

New Pitt Tech Facility Proposed At Board Meet

The Pitt Technical Institute Board of Trustees proposed plans for the new Pitt Technical Institute shop/classroom facility which will be located on campus at its meeting Monday.

Building Committee Chairman, Clifton Everett, Sr., reported to the Board that the initial building plans had been submitted to the Office of State Property and Construction. He stated that Trustee Vernon White, Board Chairman, and A.B. Whitley, Jr., along with Pitt Technical Institute's President William E. Fulford and George Shoe, architect, had met with staff members of the Office of State Property and Construction to discuss those areas in which there were differences of opinions. The Building Committee and Board plan to continue working with its architect and the Office of State Property and Construction to resolve the differences.

Harold (Jeep) Streeper, the newly elected president of the PTI Student Government Association, reported to the Board regarding a survey being conducted by the SGA. He indicated that one of the major concerns of students appeared to be the need for additional paved parking. He shared with the Trustees the preliminary findings of the SGA's survey, to which there had been a 56 per cent response from students.

A gift of 2,000 linear feet of steel pipe, valued at $1,200, to Pitt Tech by the Eaton Corporation was formally accepted and acknowledged by the Board. The pipe will be used in the Welding Program and for institutional projects.

In response to a request by the Dean of Fiscal Affairs, the Trustees adopted a motion to assess a $5 service fee against persons whose checks are returned to the Institute due to insufficient funds.

In his remarks to the Trustees, President Fulford commented on several new concepts to be implemented by the Institute's Continuing Education (Extension) Division. He said the school plans to begin offering short courses or seminars (approximately 10 to 12 hours in length) of a contemporary nature—such topics to include The Great Hidden Killer—High Blood Pressure (or Hypertension), Dress for Success, Pros/Cons of Condominium Ownership, Apartment Management, etc. According to President Fulford, these topics are of current interest to the public and he felt that Pitt Tech has a responsibility to meet these educational needs.

President Fulford also reported that the Physicians Assistant (PA) Program would receive $50,000 from the Coastal Plains Regional Commission for its further development. He indicated that the Institute plans to employ a Medical/Program Director (a physician), effective January 1, 1977, who would be responsible for the overall development of the new PA Program.

In other business, the Trustees were informed that for 1975-76 the average cost per membership hour of instruction for Occupational Extension programs was 44 cents; and General Adult Education, 42 cents.

Spruce Goose Revived?

HUGHES FLYING BOAT 29 YEARS LATER — This is the first official picture to be released since 1947 of the famed Howard Hughes wooden flying boat, named the Hercules and also dubbed the "Spruce Goose". It has been in a guarded hangar at Long Beach, Calif. since the day

Hughes flew it across the harbor, Nov. 2, 1947. Its wingspan of 320 feet makes it the largest ever constructed. A spokesman said it's in "mint condition" and the Navy may use it for experimental tests. (AP Wirephoto)

More Flu-Like Symptoms Hit Missouri Community

ATLANTA (AP) — The Center for Disease Control said today that other residents of a Missouri community where an apparent case of swine flu was detected are also showing flu-like symptoms and that tests are under way to determine the nature of their illness.

The nation's first case of swine flu in nine months apparently was detected in a 32-year-old telephone lineman, Larry Hardison, in Lafayette County, Mo. Hardison, who has since recovered, showed flu-like symptoms in mid-October.

A spokesman for the CDC here, Katherine Lord, said laboratory tests of blood samples from Hardison showed swine flu antibodies sufficient for a diagnosis of apparent swine flu.

But she said the diagnosis must be further confirmed by other evidence, such as possible spread of the virus, or by an isolation of the virus, itself, from persons who contract it.

Three CDC technicians have been dispatched to the county to gather that evidence, she said.

"There is an influenza-like illness out there. That's what we're doing tests on. This has occurred among the community in which the man lives and a college population in the same county," she said.

The spokesman cautioned, however, that there is no evidence of an outbreak in that county. She said no reports of influenza from that county have yet appeared in the CDC's weekly report of illnesses.

About 20 blood samples from persons in the area who are displaying flu-like symptoms and from close contacts of Hardison are being analyzed at the CDC facility here, she said. The results are not expected until Friday.

The swine flu virus can be spread by human-to-human contact or by human-animal contact.

She said the CDC technicians dispatched to Lafayette County do not know yet whether Hardison may have contracted the illness from an animal.

The presence of swine flu antibodies in his blood sample indicates that at some time Hardison had been "challenged" by swine flu, but does not indicate when the contact occurred, she said.

"It is insufficient now to say this is a case of swine flu. It is an apparent case of swine flu. What we're trying to do is authenticate that this is a case of swine flu," she added.

CIA Director Geo. Bush To Resign Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Bush announced today he is resigning as director of the Central Intelligence Agency effective inauguration day.

Bush's announcement was issued by a CIA spokesman. The announcement said Bush "would not remain as director after Jan. 20, 1977."

It said Bush "pledged his continuing full assistance" to President-elect Jimmy Carter during the transition between administrations.

"Mr. Bush informed President Ford and President-elect Carter of his decision," the announcement said.

It gave no indication of Bush's future plans.

Bush briefed Carter for nearly six hours last Friday at the president-elect's home in Plains, Ga., on the highly secret methods the CIA uses to gather intelligence around the world.

Bush told reporters in Plains that he had visited Ford before flying to Georgia and was told to give Carter full access to any information he might desire.

Disagree Over Oil Pricing

KUWAIT (AP) — Ten Arab oil ministers meeting here have been unable so far to agree on what increase in the price of crude oil the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries should set when it meets Dec. 15.

Iraq's oil minister said his government demands a 25 per cent boost in the present base price of $11.51 per barrel. Saudi Arabia, the world's largest exporter, has not made its position public but is thought to want the increase held to about eight per cent for fear of further damaging the world economy.

The oil minister of Qatar, Abdulaziz bin Khalifa al-Thani, said his country would support an increase of 10-15 per cent. Many observers expect the hike to be in this range.

Iran, the second largest oil exporter, is not attending the meeting because it is not an Arab nation.

The Iraqi oil minister, Tayih Abdul-Karim, told reporters: "Oil prices should be adjusted to inflation. The OPEC must increase oil prices by at least 25 per cent."

MOSQUITO CONTROL

Do the bug spray machines that come around use DDT? G. R.

According to Mayo Allen, director of public works, the substance sprayed by the mosquito control fogger does not contain DDT. The mist contains 95 percent malathion, an Environmental Protection Agency-approved insecticide, and five percent inert ingredients.

Allen said there is no danger whatsoever in the spray. He added that the mosquito control program is now concentrating more on preventing mosquitoes from breeding than actually killing the insects.

He said the present program is "one of the best we have had in a long time," and noted that the man who does the spraying is licensed by the state health department.

Says Cost-Sharing Of Natural Gas A Rip-Off

RALEIGH (AP) — A proposal that residential natural-gas customers share the cost of expensive "emergency gas" to keep North Carolina factories running this winter was termed "a ripoff" by a Utilities Commission economist.

Dennis W. Goins said in an interview Tuesday that the gas distributing companies are "just trying to eliminate all the risk and sell all the gas they can, the hell with the scarcity of resources."

The gas companies told the Utilities Commission at a public hearing that gas rates for industrial customers would double in many cases if industrial customers were required to pay the full cost of the additional gas.

The average price industry pays for gas is much lower than that paid by residential customers.

The industry plan would mean an increase of about 15 per cent for residential customers of Public Service Co. of N.C., about 23 per cent to residential customers of N.C. Natural Gas Co., and about 10 per cent to those of Piedmont Natural Gas Co.

Because of the natural gas shortage, the supplies from Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. (Transco) will be inadequate to serve industrial customers who cannot substitute other fuels for natural gas. In that group are textile and fertilizer manufacturers and other industries that use natural gas as a part of their manufacturing processes.

Federal Power Commission regulations prohibit Transco from buying gas at prices higher than the regulated price. However, the North Carolina distributors can buy emergency gas supplies at whatever price they are willing to pay.

Under the proposal, the companies would pass the cost of emergency gas in the form of a surcharge to the current rates.

Predict Power-Growth Will Be Below Estimate

RALEIGH (AP) — The state Utilities Commission says an analysis indicates that the future peak load growth of Duke Power Co. and Carolina Power & Light Co. will not be as great as the companies estimated.

The commission announced Tuesday that its staff had completed an initial analysis of electric energy and peak load growth in the service areas of the two companies. The staff also developed preliminary 10-year forecasts for growth to 1986.

The forecasts were prepared for presentation at hearings beginning Jan. 11 on power demands of the future.

The staff forecast that CP&L's peak load will reach 9.9 million kilowatts by 1986. The Duke peak load is expected to reach 16.7 million kilowatts by that same year.

Of CP&L, the commission said, "The staff forecast for 1968 is approximately 1,200,000 kilowatts, or one very large generating plant, less than the 1968 peak load prediction extrapolated from the forecast which Carolina Power & Light

Co. made in 1975."

However, the commission said the 1976 forecast by CP&L "is substantially less than its 1975 forecast and indicates that peak load will reach 10.2 million kilowatts by 1986. This is approximately 250,000 kilowatts greater than the commission staff forecast."

In its analysis of Duke, the commission staff forecast a peak load 860,000 kilowatts, or one generating plant, less than the company's figures had indicated. Duke's 1976 forecast has not been completed.

Suspects 'Glassy-Eyed Madman' Linked To Legionnaires Disease

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A delegate to last summer's state American Legion convention here says he believes a "glassy-eyed" madman may have known about the mysterious Legionnaires' disease before it struck.

George Chiavetta, a Lorton, Pa., legionnaire, testified Tuesday at the start of a two-day hearing by the House Subcommittee on Consumer Protection, chaired by Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y.

Chiavetta said his theory was based on a remark made by a "glassy-eyed man in a royal blue suit" who was mingling with delegates at the state convention.

What caught his attention, Chiavetta said, was the man's remark that "It's too late. You won't be saved. The legionnaires are doomed."

In other testimony, Dr. Leonard Bachman, Pennsylvania's health secretary, said investigators were no closer than ever to finding the cause of the disease, which killed 29 persons and made 151 others sick before running its course.

Bachman defended the state Health Department, saying it acted responsibly, but that much work remained to be done.

Murphy has criticized health agencies for what he has called inept handling of the investigation in the early stages of the outbreak. He said as the hearing opened that federal investigators wasted precious time assuming swine flu was the culprit. He said informed scientific opinion now leans toward poisons or industrial toxins.

Dr. F. William Sunderman, director of the Institute for Clinical Science here, said nickel carbonyl, a clear, odorless liquid that he said resembled "gin or vodka" could easily have been sneaked into the hotel where the legionnaires were meeting. He said the disease's symptoms resembled those reported by industrial workers overexposed to the substance.

Chiavetta said he saw the man in the royal blue suit, described as from 5-foot-10 to 6 feet tall, mingling with delegates on three occasions, the last time about 10 p.m. the night before the convention ended.

"I told my wife that the man might be some sort of a nut or something," he said. "He looked glassy-eyed and his face was flushed. There was an object in his right inside breast pocket that resembled a leather tobacco pouch."

"A string or a tube appeared to be attached to his tie which was all twisted up, and that was connected to something in his right hand, like a piece of literature."

Chiavetta said a Dauphin County detective relayed his story to the Pennsylvania Department of Health. Four other members of his Legion post saw the man also, he testified.

Hints Agriculture Post Going To Midwesterner

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Jimmy Carter has indicated he may reach into the Midwest for his secretary of agriculture — a move that would follow a long tradition of filling the post with Midwesterners.

Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., said Carter told him Tuesday that the secretary of agriculture should be an advocate and spokesman for farmers, should have farm experience himself and probably should be from the Midwest.

Six of the past nine secretaries of agriculture, beginning with Henry Am Wallace of Iowa in 1933, have had Midwest or Plains States backgrounds.

Carter already has named a Midwesterner to head his farm transition team. Lynn M. Daft, originally from Baltimore, Ohio, is in charge of arranging a smooth entry for Carter's agriculture secretary.

Daft, 39, a former Agriculture Department economist, said Tuesday he had no idea when Carter might choose his agriculture secretary.

Daft soon will be meeting with outgoing Agriculture Secretary John A. Knebel, an Oklahoman, or his aides to work out transition procedures.

Sources said Tuesday that James E. Bostick, 29, deputy assistant secretary for rural development who is USDA's highest ranked black official, will be the department's top liaison to the Carter team.

