

Space Shuttle's Solo Flight Ends Safely

By RICHARD SALTUS
AP Science Writer
EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Two astronauts jockeyed the Space Shuttle Enterprise to a safe desert landing today after a fast, steep glide off the back of its mother ship, a jet transport plane. It was the first solo flight of America's newest manned spacecraft.

of about 25,000 feet took a little over five minutes, during which the shuttle turned, banked and apparently handled just the way it had been designed. The successful flight marked a major milestone in the development of the shuttle, which is to be a reusable "space bus" in the 1980s, capable of carrying seven persons and up to 65,000 pounds of cargo into Earth orbit.

Haise, in putting the white and black craft through its first solo maneuvers over the desert, said it seemed to handle a little better than a special trainer in which he had made many simulations of today's flight. The shuttle was carried into the air, piggyback, aboard a Boeing 747. Thousands of spectators watched the takeoff, about a minute ahead of the scheduled 8 a.m. PDT liftoff. When the pair, accompanied by chase planes, reached the proper altitude, explosive charges broke the connection between the craft, launching the shuttle on its glide.

The entire maneuver — from takeoff to landing — took less than an hour. The landing was a preview of how future manned space missions will end — not with the traditional ocean splash-downs of the Apollo moon missions, but with shuttles touching down at high speeds. Lacking any engine that could permit a second landing try, the shuttle must be guided perfectly during its approach at more than 300 m.p.h. The landing requires precise flying skills and thus a system of five computers and a set of electronic nerves translates the pilots' control orders into the shuttle's maneuvers. To ensure a faultless landing a funnel of electronic microwave beams is aimed at the speeding shuttle from a ground transmitter. Much like an airliner making a cloud-shrouded instrument landing, the shuttle can follow the beams down to the touchdown point. The airworthiness of the Boeing 747 carrier plane with the shuttle riding on top was proven in a series of eight previous flights here earlier this year. During the final "captive tests," Haise and Fullerton — alternating with a second crew, Joseph Engle and Richard Truly — rode in the shuttle as the mated craft rehearsed the separation maneuvers. Today's test is the first of about eight planned to explore the cumbersome shuttle's gliding and handling characteristics. Slayton has said that it flies like a jet fighter with a failed engine; it falls steeply and quickly. He said that a single successful test of the landing capabilities would be sufficient to go ahead with the first actual test firing of the shuttle into orbit, scheduled for early in 1979.

N.C. Harvest Sharply Cut

By The Associated Press
Figures released by the state Thursday indicate that because of the lack of rain, flue-cured tobacco production will be down 246 million pounds from the July estimate, and corn production will be off 60 million bushels from the July forecast. That's a drop of 16 per cent for tobacco and 37 per cent for corn. The figures indicated that the drought was taking a more severe toll on North Carolina crops than was previously believed. The tobacco and corn losses, combined with losses to livestock, poultry, fruits, vegetables, hay and pastures, put the estimated losses at $500 million. More federal relief for farmers hit hard by the drought was made available when 27 North Carolina counties, mostly in the Piedmont, were designated eligible for the federal Emergency Feed Program for livestock Thursday. Under the program, producers will be reimbursed for up to half the cost of grain and hay, but not more than two cents a pound, for eligible livestock. Farmers may apply at county

Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation offices for the federal assistance. Meanwhile, three more communities took steps to deal with another effect of the drought — potential municipal water-supply shortages. The Buncombe County town of Weaverville declared an emergency because intake from the town's springs was off. Town Manager John Creighton said the situation created a severe water shortage. "We are not out of water," Creighton said, "but if the present situation keeps up, we are bound to run out." Elsewhere in Buncombe County, Black Mountain Mayor Margaret Slagle asked residents to refrain from unnecessary use of water to avoid a shortage. In the McDowell County city of Marion, an ordinance enacted last summer banning unnecessary water use was being strictly enforced. In Raleigh, Howard Lee, state secretary of human resources, met with the Orange Water and Sewer Authority (OWSA) and declared that alleviating the Chapel Hill-Carboro water shortage was the "number one priority" of his department. Lee pledged to support whatever action OWSA officials decide to take, but suggested that a 5½-mile pipeline be set up between University Lake, Orange County's main water source, and the Haw River near Bynum. It would supply two million gallons of water a day on a short-term basis. Lee also suggested that OWSA begin drilling some 30 deep wells in the drainage basin above University Lake as part of a permanent solution to the water-supply problems there. Berkowitz. The halfsmile that has flickered across his lips since his arrest reappeared. Friends of Berkowitz say he had undergone a drastic personality transformation during his service in Korea by taking LSD. The Daily News reports today that this transformation was obvious in letters written to the unnamed friends. They told the News that Berkowitz, formerly conservative and enthusiastic about the Army, began writing about acid trips and pacifism. They said he renounced Judaism and joined the Baptist Church upon his return from Korea. Berkowitz has already undergone another sort of questioning, hours of grilling by the police on Thursday. He has allegedly told police that he was the "Son of Sam," object of the most extensive manhunt in New York City history. Officers also said he gave what one detective called a "blow-by-blow" description of his year-long murder spree. "He's amazing," the detective said. "He seems to have total recall, correcting us on minor details here and there." Police said Berkowitz also was able to answer questions about a letter left at the scene of a double murder last April 17. The note's contents had never been made public, but Berkowitz knew the letter

Berkowitz Begins Psychiatric Tests

By HENRIETTA LEITH
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The questioning begins today, the psychiatrists quizzing an overweight, smiling postal clerk who reportedly has told police he killed six people and wounded seven on the command of a 6,000-year-old voice named "Sam" who spoke through a dog. David Berkowitz, 24, an Army veteran who served in Korea, former auxiliary policeman and security guard, and lately a mail sorter in a Bronx post office, is not in a jail cell but in a heavily guarded room in the mental ward at Kings County Hospital in Brooklyn, ordered there by a judge who said: "I am of the opinion that the defendant may be incapacitated." Judge Richard Brown of Brooklyn Criminal Court ordered the psychiatric tests Thursday as the suspect stood before him, saying nothing but "yes" when asked if his name was David

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

PAPERBACKS GIVEN
Response to the June 22 Hotline appeal for paperback books for the "mini-libraries" of Sheppard Memorial Library was "fantastic", according to June Parker of the library staff. She said between 20 and 25 different individuals, families and groups brought in books to be donated as a result of the appeal. One group, the Greenville Opti-Mrs. Club gave about 175 books in good condition. "The operation of our mini-libraries depends upon these donations," she said, "and this has been a tremendous boost. We were especially pleased to receive so many best-sellers and children's books, because these are the ones that are the most expensive for the library to have to purchase."

Mini-libraries are located at the Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center, the South Greenville Recreation Center, Pitt Memorial Hospital, the Pitt County Jail and the Greenville Nursing Villa, Mrs. Parker said. Donations are welcomed at any time and in any quantity, from one upward, she said.

RECEIVED CLEANER
I ordered one pound of Septi-zone septic tank cleaner from Chapelwood Industries in Monsey, N. Y. May 28. They have cashed my check for $5.95, but I have not received the cleaner, though I have written to the company twice. C. M.

Hotline wrote to the company July 25 and you report that you received the merchandise Aug. 6. We had requested either the product or a refund, stating that we would contact the New York Attorney General's Office if the reader did not hear from them within a month.

Tremors Shake Californians

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Windows broke, dishes rattled and buildings shuddered when a moderate earthquake rumbled through southern California from Santa Monica to Santa Barbara. "Our building rolled really good with it," Los Angeles Police Sgt. Charles Meter said of the Thursday evening tremor. Meter said the quake was strong enough to shake the three-story reinforced-concrete station and felt as if it were stronger than the 4.4 magnitude recorded on the Richter scale. "When this building rolls, you know it's a good one," Meter said.

Reviews Panama Canal Terms Word-By-Word

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is going over the new Panama Canal pact word for word so he can okay every detail and start a sales blitz to convince Congress and the people it's safe, sure to improve Latin American relations and worth ratifying. For the first time as President, Carter cleared his schedule today of all appointments but his regular intelligence briefing so he could devote the day to studying the agreement. Approval was expected. Carter gave his preliminary opinion Thursday: "I'm very pleased with it." Moreover, White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said Ambassadors Ellsworth Bunker and Sol Linowitz would not have agreed to the principles in the pact without the President's consent. Agreement was reached with the Panamanian government Wednesday night. Officials at the departments of state and defense joined in today's review.

They and the President worked with copies of the agreement furnished by Bunker and Linowitz. Carter asked the ambassadors to note special points of emphasis in the margins. Carter welcomed the ambassadors Thursday as they arrived at the White House by helicopter after flying by jet from Panama. They went directly to the Cabinet Room, where Bunker and Linowitz gave the President details of the agreement first hand. The joint chiefs of staff, Defense Secretary Harold Brown and Undersecretary of State Warren Christopher listened to the report. Gen. David C. Jones, Air Force chief of staff, said the agreement is one "the Joint Chiefs could support fully" and help ratify. "This is a crucial element in the American people's acceptance of the treaty," Carter said. "Above all else the security of our nation stands as the greatest concern with me and Ambassador Bunker and Ambassador Linowitz. "With this treaty, which is the culmination of 13 years of hard work, I think we've arrived at a point where we can adequately defend and control the operation of the canal throughout this century," the President declared. He said the United States "can help, along with Panama, to guarantee the neutrality of the canal in perpetuity, its openness to international shipping, and in time of danger to our own country, with our own warships being given expedited passage." This agreement has given the United States "a new sense of partnership between ourselves and the Panamanians," the President said. Linowitz and Bunker have said it will bring improved relationships with all Latin American nations. "I think the biggest responsibility is now on our shoulders," Carter said. "And I accept the leadership role to convince the American people we have reached an agreement that is advantageous to our own country, to our national security and to the free and open guarantee that the Panama Canal will continue to be used by everyone."

