

Bitterness, Controversy Rather Quiet In Four-Week Campaign

By DAVID R. NELSEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Today marks the end of four weeks of campaigning in four statewide political races that have been marked by bitterness and controversy.

Some areas will have local or congressional runoffs as well. The turnout was expected to be low today even though the statewide candidates offer voters some clearcut choices and the races have drawn considerable publicity.

Reports from over the state indicated that turnout was light during the early hours of the voting. It was not helped by rain which moved into some areas of the state and overcast that clouded others.

Chairman Patrick Adams of the Guilford County Board of Elections forecast a turnout there of only 15 to 20 per cent, and a sampling of city and rural precincts found it ranging from "light to very light."

In populous Mecklenburg County, where a vote of as much as 50,000 had been expected, elections chairman Pat Stubbs said the vote was "going pretty slow and the turnout will probably hit 40,000."

Similar reports came from Buncombe, Wake, Wilson, Surry, Wilkes, and Yadkin counties.

In the only statewide GOP race, David Flaherty faces Coy Privette for the gubernatorial nomination. Flaherty, former secretary of human resources, was just 264 votes shy of winning nomination in the Aug. 17 primary.

Democratic voters will choose between former Chapel Hill Mayor Howard Lee and House Speaker Jimmy Green for nomination for lieutenant governor, between Lillian Woo and incumbent Henry Bridges for state auditor and between Jessie Rae Scott and John Brooks for labor commissioner.

The polls opened at 6:30 a.m. and will close at 7:30 p.m. The state has 1,764,000 registered Democrats and 572,000 registered Republicans.

In two congressional districts, there are runoffs. In the 3rd District Jimmy Love and Charles Whitley are vying for Democratic nomination and in the 11th District state Sen. Lamar Gudger, who led the first primary, faces Glenn Brown in a bid for Democratic nomination.

There are also six legislative runoffs and a number of runoff elections for county-level offices.

The winner of today's Flaherty-Privette race will face Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, in the Nov. 2 general election. Both candidates have been warming up to the task by spending some of their runoff campaign effort on attacking Hunt rather than the immediate opponent.

The race opened with bitterness but toward the end, the candidates appeared to mellow and their attacks on each other became milder.

Flaherty campaigned on the theme that his governmental experience made him more qualified and he has pointed to his accomplishments in the Holshouser administration as proof.

Privette, a Baptist minister who left his Kannapolis pulpit to run, has called himself the only conservative in the gubernatorial race, claiming both Hunt and Flaherty are big spenders who will force taxes up.

Privette also prides himself as a fresh face on the political scene because this is his first outing. His political base has been his leadership for several years of the Christian Action League, a coalition of churches opposed to liquor-by-the-drink which successfully defeated proposals to liberalize the liquor laws.

In the Democratic race for lieutenant governor, Green has campaigned on his 16 years of continuous legislative service, the last two years as speaker of the House. He is a conservative who has said he would not want to make any major changes if elected and points to his record as proof of his qualifications for the job.

Lee is more of a liberal. He has promised to work for changes in the tax and welfare laws to make them more equitable. He points to his six years as mayor of Chapel Hill to prove that he can get things done. As to legislative experience, he says that experience is only a small part of leadership and that leadership ability is the important factor to consider.

In the labor commissioner race, Brooks was campaigning under a cloud for more than a week as a court-order investigation took place. Saturday night, Atty. Gen. Rufus Edmisten said the probe had been completed and Brooks was exonerated of any wrongdoing. Brooks has said the initial publicity of the investigation has damaged his chances.

Mrs. Scott has attacked Brooks through the campaign, trying to paint him as a tool of organized labor because he was endorsed by the state AFL-CIO. Brooks, on the other hand, (Continued on page 8)

Voting In Pitt Is About Same As In August Primary

Voting activity this morning at various county precincts appeared to be running at a level close to that recorded during the August primary, according to Margaret Register, executive secretary of the Pitt Board of Education.

Miss Register said that several of the precincts called her office at 10 a.m. to report voting figures and judging from those numbers it appears that today's runoff primary balloting may not fall off substantially from last month.

A sampling of precincts in August indicated relatively light voting activity by mid-morning and that trend appeared to hold true for today's primary with prospects for increased activity as the day progressed.

Close to 40 per cent of the total registration voted in the first primary and Miss Register predicted that the overall turnout would be in the neighborhood of 35 to 40 per cent.

Figures called in to the Elections office this morning included: Ayden, 151 votes cast at 10 a.m.; Bethel, 94; Carolina, 62; Chicod I, 21; Chicod II, 28; Chicod III, 10; Falkland, 24; Fountain, 47;

Gritton 94; Grimesland II, 61; Pactolus, 33; Greenville Three, (W. Greenville Recreation Center) 80; Greenville Four, (West End Fire Station) 117; Greenville Six, (Fifth Street Fire Station) 71; Greenville Eight, (Willis Building) 155; and Greenville Nine, (Gardner Fire Station) 153.

Winterville had voted 152 by 10 a.m., according to a poll spokesman.

Miss Register reminded poll officials to call The Daily Reflector tonight when final counts are completed so that unofficial tabulations can be compiled.

2 More Debate Dates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The second and third debates between President Ford and Democrat Jimmy Carter will be Oct. 6 and 22 with the single debate between the vice presidential candidates sandwiched in between, the sponsoring League of Women Voters announced today.

The league said the debate between Republican vice presidential candidate Bob Dole and Democrat Walter Mondale has been tentatively set for the week of Oct. 11, but that no date has been agreed upon.

The locations and other details of the debates are still being worked out, the league said.

The first Ford-Carter confrontation will take place in Philadelphia on Sept. 23, a Thursday.

Jim Karayn, project director for the League's education fund which is sponsoring the debates, said the arrangements had been worked out in meetings with the national networks which will broadcast the debates live on television and radio.

The length of the debates has not been settled, but all will begin at 9:30 p.m. EDT, regardless of length, Karayn said.

The subject of the first debate in Philadelphia's historic Walnut Street Theater will be economics and domestic policy. One of the others is expected to deal with foreign policy and national defense, with the third open to a variety of issues.

Recognized Her

Ring On Patient

SEATTLE (AP) — Patients don't usually wear much on the examining table, but a University Hospital emergency room nurse noticed right away one item worn by a young woman being examined for abdominal pains.

It was nurse Shirley Bourdeau's diamond engagement ring, stolen from her apartment in May. Recognizing the ring by its unusual setting, she immediately notified two university police officers.

The officers just happened to be on the scene anyway to investigate a complaint against the patient's male companion, who had failed to move his car from a no-parking zone.

Both the young man, 23, and the patient, 21, were arrested.

INJURED DOG

Phyllis Kenyon reports she picked up an injured "black long-haired mixed Labrador retriever with white on chest and paws yesterday afternoon. The dog had been hit by a car in front of the Burger King on Greenville Boulevard. The driver of the car stopped, as did Ms. Kenyon, who witnessed the accident. She took him to the Bateman Veterinary Clinic, where he is being treated for a broken leg. The owner of the dog may claim him by picking him up and paying the veterinarian's bill. Further information may be obtained from Ms. Kenyon, 756-1097.

NEITHER MERCHANDISE NOR REFUND

I mailed a $2 check to the Free Is Beautiful company for some make-up in October and the following month I received the canceled check but no merchandise. I wrote four letters to them, relisting the cosmetics I had ordered. I never heard from them. Then I wrote a letter certified through the post office and got a receipt that they had received that letter, but they never replied. J.B.

HOTLINE wrote to the New Jersey address you gave us for Free Is Beautiful. The letter came back marked as undeliverable.

We then wrote to the New Jersey Division of Consumer Affairs, Office of Consumer Protection, and explained your attempts and our attempts to contact the company. We said you would prefer to receive the merchandise but a refund would be acceptable if the items were not available.

They wrote back to inform us that they were working on the case. We later received another letter saying that your case had been submitted for a refund check.

The $2 refund check arrived Sept. 9, about three months after your original complaint was filed with HOTLINE.

East Is Named Co-Chairman Ford Candidacy

ECU professor John East has been named co-chairman of President Gerald Ford's North Carolina campaign committee.

The appointment, made Monday, seemed part of a strategy to unite Ford and Reagan supporters in the state.

East was a strong Reagan backer at the national Republican convention in Kansas City. He served on the platform committee, working with conservative planks offered by the forces of Sen. Jesse Helms and other Reaganites from North Carolina.

He will now serve with co-chairmen James M. Peden of Raleigh and Mrs. Margaret King of Charlotte.

East teaches political science at ECU and made an unsuccessful bid for Congress from the First District several years ago.

He said he would be willing to work for Ford after "a good, fair fight in the primaries," although some former Reagan supporters in the state may not be as enthusiastic about Ford's candidacy.

East also acknowledged that Democratic candidate Jimmy Carter should give Ford a strong battle in North Carolina, but he is optimistic about the Republican's chances.

Grants-In-Aid Credit In Newtown Work Approved

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

Some $167,386 in non-cash grants-in-aid credit has been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development for work done by the city and Greenville Utilities Commission in Newtown.

Joe Laney, executive director of the Redevelopment Commission, announced at Monday night's meeting that the non-cash credit, involving $115,129 for city improvements and $52,257 for GUCO work, was applied for quite some time ago and only recently approved by HUD.

Practical Test In Psychology

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Seven students at the state university campus here were trapped in a stalled elevator for 30 minutes. They had just left a psychology survey in which one of the questions was, "Are you afraid of confined places?"

Maintenance workers rescued the students from the elevator in the psychology building on Monday night. There was no immediate indication whether anyone wanted to change his answer on the quiz.

Police Again Open Fire On Soweto Street Mob

By LARRY HEINZERLING
Associated Press Writer

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Police opened fire on crowds in the streets and around railway stations in black Soweto township today on the second day of a three-day strike protesting the white government's racial policies. Several persons were reported injured.

The World, Johannesburg's leading black newspaper, said two blacks were killed Monday night when strike supporters attacked homework bound workers who had refused to join the job boycott launched Monday.

The newspaper said two other blacks were shot dead by railway police who opened fire on a group trying to sabotage a railway line Monday night in the segregated city of more than one million located eight miles south of Johannesburg. Much of Soweto was reported quiet today and many residents stayed in their homes to avoid trouble, but police used tear gas and gunfire to try to disperse crowds in eastern districts of the township.

A spokesman for the Johannesburg Chamber of Commerce reported 70 to 80 per cent of the city's 250,000 black workers stayed home Monday. Some companies reported 70 per cent absenteeism again today, but others said more blacks reported for work than on the previous day.

Transport officials reported an increase in the number of blacks taking trains and buses from Soweto, home of most of Johannesburg's black workers.

In the Cape Town area, a pamphlet was circulated in the rail and bus terminals postponing a planned job boycott in that area until next week. It had been scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday.

Information Minister Connie Mulder told a congress of the ruling National party in Pretoria that the racial policies against which the boycott is directed ought to be redefined as plural democracy instead of the present term apartheid, or separate development.

"The advantage of this term (plural democracy) is that it does not indicate any color or negative separation concept," Mulder said, adding that the outside understands the idea of ethnic groups without a concept of inferiority or superiority.

The term apartheid is interpreted abroad as "apart hate," he said.

this week. Three loan closings were secured last week in Southside, he noted, and seven or eight property bid openings are scheduled for the first week in October.

Rehabilitation work is underway on one house in West Meadowbrook, he said.

Authorization was given by commissioners for one staff member to attend a Community Development workshop sponsored by the Southeastern Regional Council of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials in Norfolk, Va. Nov. 7-11.

Laney informed the board that Sullivan has tendered his resignation, effective Sept. 23. The director commended Sullivan for his performance with the commission.

Henry Flies To Tanzania

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger left for Tanzania today on the first stage of a search for peace in southern Africa.

While he was still airborne, the Tanzanian government newspaper said Kissinger's new diplomatic shuttle may be a "worthless effort" and complained that the United States is more interested in containing Soviet influence in southern Africa than achieving black majority rule.

The Tanzanian Daily News said in a front-page editorial, however, that Kissinger was welcome "to see for himself the victories and revolutionary conquests of the people of Africa. He can go on to Pretoria and Salisbury and tell the old rascals there that their days are numbered."

This was a reference to the white rulers of South Africa and Rhodesia.

Kissinger left Zurich after a 12-hour rest stop following his flight from Washington. He made no public statements while in the Swiss city.

A senior American official aboard Kissinger's plane said the secretary hopes to convince three key African leaders to agree on the form, forum and agenda for black-white negotiations.

Busy Meet By Williamston Bd.

WILLIAMSTON — The Williamston Town Board of Commissioners considered several matter of business last night, including approval of changes in city zoning ordinances, authorization of filing for wastewater treatment funds and the awarding of two contracts to Greenville firms, according to John Boykin, city administrative assistant.

The board will apply for state grant funds totaling $142,885 for Sept III construction of a wastewater treatment plant addition.

In a public hearing commissioners approved two zoning ordinance changes recommended by the town Planning Board: 1) rezoning land on E. Main St. (owned by Baker Oil Co. and Texaco Co.) from shopping center to offensive industry; and 2) amending an ordinance to allow "offices" as a permitted use in a neighborhood commercial zone.

Rivers and Associates of Greenville was awarded a contract for an improvement plan for the city drainage system. On a card cost basis, the firm estimated the cost at between $9,000 and $12,000.

Frank G. Vaughn, also of Greenville, was awarded a contract for the Price Street Subdivision project for $28,176.25, based on a bid opening several weeks ago. Services include water and sewer curbing gutter and paving.

Vaughn was the apparent low bidder at a bid opening last night for storm drainage work on Liberty Street with an estimate of $16,981.

Property to supplement a purchase for a parking lot on the old Lindsley Implement Co. lot will be bought with $567.20 in city funds. The original purchase was made with Community Development funds from the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare. The second purchase will be made to square off the parking lot area. Plans were approved, contingent on approval from merchants in the area, who were to be shown the plans at a 10:30 meeting this morning.

Two Planning Board recommendations to be reviewed at the next regular board meeting (Oct. 4) in a public hearing are: 1) an amendment to a city zoning ordinance to allow an auto repair and service garage as a permitted use in an unoffensive industry zone; and 2) amending an ordinance to allow a seed, feed and grain sales storage and service facility as a permitted use in an unoffensive industry zone.

The commissioners authorized the county attorney to draft an ordinance for allowing a bowling alley to stay open after 12 p.m. (Saturday until 2:30, all other nights until 1:30), providing that no beer license is granted. The ordinance will be presented at the next board meeting.

A resolution was adopted to support re-initiation of an improvement plan for the Roanoke River. Copies will be sent to the area's senators and congressmen in support of the three-county Roanoke River Improvement Committee (in Martin, Bertie and Washington counties). The Martin County Commissioners passed a similar resolution yesterday.

The Board adopted a resolution asking the Dept. of Transportation to replace or remove signs downtown indicating that the roads are closed. Local merchants were concerned about permanent loss of business and suggested that the signs indicate detours only.

Discussion of specifications for a town garage and shop building was tabled until a special meeting Thursday at 5 p.m.

Other business included: 1) tabling of an offer from Integon Life Insurance Co. to sell or lease the former Grant City property to the city;

2) creation of a new temporary position in the Fire Dept., not to exceed 24 months, in anticipation of the retirement of one fireman;

3) authorization of repair of a city crawler-tractor-bulldozer for $6,000 to $8,000;

4) defeat of a motion to purchase tape recording equipment to record town meetings;

5) report by King Leggett, tax collector, of $202,182 in collections for July and August;

6) issuance of a tax relief order on 1975 property taxes, listed in error, to Alton Cahoon for $16.95.

Dirt Scooping Claw Of Viking II Out Of Order

By PETER J. BOYER
Associated Press Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Viking 2 robot stands motionless on the red surface of Mars, its quest for life apparently stilled by one small pebble stuck in its scooping claw.

The gray, squat lander, unable to proceed with its most crucial experiment, awaited help from earthbound repairmen 230 million miles away.

After a successful scoop for soil and delivery to three biology experiments, the arm stopped dead in its tracks — one day before it was to get another clump of dirt Monday bound for the organic chemistry probe, the key in the search for life.

While dragging across the rocky surface, the sampler arm apparently picked up a Martian pebble which got stuck in the sampler head's backhoe, project manager James Martin said. The hoe is a device on the swiveling head used to dig trenches in the surface.

"We don't know exactly what the problem is," Martin said after announcing that the lander had registered a "no-go" signal, a built-in command that halts the arm when something out of the ordinary occurs.

Martin said a pebble caught in the backhoe would cause the device to stick out in an awkward position and get hung up on the lander's hardware as the sampler arm made its soil-delivery rounds.

Worse, the arm stopped in the one position beyond the sight of the lander's twin cameras. So scientists said they would first have to order the arm to extend several inches, take a picture of the ailing arm, and check to see if their guess about the pebble is right. If so, the arm would be ordered back to the surface for another dig, and it was hoped the troublesome pebble would fall free.

