Lebanese Militia Forces Rebuilding

By GEORGE A. KRIMSKY
Associated Press Writer

TYRE, Lebanon (AP) — Christian and Moslem militias that fought in the Lebanese civil war are rebuilding their forces.

Both the Christian rightists and the Moslem leftists are recruiting and arming new fighters openly and without interference.

The two opposing factions are estimated to have a total of 45,000 trained, armed men, not including the Palestinians.

This is more than 10 times the 4,000 experienced, loyal soldiers claimed for the Lebanese army. But the Christians and Moslems are estimated to keep only about 3,000 men each on active duty.

The Mourabiton (Am-bushers), the independent Nasserite Movement's militia, swore in 700 recruits in Tyre Sunday in the name of "Arab Lebanon" and the Palestinian cause. Commandos, teen-age boys, nurses and a unit of frogmen paraded before leftist dignitaries and foreign correspondents in a vacant lot.

The Mourabiton started as a rag-tag gang of street fighters who battled alongside Palestinian guerrillas and other leftist factions during the civil war. They have become the second most powerful leftist force, exceeded only by the Palestinians.

More than 600 of the most experienced fighters have been trained in Vietnam, Cuba and friendly Arab countries since the civil war, sources in the militia revealed.

Earlier this month, the Christian Tigers held a similar ceremony in East Beirut. Their leader, former President Camille Chamoun, said his militia would continue to expand as long as the Palestinian guerrillas remained in the country.

Lebanon has been the Palestinians' chief base of operations since King Hussein's army expelled them from Jordan in 1970, and their support was giving the leftists victory in the civil war until the Syrian army intervened to check them. The Christians continue to demand that the Palestinians clear out of the country, but the leftists have made the Palestinian cause their own.

The Lebanese army is slowly rebuilding after disintegrating during the war. But it is not strong enough to enter southern Lebanon to separate the Palestinians and Christians who battled there until a shaky cease-fire in late September.

Avers Pitt Is Sluggish On Welfare

Pitt is one of 15 North Carolina counties reprimanded by U. S. District Judge James B. McMillan for "showing a consistent sluggishness in handling applications for Aid to Family with Dependent Children and Medicaid welfare programs."

Judge McMillan said that if the records are not "markedly improved" by the end of February, 1978, he may require the counties not meeting his standards to pay $100 to each recipient who is processed late and deemed eligible for welfare. He noted that federal courts have upheld similar penalties in Chicago.

McMillan is expected to sign an order to this effect early this week. The order also is expected to direct the State Department of Social Services to carry on an "intensive investigation" to determine why the counties, ordered by him in 1975 to improve their records, are still not in compliance.

Contacted this morning, Pitt County Social Services Director Dorothy Bolton said Pitt's "failure to comply" is simply a matter of "more work than we can do." In September, for example, she said, "we received 154 new AFDC and Medicaid applications. We have a two-fold problem: need or more staff, yet nowhere to put more workers."

The Social Services Department occupies a crowded building on Johnston Street here, but expects to be one of the county offices moving into the old Pitt Memorial Hospital building on W. Fifth Street Extension when its renovation is completed.

"We're meeting this morning to try to work out something," she said. "I don't know what we're going to do, but we've got to do something."

She said she has not yet received any communication from the State Social Services Department and knows of the judge's order "only what I've read in the paper."

County Commissioners' Chairman Charles Gaskins said, "Dorothy told the County Commissioners of this problem last April or May before budget-making time. She said the only way she knew to be able to meet the federal guidelines of applications decided and payments before for AFDC within 45 and for Medicaid within 60 days was to hire three more workers. We were trying to keep the tax rate down, so we told her to hold off. It was also mentioned at that time that we didn't know where she'd put three more workers if we had the money to pay them."

"We're going to be meeting again now," Gaskins said, "to try to help Miss Bolton work out something. We're aware of her problem, but don't know yet how we're going to assist her in solving it."

In making the order, McMillan rejected a request by welfare recipients that all applications processed late be automatically approved. The action is the latest stage in a three-year-old class action suit by Mecklenburg County welfare recipients who charge the state with failing to process applications on schedule.

Energy, Taxes Still Sharing The Spotlight

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

Energy and taxes dominate congressional action this week as the Senate takes up an energy tax bill, the House debates Social Security taxes and a conference committee works on a national energy policy.

While the rest of Congress planned to take Veterans Day off, the House-Senate energy conference committee was summoned to work on the holiday by its chairman, Rep. Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., who said today's session was "in the national interest."

The panel made scant progress in three long sessions last week, agreeing only on a compromise requiring utilities to help consumers insulate their homes — one of the less controversial issues facing the 43-member committee.

This week it will look at President Carter's proposal to force most utilities and industries burning oil and natural gas to convert to coal. The House passed the President's program, but the Senate voted to allow all but the biggest plants to continue using oil.

The Carter administration can be expected to lobby hard for the House version and to try to persuade conferees to adopt a compromise bill resembling it. The Senate rejected most of the major proposals in the Carter energy plan.

The Senate on Tuesday takes up the final part of that energy legislation — its tax aspects.

But the bill sent to the floor by the Senate Finance Committee contains none of House-passed taxes the President has proposed to conserve energy by making scarce fuels more costly.

The committee rejected taxes on crude oil, fuel-inefficient cars and the oil and natural gas used by utilities and factories. Instead, it approved some $40 billion in tax breaks to encourage energy conservation and increased production.

Debate is expected to last all week.

Senate Democratic leaders are hopeful the President's tax program can be salvaged in a conference committee.

But in the meantime, a group of Senate liberals led by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., have vowed to try to kill off many of the tax breaks in the bill.

And several attempts are expected to be launched on the floor to revive some of the taxes before the bill goes to the conference committee.

The House begins debate

Wednesday on a bill to rescue the deficit-plagued Social Security System by tax increases that would fall most heavily on higher-paid workers and their employers.

The Senate Finance Committee will continue work this week on its own version of the Social Security overhaul bill.

Votes are scheduled in the House on Tuesday on a bill to prohibit the use of children in pornography and on treaties that would allow Americans in Mexican jails to be sent to federal prisons in this country — and vice versa.

Crowd Hailed Hubert

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President and the vice president of the United States stood back, all but ignored, while the senior senator from Minnesota waded into the welcoming crowd to shake hands.

Jimmy Carter and Walter F. Mondale didn't seem to mind. The people and the smiles at Andrews Air Force Base on Sunday were for Hubert H. Humphrey, back in the capital for the first time since Aug. 18, when doctors determined his cancer was inoperable.

Getting back to work, Humphrey said, would be good therapy. And he said he was ready "to raise as much hell as I can."

Humphrey will walk into the Senate chamber at 2 p.m. Tuesday to be welcomed back by his colleagues. Carter said, "I figure we'll be ready to adjourn in about a week with Sen. Humphrey on the job."

The senator, 66, appeared gaunt and he walked with a halt. But the smile was as broad as ever.

Carter had stopped in Minneapolis as he returned from a 2½-day cross-country tour to bring Humphrey to Washington aboard Air Force One.

"I am happy to report to you that I do feel so much better," Humphrey said. "Everything, of course, is relative. I'm not quite as good as I was when I was 50, but I am doing mighty good considering what we have been through. Getting back to Washington is going to be good therapy. That is what my doctors have told me."

Carter's praise for the man who failed three times to be elected president could hardly have been more effusive.

"This is one of the great days in my life to be able to come back to Minnesota to join with the greatest American that I know, the No. 1 Democrat in our country, and a man who has been admired and is admired throughout the world," the President said in Minneapolis.

More than 1,000 who had gathered to see Humphrey off cheered and a lot of eyes misted over.

When the plane landed in Washington, the President performed a little ceremony. As Humphrey and his wife watched, Carter signed a bill naming the new headquarters of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare the Hubert H. Humphrey Building.

Carter called it a "great honor for our government. ..."

"It's a great honor for me, sir," the senator replied.

Carter handed Humphrey the pen he used to affix his signature. "This is for Muriel," said Humphrey, passing the pen to his wife.

Bodies Were Mixed Panamanian Vote Approves Treaty

TORONTO (AP) — A Dutch medical investigator says Spanish authorities mixed up the bodies of American and Dutch victims of the world's worst air disaster in the Canary Islands last March before the remains could be identified.

Dr. Elsow Free, a dentist, told a meeting of international experts in forensic dentistry that some bodies were secretly exchanged by Dutch and U.S. officials after they were shipped to the wrong country.

He said 44 of the 248 bodies classified as Dutch still had not been positively identified and there is no way of knowing whether the unidentified remains in Dutch graves are those of Dutch or U.S. citizens.

The runway collision March 27 at Santa Cruz de Tenerife between a KLM Boeing 747 jetliner and a Pan American 747 killed 577 persons.

Free told a weekend workshop at the annual World Dental Congress that Spanish authorities removed the bodies and put them in a hangar 48 hours before Dutch and U.S. medical teams arrived.

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — A big turnout of Panamanian voters gave the new Panama Canal treaties overwhelming approval, unofficial returns from the nationwide referendum showed today.

The election tribunal reported 149,178 yes votes to 76,311 noes cast Sunday in 910 of the 3,038 voting districts. This was nearly 30 per cent of the estimated 800,000 eligible voters.

Election officials said most of these votes were cast in Panama province, including Panama City, the seat of much of the opposition to the treaties. Government officials predicted returns from the provinces would raise the total in favor of the pacts to 70 or 75 per cent.

The final official count is to be announced Thursday.

Panama's chief of government, Gen. Omar Torrijos, predicted the U.S. Senate would also ratify the treaties despite the strong opposition in the United States.

Torrijos said the senators must realize the treaties "go beyond their electoral districts. They're playing with the luck of maritime navigation all over the world."

"It's the senators who have to explain to the people, not the people who have to explain to the senators," he added in an interview.

Torrijos voted in the morning and then toured Panama City in a military truck loaded with reporters. Cheering crowds welcomed him everywhere, and his shirt collar was red with lipstick by the time he returned home.

There were no reports of opposition activity during the voting Sunday. A number of rallies had been held in the week before, and opponents of the treaties claimed the plebiscite was fixed. Torrijos denied the charge, and invited three dozen foreign observers to check on the voting.

Everyone 18 and over was eligible to vote. Those voting were fingerprinted, required to present identification cards which were punched, and their thumbs were inked.

The main treaty, one of two signed in Washington Sept. 7 by Torrijos and President Carter, provides for the United States to surrender the canal and the 500-square-mile canal zone to Panama by the year 2000. The second document declares the waterway a neutral zone and allows U.S. intervention in the event of a threat to its security.

Torrijos and his government waged a strong campaign in favor of the treaties, but opponents were encouraged to speak out. It was the first time since he took over the government in a 1968 coup that a political issue in which there was any opposition to the government was debated publicly.

Up And Down

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 63-year-old man who disappeared from his Veterans Administration Hospital room apparently was stuck in an elevator in the building for about 30 hours, hospital officials said.

Roland Sellers, who is confined to a wheelchair, was reported missing Saturday afternoon by his wife, Shirley. On Sunday evening, a switchboard operator reported a telephone off the hook in an elevator stuck on the fourth floor. A maintenance man opened the elevator and found Sellers, a hospital spokesman said.

Doctors said Sellers, who suffered a stroke three months ago while working as a civilian on an U.S. Army Corps of Engineers project in Toledo, was in good shape after his ordeal.

When Sellers was asked where he had been all weekend, hospital administrator Floyd Johnson quoted him as saying: "Up and down."

Sailor Killed By Gas Tank Fumes

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — The U.S. Navy shipped home today the body of Eric W. Stika, 19, of Lafayette, La., a U.S. Navy fireman killed by fumes while cleaning a fuel tank aboard his ship.

The navy said Stika was one of two sailors overcome while cleaning gas tanks aboard the tank landing ship Cayuga last Thursday. The liquid in the tanks was thought to be water, and the sailors did not wear protective clothing, the Navy said.

The second sailor, who was not identified, was reported recovering at the Subic Naval Base 50 miles northwest of Manila.

The Cayuga was participating in the naval amphibious exercise called Fortress Lightning in which 25 Americans were killed in two air crashes.

WILL GET PAY

Back in June I recorded between 40 and 50 hours of "talking books" for a blind student at ECU. I was told by him that I'd be paid by the State Commission for the Blind at the minimum wage rate. He said it would take about a month or so, but that I would get my money. I have heard nothing from the Commission for the Blind and when I ask the boy, he assures me he will try to contact them. I need the money and I feel I earned it. T. W.

Hotline asked the Commission for the Blind to check on this matter. They learned that the student for whom the tapes had been made had not turned in the proper forms. They said he has promised to take care of the matter immediately and that, if he does not, he is endangering his further education. "This is a responsibility he must accept," the person with whom we talked said.

OIL HEATER WICK

I have a Sharp wide heating deluxe model oil heater. I have looked all over trying to find the type of wick for it, but haven't been successful. My heater is practically new, but must have the wick in order for me to use it. D. B.

Ken Brown of Ken's Furniture Company here says he sells a lot of different kinds of oil heaters and wicks, but has never heard of this kind. Shepard Library could not provide us with the address of the manufacturer, either. Brown said he is not optimistic, but will be glad for you to bring him the old wick and see if he has one the same size or if he can cut one down to fit your heater. It's a long shot, he said, but he will be willing to try. The store is located at 903 Dickinson Avenue here.

Warrant Issued In Murder Case

Harold David Wilson of the Flynn Home on Pitt St., was shot to death Saturday afternoon, Chief Glenn Cannon reported.

Cannon reported Wilson was shot two times outside a house at 1220 Battle St., about 5:30 p.m.

The chief quoted witnesses as saying Wilson was approached by three men as he stood outside the dwelling. One of the three pulled a pistol and shot Wilson.

Cannon, who said investigation into the shooting is continuing, said a warrant has been issued for one man in connection with the case.

JERUSALEM (AP) — U.S. Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal arrived in Israel today for talks on economic aid and found himself in a protocol tiff over the status of Jerusalem.

Greeted by U.S. Ambassador Samuel W. Lewis and Israeli Finance Minister Simha Ehrlich, Blumenthal said he regretted he would not be meeting Mayor Teddy Kollek of Jerusalem. Kollek stayed away because Blumenthal's schedule recognizes a division of Jerusalem.

American cabinet members take official tours of West Jerusalem, which has been part of Israel since the Jewish state was found. But they only visit East Jerusalem and the old walled city on private tours because it was under Jordanian rule from 1948 until the 1967 war and the U. S. government considers it occupied territory.

"For Teddy, it's all one city," said a spokesman for Kollek.

