

SEPTEMBER 1, 1976
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WASHINGTON -- The following letter was today transmitted to House Speaker Carl Albert.

Dear Sir:

I hereby resign my office as Representative in the Congress of the United States from the 18th District of Ohio, effective immediately.

With great respect,

Wayne L. Hays

Probe Halted By Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — His political power destroyed by scandal, Wayne L. Hays chose resignation from Congress as the only way left to halt the House ethics committee's investigation into payroll-sex charges.

The Ohio Democrat quit late Wednesday after a two-day effort by his aides to negotiate an end to the ethics committee investigation. The ethics panel quickly terminated the probe when Hays resigned.

Hays' resignation ended 28 years in Congress during which he built his chairmanship of the House Administration Committee into a pinnacle of legislative power.

The power he wielded, sometimes with seeming arrogance, began to crumble three months ago when the payroll-sex charge by Elizabeth Ray touched off a Capitol Hill scandal that involved sex allegations against half a dozen congressmen.

Sources close to the ethics committee said one reason Hays wanted to halt the panel's inquiry was his concern that the publicity and lurid details would put too much emotional pressure on his wife, Pat.

House Speaker Carl Albert told newsmen after he received Hays' resignation letter: "I think he did it to save his family."

Hays' press secretary, Carol Clawson, said earlier this week that Mrs. Hays had suffered emotional stress.

The resignation came two days after the ethics committee voted to begin hearings into the allegations that Hays put Miss Ray on the payroll of the Administration Committee, although she had little to do other than provide him with sex.

The ethics panel had said it would continue with its plans for hearings, despite a plea that Hays was too mentally depressed to defend himself.

Although the resignation halted the ethics panel hearings, it does not affect federal grand jury and Justice Department investigations of the charge. But there have been reports that those probes are stalled because of a lack of corroboration of Miss Ray's story.

Hays' resignation was read to the House about an hour after being delivered to Albert, but it produced no visible reaction from the congressmen present.

The ethics committee voted to end its three-month-old probe of the scandal on grounds that Hays was no longer a congressman and no longer under the panel's jurisdiction.

Committee chairman John Flynt, D-Ga., said the panel did not make a deal with Hays to drop the probe in return for his resignation. He declined to answer when asked if the inquiry had uncovered additional sex allegations.

'Great Debates' Planned To Begin September 23

By DAVE RILEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stay tuned for the Great Debates, starring (in alphabetical order) Jimmy Carter and Gerald Ford, and billed as the political spectacle of the decade.

Democratic presidential nominee Carter and Republican candidate Ford agreed Wednesday to meet for three nationally televised debates, with the first live confrontation scheduled for Sept. 23, a Thursday.

The debates will be the first between presidential candidates since the clashes between John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon in 1960.

Negotiators for the two candidates reached agreement on the format for the debates after an all-day meeting Wednesday with representatives of the League of Women Voters, which will sponsor the debates.

In addition to the trio of debates involving the presidential candidates, an unprecedented debate between the two vice presidential candidates, Republican Sen. Bob Dole and Democratic Sen. Walter Mondale, will be slipped in after the second Carter-Ford meeting.

The topic for the first Ford-Carter debate will be economic and domestic issues. The second debate topic will be defense and foreign policy and the final meeting will be open to any subject.

Both Ford and Carter hailed the agreement.

"I believe the American people will be the winners," Ford said.

The President earlier had spent part of the day arguing for increased defense spending and a strong U.S. military posture overseas in a speech before a National Guard group.

Then, meeting with reporters at a hastily called news conference on the White House lawn, Ford said debates "are very important" and will give voters "an honest picture of the candidates."

Meanwhile, Carter said at his home in Plains, Ga., that the debates will not make or break either candidate unless one of them "failed miserably."

He added: "I think I can hold my own. I do intend to be aggressive and to draw as sharp a comparison as I can between President Ford and myself and our ability to lead this country."

Carter indicated that the Ford negotiators had given way on nearly every point that Carter stressed. Carter had wanted the first debate topic to be the economy and domestic affairs, which it will be, and not foreign policy, which Ford had wanted. And the debate will take place somewhere other than Washington, also as Carter had sought.

While the final details of the debates are to be decided later by the League of Women Voters, Rita Hauser of the league's organizing panel said the initial meeting will be a 90-minute session at a yet undetermined site.

FIRST DEBATE SET — William Ruckelshaus, left, President Ford's negotiator, and Jody Powell, Jimmy Carter's press secretary, hold a joint press conference in Washington to announce that Ford and Carter will argue domestic issues before a national television audience Sept. 23 in the first face-to-face presidential campaign debate in 16 years. At center is Rita Hauser, of the League of Women Voters, who will sponsor the debates. (AP Wirephoto)

Dole In Salisbury; Says Carter Just Too Liberal

By TOM RAUM

Associated Press Writer SALISBURY, N.C. (AP) — Republican vice presidential nominee Bob Dole, calling Jimmy Carter too liberal for the South, predicts that the GOP will triumph in Dixie in November.

Dole said Wednesday that the Democratic presidential candidate is losing the Southern backing he may have once had because he and running mate Walter Mondale are espousing a liberal platform "so far to the left that many of us would slide right off."

Dole completes a two-day swing through the South today by participating in "Elizabeth Dole Day" in his wife's hometown here and by South Carolina campaign appearances in Fountain Inn and Spartanburg.

In Georgia and North Carolina, President Ford's running mate depicted Carter and Mondale as ultraliberals.

"One thing in common they have is a very liberal philosophy that's alien to the South and alien to the rest of this country," the Kansas senator told a meeting of Georgia's Republican Central Committee in Macon.

Dole accused Carter of misleading Georgians by promising them in 1970, when he ran for governor, that he wouldn't raise taxes. Shortly after Carter took office, "he imposed the first tax increase since 1955, most of it in direct consumer taxes," Dole said. "He increased cigarette taxes, gasoline tax and cut the personal income tax exemption."

He claimed that during Carter's term in office, per capita state taxes increased from $207 in 1970 to $311 in 1974, or an increase of 51 per cent.

Carter staffers didn't deny that some taxes were raised, but they said Dole's figures showed tax revenues went up by 51 per cent, not the tax rate itself.

HOTLINE

752-1336

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day.

FRIENDS OF ANIMALS

Please tell me who to contact about getting a reduced rate on having an animal spayed. I've been looking in the phone book and I can't find it. K. J.

The Friends of Animals representative for this area is Dr. Nicole Aronson. Her phone number is 752-2895.

She said she'd be delighted to hear from you or from anyone who has a dog or cat he or she would like to have neutered. The purpose of the program is to prevent the birth of unwanted cats and dogs. She asks only that persons calling truly be in need of the financial break given, because it's the veterinarians who accept the loss and Friends of Animals does not, of course, want to impose upon their generosity. FOA has no funds of its own, and acts only to do the screening and paperwork for the spaying program, she explained.

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

REPEAT

Hotline has had so many requests for the name of the assumed nearest place to have motor vehicle speedometers calibrated that we're repeating the answer given a few months ago. It's Lester Gaskins Auto Service, 2206 Neuse Blvd., New Bern; phone 637-4461. The cost is $5 and a notarized statement of calibration is provided. No appointment is needed, the owner told us.

If at any time this service becomes available in the Greenville area, Hotline would like to know about it so we may refer our readers to a closer place.

House Rejects Pay Raise In Election Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is now up to the Senate to decide whether senators, congressmen and other members of the upper strata of the federal government should accept pay raises in the home stretch of a national election year.

Members of the House of representatives, most of them in the midst of re-election campaigns, decided on a 325 to 75 vote Wednesday that they really don't need election year pay hikes. And, in a surprise move, the House also decided the election year salary increases should be denied to senators, federal judges and high executive officials.

The pay raise for the lawmakers and high-level officials would be automatic as of Oct. 1 under usual procedure. If members of the House and Senate take their automatic pay raises their salaries would rise from $44,600 a year to about $46,740 a year.

The House voted against the pay raises by adding an amendment to the bill that provides money to run Congress and its related agencies. The House then passed the $780-million measure.

The bill now goes to the Senate, which is expected to take it up after the Labor Day recess.

While all House seats are up for election, only one-third of the Senate seats are at stake and senators presumably are feeling less political pressure to avoid a raise that might inflame voters.

Moreover, senators favoring the raise can argue that it would be unfair to deny the adjustment to about 2,000 non-elected workers.

If the Senate disagrees with the House about the need for pay raises, the issue will go to a conference committee for resolution.

The outlook for the increases was further complicated by some Republicans' charges that the House vote was a sham because the possibility remains that there still will be a pay raise after the election.

protesters, who were rallying to show solidarity with South Africa's blacks. Police used the tear gas after demonstrators smashed a police truck with stones and scaffolding poles from a building site. Screaming and choking bystanders ran for cover in nearby shops and office buildings.

Traffic in the area came to a halt as the demonstrators marched through the center of town, rocking cars and molesting whites. Elderly women were knocked down in a baton charge by police, and pedestrians in Adderley Street, one of Cape Town's main arteries, fled for refuge.

The demonstrators then broke up into several groups. One group marched past the Houses of Parliament and a larger group gathered in Greenmarket Square. There were no reports of serious injuries. In Johannesburg, the South African Council of Churches called on South Africans "concerned with the need for Christian justice" to note the widespread detentions of black leaders in South Africa in recent weeks.

Over 800 blacks have been detained, many under laws providing indefinite detention without trial, as the government moved to crush widespread rioting in segregated black and colored townships across the country since June 16.

"It is alarming that protest by South Africans concerned with the need for Christian justice has been almost nil," the statement said. "As Christians we must protest in the strongest possible terms this flagrant violation of human rights. And we call for the release of those detained — or for them to be charged," it added.

In Durban, transport for thousands of black and white commuters was disrupted in a strike over higher wages by 500 black bus drivers. They are demanding a raise of $105 a month following a decision to give white drivers a higher rate of pay than blacks, colored and Indians.

Prime Minister John Vorster has rejected Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's criticism of South Africa's racial policies, saying "moral lessons and threats" from outsiders will not influence his government.

Male Roommate Upsets Parents

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter was recently transferred to a large city where the crime rate is very high. She is 29, unmarried and self-supporting, and she has always had very high moral standards. She told us that she would try to find a roommate to share expenses.

She telephoned us last Sunday to say she'd found a very nice GENTLEMAN who is now her roommate! She assured us that she rented a two-bedroom apartment, that everything was on the up and up and that there was no romantic interest whatsoever! She explained that a male in the apartment is much better protection in a big city than another girl is. He is 33, single, of course, and an assistant coach at a high school.

Abby, I believe our daughter and trust her. When I told her father, he said maybe it will be "innocent" for a while, but not for long. Also, when people find out she's living with a man, her reputation will suffer. What do you think?
OLD-FASHIONED PARENT

DEAR OLD-FASHIONED: A self-supporting 29-year-old woman is old enough to select her own lifestyle, and I think her reasons for preferring to share an apartment with a man are valid.

As for her reputation "suffering": It won't suffer among those who really know her, and that's what counts.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has this friend who is always dropping in around suppertime. Of course we have to ask him to stay for supper, but that's not the half of it. He sits around until 1:00 or 2:00 in the morning.

We've had to change our plans because of his unexpected visits. Sometimes he even brings his girlfriend along.

We have hinted that he should please let us know when he's coming, but it hasn't done any good. What should we do? We don't want to hurt his feelings, as he's a very sensitive man.

NEEDS HELP IN OHIO

DEAR NEEDS: Sensitive? No way! Quit hinting. That's like using a BB gun when you need a cannon. Tell him what you told me. And if you don't get him to respect your wishes, you deserve the inconvenience he's causing you.

DEAR ABBY: The person who complained about our rising postal rates should count his blessings. Let's make some comparisons:

A first class letter costs 18¢ to mail in Britain, 17¢ in Japan, 18¢ in France, 19¢ in Germany and 23¢ in Sweden! In the U.S.A. for 13¢ plus the price of a greeting card, you can:

Warm a heart, hold a hand, lend an ear, tickle a funnybone, dry an eye, surprise a child, woo a sweetheart, toast a bride, welcome a stranger, wave goodbye, shout bravo and even start a tradition.

Why dwell on how much things cost? Instead, be grateful for how much can be done for so little!
Buck up, WOONSOCKET, buck up!

FAMILY DINNER
Veal Stew with Peas

Noodles Salad
Purple Plums Cupcakes

VEAL STEW WITH PEAS
2 pounds cut-up boneless
stewing veal

3 tablespoons flour
2 to 3 tablespoons oil

1 medium onion, cut in thin strips

1-4 teaspoons salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper

1-4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon paprika

1-2 cups clear fat-free
chicken broth

1 cup sliced celery
10-ounce package frozen
tiny green peas

Coat veal with the flour. In a Dutch oven heat the oil; add veal and brown; remove veal. In the drippings in the Dutch oven brown the onion; stir in spices, then broth and celery. Replace veal in Dutch oven. Simmer, covered, until tender — about 1 hour. Skim off excess fat. Add peas and simmer, covered, just until they are tender. Makes 6 servings.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

About ten years ago, a couple of boys were looking for a "snap course." They infiltrated a home ec. class.

