

Snow, Road Crevices Slow Quake Relief

FORCED OUT INTO THE COLD — Earthquake victims from the village of Muradiye, Turkey, prepare to spend a second night in the forest Thursday following the massive earthquake Wednesday which destroyed their town. Local officials reported over 1,000

By ISMAIL KOVACI
Associated Press Writer

MURADIYE, Turkey (AP) — Relief workers struggled through snow and over destroyed roads today to help thousands of earthquake victims. Local officials said 3,027 bodies had been recovered in the area and expressed fear that the death toll may be approaching 4,000.

The grief-stricken survivors of Muradiye spent a second night outdoors in subfreezing temperatures. Mevlut Sivassoglu, the township's acting governor, said tents, blankets and fuel were desperately needed to ease the suffering of the survivors, many of them injured.

Snowstorms, deep crevices in roads, continuing aftershocks, and communications disrupted by Wednesday afternoon's quake were hampering rescue efforts in the mountainous terrain, officials said.

Officials in Ankara said a massive relief effort was being mounted, with Turkish military planes continuing a round-the-clock airlift to the provincial capital of Van.

But rescue efforts were chaotic in devastated Van Province, and residents charged that the relief work had been poorly coordinated.

The destroyed roads and an eight-inch snowfall kept rescue workers from reaching Caldiran, the heaviest hit town, until today.

Residents there said many persons who might have survived had died under the rubble. One newspaper said bodies had been recovered by Friday but rescue efforts were hampered by destroyed roads, snowstorms and continuing aftershocks. (AP Wirephoto) some wounded buried under the rubble had frozen to death. An aerial survey of Caldiran on Thursday showed only two buildings still standing. "Caldiran is completely wiped off the map. We fear 60 per cent of its 2,300 population is lying dead under the rubble," one official said.

Mehmet Zeki, a Caldiran resident, said, "We heard the moans and cries of our relatives from under the rubble all night Wednesday. I dug out with my hands the bodies of my three children. My wife and mother remain buried. Perhaps if I had had a pick and shovel I could have saved them."

Foreign aid for the quake victims began trickling in. The United Nations representative in Ankara said 1,000 arctic-type tents were being sent to Van. An Italian military cargo plane full of supplies was expected in Ankara. The U.S. Embassy said two transport planes would arrive later today with 1,000 tents and other supplies.

Helicopters airlifted supplies to the townships of Ercis, Ozalp, Caldiran and Diyadin, villages located between Lake Van Golu and Turkey's border with Iran and Soviet Armenia.

The Kandilli Observatory in Istanbul said eight more jolts rocked the area Thursday and more aftershocks were likely in the next few days. The initial tremor registered 7.6 on the Richter scale, indicating a major earthquake capable of widespread, heavy damage.

Disagree On VOA Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — A controversy is developing over an effort by journalists and broadcasters at the Voice of America to convince President-elect Jimmy Carter that the government-run radio network should be independent from the United States Information Agency.

The campaign is being waged by opponents of the current set-up who claim bureaucratic control is stifling efforts by the Voice of America to present news and opinion fully and professionally to overseas listeners.

A Voice of America official suggested Thursday that the move to gain independence for the VOA — and insulate it from the State Department as well — could be helped by Carter's plans for government reorganization.

The official, who asked for anonymity, said "a fair number of people have signed" a petition for independence that was first circulated at the Voice of America this week.

Without providing any numbers, he said the signers include senior staff members and division chiefs in the organization.

Carter has given no indication whether he favors independence for the Voice of America.

The USIA and a group dominated by foreign service officers are opposing the idea. The State Department had no comment.

Daughter Of A Peanut Farmer

NEWTON, N.C. (AP) — The only daughter of a North Carolina peanut farmer may get a spot in the Carter White House.

She is Mrs. Neville MacBean of Atlanta, transition director for President-elect Jimmy Carter's wife Rosalynn.

Her father, George Frye, has been farming peanuts in his native Catawba County community of Startown for most of his 61 years.

Riddick Will Leave Pitt County Staff

Henry Riddick, agricultural extension agent, has resigned from the Pitt County Extension staff to accept a similar position in Beaufort County. The change will be effective on December 1.

Riddick joined the Agricultural Extension Service of Pitt County in October of 1968 as an assistant agricultural agent. His areas of responsibility have included peanuts, corn, pesticide education, and farm management. During 1976 he has also assumed responsibility for Extension tobacco programs.

In 1974 Riddick was recognized by the North Carolina Association of County Agricultural Agents with an "Outstanding Young Agent Award". He was cited for his leadership in developing on-the-farm testing along with other innovative educational programs in his areas of responsibility.

Recently the Pitt County Agribusiness Association presented Riddick with a plaque in recognition of his outstanding service to Pitt County agriculture.

Riddick, his wife Lauren and their children will live in Washington.

Fears New Armed Clash

By FAROUK NASSAR
Associated Press Writer
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Elias Sarkis has asked the United States and other Arab nations to help prevent a Syrian-Israeli clash in southern Lebanon, Beirut newspapers reported today.

Syrian troops of an Arab peacekeeping army now occupy all of Lebanon except for a strip along the Israeli border. Israel has massed troops and armor along the frontier after warning that it would not tolerate Syrian troops or Palestinian guerrillas too close to Israel.

Syrian troops and tanks were known to be entrenched 30 miles north of the Israeli border. Leftist spokesmen say a planned southward advance by the Syrians had been suspended pending Sarkis' attempt to mediate.

The peacekeepers have said they want to break up battles between Christians and Moslems in southern Lebanon, the last remnants of a 19-month civil war that has taken more than 37,000 lives.

The Lebanese state radio said today that Sarkis was holding "urgent consultations with Arab and friendly nations, warning against the disastrous consequences of an Israeli adventure in the south." The broadcast did not elaborate.

Beirut newspapers said that Sarkis was offering the parties concerned the following:

—Yasir Arafat's Palestinian high command would declare a moratorium on guerrilla raids into Israel from southern Lebanon, which had been a base for frequent guerrilla raids before the civil war.

—A small regular force of the Lebanese army, which disintegrated during the conflict, would be set up to patrol the border area.

—Syrian peacekeeping forces would advance to within a "reasonable distance" of border regions to supervise the civil war truce and collect heavy arms from both guerrillas and the Moslems and Christians still fighting.

Income Declines

RALEIGH (AP) — Department of Commerce figures show that a recent trend of better-than-average growth in total personal income in North Carolina was reversed in the second quarter of 1976.

Personal income in the 49 other states gained during the second quarter, but in North Carolina there was a decline of .1 per cent from the previous quarter.

"In North Carolina—where income showed virtually no change—contract construction, nondurable manufacturing wages and government unemployment benefits were off, said the department's quarterly report. "Farm income was up only a little. There were moderate gains in most other components."

Total personal income, one measure of the economy's growth increased 15.4 per cent in North Carolina from the first quarter of 1975 to the second quarter of 1976, the department said. Only Florida, among 12 Southeastern states, experienced a greater growth rate. The national average for that period was 13.4 per cent.

ROACHES

Last week my friend and I each had to pay $30 plus $8 per month for the next five months to get rid of roaches. I've never had them in my home till just lately. The exterminator told us it is quite probable we brought these insects home in boxes from the grocery store. Wouldn't it be nice if the grocers would spray and keep their roaches down. C.L.

Virtually all grocery stores do exterminate on a regular basis, Pitt County Environmental Health Director Willie Pate said. Roaches are still a problem to some extent, though, especially in produce departments, he said, simply because they are seeking food and are constantly being brought in from warehouses and markets that supply the stores.

He said every store that has a meat department is inspected by the Health Department and that if there is any sign of insects presence, extermination would be demanded. He stressed, though, that it is usually done by the storekeepers on a voluntary basis, anyway.

He said he does not know the solution to the problem, other than to inspect as soon as they're brought home bags holding things like potatoes and onions to be sure there are no roaches or other insects hiding there, and possibly to request bags rather than boxes for carrying home groceries if one has encountered such a serious problem as you have.

Fire Left Family Homeless

INTENSE HEAT — Members of the Winterville Fire Department battle a blaze last night that destroyed a house near Winterville leaving a family homeless. According to officials at the scene, the fire had completely engulfed the front section of the house when firemen arrived. The owner of the structure was listed as Kenneth Dews, Sr. The occupants of the house were listed as Matthew Darden, his wife and their seven children. Darden said the fire started in the upstairs portion of the wood frame house. Estimates of loss were placed by officials at $30,000. Firemen fought the 5:10 p.m. blaze for about three hours. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Nancy Dickerson Remembers The Early Days Of Television

By CONNIE GRZELKA
NEW YORK (AP) — In television's early years, the women on news programs usually occupied a certain turf — that of the weather girl. Then Nancy Hanschman of Wauwatosa, Wis., came along and helped to change that bleak forecast for women to bright, clear and sunny.

She became in 1960 the first female national network correspondent for CBS-TV, after working for the network as a producer for six years.

Getting there meant "being available for all tasks, working late at night, on weekends, Thanksgiving and Christmas Eve," explains the author — now Nancy Dickerson — of a recently published book, "Among Those Present."

As a national correspondent, she covered four presidents — John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson, Richard M. Nixon and Gerald R. Ford — all of whom she knew personally before they stepped into the White House.

After 23 years of assignments ranging from the glamorous, such as covering the Inaugural Ball, to the grueling 18-hour days of national political conventions, Mrs. Dickerson describes herself as "mellowed." But, she admits, "I still get a thrill when I walk up the circular drive at the White House."

In an interview here, she reviewed some of the changes she's observed since she first started reporting.

On politics and the press, she comments: "Much more emphasis is now put on people's lives and I'm not sure that's a good thing. There should be some privacy left. We shouldn't use private lives as the criteria

India Night Held For ADK Chapter

The Alpha Iota Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa Sorority met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Usha Gulati for "India Night."

As members arrived, they were invited to have refreshments provided by Mrs. Gulati, Mrs. Norma Gray, Mrs. Edith Holmes and Mrs. Elizabeth Savage.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Betty Speight. The activities were: a devotional message on "Thankfulness" by Mrs. Louise Godfrey; a secretary's report by Mrs. Lib Avery; a treasurer's report by Mrs. Edith Holmes; and a report on pledges by Mrs. Gray.

Mrs. Speight showed a certificate of recognition that the Alpha Iota Chapter had received from Mrs. Ann Byrd, District V vice president of ADK, for having the best publicity ADK week display at the ADK District V Workshop.

Mrs. Speight announced that a Christmas party for Alpha Iota Chapter members and husbands would be held Dec. 14, at 6:30 p.m. at the Woman's Club.

The members voted to continue to sponsor a Christmas party for the Elmhurst School EMR classes. The business session of the meeting was adjourned by Mrs. Speight, who requested that Mrs. Louise Godfrey lead the members in singing "The Lamp of A.D.K." The program was turned over to Mrs. Gulati who demonstrated the draping of the sari, which is a dress worn by women in India. Mrs. Savage served as Mrs. Gulati's model. Mrs. Gulati invited members to browse in her India crafts shop in which she has a selection of crafts from India.

