Housing Bids To Be Opened Here June 21

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer
Bids on the 111-unit housing project scheduled for construction off Evans Street in Southside will be opened on June 21 at city hall, according to Joe Laney, executive director of the Housing Authority.

Laney reported Monday night that the Authority is advertising the new project, designated as N.C. 22-5, for construction bids.

The long-awaited bid opening is set for 3 p.m. in the Council Chambers at the municipal building.

In other business on a short agenda, commissioners adopted a resolution setting a new schedule of maximum income limits for occupancy for the housing projects operated by the Authority in Greenville.

In considering the new schedule, Laney informed the commissioners that no change had been made in the maximum income limits since October of 1975. Under the old schedule of limits, the Authority has had to turn down some applications that should be eligible, he added.

The proposed schedule raises the net income limit after exemptions for occupancy ranging from one person up to a family of ten or more.

Under the present schedule, the income limit for one person is $4,400 while the new format would allow a net income of $4,750. The schedule is increased as the number of persons in a family increases.

Approval of the new schedule was made subject to concurrence by the Greensboro office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The schedule would be implemented one month following HUD approval, it was noted.

Laney reported that the Authority's hopes of funding the proposed Section Eight housing project for the elderly here with conventional financing has fallen through. He said that the possibility of financing the 50-unit project through bonds will be pursued.

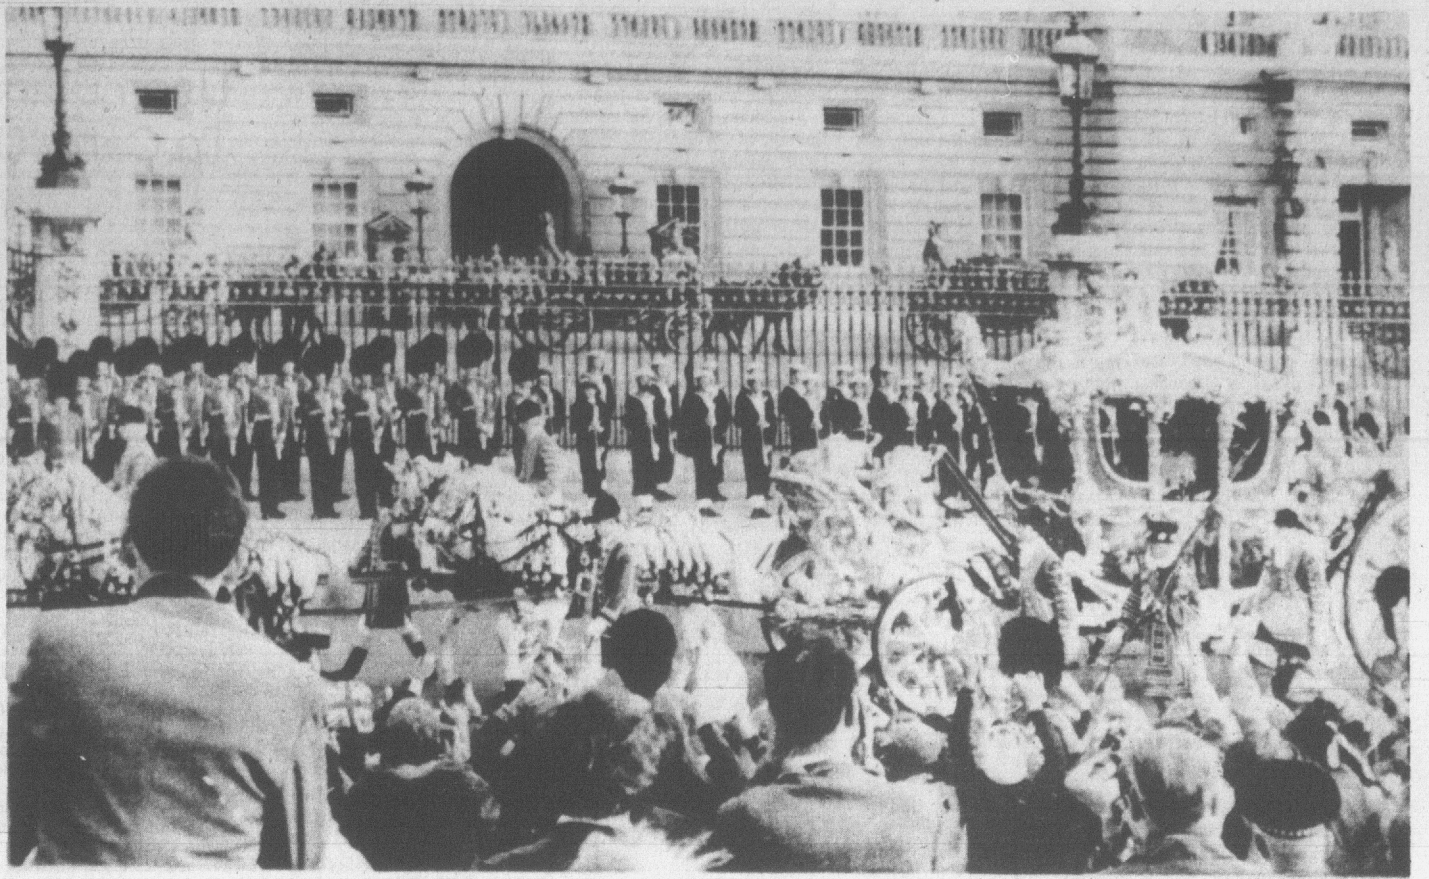

The director added that the bond situation looks better now than it did when project financing was first being considered.

According to the tenant occupancy report submitted by Sallye Streeter, director of tenant affairs, overall rent in the five housing developments operated by the Authority averaged $61.28 for May.

Average rents included: N.C. 22-1 (Meadowbrook), $55.75; N.C. 22-2 (Kearney Park), $61.08; N.C. 22-3 (Moyewood), $64.06; N.C. 22-4 (Moyewood), $61.71; and N.C. 22-6 (Newtown), $59.37.

Reexaminations have been completed in the Newtown development, she reported, where 78 families reside. Of the 78 families in Newtown, 73 are black tenants. Following the reexaminations for continued occupancy, the average rent for July in the project is expected to be $71.00, she said, in contrast to May's $59.37.

Opines Hunt Surplus Too 'Optimistic'

By DAVID R. NELSEN
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Jim Hunt's estimated budget surplus is too optimistic and should be trimmed by more than $26 million, the joint Senate-House Economy Committee was told Monday.

John Allen, director of the legislative Fiscal Research Division, told the panel that his office predicts a surplus this year and the next two fiscal years of about $12.3 million. The governor's staff, which compiled figures a month earlier, has predicted a $65.7 million surplus.

Allen suggested a compromise position by the committee. He recommended that it accept his staff's estimate of a $1.1 million surplus this year. For the next two fiscal years which will be covered in the budget now under consideration, he suggested the panel plan on a $38 million surplus. The governor's staff has predicted $53 million and his staff has predicted $11.2 million.

The governor's recent supplemental budget proposal was based on the estimate of the state's income being $65.7 million more than earlier anticipated. That budget, Allen said, needs to be trimmed. The coming two-year budget will total about $7.9 billion.

Earlier, the committee heard three bankers give an optimistic estimate for the state's future economy, but they urged caution to avoid overspending.

"The economy is healthy and robust and I expect that condition to continue for some time," said Kenneth R. Steele, vice president and economist for United Carolinas Bancshares. He also warned that there are factors that could change the outlook. One example, he said, would be a tightening of the money market which is now good.

But, Al Smith of North Carolina National Bank was more cautious. "The performance of the North Carolina economy has not been impressive in the last three to four years," he said. Spending has been for durable goods (such as automobiles) and that must shift to nondurables (such as food and textiles), he said. Housing construction, including apartments, and business expansion must continue, he said.

John Medlin of Wachovia said there is a "mood of caution" and a lack of confidence by consumers.

Britons Begin Big Celebration

LONDON (AP) — Throngs of jubilant Britons clutched Union Jacks greeted Queen Elizabeth II with thunderous cheers on her Silver Jubilee today in the greatest outpouring of patriotic fervor this troubled island has witnessed in a quarter century.

Millions of British subjects and foreign visitors lined the streets of London as the queen and her husband, Prince Philip, embarked on a long-awaited round of pomp and ceremony to mark the 25th year of her reign.

Millions more participated in celebrations in every village and hamlet across England. Hundreds of millions around the world watched on television.

For the royal couple the festive day opened with a ride in the golden state coach from Buckingham Palace to a thanksgiving service in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Prince Charles, the popular heir to the throne, rode behind on horseback. A procession of open carriages followed, carrying the queen mother, the queen's children and her sister, Princess Margaret. They were accompanied by more than 3,000 troops and 10 bands.

Rain alternated with bright sunshine during the morning, but the rain stopped before Princess Anne, the queen's daughter, and her husband, Capt. Mark Phillips, left the palace in the first open carriage.

The queen paused along the way at Temple Bar, gateway to the old City of London, the heart of the capital, to receive the Pearl Sword from the lord mayor of London, a ceremony of loyalty dating back six centuries.

A royal gun salute from the Tower of London and a fanfare of trumpets greeted the queen as she approached St. Paul's, the cathedral whose survival in the fire bombings of London made it a symbol of British resolve in World War II.

"O Lord and Heavenly Father, the exalter of the humble, the strength of thy chosen, bless, we beseech Thee, thy servant Elizabeth, our anointed and consecrated queen," intoned the bishop of London, the Rt. Rev. Gerald Ellison, inside the 267-year-old, Christopher Wren-designed church.

The congregation of 2,000 included more than 35 leaders of former British colonies gathered for a Commonwealth meeting and an array of foreign guests, including President Carter's son Chip and his wife, Caron.

The archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Donald Coggan, sounded a more somber note in his jubilee sermon when he called on Britain to make "an act of penitence for all that has made our life as a nation or as individuals tawdry and unworthy."

The call for penitence found few takers in the ecstatic crowd waiting for their monarch outside St. Paul's. Within minutes of leaving the cathedral, Elizabeth was surrounded by a joyful din as she paused to talk to her loyal subjects.

Crowds gathered 20-deep along the route to the Guildhall, where the Queen was to deliver her jubilee address.

The weather wasn't enough to dampen the spirits of the Britons, who have waited 25 years for a national celebration to relieve the gloom of their lost empire and sinking finances.

Postponed

The Pitt County Board of Education meeting previously scheduled for today at 2 p.m. has been postponed until Tuesday, June 14 at 2 p.m. According to Superintendent Ott Alford several members of the board are out of town this week but the meeting will be held next Tuesday.

Charter Fishing Boat Is Swamped; 4 Known Dead

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Despite warnings of a thunderstorm, a 42-foot charter fishing boat ventured out onto Chesapeake Bay and was dumped on its starboard side by a 10-to-13-foot wave, the Coast Guard said. At least four persons drowned and nine were missing.

The remaining 14 persons aboard the charter Dixie Lee II were rescued by another charter boat during a storm in which winds gusted up to 98 miles per hour, according to the National Weather Service.

The Coast Guard resumed a search for the missing patrol boats covering an eight-mile-square area of choppy water, with waves reported at about five feet.

The dead were identified as Audrey Stiff, 36, Portsmouth, Va.; Evelyn B. Lee, 43, Norfolk; Capt. William H. Lewis, 70, Norfolk; and Polly Clark, 57, Baltimore.

The thunderstorm blamed for the accident was part of a wave of storms and tornadoes that swept a large area of the eastern and southern United States Monday, toppling trees, capsizing boats and damaging homes and stores.

Storm-topped trees killed one person each in North Carolina and Georgia. In Tennessee, a carpenter was killed near Morristown in rural Jefferson County when a tornado destroyed the house in which he was working.

A Carolina Power and Light spokesman in Asheville, N.C.,

reported between 20,000 and 30,000 customers were without service in Haywood and Buncombe counties.

The Dixie Lee II had left its Norfolk boathouse Monday despite the storm forecast be-

Faces Disciplinary Action For Firing Pistol Into The Air

Greenville police chief Glenn Cannon said this morning that disciplinary action will be taken against an officer — following a review by a board of officers — in connection with an incident at the Pitt County Court House late yesterday afternoon.

Cannon said officer F. G. Pruitt fired one shot into the air from his service revolver in front of the Evans Street entrance to the court house about 5:30 p.m. in an attempt to stop a prisoner from escaping.

According to the official, Pruitt had taken Anthony Montgomery, 28 of Goldsboro into custody on larceny charges in connection with the alleged theft of a pair of tennis shoes from Kings Department Store about 5 p.m. As Pruitt led Montgomery toward the county jail, he allegedly shoved the officer, pulled away and ran, Cannon explained. As Montgomery fled toward the Evans Street entrance to the court house, the officer fired one shot into the air in an attempt to stop the fleeing man.

Montgomery did not stop, but ran into the court house and back out the Third Street entrance where he was taken into custody by other officers.

