Survey Prompted By Allegations On Lance

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal examiners are conducting a nationwide survey of national banks in an effort to find out if other bankers are involved in questionable practices allegedly used by budget director Bert Lance.

Comptroller of the Currency John G. Heimann, head of the federal corps of banking examiners, told the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee on Tuesday that he had ordered the national investigation as a result of the allegations involving Lance.

The Senate panel scheduled more testimony on the Lance case today, but members reportedly were split over whether to continue calling witnesses next week or wait for Lance to testify.

Lance is scheduled to appear before the panel next Thursday.

As the hearings continued in Washington, Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland became the first member of the Carter administration to publicly suggest that the controversy has damaged the operation of the Office of Management and Budget.

In an interview with the Minneapolis Tribune, Bergland was quoted as saying "the questions raised have created such a furor that I think his effectiveness has been impaired to a point where it probably can't be restored."

Bergland said the controversy has damaged President Carter because of his campaign promises about ethics in government. And he said administration planning for next year also has suffered.

Meanwhile, pollster Louis Harris reported that Carter's job rating from the American people dropped to 44 per cent positive in August, a decline of 7 percentage points from July and 17 points from his April standing.

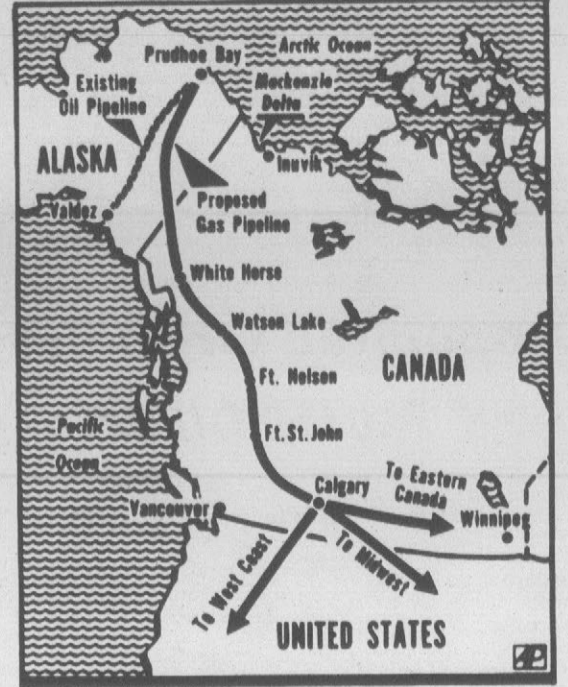

Harris said the poll of 1,491 adults, conducted between Aug. 13 and Aug. 20, showed Carter receiving a 40-to-33 per cent negative rating for his handling of the Lance affair with 27 per cent undecided.

Carter said the drop in his popularity was due to a variety of domestic and international matters and that Lance, a longtime friend, should have his hearing before Congress. "There has never been any doubt in my mind that the outcome of these investigations will be not only proper but also will be well accepted by the American people," he said.

In testimony Thursday, Heimann said Lance's financial practices were not typical of bankers and that it was not correct that a report issued by the comptroller's office had cleared the former Georgia banker of improprieties.

He said new legislation or regulations might be needed to deal with questionable, but legal, financial maneuvers found in the Lance case.

Announced Route

GAS PIPELINE AGREEMENT — Dark line indicates the possible route of a proposed natural gas pipeline from Alaska through Canada. President Carter and Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau agreed Thursday to build the largest natural gas pipeline in history along this route, and said it will save U.S. consumers $6 billion over the life of the project. Beame And Abzug Fail N.Y. Primary

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Abraham D. Beame and former Rep. Bella S. Abzug were sent to stinging defeats in a mayoralty primary of dark horses that ended in a near dead heat today.

It was the biggest voter turnout in New York City primary history.

The victors in the most crowded Democratic field in memory are two moderate-to liberal politicians who were not given much chance a few months ago and who will face each other in a runoff primary Sept. 19.

They are Rep. Edward I. Koch, 52, from the Silk Stocking district of Manhattan's East Side, and Secretary of State Mario Cuomo, 45, who ran at the urging and with the active support of Democratic Gov. Hugh L. Carey.

Beame, who came in third, is the first mayor turned out of office since Vincent Impellitteri lost to Robert Wagner a quarter of a century ago.

Beame's term in City Hall was marked by New York's gravest financial crisis since the Depression. A Securities and Exchange Commission report released 10 days ago said he had concealed the city's financial shape while promoting sale of its bonds.

Koch and Cuomo emerged from a field of seven candidates to face each other in the runoff primary because no candidate received 40 per cent of the vote. In fact, no one received more than 20 per cent.

With all but 29 of 4,763 precincts counted, Koch was one percentage point ahead of Cuomo.

On Nov. 1, the winner will face liberal state Sen. Roy M. Goodman, who defeated radio talk-show host Barry Farber in the Republican primary. Farber continues as the Conservative party nominee.

Award Won By Noblitt

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Bill Noblitt, columnist for the North Carolina Association of Afternoon Newspapers, has been named winner of the first Pete Ivey Memorial Award for outstanding reporting in the field of education.

Noblitt will receive the award tonight in Wrightsville Beach at the annual summer meeting of the College News Association of the Carolinas. The association is composed of information officers and other representatives from colleges and universities in North and South Carolina.

The award honors the late A.G. "Pete" Ivey, who had been director of the news bureau at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill for more than 20 years when he died in November 1975.

Noblitt's daily column appears in 41 North Carolina publications with a combined circulation of more than 750,000.

His nomination for the award said his columns "rightly questioned" some educational programs, but added, "The net result of his writing is that North Carolina's system of higher education ... is on sound footing and is a relative bargain for the taxpayers of the state."

Noblitt, a native of Shelby, graduated from Appalachian State University. He held positions with the Shelby Daily Star, the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce and The Charlotte News before joining the Association of Afternoon Newspapers.

Hearings And Awarding Of Bids By Councilmen

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

A relatively routine meeting, spiced by several public hearings and the awarding of bids, was conducted Thursday night by the City Council.

The Council, which disposed of 24 agenda items with little discussion, hearing on proposed amendments to Brownlea Drive and adopted a resolution directing the work on Brownlea, from Tenth Street southerly some 1,330 feet to the Passons property line, to be undertaken.

Austin Britt of 106 Hawthorne Road mentioned the dust created in the improvement area during the recent dry spell and urged the Council to authorize the Brownlea project.

Bill Wright, who had a question concerning assessments in the area in which he has purchased a lot, was assured by City Manager Jim Caldwell that the subdivision developers pre-paid their assessments for curb and gutter work.

Following a public hearing during which no comments were voiced from the audience, the Council voted to approve a request by Tommie L. Little and Associates for rezoning from RA-20 to R-6 of approximately ten acres on River Bluff Drive north of NC 33.

Caldwell explained that the present apartment complex as well as the undeveloped land would be included in the rezoning. The Planning and Zoning Commission, he noted, recommended that the R-6 zoning be extended out to the present River Bluff property.

The Council conducted a public hearing on a request by Westhaven Properties Inc. for rezoning Section III of Westhaven SubDivision, involving approximately 25 acres located to the east of Club Pines Subdivision. The request was approved by the board after no comments were received from the audience.

It was pointed out that R-9 (residential) zoning already exists to the north and west of the Westhaven property.

Pitt Hospital Is Accredited

Pitt County Memorial Hospital has been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH), according to Hospital Director Jack W. Richardson.

This accreditation is the result of an on-site survey made by field representatives of the Joint Commission's Hospital Accreditation Program (HAP). The accreditation, which covers from May 19, 1977 to May 18, 1979, indicates that the hospital chooses to operate according to standards set by JCAH and that the facility has met these standards.

Pitt County Memorial Hospital is one of approximately 4,800 general hospitals throughout the United States that have earned this recognition. There are approximately 7,150 hospitals in the U.S.

The Joint Commission's accreditation surveys are voluntary. The Hospital Accreditation Program, one of four programs under the JCAH umbrella, aims at helping hospitals provide a higher quality of care to patients.

JCAH is a Chicago-based, non-governmental, non-profit organization. In addition to hospitals, it has the programs for the accreditation of long term care facilities, psychiatric facilities, facilities for mentally retarded and other developmentally disabled persons, and ambulatory health care.

Limit Flights By 'Harrier'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine Corps ordered a suspension Thursday of low-level flights by its Harrier attack aircraft following a series of accidents which killed several pilots since 1971.

The suspension was based directly on a fatal accident Tuesday in which a pilot apparently flew into the ground while on a low-altitude mission at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev.

Since acquiring the Harrier in 1971, there have been 26 aircraft accidents with 10 being fatal to the pilots.

Only a few of these occurred during the unique vertical or short take-off and landing flight operations, the Marine Corps said. "Even a lesser number can be attributed to maintenance error or other aircraft problems."

The suspension involves only low-level training flights and does not involve other normal training.

A safety review will be conducted on Sept. 12 and information will be released shortly after to Marine Corps commands.

Clarence Gray Seeks 4th Term

Clarence Gray became the last incumbent member of the City Council to file for reelection when he paid his filing fee on Thursday afternoon.

In announcing that he will seek a fourth term on the Council, Gray explained, "My candidacy is based on a desire to continue; contributing to the orderly, fair and constructive growth of the city of Greenville."

He added, "As a veteran councilman, I offer my service to continue strong support for those programs and proposals that benefit all the people while vigorously challenging proposals that, in my considered judgment, tend to place the people at a disadvantage."

Gray observed that, "We've come a long way, but we still have a number of unfinished projects that must be completed."

A native of Simpson and former associate principal at Rose High School, Gray is currently principal at Eastern Elementary School.

He is a graduate of G. R. Whitfield School in Grimesland and received his A.B. degree and Master of Divinity degree from Shaw University in Raleigh. He holds the M.A. degree from N.C. Central University in Durham.

Gray is a member of the N.C. Association of Educators, the National Educators Association, and the National Association for Secondary School Principals. He is a past president of the Greenville Principal's Division of NCAE.