In the past, the mayor went along with such arrangements. But aides said his objections now are related to an apparent "erosion of the Israeli position in Washington."

During his two-day visit, Blumenthal is scheduled to meet

Treasury Secretary In Midst Of Protocol Tiff

with Ehrlich, Prime Minister Menahem Begin and Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan.

Israeli officials said they hope for final approval of a $2.3 billion aid program for the coming fiscal year and the start of talks on a program of $2.2 billion for the following year.

In Egypt, the first stop on the secretary's seven-country tour, he and President Anwar Sadat discussed ways of spurring Egypt's sagging economy. The United States provides nearly $1 billion in economic aid annually to Egypt.

Blumenthal leaves for Kuwait Tuesday evening.

Miss Jane Abernathy Is Bride

MRS. THOMAS RUDDEN HAHN

AYDEN — Miss Jane Warren Abernathy of Exton, Pa., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Abernathy Jr. of Ayden, and Thomas Rudden Hahn were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in the Ayden United Methodist Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin John Hahn of Moorestown, N. J.

The double ring ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Travis Owen. Mrs. Andrea Norris, organist, and Mrs. Ivan Armstrong, aunt of the bride, vocalist, presented a program of wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her honor attendant was her sister, Anne Abernathy, of Ayden. Bridesmaids included Joan Abernathy of Ayden, sister of the bride, Mrs. Cindy Weaver of Raleigh, and Mrs. Lorna D. Entremont of Pubnico, Nova Scotia.

The bride was dressed in a gown of white chiffonette styled with an empire waist, high neck and bodice of re-embroidered alencon lace and pearls. The yoke was of English net. The gown had full bishop sleeves and the chapel length wateau train was accented with matching lace.

Her Camelot cap of lace was attached to a waltz length chiffonette veil. The bride carried a cascade of white sweetheart roses, miniature carnations and baby's breath.

The honor attendant wore a gown of misty blue chiffon fashioned with a scooped neckline, gathered sleeves and empire waist accented with blue satin with a matching bow in back. She carried a nosegay of blue cornflowers and yellow pom pons.

The bridesmaids were dressed like the honor attendant.

Edward Hahn of Palmyra, N. J., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers included James and Charles Hahn of Moorestown, N. J., brothers of the bridegroom, Van Armstrong of Atlanta, Ga., and John Armstrong of Anderson, S. C., cousins of the bride.

The mother of the bride was dressed in an emerald green chiffon formal length gown with a matching stole. The mother of the bridegroom selected a blue chiffon formal length gown with a V-neckline and flowing sleeves. Both mothers wore white cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Thelbert Worthington, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a coral knit formal gown. Mrs. Eugene Gibson, paternal grandmother of the bride, wore a sage green formal gown.

Mrs. Harry Stillman directed the wedding.

After a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will reside in West Chester, Pa.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's College, Raleigh, and the University of Georgia, Athens, Ga. She is an interior designer with J. M. Walton Co., Frazer, Pa.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Glassboro State College, and attended Wharton School of Business, University of Pennsylvania. He is an accounts manager for Libbey Glass Co., King of Prussia, Pa.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony.

The bride's table held a silver epergne filled with cornflowers, white and yellow pom pon chrysanthemums. A color scheme of blue, yellow and white was used.

The bridal party and out-of-town guests were entertained at a wedding breakfast before the ceremony.

The parents of the bridegroom honored the couple after the rehearsal with a dinner at the Candlewick Inn for the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

Other pre-nuptial events included a bridesmaids luncheon Saturday at noon at the home of the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Thelbert Worthington. Mrs. Ivan Armstrong was co-hostess for the event.

The bride-elect was entertained at a recipe shower Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Keith Hudson with Mrs. J. H. Whitaker and Mrs. J. J. Dennis as co-hostesses. A miscellaneous shower was held for Miss Abernathy Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Pauline Garris. Mrs. Mildred Cox, Mrs. Estelle Haddock and Mrs. Stella Highsmith were co-hostesses.

Annual Bosses' Night Banquet Held

Greenville Credit Women International held its annual Bosses' Night Banquet Thursday evening at the King and Queen

Restaurant. The theme for this year was "A Salute To Our Kings."

Mrs. Eva Shue Brooks, president of N. C. Credit Women International, of Concord, installed the 1977-78 officers in a "praying hands" installation.

Installed were: President, Carol Hardee; First Vice President, Corrine Beppard; Second Vice President, Dawn Pitts; Recording Secretary, Janie Hudson; Treasurer, Pam Kachmer; Corresponding Secretary, Audrey Norris; and Parliamentarian, Mary Robertson.

Mildred Porter, chairman of Bosses' Night, conducted a memorial service for Sallie Broughton, a long time club member, J. Curtis Hendrix, past sponsor and boss, and Lettie Bilbro, a charter member of the local club.

President Hardee recognized seven new members who joined during 1976-77 and Clara Seago, honorary member of the club. Miss Seago was commended for outstanding services to CWI.

Charles Hardee was named "Boss of the Year." He is manager and owner of Crego's Shoes and is currently serving as a club sponsor. He is a member of the Greenville Kiwanis Club and the First Free Will Baptist Church of Greenville.

JoAnne White, manager of Greenville Collection Services and a club sponsor, presented the "Credit Woman of the Year" award to Carol Hardee, who is also the current "N. C. Credit Woman of the Year." Mrs. Hardee was commended for outstanding service to the local club.

Mrs. Brooks and her husband, Marshall, were honored with a surprise pounding by members following the banquet. The couple was married on Oct. 15.

Other out-of-town guests attending were Ms. Faye Mallard, recording secretary of N. C. CW-I, Ms. Virginia Tew, past state president, Mrs. Gail Ottinger, president, Kinston club, Mrs. Gracie Couch, president, Rocky Mount CW-I, and several members of the Kinston and Rocky Mount clubs.

N. C. CREDIT-WOMEN INTERNATIONAL President Mrs. Eva Shue Brooks of Concord is pictured with Charles Hardee, winner of "Boss of the Year" award.

Wants Boss To Fire Her Errant Husband

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am an executive in a company that has a large sales department. A few days ago, the wife of one of our top salesmen came and asked me to fire her husband! She said she had it on good authority that her husband is having an affair with a young secretary in the office.

The wife said if I thought her husband was too valuable to the company to let go, I should fire the girl. She said she was sure her husband could easily get another job if he were forced to, and the affair would probably cool off if they weren't working together.

Should I get involved in the domestic problems of one of my salesmen? Or do you think if a man does his job well, what he does on his own time is his own business?

NO IDENTITIES, PLEASE

DEAR NO: Call the salesman in, and tell him that word of his alleged hanky-panky with a secretary has reached the front office. And let him take it from there.

DEAR ABBY: I am one of 20 draftsmen working in a large engineering office with a lot of female secretaries. Abby, do you think a woman feels complimented when she enters a room and a man whistles at her?

One guy here insists that the girls love it. I say no woman wants to be treated as a sex object, and whistling at a woman is an insult.

I'd like a woman's point of view.

T.C. IN HOUSTON

DEAR T.C.: THIS woman's point of view is the same as yours. (P.S. Whistling at women also indicates a juvenile mentality.)

DEAR ABBY: My young grandson has a very peculiar way of eating—he will eat only one thing at a time. For example: if there is meat, potatoes, carrots and peas on his plate, he will finish eating all the meat before he even touches his carrots. Then, once he starts eating his carrots, he will taste nothing else until he's finished them. He positively refuses to mix his food. Now isn't that ridiculous?

When I try to tell him to eat a bit of one thing and then another, he says he doesn't want to. He refuses to even try.

I don't know whether this comes under the heading of etiquette, idiosyncrasies, health or habits, but it just looks peculiar to me, Abby.

Please classify this quirk and set me straight.

GRAMPS

DEAR GRAMPS: I would classify this as nitpicking. Children come in for enough criticism during their childhood without having something as inconsequential as this being called to their attention. Skip it. What's the difference? Be glad he's healthy and can eat everything.

Bridge Winners

Wednesday morning duplicate bridge winners at Planters Bank were:

Mrs. Sidney Skinner and Mrs. Stuart Page, first; Mrs. John Richards and Mrs. Kay Adler, second; Mrs. B. V. Payne and Mrs. Joseph LeConte, third; tied for fourth were Mrs. Walter Harbin with Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Smiley.

Wednesday afternoon winners included:

Dave Proctor and Claude Goodman, first; Mrs. Joseph LeConte and Mrs. George Martin, second; Mrs. William Parvin and Mrs. Clifton Toler, third; Mrs. David Stevens and Mrs. William McConnell, fourth.

Saturday afternoon Charity Club Championship winners at First Federal included:

Mrs. William McConnell and Claude Goodman, first; Betsy Warren and Hap Neuffer, second; Mrs. William Parvin and Mrs. Clifton Toler, third; Mrs. Lacy Harrell and Mrs. J. M. Horton, fourth; tied for fifth were Mrs. Jim Bell and Wade Dudley with Randeem Dees and Steve Callihan; Mrs. Harold Forbes and Mrs. M. H. Bynum, seventh.

The Saturday afternoon game, Oct. 28, will be cancelled due to the Wilson Sectional Tournament.

WHOLESALE TO EVERYONE

Anything To Cut Power Costs

Ayden is proposing to shift from Virginia Electric and Power Co. for its wholesale electric source to Carolina Power and Light Co.

Currently Ayden, purchases its power from Greenville Utilities, in turn served by VEPCO.

Ayden owns its own electrical system and plans to continue this ownership. It would merely be shifting from one power source to another.

The move was initiated following studies undertaken by Ayden. Officials there maintain that fossil fuels at VEPCO are considerably higher than with CP&L. With the fossil fuel cost for generating electricity soaring, this factor could result in considerable savings for Ayden customers.

Before the change can be made, CP&L would have to agree to take on Ayden and regulatory agencies would have to allow CP&L to take on the extra load. A settlement would have to be made with Greenville Utilities for the remaining ten years of the contract between the municipalities.

Certainly no one can blame Ayden officials for doing all they can to provide cheapest source of electricity for their customers. Greenville and other municipally owned electric systems are currently exploring ways of slowing the rise of electric cost, including the possibility of the municipals owning their own generating plant.

We doubt if anything is going to reduce energy cost anytime soon, given the state of the petroleum market, but Greenville, Ayden or any other municipality should investigate fully any means of slowing the cost rise.

Simple Citizens Not To Be Trusted

Now those wonderful people in Washington are after advertising for candy, soft drinks and cereal.

Federal Trade Commission Chairman Michael Pertschuk says action is necessary to protect small children against television ads for products containing large amounts of sugar.

And why can't these governmental protectors simply inform parents that too much sugar is not good for their kids?

That's just not the government's way these days. Mere citizens are not to be trusted to make their own choices — not when we have such omnipotent bureaucrats.

THIS AFTERNOON

Hunt Will Tell The Boss

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — A report card to the top boss in Washington is contemplated by Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr. whenever a federal bureaucrat comes into North Carolina and acts ugly.

"I'm planning to start sending personal, handwritten notes to cabinet secretaries—have them delivered in person—when some of these officials come into this state displaying arrogance and overstepping their bounds," the governor said.

Hunt gets regular reports from around the state of federal agency representatives who come into communities to review a variety of programs—health, education, welfare, planning, law enforcement, etc.

Typically, the feds appear with briefcases bulging with rules, regulation, and red tape which they liberally strew in the paths of local officials and citizens trying to do a job.

Keep Track
What Gov. Hunt wants to do is "keep track of them when they're in our state, and when they display arrogance or belittle our people... let their bosses know about that."

On the other hand, he comments, when an official shows that he really cares about helping the people, listens sympathetically, works with local programs to iron out problems and get things operating properly—then he will report that, too.

"The word will spread down the line that in North Carolina we serve people, that government is here to help and not to boss," Hunt thinks.

This is all part of an effort by the governor to spread throughout the governmental bureaucracy the philosophy of caring for people—and it applies not just to federal visitors in the state. He meets regularly with his cabinet secretaries in state government and is urging them to hold retreats with their subordinates to spread throughout state agencies a "caring attitude."

Certainly, says Gov. Hunt, there are times when situations come up in which absolutely nothing can be done for an individual with a problem, or a local program with a particular idea. "But just listening sympathetically and showing that we care can at least ease the situation."

NOBLITT

Spreading from the top downward through the ranks, the governor would like to end the recurring complaints of surly clerks and growling bureaucrats who don't go a step out of their way to help taxpaying citizens seeking to fulfill requirements or get aid.

But isn't it just human nature for routine clerks doing routine jobs to be grouchy? "I won't accept that... there's no excuse for it," says Hunt.

Everybody Grows
But isn't it just symptomatic of the times. Not only do governmental people growl, but so do sales clerks and telephone operators.

That does appear to be a growing situation, the governor concedes, but the condition is "more visible in government. Besides, the government belongs to the people and they have a right to expect better."

Hunt sees efforts to create better attitudes in government as bigger than a simple program within his administration. "This goes to the very survival of our system... we have got to renew the feeling that government belongs to the people. The loss of confidence and trust in the system threatens our democracy."

"The big question is whether America will survive when people no longer feel that government belongs to them and is sympathetic and responsive to their needs."

Besides the note to Washington approach, the governor has been considering a public report system in state government by which citizens who come in touch with various agencies can report to Raleigh the results of that contact.

WASHINGTON — If there is anything that really bugs me it is watching a pro football game with a foreigner. I had the experience last week. My friend was visiting from London with his wife, and they both seemed very excited about seeing their first American football game on television.

It happened to be the Redskin-Dallas game, and for a Redskin fan I knew it wasn't going to be much fun. The game started out all right, but before long it got rather bloody. This is when they both started asking questions.

"Is the object of the game to injure as many players on the other team as possible?" the husband asked.

"No, that is not the object of the game," I said.

The wife said, "Do you get more points for breaking a man's leg or his neck?"

"You don't get points for breaking either his leg or his neck. You get penalized for it."

"Oh," said the husband. "What is the penalty?"

"Your team is penalized 15 yards."

"Do you mean to say that if you break an opponent's leg, you only get 15 yards against you?"

"What do you think he should get?" I said, trying to hold my temper.

"In England I believe it's three years in prison," the wife replied.

"It's a game!" I said. "The men who play expect to have their legs broken. That's what makes it so exciting."
"Of course," said the husband. "One must expect injuries."

A few minutes later the referee walked off 10 yards against the Redskins.

ART BUCHWALD

"I didn't see anyone get hurt," the wife said. "Why is there a penalty?"

"Because one of our men was holding one of their men."

"What is the penalty for that?"

"Ten yards."