Daft said his main task will be "to come to grips with the major policy issues" that will face the new secretary and to provide options for his consideration.

High on that agenda will be drafting new farm legislation to replace laws that expire in 1977, including programs for wheat, corn, cotton and other important commodities.

Aides to Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said Tuesday that bills covering those programs and others — including food stamps and Food for Peace — are being prepared for introduction as soon as Congress convenes on Jan. 4.

Daft came to Washington in 1964. After working for the National Commission on Food Marketing and the President's Commission on Rural Poverty, he joined USDA as an economist on the staff of then-Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, a Minnesotan.

He remained at USDA as an economist for several years after the Nixon administration took office in 1969, later worked at the Office of Management and Budget and for the past year has been with the Congressional Budget Office.

Guidelines For Swine Flu Shot

NEW YORK (AP) — The Center for Disease Control uses age and health as determining factors for who should or shouldn't receive the swine flu vaccine and what type vaccine is needed.

A spokesman for the CDC said the following applies:

Under 6 months: none
For healthy children:

—6 months to 3 years: none
—3 to 17 years: two shots of swine flu vaccine. Supplies are available for one out of 10 children.

For children with chronic illness:

—6 months to 17 years: two shots of "bivalent" vaccine that protects against both swine and A-Victoria strains.

For healthy adults:

—18 to 24 years: a shot of swine flu vaccine and a booster.

—25 to 65 years: one shot of swine flu vaccine.

For adults with chronic illness:

—18 to 24 years: two shots of bivalent vaccine.

—25 to 65 years: one shot of bivalent vaccine.

For those over 65: one shot of bivalent vaccine.

Some states have lowered the minimum age for the bivalent vaccine in healthy or chronically ill adults from 65 to 50.

The symptoms for swine flu and A-Victoria strains are similar to those of any flu: fever, chills, headache, dry cough, soreness and aching, a feeling of weakness, the CDC said.

Only a laboratory technician can determine if the strain is the swine flu.

Resented Elvis' Publicity

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Singer Jerry Lee Lewis says it was resentment of favorable publicity given to Elvis Presley that made him scream curses and wave a pistol outside the gates of Presley's mansion.

Lewis, 40, was arrested Tuesday and charged with public drunkenness. It was the second arrest within two days for the rock 'n' roll singer.

On Monday, Lewis was charged by Collierville, Tenn., police with drunken driving, reckless driving and having no driving license following the wreck of his $46,000 Rolls Royce.

In the second arrest, police said Lewis was found sitting in his 1976 Lincoln Continental with a .38-caliber pistol, cocked and loaded, lying on his knee. He was freed on $250 bond and ordered to appear today in City Court.

CB-Buyers Are Warned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shoppers who see citizens-band radios offered at big discounts this month should be wary, the Federal Trade Commission says.

More than half the CB sets on the market now will be obsolete next month, when the government raises the number of CB channels from 23 to 40.

Some of the 23-channel sets for sale now can be converted to 40 channels. But about four million cannot. Those are the sets being offered now at attractive discounts, the FTC said Tuesday.

The 23-channel sets will still work after Jan. 1. However, they won't pick up or transmit over the additional 17 channels being added to accommodate increased CB use.

"It appears that a substantial number of consumers considering the purchase of a CB may not be aware of the future usefulness of a 23-channel CB," the FTC said.

It advised consumers to make sure they knew whether they wanted a 40-channel set and whether the manufacturer of a new 23-channel set would convert it.

Displeased By Public Reaction

RALEIGH (AP) — A state health official is displeased that so few North Carolinians have had swine flu shots. He says, "If it (swine flu) came through tomorrow, I think we would have as full-blown an epidemic as if we hadn't done anything at all."

The official, Dr. J.N. McCormack, head of the Communicable Disease Control Branch, said Tuesday that only 13 to 14 per cent of Tar Heels had received the shots.

Suspect Careless Smoking To Blame

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Careless smoking was probably the cause of a flash fire that badly damaged the downtown New Lexington Hotel last week, leaving two persons dead and several others injured, Fire Chief John Lohr says.

The hotel was "overdue" for a fire-safety inspection although one was not required by law, he added.

"I haven't gotten a report from the SBI, but I think they have concluded it was smoking in bed, or careless smoking at least," Lohr said Tuesday.

Arson has been ruled out, he added.

David Allen Smith, 75, a resident of the hotel, and Hazel Holt Leach, 65, a transient police had sent to the hotel for the night, died when the fire ripped through the 45-year-old building the previous Tuesday night.

Lohr said investigators have determined in which room the fire started, but said he did not know the name of the occupant of the room. He said, however, that he did not believe the occupant was either of the persons killed.

Lohr said the hotel had not been given a fire-safety inspection since June, 1975, although it is fire department practice to inspect such buildings twice a year.

He said inspectors had been unable to locate the manager when they wanted to make the inspections. He said a "pre-planning inspection" was made eight weeks ago, but inspectors did not enter the rooms.

Lohr said records of 1974 inspections showed the condition of the hotel to be "fair."

"You could have an inspection this morning, but that doesn't mean you can't have a fire tonight," Lohr said however.

Lohr said he expects to receive the SBI report on the fire soon. He said the owner of the building had only partial insurance coverage.

Lucy Misses Her Work: Records Make 'But It Was Time To Quit' Good Gifts

By KATHY BARBER HERSH MANZANILLO, Mexico (UPI) — Back in 1951, a red-headed star of what some called "B" pictures and her Cuban band-leader husband had an idea for a television show.

The bosses of the fledgling television business said, "If you won't go to New York and do it on kinescope, then forget it."

Lucille Ball said "fine" and they went right ahead and did it their way. They stayed in California and did it on film. The rest is television history.

Twenty-five years later "I love Lucy" is still being re-run in 79 countries and television's funniest and longest-running comedienne is a very rich lady and instantly recognized wherever she goes in the world.

Here for a big backgammon tournament at a major new hotel near this Mexican coast resort, she reminisced in between games on one of the biggest of show biz success stories:

"We had a good script, so we borrowed $5,000 and did it ourselves on film. It snowballed. That was much more of a surprise to us than to anyone.

We wound up owning it."

She is especially proud of the innovations introduced on the show.

"The three cameras, the audience...that we did first. It was the reason for the success of the show, that I had the audience there. It was like real show biz, opening night, once a week."

"Of course, when television first started we weren't aware of how intimate it was going to be, that people would really feel that we were right in their homes. We didn't know that until the third year. We made our first trip back to New York and got mobbed."

She has been called the "Queen of Comedy," but Miss Ball attributes her funniness entirely to her writers.

"I never go around thinking I'm funny because I know I'm not. I can depict what they write but I don't think funny. I learned from them."

Nowadays, Lucy herself enjoys viewing old "I Love Lucy" shows.

"I sometimes see some of the re-runs," she explained. "And I laugh at Vivian (Vance) and the other people. When I was making them I had to look at rushes and look with a very critical eye at what we were doing, what I was doing. Now I can enjoy them."

Miss Ball doesn't think that television today is the 'vast wasteland' of ten years ago.

But she is very critical of what she calls "Madison Avenue" for turning against half-hour shows, which are now making a comeback.

"I think Madison Avenue abdicated a long time ago when they went into the long two and three hours, four hours, five hours, six hours, by buying the pictures and making the long, long version of everything. I call that abdication."

Although she worked hard to get into 'show business' and spent 18 years in the film industry prior to her television success, she never really 'made it big' in pictures, her great comic talent largely unrecognized.

"I've never thought the grass was greener some other place. When I was just starting it never bothered me what I did. I knew I was learning — that was the important thing — and I was part of show biz. I could never get into show business in New York. All I knew was vaudeville. I never knew it was 'dead'."

Does she miss it all, now that she is semi-retired, doing two specials a year for CBS?

"Quitting my show, losing my arena, was very traumatic for me. I miss my work. I miss Gale Gordon and I miss Vivian. But it was time to quit. I had launched my kids. I had them on the last three years and they were on their own flying right. I had really done as much as I should have, I think."

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER United Press International

If you are uncertain about what to give your friends for Christmas, consider phonograph records.

Most people like music and it is more than likely that your friends have the equipment to play records or tapes, or both.

Christmas records are seasonal, of course, but they can be played every year at Yuletide. And there are a number of excellent ones that can be purchased at record stores.

Caedmon Records, which has been the leader in the spoken word field for more than 20 years, offers "Dylan Thomas Reading A Child's Christmas in Wales and Five Poems," Judith Anderson reading Charles Tazewell's "The Littlest Angel," and Louis Jourdan reading "Babar and Father Christmas and Babar and His Children." In a departure from the spoken word, Caedmon also has recorded "The Story of the Music Box," 31 melodies of 19th century antique music boxes.

Polydor Records is offering a specially priced two-record set, the "Osmond Christmas Album." The Osmond brothers and Marie sing a medley of Christmas carols and "Silent Night," but most of the numbers are pop tunes, such as "White Christmas," "Silver Bells," "Sleigh Ride" and "Winter Wonderland."

RCA's newest Yule recording is "Christmas Festival" by The Vienna Choir Boys. Most of the songs are carols, but there are some folk tunes.

If the intended recipient is a teen-ager he undoubtedly will want a rock record, but he may have his favorites so it would be wise to try to find out what are his likes and dislikes.

Complete operas make excellent Christmas, birthday or anniversary gifts and there was a bumper crop of recorded ones produced this year. Opera lovers probably already have the most familiar ones such as "Carmen," "Aida," "Madama Butterfly" and "Faust," so a discreet check should be made to avoid duplication.

Several of the neglected operas of the great composers have been recorded this year and any of them will make an ideal gift for those who already have the standard works. Among them are "Thais" and "Le Cid" by Massenet, Donizetti's "Maria Stuarda," Verdi's "Il Corsaro," Bellini's "I Capuletti e i Montecchi" and Rossini's "Elisabetta."

And to give the Bicentennial year a home-grown flavor, Deutsche Grammophon produced a complete recording of Scott Joplin's opera, "Treemonisha," and London Records came forth with a complete "Porgy and Bess" by George Gershwin.

For those who want to splurge on a gift for a music lover, there is the six-volume recording of "The Heifetz Collection." It covers Jascha Heifetz's brilliant career from 1917 through 1955. There are 24 LPs in the complete collection, but volumes may be purchased separately in some stores.

Another major production that will make an outstanding gift to a jazz buff is "The Tatum Solo Masterpieces." It contains 13 LP's by Art Tatum, one of the most influential of all jazz pianists.

Take 10 Points Off For Neatness

DEAR ABBY: My husband has spent 26 years in the Army where he learned cleanliness, yet he won't bathe or use deodorants on weekends for me. He's immaculate through the week for his job, and he even comes home smelling sweet! But he stinks all weekend! Drinks all weekend! Resents everything I say! He's typical Scorpio—negative and ready to fight!

What's your prognosis?

M.T.

DEAR M.T.: With your Scorpio on weekend rampages, you should worry less about my prognosis than your own proboscis. If your old soldier continues his course of smelly misbehavior, I'd courtmartial him.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who knocks herself out helping others, but never seems to have time to do her own housework or look after her own family.

She will leave her own four school-age children to shift for themselves while she looks after the neighbor's kids whose mother is sick. She's always working for church rummage sales or P.T.A. suppers. She's even done laundry for her friends and neighbors, but her own house is a mess.

Last Sunday she cooked a chicken dinner for a motherless family across town while her own family ate egg salad sandwiches.

How do you set a big-hearted person like that straight without hurting her feelings?

CHICAGOAN

DEAR CHIC: You may not be able to "set her straight," but you can try to understand her. I don't mean to put down your "big-hearted" friend, but her kind of generosity is often misguided.

She knocks herself out for friends and neighbors because she hungers for the praise, thanks and reputation for helping others. If her own family is neglected, it doesn't bother her. A truly generous person gives her best to her family first, and if there's any time and energy to spare, she extends it to others.

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and in the seventh grade. They divided the whole seventh grade into several different classes, and they put me in the class with all the dummies and the talkers. I am a hard worker, I enjoy competition and I like to get good grades.

I can't stand it! I am going up a wall! The kids in my class are so dumb that if I mention a word with more than six letters in it they look at me like I'm a freak.

Can you give me some advice before I go crazy?

UPSET IN INDIANA

DEAR UPSET: Ask your teacher to put you into a class where you will have more of a challenge.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Cooking Is Fun

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

One of the entertainments in a cook's life is creating a good dish by chance. Here's a recent such happening at my house.

