

Beirut Evacuees On The Way To Athens

ABOARD USS SPIEGEL GROVE (AP) — The Spiegel Grove and its cargo of 267 American and other refugees from the Leganese civil war is steaming toward Athens today.

A holiday mood took hold soon after the 110 Americans and 157 evacuees of other nationalities climbed aboard the 510-foot LSD (landing ship dock) in the Mediterranean off Beirut on Sunday.

After a choppy, 25-minute ride from the beach in a landing craft, the refugees were served cold drinks and oatmeal cookies. The children found a play area penned off by cargo nets on deck. Adults peered through telescopes at their escort ships, talked with the sailors or sunned themselves as the 36-hour voyage to Athens began.

Less than 10 per cent of the American community in war-shattered Lebanon took advantage of the sea evacuation ordered by President Ford.

Ford ordered the sea rescue when it became clear early Sunday that continued fighting between Syrian and Palestinian forces south of Beirut made a road convoy to Damascus, Syria, risky. Ford and the National Security Council maintained an all-night vigil Saturday at the White House, receiving Pentagon reports on the evacuation, dubbed "Operation Fluid Drive."

Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld and three members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff were at the Pentagon, monitoring the progress of the operation.

At the other end of the long chain of command was Chief Bosun's Mate Glen R. Kennedy, 46, of Rhinelander, Wis., guiding the small landing craft to the Beirut dock to pick up the Spiegel Grove's passengers. They included two dogs, a cat and a parakeet.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford stayed up until after the evacuees were safely aboard the LSD at 5:12 a.m. EDT "to be ready to make whatever decision would have to be made if it did not go as smoothly as it did."

The U.S. government emphasized that the landing craft sent into the beach was unarmed. But a Navy spokesman said a five-ship amphibious group with 1,800 Marines and armor, artillery and helicopters aboard was standing by, "prepared to go in under fire" if ordered to do so.

Evacuee Vicki Ulrey of Greenwich, Conn., said she had "mixed feelings."

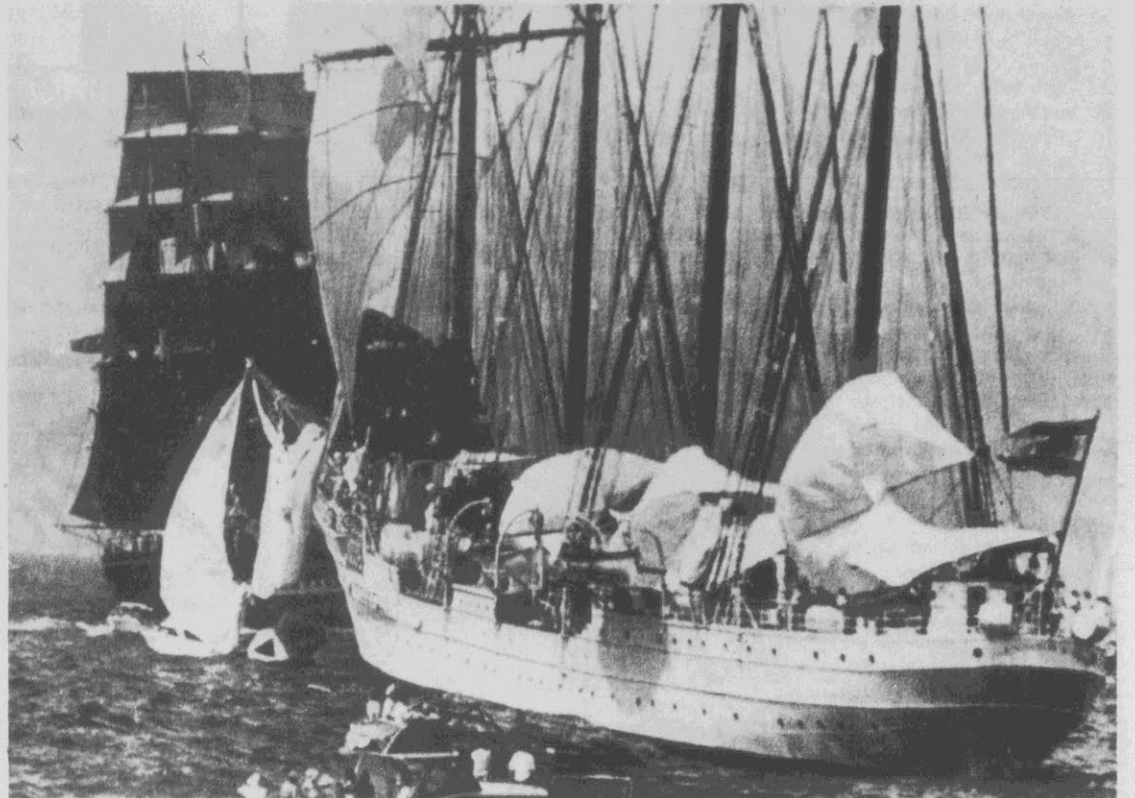

"There's an election going on in the United States, and it's certainly beneficial for President Ford to show firmness in a situation like this," she said.

"At the same time, I'm not cynical. I know the road has been cut. I just hope our going out in such a spectacular way won't jeopardize the Americans who are left here."

Ford ordered an evacuation for Americans arranged last week after U.S. Ambassador Francis E. Meloy Jr., his economic counselor and their Lebanese chauffeur were murdered as they were driving through the no-man's land between the Moslem and Christian sectors of Beirut.

Despite the murders, most Americans in Beirut did not want to leave because the war in the city has subsided. Many are of Lebanese birth.

Nessen said the U.S. government has no plans for more evacuations. A British diplomat in Beirut said his Embassy intends to try again to organize an overland convoy to Damascus when security conditions improve.

Mishap Among The Tall Ships

OUT OF THE RACE AFTER COLLISION — The Spanish topsail schooner Juan Sebastian de el Cano lies in the water off the Bermuda coast after colliding with the full rigged ship from Argentina, rear left, Sunday. The two ships collided at the beginning of the Tall

Ships Bicentennial Race from Bermuda to Newport, R. I. and the 350 foot Juan Sebastian de Elcano incurred a broken foremast and had to turn back to Bermuda, and the three-masted, 338-foot Libertad from Argentina suffered two torn sails, damaged lifeboats and a smashed port rail.

More Arab Troops Join 'Peacekeepers' In Beirut

By FAROUK NASSAR
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — About 1,000 Arab peacekeeping troops — many holding red roses as peace symbols — reached Beirut today and were assigned to reopen its airport and police a new cease-fire in Lebanon's civil war.

Flying white flags from side mirrors, 50 trucks marked "Arab Security Force" brought one Syrian and one Libyan battalion across the Syrian border and through south Lebanon to the outskirts of Beirut.

At least several hundred troops were seen taking up positions at the war-scarred Beirut airport after their nine-hour drive from Damascus. Some officers and soldiers wore white steel helmets with green stripes.

Syrian soldiers and their Saiga commando allies retained over-all control over the airport and southern approaches to the capital, leaving them face-to-face with the Palestinian guerrillas they have been fighting for three weeks.

A sharp machine gun battle erupted only an hour before the peacekeeping troops drove through a sensitive beach area south of Beirut where Palestinians and Saiga commandos have checkpoints.

Observers also noted half the peace force — supposed to replace Syrian intervention soldiers — was itself Syrian and the trucks were provided by the Syrian command in Damascus.

Wounded During Armed Robbery

An assault and armed robbery Sunday afternoon on Rt. 1, Winterville near Renston left William Daniels with a bullet wound in the side, it was reported by the Pitt Sheriff's Department.

Chief Deputy Brooks Oakley said that Daniels told officers he was shot in the left side with a small caliber pistol by a man he identified as "John" around 4:30 p.m.

Oakley, who noted that Daniels was treated and released at Pitt Memorial Hospital, said that Daniels also reported that $33 was taken from him in the assault.

Investigation of the incident, which took place on a dirt road near Renston, is continuing.

A Palestinian guerrilla spokesman said the force stopped over in Sidon, 25 miles south of Beirut, and then drove north along the Mediterranean into the capital's airport with a guerrilla escort.

State Grants Okayed

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled 5 to 4 today that states may make direct financial grants to church related colleges without violating the constitutional separation of church and state.

The justices in the majority split 3 to 2 as to the reasons for their decision.

The court upheld a Maryland program adopted in 1971 granting state money to private colleges and universities. Funds may not go to institutions which primarily award seminarian or theological degrees.

Before receiving a grant, the president of a college must verify that it will not be used for sectarian purposes. After a year, he is required to report on the use to which the money was put.

A three judge federal court in Baltimore upheld the program by a 2 to 1 vote in 1974.

Seventeen colleges receive money under the program. Three of them — Notre Dame and Loyola in Baltimore and Mount Saint Mary's in Emmitsburg, Md. — are affiliated with the Roman Catholic Church.

She Hollered, Assailant Fled

Pitt County deputies are investigating an assault that allegedly occurred at an area trailer park Sunday evening around 8 p.m.

Chief Deputy Brooks Oakley said that the assault victim told deputies she returned to her trailer around 8 p.m., ate supper and made a telephone call before going into a bedroom where a man came out of a closet and grabbed her.

She reported that she broke away from the assailant after a struggle, ran from the bedroom and hollered for help. The assailant fled when she began calling for help, she told deputies.

Oakley said that the victim was not injured in the incident.

Collisions Mar Start Of Tall-Masted Ships' Race

Similar strategies at the start of the Bicentennial race for tall-masted ships from Bermuda to Newport, R.I., apparently led to collisions involving seven of the sailing vessels, two of them among the largest in the flotilla.

Two of the square riggers were forced to quit the race and two sailors reportedly suffered minor injuries Sunday in the initial stage of the race by the 18 tall ships and some 90 smaller vessels.

The Providence (R.I.) Journal, which had two reporters covering the race, said the collisions occurred because many of the ships along the 1 1/4-mile starting line were trying to get as close as possible to the windward starting mark and then tack starboard.

"Everyone was pinching that windward mark," Coast Guard Lt. Tony Mink, commandant of the host ship Eagle, was quoted by the newspaper as saying. The Journal had a reporter aboard the Eagle.

Cmdr. Greville Howard, vice chairman of the Sail Training Association which organized the race, said the race committee would meet in Newport and issue a statement after evaluating reports from all the ships involved.

The passage to Newport is mainly an exercise for 3,000 sail training cadets from all over the world. The fleet is scheduled to leave Newport July 1 and sail to New York for the Operation Sail 1976 Bicentennial parade up the Hudson River.

One collision involved three ships. The 350-foot, four-masted Spanish topsail schooner Juan Sebastian de Elcano incurred a broken foremast and had to turn back to Bermuda, and the three-masted, 338-foot Libertad from Argentina suffered two torn sails, damaged lifeboats and a smashed port rail.

The Christian Radich, a 241-foot, three-masted full rigged ship from Norway reported no damage. Both the Libertad and the Christian Radich continued the race.

Capt. James R. Kelly of the Eagle said he narrowly avoided the three-ship collision about 50 yards from his bow.

The second serious collision involved the 178-foot Gazela Primeiro, a Portuguese vessel now owned by the Philadelphia Maritime Museum, and the 269-foot Romanian ship Mircea. The Gazela Primeiro reported that the top section of her mast was broken and she turned back. There were no reports of damage to the Mircea, which sailed on.

In a third mishap, the British frigate H.M.S. Eskimo and the 70-foot Italian yawl Stella Polare reported brushing each other, but both continued in the race.

State Employe Strike Begun; Termed Illegal

BOSTON (AP) — State prison guards, welfare workers and other state employes struck today in a dispute over wages in a new contract. The strike is illegal under Massachusetts law and Gov. Michael S. Dukakis said, "We'll be in court today."

Dukakis said he would seek an injunction to end the strike by 50,000 of the state's 65,000 employes. It was the first state-wide walkout by state employes in Massachusetts history.

Picket lines went up this morning at state office buildings and other state facilities. Rush-hour traffic was tied up on major arteries leading into Boston when state workers who

New Rioting In S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Fresh riots erupted in black townships today outside Pretoria, the South African capital, and in Johannesburg. Police said at least two persons were shot and killed.

Heavily armed black and white police backed by helicopters dropping tear gas moved into the troubled areas to cordon off the rioters and quell the violence. It came after three days of racial rioting last week that was the worst in the history of this segregated nation.

The government, in its first comprehensive report of last week's casualties and damage, said at least 128 persons were killed, 1,112 injured and 143 vehicles and 139 buildings burned or damaged.

The main Pretoria townships hit by today's unrest were Mabopane, Mamelodi and Atteridgeville.

A police spokesman said the rioting at Mabopane was apparently sparked when 170 black workers at the Klipgat waterworks struck for higher wages. Buses, cars and police vehicles were attacked by mobs who set some ablaze and pelted others with rocks. Schools were gutted.

Police said at least two persons were shot and killed as they looted stores. A white farmer said nearly 300 blacks stormed his home near the outskirts of Mabopane, stole about $3,300 from the safe, looted the house, set it afire and began killing livestock.

The disorder in Mabopane was earlier blamed on a protest against bus fare increases. At Atteridgeville, youths roamed about recruiting others to join them in stoning schools, liquor stores and offices.

OLYMPIC COINS

My husband has been ordering the Canadian Olympic coins. He got the second set in February, but these were not in mint condition so he returned them with a certified letter March 8. March 26 we received a card saying the coins had been received and a replacement would be processed. We've had no other word. If we can get all five sets, we would like to, but if not we'd like our $88 refunded. Mrs. G.E.

You report that your refund has been received about two weeks after Hotline wrote on your behalf. We explained your feelings about wanting the refund only if it were not possible to obtain all the sets. Apparently this was the case, so your refund was sent.

We regret that every person and agency which indicated that the magazines would be useful to them could not be recipients, also.

Greenville Man Chosen National Committeeman

John P. East of Greenville—a political science professor at East Carolina University—was elected as the National Committeeman from North Carolina and as one of 21 at-large delegates to the national convention, at the state Republican Party meet held in Greensboro Saturday.

East was unopposed for election to the four-year term as National Committeeman. He replaces 84-year-old J.E. Broyhill—father of Congressman James G. Broyhill—who stepped down after a quarter-century due to his age.

The ECU professor will serve on the Republican National Committee with Mrs. Betty Lou Johnson of Raleigh, who was elected National Committeewoman.

As members of the Republican National Committee, East and Mrs. Johnson will be serving on the body that has "a number of formal responsibilities," East explained.

The national committee, he said, is responsible for "administration and financing," the party, as well as the "selection of a chairperson of the National Republican Party... and more importantly... to give... policy direction..." so Republican candidates "might have some feel for representative grass roots sentiment of the people on the issues."

East was also selected as one of the 21 at-large delegates to the Republican National Convention to be held in Kansas City in August.

The 21 at-large delegates chosen Saturday will join 33 delegates selected by conventions in each of the 11 congressional districts.

Warns Jobs Bill Poses Greater Inflation Risks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats' proposed job bill would increase inflation and make full employment impossible, the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers charges.

Alan Greenspan said on Sunday that the Humphrey-Hawkins bill would "not create the type of jobs which are productive high-paying jobs with a future... It tends to create public service jobs which are largely jobs which have little if any future to them."

