

Unemployment, Wholesale Prices Drop

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Inflationary pressures are easing on wholesale prices and unemployment dropped in May, two strong indicators that the economy is improving, the government reported today.

A big drop in farm prices helped hold the increase in wholesale prices in May to four-tenths of 1 per cent, the lowest increase at the wholesale level in 10 months, the government said.

At the same time, unemployment declined to 6.9 per cent, the first time the nation's jobless rate has been below 7 per cent since November 1974.

The economic news was certain to cheer the Carter administration, which has been deeply worried over price reports in previous months that showed inflation increasing at a worrisome 10 per cent annual rate since Jan. 1.

The Labor Department said total employment increased 400,000 in May to 90.4 million, while the number of unemployed remained unchanged at about 6.8 million.

The increase of four-tenths of one per cent in wholesale prices was sharply lower than the 1.1 per cent increase in March and April. For the 12 months ending in May, overall wholesale prices were up 7.3 per cent.

The Labor Department

attributed the improved figures to a 2.3 per cent decline in prices of farm products, compared to a 3.4 per cent increase in April. It was the first decline in wholesale prices of farm products in six months.

Prices were reported sharply lower for grains, eggs, green coffee, cocoa, tea, soy beans and live poultry. But the decreases were partially offset by higher prices for livestock.

There also was a slowdown in the increases of prices for industrial commodities, which were up four-tenths of 1 per cent in May following an increase of six-tenths of 1 per cent in April and eight-tenths of 1 per cent in March.

Prices rose sharply for fuels and power in May, the fourth consecutive monthly increase. But wholesale prices dropped for metals and metal products, along with a continuing decline in the cost of lumber and wood products.

Textiles and apparel prices in May were unchanged.

Prices for processed foods and feeds rose 1.8 per cent during the month, with higher prices for roasted coffee, processed tea, beef, veal and pork.

Consumer finished goods, which are goods ready for sale to the consumer, increased 1.1 per cent, principally because of higher food prices, the Labor Department said.

The Labor Department said its wholesale price index for May, adjusted for seasonal variations, stood at 195.2 per cent of the 1967 average of 100, meaning that goods priced at $100 ten years ago cost $195.20 last month.

The sharp drop in farm prices in May should ease the pressure on the recent steep rises in consumer food costs, since wholesale price trends eventually are reflected in consumer prices.

In its report on May unemployment, the Labor Department said almost 2.7 million persons have found jobs since last October, an average increase of 380,000 persons a month. The Carter administration has set goal of reducing unemployment to below 7 per cent unemployment for the year.

Some economists say unemployment might edge upward in future months if the economy fails to continue expanding at the present rate.

The agency said the unemployment rate for adult men rose to 5.3 per cent, up from 5 per cent in April, largely the result of an increase in joblessness among black men.

But the jobless rate for adult women declined to 6.6 per cent, down from 7 per cent in April.

N.C. Fire Codes Believed Adequate

By The Associated Press
A state official believes current fire codes and frequent inspections of North Carolina clubs and restaurants are adequate measures to prevent fire disasters like the one this week in Southgate, Ky., which took the lives of 162 people.

Kern Church, head of the building code division of the state Department of Insurance, said Thursday few social establishments in the state are large enough to require automatic sprinkler systems, and buildings are "mostly safe" without them.

"Of course, nothing is 100 percent safe," Church said. "But most places are inspected regularly for fire safety and if there are any fire hazards, they are corrected."

Church said his chief concern was that authorities in some towns and counties — including Wake County — do not inspect buildings for compliance with the state standards.

"Where the code is not enforced is where something serious could happen," Church said. "Wake County is the only county of anywhere near the size in the state not to inspect buildings for compliance with the building code." But the Raleigh Fire Department does inspect buildings within the city limits.

Responsibility for inspection of a structure lies with local fire departments in most areas, Church said.

Greensboro Fire Chief Ed Smith said the city's 11-person fire-prevention unit "has issued warnings time and time again" to nightclubs and other public places regarding violations of fire codes.

"We go out quite a bit at night, and if we find a fire door locked, we get it unlocked right then and there," Smith said. "Last Saturday night we had one owner who told us he just forgot. We told him, well, that's too bad."

Fire officials in Fayetteville, often make informal inspections during evening hours in addition to regular inspections, according to fire marshal Leon Lancaster.

"We go into these places constantly, because you don't get the same picture at 4 p.m. on a Wednesday as you would at 11 p.m. on a Friday," he said.

Although Lancaster thought the state fire-safety standards were adequate, he said it was possible nonetheless that "we could have something like (the Kentucky night club fire) on a smaller scale.

"I can't guarantee that you won't go into a place and find the fire doors locked and barred," he said. "Sometimes when an owner gets to seeing dollar signs, he may see more dollar signs than common sense. But if they're wrong, we'll put them right."

Hostile Crowd Shouts

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — In the first hostile demonstration of Rosalynn Carter's Latin American tour, about 150 students a block away nearly drowned out the U.S. First Lady as she conferred with Ecuadorean officials.

"I heard some noise, but I don't know anything about it," Mrs. Carter said Thursday afternoon as she left the Legislative Palace after a discussion of the ruling military junta's plans to return the Ecuadorean government to civilian control next year. She said she thought it was "a local problem."

The students threw stones and bricks, set fire to police barricades with gasoline bombs, and shouted "Go home, bloody Rosalynn!" and "Yankees just want to reinforce imperialism!" into an amplifier.

About 25 riot police silenced the loudspeakers and dispersed the demonstrators with tear gas.

Two American reporters traveling with Mrs. Carter said they were hit but not hurt by rocks when they left the palace to investigate.

Mrs. Carter received an enthusiastic welcome at the Working Boys' Center of Quito, where 500 persons waved paper Ecuadorean and U.S. flags and cheered her.

"Bienvenida, Rosalynn Carter," read a huge red sign atop the center.

The First Lady told a news conference the three military leaders who took over the government last year asked her to explain the U.S. government's refusal in February to let Israel sell Ecuador its Kfir jet fighter, which is powered by an American engine.

Mrs. Carter said she replied that the U.S. government does not want to help introduce such sophisticated weapons into countries that don't have them. She said Vice Adm. Alfredo Poveda told her Ecuador already has such sophisticated planes. She said she told the junta she would mention that to President Carter but made no promises concerning arms sales.

At a banquet in Mrs. Carter's honor Thursday evening, Poveda said their talk had been "beneficial and constructive."

Mrs. Carter goes today to Lima, Peru, the third stop on her seven-nation, 13-day tour.

100 Rescued As Ferry Hit Iceberg

HALIFAX, Canada (AP) — All 100 passengers and crewmen of the ferry William Carson were reported rescued early today from ice floes and lifeboats after the 8,300-ton ship hit an iceberg and sank off the Labrador coast of northeast Canada, shipping authorities said.

The 88 passengers and 22 crew members of the Canadian National ferry were reported in good condition. Helicopters took 42 of them to Mary's Harbor, Labrador, and St. Anthony, Newfoundland, and the government icebreaker Sir Humphrey Gilbert rescued the rest, a Canadian National spokesman announced.

The Carson left St. John's, at the southeast corner of Newfoundland island, Tuesday night on its first scheduled run of the season along the Atlantic coasts of the island and Labrador.

The car-and-passenger ferry was bound for Goose Bay, in Labrador more than 500 miles northwest of St. John's.

The ship sent out an SOS at 9:43 p.m. Thursday reporting ice had ruptured its hull near the Square Islands, 18 miles off the Labrador coast. Thirty minutes later another message said the passengers and crew were abandoning ship. The ferry sank about three hours later. With it went 1,000 tons of general cargo, including 4,432 cases of beer.

George Pike, a crewman among those taken to the nursing station at Mary's Harbor, said there was time for everyone who had gone to bed to dress and there was no panic.

Pike said despite heavy ice in the area, the air temperature was moderate and there was a full moon.

The first helicopter arrived after midnight, he said. Some of the stranded crew members lighted flares, and two Canadian Air Force planes from Prince Edward Island arrived to illuminate the area with searchlights and flares for the rescue.

The icebreaker arrived about 3 a.m.

The village of Goose Bay, 130 miles inland at the head of Lake Melville, exists because of its radio station, used by transatlantic commercial flights, and the lumber industry. It has no road or rail connection with the rest of Canada and most supplies reach the village by coastal ship.

Find 20 MIA

PARIS (AP) — The Vietnamese government gave the United States a list today of 20 more missing Americans whose remains it said had been found in Vietnam.

Holbrook said Hien told him the remains of the 20 men would be returned along with the remains of two other Americans whose return was promised the special commission President Carter sent to Hanoi in March.

The commission, which was headed by Leonard Woodcock, brought back the remains of 11 Americans. They were told the Vietnamese would return the remains of CIA operative Tucker Guggleman and an unidentified B52 crewman who was shot down during the Christmas, 1972, bombing of Hanoi.

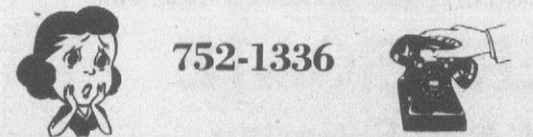

Holbrook said he expressed his appreciation to Hien for Vietnam's "positive action" in supplying the 20 new names.

Holbrook and Hien met for 3½ hours Thursday at the U.S. Embassy and again for 3½ hours today, then agreed to meet again "in the near future," the American representative said.

The two men opened their negotiations with a two-day round of talks at the Vietnamese Embassy May 3 and 4.

WHAT'S PROCEDURE?

Part of River Drive has been closed and an apartment house is being built on it. There will be a public hearing June 9 on letting another half block go. River Drive is a pretty road along the river that was only four blocks long to begin with. What has to be done before a street can be closed and the land used for something else? What can be done to prevent the closing? E. W.

According to City Manager Jim Caldwell, closing a street dedicated for the public use is a lengthy process. First a request from a property owner adjoining the street is accepted. It's very rare for the city to instigate such an action. The City Council may then adopt a resolution declaring its intent to close the street and set the time for a public hearing. Prior to the hearing, a legal notice must be run in an area newspaper for four weeks and the person or persons requesting the withdrawal must send by registered mail copies of the resolution to all owners of land bounding on the street to be withdrawn. Two copies of the resolution must be posted at locations on the street.

During the hearing, citizen, not just those having property on the street, may voice his opinion of the closing.

If after the hearing, the Council believes that the closing is not contrary to the public good and that every property owner in the area will have reasonable ingress and egress, they may enact, during the same meeting, the closing of the dedicated street.

