

For Extradition

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - Gov. Jim Hunt said today that North Carolina will press vigorously for extradition of Joan Little, a prison escapee who has said from a New York jail that she would rather die than return to the state.

Carolina prison. He said "her statements have probably hurt our state." The governor said he toyed with the idea of allowing New York to prosecute her without pressing for extradition so that she could make a first-hand comparison with New York prisons.

Line Issue Blocks School Bd. Votes

By DEBBIE JACKSON Reflector Staff Writer Superintendent of the Pitt County Schools Ott Alford announced following a closed session at yesterday's Board meeting that the Pitt County Board of Elections will not be able to hold either the city or county school board elections until the dispute is settled over the school district lines.

The program is designed to promote better use of school facilities by the community that it serves. An East Carolina University graduate in Parks, Recreation, and Conservation, Keene described herself as "people-oriented" and said that she is "excited" about her new role. In further business, Associate Superintendent Tom Craft reported on the ratings recently received by the school cafeterias. He noted that some of the grades

According to Alford, members of both boards have as yet not decided where the division line between city and county school areas lies.

Bids Well Over Projections On Housing Project

Alford added that the State Board of Education's position last fall "was to resolve this as soon this year as possible so people who would be affected by it wouldn't be kept waiting until the last moment. This action by the Board of Elections will force us to move quicker."

Bids on the proposed mid-rise housing development for the elderly here were opened in December by the Housing Authority and were considerably over budget projections, it was reported Tuesday night.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development is reviewing the bids and comparing them with other bids in the state to make certain that the local figures are reasonable. Laney said that HUD has already discovered that housing authorities that are bidding mid-rise developments are receiving higher costs per unit than high-rise projects with 100 to 150 units.

The elections have been scheduled for some time in May.

He pointed out that negotiations are underway with the low bidder, T. A. Nye Construction, in an effort to bring the construction figure down. Nye submitted a bid of $1,808,600 for the project. Laney said that it appears now that the Authority will be able to reduce the figure by $200,000 to $300,000 through small changes that will not affect the overall quality of the structure. The staff is also working on additional changes that might bring the costs down even further, he said.

One factor that brings the local costs up, he said, is that due to the load-bearing characteristic of the soil here, excess foundation is needed in the form of pilings for multi-story buildings. The soil factors increase the costs per square foot, it was noted.

In the open meeting, the Board approved Alford's recommendation that Alice Keene assume duties as Community School Coordinator. According to Alford, candidates for the position were interviewed last week by the Greenville Recreation Department. The job of Community School Coordinator was developed under the Community School Grant program in November, 1977.

If negotiations with the low bidder are not successful to the extent that HUD considers the construction costs reasonable, the project may have to be redesigned, it was mentioned.

WHY SO FANCY? I would like to know why the city has such fancy cars for the city manager, public works director, building inspector, and police chief. I wouldn't object to each having a new car and even a useful extra like air conditioning, but why a fully equipped Mercury Marquis for the city manager and why Chevrolet Caprices with cruise control, tilt steering wheel, AM-FM radio and the like for the others? I don't think the taxpayers should have to pay for the extras and the gas-guzzling of these top-of-the-line cars. J.S.

Greenville City Manager Jim Caldwell said the trend is to smaller cars. Cars for the Police Department this year will be purchased under state contract and will be intermediate-sized, he said. The cars for the three department heads you mentioned were bought in early fall and were dealer closeouts. The purchase was made from the lowest bidder and the extras were not included in the specifications, but were left on when the dealer delivered the cars since they were close-outs, Caldwell said.

Carter And Sadat Agree On Palestinian 'Rights'

By FRANK CORMIER Associated Press Writer ASWAN, Egypt (AP) - President Carter met for an hour with President Anwar Sadat of Egypt today and afterward expressed support for "the legitimate rights of the Palestinians."

Sadat told newsmen he and Carter shared "identical views" and had decided on "specific steps" to be taken for peace. But Carter's endorsement of the rights of the Palestinians did not go beyond his previous statements.

He refrained, for example, from endorsing the independent Palestinian state demanded by Sadat and other Arab leaders and rejected by Israel. Reading a prepared statement as a desert wind tugged at his coat, Carter enunciated "first principles" for a lasting peace between Israel and its Arab neighbors.

True peace, he declared, "must be based on normal relations between all the parties."

"There must be withdrawal by Israel from land occupied in 1967," he continued, and there must be secure borders for all parties. And "there must be a resolution of the Palestinian problem" insuring the legitimate rights of the Palestinians, and the Palestinians "must participate in the determination of their future."

As in the past, Carter did not mention the Palestine Liberation Organization, with which both Israel and the United States refuse to deal because of its dedication to the destruction of the Jewish state.

Carter and Sadat met at the airport outside Aswan, the Egyptian winter playground on the upper Nile, during a 90-minute pause in the American president's flight from Saudi Arabia to Paris, the sixth stop on his seven-nation foreign tour. Sadat asked for the meeting after Carter said he favored a Palestinian homeland linked to Jordan rather than an independent state. The two leaders were relaxed and smiling after their talk and embraced warmly after their statements to reporters. Sadat grinned broadly.

The rental session was set for 2 p.m.

One high-ranking member of Carter's party said the U.S. president would seek to learn three things from Sadat: 1. What he expects from the political and military talks between the Egyptian and

Israeli foreign and defense ministers that are to begin later this month. 2. What position Egypt will take when the negotiations start. 3. What specific objections Sadat has to Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin's proposal for Palestinian self-rule under continued Israeli control of the occupied West Bank territory along the Jordan River.

Hearing Held On Land Use, Housing Needs At Farmville Board Meet

By CAROL TYER Reflector Staff Writer FARMVILLE - A hearing was conducted during the Farmville Board of Commissioners meeting last night in preparation for an updated study of the town's land use and housing needs.

Dale Holland of the Shields and Wyatt firm, which will be conducting the study for the town, explained how important citizen opinion is as the study is begun.

Citizen Lucy Rumley questioned whether this was just the beginning of the study, and was assured that this, indeed, was the starting point for the updated version. James Taylor, a local Housing Authority member, stated the town's needs for more low-income housing. Mrs. Sarah Blount questioned whether the low rent housing here is being used by those who need it most.

There are, she said, a lot of young people that she believes are making more than the income allowed for occupation of low-rent federal housing living in the Pinewood Apartments here. James Bunch pointed out the need for speed humps in the federal housing area. Glenn Price talked about the need for improved drainage throughout the town.

Another public hearing was held on FCX's request for the rezoning of a portion of its mill site on Fields Street here from light industrial to highway business. A new retail store is being built on the site. As there was no opposition from citizens and since the Planning Board had recommended approval, the Board approved the zoning change.

Town Administrator Pat Thomas reported that he had talked with Edwin Andrews of Layne-Atlantic Company, who had indicated verbally that the firm would agree to contract for a new well that would defer construction and payment till next summer. Andrews is to meet with town officials soon to discuss sites and contract provisions.

