Moderate Increase Seen In Wholesale Price Data

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices rose five-tenths of a per cent in January but did not fully reflect the impact of the severe winter weather on food and fuel costs, the government said today.

The Labor Department said the increase, largely the result of higher prices for farm products, textiles and machinery, was based on prices in effect as of Jan. 11, before the cold weather damaged citrus and vegetable crops in Florida and sent natural gas and heating oil prices rising.

January's wholesale price increase was moderate, and about in line with increases each month since October. But the government indicated the effects of the cold wave will cause February's prices to spurt higher.

Wholesale price trends eventually show up at the retail level, though the relationship isn't always precise and there are time lags. While it is difficult to tell just how much consumer prices will rise as a result of the cold weather, some economists estimate prices could be five-tenths of a per cent higher this year than they would have been otherwise.

Farm and food prices began rising even before the weather affected crops, marking a reversal from recent months when it was industrial commodities that were mostly responsible for rising wholesale prices.

In January, farm products increased 1.1 per cent, less than half December's 2.6 per cent jump but a sharp rise nonetheless. Vegetable and grain prices were up sharply.

Industrial prices rose five-tenths of a per cent last month following a three-tenths of a per cent rise in December. Fuels and other energy products declined four-tenths of a per cent in January. However, the government said energy prices lagged by one or two months.

The index for processed foods and feeds declined two-tenths of a per cent after rising 1.8 per cent in December.

The wholesale price index stood at 188.0, meaning that goods purchased for $100 in 1967 now cost $188. Over the past year wholesale prices have risen 4.9 per cent.

Today's report included the Labor Department's annual revision in seasonal adjustment factors to reflect developments during 1976. This resulted in a change in December's wholesale price increase to six-tenths of a per cent, originally reported at nine-tenths of a per cent.

Prices for natural gas declined 4.6 per cent in January, but the department said this was based on prices two months ago. Refined petroleum products, including gasoline and heating oil, rose seven-tenths of a per cent in January, but this figure also was based on two-month-old prices.

At the farm, prices for hogs, green coffee and live poultry rose in January but at a slower rate than in December. Grain prices rose for the first time since June, and the cost of vegetables turned up sharply after falling in November and December. Egg prices declined.

Consumer food prices, which most closely reflect prices paid at retail, edged down one-tenth of a per cent in January following a 2.8 per cent jump in December.

Gas Service For State Industries To Be Requested

By SUSAN STOLER
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina will ask the Federal Power Commission for permission to resume natural gas service to those North Carolina industries now without any form of fuel, a state official said today.

"We are asking to be allowed to tell our (natural gas) companies to go buy additional emergency natural gas to serve firm industrial customers who have no alternate fuel, whose fuel has been diverted or who have run out of private supplies," said Tenney Deane, chairman of the state Utilities Commission.

Deane said the request will be filed Monday in Washington.

North Carolina natural gas companies currently are prohibited from serving industrial users with emergency natural gas. The companies are serving only residential and small commercial customers.

Many North Carolina industries lost propane supplies this week when the Federal Energy Commission ordered supplies of that fuel diverted to South Carolina.

"We're not asking for them to divert gas," Deane said. "We just want to serve industrialists like some other jurisdictions are doing."

Gov. Jim Hunt also has made an urgent appeal to federal officials for relief for industrial propane users.

Hunt told Federal Energy Administration chief John O'Leary in a telegram that FEA orders will swell the state's energy crisis unemployment to more than 8,000 by the end of the week.

North Carolina industries have lost their natural gas supplies and many had counted on propane to see them through the winter, some spending thousands of dollars to alter equipment and purchase the fuel.

But the FEA said the gas was needed for homes and other high priority users in other states and ordered one of the state's major propane suppliers, Exxon, to stop shipments to North Carolina businesses.

Hunt also phoned President Carter's energy coordinator, James Schlesinger, to seek a reversal of the FEA order, and Schlesinger reportedly promised to look into the matter.

Congressman Concedes Midwinter Trip Risks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Phillip Burton, D-Calif., says he and other congressmen taking a midwinter tour of the Virgin Islands at government expense are exercising their responsibility and accepting the risk of "being labeled a junketeer."

"I only know one way to get information and that's to talk to people," Burton said in a telephone interview with The Associated Press office in San Juan, Puerto Rico, after an AP story about the trip appeared Thursday.

Burton is head of a House subcommittee with jurisdiction over U.S. territories and national parks.

In a letter to Interior Committee Chairman Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., requesting authorization for the trip, he said, "Preparations for a constitutional convention will be under way in the Virgin Islands which warrant investigation by the subcommittee, as well as the economic and social problems existing in the island."

"I tried to get all 26 (members of the subcommittee) to come, but they had to exercise their responsibility and risk being labeled a junketeer," Burton told The AP. "It's a shame when colleagues get their brains kicked out trying to learn a little something."

Aides said members of the subcommittee making the trip with Burton were Reps. Lamar Gudger of North Carolina and Jerry Huckaby of Louisiana and Delegates Antonio Won Pat of Guam and Ron de Lugo of the Virgin Islands. All are Democrats.

Burton, Gudger, Huckaby and Won Pat took their wives, paying the added expense themselves, aides said. Total cost to the taxpayers was expected to be less than $10,000.

Won Pat, who returned to Washington Wednesday night, said the first five days of the 10-day tour included a four-hour formal meeting with the territory's governor and legislature.

Won Pat said the rest of the time was spent in informal conversations, social gatherings, a tour of a proposed park site and a visit to the national park on St. John, smallest of the three islands that make up the Caribbean territory.

Kiritsis Taken In Custody Despite Immunity Pledge

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Anthony G. Kiritsis, the revenge-minded gunman who thought he could walk away free by releasing unharmed a hostage he held for 63 hours, instead faces kidnapping charges after police grabbed him in what he called "a cheap shot."

Despite a promise of immunity from prosecution, Kiritsis, 44, was seized Thursday night after he freed mortgage company executive Richard O. Hall from a third-story apartment he had fooled police into thinking was rigged with dynamite.

Kiritsis, enraged because he felt Hall's company swindled him in a property deal, was held on $250,000 bond awaiting arraignment on state kidnapping charges.

He was ordered arraigned at 2 p.m. today in Municipal Court on charges of kidnapping, inflicting injury in commission of a felony, armed robbery, obtaining a signature by threat, commission of a felony while armed, committing a crime of violence while armed and disorderly conduct.

Hall, 42-year-old father of four, was taken out by stretcher, checked briefly at a hospital and returned to his family.

Authorities said his only physical scars from the three-day, two-night ordeal were minor abrasions on his neck and wrists.

Police, who had waited frustrated outside the building since the siege began Tuesday, entered Kiritsis' apartment to discover that what he had claimed was 100 pounds of dynamite wired to explode was nothing more than a maze of string, weighted to break two glass wine jugs — possibly filled with gasoline — placed near a single burning candle.

Prosecutors said the immunity offer was invalid because Kiritsis failed to keep his part of an agreement to let Hall come out of the building alone.

Instead, Kiritsis shocked police by marching Hall out with the shotgun he used to abduct him still wired to his victim's neck.

Surrounded by police sharpshooters, Kiritsis then staged a 30-minute confrontation on live television, alternately cursing, shouting and joking with reporters and onlookers as Hall stood frozen in fear. He repeated his statement that he abducted Hall because he was convinced the mortgage company had tried to cheat him on a $130,000 land loan.

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day.

FIREWOOD FEEDBACK

"It's worked wonderfully," Pitt County Fair Committeeman Connor Eagles said of the project proposed in Hotline's Monday column to allow anyone who wished to cut firewood free of charge on the land to be cleared for the new Pitt County Fairground.

"I've had about 40 inquiries," Eagles said, "and about 25 different parties have come out and cut so far. A man and his wife and their son loaded up two trucksful yesterday. They said they were taking it to the man's father who likes to burn wood. It's just been so gratifying to see how enthusiastic everyone who's turned out has been."

Anyone else wishing to take advantage of this offer may contact Eagles at 752-4468.

In the meantime Volunteer Greenville is coordinating a community-wide effort to cut firewood for needy families. Director Susan Mescher said a day will be set aside (Tentatively, it's a week from Saturday) to cut wood on a plot of land donated for the project. Individuals and organizations from throughout the Greenville area will participate by supplying manpower, equipment and possibly refreshments. Ms. Mescher has been told that the wood cut by the Army Reserve last weekend is probably sufficient to last until the proposed date. More information about plans for the community service project will be published later, but persons interested in helping in any of the ways mentioned may contact Volunteer Greenville, 752-4137, Ext. 255.

Hotline will be glad to publish the names and phone numbers of any individual or firm which would allow the cutting of wood or the removal of no longer needed buildings or brush piles by those wishing to have firewood. Just call 752-1336 and leave the necessary information.

LEGISLATION STATUS

A Hotline reader has suggested we publish the phone number one may use to get information on the status of current legislation before the N. C. General Assembly. It's 919-733-7779. The number is not toll-free this year, as it was during the last session of the Assembly. This information also may be obtained by visiting the Legislative Library in the Legislative Building in Raleigh.

Flu Outbreaks Are Reported As 'Isolated'

ATLANTA (AP) — Isolated cases of A-Victoria flu have been reported from Georgia, Illinois, North Carolina and South Carolina, in addition to an outbreak in Miami, Fla., the national Center for Disease Control reported today.

A spokesman said the newly reported cases are isolated, and do not indicate that the more severe flu virus is spreading.

Outbreaks of milder Influenza B have been reported in Vermont, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Mississippi, Iowa, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Louisiana, Texas and Colorado.

The CDC said these outbreaks have been confirmed by laboratory tests.

Similar outbreaks which appear to be Influenza B, but not confirmed in the laboratory have been reported from Alabama, Arkansas and Delaware, the CDC said.

Five deaths have been reported in the Miami outbreak of Influenza A where 59 of 176 patients and 15 of 100 staff members in a nursing home were stricken.

Among the patients, the attack rate of those who had received bivalent vaccines (containing A-Victoria and A-New Jersey, or swine flu vaccine) was seven per cent, while the rate of patients who had not been vaccinated was 41 per cent, the CDC said.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare lifted its ban on the vaccines this week — recommending that persons with chronic illnesses receive the bivalent vaccine.

Two Men Killed, A Third Injured In Auto Wreck

By TOMMY FORREST
Reflector Staff Writer

Two Blount's Creek men were killed early this morning and another man seriously injured.

According to Highway Patrolman M. B. Johnson, the one car accident occurred about 2.3 miles west of Grimesland on highway 33, at 1:30.

The auto, according to the officer, was traveling east on highway 33, when the driver, identified as Richard Lee Lewis, lost control, and ran off the left side of the road, striking a ditch and overturning several times killing Lewis.

A passenger in the car, Harold Dwyane Tolar, was also fatally injured. A second passenger in the car, Julius Frank Jones, of Edwards, was pinned in the wreckage for about 10 minutes, before being freed by members of the Greenville Rescue Squad. Jones according to Ptl. Johnson, received multiple fractures in the accident.

The car left parts and debris in a large area near the accident, after it traveled about 200 feet before stopping.

Investigation into the accident is continuing.

Call Meeting

Consideration of the city's 1977-78 Community Development budget will highlight the agenda for a special call meeting of the City Council scheduled for Monday, Feb. 14 at 8 p.m.

In addition to the Community Development budget action, which follows two required public hearings that were conducted by the Council, four other items will be taken up during the call session.

The items include: consideration of bids on a one-ton truck for the Public Works Department; request for release of paving assessment;

Regulations governing solicitations; and consideration of a contract between the city and the North Carolina Department of Transportation for a grant to perform a Transit Evaluation Study.

The meeting will be held in the City Council chambers.

Doing What Comes Naturally

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Senior Editor

DAVIS, W. Va. (UPI) — "You're expected to be a walking encyclopedia," says Cindy Hedrick, 25, a West Virginia State Park naturalist. "But when I'm stumped, I say so. I will go look it up."

Mrs. Hedrick is the only woman employed fulltime in the West Virginia parks and recreation division. Women as naturalists still are a rare breed, although throughout the U. S. parks and forestry services there are women working in jobs from clerical to forest firefighters. They just are not there in legions — yet.

Mrs. Hedrick, an ash blonde with the clear skin and eyes of the outdoor life, thinks there is plenty of opportunity for women in this career area, if you like mixing people and nature.

She does the Women's Bureau, the U. S. Department of Labor. "It's a field we've been promoting for some time," said Arleen Winfield, a career adviser with the bureau. "In 1969, we put out a booklet on opportunities for women in conservation, fisheries, as naturalists and recreationists."

"There is no discrimination, by federal law, although you might hear some men say, 'What is she doing here?'"

"But it is an area where the women still are rare or you wouldn't have people raising eyebrows."

In the forest service, an arm of the Department of Agriculture, there are 89 female rangers, including 11 superintendents, compared with 1,446 male rangers.

But spokesmen for both the forestry and parks service of the federal government say parents still don't think of conservation or environmentalist careers for their daughters.

If, however, a girl moves up to a key position, say a park superintendent, she can look forward to $20,000 to $25,000 a year.

A top-ranked government forester, for instance, is graded at $24,306. A trainee starts at around $5,810. Mrs. Hedrick earns better than $600 a month with the West Virginia state system.

Requirements are basically the same for either state or national park and forestry services — a bachelor of arts or science degree with strong emphasis on natural history and social services, and qualification for civil service.

Add in durability, said Mrs. Hedrick. "In the summer, my assistant and I will do as many as four nature tours a day. We work a seven day week during peak seasons." Among the peaks — late June and early July when laurel and rhododendron turn Appalachia into bowers of flowers, or fall when foliage is at its most glorious.

"When I was in college," she said, "one other girl and I were enrolled in wildlife courses. We had to prove we could keep up with the men...we always seemed to get the highest ladders to see if we could prune, jump the swiftest streams, climb the higher mountains..."

