Arab-Israeli Peace Talk Prospects Are Dimmed

By The Associated Press
Prospects for Arab-Israeli peace negotiations looked less favorable today following hardening of both the Palestinian and Israeli positions.

the Palestinian National Council, at a meeting in Cairo which began Saturday, would open the way to negotiations with Israel by abandoning the destruction of Israel as one of its chief goals.

"We should have a land first before taking up the idea of forging a government," he added. "We will not discuss at this stage the proposed formal link or federation with Jordan simply because we still have no land."

Israel refuses to negotiate with the Palestinians as long as they are dedicated to ending the existence of the state of Israel.

future Palestinian state to be made up of the Israeli-occupied West Bank of Jordan and the Gaza Strip.

Rabin, in a television interview taped during his visit to Washington last week, said President Carter in his news conference last week called on Israel to give back more of the Arab territory captured in 1967 than "we want to give."

Relief For Western Plains After Sudden Blizzard

By The Associated Press
Warm weather returned to the western Plains today, melting some of the snow piled up by a blizzard that paralyzed the area over the weekend and took 16 lives.

Crews in Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska began on Sunday to open highways clogged by snow that piled into drifts up to 15 feet high in some areas and to restore downed power lines.

In the mountains, snow was falling early today over parts of Montana, Idaho, Wyoming and Utah — up to four inches in some areas — and a travelers' advisory was in effect for eastern and south-central Montana.

At the same time, rain during the night in the East caused some local high water, and flash flood watches were posted in some places.

Authorities in Alabama were watching an earthen dam threatened by a rain-swollen lake.

"We will probably be asking for federal assistance tomorrow, if we have the facts and figures to support it," Nebraska Gov. J.J. Exon said Sunday during an aerial tour of western Nebraska.

Exon issued a disaster declaration Saturday for the sparsely populated region, where six deaths were attributed to the storm.

Nine persons were found dead in Colorado after the storm passed, and one was dead in Kansas. Several of the dead had been asphyxiated in snow-bound cars.

In one 32-mile-long stretch between Ogallala and Chappel, Neb., Exon pointed out "mass destruction of power lines," including 230 downed towers that had supported a 230,000-volt transmission line.

Traffic began rolling again Sunday between Denver and the Kansas line along Interstate 70, which had been closed since Thursday.

But police on Sunday were still restricting traffic in an area east of Denver, where visibility was limited by blowing snow and dirt, and in some areas only one lane had been cleared through the deep snow.

Utility workers in Kansas said they were restoring power lines more quickly than they had expected, but power was off in some outlying areas. About 1,500 power poles in Sherman County alone were downed by the storm.

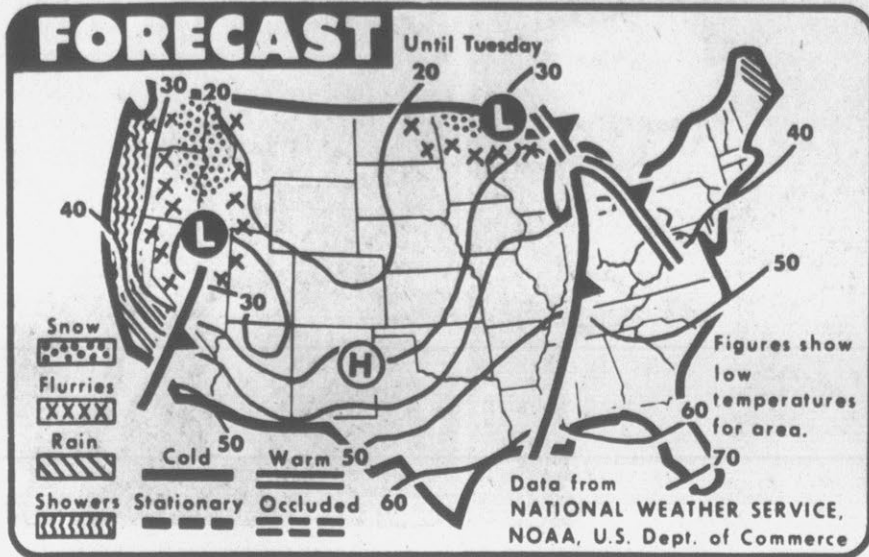

Many persons stranded on highways and in isolated houses by the blowing snow were being rescued by Kansas National Guard helicopters.

A Union Pacific snow plow-equipped train that derailed Saturday near Cheyenne Wells, Colo., because of the blizzard, was put back on the track Sunday but had to sit there until the snow melted or could be removed.

In the Northeastern part of the nation, heavy rain fell overnight, flooding some rivers in New York and New England, and flash flood watches were posted in some areas. Melting snow added to the runoff.

As rain moved across the middle Atlantic states during the night, a tornado touched down at Greenbrier, Del., about seven miles west of Dover, the Weather Service said. It blew down some small buildings, causing total damage estimated at $5,000-$10,000. No injuries were reported.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers, snow and snow flurries are forecast today for the Pacific coast and Rocky Mountain states. Snow and snow flurries are also indicated from North Dakota to the upper Great Lakes. Mostly sunny weather and mild temperatures are expected from the Plains to the Atlantic coast. (AP Wirephoto Map)

By The Associated Press
Locally heavy rains accompanying a cold front drenched much of North Carolina in the early hours of Sunday and the clearing that followed had all the appearance of the first day of spring, which is just a week from today.

Temperatures Sunday afternoon climbed into the 70s except at some coastal points where the high 60s prevailed.

Among the warmest were Raleigh-Durham and Fayetteville with a high of 78 degrees.

Other high readings included Rocky Mount and Goldsboro 76, Wilmington and Greensboro 74 and Charlotte and New Bern 72. Elizabeth City and Cape Hatteras were 68.

The forecast called for sunny and mild weather across the state today and Tuesday with temperatures warming into the 70s both days. Low temperatures tonight were expected to drop to the 40s under clear skies.

Meanwhile, the National Weather Service said winds have diminished enough along the coast to discontinue small craft advisories.

May 'Split' Commission

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Jim Hunt is expected to ask the legislature this week to split the state Utilities Commission in half.

The commission would continue along with a somewhat smaller staff to study and decide cases. But there would be a larger, separate staff to act as public interest advocates in utility cases.

Hunt was highly critical of the commission during his campaign and said on a number of occasions that consumers' interests were not adequately considered.

Hunt promised before his election to separate the commission and his staff, but there was legislative opposition from members who felt the commission would be unable to function properly if its staff were taken from it completely.

So the governor modified his proposal somewhat to leave the commission with some hearing examiners, staff attorneys and safety inspectors.

The larger staff was referred to at first as a consumer advocacy staff, but the name was changed to "public staff" instead.

Legislative Tempo Slowly Picking Up

By Sam D. Bundy
N. C. House of Representatives

As usually is the case, the tempo of legislative action is gradually picking up. The introduction of bills increased daily by 12 to 15. By the time you read this, 450 bills will have been introduced.

Sessions now last about two hours.

Another thing I note this year is that more bills are being killed in committee than usual, or, at least, so it appears in the committees on which I serve. This means that committee members are taking a closer look at bills and weeding out the unnecessary ones. In my opinion, it is just as much a legislator's duty to kill bad legislation as it is to pass good legislation.

Bills of significance dealt with this week include (1) Increase amount of insurance proceeds exempt from inheritance tax; (2) Increase in inheritance tax exemption applicable to surviving spouse to $20,000; (3) To prohibit the obstruction of justice by picketing or parading.

Waiting in the wings are bills dealing with governor and lieutenant government succession and veto.

A recent poll of legislators on whiskey-by-the-drink was not encouraging to the proponents.

The bill on capital punishment is due to hit the floor of the House Mar. 23.

See you next week.

Celebrated A Bit Early

CHICAGO (AP) — More than 160 patrons of a suburban tavern, looking for a way to celebrate St. Patrick's Day a little early, rode four elevated transit cars around Chicago — with 10 barrels of beer, bagpipes, box chicken lunches, and a portable chemical toilet aboard.

"One of the tappers broke so we knocked a hole in the barrel and poured it right out of the whole thing," said John Mau, co-owner of Reilly's Daughter's Pub in Oak Lawn. "We didn't have any beer for the bus ride home."

Guitarists strolled from car to car playing Irish ballads and popular songs, and somebody brought along a set of bagpipes.

Mau paid $413 to charter Saturday night's four-hour, 60-mile ride the length of the city. He charged patrons $12 apiece to cover the cost of the beer, the music, the train and buses to and from the transit station.

