

Glenn Cox Meets With Pitt Board

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville City School Supt. Glenn Cox indicated to Pitt County Commissioners yesterday that the schools would have ample funds to make repairs to Third Street, Aycock Junior High and other buildings in the system if construction of the new middle school is delayed.

Cox met with commissioners late yesterday afternoon to review the city school systems proposed 1976-1977 budget.

The meeting was one of a series commissioners have held with various department heads in recent days as they move toward the adoption of a budget which will provide for the needs of the various agencies funded by the county government and at the same time cause as little increase in the tax rate as possible.

The board began its budget study a week ago when county manager Reginald Gray presented a proposed $16.2 million list of expenditures that, if approved, would increase the current 62.5 cents per $100 valuation county-wide tax rate to 73.1 cents per $100. Gray's proposal would also increase the special Pitt County School District tax rate (for current expenses) of 15 cents per $100 valuation (paid by property owners outside the Greenville School District) to 20 cents per $100.

Gray told commissioners that his recommendation to increase the special Pitt district tax rate was based on a proposal to "equalize appropriations on a per pupil basis. I feel like equal money should go to each child no matter where he is in the county," he said.

At a public hearing last week, and since that time, some Greenville school officials and a number of Greenville residents have complained that Gray's proposals in the city's capital outlay budget is far lower than that needed to finance repairs to present buildings and to help fund construction of the new middle school. They have also urged commissioners to levy a special 20-cents tax on Greenville district property owners to help fund their capital outlay requests.

And Cox, at last week's hearing, also expressed concern over several items included in the school's current expense budget... primarily in the area of salary increases for school personnel.

Yesterday, Cox seemed satisfied with the proposals for current expense items, especially after Gray said commissioners have tentatively agreed to follow the action of the 1976 General Assembly by giving county employees and other workers funded by county tax revenues a four per cent plus $300 raise rather than a five per cent pay hike. (The four per cent plus $300 increase would be greater than a five per cent hike.)

It was in the area of capital outlay funds that most of the discussion at yesterday's session centered. And no remedy for the problem was agreed upon.

One area touched on yesterday was the city schools historic practice of including requests for large maintenance expenditures in their capital outlay budget requests rather than in the current expense budget where such funds should be requested.

Cox told commissioners that the state's "new budget and fiscal control act will clear up some of this," noting that past practices were based on "interpretation" of the old law.

Cox added, "As much as anything else, we have geared the capital outlay expenditure to larger items," admitting "there needs to be some clarification."

The superintendent then said "regardless of how the hole got there," referring to the lack of funds for needed maintenance and capital expenditure programs. "I'm in it and I need some help to get out."

Citing the General Statutes regulating school budgeting, Gray said maintenance items, under the current expense fund, include such things as cost of repairs to buildings and replacements of furniture and instructional apparatus and repairs and replacements of heating, electrical and plumbing equipment.

Capital outlay funds, Gray said, provide for the purchase of sites and erection of buildings, improvement of new school grounds, alterations and additions to buildings as well as purchase of new furniture, equipment, trucks, cars, school busses and other items.

Lebanese Report Arrests In Killing Of Two Americans

AMBASSADOR KILLED — The American Ambassador to Lebanon, Francis E. Meloy Jr., shown in a 1976 photo, was killed in Beirut Wednesday. (AP Wirephoto)

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Palestinian guerrillas and their leftist Lebanese allies announced the arrest today of a number of persons suspected of killing U.S. Ambassador Francis E. Meloy Jr., his economic counselor and their Lebanese driver.

Police sources said Al Fatah Palestinian guerrillas arrested five members of the Lebanese Socialist Revolutionary Organization, an urban guerrilla group that seized the Beirut branch of the Bank of America in 1973, took 56 hostages and killed an American and four Lebanese before police stormed the building.

Meloy, 59, Robert Waring, 58, and Zohair Maghrabi were shot Wednesday while driving through the no-man's land between the Moslem and Christian sectors of Beirut.

The announcement by the joint Palestinian-leftist Lebanese command did not identify the suspects, say how many there were or give their nationalities. However, it implied they were Arabs and said they would be turned over to the pan-Arab peacekeeping force which the Arab League proposes to send to Lebanon.

U.S. officials in Washington said they believed the killers were from a Moslem fringe group who hoped to unify squabbling Arab factions by provoking American intervention in the Lebanese civil war.

Yasir Arafat, the chief of the Palestine Liberation Organization, and Kamal Jumblatt, the leader of the leftist Lebanese Moslems, both condemned the assassinations. They warned the Christians not to try to use them to sabotage Arab peacemaking efforts.

Officials in Washington again reviewed the standby plans for evacuating the 1,450 Americans still in Lebanon, but State Department officials said the United States would not "cut and run."

However, the British Embassy urged Britons to consider leaving and said it was organizing a motor convoy out of the country.

S. African Riots Enter Second Day

VICTIM OF BLOODY DEMONSTRATION — Members of the South African police anti-terrorist unit remove the body of an official who was

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Rioting raged into a second day today in Africa's largest ghetto, the black township of Soweto. More deaths today raised the reported total to 29 dead, all but two black, as students stoned cars, started fires and battled police.

At least 224 persons — five of them white — were reported injured and 126 were arrested. Air force helicopters bombarded roving mobs of black rioters with tear gas. More than 1,000 black and white policemen, some armed with automatic rifles and machine guns, toured the area in armored cars.

Legislators, churchmen, teachers and newspapers opposed to South Africa's racial policies reacted with horror to the rioting and deaths. It was the worst racial confrontation in this white-ruled nation since police killed 69 blacks in the Sharpeville massacre in 1960.

On the Johannesburg stock exchange, prices were lower across the board today. By noon, no gold shares showed gains and out of 29 stocks traded, 28 fell in price.

In Johannesburg itself, club-wielding whites broke up a march by about 1,000 blacks and whites protesting police actions in Soweto.

The Soweto rioting broke out Wednesday when police tried to stop a demonstration by about 10,000 students protesting mandatory courses in Afrikaans, the Dutch-based language of the Boers, the dominant white faction.

The language is a symbol to the students of South Africa's apartheid policy of racial segregation and repression. The students want to be educated in English.

When tear gas failed to stop the youths pelting police with rocks, the police Wednesday began shooting into the crowd. "It's no good firing over their heads," a senior police officer told reporters.

Scratching One Warehouse

LIFE OF WAREHOUSE NEARS END — Workers begin to demolish the old Harris and Rogers Warehouse on Greene St. According to Joe Laney of the Redevelopment Commission the warehouse was purchased by the commission in late 1975, for approximately $130,000.

The tearing down of the warehouse is necessary for future street expansion in that area. Laney said that the old tobacco warehouse had not recently been used for housing tobacco, and it was originally constructed in about 1928. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Levy Petition Is Given To Tucker

Petitions bearing over 2,100 signatures urging Pitt County Commissioners to consider reinstating a 20 cents supplemental capital outlay level for the Greenville City Schools were delivered to Burney L. Tucker, chairman of the Pitt County Commissioners on Wednesday afternoon.

Don McGlohn, representing interested citizens of the Greenville School District, delivered the petitions to Tucker, along with a cover note. "Enclosed please find petitions requesting that the Pitt County Commissioners reinstate the 20 cents capital outlay levy for our city schools," the note read. "Please note that these petitions, bearing signatures of over 2,100 individuals, all of which were obtained in only a three day period of time, included a sunny weekend when many persons were out of town or on vacation.

"We feel that this is a significant number of signatures and represents a broad base of support from every area of our community.

"We assure you," the cover note concludes, "that every effort was made to obtain only signatures of tax-paying citizens of the Greenville City School District. We urge you and other commissioners to support this levy and would like to thank you in advance for your consideration of the matter."

The petitions are part of an expression of interest on the part of local citizens to have the 20 cents capital outlay supplemental levy reinstated.

The levy has not been used as a source of funds for the Greenville City Schools since 1971, and is now considered as a primary source of funds to help alleviate the current need for immediate improvements and renovations to a number of the city schools.

"I want to thank all the people who worked so hard to get the petitions circulated for signatures," McGlohn stated.

Seven Dead, Vast Losses In Houston's Deluge

HOUSTON (AP) — Flooding spanned by 13 inches of rain in a 13-hour period left seven persons dead and damaged hundreds of art works in the Contemporary Arts Museum. The total damage is expected to amount to millions of dollars.

Some areas of the city were still covered by water today following the deluge which ended Wednesday. The Red Cross reported 2,000 families driven from their homes by the flooding.

Workmen were trying today to clean up the rubble and restore electrical power to some sections of the city still blacked out. The giant Texas Medical Center complex was still operating on auxiliary generators.

Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe was to tour the flooded areas today to determine what aid could be worked out. Harris County Commissioner Tom Bass said he will ask Briscoe to declare the Sims Bayou section a disaster area.

Eighteen feet of water was reported in the basement of the art museum. A spokeswoman said hundreds of pieces of art were heavily damaged or ruined by the flooding.

"We swam in and got what we could, but it wasn't much," said Margaret Price, assistant director of the museum. "The water level went up real fast and the current was so strong it was hard to maneuver."

In other parts of the nation, a weak cold front moved across the northern portion of the Rockies Wednesday lowering temperatures through Montana and Wyoming into the upper 40s and lower 50s by evening.

UFO

Saturday we were riding near Williamston when we saw a large ball of fire in the sky. We first thought it was a plane on fire. It fell for a while, but then stopped and went back up into the sky and disappeared. What was it? E. S.

Hotline related your description to Frank Harrison, a professor at Mount Olive College, who is an investigator for the Center for Unidentified Flying Object Studies. He said it sounds like a classic description of a UFO seen at night and he'd like to talk to you himself, and to anyone else in the Williamston area who might have seen the same sight.

He is a volunteer investigator with the Center, which is located at Northwestern University in Illinois. He explained that the Center is not a part of the University, but is run by Dr. J. Allen Hynek, chairman of the Department of Astronomy there, and is allowed to use the University's facilities. As a volunteer, Harrison's work is not funded and he cannot accept every collect call of a sighting, but is glad to talk to anyone who cares to call him at Mount Olive College, 658-2502. His mailing address is simply Mount Olive College, Mount Olive, N. C. 28365.

Braxton-Sullivan Vows Said

MRS. JOHN LOUIS BRAXTON JR.

WILSON — In a double ring ceremony performed Sunday at 3:00 p.m., Susan DeeAnn Sullivan became the bride of John Louis Braxton Jr. The Rev. C.F. Bowen conducted the ceremony in the First Free Will Baptist Church here.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Wilmar Sullivan of Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. John Louis Braxton of Rt. 5, Greenville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silken organza over peau de soie fashioned with Venise lace flowerette appliques trimming the empire waistline and sweetheart neckline. The sheer bishop sleeves were appliqued with lace motifs with lace trimming the cufflets. The A-line skirt fell into a chapel length train bordered with an inset of bridal satin, edged with lace and lace motifs.

Her chapel length veil of bridal illusion with a shoulder length blusher was edged with Venise lace and attached to a Juliet headpiece covered with lace and seed pearls. She carried a fan-shaped bouquet of sweetheart roses and baby's breath centered with a white orchid tied with white satin streamers. The bride wore miniature pearls on a gold chain, a gift of the bridegroom.

The bride is a graduate of Ralph L. Fike High School, Wilson, and East Carolina University. She is employed by the Eastern Carolina Sheltered Workshop.

