Americans In Uganda Detained By Pres. Amin

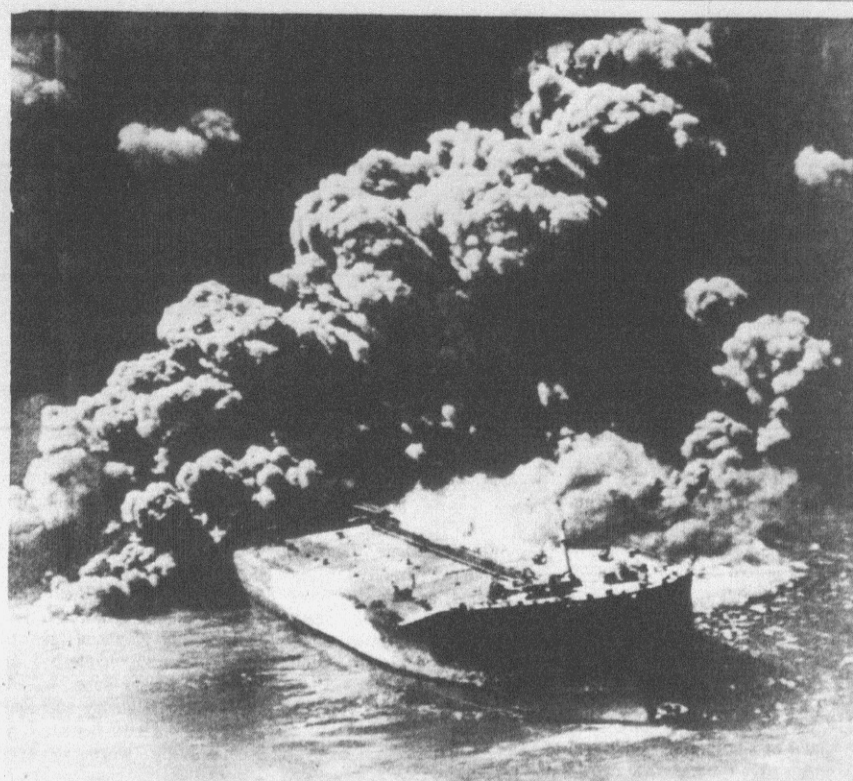

By BRUIAN JEFFRIES
Associated Press Writer
NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) —
Ugandan President Idi Amin
today ordered all Americans in Uganda kept there until Monday and sent President Carter a telegram demanding that the United States take care of its own human rights problems before accusing Uganda, the Uganda radio said.

been summoned to meet the Ugandan leader in Kampala
next Monday at 11 a.m.
Amin ordered his security forces to bar the Americans, mostly missionaries, from leaving the country until after the meeting.
Carter on Wednesday said that developments in Uganda, where an Anglican archbishop was killed and reports of alleged massacres of Christian tribes, had "disgusted the entire civilized world."
An Information Ministry spokesman, reached by The Associated Press by telephone from Washington, said the Americans will be free to leave, if they wish,

after the Monday meeting.
"There's no cause for alarm. There's no cause for fear at all," he added.
The government radio quoted Amin as telling regional administrative officers to question the Americans in advance of the Monday meeting and ask them whether they have been harassed in Uganda and whether they wish to remain in the country.

Officials in Uganda, which borders Kenya in East Africa, estimate the number of Americans there at 250.
"President Carter has expressed alarm and fear
about the American community here and the president (Amin) has asked them to meet him on Monday
to tell them what is happening, but otherwise there is no problem regarding the Americans here," the information spokesman said.
"They are all happy and I can assure you they are going to stay," he said.

Amin's ban on American departures came two days
after he charged that the United States, Britain and Israel planned to drop paratroops into Uganda in support of an alleged plot to overthrow him.
The U.S. State Department said the paratroop accusation was absurd. It had no comment today on Amin's order prohibiting Americans from leaving Uganda.
The broadcast today from Kampala, the Ugandan capital, said Amin ordered the regional administrative officers to prepare a list of all Americans in their areas
along with their property,
"including chickens, goats,
pigs and other animals."

Ask Foreign Aid Cuts In Human Rights Gesture

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration, in an action designed to dramatize its commitment to human rights, is recommending cuts in foreign military aid to Argentina, Uruguay and Ethiopia because of concern that those nations are abusing their citizens' rights.

ments are military-dominated.
The cuts, revealed by Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance on Thursday, involve millions of dollars, but only Uruguay would be completely cut off from U.S. military aid.
At the same time, Vance told a Senate appropriations subcommittee that the administration has decided not to cut aid to South Korea, despite "deep concern" over the treatment of dissidents there.

news conference. "I have never had an inclination to single out the Soviet Union as the only place where human rights are being abridged."
The President mentioned his concern about political prisoners in South Korea, Cuba and several South American countries, as well as the "horrible murders" in Uganda.
Vance told the subcommittee that the new administration did not plan to make wholesale changes in the preliminary foreign aid plans laid out for fiscal 1978 by the Ford administration before it left office.

The aid request for Argentina has been cut to $15 million in arms sales credits, compared to $48.4 million last year. But officials said not all of the cut was because of concern over human rights.
Congress cut off military aid to Uruguay for fiscal 1977 last August, but the Ford administration had proposed providing some aid. The Carter administration is seeking no new military aid for Uruguay.
Ethiopia, which got $6 million in military grant assistance last year, would get none under the new administration's plans.
But Ethiopia would continue to get arms sales credits of $10 million and economic development assistance of $13.9 million, up from $12 million.

The announcement added that all Americans who wish to remain in Uganda are "free to do so as long as they do not serve Zionist Israel."
The United States closed its embassy in Kampala in November, 1973, but did not break diplomatic relations formally, and the Ugandan embassy in Washington is still staffed with a charge d'affaires in charge.

More Equal?

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) —
The Senate has quietly passed a bill that gives lawyers who serve in the General Assembly special treatment in court.

"We believe it would be a mistake to cut the required economic assistance, despite the fact that we have a deep concern regarding the human rights situation" in South Korea, Vance testified.
"We must balance a political concern for human rights against economic or security goals," said Vance.

"We want to reassure our friends and allies of the constancy of our interest in their security," the secretary testified.

He said human rights problems in foreign countries would not automatically result in aid cuts.
Congress must approve the foreign aid cuts recommended by the administration.
While President Carter and the State Department have spoken out on behalf of Soviet dissidents recently, the cuts in aid were the new administration's first concrete action on the human rights issue.
Carter said Wednesday at a

STATE OFFICE MAY HELP
I am a salesman who depends on my home phone for sales contacts. I bought an answering service and used it for 18 months; then the phone company told me I had to either use one of theirs or rent some type of filtering coupler which must be installed by them at my expense and I must sign a contract guaranteeing them $500 a month before they would order it. Ordering would take six to eight weeks, they said. I have talked to a dozen people there and got half a dozen answers. Please tell me if there is any FCC, local state or federal regulations that are clear enough for a layman to understand. M. B.

'Modular' Ambulance For Hospital

NEW AMBULANCE FOR PITT — A new modular type ambulance will soon be placed in operation by the Pitt Memorial Hospital ambulance department. The unit has a large patient compartment and modern emergency care equipment. The modular construction of the vehicle allows the cab to be replaced before the rear compartment, eliminating the need to purchase a completely new ambulance. According to ambulance director John Watson, the new unit cost approximately $18,600. (Reflector Photo by Tommy For-

Safely Return

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet cosmonauts returned safely to earth today after 19 days in space, Moscow Radio announced.
Col. Viktor Gorbato and Lt. Col. Yuri Glazkov made a soft landing 21 miles northeast of Arkalyk, a town in the northern part of the Soviet Asian republic of Kazakhstan, the news agency Tass reported.
"The cosmonauts feel fine after landing," said Tass.
It said they successfully completed the program of research aboard the orbiting Salyut-5 space station which the two cosmonauts of Soyuz-21 started last July.
Gorbato, the flight commander, and Glazkov, his flight engineer, were shot up from the Soviet launching site in Asia on Feb. 7 aboard the Soyuz-24 spacecraft. They linked up the next day with the Salyut-5 space laboratory.
The space station is continuing its orbital flight, Tass said.

City Returning To Usual Hours

City Manager Jim Caldwell said offices in City Hall and in the Greenville Utilities Commission building will resume normal operating hours Monday.
Both the City Hall and Greenville Utilities Commission offices have been closing on Fridays in an effort to conserve fuel during the energy crisis, but will return to their regular five-day work schedule starting Monday.
According to Caldwell, the City Hall building has had a 24 per cent reduction in heat consumption per degree day for the period in January and February when the thermostats were turned back and the four-day work week was being observed. He noted that the Utilities Commission building experienced a 42 per cent reduction in heat consumption during the same period.
Caldwell emphasized that both the city and Utilities Commission offices will continue to operate with lowered thermostat settings until the crisis is over.

'This Is Your Pilot Speaking,' She Said

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Family Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Emily Howell-Warner is so hooked on flying that she stayed at the controls as a school flight instructor until she was four and a half months pregnant.

In an interview, Mrs. Howell-Warner said her boss told her she could continue "as long as you can get the elevator back." That's the control stick, roughly equivalent to the steering wheel on a car.

She has since made history by becoming the first woman member of an airlines flight crew in the United States and the first American woman to captain commercial flights, a promotion she received last June.

As a pilot for Denver-based Frontier Airlines, she is looking forward to next summer, when she'll command her favorite plane, a Boeing 737.

"It's the difference between driving a car with no power steering and driving one with."

Her current assignment is as captain aboard 19-passenger DHC-6 propjets on a route with many stops between Denver and other western cities.

"I like it, but everybody kids me about it. We get a lot of take off and landing practice. That's my favorite form of flying, a challenge that takes precision."

Mrs. Howell-Warner, now 37, began flying lessons at 18, shortly after her first flight, from Denver to Gunnison, Colo., and back. The most she aspired to at the time was a job as an airline stewardess. Her first job in the field was that of a flight school secretary.

Eventually, she earned both private and commercial pilot's licenses, got the flight instructor's job and became an FAA examiner, checking out applicants for pilot's licenses.

On one flight when she was about two months pregnant, she had her sole case of morning sickness. Fortunately, her student was wearing the hood required for instrument flying that blocks vision of everything but the control panel.