Last Christmas a friend sent us a bottle of Vanilla Cordial she had made. Somehow or other it was shoved far back in a corner cupboard and forgotten. Six months later we cleaned the cupboard and found the bottle. Remembering we had a package of black mission figs at hand, we chanced anointing them with the Cordial. The result was delicious. You may want to consider making a batch for serving or giving at holiday time.

VANILLA FIGS
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
1 1/2 cups water
1 vanilla bean, split lengthwise
1 3/4 cups light rum
1 pound black mission figs
In a medium saucepan over low heat stir together the sugars, water and vanilla bean until sugars dissolve; bring to a boil; simmer for 5 minutes. Cool. Stir in the rum. Turn figs into a crock or jar (at least 1 1/2 quarts). Add rum mixture, including the vanilla bean. Cover and let stand at room temperature for at least 2 weeks before serving as an accompaniment to meat or poultry.

Make use of the peel from fresh grapefruit and oranges by candying it. Nice to give as holiday gifts.

Mrs. Helms Shows Slides At Club Meet

The Greenville Garden Club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. E. Corbett. Mrs. Marshall Helms, horticulture chairman of the club, presented the program.

She showed colored slides of flowers from East and South Africa and compared them with local ones. She was introduced by Mrs. J. C. Galloway.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Paul Davenport, president, who welcomed guests. Mrs. Marie Clark introduced her sister, Mrs. Vera Smith of Vanceboro and Mrs. W. E. Avery.

Mrs. J. H. Klingenschmitt gave a report on the handicapped and told what they are doing to help beautify the court of their building.

The group voted to contribute to the Greenville Art Center and to forgotten patients.

Mrs. R. V. Keel showed several dried arrangements which she had prepared.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. P. P. Ashton, Mrs. Gilbert Peel and Mrs. Corbett.

The next meeting will be a covered-dish dinner party at the home of Mrs. Ernest Holt.

Nervously Eye N.C. Revenues

As they have for some time now, state officials are nervously eying the trend of state revenues.

When the state budget was prepared two years ago, some paring was necessary because of the national recession of the time. Then even further cuts had to be made last year to stay within revenues.

There was hope then, however that with an improving economy the outlook would be much better when the 1977-79 budget was prepared. But even this year revenues are running slightly behind estimates.

Revenue Sec. Howard Coble still thinks the state is in good shape. "I'm by no means ready to push the panic button," he said.

Still October showed the smallest increase of the year — at 11.47 percent. Estimates were based on an average growth of 13 percent per month.

Of course, the state is in no financial problems, but it faces demands for new services and increases in pay. Since no one is in favor of a tax increase the new demands will have to be financed out of revenue growths. And since revenue growth is soft right now, that means problems for the budget makers. It's not a serious problem but it does mean that some demands will not be met.

Fantasy Of Atlantis Is Hard To Spoil

When the world's foremost undersea expert Jacques Cousteau says the legendary city of Atlantis is a myth, one has to listen. Cousteau searched the Aegean sea for 13 months looking for the lost Atlantis.

He concluded that it did not exist; rather that it was a fantasy built up by Plato.

Man has long speculated that the lost city of Atlantis sunk into the sea. Probably as Cousteau says, this is fantasy; nevertheless men will always dream and speculate that the mythical city did indeed exist.

THIS AFTERNOON

Everybody To Be Involved

By BILL NOBLITT
(Last of Three Articles)

RALEIGH — When it comes to making policy for North Carolina's public schools, everybody has a part, not just educators, educational institutions, and other important educational decision makers.

That is perhaps the most important conclusion reached by a team of education experts gathered recently to explore problems of reading in the public schools, and how state policy affects that.

After exploring the weaknesses in educational policymaking in this state which cause "policy to break down — to inhibit and erode rather than to nourish and support the factors which will improve the quality of education..." conference participants outlined several recommendations designed to improve education in general, and reading in particular.

Total Effort
Total involvement of the "various publics" was the first such recommendation — involving government, the media, the public, political leaders, students, parents and teachers.

A system is needed for clear-cut public channels through which opinions and ideals can be voiced, to the end that widespread support is gained for decisions; that decisions will result from insights and ideas from a variety of people; that decision-makers will have "accurate knowledge of public feelings rather than randomly perceived notions..." that the public will demand "a spirit of communication and cooperation between educational institutions and the people they are intended to serve — a spirit that will eliminate demanding pressures that often result in fast, thoughtless, costly, and ineffective action;" and that healthy public debate will clarify and define educational values and goals, participants reported.

The second recommendation is aimed directly at increasing public involvement: "Educational policy should be stated in broad and flexible terms, free of obscure and meaningless jargon." Two results are anticipated: local units would be able to make decisions to meet their own needs without duplication, waste, or excessive paperwork; and "no special training or education will be necessary for the majority of people to understand what is meant by the policy."

Individual Needs
Third recommendation calls for a simple rule: "Any policy which directly or indirectly contributes to a low self-image for the learner needs to be reviewed..." to take into account individual development.

The fourth recommendation calls for thorough planning and resource studies before policy is put forth — that is, money for teachers and classroom space would be on hand before a law cuts class sizes,

THE INSIDE REPORT

The Lameduck Nomination

By ROWLANDE EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — In the gloom of the lameduck White House late last Wednesday afternoon, it was announced in a whisper that President Ford was making a nomination for ambassador that reflects the tone of politics prevailing there throughout this election year.

A presidential spokesman announced, accompanied by no press release and followed by scarcely any attention, the nomination of Jack B. Olson, Wisconsin Dells, Wis., businessman, as U.S. ambassador to the Bahamas. Since the Senate had refused to confirm an earlier nomination of Olson, this was a "recess" — between sessions of Congress — nomination permitting Olson temporarily to assume office without Senate confirmation. But since President-elect Carter obviously wants his own man in Nassau, Olson's first diplomatic service will last only a few months.

Then why name him? "Because it will give the guy a few months' golf in the Caribbean at the right time of year and the title of 'ambassador' for the rest of his life," one Senator told us. What's more, it repays a debt owed for crucial support of Mr. Ford for the Republican presidential nomination by Olson, a prominent Wisconsin Republican. In the eyes of presidential aides, this justified booting out the popular, effective ambassador now in Nassau and making the Bahamians think the U.S. regards their country as a vacation reward for political service.

Olson's nomination has generated so much attention because the man he is succeeding, Ambassador Seymour Weiss, is a respected career public servant and courageous critic of East-West detente. For daring to speak up against Secretary of State Henry Kissinger during staff meetings, he was bounced as head of the State Department's bureau of political-military affairs in July 1974 and sent off to Nassau.

With hard-liner Weiss out of phase with the soft-lining State Department bureaucracy, he seemed ideal to make way for Olson. A Wisconsin resort owner and former lieutenant governor, Olson was instrumental in lining up Wisconsin primary election support for Mr. Ford. He wanted a diplomatic post and was promised it, typical of how the Ford White House has functioned.

But hard-line friends of Weiss caused trouble, persuading conservative Republican Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina to block Olson's confirmation in late September. Even when Republican Senate leaders leaned on him to yield the last night of the session, the tenacious Helms would not budge.

The White House denies that Olson pressed the President to fulfill his promises with a recess appointment. Nevertheless, Mr. Ford's determination to put Olson in Nassau after the election was irresistible. With Weiss still on the job and a new President elected, State Department officials — including Dr. Kissinger — were not enthusiastic. It did not matter. The nomination was made Nov. 17 without courtesy notification to Helms or any other Senator.

Helms is not happy, and neither is the Bahamian government. Although Olson wants to be sworn in immediately and immediately leave for Nassau, the Bahamians may delay acceptance of his papers until Jan. 21. That would raise questions about the status of a document signed by Gerald R. Ford, by then just another private citizen.

Tax Cut Or Not?
President-elect Carter heard calls for caution rather than action on a quick tax cut to stimulate the economy when he conferred with key Democratic members of Congress in Lovejoy, Ga., Wednesday.

Rep. Al Ullman of Oregon, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, repeated in private his public calls to go slow on tax cuts — a position quickly seconded by Rep. George Mahon of Texas, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. Chairmen of the Senate and House Budget Committees, Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine and Rep. Brock Adams of Washington, told Carter the new budget year beginning Oct. 1 gives him more time to act.

PRIMARY AND SECONDARY TRUTHS
The Bible is full of primary truths, and subordinate to these it contains secondary truths. Chief among the primary truths are the Fatherhood of God, the Saviorhood of Christ, the brotherhood of man, the ministry of the Holy Spirit, and the authority of the word of God.

Among the secondary truths we find hope, helpfulness, zeal, and charity. These things are important, but they depend upon the primary truths as the flower depends upon the fertile soil for life.

Some people's Christian creed is made up of secondary truths. As a result, many of these people in a day of trouble do not know which way to turn because they have not grasped the higher reality of their religion.

We live in a spiritual universe, surrounded by forces much more powerful than those of nature. To know who God is, what His disposition is toward man, and the means God has taken to save man from the ravages of his own evil—these are the ultimate truths of overwhelming importance.

WELL, DANIEL MANAGED IT!

By ART BUCHWALD

In Defense Of S. Korea

WASHINGTON — It came as a shock to many of us to discover that "brave" little South Korea was one of the big spenders in the nation's capital when it came to money for American congressmen, entertaining Administration officials and giving all-expense trips to the Pearl of the East.

There are some skeptical people in this skeptical town who refer to these gifts as "bribes."

Perish the thought.

All South Korea was trying to do was endear itself to the officials who were trying to help them remain part of the free world.

Let's look at it from South Korea's standpoint. Here is a little country that is dependent on the goodwill of the United States. For 25 years the United States has been supplying it with food, guns and American troops at a cost of billions of dollars.

How can South Korea reciprocate this kindness? One way that makes sense is to give cash to congressmen who are friendly to the country. Another way is to throw lavish parties for our country's leaders in exclusive Georgetown clubs. A third is to present beautiful gifts to the wives of important Washington figures and, finally, they can offer all-expense trips to this exotic country steeped in tradition and history.

The price of all this is a drop in the bucket compared to what we are giving the South Koreans in aid. What better way to show friendship and love for a benefactor than to fix him up with a beautiful Korean girl in Seoul?

But the skeptics say, "All right, the South Koreans have every right to bribe Americans, but what right do the Americans have to accept the bribes?"

The answer is simple. If a congressman or an official refused to accept a gift of cash or an elaborate present from a member of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency he would be an ingrate and would cause the KCIA official to lose face.

The worst thing you can do to a Korean secret agent when he presents you with an envelope stuffed with cash is to give it back to him.

How will the agent explain it to his superiors? What will they think of a man who doesn't even know how to bribe a member of a U.S. legislative body? Will they speculate that the bribe wasn't enough—or perhaps it was too much? A KCIA agent who fails to lay a bribe on an American public official is a marked man, and when he returns to Korea he is liable to long imprisonment or even death by the firing squad.

Most congressmen know this, and rather than risk a man's life they have accepted the cash he has proffered or the entertainment laid on him.

Dean's Goal Is Money

By GREG THOMPSON
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Dallas' millionaires had better take notice.

Dr. Kermit Hunter, just retired as dean of Southern Methodist University's Meadows School of the Arts, is going after big money for his school.

And Hunter has a history of succeeding at what he sets out to do.

At one time or another, Hunter, 65, bought and sold minor league baseball players in West Virginia, studied piano at the Juilliard School of Music, managed the North Carolina Symphony and earned a doctorate in English literature at the University of North Carolina.

He was a newspaper reporter for six years and a professor of literature for eight; he directed the American defense of the Caribbean during World War II and won the Legion of Merit; and he has written more outdoor dramas seen by more people than any other American playwright.

Hunter, who retired June 1 after steering the Meadows School through its first 12 years, is now writer-in-residence and head development officer there.

"I think we can get $10 million to $15 million in 12 to 18 months for the Meadows School," said Hunter. "We're going after the big money — two-three-four million dollar gifts."

The fund-raising drive is part of SMU's latest concentrated effort at boosting its endowment.

Hunter said the Meadows School, founded in 1964, largely through the efforts of Dallas oil millionaire Aljur M. Meadows, Great Britain and France took quick measures today to protect their merchant ships from molestation in Spanish waters just as the Madrid government formally charged that "foreign warships" were aiding insurgent attacks on the socialist fleet.

Britain, reported in informed circles to have characterized an insurgent explanation of their blockade intentions as unsatisfactory, was believed to have ordered four submarines and a depot ship to Spain.