Program Given By Mrs. Sparks

Mrs. Carolyn Sparks, nutritionist for Wayne, Warren and Halifax Counties, presented the program on "In-Born Errors of Metabolism" at the November meeting of the Eastern North Carolina District Dietetic Association.

Mrs. Geraldine Sieglar, R.D., was hostess for the meeting which was held at Lenoir Memorial Hospital, Kinston.

Officers for the new year are as follows: Camille B. Clarke, R.D., president; Mrs. Sparks, R.D., MPH, president-elect; Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton, R.D., treasurer; and Mrs. Julie Dostal, R.D., secretary.

The next meeting will be in Rocky Mount as Nash General Hospital in January.

by which we elect officials." The Elizabeth Ray case, however, she adds, "was a different matter. When tax dollars are involved then there is a valid role for the press to play."

Reception Given Couple On 50th Anniversary

The 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Gurganus, of Rt. 1, Greenville, was celebrated at a reception at their home Sunday afternoon.

Guests were received by the honored couple and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Strickland of Bell Arthur, Pamela Gurganus of Biloxi, Miss., granddaughter, registered guests.

The honoree was wearing a black chiffon dress with hand-painted roses and a chiffon cape overlay. She wore a white cymbidium orchid tied with white and gold ribbon.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of bronze and yellow mums in a brass container flanked by brass candleholders holding tapers. The three tiered cake was served by Mrs. William Manning of Smithville, Va., sister of Mrs. Gurganus. Mrs. Wallace Gurganus of Biloxi, Miss., daughter-in-law of the couple, poured punch. Mrs. Phillip Sutton of Rt. 1, Greenville, assisted in serving.

Gifts were received and displayed by the couple's granddaughters, Vickie Strickland of Bell Arthur, and Donna and Susan Gurganus of Biloxi, Miss. Phil Strickland of Bell Arthur, grandson of the couple, assisted during the afternoon.

Wallace Gurganus of Biloxi, Miss., son of the couple, said good-byes.

Those assisting were given bronze mum corsages.

Watergate, she continues, has changed the press "a great deal. There's always the possibility that sources would lie to you — but it became an art form with Vietnam and Watergate. That's a chilling experience."

This very same phenomenon "has caused the press to swing too far on the other end of the pendulum," she says. "Investigative reporting has come to the point where everyone in public office is suspect." She feels that this has created "a mean atmosphere which is not very productive."

Mrs. Dickerson, who lives near Washington, D.C., with her husband, C.W. Dickerson, and their five children, says she is working on another book which will deal with the press.

She now travels around the country giving lectures, writes articles and makes occasional on-the-air appearances.

On women in broadcasting today she says, "They're finally being taken seriously. Barbara Walters' new spot as co-anchorperson of the ABC Evening News is a big breakthrough."

She smiles when she says, "It's so different today from when I graduated from college. Back then, they used to think it was such a big deal for a woman to have five children and work."

Looking back at her years in broadcasting, Mrs. Dickerson says the most exhilarating moment was "to be on live television when it's happening. There's no time to edit copy. It's always an historic moment to be among those present."

Says School Hair Code Not Fair

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Does a school board have the legal right to enforce a hair code on the students of a public high school?

The girls are not required to wear their hair a certain length. Why should the boys be? Isn't this discrimination between the sexes? Also, doesn't it violate one's constitutional rights?

The boys would like to have the hair code relaxed a little. They aren't asking that they be allowed to let their hair grow down their backs; they just want to wear it a little longer than the present code allows: "Must have the entire ear showing, and must not touch the collar." Isn't that ridiculous?

My teenage son attends this school, and he tells me that the boys are close to rebellion. Personally, I think the code is absurd, and I'd appreciate your personal views as well as any legal information concerning such codes.

TEXAS MOM

DEAR MOM: If you want to get into constitutional law, you will have to engage a lawyer. My personal view is as follows: A person (male or female) should be allowed to wear his hair any way he wants to as long as it doesn't interfere with the rights of others.

P.S. A discouraging note: The U.S. Supreme Court recently upheld the "hair code" for police in Suffolk County, Long Island.

DEAR ABBY: I know this is a very ignorant question for an 18-year-old girl to ask, but when is a girl no longer considered a virgin?

I had a boyfriend and we were very, very close, but we never had sexual intercourse. (We did everything BUT.) Am I still considered a virgin, as society calls it?

Please answer in the paper, as I don't want this kind of information coming to my house in a letter. Also, I'm sure there are other girls who would like to know.

VIRGIN OR NOT

DEAR VIRGIN: Although you have done everything but—the "but" makes the difference. Technically, you are a virgin.

DEAR ABBY: Our 18-year-old daughter has been seeing a psychotherapist about some problems, and his unconventional type of therapy has us worried.

Our daughter tells us that during these sessions the doctor takes her on his lap, and kisses and fondles her so she will feel "relaxed" and "loved." He says that this is the "sensitivity" therapy.

Have you ever heard of anything like this?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Before jumping to any hasty conclusions, bear in mind that your daughter is in therapy and could be indulging in fantasy, exaggeration or wishful thinking. However, "sensitivity" therapy is a new approach, as opposed to the former rigid, "hands-off" relationship between patient and psychotherapist. Some patients need a friendly touch or a reassuring pat. But no respectable therapist will kiss and fondle a patient as part of the therapy. You have every right to confer with your daughter's therapist to find out what's going on. And I suggest you do.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Questionable Practical Value

Will the "Spruce Goose" fly again? There is a chance that it will. The Navy is interested in looking at the famous Howard Hughes aircraft which has been kept out of sight in a hanger since 1947.

The controversial plane was the subject of a Congressional hearing and Hughes personally flew it on Nov. 2, 1947. Then it was placed in a Long Beach, Calif. hanger under guard and it has remained there until now.

Reportedly the aircraft is still in good condition, although it was never put into service following Hughes flight with it. Nevertheless it is of interest to the Navy for experimental use.

It's difficult for us to see why the plane would be of any use to the Navy in this age of giant jet transports. The "Spruce Goose" is part of the Howard Hughes folklore, however, and it could be interesting to see the giant aircraft put to a practical test.

Continuing Flow Of Ideas Is Necessary

Goldsboro businessmen, who toured Greenville's downtown area last week, were impressed with the progress they observed.

Greenville is proud of what has been accomplished with the construction of the mall and other improvements and we welcome the exchange of ideas between our neighboring cities.

The spectacular part of revitalizing the oldest part of our city has been done. We will need, though, a continuing flow of ideas to keep this, and all areas of the city flourishing. The leaders of the various municipalities can borrow from each other as they work at preventing future urban decay.

THIS AFTERNOON

Aware He's The Governor

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — "We were sitting around the office talking about this press conference, when it suddenly occurred to us that Jim Hunt is The Governor," a close aide who worked throughout the campaign said the other day.

The campaign, the work of the primary, the final victory only served to sharpen commitments and ideas, Hunt's closest advisors say, and in this all-important transition period he is talking and acting decisively — like the governor.

Carolina. For one thing, he has become very emphatic in answering questions: if he has an answer ready, he gives it simply, quickly, cleanly.

If he doesn't know, he says so — without hemming and hawing around. If he doesn't choose to answer, he says that openly and without room for argument.

For the record, here — in his own words — is a series of comments about what kind of governor Hunt says he will be:

"I will be the governor. A lot of people helped me in the election . . . but I am the governor, and the governor is responsible to all the people. They elected me, and they are the ones I'm gonna serve, and when I make a decision it will be one based on what is best for all the people, and not because some close friend says so."

"I do not intend to spend my time concerned with the little, nitty-gritty details of administration . . . but with the real questions facing North Carolina . . . Some governors have thought their job was to run the executive branch; some have thought their job was just to get legislation through the General Assembly — and that is important. But my job goes far beyond those: working with people all over this state, with community leaders — the commissioners and city officials, judges, law enforcement officers, educators — to be in touch with the communities to bring about change and to solve problems in the communities where we live."

"I will get the best people possible to run the departments of state government . . . People I can put my confidence in. They will report to me, of course, but they will have the responsibility for carrying out their duties. . . Each will be required to report (personal) financial interests before the inauguration, and before legislation requiring that is enacted."

"No one is authorized to speak on my behalf as to who might or might not be appointed to a job. Anybody who tells you . . . don't take that with a grain of salt: take it with a hundred pounds of salt."

"I will not spend the first six months studying — but doing. My term in office will not be in the role of presiding over study commissions for four years . . . In one particular area a major study commission is to be set up: on juveniles and alternatives to save young people and give them opportunities to succeed . . . but it will report by mid-term so action can be taken."

"There is a lot of apprehension among state employees, that I can understand. But I don't want professional, career employees who have given their lives to North Carolina to be apprehensive . . . as for people in policy-making positions, I expect their resignations by inauguration Day . . . so we can come in with our own policy people . . . some of them may be people presently in those positions."

"Bond issues are talked about for several state needs. . . When I go for one, it will be one which I feel is reasonable, and one that can get passed."

What Mr. Carter Said

One day recently in Plains, Ga., a French trapper came up to President-elect Carter and said, "Voulez vous m'expliquer la fete Thanksgiving?" This is what Mr. Carter replied.

One of our most important holidays is Thanksgiving Day, known in France as le Jour de Merci Donnant.

Le Jour de Merci Donnant was first started by a group of Pilgrims (Pelerins) who fled from l'Angleterre before the McCarran Act to found a colony in the New World le Nouveau Monde where they could shoot Indians (les Peaux-Rouges) and eat turkey (dinde) to their heart's content.

They landed at a place called Plymouth (now a famous voiture Americaine) in a wooden sailing ship called the Mayflower (or Fleur de Mai) in 1620. But while the Pelerins were killing the dindes, the Peaux-Rouges were killing the Pelerins and there were several hard winters ahead for both of them. The only way the Peaux-Rouges helped the Pelerins was when they taught them to grow corn (mais). The reason they did this was because they liked corn with their Pelerins.

In 1623, after another harsh year, the Pelerins' crops were so good that they decided to have a celebration and give thanks because more mais was raised by the Pelerins than Pelerins were killed by Peaux-Rouges.

Every year on the Jour de Merci Donnant parents tell their children an amusing story about the first celebration.

It concerns a brave capitaine named Miles Standish (known in France as Kilometres Deboutish) and a young, shy lieutenant named Jean Alden. Both of them were in love with a flower of Plymouth called Priscilla Mullens (no translation). The vieux capitaine said to the jeune lieutenant:

"Go to the damsel Priscilla allez tres vite chez Priscilla, the loveliest maiden of Plymouth (la plus jolie demoiselle de Plymouth). Say that a blunt old captain, a man not of words but of action (un vieux Fanfan la Tulipe), offers his hand and his heart, the hand and heart of a soldier. Not in those words, you know, but this, in short, is my meaning.

