Overall Rise, But— Violent Crime In N.C. Saw A Decline

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The number of crimes in the violent categories of murder, rape, robbery and aggravated assault decreased by 7 per cent during 1976 despite an overall increase in crimes, according to figures released today by the state attorney general's office.

Overall, the volume of crime reported in 1976 increased 4.14 per cent over the previous year, but larceny was the only serious individual crime category to increase.

"It is especially heartening to see that the violent crimes of murder, rape and armed robbery have decreased significantly," said Atty.

Gen. Rufus Edmisten. "Law enforcement men and women, especially those serving at the local level, are doing an outstanding job in containing the most violent and serious criminal activities."

The 1976 Annual Uniform Crime Report, published by the state's Police Information Network and released by Edmisten, shows that 206,693 serious crimes were reported in the state last year. This computes to one serious crime every two minutes, 32 seconds.

Violent crimes accounted for 10.36 per cent of the statistics, with property crimes accounting for 89.64 per cent.

The figures show that 90.83 per cent of the murder cases in 1976 were cleared by arrest, while 69.9 per cent of the rape cases involved arrests, 44 per cent of the robberies, 81.33 per cent of the aggravated assaults, 24.10 per cent of the burglaries, 21.26 per cent of the larcenies and 41.53 per cent of the motor vehicle thefts.

Pitt County reported six murders and 14 rapes for the year.

Mecklenburg County, in the Charlotte area, led the violent statistics with 61 murders and 99 rapes reported, followed by Cumberland with 38 murders and 73 rapes, Guilford with 31 and 68, Durham with 28 and 44, Wake with 26 and 64, Forsyth with 26 and 54, Buncombe with 17 and 12, Gaston with 15 and 22, New Hanover with 14 and 34, Robeson with 17 and 12, Lenoir with 13 and 13, Wilson with 13 and 6, Cleveland with 12 and 5, Iredell with 10 and 6, Alamance with 9 and 8, Catawba with 8 and 6, Davidson with 5 and 7, Burke with 5 and 4.

A number of counties had no reported murder or rape cases: Cherokee, Chowan, Currituck, Davie, Haywood, Madison, Mitchell, Transylvania, Warren and Yancey.

Carter Is Pushing Canal Agreement

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration, hoping for Republican support for the new Panama Canal agreement, is giving former President Gerald R. Ford and his secretary of state special briefings on the pact.

Senate ratification of the agreement is considered less than certain and a boost from Ford and Henry A. Kissinger could help President Carter in an anticipated fight with conservatives.

Carter arranged for his two treaty negotiators and members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to provide briefings for Ford and Kissinger amid strong indications the two would endorse the agreement.

Carter sent Ambassador Sol Linowitz and Air Force Gen. George Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to Ford's home in Vail, Colo., today to brief the former president on the agreement, announced last week.

Ford had plans to hold a news conference after hearing from Linowitz and Brown. A spokesman for the former president said in Colorado that the agreement was "generally consistent" with the negotiations conducted when Ford was in office. The spokesman said the odds were "60-40 we will probably go along."

Carter spoke to Ford about the canal agreement in a telephone call Monday morning lasting five to seven minutes, a White House spokesman said.

The President had lunch with Kissinger on Monday and the former secretary of state said that if the briefing by Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Air Force Chief of Staff David Jones upholds his first impression, he would be willing to testify in favor of the pact before the Senate.

Kissinger said his impression was that the agreement is "based on the same principles that were negotiated during the Ford administration."

The pact, being written into treaty form, turns the canal over to Panama by the year 2000. The settlement concluded talks that began 13 years ago.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said Linowitz and Brown, being flown West in a government plane for the Ford meeting, were going "to bring the former president up-to-date in a personal way on the exact nature of the agreement."

Powell did not say Monday whether Carter was asking for Ford's support, but he observed: "I'm sure President Ford is aware we would appreciate his support."

Kissinger said that before offering wholehearted support for the pact, he wanted to make sure that the United States retained "the right and power to defend free and uninterrupted access to the canal," which he called essential to U.S. security.

Powell said such an agreement was a goal of the negotiators "and we have such an agreement."

Forest Fires Rage

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Marble-Cone fire that has devastated 204 square miles of drought-parched central California coastland may be contained within a few days, forestry officials said today.

The blaze, now the third largest in the state's history, has consumed 130,500 acres in the Los Padres National Forest and adjacent private land. It was reported 60 per cent contained.

Back-burning — fire lines set up ahead of the path of the fire with the brush or fuel burned in between — has been effective so far, officials said.

"We're hoping by Thursday we'll have the (back-burning) line tied in all the way," said William Morrison, U.S. Forest Service spokesman. "If everything goes right then, it will probably be only a few days until it will be contained."

Besides the Marble-Cone fire, six other fires still burned in California, the state Department of Forestry said.

Lightning, the culprit in a chain of nearly 1,000 fires that began Aug. 1, sparked the newest blaze Monday near Lake Elsinore in Riverside County. Flames engulfed 400 acres, but the fire was hoped to be contained later today, the CDF said.

The Marble-Cone was among those torched by nature and officials would only hazard a damage estimate of "several millions of dollars."

"It looks almost like pictures of Hiroshima after the atomic bomb," Morrison said. "There are areas of complete devastation, with only little twigs sticking out."

Meanwhile, dense smoke grounded air tankers Monday in the battle against a 2,500-acre blaze in the Klamath National Forest and the 9,500-acre fire near the Humboldt and Siskiyou county line, the CDF said.

The Bear Trap blaze in the Sequoia National Forest has scorched 1,200 acres, with no estimate for containment.

Launch Building

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Six beer bottles capped with ribbons will be smashed against a brick wall Wednesday in ceremonies dedicating a new $7.5 million beer packaging facility. "I think I'm safe in saying this marks the first time a building will be launched with a six-pack," said William Elliott, president of C. Schmidt & Sons, Inc., the brewery owners.

Lake Ellsworth Students Assigned City Schools

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Members of the Greenville City School Board Monday night approved a decision to assign school children living in the Lake Ellsworth Subdivision to the Greenville City Schools for the 1977-78 school year.

"As far as this board is concerned, Lake Ellsworth is in the city school district," chairman Henry Dunn stated following discussion of the matter.

The board also approved action to employ, effective today, attorney Louis W. Gaylord, Jr. as the attorney for the Greenville City schools, replacing attorney William C. Brewer, Jr.

It was made clear this action in no way reflected on the past performance of Brewer, but was made in light of the fact that there could be a conflict of interest since Brewer is a member of the law firm of Speight, Watson and Brewer — and a member of that firm, attorney W. W. Speight, is the attorney for the county school board as well as being county attorney.

Basically, Dunn pointed out, the board's decision to assign children living in Lake Ellsworth to the city schools is based on "a search of the tax records for five years." For that period, the records show that Lake Ellsworth residents paid the Greenville City School supplemental tax.

About 25 students are involved in the decision. In previous years, these children have had a choice of attending city or county schools. A contingent of parents present for the meeting all expressed a desire that their children attend city schools. Several commended the city school staff for a job well done in the complex task of carrying out the redistricting assignments.

In summarizing recent developments, Dunn noted in relation to Lake Ellsworth "we had no idea of the attorney general's ruling until this past week," (referring to Pitt County School Superintendent's Arthur Alford's statement at the county school's board meeting Tuesday that "the attorney general's office has advised the county school board that children living within a certain district must attend schools in that district.")

In making their decision Monday, school board members are going on the assumption that an eventual ruling by the attorney general's office, based on current district lines and past record of payment of supplemental taxes, will result in their decision being a legal one.

"There's no way at this time our attorney can get a judiciary decision in the next 14 days before schools open," Dunn commented, "so we can only go on the assumption that the assignments we're making will stand as they are."

When asked about when a legal decision would take place, board member Miles Frost said "there is no way of knowing. All we are doing now is to employ legal counsel to pursue this. We're getting together with him tomorrow (Tuesday) and hope for an early decision."

Seizure Of Cuba Raid Boats Dismays Exiles' Spokesman

MIAMI (AP) — A spokesman for a Cuban exile group says it's unfortunate that authorities seized the boats and arms that were going to be used in a raid on the island.

Pedro Rojas, a spokesman for Brigade 2506, a militant association of Bay of Pigs veterans, said the commandos weren't violating any law by wanting to free Cuba.

He called the seizure "lamentable because I don't believe that we are violating any law when we fight for the freedom of our country, which is in the hands of international communism."

The seizure was made Monday in Miami by U.S. Customs agents. They arrested one man, seized three pleasure boats and confiscated machine guns, automatic rifles, armor-piercing anti-tank canon and combat gear for nine men.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Jerome Sanford said the guns were to be used in "a simple hit-and-run harassment raid somewhere on the Cuban coast." Asked if the raid was imminent, Sanford said, "Yes, it looked like they were ready to go."

He said there was no CIA involvement in this case, but declined to say how he knew.

Discuss County's Solid Waste Disposal Plans

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners met with members of the Planning Board yesterday to discuss solid waste disposal in the county but took no official action.

The Planning Board has recommended that the county move toward a program that would place 40-cubic yard containers at various locations throughout the county so area residents would have a spot to bring their solid waste for disposal.

However it is the most expensive system — in terms of initial cost — for the tax payers to underwrite.

County manager Reginald Gray said last night that if the system were put into effect in one year, the capital costs involved and the price of operation would amount to about $567,600 and would mean a 20-cents per $100 valuation tax increase for that one year. However, annual operating costs would be about four-cents per $100 valuation for tax payers after the first year.

Pitt Health Department sanitarian Willie Pate reported that independent contractors now operating in the county have indicated their interest and willingness to participate in a franchise program under which the county would be divided into 10 or so districts, each served by a private contractor who would charge individual home owners a monthly fee set by the Board of Commissioners for door to door pickup.

Another method discussed by the board in the past has been a tax-supported mailbox pickup program where county-owned equipment would be used to pick up solid waste from residents outside municipal limits that was placed in special bags at the side of the road.

City School Bd. Opts For Delaying Bond Vote

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

From the viewpoint of members of the Greenville City Board of Education, a Pitt County School Bond referendum should be postponed until the spring of 1978 in order to give both the city and the county school boards an opportunity to work together to come up with a better projection of needs than is now offered.

The city board last night, approved a postponement resolution offered by member Miles Frost. In his resolution, Frost outlined basic factors and objectives integral to a school bond issue:

"Each time that the bond issue has come before this board, the amount to be realized by the Greenville City School System has gotten smaller and smaller," Frost noted. "We have now reached the point where we are being asked to endorse an allocation which not only does not meet our estimated needs, but also will be based upon figures not even available until the spring of 1978."

Prior to the presentation of Frost's statement, Superintendent Glenn Cox had reported that the county school board had agreed to the compromise bond issue arrangement offered by the city school board, but had stipulated that the amount be divided on a percentage basis to be established by the State Board of Education based on attendance figures to be compiled in the spring of 1978.

"In my opinion," Frost continued in his statement, "it is essential that this bond issue be passed by the people. It is also essential that the funds allocated to each of the two systems be sufficient to meet their recognized and stated needs.

I do not believe the proposal we have before us meets either one of these criteria."

The proposed bond issue referred to is the $8,250,000 compromise figure agreed upon recently by the county school board.

In opting for a delay until May, Frost stated "I firmly believe that maximum voter turnout will be needed for any chance of passage. In that regard, I feel that the May primary ... will provide us with the necessary voters."