The candidate is a member of the graduate chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity Inc., Bright Star Masonic Lodge No. 385, and Anderson Odd Fellow No. 111976. He is a life member of the NAACP and a member of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Gray is married to the former Gwendolyn Crandol Pactorius and they have two children.

Lawyer Joins Council Race

Lewis W. Evans, a local attorney, filed Friday as a candidate for the City Council in the Oct. 11 municipal elections.

Evans, who was born in Greenville and attended Greenville High School, received his undergraduate degree in physics from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and graduated from the UNC Law School in 1953.

Following graduation, he joined the U.S. Army and served in the Judge Advocate General's Corp as representative for the government before the U.S. Court of Military Appeals. He was discharged in 1957.

The candidate then worked in the administrative offices of the U.S. courts in Washington, D.C. as assistant to the director. Later, he went into private practice in Washington.

From 1962-64, Evans taught at Georgetown Law School and American University. He directed several projects funded by the Ford Foundation and the American Bar Foundation and wrote model instructions for criminal and civil cases in the U.S. District of the District of Columbia.

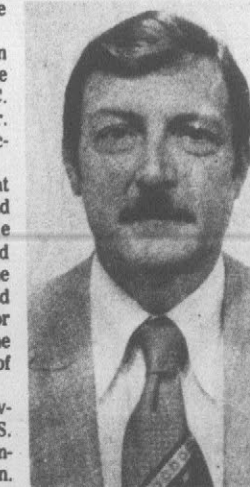

While in Washington, he served on as counsel for the U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights, under Sen. Sam Ervin.

Since 1975, he has been practicing law in Greenville. "Greenville is obviously going to grow and needs to grow in an orderly way," he said in announcing his candidacy.

"Another big problem is the school situation in Greenville," he added. "Many people are being graduated from high school as functional illiterates."

"I believe my background and interest in government at all levels would serve as an asset for me while serving on the City Council," he noted.

LEWIS W. EVANS

Matthew Lewis In Council Race

Matthew Lewis, retired Pitt County educator, announced that he will seek a seat on the City Council here in the upcoming municipal balloting.

Lewis filed as a candidate on Thursday at the Pitt County Board of Elections.

The candidate, who is seeking his first elected office, retired in February of this year after some 44 years of service with public schools in Pitt County.

At the time of his retirement, he was serving as principal at Stokes Elementary School.

Born in Ahoskie, Lewis attended Elizabeth City State University and A & T State University where he earned his degree in public school administration. He also did further study at East Carolina University and the University of Utah.

Lewis moved to Pitt County in 1932 and assumed duties as a teaching principal at Bell Arthur School.

He is a member of the Greenville Board of Adjustments and serves on the board of directors of Volunteer Greenville. He also holds memberships on various state and national educational organizations.

A member of Sycamore Hill Baptist Church here, Lewis has served as church clerk and Deacon for over 30 years.

The candidate is married to the former Christine Keyes of Martin County and they have four children.

In announcing his candidacy, Lewis said that he is "very interested in the continued progress, growth and development of the city of Greenville. I'm intensely interested in industry, our educational facilities, the 264 Bypass program and the many facets that will make Greenville a better city. I pledge to work towards these ends."

Six Traffic Accidents Occurred On Thursday

An estimated $4,450 property damage resulted from a series of six traffic collisions investigated here yesterday by Greenville Police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 12:02 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Greenville Boulevard and Hooker Road involving cars driven by Mamie Elks Schlienz of 1609 East Wright Rd. and Manfred Elvin Phelps of 205 Millbrook St.

No charges were reported by police who estimated damage at $600 to the Schlienz car and $800 to the Phelps vehicle.

An estimated $400 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 9:05 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Line Avenue and Chestnut Street.

Drivers involved in the collision were identified as William Earl Williams of Route 2, Farmville and William Wesley Speight of 210 Lewis St.

Elizabeth Cordelia Grimes of 1212 Red Banks Rd. was charged with failing to reduce her speed enough to avoid an accident following investigation of an 8:20 a.m. mishap on Greenville Boulevard, 2 mile west of the Evans Street intersection.

Investigators said the Grimes car collided with a truck driven by Jessie Raymond Harris of Route 1, Winterville, resulting in an estimated $200 damage to the Harris vehicle and $600 damage to the Grimes auto.

Trucks driven by William Wythe Mergler of Kill Devil Hills and Joshua Nobles Craft of Route 1, Winterville, collided about 4 p.m. at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Greenville Boulevard.

Damage was estimated by investigators at $400 to the Mergler truck and $300 to the Craft truck.

A 7:45 p.m. collision on Greene Street North of the Martin Street intersection involved cars driven by Milton Ray Howard of Route 1, Greenville, and Jeanette McKinney Pierce of Ayden, according to officers.

Police estimated damage from the collision at $100 to the Howard car and $450 to the Pierce vehicle.

Charlie Bradley Forrest of Route 1, Vanceboro, was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 12:40 p.m. mishap on Tenth Street, 300 feet East of the Fifth Street intersection.

Investigators reported the Forrest car collided with an auto operated by Geraldine F. Perryman of 310 King George Rd., causing an estimated $100 damage to the Perryman car and $300 damage to the Forrest vehicle.

Five Die In Plane Crash

SANFORD, N.C. (AP) — Three top officers of a Michigan construction firm and two other persons were killed Thursday night when their business jet exploded in midair and crashed shortly after takeoff, authorities said.

The dead were identified as the plane's owner, Henry George, 51, and his wife, Effie, also 51, of Dryden, Mich.; Phillip Nester, 47, of Elkhart, Ind.; Leroy Southerland, 61, of Flint, Mich., and the pilot, Jimmy Taylor, 35, of Flint.

George was chairman of the board of Champion Home Builders of Dryden. Nester was an executive at the firm's Elkhart plant and Southerland was a top executive at the Dryden headquarters. Taylor was the company pilot.

The eight-passenger Lear jet, bound for Flint, had just taken off from Sanford airport shortly after 8 p.m. when witnesses said it seemed to be in trouble and began to circle the sparsely populated Lee County area.

The plane crashed about two miles northwest of the airport. State troopers at the crash scene said the plane had "disintegrated."

Highway Patrol Sgt. Harry O. Jarman said he watched it circle over his home, explode in midair and then explode again when it crashed in an eight-acre soybean field behind the home of Mrs. Ray Hodges.

More Training For Key Cadets

ECU News Bureau
Twenty-three cadets in the East Carolina University Air Force ROTC detachment have been accepted into the AFROTC Professional Officer Course (POC).

Cadets chosen for POC have completed the ROTC General Military Course and are selected on the basis of performance at special field training sessions, academic achievement and leadership ability.

Emphasis of the POC program is upon the professional preparation of the future Air Force officer.

Four of the cadets were also awarded ROTC college scholarships, designed to attract and retain students whose academic specialties and potential career areas are essential to Air Force needs.

Scholarship recipients are Ervin Richard Donnell Howard of Virginia Beach, Va., a mathematics/computer science major; William Gay Canuette Jr. of Kinston, a political science major; and Beth Kimball of Berkley Heights, N.J., a nursing major.

All 23 cadets are now part of the Air Force Reserve and receive nontaxable allowances during the remainder of their terms of study at ECU. Upon completion of the POC and degree requirements, the cadets will be commissioned second lieutenants in the U.S. Air Force Reserve and may be called to active duty.

Area cadets accepted in the POC are Rachel Elaine Butts of Snow Hill, Walter McNeil Hooker of Hookerton, Gregory James Mazur and Danton C. Nicholson of Greenville.

Appointed Organist And Music Director

A new music director and organist have been appointed at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church.

Named were Daniel F. Holland of Clinton, director of music, and Mickey T. Terry of Greenville, organist. They are planning to implement a new music program which will include the formation of a handbell choir.

A voice performance graduate of Campbell College, Holland pursued post graduate studies in church music at Southwestern Seminary.

Prior to coming to Greenville, Holland served as director of music and Christian education at St. Luke Methodist, Goldsboro, and First Methodist Church, Marion, as well as summer youth coordinator of music week at Lake Junaluska Assembly.

A consecrated aconal minister in the United Methodist Church, Holland holds membership in the Fellowship of United Methodist Musicians, the Chorister's Guild, the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers' the American Choral Director's Association and has served as bass soloist for the Raleigh Oratorio Society.

Terry, a 1977 graduate of ECU, is currently pursuing graduate studies at ECU. He served as assistant organist and choir accompanist at Jarvis and also served as organist for the Greenville Community Chorus in past years.

A former student of Dr. David Foster, Terry will be presented in a recital later this fall.

Holland said that in addition to a full graded choir program and music ministry, there will be a handbell program beginning with students in the fifth grade and up, a concert series and fine arts exhibits conveying the thoughts of musical expression.

All persons interested in participating in any of the programs are invited to contact the Jarvis church office for further information.

Convicted Of Hazing

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Hazing of recruits at the Parris Island Marine Recruit Depot has resulted in a reprimand for a drill instructor.

S. Sgt. Daniel F. Kane, 29, was convicted by a military court Thursday of disobeying an order not to haze recruits. A letter of reprimand was placed in his file.

Two other drill sergeants are awaiting courts martial on similar charges. They are S.Sgt. Kenneth W. Smith, 26, and S.Sgt. William J. Hewitt, 22. The home towns of the three were not released.

Kane, of the 1st Recruit Training Battalion, was accused of harrassment and illegal activities such as requiring recruits to scramble over and under their bunks and to perform excessive barracks-cleaning chores.

There were no indications of physical abuse, a Marine spokesman said.

Homecoming At Church Sunday

FARMVILLE — Homecoming will be observed Sunday at 11 a.m. at Moye Chapel F.W.B. Church.

The homecoming address will be delivered by Louvenia Ford of Reids Chapel Missionary Baptist Church, Fountain. The Rev. J.H. Kearney will preach the morning sermon. An additional service beginning at 3 p.m. will be rendered by the Rev. Robert Gorham, from Dildy's Chapel, his choir, ushers, and members.

The pastor invites the public to attend.

Candidate Eyes Financing Plan

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — State Sen. McNeill Smith, D-Greensboro, says he hopes to finance his 1978 campaign for the U.S. Senate with bank drafts on contributors, allowing campaign pledges to be drawn automatically in monthly installments.