"I am a maker of war (je suis un fabricant de la guerre) and not a maker of phrases. You, bred as a scholar (vous, qui etes pain comme un etudiant), can say it in elegant language, such as you read in your books of the pleadings and wooings of lovers, such as you think best adapted to win the heart of the maiden."

Although Jean was fit to be tied (covenable a etre emballé), friendship prevailed over love and he went to his duty. But instead of using elegant language, he blurted out his mission. Priscilla was muted with amazement and sorrow (rendue nueete par l'etonnement et la tristesse).

At length she exclaimed, interrupting the ominous silence: "If the great captain of Plymouth is so very eager to wed me, why does he not come himself and take the trouble to woo me?" (Ou est-il, le vieux Kilometres? Pourquoi ne vient-il pas aupres de moi pour tenter sa chance?)

Jean said that Kilometres Deboutish was very busy and didn't have time for those things. He staggered on, telling what a wonderful husband Kilometres would make. Finally Priscilla arched her eyebrows and said in a tremulous voice: "Why don't you speak for yourself, Jean?" (Chacun a son gout.)

And so, on the fourth Thursday in November, American families sit down at a large table brimming with tasty dishes, and for the only time during the year eat better than the French do.

No one can deny that le Jour de Merci Donnant is a grand fete and no matter how well fed American families are, they never forget to give thanks to Kilometres Deboutish who made this great day possible.

Eyeing Fresh Talent

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — While familiar Republican figures prepare for a party power struggle, GOP leaders around the country are talking of new faces and fresh talent to guide their quest for a comeback in 1978.

The conservatives among them argue that the party should look to the right for its direction. But there is wide agreement on the need for unity and for a return to the basics of political organization as Republican chairmen and national committee members survey the future of the defeated party.

They are the people who will be choosing a national chairman in mid-January to succeed the resigning Mary Louise Smith.

And many agree with Mrs. Smith that this is no time for Republicans to turn sharply toward the right — or the left, for that matter.

Those attitudes emerged in an Associated Press sampling of the opinions of more than 40 Republican state party leaders.

Their consensus was that what Republicans need most is an intensive organizational drive, concentrating on voter registration and candidate talent hunts for the 1978 state and congressional elections.

But the party leaders are divided on the immediate future. The split continues between those who supported President Ford and those who backed Ronald Reagan for the GOP presidential nomination.

While the choice of a new chairman looms as a test between conservative and centrist Republicans, some party officials urge a system of shared leadership that would install a compromise, consensus choice at the party helm. Mrs. Smith, who has served 28 months in the top GOP post, was chosen by Ford.

The national committee meets Jan. 14 and 15 to choose a new chairman. In the inter-

DANCE TO TOMS-TOMS

Indians Mark Thanksgiving

By KENDAL WEAVER
Associated Press Writer
POARCH, Ala. (AP) — Bill Smith, a Creek Indian, called on a flock of youngsters to come forward and dance Indian-style to tom-toms.

Many children mingled with adults in front of him, ringing the grassy mound where the dance was to commence, but only a few ventured forward.

"Hey," said Smith, "nowadays it's not a disgrace to be called an Indian."

The tom-toms began beating, and soon 30 or more kids, some Indian, some not, were jumping to the music and making the 6th annual Creek Indian PowWow here that seemed to bless the future as much as the past.

The pow-wow was put on by the 500 Creeks who live in this rural South Alabama community about 60 miles northeast of Mobile and in nearby areas stretching to Pensacola, Fla. It was partly homecoming for Indians who live in distant towns, partly a display of tribal identity, and partly a country fair.

Mostly it was a resonant Thanksgiving blend of cultures.

There were Creek dances alongside gospel music. There were Indian rituals and a Christian prayer. There were boys in leather moccasins and boys in rubber football cleats. There were Indian girls in braids and black girls in pigtails and white girls in bangs.

There was an American flag — with a feather atop its pole.

More than a thousand persons attended, perhaps half of them of Indian lineage, and some were decked out in full Indian regalia — feathered headresses and decorative leather.

The most colorful attire was not of Creek origin. Smith said it was worn as a way of saying: "I am an Indian."

"For many, it's a starting point," he said. "We're trying to bring back the sense of heritage that was lost."

That includes teaching Creeks how to speak their native language. Few in Poarch can, he said.

Smith, a construction worker, teaches native dances to the youth in the community.

He also has a check from the U.S. government that he has never cashed. It's for $112.23, and it's framed.

The check was one of thousands sent to Creeks east of the Mississippi River four years ago by the federal government in a claims judgment.

"It was a symbolic thing," said Eddie Tullis, treasurer of the Alabama Creek Indian Council, who also got a check. "For the first time the federal government had to admit I was an Indian. They had said all the way to the Supreme Court that there were no Indians in Alabama."

Tullis said the check was recognition that Poarch Creeks had a claim to the land — land that they lost years ago when they were unable to pay new taxes. He said Creeks settled the land early in the 19th Century after Lynn McGhee, a Creek scout for Andrew Jackson, was given a land grant by Jackson for help during his campaigns.

Now the Indians at Poarch, who once lived a segregated existence on the outskirts of nearby Atmore, look on Thanksgiving as a "two-fold day," said Tullis.

It recalls in part, he said, a history of pain and duplicity, the "trail of tears" the Creeks followed when they were removed to Oklahoma in 1832. But it also recognizes, he said, "that something good can come out of it, too."

"The American continent is becoming aware that the American Indian has something to offer . . . a lifestyle that is worth preserving."

Opinions In Brief

"So long as we love, we serve; so long as we are loved by others, I should say, that we are almost indispensable; and no man is useless while he has a friend." — Robert Stevenson

"Liberty is a think of the spirit — to be free to worship, to think, to hold opinions and to speak without fear — free to challenge wrong and oppression with surety of justice." — Herbert Hoover.

"Everything for which democracy stands is based on religious faith. Neither enlightened self-interest nor practical ethics can make an effective substitute." — Former Sen. Elbert Thomas.

Strength For Today

TWO KEYS TO TREASURE

You have perhaps noticed that it takes two keys to open a safe deposit box at the bank. The bank holds one key, and with this the custodian "primes" the lock. Then you insert your key and open the small compartment in which the box is kept.

It always takes two keys to make available the treasures kept in the box. One key will not do it. And here we see the setting forth of a spiritual law. It takes God's key and yours to unlock life's richest treasures. God's key alone will not do it, for He has ordained that man must do his part to obtain the spiritual treasure he desires.

We speak of the work of our hands — but who gave us our hands? We refer to the creations of our minds — but who conferred upon us the power to reason and create? God must first "prime" the lock, and then we can use the key He has given us — our natural endowment of powers and capacities. Then we can open the treasure chamber.

Other Editors Say Better Business

(Henderson Dispatch)

And we quote: "Business will be better in the coming year." The quote is from the 1977 Business Outlook by the Babson Washington Forecast Letter, made after an in-depth study of prospects. It was also concluded that, although 1976 has been disappointing for many, "we feel this year will end on a mild upnote that will lift the flagging spirits of the business community."

If the recovery should end in 1977 it would be one of the "shortest cyclical moves on record." The new administration will be "activist and expansionist," resulting in business optimism, and more willingness to expand. Investment in new plant and equipment will begin to move forward; savings are at high levels, and incomes are steadily rising. These are a brief elaboration on the forecast.

The Outlook is lengthy and detailed. For the most part, it is better than moderately encouraging. Most phases of the economy are expected to improve. On the whole, the predictions are very hopeful.

The Dispatch has been publishing Babson comments for forty years, or since the Depression of the 1930s. It has proved reliable.

There could be unforeseen developments, such as an outbreak of hostilities somewhere, or runaway spending by the government, which could set off a new period of inflation or other developments. Fortunately, there are at the moment no signs of these trends. Forecasts are based on the likelihood of reasonably normal processes.

If in the economy the line is held, the coming year offers a bright picture. It must be remembered, however, that government activity cannot be safely predicted. It could upset the apple cart, under some circumstances.

Clearer View After Christmas

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A clearer perspective on the possible need for a tax cut is likely to merge after retailers have a chance to assess the results of the Christmas selling season.

This period, which traditionally begins around Thanksgiving and continues right through to the end of the year, is expected to be an unusually sensitive measure of consumer attitudes this year.

Retail sales throughout the summer and fall have been regularly termed disappointing, rising in October by only two-tenths of 1 per cent over those of September. Dollar sales are no better than they were last spring.

Late reports suggest more zip is being added to the retail picture in recent weeks, but it wouldn't be the first time that such preliminary estimates turned to be based more on hope than performance.

Manufacturers' inventories, meanwhile, are gradually piling up, suggesting that if sales don't pick up the economists will have to find a stronger term than lull or pause, and the new president might have to take firm action.

Inventory buildup is not always a sign of weakness, and can in fact be a sign of confidence in the economy by businessmen who feel it is better to be prepared for a sales improvement than a sales decline.

Those expectations haven't been fulfilled of late. While inventories accumulate, sales have been far less than robust.

The strength or weakness of sales, therefore, is going to be watched closely over the next few weeks by the incoming administration, and quite likely will play an important role in its plans for the economy.

While President-elect Jimmy Carter continues to advise Americans that he has not as yet made up his mind on a tax cut, the series of weak indicators, including retail sales, has made the issue the hottest topic among economists.

Lawrence Klein, Carter adviser and operator of the Wharton School econometric model, has indicated support for a tax cut. So has Walter Heller, chief economic adviser under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

Flu Epidemic Survivors Don't Need Persuasion

By JOHN W. REID
Associated Press Writer
DANVILLE, Vt. (AP) — Survivors of the great flu epidemic half a century ago don't have to be persuaded to get swine flu shots. They remember with the precision of childhood the deadly ravages of the disease.

"We could see horse-drawn hearses go by the house every few minutes," said Florence Beck, 67, as she waited in line to get her shot at a state Health Department clinic here. "Our football season was canceled, and the team captain died," said her husband, Theodore, who played high school football at St. Johnsbury Academy when the epidemic struck the northeastern Vermont school in the winter of 1918-1919. "They canceled nearly all activities in the town."

Mrs. Beck, who now lives in West Danville, was 9 when the epidemic struck. She said she had a mild case of the flu, and Miss Daniels is the daughter of Dempsey Galloway, Jr. of Plymouth and Mrs. Martha Daniels of Grimesland. She represented White Oak Baptist Church of Grimesland. She is a graduate of D. H. Conley High School.

Miss Arlene Mitchell Bell was first runner up and Miss Sheila Little was second runner-up.

Special music was provided for the contest by Choir No. 2 of Riddick Chapel Baptist Church of Bethel.

According to Lynette Little, chairperson of the contest and Mrs. Doris Lee co-chairman, the contest was successful.

South Africa Stifles Dissent

An AP News Special By MATT FRANJOLA
Associated Press Writer
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South African police are rounding up and restricting the freedom of black students, church leaders and union officials in an apparent drive to stifle dissent.