Hilliard-Reed Vows Said In Ceremony Saturday

Miss Alyce Reed became the bride of Alton Hilliard Saturday at 5:00 p.m. at the Sycamore Hill Baptist Church. The Rev. B. B. Felder officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Reed of Greenville, is a graduate of C. M. Epps High School and N. C. Central University, Durham. She is employed as an interior decorator, New Bern.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Virginia Hilliard of New Bern, and the late Mr. Jasper Hilliard. He attended A and T State University, Greensboro, and is director of Operations, N. C. Department of Labor, New Bern Division.

A program of pre-nuptial organ music was rendered by Mrs. Selina Forbes. Ms. Priscilla Hilliard, soloist and pianist, sang "Love Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Venise and re-embroidered alencon lace in sugarcane. The sheer yoke was outlined in lace and also adorned the trumpet sleeves. The lace empire waistline held the Venise hemmed skirt and the attached chapel train. Her chapel length veil extended from a turban of sugarcane giana enhanced with alencon lace. She carried a formal cascade of miniature white carnations, baby's breath and tips of greenery tied with white satin.

Ms. Lillian Watson of New Haven, Conn., served as maid of honor and Mrs. Delores Callaway of New Bern as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Shirley Atkinson of New Haven, Conn., Mrs. Liz Savage, Mrs. David Ann Boyd and Ms. Helen Reed, sisters of the bride of Greenville, and Mrs. Valeria Hilliard, sister of the bridegroom of New Bern.

The attendants' gowns were of cream empire bodice slip dresses styled with evening ponchos of gold-orange floral chiffon. The gowns were designed by the bride. They each carried three long-stemmed carnations tied with orange satin streamers and wore clusters of carnation in their hair.

Flower girls were Miss Tanya Boyd and Miss Tiffany Atkinson, nieces of the bride. They were dressed similar to the other attendants and wore clusters of baby's breath in their hair. Ring bearer was Demetrius Nelson of Greenville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Reed selected a formal gown of yellow shantung. Mrs.

Hilliard wore a gown of blue knit. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Alfonso Hilliard of Minot, N. D., served his brother as best man. Ushers were Curtis Hilliard, Durham, Leamon Dillahunt, Lansing, Mich., Hebrew Boone, Burlington, N. J., Michael Murrell, New York, N. Y., and Gregory Hardesty, Greensboro.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Ella Harris of Greenville.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception at the Moyewood Center. Presiding at the guest register was Ms. Mirna Smalls. Mrs. Jacqueline Shiver Stroud of Raleigh introduced guests to the receiving line.

Cake was cut by Mrs. Marie Jones and Mrs. Ruby Taylor and Mrs. Shirley Ruffin poured punch. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Rosa Brown, Mrs. Liddie Boyd and Mrs. Edie Boyd.

Friends of the bridal couple entertained the bridal party and out-of-town guests at an after-rehearsal cookout at the home of the bride's parents Friday evening.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will be at home in New Bern.

Should Bachelors Have Their 'Day'?

By Abigail Van Buren

1977 by The Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: We have a Mother's Day and a Father's Day, why not officially declare a day to honor bachelors? The great historian and philosopher, Will Durant, compiled a list of the ten men he rated as having the sharpest minds of all time. Among them were Plato, Isaac Newton, Voltaire, Immanuel Kant, Leonardo da Vinci and St. Thomas Aquinas, all of whom were bachelors!

Two of the world's greatest musicians were bachelors—Beethoven and Brahms. Oddly enough, the musician who was said to have been the greatest ladies' man of them all was Richard Wagner—a married man!

One finds outstanding bachelors in all trades and professions except politics.

Let's hear it for bachelors!

ED IN RICHMOND

DEAR ED: Why not? But two bachelors DID make it big in politics: James Buchanan, our 16th president, and Jerry Brown, California's governor.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a non-smoking guy going with a beautiful redhead whose breath smells like smoldering tires. This gal really turns me on, but her breath turns me off.

How do other guys handle this situation? Don't tell me to take up smoking so I won't notice her breath. I was a three-pack-a-day man until my brother developed lung cancer, and that cured me.

Answer soon. I want to marry this girl, but wonder how to handle this one major problem.

TIMID TIM

DEAR TIM: Try the direct approach. If that doesn't work, the ball is in your court again, and only you can decide if you want this beautiful redhead whose breath turns you off.

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a person who is constantly correcting others in public about the pronunciation of words and their use? All involved in this situation are adults.

Thank you.

CRITICIZED

DEAR CRITICIZED: The constant corrector is showing his ignorance. It is infinitely more important to be KIND than to be correct.

Cooking Is Fun

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
PARMESAN ASPARAGUS

This makes a feast!

- 1 pound medium-thick asparagus
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese

Break off tough whitish ends from asparagus. Soak in a sink generously filled with hot water for 5 minutes to relax the bracts so extraneous material will float out; soak in cold water for 10 minutes to refresh. Drain. With a sharp knife slice spears diagonally into very thin ovals up to buds; slice each bud in half lengthwise. Put the butter, water, salt and asparagus in an 8-inch skillet with a dome cover. Bring to simmering; cover tightly and simmer until as tender as you like — 3 to 5 minutes; watch so water evaporates but asparagus does not scorch. Off heat, sprinkle with the cheese or stir it in. Makes 2 large delicious servings.

SALMON PUFFS

They steam briefly and unmold beautifully.

- 2 eggs
- 7/8-ounce can salmon, undrained
- 3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- 3 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs

Salt and pepper to taste
In a medium mixing bowl beat eggs slightly. Add remaining ingredients, and mix well with a fork. Turn into 3 well-buttered custard cups; tightly cover each with foil. Place on a rack in a saucepot; pour enough boiling water into the pot to reach halfway up cups. Bring water to a boil; cover saucepot; keep water boiling gently until puffs are firm and a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean — 20 minutes. Remove foil; loosen edges and turn out. Makes 3 servings.

STRAWBERRY RHUBARB

1 3/4 pounds (about) trimmed pink or red rhubarb

- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup water
- 10-ounce package halved strawberries in syrup

Rinse rhubarb and cut crosswise diagonally into 1-inch pieces — there will be about 7 1/2 cups. In a large wide saucepot bring the sugar and water to a boil, stirring until sugar dissolves. Add rhubarb; bring quickly to boiling again, stirring twice; remove from heat; cover tightly; let stand without lifting cover until cold. Pour into a serving bowl or refrigerator container. Defrost strawberries according to package directions; add to rhubarb and stir gently. Serve at once or chill. Makes about 6 1/2 cups of a not overly sweet compote.

UFO Investigator For 32 Years Is Now Believer

RESCUE EFFORTS — Members of the Winterville Rescue Squad render emergency medical aid to two victims of an accident Thursday. According to Highway Patrolman D.R. Taylor, a beverage truck was headed west on Highway 1130, and a truck headed south on Rural Road 1128 driven by Andree Hart Blanchard of Hookerton struck the beverage truck in the right side, causing it to overturn. Taylor said that a passenger, Mary Kay Cahoon, and Ms. Blanchard were injured and transported to Pitt Memorial Hospital. The driver of the beverage truck was identified by the trooper as William Albert Moore of Chocowinity. Taylor said Moore was charged with failure to stop for a stop sign. The accident occurred on Rural Road 1128 and road 1130 near Winterville. Damage to the beverage truck was listed as $2,000 to the truck and $1,500 to the contents of the truck. Damage to the Blanchard vehicle was listed as $2,000; the vehicle caught fire shortly after the collision. Members of the Winterville Fire Department assisted. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Should Survey For Corn Earworm Loss

Pitt County soybean and peanut growers need to survey fields for corn earworm damage. Damaging numbers of the destructive corn earworms were found in some soybean fields in the county last week, according to Leroy James, agricultural extension agent. The corn earworm is yellowish green to dark brown with a tan head. It is somewhat hairy and up to two inches long. When disturbed it usually falls to the ground and curls up. The economic damage level for corn earworms in soybeans is where field surveys show two corn earworms per foot of row, James said.

Scouting for corn earworms should begin on late maturing soybeans (Bragg, Ransom and Hutton) and late planted Lee, Pickett 71, Davis and McNair 600 — soybean varieties that bloom during moth flight and have the most earworm problems. In addition, fields with open canopies have more corn earworm problems. Small corn earworms are usually brown, somewhat hairy and usually one-third to one-half inches long when beans are about finished blooming.

LINCOLNTON, N.C. (AP) — George Fawcett is a believer in UFOs. He has been investigating the phenomena for 32 years. He has personally investigated more than 1,000 reports of UFO sightings.

That investigation has resulted in an obsession that he now has to convince others that UFOs do exist, that the earth has been and is frequently visited by visitors from other solar systems, other galaxies, perhaps from time and space frames different than the earth's.

"See," he says, "the first five years I was doing all of this I was a skeptic, but for the past 27 years I've been a true believer."

Fawcett can recall visiting a woman at Gastonia. She told him that while on a trip to Virginia she and her husband had seen a flying saucer land and watched as four creatures got out. For nearly an hour they had watched as the creatures gathered soil and rock samples before climbing back into their craft and whirling away in a streak of light.

Although the incident had occurred 47 years earlier, Fawcett returned home as excited as if it was yesterday. He brought with him sketches and notes he had prepared from the woman's description.

Of the more than 1,000 UFO reports he has investigated, all but 22 per cent can be readily explained away. The woman's was one of that 22 per cent that defied conventional explanation. It would go into Fawcett's evidence file.

In addition to investigating UFO reports, he has sent out thousands of questionnaires, accumulated and read more than 26,000 reports of sightings, filled 20 filing cabinet drawers with UFO material, collected and read more than 500 books about them, written one book himself, started four UFO study groups in different parts of the country and lectured widely.

In the 32 years he has been laughed at and called some unkind things.

"I don't get the ridicule I had years ago," he says. "Thirty years ago, I was a kook, a communist, a crackpot and FBI spy. I've been through this...The world has changed."