The Board voted to enter into a contract with the Bureau of the Census for detailed block data to be taken here during the 1980 census. They said they believe the data will be useful in grant applications and the like. The expected cost is to be $700, with a down payment of $250 to be paid by Apr. 1 of this year. It was pointed out that the Census Bureau has a pending federal budget request to extend block statistics to cities of 2,500 to 10,000 population without local cost. If this were approved, the down payment would be refunded.

The Board gave tentative approval to a budget amendment for work on the downtown improvement project here. There was some discussion of whether downtown merchants should be requested or taxed in some way to participate in the project. No action was taken.

The Downtown Improvement Board, made up of Eli Joyner, Jack Lewis, Louis Williams, Horace Allen and Pat Thomas, was asked to advise any merchants needing help with architectural style decisions (making them in keeping with the overall plan), but it was decided

Burney Tucker To Run Again

Burney Tucker, a member of the Board of County Commissioners since March 1971, has filed for re-election to the Pitt governing board.

Tucker, who has served as chairman of the county board in the past, filed yesterday as a candidate in the May primary.

His is one of three seats on the board to be filled by voters this year. The terms of B. Alton Gardner and Ed Warren will also expire this year. Both are expected to seek re-election.

Gardner, presently chairman of the board, represents District 5 (Ayden-Grifton-Swift Creek) while Warren represents District 1 (Greenville township). Tucker, who represents District 4 (Winterville-Chicod-Grimesland), was named to the board in 1971 to fill the unexpired term of the late Vernon Cox, and was elected to a full term in 1974.

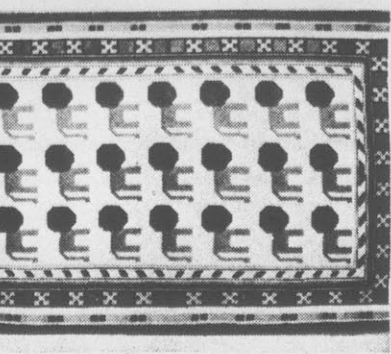

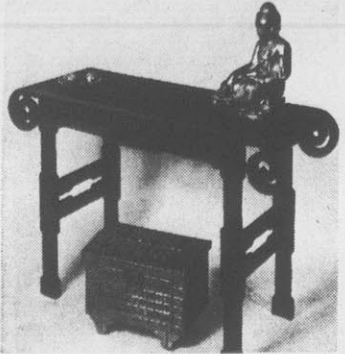

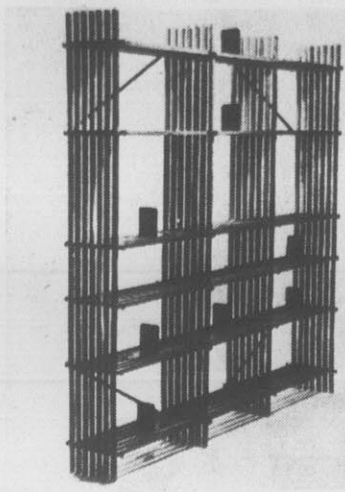

A Winterville native, Tucker was a town alderman in 1942 and

Competition Entries Show Trends In Interior Furnishings Industry

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Judging the seventh annual awards presented by the Resources Council-National Association of Interior Furnishings, manufacturers and suppliers serving the industry, offers a good review of what the industry is up to.

More than 200 nominees were represented in entries that included those from well-known studios — Jack Lenor Larsen, Abraham-Zumsteg, Kirk-Brummel, Karl Mann, George Nelson, Juan Montoya, Harvey Propper — and many other aspirants.

After comparison, conjecture and compromise, crystal "Roscoes," the industry's new Oscar-like awards, were earmarked for 24 of the entries.

In the lamp category, Barbara Roth, member of the National Guild of Decoupage, used Egyptian colors in the decoupage technique to decorate her antiqued and crackled hexagonal bisque lamp. The handwork gives each lamp a unique touch.

In traditional residential furniture Jay Goldsmat's winning design is an adaptation of an 18th-century, red lacquered Chinese altar table of console height with decoration a traditional Chinese scene that includes muted greens and blues.

Technology got a boost with a natural oiled oak shelf arrangement using five basic parts that can be put together quickly with wood and steel rods capped with wood knobs. The unit, Shelf Life Unlimited, folds flat for moving and storage and is available in various heights and two depths.

Another intriguing product is designer Andre Matencio's vinyl wall covering that is touted as non-flammable, extinguishes flames upon contact and is embossed so that the design provides a subtle three-dimensional appearance even though it is scrubbable. Available in 3-foot widths, the wallcoverings can cover a door.

Other winners include Shirley Mellinger's rug, a flat weave of wool woven in Spain; a hand-painted sisal carpet designed by Joseph Freitag that is available to a 13.2-foot width to suit all possible installations; a handsome rattan chair by Henry Olko of Willow and Reed; Maya Romanoff's suede, dyed to achieve luster, for upholstery and walls.

Another upholstery fabric, a handsome cotton and silk in a distinctive weave was designed by Kirk Brummel studios. In hard surface flooring, a ceramic tile in a grid design by Lee Rosen for Design Technics is a low-relief pattern that enhances surface traction.

In window treatments, Joel Berman's "Mecho Shade" was architecturally designed to be used with solar shading material for heat control and features a manually operated removable roller that makes interchanging fabrics a simple procedure.

Here's A Tip: Say Nothing

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I'm dating a gentleman who seems very much interested in me. He's 60 and I'm 55. He'd make a wonderful catch, but there's a slight problem. He's funny about money.

He takes me to the finest restaurants, but when we leave, I always slip a few dollars under my coffee cup because his tips are so meager. He's a self-made man who recently sold his business for several million dollars, so I know he can afford to tip properly.

Otherwise he is a very high-class gentleman. I don't want to lose him. A lot of women in this town would love to have him—stingy or not.

Should I remind him that a tip should be at least 15 percent of the bill? He figured he knew me well enough to tell me flat out that I used too much perfume.

ATLANTA, GA.

DEAR ATLANTA: Don't offer this high-class low tipper any tips on tipping unless you're sure he can take it as well as dish it out. Some self-made men tend to be a little tight with their money. It's a tendency they developed in their leaner years.

DEAR ABBY: You say that people who are habitually late are "inconsiderate, selfish and immature." What have you to say about guests who always arrive 20 to 30 minutes EARLY?

GERTRUDE

DEAR GERTRUDE: They are as inconsiderate and oftentimes more irritating to the hostesses than the lateness.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from 38 AND HATES IT, and I want to say that I had the same problem, only worse. I was a "40 D," I stood 5 foot 1, and had a very well-proportioned figure except for my conspicuously oversized bosom.

Ever since I was 14 I suffered because the boys looked at me, some thought I was a pushover, and some made insulting faces to me. Not only that, I had a chronic backache from being so top-heavy.

I am now 33 and married. Last year I heard about a doctor who performed breast reduction surgery, so I went to him, and it was the wisest decision of my life.

He reduced my breasts to a normal 34 B and I've never been happier. (My hospitalization insurance covered it, too.) No more ill-fitting clothes or humiliation or backaches! I never knew that plastic surgeons could reduce breasts; I thought they could only enlarge them.