A native of Wheeling, Mrs. Hedrick decided early in college she did not want to be a teacher, so she began courses in biology, then decided, "I didn't like veins," so she switched to wildlife.

She now is resident naturalist, and wife of a staff member, at Blackwater Falls State Park, with its rugged Appalachian mountains up to 4,000 feet, and 1,669 acres of lodge, timber, cabins, and walking and riding trails.

She supervises a nature center where she has inaugurated a "see and touch" exhibit, specimens of the state's flora and fauna especially for children. She also established one (and plans more) self-guided nature walk — a numbered guide to a tour of rare species such as virgin hemlock.

Mrs. Hedrick said the reference library she is building is her resource when she doesn't have the ready answers about identification of a bird, or a plant, or what makes Blackwater "black."

Actually, the falls and river are not — they only look black because of a swift-flowing mountain stream with occasional quiet pools where the deep rust of tannic acid from spruce and hemlock fallings give the black cast.

"Sometimes the hardest part," she said, "is keeping nature lectures lively. You may find yourself talking to anyone from three-year-olds to Ph.D.s."

Let Husband Buy His Lunches

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: One day my husband came home from work like an enraged bull because the lunch meat in the sandwich I had packed was spoiled. (He accused me of trying to poison him!)

Abby, it must have spoiled between 7 and noon while his lunch bucket was sitting in a warm locker. I told my friend how mad my husband got because of this. She said she always makes her husband's sandwiches the night before and puts them in the freezer overnight. By lunch time, they're all thawed out and fresh.

Well, I did this for a while and everything was fine — no complaints. Then one night, my husband saw me putting his lunch in the freezer, and he blew his top. He said I was feeding him like a dog because I was too lazy to make fresh sandwiches in the morning.

This isn't true. I told him that I'd go back to making them fresh every morning, but if he ever came home complaining that his lunch meat went bad, he could just buy his lunch, which I think is what he wants. Any suggestions?

CAN'T GET THROUGH

DEAR CANT: If you think that's what he wants, let him buy his lunches from now on, and you'll both be happier.

DEAR ABBY: I am 23, and five months ago I got married for the fifth time. All my previous marriages ended in divorce.

My husband is 29, divorced and has four children. He had a vasectomy that he didn't tell me about until after I married him. This was a dirty trick because I've never had children and have always wanted some.

My biggest problem is the way he treats me. I've gone to the hospital for emergency first aid four times after he's beaten me up. He uses the excuse that he's drunk when he beats me, so he's not responsible for what he does. He's locked me out of our trailer overnight and refused to give me any of my personal belongings. (It's my trailer.)

Should I try to make this marriage work? I really love him because he's so sweet when he's sober and he's awfully good to my dog.

G. IN GAINESVILLE, FLA.

DEAR G.: I think you both need help. Having picked five losers at age 23 should tell you something. And to stick around for the physical abuse he hands out (drunk or sober) is literally asking for it.

Please go to your nearest mental clinic for counseling, unless you don't mind having your bridgework rearranged. (P.S. Take the dog with you. That bully you're living with might get drunk and take it out on the dog.)

DEAR ABBY: I am an 86-year-old man with a pet peeve of long standing.

Some suits for men come with two pairs of trousers, but pajamas come with only one pair of pants.

Coats outlast pants, so I have accumulated many pajama tops that lack bottoms. If my complaint appears in your column, maybe it could start the manufacture of pajamas with two pairs of pants.

J.B.S., STATEN ISLAND, N.Y.

DEAR J: Some men wear only pajama tops, and some wear only bottoms. A new kind of "pajama game" could be the exchange of tops and bottoms — unless some courageous pajama manufacturer starts selling tops and bottoms separately.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24¢) envelope.

Boat Interiors Take A New Track

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

In addition to the satisfaction a modern, well-styled cruiser may give the mate of a seafaring man, there may be ideas aboard for landlubbers who must furnish small rooms.

This was evident at the National Boat Show in New York where boat styling coordinator, Mary Reed, was explaining the new tack she has taken in styling some cruiser interiors.

"The long range cruisers — they can now cruise up to 1,200 miles without refueling — really require a different concept of styling from boats that may be used for vacations and may be anchored much of the time. If you plan to cruise for long distances, you want an interior that is casual and serene, different from the splashy and sophisticated effects that might be provided for a cruiser that is used like a vacation house," she explains.

More people, especially retired couples, are into the cruising idea, so boat design should offer a pleasant aura that doesn't become a bore, she said.

Mrs. Reed believes in testing safety and comfort features. She is intrigued by many aspects of interior boat design. Are towel racks placed properly? Are hand grips on salon ceilings easy to grasp? Are clothes rods within hand reach? Are wall cabinets placed properly? Are pictures, plants and lamps securely anchored? Are mirrors low enough?

In the galley there are no protruding knobs or handles, a big safety feature. Cupboards are high but designed for easy reach and they are opened by putting fingers into holes of doors. Lamps and pictures are fastened with screws. Plants and even heavy ceramics are anchored with florists' clay. A reading lamp is on a wall bracket.

Even so, when Mary and her husband spend a week or so at sea for a final checkup of the boat for her company, Hattaras, something still might be awry. Recently, it was the placement of towel racks and that was remedied at the assembly line. The interiors of drawers seemed unfinished, she said. Now the chests have good drawers with an interior furniture finish.

Ideas that go into large cruisers eventually filter down to small boats in the fleet. It is a sort of trial run, she says. The 42-foot cruiser at the show had two heads with enclosed showers and good standard bathroom equipment because "naval architects are giving more attention to real bathrooms."

The salon area, which separates staterooms has been made to look more spacious by Mrs. Reed's decorating, an important feature in small areas.

In a sturdy, sea-blue fabric, upholstered swivel chairs and a two-seater sofa that becomes a double bed are low in scale and there is a low table that raises for dining. There is a freezer as well as a refrigerator. Black countertops of the galley have a furniture finish. A small brass lamp in a palm tree motif adds a touch of whimsy. Carpeting throughout is a sand color and there is a lot of floor space.

A shell pattern in blue on a sand color is used in the master stateroom on bed linens and it is applied on towels to provide the motif for an island theme, Mrs. Reed says. That design and watercolors of seagulls were painted by artist Sandy Lenger. Shells cover planters and one little basket was filled with sea grasses and shells that were attached to wire.

The blue and sand color scheme throughout the boat provides a restful effect.

Live plants and art are not usually affected by the salt air, Mrs. Reed explained, and she uses good art, because it will be looked at day after day.

A lot of decorating is now prompted by the presence of women on board but there are some vessels like fishing boats that still go the masculine route in decorating.

"But I put a daisy pattern in one bedroom and had the artist paint a picture of daisies with the inscription 'daisies don't tell' and the men really liked it," she said.

Great Idea: Detailed Recipe For Pound Cake

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Recently a reader wrote that a pound cake she baked was "soggy" and asked for a remedy.

One remedy is to try a new recipe! For this we suggest one that is probably as foolproof as a recipe can be. It was contributed by Grace Manney, who has had many years of professional experience in recipe-testing, to a new cookbook that offers great value for what it costs. It's "333 Super Cakes & Cookies" published by Family Circle as the first of their five 1977 "Great Ideas" soft-cover books, on sale for $1.50 in many supermarkets from January through March this year.

Grace's Half-A-Pound Cake sticks to the old-time main ingredients but adds baking powder. Directions are given for flavoring it three extra ways. It has a compact but porous texture; don't expect it to be moist and fluffy. In general, Pound Cakes improve after storage for a few days and we found, on trying Grace's recipe, that her cake is no exception to the rule.

GRACE MANNEY'S
HALF-A-POUND CAKE

½ pound eggs — 5, separated
½ pound butter (2 sticks)
— 1 cup
½ pound sugar — 1 cup
½ pound cake flour — 2¼ cups

1. Beat egg whites until they hold soft peaks in small bowl of electric mixer at high speed; reserve.

2. Beat butter and sugar until fluffy in large bowl of mixer at high speed.

3. Beat egg yolks until thick in a second small bowl with mixer at high speed; beat into butter mixture until thick and light.

4. Sift flour and baking powder over butter mixture; stir in with a wire whip; fold in egg whites and vanilla until well blended; pour into a buttered 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan.

5. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) 1 hour, 15 minutes, or until cake is firm to the touch. Cool in pan on wire rack 10 minutes; loosen around edges with a spatula; cool completely on wire rack. Sprinkle with 10X sugar before serving, if you wish.

Suggested Variations: You can make 3 other cakes with this recipe, simply by adding a different ingredient to the batter of each. For Spice Pound Cake, stir in ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg; for Citrus Pound Cake, stir in 2 tablespoons orange rind or 2 teaspoons lemon rind; for Citron Pound Cake, stir in 1-3rd cup finely chopped candied citron and ½ teaspoon lemon extract. Hodges Will Be Speaker Here Feb. 17

LUTHER HODGES JR.

The first meeting of the year for the Pitt County Democratic Women will be held on Thursday, Feb. 17 at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Luther H. Hodges Jr., chairman of the board of North Carolina National Bank, will be guest speaker for the session, according to club president Ann Burks.

Ms. Burks reported that husbands of members, guests and all interested persons are invited to attend. Cost of the dinner will be $5 per person, she said.

Persons interested in attending should call Betty Speir at 825-5461 in Bethel, Ann Evans at 756-0488, or Ms. Evans at 756-3950 by 9 p.m. on Monday evening.

Hodges, as board chairman, is responsible for NCNB's state banking operations, trust and investment management, and the marketing function.

An Eden native, he earned his A.B. degree in economics at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1957. After service as an officer in the Navy, he earned the M.B.A. degree at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration in 1961.

Hodges joined NCNB in 1962 and became its chairman in January of 1974.

He is married to the former Dorothy Duncan of Monroe and they have two children.

Speaks To Traffic Club

Bob Coon, traffic manager for Abbott Laboratories at Rocky Mount, was the guest speaker here Thursday evening at the monthly meeting of the Coastal Plains Traffic Club.

Coon, who discussed the importance of good traffic and transportation management, offered an overview of the past, present and future of Abbott Laboratories.

The guest speaker indicated that efficient management is a key factor in the success of Abbott or any other industry that depends on the various modes of transportation for its inbound manufacturing materials and the final delivery of finished products to the consumer.

The club, with a membership of traffic and transportation people from area towns including Kinston, Goldsboro, Tarboro, and Rocky Mount, as well as Greenville and others, meets the second Thursday of each month at the Moose Lodge.

The organization, which has a current membership of approximately 80, has members from as far away as Raleigh.

ARRESTED — Yuri Orlov, leader of the Soviet Union's most active dissident group, was arrested Thursday on unspecified charges after reappearing from a week's hiding, his wife said. Orlov's arrest comes one week after that of Alexander Ginzburg, another leading dissident. (AP Wirephoto)

'Charge' For Hospital Visits?

The prospect of a parking fee at the new Pitt Memorial Hospital raises mixed emotions. We have seen some people turn purple over the prospect of paying an extra charge for visiting the hospital.

We are aware of the explanation for such a step: costs of lighting, security arrangements and litter control; but you just can't argue with some people.

They point out that if anticipated revenue problems are such as to require an extra charge for hospital parking, there are also other potential resources to be explored.

For instance, a graduated fee system for elevator use, based on which floor is the rider's destination;

The baby observation nursery is a "natural": a quarter in the slot would open a drape adjacent to the targeted crib. And an extra dollar might entitle the patient with color preference to select a ward painted in bright chartreuse, turquoise, Chinese Red or Blushing Pink.

The possibilities are not unlimited, but they do suggest the extent of public interest.

Some Logic In Goldboro Annexation

The Goldsboro Board of Aldermen annexed Seymour Johnson AFB in a precedent setting move this week.

Goldsboro became the first municipality in North Carolina to annex a military installation. The annexation will mean increased population for Goldsboro, which will mean additional revenue from funds distributed on the basis of population.

It was not an illogical move on the part of the Goldsboro aldermen. Here in Greenville the ECU campus is a part of the city and the student population has meant additional revenues for the city.

THIS AFTERNOON

Job-Security Is Big Plus

(Second of Two Articles) RALEIGH — Not only do state employees and teachers consistently receive up to the $2,000 per year more in salary than do private industry employees, but there is built-in job security.

A study of unemployment figures county by county at the height of the recession proves that, "layoff and termination rates for state employees are much lower than for private industry... a large number of state workers in a county tends to stabilize the economy..." according to research data contained in a report published by a legislative study commission.

Major Impact Job security, stability of employees who seldom move about once a facility is located, and higher wages paid state workers "suggest that the economic benefits to a county's economy from the existence of a state institution in that county may be greater than the location of a new industry," the report compiled by a committee studying tax-exempt state property says.

Twelve counties receive more than 57 per cent ($802.62 million) of the state's $1.4 billion payroll. Wake has 25,301 state employees; a payroll of $276 million. Orange (UNC-Chapel Hill) has 11,249 employees; a state payroll of $129.43 million. The others are Guilford, Mecklenburg, Pitt, Forsyth, Cumberland, Burke, Wayne, Buncombe, Granville, and Durham.

Unemployment is directly attuned to state employment. Both Orange and Wake had 1975 unemployment rates of five to six per cent. In counties with low state employment, unemployment ran as high as 14-15 per cent.

The study commission report concludes that local governments should not receive property tax payments from the state since the presence of those facilities are of great financial benefit to the community. The average state salary is reported in excess of $10,300; average private salaries run $8,647.

In the face of the salary differential, state employee lobbying groups are pushing for another pay raise this year. Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr. has recommended a 6.5 per cent pay raise costing more than $118 million.

Other Raises The lobbyists say employees need to catch up to not receiving raises during the recession. But legislators also have seen another research report which shows that state employees regularly receive longevity and merit pay raises even without the annual across-the-board increase. At least half the state employees get raises of between four and five per cent annually (not counting promotions which raise the salaries of 3,000 per year); and school personnel (at least two out of three) get longevity raises of about four per cent per year.