He loves to say that scientists now take UFOs seriously, that 20 colleges offer courses in "UFOlogy," that such personages as evangelists Billy Graham and Carl McIntyre have spoken of the possibility of UFOs as angels, that President Carter has reported seeing a UFO, that 15 million Americans now have seen UFOs.

Fawcett was 15 when he first took an interest in UFOs. He read a newspaper story in 1944 that told of American pilots reporting mysterious, round, silvery objects in the air over Germany. He was intrigued and the following year when strange glowing objects were reported in the sky over Mt. Airy, he interviewed everybody he could find who had seen them.

Keeping up with UFOs takes all the time Fawcett can spare from his job as general manager of the Maiden Times in Maiden. In recent months, he has investigated sightings in Charlotte, Maiden, Lincolnton and Shelby.

He gets about 1,000 letters a year — and has received as many as 5,000 — and answers them all. He hopes some day to teach college courses in UFOlogy and dreams of establishing an UFO museum in North Carolina.

In all those years, Fawcett, ironically, has spotted only one UFO. It was while he was a senior at Lynchburg College in Virginia. The thing looked like a glowing orange cut in half, flat side down. It appeared to be hovering about 300 feet above the trees.

He has no idea what it was.

Unusual Demand For Farm Ponds In Pitt

The prolonged dry weather in Pitt County in recent months has created an unusual demand for Soil Conservation Service assistance regarding the use of farm ponds for irrigation, according to local soil conservationist Jacob Crandall. Crandall said that SCS personnel are ready to help landowners determine suitable sites and provide other technical assistance, including the placement of stakes where draglines and other heavy equipment may dig on farm ponds.

Bulb Sale Plans Laid

The Greenville Jaycees, meeting for their regular membership session Thursday, discussed plans for the annual Lightbulb Sale, tentatively set this year for the second and third weeks in September.

All proceeds from the lightbulb project, it was pointed out, go to charities within the Greenville community.

During the meeting, Dr. D. H. Taylor, local dentist, gave a report on the Jaycees' Dental Care for Indigent Children program. The Jaycees pay for dental supplies while Taylor and his staff provide the time and service to provide free dental care to children whose families are not able to afford the care otherwise.

The Jaycees also discussed plans for the Pumpkin and Bluegrass Festival, scheduled for Oct. 16 in Greenville. Bluegrass bands from throughout the Southeastern United States are expected to participate in the festival, it was noted.

Pumpkin pie eating contests and arts and crafts booths are also expected to be scheduled during the fall festival.

Kappa Gamma honor society for women educators.

The four honorees were Bonnie Crissman of Broadway, a science education major; Patricia MacKenzie of Concord and Kathleen Brown of Binghamton, N.Y., special education majors; and Naomi Ballance of Smithfield, an early childhood education major.

The grants, each consisting of $100 awards, are given annually to prospective teachers among the ECU student body on the basis of superior scholarship achievement and service to professional organizations.

Canal Giveaway To Hit Snags

Negotiations for turning over control of the Panama Canal to the Panamanians have been completed, and we have to say that we sure don't like it. Under the agreement, completed last week, control of the canal would be turned over during a 23 year period — by the year 2000. That will mean the United States has constructed and maintained control of the canal for approximately a century.

The agreement calls for unrestricted traffic through the canal after the Panamanians take over and considerably higher payments by the United States to Panama.

At the time the United States negotiated the original perpetual lease of the canal zone colonialism was accepted — now it is all but gone, replaced perhaps by the kind of economic controls that communist nations seem so adept at. And that is what concerns us. If Panama should fall into the sphere of the Chinese or the Soviets or Castro's Cuba, where will our guarantees of free access to the canal be? Things have vastly changed since the canal was originally built. Air transportation is widely available and many sea going vessels can't even use the canal today. Still the canal is essential to the survival of the United States in possible times of crisis. Giving up control with no better guarantees than we have could be disastrous to us at some future time. We predict that the proposed treaty will have a difficult time in the United States Senate.

UF Goals Set, Next Is The Organizing

The Pitt United Fund board of directors approved a $272,465.27 budget for 1978 at a meeting Tuesday. In a short while the campaign will be organized and efforts to raise cash and pledges to meet the budget will be underway. The various agencies of United Fund perform important services to our county, and we feel that the proposed budgets represents minimum financial support for them.

Won't Say No To Prospect

BY BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—Despite insistence on environmental quality and emphasis on higher paying jobs, North Carolina doesn't say No to industrial prospects. There are times when a particularly low-paying operation is advised to go where prevailing wages are lower—but that works to the advantage of both the community involved and the company seeking low-pay, low-skilled workers. As for environmental concerns, the state's top industry hunters say that in just six short years, that once-explosive area is no longer a problem. "In North Carolina and in the rest of the nation, there has been tremendous acceptance of the need to live and to grow within stated and clearly defined environmental policies," says Victor W. Barfield assistant secretary of the Department of Commerce.

are simply not a problem at this stage in history," says Barfield. The work of environmentalists in raising the issues and pushing reforms created a rapid public education and acceptance of defined environmental policies. "The industries know this, local governments know this, and state agencies concerned both with protecting resources and with pushing economic growth know this. . . we now have generally accepted and recognized environmental standards and no real conflicts," Barfield said. Barfield said this condition is the reason that separation of industry hunting from the state agency charged with environmental protection was sensible. There was some concern that the separation would lead to top-level conflict between protectionists and growth interests. "In 1971, that could have happened. And that is why we needed both agencies in one department. . . we had no generally accepted environmental standards. That gave us the chance to develop one policy and once agency to speak to both

Water

The area of environmental concern which still remains a major factor, however, is water. State officials are developing guidelines to help influence big users to locate in specific areas, and to encourage local officials to be more selective in terms of committing themselves to water or sewer services which would prove either impossible to meet, or detrimental to the community in the long range. As for low-wage jobs, Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr. makes a point of pushing for higher paying industries, but concedes that particular counties where as many as 65 per cent of the people are on welfare and where pay is at or below minimums, then a firm paying $3 per hour is an improvement. "We are not seeking out the lower-wage firms, and the percentage is decreasing. But you do have to understand what is happening. . . if you can't find a job at all, and you get one at $3, then that is progress," says Hunt. He describes this scenario: a "cut-and-sew" plant builds in a depressed county, and entry-level employees get training in using machinery and in holding a job; a higher-skill firm moves in and siphons off the good workers, opening new entry jobs for the unskilled. After awhile, "the whole thing moves up," says the governor. The other side of the coin is that many firms needing high skills avoid areas where people don't have the education and experience, creating the need to upgrade those communities.

HOW DOES HE DO IT?

Carter Keeps Silence

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter will continue to discuss official business with Budget Director Bert Lance, but he is withholding expressions of support for his longtime friend, whose personal finances are under federal investigation. White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said Thursday that Carter wants to avoid influencing the investigation, being conducted by the Comptroller of the Currency. Powell faced his first on-the-record, at-length questioning on the investigation at the daily White House news briefing and said in a carefully worded statement that Carter would withhold comment on Lance or the probe. In so doing, Powell left Lance without any statement of support from the person who could have been his strongest defender. "It is our belief that the only appropriate course of action for us to follow while the inquiry is underway is to withhold any comment which could be construed as influencing the conclusion of that inquiry," Powell said.

The press secretary said he realized that the absence of comment on the case could be viewed several ways, presumably as a lack of support for Lance. Powell said Carter received a report on the investigation Thursday by Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, who asked for the session. "It was our feeling that the President should be kept abreast in general terms . . . but that he not become involved in the details or in any way attempt to direct the inquiry," Powell said.

"The fact that the friendship is there, that the personal relationship is there, makes it particularly important that if we err we err on the side of caution," Powell said. "I know of no other course of action to take." Powell said the two men would continue to discuss budget-related matters. "There is no alteration in relations or functions," the press secretary said. "The President will continue to talk with Mr. Lance. In any situation where he needs to talk with Mr. Lance about Office of Management and Budget meetings, they will."

A Clean Bomb For Sale

"Knock, Knock. How do you do, sir. Could I interest you in our latest enhanced neutron bomb?"
"What do I want with a neutron bomb?"
"This is the best thing to come along since the invention of synthetic potato chips. The neutron bomb is not really a bomb, but an artillery shell with a low-yield atomic capability."
"Thank you very much but I've got all the atomic weapons I need."
"Please don't shut the door until you've heard me out. The neutron bomb is a clean weapon."

"What does that mean?"
"It means, sir, that it kills people but it doesn't destroy property. You can fire one of these into a city or town and walk in the next day and find almost every building intact. Since this has just been developed, you would be the only one to own a clean bomb on your block. You would be the envy of everyone in your neighborhood."
"I don't know. It sounds interesting but I've been spending so much money on weapons lately I'm not sure I could afford a clean bomb."

"Let me show you our catalog. Look at the size of the neutron bomb. You can put it in your station wagon, and fire it from any U-Haul. This is not a luxury item, but an absolute necessity. As a major power you can't do without it."
"That's what you told me about the B-1 bomber."
"Forget the B-1 bomber. Think of the environmental aspects of the neutron bomb. You don't have to worry about dirty fallout any more. You don't have to mess with a lot of rubble or deal with radiation for years. After you kill everyone you can walk into a town in 24 hours and it will be as clean as a whistle. Your troops can set up an officers' club and a USO in a matter of days."
"It does sound interesting, but isn't there some arms limitation about a clean bomb?"
"Absolutely not. There is nothing in the SALT agreement about owning a neutron bomb. This is not a strategic weapon such as a missile. It is nothing more than an artillery shell that can be used by your ground forces in the same manner as a flame thrower or a tank."
"Does the other side have a neutron bomb?"
"They do not. That's what makes it such an appealing weapon. We're the only ones manufacturing them and we have the patent on it. If you buy it we assure you that you will be ahead in the arms race."
"There is only one problem. If I have a clean bomb and the other side doesn't, what would prevent them from using a dirty bomb to get even with me?"
"That would be against the rules of nuclear warfare. After all if you're not destroying their property why should they get mad enough to use a dirty bomb?"
"You make it sound so simple. But there must be a catch in it somewhere. If I was the other side and I didn't have a clean bomb, I'd use everything I had, just to get even."
"But that would be all-out war. The beauty of the clean bomb is that the war could be limited to just armed combatants. You can pinpoint a neutron bomb to just hit the target area. Think of all the civilian lives you could save."

