No Public At Hearing Last Night

By KEITH MILLS
Reflector Staff Writer
Where was the public?
That was the question raised last night during a special call meeting of the Greenville City Council for the purpose of holding a public hearing on proposed amendments to the three-year Community Development budgets.

The proposed amendments include $439,734 in unappropriated funds and expenditures of $330,500 for a remaining balance of $59,234 in the 1977-78 Community Development Program.

Unprogrammed funds of $279,323 from 1975-77 less expenditures of $29,589 during the same period left a total of $249,734 in available funds for transfer to the 1977-78 budget.

Funds available in the 1977-78 unprogrammed balance totaling $190,000 plus the $249,734 in transferrable funds totaled $439,734 to be amended to the three year budgets.

Proposed expenditures of $380,500 from the $439,734 in-unappropriated funds left a remaining balance of $59,234.

Since no opposition from the community was aired, a recommendation to approve the amendments will be considered at the council's next regular meeting.

In other activities, the council accepted a bid of $6,480 from Sun Electric Company for an engine performance tester for the public works garage. The bid includes schooling two men in the use of the apparatus.

Also, the council approved a bid of $5,414 from Phelps Chevrolet Phelps Chevrolet for a 1977 four-door Impala to be used by the Tax Department.

The session lasted about 20 minutes and Greenville Mayor Percy Cox declared it "the shortest meeting in the history of Pitt County."

July Consumer Prices Climb, But Slowing

By MICHAEL DOAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Consumer prices rose in July by the smallest amount in seven months as lower grocery prices began showing up at supermarket shelves, the government said today.

The July increase of four-tenths of 1 per cent in the Consumer Price Index was the lowest since a similar rise in December of 1976, the Labor Department said.

Over-all food prices, including restaurant and store prices, rose one-tenth of 1 per cent in July on a seasonally adjusted basis. That was much smaller than the rises of sevenths in May and eight-tenths in June.

But for food brought in grocery stores, there was a decline in prices of one-tenth of a per cent, the first since November, the report said.

Meanwhile, the Commerce Department reported the nation's Gross National Product increased at an annual rate of 6.1 per cent in the second quarter, slightly less than the 6.4 per cent estimate it made a month ago. The GNP, a measure of the nation's output, is an important sign of the health of the economy.

A variety of factors, including adjustment for inflation, were listed as reasons for the GNP decline. The report did little to dampen Carter administration expectations of a still-healthy growth rate of 5 per cent in the second half of the year.

The Commerce Department also said corporate profits increased $14.3 billion in the second quarter, the largest increase in two years, another sign of continued expansion.

Despite the improvement in the inflation outlook of the Consumer Price Index, workers spendable earnings were reported down slightly in July. The average worker's purchasing power declined one-tenth of 1 per cent, mainly because of the decline in the average number of hours worked, the Labor Department said.

The consumer price report showed that other commodities, such as household goods and autos also rose one-tenth of one per cent in July, but these had not contributed to the recent inflationary spiral as much as food.

The administration is counting on slower increases in food prices to reduce the inflation rate from 10 per cent at the beginning of the year to 6 per cent at the year's end.

If averaged out over the entire year, the July increase would mean a 4.8 per cent rate of inflation, a considerable improvement over the first half. Consumer prices had increased six-tenths of one per cent in each of the last two months.

The slower rise in food prices was expected by economists after farmers began receiving less for their crops than in the past three months.

Food bought in grocery stores declined one-tenth of one per cent, the first drop since last November. The main contributors were lower prices for beef, poultry, pork, fresh fruits, vegetables, sugar and ground coffee.

Food bought away from home, such as in restaurants, rose four-tenths of one per cent, less than half the average monthly increase in the first six months of the year.

The biggest contributor to inflation last month was in services, which rose eight-tenths of one per cent, about the same climb as for the past five months.

Showdown Set

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) - The Australian Parliament outlawed strikes by government employees today, setting the stage for a showdown between the conservative government and the unions.

The government labor legislation and the introduction of a tax-cutting national budget two days ago increased expectations that Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser would seek an early national election to be fought on the issue of "who runs Australia."

The new labor law authorizes the government to fire public employees who strike and to lay off public employees who cannot work because of strikes against either the government or private companies.

Industrial Relations Minister Tony Street said the law would not be enforced "unless circumstances dictate." But it was clearly aimed at the week-long strike by 2,800 postal workers at the nation's central mail exchange in Sydney.

The postal strikers are fighting new shift scheduling which they claim cuts their overtime pay. Their walkout has piled up a backlog of 11 million undelivered letters and parcels.

Bob Hawke, president of the Australian Council of Trade Unions, warned the government that "no big industrial dispute has ever been settled through the use of threats or legal sanctions."

Other union leaders charged that Fraser, who heads a conservative coalition of the Liberal and National Country parties, was seeking an issue on which to fight an election campaign.

Public opinion polls show the government's popularity at a low level, partly due to unemployment, which is at an alltime high of 5.3 per cent with 332,793 persons out of work. Industrial production is down; foreign investment has fallen off, and the inflation rate is about 11 per cent.

With a 55-vote majority in the lower house, Fraser does not have to call a general election to name a new House of Representatives until November 1978. But half the Senate is due for election by next March, and political observers predict he will seek a December poll for both houses in an effort to prevent loss of his eight-vote majority in the Senate.

If the Labor party gained control of the Senate, it could block government legislation and precipitate a political crisis.

Bert Lance Faces More Questioning

By MICHAEL DOAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter and banking officials are convinced that Budget Director Bert Lance broke no laws as a Georgia banker, but members of Congress want to question Lance further about his finances.

Comptroller of the Currency John Heimann, who had been conducting the investigation into Lance's business affairs, concluded Thursday that no information developed to date "warrants the prosecution of any individuals."

Afterward, Carter interrupted his week-long vacation at Camp David, Md., to fly to Washington and tell reporters that "my faith in the character and competence of Bert Lance has been reconfirmed."

"Bert, I'm proud of you," he said, shaking the hand of his close friend.

Lance said in a statement he would remain in his Office of Management and Budget post. "I feel my ability to carry out my job has not been damaged. In this regard I deeply appreciate the confidence which the President has expressed in me.

"I feel strongly that if allegations such as those raised in recent days can cripple a person's ability to carry out his or her job, then we are in bad shape in our country," Lance said.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, chairman of the Senate committee which held hearings on Lance's nomination as budget director, said the major allegations against the official "were definitely disproved by the comptroller's report."

But the Connecticut Democrat asked Heimann to finish his inquiry and testify at a Government Operations Committee hearing on Sept. 7, after Congress returns from its summer recess. Lance was asked to appear the next day.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said that if the hearings last more than a few weeks, Lance probably will have trouble doing his job.

He said the report "raises a number of questions" and he would like to know more about the bank aircraft Lance used and the dropping of several investigations of Lance's activities shortly before he was appointed.

A House banking subcommittee also plans to look into possible changes in banking laws as a result of the inquiry.

Heimann, appointed by Carter a month ago, said he has not finished his investigation in three areas:

—His own office's handling of the original investigation into Lance's finances.

—Lance's banking transactions before 1975.

—Allegations that Lance improperly used his bank's airplane.

Carter took five flights on the bank's airplane while running for office, his aides said Thursday.

In disclosing the flights, spokesman Jody Powell said there would be nothing wrong with the trips unless they were campaign flights and the bank was not reimbursed. He said officials still are checking on the flights.

U.S. Strongly Reacts To New Israeli Towns Set For West Bank

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration, repeating its opposition to Israeli settlements on the West Bank of the Jordan River, says three new camps were established by "illegal acts" and are "obstacles to 'constructive negotiations' toward a Mideast peace."

Israel disputed the American charge.

The Israeli embassy in Washington, in a statement issued by spokesman Avi Pazner, denied that the new settlements are an obstacle to the renewed peace talks the United States has been promoting and said Israel still seeks negotiations with the Arabs.

The three towns were authorized Wednesday by Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin. Sources in Jerusalem said Begin acted to placate his most conservative supporters.

There now are 79 Israeli settlements with a population of about 5,000 Israelis in the land occupied during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

State Department spokesman Hoddling Carter III, expressing American displeasure with Israel, told a news conference that the United States regrets the statement Sunday by a top Israeli official that the West Bank belongs to his country.

The United States maintains that the West Bank is not a permanent Israeli acquisition, but is only under temporary military occupation.

Spokesman Carter said the administration's "position on the issue of settlements is clear. We reaffirm what we have said many times before. These unilateral, illegal acts in territories under Israeli occupation create obstacles to constructive negotiations."

The President asked Begin in talks here last month to halt for the time being approvals of new West Bank settlements. The Israeli government has refused to offer such a guarantee.

The United States made its feelings known in a note delivered to Israeli officials here and in Jerusalem.

The United States also complained Thursday that the extension of administrative regulations to more than one million Arabs living in the West Bank area "creates an impression of permanence of Israel's occupation ... which is not helpful."

The Pitt County Area Mental Health Board re-elected its chairman and vice chairman for second terms Wednesday night, and approved an application seeking a $585,869 federal grant to fund mental health center operations for the coming year.

Bill McDonald was re-elected as chairman of the area board while Jim Bailey was named to a second term as vice-chairman.

In approving the $585,869 grant application, the area board is seeking an increase of $243,495 over last year's grant of $342,374. The additional funds will add 14 additional positions.

At present, 19 persons out of a staff of 70 are employed under the federal grant program.

Health director Dr. Steve Creech said the increased level of funding "would enable us to expand our service operations, especially in the areas of adult and children's services, and in a partial hospitalization program."

