SHANTYTOWN ERASED BY HURRICANE—This area of Shantytown outside of LaPaz, Mexico, is a wasteland after Hurricane Liza passed through, killing hundreds in LaPaz and vicinity. An estimated 300 died in shacks, cardboard and plywood homes on this ordinarily dry river bottom after the hurricane caused a dam to break. The storm swept across Mexico's lower California peninsula early Friday. (AP Wirephoto)

Carter, Ford To West Coast

By The Associated Press

President Ford and his Democratic opponent, Jimmy Carter, arrive in San Francisco tonight to make final preparations for their debate on foreign policy on Wednesday.

Carter, vowing to be more aggressive than he was when the two men confronted each other over domestic issues 11 days ago, said he intends to charge that American foreign policy lacks morality and that Ford has abandoned its conduct to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Ford met with Kissinger Sunday to discuss such subjects as detente with the Soviets, the Mideast and Kissinger's recent mission to further negotiations to establish black rule in southern Africa.

The President is also faced with a decision over whether to fire Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz for making a racial slur that was reported over the weekend. Butz has thus far refused to submit his resignation, while demands for his ouster mounted among Democrats and Republicans.

Jody Powell, Carter's press secretary, said the issue had begun to reflect on the President's leadership because Powell said Ford intended to decide the matter based not on what "would be right but on what the polls show and on what political reaction is."

The White House denied that Ford was waiting to gauge public opinion before he made up his mind on Butz. The President has reprimanded the secretary for the remark, and Butz has apologized.

Butz was named Friday as the anonymous cabinet member quoted in a magazine article who referred to blacks as "coloreds" and made a vulgar remark about their supposed sexual, dress and bathroom preferences.

As the second of three presidential debate approaches — there will also be a debate between the vice presidential candidates — various polls showed a tightening race.

A New York Times-CBS poll showed Carter ahead in states with 294 electoral votes, 24 more than needed to win. But it said his support was slipping in important states. A Gallup poll said Carter's lead had dwindled from 18 points this summer to eight now, 50 to 42 with 8 per cent undecided. A Newhouse News Service survey said key states that had been in Carter's column were now undecided. And Time magazine reported a dead heat, 43 per cent apiece, in a sampling of 1,300 voters.

Ford said in a Newsweek interview that the decline in Carter's fortunes could be due to "a mistake syndrome." He said that "some people have more accidents than others. Some people make more mistakes than others."

The Wednesday debate will be held at the Palace of Fine Arts, a 61-year-old San Francisco landmark with only 576 seats that have good views of the stage. A panel of newsmen and newsmen — not the same ones who participated in the first debate — will do the questioning.

Eugene J. McCarthy, running as an independent candidate, is asking to be included in the debate. The former Minnesota senator, awaiting a ruling on his request from the Federal Communications Commission, said Sunday the nation's economic problems could be helped by putting more people to work through a 5-6 per cent cut in the amount of work time for those who have jobs.

Former Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, presidential candidate of the American Independent party, proposed a law to require that whenever a new federal job was added another would have to be eliminated to balance costs.

In preparation for the debate, Carter met Sunday at his home in Plains, Ga., with former Defense Secretary James Schlesinger, who was fired by Ford last year. Schlesinger was a critic of detente with Russia and had urged more defense preparedness.

In another political development, the citizens lobby group, Common Cause, accused the American Medical Association of exceeding the $5,000 limit on contributions to individual candidates. Common Cause, in a complaint filed with the Federal Election Commission, said the AMA was able to overspend by giving candidates contributions from both state and national affiliates.

Last week, Common Cause issued a report that said the AMA and its affiliates have contributed $964,000 to candidates for national office, exceeding all other special interest groups.

Recreation Plea Heard By Pitt Bd.

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners this morning heard a request from a group of senior citizens, asking that consideration be given by the board to, in some way, provide recreational opportunities for county residents.

Mrs. Sara Ashton of Greenville, speaking for the Elm Street Senior Citizens Club, said the City of Greenville Recreation Department sponsored program is now charging $25 per person for out-of-city participants in the club. This, she indicated, follows a policy which began a month ago of charging $25 per single or $50 per family for county residents participating in city recreation department programs.

Mrs. Ashton — supported by two dozen members of the club — told commissioners that for senior citizens who live on limited incomes, the $25 fee creates a real hardship. She noted that of the 140 persons who are members of the Elm Street club, 28 are out-of-city residents.

Mrs. Ashton also pointed out that many other programs sponsored by the city recreation department have a very high percentage of county residents participating.

Of the 100 counties in the state, "45 have recreation departments or contribute to city recreation departments," she said. "I'm asking why Pitt County can't do that?"

"Please consider putting something in the budget so these people can still participate in the recreation program," Mrs. Ashton asked.

Although no action was taken this morning, a committee from the Board of Commissioners was named to meet with officials of the various municipalities in the county having recreation programs in an effort to determine if any program could be worked out that would allow county-resident participation in municipal programs.

Ralph Hall, construction manager for the new hospital project told commissioners today that work on the acute hospital and rehabilitation center should be completed about mid-November or the first of December.

However, additions to the building required by the use of the facility by the East Carolina University School of Medicine will delay the opening of the new building until about the first of April 1977.

Hall noted that the first phase of the medical school additions is from 75 to 90 percent complete, but said the delay in opening the new medical facility is being caused by a project for which bids were let a month ago. That involves expansion of such areas as the emergency room, surgery, x-ray department, outpatient surgery, and dining area.

Commissioners this morning also named Lawrence Davenport, a member of the Pitt County Planning Board as the county's representative on the Mid-East Regional Planning Board.

By Referendum?

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate David Flaherty has called for an amendment to the state constitution that would allow the people to enact laws through referendum.

In remarks prepared for a Charlotte news conference, Flaherty said he believes proposed legislation should be placed on the ballot if at least 10 per cent of the registered voters sign a petition backing it.

"I believe it is time for the people to be given the opportunity to talk back to the politicians. And I think that the initiative is the way to do it," he said.

FUNDS COLLECTION

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — About $5,100 was collected Sunday by the Charlotte-Mecklenburg NAACP for an appeal bond in a Mississippi court case. The organization must post a $1.56 million bond to appeal a ruling that merchants were entitled to damages as a result of a boycott against them.

Sabotaged

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP) — Sabotage rendered some 60 pieces of heavy equipment inoperable over the weekend at the North Carolina state docks, scene of a four-day labor dispute last week.

"This of course puts a severe cramp on us," said Ports Authority spokesman Gene Merritt. "We've called in the State Bureau of Investigation to investigate."

"We don't know who did it, and we don't want to guess who did it," Merritt said today.

Merritt said state employes discovered Sunday that the doors to a huge garage where heavy moving equipment is stored were open. In most instances, keys had been broken off in the ignitions of the machinery.

"We've got 20 of the 60 back into operation this morning," Merritt said.

He said a detailed cost estimate of the damage and lost work time was not available, but added, "I would say in the thousands of dollars."

Nineteen workers who were fired last week in an overtime dispute and 55 others who walked off their job in protest returned to work Saturday in response to a temporary order issued by U.S. District Court Judge John Larkin of Trenton.

Agenda Set For Pitt School Bd.

The Pitt County Board of Education will discuss a recommendation for a combined Ayden-Grifton Middle School, the construction of fieldhouses at each high school and the addition of classrooms at two schools at its meeting Tuesday at 2 p.m.

The board will consider a letter from the Ayden-Grifton Advisory Council that requests that a combined middle school for Ayden and Grifton be built near the Ayden-Grifton High School.

Members of the Winterville Advisory Council will discuss the need for additional classroom space at W. H. Robinson and A. G. Cox with the board.

Associate Supt. Tom Craft will present the following for the board's consideration:

—Preliminary work by high school principals and coaches regarding the need for fieldhouses at each high school.

—An announcement regarding Open House and dedication of the Farmville Middle School.

—A request for a covered walk at A. G. Cox School.

—Information about activity bus insurance coverage.

—A construction report on Wellcome Middle School.

In the other business the board will receive a financial report, grant maternity leaves, make appointments to advisory councils and consider dispersment of an $18,000 grant.

Assassinated By Machinegun

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (AP) — Unidentified gunmen firing a machinegun from a speeding car shot and killed a member of King Juan Carlos' advisory council today in downtown San Sebastian, police reported.

The king was in Madrid.

Juan Maria de Araluce y Villar, president of the provincial government of Guipuzcoa, was killed almost instantly and several others were wounded, police said.

Area C-of-C Plans Elect Bd. Officers

President Don Collier of the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce announced today that a nominating committee for the Chamber has been appointed for the purpose of nominating five new directors of the Chamber who will be elected to serve a three year term beginning January 1, 1977.

The Nominating Committee consists of the following Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce members: Mrs. Jeannette Cox, Chairman, Clifton Taff, J. C. Whitehurst, Billy Laughinghouse and C. B. Tugwell.

The Committee will meet in the Conference Room of the Chamber of Commerce at 4 p.m. Tuesday. Any member of the Chamber may attend the Committee meeting and offer suggestions for the Nominating Committee to consider.

The 1977 Board of Directors will consist of 22 directors—15 elected directors, three directors who will be appointed at large and four ex-officio members. The five directors elected this year for a three year term will rotate off the Board December 31, 1979.

Medics Move In On Liza's Heels

By VINCENTE MORALES
Associated Press Writer

LA PAZ, Mexico (AP) — Luis Izguerra Leon, who brought his family to this Baja California city two years ago to start a new life, had just seen his wife and four children buried in a common grave along with hundreds of other victims of Hurricane Liza.

But he spurned a government offer to provide medical care for his only surviving child, 4-year-old Blanca Estela.

"She's getting medicine," he said Sunday. "In the morning I'll carry her to a doctor. I don't know what she has, but I believe it is the same illness I have: grief and loneliness."

Medics began a massive inoculation campaign against tetanus and typhoid Sunday as swarms of flies gathered over La Paz, where rescue workers were still digging bodies out of the mud.

Much of the city was flooded when an earthen dam burst as Liza swept in from the Pacific late last week, with heavy rain and winds up to 135 miles an hour.

Mexican President Luis Echeverria told reporters Sunday that 435 bodies of hurricane victims had been recovered in Baja California state. However, hundreds of other persons were listed as missing. Other officials had reported more than 600 bodies found, and government sources said unofficially that the toll could reach 1,000.

Izguerra and his daughter were among 15,000 hurricane survivors left homeless in Baja California, the peninsula that stretches about 700 miles south from California.

Top-ranking Mexican officials met in La Paz on Sunday to oversee relief measures and start planning reconstruction of the storm-devastated area. The government said it was rushing in 100,000 meals and 40,000 temporary shelters by boat and plane.

The United States provided food and construction materials, flown in Saturday night aboard an Air Force C130 Hercules cargo plane.

In La Paz, electricity was restored Sunday only to hospitals, government offices and gasoline stations. Food was rationed at hotels and restaurants. Supplies of drinking water were sent in by truck but appeared to be running short.

Some survivors said they had received only one ration of water and food in the first 72 hours after the hurricane struck.

Izguerra spoke with reporters after finding his daughter alive at La Paz's agricultural institute, where the 4-year-old had been taken along with other children swept away from their homes and parents by the hurricane-caused flooding.

CENTRAL EASY TO RECALL NUMBER NEEDED?

The Greenville Rescue Squad is sometimes required to travel long distances in Pitt County to answer calls which are much closer to the headquarters of other squads. Is this a problem of poor communication or a lack of understanding on the part of the public of which squad to call? A central dispatch system is being used by the county fire departments and it seems to be working well. Perhaps a similar single number—preferably an easy to remember one—would be beneficial. A. F.

Pitt County Fire Marshal Bobby Joyner said the county is definitely thinking in the same direction that you are. Equipment is already here to go over to such a central dispatch system, he said. The Sheriff Department could have four pagers in each county rescue unit.

Asked about an easy-to-remember number, he said that the present fire reporting number—752-5136—would probably begin to be used for all emergency reporting—fire, rescue, and law enforcement. The trend nationwide, he said, is to go to a 911 number, but the phone company tells him it would cost them too much to make the change now.

The change to the central dispatching system, if it is accepted by all the local rescue units, probably will be put into effect next summer, he said, when new budgets are adopted and when the 1977 telephone directories are coming out.

GAZEBO—An East Carolina University student pauses to look as Bill Dill, an ECU graduate from New Bern, clambers atop the gazebo he has designed and built in a special beauty spot on campus. The structure, gift of the Class of '74, will be finished as soon as Dill adds a few more shingles and last minute touches. (ECU News Bureau Photo by Marianne Baines.)

New Gazebo Gift Of '74 Grads

By MARIANNE K. BAINES
ECU News Bureau

A gazebo, a romantic relic of bygone years, is nearing completion in the center of a shaded, flower-bordered beauty spot on East Carolina University's busy, bustling campus.

It is a gift of not-so-old grads, the class of 1974, but the idea and location is such that it is sure to evoke warm and sentimental remembrances from those who strolled the pathways to class or held hands with sweethearts beneath the trees in the days of old ECTC.

A lovely little lake used to shimmer in the moonlight on the site behind old Memorial Gym, just off Tenth Street. The lake was filled in several years ago and the site is now flanked by the Biology arboretum on a little hill above, by a complex of science buildings and a three-story annex to Rawl Building.

Beyond old Memorial Gym on Tenth are Brewster Building, largest and busiest classroom building on campus, and the widely-known and much-used A.J. Fletcher Music Center, home of the ECU School of Music and its many activities. Thus many hundreds of ECU's nearly 12,000 students pass the gazebo site each day.

The site is in a bowl or glade, surrounded by trees, grass and masses of azaleas. The gazebo itself was designed and built by Bill Dill of Greenville, a recent ECU graduate in industrial technology, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dill (1509 McArthur Ave.) New Bern.

He began the project in July at the request of Jim Westmoreland, president of the class of '74. The cost of approximately $1,700 for materials was borne by class of '74 contributions and the Student Government Assn.

Nearly completed, the gazebo is about 15 feet high with a shingled roof slanting to each of its six nine-foot long open sides. With its coat of white paint, dark grey flooring and board benches, Dill figures it will be attractive as well as useful as a place for small gatherings, for relaxing, studying, reading, listening to music and enjoying the flowers and birds. Its benches will seat about 30 people.

"It's been a challenge," says Dill. "But an interesting one, and I've been looking forward to getting it finished."

At the outset there were a few complications. The first day lumber and materials were delivered, they disappeared. It took two days to discover that a passing professor suspected the stuff had been stolen and called the campus police who came and carted it off to storage.

"That's all over now," Dill says. "Everybody knows what it is and say they're looking forward to next Spring."

Gazebos, by the way, were quite popular in parks and public places back in the 1890s, many decades ago, and when grandma was a girl.

Traffic Saw Nine Killed

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents took nine lives in North Carolina during the weekend, pushing the 1976 toll to 1,083 deaths, according to the Highway Patrol. In the comparable period last year, 1,115 persons were killed.

Harris Lee Ferguson, 22, of Savannah, Ga., was killed early Sunday when he was struck by a car on N. C. 58 near Nashville, the patrol said.

Another Sunday victim, Michael Curtis Heffner, 21, of Rt. 8, Shelby, was killed when the car in which he was riding wrecked on a rural road in Rutherford County.

A head-on collision in Yadkin County claimed two lives Saturday night. Killed in the accident on U. S. 421 near Yadkinville were Danny Ray Strickland, 28, of Kernersville, and Ellen Amanda Rumley, 21, of Winston-Salem.

A collision on N. C. 903 in Le-noir County killed Robert Harold McCoy, 45, of Rt. 1, Lagrange, and Willie Kirkman, 70, of Rt. 2, Lagrange.

Elizabeth Ladevaia, 65, of Weehawken, N. J., was killed when the car in which she was riding ran off I-95 six miles north of Fayetteville and overturned, the patrol said.

William James Ducland, 25, a Ft. Bragg soldier, was killed when his car wrecked in Fayetteville, and Eddie Davis, 60, of Sanford, was killed in a collision on a rural road near Sanford.

Details 'Vital'

To Entertainers

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A man who plays surrogate "mom" to music stars says a $70,000 box office gross could be lost for want of chunky peanut butter.

According to City Auditorium Manager Charlie Mancuso, elaborate contract riders detailing certain requirements are signed before scheduled concerts. He said that John Denver, for example, needs a rug and comfy chair to get into a mellow mood. Other requirements include peanut butter for the rock group Aerosmith, lime Gatorade for Peter Frampton, and three dozen long-stemmed carnations for the Doobie Brothers.

