Auditor Bridges Is Saluted Here

State auditor Henry Bridges was honored for his 30 years in public service at a dinner held last night at the American Legion building. Harlan Boyles, state treasurer, was special speaker for the event, which was attended by approximately 150 persons from Pitt, Martin, Greene, Wilson, Craven, Lenoir and Orange counties.

"The job of the state auditor is to attest to the honesty of our state expenditures," said Boyles.

"The fact we can say to a man like Henry Bridges 'you've served your state well' points to his responsibility."

"We have a system of government that depends on a system of laws, not of men. But people like Henry Bridges make us note that men do count."

Boyles spoke of Bridges' integrity. "Unless we have men dedicated to the stewardship of our tax dollars, we're in trouble," he said.

"If you do not have integrity in positions of public trust, the taxpayers pick up the tab. Government in North Carolina is really a big business. County, city and local officials look to the state level to inspire integrity."

"We do have responsible government, thanks to men like Henry Bridges. And we can document it with figures."

According to Boyles, people depend upon the integrity of public figures to exercise the system of checks and balances.

"Government depends upon the qualifications and expertise of men in government for its quality," he said. "Bridges has the qualities of a man who really performs in this capacity as a professional."

Horace Moore of Snow Hill thanked Bridges on the behalf of volunteer firemen across the state for his support.

"Henry Bridges knows a bargain when he sees one," said Moore.

"We (volunteer firemen) saved the taxpayers in this state $350,000 this year. This is one reason Mr. Bridges has been so involved in helping us."

Night-Long Talks Failed

By PAUL TREUTHARDT
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — The 27-nation conference on international economic cooperation argued all night but failed to agree on a permanent organization for energy negotiations demanded by the industrial nations in the hope of keeping oil prices down.

A Canadian spokesman said Saudi Arabia and Iran agreed to the continuing energy dialogue. But other sources said Algeria, Iraq and Venezuela took a hard line and refused.

British Foreign Secretary David Owen said an attempt would be made to draft a final communiqué covering the "considerable" areas of agreement on special aid to the poorest nations and a so-called Common Fund to stabilize prices of primary raw materials.

However, Owen said he was not optimistic this could be done.

"The main message is one of disappointment," he said.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance left the conference early and put Undersecretary Richard Cooper in charge of the American delegation.

Vance told newsmen upon his return to Washington today that the results of the conference had been mixed.

He counted as "a certain disappointment" the conference failure to reach agreement on energy.

However, Vance said, there was meaningful success by the delegates concerning increased foreign aid to the poor countries and in promoting greater development of natural resources.

The North-South negotiations between the industrial nations of the northern hemisphere and their underdeveloped, Third World suppliers of oil and other raw materials to the south appeared to be back where they started two years ago.

The negotiations were an outgrowth of the desire of the United States and its industrial allies to enlist the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries in energy talks in which the oil buyers could exert a restraining influence on OPEC's.

Led by Algeria, the oil countries and less fortunate underdeveloped countries countered with a demand for negotiations to lay the basis for a new world economic order that would solve the poorer countries' economic and financial problems.

Experts have been negotiating for 18 months, and their foreign ministers came to Paris to wind things up. But Owen said despite an 18-hour session that lasted until after dawn, they could not "reach agreement on a form of on-going energy dialogue that would meet the wishes" of the Countries of the European Common Market, Japan and the other industrial nations.

Parking Lot Vegetation Amendment Has Approval

By TOM BAINES

The Joint City-County Planning and Zoning Commission endorsed last night a proposed amendment to the Zoning Ordinance that would require vegetation islands in parking lots.

The board voted to recommend that the City Council approve the amendment that has been the subject of discussion for several months by both the planning body and Council.

Designated as an amendment to Chapter 32 and entitled "Required Vegetation" as Section 32-104a, the proposed addition stipulates: "All off-street parking areas with a total of 15,000 or more square feet or containing more than one aisle, two rows of parking stalls shall provide for and maintain the following:

1) all internal rows of parking stalls shall be separated from any other row of parking stall by a minimum distance of five feet from back of curb to back of curb (involving a vegetated island) or elevated wheel stop of at least four inches in height, average minimum depth of six inches, six feet in length and anchored in place;

2) not less than five per cent of the total area of parking area shall be devoted to vegetation in accordance with the following standards:

a) a drawing indicating the parking area, location of parking stalls and driving aisles, size and location of plant material and permanent maintenance provisions shall be submitted to the city arborist to insure conformance with the city's arboricultural specifications and standards of practice. The city arborist shall forward his plan review comments to the building inspector prior to the issuance of a building or any other construction permit.

b) if any parking spaces required by this chapter are used to comply with the terms of this section, those spaces shall be counted as the total required number for the use."

City Planner John Schofield reviewed with the board members the ordinance adopted by the City Council in February regulating and controlling the planting, maintenance and removal of trees and shrubs on public lands. Schofield noted that the ordinance has been approved by the state and will be scheduled by the Council for a public hearing.

The ordinance defines the position of city arborist and gives the city manager the authority to appoint an existing city position or employee as arborist or create a new position with the Council's permission.

Board members voted to recommend to the Council that the request of H. G. Stocks for rezoning some 32.6 acres on the south side of the 264 Bypass from Highway Commercial and RA-20 to Highway Commercial and Shopping Center be approved.

The request included 20.1 acres of highway commercial rezoning and 12.5 acres of shopping center designation.

The acreage, which includes roughly 500 feet of frontage on the bypass, goes back to a depth of 1,000 feet with the rear section bordering on the new Greenville Mall site.

The petitioners had originally requested that the section on the rear of the property be rezoned to Office and Institutional but the request was changed to Shopping Center.

The developers will provide utilities by extending the current facilities on the north side of the bypass to the south side tract.

The request of J. T. Manning for rezoning the former People's Bible Temple on the bypass from RA-20 to Office and Institutional was also endorsed and will be recommended to the Council for approval. Commissioner Eddie Howell abstained from voting on the matter.

Mozambique Mission By Rhodesian Raiders Ended

By JOHN EDLIN
Associated Press Writer

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesian troops who invaded Mozambique last week end are on their way home after killing at least 32 black guerrillas and destroying four of the rebels' camps, the Rhodesian military command announced today.

Gen. Peter Walls, Rhodesia's combined forces commander, said the 700-man force withdrew late Wednesday from the occupied town of Mapai, 60 miles beyond the border, after destroying all arms and ammunition dumps in the area from which Robert Mugabe's Zimbabwe National Liberation Army wages its guerrilla war in southeast Rhodesia.

Walls said the operation had achieved its objective: "to destroy the terrorists' bases from which they were crossing into Rhodesia and murdering innocent Rhodesian civilians."

The U.S. government warned Rhodesia Wednesday to pull its forces out of Mozambique or face the consequences. But there was no indication that the withdrawal was due to this.

Officials in Washington said pressure tactics being discussed included another United Nations condemnation and economic pressure exerted through South Africa. But countless U.N. condemnations have had no effect on the Rhodesian government, and South Africa has never curtailed to any extent the economic lifeline that keeps southern Africa's other white-minority regime in power.

The Rhodesian military command reported a total of 32 guerrillas and one Rhodesian helicopter pilot killed since the operation began last Saturday. Mozambique radio said Mugabe's forces claimed four Rhodesians killed.

The Rhodesians also reported a brief clash Wednesday between its forces and guerrillas 12 miles northeast of Mapai. It was the first action reported in two days.

Although the casualties claimed by both sides totaled 37 dead, a Mozambique military spokesman claimed there had been intense fighting at Mapai between the invaders and the Mozambique army. He accused the Rhodesian air force of "bombing railway stations, farms, schools and the population of the region."

Rhodesian Foreign Minister Pieter K. van der Byl rejected criticism by U.S. and British officials that the raid could affect the British-American attempt to arrange new negotiations for black majority rule in Rhodesia.

Van der Byl said Mugabe and his supporters have "made it clear that they are not interested in a peaceful settlement of the Rhodesian issue and in fact despise and distrust the Anglo-American settlement plan."

Crisis Still In Impasse

ASSEN, The Netherlands (AP) — The Dutch government and the South Moluccan terrorists holding some 60 persons hostage have rejected each other's first nominees to mediate the 10-day-old crisis.

"The situation remains very serious," Premier Joop den Uyl said in a television appearance Wednesday night. "There is no clear indication that a solution is in sight."

The government agreed Wednesday to the terrorists' request for mediators to try to resolve the twin sieges at the Bovenmilde elementary school, where four extremists were holding four teachers prisoner, and at a stalled commuters' train outside Assen, where at least 55 persons were captives of seven to 11 South Moluccans.

The terrorists proposed two names, but the government rejected them after "considering and discussing them in detail," a Justice Ministry spokesman said. Then the government suggested two names, and the leader of the South Moluccans aboard the train "immediately turned them down," the spokesman reported.

All of the proposed mediators were said to be South Moluccans, but none was identified. The government did not say why it rejected those proposed by the terrorists.

Extra Days In Gift Calendar

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Some businesses give away calendars. But GTE Sylvania, Inc. gives away entire days.

Some GTE Sylvania customers were given calendars earlier in the year. When they tore the month of May out, June came up as expected. But it had 31 days. A further check showed September also had 31 days on the calendar.

Nowhere on the calendar could the printer's name be found.

A spokeswoman at the GTE Sylvania center in nearby West Seneca said she could offer no explanation for the extra days in June and September.

SHOTS FIRED

ASSEN, The Netherlands (AP) — South Moluccan terrorists fired today on television towers erected by police near their hijacked train to keep it under day and night observation. There was no report that anyone had been hurt in the sniping.

Rosalynn Pleased By A Longer Stay In Quito

FIRST LADY IN QUITO — Rosalynn Carter goes by Presidential Escort after arrival in Quito, Ecuador during a tour of Latin American countries. (AP Wirephoto)

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Rosalynn Carter, in Ecuador on the third stop of her Caribbean-Latin American good-will tour, complimented the Andean nation's record on human rights and the plans of its military rulers to restore civilian rule.

"Ecuador has always spoken out forthrightly and clearly about the important principles of human rights, peace and justice," Mrs. Carter said in an airport statement Wednesday. "We admire your record on human rights and your plans to hold democratic elections in the near future."

After hectic 24-hour visits to Jamaica and Costa Rica, Mrs. Carter was visibly pleased that her schedule put her in the equatorial capital city of Quito, high in the Andes, for a slightly longer stay.

"I'm staying in one place for two nights. Can you believe it?" the first lady exclaimed to more than 500 members of the American community who massed outside her hotel to greet her.

Mrs. Carter stood in the chilly air and shook hands for more than half an hour. She beamed with pleasure when W.B. Carroll, a textile consultant, told her he came from Columbus, Ga., and she promised to "tell Jimmy hello" from Frank Walter of Lohrville, Iowa.

Mrs. Carter spent Wednesday evening in her hotel room preparing for her meeting today at the National Palace with the three-man junta that has ruled Ecuador since 1976.

The junta has pledged to return the government to civilian control by 1978 and is holding a referendum soon for the voters to choose between two constitutions.

PARKING ON READE ST.

I have tried several times to talk with the people at City Hall about having no parking signs put on Reade Street from 1 a. m. to 7 a. m. College students park there Sunday nights, especially in the block between Fourth and Fifth Streets, and the cars sit there till the next weekend. People working and shopping downtown never get a chance to use these spaces. The taxpayers paying the bills should have a little privilege here. F. W.

Hotline was told by Ron Sewell, Assistant City Engineer, that the City Council acted recently to turn down a request for no parking from 1 a. m. to 8 a. m. on Reade Street from First to Fifth Streets. He said the action was begun by the City Police Department.

You say you believe that the Council should be told of the displeasure of the merchants with this action, and that you will talk to other merchants and see that the Council members are made more aware of your feelings.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

Remember when eating out was a big thrill? Boy, I remember the first time I ate in a fancy restaurant. You just knew it was class. They didn't have toothpicks by the cash register or a sign that said, "WATCH YOUR HAT AND COAT."

The novelty has worn off now and it's a way of life. Children coming and going . . . husband working odd hours . . . the convenience of yelling into a clown's mouth and two minutes later driving off with your order, has made eating out a ritual.

The family, as it used to be where Daddy went to work and Mama stayed at home all day, describes only seven out of every 100 households in the United States.

It's probably only a matter of time before eating at home will become the treat eating out used to be. Just imagine . . .

"Robbie, where do you want to go for your birthday Tuesday?" Robbie's eyes light up and he grins, "Could we eat at home?"

Mother's eyes meet her husband's. "We can afford it, can't we, Jim? After all, it's his birthday."

"Sure," says Daddy. "What the heck. We can splurge one day of the year."

"How nice you all look," says Mother on the night of the dinner. "I'm so used to seeing all of you stopping around in grub clothes when we eat out. Everyone come to dinner."

"Isn't it great?" say the kids excitedly. "Not having to look at menus and make all those decisions? Do we want the secret sauce? The sesame seed bun? The extra crispy? The two-pounder? The melted cheese? This is really neat."

"Hey, look at this," says one of the kids. "What do you call 'em?"

"Silverware," says Mother. "I thought you'd get a kick out of it."

"I'd like a malt with two scoops," says Robbie.

"There's no need to prop my mouth open with a fork and shout into it," says Mother, smiling. "I'll get it for you."

"What's for dessert?" "It's hot apple pie."

"How did you do that without a little red light?" "I took it out of the oven."

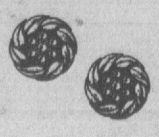

"What will they think of next?"

As the family sings "Happy Birthday," Robbie says, "It's nice not having a bunch of strangers in headbands around the table singing. We'll have to do this again—maybe next year."

As Mother tosses the china noisily into the trash barrel, she smiles and says, "This WAS fun. I'd almost forgotten how nice it is to eat at home."

She crawls up between the Golden Arches around the stove and advances the number of hamburgers served to ONE MILLION, TWO HUNDRED SEVENTY-FIVE THOUSAND.

Dear Abby

Future Bride Gave Ideas

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon, and when my aunt asked me what I wanted for a wedding present, I replied, "How much do you want to spend?"
Well, my mother heard me, and she really took me apart! Abby, I still can't understand why my question was out of line.
I know that my aunt is going to buy me something, so what's wrong with finding out what she had in mind? I can use anything from a can opener to a color TV.
My mother said I should have told her that all I wanted were her "good wishes." How hypocritical can you get? This aunt happens to be the richest one in our family.
JUNE BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: Since she asked, I see nothing wrong with offering a few suggestions. You could have started with the can opener and ended with an eye opener—like a color TV.

DEAR IN LOVE: You can't. And if you invest any more time and longing on this hopeless situation you're asking for the misery you feel. A begging, brooding girl is unattractive, so substitute that wishbone for some backbone and force yourself to get busy with other things and thoughts of other people. You can get over him if you try, and try you must. Pray for strength. It works!

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for your understanding letter to TEN YEARS TOO LATE. You said, "No one steals affection; people are usually drawn together by a mutual need." How wise you are.