"As to the dollar funding," Frost said, "I feel that over the next several months cool heads can prevail and we can come up with a total dollar amount acceptable to the voters as well as an allocation of the funds which will satisfy both systems, needs." Saying the challenge to do this is a tough one, Frost added "I feel the best procedure for us to follow is to postpone the proposal (the compromise proposal) and to regroup with all of the parties involved and come up with an alternative solution in time for the May primary."

Board member Terry Shank added, "I think all of us feel that one of the prime considerations is establishing a real understanding between us and the county board members so that we can get together, talk and work on this in a comfortable way." Ms. Shank said she feels the decision to postpone the bond issue for the time being is wise, "as we need to get some things settled first."

Cox said he feels "the county commissioners, from indications I have had in talking to them, are hoping the two boards will get together to work some more on this matter."

BUS SERVICE TO PITT TECH?

I have been working for several years now since I finished high school and now am thinking about working part-time and going to Pitt Technical Institute part-time this fall to try to increase my chances to get a really good-paying and satisfying job. I walk everywhere I go almost and really am concerned about how I'm going to get to Pitt Tech from my home in West Greenville. Is there any chance of Pitt Tech's having a bus service of any kind that would run from downtown possibly to the school and back? S. F.

Hotline struck a respondent chord when we called Pitt Tech's Dean of Students George McRorie and posed your question. He said the school has no money for such a costly service, but that he has been asking the Greenville City Council for a long time to authorize the GREAT bus service to run its route out to Pitt Tech however many times a day it would deem proper. He said it probably would take action of the Council because Pitt Tech is about a half-mile outside the Greenville city limits.

"It's a great need," he said. "We don't even know how great. We do know that we've had many students drop out because of transportation problems that would have been solved by this service. How many never started because of it, of course, we can never know. He said he'd be glad to talk to anyone about the situation and would be glad to hear any suggestions."

He said that Pitt Tech would be glad to help the city foot the bill for the added service insofar as it is able out of student activity fees. "This is how important we think this service would be to our students," he said.

School Budget Action Is Taken

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

The required legal budget resolution of the 1977-78 Greenville City School budget appropriated by Pitt County Commissioners was approved by members of the city school board Monday night; and Budget Amendment No. 1, requesting an additional $181,533 in current operating expense funds was also approved for presentation to the county commissioners at their next regular meeting in September.

Under the new state budget system, budget resolutions are broken down into five areas, each area encompassing an expenditure and revenue section, for a total of ten reporting sections. For the city school system's 1977-78 budget, the appropriations areas are:

— Section 1 — Local Current Expense Fund — $2,005,470.99; and Section 2 — revenues — state allocation, $446,743.82; federal allocation, $8,000; county appropriation, $1,505,034.81; and local revenue, $45,692.36 for a total of $2,005,470.99.

— Section 3 — State Public School Fund — $3,651,955.64; and Section 4 — revenues — State public school fund allocation, $3,651,955.64.

— Section 5 — Federal Grants Fund, $573,418.75; and — Section 6 — revenues, total federal allocation, $573,418.75.

— Section 7 — Capital outlay fund — $205,170; and — Section 8, revenues, state allocations, $7,678; county appropriations, $152,492; and local revenue, $45,000, for a total of $205,170.

— Section 9 — School Food Service Fund, $683,470; and — Section 10 — revenues — state allocation, $19,490.13; local revenues, $663,979.87 (including sales of lunches and state and federal reimbursements), for a total of $683,470.

The Budget Amendment No. 1, prepared to submit to county commissioners for their consideration, seeks an increase in the current expense budget on seven items; and a decrease for one item. These are:

(Increases) — Regular instructional program, $13,000; special instructional program, $29,738.85; other instructional programs, $16,714.53; instructional staff supporting services, $48,306.64; general administrative services, $8,508; school administrative supporting services, $22,692.40; and business support services, $47,887.50.

(Decrease) — Pupil supporting services, $5,313.45.

The total increase being sought comes to $181,533.47.

Commenting on the overall appropriations approved by county commissioners, member Miles Frost noted that the new code and reporting system of budget requests were confusing. He cited, as an example, what he feels was "an oversight in the area of support services for special (education) needs." The way the original request is combined with other services could so easily be misleading," Frost said, "and I can very well understand where this is an example that could create an oversight in budgeting."

In other actions at the Monday night meeting, board members: — Approved the resignation of one teacher and the election of 36 teacher personnel, maternity leave for a teacher, and extended sick leave for another teacher.

— Heard a status report on construction at the Middle School from architect George Shoe in which he reported the construction schedule is behind and said "I have advised the general contractor of the project completion date and requested him to increase the manpower in the areas that are behind schedule and to make a strong effort to be on schedule by next month."

— Awarded contract for milk and ice cream to Carolina Dairy, and the contract for bread products to Sunbeam. Bids from Sunbeam and Holsum in total amounts on three items were identical, with Sunbeam being selected since that firm has a warehouse in Greenville and can make more prompt deliveries.

— Heard a report on letters to Administrative Assistant Bob Stewart that the completed renovation at Third Street School meets all compliances; and that an inspection of other schools shows them in a "safe and sanitary condition for reopening" for the coming school year.

— Approved a schedule of school fees for the coming school year. These are: General instructional materials, $4; physical education, grades 7-12, $2; home economics lab, grade grades 9-12, $2.50; home economics, semester 8-9, $1.25; industrial arts, grades 10-12, $2.50; industrial arts, semester 8-9, $1.25; cabinetmaking, grades 10-12, $2.50; bookkeeping practice sets, $4.50; arts and crafts, grades 10-12, $2; arts and crafts, semester 8-9, $1; student insurance, school hours coverage, $4; student insurance, 24 hour coverage, $23; lunches, elementary grades K-6, 50 cents; secondary grades 7-12, 60; teachers, 75 cents; and extra milk, 10 cents.

Also approved was a motion that out-of-district fees be eliminated as not applicable for the forthcoming school year.

Paid Sums In Lieu Of Taxes

BRYSON CITY, N.C. (AP) — With federal forests and parks comprising 82 per cent of the land, Swain County this year collect an estimated $174,125 from the federal government in lieu of taxes.

Swain receives the largest share, but 37 other North Carolina counties also are planning their budgets around an estimated $797,000 to $997,829 received for property owned by the U.S. government.

The Payments in Lieu of Taxes Act, enacted by the 94th Congress and signed by the President last Oct. 20, replaces money the counties would have received in taxes if the land had been privately owned.

County officials say the program should have been started long ago.

Payments will be worked out under a complicated formula which takes into consideration the amount of federal land in a county, its population and federal payments it already receives for such things as federal timber sales and recreational fees.

Without the money, Swain county would have had to increase the property tax rate by 40 to 50 cents per $100 valuation "or else we would have had to resort to tremendous cuts" on spending, said Mrs. Sherry Jenkins, Swain finance officer. The payments will allow the county to keep its current tax rate of 70 cents per $100.

In Macon County, the federal payment will amount to an estimated $87,392 and will enable the county to keep its tax rate at 25.5 cents of $100, which was the lowest in the state last year.

Clay County finance officer William M. Green says he feels his county, which is due to get about $34,882, is being short-changed.

"It looks like they are going to pay us about 50 cents per acre, while the other counties seem to be getting 75 cents per acre," Green said. He said the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners has been asked to investigate.

Hunt Okays UNC Action

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Jim Hunt has given his blessing to University of North Carolina officials who have turned thumbs down on new federal desegregation guidelines.

William C. Friday, president of the University of North Carolina, said Sunday he believed the new guidelines were unrealistic, and Hunt indicated he will support an alternative plan Friday has developed.

"I am strongly behind Bill Friday and the university system," Hunt said through a spokesman.

The UNC system faces possible cutoff of $100 million in federal aid if it remains at odds with the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare over the desegregation plan.

HEW is under a court order in a civil suit filed by the NAACP to expedite desegregation efforts in several state university systems, including North Carolina's.

As a result of that order, HEW proposed the new guidelines for racial goals at UNC. One of them would require a 150 per cent increase in minority freshmen and transfer students over the next five years.

Friday unveiled a plan of his own at a meeting of a committee of the UNC Board of Governors. Hunt must approve this plan before it is submitted formally to HEW next month.

Friday contended the goals HEW proposed were unrealistic and impractical, and his own desegregation plan contained few specific goals.

Miss Susan Fleming Weds In Ceremony On Sunday

BATH — The Athens Chapel Church of Christ here was the scene of the Sunday afternoon wedding ceremony of Susan Anne Fleming and John Kim Knox.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Gloria M. Fleming of Washington, and the late Mr. Donald P. Fleming, and Mr. and Mrs. John Curtis Knox of Robersonville.

The officiating minister was Maxie Gavin of Washington. A program of piano music was rendered by Treva Tankard, Ms.

Tankard sang "Sweet Holy Spirit," Dennis Modlin sang "That's The Way" and Phil Foreman sang prior to the wedding.

Twin baskets of gladioli, pom poms, daisies and baker's fern were placed on either side of the kneeling bench. The piano held an arrangement of blue and white summer flowers. Satin bows and flowers marked the family pews and the windows were decorated with magnolia sprays and white satin bows. Kathy Douglas presided at the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Donald P. Fleming Jr. She wore a formal length gown of white organza designed with a high neckline of imported English net trimmed in Venice lace. The long sheer sleeves featured a cuff of net overlaid in lace. The princess styled gown and attached train were enhanced with the Venice lace extending down the front and back.

Her tiered silk illusion veil, edged in bridal pearls, was held in place by a Camelot cap overlaid with Venice lace and rows of pearls. She wore an heirloom lavalier.

The bride carried a cascade of white butterfly roses centered with jack frost pom poms, bakers fern and eucalyptus.

The honor attendant was Ronita Cutler of Bath. Bridesmaids included Dawn Henderson, Rhonda Boseman, Beverly Mason and Lisa Larking, all of Bath. The junior attendant was Penny Gurganus of Bath, cousin of the bride.

Honorary bridesmaids were Mrs. Alice Boseman and Mrs. Delores Morgan of Bath, and Dorothy White of Windsor.

The honor attendant and bridesmaids were dressed in gowns of light blue knit polyester fashioned with a high neckline and high rise waist marked with a band of white lace and rosettes. They wore a spray of white silk flowers and ribbon in their hair and carried a single white mum with matching blue streamers.

The junior bridesmaid wore a white floral strip of blue flocked cotton styled similar to the bridesmaids'. She carried a nosegay of flowers.

Ushers were Hal Knox, brother of the bridegroom, Bill Boseman, Scott Taylor and Tony Peaks. The best man was the bridegroom's father.

Mrs. Mary Bowen of Bath, aunt of the bride, was mistress of ceremonies.

The mother of the bride was dressed in an ivory colored sleeveless dress with a sheer ivory cape with pink flowers. The mother of the bridegroom selected a gown of hot pink tulle with a scoop neckline and chiffon shawl. Both mothers wore wrist corsages of pink daisies and pom poms.

The bride is a graduate of Bath High School and will enter Beaufort Technical Institute in the fall. The bridegroom, a graduate of Robersonville High School, is attending ECU.

The couple will live in Washington following a wedding trip to the Virginia mountains.

The bride's mother entertained at a reception in the church fellowship hall.

The bride's table was covered with a white floor length cloth edged in a double ruffle of matching lace and trimmed with blue ribbon. The table held a five branch silver candelabra. Mrs. Margaret Hester, Mrs. Deloris Douglas, Mrs. Lula Ambrose, Mrs. Mildred Ambrose, Mrs. Lorena Sawyer, Mrs. Mary Bowen, Mrs. Beth Gurganus, Mrs. Loretta Bowen, Miss Cindy Ambrose and Mrs. Sallie Brooks assisted.

