HARVEST TIME — It's the time of the year again when the smell of curing tobacco fills the air. One of the first farms preparing tobacco for curing is the Burnice and Johnny Harris farm near Winterville. Above a worker hands tobacco for placement in the barn. Harris said that the large amount of rain the occurred earlier in the summer did stunt the growth of his crop causing about 15 percent damage. The Harrises have about 32 acres of tobacco. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Council Holds Public Hearing On 1977-78 Budget Proposals

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The City Council will hold a workshop soon to consider items recommended at last night's budget hearing on the proposed 1977-78 city and Greenville Utilities Commission budgets.

The meeting attracted only a few citizens and budget comments concerned the operation of the Pitt-Greenville Airport and Sheppard Memorial Library as well as general endorsement of the proposed programs by the League of Women Voters.

Les Fuchs of Alpha Aviation Inc. questioned the practice of the Airport Authority in selling fuel and said that it represented competition through the city for its company.

The city, along with Pitt County, budgets a subsidy for the Authority and recommended funds in the new budget include $22,000 for airport operations and $18,000 for capital improvements at the facility.

Fuchs contended that the city should not be in competition with private enterprise and he cited savings that could be realized if private enterprise had fuel sale authority.

J. T. Little Jr., chairman of the Airport Authority, challenged Fuchs' comments and said that the Alpha Aviation spokesman was incorrect in his assessment of "who subsidizes what."

Little explained that the fuel sales made by the Authority subsidize the operation of the airport and without those sales, the Authority's request to the city and county would be even higher.

The chairman urged the Council to approve the airport budget segment.

Patricia Dunn of the Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters commended City Manager Jim Caldwell on behalf of the League for presenting "a most responsible and fiscally sound budget this year."

She said that the League commended and supported the full funding of Volunteer Greenville and its inclusion as a permanent position in the Human Relations Department, the creation of the post of administrative assistant to the city manager, parkland funds allocations for Club Pines, reallocation of funding for the bikeway-greenway project along Green Mill Run, the budgeted support of Sheppard Memorial and the new Library-Recreation Center, and the setting up of contingency funds in departments that have not had them previously. Ms. Dunn said that the League questioned the need for a music system piped into city hall and also the high cost proposed for the engineer's calculator ($1,900).

In addition, she said that, "In a spirit of openness in government, we would suggest that the salary range of department heads be printed in the budget along with those of other staff."

Ann Frost, chairman of the Sheppard Memorial Library board, said that the only significant increase requested by the library for the new year involved the addition of the Pitt County Information Center at Sheppard.

She said that the library appreciated the fact that Caldwell had recommended acceptance of the library budget.

Mayor Percy Cox, who noted that the Council had held one budget workshop already, told the gathering that a lot of work remains to be done on the new package before adoption.

Caldwell has proposed a budget and capital improvements program for the city and GUCO amounting to $36,550,673. The city's general government expenditures total $7,178,727 in the new budget while GUCO's segment of the package totals $29,371,946.

The Council took action on several other items last night, including:

Deferring action on an application by Pipeline, located in the basement of the Proctor Hotel, for an on-premise beer and wine privilege license until repairs to the facility are complete in accordance with code regulations;

Approval of a request by the Greenville Jaycees for permission to display fireworks during the July 4th celebration;

Approval of a request by the Jaycees for a waiver of the privilege license requirements of the City Code to allow the sale of concessions during the celebration;

Approval of an application by Woodrow W. Vines for a taxicab operator's permit;

Approval of the purchase of the city's matching share of retirement credits for Lt. R. B. Elks and Capt. Claude H. Christopher;

Adoption of a resolution authorizing the execution of a night depository agreement at official depositories of the city;

Approval of amendment to the current city budget transferring $500 in the contingency funds from the Moyewood program to the Human Relations budget;

Resolutions approving final nine-months' funding of the Police Legal Advisor project, final nine-months' funding of the Police Juvenile Officer project, and final three and one-half months' funding of the Crime Prevention project; and

Adoption of a resolution approving matching funds in the amount of $7,600 for the purchase of two police patrol vehicles. Application has been made to the Governor's Highway Safety Program for a grant for 50 per cent funding of the two vehicles.

Von Braun, Rocket Pioneer, Is Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Wernher von Braun, the German-born rocket pioneer whose talents helped the United States put men on the moon, died Thursday after a long bout with cancer. He was 65.

Von Braun had been in poor health for sometime. He was operated on in 1975 for removal of a malignant liver tumor and had maintained a sharply curtailed schedule since that time. He died at Alexandria Hospital in suburban Virginia.

Last year, he had a recurrence of cancer, coupled with an infection that developed following surgery. He spent long stretches in the hospital, including a final stay beginning last October.

Even while hospitalized he continued limited work on his job as vice president of engineering and development for Fairchild Industries. He joined Fairchild in 1972, and worked mainly on space projects until he retired last Jan. 1.

Von Braun spent much of his time in the hospital reading, visiting with family and friends and selecting papers for a permanent collection that will be exhibited at the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala.

Once bitterly hated by the Free World, von Braun became its top rocket expert after he and 129 other German rocket experts surrendered to the United States shortly before the end of World War II.

The man who once helped design the dreaded V-2 rocket for Adolf Hitler designed the U.S. Army's Jupiter C rocket that allowed his new country to recoup some of the prestige lost when Russia launched the first space satellite in 1957.

Von Braun told President

Dwight D. Eisenhower well before the Russian Sputnik launching that his team had the capability of putting a satellite into orbit around the earth. But Eisenhower wanted to use a rocket developed for nonmilitary uses for the first effort to emphasize the peaceful uses of space and von Braun was turned down.

Sputnik and the subsequent failure of the Vanguard rocket, America's much publicized first attempt to rocket a satellite into space, forced Eisenhower to turn to von Braun.

On Jan. 31, 1958, the Jupiter C lifted off, carrying a 30-pound satellite called Explorer into an elliptical orbit and giving the U.S. program its first success.

Von Braun also was instrumental in designing a longer-range Jupiter rocket, the Saturn 1 booster and the massive 36-story-tall Saturn 5 rocket that powered men beyond the earth's gravity and sent them to a soft landing on the lunar surface.

Von Braun came to the United States in September of 1945 under contract to the U.S. Army. He and his men spent five years at Ft. Bliss, Tex., working on the V2 rocket they had developed in Germany. They were transferred to the Army's Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., in 1950 to develop the Redstone missile, the forerunner of the Jupiter C.

In 1955, von Braun became a U.S. citizen.

Liquor Bill To House Floor

RALEIGH (AP) — The House Finance Committee approved liquor by the drink legislation today and sent the Senate-passed bill to the House floor for action which is expected Wednesday.

Committee approval came on a close voice vote following a brief discussion.

However, the committee action was not regarded as a test of the bill since Rep. Bob Farmer, D-Wake, committee chairman, stressed that the committee's task was to pass on the tax aspects of the bill and not the philosophy of liquor by the drink. He said House Speaker Carl Stewart agreed that was the committee's function.

As a matter of fact, Rep. Fred Dorsey, R-Henderson, who moved for a favorable report, later told a newsman he reserved the right to vote against the bill on the House floor.

"I think we ought to give the entire House the opportunity to debate the merits of this bill," Dorsey said.

Senate Is Unwilling To Endorse Carter's Troop Withdrawal Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Expressing its own views on foreign affairs, the Senate is unwilling to endorse President Carter's proposal to withdraw U.S. ground troops from South Korea.

Senators also don't want to impose preconditions on talks which could lead to normalized relations with Cuba, and are making it clear they are not prepared to accept any administration proposal for aid or reparations to Vietnam.

The Carter administration has not recommended any such assistance for the communist government in Vietnam.

The Senate made its views known on foreign affairs on Thursday during a 10-hour debate on a $1.6 billion State Department authorization bill. The measure passed 64-21.

The Senate dropped from the bill a provision recommended by the Foreign Relations Committee endorsing the timing and wisdom of the proposed pullout of ground forces from Korea.

Instead it voted 79-15 that any reduction or withdrawal should be ordered only after a "joint decision by the President and Congress." The provision was written by Majority Leader Robert Byrd.

The vote made it clear that the Senate wants to be consulted on any withdrawal, a concept on which it is still sharply divided.

Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker said the vote was a defeat for the President. Baker and other senators said that withdrawal over four or five years, as Carter is proposing, could tempt North Korea to invade the South and could lead to a possible war involving the United States.

Baker and other senators said that besides the possibility of a possible invasion, the troop withdrawal proposal could upset the military stability of much of Asia. They said it could encourage the resurgence of Japanese militarism by posing a military threat to that country's security.

Carter has said the troop withdrawal he proposes would involve ground forces only. He has said the United States remains firm in its commitment and will to defend South Korea from attack and intends to maintain air and naval forces equipped with nuclear weapons to carry out that commitment.

County Budget Is Reviewed

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners, in a late-afternoon session, made few changes in recommendations made by County Manager Reginald Gray, as they reviewed the proposed 1977-1978 budget.

Yesterday, the board approved two new employees for the Department of Social Services. Earlier this week, commissioners gave tentative approval for an assistant to the county fire marshal, a heating and air conditioning mechanic for the Buildings and Grounds department, and a radio dispatcher for the Sheriff's Department as well as an additional agricultural extension agent.

The six new employees that have received tentative approval by the board contrast with the 15 recommended initially by Gray in his budget message. Various county agencies and departments have requested 35 new workers for the coming fiscal year.

The major item the board dealt with yesterday was approval of the mandatory grants budget for the Department of Social Services.

Initially $860,000 had been requested by the department and recommended by Gray, but State officials had considered the sum too low. So last night, the board gave tentative approval to a $893,120 figure recommended by the State.

The grants budget — which commissioners are required by law to fund — includes such programs as Medicaid, aid for dependent children, and others.

The AFDC funds alone totaled $516,600 as recommended by the State, while Medicaid costs amounted to $242,000.

Commissioners also tentatively approved Pitt Technical Institute's funds for the coming year as recommended by Gray amounting to some $336,400, including $88,000 for capital improvements and $248,400 for current expense items.

Commissioners, next week, will review the biggest portion of the budget, that to be earmarked for current expense and capital outlay items for the city and county public school systems.

Porn Bill Zips Through Senate

RALEIGH (AP) — With little discussion, the state Senate approved and sent to the House today a bill aimed at closing down adult book stores and movie theaters.

Critics of the measure have called it unconstitutional, but there was no opposition expressed on the floor. The bill passed on a 39-3 vote.

Sponsored by Sen. I. Beverly Lake, D-Wake, the bill would allow citizens, a district attorney or the attorney general's office to file a civil suit against a book store or theater, claiming the establishment is a public nuisance.

"This bill is specifically directed to the so-called adult book stores and X-rated movie houses," Lake said.

The measure would not abolish pornography, he said. It would put it back where it was 20 or more years ago, he said. "By this bill we can take pornography off our main streets."

Any business that is declared a nuisance because it deals in pornographic materials would be closed and its contents confiscated. If a citizen were to bring the action, he would be required to post a minimum bond of $500 to be set by a Superior Court judge. That is aimed at protecting businesses from harassment.

An effort by Sen. I.C. Crawford, D-Buncombe, to raise the minimum bond to $5,000 was defeated on a 12-29 vote. Crawford said he believed a person filing an action against a business "ought to be willing to put his money where his mouth is."

The mountaineer made it clear, however, that he supported the measure. "I'm for this bill right or wrong, constitutional or unconstitutional."

No one spoke against the bill.

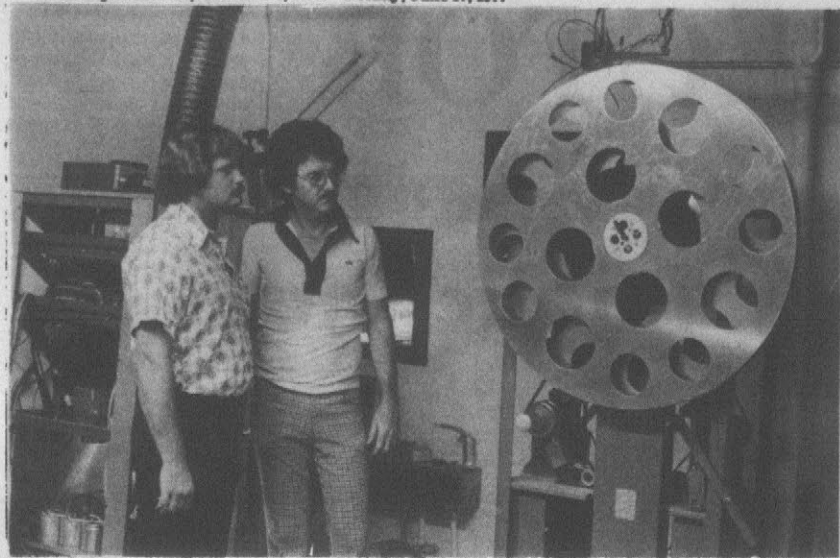

"A lot of people think adults should have the right to consume all the filth they want to," Sen. Robert Swain, D-Buncombe, said in support of the bill, adding that children are influenced by pornography because they are guided by the actions of adults.

The commerce investigations subcommittee, headed by Moss, continues hearings on the cartel today with testimony from former and present Gulf officials who attended meetings of the cartel around the world.

Gulf admits participating in the cartel through its Canadian uranium-producing subsidiary, but says it was compelled by the Canadian government to join the organization. It contends that one of the witnesses scheduled to testify today, L.T. Gregg, a former of-

Moviegoers in Greenville will have an additional 600 seats available for viewing "moving pictures" beginning tonight.

Tonight's the grand opening date of Greenville's newest movie theaters, Buccaneer One and Buccaneer Two. The two, housed in one building located on Arlington Boulevard in Greenville Square Shopping Center (just north of Greenville Boulevard), officially open their doors to the public when box offices open at 6 p.m.

Ronald (Ron) Eagon, native of Birmingham, Alabama, and an Army veteran of ten years service, is manager of the new theaters. In the midst of last minute preparations, Eagon took time out to explain up-to-date equipment and fixtures that are being used in the theaters.

"These are the first theaters in North Carolina to use the type of projection equipment we have installed," Eaton said. "We have the Orcon computerized projectors, which are fully automated. This allows us to show an entire movie on one reel without a break."

Eaton said the projector included an Orcon-2 Tower, a large metal reel of about 39 inches in diameter. An operating technician added "the reel will hold 13,000 feet of film."

John Z. Williams, a technician with Optical Radiation Corporation of Azusa, California, was in Greenville this week to put finishing touches on installing and fine-tuning the modern equipment.

