WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Jimmy Carter's long, once-solitary journey from Plains, Ga., will carry him to the White House in January with a victory forged from the traditional Democratic party coalition of the Old South and industrial North.

Carter was declared the victor over President Gerald Ford early today when his electoral vote total reached 272, two more than the 270 needed for election. Wisconsin was the state that put Carter over the top.

The latest returns showed Carter carrying 23 states with 272 electoral votes. Ford carried 24 states with 186 electoral votes.

The popular vote totals from 90 per cent of the nation's precincts gave Carter 36,505,737 and Ford 34,519,511. "I pray that I can live up to your confidence and never disappoint you," Carter told jubilant supporters in Atlanta after the results were clear. "It's time for us to get together, to correct our mistakes, to answer difficult questions and to make our nation great."

Carter praised Ford as "the most formidable opponent that anyone could possibly have." And he called his defeated opponent "a good and decent man."

Neither Ford, the first incumbent denied a new term since Herbert Hoover was swept from office in 1932, nor his running mate, Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas, appeared at a Republican "victory party" in Washington.

A White House spokesman said Ford had gone to bed before Carter was declared the winner.

Voters' desires for a change in Washington overcame their qualms about Jimmy Carter and their respect for Ford's experience in office, an Associated Press poll showed.

Carter won by coaxed support from the traditional Democratic bloc, despite their feelings, expressed in the survey, that he has promised more than he can deliver and that he will be a less than excellent president.

The former Georgia governor drew strong support from the lower income groups, labor union members, blacks and the less educated, all the traditional bases of Democratic strength.

Thus, on Jan. 20, 1977, James Earl Carter Jr. will take the oath as the 39th president of the United States. Taking office as vice president will be Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota, a man who once toyed with the idea of running for president himself, but then decidated against putting himself through the rigors of a national campaign.

Carter will be the first deep Southerner to reach the presidency by election since Zachary Taylor in 1848.

And after eight years of Republican control of the White House, the Democrats once again will be in command of both the executive and legislative branches of government.

Democratic domination of the House and Senate was unchanged by Tuesday's election results. Although the party lineup in the Senate will be familiar, a lot of the faces will be new. At least 16 newcomers will take Senate seats in January.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford conceded defeat today to Jimmy Carter in the 1976 presidential race.

Battling for an electoral mandate to the office he reached by appointment, Ford was unable to survive the tide of Democratic votes that flowed from the Old South and the industrial North.

The strength Ford hoped he might have among the dominant conservatives in the South never materialized. Carter's appeal to Southerners to support one of their own was too much for Ford to overcome.

The Southern trend was apparent in the early returns Tuesday evening. In rapid succession, Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas fell into the Carter column.

The death of Ford's hopes for a Southern breakthrough became apparent when Carter carried Louisiana, Florida and Texas, three states Ford strategists thought the President could carry. It was nearly dawn when Mississippi went to Carter, completing the Georgian's near sweep of the states of the Old Confederacy. Only Virginia voted for Ford.

Pitt Voters Give Democrats Major Share Of Ballots

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer
Pitt County voters turned out in large numbers yesterday to give Democrat candidates the majority in the totals columns when the ballots were tabulated.

Although unofficial, 68.5 per cent of the 31,110 registered voters in the county cast ballots in yesterday's election, based on the fact that there were 21,304 ballots cast in the presidential race.

Pitt gave presidential hopeful Jimmy Carter 11,636 votes or 54.6 per cent while casting 9,532 ballots for incumbent Gerald Ford, for 44.7 per cent. The other three candidates polled only .7 of a percent of the ballots.

The Carter-Ford race in Greenville was a slightly different story, however.

In the nine Greenville precincts, Ford was the winner, gathering 4,864 ballots or 50.1 per cent of the vote to Carter's 4,794 ballots or 49.4 per cent.

Only 49 ballots or 1/2 per cent of the votes were cast in Greenville for the three other candidates, in the presidential race.

In the race for Governor, Pitt voters gave Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt a decisive majority. Democrat Hunt took 15,421 ballots or 73.6 per cent of the votes cast in the race.

Republican David Flaherty received only 5,356 votes for a 25.6 percentage figure, while American Party candidate Chub Seawell received only 105 votes in Pitt.

In the race for lieutenant governor, Democrat Jimmy Green received 74.3 per cent of the Pitt vote—14,617 as opposed to 4,960 votes—25.2 per cent—for Republican Bill Hiatt. American party hopeful Arlis Pettyjohn received only 92 votes.

Voters in the county helped send all incumbent Council of State members back to their posts—Secretary of State Thad Eure, Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Gaham, State Auditor Henry Bridges, Attorney General Rufus Edmisten, Commissioner of Insurance John Ingram, and Superintendent of Public Instruction Craig Phillips—all with more than a 60-per cent to 40-per cent edge.

County voters also went with the rest of the state in voting for Harlan Boyles for the State Auditor's post, and John Brooks—a Greenville native—for the post of Commissioner of Labor.

Boyles will replace Auditor Henry Bridges who did not seek re-election.

In Pitt, Brooks took 13,081 votes for 66.1 per cent of the ballots in his bid against incumbent Republican Avery Nye. Nye took 6,647 ballots for 33.6 per cent.

Tabulation Of Pitt County Votes To Be Found On Page 8

American Party candidate Robert Bennett received 71 votes in Pitt for Commissioner of Labor.

State-wide, with 93.73 per cent of the precincts reporting, Brooks had 58 per cent of the vote to Nye's 41 per cent.

First District Congressman Walter Jones took 74.2 per cent of the vote in Pitt. His Republican opponent, Dr. Joe Ward of Greenville received 23.7 per cent of the Pitt vote.

District-wide, Jones with 264 of the 290 precincts reporting—had 76.7 per cent of the votes with Ward trailing with only 21.7 per cent of the vote. American Party hopeful Michael Parker of Kinston had 1.6 per cent of the ballots.

In a three-way race for the two seats in the North Carolina State Senate from the Sixth District—Pitt, Martin, Edgecombe and Halifax Counties—incumbent Democrats Vernon White and Julian Allsbrook won re-election. Allsbrook polled 42,976 votes district-wide to White's 42,275 votes. Republican opponent George Grayiel took only 7,203 votes in the district.

Pitt voters gave White 16,876 votes, Allsbrook 16,616 votes and Grayiel 2,935.

With no Republican opposition, North Carolina House of Representative incumbents Sam Bundy and Horton Rountree—representing the Pitt-Greene County district—were re-elected. Bundy took 17,587 votes in Pitt and 3,716 in Greene while Rountree polled 16,708 ballots in Pitt and 3,533 in Greene.

Farmville Board Okays Project Parking Chore

By CAROL TYER

FARMVILLE — Farmville Commissioners last night approved the marking off of parking places in the Pine Grove Apartments public housing project.

They said details and expenses could be handled by the Farmville Housing Authority. M. O. Hall made the presentation, saying that there has been considerable dissension among residents of the apartments over parking places.

M. V. Horton, a Farmville native who is now a Tarboro attorney, appeared asking for the Board's consideration of helping with the expense of water and sewer installation in the shopping center he is developing just outside Farmville on Fields Street extension. The Board turned the matter over to the Water and Lights Committee for consideration.

Also tabled was consideration of whether the number of members on various Commissioners' committees should be reduced. Commissioner Jack Farrior said he believes that having three and four on some committees constitutes a majority of the five-person board and makes Board action on committee reports often foregone conclusions. Mayor W. E. Joyner said he is in favor of leaving the committees as they are until the end of this administration. It was also pointed out that although the mayor has traditionally appointed committees, the town charter states that the commissioners should make such appointments.

Approved was the leasing of a Xerox copying machine for the administrative office. The cost will be approximately $145 a month, the administrator reported.

Also approved was the final payment to Lane Atlantic Wells in the amount of $14,247.72, less the company's indebtedness to the town for electricity in the amount of $4,517.65.

As the meeting was adjourned, the Board voted to go into executive session in the administrative office across the street from the courtroom where the public meeting is held. Executive session means the commissioners close their meeting to the public. By law this can be done only on personnel and acquisition and disposal of property matters.

Town Administrator W. A. Martin was asked this morning what was taken up in the session, but he declined to answer, saying he had been asked by the Commissioners not to.

Mixed Emotions Over Outcome Of Elections

By SUSAN QUINN
Reflector Staff Writer
Citizens viewed the presidential and gubernatorial elections with mixed emotions Wednesday morning in Greenville. Of 13 persons interviewed, 10 were generally displeased with the results in the elections and three were pleased with the returns.

"I was very disappointed in the presidential election and very pleased with the governor's race. I think that Jim Hunt is an all around good person for the job," Edith Holley of Greenville said.

"I thought that the returns were fantastic. I am a Carter supporter and think that we need a president from the South. I am a federal employe and have been disappointed in the way that Ford has used federal employes as an example of economic fiscal restraint and I hope that Carter will give federal employes a better shake," Allen Jones said.

"I hope that it will work out nicely. I was not overly enthusiastic about Carter. I just hope it works," Mrs. Sam Underwood, Jr. said.

"The gubernatorial race returns were just as expected. My man for president didn't win, but I don't think that there is that much difference between the two men (Carter and Ford)," Baxter Richardson of Greenville said.

"I was disappointed in the returns. I am a registered with 1,049,700 votes or 65 per cent, compared with 547,559 votes or 35 for Flaherty. Green, with 95 per cent of the precincts counted, had 970,150 votes or 66 per cent, compared with Hiatt's 487,803 votes or 33 per cent. American Party candidate

Arlis Pettyjohn had less than one per cent.

Because the returns in his race were not counted as quickly, it was late before Green's victory was certain. Hiatt, however, still wouldn't concede as dawn approached and Green continued a 2-1 lead with few precincts left to report.

"The economy here has been the biggest issue across the state. The taxpayers want their money spent more wisely. As speaker, I showed that I would do that," Green said to explain his win.

Cox Asks Support On Bond Requests

By SUSAN QUINN
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville City School Supt. Glenn Cox asked the Pitt County Board of Education to join the Greenville City School Board in requesting the Pitt County Commissioners to call for a $12 million bond issue Tuesday.

"My intent in being here today is to reaffirm our interest in the bond issue and make myself open for any questions. I would also like to ask you to act on this matter," Supt. Cox said.

Asked about the timing of the proposed bond issue, Cox replied that the number one priority of construction needs that the bond issue would fund is the middle school which is scheduled to open in January, 1978.

The board of education decided to continue to discuss the bond issue and no action was taken.

Rev. Charles Gamel requested that the board remove the book entitled "Love Story" from the North Pitt High School media center. An earlier appeal by Rev. Gamel to the Media Committee at North Pitt resulted in the book being placed on a special shelf which would be unavailable to the students except with parental permission.

"I think that this book is a bad book for an adult and more especially for a young person. My daughter was asked by her English teacher to read a book and report on it. She brought this book home and showed it to her mother as she does with all material that she reads. Her mother disapproved of the book and then we protested to the principal," he said.

The Media Committee decided that the book should stay on the shelf, but the media director placed it on the reserve shelf. The Rev. Bobby Basden also told the board that he disagreed with having the book available for the students to read. Basden said that he plans to return to the board next month and present a statement from concerned citizens.

Board members scanned pages of the book and voted to not act on the banning of the book from the media center.

Associate Supt. Tom Craft presented a list of suggested capital outlay projects for the board's consideration. At the October meeting of the board, Craft was asked to make a list of capital outlay projects that could be implemented with funds from the sale of the old Farmville Middle School.

The list included the following: moving the fence and the bleachers at Farmville Central, $10,000; bleachers and storage at Farmville Middle School, $20,000; bleachers and storage at Wellcome Middle School, $20,000; additional media furniture at Falkland, $4,000; Chicod, $2,000 and G. R. Whitfield, $2,000; A-V equipment at Wellcome Middle School $5,000; A-V equipment incentive program $7,000; science equipment incentive program at each middle school $10,000; a (Continued on page 15)

 Voters in six states turned back attempts to restrict nuclear power plants; Massachusetts said no to controls on handguns; but New Jersey voted to make Atlantic City the "Las Vegas of the East."

Those were some of the results Tuesday in state ballot propositions with national implications.

In Massachusetts, voters turned down by a 3 to 1 margin a proposal to ban the sale of handguns. It was the first measure of its kind ever to go on a state ballot.

New Jersey, where two years ago voters turned down a measure to allow casino gambling if communities wanted it, voted to allow it in Atlantic City, the decaying coast resort. Civic leaders there had been seeking the go-ahead for years in an effort to make the city into a gambling center.

But Delaware, adjoining New Jersey to the South, rejected a proposition that would have permitted slot machine gambling. The state has had betting this fall on professional football with less financial success than expected.

The rejection of proposals to control nuclear development by imposing strict safety standards on any atomic plants followed the failure of a similar proposal in California last spring.

The measures were voted down by margins of nearly 2 to 1 in Ohio, Montana, Washington, Arizona and Colorado. Oregon voters turned back the proposal 60 per cent to 40 per cent.

There were also proposals on several state ballots to ban throwaway beverage bottles and cans.

In Michigan, a throwaway ban passed by nearly 2 to 1. In Maine, it won by about 3 to 2. In Colorado, it was defeated about 2 to 1.

A throwaway measure in Massachusetts trailed by about 2,000 votes out of more than 500,000 cast, with one-fourth of the precincts reporting.

Colorado voters also rejected by a 3 to 1 margin a constitutional amendment that would have required a majority of registered voters to approve any new tax measures. Officials had warned that the amendment would make new taxes virtually impossible and require voter approval of such things as golf course fees and school lunch tickets.

Arkansas voters rejected a move to change the right-to-work law by a margin of almost 2 to 1. The amendment would have let management and labor at any local business set aside the provisions of the right-to-work law at that business.

In Oklahoma, voters turned down an amendment that would have permitted the sale of liquor by the drink.

Made Fortune In Pet Rocks

LOS GATOS, Calif. (AP) — The Pet Rock, the superstar of the 1975 gift-giving season, made a lot of money for Gary Dahl, its creator — an estimated $4 million.

Dahl says he still has a few Pet Rocks lying around and that he might use them to pave his driveway here, headquarters for him and his Rock Bottom Productions.

The Pet Rock, Dahl said, was inspired by all those disobedient, destructive and dirty run-of-the-mill pets, like dogs, cats and birds. Rocks are relaxed, clean and they don't bark.

