respond two diamonds since that is where some of your strength is located.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K95 ♥Q73 ♦K973 ♣AQ8
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 2 NT Pass
3 ♦ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Despite your perfectly balanced hand, three no trump should be ruled out because you have only one spade stopper. For the moment, we would quietly return to three hearts. There is no need for more drastic action. Your first response denied four hearts and promised a balanced hand of 13 to 15 points. The auction has not changed that, and the sequence is game-forcing.

Q.3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J109875 ♥A105 ♦K9 ♣A6
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 3 ♣ Pass
3 ♣ Pass 4 ♣ Pass
What action do you take?
A.—What started out as by no means the world's greatest hand has improved considerably now that partner has shown support. Your hand reveals to about 17 points, and partner has announced about 19 with his jump shift. You could dilly-dally by cue-bidding, but for our money we like a jump to six spades.

Q.4—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠6 ♥A76 ♦KQJ873 ♣AQJ
Your right-hand opponent opens the bidding with four spades. What action do you take?
A.—Bid five diamonds. You could be punished very badly for this action, but if you want a guarantee with every bid you make, you are playing the wrong game. East has made life difficult with his preempt, and you have to take a calculated risk. If you don't bid with a hand like this, aggressive opponents will steal your blind.

Q.5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠8 ♥KJ93 ♦KQ10 ♣AKJ64
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass
3 ♠ Pass 3 ♥ Pass
4 ♠ Pass 4 ♥ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Four hearts. Your hand reveals to about 20 points in support of hearts, so even if partner's response was slightly shaded, you want to be in game. Don't even consider three hearts, for that bid would not be forcing, and partner would be free to pass with a minimum response.

Q.6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠1092 ♥AJ10983 ♦7 ♣K82
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
3 ♦ Pass Pass 4 ♣ Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Again, the preempt has achieved its purpose. Partner must have a strong hand to jump to four spades in the pass-out seat, but it is impossible to check how well the hands fit. Since whatever we do may turn out badly, we favor the bold course of asking for aces via Blackwood, intending to bid slam if partner shows two or three.

Q.7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ87 ♥AK93 ♣AK862
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—While this hand was not good enough to open with a two-bid, we need very little from partner to make game. The choice is between a double or a cue-bid of three hearts—both are for takeout. We prefer the cue-bid, because a double runs the risk that partner might pass for penalties, and even if we beat the contract—the penalty is unlikely to compensate us for a possible vulnerable game.

Q.8—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠9 ♥AQ1032 ♦A87 ♣AQ83
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—You have the values to proceed to three no trump, but a suit contract might still be the best spot. We suggest you bid three diamonds in order to complete the picture of your distribution. If partner has good spade values, he can proceed to three no trump. Otherwise, he may be able to support hearts, which should lead to a superior four-heart contract. A less descriptive rebid of three hearts would leave partner with much the same options.

Hollywood Stunt Women Want Action

EDITOR'S NOTE — Stunt women in Hollywood have formed an association to push their demands for more work and equal treatment with men. They're especially annoyed when men are hired to double for actresses.

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Her hands grew numb as they clung to the railing in the icy Canadian storm. Planks in the bridge ripped off and fell 150 feet to the gorge below. Above her, a helicopter whirred its blades to whip the ridge from side to side.

Donna Garrett inched her way along the perilous pathway, finally reaching the safety of the other side. "Cut," the director shouted over the bullhorn. "Let's do it one more time."

And so Donna Garrett and a fellow stunt person once more risked their lives for the Columbia film, "Shadow of the Hawk," on location in the Canadian Rockies.

Mrs. Garrett, a brunette beauty of 32 with an athletic, shapely figure, typifies Hollywood's 20 stunt women, who are determined to be heard and hired — by the movie and television studios. They have formed the Stunt Women's Association, which has been making waves about the industry's stunt hiring.

The Association has issued complaint that too many men were doubling in drag for actresses.

"The women are caught in the middle," said a stunt man who is sympathetic to their cause. "The studios are now required to hire stunt coordinators to supervise action stuff. They do the hiring and naturally they favor their own friends, who are men."

"So if the women complain too much, they just make the situation more difficult with the men who hire them."

"I know the stunt men consider me a trouble-maker, and because I have been so outspoken I worked only 10 days last year," said Donna Garrett. "I don't care. I believe that when there is a stunt involving a female character, a woman should be asked."

She cited a recent Raquel Welch film, "Mother, Jugs and Speed," in which a double was needed to drive a car fast. Mrs. Garrett, who has doubled for Miss Welch in other films, asked for the job. She learned later that a stunt man had performed for the star.