Buccaneer One and Two are owned by F. R. Lloyd, Jr. and

Tommy Bradford, of Fayetteville, owner-operators of the Cape Fear Theater Inc., chain. Eaton said the Greenville facility "brings to eight the number of screens operative in the Cape Fear chain."

It was in 1975, after ten years of active duty in the U.S. Army, that Eaton decided to give up a military career and go into civilian life.

"My military career was spent mostly in the Armed Forces Radio and Television Network," Eaton explained. "At some stations I worked as an announcer, at others as station manager."

Among military stations to which he was assigned were ones in Vincenza, Italy; Seoul, Korea; Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Indiana; and Ft. Benning, Georgia.

"I enjoyed my Army service," Eaton commented, "but I felt the time had come for me to get out and make a civilian career." Eaton is married to the former Linda Strickland, and they have two young daughters, Rhonda and Olivia.

Tonight's inaugural film at Buccaneer One is The Eagle Has Landed, a story of 16 German paratroopers who landed in England in 1943. Show times are 7:15 and 9:45 p.m. for the Columbia Pictures production.

At Buccaneer Two, the Warner Communications Company film, The Heretic, has show times of 7 and 9:30 p.m.

Both auditoriums feature lounge type seating, and there is a refreshment stand. The screen for each theater are the cinema-curve type, measuring 15 by 32 and one-half feet.

Suarez Turns Toward Economic Problems

By LOUIS NEVIN
Associated Press Writer
MADRID, Spain (AP) — Bolstered by the prospect of a near-majority in Spain's first elected parliament in four decades, Premier Adolfo Suarez gave top priority today to meeting the nation's deepening economic crisis.

A spokesman for Suarez' Democratic Center Union (UDC) said the economic situation would be the primary problem for the new government the 44-year-old premier will form. The fight to solve the crisis must have "the support of all Spanish political forces," he declared.

Political sources said devaluation of the peseta was being considered to make Spanish exports more competitive.

Spain's annual inflation rate is more than 20 per cent, one of the highest in Western Europe. Unemployment is also high, increased by the return home of Spanish laborers laid off in France, West Germany and Switzerland. This has also cut off an important supply of foreign currency and of funds for the workers' families. Industrial development has been stalled by uncertainty over the political future.

The cabinet, most of whom Suarez inherited from Francoist Premier Carlos Aria Navarro last July, is expected to resign this weekend so the premier can form a government reflecting the outcome of the election Wednesday.

Final official results of the voting were expected tonight. But the Interior Ministry said it appeared that Suarez' moderate coalition would get 170 of the 350 seats in the Chamber of Deputies, only six short of a majority in the lower house of the new Cortes.

The ministry figured the Socialist Workers party headed by Felipe Gonzales would get 116 seats, the Communists would have 20, dictator Francisco Franco's disciples in the right-wing Popular Alliance would get only 17, and Catalan and Basque regional parties would each get 10.

Regional parties in Galicia, Valencia and the Canary Islands were shut out, along with the Maoists, the Trotskyites and the Christian Democrats.

The 248-member Senate probably will include 106 UDC members, 60 Socialists, 8 Communists and 1 member of the Popular Alliance, the Interior Ministry said. Most of the 41 senators appointed by King Juan Carlos also are expected to support Suarez, giving him a solid majority in the upper house.

Spanish papers hailed the election as a "triumph of moderation" and praised the orderly way in which it was conducted. Fourteen small bombs exploded, most of them before the polls opened, and only a few other minor incidents were reported.

Suarez is committed to forge ahead with the restoration of democracy to Spain. He also is expected to press for speedy admission of Spain to the European Common Market, which balked at accepting Spain before the establishment of a democratically elected government.

Attend Sessions

Three staff technologists with the Pitt Memorial Hospital Radiology Department attended training sessions recently.

Lindsey Beddard, R.T., attended a Dupont Daylight Training School in Atlanta June 14-16.

Linda Worthington, R.T., and Edna Moore, R.T., recently attended a Picker Corporation Ultrasound Customer Training Course in Cleveland, Ohio, June 6-10.

Public Hearing

GRIMESLAND — A public hearing on the budget of the Town of Grimesland for the fiscal year beginning July 1 will be held Monday, June 27, at 7 p.m. in the Town Hall.

The budget of $47,035.18 has been submitted to the Board of Aldermen and tentatively approved by them. A copy is on file in the office of Town Clerk Mrs. Annabelle Heath. The hearing will also include the use of General Revenue Sharing Funds. Oral and/or written comments will be received from any interested citizen, Mayor Ruby G. Hodges said.

AEOP Sets Meetings

All members of the Association of Educational Office Personnel are urged to attend the June meeting to be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Home Savings and Loan on Evans Street.

Estimates show that 8 in 10 of all women visit a physician at least once a year while the male ratio is 7 in 10, says the Health Insurance Institute.

Apply Early

Ray Midgett, revenue officer, urges taxpayers who are liable for state privilege licenses to apply before July 1.

According to Midgett, timely applications for licenses should be mailed to the North Carolina Department of Revenue, P. O. Box 25000, Raleigh, 27640, or submitted to the local North Carolina Department of Revenue Office.

He advises that the penalty for failure to comply will be five per cent for each delinquent month, or fraction thereof after July 1.

Trail Cooling In Camp Deaths

LOCUST GROVE, Okla. (AP) — The chances that tracking dogs can find the killer of three Girl Scouts will decrease unless the dogs pick up the scent of the slayer soon, authorities say.

Meanwhile, officials are awaiting evaluation of evidence gathered at Camp Scott, where the girls' bodies were found Monday. Two of them were beaten to death in their sleeping bags and one was strangled. All were sexually molested.

Nine-year-old Michelle Guse, of Broken Arrow, was to be buried today. Funerals for the Lori Lee Farmer, 8, and Doris Denise Milner, 10, both of Tulsa, were held Wednesday and Thursday.

The dogs' trainer, Don Laken of Philadelphia, worked the rugged, scenic area 45 miles northeast of Tulsa most of the day Thursday, beginning at 5 a.m.

He said the dogs — two German Shepherds and a German cattle dog — have been successful on tracking assignments 100 times in 100 attempts.

Served As Pages

1 1/2 cups (1/2 pound) lentils
2 1/2 cups water
Salt
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium onion, diced medium-fine
1 medium green pepper, diced medium-fine
1 large yellow Delicious apple, pared and diced medium-fine
Pepper
Grated cheddar cheese

Bring the lentils, water and 1 teaspoon salt to a boil; boil gently, covered, until lentils are tender but not mushy and water is almost all absorbed — about 30 minutes. In a 10-inch skillet in the hot butter, gently cook the onion, green pepper and apple until the vegetables are tender-crisp; carefully stir in the lentils; reheat, adding extra salt and pepper to taste.

Pass the cheese. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Write Off 'Cheap' Lesson

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I saw an ad in a New York newspaper that read as follows: "Marijuana cannot be sold through the mails, but 'grass' can. Send $5 for a full quarter-ounce." I sent a $5 bill together with my name and address, and I received in return a quarter-ounce of LAWN CLIPPINGS! This is clearly a fraudulent scheme. How can I get my money back?

"HAD": FIRE ISLAND
DEAR HAD: I think you would be wise to write it off as a "cheap lesson." Don't expect to find an honest dealer in a crooked deal.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 15-year-old girl with lots of friends, and my problem is that guys are always hassling me because I don't want to have sex. Some of my girl friends say if I don't do it before I'm 16, I'll wind up being a lesbian. I can't say I'm afraid of getting pregnant because I could get the Pill or I could use some other method. Please give me some reasons that they will listen to. Thank you.

DEAR HASSLED: What's wrong with the truth? Tell them you do not want to get into sex now. And please don't feel that you have to explain or make apologies for your decision. MANY girls your age and older choose NOT to indulge in sex because they feel ill-equipped to handle it emotionally. I say, good for them. The poorest reason for doing something is because you're afraid of what others might think. (P.S. And your friends who say, "If you don't have sex before you're 16, you'll wind up a lesbian" don't know what they're talking about.)

DEAR ABBY: Our 14-year-old son is our problem. He has always been a good boy and a good student, but he is an introvert. He has no friends and claims he doesn't want any. He is sarcastic and arrogant, shows no affection and seems to want none. He could be very good-looking, but over the years he has gained so much weight he now refuses to weigh himself. He pretends he doesn't care how he looks, and he continues to grow fatter. We have begged and bribed him, but he doesn't listen. He's an only child, and it's breaking my heart. Please help me.

DETROIT
DEAR DETROIT: An obese child is an unhappy child who is asking for help. He's built a wall of fat around himself to keep others from getting close enough to discover his imperfections (We all have them.) He needs professional help. Start with your family doctor, and don't put it off.

An Identity Battle Was Won

The State Utilities Commission has ruled that Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Co. must list area towns separately in its 1977 directory.

The issue came before the Utilities Commission when citizens of Pitt County towns objected to Carolina T&T listing all the phones in the local directory on an alphabetical basis.

It was found by the commission that each community in the area is a separate unit, rather than a part of a homogenous unit; that the phone company did not give adequate notice of the proposed change and the change was not in the best public interest.

Farmville Attorney W. R. Duke, Jr. said following the ruling, "In view of the fact that towns are separate geographical communities, distinct and apart from each other, I feel separate listings will better serve the interests of all users."

The logic of that is difficult to argue with. In this age of computerization and desire for bigness the fight for individuality is becoming more important all the time.

The Postal Service has reduced communities to Zip code numbers with area post marks.

The elimination of individual listings in the phone book for area towns might not be a great catastrophe, but it does mean one more step toward the sameness that modern society seems to be forcing all of us into.

There's nothing wrong with a community wanting to keep its identity, and that's what the phone book listing battle was all about.

Constitutional Danger In Lake Bill

In one of the strange trade-offs, Legislators seem to be voting for a liquor-by-the-drink bill in exchange for votes for I. Beverley Lake, Jr.'s pornography bill.

As we understand it the Lake bill would allow any citizen or group to bring a suit to close an adult book store, with the interpretation being up to the individual or group.

A court would have to decide ultimately, but we can see all sorts of frivolous suits being brought under this bill if it becomes law. Even if the defendant wins, there will be extensive legal bills to pay, while the plaintiff will suffer nothing for his mischievousness.

There is danger to constitutional rights aplenty in the Lake bill, and the way it is being kept alive in the Legislature is proof enough of its weaknesses.

Tar Heel Travel Boom

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—Early returns are filtering in, and they set the stage for boom times this summer in the North Carolina travel industry.

Across the state from mountains to seashore, indications are that recession and winter-weary families are ready for a fling.

With gasoline prices holding steady, or up only a little, and plenty of it available, the travel industry expects to far outstrip last year's record billion-dollar activity, and move toward the goal of at least $2 billion by 1980.

Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr. has embraced that goal as part of his legislative program, and has put the full weight of his office behind efforts to increase state spending for travel promotion by better than $700,000. The total budget for next fiscal year would be over $2 million of legislators concur with that effort.

Growth Starts

Already, state travel promotion experts say a change in state advertising location and design is paying tremendous dividends in responses.

In a slickly produced brochure designed to rally support for the promotion increase and influence lawmakers to support it, the Travel Promotion Division makes a point that while states around North Carolina have steadily increased promotion budgets, this state has remained stagnant and "is being outspent and out-promoted by eight of the South's top 10 states. Our budget has remained unchanged but severely diminished in actual buying power by inflation."

Currently ranking beneath Florida, Virginia, Georgia, South Carolina and Tennessee in travel business, the agency hopes to boost this state into a position second only to Florida. Experts candidly admit there's no way for North Carolina to approach the $13 billion annual business done in Florida.

In 1976, spending by tourists totaled $1.2 billion, an average of $3.5 million per day. Two-thirds of the total was spent by out-of-state visitors. The industry provides jobs for 153,850 Tar Heels, and an annual payroll of $478 million.

The North Carolina Travel Council reports a major increase of nearly 13 per cent in receipts statewide by hotels and motels—a generally reliable gauge of overall travel business. Gross receipts were running $61.6 million for the first four months of 1977, compared to $55.7 million last year for the same period.

20 per cent. At Calabash it was the best Easter ever, and Brunswick County sources report business "up dramatically" by 28 per cent in April, 37 per cent in May.

THE BANKS—Dare County Tourist Bureau Manager John Blizzard terms 70,000 visitors on one weekend the "best ever," and says 2,000 more rooms could be effectively used.

MOUNTAINS—Grandfather Mountain reports business up 18 per cent and Asheville's rejuvenated tourist and convention activity (a new convention center) is up 87.6 per cent. Fontana has caught up with recent losses and running even; Cherokee up 11 per cent; and Boone "looks good."

PIEDMONT—Carowinds attendance passed the 100,000 mark before the park even opened on a daily basis (weekends only), and on one Saturday in May visitors passed the 38,000 mark. Winston-Salem is up 28 per cent, Raleigh up from $6.2 million to $11.5 million for the first quarter 1977 compared to 1976; and Charlotte reports gains in all areas of travel business.

BILL NOBLITT

Travel Council Executive Director Bob High says the increase can be pegged to "a combination of the state's new advertising campaign, and increased involvement by the private sector in supporting the state's promotional efforts."

Statewide

A statewide survey of spring activity by the Travel Council reflects these trends:

Human Rights Approach

WASHINGTON—The difference between how the Soviet Union and the United States treat human rights is the big stumbling block in the interpretation of the Helsinki Accords.

Both countries believe in human rights, but there is a difference in their approach.

First, the Soviet Union: "On behalf of the Soviet writers seeking freedom to express their views, I present this petition protesting that our rights as citizens have been violated and we urge the men in power to obey the laws as written in the Soviet Constitution."

A Soviet official responds: "Anyone who would sign this petition must be crazy, and therefore I am recommending that everyone whose name appears on this list be sent to a mental hospital for a psychiatric examination."

Now, the United States: "On behalf of the writers in the United States we protest the use of nuclear weapons and the waste of money on larger and more expensive military hardware, when so many of our country's needs for health and welfare are being ignored."

The U.S. official responds:

"Thank you very much. I will call it to the attention of the President. But it is my personal opinion that you would probably have a larger impact if you printed your petition as a paid advertisement in The Washington Post or the New York Times where congressional sources will see it."

The Soviet Union: "As a leader of the Soviet Scientists for Honest Research, I can no longer keep quiet on the country's bureaucratic efforts to squelch any discovery that might conflict with Communist Party ideology."

A Soviet official responds: "Then we must consider you a traitor to the country, and you will be tried under Article X of the criminal code, which could mean 10 years' imprisonment and 20 years in exile. You are a disgrace to the ideals of socialism."