The drive began with raids on schools and homes in Soweto, a giant black ghetto southwest of Johannesburg, after four months of sporadic racial riots and violence in non-white townships subsided in mid-October.

Wildlife Club To Hold Auction

The Rose High Wildlife Club will have a "Pig 'N' A Poke" Auction on Dec. 1 at the school to raise funds for the organization.

Ricky Jones, club president, said that the auction will be held in Room 154 at 7:30 p.m. Items relating to camping, fishing and hunting will be auctioned during the evening.

He added that the event will be open to non-members and club members are urged to invite friends to participate.

Hundreds of students have been taken into custody and are being held without charge. Hundreds more have fled to escape arrest.

During the past week, the government "banned" 22 white students, union leaders and university lecturers under the Suppression of Communism Act. Banning orders impose a modified house arrest and restrict visitors and freedom of speech. Authorities would not say why the bans were issued.

On Thursday, black and white plainclothes police raided the offices of the South African Council of Churches (SACC) and the Christian Institute of South Africa in Johannesburg.

The roundups and bannings have sparked protests at home and abroad and driven black youths and some adults to seek refuge from arrest across the borders of neighboring Botswana and Swaziland.

Reports from the two countries this week said from 1,300 to 1,500 blacks had sought refuge in Botswana and 190 were hiding in Swaziland, double the number of a week ago.

The Most Rev. Donald Coggan, Archbishop of Canterbury, sent a telegram of protest from England to South African Prime Minister John Vorster over the arrest of a religious editor Thursday. He asked that Cedric Mayson, director of the Christian Institute, be released or that charges against him be made public.

The Most Rev. Joseph Fitzgerald, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Johannesburg and president of the Catholic Bishops conference, objected in a church newspaper to "these bannings, as I do detentions without trials, and wholesale arrests even of young children in the present disturbed climate."

im, there will be a series of Republican meetings, some formal, some of the smoke-filled room variety, to determine whether there will be a compromise or an all-out contest for the chairmanship.

Republican governors — the dozen who will be in office next year and a handful of their lame-duck colleagues — meet in Washington on Monday and Tuesday, with the party future the major topic on their agenda.

Iowa state chairman Thomas Stoner of Des Moines said the party should look to that small corps of governors for future leadership.

He mentioned Govs. Robert D. Ray of Iowa and Otis R. Bowen of Indiana and newly elected James Thompson of Illinois and Pierre S. DuPont IV of Delaware as the kind of men who represent the future.

But Gordon Nelson, chairman of the Massachusetts Republican state committee, said Reagan should lead the party and become national chairman, a job the former California governor has said he does not want.

James Colter, the Republican chairman in Arizona, said the real fight is between Reagan and outgoing Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller.

"It is a contest between the Rockefeller forces and the Reagan forces," he said. "I choose Reagan."

Better Reflects U.S. Affiliation

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The new U.S. Congress includes more Roman Catholics and Jews than the outgoing House and Senate, but fewer Protestants.

Although the changes in the denominational ratio are small, they continue a trend that has gone on for some time, bringing the religious makeup of Congress closer into line with that of the population.

Statistics compiled by the evangelical fortnightly, Christianity Today, show there are 371 Protestants in the new Congress, down nine; 129 Roman Catholics, up six, and 27 Jews, up three.

The Roman Catholic and Jewish totals are record highs for both groups.

Five members of the new Congress were listed as unaffiliated with any religious body.

In the present makeup, Roman Catholics constitute about 25 per cent and Jews about 3 per cent of Congress, approximately their proportion of the general population. Protestants hold about 70 per cent of the seats in Congress.

That's about their share of the population according to survey samplings, although the actively participating membership in Protestant churches is only about 40 per cent of the population.

In the new Congress, including both House and Senate, Presbyterians were down six to 60; United Methodists down three to 80, the United Church of Christ down 3 to 22; Episcopalians down two to 64. Baptists down one to 55 and Unitarian-Universalists down two to 11.

Lutherans, however, were up two to 16; the Churches of Christ up two to six; Latter-day Saints churches up two to 12. The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) stayed the same with five members in Congress. Eastern Orthodoxy also kept the same number of seats, four.

But two of the four now were in the Senate, with two in the House, while before it was only

Program For Church Offers Advent And Christmas Concert

CHARTOTTE (AP) — The 15-member commission which regulates day-care centers in North Carolina proposes a legislative program which will make it easier to close substandard centers.

The chairman of the state Child Day-Care Licensing Commission is Robert Eagle of Charlotte, who operates the Kiddie Korner Day Schools. He says in an interview that the commission proposes four major changes.

One — Allow emergency suspension of a center's operating license for 10 days if a hearing officer finds conditions pose imminent danger to health and safety.

Two — Give the commission's administrative arm the authority to hold hearings without commission action. The administrative arm is the North Carolina Office of Child-Care Licensing.

Three — Deny appeals for a second hearing for owners whose licenses are revoked by the commission.

And finally — Allow the state secretary of administration to seek injunctions in Superior Court in Raleigh to prevent a substandard center from operating anywhere in the state.

A concert of Advent and Christmas music will take place Sunday at 5 p.m. at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church located on Washington Street in downtown Greenville.

Under the direction of Dr. David L. Foster, minister of music of Jarvis Church, the program will feature four soloists: Charles Michael Smith of Durham, baritone, and former associate minister of Jarvis; Ann Searl, flute; John Heard, oboe, and Dr. Foster, organ.

All interested persons in the community are invited to attend. Selections listed on Sunday's program are Daquin's "Three Noels," Handel's "For Behold, Darkness Shall Cover the Earth" and "But Who May Abide the Day of His Coming" both from Messiah, Bach's "Mighty Lord and King All Glorious" from Christmas Oratorio and "Toccata in F major," Loellett's "Sonata in C minor for Flute, Oboe and Organ," Bernstein's "A Simple Song" from Mass., and Reger's "Prelude and Fugue on 'Wachet Auf.'"

The Rev. Smith is a native of Washington, N.C., and is minister of Durham's Parkwood United Methodist Church. He has been soloists in a number of major oratorios throughout the state, including this year's presentation of the Messiah at Duke Memorial Chapel in Durham.

Miss Searl is a graduate of Eastman School of Music and a flute teacher here. Heard is a member of the East Carolina University School of Music faculty. Dr. Foster is a graduate of Northwestern University and a Fulbright Scholar.

A love offering will conclude the program.

Jimmy is looking at a miracle. The more science learns about us, the more marvelous we are discovered to be. The complex structure of our eyes . . . the infinitely delicate balance of our hearing . . . the unequalled functioning of our brain . . . hundreds of smaller miracles that combine into one great miracle — a human being!

No man on earth can create another. We are God's handiwork, and we are most wonderfully made.

But there is a lot more to Jimmy than can be seen in a mirror or under a microscope. There is that determining factor . . . character. He needs church guidance to help him build the kind of character that will sustain him throughout his life.

The Christian religion has one main purpose . . . to mold men in Christ's likeness . . . the perfect image of God.

How's The Weather?

Fire Takes Toll: Five Children

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is forecast Friday from Texas to the Northeast. Snow is due for New Mexico and the southern Plains. Colder weather is expected for most of the country. (AP)

By The Associated Press
It was mild and rainy in North Carolina today. There is an intense winter storm in the Rockies. And also a stationary high-pressure area covering the western Atlantic. This combination forced warm, moist and unstable air over much of the Southern and mid-Atlantic states. Rain reached as far east as Mississippi and western Tennessee early this morning. And as the storm in the Rockies develops, the rain will drift eastward and cover North Carolina late this afternoon and tonight.

No Readmission Of 5 Iranian Students

MURFREESBORO, N.C. (AP) — A student spokesman says Chowan College has notified five of its 62 Iranian students they will not be readmitted for the spring term.

Javad Karam, a spokesman for Iranian students who took part in a peaceful sit-in demonstration Sept. 28, said the remaining Iranians would be leaving—40 in the spring and the remaining 17 after the spring term ends.

Karam, 22, and four other Iranians, along with one American student the college refused to identify, were notified by Dean Franklin Lowe that they would not be permitted to register at Chowan for the spring term.

All but the American were leaders and spokesmen for disgruntled Iranians who protested what they called discrimination against foreign students by officials of the small Baptist institution.

"The college has the right to exclude students whose conduct it regards as undesirable," Lowe said in a letter to the students. It also said the five had the right to appeal the decision to Dean of Students Clayton much of the Southern and mid-Atlantic states. Rain reached as far east as Mississippi and western Tennessee early this morning. And as the storm in the Rockies develops, the rain will drift eastward and cover North Carolina late this afternoon and tonight.

The moist, unstable air that will be flowing over the state today will warm the temperatures nicely. And it will produce some thundershowers. Highs today will be in the 60s in the western half and the 70s in the eastern half.

It was very pleasant on Thanksgiving Day. Under full sun, the holiday warmed into the 60s across the state. During the afternoon, a nice mild breeze developed.

In preparation for the rain, a veil of high clouds began covering the state during the night. Temperatures at dawn were mostly in the 40s.

Lows tonight will be mostly in the 40s, reaching the 50s along the coast.

Showers or thundershowers will continue on Saturday. Highs again will be in the 60s west to 70s east.

Winds along the coast winds will be picking up from the southwest at 15 to 25 knots this afternoon. Small-craft advisories may be needed. All streams and creeks are well within bankfull.

Jet Set, Inc., parent company of the Five Star Theater in suburban Metairie, claims the theater lost money and had its reputation damaged in February when Domino allegedly showed up for only three of the eight nights he had agreed to perform.

The suit alleges that members of Domino's band were drunk at one show, that Domino was drunk at another, and that both Domino and his band gave a poor performance.

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON Associated Press Writer
PLAINS, GA. (AP) — With out-of-state tourists crowding into Jimmy Carter's hometown, Georgia officials are looking for "tasteful" ways to lure the visitors to the Peach State's other attractions.

The state also may build a visitors center on the edge of town and bring people in by bus or tram in order to unravel traffic jams and preserve parking space for Plains' 683 permanent residents.

"Gov. and Mrs. Carter would like to see Plains stay pretty much as it is," said Edward Spivia, the state's director of tourism, after a visit with the President-elect and his wife this week.

"They'd like to see the citizens of the town lead a normal life but still take advantage of the fact that the tourists are coming over and bringing in dollars," he declared.

The state wants to spread the thousands of tourists coming in around Georgia's southwest corner, Spivia said. It has in mind programs promoting such local attractions as the Civil War prison at Andersonville, Franklin Delano Roosevelt's little White House at Warm Springs, Callaway Gardens and Westville, with its transplanted early Georgia homes and shops in a sort of red clay Williamsburg.

"I think we in the state of Georgia have an opportunity to take advantage of a situation that can benefit the economy of the state," the tourism director said.

"But at the same time we'd like to do it tastefully, because Gov. Carter is president-elect of all 50 states and we don't want him to be embarrassed by anything we do in promoting tourism," he added.