So Mrs. Howell-Warner casually told him: "I'm going to open a window for a little fresh air."

She did "and up-chucked out it. He never knew."

Was that the worst scare of her flying career to date?

No, she said. "The hardest thing was walking into the crew room that first time." She was a second officer, the position at which all pilots traditionally begin.

"I used to call it (the crew room) 'no-woman's land'. Even stewardesses are not allowed in there."

"I could feel the lack of acceptance (by male crew members) that first year."

She still recalls that entrance as harder even than taking a flight into Denver from Sidney,

Neb., with a sick passenger aboard. The man, who had had an apparent heart attack en route, was rushed to a hospital and survived.

Then there was the woman passenger who stayed aboard after Mrs. Howell-Warner landed one of her first flights as first officer, or copilot.

"I asked her what the problem was. She said, 'I'm all for women's lib, but I was a bit nervous (knowing the pilot was a woman).'"

"I told her, 'I was, too,' and we both laughed about it."

Is her hyphenated name a tribute to the women's movement? No, she said, although she is understandably sympathetic to it.

"It's my transition name. I want my friends to know what I'm doing."

Stamps Are Being Saved

"Don't throw those envelopes away," says Mrs. H. B. Randolph, "the stamps are valuable." Mrs. Randolph is stamp chairman for the Pitt County Extension Homemakers Council.

Organizations, businesses and individuals throughout the county and nation are clipping stamps. The stamps are sent to Lilamani Perera, a student at the University of Louisville. They are then sold to stamp buyers, who in turn sell them abroad. The money obtained is used to buy food for Bangladeshi children.

According to Mrs. Randolph, $1.00 is equal to 10 meals for a child. Twenty-five thousand stamps will buy milk for 10 children for one year. Five-hundred thousand stamps will buy 50 to 60 meals.

Mrs. Randolph requests that those who save stamps either mail them to her at Rt. 6, Box 358, Greenville, or drop them by the Pitt County Extension Service-office, located on the corner of Third and Greene Streets.

"Please leave stamps on the paper with about one-eighth of an inch border and separate USA and foreign stamps into groups of 100," says Mrs. Randolph.

SCOTCH EGGS—Delicious and easy to prepare in a convenient electric fryer-cooker.

It's Time For Scotch Eggs

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

For years and years we've heard about a snack, esteemed by the British, called Scotch Eggs. For this dish, hard-cooked eggs are encased in pork sausage meat and breaded and then deep-fat fried. We never did taste this savory because frying hard-cooked eggs didn't send us; somehow or other we didn't realize that the covering would act as insulation and the eggs would stay tender.

It wasn't until we acquired a new electric fryer-cooker that we were tempted to try the recipe. Now we're an addict of this British standby. We're also addicted to the fryer-cooker because it's light in weight and easy to handle and has a temperature signal light and a calibrated dial control. It also has a perforated deep-fry basket, a practical handle and a see-through cover. A colorful fruit-and-flower decoration embellishes its white exterior.

You can serve Scotch Eggs several ways. Fresh from the fryer, to eat out of the hand as a snack. Or sliced in half lengthwise with a spicy tomato sauce and rice; this way, along with a tossed green salad, Scotch Eggs made a good main dish for lunch or supper. They're also good, halved and served warm or cold, around potato salad as part of a buffet.

SCOTCH EGGS
9 large eggs
1 pound bulk pork sausage
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
6 to 8 cups shortening or oil

Hardcook 8 of the eggs; shell and dry on a kitchen towel. Divide sausage into 8 equal portions; on wax paper pat each portion into an oval large enough to encase an egg. With your fingers, pat the sausage around each egg so it is completely covered. Slightly beat the remaining raw egg. Roll sausage-eggs in the flour; dip in the raw egg; roll in the crumbs. (If necessary, use more flour and crumbs.) Preheat shortening in an electric fryer-cooker according to manufacturer's directions; reset control to 375 degrees. In the fryer-basket, in the hot shortening, fry 4 of the sausage-eggs until a rich golden-brown — 8 to 10 minutes; drain on brown paper. Repeat with remaining 4 sausage-eggs. Serve hot, warm or cold. Makes 8 servings.

Dear Abby

Parents, Not Children, Make Rules At Home

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Please say something in your column to discourage the practice of paying children for getting good grades in school.

Our daughter is in the seventh grade. She's always been a good student, but because her girlfriend is being paid $10 for every "A" and $5 for every "B" on her report card she thinks we ought to reward her in the same manner.

We expect our kids to get good grades, and we don't feel that they should be paid for it.

Kids always want what their friends have, and we think handing out tens and fives for "A's" and "B's" is wrong. What do you think?

FED UP IN TEXAS

DEAR FED UP: Parents, not children, make the rules in their own homes. You can't control what goes on in other homes, but you can tell your children that you won't pay them for doing what they're expected to do, regardless of what their friends' parents do.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old woman who is being married soon for the first time. My fiancé is 38, and this will be his second marriage. His first lasted four years and ended in divorce before I knew him. (No children.) He never mentions his ex-wife's name, and has never told me what went wrong with their marriage.

His ex-wife lives in this city, and it would be very easy for me to contact her. A friend of mine has suggested that I call her, invite her to lunch and find out what went wrong with their marriage.

I am curious to know what his "ex" has to say, but on the other hand, I'm afraid of what I might hear.

Is ignorance really bliss, Abby?

BLISSFULLY IGNORANT

DEAR IG: Nobody said, "Ignorance is bliss"; the quote is: "If ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise."
If there is anything you want to know, ask your fiancé. One woman's leftovers is another woman's banquet. Skip the lunch.

DEAR ABBY: My son and his family live near me, and for the last eight months I have seen a male friend of theirs stop in for coffee every morning while my son is at work.

My daughter-in-law and I have a close relationship, so I told her that I thought it looked bad for the neighbors to see this fellow's car parked in front of her house every morning—even though I was sure he was only a good friend.

That was three months ago, and his car is still parked in front of their house every morning.

Should I tell her that I will not be available to babysit anymore unless this practice is stopped?

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: You've already told her that you thought it looked bad for the neighbors, and it didn't seem to faze her, so I doubt that threats to quit babysitting for her would produce results. Even if your daughter-in-law is innocent of any wrongdoing, for her own sake, she'd be wise to avoid the appearance of evil.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Prison Break A Gamble Fewer Inmates Try Today

SNOW GESE — Warm, spring-like days have made the beautiful snow geese more active earlier this year near Seattle, Wash. Caught by a photographer on a sunny day, they were rising and setting over the Skagit tides and flying on to eat in nearby fields. (AP Wirephoto)

By DAVID TOMLIN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — When Doye Queen broke away from armed guards at the state prison in Avery County Tuesday and ran for freedom, it was a gamble that a steadily declining number of inmates are willing to take these days.

Small wonder, considering what happened to Queen. He was shot dead when he ignored the guards' orders to stop, prison officials said.

The threat of deadly force to stop them is one of the priniple reasons inmates aren't trying as hard to escape as they once were, according to deputy prisons director W.L. Kautzky.

"Over the past three years, escapes have declined system-wide by 28 per cent," Kautzky said in a telephone interview.

That's a surprising figure, since during that same period overcrowding in the prison system has become critical and conditions behind the walls would seem to make escape more desirable than ever.

"When you analyze it a little bit, it doesn't work out that way," Kautzky said. "Our misdemeanor offenders have remained relatively stable at around 2,900, and those you can't use any force against."

"The growth has been in felony offenders," he added. "They're up to about 10,800, and those you can use armed force against."

Since an increasing proportion of inmates can be shot if they're caught trying to escape, the number of escapes is declining. But there are other reasons.

The start of the decline in escapas coincides roughly with the end of prison road gangs, according to K.B. Bailey, chief of prison security.

Two Injured In Auto Collision

Two persons were reported injured and an estimated $2,800 property damage caused when two cars collided about 12:30 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of U.S. 13 and N.C. 903.

Highway Patrolman Fred Davis identified the drivers involved as Donald Hayes Conley of 2309 East Fifth St. and Charlie Moore of Route 1, Bethel.

Trooper Davis, who estimated damage at $1,500 to the car driven by Conley and $1,300 to the Moore vehicle, charged Conley with failing to yield the right of way.

Both drivers were taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries received in the collision.

"We were working 7,000 or 8,000 of them on roads out in the bushes," Bailey said. It was easier then to disappear.

Kautzky said that even in minimum security institutions where the ratio of staff to inmates is lowest, the number of escapes is decreasing.

"What has happened is that we've spent a lot of money on increased custodial apparatus, for example the barbed tape. This stuff isn't like barbed wire you can just jump over. It's a very real inhibiting factor."

"We've also concentrated felons in a smaller number of units," he added. "And we've been very conservative in promoting people that are escape risks into less secure units."

Kautzky said guards had also been given new guidelines which spelled out clearly which guard posts were responsible for escapes in each area.

Extension Post Filled

SNOW HILL — Richard A. (Dick) Hayes, a member of the Wilson County Agricultural Extension staff, has been named Greene County Agricultural Extension chairman.

The announcement was made jointly by Dr. George Hyatt Jr., director of the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service at North Carolina State University, and William Jones, chairman of the Greene County Board of Commissioners.

Hayes succeeds Walter Johnson, who retired in December, Dr. W.G. Andrews, chairman of the Southeastern Extension District, presented Hayes to the commissioners for their approval. He said the new extension chairman will take over the duties March 21.

In Raleigh, Extension Director Hyatt called Hayes "an excellent choice for the position in Greene County." He added, "Mr. Hayes has a wealth of experience, he knows rural people and he knows how to conduct an effective extension education program."

Hayes, is a native mid-westerner and grew up in grain and livestock farming country. He attended Valparaiso University in Indiana, Arkansas State College and received his degree from Oklahoma State University. He has done graduate study at NCSU.

He served in the U.S. Army, worked as a herdsman on a beef ranch and was a territorial sales manager for a large feed company before joining the Wilson County extension staff in 1966.

Identity Is Supported

MUNICH, West Germany (AP) — There is new support for American Anna Manahan's 50-year-old claim of being the Grand Duchess Anastasia of Russia, youngest daughter of Czar Nicholas II.