The United States: "As an American scientist I am shocked at the failure of the government to observe and carry out the law in regards to clean air and water pollution. I intend to alert the public to the Administration's blatant disregard for the health of the American people."

A Part Of N.C. History

By Dr. H.G. JONES
Curator, North Carolina Collection

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Old-timers still remember him, nattily dressed, his eyes sparkling, his voice rising with excitement as he spun a yarn about some person or event in North Carolina history.

He seemed always to have an audience. He estimated that he led through the Hall of History, which he founded, at least 300,000 people, and the News and Observer called him North Carolina's best-known personality.

The Greensboro Daily News characterized him as a "romantic institution" whose imagination was "so riotous, so irrepressible, so perennial that holding commerce with cold facts was impossible."

40 Years Ago Today

June 17, 1937

Rains, said to be worth $1 million to Pitt tobacco farmers, fell yesterday afternoon and last night, painting a rosier picture for the weed producers.

The fall in Greenville was measured officially at 1.56 inches, but it was declared not to have been too much and hopes of more rain tonight and tomorrow were evidenced.

Prospects for a good tobacco crop are in evidence in this section, while some western counties are suffering heavy losses due to a small species of wire worm which is destroying crops.

An authoritative source asserted today Japan had decided to refuse a secret proposal made by President Roosevelt for the limitation of naval armaments to guns of 14-inch caliber.

The substance of the Japanese reply to what was described as the President's "last appeal" for a curb on the world's naval arms race was expected to be that Japan does not believe the caliber reduction will have a real effect on armament.

THE INSIDE REPORT

Warning On Panama

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A warning of deep trouble in Congress for any new Panama Canal treaty was politely but coolly handed to President Carter on Wednesday (June 8) by two impressive sources: the No. 1 Democrat in the Senate and the No. 1 Republican in the House.

Sen. Robert Byrd, the Senate majority leader, and Rep. John Rhodes, the House minority leader, were at the White House for a 90-minute foreign policy briefing from the President, whose quiet discourse was abruptly shattered when Byrd issued a blunt warning. The White House and State Department, he said, had better start to work hard on the Senate if the new treaty was to have any chance of approval by the two-thirds majority required for ratification.

Byrd warned Mr. Carter that if a vote were held today on any treaty that substantially changed the current rules of total U.S. control of the waterway it would unquestionably be defeated.

As Mr. Carter was digesting that warning, the second blow in the one-two punch was tossed by Rhodes, who startled both the President and the White House staff by saying that they faced a similar problem in the House.

The treaty itself will not come before the House, but what Rhodes called "subsidiary" issues — including the transfer of lands from U.S. to Panamanian ownership — would have to be approved in the House. Although that would take only a simple majority vote, the House is far more hawkish on the question of changing the status of the Panama Canal than the Senate.

Judging from the alarmed reaction to Rhodes's warning, the Carter administration was obviously unaware that the House would be involved in any way in a new U.S.-Panama agreement over the canal. "What Rhodes said hit everyone like a thunderbolt," one of the congressional leaders who went to the President's briefing told us.

What may be the semi-final round of negotiations on the treaty is now underway here, but lack of preparation of Congress for an eventual loss of U.S. control over the canal is definitely hurting the treaty's chances. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, the senior U.S. diplomat who began the negotiations in the Nixon administration, is highly regarded on Capitol Hill, but

To the editor:

Like a haunting dream, the spectres of John F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King Jr. linger with America. For those of us who can recall the tragic deaths of these two inspiring leaders, the constant reminders of Kennedy and King sorely puncture our delicate wounds.

At this writing, the accused assassin of King is at large and the murderer of Kennedy is in eternal rest. Although the legal aspects of these murders seem resolved, the minds of the American public still maintain that these men, who lifted the spirits of millions and lightened the burden of many, were the targets of a conspiracy. Within the past two years, a CBS News survey indicated that over 60 per cent of America firmly believes Kennedy, King and Robert Kennedy were the victims of a deadly triangle conspiracy. Whether these cases have been rightly determined is not my point; rather, that the attitude of the citizens of this nation is difficult to change.

Presently, a special subcommittee of the House of Representatives in Washington attempts to determine whether the assassinations of the late President and of the late trojan in civil rights should be concluded or whether, in fact, these men were the center of a conspiracy. Unquestionably the cases involving both men have taken bizarre twists since their respective killings, and even since the subcommittee initiated its investigation.

As America struggles to rid itself of these darkening events in its history, let us be reminded of the words which King preached on numerous occasions and which William Cullen Bryant affirmed: "Truth, crushed to the earth, will rise again."

Strength For Today

ASKING FOR A HARD JOB

There are some men in the world who like nothing better than to confront a difficulty and overcome it.

Caleb was of this variety. We are told in the Book of Joshua that when he was an old man, he came to Joshua, leader of the armies of Israel, and requested that in the promised land he be given a mountainous section occupied by the Anakim, the most dangerous enemy that Israel had to confront.

Caleb was then a man well up in his eighties. He was perfectly willing that the other distinguished leaders of the Israelites be given fertile valleys, snug and secure areas where they might live in peace. But his was not Caleb's idea of a successful career. He wanted to end a long and useful life by tackling the hardest problem which Israel had to confront.

"Give me the mountain," he said, "in which the giants dwell. It may be that the Lord will be with me and that I shall drive them out."

Government Spending Going Up

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The Tax Foundation, a publicly-supported, nonprofit, tax-exempt organization that hates to see money spent by the biggest nonprofit institution of all — government — has just published its biennial admonition.

"Government expenditures for 1977 are projected at $9,607 per U.S. household," writes chairman Willard Rockwell in the 1977 edition of Facts and Figures on Government Finance.

The chairman relates that the comparable figure for 1950 was only $1,615, but that comparison isn't quite cricket. In another part of the book you learn that the 1976 dollar stands for less than half the value of the 1950 dollar.

Nevertheless, the point is made. Government spending is rising like June temperatures. It takes close to half of household income.

Rockwell asks: Do we as citizens want our government units to spend that much? Do we know where all this spending is leading us? Is the money being raised in ways that best promote our national goals?

The Tax Foundation's answers to these questions are not provided, but based on past declarations we might assume them to be negative. Government spending, it feels, is often mindless, directionless and opposed to free enterprise goals.

But government spending also is misunderstood. True or false: Each year the federal government takes an increasingly larger percentage of total tax receipts, and state and local governments less.

The fact, as computed by the foundation, is that federal tax receipts in 1976 amounted to 63.7 per cent of the total, the lowest percentage since 58.1 was recorded in 1942.

At the same time, the percentage taken by state governments rose to 21.7 per cent, highest since 1942. Local governments took 15.1 per cent, a figure exceeded as recently as 1971, 1972 and 1973.

Ah, but that's not the full story. In fact, the recent trend of states to acquire an almost imperceptibly larger part of the receipts is almost insignificant when matched against the big change.

And what is that? Let some figures tell: In 1902, the percentage distribution of tax receipts was federal 37.4, state 11.4, and local 51.3.

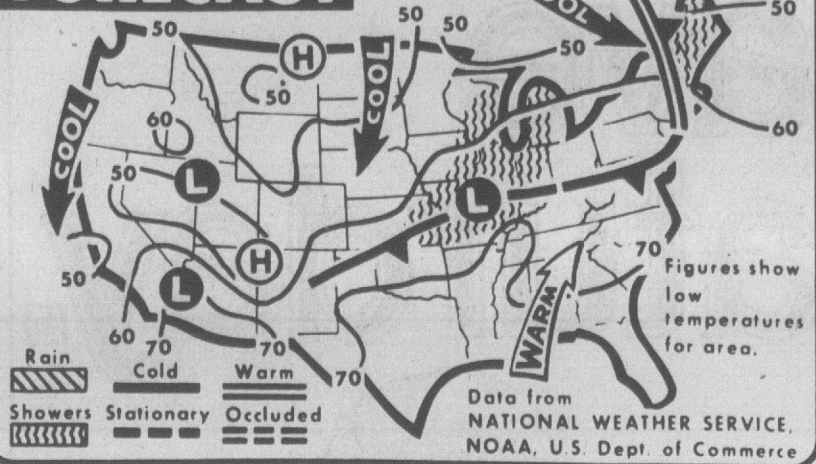

As recently as 1940, local government received 31.6 per cent of receipts, but since then the numbers have seldom reached half that level. The low point was in 1944, at 9 per cent. Match that against 1932's 53.6.

Since World War II, the federal percentage of receipts has ranged from nearly 80 per cent at the close of the war to the 1976 figure, falling by small amounts in an irregular pattern.

How's The Weather?

FORECAST

Until Saturday

WEATHER FORECAST—Cooler air is forecast Friday for the Pacific coast, the northern Plains and Northeast but most of the country is expected to be warm. Hot weather is expected in the Southwest. Showers are forecast from eastern Kansas to the Great Lakes. (AP Wirephoto)

By The Associated Press
Thundershowers lingered over the Midwest and the Southeast. Scattered showers and thundershowers continued into the across parts of Wyoming, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa near a cold front moving slowly across the Midwest. The storm produced isolated severe weather in the area, with several reports of large hail in Wyoming and Nebraska. Large hail fell in Alma in south-central Nebraska, and near Sheridan, Wyo.

Showers and thundershowers also were scattered today from the lower Mississippi valley into the western Carolinas and over parts of Florida. There were isolated thundershowers during the night over parts of lower Michigan, northern Indiana and northern California.

Nighttime temperatures were near normal across most of the country — except near the Great Lakes, where it was a little warmer than usual. Cool spots in the country were in Maine with readings in the 30's and 40's, some 40's also were reached in Montana.

Early morning temperatures around the nation ranged from 90 in Needles, Calif. to 37 in Houlton, Maine.

Jones Col...

Consequently, added the editor, "the meticulous historian seeking irrefutable data could not count on the contributions of the colonel; but the teacher seeking inspiration from the study of history found him an incomparably ally."

He was Fred A. Olds — Colonel Olds to everyone. His title came from his service as quartermaster general of the State Guard under Gov. Zeb Vance in the 1870s, but he probably would have been called that anyway. For no one was more coloneliferous than Fred Olds.

Still, his military bearing yielded to a warmth that cast a spell upon young and old alike. With the driest bone of history he could put on a dramatic performance. It mattered not if the facts were bent to heighten the drama.

This legendary character apparently was born in Pitt County on Oct. 12, 1853, the son of Louis Poindexter and Pauline Evans Olds. But to add mystery to his origins, Olds wrote in 1910 that he had been born March 12, 1857, on a ship off the coast of Connecticut.

Just after the Civil War, Olds was a classmate of Walter Hines Page at Cary, and he recalled walking to Raleigh to see Andrew Johnson when the president visited his birthplace.

After attending Virginia Military Institute, the young man planned to go into the insurance business in Raleigh. Instead, he joined Capt. S.A. Ashe on the Raleigh Daily News. When the News was merged with the Observer, Olds went along.

While journalism provided his income, Olds developed another interest that was to become his life's work as well as his recreation. On a volunteer basis, he began collecting historical materials for the State Museum. But the turn of the century he had accumulated so many items that a special section of the museum was designated the "Hall of History."

Then, when in 1914 the historical collection was transferred to the North Carolina Historical Commission, Col. Olds went along. During the next 30 years of his service, the Hall of History grew to more than 30,000 items, nearly all of them collected by him.

But the colonel was more than a collector; he was an interpreter who captivated audiences, particularly school children. Not content to have them come to Raleigh to see him, he traveled all over the state. From 1922 to 1924, he toured all of the 100 counties and visited 392 schools.

On Sundays he spoke to church groups, family reunions, or wherever people gathered.

He also wrote articles by the hundreds, contributing to more than a dozen newspapers and magazines. He abstracted 9,300 wills for the period 1760 to 1800 and published them at his own expense, then gave away the books.

Olds's love for children led him to organize "Sunshine Clubs" and "Daniel Boone Scouts," forerunners of the Boy and Girl Scouts.

Forced by ill health to retire at the age of 81, Col. Olds spent his last year in sadness. His wife, the former Mrs. Katherine Devereux Primrose, and both his sons had died; furthermore, he no longer had audiences to whom he could relate the colorful history of the state.

He died at Dix Hill on July 2, 1935. At the burial in Oakwood Cemetery the following day, not a single relative was present. Nor were there any of the hundreds of thousands of children whom he had charmed; they were kept away by a polio epidemic.

Two years later the General Assembly voted an appropriation for the creation of a memorial in the colonel's memory, and the Historical Commission established the Fred A. Olds Transportation Gallery. The city of Raleigh named one of its public schools for him.

In 1968 the Hall of History became the Museum of History, a part of the present Division of Archives and History, Department of Cultural Resources.

Evans-Novak...

A careful study of the 58 to 40 vote that confirmed the controversial Washington attorney shows that at least nine Senators — eight of them Democrats — who usually vote strongly with the defense bloc voted for Warnke as chief negotiator in the strategic arms limitation talks (SALT II) as a concession to Mr. Carter.

That means a minimum 49 Senators, far more than the required two-thirds, would almost certainly line up against any Warnke-negotiated SALT II treaty perceived by the defense bloc as risking U.S. security.

Anti-Warnke Senators who have analyzed that March 9 vote now believe that Mr. Carter had to "twist a lot of arms" to hold the anti-Warnke vote down to 40 Senators — a signal of the Senate's low regard for Warnke. The analysis shows all or most of the following Senators would stay with defense-oriented Senate leaders if there is a treaty showdown with President Carter: Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, James Eastland, Ernest Hollings, Wendell Ford, Robert Morgan, Russell Long, Bennett Johnston and John McClellan, all Democrats, and Republican Milton Young.

To win his other hat as head of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA), Warnke was easily approved. Of the nine defense-oriented Senators who stayed with the President despite deep reservations, only McClellan opposed Warnke as director of ACDA.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC:

WE THANK YOU YOU'LL THANK US LATER.

When you buy a new Toyota, everybody thanks you. We're mighty pleased that you have chosen to buy the car we're so proud of. But there's one "thank you" note that you'll get that does more than express our gratitude. It's sort of a report card. It asks you how you were treated at the dealership, how your new Toyota was delivered, everything about your purchase. When you fill it out, you get a chance to give us a compliment or a swift kick in the pants. But you certainly won't be ignored.

If you have a complaint and it's our responsibility, we will take care of it. We've managed to satisfy about 99.2% of our customers and we're still working on that other eight tenths of one percent. You see, we're not out to just sell you a car and leave it at that. We want you to be so satisfied with your Toyota, your Toyota Dealer and his service that you'll come back when it's time to buy another car.

OUR LITTLE REMINDERS.