He said he's putting a piece of his Pet Rock proceeds into a saloon.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Mild temperatures are due today for the Pacific Coast and the Rockies but most of the country is expected to be cold. Snow or snow flurries are forecast for the Great Lakes and Midwest. Rain is scheduled for the Pacific Northwest and showers in Georgia and Florida. (AP Wirephoto Map)

 The good weather which drew voters to the polls in throngs Tuesday continued in North Carolina today.

Skies were partly cloudy, with no chance of rain and little temperature change. Highs were from the upper 50s to the mid 60s, except mostly 50s in the mountains. The overnight lows will range from the freezing 20s in the mountains to the 30s elsewhere. An exception will be the coast, where it won't get colder than the 40s.

It got down below freezing in western counties early this morning.

A cold front will move through the state tonight, but it will be dry.

Winds were from the south to southwest today at around 10 miles an hour. They will become northwesterly 10 to 15 miles an hour tonight and continue into Thursday. The weather was fine Tuesday, election day, sunny and not uncomfortably cold. High temperatures were mostly in the mid 50s. The warmest was 59 degrees at Wilmington.

No One Injured In Derailment

KINGSFORT, Tenn. (AP) — A Clinchfield Railroad freight train derailed near Kingsport early today. A railroad official said 23 train cars went off the tracks, but said there were no injuries.

Charlie Wright, the railroad's Kingsport yardmaster, said the cause of the accident was not known. He said the accident was being investigated.

As many as 10 railroad cars were believed damaged in the wreck. Wright said the site will probably not be cleaned up until Thursday.

Foster Mother's Letter Is A Powerful Testimony

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-H. V. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this letter hoping that your millions of readers (parents and teenagers) will read it. We are foster parents who care for infants who are born out of wedlock and need homes until their adoptions go through.

Now we have a beautiful 4-week-old girl whose mother changed her mind, hastily married the baby's father and decided to keep her baby. Both the mother and father are 15 years of age.

The girl's parents are very much against her daughter's decision, so these 15-year-olds are getting an apartment and joining the welfare rolls.

Yesterday I met the young parents and was heartsick. They sat there giggling the whole time they visited their baby.

I wanted so much to say, "If you really love this little girl, you will do what is best for her. Please let some nice, mature couple adopt her and give her the many advantages you can't offer her."

Instead, I sat there feeling sorry for the child who was going to be raised by parents who were only children themselves.

I pray that you will remind teenagers to think twice before having a sexual relationship—at least until they are old enough to accept the consequences.

HEARTBROKEN FOSTER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your letter is a powerful testimony to the aims and purposes of Planned Parenthood. Most accidental pregnancies carry with them the seeds of human tragedy. Sexually active people (especially youngsters) need to realize this. Legalized abortion is a sad substitute for birth control or self-control.

DEAR ABBY: I have always considered myself a very fair-minded person and have tried to look at things from all points of view, but this has me stumped.

I have a 16-year-old daughter I'll call Barbie. Well, Barbie believes that it's everyone's right to do as he pleases as long as it doesn't hurt anybody and there is no law against it. This includes going braless, and that's what Barbie does.

She's a nice-looking girl, but she's "top-heavy." Her teacher has called me three times to tell me that if I keep letting Barbie come to school without a bra, she will be expelled.

Abby, do you know any 16-year-old high school girl who lets her mother dress her? Neither do I, and that's my problem. She's a good student and I've never had any trouble with her until now.

Can you help me?

BARBIE'S TROUBLED MOM

DEAR MOM: Does the school have a dress code? If it does, and a bra is required, Barbie could be out of bounds in more ways than one. If there is no dress code, the complaining teacher is guilty of making threats she can't carry out, and SHE is out of bounds. Call the high school principal and get the facts.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 36-year-old whose husband left me for a younger woman. I cried my heart out, then I met a young man I could really relate to. We fell in love, and now we have a beautiful relationship unlike anything I've ever known. This last year has been the happiest in my entire life!

The problem: He is only 23. Abby, is it possible for two people who love each other to overcome such a big difference in age? He's older in the head and I look younger in the face, so we look fine together. I have two sons, 11 and 13.

ON CLOUDS IN CHICAGO

DEAR ON: Ride those clouds a little longer before you make any permanent decisions. If it's the real thing, it will last. If everything else works, the age difference is unimportant.

By RUTH YOUNGBLOOD
MANILA (UPI) — Filipinos are probably the most musical people in Asia but they have for the most part ignored an instrument that is part of their own heritage — the bamboo organ, considered unique in all the world.

A woman in Manila is trying to correct that situation by placing the matter in the hands of the country's most valuable resource, the young.

The Las Pinas Church in the province of Rizal on the outskirts of Manila is filled daily with the strains of Bach and Mozart from one such 150-year-old bamboo organ.

Instead of a renowned musician on the bench, a child practices the pieces of the masters in preparation for the day when he or she may become the church's official organist.

As 10-year-old Armando Salarza played a fugue, Donna Ofrasio, the current organist and a leading exponent of the instrument, explained the necessity of training young prodigies. Miss Ofrasio hopes at least one of them will want the job permanently when he or she reaches the age of choosing a profession.

Miss Ofrasio said the prospect of the historic organ being plunged into silence is unthinkable, in light of its unusual origin.

Father Diego Cerra came to the Philippines in 1794. Finding none of the materials normally used in organ construction, Cerra had to make do with what was available, bamboo.

"In addition to being a Spanish priest, he was also a scientist," Miss Ofrasio said, "and worked on the organ from 1816 until 1824."

He built the organ with hundreds of pieces of bamboo, 122 metal trumpets imported from Spain and a metal container filled with water that Cerra devised to reverberate in imitation of the sounds of birds.

Miss Ofrasio, offered her position after the last organist left, said, "With the rapid turnover of organists retiring or going to other jobs in recent years, church officials realized the day could come when there would be no one trained to play. The answer is to prepare for the future by finding children enthusiastic and ambitious enough to tackle the instrument."

Two boys and a girl who have shown unusual interest and skill with the piano are studying under Miss Ofrasio. She is also a piano teacher.

The young, dark haired Armando played after only three months of training, occasionally mixing the rich organ tones with the device that creates the sounds of fluttering and chirping birds of the Philippine countryside. Regular churchgoers prayed as usual, accustomed to a youngster turning out the music written by geniuses. Tourists watched in disbelief.

"While I play for the Sunday services, we encourage the children to play for visitors during the week so they will become used to audiences," said Miss Ofrasio.

Climbing down the narrow steps leading to the balcony that overlooks the organ, Armando smiled shyly as foreigners praised his practice session.

"You see, it's really not too hard," he said. "I took piano lessons for years."

Armando and the other children come after school on different days. Missing considerable amounts of play time does not bother Armando a bit. "I do my homework, too," he said.

Miss Ofrasio is delighted with Armando and the enthusiasm of the others. But she said she is realistic enough to know that the novelty may wane and the children are under no obligation to become organists.

Then she added wistfully: "I hope at least one of them will."

Electrical Program Names Woman From Edgecombe

RALEIGH — Alice Edmondson Wilson of Tarboro is one of 10 women in the nation recently elected to the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association's Women's Action Standing Committee.

Active in many civic and political programs in Edgecombe County, Mrs. Wilson has been a member of the Edgecombe-Martin County Electric Membership Corporation's (EMC) Women's Committee for the past eight years. She served as chairman of the state's rural electric women's program from 1973-1976.

The committee is one of 13 groups of EMC consumer-members which sets NRECA policies and programs annually.

Mrs. Wilson will work as a liaison between NRECA and EMC members in nine mid-Atlantic states, including North Carolina, and help formulate national plans and policies for women's programs and consumer projects within the rural electric system.

Most young people want their jeans to look worn. To achieve the "worn look", try the following techniques.

Bleaching: Fill a tub with enough warm water to cover the jeans. (Try approximately eight inches). Pour between a half-quart to a half-gallon of chlorine bleach into the water.

Turn often. After one-half hour, begin checking for let-down in color. When you have the desired color, remove from bleaching solution. Hang to dry without folding to avoid color-collection in one spot. (Remember, a wet fabric always looks darker than a dry one).

Follow by washing the garment in the machine, using a fabric softener to remove the sting bleach smell. "Filing": To give jeans a well worn appearance, rub the knees, pocket edges, seat and crotch area with fine emery board or sandpaper. Be careful not to abrade a hole in the fabric, though.

Filling In Some Highway Links

North Carolina is at long last filling in some critical links in its interstate highway system. Last week a section of Interstate 26 between Tryon and Saluda was opened to traffic with a ribbon cutting by Gov. Holshouser.

was missing. Within the foreseeable future the last portion of I-95 through North Carolina will be completed and it will form an adequate route from the Virginia line to South Carolina.

The interstate system of highways has proven its worth to a state with as dispersed a population as North Carolina has. We should be completing the system already authorized and attempting to obtain some interstate links which were left out when the original planning was done.

Greenville Hosted Distinguished Group

A distinguished group visited our city last week when the "Tenth Annual Production Panel" of Burroughs Wellcome Co. was conducted here. The 21 participants included plant and production managers from the United Kingdom, France, Belgium, Spain, Italy, Germany, South Africa, Australia, Canada, Brazil, and Mexico.

The participants got a look at the largest and newest production facility of Burroughs Wellcome in the local plant. We are pleased that these pharmaceutical manufacturing executives were able to visit Greenville and the local Burroughs Wellcome manufacturing plant.

Paperwork: Zero Growth?

By BILL NOBLITT (Second of Two Articles) RALEIGH — Ideally, state government would reach a point of stability in the growth of paperwork: records would be destroyed or transferred into the storage vault at about the same rate that new records are created.

floorspace it takes up costs about $30.

The state vault can store records in boxes on steel shelves for $1.47 per cubic foot.

So far, the Records Center has about half of the stuff it ought to have in storage. Why the delay? Some agency people simply don't know about the system; some resist it; and some operate under the bureaucratic tradition of keeping everything on hand in case trouble comes up somewhere down the road.

And to some people, Youngquist and his crew are "The Huns." They're out to destroy valuable historical documents which some day may be worth a mint, or material for a book. That isn't so, he says. Every record is carefully appraised for future historical value, and if considered of such use, transferred to underground storage in the vaults of Archives and History.

Aside from storage, Youngquist wears the hat of records management, and much time is spent with staff developing records systems and trying to sell modern approaches to the various state agencies.

"What we seek is a system to standardize state governmental files—a master filing system index, checkout procedure, paper size and weight, filing folders, and so on," Youngquist said.

Records Center staff people regularly visit other state agencies selling this approach and lining up records management training seminars to spread the technique.

Color Code The overall system (which Youngquist hopes will also be spread to county and municipal governments across the state) calls for color coding: red for financial; blue for legal; green for operating and program; yellow for personnel; manila for legislative.

Guidelines spell out items to be kept, transferred and destroyed on specific schedules; the director's personal speech file and news clippings, for example, may be destroyed without further ado after three years—despite the chief's insistence on future historical value.

His staff, says, Youngquist, works with a "sense of history based on training as archivists; and as auditors to help catalog and bring under control the agency records. The aid is available to all agencies if wanted. A shortcoming is, though, that participation is voluntary and some do not choose to adopt the system.

Public access to the storage vault comes through the various agencies, with staff able to retrieve and deliver to the requesting agency most items in a matter of minutes, even from the thousands of boxes lining the shelves.

The Department of Transportation leads in both total volume of paperwork on hand, and in new records created last year: a total of 58,769 cubic feet, with 15,364 cubic feet created last year. Human Resources has 49,478 cubic feet; then comes Revenue, Commerce, and Public Instruction with volumes around 16,000 cubic feet.

The smallest department is the Court of Appeals with a total of 80 cubic feet; only 10 cubic feet of new materials generated last year.

The Work Ethic, 1976

WASHINGTON — One of the big issues of the presidential campaign has been unemployment. We've had so many different figures on who is out of work and who isn't, that nobody knows what to believe any more. One of the reasons we can't get hard figures on unemployment is that there is a certain segment of the population that isn't sure whether it wants to work or not.

son Robert is screwing up the unemployment statistics because some days he wants to work and other days he doesn't. "This morning I went into Robert's room," Clancy said, "and he was sacked out after arriving home at four in the morning. I shook him and asked him if he was going to look for work today. He said he might in the afternoon. I told him most jobs advertised in the newspapers were taken by afternoon, and that if he was serious about wanting a job he had to get up early in the morning to find one. Was I being unreasonable?" I told Clancy I didn't think so. My friend said, "The problem seems to be that Robert isn't certain he wants a job. He claims that most of the jobs being offered are not very interesting and require you to do things you weren't trained to do." "What is Robert trained to do?" "Nothing," Clancy said. "He has three years of college and majored in

40 Years Ago Today

November 3, 1936 Amid increasing portents of a record-shattering vote, the nation today scanned the mixed trends of early returns from the hardfought Roosevelt versus Landon election contest.

Running according to pre-balloting forecasts, Franklin D. Roosevelt piled up a mousing lead in the solid South. In New England Alf M. Landon held on to a margin of two score votes, all of them cast and counted since breakfast time.

In other sections there was seasawing, with the Democratic nominee most frequently ahead on the basis of scattered returns that installed only fractions of the 45 million figure credited by some as the possible 1936 vote total.

In Landon's home state of Kansas, an incomplete vote from 126 precincts out of 2,690 gave Roosevelt 2,715 to 2,133 for the Republican nominee.

In West Virginia, incomplete returns from 30 of Huntington's precincts gave the Democratic standard bearer 1,936 votes against 1,176 for Landon.

Few reports of disorders at the polls were heard across the nation up to mid-afternoon. In one of the few instances an election officer was shot and critically wounded at McRoberts in the eastern Kentucky mountains.

LIGHT of HISTORY

Cannon Boomed Too Soon

By DR. H. G. JONES, Curator North Carolina Collection Written for the AP CHAPEL HILL (AP) — On the day after the general election 100 years ago, Americans thought that Samuel J. Tilden had been chosen president of the United States.

The statement was prophetic, for Tilden was one electoral vote short of a majority, and though the Democrats held substantial leads in Florida, South Carolina, and Louisiana, the Republicans sought to challenge those results. The presence of federal troops in those states was ominous. Under the constitution the electoral votes would be counted by the Congress of the United States, but the Senate was controlled by Republicans and the House by Democrats. Which branch would do the counting?