It was reported at the session that last month, center medical director Dr. Robert Nemo was presented an award by the Mental Health Association of New Jersey for his outstanding leadership in the field of mental health last year.

Nemo came to Greenville a few months ago from Westfield, N.J.

MAGAZINES NOT FORWARDED

I was a student at a Charlotte university during the school year. Before I left to come home for summer vacation, they told me that all my mail would be forwarded. I have received everything, I believe, except my magazines. Why haven't they been sent to me? D. F.

When you filled out your change of address form at the post office in Charlotte, there was a place on the form for you to let it be known whether you wished to have postage-due mail forwarded. If you did not check it at all, or if you checked the opposite box saying that you did not want to receive postage-due mail, this is probably why you are not receiving your magazines, says Don Jefferson, Assistant Supervisor of the Greenville Post Office.

Any mail below first class is forwarded postage-due or not at all, he said. This includes magazines, newspapers, and most commercial mailings like catalogs, "special offer" items, contest entries, and the like, Jefferson said.

Pride Overcame Foreign Policy

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) - French pride got the better of foreign policy today as Foreign Minister Louis de Guiringaud, angered by Tanzania's refusal to apologize for a hostile demonstration, cut short the last stop of a four-nation tour to promote French influence in Africa.

De Guiringaud, who flew to France today, was on a diplomatic mission engineered by President Valery Giscard d'Estaing to spread the message that French interest in Africa extends beyond its former colonies.

Hands-Off Policy

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - Gov. Jim Hunt has adopted a hands-off policy toward the fall vote to decide whether he can succeed himself, but one of his top aides is getting involved anyway.

Joe Grimsley, Hunt's secretary of administration, has circulated a memorandum to about 100 former Hunt campaign workers. In part, the memo reads:

"Meet and quickly provide Joe Pell (Hunt's patronage appointee) in the governor's office with two or three civic leaders who might best lead your county for succession. These nominees will be passed on to the statewide committee of the succession campaign. We prefer new young leaders not yet considered political."

Grimsley's staff assistant, Mike Davis, acknowledged the memo, but said he didn't feel it ran contrary to Hunt's stated policy on gubernatorial succession.

Mrs. Jean Fairfax, National Director of the Division of Legal

Information and Community Involvement, NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, will serve as consultant at the meeting.

Others scheduled to be on hand include E. V. Wilkins of Roper, chairperson of the First Congressional District of the Black Democratic Caucus, and John Taylor, chairperson of the Pitt County caucus.

Teen-Agers Help Write Their Own Catalog

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Family Editor
GLOUCESTER, Mass. (UPI)—Two school teachers in this Cape Ann fishing community north of Boston have found hundreds of answers to a question heard regularly from children and young people, "What shall I do today?" They asked dozens of teen-agers to write about the things that interested them most. Then Jonathan and Harriet Webster put the articles, along with some of their own and other adults, into "18, The Teen-age Catalog" (Quick Fox $7.95). Turns out teen-agers are interested primarily in the same subjects that interest older persons: stories about different people of all ages, what they like to do and how they live. Information about hobbies, crafts, ways to earn money, sports, music, gardening, sex. Personal reports by other teen-agers about what they are doing. They want reviews about movies, books and music. Not just rock, but live music, popular and classical. We interviewed the Websters and three of their teen-aged authors: Christopher Crews, now 15, who earns money in the summer as a lobsterman; Ann Moore, a former baby-sitter, now 18 and a resort inn waitress planning to enter college in the fall; Patty Knowlton, 19, who is studying to become a concert violinist. Chris wrote about the lobstering he's been doing since he was 13. He has 25 traps and his own boat. Working about one to one and a half hours a day, he said he catches maybe 40 pounds of lobster a week. At $1.80 a pound, his price to retailers, he makes about $72 a week.

Chris, who will be a high school junior this fall, likes lobstering as a summer job, but not as a career. He hasn't made up his mind yet about that, but currently leans toward engineering.

Ann's contribution to the catalog dealt with her ways of earning money with old standby occupations such as baby-sitting. Patty wrote about starting out in music.

The Websters said they had no trouble finding teen-aged authors when word got around they were paying teen-agers and adults the same honorarium per article, $20 each.

"We were worried about exploiting the teen-agers," Mrs. Webster said. "We think they didn't believe their pieces would be used."

Most were, she added, although many ran so long they had to be cut to make room for as wide as possible a range of subjects.

Only one teen-ager's contribution is anonymous. It came through a social worker who found a 15-year-old girl willing to write about leaving home.

Hitching at one point during her 12-day trip, she was threatened with rape and death by a truck driver who picked her up. He later released her unharmed. Her description of the incident is chilling, a warning apt to be taken seriously by her peers.

The Websters, parents of two boys, 5 and 10, are former Long Islanders, from the New York City suburbs of Glen Cove and Huntington. He teaches high school English in nearby Swampscott, Mass. Mrs. Webster was a junior high school teacher who now teaches drama on a voluntary basis in Gloucester public schools.

They had planned a catalog for younger children but switched to teen-agers when another publisher came out with a children's catalog in the middle of their writing.

No subjects were assigned, they said. They asked the teen-agers to choose their own topics.

Many revealed insights into their own psyches: Patty, whose family is musical, said she felt her parents pushed her a little to practice.

"But now I'm really thankful. You have to give up a lot of pleasure and social life," she said. "You have to learn to say to your friends you can't go out because you have to practice."

Another contributor, Lori Quarteroni, studying ballet at 16, wrote of her experiences: "It's really my own fault that my toes hurt, because if I practiced more than I do it wouldn't be that way."

It's the Webster's first book, but not their last. They recently signed a contract to write a travel book.

Meantime, Jonathan has been accepted for the prestigious Bread Loaf Writers' Conference at Middlebury College in Vermont later this month (Aug. 16-28). The conference includes workshops and discussion groups as well as critiques by well-known authors of the participants' writing.

Walkers Don't Talk To Wheelchair Mate

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband had polio as a child. He's been confined to a wheelchair for nearly 30 years, but can do everything an able-bodied man can do—except walk. Now for my pet peeve:

When we are in a restaurant, a well-meaning but thoughtless waitress invariably turns to me and asks, "And what will HE have?"

This has happened to me so often that I now have a standard reply: "He is perfectly capable of telling you. Why don't you ask him?"

Abby, it is amazing the number of people who assume that because someone is in a wheelchair, he is completely helpless and unable to communicate.

Please print my letter. It might wake up some folks who think a physically handicapped person can neither think nor speak for himself. Thank you!

FED UP

DEAR FED UP: Your message is an important one. And while we're on the subject of showing consideration for the physically handicapped, when you are speaking to someone in a wheelchair for more than a minute, please draw up a chair and sit down so that you will both be on the same eye level. Forcing him to look up at you gives him a pain in the neck. Literally!

DEAR ABBY: I'm an orchestra director who frequently gets requests to play a number in honor of a wedding anniversary. I always get a laugh when on the occasion of the first wedding anniversary I play, "Night and Day." For the fifth anniversary, I play, "Saturday Night." For the 10th anniversary, I play, "Once in a While." For the 25th anniversary, I play, "Now and Then." And for the 50th anniversary, I play, "Thanks For the Memories."

What do you suggest for anniversaries over 50: OPEN TO SUGGESTIONS

DEAR OPEN: How about, "We Did It Before and We Can Do It Again?"

DEAR ABBY: The letter from HAD, who ordered and paid $5 for "grass" and in return received lawn clippings, was hilarious.

It reminded me of another ad, years ago, to "Send $1 for the secret of success." Those responding received a fishhook with the advice, "Catch suckers like we do."

CONVULSED

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALICE: Don't marry a drinking man. A man who won't stay sober for his sweetheart would never stay sober for his wife.

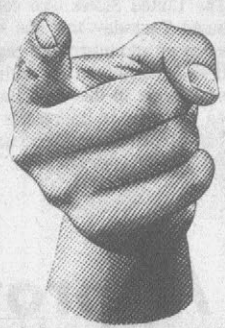

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Pitt NAACP Asks For Probe Probation Case

The Pitt County Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has asked officials to investigate a case involving Anthony Waller of Winterville.

In a letter to Greenville Mayor Percy Cox, Winterville Police Commissioner D. C. Martin, and State Probation officer Jimmy Cannon, NAACP president D. D. Garrett said Waller was taken from his home by probation officer W. R. Bonner and Winterville policeman G. W. Williams at which time he was "maced, handcuffed, beaten, kicked and manhandled."

Garrett said "later during the night," Waller was "thrown into a Greenville police car after being kicked and manhandled a second time."

The letter continued, "The Pitt County Branch NAACP in both its regular and executive sessions voted unanimously...to ask that all of the ... officers be suspended from their duties until a full investigation can be made and the truth ascertained."

Charles Hester, branch manager for the Probation Parole district office here said "we are aware of the charges," but indicated officials are "waiting for the case to be disposed of in court."

Records on file with the Clerk of Superior Court show that Waller was taken into custody

July 27 of probation violation charges.

The records allege Waller struck probation officer Bonner in the head with his fist, failed to make payments of money to the Court as required by the terms of his probation, and failed to report his place of employment to probation officials as required by court order.

Waller was convicted in Superior Court on breaking and entering charges June 8. The 18 months jail term ordered by the judge was suspended on condition Waller paid a fine of $100 and court costs and restitution. He was also placed on probation for a period of two years.

The alleged violation of probation is scheduled to be heard by the court September 6. Waller was placed under a $2,000 bond pending the September 6 hearing.