Cannon noted that disciplinary action would be taken in view of the fact that it is a violation of departmental policy to use weapons under such circumstances.

cause "there was no mention of the huge winds," said the boathouse owner.

It capsized at a point about five miles north of here and three miles east of the Hampton Roads Bridge-Tunnel, which spans the bay between Norfolk and Hampton.

Storm Injured Worker

One person was reported injured as the result of high winds that accompanied a thunderstorm which dumped 51 hundredths of an inch of rain on the Greenville area late yesterday and caused scattered minor problems with utility and telephone service.

Ronald Manning, 22 of Greenville was injured when winds blew down steel beams on which he was working at a construction site on Industrial Boulevard.

Spokesmen for R. N. Rouse Construction Co. said Manning was injured about 5 p.m. when winds blew down the structural steel on which he was working at (Continued on page 6)

Consider Pitt Court House As Historic Place

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners yesterday afternoon were told that the Pitt County Court House is being considered by the Department of Cultural Resources Division of Archives and History for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places.

In a letter from Larry E. Tise, State Historic Preservation Officer, commissioners were advised that the Pitt court house was approved by the State Professional Review Committee for study at the committee's May 12 meeting.

Tise's letter emphasized, however, that placement on the study list does not mean automatic nomination to the registry. "It means only that the staff is authorized to study the significance, history and condition of the property, and, if appropriate, to complete a National Registry nomination, which will in turn be reviewed..." Tise said, adding that such action could take a year or more.

Commissioners yesterday afternoon also set new fees for use of the landfill. Board members voted to increase fees to $1 per cubic yard of solid waste delivered to the landfill, with a $1 minimum fee. The new fee was approved after the board was told that present fees were inadequate to offset the cost of operating the landfill.

Vernon White of Winterville was reappointed to the Board of Trustees of Pitt Technical Institute for an eight year term while Elmore Hodges was reappointed to a four year term as a member of the Pitt-Greenville Airport Authority and commissioner Burney L. Tucker reappointed to a three year term as a member of the Social Services board.

Five persons, including Van Fleming Jr., Dr. Malene Irons, Dave McRae; Dorothy Bolton and Dr. Al Woodworth, were reappointed as members of the Pitt County Mental Health Area Board for three year terms.

In other action, commissioners adopted a resolution supporting a four-laned, limited access highway from Zebulon to the coast, and approved a request by the Greenville Utilities Commission for removal of the Stubbs family cemetery from commission-owned property between the Tar River and Mumford Road.

FENCING CLASSES?

Are there any fencing classes in Greenville? B. H.

Apparently not. Fencing is not even offered in the physical education curriculum of East Carolina University, since there has been little demand and no equipment bought or instruction arranged for, according to information obtained by Rich Morin of the ECU Division of Continuing Education, to whom we posed your question.

If any of our readers have knowledge in this subject, we would be glad to hear about it.

DEPOSIT RETURNED

I was working in 'Sanford for a while.' When I moved back home to Winterville, they cut my lights out and told me I was supposed to receive in the mail a $36 check, my deposit with the Utilities Company there. Every time I call them, they say they will have me a check in the mail this week, but I've never received it and I've called five times. R. B.

Hotline wrote to the company and received a letter from the Central Electric Membership Corporation, dated only two days later, saying that your deposit of $36.29 had been mailed to you. The letter writer asked that you advise immediately if you had not received the check at the time this letter arrived. We then tried unsuccessfully for about three months to get in touch with you to learn if you had received the money. Finally, instead of calling and leaving messages at your home, we wrote to you and you did call and tell us you'd got your money and are pleased.

Martin School Budget Reviewed At Meeting Of Board Members

WILLIAMSTON — Members of the Martin County Board of Education Monday reviewed the proposed $2,951,356 school budget with County Commissioners.

The education budget calls for $1,832,673 in current expenses, and $1,118,683 in capital improvements. Jerry Barnes, the school system's finance officer, notes the large capital outlay request is to cover cost of construction of two new classrooms at Edna Andrews School in Hamilton, two classrooms at the Williamston Primary School, a classroom at Bear Grass School for occupational education, and athletic facilities at Roanoke High School.

Altogether, the new budget request represents a 17 per cent increase over the current 1976-77 school budget. The county commissioners are meeting on June 14 to consider all budget requests submitted by various agencies.

School board member and chairman George McRory has submitted his resignation. A new member to succeed McRory and a new chairman are expected to be named within the next two weeks.

The board approved the rental of the old Oak City School site to the town of Oak City for use as a recreation and senior citizens center. The site consists of a gym, a library building, and a teacherage.

Also granted was an easement release to VEPCO for running utility lines underground at the site of the Williamston High School.

A resolution was passed to take action to coordinate curriculum activities between the county schools and Martin Community College. The resolution calls for working out the flow of students from county schools to the college, particularly in the field of business education.

No action was taken on pupil insurance for the coming year. Two agencies, Mobley Insurance Agency of Williamston, and Youth Guard Insurance of Charlotte, presented insurance information to the board, and a decision will be made after study of the information.

In another discussion item without action, the board agreed to work on formulating possible public projects that would be in line with Governor Jim Hunt's policy of involving the public in schools. Because Martin County has a community college, the involvement will likely be in the field of increased accountability with the public rather than in adult education programs.

Four Collisions Here Yesterday

An estimated $2,800 property damage resulted from a series of four traffic collisions investigated by Greenville Police yesterday.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 1:10 p.m. collision at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Chestnut Street involving vehicles driven by Albert Vernon Best Jr. of Route 1, Greenville and Sandra Case Barrett of Winterville.

Investigators estimated damage at $700 to the truck driven by Best and $300 to the Barrett car.

A car operated by Myra Lynn Copeland of Ahoskie and a truck driven by Michael Rudolph Dall of Route 2, Belhaven collided about 12:25 p.m. on Evans Street, 25 feet South of the 12th Street intersection.

Police set damage at $600 to the Copeland car and $350 to the truck. An estimated $300 damage resulted to each of two vehicles involved in a 10 a.m. collision on Dickinson Avenue, 30 feet East of the Cross Street intersection.

Officers identified the drivers involved as Effie Louise Johnson of Route 6, Greenville and Elwin Allen Able of Route 1, Greenville.

An 11:45 a.m. mishap on Washington Street, 75 feet South of the Tenth Street intersection involved cars driven by Retha Perkins Little of 405 West 14th St. and Alton Mosley Baldrée of Route 1, Winterville, according to investigators.

Damage from the mishap was set at $100 to the Little car and $150 to the Baldrée vehicle.

Farmville Board Plans Hearing

FARMVILLE — A public hearing will be held tonight during the Farmville Board of Commissioners meeting on a zoning ordinance text amendment.

The text amendment would permit multi-family uses by right in the R-20A residential-agricultural district.

Mr. and Mrs. James Street will make a presentation about the Sunday closing of pool rooms and Mrs. Rose Day about the closing of Wallace Street for a street dance.

Administrative reports will be given on the proposed grant assistance consulting service, on local legislative bills, on local Public Works Act, on the open meetings law, on unemployment insurance, and on budget amendments.

Unfinished business from previous meetings will include the award of a bid for fogging equipment, Powell Bill budget amendment, award of bid for resurfacing, authorization to develop annexation reports, action on a dog control ordinance, and action on proposals for Ordinance Recodification and charter revision.

New business will include consideration of the town share of the May Court street construction, fire department by-law revision, and possible revision of the Sunday closing law.

Other business will include discussion by W. A. Allen of a parking lease revisions request.

Pitt Countians At Reidsville Meeting

Several residents of Pitt County attended a workshop on Alcoholism and Alcohol Abuse in the North Carolina Black Community in Reidsville last week.

Attending from Pitt County were Curtis L. Best, Willie Mae Carney, Dennis Dawson, Pearlina K. Felder, Andrew Hunter, John W. Maye Jr., Donovan Phillips, Robert Seuss, Fannie W. Wilson, Marty McGuire and Jerry Lotterhos.

According to Best, the jist of the conference was that the community must get involved to help alleviate the problem of alcoholism and alcohol abuse in the Black community. It was suggested that Blacks organize at federal, state and local levels to attack this problem.

The workshop was sponsored by the N. C. Division of Mental Health, Section on Alcohol and Drug Abuse and by the Task Force on Alcohol Abuse in the N. C. Black Community. It was coordinated by the Alcoholism Training Program of East Carolina University.

Best, who is alcoholism worker with the Pitt County Mental Health Center, said a Pitt County Council on Alcoholism in the Black Community will be formed soon. Interested persons may call him at 752-7151.

Hunted Man Found Dead

FOUR OAKS, N.C. (AP) — The decomposed body of a man sought since Friday in the death of a Four Oaks policeman was found late Monday about one mile from where the policeman's body was discovered.

Sources said the body of Linwood Lee Johnson, 51, had at least two bullet wounds. Johnson's 1964 Chevrolet, its interior burned out, was found Friday about 10 miles away from the body of Dennis Wilbert Allen, 24, a rookie policeman.

Allen had radioed to his headquarters that he was stopping a suspicious motorist whose car license plate was one-digit off Johnson's vehicle. Allen was found dead, face down beside his patrol car on Interstate 95 near here.

Relatives identified Johnson's body, which was taken to the state medical examiner's office in Chapel Hill for an autopsy.

Johnson County Dist. Atty. John Twisdale ordered law enforcement officers not to discuss the case and no further details were available.

Sentenced For Misusing Funds

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The former chief of the state Association of County Commissioners was sentenced Monday to 45 days in prison and his license to practice law was suspended for four years.

John T. Morrissey, 50, had been charged with failing to deposit association funds and other financial irregularities amounting to $44,000 in misplaced funds. He also was fined $3,000 after pleading guilty to the charge of embezzlement.

Honored By Boys' Town

By Girl Scouts

Girl Scout Troop 449 of Farmville will hold yard sales in both Farmville and Fountain Friday and Saturday.

Friday from noon to 6 p. m. the sales will be held in the vacant lot between Farmville Furniture Store and Crumpler's Fruit Stand in Farmville and in downtown Fountain, also. Sales will be held in the same places Saturday from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The money made at these sales will be used for a Troop trip to Washington, D. C. next April.

Honored By Boys' Town

Samuel J. Breci of Columbia, S. C. has been awarded the first annual Father Flanagan Alumni Award of Boys Town.

Breci, who is married to the former Doris Brown of Greenville, is a former F. B. I. agent. He now teaches crime scene investigation, evidence collection and preservation and fingerprinting at the Criminal Justice Academy in Columbia.

The son of poor Italian immigrants, Breci went to Boys Town in 1935 when his mother died. He was in the choir in the movie starring Spencer Tracy as Father Flanagan about the famous town for homeless boys. Breci served three terms as town commissioner and was elected mayor of Boys Town in 1941. J. Edgar Hoover was the guest speaker at his graduation in June, 1941, and asked him if he wanted to go to Washington and work for the FBI. After World War II, he earned his law degree at Creighton University in Omaha, Nebr. He returned to the F. B. I. as a special agent and worked in the Bureau until his retirement in October of last year.

He and Mrs. Breci, the sister of Mrs. Grace Forrest of Greenville, have raised four sons and seven daughters. They have six grandchildren.

Will Consider Epilepsy Group

All persons interested in epilepsy are invited to attend a meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Willis Building auditorium. The purpose of the meeting is to evaluate the need for an epilepsy chapter in Pitt County.

John Paul, executive director of the Epilepsy Association of North Carolina, will be guest speaker.

The meeting is sponsored by ECU, Vocational Rehabilitation, the Office for Children and the Epilepsy Foundation.

Uses Blackmail To Carry On Affair

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: After 16 years of marriage, I discovered that my husband was having an affair with a young woman he works with. I carried on like a mad woman, told him I wouldn't put up with it and gave him a choice—her or me! He chose me, but our relationship has been miserable ever since.

He spends all his evenings and spare time with me, but there is no physical contact between us. His conversation deals with superficial things, and he refuses to talk about what's really bothering him.

Meanwhile the tension within me is building. Should I tell him to go ahead and continue the affair in order to improve the atmosphere at home? (I'm sure that's what he's trying to accomplish.) We have three children to raise.

Perhaps if you print this it will initiate some dialogue between us. I feel as though I'm...

LIVING WITH A ROBOT

DEAR LIVING: Don't let your husband blackmail you. He is saying, "Either you let me come and go as I please with no questions asked, or I'll sit around like a zombie and sulk in my martyrdom."

There is a third choice. Get some counseling—both of you, and try to put your marriage back on the track. If he refuses, you'd be ahead to sweep up the debris while you're still young enough and make a life without him.

DEAR ABBY: I see so many letters in your column from people complaining because some of their friends or relatives don't have good table manners. I once read that when Albert Einstein wanted a good laugh, he'd curl up with an etiquette book and go into hysterics. He thought the "rules of etiquette" were the funniest things ever written. So do I.