While a war of words raged between the two houses and the two parties over the votes of the three southern states, the governor of Oregon threw a new fly into the ointment. He substituted a Democrat for a Republican elector, thus apparently assuring Tilden the one additional vote he needed for a majority.

This trick, however, did not work, for even many Democrats rejected the illegal maneuver. Finally, after weeks of haggling, Congress agreed to establish an Electoral Commission composed of five members of each house of Congress and four Supreme Court justices, evenly divided by parties, and one additional member—an independent Supreme Court justice, David Davis.

Before the commission could begin its work in earnest, Republicans who suspected Davis of being a heart Democrat engineered his appointment to the U.S. Senate. His place on the commission was taken by a Republican justice, Joseph P. Bradley.

Though the "corrupt bargain" was condemned by Democratic newspapers, it was abundantly clear that Democrats in the South had agreed to allow the seating of Rutherford B. Hayes in return for three assurances: the appropriation of funds for southern improvements, the appointment of a southerner to the cabinet, and the withdrawal of federal troops from the remaining southern states.

President Hayes, taking the oath of office privately the day after his certification, quickly carried out all three parts of the agreement. Tilden returned to his New York home with this comment: "I can retire to private life with the consciousness that I shall receive from posterity the credit of having been elected to the highest position in the gift of the people, without any of the cares and responsibilities of the office."

The campaign in North Carolina, which gave Tilden a 17,000 vote majority, was particularly bitter. The Democrats called themselves "Conservatives" and referred to the Republicans as "Radicals" or as the "negro party." Interestingly, counties with heaviest Democratic majorities were those in the far west. Swain, for instance, gave Tilden a ten-to-one margin. On the other hand, eastern counties which are in

To the editor: As a member of the Pitt County Red Cross Blood Committee, I worked the entire time on the campus at East Carolina University during the Bloodmobile a few days ago.

I want to publicly thank those 960 students who gave so willingly of their time and themselves in donating a pint of their blood. It was a true pleasure meeting and working with such a fine group of people. It takes courage plus a concern for others to have a successful bloodmobile visit. Both of these you gave in abundance. You were polite, well-mannered and made us more aware that young people are dedicated workers for a worthy project.

Not all of you who came were successful. 106 people were deferred for various reasons. Your concern was there and that's very important. Hope you will try to give at our next bloodmobile on the campus in the spring.

Thanks again for your gift of love. It is one of the most private and personal gifts that one can give to mankind.

Mrs. Sue Smith Co-Chairman Blood Committee Pitt County Red Cross

To the editor: Today I attended the funeral of a nice young man whose life was taken from him last Saturday night by a train which had no warning lights at the railroad crossing on Fourteenth Street Extension.

The question comes to mind — how many people have to lose their lives in order for these crossings to be corrected? Not only is this railroad crossing dangerous, but several others in town and in the county are, also. Before you can see your way clear on most, you already on the tracks.

I think it is time for someone to take action on this matter. The death of this loved one and many more will never be forgotten.

Same Task For New President

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — The President of the United States during the next four years must continue to deal with grievous price problems involving the basic needs of food, shelter and health. His work is cut out for him.

The most encouraging view of the challenge is that at least a start has been made; for the extraordinary peak of 12 per cent in the midst of recession, inflation has dropped to between 5 and 6 per cent today.

But even as the rate came down, the economic landscape has remained pitted and pocked with mines yet to be defused. There is the chance of higher oil prices. There is the potential for shortages. There are special inflationary problems involving housing, medical care and ecology.

There remains also the memory of the experience, and that too tends to be inflationary, threatening to swell demand in certain areas when fears arise that prices are likely to be higher in the future.

Though they experienced them, many families are still awed to realize that fish costs 75 per cent more today than five years ago, that food overall has risen 53 per cent, and that prices in general have soared 41 per cent.

And that medical care has risen 44 per cent in those five years, fuel oil more than 100 per cent, transportation 40 per cent, automobile insurance 30 per cent, used car prices 52 per cent....

One of the most encouraging developments, points out Fabian Linden of the Conference Board, which compiled these percentages, is that food prices over the past 12 months have risen barely at all. But can it continue? The high jobless rate meanwhile has proved to be far more stubborn than expected, a situation that chauvinistically has been attributed to women. It is the growing number of women entering the workforce that causes the problem, we are told. The man who has newly taken a job knows the matter is more complex than that. Life style is changing, and many families now depend upon two incomes and, in growing numbers, on more than two incomes.

The outlook of women also is changing, and the country now has the opportunity to utilize the services and skills of many females who heretofore hid their talents in often rewarding but sometimes menial household work. The opportunity to benefit from these newly released skills is erroneously viewed

Strength For Today

WHY GO TO CHURCH? Most people at one time or another wonder about the value of church-going. "Why should I go to church?" they ask. "Is it not possible for me to worship God anywhere I happen to be? Some of the best people I know never go to church at all, and some of the worst people I know are waiting every Sunday morning for the doors of the church to open."

Sabbath is given to us as a day on which we appear at a certain hallow place to honor the God who made us. We shall probably be helped by what we hear there, by the people we meet, by the emotions that are aroused within us. But all this is secondary. We are there first of all to honor God.

We can honor God anywhere we happen to be, but if we do not have enough interest in the church to worship Him there, the chances are we will not worship Him on the beach or golf course.

Industrial Service Representatives Can Aid Employer

Technical Services for Employers, also known as industrial services, are available to employers, unions, educational and training institutions, government agencies, and community groups from the Greenville office of the N. C. Employment Security Commission.

Industrial Services representatives assist employers with manpower problems related to recruiting, selecting, stabilizing, utilizing, and developing their work forces. The area in which most assistance is provided is that of personnel turnover and absenteeism. Assistance may be in the form of turnover analysis, employee opinion surveys, or advice on control of absenteeism.

Another part of industrial services is labor market information. The N.C. Employment Security Commission publishes a report of "Active Job Applicants Registered for Work with Employment Security Commission Officers." This quarterly report shows by county of residence the available labor supply and indicates the number of applicants with substantial work experience and those with limited or no work experience.

Also state and regional wage and fringe benefit surveys for selected production occupations in North Carolina firms are published. Area surveys will be conducted if desired by local establishments.

Other services such as physical demands and working conditions analysis, staffing schedules, skills inventories, and occupational testing are available. For more information about Industrial Services, contact the Employment Security Commission Job Service, telephone 756-2686, office for the name of the Industrial Services Representative who services your area. Specialists are stationed at strategic locations about the State.

Order Dolly To Stop Singing

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Dolly Parton, named top female vocalist by the Country Music Association for the second straight year this year, has a severe throat condition and has been forbidden to sing for the rest of the year, her record company says.

Miss Parton, 30, has canceled all concert appearances until next year. RCA records said Tuesday. The company said her physician recommended that she cancel her appearances and advised her to talk only when necessary for the next two weeks.

A spokesman for her booking agency, Top Billing, said she will miss about 25 concerts. Earlier this year, Miss Parton was forced to cancel appearances between mid-June and Oct. 1 because of exhaustion.

Both builders and customers complain in unison that prices are too high, but all the creativity and innovative instincts of both may have failed to resolve the difficulty.

The single-family house on its own, suburban lot remains an elusive goal for millions of Americans. Meanwhile, structurally sound urban housing is abandoned.

The health care debate revolves around the question of how to pay the rising bills, through private insurance mainly, or through some sort of master plan erected and supervised by the federal government.

But in health care, cost challenges quality in a unique way. We could, for example, continue to spend increasing amounts of money and perhaps never, ever, achieve total good health or anything approaching it. We are told we must accept something short of it, especially in care of the elderly.

As the head of the American Hospital Association said recently, Americans are face to face with a matter of life and death, and no amount of money will substitute for an answer.

With challenges like that, the President needs all the help he can get over the next four years.

labor statistics as being one of the seven million eight hundred thousand unemployed. It's correct that he isn't working, but if he isn't looking for a job I'm not certain that he isn't flying under false colors. There are so many sincere people trying to find jobs that it seems unfair to have someone like Robert lumped in with them. I guess there are thousands of kids like him who want to start at the top, so it's impossible for the Labor Department to know how many jobs they have to provide to make the economy strong again.

"Maybe Congress could pass a special bill for people like Robert. They could set aside 300 or 400 executive vice presidential positions that kids who dropped out of school could apply for," I suggested.

"It would be a solution," Clancy admitted, "providing the government was willing to interview them after two o'clock in the afternoon. You can't expect kids like Robert, with their educational backgrounds and upbringing, to start looking for work in the morning."

N.C. Voters Were Out In Record Numbers Tuesday

By SUSAN L. PRICE
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Stirred by the prospect of a close presidential race, North Carolina voters crammed into polling places in record numbers in Tuesday's general election.

"We knew that turnout in this election was going to be high," said Alex Brock, director of the State Board of Elections, "because we had more than 118,000 persons registering to vote in the 2½-month period between the August primary and the general election."

Brock said this morning approximately 1,655,000 persons cast ballots in the state.

Although the number of persons voting was a record, the percentage of registered voters voting — 63.4 per cent — was not.

The record for percentage is 76 per cent, recorded in 1968.

"You have to take into account, though, that our voter registration has increased a great deal since 1968," he said. "Registration then was 1,858,987... so the percentage could be less than the record, but we'd still have more voters casting ballots," Brock said.

The 118,000 new registrations between this year's primary and the general election was the largest for any 2½-month period in the state's history, Brock said.

That was the largest voter registration for any given 2½ month period in North Carolina.

"That indicated definite interest to us when the rest of the United States was talking about voter apathy. We were the only state predicting that kind of turnout until some forecasters upped their guesses to about 59 percent the day before the election," he said.

Brock said there have been no reports of irregularities or fraud, which is unusual in a presidential election year. "We've had a lot of calls about a multitude of problems, but we've had no reports of fraud," he said.

Total voter registration in North Carolina is 2.5 million.

Burke County reported a turnout of 76.2 percent, and Buncombe County — Asheville — had a heavy vote with 75.37 percent. Wake County also went above the state average with 71 percent.

Brock said he believed the Carter-Ford presidential race was the key to the turnout.

In the campaign's home stretch, Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt, the eventual winner of the governor's sweepstakes by a landslide, urged his supporters to turn out for the Carter ticket as well as his own.

Brock said, "When you are electing a president and governor in North Carolina, I don't think you could get less than 50 per cent turnout unless you sprayed sleeping gas all over the state."

In a couple of areas like Buncombe County, steaming congressional races helped build the total vote.

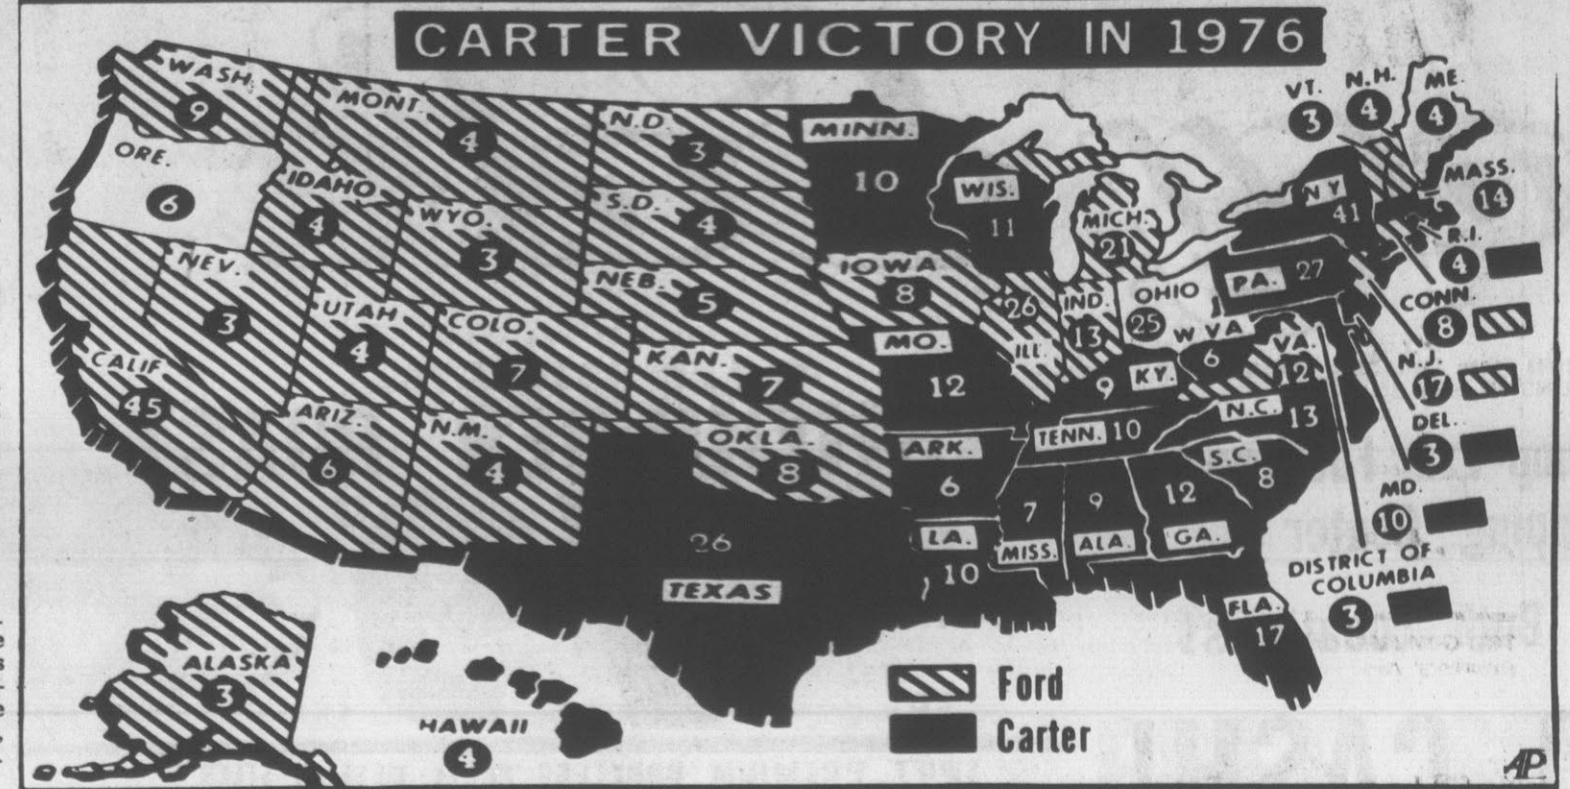

In Charlotte, precinct officials handed voters red stickers to wear on their lapels saying "I voted."