The Chicago Transit Authority provided a motorman — locked in his cab so riders couldn't offer him refreshments — a conductor and supervisor. Two policemen went along for the ride.

Jarvis-Gibbs Vows Said In Ceremony Saturday

SWAN QUARTER — Miss Virginia Leigh Gibbs of Fairfield became the bride of Ronald Lee Jarvis Saturday night at Calvary Episcopal Church. The Rev. Webster L. Simons officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy A. Harris of Fairfield. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Foster L. Jarvis of Swan Quarter.

Mrs. Willie Gray Harris, organist, provided a program of traditional wedding music. Soloist Eddie O'Neal sang "O, Perfect Love."

The church was decorated with altar vases filled with greenery, altar candles, two brass tree candelabras and candles at each window. Lighted tapers marked the family pews.

The bride, escorted by her brother, Thomas B. Harris, wore a formal gown of white silk organza over peau de soie. The bodice featured a high V-neck and vertical rows of Venice lace. The waistline was encircled in matching lace. Her full Bishop sleeves were cuffed at the wrist with lace, and the full A-line skirt continued into a chapel-length train. The skirt and train were edged in Venice lace. She wore a Camelot cap re-embroidered in Venice lace.

Betty Ann Harris of Fairfield, sister of the bride, wore a formal gown of Caribbean blue with matching cape. The dress was of silk organza over peau de soie, and the neck and cape were encircled with white Venice lace. She carried a nosegay of white pom poms.

Shirley Stencil of Greenville was honorary bridesmaid. She wore a formal gown and was remembered with a corsage of pom poms.

Bryan Erich Jarvis of Swan Quarter, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Thomas B. Harris of Greenville, brother of the bride, and Roger Dale Jarvis of Swan Quarter, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Thomas B. Harris of Greenville was mistress of ceremony.

The bride's mother chose a formal gown of pink knit with a lace coat and matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a formal length shirtwaist of emerald knit with matching accessories.

A reception was held at the home of Mrs. Metrah H. Swindell, grandmother of the bride, and was hosted by the bride's parents. The mantel featured a spring arrangement with hurricane globes and lighted tapers. The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth edged in lace. It was centered with a two-branched silver candelabra with lighted tapers and a spring nosegay.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Willie Gray Harris and were received by Mrs. Metrah Swindell, grandmother of the bride. The cake was cut by Helga Jarvis, and punch was poured by Barbara Jarvis, both sisters of the bridegroom. Tom Harris and Jamin Simmons served champagne.

The bride is a graduate of Matamusket School and the UNC Dental School at Chapel Hill. She is a certified dental assistant with Dr. Richard Evans in Greenville.

The bridegroom is also a graduate of Matamusket School and is a commercial fisherman in Swan Quarter.

After a wedding trip to Williamsburg, Va., the couple will reside in Swan Quarter.

Ham sandwiches made with a layer of drained sauerkraut mixed with Russian dressing usually appeal. To embellish further, top the ham and kraut with Swiss cheese.

A little applause leftover? It's good as a topping for bowls of hot oatmeal for breakfast.

Lea Miller, Lud Sherwood and Mary Muzzarelli served refreshments.

Nun Teaches Auto Mechanics

By THOMAS J. SHEERAN
NEW YORK (UPI) — For Sister Joan Marese, putting on overalls and climbing under an car to change the oil helps to increase her faith in God.

"I feel the things I am accomplishing are a marvel. These accomplishments are a gift from God," said the 43-year-old nun who teaches auto mechanics at a girls' high school. "It increases my faith in God."

Sister Joan has been tuning up autos, changing oil filters and checking noisy transmissions for six years. Before that she kept busy doing electrical work, plumbing and other light repairs in convents in New York City and Long Island.

A history graduate of St. Francis College in Brooklyn, Sister Joan splits her time between repairing autos, teaching auto mechanics to teen-age girls and making routine repairs in various convents run by her order.

Her long work in auto and convent repairs has earned her the name "Sister Fixit" from her fellow sisters. Sister Joan became involved in auto repairs when her fellow sisters, aware of her role as a convent handyman, began referring their car troubles to her.

She has attended extensive auto repair classes in New York technical schools and refresher courses offered by the big auto makers for their own mechanics.

"At the Delahanty Institute (where she took more than 2,000 hours of auto repair courses) I came to meet a lot of men who wanted to talk about religion and God," she said, "and I feel I was some help."

"The religious order has been very supportive and encouraging," said Sister Joan, who does the repairs for more than 100 autos owned by her order.

She also does the state-licensed inspections of the order's fleet of cars at her garage in Brentwood, N.Y.

Sister Joan has been a member of the Sisters of St. Joseph for 26 years. She spends part of her time teaching auto mechanics to the girls at St. Angela Hall, a girls high school in Brooklyn.

"There are a great many girls who want to get into the course. I usually wear slacks and put cardboard on the ground and get right under the car," she said.

"The girls never give a second thought to a nun teaching them auto mechanics," Sister Joan said.

Sister Joan is enthusiastic while encouraging other women to become involved in auto mechanics.

"I wish women could realize they can do it. All they need is a little confidence, and the owner's manual can be very informative."

Are people surprised to see a sister under the hood of a car? "No. People take it in stride."

She most enjoys doing tune-ups on conventional ignition autos but doesn't have the equipment to tune up cars with more sophisticated ignition systems.

"I have a collection of about $500 worth of tools. That might not be much for an auto mechanic but for me it's great."

"My vocation and work as a mechanic go together," she said. "So there are times I pray when I'm under a car."

Abby Advises: Don't Ask To Be Invited

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Is there some gracious way I can encourage my daughter-in-law to invite us for dinner? My son has been married for three and a half years and we have never been invited to their house for dinner. She has been to my home for all holidays, and drops in right at dinnertime several times a month. So obviously she is willing to eat with me—but just at my house.

My feelings have really been hurt when I hear that they have entertained their friends, my other son and his family, and my daughter and her friend for dinner.

Should I say something to my son? I am really surprised at him because we've always been a very close family.

They both read your column, so maybe they will read this and get the idea. Please don't mention my name or town. Oh, her folks have never been invited, either. Thank you.

HURT

DEAR HURT: There is no gracious way to invite yourself to anyone's home for dinner. No, I wouldn't mention it to my son if I were you. He knows. And I'd rather stay home than ask to be invited.

DEAR ABBY: I see that you've launched a campaign to get rid of "offensive" TV commercials. You told your readers to write to the heads of the networks, and to boycott the products whose TV commercials offend you. You insist that if enough people protest in this manner, offensive commercials will be driven off the air.

According to you, ads for Kotex, Tampons and douches, plus aids for hemorrhoids and diarrhea are "offensive." Why pick on TV? Why not extend your crusade to cleaning up newspaper ads, too? Is it because newspapers publish "Dear Abby" and provide your bread and butter, and TV does not?

Just where do you draw the line, Abby? CURIOUS IN CHICAGO

DEAR CURIOUS: I draw the line when while entertaining my rabbi, my father-in-law and my teenage nephew, the TV is turned on and suddenly we are informed that a new disposable douche now comes premeasured and in two lovely fragrances!

Had I read this ad in a newspaper it would not have been offensive. But to hear it in the presence of the aforementioned company is an embarrassment that I certainly would have avoided—given a choice.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a senior in high school, and my problem is my best friend's brother. (I'll call him Tom.) There's nothing wrong with Tom and there's nothing wrong with me, but my friend has been pushing her brother on me, and he's getting too serious.

In the first place he's too old for me. I know most girls my age think it's cool to date older guys, but I don't. Tom just got out of the Navy, and he's pretty wild. I went out with him a few times, and now he acts like he owns me. Tom's sister has been doing all she can to build up this thing between her brother and me.

Is there some way I can discourage Tom without getting my best friend mad at me? She thinks her brother is tops. Maybe he is, but his kisses are too mushy and he's too fast for me. Thanks.

HANGING LOOSE

DEAR HANGING: The direct approach is the best one. Tell Tom you like him as a friend, but that's all. And if he can't accept that, quit dating him. And if his sister gets "mad" at you, get yourself another best friend.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

FDA May Have Overreacted

Last week the Food and Drug Administration took the drastic step of banning saccharin from the American market.

The action was taken based on a Canadian experiment which showed saccharin fed rats developed bladder tumors.

The ban will mean major changes for U. S. citizens since saccharin is the last artificial sweetener left on the market. It is used by many people on reducing diets for sweetening tea and coffee, and it is widely used as an artificial sweetener in soft drinks.