"It is a type of bill which would create an extraordinarily large amount of inflation," added Greenspan, who was interviewed with Treasury Secretary William Simon on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Simon said the key to providing more jobs is "to strengthen the private sector," which employs five out of six Americans. The Humphrey-Hawkins bill stipulates that the government should adopt fiscal policies and, as a last resort, create public jobs to reduce adult unemployment to 3 per cent by 1979.

Greenspan noted that the unemployment rate fell sharply from 8.9 per cent in May 1975 to 7.3 per cent last month. He said he expects the rate to fall under 7 per cent this year, but he predicted the decline will not be as "exceptionally sharp" as it has been recently.

However, Greenspan said the nation's economic recovery is solid and should continue through 1977, barring an upsurge of inflation.

On another topic, Simon said New York City has made headway recently in cutting its budget for fiscal 1976 and should begin repaying federal subsidies on schedule.

But he added that "some very serious questions" remain about the city's financial plans for 1977-78.

Simon said he did not think Philadelphia or any other city was in as deep a hole as New York because no other city "has borrowed to finance a deficit for such a long period of time."

Miss Joanne Tuten Weds Mr. Childs Sunday

Oakmont Baptist Church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Joanne Tuten to Vernon Gerald Childs Sunday at 4 p.m. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Gordon Conklin.

Miss Tuten is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rayfield Tuten of Rt. 1, Pinetown. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Virginia Childs, of Rt. 1, Grimesland.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of silkened organza over peau de soie, styled with a high colonial neckline, empire waist and bishop sleeves. The bodice featured a sheer yoke applied with Venise lace which continued down the front of the bodice and around the waist. Large appliques were applied on the sheer sleeves and around the wide flounce of the full floor-length skirt.

The bride wore a chapel length mantilla with two tiers of illusion. The mantilla was bordered with double rows of Venise lace and was attached to a Camelot cap covered with Venise lace and accented with rows of pearls. She carried a formal cascade of white miniature carnations, yellow roses and baby's breath, tied with satin bows with long streamers.

The maid of honor was Nancy Branch of Pink Hill. She wore a formal length gown of flowered print on a white background, designed with a scooped neckline and accented with a ribbon around the fitted bodice. The full length skirt featured a wide ruffled hemline. She wore a yellow picture hat and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies and baby's breath, tied with bridal satin.

Serving as bridesmaids were Mrs. Brenda Allison and Mrs. Nellie Cutler, both of Washington. Their dresses matched that of the maid of honor, with the same flowered print on a green background. They wore identical hats and carried identical bouquets.

Junior bridesmaids were Miss Karen Sullivan and Miss Pam Sullivan of Raleigh, nieces of the bride. They wore identical dresses of flowered print on a yellow background. They wore identical hats and carried identical bouquets.

Miss Robin McGowan of Bath, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was the same as that of the maid of honor. She wore a band of yellow daisies in her hair and carried a basket of yellow daisy petals.

Arden J. Hardee of Rt. 1, Grimesland, uncle of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Robert Whitfield of Macclesfield and Steve Hardee of Washington. Scott McGowan of Bath, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

MRS. VERNON GERALD CHILDS

Miss Dixon Taylor of Raleigh provided a program of organ music and sang.

Mrs. Becky Tuten of Bath, sister-in-law of the bride, directed the wedding.

The bride's mother chose a formal length dress in pale peach. The bridegroom's mother wore a formal gown of blue. Both wore carnation corsages.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is employed at Pitt Memorial Hospital as a radiologic technologist. She is a graduate of Bath High School and Beaufort County Hospital School of Radiologic Technology.

The bridegroom is self-employed as a building contractor in Greenville. He is a graduate of Grimesland High School.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall. Miss Diane Powell presided at the register. The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth and featured a centerpiece of white carnations and yellow roses, flanked by silver candelabra.

An after-rehearsal party was held Saturday night.

STORAGE NEWS

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Clothing to be stored for the summer should be sorted into color groups to prevent crocking or bleeding, says Sherri Gahrng, University of Minnesota Extension textiles and clothing specialist. She said moth proofing is necessary even for articles stored in cedar chests and closets. Clothing to be hung should be placed on wooden or plastic hangers for longer life.

Abby Offers Help For Abused Children

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for that 14-year-old girl whose father molested her: I hope you will take Abby's advice and tell your mother. If not, call the police whose job it is to protect young people with problems like yours. Or, look for "Children's Services" in your telephone book. If you can't find it, dial "O" and ask your operator to help you. And if there is a hotline or a crisis center service in your area, call them.

When I was a newspaper reporter a few years ago, I interviewed the Children's Services people and found them to be some of the nicest people I had ever met. If you just can't tell your mother, ask the Children's Services people to tell her for you. Their job is to see that children are helped out of danger.

Your problem is more common than you realize. Don't worry about what the Children's Services people will think. They have heard it all before. Please don't keep this secret locked up inside you. Abby cares. So do I.

EGGLESS TEACAKE

Readers who liked our no-egg Hoagy Cake have asked us for others of its kind.

1 1/2 cups flour, stir to aerate before measuring
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons apple pie spice

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 cup canned sweetened smooth applesauce
1 cup raisins
1/2 cup chopped (medium-fine) nuts

Stir together the flour, baking soda, salt and apple pie spice. Cream butter and sugar; add applesauce and beat to blend. Gradually add flour mixture, beating gently until smooth after each addition. Stir in raisins and nuts. Turn into a greased and floured 8 by 8 by 2-inch cake pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean, 45 minutes. Let stand on wire cake rack for 5 minutes; turn out on rack; turn rightside up. Or leave cake in pan and remove as cut. This is a sweet cake so it doesn't need a frosting.

Wells, Meeks Exchange Vows Sunday Evening

Miss Brenda Kay Wells and William Stuart Meeks were united in marriage Sunday at 3 p.m. in Trinity Free Will Baptist Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Jack Paramore.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie T. Wells Jr. of Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Meeks Sr. of Greenville.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Eloise Jackson, organist and Sammy Pittman, soloist, who sang "more" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Following the wedding vows, the bride's brother, Robert Wells, presented the couple with a family Bible, a gift from the bride's parents.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal length gown of ivory organza over ivory taffeta, featuring a Victorian neckline in antique lace trimmed in miniature Venise lace. The sheer bib effect was outlined in antique lace and Venise lace trim, centered with a panel of antique lace decorated with Venise lace daisies which extended from the neck to the waistline. The empire waistline was encircled with miniature Venise lace. Matching lace panels trimmed the full bishop sleeves. The modified A-line skirt and attached chapel length train repeated the panels of antique lace and miniature trim around the hemline and up to the waistline in back.

MRS. WILLIAM STUART MEEKS

The bride wore a fingertip illusion veil edged in antique lace and held in place by a Camelot cap featuring matching lace to complement her gown. She carried a cascade of yellow roses and sprays of ivy.

Mrs. Kathy McKeel of Greenville, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a floor length sleeveless dress of pastel blue which featured an A-line skirt with a square neckline. She wore a wide brimmed pastel blue hat encircled with navy blue velvet ribbon. She carried two long-stemmed yellow roses with white satin streamers.

The bridesmaids were Miss Trudy Whitehurst and Miss Phyllis Whitehurst, both of Greenville, and Mrs. Elaine Pugh of Manassas, Va., all cousins of the bride, Miss Shirley Jones of Greenville, cousin of the bridegroom, Mrs. Patricia Meeks of Raleigh, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Susan Carroll of Ayden.

Their gowns were identical to the gown of the matron of honor. Each wore a wide-brimmed hat and carried one long-stemmed yellow rose with yellow satin streamers.

The flower girl was Miss

Tiffany McKeel of Greenville, niece of the bride. She wore a pastel blue floor length dress, which featured diagonal pleats on the upper bodice at the neckline. She wore navy blue bows in her hair and carried yellow roses.

The ring bearer was Mike Whitehurst of Greenville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Whitehurst. He carried an ivory satin pillow with antique lace inserted around the edges.

The bridegroom's father was best man. Ushers were Bennie Meeks of Raleigh and Mitchell Meeks of Greenville, brothers of the bridegroom, Gene Vincent, Kenny Smith and Bobby Kittrell, and Trent Whitehurst, cousin of the bride, all of Greenville.

The mother of the bride chose a formal length dress of pastel blue featuring a sheer floor length flowered jacket. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue formal length dress with lace bodice and long lace sleeves. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow roses.

Mrs. Joye Singleton of Greenville directed the wedding. The church altar was accented with a heart shaped candelabrum centered with a bouquet of flowers. Two seven-branch candelabra were on each side of the altar and pews were marked with white satin bows.

After a wedding trip to the mountains of N.C., the couple will reside at Rt. 4, Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of Winterville High School and attended Mitchell's Hairstyling. She is employed at the Pitt County Department of Social Services. The bridegroom is a graduate of Rose High School and Pitt Technical Institute. He is employed at Ormond's Wholesale.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church fellowship hall. Presiding at the register were Mr. and Mrs. Danny Martin.

The refreshment table was decorated in blue, white and yellow, with bows attached to the corner of the table. Mr. and Mrs. Neal Baggett, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Whitehurst and Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis assisted in serving. Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mills.

An after-rehearsal dinner was given Saturday night by the bridegroom's parents at the Eastern Pines Community Building.

The Salvation Army Chapel was the scene of the wedding ceremony of Miss Sheryl Annette Langley and Keith Randall Gardner Sunday at 3 p.m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Capt. Wayne Langley of Washington, brother of the bride.

The daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Langley and the late Mr. Walter Langley, the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Jack Langley.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gardner of Greenville.

The bride wore a long taffeta gown trimmed with ruffled chantilly lace and iridescent sequins. The scooped neckline and apron style front were accented by a full length chapel train. Her three-tier tulle veil of chantilly lace and iridescent sequins complemented her bridal gown. The bride carried a formal cascade of white orchids interspersed with pink sweetheart roses and sprays of green ivy.

The matron of honor was Mrs. William Nichols of Farmville, sister of the bride. She wore a pink and white dotted swiss dress flounced with a flowing ruffle. The empire waist was trimmed with daisies. She wore a wide brimmed pink hat encircled by white satin ribbon. She carried a bouquet of mixed pink and blue flowers, tied with pink satin bows and long streamers.

The bridesmaids were Miss Angela Langley, sister of the bride, Miss Tamara Gardner, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Nancy Stancill and Miss Sandra Haddock, all of Greenville. Their gown were identical to that of the honor attendant and they carried long-stemmed mums. Flower girls were Miss Leigh Langley and Miss Amy Langley, nieces of the bride. They wore pink and white dotted swiss dresses flounced with flowing ruffles. Their white picture hats were identical to those of the bridesmaids. They carried baskets of mixed flowers enhanced by white streamers.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were Charles Langley and Ricky Langley, brothers of the bride, Tony Gardner, brother of the bridegroom, and Raymond Tripp, all of Greenville. The ring bearer was Dail Sutton of Ayden, who carried a white satin pillow.

A program of wedding music was presented by Guyla Corbett of Ayden, organist, Tony Smart who sang "Morning Has Broken" and "The Wedding Prayer," and Donnie Smith of Raleigh who sang "More."

The mother of the bride selected a mint green ensemble. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Mrs. Dolores Faulkner directed the wedding.

The church was decorated with a background of candelabra, greenery and two baskets of white gladioli. At the altar was a prie-dieu with greenery and white satin bows. The pews were marked with white satin bows.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Winterville.

The bride is employed by Clark's Department Store. The bridegroom is employed by Honeycutt Beauty Supply.

The bridal couple and guests were entertained at a reception in the fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. Hostesses were Mrs. Jack Langley, Mrs. Gene Langley and Mrs. Kenneth Langley.

Mrs. Wayne Langley presided at the guest register.

Marriage Announced

Mrs. Carrie Lee Mercer of Rt. 4, Greenville announces the marriage of her daughter, Mary Lou, to Ronald House, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur House of Rt. 1, Greenville. The wedding took place Saturday, June 12, at 5 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Mullins of Oak Grove Estates.

Recyclable And Recycled Are Not Synonyms For Each Other

NEW YORK (AP)—Is "recyclable" a synonym for "recycled"? No, says the National Association of Recycling Industries (NARI), warning the public to beware of being misled by shopping bags, containers, packaging and other paper materials that bear logos and slogans implying that they have been made from recycled fibers when they actually have not.

M.J. Mighdoll, NARI's executive vice president, says there has been an increase in recent years in the misuse and misdirection of symbols connoting recycling and such messages as "This is Recyclable."

Another way some firms confuse the recycling issue, the association claims, is to use such slogans as "Recycle This Paper" or similar phrases. Others, NARI says, actually misrepresent the recyclability of a product, implying that it can be recycled when it cannot.

"An item may be recyclable, but that does not mean it has been made from recycled materials," says Mighdoll. To genuinely serve the public interest in conserving natural resources and improving environmental management, NARI believes manufacturers should use maximum amounts of recycled materials in their products, he adds.

Many companies are striving

Stretch leftover cooked ham by using it in a casserole with cooked broccoli and a well-seasoned cream sauce. Sprinkle the top with bread crumbs or grated cheese (or a combination of the two). If the topping doesn't brown during oven-heating, brown it under the broiler; but make sure your casserole is broiler-proof.

to maximize recycled fiber content in their products and they legitimately use the recycling identification, Mighdoll says. Over 40, he points out, now subscribe to the "NARI Consumer Identification Program" by utilizing a symbol indicating that they use significant amounts of recycled materials in accordance with the association's criteria. In many cases, the symbol is accompanied by a line indicating the percentage of recycled fiber actually contained in the product.

Fashion Ploys Hide Wrinkles

Budget-minded aging women are finding substitutes for the super face lift, eye lift and even the economy size facial they can't afford.

They aren't even drowning their sorrows in wrinkle creams, astringents egg white skin tighteners or other endermic ministrations, temporary solutions that might do no more than exercise their hands.

Answers to wrinkles, sagging necks and plump arms are to be found in current fashion ploys — big eyeglasses, throat scarfs, bangs hairdos, new styles — available at store counters and on fashion racks.

Best of all, the same fashions are worn by younger girls.

For example, big fashion eye glasses that have been touted for their unusual frames and colors are really super wrinkle screens, concealing the horizontal lines at the bridge of the nose, vertical ones above the eyebrows and even little crows feet at the corner of the eyes.

Things Are 'Breaking Right'

Things seem to be breaking right for East Carolina University, if you want major athletic competition on the local campus.

There has been a gradual upgrading of football and other sports over the years. Now that seems to be accelerating. Just recently it was announced that a $2.5 million fund raising drive would get underway to expand Ficklen Stadium to over 30,000 seats.

But East Carolina faced a problem of possibly being excluded from Division I of the reorganization of NCAA football classifications. Only the elite football schools of the nation would go in this division and if ECU didn't make it scheduling the major powers would be more difficult. So a decision was made to withdraw from the Southern Conference.

Sooner than anyone expected, word came that East Carolina had been classified Division I, although the entire reclassification still has to be voted upon.

ECU would like to join the Atlantic Coast Conference but chances of that seem dim for now, so efforts are underway to organize a new conference. ECU, South Carolina, Southern Mississippi, Richmond, William and Mary and Virginia Military were represented at the meeting and Chancellor Leo Jenkins said there was an air of optimism. There are hopes of attracting such independents as Florida State, Virginia Tech and West Virginia to the possible new conference.