This followed quickly upon foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's warning in the House of Commons that British warships would protect British merchantmen from attack from either side in the Spanish conflict.

The French government instructed the Ministry of the Navy to "take all appropriate measures" looking to the protection of the French flag in Spanish waters.

Carl von Ossietzky, German pacifist, and Carlos Saavedra Lamas, Argentine foreign minister, were announced officially today as winners of Nobel peace prizes.

The prize for 1935 was awarded to von Ossietzky, the publicist who was recently freed from a German prison. Lamas, prominent in the League of Nations and recent president of the League assembly, received the prize for 1936.

Innovation For The Homeowner

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — A mortgage contract under which elderly homeowners can live off the value of their homes while retaining the right of lifetime occupancy is being backed by the nation's major home-lending group.

The innovation conceivably could provide tremendous social and financial benefits, because 70 per cent of households heads over age 65 are homeowners, with a total equity of more than $80 billion.

At the same time, it is estimated that nearly two-thirds of elderly married couples who own their homes have less than desired incomes, and could benefit from obtaining annuities based on their home equity.

The total equity of such elderly homeowners is sufficient to provide annual annuities in excess of $5 billion.

Under the "split equity" plan, the homeowner is assured a home for life, but in the meantime obtains regular cash payments from the buyer. The latter is assured possession when the seller dies.

The concept, long utilized in France, was popularized earlier this year by Prof. Jack M. Guttentag of the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, but had attracted little official endorsement.

However, the new president of the U.S. League of Savings Association, said at the group's annual convention here last week that "We're not promoting it, but we're receptive to the chance to experiment."

"It isn't our main thrust but I like it," said John Hardin, who this year heads the league, which this year will make about 80 percent of all loans on single-family houses.

"We need to work out something to help older people in our society whose only alternative is to sell," said Hardin, president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Rock Hill, S.C.

The new league president indicated, however, that the present regulatory climate would tend to inhibit development of the idea.

He said the associations want flexibility to design mortgages to better fit the needs of borrowers but that the mood of Congress, which oversees the work of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, limits them to fixed-term mortgages.

The associations also seek to experiment with variable rate mortgages, with government-insured mortgages in "ring" neighborhoods on the edge of slums, and with mortgages designed specifically for young home-buyers.

Variable-rate mortgages are now offered by some state-chartered associations, in California especially, but not by federally chartered institutions. Rates under such plans rise and fall with money-market prices.

The program to seek government aid in making loans in rundown but basically sound neighborhoods on the edge of slums is largely a promotion of the savings associations, which have been accused of redlining such areas.

Under their plan, which is now being considered by the House of Representatives, the federal government would co-insure loans in transitional areas on an 80-20 basis, with the greater risk assumed by government.

has an actual endowment of about $6 million. His goal is $35 million.
When he's not coaxing money from millionaires, Hunter is continuing his career as a playwright. He's written more than 40 outdoor productions, seen by more than six million persons. Thirteen of Hunter's plays, including five new ones, were performed this summer.
"No other American playwright has 13 dramas in production," Hunter said. "As far as I know, no American playwright other than Dr. Paul Green has ever had more than 40 plays done professionally." Hunter and Green, a former University of North Carolina philosophy professor, are in the forefront of the outdoor historical drama movement.

"More critics are accepting this as a legitimate movement in American literature," said Hunter. "Since Dr. Green and I are from academic backgrounds, we give the plays an educational cast. They're less commercial."

Hunter's first effort in outdoor theater, "Unto These Hills," was in its 26th season at Cherokee, N.C., this summer and has been seen by more than three million persons. Another Hunter production, "Horn in the West," at Boone, N.C., has run since 1952.
Hunter is preparing to publish his first book, an account of 25 years of producing outdoor dramas. He also says he wants to start a weekly newspaper in Dallas.

Keeping 'Mac' Out

Oil industry operatives and other lobbyists are maneuvering to block liberal Sen. Charles (Mac) Mathias of Maryland from becoming the top Republican on the Senate Judiciary Committee, which next year considers legislation to break up giant oil corporations.

Mathias, rated by the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) as 83 per cent liberal, is scheduled to replace retired conservative Sen. Roman Hruska of Nebraska as leader of the committee's Republicans. But lobbyists are pleading with Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who has a zero ADA rating, to assert seniority over Mathias by giving up the senior Republican position on the Armed Services Committee. A reserve Army Major General, Thurmond dearly loves Armed Services but is expected to yield his post there to keep out Mathias at Judiciary.

N—Noon M—Midnight

By The Associated Press
Fine weather is indicated for North Carolina on Thursday, Thanksgiving Day.
But there may be some rain by late Friday.

It was sunny across the state Tuesday, but the temperatures reminded one that autumn forgot to happen. Afternoon highs reached only into the 40s except for the mountains, where they remained in the 50s.

Soon after sunset, it fell into the 20s in the Piedmont and the mountains. And by sunrise, near record lows were reached in many sections of the Piedmont.

It was chilly again today. A weak, fast-moving low-pressure trough passed over the state. Snow flurries fell in the northwestern mountains during the morning. Then some cloudiness scattered across the state during the day. However, it was mostly sunny.

High temperatures were in the 30s in the mountains, 40s in the Piedmont and the low 50s along the southern coast.
Skies will be fair tonight. It not be as cold. Lows will be in the higher 20s, reaching the 30s along the coast.

On Thanksgiving Day, mostly sunny skies will warm the Piedmont and the coast. But partly cloudy skies will remain in the mountains. The afternoon high temperatures will reach into the 50s, with some 40s expected in the higher elevations.

For the rest of the holiday, some rain may enter the mountains late Friday. There is a chance that it will spread across the state on Saturday. Temperatures will be seasonable. Highs will be in the 60s. Lows will range from the 30s in the mountains to 50s along the coast.

Upgraded Labor Supply Is The Key, Says Hodges

Luther H. Hodges, Jr., chairman of the Board of Manpower Development Corporation, Inc. of Chapel Hill spoke at a Mid-East Commission meeting Thursday night.

Hodges said, "continued growth and development of North Carolina is increasingly dependent on our ability to upgrade our total labor supply."
Hodges' speech marked the start of an experimental manpower project in the Mid-East Region during the next three years.

Jack Runion, chairman of the Regional Manpower Advisory Council for the Mid-East Commission, and George Autry president of MDC, explained the operation. The MDC, operating with private foundation funds, will provide technical assistance to the region's federally funded manpower programs.

This assistance will include full-time MDC staff members working the counties of Beaufort, Bertie, Hertford, Martin and Pitt. It will also include the support of specialists from the MDC staff in Chapel Hill.

The aim of the project is to use the Mid-East Region as a laboratory for identifying and working out techniques to improve the effectiveness of the federally funded manpower programs carried out under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

Runion, Autry and Hodges agreed that the full potential of CETA has not been realized; although, CETA has a national annual appropriation of $1.5 billion, of which more than $1 million comes into the Mid-East Region. The obstacles to more effective use was attributed to a lack of know-how in many local areas.

The joint project is designed to develop know-how in the Mid-East Region and to use results here as a demonstration for other areas.

We owe it to President Park to stop badgering Americans who have willingly or unwillingly accepted money from his agents in the United States.
If President Park wants to show his gratitude to the people who are in charge of foreign aid to his country, we should not show scorn or indignation.

I, for one, am sorry that Mr. Park never considered me important enough to have a KCIA agent slip a packet full of cash under my door. Had he done it, I would have worked very hard to see that South Korea got everything it asked for. Not because he had bribed me but because I would have realized that he cared.

Besides, it was my tax money in the first place.

Outpost City Far From Moscow

By HOWARD A. TYNER
KHABAROVSK, U.S.S.R.
(UPI) — Where can you fly in the same direction for eight hours in a jet plane and still land in the same country from which you began? The answer: only in the Soviet Union.

It takes such a flight — from Moscow to the Soviet Far East — to realize just how large the Soviet Union is.

Your Aeroflot jet lifts off from Moscow's Domodedovo airport in early evening, heading east. Not until shortly before noon local time the next day does it arrive in Khabarovsk. And it is a nonstop flight.

During the journey the traveler crosses seven time zones and 4,000 miles. That's about how far it is from New York to Rome or London to Chicago.

First the steppes of eastern Russia slip by beneath you. Then the Ural mountains, dividing Europe from Asia. Beyond are the forests, lakes and mineral deposits of Siberia.

When the plane banks for its approach to Khabarovsk, the mountains of Manchuria can be seen off through the haze to the south.

For those few foreigners who come this way, Khabarovsk is best known as a major stopping point on the Trans-Siberian express train, which takes nine days to cover the route between Moscow and the port city of Vladivostok, 500 miles south of here.

For Soviet citizens, it is an outpost city, a growing center of both light and heavy industry, the administrative center for a huge slice of land along the Soviet Pacific coast and headquarters for the Soviet Army in the Far East.

Khabarovsk has 500,000 citizens and stretches out along nearly 30 miles on the elevated eastern bank of the mighty Amur river, which twists and turns so sharply that from the air it resembles a river delta.

Not far across the river lies China. The Amur, in fact, forms the Soviet-Chinese border for more than 1,500 miles west of here and Khabarovsk itself lies in a region claimed by China for the past decade.

In the late 1960s, when the two Communist powers fought several bloody battles along the disputed frontier south of the city, Khabarovsk was alive with soldiers and other military personnel.

Today, with the situation more stable, it's not soldiers but the well-dressed men and women (on average perhaps better than Moscow itself) who catch the eye of the visitor. There seems to be less concern here about China than in the Kremlin in Moscow.

The city is more Russian than anything else. The two- and three-story buildings that line Karl Marx street — the city's main thoroughfare — were erected in the 19th century by Russian settlers. The low wooden houses with their carved window decorations could come from any of numerous towns in old Russia.

The newer structures have the same blocky lack of imagination as do new buildings in Moscow or Leningrad.

Most of Khabarovsk's citizens are Russian, too. And they speak the same tongue as their Moscow cousins — although with a quick, almost staccato delivery that is noticeable even to the foreigner.

There are plenty of non-Russians, however, such as Koreans and members of indigenous clans with such exotic names as the Goldi, the Udegaitsi, the Nanautsi, the Kariatki and the Niveni, all of whom have a physical resemblance to Eskimos and are also primarily hunters and fishermen.

This autumn Khabarovsk has been blanketed in a misty pall of smoke as a result of widespread and serious fires in the forest or "taiga" that surrounds the city.

But your guide confidently assures you that there is no danger to the city itself.

The problems that concern people here are more mundane. There is a general manpower shortage — as is the case throughout Siberia and the Far East. Often entire sections of shops and stores simply do not open for business because there isn't enough personnel.

Building is slow. A new tourist hotel here has been under construction for 10 years and still is not finished. Young couples say they expect to wait 15 or 20 years to get a new apartment — if they can get one at all.

Throughout it all Moscow is not far away, despite the distance. Slogans plastered on buildings and walls remind of the Moscow leaders' achievements and plans.

Air and train timetables are quoted only in Moscow time and, in case you forget, you can go down to the train station where the clock in the tower has a third hand — painted red — to let you know what time it is in the capital — 4,000 miles to the West.

Social Changes Adding Words To Our Language

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Stonewall is there. So is Chandler's wobble, smart bomb, fat city, megadeath, and schlockmeister. You'll find hydrocracker, and Baltimore chop.

This is not a menu for disaster, but words from the "new English" — the thousands of new words and meanings that have become firmly established in the language over the past 15 years and have added a whole new dimension to the way we speak.

"The vocabulary of English, like that of every other living language, is constantly growing," says James Lowe, associate editor of "6,000 Words," a dictionary of new English just published by G. & C. Merriam Co. "However, the past 15 years has probably seen more changes than at any time in our history.

"We have lived through a time of great social change and of world-shattering events, and it follows that we needed new words and new meanings to express these events," he adds. "These range from Vietnam and the moon landings to the new sexual permissiveness and the search for personal identity. We made the word 'establishment' pejorative, and new words and phrases — ego trip, counterculture, sexism, funky — were developed to describe our new ways of living, new ideas, new philosophies."

The most prolific sources of new words were science and technology, Lowe points out, including space flight (moonwalk, earthrise), astronomy (quasar, black hole), genetics (messenger RNA) and mathematics (Fourier transform), to name a few.