It became so popular throughout the country that special classes were formed and named "Bachelor Survival." In the past three years, the male enrollment has not only doubled, but in some high schools the males outnumber the females at the stoves.

What impact has this new breed had on our life styles? I'll tell you what impact it's had. This country is producing (at an astronomical rate) what women who live in the kitchen refer to as "Domestic Jocks."

They're the Super Stars of the souffles... the dazzlers of the micro waves... the weekend headliners at the outdoor grills.

But they're stars. They don't do pans, spots, stains or ovens. They don't touch charcoal, dripping beaters, dirty blenders or skillet that have to be soaked. When they cook, it's first class all the way — fresh garlic, fresh lemons, fresh parsley and fresh mushrooms.

My husband never cooks out that I don't feel like I am assisting a surgeon at a double valve by-pass.

"Tongs! Quick! The tongs!" he commands. (I slap them professionally in his hands.)

"Good Lord, woman. I'm not plucking a baby bottle out of the water. I need tongs for steaks."

Next, "The pepper mill. Wipe."

I press a dish towel to his forehead.

"Not the perspiration, you turkey — the sauce from my cute apron."

After hours of intense concentration, the Domestic Jock speaks. "Are the plates and forks for the salad chilled? Good. The potatoes done? The vegetables cooked just to the peak of flavor? Good. You sprayed for bugs? Fine. Because we are ready to eat. . . . NOW!"

No warning. No time to socialize. No second drink. Just like that. When he says the steaks are done, we are expected to have our forks poised for the first bite.

The other night he wandered into the kitchen, peeled off his asbestos mittens and threw them into the clothes hamper. "Well, I pulled another one through," he said. I looked at the kitchen sink, piled high with dirty pots, pans and dishes, the countertop with melted butter, dirty utensils, leftover rolls and wilted salad. The grill was corroded with barbecue sauce.

"Next weekend I think I'll do my kabob number on the grill."

I gave him a fetal ovation.

Preparation Costs

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Twenty-three cents of every dollar spent on food represents the cost of processing and packaging, says Janet Wilson, consumer education specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Reunion Sunday

A family reunion was held Sunday at the home of Mrs. Katie Teel, 419 Moore Street, Greenville.

Mrs. Teel was honored by having 10 of her 11 children attending, along with 13 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren. Out-of-town friends present included Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Evans of Roselle, N.J., and Mrs. Emma Jones and Mrs. Ruth Rogers, both of Elizabeth, N.J. A buffet dinner was served.

Ms. Wilson says processing alone accounts for more than half the total price of the food.

"As for packaging, you sometimes pay more for the container than the food itself," she said.

Pet Show Held

Greenville Chapter No. 1308, Women of the Moose, sponsored its first pet show Sunday afternoon in the picnic area of the Moose Temple. The show was a project of the chapter's Library Committee, with Carolyn Hebron as chairman.

Judging started at 3 o'clock and winners in dog classifications included: largest dog, Jim Gantz and Steve Peszko; smallest dog, Starr Hall, Frances Breedlove, and Norma Roberson; most obedient, Sandy Barker, Norma Roberson, and Linda O'Neal; best groomed, Kim Blow, Sandy Barker, and Jamie Dunn; best trick performer, Starr Hall; brightest eyes, Shellia Huffman, Steve Peszko, and Marie Carroll, and most stubborn, Alma Lee, Frances Breedlove, and Norma Roberson.

Pets entered by Kim Windy Mills and Hugh John Carroll swept the field in cat classifications. The Mills entry took first place for the longest hair and oddest color. The Carroll pet was first with the shortest hair and brightest eyes and both entries were given first place ribbons for the best groomed.

Janie Hackett's turkey was first among unusual pets; Diane Sladek's frog won second place and a chicken that lays colored eggs, entered by Jeff Hackett, was third.

The show's top honor went to Sandy Barker's dog, selected as the best in the show. David Langston, of Pic-A-Pet, served as judge.

Each contestant was given a jump rope and colorful book cover. Refreshments were available during the afternoon and cakes made by WOTM members were on sale.

Good Start For The New Term

Thousands of school children returned to the classrooms this week as another term began for Greenville and Pitt County.

Opening day went smoothly for both school systems.

"Things are going very well," Thomas Craft of the Pitt Schools said. Around 11,600 students were anticipated and most schools reported smooth openings.

Greenville Supt. Glenn Cox said everything seemed in good order on the first day of classes.

Even as the Greenville schools opened planning was underway for some extensive renovations to correct deficiencies found in the buildings recently. Repairs will be underway at Agnes Fullilove School and roof repair will get underway at Aycock Junior High. Third Street School was not being used this year due to extensive structural problems found late in the school year last spring. That school, however, is also scheduled for renovation for future use.

In a few days the students and faculty of the various schools will be settled down to the regular routine of the classroom. This is in sharp contrast to school openings of some years back.

Some of the credit for orderly opening of schools goes to administrators who are planning carefully for the new school year. It is also helpful that teachers come back on duty several days before classes begin. The extra time they have gives them a chance to plan for the new school year.

Certainly much of the credit goes to the students themselves who it seems now overwhelmingly recognize the need for an education.

Surprising If Congress Ignored Move

A Senate and House conference committee has agreed to extend the individual tax cuts enacted last year through the calendar year of 1977.

It would have been surprising if Congress had done anything else in this election year. Nevertheless, the tax cut extension seems to us a good move. The nation has still not fully recovered from the recession and to have taken the funds out of the consumer's hands at this time could not have been good economics.

INSIDE VIETNAM

Viets Look For Help

By COLIN HAOTH
Written for Canadian Press
HANOI, Vietnam (AP) — Vietnam is slowly opening its doors to the West as the government in Hanoi seeks money and technology for postwar reconstruction.

"We have just and reasonable policies," Deputy Foreign Minister Phan Hien said in an interview. "Today, we have need of aid and we shall not refuse it, wherever it comes from, so long as it has no political ties whatsoever."

In the bar of the Thang Loi Hotel, the drinkers are certain to include Soviet technicians, East German seamen and Polish engineers. But increasingly there are Westerners: a French ship owner, an Australian wool salesman, a British industrialist, perhaps a Canadian oilman.

Vietnam appears to have identified Canada as an immediate source of assistance. The recent invitation to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to film a report on life in both North and South Vietnam was seen by diplomats here as the opening shot in Hanoi's wooing of the Ottawa government.

Similar approaches also are being made to West Germany and Norway.

The Vietnamese "have no alternative but to go for a period of economic recovery," commented one longtime diplomatic observer here. "The people in the North are looking for some improvements in their way of life and the government knows it."

The economy is based more on muscle-power than machines.

At a construction site for the city's flood defenses, workers haul dirt from the river bank to the dikes in baskets suspended from poles across their shoulders.

In the countryside, commune workers stand for hours rhythmically swinging a wooden bucket to scoop water from a canal into the rice paddy. Highways are dotted with heavily-laden carts, each pulled by a peasant.

In the North most food is rationed. The system seems to ensure that a basic supply of essential foods is available to the people at low prices at state stores. At times there are shortages. But at most times there also is additional food on the free market, although prices there for meat, bread or sugar are as much as five times the official level.

Wages are low, although the government is experimenting with productivity bonuses for workers in priority industries. Some of the wealthiest men in Vietnam today are coal miners digging open-cast coal for export to Japan. But those who have money find few things available to buy.

"Certainly our men could afford refrigerators or television sets," the manager at the Ha Tu mine said. "But such things are not available at present."

A visitor to Saigon senses a certain amount of fear among the southerners. They appear to be afraid to be seen talking to foreigners. Many say they will not mail letters to friends abroad in case their loyalty to the new regime should be questioned.

In private conversations, the few that this visitor was able to meet spoke of escape.

Concern among southerners on how they will fit into the new Socialist society appears widespread. Many are reported fearful that if they have no jobs in the city, they will be forced into the countryside to work in the "new economic zones," the farm areas in which new villages are being organized to increase food production.

Officials have acknowledged they intend to relocate at least one million Saigon residents within a year.

So far, the northerners have handled the south with kid gloves. There has been no overt repression except perhaps for the continued detention of thousands of former southern army officers and senior civil servants who still are undergoing "re-education."

THIS AFTERNOON

Restraint On Private Aid

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — "What does it profit a private institution to be saved by public funds if in the process it loses the very attributes which made it worth saving as a private institution in the first place?"

With that paraphrasing of the Biblical injunction, the recently installed chairman of the University of North Carolina Board of Governors has joined the running debate over public funding of private colleges and universities, coming down hard on the side of continued independence for the schools by less involvement of public money.

William A. Johnson, an attorney from Lillington, former Commissioner of Revenue under Gov. Terry Sanford, former Superior Court judge, member of the UNC Board of Trustees for 11 years, and now chairman of the board which oversees the entire public university system, says the Board of Governors "will oppose any effort to increase substantially the state funds going to the private sector."

Own Good
That opposition, he told a convocation of the faculty at Campbell College recently, is really for the good of the private colleges and universities.

The recent dramatic increase in public funds for private institutions approaches "a magnitude which should start alarm bells ringing in the minds of all of us who care about the future of higher education," Campbell said. Total state aid in North Carolina was $6.8 million last fiscal year.

The question is critical whether private schools can maintain their independence while accepting state and federal funds in ever-increasing amounts, Johnson said, and the resolution "may very well determine whether our dual system of higher education . . . will be able to survive."

What will be the ultimate impact of the aid program?

First, Johnson said, we have already reached the point where private colleges may no longer accurately be considered strictly private, and the public is showing concern with policies and practices of the private schools — such things as admissions, salaries, budgets, programs.

Public institutions must conduct business openly, and this leads to a double standard. Further, public schools must weigh programs in the balance of overall state needs; private schools can establish programs of their own. Also, he noted, desegregation compliance falls largely on public schools, not private.

Erode, Destroy
Continued acceptance of public funds will "erode and finally destroy the private character" leading to requirements that the private sector integrate programs into the whole system of higher education, public review of business practices, public examination of budgets, inquiry into duplication of programs and use of facilities, public involvement in admission policies, and "perhaps even public study to determine whether all existing private institutions should be preserved. . . . Johnson warned.

More likely and at hand is the danger that the private schools will "lose their diversity and competitive zeal along with their freedom and independence. . . sources of (financial) support will likely shrink . . . a breach between public and private sectors will likely develop."

"The most serious consequence of all will fall on church related institutions. . . (which) will be practically secularized and will lose their religious character and significance," Johnson said.

The chairman said pleas for public aid are "bottomed on the premise that such aid is necessary to save the private colleges and universities. . . I argue that it is not enough just to preserve these institutions. They must be preserved as free and independent . . . or they shall lose those very attributes and characteristics which make them so unique and so valuable . . . this cannot be done if we continue to pump more and more public money into the private higher education machine."

Strength For Today

SELF-PITY
Few things are more devastating than self-pity. Some people take morbid delight in thinking of the slights to which they have been subjected and the malice which their associates have shown toward them. They continually brood over the prizes which should have justly been theirs and which they have seen go to the unworthy.