A copy of the order will be filed in the register of deeds office. The land in the street reverts to the adjoining property owner or owners.

Finger-Biter Is Fined $100

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — A court has fined Gyoergyi Ivanka $100 for chopping off a chunk of her neighbor's finger in a fight over her dog.

According to testimony, the 24-year-old woman was playing with her dog outside her apartment building when neighbors started to complain about the noise. In defiance of their shouts for her to leave, she unleashed the dog, and 17-year-old H. Janos went down to further complain.

The disbelieving court called in a medical expert to verify that the part of Janos' finger lost was the result of a bite from a human, not a dog, and the fine was levied.

U.S. Announces Diplomat Exchange With Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced today that it will exchange diplomats with Cuba for the first time in 16 years.

"We have agreed with the Cubans to exchange interest sections," State Department spokesman John Trantner said.

He said the Carter administration would make a formal announcement later today and would provide additional details on the first exchange of diplomats between the two countries since Dwight D. Eisenhower sat in the White House.

Exchange of diplomats is a major step toward renewing ties with the Marxist government of Fidel Castro that were severed in 1961, largely on the grounds that Cuba was exporting revolution in the Western Hemisphere.

The State Department was chosen by President Carter to make the formal announcement. The administration already has eased some travel and spending restrictions for Americans and has reached a maritime boundaries agreement with President Castro.

Carter decided to proceed with the diplomatic exchange even while Cubans are involved in the internal affairs of AVFRICA. Only a few days ago the State Department confirmed that 50 military technicians had been sent into Ethiopia. A large Cuban force remains in Angola.

The American diplomats will set up an "interest section" within the Swiss embassy in Havana, with a counselor heading the delegation. An equal number of Cubans, probably fewer than a dozen, will be housed in the Czechoslovakian embassy here.

Since the break in relations, the Swiss flag has flown over the former U.S. embassy in the Cuban capital and the Czech flag over the two Cuban buildings here.

Although formal relations may be a long way off, the diplomats will be in charge of a full range of activities between the two countries. U.S. officials said one objective of the exchange is to reunite families who became separated in the 16 years of hostility between the two countries.

Details of the diplomatic exchange were worked out in New York by U.S. and Cuban negotiating teams. Carter said on Tuesday that "we still have a lot of differences between us, but that full friendship" with Cuba was an ultimate goal.

Eisenhower broke relations with the Castro government on Jan. 3, 1961, just 17 days before he left office. Relations had cooled between the two countries after Castro toppled the rightist Batista regime in 1959.

SOUTHGATE, Ky. (AP) — Ronald Schuman is badly burned and still suffers the effects of smoke inhalation. His wife, Rosalie, died in the smoky horror of the Beverly Hills Supper Club fire.

On Thursday, a $21.5 million damage suit was filed on behalf of the Bright, Ind., couple, the first of many such suits expected. Official counts say 161 persons died in the fire.

In addition, two Ohio women are reported missing by their families and friends. Dr. Fred Stine, Campbell County Coroner, said a search for their bodies would begin today. The missing women were identified as Evelyn Shough of Dayton and Judy Bohrer of Western Hills, a Cincinnati suburb.

Stine said two bodies still unidentified are not believed those of the missing women, who are elderly. The unidentified bodies are of women in their 20s or 30s, he said.

The Schumans' suit was filed in U.S. District Court in nearby Covington. Named as defendants were the 4-R Corp., which owns the club; Richard Schilling and his three sons, the operators; architect William Roeding of Blue Ridge Summit, Pa.; the City of Southgate and the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Anita Won't Be In Debate

HOUSTON (AP) — Anita Bryant, the outspoken critic of gay rights laws, has been offered $1,000 to debate defenders of civil liberties for homosexuals, but her spokesman says she's no debater.

"She is a singer, not a debater," said spokesman Robert Blake. "If they want to challenge her to a concert, she would probably accept. If they want to debate, they should speak to the people in that business."

The debate offer came from Chairman Gary J. Van Ooteghem of the Texas Gay Political Caucus, which also pledged that "adequate security" would be provided.

Miss Bryant's widely publicized opposition to a law outlawing bias against gays in housing and jobs in the Miami area has sparked a national controversy.

North-South Talks A Failure

By PAUL TREUTHARDT
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — The 18-month Conference on International

Economic Cooperation ended early today without achieving either the continuing energy dialogue the industrial nations wanted or a concrete start on the new international economic order sought by the developing nations.

Spokesmen for both sides stressed in a final news conference the limited achievements of the "North-South" dialogue between the major industrial nations and 19 developing countries. But there was no attempt to gloss over the failures after a final 40-hour negotiating session.

The conference reached two major agreements: to set up a $1 billion fund for emergency aid to the poorest countries and to negotiate a Common Fund to stabilize prices of major raw materials produced by the developing nations.

There were also agreements to help Africa develop its communications and transportation, to help increase food production in the Third World and to boost the general level of foreign aid. But "the West got nothing here," one senior official commented.

The United States and the other industrial nations sought a permanent organization for continuing dialogue with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Nations in hopes of exerting a moderating influence on oil prices in the future.

Conference sources said Saudi Arabia and Iran lobbied hard for the U.S. proposal, but Algeria, Iraq and Venezuela refused to go along. They were seconded by Third World producers of other raw materials who hope OPEC's oil power will be used as a bargaining counter on their behalf.

The energy dialogue was the West's primary aim in proposing the negotiations two years ago after OPEC trebled prices and flexed a potential stranglehold on industrialized economies. Under pressure from the developing nations, and Algeria in particular, the conference was expanded to include a wide range of world economic problems in an attempt to narrow the vast disparity between the "have" and "have-not" nations. Despite the failure of the energy proposal, Undersecretary of State Richard Cooper emphasized at the final news conference that the U.S. government is pledged to contribute $375 million to the billion-dollar fund. But there was doubt that the U.S. Congress or the parliaments of the other industrial nations would vote the money in the absence of any concessions from the oil countries.

Teen Pregnancy Crisis At Hand

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — On public TV tonight in many cities, the Public Broadcasting Service is airing a 60-minute documentary with the provocative title, "Guess Who's Pregnant?"

Made by station WTTW in Chicago, it studies the increase in pregnancy among unwed teen-agers in America, public attitudes toward that and sex education, and what is or isn't being done about the problem.

According to Michael Hirsh, who coproduced and wrote the show with Elayne Goldstein, the program had its origins in a radio talk show he hosts once a month on ABC-owned WLS in Chicago.

Teen-age sex was the topic of one show he did last summer, he said, and "it became apparent from the calls I'd get that kids are sexually active at younger and younger ages, at 14 and 15 years old.

"And they were incredibly ignorant," he added, citing as an example one teen-ager girl who called to ask: "Is it true you can't get pregnant if you make love standing up?"

"So I went back to WTTW and said, 'We've got to do something about this,'" he said.

Trudeau Won't Quit Politics

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, with a broken marriage and three small sons to care for, says his wife is a "fine person" and he won't quit politics.

Margaret Trudeau, 28, who has been married to the prime minister for six years, is now pursuing a career as a freelance photographer in New York.

"I have been spending a fair amount of time with my children," Trudeau told a news conference Thursday. "I hope to increase that time by cutting out on other things.

It led to a local pilot show on teen-ages sex, then a full-scale documentary costing $80,000, half paid from WTTW's funds, half from an outfit called the Van Ameringen Foundation, Hirsh said.

The work began by probing government statistics on teenage pregnancies, which showed that one in 10 American girls will become pregnant this year, he said, or a million girls between 15 and 19.

He said the show also visited four school districts in the Washington, D.C., area, a family planning clinic in the Bronx, N.Y., and interviewed two teenage mothers — one from a white, middle-class family in Fairfax, Va., the other from a poor black family on Chicago's South Side.

Unlike "V.D. Blues," a documentary about venereal disease PBS aired several years ago, "Guess Who's Pregnant" uses no songs or comedy bits specifically created to make various points in the show.

"The closest we come to that is with some commercials, and a rock song, that we use to illustrate the point made in the program by Dr. Mary Calderone," he said, referring to the president of the Sex Information and Education Council of the United States.

"And the point is: Kids are getting a double message ... that at the same time we're telling the kids, 'No, you shouldn't do this,' everything around them is saying, 'Go ahead and do it.'"

Hirsh was asked what he hopes to accomplish with his show, which among other things hears from advocates of greater sex education for teenagers and from those who'd oppose it.

"We're trying to raise consciousness about the fact there are dire consequences to what's been described as the sexual revolution," he promptly replied.

"We hope to show that America has a crisis of teen-age pregnancies and that unless something is done about it and it's recognized for what it is, it can only get worse."

Manya Kahn Says Exercise Is Important For Dieters

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

After 35 years of teaching physical fitness, Russian-born Manya Kahn of New York is convinced she always has been on the right track — many of her long-time students are now in their 70s, she says, and they look far younger than their age.

"Exercise is indispensable to the dieter as well as to the person who just wants to keep fit. Many women go to weight-reducing places, but when they lose 30 or so pounds their skin hangs loosely on their bodies. Only by exercising as you diet can you keep your skin looking well. It adjusts as you exercise," she explained in an interview in her salon.

A former professional dancer — she began to study ballet at 5 — Mrs. Kahn has weathered the years well. Her exercises concentrate on the spinal column. Correct posture can keep one looking young into old age and avoid "bad back roundness."

The exercises are based on stretch routines coordinated with deep breathing and a relaxed body, movements that she used in teaching ballet classes even as a teen-ager. She doesn't approve of "jerky movements," taught by many salons. Her own carpeted salon in an East Side town house is quiet with little hint that women are on massage tables, slant boards, and in classes and private sessions where they are doing rhythmic exercises. It seems effortless and that's the whole point, she explained.

"It is one reason I have put it all in a book," she said of her newly published "Body Rhythms: A New Approach to Exercise." The exercises can be done effortlessly at home as well. The book, with its divisions into basic, elementary, in-intermediate and advanced exercises, provides a chart for observing one's progress. A 10-day program also includes a diet.

BODY RHYTHMS—An exercise from Manya Kahn's book is this torso stretch: (A) breathe in and raise arms; (B) breathe out, swaying torso back, bouncing back and forth three times, stretching from thighs; (C) breathe in as hands are clasped behind, bring torso back to upright position; (D) breathe out, bend torso forward and down with hands and arms stretching way up behind you; (E) bounce three times from hip joints. Return to starting position. Relax. Repeat five times.