Greenville Police Chief Glenn Cannon said the first he knew of the incident was this morning when he received a letter from Garrett in the mail.

Cannon said an investigation into the case would be made.

Berkowitz Release Without Bail Has Support Of Agency

NEW YORK (AP) — A pre-trial agency recommended that David Berkowitz, who police say is the "Son of Sam" killer of six persons, be released without bail because he had a steady job, a permanent residence and no prior criminal record.

The recommendation by the Criminal Justice Agency Inc., a private group funded by the city and the federal government, "defies belief," Mayor Abraham Beame said Thursday.

The agency recommended Berkowitz' release on his own recognizance even though it knew he was accused of being the .44-caliber killer, Beame said.

The mayor said similar recommendations in less notorious cases "could permit dangerous criminals to walk the streets on little or no bail."

Beame, who is running for re-election, ordered an immediate investigation of the procedures used by the agency, which interviews every criminal justice defendant who appears before a judge in New York City and makes its recommendations to judges.

Beame said he was informed of the recommendation by the agency's board chairman, Nicholas Scopetta, deputy mayor for criminal justice. Scopetta said it was the "apparently absurd result of a mechanical and literal interpretation by the agency of its criteria for recommending bail."

Meanwhile, today's editions of The New York Daily News quoted psychiatrists examining Berkowitz as saying they had "serious doubts" that he will be found mentally competent to stand trial.

"At present, we are not inclined to believe that Mr. Berkowitz is lucid," said one source quoted by The News. "He does not appear to know what is going on around him at all times. He does have rational moments, but for the present, he does not appear able to sustain them."

Grand juries in the boroughs of Queens and the Bronx are considering evidence in the .44-caliber killer case. Police say the "Son of Sam" killed two persons and wounded five others in Queens and killed three persons and wounded another in the Bronx.

An indictment returned in Brooklyn last week accused Berkowitz of killing Stacy Moskowitz and seriously wounding her date, Robert Violante, both 20, on July 31.

Leaf Warehouse Burned Today

METTER, Ga. (AP) — Fire destroyed the Big Planters tobacco warehouse and about 475,000 pounds of tobacco early today.

No injuries were reported and there was no estimate of the loss, but the tobacco would have been worth $600,000 at Thursday's auction prices.

Cause of the blaze was undetermined.

Traffic on Georgia 46, which links unfinished sections of Interstate 16 was rerouted for about two hours after the blaze, which began at 5 a.m. and a telephone cable was burned, leaving several hundred customers without service.

Only about 50,000 pounds of the tobacco was unsold. It belonged to about 20 farmers, a warehouse spokesman said.

Officials said they were trying to find out where farmers who had tobacco designated for sale at the warehouse could take their leaf for auction.

Tobacco Stocks Are Piling Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Agriculture Department says July 1 flue-cured tobacco stocks broke the 2-billion-pound level for the first time since 1969 and were more than 10 per cent greater than in 1976.

Flue-cured tobacco is grown in the greatest quantities and is used mostly for cigarettes and export.

Farm sales weight for all stocks of all leaf tobacco stood at 4.43 billion pounds on July 1, an increase from a year before of 259 million pounds or 6.2 per cent.

Flue-cured accounted for 2,066,066,000 pounds of that total, compared to 1,873,530,000 on July 1, 1976.

Stocks held under government price-support loans totaled nearly 627 million pounds, up about 220 million. Flue-cured accounted for 556.9 million pounds and burley, 68.5 million, the department said.

Two More Years For 20 Minutes

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A young prisoner led officers on a 25-minute chase through downtown Raleigh after he slipped out of the holding room in the Wake County Courthouse.

"That's 20 minutes for two extra years in jail," muttered Deputy R.L. Johnson as he led rain-soaked Larry D. Sanders into the magistrate's office to be charged with escape.

Sanders, 18, had just been convicted of failure to appear in court on a charge of receiving stolen goods, and still faces trial on four counts of breaking and entering and three counts of forgery. He faces a total of up to 70 years in jail.

Asked why he bolted Thursday, Sanders said, "Why not? I don't like this place."

Increasing Prime Rates

NEW YORK (AP) — A number of major banks raised their prime lending rate today from 6 3/4 per cent to 7 per cent.

Citibank, the nation's second largest commercial bank, led off the increases with 12th-ranked Marine Midland Bank in Buffalo following about 30 minutes later.

Citibank, which usually moves first in prime rate adjustments and which had held the prime at 6 3/4 per cent since May 27, did not elaborate immediately on its move. But according to its formula for computing the prime rate, the rate worked out to between 6 3/4 and 7 per cent this week. The formula is based in part on the rate for commercial paper — short-term, unsecured IOUs by companies.

The change in the prime rate — a bank's charge on loans to its best corporate customers — had been widely anticipated because of the Federal Reserve's recent actions to tighten growth in the nation's money supply.

In the past month, the money supply has been rising faster than the Fed has indicated it would like, and its money managers have been actively trying to slow the rate of growth.

In the past week, the rate on federal funds, the money banks lend each other, has risen about one-quarter percentage point to 6-6 1/4 per cent.

The prime rate is not directly linked to consumer loan charges but may exert a psychological influence on all loan rates.

The wedding reception of Mary Robbins and Lennie Council will be held in the fellowship hall of The Haddock Chapel F.W.B. Church, Route 1, Winterville instead of The Mt. Hermon Lodge, Saturday at 3:30 p.m.

Leaf Quality Is Improving

The quality of tobacco sold on the Greenville Market yesterday continued to increase as local warehouses recorded an average of $121.45 per hundred pounds.

J.N. Bryan, sales supervisor of the local Tobacco Board of Trade, said the market sold 756,389 pounds of tobacco for $918,617 Thursday.

Stabilization receipts accounted for only 1.86 per cent of total sales, he said.

Top practical price paid was $1.38 while some leaf sold for $1.42 per pound.

Offerings consisted of leaf, cutters, lugs, primers and non-descript tobacco, the sales supervisor said.

For the season, the market has sold 13,172,238 for $13,783,130, an average of $104.64 per hundred pounds.

Elvis Certain To Be A Legend

The king of rock 'n' roll is dead. Elvis Presley, whose recording of "Heartbreak Hotel" quickly made him the idol of the teen agers more than 20 years ago, was found dead in his Memphis mansion this week.

In his young days he was a hip swinging good looking man with a good voice and a new style that the young fans, who buy the records and attend the movies, apparently were waiting for.

His fan club members in the hundreds of thousands and his total fans were in the millions. They couldn't get enough of Elvis and that led to 45 records selling more than a million copies and 31 films, all with assured box office appeal.

Even at his death Elvis was still highly popular and a concert date would mean a certain sell-out. But like many of his earliest fans, he had grown middle-aged, and he stayed close at home. It was a pudgy Elvis who was photographed at recent performances.

Then it all suddenly ended for the man who had become fabulously wealthy through his renditions of such numbers as "Heartbreak Hotel", "Hound-dog", "Love Me Tender", and "Jailhouse Rock". Heart failure ended his life at the age of 42.

Elvis Presley changed popular music in his lifetime. Some thought in the early years it was for the worse, but as time went along it was recognized that he possessed musical talent, and certainly great charisma.

We can be certain that he will not be forgotten in death; rather he will become an entertainment legend. His records and his films will live for a long time.

Reducing Opportunity For Bad Laws

Sen. Jesse Helms observed in a recent column that he voted against a four-week recess for Congress, because he felt Congress should not shut down with so many crucial issues unresolved.

On the other hand, Sen. Helms felt that Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia had made a good point in saying that the American people are probably better off when Congress is NOT in session.

"Senator Byrd observed that, at least when Congress is not in session no bad laws are passed," Sen. Helms said.

Maybe what we need is a law sending Congress home after meeting for the first six months of each year. Beyond that, it is really doubtful that we need any more laws.

Fresh High School Goals

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — North Carolina needs to take a good, hard look at her high schools, the new director of secondary education at the State Department of Public Instruction believes.

Jerry T. Beaver, special assistant superintendent for secondary education, is urging the State Board of Education to reach a "new commitment" to high schools.

"We can't just continue to leave certain children unserved. We have got to explore all the alternatives to providing individualized plans for all students: from the gifted and talented, on down," says the man who until two months ago was associate superintendent of schools in New Hanover County, before joining the central staff in Raleigh.

Beaver sees the need to explore all the options such as extended day programs, year-round operations, use of community resources, extension of schools into the communities, local businesses and community colleges or technical schools.

But above all, high schools must respond to the individual needs of every child. . . one at a time . . . to serve what his or her own needs and interests are.

Stick To Basics

While he talks about getting students involved in following their interests by letting them get credit for working in a local car repair shop, mill, or electronics plant, he isn't pushing a concept of "career education" which many critics have complained gets away from basic education.

"This is not in conflict with the move to return to the basics . . . it's an effort to do that, and much more. To build a unified high school system is the challenge," Beaver says.

He thinks local community college facilities ought to be used as part of the system, getting away from the petty jealousies which have on occasion prevented the interchange of students. In short, Beaver is calling for cutting through whatever red tape, bureaucratic machinations, or turf-fighting regulations stand in the way of allowing every child to get the sort of education which

"best suits his or her own needs and interests."

Until we stop and take a look at each child—one at a time—without trying to make the student fit somebody else's mold, "we are just beating our heads against a brick wall," Beaver says.

He told the Senate Board at a recent session that the high schools "must not sit idly by and continue to adequately meet the needs of only a portion of their students. . . it is mandatory that the high schools . . . seek better opportunities to extend their instructional programs, to extend themselves into their communities and to better cooperate with all segments of community life . . . and institutions."