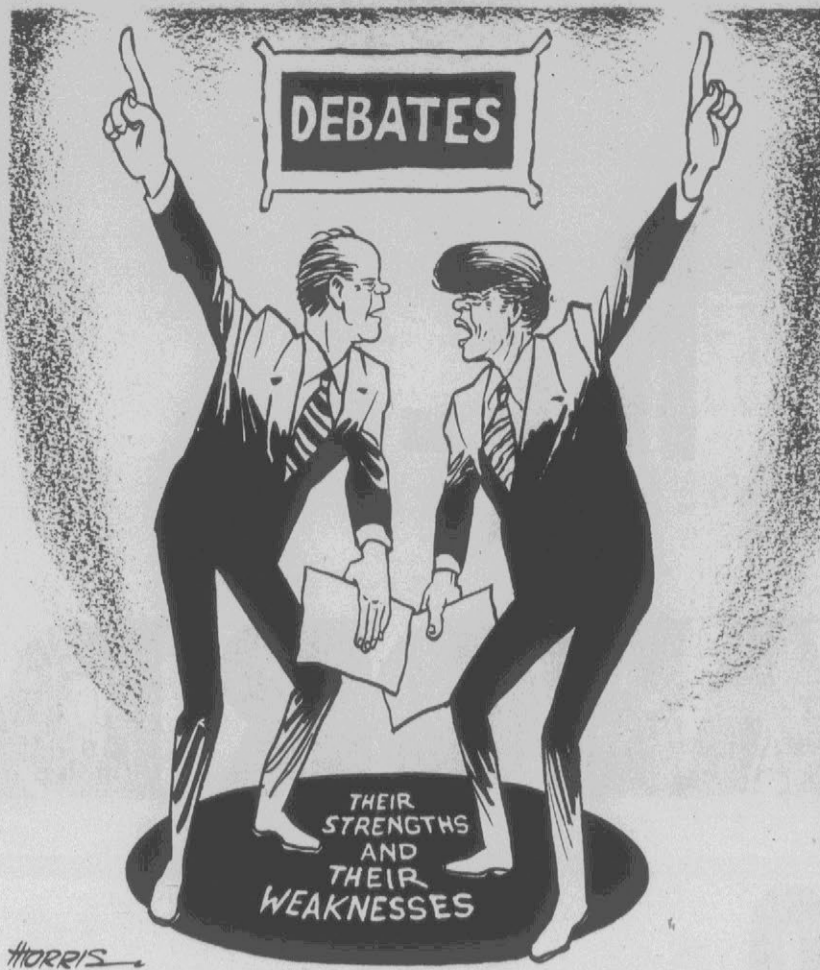

That there is much injustice and little gratitude in the world no one can deny. If we are going to be hurt every time we do not get credit for the good we have done, or every time we are unjustly accused, we are going to manufacture a lot of misery for ourselves.

Well-adjusted people disengage themselves from the injustices of life with a shrug of the shoulders. But there is an even better response than that. People who are truly noble of heart have always used occurrences such as these as the starting point of a better life. It takes a lot of courage to make achievements stem from apparent defeat. But it can be done.

TWO MEN ON A SPOT!

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

What Has Gone Wrong?

The FBI's Uniform Crime Report turns up in the mail toward the end of every August; and every August the Report provides melancholy reading. This year's edition prompts a sad and sobering question: What ever became of simple honesty in America?

Violent, yes. We have a long and ugly tradition of gunslinging, lynch law and barroom brawls. But dishonest? Larcenous? Our people were not always this way. Most Americans of middle age can remember a time when houses were seldom locked, and bicycles were not casually stolen, and the rare bank robbery was a national news event. There once was a time when property was generally, if not perfectly, respected. Even in the depths of the Depression, when millions of our people were desperately poor, stealing was not pervasive.

What has gone wrong? Over the 15 years between 1960 and 1975, our population increased by roughly 15 percent. In this same period, crimes against property increased by 178 percent.

In 1960, the FBI reported 1,034 larcenies per 100,000 population. Last year the rate was 2,805. In 1960, the rate on motor vehicle thefts was 183; last year it was 469.

Perhaps whole numbers carry greater impact. In 1960, the FBI reported 912,000 burglaries. Last year the figure was 3,252,000 burglaries, an increase of 256 percent. The increase in robberies was even greater, from 108,000 in 1960 to 465,000 last year.

What accounts for this cancerous growth within our society? How do you explain the figures?

If we were dealing with crimes of violence, perhaps some blame might rationally be laid on TV. It seems reasonable to surmise that a generation of young people, reared to seeing blood shed in living color on the screen, might incline toward violence on the streets. You could turn around on the easy availability of handguns. You might find a farfetched explanation in the experience of violence in Vietnam. In the matter of rape, which now occurs on an average of once every nine minutes, you might talk of changing sexual mores.

But one searches in vain for an explanation of the soaring increase in crimes against property. Doubtless, drugs are a factor; addicts steal to support their habits. Poverty may account for some thefts; people steal to eat — but our people have been poor before, much poorer than they are now, and the country experienced no such fearful invasion of property rights.

The worst of the situation, perhaps, is that the FBI's Report depicts only a part — the most obvious part — of the appalling picture. Across the country, merchants suffer from a plague of shoplifting that hurts every consumer. At the highest levels of the business community, tales of bribery abound. Within the medical profession, the number of fraudulent Medicare-Medicaid claims increases. We have cheating scandals in our greatest universities and in the service academies.

Where have we lost the way? How did we manage to lose the way so quickly? When crime increases at more than 10 times the rate of population increase, our country suffers a raging, epidemic illness.

Has the machinery of law enforcement failed? Evidently it has. Barely one out of every five crimes against property is cleared by arrest. Of those arrested, only two-thirds are found guilty as charged. Of those two-thirds, perhaps one-third actually serve time in jail. The juvenile who steals a car knows that the odds are twenty to one against his ever

Arms Sales Hurdle

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration's $5.9-billion arms package, the bulk of which would go to Iran, faces roadblocks in Congress based on fear of an uncontrollable arms race in the Persian Gulf and concern for Israel's security.

Calling the United States the would-be "arms pusher of the century," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has pledged to introduce resolutions to block most, if not all, of the projected sales to 10 countries before Congress adjourns on Oct. 2.

Sources said that other senators and a group of House members following the lead of Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., are prepared to whittle away at the Saudi Arabia share.

In an 11th-hour concession, the Ford administration trimmed its Saudi request to 850 Sidewinder and 650 Maverick missiles, but pro-Israel minded congressmen still may hack away at the total.

Recent legislation gives Congress authority to kill any foreign arms deal involving $25 million or more within 30 days of formal notification.

A Senate staff study published Aug. 2 said U.S. arms sales to Iran have been chaotic and are "not yet fully under control." Noting that about 1,500 Defense Department personnel are assigned in Iran, the report said that in the event of a clash in the area "the United States personnel . . . could become, in a sense, hostages."

Proxmire, vowing a floor fight, said, "Iran and Saudi Arabia are maneuvering for military dominance in and around the Arabian Gulf."

He objected also that the Mavericks and Sidewinders ticketed for Saudi Arabia could be turned against Israel. He said that arming Pakistan, which is Japan in a formal note today announced it intended to retain 15,198 tons of submarines in excess of the United States and Great Britain that will make Japanese submarine strength one-third superior to that of the other two naval powers.

The Japanese move was taken in reply to Great Britain's recent invocation of the escalator clause of the London Naval Treaty of 1930, under which the British announced their intention of keeping 40,000 tons of over-age destroyers in excess of the 150,000 tons allowed by the treaty.

Under it, Great Britain, the United States and Japan are allowed 52,700 tons of submarines each.

Ayden evened the count at one-all in the Coastal Plain League post-season finals by taking an 8-6 victory over Kinston yesterday.

With the opening day average on the Greenville tobacco market only a fraction less than 32 per cent higher than on the initial sales day of the 1935 season, prices continued to be good today, although offerings were off.

Other Editors Say A Plus For Lee

(Chapel Hill Newspaper)

Howard Lee's chances of becoming lieutenant governor went up a few points over the weekend when State Senator Ralph Scott (D-Alamance) announced he would be voting for the former Chapel Hill mayor in the September 14th runoff. A word of endorsement from Scott can influence a lot of voters in North Carolina. Scott, the uncle and brother of two former governors, has been a tremendous influence on the political destinies of North Carolina for many years. He has been a very close friend of this University and has continually fought many battles on its behalf.

In typical Ralph Scott fashion he did more than just give Lee an endorsement. He cited Lee's experience as Mayor of Chapel Hill, and explained that Lee had feeling and compassion for people on the lower half of the economic ladder. Scott also stated that he preferred Lee over House Speaker Jimmy Green because he felt that Lee would cooperate better with Democratic gubernatorial nominee Jim Hunt in steering Hunt's programs through the General Assembly if the two are elected in November. Scott based this assumption on Green's inclination not to cooperate with Hunt in past sessions of the General Assembly, especially when Green was presiding over the House and Hunt, as lieutenant governor, presided over the Senate. "Green caused a lot of problems last session and that's all I'm going to say about that," Scott added.

Scott, who has served 11 terms in the legislature, also stated that he felt that Rep. John Jordan, the Democrat from Alamance who announced his support for Green this week, had evidently sold his (Jordan) vote to highest bidder.

When people like Ralph Scott speak up for a candidate, others listen. Howard could not have had a better voice speaking in his behalf over the past weekend.

Why Did U.S. Steel Pull Back?

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — When U.S. Steel raised its prices in 1962 and then backed down when President John F. Kennedy expressed his wrath, it suffered greatly in a public relations sense.

Looking back at the reports of that incident it seems clear, at least from this current perspective, that the entire sorry incident might have been avoided with proper timing.

But, coming as it did immediately after the union had signed a wage agreement, and following what the President interpreted to be an assurance of price stability from management, it was an astonishing public relations blunder.

To a lesser degree, U.S. Steel has done it again in 1976, admitting in effect that it was forced to rescind its third increase in a year for no other major reason than because market conditions wouldn't permit it.

Why then did it try? There's the story, and perhaps also an explanation of the problem that the public would accept.

The company statement on withdrawing the increase, that had been scheduled for Oct. 1, is perhaps more perplexing than explanatory. "In spite of high demand and full cost justification for these products," it said, "competitive factors forced this decision."

The competitive factor simply was that some companies weren't willing to go along, and thus would have undersold U.S. Steel. Economics I explains that this situation results from a weakness of demand.

What other possibility is there? Would the competitors of U.S. Steel forgo an opportunity to get the best dollar possible? Would they sell at a loss just to get the business?

If the demand was so "high," why had some members of the industry, and Wall Street steel analysts too, failed to detect it? Why was the new pricing structure being undermined by suppliers even before it was implemented?

The people in the steel industry know the answers to these questions better than anyone else, but we aren't likely to be afforded an opportunity to listen in on the reasoning behind the strategy.

We do know, from statements by members of the industry and by those outside who make a career of studying it, that cost pressure on U.S. Steel was mounting, threatening the profits it requires to stay alive.

The situation, shared by many other industries also, presents a difficult problem for both them and the country. It is this: How do you promote demand by raising prices? You can't, obviously.

If this is so, how does the country expect to continue moving up out of recession, and especially, how can it do so without sparking another inflationary conflagration?

Nothing demonstrates more clearly that the nation still is fighting the battle for economic stability, that we are still enmeshed in dilemmas, and that by no means are we safely on a smooth road to a strong recovery.

Gifts Put FBI Chief On A Spot

By MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi are considering whether to punish FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley for accepting gifts from senior FBI officials.

Ford asked Levi on Wednesday for a full report on the situation, and Levi put his staff to work preparing it.

Levi said he is reserving judgment on whether Kelley was wrong to accept the gifts, until he reviews the findings in the staff report.

An FBI spokesman said Kelley is "absolutely not" considering resigning. The director believes it was proper for him to accept the gifts and he has no present plans to return any of them or make restitution for them, the spokesman said in response to questions.

In a statement issued Tuesday, Kelley had said he was "prepared to make restitution for any of such gifts which are not clearly permitted" by federal law.

Levi said reports about those recommendations were not entirely accurate, but he declined to elaborate.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford "has complete faith in the FBI director."

And, Levi said, "I think Kelley has been doing an excellent job." But the attorney general declined to say whether his confidence in Kelley was diminished when he learned of the gifts.

A reporter told Levi his praise of Kelley could be construed to mean he was not considering asking the FBI director to resign. "I don't think you should conclude anything," Levi responded.

Asked whether he thinks Kelley should have refused the gifts, Levi replied, "Well, I think you have to know more about it." He said he received staff reports on the situation

Monday, but sent them to Deputy Atty. Gen. Harold R. Tyler before reviewing them himself.

Department sources said the gifts include a $200 walnut table, a $250 clock, a $250 easy chair and a handmade teak and mahogany jewelry box. All were Christmas or anniversary gifts to Kelley from the FBI's executive conference of senior officials.

Federal regulations permit government employees to make voluntary gifts of nominal value to their bosses on special occasions.

"The question is what is 'nominal,'" an FBI official said. "All these gifts were given by 17 people, and nobody put in more than $15." He suggested that department sources inflated the value of the gifts, possibly by using retail prices, while FBI officials bought the items wholesale. The clock, he said, cost $98 instead of $250.

Little Goes To Stabilization

Stabilization receipts on the Greenville Tobacco Market dropped to the lowest mark of the season Wednesday as only nine-tenths of one per cent went to the government loan program.

The sales supervisor of the local Tobacco Board of Trade, J. N. Bryan, reported that the decrease in Stabilization receipts was accompanied by a steady increase in prices recorded by Greenville warehouses.

With quality improving each day, the volume of leaf, smoking leaf, cutters and lugs continued to increase yesterday while primings and non-descript took up less of the warehouse floor space.

Wednesday's market average of $121.60 represented another high for the season as some 715,943 pounds of tobacco sold for $870,559.

Top practical price paid here yesterday was $1.25, the sales supervisor noted, with some prices reaching the range of $1.26 to $1.30 per pound.