While the experiments showed a possible danger from the use of saccharin, the FDA pointed out that a human would have to drink 800 12-ounce diet drinks an day for a lifetime in order to consume an amount equivalent to that taken by the rats.

We are certainly not in a position to judge scientifically, but we have to wonder if the FDA isn't jumping too soon in this matter.

It has long been known by mankind that too much of almost anything will kill you, and it is obvious that huge doses of saccharin would have adverse effects on the human body.

A saccharin ban is entirely acceptable if it is proven conclusively that it is harmful to humans. It is well to remember, however, that saccharin has been consumed by millions of people over a number of years and studies on humans have yet to show anything conclusive.

Banning a widely used product is a radical action to take. We simply hope the FDA knows what it is doing.

Prestigious Event From Med School

Beginning March 21, the ECU School of Medicine will be holding a seminar for 59 pathologists and clinical chemists.

Those attending the seminar will come from 21 states and Brazil for the sessions which will be conducted by Dr. Seymour Bakerman, professor and chairman of the Department of Pathology at the ECU medical school.

Such meetings as this are prestigious for our community and we expect we will be seeing more gatherings of this type as the medical school develops.

Educating Our Manpower

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — A year-long study of where North Carolina's Community College/Technical Institute system ought to be heading has reaffirmed the number one priority on which that system was founded:

"This comprehensive manpower development program must remain the highest priority in the Community College System, for it is here that education has the greatest impact on the welfare of the entire state," concludes the study recently completed by the Commission on Goals for the system.

It has now been nearly 20 years since the state's first seven industrial education centers were established. The system has grown into a 57-campus network covering the state, and while much attention is paid in the goals review to need for cultural programs, open door policies, adult illiteracy, cooperation with public schools and other areas of concern, the commission makes it clear that manpower development must remain of prime importance.

Coming Boom

Forces are at work to produce an economic boom in this state—the Sun Belt image, an abundance of human and natural resources, room for industry to locate and expand, proximity to growing markets, and an aggressive push for development being launched by state government.

"Leading economists and industrialists have made it abundantly clear that a state can expect to be economically healthy only if it provides its population with the intellectual development and technical training required to exploit the potentials of the new technological developments," the report comments at one point. Failure to develop man power means we cannot effectively direct our own economic future.

North Carolina's predominately rural geography and a host of willing workers is often listed among chief reasons for location of new industries in the state. Experts have pointed to the declining importance of the traditional economic foundation of textiles, apparel, and furniture in favor of higher paying jobs in electronics, computers, chemicals,

"As the job market changes, it will demand ever-changing and escalating levels of technical sophistication from the labor force," the report from the commission states. That study group was chaired by Edgar J. Boone, chief of the adult and community college education division of the Agricultural Extension Service at N.C. State University. Commission members represented university, community college, public schools, and the lay public.

Specifics
Specific steps for the future are outlined in the report designed to meet that number one priority.

A system is needed to provide planning so that present and future manpower needs of private industry can be best identified.

Increased use of information systems and relationships with local advisory councils and state agencies involved in manpower development and industrial growth are required, especially the "ultimate consumers of occupational training, the business and industrial sectors... the final judges of its worth."

The local community colleges and technical institutes need to take a hard look at their own programs, the report suggests, with the "intent of discontinuing those which are no longer relevant..." and supplanting others.

Action is called for to correct a problem in funding the system. State dollars are budgeted on the basis of Full Time Equivalent students, a condition which the commission finds causes some local institutions to emphasize programs "in which a real manpower shortage does not exist simply because those programs attract large numbers of students who generate a corresponding number of Full Time Equated credits."

An approach is needed, it is suggested, which would discourage that practice while rewarding schools which offer programs designed to meet genuine manpower needs.

The Unreal TV World

WASHINGTON — Dr. Heinrich Applebaum has just completed a study on the effects of television on children.

In his case, though, he wasn't concerned with violence, but how television gives children a false sense of reality.

Dr. Applebaum told me, "The greatest danger of television is that it presents a world to children that doesn't exist, and raises expectations that can never be fulfilled."

"I don't understand, Doctor," I said.

"Well, let me cite one example. Have you ever seen a television show where a person in an automobile doesn't immediately find a parking place on the very first try?"

"Come to think of it," I said, "I haven't."

"Not only is there always a parking spot available but the driver doesn't even have to back into it. There are two parking spaces available whenever someone in a TV show needs one. Children are being led to believe that when they grow up they will always be able to find a parking place when and where they want it. Can you imagine the trauma when they discover that in real life you can drive around a block for three hours and still not find a place to put your car?"

"I never thought of it but it's true. What else do they show on television which gives a distorted picture of the real world?"

"Have you noticed that whenever a character walks out of a restaurant or office building or apartment and says to the doorman, 'Get me a taxi,' the taxi immediately arrives? Millions of children are under the impression that all a doorman has to do is blow his whistle and a taxi will be there. I have never seen a show where the doorman has said, 'I'm sorry. I can't get you a taxi. You better take the bus.'"

"Of course," I said. "I never knew before what bothered me about those TV action programs, but now I do. There is always a yellow taxi waiting offscreen."

"Now," said Applebaum, "have you ever said to a taxi driver, 'Follow that car and don't lose him?'"

"Not really."

"Well, if you had, the driver would have told you to blow it out your ear. No taxi driver is in a mood to follow another car because that means he's going to get involved. But on TV every cabdriver looks as if he'd like nothing better to do than to drive 90 miles an hour through a rain-swept street trying to keep up with a careful of hoods. And the worst thing is that the kids believe it."

"What else have you discovered?"

"Kids have a perverted sense of what emergency wards of hospitals are really like. On TV shows they take a kid to an emergency ward and four doctors come rushing down to bandage his leg. In a real life situation the kid would be sitting on the bench for two hours before he even saw an intern. On TV there always happens to be a hospital bed available when a kid needs it. What the kids in this country don't know is that sometimes you have to wait three days to get a hospital bed and then you have to put a cash deposit of

Buffalo Has Its Memory

By ANN PODD

Associated Press Writer BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Mementoes of the "Blizzard of '77" are hot items in Buffalo stores these days.

Some residents probably would like to forget what weathermen have termed the worst winter in 107 years. But a lot of others would not, say salesmen whose business has snowballed.

Big sellers include T-shirts, jewelry and "Certificates of Survival" emblazoned with "The Blizzard of '77."

The reference is to the Jan. 28 storm that paralyzed the area for days. Schools closed; dozens died from storm-related problems; an estimated $60 million was lost in business and wages. President Carter later declared seven New York counties a disaster area.

Louis Berger, president of a specialty store, said he thought people were buying the mementoes because they "don't want to forget the warmth" of the efforts in coping with storm-related problems.

His store offers a 14-karat gold snow shovel charm engraved with "Blizzard of '77." The price is $50.

"It has been most successful, and that's as much as I'll say," Berger said.

The "Certificate of Survival" is available for $1. It indicates that the owner "has overcome, surmounted and otherwise survived what shall, heretofore, be known as The Great Blizzard of '77."

Bob Desbecker, a record department manager at one department store, said the certificates were in demand but that T-shirts at $4 were selling even faster.

"I sell them to the whole spectrum of people," Desbecker said of the shirts. "Like to the couple who bought two for themselves and two to take to their grandchildren when they go down to Florida."

He added that he thought "blizzard" products were out-selling last year's Bicentennial mementoes.

THE INSIDE REPORT

The Ullman Tax Preview

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The preliminary Carter tax reform plans at the Treasury, looking suspiciously like William Simon leftovers, are aimed more at encouraging capital formation than redistributing income in favor of the poor.

Actually, the tax reform package intended to be unveiled Sept. 1 is in a very early stage, and even that is being kept strictly secret. But a top taxwriter in Congress — Rep. Al Ullman, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee — is telling business groups that the Carter package is apt to embody two broad concepts.

Concept No. 1: End "double taxation" of corporate income — first through the corporate income tax, then through personal income taxation of dividends paid out to stockholders. The method as described by Ullman would involve a tax credit to those stockholding individuals equal to part or all of the corporate tax already paid.

Concept No. 2: Reduce the top tax rate on individuals from 70 per cent to 50 per cent. In return, most special tax preferences and remaining tax shelters would be abolished. Here is, quite obviously, a variation of that very old but creditable tax scheme exchanging sharply lowered rates for closed loopholes — dusted off most recently by Simon's departed Republican Secretary of the Treasury.

While no finished product, these ideas are far more than mere musings by Chairman Ullman. He is in close touch with the principal tax drafter in the Carter administration,

Dr. Laurence Woodworth, Under Secretary of the Treasury for tax policy. What's more, Ullman is encouraging businessmen to run the two concepts through their computers to see how they come out.