Why should there be only one "proper" way to eat a spear of asparagus? How ridiculous to judge a person by his table manners. My husband is the kindest, most gentleman in all this world, and if he wants to butter a dinner roll

WHAT TO DO IF YOU SMELL GAS.

Call Greenville Utilities immediately. Anytime day or night. We'll get a serviceman to your home or location to correct the problem.

While you're waiting for him to get there, open a window, make sure you use no electrical switches. Extinguish any open flames and evacuate the area.

If you don't know what natural gas smells like, stop by our office and pick up a scratch and sniff leaflet.

Because even though natural gas contains no poisonous ingredients, a leak can become hazardous if combustible gas pockets are allowed to form. Which makes it important for you to know what natural gas smells like.

Miss Elizabeth Hunsucker Weds Sunday Afternoon

Miss Elizabeth Graves Hunsucker and Randall Carter Warren were united in marriage Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Winterville Missionary Baptist Church. Officiating at the double ring ceremony were the Rev. Wayne Adkisson and the Rev. Richard Davis.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rogers Hunsucker of Greenville. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dewey Warren of Goldsboro.

The organ prelude was presented by Mrs. Paul Braxton, organist. A program of wedding music was given by Mrs. Braxton, Willard Finch, clarinetist, Miss Vanora Finch, pianist, and Jerry Cribbs, soloist, who sang "Whether Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer".

The chancel of the church was decorated with a 15-branch candelabrum interspersed with greenery and flanked by a basket of mixed spring flowers. On either side were spiral candelabra laced with asparagus fern and backed with standards of palms and emerald greenery. The altar steps were adorned with candle arrangements and asparagus fern. To close the ceremony, the couple lit the unity candle and melted for the prayer and benediction on a profile Prie-dieu.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father. She wore an ivory silk gown of organza designed with a mandarin neckline and empire waist. The fitted bodice and long full bishop sleeves were embroidered with eau d'ange lace and clusters of seed pearls. Appliques of lace and pearls adorned the front of the A-line skirt which extended to a sweep train.

She chose a formal length tulle of ivory silk illusion that was edged with a wide order of eau d'ange lace. The bride carried a white Holy Bible, given her by her parents', trimmed with candlelight sweetheart roses and stephanotis, accented with baby's breath and tied with satin streamers.

Miss Paula Hunsucker, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Davis of Durham, Miss Madge Lewis and Miss Pamela McLawhorn, both of Winterville, Mrs. Elizabeth Smart of Greenville, and Miss Amy Warren of Goldsboro, sister of the bridegroom.

The attendants wore formal length A-line gowns of powder blue chiffon. The empire bodice featured a scooped neckline with a bertha collar. The back of the gown was accented with flowing chiffon panels. The maid of honor carried a Williamsburg bouquet of white marguerite daisies with accents of blue baby's breath and blue satin streamers. The bridesmaids carried similar bouquets of light blue daisies and baby's breath accented with blue streamers. The attendants wore clusters of light blue baby's breath in their hair.

Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Peggy Davis of Durham, Miss Joanne Halslip of Winterville, and Miss Susan Orosz of Goldsboro. They wore formal length summer gowns and carried a single marguerite daisy embedded in baby's breath and tied with a satin streamer.

Floyd Dewey Warren served as his son's best man. Ushers were Al Beasley of Greenville, William Eakes of Raleigh, Scott Halstead of Yadkinville, Dan Harris of Fayetteville, and Tony Smart of Greenville.

The mother of the bride wore a formal gown of aqua chiffon with long sheer sleeves. She carried a white gardenia pinned to her matching bag.

The mother of the bridegroom chose a floor-length gown of screen print floral chiffon over white taffeta. She carried a nosegay of miniature pink roses accented with satin streamers.

Mrs. Allie David Eakes of Raleigh and Mrs. James Henry Warren of Robersonville, grandmothers of the bridegroom, were remembered with corsages of white daisies.

Mistress of ceremonies was Mrs. Helena Cox.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dews, Mrs. Roy Cox and Mrs. D. T. McLawhorn presided at the guest register. Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Willard Finch.

An after-rehearsal party was given Saturday night in the church fellowship hall by the parents of the bridegroom.

A wedding brunch was given for the wedding party and out-of-town guests at the home of Mrs. D. T. McLawhorn. Co-hosting were Miss Madge Dews, the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Davis Nancy and Peggy Davis.

The bride and her attendants were honored at a bridesmaids luncheon Saturday at the home of Mrs. L. E. Kittrell.

The couple was honored at a supper given by the employees of J. C. Penney Co. at Three Steers Restaurant.

The bride attended East Carolina University and is enrolled in the School Nursing Program and Pitt Technical Institute. The bridegroom is a graduate of East Carolina University and is employed with J. C. Penney's.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Greenville.

MRS. EDWIN WARREN CAUSEY

Couple Weds In Double Ring Rites

Faye Trantham Gidley became the bride of Edwin Warren Causey Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Red Oak Christian Church. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Dr. Eugene Purcell.

A program of wedding music was presented by Sam C. Winchester Jr. and Amy Winchester, organists.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellard Trantham of Nebo. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Sam C. Winchester and the late Warren E. Causey of Greenville.

The bride wore a floor length champagne embroidered cotton gown with an empire waistline. Victorian neckline embroidered with imported antique lace and long sleeves with matching lace cuffs. She chose a coronet headpiece of matching lace with baby's breath and red rosebuds. She carried a long-stemmed red rose.

Kathy Watson of Morganton was maid of honor. She wore a blue gingham floor-length gown with a white eyelet pinafore and a white garden hat with matching gingham banding. She carried a Williamsburg bouquet of daisies, rosebuds and baby's breath with matching streamers.

Mrs. Timothy M. Wooten of Irmo, S.C., sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Anita Pitman of Burnsville, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore dresses styled like the maid of honor's in rainbow shades of green and yellow gingham. They wore matching hats and carried matching bouquets.

Miss Amy Renee Gidley of Morganton was flower girl. She wore a floor-length pink gingham gown with a white eyelet pinafore. She carried a white wicker basket filled with rose petals and tied with pink streamers.

Douglas Causey of Raleigh, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Archie Henry of Greenville and Jerry Batten of Morganton.

A cake-cutting was held Saturday at the Red Oak fellowship hall. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Sam C. Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam C. Winchester Jr. hosted a rehearsal dinner honoring the bridal couple, wedding party and out-of-town guests at their home.

The bride is a graduate of Western Piedmont Community College. The bridegroom is a graduate of N. C. State University, where he earned a Master's degree in economics. He is county supervisor with the Farmers Home Administration, Shallotte.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Shallotte.

Business Meeting Held Thursday

The American Legion Auxiliary held a business meeting Thursday at the American Legion Building.

The meeting, conducted by Mrs. Sarah J. Ashton, included a report from the Poppy Chairman, Betty Levey.

Mrs. Lois Dail First Division resident, Mrs. Ashton, unit resident, and Miss Tammy Levey, junior member, will attend the state convention June 5-19 in Charlotte. Miss Levey will be a page representing Division I.

Mrs. Dail reported that 25 auxiliary members from the First Division attended the leadership workshop May 14. A donation to the scholarship fund was made by Janie Adams in memory of her father, William J. Wingate Jr.

Mrs. Ashton and Mrs. Dail will attend the Governor's Conference on the Quality of Life for Senior Citizens at Meredith College July 6-7.

The September meeting will be a covered-dish supper. Member's husbands and the 1977 representatives of Boys and Girls State will be guests.

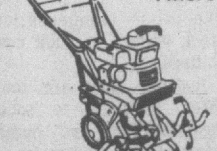

Mrs. Mary B. Whichard and Mrs. Mayo Rogers served refreshments.

Wedding Invitation

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Taylor request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Gail, to Joseph Midgette, on Saturday, June 11, at 6:00 p.m. in the Pleasant Hill Free Will Baptist Church. A reception will follow the ceremony.

Roach-Arrington Vows Said

Miss Gloria Jean Arrington and Winfred Allen Roach were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at 6:30 p.m. in the Juniper Chapel Free Will Baptist Church, Vanceboro, with the Rev. Eddie Edwards, pastor, and the Rev. Eugene Purcell of Riverside Christian Church, Grifton, officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Raymond L. Arrington Sr. of Rt. 2, Vanceboro, and the late Mr. Arrington. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Winfred M. Roach of Rt. 1, Grifton.

Pastel tinted chrysanthemums, gladioli, snapdragons and gypsophylla were in Grecian vases along with spiral candelabra holding white cathedral candles in the pulpit. Family pews were marked with white satin ribbons.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Phillip McCandless of Vanceboro, and Mrs. Joe Thomas of Vanceboro, who sang "We've Only Just Begun," "Annie's Song" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by Jasper L. Tripp of Greenville, wore a gown of silk organza over white bridal satin and Venise lace which extended into a chapel length train. Her chapel length veil was of silk illusion and Venise lace attached to a caplet of Venise lace. She carried a pastel bouquet of roses, daisies, carnations and gypsophylla.

Miss Daphne Ann Roach, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jimmy Hale Mrs. Larry Wetherington, both of Vanceboro, Mrs. Billy J. Woolard of Washington, and Mrs. John Anderson of Enfield.

They wore floor length gowns of blue, pink, yellow, lavender and green, respectively, with matching picture hats and carried bouquets of pastel tinted chrysanthemums with rainbow ribbons.

Miss Lori Thomas Gray of Vanceboro was flower girl and wore a blue floor length gown and carried a basket of petals.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and ushers included Hugh Jolly, Phil Wood, Johnny Daugherty, all of Cove City, and Doc Davis of Dover. Gene Roach, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Milton Roach of Grifton presided at the bride's book.

The bride's mother selected a floor length gown of green knit with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a floor length gown of yellow knit with a matching coat and accessories. Both mothers wore carnation corsages. Following the ceremony, the parents of the bridal couple entertained at a reception held in the church fellowship hall.

MRS. WINFRED ALLEN ROACH

Varied Recreation Activities

Greenville citizens will have the opportunity this summer to take advantage of a wide variety of recreation activities through the Recreation Commission's summer program.

They range from Sunday In the Park performances, on Reade Street between Third and Fourth, to men's and ladies' exercise classes.

There will also be movies, bowling, golf, baseball and softball, tennis classes, swimming instruction and park and playground activities that participants can plan for themselves.

Department officials say they have tried to plan something for everyone and for residents of Greenville there is little or no charge for most of the activities.

The department also has tennis courts which are open to the public on a reservation basis and there are picnic shelters and fireplaces available by reservation for family and group cook-outs.

There are many summer activities provided for local citizens by the Recreation Department. We owe it to ourselves to become familiar with the programs that are available and take full advantage of them.

Real Test Awaits Bruton On Programs

The question of who will serve as chairman of the State Board of Education was finally resolved last week with the election of Dr. H. David Bruton, Southern Pines pediatrician.

He is the man Gov. Hunt wanted and he is expected to help push the governor's educational programs.

The new chairman called for harmony, but after a bruising fight over the chairmanship harmony might be difficult to come by.

It will be a real test of Dr. Bruton's leadership to get the state's educational programs moving. Move they should, however, if the state is going to get full value for its education dollars.

THIS AFTERNOON

'Little People' Bills Hurt

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — "Maybe there's some truth in what so many people charge — that this is a special interest General Assembly," State Senator Fred D. Alexander groaned at a recent noon-time relaxation session on the balcony outside his legislative office.

The three-term lawmaker from Mecklenburg has been trying to get some attention to a couple of minor proposals; things that wouldn't cost the state anything, and which would help some people who don't generally, he figures, get much help from their Legislature.

"But things to help those they call little people don't seem to generate much concern in this General Assembly... or in the press around the state," Alexander complained.

Two Projects
He has two pet little projects. Both appear to have been pushed to the back burner in the crush of "important" things happening in the General Assembly, and both could very easily be caught in the roaring tide of legislative proposals being flushed down the pipes as the rush for adjournment gathers steam.

Those affected by Alexander's proposals would be milkmen and low-income renters.

One measure would change the system by which natural gas suppliers (which are public utilities and governed by state law) charge deposits from new customers.

At present, the gas companies require a deposit to protect them from loss should the new customer be hard to collect from. Generally, the people who must post such a deposit are low-income renters.

The law allows the gas suppliers to charge up to one-half of a season's heating bill as figured on the amount of gas used by the previous occupant of the house. That, says Alexander, can run up to a $50 or $70 deposit which must be posted before the tenant can even get his gas turned on. And the deposit remains there until you move.

The result: "This puts a lot of low-income people in a strain. They just can't come up with such big deposits, so a lot of people just can't get their gas turned on. They have no cold water, and have to use space heaters or their electric ranges to heat the house," Alexander said. At home in Charlotte, where he is a veteran political leader and former member of the Charlotte City Council, Alexander is manager of a sprawling apartment complex largely populated by low-income blacks.

BILL NOBLITT

No Deal

The Senator first approached Piedmont Natural Gas about a compromise solution. But none was offered, he said, so the legislation is now in study committees. It would require the utilities to collect no more than a month's heating charge as a security deposit, and would require that charge to be figured on a fair formula and not based on the habits of the previous occupant.

