

Moluccans Release 105 Young Hostages

By ED BLANCHE
Associated Press Writer
ASSEN, The Netherlands (AP) — Four days of doubt and fear ended for 105 Dutch children and their parents early today when armed Asian extremists released all of the students — half of them ill with a stomach virus — and one teacher from a village schoolhouse.

At least 55 hostages remained the captives of a separate band of South Moluccan terrorists on a train 15 miles north of the school.

Police said three teachers and the principal remained captive in the school at Bovensmilde, a farming village in northern Holland. Authorities had said six adults were being held but the freed teacher said only himself and four others were in the crowded school.

More than 50 of the children, aged 6 to 12, were suffering from a virus infection which swept through the students crowded together in the one-story elementary school, officials said.

The ailing children were taken by ambulances to a hospital in nearby Assen, where 26 were admitted. Their conditions were not known.

The illness was understood to have caused vomiting and diarrhea at the schoolhouse. Red Cross officials told parents to give their children a hot bath and send them to bed. The children were told not to eat or drink too much at first.

Dutch Justice Ministry spokesman, Wim van Leeuwen, said the six Moluccan terrorists at the school apparently decided to let the children go as one after another fell ill.

"They're going to be all right," said van Leeuwen.

In The Hague, Premier Joop Den Uyl told reporters the government was encouraged by the developments and would work on "patiently" to win the freedom of all the hostages.

Justice Minister Andreas van Agt said in a radio broadcast, "Things threatened to go wrong for a moment, but now they (the children) are all out of the school building."

He apparently referred to a terrorist complaint at one point that the operation was not moving fast enough. The government had refused to begin serious negotiations unless the children were freed.

In response to questions, van Agt denied that food sent to the hostages and gunmen had been tampered with. Authorities have been making regular deliveries of food, water and medicines to the school.

The release began just after 4 a.m. and took 2½ hours. Parents were held by police behind crash barriers a distance from the school.

State police said seven other Moluccan extremists continued to hold their hostages aboard a passenger train they hijacked Monday. Police and troops ring the train, sitting in lush farmland north of Assen.

The gunmen took the train and school hostages in a bid to force the Dutch government to free 21 Moluccan extremists jailed for terrorist activity in this country.

Quash Revolt

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The Marxist government of Angolan President Agostinho Neto apparently put down a revolt today by extreme leftists as shooting and explosions were heard in the capital of Luanda.

Radio Luanda said "the rebellion has been crushed" just before Neto, whose Soviet and Cuban-backed Popular Movement took over Angola in the 1975 civil war, began a speech to his Central African nation.

A Luanda-based correspondent for the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug quoted one of the 10,000-15,000 Cuban troops stationed in Angola as saying, "the reaction has been overcome, what else."

The correspondent said the city was virtually deserted except for truckloads of soldiers in full combat dress. Cuban troops were checking identification papers.

Truckloads of heavily armed troops were seen rushing toward the presidential palace.

According to Tanjug, the revolt appeared led by supporters of former Interior Minister Nito Alves, purged last Saturday for opposing Neto's plans to withdraw the Cubans, encourage Western investments and restore ties with Portugal, the former colonial power.

Soon after the shooting started about 3 a.m., the leftists broadcast an appeal over Radio Luanda for the release of Alves and another radical, Jose van Dunem, the agency reported.

A few hours later, the radio was back in the hands of Neto's supporters, and by 8:30 a.m. local time most of the shooting had stopped.

Neto reportedly wants to lure Portuguese and other Westerners back to Angola to buttress the nation's economy and ease its reliance on the Cubans.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Soviet Union has demanded extradition of a 37-year-old engineer who hijacked a Russian airliner to Stockholm, but Swedish officials say they do not have to give him up.

Soviet diplomats were on the scene Thursday only minutes after the twin-engine Anatov-24 aircraft with 18 passengers and a crew of five set down at Arlanda International Airport. Police said the hijacker had pretended to carry explosives but a search revealed none.

The hijacker left the plane with police and authorities said he asked to become a "refugee." Swedish officials complied with the hijacker's request not to be identified but they said he was from Byeloz rusia near Poland in the western part of the Soviet Union.

"According to the preliminary interrogation we understand he wants political asylum here even if he has not formally made a request in so many words," a police spokesman said.

It was the first hijacking of a Soviet airliner to another country since 1970 when two planes were forcibly flown to Turkey.

Soviet Ambassador Michail Jakovlev, who described the 37-year-old hijacker as a terrorist and a "bandit," called undersecretary of state, Leif Liefland, to demand Sweden expel the man.

"Sweden follows the Hague convention concerning hijackers which means that we extradite them or try them before a Swedish court," Liefland told reporters.

President Carter Begins Nuclear Submarine Cruise

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — President Carter set out to sea today aboard the nation's newest nuclear-powered, hunter-killer submarine, eager to take the helm and perhaps willing to let wife Rosalynn have a turn in the "driver's seat."

Accompanied by Adm. Hyman Rickover, "father of the nuclear Navy," the President and Mrs. Carter boarded the attack sub Los Angeles at Port Canaveral for an eight-hour cruise in, and even under, the Atlantic.

Carter, an Annapolis graduate, joked to reporters that when he was a career submarine officer, the undersea craft were called boats. He said they've grown so large they are now known as ships.

"Do you have any last words?" a reporter inquired shortly before two Navy tugs began nudging the Los Angeles into a narrow channel leading to the ocean.

"No," said Carter, laughing heartily, "because they won't be last words."

The President was whistled — not piped — aboard the submarine and, as he disappeared down an open hatch, the presidential ensign was raised from the coming tower.

The President, who gave up a career as a Navy submarine officer in 1953 to take over the family's Georgia peanut farm, told reporters he was eager to take the helm of the Los Angeles.

"I'm looking forward to it," he said. "I've never operated on a nuclear submarine before."

Although Carter recalled he was "the officer in charge of getting the second nuclear sub ready for sea," the sleek vessels pioneered by Adm. Hyman Rickover did not become operational until after the President left the Navy.

Rickover was making the voyage aboard the Los Angeles with the Carters.

When the President was asked if he thought he could handle the ship, he replied: "Oh, I think so. They've got some automatic devices to prevent serious errors."

Then he added, with a laugh, "And I'm sure I will be well watched."

A Navy official said Mrs. Carter also would be given the opportunity to take the helm of the Los Angeles.

The Carters arrived on the Georgia resort island of St. Simons Thursday afternoon for the Memorial Day weekend.

Mrs. Carter will be leaving nearby Brunswick, Ga., Monday for a 12-day Caribbean and Latin American tour and her husband will be on hand to help launch the journey.

The President was hardly back on Georgia soil when he told reporters:

"I'm going to put on some blue jeans, some Keds and get outdoors. We'll probably fish a little while."

Fishing has been one of the attractions that has brought the Carters back to St. Simons repeatedly in recent years, the First Lady seeming to be as ardent about the sport as her husband.

Economic Index Enjoys Third Monthly Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government index designed to foreshadow future economic trends rose in April by five-tenths of 1 per cent, the third straight monthly increase, the Commerce Department said today.

At the same time, the agency revised sharply upward the March index from 1.4 per cent to 1.9 per cent, the biggest monthly advance since the 2.3 per cent gain in July 1975.

The gain in the index for the third consecutive month indicated the nation's economy should continue to grow in months ahead, even though the April increase was much smaller than the March advance.

The index of leading indicators is composed of 12 individual economic statistics. It weighs the statistics in an attempt to determine which way the nation's economy is headed.

Contributing most to the April gain in the index was a change in so-called sensitive prices. Also advancing were sales performance, contracts and orders for plant and equipment, and the money supply.

The largest negative influence came from a decline in building permits. Also declining were the average work week, down to 40.2 hours from 40.4 hours in March, change in liquid assets, stock prices and new orders for manufactured goods.

Unchanged in April was the job layoff rate.

No figures were available for the change in business inventories and net business formation.

The index stood in April at 130.7 of the 1967 average of 100. That was still below the pre-recession high of 133.5 in February 1973.

The Commerce Department said the upward revision in the March index resulted primarily from new tallies on liquid assets during the period.

SEEKING CONTROL
ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — Continental Telephone Corp., a nationwide communications company based in St. Louis, Mo., is seeking to acquire Norfolk Carolina Telephone Co. through a $13 million stock exchange offer, the head of Norfolk Carolina says.

Bergland Says Farm Programs Will Be Kept

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland told a standing-room only crowd of 2,500 tobacco growers today that "talk of eliminating the farm programs begun in the 1930s is nonsense."

Bergland, in a three-stop visit to the state, addressed members of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation.

He said the price support programs are essential because farmers have no way of predicting weather conditions or the conditions of international markets.

"I've been farming 27 years and I've had average weather for two years," he said.

Bergland told the audience his visit was prompted by a desire to learn about the tobacco industry. "I need to learn as much as I can," he said.

In response to a question from John Sledge of the N.C. Farm Bureau, Bergland said his department plans to review the Food for Peace program to see if it can be made more effective, and plans to support tobacco's role in that program.

"So long as there are countries that want to buy the tobacco, we are prepared to finance it," he said.