Thanksgiving Day in Plains was a typical tourist day. Although most of the townspeople were home with their families, the streets were crowded and long lines of cars inched their way into the town with an estimated 1,000 visitors. There were no parking spaces.

People had to wait in line to get into the old railroad depot that serves Plains as a Carter welcome center and exhibit hall.

While the President-elect spent the holiday at home with his family, tourists were asking anyone surnamed Carter for an autograph and in Carter's an-

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)— Fire of undetermined origin swept through an apartment this morning, killing five children in two related families, authorities said. All five were under seven years old.

Authorities said two of the children were brothers and the other three were their cousins. The two families apparently were living together in the apartment, authorities said.

The mother, step-father and half-brother of three of the vic-times were injured. The father of the other two also was injured.

Baptist Hospital identified the dead as Darol Coker, 3; his brother Jimmy Coker, 3; George Tipton, 4; his half-brother Marty Tyer, 7, and Marty's sister and George's half-sister, Sheila Tyer, 6.

Ernest Coker, 23, father of the Coker boys and uncle of the three other victims, suffered a broken heel, the hospital said.

Barbara Trout, mother of George, Marty and Sheila, suffered a broken pelvis, a hospital spokesman said. Another of her sons, 2-year-old William Trout, was treated and released from the hospital. Edgar Trout, her husband, was slightly injured.

Mrs. Trout's three children who died were from previous marriages.

Jim Hopson, a next-door neighbor, said the victims had been living in the two-story wood and brick apartment less than two weeks. Authorities said one other resident lived in the building, about a half-mile from downtown Knoxville, and was not injured.

Firemen said the blaze started downstairs and all the children were in one upstairs bedroom. The structure, once a single family house which had been converted to apartments, was heavily damaged and was in flames when firemen arrived at 7:19 a.m., authorities said. The blaze was extinguished some 10 minutes later.

Hopson said he was asleep when awakened by screams.

"I saw smoke coming from the house and called the fire department, and they were here within three or four minutes," he said.

Assistant Fire Chief Bob Cannon said it was the worst Knoxville fire in 10 years.

Lennon Critical Of First Wife

LONDON (AP) — Former Beatle John Lennon has criticized his ex-wife Cynthia for saying their marriage began to collapse after he took his first trip on LSD, according to a London newspaper.

A letter bearing Lennon's name and printed in today's Daily Express said the marriage was "long over before the advent of LSD or Yoko Ono," the Japanese artist who became Lennon's second wife. The Express said the letter was delivered to the offices of some British newspapers in New York, where the Lennons live.

Cynthia, who was recently quoted in a magazine interview, has remarried and now lives in Wales.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market posted a narrow gain in quiet post-holiday activity today.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 42 at 951.38. Gainers held a lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Big Board volume totalled 3.97 million shares in the first hour.

Brokers said the market was drawing continued support from recent moves by the Federal Reserve aimed at pushing interest rates lower and stimulating economic expansion.

A week ago the central bank lowered its discount rate—the charge it makes on loans to its member commercial banks—from 5 1/2 to 5 1/4 per cent.

And this week the Fed has made several moves in the money markets that signalled its intention of putting downward pressure on interest rates.

But with many investors taking an extended Thanksgiving holiday, stocks seemed unable to gather much momentum in either direction.

Steel issues were mixed as a 6 per cent price increase spread in the industry.

U.S. Steel was up 3/4 at 47 1/2, but Bethlehem Steel slipped 1/4 to 36 1/2 and Republic Steel lost 1/4 to 30 1/2. Armco held steady at 29.

American Home Products, the most active NYSE issue, was unchanged at 30 1/4. A 90, 200-share block traded at 30.

The NYSE's composite index was up .08 at 55.04 at 11 a.m. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gave up .16 to 100.31.

Flu Campaign Badly Trailing Early Target

ATLANTA (AP) — More than 25 million Americans — nearly 19 per cent of those targeted for swine flu shots — have been immunized, with the program doing better in rural areas than in more populous states, a federal health official said today.

"The figures have shown a substantial increase every week since the program started," said Don Berreth, information officer for the federal Center for Disease Control.

"We certainly have a long way to go," he said, "but the figures are encouraging." Berreth said 6,186,866 persons were reported to have received swine flu inoculations during the week ending Nov. 20, bringing the program total to 25,376,438.

Figures for the previous week showed 4,945,000 persons received the shots, an increase of more than 1 million, Berreth said.

"States that are less urban are doing better," Berreth said. "It's reflected in the figures." He said the number of blacks and poor receiving the shots helped account for the smaller percentages in urban states.

The CDC said Wyoming is the first state to have more than 70 per cent of its population 18 years and older inoculated with the vaccine.

The most recent figures indicate 74 per cent of Wyoming residents in that age group had received the vaccine at 164 mass vaccination clinics, Berreth said.

He stressed however that the estimate of the number of shots was "very conservative." "There are some states that are behind in reporting the number of shots, and in some states reports from private physicians are behind, he said."

"We're not calling them every week to ask how many shots they have given," Berreth said.

Missouri health officials reported last week that they had diagnosed the first case of swine flu this season.

CDC officials obtained blood samples from residents of LaFayette County, Mo., who showed flu-like symptoms or who were in contact with the telephone lineman diagnosed as having contracted the virus.

Berreth said today that results from those tests were not yet complete.

He said there were reports that the number of persons receiving shots this week "had picked up" after news reports of the apparent Missouri case. But he added, "There are no numbers to document that."

The nationwide vaccination program was begun earlier this year after swine flu struck Ft. Dix, N.J., killing one soldier.

Discord Among Persian States

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A foreign ministers' conference in Oman called to promote cooperation among Persian Gulf states ended today with no agreement after South Yemen shot down an Iranian airplane.

"It seems the climate at present is unsuitable for achieving common cooperation," said Qais al-Zawawi, conference chairman and Omani minister of state for foreign affairs, after the final session in the Omani capital of Muscat.

The Iranian Foreign Ministry in Tehran said the attack on its plane was "open aggression" and designed to sabotage the Muscat talks.

Oman and Iran said the craft was on a training flight when it was shot down Wednesday by anti-aircraft guns fired from South Yemen. Oman denied a South Yemeni claim that the aircraft was "committing aggression" over South Yemeni territory.

Iranian forces have been fighting Communist and South Yemeni-backed rebels in Oman since 1972.

The type of aircraft shot down was not disclosed. Iran's forces in Oman use U.S.-made F4 Phantoms and some new F14s.

Oman's Sultan Qabous told the gulf conference Thursday that the area would risk foreign invasion if the rebels overthrew his regime. He said Oman, at the mouth of the gulf, forms the first line of defense for the world's oil passes.

The world's oil passes — Saudi Arabia, Iran, Kuwait, Bahrain, the United Arab Emirates, Qatar, Oman and Iraq — have been trying to increase cooperation with an eye to forming mutual defense accords.

But several disputes divide them, including the Omani revolt. There is widespread suspicion over the role there of Iran, a fellow Moslem but non-Arab country with designs on regional leadership.

Get them together now. Now is family portrait time.

Pirates Past Mounties, Claim Title

By WOODY PEELE
 Reflector Sports Editor

1976, but by midnight last night, there was no doubt remaining. East Carolina's Pirates ran and passed their way past the Mountaineers of Appalachian State, 35-7, to stake out their fourth and final Southern Conference football championship.

The offense piled up nearly 500 yards in total gains while the defense held the Mounties, the number two ground-gainers in the conference, to just 212 yards. Eddie Hicks picked up two of the five Pirate touchdowns on runs of seven and 31 yards. Mike Weaver tossed the ball 52 yards to split end Terry Gallaher, while Tom Daub finished up the chores with two late one-yard plunges. Pete Conaty finished up his career with five extra point kicks. The lone Appalachian score came on an 18-yard run by quarterback Robbie Price, who shortly afterwards left the game with an injury.

A week and a half ago, the Pirates, who could have claimed the title outright then, lost to Furman University, putting all the marbles on last night's contest. But after the first period, it really was no contest at all.

East Carolina scored on its opening drive to take the lead, but Appalachian came back later in the period to tie it up. The Mounties and Pirates both missed out on field goal attempts later in the half, before the Pirates clicked with two more touchdowns for a 21-7 lead at intermission.

The regional television audience also got to see a different side of the Pirate offense, as Weaver went to the air more than usual, and made it pay off. That served to open up the running game even more than the Bucs had already done with their crisp blocking in the line.

HICKS ON THE MOVE—East Carolina's Eddie Hicks puts a move on ASU defender Devon Ford (1), as he escapes the clutches of other Mountaineer defenders last night. Hicks scored two touchdowns and ran for 106 yards as the Pirates claimed the Southern Conference title with a 35-7 victory. (Reflector Photo)

The Bucs moved from the 26 on their first series. Six plays and a penalty moved the ball to the Pirate 43, where Weaver completed his first pass, to Clay Burnett for 12 yards. Two plays later, Weaver went to Barry Johnson for 15 more down to the 25. The senior quarterback kept for 15 more yards to the eight two more plays later, then Raymond Jones pushed it to the seven. On the next play, Hicks took a pitchout around the left side for the score. Conaty's kick with 9:09 showing made it 7-0.

After an exchange of punts, Appalachian quickly rallied to tie it up, taking just four plays to go 64 yards. Starting from their own 36, the Mounties got moving on a 20-yard gain by Scott McConnell. John Craig added 26 yards in two carries, down to the Pirate 18. On the next play, Price kept the ball into the right side of the line and squirmed his way into the end zone for the lone ASU touchdown. Gary Davis's kick tied it up at 7-7.

On their next possession, the Mounties almost took the lead. They drove from the Buc 45 after a short punt, but after a halfback pass by McConnell to Emmitt Hamilton to the 18, the drive bogged down, and a field goal effort by Davis from 36 yards was wide.

East Carolina came right back with a drive down to the ASU nine, where a Conaty field goal attempt of 27 yards was also wide of the mark. Weaver moved the team along with two good passes of 17 and 37 yards during the drive. Late in the period, the Pirates struck again — again through the air. Taking over on their own 30, it took just three plays to go the distance. After a one-yard gain, Hicks took an option 17 yards to the Pirate 48. Weaver dropped back, and Gallaher, who had scored on long passes last year, did it again to the Mounties, hauling in a 52-yard bomb so far out in front that the only question would be whether the pass would be complete, not whether he would score if he caught it.

He did, and Conaty's kick made it 14-7 with 4:46 left in the half.

Gerald Hall set up the next score with a 15 yard punt return to the ASU 36. After an incomplete pass, Willie Hawkins picked up five yards to the 31. Hicks then went down the left side for the final 31 and Conaty again kicked to make it 21-7 with 1:35 to go in the half.

East Carolina missed on an early scoring threat in the second half. The Bucs took over on the ASU 38 after a fumble on fourth down by the Mounties, seeking a fourth and one conversion at mid-field. After moving to the eight, a fumble cost the Pirates 12 yards, and another Conaty field goal attempt also missed.