Performers legally can refuse to perform if contract details are omitted. Mancuso defends the contract riders as necessary "to counteract the traveling and the imbalance of food and drink on the road."

Or, as the Doobie Brothers' contract states, "the better the meal, the better the morale."

Legend Of Red-Haired Nevada Giants Probed

By BRENDAN RILEY
Associated Press Writer

LOVELOCK, Nev. (AP) — Times are tough for the legendary red-haired cannibal giants whose alleged existence here centuries ago has been debated for nearly 100 years.

Scientists have said there's no proof the "giants" first described in old Indian tales were cannibals. Chemical staining by earth after burial was advanced as a likely reason why mummified remains have red hair instead of black like most Indians in the area.

Now a new study under way at the University of Nevada indicates the "giants" were about six feet tall, and not up to 10 feet tall as had been claimed.

What's left is evidence of a tribe separate from principal tribes whose Paiute descendants live here — perhaps a wandering, more aggressive but outnumbered band finally hunted down and killed or chased off.

Anthropologists say the story, while somewhat tamer, is still fascinating. But they concede the old myth has more appeal and, no matter what they say, will probably persist.

Don Tuohy, curator of anthropology at Nevada State Museum, says he's confident the "giant" myth is about to be debunked. He asked for the latest study after a bundle of "giant" bones were found in a long-overlooked cabinet at the Nevada Historical Society building in Reno.

But Tuohy says the old tale will probably live on.

Dr. Sheilagh Brooks, chairwoman of the anthropology department at UN-Las Vegas, is now analyzing the bones which apparently came from the Lovelock Cave, a nearby treasure trove for scientists trying to reconstruct Nevada's early history.

Dr. Brooks says her initial investigation shows some of the bones were from cows, not giants. The human bones appear to be remains of Indians "maybe six feet tall — big, but not that big," she says.

The myth was written down in 1883 by Sarah Winnemucca Hopkins, daughter of a Paiute Indian chief. She told of a strange, red-haired tribe of cannibals her ancestors drove into a cave and suffocated by lighting a fire at its entrance.

She said the "people eaters" were so fierce they would leap into the air, snatch arrows whizzing over their heads, and shoot them back at the Paiute attackers.

John T. Reid, a Lovelock mining engineer, said Indians took him to the cave in 1886 and told him the same tale. But when he entered the cave he found nothing but tons of bat guano.

Reid was unsuccessful in getting an archeological dig started immediately. But miners realizing the value of guano as fertilizer started hauling it out in 1911. They promptly turned up bones, baskets, weapons, tools, duck decoys, various other artifacts and what they described as a 6-foot-6 red-haired mummy.

That spurred the first archeological dig in 1912. A second dig took place in 1924. Thousands of artifacts and about 60 average-height mummies were recovered. More studies followed, including radio-carbon dating which showed the cave was occupied from about 2,000 BC to about 900 AD.

Skyscrapers got their name because they looked tall enough to touch the sky.

Cannonization By Paul VI

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has canonized Sister Beatrice da Silva, founder of the Order of Franciscan Conceptionists. The Pope said in Sunday's ceremony that the 15th century saint is an example today to a world which has lost sight of some basic values.

The new saint of the Roman Catholic Church was born about 1425 in Morocco to Portuguese parents, but she did most of her work in Spain, where she died.

"We live in a permissive society," Pope Paul said, "The radical testimony of the saints is a shock to our lack of dedication and an invitation to forgotten values such as those of chastity and self-control."

The order founded by Beatrice da Silva has 3,000 members throughout the world, but no official delegation was sent to the ceremonies in keeping with the cloistered nature of the group.

Couple Exchanges Vows Sunday Miss Jeannie Hooks Weds On Saturday

Miss Shirley Ann Jones and Kenneth Lee Smith were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at Parker's Chapel Free Will Baptist Church. The Rev. Phillip Cooper performed the candle-light ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James William Jones of Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Lee Smith of Greenville.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Phillip Cooper, organist, and Mrs. Walter Taylor, who sang "The Wedding Song," "More" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The church altar was centered with a fifteen branch brass candelabra holding burning chase candles with a palm of emerald greenery attached. On either side was a nine branch tree candelabra holding an arrangement of gladioli, chrysanthemums, carnations and pom poms in autumn shades. Palms of emerald greenery were used throughout the scene. A three branch candelabra was used by the couple for the candle ceremony. They knelt on a brass profile prie-dieu for the benediction.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length gown of white sata peau designed with a high neckline encircled in floral Venise lace and edged in raschel lace. The empire bodice was styled with an overlay of French Nettingham lace beaded with pearls. Similar lace fell over the shoulders of the full bishop sleeves. The cuffs were trimmed in the floral Venise lace and edged in a ruffle of raschel lace. The full gathered skirt was styled with raschel lace at the hemline which extended around the attached chapel train. Her headpiece was a mantilla edged in raschel lace with a similar shoulder trimmed blusher attached to a bandeau of ruffled raschel lace.

She carried a nosegay of orange roses, buttercrotch pom poms and tangerine carnations with matching ribbons.

Mrs. Gary McGowan of Washington, sister of the bride, was the honor attendant. She wore a formal length sheath style gown in blushing pink polyester topped by a strawberry chiffon bolero jacket with angel sleeves. She wore a wide brim picture hat and carried two long-stemmed azalea pink carnations with matching azalea pink and pale pink streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Nicky Mills of Chocowinity, Carol Meeks of Williamston and Sullen Meeks of Robersonville, all cousins of the bride, Elizabeth Smith of Greenville, sister of the bridegroom, Vickie Saulter of Greenville and Becky Ellington. They wore gowns identical to the honor attendant's.

The father of the bridegroom served as best man. Ushers were Danny Smith, brother of the bridegroom, James William Jones Jr., brother of the bride, Stuart Meeks, cousin of the bride, Gene Vencent, Bobby Kittrell of Greenville, and Gary McGowan, of Washington, brother-in-law of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a formal length gown of blue polyester with a sleeveless lace jacket. The mother of the bridegroom selected a formal length gown of pink polyester with a sleeveless jacket.

Sharon Aldridge of Greenville presided at the register.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the parents of the bridegroom at the First Pentecostal Holiness Church fellowship hall Saturday. Serving were Miss Rose Mary Rouse, Mrs. Felix Rouse, Mrs. Russell Johnston, Mrs. C. B. Rogerson, Mrs. Seth Jones and Mrs. Harold Mills.

An after-rehearsal party was given Saturday night at the Parker's Chapel Church fellowship hall. Punch was poured by Mrs. C. B. Rogerson and cake was served by Mrs. Joe James. Mrs. Earl Knox, Mrs. Clayton Wynn and Mrs. Russell Adams assisted in serving.

Mrs. Margaret Landen of Greenville directed the wedding. The bride, a graduate of Rose High School and Pitt Technical Institute, is employed by Pitt Memorial Hospital. The bridegroom graduated from Rose High School and is employed by Union Carbide.

After a wedding trip to the mountains, the couple will reside in Greenville.

NEW BERN — The Colony Baptist Church here was the scene of the Saturday afternoon wedding ceremony of Jeannie Kim Hooks and Donald Dean Kokes Jr.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James T. Hartley at two o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Dock Hooks of New Bern. She was given in marriage by her parents and was dressed in a Victorian gown of white silk organza and imported lace re-embroidered with seed pearls and crystals. The skirt extended into a chapel length train.

Her veil of imported silk illusion fell from a crown of lace petals, pearls and crystals. She carried a colonial bouquet of white orchids and roses, baby's breath and streamers of white ribbon.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dean Kokes of Virginia Beach, Va.

The bride is a graduate of New Bern Senior High School and attended Craven Community College. The bridegroom is a graduate of New Bern Senior High School and is sales manager of Dembroke Insurance Co., Virginia Beach, Va., where the couple will reside.

Mrs. Ronald Hamilton, matron of honor, wore a floor length apricot gown and carried a colonial bouquet of talisman roses, daisies and baby's breath with white streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Michael Harris of Virginia Beach, Va., and Mrs. Michael Vicks of Chesapeake, Va., sisters of the bride, Mrs. Thomas Moore of Norfolk, Va., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Matt Foreman and Karl Hammaker, both of Norfolk, Va., and Ronald Hamilton. Ring bearers were Bobby and Kevin Kokes of Virginia Beach, Va., brothers of the bridegroom. Rodney Hooks, brother of the bride, lighted the candles.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of kelly green knit and a white orchid corsage. The mother of the bridegroom selected a floor length gown of beige organza and a white orchid.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the New Bern Golf and Country Club.

The U-shaped refreshment table was covered with a floor length white linen cloth and centered with a wedding cake flanked by three branch candelabra with talisman roses, daisies and baby's breath.

Assisting were Miss Rhonda Hooks of Greenville, who presided at the register, Mrs. Linwood Hooks, Mrs. James Mills and Mrs. Marvin Boyd. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Simpson greeted guests. Chuck Tyson and Jeannie Moore said good-byes.

For a wedding trip to Florida, the bride changed into a three-piece blue suit.

Fire-Fighting Tips Worth Repeating

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR READERS: Today begins Fire Prevention Week. I've had so much response to the column I published last year on the same occasion that I thought I'd reprint it.

In 1974 approximately 12,000 Americans perished in nearly three million fires. And in Canada, there were nearly 900 deaths caused by approximately 79,000 fires.

A large percentage of those who died were children, elderly persons and invalids who had been left alone "for just a few minutes."

The chief causes of fires, in order of the toll taken, were:

1. Smoking
2. Electrical wiring
3. Heating and cooking equipment
4. Children playing with matches
5. Open flames and sparks
6. Flammable liquids
7. Suspected arson
8. Chimneys and flues
9. Lightning
10. Spontaneous ignition.

The total loss due to fire in 1973 was an estimated $3,001,000,000 in the U.S.A. and $254 million in Canada.

Now for some tips that could save your life:

- Be sure your cigarette is out. Matches, too. And never leave matches and lighters within the reach of children.
- Don't run cords under rugs or over radiators where they may get damaged. And replace a cord if it is frayed.
- Never leave small children alone in the house. Not even for a few minutes.
- Have your wiring and electrical installations done by a professional.
- Store oily rags and paints in a cool place in tightly sealed metal containers.
- Never use flammable liquids for dry-cleaning indoors.
- Never smoke in bed.
- Have a fire drill in your home to be sure everyone knows what to do in case of fire.

Remember: Fire extinguishers put out 97 per cent of all fires on which they are sprayed, and most large fires start as small fires. So, invest in a compact, easy-to-use fire extinguisher and keep it handy in your kitchen, or be a sport and buy one for your cottage, car, boat and the back bedroom.

More recently, some excellent fire-detection systems have become available to homeowners. Ask your local fire marshal about them.

NOW, in case of fire:
If you suspect fire, feel the top of the door. If it's hot, don't open it. Escape through the window. But first alert the rest of the household.

If you can't open the window, break it with a chair. Cover the rough edges with a blanket, sit on the window ledge with one leg hanging outside and one inside, and wait for help.

The phone number of your fire department should be taped on every telephone. If it isn't, don't fumble around trying to find it. Get out and call from a neighbor's house.

If you live in an apartment building, use the stairway. Don't take a chance on the elevator. If it fails, you're trapped.

Once out, stay out. No treasure—not even the family pet—is worth risking a human life.

It took less than three minutes to read this column. Was it worth it? I hope so. God bless. Have a good day!

Legumes are a good source of protein; however, they are low in one of the essential amino acids — the chemical building blocks of protein. Cereals have this amino acid in abundance. Therefore you can combine a legume with a grain (for example, red beans and rice) and have protein with the amino acids needed for good health.

Miss Register Entertained

Miss Amie Register was honored on her 22nd birthday Sunday at a surprise party given by Miss Patricia Moore.

Approximately 25 guests attended from Kinston, Raleigh and New Bern.

Cocktails and hors d'oeuvres were served by Miss Moore. The menu consisted of spaghetti, salad, Italian bread and wine.

Gifts were presented to Miss Register by her friends.

For a fall dessert serve toasted walnuts with port — the ruby or tawny variety. But remember that port should be served at room temperature.

Pitt UF Goal Still Modest

Friday morning the Pitt County United Fund kicked off its campaign for this year. With W. E. Dansey as president and Don Parrott as campaign chairman the United Fund expects to reach a goal of $248,418.45 to meet its budget for 1977.

That is a relatively modest amount to support the work of participating agencies which in one way or another affect the lives of all of us.

Take a look at the agencies and the share they are budgeted to receive for the coming year:

Salvation Army $34,903; Pitt Mental Health, $15,086; Pitt Association for the Blind, $3,250; Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, $3,500; Pitt Girl Scouts, $14,700; Pitt Retarded Citizens, $7,258; Real Crisis Intervention, Inc., $8,000; Pitt Boy Scouts, $33,634; Pitt 4-H Council $2,390; Pitt Red Cross, $30,461; Boys Club of Pitt County, $30,000; N. C. Mental Health, $1,937; N. C. United Way (includes a variety of agencies), $2,365; Research Fund of N.

C. United, $1,413; Epilepsy Association of N.C., $715; United Health Services of N. C. $852; Florence Crittenton Services of N. C., $1,761; Children's Home Society of N. C. $4,103.

In addition the budget includes $19,370 to be distributed to the participating communities and $27,715 for administrative costs.

It should be clear to everyone that the agencies greatly benefit our county as a whole and many of them touch our personal lives.

The United Fund will work only if all of us participate by contributing to the drive. Each of us should resolve to make a contribution quickly so that the campaign can be concluded in a reasonable time.

In recent years Pitt County businesses and citizens have put the United Fund over the top. We think that will be true this year, also, and the job will be done in record time.

Enough Vaccine To Start The Program

After a series of problems and questions about whether the swine flu vaccine would be available in time, North Carolina has received 510,000 doses. That is about a fifth of the 2.7 million doses which is expected to be available to North Carolina. The vaccine is expected to reach county health departments by late Wednesday, although there isn't enough yet for mass inoculation programs.

The first shipment, though, is a start on a program to head off a possible major flu epidemic.

Frozen Out By Schools?

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Do some public schools freeze out parents and other community representatives who could be a big help toward the goal of teaching children to read?

Obviously many do. Enough so that when a roundtable discussion involving people broadly representative of North Carolinians generally was held, isolationism in the schools was singled out for attention.

Gathered at Quail Roost Conference Center for a two-day session on how to better use available community resources in teaching people to read, participants concluded that real answers to questions about reading success and failure are directly related as much to the entire school environment and attitudes as to quality and quantity of reading instruction.

Isolationism
"Therefore, participants directed their attention to what they felt to be the single most damaging attitude that presently exists within and about the public schools —

isolationism.

"For those who feel this contention is unsupported, participants cited the following as evidence:

"—The infrequent presence and involvement of parents and other members of the community in the schools;

"—The scarcity of effective communication (written, verbal, or otherwise) between the school and parents, and;

"—The absence, generally, of any comprehensive system within the school for referral of school-age children whose needs are not being met to appropriate agencies outside the school," a portion of the published report on that conference states.

Co-sponsored by the Learning Institute of North Carolina and Citizens United for the Improvement of Reading, the seminar involved people from the university and community college community, legislators, librarians, social workers, and state agency people involved in work with children.

Difference
Not all schools are guilty of slamming the door in the community's face. Many work hard to get parents and others busy in daily activity. Meanwhile, in the same community, another school may aggressively discourage any parental contact.

It largely depends upon the school administration; and from many sources it has become clear that the freeze-out is to some degree due to an effort by educators to surround themselves with a professional mystique — thus the recent growth of jargon — to defend themselves from "outsiders."

Participants at the Quail Roost conference were particularly critical of what they termed the practice of educators to grind out long lists of goals and objectives, most of them meaningless.

For example, the schools strive for "positive self concepts for every child" while leaving out the fact that the home environment is all important and "school-parent involvement programs are practically nonexistent.

Further, schools talk about giving every child a love and interest in reading, but "many students are still getting subtle but clear messages that books are drudgery and libraries are not to be used."

Seminar participants felt both parents and educators must change their attitudes, moving toward a feeling of shared responsibility. "People have so frequently looked to the public schools for all the answers that a number of professional educators have come to believe they do have all the answers," the report states.

Among recommendations listed were creation of a citizen-educator committee in the schools; use of media; parent workshops; use of volunteers; use of real-world experiences in off-campus trips; use of schools for recreation and community learning programs; and more public access to the decision-making process in school matters.

WHEN You Spend, Counts

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
When you spend can sometimes be as important as what you spend in determining income tax deductions.