The bridegroom's parents entertained at a rehearsal party at the church Saturday evening.

Mrs. Nell Benham, Mrs. Patsy Price and Mrs. Janet Knox assisted in serving.

MRS. JERRY WAYNE POWELL

Powell-Clark Vows Solemnized Sunday

WILLIAMSTON — Rebecca Lynn Clark and Jerry Wayne Powell were united in marriage Sunday at 3:00 p.m. in the Macedonia Christian Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Dolan Baker. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Lee Clark of Williamston, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white nystta and Venice lace. The gown was styled with a shirred empire bodice and mandarin neckline. The modified A-line skirt had an attached tubular train.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Powell of Stokes.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Robert McDuffie of Raleigh, organist, and Amy Grant of Portsmouth, Va., vocalist.

Bridal attendants were Leesa Clark of Williamston, sister of the bride, Susan Zepp of Dunn, Chris Clemmer and Dorie Massengill, both of Greenville. Two of the attendants wore yellow gowns and two wore seafoam colored gowns, which were floor length. They wore matching hats and carried bouquets of daisies and baby's breath.

The ring bearer was Lance Edwards of Washington, nephew of the bride. Ushers included Richard McDuffie of Reston, Va., Jerry Grant of Portsmouth, Va., and Irving Powell of Newport News, Va., brother of the bridegroom. The father of the bridegroom was best man.

The wedding was directed by Julie Edwards of Washington, sister of the bride.

After a wedding trip to the mountains of North Carolina, the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride received a B.S. in education from ECU and her Master's in rehabilitation counseling. She is now employed as a rehabilitation counselor with Services for the Blind. The bridegroom is also a graduate of ECU and is working on a master's degree. He is a teacher at North Pitt High School.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall.

An after-rehearsal party was held for the bridal couple at the home of Ms. Clemmer, Greenville, given by Ms. Clemmer, Ms. Massengill and Ms. Zepp.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

A mother wrote last week and said, "My son is so shy and uncommunicative I probably won't know he is going through puberty until he has passed it."

Boys are like that. If my son came home and found me unconscious on the kitchen floor, he'd yell in my unconscious ear, "What's for snack?"

Actually, there is only one surefire, telltale, infallible way of telling whether or not your son has discovered that girls need more padding on a softball team than boys do.

I call it the Shower Syndrome. For four or five years, the only contact my sons had with water was a sponge in the back of the church filled with holy water. I had the only kids on the block who could take a shower and not get their hair, trousers or shoes wet.

I nagged them to death about it.

"Did you take a bath?"

"I went swimming."

"Did you wash your hands?"

"I washed the one that was dirty. See?"

"Why don't you take a shower?"

"Where are we going?"

Then, for no apparent reason, we heard the water running . . . and running. And running. And running.

"What is he doing in the shower this long?" asked my husband. "Washing away his sins?"

"He has just discovered girls."

"When is he going to discover that we only have a 30-gallon hot water tank and he emptied that to wash his hair?"

Couple Speaks Wedding Vows

RALEIGH — Jeanne Renee Pearson, daughter of Mrs. Helen P. Pearson and Dr. Richard G. Pearson, both of Raleigh, and Mark Henry Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Campbell Jr., also of Raleigh, were united in marriage Sunday at 2:00 p.m.

The double ring ceremony was conducted by Ralph Tyrone Campbell in the St. Giles Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Hafley, organist, and Reld Castrodale, vocalist, presented a program of wedding music. Castrodale sang "The Wedding Song."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of organza fashioned with empire lines trimmed with French imported chantilly lace around the cuffs, neckline and hemline. The lace bodice was adorned with pearls and the long bishop sleeves had lace cuffs. The skirt extended into an attached chapel train. She carried a white orchid centered on a Bible with streamers. Her fingertip veil was edged with chantilly lace.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Robin Beard of Fayetteville. Bridesmaids were Molly Miles of Raleigh, and Becky Campbell, sisters of the bride.

The flower girl was Valerie Pearson of Raleigh, sister of the bride.

The attendants wore blue flowered print gowns styled with sweetheart necklines, empire lines and a matching cape. They carried bouquets of white carnations and purple statice.

The flower girl was dressed like the other attendants and carried a white basket with white carnations and purple statice.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and ushers included Roger Pearson and Doug

The couple will live in Winterville following a wedding trip to the mountains and the coast.

The bride, a graduate of ECU, is employed by Whitehurst Floor and Carpet Center. The bridegroom is attending ECU and is employed by Grady-White Boats, Inc.

A reception was held at the church following the ceremony.

The reception flowers were white gladioli, blue tipped carnations and purple statice. The opposite sex. He will use a can of deodorant a day . . . for each arm . . . each time he takes a shower. He will use mouthwash like it runs free out of the tap. As for shampoo, I never thought I would see the day when I would hide two tablespoons of shampoo in the tea canister so I could wash my hair over the weekend.

As my husband observed the other day as he stepped from his cold shower, brushed his teeth with baking soda, squirted hair spray under each arm and gargled with a cup of coffee, "I think I liked 'em better when they were dirty."

Dear Abby

Trash Trashing Invasion Of Privacy

By Abigail Van Buren

1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Someone signed NORTH HOLLYWOOD asked you how to deal with a neighbor whose biggest enjoyment in life was going through his neighbors' trash cans, and you replied, "Why not regard it as a somewhat childish pleasure, and let it go at that?"

You are dead wrong, Abby! MY trash is MY business. It contains my bills, personal correspondence, empty prescription bottles, discarded publications, empty food containers, bottles and possibly hundreds of other items that happen to be my private affair and not my neighbor's.

I've never known you to be a Pollyanna before. Please don't start now!

PRIVATE PERSON

DEAR PERSON: You're right. I was wrong. I was also informed that in some places, snooping through someone's trash is considered an invasion of privacy, and is therefore illegal!

DEAR ABBY: I am involved with an older married man, and to tell you the truth, I feel a little guilty about it. He keeps telling me I shouldn't feel guilty because a married man who is satisfied at home would never even look at another woman. The way he puts it, "If a man is well-fed at home he will not go to a restaurant."

Is that true?

GOT THE GUILTS

DEAR GOT: No. Regardless of how well-fed some men are, six hours later, they're hungry again!

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for making your readers aware that people in wheelchairs can enjoy sex, too. So often, it is assumed that because a person is in a wheelchair he is unable to function sexually.

Paraplegics and quadriplegics are generally sexually attractive people because of their self-awareness, their sensuality, their courage in coping successfully with their handicaps, their maturity and their genuine appreciation of other people—regardless of whether they are dependent on them.

"Paras and quads" as they often refer to themselves, are human beings with the rare ability to integrate sexual expressions into meaningful personal relationships. In that sense, they have much to teach many members of the non-disabled population, who may be sexually handicapped because they are unable to do the same.

People who choose paras and quads for partners are really the fortunate ones. The parents of those who choose paras and quads should be thankful that they have raised children with depth, sensitivity and quality, and not worry whether their child's chosen mate can walk or "ride" down the aisle to be married. God bless those paras and quads!

Pace Will Be Soon Quickening

Greenville will be bustling as never before in a week.

The East Carolina student body will be near or at record levels; new faculty members will be here and new people will be in the city to work with industry or business.

While there seems to be adequate housing for sale on the market, apartment units are reported filled and all the dormitory space on the campus is reported taken.

The weeks ahead will be fairly trying ones for newcomers and long time residents, as the new residents, who have not done so, seek housing in Greenville.

It will also be a time when many new drivers, unfamiliar with local streets, will be attempting to find their way around the city. There will be additional traffic as fall shopping picks up and with sports and other events taking place.

Those of us who have lived here for years can do a lot to prevent frayed nerves and help the many newcomers feel welcome by showing a little courtesy to them.

We can be helpful when they ask directions, and we who are familiar with local streets can be extra watchful at dangerous intersections.

Things will change drastically here in a couple of weeks, and we should all be prepared for it.

Corn To Be Available; Little Is Local

There is talk of a record corn crop nationally, despite drought conditions in much of the nation.

Unfortunately corn growers in this area won't contribute much to a record crop, since the long dry July severely limited the corn yield for North Carolina.

While there apparently will be corn available, the local growers will be hurt by the losses.

THIS AFTERNOON

Bureaucracy Warned

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — Between the wailing and gnashing of teeth among state bureaucracies afflicted by Gov. Jim Hunt's trimming axe, some will recall the clear intention of the governor to do precisely what he is doing.

Six months ago, Hunt made his most blunt comments on the bureaucracy in this column: "The state government bureaucracy is going to respond to my leadership, or there will be some changes made."

"In some instances, we are seeing incorrect explanations made by agency people as to the extent of cuts and their impacts on critical public services. Now whether that misinformation is being given out intentionally, or is just a result of misunderstanding is a question I cannot answer . . . but where we find a lack of cooperation, we are going to make changes," Hunt said flatly.

"If the personnel now in state government do not cooperate with my programs and directions, we will make changes necessary to bring about cooperation."

The Process

Today, the governor is more convinced than ever that change is the foundation upon which our form of government rests. He considers his election a "mandate" from citizens to bring about change, and where revamped programs can't be accomplished without removing entrenched bureaucrats, then he insists on doing that.

And it is well that he make these difficult changes early in his administration, Hunt believes, because to delay gets him closer and closer to the time when he becomes a part of the established bureaucracy and becomes defensive of the status quo. In short, he knows that the time will come when the programs will be "his programs," and to denounce them is in effect denouncing his own record.

Critics argue that he is cutting too deeply into state employment by getting the legislature to declare more positions exempt from the State Personnel Act, and by getting a law setting a five-year period of employment before such protection is gained — thereby putting into jeopardy all of those hired when Republican James E. Holshouser was governor.

Critics also lambast Hunt

BILL NOBLITT

Not Qualified

Hunt gets upset, however, at the implication that previous involvement in politics somehow means an individual is not qualified to take an important job — that he or she is "just a political hack."

To the contrary, Hunt says, the very best people get involved in politics — they are the people who care about their communities, their state, and their nation, and are willing to stake themselves out and work for changing what they don't like. Given a choice between two equally qualified job applicants, Hunt admits, he will give the nod to the one who worked for him.

That open embracing of a political philosophy once hidden in backrooms leads critics to believe the governor is merely using his power to stack the deck for a second bid for the governor's office should a Constitutional amendment allowing that pass; or for higher office in the future.

Also, the process adds fuel to critics' fire because along the way some genuine, unqualified "political hacks" do wind up with important jobs at high salaries. Hunt's top aides admit that this happens under the First Rule of Politics, and candidly agree on a list of 10 or 12 such appointees. But that, Hunt's people argue, should not cloud the entire system.

Along with the hacks, some superb people are entering state government, they maintain.

Meanwhile, Hunt continues to stress the need for change in certain state programs, and challenges his critics to watch what happens as time goes by to see if the change is not for the better.

THE INSIDE REPORT

Carter's First Calamity

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The corrosive impact of the Bert Lance affair within the administration is seen in this privately expressed judgment by a member of Jimmy Carter's subcabinet: "This is the first real test to show just what kind of President he really is."

Since this Assistant Secretary had informed his colleagues two weeks earlier that Lance simply had to go as director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), the "test" in this official's mind was whether or not President Carter had the toughness to fire the cabinet's strongman. Such talk promoting the fall of big Bert Lance, not always expressed in sorrow, is widespread among administration officials.

But there is countervailing bitterness elsewhere in the administration that a decent man who has not yet been shown to have committed one illegal act is being crucified by the press, aided by officials in the Treasury and other departments. Partisans of Lance, then, see a very different "test" for the President: Whether he will play Harry Truman by defying the press and the growing consensus within his administration.