Among suggested elements of the "unified system" are a broader range of subjects, including more emphasis on basic reading, writing, arithmetic skills; extended campus approaches using local business and industry, colleges, social agencies, and community colleges; extended year programs for community and foreign-based activities, remedial work, and speedup programs; extended day programs such as longer school days, open libraries, shops, laboratories, etc.; exchange of students with other institutions; and extended pupil services such as testing, guidance, and monitoring progress.

"What we need is for every child in high school to have an advocate who will work closely to see that his individual needs are indeed met," Beaver said.

MARTHA'S VINEYARD — My good friend Prof. Heinrich Applebaum has just done a sociological study on how private beaches affect the average American's vacation. He did it under a grant from the "Life Is Unfair Foundation."

Applebaum's study came to some startling conclusions.

"You would think," he told me, "that people who own their own beaches would be twice as happy as those who don't."

"That certainly figures," I said.

"Well, it's not true. My interviews indicate that those who have no rights to a private beach are three and a half times happier than those who do."

I was certainly surprised.

He said, "It appears that those who don't own beach front property believe the ocean is public and they have the right to use any beach they want to, even if it's marked 'Private.'" In fact, they prefer to use a private beach more than they do a public beach because not only are private beaches nicer but it drives the owners up the wall."

"I should think so. A person with a private beach has paid through the nose for it and he doesn't want just anybody using it. There are still such things as property rights in this country."

"Public bathers don't believe this," Applebaum said. "They feel that a beach is a beach is a beach, and if they can get away with using a private beach rather than a public one, their day is made. This is particularly true of nude bathers who will walk miles across dunes, sand and rocks to camp on a piece of property that is off limits to them."

"That's terrible."

"It's worse than that. I discovered in my studies that as the summer goes by the owners of private beaches start suffering severe mental problems, including depression, paranoia and hysteria. Very few of them can cope with strangers using their beaches. At the end of the summer they are psychological wrecks."

"How so?" I asked.

"Well, they get up in the morning, and the first thing they do is go down to their beach to see if anyone is on it. The thing about private beaches is people use them not only for sunbathing in the daytime, but also at night for other things. If they find their beach has been used at night, it drives the owners crazy. 'Get off my beach!' they scream at the people wrapped in their blankets."

"Then the beachowners go back to their houses to have breakfast. After breakfast they go back to the beach to see who is on it. If no one has arrived yet, they go into town to buy the papers and shop for groceries. But they are very ill at ease because all the time they're away they keep wondering if anyone is on their sand."

"When they return from town, they immediately go back to the beach to check it out. They sit on a sand dune waiting for the invaders."

To the editor:

I have been wondering how Pitt County got along before Council on Aging came into effect.

The Pitt Co. CoA Transportation Program has been in operation one year now.

Working with the CoA has been a wonderful experience for me. I have met so many nice people.

During my visits with senior citizens, I have found so many who are lonely and need a friend to talk with. Some are sick and need help. Many need transportation to the doctor, hospital, Social Security, Dept. of Social Services. The CoA is trying to meet these needs by using the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church van, going out into the county three days a week, and by reservation only we service both the county and Greenville. PCCA could do so much more if we had the means. Maybe everyone doesn't understand what our CoA is all about.

There are those who are sick and alone who become discouraged and scared and who will call PCCA just to hear a friendly voice. Man ask for prayer and the CoA staff takes time out to pray just for them.

Some of our older citizens are blind, but they haven't let this handicap get them down. We admire them and are amazed at how much enjoyment they get from going to the nutrition site or shopping.

We have found some older citizens caring for children who would be without a home if it were not for those loving grandparents or even great grandparents. We have also found parents abandoned by their children living in the area sick, alone and without food or means of getting help.

When CoA can't provide all their needs, we make sure that Social Services or the Salvation Army does.

Jesus said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Now 'Portable' Needs Defining

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ever get the feeling that the guy who stamped "portable" on your television must have been built like King Kong?

You're not alone. Prompted by what it calls a "common consumer headache," the government is systematically trying to figure out what's portable and what isn't.

In a project conducted by the National Bureau of Standards, several agency workers have volunteered to spend time lugging boxes of lead shot around the office.

The study grew out of the Magnuson-Moss Warranty Act of 1975, which gives the Federal Trade Commission the power to say when a product can be guaranteed as portable.

The definition can be important, since purchasers of goods guaranteed as "portable" can be required to haul them in for repairs before the guarantee does any good.

The FTC turned to the standards bureau and researchers Joel J. Kramer and Patrick J. Meguire, who gathered 69 men and women volunteers of varied age and size for their project.

So what's portable? To the researchers, a television, air conditioner microwave oven or other product is portable if it can be carried by most consumers at least one city block "without excessive strain or exhaustion" and without using such aids as dollies or carts.

The researchers filled wooden cubes with different weights of lead shot. The volunteers then carried the boxes — some about 11 inches on a side and others about 16 inches — the length of a city block, through a door they had to open and up a flight of stairs.

The researchers said they figured their test requirement equaled the worst route a consumer could be expected to follow in returning a product for repairs.

They concluded that a person's sex and the way he handled a box, rather than age or the size of the container, are the biggest determinants of what can be carried comfortably.

The researchers said the average maximum weight considered reasonable by the men taking part in the tests was 44.8 pounds, while for women it was 31.2 pounds.

Roughly 90 per cent of the participants said they could carry 23.5 pounds with little difficulty.

And Kramer and Meguire aren't finished yet. They now are studying what size products are "acceptable." They then hope to work out a "portability index number" that would combine weight and size to tell a potential customer what he could carry easily.

The index could be attached to a tag or label on products guaranteed as portable. Officials hope to complete their work this fall.

THE INSIDE REPORT

Muzzling America's Voice

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — A letter by the American ambassador passionately defending President Carter's human rights policy, published on July 30 in Poland's most prestigious newspaper, was barred from the Voice of America's (VOA) Polish-language broadcast by intervention of the ambassador himself.

In an Aug. 3 cable to Washington from Warsaw, Ambassador Richard Davies argued that since the newspaper, Polityka, had "courageously" published the letter, broadcasting the text by VOA would serve no purpose. The VOA's unseasoned director immediately capitulated to the detente-conscious State Department, which instinctively prefers good bilateral relations to the Carter human rights crusade.

No decision for many years has so unfuriously the professional news staff at VOA. It violated strong guidelines giving total news autonomy to VOA, rather than the parent U.S. Information Agency (USIA) — guidelines issued by USIA director John E. Reinhardt May 4.

The result is an erosion of both VOA's credibility and the President's world crusade for human rights. The Davies letter, responding to Polityka's earlier criticism of Mr. Carter's human rights policy, was an emotional but highly effective defense of that policy. The newspaper, obviously waiting for clearance from Communist boss Edward Giersek, held the letter three weeks before publishing it.

The news value of an American diplomat's letter published in a Soviet satellite state is beyond question. Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty, subsidized by but independent of the U.S. government, both carried much of the letter. The British Reuters news service published the entire text.

The reason for this extensive coverage is obvious: publication of the letter in a Communist newspaper was a major political event, signifying either deliberate Polish defiance of Moscow or an important prelude to this fall's Belgrade conference which will draw a balance sheet on human rights. No U.S. official here or in Warsaw knows the true reason, but the mere fact of publication was on its face a triumph of the President's policy which deserves maximum exploitation.

Instead, the Voice of America ran merely a 69-word commentary in its Polish-language broadcasts on Aug. 1, containing no verbatim quotations. The appeal from Davies, perhaps understandable under a narrow interpretation of his own duties as ambassador, carried the field; the pledge in Reinhardt's guidelines that "VOA will be solely responsible for the content of news broadcasts" was ignored.

USIA officials insist the decision not to run the text of the letter was made by VOA itself. Technically, in the absence of a specific directive issued to VOA, the decision-maker was VOA's new and inexperienced director, Manhattan radio station owner Peter Straus. After Davies' intervention, Straus suggested that broadcasting the text of Davies' letter could wait until VOA received a true copy in Polish.

But VOA editors believe that on the strength of the cable from Davies' embassy, there was inescapable high-level bureaucratic reluctance at USIA to broadcast the text of the letter. When the Polish

THE ETERNAL SOVERIGN

A bereaved father, who had lost a daughter, recently quoted the following verse: "God nothing does, nor suffers to be done, but that thou wouldst thyself."

Couldst thou but see, through all events of things, As well as He."

The father remarked that he had often been comforted by this sentiment. And why not? For it expresses something very deep in our faith. If we can just believe that all things work together for good to them that love God, and that even the most tragic circumstances will be used by loving God to enrich our lives and further our spiritual destiny, then we have something to lay hold of in the day of trouble.

God sees the end while we see only the beginning—and very dimly at that.

language copy finally arrived here last week, neither Straus nor anybody else made a move to change the decision.
Davies, a diplomat widely experienced in both the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, used his influence on an earlier occasion to muzzle the Voice of America's Polish-language broadcast.
That was in June 1976, when he fought the VOA's carrying word to Poland about food riots in Polish cities.

But that was during the Ford administration era when VOA was run by a tough-minded station owner from Mobile, Ala., named Kenneth R. Giddens and his deputy, a career USA officer named Serban Vallimarescu.
Davies' advice was not followed, a decision that angered Henry Kissinger's State Department and that may have explained
Vallimarescu's demotion to a lesser job soon thereafter.
(Five years earlier, however,
Giddens had demoralized
VOA by killing a broadcast to Greece for diplomatic reasons.)