Moritz Furtmayr, one of West Germany's best-known forensic identity experts, says he has positively identified Mrs. Manahan, 75, as the grand duchess by comparing a picture of her right ear with a picture of the right ear of Anastasia.

Furtmayr said he found 17 identical anatomical points and tissue formations between the two right ears. A dozen such points are normally accepted by West German courts to establish a person's identity.

Mrs. Manahan, the former Anna Anderson, lives in Charlottesville, Va. She has been carrying on a court battle in Germany for half a century to have herself legally recognized as Anastasia.

Girl Expelled After Incidents

YADKINVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Charlene Ward, 16, who accused a deputy sheriff of raping her, has been expelled from Forbush High School after being accused of slapping another student.

The other student was Becky Stanley, who testified in the deputy's trial that Miss Ward had set a boy student's hair on fire with a cigarette lighter and had smoked marijuana on a school bus.

The deputy in the rape case was acquitted.

Died From Too Much Drinking

MIAMI (AP) — A Massachusetts woman with the IQ of a genius died from drinking too much water — up to four gallons a day, a medical examiner says.

Friends said that Tina Christopherson, 28, of Cambridge, Mass., drank the water in an effort to "cleanse her body" of what she suspected was stomach cancer. The disease killed her mother almost four years ago.

Authorities said Thursday that Miss Christopherson died Feb. 18 from "water intoxication."

"As far as I know, it's the first case of its kind," Deputy Medical Examiner Dr. Ronald Wright said.

A hospital cardiologist said that water intoxication "was an incredibly slow and painful way to bring on death."

Rick Pfahming and Cheryl Collins, two of the young woman's friends in Miami, described Miss Christopherson as "looking pregnant from all that water."

Pfahming said he was fascinated with the amounts of water she drank.

She had been hospitalized earlier this month at Jackson Memorial Hospital and diagnosed as a chronic schizophrenic. Her friends took her back to the hospital Feb. 17.

However, the crisis intervention center at the hospital was filled and Miss Christopherson was given a prescription for tranquilizers and turned away, the hospital said.

Pfahming said the prescription was never filled because "no one had any mon-

Marina Given Strong Support

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A marina nearing completion on Bald Head Island got strong support at a hearing called Thursday by the Army Corp of Engineers.

Only one person spoke against the marina, while a dozen supported it. The permit for the marina was issued three years ago, and the project was expected to be finished in about four months.

Bald Head Island, near Southport, is being developed as a private resort. The corps is preparing a final draft of an environmental impact statement and called the hearing to give everyone a last chance have their say on the marina.

Finalist For Scholarship

RALEIGH — Jane F. Farley, high school senior at St. Mary's College, has been named a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Program.

As a finalist, Farley represents the top one percent of all high school seniors in the nation. She is a member of a 119-member high school senior class at St. Mary's and is among a select group in Wake County to achieve this outstanding academic recognition.

The National Merit Scholarship Program is the nation's largest privately funded competition for college undergraduate scholarships and is conducted each year to honor the nation's intellectually talented young people.

Jane Farley, of Greenville, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Farley. He is a partner in the accounting firm of Worsley, Farley, and Prescott.

The National Merit Finalist is a member of St. Mary's Honor Society.

Farley will now enter a competition for the 1,000 available Merit Scholarships.

Over Inch Of Rain Here

Greenville area weather yesterday was mild and wet, according to the Greenville Utilities Commission's weather station.

Temperatures for the 24 hour period ending at midnight Thursday ranged from a 48 degree low to a high of 68 degrees.

Rainfall for the same period, the Utilities Commission station recorded, was 1.08 inches.

The temperature at 8 a.m. today stood at 53 degrees, while the Tar River level at 8 o'clock was 4.7 feet.

Spokesmen for both the Greenville Street Maintenance division and the Department of Transportation maintenance division reported the heavy rains caused no problems of high water on roads in the county.

They said water rose on Dickinson Avenue under the Southern Railroad overpass, but noted that that water quickly ran off and posed no problem for traffic.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Tennessee Valley Authority board of directors has approved a $500,000 contract for replacement of tractor parts costing 83 per cent more than similar parts purchased three years ago.

Positive Approach Beneficial

The Greenville board of education took a positive step Monday night in endorsing the idea of providing school facilities for recreational and meeting needs of the citizens Greenville and Pitt County citizens.

The thought had been advanced by Gov. Hunt as state-wide policy and it certainly seems a logical use of gyms, auditoriums and meeting rooms of the schools when they are not needed for educational activities.

The key, of course, will be making certain that the community activities do not interfere with school activities. There will also have to be safeguards against undue damage to the school facilities in the non-school uses.

Safeguards can be provided, however, and we think a positive approach by school officials will be beneficial to the entire community.

Thoroughfare System Being Improved

There is so much that needs to be done if the Greenville area is to have an adequate road system.

Still we should not forget that some progress has been made in improving the area thoroughfare system.

A key link is nearing completion with the dual laning of Memorial Drive north from Third Street to beyond the N. C. 903 intersection.

This work, which involved a new bridge over the Tar River, will help handle the heavy traffic on this vital local highway link.

Construction Jobs Barred

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — Idle inmates and the need for more prison space just seem naturally to suggest a simple solution:

Let the prisoners build some buildings, many have suggested.

It isn't that simple, according to a legislative committee which has looked into the situation.

The final recommendation of the group is that while prison labor can be used to build small things like storage sheds or additions to existing buildings, they "should not be given the responsibility of accomplishing major construction projects."

Use Labor

That conclusion flies in the face of a number of suggestions from various sources—including other legislative study committees—that a good way to relieve overcrowding in the prisons would be to use inmate labor.

Senator Glenn Jernigan, D-Cumberland, and State Rep. Edward Holmes, D-Orange, co-chaired the committee on use of inmate labor in Department of Correction construction.

Two top officials of the Department of Corrections, Deputy Secretary Donald Torppa, and W. L. Kautzky, assistant director of prisons, supplied the information on which the conclusions are based.

Using prisoners would create "problems in logistics too great to resolve..." things like prisoners coming and going on their sentences before a project is finished; it would be "too hazardous" to use maximum custody prisoners; and a project would require both supervisors and guards at the scene.

The committee also noted federal restrictions which demand that no inmate labor be used on any project in which federal funds of any amount are used, a factor which all but rules out inmate labor on any major project.

The problems deepen as the subject is explored, the committee felt. Building projects wouldn't even provide good job training for prisoners because "there would be insufficient work... and there would probably not be much diversity..." to give training in the variety of tasks needed to become a skilled craftsman in building.

Lose Profit

Another factor was the "harmful impact on the construction industry in North Carolina." You couldn't mix private industry and inmate labor, so using prisoners would "obviously deprive the private sector of the profit to be made on these projects."

But prisoners could be well used in small projects, and particularly in building maintenance and renovations, especially painting, the legislators said, "to help reduce idleness and to improve the condition of our prisons."

During its investigation, the committee found that work release prisoners are not paying enough for their upkeep in prison while employed on outside jobs.

Generally, those on work release pay $3.45 per day for room and board, and 70 cents for transportation. The average daily cost of maintaining a prisoner is over $10 per day.

The committee recommended that the General Assembly investigate setting up a graduated formula based on the inmate's earnings so the state could recover the full amount if the salary were enough, without overburdening those with low salaries.

The committee's work did not produce specific legislative recommendations regarding inmate labor in construction since the conclusions track present policy.

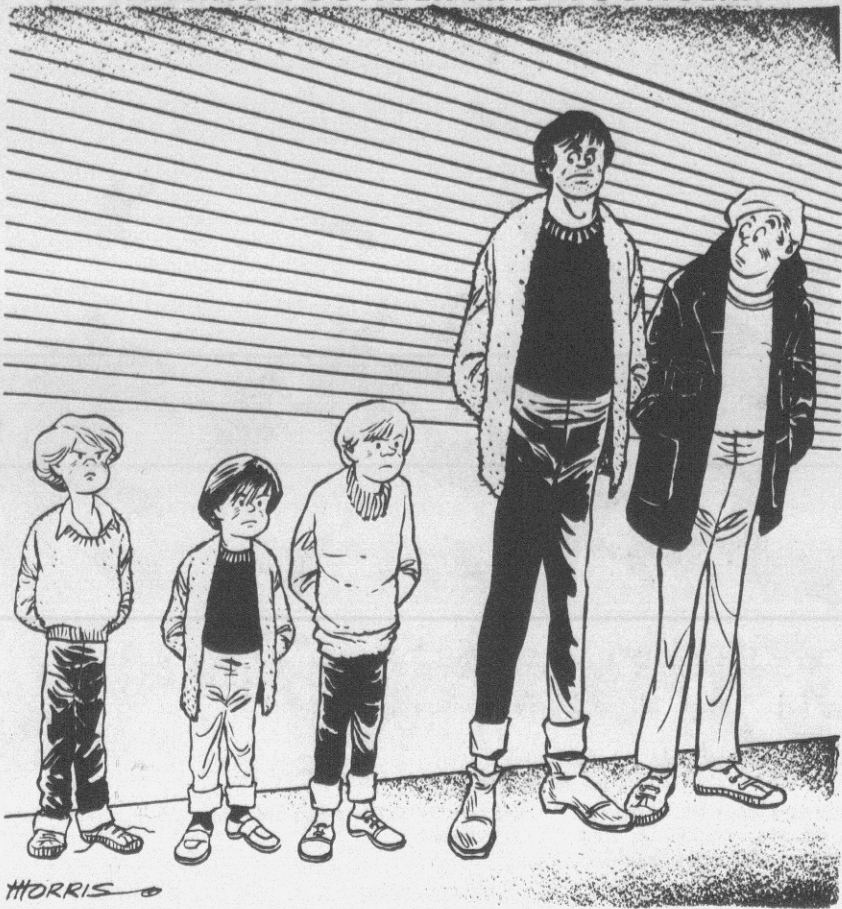

BILL NOBLITT

And then there is the problem of prisoners just not working well, or quickly. "It would be difficult to motivate an inmate work force to a level approaching that of the private sector" in terms of meeting deadlines, doing good work, and building secure projects.

Any savings are questionable from use of an inexpensive labor force since additional consultants would be required to design and oversee the work, and artisans hired to do jobs inmates can't.