"Do you mean to say, if you hold a man the team loses 10 yards, but if you break his leg you are penalized only 15 yards?" the wife asked.

I was beginning to lose my patience. "That is correct. In football, holding is almost as serious as breaking someone's leg."

"Of course," the husband said. "It does make sense when you explain it."

In the second quarter the wife turned to me. "Did you notice one of their chaps hit one of your chaps with his fist?"

"That's not permitted," I said.

"Then why doesn't someone do something about it?"

"No one saw it," I replied. "Everyone on television must have seen it," she said.

Career Rules Raised

By DAVID R. NELSEN
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The debate over gubernatorial succession has spilled over to the question of tenure for career state employees, but the attention seems inappropriate.

It was discussed last week at Gov. Jim Hunt's news conference. The day before, Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green, an ardent foe of succession, mentioned it during a breakfast with capital reporters.

Under a law enacted this year, state employees are on probation for five years. After that, they are designated career employees and cannot be fired without good cause.

The governor may designate some positions as being exempt from the protection on the basis that they are policy-making jobs. There are only a few hundred such jobs in the 150,000 state payroll.

Debate has focused on the five-year probation. It is argued that if succession is approved Nov. 8, the first governor to serve eight years would fill state government jobs with people loyal to him. Then, it is argued, following governors would be stuck with those people because they have passed the five-year mark and enjoy tenure.

That argument illustrates the need for a law protecting career state employees. It also shows that North Carolina has historically tolerated a buddy system which emphasizes connections rather than talent and ability in state hiring.

It shouldn't matter whether a person hired as a typing clerk gets the job and gains career status under one governor or two. That person is hired to do a job and is simply required to follow specific orders and fulfill specific duties.

If that person made decisions that would affect the governor's program and priorities, the job would be exempt from the personnel act.

The personnel act should not make life easier for state workers or be a form of job insurance most taxpayers do not have. Rather, it should insulate a worker from political pressure. It should give enough security for the worker to do his

To the editor:

The argument of those who oppose an amendment to the State Constitution to allow the governor and lieutenant governor to run for two consecutive terms of office does not stand up under examination.

The argument is one of fear, "fear of power vested in one office," with the added fears that the governor would dominate the legislature and would create "machine politics."

These fears reveal mistrust of the democratic process. In any political system, centers of power develop inevitably. In the government of North Carolina centers of power exist in the office of the governor, the office of the lieutenant governor, the legislature, to some extent in certain other elective state offices, and in the office of U.S. senator.

These centers of power serve as checks and balances to each other. If legislators perform their constitutional duties with integrity, the governor cannot dominate the legislature.

Furthermore, in addition to these checks and balances, there is the final sovereignty of the citizens. If a governor handles his job efficiently and responsibly and the voters want to retain him for a second term, they should not deny themselves that right.

It has not been unheard of that an effective one-term governor in North Carolina was followed by a mediocre one. Furthermore, since all one-term governors become lame ducks about the time they get well into their programs, the office is rendered less effective both within the state and beyond. One-term governors are less likely to develop the kind of leadership that would allow North Carolinians to compete well for national leadership.

Let us not fear democracy. Let us vote for succession.

Why is it, then, when your four-legged child is outside keeping watch on the neighborhood, a truck pulls up and kidnaps it? Later on, you discover your dog is missing so you go to the kidnappers' hide-out (next to the landfill) and discover you can have him back after you pay $5 ransom.

As if this is not enough, some owners must go to court. There they must pay cost of court or go to the County of Pitt dungeon for 10 days. A jail sentence! I can't believe it! A jail sentence for letting your dog sit out in your yard.

THE INSIDE REPORT

Behind Unexploded Bomb

By ROWLANE EVANS
and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The Carter administration, under prodding from Moscow, in August warned South Africa not to detonate an atomic bomb even though U.S. intelligence had no hard evidence that such a test was planned and strongly suspected it was not.

This remarkable fact casts new light on the peculiar Soviet-U.S.-South African interchange two months ago. Since no detonation was likely and the South Africans need no such test to develop their nuclear capability, the incident really had little to do with the Pretoria government forcing its way into the nuclear club.

It had everything to do with East-West détente. With U.S.-Soviet relations then chilly, Carter policymakers seized at a chance for cooperation between the two superpowers against a pariah nation. The realities of détente are revealed by the Kremlin's response: a Soviet propaganda campaign which claims full credit for stopping the South African blast and which links Washington with Pretoria.

The entire affair was Soviet-instigated. On Aug. 6, President Leonid Brezhnev cabled President Carter warning that the South Africans were about to set off a nuclear explosion in the Kalahari Desert. In light of later implicit U.S. corroboration of Brezhnev's information, it is highly instructive to report U.S. intelligence's actual view of two months ago:

1. U.S. satellite reconnaissance had spotted something going on in the Kalahari Desert. But whether it was a prospective atomic blast, a missile test or something else was beyond the competence of photo interpreters. Lacking other intelligence, the experts could only guess, and the guess of some was that no explosion was being prepared.

2. An atomic test grants noisy admission to the nuclear club, but it is not the only or even the most significant entrance ticket. India has detonated an atomic bomb but is less a true member of the club than Israel, which has exploded none but has some 16 bombs in its arsenal.

3. Test or not, the South Africans are either near or at the point of building a bomb — possibly helped by their friends, the Israelis. What's more, nobody doubts that the white Pretoria regime would use nuclear force in danger of annihilation by black Africa.

Nevertheless, Brezhnev's cable was a ray of sunshine to U.S. policymakers, then worried about two weeks of Russian silence following Mr. Carter's conciliatory foreign policy speech of July 21. They felt cooperation on the South African matter might rekindle what in early August seemed the dying embers of détente (besides furthering the Carter administration's courtship of black Africa).

On Aug. 15, the President answered Brezhnev, noting that satellite reconnaissance showed something afoot in the Kalahari Desert. A stiff U.S. note was prepared demanding that South Africa halt plans for any test and was presented in Pretoria to Foreign Minister R. F. (Pik) Botha by U.S. Ambassador William Bowdler.

"I imagine the Japanese, when they surrendered, were treated with more respect than you're treating me with," Botha told Bowdler. This marked further deterioration in U.S.-South African relations — deterioration which moderates in Pretoria feel undermines racial liberalization there.

Soon after Mr. Carter announced there would be no test blast, detailed accounts appeared in the Washington Post and New York Times of how the two superpowers had collaborated to head off the racist regime. U.S. foreign policy officials told reporters

Strength For Today

A SAGE JUDGMENT

"War eats away the margins of ordinary life, and, in most cases, its brutal environment affects the temperament by its savage training."

Who wrote these words? Some modern author or columnist? Not at all. They were written by Thucydides, the Greek historian who lived about 2500 years ago. He had observed the melancholy situation which we have seen repeated since history began — that war strikes at the foundations of civilization itself. If his words contained truth at the time he wrote them, how much more appropriate are they today when war is much more terrible than anything he could have imagined!

This all adds up to the imperative necessity of getting rid of war. Neither business education, scientific research, or any other equipment of the modern mind will have any significance if war is allowed to go on to its destructive conclusion. Thucydides saw it 2500 years ago, and we are history's worst fools if we do not see it today.

Recession Fear vs. Inflation

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Those who watch relations between the Federal Reserve and the White House aren't surprised by the latter's barely veiled warning not to raise interest rates. It's happened before.

Early in his administration the magnanimous promise of President Lyndon Johnson was "guns and butter." One or the other, said the Fed in effect.

The Fed meant this: You simply cannot pay for a war with deficits and conduct domestic business as usual. Something must give. It did. Up went interest rates.

Arthur Burns, Fed chairman, probably has been thinking something of the same sort of late. Eyeing the federal deficit as an engine of inflation, and fearful that inflation will bring the economy down, he has been eyeing the money supply.

The cagey chairman doesn't often speak his mind in the rhetoric of politicians. His way of expressing fear of inflation is to tighten the money flow. That raises interest rates, and high interest slows activity.

In seeking to cool down what he considers overly ambitious spending, however, the chairman inevitably raised the temperature of White House-Federal Reserve relations. White House occupants usually prefer inflation to recession.

Quite predictably, and with considerable support from economists, the White House argues that the prospect of a serious new surge of prices is not the most pressing danger. Recession is, the Carter people seem to say.

With high unemployment, unused production facilities and generally weakening economy, they say, the country is hardly in danger of over-extending itself.

To slow the economic machinery now, it is argued by the White House and economists who support its position, is to risk bringing movement to an almost total halt. In other words, to invite recession, and even to run ahead to meet it.

Recession would mean an end to the President's promises of full employment and a balanced budget, even though many private economists maintain those goals are unrealistic. It could even deny him re-election.

But all cannot be blamed on the Fed, although it often is, and although many other Fed critics say it repeatedly and prematurely puts an end to economic advance. The Fed is watching some interesting figures.

In the first half of the year, for example, net borrowing by business, households and federal, state and local governments surged, rising to an annual rate of $290 billion, or 12.4 per cent higher than in 1976.

And long before its message to the Fed, warning against raising interest rates, critics say the Carter administration had done much on its own to slow economic activity and keep prices high.

That, at least, has been the accusation made by some corporate officials. They maintain that Carter's lack of a recognizable economic program has left them in doubt about their own plans.

There are two sides to this dispute, and the problem probably is that neither side appreciates the other's position. That is, the dispute is probably a failure of management and communication as much as it is economic.

Civil Preparedness Incomplete

By DAVID TOMLIN
Associated Press
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — As of this week Raleigh and Durham are ready for nuclear war. Fayetteville, Goldsboro and Jacksonville have been ready for months.

But if the bomb drops today, it's going to be every man for himself in Charlotte. The same goes for the Greensboro-Winston-Salem-High Point area. The state Division of Civil Preparedness is in the process of developing "crisis relocation plans" for areas that are likely to be targets of nuclear attack in the event of war. Division director David L. Britt says the plan for the Raleigh-Durham area was just completed and meetings have begun on a plan for evacuation of Charlotte. The cities already done were tackled first because of nearby military installations that make them prime targets. "That's especially true of Goldsboro, where Seymour Johnson Air Force Base has a nuclear response capability," Britt says.

It is Britt's job to think about the unthinkable.

The 37 workers in his state headquarters and 11 others in six area offices spend most of their time planning for disasters, some of which may never happen. Working with them are another 126 full-time civil defense workers for cities and counties and between 400 and 600 volunteers.

It is their job to know what to do if a hurricane, tornado or flood strikes and to coordinate efforts of state and local emergency workers. They must also plan for war or civil disturbance.

While 1977 may have seemed like a relatively tranquil year to most North Carolinians, there have been a dozen or more occasions in which at least some of Britt's staff have scrambled to the emergency operating center in a sub-basement of the state administrative center. "We've had tornado warnings, chemical spills, plane crashes, train derailments and all kinds of things," Britt says. Such small-scale threats to life and property are handled with what Britt calls a mini-operation.

The last time the emergency operating center was fully mobilized, Britt says, was when Hurricane Belle menaced the Outer Banks briefly.

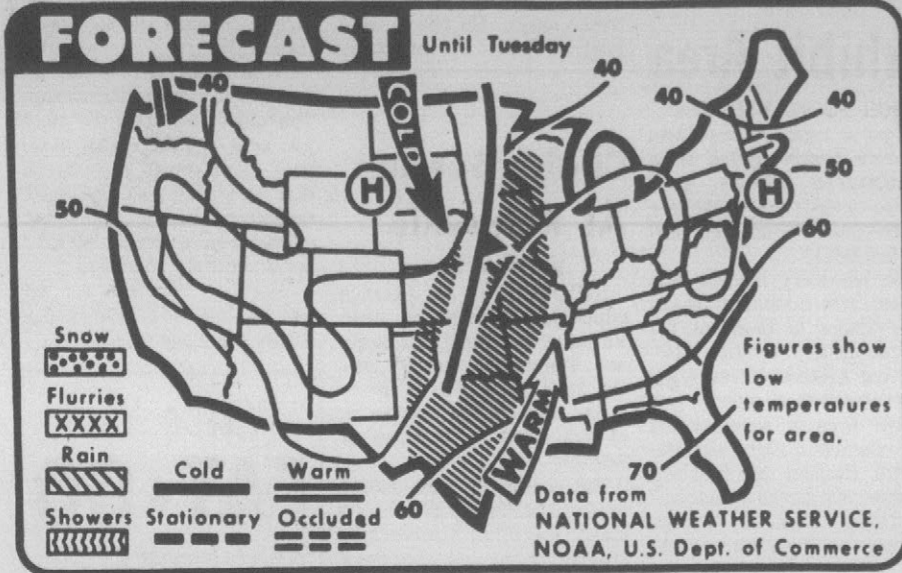

The center is equipped to communicate with every emergency agency in the state and to coordinate radio and television broadcasts to the public.

Britt and his staff can monitor the situation from the operations room, dominated at one end by an enormous map of North Carolina, which has a special lighting system designed to highlight the extent of any disaster.

The center is also prepared to shelter, feed and clothe 352 key state employees, including Gov. Hunt, who would stay behind in the event of nuclear attack to oversee the state government, assuming Raleigh were not hit directly.

"We've got food, clothes, beds, water, lights, heat and sewage treatment to handle that many people for 15 days," Britt says. "That's the best estimate of how long it would take fallout to decay to the point where it would no longer be dangerous to come out."

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is forecast for most of the central portion of the nation today, ranging from Wisconsin south through the Great Plains and on down to Texas. Cold weather is expected to descend from Canada into the Great Plains while warm air is expected to move inland from the Gulf of Mexico. (AP Laserphoto Map)

Rain is expected in the mountains late today and tonight.

Wet weather is expected to cover the western half of the state Tuesday with showers possible in the eastern half.

Temperatures will remain about the same as they have been with highs generally in the 60s with a few 70s. Lows will be in the 40s and 50s.

Highs Sunday were mostly in the low to mid 70s. The highest temperature recorded Sunday was 77 in Fayetteville, Jacksonville and Wilmington. It was cooler in the northeastern counties where Elizabeth City reported a high of only 65 degrees.

The outlook calls for partly cloudy skies today with a chance of rain in the mountains late in the day. Highs today will be in the 60s except for some 70s in the east. There will be cloudy skies Tuesday with rain likely in the west and a chance of showers in the east.

job without looking over his shoulder in fear of the hatchet man each time a new governor takes office.

It appears from the succession debate that the current law is inadequate.

Perhaps a shorter time is needed to gain career status. Certainly, three years would seem enough to determine how well a typist, receptionist or truck driver can perform.