Whatever happens in regard to the organization of the new conference, it is doubtful that there will be any turning back from the commitment to a major football and athletic program at East Carolina University. It won't happen this year, but we can anticipate major universities bringing their athletic teams to the local campus and crowds of over 30,000 descending on the city on Saturday afternoons.

Board Should Recognize The Problem

Greenville School Supt. Glenn Cox recognizes the problems he has with the physical facilities of the city school system.

"Regardless of how the hole got there," he told the county commissioners "I'm in it and I need some help to get out."

The commissioners also received a petition signed by 2,100 people calling for reinstating a 20 cents and supplemental capital outlay in the Greenville School district.

The commissioners should act favorably on this. It is clear that the funds are essential for the city schools emergency situation.

THIS AFTERNOON

Bean Field Yields To Lab Father's Reminder Pad

By BILL NOBLITT
CLAYTON — It's a little short of awe inspiring.

Here, in what used to be a 77-acre soybean field in that fertile eastern Carolina area where Piedmont clay yields to Coastal Plain loam, a high-rise water tank ball suddenly dominates the horizon.

"Cutter" the words emblazoned on the tank proclaim, and sprawling across the flat land below is five and one-half acres under roof—the world's most modern laboratories for production of blood plasma materials.

A welcome sign at the door tells the story of what is happening in development of this state: nine languages greet visitors and company dignitaries to the site.

Worldwide

Inside, German, Spanish, Portuguese, Japanese, English words compete for attention as members of the Bayer corporate family gather to look at this latest addition to the worldwide chemical and pharmaceutical company. Cutter is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Bayer, headquartered in Berkeley. The parent corporation is headquartered in Leverkusen, West Germany.

Gov. James E. Holsouser spoke at the gathering of company officials.

This kind of development—skilled people working in gleaming laboratories producing something critical to world health—represents the best dreams for North Carolina's future, he told the group.

Further, located near the tiny farming town of Clayton in Johnston County, near to Smithfield and Selma, the new plant represents the ideal of bringing good jobs to people where they live—dispersing industry across the state instead of concentrating it in crowded urban areas, the governor reminded.

He didn't mind at all that on the remarks prepared for delivery by Professor Dr. Herbert Gruenewald, chairman of Bayer, the North Carolina governor was identified as "Holzhauser." After all, if North Carolina is going international, some changes are due.

Dr. Gruenewald termed the Clayton Plant "a newly assembled group of people, charged with producing delicate and sensitive life-sustaining products under some of the most complex and sophisticated processes known today," and credited Johnston County leaders with proving with industry and community can work together to benefit both.

Each Benefits

Employing some 170 people, the Clayton plant imported a number of skilled scientists, and provided jobs for a number of Johnston County people. The benefits work both ways: the newcomers will broaden and diversify community life; Carolinians can look forward to future years when newly acquired skills can find a market at home.

Within the scrupulously constructed, gleaming human plasma fractionation laboratory, the striking contrast to dirt farming becomes even starker.

Employees clad in surgical garb and enclosed in white helmets and coveralls peer about their duties.

Even security guards gleam in overall white; their black belts and holsters standing out in sharp relief giving a James Bondish mood to the atmosphere.

Inside the plasma separation room, stainless kettles and centrifuges compete with color-coded pipes carrying sterile air, water and steam to their various places. Across the way, test laboratories monitor products and prepare the stacks of reports required to guarantee safety for human use.

From the laboratory comes several blood derivatives used medically to replace lost compounds in the blood of persons sick or wounded. The future may see other medical products and pharmaceuticals coming from Clayton, North Carolina.

As company officials put it, North Carolina provides the location, closeness to universities and the fertile scientific atmosphere of the Research Triangle Park; "Cutter's experience... at Clayton has confirmed the decision to count on North Carolina as an ideal place to locate and grow."

Other Editors Say Finley Isn't Crazy

REGARDLESS of how one might feel about Charles O. Finley, no one can really blame him for selling those three baseball players for $3.5 million. All three were playing for the Oakland club with unsigned contracts. This is a fairly new rule in baseball that works this way: If you are not satisfied with the salary offered to you by the club that owns your contract you can play out an option year at a reduced salary, and at the end of that year become a free agent. In another three months Joe Rudi, Rollie Fingers and Vida Blue would have become free agents, and of no value to the Oakland club owner. A couple of years ago Finley had lost "Catfish" Hunter in a salary dispute. Earlier this year he had traded Reggie Jackson and pitcher Ken Holtzman to Baltimore because they were playing out their options.

Now it appears that Hunter, Blue and Holtzman will all be pitching for the New York Yankees, and that almost assures the New York Club a pennant. These three pitchers have won over 50 games a year for the past several years, and Oakland's loss is New York's gain. Money isn't everything, but in these days of new rules for all professional teams, it is better than a scouting system or a good manager or any of the other ingredients that used to be necessary to have a winner.

If you owned a stock that was worth 3.5 million, and you knew four months from now it would be worth nothing you would be a fool not to unload it today. News stories and TV reports about Finley's action have been very critical about the selling of the players. Not a word of criticism has been directed toward players who quite possibly could be demanding more than they are really worth so that they can personally sell their services to the highest bidder at the end of the season.

Baseball is no longer a game. Neither is professional basketball nor any of the other professional sports. Both the owners and the players may have been a little "bull headed" in the past. The extreme action taken by Charlie Finley could wake up everyone. It certainly gives the fan an opportunity to re-evaluate his support of his favorite professional sport. If things continue at their present pace, he will lose interest. Both the club owners and the players are killing "the fans that gave them the golden egg" in the first place. Enough said!

THE INSIDE REPORT

The 1971 Plot That Failed

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — House Speaker Carl Albert was made the agent of an undercover attempt by the Nixon administration in late 1971 to destroy the effectiveness of a Greek expatriate whose lobbying against the military dictatorship in Athens infuriated the Nixon high command.

This effort failed only because top officials in the State Department found out about it. They ordered withdrawal of a malicious, unsigned memorandum which had been sent to Albert and issued a private apology to the designated victim, Elias Demetracopoulos. The memorandum on plain white paper was drafted by State and Central Intelligence Agency bureaucrats.

The episode, reminiscent of other covert political operations in the 1971-1972 Nixon White House, can now be brought to light because Albert has announced his decision not to run for reelection. Those involved refused to discuss the affair earlier because of possible reprisals from the office of the Speaker, the third highest government official.

The failed effort involved, directly or indirectly, White House legal counsel John Dean, U.S. Ambassador Henry Tasca in Athens, an implacable foe of Demetracopoulos, Nixon fund-raiser and confidant Thomas Pappas, a rich Greek-American with in-imate ties to the military junta and who was under attack by Demetracopoulos, and lesser figures.

For the Nixon White House, it ended on Dec. 29, 1971, shortly after the memorandum was ordered withdrawn. On that day, a highly unusual, written explanation of the aborted effort, said by White House operatives to have been unsigned, was sent already to Dean in the White House from the State Department. It reviewed the campaign against Demetracopoulos and stated that, no matter how controversial he was, no case could be made against him. Moreover, it warned that the intended victim was considering a libel suit against the U.S. government for the anonymous memorandum which could prove extremely embarrassing.

For Demetracopoulos, however, the affair did not end until he had extracted a grudging letter from Albert fully seven months later. The Speaker told Demetracopoulos that "a routine inquiry (to the State Department) by a member of my staff" had triggered the memorandum. Albert said his office had sought the background information because Albert had been informed "you might be seeking an appointment at some future date."

In fact, Demetracopoulos first met Albert in the mid-1950s. He had seen him many times between then and December 1971, and had brought high parliamentary leaders of Greece, banished from office during the junta's rule, to the Speaker's office to meet Albert.

Thus, Albert was the victim of a set-up by the administration which wanted the most prestigious congressional figure possible to make the request for background information on Demetracopoulos. When he or his staff complied, the memorandum calculated to destroy the effectiveness of Demetracopoulos was quickly sent to Capitol Hill. The clear purpose: to have it widely distributed, under the imprimatur of the Speaker. Two copies of the memorandum were taken to the House, one for Albert, the other for the House International Relations Committee, which had not asked

THE NATURE OF FAITH

Some people think of religious faith as if it meant simply believing a religious truth. Faith involves belief, but it is vastly more than belief. Religious faith which does not manifest itself in better conduct and the improvement of one's moral character is not faith at all but a delusion which misleads the one who entertains it. The poet Coleridge expressed the matter when he wrote:

"Think not the faith by which the just shall live
Is a dead creed, a map correct of heaven,
Far less a feeling, fond and fugitive.

A thoughtless gift, withdrawn as soon as given.
It is an affirmation and an act
That bids eternal truth be Present fact."

Uneven Advances By Economy

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — At midyear the economy continues to move ahead, at least as measured by the popular indicators, but with an irregularity and inconsistency that provokes doubts from time to time.

Alan Greenspan, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, recently raised his forecast of real growth for the year to 7 per cent, a significant increase of about 1 per cent over earlier forecasts.

Although private forecasts tend to be a bit lower than Greenspan's, he is not alone by any means. The Wharton Economic forecast, issued this month, foresees a rise in Gross National Product of 6.6 per cent for 1976.

But while assurances of this sort circulate, the presence of relatively high rates of interest, inflation and unemployment prevent any euphoria. A poor housing market and a stalled stock market add to the insecurity.

A prominent broker recently issued an analysis that was remarkable in its simple conclusion: Perhaps the inability of the stock market to move ahead is a reliable forecast of an economy that will find progress difficult.

Some consumers apparently feel that way. After a surge of retail buying earlier this year they have settled back into a wait and see attitude, made hesitant by the reappearance of some hefty price increases.

The surveys of consumer sentiment pretty well document the likely attitude of shoppers if inflation threatens to get much worse: They will simply stop buying. They are not eager to go through it all over again.

What certainly must bother a great number of Americans is the continued presence of old problems and the inability of anyone to do much about them.

Housing is a perfect case. The industry has had very little success in curbing rising prices, which now have put home ownership far beyond the ability of many middle-class couples. And the government has been no more successful.

More pervasive even are the problems of unemployment and inflation. While certain statistics proclaim recovery, these two measures of the nation's wellbeing remain at levels that heretofore would have suggested deep recession.

Statistically, the economy appears to be performing well if you restrict your measurements to such items as output and inventories. Include in your analysis such concerns as inflation and unemployment and it seems to be doing less well.

And should you be among the large numbers who feel they are not participating in the recovery, you might ask "what's all this talk of prosperity about?"

Carter Factor In N.C.

By ROBERT B. CULLEN

Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — George Wallace, when he still had presidential ambitions, used to talk a lot about the type of people who supported him.

They were the farmers and the mill workers, the beauty shop operators and the "average working man."

They did not, he said, go to party caucuses, or lobby in legislative halls, or demonstrate in the streets. They were too busy trying to raise their families and pay their taxes.

Wallace exploited their anger in successive presidential elections. Until Jimmy Carter came along, the Wallaceites were numerous enough to make their candidate a major force in the South and the nation.

The truth of Wallace's descriptions of his constituents can be seen in a detailed look at the Associated Press survey of North Carolina's 61 convention delegates.

The survey asked, in addition to political preferences, questions about age, sex, income, education and occupation. It showed that the delegation, as a whole, was much different from the average North Carolinian.

In a state where only 6 per cent of the citizens have completed college, 33 of the 61 delegates had college degrees. In a state where per capita income ranks 41st in the country at less than $5,000 per person, 32 of the delegates come from households with incomes of more than $25,000.

Breaking down the data, it becomes apparent that the Wallace delegates are much closer to the state's average than the Carter group.

There are 36 delegates picked from Carter's approved list. Of that group, 21 are college graduates; 21 (not necessarily the same 21) come from households in the income bracket of $25,000 or more.

On the other hand, 14 of the 25 Wallace delegates had household incomes below $25,000. Thirteen of the 25 had not finished college.

The Wallace delegation was not, of course, representative in other ways. It had no blacks in a state where 22 per cent of the population is black. It had just one woman (at the large group of six was chosen, with four women among them).

But despite those factors, it clearly drew more of its people from the ranks of North Carolina's average citizens than did the Carter group.

These are the people over whom the political battles of the next decades will be fought. The party that commands their loyalty will control the South.

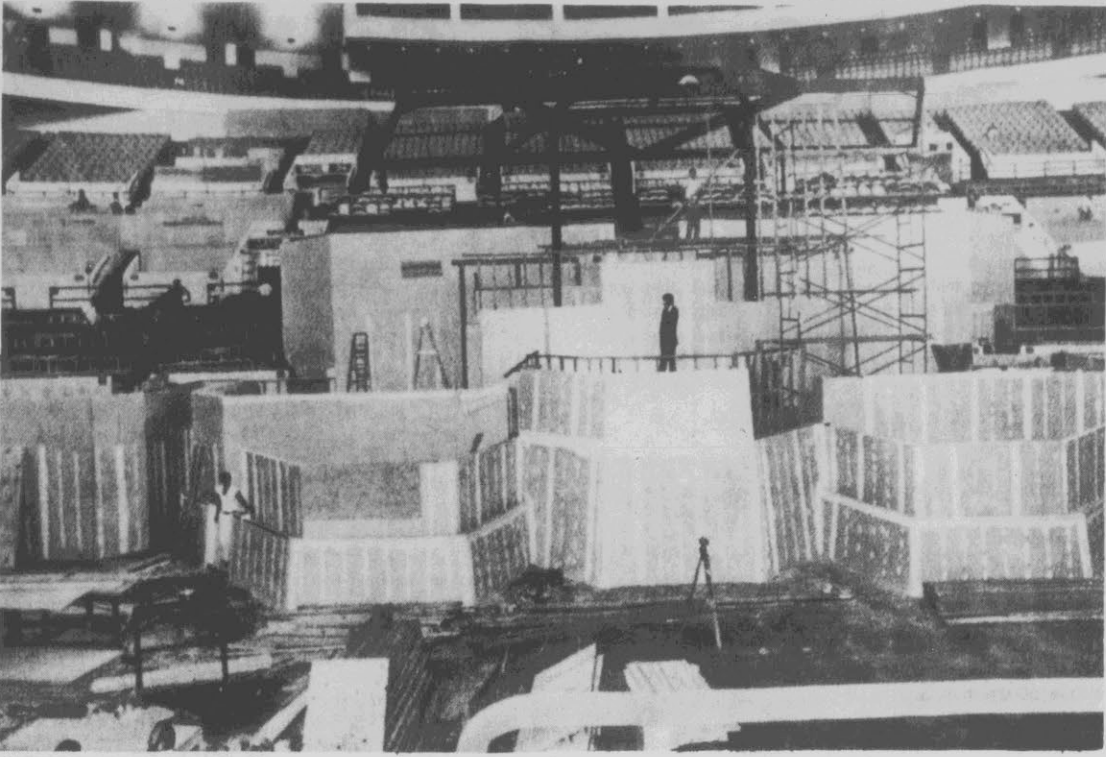

That party will not necessarily be the Democrats, even though it appears now that Carter has won the support of a wide range of Southerners.

The Wallaceites showed how independent and cantankerous they can be when it came time to vote for a chairman for the convention delegation.

Sen. Robert Morgan, D-N.C., was running. He is the state's highest elected Democrat. His past record and political affiliations included strong links with the Wallace people and their philosophies.