Our "thank you" isn't the last time you'll hear from us after you buy a new Toyota. We keep in touch. And, we remind you to bring your Toyota in for service. Certainly, your Toyota is a quality designed and built automobile. It's recommended maintenance schedule is one of the least frequent in the industry. So, we send you a gentle reminder when scheduled maintenance is due because we want you to get miles and miles of trouble free service from your Toyota. We know you want your Toyota to last longer than the payments — and even though your Toyota is a well built car, it won't last forever unless you give it a little loving care.

All Toyota Dealers have factory trained Toyota mechanics who can service your car fast and do it right the first time. Our computerized parts replacement system is the best in the industry. That means your car won't be sidelined for days or weeks waiting for parts. One of our 148 Toyota Dealers in the Southeast is nearby ready to give your Toyota the best service it can get.

WHY DO WE USE A COMPUTER?

For speed and accuracy. Compared to national sales statistics, the Toyota Dealers in the southeast sell more cars per average dealer than anyone else. That's a lot of cars. Dealing in volume the way we do, computerized systems enable us to serve you, the customer, in the best, most efficient way possible.

The computer also tells us some very important things. For instance, just the other day, it told us that 93.7% of the people who bought a new Toyota were treated courteously by their Toyota Dealer. Not bad. And that 78.9% of you would recommend your Toyota Dealer to your friends and neighbors. Maybe we can do better there. We'll sure try because a Toyota buyer is our best salesman. It's not enough to give a good volume deal on a quality built automobile. It's not enough to give you the best service and parts availability. We want and need your good will. All of us at Toyota are interested in only one thing — you, our customer, being satisfied. And we'll do everything in our power to see that you are.

Sincerely,

ficial of Gulf Minerals Canada Ltd., participated in cartel activities at the specific request of the Canadian government.

But subcommittee sources say the panel has evidence that the letter from the Canadian government to Gulf requesting Gregg's participation was drafted, at least in part, by Gregg himself.

According to confidential Gulf and Canadian government documents released by the panel on Thursday, the cartel of foreign governments and uranium producers carved up the free world uranium market, establishing quotas and setting prices.

The cartel is allegedly responsible for increases in raw uranium from around $5 a pound in the early 1970s to the current world price of over $40 a pound. The uranium is sold for the generation of electricity in commercial atomic power plants.

Uranium producers in Canada, South Africa, France and Australia participated in the cartel along with Gulf officials, the documents revealed.

Gulf Board Chairman Jerry McAfee testified on Thursday that Gulf's role in the cartel did not violate U.S. antitrust laws because the U.S. uranium market was insulated from the international group's actions.

A U.S. embargo, established in 1964, prohibited U.S. utilities from using imported uranium in their nuclear reactors at the time. The embargo, now being lifted, will be removed entirely by 1978.

McAfee claimed that sharp rises in U.S. uranium prices are the result of factors other than the cartel's price-setting activities.

But some members of the subcommittee disputed his contention that the cartel's action had no effect on the U.S. market.

Rep. Albert Gore Jr., D-Tenn., said a number of utilities, including the Tennessee Valley Authority, South Carolina Power and Light and Duke Power Co., had entered into long-term contracts with cartel members for uranium to be delivered once the embargo was lifted.

He said there was overwhelming evidence that Gulf violated U.S. antitrust laws. "It's the kind of case that a jury would spend about 30 seconds on," he said.

Woman Charged After Chase

A 23-year-old local woman was arrested on multiple charges early today following a high speed chase through a portion of North Greenville, Police Department Capt. Paul Jewett said.

According to the officer, Joan Gail Harrison of 117 River Bluff Apts. was charged with speeding 100 miles per hour in a 45-mile per hour zone, careless and reckless driving, driving under the influence, operating left of center, failing to stop for a blue light and siren and two counts of failing to stop for a red traffic light in connection with the 3:50 a.m. incident.

Jewett said officers spotted the Harrison car near the intersection of Evans and Third Streets and attempted to stop the vehicle. He noted that Miss Harrison allegedly attempted to elude the officers and led them on a chase out North Greene Street and N.C. 33 before police were finally able to stop the Harrison car.

At one point in the chase, Jewett said, one Police Department car stopped in front of the Harrison car and another behind it. Miss Harrison backed up, striking the police car behind her, causing an estimated $200 damage to her vehicle.

First Men Try Space Shuttle

By RICHARD SALTUS
AP Science Writer

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Space Shuttle "Enterprise," designed to rocket scientists into Earth orbit and glide back home when their job is done, was to carry its first men aloft today.

With two astronaut pilots trying out the controls, the shuttle will ride firmly fixed on the back of a Boeing 747 jumbo jetliner during its scheduled 49-minute flight over this Mojave Desert test center.

Today's flight is the first in a series of four dress rehearsals for the day when the 150,000-pound craft will be cut loose from the 747 to fly on its own.

Fred Haise Jr., the spacecraft commander, and pilot Gordon Fullerton were assigned to man the airliner-sized ship, with its control, electrical, hydraulic, coolant and other systems activated for the first time.

Wearing low-altitude flight suits, they were to climb into the roomy cabin of the craft about two hours before takeoff. With the shuttle perched on the Boeing's back, the two crewmen sit more than 50 feet above the runway.

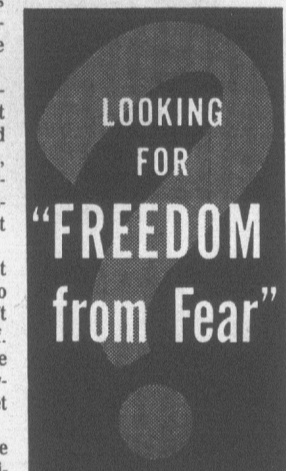

Plans called for the shuttle and its carrier to reach an altitude of no more than 15,000 feet, but the Mission Control Center in Houston, Tex., was put into action to issue directions as though it were an actual space flight.

The Houston center, which ran America's moon and other manned space flights, was to receive data from instruments aboard the shuttle and the mother ship that would tell engineers how the shuttle's flying gear performed.

Haise, 42, is the only space flight veteran among the four crewmen selected for the shuttle approach and landing tests, of which the current flights are Phase Two. He was aboard the ill-fated Apollo 13 ship that had a power failure en route to the moon and limped safely back to Earth in 1970.

Fullerton, 39, has been in the astronaut program since 1969, and was a member of the support crews for Apollo 14 and 17.

Pirates Explode Past Atlantic Christian

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer

East Carolina didn't get its offense rolling until the fourth inning last night, but once it did, the Pirates blasted past Atlantic Christian College for a 15-7 victory.

ECU spotted the Bulldogs an early lead as ACC scored four in the first and one in the second for a 5-1 margin. The Bulldogs added two more in the top of the fifth, but the Pirates exploded for seven runs in the bottom of the frame, behind Macon Moye's three-run double, to take the lead for the first time in the game, 8-7.

From then on, it was all East Carolina as the Pirates held the Bulldogs scoreless after that while piling up three runs in the sixth, one in the seventh and three more in the eighth, which were the result of Bobby Supel's three-run homer.

The game was a hitter's duel all the way as the Bucs banged out 19, including homers by Supel and Raymie Styons, and the Bulldogs had nine. Each team used two pitchers. ECU reliever Williamson, who came on in the fourth, picked up the win to make him 1-0 for the season. The loser was ACC's Joey Durham, who started and was replaced in the fourth, but was responsible for all the Pirate runs in that frame.

The game started on a high note for the Bulldogs as they grabbed a 4-0 lead in the top of the first inning. Keith Stutts led off with a base hit up the middle, but was caught stealing. Darrell Jenkins then walked, Robin Rose reached on an error and Tim Bardin got a base hit to load the bases. After a strikeout, all the runners scored when Bert Barber's high fly ball was erred by ECU right fielder Kevin Cameron.

Barber got to second on the play and then went to third on an error on a pickoff attempt. He scored when Allan Owens got an infield hit.

The Pirates managed one run in the bottom of the frame. Pete Paradossi led off with a single and gates followed with a base hit to send him to third. He scored on an error by the catcher on a double steal play.

In the second, Rose reached on an error for ACC with two out. He stole second and came home when Bardin reached on another error, the second for ECU shortstop Tommy Warrick in the frame.

Neither team threatened again until the fourth. In the top of the inning, Stutts walked for ACC with one away. He went to second when Rose was hit by a pitch. Bardin's single scored Stutts and sent Rose to second while Collier knocked Rose in with a base hit.

In the bottom of the frame, the Pirates took control with seven runs off of eight hits. Robert Brinkley started a barrage of five straight hits with a bunt. He went to second on a wild pitch and then to third when Warrick got an infield hit.

Tommy Cobb singled Brinkley home and then Kevin Cameron got a base hit to load the sacks. Paradossi's single scored Warrick and Cobb came in on Gates' base hit, which still left the bags loaded.

After a strikeout, Macon Moye came up and doubled down the left field line to score all three runners. He went to third on Raymie Styons' single and scored on Brinkley's sacrifice fly to right to make it 8-7.

Three straight walks loaded the bases with no outs for the Pirates in the fifth, but they were unable to push a run across. Then, in the sixth, the Bucs came up with four straight hits.

Styons led off with a single and Robert Brinkley and Warrick followed with base hits to load the bases. That brought up Cobb, who singled in Styons and Brinkley. Warrick scored on Gates' base hit.

Styons got his third hit of the game in the next inning, knocking a home run high over the left field fence to give ECU a 12-7 lead.

Supel got the team's second homer of the game in the next inning. Cobb and Gates got on with singles before Supel delivered his shot to almost the same place in left field, which also went high over the fence.

Styons and Cobb paced the Bucs at the plate with 3-4 performances. Gates was 4-6 and Brinkley was 2-4. Paradossi and Warrick were 2-5. Bardin led Atlantic Christian, going 3-5.

East Carolina's Summer League record is now 4-2, while ACC drops to 4-4. The Pirates play again tonight at UNC-Wilmington.

Fidrych Destroys Jays With Just 81 Pitches

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

Watch Mark Fidrych, the Detroit Tigers' eccentric righthander, pitch long enough, listen to him speak long enough, and you'll learn to expect the unexpected.

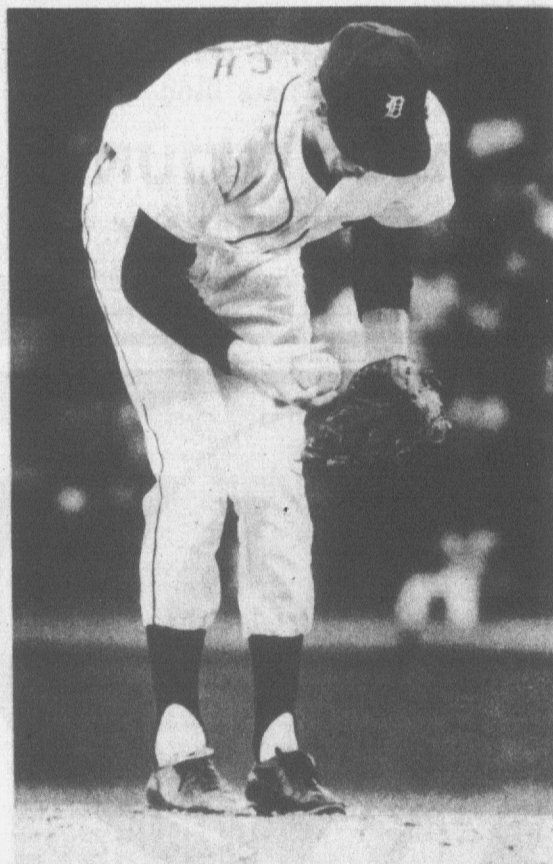

Thursday night, he needed just 81 pitches to beat Toronto 4-1. That is pretty close to baseball's version of shooting a 59 on a golf course.

Backed by Ron LeFlore's two home runs, he collected his fourth complete game in five starts since returning to duty after spring knee surgery. He had the Tiger Stadium crowd of 26,000 chanting, "We want Bird! We want Bird!" after the game.

One big surprise came when Fidrych said, "I dedicate this game to Vern Ruhle," referring to a pitcher the Tigers hours earlier had optioned to Evansville of the American Association.

The reason? "He taught me how not to get strikeouts," explained "The Bird" after beating the Blue Jays in the Audubon Society Classic.

Athletes Given Leeway

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Rules enacted by a state board Thursday will give high school athletes more leeway to participate in non-school athletic programs, but some officials fear they may also hurt the state's high school program.

In three major changes proposed by Terrell, the Board voted to eliminate almost all of the regulations concerning double-participation, most of the rules dealing with participation in unsanctioned all-star competition and many of the rules governing summer camps, practices and competition.

The deletion of rules governing summer programs is expected to pave the way for organized summer practice.

CFA Not Looking For Quick Answers

By ED SHEARER
AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — The College Football Association isn't looking for any quick solutions to problems facing big time football programs within the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The CFA, a group of 56 major independents and major conference members other than the Big Ten and Pacific Eight, ended its first annual meeting in Atlanta Thursday determined to push for more stringent academic requirements in the NCAA.

"One of our fears is to act too quick and make a mistake," said Dr. Fred C. Davison, president of the University of Georgia and chairman of the CFA board of directors. "We had much rather take the time to come to some workable solution."

The CFA voted at the meeting to appoint a committee consisting of a university president, faculty representative and head football coach to study academic standards and prepare an interim report by Jan. 1, 1978.

That committee, along with others dealing with NCAA legislation and another on ethics, will be named later.

"We've had an erosion of standards," Davison said, referring to present NCAA legislation requiring only that a student athlete have a 2.0 or C average in high school to be eligible for an athletic scholarship and for competition.

"This has put in many ways an intolerable burden on the coaches," he said. "We are all affected more than we ever thought we would be, but the coaches are the first line. They

7 Lead Open

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer provided the electricity, Jack Nicklaus was happy to get out alive, and the brutal 18th hole at Southern Hills scored a clear key of the field Thursday with defending champion Jerry Pate its prime victim in the first round of the 77th U.S. Open.

Seven players who have never captured a major championship shaved a stroke off par over the 6,873 yards of one of the toughest par-70 courses in America.

Rod Funseth, Terry Diehl, Larry Nelson, Hubie Green, Grier Jones, Tom Purtzer and Argentina's 38-year-old Florentino Molina struggled to 69s in pleasant 80-degree weather that featured gusty, tricky winds. Never in Open history had so many players been clustered in first place.

There was a logjam of 10 players at par including the 46-year-old Palmer, who had to qualify to get here and sent his "Army" into a frenzy by holing a wedge for a birdie on his roller coaster round of four birdies and four bogies.

AL Roundup

Not to get strikeouts? We told you never to be surprised.