When I was 26 I looked into a pair of dark eyes and felt as though I had met the other half of my own soul.
I wasn't married, but he was. God knows how much I longed to have a romantic encounter with this man, but I ran from my feelings as though they were poison.

In these days when most people seem to grab whatever (and whomever) they want without a thought of the consequences, perhaps I was foolish because never again did I feel that way about a man. Foolish or not, I honestly believe that this way I have fewer regrets.

No answer is necessary, Abby. I just wanted to get this off my chest.
BETTY

DEAR BETTY: Thanks for a powerful letter.

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago when I was 16, I fell in love with my brother's best buddy. He was 19 and gave me no encouragement.

I am ashamed to admit it, but the summer I turned 18 I threw myself at him in a way he couldn't turn down, and we had an affair. He was my first and only, but I was neither his first nor his only. He told me about the others.

He never once said he loved me, but I told him I loved him. He said he couldn't get serious about any girl, but I notice he's got a steady now. He treats me like a sister except for those times I beg him to be a lover to me.

I feel so cheap, Abby, but I can't help myself. I love him so much. When I see him with a girl, I get physically sick. I turn down dates with other guys just to sit home and play records that remind me of him.

How can I make him love me?

Mining Engineer Likes Underground Work

By CONNIE GRZELKA
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — As far as Carla Stone is concerned, if a mine isn't safe for a woman, it's not safe for a man either.

Ms. Stone, 26, is among the 3 of one per cent of the female minority in the engineering profession today, and one of the ten or so women mining engineers in the country.

"People think of a mine as being drudgery, but there's really a camaraderie in the mines you don't find anywhere else. There has to be a lot of teamwork to get the coal out efficiently and safely."

Men erect certain barriers against women in the field, Ms. Stone says, but she believes that the fellows are more surprised than anything else when they see a woman.

She's quick to add: "Once you've paid your dues, you're a member of the team."

Underground, Ms. Stone wears overalls, hardhat and the same safety gear as the men. Her protective hard-toe shoes, however, had to be custom-made in size 2.

When she's not actually in a mine or checking out a mine site, Ms. Stone deals with other aspects of mining and energy sources as a senior analyst in policy development and economics for the Continental Oil Co., in Stamford, Conn.

To her job she brings her technical background, which includes B.S. and M.S. degrees in mining engineering and mineral economics from Columbia University, to use in analyzing political, economic, legal and environmental considerations before an area is mined.

She has also worked as a research analyst for a Wall Street bank here, where she compiled economic analyses of large mining projects and visited mines in foreign countries.

When Ms. Stone was a student working at summer jobs for mining companies, she was banned from entering some mines because she was a woman. But the situation has changed considerably in the last seven years:

"There's still prejudice against women in mining. Some companies are being forced to hire women under the Equal Opportunity Act — but I don't believe in filling quotas."

"As more women go into the field in general, men will become more used to working with women and see that they are capable," she says.

Ms. Stone was the first woman to enter certain mines. And at 95 per cent of the meetings and conferences she attends, she's the only woman there.

Her first underground experience was at age 12 when she toured a mine near her hometown of Pittsburgh. "I found it interesting, but there was no motivation to become a miner," she recalls. It wasn't until she was a college sophomore when she had to take a required mining course that she discovered that she really dug mining.

Ms. Stone belongs to the Society of Women Engineers and is the New York representative for the American Institute of Mining Engineers' Council of Economics.

She's proud to have chalked up 20 years with the Girl Scouts. As a Scouting volunteer, Ms. Stone talks to girls about engineering as a career and shows films on mining. "I feel it's important to act as a role model," she explains.

An opera buff and balletomane as well, Ms. Stone is also working on a doctorate at the New School for Social Research here.

Eventually, she says, she'd like to move up to the upper management of an energy company, but would like to continue her connection with coal, which she calls "the mineral of the future."

Eastern Star Honors Members

GRIFTON — Grifton Chapter No. 134 Order of Eastern Star honored members, Betty and Joe Gilbert, Tuesday night during a regular stated meeting.

Prior to the meeting, a covered-dish dinner was held. Worthy Matron Louise J. McCotter conducted the meeting and Worthy Patron John Glenn was in charge of the flag presentation.

During the opening, Mamie Dodd Jackson, Grand Representative of Oregon, was recognized. Past Matron Jean Cheech was presented a Past Matron's pin from the chapter by her mother, Mrs. Jackson. The Past Patron's pin from the chapter to Glenn was presented by his wife, Becky.

Mrs. McCotter recognized Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert.

Plans were made for members to attend the Grand Chapter meeting in Raleigh the third week in June.

Bride-Elect Entertained

GRIFTON — Miss Shirley Scheetz, bride-elect of Robert Steven Brown, was honored Saturday at an informal party at the home of Mrs. Troy Jackson. Mrs. W. L. Mahler was assisting hostess.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Jackson and introduced to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Max Scheetz, and Mrs. Robert Earle Brown, mother of the bridegroom-elect. They were remembered with corsages of white flowers. Miss Scheetz was given a gift by the hostesses.

The refreshment table was covered with an ivory linen cloth edged with lace and centered with an epergne of magnolia. Mrs. Donald Koon assisted in serving.

GRIFTON — Mrs. Don Casey was hostess Saturday morning at a bridesmaids luncheon for Miss Scheetz and her attendants.

Roses and daisies decorated the house. The bride's table was covered with a green cloth and auxiliary tables were covered with white cloths. The tables featured bouquets of roses and daisies.

The honoree was given a rose corsage and a gift from the hostess.

Add lots of basil — preferably fresh — to an oil and vinegar dressing and pour over sliced tomatoes.

Changes Require Early Action

The telephone directory of all things, is being held up for Pitt and Greene Counties until a controversy over how the listings will be handled this year is settled.

Carolina Telephone has proposed that all the listings be grouped together to facilitate finding a name in the entire area. There were protest from Ayden, Bethel, Snow Hill and Farmville that not listing the municipalities would mean a loss of identity.

The matter was taken to the N. C. Utilities Commission which restrained CT&T from issuing the new listings until a hearing can be held on the matter.

Because of this company president J. C. Cluen announced that issuance of the directory on Aug. 1 will be delayed.

Cluen said the phone company will asked for a formal hearing before the Utilities Commission which will mean the delay of issuance of the new directory. In the meantime patrons of the company will continue to use the present directories, which are due to expire Aug. 1.

Cluen maintains that combining all the listings in alphabetical order will make use of the directory quicker and easier.

"It is not a matter of savings but another step to make the directory more usable," he said.

We can understand the concern of area towns about loss of identity, and it is also obvious that issuance of the new directory will have to be delayed pending a solution to the dispute.

We do hope, however, that the question will be resolved quickly. There is a rapidly change-over of phone numbers in our area, and consequently a need for annual updating of directories. If issuance of the new directory is delayed for several months the present directory will soon be unreliable. We do need the new directory more or less on schedule, regardless of how the listings are arranged.

Indicating Our Transit System Works

Some $14,000 which was designated for the city transit system to cover Saturday operations was not needed.

City Manager Jim Caldwell told the City Council the funds were not used because of increased use of the system by the public, and economy of operation.

That is an indication that the public transportation is working and providing a real service to many local citizens.

THIS AFTERNOON

Changes For A Borrower

By Bill Noblitt

RALEIGH—"Let the Borrower Beware" may be the slogan in North Carolina lending circles before this session of the General Assembly ends.

A host of little amendments, minor word changes, and new proposals in several seemingly unrelated proposals are in various stages of progress.

A handful of legislators who pride themselves on watching out for consumer interests are trying to pull the package into focus.

What is looks like is a concerted effort to undermine the 1972 Retail Installment Act, regarded as strongly protective of consumers. That law allowed a high interest rate on retail credit loans, but banned late charges, delinquency fees, or flat rate levies on the grounds that higher rates negated need for other charges.

More Changes

The effort now appears to be one to get those changes legalized, but without lowering interest.

The net result, says State Rep. George W. Miller, Jr.,

D-Durham, will be increased borrowing costs for the consumer, and increased income for banks, other lenders, and merchants who handle their own credit.

State Rep. E. Graham Bell, D-Gaston, whose banking committee of the House of Representatives is handling much of the legislation, admits there is a hodge-podge of law change going on, but doesn't think the consumer will be adversely affected. He does favor a full-fledge study commission to rewrite borrowing law, however.

Here is a brief rundown on some of the measures:

REVOLVING CREDIT—The interest would be placed on daily balance rather than previous month's balance. Thus, your bill would reflect the latest purchase—but might not reflect your latest payment.

Take Back

Taking back items purchased under the revolving credit plan would apparently be changed, although much debate surrounds this. Suppose you buy a TV; then several months later buy a lawnmower; then later, a new refrigerator. Each month you pay the revolving account. Currently, the first item bought is the first paid off. If you have paid for it (and the interest) then get into financial trouble, the take-back man can't touch the TV—only the lawnmower and the refrigerator. The change would apportion payments across all purchase purchases so it is possible none would ever be fully paid off.

CREDIT CARDS—A 50-cent monthly fee would be charged for the privilege of holding a card but either not using it, or for paying in full without letting interest payments take effect. At the same time, banks would charge merchants six per cent of the sales volume rather than four per cent as currently.

READY-RESERVE—

When you write a reserve account check now, it's a deal between you and the bank—no mortgage on an item. A law change which sounds like consumer protection would guarantee that a credit involving a monthly rate greater than one and one-quarter per cent "may not be secured by real or personal property. . . ." The catch is that the reserve account rate is exactly one and one-quarter per cent, and therefore could be secured by real or personal property.

The result: write a reserve account check to buy a new bike and you will likely find that bike automatically mortgaged to the bank.

MORE FEES—A few words deleted ("appraisal or recording"), and the words "changes and . . ." in place of them would mean you no longer were limited to payment of fees for property appraisals and legal recording of liens as is the present law. Instead, lenders could charge fees for title insurance, mortgage insurance, and other required sidelines as a condition to the loan.

MAKES THAT DIET SO MUCH EASIER!

2 Views Of High Court

In the current issue of Saturday Review, the editors raise a fearful question: Has the Supreme Court abandoned the Constitution? The cover depicts two hands tearing the document to shreds. An ACLU lawyer delivers himself of howls and lamentations. The Burger Court is splendidly vilified. What memories it all brings back!

Just 23 years ago—it seems even longer—some of us who are not ACLU lawyers were asking the same lugubrious questions. We were then denouncing the Warren Court for trampling upon the Constitution. We were howling, baying, growling, groaning. Billboards demanded that Earl Warren be impeached. As one decision followed another desegregation, reapportionment, school prayer, Miranda bitterness yielded to despair. The Constitution indeed had been abandoned.

Well, it all goes to show that these things depend upon one's point of view. It is the old story of the ox that is stoked. What is one man's steak is another man's dog food. In his polemical piece in Saturday Review, Laughlin McDonald is saying the same kind of things about Warren Burger that some of us used to say about Earl Warren. And he is no wiser now than we were then.

McDonald is Southern regional director for the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation. He charges that the Court under Burger is "nailing up its doors," leaving the poor and downtrodden without remedy or redress. The Court's opinions are constitutional disasters." Nearly everything the Burger Court does is designed to keep people out of court. This is his peroration:

"As things are now developing, Burger Court decisions will mean a reduction in constitutional protection, and in freedom, for all of us. . . . All our freedoms will be diminished, and as the Constitution begins to atrophy through be encouraged and will occur. Our institutions of government will become more and more prone to abuse and less and less reliable. There will be an ever increasing, palpable deterioration in the quality of American democracy and in American life."

What about all this? It is nonsense, of course. Under the Burger Court, the old original Constitution has been revitalized. The Burger conservatives, applying sound principles of constitutional construction, have revived the concepts of federalism that Earl Warren had nearly destroyed. Thanks to Burger and his colleagues, palpably guilty defendants no longer are extended quite the ridiculous solicitude they enjoyed in Warren's day.

McDonald's basic charge not stand up. If the Burger Court is trying to keep people out of the federal courts, it has signally failed in that effort. In the past eight years, as Burger recently told the American Law Institute, district court civil filings has gone from 77,000 a year to 130,000 a year. Claims under the Social Security Act have gone from fewer than five per district to more than 10,000 for the 94 districts. Habeas corpus and civil rights cases brought by federal and state prisoners have increased from 20,000 in 1960 to 19,000 in 1976.

The Supreme Court cannot validly be accused of disdaining the kind of cases McDonald is grieving about. In the past eight years, the Court has decided 99 cases involving the rights of racial minorities, 41 involving prisoners, probationers and parolees, 27 involving the rights of welfare recipients, 25 involving freedom of

Auction Role Is Guided

By SUSAN STOLER

Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Auctioneers must know a lot more these days than just how to rattle off bids nonstop if they want to practice in North Carolina.

Some 750 persons are licensed, practicing members of the trade which is controlled by state law and indirectly by practitioners themselves. "They have to handle a person's affairs, their money, their goods. They have to have some knowledge of value, some sort of idea of what an item's worth and a little mathematics, particularly since they work mainly on commissions," said George R. Fuller Jr., executive secretary of the North Carolina Auctioneer Licensing Board.

Prospective auctioneers enter the field by one of three methods. They can be apprenticed to a licensed auctioneer for two years, take an 80-hour course at one of 10 accredited auctioneering schools in the country, or hold a license from one of nine other states that have reciprocal agreements to honor North Carolina licenses.

Two of the 10 schools are in North Carolina, at High Point and Lenoir Community College.

After meeting those qualifications, an apprentice or person completing a course must take a written exam given by the five-member state board.

The tight rope on operations keeps out fraudulent businesses and also helps maintain standards of persons in business in North Carolina, Fuller said.

"I won't say it's impossible, but it's very, very difficult for an unlicensed person to come to North Carolina and have an auction sale that we would not have heard about it," he said referring to a network of local "sources" the board relies on to check advertised sales. The sources include newspaper ads, sheriff's offices, private investigating agencies and other auctioneers who spot suspicious ads.

The law governing auctioneers exempts the callers found at tobacco warehouses, certain livestock sales and court-ordered sales.

North Carolina and 18 other states have laws regulating

Amelia Earhart lifted her silver, twin-motored monoplane into the second leg of her projected flight around the world today, heading for Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana.

Her ship roared away under fair skies and a 10-mile an hour east wind for the long over-water hop.

The take-off was at 6:50 a.m. and had been delayed while the slim, blonde aviatrix awaited weather reports from Trinidad.

The Snow Hill Billies went on a slugging spree yesterday to run their winning streak to six games.

The victims of the onslaught were the Greenville Greenies and the score, 16-7, tells the story.

The win lifted the Billies into the first division. The Greenies will try to get revenge this afternoon in a rematch at Snow Hill.

THE INSIDE REPORT

Flunking An Energy Test

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N.J. — If Americans were taking an examination on the energy problem, many of them would flunk.

Even after President Jimmy Carter's television messages dealing with America's energy requirements, a surprisingly large number of Americans do not know of our dependence on foreign oil and have no clear idea of how much oil the country must import to meet its energy needs.