But Morgan did not get the support of any of the Wallace group, and he therefore lost the election to state chairman

Retired Servicemen's Medical Program Eligibility Affected

Changes made by the Department of Defense in the CHAMPUS medical program for retired servicemen, their dependents, depends on deceased retired servicemen, and those dying while on active duty has caused persons living in Greenville to no longer be eligible for hospital care in a local facility unless treatment is not available at Seymour-Johnson Air Force Base Hospital, Goldsboro, N.C.

Effective February 9, 1976, the Seymour-Johnson Hospital was directed to serve all eligible persons residing within 40 miles of that hospital. As Goldsboro is 49 road miles from Greenville, it was first thought that this change would not affect persons in the Greenville area; however, the official map area is measured in air miles from Seymour-Johnson Field (2 miles east of Goldsboro) which causes Greenville to be just within the 40 mile area.

The 40 mile radius area enters Pitt County west of Vanceboro and runs east of Calico and Shelmerdine. At Greenville it runs east of the new US 64 Bypass, crossing US 13 approximately at the NC 903 intersection. The arc then continues in a northwesterly direction, leaving Pitt County approximately 3 miles south of Conetoe.

All persons living within this arc must apply to Seymour-Johnson Hospital for hospital treatment. If treatment is not available at Seymour-Johnson, the hospital commander will issue a "statement of non-availability" and the eligible person may then enter a non-military hospital, and the CHAMPUS agent will pay 75 percent of the charges.

Persons living outside the arc will not be required to secure the "statement of non-availability" before entering a non-military hospital, and the recent directive caused no change in their entitlement.

Emergency treatment may be afforded by a local hospital without the necessity of securing a non-availability statement, however, the attending physician should attach a statement to the claim, giving the diagnosis and circumstances surrounding the emergency admission.

The Seymour-Johnson Hospital is a 30 bed facility, with some additional capacity which can be used. Presently, the hospital has specialists in Internal Medicine, General Surgery, Gynecology, General Medicine, and Pediatrics.

Sentenced For Tax Evasion

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A Winston-Salem school teacher has been sentenced to a one-year suspended prison term and a $1,000 fine for income tax evasion.

Robert L. Durrah was sentenced June 18 by Judge Eugene Gordon, Middle District Court. According to the Internal Revenue Service, he pleaded guilty to submitting 13 altered checks during an audit of his 1972 Federal income tax return.

Durrah was placed on probation for three years. He will be required to repay all taxes owed the Internal Revenue Service.

Already some eligible persons have incurred hospital bills which cannot be paid by CHAMPUS (administered by Blue Cross-Blue Shield in North Carolina). Many other eligible persons not covered by civilian hospital insurance no longer have a choice of professional staffs.

Some eligible persons affected by this change have elected to take out civilian insurance policies to alleviate the necessity of having to leave their dependents hospitalized 47 miles from home; however, even this course presents problems because of expense, pre-existing conditions excepted, etc.

W. L. Tucker, District Officer of the local N. C. Division of Veterans Affairs Office suggests that all eligible persons should note this change in the CHAMPUS regulations.

Tucker emphasized that there has been no change in the CHAMPVA program, administered by the Veterans Administration, and that eligible persons entitled under the CHAMPVA program could continue to receive treatment in local hospitals, as in the past.

Any person who might have any questions about the recent change should contact O. L. Moore or W. L. Tucker at the local NCDVA District Office located in the Tipton Annex on Greenville Boulevard.

James Sugg, the reason, apparently, is that Sugg had stroked the Wallaceites and Morgan had not.

Over the past four years, Sugg had diligently tried to be fair to the Wallace group, even though many established Democrats viewed them as pariahs. He invited Wallace to speak at a party function. He visited the Wallace leaders in their homes.

In short, he made them feel wanted and respected.

The political party which can do the same is likely to lead the South in the years to come.

for it but where it was assumed there would be widespread distribution. A committee staffer, shocked by the anonymous document, gave it only to Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal of New York, chairman of the European subcommittee.

Similarly shocked, Rosenthal asked congressional Assistant Secretary of State David Abshire why the State Department would lend itself to anonymous charges against Demetracopoulos that were probably libelous, and circulate them on Capitol Hill. Abshire, caught unawares, discussed the matter with Deputy Undersecretary of State William B. Macomber and they immediately ordered the two copies of the memorandum retrieved.

On Jan. 31, Abshire wrote Demetracopoulos what amounted to an unusual official apology. The man who ran congressional affairs for the State Department wrote that he had not "seen, approved or even heard of the paper prior to its very limited distribution" and that the department could not stand behind "a memorandum containing questionable material."

The last chapter in this plot against the man who had come to be regarded as a dangerous gadfly by Mr. Nixon's advisers was the most revealing: the report to John Dean, recipient of so many undercover reports in those days of the White House plumbers, explaining why this particular plot had failed.

how to keep cool economically

Much of your summer electric bill goes into keeping you cool, if you have an air conditioner. One of the simplest and easiest ways to cut cooling costs is to set the thermostat on your air conditioner to a higher setting. You can save approximately 5% of the energy used for each degree of cooling you give up.

Make sure your window air conditioner gets good air distribution both inside and outdoors. This lets it do its job more easily, using less energy. Don't bury the unit in shrubbery or cover it with draperies while it is operating.

Clean the filter regularly, at least once a month. The filter traps airborne dust and dirt particles as well as many large-size pollen particles, but cannot do its job effectively if it is dirty. Washing or vacuuming the filter regularly will keep your home cleaner and will allow a free flow of air through the unit, allowing it to operate at top efficiency.

Whenever possible, run the fan without using the cooling portion of your unit.

Just as insulation saves on your heating bill by keeping warmth in, good insulation also pays summer dividends by keeping heat out.

Weather sealing the window installation can also help reduce operating costs as can the use of blinds, shades or awnings on the windows to keep direct sunlight out of the house.

If your home is not air conditioned, you can keep cool economically by using fans, attic ventilators and natural ventilation.

Italians End 2 Days Of Voting

By MICHAEL J. DUFFY
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — Italians completed two days of voting today and began counting ballots that will determine whether the Communist party won the backing it needs to press for a place in the government of this member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nation.

Returns in the senate race, where 315 seats are at stake, were counted first.

First significant returns were not expected for at least four hours after the polls closed at 2 p.m. (8 a.m. EDT), but the state-run Italian television for the first time planned to give projections based on a sampling by the DOXA polling organization.

With Sunday's weather perfect for the beach, 76.3 per cent of the 40.4 million eligible voters cast ballots, compared to the 78.9 per cent during the first day of the national election.

Figures for today's participation were not immediately available. Persons who didn't vote ran the risk of being fined, but such action is unlikely despite compulsory voting.

The campaign was punctuated with violence, including the assassination of a district attorney in Genoa and three other deaths. But the most serious incidents Sunday were a fire at one polling place caused by short circuit and an 18-year-old policeman accidentally shooting himself in the leg.

The Communists, riding a crescendo of dissatisfaction with the grave economic situation and charges of corruption in government, hoped to bridge the gap of two percentage points that separated them from the ruling Christian Democrats in nationwide regional elections last year.

The Communists won a third of the votes then, and the combined vote of the Communists, Socialists and other leftists was 47 per cent. The Socialists dropped out of the center-left coalition government and demanded a role in the government for the Communists, leaving the Christian Democrats without a majority in the Chamber of Deputies and forcing the national election a year early.

The Christian Democrats proclaimed the election a referendum between freedom and communism. The Communists said the choice was between continued economic crisis and scandals or a change to the left.

Communist party chief Enrico Berlinguer sought to reassure doubters with pledges of respect for democracy and loyalty to NATO. But the U.S. government and other anti-Communist regimes feared that a Communist victory would endanger Italy's place in NATO and could lead to Communist gains in France.

At stake were 630 seats in the Chamber of Deputies and 315 in the Senate. None of the nine parties was expected to win a majority, and it could be weeks before the forging of the coalition that will become Italy's 35th postwar government.

It was the first national election in which persons 18 to 25 years old were allowed to vote. There are 5.5 million of them, or 13 per cent of the total, and opinion polls indicated the majority of them were oriented to the left.

Women, who outnumber male voters by 1.5 million, were courted by all of the parties with special zeal. They have traditionally given their support to the Christian Democrats, who got 60 per cent of the women's vote in 1972. But the resounding defeat of an attempt by the government party and the Vatican last year to revoke the divorce law was attributed largely to women, and many of them have been angered this year by the Christian Democrats' refusal to agree to a liberal abortion law.

New Orbit Slated For Martian Prober Today

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Viking 1, which has completed its first sweep around Mars, was scheduled to have its orbit narrowed today so the spacecraft can probe its scheduled July 4 landing site for potential hazards.

Sunday Saw 3 Accidents

An estimated $4,350 property damage resulted from a series of three collisions investigated by Greenville Police Sunday.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 5:23 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Hooker Road involving cars driven by Teresa Pulley Strickland of Tarboro and Gary Michael Bland of Route 1, Hobgood.

Investigators, who charged Bland with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety, estimated damage at $1,800 to the Strickland car and $750 to the Bland auto.

No charges were reported in connection with the two other collisions.

Police said cars driven by Stephen Ward II of 119C Lakeview Terr. and Doris Boyd Harris of 107 F. Lakeview Terr. collided about 5:50 p.m. on Kennedy Circle, 500 feet North of the Skinner Street intersection causing an estimated $1,000 damage to the Ward car and $500 damage to the Harris vehicle.

Vehicles operated by Judy Carol Stroud of Route 7, Kinston and Anne Cheek Sutton of 104 Lamond Rd. collided about 6:15 p.m. on Greenville Boulevard, 1,000 feet East of the Memorial Drive intersection.

Damage from that collision was set at $300 to the Stroud car. No damage was reported to the Sutton vehicle.

Earth-bound controllers prepared to fire Viking 1's onboard engines at 1:43 p.m. EDT and whittle its orbit from a 42.3-hour path around the planet to one corresponding to the number of hours in a Martian day — 24 hours and 37 minutes.

The spacecraft was made ready to fire its rocket engine on reaching a point 940 miles above the site where its robot laboratory lander will set down on America's birthday.

At about 2 p.m. EDT Tuesday, Viking will begin a photographic session that will last until landing day. Using stereo cameras that produce three-dimensional images, the spacecraft will scan the ancient valley for any hazards that could damage the lab when it descends to the surface.

The predetermined site is thought to be smooth and gently rolling.

The craft also will be using infrared equipment to check for temperature differences across the Martian surface and water content in its atmosphere.

In its new elliptical orbit, Viking's distance from the planet will vary from 930 miles to 20,000 miles.

Viking 1, which has a companion ship following 10 million miles behind, arrived near Mars on Saturday, fired a 38-minute braking burst and swung into orbit. Mission officials at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here said the maneuver was precise, "as if it had been following a textbook."

"After eight years, we're finally in orbit," said Jim Martin, manager of the Viking project that officially began in 1968. Mission director Tom Young noted that the flawless orbit maneuver following a 440-million-mile trip from earth was a "significant feat," but only a first step in Viking's search for life on Mars.

Certifying the landing site as safe for touchdown — a process taking at least 10 days — was to have started Sunday, according to the original plan. But a mechanical problem — since solved — forced controllers to send Viking into a larger first orbit that would not put the ship into position for starting its observations until Tuesday.

Nevertheless, Young said, "We feel confident we have the proper time-line" to survey the site. "If we are not satisfied with the data," he added, "we will delay the landing if that is the safe and proper thing to do."

Await Autopsy In Death Probe

Chief Glenn Cannon said today that there have been no new developments in connection with the death of Mrs. Ledonia Smith Wright, 46, whose body was found floating in the Tar River here Saturday.

The chief said investigators are awaiting the results of an autopsy to determine the cause of death.

Mrs. Wright was last seen walking from her Stratford Arms apartment June 13.

Ed Asner Riding Crest Of 6 Successful Years

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fifteen years ago, Edward Asner landed in Hollywood — and the unemployment compensation line. Today he is one of the town's most recognized faces. Not bad for an actor who by his own admission is fat, balding and middle-aged.

He is riding the crest of six solid years of "The Mary Tyler Show," which might have typecast him forever as the gruff but gold-hearted boss. Except that this season he also appeared as the embittered father of the Jordah boys in "Rich Man, Poor Man" and won new respect — and an Emmy — for his rounded talent.

"I said it all in my acceptance speech," Asner reflects. "The fact that I succeeded reminded people of what an actor is supposed to be. I was glad to be the bearer of that telegram."

He succeeded in a role that might easily have become the cliché of the brutal father.

"People asked why I would play such a mean son of a ——" the actor said. "They weren't looking beneath the viciousness and cruelty to see the man as he really was."

"Axel was not exactly an all-American sweetheart. But when you considered the indignities that life had inflicted on him, you saw that he was bigger than a lot of the petty persons who surrounded him. He might have been a different person if he hadn't been forced to eat rats in Hamburg, if he hadn't committed two murders to survive, if he hadn't married a frigid wife."

And so, with "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" facing its seventh and apparently last season, Ed Asner is much in demand for a variety of roles. Yet he may be facing more years as Lou Grant, the hard-headed newsman.

The people at MTM Enterprise are dreaming up a new series to star Asner after Mary, Ted, Lou, Murray, et al, put their last newscast on the Twin Cities channel and vanish into reruns. The series is being planned by James Brooks and Allan Burns, who have guided "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" from the beginning.

"We're having talks this week," said Asner. "Right now they're shooting for an hour show. The idea is to do a good dramatic show with comedy asserting itself wherever it can be used."

"It's possible that we'll continue with the same character. The strength of Lou Grant and the possibilities of journalism make a good combination to start with. It may be that Lou will return to his first love, newspapers."

There's little doubt that Ed Asner can carry a show on his two strong shoulders, but he has misgivings on two scores. One is changing from a live audience show to one played before camera and crew only. "I'm worried about saying goodbye to the live audience; the immediate response is such a reward for an actor in a three-camera show."

His second concern is personal. "I've seen what happens to stars of hour shows; they're not 'fun people.' Being a family man (wife Nancy, twins Matthew and Liza, 12; daughter Kate, 10), I'm concerned about the commitment of time."

Bruised, But Choir Sings

BOSTON (AP)—Their bodies bruised but their voices cheerful, a North Carolina church choir sang in Boston as planned, despite injuries suffered when their chartered bus overturned on the trip north.

"We had a glorious service," said Dr. Harold L. Timberlake, pastor of the New Hope-Granville Missionary Baptist Church of Oxford, N.C., after the group sang Sunday morning and afternoon at St. John's Missionary Baptist Church here.

Two of the 42 North Carolinians were hospitalized in fair condition in New Haven, Conn., where the accident occurred Saturday, and three choir members flew home complaining of back and neck injuries.

New Haven hospitals treated 27 others for minor injuries before they continued to Boston, where several sang wearing neck braces and one had his arm in a sling.

Their bus went out of control in heavy rain and fog on an exit ramp of Interstate 95 in New Haven Saturday morning, struck a sign post and flipped over, officials said.

A spokeswoman for Yale-New Haven Hospital said Lola Thornton, 57, of Oxford, N.C., was in surgical intensive care with chest injuries and Timberlake's wife Ruth, 57, of Durham, N.C., had suffered abdominal injuries.

worth of carpeting.

You've got a lot riding on us.