Abby, please let other women know that they don't have to be stuck with an oversized bosom all their lives. And tell them to be sure the doctor is a board certified plastic surgeon.

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Here's your letter. Thanks for sharing.

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (24 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

Bridal Policy

A black and white glossy five by seven photograph is requested for engagement announcements. For publication in a Sunday edition, the information must be submitted by 12 noon on the preceding Wednesday. Engagement pictures must be released at least three weeks prior to the wedding date. After three weeks, only an announcement will be printed.

Wedding write-ups will be printed through the first week with a five by seven picture. During the second week with a wallet size picture and write-up giving less description and after the second week, just as an announcement. Wedding forms and pictures should be returned to "The Daily Reflector" one week prior to the date of the wedding. All information should be typed or written neatly.

Fruit salads can be enhanced by adding chilled cream cheese cubes, coated with toasted chopped almonds and a little grated orange rind.

For total flavor release, cut cranberries in half before adding to muffins, quick breads or pancakes.

Baked Zucchini Yams
Green Beans Rolls
Fruit Bowl Cookies

BAKED ZUCCHINI

It's a main dish.
4 tablespoons oil
3 pounds zucchini, sliced about 1/4-inch thick
Medium onion, finely chopped (1-3rd to 1/2 cup)
1 1/2-ounce envelope Italian-style spaghetti sauce mix

1 1/2 cups water
6-ounce can tomato paste
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

1-3rd cup fine soft bread crumbs
8-ounce package mozzarella cheese, sliced

In a large skillet in 3 tablespoons of the oil, over moderate heat, cook the zucchini and onion, stirring often, until zucchini is almost tender. Spoon into a 2-quart shallow baking dish.

In the same skillet stir together the spaghetti sauce mix, water, tomato paste and remaining 1 tablespoon oil; heat to boiling, stirring often; simmer for 10 minutes, stirring several times. Pour over zucchini-onion mixture. Mix Parmesan and crumbs; sprinkle over top of casserole and stir gently to mix. Top with mozzarella. Heat in a 350-degree oven. Makes 6 servings.

Miss Avery, Mr. Sutton Wed Saturday

LINCOLNTON — Miss Susan Avery and Billy Wayne Sutton, both of Raleigh, were united in marriage Saturday at high noon in the Messiah United Methodist Church here.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fletcher Andrews. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Fletcher Andrews, organist, Tommy Harrill, pianist, and Mrs. Mike Kale, vocalist.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lander Avery of Lincolnton, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white silk organza styled with a scalloped square neckline and a filled bodice covered in re-embroidered alencon accented with seed pearls and crystals. The long fitted sleeves were trimmed with a sheer organza ruffle. The A-line skirt was fashioned with a panel effect and extended into a chapel train, bordered with a self-ruffle. Lace pearl and crystal appliques accented the skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion was bordered with alencon lace attached to a lace and pearl Camelot cap.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Clayton Sutton of Stokes.

Gary and Greg Evans, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Evans of Ayden, cousins of the bridegroom, lighted candles for the ceremony.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Ricky Tillman of Lincolnton, was dressed in a floor length gown of burgandy polyester styled with long fitted sleeves, side ties and a square scoop neckline. She wore a headpiece of white marabou.

Bridesmaids included Mrs.

Mack Harvey, Miss Grace Goins, Miss Doris Avery and Miss June Payseur, all of Lincolnton, Miss Bonnie Pearce of Raleigh, and Miss Joy Williams of Charlotte. They were dressed like the honor attendant and each carried a long-stemmed white mum.

Miss Judy Roberts of Lincolnton was the honorary bridesmaid.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were Michael Lynn Sutton of Stokes, brother of the bridegroom, Jason Sox, Bob Dickens and Steve Strickland, all of Raleigh, Tim Leith of Wilson, Gene Mellette of Murfreesboro, and David Wilkinson of Athens, Ga.

The mother of the bride was dressed in an emerald green polyester floor length dress and wore a corsage of red roses. The mother of the bridegroom selected an aqua blue floor length formal dress with a lace coat. She wore a corsage of white roses.

The bride's grandmother wore a blue floor length formal dress and the bridegroom's grandmother was dressed in a pink floor length formal dress. They were each remembered with a white mum corsage.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will live in Raleigh.

The bridegroom graduated from N. C. State University, where he also received his master's. He is employed by the N. C. State Human Resource Department as a financial analyst. The bride is a senior at N. C. State University.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception immediately following the ceremony at the church fellowship hall.

A rehearsal dinner was held Friday at the Western Steer Steak House hosted by the parents of the bridegroom. Mrs. Paul Roberts and Mrs. Buck Ross entertained at a bridesmaids luncheon Friday at the home of Mrs. Roberts.

Chef Sees Cookbook As A Novel

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Family Editor

French chef Paul Bocuse sees his cookbook first as a novel, to be read for pleasure, says Colette Rossant, his translator.

It is a well-made point for health-conscious home cooks. The plot of Paul Bocuse's French Cooking (Pantheon $20) is a voyage to Never-Never Land on a sea of butter, cream and dozens of eggs.

The highly praised nouvelle (new) cuisine he is credited with inventing supposedly abandons many rich sauces in favor of simpler fare. An American reading Bocuse's recipes can only wonder if something was lost in the translation.

In his introduction, Bocuse suggests home cooks prepare only one recipe from the book in a single menu. What he didn't say is the average home cook in the United States wouldn't have time for more than one a day.

Don't misunderstand me. It takes more willpower than this writer possesses to resist making Bocuse's recipes from time to time.

Except for the baking and dessert chapters, most directions are adequate for experienced cooks and the results of the few recipes we have tried were superb.

We also admire his philosophy of cooking. He urges home cooks to improvise, to regard even his recipes as guides, not gospel, and to plan menus around the best ingredients available at market from day to day.

Few home cooks in the U.S. have time for daily shopping, or would do it if they could. But the next best thing is planning meals around the best quality ingredients obtainable on your own terms.

That Bocuse is among the

Pair Pears With Cheese Pie

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Cooks often ask me how new dishes are invented. My usual answer: there are only so many basic recipes in this world and all others are variations of them. If you long to create a new dish, give a basic recipe a really good and interesting new twist.

I thought of this when recently a "new" recipe for Pear Cheese Pie (made with cream cheese, cheddar cheese and canned Bartlett pears) came across my desk. I wondered where the cook who "invented" it got her idea from. Then I remembered. At least a dozen years ago a recipe for a cream cheese cake appeared. It was startlingly different because it also included cheddar cheese. The recipe "took off" and a number of versions of it came along. The Pear Cheese Pie is obviously an offshoot of that original cheddar cheese cake.

We tried the Pear Cheese Pie in my test kitchen and tasters liked it. To the pie's credit, it's not too sweet. And canned Bartlett pears seem to have improved in texture. Ones we bought were pleasantly firm and didn't suffer from their stay in the oven.

Pastry for a 9-inch pie shell

PEAR CHEESE PIE—For tasters who enjoy a dessert that is not too sweet.