It is none too soon to start thinking about next April's tax bill, deciding whether you want to spend now or delay purchases until 1977.

The idea is to use the deductible expenses where they will do the most good. If you lump medical expenditures, charitable contributions, etc. into one period or the other, you may be able to cut your taxes by having itemized deductions greater than the standard allowance.

(The standard deduction currently is 16 per cent of adjusted gross income — after business expenses, but before most other deductions — with a maximum of $2,400 for single persons and $2,800 for married couples.)

Now, figure out whether there will be any big difference between your income this year and next. Deductions generally increase in value with the size of income. If, for example, you are paying 10 per cent of your taxable income in taxes, you save $10 for every $100 in deductions; if you earn more and are in the 25 per cent bracket, you cut $25 off your tax bill for every $100 in deductions.

If you expect your income to drop — because of retirement, for example — it probably pays to spend now so you can have the deductions for a year when your earnings are high. If you expect your income to rise — a new job, a working spouse — you may want to save the deductions.

Even if your income will remain about the same, timing can save money. Here's an example from the tax experts at Citibank, the nation's second largest commercial bank:

Assume that for both 1976 and 1977 you expect to qualify for the maximum standard deduction of $2,800. Your itemized deductions will probably run no more than $2,700 for either year, so at first glance it would appear that you would be better off settling for the standard allowance and getting $5,600 in deductions for two years.

Suppose, however, you have $500 worth of deductible items for which the bills are due in January. By paying them in December, you bring your 1976 itemized total to $3,200. You have cut $500 off your 1977 total, but it doesn't matter. You can take the $2,800 standard allowance in April 1978 to get a two-year deduction of $6,000.

For someone in the 30 per cent bracket, the extra $400 in deductions means an extra $120 savings.

In order to take advantage of the timing plan, you have to know which items you can shift. It is hard for people whose money comes from wages to shift income; the year's last paycheck counts as 1976 income, even if you don't deposit it in the bank until January.

Deductions are easier to shift. You can pay medical bills early, for example. Suppose you have pledged $200 to a charity. You can make good on the pledge now instead of next year if you want to boost the 1976 deductions or vice versa. Sales taxes on major purchases add up. Do you want to buy a new car now — and get the sales tax deduction for 1976 — or in January when the deduction will go toward the 1977 tax bill.

Strength For Today

THE MEANING OF FAITH
What is Christian faith?

The New Testament maintains that it is a supernatural force. We sometimes think of faith as something which has its original in men's hearts. But it does not. Faith has its origin in God. It is a gift to us from a loving Father. Faith is the divine capacity which enables us to visualize the things we hope for and to give substance to them. It is a means by which finite man lays hold on the infinite power of God.

Faith, we are told, is the victory which will overcome the world. Because we have had a great increase in material welfare in the western world since the Industrial Revolution, many people have come to believe that we can live without faith. These people often believe that science holds ultimate answers.

But we are coming to see that is not the case. No matter how great the advances of science are, these never approach the answers to ultimate questions.

Right Place For Cosell

WASHINGTON — I keep wracking my brain trying to think what the Great Debate between Gerry Ford and Jimmy Carter could have used, and the only thing I keep coming up with is Howard Cosell. Had Howard been the sole questioner, it's doubtful that anyone would have called the confrontation between the two presidential candidates boring. This is the way it would have gone if the League of Women Voters had had the good sense to turn over the debate to America's favorite sportscaster:

"Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. This is Howard Cosell speaking to you from ringside at the Walnut Street Theater in Philadelphia. We are about to watch a 90-minute debate between two mediocre men who, frankly, surprised me by getting the nominations of their respective parties. I'm sorry, folks, but I'm telling it like it is.

ART BUCHWALD

"Jimmy Carter is practically an unknown politician who squeaked through the primaries to become the Democratic Party candidate. He has little or no experience in government and is as confused about the issues as any man this reporter has ever watched.

"His opponent became President by accident, and Gerry Ford, if you want my honest opinion, will never go down in history with the great ones. Even as the incumbent President of the United States, he just managed to squeak out a narrow victory over the former actor and ex-governor of California who, in my book, was miscast as 'The Gipper' in a 'B' movie titled 'Knut Rockne.'

"Now, gentlemen, I am going to ask you some questions and I want straight answers.

"My first question is to you, Mr. President. Why did you pardon a crook who admitted to obstructing justice while he held the highest office in the land?"

"Well, Howard, I thought he had suffered enough. He had been forced to resign from the highest office in the land and I believe that was punishment enough."

"A likely story, Mr. President, but I just can't buy it. I know for a fact that Gen. Al Haig came to you and proposed a pardon for Nixon before tricky Y Dick offered to resign. But that's neither here nor there. My next question is to you, Mr. Carter. What makes you think you have the experience and ability to be President of the United States after the mess you perpetrated in Georgia when you lived in the governor's mansion?"

"I didn't leave a mess in Georgia. When I became

Third Viking Try?

By PETER J. BOYER
Associated Press Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — In less than three months, two robots have increased man's knowledge of Mars a thousand times. But Viking 1 and Viking 2 have not found any Martians, and that may endanger the prospects of a Viking 3.

For a while it seemed as though the traveling laboratories from earth had indeed found evidence of life. Their early experiments came up with enticing results, but the test to confirm those results failed. The promising processes have now been chalked up to a bizarre chemical system beyond immediate explanation.

Scientists have not given up all hope, however, and some are quick to point out that the Vikings have examined just two tiny parts of the planet.

They would like to put on Mars a mobile Viking 3, equipped with crawler tracks and instruments better able to look into the findings of Vikings 1 and 2. "Imagine what we could see if we could move around," said a NASA official.

To the editor:
Every one or two weeks my family has one or two bags of cans to throw away, but there is no place to put them. We don't want to throw them on the road because that would be littering. We can't take them to a landfill because we wouldn't have enough. A few weeks ago my mother and I were in Rocky Mount. We drove past a self-service gas station and noticed there two dumpsters that people use to throw bags of trash in. I think if the Health Department could somehow put these dumpsters at convenient locations, then people could put trash in them instead of putting it on the road and making Greenville and the countryside look bad.

Economy Has Some Good News

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Returning from their summer vacations, Americans have been accosted with such an array of troubling economic news that they cannot be blamed should they turn around and head right back.

Lest that enticing but economically depressing option be exercised, perhaps we should look at a few of the brighter aspects of our economy and see if we can draw encouragement from them.

First of all, there's that astonishing news from the Office of Management and Budget that the federal deficit in the July-September quarter is likely to be $5 billion to $8 billion lower than the $20 billion officially estimated.

This type of news is rare at any time, but coming in the midst of international monetary problems and the Ford strike and the fear of rising prices and worry about capital spending, it is an event to be savored.

We can also find some encouragement simply by looking at the other side of the coin.

In housing, for example, we tend to overlook the remarkable activity that has been occurring all year long in the existing home market. True, the new home market has been rather weak, but that's not the entire story.

When people buy existing homes they do not simply move in and settle down. They fix them up, and when they do that they often help fix up a neighborhood too.

Moreover, they put people to work. This has been a big year for home improvements. Houses everywhere have been upgraded, some of it by the do-it-yourself method, but a good deal by methods that kept otherwise idle builders at work.

We can view the job figures from another angle too. There are more Americans at work now than ever before in history, even though the jobless rate refuses to come down. People are finding work. New jobs are being created.

This isn't to say that the employment situation isn't serious, a matter for great concern. It is to say that the job-making apparatus hasn't broken down altogether, that it is still functioning.

There is a bit of hope to be distilled also from the way prices have acted. Remember when inflation was 12 per cent and everyone thought it would continue rising, as it did in some European countries?

The inflation rate now is one-half that. This isn't good by any means, because a 6 per cent rate continued for a dozen years reduces a dollar to a penny, but it should be recognized as quite an improvement.

So there are some things to shout about. The trouble is that people aren't shouting. They hold to some of the bad memories and they put their money in the bank and they hold to a wait-and-see attitude.

And that itself, economists tell us, is sometimes enough to bring on the very conditions we seek to avoid, a self-fulfilling prophecy, a fear that causes people to stumble into the situation they are running from.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Mild temperatures are due today for the Atlantic coast but most of the nation is expected to be cool. Showers are expected from eastern Texas to the Great Lakes. (AP Wirephoto Map)

By The Associated Press
Weak low pressure centered off the Virginia capes this morning continued to affect weather across North Carolina. Its influence continued to weaken today. By Tuesday, high pressure will control weather across the state.

As a result, variable cloudiness prevailed across the state today. Highs were in the 70s, except for some upper 60s across the mountains. Skies will be partly cloudy across the state tonight and Tuesday. Lows tonight will be in the mid to upper 40s across the mountains and in the 50s east of the mountains. Highs Tuesday will be in the 70s across most of the state.

Temperatures will change very little from those of the first of the week, until they turn cooler late Thursday or Friday.

Variable cloudiness was reported across the state last night. Patchy fog developed between midnight and sunrise. Lows were mostly in the 50s. Precipitation during the past 24 hours was spotty and confined to the northern coastal area and Outer Banks.

Some drizzle fell over the northern coastal area Sunday morning. Showers developed over coastal waters and along the Outer Banks Sunday afternoon and continued into last night.

There will be improving weather for outdoor activities through Tuesday. Temperatures will be near normal for this time of year.

There is a chance of showers in the west Wednesday and across the state Thursday. Little change in temperature is expected through midweek.

believes the United States will be going to Mars again "in reasonably short order." But another mission could cost upwards of $1 billion, and some people in the space program admit that without the spectacular selling point of life on Mars, it may not be easy to get Congress to finance a Viking 3.

"We really thought we would be lucky to find life," said Dr. James Fletcher, NASA chief. "If you found life, you might be making a manned mission to Mars before too long. But we weren't that lucky."

Exactly what Vikings 1 and 2 did find, no one is sure. But they have sent back from 200 million miles away a stream of exotic data — and will continue to do so at least until October 1977 — in return for the slightly less than $1 billion it took to get them there.

Before Viking, man's closest look at Mars — by telescope and fly-by spacecraft — would not have been close enough to discover even a civilization like earth's.

Scientists now say with certainty that Mars is not civilized, and almost with certainty that it never harbored any life at all — even the smallest microbe.

The experiment that dashed all but the most optimistic hopes was a search for organic compounds, the carbon-based chemicals that are the foundations of all life on earth. If anything even remotely similar to life as we know it ever existed on Mars, organic materials would be somewhere in the red Martian soil.

But neither of the twin landers found a trace of organic compounds.

"Mr. President, may I remind you we're on the air and no one cares what disagreements you have with Congress. Mr. Carter would you please answer the question?"

I believe that if you read my tax proposals, you will see I am for cutting out tax loopholes for the rich and the large corporations and helping the little fellow who cannot avail himself of high-priced lawyers and accountants who..."

"I'm sorry, Governor, we have to keep moving along and since neither one of you has answered the question, let me ask this of you. Where do you stand on the FBI and CIA violating the laws of the land, Mr. President?"

"When I came into the White House, the first thing I did was to clean out the FBI and CIA and the record will show that both these agencies are now doing a superb job."

"That's your story. Mr. Carter, what do you have to say to Mr. Ford's ridiculous response?"

Suddenly the sound goes off as Gov. Carter starts to speak.

Twenty-eight minutes later it is restored. Cosell is speaking. "Ladies and gentlemen, as you are aware, we lost the sound for the past 28 minutes which, in my personal opinion, was a blessing. There doesn't seem to be any necessity to continue this discussion because it certainly wasn't the type of debate we had been led to believe it would be. Let's be honest. It was a dreary 90 minutes of shadow boxing, the likes of which I haven't seen since Muhammad Ali fought Chiblain Semko in Finland in 1969. I'm sorry to have to say this, but I have to tell it like it is."

Domestic Pot Seen Increasing

By JACK STILLMAN
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — An intensive drive to wipe out marijuana smuggling in the Southeast has cut down on the availability of high grade "pot" from South America and the Caribbean, but domestic marijuana seems to be more widespread, an Associated Press survey shows.

A year ago a DC4, loaded with one and one-half tons of marijuana, landed in the dead of night on a rough runway carved into the side of a hill in west Georgia.

Seizure of the plane and the subsequent roundup of 14 persons focused on a fast-developing smuggling business extending from South America and the Caribbean to small, little used airports throughout the Southeast.

Also, the much desired Colombian marijuana was being brought into the country by boat.

Federal and state agencies began to crack down. The federal Drug Enforcement Administration said 115 planes carrying marijuana crashed last year, killing 17 persons.

There are no statistics showing how many got through the net of law enforcement officers.

The DEA said in Miami that its records show an almost continuous increase in the amount of marijuana seized in the Southeastern region since 1974.

From July through December 1974, the agency reported 132 arrests and 16,194 pounds of marijuana and hashish seized.

From January through June 1975, the number of arrests went to 226 with only 11,570 pounds seized.

From July through December 1975, however, there were 209 arrests and the amount of marijuana and hashish seized was up to 22,842 pounds and Phil Perry, assistant special agent in charge of the DEA in Atlanta, said there has been a noticeable decline in marijuana activity in the past six months.

"I think so many cases have been prosecuted and the conspiracies seem to go all the way up the line until they reach the top," he said. "Arrests and trials are still going on and the convictions indicate that the (smuggling) operations seem to be hurting a little bit."

Lt. Jimmy Day, a narcotics officer in the Louisiana state police department, said, "I don't have statistics on it, but marijuana arrests would be down because we are working on the larger dealers, not so much the kids on the street with a cigarette. We don't have time or manpower to mess with every kid that might be smoking. We're after the 10,000 pound and 15,000 pound seizures."

"I don't know if marijuana is becoming more respectable, but it is more accepted," he said.

Tall Tales Told At Nat'l Event

JONESBORO, Tenn. (AP) — Ever hear the one about the catfish that walked to school?

The catfish story was just one of several hundred yarns spun at the National Storytelling Festival here over the weekend.

Often with the music of dulcimers, banjos and horn pipes in the background, veterans of back porch ghost stories and professionals from the coffee house circuit told their tall tales.

The catfish belonged to Doc McConnell, Rogersville, Tenn., who told his listeners that he caught it one summer when he was a boy.

He said he gradually kept it out of water for longer periods of time until it became accustomed to living on land.

"Finally summer went and it came time to go back to school," McConnell said. "He followed along like a dog, flopping and wiggling through the dust."

McConnell said everything was fine until he crossed an old wooden bridge with a plank missing. When he looked back, he found the fish was no longer with him.

"He had fallen through that crack in the bridge and drowned," he said.

To those who chuckled in disbelief, McConnell stuck out his hand and said, "And if you don't believe it, here's a rock out of that creek to prove it."

The meeting ended Saturday night with a gathering in a local graveyard where ghost stories were told.

About 650 persons were in the state's oldest city to swap stories at the festival's fourth annual meeting.

The festival is an outgrowth of the Appalachian custom of neighbors sitting around swapping yarns and passing them from one generation to another.

Additional Counts Filed

Larry Feemster, 38, of 236 Fairview Way, charged last week with issuing receipts for which goods were not received in connection with an alleged fraud incident at the Fred Webb Inc. grain elevator firm on North Greene St., has been charged with four other counts of issuing faulty receipts.

Chief Glenn Cannon said the four additional charges against Feemster stemmed from incidents on September 18 when a receipt for 499.8 bushels of corn was issued September 21 when a receipt for 501.6 bushels was written; on September 25 when a 510 bushel receipt was issued; and September 29 when a 401.9 bushel receipt was given.

Three other men were arrested with Feemster last week in connection with the case which involved the alleged issuing of receipts for corn which was not received and then collection checks for the fictitious receipts.

Flushing Mains In Fifth Phase

Phase V of Greenville Utilities' Operation Flush, a program aimed at ridding the city's water mains of unwanted sediment, will get underway tonight and continue through Friday.

Wadie Lewis, superintendent of GUCO's Water and Sewer Department, said that the project's fifth phase will encompass an area that includes Belvedere, Westhaven, Pinewood Forest, Lynndale, Club Pines and Brentwood subdivisions.

Flushing operations will be conducted between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. this week, Lewis reported, in an effort to minimize the number of residents affected.

Singles Club Events Set

A Greenville Singles Club membership meeting will be held Wednesday at 7 p.m. at Peppi's Pizza Den. Friends and interested non-members are welcome.

Friday and again Friday, Oct. 29, at 9 p.m. Hillcrest Lanes here is reserved for Singles Club members. The club is interested in forming a team for competition this year.

Wednesday, Oct. 13 at 8 p.m. a meeting of the Board will be held. Nominations for office will be discussed by the nominating committee.