By ART BUCHWALD

Singles Get The Word

WASHINGTON—President Carter last week said in a visit to one of his many bureaucracies: "Those of you who are living in sin, I hope you will get married."

It came as a stunner to many unmarried people in Washington who didn't realize that because they were sharing the same apartment their President thought they were living in sin.

Broombaker was the first to call. "I don't know what to do, Nora says we have to get married."

"That's ridiculous," I said. "How long have you been living together?"

"Three years," he replied. "Isn't she sort of pushing things?" I asked.

"That's what I told her. I said we had a good thing going and asked her why she wanted to lose it up."

"What did she say?" "She said she didn't care one way or the other. But Carter wanted it that way."

"I didn't even know she voted for Carter."

"She didn't. She voted for Ford, but she said now that Carter is her President she feels she owes him her full loyalty."

"Did you tell her that the President just suggested people stop living in sin? He didn't make it an Executive Order."

"I went further than that. I told her he made the suggestion to the Housing and Urban Development Department and he was only talking to them. Nora's in Rural Electrification and they're not covered by HUD."

"What did she say to that?" "She said the President meant all government employees should get married."

"It didn't strike me that way," I said. "The way I saw it on TV the President had probably been briefed beforehand that the HUD employees were a pretty wild crowd, and he just decided that he didn't want people involved with low-cost housing to be messing around."

"That's exactly what I told Nora," Broombaker said. "I told her that if the President was worried about sin in the Rural Electrification Administration he would have made a special trip over there to tell them."

"She didn't buy it?"

"Nope. She said it was our patriotic duty to get married. Every American should ask not what her country can do for her but what she can do for her country. She said that"

"if the President of the United States wants us to get hitched he must have a reason."

"What reason?" I yelled. "Did you ask her that?"

"Sure I did. I pointed out that three Presidents of this country had led us blindly into a war in Vietnam. Why should we believe a President who wants to lead us blindly into marriage?"

"Good for you! That must have really got to her."

"It did," Broombaker said. "She told me to get out of the apartment."

"For how long?"

"For good. She said it's impossible now for her to have the same relationship with me under Carter that she did under Nixon and Ford."

"You poor guy. Where are you going to go?"

"Well, I called up this girl I met at a party about a year ago. She said to give her a jingle if I ever got tired of Nora."

"That was good thinking," I said.

"She asked me what I had on my mind, and I told her I thought we might go out a couple of times and if it worked out we could keep house together."

"And?"

"She said that would be a sin."

"The President's only been here a month," I said, "and he's wrecked this town."

"I can't figure him out," Broombaker said. "He pardons draft dodgers and at the same time he insists that single people who are serving their country have to be punished."

"Our objective, very simply," said Batten, "is to learn why people in 1977 choose to spend their discretionary income in one way or another and, using that information, develop effective programs..."

Everyone has guesses about why individuals withdrew from the market or slowed their trading pace, but marketing men demand specifics, facts, such as those that helped Batten build J. C. Penney Co. into a giant merchandiser.

For the long-neglected individual investor, the survey can only mean good news, it being aimed at him and his gripes, and designed to be the basis of programs to

Time-Fixers Busy

By EDMUND PINTO
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Daylight Saving Time doesn't start until late April this year, but Congress is already trying to fiddle around with it again.

Six bills have been introduced in the House to alter the current system of six months of Daylight Saving Time. One would make it a permanent, year-round fixture, another would cut it to three months.

Benjamin Franklin is credited with first proposing Daylight Saving Time 190 years ago to save candles. It first started in this century to save energy during wartime.

Daylight time starts on April 24 and runs until Oct. 30 this year.

The extra hour of daylight in the evening — stolen from the early morning hours — has made Daylight Saving Time popular with many, but not with farmers who must wait an extra hour to begin their chores.

One bill being offered to Congress this year would start Daylight Saving Time on the last Sunday in February and extend it to the first Sunday after the first Monday in November. Its sponsor, Rep. Gerry E. Studds, D-Mass., says it would make Halloween, Oct. 31, safer for children trick or treating.

An aide to Studds pointed out it also would retain daylight time past election day — the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November — and might encourage people to vote in the evening.

In 1973, because of the Arab oil embargo, emergency legislation put daylight saving on a year-round basis to save energy. The system lasted through the last Sunday in October 1974.

Efforts to shorten or abolish daylight time are made periodically.

Rep. John J. Flynt Jr., D-Ga., wants to reduce daylight time to less than 5 months — from the last Sunday of April through Labor Day, the first Monday in September.

Rep. Keith G. Sebelius, R-Kan., proposes to have Daylight Saving Time start on Memorial Day and end on Labor

40 Years Ago Today

February 25, 1937

Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Haile Selassie and last of the Ethiopian chieftains to dispute Italian occupation, has been captured and executed, an official communication announced today.

He was killed yesterday immediately after an Italian scouting party seized him in the mountain region west of the lakes stretching south of Addis Ababa.

The fascist soldiers surprised Ras with a few followers. His death was interpreted in informed circles as marking the removal of the final vestige of organized resistance to Italy's colonization of Haile Selassie's former domain. Colonial authorities believed Ras' forces were the only sizeable opposition to Italian rule.

Chances for flue-cured tobacco production control through state compacts for 1937 have apparently faded completely, farm leaders said in Raleigh today.

Some control, however, will be possible if farmers cooperate fully in soil conservation, tobacco specialists said.

Public Forum

Letters submitted for Public Forum must be limited to 300 words.

To the editor:

A recent Louis Harris survey indicates that Americans are more fully aware than ever before that the energy crisis is real and will probably be with us for many years to come. This aspect of the survey seems believable. The unbelievable part is the section that states a "74-21 per cent majority would like to raise the price of gasoline by 50 cents a gallon," and 70-25 per cent in favor of 25 cents a gallon increases as conservation measures.

I personally do not need such incentives to save gas and I would loudly protest even the rumored four cents increase in federal taxes on gas, much less an incredible 50-cents-per-gallon increase. The 25 cents or 50 cents increase would wreak havoc on my present budget. Even the relatively small four cents per gallon increase could only be regarded as another drop in the bucket of inflation, and as such, is totally unwelcome. In addition, this small increase would be highly ineffective as a conservation measure.

I recently traded automobiles for one that is twice as efficient gas-wise. Though this smaller car is not as roomy and doesn't have that big V-8 feel, the ride is quite comparable in all respects and the slicing of my gas bills to half is quite worthwhile.

So before anybody slaps increases on the cost of gasoline to force us to use less, consider me and others like me who are honestly making voluntary and substantial cuts in our use of gas and oil. I don't want to be financially punished for all those gasbags that roar up impatiently behind me and my 55-mph-in-5th-gear gas saver. Sure, it'll be years and years before everybody is ready or able or before Detroit figures out how to get V-8 ride and feel with 30-plus miles per gallon averages to make such a change. But meanwhile, don't include me in the financial punishment of the majority. I'm disciplining myself already, Brother.

Chilean And Human Rights

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

SANTIAGO, CHILE. — If you are a dictator given to consulting only your own advisors, or your own conscience such as it is, on the question of whether there is an unnecessary suppression of human freedom, then you will simply decline to participate in public international discussions of the matter. By "unnecessary suppression" I mean unnecessary to the realization of your objective, namely political supremacy. Francisco Franco, I would be inclined to say, believed in just as much repression as was necessary to ensure his continued domination of political authority. At the other end is such a regime as Mao Tse-tung's, which is truly totalitarian.

It, in China (or in Russia) there were a machine that enabled the state to penetrate to the bowels of human thought, it would be used in China to ascertain whether there lurked there anything short of total enthusiasm for the state and its policies. Maoism demands of its subjects what the Catholic Church expects of its communicants, namely internal assent. It is of course desirable that the Catholic Church has no sanctions against those who deny it that assent, at least not in this world.

Augusto Pinochet of Chile is in the category of those rulers who are anxious to persuade the word that they do not use unnecessary repression. Now fine-tuning repression is a distinctly unperfected art. Argentina, in which chaos, though diminishing, can be said yet to prevail, is a state in which the burden of nicely calibrating repression is unrealistic. But in Chile there is, so far as the visitor is able to judge, and based on what he reads in widely different sources, public order. Moreover, the overwhelming majority of the people accept the government of General Pinochet, most of them, if we believe a Gallup opinion poll, gladly — after the tumult of Allende; others resentfully, for lack of an opportunity to elect other governments, other policies.

Under the circumstances,

it becomes the responsibility of the Pinochet Government to satisfy inquirers that the repression is not gratuitous: that no sanctions are visited against those who, while disagreeing with the government, do not seek to bring it down by force or violence; nor even, since political opposition is forbidden, by political agitation. If General Pinochet had looked the world in the face and said, as Mao and the others say: "I do not care what you think of my government. This is my country. Leave us alone" — then he would not be asked to submit to interrogation. But having averred the innocence of his regime of the charges, the question arises how to establish it.

"I have exactly one political prisoner," he said. "And I'm not going to give him up, ever, unless they meet my terms." His terms? The release by Fidel Castro of Hubert Matos, who has been 15 years in jail for the offense of turning against Castro after he saw what Castro was doing to Cuba. "I suspect I know why it has been over two months since Castro received my offer which he has not acknowledged: they are seeing if they can put Matos back into physical shape to risk his being seen by the outside world. Jorge Montes needs no fattening up."

All other prisoners are held, he advises, and other sources tend to corroborate, for the violation of laws some of which were passed by Allende's own parliament. However, as the American ambassador David Popper points out, if you are arrested for possession of a gun which you acquired during the hostilities in September 1973, which really is your offense, illegal possession? or possession with intent to use it for Allende?

And what about the ten trade unionists, alleged by Amnesty International to have been arrested in mid-December? The Pinochet Government says: Not so. Amnesty is at the mercy of informants many of whom seek to discredit the government by any means. Still, how does one go about establishing whether: Waldo Pizarro, leader of the Textile Workers Federation of Chile, is in jail, and if so, why? Chile has promulgated highly satisfying laws stipulating procedures to be followed. How can the overnight visitor establish the truth in the case of the ten trade union leaders?

Only a free press can do the job adequately. One reads in El Mercurio, detailed accounts of press conferences given abroad by Corvalan, the top Communist, recently exchanged for the Russian

Strength For Today

SAVIOR OR GREAT MAN?