For the season, the market has sold $22,329,519 pounds for $24,193,964, an overall average of $108.35 per hundred pounds.

Bryan announced that effective Sept. 13, the Greenville Market will have three sets of buyers on hand each sales day, continuing through the rest of the season. The third set, he added, will give the local market an increase in both poundage and sales.

Suggests New Institution

LONDON (UPI) — A new institution similar to the Smithsonian in Washington has been suggested by Dr. Anthony R. Michaelis to permanently commemorate the Bicentennial.

In an editorial in Interdisciplinary Science Reviews, which he edits, Michaelis said such an institution could grow from strength to strength with the observance of future great anniversaries such as the 500th anniversary of the discovery of the New World by Columbus in 1492 and the 2,000th anniversary of the Christian era eight years later.

being caught or sent to prison.

But it is an inadequate answer to lay the blame upon police, prosecutors and judges. Somewhere is a deeper, more troublesome explanation. Some insidious virus, more elusive than the Legionnaires' disease, is moving restlessly within the body politic. Only a short time ago, our people generally respected the simple commandment: Thou shalt not steal. This was a discipline imposed in the home, in the schools, in the churches, in business and human relationships.

A few years ago, writing these end-of-August essays, I was urging more police, more courts, larger prisons, longer sentences. It still strikes me as important to crack down on the repeaters — the "career criminals" — and to impose punishments that may not rehabilitate but surely will incarcerate. But massive injections of law enforcement may treat only the symptoms without touching the underlying illness. This is a sickness of character, and God alone knows how we treat that.

to receive $80 million in weapons, could spark another arms race with India.

Since 1972, Iran has received $10 billion in U.S. arms and Saudi Arabia, running a strong second, has picked up $6 billion worth. Iran would get the bulk of the newest arms package — $4.4 billion.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, when visiting Tehran last month, said Iran planned to spend another $10 billion for military purchases from the United States through 1980. According to knowledgeable congressional sources, Kissinger acknowledged to a closed Senate subcommittee last Friday that "in good conscience, it would be hard to say there is an integrated program" for arming Iran.

Israel also had a share in the package — with $240 million earmarked for what sources said will include sophisticated ammunition, much of it for Israel's air force, including about 3,000 cluster-bombs, 300 Sidewinders and 300 Walleye bombs.

The arms sales totaled $115 million for South Korea, $110 million for Singapore, $100 million for Norway, $89 million for Morocco, $80 million for Pakistan, $39 million for West Germany and $29 million for Australia.

N.C. Appeals Court Upholds Gag Order By Judges

Remember 'Liddy' Dole As Best In Everything

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP) — The people here remember Elizabeth "Liddy" Hanford as one of those rare girls who was the best in everything she did. "She was the only girl I ever knew of who was both homecoming queen and valedictorian," recalled attorney Robert Sommers about his contemporary. Sommers was one of the Rowan County citizens who planned to turn out today to honor Liddy Hanford, now the wife of Republican vice-presidential nominee Robert Dole, a Kansas senator.

Miss Hanford simply changed her registration from Democrat to Independent and stayed on the job. Eventually she became deputy director. There is still no record in Salisbury that she has become a Republican. When one of the seats on the Federal Trade Commission became vacant in 1972, Miss Hanford quietly campaigned for the job. Early in 1973, Nixon gave it to her. Meanwhile, Dole had divorced his wife of more than 25 years. Mrs. Knauer introduced him to Liddy Hanford and in December, 1975, they were married. "She was really my toughest campaign. That's why I'm not so apprehensive about going up against Carter," Dole said Wednesday. Mrs. Dole said she was still surprised to be involved in a campaign. She recalled that in Kansas City at the GOP convention "we hadn't even asked ourselves 'what if...'" Then they saw a TV report that Dole was one of the four finalists under consideration for the second spot by President Ford. "Reporters began to gather in the hall outside our hotel room, but we had the room next to Gov. (John) Connally. We didn't know whether they were anticipating whether it would be him or us. "So Bob told me to put my ear to the door and see if I could hear whom they were talking about. We heard them talking about Bob Dole, and a few minutes later the call came through from the President," she said.

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Court of Appeals upheld Wednesday the right of judges to issue "gag" orders if they find there is a substantial danger an individual's right to privacy might be harmed. In its ruling, the court affirmed a protective order issued last January by Wake Superior Court Judge James H. Pou Bailey in a Southern Bell Telephone Company case. Bailey prohibited the attorney general's office and other court officials from releasing information about an investigation of a Southern Bell political slush fund. Last month in Charlotte eleven current or former Southern Bell officials were indicted on charges stemming from the investigation. The charges were protected by sealed indictments which barred disclosure of details of the case, but the latter procedure did not fall under Bailey's order. The appeals court ruling appears to give trial judges the discretionary power to weigh investigation information and the privacy rights of persons involved, if a request for a protective order is made. The court must determine there is a substantial likelihood of "potential harm" to the individual before "gagging" the investigation. "The personal right of privacy is basic to the moral and philosophic fiber of our democracy which places so much value upon the dignity of its citizenry" said Judge Edward B. Clark. "The balancing between society's need for information and the personal rights of the individual does not require that we stand by an allow basic personal rights, among them the right of privacy, to be debilitated by unrestrained and coercive government investigations."

Southern Bell requested the protective order after the attorney general's office started probing allegations of a Southern Bell fund which made illegal corporation campaign contributions to political candidates. At the time, Southern Bell was turning over the results of an internal audit and other information to the attorney general's office. Corporation lawyers said the findings contained information "on possible misuse of funds, based almost entirely on hearsay evidence and evidence inadmissible in judicial proceeding and that this information would invade the rights of privacy and unjustifiably impose irreparable harm upon innocent persons." After reviewing the information privately, Bailey agreed. He ordered everyone involved in the case not to disclose information to the public, including the press.

Atty. Gen. Rufus L. Edmisten appealed. The attorney general's office claimed that Southern Bell should have to "make a substantial showing of necessity" before a gag order was proper. But the appeals court said the "necessity relates to showing the potential harm which would result."

All concerned said they never expected to be in the midst of a national political campaign. But Liddy Hanford, a brown haired woman with laugh-lines around her hazel eyes, had long seemed destined for prominence. After high school, she set the same high standards for herself at Duke University, where she is now a trustee. She was the first female president of the student government, and she was Phi Beta Kappa. She was also the May queen, just to prove she had the more traditional attributes of a Southern belle. She spent the 1960s building a career. She worked for U. S. Sen. B. Everett Jordan, a Democrat. She got both a masters degree in education and a law degree from Harvard. For a time, she practiced law in Washington, often handling indigent criminal cases at the behest of the courts. Miss Hanford got back into government in 1967, when she entered the Lyndon Johnson White House in the Office of Consumer Affairs. In 1969, President Nixon came in and replaced Betty Furness with Virginia Knauer in the consumer office. But

Suspensions By ABC Bd.

Two Pitt County business firms have had their ABC permits suspended by the State ABC Board at its August 30 meeting in Raleigh for violating state ABC regulations. Permits issued to Corbett Grocery, 602 Pitt St. were suspended for 30 days (the suspension was suspended pending no further violations for six months) because "its employees... did sell malt beverages... on Sunday prior to 1 p.m. to Lee Earl Smith, State ABC Officer on July 27..." and allowed the beer to be consumed on the premises "while holding only off-premises ABC permits." The second firm, Northeast Motor Company, Inc. doing business as Happy Store 102, at the intersection of Walnut and Wilson Streets in Farmville, has its permit suspended (the suspension suspended for six months on condition no further violations occur) for 15 days because "permittee, through its employee... did... sell malt beverages to... a minor (person under 18 years of age), on the licensed premises on November 28, 1975..."

Record High In Fail-Rate

RALEIGH (AP) — About one-fourth of the 599 would be lawyers who took the North Carolina bar exam this summer failed to pass. The 25 per cent failure rate was the highest since the early 1960s. The failure rate in 1975 was 10 per cent. Emerson P. Dameron of Marion, chairman of the Board of Law Examiners, said that a high percentage of graduates of the predominantly black North Carolina Central University Law School in Durham failed. He said he did not know the exact number of NCCU graduates who passed or failed. Dameron said the large number of repeaters this year was one reason for the high percentages of failures. Persons who have failed in the past and take the exam again generally do not fare well. "Either a larger percentage were not as prepared as in the past or the exam was more difficult," Dameron said. "I have no sound reason for saying which is true." Eric C. Michaux of Durham, the only black member of the Board of Law Examiners, expressed the opinion that Duke University, Wake Forest University and NCCU had higher percentages of failures than normal. He said the University of North Carolina's failure percentage was about normal. According to Michaux, the board raised the standards of the examination which requires three days to take.

Steady Leaf Prices Seen

FARMVILLE — "Grade for grade prices were steady on the Farmville Tobacco Market Wednesday," said Louis Williams, sales supervisor of the Farmville Tobacco Board of Trade. "Offerings consisted of approximately the same grades as Tuesday and Stabilization receipts accounted for only .63 per cent of the gross sales," Williams said. The Farmville Tobacco Market sold 643,257 pounds Wednesday for $787,870 for an average of $122.48 per 100 pounds. To date the market has sold 13,822,555 pounds for $15,057,716 with an average of $108.93 per 100 pounds as compared to the season's average of $93.31 per 100 pounds on the same sale day last year.

State Museums Closing Sunday

The N. C. Museum of History and the N. C. Museum of Art will be closed all day Sunday, Sept. 5. The museums will close on recommendation of the state government security section of the General Services Office to lessen confusion with crowds expected in downtown Raleigh over the holiday weekend. The museums will also be closed on Labor Day, Sept. 6, as they are every Monday and will reopen as usual the following morning.

New York Model's Glamor Is Costly Investment

By DAVID L. LANGFORD
NEW YORK (UPI) — Despite what they say, New Yorkers still have style, chutzpah. You make a lunch date with a girl with a down home name like Margaret Davies to talk about her struggles to make it big in TV commercials and she shows up in a limousine big as a subway car with a stuffy chauffeur named George who gets ticked off if you touch his door handles.

"It's rented," she giggles. "Besides, I know a lot of wealthy men who like me."

So you go downstairs at the United Nations Plaza Hotel to the new Ambassadors room where mirrors cover the walls, halls, ceilings and even the inside of the elevators. You instinctively check to see if your fly is zipped.

Margaret Davies, beautiful, with delicate features and hair somewhere between light brown and auburn. On stage at age 3, she sang "Way Down Upon the Suwannee River" for Ted Mack at 10, danced with the Rockettes at 15, was a competitive swimmer and majorette at home in Peekskill, N.Y., dated the cadets at West Point, developed a Republican's contempt for draft evaders and had a brother who studied to be a veterinarian at Ole Miss.

She looks at you with the challenge of the girls on the cover of Cosmo. You order a bottle of white wine and the cold salmon.

"I'm what they call a survivor," she says.

So tell us about it. How does a girl get to sing and dance "Light Up Your Life" on network cigar commercials?

"My father was a good-looking Welshman from Canada, a cross between Cary Grant and Ray Miland. He tried to make it in Hollywood, but didn't. My mother was French-Canadian. She sang with a number of the big bands like Guy Lombardo and Harry James. They wound up running a chain of dance studios in Westchester County and Connecticut.

"When I was 3 they put me in a recital. I sang a little song and shuffled my feet. When it was over they found me crying in the wings. They say I told them, 'I want to go out there and do it again, but all the people are gone.'"

That's good stuff. What else?

Then, impulsively, Margaret breaks into a song, much to the consternation of the black-suited waiter, who couldn't decide if it was a propitious moment to pour the wine. The interviewer was uncomfortably aware of craning necks in the mirrors.

It was a number from the Broadway hit "Chorus Line," all about the frustrations of showbiz. It fit her story fine.

Margaret danced her way to Radio City Music Hall and by age 16 was a line captain with the famous Rockettes. She went the route from chorus lines in Las Vegas hotels to small parts in television soapers and such movies as "The Exorcist," "Once is Not Enough" and "The Stepford Wives."

She spent two years in repertory theatre in such roles as Lorie in "Barefoot in the Park," Blanche in "Streetcar Named Desire," and Irina in "Three Sisters." As a model in New York she appeared in numerous network TV commercials and found time to get a degree in speech and theatre at Hunter College and to learn judo.

"But the fat days of the late Sixties are gone," she laments. "Three years ago I used to be booked back-to-back. But with the big magazines like Life and Look folding up, it's not the same. There used to be 50 top models in New York booked two to three months in advance. Now there are about five."

Margaret won't say how much she makes a year, but she has a shot at becoming Edie Adams' permanent replacement in the (Muriel) cigar commercials. That would mean a minimum $100,000 over the next four years.