Thus, a number of state employees would get Merit Pay (4.6 per cent); Longevity (2.25 per cent), for a total of 6.85 per cent, plus the legislative pay raise of 6.5 per cent for a total of 13.35 per cent in raises.

Statewide, the figures show, state employees receive up to $2,000 per year more than industry counterparts, but in some counties that differential is closer to $4,000... "because the state employee group includes a higher proportion of professional level white collar workers while private industry employees in many counties are mostly production employees working in mills and factories," the report notes. Further, "salaries for state employees... are equal across the state" with no reflection of labor markets or cost-of-living differences.

State salaries range from lows of below $7,000 for clerical slots; around $7,200 for truck drivers, machinery operators, prison guard; to $11,000-plus for classroom teachers; and in the middle to upper 20s and low 30s for middle-management bureaucrats. Professional types (physicians, psychiatrists) may get from $40,000 up.

Billy, Say It Ain't So

Dear Billy,

I just read in the newspapers that you have signed up with a high-powered agent from Nashville, Tennessee, to represent you in the area of personal appearances and the media. Your agent claims you're the hottest personality in America and he's going to package you and make you a potful of money.

Say it ain't so, Billy. Say you ain't sold out for a mess of pork chops. You were the greatest free spirit we had in this country. As far as we working stiffs were concerned you were the first folk hero to come along in decades. We identified with you, Billy Boy. All you seemed to need was a can of beer and an oil barrel to sit on, and you could spit at the world.

You told them dumb newspaper people anything they wanted to hear. Your gas station was a beacon of truth which lit the skies of a new South. You didn't give a hoot for Washington or all them big shots who were snickering at you behind your back. You made jackasses out of them at the Inauguration, and we were counting on you to make jackasses out of them for the next four years.

You know why, Billy? Because we knew you couldn't be bought. People in bars all over America said, "Jimmy may not be able to save the country, but Billy will."

So when I read you signed up with some outfit called "Top Billing, Inc.," I couldn't believe it.

Do you have any idea what they're going to do to you... Look what the William Morris Agency did to Mark Spitz. They had him selling milk. That's what I said, Billy, MILK! Suppose your agent signs you up to become the spokesman for the dairy industry? Do you know what that could do for your image?

You're not only going to have to push the stuff on TV commercials, but according to the law you're going to have to drink it when you're not on TV. Think of it, Billy, they're going to make you consume a quart of milk a day.

You saw what they did to Joe Namath when they packaged him. They made him dress in women's nylon pantyhose. How are you going to face the boys back in Plains after you've done a pantyhose commercial? Every hard-hat in America will turn against you. And what about O. J. Simpson? Suppose they sign you up to run through airports with your suitcase and jump over barriers so you can rent a Hertz car? You're just not in condition for that sort of thing, Billy. That could kill you before you got the keys to the car. Besides commercials, your agent ain't goin to let you talk to newspapermen any more for free. He's going to charge for every word you utter. You're going to wind up in Reader's Digest telling people how you learned to love the FBI and found God. They'll have you doing pieces for the Ladies' Home Journal on your favorite chicken recipes, and Family Circle will probably name a diet after you. They'll book you at state fairs and have you play a Yankee carpetbagger in the sequel of "Roots." Everyone will own a piece of you and you'll be working so hard for your agent you won't have time to go fishing or dig for earthworms or even roast a bag of peanuts.

Before you know it, Billy, you'll be escorting Hollywood starlets to motion picture premieres and having your photo taken with Raquel Welch and Ann-Margret. And then you'll wind up putting Aqua Velvet on yourself and some girl will slap your face

Neon's A Form Of Art

By ARNOLD DIBBLE MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Those flashy neon signs imploring you to "EAT AT JOE'S" have buffed their nails, put on a white tie and now are playing some of the fanciest museums in the world as neon sculpture.

In a sense, Minnesota might be considered the capital of this comparatively new art form although it was pioneered in the birthplace of so much of the world's great artistic masterpieces, Greece.

One of the coming stars of neon sculpture is 31-year-old Louis "Cork" Marcheschi, a California-born artist who doubles in electronic music and has produced such albums as "Cauldron," by the Fifty Foot Hose.

"There are," Marcheschi said, "at least 12 neon sculptors working in the Twin Cities, more than in any other city. It's partly because of the facilities offered here."

The Minneapolis College of Art and Design, where he has taught a course called "Inter-media" for several years, has had a neon fabrication studio since 1973 and the University of Minnesota Graduate School has had one since early last year.

Why was he attracted to neon as an art medium?

"Artists are using all kinds of materials, wood, acrylic paint, steel forgings. I'm interested mainly because of its purity and the information it can convey from viewing the material."

"I'm interested in having people view it as neon, as straight and simple a message as possible."

Marcheschi has been interested in neon since 1968. For seven or eight years before that he worked with high voltage electricity as an art form. These works are spectacular in their brilliance and first put him on the national and international scene.

He has held one-man exhibitions in galleries in Dusseldorf, Essen, Cologne and Hanover in

THE INSIDE REPORT

Test Case For Diplomacy

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The next assignment for a distinguished U.S. diplomat, who has been languishing without assignment since being kicked out of Moscow five months ago, will reveal much about the Carter administration's mindset in handling the Kremlin.

The Ford-Kissinger State Department hardly said boo when the Soviet Union expelled Marshall Brent as No. 3 man in the U.S. embassy. If that pattern is followed by the Carter-Vance State Department, Brent will be shunted aside (perhaps to a permanent desk job in Washington) thereby fostering the imperatives of detente.

But promotion of Brent, possibly as ambassador to a Communist-controlled Eastern European country, would send a different message to Moscow: President Carter is rejecting the notion that appeasement of the Soviets on secondary and tertiary questions is helpful — indeed, necessary — to agreement on broader questions.

Though repeatedly disproved, that notion has survived for some 40 years, constantly nurtured by political appointees to the State Department. Professional diplomats, such as Marshall Brent, have argued — usually in vain — that the Soviets respect strength, not weakness.

Brent's problems began last August when the U.S. expelled Svyatoslav A. Stepanov, a low-level member of the Soviet mission to the United Nations, by revoking his visa while he was temporarily out of the country. The only cause given by the State Department is "improper activities."

Unofficially, Stepanov is accused of working improperly through a third-nation diplomat to obtain technological data denied to the Soviets. But it is widely believed that the FBI had much more damning information about Stepanov for then-Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to approve his expulsion.

Whatever its cause, Stepanov's ouster brought immediate reprisal from the Kremlin. Brent, in Rome on his way home for biennial leave, was informed he could not return to Moscow; Brent, third-ranking American in Russia in the post of political counselor, for Stepanov, a relative nonentity. But that is no tooth for a tooth; it is a jaw for a tooth — the Soviet version of reciprocity.

The suggested response by the Soviet desk at the State Department in Washington was to inform the Kremlin that the U.S. would retaliate by immediately expelling the No. 3 Russian at their embassy here — unless the Russians relented and let Brent come back. Since nothing had been announced, such backstage pressure was indeed possible; the outside world never would have learned anything about Brent.

But the upper levels of the State Department vetoed any such confrontation and instead used "quiet diplomacy" to attempt Brent's reinstatement. That proved no more effective than it had in trying to get the Russians to "stop their electronic bombardment of the U.S. embassy in Moscow."

On Nov. 18, the State Department gave up and announced Brent's ouster. He returned to Washington shortly thereafter, occupying an office without assignment or duties. The lame-duck Ford administration awaited the advent of the Carter boys to deal with this headache.

Although Brent's temporary absence from Russia made him a convenient target for expulsion, his hard-nosed attitude in dealing with the Soviets probably clinched the choice. Thus, fellow Foreign Service officers await with interest whether he is now kept in the mainstream of East-West relations, perhaps with his own embassy, or is sent off to a backwater. In other words, can the Kremlin poison a U.S. diplomat's career?

Beyond this, what happens to Brent could clarify the Carter administration's ambivalence in reacting to Soviet dissident Andrei Sakharov. In toning down State Department support of Sakharov, Mr. Carter seemed to be accepting that old notion that conciliatory gestures will lead to Soviet amicability.

On Oct. 25, 1940, a tough-minded Foreign Service officer named Laurence Steinhardt, who was U.S. ambassador in Moscow, wrote State Department Soviet ex-

Public Forum

Letters submitted for Public Forum must be limited to 300 words.

To the editor:

What a wonderful opportunity has presented itself to the Senate to demonstrate to the American taxpayers that they are working for the good of the people—not that the people, as taxpayers, are working for them.

How desperately we Americans need an act of good faith to be forthcoming from our Senators that would indicate awareness, recognition and acceptance of their responsibility towards their fellow citizens. The act: namely, disapproval of the pay raises for members of Congress and other government executives. An act such as this would show that our government leaders are truly in touch with the people and the state of our nation.

This is a time of inflation and everyone feels the results. However the rising cost of living touches those living on social security, pensions (without a cost of living provision) and average incomes more so than others. Members of Congress and other government executives are included in the group of people considered to be on the above-average salary level. These people can move down to a lower step or style of living without undergoing any deprivation as to the essentials of existence. Whereas, for the American citizens on the average and below salary level, there is no lower level to step down to, but a subsistence level.

If only the public would rise up and let their voices be heard. This is the time every one of us must work and pull together for the good of our country. Wouldn't it be "super" if our representatives set the example by rejecting a salary increase at this crucial time in American history—an act of sacrifice for the good of our country and its people!

Eroding A Productive System

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The game could be lost, Thomas Wilcox feels, if we don't learn to recognize that many of our incentives, our goals and our attitudes are eroding the system that made America so productive.

The game is economic. Considering how we play it — with big government debt, unproductive make-work projects, a tax policy that discourages investing — Wilcox feels we're heading toward the wrong goal line.

The system we should be defending, says Wilcox, chairman of California's big Crocker National Bank, is private enterprise capitalism. Capital is the investment for tools, factories, jobs.

And so, like a coach, he would put in a new game plan, one that would encourage investment, productivity and economic growth. He proposes a Full Productivity Act.

Wilcox recognizes that a somewhat similar message has been stated before, too often in negative form, and too often not listened to.

In the past 25 years, he said, there has been a separation of business from the larger community, at least in the thinking of the public and, too often he feels, in the attitude of well-meaning but big-spending legislators.

"Maybe," he wondered, "it's because business was too occupied with profits." But profit, he said, is "the name of the game." Profits and savings are needed to pay for tools, plants and jobs. "You can't legislate jobs," he said. "There is only one way to create them and that is by investing capital." Ironic, he mused, that the very job-creating process of saving and investing is so often denigrated.

He referred to an address he gave to the Los Angeles Rotary Club in 1975, about a year after leaving the chairmanship of Blyth Eastman Dillon & Co., one of the world's largest investment banking firms.

"Investment must be earned and saved," he said then, but "we have been doing everything we could to discourage saving and penalize the saver. Inflation discourages saving. Our tax structure discourages saving; our ceilings on interest rates discourage saving."

"Industrial society and all the rules and regulations should be tested against the criterion of enhancing or weakening the capitalist system," he continued.

However, he feels legislatures and much of the public, do not make that test but, instead, often measure their goals mainly in terms of social equity which, however admirable, is itself endangered if the system is ruined.

The system will create jobs and the means to tackle social problems if new facilities and projects are encouraged, he feels. If the system is undermined, he said, no amount of good will can pay for social goals.

And so he proposes "we enact into law a basic policy relating to our economic environment to encourage investment for jobs and growth, and to enhance the quality of life..."

Strength For Today

IS THERE PREDESTINATION?

The doctrine of predestination, or election, has caused more distress of mind than any other Biblical interpretation. Some people have worried all their lives for fear that at the last day it will be discovered that they are not among the elect. They are convinced that God has arbitrarily chosen certain persons to be saved and others to be damned.

The Bible teaches no such doctrine. Anyone who reads it carefully sees plainly that from beginning to end the Bible teaches that everyone is saved who sincerely wants to be saved. "Whoever will, let him take of the water of life freely." God sent his only-begotten son into the world "that whosoever believeth on him might not perish but have everlasting life."

In other words, the elect are the whosoever-will; the non-elect are the whosoever-won't. Or, as one shrewd observer commented, "The Lord is always casting his vote for you and the devil's vote is against you. The outcome of the election turns on how you cast your vote."

Jimmy's White House Differs

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the normal White House luxuries that President Carter says he can do without is a personal photographer.

Other presidents have used the personal photographer as a camera-carrying historian who records the chief executive at work and at play—but always from his good side.

While he doesn't plan to have a

"personal photographer," Carter reportedly is thinking about naming a "chief photographer."

The difference between one title and the other may be hard to detect. But Carter figured H. R. Haldeman gave a bad name to the title of White House chief of staff during Richard Nixon's administration so he promised no one in his White House would have that title.

He assigned Hamilton Jordan, his closest aide, all of the principal functions of a chief of staff—without the title.

In any event, Carter and some of his aides were turned off by the free-spirited David Kennerly, former President Gerald R. Ford's personal photographer, who on occasion showed up in blue jeans to photograph Ford at state functions.

So at the moment, the White House has four photographers, all left from the Ford era. That's already a reduction of one since Ford left and sources say one of the survivors is likely to be sent packing.

One other photographer has been assigned to Vice President Walter F. Mondale, but the White House borrows him when he's needed.

Jordan had an interview this week with a news magazine and the editors were concerned about how to get Jordan from the White House to the interview site. The editors asked their White House correspondent if they should send a limousine.

Mindful of the President's crackdown on his aides using official limousines, the correspondent urged: "Let's not be ostentatious."

So Jordan was hauled away from the White House in a compact car, used by the magazine's messengers to run errands around the city.

When the President took away the executive limousines he said he wanted government officials to stay close to the people. Press Secretary Jody Powell owns a vintage Volkswagen that apparently is helping to keep the White House spokesman close to the people—or at least close to people who repair Volkswagens.