The bridegroom is a graduate of North Pitt High School and is a manager trainee with Winn Dixie.

After a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, S.C., the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Beth Dawson of Wilson, was the honor attendant. She wore a floor length blue and white cross dye lace over white taffeta with an open portrait neckline, ruffled bertha collar and short flair sleeves. The empire waistline was encircled with blue satin ribbon with a Dior bow centered in front with long streamers. She wore a white picture hat and carried a nosegay of blue and white daisies, baby's breath and white satin streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ann Adams of Wilson and Miss Cynthia Futrell of Durham, cousins of the bride, and Miss Phyllis Braxton of Greenville, sister of the bridegroom. Their gowns and hats were identical to those of the honor attendant. Their nosegays were tied with blue satin streamers.

Miss Sandy Braxton of Greenville, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid. Miss Tracey Dawson was rice maid and wore a long dress with white organza bodice and blue dotted swiss skirt.

Miss Christie Dawson of Wilson, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor length white organza over taffeta dress with bishop sleeves. Lace trim with inserted blue ribbon accented the empire waist, cuffs or the sleeves and ruffle at the hemline. She wore a white picture hat and carried a white satin basket filled with blue daisies, baby's breath and white satin streamers.

Rick Harrell of Greenville was best man and ushers included J.D. McClue, Wayne Braxton, brother of the bridegroom, and Wayne McKinney, all of Greenville, and Hunter Sullivan of Wilson, brother of the bride. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Judy Cook, organist, and Miss Beverly Taylor, vocalist, both of Wilson.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church immediately following the ceremony.

The table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of blue and white flowers flanked by two three tiered candelabra with white tapers and blue net. Mrs. Harold Futrell, aunt of the bride, served cake and punch was poured by Mrs. W.D. Williams Jr., aunt of the bride.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. George Cooke, Mrs. Robert Cooke, Mrs. Charles Hunter, Miss Denise Cooke, Miss Felicia Hunter and Mrs. Arnold Mullins.

Mrs. Larry Graswell, director of the wedding, presided at the register and said good-byes.

An after-rehearsal party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mullins. Hostesses were Mrs. W.D. Williams Jr., Mrs. Robert Cooke, Mrs. George Cooke and Mrs. Harold Futrell, aunts of the bride. Out-of-town guests and members of the wedding party attended.

"Well, the family has finally decided on a date when we can all take a vacation."

"It's a shame it isn't the same date, but then nothing is perfect. All winter long, we've been stumbling over one another. The vacation season comes and everyone scatters like newborn wild mice on a cold day."

"My dates are inflexible," announced my husband. "When you're an educator they get sticky if you take off while the children are there."

"I've got my part-time job that ties me up," said a son.

"What does it end?"

"On the 15th I'll show up."

"What about the last week in August, mom?"

"That's when we all go back to school."

"What about the third week of August?"

"We start football practice."

"The second week of August?"

"I got tickets for a concert."

"The last week of July?"

"I've got that dental work that has to be got off."

"What the third week of July?"

"Impossible. They're painting the house that week."

"They, then, the second?"

"Count me out. I'm babysitting for the cousins."

"The first week of July?"

"Travel on a holiday weekend. Absolutely not."

"Clear, then, the last week of June?"

"That's between paychecks and I can't afford it."

"What's everyone doing next week?"

"If you think I pull together new underwear for this group in a couple of days, you're crazy. I won't do it."

"Turn back the calendar and we'll run through it again," said my husband.

You know, I liked it better in the good old days when we packed the playpen, the potty chair, the feeding table, the vaporizer, the feeding dish that revolved and played "Mary Had A Little Lamb," the rocking chair, eight suitcases, three footlockers, an inflatable wading pool, a security blanket, a baseball return net, and two tricycles and Daddy snarled, "We're going to have a great time or I'm going to break a few heads."

Dear Abby

Mother Haunted By Twin's Death

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: This problem is driving me crazy, and I've got to get to the bottom of it to have some peace of mind.

I was married at 17 and had a pair of twin girls at 18. I've been married now for 34 years, but I still have a big question nagging at me.

I gave birth to the twins in a New York City hospital, which I still live near. My doctor didn't know I was going to have twins until I was giving birth. After one baby came, thinking it was all over, I heard the doctor say, "Wait, there's another one coming!" (I was conscious the whole time.)

I said, "I don't want it!" The doctor calmed me by saying, "Don't worry, I'll take it."

Abby, I really think that doctor gave my second baby away. I saw both babies alive and crying at birth, but the next day I was told the second baby had died. We never were given a birth certificate or a death certificate, and neither my husband nor I ever saw the "dead" baby.

A few weeks ago, someone told me that my baby never died, and I can still look into the matter. I really think she's alive. The doctor is probably dead by now, but I know his name. Would the hospital still have those records? Would they let me see them? Do I need a lawyer? Don't tell me to forget it, I have to know.

I promise not to hurt anyone or sue the hospital.
J.M. IN NYC

DEAR J.M.: You say you "gave birth to twins" some 34 years ago and now you want to know what happened to the second baby? A lawyer could help you search the records and take affidavits from any person present at the event.

But another question hangs in the air: Why did you wait for so long? (P.S. If you can establish the fact that you had twins, and no birth or death certificate was ever filed, the hospital is vulnerable to serious action.)

DEAR ABBY: A lady signed TEETH ON MY HANDS wrote that she had six sets of dentures from deceased relatives and didn't know what to do with them.

You should tell her to drop them off at the local undertaker's. In my home town, it was a common practice for the bums and others of lesser means to stop by the back door and "try on for size" the used choppers.

TRAVELIN' MAN

DEAR MAN: Recycled dentures? You're puttin' me on!

DEAR ABBY: I never cease to be amazed at some of the letters you get, and no less so at some of your answers.

Any woman who would stretch herself out on the couch, stark naked, to "surprise" her husband when he came home from work must be crazy.

If I ever pulled a stunt like that, my husband would have kicked me out of the door and thrown my clothes out after me, and that would have been the end of our marriage!

Uniforms Changing To Meet Needs Of Female Personnel

NEW YORK (AP) — The members of the uniform industry, who for many years have been concerned primarily with providing clothing for occupations dominated by men, have now changed to meet the needs of female uniformed personnel.

Howard A. Wolfe, executive secretary of the National Association of Uniform Manufacturers, says that the rapid infusion of women into the uniformed work force in areas where they never participated before has caused a stir in the uniform industry.

"More and more uniform manufacturers are now offering, for the first time, women's lines of clothing and accessories, even bullet-resistant vests with built-in bust lines," Wolfe says.

Women make up 45 per cent of today's work force. The number of female police officers is increasing tremendously and the Army, Navy and Air Force academies are all recruiting women for the first time.

"It used to be that when an occasional woman got a traditionally male-type job and needed a uniform," says Wolfe, "she had to settle for man-type clothing fitted to her proportions. This meant in many cases getting trousers that fit at the hips and had to be taken in at the waist."

The changes in requirements have resulted in striking differences in the new catalogs being issued by uniform manufacturers. Illustrations show more women wearing numerous varieties of clothing and outer wear. Accessories are also being offered in styles specifically geared to meet the taste of women for fashion, while still maintaining the traditional uniform look.

"Uniforms are being offered for all types of work in mix-and-match ensembles," Wolfe says. These include styles of pants, jackets, coats, bodysuits, dresses and smocks.

One uniform manufacturer, responding to the increase in women in uniforms, has incorporated the leisure look into its uniform line. The uniforms, which include jean-style pants for both men and women, have Western-style fasteners and are in blue and brown for the men and two additional colors of red and green for the women.

Women's police uniforms with Western styling are also being introduced.

"The appearance of a uniform is very important," says Wolfe. "and this is especially

NEW LOOK—Among the many new uniforms being designed for the growing number of women in the uniformed work force is this one for policewomen. Navy blue jacket has been especially tailored, not only for ease of movement but for styling. Hip-length, square-cut jacket featuring softly rolled collar is available with both skirt and slightly flared pants. (Uniform from Horace Small Co. of Nashville, Tenn.)

true with the uniforms designed for women. In many cases the uniform is a symbol of authority and the traditional design must be maintained so that the authority of the person wearing the uniform will not be questioned."

Wolfe says that the design of the women's uniform must not, for this reason, be changed too drastically.

More For Human Problems?

As Jimmy Carter ties up the strings on his Democratic presidential nomination, we still are seeking to determine in what directions he will carry the nation if he becomes president.

The New York Times recently published an interview which might give the best insight into what a Carter administration would advocate.

Carter told The Times that his campaign would include commitments to guarantee civil rights, end racial discrimination and alleviate poverty, hunger and inadequate housing.

Carter felt that the blacks, the elderly, the illiterate and the sick had lost during the Nixon Administration. He also felt that neither Presidents Kennedy nor Johnson had done "enough to bring blacks into policy making positions. Johnson did more in this area than Kennedy, Carter indicated.

"Kennedy was not one of them. He didn't understand their special needs."

Carter thinks he does have that understanding because of his long relationship with the poor. "That's where I came from," he said. "That's where I live. Those are my people—not only whites, but particularly blacks." He cited his support from such prominent blacks as Rep. Andrew Young, D-Ga. and the Rev. Martin Luther King, Sr.

"They know I understand their problems," Carter said.

Those are general philosophies uttered by the probable Democratic presidential nominee to reporters, but if they are translated into practical programs, we could expect to see bigger federal appropriations for solving human problems.

Reason To Feel Better About Hospital

Pitt Memorial Hospital officials are feeling considerably better this year than they were at the same time last year.

In 1975 the hospital was faced with the possibility of accreditation loss. That necessitated a trip to Chicago for a visit with the Joint Committee on Accreditation to point out all the planning and building that was underway to provide a new hospital.

The crisis was survived and at the hospital board of trustees meeting this week it was announced that the hospital had received a year's accreditation, unreservedly.

We should all feel a little better.

Just No Easy Solutions

By BILL NOBLITT
(First of Two Articles)

RALEIGH — There are no easy answers to the complex problems in North Carolina's public schools. Nor, even, easy listing of the problems.

There are as many sides to the situation as there are people involved: parents, educators, legislators, state officials, students.

And it is all too easy to see only problems in the schools. There are, in fact, a lot of gratifying success stories: children learning who would once have been locked away in an institution; children reading who once would have spent their lives in the fields; children working and playing together who once would never have crossed paths; children having doors opened to new and exciting worlds they never dreamed of.

Many Directions
Yet the problems remain and from a dozen different directions are coming scores of suggested solutions.

The race between Craig Phillips and Ben Currin for state superintendent of public instruction will help focus some of the problems and no doubt generate some suggested solutions.

Already, candidates in the governor's race are bringing out their chief concerns and suggested solutions.

Several different legislative committees have been touching on particular areas of interest, and will continue along that line, and one in particular — a joint committee rewriting state school law — has held public hearings and will produce a major report for consideration and action in the 1977 General Assembly.

Several different legislative committees have been touching on particular areas of interest, and will continue along that line, and one in particular — a joint committee rewriting state school law — has held public hearings and will produce a major report for consideration and action in the 1977 General Assembly.

Here, in a simple listing without elaboration, are some of the multitude of problems as perceived by different groups; if most get the attention promised them, 1977 will be an important year for education in North Carolina, in the General Assembly, the governor's office, and the Department of Public Instruction:

SOME AREAS
BASICS — Reading, writing, figuring must be guaranteed by a minimum statewide standard course of study and testing; large open classrooms are in trouble; teachers must qualify in basics regardless of other specialty, and teach basics even in science or history class; graduates may have to prove basic skills before diploma is granted.