Much of that would be spent just staying glamorous. Margaret figures she spends $700 a month keeping her 5-foot-7 body in shape and properly cosmetized, including $25 each week for a trip to a Madison Avenue beauty salon to get her hair done, $15 a week for a manicure and $20 for a pedicure once a month.

A girl simply must take care of her nails.

She recently paid $1,000 for a photo session with Hollywood photographer Harry Langdon and spent $2,500 for a gown designed by Halston-trained Carola Polakov to wear in promotional appearances. Acting lessons, voice and dance classes and a regular visit to a spa come to another $125 a week.

"Shoes also chew up a large part of my budget," she says. "I'm on my feet a lot. I look for style but also something sturdy. Charles Jourdan is my favorite, but you can imagine that bill!" Then there is taxi fare and rent for an apartment on New York's posh Central Park South, which she describes as "homey, tinted in earth colors and splashed with lots of greenery." That includes a six-foot palm tree.

The "homey" bathroom has a yellow padded toilet seat and a bowl of soap bars from the Jockey Club.

What's a girl to do to make ends meet?

Margaret is pinning her hopes on the cigar commercial in which she bursts through swinging doors in a flaming red gown and dances on top of the bar. She is one of the "finalists" — the other two are Jan Daley and Susan Anton in California — in a contest in the public is invited to vote for the girl to take the place of Miss Adams, who is becoming a "consultant" to the cigar firm.

That takes campaigning. She turns up at a New York Cosmos soccer game to sing the Star Spangled Banner and then goes out to the New York Giants training camp to try to get a publicity picture with Larry Csonka.

Margaret has her serious side. Two years ago she almost married a stock broker from Tennessee but decided "there are other things I want to do besides raising babies."

She decorated her apartment herself. She put together a mirrored screen divider to match shiny, squared pot plants. Framed antique mirrors, picked up in her travels, reflect Karistan rugs.

She designed and built a 16-foot table, distressing it, sanding it and staining it.

"It took me two and a half months of lunch hours," she says. "A friend offered me

$1,200 for it, but I won't sell it."

And she has a collection of more than 50 hippopotami cast in stuben glass, porcelain and silver, plus several paintings of the beast.

"You know it was customary for Egyptians to be buried with a replica of this animal," she says. "It symbolized power and strength in the next world."

Williamson Gang Said Slickest Of Them All

SEATTLE (AP) — "The Williamson Gang is the slickest and most successful clan of bunco, flim-flam and confidence artists in the United States," the National Better Business Bureau says.

"The Williamsons are organized crime, perhaps second only to the Mafia," one Washington law enforcement official says.

The Williamson gang, a band of 250 intermarried descendants of a Scottish clan man, is on its annual tour of the Northwest, making victims of the gullible in a multimillion dollar operation.

Law enforcement agencies say the Williamson gang and the related Boswell Group defrauds and cons thousands of people a year. It is penny-ante organized crime that adds up to bigtime larceny.

The gang wanders through the states, working its tricks on the unwitting. Members appear prosperous. Their equipment is new and in good condition, law officers say. Their approach is respectable.

They peddle frauds under the guise of roof or driveway repairs, termite exterminations, even selling so-called "Irish" lace and linen.

"They hit old people. Just last week a man living near Lacey was hit for $365. They sprayed this aluminum-colored stuff on his roof. They didn't even bother to clean his roof first. I don't think the so-called sealer will last through the summer," said Lt. Mac McFarland of the Thurston County sheriff's office.

Tacoma officials reported that one old woman paid a Williamson gang member $195 to prune trees. He got the check and left immediately for the bank, where he altered the check and cashed it for $695. No trees were pruned.

The first Williamson was Robert Logan Williamson, who came to the country from Scotland before the turn of the century. By 1914, he had established the gang on the East Coast.

The gang was first reported in Washington State in 1923. Law officers say the gang has toured the Northwest almost every year for 53 years.

The gang is now thought to include 250 members, about 120 of them active figures. Officers say it is hard to get an accurate tally, because if arrested, the Williamsons usually are charged with violating local ordinances.

Usually, they post bail and leave, chalking up the lost money as the cost of doing business.

Family names are Williamson, Stewart, McMillan, McDonald, Gregg and Johnstone.

Law agencies say the Boswell Group are Williamson associates. Names they use include Wharton, Waller, Waldrop and Slender.

One California Justice Department report indicates that each traveling group pays into a central gang fund. It said the gang has real estate holdings, including California holdings worth $5 million and property in Texas valued at $10 million.

Each of the purchases was made in cash.

The report said that new generations of gang members, the offspring of intermarried ancestral Williamsons, take over operations as old members retire.

LIME DEPOSITS

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Tests by a leading washing machine manufacturer reveal that nonphosphate detergents, used in hard water, cause lime deposits which can completely ruin a washer in as little as three or four years.

General Electric, which conducted the tests, found that the lime precipitated by the non-phosphate detergents accumulates in the washer's pump, hoses, filters and nozzles, plugging them.

Sues Doctor In Shooting

DOBSON, N.C. (AP) — A $300,000 suit has been filed against Dr. Ralph Cooke of Elkin in the shooting death of a girl he had delivered 18 years before.

The damages are sought by D.G. Guyer Jr., father of Sherri Teresa Guyer of the nearby community of State Road.

Dr. Cooke, the Guyer family physician, told authorities that he had been sleeping in his office after a series of break-ins and fired at three intruders the night of July 31, 1974. Miss Guyer was fatally wounded. Two young men with her fled unharmed.

The two were arrested a short time later and tried on charges of breaking and entering with intent to steal narcotics. Each was convicted and sentenced to five years.

The suit was filed in late July in Surry County Superior Court. It seeks $200,000 actual damages and $100,000 punitive damages.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks were mixed today, bogging down after four consecutive days of gains.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials stood at 985.95, unchanged from Wednesday's close. Gainers held a moderate lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading was moderately active. The Dow had risen 25.51 points over the past four sessions, and was up another 3 in the early going today when selling set in.

The government reported as the market opened that its wholesale price index declined .1 per cent last month after seasonal adjustment.

Prices of industrial commodities rose .7 per cent—equivalent to an 8.4 per cent annual rate.

McDonnell Douglas was one of the day's most active issues, up 1/4 at 24 1/2 in trading marked by a couple of medium-sized blocks.

The company said it expected a favorable earnings trend to continue through the second half of the year.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks rose .13 to 55.63 in the first hour.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .08 at 102.49.

Obstacle To A Special Prosecutor Is Raised

By JANET STAIHAR Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposition by the influential chairman of the House Judiciary Committee to a permanent special prosecutor raises a obstacle to the Senate-passed bill that would create such a post.

Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who presided over the committee's 1974 impeachment proceedings in the Richard M. Nixon case, was joined in opposing the bill by other figures who were prominent in uncovering the Watergate scandal.

"The dangers inherent in such an office outweigh the safeguards," Rodino told the House criminal justice subcommittee Wednesday.

The Senate bill, passed in July, would establish a permanent special prosecutor to probe alleged wrongdoing by government officials.

The New Jersey Democrat said a permanent special prosecutor could "unduly and unnecessarily undermine the legitimate and necessary powers of an already weakened office" of attorney general.

"We must be vigilant, we must be prepared, but we must not overreact," warned Rodino.

He also stated that a permanent special prosecutor, wishing to justify the existence of his office, could engage in "widespread fishing expeditions that could become witch hunts, seriously endangering dearly held civil liberties."

However, Rodino said he favored creating the office of a temporary special prosecutor who would be appointed to investigate specific allegations of illegal activity by top officials.

He emphasized that a special prosecutor should be named only when an "extraordinary remedy" was needed.

He said any person appointed to be a temporary prosecutor should be confirmed by both the House and Senate.

Also opposing a special prosecutor were Archibald Cox, former special Watergate prosecutor, and John Doar, former general counsel for the Judiciary Committee's impeachment investigation.

Both warned that a permanent prosecutor could undermine the investigative authority of both the Justice Department and Congress.

Leaf-Buyer Leake Dies

WINSTON SALEM, N.C. (AP) — W. Stuart Leake, who spent $200 million a year buying tobacco, died here Wednesday after a long illness.

Leake, vice president of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.'s leaf buying department, annually was in charge of buying more tobacco than the entire Georgia-Florida flue-cured tobacco belt producers.

He died in a Winston Salem hospital one day after he had retired from the company where he had spent more than 41 years in the tobacco business. He was 60.

Leake had been called the most influential man in the system of tobacco marketing. He was a member of the 36-man tobacco marketing advisory committee to the secretary of agriculture.

He also was instrumental in establishing the quota and market designation system for sales on auction markets, which was highly controversial during the 1975 marketing season.

Leake started his career at R. J. Reynolds in 1935 as a foreman in the company's leaf buying department. He was promoted to a buyer in 1942 and became a vice president and director in 1970.

Survivors include the widow and two children.

Arrested For Firing Shotgun

A Rt. 3, Greenville man has been charged with shooting into an occupied dwelling, according to Pitt Sheriff Ralph Tyson.

Sheriff Tyson reported that Tom Joyner, 40, was charged by Pitt deputies with firing a shotgun into the home of James Kelly of Rt. 3, Box 447, Greenville at approximately 11 p.m. Tuesday.

The shotgun blast, the sheriff reported, struck the house and went through the interior wall of a room and into the wall on the opposite side of the room. He noted that the blast apparently struck the house and went through some ten inches from where the occupants were standing.

Rampants Open Season In Goldsboro

Halfback MacDonald Washington

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

The time is now for the 1976 Rose High School Rampants. The Rampants open the year Friday night in Goldsboro, a place that has not been very hospitable to them in recent years. Kickoff is set for 8 p.m. in Cougar Stadium.

And the Cougars have a step up on the Rampants, having opened the season a week ago with a 12-0 victory over Chapel Hill.

Coach Dave Bumgarner feels that the Rampants are ready for the opener. "A week ago, I thought we were far behind. But the closer we've got to the first game, the better things have gone. We've seen a better tempo; things are getting interesting; there is more spirit; practice has picked up. I believe they're thinking more now."

"So I feel we're as ready as we'll ever be," Bumgarner said.

Bumgarner feels that if opening a week earlier, Goldsboro got an advantage, it is that they've got the first game behind them. "Their timing should be better. For instance, I'm worried about us jumping off sides. They should have less of these penalties that we will, since we may be a little overeager."

Referring to the game last week, Bumgarner said he was impressed with Chapel Hill. "It was a very good game. Goldsboro took advantage of Chapel Hill's mistakes to get the win."

Goldsboro intercepted four passes, turning two of these into their scores. "They got what they needed to win. It was a close game except for that."

Bumgarner feels that the Rampants will be able to move the ball Friday night. "I think we can move it against anyone. The big question I have is whether we can stop their offense."

Goldsboro has been a tough nut for the Rampants to stop on the Cougar field. Two years ago, the Rampants lost a 12-6 decision when Doug Paschal was out with the flu. The game before that, in 1972, the Rampants were punted, 30-0, when fleet-footed Al Hunter was completely cut off.

"It hasn't been an easy game for us. They have a lot of tradition over there. And then too, they, and everyone else we play is going to be up for us," Bumgarner said.

"The biggest issue is that the opposing coaches are going to put us up on a pedestal and tell their players: 'Last year this team was Number One. It will look real good for us to beat them.' What we've got to do is make our kids realize this."

"While our opponents have to get up only once for us, we're going to have to be up all ten games."

Bumgarner plans to go with the standard wishbone defense that has worked quite well in the past few years, giving the Rampants three straight 4-A playoff teams. "We may pass a little more this year. And our defense will be much like it has been."

The probable starting lineup on offense will have Cliff Randolph and Mark Conway at ends, David Murray and Larry Speight at tackles, Franklin Clark and Fraeger Sanders at guards, Rocky Butler at center, Mike Aldridge at quarterback, Robert Williams and MacDonald Washington at halfbacks, and Mike Joyner at fullback.

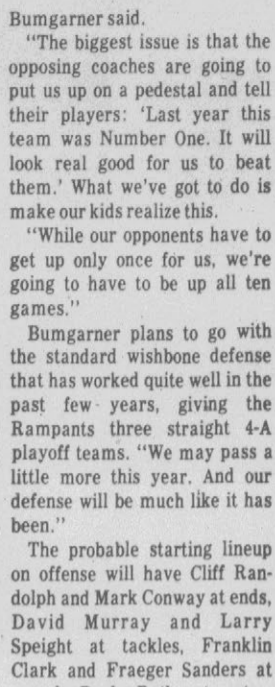

Defensively, Burney Fleming and Raymond Wooten will be at the ends, with Ricky Blake and Gary Porter at the tackles. The inside linebackers will be Butler

David Murray

Larry Speight

Mike Brown

and Bryant Morton, with David Northrup and Larry Boyette on the outside. Robert Morehead, William Staton and Ronnie Chapman will handle the secondary.