8-ounce package cream cheese
1 cup grated (medium fine) mild cheddar cheese
1/4 cup granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 large egg
29-ounce can Bartlett pear halves, well-drained
2 tablespoons light or dark brown sugar
1 tablespoon flour
2 tablespoons finely chopped walnuts

Use homemade pastry or half of an 11-ounce package of pie crust mix made up according to package directions. Line a 9-inch pie plate with the pastry, turning under its edge, fluting it and hooking each point under the edge of the plate. Now line the pie shell with a sheet of wax paper so it comes above the rim of the pan; fill with dried beans kept for this purpose or with aluminum pie pellets. Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven for 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from the oven; remove wax paper and beans. Leave oven on, but turn temperature control to 350 degrees.

Beat together the cream cheese, 1/2 cup of the cheddar cheese, the granulated sugar and lemon rind. Add the egg and beat until combined. Pour into the partly baked pie shell. Bake in the 350-degree oven until filling is set — 25 to 30 minutes. Arrange the pears, cut side up, over the filling. Stir together the remaining 1/2 cup cheddar cheese, brown sugar, flour and walnuts and sprinkle over the pears. Bake in the 350-degree oven an additional 10 minutes. Serve warm.

HEW Agreement Formalized

The UNC board of governors has adopted a supplement to its desegregation plan following negotiations with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

UNC President William Friday said that the supplement makes formal an agreement which had been worked out with HEW earlier.

It pledges the board to efforts to increase enrollment at the predominantly white campuses by 150 percent, although it is made clear that this goal cannot be reached in five years.

HEW also would be notified of planned changes in construction or programs which would affect desegregation.

There was also a pledge to increase white enrollment at predominantly black schools and to strengthen them.

University of North Carolina officials have had a difficult time negotiating with HEW concerning the federal agency's unreasonable demands in this matter.

UNC officials have given a lot—perhaps too much—to satisfy HEW and possibly avoid a long drawn out and pointless court fight.

We hope this agreement will resolve the issue and avoid further interference by HEW in the UNC academic processes.

A Good Year If Growth Can Continue

Two economists see a good financial year for North Carolina.

Both Dr. Maurice W. Lee of Chapel Hill and Al Smith, N. C. National Bank economist, see the state's economic strength carrying over into 1978.

North Carolina's per capita income improved in relation to other states in 1977, there was record industrial growth and tourism improved by 14 percent.

If we can keep this kind of growth going it should be a good year for our state.

THIS AFTERNOON

Growth To The Piedmont

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—Intense efforts to the contrary, it is Piedmont North Carolina which still draws new and expanding industry.

A review of the 1977 growth statistics leaves one overwhelming impression: while many rural and small urban areas in the west, the east, and the coastal area did right well by past measures, the Piedmont continued to boom.

Preliminary figures show 113 new or expanded industrial facilities in the Piedmont: 18 in the mountains or western portions; 25 in the eastern coastal plains section; and 10 along the coast itself. Combining coastal and other eastern counties, that section produced 35 facilities—considerably better than did the western section.

This lament will be heard often next week in Charlotte at the Balanced Growth and Economic Development conference: Why doesn't the state do something to scatter growth more evenly; why does it continue to go to the Piedmont?

Bryan Smith, director of the industrial development division of the Department of Commerce, is quick to respond:

Their Choice

North Carolina will take growth where she can get it, and there is no way to force a company to go where it doesn't want to go. Most major firms, Smith says, require above most other considerations a location within 30 minutes of a major commercial airport, within 30 minutes of an interstate highway, and close to a major urban area offering good shopping, cultural, recreational, and educational opportunities.

Given that requirement, the Piedmont continues to be the state's most attractive area for industry.

North Carolina was the only state in the nation to conduct a series of county conferences prior to the state conference, all in preparation for the White House Conference in Washington later this month. More than 10,000 people participated, and Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr. attended many of the local sessions.

"I became even more convinced that North Carolina must take an aggressive approach to getting our economy moving. If we seize the initiative now, we can have a strong, growing economy in North Carolina," he says.

But equal attention must be given to the second part of the formula:

"And still preserve our environment and the small town lifestyle that we love so well," Hunt said.

NOBLITT

In fact, says Gov. Hunt, both the participants in the county meetings, and those responding to the statewide survey last fall state clearly that more and better jobs at higher pay is higher on the priority list; but that protecting North Carolina's attractions as a rural, outdoors land ranks just as high.

The goals of stimulating growth, protecting the environment, dispersing development away from the urban Piedmont toward more rural settings, and meeting the needs of prospects who view location second only to available labor at a competitive price fairly summarizes the conflicts built into any effort by the state government to draw up policy guidelines in this field.

Labor Supply

Those complexities are further complicated by resistance in some communities to the location of industries which offer better jobs and higher pay than do the established firms.

The governor says that condition has "been a problem for a long time in North Carolina," and recalls working in tobacco warehouses in Wilson in which owners "fought tooth and nail to keep competition for their labor away. That happens in many towns. We must simply keep on working, and ultimately change will occur. I don't expect any miracles.

"People now have their plants and are hiring people at certain wage levels and they don't want that to change.

"But it would be interesting if we let the workers vote; let the people vote. I'm certain the new development would be approved ten-to-one."

Cabarrus County is the most recent example of such a tilt as some community leaders attempt to discourage a Philip Morris cigarette plant.

Disinformation Payoff

WASHINGTON—The New York Times has run a series of articles on the CIA and the media. One of the revelations is that the agency had its own "disinformation department" charged with planting false stories in the newspapers through foreign correspondents. The idea is to wreak havoc on an unfriendly country or political system.

The Soviet KGB has a similar department charged with counterfeiting news stories. Therefore I'm sure many Americans are saying, "If the Russians are doing it, why shouldn't we?"

I'll tell you why. Official Washington gets most of its information from three newspapers: The Washington Post, The Washington Star and The New York Times. It's true that men in power also get cables from their overseas embassies, but since these are official communications, people in Washington tend to disbelieve them, especially if The Washington Post reports, otherwise.

Now let us suppose the CIA plants a story in a local Nonomuran newspaper that the Cubans have sent 10,000 military advisers into the bush to help Nonomuran rebels oust the legitimate Nonomuran regime. The object of the plant by the CIA station chief is to get military aid for the Nonomuran prime minister, with whom he plays poker every night.

The Washington Post stringer in Casablanca picks up the story in good faith and sends it back to his paper, after checking with the Moroccan CIA station chief to make sure of its credibility.

The next morning it appears on the front page of The Post. The story is read at breakfast by Pentagon chiefs, high State Department officials, CIA people, not clued in that it is a plant, and the White House.

That morning at a White House briefing several correspondents demand to know what President Carter is going to do about the "Nonomuran situation." Jody Powell insists the Administration is "on top of it."

After the briefing he calls up the Pentagon which has been working on contingency plans all morning. The Joint Chiefs are arguing whether to send an aircraft carrier, a military airlift of U.S. marines or a squadron of the American F-4 fighters to Nonomura.