We moved a lot of carpeting in 1975. We estimate that the market value for the carpeting shipped amounted to $391,623,376.

Economy is the biggest reason carpeting companies and so many others choose rail. Consider these figures for the thousands of things shipped by rail each year. The average cost per-ton-mile by truck is three times as much as by rail. Air shipping is forty times the price.

And the fuel crunch has made railroad efficiency more than just a matter of dollars and cents. It's a matter of delivering the goods with the smallest possible use of fuel.

When you put all this together with the reliability of rail shipping you have a good idea why there's so much riding on us. And why you need Southern.

So next time you have a carpet delivered to your house, remember we probably delivered it first.

Multinational Firms Are Supported By Kissinger

PARIS (AP)—Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger defended multinational corporations today and called for encouragement of their operations.

"The imperatives of interdependence" require an open international trade and monetary system in the West and the encouragement of investments by big international corporations, Kissinger said in a speech prepared for delivery to the 24-nation Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

"A few notorious cases of illicit payments have stirred apprehension that cast a cloud over the overwhelming majority of international firms whose behavior has been beyond reproach," he said.

He advocated voluntary guidelines for multinational firms and clearer government rules. These guidelines are expected to be approved at the current OECD meeting.

Kissinger also appealed to the other industrialized nations to adopt a common approach in trading with the Soviet Bloc.

He said a coordinated policy could facilitate the flow of Soviet oil to the West, whose imports will increase up to 10 million barrels a day by 1985.

Growing East-West trade "presents hopeful prospects, both economic and political, if approached with understanding, skill and foresight," Kissinger said.

However, the unified approach to East-West trade he proposed is a sensitive subject since it would tend to enhance the role of the United States at the expense of other nations whose trade with the Soviet Union is more advantageous. Together, the Common Market and Japan hold some $11 billion in credits to the Soviet Bloc, while the United States has only about $400 million.

Before the OECD meeting, Kissinger discussed Lebanon's future with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing in a meeting at the Elysee Palace.

Since Syrian President Hafez Assad visited Paris last week, the secretary of state hoped to get some insight into his ultimate objectives in Lebanon and to prospects for the round-table conference of the warring factions which France has proposed.

Kissinger said he and Giscard would also exchange ideas on the economic summit meeting which President Ford is holding in Puerto Rico next weekend with the heads of the French, British, Canadian, West German, Italian and Japanese governments.

The principal purpose of Kissinger's week-long trip to Europe is to meet Wednesday and Thursday in West Germany with Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africa.

The meeting comes as guerrilla activity in Rhodesia is escalating and just after the worst race riots in South African history in which more than 100 people died, 1,000 were injured and millions of dollars worth of property was destroyed.

Reagan-Ford Partisans Split N.C. GOP; Problems Raised

By ROBERT B. CULLEN Associated Press Writer GREENSBORO (AP) — North Carolina Republicans face serious problems in putting their party back together again after a state convention that booted Gov. James E. Holshouser.

The convention, dominated by the supporters of Ronald Reagan, refused to allow Holshouser or U.S. Rep. James G. Martin to go to Kansas City as delegates to the national convention.

Many Republicans, particularly supporters of President Gerald R. Ford, viewed that decision as fratricidal. "There will be right much bitterness," said Mrs. Nancy Lake of Greensboro, the lone committed Ford delegate in the group of 54 that will go to the national convention.

By law, the delegation will cast 28 votes for Reagan, 25 for Ford, and one uncommitted on the convention's first ballot. That split was determined by the state primary on March 23.

But the delegation selection process was separate from the primary. The Reaganites wanted as many delegates as possible to be Reagan supporters. They felt the votes could be important on preliminary battles over rules and credentials.

A host of conservatives turned out for the precinct meetings that led to the convention and, in many cases, ousted the regulars. "I have never seen half the people here," said former Mecklenburg chairman Hank Wilmer as he looked at his county's delegation. It backed Reagan.

They were in no mood to compromise with Holshouser and his wing of the party. Reagan leader Tom Ellis said they had nothing against Holshouser, but other Reaganites were not so sure.

Eloise Howard of Pitt County, a Reagan delegate and member of the Rules Committee, said what she thought of her party's governor in a letter to a Raleigh newspaper that was published Sunday.

She said Holshouser was completing "a mediocre term of office." She said that in choosing to back Ford, he "characteristically backed the safe, expedient and favored to win incumbent, who many believe is devoid of any political philosophy."

With those thoughts in mind, the Reagan delegates booed when Holshouser, speaking to the convention, charged the Reagan forces with being "undemocratic" in attempting to push through their slate of delegates.

The boing made it harder to credit Ellis's opinion. There is no split in the party, he said. He said the split is a figment of the press's imagination.

In fact, the split goes back at least to the 1972 gubernatorial primary when Holshouser faced James Gardner of Rocky Mount.

The two made good representatives of the wings of the party. Holshouser is a political pragmatist. A mountaineer, he comes from the historically Republican section of the state. Secession was unpopular in the mountains because few of the small farmers there owned slaves.

Gardner represented the eastern coastal plain, which once was monolithically Democratic.

Republicans began making inroads after the Democrats became the party of civil rights for blacks. Like Gardner, Ellis, and U.S. Sen. Jesse Helms, most of the new Republicans of the East were doctrinaire conservatives.

The split became public in 1972 when state party chairman Frank Rouse of Kinston took a leave of absence to work for Gardner, who lost. One of Holshouser's first decisions was to purge Rouse. He did, at the 1973 state convention. In doing so, he embittered the conservatives.

Unfortunately for Holshouser, the party did badly under his dominance. His hand-picked candidates lost overwhelmingly in 1974 and the legislative delegation shrank to minuscule size. The GOP lost two Congressional seats.

The governor's last losing battle was his support for Ford. North Carolina instead became the state that revitalized the Reagan campaign. The governor's forces within the party were tired of losing and discouraged. The takeover by the Reaganites followed.

ERA Campaign In N.C. Begun

RALEIGH (AP) — The campaign activities of the state Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) umbrella group were kicked off Saturday with the election of a president and the selection of a new organizational name.

Elected president of "North Carolinians United for the Equal Rights Amendment" (NCUERA) was the Rev. Mrs. Maria Bliss of Asheville, a United Methodist minister.

Chosen as coordinator for election activities was Kathy B. Stark of Concord.

The Rev. Mrs. Bliss, who has three children, said she is working for the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment "because of the constitutional protection it affords women."

"On a personal level," she continued, "as the mother of twins, a boy and a girl, I'm concerned that my daughter does not have the same protection under the law as my son."

Previously called "ERA United," NCUERA is a coordinating organization for 26 North Carolina groups that support the ERA. Its members include the Council of Churches, the Federation of Womens' Clubs, National Organization of Women, Women in Communication and Student Nurses Association.

The bylaws of several of NCUERA's member groups prohibit it from endorsing political candidates. Instead, it canvasses candidates and publishes their positions on the amendment.

The ERA was introduced for ratification in the state General Assembly in 1975, but failed to pass the House. It is likely to be introduced during the upcoming 1977 session.

Other officers elected at the Saturday meeting were Wilma R. Davidson, of Charlotte, vice-president; Elaine F. Martin, of Jacksonville, secretary; and Laura K. Williams, Lexington, treasurer.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—The trend on the North Carolina hog market was steady to $1.50 higher today. Wilson 50.50-51.50; High Falls 49.50-50.50; Rocky Mount unreported; Clinton, Fayetteville, Dunn, Elizabethton, Pink Hill, Pine Level, Chadbourne, Ayden, Laurinburg, Benson, 53.00; Kinston unreported; Tarboro and Bethel 48.50-49.00; Salisbury 49.00.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—The trend on the North Carolina f.o.b. dock broiler market was steady today with supplies adequate, demand good and weights desirable.

The North Carolina dock weighted average price is 40.58 cents per pound this week for small purchases of sized plant grade broilers to be picked up at processing plants. Estimated slaughter today was 1,236,000.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market edged upward today, drawing some support from another optimistic forecast by President Ford's chief economic adviser.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up .74 at 1,002.62, and gainers held a 4-3 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading tailed off from the active pace of late last week.

In a weekend television appearance Alan Greenspan, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said the evidence indicated a recent slowing in the economy's rate of recovery.

But he said the upturn from the recession was still in solid shape, and added: "We expect it to continue throughout this year and very likely throughout 1977."

Despite that favorable influence, however, the market still seemed to be held back by the profit taking that has appeared each time the Dow has broken through the 1,000 mark this year.

Occidental Petroleum topped the active list, up 1/2 at 17 1/2. Iran announced it had agreed to buy 6.25 million preferred shares of Occidental and warrants giving it the option to acquire the same number of common shares.

The Big Board's composite common-stock index rose .06 to 55.34 in the first hour.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .06 at 104.95.

RALEIGH (AP)—A man taking a morning walk Sunday discovered the body of a 27-year-old Hope Mills man in a mid-city creek in Raleigh.

Robert Lewis Phillips Cyr was found in about six feet of water, with his boots and shirt nearby.

An investigation is underway although there is no clear evidence of foul play, according to Detective Lt. William Nipper.

The body was sent to the state medical examiner in Chapel Hill for an autopsy and toxicological study to determine the presence of drugs or alcohol, a state medical examiner in Raleigh said.

Avoidance Said Best Treatment

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The best treatment of allergy to food is to avoid the offending foods in all their forms, according to Dr. Frederic Speer of the Speer Allergy Clinic in Shawnee Mission, Kan.

Food allergies are a life-spoiling rather than a life-destroying condition, Dr. Speer states in a recent article in American Family Physician.

In the United States cow's milk is the most common allergen, says the physician, who lists the other most common offenders as chocolate and cola, corn, eggs, the pea family ("chiefly peanut, which is not a nut"), citrus fruits, tomato, wheat and other small grains, cinnamon and artificial food colors.

Very Aware Of Her Success

NEW YORK (AP)—Myrna Liebowitz, who is president of the Women's Stockbrokers Assn., has been giving seminars on "Everything You Always Wanted To Know About Finances but Were Afraid to Ask."

They have been attracting large audiences and gaining attention for the stockbroker, who is with Herzfeld and Stern here.

"Now even my husband is impressed," she says, "because when he goes places he is called Mr. Liebowitz, which is my maiden name. He is Kenny Berger, a manufacturer of children's wear."

COURT HOUSE BOMB

LOWELL, Mass. (AP)—A bomb went off at the Middlesex County Court House this morning, injuring a maintenance man as he placed his key in the door, authorities said.

Large Family Of Little Fish

WASHINGTON (AP)—There are more than 100 members of the anchovy family, according to the National Geographic Society.

Most species of the small, silver-colored fishes, it says, are only about five inches long, though some grow to nearly twice that. They are found in most of the world's temperate and tropical seas.

Winning Isn't Helping Them

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians and Baltimore Orioles know what a treadmill feels like. The Indians, though, have a chance to do something about it.

The Indians outlasted the Kansas City Royals 11-8 Sunday for their eighth victory in 10 games. During that stretch, however, they've gained exactly one-half game on the New York Yankees, season-long leaders in the American League East.

Meanwhile, the Orioles blanked the Texas Rangers 2-0 for their sixth consecutive triumph, a streak that has seen them only stay even with the Yankees, who ran their own winning string to six games with a 6-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

In other AL games, the Boston Red Sox nipped the California Angels 4-3 in 11 innings, the Oakland A's downed the Milwaukee Brewers 7-5 and the Detroit Tigers whipped the Minnesota Twins 7-3.

New York leads runner-up Cleveland by seven games as the two clubs begin a four-game series at Yankee Stadium tonight.

The Indians led Kansas City 9-0 after three innings. The Royals rallied for eight runs in the fourth before Jim Bibby and two other Cleveland hurlers combined for six innings of shutout relief. Ray Fosse drove in four runs for the Indians while Rico Carty homered.

Orioles 2, Rangers 1
Mike Cuellar checked Texas on three hits in outdueling Gaylord Perry. It was Texas' fifth consecutive loss and kept the Rangers five games behind KC in the AL West.

Perry breezed through five innings without allowing a hit before Brooks Robinson doubled to lead off the sixth and Dave Duncan singled him home with the only run Cuellar needed.

Yankees 6, White Sox 3
Turman Munson's two-run single featured a five-run uprising against ex-Yankee Ken Brett. The loss was the 10th straight for the White Sox, who earlier had won 10 in a row and now own the longest losing and winning streaks in the American League this season.

Red Sox 4, Angels 3
Rick Burleson's two-out single in the 11th inning scored Bobby Darwin, who had doubled, as the Red Sox beat former teammate Dick Drago.

Bobby Bonds' homer put California ahead 3-2 in the sixth inning and Boston tied it in the eighth on a walk to Carl Yastrzemski and Jim Rice's two-out double.

Finley Taking Kuhn To Court

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Two teams plagued by losing streaks may look forward to a head-to-head confrontation knowing that one of the clubs will immediately begin a winning streak.

That's the situation for baseball and Charles O. Finley, as the Oakland owner was expected to file a multi-million dollar damage suit today or Tuesday against Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and his office.

Finley, who made his fortune in the insurance business, has gambled on the courts before and lost, while baseball, a sport fascinated by statistics, is battling 400 in recent legal tangles.

Neil Papiano, Finley's lawyer, said Sunday from Los Angeles that he would file four or five causes of action seeking damages "in the neighborhood of $10 million" and asking an injunction against Kuhn's order nullifying Finley's $3.5 million sale of three star players.

Papiano said the suit would be filed either in a state or federal court in California. "Whichever court we think will give us a quicker hearing," Papiano said.

Finley has been chasing Catfish Hunter in the California courts ever since 1974, when arbitrator Peter Seitz ruled the star pitcher free because Finley breached Hunter's contract. He has lost once but, undaunted, Finley has appealed to a higher court.

Papiano said he expects a decision from the California Court of Appeals shortly.

Baseball also is on a losing streak, dropping its last two legal decisions. After Seitz ruled last December that an unsigned player could become a free agent after one year, the baseball owners went to federal court.

Seitz' decision was upheld there, and again in the appeals court. There was no appeal to the Supreme Court.

The Major League Players Association has been on the winning side of all these decisions, and now faces a dilemma — whether to join forces with Finley, a long-time adversary, or file an independent action against Kuhn.

"Obviously," said Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, "we're not going to stand around while the powers that be attempt to ruin the careers of three players."

"We can attach (join a previous suit) if we feel the action is properly brought," said Dick Moss, counsel for the Players Association. "But right now, we're waiting to see what the others do."

The New York Yankees, who bought Vida Blue for $1.5 million, are expected to take legal action against Kuhn.

Fine Shot Lets Pate Capture Open Tourney

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) — Young Jerry Pate looked at his ball nestling on a clump of Bermuda rough and measured his target, a flagstick sitting treacherously close to the front of a finger-thin green guarded by an expanse of water.

"I turned to my caddy, John Conidine," he said, "and I told him, 'I've got to go for it. This is my one big chance to win the Open.'"

Pate took a five-iron from his bag. "I had a good lie — I felt sure I could make it," he said. "I was all pumped up."

While thousands watched from the rain-drenched wings of the Atlanta Athletic Club — the club Bob Jones once belonged to — Pate swung gracefully and the ball arched toward the flag as if drawn by an invisible magnet and rested two feet from the cup.

"I knew then I had won the Open," he said.