The permitted intrusion of Davies in the latest effort to silence the Voice will provide new congressional support to give VOA complete autonomy. Sen. Charles Percy's amendment to do just that was adopted by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee early this year but died in the full committee.
Percy's renewed effort next year will be helped by the case of the missing letter.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are forecast today from the Southwest to the Southeast and through the Midwest to the upper Great Lakes and North Dakota. Seasonably mild weather is expected for most areas except the extreme Southeast which will stay very warm. (AP Laserphoto Map)

By The Associated Press
Soaking rains have covered most of North Carolina and at daybreak rain still was occurring over a wide area of the state's southeastern section.

The cold front that passed through the state, causing a sharp drop in temperatures, was stationary along the coast
this morning and upper level disturbances moving along the front brewed more rain.

More rain is expected to spread into North Carolina tonight and cover the state by Saturday.

Rainfall Wednesday and Thursday apparently was heaviest in the eastern part of the state as Elizabeth City measured more than three inches and Goldsboro recorded a little over two and a half inches.

Smaller amounts were reported in the mountains.
Temperatures Thursday also dropped drastically from the upper 90s where they had been ranging. The day's highest was an 83 at Wilmington while it got no warmer than 69 at Elizabeth City. Charlotte and Greensboro had a high of 75 and Fayetteville was 77. Raleigh had a 74 and Asheville a 78.

At 4 a.m. today, it was 58 degrees at the Raleigh-Durham
Airport, a new low for an Aug.
19. It dropped to 57 at Greensboro and Hickory and other
lows were generally in the low 60s.

Bishop Declines

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The Episcopal Bishop of North Carolina refused Thursday to attend a news conference with the leader of a group that wants to found a new church whose membership at first would be made up of dissident Episcopalians.

The Rev. Canon Albert J. Dubois of Los Angeles said he wanted to found a new church because the Episcopal church had decided to change its Book of Common Prayer and permit ordination of women as priests.

Neither change, Dubois said, is based on "theological grounds." The priesthood, he added, is a "continuation of Christ" and God sent a son, not a daughter.

But the Right Rev. Thomas A. Fraser of Raleigh said no one had ever shown him "any Biblical or theological reason" why women could not be priests.

'Thank You'

The yard sale for Mark, who has leukemia, was absolutely an overwhelming success, and to all who participated in ANY way, we say
"thanks" from the very bottom of our hearts.
The labor, time, contributions, and prayers all show what wonderful people we have living in our town and surrounding area!

We thank the Lord for laying it on your hearts to help with Mark's medical bills in such a generous way! We trust that each of your lives will be blessed because of your love and concern.

Again, a sincere "thank you" to each of you and a special word of appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cayton and Mr. and Mrs. Larry
Baldree who planned and carried out the project.

Misty View

When you look through the window on a rainy day everything beyond the pane seems blurred in wavy wetness. Even the familiar objects, like the sidewalk and the mailbox seem distorted.

Sometimes the same thing can happen with another kind of view — when we look at ourselves, trying to find meaning and perspective in our own lives. For there are moments when we are at odds with the world and the ones we love, when we don't know where to turn next.

Well — how about turning to the Church? Just go to church, even if you haven't gone for a long time, even if you've never gone, for that matter. Sit back and relax, and let yourself and your problems swing back into focus, there within God's House.

Funny thing about it . . . it works.

Vaccination Time For Children

By SUSAN STOLER
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — It's vaccination time for school children, and squeals of anticipation can be heard across North Carolina.

Public health clinics report a flood of parents bringing in kindergarten and first grade children this month for the required vaccinations.

A new state law requires immunization against rubella, or German measles, but many health departments say they have been dispensing the vaccine for years.

"It's just an occasional child who has not had rubella shots," said Frank Lewis, immunization project director for the state Department of Human Resources. "The new law actually took care of what was already being given in many places."

Last year, 189,000 children entered North Carolina for the first time, Lewis said, and of those only 5.3 per cent lacked state-required immunizations. He children entering without vaccinations are monitored throughout the school year to see they receive the shots.

Only a handful of children were suspended last year, when their parents refused to immu-nize them, Lewis said.

The required series of immunizations is three combined doses of diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis (whooping cough), also known as a DTP shot; oral polio boosters; and one vaccine each for red measles and rubella.

Many health departments have given combination red measles-rubella shots for several years.

Figures on immunization are not compiled by school principals until the last week in September. A child is required to bring a physician's statement or other medical evidence of his vaccination record.

Health clinics in Mecklenburg, Buncombe and Cumberland counties have experienced a steady flow of hesitant youngsters since the last week in July. The clinics' figures would be in addition to doses administered by private physicians, for which no records are kept.

"We're swamped," said Emily Woodard of the Guilford County Health Department on Thursday.

She said 289 DTP shots were given in July and 264 polio vaccines. Figures for August are not yet available, but Mrs. Woodard expected the number to increase through Labor Day. Cumberland County immunization clinic officials say about 150 children a day have come in since the first of August. Some of them are in the 9 to 10-year-old bracket, who have not yet received rubella vaccine.

Wake County, where schools begin Sept. 6, reports 85 doses of polio vaccine dispensed at the central health clinic during August for school-aged children.

Buncombe County schools opened doors Thursday, but health department officials expect to pick up stragglers through Labor Day.

Social Security Most Confusing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security Administration got the nod as having the most confusing programs.

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration was singled out as requiring the most excessive paperwork.

But it was the Office of Workers' Compensation Programs, a small Labor Department agency, which received the label Thursday of worst agency in the federal bureaucracy, according to a White House survey.

The survey is part of the Carter administration's attempt to reorganize the executive branch. Some time ago Carter aides polled the 535 members of Congress as to which agencies are getting the most complaints and which are doing a good job.

With about 100 congressmen having responded, the Office of Workers' Compensation Programs topped the list of agencies most complained about because of lack of services, inefficient operations, and least success in meeting its goals.

"This is the worst administered program I have ever encountered," wrote Rep. Charlie Whitely, D-N.C.

The acting director of the agency under fire, Everett Jennings, said he had not seen the White House survey, but he blamed some problems on his office being understaffed.

"Obviously, nobody wants to be number one on the bad list. We're doing a lot of things to correct the problems," he said.

In addition to the small Labor Department agency, other parts of the federal bureaucracy which received poor report cards were the Black Lung program and the Social Security disability program, the Immigration and Naturalization Service and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA).

Among the most helpful agencies, the survey said, were the Veterans Administration and the Civil Service Commission's bureau of retirement and insurance.

WASTED LIFE — Greta Garbo, who withdrew from public life 30 years ago, now feels she has lived a lonely and wasted life, a West German magazine quotes her as saying. "I have messed up my life; and it's too late to change it," the former actress is quoted as saying. (AP Laserphoto)

Lung Cancer Rate High

RALEIGH — Lung cancer seems to strike people in Eastern North Carolina more often than the remainder of the state, according to the N. C. Department of Human Resources.

This is true even considering age, race and sex differences among county populations. Although statistical observations over a period of years by the Division of Health Services also showed several pockets of high risk in the central and western sections of the state, the death rate from lung cancer for the period 1972 through 1976 was highest in Vance, Pasquotank, Dare, Pitt, Beaufort and Jones Counties.

A total of 1,815 deaths occurred from lung cancer, in 1976, an increase of 34 percent over the six year period from 1970.

Farmville Mart Volume Heavy

FARMVILLE — Volume of sales on the Farmville Tobacco Market Thursday was heavy as non-descript and low grade primings accounted for most of the sales.

Offerings consisted of more leaf grade tobacco than any day this season. Good quality grades of cutters have also increased in volume.

Grade for grade, prices were steady. A total of 433,177 pounds sold for $513,051 for an average of $118.44 per 100 pounds.

To date, the Farmville Market has sold 7,846,796 pounds for $8,295,409 for an average of $105.72 per 100 pounds.

Major Quake In West Pacific

HONOLULU (AP) — A major earthquake occurred Friday in the vicinity of Sumba Island in Indonesia, according to the International Tsunami Information Center's Observatory here. The earthquake registered 7.7 on the Richter scale here, an observatory spokesman said.

There was no evidence that a Pacific-wide tsunami, or tidal wave, was generated, although there may have been a local wave, the spokesman said.

The U.S. Geological Survey said the earthquake struck at 1:09 p.m. local time, 2:09 a.m. EDT, near the Sumbawa and Sumba islands in the southeastern part of Indonesia.

It said preliminary readings placed the center of the quake at 10.35 degrees south latitude and 118.54 degrees east longitude.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, stalling once more after a brief rally attempt.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up more than 3 points in the early going, was off 26 at 864.00 by 11:30 a.m.

Gainers maintained a 5-4 edge over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Big Board volume came to 4.42 million shares in the first hour.

The government reported this morning that the rise of the consumer price index slowed to 0.4 per cent in July for its smallest increase of the year.

But the market's favorable reaction to the news was short-lived. Brokers said traders still seemed to be troubled by fears of an economic slowdown and concern over rising interest rates.

New York's Citibank and Marine Midland Bank today raised their prime lending rates from 6 1/2 to 7 per cent.

A rise in the basic charge on blue chip loans had been expected, but the news nevertheless seemed to weigh down the market.

F.W. Woolworth contributed to the Dow's pullback with a drop of a point to 19. On Thursday the company reported sharply lower quarterly earnings.

The 11 a.m. NYSE composite index was up .05 at 53.53. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .18 to 119.41.

Flowers Given Presley's Mourners

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
 Associated Press Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. AP — A white cross of flowers from his former wife and his daughter stood by the crypt of Elvis Presley today, as outside the mausoleum hundreds of people paid a final homage.