Smith said he planned to use the bank drafts as collateral for campaign loans, which would be repaid as money was collected monthly from contributors' bank accounts.

The candidate said he hoped the idea would permit him to keep his campaign in the black without having to depend on "wealthy special-interest groups" for financing.

Merger Raised

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A UNC-Greensboro trustee has urged that the school make plans "in the long run" to merge with the predominantly black North Carolina A&T University here.

Trustee Pat Taylor, the former lieutenant governor from Wadesboro, made the suggestion Thursday at a meeting of the UNC-G board of trustees.

Taylor raised the issue during a discussion of the desegregation plan for the state university system submitted earlier this week to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"Has there ever been any discussions about merging the two institutions here in Greensboro into one institution?" Taylor asked.

UNC-G Chancellor James S. Ferguson said the question of such mergers had come up informally a number of times, but had always been too strongly opposed, mainly by the black schools themselves.

Taylor suggested that school officials begin examining whether such a merger would be practical. There was little discussion and no action on Taylor's proposal.

Bride's Parents Refuse To Meet With Bridegroom's

By Abigail Van Buren

1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my son's future in-laws. He has been going with this girl for four years, they've been engaged for a year and a half, and all this time, my husband and I have not met her parents.

We have often asked the girl and my son if we could meet her folks, but we never got a straight answer.

Finally, with the wedding coming up in a few months, I decided to call the girl's parents and invite them over so that we could get acquainted. The mother said she would call me back to let me know when they could make it. That was eight weeks ago. No call yet. I am at a loss as to what to do.

Everyone will think it's odd if they find out at the wedding that we have never met the bride's parents. They live less than a mile from us.

Should I drop the matter? Or should I pursue it?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: If you haven't met the girl's parents by now, collar your son and find out why. Explain to him that as parents of the groom, you do have a role in the wedding plans. [The rehearsal dinner.] Don't call the girl's parents again.

It will be awkward indeed if you don't meet them before the wedding, but if that's the way they want it, for whatever reason, so be it.

DEAR ABBY: Am I wrong for refusing to sleep with the man I love because he wants his dog to sleep on the floor of our bedroom?

When I walked out, he said the dog always slept on the floor in the same bedroom with him and his first wife, who is now deceased.

Abby, I have never had dogs and I am not used to them. I told him he could put the dog in the other bedroom, but he said he wouldn't do it—that next to his deceased wife, the dog came first. So where do I stand?

NO DOG LOVER

DEAR NO: Right behind his dog.

DEAR ABBY: My older sister irritates me no end. She never takes my word for anything. She always has to check it out. If I were in the habit of lying, I could understand it, but I'm not. I always try to stick to the truth.

Another thing about her that bugs me is that if I happen to be out when she phones me, when she finally reaches me she always asks where I've been. Abby, I just hate having to account for my whereabouts. She doesn't have to know every move I make!

I'm not a child. Far from it. I'm a married woman in my 40s.

Any suggestions?

YOUNGER SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Yes, grow up. You're still intimidated by your older sister. Don't blame her if you lack the courage to tell her that: (a) you resent her checking out everything you say because you're generally truthful, and (b) if you want her to know where you've been, you'll volunteer the information.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

MANHASSET, N.Y. (AP) — Giving almost full time herself, Mrs. Lester can count on an average of six hours a week from each of her volunteer staff. This permits twice-weekly visits to each floor and nursing station, with calls made on all patients except those in intensive care or psychiatric units. When patients are very ill, volunteers talk with family members.

The volunteers, from surrounding communities, don't ask what a patient's health problem is, and they respect confidentiality.

Giving patients medical advice is banned, and any legal matters are referred to the administrator. But volunteers sometimes are told, or sense, that a patient is worried about scheduled surgery or tests, and ask a doctor or nurse to explain what is involved.

Nurses or doctors may advise patient representatives that certain patients are unduly depressed or anxious, so they may better interpret what the patients say.

Casual Tableware Is Suitable

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer

A trend to smaller rooms emphasizes the need for a style of living that limits objects we might think are indispensable. It is one reason Inger Elliott, a multifaceted talent — designer, photographer, author — is thinking "multiple design concepts," such as table settings that upset traditional ideas.

"With limited space, we do not have room for a ton of dishes. Cookware and dishes should have multi uses," she explained, in discussing a line that "takes you from breakfast to midnight."

She has eliminated clutter by introducing cookware and tableware at the irreducible minimum for busy working people and gourmet cooks. There are 20 pieces in the stoneware dinnerware collection and seven porcelain on steel cookware pieces, which can go from freezer to oven to table.

Cups with rims instead of handles may be grasped easily when you want to drink, and may be used also for flowers, sugar, juice, mustard. Lunch plates are rounded off so that "you can break an egg in the plate if you wish, and they can be used as trivets." A combination tray-platter or centerpiece may be used in the oven or on top of the stove. There are large mugs with handles for soup. Ovenpots become casseroles or ice buckets or may be used for flower containers, and even lids are designed for multi use as vegetable dishes, salad service, and for broiling a steak or grilling potatoes.

Such tableware can be fashionable as well as functional, so there is a classic look about the white, blue or sienna ware, a sort of Oriental simplicity. Her design inspiration often comes from the Far East. In fact, it helped launch her business, China Seas.

"We were the first to design and import batik for yard goods," she said. Later, the group — she and her associate designers — was into screen prints and wallcoverings for the trade, and there are designs on sheets, towels and comforters. She likes to work with sheets because "you can have good design at limited prices."

She does not work exclusively with designs of the Orient.

Always More To Do At ECU

It is often difficult to grasp how far East Carolina University has come in a few years.

There is still much to be done, of course; in fact there will always be more to be done if the school is to continue to be of ultimate service to North Carolina.

Football coach Pat Dye has pointed out that 13 short years ago ECU was hoping to upset Elon, and this Saturday the team will be marching on the field at Wade Stadium to play Duke.

The Office of Institutional Research released statistics to show the growth during the period 1947-77 — the time that Dr. Leo Jenkins has been associated with the institution.

Enrollment in 1947 was 1,607, while this fall the enrollment reached 11,971. There were 20 majors in 1947; now there are 174. Eight-four faculty members were on hand in the fall of 1947; today there are 754.

Buildings numbered 18 then and 74 today; campus acreage was 140 in 1947 and 411 today. There were 180 employees then and 1,614 today. The 14 departments have grown to nine professional schools and 17 academic departments.

A budget of $2.7 million in 1947 has become a budget of $35 million plus today. A physical plant valued at $2.7 million in 1947 is now valued at over $80 million.

The statistics are impressive, but what really counts is the more intangible of service that all this growth has meant to our state.

Vice Chancellor Robert Holt summed that up. "Naturally this growth has made quite an imprint and influence on our region, state and nation," he said.

For any public institution, service is always the bottom line.

Extra Time Given Would-Be Voters

The deadline for candidates to file for Oct. 11 Greenville and Farmville municipal elections passed today.

Voters, however, still have the opportunity to register, so they may participate in the elections, through Monday at 5 p.m.

To encourage registration, Margaret Register, Board of Elections executive secretary, said the office at Second and Cotanche Streets will be open tonight until 7 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

That allows adequate time for eligible voters to register. It is an opportunity no citizen should miss.

Little To School Project

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — Those who hailed the idea of North Carolina's Community Schools Act as a fantastic educational opportunity to bring about innovative change in the relations between local schools and local citizens are disappointed.

The State Board of Education has set up rules for parcelling out the money which the General Assembly provided.

There is only $2.5 million to fund local community school projects for the next two years. That means only some of the state's 145 school systems can get funds, and that a limit of $25,000 per year was established by the State Board for each local school system.

Say top state educators, the $25,000 (matched by another minimum investment by the local unit of $8,300) will barely cover the cost of a required full-time coordinator and related expenses.

About 50

It is anticipated that about 50 local school systems across the state will choose to participate, and submit plans to the State Board for funding and approval.

Dividing up the General Assembly appropriation left state officials torn between two possibilities: the limited amount for each unit, or a lot for just a few to set up demonstration projects.

The decision to go with a limited amount of money for a lot of units was made to allow as many local systems as possible to at least initiate a program.

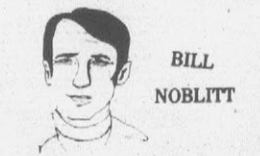

The new law was proposed by Gov. James B. Hunt as a way to bring about more parental and community involvement in local educational activities, to use the investment in school facilities to serve local civic and recreational needs, and to build a better climate of cooperation between school people and the public which they serve.

Specifics of the law call for use of school facilities by governmental, charitable, or civic groups for community activities. Local school people object on the grounds that paying the janitorial and utilities bills for such use can't come from school budgets, and funds must be found elsewhere.

The law also opens the door for wider use of volunteers from the community in tutoring, counseling, and cultural programs, and for increased communication between school people and citizens.

A key requirement is establishment of community schools advisory councils to help implement local programs, and the hiring of a coordinator.

BILL NOBLITT

By Regions

The limited money will be divided out among the various regions of the state to assure geographical distribution at first. But if, after two months, local units within a region have not applied, the money can be redistributed where the interest is.

Despite their disappointment at the limited amount of money, state educators think the law has worked positively in allowing local units to get into the spirit of the Community Schools Act.

"It has opened the door for some fantastic opportunities... but it leaves it to local communities to take advantage of the situation," says Gene Causby, assistant state superintendent for personnel and public affairs.

"Even a very little money can do a lot if local people really want to get involved and get a program operating.

The essential ingredient will be a local commitment and creative work to involve community representatives, organizations, and programs in developing the kind of approach most suitable to that area.

Causby also sees great potential for two or three (or more) school systems which adjoin to go together on a program and in getting the funds. Thus, state and local funds combined could provide as much as $200,000 for a two-year program in a three-unit area.

An Old Friendship Ends

WASHINGTON — Like everyone else I used to have a friend at the Chase Manhattan Bank. My friend's name was Chauncey and he was like a brother to me.

When the recent Securities and Exchange Commission's report was published it turned out, according to the SEC, that Chase Manhattan was selling New York City securities to its customers at the same time it was unloading the ones it had kept for its own portfolio.