But the book also shows that over the past 15 years Americans were talking about the Peter Principle, veganism (extreme vegetarianism), vexilology (the study of flags) and ufology (the study of UFOs). We looked into cloning (growing identical things from a single cell), bionics (solving engineering problems with biological information), and cryonics (freezing the dead).

We used "in" words like flaky and ticky-tacky. We discussed rapid eye movement, synectics and aversion therapy. From Watergate we learned to stonewall it, although the word itself is still only a synonym for floodgate.

It was a time of unisex, when straight not only meant heterosexuality but an entire catalog of conventional attitudes and mores. The interest in sexual identity gave us Ms., chairperson, macho and many others.

"There were, of course, many influences on the language in those years," Lowe says. "The stock market gave us uptick, Sports gave us roller hockey, squib kick, square out, zlich and many more."

"Surfing gave us almost a whole new vocabulary, including head dip, hang ten, goofy foot, hotdog and hodad. You are a hodad if you hang around but don't surf."

Chandler's wobble, according to "6,000 Words," refers to an "elliptical oscillation of the earth's axis." A smart bomb is a bomb that can be guided to its target; "fat city" means being well off; megadeath is one million deaths; schlockmeister is one who deals in schlock; hydrocracker is an apparatus for cracking hydrocarbons; a Baltimore chop is a baseball that bounces too high.

Turkish Bazaars Bow To New Supermarkets

By ISMAIL KOVACI
Associated Press Writer
ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) —

The coming of the supermarket age to Turkey is dimming a joyous aspect of oriental life — bargaining with everybody who has something to sell.

Shoppers used to flock to cobblestoned Mahmutpasha Street, gateway to the 16th-century grand bazaar, whose 750 stores offered everything from bras and blankets for brides to pots and pans and prayer rugs.

But profits on the street have plummeted almost 40 per cent in the past two years, sellers say, as once-faithful customers no longer venture into Istanbul's chaotic traffic from the suburbs.

"They will almost certainly wreck what is left of the old Istanbul," lamented a shop owner in a nostalgic recollection of the "golden years."

"We miss the good-mannered buyers who knew the game."

In a typical present-day scene in the grand bazaar, for years the only shopping area catering to low-income groups, a heated argument is waged over the price of a set of blankets for a bride.

The weary-looking seller asks 500 liras, about $35, but the woman counters with an offer of half that. Unable to compromise, she immediately drags her daughter out of the dome-shaped shop and knowingly consoles her:

"Don't worry, we'll get it at that price." But in another store. Most likely they headed to the nearest supermarket, department store or "organized market," where they feel they will not be pushed about by an intriguing seller or disturbed by the cacophony of bargaining. Screams of water vendors clad in white overcoats and tinkling their tanku and performers of other sidewalk arts are also absent from such scenes.

A spokesman for the UFI, a supermarket chain, explained: "The housewife is tired of oriental modes of shopping and looks for more organized and centralized places to buy her needs — and at cheaper prices."

Ersin Kermen, 34, fluent in English and French, said that by direct purchasing from manufacturers, the establishment has adopted a heavily advertised policy of "cheap but good products," represented in Tostly by the initials of UFI.

Kermen said 8,000 persons, mostly housewives, visit the store each week.

UFI, which opened only last November, says it has doubled its volume and upped profits 25 per cent in recent months.

Despite all the plus signs for the new trade, surveys conducted by private experts concluded that many buyers tend to question the quality of products that carry low price tags.

"That is an inherent malady of the Turkish customer's way of thinking," said Kermen.

Carves Back Of Two-Dollar Bill

MIAMI (AP) — Fernando Ventura has just spent a year making a four-by-seven foot woodcarving of the back of a $2 bill.

The Dominican Republic native said he wanted to honor his adopted country's Bicentennial by duplicating John Trumbull's painting of the presentation of the Declaration of Independence to the Continental Congress. But the only model he could find was on a $2 bill.

Ventura, 23, said he plans to turn the carving into a conference table with fancy carved wooden legs and a glass top. Then he wants to take it to Washington to present it at the White House.

Some States Say Swine Flu Concern Is Rising

By JULIE DUNLAP
Associated Press Writer

Some state health officials today reported an increase in public concern over swine flu following the first confirmed case of the virus since the nationwide vaccine program began. But reaction was more likely to be a phone call than an inoculation.

Few of the health officials reported rushes at their swine flu clinics, and some that did said cold weather was probably the reason — it's too early to judge the effect of the Missouri case, they said.

All said they had plenty of flu vaccine on hand should further information about the Missouri case produce long lines at clinics.

Other state health officials checked in an Associated Press survey predicted the illness of 32-year-old Missouri telephone repairman Larry Hardison, who didn't know he had swine flu until a blood test 10 days ago, will boost their faltering inoculation programs.

"I think many of our middle-of-the-roadsers will now say 'I better get it,'" said Lisa Nodiff, assistant coordinator of the Rhode Island swine flu program. "We expect that we will have a bigger turnout than we would have had next weekend."

Switchboards at the New York City Health Department registered 30,000 phone calls Tuesday, officials said, but only 5,000 callers got the information they wanted because of the crush.

"Apparently they were alarmed at the report (from Missouri)," said Pascal Imperato, supervisor of the city's flu program. But he noted that fewer than 200,000 New Yorkers have been inoculated.

"During the past few days, we have had a slight increase ... We attribute this to the cold weather which makes people more flu-conscious," Imperato said.

The health department in Allegheny County, Pa., where the deaths of three elderly persons touched off a recent scare over the swine flu vaccine, reported being swamped with calls on swine flu since the report from Missouri.

"We did have a lot of phone calls today, people wanting to know clinic locations," Diane Peterson, head of the Minnesota program, said Tuesday.

In St. Louis, both calls and inoculations increased the day after the Hardison case was reported in Concordia, about 120 miles away.

The head of Georgia's swine flu program said there was a definite increase in demand for flu shots but he did not attribute it directly to the Missouri incident.

"Everybody's coming around for a shot," said Dr. Charles Mosher. "(But) one case of swine flu does not an epidemic make."

Shot At Random

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Police investigating a mystery bullet that felled a young bicycle rider said they have traced the shot to a 9-year-old who said he was shooting a .22 rifle at random toward nearby woods.

Raymond Jones, 16, was riding a bicycle about four blocks from his home Sunday when he heard a popping sound and fell from his bike, police said.

Police investigator J. D. Hyatt said Tuesday that the 9-year-old, whose name was not disclosed because he is a minor, told officers he was shooting at random with a single-shot .22 rifle which he took from a closet at his home while his parents were gone.

Investigators said Jones did not realize he had been shot, although he felt a burning sensation in his legs. He underwent about two hours of surgery at Charlotte Memorial Hospital Monday night, investigators said.

Spokesmen said Jones, whose mother feared he might be paralyzed, was able to lift his legs Tuesday as nurses bathed him.

"I thank God for that," said his mother, Mildred Bryant, 34. "I pray a lot. This morning he said that he had feeling in his legs. He seemed to be responding very well."

Learned Indian History From Sign Language

Students at Chicod Elementary School in studying the history of Thanksgiving, have learned more about the local Indians' history this past week according to Sarah Lassister, librarian.

Ms. Lassister has had an Indian (dressed) visitor in the library since Thursday who has explained the history of the Tuscarora Indians to students in first through fourth grades.

The visitor dressed in Indian costume, spoke to the students in sign language and Ms. Lassister translated. She told the students about how the Indians prepared food and showed them beads, tomahawks, tom toms, bows and arrows, and spears. She also showed the students a war dance and got them to dance with her.

According to Ms. Lassister, the visitor helped her explain the history of Thanksgiving by presenting a realistic program of study.

Recreated The Setting For 1st Thanksgiving

Students at E. B. Aycock Junior High School celebrated Thanksgiving's heritage Wednesday by recreating the setting of the first Thanksgiving, according to Ann Bennett, guidance counselor.

The peer counselors at the school, who are students who have been trained by the guidance counseling department, planned the Thanksgiving activities to boost school morale.

The chorus and general music students performed in the lunchroom during lunch. The peer counselors dressed in Indian, Pilgrim, and turkey costumes. Decorations in the lunchroom including the centerpieces were made by the art students. By combining the efforts of students of different curricula, all of the students were able to participate in a Thanksgiving feast.

Israel Again Warns Syria: Stay Away

By ARTHUR MAX
Associated Press Writer
JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin has warned Syria again that his government will not tolerate Syrian troops on Israel's northern doorstep.

reported undecided whether to risk a confrontation with the Israelis by sending their forces south to snuff out the last fighting in the 19-month-old Lebanese civil war.

Rabin in a speech also reiterated his government's determination to prevent a revival of Palestinian guerrilla activity along the border.

"What steps to take and when is Israel's business, and we will decide according to our own needs," Rabin said. He added that Syria has been told what actions Israel would consider provocative.

The prime minister said the Syrian advance into most of Lebanon has made "Israel's strategic situation more comfortable," presumably because the Syrians are expected to keep a close rein on the Palestinians. A senior diplomat said Israel might also acquiesce in Syrian occupation of some parts of southern Lebanon if Syria guaranteed to keep the Palestinians under control there.

Israel reinforced its troops at the northern frontier after Israeli soldiers exchanged fire with gunmen across the border last Saturday and an Israeli border town was bombed by rockets on Sunday.

Associated Press correspondent Alex Efty reported Tuesday that the Lebanese border town of Bint Jbeil that Syrian troops were keeping well north of the so-called "red line" set by Israel as the acceptable southern limit for the Syrian advance. Israeli officials have not defined the line publicly, but it is believed to be the Litani river, 20 miles north of the border.

Edy said the area around Bint Jbeil is the only southern territory still held by the Palestinians and leftist Lebanese Moslems. Lebanese Christian militiamen have occupied the rest, helped by Israeli supplies and artillery support.

The Israeli cabinet met Tuesday to discuss the Lebanese situation; Rabin conferred with U.S. Ambassador Malcolm Toon, and Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz conferred with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in Washington.

State Department officials in Washington said they did not believe there was any immediate threat to Israel and do not share Israel's misgivings about Syria's intentions.

Pirates, Apps Meet For SC Crown

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Some eleven and a half weeks after it all began, the 1976 football season in the Southern Conference comes to an end Thursday night.

When the season opened, the crystal-ball gazers looked and predicted that the meeting of East Carolina and Appalachian State at the end of the year would decide the league title. And that's exactly what will happen.

The game is set for 8:30 p.m. Pirates have played during the in Ficklen Stadium. It will be three-year reign of the coach carried live over a regional network by the American Broad-

The Pirates won the first two, both played in Greenville, 35-7 and 49-14. Those two wins came during championship years. The Pirates have picked up 350.0 yards a game, with 294.6 per game rushing and 55.4 per game passing.

The victory is one greatly sought by Pirate Coach Pat Dye.

Halfback Eddie Hicks

Sophomore Scott McConnell leads the rushing with 534 yards, while junior Emmitt Hamilton has 504. Senior fullback John Craig has 428, while sophomore quarterback Tom Gary has 325. Premier quarterback Robbie Price, injured much of the year has just 87 yards rushing.

Price has hit 25 of 56 passes for 402 yards, and is the leading passer for the team. Placekicker Gary Davis leads the scoring with 58 points, including 31 PATS and nine field goals. Hamilton is next with 36 points on six touchdowns.

Another dangerous weapon in the ASU Arsenal is the punting of Joe Parker, averaging 45.1 yards per kick.

Eddie Hicks leads the Pirate rushers with 791 yards, while Willie Hawkins has 715. Fullback Raymond Jones has rushed for 594, while quarterback Mike Weaver has 436.

Weaver has hit 31 of 71 passes for 495 yards.

Kicker Pete Conaty is the leading scorer with 81 points, two touchdowns, 23 PAT kicks, two PAT runs, and 14 field goals.

Both teams have dangerous punt return games. East Carolina's led by Gerald Hall, and ASU's by Devon Ford.

"We've waited for a year and 11 weeks for this one," Dye said. "There's not a hell of a lot I can say about it now. It has all the makings of a classic."

Dye added that the Pirates have been somewhat handicapped by exams this week in their preparation. "We've had to have practice one day in the morning and one day in the afternoon, with people missing all the time. But if they want to play bad enough, it won't make any difference."

The coach said he feels good about the game. "I think we've got a good game plan both offensively and defensively. We've had a chance to go back to basics and reestablish what won for us earlier in the season. We're also in the best physical shape we've been in for at least three weeks."