ART BUCHWALD

The State Department produces six position papers on the Nonomuran "problem" and three evacuation plans for Americans. All three news networks send camera crews there. The print media are not far behind.

Henry Kissinger, under contract to NBC, gives a pessimistic assessment of the situation on the Today show.

The CIA Never Learns

By ROWLANE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—Although endless investigations have seriously impeded the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) from carrying on its vital mission, certain CIA officials insist on continuing a "disinformation" campaign to blacken the name of an old enemy.

The target is Elias Demetrapoulos, a Greek expatriate living in Washington who was best known as a relentless foe of the former Greek military dictatorship. An article in the Dec. 6 New York Times contains derogatory information about Demetrapoulos attributed to the CIA; indeed, Times reporter David Binder told us flatly that CIA officials supplied him with information. Yet these charges are refuted by material in the CIA's own files.

Knowingly spreading false information — "disinformation" — has a long and honorable place in foreign intelligence. But post-Watergate investigations of the CIA have made it abundantly clear that it is no longer in fashion. Thus, it is strange that the beleaguered CIA — its morale shattered and still under fire in congressional and press probes of the past — cannot let a relatively obscure foreign national go his way in peace.

The last thing the CIA needs today is a new congressional inquiry but that is precisely what looms in both Senate and House committees, under prodding from such confirmed CIA-critics as Sen. George McGovern. In a Dec. 14 letter to chairman Daniel Inouye of the Senate Intelligence Committee, McGovern contended: "I think it is important to learn how the agency can possibly justify the selective release to the American press of materials designed to discredit Mr. Demetrapoulos or any other individual." Agreeing, Inouye is pushing an investigation.

Trouble between Demetrapoulos and the CIA began in 1952 when, as a Greek journalist, he feuded with then Ambassador Jack Peurifoy in Athens. It climaxed when Demetrapoulos left Greece after the 1967 military revolt to lobby against the junta from Washington.

Why the long CIA campaign against him was waged is explained in a Feb. 19, 1975, internal CIA memo to then director William Colby. It quotes "many CIA staff officers and other informants" as believing Demetrapoulos "has reported in a manner which injured good Greek-American relations." It was this underlying belief, originated long before the 1975 memo, that stimulated the classic disinformation campaign against Demetrapoulos.

Shortly after we reported on Nov. 2, 1967, for the first time, about Demetrapoulos's lobbying against the U.S.-backed junta, we received a telephone call from a reputable CIA officer. Speaking "off-the-record," he warned us to beware of Demetrapoulos. CIA files showed, he said, that Demetrapoulos had been a double agent in Greece, for the Soviet KGB and Western intelligence services.

But the CIA's own secret files branded this a lie. That same 1975 memo to Colby put it bluntly: "While he (Demetrapoulos) has been an annoyance, there are no hard facts in the record to show that he has worked for any foreign government against the interests of Greece (or for that matter the United States), that he is in the pay of any national government, that he has ever been a member of a foreign intelligence service."

Nevertheless, four years earlier the CIA had helped prepare a scurrilous white paper against Demetrapoulos, for which the State Department later apologized. On Jan. 22, 1976, writers Russell Warren Howe and Sarah Hays Trot had a

Letters submitted for Public Forum must be limited to 300 words.

To the editor:

I was very pleased to see Mr. William Russ's letter in the paper last Thursday. It is citizen interest and concern of this type that we need to speed up the wheels of progress and implement a safe system of bikeways in Greenville. In addition to the path being built along the new section of Arlington Boulevard, the Citizens' Bikeway Committee has recommended the following priority corridors to the City for development and construction of bikeways:

1. connect ECU campus with Ficklen Drive, along the old power plant railway spur;
2. East Fifth Street;
3. Charles Boulevard, from Ficklen Drive to Greenville Boulevard;
4. East Tenth Street.

There are also long-range plans to connect east and west Greenville with a bikeway along Green Mill Run.

I would like to invite Mr. Russ and all other citizens interested in promoting safe bicycling in Greenville to attend the monthly meetings of the Citizens' Bikeway Committee. We meet at 8 p. m. on the second Monday of each month (this Monday, Jan. 9) in the City Council Chambers of City Hall.

Unique Firing Ritual

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — It sounded as though Jimmy Carter had just fired Superman. "He is so wise. He has so much experience. His record is so superb. His integrity is perfect, almost." And beside, he was a close personal friend.

So much for Arthur F. Burns. At the end of the month, he's out as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, a job he wanted to keep.

The president's eulogy is in keeping with the odd etiquette of Washington. Nothing so becomes an official as the leaving of his job, especially if it's involuntary.

But Burns was a special, kid gloves case for Carter. The last thing Carter needed was to have Burns, an economic hero to much of the business establishment, depart in anger.

Carter had him flown to Washington from a Palm Beach vacation, with no less an escort than Vice President Walter F. Mondale, to tell him he wouldn't be reappointed. Burns responded with praise for his successor, businessman G. William Miller.

Whether politics, controversy or even scandal convinces a president that somebody important must go, the dismissal often is cushioned with praise that makes it seem the fellow should have stayed forever.

Richard M. Nixon produced the classic example when, amid Watergate, he ousted H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, "two of the finest public servants it has been my privilege to know."

For Carter, there was the Bert Lance resignation, but it was different. Lance was the closest of friends, and Carter's personal anguish showed as he praised and released his budget director, under challenge for private banking practices.

For ritual farewell, Carter peaked with the Burns episode.

Burns, 73, and chairman of the Fed since 1970, was strongest where the administration needs strength: with the business community. But labor and liberal Democrats, including some key people in Congress, saw his conservative monetary policies as a damper on the very economic expansion they want to promote.

Anyone who paid attention to the Carter campaign could marvel at the fact that there was a possibility the Democratic president would reappoint Burns.

For Carter had said that presidents should be able to appoint Federal Reserve chairmen to terms corresponding with their own; that the board's policies should be consistent with those of the elected administration; and that he wanted an expansionary monetary policy to help cut unemployment.

Furthermore, Burns had irked labor by opposing a sharp increase in the minimum wage and had worked to block the $50 tax rebate Carter proposed and then dropped.

Those weren't Fed matters, but Burns never was one to muffle his economic opinions and had taken special pains to demonstrate the Fed's independence of any administration.

Carter's solution: a new chairman with impeccable business credentials, G. William Miller, 52, chairman of Textron Inc. and a public request to Burns to stay on as a member of the Federal Reserve Board. Burns hasn't decided whether to stay.

Claim Crime-Tie Inside ICC

By OWEN ULLMANN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission is accusing its secretary, who faces dismissal next week, of trying to persuade a witness to lie in a Justice Department probe of the official's alleged ties with organized crime.

The allegation is among five charges of wrongdoing filed by the ICC against Robert L. Oswald, who is both secretary and congressional liaison for the ICC.

The charges were disclosed Tuesday by Oswald's attorneys and confirmed by an ICC source who asked not to be identified.

ICC Chairman A. Daniel O'Neal, who gave Oswald a 30-day notice of "proposed termination" on Dec. 8, said the commission will decide "in the next several days" whether to uphold the dismissal or reinstate Oswald.