Only half the public, 52 per cent, knows that America must import oil to satisfy its energy demands. And of these, only one third (or 9 per cent of all adults) have an accurate idea of how much petroleum the U.S. imports — 42 per cent last year and 47 per cent for the first three months of 1977. The remainder either have the impression there is enough oil produced domestically (33 per cent) or do not even venture a guess (15 per cent) — right or wrong.

Oddly enough, many of the country's best educated citizens — those who have attended college — are uninformed in this area. About three in 10, 27 per cent, think we produce enough oil in this country and another 11 per cent are totally in the dark.

Regionally, residents of the Northeast and Midwest are more cognizant of the fact we must import a good deal of our oil than are people living in the warmer climes of the South and West.

Political implications for the Carter administration are also apparent in the findings showing that those who are best informed about or import needs are the most receptive to Carter's call for energy conservation and sacrifice. For example, among those who feel Carter's proposals call for too many sacrifices on the part of the public, 41 per cent think we have enough oil in this country. However, with those who think his programs call for about the right amount of sacrifice or for too few sacrifices, the comparable figures are 31 per cent and 26 per cent, respectively.

Here is the first question asked followed by the key findings. "From what you have heard or read, do you think we produce, enough oil in this country to meet our present energy needs or do we have to import some oil from other countries?"

Domestic Petroleum Production

	Produce enough	Must import	Don't know
NATIONAL	33%	52%	15%
Men	31	60	9
Women	34	45	21
College	27	62	11
High school	35	51	14
Grade school	34	39	27
East	30	56	14
Midwest	30	58	12
South	36	46	18
West	36	47	17

This question was asked of those who said we must import some of our oil:

"About how much — that is, what per cent — of the oil used in this country do we presently import from other countries?"

Other Editors Say: Prison Farce

(Kannapolis Independent)

It's really almost too absurd to take seriously. But there it is facing the Supreme Court and a decision is expected sometime next month.

We're referring to a group of North Carolina prison inmates known as the N.C. Prisoners Labor Union, Inc., which claims a constitutional right to be a union, solicit members, hold meetings and distribute literature.

The group claims to represent 2,500 inmates and charged in a suit that North Carolina prison officials violated their First Amendment right to freedom of assembly and 14th Amendment right to due process of law.

A three-judge panel last year ruled that the state could not prohibit the inmates since it allowed other groups in prisons including the Jaycees and Alcoholics Anonymous. The state then appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The original issue revolved around living conditions in the prisons, but thanks to a $1,000 organizing grant from the AFL-CIO, the issue has evolved into something altogether different.

A rock song of a few years back had a chorus that said, in effect, we'd better stop and look around, because something is happening. Something is, indeed, happening and we'd be wise to take that look around. A close look. When we ignore the fact that inmates of prisons are there because they have been convicted by their peers of having committed crimes against society and are incarcerated for punishment and rehabilitation, then something strange is happening.

The whole affair seems to be a mockery of the law and of society itself. Why have prisons in the first place if prisoners, or organized labor, or both are going to run them?

The court's decision will have quite an impact on the entire nation, and a ruling in favor of the prisoners would be a slap in the face of civilized society.

It's time we looked around? That may be an understatement.

Speculating In A Fresh Field

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The newest speculation in the financial district here is not even a security. It is signed graphics, sometimes sold sight unseen, the attraction being mercenary rather than aesthetic.

Moving into the field are salesmen whose chief interest heretofore was commodities, such as wheat and silver and maybe even hog bellies. In art they foresee large profits, primarily by selling to business executives.

Answering an unsolicited telephone call, a businessman is told "We are in the position of being able to supply you with signed graphics from some of the best known artists of today, such as Dali, Picasso, Chagall, Miro."

He is further informed that "Since the value of these prints has consistently gone up it is important that you be in a position to move quickly."

Then the blunt question is put: "Could you, if our literature meets with your approval, write a check for $4,000, our minimum order?" The words are from the approach of one company.

Some businessmen understandably are reluctant to say yes, but some do. "Judging from the purchase orders I have seen," said a midtown art dealer, "they could be too successful." He fears a speculative boom — and collapse.

While only a few companies are involved in the trade so far, some salesmen have ideas of branching out on their own, and claim there may be as many as 40 to 50 such firms by summertime.

Evidence so far, however, suggests the art entrepreneurs might be having a more difficult time of it.

One individual who sought an arrangement with a source of art prints, writing on the stationery of one of the largest, most prestigious investment firms in the world, later denied he had even considered the business.

"In no way at all is it the business of this firm," he said. "And personally," he added, "I am involved in no way at all." Then he demanded: "Where did you get my name?"

Asked if his business was a success, Charles Lombardo, president of Wall Street Graphic Art Corp., one of the first in the telephone business, and he claims, the employer of a dozen salespeople ("they come and go"), said: "It's too soon to be sure."

Lombardo said he was putting his efforts "on the back burner" while he devised "new procedures, a new catalog." He said it would take six months more for him to answer the question.

Wall Street Graphic Art has offered various portfolios of signed prints at what are claimed to be large discounts from "uptown" prices. One grouping, for example, includes a Picasso or Chagall, plus a Miro, Dali, Calder, Marini, Baskin and Belmer for $10,000. The retail price is said to be $12,200.

Strength For Today

THE MEANING OF HYPOCRISY

One of the easiest epithets to let slip from one's lips is "hypocrite." We find it hard when people disagree with us to believe in their sincerity. Under these circumstances it is very easy to call a person a hypocrite.

But although the tendency to make this charge is a very common human failing, true hypocrisy does exist, and it is as very real evil. The hypocrite pretends to be one type of person when he is really another. The most ruinous factor in hypocrisy is that the hypocrite almost always succeeds in deceiving himself. He considers himself frank while others are furtive. He probes himself on insights into people and situations far more penetrating than those of the average person.

Hypocrisy arises from a person's inability to distinguish between the genuineness of inner and outer goodness. The hypocrite is interested only in whitewashing the sepulcher, painting the house, lifting the face of facts until that which is truly ugly becomes beautiful and noble.

Survey Indicates Family Food Costs Continuing To Mount

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Higher prices for a wide variety of items pushed up the family grocery bill last month, forcing consumers to search harder than ever for bargains, an Associated Press market-basket survey shows.

The survey showed that most of the increases affected food rather than nonfood products. Coffee prices continued to soar. Recent cuts by roasters did not affect the supermarket shopper since the retail prices consistently had remained below wholesale levels.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

The latest survey showed the marketbasket total at the checklist store increased during May in 12 cities, up an average of 3.5 per cent. It declined in only one place — Salt Lake City, where the bill at the checklist store dropped 1.9 per cent.

On an overall basis, the marketbasket bill at the checklist stores increased just over 3 per cent in May, compared to an average boost of 1.4 per cent during April.

Nonfoods represented 20 per cent of the items surveyed; they represented only 16 per cent of the increases. The most frequent food increases came in the price of pork chops, coffee and frankfurters.

To some degree, the increases reflect higher prices paid to farmers for their products. The Agriculture Department said Tuesday that farm prices went up 2 per cent from April 15 to May 15, the sixth straight monthly boost.

In many cases, however, the price paid to the farmer represents only a small fraction of the cost paid by the consumer. The rest of the money goes for such items as packaging, processing, transportation, labor and overhead, all of which have risen steadily.

Comparing prices at the start of June with those six months earlier, the AP found the marketbasket bill had increased at the checklist store in every city, up an average of 9 per cent. Much of the boost was due to the rising price of coffee which is averaging about $3.79 a pound at the checklist stores in the survey cities. When coffee was removed from the totals, the marketbasket bill at the checklist store showed an increase of an average of only 1.5 per cent in six months.

One of the few bright spots during the first half of the year has been a steady decline in the price of eggs. The government said the prices paid to farmers for eggs and poultry dropped 5 per cent in the month ended May 15 and were 6 per cent lower than they were a year earlier. The AP survey showed the price of eggs dropped at the checklist store in eight cities during May.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, frankfurters and granulated sugar.

want such hand-signed works? Because, relates a Wall Street Graphic Art "insider report," there is "a break out toward much higher prices for original signed and numbered graphics..."

Therefore, "The demand for fine art is... increasing exponentially while the supply of such art increases linearly; hence, the supply will not keep up with the demand at current prices."

Under a heading, "Positions to be taken in the following artists immediately," are listed Alexander Calder, Salvador Dali and Joan Miro. Calder, it is noted, died last November, Dali is 73 and Miro 84.

"Conclusion: Prices paid for original signed and numbered graphics by famous artists have the potential to double in the next 9 months to 2 years. Immediate positions should be instituted..."

Connoisseurs cringe at the word "position." They might tolerate "investment," because that could denote aesthetic as well as pecuniary motives. But they dislike the notion that art should be sold like commodity futures.

"If these Wall Street firms are successful, and if they are misleading in their claims, the entire fine arts market place could be adversely affected," said Bruce Whyte, president of Original Print Collectors Group.

"Don't buy any works of art sight unseen," Whyte advises. And if you do buy to resell, "Don't forget to figure in seller's commissions, which could range from 10 per cent to 40 per cent."

speech and religion, 21 affecting women's rights, 15 dealing with the right to counsel, 11 concerned with illegitimate children, 10 with students' rights, and so on. McDonald's argument, to be sure, is that except for most of the women's rights cases, and the other cases have been wrongly decided. He is surely entitled to that opinion. But this does not necessarily invalidate an opposite opinion, which some of us conservatives cheerfully assert, that the cases were generally decided properly. The Constitution, I venture to suggest, will survive McDonald's obituary, just as it survived my own long ago.

auctioneers, and the consumer really benefits, Fuller said, adding the Tar Heel state adopted the regulations in 1973.

"The whole thing is to protect the public. If a member of the public complains that an item has been misrepresented to him, or he finds that it was stolen when the sheriff comes 'round saying someone swears that it's his, that person has recourse to make a claim against an auctioneer's $5,000 bond, which must be filed in this office," he said.

Nine out of 10 complaints are settled without formal hearings, Fuller said.

Auctioneers range from age 18 to 75, and about 20 are women, all of which don't fit the typical stereotype. Fuller said, of "someone who gets on a box and says I've got $25, give $30."

Their Furniture Design Library Said The Best

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — N.I. Bienenstock and his wife, Bernice, have spent half a century together assembling the world's best library of furniture design — 4,000 volumes so rare they are not insured because most could not be replaced.

Bienenstock, publisher of the trade magazines Furniture World and Furniture South, began collecting the books when he was 21 and learning the furniture business, inside out.

His wife joined the search in 1927, and together they combed antique shops, rare book stores, private homes and among readers of trade and antique book magazines in which they advertised.

"My purpose all the way through was to open up these books for designers to study and do research," Bienenstock said. "People who study design can't find books on furniture."

Students of design know where to go now.

The Bienenstocks have collected every significant volume on the history of furniture published since 1640, and designers from nearly every major furniture factory in the nation have done research in them.

Before 1970 the library was in the office of Furniture World in New York, "but the designers crowded us out of our office," Bienenstock said.

Eight years ago they came to High Point, a center of furniture manufacturing, and bought a two-story stone residence to house the collection.

To make sure the collection would not have to be broken up to pay estate taxes when they died, the Bienenstocks arranged to incorporate the library as a foundation, with financial help from manufacturers whose designers had taken advantage of it.

The cost has been considerable. The industry has put up $109,000 so far toward maintaining the collection and Bienenstock has spent $250,000 on his own, not counting the value of the books themselves.

"This furniture industry has been our life," he said. "The industry is responsible for our being able to give these books. It's really a return of a debt, no more than that."

Immunity Is Given Jailer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A former Wake County jailer has been granted immunity for his testimony against Sheriff Robert J. Pleasants in connection with alleged bribery and sexual misconduct at the county jail.

Raymond A. Harris will be one of the leading witnesses at the superior court trial of Pleasants and four former jailers, who were indicted Tuesday following a six-month investigation of the charges.

Harris' lawyer Stephen T. Smith said special prosecutor Joseph B. Cheshire granted the immunity "for his testimony and cooperation at all levels."

Cheshire also said Wednesday that he and Pleasants' lawyer Robert B. McMillan have engaged in plea bargaining, but would not discuss any details of the talks.

Pleasants could be removed from office at the discretion of the court, if convicted on the charge of willful failure to discharge his duties, a misdemeanor. Harris was accused by the grand jury of conspiring with the other jailers to willfully fail to discharge their duties, but was not indicted.

Job Market Is Improved

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — This year's college graduates have a 23 per cent better chance of getting a job than did last year's graduates, a national job market survey says.

The 31st annual Endicott Report, released Tuesday, also predicts that hiring will be up 17 per cent for graduates with masters degrees.

The report said the figures, gathered from a May survey, were considerably higher than those gathered in a November survey of employers.

"This good news is a direct correlation with the general improvement in business trends for these companies," said Frank S. Endicott, retired Northwestern University placement director, who has been conducting the survey since 1945.

He noted that 49 per cent of the 118 firms in the May survey said business conditions for their companies were clearly improved or semi-improved, 47 per cent said conditions were about the same and only 4 per cent report business moving down.

Big Suit For Investigators

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Two men who were named in a recent series of articles on organized crime in Arizona have filed lawsuits asking for $33 million in damages from Investigative Reporters and Editors, Inc., 40 reporters and editors and four newspapers that carried the series.

The suits, filed on behalf of Salvatore Spinelli and Michael Licavoli, said the men were defamed by statements linking them to drug-smuggling operations and prostitution rings throughout the country.

Spinelli is seeking $18 million in damages in connection with four installments of the 23-part copyright series by Investigative Reporters and Editors, Inc. The suit also charges invasion of privacy, conspiracy, and "careless, unnecessary and outrageous" acts.

The suit filed for Licavoli makes the same three charges and also alleges two instances of defamation that he says injured his reputation. The suit seeks $15 million in damages.

Included as defendants are the Star Publishing Co., publisher of the Arizona Daily Star; the Albuquerque Journal; the Denver Post; the Long Island newspaper, Newsday; Robert Greene, a Newsday editor who headed the team, and individual team members.

Pool Opening

Date Delayed

Jim Parker, director of the Greenville Municipal Swim Pool, has announced that the originally scheduled opening of the pool on Saturday, June 4, has been delayed for a week.

The delay, Parker said, is due to maintenance difficulties with plumbing. A new opening date of Saturday, June 11, at 1:30 p.m. has been tentatively scheduled. At that time, all of the swim programs will be open for registration.

Sex Discrimination In Six States Is Charged

ATLANTA (AP) — Six states have been named by the American Friends Service Committee's Atlanta-based Southeastern Public Education Program in a suit filed with the federal Office of Civil Rights alleging sex discrimination in schools.

Schools in South Carolina, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi were named in the action, but a spokesman for the program said that there is "reason to believe that... (discrimination) exists in many other school districts in the nation."

A total of 21 school districts are cited for discrimination under Title 9 of the 1972 Education Act, which bars sex discrimination in institutions receiving federal aid.

In a publication "Almost as Fairly," the program listed what it said are discriminatory acts.

South Carolina districts named were: the Daniel High attendance area in Pickens County; Greenville County; Sumter Districts 2 and 17, the only two in the county; and York District 3, Rock Hill, one of three in the county.