Her body rhythm movements follow the growth of a child from babyhood and are done in five positions — lying down, sitting, half-reclining, kneeling and standing — a system that she believes retrains, strengthens and reshapes the body.

In the '40s Mrs. Kahn had studied physical therapy, working in hospitals where she was fascinated with the study of the anatomy as she learned about natural healing methods, corrective diets, hydrotherapy, passive exercises and systems of face and body massage.

"The lower back is a major tension area because we do not use that part of our body very much," she said. "When tension develops in that region it becomes worse unless we do something about it."

Her exercises geared to this problem include those which can be done on a slant board or on a mat two or three inches thick.

Here is a basic one, a full body stretch: Lie flat with lower back touching mat or board, knees straight, arms at side, toes pointed. Flex both feet, bringing toes toward you, pushing heels out to straighten knees. Breathe in while arms are stretched out sideways, then back, stretching elbows and fingers at the same time.

Hold for one second. Breathe out while returning slowly to starting position. Relax. Repeat five times.

Readers Reply On Putting A Leash On Children

DEAR ABBY: In all the years I've been reading your column I've never had a letter upset me like the one about the young mother who put a leash on her young son and hitched him to the clothesline.

I am the mother of a very active 2-year-old boy who would not consider it an act of love were he to be tied up. He would feel anger, frustration and humiliation.

I can think of nothing a mother has to do that is so important she has to leash her child to a clothesline!

But even more disturbing is the thought that so many mothers read your column, and you seem to approve of leashing children as though they were animals!

All children need a mother's undivided attention. Please reconsider.

LOVES CHILDREN

DEAR LOVES: My mail is running 10 to 1 in favor of leashing children for their own safety. Please read on:

DEAR ABBY: The letter about keeping a child leashed to a clothesline hit home with me. I have six living children. I would have had seven if I had tied my child to a clothesline. When he was 13 months old, I left him playing in our fenced-in yard. In less than 15 minutes he was nowhere to be seen. I soon discovered that he had unlatched the gate and made his way to the creek that ran behind our house. When he was found, it was too late.

STILL FEELS GUILTY

DEAR ABBY: Apropos using a leash to keep children in tow: My little boy started to walk at 8 months.

One morning I was ironing in my kitchen, and Joey was playing on the floor at my feet. I suddenly realized that Joey wasn't in the room.

We lived on a farm with a railroad track about 100 yards from our front door. Joey had always been fascinated by the sound of the train whistle, and he seemed to know when the train would be passing through.

I first noticed that the front door was open, then I saw that baby running towards the railroad tracks—and the train was coming!

I will never forget my terror. Thank God I got to him in time. You can bet I never allowed Joey out of my sight without a leash again.

When I took him shopping with me, I'd get plenty of icy stares from strangers, but it didn't bother me one bit.

Got A Food Gripe? Join Panel

By ED LION

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — If Michigan State University students don't like food served in campus cafeterias, they have no one to blame but themselves.

Each week a taste panel of eight students meets to sample new brands or recipes that are up for consideration by the campus food system.

"They take their jobs seriously," said Helen Dunn, university food specialist.

"They're not just here for the free food."

MSU's campus food system, one of the nation's largest, serves 85,000 meals a day at an annual cost of $8 million. The menu includes 400,000 gallons of milk, 168,000 bagels, 105,000 loaves of bread, 33,000 pounds of mozzarella cheese, 7,500 gallons of ketchup and 2,600 watermelons.

The student tasters, sequestered in separate stalls, sample foods and rate them on a scale of one to five for aroma, appearance, color, flavor and texture. An average score of 3.5 usually means the dish will wind up in the cafeteria system for a trial period.

"If they all don't like something, that means we won't bother serving it," Mrs. Dunn said. "After all, we are cooking for the students."

The panel was formed nine years ago. Students get on the committee either through the dormitory government system or because they have a gripe about the food.

"Since I've been on, it's improved," said Elliot Nadel, a junior from New York who joined after complaining about the food. "But I don't know if it has anything to do with the committee."

The tasters are asked not to discuss food with others until they have completed their scorecards.

Between each dish (usually six are served per session) students drink lemon water to wipe away aftertastes. The room has lights to simulate cafeteria conditions.

"We do everything we can to ensure the food is similar to that which would be served on regular cafeteria lines," Mrs. Dunn said.

That can even include cooking dishes two hours before they are eaten and storing them in service dishes. Dishes included in a day's testing rarely resemble a real, well-balanced meal, however.

One recent menu included mushroom gravy, cheese and nut loaf, fish in vinegar sauce, catfish casserole, hush puppies and strawberry cream pie.

Ethnic foods "are really popular now," Mrs. Dunn said, but "four years ago we couldn't have served a taco."

Studying A Whopping Budget

The City Council is looking at a whopping $36,550,673 budget proposed for the fiscal year 1977-78.

A large portion of that, of course, is the Utilities budget which totals $29,371,946 and is supported largely through revenues. It is well to note, too, that much of the Utilities budget represents the fuel charge which is in effect collected by the Utilities in its monthly billings and passed on to the electric supplier, Virginia Electric and Power Co.

The $7,178,727 municipal government budget is supported by funds from a variety of sources, including the traditional ad valorem taxes, revenue sharing, Powell Bill funds (from the state for street work), ABC turnover and turnover from Greenville Utilities.

City Manager Jim Caldwell in presenting the budget pointed out that it reflects no new programs or activities. The lone exception would be a Volunteer Greenville program recommended for the Human Relations Department.

The budget would continue street improvement programs and provide basic equipment for the various departments. Basically, however, it seems as increases are taken up with providing additional personnel for a growing city and financing pay and benefits increases for personnel.

City Manager Caldwell commented, "The high cost of inflation and sharp price increases in many areas of expenditures are reflected in all departmental recommendations.

"Also, the increasing cost of personal services, especially merit and longevity payments, accounts for a major part of the total expenditure increase over the current year."

There will be some major capital improvement projects carried out during the coming year — such as the planned recreation-library building in East Greenville. Fortunately the city has funds available through the Community Development Program, which operates under a separate budget, to carry out some of these projects. If it were not for these funds it would be an austere time, indeed, insofar as capital improvements are concerned.

SURE, BRING IT IN, WE'LL HANDLE IT!

Fraud On The Record

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A doctor claims he performed six tonsillectomies on the same patient last year. The government paid the bills.

A pharmacist filed a claim for 120 prescription pills a day for 204 days running, also supposedly for one person.

Both cases were picked out by computers searching files as the government prepares for its first nationwide investigation of fraud and abuse in the Medicaid program.

The government estimates taxpayers throw away $1 billion a year in state and federal Medicaid charges for care the poor don't receive.

Doctors and pharmacists will be special targets of the investigation because they are believed to account for the greatest losses, says a spokesman for Tom Morris, inspector general of the department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The spokesman said nursing homes, laboratories, clinics, hospitals and dentists who are paid under Medicaid for care they give the poor will be scrutinized.

Administration sources said Morris' office, created by Congress last year after widespread reports of Medicaid and welfare losses, is informing governors and state and local officials of the probe, hoping to win their support.

Computers have been examining all Medicaid bills for the year ending last February, picking out suspicious looking cases, sources said.

They added that the names picked out are being verified to preclude technical errors. Investigators, along with state and federal prosecutors, will make detailed examinations of the cases.

Among examples of suspected fraud and abuse are double billings, charges for prescriptions that apparently never were filled and payments by the government for patients who don't exist.

Fathers Block Adoptions

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Does the father of a child born out of wedlock have parental rights to the child—even to the point of blocking an adoption?

The Supreme Court of the United States says so, and that is throwing some adoption procedures into a legal battle both in North Carolina and elsewhere across the nation.

A legislative proposal now under consideration in the General Assembly would spell out when the biological father of a child does have a right to block an adoption which the mother wants to take place—and would remove the legal cloud currently hovering over adoption proceedings.

Here is how the situation came about. The father of some children placed for adoption by the mother fought the action, and in court won custody. In that case, the father had been providing support for the children, and they were living with him.

But later court interpretations of that Supreme Court case put a different twist on things. Fathers found themselves able to block adoptions and claim custody of a child—even though they had not displayed particular interest in the pregnancy of the mother, nor provided aid and support.

"There have been instances in North Carolina where the father simply spoiled the situation—holding out for money or other gain and sought to prevent the adoption of the child even though the mother wanted it and there were adoptive parents ready to give the child a good, loving home," says State Senator E. Lawrence Davis, D-Forsyth, sponsor of the measure.

"There is a serious problem both in this state and elsewhere. These events have actually occurred; this is not a legalistic approach to solving some hypothetical future problem.

"There have been cases, and it is a tangible problem right now . . . a problem where the state's concern is for the child, that it be provided a loving, protective home and not be shunted about from an uncaring situation to a foster home," Davis said.

There are, Davis said, children "in limbo . . . who could have good homes, but the fathers have blocked that."

New Standards
To satisfy the court rulings which in effect have given the

out-of-wedlock fathers the right to block adoptions even though they have done nothing for the child, Davis said his proposal "provides standards which the father must meet if the law is going to recognize his right to consent or not to consent to a legal adoption."

Within 30 days of the birth of the child (the usual waiting period for adoption), the father must:

1. Establish legally his paternity of the child;
2. Marry the mother, or otherwise establish the child as his legitimate offspring, or:

3. Provide substantial financial support and care for the mother during pregnancy, and for the child after birth.

If 30 days go by without any of that concern being demonstrated, the law would allow the adoption to proceed without interference from the father.

"If the father pays the bills, tries to help, shows that he wants to take responsibility for raising the child and look after it—that's one thing," Davis explained.

"But if he does nothing and is not ready, willing, or able to provide a good home for the child . . . then that's something else, and he shouldn't be able to block the adoption."

The Children's Home Society of North Carolina is backing the measure, and Davis is a former member of the Board of that agency. Local Social Services agencies also involved in adoptions are behind the proposed change in law as well.

Discrimination Is Real

By Art Buchwald
WASHINGTON—There is a lot of talk about reform in education. I haven't given this problem much thought until recently when I went on the commencement talk circuit.

It dawned on me that everywhere I went there was something wrong with the graduating class. I couldn't put my finger on it until the students started to receive their diplomas. Then it hit me! The most prevailing discrimination in our schools has to do with people's names.

In every graduating class, the students whose names started with A, B, C and up to L had the best seats up front. The graduates whose last names started with M and ended with Z were stuck in the back. They could not even see the platform because the A to L people were wearing mortarboards and blocking their view.