Bergland also scheduled an airport news conference in Lumberton and visits to the Wilson County tobacco farms of Nehemiah Pearce and Dick Williamson.

New Telephone Directory Is Indefinitely Delayed

Carolina Telephone announced that its new Greenville area directory, previously scheduled for delivery Aug. 1, will be delayed.

Company president J. C. Cluen said that publication of the directory is being postponed in response to an order from the N.C. Utilities Commission.

The commission restrained Carolina Telephone from printing the new listing until a hearing is held on company plans to merge listings for several area towns into one section.

According to Cluen, the delay order resulted from a formal complaint of some of the company's subscribers to the proposed integration of listings into the single alphabetical section.

The complaints, from customers in Ayden, Bethel, Snow Hill and Farmville, cited the potential loss of identity of their towns and inconvenience resulting from the elimination of separate listings for their communities in the central directory.

"All of our directories contain listings of customers living in several different towns and areas," Cluen contended.

He added, "We feel that the combining of these listings into one section is in public interest and will enable the directory users to locate numbers much quicker."

The official pointed out that the merging of the listings is also consistent with the practice followed throughout the telephone industry.

"It is not a matter of savings but another step to make the directory more usable," Cluen commented.

According to the president, "the company will request a formal hearing before the Commission and this will delay printing of a new directory. We sincerely hope that the continued use of the current directory for some period of time will cause our customers a minimum of inconvenience."

A HOTLINE APPEAL

BROTHERS WRECK VICTIMS

Douglas Westbrook, a Kinston construction worker, 33, ran out of gas on Highway 70 near Kinston Monday night, May 9. He called his brother, Bobby, 26, to take him some fuel. One of Douglas's twin sons, Jerry, 13, asked to go with his uncle.

The gasoline had been placed in the tank when a car coming along the highway at a high rate of speed went through the group. The driver was killed.

Bobby has been in a coma at Pitt Memorial Hospital ever since. Hotline appealed last week and quickly found for a place for his wife, Debbie, 25, to stay at nights. His condition is critical and has changed little, if any, his physicians tell her. He was moved Wednesday to a room where she can be with him more.

Douglas had his left leg amputated below the knee. Jerry sustained two broken legs. Both are patients in Lenoir Memorial Hospital in Kinston.

Susie, Douglas's wife, is a cotton mill employee. Debbie had been attending Lenoir Community College, working toward a secretarial degree before the accident.

The Rev. Willis Wilson of Reedy Branch FWB Church is appealing for gifts of money for the two families. Anyone who would like to help may send a check to the church and mark it "for Westbrooks." Gifts channeled through churches are, of course, tax deductible. The address of Reedy Branch Church is Rt. 1, Box 18, Winterville, N. C. 28590.

Divided Over Educational Philosophies: Green

By DAVID R. NELSEN
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green, who said he believes in emphasizing the basic skills in education, characterized a running dispute with Gov. Jim Hunt as a fight over principles and philosophy.

In an impromptu meeting with newsmen Thursday, Green agreed with a statement by Hunt on Wednesday that the two have philosophical differences over educational issues. Green emphasized a conservative view of teaching and made several comments about Hunt's reading and testing proposals, making it apparent that he does not fully agree with them.

"I just believe in basics," Green said. He also said he thought it unfair to compare abilities of children from different parts of the state, a common criticism of Hunt's testing proposal. In addition, Green praised a reading program being tested in the Durham schools which is different than the Hunt proposal.

The Hunt-Green clash has centered over chairmanship of the state Board of Education. Green was elected interim chairman when former chairman Dallas Herring resigned following Hunt's decision not to reappoint him to another term.

Green wants to keep the job but Hunt wants his own appointee, Dr. David Bruton of Southern Pines, to head the board, saying the governor needs a compatible chairman. Hunt supporters apparently are a majority of the board, but bills have been filed that would make the lieutenant governor the permanent chairman.

One bill has passed the Senate. Green met with reporters in his office to announce that he would send the bill to the House today after holding it since Monday to "think about it." Hunt supporters have vowed to kill the measure in the House.

"I thought I'd wait and see what the weekend lobbying amounted to," he said, explaining another reason for holding the bill. Hunt sent letters to supporters in the House of Representatives over the weekend urging them to vote against the bill.

The dispute is not over personalities, but is a matter of principles, Green said.

"At what point does a person lie down completely for his supporters? At what point does a man on the mound start throwing homerun balls so his team gets the heck beat out of it?"

he said, "I'm simply trying to represent the people who said they wanted me to be chairman of the board."

Thursday, Green said at one point that Bruton was not as qualified for the chairmanship because he had no experience in state government or handling the state budget.

Green also said he has been encouraged by people he meets while traveling around the state. "I've had nothing but complimentary remarks," he said.

Public Health Degree Available

ECU News Bureau
East Carolina University has begun a cooperative program with the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, School of Public Health to offer a Master of Public Health Degree in Administration and Nursing at ECU.

Provided by the School of Public Health at UNC and co-sponsored by the ECU School of Allied Health and Social Professions and the Eastern Area Health Education Center, the program is designed for professionals who have administrative experience in health and social services agencies.

"Our goal is to make part-time graduate work more easily accessible to the full-time health professional," said Bill Herzog, director of the Off-Campus Master's Degree Program at UNC.

Courses in Public Health Administration began March 10. The students enrolled are full-time health employees from surrounding towns including Elizabeth City, Ahoskie, New Bern, Wilson and Goldsboro. They attend classes one day a week and expect to complete the program in about three years.

"These people will be able to obtain their degrees from the UNC School of Public Health without ever having to attend classes on the UNC campus," said Herzog, who teaches an afternoon class on the Ecology of Human Health.

He said the program was the first venture of its type between the two campuses. Other programs conducted in Raleigh and Asheville since 1969 have enabled over 50 professionals to receive their degrees in Public Health Administration.

A similar program leading to a Master's Degree in Public Health Nursing will begin at ECU in August.

"This is the first time that this program for registered nurses has been offered outside of the UNC campus," Herzog said.

Those interested in more information about the programs in Public Health Administration and Public Health Nursing should contact Donald R. Dancy, Department of Community Health, ECU School of Allied Health and Social Professions, Tel. 757-6964.

Public's View Of Poor 'Distorted': Califano

WASHINGTON (AP) - To help pave the way for welfare reform, President Carter's expert on the issue is trying to dispel what he calls "pernicious myths" about people who get the benefits.

Joseph A. Califano Jr., the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, says a distorted public view of America's poor is one of the major barriers to real reform.

If that's the case, his boss will have to share part of the blame, because Carter had a role in shaping the attitudes his administration now seeks to change.

One of the beliefs Califano disputes is that substantial numbers of welfare recipients could work, but won't.

As part of his campaign call for welfare reform that would treat the poor with compassion and respect, Carter said about 10 per cent of the people on welfare are capable of working and should be taken out of the program, put into training if they need it, offered jobs, and denied further benefits if they refuse to work.

Judging by the applause that used to draw, it was a popular line.

According to Califano's figures, it is incorrect.

He says nearly 71 per cent of the nation's 26 million poor people are children under 16, or aged, or disabled, or students or mothers with children under six.

Another 19 per cent do work, full or part time. Eight per cent are women, most of them with family responsibilities.

"Only 2 per cent of the 26 million poor people even resemble the mythical welfare stereotype - non-aged, non-disabled males who do not work," Califano said. "And census figures indicate that most of this group is between 62 and 64, ill, or looking for work."

Among other points on Califano's list of myths to be undone:

-That the poor are a permanent underclass, most of them in poverty for life. Over a six-year period that ended in 1972, about 11 per cent of the nation's population was living in poverty - but they were not the same people. Only 3 per cent of the population was poor in each of those years. The others moved in or out of the poverty class, something that happens to between 7.5 and 10 million people a year.

-That most poor people are black, or members of the minority groups. "The fact is that 69 per cent of the American poor are white."

New Nursing Approach Being Established

By DAN HALL
Associated Press Writer
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A growing number of hospitals are giving patients better care — in a few cases, even saving their lives — simply by assigning a specific nurse to each patient, says the developer of the concept.

The key to the approach, which is called primary nursing, is its tendency to give the nurse more insight into a patient's condition, both medical and emotional, according to Marie Manthey.

Unlike the common approach of team nursing, in which some nurses take temperatures, others do other tasks throughout a unit, the primary nurse is responsible for the entire care of just three or four patients until the day they are released.

"In team nursing we used the mass production approach to take care of tasks, not patients. It became evident this focus on tasks wasn't meeting the patients' needs," Mrs. Manthey, director of nursing at Yale-New Haven Hospital said.

She developed primary nursing in 1970 while serving as assistant director of nursing at University of Minnesota Hospitals in Minneapolis and has been active in carrying the concept to hundreds of hospitals throughout the nation.

"Patients and relatives have told me that lives have been saved because of primary nursing," she said in an interview. In one hospital, a patient was steered away from suicide by the special concern of "her nurse," she said.

Statistics are beginning to bear out Mrs. Manthey's belief that primary nursing improves hospital efficiency as well as patient care.

The University of Michigan compared two groups of nurses, one primary and the other team, caring for kidney transplant patients under similar circumstances, she said.