These points were among the alleged illegal activities in South Carolina schools:

—"There was little evidence that (Sumter) school administrators had taken any leadership position to force the South Carolina High School Athletic League to conform to Title 9 and to further meet the needs of young women."

—"Experiences of female students at Sullivan Junior High and Rock Hill High in York District 3 illustrate the meaningfulness of a school district's compliance with the law. At both schools it was found that girls were allowed to try out for 'boys' teams, but no girls were actually playing on the teams."

"Asked whether the girls eliminated were permitted to form alternate teams in a sport, students said coaches never inform students they are eliminated."

—"Parents and students interviewed in Sumter District 17 told the program the dress code was different for boys and girls, and a student handbook says, 'Short pants or tank tops may not be worn by boys.' A policy also prevents boys from wearing their hair braided."

—"Only one female principal was found among 40-plus high school principals in the five South Carolina school districts. action in the area of administrative jobs for women is strongly indicated to bring these districts into Title 9 compliance."

'Gourmet Fare' In Earthworms

POMONA, Calif. (AP) — Translated into French, and folded in with eggs and cream, earthworms can be passed off as gourmet fare. But according to a fish bait firm, they're even good when swallowed unadorned.

A dish called "Quiche Lorraine avec Ver de Terre," concocted by a fourth-grade teacher from New Jersey, won first prize Wednesday in the second annual Ver de Terre Recipe Contest at California State Polytechnic University.

Ver de terre means earthworm. "Some of the judges were hesitant before they started the judging because they haven't eaten earthworms. But afterward all said they liked them," said John Burke, vice president of the marketing firm for North American Bait Farms, which put on the contest.

"We don't think that earthworms will be on everybody's table," Burke admitted. "But the contest gives us a chance to tell people that earthworms are 73 per cent protein and are low in cholesterol."

Besides, he added, "when you mix them in another recipe, you can hardly taste them. When you eat them plain after boiling them, to me they taste an awful lot like shredded wheat."

Jean Farmer of Bloomington, Ind., won second place for her earthworm bread, and a fourth-grade elementary class from Iowa Falls, Iowa, was third with "Magnificent Mess Cake."

More than 2,000 people entered the contest.

Here are the ingredients from the winning recipe, which was worth $500 to Lynn Remisovsky, 31, of Bayonne, N.J.:

One pie crust, one beaten egg, one cup of evaporated milk, half a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce, one cup of grated Swiss cheese, a 3/2-ounce can of French fried onion rings, nine slices of crisped and crumbled bacon and 16 earthworms, boiled three times.

One Injured In Auto Mishap

One person was reported injured and an estimated $565 property damage caused in a 4:30 p.m. collision on Howell Street, 20 feet East of the Garland Street intersection yesterday.

Police reported a car driven by Royce Bryan Moore of Route 3, Greenville, collided with a fence and tree, causing an estimated $750 damage to the car and $15 damage to the fence.

Officers reported a passenger in the Moore car was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries received in the collision.

N.C. House, Senate Swap Bills For 'Concurrence'

MEETING THE GRADUATES—Secretary of Defense Harold Brown smiles as he receives a salute from one of 64 distinguished graduates at the Air Force Academy graduation ceremonies in Colorado yesterday. Brown was commencement speaker at the school which graduated 851 seniors. (AP Wirephoto)

RALEIGH (AP) — The House and Senate swapped bills for concurrence Wednesday, the House approving a restructuring of the Utilities Commission and the Senate passing the governor's pupil testing bill.

The statewide testing bill was approved without dissent or debate after the Senate earlier eliminated a number of amendments added by the House. The Senate version would set up a testing program in basic subjects to be administered in the first, second, third, sixth and ninth grades.

Earlier in the session the House eliminated the specific grades to be tested. Rep. Dwight Quinn, D-Cabarrus, sponsor of the bill, predicted the House would concur in the Senate changes.

The utilities bill, which would create a Utilities Commission staff to represent the public in cases before the panel, was sent back to the Senate for consideration of amendments and a spokesman there predicted concurrence. The public staff would be headed by an executive director appointed by the governor. The bill specifies that the reorganization will be repealed in four years if it is not extended by the legislature.

In other legislative action: MIXED DRINKS Opponents of liquor by the drink voiced their opinion in the first of two public hearings on a local option mixed drink bill pending in a Senate committee. The measure, sponsored by Sen. William Smith, D-New Hanover, would allow cities and counties that now have ABC liquor stores to hold referendums on whether to allow restaurants and private clubs with at least 36 seats to serve mixed drinks. Among the opponents was James B. Hunt Sr. of Wilson County, the governor's father.

TRAILERS Twin trailer trucks 65-feet long would be allowed on four-lane roads and some other highways under a measure approved by the Senate. The measure passed on a 30-15 vote after supporters defeated a string of amendments that would have sharply limited the number of roads on which the trucks would be allowed.

Under the bill, the three-unit rigs could be driven on four-lane highways and on two-lane roads designated by the state Department of Transportation. Trucks are now limited to two units and a length of 55 feet.

TRANSPORTATION A bill to restructure the state Department of Transportation was enacted after both the House and Senate compromised in conference committee.

The new law replaces the Transportation Board with a 24-member panel with the secretary of transportation as chairman. The governor would appoint 21 of the members, including one member from a party other than his own. The new law abolishes the Secondary Roads Council.

ROAD BONDS The House tentatively approved a proposed $300 million road bond issue after reversing itself on an amendment that would have allowed the people an alternate choice of voting for a temporary tax increase.

Rep. William T. Watkins, D-Granville, sponsor of the amendment, agreed to its removal because it might have jeopardized the bond issue. The bonds would be sold at the rate of $60 million a year for five years. Hunt has said the bonds are essential to the state's industrial development efforts.

New Nuclear Warhead Not A Bargaining Chip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Deployment of a new, more powerful nuclear warhead is not a bargaining chip in strategic arms talks with the Russians, although a change in U.S. plans is possible "if the Soviets want to negotiate seriously," the Carter administration says.

Presidential Press Secretary Jody Powell refused to link the decision to proceed with the Mark 12A warhead and a new computerized guidance system with a Russian refusal to accept U.S. strategic arms limitation proposals made in March.

But Powell said Wednesday that the administration might be willing to reconsider the warhead deployment, expected by 1979.

"There is a possibility that if the Soviets want to negotiate seriously we can make changes in our plan," he said.

The new warheads, with twice the force of those now atop the 550 Minuteman III intercontinental ballistic missiles, are needed to give the United States "rough equivalency in strategic forces" with the Soviet Union, Powell said.

"We do not feel it is reasonable to expect this country to unilaterally forego all technological (weapons) improvements ... absent similar restraint by the Soviet Union," he said.

Powell said the President endorsed in February plans made by the Ford administration for the new warhead, now in the testing stage. It will contain the equivalent of 350,000 tons of TNT when operational.

The new guidance system would give the missiles a much greater chance of penetrating "hardened" Soviet missile silos, defense installations, nuclear weapons depositories and key industries, officials say.

Powell said the specific issue of the Mark 12A has not been the subject of serious negotiations between the United States and Russia.

He said the President's proposals in March "would have specifically prohibited this and many other sorts of qualitative improvements" in missile technology. He said Carter feels a new generation of weapons is "as serious or more serious" as an issue than the stockpile of a nation has.

Critics contend the new generation of missile technology will give the United States a "first strike" capability that could provoke a preemptory Soviet strike to avoid annihilation in a nuclear holocaust.

Powell acknowledged the new warhead and guidance system will give the United States a "temporary advantage" in strategic weapons, but denied that they represent a unilateral escalation of the arms race.

Ask Pardons By Carter

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — About a dozen persons demonstrated here Wednesday in support of a plea asking President Carter to grant "pardons of innocence" to defendants in the Wilmington 10 case.

The Rev. Ben Chavis, imprisoned leader of the group of nine black men and one white woman, has written a letter to Carter, which was read at the rally.

The group was convicted in 1972 of firebombing a grocery store during racial violence in the port city of Wilmington in 1971.

The United States "can never stand before the world community as a beacon light of democracy and human rights" until Carter establishes "a national priority of freeing all U.S. political prisoners," Chavis wrote.

The United States Supreme Court declined to hear an appeal of the case a year and a half ago, and the 10 began serving prison terms up to 34 years. All but the woman remain in prison.

Black And Mixed Race Children Need Homes

The Children's Home Society and Departments of Social Services of North Carolina are conducting an all-out campaign to find adoptive homes for children of black and mixed racial heritage.

A public meeting for interested persons will be held at the Moyewood Community Center, 1710 W. Third Street, Greenville Wednesday, June 15, at 7:30 p. m. Adoptive parents will be present to share their experiences. Agency staff from the Children's Home Society and the Dept. of Social Services will answer questions and tell about children who need homes.

"Many of these children are growing up in public foster care waiting for the security of a permanent adoptive home," Mrs. Margaret Watson of the Children's Home Society said.

"It's not as difficult to adopt a black or mixed racial child as people may think," she said. "Contrary to popular belief, a family is not required to own their own home or have a big bank account before adopting a child. Single applicants will be considered. People wishing to adopt one of these children do not need to wait a long period of time. All they have to be is flexible about the kind of child they can love."

Anyone wishing to inquire in advance of the meeting may contact the Dept. of Social Services Adoptions Section, 758-2167, or the Children's Home Society, 752-5847.

Near Learning Cause Of Fire

By STEVEN R. HURST Associated Press Writer SOUTHGATE, Ky. (AP) — Officials say they now know which room was the starting point for the Beverly Hills Supper Club fire and they're "very close" to pinpointing the cause.

Arson has been ruled out. Meanwhile, two names have been added to the death list, bringing the toll from Saturday night's fire to 161.

The bodies were found Wednesday, two days after Southgate Fire Chief Dick Riesenberger said he was certain there were no more victims in the pile of rubble that once was one of the Midwest's slickest nightspots.

The dead were identified as Lenora Hill Gentry and Charlene Matthews, both of Cincinnati. Campbell County Coroner Fred Stine said both were part of a 105-member Gospel choral group. All their colleagues escaped.

Officials said the fire started in the club's Zebra Room, just after a wedding party left.

Kentucky State Police Commissioner Ken Brandenburg confirmed that evidence showed paper napkins and other flammable debris had been stacked against a wall of the Zebra Room, which was near the front of the club. However, he would not say the fire began in that material.

"We're getting very close to determining how the fire started," Brandenburg said.

The wedding party left the room at 8:25 p.m., officials said. The Southgate fire department received the alarm at 9:02. A waitress discovered the fire and reported it to other employees who then began fighting the fire and warning patrons, Brandenburg said.

17-Year-Old Is Charged

FARMVILLE — A 17-year-old boy has been charged with breaking and entering and attempted rape here.

Police identified him as Stanley Gorham, 17, of 210 Crestwood Drive here.

Lt. W. G. Barber of the Farmville Police Department said the victim, whose name is being withheld, said she was approached at her home by a young man who asked if he could cut her lawn. She told him she would have to talk to her husband. He left on a bicycle, but came back, walked into the house and pushed her down, she said. She said she talked to him and he left, later returning to apologize.

Gorham was arrested a short time later. He is in Pitt County Jail, pending a probable cause hearing set for today in District Court here.

Search And Rescue Man

FARMVILLE — A Farmville resident, Air Force retiree Frank Bowling, is the local representative of the National Association of Search and Rescue (NASAR) Incorporation.

NASAR, a national organization based in Utah, is an agency whose members, all volunteers, offer assistance to emergency agencies and to regular law enforcement personnel during times of trouble.

Swamplanders Again Fight Assault By Progress

By JULES LOH
AP Special Correspondent
MANCHAC, La. (AP) — So far progress has shoved aside nearly all of this village and nearly half its people. The 48 families who have survived are bracing for another assault. If it doesn't work this time — well, there's just no more room for a fourth try.

The village is an island, an island of ironies in the middle of the great Manchac Swamp of southern Louisiana.

Here alligators win the prize as most fearsome, egrets as most graceful, Spanish moss as most melancholy, crawfish as most bountiful, and highway builders as most persistent. They're going to pave that swamp yet.

Their current effort, Interstate 55, is a concrete monster just being born. It looms 20 feet overhead and rests atop great pilings pounded 250 feet into the goo.

At $7 million a mile it is a vaillant try. It isn't the first.

"When I came here 33 years ago there were only two automobiles in the village," Virginia Succow, the postmistress, recalled. "There really wasn't any place to drive a car, just the one road."

The one road ran through Manchac from LaPlace at the southern edge of the swamp to Ponchatouls at the northern edge.

It crossed Pass Manchac, the village's southern border, on a wooden bridge. A pass is an arm of water connecting two lakes, in this case Lake Maurepas and Lake Ponchartrain. The Illinois Central railroad tracks paralleled the road.

Driving from south to north, then, a motorist crossed the bridge and came upon the village of Manchac:

A cluster of buildings bordering the road on the right, a canal running alongside the road on the left, houses lining the canal. An uncomplicated scene. A fishing village of about 80 families, bait store, church, boatyard, postoffice.

That's the way Mrs. Succow found Manchac when she arrived in 1944 as a wartime bride.

Fourteen years later the state deemed the road inadequate.

Work crews arrived. They dug a new canal to fill the old canal — which itself had been dug for the clay to build the old road's base. Then they laid down a new, wider road on top of the filled-in canal. They also built a new concrete bridge alongside the old wooden one. Two roads, two bridges, side by side.

Mrs. Succow and others who lived along the old canal had to move back and make way. Not too far back, though, or they would fall in the new, enlarged canal. Not forward either. Across the two roads and the line of stores ran the railroad tracks and beyond the tracks uninhabitable swamp.

The new road left no room for most of them. About 30 families had no choice except to take the money offered them and leave.

The new road served Louisianians well. It became the key road north from New Orleans and handled heavy traffic. Not only was it two lanes wide but it was six feet higher than the old road, up on the swampland, built to last.

After a few years, however, it was only five feet higher. Then three feet. One foot. Today, 20 years after it was built, it has sunk to the level of the old road, lower in spots, higher in others, a roller coaster thrill at 55 miles an hour. Time for a new road, a new round of picking up and moving.

The Interstate is scheduled to be finished in 1980. Whizzing along it northbound in the right hand lane, make a note to look down and get a glimpse of Manchac.

Better yet, drive to the next exit ramp, swoop down, double back on the old road, jog over to the older one, and go to Manchac. It will be worth the trouble.

A cypress-paneled oasis named Middendorf's serves fresh seafood without equal, and if you time it right you can watch the train that's called the City of New Orleans speed down the railroad tracks out back. It will have gone 500 miles when day is done. Visit Mrs. Succow.

When her day is done she will take down the flag and lock the post office. She will walk across the original one-lane highway, over the old two-lane highway, under the new four-lane highway, and on back to the very edge of the new canal. That is where the Succows found a remaining unpaved spot to put a house trailer after their second relocation.

The youngest Succow is a man now. He is in the fishing business with his father, who will soon retire. For her part, Mrs. Succow tends her garden, a dirt-filled pirogue in front of the house trailer, makes her two trips a day to the post office and has no plan to retire. Except ...