The legislature could also require that state workers be hired and gain promotions only if they can pass competency examinations.

Also, a centralized hiring program being put into effect by the administration now could be required by law for future administrations.

Those changes and others that might keep politics out of the bureaucracy could not win legislative approval without vigorous support of the governor. Hunt says he wants workers to be insulated from politics, and he will have a chance to prove it when the General Assembly meets in 1979.

"The referee didn't see it. If he had, he would have called a personal foul."

"Which means the player would be thrown out of the game?" the husband asked.

"Of course not. You don't get thrown out of the game for slugging another player. If that happened you wouldn't be able to have a pro football game. The thrill of football for a player is to hit an opponent and not get caught doing it."

One of the Redskins stretched out on field, groaning in agony.

"How long is he permitted to lie on the field," the husband asked, "without being penalized?"

"As long as he wants to. When a man is seriously injured, we even permit a doctor to treat him."

"How civilized," the wife said.

I couldn't keep my temper in any longer. "What do you think we are—barbarians?" "Quite," the husband said.

N.C. Talent Awaits Use

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina has a large pool of scientific talent, but state government hasn't been much good at using that talent to solve state problems. Two new arrivals in Raleigh are working to change that.

Gov. Jim Hunt has hired an economist and a geneticist to help government and the scientific community talk to each other.

Dr. Quentin W. Lindsey, the economist, will be Hunt's science advisor. The geneticist is Dr. Gene Namkoong, who will direct the making of science policy for the state, working in the Department of Administration.

Lindsey comes from the Research Triangle Institute. Namkoong is on a leave of absence from the U.S. Forest Service.

"The government often feels that when it gives out a contract to a scientist, the scientist is just too damn slow," says Namkoong. "There's a large gap in the understanding by the scientist of what government is about, how it operates, how technical information gets fed into government activities."

Lindsey has been meeting with officials in various agencies, looking for areas in which stronger relations are needed between government and the scientific community. Namkoong is forming task force groups to work on each problem area.

Namkoong said the pair would also be helping state officials find out where to get the technical help they needed.

They are working with a $25,000 grant from the National Science Foundation.

Bought Saloon To Play Piano

By JULES LOH
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — Everybody who reads the papers knows that the last person likely to starve in this town is a good lawyer.

Everybody also knows, or suspects, that persons whose lifelong ambition is to come to this town must be slightly off, so there ought to be plenty of business for a good psychiatrist, too.

Harold Kaufman is both, a lawyer and a psychiatrist. Neither being enough to satisfy him, he also is a teacher.

Where Harold Kaufman finds his greatest joy, though, is in playing jazz piano. Not just playing jazz piano, but playing it where it ought to be played, in a saloon. He likes doing that so much he went out and bought his own saloon.

"Practicing psychiatry and owning a saloon are complimentary," he said.

"People go to a psychiatrist to find help for personal and social reasons. I don't like casting a saloon in a clinical light, but that's also why they go to a bar.

"My training has been useful there, calming people down, settling conflicts. A good bartender can do the same thing, of course. He's not a substitute for a therapist, but anyone who listens with interest and understanding can be helpful to people."

Harold Kaufman is a smallish man of 45 with a head of thick, curly hair, heavy eyebrows, an abundant mustache, and a vocabulary that uses words like interface, but not often.

He was born in Elizabeth, N.J., took piano lessons from age 4 through high school and when he went to Harvard played in various bistros around Boston.

"I went to law school, at Harvard, mainly because law was the family profession. I was unconvinced I wanted to be a lawyer. After a couple of years in Europe thinking things over — I supported myself as a musician — I decided I wanted to be a psychiatrist."

So he went to medical school at the University of California, then into psychiatry, and eventually wound up in Washington at the National Institute for Mental Health.

For the past six years he has been in private practice, teaching on the side at Georgetown University.

Meanwhile, Harold Kaufman never forsook his abiding mistress, music. He played at a joint on Capitol Hill on Sunday nights until, alas, the place closed.

"When this place called the Rogue and Jar came up for sale, I bought it." His eyes flashed. "How often does somebody get to have his name on a marquee? Now it's Harold's Rogue and Jar.

"Anyhow, I play there every Sunday night and invite the best jazz musicians I can find to play with me."

To the unsophisticated ear, modern jazz, the type Harold Kaufman plays, seems to have the same problem as his patients. It sounds, well, disturbed. What's it all about, Harold?

"What you do is break the barrier of being harmonious. The more you listen the more you hear and don't want to repeat. You create new sounds that are your own, the spontaneous creation of nothing that existed before. It's the familiar but completely unfamiliar."

All clear? Very well, doc, set 'em up, and let's hope nobody shoots the piano player.

Fire Strikes Exhibit Area

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — A cigar or cigarette tossed into a waste basket ignited some upholstered pillows, then spread to destroy a whole floor of the National Furniture Market Sunday.

The nine-story building was packed with exhibitors, buyers and visitors in town for the Southern Fall Furniture Market, but firemen got everyone evacuated without injury.

Five firemen were treated and released at High Point Memorial Hospital for heat exhaustion and smoke inhalation.

Firemen smashed through windows on the sixth, seventh and eighth floors to reach the eighth floor blaze. They kept the fire contained on the eighth floor, but there was smoke and water damage on lower floors.

Herman Tashman's Shawnee-Penn Upholstery exhibit was the scene of the start of the fire. Tashman said a fire hose in the building wasn't long enough to reach the fire before it spread. He estimated losses in his exhibit at between $40,000 and $50,000.

Paul Fine, owner of the building, said the four showrooms on the eighth floor were "pretty much a total loss." But he had no total damage estimate. He said the building was insured, but each tenant carried his own insurance.

The building has only four windows on each floor. It was built before building codes required overhead sprinkler systems.

The only problem during the evacuation was the elevator, which trapped Jules Selcer of Minneapolis inside for nearly an hour before firefighters broke in and freed him.

The Rev. Virgil Whitehurst of Emerald Isle will be the guest speaker. Services will begin each night at 7:30 and will include special singing and a children's sermon.

The pastor, Rev. Larry Williams, and the church congregation invites the public to attend.

Chairs Session At Reidsville

ECU News Bureau
REIDSVILLE — Science education professors from Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky and Tennessee gathered here Oct. 21-22 for the 1977 conference of the Mid-Atlantic Association of Educators of Teachers of Science.

The conference was chaired by Dr. Charles R. Coble of the East Carolina University Department of Science Education.

Sessions featured discussions of new methods and research related to the improvement of science teacher training experiences.

Also attending the conference from ECU was Dr. Floyd Mattheis, a director of the organization; Dr. Moses M. Sheppard; and Dr. Dale Rice, who spoke on "Measuring Teacher Attitudes Toward Science."

N.C. Traffic Takes 9 Lives

By The Associated Press
Weekend traffic accidents claimed nine lives in North Carolina, boosting the state's 1977 death toll to 1,163, compared to 1,206 at this time last year.

Kenneth Brown, 24, of Clarkton, was killed Sunday when the car he was driving went off a rural paved road eight miles east of Elizabethtown in Bladen County and overturned.

Mary Georgia Propst, 96, of Rt. 1, Maiden, was killed Saturday afternoon when she was struck after stepping into a rural paved road near Maiden.

A one-car accident Saturday night claimed the life of Randy Howard King, 19, of Forest City, a passenger in a car that ran off a rural paved road and struck a bridge in Burke County about 14 miles south of Morganton. One other person was injured.

A pedestrian identified as Linwood Eugene Cain, 39, of Rich Square was struck and killed Saturday night on U.S. 258 in Northhampton County. The accident was just north of Rich Square.

WILD ASTERS — Bushes of flowering fall white asters are now at their peak season all across the state. Along woods, in fields and untended yards, the star-like clusters of small white flowers form masses of floral bouquets against the first colors of autumn leaves. (Reflector Photo By Jerry Raynor)

Angry Mother Of Six Subdues Bus Hijacker

ATLANTA (AP) — It was an angry, unafraid mother of six who subdued a man who commandeered a city bus by threatening to blow it up.

Mattie Bussey, 41, pinned the hijacker's arms behind his back and turned him over to police at the Georgia Capitol, where the man had made Metropolitan Atlanta Rapid Transit Authority bus driver W. J. Patrick take the bus.

The man threatened to ignite a can of gasoline he was carrying if he was not taken to see Gov. George Busbee or Mayor Maynard Jackson, police said.

"I don't know what made me do it," Mrs. Bussey said. "It just got on me. There were a lot of lives on that bus, including mine."

Police escorted the bus to the Capitol after Patrick radioed his dispatcher about the situation when the man first made his threat. Authorities persuaded the hijacker to let the passengers leave the bus at the state house.

After some of the 30 passengers had left through the front door, the remaining passengers panicked and jumped through the windows, Patrick said.

Mrs. Bussey, a mother of six, said the door closed before she could get off the bus and she asked if she could talk to the hijacker.

She walked up to him, grabbed his right arm and twisted it into his back. The bus driver and police then held the man, she said.

Bobby Gay, 41, was arrested and charged with kidnapping, aggravated assault and making terroristic threats.

"There were kids on the bus," Mrs. Bussey said. "They were hollering and screaming. I had my 10-year-old daughter on the bus and she was hollering and screaming."

"I was not afraid. I guess I was just thinking about my kid," said Mrs. Bussey, who works for the Atlanta Housing Authority.

The man, who held the bus for 20 minutes, said he was a mental patient, Patrick said, adding, "After a while he forgot all about the governor and the mayor and just kept saying he wanted some kind of permit to get into Central State Hospital."

Find 'Coastal Disease' Responsible Organism

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Virginia Tech researchers say they have found an organism that is believed responsible for the mysterious "coastal disease."

The disease is a tuberculosis-type ailment — mycobacteriosis — to which three-fourths of the coastal residents from Virginia to Texas may have been exposed, the researchers said.

Organisms called Battey bacteria have been found in three out of four water samples taken from the James River between Hopewell and Hampton Roads, the scientists said.

Tech biology professors Bruce Parker and Joseph O. Falkinham III are searching in Virginia's Tidewater region for the source of those bacteria. And they say they suspect that the source is farm animals and farms.

The bacteria cause mycobacteriosis, a lung disease resistant to common drugs that can be fatal if contracted while the victim is weakened by another disease, they said.

Falkinham and Parker said laboratory tests show the bacteria thrive at temperatures found in warm-blooded animals.

And they say another clue to the source of the disease is that often it's found near or downstream from centers of livestock and poultry production.

Symptoms of the disease include a low-grade fever, blood in sputum, chest pains and coughing blood, the researchers say.

"This disease is not as deadly and contagious as swine flu, but it is an opportunist," Parker said.

er said. "It seems to go to people who are already ill or run down. It finishes them off, so to speak."

Falkinham said there are about 35,000 cases of tuberculosis reported annually in the United States, resulting in more than 3,000 deaths.

"I would say that if we have 100 cases of TB in an area, particularly in the deep South, there is a good possibility that we have 20 cases caused by these related organisms," he said.

Falkinham and Parker said little is known about the source of the disease because it rarely kills by itself. They also said that the disease doesn't appear to be contagious.

One base for their research was a study of some 275,000 Navy recruits from all over the United States. The study was conducted in the late 1950s and early 1960s.

The men, who always had lived in the same counties, were given a test similar to that used to detect exposure to tuberculosis.

The researchers said the tests showed that more than 70 per cent of the men from southern coastal areas had been infected with the organism at some point in their lives. The men had not shown clinical symptoms of the disease.

Parker said the disease doesn't respond to drugs used to treat tuberculosis, but that an effective drug can be found more easily once the source of the bacteria is discovered.

The Tech scientists are cooperating with Howard Gruff of the New York State Health Department in a two-year study of the origin of the disease. That study is supported by a $120,323 grant from the National Institute of Health.

CAN WE DISCUSS THIS? — A youngster draws back as he stares at a syringe Sunday during an immunization program for childhood diseases at Herman Kiefer Health Complex in Detroit. Record of vaccinations is required in order to attend Detroit public schools, and 12,000 children face being sent home today unless they can provide proof of immunization. Less than 1,000 received their vaccinations over the weekend in a program sponsored by the Detroit Department of Public Health. (AP Laserphoto)

Jarvis Church To Have Dinner Meet

"Jarvis on Parade" is the theme for the Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church annual dinner meeting scheduled at the Moose Lodge Tuesday at 6:25 p.m.

Jarvis members will share a free hot barbecued chicken dinner, and a varied program, including recognition of the oldest and youngest persons in attendance, brief talks by H. Lyman Ormond Jr. and Charles Q. Brown, and a color slide presentation by Charles E. Kavanaugh.

The dinner will be provided by Dow Waters and 20 members of the Carson Bible Class under the direction of S.J. Waters. The desserts will be baked by ladies of the church. Associate pastor, the Rev. Bob Redmond, will open the program with an invocation.

Wm. H. Taft Jr., chairman of the Every Member Canvas, will preside. The program will begin with the Cherub and Crusader Choirs performing under direction of the minister of music Dan Holland. Two other choirs will perform: the Wesley Choir and the Chancel Choir.

Senior minister the Rev. James Bailey will give the benediction.

Those needing transportation to the Moose Lodge may call the church office. Also at the church, a nursery will be provided that night for preschool children.

Have Openings In 2 Classes

Pitt Technical Institute now has openings in two classes: Cabinetmaking and Secretarial Refresher.

The registration fee is $5 and students are expected to furnish their own supplies.

Fellowship For Doctor

Dr. David W. White of the East Carolina Eye Clinic in Greenville, was formally initiated as a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons at the annual convocation in Dallas, Texas, last week.

White completed his medical training at the University of Virginia School of Medicine in Charlottesville. After completing a medical internship at Stanford University in California, he returned to Charlottesville to complete his training in ophthalmology in 1962 at the University of Virginia Hospital.

A native of Norfolk, White has been in practice in Greenville since 1974. He is a diplomate of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology and holds membership in the American Association of Ophthalmology, the American Association of Physicians and Surgeons, the Southern Medical Association, the North Carolina Medical Society and the Pitt County Medical Society.

Horne To Speak At LWV Meet

Charles Horne, Director of the Greenville Utilities Commission, will be at the League of Women Voters meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church.

He will explain the Utilities Commission's position on two issues: Clean Water Bonds and Electricities.

The presentation will be followed by a question-and-answer period, with pro-con information from the State LWV available for these and other election issues.

In other business, the Energy Study Group will continue its examination of the issues on which the local League will reach agreement at the December meeting. Local Leagues all over the U. S. are studying the same questions. On the basis of their agreement, national League policy will be set and lobbying carried on.