During Viking 1's early digging expeditions on the Chryse plain, a malfunction developed with its sampler arm. Scientists fixed that malady, a stuck metal pin, by ordering the arm to the surface again, after which

Will Give Program On Grooming Dog

A program featuring dog grooming techniques will highlight the September 16 meeting of the Pitt County Humane Society.

The meeting has been set for 8 p.m. at the downtown Greenville Planters Bank and is open to all interested persons.

Guest speaker Barbara Puryear will discuss and demonstrate basic principles of dog grooming. Ms. Puryear, former owner and operator of the Grooming Box in Greenville, currently grooms in the Washington area.

She is experienced in grooming and clipping dogs of all breeds, and has extensive knowledge of many show clips. Her toy poodle Sassy will be the model for her presentation, which is designed to give "do-it-yourself" groomers helpful ideas.

Persons of all ages and occupations are invited to become members of the local Humane Society, a non-profit organization dedicated to the

Declares Self Homosexual

CHICAGO (AP) — Activist Episcopal priest Malcolm Boyd has publicly declared himself a homosexual. Father Boyd, 53, was quoted in the Chicago Sun-Times as saying: "I'm gay. In saying this, I feel secure, unthreatened and happy. It's something I felt I needed to do."

The minister and popular author of the 1960s, whose book of prayers titled "Are You Running with Me, Jesus?" gained him national attention, defended homosexual rights in a speech last month before the national convention of Integrity, an organization of Episcopalians who support gay causes.

Sinatra Keeps Grudge Alive

STATELINE, Nev. (AP) — Entertainer Frank Sinatra will not reverse a decision barring representatives of the Reno Evening Gazette and Nevada State Journal from his supper club shows here.

Mark Curtis, public relations chief for Harrah's, said Monday that Sinatra's stand is probably irreversible.

"During this engagement I am sure that the directive is a standing thing," Curtis said.

Sinatra, annoyed by a Friday newspaper story outlining his life and disputes with Nevada gaming authorities, refused to perform if anyone from the jointly owned newspapers was in attendance.

Three Public Hearings Held At Meeting Of Ayden Board

By SUSAN QUINN
Reflector Staff Writer

AYDEN — The Ayden Town Board held three public hearings at its monthly meeting Monday night.

The first hearing was to decide whether to change from an original plan for a curb and gutter project to valley gutter on Edgewood Drive. Following the hearing the board voted to install valley gutter along the street. Bids on the project will be opened September 15.

The second hearing concerned street improvements on West Avenue between Sixth and Mill streets. Following the hearing the board adopted a resolution to improve the streets in this area.

The third public hearing concerned the annexation of property in the Deerfield Subdivision Section II owned by Fleming and Associates and Westminster Corporation. The board approved the annexation request of the 12 acres of land.

The board adopted a newly revised cemetery policy. The policy concerns monuments, procedures, and responsibilities.

The board accepted the low bid from Rigby Electric Company in the amount of $8,166.36 for electric supplies. The board also accepted the bid of $75 from Grover Smith for a 1968

Trends Are Returning To Old-Fashioned Weddings

By SHELLY COHEN
Associated Press Writer

The bride rarely blushes any more. And the only "something old" at the wedding may be the bridegroom, who has been around at her breakfast table for the past few years.

But the white gown, the religious ceremony, the reception — whether in a hotel or a family garden — are apparently making a comeback, according to the people who follow such things.

"In the last four or five years there has been a trend away from such things as marriages in forest preserves with the bride and groom in dungarees and back to the traditional weddings," said Marie Trilik, who with her husband John has operated Wedding Service in Oak Park, Ill., for 19 years.

"They now want the old-fashioned wedding, although the mother of the bride may be sitting in the rear of the church holding her daughter's baby," said Mrs. Trilik, who serves as consultant on about 40 weddings a month.

A number of authorities across the country report that many of those couples who have been living together for several years are now giving in to convention and marrying. And when they do, it's with all the trimmings.

"White no longer stands for purity, it stands for security," said bridal gown designer Priscilla Kidder, better known as Priscilla of Boston. And many of the couples who come to her Boston shop make no secret of the fact they have been living together.

The Rev. Cecil Williams, controversial pastor of Glide Memorial United Methodist Church in San Francisco, said: "I don't know of any couple I've married in the last eight years who weren't already living together."

Rabbi Paul Citrin of Boston's Temple Israel, the largest Reform Jewish congregation in New England, said he too has noticed a greater frequency of couples living together "and if it goes well, marriage tends to be an almost logical conclusion."

"The ones I've had dealings with often turn around and have temple weddings or some involvement by clergy."

Prue Draper, society editor of the Argus-Courier in Petaluma, Calif., some 40 miles north of San Francisco, says couples filling out the usual newspaper wedding announcement forms "quite openly list the same home addresses."

And when those who have been living together do decide to get married, "they go for traditional weddings, with ushers, bridesmaids and all that," she said.

Couples are also more often taking charge of their own wedding plans, once the exclusive province of parents.

"One father we talked to didn't even know where the reception was until he read the invitation," Mrs. Trilik said.

Mrs. Kidder reports that instead of the mother of the bride coming along to shop for the gown, it's often the future husband.

"Marriage as a trend is holding its own," she added.

But some couples are bending that tradition to meet their own needs or whims.

Bill Reinwald, 25, and Julie Kierstead, 23, were married this summer in a rustic Grange Hall in the rural Willamette Valley near Corvallis, Ore., before a minister of the Universal Life Church who got his mail order ministry by paying a small fee.

The bride and groom simply read "a statement we wrote ourselves about ourselves, to say to the people who came."

It said in part: "Getting married seems an odd thing to do, perhaps unnecessary. Getting married is a conscious choice for us. We reject the fossilized shape of the marriage institution today, although we feel some of the traditional, romantic feelings."

When Carol Bradley of Walpole, Mass., married Leo Shirley of Crown Point, N.M., they decided to be true to the customs of both their families. They took part first in a traditional Navaho ceremony in Arizona, then were married at St. Mary's church in Walpole before her friends and family.

She wore a white peasant dress and several pieces of silver and turquoise jewelry, gifts from her in-laws. Shirley, his long black braids wrapped in yellow bands, wore a loose purple wedding shirt and hand-wrought silver jewelry.

The Rev. Mr. Williams said: "I have not done any traditional weddings in eight years. I do three types: where the people getting married write the ceremony, where I help them write the ceremony and free-form ceremonies where I orchestrate and we say whatever feels right."

During the height of the hippie movement, when the Rev. Mr. Williams performed 80 to 100 marriages a year, "I used to go to parks and mountains and caves and marry people all over. The trend now has moved back to the homes. There are also a lot of marriages in my office."

Several society editors also noted the trend.

"They are going back to the old-fashioned wedding," said Rose Walsh, society editor of the Boston Herald American. "All this business of being married in a field barefoot has gone by. I noticed the trend about a year ago."

Barbara Tober, editor in chief of Bride magazine, says that although couples are getting married in churches, they are choosing their own music, printing up special programs for guests and changing their newspaper announcements to include pictures of both the bride and groom.

If there is one fad this year, she says, it's been beach weddings, a trend also noted in a recent Elizabeth Post etiquette column.

Yolanda Gwin of the Atlanta Journal's society department says weddings in that city tend to be "perfectly lovely, just oldtime weddings with receiving lines."

On the other hand, when the Atlanta Braves recently offered a two-day honeymoon in Savannah to any couple willing to get married at home plate, nine couples took them up on it.

or 1 pound frozen sea scallops

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons minced parsley

1 teaspoon dried basil
Salt and pepper to taste

Wash fresh scallops under running cold water; drain. Or thaw frozen ones, following label directions, or open carton, empty scallops into a shallow dish, cover lightly and let stand at room temperature 30 minutes. (Scallops may be put into the oven to bake even though not quite thawed.) Arrange scallops in a shallow baking dish; dot with butter; sprinkle with remaining ingredients. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven 5 minutes; stir to coat scallops well with butter mixture. Bake 20 minutes longer, or until tender when pierced with a fork. Makes 4 servings. (This good recipe comes from an out-of-print Family Circle cookbook.)

Old Art Of Pretzel Making Now Gives Life New Twist

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP) — Some people eat them with mustard, other folks fancy them with ice cream or cheese spread. They are sold hot and soft directly from the oven or crisp and crunchy in packages.

Pretzels, a food that dates back to the fifth century, annually compile sales of well over $160 million wholesale in the United States, according to the National Pretzel Bakers Institute — hardly a crumb for an item regarded as a snack.

One person who can attest to the popularity of pretzels is Julius Young, an enterprising Russian immigrant who parlayed a small stall in Livonia, Mich., into 130 stores selling soft pretzels in shopping malls in 24 states. He has since sold the chain.

Young, born Joseph Jag-niatinsky, arrived in this country in 1938. Two years later he changed his name. "I got tired of spelling Jag-niatinsky over the phone," he says. "To tell the truth, I had trouble pronouncing it myself."

After studying psychology at Wayne University in Detroit and serving three years with the infantry in the Pacific, Young sold surplus Army coveralls until the supply of merchandise petered out.

"For want of something better to do I designed a contraption with a tea bag suspended from a plastic disc that was put over the cup to keep the water hot until the tea was steeped. The industry did not beat a path to my door," he admits.

Young was at a loose end when he went to Atlantic City to compete in a bridge tournament in 1965. (He and his wife are life masters). He saw a line at a boardwalk booth and joined it out of idle curiosity. It was a concession for hot pretzels baked in a machine with 13 rotating shelves, like the commercial toasters used at lunch counters.

"I never had seen a hot pretzel and I didn't go for the taste of it," he confides. "Just between us, I'm not crazy about pretzels except as a business proposition. I figured that if people were willing to stand in line for something there must be money in it."

Young invested a few hundred dollars in a pretzel machine and rented a small stall in the shopping mall in Livonia, a suburb of Detroit, calling it Hot Sam at the suggestion of his daughter.

The stand was opened on March 24, 1966, and instant disaster loomed, he recalls. The first pretzel came out of the machine a sickly white blob instead of a golden brown delicacy.

"Since I didn't have a razor to cut my throat, I rushed out of the mall looking for a good, high bridge I could jump off," he says with a laugh. "Two hours later I returned and saw a long line in front of my stall. No one had told me the machine needed 20 minutes to warm up properly."

Young, 55 and a resident of Bloomfield Hills, sold the chain to General Host Corp. and now has more time to indulge in his hobbies of collecting art, jade, antique match boxes, cigar cutters, pipes and hundreds of objects made in the form of pretzels.

The recipe for pretzels, Young points out, has remained unchanged for 1,500 years. Father Francis X. Weiser of Boston College, who has written a book on early Christian legends, traces the origin of the pretzel to a monk in northern Italy. To reward pious children at Easter, the monk took strips of dough for Lenten bread, folded them in the shape of the crossed arms of a praying child and sprinkled salt on the dough after it was baked. He called it a "preticola" — a little reward — in the idiom of the region.

Elsewhere the term for pretzels was "bracellae," from the classical Latin for arms, but in the transmission to Germanic dialects on the other side of the Alps the word was debased and gradually evolved into pretzel. The Pennsylvania Dutch introduced the thick, Bavarian beer pretzel to the United States around 1850. Street vendors have been selling soft hot pretzels from pushcarts in New York and Philadelphia since the turn of the century.

Engagement Announced

MISS NANCY ELLEN WARREN... is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Earl Warren of Wilson, who announce her engagement to Frederick Kyle Braswell, son of Mrs. William Frederick Braswell of Ayden and the late Mr. Braswell. The wedding will take place Oct. 23.

Theron W. Downes.

Downes, an assistant professor of food science at Cornell University, told a food preservation workshop at Cornell University that only food grade plastic should be used. He said a potential danger exists with nonfood grade plastics because some may contain components not cleared by the Food and Drug Administration for use as human food.

He described food grade plastics as "close to absolute safety. Polyethylene is so innocuous it is used for surgical implants."

Use Food Grade Plastic For Preservation

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — A home pickler is courting trouble if she uses a plastic garbage or diaper pail lined with a plastic garbage or leaf bag for brining cucumbers or preserving other foods such as sauerkraut, says

Smaller, crunch types of pretzels became a staple in bars and free-lunch counters throughout the East about the same time, but the salty tidbit was virtually unknown in other parts of the country until the late 1940s. Then high-speed machines and improved packaging to preserve freshness developed by big biscuit manufacturers brought pretzels to the supermarket.

Don't Advertise Condition, Talk To Your Hostess

DEAR ABBY: I know you'll never print this, but I just want you to know that your advice has ruined one life. Mine.

Ten years ago I was going with Paul, a guy I really loved. He wanted me to go all the way with him, and I really wanted to, but I had it drummed into me that I should save myself for marriage, so I wrote to you for advice. You told me that if I lost Paul because I wouldn't give in, he wasn't worth having.

Well, Paul met another girl who gave him what he wanted, and he married her. They've been married for eight years and have a great marriage.

If I had given in to Paul, he'd have married me instead. I'm married to a nice guy, but I still love Paul and always will. I wish I hadn't taken your advice. Thanks for nothing.

SORRY

DEAR SORRY: When a girl asks me if she should go all the way, I advise against it on the theory that she lacks the maturity to handle that kind of relationship, or she wouldn't be asking.

P.S. How do you know how "great" Paul's marriage is? And how can you be sure he would have married you had you given in?

DEAR ABBY: I am a diabetic and should not have sugar. My problem is how to stay on my restricted diet and still enjoy some kind of social life.

I belong to a club and a church circle, and the refreshments they serve are loaded with sugar. I've been eating the refreshments, even though I know I shouldn't, because I don't want to advertise the fact that I'm diabetic, and I feel awkward refusing refreshments while everyone else is eating.

I don't know how to handle this situation. I suppose the simplest solution would be to stay away from the meetings, but isn't there another answer?

DIABETIC

DEAR DIABETIC: Your problem is being embarrassed about a condition over which you have no control. You need not "advertise" it, but you could let your hostess know in advance that you can't tolerate sugar. You are foolish to hide it, and even more foolish to go off your diet and upset your sugar level.

DEAR ABBY: I was amused to see in your column the letter from "TRAVELIN' MAN" who said that years ago, bums and drifters would stop by the back door of the undertaker's to try on used choppers for size. You replied, "Recycled dentures? You're puttin' me on!"

Abby, he was not puttin' you on. Back in the 30s, there was a general merchandise store in Barnhart, Mo. (20 miles south of St. Louis) that featured a washtub full of used dentures for sale. People would come in and try them on for size—germs and all.

The store has since burned down, but I can vouch for the fact that there was such a place.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

During a pregnancy, it is not uncommon for an expectee to break out with hives, lose sleep, or become morose and not want to talk about it. Some even have stomach cramps.

And those are just the men, according to British authoress Betty Parsons.

She has just written a book for expectant fathers describing their turmoil and anxiety.

And if that isn't enough to choke you up, a laborite member of Parliament is introducing a bill that would give a man three days holiday with pay when his wife has a baby. (That's like tipping the Boston Strangler for making a house call.)

To quote, "It is inhuman and monstrous that men should be deprived of this vital family entitlement. It will enable a man to be present to keep his wife company while she is in labor."

I'd like to see this "sharing" go a step farther. When does a husband get custody of the baby for the first nine months preceding birth?

I'm not your neighborhood sadist or anything, but I'd sure like to cut down on some of the dumb questions husbands seem to spew out. These are my favorites:

Upon being told you are pregnant, a husband will invariably ask, "Are you sure?" (If Rona Barrett said it, you'd believe it!)

"Are you really nauseated?" is another favorite. (Just because I am hanging out of the no-draft, clutching the radio antenna and praying for death... is that what you think?)

"Are you comfortable?" (This, in your 11th month on an elevator when a man has just set a pipe on your stomach and announced, "We seem to be stuck between floors. Someone has just tilted us over capacity.")

I know men should be more involved in birth, but I personally liked it better when they lived in ignorance. When they thought I was performing a miracle that only I could do. That I had to go into maternity clothes at two weeks and sit in soft chairs and not carry anything heavier than a dish of ice cream. And that after birth, I had to stay in bed 30 days to get my strength back.

Men won't stop with a three-day maternity leave. First, they won't be able to fit into anything they wore before the baby... then they'll have to get away for a few days... and the post-natal depression could last as long as 15 years.

Successor Can Change World

A monumental figure left the world scene last week with the death of Mao Tse-Tung at 82 years old.

More than any international leader today, Mao symbolized his homeland.

If we can believe what we learn about communist China he was revered by his people almost to the point of worship.

Mao was clearly a 20th century revolutionary leading the fight to take over China which ultimately was successful following World War II. As a communist power China was then considered to be closely allied to the other red giant, the Soviet Union. It soon became evident, however, that there were vast differences between the two countries which eventually led to armed conflicts along their border.