I couldn't believe it so I called Chauncey. He wasn't there.

I called him again. After four calls he finally picked up the phone and said tersely, "I told you never to call me at the office."

"Where am I supposed to call you?" I wanted to know.

"What is it? I'm very busy."

"Chauncey, is that the way to talk to a friend?"

"We stopped that advertising campaign two years ago."

"That's what I'm calling about. Remember when you were my dearest friend four years back and you called me and said you could sell me some of the finest municipal securities money could buy?"

"I don't recall the conversation."

"Well, I do. You said that New York City was on a wave of new prosperity and anyone who bought its notes would never have to worry about his financial future again."

"I said that?"

"You certainly did. You also said that because the demand was so great you were restricting sales of them to only your closest friends."

"I might have said it as a joke," Chauncey replied.

"You were dead serious, Chauncey. You didn't laugh once."

"All right, for argument's sake I might have said it. What do you want from me?"

"Well, I just read the SEC report on New York City and it claims that all the time Chase Manhattan was touting New York securities it was unloading its own notes because it knew the city was in a fiscal mess."

There was dead silence on the other end of the line.

"Chauncey, are you still there?"

"Yes, I'm here. I'm sure the SEC report is mistaken. We would never do that to our customers. We're one of the largest banks in the world."

"That's what I said when I bought $20,000 of the notes. I said if Chase Manhattan recommends them they must be good."

"They were good at the time I sold them to you," Chauncey said. "They just got bad as time went by."

"But why was Chase Manhattan getting rid of its notes when it was pushing them on its friends?"

"We felt we owed it to our customers to let them buy them. When the demand was greater than the supply we had no choice but to sell the ones we were holding for our own investment. It wasn't easy. We loved New York City securities, and it broke our hearts every time we sold one."

"Then you didn't know the city was going broke?"

"That's the most insulting question I've ever heard. I'm glad David Rockefeller didn't take this call. You would have broken his heart. I thought we were friends."

"I did too until I read the SEC report. If I had a friend I wouldn't sell him securities that I knew were going down the drain."

"Well, if you feel that way about it," said Chauncey, "maybe we shouldn't be friends any more."

"I don't know why you're getting mad at me. I'm the one stuck with the

THE INSIDE REPORT

Impression Of 'Con Game'

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The campaign to reassure the American right that there is no need to worry about Communists taking over the Panama Canal went awry Aug. 19 when the president of Panama tried to ingratiate himself with visiting conservative Republican Senators by using offensive racist and archaic American jingoistic language.

Demetrio B. Lakas, who holds the largely ceremonial role of president in Gen. Omar Torrijos's dictatorial government, referred to "niggers" and "Coontown," praised the 1965 U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic and proclaimed Uncle Sam can do no wrong. The racism left the visiting Senators appalled, and the American jingoism convinced them the Panamanians were playing a con game.

Reassuring conservatives that strongman Torrijos will not join arms with Moscow and Havana is central in President Carter's campaign for ratification of the treaty transferring the canal to Panama. But the beautifully orchestrated campaign in Washington could be undercut by repetitions of President Lakas's grotesque performance in Panama.

While short on authority,

Lakas is viewed by U.S. diplomats as an important adviser to his old friend Torrijos. More obviously, he is a Panamanian good ole boy useful to reassure Americans worried about Torrijos's dalliance with the Soviets. A businessman-engineer educated at Texas Wesleyan and Texas Tech, Lakas speaks English in a salty Texas accent.

So, on Aug. 19, the three conservative Senators—Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Jesse Helms of North Carolina and Orrin Hatch of Utah—were invited for coffee with the president. Lakas immediately assured them there are no Communists in Panama and "as long as we don't have them, I think we're on the right track."

He then demonstrated ignorance of how the politics of the South have changed between 1948 when Thurmond was Dixiecrat candidate for President and 1977 when Thurmond's six-year-old daughter enrolls in a racially integrated school. No

American politician even privately uses the language that tape recordings show Lakas uses. "I was born on the other side (of the canal) in Colon, about like Coontown," he said. "That's where all the niggers come from."

On a 1971 visit to the United States, Lakas told the stunned Senators, "I saw a colored boy" with a white girl.

"I'm from down here where we live with them, and walked with them, and played with them. And that (racially mixed couples) just doesn't look good. It's just the way you're brought up, that's all." Those sentiments coincide with private warnings by the State Department that Thurmond might well be accused of racism if he takes a "colonialist" position in Panama.

Lakas next addressed the point that may determine the treaty's fate: defense of the canal after Panama fully takes over in the year 2000. It "makes me very, very happy

GROWING UP

A child believes that he will be made happy by doing what he wants to do; an adult knows that happiness comes from doing what one ought to do.

Sometimes we see children who are seventy years old, and often we see adults seven years old. People grow up not when they attain a certain height and weight or when they get old enough to vote, but when they attain maturity as persons.

In the area of personality and emotion, the difficulties attending growth are prodigious. Physically and mentally, everyone wants to grow up, but emotionally many people never have the least desire to do so. They want always to be children, and this means that they are dominated by the belief that the way to be happy is always to do what they want to do.

Maturity comes first and foremost with the establishment of goals in life associated with the welfare of ourselves and others, and then working quietly and calmly to achieve those goals.

Other Editors Say: Bilingual Goal Lost

(Jacksonville Daily News)

For almost a decade, American schools have been involved in a program designed to teach non-English speaking children in essential study areas at the same time they are gaining fluency in the English language.

And Congress has authorized the expenditure of nearly a half-billion dollars to implement the Bilingual Education Act of 1968, an estimated $115 million of it spent this year.

The Supreme Court, too, has taken cognizance of the special needs of language-minority children, ruling in 1974 that public schools are required by law to take "positive action" to help children who do not speak English.

Effectiveness of the bilingual effort, however, has not yet been evaluated. A study commissioned by the U.S. Office of Education found that Spanish-speaking youngsters in 38 bilingual programs were not learning to speak and read English as quickly as students who were picking it up on their own. In defense of the programs, it must be noted that neither teachers nor educational materials have been developed as yet to fully implement the intent of Congress.

There also is some question as to approach, which has contributed to the controversy over the bilingual project as certain effectiveness.

They envision bilingual instruction to have a much broader purpose — to equalize the importance of both language and culture and to promote pride. There is growing public resentment over the expenditure to tax monies to foster classroom divisiveness that often is bitter.

Many instructors have lost sight of the goal of the program which is to bring involved children into the mainstream of society as quickly as possible.

There must be better methods of expanding bilingual programs. There must be better tools to measure their impact.

Above all, the focus must remain on the objectives stressed by Congress and the court — equal educational opportunities for youngsters of different backgrounds so that they may compete and contribute equally upon leaving the school system.

Solar Power If Govm't Buys In

By STAN BENJAMIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Electricity generated from sunlight can be made cheap enough for widespread use within five years if the government begins buying solar plants in large numbers, says a federal agency.

The Federal Energy Administration says the cost of solar power for many everyday uses could be brought down if the United States converts conventional power plants to solar units at many federal installations.

Such a move would mean mass production of solar power cells in place of today's handwork industry, a consulting firm says in a report to the FEA.

A preliminary version of the report went largely unnoticed when it was released July 20.

An FEA expert who declined to be identified said Thursday the agency will issue its final report within several weeks. He said the draft version is being reviewed and its basic conclusions are expected to stand.

The report, by a suburban Washington company, is raising the hopes of solar enthusiasts, such as ecologist Barry Commoner, that the world may be on the verge of a clean, safe and virtually everlasting new source of energy.

The report estimates that government spending of $440 million on solar plants over five years could cut the cost of the power cells from the present $15.50 per watt of peak generating capacity to 75 cents or less.

The report suggests that the solar cells could provide enough electricity to power street lights, light parking lots and airport runways and run irrigation pumps.

The solar cells could even begin to meet some household electricity needs, the report predicts, besides becoming a major energy source in developing countries where conventional power is very expensive.

Solar energy could power warning lights on buildings, power lines and bridges, besides providing corrosion protection to metal pipelines.

"The potential market is very large," it said.

The report says solar power could be generated where it is needed, without the need for massive generating facilities and long-distance transmission lines feeding electricity to large areas.

That prospect differs from the efforts of another federal agency, the Energy Research and Development Administration.

ERDA has concentrated its research on generating large volumes of electricity competitive with conventional power plants by using the sun's heat to generate steam and drive huge turbines.

The report says electricity generated during the day could be stored for use at night or in cloudy weather.

The report says the government could save $1.5 billion by using the solar cells instead of small conventionally powered generators for a variety of military and other government uses.

Evans-Novak...

(Continued from page 4) to feel that way, that Uncle Sam will be there and be strong to be able to defend it. This is good news coming from you."

Lakas could scarcely contain his enthusiasm: "By gosh, I have never seen Uncle Sam do nothing wrong." He then "off the record" talked about the U.S. 1965 intervention in the Dominican Republic "to put the God-damned place in order" because of "Communists" there.

What right was there to intervene? he asked rhetorically. "Your right is that you are right." Lakas pounded the table. "And there's nothing wrong by doing right." Lakas pounded the table again. "That's your right. You're going there to help some people, you're not going there to hurt somebody."

When Thurmond interjected that the Soviet Union is the world's greatest threat to freedom, Lakas shot back: "Sure!"

The Senators left unconvinced. The table-thumping president could not blot out Panama's tightening ties with Moscow. On July 20, a broad Soviet-Panamanian commercial treaty was signed in Panama. The principal Panamanian signer, Marcelino Jaen (Torrijos's brother-in-law) issued a statement aligning Panama with the Soviet Union against unnamed "strong forces that represent a philosophy that is contrary to the destiny of Latin America." The Soviet link fits Torrijos's regional relationship with the Caribbean leftist trio of Cuba's Fidel Castro, Jamaica's Michael Manley and Guiana's Forbes Burnham.

This orientation is reason enough for closely studying the indefensible Swiss-cheese pattern of scattered U.S. military installations remaining in the Canal Zone once the treaty is ratified. The attempt by President Lakas to obscure this with good ole boy talk he learned from college days in Fort Worth and Lubbock only made the treaty's foes more wary about what lies ahead.