Other Editors Say There's Only One

(Washington Daily News)
As East Carolina University goes about the job of finding a new person to fill the shoes of Dr. Leo Jenkins as Chancellor, the fear has been expressed that each candidate will be measured against Dr. Jenkins. And from the practical standpoint, making such a comparison is not improbable and impractical to a degree. But the truth is that another Dr. Leo Jenkins will not be found, and the people of ECU realize that fact. And even among partisan ECU boosters, some might say that for the past few years Dr. Jenkins has put too much emphasis on getting any criticism on this score by saying that had he not made the all out fight for such a medical school, we would not have it ready to go nor would we have it even on the drawing board, in our opinion. We firmly believe that in the years before us, the ECU Medical School will become a fortress of strength for us who live and work and make our lives here in far Eastern North Carolina. Had a person of lesser dedication or had a leader with less strength been heading the effort, where would we be right now? If some other areas did suffer, and that charge certainly is very debatable, we just do not know where they are. And let us say that at the very same moment Dr. Jenkins was leading the way for a new medical school, he was also furnishing the inspiration and leadership for the enlargement of the stadium. And the new arts building there is named for him. Overall then, Dr. Jenkins has had to carry a heavy load of responsibility. And maybe on occasion he has not put as much emphasis on certain phases of educational activity or discipline as he might have done. But there is a human limit to what one man can do. Suffice it here to say that no person that we have known has been so dedicated to the idea of putting greater strength in all university programs than has Leo Jenkins. And getting some man or woman as new chancellor who has an interest in the overall university program is a charge that must be before the committee. A new chancellor for ECU who can step into the shoes of Dr. Jenkins and find a perfect fit is impossible. But let us hope that the new chancellor will show clear leadership and a strong dedication to the history, tradition, and future of East Carolina University. But comparing now what one might see as the idea chancellor in the image of Leo Jenkins is unwise, impractical, and downright impossible. And it will be a disfavor both to the new chancellor and to the university itself. Let us put our values in proper order.

THE INSIDE REPORT

Defend Or Not Defend?

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — A draft presidential directive on defense strategy was amended last week by adding six words that seemingly reassert the U.S. commitment to defend Central Europe but actually raise contradictions that can only be resolved by Jimmy Carter himself. The original draft prepared last month contained this ambiguous policy for meeting a Soviet attack against West Germany: "Consonant with present NATO strategy, including forward defense, the U.S. is committed to minimum loss of territory in the event of a Warsaw Pact conventional attack." A revised version drafted last week was strengthened to read that "the U.S. is committed to having the capability, in conjunction with its allies, to stop a Warsaw Pact attack with minimum loss of territory, and ultimately to restore prewar boundaries." Most important are those last six words — "and ultimately to restore prewar boundaries" — meaning that any Soviet invasion would be rolled back to the Communist bloc's present borders. According to some defense sources, those six words were slipped into the directive after our recent column reported a U.S. strategy conceding the loss of one-third of West Germany to a Soviet invasion. Whatever the timing, the revision raises two serious questions. Question No. 1: PRM-10, the voluminous national strategy paper upon which the six-page presidential directive is based, says a Soviet attack in Central Europe can be rolled back to "prewar boundaries" only if defense spending is increased beyond a level acceptable to the U.S. public. As we reported earlier, national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski advised that view before the Security Coordinating Council (SCC), which made no dissent. So, how will the pledge in the presidential directive be made good? Question No. 2: Both PRM-10 and Dr. Brzezinski (at the SCC meeting) suggest covering military weakness with strong rhetoric. So, were the six reassuring words added merely in pursuance of this dubious tactic? What is involved here is not merely scholarly consideration of future options but an official appraisal of present reality. PRM-10 says: "The study concludes that the chance of NATO stopping an attack with minimal loss of territory and then achieving its full objective of recovering that land which had been lost appears remote at the present time." The four alternative strategies indicated by PRM-10 as the ones most acceptable to the American public would continue this situation. In addition, PRM-10 says the strategies "provide only a moderate conventional capability to confront the Soviets worldwide in the event a major war erupts" and indicates the existing capability to do this is "uncertain." That undermines the New York Times report, attributed to "a senior White House official," that U.S. attacks on Soviet "assets" outside Europe would force Moscow to surrender German territory gained in an invasion. To compensate for this weakness, both PRM-10 and Brzezinski propose public reaffirmation of present NATO strategy while privately admitting inadequate means to pursue it. PRM-10 urges that the U.S. "publicly support MC-14/3 (official NATO strategy), particularly with reference to forward defense and restoration of the status quo ante." Hence, the latest draft of the presidential directive is less than convincing when it declares "the U.S. reaffirms U.S. strategy as expressed in MC-14/3." The alternative to such deception is described by PRM-10 as a minimum of 33 army divisions (compared to the present 16) in the U.S. force structure. Even a 27-division structure, says the document, could not recapture the one-third of West Germany lost to Soviet invasion. This grossly misstates the problem, in the view of most military experts — such as retired Gen. James Holl-

Strength For Today

CRAFTSMANSHIP
Stradivarius, the greatest maker of violins in history, died in 1737 after turning out over 1100 string instruments, of which 540 were violins, 12 violas, and 50 cellos. He was believed to be very rich. Tall, gaunt, and of few words, he lived humbly, and generally went about in a workman's apron. A few of his violins are still in use today. They are, of course, almost incredibly expensive. To this day no one has been able to discover what made these instruments the best that ever came from human hands. Some believe that the varnish he used had much to do with the fine tone of the instruments. The formula is lost, however, probably destroyed by Stradivarius's son. The quality of these violins illustrates the primacy of craftsmanship over modern scientific methods found even in some fields today. We tend to think that when better goods are made, science will make them. This may be true of consumer items, but in everything that relates to art the genius of the craftsman is what counts.

Cigarette Tax Action Readied

By The Associated Press
Aides to several North Carolina Congressmen and the American Tobacco Institute in Washington expressed reservations about Congressional legislation that could make the difference in cigarette taxes between North Carolina and Northeastern states a hot issue. "Is it incumbent on North Carolina to clean the Augean stables of New York?" asked Ted Daniel, executive assistant to Rep. L.H. Fountain, D-N.C., whose district includes much of North Carolina's tobacco acreage. Ed Welch, assistant to Rep. Walter Jones, D-N.C., suggested a solution to the problem, which has led to the bootlegging of cigarettes might be lowering the tax in high tax states. An official of the Tobacco Institute agreed. The legislation will face the House when Congress reconvenes after Labor Day. Before the House recessed last week, 11 bills had been introduced calling for penalties for the interstate transportation of cigarettes from low-tax states, such as North Carolina, Virginia and Kentucky, to high-tax states such as New York and Connecticut. The state tax on cigarettes in North Carolina, a major cigarette manufacturing state, is two cents a pack. In New York City, the combined city-state tax is 23 cents a pack, encouraging bootlegging of cigarettes and depriving the high-tax states of revenue. Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., and Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr., R-N.Y., sponsored the latest piece of legislation. They estimate cigarette tax evasion costs 14 states $391 million in lost revenue annually. Rep. Holtzman's legislation would "make it unlawful knowingly to ship, transport, receive or possess contraband cigarettes." Persons distributing more than 20,000 cigarettes would be required to keep records of shipments. Penalties for violations would result in maximum fines of $10,000 and two years in prison. Rep. Holtzman said, "a substantial impetus exists for criminal activity since there is a $2.10 profit to be made on a carton of bootlegged cigarettes in New York City." She said one out of two cigarettes sold in New York City is bootlegged. That costs New York City taxpayers $85 million annually in lost tax revenues from legitimate sales. She estimated annual losses in New Jersey to be $119 million, Pennsylvania $176 million, Connecticut $86 million, Illinois $75 million, and Ohio $30 million. Hayden Gregory, chief majority counsel for the House subcommittee on crime, said in a telephone interview from his Washington office that hearings will take place later this fall if they are scheduled for this session.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Cool temperatures are forecast today for the northern Plains to the upper Great Lakes, but temperatures are expected to be warm over most of the country.

Rain is expected for the central Gulf coast and from the Ohio Valley to the mid-Atlantic coast. (AP Laserphoto Map)

By The Associated Press
Temperatures in the 90s Thursday, temperatures in the 90s today, and no relief in sight through the weekend in North Carolina, says the National Weather Service.

Around the state Thursday only the mountains and the Outer Banks escaped the 90s as their high readings for the day remained in the 80s. Elsewhere, Rocky Mount had a high of 97, Wilmington set a new high for the date of 96, Greensboro and Raleigh reached 95, and Charlotte 94. Asheville's high was 86.

A few scattered thundershowers were reported over the state Thursday with more than an inch reported at New Bern. Nearly half an inch fell in a thundershower last night at Hickory, and some hail was reported in a thundershower in northern Wake County.

ingsworth. In his 1976 study for the Senate, Hollingsworth put less stress on additional manpower than on additional firepower. Nowhere in the hundreds of pages of PRM-10 is it even suggested that standardized, more powerful rockets and guns might defend Central Europe without massive increases in defense spending.

PRM-10, the product of newly-appointed civilians at the Pentagon, is regarded by uniformed officers not so much as ideologically impure as professionally shoddy. Secretary of Defense Harold Brown has been chary about giving it his full endorsement and has privately criticized aspects of it. Yet nobody has repudiated it as a source of vast potential mischief, and the fact remains that Brzezinski has embraced its NATO strategy.

One additional contradiction: whereas the draft presidential directive reaffirms President Carter's promise to NATO of a 3 per cent annual increase in real U.S. defense spending, the Office of Management and Budget has put a 1 per cent increase ceiling on next year's defense budget. The gap between what this administration says and what it does on defense questions is widening.