Mao was believed to be in control of foreign policy, as well as internal affairs during all this time, and even up until his death. One of the major moves made in recent years was thawing of relations with the United States which made then President Richard Nixon a welcomed person in China.

Now, however, the Mao presence is gone from the Chinese scene and it is not clear who is in charge or who will ultimately emerge as the leader of the country.

What happens now that Mao is gone could affect the course of world events. A reunion with the Soviet Union could be ominous for the western world and a cooling of relations with the United States could be bad. A violent internal struggle within China itself could be a situation fraught with danger. There are many who thought of Mao as a despot, allowing himself to be viewed by his people as a divine ruler. Others thought he was long since out of step with the modern world as he reached an advanced age.

Regardless, Mao represented stability for China, particularly in its relations to the outside world. New leadership will emerge, but there could be a dangerous period in the meantime. Once the new leadership is established, it could carry China in entirely new directions.

Defection Carries Mysteries With It

One of the modern mysteries may be the defection of Soviet pilot, Lt. Viktor I. Belenko.

The lieutenant landed his secret Soviet jet in Japan and asked for asylum in the United States. He is being brought to this country and it is expected the plane will eventually be returned to Russia.

The landing recalls Rudolph Hess' flight to England in World War II, leaving his role as a top official in Nazi Germany. Hess was later tried for war crimes and is still a prisoner at an advanced age.

The Soviet lieutenant's defection is not of the Hess magnitude, but no doubt U.S. authorities will be interested in what he has to say.

THIS AFTERNOON

Career Education Battle

(First of Two Articles)

By BILL NOBILITT

RALEIGH—Breathe the term "career education" in North Carolina educational circles, and be prepared for immediate battle.

No concept of education is as hotly debated, misunderstood, and variously interpreted as this one, as plans move forward on a timetable of full implementation across the state by 1982.

Cutting through the emotions which surround the issue, conflicts of a legitimate sort appear to exist in these main areas:

Some Issues

—There are those who say the public schools have concentrated on college preparation, relegating the student who wants to learn a job skill to second-class citizenship;

—There are those who believe career education will commit the schools to concentrating on job skills to the detriment of well-rounded development in language, art, music, etc.

—There are those who envision public schools becoming a second statewide technical institute-community college network competing with that adult-level system;

—And, there are those who figure career education is just more of the same old social and developmental meddling which the schools have been engaged in for some time, and which they feel has failed. The schools ought to teach basic skills of learning, rather.

Going back through the various reports of State Board of Education proceedings on the subject, looking over materials compiled by the State Department of Public Instruction, and keeping tabs on a legislative study commission mulling the same subject leaves much room for continued bewilderment.

A. Craig Phillips, state superintendent of public instruction, is a strong advocate of career education.

A faction of the State Board of Education, led by Chairman Dallas Herring and including retiring State Treasurer Edwin Gill, raise questions about the concept. At bottom, their reservations center around the prospect of major change in the philosophy of public education.

Major Change

Herring has put it this way: "It is one thing to insist upon a sound and separate basic education curriculum for all students, with elective courses in occupational education which include a strong emphasis on applied basic education experiences.

"It is quite another thing to propose that occupational education, with its attendant economic goals permeate the entire curriculum" as some national leaders have suggested.

"The first alternative seems worthy of further experimentation and study," Herring has stated in a formal policy declaration. "The latter does not."

In that statement, Herring spelled out the concerns of the State Board of Education: premature decisions by students might prevent full educational development; schools as instruments for social engineering; career education is no panacea, but might help in some cases; work is "not the whole purpose of living," and all learning should not be limited to practical applications; and education should meet the needs of all students—career education alone can't do that.

In approving—after considerable debate and delay—a federal grant to begin writing a statewide plan for career education, the State Board of Education took care to limit the work to grades seven through 12, and to set procedures which will keep proposals coming before the board for future consideration.

THE INSIDE REPORT

Marred Debut By Jimmy

By ROWLANDEVANS

AND ROBERT NOVAK

PITTSBURGH — Jimmy Carter opened his fall campaign emphasizing the unwanted issue of abortion and the irrelevant issue of Clarence Kelley's valances because of blunders by the campaign organization and his own lack of discipline.

Those shortcomings obscured carefully constructed plans for a dramatic contrast: Carter going into the nation's neighborhoods while President Ford hides in the White House. Instead, the overriding portrait of Carter during two days in the critical Northeast was a candidate not fully in control of his campaign and sometimes not of himself.

At times — particularly in his visit to Pittsburgh — Carter displayed the superb campaigning style that brought him from obscurity. Nevertheless, week's performance by candidate and organization hardly pointed to the assured victory once taken for granted.

The fall strategy, worked out by the Carter high command during those long summer weeks in Georgia, was valid. Instead of asking the public to come see him at public rallies, he would go see the public in suitable-for-television neighborhood walking tours — the people's candidate, contrasting with the secluded President. Simultaneously, Carter would arrest his leftward drift by moving back toward the center.

To begin with, Carter's Labor Day opening in his Southern heartland was impressive. Trouble started Tuesday when he crossed the Mason-Dixon line. A last-minute New York schedule change placed Carter at 7:45 a.m. outside a Manhattan subway stop which, unfortunately, attracts no passengers at that hour. That was his organization's fault. What happened next was his own.

Speaking at Brooklyn College, Carter stunned aides by calling FBI Director Kelley "a disgrace" for having government carpenters build two window valances in his home. In fact, Carter told questioning reporters, he would have fired Kelley. No Carter strategy council had discussed Kelley. But Carter, perceiving another Ford administration weak spot, took an approach that distorted his first day's campaigning in the North.

Much worse awaited Carter in Pennsylvania, considered his Northern stronghold. Once again the trouble was self-induced. Carter's ill-conceived meeting with the Catholic bishops had aroused anti-abortion forces. Cardinal John Krol, Archbishop of Philadelphia, was on the warpath leading "pro-life" forces.

Aggravating matters were blunders by the Carter organization. Scheduling a walking tour through Philadelphia's 43rd Ward, the Carterites never consulted that area's Congressman: Rep. William Green, Democratic nominee for the Senate. Green could have warned Carter not to rely so heavily on a neighborhood community action group called COACT.

That reliance produced, in descending order of damage, (1) cancellation of a Carter event in a Catholic church, producing headlines about abortion; (2) a dreadful walking tour — the presidential candidate wandering through North Philadelphia in desperate search of voters; and (3) a

Desegregationist Dream

By JAMES KILPATRICK

The recent report of the Civil Rights Commission on school desegregation is a dreamworld document if ever one came along. It is the work of 16 staff members whose collective naivete is positively awesome; the authors doubtless rank among the dearest people ever born, but they are spiritually kin to those famous three monkeys who could see no evil, hear no evil, or speak no evil.

Any knowledgeable observer who has lived with what Chief Justice Burger once described as the flinty, intractable realities of day-to-day desegregation will put the report aside with a sense of mystification. It is as if the authors were speaking a foreign language or describing other schools in other countries.

Here and there, to be sure, the authors bravely acknowledge that desegregation of the public schools has produced a little friction, a little resistance, some misguided opposition. A few unenlightened persons remain unconvinced that remedial measures are good things. Perfect acceptance has not quite been achieved.

But the overall impression of this 315-page report is that desegregation is absolutely ducky. Deep down in their hearts, the people love it. "There is one conclusion that stands out above all others: desegregation works." The general opposition that once prevailed has yielded to "widespread support." Desegregation has had such universally good effects on education that the changes "benefit everyone." And so on.

That impression, alas, is malarkey. Yes, of course, in many communities in which minority children are a relatively small fraction of the school population, measures to increase the degree of racial integration have been well accepted. There is nothing novel, or interesting, or newsworthy in that proposition. But the controversy over "desegregation" is something else entirely.

What are we talking about, anyhow? In ordinary, common speech—the speech of those who live in the real world—desegregation is the

End Of WACs Ahead

By RICHARD CARELLI

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Women's Army Corps, for 34 years the only Army that female soldiers have known, may soon be history.

The House of Representatives, after hearing a committee report that called the separate distinction for more than 40,000 WACs "a vestige of the time when women were not treated equally," voted overwhelmingly Monday to do away with the special women's corps and to integrate fully women into the Army.

The bill, which also eliminates sex distinctions in the promotions of officers and other military policies, passed by a 343 to 4 vote. It now goes to the Senate.

"The Army has arrived," said Air Force Lt. Col. Lucille Dion, acting executive secretary of the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Armed Services, in reporting that the Pentagon backs the legislation.

"This would be another step forward for women in the armed services," Lt. Col. Dion said. "It's a logical step."

Created by Congress in 1942 as the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, the small band of women had to wait until later to be rid of the "auxiliary" tag.

In 1972, there were only 13,000 women wearing Army uniforms, but a Pentagon push that year for more woman-power began what has become a steady growth in troop numbers.

Lt. Col. Dion said equal footing with male soldiers would prove beneficial but declined comment on just how the new status would change Army life for the young recruit or career Army woman.

The bill passed by the House would abolish the WACs within 90 days of its enactment.

Women's corps were not created separately for the other services even though they had their own names — Women in the Air Force (WAFs) and Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Service (the Navy's WAVES). The bill would abolish the positions of director for the WAVES, which already is vacant, and director of the Women's Marines.

40 Years Ago Today

September 14, 1936

Pope Pius XI, with the whole world as his audience, gave his solemn blessings today to a militant defense against the forces of communism which, he said, menaced "the very foundations of all order, all culture and all civilization."

The holy father pardoned the killers of bishops and priests in Spain, and declared subversive forces, there and elsewhere, "aim at arming the masses and throwing them madly against every form of institution, human and divine."

He called upon those "who have a duty in the matter" to act — "if, indeed, it is not already too late."

The Commitment By Business

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Capital spending is hardly what anyone but a zealously dedicated economist might call a glamorous subject, but it has some decidedly significant consequences for almost everyone.

At the moment you won't find many stories about capital spending on the front pages of your newspaper, and it probably never will land there. But in business and economic journals it's headline material.

The big discussion in these journals is whether or not business is committing enough money to new plants and equipment—that's capital spending—to provide sufficient capacity to meet future demand.

That's where you come in.

If capacity is insufficient, then you may be certain that prices will continue rising and even that product shortages might develop. It is a situation to be avoided.

And that brings us to the great discussion in the business and economic journals. As usual, the economists are divided: Some say spending is adequate, others suggest an economic crisis could be developing. For more than a year, Capital spending wasn't very vigorous, despite the slow recovery from the recession and an increase in consumer demand. Businessmen weren't ready, it seemed, to believe the recovery was real.

Even into this year the economists were disturbed by this lack of commitment, but gradually capital spending began to pick up somewhat.

In the first half of the year spending was at an annual rate of about $118 billion.

That figure in itself probably has little significance to the layman other than being an enormous sum. But enormous sums are commonplace these days because, despite its weaknesses, this is an economy of immense size. Let the economists worry about that figure, and worry they will.

There are economists who worry that industry simply cannot raise the money to pay for needed expansion and that, therefore, expansion is bound to lag behind demand.

There are those who fear that the spirit of enterprise, innovation and investment is fading in the United States because, they say, business people have lost faith in the future of America.

There are those who maintain that industry would rather restrict capacity, forego the expense of expansion, and thereby artificially maintain high prices.

There are economists who look at the situation from an entirely different perspective. There are, for instance, those who point out that we don't even know what our present available industrial capacity is.

The Federal plants are utilized at a rate of better than 80 per cent.

A rate of that dimension suggests there is still plenty of room for demand to increase without putting inflationary pressures on prices. That supposedly begins when the rate gets up around 90 per cent.

Strength For Today

FROM THE MOUTHS OF BABES

A little girl was crying in the dark, and her mother, who came in response to the child's pleading, assured her that she had nothing to fear. Often the mother had talked with the little girl about the Heavenly Father. "He will take care of you," she repeated on this occasion, "and nothing will harm you."

The youngster's reply was, "I know God is here all right, but I can't see Him. When I am afraid I want a God with skin on his face."

The child was expressing what we all want and what God gave us in the incarnation. He sent His Son into the flesh. We believe that Christ was God dwelling among men, the celestial draped in the garments of human life. "The Word became flesh and dwelt among us" is the Biblical way of saying that in the fullness of time God granted men's desire to have the divine among them in a form they could see, talk with, and understand.

Anti-Recession Tax Cut Stays

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional uncertainty about the strength of the national economy will mean money in the pockets of most Americans.

Congress is about to extend for another 18 months the anti-recession tax cuts, that were enacted last year.

Without the extension:
—Taxes on virtually every American would rise, with the heaviest burden falling on the poorest families.
—The economy would be deprived of $15 billion in consumer spending.

—Businesses would lose to the tax collector about $4.5 billion a year that otherwise could be used to create jobs.

Congress is expected to take final action this week on a massive tax-revision bill that includes extension of the individual and business tax cuts as well as numerous other changes in tax law.

Although the economy is clearly on an upswing, Congress fears that ending the tax cuts now might cause an economic tailspin.

Here is how some provisions in the bill would affect typical American families.

ALL TAXPAYERS
Every taxpayer could subtract from taxes owed $35 for himself and each dependent. A family of six, for example, could save $210 in taxes.

There is an alternative for smaller families and single persons. Instead of the $35-per-person credit, they could reduce their taxes by 2 per cent of their first $9,000 of income, or a maximum credit of $180.

The taxpayer could choose whichever option provides the greater tax saving.

To take advantage of the credit, the taxpayer totals his income, subtracts his deductions and exemptions, computes his taxes, then subtracts the credit from taxes owed.

NON-ITEMIZERS — About 60 per cent of taxpayers use a standard deduction when figuring their taxes, meaning they do not itemize deductions for medical expenses, state and local taxes, contributions, etc.

Inflation in recent years has increased the value of itemized deductions but standard deductions remained comparatively low.

The standard deductions were raised last year and the bill would make these changes permanent.

Any taxpayer who does not itemize is allowed a $1,700 minimum deduction if single and $2,100 if married and filing a joint return, no matter how little he earns.

The maximum standard deduction is 16 per cent of income, but no more than $2,400 for single persons and $2,800 for couples.

Experts estimate that the higher standard deductions will encourage nine million taxpayers to switch from itemizing. This would mean fewer calculations — and less chance of error — for the taxpayer and less work for Internal Revenue Service.

session in a Lutheran church where Carter was the captive of COACT. Attempting to escape from turgid complaints about federal housing practices, Carter lashed out stridently at Republican corruption, Clarence Kelley's valances and even Richard M. Nixon.

The next stop, Scranton, Pa., was a nightmare. The abortion issue once more made headlines when a pro-life demonstration mobbed Carter in front of his hotel. He left at 6:40 a.m. the next day to greet workers at the gates of a Scranton factory only to find nobody there, narrowing Carter's blue eyes and obliterating his smile. Through 13 hours in Scranton (including sleeping time), Carter delivered no speech and personally greeted only a handful of voters.

What saved Pennsylvania from being a disaster and what showed his truly formidable assets as a candidate was his Pittsburgh stop. Setting aside harsh anti-Ford rhetoric, he charmed residents of Polish Hill — heavily Democratic, totally Polish Catholic, overwhelmingly anti-abortion.

Carter also showed his flexibility this week. With polls indicating disapproval of his leftward drift, Carter moved right. Addressing shipyard workers at Groton, Conn., he called for increased naval construction to counter the Soviet threat, never mentioning his proposed $5.7 billion defense cut. He won applause everywhere promising to stop welfare for able-bodied men who refuse to work. Talking with unemployed workers in Scranton, Carter never mentioned the Humphrey-Hawkins jobs bill he had endorsed back in primary days.

Organizational incompetence that sent Carter wandering through empty streets of Philadelphia and Scranton will presumably be corrected. More worrisome for Democrats is whether their candidate will be repeating his masterful performance of Polish Hill or will lead the campaign into dead-end streets of stridency and irrelevance.

process by which willful and deliberate school segregation is put to an end. In every significant case, the process is conducted according to court orders. There is nothing voluntary about it. A court finds that the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment has been violated, and the court proceeds to remedy the situation.

The authors of this report tell us, with a straight face, that "courts may not and do not require racial balance in an imposed desegregation plan." It is a flabbergasting misstatement of the law. The leading Charlotte-Mecklenburg case was predicated squarely upon the District Court's desire to see a general 71-29 percent ratio in the schools. True, this was not an inflexible requirement for each school, but the use of mathematical ratios is "within the equitable remedial discretion of the District Court."

The report says that "courts have not forced students to ride buses." But for all practical purposes, that is precisely what the courts have done. Judges have ordered the purchase of buses; they have approved or disapproved bus routes; they have made racial-balance busing both explicit and implicit in their decrees.