Lance's fall, which now seems inevitable, will deprive the administration of its invaluable "deputy President" and its principal link to the business community.

Following recent setbacks for the budget-balancers, the end of Lance signals more federal spending. But beyond this, the political death of Lance will bequeath animosity and suspicion among those left behind in the administration. From many aspects, then, the Lance affair is not only President Carter's first crisis but his first calamity.

Lance's closest friends and allies here are convinced the interest in Lance's private financial life by non-friends of Lance inside the administration, and their suspicions concentrate on the Treasury. Whether or not Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal is involved, Lance is no favorite among Treasury subordinates.

Hostility within the Lance camp focuses on John G. Heiman, the new Comptroller of the Currency in charge of the Lance investigation. Heiman, a former New York state banking superintendent, was pushed successfully for the comptroller's post by Blumenthal against Vice President Mondale's choice, who had wider support. Heiman is intensely ambitious, so much so that some officials believe he is angling to become the next Federal Reserve chairman.

That ambition explains the venomous emotions of some of Lance's friends, including one cabinet member, in their private complaints about Heiman's aggressive investigation. When Heiman's office labelled Lance's Aug. 5 press conference as ill-advised, OMB officials thought the comptroller was shooting at Lance's lifeboat.

High officials in other departments, while in no way sabotaging Lance, shed few tears over his predicament. Middle-level liberals who want higher, not lower, federal spending perceive Lance as linch-pin of the balanced budget policy and believe the President will loosen federal pursestrings without the big, soft-spoken banker from Calhoun County, Ga., at his side.

Actually, Lance's policy has been eroding over the last month. He failed to trigger an all-out presidential economic drive against the Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) appropriations bill. The new welfare reform plan, expected to boost spending by more than the advertised $3 billion, was another Lance defeat; preoccupied by personal difficulties, he missed the key July 27 presidential meeting to consider welfare options.

Ever since he learned on

Strength For Today

SAVED BY KNOWLEDGE?

The German philosopher Hegel, who wrote during the early 19th century, maintained that if we knew more we would sin less, and that if we knew all we would cease to sin. He was one of the chief supporters of the contention that mankind is to be saved by secular enlightenment.

Yet one hundred years after Hegel died the German nation fell into the hands of Hitler and was almost destroyed. The United States today does not appear likely to become the earthly counterpart of the kingdom of God because of the rapid advance of knowledge. Actually, we are very likely to destroy ourselves and the rest of the world with the atomic weapons which our "wisdom" has created.

Theodore Roosevelt once remarked that to educate a person without educating his conscience was to create a potential criminal. In the same way, to enlighten the mind of a nation and not to enlighten its conscience is to court unimaginable disaster.

Government Harassment

A small army of FBI agents played another game of gang-busters last month with the Church of Scientology. By apparent actual count, 134 agents burst into three church offices in Washington and California. They hauled away tons of stuff. Now church leaders are fighting back.

Speaking simply as a taxpayer, I would say hooray for these scrappy reverends. They have sued the FBI, and they have just published a large book of documents having to do with the government's long campaign of harassment against them. Church lawyers pried the documents loose from a reluctant government by means of the Freedom of Information Act. The FOIA seldom has been put to more revealing use.

If the Scientologists' story were not so terrifying, it would have its comic aspects. But the story in fact is terrifying. Over a period of 23 years, commencing in 1954, the federal government has thrown its whole massive weight into a malicious persecution of this religious sect. A dozen different agencies have participated in the attack. Millions upon millions of tax dollars have been wasted. No statistician could compute the man hours of costly time that have been frittered away in blundering pursuit of these devotees.

For the record, I am as skeptical of the Scientologists — and as tolerant of their ideas — as I am of every other organized religion. Scientology may be a racket, as the government persistently contends, but this has never been proved as a matter of law. These people believe they have found a path to man's peace of mind; they profess to have founded an establishment of religion. And if church leaders seek rich converts, and milk them for large contributions, what else is new?

The story begins in 1954, when the United States Air Force, of all outfits, launched an investigation of Scientology in the area of Lowry Air Force Base in Colorado. The USAF Office of Special Investigation had some notion that the disciples were Communists, homosexuals, or either, or both. So began the harassment.

In 1958, the Secret Service got into the act. It appears the church had mentioned the name of Richard Nixon in some publication. Mr. Nixon was then vice president. The Secret Service dispatched a couple of muscle men to throw their weight around.

In 1959, the Food and Drug Administration began an attack that would go on for years. Why the FDA, you may ask? A fair question. The Scientologists use a simple skin galvanometer, which they call an E-meter, as an aid in their metaphysical healing programs. The FDA said the E-meter was a quack medical device, hence unlawful. So agents of the FDA, disguised as prospective members, began infiltrating and snooping and detecting and writing long single-spaced reports.

In 1960, the United States Army moved up some troops. The Scientologists' book includes a photostat of one Army Intelligence report. If that report is a fair sample of the intelligence of Army Intelligence, God help the American Republic.

In 1961, the Air Force renewed its forays. In 1962, the FDA and the Bureau of Customs gave the church a hard time. In January of 1963, two huge vans, escorted by motorcycle police, rolled up to church headquarters in Washington. Government agents seized three tons of material, including 5,000 books, 20,000 pamphlets, and 65 of the devilish E-meters. It took ten years of costly

To the editor:

The family is our most precious and enduring institution. Then let's be more of a family. Get to know each other by really controlling your TV viewing, by including the whole family in some of your entertainment, by having meals together more, by choosing stimulating topics for conversation and by playing various games with our children.

Parents, talk to your children, teach your children, and above all, listen to them! Many a kid won't tell his father or mother what's wrong, but he'll tell his closest friend at school, simply because he's interrupted by a parent. Mom and Dad forgot how to listen a long time ago.

Wouldn't it be nice if parents deliberately planned a different day? Get out of that rut! Our families are like beautiful gardens. They need lots of careful attention — watering, cultivating, pruning, weeding out wrong practices and habits.

Finally, have a weekly family night when the whole family can do things together.

President Carter evaluated the family thusly: "The entire history of the human race teaches us that the family unit is the best way for men and women to live their lives, the best way to raise children, and the only solid foundation upon which to build a strong nation."

Hassle Moves To Washington

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A dispute between two professors has confused a lot of people who thought they understood the stock market, and probably has loosened their already limp grip on the laws of economic and statistics, if not physics.

The hassle has moved from the campus to Washington, where it will be considered by a State subcommittee on possible pension fund legislation. And so, therefore, some legislative aids might lose their grip too.

The question is this: Does the concentration of buying-selling by institutions, especially of Morgan Guaranty Trust, the biggest pension trust manager, directly affect the prices of stocks?

In testimony last year, Prof. Roy A. Schotland of Georgetown University Law

School said, yes, institutional trading does affect prices. The impact, he said, was adverse, hurting pension beneficiaries and other investors.

Morgan Guaranty didn't like that conclusion, and so hired Prof. David W. Miller of Columbia University, a highly respected statistician and consultant. He disagreed, emphatically.

"There is no indication that Morgan Guaranty's trading had any effect on stock price changes," said Miller. "Professor Schotland's statistical study as it is designed cannot sustain the conclusions he draws from it."

Reached in West Virginia by the New York Times, Schotland countered by declaring Miller's methodology imperfect. "It will come apart" upon further study, he said, in effect hurling Miller's accusation right back at him.

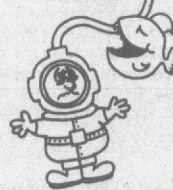

That trading by an investor of Morgan's size — it accounted for 38.5 per cent of all buying in Kaiser Aluminum in 1975 — would not affect a stock price "defies logic and the most elementary supply law of economics," he said.

Most investors, it seems fair to say, would be inclined to side with Schotland, or otherwise concede that their understanding of the market, their vocation or avocation, was as scrambled as their knowledge of statistics.

Is it even conceivable, they asked, that an investors with 600 pension trust accounts and tens of millions of dollars to invest, would have no impact on prices?

Doesn't this contradict the law of supply and demand? Newton's laws of motion? If you pounded a board with a hammer, a ball with a bat or a stock with a sell order — isn't it all the same?

Perform a death-defying act.

Have your blood pressure checked.

"There would, then, be a response from the market?"
"You would imagine there would be."

The confusion, it appears, arises from the framework in which the earlier "no impact" statements were made, and that framework in turn resulted from the manner in which the study was structured.

Miller followed the structure of Schotland's study, at least in some respects, and that study covered a time period of a full quarter. Over that time, Miller said, there was no measurable impact on prices.

mental balance as a top concern, is building a $15 million waste treatment plant for its new $250 million brewery under construction here.

"When the brewery begins operating, I will invite you to have a glass of water from the end of the waste treatment system, and it will be safe for you to drink it," beckoned the engineer who helped design the treatment plant.

The waste treatment plant, according to a company statement, "will be one of the most modern and sophisticated organic waste treatment facilities in the country."

Miller said that under the treatment process, 97 per cent of the organic pollutants will be removed. The plant, it said, will meet or exceed the requirements of the North Carolina Department of Natural and Economic Resources.

"(Our) primary concern... is to assure that the environmental balance of the area is not disturbed and that the cleanliness and natural abundance of the area is retained," the company said.

The primary treatment system will consist of eight aeration basins, each with the capacity of 3.2 million gallons. From the aeration basins, the wastes will be processed through four clarifiers where solids will be separated.

A tertiary system will consist of lagoons capable of holding 32 million gallons. The solids will then be dried and disposed of at state-approved landfill sites.

Since the brewery at top production would produce 65,000 pounds of organic material, removal of 97 per cent would leave 1,950 pounds of untreated organic material that will be dumped into the Dan River daily. The company's discharge permit from the U.S. Corps of Engineers places an average daily discharge limit of 2,042 pounds of organic material.

The brewery will turn out 8.8 million barrels or 272.8 million gallons of beer a day.

No Reason Yet For Change Of Ruling

FARMVILLE — Pitt County Medical Examiner Dr. Thomas Patterson said this morning he has "no reason at this time to change the original ruling of accidental death as a result of acute crushing injuries from a single car" in the deaths of two men near Fountain early Sunday morning.

The two men, identified as Juny Wilson Petty and Artis Lee Jackson, both said to be from Clarksdale, Miss., were hit by a car driven by Ida Annette Dunn of Rt. 1, Fountain on Highway 222 about two miles west of Fountain.

She and her passenger said the car topped a small hill and there the two were, lying in the road. There was no time to stop or avoid them, Dr. Patterson quoted them as saying.

The two men were said to be migrant farm laborers living temporarily in the area. Whether there was any alcohol in the blood of either or both has not been determined, Dr. Patterson said. He said a preliminary examination by the pathologist showed no reason to believe that litigation before the courts held the raid an unconstitutional abuse of power.

In 1967, the Labor Department harassed the church by denying work permits to visiting ministers from abroad. The CIA checked in. The Post Office brought up its legions of postal inspectors, sniffing for mail fraud. The FBI kept surveilling away. The Immigration and Naturalization Service joined the fun. So, too, the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, and the National Security Agency.

They must have fallen over each other.
Finally the government, having lost at every turn, threw the Internal Revenue Service into the breach. The IRS prepared whole pages of instruction for its agents' manual, dealing with special audits and investigations. The IRS now has 33 lineal feet of files on the sect, and all the government has for its trouble is a series of court rulings to the effect that Scientology is indeed a church as a matter of law.