SCLC Marking Anniversary

The celebration of the 20th anniversary of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference will be held in Atlanta, Ga. Aug. 16-19.

The SCLC was founded by the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in 1957 and he served as its president until his death in 1968. Dr. Ralph Abernathy has been president since then, up until the early part of this year. A new president is to be elected during this celebration.

Bennie Roundtree, president of the Pitt County Chapter of the SCLC, said this county chapter will take part in the election and in the celebration as a whole. He asked that any member or other person wishing to attend the anniversary celebration in Atlanta contact the local SCLC office, 619 Albermarle Avenue, Greenville; 752-0332.

"How much is it?"
"It comes to only a few cents a day for every man, woman, and child in the United States. One small war and it will pay for itself."
"All right. I'll buy it. But if I use it, how can I be sure that the other side won't throw a dirty bomb at me?"
"We guarantee it. If you use a clean bomb and the other side retaliates with a dirty one, we'll give you your money back with no questions asked."

4-H Extension Service Sets Four-Day Program

The Pitt County 4-H Extension Service has four days of citizenship education activities planned for youths between the ages of 12 and 18 and any interested adults. Beginning Tuesday, 4-H Citizenship Awareness Week will focus on learning good citizenship qualities. Activities for 4-H Citizenship Awareness Week include touring various governmental and public agencies in Greenville and Raleigh, interaction with public officials and question and answer sessions with informed speakers.

Tours are planned for the Voice of America facilities, the court house, county jail, Board of Elections, Pitt County Memorial Hospital, Health Department, Greenville Art Council, Agricultural Extension office and Wachovia Bank.

In Raleigh, participants will tour the governor's mansion, the state legislative building, the Capitol and the Museum of Natural History.

Mrs. J.B. Spilman, Greenville's Bicentennial Citizen of the Year, will address the group on Tuesday. Mrs. Barbara Ellis, chairperson of the Pitt County Republican Party, and Mrs. Betty Speir, chairperson of the Pitt County Democratic Party, will speak for participants on Wednesday.

Each day's activities will begin at 9:30 a.m. and end at 3 p.m. at the Pitt County Agricultural Extension office, located at 203 West Third Street in Greenville.

Free lunches will be provided on Tuesday-Thursday. The only cost for participants will be a $2.50 transportation fee and the cost of one lunch while touring in Raleigh on Friday.

Persons interested in 4-H Citizenship Awareness Week who would like more information may contact Mike Davis, associate extension agent, or Lynne Yow, N.C. intern, at 758-1196.

Churches Share In Celebration

Grifton Chapel Free Will Baptist Church and Little Creek Free Will Baptist Church will observe a joint birthday celebration of their pastor, Elder Jessie L. Wilson Saturday at 8 p.m.

Child Held In Burglaries

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — A 12-year-old burglar reportedly said he spent only small amounts of the several hundred dollars he stole in one week on bicycle parts.

The rest, he said, he either couldn't remember spending or threw away.

The boy, whose name was withheld because of his age, faces a hearing in juvenile court on Aug. 18. In the meantime he is being held in the juvenile detention center here.

Officials said the boy was in the center earlier this summer after he admitted to nine hold-ups. He was released July 27, and more burglary reports began coming in almost immediately.

They sounded just like the earlier burglaries.

"It was like I could see him in front of me," said juvenile officer Bonnie Charles.

Officers picked up the boy again on Aug. 3. By that time 30 people, most of them elderly, had reported money stolen from their houses by someone who found opportunities to walk through unlocked doors when money was lying around.

Most of the amounts were small. But one woman lost her entire weekly wages of $220 which she left in her purse on a table while she walked to the other end of her house. When she returned moments later, it was gone.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUGUST 13, 1977

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Upsetting conditions can occur that make you wonder just how you can handle the various situations that face you. But maintain calm and poise and you find later you are very much in tune with persons and conditions about you. You are able to have a good time and show creative ideas.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Handle a responsibility instead of worrying about it and then you have time for the recreations you desire. You can confide quietly in another during the day.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) The situation at home could prove quite irritating now but later all works out fine. Get rid of the obsolete and replace with the new.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal time to visit with relatives, friends, customers, provided you use extra care in driving. Show courtesy toward all and steer clear of arguments. You'll get ahead faster this way.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) See what can be done to cut down on expenses. Later, you can invest wisely, since you have fine judgment. Add to your savings account. Be careful of strangers.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Your ideas are strange now so do not depend on them. Later practical ones occur that should be worked out. Make early appointments for later entertainment and all will go smoothly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You find it difficult to gain that aim now, but don't be discouraged since later you are successful with it. Understand what friends desire and try to please them more.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) The latter part of the day is best for handling public matters, according to the planets. A bigwig is not in a good humor now but later will change and all works out beautifully.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Many situations arise early that require you control your temper. Make sure to complete what you start.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Handle obligations you have assumed early so that later you have more time for a loved one. A new idea you have can be put to good use. Be diplomatic with others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your intuition is askew now so do not follow it. Later it can be most helpful to you. Be tactful with mate, loved one and you avoid a big rumpus later. Show kindness. Think straight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Now is not the time to confer with a partner. Wait until later. An outside affair could get you angry, but cool down and everything turns out all right.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to get out to new places and activities early, but you have work to do that is important. Clear that up first and then you can study into some worthwhile outlet.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will have vision and the ability to think big, but will have to be taught to persevere in whatever has been started until it is completed for best results throughout the lifetime. Do not neglect religious studies that will make the life richer and more satisfying.

DOT Meeting. . .

attended the dinner, "I was a little late. I traveled 264 here."
Saying "I think the governor did a tremendous job in selecting the board," Bradshaw emphasized, the DOT policy makers are "fully committed" to improving transportation across the state.
Bradshaw noted that there is "something very meaningful" in the Board of Transportation holding "its first meeting outside of Raleigh," in Greenville.
"I see a sense of, 'let's really do something,' about," a major East-West highway.
The DOT secretary noted that by "working together, we can really do something for North Carolina," and indicated that the $300 million bond issue to be voted on by North Carolina residents November 8, "is not quite enough to do what we ought to do, but it's a beginning."
He said that passage of the bond issue, which will not increase taxes, will "maximize our potential," to make many needed highway improvements.
"It is an exciting time to be in transportation," the secretary said. "We want it to be a partnership with you."

"Vote 'yes,'" for the bonds, Bradshaw said, "and you and I will be on our way."

Employment Data Is Up

ATLANTA (AP) — Nonfarm employment in the Southeast continued a record-setting pace in June, reaching 12,830,000 jobs in the eight-state southeastern region, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said Thursday.
The June figures were 66,500 more than in May and 466,200 more than in June, 1976, said regional commissioner Donald M. Cruse.
It was the fourth straight month that nonfarm employment has set a record, he said.
Manufacturing employment swelled by 36,400 during June, compared with the month before. Employment in construction fields rose by 18,000 jobs between May and June, Cruse added.
There were more moderate gains in transportation; communication and public utilities; finance, insurance and real estate; mining and personal service areas, he said.
Cruse said the only area where employment declined between May and June was in government.
Included in the report were full-or part-time employment in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

Claims Frisbee Is Simply Fun

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — John Putnam of Cherryville says the reason he won the state title for best male Frisbee thrower is because, "It's fun. That's all."
Putnam, 14, is preparing for today's regional competition here. He will compete against a dozen boys and girls from all over the Southeast, with the winner earning a berth in the national Frisbee tournament in Atlanta.
He was sponsored by the Gaston County Recreation Department. Putnam says his special talent lies in catching the plastic flying saucer between his legs, over his head and behind his back.

Dream House Is Moved 200 Feet

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — When Brenda and Joe Arnold Barrow found their dream house, it was a century-old wreck with a rusting roof, rotting weatherboards and a family of snakes in residence.
It was in the wrong place when they found it, too, but they loved it anyway. They had workmen move the structure 200 feet to a spot beside a giant oak tree.
The Barrows plan to restore the house. "There's so little of Guilford County's history preserved, you know," Mrs. Barrow said, "and that's what we're interested in."

Former Ervin Aide Is Chosen

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — George B. Autry, once an aide to former Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., has been named state director of the campaign of Luther Hodges Jr. for the 1978 Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.
Autry, 40, announced he had taken an unpaid leave-of-absence from his position as president of MDC, Inc., a Chapel Hill-based nonprofit agency concerned with job and employment policies of federal, state and local governments.
Hodges, the former chairman of the North Carolina National Bank and the son of the former North Carolina governor, is one of several candidates seeking the Democratic nomination to oppose incumbent Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C.

Telescope For Space Orbit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A space telescope, which can see 100 times better than those presently in use and which may be able to solve some of the secrets of the universe, will be placed into orbit in the early 1980s, the National Geographic Society reports.
The large telescope, placed far above the earth's hazy and turbulent atmosphere with machinery to beam its images to earth, may be the instrument which shows conclusively whether life exists outside earth, some scientists think.
Dr. Harland J. Smith, an astronomer at the University of Texas, calls it the prince of instruments. "Very roughly, it will let us see a hundred times as much information in each element of sky as we can see now," he said.

$110.52 Day For Tobacco

Prices remained steady Thursday on the Greenville Tobacco Market as an overall average of $110.52 per hundred pounds was recorded.
J. N. Bryan, sales supervisor of the Tobacco Board of Trade here, said that Greenville warehouses sold 693,923 pounds of tobacco yesterday for $766,938.
Stabilization receipts accounted for only 3.38 per cent of total sales on Thursday's auction, he noted.
Offerings consisted of leaf, cutters, lugs, primers and non-descript, Bryan reported, with more non-descript tobacco offered for sale than on any previous day this week.
Top practical price on the local market was $1.38 per pound.
Thursday's totals brought the season figures to 9,384,359 pounds sold for $9,209,254, an average so far in 1977 of $98.13 per hundred pounds.