Across the state, many more than "just a tad," to use the vernacular, did just that.

Shakiest Area

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — The most earthquake prone area of New Mexico is the 75 miles between Albuquerque and Socorro in the central part of the state, geologist Dr. Stuart A. Northrop said.

Northrop said 76 per cent of the record earthquakes in New Mexico have been located in the Rio Grande rift.

ELECTORAL VOTE DISTRIBUTION — Jimmy Carter has been declared winner of Tuesday's presidential election with 272 electoral votes from 25 states; 270 are needed to win. President Gerald Ford has 231 electoral votes from 25 states. Three states were still undecided. Ford leads in Maine and Oregon and Carter is leading in Ohio. (AP Wirephoto Map)

THE GOVERNORS' RACES—This is how the governors' races shaped up in Tuesday's elections. Democrats won in nine states and Republicans won in five states. (AP Wirephoto)

Kay Currie To Head Campaign

Herbert Hollowell, President of Eastern Lung Association, has announced that Kay Currie of WITN-TV has accepted the Chairmanship of the 1976 Christmas Seal Campaign. Ms. Currie is the woman's director of WITN-TV in Washington, as well as the station's Hospitality House Hostess, Weatherwoman, and "Eyewitness" News reporter.

KAY CURRIE

Ms. Currie's proven leadership ability to guide our campaign this year. Now, more than ever before, we need the quality of leadership that Ms. Currie can provide to help bring about a completely successful campaign.

It was in 1907 that the idea was conceived of issuing each year an attractively designed stamp-size seal to be used on Christmas cards, letters and packages in the weeks preceding the Christmas season. Mailing of the traditional Christmas Seals, which is the principal means of raising funds for the fight against emphysema, asthma, and other respiratory diseases, are going out to the public now.

Accessorizing Demonstration

Accessorizing with Scarves will be demonstrated at 10 a.m. Friday, at the Agricultural Extension Service (beside Planters National Bank on Third Street). Mrs. Evelyn L. Spangler, home economics extension agent, will be the instructor.

The Pitt County Home Economics Division of the Coastal Plain Development Association is sponsoring this event. There is no charge and the public is invited to attend.

Preregister by calling 758-1196. Participants should take several scarves (including a square and a rectangular one) to experiment with.

Democrats Sweep All 8 Council Of State Offices

By WILLIAM M. WELCH
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — John Brooks denied incumbent Republican Labor Commissioner T. Avery Nye's bid for a first full term Tuesday and said Nye waged "a very negative campaign against me," as Democrats easily brushed the GOP aside for all eight Council of State seats in North Carolina.

"My opponent never came out with a program for the Department of Labor," Brooks said after claiming victory. "I was not happy with my opponent's campaign, but I guess most candidates probably aren't happy with their opponents' campaign."

Nye, who had hoped to counter history by becoming the first Republican to win election to the council in this century, fell victim to a Democratic sweep of the state. "We cleaned them out from the courthouse to the White House," bragged Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham as he roamed the halls of the Democrats' Hilton Hotel headquarters after winning his fourth term.

Nye had put up the strongest Republican fight for a council seat in memory, struggling to hang on to the post he had gained by appointment from Gov. Jim Holshouser, at the death of W. C. Creel, a Democrat.

Nye ran with the support of some Democratic businessmen, attracted by his promise to protect the state's right-to-work law which its opponents say has slowed unionism.

"I think the people understood that wasn't really an issue in the Department of Labor," Brooks said. "The same issue was used against other candidates... including Jimmy Carter. It was an emotional play used to scare."

Six of the Democratic Council winners were incumbents, and they were joined by Harlan Boyles, deputy state treasurer for 16 years, who won promotion to the treasurer's office.

Others were Atty. Gen. Rufus Edmisten, Insurance Commissioner John Ingram, Supt. of Public Instruction Craig Phillips, state auditor Henry L. Bridges, and Secretary of State Thad Eure, who won another four-year term after holding the office for 40 years.

Atty. Gen. Rufus Edmisten, whose victory over Republican Edward L. Powell, commissioner of motor vehicles in the Holshouser administration, gave him his first full, four-year term, said the economic issue was behind the Democratic sweep.

"I've tried to stand up for people that don't normally have a voice, the poor, the down-trodden and those who can't normally get someone to listen to them," Edmisten said. "I think that's what people said tonight, we've got too many have-nots in the country. It's all about economics, pure and simple."

Edmisten, who had been accused by Powell of planning to resign in two years to seek the seat of Sen. Jesse Helms, R-

N.C., said "I think I will" serve the full four years.

"I've come to think the attorney general's office is the most powerful in the state. I really believe that," he said. "It has more to do with the average person, and I'd rather be attorney general than be governor... or senator or anything."

Nye, who had said Brooks was "clearly out of step" with North Carolina voters, made no public statement or concession as returns neared completion Tuesday night.

Eure, who at age 76 defeated the first black ever to run for statewide office as a major party candidate, Asa Spaulding Jr. of Durham, said after his victory that he has no plans to retire after another four-year term.

"I've been secretary of state for 40 years, and I've never said at any election what I would do at the next," he said Tuesday night.

"I do not know what I'll do four years from now," he said, adding, "If I live that long."

Insurance Commissioner Ingram, who faced a stiff primary challenge by an insurance-industry backed candidate, had no trouble defeating Ed Tenney of Chapel Hill, who had publicly questioned the incumbent's competency.

He had referred to court reversals of Ingram's decisions in at least 10 major cases — including every substantial order Ingram had issued the industry.

Boyles, 46, had no trouble succeeding his long-time boss, State Treasurer Edwin M. Gill. His opponent, Republican J. Howard Coble, sounded a bitter chord about his party in an early concession.

"Something went terribly wrong," he said. "All the pieces were not there and there's no need to point fingers here tonight. The Republican party has to regroup."

Graham, from Rowan County, won his fourth term over Martin County peanut and tobacco farmer Kenneth Roberson, winning a larger margin than he received over Roberson in 1972.

Bridges, 69, had rarely faced opposition during his 26 years as auditor, and swamped Michael A. Godfrey of Chapel Hill, 36-year old son of entertainer Arthur Godfrey.

Phillips retained the public instruction post over Evelyn Tyler, despite her support from Phillips' philosophic opponents in state Board of Education disputes.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices took a steep drop today in the first moments of trading following Jimmy Carter's victory in the presidential election. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks fell about 8 points to the 957 level in the first 15 minutes of the session.

The over-all tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues showed losers overpowering gainers by about a 7-1 margin. Among some well-known glamor issues, Xerox fell 2 1/2 to 59; Walt Disney was down 3 at 43; IBM slipped 1/2 to 270 1/2, and Upjohn lost 1 to 39.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average edged up 1.16 to 966.09 in the final act before the election. Advances outnumbered declines by about a 3-2 margin in the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index rose .11 to 55 even.

Big Board volume reached 18.39 billion shares. The American Stock Exchange market value index was up .15 at 99.03.

Harassment Is Family Affair

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — A vandalism incident at the home of a family here that has reported teen-aged harassment has been blamed on a family member, police said.

Officials said an investigation indicated a member of the Linwood Armstrong family was responsible for damage to the Armstrong house and other publicized acts that have been blamed on local teenagers.

Police did not identify the family member but they said it was the result of family "disharmony." News reports last week told the story of harassment, allegedly by teenagers, aimed at the Armstrong family and the Peyton Shaner family. The harassment, which was allegedly aimed at the Shaners teenage daughter, spread to her family and the Armstrong's teenage son. The incidents included vandalism and threats. The students had been taken out of a local high school because of the incidents and Shaner had vowed to move. Police said white spray paint was used to deface floors, walls and furniture last Sunday while the Armstrong house was occupied.

Myers said investigations into the alleged harassment of both families was continuing. Police would not say that the Armstrong incident was connected with harassment of the Shaner family.

Eastern Carolina Conference Season Winds Down To An End

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer
Friday will mark the final night of the regular season for Eastern Carolina Conference football and a full conference slate is scheduled. For all but one of the teams, the season will be over Friday night.

Farmville Central clinched the league's state 3-A playoff spot last week with a 54-9 win over North Pitt. Although it is possible for Ayden-Grifton to tie the Jaguar's conference record, Farmville would still go to the playoffs because of its earlier victory over the Chargers.

Farmville plays an improved North Lenoir team this week and will be seeking to finish the year with an undefeated, untied conference record. A win would send them into the playoffs with a seven-game winning streak.

In another big game this week, Ayden-Grifton will travel to C. B. Aycock in a battle of high-ranked teams. Should Farmville win this week, the Charger-Falcon game will determine second place in the conference. However, an Ayden-Grifton win, coupled with a Farmville Central loss would leave the Chargers and Jaguars with identical 6-1 conference records.

Other games will see D. H. Conley trying to get out from under a five game losing streak at winless North Pitt and Greene Central playing at Southern Nash.

Last week, in addition to Farmville's win over North Pitt, Southern Nash downed C. B. Aycock, 34-7; Ayden-Grifton defeated D. H. Conley 21-13 and North Lenoir dropped Greene Central 20-14.

Ayden-Grifton's game with C. B. Aycock this week is "pivotal," according to Coach Claude Kennedy. A win would leave the Chargers with a 6-1 conference record which, considering the season's problems, would be "creditable to our program," Kennedy said.

In addition, C. B. Aycock will be up for the game because a win would give them their best finish since the Eastern Carolina Conference was formed.

Kennedy is looking for a tough game and said Aycock's running backs are some of the best in the conference, especially Jackie Dunn. He also said Tony Benton is a good offensive tackle, along with Tommy Long.

Kennedy said the Chargers played "considerably better" in their win over D. H. Conley than the previous week against Farmville Central.

The team did have one major breakdown, however, when the Vikings had a long punt return which set up a touchdown.

Offensive standouts in the game for the Chargers were William West, who rushed for 198 yards, and Markham Wheatley. Kennedy also said the offensive line did a good job.

Defensively, Mike Teachey, Greg Ellis and Scott Rivenbark all played well, Kennedy said.

D. H. Conley Coach Chuck Dunn said he thought his team played pretty well during the game, except for a couple of long scoring plays the Chargers made. "The defense did the best job we've done in recent weeks," Dunn said.

The offense also played fairly well, according to Dunn. "From the standpoint of mistakes, this was our best game. We just couldn't move them (the Charger defense) because they were so much bigger than we are."

Dunn singled out Devin Adams and Kenny Phillips on defense and Nuggie Worthington and Allen Meeks on offense for their play in the game.

They're not supposed to be outstanding and we are certainly not," he said.

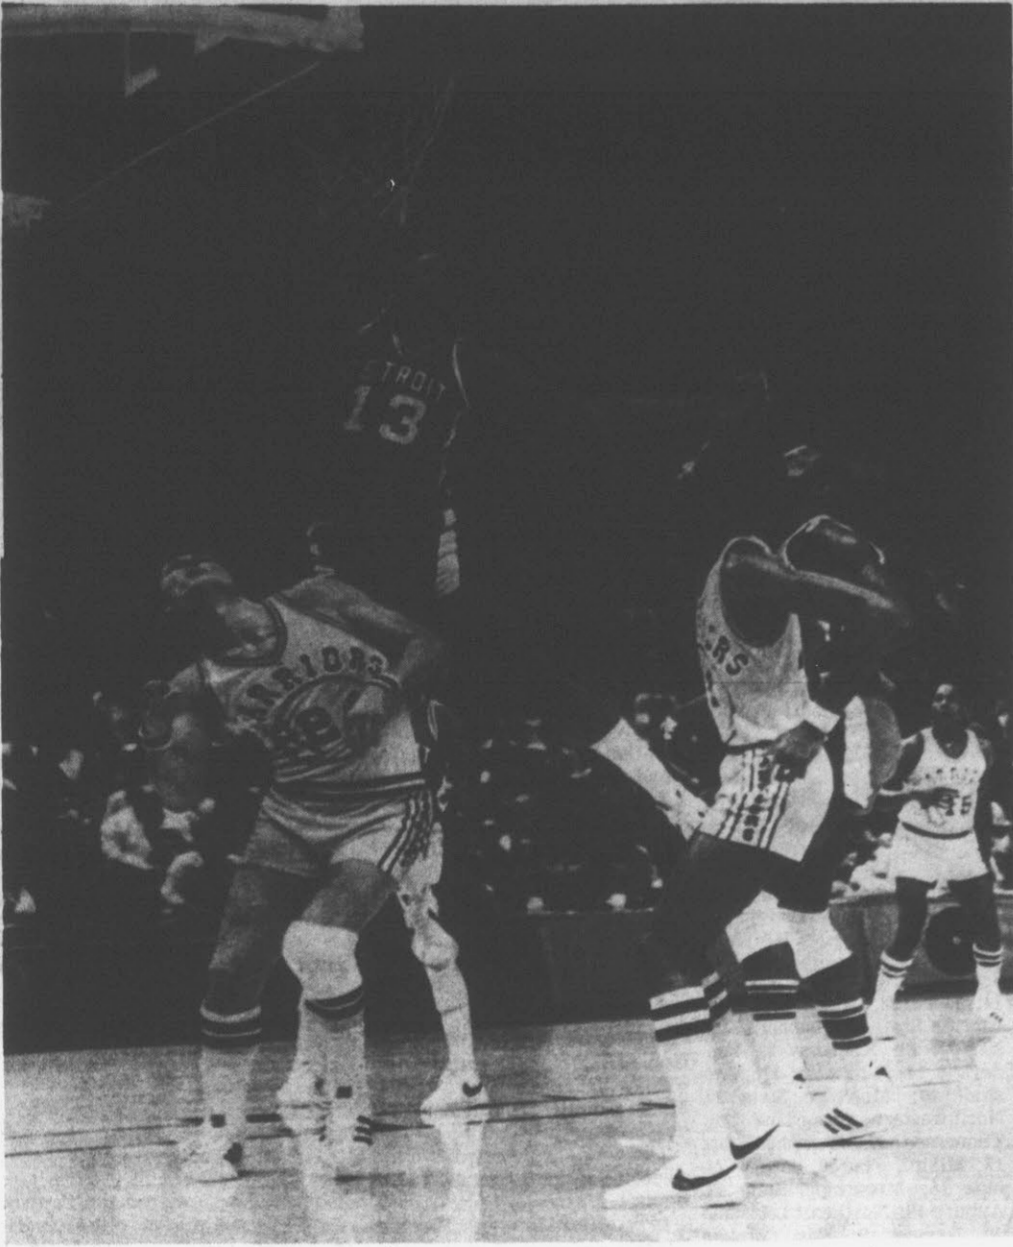

Of last week's loss to Farmville Central, Smith said, "We just got beaten by a better team." He said Larry Spencer and Calvin Carmack had good games.