Patients receiving primary care averaged less than one medical complication after the operation, compared with four complications under team nursing. As a result, they were released from the hospital a week earlier than the others, she said.

"The primary nurse knew her patients and recognized complications as soon as they arose," she explained.

Primary nursing cannot be put into effect immediately at a hospital because the entire group of nurses assigned to a "station" covering a floor or unit must be behind the change for it to work, Mrs. Manthey said.

During her 13 months at Yale-New Haven, about 10 of the hospital's 40 stations have made the change and a dozen others are considering it, she added.

"I have to let the nurses decide by themselves. But they'll explained right." The concept is catching on so well that new

French Chef Goes American

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
A soothsayer must have whispered to Julia Child, The French Chef of television fame: "You will do a new TV series, this time concerned with American cooking, and your programs will again be successful."

For Julia is working on such a series — and that's quite a switch. It will be some time, however, before the shows are aired. Meanwhile her latest book, "From Julia Child's Kitchen," (Knopf) is a mighty good read.

Julia Child has boundless energy, enormous culinary curiosity and an interest in telling all — about cooking. Her recipes are written in detail. A while ago when Julia and I were chatting, I suddenly asked, "Are you a 'born' cook?" "No!" she shot back.

Her response proved a theory of mine: "born" cooks rarely have the patience, interest or skill to write the most explicit recipes. Julia does. Thus, her cookbooks are a windfall for would-be or seasoned epicures who are passionate about the merits of French cooking but feel timid in the kitchen.

There's a recipe for a bitter-sweet French chocolate cake in "From Julia Child's Kitchen" that was successfully tried by my recipe-tester, one of my neighbors and several other friends. It's a real delicacy. "To keep the cake light," Julia writes, "sifted cornstarch rather than flour goes in." Because of space limitations our adaptation of the recipe "runs in" the ingredients and slightly shortens the directions.

JULIA CHILD'S GATEAU AU CHOCOLATE
Blend 2 teaspoons instant espresso coffee and ¼ cup boiling water in a 6-cup saucepan, set in a larger pan of simmering water, and remove from heat. Break up 7 ounces semisweet chocolate and 2 ounces unsweetened chocolate; stir into the coffee, cover and set aside to melt slowly until you are ready to use it.

Smear 2 teaspoons soft butter over the entire inside surfaces of two 8 by 1½-inch round one-piece cake pans. With wax paper line bottom of each pan, hospitals have opened up suing it, she said. In cases where it has been rejected, she added, it generally is because the director of the nursing is afraid of losing authority.

butter paper, then roll ¼ cup flour around in first pan to coat inside completely. Knock flour out into second pan, coat it and knock out excess flour.

Have ready ¾ cup cornstarch, measured by sifting directly into dry-measure cups and sweeping off excess.

Separate 4 large eggs, dropping the whites into a clean dry beating bowl and the yolks into a 3 to 4-quart mixing bowl.

With a portable electric beater start beating the yolks, gradually adding 2-3rds cup sugar, and continue beating until yolks are thick, pale yellow and, when a bit is lifted in blades of beater, it drops off in a thick ribbon that slowly dissolves on the surface of the mixture — about 3 minutes beating.

Chocolate should now be soft. If not, remove pan and reheat water; remove from heat, set chocolate pan in again, and beat the chocolate with the portable beater until perfectly smooth. Beat in 4 ounces (1 stick) soft unsalted butter, 2 tablespoons at a time, then gradually beat the chocolate-butter mixture into the egg-yolk mixture.

With clean beater blades, start beating the egg whites at moderately low speed for a minute or so, until foaming, and beat in ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar and a pinch of salt.

Gradually increase speed to fast, and continue beating until egg whites hold their shape in soft peaks; gradually beat in 2 tablespoons sugar; continue to beat until they form stiff shining peaks.

Being sure chocolate and egg-yolk mixture is smooth and soft — stir over hot water if it has stiffened — sift over it one quarter of the cornstarch, and scoop in one quarter of the egg whites; stir in with a rubber spatula. Then scoop rest of egg whites on top, sift over it one-third of the remaining cornstarch and begin to fold in as follows: Plunge rubber spatula down from top center of egg whites to bottom of bowl, bring to edge of bowl, then turn it as you lift it back up to the surface, thus bringing a bit of the chocolate up over the egg whites. Rapidly repeat the movement several times, rotating the bowl as you do so. Sift on half the rest of the cornstarch, continue with several rapid scoops of the spatula, then sift on the last of the cornstarch, and continue folding until blended. Entire folding process should take about a minute.

At once turn the batter into the two prepared cake pans; with a spatula run batter up the edge all around so cakes won't slump in the middle. Bang pans once. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven, with rack set in lower-middle level, 15 minutes; cakes will rise to top of pans and are done when only the center shakes a little when moved gently. Cool in pans on racks. Cakes will sink slightly. Because cakes are delicate, chill after cooling and then unmold.

Melt 1 teaspoon instant espresso coffee with 2 tablespoons boiling water, 4 ounces semisweet chocolate and 1 ounce unsweetened chocolate over hot water and remove from heat; beat in 2 ounces (½ stick) unsalted butter. If too liquid for easy spreading, beat over cold water until lightly thickened. Use this glaze for a filling between the cake layers and for covering the top and sides of the cake. Glazed cake may be refrigerated or frozen but ALWAYS bring it to room temperature before serving. Serves 8 or more.

She's Jealous Of Husband And Children

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and our daughter were too close to suit me. They were cutting me out, so I solved it by telling my husband a few things about her, and they are no longer close.

Then he developed a closeness with our son, and I used the same method, and our son left home.

Someone in our family who knew how I solved this problem sent me an article in which there was a similar situation. It said the wife was jealous of her own children.

Abby, because I want to be first in my husband's life, does that mean I am jealous?

I admit I'm jealous where other women are concerned because when he has had to go out of town on business, I always go with him. I trust him IN town, but not OUT of town. I think that kind of jealousy is normal, but I don't think it's possible to be jealous of my own children, do you?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: Yes. And from where I sit, I would say that you are. I would also say that the "method" you used to break up the "closeness" between your husband and your children was underhanded and nothing to be proud of.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 53-year-old man who is very much in love with a 22-year-old girl. I know you think I'm crazy, but this girl really loves me. She even broke up with a young, good-looking man just for me. She worked for me for a short time, but we didn't want any talk around the place, so I had her quit.

My problem is my wife. She won't give me a divorce. Our children are grown, and I offered my wife a very good settlement, which she refused.

Abby, my girlfriend is the sweetest, most unspoiled girl in the world. She is just the opposite of my wife. She appreciates every little thing I've given her, like a small, inexpensive car, some clothes and taking care of her mother's hospital bill. I would gladly give up my last dime to be free to marry this girl. How can I get my wife to give in?

LONG ISLANDER

DEAR ISLANDER: Make her a better offer. She might surprise you. But don't "give up your last dime" for your freedom because that "sweet, unspoiled girl" might also surprise you and disappear when she discovers you're broke.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 28-year-old, college-educated man who takes a ping-pong ball to bed with him every night and keeps bouncing it off the wall and catching it until he gets tired enough to fall asleep? That's my husband.

He claims it "relieves tension." We have been married for two years, and he started this foolishness about six months ago. I have even considered leaving this nut!

PING-PONG PROBLEM

DEAR PING: Your husband is inconsiderate to relieve his tension in a manner that adds to yours. Suggest that he tell his troubles to a doctor before you tell yours to a lawyer.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

LIME PIE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Persian limes, the variety carried by supermarkets across the country, can be used instead of the little yellow Florida Key limes for Key lime pie. Prepare and bake a 9-inch pie crust or crumb crust. Let cool. Finely grate 2 teaspoons of the green peel from a lime and reserve. Squeeze enough limes to measure one-half cup juice. Stir the juice, half the reserved peel and 3 egg yolks into contents of 1 (14- or 15-ounce) can of sweetened, condensed milk until mixture is thick and evenly colored. Beat one egg white until stiff but not dry and fold into the milk mixture to lighten it. Reserve remaining egg whites for other uses. Chill pie well and serve with whipped cream topping lightly sprinkled with the remaining grated peel. Makes six servings.

Heat slices of leftover roast pork in a barbecue sauce and serve on toasted bread or buns for a great open sandwich.

Had Best Settle Their Rivalry

The differences between Gov. Jim Hunt and Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green have become so acute that House Speaker Carl Stewart is calling for a compromise.

Stewart said this week things were so bad that the General Assembly was having trouble carrying on its work.

Stewart said the two don't see eye-to-eye and there are "very serious personality problems" in their relationship.

Stewart asked for a compromise solution in the battle over who should be chairman of the State Board of Education, as a start. Green is currently chairman but Hunt wants Dr. David Burton elected chairman.

Green himself, didn't see the need for any patching up effort. "I don't need any mediator between me and the governor," he was reported to have said.

It has seems likely from news reports that competition between Gov. Hunt and Lt. Gov. Green is spirited.

If, as House Speaker Stewart maintains, the differences are retarding the legislative work then it is indeed time that something is done.