Wednesday, Oct. 20, a meeting to get out the newsletter will be held.

Friday, Oct. 22, at 6:30 p.m. the club will meet at Sportsworld for an evening of roller skating.

Saturday, Oct. 23, there will be a Quad-City dance in Wilson, with details to be announced later.

For information about the Singles Clubs or any of its activities contact Bill Lincoln, 746-3314; Pete Oglesby at 756-4637; or Hugh Stokes at 756-0272.

Bundy Completes Western Tour

State Rep. Sam D. Bundy returned last week from an Advisory Budget Commission tour of state institutions in the western part of North Carolina.

Thursday and Friday of this week he will be in Raleigh attending a meeting of the Advisory Budget Commission and holding public hearings on budget request for the next biennium.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Chance of showers Thursday, possibly beginning over the west portion on Wednesday. Fair Friday. Lows in 50s for the west and 60s in the east Wednesday, cooling to 40s in the west and 50s in the east Friday.

Important Cases Before New Term Of High Court

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is opening its new term with arguments on an unusual number of important cases crammed into its first two-week session.

The court scheduled arguments for today on a case in which 23 states are asking the justices to overrule their 10-year-old Miranda rule restricting police interrogation of suspects.

Other cases to be heard later this week and next week deal with charges of sex, race and religious discrimination in housing, the treatment of employees and the sale of beer.

Although not unprecedented, it is rare for the court to hear so high a proportion of its major cases in the opening days of the term.

At any rate, the court's announced schedule should decrease the chance that virtually all of the major decisions will be put off until the closing days, as they were last term.

The case on the Miranda rule arises from a federal court decision overturning the murder conviction of Robert A. Williams in the death of 10-year-old Pamela Powers of Des Moines, Iowa.

The girl was slain on Dec. 24, 1972, at the Des Moines YMCA, where she had come with her family to see her 14-year-old brother compete in a wrestling match.

Williams surrendered to police in Davenport, Iowa, two days later. A federal judge ruled that, on the way back to Des Moines, a police detective had tricked Williams into leading police to the girl's body, although Williams had asserted his right to answer no questions until he saw a lawyer.

Under the Miranda rule, a suspect in custody must be told of his right to a lawyer and his right to remain silent. If he chooses not to talk, police may not question him. If they do, the evidence they obtain cannot be used against him.

Twenty-two states have filed briefs supporting Iowa's argument that this rule should be overturned and the suspect's statements should be allowed as evidence as long as they were given voluntarily.

Arguments are scheduled Tuesday on a challenge to an Oklahoma law permitting women to buy 3.2 per cent beer at age 18, although men may not buy it until 21. Opponents of the law seek a declaration from the court that laws relating to the sexes must meet the same strict constitutional test as racial laws.

On Wednesday, the court will hear arguments on behalf of Hasidic Jews in Brooklyn that a legislative reapportionment designed to favor blacks and Puerto Ricans is reverse discrimination. The reapportionment split the Hasidic community between two districts.

Arguments are scheduled for Oct. 12 on the appeal of the Parker Seal Co. of Berea, Ky., from a ruling that it violated a federal law against religious discrimination in employment when it fired a supervisor who refused for religious reasons to work on Saturdays.

On Oct. 14, the justices will hear arguments on the issues of public housing in the suburbs and whether pregnant women are entitled to disability pay.

'Dove' Awards Slated Tonight

NASHVILLE (AP) — The Blackwood Brothers appear to have the best chance of winning the most honors at the Gospel Music Association's fourth annual Dove Awards here tonight.

The gospel singing group has been nominated for four awards — best male gospel group, best Southern gospel record and best male vocalists nominations for both James Blackwood Sr. and Terry Blackwood.

Also nominated for best mixed gospel group are Andrae Crouch & the Disciples; Bill Gaither Trio; the Downings; the Hinsons and the Speer Family.

Nominated for the best gospel song of the year are "Here They Come," by Jim Wood and Beth Glass; "It Made News In Heaven," by Gorden Jensen; "Jesus Is Mine," by Virginia Cook and Wally Fowler; "Learning to Lean," by John Stallings; "No Shortage" by Gary S. Paxton; "One Day at a Time," by Marjohm Wilkin and Kris Kristofferson; "Please Search the Book Again," by Jerry Goff.

"Scars in the Hands of Jesus," by Marjohm Wilkin; "Statue of Liberty," by Neil Enloe; "Tears Will Never Stain the Streets of That City," by Dottie Rambo.

The nominated songs will be performed by the Speer Family; the Telestials; Kingsmen; FeFeVres; Blackwood Brothers; Imperials; Goffs; Florida Boys; Couriers and Rambos.

The Dove Awards are the highest honor presented each year by the gospel music industry.

The awards ceremony is the first in a series of music awards this month. The nationally televised Country Music Association awards show is next Monday at the Grand Ole Opry House.

Recalls Prediction He Would Be Rich

BEAVERTON, Ore. (AP) — Louis Olson sat dazed in the restaurant he manages in this Portland suburb and recalled an old prediction.

"I just remembered. It was just seven years ago in October that a girl in Los Angeles said I would be rich. She was heavy into horoscopes."

The prediction was that he would work hard for seven years, then have a fortune handed to him.

On Thursday, Olson learned he had won about $650,000 in the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes.

He heard of the windfall from a reporter.

"I can't believe it. I won't believe it until I have the money in my hands," the Lovell, Wyo., native said.

A phone call to Dublin confirmed the story to Olson's satisfaction.

Olson won the sweepstakes' superprize, drawn from a drum three days before the horse race is run at Newmarket, England.

The other winners are determined on the basis of Olson's ticket.

Olson, 35 and single, said he bought 48 tickets at $1.77 each. The exact amount of the prize, 400,000 pounds sterling, will depend on the rate of exchange.

He says he won't get it all at once. "The instructions say the winner gets one large payment, then a monthly check for the rest of his life. I don't know how much I will get, but if I get $40,000 a year, I can live on that."

Farm Scene

By MICHAEL E. REGANS,
Assistant Agricultural Extension Agent

The use of composted leaves, grass clippings, and animal manure is increasing. On a volume basis the quantity of plant nutrients in compost or animal manure is relatively small. To adequately supply growing plants with their necessary nutrients from these organic sources, large quantities of the material is required.

The greatest value of compost and animal manures is to improve the soil structure. These "organics" improve the ability of the soil to hold water and nutrients. Also, they support growth of the bacteria and fungi of the soil, referred to as the "life" of the soil.

The level of fertilizer nutrients in compost is dependent upon the material that was composted and whether or not inorganic fertilizers were added during the composting process. Feathers, as a compost material, contain 15.3 percent nitrogen. Wood ashes contain from 4.0 to 10.0 percent potassium. Other compost materials include coffee ground, pine needles, and oak leaves.

The fertilizer materials stored in organic matter is in a form that must undergo decomposition before growing plants can utilize the nutrients. For this reason, it is usually a good idea to add compost to the soil well in advance of planting so that they can begin to release their nutrients by the time the young root systems begin to expand.

Compost may be used for mulching in the garden. When the spent plants are removed in the fall, the mulch can be plowed into the soil with little or no difficulty.

Not Household Names, But Among Kingmakers

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Joe Grimsley, Worth Coltrane, David Stephenson and Bert Bennett probably are not household names to the politically disinterested, but these men are among the kingmakers of state politics.

In this year's gubernatorial race, they and a few others hold the levers of power and influence in the campaigns of Republican David Flaherty and Democrat Jim Hunt.

Whatever their titles, their basic chores are the same: to labor in the background, devoting all their waking hours to getting their candidates elected.

"You take a guy like Grimsley," said one political observer, referring to Hunt's campaign manager. "He's directed his life toward getting Hunt elected governor for at least the last four years, which is a big chunk out of anyone's life. But you look at him and he's still got fire in his eyes."

"In any campaign, there are always bunches of people who claim they deserve some portion of the candidate's time or insist they know what should be done to win," said a campaign manager for a recent statewide candidate.

"The candidate doesn't — and shouldn't — have the time to handle that sort of stuff, so his advisors do it. And when you control who the candidate sees and how he spends his day, you've got power."

Grimsley's association with Hunt dates back to their 1950s high school days, when they competed against each other in athletics. Grimsley, 40, ran Hunt's successful campaign for lieutenant governor in 1972 and is now in charge of a campaign organization envied by most other politicians.

Coltrane, 50, is Grimsley's Republican counterpart with the Flaherty campaign. A graduate of the Wake Forest University Law School and an Ashboro attorney, he also headed Jim Gardner's unsuccessful GOP gubernatorial campaign in 1968 and was a Republican county chairman for 20 years.

Bennett, 50, holds no official title and spends little time in the Raleigh headquarters, but is deeply involved in the Hunt campaign. He managed former Gov. Terry Sanford's 1960 campaign, was a state party chairman, and is known as a stickler for detail.

David Stephenson, 29, is a Flaherty speech writer and holds a master's degree in public administration from the University of North Carolina. He handles media relations, researches issues, and is a former policy adviser to Gov. Jim Holshouser.

Youth Jobs Hunt's Goal

RALEIGH (AP) — Reducing the high unemployment among young people must be one of the first targets of the state's economic development policies, Democratic gubernatorial nominee Jim Hunt said Saturday.

Hunt told an AFL-CIO meeting in Raleigh that "figures showing an unemployment rate of 6 or 7 per cent are misleading. For young people under 25, the unemployment rate last year was 17.2 per cent."

The Democratic gubernatorial nominee said that while national economic trends heavily influence the jobless rate, the state could attack the problem through the new Labor Force Council he has proposed.

"A special task force of that council could deal directly with the problem of youth unemployment," Hunt said.

The Labor Force Council—representing labor, business and education—would insure that North Carolina workers have the skills needed to attract better industry. The special task proposed by Hunt would mesh the training of young people with the state's needs.

Hunt pointed out that youth unemployment is both a state and national problem.

Nationally, youths aged 16 to 19 represent 10 per cent of the work force but 25 per cent of the unemployed. In North Carolina, the unemployment rate among white males under 25 is 14.7 per cent. Among black males the same age, it is 36.5 per cent.

Our Daughter, The Derby Pilot

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Dean Winn Sr. of San Antonio, Tex. and Mrs. Tully Lidell of Orlando, Fla., arrived here recently in a single-engine plane piloted by Shirley Winn of Woodland, Calif. Shirley is Mrs. Winn Sr.'s daughter-in-law, and Mrs. Lidell's daughter.

Mrs. Winn Jr. and her copilot, Anne Molina of Sacramento, picked up the older women, who are in their 80s, en route home after winning 23rd place in the Angel Derby sponsored by the 99s, an international women's pilots organization.

"It's a pretty accurate account of the way things are around here," he said.

"This is a small town and everybody knows everybody else and everything that is going on," explained Mrs. Teachey, who says she likes the book. "But, they don't like it being public knowledge. They've known about it all along and now they're acting like they never heard about it."

FELLOWSHIPS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Fellowships totaling $400,000 to 138 music composers and 11 librettists in 24 states and the District of Columbia were announced recently by the National Endowment for the Arts.

Rose Hill Life Bared By Book

ROSE HILL, N.C. (AP) — "It's like somebody held a big mirror up and made us look at Rose Hill, warts and all," said a resident of this Duplin County town.

"We may not like what we see, 'cause we ain't as pretty as we pretend, but every word in it is the gospel truth."

"It" is simply what residents of this town call "The Book," a 381-page collection of interviews by New York free-lance journalist Reed Wolcott. Miss Wolcott spent nine months taping interviews with more than 200 area residents.

"That's all people are talking about, that damned book," said another resident.

"Rose Hill," as the book is entitled, is neither especially kind nor particularly harsh to the town and its inhabitants. It depicts a rural community where newcomers are locked in a social struggle with established families.

"You've got to live here three generations before you're accepted," said Mrs. Esther Teachey, a local teacher.

Some residents are undisturbed by "Rose Hill," but others are adamant in their condemnation of the book.

"It's a gross misstatement and a completely negative view of the town," groused Mayor Ben Harrell, although he admits he has not read it and probably won't.

Television repairman Lawrence Hope sees it differently. "It's a pretty accurate account of the way things are around here," he said.

"This is a small town and everybody knows everybody else and everything that is going on," explained Mrs. Teachey, who says she likes the book. "But, they don't like it being public knowledge. They've known about it all along and now they're acting like they never heard about it."

No Handle For Smokey

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Nine months ago, the Highway Patrol bought a dozen citizens band radios and installed them in patrol cars.

A patrol official says the radios have been useful, but there are no immediate plans to expand the system.

"As far as any statistics, all we have is sort of word of mouth," said Maj. Glenn D. Russell, head of patrol communications and logistics.

"The troopers with them continue to say they're of benefit," he said.

Russell said the patrol's original purpose was to have CBs in order to aid motorists.

"Frankly I don't want the program to get permanently labeled as an enforcement tool," Russell said. "That's not its primary purpose."

Sgt. C.J. Walker, of Mecklenburg County, said about 18 of the 34 patrolmen in the county have CBs but "they're keeping them cut down" because of continual chatter.

"If they were used properly, they could be a big help. But often you'll hear somebody call for assistance, but the channel's so crowded you just can't get back to them," Walker said.

But the only real flap over the patrol's CBs developed after patrolmen were prohibited from using "handles," or nicknames on the air.

"Really, there's no reason for the troopers to use a handle," Russell said. "In effect the patrolmen have had handles for years — those identification numbers. We just feel using that keeps things on a more professional level."

Police Probing Reported Rape

Greenville Police are continuing their investigation today into a reported rape Sunday.

Chief Glenn Cannon said the assault, reported at 12:30 p.m. to police, allegedly occurred about 5 a.m.

He said the woman involved told officers she answered her door bell about 5 a.m. and was forced by a man at the door to the dining room floor of her apartment where the attack allegedly took place.

Cannon said the woman returned to bed after her attacker left the apartment.

Minor Damage At Club Fire

Greenville Fire Department officers reported minor damage resulted from a fire at the Chapter X club at the intersection of Fifth and Cotanche Streets which was reported at 5:10 p.m. Sunday.

Firemen said a small hole was burned in a wall in a restroom of the club.

Investigators said the small blaze may have been started by a cigarette dropped into a plywood wall.

Say Yeast Not Interchangeable

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bakers' and brewers' yeast cannot be used interchangeably in baking, says a yeast manufacturer.

At one time, brewers sold their leftover yeast to bakers to use as a starter for sourdough type bread. When bakers' yeast was discovered, it proved superior to the brewers' variety for bread baking. It is made up of yeast strains chosen for flavor and their ability to produce carbon dioxide.

Trooper's 18-Year Career In Ashes, Because Of Graffiti

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Having been disciplined, transferred and spurned by the governor's office, Trooper T. Frank Holman's 18-year career with the Highway Patrol is in ashes — all because of graffiti written two years ago on a restroom wall.

Now he drives 18 miles each day from his home in Salisbury, his former post, to his assignment in Lexington, where he picks up his patrol car.

Holman, 42, has spent more than $10,000 in legal fees, but recommendations for his exoneration from every level of the state bureaucracy have been rebuffed by Gov. James E. Holshouser.

Holman's problems began in June 1974, with the discovery of a penciled message on the restroom wall of the Salisbury patrol office. The anonymous writer said a trooper stationed in Salisbury was having an affair with Mrs. Harriet Nail, a civilian secretary in the patrol office.

Hiker Fell To Death Sunday

ERWIN, Tenn. (AP) — Authorities say Debra Steer, 21, a Duke University student, fell to her death Sunday on the Appalachian Trail near here.

Miss Steer, of Norwalk, Conn., was hiking along the trail at Eunaka Springs with nine other persons when she fell down a 100-foot cliff while attempting to take a photograph, according to Unicoi County Sheriff Robe Osborne.

She was reported dead on arrival at Unicoi Memorial Hospital.

Police Officer Has Doctorate

DETROIT (AP) — Commander James Bannon, a police officer in charge of Detroit Police's 2nd precinct, recently received a doctorate in philosophy from Wayne State University.

His doctoral dissertation was entitled, "Assault Upon Police Officers."

Bannon, 47, thus has become the only man in the Detroit Police Department with a doctorate.

In his 26-year police career, he has won 38 citations including a Distinguished Medal of Valor and two Medals of Honor, the highest recognition in the Detroit Police Department.

Patrol officials laughed an investigation, during which Mrs. Nail and another secretary, Mrs. Sue Athey, accused Holman of attempted sexual assault. The assaults, however, allegedly took place months before the graffiti was discovered.