Farmville Central Coach Gene Brewer said he thought his team played "pretty good" against North Pitt after the first quarter. "We weren't ready in the first quarter. We played very lackadaisical."

Brewer said Keno Farrow ran the ball well and the offensive line did a good job of blocking. On defense, Timmy Hall, Kevin Dixon, Woody Edwards and James Mercer all did good jobs, Brewer said.

North Lenoir, Farmville's opponent this week, "has played some good football since their first two or three games, according to Brewer. "They beat Greene Central last Friday and we expect them to play us tough."

season game. Williamston will be watching this week's Aoshkie-Edenton match closely. If Edenton wins the game, Williamston will go to the playoffs. If Aoshkie wins, they will get the playoff spot. The Northeastern Conference champion will be meeting Farmville Central in the first round of the state 3-A playoffs.

New Orleans Jazz Is Improved Team

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
AP Sports Writer
The early results are in and it appears that the New Orleans Jazz have established themselves as a candidate for the most improved team in the National Basketball Association.

Last season, the Jazz compiled a 38-44 record and finished fourth in the Central Division.

Tuesday night, New Orleans handed the defending champion Boston Celtics their first setback of the season, 115-97, before a Superdome crowd of 17,104 for its fourth victory in six games.

In other games, the Milwaukee Bucks topped the Seattle SuperSonics 125-113, the Golden State Warriors beat the Detroit Pistons 111-98 and the Portland Trail Blazers downed the Atlanta Hawks 129-116.

Pete Maravich, who entered the game as the league's leading scorer with a 30.7 average, collected 43 points in triggering the Jazz attack. He scored 26 points in the second half when New Orleans expanded its 48-45 halftime edge.

Dave Cowens' 30 points and 17 rebounds paced Boston, which had won its first four games.

New Orleans Coach Bill van Breda Kolff said, "It was a great win in front of a great crowd but people often forget that it's not who you beat but how many teams you beat that counts in the NBA."

Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn said, "The Jazz played as well as they can and they beat us. But if we play as well as we can we would have beat them."

Bucks 125, SuperSonics 113
Bob Dandridge, making his first start in four games since being sidelined by an ankle injury, scored 37 points and Brian Zintars added 30 in Milwaukee's victory over Seattle. Dandridge hit 18 points in the first half, sparking the Bucks to a 62-49 lead.

Warriors 111, Pistons 98
Rookie Robert Parish and veteran Rick Barry each connected on two baskets in the closing minutes, leading the Warriors past the Pistons. Detroit had trimmed Golden State's lead to 100-94 with 2½ minutes left. Parish, a 7-foot-1 center, then hit two field goals and Barry clicked on two straight baskets, opening a 108-94 margin for Golden State.

Trail Blazers 129, Hawks 116
A 45-22 first-period lead carried Portland over Atlanta. Bill Walton finished with 22 points and Bob Gross had 20.

Scheduling Idea Proposed

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Dick Herbert, former sports editor of the Raleigh News & Observer and currently executive secretary of the Football Coaches Association of America, proposed a radical idea in football scheduling to the Greenville Sports Club yesterday.

Herbert also said that because of geography, this area of the country ought to feel fortunate if the major college teams won six of the 11 games they schedule.

Herbert's proposal came during a question about the possibility of a new conference being formed in the Southeast. "Most people are going to wait and see what happens at the next NCAA meeting. There is a proposal that a conference must have right sports to be considered a true conference, so they may spell trouble for the basketball or football only conferences."

Herbert added that he did all he could while at the News & Observer to get the "Big Four" schools to schedule East Carolina.

Then he made his proposal. "I know that it will never happen because it makes too much sense," Herbert said. "Teams like Duke and North Carolina ought to open the season and then close it against each other, playing twice."

Herbert said this would generate a tremendous amount of ticket sales for both schools. "Can you imagine what it would be like this year if Carolina and East Carolina played each other again, or if State and East Carolina played. You could't ask for a better gate. And all for the cost of two buses to make the trip. Games between natural rivalries would bring in a lot of money."

He pointed out that if UNC and East Carolina played each other twice and each kept its entire receipts it would be a bonanza for both teams. "After allowing for 20,000 students at Carolina, they'd still have 30,000 seats at $8 each. That's $240,000 for the game, then divide it by two for Carolina's take for two games and that still $120,000. Quite a gate."

East Carolina, of course, would net slightly less on this basis with a 35,000 seat stadium and a 10,000-count student body. That would work out, at $8 a seat, to $100,000 per game.

"But it would never work," Herbert said. "It's too revolutionary. And you'd have to work out something to protect the coach if he lost twice."

Herbert added that 80 per cent of football success is due to geography. "Look at the top teams that are up there year after year. They have a whole state to themselves or nearly so. They dominate their recruiting areas. In North Carolina, you have six major college teams competing for the players, and there aren't that many of them."

Herbert said the lack of spring practice in the state is one reason more players are in other states. "So if a team wins six of 11 games, they should feel like they've had a good year."

Herbert said some things in athletics were bothering him. He listed the continuing movement of schools and individuals to the courts to fight governing body rulings, such as the NCAA. "Now government wants to get into the act."

He also added that the breaking of contracts was a bothering factor. "The superstars are dictating where they want to play, or if they will play at all."

Legal gambling on team sports was also on his list along with the increase in violence by fans. "Why people are using sports to work this out is beyond me."

Next week's guest for the Sports Club will be N. C. State basketball coach Norman Sloan.

Adams Uses Football To Improve Baseball

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer
Offensive and defensive guard Kevin Adams is merely using D. H. Conley football program, but Viking Coach Chuck Dunn doesn't mind.

Adams, whose first love is baseball, feels football is a good training program for other sports and that it helps his baseball.

"Football gives you a good attitude," Adams said. "You've got to have guts to play football and it helps your attitude in other sports. It also helps keep you in shape."

Even if he does like baseball better, Adams is doing a good job for Conley's football team. He is the defensive leader, according to Dunn, and over half of the Vikings' touchdowns this year have been scored over his side.

Adams feels much of Conley's problems this year are due to it being such a young team. He said the team has, at times, had a bad attitude this year.

"When things are down, we haven't had the pride to get back on top," Adams said. He added, however, that the team's attitude has been better lately. Last week, the Vikings were down 21-7, but got back in the game and had a chance to tie on their last possession.

Adams said that game was his biggest thrill in football. "We lost (21-13), but we didn't give up, we got down, but we came back." Adams had 14 tackles in the game.

Besides baseball, Adams likes hunting and fishing in his spare time. He pitches and plays second base on the baseball team and would like to try baseball in college, if he gets the chance.

After college, Adams isn't sure what he would like to do, but he may try electronics or veterinary medicine.

D. H. Conley plays its last game of the football season this Friday night and Adams hopes the team can break its five game losing streak.

Practices this week are going good, and the teams attitude is good, Adams said. And he, as well as the other seniors, would like nothing more than to close out his football career with a victory.

INTEREST DOWN-COST UP

Are you waiting until interest rates drop before you buy a home? Do you think that this will save you money? The home you have your eye on will cost you more in monthly payments two years from now—even if the interest rate drops one percent.

For example, take a home that costs $40,000. With a 20% down-payment and financed with a 25 year, 9% mortgage, the monthly payment would be $268.80. But two years from now, if prices keep rising at the average rate, the now $40,000 home would likely cost $45,000. If the interest rate decreased to 8% not only would the down payment be $1,000 more, but the monthly payment would increase to $277.99. If the interest rate stayed at 9% the payment would come to $302.40.

So, it's obvious that the overall value of the home—not the interest rate—makes the biggest impact on your monthly payment. Since there is no indication of property values decreasing, the moral of the story is—Buy now or pay more later.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at BLOUNT & BALL REALTY CO., 119 W. Third St., Greenville. Phone: 752-6163. We're here to help!

Bowls Look At Terps, Tar Heels

By The Associated Press
Maryland, unbeaten in its eight football games this season, is virtually assured of a bowl bid.

Another Atlantic Coast Conference team, North Carolina, 6-2, also is being watched by bowl scouts as the season heads into the home stretch.

The Maryland Terps have a chance of being the first ACC team to be chosen for one of the four major bowls since Duke's 1960 team went to the Cotton Bowl and nipped Arkansas, 7-6.

Maryland plays Cincinnati on Saturday, and then will have regular-season games left with Clemson and Virginia.

If the Terps and Pittsburgh win their remaining games, they probably will be tapped for two of the three spots open in the biggest bowls. The third spot figures to go to the Big Ten runnerup, the Big Eight runnerup, or Notre Dame.

Maryland has drawn some criticism from Big Eight coaches, who questioned the caliber of the Terp schedule.

Coach Jim Stanley of Oklahoma State said Maryland hasn't met a good team, and would have a hard time winning in the Big Eight.

Maryland's Jerry Claiborne, who coached Stanley at Texas A&M, refused to reply. But his quarterback, Mark Manges, said, "That's typical Big Eight jargon. Last year they said they're wiper out everybody in the bowls, and they went 1-4. If we play a Big Eight team, we'll show them."

Maryland's goal, Manges added, was to win the national championship, "not prove we belong in the top ten."

To play a Big Eight team, Maryland would have to go to the Orange Bowl, which has a tie-up with that conference. But it's believed that Pitt, with Tony Dorsett has the inside track to the Orange.

Maryland also has been scouted by the Sugar Bowl and the Cotton Bowl.

The Sugar has a commitment from the Southeastern Conference champion, and the Cotton automatically takes the South-west Conference champion as one entry.

North Carolina and South Carolina are among the teams being considered for the Peach Bowl in Atlanta. But although it's conceded a bowl game between them would be a sellout, such a match-up is of likely.

Tommy Crumbley, information director of the Dec. 31 game, says, "What we try to do is to have a game with inter-sectional interest. My feeling, after talking to members of the committee, is that we would like to have one team from the Southeast area, and another from the Big Eight, Big Ten, Southwest, or an independent."

Bowl bids cannot be officially extended until 6 p.m. local time Nov. 20.

There are two ACC games this Saturday, Wake Forest at Duke and North Carolina at Clemson. Games against outsiders in addition to Cincinnati at Maryland are N.C. State at Penn State, and Virginia home to Lehigh.

Freshman Delbert Powell of North Carolina, who returned a kickoff 98 yards for a touchdown in the 34-14 victory over Wake Forest, has been chosen the ACC rookie of the week.

The speedster from Elizabeth City, N.C., leads the ACC in kickoff returns with an average of 27.7 yards.

Michigan Picked For Another Win; Bucs Too

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bo Schembechler and the Michigan Wolverines never have been known as the Happiness Boys, but they are capable of making an occasional joke.

Here is one courtesy of Schembechler: "We have to keep our momentum going. There are teams left on our schedule that can still beat us." And from quarterback Rick Leach: "You can't take any Big Ten team for granted."

Well, yes, there still are teams on Michigan's schedule that can beat the Wolverines. There is Ohio State on Nov. 20 and whatever team they play in whatever bowl they go to.

But first there is Purdue this Saturday — and Illinois next week. The last time the Wolverines lost to those teams was 1966, when Purdue won a 22-21 squeaker and Illinois prevailed 28-21.

So, in this election year, the immediate choice lies between Michigan and Purdue, and here is one vote for ... Michigan 35-6.

Last week's score was 48 right, 23 wrong for a 676 percentage, making the season's count to 385-157-10—710.

Florida vs. Georgia at Jacksonville: This game is similar to the Texas-Oklahoma war in Dallas with 72,000 screaming fans split down the middle. Breaking the tie, here's one shaky vote for ... Florida 27-21.

Oklahoma State at Nebraska: "The thing that impresses me about the Cornhuskers is everything," says State's Jim Stanley. "We're impressed, too, Jim ... Nebraska 31-21.

Colorado at Missouri: Last weekend, the Big Eight scramble was reduced from a five-way tie to a three-team deadlock. Now, Colorado must win to remain tied with the Oklahoma State-Nebraska winner ... Missouri 24-17.

Houston at Texas: It is elimination time in the Southwest Conference ... Houston 20-16.

Army at Pitt: Army is improved, but the Panthers and Tony Dorsett are too much, too soon ... Pitt 38-13.

Southern California at Stanford: This used to be the Blood Bowl when John McKay was at USC and said he wanted to beat Stanford by 2,000 points. But with ailing Ricky Bell below par, this looks like the Upset Special of the Week ... Stanford 28-24.

Texas Tech at Texas Christian: Tech Coach Steve Sloan says he will have his head if the Red Raiders make it to the Cotton Bowl. TCU, 0-7 and a strong possibility to go 0-11, will not do much to dull the razor ... Texas Tech 45-14.

Cincinnati at Maryland: The Bearcats enjoyed their one-week stay in the Top Twenty before a 31-17 loss to Georgia knocked them, out ... Maryland 28-14.

Illinois at Ohio State: The Illini started out 2-0, including a big victory over nationally ranked Missouri. But now they must win two of their final three games to have a winning season. And, unfortunately, they play Michigan next week. This week ... Ohio State 31-13.

Notre Dame at Georgia Tech: Pepper Rodgers was knocked cold during last week's loss to Duke when one of his players tripped over a telephone cord, yanking the earphones off the head of an assistant coach and whacking Pepper in the face. This one is going to hurt, too ... Notre Dame 24-14.

Arkansas at Baylor: The Razorbacks still are tied with Texas Tech in an attempt to return to the Cotton Bowl. Arkansas recently had two weeks off and beat Houston. Now Baylor has had two weeks off. A lightning-strikes-twice hunch and a Second Upset Special ... Baylor 20-17.

Louisiana State at Alabama: LSU certainly was not looking ahead when the Tigers walloped Ole Miss 45-0, but Bama might be with Notre Dame one week away. A third Upset Special was in the works until it came to mind that Bear Bryant always — well, almost always — teaches his former pupils a lesson ... Alabama 21-14.