The dramatic shot, which will go down in golfing annals as one of the greatest ever executed under extreme pressure, gave the rookie pro from Pensacola, Fla., a birdie finish for a final 68 and a two-stroke victory with 277.

Temperamental Tom Weiskopf and gangling Al Geiberger made plucky stabs at winning but fell short after firing rounds of 68 and 69, respectively, for 279. For the second year in a row, cherub-faced John Mahaffey saw the prize wrenched from his grasp as he finished bogey-bogey-bogey for a 73 that tied him at 280 with Butch Baird, an outsider wearing thick glasses and a wide-brimmed plantation hat.

"I got tired, I ran out of gas," said Mahaffey, who led until he was tied at the 70th hole of the 72-hole test. "But I will win the Open one day. You can print that."

He tied Lou Graham for the title at Medinah, outside Chicago, last year and lost in a playoff because of a tentative attitude on the putting greens. He showed no temerity in shooting rounds of 70-8-69 which gave him the lead after the second and third rounds.

The tall, talented Weiskopf exploded three straight birdies, starting at the 66th hole, but saw his hopes doused at the 215-yard 15th where he tried to recover from an impossible lie and scrambled for a bogey. Pate, who displayed remarkable mental toughness despite his tender 22 years, never wavered in his determination or heart.

"I guess I wanted to be a hero," he said. "I really wanted to win the Open. I knew I wanted to win as much as those other guys."

At 22, Pate becomes one of the youngest ever to win the biggest prize in golf. The youngest of all time was John McDermott, who was 19 years and 10 months when he won in 1911. Gene Sarazen was 20 when he won at Skokie, Ill., in 1922. Jones 21 when he beat Bobby Cruickshank in a playoff at Inwood in 1923.

Pate is four months older than Jack Nicklaus was when he won the first of his three Opens in 1962, also as a rookie. Nicklaus got untracked too late and finished 10 shots back at (Continued on page 10)

South Carolina Will Not Seek Re-Admission

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—The University of South Carolina Board of Trustees has decided not to seek reentry into the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The board voted 8-5 Saturday to withdraw its instruction to South Carolina President William Patterson to apply for reentry into the ACC.

In a special four-hour meeting, the board ended speculation that the school might reenter the athletic conference. It had voted a year ago to explore the possibilities of such a move.

The 13 members who were present from the 20-member board also expressed appreciation to ACC member Clemson University for its offer of sponsorship and voted to extend appreciation for courtesies and cooperation of other friends of the university in the ACC.

A university spokesman said the ACC issue was the only topic discussed at the meeting.

Board chairman T. Eston Marchant said numerous factors were considered in making the decision. South Carolina Athletic Director Bo Hagan and Associate Athletic Directors Frank McGuire and Jim Carlen were present at the meeting. Also, two members of the faculty athletic committee attended.

In an unrelated matter South Carolina officials announced that former baseball coach Bobby Richardson has changed his leave of absence to a resignation from his duties at the university.

"It is our understanding he felt he wanted to devote full time to campaigning for congressional office," the spokesman said.

Richardson is seeking election to Congress from the fifth congressional district against incumbent Democratic Rep. Kenneth L. Holland.

West Runs By East By 35-17

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Terry Metcalf would understand.

Fresh out of Long Beach State in 1973, he was the most valuable player in the Coaches All America Football Game yet nobody had ever heard of him.

Metcalf went on to become one of the premier running backs in the National Football League with the St. Louis Cardinals.

New Mexico quarterback Steve Myer, Missouri wide receiver Henry Marshall, Boston College quarterback Mike Krueczek, Grambling's Dwight Scales and Larry Dorsey of Tennessee State could be cut from the Metcalf mold.

They were the stars in Saturday night's nationally televised West 35-17 victory over the east in the 16th annual Coaches All America Football Game.

Myer was named the most valuable player thanks to his completing 12 of 15 passes for 131 yards and two touchdowns. Myer, a former AP Back of the Week and third leading passer in NCAA history, brought the West from behind with two clutch fourth quarter scoring passes.

Marshall, who was drafted by Kansas City, caught seven passes for 104 yards and two touchdowns.

Krueczek could keep Pittsburgh Steeler fans happy as a backup for Terry Bradshaw. Krueczek, the Steelers' number two draft pick, connected on 15 of 23 for 173 yards.

Dorsey, who is bound for San Diego, claimed eight passes for 108 yards and Scales, drafted by Los Angeles, established an all-star record with nine catches for 105 steps.

"There were some excellent talents in this game even though the players hadn't re-

No Respect For The Reds David Pearson Zooms To Narrow Victory In Michigan 400-Miler

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds may be the defending World Champions, but they get no respect from the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Phillies have shown this season that they can play ball with the Reds — in fact, they've shown that they can play it better.

"Nothing they do surprises me," said Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark after his team beat the Reds 6-1 Sunday and won the deciding match of a three-game series.

The victory gave the National League East leaders a 4-2 edge so far in six games with Sparky Anderson's club. In a series earlier, the Phillies also won the set, two games to one.

The Phillies out-hit, out-pitched and out-fielded Cincinnati and reliever Ron Reed seemed to personify all their clan. Reed came into the game with the bases loaded, none out and the Phillies leading 4-1 in the sixth inning. The relief pitcher then struck out Tony Perez and Johnny Bench, both dangerous hitters, and got pinch-hitter Ken Griffey on a weak pop fly.

In the other National League games, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Houston Astros 9-5 in the opener of a doubleheader before the nightcap was rained out; the San Francisco Giants routed the New York Mets 9-2; the Montreal Expos edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4; the San Diego Padres nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4, and the Atlanta Braves blanked the Chicago Cubs 5-0.

After Reed cut the Reds down in the sixth, Ollie Brown did the same in the seventh. Brown stymied a Cincinnati rally with a perfect throw from right field. Doug Flynn singled to open the Reds' seventh and moved to second on a base hit by Dan Driessen. When Flynn attempted to score on Pete Rose's single to right, Brown nailed him at home.

While Reed was knocking the Reds out of the game with his throwing and Brown with his fielding, starting Philadelphia pitcher Jim Kaat, 7-2, was clubbing them with his bat. He singled during a three-run second inning, helping the Phillies to all the runs they needed.

Astros 9, Pirates 5

Wilbur Howard's pinch single drove in the go-ahead run as Houston scored five times in the eighth off relief pitcher Bob Moose and beat Pittsburgh.

Tom Griffin pitched four hitless innings of relief for the Astros, raising his record to 5-1. A chilly drizzle fell throughout the game before the scheduled nightcap was washed out. Play was halted intermittently for the grounds crew to spread sawdust around home plate and the bases.

Giants 9, Mets 2

Ed Halicki, 5-10, knocked in three runs with two singles and, aided by late relief help from Randy Moffitt, pitched San Francisco past New York.

The Giants opened the game with a five-run, first-inning burst during which they produced five hits. The key blows were Derrel Thomas' run-scoring double, Ken Reitz' two-run single and Halicki's two-run single off New York left-hander Jon Matlack, 8-2.

Expos 5, Dodgers 4

Pete Mackanin's three-run homer capped a five-run outburst in the sixth inning that gave Montreal its victory over Los Angeles.

Mackanin, who delivered a game-winning single in Montreal's 2-1 victory over Los Angeles Saturday, smashed a 2-0 pitch from loser Burt Hooton into the left field bleachers for his fifth homer of the season.

Padres 5, Cardinals 4

Johnny Grubb's run-scoring double snapped a tie in the ninth inning and lifted San Diego over St. Louis. Grubb's hit came off former Padres hurler Bill Grief, 1-4, after the Cardinals had battled back and tied the score with two runs in an inning earlier.

Grief retired the Padres' Fred Kendall before pinch-hitter Gene Locklear stroked a single to left. Grubb, who earlier contributed a two-run single in a three-run Padres fourth inning, then delivered a towering drive to left center that Bake McBride narrowly missed catching.

Braves 5, Cubs 0

Darrell Chaney drove in three runs with a pair of doubles, Rowland Office hit in his 25th straight game and right-hander Dick Ruthven hurled a four-hitter, leading Atlanta over Chicago.

Ruthven, 8-6, never permitted a runner past second base as the Braves won their third game from the Cubs in two days.

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (AP) — When you're hot, you're hot, and David Pearson is hot.

The Spartanburg, S.C., stock car driver outlasted and overpowered the cream of NASCAR racing Sunday by piloting his Wood Brothers Mercury to a narrow .77 second victory in the 400-mile race at Michigan International Speedway.

The victory was Pearson's second straight and seventh in 11 starts this season. The triumph was worth $13,595 and brought his 1976 earnings to $17,350, tops on the NASCAR circuit.

"It seems sometimes everything is going your way," he said. "Everything is sure going our way."

Pearson's way lately has been to sit back comfortably just behind the leaders and then take advantage of happenings late in the race.

The happenings Sunday were two caution flags—one with 30 laps to go and the other with just eight remaining.

The victim of the Pearson strategy was Cale Yarborough, who saw a commanding one-mile lead vanish when the field pulled together under the caution.

"That's the way it goes," Yarborough mumbled dejectedly. His Chevrolet fell one lap off the pace, just two laps into the contest when a tire went flat. But he swept through the field quickly, used an early yellow light to make up lost ground and pulled away from everyone for 129 laps.

"There was nothing I could do," when Yarborough was running well, Pearson said.

But Yarborough's Sunday cruise turned sour with about 40 laps to go when "I had to crack a head or something. I was lucky to run second. I'd lost a bunch of horsepower. There wasn't any way I could beat him," he said.

The day was not a total loss for Yarborough, whose second-place finish vaulted him past Benny Parsons and into the NASCAR point lead.

The stage was set for another wild finish similar to the one in February at Daytona Beach when a caution light on lap 192 put Pearson, Yarborough, Bobby Allison, and Richard Petty bumper to bumper on the same lap.

When the green flag dropped with two laps to go, Yarborough crept in front but Pearson quickly shot past him.

Allison, whose Mercury was prepared by the crew of Roger Penske, owner of MIS, and the Petty Dodge were unable to mount a serious challenge. They finished third and fourth, respectively.

Pearson increased his lead on the last lap as Yarborough's Chevy stumbled.

"I got some weight changed, and Cale wasn't handling good enough," Pearson explained.

The victory was Pearson's fourth in eight runnings of the event at MIS.

"I've always said this is my favorite speedway. If you like one, you do good on it," Pearson added.

Pearson, Yarborough, Allison and Petty were the only drivers among the 36 starters to turn the entire 200 laps around the two-mile, high-banked oval in Michigan's scenic Irish Hills.

Buddy Baker finished fifth, one lap down, despite problems with his eyes.

"I got oil-dry under my goggles the last 50 miles and couldn't see," Baker said. "I think our car was as fast as anything all day, except for Cale."

Oil-dry is used to soak up oil spilled on the track.

The race, run under sunny skies and temperatures in the mid-70s, was sponsored by CAM2 motor oil and attracted some 55,000 spectators. It formerly was known as the Motor State 400.

Allison, who started alongside

Petty in the front row, took the lead for the first two laps before Baker surged ahead. Then Dave Marcis, who started from the third position, led from lap 9 through 24 before a broken valve sent him to the garage for the day.

Baker took over for 17 of the next 20 circuits before Yarborough embarked on his flight from the field and until the cagey Pearson smelled the checkered flag.

Ayden-Griffton, Clifton In Wins

Ayden-Griffton and Bill Clifton Insurance picked up Senior Babe Ruth victories Saturday night.

Ayden-Griffton ran past Farmville, 10-0, while Clifton nipped University Kiwanis, 4-3.

Clifton picked up the first run in the third inning in the game played at Guy Smith Stadium.

Curtis Clemons was hit by a pitch and moved up on a passed ball and a stolen base. He scored on Roger Jenkins' single.

Two more crossed in the fifth for a 3-0 lead. Clifton Clemons walked and Kelvin Adams doubled. Both scored when Jenkins got a hit.

The Kiwanis rallied for three runs in the bottom of the sixth, tying the score. Jay Chenier singled and Mike Baker got a hit. Both advanced on a balk, and a passed ball let Chenier score. Worth Albea singled in Baker, and stole second. Albea moved to third on an error and scored on a passed ball.

In the seventh, Clifton came up with the winning run. Adams singled and moved up when Jenkins got a hit. Both stole up a base, and Mike Phillips singled to drive in Adams.

Jenkins led the Clifton hitting with three, while Adams had two. Chenier and Baker each had two for the Kiwanis.

Ayden-Griffton scored two runs in the first inning, and added three each in the next two, closing out with two in the fourth, to have an easy time against Farmville.

Chris Riggs limited Farmville to just two hits in throwing the shutout.

Other details of the game were not available.

Glance, McTear Earn Berths

By KEN DONEY
Associated Press Writer
EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Harvey Glance and Houston McTear, a pair of 19-year-old sprinters, and veteran Steve Riddick earned Olympic berths in the 100 meters Sunday as Steve Williams, who had been favored for a gold medal at Montreal, watched from the sidelines.

Glance, a freshman at Auburn, blazed to the tape in 10.11 seconds, his fastest time ever under automatic timing and a clocking that would have given him a gold medal at Munich.

McTear jumped out to a huge lead, but Glance brought the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials crowd of 12,500 people to their feet as he caught McTear with 10 meters to go.

McTear, who ran a world-record 9.0 for 100 yards last year in a high school meet in Florida, took second in 10.16, but he immediately pulled up, clutching his left hamstring.

"It appears that he has pulled some muscle fibers in his hamstring," a physician, Dr. Bob Larson, said of McTear, who was helped from the field.

McTear, whose 10.16 was his all-time best under automatic timing, is not entered in the 200 meters so he has a month before Montreal for the injury to heal.

Williams, the overwhelming favorite to win the 100 meters, dropped out Saturday when he pulled the hamstring muscle in his right leg. He planned to try again Monday in the preliminaries of the 200-meters dash.

Riddick, representing the Philadelphia Pioneer Club, was third in 10.18 with Johnny Jones, the prep star from Lampasas, Tex., next in 10.23 and earning the alternate berth should McTear be unable to compete in Montreal.

"I'd really like to make it in both sprints is possible," said Glance, who was entered in Monday's qualifying heats for the 200.

His time Sunday was the fourth fastest ever by an American. Riddick is one of the trio above him with his 10.05 last year.

Williams wasn't the only casualty in the first two days of the trials. Terry Albritton, the University of Hawaii shotputter who set an amateur world record of 71-8½ in February, finished fourth in the finals

Sunday with 67-0 and Dan Ripley, indoor world record holder in the pole vault, failed to clear 17-0¾ in the qualifying.

Al Feuerbach, a 1972 Olympian, and George Woods, silver medalist in 1968 and 1972, finished one-two with throws of 69-3½ and 69-2¾, respectively, and fast-improving Petchmook, formerly of the University of Oregon, grabbed the third spot in 68-9¼.

Mac Wilkins, the former University of Oregon strongman who holds the world mark of 232-6 in the discus, easily qualified for the finals in that event. His toss of 210-9 was second best among the 10 who advanced.

The top throw of 212-2 was by 38-year-old Jay Silverster, who is seeking a berth on his fourth Olympic team.

Kathy Schmidt, American record holder in the javelin, won that event in the only women's final. Her throw was 213-5, under her U.S. mark of 218-3 set earlier this year.