As for the milkmen, Alexander finds many of them concerned over company policies which take out of their commissions the money used to pay retailer rebates. Most won't talk about it publicly, though, for fear of losing their jobs, Alexander says.

The system works like this: the milk deliveryman is paid on commission for goods delivered to the retail outlets on his route. To get products on the shelf, suppliers pay retailers a rebate (some call it a kickback). Many suppliers, it turns out, take 15 percent of the route men's net as the rebate money. That amount comes off the top, and the salesman's commission is then figured on the remainder. The routemen don't object to the rebates since the distributor who pays the most gets the business. They do object to having it come off the top before commissions are figured.

The milk proposal is languishing in a subcommittee of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Alexander, though, has been a champion of the "little people" for so long that he keeps on trying. He is now working on a proposal to increase the state money for blind people so those handicapped would get $200 monthly rather than $187.

IF THEY DON'T HEAD BACK TO PORT---

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

Act Of Strangulation

It was a small act of strangulation that took place on May 27 — nothing more than a little lynching, really. It was only a principle that was throttled. Jimmy Carter killed the Rhodesian Information Service by cutting off its funds. Ho-hum, and what else is news?

Merely by lifting a finger in the UN Security Council, Mr. Carter's pet ambassador, Andrew Young, could have prevented this shameful act. To have permitted the Rhodesian Information Service to continue its operations would have cost our government nothing. It would have served the ideal of free press and free speech. This is not an ideal that greatly concerns Mr. Carter.

Thus Mr. Carter passed the word to let the execution proceed. Mr. Young cheerfully joined in making the May 27 resolution unanimous.

The Security Council thereby called on all member states "to prohibit the use or transfer of any funds in their territories by the illegal regime in Southern Rhodesia, for the purpose of any office or agency of the illegal regime that is established within their territories..." And that was that.

The resolution had but one purpose. It was designed deliberately to still the last remaining voice speaking for the Ian Smith government in Salisbury. Henceforth, we are to have material from the British; we are to have propaganda from the several Marxist and terrorist outfits trying to seize power; we will hear interminably from Ambassador Young. But access to official Rhodesian texts, documents and reports is effectively foreclosed.

What a mockery is this! In his May 22 address at Notre Dame University, Mr. Carter eloquently proclaimed his dedication to "a foreign policy that is based on our fundamental values." Evidently, a free press is not among Mr. Carter's fundamental values. Mr. Carter said his policies would be based on "constant decency." Whereupon, on May 27, Mr. Carter did an indecent thing. At Notre Dame, Mr. Carter was all for "freedom." He placed freedom among man's "fundamental spiritual requirements." But he did not mean to embrace freedom for a small, dissenting voice.

The Rhodesian Information Service has operated for the past 10 years out of a modest house at 2852 McGill Terrace in Washington. In deference to the quiet neighborhood, Director Kenneth Towsey did not fly a Rhodesian flag. He did not even have the service's name on the door. He and John Hooper, with three clerical helpers, tended quietly to their business. For several years, Towsey's lovely daughter Virginia helped out.

They made no ripples, created no sensations, aroused no animosities. They simply distributed official material from Salisbury, answered inquiries, assisted the press. Towsey made a number of speeches to service clubs, schools and colleges. Except at Harvard University, that bastion of free inquiry, he was well received. At Harvard a gang of black fascists physically prevented his speaking, by invitation, to the Harvard Law School Forum.

Towsey is 57, a slender, wiry fellow with the immaculate manners of a British diplomat and the sizzling forehead of a blue-ribbon tennis player. He and his family have accepted the ostracism of social Washington without a murmur. His own plans are uncertain. He may take early retirement and remain in the United States as a resident alien. He will remain, that is, unless Jimmy Caesar orders him deported.

B-1 Is Up For Review

By JAMES GERSTENZANG

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says the B1 bomber is wasteful and should not be funded, but the aircraft's congressional supporters are making what could be a final attempt to change the mind of the commander in chief.

As a deadline approaches for a decision on whether to authorize full production of the advanced bomber, Carter has invited six senators and six members of the House to the White House today to tell him why they favor the airplane.

Congressional opponents of the B1 were scheduled to meet with Carter on Friday.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said Monday that "nothing has changed" since Carter expressed opposition during the 1976 presidential campaign to production of the bomber.

"His basic inclination is not to build," Powell said. "He's got to be convinced, but I'm not saying he couldn't be convinced."

A year ago, Carter left little doubt that he opposed production, saying:

"Exotic weapons which serve no real functions do not contribute to the defense of this country. The B1 bomber is an example of a proposed system which should not be funded and would be wasteful of taxpayers' dollars."

Carter's other appointments in a busy day of 10 meetings included an afternoon session in the Oval Office with Andrew Young, whose description of former Presidents Richard Nixon and Gerald Ford as "racists" touched off another storm of controversy around the U.N. ambassador.

Powell said the meeting had been set up "sometime back," before Young's comments in a Playboy magazine interview were published and was a regular consultation not called to rein in the controversial ambassador.

Carter has until the end of June to make a decision on the

THE INSIDE REPORT

The Concern For SALT

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Concern about the competency of U.S. negotiators on SALT is raised by this remarkable fact: the new U.S. proposal put forth in Geneva sets a "ceiling" on production of the Soviet Backfire bomber at a far higher level than the Russians can possibly achieve.

The failure by Secretary of State Cyrus Vance to reveal the proposed "ceiling" to a Senate subcommittee May 26 might indicate self-doubt by U.S. policymakers about its worth. But defense-oriented members of Congress suspect duplicity less than incompetency. As details of Vance's session in Geneva with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko have become known, doubt has grown whether the U.S. knows what it is doing in the strategic arms limitation talks (SALT).

It is debatable just how much of a retreat is represented by the proposal submitted at Geneva and rejected by Gromyko. If the Russians finally accept top-secret details as described to the Senators by Vance (which is dubious), the treaty surely would be ratified by the Senate. What is worrisome for the long haul are deficiencies in both grand strategy and petty details.

The heart of the concern is the fact that just one month after President Carter's bold, tough but still reasonable SALT package was tabled in Moscow, concessions were offered in Geneva. The inescapable conclusion is that, contrary to Mr. Carter's repeated public assurances that he is in no hurry, the old compulsive U.S. urge for some agreement — any agreement — has returned. The intractable Soviet position at Geneva suggests the Kremlin expects the American compulsion to back down will yield still more American concessions.

The theory that U.S. negotiators are more interested in the idea of a treaty than what is in it is supported by bargaining over the Backfire bomber. The U.S. proposal accepts the Soviet claim that the Backfire is medium-range and should not be counted in the limit on strategic weapons, even though many experts believe it can reach North America without refueling.

Accordingly, the secret proposal offered in Geneva would "limit" annual Soviet production. Precise figures are top secret, but intelligence estimates of actual Soviet production are but a small fraction of the "ceiling." Furthermore, there is no chance Soviet production could even approach this level during the proposed three years of the limit.

Unlike the Backfire's range, its production is not disputed inside the CIA or anywhere else in the national security bureaucracy. The only reasonable assumption, then, is that the SALT negotiators are guilty of inexcusable sloppiness. Nor is the Backfire the only such instance.

Testifying before Sen. Henry M. Jackson's subcommittee, Vance emphasized curbing development of the Soviet Union's huge SS-18 missile. But Pentagon experts feel this shows the U.S. negotiating team is behind the times technologically. The greater menace today is the smaller SS-19, untouched by the proposal.

More significantly, Vance was questioned closely by the Senators on whether it would be remotely possible to verify the proposed ban on mobile long-range missiles. U.S. negotiators seem unconcerned that Soviet intermediate-range mobile missiles could be converted to long-range without anybody knowing it.

This helps breed skepticism in the Senate about Vance's reassurances regarding the principal obstacle to a SALT II agreement: the U.S. cruise missile. While supposedly postponing testing of land-based and sea-based cruise missiles, the U.S. does not intend the proposed language to actually block the new wonder-weapons such as the Tomahawk sea-based cruise missile. Whether this is really so may determine the extent of Senate treaty opposition.

Letters to the editor must consist of 300 or fewer words. Please include a phone number or numbers for easier confirmation by our staff.

To the editor:

This is the Commencement season. Throughout the nation, colleges, universities, technical institutes and high schools are graduating students who have met the required standards to achieve their plaudits and who have dreams, hopes and aspirations for their futures.

During this season, many speakers will talk of the hopes and intentions which the Carter Administration has for America. On some occasions, these speakers will mention the similarity of the Carter Administration with the Kennedy Administrations in that, like graduating students, this nation envisioned high hopes and felt genuinely inspired when JFK served as President, and many Americans feel this way with Mr. Carter.

Some of the speakers will discuss the similarity of these Presidents when they schedule and hold news conferences. Some of the speakers will mention the similarity of the two when they travel across the nation to campaign and meet the citizens. Some of the speakers will undoubtedly note the manner in which these leaders conduct their daily duties and official business. Still others will compare the problems which Kennedy faced in 1961 with the problems which Carter faces in 1977.

While we enjoy the season of high hopes, new resolutions and plans, and sincere aspirations, let all America trust that the graduates of all institutions of learning in 1977 will remember the immortal words of the late Pres. John F. Kennedy, which he so eloquently put forth in his Inaugural Address of Jan. 20, 1961: "Ask not what your country can do for you — ask what you can do for your country."

Economics Still Bewildering

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The proportion of new corporate directors having experience in education or economics more than doubled from 1975 to 1976, according to a respected annual survey of business boards.

Analyzing the results, the "why" of economics soon becomes clear: Despite all our knowledge, erratic modern economies are just as bewildering to businessmen today as were the simple economies of yesterday.

But why education? The answer lies in another phenomenon, the rise of women in the world of business. More women are being appointed to boards and, unlike men, their most common functional background is in education. Heidrick and Struggles Inc., an international management consulting firm, has been conducting its study of board composition for more than a decade, and each year the changes reflect the pressures on the business community.

In its most recent study, for example, to be released later this week, government experience is also shown to be on the rise among new directors, suggestive of the rather obvious pressures being directed from Washington.

But the most significant news in this year's report, based on a study of 1,189 new directors elected during 1976, concerns the women. Some of it the women will like; some they might cite as evidence of discrimination.

Of the 612 new directors who responded to the survey, 71 were women. While the total is small the percentage is up, to 6 from 5 in 1975, and seems destined to continue to rise.

But the women are different. They differ from their male peers in title, primary employment, functional experience, education, race — and age.

While 6 of 10 male directors are corporate officers of their own or another company, and usually chairman or president, women most frequently are college or university deans, professors or presidents.

Although 90 per cent of male directors are in business, 59 per cent of the women are in academe, have government experience, or hold positions in the not-for-profit sector.

As a result, "education" is named most often as the functional background of new women directors, while finance, marketing, engineering-research and the law lead for men.

Nearly one-third of the women hold doctoral degrees, but their training isn't in business. Fewer than one in 15 has a master's degree in business administration, although one of six men does.

Perhaps because of this, perhaps because they are seen as more suited to certain roles than to others, the women don't as often get assigned to key money committees, such as executive compensation, stock options or audit committees.

Instead, they are more often assigned to social responsibility and human resources committees. Discrimination? Debatable, especially when you consider that the women are far more likely than men to be minority group members.

LIVING IN TWO WORLDS

Many people have been mystified by the statement in the New Testament, "Now we are the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be."

The key to understanding the statement lies in the word "now." We are sons — and daughters — of the living God now. Such being the case, we have confidence to believe that a Heavenly Father, wiser than any earthly father, will take care of us and see that the events of this life — whether favorable or unfavorable, pleasant or painful — will eventually work out for our eternal welfare.

This loving nurture by God will not take place on some distant date but is being bestowed upon us right now. We do not have to wait until we die to become sons and daughters of the living God.

God makes many promises which will be fulfilled in heaven, but he also makes many which are intended to be fulfilled here on earth.

—by Elisha Douglass

N.C. Senate Opposes Appointive Superintendent

RALEIGH (AP) — The Senate killed a proposal Monday night to have an appointed state superintendent of public instruction and, after a compromise was reached in the hallway, reversed its approval of raising the state minimum wage to $2.50 an hour.

The chamber's 11-37 vote on the superintendent came after several senators argued that the system works well now and having an appointed superintendent would take away part of the public's influence in education.

Other provisions of the bill would have enlarged the Board of Education to 17 members. It is now 13. The members would have served four rather than eight-year terms and would have been limited to serving two terms. Also, it would have ensured that each congressional district be represented.

Also in the legislature: WAGE
The Senate reconsidered its approval last Friday of raising the state minimum wage to $2.50 per hour on July 1. The question now goes to a confer-

$2.50. Congress is expected to take that action soon.