When the Beetle went into a repair shop this week, Powell vacated his office early—so he could retrieve his car himself before the garage closed for the night.

One member of Powell's staff found herself assigned to the smallest office in the press secretary's suite. Looking around on her first day, she discovered a tiny refrigerator in her cubicle.

Opening the refrigerator, she found a jug of premixed martinis and a bottle of champagne, an apparent gift from her GOP predecessor.

Grifton's Town Board Hears Treatment Of Dogs Protested

GRIFTON—A large group of Grifton citizens were present at the Grifton Town Board meeting Tuesday night to protest the inhumane treatment of impounded dogs in Grifton.

Major complaints of the citizens included the fact that the dogs are kept in small quarters and the pens are made of wire, leaving the dogs subject to inclement weather.

Dick Johnson served as spokesman for the group. Johnson said that the major complaint was that police officers will incarcerate the dogs and charge owners for it, and the fact that facilities are inadequate.

The Grifton Police Department had announced earlier this year that beginning February 15 dogs would be picked up and impounded if they were caught running loose and were not restrained.

Mayor Dave Boseley explained that the town is presently considering using the old rural fire building behind the police station as a pound. A citizens committee including interested citizens and town officials will be formed to consider a better plan of impounding the dogs.

The Grifton Jaycees asked the town to grant official recognition of house numbers to correct several erroneous numbers which have been issued. The board asked the Jaycees to develop a corrected house numbering plan and they would accept it. The Jaycees are presently installing house numbers.

Utilities Superintendent Doug Quinn presented a utilities report. The board voted to buy a used welder to be used by the Utilities Department, if one could be purchased for $500 or less.

The board approved a minimum water rate of $4.60 with a 20 cents per 1,000 gallons charge for all over 4,000 gallons. The board also approved a 75 cents charge for the first 1,000 gallons of sewage, and 50 cents per 1,000 gallons for all over 1,000 gallons with no sewer minimum.

In other business the police report was presented and the board adopted a resolution to direct the town tax collector to start legal foreclosure procedures to collect back taxes owed to the Town of Grifton.

Germany; at the Hague in the Netherlands; in Toronto and in more than a dozen American cities from New York to San Francisco.

His most recent work was commissioned by the Walker Art Center in Minneapolis as part of a bicentennial project called "The River: Images of the Mississippi."

The sculpture stood more than head high on the banks of the Mississippi, what he calls a "neon totem." It starts out as a vertical piece of neon, but in roughly the middle it bends into a circle and some "squiggles" that give it an appearance not unlike tv commercials showing the effect of a nostrum on the digestive organs.

It is entitled: "Just Another City Boy Watching The Electrons Flow."

The first to win acceptance of neon as a suitable material for art were Chryssa (a one name artist) and Stephen Antanakos, both of Greece, who now live in New York.

"Neon," Marcheschi said, "is very primitive. It's a skilled craft—like a potter's wheel. There is no way it can be mass produced. Every sign, every work of art has to be hand crafted. The message in a sign must be written on asbestos paper and the tubing bent around the letters or design."

And that, he sighed, is probably why it is a dying art. In 1943, there were 3,500 neon sign men in the United States. Today, there are only 250.

Carter Is Also Cupid-In-Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cupid-in-chief? He hasn't claimed that title yet, but President Carter is fast becoming the biggest booster of marriage since Dolly Levi of "Hello, Dolly" fame was making matches in Yonkers.

Carter has been telling his Cabinet members and White House aides for the past week that he doesn't want their dedication to their jobs to wreck their home lives.

He repeated that message with a new twist Thursday when he spoke to 1,000 workers at the Department of Housing and Urban Development during a get-acquainted tour of federal departments.

Carter, talking about ways to boost the morale and efficiency of the bureaucracy, urged the workers "to protect the integrity of your families." Then, with a broad smile, Carter instructed them:

"So, those of you who are living in sin, I hope you'll get married. Those of you who've left your spouses, go back home. And those of you who don't remember your children's names, get reacquainted."

The civil servants responded with gusts of applause and laughter.

Though he obviously was joking, the President may have been thinking of a Census Bureau report earlier this week that found the number of unmarried couples living together has doubled since 1970. The report also cited a marked increase in the number of divorced persons.

Treated As 'Liberators'

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)— Ft. Bragg GIs say they were greeted like a liberating army when they rolled into beleaguered Buffalo, N.Y., this month.

In a sense, that's exactly what they were. The city had been buried under 14 feet of snow, three feet of which had fallen in a recent blizzard on top of more that hadn't melted.

The Army dispatched the soldiers to Buffalo to help the city dig itself out from under.

"The people were waving, clapping and cheering as we drove down the streets when we first got there," said Pfc. Bobby Fraser, a road grader operator assigned to the 27th Engineer Battalion.

About 200 soldiers took part in the operation.

"It was really worth going and helping somebody," Fraser said. A Buffalo radio station threw a beer party for the GIs Monday night and interviewed several during a live broadcast.

"They treated us real good," Fraser said. "People would come out of their houses offering us coffee and cake while we worked."

Spec. 4 James M. Richardson, an East Texan assigned to the 548th Engineer Battalion, said he had "never seen a house snowed in up over the second story."

Monthly Meet For TEACHH

Pitt County Association for Retarded Citizens Inc. held its monthly membership meeting on Wednesday at Wahl-Coates Elementary School.

The guest speaker for the meeting, Dr. Jerry Sloan, director of TEACCH (Treatment and Education of Autistic and Related Communications-handicapped Children), was introduced by Carl Rothrock, program chairman of A.R.C.

TEACCH, it was pointed out, is a division of the Department of Psychiatry, School of Medicine, University of North Carolina.

Sloan informed the membership about autism and related handicaps, as well as programs established for treatment—TEACCH, EARTH and Triad Home for Autistic Youth located in Greensboro.

Hester R. Latham, president, announced that Dan Earnhardt will serve as chaplain for the association for 1977. Randall S. Brooks has been appointed membership chairman for 1977 and Dr. Frank A. Close was named audit committee chairman, it was noted.

Driver Charged In Accident

A midnight mishap last night resulted in John David Tobin of 100 Riverbluff Apts. being charged with careless and reckless driving, according to Greenville Police Department investigators.

pert Loy Henderson in Washington: "The moment that these people get it into their heads that we are appealing them, making up to them or need them, they immediately stop being cooperative...They respond only to force, and if force cannot be applied, then to straight Oriental bartering or trading methods." That advice was ignored far more often than followed over the next four decades, with often tragic consequences for Europe and the West. The case of Marshall Brent provides a new test for a new American President: follow that old advice, or ignore it yet again.

MISS SARA ANN HOBBS

A special Baptist Women's Day service will begin Oakmont Baptist Church's observance of its annual Woman's Missionary Union Focus Week.

Miss Sara Ann Hobbs, immediate past executive secretary of the State WMU Executive Board for North Carolina, will be the featured speaker.

Other ladies of the church will participate with Miss Hobbs in the morning worship service. The service will be in charge of Mrs. E. E. Rawl Jr., WMU director for Oakmont, and will begin at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Reducing Their Overseas Ranks Of Missionaries

NEW YORK (AP) — For more than a decade, major Protestant denominations gradually have reduced the number of foreign missionaries maintained overseas. But in at least one case this year, the trend is being reversed.

The Board for World Ministries of the United Church of Christ said it will name 27 new missionaries to overseas posts in 1977, reversing a 15-year decline in overseas personnel from 550 in 1960 to 165 at present.

The Rev. Dr. David M. Stowe, head of the board which spends $4.5 million annually for missions, nearly half of it in grants to indigenous church programs, said in explaining the shift:

"In this period when religious liberty and other human rights are threatened, it is more necessary than ever before to maintain Christian witness to other countries. We must build a network of Christian communication with our partner churches."

Professors Lokenath Debnath and Joong Ho Kim reported on results of their research.

Dr. Debnath spoke on the capillary-gravity wave problem in a running stream, a problem in applied mathematics which he has been studying with associates at Calcutta University in India.

Dr. Kim's address to the convention dealt with his study "Completion of a Quasi Local Ring."

Honor Brunelle At Reception

Approximately 100 members of the East Carolina University faculty, administration and student body were among guests at a recent campus reception honoring Dr. Eugene Brunelle, new director of ECU Library Services, and Dr. Veronica Pantelidis, assistant professor of library science since September.

Hosts for the reception were members of the Joyner Library staff and the Library Science Student Association. Other guests at the event were librarians from the Greenville area.

Church Marking Youth Sunday

Youth Sunday will be observed at Red Oak Christian Church Sunday.

The following young people will assist in the worship service: Mary Grace Pate; Donna Worthington; Kim Allen; Dianne Manning; Edna Denton; Judy Cleary; Lori Jeanette; Kemp Bright; and Steve Padgett.

The Chi Rho Choir will sing.

Authorize Mayor Dail Sign Grant Acceptance

WINTERVILLE — The Winterville Town Board voted to authorize Mayor Walter Dail to sign the Offer and Acceptance of a grant totalling $48,821 for the State Clean Water Bond Act at its Monday meeting.

The grant will fund one fourth of the cost of the construction of 10,200 lineal feet of eight inch collection sewers, one lift station and related appurtenances.

The board also authorized the mayor to sign an agreement of another Clean Water Bond Act grant totalling $23,325 to fund one fourth of the cost of installing 15,700 lineal feet of six inch water mains to serve an area which is being annexed by the town.

Bobby Crawford made a motion allowing for alternate days of garbage pickup throughout the town. The board approved the following schedule for garbage pickup: Effective February 14, garbage will be picked up on the west side of Mill Street including Depot Street, Hammond Street, Boyd Street, Cooper Street, Blount Street, Chapman Street, Cross Street, and Grimes Street on Monday and Thursday afternoons. Schools' and businesses' garbage will be picked up at the usual times. The remainder of the town's garbage will be picked up on Tuesday and Friday.

Ashley Dail was appointed as the new safety director to replace Tony Moore.

Mayor Dail was authorized by the board to contact Lucy Knox and Ola Gardner, property owners of Jones Street, in an effort to secure land and right of ways to a proposed housing project.

In other business, police, rescue squad, and fire reports were presented and accepted by the board.

According to Elwood Nobles, Winterville Town Clerk, more applications for the Rental Housing Survey are available at the town office. Nobles said that the town needs to secure more applications from citizens and applications which have not been returned should be returned as soon as possible.

Nobles also said that Winterville Town License Tags which cost $1 are still on sale at the town office. The Winterville Police Department has announced that persons who do not display their town tags by February 15 will be issued a citation.

NEW YORK (AP) — An outcry against the pervasive violence and cheapened sex on television is swelling across the country, with many churches and other groups planning specific resistance — a week of blanked-out TV screens.

Involvement "is snowballing," says the Rev. Donald E. Wildmon, a Southaven, Miss., pastor who sparked the strategy to challenge TV brutality and distorted trivializing of sex.

"People are just plain fed up with this trash," he says, shuffling through piles of correspondence pledging participation in "Turn the Television Off Week" Feb. 27-March 5. "The only language the networks understand is profits — and we're speaking in that language."

He says more than 1,000 churches, synagogues and civic associations throughout the country already have indicated participation in the week of darkened TV sets. He predicted tens of thousands will join in by the target date.

"The response has been absolutely fantastic from all across America," says the Rev. Mr. Wildmon of Southaven's First United Methodist Church. Citing groups mobilized from Connecticut to California, Roman Catholic, Jewish and Protestant, he adds, "The movement is not confined to the Bible belt."

"This is one cause on which the vast majority of Americans agree," he says. "For years concerned citizens have pleaded in vain with the networks to stop the deterioration in programming that is corroding the mental and moral climate of our society.

"Now we are no longer asking. We are telling them. We are going to hit them in their pocketbooks. If the networks don't respond, the battle has just begun. We won't quit until we get results."

He released results of a week's monitoring of prime-time TV by members of his congregation, recording 29 instances of TV sex liaisons and 133 other references to sex affairs, 90 per cent of the cases involving sex outside marriage.

He also cited figures that the average child, by the time of completing high school, has witnessed 18,000 TV murders. The minister says TV offers some quality programming, but much of it is distorted and antisocial.

But "the day of judgment has arrived for the networks," he says.

The boycott week plan spread as various religious and civic bodies pushed new efforts to analyze and alter TV output.

Three denominations, the United Methodist Church, the American Lutheran Church and the Church of the Brethren, launched a series of "television awareness" workshops, starting last month in Atlanta, to evaluate the medium's handling of violence, sexuality and perpetuation of stereotypes.

The Southern Baptist Convention last week completed a series of four regional public hearings on TV content — in Dallas, Tex.; Montgomery, Ala.; Richmond, Va., and San Francisco.

Church Events Are Curtailed

Richard Gammon, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church said today that the 9 a.m. Sunday worship service at the church will not be held and that all night meetings requiring the use of heat have been discontinued.

Gammon said the measures, approved by the church Session, will be in effect for the duration of the energy crisis.

He said Sunday School and the 11 a.m. worship service will be held as usual, and noted that night meetings could be held in the church office complex or in other areas of the church in cases where people are willing to meet without heat.

Ever talk, really talk, to someone who's blind? Someone who depends upon their fingertips to get the message, and knows that it's late afternoon only when the warm sun kisses their cheeks?

You may find that they "see" a lot more than we do!

In a dark world, people come to the truth by the sound of voices, the feel of things, the touch of others. Much of life is a sham. Hairstyles don't matter, nor the kind of car someone drives, or the cost of their clothes, or the lavishness of their home. It is the person who counts.

A blind person knows faith, too, because he has needed it desperately, because he's had to grope for it, because it's become very tangible, very precious, when finally he has found it.

We could take lessons.

Academy Award Nominations Announced Thursday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sylvester Stallone once had a script that no one would buy as long as he was part of the deal. Now "Rocky" — with Stallone very much in it — has been nominated for 10 Academy Awards, including best picture, best screenplay and best actor.