"In the minors I said I wasn't striking anybody out and he said, 'Why should you? You have eight guys behind you. You're not a strikeout pitcher. Get 'em to hit the ball on the ground.'"

In the other AL games Thursday, the Minnesota Twins beat Nolan Ryan and the California Angels 7-6; the New York Yankees bombed the Kansas City Royals 7-0; the Baltimore Orioles beat the Milwaukee Brewers 6-0; the Chicago White Sox drubbed the Boston Red Sox 7-3, and the Seattle Mariners topped the Oakland A's 3-1.

Fidrych's aura of mystery appears to be contagious. Consider the case of LeFlore, whose birthday made him 25 years old going on 29.

"If I could have days like this on my birthday all the time, I'd want one every day," said LeFlore after hitting home runs in the third and fifth innings, giving Fidrych all the scoring he needed.

Asked his age, the outfielder said, "25," then broke into a grin which cast doubt on the number's authenticity.

At any rate, he collected two of Detroit's five hits off Toronto's Jerry Garvin, 7-4. One of the others was a two-run homer by Steve Kemp in the eighth.

Twins 7, Angels 6

One thing is certain when Nolan Ryan pitches: that the strikeouts will come in bunches for the veteran right-hander. He struck out 14 Minnesota Twins but contributed to his undoing with a throwing error, a balk, two wild pitches and a costly walk.

Yankees 7, Royals 0

Young Ron Guidry solved a mental block about pitching complete games, hurling a nifty three-hitter and cruising to victory on three hits by Mickey Rivers.

Orioles 6, Brewers 0

Andres Mora and Al Bumbry smacked two-run homers for Baltimore in support of Rudy May's six-hit shutout of Milwaukee. Mora's second homer of the season followed an infield single by Doug DeCinces. Bumbry connected for his third after a single by Rick Dempsey.

White Sox 7, Red Sox 3

A two-run homer by Oscar Gamble and a five-run seventh inning gave Chicago its victory over Boston and knocked the Red Sox out of first place in the AL's East Division. Boston trails the Yanks by one-half game.

Mariners 3, A's 1

Seattle right-hander Glenn Abbott pitched a five-hitter and beat his former Oakland teammates with his first complete game since 1975. Dan Meyer hit a fourth-inning home run and Bob Stinson contributed a two-run single for the Mariners.

Mets Move Closer To Leaving Cellar

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

"Tonight's game was like a breather for us," New York Mets Manager Joe Torre said Thursday. And it was no wonder.

"Last night (Wednesday), the guys were unsettled, it being June 15th and the trading deadline," added Torre, whose team dealt away star pitcher Tom Seaver, slugger Dave Kingman and infielder Mike Phillips in a major house-cleaning Wednesday. "There was a nervous feeling on the bench tonight—but things couldn't have been worse than last night."

The results for the Mets were the same both nights. They defeated Houston 4-3 Thursday night after edging Atlanta 6-5 Wednesday night. The victories brought the last-place Mets within a half-game of fifth-place Montreal in the National League East.

The Mets rallied from a 3-1 deficit to win. Starter Nino Espinosa, 4-4, doubled in a run and John Milner hit his seventh homer of the season, but the tying and winning runs scored on a two-run error by Houston shortstop Julio Gonzalez.

In the other National League games, San Francisco downed St. Louis 5-1, San Diego broke Chicago's six-game victory streak with an 8-6 triumph over the Cubs and Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh 3-2 in 11 innings.

NL Roundup

Giants 5, Cardinals 1
Jim Barr's seven-hitter, his ninth lifetime victory over the Cardinals against three losses, paced the Giants.

"I'm not putting down the St. Louis hitters," said Barr, "but they tend to have more singles hitters than power hitters. They swing at more pitches. Power hitters wait for pitches they want."

Terry Whitfield had three hits, including his fourth homer of the season, in support of Barr, 8-5.

Padres 8, Cubs 6
San Diego ended the Cubs' winning streak behind some power hitting by Gene Tenace and George Hendrick. Tenace hit his eighth homer of the season as he went 3-for-3 and Hendrick slugged his eighth homer.

That offset Manny Trillo's three-hit performance. Trillo moved his league-leading average to .382.

Dodgers 3, Pirates 2, 11 innings
Dusty Baker's sacrifice fly drove home Bill Russell with the winning run for the Dodgers. Russell had allowed the Pirates to tie the score in the ninth when he booted Bobby Tolan's two-out grounder.

The Dodgers carried a 2-0 lead into the ninth on the strength of Reggie Smith's two-run homer, his 15th of the season.

Doug Rau had a seven-hitter through eight innings before surrendering a double to Bill Robinson and a run-scoring single to Jim Fregosi. Stan Wall and Charlie Hough followed Rau to the mound, with Hough, 4-4, getting the victory.

Arizona State Downs South Carolina, 6-2

By DAN EVEN
Associated Press Writer

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — College baseball has found its answer to The Bird.

Arizona State do-it-all Jamie Allen doesn't talk to the ball like Mark Fidrych of the Detroit Tigers but it seemed that way as he kept the top-rated Sun Devils alive Thursday night in the College World Series by preserving a 6-2 victory over South Carolina.

"I'm not showing off out there," said the enthusiastic Allen. "It's just something that helps me get ready. Most of the time, I'm more subdued. But I really bring it out for big games."

The freshman right-hander wiggled out of a bases-loaded jam and pitched three innings of one-hit relief to hand South Carolina its first loss of the series.

He stalked around the mound, jumped up and down after strikes, frequently backed off the mound and taunted batters to get in the box.

"Allen really put on quite a show," said Arizona State Coach Jim Brock. "Coming in and throwing fast balls after Mitch (Dean) had thrown so many breaking pitches kept them off balance."

Southern Illinois staged the biggest comeback of the series and up-ended California State-Los Angeles 9-7 in the night's elimination-round game.

Southern Illinois, 41-11, is matched against top-rated Arizona State, 55-120 in an elimination game tonight with the survivor facing South Carolina for the series crown Saturday night.

South Carolina, 43-11-1, received a bye into the finals by beating Southern Illinois 5-4 Wednesday night in a meeting of then series unbeaten.

Although the crowd of 10,193 seemed to delight in Allen's performance, South Carolina Coach June Raines didn't like what he saw.

"I thought Arizona State made a joke of the game with all that stalling and delay tactics," said Raines. "That's not meant as anything against Allen because he pitched very well for them."

"But delaying tactics" like that have no place in the College World Series and shouldn't be allowed. Coach Brock was trying to intimidate our players with those tactics."

Brock denied that.

The decisive play came in the seventh inning with Arizona State ahead 5-2.

Johnny Long and Greg Jonson opened the inning with singles and Allen came on to be greeted by a single by Mark Van Bever to load the bases.

But Allen picked Jonson off second base and then struck out the next two hitters. He finished with five strikeouts.

"We have warned our players to watch for that, but in the excitement of the game, Greg got caught," said Raines. "That really hurt. We end up getting nothing out of the inning."

Allen, who started the game as the designated hitter, retired the next six men in order.

A bases-loaded walk and Bob Horner's two-run single gave Arizona State three runs in the fifth inning to break a 2-2 deadlock.

California State-Los Angeles, 42-22, built a 6-0 lead on Southern Illinois but a five-run eighth inning climaxed the Salukis' comeback. Jim Reeves' two-run homer provided the tying and go-ahead runs.

"We came into the game unemotional — we were down," said Southern Illinois Coach Richard "Itchy" Jones, "but when we got five or six runs behind we got mad."

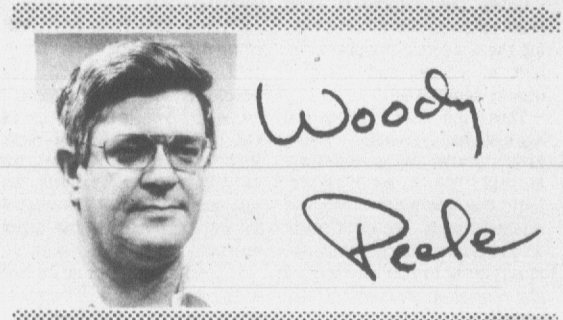

After the early outburst, two Southern Illinois relievers held the Diablos to three hits.

California State Coach Jack Deutsch was philosophical about the loss.

"We came back all season like SIU did and you have to give them credit," said Deutsch.

"I thought we were in pretty good shape when we jumped out to a 6-0 lead, but things like that happen in baseball — that's what makes it such a great game."

California State, a Division I school only in baseball, was making its first series bid.

Chips and putts from area golf courses:

Farmville Golf and Country Club

Sid Davis captured the Farmville Golf and Country Club's men's championship this past weekend. Davis fired a 152 for the two rounds to win the title. Ed Holsenback took second place in a playoff with Vance Taylor and Lowell Lyles.

Carter Smith won the first flight, while Dick Cutler took the second flight title. Sonny Bradham won the third flight.

Farmville will play host to the Eastern North Carolina Pro-Am Tournament this Monday.

The team of Critz Hillard, Joyce Hillard, Royce Richardson and Gay Johnson took first place in a ninehole Superball Tournament Wednesday. They finished six under.

Billy Marston, Myrtle Marston, Dexter Crawley and Jennifer Counterman were second at five under while Stuart Hamm, Loretta Hamm, Lowell Lyles and Margie Lyles were third at four under.

Greenville Golf and Country Club

A number of people managed to come in with scores of 75 or better, after deducting their full handicap, during the "Tough Day" held at the Greenville Golf and Country Club. For the event, the tees were moved back and the pins given tough placements.

Eleanor Ruffin and Tee Ficklen made the group for the women, while Don White Jr., Pinkney Young, Jack Mann, Greg House, Garry Pegram, Pat Dye Jr., John Hill, Ken Hite, Sonny Lea, Cam Dudley, Ray Edwards, Harry Hagerty, Dean Painter, Dallas Clark, Joe Davis, Danny McNally and Sandy Abbott all made it among the men.

Jack Mann recently had his best nine hole round with a 35 on the front side. Greg House had a 35-36-71 for his best 18. Ed Leahy had his best round, a 91.

Harriette White won the low gross winner in a Ladies Day event, while Louise Webber was second. Tee Ficklen won low net, with Bernie Rawl second.

Several clinics are up-coming. On June 20-21-22, clinics for boys and girls will be held. On June 20, 21, ladies beginner clinics will be held. Then, on June 23, a clinic for advanced men and women will be held. Signup lists for all are in the pro shop.

The Men's Member-Guest tournament is this weekend, Saturday and Sunday.

The June 24 Ladies Day will have a low net-low gross event. July 9-10, the men's Interclub Championship will be held. On July 23-24, the Men's Club Championship is scheduled.

A boys and girls Captain's Choice will be held on July 12. It is open to junior members, 9-15, with a 9 a.m. starting time. A $2 entry fee is charged.

Gritton Golf and Country Club

Several eagles have been recorded at the Gritton Golf and Country Club during the past week.

Pat Patterson recorded an eagle on the first hole, a par five, while playing with Chuck Adams. Dennis Van Acker got one on the par five ninth hole, while playing with Tommy Martin. Tommy Riley eagled the par four third hole with a three-iron while with Freddie Powers, Bruce Clements, Ricky Thorne; Cliff Adams eagled nine while playing with Cecil Lilley, Bob Hardison and Gene Gilland.

The President's Cup tournament is continuing at the club.

A Ladies "Throw-Out" Tournament will be held on Sunday, June 26.

The Red, White and Blue Tournament continues through July 4. In that, members, whether men, women, or children, are put on one of two teams, and pair against someone of equal caliber. The losing team then will buy dinner for the winners on July 4.

Ayden Golf and Country Club

Donna Lane won the Ladies May Day Tournament sponsored by the North Carolina Ladies Gold Association. Playing with her were Pat Joyner and Gary Lane, all from the Ayden Golf and Country Club.

They were playing at the Greenville Golf and Country Club, and Ms. Lane had an 85 to win her gold charm.

Gary Lane recently had his best round, an 84.

Ashley Moseley recorded an eagle on the 14th hole, a par four. He holed out a nine-iron. Kim Harbin eagled the par four fifth hole, holing out a sand wedge. Tom Boyd eagled the par five seventh hole with an eight-foot putt.

The Ayden Member-Guest Tournament will be this weekend, and the course will be closed to other play.

Brook Valley Golf and Country Club

Two teams tied for first place in the Mixed Guest Spectacular held at Brook Valley last week.

The team of Red and Maxine Hawley and Lane Fleming and Scrapy Proctor tied with Chris Joyner, Brownie Tripp, and Janet and Ralph Wingate for first with 63.

Janet and Don McGlohon, Keila McGlohon and Cam Dudley tied with Jane and Fred Sauve, Mary Dombroski and Jim Marlowe, along with Mary and Charles McPherson and Betty and Reg Akin with 64.

Tieing at 65 were Dolly and Bill Mitchum and Faye and Charlie Davis with Janice and Charles Vincent and Phyllis and Doug Johnston; and Helen and Bobby Boone, with Jill Carney and Jeffrey Mitchell; plus Martha and Lee Alcorn and Mary Ann and John Burroughs.

At 66 were Peggy and Joe Hallow and Barbara and Gus Andrews.

Sue Castellow recently had her best round, a 78, including a three-putt last green. Jim Ward fired a 70 from the blue tees, carding five birdies.

Fred and Jane Sauve took first low gross in the Jack and Jill Tournament this week. They had a 38. Second place with a 39 went to Mary and Earl Bruton. Taking third with a 42 were Sandra and Bill Smith. Tieing for fourth were Becky and Perk Ashby, Evelyn and Gene Ward and Sue and Wilbur Castellow, all at 43.

Jenny Kilpatrick and Steve Raynor won low net with a 36.

The Brook Valley Junior Championship will be held Tuesday at 9 a.m.

The President's Cup Tournament, scheduled this weekend has been postponed until later in the season.

A Family Spectacular will be held on July 4, with various activities planned. Those wishing to participate should sign up by July 2.

Montreal Hosted Games At Profit

PRAGUE (AP) — Who said the Olympic Games were too expensive? Montreal, last year's host city, proved that given existing stadiums and facilities the Games can be run at a handsome profit.

A final report from Montreal to the 79th session of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) showed that the organizing committee had an excess of revenue over costs of $126 million.

All the debt left by the Montreal Games—estimated at between $200 million and $300 million—is borne by the city of Montreal and the province of Quebec, which undertook the building.

That is cheering news for the IOC, which later this year has to choose a city to host the Games of 1984. If the IOC picks a city that has all its facilities in place, the Games can still make a few dollars.

Many IOC members believe the 1984 Games will be in Los Angeles, which has most of the necessary competition sites.