Their reaction is scarcely elation that the millennium has arrived. The biggest reassurance to business would be unadorned reduction in corporate income tax rates — impossible politically for the Democratic administration and the Democratic Congress. The lesser — but still extremely important — bounty in what is being planned at the Treasury would provide that boost in business confidence which the Carter administration desperately seeks.

Moreover, early indications of where President Carter seems to be going are not at all reassuring to his early tax advisers such as Joseph Pechman of the Brookings Institution and Stanley Surrey of Harvard. Pechman and Surrey are on record in opposition to any form of ending corporate double taxation that would result in a net revenue loss, as the plan previewed by Ullman would.

Liberals far less sophisticated than Pechman and Surrey are even more disturbed by early indications out of the Treasury. While they expected Mr. Carter's long-promised tax reform to soak the rich, they now fear the best they will get is simplification of the tax code.

In truth, Jimmy Carter was not entirely precise about tax reform during the campaign. Although his denunciation of the tax code as a "disgrace to the human race" (repeated on his "Ask President Carter" radio call-in) had McGovernesque overtones, he made liberals nervous by talking hard about ending corporate double taxation from the campaign's start.

A clear though largely unnoticed sign of Mr. Carter's direction in tax reform was posted during the crowded transition period when the President-elect named Woodworth, longtime tax adviser for Congress, as Under Secretary, instead of the more theoretical, more ideological Pechman.

Other Editors Say Children Afraid

(Wilson Times)

As we are on the subject of children, and if you have any your life is wrapped up in their activities, happiness and future. As we have just finished writing on the subject of education, we were surprised and distressed to read that two-thirds of America's children harbor fears that "somebody bad" will get into their homes. That fear, says a new study, is so widespread, cutting across residential, economic, and ethnic groups, that television's contribution to it is unmistakable.

The study indicates that nearly a quarter of American children fear certain television programs, and heavy TV watchers — four hours or more a day — are twice as likely as other children to say they become frightened often.

Children's fears were among the conclusions of a national survey of children's thoughts and feelings. The survey was sponsored by the New York-based Foundation for Child Development and conducted by Temple University Institute for Survey Research. More than 2,300 children, ages 7 to 11, were interviewed about their lives, homes and school experiences, their neighborhoods and their views.

According to foundation officials the children interviewed were scientifically selected to represent a cross section of America's 17.7 million grammar school age children.

Foundation officials are excited about the study, because as foundation President Orville Brim Jr., put it, it is the first time in history that children's attitudes have been surveyed so thoroughly. The foundation also makes several recommendations for action.

The study indicates that the modern world has brought with it new developments that impinge on the lives of children along with the traditional anxieties of childhood.

The impact of television was reflected throughout the report. Children are also affected by vulgarity, materialism and greed. Marital discord affects child behavior much more than the mere absence of a parent. Children in marriages described by their parents as "not so happy" are three times as likely to fight at school as those from happy marriages. There are many other causes for childhood fear, and you know the majority of them.

IBM Shareholders 'Enriched'

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — The IBM shopping spree in the stock market has left its shareholders about $2 billion richer than they were on February 22, an amount that should make them reasonably happy.

This is but one consequence of the decision by the big computer maker to invest in itself — an "attractive investment," it said at the time — even while some analysts were suggesting it might be overpriced.

There are many other consequences too, and lessons to be learned also, most obvious being the lesson that money talks. IBM had more than $6 billion of liquid funds, $1.54 billion of them available to buy its stock.

At the time it made its decision to buy up to 5.5 million of its shares at $280, versus a market price at the time of $270.125 a share, there was said to be a large overhang of stock for sale.

The word around the Street was that many of the big institutions, the mutual and pension funds among them, felt they owned too much of IBM. They wanted to sell, it was said.

At any rate, the shares of International Business Machines seemed to have stalled in the $270 area. When the price would edge a bit higher, the sellers would appear, and down it would go again.

With all that cash available, and believing that its shares not only were worth $270 but a lot more, the company made its offer of $280 a share for up to 5.5 million shares. It would eliminate the overhang.

The results were a bit surprising. Almost immediately some of the portfolio managers who had been bearish became less certain of their identity. Soon they were pawing the ground; they had become bulls.

If IBM is willing to buy at $280, they reasoned, then it must believe its shares are worth a lot more than that, perhaps $300 or more. And who should know better than IBM, which has that prized commodity, inside information?

The shares, which began rising immediately after the release of the news, approached and even exceeded the $280 mark when the tender offer was scheduled to expire March 8. Then IBM extended the offer two more days.

When the extension ended, the company still had sopped up only 2,546,000 shares, far short of its minimum goal of at least 4 million shares, and less than one-half the 5.5 million it reserved the right to buy.

With the offer closed, shares continued to rise, reaching $284.50 at the completion of trading Thursday. They fell a bit on Friday, finishing the week at $283.25.

In the thinking of many analysts, $280 is now the base for IBM shares. Rather than this being an upper limit, a sell price, as many investors seemed to think a few weeks ago, it is now felt to be an area of support, a price at which to buy.

This isn't to say it will remain that, because market psychology is ever changing. But at about $2 billion more than on Feb. 22, IBM shares look a lot healthier and promising.

Remarkable what money can accomplish.

Strength For Today

DON'T LOOK BACK

Several stories come down to us from the distant past about the dire results of looking backward.

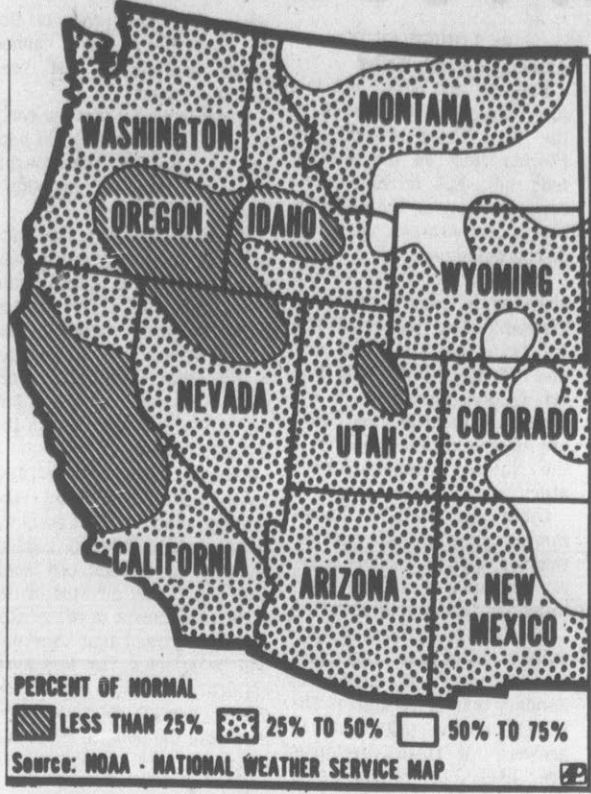

In a Greek myth, Orpheus descended to the lower regions and secured from Pluto consent to take Eurydice up from her captivity to be his bride. Pluto imposed the condition, however, that Orpheus should not look back. On the way the temptation to do so overcame Orpheus, and when he did look back the beloved one for whom he had sacrificed so much vanished.

Lot's wife also looked back on the city of Sodom whose comforts and luxury she was leaving with such reluctance. As a result she was turned into a pillar of salt.

Some people constantly look back on past achievements as compensation for present failure. Others can never forget their sorrows. Still others can never forget slights and injuries from a distant past.

Road Formula Changes Ahead

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The administration of Gov. Jim Hunt is working on changes in the formula for parceling out secondary road construction funds among the counties. And the changes are expected to be controversial.

The changes would reduce the money available to about 50 counties, mainly in the west north, increase funding for roads in 47 others, mainly in the Piedmont and interior eastern areas, and leave only three counties unchanged.

The present formula tends to work in favor of less developed areas with fewer miles of paved roads. The Hunt administration formula will tend to help more urbanized counties.

About $30 million per year in secondary road money is at stake in the reshuffling, and Sen. James B. Garrison, D-Stanly, a member of the state Transportation Board and in charge of getting the proposed changes through the legislature, said Republican counties might not like the shift in funds.

Garrison said in an interview that former Gov. James Holshouser had deliberately favored many of the same Republican counties in the west that would lose money under the new proposal.

"This is more fair to the whole state," he said. "There's a little loss in the west, a little along the coast, but I think the west will understand that Holshouser tilted things toward the mountains."