They came in a steady stream from the time the cemetery gates opened to weep and to kneel and to take pictures of the building where the rock 'n' roll superstar was laid to final rest Thursday.

Floralists stood behind ropes to give the mourners flowers from the 3,116 displays that lay like a colorful quilt across the lawn of the mausoleum. None of the visitors was allowed inside the building, but they seemed content just to be outside.

Presley's coffin was sealed behind a slab of concrete and marble in a small chamber near the front of the building. Near a window was a three-foot-high cross of white carnations, decorated with red roses. A silver streamer said it was from Lisa Marie and Priscilla.

Lisa Marie is 9 years old and Presley's only child. Priscilla, her mother, and Presley were divorced.

On the floor of the chamber was the blanket of roses covered the coffin when it was carried in Thursday.

At the head of the rose display was a crown of velvet with red and white roses along the bottom and red carnations at the top. Above it all was a small golden "X" with a stimulated diamond.

There was nothing to indicate the donor or what the "X" meant.

The mausoleum was kept locked because the family was expected sometime during the day and the crowd clearly was too large.

Some persons waited all night outside the cemetery gates, sleeping on the sidewalks, and when they were admitted, shortly after 8 a.m., some ran the entire half-mile distance to the mausoleum to be the first.

Mourners had waited patiently for hours in the broiling sun Thursday — outside the Presley mansion, along the four-mile funeral route on Elvis Presley Boulevard and in front of the cemetery.

The white funeral that Presley had wanted was carried out: a white hearse bore Presley's copper coffin, covered by 500 red rosebuds, and 16 shining white Cadillacs led a creeping procession of about 50 cars from the mansion to the cemetery.

But a commercial atmosphere also crept into the sad occasion. Hawkers sold Elvis T-shirts for $10. Forty-cent picture postcards of Graceland went quickly for $1.50. A small bottle of cola, also $1.50.

Radio stations blared "Love Me Tender" and other Presley ballads over portable radios held by many fans along the procession route.

Sometimes the crowd surged toward the motorcade and slowed its progress. At least once a policeman had to wrestle a grieving girl away from the moving hearse.

But at the mausoleum, deep inside the cemetery and out of the view of the curious crowd, all was serene.

Floral tributes in front of the mausoleum hid the lawn under a spectacular quilt of color as some 50 members of the Presley family and 150 invited guests arrived for the entombment.

Eight official pallbearers carried the coffin inside for five minutes of ceremony.

Vernon Presley, the singer's father, stayed behind for a few private moments with Elvis, watching as workers began to seal the crypt.

The mourners had first attended an hour-long private service in the piano room at Graceland. There they had the opportunity for a last, personal farewell in front of the open coffin.

"The emotion was very sad all during the ceremony," said Joe Esposito, a business associate of Presley's since their Army days in Germany in 1959.

It had been reported that Esposito found Presley unconscious on the floor of his bathroom Tuesday, but in a new interview Presley's girlfriend, Ginger Alden, claimed she made the discovery.

Celebrities who attended the service were singer Ann-Margret, Presley's co-star in the movie "Viva Las Vegas"; her husband, Roger Smith; actor George Hamilton; guitarist Chet Atkins; singer Jayne Morgan, and her husband Jerry Weintraub, who is manager of singer John Denver.

Claims Carter Owes A Debt

By MARK E. O'BRIEN
 Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Blacks helped elect President Carter, and he owes them something, says the president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"It's time this government became responsive to all of us," Benjamin Hooks said Thursday night, adding that if it weren't for the approximately six million black votes which Carter won last November, "Gerald" Ford would be sitting in 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue tonight."

The federal government can and must improve the lives of poor people, Hooks told a cheering crowd of about 300 persons attending the annual convention of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

"We're on our way and when we get there, some changes gonna be made," he said to applause and shouts of "Amen," "Right On," and "Teach, Ben."

"We've come to collect an overdue check," he said. "We've come to claim our due."

Special training and special programs are vital to putting blacks into the mainstream of America, Hooks said.

He told the allegory of a man who locked one son in a cellar for years while he educated his second son and gave him the best of everything. Then the father freed the first son and apologized to him for his mistreatment, but said he would give him no special treatment to help him overcome his years of imprisonment.

Hooks then looked out over the audience and asked, "You want special treatment?"

"Yes," the crowd roared back.

Hooks said the fight for civil rights will be led by reinvigorated groups such as the SCLC, the NAACP, the Urban League and PUSH (People United to Save Humanity), a Chicago-based group headed by the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

"We've got to tell our story," said Hooks.

Help from middle class blacks and churches, long a bulwark in the civil rights movement, also is needed, he said.

"It's time to cut out the shuckin' and jivin'," he said. "We're either all gonna make it or none of us is gonna make it."

"We've come to claim our due."

Royals Back Leonard In 4-0 Victory

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Now that Dennis Leonard's slider is finally sliding, the Kansas City Royals aren't.

Instead, the Royals have come alive after a so-so first half and are part of a torrid four-team race as they attempt to defend their title in the American League West.

Leonard hurled a four-hitter for his seventh victory in his last eight decisions Thursday night and boosted his record to 13-10 as the Royals blanked the Cleveland Indians 4-0. The hard-throwing right-hander walked one, struck out six and allowed only three runners to reach second base.

Leonard was struggling along at 3-8 and the Royals were struggling with him when Manager Whitey Herzog told him to make the slider a large part of his repertoire following a 10-1 battering in Boston on May 27.

"As soon as he started throwing the slider it gave him better command of his curve ball," Herzog said. "When he started throwing the slider it was the turning point in the season for him."

Perhaps for the Royals, too. Elsewhere, the Boston Red Sox whipped the Milwaukee Brewers 8-4, the New York Yankees edged the Detroit Tigers 5-4, the Texas Rangers trounced the Toronto Blue Jays 8-0 and the Minnesota Twins trimmed the Seattle Mariners 8-2.

The Royals wasted no time in giving Leonard all the support he needed when Tom Poquette led off the game with a double off Wayne Garland and Hal McRae tripled. McRae continued home when shortstop Larvell Blanks threw the relay into the stands.

Red Sox 8, Brewers 4
George Scott drilled four hits, including a pair of two-run singles, and scored twice to lead Boston to its 17th victory in 19 games. Ferguson Jenkins was tagged for six hits and four runs in the first two innings and then allowed just three hits the rest of the way, retiring 16 batters in a row during one stretch.

Yankees 5, Tigers 4
Mickey Rivers put New York ahead with a two-run single in the seventh inning and then scored what proved to be the winning run on Lou Piniella's single. Jason Thompson's tremendous two-run blast, only the 14th homer ever hit over the Tiger Stadium roof and the first in eight years, had given Detroit a 3-2 lead in the sixth against winner Catfish Hunter.

Rangers 8, Blue Jays 0
Dock Ellis shackled Toronto on three hits and Toby Harrah and Bump Wills slammed home runs to keep the Rangers in first place in the AL West by one-half game over Minnesota and Chicago. Ellis retired 18 batters in a row over one stretch as the Rangers rolled to their 30th victory in the last 39 games.

Twins 8, Mariners 2
Paul Thormodsgard, backed by a four-run first inning, fired an eight-hitter as Minnesota kept pace with Texas. The Twins chased Bob Galasso with their big first inning. Larry Hise, Lyman Bostock and Butch Wynegar each singled runs home and another scored on a throwing error by left fielder Steve Braun. Bob Randall tripled two runs across in the fourth.

Killer Ball Still Around

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The only killer baseball in major league history is still in existence, 57 years after it took the life of a Cleveland Indians shortstop.

Bob Curley, an editor for the Orlando Sentinel Star, keeps it locked in a cabinet in his home. The scuffed and slightly torn ball has been bad news twice.

The ball which killed Raymond Johnson Chapman 57 years ago was given to Curley, then a sports writer, by one of the players who took part in the game.

Chapman, shortstop for the Cleveland Indians, was struck in the temple by a pitch thrown by Carl William Mays of the New York Yankees Aug. 17, 1920, at the New York Polo Grounds.

Curley reported that Cleveland centerfielder Chuck Jamieson put the ball in his back pocket after it struck Chapman. He said

Jamieson gave him the ball 27 years ago.

Jamieson died in 1969.

Curley says he placed it temporarily in the glove compartment of his car. He was then a coach at St. Luke High in Ho Ho Kus, N.J.

The next day, a group of his players discovered it and used it in infield practice, the first time it had been used since striking Chapman.

Curley says a comparatively soft bouncer was hit to the third baseman. As he reached for it, it took a bad hop and hit him on the right eye, shattering his cheekbone.

After that the ball was put away for good, Curley says.

"It rarely sees the light of day, and I confine it to a plastic bag in a locked cabinet in Casselberry," Curley wrote. "I'm always fearful that the ball might roll out and that someone will slip on it and break his neck."

U.S. Cagers Romp To Win

By DAVID MINTHORN
SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — "We didn't try to run up the score," United States basketball Coach Denny Crum insisted after the Americans routed Belgium 136-57 at the World University Games Thursday night.

But Crum likely was to have even more trouble holding down the winning margin when his collection of college all-stars played Kuwait today in the second round.

Poland overwhelmed the Arab team 136-20 in the opening round earlier Thursday, and the taller and better-shooting Americans could hardly fail to match Poland's performance.

"I just hope we're awake (the game was at 9 a.m.)," the 40-year-old University of Louisville coach said with a smile, when asked for a prediction.

Guard Darrell Griffith of Louisville scored 20 points and Freeman Williams of Portland State had 18 as the Americans overwhelmed the Belgians with their fast break, board control and a dazzling display of shooting that earned roars of approval from the 1,000 fans at Sofia University Hall.