The A to L group were always the first in the graduation procession marching smartly down the aisles as parents kept snapping photos of them. The M to Z group straggled behind listlessly, failing to keep in step, knowing that by the time they walked by their parents would have run out of film.

After the hymns and speeches the president started to award the diplomas. The audience would be up for the A's and the B's and these students would get the loudest applause. But I noticed as time went on the crowd would become more and more bored, and the applause got less and less. By the time the president got to Mindlin, the only applause you could hear was from the graduate's relatives. When Wyzinski received his diploma it was so quiet you could hear a pin drop.

If it was just graduation exercises we wouldn't have to worry about the problem. But alphabetical discrimination begins the day a child enters grammar school for the first time. Most children on their first day of school are excited about their new life experience.

Then the teacher starts calling their names: "Abernathy, you have the first seat. Altschuler, you have the second seat, Brown the third" and so on. As she reads off the names the child, whose last name starts with a P, an R or an S, is in panic. Will there be enough seats left for him? There usually are, but of course they're in the back of the room. This is the child's first realization that for the rest of his or her life he or she will have to wait until the A to L group's needs are attended to.

When report cards are given out, the Petersons and Raphaels and the Steiglitzes have twice as long to wait for the ax to fall as the Allens, Berliners and Kennedys. In gym classes the Cadwells and Daltons and Evertons and Flahertys get the best lockers and newest equipment. A Youngstein usually winds up with a pair of gym shorts that don't fit him.

When the kids move on to high school the alphabetical

THE INSIDE REPORT

Our Admiral Of The CIA

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

The CIA's Admiral
WASHINGTON — Caustic corridor gossip criticizing CIA director Stansfield Turner for signing even routine memoranda as "Admiral" in the U.S. Navy finally wrought a change: no longer does the four-star admiral sign himself that way.

Unfortunately, the change is only cosmetic. Turner, one of the brightest stars in the Navy constellation who was shanghaied by President Carter to run the beleaguered Central Intelligence Agency, perceives his CIA job as a way-station to greater military glory.

Both friends and non-friends of the brainy, barrel-chested admiral are convinced that Turner got a deal from Jimmy Carter. He is believed to have told his former Annapolis classmate: I don't want the CIA job; I want to be Chief of Naval Operations or chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. But

Mr. Carter, smarting from the collapse of his first CIA choice of Manhattan lawyer-politician Ted Sorensen, would not take no for an answer.

So, the President gave Turner the job without requiring him to resign his naval commission, with the implicit understanding of a future high-level Pentagon post. Once again, the weakened CIA, badly needing a strong director over the long run, is back in the hands of a short-term caretaker.

The real interests of this nation's intelligence community, costing billions of dollars every year, were sacrificed to the needs of the man in the White House to quickly name a widely acceptable director after the Sorensen fiasco. President Ford also sacrificed CIA interests when he named George Bush CIA director, knowing Republican politician Bush would last in that job no longer than the Republican who appointed him. But there was a difference. Bush renounced all political aspirations for 1976 (perhaps casting him the vice presidential nomination). Turner renounced nothing.

Moreover, he has flaunted his real loyalties by isolating himself in his new inner office located not at CIA's Langley, Va., headquarters but across from the White House in the Executive Office Building.

That guarantees him access to the Oval Office. Indeed, the President now seems more impressed by what he hears from Stan Turner than by his daily briefings from Zbigniew Brzezinski, his national security adviser.

Turner's supporters vigorously deny that he is all that scarce at CIA headquarters. They claim Turner spends 70 per cent of his time there, only 30 per cent next to the Oval Office. Turner defenders also point to Senate legislation to establish a "director of national intelligence," a new post of "intelligence czar" which Turner, or a successor, would occupy in the office of the President. That would leave special deputies running the CIA and other intelligence units such as the National Security Agency and the Defense Intelligence Agency.

Even if true, however, this does not answer the stockpile of complaints about Turner. He has removed himself from regular contact with his own officers in the CIA: surrounded himself with at first four, now nine, top inner-office Navy aides; insisted on a military ritual before seeing CIA officers (requiring a precise memo explaining why the admiral should be bothered, plus a 24-hour wait).

Though trivial in itself, some critics feel that most symptomatic of his lack of interest in the CIA's well-being was the admiral's decision to put his son, Navy Lt. Geoffrey Turner, on the CIA payroll. The job is "junior assistant" in the office of National Intelligence Estimates.

Old hands at the CIA contrast this with the conduct of a former CIA chief, whose son had a summer clerk's job at CIA but was sent packing the day his father took the oath of office. The contrast does not help sagging morale.

Beyond morale is the vital matter of building back this nation's intelligence system during rising competition from the Soviet Union. To convince the CIA that he can be the architect for

To the editor:

The Clean Air Act is scheduled to come before the U. S. Senate Monday, June 6. On this anniversary of D-Day, the battle will be between supporters of clean air standards and lobbyists for the automobile industry. It seems that because the automobile industry cannot achieve certain standards by the fall of 1977, it wants these standards weakened for two pollutants and postponed well into the future for the remaining pollutants.

Air pollution may not seem threatening in eastern North Carolina in 1977, but we must be planning ahead for the problems of the 1980's and beyond. In the meantime, many parts of our country suffer from dangerously high levels of pollution.

Two amendments to the Clean Air Act will be considered. Senators Griffin and Riegle of Michigan are introducing an amendment that would relax the ultimate standards for carbon monoxide and nitrogen oxide and extend greatly the time period for achieving standards for the remaining pollutants.

Senator Hart of Colorado will introduce the second amendment. This one is supported by the League of Women Voters of the U. S. A., as well as by our state and local Leagues. Senator Hart's amendment would restore the ultimate standard for nitrogen oxide (The Environmental and Public Works Committee removed it) and would extend the time for achieving standards for five years only.

The Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters urges all citizens to express their concern for clean air by writing to our two U. S. Senators in support of the Hart amendment.

40 Years Ago Today

June 3, 1937

The radiant Duke of Windsor took Wallis Warfield Simpson as his bride and duchess today in two serene and dignified marriage ceremonies.

Just 25 weeks ago today he gave up the crown of England and empire because she could not be his queen. The Duke gave his bride a beautiful diamond to wear on the brow no crown may adorn.

By nightfall the two will be en route to their honeymoon castle of Wasserleebenburg in Austria with 226 pieces of luggage.

The American-born duchess of Windsor is a member now of the royal family although by royal decree she may not style herself "her royal highness."

The greatest year in the history of the Greenville High School will come to a close tonight with the presentation of diplomas to 94 graduates — the largest class in history.

Turning Cool To Arthur Burns

By R. GREGORY NOKES

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Suddenly everything isn't so cozy between the Carter administration and Chairman Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve Board.

The President didn't seem to mind when Burns almost single-handedly scuttled the new president's $50 tax rebate plan. Carter said the economy was getting along fine without it.

But the administration is making it clear it doesn't like recent actions by Burns and the board to increase short-term interest rates.

Bert Lance, Carter's budget director, has been highly critical of banks for raising their prime interest rate twice in recent weeks to 6 1/2 per cent. He warns their actions could impede economic growth and encourage inflation.

While Lance denied he was seeking a confrontation with Burns, sources left little doubt Wednesday that Burns is the target of the criticism because he and the board took the actions that caused banks to hike their interest rates.

"They aren't going to take Burns head-on," one White House source said. "They are talking to bankers, but they hope other people will listen," with the 73-year-old Burns being one of the "other people," he added.

Burns, an appointee of former President Richard M. Nixon, is nearing the end of his term as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. Carter has not said whether he intends to reappoint him chairman when the term ends in January.

The Federal Reserve has decided to tighten growth in the money supply out of concern that inflation could be getting out of hand and also out of worry that the money supply was growing too fast.

The money supply grew at a record annual rate of 19 per cent in April, which Burns and the board clearly felt was excessive and inflationary. Its target for money growth for the year is 4.5 to 6.5 per cent.

When the Federal Reserve tightens the money supply, it takes money out of the banking system, which causes a tightening of credit and higher interest rates.

But Lance told reporters Wednesday there is a clear risk that the short-term interest increases could result in higher long-term rates, which could discourage home-buying and business investment, besides slowing economic growth.

"The American people see high interest rates as synonymous with high inflation," Lance said. "We need interest rates that are at a reasonable, stable level to encourage business investment."

A spokesman for Burns said he would have no comment on Lance's remarks, made at a news briefing.

Burns warned Congress on May 3 that inflation "casts a cloud on our nation's ability to maintain a satisfactory rate of economic growth into 1978 and beyond." Prices increased at a 10 per cent annual rate during the first four months of the year, much worse than expected.

The Carter administration argues that the recent surge in inflation is only temporary, the impact of the winter weather on food and fuel supplies.

Strength For Today

HARDSHIP CULTIVATES CHARACTER

When we are inclined to think that our lot is hard, we should recall the sterling characters of history who have had their goodness repaid with malice and persecution. The martyrs throughout the history of the Christian church, the patriots who suffered for the love of country, demonstrate in their careers that there is something about tribulation which benefits one's soul.

No one in the history of mankind has endured such injustice as Jesus of Nazareth. What a commentary on human intelligence that when the wisest and only perfect man ever to appear on this earth began to move among his fellows, there went up a widespread cry for his death. Jesus spent thirty years in toil, three years in controversy, and three hours in racking torture on the cross.

If life was not easy for him, we cannot expect that it will be easy for us. Furthermore, if hardness of life made his perfect character more perfect, it may well do something to improve these imperfect characters of ours.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A controversial but widely influential Roman Catholic theologian, the Rev. Hans Kung, says Roman Catholic and Protestant churches should now recognize each other's ministries as valid and share Holy Communion.

The basis for such steps, he says, has come through resolution of the major issues originally dividing Christianity. "The ecumenical movement is now ripe for concrete action," he says.

Citing the series of accords reached by theologians representing Catholicism and various branches of Protestantism, he told a symposium of scholars this week at the University of Notre Dame:

"The sum of these documents make clear that the churches today can no longer evade the issue of Eucharistic hospitality or inter-Communion."

He said at the grass-roots level, Catholics and Protestants in many places already participate in inter-Communion, and he called for "open protest" to get the church hierarchy to bring official practice into line with the new understandings achieved.

"The leadership of all the churches can inspire little confidence as long as it does not show itself ready and able to put into practice the results of theological labor," he said.

"Among the matters calling for such realization are: the mutual recognition of ministries, the extension of Eucharistic hospitality and the establishment ultimately of full Eucharistic communion."