DISCIPLINE — has racial overtones, and complicated by court rulings on due-process for students expelled, suspended; a local responsibility in which parents blame teachers, teachers blame the homes; relaxed dress codes and student freedom in open classroom hinders; students ready to drop out but held by law until age 16 a major factor.

TEACHERS — College training and in-service training both criticized; lack of merit pay system penalizes the dedicated teacher, rewards the incompetent; tenure after three years makes it all but impossible to remove a bad teacher; recent shortage has turned into oversupply situation, but many good teachers can't find work; teachers complain of too much state supervision and record keeping at expense of classroom work with students; teacher certification and testing mechanisms at both state and local levels fail to weed out incompetent or undesirable applicants.

GOVERNANCE — A superintendent elected statewide implements policy set by appointed state board; state handles funding, textbooks, building plans, general supervisions, but local school boards and superintendents are autonomous in most things; state funding formula varies from local schools systems, and both local and federal funding is sharply different in different places.

While the elections will find various candidates calling attention to various suggestions, the real action will begin next December when final proposals are unveiled for rewriting the state school law.

Battle Without Victor

By SMITH HEMPSTONE

WASHINGTON — Given the bitterness engendered by the acrimonious, down-to-the-wire race for the Republican presidential nomination, it is difficult to see how the GOP can hope to recapture the White House without a ticket that either:

—includes both President Gerald Ford and former Gov. Ronald Reagan, or —excludes both men.

With only 18 per cent of the population willing to own up to being Republican, it is an indispensable requisite for success that the GOP ticket (a) commands the undivided loyalty of party members and (b) appeals to be a broad spectrum of independents and dissident Democrats.

Yet the polls indicate that more than a third of Reagan's supporters, angered at the Ford camp's portrayal of the Californian as a warmonger who cannot hope to win in November, will vote for Jimmy Carter (if he is the Democratic candidate, which he almost certainly will be) rather than supporting Ford if he wins the nomination.

In their turn, Ford loyalists, embittered at Reagan's all-too-successful attempt to unseat a Republican president, indicate they will desert to Carter in about the same proportion should Reagan get the nomination.

Without Ford on his ticket, Reagan, fine campaigner that he is, could hope to do well only in the West and the Southern border states. Were he to pick a moderate such as Sec. of Everything Elliot Richardson as his runningmate, Reagan might do reasonably well in the East. But it is hard to believe he could beat Carter in the Middle West, and the Georgian certainly would sweep the 11 states of the Old Confederacy.

A Ford-Reagan ticket — the best solution in that it would both reunite the party and have broad appeal to independents and conservative Democrats — would be difficult to put together for image reasons. Having portrayed Reagan as a man who can't be trusted around the nuclear button, it would be difficult to justify his presence a heartbeat away from that button.

But the defection of the Reaganites to Carter would be a disaster for the GOP. Aside from the question of numbers — in itself serious enough in a minority party — it is the party's conservatives who traditionally have done the dull but essential work such as manning telephone banks and seeing to it that elderly Republicans get to the polls.

The second option, a Republican ticket that would exclude both Ford and Reagan, could come about if neither candidate was able after many ballots to reach the magic number of 1,130 delegates needed for nomination. In such a standoff, if no compromise were possible, an exhausted convention might conceivably turn to someone like former Gov. Connally of Texas.

That sort of thing does not happen very frequently. The last time it did was 1940, when the Republicans met in Philadelphia to nominate the candidate who (unbeknownst to them at the time) would oppose Franklin Delano Roosevelt's bid for an unprecedented third term.

The GOP frontrunners were Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan and New York's young, racket-busting district attorney, Thomas E. Dewey (who had shown a lot of foot in the primaries). All were, to a greater or lesser degree, isolationists associated with the party's conservative wing.

With the convention deadlocked after five ballots, the delegates turned to a 48- (Continued on page 8)

Other Editors Say More Nauseating

(Henderson Dispatch)

The more that comes to light about morals on Capitol Hill the more nauseating it becomes. The more that is heard the more uncertain it appears as to who will be caught next in the net.

By far the majority of House and Senate are presumed to be above reproach, while at the same time some seem to think membership in Congress is license to indulge in an orgy with impunity. Some evidently have not read, or if they did have forgotten, the biblical warning to "be sure your sin will find you out." It has now for some.

What the reaction of voters will be in primaries and the general election can only be speculated in advance. Rep. Wayne Hayes' constituents have given him the nod of approval, despite his admissions. That's the primary; he still has to face whatever opposition he may have in November.

Americans need to ponder the question as to what they may expect from their representatives who in this manner go astray. Swapping of sex in return for votes is sickening. Yet, according to reports, that is taking place. Are honest, God-fearing citizens to choose between this type of public official and others who can be trusted? Will they return men to office who have been trapped in the web? The speculation is justified in the face of revelations that have come to light.

Nations in past history have engaged in such conduct as has been reported in the Federal government and have disappeared in the dust of time without a trace, in some instances.

Where the evidence is conclusive, those involved should be retired by popular verdict. If they are sent back to the seats of the mighty, it could in turn reflect upon constituents.

It could be that America is at the crossroads of history. What has been revealed calls for a general house cleaning in the national capital. The times call for tall men, strong men, and men of character and integrity.

THE INSIDE REPORT

Carter's Tour de Force

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — On Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, an informal group of liberal Democratic Congressmen held their weekly breakfast meeting and gravely considered swallowing their misgivings about Jimmy Carter to endorse him for President in order to beat George Wallace to the punch. Unknown to them, they were seven hours too late.

At 1 o'clock the same morning, Gov. Wallace placed a telephone call from the executive mansion in Montgomery, Ala., to his longtime political manager, Charles Snider. While sharing the liberal congressmen's misgivings about Carter for opposite reasons, Wallace saw the future more clearly, and quickly came to a hard decision: he told Snider he would endorse Carter for President.

The spectacle of Wallace and the liberals racing each other for Carter's bandwagon explains how Carter could back into clinching the presidential nomination only hours after losing two of the three primaries that day against ragtag opposition.

That Wallace, so long the devil to liberal Democrats, should tip Carter over the top with his own delegates is the supreme irony. It also underlines the extraordinary tour de force of Jimmy Carter, who originally sold himself to those same liberals as the outsider from Plains, Ga., who would slay the Wallace dragon.

The tour de force resulted from Carter's flat refusal to yield to demands from politicians, the press and his own advisers that he make far more specific his positions on issues. That refusal left the road open for both Wallace and the liberals. By fudging on the issues, Carter became the Democratic consensus nominee no one dreamed would be possible.

Carter's feat is all the more remarkable because his campaign emerged from obscurity as solely an anti-Wallace commando raid. Other candidates cleared out of the Florida primary and such prominent liberals as president Leonard Woodcock of the United Auto Workers and California political philanthropist Max Palevsky were first drawn to Carter only for the Florida campaign. But once Wallace faded, Carter became the second choice of many Wallace voters.

Having thus used the Democratic party's lurid fears of Wallace as a pretext for his candidacy, Carter turned this reasoning on its ear last week when he mused publicly he might not make it on the first ballot but Wallace delegates would put him over on the second ballot anyway.

The warning to liberals: climb aboard or I'll ride to triumph with Wallace. A few liberals—such as doughty old ADA crusader Joseph Rauh—have resisted this. "I'm going to wait to see whether Carter clarifies his fuzzy position in our direction or in the other direction," Rauh told us. But he also acknowledged that he will be waiting alone while his colleagues leap for the Carter bandwagon.

The reason Rauh is a voice in the wilderness is the inevitability of Carter, which can be partly traced to Sen. Hubert Humphrey's decision of April 29 not to become a candidate following the fall of Sen. Henry M. Jackson in Pennsylvania. That opened (Continued on page 8)

GUIDED IN OUR TROUBLE

One of the hardest things for people to become reconciled to is the suffering of the righteous. Very often it seems that the wicked go through life with their heads held high, enjoying good fortune, prosperity, sound health, and the absence of any serious trouble, while those who serve God best seem to suffer the most. Why does God permit this?

No answer, of course, can be given to the question, except to say that the Bible nowhere promises that the righteous will be kept out of trouble. It does promise, however, that the righteous will be kept through trouble. They will be sustained and guided as they experience it.

The great difference between those who have religious faith and those who have none, is that the former have a consolation amid their troubles while the latter do not. Those with faith may not know why they are afflicted, but they do know that there is a just and righteous God in heaven, and that eventually everything will be made to serve His will.

Advice Stirs Scorn

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government pamphlets explaining work dangers to farmers are sparking controversy because of language one congressman says must have been written "for a New Yorker about to visit a farm for the first time."

The booklets, prepared at a cost of almost $500,000 by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, are designed to help farmers and farmhands understand new federal safety rules.

One pamphlet, "Safety With Beef Cattle," declares in large, bold print that "hazards are one of the main causes of accidents" and explains, "You can make your work area safe by finding hazards and removing them."

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., says the language is "so incredibly arrogant and insulting that it nearly leaves me speechless." He said OSHA material for other industries is not so childish and that apparently only farmers have been singled out for such treatment.

The beef cattle booklet has the American National Cattle-men's Association "laughing with tears in our eyes" with such advice as: "When floors are wet and slippery with manure, you can have a bad fall. You could also trip over junk or trash."

The pamphlets are being distributed in cooperation with the Extension Service in the Agriculture Department. New federal rules affecting farmers who hire outside labor have been announced by the agency.

One cluster of regulations affecting protective shields around machinery was to have gone into effect June 7 but was delayed until Oct. 25, partly because the informational material, including the pamphlets, were not ready.

Rep. Thomas Hagedorn, R-Minn., said, "The material in these pamphlets seems to be written for a New Yorker about to visit a farm for the first time." He said 155,000 copies of each of 28 pamphlets are being printed at a cost of $347,220 and that the government paid experts at Purdue University $119,500 for developing the material.

Among the pamphlets are: Safety with Front-End Loaders; (Continued on page 8)

Sharp cleavages developed in the solid South today over the new proposal that the Democratic party abrogate its century-old two-thirds nomination rule.

A survey among party leaders showed such division of opinion that it was impossible to determine how the bulk of the sector's 270-odd delegates will vote if and when the matter comes before the Philadelphia convention next week.

According to South Carolina delegation chairman Cloud Sapp, the two-thirds rule was adopted to protect the southern states. He said South Carolina's delegates would vote against the proposal.

North Carolina party leaders withheld comment.

Concerned By Over-Regulation

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As the man soon to be in charge of one of the world's largest accounting firms, Norman Auerbach feels he has a crow's eye view of the separate and interacting affairs of business and government.

What he sees disturbs him — a trend to increasing government regulation of business, negative attitudes toward business by legislators, and a popular feeling that it is smart to be antibusiness.

Auerbach, who takes over Oct. 1 as managing partner of Coopers & Lybrand, believes that if these trends continue, "the process we have come to place our reliance on, private enterprise, is going to be in serious trouble."

He brings to bear on the subject a considerable amount of educational and business experience.

A product of the University of Michigan, he attended both Michigan's and Harvard's graduate school of business, and is a lawyer as well as a certified public accountant. He will preside over 300 offices around the world.

The United States, he believes, is on a course disturbingly similar to that in Britain, "a push for security and increased benefits which are not related to increases in productivity."