The Motion Picture Academy put sleeper "Rocky" and "Network," the slashing saga of the television industry, atop the heap of 1976 movies Thursday, with 10 nominations each.

"Rocky," the story of a down-and-out boxer's grab for the top, also won nominations for best supporting actress, directing, editing, best original song, best sound work and two nominations for best supporting actor.

"Network's" Peter Finch, who died Jan. 14 of a heart attack, was nominated for an Oscar as best actor for his portrayal as a mad newscaster in the film. Finch's co-star, William Holden, also won a nomination in the best actor category, along with Robert De Niro for "Taxi Driver" and Giancarlo Giannini for "Seven Beauties."

Finch joins Spencer Tracy and James Dean as the only actors ever to receive post-humous Oscar nominations.

Best Picture nominations also include the Watergate yarn, "All The President's Men," which placed third in nominations with eight; "Bound for Glory," which copped six nominations, and "Taxi Driver."

But "Rocky," whose behind-the-scenes story is as compelling as the one it tells on the screen, was the big choice for Cinderella Story of the Year.

"Sylvester came to us and told us he was a writer," said Irwin Winkler, who along with Robert Chartoff, produced "Rocky." "We stared at him in disbelief . . . he doesn't look like a William Shakespeare."

Several other producers offered as much as $250,000 for the "Rocky" script, but Stallone insisted that he be part of the deal or there was no deal at all.

"He had $130 to his name and a pregnant wife on his hands," Winkler said. "We told him we'd take a gamble on him if he'd work for scale and a piece 10 percent of the movie. It was the wisest decision any of us ever made."

"His story proves the point of the movie — if you believe in yourself and take a shot, it could work out good for you."

"Rocky" was made for $1 million. Dino De Laurentiis, "King Kong," which cost $24 million to make, was nominated for two Oscars, for cinematography and sound.

Talia Shire, who loved Stallone in "Rocky," was nominated for an Oscar as best actress. Faye Dunaway was nominated for the year's best actress honors for her portrayal of a ruthless broadcast executive in "Network."

Also in the running for best actress: Marie-Christine Barrault, "Cousin Cousine"; Sissy Spacek, "Carrie"; Liv Ullmann, "Face to Face." Winners will be announced on a nationally televised show at the Music Center March 28.

Missing Boa Is Recovered

RALEIGH (AP) — Bo, a six-foot-two-inch boa, is back home again after his rightful owner convinced the Garner SPCA Shelter through an elaborate identification process that the wayward snake was indeed his.

There was a chance that both snake and owner would shortly be seeking a new home. "I'm in big trouble if my landlady finds out I've got a snake here," said Bo's owner, who asked Thursday not to be identified.

Bo was discovered in a storage bin at an apartment complex last week after escaping from his owner last summer. Only when he read a newspaper account of the snake's discovery did the owner realize this boa and his Bo were one and the same.

Meanwhile, more than 50 snake lovers offered to adopt Bo, including an Asheville woman who called to claim Bo as her long-lost pet.

"When I asked the lady how the snake got here from Asheville, she said, 'Oh, I know he'd just love to ride in a car,'" said the SPCA's Peggy Warfle.

When Bo's owner arrived to make his claim, SPCA folks showed him another snake and asked if it were his. He said it wasn't.

The owner said he was required to bring a photo of his snake and prove he had an adequate cage. He also correctly identified certain physical characteristics of Bo, which SPCA workers confirmed.

The owner said he plans soon to move Bo to a permanent home at North Carolina State University.

Favorite Entertainers Receive Annual Awards

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former President Gerald R. Ford presented Bob Hope with the award for favorite male television entertainer Thursday night in the nationally televised "People's Choice" show.

The third annual awards, which the CBS network said are based partly on polls and votes by 10,000 viewers, also selected Carol Burnett as favorite female entertainer.

Ford, who recently moved to the desert resort of Palm Springs where he is playing in Hope's golf tournament, flew in for the two-hour show.

Also nominated for the male favorite were singer John Denver and Johnny Carson, but the star of the NBC "Tonight" show refused to take part, furnish clips or accept an award.

Carson said in rejecting the show last week, "We in the entertainment industry honor ourselves too frequently."

He added, "Commercially sponsored popularity contests among performers are designed primarily as entertainment for the television audience and to gather ratings."

John Wayne and Barbra Streisand were named favorite actor and actress, "Happy Days" was cited as favorite television comedy show, "Starsky and Hutch" as the favorite television drama and "The Carol Burnett Show" was picked as the favorite television variety show. Mary Tyler Moore and Telly Savalas were named the favorite television performers and Farrah Fawcett-Majors was chosen favorite female performer in a new show, "Charlie's Angels." The series was named favorite new television show.

Olivia Newton-John and Denver were named favorite musical performers. The favorite television special was the Olympics; Robert Conrad and Dick Van Dyke tied for favorite male performers in a new television show; last year's Oscar award winner "One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest" was favorite motion picture, and "Disco Duck" by Rick Dees and "Beth" by Kiss tied for honors as favorite new song among teen-agers.

Dentist Fined For Bill Fraud

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A Hendersonville dentist has been fined $3,500 plus court costs after pleading guilty to charges he submitted bills to welfare patients for x-rays and other dental services never performed.

Dr. O. R. Keith was also ordered to repay $1,500 to the state Division of Vocational Rehabilitation and given a suspended one-to-three-year prison term. The charge was one of about 20 filed against the dentist in 1975. The others were dismissed.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned downward today with two blue chip issues—Eastman Kodak and International Paper—under selling pressure.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 5.57 at 932.35, wiping out Thursday's 4.08-point gain.

Losers held a 5-4 advantage over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues. Big Board volume was a moderate 4.62 million shares over the first hour.

Eastman Kodak fell 1/4 to 72 in active trading. Late Thursday the company reported an 8.6 per cent fourth-quarter earnings gain, but analysts said the results fell short of some advance estimates.

International Paper gave up 1 1/2 to 52 1/2. Two financial columns reported this morning that analysts were reducing their appraisals of the company's prospects.

Both Kodak and I-Paper are components of the Dow.

Airline stocks were weak on reports of heavy price-cutting competition. UAL lost 1/4 to 21 3/4; TWA was off 1/4 at 11 1/4, and American Airlines dropped 1/2 to 12.

The NYSE's 11 a.m. composite index was down .10 at 54.79.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index fell .16 to 112.49.

New President Elected By ECHSA

Dr. James D. Piver of Jacksonville was elected the chairman of the Governing Body of the Eastern Carolina Health Systems Agency (ECHSA) at its monthly meeting February 9.

Dr. Piver is a surgeon with the Onslow Surgical Clinic and has served as first vice chairman of the ECHSA since its organization. He replaces T.R. Spruill of Roper who resigned due to illness.

The Governing Body approved an application by Craven County Hospital to acquire a CT Scanner and endorsed a proposal by the Washington County Board of Commissioners to construct a Public Health Center in Plymouth. A presentation on CT Scanners was given by Dr. R.W. McConnell, Greenville Radiologist and member of the Governing Body.

In other business the Governing Body welcomed as a new member Murray Small of Roanoke Rapids. New staff members including the following were introduced: William W. Hill, Jr., Coordinator of Plan Implementation; and William P. Harper, Jr. Coordinator of Project Review.

Dr. William E. Laupus, Dean of the East Carolina University School of Medicine, presented a status report on the development of the medical school, noting that accreditation is anticipated in time for enrollment of students in the fall of 1977.

Mild temperatures and sunny skies continued over North Carolina today, bringing welcome relief from the cold that has been the general rule since back in December.

Thursday was the warmest day so far this year and in some places the warmest since Dec. 19.

Under bright sunshine and rather light westerly winds temperatures climbed into the 60s east of the mountains. Cherry Point, near New Bern, had the warmest reading of 67 degrees followed by Fayetteville and Wilmington with 66.

Cape Hatteras was cooler with a high of 57. Highs in the 50s were also recorded in the mountains. Other high readings included Asheville 58, Charlotte 63, Greensboro 62 and Raleigh-Durham 63.

Predawn temperatures this morning ranged from the mid 20s in the mountains to the mid 30s near the south coast. Lows included Asheville 21, Charlotte 30, Greensboro 25, Raleigh-Durham 26 and Wilmington 31.

High pressure continued to dominate the weather today with sunny skies and mild temperatures. However, a low pressure system is expected to form over the lower Mississippi Valley tonight and then move toward the northeast. This system should spread showers into the western counties Saturday.

Temperatures were expected to climb into the 60s today and showers are forecast to spread into the mountains and Piedmont Saturday. The entire state should have showers Saturday night and Sunday, but the mild temperatures will continue through the weekend.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Warm weather is due today for the West and mild temperatures for most of the country. Rain is expected from central Gulf to the Midwest and for northern Oregon and Washington. (AP Wirephoto Map)

By The Associated Press
Mild temperatures and sunny skies continued over North Carolina today, bringing welcome relief from the cold that has been the general rule since back in December.

Thursday was the warmest day so far this year and in some places the warmest since Dec. 19.

Under bright sunshine and rather light westerly winds temperatures climbed into the 60s east of the mountains. Cherry Point, near New Bern, had the warmest reading of 67 degrees followed by Fayetteville and Wilmington with 66.

Cape Hatteras was cooler with a high of 57. Highs in the 50s were also recorded in the mountains. Other high readings included Asheville 58, Charlotte 63, Greensboro 62 and Raleigh-Durham 63.

Predawn temperatures this morning ranged from the mid 20s in the mountains to the mid 30s near the south coast. Lows included Asheville 21, Charlotte 30, Greensboro 25, Raleigh-Durham 26 and Wilmington 31.

High pressure continued to dominate the weather today with sunny skies and mild temperatures. However, a low pressure system is expected to form over the lower Mississippi Valley tonight and then move toward the northeast. This system should spread showers into the western counties Saturday.

Temperatures were expected to climb into the 60s today and showers are forecast to spread into the mountains and Piedmont Saturday. The entire state should have showers Saturday night and Sunday, but the mild temperatures will continue through the weekend.

Motorists Prefer To Keep 55 MPH Limit

Two of the surveys were national in scope and the others involved individual states: California, Georgia, Maryland, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico and New York.

The polls were conducted separately by local, state and national organizations, including newspapers, state highway patrols, highway safety departments and national independent research firms.

Results of the two national polls were almost identical, the safety administration reported today. A Gallup Poll showed 73 per cent in favor of the 55 mph limit and 21 per cent opposed. A safety administration Advertising Council poll registered 72 per cent for and 20 per cent opposed.

A state survey conducted by the New Hampshire Highway Safety Agency showed 87 per cent in favor and only 10 per cent against. A New York Daily News poll gave an 83 to 14 per cent edge to the speed limit in that state.

Even the least favorable survey, taken by the Nevada Office of Traffic Safety, showed 58 per cent favored the law, with 34 per cent opposed. Congress imposed the speed limit in 1973 to conserve. Until then, Nevada

Mildew: A Cause And Cure

Some homes are plagued with mildew on the walls. No matter how many times the walls are washed or painted, the mildew keeps reappearing. Mildew is caused by the moisture in the warm air inside your home condensing on the cold surface of the walls. The only way to prevent this condensation of moisture is to keep the temperature of the walls about the same as that of the inside air. This can be done simply by insulating the exterior wall.

Insulation will not only keep your home more attractive; it will also make your home more comfortable and pay for itself quickly with reduced heating and cooling costs.

Indians Rally To Nip Pirates, 70-66

MISSED IT — East Carolina's Herb Gray (20) misses on a steal attempt against William & Mary's John Kratzer during first half action last night between the two schools. William & Mary rallied to take a 70-66 win in the Southern Conference game. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

John Lowenhaupt sparked a second half comeback from seven points down as William & Mary's Indians nipped East Carolina University in the final minutes of play, 70-66 last night.
The defeat knocked the Pirates down to 3-6 in Southern Conference play, while the Indians climbed to 5-4, and sole possession of fourth place. The loss also just about killed any hopes the Pirates might have of an upper division finish in the league and the first round home court tournament advantage that goes with it.
Lowenhaupt tossed in 19 of his 30 points in the second half, most of them long-range bombs. The Indians also enjoyed a margin at the foul line—where the game was really won.
East Carolina had 20 fouls called against it, plus two technicals. One tech was charged to the Indians, along with 14 personals. From them, the Indians hit on ten of 17 shots, while East Carolina, shooting only one bonus shot the entire night, hit six of eight.
The key foul could have been with 6:45 left in the game when Louis Crosby was called for one under the Indians' goal. East Carolina Coach Dave Patton claimed Jim McDonough had been the one who fouled. "He was on his back," Patton said to the referee, Jim Burch, who promptly tacked a technical foul on the coach. While McDonough missed his one-and-one shot, Lowenhaupt made both technicals, tying the game at 60-60, and the Indians got another basket off the in-bounds play to take the lead at 62-60. East Carolina never regained the lead again.
"I guess I lost this one for us," a dejected Patton said afterwards. "I don't think I deserved a technical for it. Louis had position on the play, and they went right over him and they called it wrong."
Patton picked up a stat sheet from the games, and pointed to the fouls. "We get it home and away. Why are they picking on us? I just don't understand it. Is it because we're getting out of the conference?
"We played well enough to win out there. We had just as many field goals as they did, but for the third straight game, we've been beaten at the foul line, and it wasn't because we didn't shoot well there."
The game stayed tight the entire first half of play. The lead changed hands on 13 occasions, and was tied nine times. William & Mary never led by more than two points during the half, while the Pirates held as much as a five point lead late in the half.