Mets Fans Moan; Reds Fans Rejoice

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

For New York Mets baseball fans, June 15, 1977 may go down in history as a day of infamy. For Cincinnati Reds followers, that date may be recorded as the day the team insured its dynasty.

While New Yorkers reacted to the Mets' trading of Tom Seaver to the Reds with outcries of "robbery" and threats to stop supporting the National League East's last-place team, Cincinnatians rejoiced at the prospect of having one of the best pitchers in baseball on their staff.

"This gives us the premier pitcher in baseball," Reds Manager Sparky Anderson said after his club sent pitcher Pat Zachry, the co-Rookie of the Year in 1976, infielder Doug Flynn and minor league outfielders Dan Norman and Steve Henderson to New York for the 32-year-old Seaver.

The two-time defending world champion Reds trailed the Los Angeles Dodgers by seven games in the National League West when the deal was made. Many observers felt the acquisition of Seaver would carry the Reds past Los Angeles and on to a third straight NL West pennant and the world championship.

The import of the Seaver trade, and the reactions to it, overshadowed a slew of other major league transactions just before the trading deadline.

The Reds were the busiest traders, completing a total of five deals. In addition to the Seaver trade, the Reds sent unsigned, unhappy relief pitcher Rawly Eastwick to St. Louis for left-hander Doug Capilla; dealt Gary Nolan to California for minor league infielder Craig Hendrickson and a player to be named later; purchased the contract of infielder Rick Auerbach from Texas, and traded hurler Mike Caldwell to Milwaukee for a pair of minor leaguers.

Aside from Seaver, some other well-known players changed addresses:

They included:

—Outfielder Bake McBride, the NL's 1974 Rookie of the Year, who was sent from St. Louis to Philadelphia for pitcher Tom Underwood and two minor leaguers.

—Sluggier Dave Kingman, who the Mets peddled to San Diego for infielder Bobby Valentine and pitcher Paul Siebert.

—Pitcher Ken Brett, who went from the Chicago White Sox to the Angels for pitchers Don Kirkwood and John Verhoeven, a minor leaguer and cash.

—Pitcher Dock Ellis, who Finley sold to Texas.

—Third baseman Jim Fregosi, who went from the Rangers to Pittsburgh for Ed Kirkpatrick.

In other deals, the Phillies acquired catcher Barry Foote and pitcher Dan Warthen from Montreal for pitcher Wayne Twitchell and catcher Tim Blackwell; infielder Mike Phillips was traded by the Mets to St. Louis for outfielder Joel Youngblood; pitcher Steve Hargan went from Oakland to Atlanta for a player to be named later, while the A's also obtained outfielder Willie Crawford from Houston, and hard-hitting Cliff Johnson became a member of the New York Yankee in exchange for a pair of minor leaguers.

Finley Blasting Kuhn—Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The voice of Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland A's and self-acclaimed "staunchest enemy" of baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, crackled over the telephone.

"Hello. This is Charles Finley. I own the Oakland A's baseball team. I have something to blast Bowie Kuhn with," he said. He read, oratorically from a prepared statement, and, at its conclusion, asked: "Does that lower the boom?"

The long-standing battle between Finley and Bowie Kuhn, conducted in and out of the courts over the past few years, was in motion again.

Finley was incensed over the trade of pitcher Tom Seaver by the New York Mets to the Cincinnati Reds. Finley, involved in several legal skirmishes with the commissioner and pledged to more, could not understand why the Seaver deal went through since Kuhn had voided his sale of pitcher Vida Blue to the New York Yankees last year.

"The trade of Tom Seaver ... without a whimper from Bowie Kuhn, confirms his perverted, selective and political use of his office to favor his friends and punish his enemies," Finley said.

Finley, whose sale of Blue to the Yanks and sales of Rollie Fingers and Joe Rudi to Boston were voided by Kuhn last summer, told The Associated Press Thursday night: "Kuhn's irresponsible and selective use of his office is a dishonor to the game of baseball, insulting to the millions of baseball fans and a total betrayal to the once-respected office of the commissioner."

Cox Realty Tops Auto Specialty

Five runs in the top of the seventh helped Cox Realty hold off Auto Specialty for a 10-5 victory in Prep League baseball last night.

Cox took a 5-3 lead after five frames, but needed the five it got in the top of the seventh to stay ahead of Auto Specialty, which scored two in the bottom of the seventh.

Keith Phillips started off the seventh for Cox by getting on by an error. He stole second and went to third on a passed ball. After Billy Coffman walked and stole, an error scored Phillips and sent Coffman to third. Paul MacMillan singled Coffman in and stole second. He went to third on a passed ball.

MacMillan scored on Bitchell Brann's infield out, bringing Billy Kittrell, who singled. Kittrell stole second and came in when Mike Tucker reached on an error. Tucker got to third on passed balls and scored on an error. Cox Realty 012 020 5-10 Auto Specialty 100 200 2-5

Builders Top Dairy

A big third inning allowed Home Builders to take a 12-9 win over Carolina Dairy in Babe Ruth baseball action last night.

Carolina Dairy jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning, but Home Builders took a commanding margin with seven runs in the third.

Barry Tyson started off the frame with a walk for HB and he went to second when Shelton Wilson reached on an error. Jeff Worthington doubled to score Tyson and move Wilson to third and Mickey McGrath tripled home Wilson and Worthington.

McGrath scored on a passed ball after walks by Jeff James and Terry Skinner. Lies Scott then walked to load the bases and Tyson, up for the second time in the frame, doubled all the runners home.

Jaycees Gain Title With Win

The Jaycees outlasted Coca-Cola, 8-6, in the North State Little League and assured the Lions of the outright championship of the league.

The loss served to eliminate Coke from any chance of tying for the title. Coke was the last team still in the race.

Coke took the lead with a run in the first. Richard Pace singled and stole both second and third. He scored on Curtis Evans' single.

The Jaycees took the lead with three in the second. Jordy Smith walked, as did Maury Harris and Evan Hause. A walk to Timmy Ellis scored one and a single by Mark Harris brought in the other two.

Two more crossed in the third. Smith walked and Harris reached on an error. Hause singled, and Ellis walked, scoring Smith. Scott Pollard reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Harris.

The final four came in the fourth. Louis Fletcher singled and Jim Swinson reached on a hit. Smith walked and Harris singled in a run. Hause reached on an error, scoring another. Pollard also was safe on an error, scoring the other two.

Coke started its rally with four in the fifth, then added three more in the sixth, but never caught up.

Warren Slips Past Clifton

Bill Clifton scored three runs in the bottom of the seventh to gain a 9-8 come-from-behind victory over Warren Farm Supply in a Senior Babe Ruth baseball game last night.

Warren had broken a 6-6 tie in the top of the inning by scoring three runs, but Clifton got enough to win in the bottom of the frame.

Doug Selby starting things rolling in the inning for Clifton when he led off with a single. He got to third on Gary Allen's base hit and scored when Reggie Selby doubled.

Selby and Allen both scored when Wayne Stokes got a base hit.

Chicod, Giants Win

The Giants and Chicod both won Southern Pitt Little League games last night. The Giants took an 11-5 victory over the Indians and Chicod downed Red and White 15-4.

Lori Kandrotas was the winning pitcher for the Giants, who were led at the plate by Mitch Cox with three hits and Joey Joyner with two.

Chris Stancill went 3-3 to pace Chicod, while Robbie Bazen was the winning pitcher in that game. Lister and Kirk were both 3-3 for Red and White.

New Coach

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — Duke University Athletic Director Carl James announced today the appointment of Tom D'Armi as head baseball coach.

D'Armi, who assisted at Duke last season, succeeds Enos Slaughter, who has held the position since 1971. Slaughter plans to retire to his farm at Roxboro.

First Federal Gets No-Hitter

First Federal all but wrapped up the Tar Heel Little League title with a 12-0 romp over the Moose. And they did it in grand style with a no-hitter hurled by Mont Carter.

The victory left the First Federal team with a 13-1 record, while the Moose fell to 12-2. Both teams have one game left.

Carter struck out eight and walked three. He also hit one batter and one reached on an error.

One more run came in the fifth.

Moose 000 000-0 0-6 First Federal 212 61X-12 10 1

Warren reached on an error. Carter added three runs with a homer. Keith Stocks walked and Horace Barrett singled. Marty Radford reached on an error, loading the bases and Mont Brown singled in two runs. The other scored on Tyrone Barrett's single.

One more run came in the fifth.

Religious Holiday Bill Sought

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress soon will be asked to wipe out the effects of a Supreme Court ruling that says workers have no legal right to take a day off for religious reasons.

"The Supreme Court decision is wrong," Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., said Thursday after hearing the high court's ruling. "I shall renew my legislative efforts in this issue."

It was Randolph who in 1972 pushed legislation through Congress making it clear that under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 employers would have to accommodate religious employees whenever possible.

But the Supreme Court, in a 7-2 decision Thursday, ruled that employers are not required to give an employee certain days off because of religious beliefs if a seniority system bars such accommodation or if such action would amount to preferential treatment.

"In the absence of clear statutory language or legislative history to the contrary, we will not readily construe the statute to require an employer to discriminate against some employees in order to enable others to observe their sabbath," Justice Byron White said in the majority opinion.

The ruling is a major legal defeat for millions whose religions dictate that they not work on particular days of the week. It carries impact for Orthodox Jews, Seventh-Day Adventists, Seventh-Day Baptists and members of the Worldwide Church of God.

Randolph, a Seventh-Day Baptist, indicated he would seek a new law that could not be misinterpreted by the court.

"Our great tradition of religious freedom and our nation's accommodation of religious diversity has been severely damaged," he said in referring to the high court's action.

The court's two dissenters used even stronger language.

"All Americans will be a little poorer until today's decision is erased," said Justice Thurgood Marshall and William Brennan. "The ultimate tragedy is that, despite Congress's best efforts, one of this nation's pillars of strength — our hospitality to religious diversity — has been seriously eroded."

The case decided by the court involved a Trans World Airlines worker, Larry Hardison, who was fired in 1969 for refusing to work from sundown Friday to sundown Saturday, observed as the sabbath by the Worldwide Church of God.

Hardison sued TWA and his union, the International Association of Machinists, charging religious discrimination. He

Camp Meeting Starts Sunday

FALCON — The Rev. J. Doner Lee, superintendent of the N. C. Conference of the Pentecostal Holiness Church, Inc. announced today that the 78th annual Falcon Camp Meeting will begin Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the Culbreth Memorial Auditorium here.

The Rev. Jesse D. Simmons of

Youth Crusade

The Youth Department of Selvia Chapel Free Will Baptist Church will sponsor a youth crusade beginning Monday and continuing through Friday.

The Rev. Jerry McCrayer will be the guest speaker for the week. Various choirs, ushers and congregations have been invited to serve each night.

On Sunday, June 26, at 3 p.m., the program will climax by the celebration of the 13th anniversary of the Youth Department.

The public is invited to attend.

Florida Trip

A bus will be leaving for Florida Sunday night sponsored by the Senior Usher Board of Arthur Chapel.

Seats are still available. For further information call 752-4258 or 758-0276.

Anniversary

Choir No. Five of Mount Calvary will celebrate its ninth anniversary Sunday at 4 p.m. at the church.

The public is invited to attend.

Car Wash

The youth of York Memorial Methodist Church will sponsor a car wash Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Keep On Going

They were marching down Main Street, and right at the height of the parade the tuba player blew a sour note. A really sour note. People snickered. Some burst out laughing. But, regardless, they had to hand it to the tuba player... he kept right on blowing, right on going.

Makes you stop and think. Sure, it's natural to laugh at someone else's sour note. But how about our own mistakes? No one can get through life without them — that's sure.

The question is, do you stop or do you keep on trying, keep on going? If you've been in church lately, you'll know the answer to that one.

Big Fizz Could Solve Gas Problems

By BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer
DELCAMBRE, La. (AP) — An old dead natural gas well, reactivated for a great experiment, is gushing 5,000 barrels a day of boiling hot salt water that fizzes like soda pop. The fizz is natural gas, dissolved by enormous pressure, saturated into stratas of hot water trapped several miles underground along the Louisiana and Texas coast in a geothermal area.

There is an awful lot of gas down there. The trick is to get it out in any way which would make the effort worthwhile. Optimists say if engineers can just figure out how to capture that fizz, the nation's gas shortage is over for another 50 years or more. Critics call the effort a waste of money. "There are people who don't believe all this, it is pie in the sky to them," said O. Carroll Karkalits, dean of the School of Engineering and Technology at McNeese University in Lake Charles, La., and director of this budding research. "But if the critics are right, we have got to know it," he added. "And if we are right, we need to know that, too."

In any case, federal officials could not resist the enormous potential in the multimillion dollar program now focused on the old well out among the mosquitoes of Tigre Lagoon. A U.S. Geological Survey study estimated that the geothermal hot salt water under

Texas and Louisiana contains 24,000 quads of methane gas within drilling range. Some experts say there is more than that. A "quad" is a unit of giant measurement. It is one quadrillion British Thermal Units — btu. A btu is the amount of heat it takes to raise the temperature of a pound of 39-degree water one degree Fahrenheit. Roughly speaking, a quad is equal to the btu's in 170 million barrels of oil or a trillion cubic feet of natural gas. So success would mean gas to burn, gas for plastics, cleaner skies, trillions of dollars in profits, international political impact.

Failure would mean the federal Energy Development Administration — ERDA — will write off a few million bucks in losses and try something else. "At least we will know, one way or another," said John Salisbury, Washington, chief of research assessment of ERDA's geothermal energy project.

The term "geothermal" is applied to areas where millions of years of pressure from the earth's crust has created heat. In this instance, the area of deep heat and great pressure is precisely defined — and why not? It is 200 miles wide and stretches from New Orleans to Brownsville, Tex. Drillers who have put down 300,000 holes along there since 1920 used to blunder into it frequently. Before instruments were perfected for early detection, hitting the geothermal area unexpectedly was disastrous. Sudden entry into subterranean areas of pressures of 11,000 pounds per square inch could spit drill and casing up out of the hole in a violent blowout. "If you drilled into it unprepared — whoopee," said Salisbury. ERDA has data from thousands of oil and gas wells but drillers dealt with the geopressure zone as little as possible — limiting their effort to getting on through it. "Major unknowns remain," said Salisbury. "We don't know exactly how much gas there is, where it is, whether water everywhere is saturated with gas or some of it has just a little bit. We don't know temperatures. We don't know how saline the water is, whether it changes place to place..."

In saturated water, gas content ranges from 6.7 to 11 per cent.