Bulk Barn Is Lost To Fire

Fire destroyed the contents of a bulk barn early Friday morning causing about $6,500 damage.

Members of the Winterville Fire Department responded to the 5:11 a.m. call and found the rear of the barn on fire.
Fire officials listed the owner of the barn as Fenner Allen of Winterville. Tobacco being cured in the barn was a total loss.
Firemen said wiring was the apparent cause of the fire.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market suffered another broad setback today amid concern over rising interest rates. The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 4.42 at 873.01, after a 9.61-point drop to a new 19-month low on Thursday.

Losers swamped gainers by close to a 3-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

First-hour volume on the Big Board was a modest 4.31 million shares.

Federal Reserve actions in the money markets Thursday convinced many analysts that the Fed was tightening credit further in an effort to slow the growth of the money supply.

With open-market money rates on the rise, speculation mounted on Wall Street that the central bank would soon increase the discount rate—the charge it sets on loans to its member commercial banks.

Brokers noted fears that rising interest rates would contribute to an expected dropoff in economic growth in the months ahead.

Auto stocks were notably weak on some analysts' forecasts of a more difficult period ahead for the industry after the strong sales of the 1976 and 1977 model years.

General Motors topped the active list and fell 3/4 to 64 1/2, hitting a new low for the year for the second straight day. Ford, also active, fell 1/4 to 41 1/4, and Chrysler was off 1/4 to 15 1/2.

The 11 a.m. NYSE composite index was down .21 at 53.56.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index dropped .26 to 120.54.

Rose's 2,900th Hit Aids Cincy Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
Pete Rose has been around baseball so long that his numbers are really beginning to pile up. One of the important numbers is 35. That's his age. Another is 2,900. That's his base hit total. "I proved that when you turn 35 and take care of yourself, you can still play," the Cincinnati third baseman said Thursday night after his milestone hit helped the Reds beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-4. Rose's 2,900th hit was a double in the fifth inning. Only 18 players in major league baseball history have more hits than Cincinnati's switch-hitting leader.

NL Roundup

"The thing I'm proudest about is getting that number of hits in only 15 years," said Rose. "My next two years are awfully important. I'd like to break Stan Musial's record. But it would be no disgrace to finish second or third."

Musial is the top hit-maker on the career National League list with 3,630. The all-time major league leader is Ty Cobb, who collected 3,903 hits.

In other National League games, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Montreal Expos 10-5; the Houston Astros edged the San Francisco Giants 7-5; the Pittsburgh Pirates walloped the New York Mets 9-1 and the San Diego Padres nipped the Atlanta Braves 2-1.

Rose's double eventually led to Cincinnati's winning run. He scored on a single by Joe Morgan to give the Reds a 5-1 lead and help Tom Seaver withstand a late Dodger assault.

"I made it exciting, didn't I?" said Seaver, who pitched a six-hitter, but gave up a run in the seventh and two more in the eighth. "I felt very strong throughout. I didn't get tired at all."

Two of the runs off the Cincinnati ace were solo homers, by Dave Lopes in the first and by Reggie Smith in the seventh. Of the Lopes homer, Seaver said: "I just made a bad pitch and Lopes hit it out. You have to take these things in stride."

Dan Driessen got the Reds started with a three-run homer in the first off Burt Hooton. Driessen's 14th homer of the year followed a two-out walk to Morgan and a single by George Foster.

"It was a hanging change-up," said Driessen. "I was kind of looking for it."

A Dodger Stadium crowd of 53,022 watched as the Reds earned a split of the four-game series and moved within 1½ games of the Dodgers in the National League West.

After the Reds scored their fourth run of the game in the fourth inning on Johnny Bench's RBI double and then took a 5-1 lead on Morgan's run-scoring single in the fifth, the Dodgers struck back.

After a run in the seventh, they made it close with two runs in the eighth on a two-out RBI double by Lopes and a run-scoring single by Bill Russell. But Seaver retired Smith on a fly to center to end the inning.

Phillies 10, Expos 5

Bake McBride drove in three runs and belted his ninth homer of the season and pitcher Jim Kaat had three hits as Philadelphia defeated Montreal for its eighth consecutive victory.

Kaat, who had two doubles, lasted only until the sixth. But he had enough of a lead at that juncture to improve his record to 5-7. The victory increased the first-place Phillies' margin over the Chicago Cubs to three games in the National League East.

Astros 7, Giants 5

Cesar Cedeno smashed three doubles and drove in three runs, helping Houston beat San Francisco. Cedeno's first double, a two-run shot in the fifth, tied the score 4-4 and his RBI double in the seventh keyed a three-run rally that put Houston ahead to stay.

Terry Puhl's leadoff single started the Astros' winning rally off loser Gary Lavelle in the seventh. Enos Cabell, who had three singles and scored three times, forced Puhl. Then Cedeno's double made it 5-5.

Bob Watson was walked intentionally, and Jose Cruz singled, putting Houston ahead. Art Howe's RBI single capped the rally and gave Dan Larson his first victory of the season after six losses.

Pirates 9, Mets 1

Bill Robinson drove in four runs and Odell Jones pitched a five-hitter to lead Pittsburgh over New York. The Pirates pounded 15 hits and drew seven walks, including nine hits in the first 4-3 innings off losing pitcher Pat Zachry.

"It was embarrassing," said New York Manager Joe Torre, who held a closed-door meeting with his players, apparently to read them the riot act. "Tonight I was really embarrassed. For a time when the balls were falling, it looked like a trout camp. I thought for a while our guys were going through the motions."

Torre, however, did single out Zachry for a performance above and beyond the call of duty.

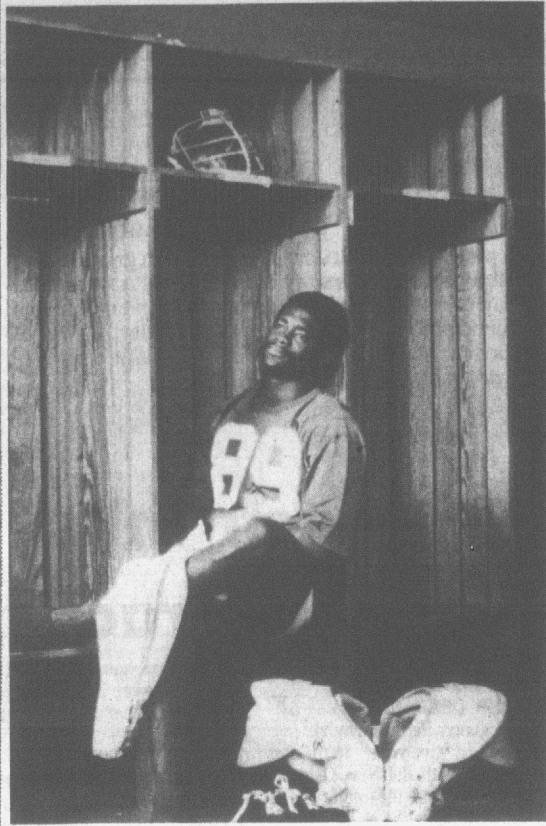

"Zach gave me everything he has," the Met manager said. "He's going to make a heck of a pitcher."

Padres 2, Braves 1

Pat Scanlon drew a two-out, bases-loaded walk in the bottom of the ninth to cap a two-run rally that boosted San Diego over Atlanta. Trailing 1-0 entering the ninth, leadoff batter Jerry Turner hit a home run off Atlanta rookie Preston Hanna. Dave Winfield then drilled a double and was sacrificed to third by George Hendrick, who was safe when Hanna misplayed the bunt.

After Gene Tenace was walked intentionally to load the bases, Hanna retired Mike Champion and Gary Sutherland before Scanlon, pinch-hitting for winning pitcher Rick Sawyer, drew the winning walk.

Lazy Days Of Summer Have All Gone

The days of rest and recreation have come to an end for East Carolina University football players, who reported in to start fall practice Wednesday. Thursday, the players drew equipment and had tests, with actual practice getting underway this morning. At left, defensive end Zack Valentine sits in his locker looking back on his summer, while contemplating the coming season, too. Above, Mitchell Smith, offensive tackle, weighs in with manager Don Johnson. The Pirates will work on conditioning today, Saturday and Monday, then go into pads starting Tuesday.

Bonds, Angels Snap Sox String

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer
The beat goes on for Bobby Bonds, the hottest American League hitter this side of Rod Carew.

Bonds, who has been on a tear since the start of August, did a one-man job on Boston Thursday night, driving in four runs—two of them with his 29th home run of the season—as California ended the Red Sox' 11-game winning streak with a 7-3 triumph.

The loss was particularly damaging because Baltimore and New York, both pursuing the Red Sox in the American League East race, both won.

AL Roundup

The Orioles came from behind with three runs in the ninth inning to defeat Seattle 4-3 and the Yankees used the two-hit pitching of Mike Torrez to blank Oakland, 3-0.

The second-place Orioles moved within 1½ games of the top while third-place New York closed its deficit to four games.

Elsewhere in the American League Thursday night, Minnesota trimmed Toronto 7-3, Cleveland topped Chicago 3-1 and Texas battered Kansas City 8-3.

Bonds' homer tied him with Boston's Jim Rice for the American League lead and his four RBIs gave him 82 for the season. He has hit safely in 10 straight games and has eight homers and 19 RBIs in his last nine games.

Don Baylor also hit his 17th homer for California and Paul Hartzell survived a shaky start to post a seven-hitter.

Orioles 4, Mariners 3
Lee May's two-run, two-out single capped a comeback rally for Baltimore which was trailing by two runs in the ninth against Seattle starter Glenn Abbott.

With one out in the ninth, Abbott walked pinch-hitter Pat Kelly and Enrique Romo relieved for the Mariners. Tony Muser's sacrifice fly made it 3-2 and then Ken Singleton stroked a double for his third hit of the night. That set the stage for May's winning hit.