Who's crazy? I ask you, seriously, now, who's nuts? These meter-reading reverends? Or the government's klutzes who trample the First Amendment under foot?

Aug. 5 about that Manufacturers Hanover Bank memo appearing to link a personal loan to Lance with deposits from his Atlanta bank, the normally high-spirited Lance has been deeply depressed. Usually the most accessible of men, he spent days at his summer home in Sea Island, Ga., declining to take calls even from friends.

Although some White House aides and cabinet members privately insist that Lance has done nothing illegal, they worry that public perceptions, fed by a mid-summer, dog-days press campaign, have frozen against Lance. Moreover, when Democratic Senators who weeks ago gave Lance a hasty clean bill of health return from the August recess, they will be anxious to balance their ledgers by going after him — if he is still around.

So only Jimmy Carter can now save Lance. The barely credible claim that the two old friends have not even discussed the problem seems true. Nor, at this writing, has the President solicited opinions within the cabinet. His principal contacts on the question are senior aides Hamilton Jordan and Robert Lipshutz.

All of this points to the departure of Bert Lance, probably quite soon. Less obviously, whenever Lance leaves, the administration will carry deep internal scars not likely to heal anytime soon.

the causes of the deaths may have been other than being struck by the Dunn car, but he emphasized that the official autopsy report is not yet completed.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers will extend today from the Southwest to the Northeast and from Florida to the western Gulf. Temperatures are expected to be cool through the northern and central Plains into the Great Lakes. Warm weather is due for the rest of the nation. (AP Laserphoto Map)

By The Associated Press
 Thunderstorms, some severe, rumbled through a wide area of North Carolina Monday, causing minor damage in some areas but also putting another dent in the crop-killing summer drought.

Greensboro had one of the day's heaviest rains, measuring 2.59 inches, resulting in some street flooding. In Wilson County, three persons were slightly injured by lightning bolts that struck near them.

Two Wilson County farm workers were reported slightly injured when lightning struck the barn where they were working, and a 15-year-old Elm City girl, identified as Tina Dorsey, was reported in satisfactory condition after a lightning bolt struck near her as she stood in the doorway of a mobile home.

Raleigh also experienced some street flooding under a downpour that measured nearly half an inch. The early afternoon storm also knocked out some power lines and telephones.

Elizabeth City measured more than two and a half inches of rain and Jacksonville had nearly an inch and a half.

Agriculture spokesmen said the rains were late but still beneficial for farmers who have lost an average of 40 per cent of their corn crop and 28 per cent of their flue-cured tobacco as result of the blistering heat and drought.

"This kind of rain is a great benefit to tobacco, soybeans, peanuts, sweet potatoes — just about everything except corn," said Dan Tucker of the N. C. Crop and Livestock reporting service.

The forecast called for more afternoon and evening thunderstorms through Wednesday with high temperatures in the 80s except for some low 90s over the southeast portion.

With one of the heaviest rainfalls Monday, Greensboro also had the day's highest reported temperature, a 93. Rocky Mount and Charlotte reached 91, Fayetteville and Raleigh 88, Goldsboro 87, Wilmington 86 and New Bern 83.

Pitt Farm Tour Is Held Today

FARM TOUR ... guide Ed Yancey and Chamber of Commerce Agri-Business Committee chairman Andy Warren discuss tour stops on the day's schedule.

About 40 local area business and agriculture leaders participated today in a farm tour sponsored by the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce's Agri-Business Committee.

Andy Warren, chairman of the Chamber committee, said the purpose of the tour was "to acquaint the merchants with what's going on in the farming community," and give businessmen an insight into what effect agriculture has on the economy.

The tour visited the Briley Brothers farm on the Pactolus Highway and Sandy Acres Farm in the Clark's Neck community this morning before visiting the Grimesland Plant Foods plant shortly after noon.

The tour group saw how the plant foods firm manufactures fertilizer, then viewed a demonstration by the North Carolina Egg Marketing Association and cooked their own egg omelets for lunch.

The tour was scheduled to visit two Agriculture Extension Service on-farm test sites — soybean and corn weed control tests — in the Grimesland area before its final stop at the Paramore Egg Farm at Boyd's Cross Roads.

Tour guide Ed Yancey, Pitt Agriculture Extension chairman, said the tour was expected to "develop a better relationship between agriculture and the business community."

May Decline Extradition

By ROON LEWALD
Associated Press Writer
 BONN, West Germany (AP)

— The West German government may refuse Italy's request to hand over a Nazi war criminal who escaped from an Italian hospital in a suitcase because the constitution forbids extradition of German nationals, the Justice Ministry said today.

In another development, the Italian government said the daring escape of convicted Nazi murderer Herbert Kappler, 70-year-old former head of the Gestapo in Rome, has forced the postponement of a meeting between Premier Giulio Andreotti and West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt. They were scheduled to meet in Verona Friday.

An announcement by Andreotti's office said Schmidt's visit came at moment in which public opinion is profoundly disturbed by the escape of life-term prisoner Kappler (and) could be the occasion of demonstrations that could be unduly interpreted as a cracking the solid friendship between the Italian and the German people.

A spokesman of Andreotti's office said no new date for a meeting was set.

Kappler, reduced to 105 pounds by terminal cancer, was smuggled out of a Rome military hospital in a big suitcase by his wife early Monday, the Italian government said. He was serving a life sentence.

The Federal Criminal Office in Wiesbaden issued a nationwide police alert for Kappler, who ordered the Ardeatine Caves massacre of 335 Italians in 1944.

Another Maker Increases Price

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Brown and Williamson Tobacco Corp. announced a 6 per cent increase Tuesday in the wholesale price of its cigarette brands, one day after a similar announcement by the R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

The increase of 85 cents per 1,000 cigarettes takes effect Wednesday for all brands except Kool, Super Lights, Kings and Longs, which will remain at the same price until Sept. 9.

Other B&W brands are Belair, Fact, Kool, Raleigh, Viceroy and duMaurier.

The company said the 85-cent-per-1,000 increase is the result of rising leaf prices and production costs. The new costs will be $14.35 per 1,000 for king-size brands and $14.85 for longs.

Bird-Watching Carew Has Last Laugh

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles found a way of getting Minnesota's Rod Carew out of the lineup. And now they're sorry.

Carew, the American League's leading hitting, was sitting on the Minnesota bench along with Lyman Bostock when the Twins took the field against Baltimore Monday night. Twins Manager Gene Mauch said he rested Carew "because every time he plays a full series in Baltimore his allergies act up."

Craig Kuskick and Bob Gorinski started for Carew and Bostock and helped lead the Twins to a 13-9 slugfest victory over the Orioles that saw a record seven home runs soar out of Baltimore's Memorial Stadium.

After Kuskick blasted two home runs and knocked in five runs, Carew batted for him in the eighth and delivered an RBI single. Gorinski smashed a two-run homer before Bostock pinch-hit for him and doubled, later coming around to score.

The victory, coupled with the New York Yankees' 6-2 win over the Chicago White Sox, boosted the Twins into the AL West lead by one-half game.

"Like anyone else views it (the AL West race), I view it with a certain amount of uncertainty," Mauch said. "Anyone who thinks they can build up a cushion and make a cakewalk of it is kidding himself. If they haven't done it so far, they're not going to do it now. It's four good teams going at it — not great ones, but four good ones."

In other AL games Monday, Boston nipped Kansas City 2-1, California defeated Toronto 7-4, Cleveland downed Oakland 7-2, Detroit clobbered Seattle 13-1 and Milwaukee edged Texas 6-5.

Red Sox 2, Royals 1

George Scott belted his 29th homer and Dwight Evans singled home the winning run as Boston edged Kansas City. The Royals scored in the ninth when Boston reliever Bill Campbell walked the first two men he faced, forcing home a run.

Yankees 6, White Sox 2

Graig Nettles' two-run single backed the six-hit pitching of Mike Torrez, 13-10, as New York knocked Chicago out of the AL West lead. It was Torrez' fifth straight complete game victory.

The Yanks scored single runs in the first and second innings, then sealed the White Sox' 12th loss in 16 games four-run outburst in the fourth, capped by Nettles' hit.

Tigers 13, Mariners 1

Milt May drove in five runs with a grand slam home run and a sacrifice fly while Ben Oglivie and Ron LeFlore added two-run shots in Detroit's rout of Seattle.

Angels 7, Blue Jays 4

A two-run homer by Tony Solaita helped California's Frank Tanana overcome a shaky start and defeat Toronto. Tanana, 147, struck out 11 while giving up 11 hits and walking one.

Indians 7, A's 2

Rick Waits, Don Hood and Sid Monge combined to toss a six-hitter as Cleveland handed Oakland its 16th loss in its last 17 games. It was the Indians' third straight victory and seventh in its last eight games.

Brewers 6, Rangers 5

Three Injuries Are Reported

Three members of the East Carolina University football team have suffered injuries during the opening days of practice, it was announced today.

One of the injuries will sideline incoming freshman Michael Jordan, a 6-4, 247-pound lineman, for an indefinite period. He suffered a broken foot.

The other two injuries are less serious, but involve starting members of the defensive secondary. Sophomore corner back Charlie Carter has a pulled hamstring while junior strong safety Gerald Hall has a minor muscle pull.

Bobby Wallace, the new secondary coach, had words of praise for his crew. "I came here really scared after losing three of the four starters, but after watching the films and seeing what these players can do, I can see that we have a lot of talent," he said.

"We have little game experience, except for Hall, but everyone has to have a first game."

Wallace noted that he has seen some of the top defensive backs of the Southeastern Conference, and Hall stacks up with the best of them.

"Willie Holley is looking real good in the light drills, along with Carter and Steve Hale. And the backup men, Ruffin McNeill and Thomas McLaurin also look good."

Yesterday was the final day for light workouts under NCAA rules. The Pirates don pads today to begin intensive and heavy workouts on a two-a-day schedule that will last until next week when registration is held and classes begin.

Playing Days Over For Al

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — An agreement has been reached between Greenville native Al Hunter and Notre Dame University that will allow the senior halfback to complete his studies at the school, but not to play football again.

Hunter, a senior at Notre Dame, was suspended earlier this summer for a dormitory violation after allegedly being in a girl's room after visiting hours. At first he was found not guilty by a panel, then that ruling was overturned and he was dropped from the school.

He had filed suit against the university to regain admission and for damages. Under the agreement, Hunter will drop his suit and be readmitted to Notre Dame in January, after a one-semester suspension.

That, however, will end his college football career. He had earlier sat out a year for another dormitory rules violation, missing his sophomore season. Under the NCAA rules, a player must complete his eligibility during a five-year period. This would have been Hunter's fifth year.

Hunter became the first Notre Dame running back in history to rush for over 1,000 yards last season, and was touted as one of the country's top running backs this fall prior to his suspension.

Four Named To Rose Positions

Four new coaches have been added to the Rose High School staff, Athletic Director Bud Phillips has announced.

The four are Paul Schiffel, Rene Laughinghouse, Sam Collier and Robert Carraway.

Schiffel, a native of Charlotte, will be the new swimming coach at the high school, replacing Tim Barnes. A graduate of Myers Park High School in Charlotte, Schiffel was a three-year letterman in swimming and finished second in the state in the 400-yard freestyle.

He received a bachelor's degree from East Carolina, where he also participated in swimming, winning letters four years. He won the Southern Conference championship in the 200-yard backstroke and the 400-yard individual medley in 1973 and again in 1974. He was selected as the Most Valuable Swimmer on the team in 1974, and was All-Conference for three years.

A 1975 graduate of East Carolina, he is presently working on his masters' degree from ECU, and in addition to working with the Rose program, will also work with the East Carolina and the Greenville swim programs.