Buchwald...

(Continued from page 4) "Friendship is based on trust," Chauncey told me. "You stick by a friend not only during the good times but the bad ones as well. This call has hurt me very much. I never thought you would stoop so low as to bring up something like this. I don't think we should see each other any more."

"I'm sorry, Chauncey. I didn't mean to get you angry."

"It's too late to apologize. You've ruined a beautiful relationship. If you're so petty as to let a lousy $20,000 investment in New York City securities stand between us, then we don't have anything more to say to each other. And you can send back the toaster we gave you when you opened your account."

Quarterly Meet This Weekend

Quarterly meeting services will be held at Little Creek FWB Church this weekend.

Tonight at 8 o'clock a membership conference will be held. Saturday at 8 p.m., Holy Communion will be observed. Sunday at 11 a.m., worship will be conducted by the pastor, Elder Jesse L. Wilson. At 3 p.m. Bishop J. N. Gilbert and the Arthur's Chapel FWB Church of Bell Arthur will be in charge. The public is invited.

Unitarians Will Meet Sunday

Dr. Jack Gross will talk on Far Eastern religion at the Unitarian meeting Sunday at the First Federal Building.

The program will follow a pot luck dinner at 12:15 p.m. The public is invited.

MUSICAL SERVICE
Gospel Choir and the Spiritual Aires of Greenville will render a service at Antioch Holy Church Saturday at 8 p.m. The program is being sponsored by Mary Duncan.

The Problem of Getting Started

Ours was one of those families. They all went to church but me, the breadwinner! Sure, the others invited me. They coaxed me. Sometimes they almost pushed me. But, let's face it: I figured I wasn't the church-going type. And I resented being urged. After all, it's a free country!

It is a free country. THAT is what got me started. We live in a land where men can believe in God and worship Him according to their conscience. People who believed and worshipped made this country what it is. And millions are still trying to keep it that way.

So one Sunday morning I asked myself: just which side are you on?

From that practical beginning I have gone on to find strength and happiness with my family in the church we attend every Sunday.

My problem was getting started. Maybe it's yours!

City Council...

In a related matter, the Council voted to table a request by Westhaven Properties Inc. and Tommie L. Little and Associates for annexation of the 25 acres until questions are resolved concerning the execution of an option on recreational land. A public hearing was also held on the annexation request.

The Council followed a recommendation by the Joint City-County Planning and Zoning Commission to amend the Zoning Ordinance by deleting "multi-family" as a special use in the RA-20 district.

Caldwell explained that the Greenville Board of Adjustments felt that it should not be granting special use permits for apartments in RA-20 and R-20 zones and requested that the Planning and Zoning Commission recommend the matter to the Council. The amendment was advertised as involving only RA-20, he said, but R-20 zones were also included in the Board of Adjustments request.

Approval was given by Council members to amendments to the 1975-76, 1976-77, and 1977-78 Community Development programs and budget ordinances. Public hearings were conducted at two previous meetings on the amendments.

In other business, the bid of Myrtle Desk Co. of High Point for furniture and equipment at the new East Branch Library was accepted in the amount of $22,340. Granline Corp. of Hickory offered a bid of $22,150 but proposed a 135-day delivery date as opposed to 90 days by Myrtle Desk Co.

A bid offered by Barrus Construction Co. of $2.35 per square yard for paving approximately 33,144.21 square yards of city streets in the Community Development area was approved. Completion date was set at Dec. 31 of this year.

Barnhill Contracting Co. submitted a bid of $2.65 on the paving work while L. A. Reynolds Construction Co. sent a $3.12 bid.

The Council accepted the bid of Mervis Uniforms of Virginia Beach, Va. in the amount of $10,811.58 for fall/winter uniforms for the Police Department. Mervis, it was pointed out, was the low bidder meeting the uniform specifications.

The bid of Stollting Co. of Chicago, Ill. for a Multiple Image Maker and Identification Compositor ("MIMIC") for the Police Department's Detective and Narcotics Division was accepted in the amount of $3,200. Delivery date of the equipment will be within 120 days from the date of the award.

Truxmore Industries was approved as the successful bidder on a 23 cubic yard container loader (refuse truck) and a 23 cubic yard sideloader refuse truck with walk-through type cab for the Public Works Department. Truxmore submitted a bid of $30,300 on container loader and $20,450 on the sideloader.

The Council adopted a resolution finding facts that the unpaved sections of streets in Stratford Subdivision should be improved with curb, gutter, and paving. In addition, a resolution concerning a proposed project for special assessment on the unpaved sections was adopted and a public hearing on the assessment scheduled for Oct. 6.

Steve Horne, local attorney, was appointed to the Environmental Advisory Commission replacing Thomas F. Taft who has resigned. Horne will serve Taft's unexpired term ending April 1, 1978.

Lemuel Clemons was appointed to a second term on the Human Relations Council and action on a replacement for Roderick M. Phillips, who has served the maximum of two terms on the HRC, was tabled.

Other business handled by the governing board included:

— Approval of one-year renewal permits for Eastern Area Health Education Center's mobile home located adjacent to the old hospital, East, Carolina University School of Allied Health and Social Professions' mobile structure located at the Health Department, and for Pitt Memorial Hospital's mobile structure located behind the old hospital;

— Repurchase of a cemetery lot from Mrs. Maggie Lee Roebuck of 2815 Jefferson Drive;

— Adoption of a resolution petitioning the governor to designate Region Q as a solid waste management planning region and confirming the Mid-East Commission as the planning agency for the program;

— Adoption of a resolution authorizing the execution of an agreement with the North Carolina Department of Transportation for a public transportation planning grant (DOT provides 90 per cent);

— Approval of applications by Angelo's Seafood Restaurant, 710 N. Green Street, for an on and off premise beer privilege license, by Langley's Convenient Mart, 514 Watauga Avenue for an off-premise wine privilege license, by The Cheese House Inc., Greenville Square Shopping Center, for an off-premise beer and wine privilege license, and by the Golden Dragon Restaurant, 2217 Memorial Drive for an on-premise beer and wine privilege license;

— Denial of an application by East-West Productions for an on-premise beer privilege license for the second annual Halloween Music Festival;

— Scheduling of a public hearing on Oct. 6 on a request by the Pitt County Fairgrounds for rezoning from Unoffensive Industry and R6-MH to Highway Commercial of approximately 14 acres located at the intersection of US 13-NC 11 and Airport Road;

— Scheduling of a public hearing on a request by Greenville First Pentecostal Holiness Church for rezoning from Shopping Center to R-9 of 4.2 acres located to the north of Plaza Drive, east of Evans Street and west of Brinkley Road but deleting from the rezoning 160 feet along S. Evans Street Extension and 200 feet along the northern right-of-way line of Plaza Drive;

— Scheduling of a public hearing on a request by Thomas F. Taft and others for rezoning, from R-6 to Office and Institutional, Medical Arts, Highway Commercial and R-6, of approximately 85 acres located at the southeast corner of Stanstonsburg Road and Allen Road; and — Approval of a request by the Greenville Jaycees for waiver of the privilege license requirements for a wrestling match on Sept. 22, a pumpkin sale in October, the first annual Pumpkin and Bluegrass Festival on Oct. 16, and the second annual Haunted House Oct. 19-31.

In his report to the Council, Caldwell said that the Greenville Area Transit (GREAT) system transported a total of 16,269 passengers during August and averaged 603 per day for the month.

Caldwell introduced Rose High School senior Gwen Harris who is working in the city manager's office under the high school's student executive internship program. Several local firms are participating in the school program, he said.

The city manager reported that work is progressing on the joint recreation-library complex with completion scheduled for January. The contractor is running ahead of schedule, Caldwell added.

Program For Students

Seventh to 12th grade students are invited to a twenty-five cent dinner and Fall program of the United Methodist Youth Fellowship Sunday at 6 p.m. at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church.

"Newness—begins Now!", a one-hour study, discussion, recreation and worship program, will follow the dinner in the Fellowship Hall of Jarvis Church. The Rev. Robert Redmond, associate minister of Jarvis, will give the devotion.

The program is open to all students from 13 years old to 16 years of age. Preparing and serving the dinner will be Mrs. Richard L. Capwell and Mrs. Alice Foley Singletary.

Four new counselors have joined Jarvis Church this fall and will be on hand Sunday night. They are Mr. and Mrs. Dorson White and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Eisenhauer. They also will be joined by Chris Hargett, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Harris and Rev. and Mrs. Redmond.

Prior to the dinner-program, the students will participate in the Youth Choir at 5 p.m. under the direction of Dan Holland, new music director of Jarvis Church.

The program will continue each consecutive Sunday night during the 1977-78 school year. Dinner also will be served.

Service Station Operator Gets Prison On Manslaughter Count

LILLINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Service-station owner Robert L. Bass has been sentenced to six to eight years in prison for involuntary manslaughter in the shooting death of a Delaware college student after the theft of $4 worth of gasoline.

Jurors deliberated for nearly three hours Thursday before telling Superior Court Judge Robert D. Rouse Jr. they were split 9-to-3 on the charge of involuntary manslaughter on which Bass was indicted.

After receiving further instructions from Rouse, the jury resumed deliberations before returning seven minutes later with the verdict of guilty on the lesser charge of involuntary manslaughter.

Bass, 55, was accused of firing the shot that killed Hugh C.

Sanders, a 19-year-old University of Delaware freshman, and the youth and two friends sped away from Bass' service station in Dunn without paying for $4 worth of gasoline.

Bass was released on $7,500 bond pending an appeal.

Rouse recommended that Bass be put on work release and serve his term in the Harnett County Jail. Atty. Gen. Rufus Edmisten said it would be up to the state Department of Corrections to approve the recommendation.

A spokesman for the department said state corrections policy would require Bass to serve at least 10 per cent of his sentence before being eligible for work release.

Rouse told the jurors that to convict Bass of voluntary manslaughter, they would have to find that Bass had intentionally and unlawfully killed Sanders.