Minnesota at Northwestern: So let us make this the third Upset Special instead, as the nation's longest losing streak comes to an end at 14 ... Northwestern 24-20.

Kansas State at Oklahoma: Just what the doctor ordered for the Sooners after all those injuries and other problems ... Oklahoma 41-14.

Jones Gets Award, Wants More Cash

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Randy Jones says now that he's won the Cy Young Award, he ought to be the highest paid San Diego Padre and intends to bargain for a three-year contract.

"It's like a boyhood dream come true. It shows I'm for real. It hasn't really sunk in yet," said Jones, 26, at a news conference Tuesday shortly after learning he was the winner of baseball's highest award for a pitcher.

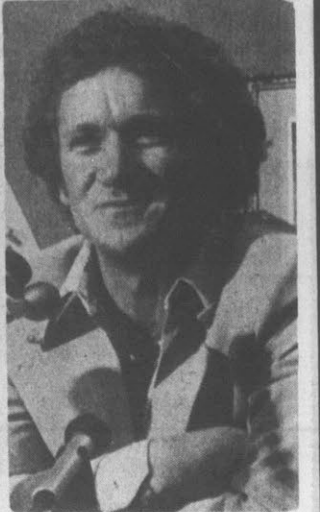

"I felt all along that I would win, but I thought it would be very close," said the left-handed hurler who received 15 of the 24 first-place votes in this year's balloting.

Jones, who won 22 games for the Padres this season, narrowly lost the Cy Young award to Tom Seaver last year.

"Last year, I knew I had to beat Tom Seaver. This year, I felt they (other candidates) had to beat Randy Jones," he said.

Jones was named somewhere on all 24 ballots cast by a committee composed of two baseball writers from each of the 12 National League cities. Six second-place votes and three for third gave him a total of 96 points. The writers cast 69½ points for New York Mets left-hander Jerry Koosman and 25½ points for Don Sutton, the Los Angeles Dodgers right-hander.

Randy Jones

Jones said he should be the highest paid performer for the Padres, regardless of what it takes to sign a Reggie Jackson, a Bobby Grich or a Joe Rudi in Thursday's re-entry draft.

Jones also said his pitching arm is on the mend. He revealed he threw a little Sunday while supervising a ground of youngsters at a baseball school. Jones underwent surgery in early October for a muscle problem.

Tennis Club Results

The team of Lib Proctor and Ron Hignite captured the Greenville Tennis Club's annual Mixed Doubles Tournament this past weekend.

The winners defeated Cynthia Averette and Gil Hensgen in the finals, 6-4, 6-2.

In semifinal matches, Proctor-Hignite downed Ann Sayetta-Madhu Balachandran, 6-4, 6-2, while Averette-Hensgen beat Becky McDonald and Jim Gaskins, 6-1, 6-1.

The Tennis Club will hold its annual awards party Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the Pitt County Wildlife Club Tournament winners will be presented their trophies, and the newly-elected officers will be installed. Several special awards will also be presented.

Recreation Results

The Eagles tied the Cowboys yesterday in Greenville Recreation flag football yesterday.

Following a scoreless first half, George Blount scored for the Cowboys in the third quarter on a 60-yard run. The Cowboys failed on the extra point, however.

In the fourth quarter, Eagle Lemont Duffy got his team on the scoreboard with a 4-yard touchdown run. The Eagles also missed the extra point to leave the game tied.

In Recreation soccer, the Cosmos defeated the Kicks, 4-3 and the Rowdies downed the Hotshots, 5-4.

The Cosmos got five goals from William White, one in each quarter, to win their game. Louis Robbins scored twice for the Kicks and Tim Patterson added a goal, but it wasn't enough as the Cosmos won, 4-3. Tanya Leggett had an assist on one of White's goals.

Jeff Jordan scored three times for the Rowdies to lead them past the Hotshots. Other Rowdy goals were scored by Bruce Thompson and Kirk Berry.

Robert White and Steve Midget both scored twice for the Hotshots. Chris Coble was awarded an assist on a Midget goal.

Clark Stallings played a good game at goal for the Rowdies, being credited with 10 saves.

Md. Lineman Gets AP Honor

By GORDON BEARD
AP Sports Writer

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Joe Campbell is a smooth-cheeked youngster who doesn't have to shave, but his opponents on the football field aren't fooled by that bit of natural camouflage.

The 6-foot-6, 254-pounder is a rough-and-ready member of a defensive unit which has helped sixth-ranked Maryland roll over eight consecutive foes this season.

For his efforts last Saturday, when he was in on 22 tackles with one of his 11 solo hits a quarterback sack, Campbell was named the College Lineman of the Week by The Associated Press.

At Maryland, there's a tendency to compare defensive linemen with Randy White, the All-American who just two years ago was awarded the Outland Trophy as the best lineman in the nation.

"Randy and Joe are both from Wilmington (Del.) and their fathers were butchers," said Maryland's defensive tackle coach, Gib Romaine. "But it's unfair to compare them, because each does certain things well."

Campbell, a freshman when White was coming into prominence, readily concedes he admired White and learned a lot from him. "He influenced me like an older brother," Campbell said.

Oklahoma State's Terry Miller Named National Back Of Week

By RON JENKINS
AP Sports Writer

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — For the third week in a row last Saturday, Oklahoma State halfback Terry Miller was named national back of the week.

The result was 228 yards and three touchdowns by Miller and a crucial 20-19 Big Eight Conference victory over then 10th-ranked Missouri.

For his performance, the 190-pound junior from Colorado Springs, Colo., was honored today as The Associated Press' National Back of the Week.

It was the third week in a row that Miller had set a personal high for rushing. The All-Big Eight selection as a sophomore, when he ran for 1,026 yards, is within 341 yards of breaking Bob Fenimore's school record of 2,563 yards set in 1945-47.

A week earlier he ran for 159 yards, 72 of them on a touchdown sprint, to lead the Cowboys past Oklahoma 31-24. Against the Tigers, he ran mainly up the middle, showing shotgun acceleration on one 23-yard TD spurt. He also scored on runs of two and 10 yards.

He got 133 of his 228 yards in the second half as the Pokes rallied from a 16-0 deficit to run their Big Eight record to 3-1, tying them with Nebraska and Colorado for the conference lead.

"I've never been around a better halfback than Terry Miller," beamed Oklahoma State Coach Jim Stanley. "If you ask me, he's the best athlete in the country."

After reviewing the game film, Stanley said: "On 18 major plays, Terry was instrumental, and he also had five or six knockdowns."

A year ago Miller helped the Cowboys to a 7-4 record. But despite victories over such bowl teams as Arkansas and Kansas, they didn't get a postseason invitation.

Now they're 5-2 and have a good chance to post their best record since 1958. Saturday they meet Nebraska in a showdown at Lincoln, Neb., then they will be favored against Kansas State, Iowa State and Texas-El Paso.

Miller said winning the award was satisfying. "I feel like it will help myself and Oklahoma State University. You're happy for it, but now you've got to get ready for next week."

Terry Miller

Miller, who runs the 40 consistently in 4.4, was the target of an intense recruiting battle before finally choosing Oklahoma State over Colorado and Oklahoma.

Things have not been all rosy for Miller in his stay at Stillwater. He suffered a leg fracture as a freshman, but had such ability that upon returning to action he was switched to fullback when injuries left that position depleted. The Pokes responded with two straight victories and a Fiesta Bowl invitation.

In gaining Back of the Week honors, Miller beat out running backs Tony Dorsett of Pitt and Theotis Brown of UCLA and quarterbacks Dan Hagemann of Utah and Art Yaroch of Ball State.

The North Carolina High School Athletic Association will hold an officials clinic for wrestling here next Monday.

The clinic, for all officials and coaches, will be held in Minges Coliseum on the East Carolina University campus. It will get underway at 7:30 p.m., and be over at 9:30.

NEW YORK (AP) — Phil Woosnam, commissioner of the North American Soccer League, says that he expects some league games to be on national television next season despite the recent severing of the NASL's relationship with CBS.

"We have looked into a number of alternatives for returning to the national television scene for our 1977 season," Woosnam said Tuesday.

Woosnam added that CBS had indicated it needed a Neilson rating of 6 for the time slot it had originally assigned to soccer. Both CBS and the NASL feel that a rating of between 4 and 5 is achievable for soccer in the immediate future.

Two New Faces In N.C. Congressional Delegation

border states such as West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri and Maryland.

The other element in Carter's formula for victory was the big cities of the North. New York City and Philadelphia came through as they have in so many past elections with big Democratic majorities that overcame Republican votes in other parts of New York State and Pennsylvania.

Ford led in the returns from New York State until early this morning when a surge of Democratic votes from New York City gave the state to Carter by a margin of 150,000.

Add to those the two strongly Democratic New England states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, Mondale's home state of Minnesota, plus Hawaii and Delaware and Carter had the votes to keep his oft-stated pledge, "I don't intend to lose."

Elements of the coalition Carter put together showed up in the AP survey, made among voters outside 100 polling places in the country.

On the basis of interviews of voters as they left the polling places, it appeared Carter drew support from the following:
—Labor union voters, 59 per cent;
—Blacks, 85 per cent;

—Persons with incomes below $15,000 a year, 55 per cent;
—Persons who didn't finish high school, 67 per cent.

Among the groups that voted strongly for Ford were college graduates, 58 per cent, and persons making more than $20,000 a year, 67 per cent.

The survey also found that Carter drew about 53 per cent of the Catholic vote, slightly below the percentage Hubert H. Humphrey received in 1968, but far better than Sen. George S. McGovern's vote from Catholics in 1972.

The figures appeared to indicate that Carter was not hurt as badly as some had predicted among Catholic voters by his refusal to endorse a constitutional amendment that would overturn Supreme Court decisions that made it easier for women to obtain abortions early in pregnancy.

Carter received a majority of the vote among every age group except one. Only those between the ages of 45 and 54 went for Ford, and they gave him their votes by a four-point margin.

Carter's biggest edge was among voters in the 18 to 24 age group. They preferred the former Georgia governor by an 11-point margin.

With his mandate in hand, what are Carter's plans?

Charles Kirbo, an Atlanta lawyer who is one of the president-elect's closest advisers, said in an interview that he expects the Carter administration to get off to a fast start.

"You'll see him move reasonably quickly on a lot of different subjects," Kirbo said.

A major Carter campaign theme was his intention to streamline the executive branch of the federal government.

"I think you'll see him moving before the end of the year to get bills introduced to give him the authority to authorize these moves he wants to make," Kirbo said.

Hamilton Jordan, Carter's campaign manager, echoed Kirbo's belief that as president Carter will push hard for authority to proceed with reorganizing the federal bureaucracy.
"I think he's going to be preoccupied with the economy," Jordan said.

Ford's two years in the White House were marked by repeated clashes with the Democratic Congress. Ford vetoed more than 60 bills passed by Congress, and Carter made an issue of the antagonism between the legislative and executive branches, saying there would be more cooperation with the Democrats holding power both in Congress and at the White House.

The party lineup in the House and Senate will be identical to what it was in the 94th Congress: 290 Democrats to 145 Republicans in the House and 62 Democrats and 38 Republicans in the Senate.

Leaf Sales See Decline

FARMVILLE — Tobacco sold for a lower average Tuesday on the Farmville Tobacco Market, according to Louis Williams sales supervisor of the Farmville Tobacco Board of Trade.

"Due to the market of more less descript grades and a decrease in demand by companies the average was lower than Monday in Tuesday sales. Sales consisted of more non-descript and damaged tobacco than any day this season. Leaf and smoking leaf accounted for most of the volume. Quality grades accounted for top price. Several sheets of choice leaf sold for $1.40 per pound," Williams said.

The Farmville Tobacco Market sold 762,932 pounds Tuesday for $869,732 for an average of $114.00 per 100 pounds. To date the Farmville Market has sold 32,470,569 for $37,747,417 for an average of $116.25 per 100 pounds as compared to last year's season average of $102.18 on the same sale day.

But the Senate will see one of the largest turnovers in recent years.

Eight veteran senators, four Democrats and four Republicans, did not seek re-election. They included Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Minority Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

purchase of land at Belvoir Primary School; begin field house construction base at the four high schools, $40,000. The board voted to table the decision on which projects to approve.

The Teacher Supplement Committee presented a report with five options to be considered by the Board in determining the plan to be used in paying a supplement to the teachers of the Pitt County School System. A polling of the personnel showed that a majority of the personnel were in favor of a recommendation that assistant principals who teach sometime during the day, coaches, and others who receive a supplement for extra duties, itinerant and resource teachers, classroom teachers, and librarians and guidance counselors be considered to receive the supplement. Personnel also favored a recommendation that the supplement be paid twice annually at Christmas and at the end of the school year and a recommendation that each person be paid the same supplement amount.

The board voted to table the issue and have personnel again vote on either the above option or an option that would pay all certified personnel a supplement which would vary according to the degree that each person holds.

Assoc. Supt. Craft reported that the construction at Wellcome Middle School is on schedule and the mid-year shift will take place. Craft also issued the sanitation reports and reported that the coverage of activity buses is adequate this year.

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's congressional delegation got two new faces Tuesday, but the partisan breakdown remained the same—nine Democrats and two Republicans.

The nine incumbents up for reelection successfully defended their seats, and new Democratic congressmen were chosen in the 3rd and 11th districts where Democrats had retired.

The expected nip-and-tuck count in the 5th District between incumbent Democrat Steve Neal and Republican Wilmer Mizell, who was unseated by Neal two years ago, did not materialize. The race, touted as a confrontation between Mizell's old-style conservatism and Neal's self-styled progressivism, began and ended with Neal ahead. He finished with about 54 per cent of the tally.

"The people have made their choice in the 5th District and that's the American way," said Mizell, a former baseball player who served three terms in Congress before Neal beat him in 1974.

Neal said he thought Mizell's campaign, backed financially by the GOP National Committee, may have backfired because of its stouly conservative tone. Neal said Mizell's campaign represented "kind of extremist views" in the district.

In the 3rd District, where Rep. David Henderson had retired, Democrat Charles Whitely erased any doubt about the district's Democratic base by getting about 70 per cent of the vote against Republican Jack Blanchard.

In the mountainous 11th District, where Democrat Roy Taylor had retired, a strong Republican effort by Bruce Briggs was turned back by Democrat Lamar Gudger, who won with about 51 per cent of the vote.