The governor and the lieutenant governor don't have to agree on everything, but if they can't agree on anything then North Carolina might have a problem.

It is time for the two men to sit down and see if they can't work out any differences that might be adversely affecting the work of the Legislature.

Saudi Arabia Could Be Very Helpful

Saudi Arabia says there will be no oil embargo against the United States to force a Middle East settlement, according to President Carter.

That is an assurance that should be worth a lot to the United States as it struggles with rising energy costs and dwindling oil supplies.

If Saudi Arabia doesn't withhold oil, it wouldn't be practical for other Arab nations to do so. The position of Saudi Arabia could be extremely helpful to the United States.

THIS AFTERNOON

Watkins Eyes Next Term

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—The General Assembly of North Carolina is a sleeping giant which doesn't use the power it has doesn't even realize it has such power, says State Rep. William T. (Billy) Watkins, D-Granville County.

"Our government in North Carolina was structured deliberately to have a strong legislative branch made up of citizens from across the state who truly represent the people.

"The executive branch is supposed only to recommend, and the General Assembly is supposed to study, filter, and determine if that is good or bad.

"That has not been followed," says the veteran lawmaker flatly.

Less Citizenship

And now, more currents are moving to even further dilute that deliberate citizen representation in state government: the governor is moving toward being able to serve two terms; legislators are lobbying among themselves for terms of four years in the General Assembly rather than two; annual sessions of the assembly have become a reality far before most predicted; length of sessions has grown horribly, now reaching six and seven months.

Physical evidence of the growing "professionalism" of the assembly is also available: little offices deliberately built to house the part-time citizen lawmaker for short periods now must hold the lawmaker and a secretary—each member has a secretary. Several now have aides. Plans are afoot for the Legislature to take space in another building so each member can have a private office again.

Watkins, who lost a bid against Carl J. Stewart, Jr., D-Gaston, to serve this session as Speaker of the House, is working very hard to gain that post next term (the 1979-80 session) despite Stewart's contention that he has locked up a repeat bid.

"My platform is this," says Watkins: "We have got to reorganize the General Assembly; and we have got to have a speaker who will stop using the post as a political stepping stone.

"In fact, we ought to have a law in North Carolina that no member of the General Assembly may run for a statewide office, or accept any job in the executive branch of government until after a two-year period out of office as a legislator."

As to reorganizing the assembly, Watkins candidly admits that "money is the name of the game in government... the whole thing is to see who gets to spend how much for what purpose."

No Relation

The present system has a spending committee, to approve the budget; a revenue committee, to approve income measures; and so much confusion that at the end a handful of people normally put together the Appropriations Bill which can neither be read, understood, nor challenged by legislators at large.

Other legislative committees study various proposals in specific fields education, agriculture, etc.) and approve "policy" matters, but those must then go to the "money" committees for action. Watkins would revamp the process this way:

The assembly would convene for about two weeks as the full House membership got a detailed budget briefing; then went back home until the spring when state revenue figures make it possible to get down to business.

Budget items would be assigned to actual committees involved in particular areas so that "policy" and "money" could be considered together.

"Who better to study and determine spending than the committees... this would provide full involvement of all members," Watkins said.

Then each committee chairman and two members of each committee would form the "money" committee and actually put the entire budget together.

"We ought to let 120 members do what five or six now do... they always have, and they always will, till we reorganize," Watkins said. His proposal "won't work miracles... but it is a start in the right direction... it does change directions and would pay off in a few years."

SIDEWALK SERENADE!

By ART BUCHWALD

Detroit, We're Rooting

Dear Detroit, I don't mean the city, but the automobile industry.

When I was a boy you were a legend in my house. My father said you could do anything. If people wanted convertibles you could make convertibles. If they wanted long fins on their cars you could give them long fins. One magic wave of your wand and you could make the best engine money could buy.

We kids used to sit on the side of the parkway pointing out Packards and Nashes and Studebakers and Hudsons and Fords and Buicks and Pontiacs and Chryslers and De Sotos, and zowie! every once in a while a Cord, which many of us agreed was the finest looking car of them all.

There was no doubt that Detroit was the GREATEST! When World War II came Detroit rose to the challenge producing tanks and guns and personnel carriers. No one told you how to do it. YOU KNEW HOW TO DO IT! There was no question in any GI's mind. Whether it came to Jeeps or bulldozers, Detroit was turning out the stuff that would make Hitler and Mussolini and Tojo sorry they ever messed with the good old U.S.A.

You were beautiful, Detroit, and the country knew once the war was over, you would provide us with all our peacetime dreams. Some kids may have been fighting for Mom's Apple Pie, but there were a lot more fighting for the new Ford, or in the case of officers, the new Lincoln, that they were saving up to buy when we buried the Germans and sank the Japs.

Yessir, you were something. After the war you rolled up your sleeves, and your engineers gave us air conditioning and stereos and windows that opened and closed by pressing a button. You put an engine in the back, an engine in the front; you gave us tinted glass and defrosters (front and rear), and you figured out a way of building the radio aerial right inside the windshield so no one could see it.

You designed more powerful motors and better brakes, and gave us seats that would fall down into beds. There was nothing that you couldn't think of to make the car better and attract more customers.

You were the pride of the American industrial revolution, and anything that was asked of you, you would say without hesitation "CAN DO."

But lately all this has changed. When you were asked to cut down on the poisonous emissions spitting out of your exhaust pipes the spirit went out of you. Instead of rising to the challenge as you did for so many years, you sent us your presidents and chairmen of the board crying crocodile tears into the Potomac, claiming you couldn't do it.

Why can't you do it, Detroit? You can do anything you set your heart on. You can make cars fly or go underwater. You can give us fuel-injection engines and vinyl roofs that slide open at the press of a switch.

What kind of pantsywaists are you? What happened to the fighting geniuses who used to thrive on challenge? Where are the men of steel who would never admit defeat?

Don't send us your high-priced lawyers and lobbyists to flood the halls of Congress pleading it's impossible to make a clean low-fuel consuming car. Don't threaten us with closing down your factories because the standards set for you can't be met.

Go back to the drawing boards, retool your factories, hire the best brains that money can buy, and GET ON WITH THE JOB! Let's have no more shameful whining, Detroit. If your executives

Korea Armed Power

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military concern over the power balance in Korea focuses on a nearly two-to-one North Korean advantage in tanks, many concentrated within 50 miles of the demilitarized border zone.

Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub indicated to a House subcommittee this week that his opposition to a U.S. ground force withdrawal is based largely on recent intelligence estimates of North Korean strength.

Singlaub, removed as U.S. chief of staff in Korea for suggesting the planned withdrawal would lead to war, said other generals agree with him. But some experts say they feel the Chinese and Soviets would restrain any North Korean urge to launch an invasion of the south.

President Carter, at a news conference Thursday, said Singlaub had committed "a very serious breach" of the military command system "and I certainly don't agree that there is any cause for a war to be expected."

U.S. intelligence analysts have known about the North Korean tank buildup for about two years, but estimates apparently have been refined.

Military officials indicate they are concerned by more than raw numbers. Many of North Korea's 1,850 medium Soviet and Chinese-made tanks outgun South Korea's 1,000 medium U.S.-built tanks.

To help remedy this, the U.S. Army wants to arm South Korea's M48 tanks with 105 millimeter guns instead of their present 90 millimeter weapons. That would put them roughly on a fire-power par with North Korea's T54 and T55 tanks and their 100 millimeter guns.

The South Koreans also have bought about 1,000 U.S. TOW missiles, which the Israelis used with great effect against Soviet-made tanks driven by Arabs in the 1973 Middle East war. The TOWs should help equalize the two sides in armor warfare, Army officials believe.

In addition to an edge in tanks, the North Koreans enjoy an advantage in artillery. U.S. experts say North Korea has

THE INSIDE REPORT

The Struggle For France

By ROWLANDE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

PARIS — Professing public certitude that they would dominate their Communist party coalition partner, the French Socialists nonetheless betray inner unease about what might really happen if the "Union of the Left" wins the next French parliamentary elections.

"We are sure we can control the Communists," a major figure in the left wing of Francois Mitterrand's Socialist party told us. He then added a bewildering contradiction: "If we can't, we will break off."

That caveat points to the political chamber of horrors that so worries non-Communist leaders in the Western world: that France and Italy, the two countries where the Communists appear close to coalition power, may be squeezed away from the Western alliance. That would transform the political and military map of Europe and undermine U.S. foreign policy.

The unease over Communist political power penetrates far more deeply into the center and center-right parties than it does the Socialists — the potent neo-Gaullists of Jacques Chirac and President Giscard d'Estaing's much weaker Giscardians.

The Socialists have to assert their claim of controlling the Communists, one intimate of Giscard told us. But in fact, he warned, a "little power" in a coalition government (six or seven ministries for the Communists out of about 18), added to the party's highly effective grass roots organization throughout France, would automatically make the Communist party a "formidable threat" to the Socialists.

A reminder of the Communists' ability to expand from a small base was recently given to a Western European Socialist leader. Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu told him the Romanian Communist party gained a single ministry in a 1944 governmental shakeup and very soon had the whole government. "The analogy is obviously imperfect, but the Socialist is passing the story around as a warning.