Larry Hunt and Jim Ramsey kept the Pirates in it during the first half, each hitting eight points. Lowenhaupt and Ron Satterthwaite paced the Indians with 11 and 10 respectively. Hunt hit on a drive with two seconds left in the half to provide the Pirates with a 36-35 edge at intermission.
Ramsey put the Pirates on top at 25-24 with 5:36 left, and baskets by Greg Cornelius and Ramsey ran it out to a five point edge, 34-29.
In the second half, the Pirates scored the first two baskets of the period, as Crosby and Herb Gray scored to run the lead out to five, 40-35. The Indians rallied, however, and took a 47-46 lead on Lowenhaupt's play. East Carolina tied it up at 48-48, then took the lead as Gray hit again at 50-48.
From there, the Bucs slowly stretched the lead out to seven, 57-51 with 10:02 left in the game, but they went cold after that.
Still leading by four at 7:57 left, the Bucs got only three more field goals the rest of the way.

The technical foul and the following basket put the Indians ahead, 62-60, and after the Bucs tied it up, the Indians got very deliberate, with Lowenhaupt finally hitting on another bomb with 2:49 left. John Kratzer scored with 1:02 to go to run it to four, and two free throws by McDonough wrapped it up, making it 68-62 with just 22 seconds left.
Besides Lowenhaupt's total, Satterthwaite had 12.
Gray, playing one of his best games, led the Pirates with 20. He hit on nine of 12 shots from the floor and pulled off 12 rebounds. Matt Courage led the Indians with 13 rebounds.
Ramsey and Crosby each added 10 points.
The Pirates travel to Boone Saturday to meet Appalachian State in a "must win" game, then are at Georgia Southern on Monday.

Prep Swimmers Invading Minges

As in the past, East Carolina swim coach Ray Scharf favors Calvert Hall of Maryland for the men's title in the Atlantic Seaboard. After seven straight years of winning the title, Calvert Hall was upset by Peddy school of New Jersey last year. But the defending champs are not making a return appearance, leaving the field for Calvert Hall.
Strongest among the in-state teams will probably be Greensboro Grimsley. A total of 50 men's teams are entered in the meet, snapping last year's record of 38.
In the women's division, 58 teams have entered, as compared to 43 last year. Herndon of Virginia is the defending champ and returns this year. Merceburg Academy of Pennsylvania is expected to be the top challenger.
"Overall, we look for between 400 and 500 swimmers to compete," Scharf said.
Sunday, the women's track team goes to Raleigh for the N.C. State Women's Invitational.
Monday, the basketball team travels to Georgia Southern, while the Lady Pirates entertain North Carolina on Tuesday.
Furman is at East Carolina on Wednesday for basketball, with several tournaments starting on Thursday. In those, the swim team will be at Furman for the Southern Conference meet, and the women's basketball team at Winthrop for a tournament, and the golf team making its debut at the Coastal Carolina Invitational at Myrtle Beach.

North Pitt Panthers Claim League Title

BETHEL — North Pitt won the Eastern Carolina Conference regular season championship—at last.
The victory celebration was to have been Tuesday night, but a power failure at the gym at halftime of the girls' game forced a postponement until last night.
The Panthers then destroyed North Lenoir, 90-54 to wrap up the title. The Pant-HER girls also came away with a win, 43-32.
North Pitt raced out to a 24-15 lead in the first quarter of the game. They kept the pressure up on the Hawks in the second quarter, 19-9, as they built up a 43-24 halftime margin.
The Panthers showed no quarter in the third period, as they again outthit the Hawks, Brown led North Pitt with 10, while Denise Beacham had an equal number to pace North Lenoir.

The Panthers travel to Southern Nash tonight to wind up the regular season.

Rampants Again Take Divisional Mat Title

WILSON — Rose High School's regular season Division I wrestling champs, added the Division I Tournament title to their trophy case last night, easily outdistancing the field.
The Rampants finished the meet with 199½ points, while Northeastern of Elizabeth City was second with 104½.
Wilson finished in third place with 94 points, while Northern Nash was fourth with 87. Rocky Mount finished in fifth place with 76½ points. Bertie does not field a wrestling team.
The Rampants won the title in seven of the 13 weight classes, taking a big lead by winning the first four in order. The Rose winners included Cliff Hagan at 101, John Lawler at 108, James Cherry at 115, Jesse Baker at 122, Johnny Harris at 141, Raymond Wooten at 170, and Rocky Butler at 198.
Rose also added four seconds, a third and a fourth place finish in the other classes.

Rankins Sets Sights On EC Hurdle Record

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Come Saturday, East Carolina's Marvin Rankins may be running in the biggest race of his life, and he wants to make it a good one.
Rankins, along with several other members of the East Carolina track team will be in Cleveland, Ohio, for the Knights of Columbus Invitational, one of the top meets in the East this year.
Rankins, who runs the 60-yard hurdles indoors, likes the pressure of the big meet. "The bigger the meet, the tougher the competition," he said. "I get more tense in the bigger meets, and I think the tension actually helps me. I run better under pressure."
The former Bertie High School runner has already qualified for this year's NCAA nationals, but has another goal in mind before then. He wants to break the school record of 7.2 seconds in the hurdles. Naturally, he holds that mark. "I really think I can do it in 7.1 this winter," he said.
"In fact, I might be able to do even better. I really don't know how fast I can run. The more work I do, the better I seem to get."
Rankins called the K of C meet one of the biggest he's ever been in, except for last year's nationals. But as a freshman, he didn't know the ropes up there, and performed below par, failing to place. "I got a little too tense. It was the biggest thing I'd ever been in in my life.

"But this year, I think I'll do better. I know what it's all about this year, but that's where the pressure is the highest."
While he was at Bertie, he used to enjoy going to track meets, and finally decided to try it himself. He got into the hurdles because he was also a high jumper and that particular event appealed to him. "I found out that I really liked it better." He eventually won the high and low hurdles in the state championship meet, and added a place in the high jump to lead the Falcons to the state title.
"Now, I want to get into the top four places in the country, then set my sights on the 1980 Olympics," he said.
Away from the track, Rankins enjoys dancing and drawing and "just meeting people." He's majoring in Driver Education and Correctional Services, but is unsure of his future, since he has two more years of college left.
One thing is certain, his future on the hurdles events is bright.

Deacons Seek Rebound Win

By The Associated Press
The Clemson Tigers have done their part. Now it's up to North Carolina State to keep the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball race alive.
The Wake Forest Deacons had a 7-1 league record and a commanding ACC lead going into Tuesday's loss to Clemson. Now 7-2, the Deacons will be facing a hungry Wolfpack Saturday in a game that could be the key to the season for both teams.
The University of North Carolina will be playing Tulane at Greensboro and Clemson will be up against battered Maryland, and the Heels and the Tigers will all have one eye cocked toward the N.C. State-Wake Forest contest.
It's no secret they'll be rooting for N.C. State, and the pressure will be on the Deacons after the loss to Clemson.
"My only regret," says Wake Forest Coach Carl Tacy, "is that we must play North Carolina State at the peak of their game. They have been improving almost daily and are now a serious challenger for the conference championship."
Tacy may also be a little nervous about the fact his team hasn't met the Wolfpack yet this season.
"But that's not an advantage for either team," he insisted. "It's just tougher to prepare for the game."
The meeting may turn into a contest between powerhouses Keeny Carr of N.C. State and Wake's Rod Griffon, both averaging more than 20 points per game.
In the only other conference game of the coming weekend, Clemson was to play Maryland, thoroughly demoralized after Wednesday's 97-70 drubbing by UNC.
The loss dropped the Terps to 4-4 in the league and blighted any hopes they might have had for contender status.
"We should have stayed home," snarled Maryland coach Lefty Driesell.

Ayden-Grifton Clinches Second

SNOW HILL — Ayden-Grifton and Greene Central split a pair of games last night with Greene Central gaining a 35-31 win in the girls' game and Ayden-Grifton winning the boys' contest, 63-51.
The Ewes used a strong third quarter to gain their win. Ayden-Grifton led 9-7 at the end of the first period and were up 17-14 at halftime.
But Greene Central outscored the Chargers 13-8 in the third period and that gave them the margin of victory.
Sarah Taylor paced the Greene Central scoring with 12 while Karen Haseley had 13 and Vertha Dixon 11 for Ayden-Grifton.
In the boys' game, the Chargers led the whole way and held off the Rams in the final period for the victory.
Ayden-Grifton was up 15-10 at the end of the first period and stretched it to 32-22 at halftime.
In the third quarter, they gained an even bigger margin, 46-29, before being slightly outscored in the final period to take the 12-point win.
Ogden Braxton led the Charger attack with 19 points. Willie Forbes had 18 and Frankie Dail 10 for Ayden-Grifton.
Greene Central was paced by Ernest Thompson's 19 and Steve Jennette's 11.

Football season is almost here! That might seem like a foolish statement right now, but the time for spring drills is just around the corner. East Carolina's Pirates go on the field in March for their drills, which will wind up with a Varsity-Alumni game in April.

Perhaps the chief job of Coach Pat Dye and his staff will be to find a new quarterback and a defensive secondary.

The Pirates lost heavily in the defensive secondary, where three of the four starters graduate. The lone returnee is Gerald Hall. This could be the most critical spot in the Pirate rebuilding.

Offensively, there will be gaps to fill on the offensive line, but these appear not quite as critical due to experienced depth coming back.

The quarterback situation has an experienced senior in Jimmy Southerland, along with sophomore Leander Green. The two will battle it out during the spring for the number one position. Then another fight might be brewing for the starting role come fall practice.

Also to be replaced is the fullback slot. Vince Kolanko returns here from his number two role, with Perry Allred behind him. That too could turn into a big battle.

The Pirates also must replace Pete Conaty, their star placement kicker. Many times during the year, Conaty's foot provided the winning touch for the Bucs.

It will mean an interesting spring for the Pirates and the coaching staff, and a fall to look forward too.

That fall season will be the first in some years for East Carolina as an independent. It is a tough schedule, and with the rebuilding necessary at so many places, duplicating this year's 9-2 record will be somewhat of a miracle.

But the Bucs should still be a very exciting team to watch.

Being out of the Southern Conference may present basketball fans with more problems during the coming seasons. As an independent, East Carolina may have trouble getting as good a home schedule as it had this year.

Most teams who are established "above" the Pirates don't want to come here. They are glad to play you at home, but not on the road. This means that the Bucs have to look for the less-established teams for their home slate.

It is still uncertain how many of the Southern Conference teams will still want to play the Pirates in Minges.

The road may be a long, hard journey for the Pirates during 1977-78.

Rampettes Bow To Bertie Five

Bertie's girls' team held off a Rose High rally in the fourth quarter last night to take a 47-43 win over the Rampettes.

Bertie had a big third quarter to stretch a two-point halftime lead to 15. The Rampettes fought back in the final period, outscoring Bertie 17-6, but it wasn't enough as the rally fell short.

Bertie's scoring was led by Freeman with 17 while Karen Jeffreys and Kathy Streeter each had 12 to pace Rose.

The Rampettes, whose record is now 1-12, will travel to Northern Nash Monday.

Bertie—Freeman 17, Perry 8, Swain 6, Jackson, Cobb, Roullance 8, Purden 6, Hayes, Dawson 2, Heckstall.

Rose—Jeffreys 12, P. Taylor 4, S. Taylor 7, King, Scott, Streeter 12, Whitehurst, Branch 2, Littlefield, Johnson, McGilgohr 6.

Bertie 11 13 17 6-47
Rose 10 12 4 17-43

B Team Loses

Farmville's Junior High wrestling team won two of the first three matches, but the E. B. Aycock "B" team won all but one of the last seven to take a 37-14 win and extend its record to 6-0 for the year.

Summary:
91: C. Moore (F) won by forfeit.
101: John Welborn (A) dec. M. Dupree, 9-5.
110: E. Rogers (F) dec. Dan Mayo, 14-1.

Toughest Part Of It Was After The Round

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The 66 that staked him to a four-shot lead wasn't the tough part of the day, said Rik Massengale.

"Actually, I'm hitting my irons so good, it was a pretty easy 66."

The tough part came after the round. He had to rush from the course to buy a birthday present for his wife, Cindy.

"It's her birthday and I always put off things to the last minute," Massengale said. "Ah, but I hate shopping for a woman. That's a lot tougher than shooting 66. I didn't know what to get her. Ended up with a watch. Hope that's okay."

The six-under-par 66 was considerably more than okay on the tough Tamarisk course in Thursday's second round of the five-day, 90-hole Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic. It went with an opening 64 for a 130 total, 14 under par and the best two-round effort on the tour since late in the 1975 season.

In those two rounds, he's had 15 birdies and a single bogey, missed only two fairways and two greens. He's had a total of seven birdie puts of 20 feet or more, two of them from 40 feet or more.

"Absolutely fabulous golf," said Bruce Lietzke, the only man able to keep Massengale in sight. "He is definitely the man to beat."

Lietzke is a two-time winner this season and suddenly the hottest man on the tour. He extended to 23 the number of consecutive rounds at par or better with a 67 that put him in second place at 134.

Wally Armstrong, with another 67, was another two strokes back at 136. Tied at 137 were former Hope winner Hubert Green, with a second-round 68, and Alan Tapie, 70.

Tapie played at La Quinta, the host course and site of the pros-only final round Sunday. The rest of the leaders were at Tamarisk, where former President Gerald Ford drew another enormous gallery to watch his round with PGA champ Dave Stockton, Flip Wilson and tournament director Saul Kamin.

"With all those people out there — it was a huge, huge gallery — it was pretty difficult for the President," Stockton said. "He played pretty well, made three pars, but he

Warriors Take Nuggets, 114-101

By The Associated Press
The Golden State Warriors, seeking to regain the pot of gold at the end of the National Basketball Association rainbow, finally are panning out...

...most recently against the Denver Nuggets. The Warriors, NBA champions in the 1974-75 season but dethroned in 1975-76 by the Boston Celtics, "probably are playing our best basketball of the year," according to Coach Al Attles. The affable Attles made his observation Thursday night after Golden State scored a glittering 114-101 triumph over the Nuggets, the team with the best winning percentage in the league. It was the Warriors' fourth consecutive victory.

"What I'm most happy about is our consistency," said Attles, whose Warriors have boosted their record to 30-23 and moved within four games of the Los Angeles Lakers and Portland Trail Blazers, who are in a virtual tie for the Pacific Division lead. "I don't want to see 135 points one night and 85 the next."