On their next possession, the Pirates again were driving, when a fumble cost them the ball at the 35.

The Pirates got the ball back at their own 44 just before the start of the final period. Conaty came on the lead team, and directed a touchdown drive. He hit Hawkins for 13 yards, then Hicks picked up 10 yards on two plays. Daub added 12 on two carries and after four by Hicks, Conaty kept for 15 to the two. Daub cracked over on two plays for the score with 11:47 left in the game. Conaty booted the PAT to make it 28-7.

The Pirates twice intercepted the Appalachian quarterbacks to run their total for the year to 26, a new school record. The first came by freshman Mike Brewington, and the last fittingly enough went to Jim Bolding, senior interception record holder.

Bowl Bound Pitt, Penn State Collide In Top Game Tonight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitt and Penn State exchange flattery for football tonight as the nation's No.1-ranked college team takes on the East's perennial powerhouse before a national television audience.

The rivalry between the Panthers and the Nittany Lions extends for 76 years. And like most enduring relationships, it has mellowed with age.

Penn State holds a two-game edge in the series which stands at 37-35-3. But it took 10 victories over the past decade to erase Pitt's former dominance.

There seems to be no real bitterness in this critical contest which could sour Pitt's trip to the Sugar Bowl and a possible national championship or darken a resurgent Gator Bowl-bound Penn State season.

The game begins shortly after 9 p.m. EST at Three Rivers Stadium.

The Panthers, led by Heisman Trophy candidate Tony Dorsett, bring a seasoned offense that can run, pass and kick with equal authority into the game against a maturing Nittany Lions squad.

Their defense, which Penn State Coach Joe Paterno claims does not have a weak spot, will attempt to throttle Penn State's offense which is directed by sophomore Chuck Fusina, a solid passer.

Both teams have outstanding personnel, both have potent weapons offensively and both teams, I think, have defenses that play with pride," said Pitt Coach Johnny Majors.

Majors Claims No Deals Made

PITTSBURGH (AP) — University of Pittsburgh football Coach Johnny Majors has made no deals with the University of Tennessee which covets his services. But he will talk to them, possibly soon.

Majors dismissed as "totally inaccurate" a report in the Atlanta Journal-Constitution Thursday that he would announce a move to Tennessee on Saturday.

"There won't be any kind of announcement on Saturday," the coach of the No.1-ranked Panthers said.

Majors, who has resurrected Pitt's football fortunes in four short years, added he has not talked to anyone from Tennessee and would not do so until after the regular season.

Pitt meets Penn State tonight in its final game before a Sugar Bowl meeting with No.4-ranked Georgia on New Year's Day.

According to University of

Penn State holds a two-game edge in the series which stands at 37-35-3. But it took 10 victories over the past decade to erase Pitt's former dominance.

There seems to be no real bitterness in this critical contest which could sour Pitt's trip to the Sugar Bowl and a possible national championship or darken a resurgent Gator Bowl-bound Penn State season.

Pittsburgh Athletic Director Casimir Myslinski, the Volunteers have already asked permission to meet with Majors.

And the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette quoted unnamed sources as saying a meeting has been arranged. The newspaper said Majors will probably talk to Tennessee representatives this weekend.

Majors, a Tennessee native, was a Southeastern Conference star with the Volunteers from 1954 to 1956 and served as assistant coach at his alma mater his first year out of college.

Tennessee would like to lure him back to replace Bill Battle who resigned last week after a long tenure at the university which is having its worst football season since 1964.

Pressure has been mounting for a decision since Battle's resignation. The Southeastern Conference permits schools to Sun Bowl-bound Texas A&M whipped Texas 27-3 and kept its hopes alive for a Southwest Conference co-championship.

Simpson Breaks Record; Cards Fall To Cowboys; Lions Win

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

A record-breaking performance by O.J. Simpson and a near-miss by the "Cardiac Cardinals" thrilled the fans, but Detroit and Dallas came away with the victories.

Simpson dashed and darted his way through the Detroit Lions — the National Football League's top defensive team — for 273 yards Thursday, breaking his league record of 250 for most yards gained in a single game.

It also was the fifth time in his career that the Buffalo back has rushed for more than 200 yards, breaking the record of four times held by Simpson and former Cleveland Browns great Jim Brown.

Despite Simpson's heroics, Detroit won the game 27-14, keeping alive its slim hopes for a wild-card playoff berth in the National Conference.

At Dallas, the Cowboys had to stop a last-minute St. Louis Cardinals drive before emerging with a 19-14 victory.

The victory gave the Cowboys a two-game lead over St. Louis in the NFC East Division with just two games remaining in the season. Also in the running are the Washington Redskins, who play the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday and wind up the season at Dallas.

In other NFL games Sunday, Denver is at New England, Seattle at the New York Giants, Miami at Cleveland, the New York Jets at Baltimore, Chicago at Green Bay, Atlanta at Houston, Pittsburgh at Cincinnati, Kansas City at San Diego, New Orleans at Los Angeles and Tampa Bay at Oakland.

Monday night, Minnesota is at San Francisco.

"He's one hellacious football player," Lions Coach Tommy Hudspeth said of Simpson. "There's one O.J., but I'd take a win over the record any day." Rushing for nearly 10 yards per carry, the elusive Simpson scored both Buffalo touchdowns on runs of 48 and 12 yards. He passed the 1,000-yard mark for the fifth straight season and now has 9,252 career yards, second only to Brown.

"If he really slams into you, he's easy to handle," said Lions linebacker Jim Laslavic of Simpson. "But you can't get him to slam into you. The man has a thousand moves."

While Simpson was negotiating his "thousand moves," Detroit was scoring. Quarterback Greg Landry threw two touchdown passes to rookie tight end David Hill, Dexter Bussey scored on a four-yard run and Benny Ricardo kicked two field goals.

Dallas used a fake punt to keep a touchdown drive going late in the first half, then had to hold off St. Louis in the waning moments. The "Cardiac Cardinals," noted for their last-minute finishes, scored with 1:55 left, then drove from their 37 to the Dallas eight in the final 83 seconds. But a fourth-down pass into the end zone was incomplete.

"I don't know if I could go through another game like this one," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "There is no better team than St. Louis in that last-minute situation."

PLAIN WATCHERS

NEW YORK (AP) — How times change during a World Series! When reserve shortstop Jim Mason homered into the Yankee Stadium right field seats in game 3 off rookie Pat Zachry, the pitcher turned around and shrugged when he saw the replay on the huge center field screen.

When pitcher Laffy Gomez of the Yankees stopped an All-Star game many years ago he looked skyward to watch an airplane pass the stadium. "Manager Joe McCarthy gave me hell," said Gomez who took in the series as a salesman for Wilson sporting goods.

Improved Defense Could Be Key To Success By Ayden-Grifton

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer
(One of a series)

Last year, the Ayden-Grifton basketball team started off the season with a bang, winning thirteen of their first fourteen games.

But then, the bottom fell out and the Chargers only won two more games the rest of the year to finish 15-7 and third in the Eastern Carolina Conference.

The problem in the latter part of the season, according to Coach Bob Murphy, was defense — the lack of it.

"I think our defense was one reason why we faltered late in the year last year, but we are stressing it this year. We have been working hard on it up to this point."

With a stronger defense, the Chargers should be improved over last year, Murphy said. Two of last year's starters are gone, but eight team members are returning. "I feel like we have adequate experience."

One question mark for the Chargers this year is the guard position. Willie Forbes, an all-conference player last year, will start at one guard, but there is a three-way fight for the other position between Terry Morris, David Pratt and Paul Setliff.

At the forward position, Ogden Braxton, a 6-3 senior, should retain his starting position from last year. "We are expecting him to show some leadership this year."

The other forward spot is open to Frankie Dail, Mike Teachey or Tim Holland. Dail is the probable starter, but Teachey started some in the position last year. Holland also has a chance and Murphy said, "Any of them could certainly start."

Two players, 6-6 James Leggett and 6-4 Terry Maye are working for the center position and they will probably share the duties there, according to Murphy.

Defensively, Ayden-Grifton

plans to mix it up this year, playing some man-to-man and some zone. Murphy also plans to use some pressing defense. "We want to make it a little tougher for folks to score on us than we did last year," he said.

The Chargers will be operating offensively out of a two-guard offensive formation with two low post men.

Although Murphy expects the competition in the ECC to be much tougher this year, he is optimistic about his team's chances. He said, however, "We could have a better ballclub than we did last year, but we may not win as many games" due to the improvement of the other league members.

The key to the season for Ayden-Grifton is better defense and the emergency of another good guard, according to Murphy. "Our chances are pretty good if we can do those things."

Cav Coach Has Right Mixture

By The Associated Press
Bill Fitch is a basketball coach, but in a way he considers himself a chemist.

He likes mixing and matching his lineup, and Thursday night, he came up with an explosive combination for the Cleveland Cavaliers.

"It was time to search for a little different chemistry," Fitch said after his Cavaliers whipped the Detroit Pistons 111-105 in a National Basketball Association game.

Bingo Smith and Jim Chones, who usually start for Cleveland, both were used in reserve roles and both provided needed relief off the bench. Smith scored 10 of his 20 points in the fourth quarter, triggering a Cleveland rally. Chones, who finished with 18 points, insured the victory with a key three-point play at the end.

Campy Russell started in place of Smith and Nate Thurmond was in the starting lineup ahead of Chones. Austin Carr was another rare starter in the new-look Cleveland lineup and paced the Cavs with 23 points.

In the other NBA games, the Phoenix Suns stopped the Washington Bullets 104-98 and the Houston Rockets whipped the New Orleans Jazz 105-99.

Dick Snyder put Cleveland ahead to stay 102-101 on a 20-foot jump shot with 2:03 remaining, capping a surge in which the Cavaliers erased a five-point deficit at the start of the fourth quarter.

Suns 104, Bullets 98

Ricky Sobers and Paul Westphal combined for 45 second-half points, leading Phoenix over Washington. Washington carried a 51-38 lead into the second half, but the Suns scored 36 third-quarter points, led by Westphal's 15.

The Suns grabbed the lead for the first time in the third period and blitzed past Washington behind their two top scorers. Westphal finished with 26 points and Sobers had 25.

Woody's Ramblin's

BY WOODY PEELE

Pat Dye made a damp visit to the press box last night after his Pirates had clinched the Southern Conference title.

"Just get out of the shower?" one reporter asked. "No," the coach said. "We didn't have any champagne either, but we did have a hell of a lot of Pepsi."

The coach praised his team as the best ever at East Carolina, and said it was a shame that it didn't have a bowl game to go to.

"It was a great way to end the season. It's a shame that there's no place for us to go, but Rutgers went undefeated and they didn't get to go anywhere either."

"Maybe our seniors have laid the groundwork for better things in the future. I know not getting a bid will help us as coaches. If we had won the North Carolina game (and not lost to Furman) our chances of going somewhere would have been a lot better. Carolina beat us just two points, and they're going to a bowl. And they ain't no better than we are, really."