This process eventually strangles industry, he continued, "and then when it is strangled, people say let the government take it over and run it," the inference being that government knows best how to do so.

Along the way, Auerbach feels, the pride of achievement, the sense of contributing, the relationship between output and reward, is sometimes lost and must be restored.

"No longer is it clear to the worker how he is being measured," he said. "By the shop steward, or by what he contributes to the production process?"

Too often, he continued, a worker is encouraged by collective bargaining to limit rather than contribute as much as he can. "We need personal incentives for personal achievement," he said, contrasting it with the collective benefits that are common in union contracts.

During wartime, he noted, the sense of personal contribution was recognized and rewarded, and the resulting levels of production often were amazing by today's standards. Worker, company and country all benefited.

"Shouldn't the same techniques work in peacetime?" he asked.

Asked what advice he would offer Congress, Auerbach replied in an instant: "Please, let the private enterprise system work."

Congress, regulatory agencies and the judiciary all have dealings with business, "and each of them looks at its own responsibilities and focuses on areas not mutually exclusive."

This overlapping results in all arms of government reaching into the fray when something happens. "They bombard business." In their search for information they paralyze business with paperwork, he said.

Carter's way to an un-molested rampage for delegates the next three weeks until late-blooming candidacies confronted and frequently defeated him (Carter then lost nine of the last 15 primaries and finished behind Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in every confrontation).

The importance of Humphrey's decision was pointed up Tuesday, which might have been a near sweep for Humphrey leading to a fateful—and undoubtedly bloody—duel in Madison Square Garden.

Carter's poor showing in losing to an uncommitted slate in New Jersey cannot be explained away as the factional triumph of the party organization against pro-Carter, unpopular Gov. Brendan Byrne. Nor can Carter's humiliating 20 per cent against Gov. Brown in California be dismissed as a Golden State aberration. Even Carter's impressive win in Ohio was recorded against the hapless Rep. Morris Udall, whose doctrinaire liberalism made him a worst-possible candidate for Ohio.

This foreboding voter resistance—implacable in the West and stubborn in the Northeast—helps explain why the certainty of his nomination in a bloodless convention has created not exultation but an air of resignation. To some thoughtful Democrats, the fact that Jimmy Carter does not wear that well suggests that his victory in November, even considering the deplorable condition of the Republicans, cannot be taken for granted.

But the lack of fervor among politicians, approximating the eerie coolness which greets him on the road, makes Carter's tour de force only more a matter of wonder. Enthusiastically or not, Wallaceites and liberals alike are climbing onto the bandwagon of the first non-incumbent Democrat in memory to enter a national convention with enough delegates in hand to be nominated by acclamation.

year-old Old Wall Street lawyer named Wendell Wilkie. Wilkie did not oppose the New Deal on principle (although he thought it inefficient) and he was a staunch advocate of aid to embattled Britain.

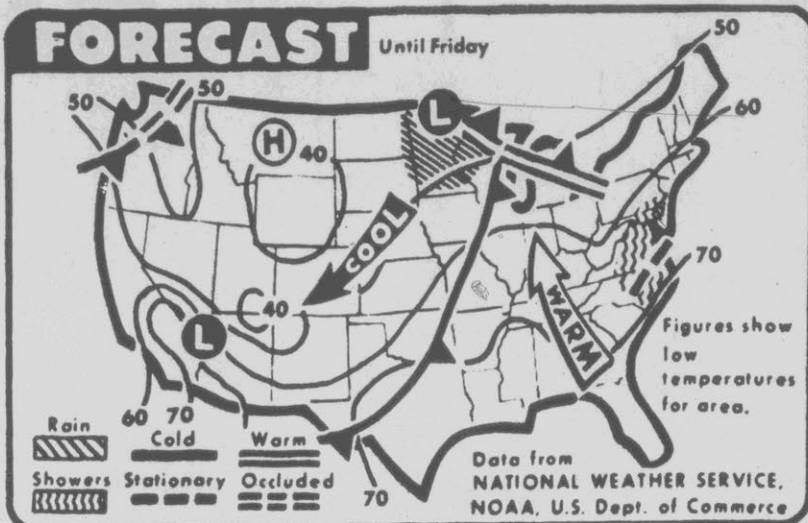

Wilkie (like Connally, a former Democrat) proved himself to be the most popular Republican since Teddy Roosevelt, and might well have defeated any Democratic candidate other than FDR. As it was, Wilkie polled 22 million votes (45 per cent of the total), although he won only 82 electoral votes to Roosevelt's 449.

It would be passing strange were an out-of-office former Democrat with the taint of Watergate about him to win the Republican nomination in 1976. But, then, who would have dreamed a few months ago that an out-of-office governor and sometime peanut farmer from a place called Plains, Ga., would find himself nicely situated to win the Democratic nomination?

Lives Rebuilt, Changed By Rehabilitation Center

NEW YORK (AP) — The Craniofacial Rehabilitation Center at the Kingsbrook Jewish Medical Center in Brooklyn is dedicated to rebuilding faces deformed by accident, disease or birth defects.

"Here," says Dr. Herbert L. Hayward, chief of the center, and Dr. Edward A. Woods, director of the center's dental department, "we offer hope, happiness, health and the reconstruction of broken lives."

"Here," adds Dr. Woods, "we repair cleft palates, harelips, oversized jaws, misshapen noses, and missing ears and eyes. We repair defects resulting from cancer surgery, facial trauma or accidental injury. We work like sculptors, rebuilding faces. We utilize skin and bone grafts where necessary. Sometimes we use synthetic "skins" made from certain polymers when a skin or bone graft is not possible."

"Whatever the cause of the craniofacial disorder, if untreated it may interfere with one or more physical or social functions," says Dr. Hayward, describing one patient, a 12-year-old boy born with protruding jaws.

Sensitive about his face, the boy had refused to do his school work and fought constantly with fellow students who made fun of him. His parents finally placed him in a home for disturbed children, where he remained until they took him to the rehabilitation center.

The operation needed to give him a normal appearance moved his upper and lower jaws back. Now he is a handsome young man and lives a completely normal life with family and fellow students, Dr. Hayward relates.

Woods and Hayward head a team that includes plastic and reconstructive surgeons; oral surgeons; orthodontists; prosthodontists; and psychotherapists.

Prior to any treatment, the patient is interviewed, examined and a diagnostic workup is performed. Finally, there is a meeting at which all of the specialties are represented.

It is at this phase of the pre-operative period that the surgery is planned on the basis of the cephalometric (skull) analysis and prototypes made on the diagnostic models of the face and jaws.

The size and shape of needed grafts are measured on the model, then steel templates are made into which the surgerized bone and grafts can fit. Splints are designed to hold the jaws in position during healing. Thus, major facial surgery becomes a one-step procedure with bone grafts removed from the donor site just before implantation at the recipient site. Healing then occurs with everything in place.

In the case of another patient, a 25-year-old woman, her facial deformities had forced her to settle for menial jobs and had been the cause of her broken marriage. Her upper teeth protruded so far that she couldn't close her mouth. Following a thorough workup and discussion of the case by members of the team, a plan of treatment was agreed upon and surgery was performed. The patient is now an attractive woman with a productive business and social life, Dr. Hayward says.

Among the common deformities treated at Kingsbrook are bimaxillary (upper and lower jaws) protrusion or retrusion and cleft palate. These are congenital conditions. Surgery is also performed on oral cancer patients. Cancer surgery leaves the patient with esthetic and functional defects, including chewing, swallowing and speech disabilities due to the partial or total loss of a mandible (lower jaw) or maxilla (upper jaw).

One of the unique features of the center, according to Dr. Woods, is the regular conferences held by the members of the team involved with the patient's treatment, where each member of the team has an opportunity to evaluate the patient from the point of view of the treatment.

Previously, for example, for patients with oral cancer, the prosthodontist was not called into the case until the post-surgical phase, which limited the rehabilitative services that could be offered. Utilizing Kingsbrook's interdisciplinary approach, the prosthodontist can plan the rehabilitative phase of treatment and give a reasonable prognosis even before the patient undergoes surgery.

"The center serves a crucial need," Dr. Woods points out. "The face is the primary part of the body with which a person identifies and expresses his self-image. A facial injury, deformity or disability clearly has psychological implications. The psychologist serves a very important function. While it is not normally conceivable that an individual with a facial deformity, regardless of its cause, would not want it corrected, there are people who prefer that the deformity remain, using it as a crutch to excuse their insecurity."

The techniques of plastic surgery have been known since 800 B.C. or earlier, when Hindus in India restored missing facial features. The need had arisen because of the practice of slicing off the nose as punishment for various offenses. While today plastic surgery is also used to beautify or to make one look younger, more important is its use for improving features of men, women and children who have been deformed by accident, disease or birth defects, say Kingsbrook specialists. While face lifts may have to be renewed periodically because of the aging process, the reconstruction of craniofacial features is permanent.

Managua Is Avoiding Old Mistakes

By JOHN VIRTUE
MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Nicaragua is taking advantage of the destruction caused by the Dec. 23, 1972 earthquake to rebuild the capital in a way which could make it the envy of other, traffic-clogged cities.

Right now, Managua has no downtown commercial area, nor is it going to have one in the future.

The earthquake, which killed 11,000 persons, destroyed 600 square blocks of downtown Managua. The rubble has now been removed and dumped into nearby Lake Xolotlan, but no reconstruction has yet begun in the area.

Instead, the government and private enterprise have been building some 20 commercial centers on the outskirts of the city, plus factories, schools, hospitals and residential areas. The new developments have all the necessary services and facilities, so the residents have little need to go to the downtown area, even if it were reconstructed as before.

"After the 1931 earthquake we rebuilt the downtown area over the same geological faults," says Gen. Roger Bermudez, government press secretary. "We're not going to make that mistake again."

Government engineers have located nine dangerous seismic faults under the lakefront center of the city, so these areas will be turned into parkland and boulevards. Narrow Roosevelt Avenue, once the congested main street of this city of 500,000, will be made into a 100-foot wide pedestrian walk.

A civic center will be built on safe ground in the downtown area, as will a limited number of government buildings and offices for some major companies. Bermudez says requests for building permits will be accepted within a month or so.

"Because of the earthquake, Managua is being decentralized," Bermudez said in a recent interview. "Industry and commerce will no longer be concentrated in the center of the city. There were tremendous traffic jams before the earthquake."

Over 90 per cent of the city's small factories and shops were destroyed, as were 14 major factories. More than 50,000 family dwellings were destroyed.

The damage caused by the earthquake has been estimated at more than $1 billion, about the wealth of the country's most illustrious guest at the time of the tragedy, the late industrialist Howard R. Hughes.

Hughes, wearing pajamas and with a blanket draped over his shoulders, took refuge in front of the Inter-Continental Hotel with other survivors until he was able to fly to London in his private plane several hours later.

Poultry Sales

Receipts Rose

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Farm marketing specialists say total cash receipts for poultry sales increased last year even though Americans ate fewer poultry products.

Dr. David Mellor and Marshall Miller of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said the average person ate nine fewer eggs in 1975, as well as less broiler, chicken and turkey meat.

They expect broiler and turkey meat consumption to this year.

WAR DANCING

ANADARKO, Okla. (UPI) — The national war dance championship will be determined during the annual American Indian Exposition Aug. 9-14 at the Caddo County Fairgrounds. The exposition also features displays of Indian arts and crafts.

fluences behind today's advance. For one thing, they said, investors were encouraged by Federal Reserve moves this week which suggested that the central bank didn't want interest rates to rise any further at the moment.