Democratic incumbents, and the Republicans they defeated, were:

Walter Jones over Joseph Ward, 1st District; Ike Andrews over Johnnie Gallemore, 4th; Richardson Preyer over Libertarian and Labor candidates, 6th; Charles Rose over Michael Vaughn, 7th; and Bill Hefner over Carl Eagle, 8th.

The two incumbent Republicans and the Democrats they beat were: Jim Martin over Arthur Goodman, 9th; and James Broyhill over James Hunt, 10th. Democrat L. H. Fountain was unopposed in the 2nd District.

Mixed Wine Harvest Due To Drought

By ALINE MOSBY
PARIS (UPI) — The history-making drought that shriveled Europe last summer brought a superb wine crop to France but mixed prospects for wines in other countries.

French and Austrian vineyards profited from the hot, sunny summer. The driest summer in a good five centuries had grapes sprouting like weeds to everybody's surprise in usually soggy, chilly England.

After the summer's capricious weather lower production and spotty quality is forecast by wine associations for Portugal, Italy, Spain and Germany.

Italy's 1976 wine crop sagged 5.5 per cent below 1975, which was itself a poor year. The Italian Agricultural Market Research Institute says quality also suffered from the fact that the sun-drenched June and July were followed by heavy rains in August and September, the opposite of what is needed for a good harvest.

The vineyards of Piedmont and Puglia and the Chianti area were battered by hail and heavy rain when they should have been ripening in late-summer sunshine.

Spanish Agriculture ministry officials said wine production in Spain plummeted 11 per cent this year. Hail and mildew dampened hopes in the Valencia region and La Mancha wines were expected to be of lesser quality. Only the Riojas and sherris showed promise.

Germany's wine production dropped for 1976. Portugal's fell 30 per cent under its 1974 crop. Armando Ferreira of the Portugal National Wine Board said quality also suffered because "it was too dry for too long, and then a lot of rain in August created fungus on the grapes." Portugal's famous port (oporto) wine crop was smaller than last year's, but its quality did not suffer.

The hot, dry summer, however, brought joy to most French winegrowers who sailed through the harvest a month ahead of schedule.

An official at the Champagne Wine Committee fairly bubbled that, "It's one of the most important years in our history, completely remarkable." Production is estimated at close to the record 1973 Champagne crop. As for quality, "it's a milestone year, recalling that great year of 1947."

"Excellent climatic conditions—heat, dryness, sun—permitted harvesting grapes in perfect conditions," he added.

Beaujolais, Alsatian and Bordeaux wines were praised by growers. Burgundy (Bourgogne) producers raved that their crop was the best for both quality and quantity in more than a dozen years.

Grower Fernand Harvay said at Savigny-les-Beaune, "This year has been exceptional. We were very worried in August because of the drought. The vine leaves shriveled up, and there was danger the whole crop would be ruined. But it rained at just the right time in August, and the grapes swelled."

Austria, a small wine producer, had such unusually hot, dry weather with rain in late spring that the crop is well above last year's in quantity and quality. Thus Austria might be exporting more of its light, white wines, so little known outside its own borders.

But the big shocker of the unusual weather was that it brought England — England? — what wine pioneer Nigel Godden bravely called "the best wine crop we will have in this century."

The Romans started growing grapes in England about 300 A.D. Then, the dissolution of monasteries and worsening climate ended England's glory as a wine producer.

In recent years some vineyards have been cultivated with production amounting to a few bottles here and there.

Now, thanks to the hottest, driest summer England has suffered in 500 years, English winegrowers (now 400 with more joining the ranks every year) reaped record mini-harvests from their backyard plots. The 1976 production will be a proud half million bottles, compared to 7.2 billion bottles for Italy.

Castle Once A Monument To Wealth

By GARY PEDERSEN
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Nev. (AP) — It sits high on a cliff on the western edge of town, a monument to what money can do.

Seventy-nine years after it was built, Stokes Castle remains proud and watchful, even though it has been gutted by the forces of time and efforts of visitors and vandals.

The three-story replica of a building in Rome perches on a brink of the Toiyabe Range, yielding a panoramic view of a sprawling valley and the Desotoya Mountains far to the west.

Eastern financier Anson Phelps Stokes had the structure built in 1897 when Austin was still flourishing as a silver mining town. It was a summer home for him and his sons. But they used it only briefly before it fell into disrepair and was sold. It has changed hands several times. It is still clearly visible on Highway 50 near Austin.

The first floor contained a kitchen and dining area. The second floor was the living area while the third was occupied by bedrooms. The roof was designed as an outdoor sleeping area. There were cantilevered porches on the south side, but they, too, have weathered away.

Old-timers say the castle was plush, royally appointed with refinements from around the world. Its narrow windows were designed to offer a spectacular view of the surrounding countryside from the 6,600-foot elevation overlook.

Notches of wedges which parted the native granite from Nevada quarries are still plainly visible on the odd-sized blocks. They have been chinked to keep out the wind.

The front doors lay face down at the main and only entrance. Graffiti on interior plaster walls record the multitude of visitors over the years. Stairwells have been removed to prevent injuries. The roof has rotted away. Looking upward through the building is like being in a deep shaft, gazing at the sky.

Stokes Castle is now a Nevada state monument. Vandalism forced the building of a chain link fence around the edifice, but even that has been parted so sightseers can walk inside the castle.

Stokes contracted the structure to be built as a summer retreat. Crews using a hand winch laboriously placed the heavy blocks.

Stokes had the money to spend. He was instrumental in the building of the Nevada Central Railroad from Battle Mountain to Austin, and held numerous mining claims in the area. One of his mines still runs directly below the castle.

Molly Knutson, who lives about 30 miles from Austin, owns the monument. She said she plans to leave it the way it is.

"Austin doesn't have much," she said, referring to the town of about 300, "but it does have Stokes Castle and it's going to stay there."

Dr. Steelman, a member of the history faculty here since 1955, was the only new member elected at the annual meeting of the society at Elon College Oct. 22. Six other ECU faculty or faculty emeritus historians are members of the society.

A native of Milledgeville, Ga., she is a graduate of Georgia State College and received her MA and PhD from the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill. She is the wife of Dr. Joseph F. Steelman, professor of history and director of graduate study in the department of history, East Carolina University.

Dr. Steelman currently is engaged in editing the papers of Elias Carr, a native of Edgecombe County, N.C., who was governor of North Carolina in the 1890's. The Carr papers are in repository in the Manuscript Collection at ECU.

The Division of Health Services has received an application from the County of Greene for a State grant under the North Carolina Clean Water Bond Act of 1971. The application seeks a grant of $113,000.00 from funds allocated for use in Greene County. This grant would be applied as a portion of the construction cost of a water supply system project. The proposed project consists of the installation of 35 miles of 8, 6, and 4 inch PVC water distribution lines interconnecting the Towns of Snow Hill, Hookerton, Ormondville, Lizzie, and Maurin. Parcel Post Help Added

CHARLOTTE (AP) - The U. S. Postal service has added 600 employees to its Charlotte Post Office force to handle the parcel post mail generated by the Teamsters Union strike against the United Parcel Service, according to a spokesman.

Willie Stratford, public information officer, said Tuesday that normally the post office just expands working hours of its regular staff at Christmas-time, rather than adding more personnel.

Referring to the additional hiring, Stratford said, "We hired these people for 90 days to work strictly parcel post."

He said the post office will be using "every available bit of space" to process what he said amounts to about a 300 per cent increase in the number of packages the post office is handling.

"Our volume is still way up there, but we believe we can handle it," he said.

Stratford advised that persons should observe the Christmas mailing deadlines - Dec. 10 for packages and Dec. 17 for Christmas cards - for assurance of reaching destinations in time.

Open-pit mining is a process which calls for the removal of vegetation and topsoil to reach the ore.

Still Planning Taiwan Return

TAIPEI, Taiwan (AP) - Madame Chiang Kai-Shek will return to Taiwan from the United States to dedicate herself to recovery of the Chinese mainland as soon as her health permits, according to a legislator.

Le Heng said members of the Yuan, Nationalist China's highest lawmaking body, recently wrote to the widow of nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-Shek. She said Madame Chiang wrote back that she flew to the United States Aug. 23 for medical treatment and doctors said she suffered from an ulcer and muscle pains from an old injury. But her letter said there was nothing to worry about, Le Heng said.

Assignment To Trade Study

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards, who has acknowledged that he and his family accepted gifts from a South Korean businessman, has been named to a task force on how states can promote trade with foreign nations.

Edwards, a Democrat, recently admitted that while he was in Congress he accepted such items as a $900 table, and that his wife received $10,000 in cash from businessman Tong-sun Park.

Edwards has denied there was any connection between the gifts and sales of Louisiana rice to Korea, which he helped arrange.

Edwards was one of five governors named to the task force Monday by its chairman, Tennessee Gov. Ray Blanton.

The state of Colorado derives its name from the Spanish word for ruddy or red, after the Colorado River, which originates within the state.

False Voucher Case Review Ordered

ROW, ROW, ROW YOUR BOAT—Patrick Quensel sits on the bow of his 22-foot dory after becoming the first person to row across the Pacific to Hawaii. Quensel, 27, a commercial fisherman from Vaughn, Wash., arrived in Honolulu Tuesday after making the 2,200-mile crossing from Washington in 111 days. (AP Wirephoto)

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina Utilities Commission has ordered a review of the Southern Bell Telephone Co. falsified expense vouchers case.

The money was used to make illegal political contributions. But the two-year statute of limitations on these violations expired last year.

The commission's decision to review, announced Tuesday, came a week after charges of falsifying company records were dismissed against 11 current or former Southern Bell executives in North Carolina.

The company said the men were blameless because they were acting under its policy in the state.

Chairman Tenney I. Deane said the commission has asked its staff to look at the whole matter and advise the commission if further action is needed. He said in a telephone interview from Raleigh that the review should be completed next week. "I suppose, the question now is, has there been new evidence uncovered that we have not considered," he added.

Last December, the commission ordered Southern Bell to refund $426,000 for "mis-handled" money.

The company had reported that $142,000 had been taken in 1971-1973 through bogus vouchers.

Deane said the commission's penalty, three times the missing money, would still cover any more missing money unless it was substantially more than $142,000.

However, there was disagreement on this from former Atty. Gen. I. Beverly Lake, who handled utilities cases for the state Department of Justice until he resigned this year. Lake said in an interview Monday that the $426,000 penalty was designed to cover only $142,000 that had been "imbedded in the (Southern Bell) rates for three years."

Deane said one of the questions the commission will consider is the exact number of Bell executives involved in the bogus voucher case. The company says it discovered the falsifications in June 1973 and immediately stopped them.

Until a company statement last week in Mecklenburg County Superior Court, the number of Bell executives involved was

Solicitation Requests OK'd

City Manager Jim Caldwell announced the approval of two requests for permission to conduct door-to-door solicitations and sales.

Caldwell said that his office approved the request of the Triangle Chapter of National Multiple Sclerosis Society to conduct a solicitation campaign on Nov. 21-28.

Also approved, according to the city manager, was a request of the Greenville Jaycees for permission to conduct its annual residential light bulb sale on Nov. 8, 9, 10, and 11.

publicly believed to be about 35. However, the company acknowledged last week that more than 80 executives had participated.

Deane was asked in the interview whether the commission knew when it penalized the company last year that 80 had been involved. He said he didn't remember.

Mecklenburg County Dist. Atty. Peter Gilchrist, who dismissed the charges, says his investigation is still open. Three federal agencies also have not closed investigations into whether there have been violations of federal laws by the company and its executives. The agencies are the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Federal Communications Commission, and the Internal Revenue Service.

Will Discuss Food Additives, Prices

Food prices and food additives are two topics to be discussed on a three-part television series to be offered by the University of North Carolina Educational Network in November, according to Edwin Yancey, county extension chairman.

The weekly series, "Food Policy and You," will be shown on Channel 2 and 25 beginning at 7:30 p.m. Friday, November 5.

The series will be aired because of the important food-related issues that will have to be debated by the new Congress which begins in January.

"Most of the nation's basic farm legislation is scheduled to expire at the end of the 1977 crop year. The Food Stamp Program and Public Law 480 under which the United States ships food to underdeveloped countries will also expire in 1977," Yancey said.

The first program on November 5 will deal with food prices. The second program, scheduled for November 12 will discuss food quality and the final program November 19 will discuss world food trade.

The series is being produced by the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service.

The bidding: East South West North 3 ♦ Pass Pass Dble. Pass 3NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ♠.

If you learn to draw the correct inferences from the bidding, you will be surprised how often you can come up with the right play.

Despite East's attempt to hamper the auction, North-South arrived at their best contract. North was full value for his balancing take-out double and, even though he had a reasonable hand, South was not prepared to venture beyond the no trump game.

Let us consider what we know. East probably has seven spades headed by the king-jack. Can he have both the ace of clubs and king of diamonds? Certainly not, for then he would have opened the bidding with one spade.

If he has the ace of clubs, it won't matter which suit we attack first. If we play a club to the king and ace, we will later be able to take a successful diamond finesse for our contract. But what if he has the king of diamonds?

Now, if we play a club, West can rise with the ace and force out the ace of spades. When we try for our ninth trick in diamonds, East will win and cash his remaining spades to defeat the contract.

If we tackle diamonds first, we are heavy favorites to make the contract no matter how the key minor-suit honors lie. If the diamond finesse wins, we can shift our attention to clubs and come to nine tricks. If it loses, we can later knock out the ace of clubs safely, since West is unlikely to hold more than two spades.

Science Bent Zoo's Big Attraction Is Plain Ugly

By GREGORY JENSEN
LONDON (UPI) — London Zoo celebrated its 150th birthday this year with a beautiful new home for lions and an ugly new baby named Salome.

Salome is a gorilla, the first born at London Zoo, and she has a face not even a mother apparently could love. Lomie, her massive mother, spent 26 days hauling Salome about, looking at her baby's fuzzy black crew cut, eyebrows arched in perpetual astonishment, flat nose and deep wrinkles. Then Lomie lost interest.

So Salome was "adopted" by senior keeper Ronald Smith and his wife Barbara. They simply took the little gorilla home. "She sleeps in a cot in our bedroom," Mrs. Smith said. "I treat Salome just like a human baby."

Thus keeper Smith reports for work every day carrying a baby gorilla, carefully diapered, in an ordinary child's carrying cot. For Salome is something special.