There is no certainty that the Left coalition will win the next election. Although the polls show it leading by 10 points, there is evidence that French voters — dominated by a generally prosperous, consumer-motivated, highly industrious middle class — tend to vote for Communist mayors in municipal elections more willingly than for Communist members of the general assembly, perhaps reflecting a voter distinction between local and national office.

But Mitterrand's Socialists are proceeding — along with the Communists — on the assumption that they will indeed take over parliament sometime between now and March and that they will be smart and alert enough to control the coalition.

Thus, as the larger of the two parties in the "Union of the Left," the Socialists intend to bar the Communists, led by George Marchais, from all cabinet posts dealing with defense, foreign policy and police. As for the pervasive question of Communist orientation toward Moscow and away from Washington in the East-West struggle, the Socialist leader in the National Assembly, Gaston Deferre, told us that "Eurocommunism" — that is, Communism supposedly beyond the policy reach of Moscow — is now a two-year-old fact.

"Two years ago this movement (independent development of the French Communist party) has started and it grows stronger and stronger. If the Communists get into the government and start to speak for the Soviet Union, they would lose thousands and thousands of voters. No, this movement is irreversible and there is absolutely no danger."

But Mitterrand himself ap-

Public Forum

Letters submitted for Public Forum must be limited to 300 words.

To the editor:

We are writing in response to the Public Forums concerning the Greenville Rescue Squad. As taxpayers, we agree also that the Squad has proven itself to be a tremendous asset to our community. The City has over $500,000 available in federal Revenue Sharing Funds. This would be a great opportunity for the City officials to show their love and concern for its citizens by spending a part of these funds for a new rescue headquarters building. Even without federal Revenue Sharing Funds available, the citizens of Greenville would wholeheartedly approve of their taxes being spent in this way. We cannot understand why our elected officials are not responding favorably toward the needs of the Greenville Rescue Squad. Can it be they forget so easily that they were elected to serve the people?

It seems these days that people running for office will promise anything to get elected and then, when they are elected, they isolate themselves completely from the people who elected them. We say to the Mayor, City Councilmen and City Manager, please respond by allocating funds for a Rescue Building. Please appoint a Rescue Chief from among its ranks. Please set up a Rescue Department of the City. These things are plainly needed. Why they have to be pointed out to officials who should have already taken care of it, we'll never know. We think the Greenville Rescue Squad should be commended for the job it's doing. They have our admiration and support, and we sincerely believe every citizen feels the same way. It is our hope that other concerned citizens will write in or call the Councilmen and Mayor. We shall be heard from one way or the other.

40 Years Ago Today

May 27, 1937

Secretary Wallace came out flatly today in support of the proposed Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1937 sponsored by major farm organizations.

The Secretary urged Congress to make its law "at the earliest possible date."

Appearing before the House Agriculture Committee on the proposed new AAA laid before Congress last week by the American Farm Bureau Federation, Wallace said, "I'm strong in favor of the principles and purposes of the bill."

After holding the Goldsboro nine scoreless for six innings the Greenville Greemies weakened and the Goldbugs scored on three errors to accept the victory on a silver platter, 3-2.

The locals returned here to meet Kinston this afternoon. Women will be admitted free.

The club members will be guests of the State theater tonight.

Strength For Today

WE DREAM IN VAIN

In 1889 on the 70th birthday of the great American poet, Walt Whitman, Mark Twain wrote a letter to Whitman on behalf of a committee of American writers.

Among other things Twain said, "You have lived the seventy years which are the greatest in the world's history and richest in benefit and advancement to its people... But wait thirty years and then look out over the earth. You will see marvels upon marvels — man at almost his full stature at last!"

Thirty years after Mark

Twain wrote these words the world was cleaning up the mess of World War I. Fifty years later the world was on the threshold of the most devastating war in modern history. Fifty-five years later the first atom bomb was dropped. Had man arrived at his full stature? What irony.

We make a mistake when we assume that the automatic improvement of the human race. Man improves under the power of faith and divine grace, and through no other means.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC: ONE OUT OF 327 PEOPLE DO IT.

That's right and everyone should. Only one out of 327 people drive a new car before they buy it. Sounds improbable but it's true. If everyone would drive their new car before purchasing, there would be many less dissatisfied customers. Perhaps you are asking "well why don't they?" The answer is simple. Most people appraise the styling, and then immediately get into the deal part of buying.

If everyone were to take a 20 minute demonstration ride in the automobiles they are considering, they would find many things that might change their mind on their purchase. Some of them are: does the car handle, steer, and accelerate well? Is it nimble in traffic? Is it safe to get on the expressway with? How comfortable is it on rough terrain? Does it rattle? And last, do you like the way it rides and performs?

YOU SHOULD DO IT!

Let's presume you are interested in buying a new car and are interested in a Vega, Pinto, Datsun, Volkswagen, or Toyota, and that after looking at the cars and talking to some owners, you have narrowed it down to 2 or 3 of the above. I can tell you that there is as much difference in the above automobiles as there is between bitter or sweet chocolate.

Nearly every car looks fine on the showroom floor and most customers suppose because it is a brand new vehicle, with everything factory fresh, that it should please them with its handling characteristics. Our Toyota cars are designed to please you when you sit in and drive them. They are built for comfort, convenience, ease of handling, with superior quality of materials, as well as workmanship. There is a big difference in the handling and performance of most small cars. Because of the engineering superiority of the Toyota car, it rides, handles, and performs exceedingly well.

HOW ABOUT REPUTATION?

A car's reputation is either enhanced or detracted by its owners. It is either recommended or not recommended. We have the most loyal, best satisfied owners in our sales area. Toyota is a good, reliable car, but as I have said before, it is not perfect. Nothing is, however, it is the best assembled, best quality automobile for its price that your money can buy. For all around use, it will give you the best service and the most satisfaction for your dollar. All of us would like to live forever without any medical maintenance or doctor bills, but as you know, this is an impossibility. We all require check-ups, operations, and now even replacement parts, to maintain life after a certain number of years.

Even though a Toyota motor car is built by skilled craftsmen, who really care about their product and use only the finest quality materials, it too, once in a while, can have a problem. While this is negative selling on my part, it has to be said because it's true. It is also true that your Toyota will have less problems, less trouble, and give you more miles of satisfactory driving than any other car of its price and type that I know of. Its reputation is a good one because it's a very good car to begin with.

So, please, if you are contemplating the purchase of a new car, stop by one of our 148 dealers in the southeast and pick your own proving ground. For this premium quality car, with fine handling characteristics, you do not have to pay a premium price, and that you can take to the bank.

Sincerely,

Jim Moran

This year's officers have included Glenda Card of Raleigh, president; Connie Powell of Roanoke Rapids, vice president; Donna Joyner of Rocky Mount, secretary; Jenny Dempsey of Greenville, treasurer; and Diana Dolack of Havelock, historian.

First LWV Award Winner Is Named

David Middleton III, a Rose High School senior, has been named by the Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters to receive their first annual Participation in Government Award. This award, a U. S. Savings Bond and an inscribed plaque, is given to the graduating high school senior in Pitt County who, in the opinion of the League, has made the most significant contribution to local, state or national government. member of the Greenville Human Relations Council. He was a delegate to Boys State in 1976, a page in the N. C. House of Representatives in 1977 and a participant in the Youth Governmental Awareness Program sponsored by the Greenville city government. A member of the Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee, he has attended precinct meetings and worked in a number of political campaigns. Chosen to receive certificates of merit from other high schools in the county are Linda Piele, Farmville; Danny Taylor, North Pitt; Trudy Haddock, D. H. Conley; and Charles David Creech, Ayden-Grifton.

(Continued from page 4) appears to be ready for a showdown with his Communist partners over a clear-cut U.S.-Soviet issue. If the Communists sided with the Soviets, an intimate told us, Mitterrand would immediately attempt a coalition with another partner, blowing hard on the Gallic trumpet of nationalism against the Communists. But the form such a combination might take is difficult to see.

The deeper question, however, is whether the Communists would ever make such a stupid mistake. They reached a pre-de Gaulle high-point of 28 per cent of the French electorate as against about 20 per cent today. The party surely would avoid a showdown until, using its new ministries (probably including labor, health and education) it could expand its base to at least 30 per cent.

The uneasy Socialist-Communist union here (made possible by mutual lust for power) will twist and turn many times before the election and, if the "Union of the Left" is successful, many times after. To prevent the Communists from consolidating their gains by exploiting their superior discipline and organization will then become an act of highest statecraft for Mitterrand's Socialists. Otherwise, "Eurocommunism" — the misnamed political movement of the totalitarian left — will expand its new power base into Italy and perhaps beyond, with heavy consequences for Europe and the Atlantic community.

(Continued from page 4) emphasized mobility along with tanks and artillery to threaten a possible fast strike across the Korean demilitarized zone (DMZ) with infantry riding in many of North Korea's 750 armored troop carriers. Seoul lies only about 30 miles below the DMZ and currently is shielded by South Korean infantry divisions backed by the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division, which bars the traditional invasion route from the north. It is this division Carter plans to pull out, along with other supporting ground forces, over the next four to five years.