Dye added that the Pirate football program has a ways to go, but is moving closer to the heights. "With the kind of young men we're getting out of the east, we'll get there and have a real good team."

Dye praised the offensive and defensive units, and added the specialty teams too. "Everyone worked together for this one," he said. "Our offensive line deserves a lot of credit that they usually don't get. But they got the job done up front for us."

Dye noted that the week and a half off gave the Pirates a chance to boost their passing game and that helped to open up the Appalachian defense.

"Appalachian has a fine team, but our defense did a great job on them."

Returning to the bowl theme, Dye pointed out that the television people now control the bowl selections. "We have got to get into a strong conference with good regional appeal. Then we might have a chance to get into a bowl game. I know of one conference that is sending two teams, and I think we could beat either one of them."

The work for next year now begins. The Pirates open weight programs next week, and off-season conditioning will start in January, working toward spring drills. Fourteen seniors graduated from the team, and many of them are first-liners and will have to be replaced.

Many people wondered a couple of years ago why East Carolina wanted such a fine lighting system. Now they know.

ABC engineer Sandy Sandberg told us Wednesday night that East Carolina has one of the finest lit stadiums in the nation.

"I couldn't believe the lighting when I heard about it, so I came down a day earlier to set up the cameras," he said.

"But I really didn't believe it when I saw it. There's more light on this field than on the Cotton Bowl. And even in the studio in New York where Barbara Walters and Harry Reasoner do the ABC Evening News.

"It's terrific. You have a fine system here."

Top Matchups Spark Opening Cage Season

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

When they start shooting tonight in college basketball, the noise will be deafening. Usually opening day comes in like a lamb, but there will be plenty of intriguing matchups and explosive tournaments to set off sparks right away.

The Big Four Tournament at Greensboro, N.C., includes two of the nation's Top 20 teams and one of the fiercest rivalries — No. 3 North Carolina against No. 15 North Carolina State.

Along with the Tar Heels-Wolfpack war, Wake Forest faces Duke in the other half of a doubleheader that features teams from the state of North Carolina.

Other first-round tournament games tonight:

- The Virginia Invitational at Charlottesville, Va., with Virginia, Madison, Virginia Military and Roanoke.
- The IPTAY at Clemson, S.C., with Yale, Clemson, Florida State and Toledo.
- The Lapchick Tourney at New York, with Northwestern, Fairfield, Brown and St. John's.

- The Spider Classic at Richmond, Va., with Dartmouth, George Washington, Richmond and Navy.
- The New Orleans Tipoff, including Murray State, New Orleans, Illinois State and North-east Louisiana.
- The Hall of Fame Tournament at Springfield, Mass., featuring Harvard, Syracuse, Massachusetts and West Virginia.

Where there is no tournament this weekend, there still will be plenty of competitive fire. One big Saturday game features a match between No. 8 Maryland and No. 14 Notre Dame.

UCLA, rated No. 4 in the country, will not have a soft opener, either, playing tonight against rugged San Diego State, one of the strongest clubs in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association. The Bruins will follow that with another tough game Saturday night, against DePaul, ranked No. 18.

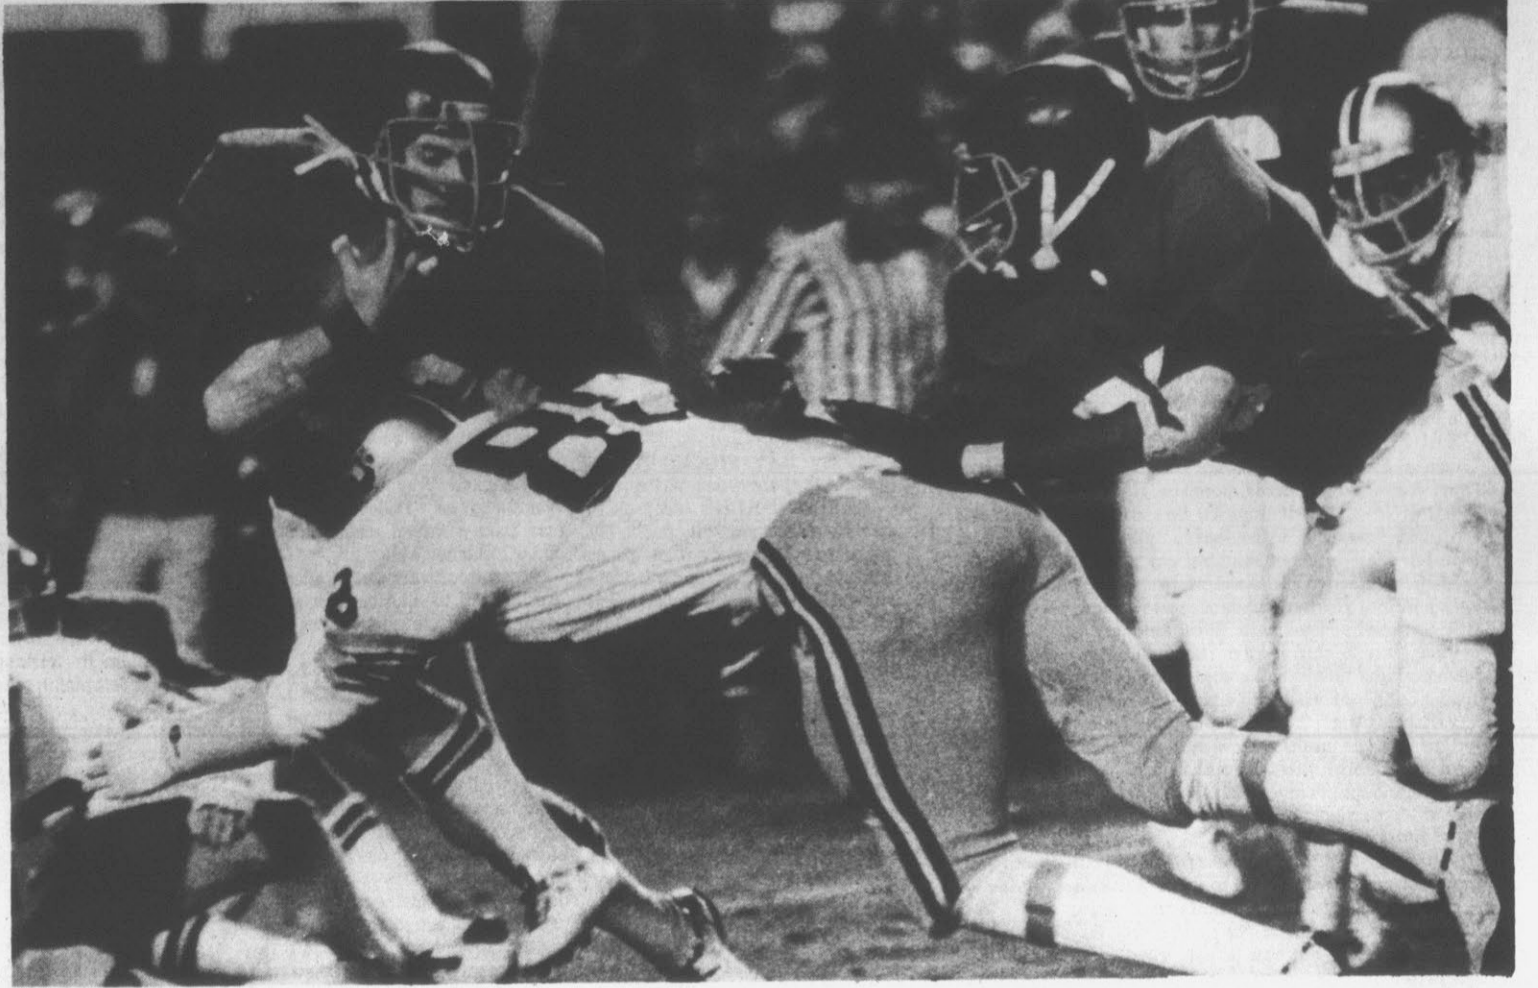

"The early games are going to be a test for us," says Gene Bartow, coach of the defending Pacific-8 Conference champions.

Alabama, the nation's No. 13 team, has a tough opener tonight, against Purdue, an expected challenger of Michigan and Indiana in the Big 10 Conference. Missouri, ranked No. 20 and the class team of the Big Eight Conference, opens against Missouri Valley Conference foe Southern Illinois in another significant game tonight.

In another game involving a Top 20 team, No. 7 Nevada-Las Vegas plays Nevada-Reno.

On Saturday, it will be No. 1 Michigan against Western Kentucky; No. 5 Indiana vs. South Dakota; No. 6 Kentucky against Wisconsin; No. 11 San Francisco vs. UC-Santa Barbara; 16th-rated Tennessee against South Florida and No. 19 North Carolina-Charlotte vs. Georgia College.

On Jan. 1 Yurasits leaves the Cold Spring Country Club in Cold Spring Harbor to become manager of Pine Hollow at nearby East Norwich. He held previous managing posts at two other Long Island golf clubs — Hempstead and North Hills. At Pine Hollow, Yurasits replaces Wolfgang Bulku who is entering the catering business.

High Schools Decide Two Titles

By The Associated Press

Championships in two classes of high school football competition Friday night will spell the end of the Western North Carolina High School Activities Association.

That association ends with its final championship game and its membership will be absorbed into the larger North Carolina High School Athletic Association.

Semifinal games will be played in three other divisions.

Shelby, 10-2, hosts Lexington, 12-0, in the title game of the western group. Shelby is the defending champion and both squads have won two preliminary games.

Lexington will be without Benny Finney, who gained 165 yards in the 14-0 semifinal victory over North Davidson last Friday before suffering a dislocated shoulder.

Princeton, 10-2, faces Robbinsville, 12-0, in Class A at Princeton. Robbinsville swamped Maxton 42-8 in the semifinals while Princeton avenged an earlier 47-14 beating with an 8-6 win over Angler.

State association semifinal pairings have this schedule:

Class 2-A

Erwin, 10-2, at Red Springs, 8-4; Thomasville Ledford, 11-1, at Franklin, 10-2.

Class 3-A

Farmville, 10-2, at Clinton, 11-1; Northwest Cabarrus, 11-1, at Canton Pisgah, 12-0.

Class 4-A

Richmond County, Rockingham, 12-0, at Wilson Fike, 8-4; High Point Andrews 11-1, at Greensboro Page, 10-2.

TV Censorship Veil Is Lifted

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In many areas tonight, public TV is offering a show that grips about the lack of mental substance in network entertainment shows. It is called: "You Should See What You're Missing."

CBS, meanwhile, is offering "French Connection II." NBC has "Rockford Files" and ABC has an "All-Star Tribute to John Wayne."

With such competition and the Thanksgiving weekend exodus of millions, betcha can count on one thumb the number of viewers who'll see "You Should See" tonight.

Still, if you're in the market to have your thoughts provoked, take a look at this show, produced by Chicago station WTTW, which aired it in the Windy City last April.