But O'Neal refused to comment on the allegations against Oswald, saying he is forbidden by federal privacy regulations.

Oswald also is accused of disclosing confidential ICC information to individuals outside the commission, improperly arranging for lawyers to represent trucking firms before the ICC, failing to cooperate with an ICC probe into his conduct and violating a federal law barring government employees from engaging in proscribed political activities.

When O'Neal announced Oswald's dismissal last month, the chairman would say only that the action was based on "several allegations of improprieties."

Oswald's attorneys, the Washington firm of Ambrose & Casselman, released the detailed ICC charges and responses the commission had requested.

The attorneys called the allegations "a mishmash of incidents, basically innocent in themselves, which have been twisted and distorted to give the impression of illegality."

Oswald, 43, is hospitalized here with an undisclosed illness and could not be reached for comment.

The ICC probe follows a Justice Department investigation into Oswald's possible involvement in an ICC decision affecting the family of the late Carlo Gambino, reputed one-time leader of organized crime in New York. O'Neal said the separate Justice Department investigation was continuing.

Oswald was placed on administrative leave last June, after the Justice Department probe became known. But he continued to draw on his $47,500-a-year salary, so in September, O'Neal reinstated Oswald to a lesser position while the ICC made its own investigation.

In late October, Oswald, a 16-year veteran of the ICC, took sick leave for stomach problems and applied to the Civil Service Commission for disability retirement. The commission turned down his request for early retirement on Dec. 8, the same day the ICC handed him his dismissal notice.

The ICC regulates the interstate movement of railroads, trucking firms, bus lines and other modes of transportation.

Strength For Today

THE GOSPEL NEEDS NO APOLOGIES

Some Christians feel a little inadequate and defensive if their religion conflicts with the claims and achievements of psychiatry and science. Psychiatry and science seem to be more modern, more precise, more relevant. The psychiatrist has glib explanations of what causes sin, and the scientist can tell about the origin of the universe in more up-to-date terms than the Bible can.

But there is certainly no need for a feeling of inferiority on the part of the Christian. The psychiatrist and the scientist have their own fields, and the Christian has one also. And his is by far the most important — the revealed word of God.

There is no need or value in trying to "make religion scientific. And we should not hesitate to use the word "sin" to describe our derelictions, instead of trying to excuse them in psychiatric terms. The gospel of Christ both transcends and enfolds all human activities.

Barbara Walters gets an exclusive interview with the prime minister of Nonomura, and John Chancellor digs up an opposition leader now working as a waiter in Chicago.

Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin is called to the State Department to explain the Kremlin's role in what has now become a "crisis." The Soviets take a hard-line position on Nonomura and threaten to pull out of the SALT talks.

The covert part of the CIA, which doesn't talk to the disinformation branch (because they eat on different floors in the cafeteria), decides the present prime minister is too weak to fend off the rebel forces. They finance a coup and turn the government over to a military junta led by a Nonomuran Fort Bragg-trained colonel.

President Carter is urged to visit Nonomura on his next five-day trip around the world to show the United States really cares.

The crisis finally abates when another CIA disinformation officer plants a story in a neighboring Ulfona newspaper that the Cuban military advisers have been withdrawn to Upper Gambling for rest and recreation.

The scenario I have just described is not as farfetched, as one would believe. The difference between the Soviets and Americans is that, when it comes to disinformation, the Russian leaders don't believe anything they read in their own papers and therefore have no problem discounting it. On the other hand, American officials in Washington have to believe a story in their papers because even if they don't, the people they work for do.

CIA-prepared memo containing derogatory information about him when they interviewed Demetracopoulos for their book, "The Power Peddlers."

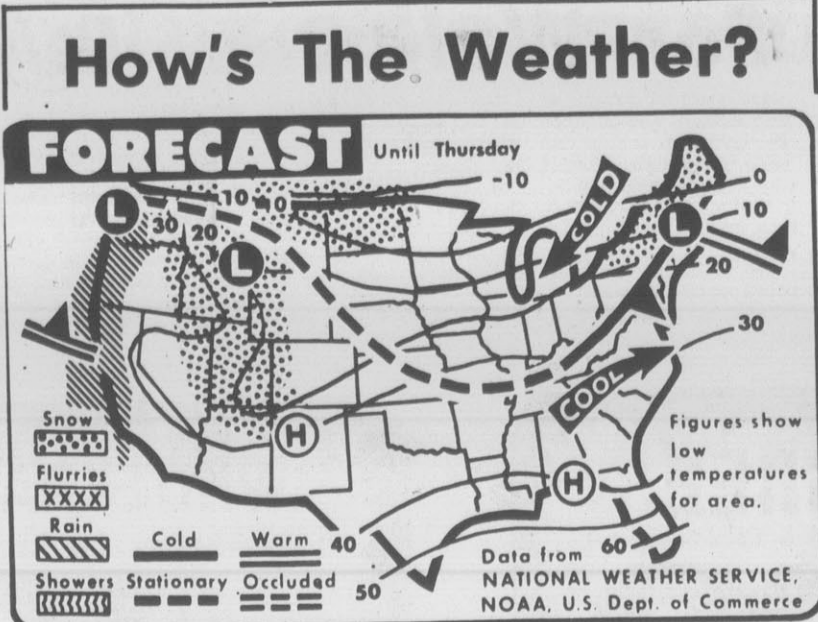

"In hindsight," said the 1975 memo to Colby, "the agency may have overreacted to the provocations of Dimitrakopoulos (sic)." But Stansfield Turner wrote a categorical denial to Rep. Don Edwards of California that the CIA had disseminated false information about Demetracopoulos. Next came Binder's Dec. 6 article in the New York Times.

Binder wrote that "CIA records show" Demetracopoulos offered his services to the agency in 1951 — totally denied by Demetracopoulos. "The CIA records further allege," Binder continues, "that in the 1950s he was associated with both the Yugoslav and Israeli intelligence services" — charges specifically denied by the 1975 memo to Colby.

Binder also quotes a "CIA official" as saying KYP, the Greek intelligence service, at CIA's request "found no evidence of underground resistance activities" by Demetracopoulos in World War II. Yet a June 23, 1952, internal CIA memo says Demetracopoulos suffered "imprisonment and death sentence by the Germans in World War II for sabotage activities."

Binder told us that he received CIA material on Demetracopoulos years ago in Athens but in reporting on him this fall, was given new, unspecified information by CIA officials "past and present." With the deadly serious business of rebuilding the nation's intelligence services at stake, Turner's CIA simply cannot afford time off to harass an insignificant expatriate for sins the CIA itself admits were not committed.

WEATHER FORECAST — Snow is forecast today for most of the Northeast as well as much of the Rocky Mount region and northern Plains states. Rain is anticipated for the West Coast. (AP Laserphoto Map)

By The Associated Press

A slow warming trend was under way in North Carolina today and it is expected to continue on into the weekend. A chance of showers is forecast for Friday and then it will be partly cloudy through Sunday.