"Ours is one of those post offices they've talked about closing down. Do you suppose they will?"

Spy Trial Sees Life Sentence

BALTIMORE (AP)—A federal court judge here has temporarily sentenced Edwin G. Moore II, a former CIA supply officer, to life in prison following his conviction on espionage charges.

U.S. District Court Judge Frank A. Kaufman said Wednesday he imposed the sentence on the 56-year-old Bethesda man, pending a complete medical review by federal prison officials.

"I will not bind myself at this time with regard to the choice I will make" in finally sentencing him, said Kaufman, adding the harsh sentence was needed "in order to obtain the study."

He indicated he would reduce the sentence as soon as the report, which is due Sept. 1, is delivered.

Kaufman addressed the defendant for 40 minutes, saying there was no doubt "extreme damage" would have been done had Moore succeeded in selling CIA documents to the Soviet Union.

Moore was convicted May 5 of two counts of espionage and three counts of stealing government documents. He was arrested last December after authorities found on the grounds of a Soviet residence in Washington a package with a note offering "penetration" of the CIA for a $200,000 down payment.

During his month-long trial, Moore contended he was recruited for the assignment by a CIA operative named Joe.

During sentencing Wednesday, Moore said, "Regardless of the verdict reached by the jury, I still maintain I was a pawn of the CIA. On their instruction I was led to believe I was serving my country which I love and respect and would never betray."

He concluded, "My CIA contact, Joe, knows I am innocent. God in heaven knows I am innocent."

Looking for a way to save gasoline?

According to a recent Wall Street Journal article, you can find it in a full-size Buick LeSabre.

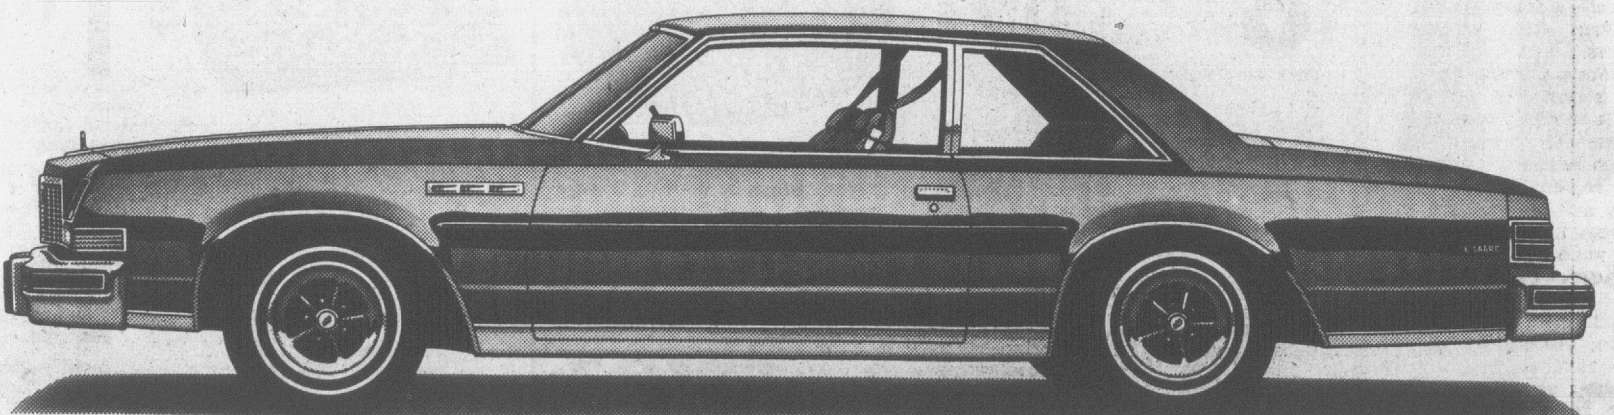

Recently the Journal ran a story on energy and energy-efficient cars.

In case you missed it, we'd be only too happy to fill you in on one of the high points: the Journal's recognition that our full-size, six-passenger LeSabre is indeed a pretty darn efficient automobile when it comes to using gasoline. With its standard 231 V-6 engine and automatic transmission, it got a combined EPA city/highway estimate of 20 mpg (17 mpg city/25 mpg highway). The actual mileage you get may well vary depending on the type of driving you do, your driving habits, your car's condition and available equipment.

The Wall Street Journal thought people would be surprised to know about the efficiency of the full-size Buick LeSabre. We thought you'd also be delighted to know about the efficiency of our other two full-size cars: Both the top-of-the-line Electra and luxurious Riviera, with standard 350 V-8 engine and automatic transmission, got a combined EPA city/highway estimate of 17 mpg (15 mpg city/22 mpg highway).

In these gasoline-conscious times, it's nice to know you can have your Buick and drive it too.

Teacher Pay Raise Linked To Available Money

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Even though state employees and teachers say it does not meet the increased cost of living, the only general pay raise now in sight for them this year is the 6.5 per cent boost recommended by Gov. Jim Hunt and the Advisory Budget Commission.

The North Carolina Association of Educators and the state employe associations have asked for at least 10 per cent, but Rep. Edward Holmes, D-Chatham, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, says the chances of getting that much "do not look good at this point."

Holmes said the state's revenue picture "looks a little better" but that a $30 million increase in the cost of Medicaid which had not been expected could use up any additional state revenues. Holmes said the General Assembly is confronted with the choice of funding the entire increase in Medicaid costs or of cutting health services to the needy aged.

The difficulty the General Assembly has encountered in finding funds for an additional pay hike for the state workers and teachers is illustrated by the fact that it costs $16 million to give those paid by the General Fund a 1 per cent hike. So $64 million additional would be required to fund a 10 per cent boost.

In recommending the 6.5 per cent raise, Hunt asked the legislators to review the situation next year to see if state revenues will permit an additional pay hike for the state workers and teachers the second year of the biennium.

Hunt also has recommended that the legislature approve an additional pay increment step in the salary schedule for teachers and state workers which would bring additional raises to many of them.

This proposal embodies portions of the recommendations of a legislative subcommittee which recently called for revisions in state salary schedules and fringe benefits, including increased retirement benefits. The subcommittee's proposals would cost $50 million.

Holmes said the Appropriations Committee will "take a good strong look" at the subcommittee's recommendations and will implement them if the money can be found.

The question of a pay boost for the state's judges averaging more than 10 per cent for each year of the biennium which has been recommended by Hunt and Chief Justice Susie Sharp has become tied up in the controversy over a raise for teachers and state workers. A subcommittee voted that the judges receive a 6.5 per cent raise like everyone else. Hunt and Sharp say the higher raise should go to judges in order to attract better qualified persons. Holmes noted that another fringe benefit of state workers — state financed hospital and medical insurance — is under consideration. He said the annual premium for the insurance will increase this year by $7 million to a total of $32 million. In the past, the state has paid the entire cost, but that now is being reconsidered.

Be Wary Of Tick Bites

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Residents of western North Carolina should be especially wary of ticks bites this time of year, say state health officials who have recorded 35 cases of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever.

The disease is carried by ticks and can be fatal if not treated.

Antibiotics such as tetracycline are useful in early stages, when a person develops a rash and flu-like symptoms.

The number of cases is up from previous years, partly because of increased settlement in heavily wooded suburban and rural areas, said John N. MacCormack, head of the communicable diseases branch of the State Division of Health Services.

In North Carolina, the disease is most often contracted along a corridor parallel to Interstate 85 between the Raleigh-Durham area and Gastonia, he said.

May and June are generally the peak months for the disease, which is often carried by the American dog tick. Less than 5 per cent of American dog ticks in North Carolina are believed to carry the Spotted Fever bacteria.

In later stages, the disease affects the small blood vessels, and antibiotics are not effective.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, stalling after an early advance.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up more than 3 points in early trading, was down 1.02 at 905.53 by 11:30 a.m.

Gainers clung to a 3-2 advantage over losers among New York Stock Exchange issues after leading by better than 2 to 1 earlier.

First-hour volume on the Big Board totaled 5.18 million shares.

The Dow had climbed 7.89 points Wednesday, rallying from just below the 900 level.

But analysts noted that the upswing, coming as it did on modest trading volume, apparently failed to impress traders.

Dow Chemical was the most active NYSE issue, down 1/4 at 35 1/2. A 352,000-share block traded at 35.

Union Carbide rose 1/2 to 51 1/2 in trading marked by a 222,200-share block at 51.

Massey-Ferguson dropped 3/4 to 19 1/2. Late Wednesday the company reported sharply lower earnings for its latest fiscal quarter.

The 11 a.m. NYSE composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks showed a .08 gain at 53.05.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .22 at 112.53.

House Leaning To New Energy Dept.

By TOM KAUM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is ready to join the Senate in creating a new energy department, with the White House waging a last-minute battle against a proposal to deny the agency's secretary power over natural gas prices.

The House scheduled debate today on the energy reorganization bill, which would meet a request from President Carter for a new Cabinet agency to administer a national energy policy.

While passage of the measure seems assured, a major fight is developing over a provision giving the new energy secretary, expected to be presidential energy adviser James R. Schlesinger, authority to set both natural gas and oil prices.

House Republicans are rallying behind an amendment by Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., to give gas price-setting powers to a five-member independent Energy Regulatory Commission.

The administration is opposed to the Moss amendment and has been lobbying key House Democrats in an effort to defeat it.

Meanwhile, a House Commerce subcommittee was expected to begin consideration today of possible amendments to non-tax aspects of the President's energy program, the energy policy that the new department would administer.

The subcommittee completed several weeks of hearings on the legislation on Wednesday.

First on the subcommittee's agenda as it begins voting is the President's proposal to require utilities to have programs for insulating homes of customers who request such services.

The President also called for tax credits of up to $412 for home insulation, but that part of the legislation is before the House Ways and Means Committee.

One issue in the energy reorganization bill, authority over the price of natural gas shipped in interstate commerce, is regulated by the Federal Power Commission. The FPC, along with the Federal Energy Administration and the Energy Research and Development Administration, would be abolished under the bill.

Moss does not dispute the proposal to give the new energy secretary the power to regulate oil prices, since the power already is exercised by an executive agency, the FEA.

But he claims that natural gas pricing should be under continued regulation of an independent regulatory body and not placed in the hands of an executive agency political appointee.

The Senate also balked at the administration's proposal to give the energy secretary power to regulate both oil and natural gas prices. It voted instead to place the authority under a three-member board within the new department.

However, the Senate-passed bill would give the energy secretary the authority to propose new rates to this board and would give the President the power to veto its decisions.

Under the Moss proposal, the president would not have this veto power.

Lt. Gov. Green Plans Prevent 'Rubber Stamp'

By DAVID R. NELSEN
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green, who removed himself from consideration for chairman of the state Board of Education Wednesday, indicated that he would use his position on the panel to ensure that the board is not a "rubber stamp" for Gov. Jim Hunt.

"Gov. Hunt and I are united in a common goal for education and the board needs to be united in a common goal for education," Green said at a news conference. "But the board cannot be a rubber stamp..."

One immediate area of contention appeared to be a reading program for the first three grades. Hunt has backed a program that has been tested in the schools over the last two years. Green expressed concern about Hunt's proposal, saying the governor should look at a program being tested in Durham city schools. But, Green also admitted that he was not familiar with Hunt's proposal.

At separate news conferences Wednesday, Hunt and Green each emphasized agreement on education. But each left room for disagreement.

Green commented that "possibly too many new things" were being tried in the public schools. "I don't know whose brainchild these various programs are," Green said when asked if he was referring to programs backed by Superintendent of Public Instruction Craig Phillips, a Hunt ally.

At his news conference, Hunt said he and Green agree that an emphasis on basic skills is important and said, "The area of agreement is very broad."

Later, Hunt said of his relationship with Green, "There have been differences. There are some different kind of differences; some personality and some philosophical differences."

Green called his news conference to announce his decision to not seek chairmanship of the Board of Education.

"The board membership is almost equally divided on the selection of a new chairman and if the new board starts out with this type of division, many vital programs will be in jeopardy," Green said.

"With the children of North Carolina foremost, it is my wish that my name not be placed in nomination for chairman during the next two years. I can think of no single thing that I can do at this time which will more clearly demonstrate to all of the people my feeling that education is much bigger than politics, and that the children of our state must come first," he said.

Despite his quitting that fight, Green said would still try to represent those who urged him to seek the chairmanship. "I have not laid down and I shall not lay down ever," he said.

McMillan called a special grand jury session Tuesday to give the jurors special instructions on their duties. McMillan presided at four sessions, spread over three weeks, before finally ruling on the contempt motions.

"I think he (McMillan) did what he had to do," Robert Rush, Greene's attorney, said after the ruling Wednesday.

Police Receive 90-Day Term

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Two police officers who refused to testify before a federal grand jury must serve 90 days in jail for their silence, a federal judge ruled Wednesday.

U.S. District Judge James B. McMillan found officers Michael Greene and George Nesbitt guilty of contempt of court for their refusal to testify, but McMillan made it clear he was not happy with putting the men behind bars.

"Given a free choice in the matter, I would refuse," McMillan declared, saying he believes jailing reluctant witnesses "is only a small degree removed from other traditional types of torture used to make men talk, such as the rack."

But McMillan said he was bound by a 1970 federal law which says Fifth Amendment rights against self-incrimination are not valid if a U.S. attorney certifies that a witness' testimony is necessary to the public interest.

Greene and Nesbitt have repeatedly refused to testify before a grand jury investigating allegations that Charlotte police used illegal telephone wiretaps during some narcotics investigations. Federal prosecutors supervising the grand jury had asked McMillan to jail the two officers until they decided to testify or the grand jury expires in December.

But McMillan limited the jail terms to 90 days, and said the first 30 days would be suspended if each officer paid $200 a day for the 30 day period in advance. He allowed five days for an appeal, but the officers' attorneys said Wednesday they did not know if they would fight the ruling.

McMillan said the imprisonment could be ended at any time the officers agreed to testify.

Neither officer would comment on the decision.

In refusing to testify, the officers had said they might lose their jobs and be subject to "peer pressure." Their attorneys contended that the grand jury already had enough evidence to indict, and that the jury was never told it had the option of deciding it did not need the two officers' testimony.

McMillan called a special grand jury session Tuesday to give the jurors special instructions on their duties. McMillan presided at four sessions, spread over three weeks, before finally ruling on the contempt motions.

"I think he (McMillan) did what he had to do," Robert Rush, Greene's attorney, said after the ruling Wednesday.

Not Qualified For Unemployment Pay

Jim Hannan, manager of the Greenville office of the state Employment Security Commission Job Service, has explained that employees of school systems who have a contract or an assurance of returning to work at the end of the summer will not be able to draw unemployment for summer months when they are not working.

Hannan notes "although federal statutes provide unemployment insurance coverage to school employees, most school workers without jobs this summer will be denied unemployment payments. Both federal and state unemployment insurance laws deny benefits to school workers who have reasonable assurance that they will return to work at the end of the summer."

The law disqualifying school workers, Hannan added, "applies to non-professionals in the school system as well as teachers."