Garrison said the change in formula for the road money would wait until after passage of the Hunt administration's

Hostages Recall Their Agonies

By EVANS WITT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The memories remain fresh and painful for the hostages who lived through the siege of Washington and for those who were close to the man who was killed when he stepped unawares into the violence.

Men and women kept as hostages of Hanafi Moslem gunmen at the B'nai B'rith International Center — and those who narrowly escaped — recalled on Sunday their agonizing experiences.

"They said, 'If you don't move fast we'll take a head off,'" said Rae Ehrlich, a secretary, of the gunmen's orders in the roundup of hostages last Wednesday.

The hostages told of being forced to lie in the white dust of construction work, of seeing a gun butt smashing through a glass door, of being stacked on top of other hostages like cordwood.

Their relief at survival was tinged with sadness for one who died. Maurice Williams, a reporter for Howard University's radio station, WHUR. The funeral for Williams, 24, shot to death Wednesday as he stepped off an elevator at Washington's city hall, was set for today.

Gunmen seized hostages at an Islamic center as well as the B'nai B'rith building and city hall during the terrorist attack that ended with the surrender of 12 Hanafis early Friday.

Several of the more than 100 hostages held by six gunmen at the B'nai B'rith center returned there Sunday to inventory the damage — blood-spattered halls, broken windows, kicked-in doors and bullet-riddled walls.

Hank Siegel, a hostage with a heart condition, said he had difficulty breathing Wednesday night and asked to have his hands tied in front of him, rather than behind his back.

Siegel said the Hanafi leader, Hamaas Abdul Khaalis, walked in and demanded: "Why is this man getting special treatment?"

After telling him of the problem, Siegel said he received this response: "You're not going to die on me are you? ... Allah says live by the sword and die by the sword. Let me make it quick and clean for you."

But Siegel said he told Abdul Khaalis he felt better and the Hanafi leader dropped the matter.

"If I had given him another answer, he would have killed me ... I had no doubt he was serious," Siegel said.

The gunmen listed as one of their demands the closing of the motion picture "Mohammad, Messenger of God."

The film was stopped in Los Angeles and New York, but showings resumed the day after the siege ended. In New York, theater patrons were searched and security was tight at Sunday's showings.

Washington Mayor Walter Washington and other officials said they were worried about the film being shown again. "This is endangering lives at a very critical period. I'm deeply concerned about it," the mayor said through a spokesman.

D.C. City Council Chairman Sterling Tucker said he was trying — so far unsuccessfully — to have the film shut down.

"I believe it would be a serious error (to show the film at this time), said Tucker. "This could cause trouble, create uneasiness."

$500 down before they give it to you."

Applebaum said the cruellest hoax of all is when TV shows a lawyer defending someone innocent of a crime.

"On the screen the lawyer spends day and night digging up the evidence to clear his client. In real life the lawyer says to the defendant, 'Look, I've got 20 minutes. Tell me your story and then I'll plead you guilty and make a deal with the DA.' In real life the defendant might say, 'But I'm innocent.' The lawyer would say, 'So what? I can't afford to find that out. I'm not Perry Mason.'"

"Then what you're saying, Dr. Applebaum, is that it isn't the violence on TV but the fantasy that is doing harm to children."

"Exactly. Even the commercials are taking their toll. Children are led to believe that when they grow up if they use a certain mouthwash they'll find the mate of their dreams. When they don't find him or her after gargling all night, they go into a tailspin and many of them never come out of it."

"What do you think is the biggest fear little girls have?"

"I have no idea."

"That someday when they get married their husbands will have ring around the collar."

"What about boys?"

"Boys worry that they'll only go around once in life and they won't have all the gusto out of their beer that they deserve."

Evans-Novak...

Since then, the need to give business some sweeteners in the tax reform has been intensified by two intertwined events: sagging business confidence in the new President and the action by the House stripping from his quickie tax stimulation bill what little there was to promote capital investment.

While businessmen given the Ullman preview like what they hear, they are reserving judgment in anticipation of liberal counterattacks — for instance, balancing an end of double-taxation with new levies against business. Furthermore, closing additional tax shelters will reduce some categories of investment.

Nevertheless, the Treasury's clear intent is to encourage investment. Thus, oil companies that would lose more than they gain by the end of tax preferences could be compensated by special energy-related tax write-offs, as Ullman describes these still-germinating proposals.

"What I've heard so far," a liberal academic tax expert told us, "sounds a lot more like Bill Simon than Stan Surrey." That judgment is the best political news for corporate treasurers in many a day; and in the long run, it may also be good news for the President and the nation.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — The trend on the North Carolina hog market was steady to .50 higher today. Wilson 37.25-38.25; Rocky Mount unreported; Kingston 37.00-38.00; Clinton, Fayetteville, Dunn, Pink Hill, Pine Level, Chadbourne, Ayden, Laurinburg and Benson 39.00; Tarboro and Bethel 36.00-36.50; Salisbury 36.00.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — The trend on the North Carolina f.o.b. dock broiler market was steady today with supplies moderate demand good weights desirable.

The North Carolina dock weighted average price is 41.13 cents per pound this week for small purchases of sized plant grade broilers picked up at processing plant. Estimated slaughter today 1,390,000.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices drifted up slightly today, stalled in the same sluggish tide that prevailed last week. The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up to 948.55, after a net loss of 5.74 points last week.

Gainers outnumbered losers 3-2 among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Big Board volume came to just 3.82 million shares over the first hour.

"There's no news for traders and investors to sink their teeth in," observed Charles Jensen of Merkin & Co.

"When you have a flat kind of day on Friday, the tendency is for it to continue the same way Monday, at least in the morning."

Some analysts felt investors, still very worried about inflation, might be holding back all week in anticipation of the consumer price index due Friday.

Last week the government reported wholesale prices rose 0.9 per cent in February—a 10.8 per cent annual rate of gain.

Mayor Beat An Ice Cream Habit

ATLANTA (AP) — Mayor Maynard Jackson may be a political heavyweight in Atlanta, but he's throwing around a lot less weight these days.

Six months ago, Jackson, 38, a confessed ice cream junkie, weighed 315 pounds. He's now down to 230 and hopes by late April to be down to a svelter 195.

"I haven't had ice cream since Sept. 7, and that, by the way, is revolutionary for me," he said. "I used to have a bowl of ice cream every night, and I mean every night. I was addicted to it."

Regain Rare Collection

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP) — Authorities have recovered more than $500,000 in Audubon prints and charged a Charleston man with the theft.

Edward Lee Spence, 29, surrendered to Charleston city police shortly after 8 p. m. Saturday. Earlier in the day an investigation by city, county and federal authorities had led to the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of Spence.

Accompanied by his lawyer, Spence turned the rare collection of prints over to city detective L. John Tillman, the man who directed the combined police investigation.

Spence was charged with grand larceny and placed under a $10,000 bond. Tillman would not reveal what led authorities to Spence.

"I can only say that since Thursday we have conducted a thorough, around-the-clock search," he said. "A warrant was secured early Saturday and we let it be known that we were looking for him."

The 299 bird and 100 animal prints were discovered missing Wednesday from the Charleston Library Society. Warren Ripley, society president, said Spence had done research at the Library Society. Ripley also said he had met the young man on at least one occasion when he helped Spence identify a Civil War cannon.

Spence had never worked for the Library Society, Ripley said. "We are elated," Ripley said. "The police and the FBI have done an absolutely magnificent job."

Grant Permit For Picketing
Members of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference were granted a permit to picket the Greenville Utilities Commission today, according to Greenville Police Chief Glenn Cannon.

Cannon said the permit was granted for two hours, from 10 a.m. until noon. At 11 a.m. today, two persons were picketing the Commission.

The reason given for the picket was high utility rates.

Dedicate Complex

The new Greene County Office Complex was dedicated at afternoon ceremonies Sunday.

The complex houses the Greene County Library, the county tax office, the social services offices, and the county extension offices. It is located at the intersection of Highways 258 and 13.

Congressman Walter B. Jones, State Representatives Horton Rountree and Sam Bundy and Senator Hinson Barnes were special guest speakers at the dedication ceremonies.

Charles E. Woodall, project architect presented the building to William A. Jones, chairman of the Greene County Board of Commissioners. Jones presented a report about the history of the construction of the building and the renovations of the county courthouse.

Following the dedication ceremonies, open house was held at the new office complex and in the county courthouse.

Schedule Tour For Institute

A full slate of activities, including a plant tour at Burroughs Wellcome, was scheduled for the membership of the Virginia Carolinas Packaging Institute, meeting here today at the Ramada Inn.