Injuries, Rain Bother Pirates

East Carolina University's football Pirates saw another member of the team leave the field with an injury yesterday.

Clifford Williams, second unit sophomore nose guard, suffered a knee sprain, and is expected to miss three to five weeks.

Many other little nagging injuries have cropped up for the Pirates, causing Coach Pat Dye to note after practice that "I don't know if this was a football practice or an emergency room scene." Dye had little else to say about the workout.

Rain hampered the drills yesterday, moving the morning practice inside and generally making the evening session a sloppy one.

Assistant coaches did singles out some individuals for their work in specific areas, however. Offensive line coach Dick Kupec noted that Ricky Holliday and Jeff Hagans are looking good at center, while Barry Johnson is doing a good job at tight end.

Bobby Wallace, the new secondary coach, said that Gerald Hall continues to do an outstanding job.

Linebacker coach Frank Orle said Harold Randolph is working harder than ever before, while new defensive end coach Cary Godette noted that John Morris is coming on strong and could challenge for a starting position. He also said that Jeffrey Warren, signed from Greene Central following the Boys' Home All-Star Game, has looked good so far.

Bad Back Making Andy Smile As He's In Tie

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

HARRISON, N.Y. AP — Andy North has a bad back. It hurts. Badly, at times.

And he loves it.

"I hope it keeps on hurting," North said after tying for the first-round lead Thursday in the $300,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

"Hopefully, it won't get any better at all."

"It's funny, but for the last three weeks it didn't hurt at all. And I played horrible. Missed the cut in all three tournaments."

This week it's hurting again. Kind of like a bruise. And everything on the golf course just went right. I really think it helped. With the back hurting, I didn't try to hit the ball hard, just bunt it around and keep it in play."

He didn't make a bogey and finished his trip over hte hilly, 6,603-yard Westchester Country Club course with an eagle three. That gave him a five-under-par 66 and a share of the lead with 46-year-old Miller Barber.

They had a one-stroke edge over former Masters champion Charles Coody, Howard Twitty and Grier Jones, tied at 67. The group at 68 included Rod Curl, Bill Mallon, Eddie Pearce, Tom Jenkins, Jim Wiechers and Bobby Wadkins, the younger brother of new PGA winner Lanny Wadkins.

While the gangling, 6-foot-4 North happily reported that "everything worked out," very little seemed to work for the game's more glamorous names.

Jack Nicklaus, complaining of being tired and admitting to a letdown in the wake of the PGA, had to birdie three of his last four holes for a par 71 and said he "was probably fortunate to do that."

Tom Weiskopf, with a triple bogey seven on the eighth hole, and Tom Watson, winner of the Masters and British Opens, also were at 71, five shots back and trailing more than two dozen players.

Many other top attractions still were further back on the tight little course that often produces some of the lowest scores of the tour year.

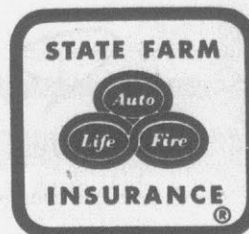

Defending champion David Graham had a 72, Johnny Miller 73, Ben Crenshaw and Hale

Sutton Just Misses In No-Hit Bid

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Sutton doesn't have the reputation of a Don Drysdale or a Sandy Koufax but the numbers show that the 32-year-old Los Angeles right-hander is one of the finest pitchers in Dodger history.

One thing Sutton hasn't done during his outstanding career is pitch a no-hitter. He just missed accomplishing that feat Thursday afternoon but even so his name entered the record book.

Sutton, 11-7, allowed only one hit — Marc Hill's clean single with two out in the eighth inning — as the Dodgers whipped the San Francisco Giants 7-0 and raised their lead in the National League West to 12 games over idle Cincinnati.

NL Roundup

The one-hitter, in which he walked four and fanned five, was the fifth of Sutton's career, tying the NL record. The triumph raised Sutton's career mark to 187-143 and tied him with Drysdale for the Los Angeles team record for victories.

In addition, it was the 46th shutout of Sutton's career, tops among active major league pitchers.

"I couldn't remember every pitch I made, but the numbers on the scoreboard kept me abreast of what was going on," said Sutton, who broke a four-game losing streak with his first victory July 4. "I definitely knew I was pitching a no-hitter. In fact, I even joked about it with some of the guys in the dugout during the game. There were some great plays behind me that kept it going."

In the only other NL contests, the Philadelphia Phillies downed the Montreal Expos 8-3 and the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Chicago Cubs 7-6.

The only other NL pitchers with five one-hitters are Tom Seaver, Mordecai Brown, Grover Alexander and Jim Maloney.

Dave Lopes staked the Dodgers to a 3-0 lead in the second inning with a three-run homer off Jim Barr and Reggie Smith hit his 22nd homer in the third.

Phillies 8, Expos 3

Richie Hebner socked his first major league grand slam homer in the fifth inning to erase a 3-2 Montreal lead. Hebner, who grounded out and fouled out with runners in scoring position earlier, smashed ex-Phillie Wayne Twitchell's first pitch into the right field stands for his 14th home run of the season.

Bake McBride also homered for the Phils while Jim Lonborg limited Montreal to five hits and also drilled a run-scoring single. Andre Dawson hit a three-run homer for Montreal.

Pirates 7, Cubs 6

Al Oliver, Dave Parker, Phil Garner and Bill Robinson all smashed home runs into a 17-mile-an-hour wind. Three of the homers came off loser Ray Burris while Robinson's was hit off Pete Broberg.

The Cubs jumped to a 2-0 lead against winner Jerry Reuss in the first inning but Oliver homered in the second, Parker tied the game by leading off the fourth with his homer and the Pirates went ahead to stay with three runs in the fifth.

Seahawks Upset Raiders, 12-10; Redskins Ease Past Kansas City

Now, the very last thing National Football League defenses needed was another running back named Payton.

Chicago's Walter Payton, who rushed for 1,390 yards last year, was quite enough for them, thank you. But now they're faced with his older brother, Eddie, who has been a pleasant free agent surprise for the Cleveland Browns.

Eddie, called "Sweet Pea,"

NFL Roundup

gets his next chance tonight when the Browns host the St. Louis Cardinals in a preseason game. Minnesota played at Baltimore in tonight's other game.

In Saturday's games, Chicago plays at Houston, the New York Giants are at San Diego, Denver plays at Atlanta, Miami is at Dallas, New Orleans hosts Buffalo, Green Bay visits Tampa Bay and Pittsburgh plays the New York Jets.

On Sunday, Los Angeles is at San Francisco and Cincinnati goes against Detroit. New England plays at Philadelphia Monday night.

The long weekend got underway Thursday night when Washington defeated Kansas City 13-7 and Seattle surprised Oakland 12-10.

Cleveland's Payton led the Browns' ground game with 73 yards in 16 carries against Minnesota last week. Little brother Walter gained 58 yards in 12 carries as the Bears defeated Oakland.

Eddie also returned three punts for 41 yards against the Vikings. He shrugs off the shadow of his kid brother.

"Actually, when people ask me if I'm Walter's brother, I tell them, 'No, Walter is my brother,'" says Eddie, who's older but not bigger than his kid brother. Walter, 24, is 5-foot-10½ and 204 pounds compared to 5-8 and 175 for "Sweet Pea," who's 25.

The older Payton has been teaching junior high school for the last two years in Memphis after trying out for Ottawa in the Canadian League.

The Vikings take their magic act to Baltimore tonight against the Colts, who have split their first two preseason tests. Baltimore whipped Houston 14-7 a week ago with Freddie Scott catching four passes for 94 yards including a 21-yarder from Mike Kirkland in the winning drive.

On Thursday, Joe Theismann set up two second-half field goals by Mark Moseley with long passes to Larry Jones as the Redskins topped Kansas City. Bill Kilmer hit John Riggins on a six-yard scoring play in the first half for Washington. Tony Reed dashed 29 yards for the Chiefs' score.

Seattle remained unbeaten as Ralph Nelson scored from two yards out in the third quarter after an interception by Steve Preece set up the Seahawks in Oakland territory.

The Seahawks scored their first touchdown only 70 seconds earlier on Jim Zorn's five-yard TD pass to Hugh McKinnis.

NCAA To Be Asked Back

By MATT YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) —

After a five-year separation, the National Collegiate Athletic Association will be asked to rejoin the U.S. Olympics Committee when the NCAA Council meets here next week.

The NCAA's International Relations Committee, satisfied colleges will get the voice they've been fighting for since World War II, will make the recommendation to the group's 18-member governing council.

Charles Neinas, chairman of NCAA international relations panel, said in a telephone interview Thursday from his Kansas City office the council still could decide not to follow the recommendation.

The NCAA dropped out of the U.S. Olympics Committee just before the 1972 Munich games. It has long contended college coaches and athletes make up much of the U.S. olympics effort but have had little voice in the program compared with such groups as the Amateur Athletic Union.

The council can make the decision on whether the NCAA will rejoin the olympic committee, but it can only make recommendations to the NCAA's convention in January on the other items to be taken up at the meeting next Monday through Wednesday.

The biggest of those is restructuring the NCAA's Division I, composed of the nation's largest colleges and universities, into two subcategories.

Charles Neinas, chairman of NCAA international relations panel, said in a telephone interview Thursday from his Kansas City office the council still could decide not to follow the recommendation.