The questions are divided into four groups: 1. How much (energy use)? 2. What shall we use (until 2000 — more or less conservation, domestic oil, imported gas, solar, etc. and after 2000 — high or low priority to bioconversion, solar, wind, cogeneration, breed, fusion, etc.)? 3. How (what government carrots and sticks should be used to bring about the favored growth rates and source utilization)? and 4. How should responsibility be divided between federal and state governments in developing and implementing energy policies and how should regional interests be balanced?

League members and friends are encouraged to attend the meeting and borrow and read two League publications, Energy Dilemmas and Energy Options. These publications are also available at Sheppard Library.

Tyson Elected President Of Alumni Chapter

Stan Tyson of Greenville was elected president of the Pitt County North Carolina Central University Alumni Chapter during the organization's meeting here on Friday.

Tyson succeeds D. D. Garrett of Greenville as president of the chapter.

Other officers elected during the session at the Cherry Oaks club facility included Don E. Ensley, vice president; Mary L. Williams, secretary; Earnest Brown, treasurer; and Garrett, reporter.

Chapter members voted to set dues at $2 per month and scheduled the next meeting for Nov. 18. The site for the November meeting will be announced.

The meeting was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Brown.

Customers Can Select Telephone They Want

The Carolina Telephone business office at 1530 Hooker Road, just off the highway 264 bypass here, is now a Phone Shop with a new look and a new way of doing business.

What is a Phone Shop? Don Collier, district commercial manager for the company, said it is a combination business office, show place, home decorating mart, and new products display.

"We still accept customer payments, provide information, handle inquiries, and take care of all the things our business office has done in the past," Collier emphasized.

It is also a Phone Shop, a new market concept which allows customers to select the telephone they want and to take them home for immediate installation.

If the customer's home has been prewired for special jacks or recently converted, the customer can simply plug his new, modular telephone into the jack receptacle. A special plate is mounted on the wall for installation of wall phones.

Phone Shop customers will be provided a pamphlet containing simple, step-by-step instructions for the installation of their new phones.

When new customers are arranging for service and extension phones, the Phone Shop is where they will pick out their phones. This should prove to be a much better arrangement than choosing a phone from a brochure, or over the telephone.

For example, try to describe a Candlestick phone to someone who's never seen one — without using your hands.

"Well, it's an old-fashioned telephone. You know, tall with a thing you talk into at the top and a receiver hanging on a little hook at the side. Oh, and the base is round."

Now describe the exact color of a Harvest Gold Trendline.

"That's easy. It's gold, not yellow. Well, not shiny gold, but you know — just harvest gold."

The Phone Shop will operate much like any retail store. A customer will come in, look over the various types of telephones attractively displayed in the store, and, with the help of a salesperson, select the number and type of telephone he wants.

If the home has already been converted to jacks, central office work is completed by the telephone company and the customer has service within a few hours.

If a customer's telephone should need repair, Carolina Telephone's repair service will help determine whether the problem is in the phone or in the line. If it's in the phone, the customer just unplugs it and brings it to the Phone Shop for on-the-spot repairs.

This way the customer does not have to wait for a repairman to come to the home, but can have his telephone repaired at his own convenience.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market lost more ground today as a prime rate increase continued its spread through the banking industry.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which closed out last week at a new two-year low, dropped another 1.30 to 807.00 by noon today.

Losers outnumbered gainers by a 4-3 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Several banks joined today in raising their prime lending rates from 7 1/2 to 7 3/4 per cent. The latest increase in the basic charge on blue-chip loans—the sixth this year—was initiated on Friday by New York's Citicorp.

The rising trend of short term interest rates last week brought a statement from the White House implicitly criticizing the Federal Reserve for its recent moves to tighten credit.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks slipped .10 to 50.51. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .20 at 113.89.

Volume on the Big Board dropped off to 7.20 million shares over the first two hours.

A Review

Met Listeners' Expectations

Rodney Schmidt, in a superior display of musicianship, led an attentive and knowledgeable audience through an evening which ranged from Mozart to Saint-Saens last night in Wright Auditorium. Dr. Schmidt's past performances have been of such caliber that the listeners arrived with highest expectations and he more than rose to the occasion, displaying youthful vigor without sacrificing the subtle richness of maturity.

Accompanied by Rosemary Fischer, Schmidt opened the program with the beautiful Mozart Adagio in E Major, originally a movement of the A Major Violin Concerto, and a pleasant introduction to the evening. It was followed by the Mozart Rondo in C Major.

Beethoven's "Spring" Sonata, composed in 1801, is with "The Kreutzer," one of the best known works for violin and piano. The piece gave the performers an excellent opportunity to demonstrate their intimate understanding of the ensemble necessary for a successful performance. Schmidt's rich tone and Ms. Fischer's controlled pianism blended well.

The second half of the program opened with the vivacious Schubert Sonatina in D Major. This delightful work may be only vaguely recognized by those parents of young string players who have heard it played at an ever-so-much slower pace.

Debussy's Sonate pour Violon et Piano, his last completed work, reflects his interest in mime and the theatre as in the colorful second movement one character after another races across the musical stage. Schmidt's interpretation makes this the high point of the performance.

Schmidt's final selection was Saint-Saens' Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso, a somewhat flashy number included in the repertoire of all great concert violinists. It is a challenge to a virtuoso violinist, and it is to Schmidt's credit that he carried it off with bravura and style.

Rosemary Fischer had the difficult task of trying to play a work originally scored for orchestra and she met the challenge. Trained in music therapy, Fischer nevertheless is an able ensemble player and East Carolina is fortunate to have added her to the music faculty.

The acoustics of Wright Auditorium, so much better than Fletcher and Mendenhall, led Dr. Schmidt to the courageous step of holding a Sunday night faculty recital there. The auditorium should be rejuvenated for continued use by the musical arts. After all, it is the only hall on campus suitable for a symphony orchestra performance.

The combination of academic responsibilities and teaching duties carried by the music faculty makes Schmidt's high quality performance even more impressive. The dedication and hard work necessary for such an evening was understood by the appreciative audience.

DRIVER KILLED — A 22-year-old Morehead City woman was killed this morning when the car she was driving ran into the path of a truck. According to Trooper A. G. Wright, the woman was traveling north on N. C. 43, about 14 miles south of Greenville, when she apparently fell asleep crossing the center line sideswiping a truck.

The driver of the truck, was identified as Lonnie David Simpkins of Greenville, was not reported injured. Identification of the woman is withheld pending notification of next of kin. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Probe Break-In At Local Store Acts On Nutrition Plan

Greenville police are continuing their investigation into a break-in at H. L. Hodges Co. on Fifth Street Saturday morning.

Chief Glenn Cannon said the incident was reported at 8:20 a.m. He noted that someone broke out a window in the front of the store, then broke the top from a glass display case and took several pistols.

In a meeting Thursday evening, the Mid-East Commission Board took action on the nutrition project proposal for 1978 and on committee appointments.

Reviewing the nutrition project proposal for 1978, director Sue Singleton said the region's meal allocation is 510 lunches per weekday, served at 14 sites in the five counties.

"I anticipate that the regional nutrition program will serve more meals daily than the allocated number," said Singleton.

Murfreesboro will open a site Monday, Oct. 24, at the Murfree Center on Broad Street, the director told the board. Forty meals will be served daily at Hertford County's second site.

According to Singleton, food contracts for the 1978 operation of the nutrition program will be awarded in November.

Jack Haden of Williamston made a motion to approve the nutrition program allocation for next year, and Richard Johnson of Bethel offered the second. The board vote was unanimous.

Kathy Donoghue, aging director, told the board that the regional older adults advisory council had been updated by replacing inactive members.

The following individuals were suggested as replacements on the advisory council: Chester Bright, Beaufort County; Kathryn Lynch, Mrs. Willie B. Hunt, Bertie County; Dr. Louis Smith, Hazel Brett, Mrs. Dicie Reid, Hertford County; Dr. Jack Holt, Martin County; Dr. L.F. Brewster, Pitt County.

Donoghue said the inactive members would remain on the council as non-voting members.

The eight individuals were approved by the board.

Executive director Bruce Beasley reported to the board concerning the hiring of an attorney for the commission. Beasley said he had discussed the idea with several towns and the League of Municipalities.

Beasley was then authorized to select the attorney and to pay him on the basis of actual work.

Bob Spivey, chairman of the board's Policy and Grievance Committee, presented a policy regarding requests to the commission for grantsmanship assistance by non-commission agencies or organizations. Spivey explained that the policy would permit the commission staff to offer grantsmanship services to non-members provided the request comes through either the respective town or county member of the commission.

The recommendation was accepted by the board.

In other business, the board approved a resolution for the proposed route of N.C. 906 from Martin County to Carteret County.

—appointed a five-member committee to study the possibility of the commission becoming a Council of Government —approved 15 clearinghouse applications requesting project funds.

Allison Easily Takes Race

By JERRY GARRETT
AP Motorsports Writer

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Donnie Allison is enjoying the finest season of his career, racing the Chevrolet that A.J. Foyt quit as uncompetitive.

"I guess I'm gettin' a little lucky in my old age," wisecracked the 38-year-old Allison, a Grand National veteran since 1967 when he was voted Rookie of the Year. "Actually I think we're doing so well because our whole team wants to race, enjoys racing, now."

Allison pushed his money winnings over the $100,000 mark for the first season in his career with the $17,135 he collected for running away with Sunday's American 500 Grand National stock car race. It was his second victory in 15 starts, and ninth top ten finish in 1977.

"A.J. is a good friend of mine," Allison pointed out, "but I don't think he gave 100 per cent when he drove Hoss Ellington's car."

Ellington, the car owner, summed it up a little more critically: "A.J. runs U.S. Auto Club races more than NASCAR, and NASCAR is more competitive racing. You can mess around, miss gears and spin out and all that stuff in a USAC race and still win. A.J. couldn't do that in NASCAR."

Ellington's team runs only a partial schedule, Allison reminded, and that makes it harder for the team to stay competitive.

"You can't miss too many of these races and then show up for one and be competitive," he said. "You really have to work at it."

"I'd like to run all 30 races. I'd rather win the Grand National championship more than anything else in my life now, but I don't want to do it so bad that I want to mess up my race team. I think we've got a good group right now."

Allison singled out Sunday's victory, the ninth of his career, as "probably the easiest race I've ever won."

He added, "I'm probably in the best shape of my life. I quit smoking in April. I really feel good."

Allison got off to a tremendous start, averaging an incredible 139.773 mph for the first 10 laps, about a half mile an hour faster than his pole position winning speed.

"The car was handling super," he said. "I don't care how many engines you've got in the car, if it ain't handling, you won't win."

Allison led 374 of the 492 laps around North Carolina Motor Speedway's slippery 1.017-mile oval. His average speed was slowed to 113.584 mph because of nine different accidents

"One time that No. 4 car (Randy Myers) lost it right in front of me. I didn't like that at all," Allison said. "That was about as close as I come to trouble all day."

Allison had tire troubles about the 175th lap, and dropped a lap down. It wasn't until the 237th circuit that Allison managed to get himself unslapped. But once he did, it wasn't long before he was in front once more. He was in that position most of the rest of the way.

"We've been real happy with Donnie as a driver," said Ellington. "He knows Grand National racing real well, and he's helped our team accomplish the things I knew it was capable of."

Asked if Allison would be rehired for next season, the generally evasive Ellington replied, "Definitely... I think."

Pate Wins Big In Southern Open

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — It was no secret, but Jerry Pate confirmed it anyway after waltzing to the $125,000 Southern Open golf tournament championship by seven strokes, the largest winning margin of the season.

"I knew nobody was going to catch me after the sixth hole," said the grinning 24-year-old from Pensacola, Fla.

What the 1976 U.S. Open champion, in only his second year on the tour, did Sunday was birdie four of those six holes to take a five-shot lead over Johnny Miller, who was second entering the final round only three shots back.

"I was two under through six holes and still found myself five shots behind," said Miller, winner of 17 tournaments but winless in nearly 20 months.

"That sorta knocked the wind out of my sails," said the 30-year-old Miller.

It knocked it out of the rest of the field, too.

Pate, winning his fourth tournament in his brief pro career, led from wire to wire, shooting rounds 64, 67, 69 and 66 to finish 14-under-par over the hilly par 70, 6,791-yard Green Island Country Club course.

Miller stumbled in with a 70, bogeying three of his final five holes to gain a share of second place with defending champion Mac McLendon. Steve Taylor and Phil Hancock, a former University of Alabama teammate of Pate's.

McLendon had a 68, Taylor and Hancock had 67s. Another stroke back were Wally Armstrong and Miller Barber. Armstrong had a 69 and Barber a 68.

U.S. Open champion Hubert Green had a 69 for 280 while Canadian Open winner Lee Trevino was at 287 after a 71.

Pate, who suffered a shoulder injury after winning the 1977 Phoenix Open in January, laid off for most of the first half of the tour to rest.

He came back in June and has made only 16 tournament appearances this year. His best previous finish was a fifth in the PGA championship.

But, he says, he has played well.

"I've played this way the last two, three months. The only difference was I hadn't been making the putts," the blond bomber said.

"The difference between winning and finishing three shots back is about $20,000. Money wise I haven't had that big a year but considering the time off for the injury, I've scored pretty well," said Pate. He has earned more than $92,000 with the $25,000 first prize Sunday.

"After I birdied the 10th hole, I played conservatively," he said. "All I had to do was make par. There was no way they were going to catch me." And no one did.

Coaches Right In Predicting Close Contest

CHARLESTON, S. C. — Pat Dye had warned all week that The Citadel was a dangerous team. He warned about having to play in the Bulldogs' backyard, with that noisy bunch of cadets.

His warnings almost went unheeded, however, as he had to remind the Pirates at halftime that those Bulldogs, true to their nickname, were a tenacious lot.

Bobby Ross, the Citadel coach, had spent the week telling people around the Charleston area that his team could win. "Mismatch," most people around that historic city were saying about the game. Both coaches agreed before the game that those prophets were wrong.

And the coaches were the ones who were the most prophetic. "There's no question that we got out of a trap tonight," Dye sighed in the locker room after the game. "Bobby Ross had a terrific game play offensively and defensively for us. They threw the ball quite well, better than I expected."

But Dye has said all along that you don't live by the pass. "And you can't live off the pass alone," he restated. "They have always been tough on us defensively, and they certainly were again."

Dye noted that two of the scores of The Citadel came off East Carolina turnovers.

The Pirates went into the fourth quarter trailing, 16-15, but made the comeback that carried to the 34-16 win. "I'm just as proud as if we had won by 100 points over what happened," Dye said.