Sherry Calvert of Lakewood International was second in 191-7 and Karin Smith of UCLA earned the third berth with a toss of 187-9.

When the green flag dropped with two laps to go, Yarborough crept in front but Pearson quickly shot past him.

Babashoff Leads Swimming Trials

By JACK STEVENSON
AP Sports Writer
LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Speed and stamina stamp comely Shirley Babashoff as No. 1 among America's women swimmers and the 19-year-old from Fountain Valley, Calif., may be competing in seven Olympic events.

As the U.S. trials end today with three events including the 800-meter women's freestyle with Shirley the favorite, the Olympic gold medalist of four years ago has four American records in freestyle events.

"No, I'm not tired," she declared. "I'm enthusiastic about our 400-meter freestyle relay team."

Miss Babashoff won the 100-meter freestyle final Sunday night in an American record 56.96. Joining her on the sprint relay team will be Jill Sterkel, 57.25, from Hacienda Heights, Calif., Kim Peyton, 57.75 from Portland, Ore., and Wendy Boglioli, 57.80 from Ocean City, N.J.

If Shirley wins or places second in the 800 tonight, she'll be on the U.S. team for the 100, 200, 400 and 800-meter freestyles in which she set her American records, the 400 individual medley, the 400 relay and probably the medley relay, swimming the freestyle final lap.

She's a cinch for five already.

Shirley said she doesn't really train for the 100 but rather for the 800, explaining, "My coach trains me for 800 and tells me to turn over faster for the 100."

There were a host of repeaters in Sunday's events and a men's American record in 1,500-meter qualifying, bringing to 12 the total American records, set in the 20 races so far.

Paul Hartloff, who just graduated from high school in Santa Barbara, Calif., swam the metric mile in 15 minutes 17.72 seconds to better the American record of 15:20.91 set by Tim Shaw of Long Beach last year.

Hartloff, 18, outspurred favored Bobby Hackett of New Rochelle, N.Y., to win his heat and set the record. Hackett qualified second at 15:18.31 and meets Hartloff and six others, including Shaw, in tonight's finals.

Lauri Siering of Modesto, Calif., and world record-holder John Hencken became double winners with victories in the 100-meter breaststroke events. Miss Siering swam 1:14.46 with Marcia Morey of Mission Viejo, Calif., second in 1:14.85 — the same order of finish they recorded in the 200-meter race.

Hencken, who holds the world mark at 1:03.88, recorded 1:04.20 to beat Chris Woo of Honolulu, 1:05.57 as Woo made the team for the first time. Hencken was on the U.S. team in 1972 and also had won the 200-meter race in these trials to qualify again.

World record holder James Montgomery of Bloomington, Ind., and the University of Indiana, won the men's 100 in 50.95. He had already qualified in 200. But two newcomers joined the team, one with a familiar name.

Joe Bottom of Santa Clara finished second in 51.13 and Jack Babashoff, Shirley's 20-year-old brother, finished third in 51.44.

Williams, the overwhelming favorite to win the 100 meters, dropped out Saturday when he pulled the hamstring muscle in his right leg. He planned to try again Monday in the preliminaries of the 200-meters dash.

Riddick, representing the Philadelphia Pioneer Club, was third in 10.18 with Johnny Jones, the prep star from Lampasas, Tex., next in 10.23 and earning the alternate berth should McTear be unable to compete in Montreal.

"I'd really like to make it in both sprints is possible," said Glance, who was entered in Monday's qualifying heats for the 200.

His time Sunday was the fourth fastest ever by an American. Riddick is one of the trio above him with his 10.05 last year.

Williams wasn't the only casualty in the first two days of the trials. Terry Albritton, the University of Hawaii shotputter who set an amateur world record of 71-8½ in February, finished fourth in the finals

When the green flag dropped with two laps to go, Yarborough crept in front but Pearson quickly shot past him.

Allison, whose Mercury was prepared by the crew of Roger Penske, owner of MIS, and the Petty Dodge were unable to mount a serious challenge. They finished third and fourth, respectively.

Pearson increased his lead on the last lap as Yarborough's Chevy stumbled.

"I got some weight changed, and Cale wasn't handling good enough," Pearson explained.

The victory was Pearson's fourth in eight runnings of the event at MIS.

"I've always said this is my favorite speedway. If you like one, you do good on it," Pearson added.

Pearson, Yarborough, Allison and Petty were the only drivers among the 36 starters to turn the entire 200 laps around the two-mile, high-banked oval in Michigan's scenic Irish Hills.

Buddy Baker finished fifth, one lap down, despite problems with his eyes.

"I got oil-dry under my goggles the last 50 miles and couldn't see," Baker said. "I think our car was as fast as anything all day, except for Cale."

Oil-dry is used to soak up oil spilled on the track.

The race, run under sunny skies and temperatures in the mid-70s, was sponsored by CAM2 motor oil and attracted some 55,000 spectators. It formerly was known as the Motor State 400.

Allison, who started alongside

Petty in the front row, took the lead for the first two laps before Baker surged ahead. Then Dave Marcis, who started from the third position, led from lap 9 through 24 before a broken valve sent him to the garage for the day.

Baker took over for 17 of the next 20 circuits before Yarborough embarked on his flight from the field and until the cagey Pearson smelled the checkered flag.

How's The Weather?

Now 120 People Await Gas Chamber In N.C.

WEATHER FORECAST — Warm weather is forecast Monday for most of the nation. Showers are due for the Atlantic coast, the Pacific Northwest coast and the northern Plains. (AP Wirephoto Map)

By The Associated Press
A weak, but significant, upper-level disturbance located to the west, coupled with a continuation of a moist southerly flow, has caused the showers and thundershowers of the past few days.
This condition is expected to change only slightly over the next day or so. Rainfall amounts Sunday varied from only a few hundredths of an inch to between one and two inches in some of the heavier downpours.
Some of Sunday's heavier rainfall was noted across the coastal plain and coastal region of North Carolina. Rocky Mount and Wilson received one of the larger totals with 1.3 inches by early afternoon, while Wilmington was next with just over .80 inch.
Temperatures were generally lower Sunday, as compared to previous days, due to more cloudiness and a greater frequency of showers. Afternoon readings averaged in the upper 70s to mid 80s with the warmer range across the eastern counties. A few light showers continued scattered, mainly east of the mountains, Sunday night.

The Outer Banks and south coastal area received some of the heavier showers during the night. Cape Hatteras collected an additional .30 inch and, by 2 a.m., their 24-hour total was just under 1.2 inches.
Wilmington had a brief downpour with .25 inch in less than 10 minutes in the pre-dawn hours. The weak cold front that had been working east the past few days gradually worked its way into the mountains Sunday. This brought some clearing to the extreme western portions of North Carolina and allowed temperatures to cool into the 50s in the mountains with 60s and low 70s east of the mountains early this morning.
Recreational weather outlook: Showers and scattered thunderstorms will continue to be a part of our weather Tuesday with the more frequent showers being over the eastern sections of North Carolina. Partly cloudy skies will return to the west with just a chance of afternoon and evening thundershowers. Daytime temperatures will range from the 70s in the mountains to the 80s over the eastern counties.

SHELBY, N.C. (AP) — There are now 120 persons awaiting execution on death row following the first-degree murder convictions of two Asheville, N.C. men in Cleveland County Superior Court.
The victim, Darryl Monroe Wilbur Folston, 19, and Robert

Louis Hardy, 25, charged in last summer's slaying of a Morganton, N.C. service station attendant, were sentenced late Sunday morning.
The victim, Darryl Monroe Baldridge, 21, was fatally wounded during a robbery on the night of July 30, 1975.

The jury rendered its verdict at 10:55 a.m. after being sequestered for the night by Judge John R. Friday.
Folston had difficulty standing and appeared to be crying when Friday pronounced sentence. Hardy was bent over as Friday ordered the death penalty. His mother, Mrs. Henry Hardy, sobbed aloud in the courtroom.

The jury received the case at 11:05 a.m. Saturday after a two-week trial.

The defendants also were charged with kidnaping, armed robbery and conspiracy to commit armed robbery, but were only tried on the murder charge.
The judge first set Sept. 20 as the execution date, but then left it to the prison warden's discretion after the date was questioned by an attorney.
A third Asheville man, Kevin Greene, 18, is yet to be sentenced in the case.

RIDING POLLUTED AIR — Government scientists Dr. Rudolf Englemann, right, and Vera Simons go about their work as their helium balloon drifts with a mass of polluted air over the states of Missouri and Indiana during the first week in June. An Environmental Protection Agency official said that preliminary evidence gathered from the flight indicated that city-generated air pollution can foul the air of rural areas hundreds of miles distant. N.C. Highway Toll Now Matches Rate Of 1975

By The Associated Press
North Carolina's accelerating highway death toll now equals that for the same period of 1975.
Nine persons died in weekend traffic accidents, bringing the count to 620 thus far in 1976, according to the state Highway Patrol.
Eddie Lee Todd, 27, of Route 1, Tabor City, was struck and killed Sunday morning while walking on a rural paved road seven miles south of Chadburn in Columbus County, the patrol said.
Six persons died in separate accidents Saturday, the patrol said.

Robert Stout Leach, 44, of Route 1, Climax, was killed Saturday night in Guilford County when the car in which he was riding collided with another car on a rural paved road eight miles south of Greensboro.
Also killed Saturday night was James Wright, 51, of Laurinburg. Wright was a passenger in a car that ran off a highway and overturned near Laurinburg.
Arleen Dean Brown, 17, of Walnut Cove, died Saturday when the car she was driving crossed the center line and collided with another vehicle near Walnut Cove.

The patrol said a Columbus County man, Roger Dale Tedder, 22, of Elizabethtown, died Saturday afternoon when the car he was driving struck a tractor on a rural road near Whiteville.
An elderly Duplin County woman, Estelle Sutherland, 79, of Teachey, was struck and killed by a car Saturday near her home.
Rosalie Shirley Simmons, 49, of Route 1, Deep Gap, was killed early Saturday when the car she was driving ran off the road on a curve, struck a house and overturned. The accident occurred two miles east of Deep Gap on U.S. 421 in Watauga County.
The patrol said two men died in separate accidents Friday night.
Joseph Bullock, 25, of Route 1, Manson, was killed when struck by a vehicle on a rural paved road 6½ miles east of Henderson.
Russell Wayne Penny, 27, of Route 4, Zebulon, died when his motorcycle collided with a car one mile east of Zebulon.

Record Fireworks Sales Seen In S.C.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Fireworks dealers in South Carolina, the last East Coast state where the sale of the product is legal, are expecting record sales for the nation's upcoming Bicentennial celebration.
America's 200th birthday marks the last year fireworks dealers may sell firecrackers larger than the "ladyfinger" size. Earlier this month, the national Consumer Product Safety Division ordered a ban, effective this December, on any firecracker larger than "about three-quarters-of-an-inch long."
But the manager of a Columbia fireworks store and one of the nation's biggest sellers say the ban will not significantly hurt them next year. And they expect big sales this year.
"Normally, we can get merchandise, just as much as we want, right up to the Fourth; but many of our suppliers this year are empty," said John W. Casey, manager of Jim Casey Fireworks in Columbia.

"This is the year for fireworks. If we don't make it this year, we never will," said Dramba Saleeby, manager of the fireworks store at the South of the Border resort complex near Dillon, S.C.
Both men said that public patronage of other fireworks will eventually make up the loss suffered when the larger firecrackers are illegal.
Although Casey was predicting big bicentennial sales, he said he could not make an estimate on how much extra money it would mean to the business owned by his father since 1949.

Learn Price Of Migrating To Australia Is High

BY BRIAN DEWHURST
 SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Four thousand Americans emigrated to Australia in the past year seeking a more casual life-style free of urban crime and racial strife.

Nobody told them about an economic recession and galloping living costs.

Although no figures have been compiled, Australian employment agencies say the emigres have a poor record of staying, citing low wages and high prices for two commodities most consumers value most — houses and automobiles.

The Lewis T. Pauling family, formerly of Millbrook, N.Y., is typical.

Lured to Australia by a U.N. assessment of it as "the second most equal nation in the world in economic and social terms," with few racial problems and wide-open opportunities, surveyor Pauling and his wife, Meryl, a former teacher, are living in a $48-a-day motel while they look for a house.

Like most settlers from America they chose Sydney — big, cosmopolitan, lively and developing. Every Saturday they have a choice of about 4,000 houses, apartments and town houses advertised for sale or auction.

The range begins at around $26,000 for a new but modest three-bedroom home 30 miles out of town. About 15 miles from Sydney a slightly better house with a small prefabricated swimming pool costs $38,000.

Prices jump sharply as the house-hunter moves his search into the inner suburbs and skyrocket in beachfront areas.

A home in a middle-class area nine miles from the city costs $67,000 if a "gourmet" kitchen, walk-in dressing room, and timber paneling are included.

A not-so-modern three-bedroom house with an ocean view runs up to $80,000 and a newer, bigger place with the beach across the road can cost $180,000.

Tom Heesters, who arrived in Australia five months ago from Chicago, where he was a freelance marketing consultant, said, "I had a three-story, six-bedroom house overlooking Lake Michigan which I sold for $95,000 last year.

"The same place here, in a comparable suburb, will cost me close to $200,000."

Frank Marriott, who works for Westinghouse, is returning home next month, partly because it would cost him $175,000 to buy a home in Australia comparable to his $85,000 house in Rockville, Md.

As for automobiles, Marriott estimated that an Australian car "equal to an Olds 88" would cost more than $12,000.

"A Volkswagen Beetle costs $5,000 and it goes up from there."

With gasoline selling at 73 cents a gallon, it is cheaper to take cabs than keep the average family car on the road.

Clothing, household appliances and food cost about the same or lower than in the United States—chicken is $1 a pound but a pound of hamburger meat costs 35 cents.

But Australian salaries, particularly in private industry, are lower.

Top-level executives with international responsibility are lucky to earn $50,000 a year. Middle-level men average about $20,000.

Computer operators can expect $10,000 to $12,000 a year; accountants $10,000 to $13,000; advertising executives $12,000; business managers $11,000; and sales and marketing managers $14,000 maximum.

Lewis Pauling will find it hard to get a job as a surveyor. The building and construction industries are among the hardest hit by a two-year recession which has left one in every eight members of the work force jobless.

The most sought after workers are accountants, tradesmen, clerks and salesmen.

Many tradesmen earn more than professionals because of overtime and shift differential rates.

Under wage guidelines handed down last year by Aus-

"I don't need help on only 11 lawns," says Bennette. "Used to be I took care of 46 lawns a summer, all by myself." — (AP Wirephoto)

'Superslurp'

RALEIGH (AP) — Imagine diapers that could keep a baby dry for days on end—or wiping cloths that could mop up entire quarts of spilled milk.

Two North Carolina State University chemical engineers have invented a technique that may make such advances possible.

Their process, nicknamed, "Superslurp," allows fibers like cotton and rayon to absorb up to 30 times their own weight in liquid.

They believe their invention "promises absorbent clothing as well as improved diapers, bandages, sanitary napkins and wiping cloths."

Basically, the new process bonds absorbent molecules to the interior structure of the fibers. Then, rigid clusters of the material are broken up, making the substance more expandable. Superslurp would be used as a finishing process for various textiles and would not affect the production or weaving of fabric.