Schiffel is married to the former Catherine Hudson of Louisville, and they have one child, Scott, 11 weeks.

Laughinghouse is a native of Greenville and a graduate of C. M. Eppes High School in 1968.

While at Eppes, he played football and track, and was twice All-Area. He played four years of college football at Elizabeth City State University, with his team winning the league championship his senior year.

The halfback graduated in 1972, and has since taught at Farmville, at C. B. Aycock and in New Bern. He will teach industrial arts at Rose, in addition to serving as an assistant football coach.

Collier, a Goldsboro native, will teach math at Rose. He is a 1977 graduate of East Carolina, and also worked as a lab assistant in physics and astronomy during his senior year.

He will coach the girls' track team at Rose. He is single.

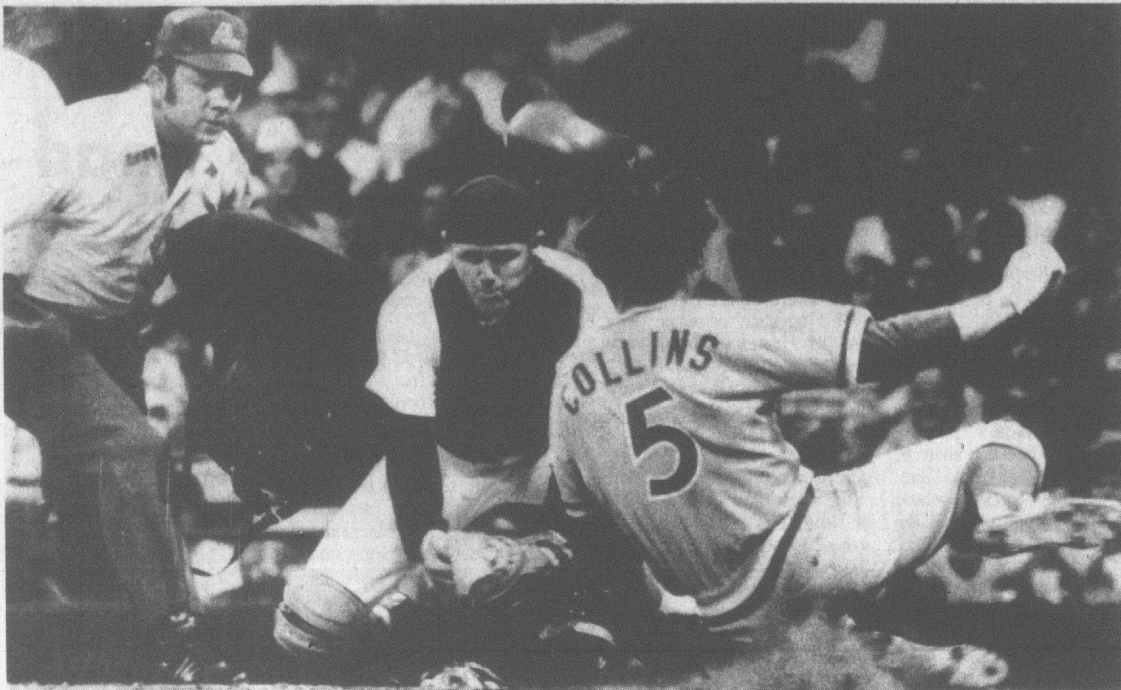

Carraway, also a Greenville native, graduated from Rose High School and East Carolina University. He played basketball at both schools. This past season, he served as an assistant coach at Douglas Byrd High School in Fayetteville.

He will serve as an assistant in football, coach the junior varsity basketball and the "B" team baseball team, in addition to teaching math.

Carraway is single. Other members of the coaching staff return. They include Dave Bumgarner, head football coach; Jim Brewington, head basketball coach; Ronald Vincent, head baseball coach; Billy Byrd, boys' track and girls' basketball coach; Ron Williams, cross-country and wrestling coach; Gwen Waller, tennis coach; Diana Platt, girls softball coach; and Bobby Thomas, golf coach.

Rose fields teams in 13 varsity sports.

Cornhuskers Using Trial And Error To Come Up With A Leader

By JOHN BARRETTE
Associated Press Writer

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska's main football questions of the approaching autumn concern who will emerge from a quintet of quarterback candidates and how well that top signal-caller will fare.

"The quarterback thing is probably going to be a trial and error situation," Coach Tom Osborne said. "I wouldn't be at all surprised if the starter the first game isn't the starter at the end of the season."

Osborne doesn't have a lot of breathing space on the schedule to make the right choice from among Randy Garcia, Tom Sorley, Ed Burns, Tim Hager and Jeff Quinn.

After a Sept. 10 home opener against Washington State, the Cornhuskers entertain Bear Bryant's Alabama team the second game.

Osborne said the schedule, which also lists Baylor, Indiana, Kansas State, Iowa

State, Colorado, Oklahoma State, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, includes eight potential top 20 teams in the national rankings.

Garcia may have the inside track for quarterback, as he was the 1976 backup to Vince Ferragamo. Ferragamo led Nebraska to a 9-3-1 record with a 27-24 Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl win over tough Texas Tech.

Garcia's four-of-17 statistics in the passing department in 1976, plus 78 yards rushing in 24 carries, provides a shortage of game data on which to judge his potential. But the other quarterback candidates have even less game experience.

Returning running backs include Rick Berns, last year's leader with 972 yards, and veterans Monte Anthony and Dodie Donnell.

Donnell gained 520 yards last season and Anthony has a three-year total of 2,112 yards, despite injury problems.

Despite the questionmark at quarterback and the solid running corps, Osborne has yet to say whether he is looking toward the aerial or ground game as the key this fall.

"We may come out one game and look like Ohio State and only throw the ball five times," he said. "The next week we might look like Stanford or California and throw a lot."

The Huskers are working on replacements for top receivers such as Dave Shamblin, Chuck Malitto and Bobby Thomas and defensive stars such as tackles Mike Fultz and Ron Pruitt.

The new defensive coach hired from Kansas, Lance Van Zandt, says that latter search is tough, but he sees potential and some depth.

"I don't think that we have what I'd classify as a first-round (professional) draft choice right now," Van Zandt said. He said depth was good at end and linebacker, adequate in the line and he's searching for it in the secondary.

Osborne, starting his fifth season as head coach, has a 37-10-2 record. He said continuing or improving that pace depends on the team jelling.

"We think we'll be a good team and we haven't changed our goals," he said. "But we must fill a lot of gaps left by departing stars and work hard to become a fine team."

Tributes Flow In For Veteran Driver Isaac

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The sudden death of 23-year veteran stock car driver Bobby Isaac stunned the racing fraternity, which paid tribute to him Monday.

"I can't say anything but something good about Bobby," said Harry Hyde, who managed the K and K Insurance Dodge team for which Isaac drove from 1967 until 1972. "He might have lacked a little vision back when we separated, but Bobby made quick decisions and stuck to them," Hyde said.

Grand National star David Pearson, a career-long friend of the 43-year-old driver from the western North Carolina town of Catawba, said, "I reckon I'm about the closest friend he had."

"He didn't make friends easily in racing, but that was just Bobby's way. Race drivers try not to get too close, but sometimes you do. Bobby was doing what he liked. That's the way to go," said Pearson.

Isaac, the 1970 NASCAR Grand National champion, died of a heart attack early Sunday at Catawba Memorial Hospital in Hickory, after leaving a late model sportsman race Saturday night because of heat exhaustion.

Funeral services have been set for 4 p.m. today at Mount Pleasant Baptist Church at Sherrill's Ford.

The Catawba native, who began his career in 1955 on the Hickory Speedway, ended it there Saturday night. He was running fourth in the Winston 200 when he was stricken with 10 laps to go.

"He got erratic on the track, pulled into the pits, told his crew he was hot and exhausted, walked a short distance and collapsed," said Hal Hamrick, manager of the speedway.

Ned Jarrett of Conover, a former Grand National champion, said, "We started our racing careers together at Hickory Speedway. He was a whale of a competitor, a tremendous and dedicated athlete who always kept himself in good shape."

After joining the NASCAR Grand National circuit on a regular basis in 1963, Isaac won 37 races and earned $585,897.

Bench Says 'Pooped' After Five Years Of Tough Baseball

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Johnny Bench has a long psychological explanation for the fall of the Cincinnati Reds this year.

But in a word, they're "pooped."

"We're just mentally exhausted after five years of tough play," Cincinnati's All-Star catcher says. "It isn't the pressure of going after a third straight world championship. Those entire five years just took their toll — and it's all coming out this year."

With the Reds' 3-0 victory over the San Diego Padres Monday night, they managed to save themselves from falling back to the .500 mark — a modest figure not in keeping with their recent glory years.

The Reds won as many as 108 games in one season during their high-riding, five-year stretch from 1972 through 1976. They captured three National League pennants and two World Series in that period.

The Reds' victory improved their unspectacular record to 60-58 and left them 11 games behind Los Angeles after the Dodgers dropped a 6-3 decision to the San Francisco Giants Monday night.

In other National League games, the New York Mets defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 7-4 and the Houston Astros walloped the Atlanta Braves 15-3.

NL Roundup

Another of Cincinnati's problems this year has been the off-season of Jack Billingham, one of their top pitchers. Billingham, relegated to the bullpen in recent days, was given a rare start against the Padres and responded with a two-hit performance over seven innings to gain his first victory in two months.

Billingham, 9-9, retired 16 of the first 17 batters he faced to outduel Cy Young winner Randy Jones, 5-9, and snap a personal six-game losing streak. Bench's run-scoring triple gave the Reds a 1-0 lead in the second and his 27th homer of the year, a solo shot in the fourth, made it 3-0.

Giants 6, Dodgers 3

Ed Halicki and Gary Lavelle combined on a five-hitter and Terry Whitfield and Derrel Thomas blasted home runs to lead San Francisco over Los Angeles.

Halicki, 10-9, posted his fifth straight victory over the Dodgers in Los Angeles.

Mets 7, Cardinals 4

John Milner drove in four runs with two doubles, triggering rallies in the first and fifth innings that sent New York over St. Louis. The Mets reached John Denny, 7-5, for three runs in the first and drove the Cardinal starter from the mound with four more runs in the fifth.

New York righthander Craig Swan, 8-7, checked the Cards on five hits until surrendering all the St. Louis runs in the eighth, when he received relief help from Bob Apodaca.

Astros 15, Braves 3
Houston scored six runs in the first inning on a two-run homer by Rob Sperring and a grand slam by Art Howe and went on to rout Atlanta behind the combined five-hit pitching of righthanders J.R. Richard and Dan Larson.

Bob Watson and Joe Ferguson each doubled home a run in the three-run second inning and Richard had a solo homer in a two-run third, staking the Astros to a commanding 11-0 lead. They added four more runs in the sixth, the key hit being a two-run triple by Terry Puhl.

White Says He Will Quit

By The Associated Press
Wally Chambers had one contract torn up and got a new one. Ed White doesn't like his and would like to see it in tatters. In lieu of that, he says he'll quit.

The Chicago Bears gave Chambers, their All-Pro defensive lineman, a new 1977 contract in which there is no option clause. That means that Chambers can become a free agent at the end of the season.

Minnesota guard Ed White isn't satisfied with his contract and wants a hefty salary raise. White says he is retiring rather than play for the Vikings under his present terms.

Chambers, the Bears' No. 1 draft choice in 1973, has been sidelined during the preseason with an injured knee. Coach Jack Pardee, who says Chambers did not work with weights in the off-season to strengthen the knee, demoted Chambers to special team duty.