The warmup had something of a cold start this morning with low temperatures that included Asheville 11, Hickory 17, Raleigh, Greensboro and Fayetteville 18, New Bern 21, Wilmington 23 and Charlotte 24.

Tuesday's high temperatures were generally in the 40s throughout the state and they were expected to range to the mid and upper 40s today, warming to the 50s Thursday. The mountains may get a few showers late Thursday.

Temperatures will not be quite as cold tonight, ranging from the upper 20s to the low 30s.

Some increasing cloudiness will show up in the west Thursday as southerly winds begin to bring more moisture up from the Gulf of Mexico. This will set up a chance of scattered showers in the mountains by late Thursday, with the showers spreading eastward Thursday night and Friday.

Asserts Movie Basically True

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An NBC television film about Martin Luther King Jr., which was criticized by some of his former associates, authentically captures the "pain and humor" of the civil rights movement, says U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young.

"It won't stand up to a lot of people's image of history, but it's basically what happened," he said at a Tuesday news conference arranged by NBC.

"It's not a documentary of the civil rights movement, the Vietnam War protest, Selma, but it puts all of those together in a sweeping history and I think it's authentic," said Young, a former civil rights worker who is portrayed in the six-hour drama.

The film "King" is scheduled to be shown Feb. 12, 13 and 14 and stars Paul Winfield as the slain civil rights leader and Emmy winner Cicely Tyson as Coretta King.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: K equals A

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Anniversary For Wallaces, But No Celebrations

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace and his wife, Cornelia, were married seven years ago today, but there was no cause for celebration as preparations were made for trial of their divorce suits.

It wasn't at all certain, however, that today's scheduled start of court proceedings in the divorce case would advance much further than a flurry of legal jousting.

John P. Kohn, one of the attorneys representing Mrs. Wallace, said he would seek a delay in the trial because of the first lady's recent health problems.

But attorney Maury Smith, who is representing the governor in the case, said he would fight any attempt to postpone the trial. "They are not going to put us in a position of delay," he said.

Kohn would not elaborate on Mrs. Wallace's medical condition, saying only that the first lady's physician had informed him that the governor's estranged wife "is not capable of being there" if the trial started today.

Mrs. Wallace, 38, was hospitalized nearly two weeks ago for what another one of her attorneys, Ira DeMent, described as "mental and physical exhaustion." She was released last Friday.

In a signed statement dated three days before Mrs. Wallace's discharge, her physician, Dr. Jane Day, told the court that the first lady "is not at the present time capable physically...of testifying or giving a deposition."

Kohn said a postponement of the trial, in addition to giving Mrs. Wallace more time to recuperate, also would allow attorneys for both sides to continue efforts to reach an out-of-court settlement.

Smith acknowledged that the possibility of such a settlement has been discussed, but added that no progress has been made.

Wallace's divorce suit, filed last September, cited "incompatibility" and an "irretrievable breakdown" in the marriage as grounds for divorce.

In a countersuit, Mrs. Wallace accused the partially paralyzed governor of committing "cruelty and actual violence" against her.

Circuit Judge Joseph D. Phelps, the presiding judge in the case, has ruled that once the trial is underway, testimony relating to grounds cited in the divorce petitions will be given behind closed doors.

To be heard in open court, however, is evidence on such financial matters as alimony and child support.

Mrs. Wallace, who has two teen-aged sons from an earlier marriage to John Snively III, has asked the court for "liberal" alimony.

In an affidavit submitted to the court last month, the 58-year-old Wallace reported personal assets of more than $200,000.

Looking Into Allegations

MORGANTON, N.C. (AP) — Allegations that a male patient at Broughton Hospital was scalded in a shower and a woman was dragged into a room by her hair are among cases of possible patient abuse State Bureau of Investigations agents are probing at the state mental hospital.

SBI Agent Bill Dowdy said he and another agent would be returning to the hospital this week for more interviews.

The Morganton News-Herald quoted an unnamed former hospital employee as saying that the investigation also involves a woman who was locked in her room in the behavior modification ward and began eating her own body wastes.

The former employee told the News-Herald that when an employee let the woman out of the room to reach a water fountain, a supervisor became angry and dragged the patient by her hair back to her room.

According to the News-Herald, a second case under examination involves a man who was brought to the hospital's alcoholism ward and who suffered burns in a shower.

Hospital Director William W. Lowrance said those allegations and others prompted him to recommend the SBI probe late last fall. So far, no charges have been brought. He declined further comment, saying it would be inappropriate while the investigation continues.

"My recommendation was to have the SBI conduct a probe," he said. "We involve the SBI in anything unusual."

Dr. Barry Naster, director of the behavior modification ward, resigned recently, citing personal reasons. An interim director was to be named today.

Sanctuary For Fleeing Editor

GABORENES, Botswana (AP) — Donald Woods, the white liberal editor who escaped from South Africa where he was under a five-year banning order, has been flown from sanctuary across a wide stretch of his homeland.

An official from Lesotho, the independent black kingdom to which Woods escaped over the weekend, made the 2-hour, 20-minute flight with the Woods family Tuesday to try to ensure their safety under an agreement with South Africa guaranteeing overflight rights.

It had been feared that if the 10-passenger Lesotho Airways plane were forced by weather or other circumstances to land in South Africa, authorities there would try to arrest Woods.

The family is to continue to Zambia today to catch a plane to England.

Mondale Embarks On Dixie Democratic Campaign

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Walter F. Mondale is opening the Democrats' 1978 political season with a deep Dixie tour calculated to rally the party faithful and bring in campaign funds.

With stops in Greensboro, N.C.; Atlanta, Ga.; and Orlando, Fla., Mondale's trip is his first major political barnstorming of the South since he ran as Jimmy Carter's partner in 1976. "It's almost like a campaign trip," said one Democratic official. Accompanying Mondale on today's trip were party chairman Kenneth Curtis, who is quitting after calling the chairmanship a "lousy job," and Deputy Agriculture Secretary John C. White, tapped by President Carter to succeed Curtis. The trip's major purpose is stirring up interest in a Jan. 20 fund-raising dinner in Atlanta, the first of a series planned by the national party this year. Mondale planned airport news conferences in each city on the schedule, as well as a party luncheon in Greensboro, a reception in Atlanta and a dinner in Orlando. Tom West, a fund-raising specialist at party headquarters, said those invited to the various events were mainly people who already have bought tickets to the Jan. 20 dinner plus local Democratic dignitaries along the route. "The idea is to encourage the faithful and stir up interest in the Democratic Party," West said. The Atlanta dinner later this month is expected to raise at least $650,000 for the party's 1978 campaign coffers.

Others are planned in New York, Los Angeles, Texas and at a midwestern site, probably Chicago, West said. The Democrats are trying to pay off a lingering $2 million debt and raise a $5 million election-year budget. This compares to a Republican National Committee budget of about $15 million. Although Mondale has appeared at various party functions during his first year as vice president, this is his first political outing on this scale.

Next week, Mondale goes on a "look and listen" trip to seven western states for Carter. Then he goes to Canada Jan. 17 and 18 and Mexico Jan. 20-22 to meet with heads of state and tour the countryside. Today's events also served as something of an early birthday party for the vice president, who turns 50 on Thursday.