Dye said the Pirates would have to make something happen in the kicking game. "Appalachian has an outstanding kicking game in every phase. We've got to neutralize it."

He added that in thinking about the game, he now feels, "There are six major college football teams in this state, and I don't think there's a touchdown difference between any of them. Playing Appalachian is just as hard as playing State or Carolina."

Clinton Will Host Farmville

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer

Two years ago, the Clinton High School Darkhorses made it to the state 3-A semi-finals only to get knocked off by Ahsokie, 14-7. This year they are back in the semi-finals against another team from this area, Farmville Central, and Coach Bobby Robinson hopes the Darkhorses will fare better.

This year's team is the best in Robinson's six years as Clinton's head coach, he said. They are currently 11-1 on the year and got into the playoffs by winning the East Central Conference crown with an 8-1 record.

The Darkhorses, who will host Farmville Central at 8 p.m. Friday night, are coming off a tough game. Last week, they slipped by Southern Durham, 33-27, in double overtime.

The game was tied at 20-20 at the end of regulation play; Southern Durham won the overtime toss and elected to give Clinton the ball first. The Darkhorses scored a touchdown and an extra point, but allowed Southern Durham seven points, too.

In the second overtime, Clinton opted to give Southern Durham the ball first and held them. Then, the Darkhorses scored a touchdown to end the game.

Balanced offense and defense has been the name of the game for Clinton this year, according to Robinson. "There are no individual stars or real college prospects on the team. They've just played real good together and want to win."

The Darkhorses have good size and speed, Robinson said. Offensively, they run out of a slot-T formation and are averaging about 36 points per game.

All of the running backs have about the same rushing average, according to Robinson, and the quarterback, while not outstanding, runs and throws well. Jeffrey Taylor starts at quarterback for the Darkhorses while Smokey Norris and Tim Newman are the halfbacks and Glen Pope the fullback. Pope is a senior and the rest are juniors.

"I think we would be one of the top teams in the state as far as scoring," Robinson said. "We don't do anything real fancy, we just run power plays and run right at you."

"We are real consistent — our backs are not real fast, but strong runners and excellent blockers."

Defensively, Clinton operates out of several sets and tries to "mix it up and not show the same thing twice," according to Robinson.

"I don't feel we have any real weaknesses on defense," Robinson said. "We are not all that big except for our right tackle at 225 pounds."

The Darkhorses averaged giving up only six points a game before last week. Southern Durham scored three TD's on them in the first half, but none in the second half before the overtime period. Robinson said the team "got things adjusted" at half-time.

Looking at films of Farmville Central, Robinson said, "I was real impressed with them. They have some mighty fine backs."

Robinson said running back Keno Farrow is strong and fast and quarterback Carroll Griffin "does a good job throwing the ball." He also said lineman "Big John" Dupree (6-1, 289) will "cause us some problems trying to block him."

There is no definite key to winning the playoff game, Robinson said. "The team that plays the best game and cuts out the mistakes is going to win — it could go either way."

Asked if the home field will give Clinton an advantage, he said, "Normally I wouldn't think it would make that much difference. But, after last Friday, going into two overtimes and having the crowd behind you... I feel like it helps in a case like that."

Pirate Fullback Raymond Jones Is Helped By A New Direction

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

In the last last six months, an angry young man has found a new direction for his life—and he's made opponents on the football field know that he is as good as he always thought he was.

East Carolina fullback Raymond Jones closes out his collegiate career Thursday night against Appalachian State. Six months ago, it looked like his problems. It went into the pre-season football magazines that way.

"I finally realized that I could play," Jones said. "I realized that I could help the team, and that the team could help me."

"So I busted my tail to stay in school this summer and get back. I decided that whatever they wanted me to do, I'd do. I'd give it all I had. I wasn't number one when I came into fall camp."

Jones added that his friends also provided some incentive for him. "They gave me a lot of trouble when they read in the magazines that East Carolina had a fullback problem."

Now, with just one game left, the hard-running Jones is satisfied with some things and not with others. "I've done well," he said, "but I could do better. Some things have happened to me that I'm grateful for, but I regret that I could have done some things differently. I woke up too late, but I've learned something from it. You don't stay alone in anything. Being a part of other people and finding friends is good. I've learned to put some trust in people."

Jones is looking forward to Thursday night's game with Appalachian State. "Everyone is concentrating real hard. We're trying to keep from getting too excited. And we're glad that we didn't have to play last Saturday."

"The offense is tired. If we had had to play last Saturday, I just don't think we could have done it all the way. But the extra four days of rest has really helped us."

career was already over.

"After spring practice, my attitude toward the whole thing has changed," Jones said.

"When I first came here, a number of schools were trying to recruit me. All of them told me that I could play for them right away."

"But I found that this wasn't true. I had some other difficulties (with former ECU Coach Sonny Randle) and by the time Coach (Pat) Dye came here, I just didn't trust anyone," Jones said.

"I was holding back in practice. During my freshman year, I'd tried hard, but it just didn't get anything for me."

This year, following spring drills, the word was out that East Carolina had fullback

Joe Morgan Nabs 2nd Straight MVP

NEW YORK (AP) — Second baseman Joe Morgan of the World Champion Cincinnati Reds today became only the second man in National League history to win Most Valuable Player honors two consecutive seasons.

Ernie Banks, former Chicago Cubs shortstop, was named MVP in 1958 and 1959.

In the American League, consecutive winners included Jimmy Foxx, 1932-33; Hal Newhouser, 1944-45; Yogi Berra, 1954-55; Mickey Mantle, 1956-57, and Roger Maris, 1960-61.

Morgan, who won convincingly over Greg Luzinski in 1975, was an equally impressive winner over his Cincinnati teammate George Foster this year in the balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America. The 5-foot-7, 165-pound infielder collected 19 first-place votes from the 24-man committee. The other five voters placed him second.

"It's a real honor. I think of it as being unique," Morgan said when informed of his award. "Ernie Banks was the only other guy to win it two years in a row, but he did it on a team that finished in ninth and 10th place. Nowadays, if a team finished last you wouldn't win the MVP.

"Ernie was one of a kind and I think maybe this award is the same thing."

What first-place votes Morgan did not get went to Foster, who finished second. Philadelphia's Mike Schmidt was third. The first three were the only players named on all 24 ballots.

First-place votes counted 14

points, second place nine points, third place eight points, etc.

Morgan finished with a total of 311 points. Foster garnered 221 and Schmidt 179.

The Reds placed three players in the top four, as third baseman Pete Rose finished fourth with 131 points. Cincinnati's Ken Griffey was tied for eighth. Philadelphia had three players in the first 10, with Garry Maddox fifth and Greg Luzinski tied for eighth.

Cy Young winner Randy Jones of San Diego was the only pitcher in the top 10, finishing 10th.

Morgan finished fifth in the batting race with a .320 average. He had 111 runs batted in, 10 fewer than Foster, the league leader. Morgan also hit 27 home runs and stole 60 bases despite an injury-plagued season.

Cincinnati players have been named the National League MVP five of the last seven years. Johnny Bench and Morgan each have won the honor twice and Rose once. Interrupting the Reds' string were Joe Torre of St. Louis in 1971 and Steve Garvey of Los Angeles in 1974.

Rampants Take Aim At Another Division Wrestling Championship

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
(One of a series)

Rose High School Coach Ron Williams isn't greedy, he just wants to claim another Division I wrestling championship — his fourth in a row. And right now, he feels that the chances are good.

"Team-wise, we should be okay this year," Williams said. "We're in a constant state of rebuilding and I like that. We have a lot of sophomores, a lot of juniors and a few seniors. I like to keep it that way."

Williams called last year a rebuilding year, and he still won the conference title. He calls this year a rebuilding one too.

"We've got a lot of young guys. And the conference is a little tighter this year. Rocky Mount is stronger and Northern Nash is also going to be stronger. But I think we can win."

"Winning three in a row helps," Williams added. "The kids look forward to winning now."

While Williams rates this as a rebuilding year, he has 11 people back who wrestled last year, 10 of them lettermen. And of those 10, nine were starters, leaving him with only four classes to fill.

"Some of these are already to be taken over by people who did well last year, but were overshadowed by the people who graduated," the coach said.

This year, too, Williams wants to take a little different approach to the season. "The conference title is important, but we want to work our people so that they'll be at their peak for the sectionals. I think we have a few who can place in the state meet this year. So we're going to focus on getting ready for the sectionals with our peak there instead of in the conference meet."

In a weight-by-weight rundown, the Rampant matmen do look strong.

At 98 pounds, Cliff Hagan, a junior who had a perfect 10-0 record last season, is back. "He didn't wrestle in the conference meet, but I think he could this year," Ricky Warren, a sophomore who was unbeaten at E. B. Aycock last year, is the prime back-up.

John Lawler, who beat out Hagan at 101 last year, is back to handle the 105-pound class. He was a conference champion last year and was second in the sectionals. Ricky Valentine, a junior, was the backup last year, but could give Lawler a battle for the 105 spot. Gray Finnigan, a sophomore, out for the first time, is also working here.

At 112, James Cherry, who was conference champion at 105, returns. Mike Norfleet, who worked much of the year at 112 also returns, making this weight class a battle too. James Staton, Donald Gardner and Marshall Holloway, all sophomores, add depth.

Jesse Baker, a junior who won the conference crown last year, is back at 119. He finished third in the sectionals. Henry Wooten, and H. L. Austin, both sophomores, provide backup depth.

Tim Allen, a junior who sat out last year after a good year at E. B. Aycock as a freshman, will handle the 126-pound division. "We look for him to do well," Williams said. Mark Johnson, a sophomore, backs him up.

Virgil Tyson, a junior who spent most of last year in a backup role, takes over at 132. Bernard Paige, a sophomore, is the top backup.

John Harris, a senior who was unbeaten in regular season, and who finished second in the conference tournament due to an injury, returns at 138.

Gary Best, a junior and James Hines, a sophomore, are battling for the 145-pound class.

Ronnie Riddick, who was second in the conference, returns at 155, with Howard Tucker, a junior, and Patrick Nelson, a sophomore, in backup roles.

Raymond Wooten, third in the league last year, is at 167. Bernie Fleming, who has moved down from the 185-pound class, is also a candidate here.

Willie Moye, third in the conference at 195, will wrestle at 185 this year, while Rocky Butler, who was second in the sectionals, will work at 195. James Reaves, a junior who saw some action, will handle the heavyweight division.

"I think all of our lighter weights, through 138 could gain the finals in the conference, along with Butler. These same people could also make it to the sectional finals and would have a chance to place in the state tournament," Williams said.

"Of course, the others could too, but they're all going to have to work hard at it, including the veterans. If the rest do the work expected of them, all of them would have a chance to go to the state tournament."

Patton At Club

(Kenny) Carr could do the job for them there. He's a dominating player."

Patton said that the coaching job done by Dean Smith of North Carolina during the Olympics was "the greatest EVER."

"He didn't have enough practice time, yet he took all those All-Americans and made some of them sit on the bench and like it. He had them all playing team ball—very unselfishly. I realize that he was criticized for his selections, but he was smart since time was short, and he knew he could put four Carolina players on the floor who knew what he wanted them to do. Some also criticized his selection of Tommy LeGarde, but he had international experience, plus he's a big, strong, hard-nosed kid."

Pointing to the fact that coaches have all kinds of seasons, good ones and bad ones, he noted that Smith was hung in effigy his second year at Carolina. "In fact, he was within one game of being fired," Patton said.

And, Patton added, it was rough to have your future decided by a bunch of 18 and 19 year olds. "Take last year. After five games, Pat Dye was regarded as the dumbest guy to come down the pike. But after the last six, he was a genius." Patton was referring to his fellow ECU coach's six-game winning streak at the end of last year.

Turning to the polls, Patton said that anyone could name the pre-season picks in both football and basketball year after year. "The same teams will always be there. If you don't have the name, you don't make it."

He added that East Carolina's football team deserved its earlier Top Twenty ranking. "But they got beat that week by Carolina and dropped out. We didn't have the name. Texas, the same week, was 3-2-1, and they stayed in. They had the name."

The name team, Patton said, won't play on the road much. "Take Maryland. They are playing 13 straight home games. They don't leave Cole Field House until January 19. And they have 19 home games. They only go away to ACC opponents. Teams like that go on the road (against non-conference teams) for three reasons: They know they'll beat you, you have a good name, or you are in a place that's good to visit like a resort."