They also pointed to government statistics issued Wednesday which showed favorable trends in personal income, industrial production and housing starts.

Still another plus was the strong reception that greeted American Telephone & Telegraph's offering of 12 million new shares on Wednesday.

AT&T stock was unchanged at 54¼ in active trading today. The market had hesitated late Thursday when the killing of the American ambassador to Lebanon in Beirut was announced.

But the nervousness seemed to have been eased by U.S. assertions that it would continue a policy of seeking a peaceful resolution of the civil war in Lebanon.

The NYSE's composite index picked up .38 at 54.74 in the first hour, and the America Stock Exchange market value index was up .51 at 103.86.

Cox yesterday said the city basically needs — as requested in their budget — $200,000 in county-wide appropriations for the middle school, $265,000 for additions, improvements and alterations to old buildings and grounds (85,000 was proposed by Gray before the Third Street School problem came to light and cited by Cox as the area of most concern), $113,500 for capital items for auxiliary agencies ($42,000 in local money proposed by Gray), and $500,000 from the State Literary Fund loan which was recommended by Gray to be used for the middle school.

Cox said too, that in light of the needed renovation of Third Street School (estimated at $150,000), the need to replace the Aycock Junior High School roof ($125,000) and heating and air conditioning system ($50,000), as well as repairs needed at other schools as noted by city building inspectors several weeks ago ($50,000 estimated), the Board of Education is requesting the 20 cents special Greenville district levy for capital expenditures. The 20 cents special tax would bring in about $640,000.

Cox said the repairs to the schools would total about $375,000 leaving $265,000 available for the middle school program from the special levy.

The superintendent explained that with monies on hand, plus the requested appropriations for the coming year and state bond money the city system would have $2.58 million on hand to

DuPont Cutback

KINSTON, N.C. (AP) — A DuPont spokesman says the company's plant here will put 400 employees on alternating work schedules beginning June 28.

The action is the result of production cutbacks and affected employees will be working every other week, said Joe LaMotte, adding that workers on the schedule will be eligible for unemployment benefits on the weeks they are not working.

Employees designated for the reduced schedule have less than one year's experience at the plant and are involved in the production of textured polyester yarn.

LaMotte said the yarn, used in double-knit fabrics, has dropped in sales.

"The fact that we didn't lay off employees indicates that our business forecasters expect things to pick up in the not too distant future," LaMotte said.

Authorizes Funds To Coast Guard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has authorized $248.8 million for the Coast Guard.

Included in the bill approved Wednesday is $100 million to buy ships and planes to police the new expanded 200-mile fishing limit, which becomes effective next March 1.

Another $24.4 million would be assigned for construction of Coast Guard facilities in Portsmouth, Va.; Rodanthe and Elizabeth City, N.C., and 11 other areas.

This is an authorization bill only. Release of the money will be by an appropriation bill.

SEEKING DIVORCE

NEW YORK (AP) — Entertainer Diana Ross has filed for divorce, from her husband of three years, her manager said Tuesday. The couple have three daughters.

proceed with the construction of the first phase of the middle school which is estimated to cost $2.6 million.

That first phase would include 32 classrooms and the kitchen-cafeteria area, leaving the auditorium, gym and other areas to be constructed later.

The total middle school project is estimated to cost $3.7 million.

When asked how much money the city school system would have on hand at the close of this fiscal year, June 30, Cox said about $367,900. He explained that of this amount $265,600 has been earmarked for the middle school project, leaving $102,300 in "surplus" capital improvement funds.

Studies July 7 Georgia Opening

Tommy Irvin, Georgia State Commissioner of Agriculture, is currently studying a possible opening date of July 7 for Georgia's flue-cured tobacco auction markets, according to the Associated Press.

The opening date proposed by the Georgia Tobacco Advisory Committee in Macon is July 7 for auctions and July 8 for sales.

The committee proposed alternate date of July 8 for auctions and July 9 for sales if the earlier date would create a "hardship" for buyers because of the observance of the fourth of July holiday on July 5.

The national Flue-Cured Tobacco Advisory Committee is meeting in Raleigh to set dates for market openings and to assign government graders and buyers to each market.

Irvin's alternate proposal of July 9 was unusual, as no sales have been conducted on Friday in recent years. Georgia tobacco growers reportedly face problems with crop damage and with a decline in smokers in the U.S., as well as some troubles abroad.

Irvin said Georgia tobacco sales would be held Monday through Thursday for the rest of the season, following the two opening days of sales.

Scoreless Pirates Stumble Twice

Schools Optimistic About Possible League

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Six colleges which met to discuss the prospects of forming a new athletic conference in the South have expressed optimism that their idea can come to fruition.

Represented at the meeting were East Carolina, South Carolina, Southern Mississippi, the University of Richmond, William and Mary and Virginia Military Institute. The session was called by East Carolina Chancellor Leo Jenkins, who said participants were optimistic of success.

The next meeting is scheduled in Greensboro, N.C., for the first week in August.

Representatives of the six colleges at Wednesday's meeting would like to form a strong league that would be on the scale of the Atlantic Coast Conference or the Southeastern Conference, a spokesman said.

Jenkins said efforts will be made to get other schools at the next meeting with particular emphasis on attracting independents Florida

State, Virginia Tech and West Virginia.

At Wednesday's meeting, "we discussed the ambitions of each school, their future plans and goals along with some rules and regulations," Jenkins said.

Also, according to reports from Wednesday's meeting, it was said that South Carolina would know before the August session whether it will succeed in its efforts to be readmitted to the ACC.

Southern Mississippi and South Carolina now are independents. Richmond withdrew this year from the Southern Conference and ECU leaves that league next spring. William and Mary and VMI still are in the Southern Conference.

Two months ago, Jenkins began work toward forming a new conference by asking other large universities if they were interested in forming a new major conference.

BUIES CREEK — East Carolina University should have saved a few of those runs they picked up in their romp past Elon in a Saturday night doubleheader for use last night.

As it was, the Pirates didn't get a single run, and it cost them a pair of games at the hands of Campbell College, 7-0 and 1-0.

In the two games, the Bucs got only two men as far as third base. Glenn Card reached third in the first game, while Charlie Stevens got there in the second game. They were the only ones, however, and neither got any further.

The Bucs got only six hits in the first game—just as many as Campbell, but the Camel hurler allowed not a single walk, while East Carolina gave up seven, and that helped to make the difference.

East Carolina picked up five hits in the second game, while loser Pete Conaty allowed Campbell just three, but it proved enough for the Camels.

Campbell started its scoring in the first inning of the opener, pushing over two runs. Mo Toner led off with a single and both Tony Naumann and Max Mann walked, loading the bases. Keith Snider hit into a fielder's choice, scoring Toner, and Steve Williams singled to drive in Naumann.

In the fourth, Campbell picked up three more. Dave Warrick walked, and was sacrificed to second. Toner singled and John Lippart reached on an error, scoring Warrick. Mann followed with a double, driving in both Toner and Lippart.

Allen Proving Rumors Of His Demise False

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Dick Allen, who has helped some of Philadelphia's young sluggers with his advice, is now helping the Phillies with his bat.

The 34-year-old first baseman, one of baseball's most feared sluggers in his prime, continued to prove Wednesday night that rumors of his demise — he hit only 233 last year — were greatly exaggerated. He drove in four runs with a single and a two-run homer, his fifth of the season, as the runaway Phils trounced the San Francisco Giants 10-2.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Pittsburgh Pirates remained seven games behind Philadelphia in the East Division with a 6-3 triumph over the Houston Astros, the Chicago Cubs stopped the Cincinnati Reds 5-3 in a 6½-inning rain-shortened game, the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the New York Mets 4-1, the San Diego Padres trimmed the Montreal Expos 6-2 and the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Atlanta Braves 4-3.

With Allen supplying the batting power, Jim Kaat scattered four hits in breezing to his 241st career victory, most of any active major league hurler.

Pirates 6, Astros 3
Al Oliver extended his hitting streak to 13 games with a three-run homer while Doc Medich evened his record at 5-5 although he was rapped for 11 hits in five innings. Oliver's third-inning homer off Joaquin Andujar followed a walk to Medich and a single by Frank Taveras. Cesar Cedeno homered for Houston.

Cubs 5, Reds 3
Manny Trillo had a two-run single and Steve Swisher a two-run double as the Cubs scored five times in the first inning and held on to beat the Reds for only the second time in the last 19 meetings. Bill Bonham, who had the Cubs' only victory over Cincinnati last season, gave up seven hits, including Joe Morgan's 12th homer.

The game was played in a steady drizzle and was stopped three times by rain — for 55 minutes in the first inning, 23 minutes in the fifth and 1½ hours in the seventh before the umpires finally called it.

Dodgers 4, Mets 1
Los Angeles scored four runs in the seventh inning on a two-run single by Bill Russell off Jerry Kosman and a two-run double by Ted Sizemore off Skip Lockwood. Doug Rau, who pitched in and out of trouble in the first six innings, was credited with the victory although Charlie Hough pitched the last three innings.

Padres 6, Expos 2
Dave Winfield, Merv Rettenmund and Mike Ivie each drove in two runs and Dave Freisen scattered five hits for his fifth triumph in six decisions.

Cardinals 4, Braves 3
Bake McBride's two-out single with the bases loaded capped a two-run ninth-inning rally that ended the Cardinals' six-game home losing streak. After a walk to Willie Crawford and a one-out error by first baseman Willie Montanez, pinch hitter Vic Harris singled the tying run home off reliever Mike Beard. Phil Niekro retired Jerry Mumphy on a fly ball before walking Don Kessinger to load the bases. McBride's game-winning hit followed.

BULLETIN
HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — The National Basketball Association decided today to expand by four teams, adding San Antonio, Denver, New York and Indiana from the American Basketball Association. Each of the four clubs will pay $3.2 million in cash.

Home Builders, NCNB Take Ruth Victories

Home Builders rallied to upset Pepsi-Cola, 7-5, and NCNB romped to a 17-1 victory over Planters Bank in Babe Ruth League action last night.

The results left Pepsi-Cola with a 4-3 record, while NCNB is 4-4, Home Builders is 3-4, and Planters is 3-6.

Jay Wood sparked the Home Builders team, getting three hits in five trips.

Pepsi-Cola started things off with a run in the first. Marty Worthington singled and stole up. He scored when Calvin Parker reached on an error.

Pepsi pushed over four more in the second for a 5-0 lead. Chip Davis reached on an error, moved up on the play and on a wild pitch. He scored on Bob Morehead's infield hit. Morehead stole second and Will Sanderson walked. Parker singled in Morehead, and Mike Norfleet reached on an error, scoring Sanderson. Parker then scored the final Pepsi run on a wild pitch.

Home Builders started its rally with three in the fourth. Ronnie Chapman led off with a walk and moved up on an error on a pickoff attempt. Wood singled and Doug Nicol drove in Chapman with a single off the pitcher's leg. Jimmy Stallings singled in Wood, but Nicol was thrown out. Chris Ross singled, and he and Stallings pulled a double steal, with the later scoring.

Two more came over in the fifth, tying it up. Reggie Selby singled and moved up on a wild pitch. Terry Skinner singled him to third, but Skinner was thrown out trying to steal. Selby streaked home on the play.