And these coercive orders, manipulating little children because of the color of their skin, have aroused enormous resentment in communities with large minority populations. In such cities as Atlanta, "Massive white flight" is a palpable fact of life. Boston's experience is identical. So is Richmond's. Nothing useful is gained by glossing over these things.

The kind of desegregation the country is concerned about, as in Boston, has made racial tensions worse. Desegregation has proved fearfully expensive in a dozen ways; it has not demonstrably benefited "everyone," and in many cities it has resulted in a resegregation more severe than before. The commission's report is an exercise in dreamy play-pretend; is long on gentle fantasy; and it is woefully short on uncomfortable fact.

PROPOSED TAX BILL — This chart illustrates the effect of a tax bill currently under consideration by Congress on taxpayers, based on their annual income, marital status and number of dependents. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

TAX SIMPLIFICATION
Under present law, a taxpayer generally computes his taxes in one of two ways:

—If his adjusted gross income is under $15,000 and he takes the standard deduction, he uses one of the 12 optional tax tables in the instructions that accompany Form 1040. The tables are broken down into income levels, family size and filing status.

Table 1, for example, covers only the taxpayer with a single exemption. Table 5 is for taxpayers claiming five exemptions.

A husband and wife with two children, earning $14,000, filing a joint return and not itemizing deductions would turn to Table 4, read across to the "joint return" column and down to the $14,000 line and find they owe $1,552 in tax.

From $1,552, they would subtract their $180 credit (2 per cent of the net $9,000 income) and end up with a net tax of $1,372.

—If income is greater than $15,000 or the taxpayer itemizes, he uses one of the four "tax rate schedules," which are based on filing status: single, married with a joint return, married filing separate returns or unmarried heads of household.

After totaling deductions and subtracting them and exemptions from income, the taxpayer finds the proper schedule, reads down until he finds the line covering his income and computes his taxes.

If the husband and wife with two children, filing a joint return and earning $14,000 had medical expenses and contributions and other deductions totaling $2,500, they would compute their taxes this way:

Subtract from $14,000 the deductions leaving $11,500; subtract $750 for each exemption (total $3,000), leaving $8,500; turn to Tax Schedule Y (for joint returns), read down to the $8,000-plus line and see they owe $1,380 plus 22 per cent of the excess over $8,000. That means a tax bill of $1,480.

Convene On Wednesday

The Sixty-fourth Annual Session of the North Carolina State Convention of Original Free Will Baptists will convene at the National Guard Armory in Mount Olive, September 15 and 16. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. each morning.

Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. the traditional Mission Rally will be held with the theme "One Body in Christ." The Reverend J. B. Starnes will be the featured speaker.

$1 Million Bail For Skyjackers

By HENRIETTA LEITH
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Five Croatian nationalists, held on $1 million bail each on air piracy charges after a weekend the pilot called "30 hours of hell," also have been charged with second-degree murder in the bomb death of a policeman.

were to meet today to decide who should get first crack at prosecuting the four men and a woman, who used fake bombs to force a New York-to-Chicago Trans World Airlines 727 jet to fly to Paris.

A real bomb the hijackers claimed responsibility for leaving in a Grand Central Station locker here killed a policeman, who was to be buried today.

Police officials declined to comment Monday on published reports that the hijackers also had been questioned about a still-unsolved bombing last Dec. 29 at LaGuardia airport, where they boarded the TWA flight Friday. The earlier bomb, which killed 12 persons and injured 75, also was planted in a locker.

The hijacking, carried out to gain publicity for the cause of Croatian independence from Yugoslavia, provoked international recriminations on Monday.

Yugoslavia accused the United States of tolerating anti-Yugoslav terrorists, a charge denied by the State Department in Washington. United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim repeated his pleas for international action "against this kind of threat to international life."

Capt. Richard Carey, 40-year-old pilot of the hijacked plane, criticized the handling of the crisis by French authorities. He said the 55 hostages aboard the plane were in greatest danger while on the ground in Paris.

Noting that he and the other hostages believed all along that the hijackers were carrying real dynamite sticks, he added: "I would like to have had more support from the French... I was given an ultimatum that restricted the negotiations."

A tape of Carey's talks with U.S. Ambassador Kenneth Rush at the Paris airport showed the pilot telling Rush: "They want to drop leaflets on cities ... and for this you are asking that this whole ship could be killed to prove that you can take a stand against terrorism. . . . Tell us, please, what we are being killed for?"

At Monday's court hearing, a U.S. magistrate set the $1-million bail for each hijacker after a federal prosecutor noted that air piracy can carry a death sentence when it leads to loss of life. Otherwise, the charge carries a prison sentence of 20 years to life.

The four men — ringleader Zvonko Busic, 30, Peter Matovic, 31, Frane Pesut, 25, and Mark Vlasic, 29, all are natives of Croatia long active in the independence movement. Busic's 27-year-old wife, Julienne, a schoolteacher from Eugene, Ore., apparently became dedicated to the same cause after she met Busic in Vienna.

FLOOD AFTER THE DROUGHT — Two policemen clad in diver's wet suits wade through a flooded street in Stokesley, England, after the river Leven broke its bank, sending a five-foot wall of water through the town. The river banks were unable to stand the pressure of water created by heavy rain which followed months of drought. Despite the heavy rain the National Water Council warned the effects of the nation's worst drought in five centuries will continue. (AP Wirephoto)

Youth Shot By Policeman

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Police in Gastonia say an officer shot and killed an 18-year-old youth after he allegedly attacked another officer with a meat fork Monday.

Police Chief C.C. Elmore said in a prepared statement that Albert Woods was killed when two officers went to the Woods home to take the youth into custody. Elmore said a commitment order had been issued by Superior Court at the request of the youth's mother.

Elmore said a preliminary investigation indicated that officers D.E. Green and D.O. Williams took a kitchen knife away from Woods, who then became violent and attacked the officers with a two-pronged meat fork.

Williams was stabbed in the leg and Green then drew his service revolver and fired at Woods, Elmore said. Woods was pronounced dead at the scene by assistant coroner Don Conrad.

Williams was treated and released at Gaston Memorial Hospital.

No charges were filed in the shooting, but Elmore said an investigation is continuing.

A sister of the victim, Edna Pagan, said her brother had been committed on two previous occasions to Broughton Hospital in Morganton.

Mexico Adopts Traffic Code

By JOHN VIRTUE
MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Tourists will no longer have to run for their lives when they cross the streets here.

Nor will they feel helpless when a taxi driver jacks up the fare on them.

As for those who drive to Mexico City, they shouldn't be prey to traffic policemen looking to make an easy peso from those caught in minor traffic violations.

Mexico City has just put into force the first new traffic regulations since 1943. They've brought cries of protest from some people and praise from others.

The main object of the new regulations is twofold: to help the pedestrian and to cut down on bottlenecks.

"Enough of dangerous crossings between cars, enough of parking in prohibited areas and double parking, enough of attacks against defenseless pedestrians," the newspaper El Universal said in an editorial praising the regulations.

The metropolitan area, with a population of 12 million, has 7,000 buses and upwards of a million cars on the streets. Traffic jams can last hours.

Gen. Daniel Gutierrez Santos, Federal District police and traffic director, made an appeal to motorists — and pedestrians — to study and abide by the new regulations.

"Those people with influence, with or without credentials, will disappear from now on, no matter what their title, job or activity," he said.

One of the harshest critics of the regulations is Rafael

Velazquez Espinosa, an engineer and president of the Professionals and Technicians Organization.

"They're ambiguous, tendentious, cloudy and anti-constitutional, an attempt against national unity, and they don't serve any social or educational purpose," he said.

For the first time, pedestrians will have the right of way and won't have to risk their lives dodging oncoming cars. Jaywalking will be an offense.

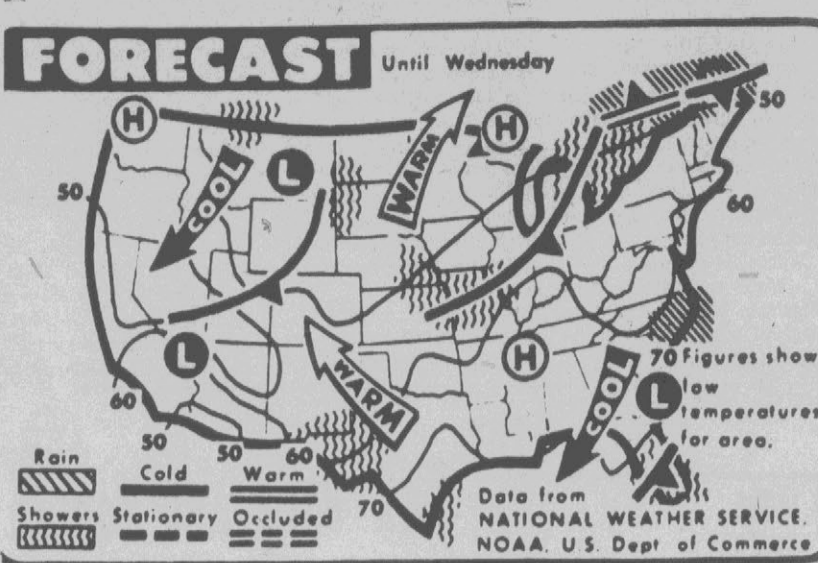

"Pedestrians will have to be educated," complained driver Eunice Garcia, 32, "because we drivers will be unprotected and at their mercy."

The running of a red light will now cost up to $40 U.S.; horns have been banned except in emergencies; speed limits have been imposed and all cars will have to be in good working order. A compulsory insurance plan is being readied.

What about that friendly policeman who indicates he'll forget about your driving offense if you slip him a bill or two? He can be fined himself. If the motorist feels he's being wrongly ticketed, he has 15 days in which to appeal to a judge.

"We can't stop putting the 'bite' on motorists," complained one traffic cop on the beat, "because we'd have to take money out of our own pocket to give our bosses their share."

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Cooler for most of the country. Small areas of showers will be scattered throughout the country. (AP Wirephoto)

By The Associated Press
A rapidly developing low over the Georgia-Florida border is moving northward, bringing showers across North Carolina today.

Some of the showers may be accompanied by locally heavy rain over southeastern sections of the state.

Winds are expected to increase as the low develops, particularly along the state's coast. Some coastal flooding could occur during high tide tonight over sections of the southern coastal area.

High temperatures Monday reached the low to mid 80s over most sections except for 70s in the mountains. Cloudy nighttime skies kept temperature this morning a bit higher than those of the past few mornings.

Temperatures ranged from 50s in the mountains to some low 70s near the coast. Cloudy skies and the scattered showers moving into the state will keep high temperatures in the upper 70s to low 80s today but a bit cooler in the mountains. Lows tonight will range from some 50s in the mountains to mid and upper 60s near the coast.

The recreational weather outlook calls for scattered showers over southern sections of the state. Winds will increase along the coast during the day. Small craft advisories are in effect for the area south of Cape Hatteras and may be raised for the remainder of the North Carolina coastal area later today or tonight.

City Counts 2 Collisions

An estimated $2,000 property damage resulted from two collisions investigated by Greenville Police yesterday.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 10:25 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Chestnut Street involving trucks driven by Marlene Kozora Averett of Colonial Park Trailer Pk. and Malcolm Gay of Washington, N.C.

Police, who charged Gay with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety, estimated damage at $700 to the Averett vehicle and $400 to the Gay truck.

Ruth Baker Sutton of 1208 South Washington St. was charged with following too close after investigation of a three-vehicle collision about 3:10 p.m. on Dickinson Avenue, 20 feet North of the Ridgeway Street intersection.

Investigators identified the drivers of the other two vehicles involved as Johnnie Mack Frank of Route 1, Bethel and Timothy Lane Garris of 305 Ash St.

Damage was estimated at $100 to the Frank car, $400 to the Garris auto and $400 to the Sutton vehicle.

Mayor Will Pay And Apologize

ROCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Mayor John Shaw says he'll pay the 50-cent parking ticket his police issued to Gov. Meldrim Thomson.

Thomson's campaign secretary, Jay McDuffee, said Monday that Shaw told Thomson he would also write him a letter of apology. McDuffee did not deny the ticket was properly issued.

Rochester police wrote the ticket last week when businessman Richard Fabian filed a complaint because the governor's driver, a state trooper, did not deposit a coin in the parking meter.

N.Y. Demos Pick Senate Nominee In Today's Vote

By DAVID SHAFFER
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — New York's Democratic voters pick a U.S. Senate nominee today from a five-candidate field that sprawls across the party's ideological spectrum. It includes a flamboyant congresswoman, a loquacious professor, a former U.S. attorney general, a party warhorse and a man who builds parking garages.

When the voting is over, the Democrats - who have lost every Senate race in the state but one in the past 25 years — will have just seven weeks to patch up the wounds of a divisive campaign and try to beat incumbent Republican-Conservative Sen. James Buckley, who faces a challenge himself.

Primary elections also were being held today in 11 other states: Minnesota, Massachusetts, Colorado, Nevada, North Carolina, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont, Utah, Wyoming and Wisconsin.

In the New York primary, the Democrats' choice could be Rep. Bella Abzug, an aggressive campaigner who wears big hats, strikes liberal themes and explicitly appeals to the women's vote: "I may not look like a senator, but I'm what I think a senator should look like."

Or Daniel Patrick Moynihan, the Harvard University don and former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, who says the Democratic party has drifted too far left and may be forgetting that America is "very much worth defending."

Or former U.S. Atty. Gen.

Ramsey Clark, a onetime Texan who talks in a quiet drawl about major shifts in the nation's priorities and says the others lack the "political courage" to take "difficult positions," such as his advocacy of wage and price controls.

Or Paul O'Dwyer, president of the New York City Council and the party establishment's official choice, who says the others' "bickering" may have jeopardized chances for a Democratic victory.

Or Abraham Hirschfeld, a Brooklyn parking garage magnate who said Monday: "When a person has a toothache, he goes to a dentist, not to a politician. New York has economic problems, and it needs a practical businessman."

In the first statewide Republican primary in 50 years, Buckley is opposed by Rep. Peter Peyster of Westchester County. Peyster is a moderate who says the deeply conservative Buckley has ignored the needs of New York.

But the crew-cut, first-term senator will be on the Nov. 2 ballot as the Conservative party nominee even if he loses to Peyster. Buckley won just such a three-way contest against a moderate Republican and a Democrat in 1970.

Buckley continued Monday to ignore his opponent, issuing a statement that denounced the five Democrats and didn't mention Peyster. Peyster again attacked Buckley for refusing to debate him.

With only a plurality needed to win the five-way Democratic race, much hinges on the composition of the expected light turnout among the state's 3.6 million enrolled Democrats. A heavy women's vote could help Mrs. Abzug. A heavy vote among Jews, who constitute up to 40 per cent of the Democratic primary electorate, could help Moynihan, who climbed to political prominence with his defenses of Israel in the United Nations.

Police Station Prefers CO Code

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — There's a trend among some police departments to call a drunk pedestrian a drunk pedestrian. Not in Charlotte though — it's still a "10-56."

A number of police stations around the country have abandoned the familiar 10-code system of communicating over the radio network that links patrol cars and beat policemen to their headquarters.

The system was started in the 1940s and adopted internationally by the Associated Public Safety Communications Officers. It was popularized by Hollywood, and now "10-4" is as familiar as "okay."

Departments that drop the code are going to "clear speech," which means they just say what they mean in English. At least they try to.

The director of the officers association, Rhett McMillian, says his organization believes the 10-code improves the accuracy of communications, reduces the need for transmission repeats and increases privacy of communications. He also says the code will be easier to adapt to mobile computer systems some police departments plan to install in patrol cars.

A 13-month study done by the Lakewood, Colo. police department showed, however, that clear speech resulted in fewer errors and was quicker to broadcast.

"Instead of having numerous codes for various kinds of events police officers respond to, we eliminated those and went to clear speech," said Lakewood Police Capt. Dan Montgomery.

"We found through the study that the use of clear speech precluded many misunderstandings," he said. "I think there is still error, but my own personal opinion is that the magnitude of error is reduced now."

Officials of the Charlotte-Mecklenburg county police and the N.C. Highway Patrol have expressed little interest in clear speech. "We don't have any conflict with misunderstandings or misinterpretations of signals," said Lt. Col. Bruce C. Abercrombie of the county squad.

As a result, a Charlotte officer may "10-78" so he can "10-61" at his "10-41." In Lakewood, he could just say he "wants to leave his zone at the beginning of his shift to stop a suspicious car."

Price Discount Offered If Gas Bought In Cash

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Charleston area motorists can now get a discount at several Port City gasoline stations if they pay cash instead of using a credit card.

The two-cent per gallon discount at many Exxon stations is an experiment by the company to determine if discounts increase a station's business.

Exxon dealers in Abilene, Tex., are also participating in the program.

Mt. Pleasant dealer Stanley Low said in the first hours after signs describing the discount were placed on his pumps Monday, two people put their credit cards up and paid cash.