A spokesman for the Institute said that 58-60 members of the three-state organization were expected to be on hand for the Greenville meeting.

The spokesman said that the plant tour at Burroughs Wellcome was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Plant manager G. Henry Leslie planned to address the gathering following the tour, it was pointed out.

Also scheduled today were executive sessions and business meetings at the Ramada Inn, followed by a cocktail party and banquet tonight. John McConney, manager of Burroughs Wellcome's Chemical and Animal Health Division, will be the guest speaker for the banquet, discussing the pricing of prescription drugs.

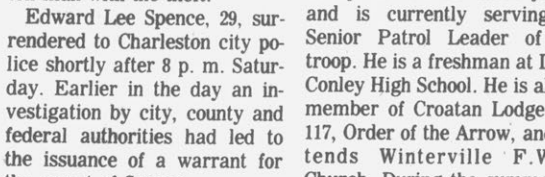

According to the spokesman, a number of local members of the Institute were scheduled to attend the meeting, the first for the organization in Greenville. The group meets every two months.

Officers of the Packaging Institute are Ron Calloway, chairman; Harlow Lichtwardt, vice chairman; Marion Clark, secretary; and Richard Stulz, treasurer. All of the officers are from Charlotte.

Pirates Win Slugging Match

BURLINGTON — East Carolina University outlasted Elon College in a slugging match yesterday, banging out a 16-8 victory over the Fighting Christians.

The win was the fifth in six starts for the Pirates, whose only loss was a 1-0 setback at the hands of N.C. State on Saturday.

While Sunday's game may have been heaven for the batters, it was a nightmare for the pitching staff of both teams. East Carolina used three, starter Terry Durham, plus relievers Billy Davis and Keith Kurdewan, while Elon used a total of four pitchers.

Kurdewan got the win, coming in in the seventh inning, when Elon rallied to tie the score at 8-8. After that, he held the Christians in check, allowing no hits and no walks in two and two-thirds innings.

With a stiff breeze blowing into left field, homers were the rule of the day, as five were cracked, two by the Bucs and three by Elon. East Carolina also went to the basepaths a gain with its speed, stealing seven bases in the game.

The Pirates got the action underway in the first inning, scoring five big runs. Pete Paradossi led off with a walk and Billy Best singled. Eddie Gates put three runs on the scoreboard with the first of the home runs, driving in both Paradossi and Best.

Sonny Wooten reached on an error and Bobby Supel walked. Robert Brinkley reached on a fielder's choice, catching Supel at second. Brinkley then stole up and a sacrifice fly by Rick Koryda scored Wooten. Charlie Stevens singled to drive in Brinkley.

Elon also got a run in the bottom of the first, that off a solo shot by Kelly Miller.

Elon added three more in the fourth, cutting the lead to 5-4. Tommy Vaughn walked and Charlie Gambell was hit by a pitch. Frank Williams slapped a home run, clearing the bases.

The Pirates added three more runs in the top of the seventh, taking an 8-4 lead. Freshman Raymie Styons got his first collegiate hit, a homer, to open the frame. Best then singled and Gates walked. Two wild pitches brought Best home, and when Wooten reached on an error, Gates scored.

The Christians rallied for four runs in the bottom of the seventh, tying it at 8-8. Gene Drumwright walked and Gambell reached on an error. Williams doubled in both runners, and Billy Wombie followed with a homer, tying the score.

The Pirates then exploded for five more runs in the top of the eighth. With one away, Styons walked and Jerry Gibson ran for him. Paradossi singled and Best doubled in Gibson. Gates singled, scoring both Paradossi and Best. Gates stole up and scored on a hit by Supel, who also stole up, and came over on a hit by Brinkley.

The final three runs came in the ninth. Stevens opened with a triple and scored on Paradossi's single. Paradossi was thrown out at second on Best's infield grounder, and Gates was hit by a pitch. Both runners advanced on a balk, and Wooten reached once more on an error, allowing both runners to score.

Elon fell to a 1-2 record with the loss.

The Pirates return home today, facing Eastern Connecticut State in a single game at 3 p.m. at Harrington Field. They next host N.C. State in a twin bill on Saturday at Harrington.

Bean Takes 1st Tourney Title

MIAMI (AP) — Little Chi Chi Rodriguez may have said it best.

"I have a great respect for the young players on the tour," Rodriguez said. "They're good players, strong young men, polite, clean-cut, All-American boys."

"I try to help them as much as I can. After all, the future of the tour belongs to them."

Rodriguez paused, and a sly, humorous twinkle appeared in his eyes.

"Only thing is, they seem to be turning the future into now," he said.

Big Andy Bean is the latest in that apparently endless line of previously obscure youngsters who are claiming the rich pro golf tour as their private playground.

The 6-foot-4, 205-pound Bean, the front-running winner in the Doral Open, perfectly fits Rodriguez' description. He is very strong and almost painfully polite.

The first two things he did after holding off the challenge of veteran internationalist David Graham in Sunday's final round were to dedicate his first victory to his father, Tommy Bean of Lakeland, Fla., and thank the news media for their attention, courtesy and kind words.

As to the All-American boy qualities, he won those honors at the University of Florida, where, he said, he "majored in golf and business — mostly golf." And what could be more American than the healthy south Florida recreation of alligator wrestling, at which Bean has distinguished himself.

He once kept an alligator as a pet and gained a certain reputation among his fellow tourists when, in the PGA Qualifying School less than two years ago, he casually grabbed a 6-to-7 foot reptile by the tail and flipped him in a pond.

He gained a greater reputation with his gritty, hard-won round of par 72 that was good enough to hold back Graham's charge and provide Bean with his first tour title, on his 24th birthday. It also made him the latest in the line that includes such players as Bruce Lietzke, Tom Purtzer and Gary Koch who have come from obscurity to a place of prominence the tour this season.

With the season nine weeks old, only Jack Nicklaus has been able to win against the youth charge.

Howard Will Speak At Club

The legendary Frank Howard, former head football coach at Clemson University, will be the speaker at this year's Greenville Sports Club banquet.

In his 30 years as head coach at Clemson, Howard piled up 165 wins to become one of the nation's most successful coaches. Tickets to the March 30th event at the Greenville Golf and Country Club are available to Sports Club members. The banquet will begin at 6:45.

Earle Edwards, former N. C. State head football coach, will be the speaker at the club's final luncheon meeting, tomorrow at noon at the Ramada Inn.

Petty Gets Victory

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — The Bear Grease did exactly what it was expected to do, and so did Richard Petty, in Sunday's Carolina 500 stock car race.

Petty was in complete control the final 300 miles. But he seemed to be the only one who was.

"The track was real slippery early in the race," said Petty after Grand National victory No. 181. "But it just got better and better as the race progressed—better for us anyway. I guess maybe I had less trouble than the others because my car was handling well enough that I could run real low on the track."

"When the race started, I thought there were six or eight cars running real strong that could maybe win this race. But they all had trouble, and we didn't."

While Petty was racing around the 1.017-mile track with remarkable perfection, the drivers trying to catch him were having troubles.

The reason was the much-discussed coat of Bear Grease—slippery asphalt sealant—over the speedway surface.

Bradley Breaks Campbell's Back

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Alonzo Bradley, you might say, was the straw that broke the Camels' backs.

Texas Southern could not have been blamed if it viewed its NAAIA basketball title match Saturday night against upstart Campbell College of North Carolina with some apprehension.

The unseeded Camels had audaciously eliminated four other seeded teams in a week-long march to the title match and were confident of victim No. 5.

But Bradley calmly scored 12 of Texas Southern's first 14 points and the fifth-seeded Tigers went on to blitz the outmanned Camels, 71-44, to win the 40th annual NAAIA affair.

Bradley, a 6-foot-6 forward, was named the tournament's most valuable player for his efforts — and wasn't surprised. "Well, the way I played this week, I was expecting it," he admitted. "That's why I wasn't too surprised when they mentioned my name."

Bradley, who averaged 23.8 points a game during the tournament, finished with 23 against Campbell, including 16 in the first half. And when he slowed, Lawrence Williams picked up the slack with 16.

Campbell, 23-10, shot only 42 per cent as the Tigers closed off its inside game, but Coach Danny Roberts made no apologies.

"Sure, we're disappointed. But there were a lot of people who thought we'd be gone by Tuesday," he said. "I'm proud of this team."

NCAA Enters Second Round

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Dick Vitale did some praying when his Detroit basketball team fell behind in the second half.

"I reached into my pocket and pulled this up," said Vitale, displaying a card dedicated to St. Jude, patron saint of hopeless causes.