Patton praised the ECU program, saying that it was on the way up. "But we're sitting right in the middle of the best basketball in the country. We're always compared to them. 'We're not there yet, but we're going to be eventually. It's going to be tough, but we'll do it.'"

Kapstein Gets Another Free Agent Contract

By JOHN SHURR

Associated Press Writer
PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The revolving door to super-agent Jerry Kapstein's office building turned and in stepped free-agent Rollie Fingers. Already inside, with a new contract in hand, was Doyle Alexander.

It was 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and Alexander, who was 13-9 last season with the Baltimore Orioles and New York Yankees, stood in the lobby, having just signed a multi-year contract with the Texas Rangers.

Fingers, who joined Alexander at the elevator for the ride to Kapstein's fourth-floor office, had just walked in from a nippy New England night and begun a marathon round of negotiations.

Either Fingers or All-Star second baseman Bobby Grich will be the next of Kapstein's 10 free-agent clients to come to terms in the past two weeks.

After announcing he had signed with the Rangers, Alexander said, "Now we can kind of settle back and concentrate on baseball for a while and let other problems take care of themselves. I'm very happy to be a member of the Texas Rangers."

The 26-year-old right-hander, the losing pitcher in the opening game of the 1976 World Series for the Yankees, said New York was one of several clubs that showed interest in him.

Meanwhile, Rangers' General Manager Dan O'Brien said Texas was "delighted to have Doyle Alexander." He also referred to Kapstein as the team's "super director of player personnel."

Kapstein said the Yankees tried to get Alexander to return, but "it just wasn't possible." He added: "We talked day in and day out to reach an agreement. We parted in good faith. I feel the Yankees made every effort to sign Doyle."

Kapstein added that the Pittsburgh Pirates sent a delegation including Manager Chuck Tanner to Providence Tuesday and made "an impressive presentation" to Fingers.

"So far as Rollie Fingers goes, the Pirates showed a great deal of interest today," he said. "They have left Providence and we will maintain contact with them."

"I expect the Grich decision within several days ... definitely no later than the weekend. He's in the process of finalizing a decision."

"I'm going back into negotiations tonight about 1 a.m. with some clubs on Rollie Fingers," Kapstein added. "We are going to go around the clock, 24 hours a day until we reach decisions on these people."

Among those still looking for new teams are outfielder Reggie Jackson, infielders Richie Hebner and Tito Fuentes, and pitcher Steve Stone.

This Is Week For 'Bowl Bowls'

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — This is an important week for the post-season bowls, even though they are all filled. In fact, you might call much of the remaining regular-season schedule the Bowl Bowls.

Why? Well, this weekend sends Pitt (Sugar Bowl) against Penn State (Gator Bowl), Southern Cal (Rose Bowl) against Notre Dame (Gator Bowl) and Oklahoma (Fiesta Bowl) against Nebraska (Orange Bowl) if it wins, Bluebonnet if it loses).

Obviously, the Gator Bowl could come out smelling — pardon the expression — like a rose.

Then there is Georgia (Sugar Bowl) against Georgia Tech, Houston (probably the Cotton Bowl) against Rice, Texas Tech (Cotton or Bluebonnet) against Arkansas, Texas A&M (Sun) against Texas, Oklahoma State (Tangerine) against Texas-El Paso, Alabama (Liberty) against Auburn, Florida (Sun) against Miami, Fla.

Last week's score was 37 right — including Air Force's upset of Wyoming — 22 wrong and one tie for a .627 percentage. For the season, it is 518-218-12—704.

Penn State at Pitt: The Johnny Majors-Tennessee rumors could hurt the Panthers and the Nittany Lions could hurt them worse, but let's take a chance on ... Pitt 28-24.

Notre Dame at Southern California: Ordinarily you would expect the Trojans to have a letdown after beating UCLA in last week's Rose Bowl showdown. But they have a shot at the national championship if they beat Notre Dame and then Michigan while Pitt loses to either Penn State or Georgia ... Southern Cal 24-14.

Oklahoma at Nebraska: A victory sends the Cornhuskers to the Orange Bowl, which would love to have them. A loss, however, sends Colorado and, since this has not exactly been the Orange Bowl's year, how about ... Oklahoma 28-21.

Georgia Tech at Georgia: This could make Tech's season and Georgia will have to guard against a lookahead to Pitt ... Georgia 26-14.

Houston at Rice: Cinderella Cougars, the home team at Rice Stadium, must overcome Tommy Kramer's passes to get to the Cotton Bowl in their Southwest Conference debut ... Houston 42-31.

Texas Tech at Arkansas: Tech's bubble burst against Houston last week and the Razorbacks are the only SWC team to beat Houston. Upset Special of the Week ... Arkansas 27-20.

Texas A&M at Texas: The Longhorns are faced with the very real threat of their first losing season under Darrell Royal, and wouldn't the Aggies like to be a part of that ... Texas A&M 30-16.

Calgate at Rutgers: Unbeaten, untied and uninvited, that's ... Rutgers 31-7.

Alabama vs. Auburn at Birmingham: Remember when this used to be on national TV? Not any more ... Alabama 35-14.

Army vs. Navy at Philadelphia: This one still is on national TV, and probably always will be ... Army 17-15.

New Mexico at San Diego State: Did you know one of these teams has a 9-1 record? San Diego State 20-15.

Baylor at Texas Christian: In 1974, TCU won its opener and lost the rest. In 1975, TCU won its finale and lost the rest. This year, TCU has lost all 10 games, plus Coach Jim Shofner. Second Upset Special ... Texas Christian 29-28.

Also — Oklahoma State 41, Texas-El Paso 14; Kent State 30, Northern Illinois 10; East Carolina 24, Appalachian State 14; Arizona State 30, Arizona 27; Boston College 42, Holy Cross 14; Cincinnati 23, Louisville 9; Florida 33, Miami, Fla. 21; Fullerton State 16, Northern Arizona 13; Oregon State 34, Hawaii 14; Louisiana State 27, Utah 17; Southern Mississippi 29, Texas-Arlington 22; Tulsa 30, West Texas State 20; Tennessee 36, Vanderbilt 19.

Nelson Will Need His Patience And Optimism

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Don Nelson says he would like to see some of the old Boston Celtics in the team he now coaches. Fortunately, the new boss of the Milwaukee Bucks has the two commodities he is going to need most — patience and the ability to see the silver lining.

"I was very encouraged," Nelson said, even though his club took the edge off his coaching debut by blowing a nine-point lead in the final three minutes and bowing to the Los Angeles Lakers 117-114 Tuesday night.

"I couldn't ask for anything more," Nelson added. "We made a couple of errors down the stretch, but those things happen. We just as easily could have won. Everybody really played hard. If we all play like this, we'll win our share of games."

The loss was the 16th for the Bucks in 19 games in the 1976-77 National Basketball Association season. Larry Costello resigned as Milwaukee's coach Monday night.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Philadelphia 76ers beat the Boston Celtics 116-102, the San Antonio Spurs defeated the Buffalo Braves 122-115, the New Orleans Jazz whipped the Golden State Warriors 117-94, the Kansas City Kings edged the New York Knicks 100-98 and the Denver Nuggets trounced the Washington Bullets 117-96.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 16 of his game-high 34 points in the final quarter, and reserve guard Bo Lamar added 19 points for the Lakers, who outscored Milwaukee 14-2 down the stretch.

76ers 116, Celtics 102
Philadelphia broke open the game in the third period, pulling away from a 62-62 tie with an 18-6 surge. Julius Erving scored 19 points, leading five

Philadelphia players who hit double figures.
Spurs 122, Braves 115
George Gervin scored 14 of his 34 points in the fourth quarter as San Antonio dealt the Braves their sixth straight loss. The Spurs never trailed after opening an 18-point lead in the first quarter.

World Open Tourney Dies

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—The four-year-old World Open Golf Tournament is dead. It will be replaced on the tour by the Colgate-Hall of Fame Classic, a 72-hole, $250,000 tournament next Aug. 25-28.

Donald C. Collett, president and executive director of the World Golf Hall of Fame in Pinehurst, made the announcement Tuesday. He said the last two days of play will be televised nationally. No network was named. The winner will get $50,000.

Collett said net proceeds will be given to the World Golf Hall of Fame, a nonprofit foundation.

The tournament will be played over the No. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country Club.

Jazz 117, Warriors 94
Pete Maravich scored 37 points for New Orleans, but it was the defensive work by E.C. Coleman, who held Golden State's Rick Barry to nine points, which was the key factor.

"You have to play defense to be a good team," said Golden State Coach Al Attles. "Coleman did a good job on Barry, but he always seems to play Rick well, and Rick has a bad back."

Kings 100, Knicks 98
With the score tied 98-98, Kansas City's Brian Taylor picked off an inbound pass with five seconds to go, drove the length of the court and was fouled by Walt Frazier at the final buzzer. He then made both free throws for the winning margin.

Ron Boone of the Kings led all scorers with 24 points. Taylor finished with 15 points and six assists.

Nuggets 117, Bullets 96
Denver posted its eighth straight home victory, racing to a 14-point halftime lead, then putting it away with 10 consecutive points during the fourth quarter. David Thompson scored 28 points for Denver, while Bobby Jones had 20 points, 13 rebounds and five blocked shots.

Cowboys, Cards Meet For Lead

By The Associated Press
The lead in the National Football Conference East will be at stake when the Dallas Cowboys and St. Louis Cardinals clash Thursday, a day of Thanksgiving for one of these teams and, possibly, Washington.

Dallas is 9-2, St. Louis is 8-3 and Washington 7-4 in the NFC East, with two of these teams almost certain to qualify for the National Football League playoffs.

The division champion gets an automatic berth, and the team with the best runner-up record in the NFC also gets to try for the Super Bowl. It looks like the NFC East second-place team will be going to the playoffs.

Washington's chances to become the NFC's wild-card team will be enhanced by a Dallas victory, which would drop St. Louis' record to 8-4. The Redskins can reach the same mark by beating Philadelphia on Sunday.

In Sunday's other games, Atlanta is at Houston, Denver is at New England, Chicago is at Green Bay, Kansas City is at San Diego, Miami is at Cleveland, New Orleans is at Los Angeles, the New York Jets play at Baltimore, Pittsburgh is at Cincinnati, Seattle is on the road to play the New York Giants and Tampa Bay is at Oakland.

In another game Thursday, Buffalo is at Detroit.

Monday night's NFL game matches Minnesota and San Francisco.

Both Dallas and St. Louis are looking for the division title. Both teams are coming off losses, the Cowboys to Atlanta and the Cardinals to Washington.

If Dallas wins Thursday, the Cowboys are almost assured of taking the division title. They'll be two games ahead of St. Louis and Washington, provided the Redskins beat Philadelphia. If the Redskins and Cardinals both go on to win their final two games, then Washington would get the wild card because it has beaten St. Louis twice this season.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said the Cowboys got what they deserved last week, when they lost to Atlanta 17-10. The Cowboys had been playing poorly and winning for several weeks, beating Buffalo 17-10 and the Giants 9-3, before Atlanta shocked them.

Landry said he was "very confident going into the Cardinal game." He said the Cowboys would be mentally ready simply because the game is so important. St. Louis beat Dallas 21-17 the sixth week of the season.

Last season, St. Louis won the NFC East with a 11-3 record. Dallas went to the playoffs as the wild-card team with a 10-4 mark.

Ford Is Pre-Season ACC Player Of Year

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina's Phil Ford, a near unanimous choice for the Atlantic Coast Conference pre-season basketball team, has been named the league's pre-season player of the year.

The ACC Service Bureau also announced today that North Carolina State freshman Clyde Austin was the overwhelming choice of sportswriters and broadcasters as ACC rookie of the year.

The two were selected at the league's 15th annual Operation Basketball held recently.

Ford, 6-2 junior from Rocky Mount, was named on 56 of the 90 ballots for player of the year. He missed by one vote of being an unanimous choice for the team. Also named on the team were N.C. State's Kenny Carr, Maryland's Steve Sheppard, Wayne Rollins of Clemson and Tate Armstrong of Duke.

Austin, 6-1, Richmond, Va., native, received 51 votes. North Carolina's Mike O'Koren was a distant second and Duke's Mike Gminski finished third. Austin led his Maggie Walker High School team to the state championship last year, averaging 30.1 points per game. He totaled 2,158 points for his career.

Carr was four votes shy of being unanimous. All of the first team selections except Rollins were members of the U.S. team which won in the Olympics at Montreal last summer.

Carr was runner-up to Ford in the balloting for player of the year. He received 27 votes.