A church member was once asked what he believed about Jesus Christ. He replied, "I believe that Jesus was the best and wisest person who ever lived. But I believe in him only as a man. His words help me, like those of Emerson, Carlyle, or Shakespeare."

Sentiments of this sort sound well, but are very superficial. Does anyone seek out Emerson, Carlyle, or Shakespeare when death and trouble descends upon the home? Does anyone for a moment claim that these men, with all their wisdom, are able to set up a way of life which humanity may follow with full assurance that the path will lead to a transformed social order? Did devotion to any or all of these men build cathedrals, colleges, or hospitals?

No one would deny that the men mentioned above are truly great. But anyone who has thoughtfully read the gospels, and has studied history, and has looked into his or her own heart, would never put these men on the same level as Jesus.

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) —

"We're trying to find out why we lost our customers," said Stan West, vice president for research at the New York Stock Exchange. The customers have indeed gone, 5.5 million or more since 1970.

If the exchange is to get them back, for itself and the corporations who list their shares with it, a market research program must be undertaken. And that is what the exchange is doing, through 2,500 personal interviews.

"Most companies do this pretty regularly," said West. "But for the past half-dozen years we have been preoccupied with a number of very, very important problems." Now, he said, "We are more like other businesses."

That is, the exchange is determined through a major survey — the first survey of investor attitudes since 1959 — to find its market and then determine how to serve it. "It will guide programs for years to come," said West.

The survey also signals a change in style, from the almost total concern with regulatory problems that characterized the regime of James Needham, to that of William Batten, a marketing man and chairman since May.

Our objective, very simply," said Batten, "is to learn why people in 1977 choose to spend their discretionary income in one way or another and, using that information, develop effective programs..."

Everyone has guesses about why individuals withdrew from the market or slowed their trading pace, but marketing men demand specifics, facts, such as those that helped Batten build J. C. Penney Co. into a giant merchandiser.

For the long-neglected individual investor, the survey can only mean good news, it being aimed at him and his gripes, and designed to be the basis of programs to make him feel more welcome.

In a discussion prior to the announcement, West, sound researcher that he is, declined to give any personal views on why investors have left, and why the average age of those remaining has risen to 53 from 48.

"There are only only hypotheses," he maintained. "I could not say with certainty if the hypotheses are valid or that the problems can be reversed."

Batten seems convinced that the return of the individual will be hastened, once the survey results are in and a program of incentives or legislative efforts is begun.

Key Debates Loom Next Week

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Debates on two of the major issues facing the 1977 General Assembly—Equal Rights Amendment and the death penalty—loom next week as the result of committee action on the two issues.

Senate debate on ERA is expected to come Tuesday following the action of the Senate Constitutional Amendment Committee Thursday in giving it a without prejudice report. This meant the committee was not taking a stand either for or against the bill.

Opponents of the measure are expected to attempt to scuttle it by offering an amendment calling for submitting the question of ratifying ERA to a statewide vote.

DEATH PENALTY

A showdown vote on the death penalty issue in the House Wednesday may be avoided by a motion to return to committee a bill by Rep. Parks Helms, D-Mecklenburg, that would provide life imprisonment for first degree murder and first degree rape with no possibility of release on parole for at least 25 years. The bill was unanimously approved by the House Judiciary I Committee Thursday.

Rep. J. Ed Davenport, D-Nash, chairman of the House Judiciary II Committee which is considering bills to restore the death penalty for murder and rape, said he would ask the House to return the bill to the committee when it comes up Wednesday. He said he thought all the bills dealing with the issue should be considered at one time.

MINIMUM WAGE

State Labor Commissioner John Brooks indicated approval of a measure to boost the state's minimum hourly wage from $2 to $2.30 at a meeting of the Senate Committee on Manufacturing, Labor and Commerce.

Brooks said he felt the state's minimum wage should follow the federal minimum which is already $2.30. He said about 35,000 North Carolina workers would be covered by the state minimum wage.

LOBBYISTS

A bill introduced by Sen. McNeill Smith, D-Guilford, would require lobbyists to give quarterly financial reports instead of an annual report after the legislature has adjourned as the present law requires.

"This is unfortunate because the activities of lobbyists, especially during sessions of the General Assembly, should be known to the public," Smith said.

LEFT TURNS ON RED

Rep. Robert Jones, D-Rutherford sponsored a bill that would allow motorists to make left turns on red lights on one-way streets which intersect other one-way streets unless such a turn was prohibited by a sign. Motorists could make such turns after coming to a stop. They would have to yield the right-of-way to pedestrians and other traffic.

New Father, 74, Says This Is The Last One

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — O.P. Simpson, 74, has decided not to father any more children. Not that he couldn't, he says, just that he shouldn't.

"This is the last one," the retired construction worker pledged Thursday as he passed out cigars to celebrate the birth of his 15th child, an eight-pound, five-ounce daughter.

Tyanne Marie Simpson was born Feb. 16, the third child in Simpson's four-year marriage to his third wife, Kathleen, 40.

Simpson said that when they married, they didn't expect any children because a doctor told them it was impossible. "We believed him," Simpson recalled. "Three times we believed him."

Propagation runs in his family. Simpson said he is one of 25 children born to the same parents — an Irishman and a Cherokee Indian.

He has given his offspring Indian names. Tyanne has a 4-year-old sister named Thonie and a 2-year-old brother named Tonto.

"They come from good stock," boasted Simpson. He said his marriage to Kathleen capped a 19-year courtship — which lasted right through her previous marriage.

"I spotted this pretty young blonde when I crashed the Mansfield Senior High School prom in 1954," he said. "She spurned me, telling me she already had an escort."

"When she married, I sat in the car across the street from the church, praying she'd change her mind," he said. "I pined away next door to their honeymoon hotel. And when she finally got divorced, I was the first one in line."

Two weeks after her divorce, Kathleen succumbed to his advances and they were married. Simpson was widowed once and divorced once. He said he corresponds with his 12 children from those marriages, who have scattered as far away as Germany, Korea and Alaska.

The Democratic Party's donkey and the Republican Party's elephant were both created by political cartoonist Thomas Nast.

Police estimated damage at $275 to the Coggins car and $375 to the Hemby auto. Hemby was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety. Katherine Galloway Yopp of 800 Heath St. was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 2:05 p.m. mishap on Washington Street, 50 feet North of the Ninth Street intersection.

Police said the Yopp car collided with an auto operated by Mamie Edwards Leary of Route 1, Vanceboro, causing an estimated $400 damage to the Leary car. No damage resulted to the Yopp auto, according to officers.

Mobile Home Is Lost To Flames

A mobile home at the Red Barn Trailer Park at 707 West Greenville Boulevard was destroyed by fire this morning.

Fire Department units were called to the blaze at 7:18 a.m. and officers reported the trailer was engulfed in flames when they arrived at the scene.

Investigators said the fire apparently started from the heating plant in the trailer home.

Greenville Police reported damage to the trailer at $8,000.

Two Wrecks On Thursday

An estimated $1,050 property damage resulted from two collisions investigated here yesterday by Greenville Police.

Investigators reported heaviest damage resulted from a 5 p.m. collision at the intersection of Third Street and Roundtree Drive involving cars driven by Nathan Coggins of 502A Darden Dr. and Roy Hemby of 1100 West Fifth St.

Police estimated damage at $275 to the Coggins car and $375 to the Hemby auto. Hemby was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety.

Katherine Galloway Yopp of 800 Heath St. was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 2:05 p.m. mishap on Washington Street, 50 feet North of the Ninth Street intersection.

Minority Children Form The Majority In Schools Of LA

By BILL GARDNER
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Officials of the nation's second largest public school district have a problem: minority children form the majority. There aren't enough white pupils to spread around to comply with a court-ordered school integration plan.

Latest figures show the Los Angeles Unified School District, with 600,000 students, has 38 per cent Spanish-surnamed students, 23 per cent black, 5 per cent Asian and 33 per cent white.

The percentage of blacks and Asians has remained about constant over the past 10 years, but Spanish surnames have jumped from 19 per cent in 1967 while whites have dropped from 55 per cent. Only two years ago it was 40 per cent white and 30 per cent Spanish-surnamed.

Thousands of students in heavy minority areas will not be able to take part in the school district's proposed integration plan because there aren't enough whites to go around, officials say.

A district spokesman noted that "whites will be spread pretty thin" in the program because some schools are allowed to be 75 per cent white when the district is just 33 per cent white.

At a public hearing Thursday, the $30 million plan was attacked as both too little integration and too much integration. Only one of 25 speakers favored the proposal.

The plan requires busing of fourth, fifth and sixth graders to special learning centers where they would mix with other races for a nine-week period each year.

The plan would be phased in over three years beginning this September. It envisions a similar approach for junior and senior high schools at a later time. Students in grades one, two and three would be bused for racial mixing one day a month.

About 175 of the district's 600 schools are already integrated and would not be involved in the plan.

Students from the predominantly white San Fernando Valley, 10 miles north of downtown Los Angeles, would not be bused to the inner city but only as far as West Los Angeles or to other parts of the valley. About half the students in some valley schools played hooky Feb. 18 as part of a boycott to protest any forced busing.

Lenten Season A Time Of Penitence

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A puzzled patient asked his psychiatrist, "If there is no such thing as guilt, then why do I feel so miserable?"
In the Judeo-Christian view, human beings chronically fall short of their best potentialities, and to honestly deal with the fact, should admit it, regret it, ask amends and seek to do better.

That's the keynote of Christianity — always another chance.

It's also what Lent is about, a 40-day season of penitence, meditation and sensitizing of conscience which began Wednesday — called "Ash Wednesday."
"Remember man, that thou art dust, and to dust thou shalt return," the minister says as he imposes ashes in the sign of a cross on the foreheads of worshippers in Roman Catholic, Episcopal and some Lutheran churches.

It symbolizes that human beings are sinners, that they do foul up to varying degrees, that they are guilty, that they need to acknowledge it and be sorry for it to accept a loving God's forgiveness for it.
This is a continually restorative process of Christianity, but it gets extra emphasis during Lent, the period leading to Easter, and it calls for special disciplines for reconditioning the psyche.