Chapman walked and Wood again singled. Walks to Nichol and Mickey McGrath brought in Chapman with the tying run.

The two winning runs came in the sixth. Gavin Ray singled and Selby reached on an error. Both were sacrificed up, and Chapman grounded out, scoring Ray.

Nicol singled in Selby with the final run.

In addition to Wood's three hits, Nicol, Ray and Selby each added two. Morehead, Worthington, Parker and Ashley Taylor each had two for Pepsi.

NCNB pushed over nine runs in the first inning to put the second game on ice.

Mark Shank led off with a walk and Don McGlohon singled. Joey Mattheis walked, loading them up.

Skip Topping's grounder was errored at second, letting Shank and McGlohon score. Will Barrett walked, reloading them. Mike Campbell singled in Mattheis, and Cliff Fearington walked, scoring Topping. Mike Mills also walked, bringing in Barrett. Shank sacrificed Campbell over, and McGlohon was hit by a pitch, again loading the bases.

Mattheis finished off the scoring with a double to deep left, driving in all three runners.

Planters came up with its lone run in the second. Mac Stokes reached on an error and George Wilkerson walked. Charles Daise singled in Stokes.

NCNB came back with three more in the second. Campbell reached on an error and was wild pitched to third. Mills walked and stole second. Both scored on Scott Peele's single, and a double by Shank brought in Peele for a 12-1 lead.

NCNB picked up one in the fourth and four more in the fifth. Roger Clemmons had two hits for Planters, while Mattheis and Campbell each had a pair for NCNB.

Meet Set Saturday

Decathlon Championships of the Junior Olympics will be held this Friday and Saturday at East Carolina's Bunting Field.

Any athlete in the 14-15 or 16-17 age group who is eligible to participate should report to the ECU track by 3:00 p.m. Friday, June 18.

The decathlon consists of ten events and is extremely grueling. The top three finishers in each age group will qualify for the National AAU championship to be held in Chicago. Medals will be awarded to the top three finishers and certificates to other participants.

Anyone needing further information regarding the meet should contact Clem Williams at 825-9431 after 5:30 p.m.

Exchange Nails Down Title, 11-0

Timmy Norris and Billy Bost had two hits each and Gordon Douglas a home run and Douglas pitched a three-hit shutout as the Exchange clinched the Tar Heel Little League title with an 11-0 rout of the Moose, yesterday.

Exchange got all it needed with a four-run first inning rally. Exchange added two in the second, three in the fourth and one in each of the fifth and sixth.

Douglas fanned ten and walked four in getting the win. Three walks loaded the bases in the top of the first for Exchange. Alison Taylor singled scoring a run and Jimmie Jones reached on an error scoring a second tally. An error let Douglas score but Taylor was thrown out going to third. Jones stole third and scored on Norris's single.

Billy Kittler walked in the second and Chip Cayton singled. Both moved up on an error and scored on a single by Bost.

Norris singled in two runs in the fourth and a third scored on a walk to Timmy Little for a 9-0 lead. Douglas homered in the fifth and Jones scored on an out in the sixth.

The only Moose threat came in the fourth when the Moose got two men to third. One was thrown out trying to score and the other was left stranded.

Blyleven Not Helping As Yet

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Bert Blyleven is easy to hit, but hard to figure out.

The man called one of the best "stuff" pitchers in baseball has never quite realized his potential and few can understand why.

"He's got better stuff than 99 per cent of the pitchers in the American League," says Cleveland pitcher Jackie Brown, "but I don't know what's wrong with him. He'll throw two good pitches, then he'll throw one right across the middle."

The Texas right-hander continued to be as erratic as his curve ball Wednesday night, losing a 9-4 decision to the Indians. That lowered his record to 4-8 and was his third straight loss since his acquisition from Minnesota on June 1.

In the other American League games, the Oakland A's whipped the Boston Red Sox 4-1; the Milwaukee Brewers blanked the California Angels 9-0; the New York Yankees stopped the Minnesota Twins 9-4; the Baltimore Orioles routed the Chicago White Sox 10-2 and the Detroit Tigers nipped the Kansas City Royals 4-3.

Buddy Bell and George Hendrick lashed home runs and Brown scattered 10 hits in eight innings to lead Cleveland's victory. Blyleven was relieved by Steve Foucault with one run across, two outs and two on in the eighth inning. Foucault was immediately tagged for a three-run homer by Bell, his fourth.

Brown, 6-2, a former Ranger pitcher, yielded two runs in the second, then held his former teammates scoreless until Tom Grieve slammed a two-out homer with Roy Howell aboard in the eighth. He got relief help from Stan Thomas and Dave LaRoche in the ninth.

A's 4, Red Sox 1
Claudell Washington drove in all the runs with a three-run homer and a single as Oakland beat Boston behind Paul Mitchell's three-hitter. Washington connected for his homer in the fifth inning off losing pitcher Luis Tiant, 8-4. It followed a double by Sal Bando and a walk to Gene Tenace.

Brewers 9, Angels 0

Bill Travers pitched a three-hitter for his eighth victory of the season and Gorman Thomas drove in three runs with a homer and sacrifice fly as Milwaukee beat Chicago. Travers, hurling his third shutout of the season and lowering his American League-leading ERA to 1.59, improved his record to 8-3 in winning for the sixth time in his last seven decisions.

Yankees 9, Twins 4

Roy White had two doubles and a single and scored three times, and Oscar Gamble hit a three-run homer to spark New York over Minnesota. White doubled and scored in the first inning, drove in a second-inning run with a sacrifice fly, scored in the fifth after a single and doubled and came home again in the seventh. Gamble slammed his sixth home run of the year off Twins reliever Tom Burgmeier, giving the Yanks a 9-4 lead and insuring the victory for Ed Figueroa, 7-4.

Orioles 10, White Sox 2

Doug DeCinces and Lee May both smashed three-run homers and Mike Cuellar scattered 10 hits as Baltimore defeated Chicago. Cuellar, winning against the White Sox for the 14th time in 19 career decisions, halted a personal four-game losing streak and raised his 1976 record to 3-7.

Tigers 4, Royals 3

Alex Johnson singled home the tying run with two out and scored the winner on a base hit by Mickey Stanley as Detroit rallied for two runs in the ninth inning to beat Kansas City. Dan Meyer opened the Tiger rally with an infield single off Mark Littell, then took second on a long fly ball by Rusty Staub. After Jason Thompson struck out, Marty Pattin, 1-7, was brought in to face Johnson and was promptly greeted by a sharp single to tie the game at 3-3.

Johnson stole second and after an intentional walk to Aurelio Rodriguez, Stanley pinch-hit his game-winning single to right.

Johnston Tops Legion, 7-4

Tony Boob's triple in the sixth drove in two runs giving Johnston County all the runs it needed and Johnston added one more in the ninth to beat Greenville's Post 39 American Legion team, 7-4, last night.

Jim Montague had led off the inning with a walk and Ray Tanner followed with a single. Boob's smash gave Johnston a 6-1 lead.

Henry Baker pitched the loss for Greenville. He struck out four and walked one but gave up 12 hits, three for extra bases. Butch Bailey won the game for Johnston fanning ten, walking one and scattering eight hits.

Greenville scored first getting a run in the third when Greg Sasser scored on Eddie Connolly's double.

But in the fourth, Johnston rallied for four runs to take the lead. Johnny Parker led off with a hit and was sacrificed up. Tanner reached on an error and Boob on a fielder's choice which was errored scoring Parker. Hits by Rudy Fletcher and Michael Sorrell drove in Tanner and Fletcher. Boob stole home.

Greenville picked up a run in the seventh when Jeff Aldridge walked and later scored on an out.

The final two Greenville runs came over in the ninth. Jimmy Averette led off with a triple and scored on Aldridge's single. Aldridge moved up on Greg Lee's single and later scored on an out.

Connolly, Averette and Lee had two hits each for Greenville while Vaughn Stephenson, Boob, Tanner, and Jim Montague had two each for Johnston Co.

Players' Lawyer Joins In Basketball Meetings

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — Prentiss Yancey, a soft-talking, hard-bargaining Atlanta attorney, has ridden into town with the high hopes of helping solve the problems that would bring some American Basketball Association teams into the National Basketball Association for the 1976-77 season.

Yancey, counsel for the ABA Players' Association, arrived Wednesday night after being hastily summoned from his Atlanta office following an apparent impasse in the negotiations between the two leagues.

Yancey, speaking for the Players' Association, has been vigorously against the admittance of four ABA clubs into the NBA and has threatened to go to court this week if such a move is adopted. But that is exactly the NBA's intention.

"The overwhelming sentiment of the NBA is for four teams," Simon Gouridine, NBA Deputy commissioner, said Wednesday.

Those four teams would be the Denver Nuggets, Indiana Pacers, New York Nets, and an Antonio Spurs.

Left out would be the ABA's other two franchises, Kentucky and El. St. Louis-Utah.

Should Kentucky and St. Louis-Utah eventually be snubbed by the NBA, the major problem then would be dispersal of the total of more than 20 players on those teams. Yancey has fought to maintain jobs for them and is anxious not to see them unemployed.

On his arrival, Yancey quickly went into session with the ABA's top echelon of executives — Commissioner Dave DeBusschere, Assistant Commissioner Jim Keeler, owners Carl Scheer of Denver, Roy Boe of New York, Angelo Drossos of San Antonio, and Bill Eason of Indiana, and the league's attorney.

Another major issue, of course, is the charge that will be levied against each ABA team for joining the NBA. Originally, the price was announced as $4.5 million per team, to be spread over several years, but now it is reported that the NBA is demanding $3 million in immediate cash per club.

The four ABA teams ticketed to join the NBA also would be faced with other huge payments, should they be accepted. They would have to pay charges to both the Kentucky and St. Louis-Utah clubs, plus a large sum to the league itself. The New York Nets would have to pay the New York Knicks a territorial indemnity.

The cost for Denver, San Antonio and Indiana have been estimated at $8 million apiece, and the charge to the Nets at $12 million.

The ABA and NBA both held joint and separate meetings Wednesday and some of the discussions became very heated, particularly among the ABA principles about the dispersment of the players from the Kentucky and St. Louis-Utah teams.

"I feel some progress is being made in negotiations, but there still are some difficult issues to be resolved," Gouridine said.

He did not elaborate on the details of the progress but said "We are moving forward."

How much progress was made was expected to be revealed today.

Irwin Likes Tough Courses

By ED SHEARER
AP Sports Writer

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) — Hale Irwin has a history of playing well on tough golf courses, although he's not sure why.

"I don't know if I play harder because the course is tougher or if the field just doesn't play as well as it normally does," Irwin said Wednesday on the eve of the 78th U.S. Open Golf Championship.

"But I like to respond to that challenge on a tough course. I think it's a day-to-day thing, though. The trick is to eliminate the bad errors."

The former University of Colorado football star has recorded most of his seven tour victories on courses considered difficult.

Twice he has captured the Heritage at Hilton Head. He won the 1974 U.S. Open at Winged Foot. He won twice last year on tough layouts — the Western Open at Butler National and the Atlanta Classic on the rolling hills of Atlanta Country Club. Irwin won at Los Angeles this year on the tough Riviera course.

The soft-spoken Missouri native faces another challenging course today, ranking among the favorites to win the first National Open ever held in the South.

This one is at the Atlanta Athletic Club, a 7,015-yard layout that plays to par 70.

"The U.S. Open course is always in the tough course category," Irwin said, "and this one is no exception."