Fire Damages Tarboro Plant

TARBORO, N. C. (AP) — A fire broke out before dawn today in the finishing plant of a curtain and drapery manufacturing plant and firemen fought the blaze for several hours before bringing it under control.

A spokesman said a ruptured fuel oil line hindered efforts to contain the fire, whose cause was not immediately determined. The blaze was believed to have started around the plant's boiler room.

No injuries were reported and there was no immediate estimate of the damage. The building housing the operation was described as about two years old.

Bridges...

"He helped push a $25,000 death indemnity penalty through the legislature.

"And he administers fairly and honestly, like he does everything else.

"I don't think the people in this state will ever be able to repay Henry Bridges for the services he has provided this state in the last 30 years, and I hope he'll be around for another 30."

Dr. William Fulford, president of Pitt Technical Institute, presented Bridges a plaque on behalf of the citizens of eastern North Carolina, calling Bridges "a remarkable Christian and a model family man."

"Henry Bridges has always possessed an unyielding respect for law and order," said Fulford.

"He has always executed his duties with responsibility and compassion, mingled with common sense.

"For 30 consecutive years he has served the post of state auditor with the expertise that has made North Carolina one of the most fiscally respectable states in the country."

TO BE RECOGNIZED

The Rev. Thomas McIlwaine Davis of Greenville will be given special recognition at the Glade

Lee Picked To Pirate Staff

East Carolina's new head basketball coach, Larry Gillman, has announced that Billy Lee, an assistant coach for the Pirates last season, will remain a member of the ECU basketball staff.

Lee came to East Carolina last year from New Bern High School where he was a highly-successful coach for three years. He is a native of Mount Olive.

"We're happy that Billy has decided to stay on with us," said Gillman. "Billy's enthusiasm and knowledge of the state of North Carolina will be a great asset to our program here at East Carolina."

During the 1976-77 season, Lee was primarily in charge of ECU's defense, something he was noted for in high school circles. Last year, the Pirate team had the lowest defensive average in the last three years, six points better than the two previous seasons.

While at New Bern High, Lee guided the 4-A Bears to a 42-18 record over three years, the best ever at the school. In 1973, he coached New Bern to its first 4-A conference championship and into the state playoffs. Attendance jumped from a near empty gym to a packed house. Ten players under Lee at New Bern entered college basketball programs.

Lee also held the head coaching position at East Montgomery High School in 1972 and served as an assistant coach in 1971 at Wake Forest High School.

On the high school level, his career record stands at 71-29, all accomplished prior to the age of 26.

Lee attended Southern Wayne High School, Mount Olive Junior College and Atlantic Christian College, receiving his degree in 1971 at ACC in physical education. He was a standout guard at all three institutions, setting scoring records at Southern Wayne and Mount Olive. He was selected to play in the East-West All-Star game in Greensboro.

The 27-year-old Lee is married to the former Shirley Scarborough of Mount Olive. They have one child, Patrick.

New Signee

Bernard Hill, a 6-7 forward from Ramapo, N. Y., is the fourth recruit to be signed by new ECU head basketball coach Larry Gillman. Hill averaged 24.2 points and 13 rebounds per game as a senior and was named Most Valuable at the Montifiore-Mosholu Easter Tournament in New York City.

Lions Slip By Union Carbide

The Lions outlasted Union Carbide, 12-8 yesterday in a game halted by darkness in the North State Little League yesterday.

The win boosted the Lion record to 8-1, while Union Carbide fell off to 4-5.

The Lions pushed over two in the first inning. David Jester singled and Marshall Rand reached on an error. Jester scored on an out, and Rand came in on a wild pitch.

Union Carbide came right back with two. Jeff Wilson walked and moved to second on a steal. Jody Forbes reached on an error and stole second. Mike Livingston singled in Wilson, and Forbes came over on a wild pitch.

The Lions added three more in the second. Tracy Roscoe walked, as did Jester. Both moved up on a wild pitch and Patrick Rand singled in Roscoe. Marshall Rand singled in Jester, and a hit by Troy Hudson brought in Patrick Rand.

Steve Staton made it 6-2 with a solo homer for the Lions in the third.

But in the bottom of the third, Union Carbide rallied for six runs to take an 8-6 lead. Livingston singled and Dwayne Roeser was hit by a pitch. Enoch Reid singled in both runners, and scored on Billy Messick's single. Jon Catlett doubled to drive in Messick, and Wilson singled. An error on the play let Catlett single. Forbes reached on an error, scoring Wilson with the final run of the frame.

The Lions went back out with three in the fourth. Patrick Rand singled and Marshall Rand got a hit. Hudson doubled in one run, and Marc Gatlin singled in the other two.

The final three came in the fifth. Chris Evans reached on an error and Kevin Pace walked. Marshall Rand then cracked a three-run homer.

Woman In Net Field

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Olga Palafox of Ouachita Baptist, Ark., the only woman in the NAIA National Tennis Tournament, teams with Victor Almaral today as the doubles field is cut to the top eight teams in action today.

The singles field, scene of a major upset Wednesday, will be trimmed to the top four players.

Unheralded Dick McWeen of the College of Charleston, S.C., shocked the tournament Wednesday by upsetting top-seeded Rick Cleveland of Huntington College, Montgomery, Ala., 7-6, 3-6, 5-7.

Wednesday's play left Flagler College of Florida atop the team standings with 23 points, two points ahead of favored University of Redlands, Calif. Carson-Newman of Tennessee and Southwest Texas State had 19 each, followed by Southern Colorado with 18.

The top-seeded doubles team of Kendall Char and Hadi Rahimi of Redlands struggled to victories over Presbyterian College of South Carolina and Atlantic Christian of North Carolina Wednesday.

Mike Marshall, then pitching for the Los Angeles Dodgers, got into a record total of 106 games in 1974, his Cy Young year.

Bucs Sign New Cage Recruit

East Carolina University basketball coach Larry Gillman announced today the signing of his fourth basketball recruit, forward Bernard Hill.

The 6-7, 190-pounder from Ramapo High School in Ramapo, N. Y. was named to the New York All-State team as a senior, as well as being voted unanimously to the all-league and all-county teams in Rockland County.

Hill led the Public School Athletic League for Rockland County in scoring as a senior with a 24.2 points per game average. He also averaged 13 rebounds per game. His play won him the Rockland County player of the year award and most valuable player on the Ramapo team.

Perhaps his greatest honor was being voted most valuable player in the prestigious Montifiore-Mosholu Easter Tournament in New York City. Schools from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut play in the tournament.

Hill made tremendous strides as a senior after having been named honorable mention all-county as a junior.

"The thing we are most interested in recruiting this year was quickness," said Gillman. "With Bernard's size, he has a definite advantage due to his quickness, which will be of great help to us."

"Bernard improved greatly over the past 18 months and with continued improvement at this rate, there's no telling how far he can go as a basketball player."

"Bernard comes from a fine program at Ramapo High under coach Rich Meszaros, so we anticipate no problem with Bernard fitting into our scheme of play. He will definitely see action as a freshman because of his quickness and scoring ability," Gillman said.

Hill is the fourth signee for ECU. Earlier signees are Oliver Mack, 6-3 guard; Walter Mosely 6-1 guard and Roger Carr 6-6 forward.

Ladies In Final Win

The Greenville women's team in the Eastern Carolina Tennis Association inched to a 5-4 win over Kinston yesterday in the final match of the season.

Greenville took four of the six singles to gain the lead, but Kinston came back to take two of the three doubles and tie the match at 4-4, with the number two match still going on. That went three sets before Frances Cain and Lib Proctor finally gained a 2-6, 6-3, 6-4 win, with the final game going through a long deuce series.

Summary:

Frances Cain (G) defeated Sarah Williams, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3.
Carlie Willie (G) defeated Darlene Worthington, 6-3, 6-2.
Nancy Powell (G) defeated Judy Whitlock, 1-6, 6-2, 6-4.
Torrey Stroud (K) defeated Anne Sayetta, 6-1, 6-4.
Trudy Wooten (K) defeated Rae Daniel, 6-0, 6-0.
Sharon Ricks (G) defeated Marvel Turik, 6-3, 7-5.
Whitlock Wooten (K) defeated Willie Powell, 6-1, 6-4.
Cain-Lib Proctor (G) defeated Williams Turik, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.
Worthington Stroud (K) defeated Ricks-Sayetta, 6-2, 6-3.

First Summer Game Delayed As Pirates Learn Of Best Injury

There was good news and bad news for Hal Baird, the East Carolina University assistant coach who will be the head coach for the school's summer league team.

First the bad news: Baird got a phone call from freshman star Billy Best yesterday, informing him that Best had fallen and broken his wrist. That will mean that Best will be out a minimum of five or six weeks, practically the entire season.

"We had planned to play him at shortstop," Baird said. "We also wanted to work in him in the outfield some, and now we're in a bind."

Baird added that Jerry Carraway, who played the shortstop position during the spring will not be with the team during the summer season. "He's got some land that he must farm during the summer," the coach said.

Now the good news: The Pirates won't have to jump right into the summer league on Saturday as originally scheduled. Louisville coach Russ Frazier has asked that the opening game be postponed due to his team's recent return from the junior college tournament. The contest will be played as part of a doubleheader on July 1 now.

This will give Baird a little extra time to try and work out his manpower problems.

"We'll try to move Tommy Warrick into the shortstop position," Baird said. "We had planned to make him a utility infielder but with him having to play regularly, we are going to be down to the bone on depth. We just don't have that many players who will be with us this summer now."

The Pirates lost four players from graduation, who will not be eligible to play. But they have picked up another returnee who was not eligible during the spring, Macon Moyer.

Moyer will probably see much of the action at first base, replacing the graduated Sonny Wooten. Moyer's bat power rates him as an excellent replacement.

Overall, Baird said he hoped to continue the same trend shown by the Pirates during the spring. "At the same time, we're going to use this as an instructional league, too," he said. "This gives us the opportunity to build some depth, especially in our pitching staff."

The pitching staff may be the key to any success the Pirates may have this year. Mickey Britt, the 9-1 freshman who led the team during the spring, will be the ace of the staff. Pete Conaty, who has eligibility left, is unsure whether he will play. He may sign a professional contract.

"This will leave us with only untried people behind Britt," Baird said. They include Billy Davis, Brad Price, Bill Sword and Billy Williamson. Only Davis had some mound experience during the spring.

"I hope that we'll find someone who can come through for us and do the job," Baird said.

The rest of the positions will be somewhat the same as during the year. Raymie Styons will handle the catching duties, with Moyer probably at first. Pete Paradossi returns to second, with Warrick now moving into the shortstop position.

Bobby Supel will be at his accustomed spot at third.

Tommy Cobb will move into the vacant spot in left, with Robert Brinkley in center and Eddie Gates in right as usual.

"Pitching is the big thing," Baird said. "Looking at our schedule, and if we can stick to it, we can get by with Britt and one other good man, if we can get some good spot starting from the others."

"Our defense could be a little stronger, too," Baird added.

The first game, since the postponement of the scheduled opener, will be Tuesday at North Carolina. The Pirates are not at home until Tuesday, June 14, when they entertain Campbell.

Toledo Fights ECU Cancellation

The Athletic Board of Control of the University of Toledo began action today to force East Carolina University to honor its contract for September 17.

The board, in a special meeting this morning, recommended unanimously to President Glen R. Driscoll that the school seek, through whatever means necessary, to get the contract with East Carolina fulfilled.

The game was to have been played in the Glass Bowl, Toledo's stadium, on September 17. East Carolina has scheduled Duke University for September 10, and moved a Greenville date with Texas-Arlington to September 17, the date that Toledo had been scheduled.

The motion sent to the president reads as follows: "We recommend that the athletic director be authorized to consult with University legal counsel and to take any and all appropriate action, including, if necessary, the initiation of legal proceedings to require East Carolina University to honor its contract with the University of Toledo and to otherwise protect the interests of the University of Toledo under that contract."

The board action came after athletic director Vern Smith received written communication from East Carolina athletic director Bill Cain of the changes in the ECU schedule.

Smith told the board that his first indication of the change in the East Carolina schedule came from a Durham newspaper reporter on May 18, and he emphasized that the action was a unilateral one by East Carolina without prior consultation with Toledo. He received the written confirmation of the switch on

Mack To Tryouts

Oliver Mack, earlier announced as East Carolina's first basketball signee of the year, has been invited to attend the World University Games Camp in Louisville, Ky. June 12-29.

The purpose of the camp is to select a 12-players basketball team from the United States to compete in this year's World University Games. The team will tour European countries from July 30-August 25.

Mack is one of only a few players from around the country to be invited to the camp.

The 6-3 198-pound guard completed two years at San Jacinto Junior College, being named both years to the Junior College All-Tournament team, something only two other players in the history of the tournament have done.

Mack was also named first team Junior College All-America this season.

Herman Franks Using Ali Tactics To Lull Cardinals Before Win

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer
Give Chicago Cubs Manager Herman Franks a forum and he starts sounding like Muhammad Ali.

"The St. Louis Cards will win it (the National League East pennant) easy," Franks said Wednesday night.

"Why? They've got a better ball club than we have. They have plenty of speed. They've got more guys that really fly."

"I'm not setting anybody up," Franks continued. "We need a left-hander. The only one we have (Willie Hernandez), I have to save for the bullpen."

Despite Franks' opinion, the Cubs are in first place by 1 1/2 games after edging the Cards 4-3 in 13 innings Wednesday night.

St. Louis Manager Vern Rapp responded to Franks' appraisal, saying, "It sounds like psychological warfare. He doesn't want the load on his shoulders."

In other NL games Wednesday, San Francisco edged San Diego 2-0, the New York Mets stopped Montreal 6-4, Pittsburgh blanked Philadelphia 3-0 in a rain-shortened contest, Cincinnati defeated Atlanta 5-2, and Los Angeles downed Houston 6-2.

Starter Rick Reuschel and relievers Bruce Sutter and Hernandez, 2-1, combined to strike out 16 Cardinals. Sutter fanned nine in his five-inning stint.

But it took Steve Ontiveros' third hit of the game — a one-out single in the 13th, to score Jerry Morales with the winning run.

Bobby Murcer hit his eighth homer of the year, a two-run shot, for the Cubs, while St. Louis sent the game into extra innings when Lou Brock doubled with two out in the ninth and scored on Ted Simmons' fourth hit of the game.

Giants 2, Padres 0

Ed Halicki hurled his first complete game of the season, scattering six hits in leading San Francisco over San Diego. Halicki struck out 11 and walked only one in snapping the Padres' five-game winning streak.

Rob Andrews singled in the sixth and eventually scored on Jack Clark's single. Andrews also scored the Giants' second run, slugging a double and coming home on Darrell Thomas' single.

Mets 6, Expos 4

New York gave new Manager Joe Torre his second straight victory as John Stearns belted his first major league grand slam home run, capping a five-run fifth-inning rally.

Tom Seaver, 5-3, posted his first victory since April 30 and his first victory in Montreal since Oct. 3, 1972. Skip Lockwood relieved Seaver with two out in the seventh after Dave Cash hit a run-scoring triple and Tony Perez an RBI single.