About 15 of North Korea's 25 army divisions are said to be within easy striking distance of the DMZ. Facing them are most of South Korea's 23 divisions. The South Koreans have an army of about 560,000 men and a 20,000-man marine corps, which gives the south a ground troop total about 140,000 bigger than the north.

But South Korea's army lacks mobility, along with its smaller supply of armor and artillery power.

Certification For Dr. Dixon

To qualify for the exam, a physician must have completed either a three-year family practice residency or have been in family practice a minimum of six years and successfully completed 300 hours of approved medical education.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST—Cool weather is due today for the western two-thirds of the country while warm weather is expected in the East. Showers are forecast for the northern Rockies and adjacent Plains and for the Ohio Valley. (AP Wirephoto Map)

By The Associated Press
A weak high pressure system over the Great Lakes is pushing drier air into North Carolina and while the general rain has ended, some scattered showers and thundershowers persisted in the state's coastal area this morning.
More sunshine was expected today along with some warming of afternoon temperatures. Some scattered showers and thundershowers also were forecast over the state during the day, but they were expected to be confined Saturday to the south portion and the mountains.

Meanwhile, the Lumber River continued out of its banks today at Lumberton, where about 50 families had to be evacuated from their homes. The river was expected to crest at about 10 feet in flood during the day.
Temperatures will be warming for the Memorial Day weekend, ranging in the 70s today and in the 80s Saturday and Sunday.

Bill is so proud of his final report card that he's sharing the good news with Tower. Children thrive on accomplishment, and they need family and friends—and, yes, even their dog—to rejoice with them.
Like Bill, we all thrive on accomplishment and want to share it with others. If we broaden this trait in human nature we will want to make the whole of our experience a living success. In doing so, we will fulfill our own ambitions which God has planted deeply within us.
But stark ambition is not enough, and God has given us the patience of love and understanding as well. What a combination! There is no set formula, but your church will put these assets in proper perspective. Now you can share—now you can rejoice.

Twin-Trailer Measure Is Sent To Senate Floor

RALEIGH (AP) — The Senate Transportation Committee has approved the use of twin trailer trucks on North Carolina's major highways and sent the bill to the Senate floor.

The bill, scheduled for Senate debate Tuesday, would allow twin trailer rigs 65-feet long to be used on the state's four-lane highways and on two-lane highways as designated by the Department of Transportation. Trailers up to 55-feet long are now permitted.

A twin trailer rig was parked next to a normal trailer by the General Assembly building for the committee to see before voting. The measure is opposed by the railroad industry and some motor clubs.

In other legislative action:

RAPE
Those supporting the death penalty for rape suffered a reversal when a Senate judiciary committee refused to consider such a measure. But supporters of the death penalty, including committee chairman Sen. Julian Allsbrook, D-Halifax, said they would seek action on the bill again next week.

The General Assembly has already enacted a death penalty for first degree murder. The rape bill, sponsored by Sen. Robert Somers, R-Rowan, would allow the death penalty in cases where the victim is under 12 years of age, or is seriously injured.

PRIMARY
The Senate amended a bill changing the primary election for statewide offices from August to May, but put off a vote until next week. The bill would set the primary date for Tuesday after the first Monday in May. But the Senate voted 23 to 22 to change that to the first Saturday in May. The Senate

Arrested On 'Pot' Charges

Greenville Police yesterday arrested James Otis Barnes, 21 of 1108 Douglas Ave. on charges of possession of marijuana, Chief Glenn Cannon said this morning.

According to the Chief, officers took Barnes into custody after finding about three ounces of marijuana in his car and on his person following an 11:10 a.m. search.

Barnes was placed under a $500 bond pending hearing of the case in court.

Value of the marijuana was estimated at about $100, Cannon said.

also reduced the filing period for candidates from 60 days to 30 days.

HOSPITALS
Human Resources Secretary Sarah Morrow asked a joint Appropriations Committee not to follow another committee's recommendation that three state-supported specialty hospitals be closed. Dr. Morrow asked that they be continued for another year while she evaluates their operation.

Another budget committee had recommended closing, because of high operating costs, the Western N.C. Hospital at Black Mountain and the Eastern N.C. Hospital at Wilson — both formerly tuberculosis centers and now specializing in pulmonary diseases — and the N.C. Orthopedic Hospital at Gastonia.

PRISONS
The House voted 89-16 to enact into law a bill under which persons convicted of a misdemeanor and sentenced to less than six months can be kept in county jails rather than confined in state prisons. Gov Jim Hunt had called for passage of the measure, which was opposed by a number of county sheriffs whose jails will be required to handle the inmates.

Until now, inmates with sentences longer than 30 days were sent to state prisons. Correction Department officials urged passage of the measure, saying it could reduce the state's prison population by several thousand inmates.

SECONDARY ROADS
On a 19-4 vote, the House

Transportation Committee killed a bill that would have changed the formula under which secondary road construction funds are divided among North Carolina counties. Rep. J. Reid Poovey, R-Catawba, sponsored the measure which would have used both population and unpaved road mileage as a basis for dividing the funds instead of the present formula which uses only unpaved road mileage. The change would have benefited the more populous counties.

"This bill is intended to correct some gross inequities," Poovey told the committee. "I think you will find we are paving some roads with a very low traffic count while neglecting some roads with a very high traffic count."

But Rep. Liston Ramsey, D-Madison, contended the present formula is "fair and just" as he moved an unfavorable report for the Poovey bill.

INHERITANCE TAXES
The House Finance Committee approved a bill that would increase exemptions under the inheritance tax. The bill would boost the exemption for surviving spouses from $10,000 to $50,000 and the exemption on life insurance proceeds from $20,000 to $50,000. The increased exemptions would cost the state more than $4 million a year in revenues.

BEER AND WINE
The House voted 102-3 to pass and send the Senate a bill that would permit cities and counties to enact ordinances regulating the consumption of beer and wine on public property, including city streets. Passage of the measure came after the House adopted an amendment by Rep. Al Adams, D-Wake, which would make violation of the regulations noncriminal.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today in a session marked by renewed pressure on some big-name issues.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 4.41 at 903.66, giving up almost all of its 4.83-point gain on Thursday.

The over-all tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues showed gainers and losers about even, however.

Trading was light. First-hour volume on the Big Board totaled only 3.69 million shares.

While most of the list was drifting, conspicuous weakness showed up in such issues as Eastman Kodak, down 2 at 56 1/4, and International Business Machines, off 1 1/2 at 247 1/2.

In the news, New York's Citibank and several other banks in Chicago and Philadelphia raised their prime lending rates from 6 1/2 to 6 3/4 per cent.

But Wall Street had been anticipating the increase for several days. And on the plus side, the government reported that the index of leading economic indicators rose 0.5 per cent in April for its third consecutive monthly gain.

The 11 a.m. NYSE composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks was off .09 at 52.96.

Although Miss Marbury was the only senior, the school held a ceremony Thursday night with Dr. Ralph Williams, pastor of the Pompano Beach Church of God, as commencement speaker.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fiery U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young is back in Washington after a trip through Europe and Africa that left the State Department stunned, the Swedes irate, the British chastized and the president of the New York borough of Queens incredulous.

Science Very Close To An Oral Rabies Vaccine
LABRENCEVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Scientists are nearing perfection of an oral vaccine which could be the "beginning of the end" of rabies among wild animals, the national Center for Disease Control says.

But President Carter was still on Young's side.
In a nationally televised news conference Thursday, Carter said he knew of "no instance that Andy Young has violated" administration policy.

laboratory infection of rabies, Baer said.
Andrulis is said to be showing improvement in a hospital, and if he recovers he would be only the second American to survive rabies.

Researcher still have to solve two major problems—how much of the vaccine makes a "dose" for wild animals and how to distribute the vaccine in the wilds so that the animals will eat it, Baer said.

NEW YORK (AP) — The city is dropping its threat to file a $250,000 suit against a toy designer who became the first man to scale the 110-story World Trade Center, it was learned today.

stepped into new controversy while talking with reporters Wednesday en route to London from his official travels in Africa.
—The Russians, he said, are "the worst racists in the world."
—He got Sweden and the New York borough of Queens with the same breath. The Swedes, he said, are "terrible racists" and "When the crutch comes, the black in Sweden is treated just like the black in Queens."

—He declared Britain's "old colonial mentality" is still "very strong."
—And, finally, he jolted the State Department on Thursday by saying in London and later in Washington that he really wasn't all that concerned about Cuban advisers in Ethiopia, even though the State Department was calling it a matter of "grave concern."

When first asked about reports that 50 Cuban advisers were in Ethiopia, Young made an effort to espouse the State Department position, but it didn't end there.
"The State Department has expressed grave concern about that and I guess that's what I should do, too," the ambassador replied.

Then he admitted he wasn't really all that gravely concerned. "No ... because they're killing people right and left (in Ethiopia). I guess I think maybe the Cubans might be a little more rational than Ethiopians at this point."
"We ought not just be afraid of Cubans," Young said. The statement recalled his earlier controversial contention that the Cubans had brought stability to Angola at a time when several native factions vied for control after that country's independence from Portugal.