NFL Dreams Over For Many As Teams Cut Rosters To Limits

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran quarterback Norm Snead may have found a new home, but for many of the National Football League hopefuls the dream will be over by Monday afternoon.

The NFL teams, with the exception of the two expansion franchises, must pare their rosters to 43 players by 2 p.m., EDT, next Monday. Seattle and Tampa Bay, the new teams, will be allowed to carry 49 players for the first two regular season games and 45 after that.

However, only 43 players can be dressed for a game.

Currently, the established teams are carrying up to 49 players while the two expansion clubs can have up to 60. And those limits do not include rookies who played in the College All-Star game.

"We agreed on a flat 43-player limit ... by a clear 21-7 vote, which is what we needed for passage," NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said.

Club owners held an all-day meeting Wednesday to hammer out the team size. Rozelle said some owners wanted a 40-day squad while some others wanted 43 on the active roster with a taxi squad. Under the limits finally agreed upon, there will be no taxi squads. The owners also extended the inter-conference trading deadline to 4 p.m., EDT, Wednesday, Sept. 8. The intra-conference trade deadline is Oct. 19, the Tuesday following the sixth week of the regular season.

The commissioner said the owners did not discuss Tuesday night's decision by the player representatives to table a contract offer, in effect, rejecting it.

"I was disappointed," Rozelle said of the NFL Players Association action. "I would have liked to have seen the player reps approve what (NFLPA President Dick) Anderson has approved and seen the owners ratify it today."

The union said the contract offer was tabled "pending further negotiations and clarifications."

Rozelle noted that the contract would have meant jobs for more players. The proposed contract reportedly calls for a 43-man squad limit with a four-man taxi squad. Under that plan, the 28 teams would have 112 more players.

"I think we'll have to check with Dick Anderson to see what obstacles there were that caused the tabling," Rozelle said. "We'd heard there were some legal hurdles."

The biggest legal hurdle appears to be the option compensation clause, generally referred to as the "Rozelle rule."

Patrick is expected to begin work on Monday at UT-C.

Patrick To Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — Willie Patrick, former student aide in the Sports Information Office at East Carolina University, will be named as the new Sports Information Director of the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga tomorrow, it was learned today.

Patrick, a recent graduate of East Carolina, received several awards for his work while with the ECU sports office. He received a second place award from the Conference of Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) for his swimming brochure in 1975, and a first place award in swimming in 1976.

During this past baseball season, he organized the "Diamond Darlings" a bat-girl group for East Carolina. That group was later picked as the All-American bat girl team for major universities in the NCAA, based on their activities and appearance.

Connors Records Easy Victory

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Jimmy Connors, as relentless as ever, won impressively. Arthur Ashe, uncomfortable on clay, won unimpressively.

The clay court specialists — Guillermo Vilas, Adriano Panatta and Manuel Orantes — battered their opponents into submission from the baseline. Volatile Ilie Nastase had little chance to misbehave, winning by default.

Bjorn Borg didn't play, and that was a sore point with Harold Solomon who did — and wished he hadn't. Solomon, seeded 10th, dropped a 7-5, 6-4 decision to 19-year-old Billy Martin.

It was opening day at the U.S. Open Tennis Championships, the world's second biggest tournament with the world's biggest pot — $416,600.

Connors began the day by whipping South Africa's Bob Hewitt 6-3, 6-3 under warm, sunny skies at the West Side Tennis Club. And Nastase wound it up by watching New Zealand's Onny Parun quit in the first game of the first set under the lights.

The Solomon-Martin match provided the day's major surprise ... and the only controversy. Martin, a former junior champion from Palos Verde, Calif., kept Solomon off balance throughout their match en route to his biggest victory ever.

Solomon, who lost to Borg in a four-set final at the U.S. Pro Championships Monday night at Brookline, Mass., was upset that he had to play Wednesday and Borg didn't.

May's Three-Run Homer Tops KC

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writers
Home run hitters are supposed to drive fancy cars and hog the headlines, but one of the best of the breed, Baltimore's Lee May, labors in obscurity.

He has hit 20 or more home runs in each of the past nine seasons. His three-run homer Wednesday night, which helped Baltimore beat the Kansas City Royals 7-1, tied him with Sal Bando of Oakland for the American League lead with 24.

His four runs batted in raised his league-leading total to 90. But still the headlines have escaped him. "That has been the story of my life," May said. "I have learned to live with it. But if you do enough, the owners know it and they give you a decent salary."

"A lot of guys like to see their names in the papers, but I don't read the papers. I don't care about ink. I'm a low-key guy. I can't stand a lot of controversy."

In other American League games, the Boston Red Sox beat the Texas Rangers 3-0, the Minnesota Twins edged the Milwaukee Brewers 3-2 in 12 innings, the Cleveland Indians blanked the Chicago White Sox 3-0, the California Angels defeated the Detroit Tigers 4-1 and the Oakland A's shut out the New York Yankees 5-0.

May's three-run homer in the fifth inning capped a five-run outburst that broke the game open for the Orioles. Reggie Jackson, one slugger who gets more than his share of headlines, hit a two-run single right before May connected. "The race between Reggie and me gives each of us a little extra incentive you need at this time of year," observed May. Jackson has 22 homers and 80 RBI.

Phillies Look Back At 1964

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer
With a month to go in the National League season, the Philadelphia Phillies are looking over their shoulder — at 1964.

The Phillies were leading the NL East Division by 15 games last week. Now, the Pittsburgh Pirates are just 9½ back and making Phillies Manager Danny Ozark a little uneasy. "We haven't had a streak like this all year and it is a bad time to have it," Ozark said after the Houston Astros handed the Phillies their sixth straight defeat, 1-0, Wednesday night.

The Pirates defeated San Diego 4-1 to run their winning streak to six in a row. "Frankly, our chances of getting them are slim, as a yone can see," Pirates Manager Danny Murtaugh said. "But in this game no one ever gives up. All we can do is keep on playing our best and hope."

In other NL games Wednesday, St. Louis edged Cincinnati 1-0 in 11 innings, the New York Mets nipped San Francisco 1-0 and Chicago defeated Atlanta 7-5 in 14 innings. The Los Angeles at Montreal game was postponed because of rain.

In 1964, the Phillies were leading the league by 6½ games with two weeks remaining in the season when they went into a similar tailspin. Philadelphia lost 10 games in a row and the St. Louis Cardinals came on to capture the pennant.

seven-hitter by pitchers Bruce Kison and Kent Tekulve gave Pittsburgh victory over San Diego, the Pirates' sixth straight win. The Pirates scored all of their runs in the fourth, aided by an error by San Diego second baseman Tito Fuentes which allowed the first run of the inning to score. Richie Hebner doubled in the second run and then Kison, 11-8, capped the inning with his two-run single.

Cubs 7, Braves 5
Jerry Morales' fourth hit of the game drove in two runs in the 14th inning to give Chicago its triumph over Atlanta. The game, which was delayed twice by rain, was tied in the bottom of the ninth when the Braves' Ken Henderson smacked a two run homer, his 13th of the season.

Darold Knowles, 5-6, the Cubs' fourth pitcher, picked up the victory.

Cardinals 1, Reds 0
Reliever Rawly Eastwick walked Don Kessinger with the bases full in the bottom of the 11th to give St. Louis its victory over Cincinnati. Eastwick, 9-5, who came on at the start of the inning, loaded the bases on a double by Keith Hernandez, an intentional walk and Charlie Chant's bunt single.

Mets 1, Giants 0
Jerry Kosman's three-hitter and doubles by Felix Millan and John Milner lifted the New York Mets past San Francisco. Kosman, 17-8, struck out six and walked just one as he outdueled John Montefusco, 13-12.

Roof Problem Is Not Only One For Detroit

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The Detroit Lions entertain the Baltimore Colts tonight in hastily-repaired Pontiac Stadium in the finale of their National Football League exhibition season.

The roof literally fell in on the Lions, who have been beset by player problems all week long.

A heavy thunderstorm belted the domed stadium last Thursday, ripping several panels from the roof. The panels have been repaired and air pressure restored to the roof at an estimated cost of $200,000.

It was not so easy to repair player problems in the Detroit camp, notably those surrounding quarterback Bill Munson, defensive tackle Herb Orvis and running back Altie Taylor.

Munson, unhappy since the Lions gave the starting job to Joe Reed, still was hopeful the Lions would trade him. Taylor still is in Ford hospital suffering from what the club calls a psychiatric problem that developed about the time the Lions traded him to the Houston Oilers. That trade is pending until doctors release Taylor from the hospital.

Orvis, reinstated after a two-day suspension, was due to face the Colts, but still reportedly was looking for a trade.

After a week with a leaky stadium and temperamental players, Detroit Coach Rick Forzano was happy to look forward to some football. "These Colts are a better team than they have shown," he said, dismissing Baltimore's three straight losses.

Forzano said that since the game was the last tuneup before the NFL season opens, he planned to use regulars as much as possible. The Lions are 2-4 for the exhibition season, the Colts 2-3.

Bert Jones will be the Colts' quarterback. In pre-season play, Jones has 51 pass completions in 82 attempts for 586 yards, two touchdowns and has been intercepted five times.

Baltimore's leading rusher, Lydell Mitchell, will be at halfback. Mitchell set a team record last year, gaining 1,193 yards.

The Colt defense is anchored by Fred Cook, Mike Barnes, Joe Ehrmann and John Dutton, the combination that led the NFL last year with 59 quarterback sacks.

There are four games scheduled for Friday night, with Chicago, 4-1, at Washington, 2-3; Kansas City, 2-3, at St. Louis, 3-2; Atlanta, 1-4, at Green Bay, 2-3; and Cleveland, 4-1, at Buffalo, 1-4.

Baker Turns Fastest Lap During Practice

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP)—A dozen drivers will qualify today for Labor Day's Southern 500, with a strong field headed by stock car racing's big names competing for the pole in the nation's oldest super speedway event.

Buddy Baker, who turned in the fastest practice lap Wednesday, Richard Petty, David Pearson, Cale Yarborough and 1975 winner Bobby Allison are among the entries expected to fight it out for the top 12 spots. Qualifying for the top dozen positions was scheduled to begin today at 1 p.m.

Twelve more drivers from the list of 64 entrants will qualify Friday and the final 16 Saturday. In his practice lap, Baker toured the one and three-eighths-mile oval in 151.310 miles per hour in his Bud Moore prepared Ford, making him a strong candidate for the pole position.

Allison recorded the second fastest practice time at 150.689 m. p. h. Petty, Yarborough and Dave Marcis all recorded speeds of around 149 m. p. h. Pearson showed up at the track minus his car Wednesday. The Wood brothers were late getting a new engine but planned to install it Wednesday night and be at the raceway early Thursday.

Among those scheduled to watch the 40-car field Monday is Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter.

Most track observers have picked Pearson as the favorite. Although he is one of NASCAR's most successful racers and held the Darlington qualifying record going into this year's qualifying, Pearson has never won the Southern 500.

He has won the Rebel, formerly the Rebel 400 but now a 500-mile event, six times over the Darlington Raceway.

Petty, the biggest money winner in stock car racing history with earnings of more than $2 million, has been declared the grand marshal of the Southern 500 parade Saturday morning and an honorary judge at the Southern 500 beauty pageant that night.

Gov. James B. Edwards has issued a proclamation declaring Saturday as Richard Petty Day in South Carolina to honor the Randleman, N.C., driver who began his career in 1958.

Although Pearson and Petty are seen as the favorites, the sentimental choice of racing fans may be Benny Parsons, who missed winning the Rebel and the Southern 500s because of hard luck last year.

Parsons looked like he had both races won in 1975, but wrecked with 21 laps to go, on the same turn, in both events.

During the pre-race show Monday, the Purulor Mercury driven by Pearson during his record setting 1973 season will be enshrined at the track's Joe Weatherly Museum.

The car, maintained by the Wood brothers of Stuart, Va., took Pearson to 11 super speedway victories in 1973. He also finished second twice and third once in 15 starts.

Sharp Criticism Of Ingram By Court Of Appeals

RALEIGH (AP) — The State Court of Appeals has aimed its sharpest criticism yet at Insurance Commissioner John Ingram. The court ruled Wednesday that the insurance industry improperly boosted homeowners insurance by 16 per cent last October, but it let the hike stand because of "persistent procrastination, unfairness and partisan procedures and decisions" by Ingram. State appeals courts now have reversed Ingram on at least 10 major actions, including every substantial order he has issued in the past two years.

The appeals court ordered that the rates remain in effect until Ingram performs his "statutory duties" and fixes rates for homeowners insurance companies with a fair and reasonable profit.