"We all need times of quiet, penitence and reflection as a restorative from the distractions of the world," says the Rev. Frederick Rapp of St. Stephen's church, Port Washington, N.Y. "It answers deep needs of the human spirit."
But he emphasizes that the

Codes Of Conduct For Congress Nearing Vote

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposed new codes of conduct for members of Congress are headed for final action, possibly next week, in the House and Senate.

The two versions of the proposed codes are similar in many respects, but they differ sharply in provisions allowing lawmakers to earn outside income.

force some members to choose between established and lucrative law practices or family businesses and serving in Congress. Others said a distinction in the bill that limited "earned" income from such activities but put no ceiling on "unearned" income from investments or property, was discriminatory and possibly unconstitutional.

The House Rules Committee worked out a compromise on outside income on Thursday, at least temporarily defusing a threat to the House code. At the same time, a special Senate committee completed a month's work on its own version of a code.

The Senate panel gave its chairman, Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., a standing ovation for beating the March 1 deadline for completion of its work.

Leaders of both chambers have staked a share of their prestige on getting comprehensive and tougher ethics codes adopted this year, pointedly declaring the effort necessary in view of Congress' acceptance of a 29 per cent pay increase for itself.

Cleaver Credits Refund Faith

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Former Black Panther and militant Marxist Eldridge Cleaver told a North Carolina State University audience Thursday night that Jesus Christ gave him the courage to end his exile and turn himself in.

Cleaver faces attempted murder and assault charges in connection with a Panther shootout with police in Oakland, Calif., in 1968.

He ended his exile in 1975 because he missed the United States and had become disillusioned with Communism and the Third World countries and had become a "born-again Christian."

Alone

When we are young we have many carefree hours. We do not fully appreciate it at that time... but looking back we realize that today's generation has even more time on its hands. Beautiful time, yes! But we must help them fill it with a sense of responsibility and leadership.

Of course, our schools and communities offer every opportunity for healthy growth of minds and bodies.

But what about their spiritual development? Youth rightfully looks to us, who are no longer young, for guidance.

No, we cannot let them look for God alone. We must show them the way to Sunday School and the Church... where they can find Him. Then the years to come will be filled with spiritual strength and faith to live according to His will.

Sweden is one of the most active countries in promoting bridge for young players. At many schools, bridge is a part of the curriculum. Perhaps that explains why Sweden has constantly been a strong challenger in major bridge events, and it seems as if every year they have a new crop of youngsters ready to carry their banner into international competition. The young Swedish pair, Axelsson and Neilsen, have impressed pundits with sterling performances in major European championships. Their latest success was to finish second in the European Pairs, behind Chemla-Lebel of France and ahead of many distinguished internationalists. Study Axelsson's technique on this hand from that event.

If West remained silent throughout the auction, most declarers at a spade slam relied on a diamond finesse and ended up down one. At most tables, however, West backed into the bidding at his second turn with a take-out double. That knowledge should have been enough to steer an expert declarer to the winning line. However, only two of the finalists succeeded in bringing home twelve tricks. One was Axelsson.

Axelsson decided that, for his takeout double, West was likely to have four hearts and the ace-queen of diamonds. Therefore, he won the first trick in his hand and ruffed a club in dummy. He returned to his hand with the king of trumps and ruffed a club with the queen of trumps. The ten of trumps was overtaken with the ace and a diamond was discarded on the ace of clubs.

Two more trumps reduced all hands to five cards. West came down to three hearts and the ace-queen of diamonds. Dummy also held three hearts and two diamonds. When declarer played his last trump West, forced to hold three hearts, had to let go of his queen of diamonds. It was now a simple matter to discard a heart from the board and drive out the ace of diamonds. As a result, declarer took the last three tricks with the king-queen of hearts and king of diamonds to bring home an excellently played slam.

Have you been running into double trouble? Let Charles Goren help you find your way through the maze of DOUBLES for penalties and for takeout. GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you can accomplish a great deal if you make sure you use your best possible judgment and show others that you are also interested in them. Take time out to get out from under some confusion; this is now possible.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you have long talks with others you get good suggestions and can also be helpful to them for mutual betterment. Make sure reports are accurate. Take some time for social fun.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study financial papers so that you know better how to trend your own money dealings. Show that you are sensible in all that you do today. Don't take risks of any kind in the evening.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get all of your personal accounts and affairs in better order during the day and handle other duties well, too. Take time for short social visits. Evening should be spent at home quietly.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Have private talks with those who can assist you to improve conditions that are annoying to you. Then schedule your activities for the future. Find right answer to emotional problem during the day. Take it easy later.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A good day to think over how to improve your public image and career matters. Plan how to best settle that credit affair and then do so. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have some fine ideas for the future so put them through. You have a fine prophetic insight that should be followed for good results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Ideal day to get right into all those tasks you have set up and get them behind you. Know what it is that co-workers desire of you and try to please them. Make evening a happy one.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get those duties done early that require your personal attention and look into every angle of such. Look about for the clothing that will improve your appearance. Avoid one who argues.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can have a delightful time if you apply some of that artistic sense you possess to your entertainment. Show true affection for mate.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Give much attention to your home and try to please kin more. Evening is fine for home entertainment of good friends. Make arrangements early in the day so that all goes smoothly later.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be full of ideas and should have a fine education that will help to put them across in an efficient and foolproof way. Otherwise there will not be much success in this chart. Sports and religion are a must here.

Flim-Flam Took It All

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — An elderly Raleigh woman lost $9,000 in savings and a diamond ring valued at $4,000 to a pair of fast-talking con artists who lured her with promises of easy money.

Mrs. Elizabeth Justice Grimes told police a woman approached her at a shopping center and said she had found an envelop full of money in the parking lot and didn't know what to do with it.

She then approached another woman, apparently a confederate, with the same story. After a brief trip to "a lawyer," the woman told Mrs. Grimes and the confederate that they could all split the $42,000 she had found if they would withdraw money from their bank accounts, supposedly to get serial number from the bills.

Mrs. Grimes said after she had handed over her savings and the confederate had appeared to give some money of her own, the two women disappeared, promising to meet her in a few minutes. They never returned.

The Chubby Cubby Award for attendance was won by Den One Webelos while Den Five and Den Three won first place citations for decorations and Dens One and Two placed second.

Guests for the banquet were The Rev. and Mrs. John Farmer, representing the charter organization (Jarvis Memorial), and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Patterson, committee chairman.

A leadership meeting for program planning will be held on March 2, it was announced, and the next Pack meeting will be on March 22.

Hunt Makes Second Team All-Southern

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Ron Carter of defending champion Virginia Military, one of four underclassmen chosen last year, was the only repeater on another youth-dominated All-Southern Conference basketball team named today.

For the second year in a row, the league's coaches and members of the Southern Conference Media Association selected just one senior on the all-conference team. This year's only senior is a second player from VMI, Will Bynum.

Carter, a junior, and Bynum are joined in the front court by Furman's sensational freshman, Jonathan Moore. Named in the back court were junior Bruce Grimm of Furman and sophomore John Gerdy of Davidson, the conference's two top scorers.

Bumped off last year's team were junior John Lowenhaupt of William and Mary and sophomore Jim Strickland of Furman. The 1976-77 player of the year, Rod McKeever of The Citadel, dropped out of school before completing his junior year.

Furman has won 14 of 19 starts since the 6-foot-2 Grimm, who played for the Paladins as a freshman but then transferred to Providence before coming back to Furman, became eligible. Grimm has scored 458 points in 19 games for a 24.1-point average.

The 6-foot-4 Gerdy has been one of the few bright spots for Davidson, scoring 594 points in 26 games for a 22.9 average. He ranks fourth in free throw accuracy, a department led by Grimm.

Carter and Bynum have been the mainstays of a VMI team that has a 23-3 record, won 21 games in a row over one stretch and will be top-seeded in the league's championship tournament.

The 6-foot-4 Carter has scored 536 points in 26 games for a 20.6 average, third best in the conference, is fifth in field goal accuracy and eighth in rebounding with an average of seven per game.

Bynum, at 6-6 the second tallest player on the team, is second in the conference in field goal accuracy and fifth in scoring with an 18.4 average on 460 points in 25 games.

The 6-foot-8 Moore has been the talk of the league. He leads the conference in rebounding with an average of 11 per game and is fourth in scoring with a 20.5 average on 532 points in 26 games.

Named to the second team were Lowenhaupt, Strickland and senior Larry Hunt of East Carolina in the front court and sophomore Riek Swing of The Citadel in the back court.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The 1977 All-Southern Conference basketball team: Front court — Ron Carter, VMI, 6-4, 170; Junior, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Jonathan Moore, Furman, 6-8, 205; Freshman, Charleston, S. C.; Will Bynum, VMI, 6-6, 180; Senior, Sumter, S. C. Back court — John Gerdy, Davidson, 6-4, 180; Sophomore, Little Falls, N. J.; Bruce Grimm, Furman, 6-2, 185; Junior, Plymouth, Ind.

Lady Pirates Nip Greensboro

RALEIGH — East Carolina University's women slipped past UNC-Greensboro last night, 73-71, to gain the semifinals of the North Carolina AIAW State Tournament.

Gale Kerbaugh drove for the final basket in the closing seconds of the game to provide the Lady Pirates with the winning margin after they had fought back from as much as 13 points down midway through the second half.

The win propels the Lady Pirates into tonight's 7 p.m. game against top-ranked N.C. State, loser of only one game this year. In the other game, North Carolina faces Appalachian State.

East Carolina fell behind in the first half of the game, 35-29, and with 11:11 left, they were down by 59-46 after Kim Morgan hit for the Spartans.

But during the next eight minutes, Regina Lacy hit six points to help spark the Lady Pirates to a comeback that finally tied it at 65-65 with 2:42 left. The tying basket came on a shot by Sheila Bowe.

Debbie Tritt hit two free throws with 2:30 left to give the Pirates a 67-65 lead, their first since midway through the first half. Greensboro twice tied it up after that before Debbie Freeman hit two free throws with 48 seconds left for a 71-69 lead.

Jan Gillean retied it on two free throws, and with six seconds left, Kerbaugh started her drive to the basket, hitting with just one second showing. Miss Kerbaugh led East Carolina with 23 points, while Freeman had 18, and Tritt and Bowe each had 11. Freeman led the rebounding with 13, while Bowe had 12. Overall, East Carolina outbounded the Spartans, 46-32.