However, he said that despite the agreements, church officials invoke stalling tactics that to many seem like "subterfuge to avoid doing what has to be done."

Father Kung's work has subjected him to recurrent Vatican investigations and his latest widely selling book, "On Being a Christian" (Doubleday) has drawn praise of many theologians and criticism from church authorities.

He said Christians generally have come to recognize that they "all worship one and the same God and acknowledge one and the same Savior Jesus Christ," and as a result, belong to one baptized community.

sharing the same spirit, faith and Holy Communion.

"This new grass-roots ecumenism is a source of great hope," he said, adding that if it is "officially repressed or driven out of the churches, the spiritual damages for a long time to come will be irreparable."

The Notre Dame symposium, involving European and American theologians, dealt with steps needed toward Vatican III, another worldwide council of bishops following the reforms initiated by the 1962-'65 Vatican II.

FOREVER AND EVER

This picture was taken just a year ago. It was a perfect afternoon for a garden wedding reception. Joan and Kenny were so much in love.

Now, this morning, a letter came in the mail from Joan telling us that she is coming home. She's thinking about divorce — that the beautiful dream that she and Kenny shared has turned into a nightmare.

Naturally, her father and I will welcome her. This is her home and always will be. But this is a problem that we shall not try to solve by ourselves. We will turn, as we know Joan will, to our church, and to the very minister who both baptized and married her. Maybe all of us, working together, will find a way through God's Will and His Word.

The Church comes very close in times of stress. Remember that.

Mostly Juveniles Run The All-Child Theater

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) — A bunch of enterprising children, inspired by the work of a dramatics school teacher, have launched an all-child theatre here that is almost entirely operated by juveniles.

"I couldn't believe it," said a state arts administrator from Raleigh. "I went to this meeting and they said, 'This is the chairman of the board' and this kid comes up."

The chairman of the board of Lollipop Playhouse is Johnny Mitterling, a seventh grader. "We have one general meeting a month and one board meeting," Johnny explained. "They're the same day. The general meeting is for the whole Lollipop Playhouse to discuss the budget and upcoming plays and stuff. Then we have a board meeting."

Leaving through his chairman's notebook, he matter-of-factly discussed finances, audience size and his plans to go before the Craven County Board of Commissioners to speak on behalf of the playhouse's needs.

Other children in the 40-member Lollipop Playhouse Club are equally serious about the theatre.

"We pick what plays we're going to do," explained board member Ginger MacLawnhorn, a tiny red-haired fifth grader who has worked on the light crew for "The Bad Children."

"We have a committee, some

KIDS THEATER — Two characters from "Pinocchio" stand on the set of the Lollipop Playhouse production. The theater group is composed entirely of children. (AP Wirephoto) people who read all these scripts. And the board decides Right now, we've got somebody reading four scripts."

The theatre is unpredictable at times. At the rehearsal of "Pinocchio," Pinocchio's nose wouldn't stay on, and in "The Bad Children," the kindly old woodcarver's voice was changing.

But "when you have children's theatre, you have to decide if it's going to be for the kids or the audience," said Laura Hall, who serves with her husband and a college student as adult advisors, a legal necessity. "I think it should be for the children."

Laura's husband recently put his car up for collateral on a loan that bought the playhouse's lighting equipment.

Mrs. Coulter, a dramatics teacher employed through a program of the state Department of Cultural Resources, developed an after-school theatre program for children, in connection with a local adult theatre group in the spring of 1976. By the summer, the children had struck out on their own under her wing.

Meredith Grad In Honor Society

Kim Dale, a 1977 graduate of Meredith College, was recently inducted into Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary drama fraternity.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dale of 612 W. Third St., Ayden.

ON DEAN'S LIST

Edwin Harrison Dixon III of Greenville has been named to the spring semester dean's list at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington.

Bruton's Goal: Policy-Making

By DAVID R. NELSEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Dr. David Bruton indicated Thursday he will move the state Board of Education away from details of running the schools and toward a stronger policy-making role.

"I know that the board can somehow find the tools to be more of a policy-making body," Bruton said after being elected chairman without opposition. "We have got to find time for discussion of the real policy issues."

Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green, who has been interim chairman for two months and who was embroiled in a dispute with Gov. Jim Hunt over control of the panel, told the board before opening the election, "I promise never at any time to lose sight of the importance and need of our dedicated teachers." He also pledged "my continued support...to the extent of my God-given talent and ability."

The day before, Green held a news conference to announce that he was removing his name from consideration for the post.

"I feel like a real load's been lifted from my shoulders," Green said after the meeting.

Bruton praised Green for his conduct during the dispute over the chairmanship and said Green had been fighting over principle rather than personalities.

In discussing his view of how the board should operate, Bruton praised Superintendent of Public Instruction A. Craig Phillips as being capable of handling the operation of the school system, leaving the board to set policy. "It's what's right, not who's right," he said.

In the past, there has been considerable dispute between Phillips and former chairman Dallas Herring with the board often split between the factions. Bruton also gave an implied endorsement for a testing program proposed by Hunt. "I think the people are demanding some accountability and they have that right," he said. Whether a child learns what is being offered through the teaching programs is the "bottom-line accountability," he said.

Bruton, a Southern Pines pediatrician, noted that he is inexperienced in running such a board and said, "I am particularly vulnerable and I ask you to help me. I am going to be open and honest and I expect you to be."

Bruton's nomination came from State Treasurer Harlan

Boyles who described Bruton as "dedicated to serving the cause of education."

"We need unity and we need a unified effort," Boyles said. To Green, he said, "We appreciate the views you have and the concern you have for the future of education."

Dr. John Tart, president of Johnston Technical Institute, seconded Bruton's nomination saying, "I foresee a period of peace and harmony on the board that we all can look forward to."

R.R. Manz of Roanoke Rapids, appointed by former Republican Gov. James Holshouser, was elected vice chairman in a 9-4 vote over J.A. Pritchett of Windsor.

Four Accidents Here Thursday

An estimated $3,050 property damage resulted yesterday from a series of four traffic mishaps investigated by Greenville Police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 1:50 p.m. mishap on Evans Street, 120 feet North of the 16th Street intersection involving cars driven by William James Dale of 103 Chadwick La., Virginia Horton Sugg of Lawson's Trailer Pk., and Susan Beth Bishop of 707 East Second St.

Officers, who estimated damage to the Dale and Bishop cars at $150 each and placed damage to the Sugg vehicle at $800, charged Miss Bishop with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

Cars driven by Noah Green Raynor of 1712 Knollwood Dr. and Loyd Wilson Williams of 1225 Evans St. collided about 11:29 p.m. on Greenville Boulevard, 400 feet East of the Arlington Boulevard intersection, according to officers who estimated damage from the mishap at $400 to the Raynor car and $500 to the Williams vehicle.

An estimated $300 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 4:15 p.m. collision at the intersection of Tenth and Pitt Streets, investigators reported.

Drivers involved in that collision were listed as Freda Rohrbough Steinbeck of 2503 East Fifth St., and Bobby Leon Swindell of Route 1, Winterville.

Vehicles driven by Jane Johnson Tripp of 208 Staffordshire Dr. and Jacqueline Hardy Dixon of Ayden, were reported involved in a 7:45 a.m. collision on Memorial Drive, 50 feet South of the Third Street intersection.

Investigators estimated damage from the mishap at $375 to the Tripp car and $75 to the Dixon car.

Again Trim Coffee Price

NEW YORK (AP) — The price of Folger coffee is going down for the second time in a week.

Folger Coffee Co., the nation's second largest roaster, dropped the wholesale price of its ground coffee 20 cents Thursday to $3.98 per pound, effective immediately.

Coffee futures prices have been declining for seven straight days on the New York coffee and sugar exchange.

Last Thursday, Folger, a division of Procter & Gamble, lowered its coffee prices by 25 cents to $4.18 per pound.

One day later, General Foods Corp., the largest coffee roaster, joined Folger in reducing its wholesale price 25 cents to $4.18 per pound.

The price reduction just about cancels out recent price hikes, and Procter & Gamble has said the higher wholesale price had not been shipped and would be reduced.

Retail prices continue to lag around 50 cents behind the wholesale price in many areas as grocers use coffee to attract customers. Folger coffee sells for $3.79 per pound in the New York-area Pathmark chain.

Rossellini Is Stricken

ROME (AP) — Italian film director Roberto Rossellini, a founder of the neorealistic film movement after World War II, died today at his home, apparently of a heart attack. He was 71.

Besides his film and theater work, Rossellini won worldwide attention for his tangled love affairs, including his marriage and divorce from Swedish actress Ingrid Bergman and his long relationship with the late actress Anna Magnani.

Miss Bergman starred in five of Rossellini's films, including "Stromboli," a celebrated portrait of postwar Italy. They were married in 1950 and divorced seven years later.

Rossellini had returned to Rome only a few days ago from the Cannes Film Festival, where he was chief of the jury. Friends said the veteran director suddenly became ill at his Rome apartment today and died a short time later.

Backing Car Broke Window

Greenville Police reported an estimated $300 damage resulted to the Krispy Kreme donut shop on Tenth Street early this morning when a car, backing into a parking space, struck a plate glass window.

Officers identified the driver involved in the 12:50 a.m. incident at Steven Joel Carman of River Bluff Apts.

Arrest Man On Break-In Count

Greenville Police early today arrested Charlie Nathaniel Moore, 30 of 713 Fleming St. on charges of breaking, entering and larceny after he was found inside Anthony's Family Center at 905 West Fifth St., Chief Glenn Cannon said.

According to Cannon, officers were called to the building when a silent alarm was sounded at Police headquarters.

Responding officers, Cannon explained, found the front door of the building broken open and discovered Moore inside the store.

The chief noted that Moore allegedly had four packages of hot dogs, valued at $5.56 in his possession at the time.

Moore was jailed in lieu of a $500 bond in connection with the 3:23 a.m. incident.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - DeLores Price, convinced her neighbors thought she stole money raised for her crippled daughter, slashed her wrists with scissors and a dull razor blade.

A message scrawled with lipstick on a bathroom mirror read, "I didn't do it."

On Thursday, a professional fundraiser, Carol Grudzinski, was convicted of the crime that drove Mrs. Price to suicide a year ago.

Miss Grudzinski, 34, was convicted in a non-jury trial of theft and other crimes in connection with bingo games, gambling and other fundraising activities billed as benefits for Pamela Price, 18, a victim of cerebral palsy.