Several backers of the $2.50 minimum said opponents had been pressuring them to reverse their position on the issue. A labor spokesman said the compromise was good because it is possible the federal wage will be raised to at least $2.50 by July 1 anyway.

NIGHTS
Both the House and Senate are expected to start having ence committee because the Senate and House have approved different versions of the measure.

The compromise was worked out between state labor leaders and those who opposed the $2.50 minimum wage. As explained on the Senate floor, the compromise is for the minimum to be raised to $2.30 on July 1 then go to $2.50 when the federal minimum is raised to at least night meetings as the legislative session nears an end. Normally, the legislature meets Monday night, all day Tuesday through Thursday and Friday mornings.

House Speaker Carl Stewart said Friday that the House will meet tonight in an effort to catch up on its calendar.

Monday, Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green told the Senate, "We're going to finish the calendar daily if we have to stay until midnight to do it."

CPA RULES

The Senate approved and sent to the House a bill to allow practical experience to count in training requirements for people who wish to become Certified Public Accountants. Sen. Ed Renfrow, D-Johnston, who owns an accounting firm, said he favors the measure because now the restrictions keep some qualified people from becoming CPAs.

DUI

The Senate approved and sent to the House a bill to keep some people who plead guilty to drunken driving from losing their licenses an additional six months. Now, persons convicted of driving under the influence of intoxicants lose their licenses for a year. Another part of the law takes a person's license for six months for refusing to take a Breathalyzer test which measures blood-alcohol content.

Sen. R.C. Soles, D-Columbus, sponsor of the bill, said some drivers refuse to take the test because they plan to plead guilty and lose their licenses 18 months because that's how the judge interprets the law. His bill would allow a person to plead guilty and not take the test without the extra penalty.

LITTER

The House approved and sent to the Senate a bill to make it illegal to litter on any public property or any private property he doesn't own. That expands current law which covers roadside littering. Also under the bill, a car's driver is presumed responsible if litter comes out of his vehicle. The maximum penalty would remain a $200 fine.

N. C. House of Representatives

Well, things have settled somewhat on the education front. The Senate has passed the Governor's Testing Bills. The House Committee on Education gave an unfavorable report to the Senate-passed bill to make the Lt. Governor the chairman of the State Board of Education. Lt. Gov. Green withdrew his name and asked that he not be considered as a nominee by the board and, further, he called for unity in education and the best for the children of the state, but stated the State Board of Education should never become a rubber stamp for the Governor.

The House reversed itself and removed the amendment calling for a vote by the people for a two-cent tax on gasoline tied in with the $300 million bond issue for roads. Bond attorneys had some doubt as to the legality of such an arrangement and Rep.

Watkins withdrew his amendment. The House has passed the bond issue on third reading and it is now in the Senate where it will pass also.

Calendars are becoming long and tedious. We now spend three to four hours a day in session and this is in addition to committee meetings. Friday, June 3, we were in session from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. and there were 118 bills on the calendar. We are now doing some things we should have done two months ago.

See you next week.

Improvements In Snow Hill Phone System Readied

Don A. Collier, district manager here for Carolina Telephone, announced that improvement and expansion of Snow Hill's telephone system is set to begin soon.

According to Collier, a $231,713 dual program has been engineered and scheduled in the Snow Hill area.

The projects include the reinforcing of cable facilities along US 258 north, NC 903 east, and NC 91 in the northern quadrant, and placement of a conduit system along US 258 north of Snow Hill.

The manager noted that the work is made necessary by the continuing population expansion in Greene County. The proposed cables have been sized to meet the projected ten years requirements.

The refreshment table was covered with a floor length lace cloth centered with a silver candelabra floral arrangement of pastel colors and a six tiered wedding cake.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Ann Gray, Mrs. George Evans of Vanceboro, and Mrs. Alton Smith of Ayden. Good-byes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Roman Witherington.

For a wedding trip to the N. C. mountains, the bride wore a red and white knit dress and her mother's corsage. Upon their return, they will reside at Rt. 1, Grifton.

The bride graduated from West Craven High School, Vanceboro, and East Carolina University. She will be employed by Growers Tobacco Warehouse, Greenville, this summer. The bridegroom graduated from Farm Life High School, Vanceboro, and is a graduate of Lenoir Community College, Kinston. He is presently engaged in farming.

On Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper L. Tripp of Greenville and Raleigh entertained at a dinner party at the Three Steers for members of the wedding party and guests.

The bridal couple presented gifts to their wedding attendants.

But even if the Senate is convinced that the cruise missile is not endangered, nagging doubts persist about the overriding U.S. purpose. A three-year ban on testing certain cruise missiles and the MX mobile missile would be more acceptable if the time were used to improve the overall strategic position leading to negotiation of a comprehensive SALT III treaty. But there is seemingly no such broad strategy underlying the big push for a SALT II agreement.

Noting U.S. haste, the Russians are characteristically intransigent. For instance, they want restrictions on the U.S. cruise missiles and MX to last for eight years while restraints on Soviet weapons last for only three.

The present SALT climate, therefore, could not be further removed from the Carter administration's hard-nosed beginning in Moscow. Walking backwards, U.S. negotiators offer substantial concessions on their own arms, while asking largely meaningless restrictions on Soviet arms. The Russians, patiently awaiting a treaty granting them maximum advantage, have not yet compromised an inch. This climate, rather than the substance of what happened in Geneva, is the source of disquiet in the Senate.

Towsey's last press statement was completely in character. He carefully quoted the operative language of the UN resolution. He temperately questioned the statesmanship of the United States' action "at a time when the Rhodesian government is cooperating fully with an Anglo-American initiative designed to resolve the conflict in Rhodesia." He thanked members of Congress, the press, and the American people for the privilege of providing them with information and for the sympathy and good will that many persons have manifested toward him. Then he added one wry sentence: "It is my great regret that these sentiments have not prevailed at least sufficiently to permit the continued exercise of the freedoms that the First Amendment of your Constitution seems to promise."

Towsey regrets this, and so do I, and so do most American editors. But Jimmy Carter, you depend on it, will not shed a tear.

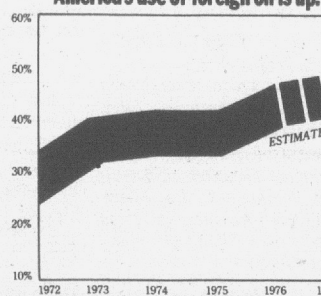

KEEPING YOUR ENERGY COSTS IN LINE.

The cost of fuel used to generate electricity is a major influence on electric bills, and Vepco is working to keep those costs down.

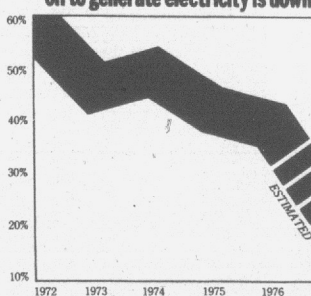

Since the Arab oil embargo of 1973, America has increased its use of foreign oil. In 1976, over 45% of the petroleum products used in the U.S. came from foreign sources.

Vepco, however, is using less oil to generate your electricity. In 1974, about half of your electricity was generated by burning residual oil. Last year, that figure dropped to 40%. In the next two years it is expected to drop to about 20%.

America's use of foreign oil is up.

Vepco's use of foreign oil to generate electricity is down.

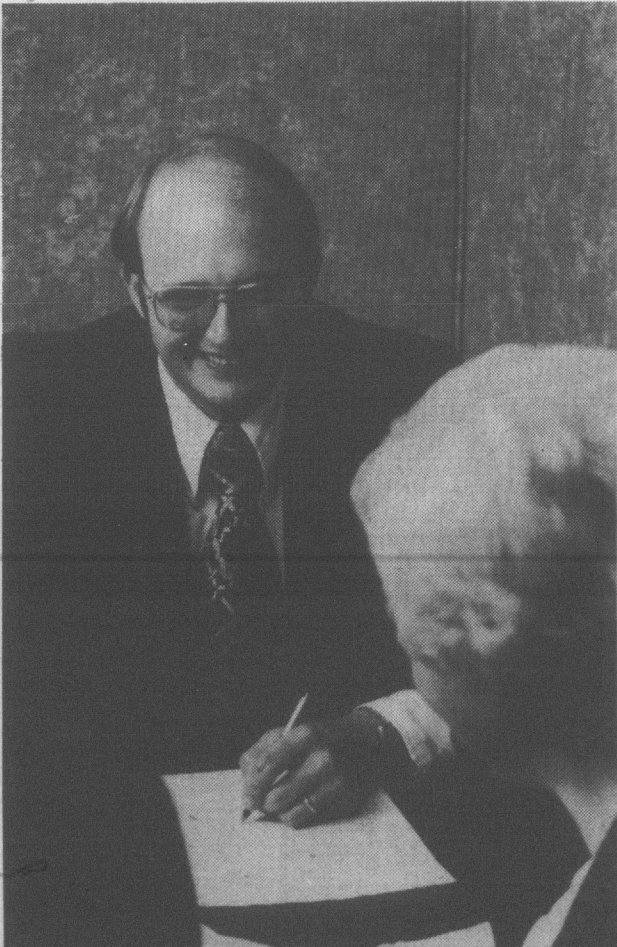

Nuclear and coal-fired generation are taking the place of oil. Pumped storage hydro is being built to help meet your peak needs for electricity while eliminating need for oil for alternative peaking generation equipment.

Williamston Bd. Okays Filing For HUD Funds

WILLIAMSTON — Members of the Williamston Town Board on Monday approved the filing of a grant request for $490,000 in HUD discretionary funds. These funds are part of the Community Development Fund applicable to the town of Williamston.

In the matter of bids for street improvements, the board delayed until the July meeting a decision on accepting a bid. Bidders were: Barnhill Construction Co., Tarboro, $75,305.50 for a basic bid and $75,801.50 for an alternate bid; Barrus Construction Co., Kinston, $68,419.85 and $68,862.25; and L. A. Reynolds Co., Greenville, $74,263 and $74,801.

An agreement submitted by the N.C. Department of Transportation for installation of railroad signs at crossings in Williamston was approved by the town board. The state will fund 90 per cent of the costs, with the town providing 10 per cent.

A request by the Williamston Jaycees for a skateboard tournament on June 25 and the closing of a street for the event was approved.

No action was taken on several rezoning actions—these will be heard at the July meeting on July 11.

Also set for the July meeting is the second public hearing on an increase in Williamston Cablevision rates. The $6.75 monthly rate has been approved by the board subject to a final decision after the second hearing in July.

Officers Installed For NCAE And ACT Units

The Pitt County chapters of the Association of Classroom Teachers (ACT) and North Carolina Association of Educators (NCAE) held joint installation services at D. H. Conley High School last week.

Annette MacRae was installed as the new NCAE president. Other NCAE officers installed were the following: Monty Frizzell, president elect; Richard Stevens, vice president of membership; Rebie Crandol, vice president of orientation; and Peggy Conleton, secretary-treasurer. Farney Moore conducted the installations service.

Twenty-five year service pins were awarded to several members and one retiree award was presented. Committee chairmen and individuals were recognized for their work with NCAE.

Farney Moore was presented the President's Plaque.

Martha Moore was installed as the president of ACT for 1977-78. Other officers installed included the following: Carolyn Sutton, president-elect; Mary Brooks, vice president; Marguerite La Coste, secretary; and James Wilks, treasurer. The following will serve as co-ordinators for ACT: Sandy Worthington, area one; Emma McIntyre, area two; Frances Gold, area three; and Jeraline Fleming, area four. Neil Conleton will serve as parliamentarian. Jackie Wooten District 15 president, installed the officers.

1976-77 committee chairmen and officers were recognized. Sharon Clayton, past president of ACT presided at the meeting.

Albritton
TARBORO — Funeral services for Mrs. Naomi L. Albritton, 84, will be held Thursday at 4 p.m. at Mount Zion Primitive Baptist Church here by Elder Dave Bullock. Burial will be in the Community Cemetery.

A Martin County native, she had made her home in Sharpburg for several years. For the past two years she had lived in Tarboro. She was a member of Union Grove Primitive Baptist Church of Wilson.

Surviving her are a daughter, Mrs. Martha Plemmer of Tarboro; a son, Claude Albritton of Highland Park, Mich.; four grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Mamie Harrison of Washington, D.C.

The body will be at the Hemby-Willoughby Mortuary in Tarboro after 6 p.m. Wednesday and until one hour before the funeral Thursday. Family visitation will be held Wednesday from 8 to 9 p.m. at the funeral chapel.

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Dr. William W. Austin, engineering professor at North Carolina State University, was named Layperson of the Year for the United Methodist Conference at today's session of the annual meeting.

The Raleigh resident was cited for his service to the church at the local, district and conference levels and to his profession and his community.

Donald C. Craft of Ahoskie, chairman of the conference Division of Lay Life and Work, cited Austin as "a very distinguished churchman."

Bishop Robert M. Blackman of Raleigh, presiding over the meeting at Methodist College, also announced the appointment of the Rev. J. Edward Morrison of New Bern as coordinator of Youth Ministry and Church and Society.