The charges were made to Sgt. D.P. Darden, Holman's first sergeant. Another trooper also was named in the message, but Holman was singled out for reasons still unknown. Holman was disciplined, although no criminal charges were ever filed.

His promotion to sergeant was rescinded, he was suspended without pay for three days and transferred 150 miles away to Clinton. Eleven months later, he was transferred again to Lexington, upon the recommendation of a patrol grievance committee.

Holman was unable to convince his superiors of his innocence, but he sued both women for slander and won. In January, Holshouser overturned every recommendation to clear Holman and to reprimand Darden, Maj. Jack D. Cabe and Capt. Robert H. Nutt for their mishandling of his case.

"A severe injustice would appear to have been done Trooper Holman," said former Transportation Secretary Jake Alexander. "From some obscure graffiti written on a bathroom wall, a flimsy case was developed against this man."

"It's the damndest thing I've ever heard," said Alex Roberts, a Holman friend from China Grove. "It's just like they want to ruin Frank for no reason at all except they don't want to admit they made mistakes."

Holman has filed a federal suit in Raleigh, charging the Department of Transportation and the patrol with violating his civil rights. A hearing in the case is expected later this month.

Holman is forbidden to comment on the case or to be interviewed without written permission from his superiors. Holshouser has refused comment on the case, but Holshouser aide Phil Kirk says, "This administration is not going to do anything about it. I can tell you that."

Checked 3 Traffic Accidents Sunday

Three collisions investigated by police Sunday resulted in an estimated $3,000 property damage.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 7:15 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Greenville Boulevard and Tenth Street involving cars driven by Perry Clifford Daughton of Route 1, Grimesland and Robert Luke Rouse of Washington.

Investigators, who charged Daughton with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety, estimated damage at $600 to the Daughton car and $900 to the Rouse auto.

An estimated $600 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 12:12 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Chestnut and 14th Streets.

Police identified the drivers of the vehicles involved as Nancy Montague Alton of Route 5, Greenville and Thomas Earl Warren of Route 4, Greenville.

Warren was charged with failing to stop for a stop light. A 3:15 p.m. mishap on Memorial Drive at the Airport Road intersection resulted in two bicycle riders being injured.

Police said Milton Barrett of 103B Howell St. and Reginald Lynn Eaton of 200A Roundtree Dr. — both riding on the same bicycle — were injured when the vehicle collided with a car operated by Nellie Teel Gurganus of Tice Trailer Park.

Damage was estimated at $200 to the Gurganus car and $100 to the Barrett bicycle.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pulled back slowly today, adding to last week's sharp loss.

Trading was light, as expected, with the observance of the Jewish holiday Yom Kippur.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 3.58 at 976.31. The average fell 29.52 points last week for its biggest weekly loss of the year.

Declines outnumbered advances by about a 5-4 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers noted continuing uneasiness over the progress of the economic recovery.

On Friday the government reported that orders received by manufacturers dropped 0.8 per cent in August for their second monthly decline in a row.

And over the weekend an association of corporate buying officials reported that its membership found business conditions satisfactory, but below earlier expectations.

Utah International climbed 3 1/2 to 62 1/2 while General Electric gave up 1 1/2 to 51 1/2. On Friday the Justice Department said it didn't plan to fight a merger plan calling for the exchange of 1.3 GE shares for each Utah International share.

The NYSE's composite index slipped .07 to 55.63 in the first hour. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was unchanged at 101.56.

Will Head Pitt's Operation Santa

Mrs. Allen C. Darden and Miss Elizabeth Lang, both of Farmville, will serve as 1978 Operation Santa Claus Chairmen for Pitt County. The announcement was made today by Carl Blackwood, President of Pitt County Mental Health Association.

MRS. ALLEN DARDEN

Mrs. Darden and Miss Lang have chosen as their theme, "Happiness Is-Sharing

At Christmas." Pitt County citizens do bring much happiness to our patients at Cherry Hospital and Caswell Center by their generous and favorable response to this project each year," Miss Lang said.

Both Mrs. Darden and Miss Lang are life long residents of Farmville and are members of the United Methodist Church. They are actively involved in the Benjamin May Chapter of NSDAR with Miss Lang having served in local, state and district offices. Mrs. Darden is presently serving as treasurer of the local chapter.

After graduating from Greensboro College with a major in music, Miss Lang taught in Pitt and Lenoir counties and was music supervisor in the Roanoke Rapids City Schools for several years. Mrs. Darden is a graduate of East Carolina University and has taught in Snow Hill, Washington, and Farmville. She is married to Allen C. Darden, a retired tobacconist and they have a daughter, Mrs. William S. Brown in Greenville.

The Chairmen are active in community and church work in Farmville.

Say 5 Hurt In Accident

An estimated $6,500 property damage resulted from a 6 p.m. Saturday collision at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Dickinson Avenue, according to Greenville Police Department investigators.

Officers identified the drivers involved in the collision as Michael P. Lamkie of Virginia Beach, Va.; Joseph Hubert Manning of Route 1, Fountain; Indiana White Kenon of Morehead City and John D. McLawhorn of 1115 South Washington St.

Kenon, McLawhorn, one passenger in the Lamkie truck and two passengers in the Manning car were reported injured.

Damage was estimated at $500 to the Lamkie truck; $1,000 each to the Manning and McLawhorn cars and $4,000 to the Kenon vehicle.

McLawhorn was charged by investigators with driving under the influence and careless and reckless driving.

Investigating Tobacco Theft

Pitt deputies are investigating the theft of some $2,700 worth of tobacco from a farm on Rt. 2, Farmville.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that the theft of 12 sheets of tobacco from a packhouse on the J. H. Harris farm was reported Saturday afternoon.

The tobacco, owned by Mark Mozingo, was apparently stolen between 6:30 p.m. Friday and 5 p.m. Saturday, it was reported. Entrance was gained by forcing a lock on the packhouse door, the sheriff said.

Firemen Plan Parade Oct. 9

In celebration of Fire Prevention Week, October 4-10, Pitt County Firemen will hold the Annual Fireman's Day Parade Saturday, October 9 at 10 a.m.

According to officials, the parade will include units from the county fire departments and the Greenville Fire Department. Clowns, floats and marching units will also participate.

Saturday afternoon fire activities will be conducted in Winterville for firemen including hose laying, bucket brigade and a tug-of-war with water.

The public is invited to attend the parade and the events to support the city firemen and the 720 volunteer Pitt County firemen.

Choice Land For Only $7.76

NEW YORK (UPI) — Have you ever wanted to own a piece of property steeped in the lore of history? Well, here's your chance to pick up choice land in Lexington, Mass., hard by the road where the Minutemen fired on the British in April, 1775.

A local organization is selling plots of land one-inch square at $7.76 a unit, according to a report in the October issue of American Heritage magazine.

Buyers get a gold-sealed, hand-lettered deed conveying beneficial interest in their land and a parcel number identifying their particular inch. "Beneficial interest" means that the owner is not permitted to build on his plot.

Woody's Ramblin's

BY WOODY PEELE

"You've got to be impressed by the way we got after them," Coach Pat Dye said after Saturday night's 22-3 win over The Citadel.

That game, on paper, was supposed to be a lot closer than that, but the Pirates surprised a lot of people by winning like they did.

"This is the way the game is supposed to be played," Dye said. "We beat them physically. I was really impressed with the way we hit. The effort was there."

Dye added that while the Bulldogs gave the Pirates some problems with their defensive stunting, the Bucs scored 22 points. "And that should be enough to win most any game," he said.

The coach said that the kicking game was a big factor in the way. "Our punt return team did an excellent job, and Pete Conaty just kept doing his thing. Our punting team and our kickoff coverage team didn't do as well as I'd hoped they'd do, though."

Defensive line coach Rick Bankston praised Jake Dove for his "continuing consistency," and added he did better on the pass rush. He added that Oliver Felton had a fine game at nose guard. "He graded out the highest I've ever had a down lineman grade."

Bankston also praised Wayne Poole at tackle for grading out a winner, but added he needs to improve his techniques. "And I've got to say something about the way Noah Clark played when he was in there. He's just a freshman, but he's going to be great."

Defensive end coach Ken Hutcherson lauded Fred Chavis for doing a good job. "He made some big plays in subbing for Cary Godette." Godette sat out his second straight game. "Fred's getting more confidence all the time. Zack Valentine played the same way. He's always around the ball, but he's still making a few mistakes. Freshmen John Morris and John Bauer both played well when they were in there."

Frank Orgel felt his linebackers did a great job. "Both of them (Harold Fort and Harold Randolph) came up with pass interceptions. The front line played real well, so we didn't have to make as many tackles as we usually do. Tommy Summers and Mike Brewington also played well." Lanny Norris couldn't help but be proud of his secondary, which added four other interceptions, two each by Ernest Madison and Gerald Hall. "We got play to playing like we should. We were a lot more aggressive in getting to the ball than when we played William & Mary. All four of them graded well."

On the offensive side, Wright Anderson felt that back Willie Hawkins had a super game, despite not carrying the ball much. "He really threw some key blocks. We couldn't get the ball to him because of the way they played the option, but he helped spring (Mike) Weaver loose. Ray Jones ran good inside, but he let up a little in his blocking."

Line coach Dick Kupec singled out Matt Mullholland, Tim Hightower and Wayne Bolt as doing well.

Weaver and Conaty both drew praises from quarterback coach Al Kincaid. "This was the first time Pete's run the club, and he did a good job. Of course, Mike did his usual good job. It would have been a great effort if not for the interception, which was tipped, and the two fumbles."

Henry Trevathan, who grades the receivers and kicking teams, had some good and unhappy notes. "Our receivers blocked well, and Terry Gallaher's speed and ability is great both in blocking and in taking the safety out of the picture."

"And the kicking game did a great job with the punt returns. But our punting team let two get touched on the kicks, and the coverage on kickoffs was not nearly what we want."

Dye warned that the Pirates face a tough foe in Southern Illinois, winner of its last three games—all against favored teams.

"We let our guys off today (Sunday) but we don't expect them to get complacent. Southern is good, and we've got to be ready for them. We'll have their mind back on it by Tuesday."

Some of the younger Pirates will get a chance to play more today, as the Bucs send a junior varsity team to Williamsburg, Va., to meet William & Mary's jayvees.

Pirates At Top Of League With Two Tough Wins

By MARSHALL JOHNSON
AP Sports Writer

East Carolina's Pirates are finally just where league coaches figured they'd be, at the top of the Southern Conference football standings, and they might just have gotten over two of the toughest hurdles in their path to the title.

"I knew it was going to be tough and it was," Coach Pat Dye said after the Pirates knocked off The Citadel's defensively tough Bulldogs 22-3 Saturday night to run their over-all record to 4-0, their league mark to 2-0 and their two-year-win streak to 10.

"That's the kind we like to win because they mean a little more," said Dye, who said The Citadel, 1-1 in the league and 2-2 over-all, defensively was "the best we've played by far this year."

The victory over The Citadel came a week after the Pirates squeezed out a 20-19 decision over William and Mary's Indians, the coaches' choice to finish in the league basement.

That assessment now appears to have been a little premature, for the Indians ran their overall record to 3-1 with a 27-15 romp over Virginia Tech's independent Gobblers, 2-2, in a game that wasn't as close as the score indicated.

And there was a shocker in side the conference, too, as Virginia Military's Keydets rallied on the running of Andre Gibson for 17 points in the final period and a 17-3 victory over Furman's Paladins. VMI is now 1-2, 1-3, while the Paladins fell to 0-2, 3-2.

Appalachian State's Mountaineers, 1-0 in the conference, upped their over-all mark to 4-1 with a 24-17 conquest of new member Western Carolina, 3-2, in a game that doesn't count in the standings.

Two other title-ineligible new members were Saturday night victims as Tennessee-Chattanooga, 2-2, was outscored by Middle Tennessee State 35-28 and Marshall, 3-2, was routed by McNeese State 34-9.

Aside from a defense that limited The Citadel to 150 yards in total offense, the chief architects of the East Carolina victory were quarterback Mike Weaver and defensive back Gerald Hall. In addition, Pete Conaty kicked three field goals for the Pirates.

Weaver ran 26 times for 103 yards and both East Carolina touchdowns as he directed the Pirates' wishbone attack to 239 yards on the ground. Hall set up one touchdown and two field goals with two pass interceptions he ran bacy 61 yards and two punt returns for 68 yards.

The Citadel's only score was a 37-yard field goal by Paul Tanguay after Tyrone Roper returned the opening kickoff 69 yards to the Pirates' 26.

"The only thing I can say is that it was a very, very poor performance by our offensive team," said Bulldog Coach Bobby Ross.

"It was a terrible day for football, but both teams had to play under the same conditions," said Furman Coach Art Baker of the rain-drenched game at VMI. "The came up with the right plays and we didn't. We had to change gears because of the weather."

The key play was a lunging catch by Johnny Garnett of a 32-yard Robbie Clark pass to the Furman seven that set up a three-yard scoring run by Gibson, VMI's first touchdown in 12 quarters. Gibson later broke it open with an 85-yard scoring scamper.

Gibson finished with 120 yards on nine carries and Kim Glidewell, although he gained just 32 yards, set a career VMI record by upping his four-year total to 1,765.

"Because of the condition of the field, we changed to the off-set I in the third quarter and it paid off," said VMI Coach Bob Thalman. He said Furman's "defense played well, but I thought our defense was super. We were still hurt by mistakes ..."

Baker also thought the Paladins' defense "played well except for those two plays" — Garnett's catch and Gibson's run, which he called "great. We weren't caught in the wrong defense. We just missed a couple of tackles."

"Garnett made a super catch. That got us going," said Thalman. He said "the run by Gibson wasn't anything special. We just caught them off guard by going up the middle."

Sophomore quarterback Tom Rozantz picked Virginia Tech's defense to pieces, hitting eight of 15 passes for 101 yards and one touchdown and running seven times for 32 yards.

The scoring strike was 14 yards to fullback Keith Fimian, whose 68 yards on 22 carries also included a pair of one-yard scoring runs. Roscoe Coles had 115 yards on 15 carries for Tech, which scored on a deflected pass and a 99-yard drive against Indian reserves.

"We thought East Carolina was better on defense and hit harder. We lost, but it just made us all the more determined," said Rozantz.

William and Mary Coach Jim Root said "I felt we could beat them all along, but I didn't think we could play as well as we did."

A one-yard burst up the middle by Milton Clark at the end of an 80-yard drive in the final period won for Appalachian, which played without injured All-Southern quarterback Robby Price.

Third-string quarterback Chris Swecker threw a scoring pass and Emmitt Hamilton ran 10 yards for the other Mountaineer touchdown. Appalachian preserved its victory by recovering a Western Carolina fumble at the ASU 30 with 53 seconds left.

Three NFL Teams Remain Unbeaten

BREAKING UP A PASS—Baltimore Colt safety Bruce Laird, 40, breaks up a pass intended for Tampa Bay Buccaneers wide receiver Morris Owens, 85, during their NFL game in Baltimore Sunday. Quarterback Steve Spurrier completed only 2 of 9 for Tampa and was replaced in the second half. The Colts won 42-17. (AP Wirephoto)

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Only three teams are still unbeaten ... and the New England Patriots still look unbeatable.

Three teams — the Oakland Raiders, San Diego Chargers and Washington Redskins — fell from the height of perfection Sunday in the National Football League, leaving only the Los Angeles Rams, Dallas Cowboys and Minnesota Vikings.

What's that?

You say you don't see the Patriots mentioned anywhere?

Well, they got perfection out of their systems early, losing their season opener about a month ago. But since then, it's been one upset after another for the Grogan Gang.

While the high-scoring Chargers were getting shut out 26-0 by the Denver Broncos and Washington was getting skinned 33-7 by the Chicago Bears, Oakland was becoming the latest victim of the Steve Grogan juggernaut.

Just as his passing and running had led the upstart Patriots past powerhouses Miami and Pittsburgh the past two weeks, his three TD tosses and two scoring sprints paved the way to their astounding 48-17 crushing of the Raiders.

While Los Angeles nosed out

Miami 31-28 to stay unbeaten and Dallas defeated Seattle 28-13 to do the same (Minnesota puts its unbeaten mark on the line tonight against visiting Pittsburgh), Buffalo bombed Kansas City 50-17, Baltimore belted Tampa Bay 42-17, Cincinnati clubbed Cleveland 45-24, Philadelphia nipped Atlanta 14-13, Green Bay downed Detroit 24-14, St. Louis beat the New York Giants 27-21, San Francisco stopped the New York Jets 17-6 and Houston outfought New Orleans 31-26.