"I guess what the judges were writing is that I'm prejudiced in favor of the people," Ingram told reporters after the ruling. "I have tried to weigh all the facts and rule correctly."

Ingram said that he would seek to have the case reviewed by the State Supreme Court. Because all three of the Appeals Court judges agreed to the decision, there is no automatic right of review by the Supreme Court.

Judge Edward B. Clark wrote the opinion, with Judge Robert M. Martin concurring in the result. Judge Earl W. Vaughn concurred only in the part of the opinion that vacated Ingram's denial of the homeowners insurance rate increase "as being unsupported by material and substantial evidence."

The controversy between Ingram and the insurance industry over homeowners insurance rates goes back to January, 1973, when an initial rate request was filed with Ingram.

In the next two years, the rate request was amended several times, withdrawn and replaced.

At one point, the rating bureau representing the insurance industry requested a 20 per cent increase but later dropped its goal to 16 per cent.

Ingram said Wednesday that when the rate request was lowered, "the delay was in favor of the people." He said he did not intentionally delay hearings.

Each time a homeowners insurance request was submitted, Ingram requested that the rates not be put into effect until he had time to hold a hearing.

Under state law if the insurance commissioner doesn't act within 60 days of a rate change request, the rate change goes into effect.

The court said that on Aug. 21, 1975, Ingram served notice of a hearing to be held on Oct. 29, 1975.

On Oct. 3, the rating bureau notified Ingram that because he had issued no decision, the insurance industry was putting the increase into effect. Ingram protested.

The court agreed that the insurance companies improperly imposed the rate hike under the inaction clause. The legislature meant for the commissioner to have 60 days to review a filing by a rating bureau and determine whether a hearing was needed, the court said.

The court said, however, the insurance industry presented competent evidence in support of its request, including an indication that companies would operate at a loss without the increase.

Ingram said Wednesday that his staff felt no need to present evidence at the hearing last October because the rating bureau had not made out a case for the rate increase. The court disagreed.

"Since the record on appeal discloses persistent procrastination, unfairness and partisan procedures and decisions on the part of the commissioner, we, in the exercise of the inherent power of the court, do not invalidate the effected 16.2 per cent rate increase by the rating bureau," the ruling said.

"We, therefore, continue in effect this rate increase until the commissioner of insurance performs his statutory duty in further proceedings and fixes premium rates for homeowners insurance which will produce a fair and reasonable profit and no more," the court said.

Organizing Try Dropped

KANNAPOLIS, N.C. (AP) — The Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union has abandoned a three-year effort to organize Cannon Mills.

It closed its office here Tuesday. Organizer Robert Freeman said the closing was forced by refusal of Cannon workers to become union officers.

It marked the second time the union tried and failed to organize the Cannon towel and sheet mills in Rowan and Cabarrus counties. The union had planned to use Cannon as the key to organizing other area textile mills.

In the first attempt at organizing Cannon, the union was defeated in an election in November 1974.

Freeman said the union would need about 1,000 persons to serve in positions such as shop steward. However, monthly union meetings drew an average of about 50 persons before being canceled in June.

"We don't have enough people who are willing to accept the responsibility to run the union," Freeman said. "The people would like to see a union in the plants, but they don't want to be identified with it or accept the responsibilities."

REV. FRED CARRAWAY

The Rev. Carraway, now associate pastor of Grace Church, plans to start a new church, New Life FWB Church in Wilmington.

Saved at Grace Church in 1967 while he was an East Carolina University student, he has also studied at Free Will Baptist Bible College in Nashville, Tenn. Grace Church pastor, the Rev. Roger Tripp, invites the public to attend this service.

Joins Staff Of Funeral Home

Clinton R. Mills, son of Lendwood Mills of Ayden, has completed studies at the Gupton-Jones College of Mortuary Science in Atlanta, Ga. and has joined the staff of Norcott Funeral Home in Greenville.

A 1971 graduate of South Ayden High School, Mills served a tour of duty with the U.S. Air Force prior to attending the mortuary school.

Well-Digging Sees Upsurge

RALEIGH (AP) — Raleigh's water shortage has brought booming business for the well diggers.

The boom was triggered last Saturday when a city ordinance making it illegal to wash cars and water trees and shrubs with city water became effective.

"People have become more conscious of the water shortage," said James L. Estes, operator of a well-drilling firm. He said his calls have increased since the ordinance went into effect.

Two Raleigh car wash concerns are having wells drilled. Another has tapped on to a well that was dug two years ago when the city was threatened with a water shortage.

The Carolina Country Club is digging a well to provide water for sprinkling the greens on its golf course.

Oldtimers describe it as the worst water shortage in more than 20 years.

N.W. Poole of Rt. 5, Raleigh, who operates a well drilling company, said his business has picked up considerably.

"We're drilling three to five wells per day and we have a backlog of orders," Poole said.

Wake County Commissioner

Robert O. Heater, who operates Heater Well Drilling Co. of Cary, said that inquiries about well drilling are up 900 per cent.

Jimmy Goldston, another well digger, said he has had calls from people who want to drill a well to keep their flowers, shrubs and trees alive.

Some people who already have wells are gearing up to use them. Wake County Manager Garland J. Jones is putting a pump on the well at the Wake County Courthouse which was drilled for civil defense purposes. The county will use the water to wash the sheriff's department cars and for similar chores.

N—Noon M—Midnight

By The Associated Press
Rain fell in North Carolina today, a Godsend to farmers and water-short cities.

It will do so Friday and possibly Saturday.

It will be cloudy through Monday, Labor day.

North Carolina is between two frontal systems. One is moving northward out of the Georgia and Alabama as a warm front. And a cold front is pushing towards the state from the Midwest. Rain ahead of these systems sloshed into the state today.

The heaviest rain was in southern sections of North Carolina, particularly in the southern mountains.

High temperatures today ranged from the upper 70s in the west to the middle 80s along the lower coast.

Little variation in temperatures is expected through Labor day. Daytime highs generally will climb into the low to mid 80s. Overnight lows will be in the 60s, except for the 50s in the mountains.

Labor Day Is A Postal Holiday

The Greenville Post Office and the ECU Station will close in observance of the Labor Day Holiday Monday, September 6.

The following services will be provided: No deliveries will be made by rural or city carriers. No window service will be provided. Mail will be delivered to post office boxes. Special delivery mail will be delivered within the city. Collection will be made from all street letter boxes bearing a star. All outgoing mail will be dispatched at 5:30 p.m. The self service postal unit located in the lobby of the Main Post Office will supply customers with most postal supplies, and also permit them to mail parcels.

Charged With Pot Possession

Arthur Slaughter Jr., 29, of Ayden was charged with possession of marijuana by Greenville Police yesterday.

Chief Glenn Cannon said Slaughter was taken into custody in the parking lot of a restaurant near the intersection of Tenth and Cotanche Streets where he is employed as a cook. According to the chief, he allegedly had three ounces of marijuana in his possession.

Cannon said officers also confiscated Slaughters 1969 model car on which the marijuana was allegedly being transported.

The arrest occurred about 5:15 p.m.

Purse-Snatch Suspect Nabbed

Greenville police yesterday arrested James Earl Bullock, 25, of Route 1, Hookerton on charges of larceny from person following a 4:42 p.m. incident in the 400 block of West Tenth St.

Chief Glenn Cannon said Bullock allegedly snatched a purse from the shoulder of Mary Crawford of 1101 Forbes St., got into his car and drove away.

Officers, according to Cannon, stopped the Bullock car and charged him with the theft of the purse which contained money and other items valued at $223.

Hunting Leases Worth Millions

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Hunting leases for wild game in Texas earn landowners about $50 million a year, county agricultural agents estimate.

Dr. Nick Robinson, a scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, says disease currently kills more wild game than hunters and suggested scientists need to learn to control the wildlife diseases.

"We can no longer be apathetic about a state industry that represents $50 million annual income to Texas, let alone ignore the untold suffering experienced by our diseased and uncared for wildlife, he said."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Despite a number of questionable activities that are going on about you, there is an influential man who will give you some good suggestions for adding to your success and advancement. Listen closely to his comments and you will find it possible to eliminate confusion over the best way to handle tension.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are apt to be confused where your regular work is concerned, so try to straighten out your thinking. Take treatments you need to improve health. Be with loved ones in the evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) New aims require up-to-date thinking if they are to be launched properly. Make as good an impression as you can on those who count.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A partner could be trying to pull a fast one on you, so be more cautious in your dealings with this person. You can start some new venture provided you are properly equipped for it.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Your associates could be very demanding today, but take it easy since they are under pressure of some kind. A problem arises that can be handled most intelligently at this time.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Proceed with plans you have made and get much done instead of listening to one who would distract you. Use only proven methods where health is concerned. Be careful of strangers.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Carry through with creative ideas; make sure they are handled in a practical and not a radical manner. Respect viewpoints of others instead of criticizing. This is especially true of your closest tie.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Avoid arguments at home that could become serious. Maintain poise, harmony instead. Handle problems intelligently today. Forget hurt feelings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be especially careful in travel, particularly if you drive. Study written material and don't sign contracts until you've read them well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Your financial affairs need some revision and careful handling so that you do not get into any further trouble. Show that you have good practical sense. Relax in the evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are discontented, but a good friend gives you the advice you need to help you feel better and operate more efficiently.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are faced with a puzzling private matter, so be sure to study it well before you take any action on it. Keep calm even though you may be pressured in some way.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Look on the good side of your friends and forget the weak points and you have a better relationship with them. Plan how to gain more progress in personal matters. Avoid a troublemaker.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will have to be taught early to make plans and then to carry them out to the minutest detail. Teach to be practical and logical as well. Give good spiritual training early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Brokaw's Fine Wit Is Fine On 'Today' Show

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — In case you've been out the front door early this week and missed NBC's "Today" show, be advised that Tom Brokaw, of Yankton, S.D., is presiding there now. And doing okay, from what we've seen.

Brokaw, 36, started Monday as the sixth m.e. regular host of "Today" since it began in 1952. His predecessor, Jim Hartz, now is the show's "traveling cohost," having traveled out of the studio last month.

The shift was a major part of NBC's move to jack up the show's slumping ratings, to start anew following Barbara Walters' defection to ABC in a blare of publicity and a cloud of greenbacks.

While Brokaw is well-known here from his reporting and anchoring work from 1966-73 at KNBC-TV, and gained much national exposure later as NBC's White House man, he's not a household word yet.

But that may come and he may even make the cover of People magazine as the citizenry gets used to his on-air style in coming days.

Said style is a fast wit and a slow delivery, a good combination for either the viewer who is alert the second the alarm clock goes off or the poor soul who doesn't show signs of life until around noon.

In interviews, Brokaw gets to the point quickly. He doesn't gently approach the victim, as occasionally was the "Today" custom, as if fearing a direct question would cause the subject to take offense.

True, he was nationally chided by no less than former Sen. Eugene McCarthy on one show for asking "kind of a silly question" of that independent candidate for president. But win a few, lose a few. It happens.

And you can't fault a guy who ends a very dull Betty Furness preview of children's back-to-school fashions by noting the ultimate in such threads may be "pants with stainless steel knees and shoes that grow."

Another plus for Brokaw, one of six or so newsmen who tried out for the host's job after

Frank McGee's death in 1974, is that he doesn't do commercials, as all "Today" hosts except John Chancellor have done.

Brokaw's refusal to do them was a factor in why he then didn't get the job that now pays him, some reports say, over $400,000 annually.

For my dough, which is considerably less, the refusal was wise. A journalist shouldn't hawk goods.

Unfortunately, some hawking by other "Today" regulars persists. On Wednesday, arts critic Gene Shalit spoke out for a dog food and a weatherman-sports-caster did cotton and pes control commercials.

Let us hope Brokaw tries to persuade the authorities to end this.

We also hope he persuades those in charge to stop constantly advising viewers of upcoming "Today" features. One

Reduce Days Of No Newspapers

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — The labor ministry, in line with the government's campaign to increase productivity, has reduced the number of days without newspapers in Argentina to four a year.

Previous legislation set nine days each year when newspapers could not appear due to various holidays, including "journalists' day" and "newspaperboys' day."

The four dates newspapers will not appear are now Jan. 1, Good Friday, May 1 (labor day) and Dec. 25.

LONG REST

SANTA FE, Argentina (UPI) — The Santa Fe Rugby Union has suspended Carlos Tolov of the Charrua Rugby Club for 99 years for attacking a referee in the halls of the union building.

Tolov said the referee had ejected him unfairly from a recent game.

Bridge is really quite a simple game. See what tricks you can afford to give up, and don't go out of your way to try for an overtrick—especially if it means jeopardizing your contract!