"And for the first time this year, we're 100 per cent healthy." In other NBA games, the Washington Bullets rallied for a 109-103 victory over the Phoenix Suns, the Milwaukee Bucks downed the Kansas City Kings, 112-102, and the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Indiana Pacers 116-101.

Phil Smith paced the Warriors with 21 points while Rick Barry and reserves Jamaal Wilkes and Charles Johnson each scored 18.

Denver's David Thompson collected 27, but only two in the first half when Golden State took a commanding 60-48 lead.

Bullets 109, Suns 103
Washington, trailing 101-93 with 4:23 remaining, over-took Phoenix with the help of Phil Chenier's three field goals in the last 1:25 for its seventh victory in the last nine road games.

The Bullets, leaders by one game in the Central Division, were led by Elvin Hayes and rookie Mitch Kupchak with 22 points apiece. Chenier finished with 21.

Ali Will Return Soon

By GORDON BEARD
AP Sports Writer
ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Nothing is official yet, but it appears that the suspect retirement of Muhammad Ali is about to end.

Herbert Muhammad, Ali's long-time manager, has given promoter Don King permission to set up a May title bout for the heavyweight boxing champ in Seoul, South Korea.

The 35-year-old Ali hasn't fought since scoring a disputed decision over Ken Norton last September, but the Korean venture is viewed as Ali's tune up for a lucrative return match with George Foreman — who lost the title to Ali in 1974.

"I'm convinced that Ali wants to fight again," King said Thursday, reiterating that in a Dec. 19 letter from Ali, he was given 90 days to arrange a rematch with Foreman.

King still is trying to put together a money package worthy of an Ali-Foreman bout, but his efforts should gain fresh impetus with the positive signs from the Ali camp.

In Korea, King said, Ali would fight "someone of repute," and mentioned such possible opponents as the upcoming young Americans Johnny Boudeaux and Larry Holmes, or South African champion Mike Shutte.

Two other productions promoted by King will be staged this weekend, even as he works to tie up loose ends on two more bouts scheduled for March 17.

King spent two days in Annapolis, promoting the second of four quarter-final cards of his U.S. Boxing Championships. They will be held Sunday at the U.S. Naval Academy.

On Thursday night, King hustled off to Puerto Rico for the lightweight title bout he promoted between World Boxing Council champion Esteban de Jesus and Buzzsaw Yamabe of Japan.

season. Among their big hits of the year, the Gophers have won by 24 points at Detroit, 19 at Indiana and 17 at Illinois and Marquette.

Thursday night, they played another smash performance by beating Ohio State at Columbus 91-65.

"We're a much better road team and I don't know why," said Minnesota Coach Jim Dutcher. "I can only enjoy it."

The eighth-ranked Gophers have won 17 of 19 games and are challenging for the Big Ten lead. The splendid season has restored some dignity to a school on NCAA probation and shorn of any post-season playoff hopes.

"Being a conference contender is enough," said Dutcher. "We've got a chance at our school record of 11 conference victories and 21 over-all. I told our kids they were eighth in the country and there are only a handful of teams with better records. That's incentive enough."

Elsewhere in college basketball, top-ranked San Francisco defeated Nevada-Reno 92-76, second-ranked UCLA defeated Washington State 65-62, No. 10 Nevada-Las Vegas trimmed Denver 106-84 and No. 13 Arkansas blasted Baylor 77-57.

Mike Thompson, Kevin McHale and Ray Williams combined for 68 points to lead Minnesota. The victory boosted the Gophers into a second-place tie with Purdue in the Big Ten behind Michigan.

Winford Boynes scored 21 points to lead a balanced attack as undefeated San Francisco ran its winning streak to 24 games. The powerful Dons connected on 51 per cent of their shots from the field and dominated the boards with a 48-36 advantage.

"I was a little concerned in the first half, early on, after they made their first six or seven in a row, but I told the guys to stay loose and play our own game," said San Francisco Coach Bob Gaillard. "And that's what we did. We came back in the second half, stuck to our game plan and won it the way we planned."

Reserve center Brett Vroman scored eight of his 10 points in the second half, leading UCLA back from a four-point deficit to victory over Washington State. Broman entered the game after starter David Greenwood picked up three first-half fouls.

Eddie Owens' 28-point performance established the career scoring record at Nevada-Las Vegas and led the Rebels past Denver.

Marvin Delph scored 18 points and Steve Schall added 15 as Arkansas defeated Baylor and virtually sewed up the Southwest Conference race.

Elsewhere, California defeated Oregon 107-102 in a near-record five overtimes. The record of six overtimes is shared by several teams.

Teams In Pair Split

Frankie Pollard of Chicod Junior High scored 29 points to lead his team to a 52-43 basketball win over Ayden Junior High yesterday.

Chicod also got 17 points from Sammy Whitehurst while Chapman had 20 and McCotter 10 for Ayden.

Ayden won in the girls' game by a 32-14 score, with Albritton leading the way with 11 points.

One Of Governor's Crime Bills Clears The Senate

Stamp Collecting Is More Than A Hobby To Native Of Greenville

AVID STAMP COLLECTOR — Louis Vincent of Chesapeake, Va., displays two examples of covers commemorating the commission-

By Leona C. Lilley
In spite of the fact that some people think stamp collecting is an expensive hobby and a waste of time, Louis C. Vincent of Chesapeake, Virginia, knows better.

A native of Greenville, Vincent has been a collector for about 35 years, and in his opinion, the hobby is fulfilling, creative — and profitable.

A former service man, retired on total disability, Vincent has a lot of time on his hands. "I sit around and dream up things to do with ing of ships. The Greenville native advocates stamp collecting for children and young people as well as for adults.

stamps," he says. He wanted to do something special for the Bicentennial. The outcome was a decision to buy 50 illustrated Bicentennial first-day covers — envelopes with a pictorial commemorative cachet.

On each cover he attached one each of the 50 different state flag Bicentennial stamps. Vincent then wrote the governor of each state, asking them to attach the state's official seal and to autograph the envelope.

Getting the autographed envelopes returned was the most difficult part of his Bicentennial collection project. It was quite a challenge, and took a lot of patience and faith on Vincent's part. But eventually, Louis Vincent got all 50 of them.

This is a rare collection. Some of the governors in office in the Bicentennial year are now out of office. It would be impossible to authentically duplicate Vincent's set. All of the envelopes have a Washington, D. C. first day of issue cancellation.

"It took me six months to get the California Governor, Jerry Brown, to sign and return the envelope for that state," Vincent revealed.

"I got a lot of personal letters from the governors, too," he added. "These may become a collector's items in years to come."

Vincent's monetary investment in the collection came to less than three hundred dollars. The major investment was in time and energy he spent on the project. "It was worth the money in satisfaction," Vincent noted. Already, he has been offered five hundred dollars for the set. "But it's bound to bring at least ten times that much in years to come," Vincent commented, speculating on the collection from an investment angle.

The collection was on display in a Chesapeake, Va. post office recently. It was displayed with other gems from Vincent's collection — which includes all the special astronaut stamps and covers as well as the astronauts' autographs. He also possesses special covers and stamps for ship launchings and keel layings.

Louis Vincent promotes stamp collecting for children and young people and reminds them that a special starter kit is sold at local post offices.

His latest project is a stamp lamp. Its glass base is covered with stamps from all over the world depicting famous paintings of nudes. Several businessmen in the area have requested it for display purposes when it's finished. Vincent is not sure how this project will turn out. "My wife has threatened to throw it out," he confided.

RALEIGH (AP) — One of the governor's crime bills made it through the state Senate with token opposition Thursday, as members prepared for the next round in the emotion-filled issue of the Equal Rights Amendment.

A bill that would restructure and rename the Governor's Law and Order Commission, filling the new board with a majority of appointees by Gov. Jim Hunt and two legislative members, passed on a 42-5 roll-call and was sent to the House.

Opposition came from a few Democrats who contended it gave the governor more power, and from Republicans who said it was a neat way to eliminate GOP appointees to the current commission. Meanwhile Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green referred ERA to the Constitutional Amendments Committee, where chairman Cecil Hill, D-Transylvania, immediately set public hearings. Supporters will speak on the bill Monday, Feb. 21, with opponents getting their chance the following afternoon.

The hearings repeat a process held in the House, which finally voted to approve the constitutional amendment Wednesday and sent it to the Senate. Nosecounts in the upper chamber show supporters with sufficient strength, though a switch of just a few votes could make a difference.

In other General Assembly action:

SAFE DRIVERS

A law that has been popular with state motorists was made permanent as the House voted 106-0 to go along with the Senate on a bill exempting safe drivers from having to pass written road tests in renewing their driver licenses.

The law was passed by the General Assembly in 1973 as an experiment and would have expired June 1 if it had not been extended. State officials said the law has saved in manpower without resulting in an increase in traffic accidents.

SCALPING

A bill aimed at halting ticket-scalping at musical concerts, now dubbed the "Elvis Presley bill," continued its rapid progress through the legislature. The bill would include concerts in the state's law against selling tickets to athletic events for an amount greater than the price printed on the ticket.

It gained the Presley tag when one representative said the bill was being rushed through the legislature before Presley appears in Charlotte Feb. 19-20, amid reports of tickets selling for $50 to $100 each.

TOBACCO TAX

The state tax on cigarettes would jump a nickel a pack, from two cents to seven cents, under a bill filed in the House by Rep. Fred Dorsey, R-Henderson. Dorsey conceded his bill was not likely to be successful, but said he was introducing it as one way to raise money for a pay raise for public school teachers.

Dorsey said estimates from the Department of Revenue showed the tax hike could bring $16 million to $40 million a year in new funds.

UNEMPLOYMENT

The House voted overwhelmingly to tentatively approve a measure disqualifying some persons from receiving unemployment benefits. Persons could not receive payments under the bill if they quit work without a good cause, were discharged for misconduct, or refused to accept a suitable job when offered by the Employment Security Commission.

The House took the action on a 101-7 vote after one representative said the measure could have saved $7 million in unemployment benefits during the recent recession.

GUN DISPOSAL

A provision allowing judges to give confiscated guns to law enforcement agencies for their use would be repealed under a bill approved by the Senate Judiciary II Committee. If enacted, judges could still have the guns returned to their rightful owners, destroyed or sold at auction.

HOMESTEAD

Widowers would have the same homestead exemption benefits that widows now enjoy under a measure approved by the Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee.

The homestead exemption currently protects widows from losing all they own to creditors on the death of their husbands. A man does not currently have that protection if his wife owns property and she dies. The measure would amend the state constitution, and would require a public referendum in November if approved by the legislature.

MENTAL EXAMS

A Senate committee approved a bill that would keep secret a defendant's mental competency until introduced in a trial. Superior Court Judge Henry McKinnon told the Judiciary II Committee that there have been cases of the media printing the results of such mental reports, possibly prejudicing the trial.

STERILIZATION

The General Assembly enacted a bill that permits a doctor to perform a sterilization operation without being required to obtain concurrence from a second physician or surgeon. The bill, introduced by Rep. John Gamble, D-Lincoln, takes effect immediately.

The law applies to persons over the age of 18 who ask a physician to perform the operation. It cleared the Senate on a 43-2 vote.

Suit Airs Grievances

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) — A suit filed by 40 black employees of Weyerhaeuser Co. at Plymouth has accused the lumber company and several labor unions of discrimination.

The complaint, filed in a class action suit in U.S. District Court here Thursday, asked the court to order the company and unions to halt the alleged discrimination and to take "affirmative action" to eliminate the past effects of their actions.

Named as defendants along with the company were two locals of the United Paper Workers International Union, locals of the International Union of Operating Engineers and of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The suit accused the unions of acquiescing to the company's policies, of using the seniority system to keep blacks out and of failing to represent black members with grievances on the same basis as white members.

Most of the plaintiffs are members of the unions.

They accused Weyerhaeuser of using different standards for blacks and whites when evaluating job applications. The suit also said the company assigned blacks to less desirable jobs and discriminated in providing training and by using a seniority system that was unfair to blacks.

'Lifeline' Subject Of LWV Meeting

"Lifeline," a low fixed price for the amount of electricity a family needs for basics is the topic to be discussed at a public meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters (LWV) at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 15 at First Presbyterian Church' 14th and Elm Streets.

The plan advocated by Carolina Action would be for the first 500 kilowatt hours of monthly usage as the necessary low rate minimum for basic needs such as light, heat and refrigeration. The plan also calls for a "Fair Share Rates" category of usage above 500 kilowatt hours which would be the same for all users. Industrial, commercial and residential users would all pay the same price for each unit used above the first 500 units.

Changing the electric rate requires legislation at the state level, and Carolina Action is working with the utilities committees in both houses of the General Assembly and with former Utilities Commissioner Hugh Wells to draft such legislation.

Tina Podolak of the Durham office of Carolina Action will be the discussion leader. The LWV has also invited officials of the Greenville Utilities Commission to attend so that a balanced view of electricity pricing can be presented.

The public is invited to attend and there is no admission charge.

Lake Norman Is At Record Low

MOORESVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Cold weather and heavy electrical demand have brought steep drops in the water level of Lake Norman, part of Duke Power Co.'s hydroelectric generating system.

The receding waters have left several boats and docks high and dry, and some boat owners and lake businesses are unhappy. The company said it issued warnings of the drop, and it's not Duke Power's fault if nobody listened.

GRANT GIVEN

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Parish of Trinity Church has given Fuller Theological Seminary, Pasadena, Calif., a grant of $2,211 to encourage the seminary's work in developing a graduate degree in mission strategy, particularly a mission strategy for Third World countries.

Vepco offers a plan that lets you stretch your winter heating payments into summer.

To help you through this winter's severe weather, Vepco has a plan to let you spread your unusually high heating bills over an eight month period.

Beginning Monday, February 7, the Equal Monthly Payment Plan is available to our customers.