Morrison, minister of Riverside United Methodist Church in New Bern, will be a staff member for the Council on Ministries of the North Carolina Conference with offices in Raleigh.

The bishop also recognized the Rev. James M. McCallum of Sanford, the new coordinator of Special Ministries.

Meanwhile, committee reports began during the morning and continued through the day.

In Monday's opening session, 15 persons were ordained as elders of the church and 24 were ordained as deacons.

The Georgia-Pacific site. About one third of the steel for the 180 foot by 300 foot building had been erected when the storm struck and it was all toppled, officials explained.

Spokesmen for Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Co. said about 30 to 35 outages were reported due to the storm, with most of them caused by falling tree limbs. All service, they noted, had been restored by dark yesterday.

Greenville Utilities Commission officials said crews worked until 2:30 a.m. today restoring service to customers, but said there were no major problems caused by the winds.

No major circuits were out of service, although a section along the Belvoir Highway was without electric power for about an hour and service in the Brook Valley area was out for about 20 minutes, GUC spokesmen noted.

The "very isolated" outages, GUC officials said, were due mainly to falling trees and limbs.

The GUC weather station reported the high temperature yesterday at 92 degrees while the low yesterday was recorded at 63 degrees. At 8 a.m. today, the temperature stood at 60 degrees and the Tar River level was at 1.2 feet and dropping.

Good construction firm reputations are the result of two factors:
The first is good people. Both ours and our customer's. For only with competent, professional people working together toward the same goal, can the second factor be achieved.
Results. Happy customers. Customers who got the quality building they needed, when they needed it, for the money they had to spend.
Over the years, we've satisfied quite a few people's building needs. Satisfied them so well, in fact, that they came back when they needed a second building. And a third. And a fourth.

Rejoicing in Portland

Trail Blazers Honored By Rally, Walton Douses Mayor With Beer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — It was the Trail Blazers' big day and 50,000 people jammed the streets of Portland to pay honor to their heroes. They even let superstar Bill Walton douse the mayor with beer.

Portland's enthusiasm knew no bounds as the city honored the players who won the National Basketball Association championship by beating the Philadelphia 76ers 109-107 Sunday.

"This is as much fun as I've ever had in any sport since I started playing when I was eight years old," Walton told thousands of basketball fans gathered at the end of a parade route that took the championship Blazers through confetti-strewn streets packed with cheering Portlanders. "I can't imagine it getting any better, but I'm sure you folks will find a way to make it that way."

Then someone stole his bicycle.

Walton, chosen most valuable player in the series, has a reputation of being quiet and shy. But he showed up at Monday's parade and rally wearing cutoffs and a sweat shirt and with a big lipstick kiss on his cheek.

He started the parade on a 10-speed bicycle, but managed to lose it somewhere along the route.

He asked whoever wound up with it to "please bring it back. It's the only bike I've got."

Police said the bike still was missing by late Monday.

Walton charmed spectators at the rally and made several requests for cold beer, some of which ended up going down the shirt collar of Mayor Neil Goldschmidt. As the mayor was at the microphone, Walton doused him twice from behind. The crowd loved it.

The parade followed Broadway, the city's main downtown artery. It was jammed with people for at least 10 blocks.

"The only problem I saw was getting a hole in the crowd big enough to get the parade through," said city police Sgt. Roy Kendrick. "I've never seen that many people in one stretch of roadway."

Goldschmidt proclaimed Monday "Trail Blazer Day" in Portland and Gov. Bob Straub declared it "Trail Blazer Fan Week" in Oregon.

"This is such an exciting event we ought to do it again next year," Straub said.

Philadelphia Still Feels It Has Championship Caliber Team

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — "I still think we have a championship team," said Philadelphia superstar Julius Erving, the consummate court artisan. "We have a better team than Portland. We have more talent and more depth."

But the Portland Trail Blazers — not the Philadelphia 76ers — are the National Basketball Association champions, and Erving knows why.

"They are cohesive," he said. "They help each other out better than we do. Their consistency enabled them to win."

"They have mental conditioning that they've developed in practices all year. They stuck with their basic game plan, the one they had been successful with all year."

"We attack defenses and try to create things. It was a matchup of opposing styles, and theirs won out."

The Blazers won because, for all his individual brilliance, Erving could not offset the spotty play of his teammates.

George McGinnis was in a woeful slump which did not end until Sunday's final game of the best-of-seven series, won by Portland 109-107 to give the Blazers the title four games to two.

Doug Collins played well until the last two games, when he tailed off badly. Centers Caldwell Jones and Darryl Dawkins were inconsistent, key reserves Lloyd Free and Steve Mix were hampered by injuries and playmaker Henry Bibby had trouble keeping pace with Portland's speedier guards.

So, the team which had been conceded the championship by some people back in October, when Erving was purchased from the New York Nets, came up two victories short.

And the man who will take most of the heat for that shortcoming is Coach Gene Shue, who all along warned against expecting too much too soon.

"It takes time and hard work to mold a winning team," said Shue over and over. "The players have to know each other's moves and styles. It doesn't happen overnight."

And at least partly because of the undisciplined, free-spirited nature of the players Shue had to work with, the 76ers never did develop the cohesive-

DENVER (AP) — Tommy Lyon and John Rowers, starters last year for the Denver Broncos, have cleared waivers and been declared free agents, the National Football League team says.

Neither Lyon, a guard, nor Rowers, a safety, were claimed by another NFL club, a team spokesman said. Lyon is a six-year NFL veteran. Rowers has played in the league for nine seasons.

CLEVELAND (AP) — World Team Tennis Commissioner Butch Buchholz is expected to make a decision soon on whether to transsexual tennis player Dr. Renee Richards can join the Cleveland-Pittsburgh Nets. Richards signed with the Nets last week, but Buchholz says he will let her play only if the results of a sex test, involving chromosomes, are positive. Those results were scheduled to be announced today or Wednesday in New York.

Buchholz said he envisioned no problems with other WTT woman players if Dr. Richards passed the test.

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — Bob Hartsfield, a 27-year-veteran of baseball, has been named manager of the Geneva Cubs of the New York-Penn League. He replaces Jack Bloomfield, who became first base coach of the Chicago Cubs.

Hartsfield, 45, is the brother of Toronto Blue Jays Manager Roy Hartsfield.

Brown's First Hit Since 1971 Helps Expos Down Atlanta, 4-2

By TOM CANAVAN
AP Sports Writer

Pitchers may be notoriously bad hitters, but Jackie Brown carries that to extremes.

As a matter of fact, the last time Brown got a hit, he was playing for a team which no longer counts itself among the major league's active members — the Washington Senators.

"I guess the last hit I got was with the Senators in 1971 against the White Sox ... I even think I was two-for-three," Brown boasted.

But after six years, Brown is back in the hitting groove.

His first hit since 1971 drove home the Expos' second run and helped Montreal defeat the Atlanta Braves 4-2 Monday night.

In other National League action, San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 3-1 in 12 innings, St. Louis nipped San Diego 4-3 in 10 innings, Chicago defeated Los Angeles 3-1, Philadelphia whipped Houston 9-5 in a six-inning rain-shortened game, and the game between Cincinnati and New York was postponed by rain.

NL Roundup

"It shocked me as much as it did him," Brown said, referring to his run-scoring hit off Atlanta starter Frank LaCorte that gave the Expos a 2-0 lead.

Brown held the Braves hitless for 5 2-3 innings until Barry Bonnell singled past shortstop Chris Speier with two out in the sixth.

Gary Carter gave the Expos a 1-0 lead in the second, belting his 10th home run. Brown's single made it 2-0 later in the inning and the Expos added two runs in the fourth.

Cubs 3, Dodgers 1

Rick Reuschel pitched 6 1-3 strong innings and relief ace Bruce Sutter gained his 16th save as Chicago defeated Los Angeles, moving 1½ games ahead of Pittsburgh in the National League East.

The Cubs got two runs off Burt Hooton, 4-3, in the third inning on Bill Buckner's single and Jerry Morales' sacrifice fly. They added a run in the seventh off reliever Stan Wall on a walk, an error and a single by Bobby Murcer.

Giants 3, Pirates 1, 12 innings

Darrell Evans and Mike Sadek doubled home 12th-inning runs off Pittsburgh relief ace Rich Gossage, giving San Francisco the victory.

Willie McCovey's ninth homer of the season in the second inning off John Candelaria gave the Giants a 1-0 lead.

The Pirates, held scoreless through eight innings by rookie Bob Knepper, tied the score with a ninth-inning run. Al Oliver opened with his second double of the game, moved to third when Bill Robinson flied to center and scored when Rennie Stennett grounded into a force play at second base.

Phillies 9, Astros 5, 6 innings

Richie Hebner socked two home runs and drove in four runs and Mike Schmidt added his eighth homer of the season as Philadelphia took a rain-shortened victory over Houston.

Bob Watson led the Astros, driving in three runs with his seventh home run of the season.

Cardinals 4, Padres 3, 10 innings

Garry Templeton and Keith Hernandez delivered run-scoring hits in the bottom of the 10th, as St. Louis snapped a four-game losing streak.

After the Padres had grabbed a 3-2 lead in the top of the 10th on Bobby Valentine's double, the Cardinals rallied in the bottom of the inning.

Charlie O. Has His Dislikes

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

CHICAGO (AP) — There are three things that Charles O. Finley particularly dislikes — white baseballs, baseball commissioners and red ink.

To his mind, they are all related, contributing to the demise of the great national pastime.

"What baseball needs is leadership," the maverick owner of the Oakland A's told 160 sports editors, taking another pot shot at Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. "The stupidity of most of the club owners is unbelievable."

To illustrate his point, Charlie O. brought along three plastic baseballs of garrish orange and tossed them among the luncheon guests at The Associated Press Sports Editors convention. The balls were fielded nicely.

"See," he said, "if they had been white, you would have dropped all three."

The controversial Oakland boss then proceeded to present his own private prescription to rescue the game, to wit: (1), orange baseballs for better visibility; (2), a walk on three balls instead of four; (3), pinch hitters; (4), interleague play.

"In football, it's 11 men against 11," he said, "In basketball, five against five; in hockey six against six. In baseball, it's one against nine — one man out there with a bat."

"The catcher and pitcher go into cahoots on how to stop the batter. Then they send the signals out to the guys in the field. The trouble with baseball is it is out of balance. The offense ought to be balanced with the defense."

Finley insisted that baseball must break the strangle hold of tradition and "get a shot in the arm — it ought to be where the action is."

"We can't have a notary running baseball," he added, referring to Kuhn, a lawyer. "We've got to have someone who understands the game." He said he had a half dozen in mind but wouldn't name them.

Finley is a long time adversary of the baseball establishment, a paid-up tenant in the commissioner's dog house.

He has just appealed a $3.5 million suit which went against him Kuhn's voiding of a sale of three 1976 players. He says he is preparing another suit but refuses to give details.

Finley acknowledged he made a mistake in moving his franchise to Oakland from Kansas City and was convinced that the Bay Area could not support the A's as well as the San Francisco Giants.

The team never drew well, he said, even when it was winning five division titles and three straight World Series in the early 1970s.

Those were the years that Finley had players such as Reggie Jackson, Joe Rudi, Gene Tenace, Rollie Fingers, Sal Bando and Bert Campaneris, who all have gone to other clubs in the mammoth free agent turnover.

"We had no superstars on that team," Finley said. "What we had was a player above average at every position. Now these guys have scattered and look what happens when they don't have all of that help."

"Take Rudi, that cowboy (Gene Autrey, California Angels) told Rudi I'll give you a $1 million bonus and $1 million for the next five years" and Milwaukee paid $1.7 million for Bando. He was the worst fielding third baseman I ever saw."

Estes Named To Rice Post

Former East Carolina University assistant basketball coach George "Butch" Estes has been named as an assistant at Rice University.

Estes will join Mike Schuler's staff at the Houston, Texas, school, effective immediately. He will continue to be in Greenville, however, until around August 1.

Schuler, a former head coach at VMI and most recently an assistant at Virginia, was recently named to the head coaching position at Rice, part of a general housecleaning going on under athletic director Homer Rice, formerly of the University of North Carolina.

Estes' duties with Schuler will be to aid in the coaching and to handle recruiting.

A native of High Point, Estes graduated from High Point Central High School, where he played basketball. He received his undergraduate degree from the University of North Carolina, where he worked with the Tar Heel program under Dean Smith.

He then served as a graduate assistant at The Citadel for two years, coaching the junior varsity team. He had a 14-10 record, the best the team had recorded, including the first ever win over a South Carolina junior varsity team.

For the past four years, he has served as an assistant at East Carolina, coming here under Tom Quinn, and continuing under Dave Patton.

Estes is married to the former Ann Johnson of Charlotte.

Palmer One Of Few To Finish Qualifying Round Before Rain

By MONTE PLOTT
Associated Press Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Arnold Palmer outran a thunderstorm Monday to finish his qualifying rounds for the U.S. Open, but storm winds got the best of Palmer's puts on his final hole of the day.