She is this year's most appealing zoo attraction — far outranking the new lion teraces — and the latest in a long line of London Zoo animals which have captured the public's heart.

The most recent favorite was Chi Chi, a giant panda whose refusal to mate with a Moscow Zoo panda was a long-running saga. Earlier there was Jumbo, the world's most famous elephant who caused a national controversy when the zoo sold him to American showman P.T. Barnum.

But almost since London Zoo was founded in 1826, a continuous series of special animals have been successive favorites.

One was a vulture called Dr. Brooke. Another was the chimpanzee named Tommy who rode up in a stagecoach.

The zoo's first hippo, renowned all over Europe, arrived in 1850 accompanied by an Egyptian keeper and a flock of sheep and goats to provide him with milk.

The irony is that the zoo's high-minded founders wanted no truck with popularity or with a public gaping at Salomes or Chi Chis.

Led by Sir Stamford Raffles, the great colonialist who also founded Singapore, the zoo's founders allowed a touch of heavy humor in their official name — "The Zoological, or Noah's Ark, Society" — but specified animals would be collected "as objects of scientific research, not of vulgar admiration."

The zoo has been in the science business ever since.

London Zoo is not the world's oldest zoo, nor the biggest or most comprehensive. But it is a pacemaker in zoo science.

Its publications are the world's basic reference works on zoos and zoological literature. Its scientists are deep into research on the twilight area which separates men from beasts — or perhaps joins them.

One zoo team, calling its study "Straight from the horse's mouth," is studying plaque — the bacterial stuff which corrodes your teeth — in "primates, herbivores and insectivores." Perhaps it will find clues to healthier human teeth.

Another group is trying to find out why men get heart attacks and animals don't — or rather, why 654 out of 655 species don't. Only lions share spontaneous heart attacks with man.

Two fully equipped zoo institutes study other animal matters which might have human application — the role of fatty acids in diet, why blood of the cat family clots so actively, how to store sperm and use it to preserve endangered species.

Aiding this scientific work at the zoo is a sprawling veterinary establishment, complete with an extensive animal hospital. Post mortems are performed on every zoo animal when it dies, but no experiments are made on the animals on show.

Zoo doctors recently did a post mortem on a South American ostrich. They found it had eaten eight keys, a plastic comb, a handkerchief, a piece of knitted material, two beer can rings, a bronze pendant — and 28 coins. It died not of indigestion but of old age.

The zoo draws 1.5 million people a year to its triangular 36 acres in Regent's Park. It depends mainly on admission fees — which totaled more than $2.5 million last year — to survive.

Alone of all national zoos, it gets no government funds.

TV Super Chef Turns To Combatting Divorce

By PETER M. KELLY
EAGLE, Colo. (UPI) — Superchef Graham Kerr, television's former Galloping Gourmet, has traded mousers for marriage counseling and is so busy with his "Christian war against divorce" he has to eat his wife's cooking.

Kerr and his wife, Treena, sold their home in Maryland and moved in June to a mountain valley 8,000 feet high in the Colorado Rockies where they plan to open their marriage counseling "ministry."

"We believe God did His number on us," Kerr said. "We didn't think there was any hope for our marriage. After what God did for us, we have to believe He can do it for others."

The Kerrs have built a small chapel and three of 22 planned "ministry" cottages isolated in valley meadows shadowed by the Sangre de Cristo Mountains 200 miles west of Denver. The cottages are for couples who spend a week at the retreat in an attempt to save their marriages.

The cottages already built are in the form of a cross with large stone fireplaces, skylights, atrioms and sunken bathtubs so a person "can look right out the window while lying in soapsuds," said Kerr.

Couples at the retreat will spend most of their time alone, except for daily prayer and conversations with the Kerrs or others about the influence of God in marriage. The cost will be $24 a day, a price Kerr said "is an expense-only fee."

"In our lives, we had all the success the world looks for," Kerr said. "We had a considerable amount of money in the bank and material possessions but we had absolutely nothing in our marriage. Treena was on drugs and was about to be committed to a mental institution when, suddenly, everything changed."

The change occurred a year ago when Mrs. Kerr went to a Maryland church and experienced what she said was the presence of God. She said she opened her eyes and saw "this incredible, beautiful man with this beautiful smile. I was filled with an incredible joy."

She said she went home and threw away her drugs and began reading scripture. Kerr was converted three months later.

The couple withdrew their savings from the bank, bought the 420 acres of mountain land and built the retreat.

"We've undertaken what we call a Christian war against divorce," Kerr said. "This is God's work. We've given every single cent of what we have for it and I've never felt more secure in my life now that I don't have anything. We get things back, not material things but spiritual things."

One of the things the Kerrs don't have is television. Despite his success as a TV chef, Kerr blames the tube, along with pornography, alcohol and women's lib, for the strains of marriage that can lead to divorce.

"We just feel that the average television station is putting on material which is directly in opposition to what we've been called to do. The programs glorify the single person, the anger between a husband and a wife. The home has not been glorified at all."

Kerr's cooking nowadays is restricted to fixing a quick breakfast for his daughter Kareena, 8, before she goes to school, and he begins to answer mail. He spends three hours a day building the cottages and working on the chapel.

The 42-year-old couple has two other children from their 21-year marriage, Tessa, 20, and Andrew, 16. Tessa is married to John Jopp, who works with the Kerrs at the retreat. The Jopps have an 8-month-old son, Matthew Thomas.

Kerr and his wife blame many divorces on what she calls the current "me culture — what can I get out of life."

Kerr said, "It is the time in which we live. It is a time of selfishness."

"You see, God says whosoever I have put together, let no man put asunder. Since He said it, we believe He means it. It is the thing we have seen work. If the husband and the wife have a really personal relationship with the man called Jesus Christ, then their marriage cannot escape being healed."

THE LONDON ZOO is celebrating its 150th year with a new lion house and an ugly baby named Salome, the first gorilla born at the zoo, and she's been rejected by her mother. (UPI Photo)

Pink Buffalos Are Pampered

By RUTH YOUNGBLOOD
CAVITE, Philippines (UPI) — A water buffalo, the traditional beast of burden in Asia, is doomed to a grim life of hard work and little play. Unless, of course, it happens to be born pink.

Enter 8-year-old Rebecca, a pale pink female who spends her days leisurely munching pasture grass, frolicking in mud and swimming in her private pool. Her caretakers say her color makes her the only one of her kind in the Philippines.

The pampered Rebecca has become the major tourist attraction at a monastery founded in 1962 by a missionary from New York who wanted to help the poor by giving them jobs and offering their children a chance for higher education.

The Rev. Fred Julien, the 66-year-old founder-director of the monastery in this city 35 miles south of Manila, has had the satisfaction of seeing his goal accomplished and smiles at Rebecca for her unknowing help in raising funds to keep the facility going.

Silas Micu, one of the workers tending the huge farm and picturesque gardens at the National Shrine of Our Lady of La Salette where the monastery is located, said Jesuit missionaries came across Rebecca on a nearby farm when she was a few years old. Realizing the rarity of the buffalo and her potential tourist attraction, Micu said, the farmer asked for and received $500 for Rebecca.

Thus ended any prospect of a life of hardship for Rebecca, whose common brown, grey and black colleagues across Asia spend their days plowing fields or pulling heavy carts filled with everything from people to fertilizer.

Rebecca is accustomed to having her picture taken and obligingly stands still while tourists use up rolls of color film photographing her. Many visitors then stroll into the handicraft shop, spending money that is used to help support the monastery's humanitarian work.

Rebecca is not shy around people and allows strangers to come within a few yards of her. But Micu said proudly: "I'm one of the two people she will let pet her. The other is the young man whose job is to see that Rebecca's wishes are fulfilled."

That man's job is to see that the animal gets all the grass she wants, that her mud hole is kept muddy even on dry days and that her private concrete swimming pool is filled daily with 60 gallons of fresh water.

"Aside from eating, her most enjoyable hours are spent wallowing in mud and lying in the pool afterwards," Micu said.

Now's the time to buy chicken during our big Chicken Jamboree at Big Star. And Holly Farms is the chicken to buy. It's bred and fed to be plump and juicy. It's always U.S.D.A. Inspected. And every piece is always Grade A (or it doesn't reach our store.) Shipped chilled, never frozen or packed in ice. And it's dated for freshness right on the package. If you haven't tried Holly Farms Chicken before, now's the time. Look for the bright red and yellow ribbon emblem that identifies every package of Holly Farms Chicken. Now at Big Star.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS Post-Franco Falangists Divided

COMPACT, economical-to-build, one-bedroom retirement house is designed for a narrow and level lot. The cross-lighted and cross-ventilated living-dining space opens on screen porches which add to the usable space and augment privacy. The 8 by 10 kitchen has an L-shape work counter, space for a breakfast table at the window and an outside door, handy to the carport and garden. A storage room also is handy to the kitchen as well as to the front door. Plan HA910R, which contains 764 square feet, was designed by Jan Reiner, 1000 52nd Street North, St. Petersburg, Fla. 33710. Anyone wishing further information can write to Reiner, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Art Helps Teach Deaf Children

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Too much emphasis has been placed on deaf learners' disabilities instead of on their abilities, says Dr. Betty Miller, who studied the potential of "Deaf Students as Artists" for her doctoral thesis in art education at Pennsylvania State University.

The researcher, an associate professor of art at Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C., is herself a deaf learner who credits art with enhancing her self-image and ability to communicate.

She enlisted the help of four deaf Gallaudet students and two deaf assistants for her study, which she says has determined that a combination of art and sign language can help deaf students express themselves — both artistically and psychologically.

Telling the students to express themselves through drawing, she videotaped them at work. Later, through the use of Ameslan — American Sign Language — the students and teacher discussed the implications of the works.

The students' images of themselves came through graphically in the drawings, says Dr. Miller, a faculty member at Gallaudet since 1959. Their perceptions about deafness particularly were revealed.

For example, one student did a drawing which included a packaged ear, carrying a $7,000 price tag.

"Because deaf learners are auditorily deprived, much emphasis has been placed on the teaching of speech, lipreading and English so that deaf learners can supposedly function well in the hearing world," Dr. Miller points out. "Because of this emphasis, the deaf learners do not grow in their own right but instead become imitators of hearing people. Very little has been done about making use of their visual and tactile abilities."

Dr. Miller, who received the doctor of education degree at the summer term commencement exercises, is codirector of "Spectrum, Focus on Deaf Learners," an organization founded in 1974 in Austin, Tex.

FIRST MALL

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — King Carl XVI Gustaf and Queen Silvia inaugurated the "Gallerian" — the Swedish capital's first enclosed mall — on October 8. The three-floor arcade houses 25 shops and gardens.

pollutants."

As for the project itself, Guentzler used three different types of electronic ignition systems on 18 different student cars. They ranged from a Datsun to a Cadillac. There were four, six and eight cylinder models. Some had standard transmissions, some automatic.

Better Mileage Can Be Had From The Old Car

By CLARENCE ZAITZ SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A college professor says you can get better mileage and cut pollution on your old car.

Dr. William D. Guentzler, associate professor of the Department of Industrial Studies at San Diego State University bases this contention on some research he has done. It simply shows gasoline mileage on older cars can be increased by as much as 20 per cent and pollutants decreased considerably with installation of electronic ignition systems.

Most new cars have such systems. Older ones don't. A kit to install one in an older car can be had for $50. Guentzler says the handy home auto mechanic can usually manage the installation.

Guentzler feels so strongly about the value of installing electronic ignitions in older cars, he has been pushing for a state law to require them.

But, since electronic ignitions are not now required in older cars, Guentzler says car owners should consider their advantages against some other factors before deciding to put them in.

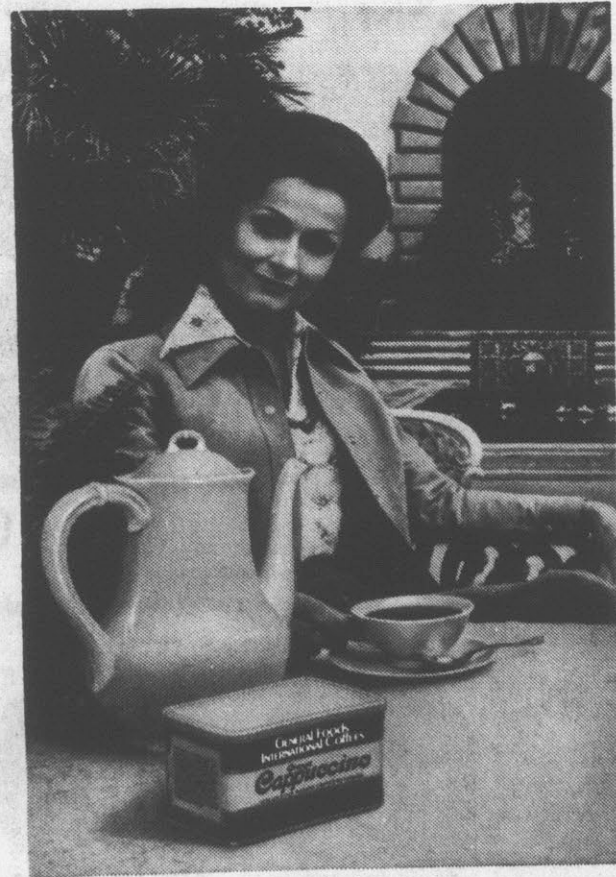

On the plus side, in addition to better mileage and less pollution, are more time between needed tuneups, increased spark plug life and elimination of breaker points in the distributor.

Just two miles a gallon in better mileage would quickly cover the investment in the new ignition for a car driven 12,000 to 20,000 miles a year. But the driver must also consider whether he will keep the car for a while or whether the ignition unit he installs can be adapted to another vehicle.

Guentzler got into the project because of a request from a local official, San Diego County Supervisor Lou Conde. Now Conde has called on the state resources board to heed the results as another option for meeting air quality standards.

"With a 5 per cent cut here and an 8 per cent cut there," Conde said, "we can put together a package which will save a lot of energy and

"I love Italy. I love oranges. I love coffee. That's why I love Orange Cappuccino."

"Orange Cappuccino, inspired by Italian Cappuccino, is a delicious new flavor from General Foods International Coffees. It has a creamy brown color and a delicate aroma — yet it's a full-bodied coffee with the enticing taste of orange.

The flavor is so satisfying I drink it the way the Italians drink their Cappuccino — in a relaxed and unhurried way." Carol Lawrence