Platform Shoes: Ridiculous Fad

The Food and Drug Administration and the Health, Education and Welfare Department seem to be genuinely interested in our welfare. They protect us against pollution, and against dangerous drugs. When are they or any other health agency going to set down sensible rules for the manufacture of shoes? Twice in the past year, my daughter has fallen off her "stills," sprained her ankles and has been incapacitated for weeks. — Mr. R.F., III.

Dear Mr. F.: I know exactly what you mean. I saw a group of girls coming out of their high school, and wondered how they were able to navigate the 20 or so steps to terra firma.

The "platforms" were inches high. The heels looked at least six inches tall. When they walked, there was no bending of the arch of the foot, just clump-clump. I noticed, too, that the knees had to be kept rigid.

How different this is from the free and easy motion of feet, ankles and knees when walking in sandals, sneakers and other comfortable shoes.

Your daughter is not the only one who is paying a penalty for this ridiculous fad. Are you aware of the number of injuries and automobile accidents that have been attributed to these high platform shoes?

To drive a car while wearing them is a real hazard because it can interfere with manipulating the accelerator and the brakes.

Unfortunately, governmental departments have no control over shoe styles. We can only hope that soon the fad will pass and the youngsters will survive this man-made health hazard.

Can you explain why I, a perfectly healthy young woman, should have had an ectopic pregnancy? I haven't received a satisfactory explanation. — Mrs. L.A., Tenn.

Dear Mrs. A.: There's nothing mysterious about the reasons for an ectopic pregnancy. This type of pregnancy takes place when a fertilized egg is caught in the Fallopian tube rather than passing into the uterus.

A "perfectly healthy" woman can have an ectopic pregnancy without any known cause. (It occurs about once in four or five hundred pregnancies.) In many instances, the reason is some infection or inflammation in the tubes. This may have been so unimportant that you probably were not aware of symptoms related to it.

Adhesions following surgery can also be responsible. Occasionally, an anatomical variation from normal may occur at birth. Means are now available to learn, without surgery, the exact condition of the tubes, the uterus and the ovaries.

We are not great admirers of a multitude of conventions. But a few, used wisely, can be of great assistance, especially when the players know what they are doing.

North-South were employing two-way Stayman—a bid of two clubs asked for majors without creating a game force, while two diamonds also inquired about the major suits but guaranteed sufficient values for game and hinted at interest in slam. The pair had another agreement: if responder to Stayman held both major suits, he would show his stronger. Once South showed four hearts, North became interested in higher things. His first move was to set the trump suit by raising to three hearts. After a series of cue-bids, North wheeled out the Grand Slam Force by leaping to five no trump, requesting his partner to bid seven if he held two of the top three honors in the agreed trump suit.

West led the jack of spades, and declarer paused to review the situation. At first, it seemed that he would need a 2-2 trump break, since he would have to ruff two minor suit losers in his hand and couldn't afford an overruff. But declarer realized that trumps were more likely to break 3-1. However, there was an alternative that virtually guaranteed the grand slam.

Declarer ruffed the first trick in dummy, then cashed the queen of trumps and crossed to the king. Had trumps divided evenly, declarer would have claimed, but East discarded a spade on the second trump.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day to organize your thoughts so that you can easily gain your desired objectives. A time to make long-range plans that will give you more abundance in the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study your responsibilities well so you will be able to discharge them most efficiently. The planets are favorable for much happiness with mate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Know what is expected of you by associates and make an attempt to work more harmoniously with them. Avoid the social tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle routine tasks but be careful in motion. Take health treatments so that you have more strength and vitality.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Your intuition is good today so be sure to follow it. Contact outsiders who can give valuable information you need.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Establish greater rapport with closest ties and know where you really stand with them. Do some entertaining tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Good day to go after the data you need. Make plans to engage in favorite hobby with friends. Improve your appearance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be clever in the handling of practical affairs since you can add much to present abundance. Don't jeopardize your reputation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Know what it is you really want and go after it in a most positive way. Attending a social affair can be most enjoyable now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Analyze your true position in life and know just where you are going. Get rid of any obstacles in your path of progress.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A most determined friend can be of assistance to you today. Later attend a social affair and make new contacts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Know what you want to do in the outside world and then go after it with conviction and get right results. Be wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Put those ideas to work that will help you grow and develop. Sidestep one who wants to lead you in the wrong direction.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... He or she will be one who is capable of ferreting out the truth of any situation. The education should be directed along investigative lines for greatest success. Give good religious training so that the ideas formed will be good.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

VILLAGE OF SIMPSON
SIMPSON TOWN HALL
P.O. BOX 10
SIMPSON, NORTH CAROLINA 27879
919-758-9698

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS:

The above-named City proposes to request the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to release Federal funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (PL 93-383) to be used for the following project:

VILLAGE OF SIMPSON COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT HOUSING REHABILITATION AND PUBLIC WORKS IMPROVEMENTS SIMPSON, NORTH CAROLINA 27879

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and, accordingly, the above-named City has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91-190).

The reasons for such decision not to prepare such Statement are as follows:

An Environmental Review Record respecting the within project has been made by the above-named City which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request at the inner lobby of the U.S. Post Office Building between the hours of 8:00 A.M. and 12 noon and from 2:00 P.M. to 4:00 P.M.

All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the City to the office of the undersigned. Such written comments should be received at the address specified on or before September 9, 1977. All such comments so received will be considered and the City will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

Edmisten Raps Request

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina Atty. Gen. Rufus Edmisten has condemned a request for a rate hike by Southern Bell Telephone Co. that would include a jump in telephone installation charges from $24 to $72.50. "I find this is an astounding rate increase proposal," Edmisten said of the $65.16 million request. "I think that's just an unbelievable amount to ask the rate payers to pay. I've always felt these utilities can tighten their belts. We've done it in state government, counties have cut their manpower...There's not a company I've seen that couldn't in some way tighten their belts."

Edmisten said utilities specialists on his staff would work with consultants and the public staff of the Utilities Commission to study the rate request and make recommendations.

"I'm told it's a very complicated application, that there are all kinds of things deep down in the application that are hard to understand," said Edmisten.

Hugh Wells, head of the public staff of the Utilities Commission, declined comment on the merits of the request, but said a team of accountants and engineers would be asked to investigate the proposal.

"The public staff will put together its own case independent of the Utilities Commission," Wells said. "We'll ask the commission to suspend the rate hike pending a hearing. This is routine...I'd estimate the matter probably will be heard after about four months. The hearing should take three weeks."

Bell executives said the new revenues are essential to regain the earnings destroyed by inflation since the North Carolina Utilities Commission approved a $36.17 million rate hike in December, 1975.

"No one likes price increases," said B. Franklin Skinner, Bell general manager in North Carolina. "They're tough to take, and they're not easy to ask for. But we ask our customers to keep our request in perspective. In 1960, telephone service consumed about one per cent of the average household's income...today it takes slightly more than one-half of one per cent."

The proposal would raise residential rates for one party service by 60 cents a month, and business rates by $1.20.

The company's announcement says the rate proposal includes a request "to charge the full cost of installing a phone. Raleigh District Manager R.G. Stamey said the full cost is $72.50."

"We're trying to cover the costs of that installing," he said. "Currently that cost is spread out over everyone's bill. We feel like the persons incurring the cost should pay for it."

In 1975, Southern Bell included a request to raise installation charges to $46.50 as part of a $62.46 million rate increase request. The commission allowed $24 for installation fees and trimmed the request to $36.17 million.

Complains On Hospital Noise

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — When Bryon Bullard complains about noise, the staff of Charlotte's Presbyterian Hospital listens.

Bullard is president of the 530-bed hospital, but he got a different perspective on a facility when he checked in a few weeks ago, complaining of a pain in his back. By the end of his first day, he had other complaints.

"The metallic rattling of wheelchairs and stretchers; medical staff people exchanging comments on patient records, you name it; the hospital was just too noisy," Bullard said.

In a recent open letter to his 1,300-member staff, Bullard pleaded for a quieter hospital.

"Things look different from a patient's perspective," Bullard wrote in the letter. "Until I checked in, I had no idea the hospital was such a noisy place — 24 hours a day. Noise is especially tiring to someone in pain between midnight and wake-up time."

The letter from Bullard spurred the hospital's 5-year-old antinoise committee into a more aggressive campaign. Officials at the hospital said crews are carpeting nurses' stations and covering plastic walls in corridors with sound-absorbing vinyl.

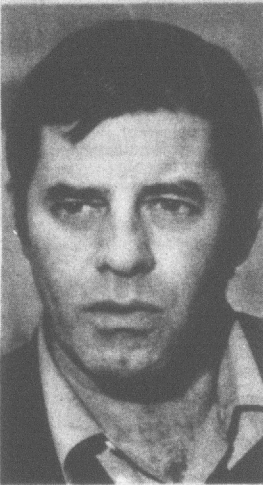

At other Charlotte-area hospitals, things are getting quieter as well.

At Charlotte Memorial, a new crop of "Please Be Quiet" signs will spring up in the next few weeks, hospital spokesman John Lottich said.

"Most visitors and even a few hospital employees don't realize how far sound is carried in a hospital corridor," Lottich said. "Nor do they realize how even little sounds can be irritating to a patient in pain. We just can't tolerate excessive noise."

At Memorial, the terminals of computers that keep track of patient care records are being padded and enclosed in sound-absorbing consoles. Wheelchairs and stretchers are being tested for noise producing defects.

The hospital may even buy television systems for patient rooms with speakers imbedded in pillows instead of blaring across the room, Lottich said.

PEACE PRIZE? — Comedian Jerry Lewis has been nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize by Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis. "I'm very proud; whether you win or lose, just to be in that company is magnificent, the entertainer says. (AP Laserphoto)