— Bill Osborn, a Lafayette petroleum engineer handling well operations, declined to specify how much gas the laboratory finds in this test water. "We don't have enough conclusive information at this point," he said. "What we are after is working pressures, permeability, this type of thing. So far, we are running very close to what we predicted." At the surface, the water temperature is 220 degrees, eight above the boiling point. The temperature is important because, in addition to gas, the experiment is to see whether the heat can be converted to energy. Heat diverted into freon boilers could turn turbines and thus generate electricity. Geothermal areas in Texas tend to be hotter, but the sands are tighter and water doesn't flow as well. Osborn said he thinks it will take both gas extraction and heat extraction to make geothermal wells worth their expense and trouble. "If we find what we think we are going to find, this could be a very viable energy source," he said. Karkalits said this test well is bringing up geothermal water from 12,999 feet. ERDA has invited oil companies to lend it a few more old or dry holes for additional tests. And a true geothermal well is planned. It is a water well, and would be a bigger hole than is needed for oil or gas. It probably will cost $2 million and bring up 40,000 barrels of water a day — to be reinjected, lest land above the geothermal begin to sink. It has not been done as yet, but theoretically gas would be extracted at the well, using pressure tanks. "As the water comes to the surface you would get gas coming out of solution automatically, just like opening a bottle of Coke," the professor said. "First thing you do is have a big tank pressurized at 6,000 pounds per square inch to take the gas out, then put pressure down to 3,000 to take off more gas, then your high temperature water would go into a freon boiler."

"We are just beginning this research," said Karkalits. "But I think it may be reasonable to expect that by the end of this century Louisiana will be getting three trillion cubic feet of gas a year out of geothermal wells."

"The ingenuity of American engineers will figure out a way to do it."

Charge Man In Havelock Death

HAVELOCK, N.C. (AP) — Havelock police reported Thursday that a 27-year-old man has been taken into custody in Illinois on charges of murdering a nurse here six years ago. Patrick Neil Hess of Sterling, Ill., was charged with first-degree murder in the March 19, 1971, stabbing death of Faye Beamon Hare. Police said, however, they don't know when Hess would be returned to Craven County for trial.

The charges against Hess reportedly stem from his confession to the murder after a taking a polygraph test for a Pinkerton detective position. The test indicated that his responses to certain questions were lies.

Mrs. Hare, a nurse at Carteret General Hospital and the wife of a former Marine stationed in Vietnam at the time of her death, was found dead with 18 stabbing wounds in her apartment here. The woman's body was found sprawled on a rug in the living-room of her one-bedroom apartment by the husband of a friend and fellow-employee at Carteret General. The friend became concerned because Mrs. Hare had not shown for work that day. SBI Agent Isaac Edwards and Havelock Detective Don Cox traveled to Chicago Monday to investigate the alleged confession from Hess. He was reportedly a friend of the dead woman's husband and had agreed to check on her periodically during her husband's overseas tour of duty. The coroner's report said Mrs. Hare was stabbed with a broad blade that was sharp on one side. Any one of five stab wounds could have been the fatal one, the report said. A Wayne County native, Mrs. Hare had returned to Havelock only days before from a month's visit with her husband in Hawaii. She was last seen when she left her hospital job at 11:26 p.m. March 18, 1971.

Senate Gets Insurance Bill

By WILLIAM M. WELCH
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The Senate has been sent a heavily-amended version of a measure intended to reduce the power of the state insurance commissioner to block rate increases. Sen. Carl Totherow, D-Forsyth, leader of Senate supporters of the insurance industry-backed measure, said he will have to study amendments added by the House in three days of debate this week before deciding how to handle the bill. "I knew I wouldn't recognize it the next time I saw it," Totherow said after the bitterly divided House voted 66-40 to approve the bill. Before passing the measure, the House defeated two amendments that would have gutted it, but added some others including one establishing a "sunset" provision. As passed by the House, the legislation would automatically terminate on Sept. 1, 1979, unless renewed by the next General Assembly. Emotions ran high during the debate, with both supporters and opponents slamming open microphones onto their desks at times. Several House members said the debate was more emotional than earlier ones on the death penalty and the equal rights amendment. After the vote, some opponents protested that the vote was called too soon, with amendments still pending. Rep. Richard Erwin, D-Forsyth, who voted for the bill, then moved that the vote be reconsidered, and that motion failed by three votes. The bill abolishes the requirement that the commissioner give his prior approval to rate increases before they may take effect. New rates could remain in effect, even if the commissioner ruled them excessive, unless ultimately overturned by the courts. In that case, the money would be refunded. The bill sets a 12 per cent limit on rate increases for automobile coverage over the next two years. There would be no limit on rates for workman's compensation and homeowners, which would be set by an industry-run rating bureau, or on other types of property and casualty insurance, which would be opened to rate competition. The Senate was scheduled to consider a bill identical to the original House version Thursday, but Totherow had it delayed until the House acted. Totherow said he hadn't decided whether to ask the Senate to take up the House version, or seek action on the Senate bill. Either way, Totherow said Senate supporters want to remove some of the House additions. "I've worked on this for five months, night and day. We're not going to give up," he said. Rep. Ernest Messer, D-Haywood, a leading opponent, charged that the bill was drafted by insurance industry lobbyists and would overturn the voting majority which elected Ingram in 1972 and 1976. "Now we're here to determine whether their will shall prevail, or whether 20 lobbyists who wrote this bill will prevail," he said. Another opponent, Rep. Jo Graham Foster, D-Mecklenburg, questioned the way leaders of the House Insurance Committee handled the bill. When she asked that a public hearing be held, she said, "I was snickered out of the room."

New Explorers In South America

By STEPHEN MORROW
LIMA Peru (UPI) — A new generation of serious travelers criss-cross the continent of South America toward destinations few travel agents can find on the map and with questions almost no guidebooks can answer.

This new breed of mountaineers, white water runners, spelunkers, jungle trekkers, scuba divers, back packers, do-it-yourself prospectors and yachtsmen has special interests, and unusual queries:

Are penguins good to eat? Over what distances can a blowgun be considered accurate?

Where can one find the cochineal beetles used by Andean Indians for red dye? What is the best time of year for balsa rafting on the Huallaga River (one of the largest tributaries of the Amazon in Peru)?

Are there sunken treasure ships whose location in coastal waters is known exactly? Is it possible to obtain official salvage permits?

To answer such questions and to help the travelers who ask them, a new non-profit service organization was born this month: the South American Explorers Club.

The club is headquartered in a large house in downtown Lima (146 Avenida Portugal), a few blocks from the American Embassy. Its mail address is Casilla (P.O. box) 3714, Lima 100, Peru.

The managers are Donald Montague, whose South American experience includes five years as a leading free-lance television cameraman, and Linda Rosa, a nurse and anthropologist who lived for one year among the Shipibo Indians near Pucallpa, Peru, doing studies for the University of Wisconsin.

Charter members include Bob and Ana Cook, of Palo Alto, Calif., who recently completed a 7,000-mile trek in a converted Willys Jeep from the Pacific across the entire Amazon basin to the Atlantic, and back.

During the trip their German shepherd dog died of tropical diseases. Mrs. Cook's sister had to turn back when stricken by typhoid, and two of their Indian guides were killed by hostile tribesmen.

Other charter members are

Tom Jackson, Morgantown, W. Va., and Laszlo Berty, Erie, Pa., who made the first white water descent of the Urubamba River, an Amazon tributary that starts high in the mountains of southeastern Peru.

In addition to helping out with the pure travel and sporting aspects of exploration, the club intends to assist and even publish research in a wide variety of exploration-related subjects in the natural and social sciences.

"Real exploration only begins with a spectacular discovery," Montague said. "The tumbled walls of an ancient people reveal little in themselves."

"Soon archeologists must arrive to delve deeper into the mystery, paleopathologists to seek out clues of century-old afflictions, chemists to date the finds and experts skilled in the techniques of weaving, pottery and preserving works of art," he added.

"We hope to bring together people with different interests, skills, expertise and points of view," Montague said. "The only prerequisite of membership is a persistent curiosity about developments and discoveries around the continent."

The $25 annual membership fees are used to add to the reference library, complete the furnishing of the reading room, to build a rooftop garden and in general to improve the club.

The fee includes a subscription to the quarterly magazine The South American Explorer. The first issue contains full accounts of the adventures of members Jackson, Berty and Cook, as well as articles on krill, the tiny protein-rich shrimp eaten by the whales now overpopulating the waters off Argentina, and on an expedition that captured a rare live woolly yellow-tailed monkey.

Other articles soon to be published report that:

— On a windless day a good blowgun shooter, if near enough to see a pack of cigarettes, can always hit it.

— The flavor of penguin is "a cross between beef and wild duck, cooked with stale fish and served wit Cod Liver Oil."

— The cochineal beetles are found in abundance near Ayacucho, Peru, on prickly pear cactus.

— The Huallaga river runs high between November and March.

— Salvage permits can be obtained for quite precisely located treasure ships, but there are so many difficulties involved in treasure hunting that they are often the first step to ruined health and finances.

Lute Was Different

By CONNIE GRZELKA
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Some people might say Paul O'Dette is a musical genius. Others might say he's a little crackers. After all, how many 16-year-old kids want 16th century instruments and haunt the museums of Europe in search of them?

O'Dette started out like a normal kid in a musically inclined Ohio family, taking up rock guitar at 12. He began classical guitar studies at 15 and learned to play lute pieces on the guitar.

"But they didn't make sense. The music was right, but the tone color was wrong."

So at age 16, he went off to Munich to find a craftsman who would make a custom-built lute. He not only got his lute but eventually studied under some of Europe's master teachers, cut some records and earned a reputation as a skilled musician.

"You can't just sit down and play the lute," he says. "It requires a great deal of linguistic, historic and paleographic as well as early musical composition technique."

O'Dette, now 23, traded college for 3½ years of lute studies at the Scola Cantorum Basiliensis in Basel, Switzerland.

Boots Randolph Has His Own Night Club

By JOE EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Boots Randolph, who's spent 25 years playing his saxophone in someone else's nightclub, has just opened a club of his own on Nashville's famed Printer's Alley. "I want to be the Al Hirt or the Pete Fountain of Nashville," he said in an interview in his $750,000, 275-seat club. "This is my home. I've been visiting in everyone else's home, and now they can come visit me."

For 20 years Randolph has been at the vanguard of the Nashville Sound. His jazz-country-pop style embodied the amalgamation of the new sound that swept the country a decade ago. For the past 16 years he's been playing at a rival club just steps away.

"The true test of an entertainer is the nightclub audience," he said. "When you're on the concert stage, the people come to see you. But when you're in a nightclub, the people may come to eat instead of see you."

"Every night is different in a club. That's because the audience is different; it's a new challenge. It's like playing golf; you never have the same shot twice."

Randolph will have an album out soon, but studio work is his specialty.

"I've lost count, but this is about my 20th," he said. "I'd die if I had to do studio work all the time. But here in the club, I can do my natural thing."

Randolph, whose biggest albums were "Yakety Sax" and "Boots With Strings," believes nightclubs are popular because of the nostalgia boom and dissatisfaction with television.

"People are tired of television. Television is boring. They are looking for the good ol' days and find them in nightclubs."

He says music should be both loud and soft and has little affection for some rock 'n' roll.

"I get loud and soft; that's what music is, not ear-busting stuff; the mommies and daddies are going to get tired of it; then when the young kids today become mommies and daddies, they're going to get tired of it too; and then ol' Boots will still be around."

He has entertained throughout the world and can't name a major American city he's not visited.

"I don't think I'll ever get tired of playing because it's something I love so much. I get tired, but not of playing."

"There's something about music that gives a guy stamina and fulfillment. How old was Louis Armstrong? And look at Duke Ellington and Arthur Fiedler.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 18, 1977

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Not a good time to become too involved in some confusing condition or a discussion with any other for it could easily become a cause for separation or estrangement. Be careful you do not feel you are being imposed upon.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are resentful toward kin so quietly analyze the situation and do whatever will restore harmony at home. Alleviate those business pressures you are under.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get out of that despondent mood and make this an interesting instead of a dull time. Complete work accurately so you that you do not invite criticism of co-workers.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Financial matters seem hard to handle but will not be if you put new and workable ideas in operation. Try to build up your savings account.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You may feel depressed, but that is no reason to take it out on others. Improve conditions about you and soon perk up.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take care of irksome tasks, but use practical methods. Don't argue with mate or loved one or you invite trouble best avoided.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Friends could be in a poor mood and need cheering up, so do just that and gain their goodwill now. Shop early, then think of entertaining.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You may have desires and wishes that are not good for you, so study them well before going after them. Handle credit matters wisely.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Analyze well every detail of any new enterprise you may have in mind. Make new contacts but accept only the best of these.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Go ahead and make those rightful payments and stop quibbling about them and gain goodwill. Visit friends and relatives.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have to be tact in handling problems today or there could be quarrels, hurt feelings. Don't aggravate one who opposes you or you will be the one to get hurt.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) There're obstacles in the path of your work progress, but if you go around them carefully, you get much done. Not a good day to have talks with co-workers as you are apt to get poor results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) It's all right to go out for a good time, but don't spend money foolishly. Plan time for some special interest you understand very well.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be very conventional and should have education slanted along conservative lines. The field of merchandising is fine here. Teach early to consider the feelings of others and become a more popular, communicating person.

Against four hearts, West led the king of clubs and continued with the ace, on which East discarded his three of spades. East continued with a third club, declarer ruffed and laid down the trump ace. When both defenders followed, he claimed six trump tricks and four spades for his contract.

"Why don't you discard the nine of diamonds on the second club? Then I would have shifted to that suit and we would have taken two diamond tricks for a one-trick set," protested West.

"When I discarded a low spade, it should have been obvious that I wanted a diamond shift," retorted East.

North added his two cents worth. "Partner, don't you think you had bid enough and should have passed three hearts?"

South was incensed. "I had 18 points in high cards. You didn't have to bid with 6 points and a flat hand."

The only completely accurate statement was made by North. While South's hand counted to 18 points, it was full of losers and the queen-jack of clubs should have been discounted. North's competitive raise to three hearts was eminently correct.

East was partially correct in suggesting that West should have shifted to a diamond. West had to hope that his partner held a king. If it was the king of spades, cashing the ace of diamonds was unlikely to do any harm—the spade trick would not go away. But if declarer had the king of diamonds, cashing two diamond tricks immediately could be vital.

West was also partly correct, though, for East could have discarded a high diamond to insure West shifted to that suit. But all of the players overlooked the best defense. East should have ruffed the second club and returned the jack of diamonds! That would have netted three diamond tricks for a two-trick set.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Dear Ma: Life At Camp Rerun Is Dull

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
CAMP RERUN, Calif. (AP) — Dear Mom: How are you? I am fine. Well, here I am at Camp Rerun, winding up the one-week summer training they make all us TV critics attend each year.