Arriving at Andrews Air Force Base, Young coolly rebuffed suggestions that his sometimes-controversial remarks were bringing him criticism.
"I haven't had any criticism, all I've had is praise," he said. "I'm not going to worry about what a few people say to sell newspapers."

The newspapers that were selling in Sweden on Thursday prominently displayed Young's "terrible racist" remark. One prominent Swedish editor responded that "I think we are neither better nor worse than other nations."

The remark linking Sweden and Queens was also being noticed in New York.
"Incredible," retorted Donald R. Manes, president of Queens. "The residents of Queens ... have established an outstanding record of working and living together in harmony."

Cheap Free Agents Pleasing Veeck

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer
The best things in life are free... free agents who did not cost millions of dollars and in some cases are producing more than those who did. For example, Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox probably did not have to dip beyond petty cash to sign Royle Stillman, Steve Stone, Eric Soderholm and Tim Nordbrook, who have had plenty to do with the Sox' surprising second-place standing in the American League West. The financially strapped Veeck settled for that quartet because he could not afford such big names as Reggie Jackson, Joe Rudi, Don Gullett, etc. You don't hear him complaining, do you?

Certainly not after Thursday's 4-3 triumph over the Milwaukee Brewers in which Stone and Stillman played prominent parts. Stone pitched seven strong innings for his fourth consecutive victory while Stillman doubled home one run and scored another as the Sox took a 3-0 lead in the fourth inning. Soderholm and Nordbrook did not get into the game but are hitting .315 and .300, respectively.

The Sox' success was the only game in the American League. In the National, the Los Angeles Dodgers shaded the Houston Astros 4-3 in 10 innings, the San Francisco Giants edged the Cincinnati Reds 6-5, the Chicago Cubs nipped the Montreal Expos 1-0, the St. Louis Cardinals topped the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 in 10 innings and the Atlanta Braves whipped the San Diego Padres 8-3.

Dodgers 4, Astros 3
Los Angeles boosted its lead in the NL West to 12½ games over the world champion Reds when Dusty Baker's sacrifice fly in the bottom of the 10th inning scored pinch runner Lee Lacy. Ron Cey led off the 10th with a walk off Ken Forsch, and one out later, Rick Monday singled him to third. Lacy raced home on Baker's fly to short right.

Giants 6, Reds 5
Terry Whitfield's fourth hit of the game, a single in the eighth inning, drove home Vic Harris with the winning run. The Giants lost starting pitcher John Montefusco, who suffered a badly sprained left ankle running out a bunt in the second inning, but got effective relief pitching in winning their fourth straight game.

Gary Lavelle, who has pitched in all four victories, was the winner while Randy Moffitt earned a save.

Cubs 1, Expos 0
Rookie right-hander Mike Krukow hurled a four-hitter for his first major league shutout and complete game and even scored the only run when Bobby Murcer drew a bases-loaded walk from Steve Rogers with two out in the sixth inning.

Cardinals 4, Phillies 3
Dave Rader's two-out single in the ninth inning tied the score and Garry Templeton's run-scoring two-out single off second baseman Ted Sizemore's glove in the 10th won it. Templeton's hit followed a leadoff double by Tony Scott and two walks, which loaded the bases.

Braves 8, Padres 3
Tom Paciorek hit a tie-breaking two-run homer in the fifth inning and Jeff Burroughs clouted another two-run shot in the sixth. Meanwhile, Andy Messersmith pitched seven innings and stopped the Padres on four hits.

Perkins Honored By North Pitt During Athletic Awards Banquet

BETHEL — Basketball star Donnie Perkins was the big honoree at last night's sports banquet at North Pitt High School.

The school honored the senior forward, who led the Panthers to a second-place finish in the state 3-A high school tournament, by retiring his jersey, number 44. Athletic director and basketball coach Cobby Deans cited Perkins' beliefs as the keys to his success and said he has added to the entire athletic program at North Pitt. Perkins was presented with a picture, which will hang in the school's trophy case, and his jersey. Deans concluded by saying, "We're going to miss you, Perk."

Perkins has signed a grant-in-aid to attend N. C. State. Ellen Dixon took a host of trophies in girls' sports, including two most valuable player awards. She was named MVP in both volleyball and basketball and was given the "Clutch Player Award" for basketball.

76er Defense Too Tough

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — They're playing defense, they're passing the ball, they're setting up the open man — the Philadelphia 76ers are doing their best to ruin their reputations.

"People put us down all the time," said playmaker Henry Bibby. "They say we're a bunch of one-on-one players, we can't play team ball, we don't execute our plays well, we can't do the job on defense. "They keep saying it — but we keep winning."

Bibby was the sparkplug in Philadelphia's lopsided 107-89 triumph over the Portland Trail Blazers Thursday night, a victory which gave the 76ers a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven National Basketball Association championship series. The series resumes Sunday at Portland.

Bibby scored 15 points and handed out six assists in the first half, when the 76ers took an 18-point lead with a racehorse offense and shacking defense. Portland never was really in the game after being outscored 30-17 in the second period, and came no closer than 12 points in the second half.

The game was marred by a fourth-quarter melee which saw both squads engage in a free-for-all and about 100 spectators join in. The main combatants were Darryl Dawkins of Philadelphia and Maurice Lucas of Portland, two of the heaviest of heavyweights, both of whom were ejected. The only casualty was Philadelphia guard Doug Collins, who tried to act as peacemaker and got socked by Dawkins for his effort.

The game itself was one-sided, as Collins led the 76ers with 27 points and Julius Erving had 20. Philadelphia led 31-26 after the first quarter, then broke it open in the second period by hitting 13 of 24 shots while limiting Portland to just six of 27. It was 61-43 at the half and really no contest after that.

As in the series opener, won by Philadelphia 107-101, the 76ers' defensive discipline was a key factor. The 76ers shut off Portland's fast break, then took away the Blazers' inside game, forcing them to take shots from the perimeter instead. And Portland is not a good perimeter shooting team.

"A lot of people think that we're a bunch of renegades," said Erving. "They think that a good, well-drilled team can run us apart. We are trying to prove them wrong."

"Portland is very singular in its offensive strategy. There is one basic play they like to run 75 per cent of the time — they set up Walton in the pivot and then try to free their cutters for layups. We know this, we've drilled against it and we've been able to stop it. We've forced them to do things they don't want to do, like shoot from outside."

Indeed, early in the first half, when the game still was up for grabs, Portland was able to get only one basket off its pet play of center Bill Walton feeding a cutter for a layup.

Walton led the Blazers with 17 points and 16 rebounds, but never was a dominating force. As a team, Portland, forced out of its normal patterns, shot a dismal 35.6 per cent, including 7-for-19 by Lucas and 6-for-18 by Lionel Hollins.

Williamston Rallies To Nip Aycock By 10-9

WILLIAMSTON — Williamston came from behind with four runs in the sixth inning and then had to get two more in the seventh to defeat a pesky C. B. Aycock team 10-9 last night.

The win came in the first round of the state 3-A baseball playoffs and advances the Tigers to Saturday night's contest with the winner of tonight's game between South Lenoir and White Oak.

C. B. Aycock took an early lead in the contest, scoring two runs in each of the two innings. Williamston got a single run in both the first and second, but scored two in the third to tie things up.

Aycock went in front again in the sixth with three runs, but Williamston scored four in the bottom of the frame to take the lead. Mike Koesy reached on an error and moved to second on Merritt Taylor's single. Tim Hardison got a base hit to plate Koesy and Lee Pearson walked to load the bases.

Ray Robertson's hit scored Taylor and Hardison before Freddie Ellis and Hank Edwards walked to force Pearson home.

Aycock made a pair of runs in the top of the seventh to go ahead again, but the Tigers won it in the bottom of the frame, with the winning tally scoring on a third-strike wild pitch.

Koesy again started things off in the bottom of the seventh with a walk. Taylor sacrificed him to second. Hardison walked and both runners advanced on a fly ball. Ray Robertson was intentionally walked to load the bases and Ellis got a base on balls to push across the tying run, Koesy. The winning score was made when Hank Edwards swung at a wild pitch for his third strike and then went to first, scoring Hardison. C. B. Aycock 220 003 2— 9 8 4

Roanoke Falls To Dixon, 5-1

DIXON — Roanoke High School's hopes of a state 2-A baseball championship went down the drain yesterday as Dixon claimed a 5-1 victory over the Redskins.

The game was the first round of the 2-A playoffs, and eliminated the Redskins from further competition. Dixon continues in the playoffs.

Dixon pushed over two runs in the second inning. Billy Davis singled and Pat Foye was hit by a pitch. Both were sacrificed up, and Jimmy Biggs singled to score both runners.

In the third, Dixon picked up two more runs. Mickey Rochelle reached on a two-base error and Perry Batchelor singled him in.

Batchelor advanced on the throw home, and scored when Ricky Ottaway reached on an error.

The final Dixon run came in the fourth. Johnny Whiting was safe on an error and Rochelle singled. Batchelor walked, loading the bases, and a sacrifice fly by Ottaway brought Whiting home.

The lone Roanoke run came in the sixth. Wayne Council walked, moved up on a passed ball and scored on a double by Lee Smith.