Anna Parker led Greensboro with 22 points, while Kim Morgan and Kathy Strange each had 18.

UNC-Greensboro: Morgan 18, Parker 22, Strane 18, Gold 2, Johnson 5, Gillean 2, Hobbs 4, Millar, Lajoie.

The 1976-77 basketball season has come down to one game, and the hopes of a couple of more ride on the outcome of it.

That game will be played in Williamsburg's William & Mary Hall, as the Pirates of East Carolina take on W&M's Indians at 8 p.m. Saturday in a Southern Conference Tournament first round game.

The winner will join regular season winner VMI along with the winners of two other preliminary games in Roanoke on Tuesday for the final two rounds of play. The loser will pack up its gear for the season.

"We are looking for a very tough basketball game," Coach Dave Patton said. "William & Mary is a very experienced team and a very smart one. In fact, their experience may be the biggest difference between the two teams."

William & Mary won twice against the Pirates during the regular season. In Williamsburg, they took a 79-54 win, but later just got out of Minges Coliseum with a 70-66 win. That one went right down to the wire, with a technical foul late in the contest one of the key calls.

"Their beating us twice should have no effect on the game," Patton said. "In fact, it could prove a handicap for them. Beating a team three times in one season is difficult anyway."

Patton added that if his Pirates were a little older group of players, the two-game deficit to the Indians might make for problems. "But our young kids just want to play. They are happy that they have another game to play, and come Saturday night, they'll be doubly happy if they know they can play another game."

Patton said that the Pirates cannot afford to have any letdown against the Indians. They must play the entire 40 minutes. "I hoped that our game with Mercer would get over without any problems, but we did have a letdown in the second half. But then, we've been working all week to get ready for William & Mary. We really looked past Mercer."

"And all our work has been on a positive note. We've had no negative thoughts or actions."

However, there is one problem that the Pirates must overcome that no other Southern Conference team has to worry about—exams. The Bucs are in examinations this week, and the late hours caused by studying and practicing tend to bother the team as it has in the past.

To win, the Pirates feel they must stop the scoring of John

Lowenhaupt. "He's eaten us alive the past three years," Patton said. "We've got to stop him, and we've got to keep Matt Courage off the boards."

Lowenhaupt is the leading scorer for the Indians, hitting 17.3 points a game. Courage is scoring 15.1 points per game, and pulling down 8.8 rebounds a game.

Overall, William & Mary is averaging 72.5 points a game, as compared to 66.9 for the Bucs. The Indians are giving up 66.1, best in the league, while the Pirates are allowing 71.8.

The two teams are the top rebounders in the league, with the Indians getting 53.8 per cent of the loose balls, and the Bucs grabbing 52.0.

William & Mary goes into the game with a 16-13 record, while the Pirates are 9-17.

Larry Hunt leads the Pirates with a 12.6 average, while Jim Ramsey is getting 11.0. Herb Gray is next at 10.7.

"We've got to maintain our poise," Patton said. "We lost it the first time we were up there this year, and we've just got to guard against this."

"Our kids were happy with the win over Mercer. It just reenergized their confidence. They've got confidence in themselves, but it's been under a lid for the last few weeks. I just hope that the win will spring it loose. They sure want to get to Roanoke."

East Carolina University is now in search of a new head basketball coach.

But before one is hired, he's probably going to have to have the answers to some questions.

The Pirate basketball program needs more money, that is for sure. It needs the other full-time assistant coach allowed by the NCAA. For a few years, back when Tom Quinn was head coach, he had two assistants, but when he left, it dropped back to one, using graduate assistants to fill the vacancy.

The new coach will probably want to be assured that there will be more emphasis placed on the sport. Currently football is riding the crest. This was shown vividly by the new contract awarded Coach Pat Dye earlier this week.

Naturally, basketball must not cut into the football program. It is in the program. East Carolina's program is on the verge of national attention, and this is good for the school. We want football to go onward and upward. But we also want a good basketball program too.

Support for the program must come in several ways. There must be a commitment from the administration to propel the program forward as quickly as humanly possible. We think this will be done. East Carolina wants a quality basketball program just as much as it wants a quality football program.

The nucleus of a good team is already there. We like to compare VMI's current team to the Pirate team, and hope that the comparison will follow in the next three years.

The current group of seniors, who dominate VMI's team were only 6-18 when they were freshmen, much like this year's Pirates. The next year, they went to 12-12, and the following season, they won the Southern Conference championship. This year, they are favored to do so again. But it took experience to do it.

But support is not only just money. The people of this area must support the team in more than just their dollar contributions. They need to come to the games.

First, people must realize that East Carolina is not now on a level with the Atlantic Coast Conference teams, and must stop trying to compare them to these teams. Hopefully, the time will come when the Pirates will reach that level.

The student body should support the team better with its presence, too.

Overall, a basketball atmosphere needs to be developed in the city and the area. A promotional era must be launched to bring more fans into Minges.

If that occurs, then the Pirates can be successful.

As Dave Patton said, these freshmen and sophomores can become a good team, with the proper support. But it is very difficult for a player, regardless of his abilities, to come into Minges Coliseum and see only a few hundred people there to watch.

Someone pointed out the other day that a potential fan was approached, be it a student or a non-student is unimportant. "What's the problem with East Carolina basketball?" he was asked. "Is it ignorance or apathy?"

The "fan" replied, "I don't know, and I don't give a damn."

Unfortunately, that may be 90 per cent of the problem.

William & Mary Downs Grapplers

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — East Carolina University's wrestling team lost one of its infrequent Southern Conference matches last night, as William & Mary eased past the Bucs, 19-17.

East Carolina lost the first two matches by superior decisions to fall down by ten points. They outscored the Indians, 17-9 the rest of the way, but it wasn't enough.

Overall, William & Mary won five weights, as did the Pirates. The Bucs won two of their matches on major decisions, but couldn't offset the superior wins of the Indians.

Paul Osman stretched his unbeaten string to 21 in a row with a win over Jim Hicks, the defending conference champ at 134. It was Osman's first win ever over Hicks.

East Carolina is now 8-4 overall and 1-1 in the league. The Pirates will host the Southern Conference Tournament next Friday and Saturday in Minges Coliseum.

Aycock In 10th Win

CARY — E.B. Aycock Junior High School completed its 1977 wrestling season yesterday with a 28-15 victory over tough West Cary. The victory left the Jaguars with a 10-0 record for the year.

West Cary took the opening lead with a forfeit in the first weight class, but Aycock finally took the lead for good at the 122-pound level, pulling away after that. A decision and a pin in the final two classes sewed it up for the Jaguars.

Kevin Richards, David Woods, William Barrett, Mark Shank, Charles Gunther and Ron Butler finished the year unbeaten, while Don McGlohon and Alfred O'Neal had only one loss on their records.

Summary:
91: John Diebolt (WC) won by forfeit.
101: Kevin Richards (A) decided Jeff McCrackin, 7-0.
109: Wayne Joyner (A) decided Ravidy Duggar, 4-0.

Conley Advances, A-G Girls Ousted

Reflector Sports Writer
WILLIAMSTON — D. H. Conley's Al Tyson tapped in his own missed shot at the buzzer last night to give the Vikings a 48-46 win over Tarboro also nicknamed the Vikings, in the final round game of the District 3-A basketball tournament.

The win propels Conley into tonight's semi-final game against North Pitt. In last night's first game, Ayden-Grifton's girls dropped a 43-41 decision to Plymouth and were eliminated from the tournament.

"It was a hard one, but we'll take it," Conley coach Shelly Marsh said after the game. Conley was playing for the first time without regulars Bernard Hawkins and Johnny Streeter, who were dropped from the team after being charged with flagrant fouls in last week's Eastern Carolina Conference tournament.

The game was close most of the second half, although Conley moved out to a 11-point lead in the first half. Tarboro whittled away at the margin in the third quarter and actually went ahead in that period.

The lead changed hands seven times in the final frame with Shawn Little's shot from the right corner tying the contest at 46 with 1:31 remaining.

Tarboro then went into a stall on its ensuing possession, but Conley's Ken Dawson tied up Lonnie Everette in a scramble for a loose ball and won the jump with 0:56 showing on the clock.

Conley then ran the clock down to nine seconds before calling time out. Putting the ball back in play, Conley got it inside to Tyson, who shot with just seconds left. The ball bounced out, but Tyson tapped it back in at the buzzer.

Conley jumped out to an early 6-0 lead in the first quarter on shots by Tyson, Phillips and Daryl Thompson. They built that margin to nine points by the end of the quarter as Tarboro had trouble hitting, connecting on four of 14 shots from the field. Phillips scored from underneath with four seconds left in the period to give Conley a 17-8 lead going into the second quarter.

Neither team shot well in the second period, with Conley hitting two of 12 and Tarboro three of 15. Conley did get a pair of free throws from Thompson and Dawson, along with a follow shot Dawson, to take a 23-12 lead with 6:15 left in the half.

Thompson hit a 17-footer from inside the key just as the half ended to put Conley ahead, 26-18 at intermission.

Dawson scored from underneath to stretch the Conley lead to 10, but later in the period Tim Crisp hit a layout to pull Tarboro to within three, 29-26.

Tarboro took the lead for the first time three minutes later and a shot from the lane by Haywood Evans gave the second-place finishers from the Northeastern Conference a 36-33 edge with 2:26 left in the third before Dawson and Little both scored to give Conley the lead going into the final period.

The lead alternated throughout the final period before Tyson's tap put Conley in front at the final horn.

Marsh said he thought his team did a good job on the boards, although "our ball-handling was shaky. But, with three sophomores in the lineup (Phillips, Little and Thompson), I guess it was pretty good."

The Conley team outshot Tarboro, 40.8 per cent to 35.6 and held a 46-29 rebounding average — one of the big differences in the game.

Ken Dawson paced the Conley scoring with 12 points and Tyson had 10. Johnny Johnson led the Tarboro attack with 16 while Evans had 14.

"I thought Ken Dawson did a real good job for us," Marsh said. "And, no more playing time than Phillips had, I thought he did a real good job."