The prosecution never said how much money was raised for Pamela. One witness testified he contributed $35,000. A bank official testified Miss Grudzinski made a single deposit of $2,000 in checks to a trust account in Pamela's name.

Miss Grudzinski showed no emotion when Judge Charles Durham announced his verdict. Last week she ran crying from the courtroom when Pamela was brought to the stand in a wheel chair.

The Price family's association with Miss Grudzinski began in late 1975. Because the fundraiser earlier had set up an organization called Future of Philadelphia, purportedly to raise funds for the handicapped, Pamela's father, Martin Price, asked her help to raise money for an operation for Pamela.

Alston, Melvin Advance In NCAA Meet

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Two East Carolina athletes qualified yesterday for further competition in the NCAA Track and Field Championships now underway at the University of Illinois.

not qualify. The Pirates will be in further competition today and tomorrow.

By FRED GOODALL Associated Press Writer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — While no clear-cut favorite has emerged in the battle for the 56th NCAA Track and Field Championship, several teams sparked by outstanding individual efforts have shown that their interest in the crown may be more than just a dream.

Frazier, part of the 1,600-meter relay team that won the gold medal at the 1976 Olympics, and his teammates fared well during the first day of qualifying Thursday as the Sun Devils advanced 10 qualifiers to lead the field.

relay, remained in contention for its 27th title with nine qualifiers. Kansas, UCLA and Auburn had nine, eight and seven qualifiers, respectively, and were considered dark horses.

Arizona State, defending champion in the 400-meter relay, qualified in that event again with Frazier running anchor. Its time of 39.82 seconds, however, was a shade slower than the 39.81 posted by Texas.

Officials Quiet On Toledo Case

East Carolina University officials continue to have little comment on a possible suit against the school by the University of Toledo.

The Ohio school announced yesterday that its athletic board had authorized the athletic director to proceed with "whatever steps are necessary, including legal steps," to get East Carolina to honor a contract to play football this fall.

East Carolina and Toledo had contracted to play in Toledo on September 17. Then, after Duke found itself with an open date on September 10, East Carolina signed to play that school in Durham. The Pirates then moved back a Greenville date with Texas-Arlington to September 17, and dropped the Toledo game.

First Federal Rips Pepsi-Cola

First Federal inched back into a half-game lead over the Moose in the Far Heel Little League with a 10-2 win over Pepsi-Cola yesterday.

The defeat left Pepsi with a 1-9 record, and eliminated the team from the title picture. First Federal is now 8-2.

Pepsi took a brief lead in the first inning, scoring a run. Tim Shank reached on a two-base error and was sacrificed up. He scored on another sacrifice by Walter Perkins.

In the second, First Federal came back with four runs to take the lead for good. Horace Barrett reached on an error and was ed back a Greenville date with Texas-Arlington to September 17, and dropped the Toledo game.

Toledo is fighting this action, saying it is unable to get another game, and it wants East Carolina to fulfill its contract.

Bill Cain, athletic director at East Carolina, said that he would have no comment on the situation, saying that it was not proper for him to do so. "I guess any comments would best be made in court, if they carry it that far. If they want to, that is their privilege." He added that he had not been in contact with Toledo since the start of the action.

Crosby Leaving East Carolina

Louis Crosby, a two-year starter at East Carolina, has announced that he will enter Gardner-Webb next fall. He becomes the second Pirate to leave, joining Tyron Edwards, who earlier signed with Newberry, then changed his mind to also enroll in Gardner-Webb.

Another player, Billy Dineen, also is expected to transfer out, but he has not made his choice of schools known as yet.

Crosby was quoted in a story in the Raleigh Times as saying he and Edwards left because of disagreements with the new coach, Larry Gillman.

Gillman, however, said this morning that this is completely untrue. "I've never had any disagreements with either of these boys," he said.

Jaycees Take Win

The Jaycees had an easy time with the Kiwanis Club last night, rolling to a 12-3 Little League victory.

The Jaycees scored one run in each of the first two innings and added five in the third, two in the fourth and another in the top of the fifth for a 10-0 lead before Kiwanis finally got on the board with three runs in the bottom of the fifth. The Jaycees added two more in the sixth.

The third inning was the big frame for the Jaycees as they came up with five runs. Jim Swinson got things rolling by reaching first on a fielder's choice. He went to second on an error and to third when Jordy Smith singled.

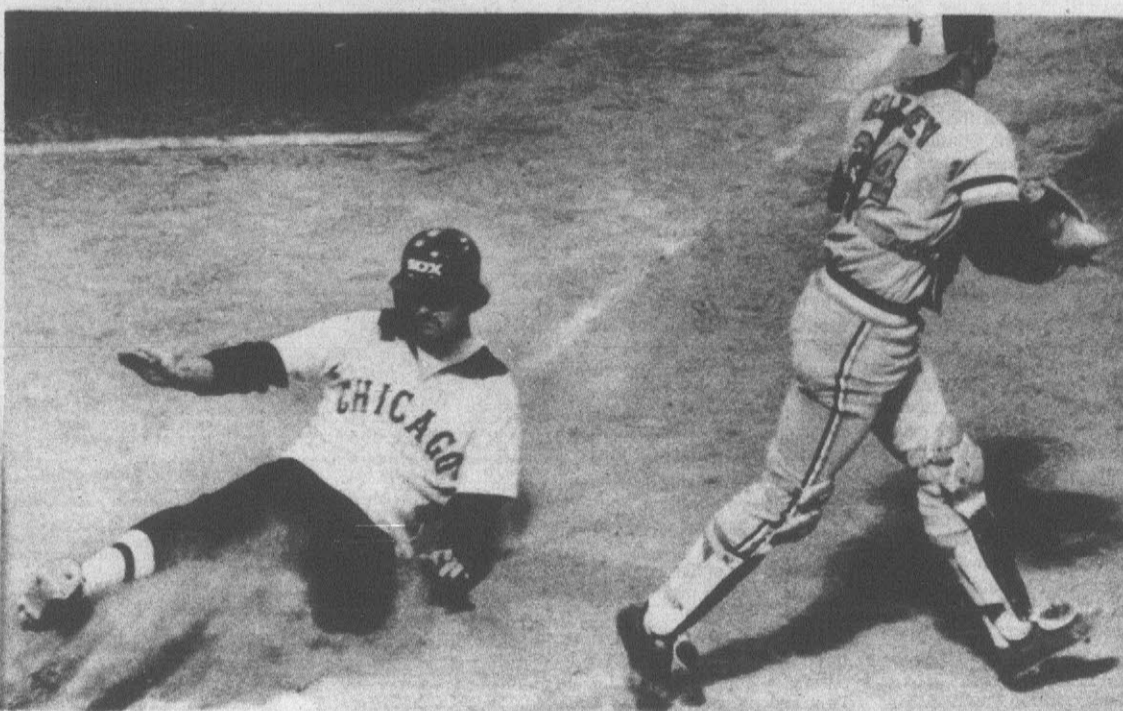

Swinson scored and Smith went to third on another error and Smith came in when Evan House reached on another misplay. Timmy Ellis doubled House to third and he and House scored on Tracy Ellis' base hit. Ellis was batted in by Toby Fisher.

Joyner, who walked, stole second and went to third on an error, scoring on Hodgett's single, which also brought Stancill around. Stancill had reached on a walk.

Weaver Says His Mistakes Cost Baltimore Two Latest Defeats

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer The Baltimore Orioles have been playing nearly flawless baseball of late, but the same can't be said of their manager.

He has made two errors in the last two weeks. "The only explanation I have is maybe I'm thinking too far ahead," said Earl Weaver.

mitted a tactical blunder that cost Baltimore a recent game against Minnesota, made another strategic mistake Thursday night as the Orioles dropped a 7-4 decision to the Chicago White Sox.

"It was all my fault, it was all my mistake," said Weaver. "That's why I held a meeting and apologized to my players. I told them we're still in first place and if we keep playing like we will stay in first place." With the bases loaded in the third inning, the Orioles had right-hander Tony Chavez pitching with right-handed batter Jim Essian coming to the plate for the White Sox. At this point, Weaver motioned to the bullpen for left-hander Scott McGregor.

A left-handed pitcher against a right-handed batter? "For some ungodly reason," said Weaver, "I thought first base was open and I was going to have McGregor walk Essian intentionally to get to Ralph Garr. After I motioned for the pitching change, I realized my mistake." Everyone else in the ballpark realized Weaver's mistake when Essian hit a bases-clearing double, providing the White Sox with a 7-0 lead and their eventual winning runs.

In other American League games, the New York Yankees routed the Minnesota Twins 10-3, the Detroit Tigers defeated the Cleveland Indians 4-2, the Texas Rangers trimmed the Boston Red Sox 3-1 and the Oakland A's nipped the Seattle Mariners 1-0.

Yankees 10, Twins 3 Designated hitter Lou Piniella knocked in three runs with a two-run homer and a sacrifice fly and right-hander Ed Figueroa posted his seventh victory of the season as New York beat Minnesota.

Tigers 4, Indians 2 Rookie standout Dave Rozema won his fifth game with ninth-inning relief from Steve Foucault as Detroit defeated Cleveland. Rozema, a 20-year-old right-hander who entered the game with a 2.89 earned run average, raised his record to 5-2.

Rangers 3, Red Sox 1 Willie Horton, given a second chance when shortstop Rick Burleson dropped his foul fly, drilled a two-out, two-run double in the eighth inning, boosting Texas over Boston.

Horton, who had been a Ferguson Jenkins strikeout victim his three previous times at bat, hit a pop fly down the left field line that Burleson muffed. On the next pitch, Horton slashed a double to left center, scoring Juan Beniquez, who had singled, and Dave May, who had walked.

A's 1, Mariners 0 Mike Norris scattered four singles as Oakland edged Seattle on Jim Tyrone's run-scoring double. The A's got Norris the only run he needed in the fourth inning when Tyrone doubled home Tony Armas, who had singled.

Kiwanis, A-G Post Victories

The Kiwanis and Ayden-Grifton picked up victories in the Senior Babe Ruth League last night. The Kiwanis downed Winterville, 9-3 in a game at Guy Smith Stadium, while Ayden-Grifton topped Bill Clifton, 4-1, in a game at Ayden-Grifton High School.

In the Greenville game, the Kiwanis took the lead with three runs in the second inning. Marty Worthington doubled and Jay Chenier singled him to third. Chenier stole second and Worthington scored on Bob Woronoff's infield out. John Coffman walked and stole second, with Bill Collier grounding out to score Chenier. Coffman then scored on a wild pitch.