Pirates 3, Phillies 0

John Candelaria tossed a two-hitter and Pittsburgh scored all of its runs in the first inning as Philadelphia saw its chances for a comeback ruined when a torrential downpour stopped the game after 7 1/2 innings.

Reds 5, Braves 2

A four-hitter by Pat Zachry led Cincinnati over Atlanta. Zachry, 3-6, retired 13 of the final 14 batters he faced in going the distance for the first time this year.

George Foster paced the Reds' attack by scoring three times.

Cincinnati's fifth straight triumph raised the Reds' record to 23-23, the first time the defending world champions have been at .500 since the first week of the season.

Dodgers 6, Astros 2

Ron Cey drove in three runs with a double and a single as Los Angeles snapped a four-game losing streak by downing Houston. Tommy John, 6-2, got the victory with relief from Charlie Hough, who earned his 14th save of the season.

Houston starter Bo McLaughlin, 1-2, was the loser.

NBC Quietly Replaces Heldman As Tennis Show Commentator

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Julie Heldman, former tennis player, current tennis journalist and once and future tennis TV commentator, was among the missing when NBC televised the Italian and French championships recently, and she won't be at Wimbledon either.

In view of her experience last year, she should consider herself lucky.

"I caught typhoid fever in Hawaii last year, just before going to Europe," she says. "It was crazy. I passed out after the broadcast from Rome. I passed out in the middle of the Paris tournament. I was taken off the plane in London in a wheelchair and was drugged up throughout Wimbledon."

Despite such difficulties, Ms. Heldman carried on nobly and television viewers were none the wiser. Of course there weren't that many people watching, especially at Rome and Paris. Neither event ranked among the top 25 tennis telecasts of 1976.

Wimbledon did better, with one telecast ranking No. 4 and another tying for 10th on the list.

At any rate, Ms. Heldman has been replaced as commentator by Australian ace John Newcombe this time around. No one told her she would be replaced. She just never got a call.

"That's how they operate," she says. "Nobody has talked to me about it. But I can't complain. It's not my world, it's their world. When one invades their world one plays by their rules or one gets out."

"I thought I did a pretty good job. Each time I've done a tournament, people wanted me for what I was talking about. I'm not a superstar, not Muhammad Ali or Billie Jean King. I was hired for my talent, not for my name."

"I only resent it when they put somebody bad on the air. I don't resent Newcombe because I think he's pretty good."

Ms. Heldman has frequently found herself in a unique position on the air—a woman commentator for a men's event. Both the French and Italian tournaments were essentially men's events last year.

"It was kind of a first, but nobody wanted to hype it as a first," she says. "I got a lot of support from the men players. Occasionally someone would say 'Ah, she doesn't know what she's talking about,' but most people seemed to accept it."

"I think it worked so well because we didn't play it up. It just happened."

Tennis and television are currently engaged in an uneasy alliance in which most of the TV money goes to a handful of stars—Jimmy Connors, Bjorn Borg, Ilie Nastase. Most players, not surprisingly, favor a more equitable distribution of the wealth. They would like to see more tournaments televised and fewer so-called artificial events, like challenge matches and "canned" events.

"ABC is showing something (the World Invitational Tennis Classic) every week these days that was taped in October," says Ms. Heldman. "Evoone Goolagong played in that when she was two months pregnant. Now she's already had her baby."

"That's what most of us are clearly against. But morality is not a heavy trip in either the tennis world or television."

The players want to present tennis in its natural habitat, a tournament situation in which everyone gets a shot at the glory and the gold. But no one watches television to see Fred McNeil play Sherwood Stewart, regardless of how entertaining such a match might be. Fans want to see the stars. So we get Connors vs Borg, Connors vs Nastase, Nastase vs Borg.

The networks argue that they are trying to bring the best players together and that's what the fans want. And the ratings back them up.

"Only a few tennis names will make people turn on television," admits Ms. Heldman. "One thing the challenge matches offer is the best players against each other. I think most of the players want to do something full of aesthetics and television wants the ratings and the money."

"What can you do? It's a business and they're trying to put on the best show they can. That's the way it is."

Hisle was hurt when he tried to run down Graig Nettles' line drive in the fourth inning of the Twins' 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees.

Hisle, hitting .316 with 11 home runs and a league-leading 45 runs batted in, was scheduled for routine x-rays today. He probably will miss at least one or two games.

Final Indignity Is A TV Replay

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When the beleaguered Philadelphia 76ers boarded their 8 a.m. flight out of Portland Wednesday, the television in the first class section was tuned to a news program showing highlights of the previous night's playoff slaughter at the hands of the Portland Trail Blazers.

It was the final indignity, a fitting climax to the Sixers' lost journey to the Pacific Northwest, a six-day sojourn in which rain was a constant companion and during which time the Sixers managed to look positively awful in losing two lopsided decisions to the Blazers.

"We were embarrassed," said George McGinnis, the Sixers' slumping forward who once again looked conspicuously out of place on the court. "When it rains, get your umbrella."

Despite the steady showers in the Rose City, Big George wasn't referring to the weather. He was thinking back to the way the Blazers sliced apart the Sixers with consummate ease in a 130-88 romp Tuesday night which evened the National Basketball Association championship finals at two victories apiece.

"They blitzed us," said McGinnis. "I have no explanation for it. But everybody on this team, in this organization, has to be embarrassed."

"They ran a clinic on us," agreed All-Star guard Doug Collins, who managed just 11 points. "Yeah, I'd say they embarrassed us."

Perhaps, but apparently it hurt too much for most of the others to admit it. Instead this free-wheeling bunch, branded as outlaws and renegades by its own top banana, Julius Erving, let out its frustrations in ways which recalled baseball's Oakland A's in their rambunctious heyday of a couple years back.

Erving questioned some of Coach Gene Shue's substitutions, relaying via newsmen his idea that other moves might have been wiser. In particular, he suggested Joe Bryant and Darryl Dawkins ought to be getting more playing time.

"We've got to use our horses," said Erving. "We have a lot of depth. We have some guys who can play on the bench."

Bryant, a reserve forward, lambasted Steve Mix, another reserve forward, questioning Mix' attitude and contending he puts personal achievement ahead of the good of the team.

"In the finals you should be playing the game the way it's supposed to be played instead of worrying about your job," said Bryant. "He's a good player, but he's not good enough to run his mouth the way he does."

So what does all this sound and fury signify? Probably nothing.

If any team can rebound from a 32-point loss for a victory in a big game, it's this wild bunch. And if the 76ers do bounce back, it will almost certainly be with the same cast of characters.

"Right now I don't plan to make any lineup changes," said Shue, looking ahead to Friday night's crucial fifth game of the series at the Spectrum (CBS, 9 p.m., EDT). "We'll go with what got us here."

Exchange Takes Win

Exchange took a 3-0 shut-out victory over Big Value Drugs in a rain-shortened four-inning Little League game last night.

Exchange pitcher Tommy Norris gave up only four hits during the contest, while Timmy Little paced the Exchange attack with two hits and two runs.

Two runs in the second inning gave Exchange the lead. Curt Hendrix walked with two away and went to second on a passed ball. Little's first single brought him around. Little went to second when Doug Bray walked and scored as Norris reached on an error.

In the fourth, Little led off with a single and again made second on Bray's walk. He was knocked in by Hunter Bost, who got a base hit.

Gottfried Near Breaking Jinx

By GEOFFREY MILLER
AP Sports Writer
PARIS (AP) — Brian Gottfried is two matches away from becoming the first American to win the French Open tennis title in 22 years. And his confidence is sky-high after one of the finest victories of his career.

Gottfried defeated Ilie Nastase of Romania Wednesday night for the first time on a slow clay court. And for the first time in his life, he won a five-set match after losing the first two sets.

"I feel now I might manage anything," the star from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., said.

Gottfried's win over Nastase in the quarter-finals, 4-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3, provoked the volatile Parisian crowd on the center court of Roland Garros to one of its most frenzied displays of cheering and counter-cheering. The atmosphere toward the end of the three-hour, 20-minute duel was more like a football game.

By the end, Gottfried had mastered the mercurial Romanian completely. Yet for most of the first two sets the American was outplayed.

Nastase had a devastating spell in which he won 11 games out of 12.

Gottfried was playing his usual game, thumping down big services and moving up to the net for the volley. He found these tactics did not work against Nastase, one of Europe's clay court specialists.

Nastase played a thoughtful game from the back of the court and steered strokes past his opponent for the points that mattered.

The match began to turn Gottfried's way when he broke Nastase's service for a 3-1 lead in the third set. From then on it was Gottfried who applied the pressure.

"I started spinning my service and not coming into the net behind it," Gottfried said. "That was when I started winning."

Those are European grass court tactics, which few American players have exploited successfully on the slow surface at Roland Garros in the last two decades. The last American to win the men's title was Tony Trabert in 1955.

Gottfried's semifinal opponent will be Phil Dent of Australia, who edged Jose Higueras of Spain 6-1, 6-3, 3-6, 6-7, 6-3.

The other two quarter-finals were scheduled for today — Adriano Panatta of Italy, the defending champion, vs. Raul Ramirez of Mexico, and Guillermo Vilas, the Argentinian left-hander, vs. Wojtek Fibak of Poland.

Now that Nastase is out, Panatta is the only man in contention who has won the title before.

An American is in contention for the women's title, too. Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif., is in the semifinals with three East Europeans — Florentina Mihai of Romania, Mima Jausovec of Yugoslavia and Regina Marsikova of Czechoslovakia.

Ms. Newberry defeated Kathy May of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-4, 5-7, 6-2 in a baseline duel that contained much negative, defensive tennis. Ms. May made more mistakes and lost.

Ms. Newberry won the Italian women's title in Rome 11 days ago. Now she is in line to emulate two famous American stars, Maureen Connolly and Chris Evert, and complete the big European clay courts double.

Trevino Trudging Along Comeback Road

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The road back will be a long one for Lee Trevino.

"It won't be this year, and it might not be next year, but I'll be back," Trevino said. "A little thing like a disc ain't gonna knock me out."

But the operation on his back last year put Trevino's storybook career in jeopardy and sidelined him for more than two months. The results of that operation have forced him into a situation that may take years to correct.

"There's a change in the muscles in the back," Trevino said before teeing off today in the first round of the $250,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament. "With the muscles changed, I've had to rebuild my swing, build it differently."

"With my swing different,

I'm having to rebuild my whole game. You can't do that overnight. It's gonna take time. It probably won't happen this year. I probably won't win. It might not happen next year.

"But it will happen."

"I will be back!"

Although he doesn't count himself a contender, Trevino, winner of five major championships and one of the most popular people ever to play the game, ranked as a sentimental favorite in the 72-hole tournament on the winter-damaged 7,160-yard, par-72 Quail Hollow Country Club course. First prize is $50,000.

Trevino, winner of only $15,000 this year but still a great gallery attraction, and two others in various stages of comebacks — Chi Chi Rodriguez and Lanny Wadkins — headed the bulky field of 156 that included only two of the top 10 money winner of the year — No. 7 Rik Massengale and No. 10 Mark Hayes.

Neither Rodriguez nor Wadkins has won since 1973. Wadkins has had to fight his way back from gall bladder surgery. Rodriguez has had an operation on his eyes. While shut out of victories, both have given every indication they're ready to win at any time.

Wadkins has finished second twice and led through three rounds of last week's Atlanta Classic. Rodriguez has been 11th or better in all of his last five starts.

Other standouts include defending champion Joe Inman, Tom Weiskopf, Hubert Green, Arnold Palmer and Steve Verato, the career struggler who scored an upset, second-place finish last week.

Among the 1977 winners in the field are Massengale, Hayes, Gary Koch, Jim Simons, Ray Floyd, Danny Edwards and Tom Purtzer.

Portions of the final two rounds will be televised nationally by CBS-TV.

Sports Briefs

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Ballard Smith, general manager of the defunct San Diego Mariners hockey team, has been named vice president and general counsel of the San Diego Padres baseball team.

A spokesman for the Padres said Wednesday Smith would join the club Friday. Smith headed the San Diego team in the World Hockey Association from the time it was acquired at the start of the 1976-77 season by hamburger millionaire Ray Kroc.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sixth-round draft choice Tommy Duniven signed Wednesday with the Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League.

Duniven was the fifth quarterback in Texas Tech history to pass for more than 1,000 yards in a season, connecting on 72 of 125 passes for 1,038 yards and five touchdowns in 1976.

Mayberry Finally Gets New Stance To Pay Off

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

"Do it my way," Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog crooned to slumping slugger John Mayberry ... and Mayberry's bat finally is providing some sweet music.

On an off-day last week, Herzog had Mayberry experiment with a new stance. It paid off Wednesday night when the big first baseman walloped three homers and drove in five runs as the Royals bombed the Toronto Blue Jays 11-3.

"I gave him 200 games to do it his way," said Herzog, who patiently watched Mayberry slump from a .291 average with 38 homers in 1975 to .232 and 13 homers a year ago, "so I thought it was time he should take a suggestion from me. He was very receptive to the idea and he's hit about 500 balls in batting practice since then."

In other American League games, the Chicago White Sox beat the Baltimore Orioles 4-2, the Boston Red Sox outslugged the Texas Rangers 7-5, the Minnesota Twins nipped the New York Yankees 4-3, the Cleveland Indians shaded the Detroit Tigers 6-4 and the Oakland A's downed the Seattle Mariners 6-3.

Mayberry hit a two-run homer off Jerry Johnson in the fifth inning, a solo homer off Mike Willis in the seventh and another two-run shot off Tom Bruno in the ninth, all towering blasts over the right field fence in Toronto. Al Cowens chipped with a 5-for-5 game — three singles, a double and a triple.

White Sox 4, Orioles 2
Ralph Garr's two-run single with the bases loaded and two out in the seventh inning broke a tie and prevented Jim Palmer from snapping a deadlock with Dave McNally as the winningest pitchers in Baltimore history.

Winner Ken Brett hurled a six-hitter after coming into the game with a hefty 5.55 earned run average.

Red Sox 7, Rangers 5
Carl Yastrzemski hit two solo homers, helping Boston overcome an early five-run deficit. The Rangers routed Luis Tiant with five third-inning runs, including consecutive two-run doubles by Bump Wills and Dave May. Boston chipped away at Doyle Alexander with two runs in the fourth. Yastrzemski's first homer keyed a four-run burst in the sixth and Rick Burleson's two-run double off Adrian Devine put the Red Sox ahead 6-5.

Twins 4, Yankees 3
Rod Carew's two-run single off relief ace Sparky Lyle with two out in the ninth inning capped a three-run Minnesota rally. Lyle replaced Ron Guidry after the Twins opened the ninth with singles by Craig Kusick and Jerry Terrell, followed by Butch Wynegar's potential double play grounder which took a bad hop over the head of third baseman Graig Netles. After a grounder and a strikeout Lyle walked Roy Smalley, before Carew delivered his winning hit.

Indians 6, Tigers 4
Duane Kuiper knocked in three runs as Cleveland handed Mark Fidrych his second consecutive defeat since coming back from spring training knee surgery. Fidrych worked six innings, allowing 10 hits and five runs, all earned.