Patriots 48, Raiders 17

"Nobody is going to intimidate us any more. Now maybe we'll start intimidating people," Grogan said after he completed 10 of 14 passes for 165 yards and ran five times for another 56.

Broncos 26, Chargers 0

Rick Upchurch's 92-yard touchdown run with a punt and 57-yard pass reception that set up one of Jim Turner's four field goals — and Denver's demonic defense — did in the Chargers.

Bears 33, Redskins 7

"We knew what we had to do and that was play good football," Chicago Coach Jack Pardee said after his Bears did just that to pummel Washington. "You don't outsmart or outfinest the Redskins. This was one of the Bears' biggest victories. It came against a team of playoff caliber."

Bob Avellini ran for one touchdown and passed for one, Walter Payton rushed for 104 yards and a touchdown and the Bears' defense racked up six quarterback sacks.

Rams 31, Dolphins 28

"I never think about my best day. I'm only interested in winning," said quarterback James Harris, who passed for 436 yards.

He completed 17 of 29 throws, two of them for touchdowns, and plunged one yard for another score. But the winning points came with less than two minutes to go on Tom Dempsey's 19-yard field goal.

Cowboys 28, Seahawks 13

The Cowboys spotted Seattle a pair of early Jim Zorn touchdown passes, then came roaring back on Roger Staubach's two second-period TD strikes and the running of Robert Newhouse.

Staubach's passes of eight yards to Drew Pearson and 25 yards to Charles Young put Dallas on top 14-13 and Newhouse, who finished with 120 yards, scored on a 24-yard third-period burst.

Bills 50, Chiefs 17

Joe Ferguson teamed with Bob Chandler on three short touchdown passes, O.J. Simpson broke loose for 130 yards — more than he's had in three previous games — and a pair of touchdowns and Jeff Kinney added 114 yards rushing in the Bills' romp.

Colts 42, Bucs 17

The Bucs finally scored their first touchdown of the season, but not until the closing minutes of the game. And not until Baltimore had scored seven straight times. Bert Jones passed for two touchdowns and Roosevelt Leaks ran for two in the stampede.

Bengals 45, Browns 24

Ken Anderson threw four touchdown passes, two apiece to Isaac Curtis and Lenvil Elliott, to lead Cincinnati past Cleveland.

Eagles 14, Falcons 13

Mike Boryla gambled and won on a fourth-down play with less than 4½ minutes to play, hitting Charles Smith with a nine-yard touchdown pass that put Philadelphia ahead. Then the Eagles blocked Nick Mike-Mayer's last-play 42-yard field goal attempt to preserve their victory.

Packers 24, Lions 14

Steve Odom caught a 40-yard TD pass from halfback Will Harrell and set up another score with an 88-yard kickoff return to give Green Bay its first victory and leave Detroit Coach Rick Forzano looking down the barrel of a gun again.

A few weeks ago he'd been given a win-or-else ultimatum by Lions' owner William Clay Ford.

Cardinals 27, Giants 21

Steve Jones, a reserve running back, hauled in a three-yard Jim Hart pass for a touchdown and bulled three yards for another score to pace St. Louis past the winless Giants, who got a pair of short touchdown bursts from Larry Conka.

49ers 17, Jets 6

San Francisco and the Jets played virtually even for three periods — the 49ers clinging to a 3-0 lead — before Cleveland Elam ran a Joe Namath fumble 31 yards for a touchdown and Sammy Johnson ran in from one yard out for another to put the game away.

Oilers 21, Saints 26

Defensive back C.L. Whittington recovered a fumble and raced 96 yards for a touchdown to close out a 21-point third quarter that helped Houston own the Saints. The game was marred by a five-minute free-for-all in the closing minutes.

Cale Wins Again; Fourth Straight

By RICHARD O. WATERS
Associated Press Writer

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP) — "Junior didn't tell me nothing," Cale Yarborough chuckled after running away with the Wilkes 400 stock car race Sunday and chalking up his fourth straight Grand National victory—a modern day record.

"He just let me do what I wanted to do," the boyish-looking Yarborough beamed when asked what advice his crew chief and car builder Junior Johnson had given him during the 250-mile race.

"I knew what I had to do. I didn't want them to unlap me," said the Timmonsville, S.C., driver who had held a steady, one-lap lead on Benny Parsons, Richard Petty and Buddy Baker for the last 140 laps of the 400-lap chase over the five-eighths of a mile North Wilkesboro Speedway.

Yarborough's Chevrolet finished better than a lap ahead of runnerup Parsons' Chevy. Petty's Dodge was third and Baker's Ford was fourth, also a lap behind. Lennie Pond, in a Chevrolet, was fifth, five laps off the pace.

"When I'd get in traffic I'd play it awful careful. I'd let them get up on me a little bit and as soon as I could work my way out of that traffic, I could work my lead back up. I didn't take any unnecessary chances," said Yarborough, whose four consecutive victories were a first since 1972 when NASCAR reduced the schedule to 30 long-distance events.

Yarborough dominated the last three-fourths of the race. He took the lead on lap 109 and held it until the end of the race.

"I knew the race track was slick and I knew all it would take was for one person to get into trouble and we'd all be in trouble," Yarborough said. "So I took my time and waited until I got them stretched out and lined them up in a row and picked them off one at a time."

Yarborough's fifth triumph in the last six races boosted his season victory total to nine in 26 starts, and it was his 40th career win on the Grand National circuit. He is now tied with David Pearson, who has won half of his 18 starts. Pearson did not enter Sunday's race.

Yarborough also picked up 20 points in his tight race with Petty for the Winston Cup national driving title. He now leads 4,050 to 3,951 with four events remaining, including next week's National 500 at Charlotte.

car field.

Sixth-place Dick Brooks, J.D. McDuffie, Bobby Wawak, Jerry Bivins and Sonny Easley rounded out the first ten finishers.

Yarborough's average speed, slowed by the slick track and two caution flags caused by spinouts, was 96.385 miles per hour.

Lady Bucs Win, Tie

The field hockey team from East Carolina University won a game and tied one over the weekend.

The Bucettes tied the Durham Club 1-1 on a goal by Gail Betton. Betton scored again and Kathy Zwigard added two goals to lead ECU to a 3-1 victory over High Point.

The field hockey team plays again tomorrow at UNC at 2 p.m. They are now 2-1-1 for the year.

Bob James Will Speak

Atlantic Coast Conference Commissioner Bob James will be the speaker at tomorrow's meeting of the Greenville Sports Club. The meeting will begin at noon with lunch at the Ramada Inn.

Bucettes Lose Two

The East Carolina University women's volleyball team lost two games Saturday.

The Lady Bucs lost to Duke 2-0, dropping games 15-7 and 15-9. They lost again to High Point College 2-0, losing games 15-11 and 15-4.

The women are now 0-3 for the season and play again at 5 p.m. today against N.C. State and Wake Forest at home.

Last At-Bat Decides American League Crown

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

The hit separating George Brett and Hal McRae in the final American League batting race didn't make much of a hit with either Kansas City player.

After 1,170 combined trips to the plate for Brett and McRae, the AL batting title teetered on its final at bats in the the Royals' game against Minnesota Sunday. Going into the ninth inning, McRae was hitting .3326, Brett was batting .3322.

Brett, batting third, lofted a seemingly catchable fly to left field. But the ball fell in front of Steve Brye and skipped past him, as Brett raced home with an inside-the-park home run and a .3333 batting average.

McRae contended that Brye deliberately let the ball drop. "I was surprised," McRae said. "I saw the guy come in and go back, then come in and stop. He played it so well it went for a home run."

Brett agreed with McRae, saying: "I thought he let it drop."

McRae, following Brett in the Royals' batting order, needed a hit to win the batting title. He grounded out, and finished with a .3321 average.

Only he wasn't finished hitting. He gestured at the Twins' dugout, shouting that Minnesota Manager Gene Mauch had ordered Brye's misplay. Both McRae and Mauch then had to be restrained.

McRae, who is black, indicated that he thought racial motivations were behind the play, but he refused to elaborate. Brett and Brye are both white.

"This is America," McRae said. "Not that much has changed."

After the game, won by Minnesota 5-3, Mauch was visibly upset by McRae's accusations.

"I told Steve Brye before the game to play Brett behind the shortstop," said Mauch. "He was just too far back."

"I trust Steve Brye implicitly. If I didn't, I'd do all I could to have him thrown out of baseball."

Brye said he misplayed the ball.

"I just messed up," he said. "I played the ball too cautiously. I didn't want it to get by me. If I had gone for a shoe-string catch and missed, the same thing would have happened."

The rest of the AL ended the 1976 regular season with less fireworks. Hank Aaron quietly ended one of the best careers in baseball history with a sixth-inning single in his final major league at bat, but his Milwaukee Brewers lost to Detroit 5-2. Elsewhere, Boston nipped Baltimore 3-2 in 15 innings, Texas blanked the Chicago White Sox 3-0 and California edged Oakland 1-0.

The New York Yankees, who open the AL playoffs at Kansas City Saturday, did not play Sunday, their scheduled doubleheader with Cleveland knocked out by rain.

Tigers 5, Brewers 2

Hank Aaron, baseball's most prolific home run hitter, stroked a single in his final at bat. "I wasn't thinking anything in particular," he said. "I was thinking about what I thought the first time I came up. I just wanted to get a hit."

Aaron was replaced by a pinch runner, and the 6,858 paid tribute to a certain future Hall of Famer with a standing ovation.

"It's a sad occasion for me," said Aaron. "But I think about retirement and I could think about some of the bright spots in my career. I'm just glad it's over."

After 23 years, Aaron's line reads: 755 home runs, 3,771 hits and 2,297 runs batted in. But he gave more to baseball than cold statistics. He provided the sport with dignity and class.

Angels 1, A's 0

Seven players made, probably, their final appearances in Oakland uniforms as the A's were beaten by Nolan Ryan's two-hit, 14-strikeout performance.

Joe Rudi, Sal Bando, Gene Tenace, Don Baylor, Bert Campaneris, Rollie Fingers and Willie McCovey are free agents today, free to leave the kingdom of owner Charles O. Finley.

"Finley is the reason this club is splitting up," said Tenace. "He didn't show any interest in signing the guys, just some weak offers. But the guys played hard and came close (to winning). He doesn't realize the type of guys he has."

Red Sox 3, Orioles 2

The 1976 season was disappointing for both Boston and Baltimore but the teams extended their seasons with a 15-inning finale, won by Rick Burleson's two-out single.

The victory lifted the Red Sox, last year's AL champions, into third place in the AL East, one-half game ahead of Cleveland. The Orioles, who never seriously challenged the Yankees, finished second.

Rangers 3, White Sox 0

Len Barker beat Chicago with a three-hitter in his second major league appearance.

Barbara Walker of Ayden won the championship flight of the Pitt County Golf Ladies' League tournament held Friday at Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Dardie Longino of Greenville had low net in the championship flight and Marie Israel and Jane Worsley, both of Greenville, tied for fewest putts in the championship flight.

Barnie Rawl of Greenville took low gross honors in the second flight while Tee Ficklen, also of Greenville had low net. Sara West of Greenville had the fewest putts in the first flight.

Some 38 ladies participated in the tournament. The next League tournament will be held November 5 at Grifton.

Madlock Is Top Batter

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

The National League batting title boiled down to a race between Chicago's Bill Madlock and Cincinnati's Ken Griffey ... but Griffey was racing from the seat of his pants.

Griffey was batting .338 going into Sunday's final game and Madlock was at .333. Should Griffey play or sit it out?

A decision had to be made and Manager Sparky Anderson assembled the Reds' brain trust — Pete Rose, Joe Morgan, Johnny Bench and Tony Perez — to plot strategy in a closed-door meeting. They decided that Griffey should sit tight.

"Pride is a lot of nothing," Morgan told Griffey before the game. "You shouldn't have played yesterday and you shouldn't play today."

And he didn't ... until word reached Cincinnati that Madlock was having a big day against Montreal. Anderson immediately sent Griffey racing into the game, but he struck out in both his appearances. Madlock, meanwhile, turned in a clutch 4-for-4 performance and wrapped up his second straight batting crown, .339 to Griffey's .336.

"I wanted to play and I didn't want to play," said Griffey before leaving the clubhouse quickly after the game. "Whatever Anderson says, I do. I can't tell him who to play and who not to play."

"I did not lose the batting title ... Bill Madlock won it." For the record, the Reds walloped Atlanta 11-1 and Chicago whipped Montreal 8-2.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Diego edged Los Angeles 3-2, Philadelphia beat the New York Mets 2-1 and Pittsburgh beat St. Louis twice by 1-0 scores.

Anderson, who originally planned to start Griffey but had second thoughts, took the blame for benching him.

Padres 3, Dodgers 2

Walter Alston's 23-year career as manager of the Dodgers ended on a sour note as Doug Rau walked Merv Rettenmund with the bases loaded in the eighth inning to force in the winning run for San Diego. Rau, 16-12, was the loser and Rick Sawyer, 5-3, won it with a six-hitter. Alston, 64, announced last week that he is retiring and third base coach Tom LaSorda was named to replace him.

Phillies 2, Mets 1

Steve Carlton, who will open the NL championship series for Philadelphia Saturday night, stopped New York on three hits and struck out 12 batters to post his 20th victory. Tim McCarver knocked in the winning run with an RBI single in the fifth. Mike Schmidt didn't hit any home runs for the Phils, but neither did New York's Dave Kingman. That enabled Schmidt to win his third straight NL home run title with 38 to Kingman's 37.

Pirates 1-1, Cardinals 0-0

Jim Rooker, 15-8, bested John Denny, 11-9, in the opener with a seven-hitter and Jerry Reuss, 14-9, beat Pete Falcone, 12-16, with a five-hitter in the nightcap to provide Pittsburgh's retiring manager Danny Murtaugh with a going-away present.

GETTING AWAY — The football gets away from Notre Dame's Al Hunter (25) as he fumbles on a pitch-out in the fourth quarter of Saturday's game with Michigan State University at Spartan Stadium in East Lansing. The ball bounced out of bounds for a loss of nine yards on the play. Moving with the action are MSU's Otto Smith (710) and Tom Hannon (45). Notre Dame won the game 24-6.

Top-Ranked College Teams Lose Games Over Weekend

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

How the mighty have fallen. —Eighth-ranked Ohio State is 2-1-1 following a 10-10 standoff with No. 4 UCLA. That's the worst start for Woody Hayes' Buckeyes since 1967, when they dropped two of their first three games.

—Tenth-ranked Alabama is 2-2 in the wake of a 21-0 whipping by No. 6 Georgia, the poorest getaway for Bear Bryant and the Crimson Tide since the 6-5-1 campaign of 1970.

—And Penn State, the perennial Eastern champs and No. 20 nationally last week but a 22-6 loser to Kentucky, is a grisly 1-3, something that hasn't happened in the Nittany Valley since 1965, the year before Joe Paterno took over. To boot, the Lions, who haven't had a sub-.500 season since 1938, are saddled with a three-game losing streak for the first time in 12 years.

Despite a 22-21 loss to Missouri a week ago, Hayes called UCLA "the best team we've played all year."

Said "Bama's Bear": "We lost to a superior football team. That's an understatement, I'm sure. They wanted it awfully bad and they deserved it. They have a very fine team, but don't ask me how good they are."

"We're not a super team," said Georgia's Vince Dooley. "We're an experienced football team, and that counts. We beat Alabama head-to-head at all positions."

"What can I say after we got the devil kicked out of us?" lamented Paterno.

Besides Penn State, the only other real upset victim in The Associated Press' Top Twenty was 16th-ranked Mississippi, which bowed to Auburn 10-0. Elsewhere, No. 11 Louisiana State dropped a 28-23 Southeastern Conference squeaker to No. 19 Florida and 12th-ranked Missouri trounced previously unbeaten North Carolina, the No. 14 team, by a 24-3 count.

The most impressive winner was 13th-ranked Southern California. The Trojans continued to rebound from an opening-game loss to Missouri by crushing Iowa 55-0 for their third consecutive victory. Back-up quarterback Rob Hertel tied a school record by throwing four touchdown passes.

Meanwhile, top-rated Michigan blanked stubborn Wake Forest 31-0; runner-up Pitt got a school record five touchdown passes from Matt Cavanaugh and outlasted Duke 44-31; third-ranked Oklahoma turned back Iowa State 24-10 on Horace Ivory's 62-yard run and Jerry Anderson's 58-yard interception return, both in the last 4½ minutes; and Vince Ferragamo rallied No. 5 Nebraska to a 17-9 triumph over Miami, Fla. with second-half scoring tosses of 32 yards to Chuck Malito and 23 to Dave Shamblick.