Winterville got its first run in the fourth. Randy Edens singled and Mike Phillips singled. A pickoff play was errored, allowing Edens to score. In the bottom of the fourth, the Kiwanis added four more for a 7-1 lead. Coffman singled and stole second and Collier walked. Phil Gibbs singled and Worth Albea reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Coffman. Lance Weatherington singled in Collier, and a hit by Worthington scored both Gibbs and Albea.

The Kiwanis later added two in the sixth, while Winterville got one in the sixth and another in the seventh.

Edens had two hits to lead Winterville, while Weatherington, Worthington and Gibbs each had a pair for the Kiwanis. Winterville 000 101 1-3 5 5 Kiwanis 030 402 X-9 10 4

In the game at Ayden-Grifton, the home team spotted visiting Bill Clifton a run in the first. It was the only run the team was to get.

Hemingway reached on an error and moved up on an out. Allen then singled him in. Ayden-Grifton scored its first runs in the fourth, getting two. Tim Shadle walked and Eddie Taylor singled. Chris Riggs reached on a fielder's choice, getting Taylor at second. A passed ball scored Shadle, and Riggs scored on an error when Corkey Teachey reached.

The other two came in the sixth. Taylor tripled and Riggs sacrificed him in. Teachey singled, moved to third on wild pitches and scored when a pickoff play was errored.

The first round of play will be Saturday at Grifton, with the finals on Sunday at Ayden. The tournament is open to members of the five Pitt County clubs.

Ayden will hold its annual Member-Guest tournament on June 17, 18 and 19.

Curtis Worthington had his best round ever at Ayden, firing an 83 while playing with Delye Evans and Don Russell.

Brook Valley Golf and Country Club

Several Brook Valley golfers recorded their best or some of their better scores during the past week.

Gene Ward turned in a 36-36—72 for his best of the year. Jim Mallory played Saturday, Sunday and Monday during the Memorial Day Weekend, recording scores of 77, 75 and 78.

Jack Wall had a 37-42—79 for his best round ever, while Mary Meade Powell had a 49-50—99 for her first time under 100.

An evening Jack and Jill event will be held on Wednesday, June 15 at 5:30 p.m.

Grifton Golf and Country Club

Plans are still underway for the Grifton Golf and Country Club to add nine more holes to the club. Currently, the legal work is underway, and club officials are hopeful that these will be completed in the near future so that work can be started.

In a ladies day tournament, a "Replay Shot" tournament was held. That allowed the competitors to replay one shot per hole. If they chose to replay it, however, they had to take the second shot, even if it was worse. Brenda Gentry captured first place in the event, shooting a 43.

Greenville Golf and Country Club

Two Greenville golfers, one playing out of Greenville Golf and Country Club, and the other out of Brook Valley, will take part in the second annual Foxfire Southern Junior golf tournament, to be played June 20-25 at Pinehurst.

Those playing are Lyn Moore III from Greenville, and Steve Woodward from Brook Valley.

In a "No Penalty" event during Ladies Day, Betty Akin took first place in gross score, while Dardie Longino was second. Joan Hooper won low net, with Della Dayson second.

Sue Dye will meet Della Dayson for the championship of the Ladies Match Play tournament. Kay Wichard and Bernie Rawl will meet for third place.

In the first flight finals, Joan Warren downed Marge Parrish.

The men's match play is now into the third round. Those moving up are Connor Merritt, Carl Pierce, Curtis Martin, Frank Longino, Vance Taylor, Skip Bright, Tommie Little, Ken Hite, Boyd Lee, Joe Murad, Danny McNally, Reid Hooper and Carl Wade.

Garrett Young recently shot his best round, a 105. The Ladies Match Play finals will be on Sunday, starting at 1 p.m. A Captain's Choice for men and women will be held on Monday, starting at 1:30 p.m. with a shotgun start.

On June 10-11, a junior, men, and women's "Tough Day" will be held, with the pins in difficult positions and the tees back. Prizes will be awarded to those breaking 75 with their full handicaps.

Other upcoming events include the Men's Member-Guest on June 18-19; boys' and girls' clinics on June 20, 21 and 22; Ladies Beginner clinics on June 20 and 21; and advanced men and women's clinics on June 23. Details of the clinics can be obtained in the pro shop.

Higuchi Leads LPGA Field

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — "A wonderful competitor ... she tries hard to beat you all the time ... so polite that you can't believe it."

One might not guess that Sandra Palmer, the 13-year veteran "was talking about the woman she trailed after the opening round Thursday of a $100,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament.

Chako Higuchi, a Japanese who never has won a U.S. tournament, topped the field of 104 with a three-under-par 69 on the 6,196-yard Wykagyl Country Club course. She achieved it with three birdies and no bogeys. Miss Palmer carded a 70 for second place.

What made Mrs. Higuchi's score even more remarkable was her unorthodox swing.

"The book says you aren't supposed to lift your heel when shooting," explained Miss Palmer, who sank a five-foot birdie on the last hole and grabbed the runner-up spot by one stroke over a group of five, including defending champion Pat Bradley of Westford, Mass.

"Chako's drives are so accurate that she almost matches my hits with the No. 9 iron. It's amazing. I'm convinced, and so are a lot of the other girls, that she would be a consistent winner if she played in the U.S. all the time," Miss Palmer said.

Mrs. Higuchi, in her eighth year as a pro, divides her time between America, Europe and her native land where she has been a top money winner among women.

Since joining the LPGA, her top earnings were $57,389 last year — that put her No. 10. But she never has won a U.S. title.

Billingham Fades, Cincinnati Loses

CINCINNATI (AP) — For eight innings, the Cincinnati Reds couldn't do anything wrong.

Then they couldn't do anything right.

Jack Billingham lost his stuff in the ninth, then the Reds lost their shutout and eventually lost the game, 6-4 in 11 innings to the Houston Astros Thursday night.

"I simply thought Jack had had it when I took him out when I did," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson.

Billingham had a 3-0 lead and was within two out of his second shutout of the year when he allowed singles to Jose Cruz and Ed Hermann and was taken out of the game. Rawly Eastwick relieved and Bob Watson promptly tagged him for a three-run homer, tying the score.

The Astros won in the 11th with a three-run rally highlighted by Art Howe's two-run double off Dale Murray.

In the only other National League game Thursday night, the New York Mets defeated the Montreal Expos 7-4.

Watson's homer was one of four hits by the slugging first baseman. He also managed to hit Billingham with a line drive in the second inning, causing the pitcher's leg to stiffen.

Eastwick, after giving up the tying homer in the ninth, was upset by boos from the crowd.

"The front-running people just don't understand," said Eastwick, who has made only two appearances in 13 days. "I need more work. I don't know whether it's because I haven't signed my contract or what, but I have to work."

After the Astros took a 6-3 lead in the top of the 11th, the Reds came back with a run in the bottom of the inning on singles by George Foster, Dave Concepcion and Dan Driessen.

But Watson then fielded Cesar Geronimo's hard grounder down the first base line, tagged out Driessen before he ran and stepped on the base for a game-ending double play.

The loss dropped the Reds 10 games in back of the National League Western Division-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, who were idle.

Mets 7, Expos 4

Lee Mazzilli drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a sacrifice fly as New York downed Montreal and handed the Expos their 18th defeat in 23 games.

"I've got a lot of things to learn and I'm not going to learn them overnight," said the 21-year-old Mazzilli, the youngest regular in the Mets' lineup.

(Manager Joe Torre) said to me it is just a matter of time. He feels I can be a .300 hitter."

His homer went over the left field wall after John Stearns had walked leading off the second inning against Montreal starter and loser Dan Warthen.

"There's nothing I can do for him. George has got to do it himself."

McGinnis talked freely about his problems with newsmen through the first four games of this series, which began with Philadelphia winning two games at home and then Portland evening things on its home floor. He spoke candidly, displaying much more class than most athletes do when things aren't going their way.

But finally, after Portland's lopsided 130-98 victory Tuesday night which tied the series and to which McGinnis contributed only five points, McGinnis decided he had better stop talking and start producing.

Archer Fires Hot 66 For First Day Lead

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — It was something of an old refrain from George Archer.

"I'm still trying. It's coming along. It's getting better," he said after a six-under-par 66 had given him a one-stroke lead Thursday in the first round of the $250,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament.

But big George has been saying the same thing for two years, ever since an operation on his left wrist almost ruined his career.

He never complained. "It's getting better," he responded to questions during those months he was trying to fight his way back to respectability.

"Coming along," he'd say after missing the cut.

There were no complaints. But he almost left the tour.

"I'd decided not to play this year," Archer said. "I was just going home and work on my game, try to work myself back into condition. But then I won the Sahara in Las Vegas (last fall) and that gave me an exemption for this year. That's the only reason I'm out here now."

"That operation was a disaster. It took away my left side. My game, my putting, everything, just went. My distance was gone. I've been working on it pretty hard. And it's coming back. I'm getting a better feel on the putter. Even my distance is coming back."

He paused and a mischievous smile crossed his face.

"Maybe one of these days I'll be able to hit it with the big boys."

He hit it well enough to leave three of the biggest of the big hitters — Tom Weiskopf, Jim Dent and Barney Thompson — one stroke behind at 67.

The Miami Dolphins were hit hard by injuries in the 1976 National Football League season. They had 22 injured players who missed a combined total of 144 games.

Charles Coody, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Kermit Zarley and Don Iverson were grouped at 68 in the exceptionally good scoring that was at least partially attributable to players being allowed to get their hands on the ball.

Most of the grass on the 7,160-yard Quail Hollow Country Club course was killed by a hard winter followed by a drought. Recent storms turned the fairways into muddy plains and tournament officials had to go to winter ruts, allowing the players to lift, clean and place the ball in the fairway.

Lanny Wadkins, twice a runner-up this season and the leader through three rounds last week in Atlanta, headed a big group at 69. Defending champion Joe Inman, Lee Trevino and Hubert Green were at 70. Arnold Palmer once had it three under par for the day but finished with a 71.

European Stars All Are Ousted

By GEOFFREY MILLER

PARIS (AP) — The seven-year reign of European tennis stars in the French Open Championships is over. The semifinals this year are a U.S. Davis Cupper, two Latin Americans and an Australian.

The last European to be eliminated, Wojtek Fibak of Poland, predicted that Sunday's final, for a first prize of $38,000, will be between American Brian Gottfried and Guillermo Vilas of Argentina.

"I have great respect for Vilas, but I wouldn't care to put my money on anybody," Wojtek said after Vilas, the left-hander with the flowing strokes and generous backswing and follow-through, had destroyed him in three straight sets in the quarter-finals.