"We were clearly outplayed in the first half. They had momentum and clearly shut us down offensively at the half. I was very concerned about our own people at halftime."

The Pirate people dug down deep, however, Dye noted. "They got back to their raisin' and showed some class in the second half."

Dye felt that after East Carolina scored its first two easy touchdowns, the Bucs let down. But they came back strong in the second half, moving the ball well nearly every series.

Perhaps the biggest story was Jimmy Southerland's game. The senior quarterback was not slated to play after complaining of pains in his stomach for several days. The quarterback had suffered from the flu during the week, and the Pirate team doctor was very concerned about it.

However, The Citadel's doctor, the surgeon general, checked Southerland just prior to game time and said he felt it would not harm Jimmy to play. Still, he was kept on the sidelines most of the game, until coming on in the final period to lead the way to the win.

Southerland hit Terry Gallaher on a pass for the go-ahead score that tied the school record for most touchdown passes in a career, 11, held by three other Pirates. Gallaher now has three games left to have a shot at breaking the mark.

Torrez Up For Grabs

MONTREAL (AP) — Mike Torrez, who won two games for the New York Yankees in the World Series, will be up for grabs in major league baseball's free-agent draft next month and while his wife would like him to return to the Montreal Expos, the right-hander says will go where the money is.

"I've explained to her that there are many things we have to look into," said Torrez Sunday. "We have gone this far and we have to have open minds."

Louis Chest Pains Tested

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Joe Louis, the former heavy-weight boxing champ whose devastating punches earned him the nickname "The Brown Bomber," was to continue a series of tests today after being admitted to the hospital with chest pains.

A spokeswoman at Sunrise Hospital said the tests were being conducted to determine whether Louis, 63, had suffered a heart attack. He was admitted to the hospital late Saturday night, and doctors said the testing would take two or three days.

"He was alert and talking," said spokeswoman Rena Lees, "but he is a sick man." He was listed in guarded condition.

Louis, who set a boxing record with 25 successful defenses of his title, has lived in Las Vegas for several years and works as a greeter at Caesars Palace hotel on the Strip.

A native of Lexington, Ala., Louis won the world heavy-weight title in 1937 by knocking out Jim Braddock in eight rounds in Chicago and lost only once before his first retirement in 1949. Max Schmeling stopped him in a nontitle bout, but Louis later knocked out Schmeling.

He made unsuccessful comebacks in 1950 and 1951, losing to Ezzard Charles and Rocky Marciano, respectively.

Louis was elected to the Boxing Hall of Fame in 1954.

The former champ's adopted daughter is in the same hospital. She has been in intensive care for three weeks since falling into a swimming pool at Louis' home.

Head coach Terry Donahue of UCLA played in a Rose Bowl game for the Bruins and also served as an assistant coach in the New Year's Day contest at Pasadena.

Texas Should Take Over No. 1 Spot

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

This week, Coach Bo Schembechler won't have to ask the media to drop his Michigan Wolverines from the No. 1 position in The Associated Press college football ratings. Early in the season, despite an unbeaten record, Schembechler said he wished the voters would do him a favor and vote someone else No. 1. They heeded his request when Michigan struggled past Navy 14-7 but a 41-3 rout of highly regarded Texas A&M put the Wolverines back on top and they've been there ever since. Until last Saturday. In a stunning upset, Michigan not only was beaten by Minnesota 16-0 but failed to score for the first time in 114 games. That opened the door for second-ranked Texas and the Longhorns fully expect to be

No. 1 this week following a 30-14 triumph over Southern Methodist.

"Now that we're No. 1, we're going to have to work to stay there," said kick returner Johnnie Johnson, anticipating this week's AP poll.

Even Notre Dame Coach Dan Devine inquired how the voting might go after the 11th-ranked Irish shocked No. 5 Southern California 49-19, handing the Trojans their worst pounding since a 51-0 rout at the hands of Notre Dame 11 years ago.

And Alabama's Bear Bryant, whose third-ranked Crimson Tide walloped Louisville 55-6, had No. 1 on his mind.

"If we just win our games I think we'll win the national championship," he said.

Elsewhere, fourth-ranked Ohio State trimmed Northwestern 35-15, No. 6 Oklahoma flattened No. 16 Iowa State 35-16, No. 18 Nebraska whipped No. 7 Colorado 33-15, No. 8 Kentucky buried Georgia 33-0, No. 9 Arkansas trounced Houston 34-0 and No. 10 Penn State downed West Virginia 49-28.

In the Second Ten, No. 12 Texas A&M beat Rice 28-14, No. 14 Pitt held off Syracuse 28-21, UCLA edged No. 15 California 21-19, No. 17 Brigham Young shaded Wyoming 10-7, No. 19 Florida scored 10 points in the final 1:32 to defeat Tennessee 27-17 and No. 20 Clemson nipped North Carolina State 7-3.

Texas Tech, the No. 13 team, was the only member of the Top Twenty to have the week-end off. The Red Raiders face Texas next Saturday.

Texas had problems with SMU for a while. The Longhorns fell behind on Mike Ford's 11-yard touchdown pass to Emanuel Tolbert in the second period but scored 20 points in the last six minutes before halftime and were never headed.

Leading the way was Earl Campbell, who rambled through the rain for a career high 213 yards, including a 58-yard touchdown run.

Michigan's Wolverines were held to just 80 yards on the ground — "That's unheard of," Schembechler said — although junior quarterback Rick Leach became the school's all-time total offense leader.

"The defense (Minnesota's) beat us," Schembechler continued. "That, plus an offense (Michigan's) that never showed its stuff. I've never seen us play that poorly."

While Minnesota's defense was rising to the occasion, the Golden Gophers got a short touchdown run from Marion Barber and three field goals from Paul Rogind.

Alabama crushed Louisville as Jeff Rutledge hit Ozzie Newsome with touchdown passes of 67 and 32 yards while Tony Nathan ran 71 yards for one score and set up another with a 51-yard punt return.

Quarterback Rod Gerald and running backs Ron Springs and Jeff Logan provided the big plays for Ohio State and freshman fullback Joel Payton plowed across for two touchdowns as the Buckeyes defeated Northwestern.

Joe Montana scored twice on quarterback sneaks and threw a pair of TD passes to Ken McAfee as Notre Dame handed Southern Cal its worst beating in 11 years. But the main topic of discussion in South Bend was the green jerseys donned by the Irish for the first time since 1963.

"There's a lot of heart under those jerseys," said Coach Dan Devine, who may have saved his scalp in the wake of a recent flurry of "Dump Devine" bumper stickers. "This is my most satisfying victory ever."

Kenny King, back after a shoulder injury, rushed for 141 yards to pace Oklahoma past Iowa State and into undisputed possession of first place in the Big Eight.

I.M. Hipp gained 172 yards as Nebraska turned back Colorado, Derrick Ramsey passed for three TDs as Kentucky handed Georgia only its third shutout in 14 years under Coach Vince

Dooley, Ron Calcagni's two scoring passes to Charles Clay 95 seconds apart helped Arkansas whip Houston and Penn State stretched its domination of West Virginia to 22 years — 21 victories and one tie.

Newsome Shines In 'Bama Win

By HOYT HARWELL
Associated Press Writer

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — "Ozzie Newsome catches them on his knees, on his back, most anywhere," coach Bear Bryant said Sunday in describing Newsome's brief but spectacular play in Alabama's 55-6 football victory over Louisville Saturday.

Newsome took in three passes for 124 yards, including scoring receptions of 67 and 32 yards, and all three were thrown by quarterback Jeff Rutledge, his only tosses before Alabama starters left the field.

After No. 3-ranked Alabama took command, Rutledge said, he was almost as interested in public address announcements of scores in Minnesota's 16-0 victory over No. 1 Michigan.

"We heard the Michigan scores on the sidelines and that helped fire us up," he said.

The Crimson Tide did not need much firing up to handle the outmanned Cardinals, whose coach, Vince Gibson, said, "We just got beat by an outstanding football team."

The Cardinals helped Alabama by giving up four fumbles.

With 70 men seeing action, the Tide scored twice in each quarter and was leading 41-0, before quarterback Randy Butler directed a 74-yard drive, capped by his 1-yard run, for Louisville's only score.

Alabama, now 6-1, has its sights set on a national title and Bryant was asked about that.

"If we just win our games, I think we'll win the national championship," he said. "We've got to worry about the teams we play, though."

The Tide, leading the Southeastern Conference with a 4-0 mark, returns to conference action against Mississippi State at Jackson Saturday night. Louisville, 3-3-1, plays at Marshall Saturday.

In using four quarterbacks and ten running backs, Alabama piled up 8.32 yards a play against the Cardinals for 574 yards of total offense.

They threw only six passes and completed five of them for 161 yards. Four of the completions were for touchdowns.

Greenville Club Victory

Three players scored two goals each to lead the Greenville Soccer Club to a 7-2 victory over first-place Wilson yesterday.

Bob Jones, Jeff Karpovich and Mike Umphlet all kicked two goals apiece and Danny O'Shea rounded out the Greenville scoring with a single goal.

The offensive explosion came against a team that had previously had only one goal scored against it in five games.

The win leaves the Greenville club with a 3-2-1 record and in second place of the Eastern Division. The next game for the club will be at Goldsboro next Sunday.

Woody Peete

Just prior to the game Saturday night in Charleston, East Carolina Sports Information Director Ken Smith informed the ECU press corps that Jimmy Southerland would not be playing. "He's had stomach pains, and we can't seem to pin it down. So he won't play," Smith relayed.

But a few minutes later, assistant coaches passed along the word to Smith that Southerland would be available if needed.

He was, and responded in the true role of the hero coming off the bench. He guided the Pirates to two fourth quarter touchdowns that won the game, 34-16.

His unknown pains didn't bother him, and he was to be checked after his return to Greenville.

One of Southerland's passes went to Terry Gallaher for a touchdown, and that tied a school record. Gallaher's reception was his 11th in his career for a score, a mark shared by three other former Pirates. He has three games left to snap that career mark.

Gallaher, with 89 yards, also moved past Rose High School Coach Dave Bumgarner into second place on the career reception yardage list. He has caught passes for 1,083 yards, and needs just 110 yards more to tie the mark of 1,193.

Willie Hawkins also belatedly broke a record he had already been credited with, the single season kickoff return yardage mark. A recheck after last week's game, in which Hawkins had been believed to have broken the mark, revealed that at some point the printed record was not the true one.

So Hawkins had to wait a week. But his returns against The Citadel boosted his total for the year to 492 yards, snapping the real, old record of 467, held by Reggie Pinkney. Hawkins has 20 returns on the year so far, and that ties Pinkney's single season mark in that category.

Time To Speculate

This is the time of year when the media begins looking around to find out which coaches are going to get the axe, and there seem to be plenty of candidates for the job.

A number might be in the area. Early in the year, it was said that Bo Rein had no chance at all to return to N.C. State after this season. But he seemed to have turned the team around before losing two straight over the last two weeks. He's probably saved his job, but the next few weeks will tell the tale.

Chuck Mills may soon join the list of those in trouble. His Deacons haven't done much for the Wake Forest alumni, and losing to Virginia may have been the fatal blow.

Mike McGee of Duke reportedly had been told win seven or else. That means no more than four losses. McGee has now lost those four, and still has to play Georgia Tech, State and Carolina.

In the Southeastern Conference, there may be several openings. Auburn isn't having any kind of year, and Doug Barfield may be on the way out. Mississippi is another school that could turn up looking around.

That will probably mean that successful coaches at other less "name" schools will be leaving.

Which brings us back to Greenville and Pat Dye.

There were rumors at the start of the year that if Auburn had a bad year that Dye would be the top candidate for that job. Would Dye go back to Alabama?

Well, perhaps only Dye knows for sure.

But if the offers start coming, you can bet that eastern North Carolina is going to be doing all it can to keep that man right here.

After all, Dye has already said that next year's team may be his best ever at ECU.

Clemson Downs Number 1 Team

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — The Clemson Tigers scored three second-half goals to come from behind and defeat St. Louis University 3-1 in a showdown of the country's top two college soccer teams Sunday.

The Billikens scored their single goal with less than 30 minutes left in the game by taking advantage of a Clemson miscue.

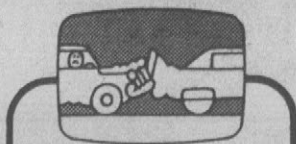

With the score deadlocked at 0-0, Clemson goalie John Bruins misplayed an easy shot on goal and let the ball bounce away from him to a St. Louis player who then fired a shot on goal. Tiger fullback Mark Alphonso had to reach up with his hand to knock the ball away and drew a penalty kick.

Taking advantage of the one-on-one situation, St. Louis midfielder Ty Keough drilled a low shot past Bruins to give St. Louis a short-lived 1-0 lead.

From that point, it was all Clemson as the Tigers came back strong on goals by Godwin Ogbueze, Christian Nwocha, and Taiwo Ogunjobi in the last 25 minutes of play to nail down the victory.

The Tigers, ranked No. 2, improved their record to 11-0, while the Billikens, the nation's top team, fell to 10-2.

Broncos Avoid Letdown Against Bengals

Twisting and Turning

Denver Broncos running back Otis Armstrong twists to break away from Cincinnati Bengals linebacker Jim LeClair (55) as Armstrong goes for a gain in the first half of an NFL game yesterday. The Broncos won the game, 24-13, to remain undefeated. (AP Laserphoto)

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
"I don't believe in letdowns," Denver Coach Coach Red Miller shrugged.

Coach Tom Landry and his Dallas Cowboys might do well to listen to the man from the mile-high city. Miller's Marvels, sky-high after their 30-7 romp over the Oakland Raiders a week ago, might have been forgiven if they'd turned in a lackluster performance in Cincinnati. But they were as tough as ever, with first and second-stringers kicking in to kick the Bengals 24-13.

That left them the only unbeaten team in the National Football League's American Conference. The Cowboys hold that distinction in the National Conference — but it wasn't easy staying that way. After emotional victories over division-rivals St. Louis and Washington the past two weekends, Dallas looked flat against Philadelphia and only a blocked punt, converted into a touchdown, enabled the Cowboys to nose out the Eagles 16-10.

In Sunday's other action it was New England 17, Baltimore 3; San Francisco 28, Detroit 7; Kansas City 21, San Diego 16; St. Louis 49, New Orleans 31; Oakland 28, the New York Jets 27; Pittsburgh 27, Houston 10; Atlanta 16, Chicago 10; Miami 31, Seattle 13; Cleveland 27, Buffalo 16; Green Bay 13, Tampa Bay 0, and the New York Giants 17, Washington 6. Minnesota visits Los Angeles tonight.