As far as the rest of the tournament is concerned, Marsh said, "We just want to play as long as we can."

In last night's first game, Plymouth scored seven straight points in just over two minutes in the fourth quarter to take a six-point lead which Ayden-Grifton was unable to overcome.

The Chargerettes dropped behind by six in the first quarter, but Vertha Dixon rallied them to a tie at 10 by the end of the period.

In the second quarter, Ayden-Grifton again fell behind, this time by as many as eight points, before Tarboro went cold. That allowed the Chargerettes to score nine straight points and take the lead. They held a 25-24 edge at the half.

Neither team did much scoring in the third quarter, but Miriam Davis, who led all scorers with 30 points, made six points for the Valkyries and they had a 32-31 margin at the end of the period.

The Chargerettes regained the lead early in the final quarter and held a 37-36 lead on Dixon's shot with 3:47 left. But Davis hit three baskets for Tarboro and Marguerite Parker added a free throw to put the Valkyries in front, 43-37 with 1:41 left.

Karen Haseley followed a missed shot by Aretha Cannon at the 1:28 mark to make it 43-39, but the Chargerettes then missed on two shot attempts and committed a turnover.

Dixon's layup with eight seconds left was the only score Ayden-Grifton could manage the rest of the way and it came too late as they lost, 43-41.

Dixon led the Chargerette scorers with 18 points and Haseley had 16. Besides Miriam Davis' 30, Plymouth got 10 points from Annette Davis.

In tonight's games, Farmville Central's girls will meet Plymouth in the opener and Conley's boys will face North Pitt in the nightcap, both semi-final contests.

UCLA Moves Back On Top

By HERSHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer
 "I'm really happy for George Raveling," UCLA Coach Gene

College Roundup

Bartow said Thursday night after learning that Raveling's Washington State team had knocked off Oregon.

Chances are, though, he was even happier for Gene Bartow. That's because UCLA's 114-83 rout of Stanford, coupled with Washington State's 55-53 defeat of 17th-ranked Stanford, restored Bartow's fifth-ranked Bruins to what they consider their rightful spot — namely, undisputed possession of first place in the Pacific-8 Conference. Oregon trails by a game and both teams have two contests remaining.

Four other members of The Associated Press, Top 20 were in action and all were winners.

Sam Smith scored 24 of his 30 points in the second half to lead fourth-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas past Denver 99-82; Ray Williams and Kevin McHale combined for 52 points, including nine of Minnesota's 10 in overtime, as the 13th-ranked Gophers shaded Purdue 84-78; Cincinnati, No. 14, spanked Biscayne 74-43 and Terry Duerod scored 21 points as No. 16 Detroit thrashed Marshall 122-86.

Locked in an unaccustomed tie for the Pac-8 lead after bowing to Oregon's deliberate attack last weekend, UCLA came out running and gunning with its most explosive performance of the campaign. Marques Johnson led the way with 30 points and 14 rebounds while David Greenwood added 26 points.

Meanwhile, Oregon went down to defeat despite Greg Ballard's 22 points when Washington State's Marty Giovacchini scored his only basket of the game on a driving bank shot with 15 seconds left and added a free throw 12 seconds later.

Nevada-Las Vegas led Denver by only 37-35 at halftime but pulled away with a 12-2 spurt at the start of the second half, including three straight baskets by Smith. Eddie Owens added 20 points for the Rebels.

Williams scored 29 points, grabbed 16 rebounds and handed out seven assists for Minnesota while McHale had 23 points. The Gophers had to play the last 3:52 without conference scoring leader Michael Thompson, whose 13 points made him the first player ever to score 1,000 points in Big Ten competition before his senior year.

Bob Miller and Steve Collier powered Cincinnati over Biscayne with 15 points apiece. The Bearcats broke open a tight game by outscoring the losers 23-6 over the last 8½ minutes of the first half.

Detroit surged to a 54-30 halftime bulge over Marshall and continued to pour it on, putting six men in double figures.

Elsewhere: —Indiana, playing without injured star center Kent Benson, lost to lowly Wisconsin 66-64 on Bob Falks, turnaround jump shot with three seconds left.

—Freshman sensation Ronnie Perry, tuning up for next week's ECAC playoffs, suffered a severely sprained ankle as Holy Cross crushed Boston University 111-89.

Growing Concern Over Civil Defense

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are more concerned about civil defense than at any time since the early 1960s following reports of an elaborate Soviet civil defense program that includes construction of shelters to protect citizens and critical industries from nuclear blasts.

Some U.S. experts believe the Russians are spending about $1 billion a year on civil defense. This is about 12 times the current U.S. Civil Defense budget of $82.5 million. But some western observers in the Soviet Union say they have not seen evidence of a major civil defense effort. One western diplomat in Moscow reported no traces of such a program "beyond an occasional CD poster."

Pentagon analysts are worried that extensive Soviet civil defense preparations, coupled with significant increases they say are underway in Russian nuclear striking power, may be aimed at gaining superiority over the United States by the early 1980s.

They fear that the "balance of terror," credited with deterring nuclear war, would be toppled if the Russian population were safeguarded while the U.S. population was not.

However, there are significant differences of opinion about the extent of the Russian civil defense effort.

Defense Secretary Harold Brown is skeptical. He told a Senate hearing last month that "I am not convinced... that the Soviets have gotten very far" in developing an effective civil defense program.

On the other hand, the joint chiefs of staff told Congress: "The Soviet program is more extensive and better developed than it appeared to be several years ago."

The senior military leaders said construction of shelters for the Soviet population is in progress, "and there appeared to be underground storage bunkers for grain."

The Pentagon report also said, "It is believed that the Soviets have constructed blast shelters in some major manufacturing plants." Top civil defense officials in the past year have cited intelligence information showing that the Russians are dispersing much of their vital industrial away from population centers.

Soviet officials scoff at such statements, referring to them as fabrications designed to justify larger U.S. expenditures for weapons.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is forecast today from Texas to the Midwest. Snow flurries and rain are due in the Northwest. Milder temperatures are expected for the East and seasonably cool temperatures for the rest of the country. (AP Wirephoto Map)

By The Associated Press
Springlike weather again prevailed over North Carolina today in the wake of thunderstorms and rain that pelted much of the state Thursday. Brisk winds from the west and southwest were expected to continue over the state, bringing ing dust from Texas and the southwest. No precipitation was forecast.

By late Saturday, the mountains should begin feeling the effects of another storm system developing over the southwestern states. The mountains will be under the threat of showers by late Saturday and the rest of the state will be affected Sunday.

Dust picked up by winds over the southwest skirted across some of North Carolina's southern counties Thursday and more of the state was expected to be affected by the dust today.

Temperatures climbed into the 60s over much of the state Thursday and today's high readings were expected to range in the 60s again with some readings in the low to mid 70s.

School Changes Since He Went

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Mark Corts went to school in his son's place one day last week and discovered things had changed since he graduated in 1955.

"I guess I'm most surprised by the teacher's attitude toward the student," Corts said. "By that I mean what the teacher will permit the student to do. Oh, I think it's great that students can joke with the teacher. That should mean better communication. But I also think that kids need discipline."

Students in Corts' day "weren't allowed to turn around in our seats. Discipline was the main task in schools then," he said.

Corts, a Baptist minister, was trading places with his son Steve as part of parents' week at Kennedy High School here.

"We just want the parents to appreciate what their child goes through each day," said

Principal Jerry Peoples. "This is the second year we've had parents' week and it's worked out nicely. Parents really go away with some insight."

Corts had about as much insight as he could stand in a day. He had to ride a bus to school, suit up for physical education, get an excuse for being late for a class, confess he didn't know the answer to a history question and skip a biology pop quiz for which he wasn't prepared.

The only good part was lunch. "Actually, I think the food is good for the price they charge," Corts said. "I don't think the students have enough time to eat though."

Anniversary For REACT

The Pitt County REACT Team No. 3133 marked its first anniversary on Wednesday, according to J. T. Hamm, team leader.

Hamm said that during the year, the REACT Team focused its attention on work involving relaying emergency information via Citizen Band radios.

Motorist assistance is one of the team's duties, it was pointed out, through monitoring Channel Nine, the CB radio emergency broadcast channel.

The team leader reported that area police, the Highway Patrol, and Sheriff's Department personnel have been working with the team in an effort to provide efficient emergency service.

Hamm invited all interested persons to attend the next meeting of the REACT team scheduled for March 14, 7 p.m. at Pitt Technical Institute. Persons seeking more information should call Betsy Heath at 758-0876.

Leukemia Vaccine Goal

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — A Duke University researcher says he has a vaccine that works against virus-caused leukemia in animals. Now he needs to make it work for people.

Dr. Jeffrey J. Collins, an assistant professor at the Duke Comprehensive Cancer Center, has grants totaling $212,000 from the American Cancer Society and the Leukemia Society of America to pursue his research.

Collins and his colleagues believe they have found a way to make vaccine without a whole leukemia virus, something not available for human beings.

Most vaccines are weakened or killed versions of the virus against which they are designed to protect. The virus gives the body's natural defenses something to watch for and act against.

Collins' anti-leukemia vaccine uses only part of the virus that causes leukemia in mice, a protein that appears on the surface of cells the virus has infected. When that protein is injected into rabbits, goats or chimpanzees, an immune serum can be made which protects not only mice but also cats.

"This opens up the real, although distant, possibility of using animal virus vaccines in the treatment or prevention of human leukemia," Collins said.

Make your best deal on a new Pacer, Pacer Wagon, or Hornet Wagon, and AMC will make it $253 better.

We've extended our $253 Cash Rebate on Pacers and Pacer Wagons and expanded it to include Hornet Wagons.

Now you can get a $253 Cash Rebate on your choice of three great cars. The wide and roomy Pacer. The all-new Pacer Wagon. Or the hard-working, sportily styled Hornet Wagon. And you've got until March 10 to make your choice. All you have to do is pick your car and make your best deal with your AMC Dealer. AMC will send you the $253.

Or you can apply the $253 to the down payment. After you've made your best deal, of course. The $253 Cash Rebate offer is good on all new 1976 and 1977 AMC Pacers, Pacer Wagons and Hornet Wagons delivered from dealer stock by March 10 or ordered by February 10.

Sorry, but no fleet sales or overseas military purchases are included.