Palmer and only a few others in the 129-man field in sectional qualifying for the Open managed to complete their 36 holes before a mixture of hail, rain and tempest winds shut down the competition.

Qualifying was to resume today on the Charlotte Country Club and Myers Park courses, with 40 spots to be filled here for the 153-man Open next week in Tulsa, Okla.

Bob E. Smith of Walea, Hawaii, set the pace Monday with two-under par golf on both courses for a 139.

Palmer, who won the Open in 1960, did not qualify under the 10 categories for a berth in the tournament so for the first time since 1969, he had to go through the 36-hole qualifying.

Palmer and several other golfers had finished the four-day Kemper Open just a day earlier, but Palmer was the last one to complain about having to play 18 holes on one course, then head across town for another 18.

"See, I've still got a lot of zip left," Palmer said, after leading John Schlee and Dave Eichelberger in a race up the 18th fairway as the rain began to fall.

"I think I played well today, pretty good," he said. "I wasn't concerned about anything but qualifying. I was pretty certain that 142 would make it, so there was no sweat."

For his 142, he turned in a bogey six on the 18th hole at Myers Park Country Club after blustery winds from the storm pushed a six-foot putt away from the cup.

As the threesome finished, the two-hour storm hit with hail and winds that tore limbs from trees.

Smith toured the 6,720-yard Charlotte Country Club layout in 69 strokes, then went across town to the 6,742-yard Myers Park course where he again went two-under with a 70.

George Archer was one stroke back after shooting a one-under 71 at Myers Park and a one-under 70 at Charlotte Country Club.

Palmer fired a par 71 at Charlotte Country Club. At Myers Park, he was one under par after nine holes and alternated birdies with pars for the first four holes on the back nine.

But he took four strokes on the par-3 15th hole, and had another bogey in his fight with the wind on the 18th for another 71.

John Lister of New Zealand finished with a 141 and Terry Diehl of Pittsford, N.Y., came in with 142. At 143 were Forrest Fezler of Hollister, Calif.; Vic Regalado of Coronado, Calif.; Barry Jaeckel of Maui, Hawaii; and John Schlee of Brownsville, Tex.

Another stroke back were Randy Glover of Johnsonville,

Larry Ziegler of Kiamasha Lake, N.Y.; and Ed Sneed of Pompano Beach, Fla., each shot 146 while Bob Galloway of Rock Hill, S.C., finished at 147 and Steve Forrest of Mout Airy turned a 148.

At 149 were Bob Murphy of Boyton Beach, Fla.; and Billy Sullivan of Jacksonville, Fla.

Dave Eichelberger of Waco, Tex., tallied 152.

Hunter's Back, And He's Glad; Tiant Says He's Never Been Gone

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
Catfish Hunter says he was glad to find it again. Luis Tiant insists he never lost it.

Hunter's expression of relief and Tiant's vote of self-confidence were voiced after the frustrated veteran pitchers claimed long-sought victories Monday night.

"Everything was working well. I kept feeling good, so they left me in there," said Hunter, who pitched a six-hit, leading the New York Yankees to a 9-2 victory over the Texas Rangers for his first triumph since opening day.

AL Roundup
Before his strong performance against the Rangers, Hunter had voiced fears about his future as a pitcher. "It's the most concerned I've ever been about my arm," said the former Cy Young Award winner who has been troubled by arm miseries all season.

Tiant, meanwhile, was exuding confidence after combining with Bill Campbell on a five-hit, 1-0 victory over the Kansas City Royals. It was Tiant's third victory of the season, but only his first since April 30.

"I know what I can do and I do it," said Tiant. "There's nothing wrong with my arm. Year after year, they talk about my age. They said that last year and I came back and won 21 games."

In other American League games, the Chicago White Sox beat the Minnesota Twins 9-5 in 12 innings, the Baltimore Orioles downed the Milwaukee Brewers 5-2, the Detroit Tigers blanked the California Angels 8-0 and the Cleveland Indians trimmed the Oakland A's 3-1.

Reggie Jackson hit two home runs and knocked in four runs in support of Hunter's sharp pitching. The 10th and 11th homers for Jackson gave Hunter, 2-3, a 3-0 lead and the eventual winning run.

The Yankees chased Alexander, 6-3, during a five-hit, four-run uprising in the seventh inning that included doubles by Carlos May, Mickey Rivers and Willie Randolph.

Red Sox 1, Royals 0
Carl Yastrzemski belted a home run in the seventh inning, providing the winning run for Tiant, who gave up just four hits before Campbell took over in the eighth.

Yastrzemski's homer, his ninth of the year, spoiled a solid pitching effort by Dennis Leonard, 3-6, who surrendered just five hits.

White Sox 9, Twins 5
Richie Zisk's fourth single drove across the deciding run and Oscar Gamble followed with a three-run homer in the 12th inning, giving Chicago its victory over Minnesota.

Zisk's hitting backed a good relief job by Lerrin LaGrew as the White Sox moved within one game of the division-leading Twins in the American League West.

Orioles 5, Brewers 2
Homers by Billy Smith and Lee May, coupled with the five-hit pitching of Rudy May, paced Baltimore over Milwaukee. Smith hit a solo home run to highlight a two-run first inning and May slugged a two-run shot in the fourth for his ninth home run of the year and his seventh in eight games.

Tigers 8, Angels 0
Mark Fidrych won his first game of the season with a seven-hitter and Jason Thompson and Ben Oglivie belted home runs as Detroit routed California. Fidrych's first-ever start at Anaheim Stadium drew a crowd of 38,551.

Fidrych, 1-2, struck out six and issued one walk. It was his first victory since coming off the disabled list May 24. He last won on Oct. 2, 1976 at Milwaukee. Fidrych suffered a torn cartilage in his left knee while shagging fly balls during spring training on March 21 and 10 days later underwent surgery.

Indians 3, A's 1
Pinch hitter Larvell Blanks broke a tie with a two-run single in the eighth inning, leading Cleveland over Oakland. Right-hander Pat Dobson, who went into the game with an 0-5 record and a 7.24 earned run average, struck out seven and walked one in 7 1-3 innings in earning the victory. He allowed six hits before needing relief help.

Words For The Wise

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If Floyd Bannister could sit down today and talk with the No. 1 choice in baseball's amateur free-agent draft, he'd have plenty to say.

"The first thing I'd tell him would be 'congratulations,' because it's quite an honor," said Bannister, who was the No. 1 choice in the draft a year ago. "Then I'd tell him to work hard and do the best you can. Don't worry about what people say. Hold your head up high and don't worry about the pressure."

Bannister, however, won't be available for that little talk. He is otherwise occupied as the Houston Astros' probable pitcher tonight in Philadelphia.

A left-hander out of Arizona State, Bannister is one of a half dozen former No. 1 selections currently playing in the major leagues. The others are Rick Monday, Tim Lincecum, Jeff Burroughs, Mike Ivie and Bill Almon. Another, Ron Blomberg, is on the disabled list.

"I was drafted right before the College World Series," said Bannister. "It really was a thrill. I knew I would go high but you can't really expect to be No. 1."

Pitching with the added burden of being the top amateur selection in the nation, Bannister beat Arizona in the first round of the College Series but then lost to Eastern Michigan. Arizona State finished third in the tournament.

"After it was over, I was tired, mentally and physically," said Bannister. "I took about a month off before I signed."

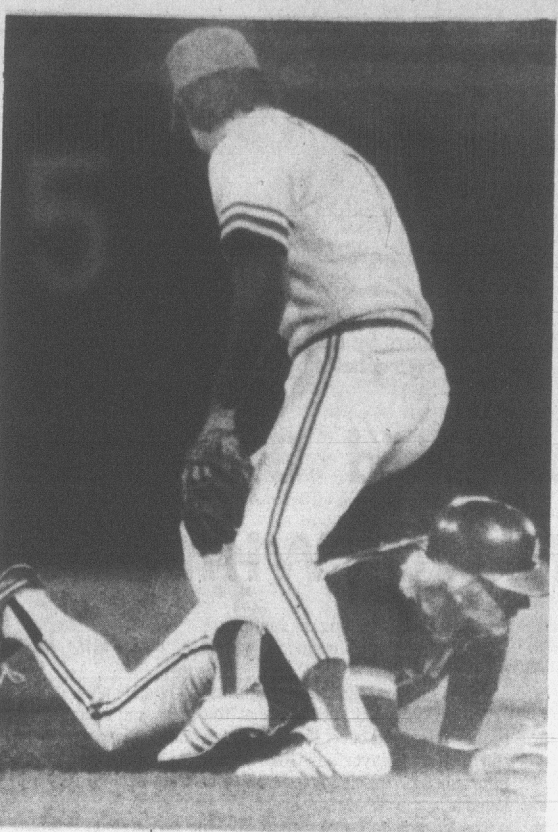

His early experiences as a professional were a melange of towns and teams in baseball's minor-league network. Today's No. 1 choice might be interested in the play-by-play.

"I started in Covington, Va., in the Appalachian League," he said. "I pitched 13 innings there with 27 strikeouts and no runs."

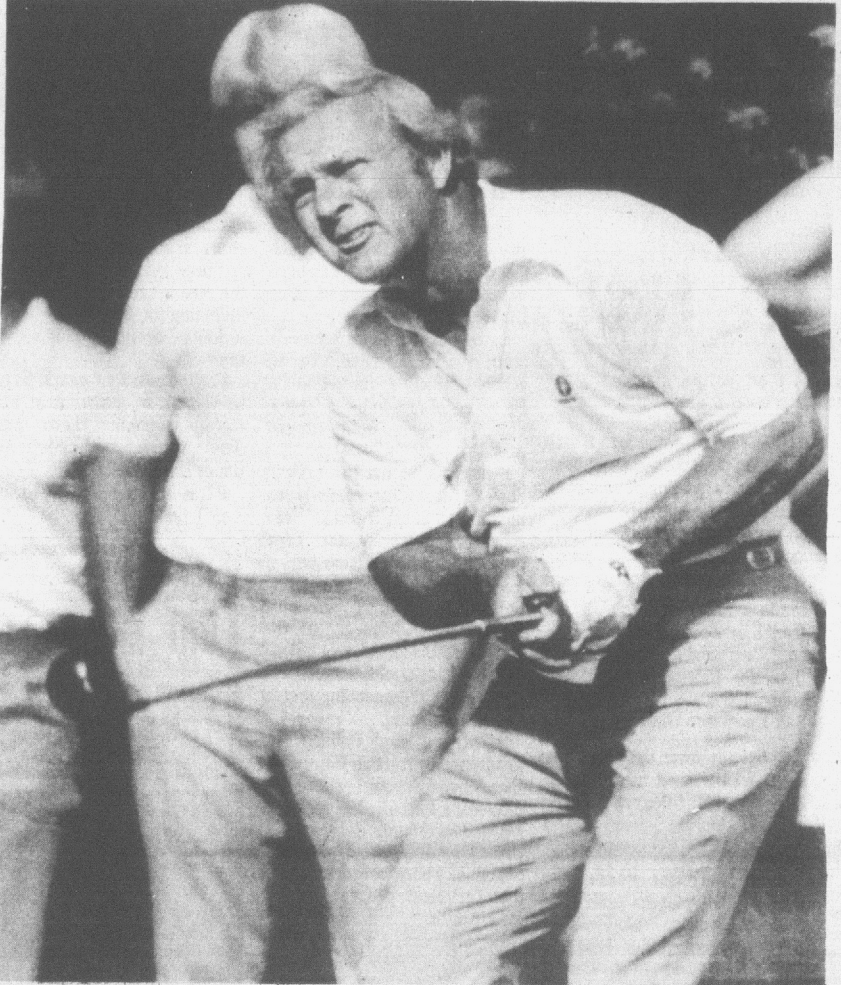

The next stop was Double A at Columbus, Ga., where he was 1-0 with a 1.50 earned run average. Then came Memphis of the International League, where the numbers were similar. That made three towns and three leagues. "And all in one month," said Bannister.

This year, Bannister went to spring training with the Astros and made the Houston pitching staff. Meanwhile, his old college team, Arizona State, is back in the College World Series which opens Friday at Omaha, Neb.

Today's regular phase of the draft deal with players never selected before. The No. 1 choice belonged to the Chicago White Sox.

Canadiens Adds Five To List

MONTREAL (AP) — During the 47 seasons in which the National Hockey League has named all-star teams, the Montreal Canadiens have had 70 players selected to the first team and 59 to the second, a total of 129 players of a possible 567.

The Canadiens added five to their total Monday night, placing four on this 1976-77 first team and one on the second in the voting conducted by the Professional Hockey Writers' Association.

Dionne's selection was the first for a Los Angeles player to the first team while Salming was the first Toronto player to be named to the first team since the late Tim Horton gained a defense berth during the 1968-69 season.