Patty Elder, a firmly built blonde who has been stunting for 18 of her 38 years, says, "I was one of the first of the women to say, 'Let's do the tough stuff.' The men sat back and said, 'We'll wait and see if they can handle it.' We've proven that we can, and we deserve first consideration when the stunt involves a woman."

Miss Elder is an all-around performer who can do auto work, horse falls, ice skating, water skiing, high dives, you name it. In "What's Up, Doc?" she doubled as Barbra Streisand, Madeline Kahn and an old lady. Her biggest one-day check was $2,000 for driving as Goldie Hawn in "The Sugarland Express."

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JUNE 8, 1976

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are able to get needed information for a plan of action that is valuable in your line of endeavor. Don't commit yourself to signing contracts or giving your word at this time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Try to understand what loved one expects of you and then do your utmost to please. Take no chances where your reputation is concerned.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Meet with associates and discuss how to make the future brighter. Make sure you keep promises made to outsiders.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Attend to work you had planned to do and don't waste any more time. Cooperate more with coworkers than you have in the past.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take care you don't engage in any activities that will cost more than you can afford. Show more affection for your mate.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Try to be more helpful to those at home instead of criticizing them. Caution is the keynote today and tonight in everything you do.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Improve any travel problems you may have at this time. Be certain that statements or reports you make today are correct.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Avoid extravagance and learn to economize more for best results. Listen to what a financial expert has to say about the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Eliminate any conditions that are not good and replace with whatever is better. Formulate a sensible plan for the future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try not to be so demanding in your desire to gain the data you need, or you could lose out where it counts the most.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use tact in dealing with others today. Put more effort in your activities and get better results. Use constructive methods.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make sure you handle career and public matters in a most wise way. Don't neglect to pay your bills. Relax at home tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have to study the project you have in mind before putting it into operation. Show associates that you have ability.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will have much determination, so be sure to give the finest education you can afford. Make sure the environment is right so that this quality will be used in the right direction. Give spiritual training, stressing the importance of morality. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

needed to drive a car fast. Mrs. Garrett, who has doubled for Miss Welch in other films, asked for the job. She learned later that a stunt man had performed for the star.

"That happens a lot of times—we hear about a man doubling for a woman after it happens," says Mrs. Garrett. "Women should be asked first; if they don't want to do the stunt, it can be given to a man."

Patty Elder agrees. She is a firmly built blonde who has been stunting for 18 of her 38 years.

"I was one of the first of the women to say, 'Let's do the tough stuff.'" she says. "The men sat back and said, 'Well wait and see if they can handle it.' We've proven that we can, and we deserve first consideration when the stunt involves a woman."

Miss Elder is an all-around performer who can do auto work, horse falls, ice skating, water skiing, high dives, you name it. In "What's Up, Doc?" she doubled as Barbra Streisand, Madeline Kahn and an old lady. Her biggest one-day check was $2,000 for driving as Goldie Hawn in "The Sugarland Express."

"My car had to hit a truck head-on as we approached on a bridge," she recalled. "I had to strike the truck just right, taking a piece off it; a bigger hit and we both would have gone off the bridge. I hit it right."

She admitted the resistance of male film-makers to employing stunt women. "Men don't like to see women hit the ground; they think we get hurt more," she said. "But we don't. It's all a matter of preparing the stunt carefully and knowing how to fall."

Miss Elder has had any number of scrapes and bruises but has been hospitalized only once. Doubling for Linda Blair in a television drama, she reared a horse on the Pacific Coast Highway. An oncoming car came too close, and horse and rider were run over. The horse survived; she suffered a torn groin and internal bleeding.

Recently she was doubling falls and auto stunts for Barbara Harris in Disney's "Freaky Friday." The stunt coordinator was Dick Butler, who sympathized with the women's drive for more stunts.

"I think there is a new attitude in the industry as well as in the country," he observed. "It has been brought about by the campaign for women's rights. If the stunt calls for a woman, we try our best to find a woman to do it.

"There are some stunts that women might not want to do, such as falls through windows, off the side of roofs, over balconies. But there are not many stunts left that women cannot do.

"Women used to dabble at stunts (there were fewer than 10 stunt women in the '40s and '50s.), but now they are working hard at it. Their problem in the past was that they had no chance to learn how stunts are rigged. Now they watch how things are set up."

ORPHANED TWINS . . . brighten the life of a war vet and his wife, Michael Ulicini, a Vietnam war veteran who is confined to a wheel chair, lifts one of the 20-month old Korean orphaned twin girls which he and his wife, Elaine, have adopted. The couple live at Hinsdale, west of Chicago. Ulicini is a youth soccer director for a suburban park district. (AP Wirephoto)

Liner Announces A Youth Fare

NEW YORK (AP) — A new Queen Elizabeth 2 transatlantic youth fare has been announced by Cunard.