Yankees 3, A's
Torrez allowed only two singles, and retired 11 straight Oakland hitters over one stretch as New York tagged the A's with their 13th consecutive loss. It was the fourth straight complete game for the rugged right-hander, who ran his record for the season to 12-10 and 9-9 with the Yankees since he was acquired from Oakland.

All three New York runs were scored after errors by second baseman Marty Perez, who went to the A's in the deal for Torrez.

Indians 3, White Sox 1
Cleveland's Rick Waits had Chicago shut out until the ninth but needed last-inning help from Jim Kern to nail down the victory.

Buddy Bell smashed a two-run homer for the Indians, who reduced the White Sox' American League West lead to one-half game over Minnesota.

Chet Lemon's RBI-single in the ninth spoiled the shutout and the White Sox remain the only team in the majors to have scored at least one run in every game they've played this season.

Twins 7, Blue Jays 3
Dave Goltz won his fifth straight game and 15th of the season, pitching Minnesota past Toronto.

Lyman Bostock and Glenn Adams each tagged two-run homers for the second-place Twins, who closed in on the division-leading White Sox.

Carew had two hits in five trips for Minnesota and kept his major league-leading batting average at .383.

Rangers 8, Royals 3
Doyle Alexander and Roger Moret combined for a two-hitter as Texas moved past Kansas City into third place in the American League West. The Rangers, who have won 26 of their last 33 games, now trail first-place Chicago by just two games.

Mike Hargrove and Claudell Washington both walloped two-run homers for Texas and Jim Sundberg drove in two runs with a double.

Chiefs Have Another Tough Contest Ahead

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
"We are going to get better from here because we have better personnel than ever before," Kansas City Coach Paul Wiggin said recently.

"Perhaps he should have added, 'because we can't get any worse.'"

His Chiefs, still looking for their first point of the 1977 National Football League exhibition season, meet the Pittsburgh Steelers Saturday night in Arrowhead Stadium. Kansas City's pre-season opener last Saturday night was a wash-out ... or perhaps more accurately a wash-in ... with the Detroit Lions blanking them 17-0 in the bubble-topped Silverdome.

Wiggin was at a loss to find something to praise, but he finally managed to laude the defense, saying it "turned in a pretty good effort." That defense will have to do more than pretty good this time. The Steelers showed last weekend they were closing in on midseason form quickly, beating Buffalo 28-24 on Terry Bradshaw's three touchdown passes. And the Steelers may have a fondness for Arrowhead. In their last visit there, they mangled the Chiefs 45-0.

In Saturday night's other pre-season games, it will be Philadelphia at Los Angeles, Dallas at Seattle, Detroit at Buffalo, Tampa Bay at Cincinnati, Chicago at Oakland, the New York Jets at Atlanta, Washington at Miami, San Francisco at San Diego, the New York Giants at New Orleans, St. Louis at Denver, New England vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, and Cleveland at Minnesota. On Sunday, Baltimore is at Houston.

"Right now we are trying to develop a winning football team for 1977," said Wiggin, whose 1976 Chiefs stumbled to a 5-9 record. "I think in many ways we are on target right now. I know 17-0 doesn't look like it, but I believe we are ... I think this team will pick up the pieces and get rolling."

Philadelphia is well ahead of its 1976 exhibition pace, namely because it didn't have one a year ago. The Eagles were 0-6 in the pre-season. Now they are glowing in the aftermath of a 21-3 victory over the Jets, who failed for the second time this year to score anything more than a field goal—and now have to face Atlanta, a shutout winner over St. Louis last week.

Seattle, now an American Conference team, opened with a surprising victory over former National Conference foe San Francisco. The Seahawks entertain Dallas, an early-season member of the walking-wounded club with Tony Dorsett and a number of other players hobbled by injuries. O.J. Simpson, blurred vision and all, should see some action in Buffalo's game against the Lions.

Tribbled Watson in Second

By TOM SEPPY
AP Sports Writer
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Tom Watson, caught in the middle of the Great Golf Club Controversy, literally has a mixed bag in the 59th PGA Championship.

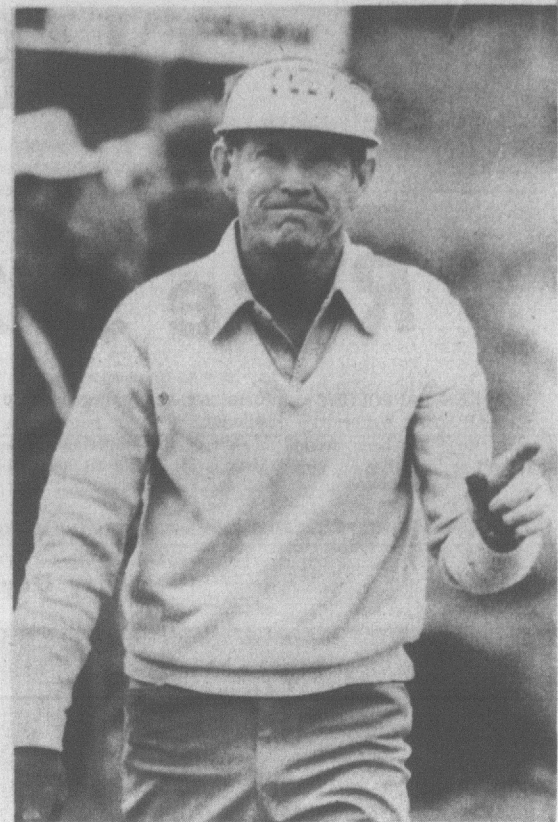

The 27-year-old Watson could have been excused if the events of this week had bogged his mind and caused him to lose confidence. But he has not. Watson, winner of five tournaments this year including the Masters and British Open, lost his clubs en route to Pebble Beach when he flew one way and his bag went another. When the clubs arrived, they were declared illegal because the grooves on the face of the irons did not meet U.S. Golf Association specifications.

He messaged home to Kansas City for an older set, one with which he won the 1975 British Open. He looked at them and figured he had better find a backup set in case they also were ruled illegal. Watson sent an SOS to fellow pros for another set of irons. Roger Maltbie responded with an extra set he carried in the back of his car—a Silver Scot model that were at least 25 years old. Fortunately, for him, the set was available; Watson's own second set was disqualified.

So, using Maltbie's irons, fellow pro Leonard Thompson's sand wedge and his own driver, No. 2 and No. 3 woods and putter—and with only eight practice swings, Watson fired a 68 Thursday over the famed Pebble Beach Golf Links. And he was only one stroke off the lead held by veteran Gene Littler, at 67.

Leader After The First Round
A pleased Gene Littler leaves the 18th green at Pebble Beach on Thursday after carding a five-under-par 67 to take the lead going into Friday's second round of the PGA Championship. Littler, 47, was off the tour six weeks because of back pains caused by a degenerating disc. (AP Wirephoto)

Ayden Golf and Country Club
The Ayden Golf and Country Club held its Member-Member Tournament at the club this past week.

The team of Bear Baldree and Jimmy Mills took first place in the event. Second place went to Don Baker and Mac Harkrader. Sparky McCaskill and Shelton Everett took third place, while Orren Babcock and Billy Barnes finished fourth. James Edmundson and Charles Marshall were fifth and Adrian Waters and Jim McDermott finished sixth.

Gary Allen eagled the third hole, a par four. He holed out a five-iron.
Vito Abene had his best round ever, an 86.

Brook Valley Golf and Country Club
Brook Valley held a Jack and Jill Tournament recently. The team of Steve Raynor, Shirley Martin, and Lula and John Patrick took first place with a net 32.

The team of Jeanette Thomas, Bob Helmick, and Nancy and Bake Baker tied for second with the team of Evelyn and Gene Ward and Ellen and Jim Fleming. Third place resulted in a tie between the teams of Marjorie Bray and Scrappy Proctor and Carol and Jim McFarlane; and Dena and Doug Morgan and Doris and Andy Boles.

The next Jack and Jill Tournament will be this Wednesday.

The Ninth Annual Brook Valley Four-Ball Invitational will be held on September 24 and 25. The tournament is open to all members, and invitations have been sent to all non-members who played during the past three years. Those wishing to play are urged to sign up early, since the field is expected to fill early.

The Ladies Ringer Tournament will end on Labor Day.

Golf Is Still Different Game

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—In baseball, Cincinnati's Pete Rose will draw and quarter any foe who might try and obstruct his progress around the bases. Oakland's George Atkinson tries to decapitate anyone with the temerity to invade his football territory, as the Steelers' Lynn Swan can attest.

Guys in the National Hockey League have learned—the hard way—that it's not nice to try and do battle with the rambunctious head-hunter, Dave Schultz. In the very polite and proper game of tennis, Ilie Nastase will employ any ruse or any ugly tactic to disconcert an opponent.

These are not unique or isolated cases. They are cited merely as representative of the credo in big time professional sports, which is: "Grab the edge at any and all costs."

The exception to this rule is tournament golf which still adheres to the ancient virtues practiced by its Scottish forebears more than a century ago. "The honor code is basic to the sport," says Joseph Dey, former director of the U.S. Golf Association, ex-commissioner of the pro tour and premier authority on the rules.

"It is bred into the game. A player must be responsible for his equipment and his score. Eliminate that and you have no game at all. It's simple. Every man must police himself. When two men tee off—one going to the left and the other to the right—you have trust each one to do what is right. You can't have a policeman following each one and watching every shot."

Golf's complete dependence on the integrity and fair play of its players was emphasized again this week in the illegal club controversy at the PGA Championship.

Eight top pros had iron clubs declared illegal because the grooves on the faces failed to meet the rule specifications of being no wider than 35-1,000th of an inch.

It seemed a rather trivial matter since most players agreed the grooving had no effect on a shot in dry conditions and possibly a minuscule affect out of wet grass. But the rules were installed to discourage private tinkering with clubs. And rules are rules.

The incident was blown into unnatural proportions by the fact that one of the eight players involved in club disqualifications was Tom Watson, the young star who won the Masters in April and the British Open last month.

Watson not only had a new set of clubs declared illegal but, when he had an old set flown in from his Kansas City home, those clubs also were found improper, forcing him to borrow a second-hand set for the tournament.