"So far, it looks like it's gonna work," he said.

Dealer Robert C. Benton, whose station is in the downtown section of Charleston, said he would participate as soon as signs were up telling his customers about the experiment.

"It's something new. It may work, it may not," he said.

Benton added, "It's like self-serve: I didn't like it at first, but now it's the only way to go."

Motorists now pay 57.9 cents a gallon for regular gas at Benton's if they pump it themselves, 63.9 if they go to the full service area.

The discount will apply at either place.

Benton said the program is supposed to last six months, "or maybe longer, it could go nationwide. If it doesn't work it may last only three or four weeks."

About 30 of the Charleston area's 41 Exxon dealers are participating.

Among the objections of those who aren't going along is a belief that it's just good publicity for the company without bene-

Doubt All Facts Told

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP) — Sixty-two per cent of Dutch citizens believe an inquiry failed to reveal fully the facts on Prince Bernhard's involvement in the Lockheed bribe scandal.

An opinion poll, conducted by the Dutch Institute for Public Research (NIPO) for Elsevier's magazine, showed that only 27 per cent of the respondents thought everything had been revealed.

Nine hundred persons were polled four days after the Aug. 26 publication of the report on Bernhard's dealings with Lockheed.

An independent three-man tribunal appointed by the government spent six months probing allegations that Queen Juliana's husband took $1.1 million dollars in Lockheed payouts. The probe failed to establish that the 65-year-old prince received such funds but found enough embarrassing evidence to force his resignation from public office.

NEW YORK (AP) — Concern over the prospect of a strike against Ford Motor Co. weighed down stock market prices again today. Trading was moderate.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off 3.74 at 979.55 on top of Monday's 5.09-point loss.

Declines held a 2-1 edge on advances among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues. News reports from talks between Ford and the United Auto Workers said there was little chance of a contract agreement before a midnight deadline tonight.

Analysts noted concern that a strike against Ford, especially a long one, would pose additional problems for the economic recovery at a time when it has already shown signs of slowing.

Ford shares declined 1/4 to 55%. Among other auto issues, General Motors lost 3/4 to 67% and Chrysler was down 1/2 to 20 1/2.

Steel stocks, with their links to the auto business, also posted fractional declines. Whittaker, the most active NYSE issue, rose 1/2 to 6 1/4 in trading marked by a 190,000 share block.

The company announced an offer to exchange $7.50 worth of debentures apiece for up to 3 million of its outstanding common shares. The NYSE's composite common-stock index fell 20 to 55.50 in the first hour. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .16 at 102.48.

Competing For $125.45 Day At Farmville Top USW Job

By CHERYL DEBES Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — United Steelworkers dissident Edward Sadlowski has declared opposition to union president I.W. Abel's chosen successor by launching his own campaign to head the 1.4-million-member union.

Abel is leaving office next year. Sadlowski, 38, saying he will offer "progressive leadership that is responsive to the membership and not to the bosses," announced his candidacy Monday — for a campaign already marred by violence and bitter accusations.

The union's District 31 director told reporters that steelworkers have "paid dearly for union executives who think like businessmen, act like businessmen and feel more at home with big businessmen than with workers." Sadlowski had indicated at the union's Las Vegas, Nev., convention last month that he would run against the leadership candidate, Lloyd

McBride, a St. Louis-based USW veteran. McBride, director of the steelworkers' District 34, said in a telephone interview that Sadlowski's candidacy "presents a serious question to the membership as to the direction our union will take in the next several years."

Sadlowski, whose district takes in 130,000 workers at mills and foundries along Lake Michigan's southern shore, has been an outspoken critic of the "official family," as Abel terms the union's leadership. The district director won election in 1974 only after a U.S. Labor Department investigation uncovered widespread irregularities and fraud in a 1973 contest and the courts ordered a rematch. Sadlowski supporters have campaigned at plants in other states. In July, a Bonfield, Ill., steelworker was shot in the neck while distributing anti-Abel leaflets in Texas.

Hold Highway Hearing Tonight

FARMVILLE — There will be a public hearing on the need for improvements to Highway U.S. 264 and U.S. 64 between Interstate 95 and U.S. 17 to Eastern North Carolina tonight at 7:30 in the Farmville Municipal Courtroom.

Interested citizens are encouraged to attend and express their views. The hearing is being held by the N. C. Department of Transportation. Members of the William S. Pollard consulting firm, which recently made a study of traffic needs in this area in 1975 and projections to the year 2,000 will be on hand.

Susan Ford To Open Offices

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Susan Ford, daughter of President Gerald R. Ford, will officially open the South Carolina Ford committee headquarters in Columbia Thursday. Miss Ford is scheduled to arrive in Columbia at noon and tentative plans are for her to depart about 2 p.m. that day.

Her visit was announced Monday night by Bill Harrison, executive director of the Ford committee in South Carolina. A Republican party spokesman said details of the visit are still being worked out.

Near 30 Million Doses Of Vaccine By Oct. 1

By JANET STAIHAR Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 30 million doses of swine flu vaccine will be available to the public by Oct. 1 and most Americans who want the shots should be able to have them by the end of the year, a government doctor says.

Dr. Theodore Cooper, assistant secretary for health, told a House health subcommittee Monday that the inoculation program should be completed by January.

In addition to the 30 million swine flu vaccine doses expected to be ready by Oct. 1, he said 117 million should be ready for use by December and another 13 million should be prepared by mid-January.

He said a recent poll showed that 56 per cent of the adult population — or about 115 million persons — plan to be immunized. The remainder of the surveyed adults said they have not yet made up their minds or that they do not intend to take the vaccine, he said.

If that is true, Cooper said, there should be enough vaccine for those wanting to be immunized by the end of this year. Cooper also said health officials expect to determine sometime this week the correct dosages of the vaccine for children under 18 who suffer from chronic diseases that could be aggravated by the flu.

Other witnesses before the House health and environment subcommittee which is monitoring the national swine flu inoculation program disputed a government information sheet claiming that "flu vaccine can be taken safely during pregnancy." Marcia Greenberger, an attorney with the Women's Rights Project of the Center for Law and Social Policy, a public interest law firm, and Susan Marks, a law student intern, said "there have been no tests to determine the safety of the swine flu vaccine either for the pregnant woman or her unborn fetus." They said in the face of "this absence of knowledge, it is hardly correct to boldly assert, as does the government's form, that the flu vaccine can be taken safely during pregnancy."

When Cooper was asked what he would advise an expectant mother, he replied, "I would tell her to take it."

Strike Appears Inevitable At Ford Plants

DETROIT (AP) — A nationwide strike by 170,000 Ford Motor Co. workers appeared certain for midnight today after United Auto Workers bargainers, rejecting the company's latest offer, left the negotiating room with no plans to return.

President Ford said in Washington today a strike would hurt the nation's economy and he expressed hope a settlement still is possible.

"A strike could have, would have, some unfavorable aspects as far as the economy is concerned," Ford said in an interview on NBC-TV's "Today Show."

A Ford spokesman said today negotiators for both sides were on call but no meetings were scheduled. The spokesman said there were no reports of substantial absenteeism this morning when the first shift checked in at Ford plants.

Saw A Decline In Dairy Farms

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — The number of dairy farmers and the amount of milk being produced in Texas declined last year, an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reported.

Dr. Randall Stelly said the volume of milk produced in Texas during July, 1976, was about 297 million pounds, down five million from the same month of 1975.

Stelly said there was a decrease of 771 dairy producers.

Quarantined For Fire Ants

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Imported fire ants are now common in virtually all of the eastern half of Texas, and are continuing to spread westward, an entomologist with the state agricultural extension service said.

John Jackman said 74 Texas counties are under partial or complete federal quarantine because of the fire ants, and any soil and earth moving equipment must be checked before being transported out of the area.

Schmidt's Two Homers Pace Win By Phils As Seaver Blanks Bucs

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer
Strong performances by a power hitter and a power pitcher have pulled the two contending teams in the National League East one game further apart.

The power hitter is Mike Schmidt, the present king of the home run sluggers, who belted a pair of homers Monday night in leading the Philadelphia Phillies over the Montreal Expos, 7-2.

"Both pitchers would like to have back those pitches," said Schmidt after his two homers helped give first-place Philadelphia its first two-game winning streak since Aug. 23-24.

The power pitcher is Tom Seaver, the three-time Cy Young Award winner, who fired a five-hitter and struck out 12 in pitching the New York Mets to a 5-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I believe I am throwing harder than last year," said Seaver after he sent the Pirates to only their third loss in 18 games. "I have developed my strength back from that injury of two years ago. Most of my strikeouts tonight were on fastballs that jammed the hitter."

The result of all this muscle is that the Phillies and Pirates each have 20 games remaining, and Philadelphia holds a five-game bulge.

Elsewhere in the NL, Atlanta beat Los Angeles 5-1 but lost the second game 4-3; St. Louis edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3, and San Francisco nipped San Diego 3-2 in 10 innings.

Schmidt slammed his first homer and 34th of the season in the first inning and the Phillies were on their way to their fifth victory in 19 games. His solo homer in the fifth, his 35th, gave him the major league lead by one over the Mets' Dave Kingman.

The Mets struck for all five runs in the seventh inning. Bud Harrelson and Bruce Boisclair each knocked in a run with singles, Felix Millan's single drove in two more and John Milner doubled home the final run.

Cards 4, Cubs 3
Bob Forsch scattered 11 hits for the complete-game victory. And his hitting made the difference.

The Cards scored their fourth run in the eighth off Darold Knowles on two walks and a double by Forsch. That run proved decisive when the Cubs closed to 4-3 in the ninth on RBI singles by Joe Wallis and Bill Madlock.

Braves 5-3, Dodgers 1-4
Pinch-hit singles by Reggie Smith and Manny Mota highlighted a four-run sixth inning that gave Los Angeles a split of its doubleheader with Atlanta.

In the opener, Rod Gilbreath drove home the decisive runs with a two-run double in the seventh and Frank LaCorte threw a five-hitter for his first complete game of the season.

Giants 3, Padres 2
Marty Perez doubled home Dave Rader in the 10th inning for his third RBI of the game, giving San Francisco its victory over San Diego.

Padres right-hander Tom Griffin, who had a no-hitter going through seven innings, lost the no-hitter and his shutout in the eighth. Ken Reitz stroked a leadoff single and Perez laced a two-run single.

Programs Offered

The Greenville Recreation Department is starting a number of programs for youths and adults this week.

Tackle Football for boys in grades 7-8 (ages 12-14) will begin today at 4 p.m. at Elm Street Park at West Greenville.

Youth Soccer for boys and girls, grades 1-8 (ages 6-14) will begin today at 3 p.m. Registration, practice and matches will be held at Jaycee Park.

Adult Volleyball Leagues for men and women will hold organizational meetings on Wednesday. The women will meet at 7 p.m. and the men at 8:30 p.m. at Elm Street Gym.

Adult tennis lessons will be offered for beginners in the morning and evening. Morning lessons will be from 9 to 10 a.m., and 10 to 11 a.m. each Monday and Wednesday at the Elm Street Courts. Evening lessons will be Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6 to 7 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m. at Jaycee Park. Registration will continue through this week with the cost of the lessons being a new can of tennis balls.

The men's doubles championships begins on Thursday, Sept. 23, with an entry deadline of 7 p.m. on Thursday of this week. Entry forms are available from Wes Hankins, tournament director, and Becky McDonald, club president. Any member of the Greenville Tennis Club is eligible to participate in the tournament schedule.

Drills Are Closed

Practice sessions at East Carolina University will be closed to the public this week.

"We hate to have to do this to our fans, but we've got a lot of things we've got to work on to get ready for this week's game," Coach Pat Dye said.

The Pirates are now in their second day of practice for Saturday's game in Raleigh against the N.C. State Wolfpack.

The Bucs, probably for the first time in history, go into the game in the favorite role, but Dye isn't sure that this is deserved.

"They're probably the best 0-2 team in the country. We'll have to have another perfect game to have a chance at beating them. State will certainly be up for us, and they'll be on their home field too."

Michigan Tops First AP Ballots: North Carolina Is Ranked 17th

By LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — "Where do you think you should be ranked this week?" Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler was asked.

"We should be 10th," he said Monday at his regular news conference. "But don't drop us out of the Top Ten."

Michigan isn't 10th. It's No. 1, despite an uncharacteristically poor defensive showing Saturday when the Wolverines — ranked No. 2 in the preseason poll — beat Big Ten rival Wisconsin, 40-27.

They gave up 426 yards to the Badgers, the most ever against a Michigan team in Schembechler's eight years at the school.

Nebraska, the top team in The Associated Press preseason listing, was tied 6-6 by Louisiana State and fell to eighth in this week's initial regular poll of the college season.

Who's second? Why, none other than Michigan's archrival, Ohio State — by a mere point.

The Wolverines, who collected 28 of the 61 first-place votes, tallied 1,077 points in the vote of sports writers and broadcasters. The Buckeyes had 18 firsts and 1,076 points of the maximum of 1,220.

"I don't care one way or another," Schembechler said, when pressed about his feelings on the poll. "What difference does it make after one game? At the end of the season, that's a different story."

The Wolverines have finished in the Top Ten in each of Schembechler's seven seasons since he moved over from Miami of Ohio. No other team in the nation has finished in the top 10 in each of the past seven years.

Who did Schembechler figure might be No. 1 in this week's poll? "Probably Ohio State," he said.

The Buckeyes trounced Michigan State 49-21.

Pittsburgh, which crushed Notre Dame 31-10, was third in the poll with nine first-place votes and 892 points. Oklahoma got four firsts and 865 points for fourth, while UCLA got the other two first-place votes and wound up fifth with 731 points. Rounding out the Top Ten are Missouri — unranked in the preseason before clubbing Southern California 46-25, Penn State, Nebraska, Georgia and Maryland.

In the second 10 are Texas A&M, Arkansas, Kansas, Alabama, Boston College, Louisiana State, North Carolina, Arizona State, Texas and Mississippi.

The Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college football poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1. Michigan (28) 1-0-0	1,077

Voight, Conrad Get ACC Honors

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Mike Voight, North Carolina's hard-running hero in two major upsets, and Maryland tackle Dave Conrad won ACC offensive back and lineman of the week for sterling performances during ACC victories last weekend.

Voight, who was player of the year in the conference in 1975 but never captured a weekly citation, ran for 142 yards in 35 carries as the Tar Heels upset No. 18 Florida 24-21 Saturday.

The Chesapeake, Va. senior spearheaded a decisive 75-yard drive in the final quarter and capped it with a seven-yard touchdown run, despite having received a hard crack to the ribs in the first half.

The victory earned the Tar Heels a No. 17 national ranking in the latest Associated Press college football poll. North Carolina defeated 20th-ranked Miami of Ohio 14-10 the previous week.

Maryland's Conrad played a key role as the defending ACC champion amassed 421 yards in total offense while defeating Richmond 31-7.

Terp coaches said the 6-foot-4, 249-pound senior was particularly effective in protecting quarterback Mark Mangas on pass plays. Mangas hit for 145 yards and two touchdowns.

Conrad matched his opening game effort of 1975, when he earned the ACC's weekly citation for an outstanding effort against Villanova.

Duke linebacker Jim Reilly and Wake Forest rover Mike LaVallee captured the ACC defensive player-of-the-week honors in earlier balloting by a panel of the ACC Sports Writers Association.

Reilly, starting his first game at middle linebacker, made 15 solo tackles and six assist as the Blue Devils held Tennessee's explosive offense to 285 yards in a 21-18 Duke victory.

LaVallee made several big defensive plays as Wake Forest upset North Carolina State 20-18. Twice in the second quarter he nailed Wolfpack runners behind the line of scrimmage as the Wolfpack operated inside the Deacon 10-yard line.

Citadel End Lost

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The Citadel has announced it will lose the services of senior split end Mike Riley, the Bulldog's top receiver in last Saturday's 10-7 opening loss to Clemson University, for the remainder of the 1976 football season, due to a knee injury.

Citadel head coach Bobby Ross said Monday that Riley injured his knee on the final play of the Clemson game. Riley was slated to undergo surgery Monday afternoon, but doctors delayed the operation until further tests are completed.

Riley's leg will be placed in a cast and it is expected he will be granted an NCAA hardship ruling and return to play in 1977.

Against Clemson, Riley caught six passes for 66 yards and returned five punts for 51 yards.

Ross said freshmen players Tom Baurfield and Mel Pinckney will work at split end this week in practice and one will replace Riley in the lineup for Saturday night's game with Delaware.

Riley was a three-year starter for the Bulldogs.

Clarence Campbell, 72, recently was re-elected president of the National Hockey League for his 31st year.

Fred Werber stole seven bases for Augusta, Ga., in a 1977 South Atlantic League game.

Contest Winners

Dennee Mozingo of 700 Cotanche St., Apt. 5, is the winner of the first Daily Reflector Football Contest for 1976.