Seventh-ranked Maryland nailed down a 20-9 decision over unheralded Villanova on Mark Manges' 48-yard third-quarter TD pass to Chuck White. Ninth-ranked Kansas held off Wisconsin 34-24 as Nolan Cromwell surprised the Badgers with three long passes, including a 29-yard touchdown to Waddell Smith, and scored himself on runs of three, 64 and six yards.

Off-injured Dave Zumbach caught his first two passes of the year, both for touchdowns, to lead No. 15 Boston College past Navy 17-13 and Rick Slager threw for two touchdowns while No. 18 Notre Dame's defense played its third straight game without yielding a touchdown as the Irish trimmed Michigan State 24-6. Texas Tech, No. 17, was idle.

In other noteworthy developments, Army posted its biggest triumph in years, scoring all its points in the final 20 minutes to nip Stanford 21-20; Tennessee silenced some of Coach Bill

Battle's critics by shading Clemson 21-19; once-mighty Miami of Ohio fell to 0-5 via a 42-20 setback at the hands of Purdue; Olympic sprinter Johnny "Lam" Jones romped for 182 yards and two touchdowns as Texas punished Rice 42-15; and flanker Wesley Walker caught eight passes for 289 yards — most ever by a Pac-8 player — and three scores in California's 43-16 rout of San Jose State.

Rob Lytle rushed for 110 yards, scored twice and passed Tom Harmon for fifth place on Michigan's all-time ground-gaining list as the Wolverines whipped Wake Forest.

With Duke keying on Pitt's shifty Tony Dorsett, the Panthers unveiled a new series of pass plays and Cavanaugh connected for scores of 66 and 10 yards to Willie Taylor, 27 to Jim Corbett and 37 and 24 to Gordon Jones.

UCLA and Ohio State scored a touchdown and a field goal apiece and then sat on the ball in the closing minutes. Ohio State called seven consecutive rushing plays and drew a round of boos from the hometown fans by punting from the UCLA 47 with 35 seconds left. The Bruins then killed the clock with three running plays.

Bill Kynes, Florida's second-string quarterback, scored one touchdown and passes 10 yards to Jimmy Stephens for another against LSU. The Gators' defense stopped the Tigers at the five-yard line as time ran out.

Curt Brown's 52-yard gallop enabled Missouri's giant-killers to pull away from North Carolina. "We had to show ourselves and our fans we could beat someone who wasn't ranked as high as Southern Cal and Ohio State," quipped quarterback Pete Woods.

Neill O'Donoghue kicked a 44-yard field goal in the opening period against Ole Miss and Auburn made it stand up until Phil Gargis' five-yard touchdown run in the final minute.

Derrick Ramsey scored on runs of one and 61 yards to lead Kentucky over Penn State for what Coach Fran Curci called "my greatest win ever." Alabama's loss to Georgia virtually killed its chances of a sixth consecutive SEC crown. The Tide is 1-2 in league play and mathematically alive, but no team has ever won the title with two losses.

Matt Robinson started the scoring with a three-yard run eight seconds before halftime and passed six yards to Ulysses Norris for the Bulldogs' final tally. Meanwhile, the defense never permitted Alabama inside Georgia's 19-yard line and handed the Tide its first shut-out in 70 games.

QB Out

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Penn State starting quarterback John Andress will miss six weeks, and possibly the rest of the season, with a possible broken collar bone, the team announced Sunday night.

Ali Decision Questioned

By BILL DENSMORE
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Muhammad Ali's spiritual leader has questioned the heavyweight boxing champion's retirement plans and says Ali may have acted hastily.

"I'm wondering if Muhammad Ali is really retiring or if he is just making another empty statement," Wallace D. Muhammad, chief minister of the Nation of Islam religious faith, told reporters and followers Sunday.

The religious leader appeared at a South Side Muslim mosque where a spokesman said Ali would also speak. But the champion failed to make an appearance.

"Obviously he had rushed into something before considering many other things," said Wallace Muhammad, who was with the 34-year-old boxer when he announced his retirement Friday in Istanbul, Turkey.

Ali manager Herbert Muhammad was also at the mosque, but escaped reporters following the chief minister's sermon.

"When I came back to Chicago, I was told that Muhammad Ali had used up his purse from the Norton fight before he even got it, and that he always began spending the moment a contract is signed," Wallace Muhammad said.

Muslim officials insisted they had expected Ali to appear, and Wallace Muhammad told his audience at several points the world champion boxer was late but still coming.

He described Ali as an average donor to the faith, not a financial fairy godfather.

"The Nation of Islam has never pressured Muhammad Ali to give it one dime," the spiritual leader said. "In comparison with the amount of money he has, he is a below average donor in the Nation of Islam — far below average."

The chief minister said he and Ali got a telephone call while still in Turkey saying that the boxer's financial advisors were shocked by the announcement and asking him to make no more statements until returning to Chicago.

"Because they had gone over his bills and the announcement brought shock to many people — business people, that he was dealing with, bankers, others, and they asked him to keep quiet until he returns to the states," he continued.

In Turkey, where many of the world's estimated 500 million Moslems live, Ali had said, "I have defeated everyone in the world in my time. I have a record I challenge any boxer after myself to match, and I have decided ... I should retire."

Twice before, Ali has said he would hang up his gloves. The first time was in January, 1970 and the second last year, when he said he would quit after his bout with Joe Bugner.

Brief

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, despite the second smallest fan market in the big leagues, have topped the major leagues in attendance for only the second time in history.

The defending world champions drew 2,629,708 — the fourth best attendance mark ever.

Only the 1962 and 1974 Los Angeles Dodgers and the 1970 New York Mets have drawn more fans. The Reds' season total was 126,000 shy of the all-time mark set by Los Angeles in 1962, the year the club moved into Dodger Stadium.

Win Surprises George Archer

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

LAS VEGAS (AP) — George Archer was surprised by his victory.

"I didn't think I'd win this year," he said after some incredible scrambling brought him a two-stroke decision Sunday in the Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament — Archer's first triumph in four years.

"I was hoping maybe next year ... " he said, and let the sentence tail off.

"I wasn't playing winning style golf. I wasn't hitting it good enough to win. I didn't have the confidence to win."

"But," he said, flashing a big, broad, grin, "I was Houdini around the greens. I got it up and down just fantastic. My putting won it for me."

"And I was very, very fortunate. There's no doubt about it. I had all the luck — all the luck in the world. That's all there is to it."

Archer, one of the game's most consistent performers, winner of the 1969 Masters and 10 other titles, had been plagued by a variety of ailments including torn tendons in the left wrist that eventually required surgery and threatened to end his career. He had seriously considered quitting the tour.

But he wiped out that frustration and fear with the most welcome triumph of his 13-year career, coming from behind with a scrambling, two-under-par 69 that gave him a 271 total — 13-under-par on the 6,800-yard Sahara-Nevada Country Club course and a two-stroke victory over defending champion Dave Hill and third-round leader Don January.

It was January who opened the way for Archer, scoring three consecutive bogeys, beginning on the seventh hole. He finished with a 73, while the fast-closing Hill shot a 67.

Another stroke back at 274 were Dr. Gil Morgan and Mike McCullough. Morgan also had a last-round 67, McCullough a 68. Neither ever really got in the title chase, however.

The 46-year-old January opened the sunny, breezy final day with a one-shot lead, once built it to three, then began his bogey string. That gave the 6-foot-5 Archer a share of the top spot at the turn. His scrambling kept him there and birdies on the 15th and 18th holes nailed down the victory against the late challenge of Hill.

Archer clinched the $27,000 first prize — almost as much as he had won in the last three years combined — with a chip to within a foot for a tap-in birdie on the 72nd hole.

LONG Super or Super II Peanut Combines

Now you have a choice of peanut combines from Long. Choose the one best suited for your requirements.

The Long Super, Model 393

It's the same red combine that peanut farmers know so well — only now it's improved. New, tightly sealed eccentric bearings with hardened metal races offer better performance and longer life. The Long Super — proven performance by thousands of peanut growers.

The Long Super II, Model 1351

Further improved for 1976! It's stronger and it performs better because. New drive ratios. New Pick-up reel. New chain drives. New, extra-strength backbone. New eccentrics. All of these improvements total up to better performance and longer life, in a high capacity peanut combine.

Long has built and sold more peanut combines than anyone... and there are more of them still in operation. This experience in manufacturing and servicing is your assurance of a better product with dealer and factory back-up service. See your Long dealer now... and take your choice.

'Mary Hartman' Opens Second Season Tonight

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Forget Barbara Walters' debut with Harry Reasoner on ABC. The big news is that "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" starts its second syndicated season tonight in some areas.

It was such a hit in Season No. 1 a press kit about the show was moved to say: "The media's attention has been tremendous."

Hmm. Well, Louise Lasser, 37, is back as the spacey housewife who started the series by mainly worrying about "waxy yellow buildup" on her kitchen floor and a neighborhood murder.

Tonight, she starts in the psychiatric ward of a hospital in mythical Fernwood, Ohio, having suffered a nationally televised breakdown while appearing on "The David Susskind Show." Weird.

But don't forget her marriage to Tom Hartman (Greg Mullavey) went sour, she had a hospital-bed affair with a lecherous cop, and generally suffered so much that Job now wants equal time.

So much for past history.

New history is the daily soap-and-satire opera begins today in 25 major cities, later in 95 other towns, according to the Norman Lear works, which makes the show.

The show commences with the head of Fernwood hospital's psychiatric department watching a videotape replay of Mary's breakdown on the Susskind show. Her anguish makes him extremely happy.

He sees the publicity about it and her stay at his balliwick as "a wonderful opportunity for our staff — for our budget."

Mary, meanwhile, is curled-up in a corner of her ward next to a potted plant. Around her is a small-screen, mixed-company version of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," minus Nurse Ratched.

One lady inmate praises her courage in having a nationally televised breakdown. She says Mary has made "b-d's" very respectable. Says Mary: "I'm not a carrier." BD, not VD, the lady tells her.

She says because Mary made public breakdowns so respectable, "I wouldn't be surprised if Harry Reasoner did it next."

Tom comes to see Mary. The desk nurse can't find her files. Then we learn the couple's pal, Charlie Haggars (Graham Jarvis), also is in the Fernwood hospital — with a gunshot wound.

His country music star wife (Mary Kay Place) is with him,

The movie is based on a piece by Cornelius Ryan describing the Sept. 1944 airborne operation, called "Market Garden" near Arnhem. (AP Wirephoto)

Renews Warning War Inevitable

NEW YORK (AP) — Chinese Premier Hua Kuo-feng is said to have told former U.S. Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger that war between the United States and the Soviet Union is inevitable. Time Magazine also says in this week's issue that Schlesinger, a critic of detente, disagreed with Hua.

Schlesinger recently completed a three-week tour of China.

The magazine says the Chinese also expect a "people's war" that would pit millions of Chinese guerrillas against Soviet armor.

Time says Chinese leaders took pains to express to Schlesinger their scorn of U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. They denounced detente as "appeasement" caused by a "Munich mentality." Time said, and Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-hua cited a Russian proverb: "When you dance with a bear, keep your axe handy."

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, OCT. 5, 1976

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to attend to those details of life which can be annoying, but must be done. You will need every vital moment to handle an important matter that crops up unexpectedly.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take care of those tasks you have been neglecting and gain the benefits. Thinking along more constructive lines can straighten out a problem.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Personal aims require more effort on your part if you are to gain them more readily, so don't waste valuable time. Be wise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Small duties in the outside world require more attention now. Be very careful in the handling of an important credit matter.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) There are new opportunities present but you have to study them well if you are to make them a successful part of your life.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be sure to study plans of a new project before making a decision. Keeping promises you have made to others is most important now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make sure you find out what is expected of you by associates before carrying through with a new plan. Relax at home tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can accomplish a great deal if you carry through tenaciously with work that has piled up. Take needed health treatments.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Tend to business matters wisely early in the day. Later figure a way to make your hobbies and recreations more enjoyable.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Concentrate on how to make conditions in the business world more ideal. Study every detail of a new project.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show more efficiency in the handling of routine matters with associates. Don't neglect to do important research work.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Show that you are a practical person by saving more money for the future. Avoid a tendency to exaggerate. Be more economical.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Investigate new outlets in which you can gain personal goals more readily. Join congenials later for the recreation you like.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be always conjuring up ideas to use and should be given understanding and encouragement in order to express self more ideally. Give the religious and ethical training needed to set the pattern for successful existence.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

94th Congress Took Initiative From White House

By EDMOND Le BRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The two years of the 94th Congress saw headlines inspired more by scandals among its members, confrontations with a veto-wielding President and investigations than by legislative accomplishments.

But as time provides a longer perspective, the period that ended with adjournment last Friday may be seen as a turning point when the legislative branch began to turn against a century-long drift of power to the executive branch.

Using for the first time the budget procedures enacted by its previous Congress, the 94th took hold of the national budget as a whole, set spending and taxing goals and held to them, and asserted against the President its own views of national priorities.

Previously, the executive branch had the initiative in setting over-all goals, while the legislative branch merely approved individual pieces of legislation.

One Congress doesn't set a trend. But the next occupants of Capitol Hill and the White House will be watched to see whether a real shift of power within the federal government is under way.

The heavily Democratic Congress elected in 1974, after Watergate had disgraced a Republican administration, was itself wracked by scandals and allegations of scandals among its own members.

The fall of Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, was the major case. Hays had made a major power base out of his post as chairman of the House Administration Committee, with wide authority over members' perquisites.

He was also a force in the Democratic Caucus, chairman of the party committee that channeled campaign funds to congressional candidates and of a major international relations subcommittee.

Then, a $14,000-a-year secretary, Elizabeth Ray, accused Hays of putting her on the payroll only to provide him with sexual favors.

Hays, after initial assertions that he was being blackmailed, admitted a "personal relationship" but insisted Miss Ray was paid only for legitimate work.

Under pressure from colleagues and under investigation by the Justice Department and the House Ethics Committee, Hays resigned first his committee chairmanships, then the renomination he won after the scandals broke, and finally his seat.

A rash of allegations against other members ensued, but none produced such results.

However, the House, already nervous over polls giving Congress a low rating in public opinion, instituted some reforms in its handling of official accounts, payrolls and travel expenses and set up a commission to study and recommend proper release of secret materials. The major case involved the leaking of a House Intelligence Committee report to CBS correspondent Daniel Schorr.

The committee never determined officially who leaked the information. Subpoenaed to testify, Schorr refused to name his source, and no action was taken against him.

Committees of both chambers investigated intelligence agencies. Wrongdoing on the part of the CIA and FBI was reported.

Tax changes enacted in two stages probably had more direct impact on more Americans than any of the other actions by the 94th Congress.

Individual and corporate income tax reductions amounting to about $19 billion a year were put on the books. Ford's proposals for deeper cuts — to be balanced by equal cuts in spending — were rejected.

A tax revision package enacted in the last days of the Congress fell short of the hopes of many would-be reformers. But it did trim some tax preferences and increase revenue estimates by $1.6 billion — not far below the goal set under the new budget procedures.

The 94th Congress' worst performance — in the opinion of many of its members — was its failure to enact an over-all energy program to increase domestic supplies, encourage or enforce conservation and reduce dependence on oil from foreign countries that could both boost prices and play international politics with the vital commodity.

Philosophical differences with President Ford's administration played a part in the failure, but so did deep divisions in Congress and within the Democratic majority.

Congress did enact a variety of energy bills, such as one encouraging long-range research on new energy sources and means of propulsion. What was to have been the over-all energy bill kept the House, Senate and White House busy during most of 1975, with compromises repeatedly sapping its provisions. What became law allowed partial de-control of oil prices, set mileage standards for automobiles, gradually tightening over nine years, and encouraged mining and use of coal.

Congress also wrestled with the problems of the Postal Service, plagued by deficits and accused of inefficiency. No substantial changes were made, but an additional $1 billion in subsidies was voted.

Revenue-sharing, the program of returning federal tax money to states and cities, was extended through 1980 at an increased level.

The Voting Rights Act, credited with increasing blacks' opportunities to vote, was extended for seven years with provisions designed to help other minorities.

The copyright law, unchanged since 1909, was rewritten to take into account problems raised by such innovations as office copying machines and jukeboxes.

Federal proclamations of states of emergency, some decades old, were officially terminated, thus limiting presidential powers and wiping out some 470 obsolete enactments.

Moving into foreign affairs, an area that presidents consider their own, Congress ended U.S. activity in the Angolan internal troubles by cutting off funds.