It says the fare "will be available to persons 12 to 26 who are traveling on their own on sailings of the QE2 between New York, Cherbourg and Southampton during the 1976 season."

COOKING UP HIGH
WICHITA, KANS. (AP) — If you camp in the mountains, allow up to 20 per cent more cooking time for each 1,000 feet of altitude, because of the decreased atmospheric pressure, says the booklet "Coleman CampSense."

NEW YORK (AP) — Concern over rising interest rates dealt the stock market another broad setback today.

Trading was quiet.
The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 6.63 at 957.27 after a 9.90-point decline to a 3 1/2-month low on Friday.

Losers outpaced gainers by better than a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

An increase in the prime lending rate from 7 to 7 1/4 per cent, begun Friday by several major banks, continued its rapid spread through the industry today.

Phelps Dodge was the most active NYSE issue, down 1/4 at 41 in trading marked by blocks of 189,500 and 29,900 shares at that price.

General Motors slipped 3/4 to 57. The company said a joint venture in which it is taking part to build a truck assembly plant in Saudi Arabia had run into some unspecified snags.

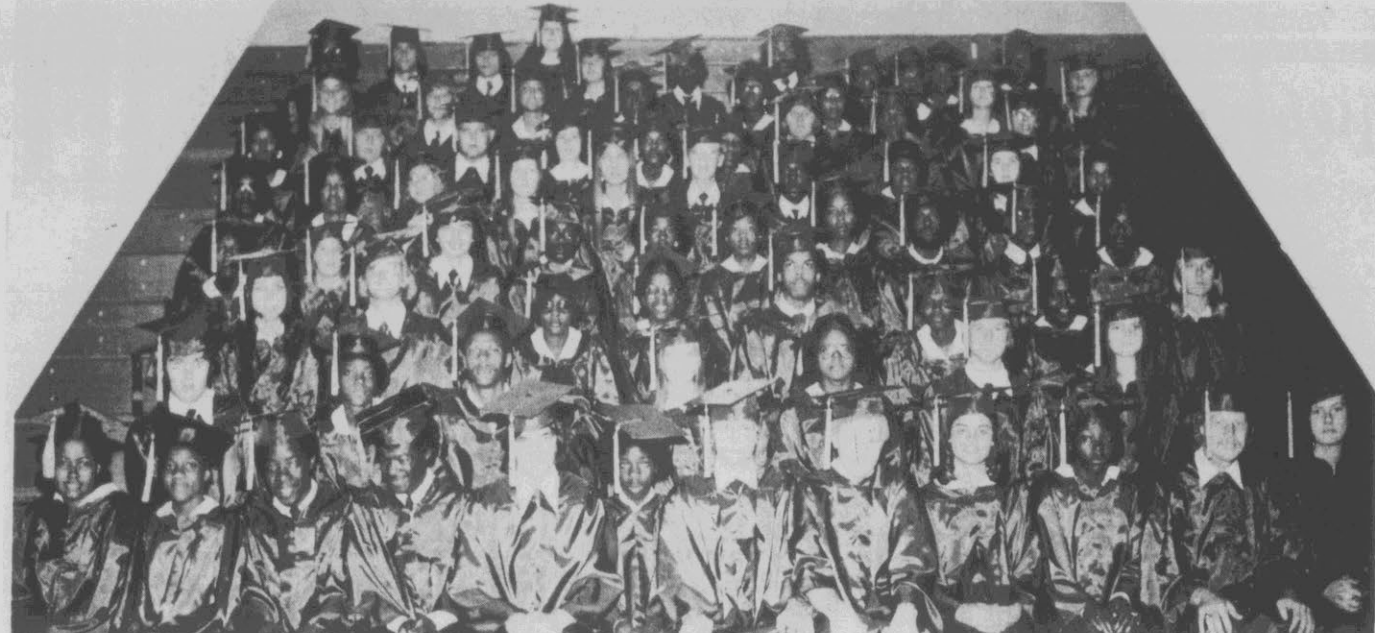

U.S. Home lost 3/4 to 6 1/2 in active trading. The housing developer has announced the resignation of Ben F. Harrison as president and chief executive officer, and said it would buy back U.S. Home stock purchased by Harrison a year ago for slightly more than $1 million.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks dropped .22 to 52.56.
At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .38 at 101.82.