"The mark of a good team is when reserves have to come in," Miller said — and he knew what he was talking about. Craig Morton, who had teamed with Jack Dolbin on an 81-yard go-ahead TD play late in the first half, went out with an injury. The Broncos could have collapsed — but second-year quarterback Craig Penrose kept them moving, directing a 63-yard touchdown drive in the fourth period to lock matters up.

Cowboys 16, Eagles 10
"We're glad to be 6-0 after that one," Landry said of the Cowboys' squeaker in Philadelphia. "We were flat after St. Louis and Washington back-to-back. That takes a lot out of a team."

The Cowboys were sputtering along before Jay Saldi and Charlie Waters woke them up. Saldi blocked a Spike Jones punt in the fourth period and Waters ran the ball 17 yards for what turned out to be the winning touchdown.

Patriots 17, Colts 3
"It wasn't the whole season but it was darn close to it," quarterback Steve Grogan said after he completed 11 of 16 passes for 214 yards and a touchdown against the Colts. "I played a smarter game than I have in a long time."

While Grogan had plenty of time to pass, Bert Jones was kept busy by the Patriots' swarming offense and never got Baltimore moving.

Lions 7
Jim Plunkett, calling his own signals for the first time this season, connected with Gene Washington on first-half touchdown passes of 32 and 35 yards to beat the Lions for San Francisco's first victory of the season.

Rams-Vikings Tonight

By JACK STEVENSON
AP Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Although the Los Angeles Rams have been a comparatively successful football team in recent years, they haven't had much success against their opponent in tonight's nationally televised game, the Minnesota Vikings.

The meetings between these two hard-hitting National Football Conference foes have been characterized by close scores and Minnesota victories. In their 10 contests since 1969, the Bud Grant-coached Vikings show an 8-1-1 record against Los Angeles, which has been coached by George Allen, Tommy Prothro and Chuck Knox during that span.

And Minnesota, which has played in four Super Bowls — losing all — during Grant's tenure, made it there three times by whipping the Rams in the playoffs.

Both Grant and Knox, whose teams played to a 10-10 regular season tie last year before the Vikings bounced back with a 24-13 triumph in the NFC Championship game, expect another tight game.

"We wound up in an overtime tie last year, and then beat the Rams in a close game for the NFC championship," said Grant. "And the preseason game this year went down to the final minutes before it was decided on a blocked punt."

Lakers Blow Big Lead

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers are going to have a difficult time playing better than they did in the first half of Sunday night's game against Phoenix. And it's doubtful they'll be ever be much worse than they were in the second half.

The Suns overcame a 62-38 deficit at halftime to score a 104-101 National Basketball Association victory in the Lakers' home opener before 10,481 at The Forum.

In the only other NBA game Sunday, the San Antonio Spurs crushed the Seattle SuperSonics 112-94.

Los Angeles raced to a 30-12 advantage after one quarter and led by 26 points late in the second period. But the second half was a different story.

"We put on a clinic in the first half and couldn't do anything right in the second half," said Los Angeles Coach Jerry West. "This pretty much indicates the way we have been playing this season — that is getting an early lead and not holding it."

"I told my team at halftime that we couldn't get it all back at once and to be patient," said Phoenix Coach John McLeod. McLeod was right. The Suns needed 15:33 to deadlock the game, tying it at 81 on a jump shot by rookie Walter Davis with 8:27 remaining.

Paul Westphal sparked Phoenix' second-half surge, scoring 19 of his game-high 26 points. Alvan Adams, who made only 2-of-17 field goal attempts in the first half, was 4-for-8 after the intermission. He finished with 12 points and a team-leading 13 rebounds.

Earl Tatum led the Lakers with 20 points. Kermit Washington had 16 points and 21 rebounds, but scored 14 points and grabbed 14 rebounds in the first half.

With 15 seconds left in the game and the Lakers trailing 103-99, Washington missed three free throw attempts. Davis scored 17 points, 14 coming in the second half.

Spurs 112, SuperSonics 94
Larry Kenon scored 28 points and grabbed 18 rebounds to pace San Antonio's victory over Seattle.

George Gervin added 20 points for the Spurs, who evened their record at 2-2, while Billy Paultz and Mark Oberding had 16 apiece. The Sonics were paced by Bruce Seals, who scored 19 points.

The Tar Heel victory was the first time UNC has beaten the independent Gamecocks since 1964, when they were still in the ACC. North Carolina, now 5-2 and leading the ACC, puts its unblemished conference record on the line next Saturday at Maryland in a game that will do much to settle the league race.

Clemson broke into the AP's top 20 last week, and responded by nipping North Carolina State 7-3, giving the Wolfpack its second Atlantic Coast Conference loss against three wins and

Chiefs 21, Chargers 16
Kansas City took a lot longer before breaking into the win column.

With barely 2½ minutes to play, San Diego led 16-7. But Tony Reed bulled in from one yard out to cut the margin to two points and, a scant 31 seconds later, safety Tim Gray dashed 16 yards with Rickey Young's fumble for the TD that sent the Chiefs home happy.

Cardinals 49, Saints 31
Mel Gray caught passes from quarterback Jim Hart and running back Terry Metcalf for touchdowns and Wayne Morris scored four times on short-yardage runs in St. Louis' wide-open victory. Bobby Scott passed for two touchdowns for the Saints, who wiped out the Cardinals' 21-0 lead, then fell back again.

Raiders 28, Jets 27
Oakland wiped out the Jets' 27-14 lead as Ken Stabler fired his second and third touchdown passes of the game, fourth-quarter strikes to Fred Biletnikoff and Mike Siani. Stabler was virtually overshadowed by New York's young Richard Todd, who threw four TD strikes. A missed extra point by Pat Leahy was the final margin.

Steelers 27, Oilers 10
Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw paid Houston back for his injury in a loss to the Oilers two weeks ago. With his left wrist in a cast, his right arm threw two touchdown passes.

Dan Pastorini, the Oilers' quarterback also injured in that earlier game, should have missed this one. The Steelers stole five of his passes.

Falcons 16, Bears 10
With about two minutes to go, Chicago appeared to have a one-point victory over Atlanta. But the Bears' Steve Schubert fumbled a punt deep in his own territory. Atlanta recovered and Haskel Stanback plowed in moments from the two-yard line for the Falcon victory.

Dolphins 31, Seahawks 13
Bob Griese hit Nat Moore with a pair of key passes, one of them for a touchdown, the other setting up one of Don Nottingham's two scoring runs in the Dolphins' rout of Seattle.

Browns 27, Bills 16
Brian Sipe passed for two touchdowns, one of them a deflected 52-yarder to Paul Warfield, in Cleveland's victory over Buffalo. The Bills got 99 yards from O.J. Simpson.

Packers 13, Bucs 0
Tampa Bay, in an instant replay of 1976, remains the only winless team in the NFL. The Packers did them in on Chester Marcol's second-period field goals of 40 and 44 yards and Eric Torkelson's five-yard TD run following a third-quarter blocked kick.

Giants 17, Redskins 6
The Giants, who rallied to beat Washington in their opening game of the season, did it again. They wiped out the Redskins' 6-0 halftime lead as Doug Kotar sprinted 17 yards for one TD and Joe Pisarcik passed 23 yards to Jimmy Robinson for another.

Heels Prepare For Tigs

Facing a date this week with No. 20 Clemson, North Carolina Coach Bill Dooley says he won't mind if his Tar Heels continue to be ignored in the national rankings.

"I really don't think the ratings matter until the end of the season," Dooley said after UNC earned a tough 17-0 shutout over South Carolina. "We've got a tough stretch ahead and that's my main concern. We have Maryland next, then Clemson, Virginia and Duke."

Clemson broke into the AP's top 20 last week, and responded by nipping North Carolina State 7-3, giving the Wolfpack its second Atlantic Coast Conference loss against three wins and

Carter Welfare Plans Faced Familiar Obstacles

GREENVILLE HAUNTED HOUSE — The Greenville Haunted House being used by the Jaycees is this big house at 702 Evans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's welfare plan has been before Congress for scarcely seven weeks, and people already are talking about a salvage operation.

At hearings before the special House welfare subcommittee last week, witnesses casually talked about what might be saved from the overall $30.2 billion welfare package.

Nobody agreed on what should be salvaged any more than they agreed what should be abandoned.

But the widespread uneasiness with the cost, the lack of guarantee of jobs for all poor persons wanting them or the low level of benefits has raised the specter that Carter's plan faces the same conflicting expectations that killed former President Richard Nixon's proposed welfare reform.

Brookings economist Richard Nathan, who says the present welfare system has been finetuned to rid it of most errors, says the early enthusiastic reactions to Carter's plan were misleading.

"The governors, in particular, were quite eager to see some fiscal relief coming their way," Nathan said. But after hard study of the details, many "are coming forward now with questions and with criticisms, and quite a few people, myself included, conclude that this really isn't a good approach."

Governors and other state officials are among the 80 witnesses scheduled to testify in the weeks ahead. But some key groups already have been heard.

The unions are skeptical that the private sector jobs will exist in the numbers the administration says they will. They are afraid that the 1.4 million publicly funded jobs for welfare recipients will be make-work jobs or, worse, be genuine jobs paying only the minimum wage that will compete with jobs paying higher wages held by unionized city or county workers.

Women's groups are skeptical that either kind of job will be provided for the bulk of the existing welfare population, women with children, and they are uncertain whether to push hard for the rest of the package.

Therapists At Meeting

ATLANTIC BEACH—Some 150 physical therapists from across the state gathered at the Whaler Inn, Atlantic Beach recently, to participate in an educational and business meeting of the N. C. Physical Therapy Association.

Two Greenville physical therapists, George F. Hamilton, chairman and professor of physical therapy at ECU, and Frank A. Harper, chief physical therapist with Eastern Orthopedic Group of Greenville led two of the three educational sessions. Ms. Beverly Garrison, a 1977 graduate of the ECU physical therapy program presented a report on research she conducted as a senior student.

The associations representing the 15 million blind and disabled citizens say the President's program doesn't provide high enough benefits for their constituents and, furthermore, assumes they are all unemployed. The associations said many disabled and blind persons "need only an active job training and placement program in order to become employable."

And the President's prime Senate sponsor, New York Democrat Daniel Patrick Moynihan, says that despite his initial praise he now has read the fine print and finds the program "grievously disappointing."

Some critics say Moynihan is retaliating against the White House after not getting a guarantee of immediate fiscal aid to New York City, but, whatever his motives, his turn-around dramatically focused attention on the problems Carter faces in getting his program through.

Rep. James C. Corman, D-Calif., chairman of the special House welfare subcommittee, says he isn't discouraged by the considerable criticism thus far in the hearings.

"I realized that each group has its own stake in this and that a welfare reform plan is as full of conflicting interests as the tax code," Corman said in an interview.

"But I would ask any of them: do you like this better than what you have?" he said.

He also says no one is comfortable with the complexities of the jobs portion of the bill and fears over that section have to be resolved "or I wouldn't vote for it."

Corman is disturbed that few of the Democrats have attended the all-day hearings, while most Republicans have, but he is most unhappy at the prospect that the subcommittee can't finish marking up the bill by Dec. 22 as he had planned.

Congress may not recess until mid-November, partly because of delays on the energy bill, and he's not sure he can get his members back right after Thanksgiving for another three weeks' hard work. But time will be even more scarce in January, he noted.

"The time problem leaves me very discouraged," he said.

The ranking Republican, Rep. Barber Conable of New York, says he thinks it will take more time than Corman is counting on anyway because, as a veteran of most recent attempts to revise the welfare system, he finds Carter's plan "unduly complicated."

But Conable says he isn't giving up on the plan.

"It will require a considerable laying on of hands by Congress, but I'm all for looking at it and trying to work something out," Conable said.

Amateur Radio Draws Cream Of The CBers

By JOHN D. McCLAIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The CB radio phenomenon is spilling over into the ranks of ham, or amateur radio, according to the American Radio Relay League, the nation's largest ham organization.

The ARRL says there now are 325,000 licensed amateurs, up from 280,000 a year ago. Another 50,000 persons are attending classes this fall to get their ham "ticket," it says.

"Many of these newcomers are CBers, and we're getting the cream of the crop — people really interested in two-way radio communications," Peter O'Dell, ARRL's public information officer, explained in a telephone interview from his Newington, Conn., office.

Is it difficult for a CBER to get a ticket, as hams call their licenses? Not at all, replies O'Dell, who cites as an example a 4-year-old boy who passed the novice exam recently.

The novice, or first of five amateur licenses, requires ability to send and receive International Morse Code at five words-a-minute and knowledge of the most elementary theory needed to operate a radio.

The novice is eligible to use portions of four of the ham bands to send code, but no voice communication.

"But with relatively simple equipment, a novice can literally work around the world," O'Dell says.

Is ham equipment expensive? O'Dell says a beginner can pick up a good used radio for less than $200, or a new set for about $250.

"Of course, like anything else, one can spend whatever he wants," O'Dell adds, noting a top-of-the-line transceiver costs about $6,000.

The Morse code requirement apparently frightens some potential hams. In fact, the government is considering a "communicator" license that would not require code.

But O'Dell says people can learn enough code in two hours to pass the novice test.

Why is code necessary? First, it's required by international treaty. It's also the most effective means of radio communication and uses less expensive equipment than that needed for voice transmissions.

The easiest way to get a ham license, O'Dell says, is to attend amateur classes.

"If an interested individual will write the league," he says, "it will put them into contact with a local instructor." Just write ARRL, Newington, Conn. 06111.

After mastering the novice requirements, many hams start climbing the other rungs in the amateur ladder.

The leading agricultural product of St. Kitts, West Indies, is sugar. Its second major crop is peanuts.

Has New Means Of Fitting Dentures

By LeROY POPE
NEW YORK (UPI) — A Jersey City dentist has developed a new procedure for making and fitting dentures that he says possibly could save 43 million Americans up to $300 each. That's a staggering $12.9 billion.

Dr. M. David Isaak has used the method on between 500 and 600 patients. He recently described it in the California Dental Association Journal and to an audience of 500 dentists from all over the country at Newark's Beth Israel Hospital.

He said the professional criticism he had received on his new method was constructive. But he said, "We dentists have become too expensive ... and we should welcome methods that enable us to cut costs and serve more patients."

Dr. Isaak said his method enables a set of dentures to be made and fitted in a single four-hour visit and cuts the average cost of an upper or lower plate to $175, about half the present average.

The dentures are made of the same acrylic plastic and gold chassis and porcelain teeth as those by the conventional method and the initial and final steps in producing them are the same. It is in the fitting procedure that the big savings in time and money are made.