It might have helped—but it did not hurt Vitale to have Terry Tyler in the middle, either.

The big man scored 29 points and played a dominating inside game, leading the Titans to a 93-76 victory over Middle Tennessee in the first round of the NCAA's Midwest Regionals Sunday at Baton Rouge, La.

The victory set up an intrastate match in the Midwest Regional semifinals Thursday night at Lexington, Ky. Detroit will play top-ranked Michigan, a 92-81 winner over Holy Cross in a Midwest first-round game at Bloomington, Ind.

Syracuse and North Carolina-Charlotte earned berths in the other Midwest semifinal game with victories Sunday. Syracuse, the nation's No. 10 team, defeated No. 7 Tennessee 93-88 in overtime at Baton Rouge and North Carolina-Charlotte whipped Central Michigan 91-86 in overtime at Bloomington.

College Roundup

As a result of action Saturday, these semifinal pairings were established for the other NCAA regional playoffs:

East—Kentucky vs. VMI and Notre Dame vs. North Carolina at College Park, Md.

West—UCLA vs. Idaho State and Utah vs. Nevada-Las Vegas at Provo, Utah.

Midwest—Marquette vs. Kansas State and Southern Illinois vs. Wake Forest at Oklahoma City.

Kentucky, the nation's No. 6 team, routed Princeton 72-38; VMI beat Duquesne 73-66; No. 15 Notre Dame turned back Hofstra 90-83, and No. 6 North Carolina trimmed Purdue 69-66 in the East's first-round games Saturday.

UCLA, ranked No. 2, outscored No. 14 Louisville 87-79; Idaho State beat Long Beach State 83-72; No. 19 Utah eliminated St. John's 72-68, and No. 5 Nevada-Las Vegas blasted No. 3 San Francisco 121-95 in West first-rounders.

In the Midwest Saturday, No. 16 Marquette downed No. 11 Cincinnati 66-61; Kansas State ousted No. 13 Providence 87-80; Southern Illinois defeated No. 20 Arizona 81-77, and Wake Forest upset No. 8 Arkansas 86-80.

Detroit lost a 14-point lead midway through the game before making a comeback behind Tyler. The Titans led 44-30 with 4:05 left in the first half. But Middle Tennessee rallied, and six minutes into the second half, went ahead 54-52.

But Tyler led Detroit on an eight-point streak, giving the Titans a lead they never lost. Rickey Green, recovering from a hip injury, scored a career-high 35 points, handed out nine assists and made three steals, leading Michigan's victory. The Wolverines, who trailed by one point at halftime, broke open the nationally televised game with about five minutes remaining, scoring eight straight points for an 80-70 advantage.

Led by guard Larry Kelley, Syracuse rallied from a 10-point deficit in beating Tennessee. Kelley, who never had scored more than 26 points in a game, had 32 Sunday.

Both Ernie Grunfeld and Bernard King, Tennessee's high-powered forwards, and guard Mike Jackson fouled out.

North Carolina-Charlotte lost a 13-point lead in the first half, then rallied with five free throws in the final two minutes of overtime in beating Central Michigan behind Cedric Maxwell's 32 points.

Led by Rick Robey, Kentucky hit on 11 of 12 second-half shots and went on to beat Princeton. The Wildcats' center scored 20 points.

Ron Carter and Will Bynum pumped in 18 points apiece as VMI used a patient offense in defeating Duquesne. Norm Nixon scored 27 points for the Dukes. Don Williams scored 25 points, leading Notre Dame past Hofstra. The Irish overcame a 35-point performance by Hofstra's Rich Laurel.

Tom Zaliagiris hit the go-ahead shot with 1:17 remaining, then North Carolina used a four-corner offense in beating Purdue. The Tar Heels played without two of their starting frontcourt players, Walter Davis and Tom LaGarde, both of whom were injured.

Brad Holland scored 16 points in the second half, sparking UCLA past Louisville. Holland poured in 11 points in five minutes, triggering the Bruins into a 66-65 lead, and had a three-point play in the last four minutes, breaking open the game.

Seven-footer Steve Hayes scored 29 points and dominated the backboards with 6-10 teammate Jeff Cook, leading Idaho State past Long Beach State. Greg Deane scored 25 points, mostly on long-range jumpers, and Ed Williams hit three clutch free throws in the closing seconds, leading Utah over St. John's.

Reggie Theus scored 27 points, pacing Nevada-Las Vegas over San Francisco. The loss cut short a brilliant season for the Dons, who had won 29 straight games before losing their last two.

Jerome Whitehead and Bo Ellis combined for 16 second-half points, rallying Marquette past Cincinnati. The victory was the 400th for Warriors Coach Al McGuire, who is retiring at the end of this season. Curtis Redding's 32 points led Kansas State over Providence. The game was close all the way, with 18 lead changes and nine ties.

A turnaround jump shot by Gary Wilson with three seconds to go lifted Southern Illinois over Arizona. Jerry Schellenberg scored 12 of his 17 points in the second half, sparking Wake Forest over Arkansas, a team that had lost only one game during the regular season.

Not that it is not possible. East Carolina has been within a hair of getting a super player for a long time. Perhaps Gillman will be the one to bring in the first one.

If so, the Bucs could be well on their way.

Again, we would hope that all of the current players on the team will stick around and give the new coach a chance. As always with a coaching change there are unhappy players, and there are rumors that some players will be bailing out to go to other schools. We hope that such rumors are false.

We also want to wish ECU assistant coach Butch Estes the best of luck in his future.

Estes wanted the job at East Carolina, and we supported his candidacy. From what we can learn, probably the biggest thing against Estes is that he was already here. He was well qualified, and he is a good recruiter, but there was a desire to go to the outside, and that finished him.

Estes will probably move on, and we hope that where ever he goes, he will continue to be successful.

Our congratulations also go to the North Pitt Panthers, who finished second in the State 3-A Tournament Saturday night.

Naturally, they and we would have liked to have seen them win the title, but it wasn't to be. Nevertheless, the team did an outstanding job to get as far as it did, and they have nothing to be ashamed of. They did their best, all anyone can do.

The northern Pitt communities can be proud of the team, as should the rest of the county for their fine representation in the tournament.

3 N.C. Teams Are Still Alive

By The Associated Press

All three North Carolina representatives in NCAA tournaments came away first round winners in weekend college basketball games.

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte won a 91-86 overtime victory over Central Michigan in the Midwest Regionals Sunday in Bloomington, Ind.

Wake Forest fought back from a dismal first half to beat the Razorbacks of Arkansas, 86-80, in Norman, Okla.

And North Carolina, after trailing most of the second half, came from behind to beat a tough Purdue team, 69-66.

The 49ers lost a 13-point lead in the first half, but sharp free throw shooting in the overtime period saved the game for them.

The 49ers meet Syracuse Thursday in the NCAA Midwest semifinals in Lexington, Ky.

Wake Forest will head on the same day for Oklahoma City for a Midwest Regional contest with Southern Illinois.

Rod Griffin was high man for the Deacons with 26 points and Skip Brown added 23.

The Tar Heels earned themselves a berth against Notre Dame Thursday in the Eastern Regional semifinals at College Park, Md.

Phil Ford is probably as responsible as anyone, since it was his two free throws that iced the game.

New VYDATE two-shot tobacco plan stops both nematodes and flea beetles.

Now you can apply VYDATE preplant incorporated in your tobacco fields for nematodes, and later add VYDATE to your transplant water for flea beetles and nematodes.

This new VYDATE plan gives you proven, effective protection against your two worst pest problems. With both nematodes and flea beetles under control, you can look forward to vigorous early growth leading to uniform flowering, and larger, more uniform leaves at harvest. Here's the two-shot plan:

Shot one: Broadcast VYDATE preplant and incorporate to a depth of 4 to 6 inches; then form your beds from treated soil. No waiting period is required. The preplant treatment can be made right up to the time of transplanting. VYDATE kills rootknot and lesion nematodes on contact. Then VYDATE moves into tobacco roots for systemic kill of feeding nematodes.

Shot two: Add VYDATE to your transplant water when transplanting young plants. VYDATE quickly moves into the plants to stop flea beetles as they feed.

And this second VYDATE treatment gives you "booster shot" protection against nematodes. VYDATE in the transplant water needs no rainfall to start it working, and the systemic protection won't wash off. Just one economical, liquid product does the whole job.

Check out this new VYDATE two-shot tobacco plan with your dealer now.

As VYDATE is a highly toxic chemical and protective equipment is recommended, read and follow labeling instructions and warnings carefully.