A verdict of involuntary manslaughter, defined as an unintentional killing through criminal negligence, required a finding that Bass killed Sanders by an act of "heedless indifference to (Sanders') safety and rights," the judge said.

Sanders and his friends, Arthur Copson and Joseph Procono, were returning from an Easter vacation trip to Florida when the shooting occurred April 9.

In final arguments Thursday, a defense attorney told the jury there was no proof Bass intentionally shot, or shot at, anybody.

"Everyone has given conflicting testimony," said attorney D.K. Stewart. "Take the two boys (Copson and Procono). They've told three different versions. I don't know the truth."

Procono and Copson admitted they initially told officers they had been shot at from a wooded area on Interstate 95 and didn't admit stealing the gas until several hours afterward.

Bass, dressed in a blue suit, white shirt and no tie, sat quietly while his lawyer finished the summation, then played nervously with his glasses while assistant district attorney William A. Christian made his final statements to the jury.

Christian said the defense arguments were "just matters to fuzz up your mind and blow a lot of smoke and confuse the issue." He asked the jury, "Are you going to condone the killing of a human being for $4 worth of gas?"

Christian said there were "good eyewitness accounts" to the shooting — those of Thomas Sessoms, a salesman who was in a store next to the service station when he heard a shot, and Odell Robinson, who does part-time work for Bass.

Fill Vacancy On UNC Bd.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Kathleen Ross Crosby, an area assistant superintendent in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg schools, was appointed Friday to fill a vacancy on the University of North Carolina Board of Governors.

Mrs. Ross, who is black, was appointed to the seat vacated by the resignation Aug. 22 of Julius Chambers, a black civil rights attorney from Charlotte.

Mrs. Ross was appointed by board chairman William A. Johnson, and will serve until the 1979 General Assembly elects Chambers' successor.

Mrs. Crosby was a member of the board of trustees of the School of the Arts in Winston-Salem and served for seven years on the board of trustees at Johnson C. Smith University at Charlotte, her alma mater.

In other action, UNC President William C. Friday announced plans to meet next Wednesday with members of North Carolina's congressional delegation in Washington. They will discuss the university's response to latest federal desegregation guidelines.

Innocent Due To Insanity

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A Wilmington man who told a psychiatrist he ordered a 7-year-old boy on orders from a mysterious voice called "Richard" has been found not guilty by reason of insanity on felony assault charges.

A jury deliberated only 10 minutes Thursday before returning the verdict in the case of Thomas G. Carter. New Hanover County Superior Court Judge John Webb ordered Carter, 27, committed to a state mental institution for observation.

Psychiatrists testified during the two-day trial that Carter did not know right from wrong when he stabbed Todd E. Lockhart with a six-inch butcher knife as the child was skateboarding outside Carter's home.

Dr. Rolf Fisscher of Wilmington told the jury Carter has a "relationship" with a voice he calls "Richard." Fisscher said Carter, who has been committed to mental institutions several times, "responds a lot to that voice."

Fisscher said Carter told him he stabbed the child on orders from the voice. "He said he didn't want to do it, but was told to do it," the psychiatrist said.

Bloom Asks SBI Probe Slayings

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) — At the request of Dist. Atty. Eli Bloom, the State Bureau of Investigation is investigating the Craven County Sheriff's Department's handling of two slayings committed here in April.

Dave Marshall, supervisor of the SBI district office in Jacksonville, said he had assigned an agent "to follow up on information about an investigation of the sheriff's department conducted" into the April 11 shooting deaths of Wade William White, 21, and Joseph Michael Taylor, 23, both of New Bern.

Marshall said the investigation was limited to the department's handling of the two slayings, in which William Michael Barber, 22, of New Bern, faces trial on murder charges.

POSES NO THREAT

MIAMI (AP) — Barely maintaining hurricane status, Clara is drifting slowly in the Atlantic about 600 miles east of the North Carolina coast, and poses no threat to land, say forecasters.

Seniors Plan Trip To Busch Gardens

Elm Street Senior Citizens Club held its September meeting at the Recreation Department. Mrs. Sarah Ashton, president, welcomed the members back from the summer vacation.

Plans were made to take a bus trip to Busch Gardens the last week in September. Members planning to go are requested to call Mrs. Ashton by September 12.

Miss Alice Keene, club advisor, informed all members living in the county they are required to pay a $25 fee in order to attend the club meetings.

Two alternatives were suggested to keep these members from having to pay the fee.

One, the club could look for another place to meet so the county members could attend.

HOT DOUGHNUTS & COFFEE
JERRY'S SWEET SHOP
Pitt Plaza 756-2343

Two, assess each member $5.00 to cover the fee for the county members for the first six months. This would be about $500.

Lee Williams replaced Mrs. Sam Whitehead as Pro Tem. Recently Mrs. Whitehead moved to South Carolina.

September birthdays are Rena Horne, Joe Cutchen, Grace Hill, Elmer Jones, Louis Ward, Katherine Lofquist, and Louise Tucker.

Mrs. Ann Swartz was introduced by Mrs. Edith Holmes. Mrs. Swartz gave a brief talk and showed the basic steps of yoga. She also informed the group she would be teaching yoga at the Senior Citizens Center starting September 14 at 10 a.m.

Rev. Adrian Brown closed the meeting with prayer. Refreshments were served by Rena Horne, Thelma Cutch, Joe Cutch, and Sarah Ashton.

Zero Mostel Dies At Age 62

NEW YORK (AP) — Zero Mostel once observed: "The theater is like a cathedral — I mean a shul (synagogue). At the end of it, there's a cup of tea."

ZERO MOSTEL, who entertained thousands on the stage and screen in his best-known performances of "Fiddler On The Roof" and "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum", died Thursday in Philadelphia. (AP Laserphoto)

Solemnity and mirth were never far apart for Mostel, who died of heart failure Thursday in Philadelphia at Thomas Jefferson University Hospital. He was 62. The mammoth actor always seemed to be exploiting his talent as if running a rummage sale at Tiffany's.

"I don't give a damn about images," he replied when asked how a man of formidable stage feats who also was a painter who could get $11,000 for a picture, could take time out to pose nude in a bathtub with an unclad nymph for Playboy magazine. "How can you be an artist if you worry about images?"

Mostel was more than a natural crowd-pleaser and jovian merrymaker. Behind the facade was a sentimental, deeply dedicated and canny savorer of life.

"I feel very sad about the whole thing because I was a very good friend. He was one of the big talents, he could make you laugh, he could make you cry," said comic Milton Berle who was reached in Los Angeles.

Mostel will be remembered for a galaxy of performances that transcended one critic's judgment that his art was "the poetry of coarseness."

Another said he was "a pantomime genius who can say more with a cocked eyebrow than many actors with four pages of script."

His gamut extended from James Joyce's Leopold Bloom in "Ulysses in Nighttown" to Pseudolus, the Roman zany of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," from the avant-garde of Ionesco's "Rhinoceros" to the sentimental tribulations of "Fiddler on the Roof."

The latter two portrayals won him Broadway Tony awards.

In what was to be his final triumph, Mostel returned in June 1976 in a production of "Fiddler" that grossed $5.2 million on a 10-city tour and wound up last May with 167 performances on Broadway.

When stricken, Mostel was about to start the tryout in Philadelphia of "The Merchant," a new play by Britisher Arnold Wesker based approximately on the subject matter of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice."

A bridge book that's not just for bridge players but for anyone interested in reading about the fascinating world of big-time bridge—that's the unusual accomplishment of Alan Sontag in The Bridge Bum (William Morrow and Co., hard cover, 240 pages, $8.95, available from Bridge World Magazine, 39 West 94th St., New York, N.Y. 10025). With only a few hands to illustrate his theme, Sontag (who, with his partner Peter Weichsel, ranks as one of the top pairs in the world) describes what it takes to become a professional bridge player.

He does not only show his successes. This hand, from the Cavendish Club Invitation Pairs Tournament, came close to costing Sontag-Weichsel first place. Despite the fact that neither he nor his partner did anything wrong in the auction, they suffered a major disaster.

East and West were Dave Berkowitz of New York and Ken Cohen of Philadelphia. Taking advantage of the vulnerability, Cohen made a well-judged penalty double of two hearts. He led the queen of spades, covered by the king and won by the ace. Berkowitz now shifted to the king of hearts and another, allowing the defenders to draw three rounds of trumps, exhausting dummy's trumps.

West cashed his two winning spades, then locked declarer in dummy with ace and another club. Though the diamond finesse would have succeeded, declarer had no entry to his hand to take it. And if he cashed the ace-king of diamonds and ruffed a diamond to drop the queen, he would have had no way to get back to dummy to discard a club on the jack of diamonds. So declarer was forced to concede another trick for down three—800 points. In the method of scoring in use, that meant that Sontag-Weichsel lost 200 International Match Points on the deal.

It says much for their staying qualities that they could recover from this calamity and still go on to win this prestigious event.

NEW YORK (AP) — Renewed concern over the interest-rate outlook pushed stock prices into a broad decline today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, down 8.23 on Thursday, fell another 6.41 to 861.75 by 11:30 a.m. today.

Losers outpaced gainers by more than a 3-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading picked up a bit from Thursday's sluggish pace. First-hour volume on the Big Board came to 5.14 million shares.

At the NYSE close on Thursday the Federal Reserve issued weekly figures showing a $3 billion jump in the basic measure of the money supply.

The Fed tightened credit this summer in an effort to restrain the growth of the money supply.

Project PROMISE Is Middle School Effort

The Pitt County school system recently implemented Project PROMISE, a three-year federal project involving production in the school library media center, at Farmville Middle School.

Project PROMISE involves middle school-age children in the production of instructional materials as a means to build or reinforce learning skills in reading and language. Such direct participation in creative production activities is felt to be highly motivational for the middle school student. Graphics, photography, super 8mm film and videotape recording are the principal areas of production that will be developed during the course of the project.

The project began operation in July, 1977 and is designed to continue through July, 1980.

Some students taking part in the project will be tested at the beginning and at the end of the project to determine if an increase in reading and language skills has been achieved. Attitudes and media production skills will also be evaluated.