She correctly picked the winners in 25 of the 32 games listed last week, and took the honors by being closest to the point total with a guess of 56.

The actual point total was 60, scored in Georgia's 36-24 win over California.

Second place went to Bill Saunders of 1713 Morningside Place, who also had 25 right. He was further off the point total with a guess of 67.

The tie game between LSU and Nebraska was counted wrong on all ballots since it is possible to pick a tie.

The second of the 10 weekly contests appears on the following pages.

Typical Day For Promotion

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The sweat poured off Ken Norton, but nobody seemed to notice. Not even the man who stared at him from the steps of City Hall — Muhammad Ali.

Norton and Ali came down out of the Catskills Monday, where they are building themselves up for their heavyweight title fight, to build up ticket sales for that Sept. 28 matchup at Yankee Stadium.

It was an Ali kind of day. He preened and shouted and goaded.

"I'll destroy Norton," shouted Ali from the steps while awaiting Norton to finish his sparring. "Norton must fall."

"Thump, thump," — Norton pounded on and pushed with a sparring partner before a crowd of about 4,000 persons.

"Fifteen ... ten, nine ..." publicist John Condon announced as the final round wound down.

Then it was over and Norton left to polite applause, climbed the steps, with Ali shaking his fist at him, paused briefly beside the champion — and was gone.

"What did you say to him," Norton was asked later about his obvious exchange with Ali.

"Nothing," said Norton to the few people in the room. Ali was on stage outside.

Norton, who has realized the attention that goes with good looks and a couple of motion picture roles, which he has had, has fought Ali twice — winning and losing split 12-round decisions. And being a bit player to the champion outside the ring doesn't openly bother him.

"I'd rather be in the hills," Norton said of his bit to sell the fight for which he is guaranteed $1 million, $5 million less than Ali. "It doesn't bother me. It's necessary."

"He's gonna have to fight — all this talkin' he's doin'." I know I got him worried — all the talk," Norton said, paying no attention to the lack of attention, although it seemed to irritate trainer Bill Slayton.

Ahoskie Tops Rose
AHOSKIE — Ahoskie High School gained a 20-35 victory over the Rose High School cross-country team yesterday.

The meet was the first for the Rampanis this season. Mike Rogers of Ahoskie took first place honors in the meet, finishing the course in 17:06. Second place went to his teammate, John Ruffin, who was timed in 17:19.

Jesse Baker of Rose finished third with a time of 18:01, followed by Ahoskie's Ed Sessoms, 18:21 and Robert Johnson, 18:32.

In second five were Thil Jolley, 18:44, and Mike Norfleet, 18:51, both of Rose; Wilburn Parker of Ahoskie, 18:53; and Mickey Finn, 19:01, and Steve Blackwell, 19:21, both of Rose.

Other Rose finishers were: John Evans, 11th in 19:44; Walter Kortschale, 12th in 19:53; David Daniels, 14th; John Lawler, 15th; Robert Vick, 17th; and Tom Hunt, 18th.

Rose is slated to return to action on Thursday, hosting South Lenoir.

Bailey Is Net Champ

Jim Bailey, the number one seed, captured first place in the Greenville Men's Tennis Club singles championship Sunday.

Bailey took a 6-1, 6-1, victory over second seeded Gil Hensgen in the finals of the tournament.

Bailey downed Matt Matthews, 7-6, 6-2, in the semifinals, while Hensgen downed Christian Slater, 6-2, 6-3.

Flight A went to Michael Grady, who downed Butch Ricks, 6-1, 6-0. Grady downed Gray Dempsey, 6-2, 6-3, in the semifinals, while Ricks was beating Jim Joyce, 7-5, 7-5.

The men's doubles championships begins on Thursday, Sept. 23, with an entry deadline of 7 p.m. on Thursday of this week. Entry forms are available from Wes Hankins, tournament director, and Becky McDonald, club president. Any member of the Greenville Tennis Club is eligible to participate in the tournament schedule.

Jaworski, Harris To Watch Haden

By DAN BERGER
AP Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The quarterback battle that sizzled in the Los Angeles Rams' training camp of the Los Angeles Rams between James Harris and Ron Jaworski has disintegrated and a Rhodes scholar must now pull the Rams out of an injury mess.

Jaworski, who challenged Harris for the No. 1 job this summer, suffered a fractured shoulder Sunday. With Harris out while a broken thumb heals, Pat Haden has been thrust into the role as the starter for Sunday's game against the Vikings.

Haden, who played for the Southern California Sun of the World Football League last year, is a 5-foot-11 perfectionist who is perfect as a passer in the National Football League.

Haden, a University of Southern California grad, threw his only NFL pass Sunday in a 30-14 victory over the Atlanta Falcons. It was a 47-yard touchdown bomb to Ron Jessie that went 50 yards in the air.

Dr. Robert Kerlan had X rays taken of Jaworski's shoulder and said Monday the injury was "a fracture under the surface of the acromion process at the acromio-clavicular joint, which is undisplaced," forcing Jaworski out for at least six weeks.

Haden played part of the WFL season last year before moving to England. There he completed one year of studies at Oxford. He has one more to go, but can choose when he attends school and won't have to leave at mid-year. Before leaving last year, Haden was the WFL's leading passer.

"I want to be the starting quarterback, but I don't want to start because Ron Jaworski is injured," said Haden. "The thought of facing guys like Carl Eller and Alan Page boggles my mind, but I think I could do the job."

Ram Coach Chuck Knox, who used Harris most of last year, handed the starting job in Sunday's opener to Jaworski when Harris broke his right thumb in a preseason game against Buffalo.

Jaworski broke his shoulder in a quarterback sneak touchdown dive.

Harris may play if Knox feels the thumb is okay, but the odds-on choice must be a healthy Haden.

"The thumb is still tender," said Harris. "But it's getting better each day. I'm going to see if I can start throwing hard this week and I think I can be ready for Minnesota."

Knox said it was "a real tough blow to our team and to Ron personally. He worked real hard this summer."

Jaworski said, "I've waited four years to become a starter. I cried when I had to come out. It just killed me. How could I hurt myself on a quarterback sneak?"

If Haden is injured, defensive back Steve Preece, who quarterbacked at Oregon State, and Rob Scribner, who was ascending-string signal caller at UCLA, are candidates for the quarterback post.

LEADING RUSHER — Norm Bulaich (31) of the Miami Dolphins makes an 18-yard run in the fourth quarter of Monday night's game in Buffalo against the Bills. Leaping for the stop is Buffalo's Dan Jilek. Bulaich led the rushing with 107 yards in 19 carries. Miami won the game, 30-21. (AP Wirephoto)

Royals Lose Twice; A's Are Rained Out

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

With a good series against the Minnesota Twins behind him, Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog thought he had the American League West title all wrapped up.

But things suddenly took a turn for the worse Monday night when the Royals dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the Chicago White Sox, 4-3 and 5-4.

The two losses cut Kansas City's lead to four games over the Oakland A's, whose game against Minnesota Monday night was rained out.

"It looks like it's going to boil down to the six games we have left with Oakland," Herzog said. "We have to beat them. That's all there is to it."

Chicago won both contests in the eighth inning and got complete games from starters Chris Knapp, 3-1, and Ken Brett, 10-9, who had to face brother George, Kansas City's third baseman, for the first time ever during the regular season.

Kevin Bell's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning won the opener, and Jim Spencer smashed a three-run homer in the eighth for the nightcap victory.

"Those guys (the White Sox) played like world champions," Herzog said. "We've got to come up with a big win, something to give us a spark. We didn't play poorly tonight. They just came up with the big hits." In other AL games, Detroit defeated the New York Yankees 3-1, Baltimore nipped Milwaukee 5-3 in 10 innings, Cleveland downed Boston 8-3 and California thumped Texas 6-2 in 14 innings.

George Brett, hitting .338 and battling teammate Tal McRae (.340) all season for the AL batting title, faced his brother five times in the second game, got two singles and scored a run.

But he said there was no special emphasis placed on their first meeting. "The games meant so much tonight that the other things really didn't matter," George said.

Tigers 3, Yanks 1
Rusty Staub and Willie Horton hit successive sixth-inning homers and Detroit starter Jim Crawford picked up his first victory in seven decisions with the help of reliever John Hiller. It was Hiller's 13th save.

The loss, coupled with Baltimore's triumph, cut New York's lead in the American League East to 9½ games.

Orioles 5, Brewers 3
Tony Muser, inserted as a defensive replacement in the ninth inning, smacked a two-run homer in the 10th that boosted the Orioles past Milwaukee. Reggie Jackson had doubled in front of Muser, who hadn't homered since the 1974 season.

Fred Holsworth got his fourth victory without a loss, while Brewer reliever Bill Castro, 4-5, took the loss.

Indians 8, Red Sox 3
Rico Carty, Cleveland's 36-year-old designated hitter, led a 13-hit Cleveland attack with two doubles, two singles and an RBI as the Indians battered the Red Sox.

Dennis Eckersley, 11-12, was the winner with relief help from Dave LaRoche.

Angels 6, Rangers 2
Joe Hoerner walked home Andy Etchebarren in the 14th inning for the go-ahead run, and the Angels exploded four runs to down the Rangers.

Bulaich, Griese Lead Miami Past Bills, 30-21

By MARVIN R. PIKE
AP Sports Writer

BUFFALO (AP) — The night belonged to Miami's Norm Bulaich and Bob Griese. Part of it belonged to Buffalo's O.J. Simpson.

It was Bulaich and Griese and the rest of the Miami gang who carried the Dolphins to a 30-21 victory over the Buffalo Bills Monday night in a National Football League season-opening game.

And it was Simpson, their great running back, playing only a bit more than 24 hours after rejoining the Bills, who electrified the crowd of 77,683 with his twisting and speed after catching a fourth-quarter pass for a 43-yard gain.

The game was costly for Buffalo. Fullback Jim Braxton, whose blocks helped Simpson gain much of his yardage the last five seasons, is finished for the year.

Braxton was cut down on the second play of the game — one nullified by a Miami offside — and suffered torn ligaments in his right knee. He was scheduled for surgery today.

Miami Coach Don Shula, who said Sunday that he felt Simpson would return to Buffalo, described Simpson's brief appearance thus:

"What a hell of a job he did for just suiting up yesterday. Saban waited all the way until the second play to send him in."

Buffalo Coach Lou Saban sent Simpson in as Braxton left the field.

Simpson's first carry was wiped out by a penalty. He carried on the next play and went for seven yards.

In all, Simpson toted the ball five times for 28 yards.

Bulaich, meanwhile, ripped apart the Buffalo defense with 107 yards on 19 carries.

"It was just great blocking by our offensive line," he explained. "It was just reading them and keying off their blocks that worked."

Griese completed 13 of 21 passes for 199 yards and one touchdown.

Simpson, who asked three months ago to be traded to a West Coast team for family and business reasons, said that with Braxton gone "I'll just have to get ready quicker."

Miami scored first with Benny Malone going over from the five in the first period. Buffalo deadlocked the game early in the second period as Joe Ferguson found John Holland with a 53-yard pass. Later in the game, the pair teamed for a 58-yard touchdown.

In between the Holland touchdowns, Don Nottingham tallied from one yard out. Then, Garo Yepremian booted the first of three field goals from the 25. The others came from 25 and 30 yards.

Nat Moore took a 30-yard scoring pass from Griese, and Buffalo closed out the scoring with Ferguson's 12-yard pass to Bob Chandler. Buffalo's John Leyppoldt had one field goal attempt blocked and two efforts went wide.

That upset Saban no end. "Merv Krakau broke down on the first one and there was nothing wrong with the other two kicks, except for the man who kicked them," he said.

Then, talking about Braxton's injury, Saban said; "It's funny. We spent the whole nine weeks getting Braxton ready to be the big man in our offense and he lasts two plays."

Mann Captures Youth Tourney

Jack Mann of Greenville Golf and Country Club recently took first place in the Happy Valley Junior Invitational Golf Tournament in Wilson, in the 10-12 year old bracket.

Mann had rounds of 36 and 40 for the two day, 18-hole tournament.

In a Ladies Day event at Greenville, Jane Joyner and Joan Warren tied for low net.

Graham Jefferson recently had his best nine, a 39. Larry Land had his best 18 with a 79, while Jane Joyner recorded a 90.

A Men's and Women's Captain's Choice Tournament will be held at the club on September 19 with a 2 p.m. shotgun start.

The Beginning Ladies championship will begin on September 27. The tournament will cover 18 holes, with nine played each day. The first round is to be played on September 27-30, with the second starting Oct. 1.

The Advanced Ladies championship will be a 36-hole event, with the first round Oct. 4-7, and the final round on Oct. 8.

The M. B. Massey Jr., Memorial Fall Junior Match Play Tournament starts on Oct. 1. Those 8-11 will play nine hole matches, and those 12-15 will play 18 holes. One match will be played each week. A $4 entry fee will be charged.

A number of clinics will be held during this month.

On Friday, a Beginners Ladies Clinic will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. with a $2 fee charged. An advanced ladies clinic will be held from 2 to 3 p.m. with a $1 fee.

On Saturday, a clinic for boys and girls beginners (10 to 15 years old) will be held from 9 to 10 a.m. with a $1 fee. From 1 to 2 p.m., a clinic will be held for 6-9 year olds, and from 4 to 5 p.m., for 3-5 year olds.

A Men's Clinic will be held on September 24 from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. A beginning ladies clinic will be held the same day from 1 to 2 p.m.

A beginning men's clinic will be held on September 25, from 9 to 10 a.m., and a clinic for working ladies will be held that day from 5 to 6 p.m.

A Men's and women's rules clinic will be held on September 29 from 6 to 7 p.m., while a boys and girls clinic on rules will be held Sept. 30, from 5 to 6 p.m. The latter is for youths 8 to 15 years old.

OVIEDO, Spain (AP) — Portugal led the standings of the 22nd World Roller Hockey Championships today after beating Australia 12-0 in the third round Monday. In other games Monday, France defeated Japan and Italy played a scoreless tie with West Germany.

Portugal had 7 points followed by Spain with 6 and Brazil, Italy and West Germany with 4 each.

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — David Curtis and Bob Danforth of Marblehead, Mass., have clinched the Etchells 22 world sailing championship by winning the sixth and final race of the series on Rhode Island Sound.

Curtis and Danforth, co-owner of their boat Big Red, had taken turns sailing it in the series. It was Curtis' turn Monday and he dominated the race from start to finish, winning by two minutes over Tom Crotty of Freeport, Maine.

The final standings showed Curtis and Danforth with the low score of 10 points. Randy Bartholomew of Port Washington, N.Y., last year's champion, finished second with 32.7 points.

Bruce Ritchie, the Australian champion, was third with 37.4 points.

Thirty-two boats started the series at the Ida Lewis Yacht Club last Thursday, but only eight remained for the final race.

SEATTLE (AP) — Forward Mike Green, a first-round draft choice of the Seattle SuperSonics in 1973 who played the past three seasons in the American Basketball Association, has agreed to a series of one-year contracts with the Sonics.

Bill Russell, coach and general manager of the National Basketball Association team, announced the signing of the 6-foot-10 Green on Monday. Terms were not announced.

Green originally was drafted by Seattle out of Louisiana Tech in 1973, but instead signed with the ABA's Denver Nuggets, where he played for two seasons.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina Coach Bill Dooley says he's happy that his Tar Heels are ranked No. 17 nationally but he notes that the season is young and a lot of big games are to come.

"It's certainly nice to be ranked, but ranking doesn't mean much until later in the year," he said, adding, "This is the first time we've been ranked since our 1972 team when we went 11-1."

North Carolina opened its season with a come-from-behind dumping of 20th-ranked Miami of Ohio 14-10. Last Saturday, the Tar Heels kept it up by surprising the 17th-ranked Florida Gators, 24-21.

"I think we're certainly off to a good start, but we've got nine tough games ahead of us," Dooley said.

Saturday the Tar Heels will play host to Northwestern, beaten 31-19 last week by Purdue.

Thurman Munson of the New York Yankees is being highly regarded as the American League's 1976 most valuable player.

DETROIT (AP) — Outfielder Ron LeFlore, injured in the second game of the Detroit Tigers' doubleheader at New York Sunday, will remain in a cast for six weeks following surgery Monday for the repair of a ruptured tendon in his right knee, his doctor said.

Dr. Henry Sprague of Henry Ford Hospital called the operation "very satisfactory." He said LeFlore would be ready to work out well before the Tigers open spring training late next winter.

LeFlore, 28, has been with the Tigers since 1974. He played on the All-Star game in July and was hitting .316 going into Sunday's game. He had stolen 58 bases.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association announced Monday they had signed guard Freemond Blade. Blade, a native of Akron, Ohio, attended Anderson (Ind.) College for two years, and spent the last two years at Eastern Montana College. He was drafted by the 76ers in the fourth round this year.