Chicago general manager Jim Finks admitted the Bears are taking a risk that Chambers will go elsewhere after the season.

"We want Wally Chambers to have a great year," Finks said. "If we are to be successful we have to have Wally playing great football. If Wally has the year we expect of him, he'll be compensated and stay in Chicago. We have no wish to lose Wally Chambers."

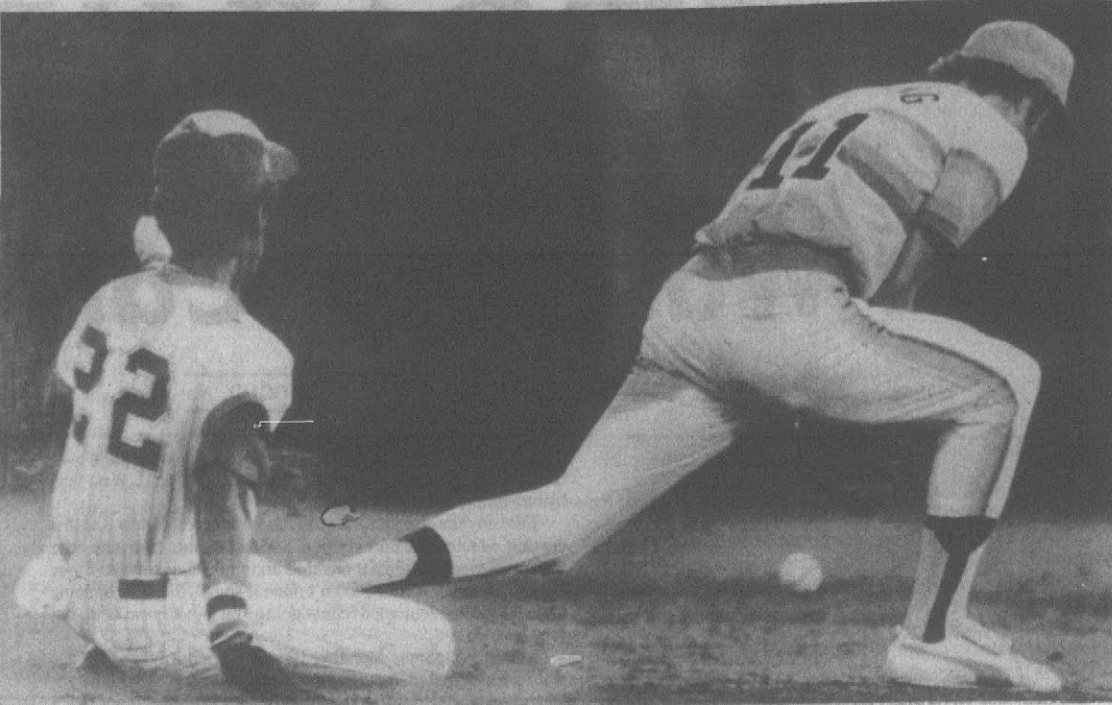

Chambers added that his goal "is not to leave Chicago."

White left Minnesota after the Vikings refused to discuss a new contract with him. Vikings general manager Mike Lynn said the team "does not negotiate with players who leave camp," which White did on Aug. 2.

"I have deep feelings for the Viking team and the great fans of the area," said White, an eight-year veteran. "Since the Vikings have not offered me any of the concessions that other players have recently received, I feel I have no alternative but to retire."

Elsewhere in the National Football League, Atlanta rookie quarterback June Jones changed his mind about retiring. He left the Falcons on Saturday but was expected back in camp today.

Cleveland cut kick return specialist Darryl Brown and signed running back James McAlister.

Pittsburgh Would Like To End Poor Record While On The Road

By DAVE TABOLT
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, sizzling at home, would like to stop fizzle on the road.

The Pirates have won 20 of their last 21 baseball games at friendly Three Rivers Stadium. Their season record at home is a remarkable 45-15.

"There's no question about it, that's phenomenal," said Manager Chuck Tanner, whose team is in second place in the National League East.

But Pittsburgh, starting a three-game series with the Chicago Cubs today, has a paltry 24-34 road record — a .414 winning percentage.

To put that in perspective, last year visiting National League teams averaged .474. Pitcher John Candelaria thinks there's a different attitude on the road.

"It seems like we always feel we can win playing at home," he said. "Even if we're losing in the late innings, we know we can come back. I wish we had that feeling on the road."

Tanner isn't worried, though.

"It's what you do overall that really counts," he said. "We're winning more than we're supposed to at home and that makes up for us losing more than we're supposed to on the road. A lot of teams would like to be where we are right now."

The question remains: why are the Pirates so hot at home and so cold everywhere else?

The answers, it seems, are physical, mental and just plain luck.

"I have no excuses — you win or you lose," said Tanner. "But there have been a couple of times this season when we were hampered by injuries on the road."

Most memorable was against St. Louis on June 28 when reserve infielder Mario Mendoza was called on to pitch because the Pittsburgh bullpen had been depleted.

Injuries and player absences have not seemed to hurt the Pirates at home, however.

They beat the New York Mets five times over the weekend without starters Frank Taveras and Al Oliver, who had been suspended; Willie Stargell, on the disabled list with an elbow nerve problem, and Bill Robinson, out on Sunday with a virus.

Tanner believes the morale boost the Pirates get at home is

Winterville JC's Fifth

The Winterville Jaycees, winners of the southeast region, finished fifth in the North Carolina Jaycee Softball tournament held last weekend in Reidsville.

The Winterville team lost its first game to drop to the loser's bracket, but then won two straight. Perquimans County defeated the team 8-7 to knock them from the double elimination tournament.

A total of 12 teams from across the state participated.

ACC Will Test Three Cage Refs In Games

By WILLIAM M. WELCH
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — An Atlantic Coast Conference experiment with a third basketball referee may reduce "mayhem away from the ball" and spread to the rest of the country, an NCAA official predicts.

"My wish is that all our conferences would go to this," said Ed Steitz, editor of the NCAA's basketball rules. "The game has changed. It's fast, and with multiple defenses, we need the third official."

Using three instead of two referees has been tried in basketball elsewhere, such as in the Big Ten and the pros. But in the ACC experiment, the conference rewrote the on-court responsibilities for each official to make their jobs simpler.

"The problem everywhere they've tried it before is with the divided responsibilities. It's so complicated," said Norvell Neve, supervisor of officials in the ACC. "We've developed a new set of mechanisms that we think make it rather simple for the officials."

Steitz, athletic director at Springfield College in Massachusetts, says he'll be watching the ACC experiment and expects it may spread. He said the Big Ten found it reduced the total number of fouls and made players and coaches on the bench more well-behaved under the closer scrutiny.

"It will also do much to eliminate the biggest problem in basketball, the uncalled fouling away from the ball," Steitz said. "Now there's mayhem away from the ball and the coaches are all screaming about it."

It may also make it harder for stalling offenses to avoid turnovers. "It's going to be easier to call the five second violations against the Four Corners," Steitz said, referring to North Carolina Coach Dean Smith's patent offense.

Neve said his method will keep one official under the basket watching for violations much the same as he would with just one partner. The second official will move up along the sidelines from the halfcourt line to nearer the circle. His job too, will be much the same.

A third official will be on the opposite side of the court, between the second man and mid-court, watching for fouls in his area and away from the ball, Neve said. When the ball changes sides, the first and second officials will exchange duties while the third will move a few steps across the line and continue watching for the same thing.

"It's my feeling that with this system, you can work a two-man game one night and a three-man game the next, and it won't bother you," Neve said.

The ACC will use the third official for conference games and games where the game contract does not call for the nonACC opponent to bring an official. For intersectional games where the opponent brings a referee, there will be just two.

If it spreads, the third official will be the first major change in officiating in 40 years, when the second official was added, Steitz said.

HOT WATCH 95. A WAY TO HELP KEEP ELECTRIC COSTS UNDER CONTROL.

The plan is really very simple. It begins when the temperature hits 95° or above. And it gives us all a great chance to do our part to help control energy use and electric costs.

The plan of action: Hot Watch 95.

When weekday temperatures go to 95° or higher, put Hot Watch 95 into action. This means, whenever possible, doing household chores that use a lot of electricity before 10 in the morning and after 10 at night. Be extra careful about using your water heater, range, washing machine, clothes dryer and dishwasher during the hottest parts of the day — since these are your largest power consumers.

Here's why.

Electricity, unlike oil or gas, can't be stored today. It's generated at the same moment it's used.

So, as industries and businesses and consumers all use more electricity, the demand for electricity grows. And the need for more generating plants grows.

That's why, on really hot days, if everyone would spread out the times for using electricity — to cooler times of the day — it would help reduce some of this peak demand. By reducing the peak, the need for new construction could be postponed. This, in turn, would help us achieve the one thing we all want: keeping future electric costs under control.

Program War Mildly Annoys TV Producer

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — On Sept. 18, not Oct. 23 as originally planned, NBC will air a two-hour special it currently calls "Hollywood Goes to War." NBC originally called it "Life Goes to War."

The change came after ABC ordered a similar project, "The Movies Go to War," which may air next month or in October. This kind of special-warring has mildly annoyed at least one producer.

"It's terrible the business has come to that," groused Jack Haley Jr., who's been putting together NBC's special for more than a year. "It's like children fighting at recess."

He says he thinks the show's latest title is "Life Goes to War: Hollywood and the Home Front." Which is closer to the program's basic theme of life in these United States during World War II. "I'm trying to show what it was like to be a noncombatant on the home front then," said Haley, who since January has been editing down some 500,000 feet of film assembled for his wartime project.

"The movies, of course, and the radio were the two most influential of the media in terms of enlightening people — and also shaping their attitudes."

To show life back then, he added, his special will be a mix of home and battlefield newsreels, photographs, clips of Hollywood's wartime movies and still-preserved radio newscasts of that era.

And, he said, the show will include segments on wartime blackouts, the hysteria that swept the West Coast after Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor, and home-front rationing; and it will tell of Hollywood stars who actually fought in the war, such as the late Wayne Morris, a Navy fighter ace. "There'll also be vivid glimpses of the war, but in the context of the Hollywood technicians who went overseas," Haley said.

He referred to clips of combat footage from such documentaries as John Huston's "Battle of San Pietro" and William Wyler's classic of World War II combat aviation, "The Memphis Belle."

Haley said he also had planned a segment on the unhappy fact some Hollywood war movies referred to Japanese in racially abusive terms, but had to delete it for lack of space in the show.

"I'd selected a lot of material on that to lead into a Nisei story — about the Japanese-Americans who served in combat in Italy with the U.S. Army — but I just didn't have time for it."

"It was a long war and I only have a two-hour show."

Jerry Wallace Back; New Image

By JOE EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Jerry Wallace, a smooth singer whose career plunged because he couldn't record for two years, is back with a new image, a new hair color and a renewed zest for performing.

Wallace, best known for pop-country hits like "Primrose Lane," "In the Misty Moonlight" and "To Get to You," did not record for the past two years because of a contract dispute with former associates.

The dispute has been settled and he's released his first single since 1975, "I Miss You Already," which has been steadily climbing the country charts.

"It almost ruined my career," Wallace said about the litigation. "My income dropped $2,000-$3,000 a night. But now I'm ready to go. I feel like I'm singing better now than I ever have."

"People have told me I get better as I get older. I've had people tell me I'll be singing when I'm 80."