It is a nifty place, but I must say I do not like the exercise period in the morning. They make us watch "The Gong Show," then leap up and cry.

"Poor taste! Poor taste!" You do this 100 times before breakfast each day and pretty soon you wish you were back covering Washington.

Yesterday, a short, swarthy man in a T-shirt, Baretta, I think his name was, ran a refresher course on what to do about TV violence.

He said we should get the PTA in a dark alley and mug it. Everyone laughed, of course. Later, a fellow in a dark suit from New York taught us how to spell "profoundly moving."

He said it was to be used only when reviewing a TV movie about Franklin D. Roosevelt.

We had been told Farrah Fawcett-Majors was going to hold a course called "The Art of Acting." Due to a prior engagement, though, she couldn't make it and sent her hair instead.

We began the week with a lecture by Lamont Doze, the noted news commentator. He spoke on why it is important to have commentary on the network news each night.

"They would put in four 30-second commercials otherwise," is what he said.

Another good lecture was "The Art of the Stand-in," by David Bald, who we were told is Kojak's stand-in. He wore his Hollywood toupee, the one with the rhinestone part, and was very impressive.

After a TV dinner another critic spoke. His topic was: "Being and Nothingness: A Case for Existentialist Situation Tragedy."

He spoke entirely in French, though. The only TV critic who understood him was some guy from San Francisco who kept crying, "Zut alors! Zut alors!"

But it was a good evening for Mr. du Tube. An ABC vice president who heard his talk bought the rights to it. He says it'll premiere next fall under the title, "Happy Daze."

Byrds' Leader Back On Scene

By JAMES SIMON
Associated Press Writer
PASSAIC, N.J. (AP) — Roger McGuinn is back.

McGuinn was the leader of The Byrds, America's answer to the Beatles in the rock music boom of the mid-1960s. The Byrds bridged the gap between traditional folk music and British rock and reached stardom with such songs as "Mr. Tambourine Man," "Eight Miles High" and "Turn, Turn, Turn." Despite endless personnel changes, The Byrds became favorites of a growing FM radio audience in the late 1960s with their electronic experimentation and synthesis of country and rock sounds. McGuinn disbanded the group in 1972 but failed as a solo act, both on stage and on record.

So he's assembled a permanent band, cut a strong new album and hit the road with a stage show featuring many of the old Byrds tunes that first brought him fame. "I wrote a lot of those songs. I feel that they're my music, not Byrds music," McGuinn said while relaxing after a performance here. "This is the first time since The Byrds that I can say I've got a band. The others were just backup groups, just people I picked up to go on tour with. And these are the finest players I could find. Rick Vito is from (John) Mayall, Greg Thomas was Leon Russell's drummer and bassist Charlie (Harrison) is from Leo Sayer."

McGuinn calls the band Thunderbyrd, tying in his Byrd days with his participation in Bob Dylan's "Rolling Thunder Revue." After two months of playing together, their sound is, well, like the middle period Byrds.

There are no smoke bombs or laser illusions on stage — just a solid four-piece band playing top-notch rock music.

"We're shooting for the top, trying to really do it — going for the success of The Eagles and others up there. Really going for it," he said.

The level of success may depend on whether the band can hit the AM charts. The Byrds scorned late in their career. McGuinn is pinning his hopes on "American Girl," a pleasant rocker with a strong chorus that features Vito's stinging lead guitar and the jingle-jangle sound of McGuinn's distinctive 12-string guitar.

"My management and I decided it was to our mutual advantage to shoot for a Top 40 hit. There's nothing wrong about that; the Beatles and Rolling Stones were hit groups, and Fleetwood Mac and The Eagles are doing it now.

McGuinn's career reflects the changing music scene of the last 15 years.

Opry's Move Started Downhill Slide

By JOE EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The former heart of Nashville's tourist business is now overrun with adult movie houses, bookstores and massage parlors.

Just four years ago, the Ryman Auditorium in downtown Nashville was the home of the Grand Ole Opry and was the city's top tourist attraction.

But in 1974 the Grand Ole Opry moved to a new home at Opryland U.S.A., an entertainment park just northeast of Nashville. And as Nashville braces for an estimated two million visitors this summer, the tourist industry is no longer concentrated on the downtown Ryman Auditorium area.

Instead, the tourism business is centered at Opryland and along Music Row, a succession of record companies and song publishing companies, plus the Country Music Hall of Fame, a mile away from the Ryman.

The Ryman remains open for tours, but a reporter recently counted 10 adult movie houses, bookstores or massage parlors within three blocks.

In fact, the Adult Mini Cinema is right across the street from the Ryman.

Roy Acuff, "the king of country music," owns one of the buildings housing an adult bookstore. He says there's nothing he can do because the person he leased to sub-leased.

Veteran steel guitarist Little

Roy Wiggins owned a music store a block from the Ryman until his store went bankrupt this spring.

Since spring, police have been periodically raiding massage parlors on prostitution and related charges. The arrests seem to have hindered the establishments because a few have closed.

Additionally, local officials are considering an ordinance that would allow property owners to vote on whether they want a certain type of business within 500 feet of them.

Meanwhile, the other two pockets of tourism are continually developing.

The Country Music Hall of Fame, standing stately at the head of Music Row, has just opened a new $1.3 million wing to house a restored touring bus, a chart tracing the roots of country music, a costume collection, art gallery and a minitheater for vintage films about country music.

A Gospel Music Hall of Fame is under construction across the street and plans are being made to construct a plush, high-rise hotel in the area.

Also open on Music Row for the first time this summer is a Songwriter's Hall of Fame. Plans are to have a songwriter present — not necessarily one of the 66 Hall of Fame members — to answer questions from visitors.

A hotel-convention complex, under construction at Opryland, is scheduled to open Nov. 1 and is expected to double the number of persons attending conventions in Nashville. Some 101,000 were here for conventions in 1976.

Wilderness Trainee

ROCKLAND, Maine (AP) — John F. Kennedy Jr., a 16-year-old member of the family long noted for its active pursuits of sports as well as politics, has enrolled in a 26-day wilderness training program operated here.

The son of the late President, now a Phillips Andover Academy junior, is expected to begin the Hurricane Island Outward Bound School course in early July, according to Pen Williamson of the school.

He said young Kennedy will be taught sailing, navigation, rock climbing and emergency first aid and test himself in a three-day solo period spent alone on an island with only scant necessities.

Larger Feet In Czech Children

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Czech children have larger feet than previous generations, according to a market research study conducted here.

The study has found that more than 50 per cent of 13-year-old boys and over 80 per cent who are 14 and 15 must buy men's sizes. Twenty-five per cent of the girls in 13-15 age group buy women's shoes.

More Air Bands May Be Opened

By JOHN D. McCLAIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — With 23 million Citizens Band radios now in use and sales running over 10 million a year, the government is studying the need for more frequencies for personal radio use.

The addition of 17 new channels last January appears to have met the immediate need for more CB frequencies. The new channels are underused, and have lessened congestion on the older 23.

But seeing no end to the explosive growth of CB radio that began three years ago, the Federal Communications Commission created the Personal Radio Planning Group in May 1976.

The group is attempting to answer two major questions, says Carlos V. Roberts, acting chief of the FCC's Office of Plans and Policy.

"Is there a need for an additional personal radio service and, secondly, if so, at what frequency?"

The answer to the first question is the subject of a "large-scale survey of current and potential users to get a handle on how many people are going to be using personal radios, and on what they think is necessary to satisfy their needs," Roberts says.

The second question is the subject of a "working paper" the group recently issued on "spectrum alternatives." It suggests seven frequency bands for use in any expansion.

They are 26.95-26.96 megahertz (MHz), 27.54-28.00 MHz, 29.80-29.89 MHz, 29.91-30.00 MHz, 222-224 MHz, 894-902 MHz and 928-947 MHz.

The CB service now occupies frequencies ranging from 26.965 to 27.405 MHz. The potential bands now are assigned to government, land-mobile, international fixed public and amateur radio (ham) use.

Seventeen bands were considered possible candidates for use in a new personal radio service.

But 10 were dropped because of various factors including the cost of relocating the current users and the potential for interference to television.

One Place Where Mudslinging Is Fun

By JULES LOH
AP Special Correspondent
NEWINGTON, Conn. (AP) — Politicians are nothing but a bunch of mudslingers, right?
Last Sunday afternoon a gang of politicians gathered in the park. They brought their families and picnic lunches and also hauled a load of fine red dirt from beside the road and piled it in the shade of a big maple tree. They fetched buckets of water from the park pond and mixed it with the dirt. Their children helped, with obvious delight and anticipation. Soon it was mud. The kids squeezed it through their fingers and approved.

The politicians took up handfuls of the mud, stood back and let fly. They slung mud at one another, the children slung mud at the politicians, the politicians at the children. Everybody ran around slinging mud.

behold.
"In 15 years I've watched this town grow from 15,000 to about 28,000," said Councilman Ucello. "We not only grew fast, we grew apart. This is the sort of town event that can get us all together. I think it's a great idea — even if it was the Republicans."

Republican LaPorte laughed.
"In a small town, your political opponents are also your neighbors. Politics has never been dirty in Newington," LaPorte said. "We go after each other on issues, but we work together. I'd like to see us work together and make this an annual event."

INTERPARTY TUG OF WAR — Democratic forces led by Newington town council member Vinnie Ucello, wearing life preserver, top ington GOP Town Chairman William LaPorte, in striped jersey, bottom photo, at the Newington Republican's "Mud Championships" in Newington, Conn., Sunday. The Democrats won. (AP

"Dirty politics," said Paul Ucello, Democrat.

"Muddy but unbowed," said Bill LaPorte, Republican.

When it was over the politicians clasped each other's slimy hands, slapped each other's splattered backs, laughed at each other's grimy faces and headed for the keg.

"Did you enjoy it?" asked LaPorte, toweling off his wristwatch. "Meet Bunny Husmer. She's the nut over whose kitchen table this crazy idea was hatched."

"I confess," Mrs. Husmer said, shaking mud out of her hair.

"We were sitting around trying to think up ways to get more people involved, to take an interest in the town. It was late, we were all tired, ready to go home, when suddenly we came up with the idea of a mud-slinging contest. It was so silly we figured it might work."

The challenge was issued forthwith to the Democrats and accepted grandly, not only to a mud-slinging contest but also to a tug-of-war across the park pond.

At a time when the dirt of less literal mudslinging, and worse, has not yet worn off the American politician's image, there they were, the town's councilmen, school board members, zoning commissioners and all their families, out on a Sunday afternoon cooking hamburgers and playing in the mud.

Ludicrous? It was a joy to

Learn Communication While On Horseback

By DALE SINGER
ST. CHARLES, Mo. (UPI) —
Some students at Litzinger School learn more communication on horseback than in the classroom. Their teachers are thrilled.

The students are deaf. Some have other handicaps. Learning to communicate is frustrating, often discouraging and just plain hard work.

Now, a program devised by Robin Hulsey, a teaching assistant in the Special School District of St. Louis County, has made it easier for students to relate to others and, just as important, gain confidence in themselves. Ms. Hulsey is partially deaf herself.

The program takes the students, aged 6 to 20, to Three Creek Farm across the Missouri River from St. Louis County. They spend half the morning session riding horses and the other half learning about them.

In the beginning, most didn't know the difference between a forelock and a fetlock. Some shied away from contact with all animals.

Now they sit tall in the saddle, with protective headgear, and solemnly circle the ring in command of their docile steeds. They follow Ms.
Hulsey's verbal and sign language commands with relative ease.

In an interview, she said the program succeeds partly because of the philosophy behind the school district's total communication concept. It uses speech, sign language and gestures.

"With other programs the main problem is that teachers stand in the middle of the ring and assume the students can read her lips," she said. "But it's hard to read lips when I'm out in the ring and they're over on the rail."

Head teacher Betty Harris said students who never used to have much to discuss are eager and willing to display their new equestrian knowledge.

"They get more language skills out of this than they would in six mornings of classroom academics. It takes courage to do something like this. The kids come home and talk about what they've been doing, and that's what our program is all about — communication."

Ms. Hulsey said she can se-more than speech skills developing:

"They get on the horse, and the horse does what they say, and it really gives them a lift to think they can control this big animal. They're doing something different. Anybody can go swimming. This is something special."

Ms. Hulsey lost half her hearing at age 3 because of spinal meningitis. She has ridden horses "practically all my life." After graduating from college in 1975, she went to the Cheff Center for the Handicapped in Augusta, Mich., for certification in teaching horseback riding to the deaf.

A field trip last October was so successful she began the regular program using techniques learned at Cheff and others she devised herself because no appropriate signs were available.

"It's a therapeutic tool," she said of the program. "They have to learn to use verbal commands, because if they don't say 'Whoa,' those horses won't stop."

"Some of them hate to read to because it's hard for them, but they sure can read stories about horses or a chart showing all the parts of a horse."

Every student who completes the program receives an award. But the real prizes are the added confidence and skill they acquire.

Take Billy Knight, 11, who was born deaf.

"His confidence really improved," Ms. Hulsey said. "His posture is an example. For the first few weeks he'd slouch and wouldn't respond when I asked him to sit up straight. Now he's the best rider in the whole program."

"He loves it," said Mary Knight, Billy's mother. "He's really proud of what he's accomplished, and so am I. This year he's become so smug he's almost gotten obnoxious about himself. He's got a real gutsiness about him."

Hyphenated Name Has English Roots

NEW YORK (UPI) — Harold B. Brooks-Baker, an American, gets his hyphenated name from English ancestors.

Brooks-Baker, managing director of Debrett's Peerage Ltd., has traced his English, French and Dutch forebears back to the 14th century, but his Irish ancestors, only to the 17th century.

An amateur genealogist, he found "every kind of person:

farmers, squires, noblemen, school teachers ..."

Brooks-Baker was born in Washington, D.C. and educated in Maryland. He now lives in England, where Debrett's publishes genealogical books and periodicals and operates an ancestry research service. The company recently opened an

WILL BE CLOSED
SUNDAY, JUNE 19
FOR FATHER'S DAY

Give Dad a FREE Breakfast on Father's Day!

You can cut out this card and give it to Dad, or you can come to McDonald's Saturday, June 18 from 2:00 til 5:00 pm and we'll help you make a father's day card. Paper, crayons, scissors and glue will be furnished.

Please Extend Every Courtesy to this Special Person Because HE IS MY DAD!

And give him the breakfast entree of his choice and coffee absolutely FREE when I purchase a breakfast entree at Mc-Donald's.