Firm Will Make Elvis Ornaments

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — A Gastonia firm that makes Christmas ornaments has disclosed plans to manufacture Elvis Presley Christmas decorations.

A spokesman for Rauch Industries Inc. says the firm has negotiated an exclusive license to make and sell Presley ornaments in the United States and Canada during 1977-78.

The firm has geared up to start making satin balls which will carry printed pictures of Presley.

CHURCH SPEAKER
Elder Thomas Dixon of Snow Hill will speak at Joy Temple Church on Howell Street at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday. The public is invited to attend.

Three-Inch Rain Here

Approximately three inches of rain fell on the Greenville area yesterday, and according to agent Leroy James of the Pitt County Agricultural Extension Agency, it was a blessing to local farmers.

"We think that it's going to be a big help as far as the soybean crop is concerned."

"From a corn standpoint, some of the stalks were weak and this could cause some damage."

James said that the peanut farmers should also benefit from the rain even though digging will not begin for several weeks.

"We're real happy to see it," he added.

A total of 3.10 inches of rain had fallen by midnight last night and the Tar River stood at 5.0 feet on the National Service Gauge at 8 a.m. this morning.

Yesterday's high temperature was 93 degrees and the low was 70 degrees.

Pharmacologists Present Papers

ECU News Bureau
Three East Carolina University School of Medicine pharmacologists presented research papers at the 1977 fall meeting of the American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics at Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 21-25.

The professors were Dr. Wallace R. Woolee, chairman of the Department of Pharmacology, Dr. John P. Davanzo professor of pharmacology and Dr. Donald W. Barnes, assistant professor of pharmacology.

The three pharmacologists based their papers on research they have done at the ECU School of Medicine. Dr. Barnes presented his paper in collaboration with toxicologists at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond.

Woody Peeler

This is the first "full" week of college football, and we've got a bunch of games to try and figure out this time.

Things got off to a good start last week, with Jim Kyle of the sports department taking the initial lead with a perfect 6-0 slate. Tom Baines insisted that it was "beginner's luck," and that time would tell for sure.

Baines, meanwhile, along with last year's champ, Joe Jenkins, have to be content to drag up the rear for the first week, as both recorded 4-2.

The rest of us, this writer, Steve Hemric and Vickie Spivey all recorded 5-1 openers.

On our high school picks, we suffered only a 4-2 record. Not too good, but not too bad either.

In this week's games, we find eight games to choose from. Roanoke travels to Belhaven, while Ayden-Grifton is at Tarboro, Williamston at Bertie, Chocowinity at Jamesville, South Edgecombe at North Pitt, Conley at Washington, Farmville Central at Eastern Wayne and Greene Central at Saratoga.

Roanoke lost its first two games, while Belhaven was splitting. Perhaps Roanoke played the rougher schedule, however, and they should pull out a win this week.

Ayden-Grifton's match with Tarboro will tell a lot more about the strength of the Chargers. Tarboro came Rocky Mount a good game last week, but we'll stick with the Chargers until proven wrong there.

Williamston lost a close one to Farmville Central last week, and goes against 4-A Bertie this week. This one should also be close, but we like Bertie.

Chocowinity is at Jamesville. The Bullets nearly tied Columbia last week, and may have it all together. But we've got to be shown first, and we'll pick Chocowinity.

South Edgecombe is at North Pitt. The Panthers were overpowered by Enfield last week, and this may be a better chance for them. We'll go with the Panthers one more time.

Conley goes to Washington. The Vikings were unable to get the ball into the end zone last week. This week, they should and it should be enough for them to win.

Farmville travels to Eastern Wayne to meet a 4-A opponent. The Jaguars pulled one out at the last minute last week. Eastern is a tougher opponent, however, and we'll go with the Warriors.

Finally, Greene Central is at Saratoga. Both teams are unbeaten so far, but the Rams may have more than enough in James Best to pull off the victory.

As we turn to the panel, we find that Rose High is at New Bern as both fight to snap losing streaks that go back to last year. And our panel is just as confused as everyone else on this one. We've split right down the middle, so I guess it's a toss-up, with a 3-3 vote.

East Carolina plays what Pat Dye has called the most important game in its football history Saturday when it goes to Duke. And if the Pirates play like they did last week, there could be problems.

Our panel is again unsure what to do. Again, we've divided right down the middle, and the consensus is a toss-up, 3-3.

Our other consensus picks see Maryland over Clemson, South Carolina over Georgia Tech, Wake Forest over Furman, West Virginia over Richmond, N.C. State over Virginia, Kentucky over North Carolina, William & Mary over VMI, Notre Dame over Pittsburgh, Alabama over Mississippi, and a toss-up in the Purdue-Michigan State game.

Pittsburgh Is Still Thinking Positive As It Wins And Waits

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer
All the Pittsburgh Pirates can do now is win and wait. But trailing six games behind Philadelphia in the National League East with 22 games left in their season, the Pirates have not lost their sense of humor.

Before Thursday night's game against the St. Louis Cardinals, Pirates trainer Tony Bartirome announced in the locker room that the New York Mets had beaten Philadelphia, 3-1.

"The guy said, 'All right, we gotta go,'" said Pirates outfielder Dave Parker. The Pirates went, all right, beating St. Louis 9-5 with the help of Parker's two-run homer in the seventh.

But, as it turned out, Bartirome was just having a little joke. Philadelphia actually beat the Mets, 8-2.

"The guys all laughed at Tony's joke, and I think that's good because we can't crawl into a hole just because the Phillies win," said Parker. "You've got some competitors here, and if the Phillies beat us, they'll know they've earned it."

"But I'm still thinking positive. They could go into a slump."

Pittsburgh has won four of its last five games, including two over Philadelphia in a three-game set last Monday and Tuesday. But in that time, the Pirates have managed to shave only a single game off the Phils' lead.

"If we win eight straight games," said Pirates Manager Chuck Tanner, "something is going to happen. I can feel it."

In the rest of the NL, Thursday night, Chicago edged Montreal 3-2 in 10 innings, Los Angeles nipped Atlanta, 5-4 in 11 innings, Cincinnati beat San Francisco, 6-5 and Houston downed San Diego 7-1.

Parker's homer was his 19th of the season and put the Pirates in front of St. Louis to stay. With one out in the seventh, Miguel Dilone walked and stole second. He scored one out later when Phil Garner doubled off St. Louis reliever Rawley Eastwick. Al Hrabosky relieved Eastwick, and Parker smacked his two-run homer.

Phils 8, Mets 2
Philadelphia let New York get a 2-0 lead, then shelled Mets reliever Bob Apodaca for three homers in the seventh.

Bake McBride led off the seventh with his 15th homer of the season. Mike Schmidt smacked his 34th, and Jay Johnstone hit his 13th.

Cubs 3, Expos 2
Dave Rosello scored on Bill Buckner's sacrifice fly in the 10th as give the Cubs their victory. Cubs reliever Bruce Sutler, 6-1, struck out the first batter he faced to tie an NL record for consecutive strike outs.

Dodgers 5, Braves 4
Dusty Baker homered and scored the winning run in the 11th on Dave Lopes' sacrifice fly to give Los Angeles its victory over the Braves. Ron Cey also homered for the Dodgers in the second inning, his 28th of the season, and scored on a passed ball in the eighth when Los Angeles took a 4-3 lead.

Reds 6, Giants 5
George Foster's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the ninth inning drove in the winning run and allowed Cincinnati to snap a three-game losing streak.

Astros 7, Padres 1
Roger Metzger tripled with the bases loaded in Houston's five-run sixth inning, and Floyd Bannister, 6-8, scattered seven hits as the Astros handed San Diego only its third loss in the last 10.

Fisk Swats Pair In Boston's 7-2 Victory

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Don Zimmer is giving his Boston Red Sox the green light on 3-0 pitches this year — and they're all having a blast.

Carlton Fisk is among the latest to enjoy the free-swinging luxury.

"Zimmer has given us pretty free rein with the 3-0 pitch this year," said Fisk after driving in five runs with two homers Thursday night to lead the Red Sox to a 7-2 rout of the Toronto Blue Jays.

One of Carlton's home runs, a three-run shot in the second inning, came on a three-ball, no-strike pitch from Toronto's Jesse Jefferson.

"About 97 per cent of the time, a 3-0 pitch is going to be down the middle," said Zimmer, expounding on his theory. "And from 78 to 80 per cent of the time, the 3-1 pitch is going to be a slider. So why not give the batter a better pitch to hit?"

Of course, Zimmer's revolutionary idea is in direct opposition to the general baseball strategy to take the 3-0 pitch on the theory that it might result in a walk.

But the Red Sox manager would prefer to see the long ball from his slugging team.

AL Roundup

"I don't think there's one player on this team that hasn't hit a 3-0 pitch this year," he notes. "It has won at least one other ballgame for us — when our shortstop (Rick Burleson) hit a game-winning double earlier this season."

"Of course, I've also been criticized when the player swinging away hits into a double play or something."

In other American League games, the Baltimore Orioles blanked the Detroit Tigers 4-0; the New York Yankees clipped the Cleveland Indians 4-3; the California Angels beat the Chicago White Sox twice, 2-0 and 3-2, and the Kansas City Royals stopped the Seattle Mariners 7-2.

Orioles 4, Tigers 0
Jim Palmer fired a four-hitter to lead Baltimore over Detroit. Palmer, 15-11, struck out three and walked one as he notched his third shutout of the season and 45th of his career.

The Orioles broke a scoreless tie in the seventh off Bob Sykes, 4-5, when DeCinces walked with two out, stole second and scored on Mark Belanger's single.

Yankees 4, Indians 3
A sacrifice fly by Chris Chambliss capped a three-run fifth inning that carried New York over Cleveland. Ed Figueroa, 14-9, went all the way for the 11th time this season, limiting the Indians to eight hits as the Yankees gained their third straight victory and 10th in the last 12 starts.

Angels 2, White Sox 0-2
Nolan Ryan notched his 19th victory with relief help from Dave LaRoche and Don Baylor

Steelers Blush As Cowboys Roll To 30-0 Humiliation Of Champs

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers were blushing a bright red in their dressing room following Thursday night's 30-0 humiliating loss to the Dallas Cowboys in a National Football League preseason game.