An unfortunate facet was that a taint was unfairly applied to Watson's fine 1977 record and little credit was given him for voluntarily asking that his clubs be checked when there was no demand he do so.

Johnny Miller put it in proper perspective. "Tommy didn't ask his manufacturer to make him a set of illegal clubs," Miller said.

It was golf's honor system that caused George Burns to ask for a check of his clubs last week in the Greater Hartford Open. And it was the integrity of the athletes such as Watson, Gary Player, Ray Floyd and Hale Irwin who asked for microscopic inspection of their clubs. They did not have to do it.

Some 60 players, including Jack Nicklaus, did likewise. Most were found to be well within the law.

When Manager Darrell Johnson of the Seattle Mariners goes to the mound to confer with pitcher Enrique Romo, he has to take an interpreter along. Romo speaks only Spanish.

Wednesday, the Jazz signed Leonard "Truck" Robinson, a board-crashing free agent late of the Atlanta Hawks.

Maravich Inks New Contract

By AUSTIN WILSON
AP Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP)—All-star guard Pete Maravich has signed a five-year, $3-million contract with the New Orleans Jazz, but said the money was not that big a factor in his deciding to sign.

A source close to the negotiations confirmed that Maravich's annual salary is to be $600,000-plus, which would probably make his the second-highest paycheck in the National Basketball Association. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar reportedly makes about $650,000 a year, and the source said Maravich will not make quite that much.

Although Maravich still had a year to go on his $370,000 contract with the Jazz, he said he would retire if his contract were not renegotiated.

"It wasn't all monetary," he said after huddling with team management to sign the contract at one end of a riverfront restaurant. "I spent a great part of my life in Louisiana. It's only natural for me to want to live in this town. I cannot see any other place that compares with New Orleans. It's one heck of a town. That was the main part of it."

Another thing stressed by Maravich during last season was his desire to see the team trade for some front-line help. He said his one remaining goal in basketball was to win an NBA championship.

Wednesday, the Jazz signed Leonard "Truck" Robinson, a board-crashing free agent late of the Atlanta Hawks.

"The Jazz has never had a real big power forward, and he'll add a great deal more offensive strength and help on the boards," said Maravich.

"I still don't believe myself, that we're in the category with Portland and Philadelphia, though."

After leading the nation in scoring as a college player at Louisiana State University, Maravich signed with the Atlanta Hawks for a reported $1.9 million. At the time, it was the biggest sum ever paid a rookie.

Mystery Body's Identity Sought

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) — A mystery man's body lay unclaimed in an Asuncion police morgue today while West German officials tried to determine if he was alleged Nazi war criminal Eduard Roschmann.

If so, it would end a 30-year hunt for an elusive fugitive known as the "Butcher of Riga" who apparently stayed one step ahead of his trackers in South America in recent months.

The Nazi was accused of supervising the slaughter of 40,000 Jews and killing 50 of them himself as a concentration camp commander.

Paraguayan officials have refused to comment on the case. The West German embassy said one of its consuls was trying to make a positive identification of the body.

The first report that the dead man was Roschmann came Thursday from a local newspaper that said identity papers with a known Roschmann alias were found on the corpse.

Emilio Wolf, a local delicatessen owner who says he was imprisoned under Roschmann, has seen the body and says it is that of the former SS officer, who is believed to have fled to Argentina in 1948. Wolf said his parents and sister were executed at a Roschmann-run concentration camp.

But Nazi hunter Simon Wiesenthal said in Vienna Thursday that he does not believe Roschmann is dead. He said the German was spotted in Bolivia only last month.

"I wonder who died for him?" asked Wiesenthal, who heads the Jewish Documentation Center, an agency that keeps track of former Nazis.

The influential Paraguay newspaper ABC-Color said the 69-year-old Nazi died of a heart attack in a local hospital Wednesday afternoon and his body was later removed to the morgue.

ABC-Color said papers on the body bore the name Federico Wegener, a Roschmann alias, and that the body was missing two toes on one foot and three on another, apparently from war wounds.

"Eight ever, nine never" is an adage from the days of whist that is an accurate statement on occasion, though the probabilities should be disregarded if another line offers a better chance of success. Watch how South handled his assets on this deal.

Once North showed heart support, South scorned all niceties and leaped straight to slam with his powerful, highly distributional hand. Though far from laydown, he had good play for his contract.

West led the ten of diamonds, and the best mathematical chance would seem to be to take the diamond finesse and, if that fails, to rely on dropping the queen of trumps either singleton or doubleton. However, declarer decided that West was unlikely to be leading from the king of diamonds, so he tried another line which, though inferior in theory, stood an excellent chance in practice.

At trick one, declarer rose with dummy's ace of diamonds and dropped the jack from his hand. Next he led a trump to the king and then returned a trump to dummy's ten. When that held, declarer lost only a diamond trick.

Those with a jaundiced outlook on life would suggest that the only explanation for declarer's play was that he had obtained a good look at one of the defenders' hands. However, he had a very logical explanation for his line.

He assumed that East held the king of diamonds, there was nothing to be gained by taking the finesse. In the heart suit alone, there is little to choose between the drop and the finesse—the drop is only a 52 per cent chance.

But if East held both the queen of hearts and king of diamonds, there was no guarantee that losing the heart finesse would defeat the contract. East would surely be reluctant to try to cash the king of diamonds, for fear that declarer would ruff and dummy's queen would be set up.

And if East won the queen of hearts and did not cash the king of diamonds, declarer would discard dummy's remaining diamonds on his clubs, and still end up making his slam.

More Money Is Needed:Graham

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says despite a much-criticized $22.9 million fund, his organization needs more money than ever to fulfill commitments it has made.

Graham says money from the fund will have to stretch to cover rising costs, the need to be prepared to help earthquake and other disaster victims and plans for two major construction projects.

One is a missions and evangelism center at Wheaton College in Illinois, he said, and the other is a proposed Bible training center for laymen on 1,200 acres the Graham organization owns near Asheville.

Right now, Graham said, the World Evangelism and Christian Education Fund (WECEF) doesn't have "the full resources needed to build these two great projects and also meet the needs of many other important projects that we now help."

Graham has been criticized for failing to tell his contributors about the fund. His critics have said his organization wanted to conceal the fact that its coffers were filled to overflowing.

In a six-page defense of the fund, Graham said it is managed by an unpaid, independent board of directors and has never been kept secret. But Graham did concede he did not inform contributors to his ministry of its existence.

He said he organized WECEF in 1970 as an outgrowth of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.

The evangelist said it was part of his efforts to remove himself personally from the handling of large gifts to his ministry. Graham and his staff went on fixed salaries to avoid being "associated with an 'Elmer Gantry' image of financial irresponsibility."

"In 1950 this was a new concept in this type of evangelism," Graham said. "We were determined to have total financial integrity."

Graham and his staff do not hold positions on the WECEF's board, which directs gifts from the fund and handles investments of its assets. These include stocks, trusts, estates foundation grants and cash, he said.

Child Care Center Director

I have a challenging opportunity for the right individual — to manage one of the finest child care centers in Greenville. Includes program supervision, sales development, parent relations and overall administration. The right individual will be an enthusiastic self-starter with a background in customer relations and staff leadership. The position requires maturity, energy and the ability to work with a minimum of supervision. A degree in early childhood education or experience in a related field would be a definite asset. To arrange an interview send resumes to P.O. Box 3007, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

A young Greenville girl, Aycock Junior High student Patty Lucido, has received the Hunter Grand Champion Trophy for her performances in horsemanship at the North Carolina State 4-H Horse Show finals held recently in Raleigh.

The event, at Dorton Arena in the State Fairgrounds, had over 200 young 4-H club members competing in something like 1,000 individual event entries.

Ms. Lucido scored first place in two events — the Junior Hunt Seat Equitation over Fences and the Junior Working Hunter on the Flat; third place in Hunt Seat Equitation on the Flat; and fifth place in Bridle Pack Hack to emerge as Hunter Grand Champion.

Five toother local 4-H club members from Pitt County were also represented in the finals. They qualified for this event in an elimination competition held earlier for the Northeast District in Williamston.

The five, and the individual awards they received are: Malissa Suggs, a student at Rose High — third place in the Bridle Path Hack and Working Hunter under Saddle; and fifth place in Hunt Seat Equitation on the Flat;

— Karen Hendrix of Greenville, a student at Aycock — first place, Junior Working Hunters over Fences; second place, Junior Hunt Seat Equitation on the Flat; and fifth place, Hunt Seat Equitation over Fences;

— Greg Bullock of Simpson, a student at St. Peter's Catholic School, fifth place in the Hunter Pony Bridle Path Hack.

— Laurie Daughtry of Ayden, a student at Ayden-Grifton School, also participated in the hunter division.

The five qualifying for the finals in Raleigh are among 27 Pitt County young people currently active in the Pitt County Horse Fanciers Club. The club is under the general direction of Mike Davis, Pitt County 4-H Club director.

Leaders active with young members of the 4-H horse club show are Mrs. Iris Edwards and

Mercury In Town Water

NEWTON, N.C. (AP) — After a "well above average" level of mercury was found in the drinking water at the city of Newton's sewage treatment plant, 10 employees of the city sanitation department underwent tests for possible mercury poisoning Thursday.

Traces of mercury were discovered July 18 in a city-owned well at the plant, which supplied the plant's drinking water.

The well did not supply any public drinking water to the city. That comes from the Catawba River.

According to Howard Surface, county health director, the normal mercury content should be two to five parts per billion gallons of water. Tests made from the well water have varied from 3.68 parts to 128 parts per billion gallons.

Newton City Manager Edward Musick said the city-owned well was sealed as soon as mercury was found.

Health department officials said they will be testing water samples from about 50 wells in a one-half mile radius of the treatment plant.

Surface said other municipalities in the county, including Hickory, Maiden and Conover have been asked to test their drinking water as well as samples of water from deep wells.