But the 94th Congress also eased the ban on arms sales to Turkey imposed by its predecessor as a result of Turkish occupation of part of Cyprus.

U.S. Fire Death Rate Still High

NEW YORK (UPI) — The fire death rate in the United States is the highest of any industrialized country, says the Insurance Information Institute.

It said the latest estimates from the National Fire Protection Association show 11,600 persons died in fires in 1974 and more than 10 times as many were injured in fires. Fifty-seven per cent of those fire-related deaths occurred in residences. Residential fires also accounted for more than 70 per cent of the 1.27 million building fires and 34 per cent of the $3.26 billion lost in building fires.

The majority were linked to trash burning, electrical wiring and appliances, heating and cooking equipment or smoking.

Jewish Museum Is In Business

NEW YORK (UPI) — Add the Jewish Museum here to the growing list of such institutions producing and/or selling reproductions of historic articles, usually from their own collections.

Sixteen Judaica Reproductions introduced recently will be sold in Judaica-oriented shops, centers, charitable outlets and retail stores throughout the United States. They include authentic reproductions of jewelry and religious objects in silver and/or pewter suitable for personal and home use. Designs were culled from Persia, Italy, Palestine, Germany, England, France and Poland. They date from the Middle Ages to Art Nouveau of this century.

Sailor Wants Just 'Two More Wives'

By ALY MAHMOUD
Associated Press Writer
ABOARD THE HERMES IN THE MEDITERRANEAN (AP) — Abdel Hamid Mabrouk is a swarthy sea captain who says he has two religions, two passports, five wives and fluency in six languages.

But the blue-eyed, bushy-haired, 36-year-old sailor is not content. He wants two more wives and claims he "can afford this, both physically and financially."

Mabrouk, whose name in Arabic means "congratulations," holds a Lebanese passport listing him as a Moslem, and a Cypriot passport that classifies him as a Catholic.

"I was born in Lebanon and grew up in Cyprus. My heart beats for Lebanon, but my allegiance rests with Cyprus," Mabrouk said while sipping ouzou aboard this 500-ton freighter. "Above all, I believe in the oneness of the human race. In my eye, all men are equal and brothers," he said.

Mabrouk first married when he was 14, but "because I travel a lot I had to set up homes in various ports." He says he has one wife in Hamburg, one in Lebanon's port of Tripoli, one in the Greek port of Piraeus, and two in Cyprus — one Turkish and the other Greek Cypriot.

"Each of my wives operates under the impression that she's my only wife. Fine with me, if that makes them happy. Women are egocentric and possessive by nature, aren't they?" said Mabrouk.

He claims he exercises fair play in dealing with all five women and "taking into consideration the different standards of living in the Middle East and Europe, I give them equal sums and equally expensive gifts."

He has 11 children and hopes for more.

"I'm my parents' only son. And I want my family to grow bigger. Otherwise, the family would be gradually wiped out of existence in one generation."

He has never been to school, "but as a self-educated man, I believe I can excel in my business."

LOST WOODLAND

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Missouri has lost nearly two million acres of Ozark woodland in the last decade, mostly converted to pasture, and is losing forest land at a faster rate, the state Conservation Commission says.

Sci-Fi Film Wave Builds

By BOB THOMAS
AP Screen Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The disaster movie is out. Science fiction is in.

That's the report buzzing through the trend-conscious film industry. The phase that started with "The Poseidon Adventure" and was sustained through "Earthquake," "The Towering Inferno," "Airport 1975," "The Hindenburg," etc., seems to have waned.

The next 12 months will bring a flood of movies about outer space travelers and inner earth explorers, monsters and mutations, genocide and holocausts. More than $100 million is being poured into films of the fantastic.

The reason for the trend? "I think it is a delayed action or reaction to the society we live in," suggests sci-fi guru Ray Bradbury. "We all grew up on Popular Mechanics. We are the most technological society of the world; we are the science fiction people of all time."

Others see the new film cycle resulting from the public's need to escape — from inflation, from humdrum jobs, from the grim world situation. What greater escapism could there be than to far-off planets and future times?

"What most people don't realize is that science fiction entertainment has been around for a long time," adds Bradbury, whose books "Fahrenheit 451" and "The Illustrated Man" have been turned into films.

"The James Bond movies are really science fiction. Television has long made use of science fiction, and not merely in obvious series like 'Star Trek.' There have been others that are not so obvious, like 'The Avengers' and 'Mission: Impossible.'" Bradbury's work will be represented in the coming cycle with "Something Wicked This Way Comes" from Paramount.

Space exploration has provided inspiration for the film makers, although they suffered a minor setback with the recent discoveries of the Viking landing craft. Since no three-legged, one-eyed Martians were revealed, writers will have to employ other planets as homes for creatures from outer space.

Producer Saul David, whose "Logan's Run" is a current hit for MGM, analyzed the trend to sci-fi: "I think it probably reflects the public's appetite for flash, fantasy and a return to a positive kind of film."

"Some critics have complained that 'Logan's Run' (a 23rd Century Fantasy in which everyone gets his every wish but everyone dies at age 30) is not science fiction. It doesn't claim to be. It's fantasy — preposterous science, preposterous as Sinbad, and with the same kind of appeal. If you reach backwards in time, you'll see that this kind of film has always done well."

Film history offers many examples: "King Kong," "Frankenstein," "The Invisible Man," "It Came From Outer Space," "The Incredible Shrinking Man," "The Thing," "Them," "2001: A Space Odyssey," "Planet of the Apes."

Today's films of the fantastic differ from many of the earlier ones by offering something for the thoughtful movie goer as well as the thrill-seeker. Samuel Z. Arkoff, president of American International Pictures, observed that science fiction movies are now doing well abroad, "where they used to be considered 'kiddy-time.'"

Arkoff added: "People are now looking at futuristic and science fiction movies and seeing in them various things at various levels. The films no longer contain the simple-mindedness of the Buck Rogers serials that I grew up on."

"Take a picture like 'Planet of the Apes.' A child or even a moron could enjoy it simply as an adventure story. But the more serious filmgoer or even the intelligentsia could find deep meaning in its theme (An ape society takes over the world after man destroys it)."

Undoubtedly, the future has captured the fancy of the new generation of film makers, such as Stanley Kubrick ("2001"), Steven Spielberg ("Close Encounters of the Third Kind") and George Lucas ("The Star Wars").

Lucas explains: "After 'American Graffiti,' which was designed for 16-year-olds, I realized that nobody was making movies for young people. Except Disney, which hadn't really made a high adventure since '20,000 Leagues Under the Sea.'"

"I wanted to make a high adventure along the lines of 'Treasure Island' or the old westerns. 'Star Wars' takes place in another galaxy in another time. The hero is 18 years old, the heroine is 16, and Alec Guinness portrays the father figure. I'm aiming at the ages between 8 and 18, with the hope that the film will appeal to all ages, as did 'Graffiti.'"

"Science fiction was treated in a left-handed way for a long time," says George Pal, one of the medium's enduring pioneers. "The film industry never thought such films were important."

"Whenever one succeeded, it was a freakish success. But if you look at the great science fiction films, they are among the classics of the screen."

Pal made his share: "Destination Moon," "When Worlds Collide," "The War of the Worlds," "The Time Machine." He is both amused and appalled at the atmospheric sums being expended for far-out films today.

"Money alone can't insure success," he argues. "I made 'War of the Worlds' for $1.2 million, 'The Time Machine' for $827,000. The trick is to do good special effects and do them right the first time. The second time is never as good."

Here are some of the science fiction films that movie goers will be seeing in 1977 and beyond:

"King Kong," Dino DeLaurentiis updating of the 1933 classic, at $22 million the most expensive movie ever made in Hollywood.

"Close Encounters of the Third Kind," extraterrestrial tourists in a small American town, written and directed by Steven Spielberg "Jaws" for Columbia.

"Space Probe 1," a Walt Disney Production about a space station being sucked into a black hole.

"Timescape," travels to the future and the past, to be produced by Saul David who did "Fantastic Voyage," "Logan's Run."

"When Worlds Collide," a joint venture of Universal and Paramount, written by Anthony Burgess and produced by Richard Zanuck and David Brown, makers of "Jaws."

"Damnation Alley," an $8-million film from 20th Century-Fox about survivors of a holocaust that knocks the earth off its axis.

"Demon Seed," Julie Christie starring in an MGM fantasy about a computer with the urge to reproduce itself.

"Star Trek," a multi-million dollar feature-length version of the legendary television series, from Paramount.

An untitled film about nuclear fall-out to be directed for Universal by Costa-Gavras as his first English-language project.

H.G. Wells, "The Island of Dr. Moreau," mating of humans and animals, for American International Pictures.

All these plus others currently in release: "Logan's Run," "The Man Who Fell to Earth," "Futureworld," "Food of the Gods," "At The Earth's Core," not to mention "Fantasex" and "Godzilla vs. Megalon."

Climate Of Nonconfidence Prevailing In Romania

By RICHARD C. GROSS
BUCHAREST, Romania (UPI) — As the story goes, there was a small country with only one old Jew who wanted to commit suicide because of antisemitism. But the country's leader pleaded with him to stay alive because, he argued, without a Jew there could be no antisemitism.

Convinced suicide was not the answer, the old Jew succeeded in escaping from the country. The leader, in desperation, searched for a way out of his dilemma until he found a non-Jew in another country who was willing to pose as a Jew for money.

For, the story goes, the leader needed antisemitism so his people could blame all the problems of the country on the Jews.

Entitled "A Special Contract for Hiring a Man," the tale is an allegory written as a play in 1971 by Alexandru Miordan, a Romanian Jew and well-known playwright. The story never got to be told publicly.

Romanian authorities forbade its production and both Miordan and the country's top director, who was going to stage the play, Liviu Ciulei, have been in disfavor ever since. Ciulei is now in Paris.

The incident not only highlights the strictly controlled Communist government's power of total censorship but reflects the existence of a subtle antisemitism prevailing in Romania that the authorities obviously do not want publicized.

Jewish sources have dubbed the antisemitism a "climate of nonconfidence" in the Jews.

Though the government officially opposes antisemitism, the climate exists because many of the estimated 50,000 Jews still living in Romania seek emigration to Israel or the United States. Therefore, they are not trusted as loyal Romanians.

Those seeking exit visas lose their jobs through demotions, particularly if they work in the media or with propaganda, but remain on the payroll in other, lesser positions. They wait from six months to a year to get the visa and occasionally an application is rejected.

More than 2,300 Jews emigrated to Israel in 1975 and about the same number will go this year, said Chief Rabbi Moses Rosen, 64. He was elected to the position in 1948 by 600 rabbis. Now there is no competition for his job — only he and a Hassidic rabbi remain.

Another 50 to 60 Romanian families of all religions emigrate to the United States each month, a U.S. Embassy official said. Israeli Embassy officials will not comment on emigration to their country. "It is a closed subject," one said.

The topic of emigration from Romania is current in Congress because the nation's trading status with the United States as a Most Favored Nation — which entitles it to export 2,500 items tariff-free to the United States — is up for renewal.

Under an amendment to the trade bill proposed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., Romania must permit emigration of Jews and other minorities to qualify for preferential trade treatment.

MFN, as it is called, is vital for Romania because, government officials said, its goal is $1 billion in trade a year with the United States by 1980. The current trade level is about $450 million.

Rosen, an Orthodox rabbi with a snow white beard, doesn't think much of the Jackson amendment.

"To apply the Jackson amendment to Romania is not right because Romania allowed 350,000 Jews to leave the country" in the 1950s, he said in an interview in his office. "If it appeared Romania was forced to let the Jews go, this would be a catastrophe."

"As for the Soviet Union, 30,000 Jews a year went to Israel before the Jackson amendment. Now it's only 10,000 to 12,000 a year. So the amendment was good for the Jews?"

More than 800,000 Jews lived in Romania before World War II. The Nazis killed half of them. The remainder are spread throughout 70 communities, including 25,000 who live in Bucharest.

"The danger to the community is the lack of leadership," said Rosen, who only shrugged when asked what will happen after he dies. There are 135 synagogues in the country, 14 of which are open daily for prayers.

More than 80 per cent of the Jews are connected with the community, Rosen said. Others are members of the Communist party and, as true Marxists, ignore their religion in a country where before the war the party was run almost entirely by Jews.

"I warned 25 years ago that aliyah (emigration to Israel) should be more organized, that some leaders should be left here," Rosen said in accented English. "Even after all those who want to go leave, there will be thousands of Jews here. Jews in the free world must help."

He said the government has given permission for rabbis to come to Romania from the West, including Israel, to serve the community for several years, as world missionaries. None has arrived.

Hope that a young Christian convert would be a new rabbi died recently when he suddenly quit his rabbinical studies after two years.

Most of the Jewish community is over 60 and less than 2,000 of the Jews countrywide are between the ages of 10 and 25. It is clearly dying.

The community, which operates 11 kosher restaurants that feed 2,500 elderly poor a day throughout the country, survives with a hefty $3 million a year donation from the American Joint Committee.

Rosen, who is a member of parliament as representative of a minority and who rides in a chauffeured Mercedes, acknowledges the existence of antisemitism. But both he and Western diplomats emphasize the government "quite definitely" is not antisemitic.

"The policy of the government is against emigration," Rosen said. "They want the people to stay. They are trying to do everything possible to convince the people not to go."

"If I tell you that everyone who wants to go, goes, it would be a lie. Those who seek exit visas, they no longer have career possibilities. There are those who lose their jobs."

The rabbi, a practical man with a wisdom and a wry sense of humor that has enabled him successfully to juggle the demands of Westerners and Romanian officials alike the past 28 years, thinks the climate for Jews has improved over the past decade.

Jewish sources described the 1960s as an "era of irritation" for the Jews, a situation that has eased. Thus, by his standards, Rosen does not think it unfortunate for Jews to wait up to a year for an exit visa.

Nevertheless, according to the sources, most Jews are afraid to go to the U.S. or Israeli embassies for fear of being noticed by the secret police.

Yet those who do have the courage to walk into those embassies largely seek to escape Romania not because of political oppression but for better economic opportunities and the increased living standards they bring.

The average monthly salary in Romania is little more than $100.

Neither religious fervor nor a sudden Zionist zeal impels a Romanian Jew to leave everything he knows for Israel, where life in some respects is tougher than in Romania. War has been unknown in Romania since 1945.

"Most Jews left for economic reasons," a Jewish source said, adding there are those who want to go because of repression in Romania. "But a lot of them write back home from Israel saying life is very difficult and they write how bad it is there. They try to go to the United States or Germany."

Government officials acknowledged Romania is not anxious for its citizens to emigrate but it nevertheless recognizes the need, on humanitarian grounds, for families to reunite.

"There is sympathy for the Romanian position," a U.S. official said. "The United States has no interest in Romanians emigrating wholesale."

The Romanian government readily admits it can take up to a year for approval of an exit visa. It gives the reason as bureaucratic paperwork.

"Of course, we don't have an official policy of encouraging people to leave," one official said. "We have a lot of jobs open and we don't have enough labor to fill all the posts."

Romania's labor force is six million out of a population of 20 million. There is no unemployment, according to the government.

The government balks, the officials said, when there are no humanitarian grounds for leaving the country. Yet Rosen said every Romanian Jew is a member of a family divided, where the relatives are in Israel or the United States.

The officials gave the impression of differences in the definition of family reunification — that family to some may include distant cousins while for the government it means only the immediate family.

The Arabs have attempted to put pressure on Romania to halt the emigration of Jews to Israel, a Romanian source said, "but we have resisted such pressure, as we always have." Romania is the only Soviet bloc country that maintains diplomatic relations with Israel.

Rosen appeared to have summed up the Jewish position in Romania when he said, "This is not paradise, but it is not hell."

Recipient Of Fellowship

BRUCE FIELD

Bruce E. Field of Newport News, Va., a graduate student in history, has been named recipient of the 1976-77 Brewster Fellowship in the Department of History at East Carolina University.

The Brewster award, carrying a $1,000 stipend, is the highest recognition of scholarship in the ECU Department of History. Recipients are chosen by a committee which decides on the basis of proven scholarship and potential.

The fellowship was established in 1972 by Dr. Lawrence F. Brewster, retired ECU professor of history.

Field is a summa cum laude graduate of East Carolina University, receiving his BA degree in 1975. He began graduate study this fall working toward an MA degree in the field of American history.

The recipient will be honored and will present a paper at formal ceremonies later in the year, according to Dr. Herbert Paschal, chairman, and Dr. Joseph F. Steelman, director of graduate studies for the department.