It features nine fairly to extremely prosperous writers and producers of network shows vigorously nipping at the commercial hand that has fed them. Interestingly, only two say they're leaving TV.

The network nippers include Larry Gelbart of "M-A-S-H,"

Susan Harris, creator of the quickly-axed "Fay" series, Joe Wambaugh of "Police Story," and Danny Arnold, chief honcho of "Barney Miller."

Excerpts of various episodes are shown to illustrate what some grippers are griping about. One "Barney Miller," in which Arnold shows what had to be excised, could be made into a funny sitcom called, "You Can't Do That in the Family Hour."

The episode concerned a massage parlor and the arrest therein of a young lad for pleasuring women for money. The arresting officer, a lady cop, says back at the precinct: "Okay, cowboy, let's go."

ABC, Arnold explains, didn't want the arrestee in the show and objected to the "cowboy" reference "because it was reminiscent of the character played in 'Midnight Cowboy,' who was a male prostitute."

In the end, ABC left the character in but the "cowboy" out. Also out was a reference to the lad as, "Buckaroo." Silly, yes, but thus did ABC preserve the sanctity of the family hour.

The show, which also includes a look at a company that "tests" audience reaction to shows for the networks, lets the nine producers and writers trot out a familiar litany of laments.

They say networks prefer the bland to the provocative, networks fear to offend, fear reality and that networks are far more interested in attracting young, affluent audiences than in stimulating minds.

The reply of the networks: none. The show says — but not until the finale — that CBS, NBC, and ABC programmers "declined to appear on this program." No reason is given, but one should have been.

Still, the show is valuable in that it'll set off a few thoughts in your noodle about network TV, which too often serves as a nightlight that talks. One aspect of the show bothered me, though.

None of the well-paid complainees threaten to try to improve the medium by working in something called public television.

It tends to make most of them seem like Garden of Eden residents who object strongly to the lack of mosquitoes.

Mass Deaths Among Birds

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — Nearly 600 flocking pigeons and blackbirds that have dropped from their treetop roosts and died in the streets of this city in the past three days may have been victims of poisoning, officials say.

More birds were still dying Thursday, said David Romero, the city's public service director.

He said the bizarre phenomenon was first noticed when "our street sweeper discovered several hundred dead birds in the heart of downtown Wednesday morning."

Hugh Thompson, of the state Department of Fish and Game, said state officials had not determined what caused the deaths, but he said poisoning was likely.

"I think they probably picked up some kind of poison," Thompson said. "If it was all one bird species it might be congenital or some kind of disease, but this involves two kinds of birds."

An interesting defensive problem cropped up recently in a Swedish tournament. One of the defenders to solve it was former Swedish internationalist Anders Wahlgren. See if you can equal his performance.

The auction was well conducted. Since he held an unbalanced hand, North probed for a major fit with the Stayman convention. When his partner responded in his five-card suit, North judged his hand worth an invitation to game. At a spade contract, South's hand revealed to 18 points, so he was happy to accept.

West led a low diamond, and East's ace captured dummy's king. Declarer won the heart return, crossed to dummy's king of clubs and led a low spade. Which card should East play?

Declarer can afford to lose two trump tricks, but not three. If East follows with the nine, declarer's proper play is low card. Consider the possibilities. If East's nine is singleton, declarer must lose three tricks no matter what he does. If East's nine is doubleton, declarer still loses only two trump tricks. Therefore, the only relevant cases are where East holds three trumps. In that case, declarer can hold his trump losers to two if West's singleton trump is either the ace or king by later entering dummy with a club ruff and leading another trump towards his hand. By not covering the nine of spades, declarer wins in two cases and loses in only one.

Observe the difference if East plays the jack when a trump is led from dummy. Now, declarer will hold his losers to two if the jack is singleton or if East has the A-K-J. It will lose only if East is falsecarding from A-J-9. Thus, even if East is a good enough player to make this falsecard, declarer is still a 2 to 1 favorite if he covers with the queen.

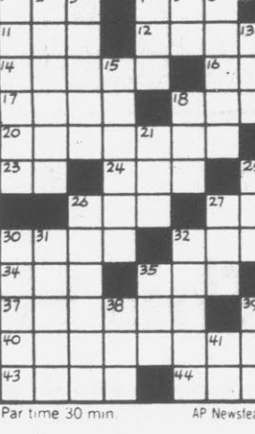

So, this simple defensive maneuver of falsecarding with the jack doubles your chances of defeating the contract. Wahlgren, did, in fact, briskly insert the jack, and down declarer went.

Carter Team Studies Urban Proposals

By JONATHAN WOLMAN
AP Urban Affairs Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Transition strategists for President-elect Jimmy Carter are exploring proposals for a national urban policy while the nation's largest group of mayors and city officials heads for its annual meeting.

Several of the big-city mayors who will attend the National League of Cities conference that starts in Denver Saturday are on a list of possible Cabinet candidates that the Carter team has assembled and sent to the President-elect.

But the chief architect of Carter's urban policy has not yet been selected, according to a number of Carter strategists.

The staff has provided Carter with a wide-ranging list of potential Cabinet candidates and of ways to reorganize federal offices dealing with urban problems.

Carter strategists say it is not only uncertain who will get the top jobs, but also where the top jobs will be. That will depend on the reorganization.

The possibilities are certain to dominate the discussions at the league's annual Congress of Cities, which will run through Wednesday.

The smaller and more liberal U.S. Conference of Mayors met in Chicago earlier in the month, urging Carter to increase federal spending in urban areas and calling for better access to the president.

Interviews with Carter strategists, congressional aides and a half dozen lobbyists for labor and urban groups indicate that the options prepared for the Carter's consideration include:

—Carter could choose a mayor, a housing expert, a financial wizard or an accomplished government manager to guide his urban program. He could place the person in charge of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), the Domestic Council, or a new office.

—He could bolster the Domestic Council, using the Nixon-created group to coordinate urban-related Cabinet agencies (HUD, Transportation and Health, Education and Welfare). Or he might kill the council off.

Under President Ford, the council has languished with little influence on urban programs. Carter has said he favors a strong Cabinet, which could spell death for the White House-located council.

Then there are the candidates.

According to several sources, these men remain on the HUD secretary list sent to Carter by his staff: Mayors Thomas Bradley of Los Angeles, Kenneth Gibson of Newark — both blacks — and Henry Maier of Milwaukee;

Also, John Zucotti, deputy mayor of New York; Baltimore Housing and Community Development Commissioner David Embry, and builder Richard Ravich, who is leading the recovery of New York state's Urban Development Corp.

No Limo For Jet Set Pet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank and Cathy Hasenauer's travel agency caters to jet-set pets, offering everything from airline tickets to health papers for animals whose owners let them travel.

"We arrange their traveling, planning, boarding, health papers, pickup and delivery," says Hasenauer, who operates out of an abandoned military base near the Los Angeles International Airport. "We just don't have any liveried drivers, that's all, no limos."

He said the agency has boarding facilities, but "no frills, just comfort. Nothing extra, like padded cells, or padded runs. No piped-in music."

Hasenauer said he and his wife have helped owners import and export "race horses, hipopotami, cattle, swine, birds and just about any kind of animal you can name." Their clients include about 200 dogs and cats a month, most of them accompanying their masters in a move or long journey, he said.

American Prisoners To Welcome Move To U.S.

By KERNAN TURNER
Associated Press Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Americans held in Mexican jails say they welcome a new treaty that will let them serve their terms in U.S. prisons, and they plan to challenge their convictions, and even the treaty, in court once they get home.

The pact, initiated here Thursday by U.S. Ambassador John J. Jova and Mexican Foreign Secretary Alfonso Garcia Robles, must be ratified by the senates of both countries. The first exchange is not expected before next April, sources said. Jova said the main purpose of the agreement is the return of convicts to their native cultures, where they can be properly rehabilitated.

Nearly all of the American prisoners in Mexico claim their civil rights were violated. Among other things, they charge that Mexican police used torture to make them sign confessions in Spanish that they could not understand. Inmates interviewed Thursday at Santa Marta prison here indicated they planned court action to overturn their convictions as soon as they got back to the United States. One said she would be met at the airport by a bail bondsman and two lawyers.

Robert Arthur Fisher, 42, of Omaha, Neb., who has served 26 months of a seven-year term for forgery and marijuana possession, said he could not understand how Americans could be forced to serve time in the U.S. for convictions based on confessions extracted by torture in Mexico. Others said they don't expect the treaty to withstand a constitutional challenge because it would require imprisonment for a crime committed outside the United States.

Nevertheless, Fisher said, "We want the treaty badly. If nothing else, we've all learned to greatly appreciate the U.S. Constitution and the protection of human rights it provides."

Florida Surfer Is Shark Bite Victim

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A 19-year-old surfer whose right arm was badly mangled by a shark is in critical condition in a hospital today. He was pulled to safety by two other bathers who defied the shark.

Doctors said Alan M. Brenneka of Sunrise, Fla., suffered a severe loss of blood before getting treatment. But a Bethesda Hospital spokeswoman in Boynton Beach said doctors believed they had saved his arm.

Police said Brenneka was surfing about 40 yards offshore in the Atlantic Ocean Thursday when he was attacked. They credited surfer Mark Schroeder of Coral Springs and beach walker John McCurdy, of Philadelphia, Pa., for getting him to shore.

Schroeder, 19, a Florida State University freshman, said there were about 30 other surfers in the area when the light-colored shark, five to six feet long, attacked Brenneka.

Schroeder and McCurdy said they reacted without thinking of personal danger.

McCurdy, 27, a television producer and announcer who is visiting his mother here, said, "I hope they don't exaggerate this."

The beach, about 15 miles from West Palm Beach, was immediately closed. A police spokesman could not recall any other shark attacks in recent years.

Schroeder said the attack would not keep him from surfing. But he said he planned to take up a new hobby — shark fishing.

Earn Award In Scouting

Dr. F. Milam Johnson, Tom Proctor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Knott Proctor, and Richard Gray, son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter C. Gray, all of Pitt County, received the Vigil Honor Order of the Arrow at the recent fall fellowship held at Camp Bonner.

The fall fellowship was attended by 126 Arrowmen from throughout the East Carolina Council Boy Scouts of America.

The Vigil Honor is bestowed on not more than 12 Arrowmen per year selected from the East Carolina Council Order of the Arrow membership.

It is given in recognition of exceptional service, personal effort and unselfish interest in the welfare of others. The Arrowman must have made distinguished contributions above and beyond his immediate responsibilities in the Order of the Arrow as a member of the Croatan Lodge.

Fills Unexpired Term In Office

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Evans, formerly secretary of the United Church of Christ, has been elected as its president by the Church's executive council to fill out the unexpired term of the Rev. Dr. Robert Moss, who died Oct. 25. The first black to fill the post, Dr. Evans' term will run until Sept. 30, 1977, when a Church general synod will elect a president for a full four-year term.