Some were already — and ominously — thinking ahead to Nov. 20.

"That loss concerns me, but we lost a battle not a war," said Steeler defensive lineman Dwight White. "They got to come to Pittsburgh. They got their vengeance for the Super Bowl, I guess. But we won't forget this one either."

It was the first meeting between the two teams since Pittsburgh downed Dallas 21-17 in the Super Bowl two years ago.

"You don't want to get zapped like this anytime," said Joe Greene, the Steelers' star defensive tackle. "But the next game is the one that counts."

Cowboy running back Preston Pearson also sounded a note of caution, saying "We shouldn't rejoice too much. They are better than that. We still have to play them two more times ... once in the regular season, and once in the Super Bowl."

Dallas bounced back from a 23-14 loss to Houston last week to maul the Steelers, earning the Cowboys' first preseason shutout in their 18 years in the NFL.

Roger Staubach threw a touchdown pass, Efren Herrera kicked three field goals, and the Dallas defense sacked Steeler quarterbacks eight times.

Each team ended the preseason with identical 3-3 records.

The Cowboys meet Minnesota on the road a week from Sunday while Pittsburgh hosts San Francisco in a Monday night game in regular season openers.

Both have injured starting quarterbacks. Staubach suffered leg cramps in the same leg where he had a pulled hamstring.

Terry Bradshaw suffered a bruised knee but said he would be ready for the season opener. The Steeler quarterback hurt the knee while punting.

Bradshaw and placekicker Roy Gerela had to punt because 14-year veteran Bobby Walden was placed on waivers. The Steelers intend to re-sign him because he was not claimed.

Staubach ficked a three-yard touchdown pass to Jay Saldi. Herrera kicked a 44-yard field goal and Robert Newhouse plunged a yard to give Dallas a 17-0 halftime lead. Then things got worse for the Steelers.

Herrera booted field goals of 47 and 35 yards in the third period and Danny White nailed Butch Johnson with a 21-yard scoring pass in the fourth period.

The closest Pittsburgh got to the Dallas goal was the 16-yard line.

The Steelers' kicking game killed them. Bradshaw had a punt blocked and Gerela authored efforts of 10 and 5 yards. The three poor punt attempts cost Pittsburgh 17 points.

Gaillard Will Quit

By BILL MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After listening to advice from John Wooden, Bob Gaillard has announced plans to quit as basketball coach at the powerful University of San Francisco.

At the same time, Gaillard said Thursday he hopes to duplicate a precedent set by Wooden and Al McGuire, who won NCAA titles after announcing resignation plans.

Gaillard, 37, noting Wooden's decision to quit three years ago, said he sought out the former UCLA coach for advice when he was mulling over now-final plans to step down at the end of the 1977-78 season.

"I talked to John at some length and he took the time to express a lot of thoughts about what I wanted to do," Gaillard said. "He's a very good source and was very helpful."

Gaillard said the pressures inherent in building and maintaining a nationally-ranked team and the time he was forced to spend away from his family finally caught up with him.

Palmer, Elder Scores Tie For Lead

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — Arnold Palmer showed the style that made him a golfing legend, shooting a six-under-par 65 in the first round of the $200,000 B.C. Open, and was tied for lead with Lee Elder going into today's second round.

Palmer demonstrated little difficulty negotiating the narrow fairways on the 6,903-yard En Joie Golf Club course, and narrowly missed a hole-in-one on the 17th hole.

"I played a little better than I have been playing," Palmer said after his performance Thursday, which included five birdies and one eagle. He has not won a tournament on the Professional Golfers Association tour in four years and is 97th on this year's money winning list.

Palmer celebrates his 48th birthday Saturday and almost passed up the tournament to spend the time with his mother in Latrobe, Pa.

John Mahaffey played with Palmer and was in a group two strokes back of the leaders.

"It's a thrill for me just to play with the man, especially when he's playing as well as he did. It's tough keeping up with him," said Mahaffey.

Elder caught Palmer on the last hole with a 10-foot birdie. "The gods were with me today. Whenever I missed a green I had a pretty good lie. It was the type of round you enjoy playing," said Elder, who carded six birdies.

Lanny Wadkins, fresh from victories in the PGA championship and World Series of Golf, could do no better than a two-over-par 73 Thursday. He was eight shots behind the leaders.

Lee Trevino dropped out after playing nine holes, complaining of back and leg pains. Behind Elder and Palmer were Mac McLendon and Lou Graham, each with a 66.

Playing on the windless course, 43 golfers finished the first round with sub-par scores.

Moeller Speaks At Ass'n Meet

ECU News Bureau
Herman G. Moeller of the East Carolina University Department of Social Work and Correctional Services reported to the recent 107th Congress of Correction in Milwaukee, Wis. The meeting was sponsored by the American Correctional Association.

Moeller spoke on the achievements of the ACA's 20-member Commission on Accreditation for Corrections, which he chairs.

The Commission has within the past 12 months published three volumes of new standards for assessment of the performance of correctional institutions and agencies.

In presenting his report, Prof. Moeller termed the development of this body of standards "a significant milestone in the history of correctional services, in the United States," and stressed their importance in raising the level of correctional practice at federal, state and local levels.

The Commission's program for next year will involve preparation of four additional manuals related to correctional programs for juveniles and youths. Also scheduled for next year is initiation of procedures for the actual accreditation of correctional agencies.

Moeller is nationally recognized as a specialist in the development of effective educational programs for corrections personnel. He has represented the U.S. at international meetings on crime and corrections sponsored by the United Nations.

Woodrow Wilson was the first American president to earn a doctoral degree.

Before joining the faculty of the ECU School of Allied Health and Social Professions, Moeller was Deputy Director of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT ROBERT N. CRAMER, JR. Plaintiff

vs. GLORIA JEAN KOWAL CRAMER, (ALSO KNOWN AS GLORIA JEAN KOWAL)

TO: GLORIA JEAN KOWAL CRAMER, (ALSO KNOWN AS GLORIA JEAN KOWAL)

TAKE NOTICE, that a pleading seeking relief against you has been filed in the above entitled action. The nature of the relief being sought is as follows:

The plaintiff in this action seeks an annulment of the purported marriage of plaintiff and defendant on the grounds that plaintiff and defendant were suffering from a want of capacity at the time of such purported marriage.

You are required to make defense to such pleading not later than October 13, 1977, and upon your failure to do so, the party seeking service against you will apply to the Court for the relief sought.

COME GROW WITH US
 Your flair for dealing with people and your self-starter abilities can pave the way to management opportunities and a remarkable salary in one of America's largest and most dynamic growth industries.
 We need a person who relates well to all people, a college graduate or with a strong successful sales or business background. He must take pride in his professionalism, realize that better salaries are a direct result of better work.
 We have a total training program, so are more interested in work habits and character than in experience in our particular field. To the right person we can offer a salary of up to $600 per month while training. Last year our sales force averaged $15,125 per person.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are now able to make a real start towards expressing your special gifts and talents so that you can get the approval of those able to help you to make them a successful reality. Good also for enjoying the pleasures and the recreations that appeal to you and especially those of a romantic nature.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Out to recreations with congenials and relieve tensions you are under. Get some talent working that can bring you added benefits.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan just how to have more harmony at home and be happier there in the future. Take time for relaxation. Drive with utmost care.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Get together with charming persons you know and be affectionate with them, be happy. Don't neglect good relatives who can be helpful. A good talk with business expert is wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Study monetary affairs well so that you can add appreciably to holdings. Get advice from one who is most successful, too.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Change conditions around you so that you have more happiness in the future. Gain personal aims easily. Join with congenials for fun.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use some imagination to get boring chores done. Show more affection for mate, loved one and get good results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Join with as many friends as possible and plan to get together more often in the future. Know what it is you want in the future and then go after your aims in a positive way.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) See bigwigs who can assist you in your career early and gain their backing. Get into some public work also that can be helpful to you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get into new projects that give you a better chance at self-expression. Develop your creative ideas. Follow intuition.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan time for greater rapport with mate, loved one. Give compliments where deserved. Study how to become more affluent via right means and make life a happy adventure instead of a drag.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Contact associates and have a meeting so that you speed up mutual operations. Something happens later that will make your living easier and happier. Be optimistic.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Complete unfinished work and gain right benefits from it. Take time for health improvements.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be very popular with other children because your progeny is extraverted and has much magnetism. Praise for anything well done and you can have a most successful child.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

'Laparoscopy' Examination Effective

I have been told to have a special kind of examination. I think I'm spelling it correctly. It is "laparoscopy." I'm afraid to tell my doctor how frightened I am. — Mrs. T.L., Tex.

Dear Mrs. L.:

Laparoscopy is a very common gynecological operation. It is performed safely, and is a valuable method for uncovering important information within the abdominal cavity.

The laparoscope is painlessly inserted into the abdomen under local or general anesthesia. Through this instrument, the doctor can examine the abdomen and the pelvic area.

Much information is obtained about the condition of the Fallopian tubes, the ovaries and the uterus. It has been remarkably effective in finding the causes of infertility and for locating the cause of unexplained abdominal pain. Photographs can be taken through the instrument for further study.

The new techniques of laparoscopy have made a tremendous impact on the practice of gynecology.

You should not deny yourself the advantage of this excellent type of examination because of your unnecessary fears. All those who are to have this or any other kind of specialized examination should discuss every aspect of it with their doctors in order to allay their fears.

Do you see any disadvantages to a banana and milk diet for losing weight? — Miss F.S., N.C.

Dear Miss S.:

Bananas are highly nutritious, easily digested and very palatable. In combination with milk and supplementary vitamins, such a diet is useful in losing weight.

Being limited in character, it is the kind of diet one should not stay on for a long period of time.

The greatest advantage of such a diet is that the loss of weight occurs because there is a marked reduction in caloric intake. There are no remarkable properties to this diet other than those I have stated.

An additional advantage of the combination of bananas and milk is that it drives away the so-called hunger pains and makes dieting bearable.

There are no magic diets. No matter how ingenious people are about coming up with tempting, new diets, they cannot skirt this basic scientific fact: Unless you consume fewer