Lafleur and Shutt were the only unanimous choices — 270 points on 54 first-place votes based on a 5-3-1 point basis.

Lafleur, the NHL's scoring champion during the last two seasons, and Dryden were the only repeaters on the first team. Salming, Lapointe, Perreault and Martin were second-team selections last year.

It was the third time Dryden was selected to the first team, while Robinson, Dionne and Shutt were making their first appearances on either team.

Players get $2,000 for a first-team selection and $1,000 for a second-team berth.

Owners Try To Find Solution For Barons

MONTREAL (AP) — The National Hockey League's Board of Governors was to convene the formal segment of its convention today and attempt a final resolution of the continued troubles of the Cleveland Barons.

The governors were to listen to George Gund, who might be willing to purchase the Barons in partnership with Sanford Greenberg, owner of the team's Richfield Coliseum home arena.

Alan Eagleson, executive director of the NHL Players Association, said Monday he had heard that Greenberg had decided to withdraw from a reported deal. He said that Mel Swig, who bought the club from the league during the summer of 1975, would fold the franchise if that was the case.

"George Gund is supposed to fly in here," said Gordon Ritz, governor of the Minnesota North Stars. "He is going to make some kind of proposal. Then we are going to decide whether it is feasible for the club to start and finish the 1977-78 season."

The Barons lost more than $2 million last year after moving from Oakland, where they were known as the California Seals.

One of the major concerns the league has is the Barons' debt to Charles O. Finley, who sold the club to the NHL in 1974.

Once the Barons' matter was discussed, there was to be a report by NHL Referee in Chief Scotty Morrison. His report was not expected to take up much time, but the Cleveland problem would, so the governors might not get a chance to talk merger.

There was bound to be some heated words when the discussion began.

"I think there are some people on the extreme ends and there is a whole group in the middle," said Ritz. "The group in the middle wants to review any proposal."

"I would like to see the proposal our fact-finding committee has made with the WHA before I decide which way we are going to go."

Leading the pro-merger force is Ed Snider of the Philadelphia Flyers. The most outspoken anti-merger man has been Harold Ballard, president of the Toronto Maple Leafs.

"I have been quite disturbed about this thing they call amalgamation or expansion," said Ballard. "It's not amalgamation, it's expansion. The survey I've made shows there are seven that are definitely not interested in the WHA."

The seven teams Ballard named Monday were the Boston Bruins, Buffalo Sabres, Detroit Red Wings, Los Angeles Kings, Chicago Black Hawks, the Leafs, Colorado Rockies and probably the New York Islanders.

But Seymour Knox of the Sabres said Monday night he had not made up his mind on the matter and was going into the discussions ready to listen.

Sam Pollock, general manager of the Montreal Canadiens, was surprised "that people are going to vote yes or no about something they don't know about" after someone asked him about Ballard's stand.

"The whole thing is still in the talking stage. Everything is unofficial everywhere, but all the possibilities are still there."

Pollock would not say he favored expansion but added that "it doesn't cost anything to listen."

Newly-Released Movie Sets Theater Records

By MIKE GOODKIND
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The good men wear white, the bad guys wear black and there's no sex, character development or social criticism. But "Star Wars" has managed to break theater records all over the country, and to send 20th Century Fox's fortunes rocketing. By Monday, 12 days after its premiere, the George Lucas science fiction epic that took $9 million to make had grossed $5.2 million in 45 theaters.

The biggest moneymaking movie of all time was "Jaws," which took in $192 million. "Jaws" grossed $21 million in its first 10 days, but that was in 409 theaters.

The day before "Star Wars" opened, Fox stock was selling for $11.75 per share. When trading closed Monday, it was at $21.

"We can't see any other reason than 'Star Wars' for the way the stock has taken off," said Phillip Myers, Fox's director of corporate affairs.

The country apparently was ready for an escapist movie.

Among the good guys in the flick are two robots, See-Three (C3PO) and Artoo-Detoo (R2D2), and a hairy creature named Chewbecca, who copilot a space cruiser.

The human hero's name is Luke Skywalker. He's played by Mark Hamill. Skywalker finds that he stands between the villainous Galactic Empire and the destruction of freedom in the galaxy. With the help of a laser-like sword called a "lightsaber," he comes to the rescue.

The special effects for all this have won critical raves.

Theatergoers are "seeing something they can't possibly live as a normal human being," said Ashley Boone, marketing vice president for Fox, who is looking longingly to the end of the month when "Star Wars" goes into hundreds more theaters.

Albert Szabo, the 58-year-old manager of the Avco Cinema Center in Los Angeles, said, "I have never seen anything like this in 30 years in the business. They are filling the theater for every single performance. This isn't a snowball, it's an avalanche."

The reason, he said, is obvious.

"During the last number of years we have had a whole lot of message pictures which had a social message of some kind," he said. "The message pictures imply subtle re-education. But the public doesn't want to be re-educated. It wants sheer entertainment."

"People need heroes, he added. 'They are tired of rooting for murderers and criminals.'"

About Women, And For Women

By LINDA KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It's a show about women, by women, for women, but producer Roxanne Russell does not want her public television series "Womantime & Co." classified as a feminist show. "We're really aiming for a broad spectrum of women who wouldn't consider themselves feminists but certainly are interested in what's happening to women these days," said Ms. Russell. "We're feminists, but soft feminists. We're not trying to preach a doctrine."

The show started two years ago at KQED in San Francisco. After a second successful season this year, 144 of the nation's 156 public broadcast stations bought the show for the 1978 season.

"Womantime & Co." is the brainchild of Martha Gleasing, who was KQED's membership director when she began lobbying to offer women some alternatives to the traditional daytime programming of game shows and soap operas.

"The people who program for women at the networks are not at all concerned about where women really are, except to change the story line of some soap operas to include women doctors or a segment on abortion," said Mrs. Gleasing.

She said a Nielsen rating their first season discovered that "Womantime" had picked up about 10,000 homes per week from the daytime viewing market.

Madeline David, vice president of daytime programming for NBC, said about 85 per cent of daytime viewers are women and "if you gauge what they want by what they look at, they are getting pretty much what they want." She said soap operas continue to be extremely popular and experiments with some alternate kinds of programs mostly have been unsuccessful on commercial television.

The show's magazine format combines film remotes and live and taped interviews. Women guests have included California Chief Justice Rose Bird, activist Justice Joan Baez and director Antonia Brico. The topics have ranged from childbirth and contraception to women artists and housewives.

"Sign on the Dotted Line," a show on the need for women to plan their financial security, won an Emmy for outstanding achievement from the Northern California chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. The same group awarded "Womantime" a second Emmy for a show on women and religion.

Ms. Russell said she tries to seek out average women, as well as prominent ones. One of next season's shows features San Francisco's "Cable Car Lady" — octogenarian Frieda Klusmann who led the fight to save the city's famous rickety mode of transportation. Another will be on menopause.

"We like to show people changing patterns," Ms. Russell said. "We want to share them with people, saying this is interesting, what do you think about it?"

She said they have received a handful of complaints from women who would like to see the show take a heavier feminist stance, but they also have heard from housewives who enjoyed "Womantime" because it wasn't too political.

GOREN BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF
©1977 by Chicago Tribune

so North had just enough to go on to game.

West led the queen of hearts, and it was obvious that declarer would have to set up dummy's clubs to make his contract. However, if he goes after clubs immediately, the contract will fail. Even if declarer makes four club tricks, he will have only eight tricks. When he first concedes a club, the defenders will knock out the remaining heart stopper, and when West gets in with the ace of diamonds, he will run three heart tricks.

Once declarer realizes that he will need a diamond trick in addition to four club tricks, the winning line is easy to spot. West is marked with the ace of diamonds for his opening bid, so at trick two declarer must lead a low diamond.

If West rises with the ace of diamonds to knock out the last heart stopper, he sets up the whole diamond suit for declarer, and one club trick is sufficient for the contract. So West must duck, but that isn't any better. After the king of diamonds wins, declarer returns to hand with the king of spades and takes a club finesse. East wins and returns a heart, but declarer repeats the club finesse for his contract.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1977

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you need to use the utmost tact and diplomacy in dealing with other persons since there is an unusual sensitivity in the air. As the day progresses you find conditions improving.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Attend to those duties ahead of you without delay and don't ask others for help. Not a good day to ask for advice.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be sure not to tread on the rights of others today or you could meet with stiff opposition. You can now gain a long-cherished desire.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Anything of a civic nature needs to be handled carefully at this time. Be certain you handle credit affairs wisely.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July) You feel you want to delve into new projects that are interesting, but it is better to await a better day.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't neglect obligations you must meet today. Your mate may be moody, but don't antagonize. Think clearly and speak concisely.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Pay close attention to the wishes of others today, particularly where your associates are concerned. Strive for increased success.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take extra time to delve in and handle important tasks. Fellow workers are not very cooperative now, so carry on by yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be cheerful, even though those around you, may be morose for some reason. Don't spend too lavishly on amusements that appeal to you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) An outside venture should await a better time before going ahead with it. Establish more harmony with kin.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Recheck a routine matter today and avoid a costly mistake. Being critical of an associate could bring unpleasant results now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Not a good day to delving into financial matters since your judgment now is not up to par. Try to be helpful to others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be positive in any business dealings you may have today. Not a good day for group affairs. Avoid one who is your nemesis.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have a knack for getting into all sorts of trouble, so teach to solve problems instead of creating them and then this becomes a successful chart. There is musical talent here that should be well trained.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Diabetes Ass'n Festival Slated

The Kinston-Lenoir County Chapter of the American Diabetes Association will hold an all-day festival to raise funds for a day camp for diabetic children Saturday.

Events will start at 10 a. m. and continue into the evening. They will be held at the Neuse Valley Riverside Recreation Park. There will be games, rides, food, prizes and a live radio broadcast.

The special event will be a fish-stew cooking contest. Entrants in both the fish stew contest and the talent contest may call 523-8011.

There will be a special motor-race and demonstration.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE OF REAL ESTATE IN THE GENERAL COURT OF JUSTICE BEFORE THE CLERK No. 77-58

North Carolina
Wilson County

THE MATTER OF THE FORECLOSURE OF A DEED OF TRUST EXECUTED BY WILLIAM BOOKER AND WINNIE M. SHERMAN BOOKER, Dated June 8, 1973 and recorded July 18, 1973 in Book 41, Page 197, of the County Register, by Bobby G. Abrams, Substituted Trustee

Under and by virtue of the power and authority contained in that certain deed of trust dated June 8, 1973, executed by William A. Booker and wife, Winnie M. Sherman Booker, and duly recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds for Pitt County, North Carolina, in Book W 41, in which Willard Gourley, Jr. was named Trustee, and under which Bobby G. Abrams was named Substituted Trustee by instrument dated January 28, 1977, and recorded in Book J 45, Page 733, of the County Register, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness thereby secured, and pursuant to the demand of the owner and holder of the indebtedness secured thereby, and after notice and hearing and findings of facts by the Clerk of Superior Court of Pitt County dated April 22, 1976, and done in accordance with North Carolina General Statutes 45-21.16, the undersigned Trustee will, at 12:00 on June 10, 1977, at the usual place of sale at the Pitt County Courthouse, offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash, at public auction, that certain real estate property, and the improvements thereon, as described as lying and being in the City of Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, and more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at a stake in the northern property line of North Village Drive, said stake being the southeast corner of Lot 14, Block "D", and being the southwest corner of Lot 13-X, Block D, running thence in a northerly direction along the dividing line between Lots 13-X and 14, 110 feet to a stake, a corner; thence in an easterly direction along the northern boundary of Lots Nos. 13-X and 14, 60 feet to a stake, a corner; thence in a southerly direction and parallel with the first line 110 feet to a stake, a corner, said stake being in the northern property line of North Village Drive; thence in a westerly direction and with the northern property line of North

Notice of Sale of 1976 Tax Leins on Real Property Town of Winterville

Under and by virtue of the power vested in me by the laws of the State of North Carolina and the Winterville Town Board, I will on Monday, June 13, 1977 in front of the Municipal Building expose for sale to the highest bidder for cash, the following real estate for unpaid taxes for the year 1976. Interest in the amount of 5 percent has already accumulated on these taxes.

When Brazil won the 1976 World Bridge Olympiad, it became the first small country (in the sense of bridge) to break the stranglehold of the Big Four (Italy, France, Great Britain and the United States) who have dominated world championship play in the modern era. Brazil's anchor partnership was Gabriel Chagas and Pedro Paulo Assumpcao. Chagas submitted his bit of wisdom to the second Bols Bridge Tips competition; now Assumpcao has his opportunity in the third Bols contest.

In most deals, says Assumpcao, declarer soon identifies the type of play he needs to make his contract—for instance, suit establishment, or knocking out an entry. However, that may not be enough to bring home the contract. The secret often lies in the timing.

Consider this hand, where South balanced with one no trump after West's one heart opening bid was passed round to him. In the balancing position, one no trump shows no more than the equivalent of an opening bid,