The most striking part of the new image is his appearance. His once brown hair is now silver and his weight has dropped from 210 to 185. Additionally, his nickname "Mr. Smooth" is being touted in all his publicity. "I like it; it's a good tag," said Wallace, 46. Probably only Elvis Presley has had more success than Wallace at three cultures of music: rock, pop and country. Wallace began as a rock 'n' roll singer 20 years ago and made numerous appearances on "American Bandstand" with Dick Clark. He evolved into a pop-country singer like Eddy Arnold, Jim Reeves and Ray Price.

"My forte is ballads," said

Wallace, who lives near Los Angeles. "I love to sing a good story so I like to talk about love; if it wasn't for women, I wouldn't have to talk about love; if it wasn't for women, I wouldn't have hits; they are the ones who buy the records."

"You've got to structure a song to excite a woman — romance a woman. Men forget to romance their wives. In these songs, women hear from the songs what they are not getting from their husbands."

Ironically, he's had two failed marriages. "Love has eluded me," he said. "I've always concentrated so much on my music."

His hard work has paid off. "Primrose Lane" sold 1.6 million and he estimates he's had 10 others that sold 500,000. His other hits include "If You Leave Me Tonight I'll Cry," "Shutters & Boards," "Sound of Goodbye," "My Wife's House," "Comin' Home to You," "Georgia Rain," "Do You Know What It's Like to Be Lonesome," "Don't Give Up on Me," "I Wonder Whose Baby (You Are Now)" and "Wanted Man."

Mel Torme Admits Investigate Milk Co-Op

SINGER MEL TORME (right) has admitted listening in on the phone calls of his ex-wife, actress Janette Scott. (AP Laserphoto)

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Mel Torme has admitted listening in on his ex-wife's telephone conversations and recording them because he said he was afraid his children would be taken out of the country.

In a deposition filed in Superior Court on Monday, the 52-year-old singer said he eavesdropped on a conversation last year between his wife, British actress Janette Scott, and her former fiancé, British film producer Kevin Francis, in England. The Tormes were still married at the time.

Torme and Miss Scott, 38, were granted a divorce on grounds of irreconcilable differences last May, but are still in fighting in court over custody of their children and the property settlement. Miss Scott's lawyers had wanted Torme to answer questions about the eavesdropping in the custody fight, but Torme refused until granted immunity last week from federal charges.

Mitchelson said Torme was afraid Miss Scott would take the children to Great Britain because she had previously had them named wards of an English court, barring their removal from the United Kingdom.

Mitchelson earlier won their release after arguing in a British court that since the children were U.S. citizens enrolled in school in California, they should be returned to the United States.

State funding for abortions, Chapin said, is another possibility, but not a good one.

"I'm really very pessimistic that they (state officials) are going to come through with any barrel of money," he said.

About 1,000 of the 6,000 abortions performed each year in Mecklenburg County are paid for by tax money at an estimated annual cost of $200,000, Chapin said.

The federal cutoff, which affects almost all pregnancies except categories such as pregnancies endangering the life of the mother, set off a scramble for state and local money to pay for abortions.

CRITIC STRICKEN
NEW YORK (AP) — George Openheimer, 22-year drama critic for Newsday, the Long Island newspaper, and co-founder of the Viking Press, died Sunday at the age of 77. He was also the author of screenplays for such Hollywood luminaries as Greta Garbo and the Marks Brothers.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The giant 7,000-member milk cooperative, Dairymen Inc. is under federal investigation for possible antitrust violations.

"We're trying to determine whether particular acquisitions of DI are lawful or not," said David I. Wilson, assistant director of the Federal Trade Commission's bureau of competition.

Wilson declined in a telephone interview to discuss details of the case. "We do have them under investigation, and we're not sure where we'll come out," he said. DI is headquartered in Louisville, Ky., but its membership includes 520 farmers in North Carolina, about one third of the state's producers representing about one third of its milk production.

The cooperative has already been charged in a federal antitrust suit with monopoly practices and restraint of milk sales.

But James Walker, DI's Carolinas manager, said that while the cooperative might have forced some smaller processors out of business, it had helped keep others afloat.

"We took them under our wing and started supplying them milk when they couldn't get it from anybody else," he said. "I help one now every chance I get."

Opening lead: King of ♠.

On most hands, it is essential for declarer to maintain trump control. When he loses that, the initiative passes to the defenders. This hand is a typical example.

With virtually ten tricks in his own hand, South was not prepared to have the auction die below game. Therefore, he chose a cue-bid of opener's suit rather than a takeout double despite the fact that he had two losers in diamonds. Though not very happy with his hand, North dutifully carried on to game in hearts.

West led the king of diamonds and, in response to his partner's eight, continued with the ace and jack. Declarer ruffed, cashed the ace of hearts and continued the queen to win, and East's spade discard made declarer realize he was in trouble. Since West had shown up with six diamonds and four hearts, there was no way declarer could cash three clubs and two spades before West ruffed with a low trump.

Declarer did the best he could to limit his losses. He abandoned trumps and played his black-suit winners, and in the fullness of time, West came to a second trump trick to defeat the contract one.

North was unhappy with his partner's play. He rightly pointed out that South could have allowed for a 4-1 trump break. After ruffing the third diamond, declarer should lead the queen of trumps.

West withholds the king, but declarer counters by continuing with the jack. If West wins, there is a trump in dummy to handle another round of diamonds, but a second holdup is no longer effective. Declarer cashes the ace of hearts, leaving West with the king alone, and then starts to run clubs. No matter what West does, he can score no more than the king of trumps to go with his two diamond tricks.

High Blood Pressure Control

High blood pressure once frightened doctors and their patients because there was so little that could be done to control hypertension.

The last three decades have brought spectacular advances for the control of this life-threatening disorder. Patients given one of the many known effective drugs quickly respond and are relieved of the symptoms associated with it.

Now, a new problem has arisen. It has been found that both private patients and clinic patients will, after a while, for no explainable reason, stop taking their medication. Physicians, psychologists, psychiatrists and sociologists have been trying to understand and explain why patients fail to appear for their needed follow-up care.

It was found that clinic patients drop out of their treatment program because of the great amount of time spent waiting to be seen by the doctor. It was found that the average waiting time for a doctor in a clinic was about two hours. This was followed by another hour of waiting at the hospital pharmacy. Travel time to and from the hospital, in addition to the long delays in the clinic, presented another problem.

In one particular clinic it was found that patients never had more than seven minutes with the doctor. Consequently, there was no real relationship between the patients and their doctor and there was no time or opportunity to have any of their questions answered by the doctor. Nor was there time to emphasize the need for sustained drug treatment, even in the absence of the former symptoms.

Follow-up treatment is very often abandoned, both in private practice and in clinics.

when patients become free of symptoms. All patients must be motivated to continue treatment. Such motivation depends on the quality of the doctor-patient relationship. It is sad that so many patients in all social and economic classes become "high blood pressure dropouts" and thus invite the possibility of complications.

I take water pills, especially during the time of my menstrual period. My friends tell me that I must be careful because potassium is lost in the urine. I'm tired of eating bananas to restore the potassium. This is what all the girls do. Are there any other fruits that are high in potassium? — Miss L.T.A., Ken. Dear Miss A.:

Well-wishing friends sometimes push a person into a state of confusion.

I hope I'm right in assuming that the water pills you're taking were given to you by a physician. If this is so, doctors, anticipating a potassium loss in the urine, will suggest taking a pill of potassium to replace the loss.

In addition to bananas, raisins, dates, cantaloupe and prunes are sources high in potassium. Artichokes, tomatoes and Brussels sprouts lead the vegetable list for potassium.

Orville Faubus Has Pacemaker

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Former Arkansas Gov. Orville Faubus is reported in satisfactory condition after surgery to implant a heart pacemaker in his chest.

Faubus, 67, entered the Baptist Medical Center Friday and received the temporary pacemaker, a spokesman said Monday.

Elizabeth Faubus, his wife, told reporters that the former governor experienced chest pains on a recent trip from their home at Huntsville to Little Rock.

Faubus, a Democrat, was governor from 1954 to 1965.

Record Of His Attacks Kept By Berkowitz

By SUE ROBINSON
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK — The man who called himself the Son of Sam and the Duke of Death "lives in a nightmare world where he sees blood-sucking vampires and Frankenstein monsters," say police who have studied handwritten letters from the killer and from David Berkowitz to his friends.

Berkowitz, 24, is to be arraigned today in the July 31 slaying of Stacy Moskowitz and the wounding of her date, Robert Violante, both 20, the last victims in the year-long spree of the man police call the 44-caliber killer.

obtained by two newspapers here, the Daily News and the New York Post.

Berkowitz wrote of love and death and religion and talked of dope, guns and bad dreams in letters sent from various Army posts between 1971 and 1973 to Iris Gerhardt.

Once he wrote that "I despise religion, hate prejudice greed, etc. That's all the world is. A cold mass of hell." But other times, Berkowitz wrote, "I have much hope and faith in God and Peace... I have finally made a conclusion. That is, God is real."

During basic training at Ft. Dix, N.J., Berkowitz wrote that he had been taught how to fight and shoot. He wrote that he would use these tactics one day to destroy army "lifers" — "the way they destroyed millions of people through the wars they started. One day there will be a better world. After a few heads from the heads of state are removed."

Later, he wrote, "There is one thing you must admit about me. That is, when have you ever known me to say things about love, Peace, God, etc. I mean can you ever remember me talking about this back in the world... These feelings have been deep inside... now I don't think I'm going insane or anything like that because I'm not... yes it's the real me."

Iris, who wrote to Berkowitz from the apartment house in Co-Op City in the Bronx where they had both lived, now is married and 8½ months pregnant. She lives in Detroit.

Although the killings attributed to Son of Sam began July 29, 1976, the 44-caliber killer left his first written message for police last April 27, on the bloodied car where Valentina Suriani 18, and her boyfriend, Alexander Essau, 19, were gunned down. Police said it was written in "a rambling, almost incomprehensible style. He lives in a nightmare world where he sees blood-sucking vampires and Frankenstein monsters."

DAVID BERKOWITZ

Berkowitz, who is being tested to see if he is mentally capable of standing trial, was charged in a grand jury indictment Monday with murder, attempted murder, felonious assault and illegal possession of the 44-caliber Charter Arms Bulldog revolver that ballistics experts say killed six persons and wounded seven others.

"An exacting, 40-page handwritten record" of the killer's eight attacks was found in Berkowitz' apartment, said unidentified police sources quoted in today's New York Daily News.

Letters Berkowitz wrote to his high school sweetheart while he was in the Army were

Investigate Three Collisions Monday

An estimated $3,900 property damage resulted from three collisions investigated here yesterday by Greenville Police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 5:24 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Greenville Boulevard and Tenth Street involving cars driven by Edward Franklin Evans Jr. of Route 7, Greenville, and Sylvia Garnette Powell of Route 1, Windsor.

Police, who charged Evans with failing to stop for a red light, estimated damage at $1,375 to the Evans car and $1,075 to the Powell auto.

Harold Lloyd Potter of Route 1, Chocowinity was charged with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident following investigation of a 2:10 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Third Street and Memorial Drive.

Police said the Potter truck collided with an auto driven by Mary Williams Wiloughby of Route 3, Ahoskie, causing an estimated $100 damage to the truck and $1,000 damage to the car.

The drivers of both vehicles involved in a 7:55 a.m. collision on Dickinson Avenue, 20 feet East of the Grande Avenue Intersection were charged, investigators reported.

Officers said Patricia Eileen Kilcoyne of 404 South Elm St. was charged with having no liability insurance, while Johnny Agar Perkins of 1508B West Fifth St. was charged with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident.

Police set damage at $300 to the Kilcoyne car and $50 to the Perkins auto.