A's 6, Mariners 3
Doc Medich allowed one run over the first seven innings, Tony Armas tripled in two runs and Earl Williams belted a two-run homer as the A's snapped the expansion Mariners' record five-game winning streak.

Belko Named Commissioner

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Steve Belko, former football and basketball coach and athletic director, Wednesday became commissioner of the Big Sky Conference.

Belko, 60, replaces John Roning, who retired after seven years as commissioner.

In rehashing the past year's accomplishments of Eastern Carolina Conference teams in this column last week, we failed to mention the success of D. H. Conley's wrestling team, as Viking coach Milt Sherman politely pointed out in a letter this week.

We regret the error as Conley's grapplers had an outstanding season, being ranked tops in the state at one point in the year and finishing second in the state tournament.

Conley swept through an undefeated ECC season, downed Cary, the eventual state champion, and when the Imps were ranked first in the state and also took first in the sectionals before going to the state tourney.

The Vikings were also the only team in the state meet with two individual champions, Floyd Crandall at 115 pounds and Jesse Davis at 170.

Success is not new to the Viking wrestling program either, as Sherman pointed out. Conley finished fifth in the state last year and fourth the year before. The state tournament includes all 161 NCHSAA schools with wrestling programs, regardless of size. To take second place is, indeed, a "major" accomplishment.

All-ECC Baseball Team

Despite finishing the year in last place, North Pitt placed three members on the All-Eastern Carolina Conference baseball team, just one less than champion C. B. Aycock. Greene Central, which finished in second place, also had three players on the honorary squad.

Third baseman Jeff Hines, left fielder Eddie Hemingway and pitcher Jay Bedsworth all made all-conference from North Pitt. Ayden-Griffon and Farmville Central each placed two on the squad. First baseman Butch Davis and pitcher Tim Shadle were selected from the Charger team and shortstop Mike Jenkins and right fielder Neil Gordon made it from Farmville. Center fielder Nuggie Worthington was D. H. Conley's single all-ECC selection.

At last week's North Pitt sports banquet, Panther coach Pat Smith said the fact that three of his players made all-conference and the team finished last reflects on his coaching. However, the Panthers' big problem this year was inconsistency. They played well enough to knock off champion C. B. Aycock 6-2 in one game, but were only able to win one other league encounter all year.

Aycock coach Bud King was chosen coach of the year in the ECC.

Stretching It

Jorge Orta of the Chicago White Sox slides into second as Baltimore Orioles shortstop Mark Belanger gets the throw in the fourth inning of Wednesday night's game at Chicago. Orta attempted second on Oscar Gamble's strikeout but Belanger got the throw from catcher Rick Dempsey in time for the out. (AP Wirephoto)

Toledo Fighting

May 31.
"We regret taking this step," said Smith, "But if things like this are permitted to occur three months before a game, when tickets have been sold, schedules printed and distributed, and there is no possibility of scheduling another suitable opponent, there will be utter chaos throughout college scheduling. How can you run a business if people you deal with unilaterally breach their contracts."

Smith said that the loss of the home date represents a loss of from $25,000 to $40,000 in football income but that that was not the most important part. "That is not the most important consideration. The most important thing is the loss of a home game. That is more harmful to our program than the dollar loss. Its damage cannot be measured in the harm it will do to the program."

Smith added that a check with the NCAA revealed not one Division I opponent that Toledo could schedule to replace East Carolina.

Cain, contacted this morning, said he would have no comment on the situation at this time.

Cliff Moore, chairman of the athletic committee at East said that it was Toledo's prerogative to do this if the school wished it.

"We agreed to pay them what had been guaranteed us for playing the game," Moore said.

He added that the cancellation of games like this is not unprecedented. He pointed out that Furman cancelled a scheduled game with East Carolina for this fall when a contract had been signed for the two to meet. "And Penn State cancelled out on Duke to set up the whole thing," he added.

"I guess this is why we have a court system in this country," Moore said. "I don't want to seem to be taking a hard-nosed attitude, but if they want to take us to court, it's their prerogative."

Such a court suit, if initiated, would be tried in federal court, since it concerns inter-state business.

East Carolina At NCAA Meet

Nine members of the East Carolina University track team open competition today in the NCAA Track and Field championships at the University of Illinois in Champaign, Ill., today. The meet lasts through Saturday.

The group is the largest delegation of Pirates ever to go to the nationals.

The Pirates will have runners in five events this year, as well as Herman McIntyre in the triple jump. McIntyre has had an excellent season, having broken the North Carolina collegiate record with his 53-3/4 leap last weekend at the Tom Black Classic in Knoxville, Tenn. In that meet, McIntyre beat six All-Americans to wins.

Calvin Alston leads the Pirate runners at the meet. Alston will be competing in four events for East Carolina. The 5-7 sophomore from Henderson will be in the 200 meters, where he has been clocked at 20.8 seconds, the 400 meters (46.6) and the two relays, the 400 meters and the mile.

Marvin Rankins will run in his specialty, the 110-meter high hurdles. Rankins has run 13.7 this season and has beaten several All-Americans.

Charlie Moss will be competing in the 400 meters, where he has a best of 46.9.

Otis Melvin will run in the 200 meters as well as in 400 meter relay. Melvin registered the state's best 200 meter this season at the Tom Black Classic when he turned in an effort of 20.61 in the semi-finals.

Joining Alston and Melvin in the 400 meter relay will be Carter Suggs and Larry Austin. Both juniors, Suggs and Austin have run in the nationals for two years. The Pirates have a best of 40.1 in the relay this season.

In the mile relay, the Pirates will run Alston, Suggs, and Jay Purdie, with the fourth man to be picked from Melvin, Moss and Terry Perry. East Carolina ran to a school record of 3:10.3 at Knoxville, to qualify for the NCAA meet in this event.

"I feel we have our best chance ever to have some of our guys make All-America this week," Coach Bill Carson said. "Herman has beaten some of the best in the nation this year and our 400 meter relay team is among the best. Calvin and Otis also have real good chances to place in the 200 meters. They took one-two against two All-Americans last weekend."

Bear Ferguson, logger, 1873

"It's not that George doesn't use a lot of wood in the makein' of his Tennessee Sour Mash Whisky—he does. But he's so durned persnickity.
"Like only wantin' winter-cut sugar maple that's not all sappy for his charcoal mellowin'. Then he picks over the lot like a hen eyein' a corn morsel.
"Times like that I most always end up sittin' on a cord of wood he's turned down, sippin' his whisky."

SLUDGE FOR CROPS—Industrial sludge from Cone Mills is sprinkled over 400 acres of the Guilford County prison farm near Greensboro as fertilizer for grain crops grown there as animal feed (the state has not approved use of sludge on human food crops). County officials say they expect to save from $12,000 to $20,000 a year using the sludge. (AP Wirephoto)

Justina Davis Became Wife Of 2 N.C. Governors

By Dr. H. G. JONES, Curator North Carolina Collection CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — In colonial times, it was not unusual for a 15-year-old girl to get married. Nor was it unusual for a 73-year-old man to take a second wife.

But when they married each other, that was news. Particularly when the man was the royal governor of North Carolina.

The child bride was Justina Davis, who married Governor Arthur Dobbs in 1762. Then, after his death, she married Abner Nash, who became the second governor of the independent state during the Revolution.

Circumstances surrounding the courtship of Governor Dobbs and the pretty teenager are unclear.

In a letter purportedly written in 1762 by a North Carolinian to a friend in Maryland, it was stated that "Our Old Silenus of the Enervated age of Seventy Eight who still Damns this Province with his Baneful Influence grew stupidly Enamored with Miss Davis a Lovely Lady of sprightly fifteen of a good family and some Fortune."

The writer went on to claim that Justina's planned marriage to an 18-year-old lover was broken up by the governor, who forced her to wed him instead.

The tone of the letter and the addition of five years to the governor's actual age, however, leads to the suspicion that the message was more of a vicious political attack upon Dobbs than a factual account of his courtship and marriage.

Furthermore, Justina appears to have been a devoted wife who took good care of the aging governor when he suffered a stroke within a year after their marriage.

"My dear Jessie," as Dobbs called her, in 1764 sent Dobbs's children in Britain a barrel of Carolina rice and a box of spermaceti candles.

Though the governor never fully recovered from his stroke, he was able to attend to his duties and do some traveling. In 1764, however, he asked to be relieved, and the crown sent to North Carolina a young lieutenant governor named William Tryon.

Now that the governor was being replaced, the Assembly, with which he had quarreled frequently, adopted conciliatory statements expressing appreciation for 10 years of "unwearied endeavors to serve his (the king's) interests and the Province."

Dobbs wrote his son, Conway, that he would leave for London in March 1765 and that Justina would go with him.

As spring approached, Justina excitedly began packing the governor's possessions in their home, Russellborough, at Brunswick. Then, just a couple of weeks before they were to sail, Governor Dobbs suffered another stroke.

Two days later, the old man died in Justina's arms.

To her stepson, she wrote: "Alas I have loste my ever Dear Mr. Dobbs which makes me almost Inconsolable... I have lost one of the best and tenderest of husbands and you a kind and most affectionate father."

Justina buried the governor in St. Philip's Church at Brunswick, only a short walk from Russellborough.

As an attractive and eligible 18-year-old widow, Justina could have had her pick of many new suitors. She chose Abner Nash, a popular 26-year-old attorney and legislator from Halifax.

When the sons of the deceased governor refused to pay Justina the 2,000 pounds willed to her, Nash, her new husband, went to court. The case involved the right of Americans to lay claim to property owned by British subjects who had never lived in the colonies, and the outcome had a bearing on a lengthy controversy between Governor Josiah Martin and the colonial legislature.

Justina bore Nash three children before she died in 1773, only 26 years old. Her surviving husband, Abner Nash, would become governor seven years later.

Justina was buried in Halifax. Nash remarried and lived until 1786, when he died while attending the Continental Congress in New York. He was buried there in St. Paul's churchyard, but his body was later reinterred on his plantation, Pembroke, near New Bern.

Thus Justina lies buried alone, more than a hundred miles from the graves of her two husbands, both governors of North Carolina.

Adventists Will Gather

ASHEVILLE — The annual camp meeting of Seventh-day Adventists in the Carolina Conference will take place June 3-11 at Mount Pisgah Academy, located five miles west of here.

The 10-day meeting will be a time of spiritual refreshment for the hundreds of members and visitors from the 79 churches in the conference, said C. J. Frye, pastor of the Greenville Adventist Church, before leaving to help prepare for the event.

The activities will include inspirational talks, marriage and family workshops, youth activities, musical concerts and worship services.

The roster of speakers and groups include Elder H. M. S. Richards Jr. of the Voice of Prophecy radio broadcast, the King's Heralds Quartet and Dr. F. A. Knittell, president of Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tenn.

There are, Frye said, 60 gatherings of Adventists in the United States and Canada each summer.

Pitt Counselor At Workshop

Carl Worthington Jr., Juvenile Court counselor of Pitt County, attended the second and final phase of a workshop on counseling techniques utilized in working with children and their families.

C. at Chapel Hill and Ed Jacobs, Professor of Counseling at the University of West Virginia. The workshop was co-sponsored by the Administrative Office of the Courts and the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

IT'S JUST COMMON SENSE.

It's just good common sense to want great gas mileage these days. But there are more economies built into these Toyotas than just what you'll save at the gas pump.
Durability. It makes sense to buy a car that'll hold up. Toyotas are built to last. That's why you see so many older Toyotas still on the road.
Reliability. It makes sense to buy a car you can depend on. Toyota built its reputation with reliable cars. For example, you can't buy a new Toyota that doesn't have a transistorized ignition system for dependable starting. And there are 27 different Toyota models to choose from.
Value. It makes sense to buy a car that'll hold its value. A Toyota is like money in the bank, because Toyotas have traditionally high resale value.
 *These EPA results are estimates. The actual mileage you get will vary depending on your driving habits and your car's condition and equipment.

YOU ASKED FOR IT. YOU GOT IT.

Shady Ancestor Said To Be No Secret Disgrace

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Family Editor

People who used to be determined to find a peer or a king or a queen in their ancestry seem pleased these days to find shady characters instead, says Harold Brooks-Baker.

He bases his theory on the contents of 3,000 letters that the English office of the Debrett Ancestry Service received during its first three months. The office opened Feb. 7 in the cathedral town of Winchester to do genealogical research in Great Britain. About 40 per cent of the letters were from the United States and Canada, Brooks-Baker said, mostly the U.S.

Brooks-Baker, a native of Washington, D.C., was in New York to open the first American branch of the service. He hopes to have branches in all 50 states and the Canadian provinces in the next 10 years.

He is managing director of Debrett's Peerage Ltd., the parent firm that recently bought the International Publishing Co., publisher of genealogical literature, including Debrett's "Peerage, Baronetage, Knightage, and Companionship," a guide to British aristocracy.

The desire to trace one's roots knows no geography, no age, no class or educational barriers in the U.S. and Canada, Brooks-Baker said in an interview at New York City's ancestor-conscious Knickerbocker Club.

"We have letters from teenagers and people 90 years old. I think people are looking for a direct link with the past."

If they have an ancestor who did something interesting, he added, in a way that is much more glamorous than finding titled forebears.

"It is very clear that people don't care what they find, as long as they find it. They seem pleased to find an illegitimate ancestor."

"Letters from children often are very touching," he added.

Professional genealogists obviously cannot work free, but Brooks-Baker said Debrett did accept one case recently from a 13-year-old girl in Ohio who said she could not pay. Her parents had been killed in an auto accident when she was 8, and she lives with a friend of her family.

"We have taken her back four generations so far," he said. Four generations of the family have lived in the U.S. since emigrating from Scotland, he said.

Brooks-Baker said a lot of U.S. requests are from amateur genealogists who get stuck. Their cases are easy to handle because the writers know exactly what they want.

He said the average American case also is easy to handle because the writer has already documented his American ancestors and wants the service to trace those abroad.

"But many (persons in the U.S.) want Debrett to search for their American ancestors," he added. That's why the company has opened a U.S. office, at 1675 York Ave., New York, N.Y. 10028. It is run by Debrett agent Francis J. Sypher, who said the parent company is setting up an international organization to follow through for clients who want to trace their ancestors beyond Britain.

After tracing American ancestors, Sypher will send the dossiers abroad for additional searching, if clients wish.

Genealogical research is pay-as-you-go. Brooks-Baker said this is necessary because time and expenses vary widely from case to case.

In one case Brooks-Baker cited, that amount took the searcher back nine generations in one family because the paternal grandfather had come from a farm family that lived in one district in England for 300 years.

But an identical fee covered only three generations of the paternal grandmother's family. Among other complications, her father was a Scotsman who worked in the London branch of a Scottish company, and whose birth records had been destroyed in a fire.

The ancestry service itself is looking for someone.

"We intend to do a book on American Indian genealogy, and we're looking for an American Indian with enough information to collaborate with Sir Ian Moncrief," Brooks-Baker said.

Sir Ian, a Scotsman who is an authority on American Indians, will also write a book on Scottish clans, identifying clan leaders in North America and Australia as well as Scotland.