Many of the 150 players entered have tabbed Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Irwin as the players to beat.

You can't fight a boilover after it happens. Put in PRESTONE II Coolant now.

A summer boilover can do more than ruin a car trip. It can ruin your engine. That means a boilover can be just as deadly as a winter freeze-up.

So if you think your coolant needs changing, don't wait for fall. Flush out your cooling system now. This weekend. And put in a fresh fill of PRESTONE II Coolant.

Because PRESTONE II, with its patented silicone-silicate formula, will help prevent boilovers and corrosion all summer long. (And it'll help prevent freeze-ups all winter, too.)

To make it even easier for you, we've outlined two simple steps for proper cooling system maintenance.

Follow them. It's a once-a-year job that takes twenty minutes — and it could save the life of your engine.

(And keep in mind that reverse flushing is the only way to properly flush your entire cooling system — engine, heater, and radiator.)

Step 2. Put in 50% PRESTONE II Coolant.

Check your owner's manual for your car's cooling system capacity and pour in enough PRESTONE II (2 gallons for most cars) for a 50-50 mix with water.

That solution, with a 15 lb. radiator pressure cap, will raise the boiling point of your coolant to 265°F.

Now bring on the hot weather. You're ready for it.

Kuhn Calls For Hearing On Trades

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Marvin Miller once asked of the baseball owners' individual and sometimes conflicting ways: "Who's going to protect the owners from themselves?" It may be Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Kuhn, wondering if there might be something rotten in his kingdom, called for a hearing in New York today to discuss Charles O. Finley's sale of three of his top players from the Oakland A's, a sale that brought shrill cries of agony from fans and other club owners alike.

But Kuhn did more than just call together the principles involved. He halted the sale of pitcher Vida Blue to the New York Yankees for a reported $1.5 million and the sale of pitcher Rollie Fingers and outfielder Joe Rudi to the Boston Red Sox for $1 million apiece, and kept them on the Oakland roster.

Like it or not, Finley still owns the trio — at the moment. And, by order of the commissioner, he can't use them.

"The Blue-Fingers-Rudi assignments by the Oakland club raise questions that I feel require a hearing," Kuhn said in a teletyped notice to all 24 major league clubs. "Accordingly, I will hold a hearing ... at 2:30 p.m. in this office. The Oakland, New York and Boston clubs and Marvin Miller have been asked to attend." Miller is executive director of the players union.

And the last segment of Kuhn's teletype said: "Pending final determination of what action, if any, I should take, the three players involved will remain on the active list of the Oakland club but may not appear in uniform or participate in Oakland games."

Miller spent part of Wednesday debating issues with John Gaherin, bargaining agent for the owners. A major topic of discussion was "Finley's fire sale."

The owners and Gaherin have taken the position voiced by Minnesota Twins boss Calvin Griffith, who said: "I think it's a terrible thing when two clubs go out and start bidding to see who can buy a championship team. I think this shows that what the owners have been saying about the wealthy clubs getting the top players is true.

"It just shows how necessary a reserve system is if we are going to have fair competition."

Miller says he doesn't understand what the owners are talking about.

"I'm puzzled. What's so bad for baseball?" Miller asked. "I don't know what it means that they're concerned about balanced competition."

"The Yankees haven't won a pennant in 12 years and the Red Sox have never won the World Series."

Miller pointed out that the A's have won the American League West the past five years, Baltimore has won the AL East five of the past seven years, Cincinnati has won the National League West four of the past six years, and Pittsburgh has taken the NL East five of the last six years.

"So that's the great balance they're worried about disturbing," Miller said. "Look what's happening to the competitive balance. Apparently, Oakland will not repeat. But the A's chose to sell their players for cash."

GOLD MEDAL WINNER

NEW YORK (AP) — Edgar B. Speer, U.S. Steel Corp. chairman, will receive the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame gold medal at the 19th annual awards dinner at the Waldorf Astoria here Dec. 7.

Boys Giving Their Time To Pitt Clean-Up Work

CHURCH HEAD — Dr. James L. Sullivan, 66, of Nashville, Tenn. was elected president of the Southern Baptist Convention in Norfolk Wednesday. Sullivan is a prominent Baptist minister and author. (AP Wirephoto)

Twenty teenage boys, members of the Pitt County-Greenville Boys' Club, are giving two days of their summer vacation to work in a clean-up project that ties in with the overall Pitt County Beautification project.

Dr. Trenton Davis, chairman of the Boys' Club Special Projects Committee, said the 20 boys, "all between the ages of 13 and 17, will be out today and tomorrow in a clean up campaign centered around two trash dump sites near Greenville."

The first site is on State Road 1202 just off the Falkland Highway. The second site, "and the biggest," Davis said, "is the one just off State Road 1440, up behind the Station House Fire Station."

The project, Davis said, was chosen "because the boys wanted some way to express their appreciation for all the help they've received from people and firms in supporting the Boys' Club. This is their way of showing their thanks."

The projects chairman noted that both the Pitt County Health Department and Pitt County Commissioners were most receptive to the idea of young citizens helping clean up these trash sites. "The commissioners are furnishing transportation for the boys, and a truck to haul the garbage to the county landfill, Davis said.

"In addition, Union Carbide is donating plastic bags for the boys to use in picking up aluminum materials. This they hope to sell."

Davis added that "in this project, we hope to bring the public's attention to the fact that the trash dumped at these two places are both within a couple of miles of the public county landfill. It would only take a short time for people with trash to go the extra distance to the landfill."

Other things mentioned by Davis in connection with the unauthorized dumping are obvious health hazards.

"I saw a number of improperly disposed pesticide containers," he said. "This is a definite possible health danger. It is my understanding people who have such containers to dispose of can get information on proper disposal from the county Agriculture Extension Office. "Another bad situation is that dumped tires create a breeding ground for mosquitoes," Davis said. "Rain water collects inside the tires and mosquitoes breed there."

Following the clean up, work today and tomorrow, boys from the Boys' Club will next week begin their Day Camp Summer Program. "Mr. Marvin Blount has made his ranch on the Old River Road available for the boys," Davis said. "Also, later in the summer, for the first time, a couple of weeks have been set aside for a day camp program for girls."

Three members were recommended for four year terms. They are Allen Hahn and Charles Ross, both of Greenville, and John Mewborn of Farmville.

The outgoing chairman is William Sneed of Greenville, who will continue on the Board.

Other members are Dorothy Bolton, Dr. A.H. Woodworth, Jack Richardson, Raymond Reddick, Mrs. H.R. Reaves, Dr. Malene Irons, Robert Martin of Bethel, and Reginald Gray.

Pitt 4-H Clubs Host Activities

Pitt County 4-H clubs served as hosts to the annual Northeast District 4-H Activity Day held Wednesday at North Pitt High School. Approximately 625 4-H'ers, leaders, and parents from 15 counties in the Northeast Extension District attended the activities in which winners were selected in 38 demonstration program areas.

The event was one of seven district events to be held in North Carolina. The winners will compete for state honors at N.C. 4-H Club Congress in Raleigh, July 26-30.

Break-In Try Being Probed

Police Department Capt. Paul Jewett said investigation is underway today in connection with an attempted burglary at Bob's Mobile Homes on the US 264 By-pass early this morning.

According to the officer, the incident was reported at 3:28 a.m.

He said someone attempted to pry a rear door to a mobile home open with a screw driver.

He said occupants sleeping in the mobile home at the rear of the sales lot were awakened by a pet dog barking. The would-be intruder ran when the occupants got out of bed to check on the barking dog, Jewett noted.

Approval was given to a contract with the State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Services to develop a job program for mental health clients.

Officers elected to serve the 4-H district for the coming year are as follows: John Eley, president, of Winton; Molly Everett, vice president, of Washington; Jennifer Armstrong, secretary-treasurer, of Columbia; and Joseph Miller, reporter of Moyock.

Three Pitt County 4-H members won scholarships to attend the 4-H Congress for their demonstrations. Pitt County winners are as follows: Jeff Johnson, electric; Brenda Roberson, poultry; and Cindy Christopher, beef car-grill. Blue ribbon talent winners were Lisa Moore, Ann Amith and Cheryl Thompson for a baton routine, and the Golden Wheatfield Band composed of Steve O'Neal, Nelson Jarvis, Mike Harris, Tim Mosely, and Butch Powers of Grifton.

Pitt County runners-up and their areas are the following: Cynthia Lilley, egg cookery; Linda Peele, artistic arrangement; Beverly Bell, auto-skill driving; Mark Starling, livestock production; Mecie Peaden, open class; Karen Talton, pork cookery; and Marc Black, archery.

Part Of Fence Said Stolen

Police are investigating the theft of 20 feet of fence from the Surburban Propane Co. storage plant on Howell Street.

Police Capt. Paul Jewett, who said the theft was reported at 2:02 p.m. yesterday, noted that the fence had been cut from the poles holding it up. The poles, he added, were left in place.

Hospital Deaths, Poisonings Charged Two Nurses

DETROIT (AP) — "It doesn't make sense. They've got too much to lose," said a fellow nurse of Filipina Narciso and Lenora Perez, who face charges of murdering five patients and poisoning 10 others at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor, Mich.

The indictment returned Wednesday by a federal grand jury in Detroit also charged them with conspiracy to commit first-degree murder.

The FBI said Miss Narciso, 30, of Ypsilanti, Mich., would be arraigned today in Detroit and Mrs. Perez, 31, of Evanston, Ill., in Chicago.

Miss Narciso still works at the Ann Arbor hospital and Mrs. Perez at a Veterans Administration Hospital in Chicago, where she transferred last fall. Both have been placed in clerical jobs.

At a news conference Wednesday, Jay E. Bailey, acting special agent for the FBI in Detroit, declined to discuss a possible motive for the poisonings.

Eleven patients died at the hospital last year from breathing failures. Investigators linked the deaths to the drug Pavulon, or pancuronium bromide, a curare-like, muscle-paralyzing drug which renders patients incapable of breathing without mechanical aid.

While official suspicion turned toward the two registered nurses almost as soon as the FBI started investigating the deaths at the Ann Arbor hospital, their friends and hospital coworkers call Miss Narciso and Mrs. Perez dedicated medical professionals and say they have been victimized by authorities.

"What gets me is that they put the finger on Leonie and P.J. but nobody has ever said that was the night both of them folded. Nobody ate all night. And Leonie just passed out. Then P.J. got so worked up ...

she started to get weak in the knees and faint and then ... she got sick to her stomach."

"P.J." is Oiss Narciso's nickname.

"The night" was Aug. 12, when there were eight respiratory arrests in one hour.

Both accused nurses were on duty when the eight cases suddenly overwhelmed the intensive care unit of the hospital. And both worked so long and hard they collapsed and fainted, said another nurse on duty then.

The two women are Philippine citizens in the United States, she worked for two years at the University of Alabama Hospital in Birmingham where she acquired the nickname "P.J."

Curt Branham, her landlord and neighbor, called her "a friendly, outgoing person." He said he believes the FBI took advantage of Miss Narciso's ignorance of the U.S. legal system in interrogating her repeatedly for two months before she and Mrs. Perez were persuaded by friends to get an attorney.

Mrs. Perez came to Evanston, Ill., five years ago and a year later she married another Filipino migrant, Epifanio A. Perez Jr. In 1972, the couple moved to Ann Arbor, where their son was born.