Moriarty Looks To The Theater

By JAY SHARBUTT
 AP Television Writer
 LOS ANGELES (AP) — Michael Moriarty played a baseball pitcher in "Bang the Drum Slowly," a Marine big officer in "The Last Detail" and a cop in "Report to the Commissioner." Now he's back in sports.

He checks in Wednesday on a CBS movie, "The Deadliest Season," cast as a pro hockey player known as an "enforcer," a chap who smites opponents much more vigorously than do his teammates.

It's his first TV shot, he says, since 1973, when he played Jim O'Connor, a gentleman caller, in a made-for-ABC version of Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie."

But this doesn't mean he prefers movie work to TV labors.

"No, in fact the last flick I did was two years ago, so there's no greater prejudice," he started laughing — "in either area."

Moriarty, 35, of Detroit, and grandson of a former Detroit Tigers third baseman, makes no bones about the fact his main bag is the theater, not the movie or television hustle.

This came during a phone chat from New York. He was asked if the networks ever suggested he try a series. He said they had, that his reply had been thanks but no thanks. But a qualification has since been added.

"I know now what I want to do with the next 15-20 years of my life, and that's to build a theater in New York," said the actor, educated at Dartmouth and the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Arts.

"I want to start a theater company and I want to be an actor-manager. And if, in order to support me while I build my theater — which is only a dream now — if I had to take a series, I don't think I'd turn it down."

"I don't particularly want to do one, because I don't think I'd be very good in a series. But who knows?"

Moriarty, who drew rave reviews for his acting in "Find Your Way Home" on Broadway several years ago, already has picked a name, a somewhat improbable one, for his acting company: Potter's Field.

He said the troupe he has in mind would feature works by "known and unknown playwrights with known and unknown actors," but he doesn't think he'll be able to get it underway for at least two years.

"It's going to take that long to work up enough ideas so I can move in a number of directions, but that's my dream. I'm not in a hurry about it."

Moriarty, who says he'd continue film and TV work even after he established his acting troupe, was advised — no doubt needlessly — the odds against success of such a venture in New York are a bit large.

"I understand, but it's my life, I feel, and the best parts of my life have always been long shots," he replied. "And when I take 'em (big chances) from my guts I've always won."

In the spring of 1977, a National Beef Referendum will be held to decide whether or not to adopt the Beef Research and Information Program. The program was developed by the Beef Development Taskforce, an industrywide committee of 15 cattle industry leaders, representing eight national cattlemen's organizations. The objectives of the program are to raise funds for beef research, consumer education, producer information, promotion and market development programs. The program's ultimate goal is to provide more profit for producers and better products and more stable supplies for consumers.

Costs to the producer would be 3/10 of percent of the sales value. For example, a producer selling a calf for $100 would owe 30 cents. The plan is designed so that the cow-calf man, stocker operator, feeder, anyone who owns the animal, will pay his fair share, based on the value that he adds. Approximately $30 to $40 million a year will be raised. At the present time, only about $4 million is spent by the entire beef industry for research promotion and education. If a producer does not want to participate, he may write the Beef Board, supplying evidence of how much has been paid in assessments, to receive a refund.

The funds collected will be managed by a Beef Board made up of cattlemen nominated by existing cattlemen's organization. Representation on the Beef Board will be based on the number of Cattle in each state. All states will be represented. The Beef Board will decide how the money will be spent, but the Beef Development Taskforce visualizers that approximately half should be spent on promotion, consumer information, and consumer education, and about half on nutrition research, new product research, distribution research, production research, and foreign market development. In addition, 10 percent of all collected funds will go back to states based on the production percentage of each state in relation to total U.S. production.

To vote in the referendum, a producer must register with the ASCS in the county where his cattle are located and certify that he has owned cattle during the past 12 months. Then after a two-week waiting period, he may vote for or against the program at the ASCS office. Absentee forms, for registration and for voting, will be available upon request. Dates for registration and voting will be announced at a later date.

Q.1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠KJ83 ♥762 ♦1095 ♣QJ7
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 NT Pass Pass 2 ♠
 2 NT Pass ?
 What action do you take?

A.—You must take some action, and there are three reasonable choices: a bid of two spades, a raise to two no trump, or a double. We slightly favor the latter. Your side has a combined count of at least 23 points, with most of the strength poised over the balancer. A double is by no means a sure thing, for West may be bidding on distribution and East may produce a useful dummy, but the risks are acceptable.

Q.2—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠QJ92 ♥Q84 ♦73 ♠J862
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 ♠ Dble. Pass 1 ♠
 2 NT Pass ?
 What action do you take?

A.—Bid three no trump. Partner's auction shows a hand almost worth a two no trump opening bid. He surely has the equivalent of 21 points, and you have 6. Simple arithmetic solves this problem.

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠A872 ♥KQ82 ♦Q754 ♠6
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 Pass 3 ♠ Dble. Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—Your side should have at least game, and even slam is conceivable. But in which suit? You should not make the choice unilaterally. By cue-bidding the enemy suit, you give partner the option of selecting a suit, and you can support whichever he picks.

Q.4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠Q73 ♥93 ♦AQ6 ♠AQ853
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—You could play it cute by bidding three diamonds, but the choice is really between three no trump and three spades. With such a large part of your values in diamonds, we would opt for the former, and, because of your tenaces, no trump should be played from your side.

Q.5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠A1095 ♥A9762 ♦1097 ♠6

At Least 9 People Died In Traffic

By The Associated Press
A mother and her small daughter were killed in a car-truck accident Saturday. They were among at least nine people killed in North Carolina traffic accidents over the weekend.

The State Highway Patrol reported 211 killed so far this year, compared with 256 at this time last year.

The double fatality accident was in Roanoke Rapids. The victims were Olivia Wade Alston, 21, of Weldon and her 2-year-old daughter, Teshena, who died several hours after the accident at Duke Medical Center.

In other weekend accidents, the victims were:

—Forrest Reddick, 55, of Gatesville, killed Saturday when he was hit by a vehicle on N.C. 37, one mile north of Gatesville.

—James A. Everett Jr., 22, of Nashville, when his car went out of control, hit a bridge and overturned into a creek one mile north of Nashville.

—Louise Frances Hull, 56, of Kenansville, in a two-vehicle collision early Saturday on U.S. 158, nine miles north of Greensboro.

—Michael F. Cummings, 21, of Durham, when the car he was driving crossed the Interstate 85 median and collided with two other cars Sunday.

—Flora Mae Arnold, 79, of Lillington, when she was struck by a vehicle on a Harnett County rural paved road Sunday just east of Lillington.

—Theodore Seymore, 52, of Mayock, killed Sunday when a moving car hit a parked car, which smashed into Seymore on a rural paved road about five miles south of his home.

—Frieda Jeanette Heath, 19, of Clayton, killed Sunday when the car she was driving hit an embankment and overturned on a rural unpaved road nearly eight miles west of Smithfield.

Endangered By Vandals

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Vandalism directed at trains and their cargoes is endangering the lives of train crews in the Winston-Salem area, according to railroad officials.

"Our biggest trouble is people tampering with switches and putting obstructions on rails," said T.L. Rosenbaum, a railroad officer for 27 years and now detective in charge of policing three railroads around Winston-Salem.

One of the most hazardous kinds of vandalism involves guns, he said. There has been a rash of incidents in which people have taken pot shots at passing trains. In one of the worst instances, a carload of teenagers lay waiting at a crossing with a shotgun and blasted the caboose as it went by.

"You know, we have a man in the caboose sitting at the window looking out," Rosenbaum said.

Among the most popular targets, according to Winston-Salem Southbound Railroad vice president Michael W. Franke, are trains carrying new automobiles.

"I have seen trains come in here with 10 to 20 windows broken out of the automobiles," Rosenbaum said. "That sort of thing runs into the hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of damage."

Rosenbaum is in charge of surveillance on the Southbound, the High Point-Thomasville and Denton Railway Co. and the Norfolk and Western Railway Co.

He said sometimes he and his men ride along highways ahead of the trains and stay in touch with the engineers by radio, a strategy that sometimes permits them to catch vandals in the act.

Effective For Fighting Colds

PUEBLO, Colo. (UPI) — Ancient Romans sipped warm onion broth to combat the common cold. Colonial Americans relied on herbal teas.

The General Services Administration with the cooperation of the Food and Drug Administration is putting its faith in a review of ingredients in nonprescription drugs that the FDA has found safe, effective and not mislabeled.

The agencies say none of the drugs will cure or even shorten a cold; they just make it easier to live with while it runs its course.