If North and South could see each other's hand, they would have preferred to play in five diamonds, which is a superior contract, but difficult to bid. South correctly bid his hearts first because he wanted to show both suits and did not have the strength to reverse by bidding diamonds before the major. When South described a distributional two-suiter, North quite properly took a preference to hearts. After all, his doubleton could hardly be better, and South just as easily might have had six hearts and only five diamonds, or possibly 5-5 in the suits.

West led the ace of diamonds and shifted to a club. Since the diamond lead was obviously a singleton, declarer was in a hurry to draw trumps. He won the ace of clubs and unblocked the ace and king of hearts. He returned to his hand with a club ruff to cash the queen of hearts. When East showed out, declarer began to realize that his contract was in jeopardy. East held up on about the reopening of some Central Park eats emporium got five advance notices before checking in, and rather uninterestingly, at 8:42 a.m., Pacific Coast time.

With those grumbles done, let us say Brokaw is a fine choice for "Today." Now all NBC has to do is make an equally wise decision, expected later this month, on who'll replace Barbara Walters.

If you're wondering what's become of her, ABC says she'll start coanchoring its evening news with Harry Reasoner on Sept. 20.

Ex-Flower Child Struck It Rich

By STEPHEN FOX
AP Business Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fred Block can talk about the sweet smell of success.

The former flower child just turned 30 is founder and president of The Olfactory Corp., one of the country's biggest incense makers with sales of more than $2 million last year. It's a long way from the bathtub operation he began in 1967 to earn some money after his wife got pregnant.

"I got into incense because I got really turned on by it personally," says Block, a soft-spoken man whose conversation is a mix of street sass and management maxims. "It's not the kind of thing you jump into because you say, 'I think I'll make a career in incense.'"

It was 1966, and Block was burning some Indian incense in his Venice apartment. He decided to write the manufacturer to find out more about the centuries-old product.

"This strange-looking package came back from Bombay, all wrapped in linen," he recalls. "It was about four pounds of incense. I started burning it and people liked it. I got quite a bit of interest, so I sent them $25 and told them to ship it airfreight.

"When it got here, I found out the airfreight from Bombay cost $125, so I had to go out and nickel and dime my friends to pay the waybill."

Demand for Block's incense, which he sold in headshops on the Sunset Strip, grew. In true entrepreneurial fashion he decided to stop selling someone else's product and start making his own.

"I stopped importing, read as much as I could about it and finally learned how to put together some incense," he says. Then, after experimenting with sawdust, ground-up flowers and various perfumes, he put together what he claims was the world's first strawberry incense and sales began to move.

Block moved, too. The lady in the ground-floor apartment was complaining about the strange aromas wafting down from the bathroom lab upstairs. It was hard to blame her — Block had concocted 103 different fragrances. He has since trimmed his product line on the grounds that "the world isn't ready for 103."

The Olfactory Corp., now nine years old, sells its incense in stick form through supermarkets, record stores and other retail outlets. Aromas range from sweet pea to heliotrope, with more common fragrances like frangipani, cherry and wild blackberry also available.

Block, who started in business at age six selling newspapers on a Philadelphia street corner, is similar to most executives in wanting to increase the demand for his product. Of course, he puts it a little differently.

"I do want to turn as many people as possible on to their nose," he says. "It's an uplifting thing. And the demand for our product worldwide is very great — wherever people have a nose."

Sewing Class Begins Sept. 8

Pitt Technical Institute will offer a sewing class to be held at Arlington Street Baptist Church beginning September 8 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon each Wednesday. The registration fee for the class is $5 per student. All interested persons should plan to attend the first class session for registration.

For further information contact the Continuing Education Division of Pitt Technical Institute at 756-3130, extension 38.

SHOWING OFF—Hantle, 3, was only too proud to show off her unnamed son at the Melbourne, Australia Zoo. The baby koala is the first bred there in 10 years. The baby is about six months old and Mum keeps a reassuring arm about the youngster. (AP Wirephoto)

AMC announces the only full 2 year, 24,000 mile warranty on engine and drive train.

INTRODUCING BUYER PROTECTION PLAN II

The hottest news from Detroit isn't a car.

It's BUYER PROTECTION PLAN II from AMC. The only full warranty covering engine and drive train for 2 years or 24,000 miles. And including a full 1 year/12,000 mile warranty protecting everything else on your car except tires.

All you do is properly maintain and care for your new AMC car with normal use and service. And have guaranteed repairs made by an AMC Dealer.

No other American car maker protects you like this. We even provide a free loaner car should guaranteed repairs take overnight.

See for yourself. Compare AMC's coverage against GM's, Ford's, and Chrysler's in the box below. They may call themselves the Big 3. But you'll discover AMC's the Big 1 when it comes to protecting car buyers.

TARHEEL TOYOTA'S 100,000 MILE WARRANTY

For 100,000 miles or 3 years we guarantee the motor, transmission, and rear end of every new Toyota we sell. This warranty is in the form of a legal document and supplements the new car warranty of Toyota Motor Sales, USA. Commercial vehicles are excluded.

BEAT THE ANTICIPATED PRICE RISE
ALL MODELS IN STOCK
SEE US TODAY!

USED CAR WARRANTY 12 MONTHS OR 12,000 MILES

This guarantee applies to cars selling for $1000.00 and up. On a 50-50 basis. All work must be done in our shop. This warranty does not apply to any sport cars, high performance or air cooled engines or 4 speed transmissions (except economy cars). Most good used cars even if they look like new are only guaranteed for a month. For a thousand miles. No more. And some are not guaranteed at all. But at Tarheel when we say a used car is in excellent condition, we're willing to stand behind it. We're willing to do something a little extra for it. So we guarantee its motor, its rear end and its transmission for twelve months or twelve thousand miles. If you're in the market for a better used car, come out to Tarheel and look at ours. We'll show you some as good as new. Guaranteed. Asterisk denotes warranted car.

Resettlement Works By Standards Of Bangladesh

BY JOHN NEEDHAM
 DEMRA, Bangladesh (UPI)—Children laugh and sing now where last year their brothers and sisters were dying at the rate of 50 per month.

New lavatories have replaced the latrines that 18 months ago were filled to overflowing. The water pumps work. Infants and mothers are being fed.

By the standards of Bangladesh, a man-made miracle has occurred at this resettlement camp on a river island 14 miles from Dacca.

The government of the late Sheikh Mujibur Rahman established this camp and two others like it as dumping grounds for some 250,000 residents rusted from the "bustees," or slums, of Dacca, Chittagong and Khulna. Nearly 175,000 of them were driven from Dacca alone.

The government said the slums were breeding grounds for crime. They also were where visitors could watch Bangladeshis die before their eyes in the streets. Of the 40,000 families evicted, about 12,000 were given tiny plots of land in the camps; the rest were sent back to their villages.

The slum dwellers were given no building materials. Most dwellings consisted of tattered rags draped over frail bamboo frames. The government said each camp would have schools, a health center, playgrounds and movie theaters, a mosque and a graveyard. There were to be small-scale industrial plots, too.

Last August Mujib was assassinated and a military-backed government took control. The next month voluntary agencies moved in to help make the camps more than a breeding ground for cholera, smallpox and death.

The Ireland-based volunteer group Concern saw to it the hungry were fed and put up housing for some 20,000 people in little more than three months. Now there are rows of bamboo housing, with roofs of two layers of bamboo and a sheet of cellophane in between, to keep out the rain.

Some mistakes were made. The housing is built flush to the ground, so when monsoon rains come the water floods into the 12-by-10-foot plots housing a family and turns the hard dirt floor to mud. Little of the government's grandiose plan has progressed beyond the press release stage, but thanks to the voluntary agencies there is a school, a dispensary, a two-swing playground. And people are not starving.

More than 500 women take part in the U.N. "Food for Work" program, making jute mats, fishing nets or other small handicrafts. For their efforts they are given two meals a day — wheat chapattis in the morning and soy-enriched sorghum grits in the afternoon.

Sirin Rahman, a worker for UNICEF — the U.N. Children's Fund, said "children who are severely malnourished are fed hourly."

In a small cleared area, women stirred huge cauldrons placed over wood fires. In some, milk powder was being mixed with water. In others were vegetable oil and the grits — taken from 50-pound bags imprinted with a pair of hands clasped in a handshake and the lettering, "Furnished by the People of the United States of America."

There is medical care available in another room nearby, where nurses keep a constant watch on the seriously ill.

The main complaint of camp residents, as it has been since the day of their eviction, is lack of work.

"Dacca was better," said a woman named Hazera. "We were much better off there. All the older boys were domestics (servants) and so was I. My husband is a rickshaw puller and it now costs 3 taka (about 15 cents) to get to work. I have no work."

Other women clustered around her, agreeing and complaining about the necessity of taking a boat from the island and then a bus into Dacca, never knowing if there would be work for them or their husbands.

Since the relocations began in January, 1975, the families have made certain adaptations, knowing that the camps are permanent fixtures.

"Now the camps have taken on the appearance of villages, with the same pattern as villages," a U.N. official said.

"The men come home for a night, then go away for two weeks or so, come back with money and go away again, back to town."

A woman employe of the Concern agency guided a visitor into a room where dozens of children 6 years old and younger were about to be fed.

"One meal gives 500 calories," the woman said as the children whooped, hollered and scooped up the pasty mixture of grits and oil with their fingers, getting it on noses, foreheads and eventually into their mouths.

"It's meant to be supplementary to their feeding at home. One hundred grams of soy-fortified sorghum grits gives 16 grams of protein. Children are encouraged to bring salt or spice for their food. It makes it taste better and it helps psychologically, they can put something into it."

She said a survey last August showed that 50 per cent of the children were severely malnourished. A follow up survey in January showed a "great improvement," she said, though she had no specific figures.

"The children showed less malnourishment than the Bangladesh average."

"Generally the kids look much healthier than they did before," the volunteer said. So do their parents.

By Western standards, the camp at Demra would be almost unbearable, worse than the worst slums. But by the yardstick of what things were like here in January of 1975, the efforts to help the ex-residents of the bustees have produced a success story.

THESE WOMEN of Bangladesh make jute mats in exchange for two meals a day. Children who are severely malnourished are now fed hourly. (UPI Photo)

New CO For ECU AFROTC

Lt. Col. Carl E. Tadlock has been named commander of the East Carolina University Air Force ROTC detachment, replacing Lt. Col. Ronald F. Henderson, who has been assigned to Norton Air Force Base, California.

During his three-year term here, Tadlock will serve as professor of aerospace studies as well as chief administrator of the ECU AFROTC program.

An alumnus of ECU, Tadlock received the MA degree in education from ECU in 1967 and the ED. S degree from Troy State University in Alabama in 1975.

His military career has included an appointment to the faculty of the Air Force's Academic Instructor Course at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., as assignment as air staff officer with the Pentagon's Policy/Project Branch and a previous faculty position with the AFROTC at ECU.

LT. COL. TADLOCK

Tadlock is a native of Pinetops. He and his wife, the former Susie Spivey, are the parents of three daughters.

Naked Chickens Get Sunburned

By AUSTIN WILSON
 Associated Press Writer
 BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Naked chickens get embarrassed.

Their sex lives aren't much to crow about. They get sunburned, and they catch cold when temperatures drop.

Dr. William Johnson is an expert on naked chickens. He's been studying them for about four years — ever since his research associate, Dr. Robert Truax, found one in a newly hatched brood in the poultry science department at Louisiana State University.

About three weeks later, they found another one — barely a feather on it — and decided: "We have to find out what's causing this."

Johnson said he hasn't found out, yet, but he has learned a lot about naked chickens.

For instance, he's learned they apparently have no commercial value at all.

They have to be kept indoors to protect them from sunburn, and a thermostat turns on a heater when temperatures get below 75 degrees to keep them from catching cold.

"Because they have no feathers, they lose body heat and have to use much of their feed to keep warm, rather than for growing," Johnson said.

"They weren't bred to eliminate plucking," because they have a few deformed, tiny feathers that must be hand plucked.

"We showed them to a couple of commercial people, and they just laughed, the same as I do," he said.

Aside from the physical problems, the chickens have social problems and psychological hangups, Johnson said.

"I guess 'embarrassed' is as good a word for it as any. You put one of them in with a flock of normal birds, and it huddles off in a corner by itself. The other birds won't have anything to do with it until they get used to it," he said.

"And then they're just not as active sexually. They will court and strut much more than the normal bird, but they don't mate as readily."

"Where a normal bird will strut, he'll interrupt it and mate at the first sign that the female is even half-way interested. A naked bird will just keep on strutting."

Johnson said he hopes to hatch about 100 of the nude birds in about six weeks so LSU can continue trying to find out what genetic and chemical traits are associated with being born featherless.

"I guess that's what you call research for the sake of research," he said.

The word "music" is derived from the Greek word, Mousike, meaning "the art of the Muse."