A new type plastic that becomes pliable when heated is used for the preliminary fitting of the new dentures in the patient's mouth. The dental laboratory that is going to make the final plate sends a technician to the dentist's office to work with him in making the fitting after the plaster impression of the patient's mouth has been made.

The final plate can be made in the dentist's office, but the job actually is entrusted to the laboratory man. The laboratory charge remains about the same, but the whole procedure is simplified and a number of trips of the plate back and forth between the dentist's office and the lab are eliminated, Dr. Isaak said.

He said there are 43 million Americans who need denture plates and the new method would enable dentists to reduce costs for them.

"For the elderly it often is extremely difficult to get transportation to and from the dentist's office for a series of costly visits extending over a month or six weeks to get the plates properly fitted," he said. "The new method assures just as good a fit at the single visit and gives the dentist time to see many more patients."

Bethel PTA Carnival

The Bethel Elementary School will hold a Halloween Carnival on Friday, Oct. 28, at the school from 6-9 p.m.

Hot dogs, french fries, and drinks will be on sale in the lunchroom.

A costume contest will be held on the auditorium stage at 8 p.m. The groups will be judged in categories of K-3, 4-6, and 7-8. There will be a boy and girl chosen from each group.

Various games will be available to the public.

The Horror House will be in the mobile unit beside the school.

Anyone wishing to help or donate their time or needed items, contact the school at 825-3801 or Mrs. Willie Mae Carney.

Program On Child's Fears

A program entitled "Fears: Ways of Helping Your Child Cope with Them" will be presented at Waldrop Acres Preschool in Winterville on Oct. 28 at 7:30 p.m.

Vicki McPherson, an ECU graduate student in Child Development and Family Relations, is sponsoring the program.

The public is invited and admission is free.

For more information, call 756-3096.

Epilepsy Meeting

The Pitt County Epilepsy Association will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, October 27 at 7:30 p.m., at the Willis Building, corner of First and Reade Streets.

The program will discuss the physical and emotional aspects of epilepsy, and will be presented by a group of ECU nursing students. The public is invited.

TO ALL CAROLINA TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY SUBSCRIBERS

DOCKET NO. P-100, SUB 45
BEFORE THE NORTH CAROLINA UTILITIES COMMISSION

In the Matter of

Investigation of Intrastate Long Distance, WATS and Interchange Private Line Rates of All Telephone Companies Under the Jurisdiction of the North Carolina Utilities Commission

NOTICE OF HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the North Carolina Utilities Commission has instituted an investigation into the rates, charges, and regulations applicable within North Carolina for long distance, WATS and interchange private line service. This action is made necessary as a result of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company application (which could affect the rates on long distance calls for customers of all North Carolina telephone companies) for a rate adjustment as filed in Docket No. P-55, Sub 768, wherein Southern Bell proposes changes in rates, charges and regulations which, if approved in whole or in part for Southern Bell alone, would result in non-uniform rates for these services in North Carolina.

The Commission is of the opinion that it is in the public interest that uniform intrastate long distance, WATS and interchange private line rates be maintained for all telephone companies under its jurisdiction. Accordingly, the Commission has established a separate docket, P-100, Sub 45, and instituted an investigation into said intrastate long distance, WATS and interchange private line rates, made all telephone companies under its jurisdiction parties to the investigation and set the matter for hearing. The Commission's investigation is for the purpose of determining if changes should be made in the present intrastate rates for these services, and, if so, if the charges should be made applicable to all telephone companies under the Commission's jurisdiction. The Commission will also consider in its investigation whether or not to continue the concurrence provisions which are now applicable for Enterprise service and the uniform rates which are now applicable for foreign exchange service.

The primary changes in long distance rates herein under consideration include general increases in all categories of intrastate toll calls, changes in the mileage bands, and the establishment of two new discount time periods during weekdays of 8:00 A.M. to 9:00 A.M. and 12 Noon to 2:00 P.M. The present and proposed schedules are shown below:

Other changes in rates, charges and regulations are proposed relating to interexchange private lines, foreign exchange and Enterprise Service. Details of the changes are available at all Southern Bell business offices or at the North Carolina Utilities Commission, Dobbs Building, 430 North Salisbury Street, Raleigh, North Carolina, where a copy of Southern Bell's application is available for public review.

The Utilities Commission has suspended the proposed rate adjustments, has set the application for investigation and hearing and has required each company to comply with all provisions of law and Commission Rules in support of the application to show that the proposed increases are just and reasonable.

The hearing on the matter has been scheduled to begin on December 6, 1977 in the Commission Hearing Room, Dobbs Building, 430 North Salisbury Street, Raleigh, North Carolina at 9:30 A.M. and will continue through December 7, 1977 as necessary. On these dates, the Commission will hear the testimony and cross-examination of witnesses for all telephone companies, the public staff, intervenors, and public witnesses.

The Commission requires that each company inform its customers of the following procedures by which comments regarding the rate application can be made part of the record of the case upon which the Commission must base its decision. Persons desiring to intervene in the matter as formal parties of record should file a motion under North Carolina Utilities Commission Rules R1-6 and R1-19 on or before November 25, 1977. The testimony of intervenors shall be filed on or before November 16, 1977. Other persons desiring to present testimony for the record should appear at the public hearing. Persons desiring to include any information which those persons wish to be considered by the Commission in its investigation of the matter. The contents of letters and petitions will be received in the official file as statements of position. Specific facts, however, will be considered on the basis of testimony presented at the public hearing. Interventions or statements should be addressed to the Chief Clerk, North Carolina Utilities Commission, Post Office Box 991, Raleigh, North Carolina 27602.

The Public Staff of the Utilities Commission through the Executive Director is required by statute to represent the using and consuming public in proceedings before the Commission. Statements to the Executive Director should be addressed to:

Mr. Hugh A. Wells
Executive Director
North Carolina Utilities Commission
Post Office Box 991
Raleigh, North Carolina 27602

The Attorney General is also authorized to represent the using and consuming public in proceedings before the Commission. Statements to the Attorney General should be addressed to:

Hon. Rufus L. Edmisten
Attorney General
c/o Utilities Division
Post Office Box 629
Raleigh, North Carolina 27602

Fellow Musicians Are Borge's Best Audience

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Victor Borge has one more dream to realize.

The noted jester "eventually hopes to conduct opera — even if I have to use another name."

An alias, he feels, might be desirable so people wouldn't regard serious artistry as a new waggish caper.

"My heart has always been in music," insists the star who on is best known for verbal quips and merry mannerisms, although he started keyboard studies at age 4 and is a highly skilled performer.

Borge has flashed his baton over symphonic orchestras including the Philadelphia, Cleveland, Los Angeles, London, and Concertgebouw of Amsterdam.

"That work has become an extremely welcome variation of my appearances because I bring people to symphony concerts who have never been there and don't know what they are about."

"We play three or four compositions straight," he explains, "then something more humorous because that is what people expect from me."

Musicians, he quickly adds, "are my best audience because they know I know what I am doing."

Borge recently returned to Broadway for a four-week engagement in "Comedy With Music," a standard melange of the word games and never-quite-completed piano pieces that are his laugh-generating indispensables.

"This is still the supreme court," he says of Broadway.

The media critics responded with generally admiring notices, although several flawed a deja vu quality — which just possibly may have already been sensed by the entertainer in his thoughts about future activities.

By booking freak, Borge has visited Broadway three times at precise 12-year intervals. On Jan. 3 next he reaches 70, a milestone appreciably diminished by the enthusiastic vigor and irrepressible jocularity that he displays.

"I'm sometimes asked if I'm going to retire, and I reply, 'Retire from what? Retire from the things that come naturally?'"

"I do the same thing off-stage that I do onstage — put on an act, really."

Borge has never tried to figure just how many miles he has covered on his mirth mission.

"I'm sure I've been as far as the moon and back," he says. Then with a twinkle he adds, "I'm delighted to say that I've been so well received that I was able to pay my own transportation both ways."

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, OCT. 25, 1977

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to put in motion new plans by which you can expand your activities beyond present boundaries. Proceed with enthusiasm and confidence and many benefits will come your way.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Go after your hopes with enthusiasm and they will soon be yours. Attend a group affair and gain many benefits.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Contact a trusted adviser and follow suggestions given you. Show increased devotion to your mate and get fine response.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Know what your true desires are and then go after them in a most positive way. Avoid one who could give you trouble.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you express loyalty and affection for higher-ups, you find you gain their favors easily today. Think constructively.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A good time to engage in new outlets that will help you expand along lines that are suited to you. Show appreciation to congenials.

Divorce Kits Gain Ground

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Do-it-yourself divorce kits are gaining ground in a few states. James Prevolos, president of the North Bay Chapter of the Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers, thinks they make more business for lawyers.

"If there are children or property, the do-it-yourselfers foul up so badly that the lawyers get more for straightening things out," he said.

Foul-ups can include a wife's ignorance of her husband's assets and what the law says about dividing them. For example, New Jersey courts say retirement and pension benefits go into the kitty and are dividable on divorce.

In New York City, matrimonial lawyer Doris Jonas Freed said she expected kits to be wiped out within a year by new court rulings that permit lawyers to advertise their fees for routine cases. Ms. Freed is chairman of the American Bar Association's Committee on Research, Family Law Section. She also expects those decisions to put lay-operated divorce clinics out of business and lower lawyers' fees for simple divorces to as little as $85-$100.

Q.1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A1063 ♥5 ♦Q852 ♣10763

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

1 ♥ Pass 1 ♣ Pass

3 ♥ Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—Pass. You have about as bad a hand for your partner as you could possibly have—one trick and a singleton in his suit. Partner's jump rebid of his own suit, though highly invitational, was not forcing. If partner can make game opposite this collection, he probably made the wrong rebid.

Q.2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠75 ♥Q976 ♦K52 ♣AJ63

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

1 ♥ 2 ♣ 4 ♥ Pass

Pass 4 ♣ ?

What action do you take?

A.—Double. Your decision to jump to four hearts was a slight stretch, but warranted because your hand was too good for three hearts. Now, however, you cannot afford to pass since that would be construed as forcing—inviting partner to bid five hearts if he can. Since you have reasonable defensive values, you should warn partner about the hazards of bidding on.

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠983 ♥AKQ1052 ♦A ♣A76

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

Pass Pass 1 ♣ Dble.

Rdble. Pass Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—From the sound of the auction, you can't expect much from partner. Nevertheless, you have a very powerful playing hand and you should advise partner of this fact. We suggest you jump to two hearts to show a hand that should produce eight tricks on its own.

Q.4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠KJ84 ♥KQ1072 ♦5 ♣A87

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1 ♥ INT 2 ♦ 2 ♣

What action do you take?

A.—Pass. We trust you didn't let your spade holding tempt you into doubling. Bear in mind that partner's two diamond bid was weak, based probably on no more than a long suit. If he had a good hand, he would have doubled one no trump! Since you have a minimum opening, it's highly unlikely that you can defeat two spades—especially if you tip off your trump holding.

Q.5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AQJ932 ♥107 ♦A84 ♣65

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

1 ♥ Pass 1 ♣ Pass

3 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Obviously you are in the slam zone, but the correct way to investigate the possibilities is with a cue-bid of four dia-

Jimmie Walker Seeks A More Diverse Image

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jimmie Walker, whose "Good Times" cry of "dyn-o-mite" has become a catchword for the young, is shifting from comedy to drama in a TV movie on CBS next Wednesday.

It's "The Greatest Thing That Almost Happened," in which the tall, lanky comedian from New York plays a high school basketball star stricken with leukemia during a winning season.

For Walker, seen last month in the premiere episode of ABC's "Love Boat," Wednesday's effort marks his first serious acting role since he's been in show business.

The tale of comics who secretly long to play Hamlet is a familiar one in Hollywood. But Walker has a different reason — equally familiar — for wanting to go serious all of a sudden.

"It's mainly because of an image situation," he said, meaning the image he thinks he's gotten in four seasons of playing the character "J.J." in "Good Times."

Sure, it gives him a steady income, helped cause a comedy album, "Dyn-O-Mite," and gets him guest shots on various shows.

But he says the role also makes people think of him only as J.J., whom he calls "kind of a cartoon character."

Like David Brenner and the late Freddie Prinze, Walker got his start at New York's famed comedy showcase, the Improvisation, as a stand-up comic.

But when he works clubs now, he says, "people bring their kids and think I'm going to do 'dyn-o-mite,' and that isn't even close to what I do."

Walker, who's doing a stage show this week with Gladys Knight and the Pips at a suburban New York theater, said he's been a professional comedian for more than nine years and likes the trade.

"And that's it," he added. "That's all I've been doing and that's really what I want to do."

He said he's not trying to ease into serious drama roles on a steady basis, "but I'll probably do a few more, just for the image thing, to let people know I'm a human being."

He was asked if he'll go back to the club circuit full-time if CBS drops "Good Times." He said no, not right away, that he'd have a go at movies in hope that'll boost his drawing power in the clubs, "which is very weak right now."

The remark seemed odd, considering the weekly exposure Walker gets in "Good Times."

"Well," the comic said, "the 'Good Times' exposure has slowed it (club work) down because people see you in a TV series and they don't really know what you do in night clubs."

He said he's been getting more club work of late, mainly because of guest shots as a stand-up comic on the "Tonight" show and steady appearances on the gags-and-games show, "Hollywood Squares."

"For my money," concluded Jimmie Walker, "those are the two most important things I do on television."

610,824 At State Fair

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - Old state fairs never die; they just move on to another town. Today ours is in Albany, Ga.

It was a good year for the fair in Raleigh, despite the fact that the 610,824 people who came failed to set an attendance record.

The all-time record of 615,588 was set in 1975, but attendance last year dipped well below 500,000 because of rain and football competition, and fair manager A.K. Pitzer said before the fair opened this year he would be happy with anything in excess of 600,000.

Clean-up crews have been at work since the fair closed at midnight Saturday, and Pitzer said the Dorton Arena and the Gov. W. Kerr Scott Building had to be ready for other events by Tuesday.

One of the peskiest cleaning problems is the manure of assorted types left from the agricultural exhibits. Fairgrounds crews buried it each day, but Pitzer has other plans for it.

"Some people ask to take some for their gardens and we let them have all they want," he said. "I wish more people would take some."

The carnival portion of the fair, meanwhile, has been packed out of town on its train.

The same rides and side-shows that were drawing crowds in Raleigh Saturday are set up today in Albany, Ga., at somebody else's fair.

The last day of the North Carolina fair Saturday was a big one, with an attendance of 111,000.