Gottfried, bidding to be the first American to win this prized slow clay courts title in 22 years, has first to overcome big-hitting Phil Dent of Australia.

Vilas has a semifinal engagement with Raul Ramirez, the man of the hour. In a classic clay courts match Thursday, Ramirez eliminated the defending champion, Adriano Panatta of Italy.

If records mean anything, it looks like a Vilas-Gottfried final. Vilas has played Ramirez seven times and won all seven. Gottfried met Dent only once and beat him comfortably.

But Ramirez, a humorous and philosophical character, warned the fans not to be so sure.

"Since Vilas has beaten me seven times, it must be my turn to win," the Mexican said. "He cannot go on winning all his life."

Patience and skill, rather than big hitting and adventurous net play, win matches on the slow surface of Roland Garros Stadium, where a packed crowd of 12,000 on the center court watched Ramirez dethrone Panatta 7-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Ramirez conducted his campaign mainly from his baseline. Panatta went more often to the net, where the Mexican almost invariably passed him for the big points.

Ramirez and Panatta were evenly matched up to 6-6 and five points all in the tiebreaker. Then Ramirez won two big points for the first set, and the match went his way from then on.

Vilas hustled Fibak out 6-4, 6-0, 6-4. In one embarrassing spell of one-sided tennis, Vilas won eight games in a row, dropping only eight points.

Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif., who won the women's title in the Italian Open and hopes to add the French, was to meet Florenta Mihai of Romania in the semis today. The other semi was between Regina Marsikova of Czechoslovakia and Mima Jausovec of Yugoslavia.

The bidding:

Pass Pass
Opening lead: King of ♠.

Aggressive bidding by South led to a good save against an opposing four spade game. Then an unexpected bonus arrived when passive defense by West allowed declarer to land his contract.

Because of his fine distribution, South was determined to compete despite the advanced level of the auction. When West went on to four spades, North decided that his five-card support for partner's second suit, combined with his shortness in the majors and lack of defensive values, merited pressing on to five diamonds.

West led the king of spades, and East followed with a somewhat ambivalent seven. He did not relish West shifting to a heart, but neither was he prepared for a club shift. West continued with the ace of spades and school was out. Declarer ruffed and led a club to his king. No matter what the defense did, declarer would be able to discard his four low hearts on dummy's clubs, and thus hold his losers to one club and one spade.

West should have realized that it was futile to continue spades at trick two. A shift was urgently required in view of dummy's menacing club suit. Equally obviously, the only shift that could reap any benefit would be to hearts.

How is West supposed to know that his partner has the king of hearts? He cannot. But it is clear that a heart shift cannot cost. Assume that declarer holds A-K-J in hearts. In that case, he will get, at most, three discards from dummy, but getting rid of three of dummy's clubs cannot help his cause. On the other hand, shifting to club is dangerous because it might set up dummy's suit.

If the defenders have two club tricks coming, they will get them anyway. The only tricks that are likely to get away are in the heart suit.

Senate OKs Restructuring Utilities Commission

RALEIGH (AP) — The Senate enacted a bill to restructure the state Utilities Commission Thursday by agreeing to House amendments to the measure, while the House Insurance committee failed for the third time this week to act on a bill that would weaken the office of state insurance commissioner.

The utilities bill takes effect July 1. It moves 92 members of the Utilities Commission staff to a separate agency to act as consumer advocate before the commission. The commission will be left with a staff of 69.

To calm fears of some legislators, the new law will be automatically repealed in four years if it is not extended by the legislature.

Gov. Jim Hunt, who had requested the bill, said it is "the most significant piece of consumer legislation ever passed by the General Assembly."

In other legislative developments:

BREATHALYZER
The Senate killed a bill by Sen. Robert Swain, D-Buncombe, that would have allowed a driver who refuses to take a breathalyzer test for drunkenness to claim that the refusal was "reasonable." Now, the law requires that anyone who "willfully" refuses the test will lose his license for six months.

The Senate tentatively approved a bill that would exempt persons from the six-month loss of license for refusing the breathalyzer test if they plead guilty to drunken driving which requires a license loss for a year.

Supporters of liquor-by-the-drink legislation got their say before a Senate committee considering a local option mixed drink bill. On Wednesday opponents of the measure, introduced by Sen. William Smith, D-New Hanover, were heard.

ABC
The House gave tentative approval to a bill reducing the fee for a temporary brown-bagging permit. The House voted 84-6 on second reading to approve the bill, which reduces to $25 the cost of a 48-hour ABC permit. Supporters of the bill said persons holding one-night private or political functions involving the alcohol currently either avoid obtaining a permit or pay $200, the full price of a year's permit.

COASTAL
A House subcommittee will hold a public hearing on a bill that would repeal the state's Coastal Land Management Act. A repeal bill introduced by Rep. Howard Chapin, D-Beaufort, was discussed by the House Natural and Economic Resources Committee, and Chapin was appointed to head a subcommittee on the measure. Chapin set the hearing for Wednesday, June 8 at 4 p.m.

INSURANCE
Although the House Insurance Committee did not act on the bill that would weaken the office of state insurance commissioner, it agreed to invite the Federal Insurance Administrator Commissioner from Washington to testify next week. The committee rejected a plea, however, to hold a public hearing.

The bill would allow insurance companies to implement rate increases 90 days after they were filed with the commissioner, and keep them in effect, even if he disapproves them, while appealing. Ingram blasted the measure as "dangerous."

MINIMUM WAGE
The Senate considered but did not act upon a House bill that would raise the state minimum wage from $2 to $2.50 an hour. The Senate earlier approved a more modest increase, to $2.15 and $2.30 over a two-year period. The Senate defeated on a 23-25 vote a motion not to concur with the House, but opponents of the increase got the Senate to adjourn before a vote on concurrence could be held. Further action is expected Friday.

GOP
Sen. Donald Kincaid, R-Caldwell, blasted the Hunt administration and Democrats in the General Assembly at a news conference. Kincaid attacked a bill introduced by Sen. Roger Sharpe, D-Burke, that Kincaid said would strip Republicans from the Parole Commission. He said the legislature has already removed Republicans from the state Ports Commission, Governor's Law and Order Commission and Board of Transportation. "Surely the governor does not believe firing four Republicans will aid in improving our over-crowded prisons," Kincaid said of the latest bill.

D. H. Conley Highlights

By Linda Cox

Recognizing those who completed participation in at least one of this year's varsity sports was the purpose of the Annual Athletic Banquet held May 20 in the school cafeteria with Director Shelley Marsh officiating.

In addition to recognition of athletes, awards and trophies were also presented to those with outstanding performance records.

Guest speaker was Don Easterling, head North Carolina State University Swim Coach, whose teams have been ACC champs for the last seven years. His topic was about achieving the impossible dream.

Coach Marsh first expressed appreciation for the work of the varsity cheerleaders and pointed out DeVicky Cox's accomplishment of being selected All-Conference cheerleader.

Head football coach Chuck Dunn announced two football awards. Most Valuable Player was Kevin Adams, senior; also the Viking Award went to Trent Knight, senior.

Boy's track awards were presented to Bernard Hill, Most Valuable Player; Mark Dixon, Most Improved; and Curtis Joyner, Rookie of the year.

Coach James McAdams recognized the following sectional qualifiers in girl's track: Alice Costin, Annie Hardy, Tilda Garris, Vergenel Person and Brenda Roberson.

Coach Milt Sherman presented wrestling plaques to Gary Harris, Outstanding Freshman; Larry Powell, Most Improved; and Jesse Davis, Most Falls and Outstanding Wrestling awards.

The most inspirational and dedicated plaque for boys basketball was awarded to Randy Hibbard.

Girls' coach, Norma Respass honored Sheila, Washington in volleyball, Miriam Paramore in basketball, and Linda Payton in softball for being best hustlers in their respective sports.

In baseball, Coach Walter Claybrook recognized Nuggie Worthington's All-Conference selection.

Betty Gurganus, state FBLA secretary, and Sharon McGowan, first place winner in Money Management Project, will leave July 1 for the FBLA National Leadership Conference which will meet in Denver, Colo. The trip is being made possible by the Conley FBLA members, interested parents, friends and area businesses.

D. H. Conley's Chapter of the National Honor Society recently elected new officers. Gregory Daniels, president of the society since 1975 will terminate his second term of office May 26. New officers to be installed are Anna Tyson, president-elect, Priscilla Tucker, vice president-elect; Kathy Worthington, secretary-elect; Patricia Cannon, treasurer-elect; and Mark Boyd, parliamentarian-elect.

The Ping Pong tournament sponsored by the SCA finally ended and Charles Leonard, mechanics teacher was the winner. Michael Cox was the first runner-up. Winner of the girls' tournament was Catherine Dews and first runner-up was Alice Hines.

TWIN TRAILERS
A House hearing on a Senate-passed bill to allow long twin-trailer trucks in North Carolina ended on a note of confusion. After protests that everyone had not been heard, House Transportation Committee Chairman Rep. Dave Bumgardner, D-Gaston, said the hearing would be continued Tuesday. The bill would allow trucks up to 65-feet in length on all four-lane roads and on two-lane roads designated by the state Department of Transportation. Opponents say it would be a threat to highway safety.

LIQUOR
New legislation included a bill filed in the Senate that would order a study by the ated with the bonds.

Legislative Research Commission of the community college system. One of the sponsors, Sen. Robert Wynne, D-Wake, said it would make recommendations on financial arrangements between the 57 schools and local governments.

Beware Of Rabbit

NEW YORK (AP) — The ASPCA is warning burglars that the animal society's Manhattan offices are guarded by a watchrabbit. That's right, a watchrabbit. His name is Harvey and he is not to be messed with.

Harvey is a trained attack rabbit whose unidentified owner handed him over to officials of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals 10 days ago after he bit six people.

ASPCA Executive Director Gordon Wright says the animal society then turned Harvey over to the Department of Health, which held him for observation before releasing him back to the ASPCA.

Wright says Harvey is not up for adoption because "we don't adopt out attack animals."

"In the case of the attack rabbit, we will probably keep it — to protect our premises," Wright said.

Harvey is described as an "adult-sized gray and white rabbit."

"He's very cranky. He does not have a nice disposition," Wright says, adding that Harvey acts up and bites once a person gets "within hopping distance."

Wright says it is not clear whether Harvey will have to be licensed under a new city law mandating the licensing of attack animals. "There aren't too many attack rabbits around," he notes.