Roanoke finished the year with a 15-8 record. Roanoke 00001 0-1 5 5

Kings Happy With Tommy

SEATTLE (AP) — The Kansas City Kings of the National Basketball Association say they've found a "blue-chip center" in Tommy Burleson.

Burleson, traded by the Seattle SuperSonics this week, said Thursday he has been told he'll "play a more dominant role" with the Kings next season than he did with the Sonics this year.

The trade "is good for me, basketball-wise, because it's a new situation," said Burleson.

In Kansas City, Joe Axelson, president and general manager of the Kings, said the Kings have wanted Burleson ever since they scouted him in his junior and senior years at North Carolina State.

"Burleson is a force," Axelson said. "Coupled with Sam Lacey, he will give us two starting centers with complementing offensive and defensive skills that will enable Phil Johnson to match up against just about anybody."

Johnson, the Kings' coach, said, "With his great height, physical toughness and good shooting touch, we're counting on Tommy to be a blue-chip center in the NBA for years to come."

Burleson wound up in Kansas City following a five-player deal Wednesday between Seattle and Denver which sent Burleson, Bobby Wilkerson and a second-round draft choice to the Nuggets for Marvin Webster, Paul Silas and Willie Wise.

Denver then dealt Burleson to Kansas City for Brian Taylor and a first-round draft choice.

"We think the trade will enhance the Sonics tremendously," said Lenny Wilkens, Seattle's director of player personnel. "If we had a big weakness last year, it was in the front line. This gives us a front line that can start immediately."

Wilkens said Webster is a solid rebounder and intimidating defensive player and Silas, a 13-year veteran, is the type of rebounder and leader the Sonics need.

Foyt, Al Unser Listed As Top Choices To Win Indianapolis 500

By JERRY GARRETT
AP Motorsports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A.J. Foyt, in his 10th try for a record fourth victory, and Al Unser, who walked away from a brush with death last weekend, rate as co-favorites in Sunday's 61st running of the Indianapolis 500.

In the annual Associated Press poll of drivers, mechanics, officials and newsmen following carburetion tests Thursday, Foyt and the younger Unser brother were paired off at 4-1 odds.

The poll also gave a rookie, Danny Ongais, the best odds for any first-year driver in many years at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Fifteen drivers in the 33-car lineup were given odds of 10-1 or better, a reflection on the number of new cars in the race.

Foyt, who poll members think may be closer to an important decision concerning his future than other people might think, is considered the best prepared driver in the field, even though he has spent less time at Indy this month than any other driver.

Unser, who plowed into the wall at 215 miles per hour last Saturday, should find improved luck Sunday. Starting on the front row, the two-time winner has one good ride in his Parnelli-Cosworth, which is proven at the speedway — a claim no one else who is running a Cosworth at Indy this year can make.

Here are the odds, and the "morning line" comments:

5-1, Pancho Carter — no one ever has won Indy starting in eighth place, but his new Eagle is flying. Probably less fuel worries than any other car.

6-1, Gordon Johncock — ran 200.4 in Goodyear tire tests in March; won't go 200 Sunday, but should go 500 easily.

7-1, Wallyallenbach — solid, good. If you want to bet show, this is the bet. Mario Andretti — would be rated much higher if there was more confidence in his Cosworth engine; best in class.

8-1, Bobby Unser — no question about ability, but with a new car; a proven engine is a plus. Johnny Rutherford — new car, new engine, but a proven team; can click if mechanically okay.

9-1, Danny Ongais — the dark horse ... if Indy ever had one, he is it; likes to lead if he can, or break it trying. Johnny Parsons — best ride he ever has had; equipment is proven, time to prove driver. Mike Mosley — so quiet you will never know he already is in Victory Lane. Bill Vukovich — is Sunday the first day of the rest of his life?; may not be a "backup" on this team for long. Tom Sneva — the pole position winner is plenty fast enough, but will his Cosworth make him a spectator before it is over?

10-1, Roger McCluskey-Lloyd Ruby — throw a blanket over these guys; if they have a party Sunday night, it will last until next year.

12-1, George Snider — lots of experience, but he will need it with his car.

13-1, Clay Regazzoni — any rookie who completes his driver's test at 191 has to have some ability; car is basically sound; is team?

15-1, Tom Bigelow — stranger things have happened. Sheldon Kinser — better every year. Lee Kunzman — comeback kid is not nearly so rusty.

20-1, Gary Bettenhausen, Steve Krisiloff, Dick Simon — will give best shot, but don't have the ride.

25-1, Jerry Sneva — who knows what runs in this family? Bobby Olivero — good ride, good kid.

30-1, Bill Puterbaugh — won't do much better than Salt Walker, but should be more popular.

50-1, Janet Guthrie — odds for a respectable finish are much better.

100-1, Cliff Hucul, Al Loquasto, John Mahler, Eldon Rasmussen, Bubby Jones — just glad to be here.

Freddie Powers and Joe Salensky took the third flight. Ken Hardison and Bill Smith tied with Ed Coley and Gene Coley for second place.

Dorsett Inks Pact

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry says there is no need to draft the top player if a team is not willing to pay him a high salary, and newly signed Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett is a millionaire because of the Cowboys' willingness.

Dorsett, who led the University of Pittsburgh to college football's national championship last season, Thursday signed a contract reportedly worth more than $1 million.

"I'm thrilled about the whole idea," said Dorsett. "Like I said at the (National Football League) draft (of college players), I was overwhelmed to be selected by the Cowboys. To make it official makes it all the more pleasing."

Dorsett will be the first million-dollar player in the Cowboys' history.

As for Dorsett's instant wealth, Landry said, "I don't think it'll bother the other people on our club because paying the high salaries is not uncommon in this era."

Dorsett signed the contract in the Pittsburgh office of his attorney, Harvey Eger, while his agent Mike Trope and Cowboys vice-president Gil Brandt watched.

Neither the Cowboys nor Dorsett would discuss terms of the contract. But Trope said Dorsett "got what I consider a fair market value. Tony got an excellent contract and the Cowboys got an excellent player."

Earlier, Trope had negotiated a multi-year, $1.2 million contract for Southern California star Ricky Bell with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

"I am not going to say that Dorsett's contract is above or below Bell's contract," Trope said, adding that the five-year figure for the duration of the contract "was in the neighborhood."

Dorsett was drafted by the Cowboys after a deal in which Dallas sent four high draft choices to the Seattle Seahawks.

Golfers Eliminated

ATHENS, Ga. — East Carolina University's golf team was eliminated from the field in the Southern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament yesterday.

The Pirates shot a 305 for the day to bring their two day total to 618. The top 15 teams in the 24-team field were allowed to compete for the final day today.

Donnie Owens led the Pirate scoring with a 151, while David Brogan had a 154. Mike Buckmaster carded a 156, while Keith Hiller fired a 157. Phil Bell, whose scores did not count in the team total, had a 170.

Houston leads the field with a 577, followed by Georgia at 579. Kentucky is third at 585, followed by Texas A&M at 587. Indiana is at 592, followed by North Carolina at 593.

Kevin Walsh of Clemson and Chip Beck of Georgia are tied for the individual lead with 141's.

Tournament Is Slated

WINTERVILLE — The Winterville Jaycees will sponsor a pair of softball tournaments during July, it was announced.

A 16-team double elimination tournament for men, and an eight-team, double elimination tournament for women will be held July 8, 9, and 10.

Further information can be obtained, along with entry blanks from Steve Evans at Overton Powers Realty Co., or by calling 756-5507 or 758-4585.

The bidding:
 South West North East
 1♣ Pass 1♦ 2NT
 Dble. 3♥ 4♣ Pass
 5♣ Pass Pass Pass
 Opening lead: Nine of ♣.

At the Philip Morris European Cup tournament held in Tel Aviv, the Unusual No Trump once more wreaked havoc—and, as usual, the victim was its user!

East's two no trump bid showed at least ten cards in the unbid suits, a fact that declarer put to good use in the play. South doubled to show extra values, and when North freely supported clubs, South went on to game.

Declarer was Baron Egmont von Dewitz of Germany, whose trademark is a long cigarette holder that ought to make him a candidate for an ad regardless of the brand. He won the opening spade lead with the queen, cashed the ace and ruffed a spade in dummy. He led a heart from dummy in the hope that he could sneak through his bare king, but East rose with the ace and returned the suit, which declarer ruffed.

As the cards lie, declarer could have made his contract by leading the jack of clubs to pin the ten, but that would not have been a rousing success had East's singleton been the queen rather than the ten. Declarer saw a more attractive line based on his knowledge of East's holding.

He crossed to the ace of diamonds and ruffed dummy's last heart. Now he had his remaining spade. Since ruffing would cost a potential trump trick and discarding a diamond would set up dummy's suit, West sluffed a heart. Declarer ruffed in dummy and, to protect against the possibility that East held a doubleton club and a singleton diamond, he led a diamond from dummy. When East followed with the queen, the hand was virtually over. Declarer won the king, crossed to the ace of clubs and exited with a diamond.

West was forced to win this trick. He was left with ♣ of clubs while declarer held K-J. His forced trump return allowed declarer to score both his trumps and the contract, for his only losers were a trick in each red suit.