Ford averaged 18.6 points per game last season. He also contributed a school record 203 assists to the North Carolina offense.

Named to the second team were Walter Davis and Tommy LaGarde of North Carolina, Marc Iavaroni of Virginia, Brad Davis of Maryland and Rod Griffin and Skip Brown of Wake Forest.

Bicentennial 'Schlock' Grows

By HERBERT Y. WEBER
BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) —
When history Prof. Jesse Lemish began his "tongue-in-cheek" collection of Bicentennial items, which he dubbed "schlock," little did he know what he was getting into.

Lemish started his collection last spring after asking his classes at the State University at Buffalo to bring in items selling for less than $1.00 — items that were supposed to be commercial offshoots of the American Bicentennial celebration.

Now, Lemish — who says he has become known as the "Schlock Czar" — feels the stuff just about sums up the entire year.

The schlock, he says, "was the Bicentennial's most pervasive manifestation and perhaps its most enduring heritage. It almost seems, emotionally speaking, as if there was no Bicentennial at all."

The "schlock" began to accumulate in his office last spring. A United Press International story, appearing in newspapers throughout the country, brought in a flood of items from all over.

"A second front opened when the media arrived," Lemish says. "I had become Bicentennial Schlock — my picture printed across the country. People called me to inquire about franchises. An omelet was named after me in San Jose."

"From all over the country, people began to send me pictures of myself from their local newspapers ... and more schlock."

"Toilet paper, sanibags, condoms and ginger ale bottles came through the mail and schlock fans began to call me up late at night to compare collections."

Lemish put a selection of his schlock on display in the lobby of Norton Hall at the university and invited comments in a book he left. All were favorable to his collection.

What he calls "the most monstrous thing" is a "Bicentennial Flag" with his name on it.

"This is a sad side of the Bicentennial; it's a horror. 'They sent me a letter saying, 'Our research indicates that you are an affluent and achieving American family and contribute to our society and pull your weight. You are a winner. This is the tradition set forth by our founding fathers. This is the tradition that has made America great, not the free-loading loser tradition that a few noisy minorities are trying to push us toward.'"

Lemish says it's "the worst side of the Bicentennial — based on the argument that this is a country of just winners. They sell you the thing for $9.95 and tell you 'This is all we have, only for selected all-American Lemish families.' They send you the flag, then say 'Oh, we found two more Lemish flags. We'll sell them both to you for just $9.95.' It smells awful."

Bicentennial schlock, he says, "was, in a sense, the Watergate of patriotism, a healthy demystification which makes us wisely cynical and distrustful of many things we should have been distrustful of before."

However, he adds, "My feeling is that, unfortunately, though many of us wanted to celebrate the Bicentennial, the inactivity of organizations and general atmosphere somehow did not produce a vehicle worthy of our emotions and we were left with this schlock."

"I think getting away from celebrating winners and not losers would make sense, and a Bicentennial in which the center of the stage was not occupied by schlock. I certainly would not want to legislate against people making schlock. It's just unfortunate that people doing it are occupying the center of the Bicentennial."

"This does not show how the American people stand. It's a year to regret. There were things that people could have talked about ... things they could have done, but that didn't happen."

One of the reasons it didn't happen, he feels, "is they served us up ready-made schlock Bicentennial that turned our minds off."

Bing Crosby Keeps On His 'Roads'; No Strain

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A week from today, Bing Crosby, in his 50th year of show biz, stars in his 41st annual Christmas broadcast in a CBS-TV offering called "Bing Crosby's White Christmas Special."

It was taped in London last summer, which is an odd time to do a Christmas show with one's family, as Crosby readily concedes. But wife Kathryn and their three kids all happened to be in town and ...

Well, the show's done and the performing Crosbys can relax on Thanksgiving Day, right? Wrong, Crosby says they're rehearsing Thursday in Las Vegas for a fund-raising benefit on Friday and Saturday.

The proceeds, as he puts it, are "to get the padre started," the padre being Rev. Ben Franzinelli, the start involving construction of a new Catholic church in which the padre's Las Vegas flock can pray.

The 72-year-old singer discussed these and other matters this week in a phone interview — conducted at the bizarre hour of 8 a.m. — from his home in Hillsborough near San Francisco.

He was asked if it's true he and Hope, 73, are thinking of teaming up for the eighth "Road" picture of their careers. The last, "Road to Hong Kong," was made in 1962.

Such a project is afoot, he said. It's tentatively titled, "Road to Tomorrow" and is a spy comedy caper set in Europe. It reached script outline form, but was sent back for more lively living by the writer.

"Hope thought, and I was inclined to agree, that it needed some kind of lunacy, some wild stuff like Marty Feldman. Monty Python, that kind of Mel Brooks insanity," Crosby said.

Berling, who said a decision on filming may come next month, laughed when reminded of a classic bit of insanity he, Hope and a camel shared in "Road to Morocco."

In a famous scene in the film, he and Hope peered over a bush and came face to face with the camel. The camel spit at Hope. It wasn't in the script. But Hope's reaction was so funny the scene was kept.

"Oh yes," Crosby drawled. "Ever smell a camel's breath? It's fairly lethal. Gad, the smell lingers for days. Hope was really furious. I tell you."

After the coming Thanksgiving weekend shows in Las Vegas, Crosby and his tribe will head to New York, where next month they're doing more fund-raisers for various charities. And Bing will sing in each benefit show.

Now, the pipes of many singers poop out at 50. So how does the Old Groaner still manage to get that famed, mellow baritone sound out of his 72-year-old vocal chords?

"I don't know," Crosby said off-handedly. "I've never really abused my voice. I never tried to stretch it or strain it or reach for notes I wasn't capable of achieving."

One of the advantages of duplicate tournaments is the opportunity it affords to study the technique of different players. When this hand dropped up in a recent pair event, three no trump was the contract at every table. At several, it was reached on the direct method shown above. Though a few declarers made their contract, in no case did we see the hand played to best advantage. It is a textbook example of declarer combining his chances through judicious timing to obtain the optimum result. Before reading on, decide how you would tackle the hand.

At every table, West led the top of his spade sequence. When dummy came down, declarer could count eight tricks. There were several ways to obtain a ninth trick: if either hearts or clubs divided 3-3; or, if the diamond finesse succeeded. Which suit would you tackle first?

With proper technique you can test all three possibilities. First, it can do no harm to duck the opening lead, since defenders have been known to abandon promising attacks. After you win the spade continuation, the first suit to tackle is hearts. Cash your three top hearts, and if everyone follows you can enter dummy with the queen of clubs to cash the thirteenth heart.

When this chance fails to materialize, you switch your attention to clubs. However, if you led to the queen of clubs prematurely, you are going down. When the club suit fails to break, you no longer have an entry to dummy to take the diamond finesse. The correct approach is to cash the ace and king of clubs and then lead to the queen. If the suit breaks evenly, you can get back to your hand with the ace of diamonds to cash the winning club.

However, when West turns up with four clubs, you have to fall back on your last chance—the diamond finesse. When this succeeds, your contract rolls in.

Decision Due Govm't Misdeeds

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry D. Gonzalez was on the scene 13 years ago when John F. Kennedy was murdered. Now it's his job to investigate the assassination.

Gonzalez was a second-term Democrat from San Antonio, Tex., riding in the motorcade through Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963, when he heard the shots that killed President Kennedy. Later, he was in the midst of the nightmare scene at Parkland Hospital where doctors tried to save Kennedy's life. And Gonzalez tried to comfort Jacqueline Kennedy.

Ever since, Gonzalez has written, he has asked questions about Kennedy's death — "why he died, who killed him and what directions had the bullets come from."

It was the revelation of government misdeeds in Watergate, he wrote, that made him decide that the Warren Commission's conclusion that Lee Harvey Oswald was the sole assassin should be re-examined.

In February 1975 he introduced a resolution to establish a committee to investigate the assassinations of Kennedy and others.

The resolution languished until last September when the House leadership, responding to pressure from the congressional black caucus for a renewed probe into the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King, allowed it to come to the floor for a vote.

Gonzalez, 60, now is a 15-year veteran in Congress and is the second ranking Democrat on the House assassination committee. He is expected to become chairman of the investigating panel when the new Congress convenes in January.

Although careful not to endorse any of the popular conspiracy theories surrounding the assassination, Gonzalez has helped publicize one theory that government investigators and many independent researchers agree is without substance.

In May 1975, he wrote an introduction to a book called "Coup d'Etat in America." The book presents a circumstantial case that the CIA was involved in Kennedy's murder. The Rockefeller Commission found that theory to be without basis in fact and even longstanding critics of the Warren Commission have agreed it is far-fetched.

Gonzalez stated in the foreword that he has no way of knowing if the allegations in the book are true. But the book's cover, with its subtitle, "The CIA and the Assassination of John F. Kennedy," bears Gonzalez' name, giving an initial impression that a member of Congress endorsed its findings.

Exactly how much control Gonzalez will have over the House investigations remains to be seen.

Chief Counsel Richard A. Sprague says he has been freed to go where the facts take him. Sprague said Tuesday that the investigation will be thoroughly independent and will not rely either on FBI or CIA assistance. He said the investigation would become "the laughingstock of the world" if it depended on government agencies to do the detective work.

Kissingers Fly To Acapulco

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has arrived here with his wife Nancy for a five-day vacation.

The Kissingers, who honeymooned here, flew from Washington on Tuesday night with several staff members.

They landed in an Air Force jet at a private airport and drove to two private homes on a hill overlooking famed Acapulco Bay.

After the stay here, Kissinger is expected to fly to Mexico City.

Members of the Elm Street Senior Citizens Club made final plans for Christmas parties at their Thursday meeting.

Fifty-three members have signed up to attend the District 1-A Christmas Party December 9 in Wilson. Those planning to attend will leave from the Elm Street Center at 9:30 a.m. December 9.

The club's Christmas Luncheon will be December 16 at 11 a.m. at the Elm Street Center. Reservations for the luncheon must be made with Sarah Ashton by December 9.

The club voted to sponsor a foster child at Christmas instead of exchanging gifts. Members will contribute donations for the projects.

The 1977 officers were elected and will be installed at the December 16 meeting.

Members of the Elm Street Senior Citizens Club furnished the refreshments for the dedication and Open House at the Senior Citizen Center Thursday.

Mrs. Ashton, representing the Elm Street Club was among the speakers at the ceremonies. Approximately 200 senior citizens attended.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Neil Diamond must complete a six-month drug diversion program before a judge decides whether to make the singer stand trial on a misdemeanor marijuana possession charge.

Sheriff's deputies said they found one ounce of marijuana at Diamond's Bel Air home last June 30 after receiving an anonymous tip.

Diamond pleaded innocent.

Municipal Court Judge Louis Feder has ordered Diamond to return to court next May 20 for a decision about dropping the charge, court records showed Tuesday.

Never Entering Another Church

DUNDEE, Fla. (AP) — A man caught making a bologna sandwich in a church was sent to jail because the minister felt it was his Christian duty "to apprehend those involved in criminal acts."

Virgil Hughes, 52, a migrant farmworker employed on a local farm, said he was outside the Dundee Baptist Church on Sunday, penniless and unable to remember the last time he had eaten. A passerby suggested he try the church kitchen, he told police.

Hughes said he walked through an open door and was fixing a sandwich when the minister, Rev. James Lockwood, found him and called police.

Officer Ron Sellgren said he found no evidence of forced entry and no burglary tools. "He had nothing on him but a can of pipe tobacco," Sellgren said. But the Rev. Mr. Lockwood said he caught Hughes filling a bag with groceries. "And of course I don't know what else he was going to take," he said.

Hughes was taken to police headquarters, where he told authorities his story. Asst. Polk County State Attorney Al Smith then decided that he could be charged only with trespassing, a misdemeanor. Hughes was set free.

But Smith said the Rev. Mr. Lockwood called him later to complain about the release. The minister claimed that the church was locked and Hughes broke in, Smith said.

"It's pretty hard to convince me or anyone else that a church shouldn't be open on Sunday morning," Smith said.

Nonetheless, the minister filed a complaint, and Hughes was arrested on burglary charges.

"I've given my life to helping others," the minister said. "I don't want him harmed, but I feel as a Christian that I have a duty to society to apprehend those involved in criminal acts."

The Rev. Mr. Lockwood said he would ask the state attorney if Hughes could be released on his own recognizance. He also said he's invited Hughes to join him for Thanksgiving dinner.

Said Hughes: "I will never go into another church."