Here's how it works. Vepco will make an estimate of what your electric bills will total between now and August. Then we'll divide that into equal payments. You pay the same amount each month. Your account will be settled when you receive your August bill. If you use more electricity than we estimate, the difference will be paid then. If you use less than our estimate, we'll give you a refund. All you have to do to remain on the plan is keep your equal monthly payments current.

It's a simple plan, and there's no extra charge. Best of all, it can help protect your family's monthly budget.

To find out more about the plan, call your local Vepco office and ask for a customer service representative.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day and evening to be off to new scenes and with recent acquaintances although a note of caution must be given not to make demands or drive carelessly or some misfortune may occur. Otherwise, this is a very good day for you to extend your interests beyond present boundaries and to seek aid from the influential.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Good friends can be of real assistance to you today where new ventures and ideas are concerned. Use your hunches wisely. Be careful in driving and avoid a possible accident. Improve health.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Fine day for getting your financial affairs in better order and credit improved. Come to a better understanding with mate by asking questions directly. Show you are a thoughtful person.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Listen carefully to what associates have to suggest and try to cooperate intelligently with them. A new situation presents itself that could bring you greater good will from others.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Use this day to clean up odds and ends. Take health treatments you need to restore vitality. Avoid one who does not appreciate you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan time for hobbies you enjoy. Show affection for close ties. A fine day to express in a wise way a special talent you may have.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you have a frank talk with those who dwell with you, you can come to a fine understanding for the future. Do some entertaining at home that can prove most pleasant and bring excellent results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A more direct approach with others is wise since you can then become more productive. Handling correspondence intelligently is wise also. Get right to the point and don't be redundant.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have fine ideas about finances and should not hesitate in putting them across very quickly. Find very best way to improve property also. Avoid one who could get you into trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Your personal aims can be gained if you pursue them in a positive and direct way now. Join in social fun where you can make the acquaintance of interesting personalities. Add to prestige you now enjoy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Contacting an adviser you have trusted in the past is wise, since you can get good suggestions now regarding personal matters. Have a conference with persons you like and gain their backing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take time to get in touch with good friends and deepen the association. Accept any invitation extended to you. Make sure you get bills paid. Be careful in driving.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can understand now how to improve your position where career and civic life are concerned. Look for gadgets that can be helpful to you.

Nancy Walker Returns In Another TV Effort

By JAY STARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nancy Walker, ex-mother of CBS' "Rhoda," ex-housekeeper for NBC's "McMillan," had no joy her first time out on ABC last fall when she played a talent agent in her own comedy series.

"The Nancy Walker Show" was a ratings dud. So ABC brass axed it, repaired to the executive suite and mulled over what might be a suitable new caper for this fine comedy actress they'd put under contract.

Saturday night, the results of their mulling go on display. It is "Blansky's Beauties." Miss Walker plays Nancy Blansky, creator of big shows for a penny-pinching Las Vegas hotel, the Oasis. She also serves as mother confessor to the showgirls laboring there.

It's from the folks who gave us "Happy Days" and "Laverne and Shirley." It originally started, ABC says, as a sitcom idea — later rejected — starring Pinky Tuscedero in a Las Vegas setting.

Pinky (Roz Kelly) is the gum-chewing lady who talks like a No-Cal Mae West, drives a pink motorcycle and used to date The Fonz.

She is a guest star in Saturday's premiere, no doubt as a good-luck charm. The last time she helped a show begin — this season's first "Happy Days" — it wound up No. 1 in the hearts and minds of Nielsen families.

From what I could make of "Blansky" at an advance screening, it concerns the possible loss of everyone's job if Nancy Blansky doesn't create an extravaganza that'll pack the cash customers in.

Pinky, you know, will save the day. She revs up her pink motorbike, leaps in the manner of Evel Knievel over 20 showgirls, and evokes huzzahs from the multitudes at the Oasis.

This occurs near the end. Before it, Miss Walker gets to say a few wry words and cope as best she can amid a large cast of regulars, one of them a Great Dane named Blackjack.

In the classic tradition of stereotype, all the chorus cuties are dim. They'd even fail a course in remedial density.

As a general rule, the worse the television show, the greater the number of production boobies involved in it.

"Blansky" was created by Garry Marshall, Bob Brunner and Arthur Silver. Its creative consultants are Messrs. Brunner and Silver. Its executive story editor is Marty Nadler, its story editor Warren S. Murray.

Its executive producers are Garry K. Marshall, Edward K. Milkis and Thomas L. Miller. Its producers are Bruce Johnson, Tony Marshall and Nick Adbo.

As the trombone player said when he missed his bus, I rest my case.

not dispose of all of his minor suit losers. He ended up losing two tricks for down one.

It was obvious from the bidding that East could have at most one heart. Declarer should not have risked having a heart honor ruffed away—he needed every high heart in dummy to make his contract.

Note the difference if declarer follows with the deuce of hearts from dummy at trick one and ruffs in hand. Now he can draw three rounds of trumps, ending in dummy. He has four minor losers in his hand, and dummy's hearts can be used to take care of all of them!

On the ace of hearts declarer discards his diamond loser, then he continues with the queen of hearts—but he does not ruff it! Instead, he discards one of his club losers. West wins the king of hearts, but the contract is unbeatable.

Let us assume that West shifts to the king of clubs. Declarer wins the ace, crosses to dummy's ace of diamonds and on the established jack-ten of hearts he discards his two remaining club losers. He makes his slam, losing only a heart trick.

Your play to the first trick could decide the fate of the contract! A writer once remarked: "There's no such thing as a blind opening lead, only deaf opening leaders!" Feb. 12 Anniversary Of State Board Of Health

By DR. H. G. JONES, Curator North Carolina Collection CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Feb. 12 marks the 100th anniversary of the passage of legislation establishing North Carolina's State Board of Health.

Prior to the Civil War, public health was generally not a subject of direct governmental involvement. Even the constitution of 1868 did not cover the subject specifically, and any governmental actions had to be taken under provisions of the police powers.

Wilmington also underwent a smallpox epidemic just after the armistice. The outbreak was particularly bad among the freedmen, many whom had flocked to town following their liberation.

To help care for the sick, Dr. Thomas Fanning Wood, formerly a physician in the Third North Carolina Regiment, opened a hospital and treated more than 1,300 cases of smallpox.

Dr. Wood, the co-editor of the North Carolina Medical Journal, became a leading exponent of governmental concern for public health, and particularly through the state Medical Society he spread the idea of an agency to promote better health practices.

At first he got nowhere, for doctors felt it beneath their dignity to petition the General Assembly for such an agency. However, in 1875 Dr. S. S. Satchwell of Rocky Point delivered a persuasive appeal to the Medical Society, and a committee was appointed to present a proposal to the legislature.

The bill creating the Board of Health was passed on Feb. 12, 1877. It was, unfortunately, a very weak bill, but it was a beginning.

The board consisted of all members of the Medical Society, and its major purposes were to make sanitary investigations and to diffuse information on improved health practices.

Its appropriation was $100 per year. An additional bill authorized county commissioners to constitute county medical societies as county boards of health.

Dr. Satchwell was elected president of the board and Dr. Wood was made secretary-treasurer. With Satchwell's approval, Wood became the workhorse of the board.

The act was amended in 1879 to provide for a board of nine members, and authority was granted to publish bulletins, to conduct chemical examinations of water, to control inland quarantines, and to provide county boards with vaccine for smallpox. Satchwell and Wood continued as executive officers. Although the annual appropriation had been increased only to $200 per year, Wood simply dug from his own pockets a similar amount in his determination to activate the board and to make it a vital influence in the life of the state.

His first task was to organize the county boards so they could carry on grassroots activity, and within six months 50 counties had formally established health agencies.

The first pamphlet of the board was "Timely Aid for the Drowned and Suffocated," followed by "Disinfection, Drainage, Drinking Water, and Disinfectants."

When a diphtheria epidemic spread in 1879, the board rushed to print a pamphlet titled "Limitation and Prevention of Diphtheria."

Press releases and biennial reports also played an important role in educating the General Assembly and the public to the understanding that health problems knew no town or county boundary.

Though some of the early medical theories have since been discredited, much progress was made toward impressing upon the public the simple fact that health and sanitation were closely related.

The law governing the board was again amended in 1885, and the appropriation was increased ten-fold. The board now operated more efficiently, and it began publishing a monthly health bulletin—the first bulletin provided Dr. Wood with a widely-distributed vehicle for the dissemination of information relating to health.

Particularly effective in the bulletin were the reports of the county superintendents of health, for these reports, when combined, gave for the first time a graphic view of the effects of various diseases upon the people of the state.

Dr. Wood died in 1892. He was eulogized by his successor, Dr. Richard H. Lee in these words: "... a great apostle of sanitation and was the father of the North Carolina Board of Health, not alone in the sense of originating it, but also in that of a wise and tender parent who nourished and sustained it during its years of feeble and struggling infancy."

The state Board of Health, which today is known as the Division of Health Services, has continued to grow in size, efficiency and effectiveness. Under the direction of Dr. Jacob Koomen, the division is now one of the outstanding health agencies in the nation.

Food Service Course Slated

The Environmental Health Division of the Pitt County Health Department and Pitt Technical Institute will co-sponsor a 16-hour course dealing with the important aspects of food service and sanitation in the Food Service Industry.

The course is recommended by the Food and Drug Administration.

Classes will be conducted by Ms. Sarah Dixon, Pitt Co. sanitarian, on the campus of Pitt Technical Institute in room 220 Humber Building. The first class will be 2-4 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 15, and thereafter meets from 2-4 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday.

For additional information contact Ms. Dixon, 752-4141, ext. 33.

Choruses At Host Business Ed Workshop At ECU

Approximately 600 high school choral singers were at East Carolina University last weekend, as participants in the 13th Annual ECU School of Music Choral Festival. The young singers represented 15 high schools.

Each performing high school choir sang for the gathering and received comments from School of Music faculty adjudicators Brett Watson and Edward Glenn.

Attending the festival, but not performing, were singers from the following schools: Williamston High School, Farmville Central High School, Conley High School, North Pitt High School, Bath High School and Elm City High School.

Choruses from the following area schools performed at the ECU Choral Festival:

GREENE COUNTY, Snow Hill - Greene Central High School, Kenneth Ginn, director.

PITT COUNTY, Greenville - Rose High School (Advanced Ensemble and Concert Choir), Patricia Hiss, director.

Approximately 70 eastern North Carolina teachers of business education attended a workshop in shorthand and typewriting at East Carolina University Wednesday.

The program featured presentations by two noted authors whose texts are published by Gregg/McGraw Hill of Atlanta.

They were Dr. Fred E. Winger, author of a new high school typewriting text and many other textbooks as well as articles in several professional education journals, and Howard L. Newhouse, lecturer in business education and business communication and co-author of three Gregg Shorthand texts.

Dr. William H. Durham Jr., chairperson of the ECU Department of Business Education and Office Administration, presided at the workshop's opening session.

The ECU program was one of four offered in North Carolina during January and February.

Other workshops were scheduled for Asheville, Raleigh and Greensboro.

Names of area teachers participating in the workshop follow:

MARTIN COUNTY, Williamston-Barbara J. Mobley and Cherie Taylor, Williamston High School.

PITT COUNTY, Ayden-Doris S. Lee, Mavis Brown, Helen Edwards, and Marjorie Ward, Ayden-Grifton High School; Bethel-Betty S. Warren, North Pitt High School; Greenville-Mary Thompson, Conley High School, and Ruth Staton, Rose High School;

ECU-Faculty members Anita Whitehurst, Thadys Dewar, Elizabeth Sparrow, Charles Van Hoy and Drs. Frances Daniels, Betsy Harper, Harold McGrath, John Swope and James L. White; and students Veley Copeland, Robbie Rivens, Ralph Boswell, Ray Rigsby, Dianne Alexander, Terry Watkins, Lynn Hinton, Diana Dolack, John Rouse, Ricky Meadows, Jane Spry, Margie Helmer, Debby Walker, Tina Ketchie, Barbara Baker, Cindy Little, Anne Brittle, Belinda Judkins, Susan Hicks, Carolyn Jackson, Linda Yezarski, Vicky Adams, Mary Marozzi, Starla Hunt.

FINANCIAL TROUBLE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Cathedral (Episcopal), also known as the National Cathedral, is in serious financial trouble, with a deficit in the operating budget last year of $760,000, with the total debt of cathedral now in excess of $11 million, according to Washington diocese Bishop William F. Creighton.

Orange Crop Is Still A Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's orange crop still is expected to be a record despite three days of severe freeze damage in Florida last month, the Agriculture Department says.

As of Feb. 1, the orange harvest is estimated at a record of 248.6 million boxes, 3 per cent more than the previous high last season of 242.4 million boxes, the department's Crop Reporting Board said Wednesday.

But the new estimate is an 11 per cent drop from USDA's forecast of nearly 278.7 million boxes as of Jan. 1.

Kinston Trip For Group

The Operation Sunshine Youth Organization visited the C. C. S. Neuse Museum and Richard Caswell Memorial in Kinston Saturday.

The trip was made possible through the Parks, Recreation and Conservation Department of East Carolina University. Students engaging in practicum for this department were responsible for this activity and others that the girls have been involved in the past three months.

For their final program of this school quarter the Operation Sunshine group, under the direction of the PRC Department, will present a family night. This event will take place at New Town Center on Broad Street Wednesday from 5 to 6 p.m.

Area Students On Honor Roll

RALEIGH — Dr. Allen Burris, vice president and dean of Meredith College, has announced the dean's list students for the fall semester.

Area students include: Greene County: Sheila A. Horton, Snow Hill; and Rhonda G. Suggs, Rt. 1, La Grange; Martin County: Susan Dowdy and Janet H. Thigpen, both of Williamston; and Mary V. Winslow, Hamilton;

Pitt County: Cindy C. Allen and Cherry A. Croom, both of Greenville; and Kimberly D. Dale, Ayden.