Dr. Vivian T. Stannett, 58, and Dr. Joel L. Williams, 34, are the engineers who developed the new technique. They have collaborated for nearly 15 years and worked together in the early 1960's at the Research Triangle Park.

Depending on the firm that picks up the Superslurp patent, which is expected to be granted within the next six months, the technique could be used commercially in two to 10 years, the scientists say.

New Rules On Septic Tanks

RALEIGH (AP) — A special Health Service Commission study committee is putting the finishing touches on statewide septic tank regulations.

The regulations have been in the making for the past two years, delayed by the lobbying efforts of two opposed groups.

Construction industry officials have been frightened by the possibility of extreme septic tank regulations, which might stunt development. And environmentalists have asked for strict rules to fend off the possibility of human sewage floating out to sea or threatening typhoid.

The new study commission recommendations would:

- Set distances from which septic tanks must be kept from drinking water sources.
- Keep septic tanks at least 100 feet from the high tide mark of waters where shellfish live.
- Outline soil types best suited for organically purifying septic tank wastes.
- And restrict the density of septic tanks in areas with unacceptable soils.

The new regulations would be enforced locally, and would apply to all tanks under a 3,000-gallon capacity. Counties would either have to adopt the state regulations or adopt more stringent ones of their own.

Currently, no septic tank can be installed without a permit from a local health department. Before issuing a permit, health officials test how well the soil soaks up water, the topography of the land and the water table.

It is up to the state Health Services Commission to adopt the new regulations, which may become effective late this year. The major obstacle to their passage is the degree to which they should be retroactive, commission members have said.

License Lost By Andrews

RALEIGH (AP) — Fourth District Rep. Ike Andrews will be leaving the driving to someone else for the next 30 days.

Andrews has waived a June 21 hearing on his latest speeding charge and voluntarily has accepted a 30-day drivers license suspension instead.

He said he decided to relinquish his license because it was likely a suspension would have been imposed on him anyway.

Andrews was assessed $10 for a fine and $25 for court costs.

Andrews was charged May 17 with driving 69 miles per hour in a 55 mph zone on a stretch of highway near Apex, N.C. That was his 15th speeding citation since 1969, and his second charge of driving over 55 mph in the past year.

Two convictions of driving over 55 mph within a 12-month period can result in license revocation, although the action is not mandatory. The chief hearing officer of the state motor vehicles department recently said he thought there was a "good chance" that Andrews' license would be revoked if the May 17 citation were upheld.

Andrews only recently completed the state's driving improvement course—when his speeding point total came perilously close to causing him to lose his license. Completion of the course knocks points off a driver's record.

He blames his poor driving record on the thousands of miles he drives each year between Washington, D.C. and his Siler City, N.C. home.

Police Decoys Bring Arrests

RALEIGH (AP) — Using undercover female officers, police have arrested 16 persons during the past two weeks in a crackdown on prostitution in downtown Raleigh.

They made their latest arrests Friday, when two young men were charged with soliciting a female police officer for prostitution.

The use of female undercover police officers has cut down sharply on prostitute solicitation in the area, detectives said Friday.

Arrested Friday were Vernell Nelson Smith, 22, of Raleigh, and Steven Lawrence Perry, 20, of Raleigh. They were charged with soliciting for prostitution and aiding and abetting in prostitution. Perry was also charged with simple possession of two grams of marijuana.

At this time of the tobacco growing season, we usually are on the lookout for hornworms. Some control programs are improperly applied and improperly timed.

A control program is not justified unless the hornworm is causing more damage than the cost of an insecticide application. To justify control, hornworms must eat about one whole leaf per seven plants. The number of eggs and small worms give very little indication of the number of big worms that will be produced because wasps and other predators destroy them. Ninety percent of the damage is done by the large worms.

The proper time to apply insecticides is when the hornworms are about two inches long. It would be a good idea to check the hornworm infestation before applying a recommended insecticide. As a guide, examine 50 widely scattered plants throughout each field and count the number of worms that are from one to two inches in length. If five or more worms of this size are present the cost of insecticides, machinery, and labor would be justified. Fields should be examined weekly as discussed above in order to know just what the hornworm situation is at all times. The hornworms are much easier and more economical to kill when they are small than when they get large. If treatment is delayed until several large worms are present, they should be killed quickly with a more complete coverage using a full dosage of the recommended insecticide.

Since the hornworm population varies from year to year and from field to field, it is essential for growers to examine their fields frequently and treat when necessary; but treat only when necessary to avoid excessive insecticidal residue and to save money.

Can I Repaint My House With Latex?

Latex paints are becoming increasingly popular for repainting the house exterior. A question that often comes up is "Will the Paint bond to the existing paint?" A new Forest Service Research Note describes a simple test which can be used to answer the question. Prepare the old surface for repainting by scraping off loose paint and cleaning the surface with a mildewcide and then water. Then leave to dry for 2 or 3 days before painting a small area of old paint surface with the latex paint. Allow it to dry for at least 24 hours, then firmly press one end of an adhesive type of tape about 2 1/2 inch long by 1 inch wide onto the dry freshly painted surface. Withdraw the tape quickly. If it is free of paint, repainting can be started. If the next latex paint adheres to the tape, you need to apply an oil-base primer before repainting with latex.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JUNE 22, 1976

Your DAILY HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Despite delays and obstacles in business or financial affairs, act in a positive manner, since the limitations are opportunities giving you more time and the chance to be more successful in the long run in all such matters.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Save for future opportunities. Be alert to some good chance to advance. Don't permit a squeamish older individual to dissuade you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take the health treatments you need early. Plan time for some group affair that can be good for you. Make fine new contacts.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study carefully how to have a more solid basis to all of your interests so that they work out better. Get decks cleared for important developments.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Talk personal matters over with a good friend for advice. Attend some social affair you truly like. Use charm, wit.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't take any risks though you may have to handle problems in the business world. Listen to higher-up's suggestions.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study novel ideas given you; don't expect immediate results, but give them time to germinate in your mind, then act.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Find more efficient method for handling obligations. Get together with good friends for an enjoyable time. Take no chances with your purse or reputation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you want to make some change with an associate, it will be done gradually for best results. Handle civic matter.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find a better system for handling all those duties ahead of you and avoid the regular stumbling blocks you have been encountering.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get rid of some annoying problem before you go out for recreation you want. Talk problems over with mate and clear them up.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) It may take time to get home problems settled, but be patient. You are doing better than you think. Entertain in evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You may think you don't have enough backing for your needs, but it is ample if you apply it properly. Handle that correspondence without further ado.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . or she will be one of those leader type of children who will influence others easily, will have to suffer a few hard knocks in the process of learning, but will weather them nicely, will rise above others and will advance quickly in life. Big success comes during the middle years after much experimentation until the specialized line comes into focus. Give as much education as your progeny will take. Religion a must here and sports also.

GOREN BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF

Q.1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠6 ♣Q7 ♣Q843 ♠A10732
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠
 Pass 1 NT Pass 1 ♠
 2 ♠ Pass ?
 What action do you take?

A.—We are not exactly enamored with a partner who has a habit of overcalling in the opponent's suit, especially when we're vulnerable. However, partner is aware of the vulnerability and, unless there is good cause to believe he has taken leave of his senses, there is no reason for us to launch a rescue operation—even if partner gets doubled!

Q.2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠K872 ♠AQ1072 ♠95 ♠84
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 Pass Pass 1 ♠ Dble.
 What do you bid?

A.—East's barrage has made it difficult to bid this hand accurately, but under the circumstances, we are willing to commit the hand to game in one of the major suits, and we would not blame you if you simply bid four hearts. However, the hand might play better in spades, so we suggest a cue-bid of four diamonds (four clubs might be misinterpreted) to ask partner to choose between the majors.

Q.3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠83 ♠J9852 ♠10952 ♠74
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 NT Dble. Rdbld. ?
 What action do you take?

A.—Pass. There is no need to act at the moment. Partner must realize from the auction that you have little or nothing. If he rescues to two clubs, you can now introduce your hearts. The trouble with bidding two hearts immediately is that partner might rescue himself into diamonds, and you surely do not want to bypass this spot, which should be your best contract.

Q.4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠J ♠AQ872 ♠10943 ♠Q72
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Dble.
 1 ♠ Pass ?
 What action do you take?

A.—Pass. Since you have full values for your bid, and stoppers or semi-stoppers in all unbid suits, you have every reason to expect to make your contract with perhaps an overtrick or two, worth 200 apiece at this vulnerability. The only alternative is to redouble, but that gives the opponents a chance to wiggle into a contract where you may not be able to penalize them severely.

Q.5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠95 ♠AQ1072 ♠AQ10 ♠K98
 The bidding has proceeded:
 The Iroquois theater fire in Chicago, Dec. 30, 1903, killed 602.

South West North East
 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ 2 ♠ ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—You might or might not have a game in no trump, but there is no reason to explore this possibility. Your hand should produce at least five tricks on defense against diamonds and if partner has some useful values, two diamonds might be beaten very badly indeed. Double. This is a cooperative action, for if partner's hand is insufficient to defend against diamonds, he is allowed to remove your double.

Q.6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠J ♠Q982 ♠AK3 ♠A10542
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
 2 ♠ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—Slam might be just around the corner, for you have an excellent hand in support of hearts. A jump to four hearts doesn't even come close to doing it justice. You should first bid three diamonds, intending to complete the picture of your hand by jumping in hearts at your next turn.

Q.7—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠Q98 ♠A72 ♠J8732 ♠108
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 Pass Pass 1 NT Pass
 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?
 What action do you take?

A.—Pass. There is no convenient bid you can make. It's true that by passing you could end up playing in a 4-2 fit when you have a 5-3 spade fit available, but that is unlikely in view of partner's failure to raise spades. This hand has all the earmarks of a misfit, so the prudent course is to get out of the auction as quickly as possible. Don't even consider no trump—you have no source of tricks.

Carter Forces Dominate Rules Committee Action

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters of Jimmy Carter have shown they are uninterested in pushing major structural changes within the Democratic party during the Democratic national convention in New York next month.

Carter forces were in firm control as the party's rules committee defeated nearly every proposal for substantial change considered in two days of weekend meetings. The committee sets the agenda for the convention and recommends changes in procedure.

Among the unsuccessful proposals were moves to establish a system for selecting a vice president and for requiring that women constitute 50 per cent of convention delegates.

Meanwhile, Ronald Reagan cut President Ford's delegate lead by 17 and predicted a first-ballot victory at the GOP national convention. The Associated Press tally shows Ford with 1,005 delegates pledged to him after weekend delegate selection in five states. Reagan had 932.

There are 157 delegates remaining to be chosen and 164 in the uncommitted category. To win, a candidate needs 1,130.

At the Democratic rules committee meeting over the weekend, members voted down a proposal that would have revised the way in which vice presidential candidates are chosen by the convention.

Had the proposals passed, the 1980 vice presidential nominee would have been required to run in at least one presidential primary, to declare his candidacy for the No. 2 spot at least two weeks before the convention, or to be suggested by a presidential candidate two weeks before the convention.

Supporters of the proposed change acknowledged that Carter is using a careful vice presidential selection process this year which closely parallels the method they suggested for 1980 and beyond.

But one Carter strategist said the former Georgia governor did not want to have his hands tied on vice presidential selection if he should win this November and then run again in 1980. So the proposal was defeated in a voice vote by the rules committee.

Another unsuccessful proposed change came from the Democratic Women's Caucus which urged that starting in 1980 half of the delegates to the national convention be women.

Supporters insisted that the 50-50 proposed split did not constitute a quota like those which existed at the 1972 convention and caused deep divisions within the party.

Carter delegates and supporters prepared a substitute offered by former New York Gov. Averill Harriman that called for state Democratic organizations to "promote" equal numbers of male and female delegates, but dropped any rule for enforcement of any proportions.

The Harriman substitute was approved 66 1/2 to 46 1/2 in the only seriously contested issue of two days of meetings. By winning on the substitute, the Carter representatives defeated the women's caucus proposal.

With the active support of the Carter representatives, the Caucus of Black Democrats was successful in passing an amendment to the party's charter that would adopt a formula intended to avert a decline among blacks and minorities among delegates to the national convention.

The charter amendment, approved unanimously, would require specific objectives and timetables for the inclusion of blacks, Spanish-speaking Americans, women, Indians and young people in party affairs.

Sponsors said state party organizations were not bound to meet the objectives and that therefore they are not quotas.

Meanwhile, there were these developments:

—West Virginia Gov. Arch

Moore, a Ford supporter, said the President was assured of 20 votes of his state's 28-member delegation. The AP delegates poll shows seven West Virginia delegates committed to Ford, four to Reagan and 17 uncommitted.

—Carter's campaign manager, Ailton Jordan, said Sunday that the former Georgia governor will run on the Democratic platform as now adopted although he does not agree with every plank.

Jordan told interviewers on NBC's "Meet the Press" program that the platform's language on busing was one example of where the likely candidate disagrees with the plank.

The plank says busing "remains a judicial tool of last resort."

Jordan said Carter opposes busing "but will obey Supreme Court rulings" and, if elected, would try to put the platform into effect.

—House Minority Leader John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., said he is worried about the prospects for a bitter split within the Republican party as the result of the Ford-Reagan campaign.

Rhodes, speaking on the CBS program "Face the Nation," said he assumed the loser between the two candidates would endorse the winner but that a major goal after the GOP convention in August will be to "bring the grass roots back together" within the party.

—Carter returned to his home town on Saturday after climaxing a five-day working vacation with speeches to religious gatherings in Indiana and Georgia.

—The American party, which nominated Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace for president in 1968, this year is putting forward Thomas Jefferson Anderson of Pigeon Forge, Tenn.

Anderson, speaking after his party's convention in Salt Lake City, said all it will take to put him in the White House is a GOP rejection of Ronald Reagan and a little "divine intervention."

Attended Boys' State

Carroll Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Griffin, Jr. of Farmville Boys' State during the week June 13-19. He was sponsored by the American Legion, Post 151 of Farmville.

Griffin was among rising high school seniors from all parts of North Carolina sent to Wake Forest University to hear lectures and discussions by public officials, faculty members and leading Legionnaires.

CARROLL GRIFFIN

Boys' State is an objective citizenship school in which male youth leaders are exposed to the functions and operations of government. Political parties are organized with every boy playing a part of the mock government. State, county, and municipal elections are held. One of the main objectives of the school is to teach the young men about American citizenship.

Charge Suspect In Gun Slaying

RALEIGH (AP) — Raleigh police have charged a Durham man in connection with the Wednesday night murder of a Nigerian exchange student.

Charged with being "an accessory before and after" the shooting of Donald D. Obi-Obasi was Roy Lee Cates.

Cates was arrested Saturday and held in Wake County jail on $25,000 bond.

Twenty-five-year-old Obi-Obasi was found shot at his Washington Terrace apartment Wednesday shot once in the midsection.

Police have speculated that he was killed in a case of mistaken identity.

PIRATED TAPES — Agent Larry Wheeler of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation displays some of the more than 52,000 pirated stereo tapes confiscated in the six weeks since the FBI began a crackdown. Wheeler said in Atlanta that the tapes, which sell from $150 to two for $5, have an estimated value of $413,000. He said those convicted of selling the illegal tapes can be fined up to $25,000 for a first offense. (AP Wirephoto)