Spotted Fever Has Claimed Two Lives

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — usually peaks in May or June, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, a disease transmitted through ticks which has killed two persons in the state this year, appears in North Carolina more frequently than in any other state, according to the Communicable Disease Control Branch of the state Division of Health.

Dr. J.N. McCormick, head of the disease control branch, said 24 cases of the fever have been reported in North Carolina this year.

"At this point, it's impossible to say whether it will be a heavy or light year for the disease," McCormick said Wednesday.

"The spotted fever season starts in March each year and so we are well into the season now," he said. "It usually dies out in July or August."

McCormick said the deaths reported this year were in Ahsokie and Rocky Mount.

The number of cases reported as of May was above the average of 18 cases found through the same period in past years.

Deaths usually occur when victims fail to seek treatment, McCormick said, or when physicians fail to recognize the disease until body tissues are already severely damaged.

"Sometimes the early rash looks like rubella or measles," McCormick said, "and often accompanies a flu-like illness which can be mistaken for something else."

"If you have a tick bite and come down with a flu illness in about 15 days, that's awfully suspicious," he said.

Driver Charged In Accident

Howell Cobb Moss Jr. of Wilson was charged with following too close after investigation of an 11:02 a.m. collision yesterday on Fifth Street, 375 feet East of the Moyewood Drive intersection.

Police reported the Moss car collided with a truck operated by James Harold Justice Jr. of 1803 Battle St. causing an estimated $150 damage to the truck and $600 damage to the Moss car.

'Moonies' Lobby Congress

By LYNNE OLSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Well-scrubbed and smiling, young followers of the Rev. Sun Myung Moon are circulating in Capitol Hill, bearing gifts of flowers, fruit and ginseng tea and touting their messiah's ideas to congressmen.

Their spokesmen say the Moonies are there to spread the word of God. But critics say they are lobbying for the government of South Korea and mounting a public relations campaign for the Korean evangelist.

Their activities underline Moon's adeptness at blending his religion with politics.

"We cannot separate the political field from the religious world," he says. "Separation between religion and politics is what Satan likes most."

That philosophy would seem to run counter to the 1st Amendment to the U.S. Constitution which separates church and state — the very statute that makes investigating Moon's activities difficult, government officials say.

Moon's followers haunt congressional offices, buttonholing members and their staffs and trying to sell them on the movement.

A Moonie named Susan Bergman made it to the Hill summit, becoming friends with House Speaker Carl Albert. She used to chat with him in his office several times a week.

A spokesman for Moon's Unification Church insist that the young people are not lobbyists, but rather "spiritual witnesses" asking congressmen "to seek God's guidance in making decisions."

Neil Salonen, president of the Unification Church in the United States, has told Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., that Church members have "never approached a senator or congressman on a political issue, a single bill."

But one former Moonie told a House subcommittee staffer that a primary mission of the Moon supporters on Capitol Hill was to promote economic and military aid to South Korea.

The 56-year-old Moon has become a millionaire industrialist under the regime of South Korean President Chung Hee Park.

Several members of Congress and staff members think the Moon Capitol Hill effort has a more subtle purpose: to cultivate a favorable attitude toward Moon and South Korea among Congress and the public.

That goal is more important than ever now since Moon, his church and several related organizations are threatened with investigation by government agencies.

A House subcommittee on international organizations will hold hearings Tuesday on possible ties between Moon and his closest associate with the South Korean government, particularly the Korean CIA.

The Internal Revenue Service has indicated it might investigate the tax-exempt status of the Unification Church, which acknowledges assets of $20 million in the United States alone.

And the Immigration and Naturalization Service has been asked by Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., to investigate Moon's status as a permanent resident alien.

"If the Moonies can get members of Congress on their side, it gives them credibility with society and protection from government agencies," said a Senate staff member. "If they can say, 'This senator thinks we're great,' they think it might cause the IRS to back off."

Moon has had his picture taken with such senators as Strom Thurmond, James Buckley, Hubert H. Humphrey and Edward M. Kennedy. He then used some of the pictures in Church literature, implying he has the support of those members of Congress. That implication is totally false, spokesmen for the senators said.

A top assistant of one senator said he declined a Unification Church offer of an all-expenses trip to New York for the Moon Bicentennial Rally on June 1.

Ann Gordon, a former Moonie who worked on Capitol Hill last year, said 20 to 25 Church members were assigned a list of senators and congressmen to contact.

"PR members were to make gradual acquaintances and friendships with staff members and aides and eventually the congressmen and senators themselves, inviting them to a (hotel) suite ... where dinner and films or short lectures on Moon's ideas and accomplishments would be presented," Miss Gordon said. "All this effort is sort of an ongoing program by Moon to get political support for himself and the Chung Hee Park dictatorship in South Korea.

"We were told to be somewhat vague when dealing with Capitol Hill contacts in order to protect our presence there."

Miss Gordon said Susan Bergman was assigned to Carl Albert.

"When he toured Europe in the summer of 1975, she sent post cards ahead to each hotel on his itinerary, which she had gotten from his secretary," Miss Gordon said. "When Albert returned, he called her long distance ... to ask, 'Where is my friend Susan?'"

Miss Bergman's friendship with the speaker continued. Albert said that his friendship with the girl was innocent and that his opinions had not been swayed in any way by her.

Albert's press aide, Joe Foote, says he hasn't seen Miss Bergman recently around Albert's office, and Miss Bergman could not be reached for comment.

Moon once was quoted as telling a meeting of Unification Church directors, "Master needs many good-looking girls. He will assign three girls to one senator — that means we need 300. Let them have a good relationship with them. ... If our girls are superior to the senators in many ways, then the senators will be taken in by our members."

DELEGATE RACE — Chart shows the number of delegates at latest count by Democratic and Republican presidential nomination candidates. Jimmy Carter with 1,340.5, and in the close Republican race President Ford has 963 delegate votes and Reagan has 881; 159 are uncommitted. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Montreal Prepared For Tourist Swarm

By DALE MORSCH
MONTREAL (UPI) — This ancient center of Canada's French culture and gourmet capital of North America is gearing for one of its biggest tourist years, primarily because of the Olympic Games opening in July.

Of the 400,000 foreign visitors due here simply for the sports competition, many will be making a return trip to Montreal.

Along with the skeleton of Expo 67, the World's Fair staged on a small island in the St. Lawrence River, tourists will find some important changes.

Old, Gallic Montreal still is very much here, comprising the largest French-speaking city outside Paris.

So are glass and concrete skyscrapers, an underground city and massive inflation that puts prices in this city on a par with some of the great foreign capitals.

Gone are the days of a French haute cuisine dinner for two with wine for $40. Still, an excellent classical French dinner can be had for as little as $18 or $20 per person (including a moderately priced wine), compared with $100 or more (depending on your choice of wine) for haute cuisine for two in the more expensive restaurants.

Nevertheless, economic forecasters expect foreign visitors to spend about $450 million in 1976, or 25 per cent more in this Olympic year than they did in 1975.

Visiting Montreal while the Games are in progress may be a pleasant experience or a nightmare, depending on whether a traveler is able to find living accommodations. Visitors are being advised not to come unless they have confirmed reservations.

"Hotels in the downtown area are booked solid, and there's no use asking," said one Olympic housing official. "About the only chance now is for accommodation in private homes or rooming houses."

All housing, including rooms in homes, is controlled by Hebergement Quebec-Olympics 76, the official housing board known locally as HEQUO (pronounced ay-ko).

Not much time is left, but a prospective visitor can write HEQUO 76, 201 Cremazie St. East, Montreal, Quebec, Canada, or telephone (514) 873-1976.

For those lucky enough to get them, hotel rooms cost from $15 to $80 per day. Apartments range from $20 to $60, rooming houses, $5 to $25, private homes, $5 to $15 and student housing, $5 to $18.

Camping grounds and trailer parks abound in the Montreal region. Most have essential facilities, including water and electricity. The 18,375 available sites range in price from $3 to $8 per day for up to four persons.

Another major problem for visitors will be getting tickets for any of the Olympic events. Only lower priced tickets that range from $2 up remain unsold, and they are going fast.

Unsold tickets are concentrated at a single outlet in Montreal, 388 St. James St. West, where mail requests are handled.

Once the housing and tickets problem has been solved, visitors will have a sprawling city of three million to explore, an island metropolis of skyscrapers and underground plazas, of old stone houses and weathered cathedrals, of super-highways and old cobblestoned streets, of fast-food joints and some of the finest restaurants in North America.

Despite its renown for deep snow and subzero temperatures in winter, Montreal can be surprisingly hot in summer. With an average low of 75 degrees (Fahrenheit) to a high of 90 in July, visitors should arrive dressed not for blizzards but for heat.

Getting to Montreal by land, sea or air is a simple matter, but remember the crush and book ahead of time.

As headquarters of both the International Civil Aviation Organization and the International Air Transport Association, Montreal is a hub of world air travel. Thirty airlines serve its two airports, Dorval and the modern giant, Mirabel.

Only Canadian and U. S. flights are handled at Dorval on Montreal Island. A taxi, one way, is under $10. Bus from the Queen Elizabeth or Sheraton Mount Royal hotels is $2.75.

Mirabel International Airport, north of Montreal and a one-hour ride by bus, is a necessary trip for flights to and from Mexico and the remainder of the world. One way by bus is $5.

A taxi is faster, but costs about $25 with tip. Don't let the driver charge a flat rate, which will be more, and make sure he turns on his meter. Like any big city, Montreal has its share of money-hungry taxi-drivers.

Montreal is easily accessible not only through the St. Lawrence River that links the Atlantic Ocean and St. Lawrence Seaway to the Great Lakes; it also is open by rail and road into America's Northeast and the Midwest. A traveler who can get along without his car will be better off. Getting around Montreal and the region is not only easy, but cheap.

The Metro is the pride of the public municipal transport system. This super-quiet, brightly lit subway system is connected to the city bus network. For 50 cents a continuous ride, you can travel about anywhere in the city with transfer slips, changing from bus to Metro or vice versa.

Taxis are steeper, starting at 60 cents just to get in and 60 cents for each mile you ride. Once in the city, by far the greatest attraction will be the Maisonneuve Park in the east end, where the big showpiece of the summer Olympics is located, the Olympic Stadium complex. The park is only a 15-minute subway ride from the heart of downtown.

Included in the huge sports center is the 70,000-seat main stadium, a swimming center that will seat 9,000 persons and a velodrome to be used for cycling events to accommodate more than 7,000.

Olympic Village is not far from the stadium complex. This pyramid-shaped apartment building will house about 8,000 athletes and officials.

Montreal's star attractions include Mount Royal Park, 700 feet up the mountain above the city, and Old Montreal with its cobblestones, curb-side artists and musicians, sidewalk cafes and some of the better French restaurants.

Eating is one of the great pastimes in a city that has had more than 300 of its restaurants listed in guides to good food. French restaurants are touted as the best, with Chez Barde, Le St. Amable and Les Halles among the supreme, both in expertise and price.

For shoppers, Montreal is a paradise. Prices on the average are high compared with those in the U. S., including liquor, which is controlled by the government, and electrical appliances.

Visitors looking for souvenirs would do best to stick with Eskimo and Indian art, buying at the more reputable shops such as the Canadian Guild of Crafts at 2025 Peel St.

Antique shops abound and afford good buys if you know your antiques. Among the more interesting of these establishments is the Architectural Antique Shoppe in Old Montreal. It has a large collection of stained glass, carved stone and other art rescued from ancient buildings.