School Bus Ran Into A Creek

MONROE, N.C. (AP) — A schoolbus loaded with Union County elementary school pupils skidded off a road into a shallow creek early today, causing numerous injuries.

Sgt. J. F. Sholar of the Highway Patrol said about 20 pupils were rushed to the Union Memorial Hospital in Monroe, but he said none of the injuries appeared to be critical.

"The bus ran off the road into a shallow creek. It did not overturn," Sholar said. "There were about 20 taken to the emergency room. They had some with facial cuts."

Sholar said the accident occurred about 7:30 a.m. on a rural paved road just southeast of Monroe.

Steady Decline In Herring Runs

ROCKY HOCK, N.C. (AP) — Fishermen who once saw schools of thousands of spawning fish pass by this rural community on their way up the Chowan River from Edenton to Holiday Island every spring are puzzled by the steady decline in their catches in recent years.

"About nine years ago we were landing in the neighborhood of 16,000 boxes with our own nets," J.D. Peele says. "Ever since then the catches have gone steadily down, hitting a low point two years ago with 3,200 boxes."

Peele, along with three brothers and a nephew, fish every day using about 150 nets. Using about 30 extra nets one day in May, 1962 they caught 187,000 herring. On the same date this year, Peele says they landed only 2,845 fish.

Peele and other local fishermen in the northeastern corner of North Carolina complain that one of the big factors in the decreasing herring catches is off-shore fishing.

"As the boats off shore multiply, our catches decrease," said Peele, a Chowan County commissioner. "If they weren't catching anything they wouldn't be staying there."

Other factors likely to hurt a catch are the weather which was poor during the biggest run of fish last April, and water pollution.

"The truth is we're in a guessing game. If we did know what the problem was with the herring, we could take care of the problem," he said. "I've got buyers calling me from all over looking for herring. All we have left is 500 boxes and I'm saving them for my long-time customers."

Most herring caught by Peele are sold for use as bait by other fishermen. Roe from the fish is also sold, and is more profitable than the fish itself.

Despite the steady decline in their business on the Chowan, Peele doesn't think fishermen have damaged the herring population in waters off North Carolina's coast.

"Down at Nags Head there are reports of herring pushed ashore by bluefish in paths 10 feet wide on the beach," he said. "They had already spawned. Where, no one knows."

Tremor Shakes Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A quake lasting more than a minute shook Mexico City today. Skyscrapers trembled from the force of the tremor. There were no immediate reports of casualties or damage.

Police said the quake was felt in the Pacific resort of Acapulco, 190 miles southwest of Mexico City, and in Veracruz, a Gulf of Mexico port 200 miles to the east.
The Mexican Red Cross reported no emergency calls. Telephones continued to function in the capital and electric service was not disrupted.

Moon Plants In Weapons Field

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Sun Myung Moon says 10 per cent of the production in his Korean tool factories consists of small weapons parts for the government of South Korea, Newsweek International says.
The magazine said Sunday this was the first time Moon, the evangelist whose Unifica-

No Bids

FARMVILLE — The old Farmville High School property, in the 200 block of North Main Street here, was auctioned here Friday, but no bids were entered.

Farmville Town Administrator W. A. Martin reported the representatives of the Pitt County School Board said they had been authorized to accept no bids of less than $156,000. The Town of Farmville has expressed some interest in the property for a site for a municipal building, but refused to enter a bid of this amount.

Martin said he does not know whether the Farmville Commissioners will enter a sealed bid of some lesser amount at a later date if these are called for.

Drug Traffic Link Likely

WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP) — Wilkes County Sheriff Bill Anderson says he has the names of several persons who may be connected with the murders of two brothers last week.

Anderson also said Sunday that there is a strong indication drug trafficking played some part in the murders of Edward L. Greene, 20, of Boone, and Alfred C. Greene, 32, of Wilkesboro.

No arrests have been made in the slayings.

Authorities said they found five pounds of marijuana in one of Alfred Greene's cars, parked in a section of Wilkesboro where he had a room.

"Some of the people that we've talked to stated that they have seen them (the Greene brothers) handling a little marijuana," Anderson said.

Alfred Greene's body was found Thursday afternoon in the trunk of another car he owned, parked on a rural road in Wilkes County. He had been shot once in the head.

Edward Greene's body was found in Caldwell County early Wednesday in the back of a van parked at a car wash. His arms and legs were bound with tape. He had been shot and slashed several times in what officials said appeared to be an execution.

Robbery has been ruled out as a motive in both slayings, Anderson said. Valuables were found on both bodies, including an expensive wrist watch and two diamond rings found on Alfred Greene, he said.

Authorities say they believe both murders were committed by the same person or persons.