The 6-foot-2 Blade averaged 20 points his senior year at Eastern Montana.

MARTIN CALLED BEST NEW YORK (AP) — Even though Lou Piniella fails to play regularly with the New York Yankees, the 32-year-old Tampa, Fla., outfielder calls Yankee manager Billy Martin "the best manager in baseball."

"I've been watching Martin manage since he began in 1968 with Denver when I played with Portland in the Pacific Coast League. Then when I was with Kansas City, Bill managed Minnesota, Detroit and Texas and always got the most out of his players."

See the Tar Heels battle one of the most explosive offensive teams in the famed Big Ten Conference. The Wildcats have the Big Ten's second leading passer, Randy Dean; the league's leading receiver, Scott Yalvington; and the school's all time leading rusher, Greg Boykin, who had 1,105 yards a year ago. Dramatic Actor Freddie Prinze

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Freddie Prinze. Oh, yeah, the kid in "Chico and the Man," the guy who makes with the jokes on "Tonight." Funny cat. Bet you didn't know he started as a dramatic actor. At age 15. But that's what he says. And the 22-year-old son of New York, who initially gained fame as a standup comic at the improvisation, a Fun City bistro, is back in dramatic acting in a TV movie being aired Sept. 22. The opus, on NBC, is "The Million Dollar Rip-Off." Prinze plays a gent name of Muff Kovac, an electronic genius and ex-jailbird who plots to relieve the Chicago transit system of many, many dollars. It may be his first dramatic role since entering TV, but Prinze says it also marks a return to his start in drama seven years ago, when he was a student at New York's High School of Performing Arts. While he never got his diploma from that August institution, he says he did put in one memorable year acting in 16 plays, of which only two were comedies — "Barefoot in the Park" and "Plaza Suite." Afterward, he adds, he continued acting in off-Broadway plays, "and when I say off-Broadway, I mean like out-of-the-country Broadway. "I did mostly dramatic plays like "The Education of Pavlo Hummel," "Camino Real," "Death of a Salesman." After work, me and the other actors would go by the improvisation to relax.

"I saw what some of the guys there were doing and I thought, 'These guys aren't funny.' So I went up on stage and mostly did inside jokes for my friends. It became fun for me, a relief after the plays." In 1973, he said, Jack Paar, planning a comeback on a late-hour ABC talk show, caught his relief work at the club. "He told me to really sharpen up and by the fall they'd put me on the show," Prinze laughed. The sharpening was done and Paar kept his word. A tape of the guest shot then was sent to the "Tonight" show. With the help of fellow comedian David Brenner, a friend, the tape led to the first "Tonight" appearance. In due course, Prinze said, "that led to 'Chico and the Man' and dramatics, I think, got set aside for a while." The NBC handout describes the Sept. 22 movie in which Prinze makes his dramatic debut on TV as "light-hearted" in nature. The star light-heartedly says this is balderdash. "It's a love story and I think the heist (of transit system funds) almost incidental," he said, explaining that his character is in love with a lady who is unaware of the impending heist. Does his entry into TV drama signal an exit from his hit series soon? "No," said Prinze, who recently signed an NBC deal for more movies and some specials. "I'll go only after they cancel us, when the series runs its course."

Local Singers Perform At Convention

ST. LOUIS — Twelve North Carolina 4-H youths were featured entertainers at the 61st annual meeting of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents recently held in Richmond, Va. The Greenville youths, known as the Pitt County Bicentennial Group, were among nine acts which participated in the convention's 4-H Talent Revue sponsored for the past 16 years by Monsanto Agricultural Products Company.

Dressed in colonial period costumes, the three men and nine women sang popular patriotic selections as a salute to the Bicentennial Year. Their choreographed tunes included "I Am Thankful to be an American," "American Trilogy," "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and "This is My Country." Members of the Pitt County Bicentennial Group included: Pam Bailey, Beverly Bell, Kris Bell, Melanie Bell, Libby Braxton, Deborah Lambeth, Tim Minch, Elizabeth Smith, Gardner White, Karen Williams, Marianne Williams and Bet Yancey. The nine act program featured a total of 65 4-H young men and women representing six states who were selected from dozens of acts nominated earlier in the year by extension agents from 11 Southern states. The talented 4-H youths, ranging in age from 7 to 18, presented a two-hour performance in the Richmond Shrine Mosque before a capacity audience of over 3,000 extension agents from across the nation.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1976

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An unusually good day to express ideas you wish others to know. Short trips are favored if they pertain to business or settling a difference of opinion.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Good day to check statements, written material for accuracy. Shop early and handle correspondence. Keep a sharp eye on your assets.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan time for some new monetary plans so that you can add to present abundance. Monetary experts will give you advice you need now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are charming and dynamic now and can put through some plan that can bring you much happiness in the future. See friends.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you go quietly after an objective you have in mind, you can easily attain it. Do not arouse others or you meet with opposition.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can make big headway now via social circles, so dress well and be outgoing. Make a plan that will gain you what is rightfully yours.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Have a well thought-out plan when you approach a bigwig for support. Show that you are an A-1 citizen. You improve career considerably.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Expanding in business and personal life is possible now. Make new contacts who can be of help to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study your obligations well and handle them in a more modern way. A loved one is in an amiable mood and there can be more happiness for you. Avoid one who can cause trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Come to a better understanding with your associates by exchanging views intelligently. Try to improve your position in private life. Evening is ideal for family affairs.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan work more efficiently and you save time for more enjoyable activities. Let co-workers in on your plans and gain their cooperation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan time for recreation that will relieve tensions. Put that valuable plan that you have been working on in operation.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Put across those fundamental ideas at home and get good results of a constructive nature. Extend invitations to persons you want to impress.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will become most successful provided you channel talents along practical and constructive lines. There is a fine ability at self-expression and a good education should help to make the finest use of this quality.

Annual Cherry Hospital Symposium On Sept. 23

GOLDSBORO — The third annual Cherry Hospital Symposium will be held from Thursday, Sept. 23 at 9 a.m. to Friday, Sept. 24, at 12:30 p.m. Special speakers include Dr. Claudewell Thomas, chairman of the Department of Psychiatry and Mental Health Sciences at the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, and Bones McKinney, former Wake Forest University basketball coach. Topics to be presented include: "the role of religion in mental illness; psychotherapy and social work; the effect of licensure on patient care, nutrition and psychiatric symptomatology, psychiatric nursing—fact or fantasy; psychotropic drugs—the magic wand of medicine or a Shaman's delight?"; and legal rights of the mentally ill. This symposium is approved for credit for those attending by the American Academy of Family Physicians, CERP and CEAP for nurses, dieticians, and the AMA CME. It's limited to 500 participants. Registration is $10 for Cherry Hospital employees and persons registered as full-time students in post-secondary education program. Student registration fee is $5. The banquet cost is $8 per person. Advance registration should be mailed to Director of Staff Development, Cherry Hospital, Caller Box 8000, Goldsboro, N.C. 27530. Anyone interested in mental health is invited to attend.

Lawmen Still Studying Alleged Kennedy Threat

By MARTIN J. WATERS
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Two men who met at a Salvation Army dormitory have been examined by a psychiatrist to see if they are mentally competent to stand trial on charges of plotting to kill Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. Meanwhile, authorities say they still have not determined whether the alleged plot was anything more than a hoax. The men pleaded innocent to the charges at their arraignment Monday in Springfield District Court, as did Sandra R. Rondeau, 37, of Westfield, Mass. The three were assigned lawyers, and the case was continued until Sept. 20. David J. King, 31, and Robert E. White, 42, both of Springfield, were examined by a court-appointed psychiatrist after the hearing. He was to report his findings to the court today. If tried and convicted, each defendant could get as much as 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Mrs. Rondeau and King were released on personal recognizance, but White, who authorities say masterminded the alleged scheme, was held on bail of $25,000, reduced from $50,000. White's lawyer, George A. Sheehy, said he would request further bail reduction. Police and FBI agents were trying to determine whether the trio actually intended to carry out the alleged assassination plot and to find out more about White, an apparent drifter who had lived at the Salvation Army Rehabilitation Center here for about two months. Kennedy, who faces primary opposition to his re-election bid today, spent Monday campaigning. The Massachusetts Democrat had no comment, but a spokesman said of the alleged plot, "It didn't seem like any big thing." King told reporters Sunday he had been offered $30,000 to help kill Kennedy when the senator appeared Saturday at a fund-raising breakfast at a Springfield hotel. King went to police with his story after he said White failed to keep a planned rendezvous. "We believe they believed it," said Det. Lt. Walter Rooke, adding that police had no evidence or witnesses to support King's story. One police official, who asked not to be named, said the incident might be "idle, drunken talk." A U.S. Secret Service agent in Boston said White was questioned last year in Milwaukee for making "drunk, incoherent and rambling" derogatory comments about political candidates. King told reporters he met White while both were staying at the rehabilitation center. He said White told him he had been offered money by sources in New York to kill Kennedy, and asked him to join the plot.

Leaf Quality Is Improved

An increase in the quality of offerings on the Greenville Tobacco Market on Monday was reflected in improved prices, it was reported by J. N. Bryan, sales supervisor of the local Tobacco Board of Trade. Bryan said that offerings yesterday consisted of leaf, smoking leaf and cutters, with the volume of lugs, primings and non descript tobacco continuing to decrease. Stabilization receipts dipped to only .56 per cent of total sales. Top practical price paid Monday was $1.27 with prices ranging from $1.28 to $1.30. The market sold $944,688 pounds for $1,170,983 in averaging $123.95 per hundred pounds. For the season, 26,499,067 pounds have sold for $29,306,220, an average so far of $110.55.

Seize Trio For Armed Robbery

Three men were arrested early this morning on armed robbery charges after they allegedly held up two men with a knife and took $5 from one of them. Chief Glenn Cannon said Mike Woodley and Robert Hamilton reported that they had been stopped by three men at 517 Cotanche St. about 1:45 a.m. and that a knife was pulled and $5 taken from Woodley. The three assailants then allegedly fled South on Cotanche Street on foot. According to Cannon, Hubert Arthur, 25, of 1205 Clark St., Edward Earl Forbes, 19, of 1305 Broad St. and Rufus Lee Stancel, 27, of 1007 West Third St. were taken into custody about 2 a.m. near the intersection of Ninth and Cotanche Streets and charged with armed robbery. The three were placed in Pitt County Jail under $500 bond each.

Ex-Footballer A Carter Aide

RALEIGH (AP) — John Baker, a former professional football star, has been named deputy campaign director for the Jimmy Carter effort in North Carolina, campaign officials announced Monday. Baker, 40, has been on the staff of U.S. Sen. Robert Morgan, D-N.C., and is a former member of the state Board of Pardons. While a defensive end for the Pittsburgh Steelers, Baker was named to the National League All Star Team. He also played for Los Angeles and Detroit. In 1972 he was elected to the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame. The statement regarding Wilkins said he and the board agreed that "effective immediately" his headquarters operation chores would be taken over by Gloucester B. Current, former director of NAACP branches. Current, who was named administrator, will be replaced by William H. Penn Sr., assistant director.

Wilkins Drops Routine Work

NEW YORK (AP) — NAACP executive director Roy Wilkins, under pressure by some members to resign, has been relieved of "day-to-day" administrative chores at his own request but will remain in his post through next July. In a statement after its regular meeting here Monday, the NAACP board said the 75-year-old veteran civil rights crusader will now be free "to devote his entire attention to events such as the Mississippi boycott emergency." A spokesman said the group must raise $1.6 million by Sept. 28 in order to post bond for appealing damages awarded as a result of a successful 1966 boycott of white merchants in Port Gibson, Miss. The Mississippi legislature recently passed a law outlawing boycotts of the type waged by the NAACP. The merchants sued and won even though the boycott occurred before the law was passed. The statement regarding Wilkins said he and the board agreed that "effective immediately" his headquarters operation chores would be taken over by Gloucester B. Current, former director of NAACP branches. Current, who was named administrator, will be replaced by William H. Penn Sr., assistant director.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠.

The play to the first trick is often the most crucial of the hand. It is a sound policy to consider the whole hand before you call for the first card from dummy. North-South reached an excellent four spade contract after South elected to open his minor and bid his major twice. North's rebid of one no trump was somewhat of an understatement, but he had no convenient bid available. He felt that unless his partner could bid again, there was little chance that a game would be lost. When South jumped rebid his spades, North had an easy raise to game. West led the jack of diamonds, and when dummy came down, declarer noted that he was in a happy spot. However, he was a pessimist by nature, and before playing to the first trick he took time out to consider the possibilities. He realized that the only possible danger would come from a 5-0 trump break, in which case he would lose two trump tricks if he was forced to ruff in his hand. He developed a plan to cater to this possibility. Since the opening lead made it unlikely that West held the king of diamonds, declarer made a key play when he called for a low diamond from dummy at trick one and won with his ace. Next, he tested trumps by leading with his ace. When West discarded a diamond on this trick, declarer continued with a trump to the queen and East's king. Back came the expected heart return. Since declarer could not afford to ruff, he made his second fine play—he discarded a diamond on this trick. There was still one more hurdle. West won the ace of hearts and reverted to the ten of diamonds. This time declarer covered with dummy's queen. This represented a double chance. It would succeed if West were leading away from the king; and if East held the king, the only hope was that it was now bare. East won the king, but declarer was in control. Whatever East returned, declarer would win, draw trumps and run the clubs, thus making his contract. (Tired of waiting for the interminable rubber to end so that you can cut in? Devising A 'Space Workhorse'

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Now that men have landed on the moon and a spacecraft has landed on Mars, the nation's space agency is about to christen the first of the planes that will carry colonists into space.

The Saturn, the Atlas and the Titan rockets that sent American astronauts into orbit and to the moon are being retired as too inefficient and too expensive for the job of placing permanent space stations in orbit. A new workhorse, the space shuttle, a cross between a rocket and an airplane, is being built.

The first is to roll out of the Rockwell International plant at Palmdale, Calif., on Friday (Sept. 17). The delta-winged craft, about the size of a DC-9 jet, is to be test flown late next year. But the first flights into orbit won't take place until 1980.

NASA's focus for the rest of this century will be on near space, that area within a few hundred miles of earth's atmosphere.

"Our manned and unmanned orbital flights and moon walks during the last 18 years have just as surely led us to the beginning of a space shuttle transportation system that promises unlimited opportunities not only for space exploration but space exploitation in the decades ahead," NASA Administrator, James C. Fletcher, told the National Space Club earlier this year.

"Following the development of a successful space shuttle system should come the construction in space of a permanent space station," he added.

"We can then become operative in a number of ways: the assembly of other space stations for biological and medical research, manufacturing operations, bases for deeper space operations, radio and optical astronomy, and solar power to be beamed to earth by laser."

Fletcher said, "The concept of the space colony is anything but the flights of fancy that you find in science fiction. Barring some unforeseen calamity on earth, we will have habitations in space surely in the next century, possibly in the last decade of this one."

NASA hasn't decided what sort of permanent space stations will be put into orbit once the space shuttle is operating regularly, although scientists say the first probably will be a modular station, costing about $2 billion, with room for four to six people. These would be used to maintain satellites to build large structures in space, such as solar energy power stations.

The shuttle will take off like a rocket and land like an airplane. Solid propellant rockets will drop off after boosting the craft to a height of 27 nautical miles and a speed of more than 3,200 miles per hour. The shuttle's three engines then will take over, using fuel from an external tank to push the craft to 17,600 miles per hour and into an orbit about 115 nautical miles above the earth. The external tank will be jettisoned just before orbit is reached. The shuttle orbiter will draw on internal fuel tanks for the rest of its journey.

The craft is designed to carry as many as seven persons. Its missions will last from seven to 30 days. The minimum time between missions is expected to be two weeks.

The space shuttle will open space to reasonably healthy scientists and technicians. No longer will the passengers have to be highly trained astronauts with extensive flight time and in perfect physical condition.

Lift-off pressures on the passengers will be only three times gravity instead of the nine times gravity load of previous manned flights. Re-entry pressures will be about 1.5 times gravity.

The cost of developing the shuttle is high - $6.664 billion, including testing, and $6.9 billion if inflation continues at its present rate for the coming years. By comparison, the two current unmanned Viking missions to Mars are costing about $1 billion.

NASA plans a total of five space shuttles.

So far Congress has appropriated $3.177 billion for the first two shuttles. The fiscal year 1977 budget, which starts on Oct. 1, proposes an additional $1.288 billion out of a total space budget of $3.3 billion.

Operational costs are smaller. NASA estimates that it will cost less than $20 million to fly one mission with the shuttle. That's a fraction of the cost of using a Saturn 5 rocket to launch a satellite into a low earth orbit similar to the orbits the shuttles will use.

While the shuttle is developed, NASA will continue with other programs. Besides the explorations of other planets, research satellites will be launched to study sun spots, map the earth's magnetic field and its weather patterns, and assist in finding resources on the earth's surface.

The shuttle will allow man to establish permanent stations in space - and that will open up a new way of doing things.

For example, current space probes like the Viking Mars missions consist mostly of fuel tanks and engines because they must build up enough speed to break away from earth's gravity. This limits the size of the experimental apparatus which can be carried.

But if a mission to a planet is launched from an orbiting space station instead of from earth, it already has most of the speed needed to break away from the gravitational pull. The payload can be increased.

On a more down-to-earth front, permanent space stations can make it easier to forecast the weather, manage food and forestry resources, increase our knowledge of chemistry, and even open up new manufacturing opportunities.

No estimate has been made for building space colonies - a project well in the future - but NASA chief Fletcher told a House subcommittee this year that such a colony probably would be comparable in expense to the Apollo moon program.

"There is nothing at all that is technically unfeasible about this program," Fletcher said. "It is a question of dollars, and right now it doesn't seem like the time to start spending the dollars."

"The problem is the initial investment. The figures are always a little questionable but according to the calculations, it would eventually give a good return on the investment."

Feel Tremor In Virginia

ELKIN, N.C. (AP) - A minor earthquake centered in Virginia about 10 miles from the North Carolina line was reported felt by persons throughout the mountains of the two states Monday.

There were no reports of injuries or damage. The quake was measured at 3.0 on the Richter scale on a seismograph at Virginia Tech at Blacksburg, Va.

Broadcast stations at Elkin, Sparta and North Wilkesboro received reports that the tremor was felt throughout Surry, Wilkes, Yadkin and Alleghany counties.

A spokesman for the Wilkes County sheriff's office said a rumbling sound accompanying the tremor led some to believe at first that a jet airplane had crashed. Spokesmen said the tremor lasted about 10 seconds.

Virginia Tech geologist G.A. Bollinger said the tremor had its epicenter at Galax, Va., and struck at 2:54 p.m. He said the earthquake was small and of the type experienced every two or three years in the mountain area.

Bollinger said tremors of that size do not usually cause damage. He said data collected at the Virginia Tech center indicated "this is not a foreshock and there's no need to expect another, larger event to follow."

Bollinger asked that persons experiencing the quake write him at Virginia Tech to describe their observations.

PUBLIC NOTICES

NOTICE OF GENERAL ELECTION FOR VARIOUS NATIONAL, STATE AND COUNTY OFFICES TO BE HELD IN NORTH CAROLINA ON NOVEMBER 2, 1976
Pursuant to G.S. 163-33(8) notice is hereby given that there will be:
I. A General Election conducted within the County of PITT, North Carolina for the purpose of election of (a) various National Officials; (b) various State Officials; (c) two (2) members of the State Senate, Sixth District; two (2) members of the State House of Representatives, Eighth District; (d) United States Congress Representative, First District;
(e) two (2) Judges of the District Court, Third Judicial District;
(f) County Officials as follows: Register of Deeds; one (1) County Commissioner, First District; one (1) County Commissioner, Second District; one (1) County Commissioner, Third District, voted upon at large;
II. A non-partisan election of one (1) member of the Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors, District 5 (Farmville) voted upon at large;
Said election will be conducted on November 2, 1976 and the voting places will be open between the hours of 6:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The last day for new registration of those not now registered under Pitt County's permanent registration system is Monday, October 4, 1976 at 5:00 p.m. Qualified voters who are not certain whether they are registered should contact the Pitt County Board of Elections, 201 E. Latter-Day Alchemists Build E. German Athletes

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

EAST BERLIN (AP) — Back behind the floodlit fence in her Communist fatherland, super mermaid Kornelia Ender is a star without a billboard or even a fan club.

Her value to the state, like her role in society, is not as a teenage heroine of the masses but as a factory-proven product of the socialist system designed almost exclusively for the export market.

The comrade in the street doesn't seem to care. He may know from the press and TV that his country won 40 gold, 25 silver and 25 bronze medals at the Montreal Olympics, second only to the Soviet Union in gold medals and six more than the United States. He may even know that Ender won four gold medals — two within less than a half-hour — and a silver. But he feels no personal identification with her or the other athletes. Nor does the state encourage any.

Kornelia Ender and her teammates live in another world, a world as walled off from the everyday masses as the glittering capitalist shops along the Kurfuerstendamm on the opposite side of Checkpoint Charlie.

It is a world of goals and graphs and special diets, of trainers with stopwatches and heavy "performance bibles," of white-coated doctors taking blood tests and injecting hormones, of training camps in the Bulgarian mountains and a computer in Leipzig and a committee of high commissars ruling the jock roost from a ministry in Berlin.

Occasionally prying western eyes are given a guarded glimpse of the East German sports scene: the sports university at Leipzig, some of the 691 gym centers or 890 track and field complexes, the new pool at Rostow or the sports club at Kark Marx Stadt, but always on a carefully guided tour that divulges no secrets of the latter-day alchemists transmuting raw muscle into Olympic gold.

But secrets will out. It is now known how East Germany, with a population of 17.5 million, managed to select 292 athletes for the trip to Montreal and have 159 of them return wearing medals.

The secret of the system is the system itself.

"It was clear in 1973 when I took blood samples from her ear lobes that Kornelia Ender could swim the 100-meter freestyle in 56 seconds flat," said Alois Marder, a sports doctor who was a key part of the system until he defected to the West two years ago.

For 10 years Marder was department chief of research into high-performance athletes at the Chemie Sports Club in Halle, where Fraulein Ender came to be trained as a world-class swimmer.

The Chemie Club is one of 18 sports clubs that serve as laboratories for the new breed of alchemists bubbling up Olympic gold for East Germany. Located in each of the 15 counties or sports districts, plus three run by the army, the clubs concentrate on high-performance athletes attending their specialized sports schools at both elementary and high school level.

Each club and school complex specializes in certain sports: rowing and weight lifting at one, skiing and figure skating at another, etc. Children are selected at age 9 or 10 on the basis of talent, size, and expected body growth, after they have been watched for two years at a local sports center or have distinguished themselves at "sportakiades," youth competitions held on a regional and national basis. Last year 3.5 million children took part in the East German sports program.

Except for those who live in the town, children board at the sports school. Sometimes in the case of a very talented prospect, the whole family is moved to an apartment near the club and the father is given a suitable and usually better job than the one he had.

Kornelia Ender was sent to the Chemie Club, which specializes in rowers, swimmers and middle-distance runners, at age 8, after she had been swimming in the Halle public pool for three years. When Dr. Marder was there, Chemie had a staff of 70, including 11 doctors, and, for its 150 swimmers, eight trainers. His medical speciality was researching the effects of hard training on bodily functions. The sports schools follow a normal curriculum but training takes precedence and dictates the daily schedule. Swimmers turn up at the pool at 8:30 each morning, train for 2½ hours, attend class for two hours, break for lunch, return to class for three hours then go back to the pool for another two-hour session.

The training programs are not devised by the individual coaches who may know their swimmers best, but by the "scientific center for swim" at Leipzig University's Research Center for Physical Culture in Sport. Experiences of the various trainers with high-performance athletes and data from blood samples taken by the club doctors are collected, studied and fed into the computer at Leipzig on a weekly and monthly basis.

"Each child is given a minimum and maximum goal," Dr. Marder explained. "If at the end of the year, he or she is not inside the figures, the option is given of staying on for another year or going home. A swimmer who grows too fast or gets too heavy may be switched to another sport, like rowing.

When a child has reached full growth and still does not meet performance levels, the decision is automatic: there is no purpose in continuing."

Charlotte OKs Massage Code

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The Charlotte City Council adopted an ordinance Monday regulating massage parlors in the city and prohibiting persons from giving massages to those of the opposite sex.

The ordinance, passed unanimously by the council, also prohibits massaging the genitals of any person for a fee and, requires massage businesses and massagers to buy a city privilege license.

The ordinance gives existing massage parlors and massagers 30 days to comply. Violation of the ordinance is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than $50 and imprisonment of no longer than 30 days or both.

A provision of the ordinance prohibits massages from being performed off the premises of massage businesses, such as are performed by local "out-call massage services." Such businesses take telephone appointments and go to the customer's home or motel room to administer the massage.

The ordinance exempts hospitals, nursing homes, sanitariums and other establishments and professions clearly associated with the practice of medicine.

One local massage business operator said he intended to challenge in the courts the por-

The computer has decreed that at age 14 to 15 single-scul rowers must be at least 1.85 meters (six feet) tall, weigh 77 kilos (170 pounds), have at least three full years of growth ahead of them, and have no spine or back defects. Lesser physical specimens need not apply.

The Leipzig center devises menus and diets for the centralized club kitchens to cook for the different sports disciplines. Weight lifters and rowers chomp into 5,000 calories a day. Gymnasts, figure skaters and other weight-watchers have their calories counted for them by the computer.

At the Chemie Sports Club the future medalists often dine on steaks, oranges, eggs and other items not always seen in the markets of Halle.

The entire system of turning out world-class athletes is administered from Berlin by the High Performance Sports Commission. The ministry's chief commissar is Manfred Ewald, who also serves as chairman of East Germany's Olympic Committee. Berlin monitors the Leipzig center and its computer and calls the tune on matters of procedure and protocol.

Athletes below the age of 16 are forbidden to smoke. After that, it is merely frowned upon. Until 1972, the sexes were rigidly separated at the training camps and schools. Now boys and girls train together.

Sex relations used to be strictly forbidden for athletes under 19, but now "partner relations" are allowed and sometimes even "steered" by the commissars.

Kornelia Ender, at 17, is engaged to 25-year-old Roland Matthes, a world-class swimmer who didn't fare too well against the Americans this time.

At age 14 — never earlier, but more often at 15 — the athlete destined for gold first encounters the most controversial part of the system. Where needed, according to Marder, the men in the white coats begin administering steroids, sex hormones, daily over a period of four to five weeks to build up the arm and back muscles.

First used in America, steroids have been in common use for several years among a number of Olympic teams. "East and West are pretty well balanced on manipulating their athletes with steroids," says Dr. Adolf Metzner, a West German sports doctor who specializes in the problems and detection of doped athletes.

Metzner has no doubt that male hormones helped the East German girls win gold medals in 11 of 13 swimming events and nine of 14 track and field events at Montreal. "Anyone who watched on TV was shocked by the sight of those enormous muscle-bound women with huge shoulders and arms that a furniture mover would be proud of. Weight lifting alone would never account for such massive back development."

East German officials at Montreal angrily and adamantly denied that biochemistry had a hand in the medal sweep. A Canadian broadcaster who asked a trainer about the deep voices emanating from some of the strapping water sprites was huffily told: "They have come here to swim, not to sing, why do you concern yourself with their voices?"

Many devotees of the Olympic code look upon the advent of steroids, stabilizers and other medical aids as the most devious development in the alchemist's art.

Willi Daume, head of the West German Olympic Committee, says, "Doctors no longer believe that the health of athletes is their highest objective but rather the manipulation of athletes."

In Dr. Marder's time at the sports club in Halle, steroids were given to both boys and girls to help them "reach high performance levels."

Side effects among girls — a subject many doctors think requires much further study — include basic body changes such as deepening of the voice, a broad back and wide shoulders, flattening of the chest, skin changes, and sometimes among non-caucasian women hair growths on the chest. The masculinizing process may also result in such delayed psychological effects as pronounced lesbian tendencies.

"Long-range effects are to be expected when the side-effects are disregarded," said Dr. Marder, "but generally within two years after the steroid injections have ceased the muscles diminish and the body returns to more feminine proportions." Many women athletes in the West refuse male hormone injections from team doctors because of the danger of their bodies becoming too masculine. "They don't want to look like tanks in their tank suits," quipped one of the U.S. trainers.

Dr. Marder is convinced that the West has greatly exaggerated and misread the part played by steroids and drugs in the East German success story at Montreal. "That was only a small part of the picture. It was the system itself that triumphed. In East Germany sports are a matter of foreign policy. They are aimed at polishing the image of the social system abroad, not providing heroes for the masses."

Whatever the troubles at home, East Germany's athletic alchemists have been given the job of turning out Olympic gold as proof to the world and especially the West that the socialist system works.

"In 1973," says Dr. Marder, who was there then, "the East Germans decided as matter of national policy to clobber the American women athletes at Montreal and all the training sights were set on that goal. In 1980 in Moscow they want to demolish the American team completely, both men and women, in all sports. Except maybe basketball."

The New Chess Game: A Foursome Can Play

By GERALD KOPPLIN
MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — It's called Shamaat. It's pronounced shah-maht. It's chess with a difference. A foursome can play.

Rink Lucero, 31, of Atlanta, invented it. He says it will revolutionize the centuries old game.

Shamaat is played on a regular chess board with the same chessmen — no more.

"With two people on each side, it is faster, a little more exciting and you can be a little more aggressive," Lucero says.

There is another difference. Although the same number of chessmen are used, they get two additional colors. But Lucero plans to make sure anyone can play it with a regular set.

At $1 each, he plans to market a packet of blue, yellow, red and green adhesive stickers for the chessmen along with a Shamaat instruction booklet.

The name Shamaat is taken from a Persian-Arabic term, "the king is dead." Actually, Lucero said, it is an anglicized version of the original name of chess.

Shamaat was introduced at a trade show earlier this year. Lucero has demonstrated it at the University of Minnesota and the Minnesota State Fair. Now he plans to exhibit the game in Boston and New York via city-wide tournaments.

For generations, attempts have been made to create a new chess. Lucero said the previous attempts have failed for one reason. They made the game too complicated.

But Lucero maintains Shamaat is different. He says the novice can play as well as the serious player. He calls it a family game, a game for couples.

"Women love to play Shamaat. They can play it with a frivolous interest or with a great depth of interest."

Lucero describes it as "second generation chess." He spent seven years perfecting it. Now he has a U.S. patent on it and several national and international patents pending. He thinks it will become the next big game fad. In fact, he flatly predicts it will outsell the current "in" game — Mastermind.

Each player has eight men which have the same moves as in chess. Each side plays two men at a time. But the players may not consult their partners. "Two excellent players working as a team can be beaten by two average players who understand each other's move," Lucero said.

"I know. It's happened to me. A friend of mine and I were beaten by his wife and my wife."

Prexy Named By Carriers

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — O. Roy Harrell of Charlotte had been elected president of the North Carolina Motor Carriers Association, succeeding E. Steve Schlosser of Greensboro.

Harrell, executive vice president of Johnson Motor Lines, was elected during the association's 47th annual meeting.

Other officers elected include M.L. Byrd, president of Byrd Motor Lines of Lexington, first vice president; Carl E. Annas, transportation vice president of Burlington Industries, Burlington, second vice president; and J.T. Outlaw of Raleigh, executive vice president and treasurer.

On Monday, the state association was presented its 16th consecutive award for its superior safety awareness program. The award was presented by the American Trucking Association.

Companies winning safety awards from the state organization were:

—Akers Motor Lines of Charlotte which earned the top award for having the best safety record overall.

—Overnite Transportation Co. which won the long haul safety award.

—Glosson Motor Lines of Lexington was the local shipping safety award.

The cost of living and your electric bill.

Since 1940, the cost of living has increased a whopping 284%. Everything — food, gas, rent, clothes — has gone up in price. And electricity has been no exception.

But a close look at the unit price of electricity shows it has actually increased very little over the years. Today, the average residential cost per kilowatt-hour is 3.88 cents — only 5% more than 1940.

Why then are electric bills higher than they were in 1940?

Consumption and fuel costs soar.

The biggest single factor is the tremendous amounts of electricity we consume today compared to a generation ago. The average Vepco family is using about 9 times as much electricity as it was 35 years ago. A typical Virginia family today consumes about 750 kilowatt-hours of electricity per month. Their August bill would be about $31.18.

When you consider the many uses of electricity — lights, TV, radio, washer, toaster, and so on — all for about a dollar a day, that's a bargain hard to beat.

The second major reason for rising electric bills has been inflation, especially the higher cost of fuel used to generate electricity. The days of cheap energy disappeared with the oil embargo in 1973. Over half of the increase in the price of your electricity since 1970 is due to the increase in fuel costs.

Energy is our livelihood.

America must have dependable, economical energy in order to grow and to extend its high standard of living to all our citizens.

To provide this energy, Vepco supports a strong national policy of energy independence, built on environmentally sound use of domestic fuel resources and wise use of electricity we generate.

Nuclear power provides low cost energy for Vepco's customers. By mid 1978, nuclear power stations will produce half of Vepco's energy, making use of the most economical fuel source presently available. Coal is being used wherever it is more economical than oil. And plans for pumped storage hydroelectric generation also are being developed.

Combined with strong conservation efforts on the part of individual citizens and industry, these steps can help insure adequate, economical energy supplies for future generations.

Vepco

America is a powerful idea. Let's keep it that way.