Demo Dinner Price Faces Criticisms

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Vice President Walter Mondale will be here today for a $1,000-a-couple Democratic party fundraiser which has already drawn a protest from a group that thinks the price is too high. Mondale will be sharing the limelight with former federal budget director Bert Lance, who resigned last summer in the wake of disclosures about his banking practices. Mondale was scheduled to arrive at Greensboro-High Point Regional Airport at 11:40 a.m. aboard Air Force Two from Washington. Lance will be arriving by private jet, a spokesman said. Mondale's visit, his second to North Carolina since taking office, comes one day before his 50th birthday. The trip is for the political appearance only. The vice president is scheduled to leave Greensboro at 1:45 p.m. for two more fundraising dinners in Atlanta and Orlando, Fla.

Local party officials said they hoped as much as $200,000 would be raised. All proceeds are to go to the Democratic National Committee to repay old, officials said. Also expected at the fundraiser are Gov. Jim Hunt, newly appointed Democratic National Chairman John White of Texas and outgoing party chief Kenneth Curtis of Maine. The high ticket price drew criticism from a group calling itself the National United Workers Organization, which said it planned a protest demonstration. In a statement issued recently, the group called the admission charge "a payoff from the rich businessmen to Carter and Mondale for their aid in helping to keep profits up by crushing us down." Democratic party officials said there would be other lower-priced events later to balance the luncheon today.

Battling On Porn Front

By The Associated Press
Adult bookstore owners and the legal establishment have attacked each other on different fronts in their battle over the new state law that makes it illegal for more than one adult product or service to be sold under one roof. Police and sheriff's deputies in Fayetteville and Cumberland County raided six bookstores and theaters Tuesday, arresting at least six persons and seizing large quantities of adult books and movies and sex novelties. All the arrests were in the city. Sheriff's deputies said they made no arrests in the three raids they conducted but expected some soon. Two other adult bookstores whose owners recently said they would comply with the new law were not raided. The six persons arrested were released on signature bonds, officials said. Meanwhile in Raleigh, an adult bookstore company with outlets in six North Carolina cities has challenged the constitutionality of the law under which the Fayetteville raids were carried out. In a suit filed in federal court last month, Hart Book Stores and Raleigh Books Inc. asks for an injunction preventing authorities from enforcing the law. The company operates stores in Raleigh, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, High Point, Louisburg and Goldsboro. A court spokesman said no date had been set for a hearing on the suit.

Overeaters To Meet Thursday

Nutrition counselor, Marianne Barnes will speak at a meeting of Overeaters Anonymous Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Arlington Street Southern Baptist Church. Mrs. Barnes' topic will be "Establishing New Eating Behavior." All members are urged to attend. The public is invited to visit or join the group, patterned after Alcoholics Anonymous, which seeks to help those who need to overcome compulsive eating habits.

Two Parachutes Failed But Trooper Survived

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A Fort Bragg paratrooper's life was saved after both his parachutes failed to open when he fell on top of another opened chute and slid safely down the lines into the other paratrooper's arms.

The incident was late last month. Spec 4 Jerry Tindal said he had jumped from a C-130 transport when his main parachute failed to open. The reserve parachute malfunctioned and tangled in the use less main chute.

Tindal would likely have been killed had he not landed on another paratrooper's opened parachute.

"He balleded at me to get off, but by the time I slid off the top, holding onto his lines, he knew what had happened," Tindal recalled.

The other trooper, Nelson Peters of Fayetteville, grabbed Tindal in his arms and the two men landed safely. Tindal escaped with a sprained leg muscle.

"I was all right until I hit the ground, and then it came to me what had happened," Tindal said later.

"I know there had to be somebody up there watching over me, or I wouldn't be here now."

Tindal told his story to his hometown newspaper in Florence, S.C., but he declined an interview with the Fayetteville Times after he said his commanding officer upbraided him for publicizing the near tragedy.

"The captain told me it looks bad for the Army to have stories in the newspapers about how a chute didn't open," he said. "He said it might hurt the 82nd's recruiting."

were "as high as 97 and 98."

Craft said that the success was due to "the concentrated effort of the school food services, the maintenance departments, and the health department."

Craft also delivered a report on Federal Grant, Title IV-B, which provides for an allotment of $46,000 to be used to employ two guidance personnel, obtain media equipment and materials.

The Board voted to fight a ruling by Health, Education, and Welfare which stated that the board should re-employ and reimburse a former employee of the county schools.

The Board had previously told a former unwed library aide who became pregnant that she would have to leave her position for a year.

Alford said that she was not asked to leave because of her condition but because the fact that she was unmarried and pregnant would be a bad influence on the students at school.

HEW notified the Board and said that they would have to pay the complainant back pay and place her in a position similar to the one she had before her dismissal.

The Board said that they would not comply with HEW's request and wait to hear from them further.

In other business, the Board tabled a recommendation made by the superintendent requesting the exchange of approximately one acre of land on the garage site on the 64 By pass for approximately one-half acre of land next to the site with Ernest W. Hahn, Inc., developers of the Greenville Shopping Center.

Alford said that the exchange would afford more street frontage to the Board's property. Board members voted to form a committee to study the matter further.

Members also approved the new substitute teacher list submitted by Assistant Superintendent Jack Edwards. Those persons approved were Gregg Ashorn and Mrs. Louise Weatherly, both of Greenville.

In further business, Edwards recommended that the Board request of the State Board of Education temporary permission to exceed class size limits. He noted that there were only two or three instances in the county schools where classes were not overloaded—W.H. Robinson, A.G. Cox, and G.R. Whitfield.

In related business, the Board heard a request by the Winterville Advisory Council for two mobile units to relieve overcrowding in their school. A Council representative said that a request for one mobile unit was made in October, 1976, but that nothing has come of it.

Board members noted that bids were opened for mobile units, but that none were received. An effort was also made to purchase a used unit, but none could be found.

Chairman Mark Owens told the Council that "We will see that something's done about this." Council members were told to report back to the Board at a later date.

The Board also denied a request made by Greenville Christian Academy Headmaster J.M. Bragg to lease the A.G. Cox gymnasium for a basketball tournament Feb. 24-25. Alford recommended the denial due to "activities already scheduled on these dates..." and the heavy use of this gym."

weather, coupled with the holiday interruptions, prevented the contractors from catching up.

Grading contractors are still behind in their schedule, he said, and now are some 80 per cent through the necessary grading work.

So far, 43 footings have been poured, 36 foundations have been completed, 21 slabs poured, 17 buildings partially framed, and nine roof trusses have been installed, according to Laney.

He said that the general contractor has indicated that progress should pick up on the project and work will be on schedule.

Commissioners discussed the annual report that will be submitted to the City Council regarding activities of the Authority during the previous year. The check normally accompanying the report for the Authority's payment in lieu of taxes will be down this year, it was reported.

Laney said that the reduction in the payment in lieu of taxes check is due to the drastic increases that took place in utility costs during the past year. The payment in lieu of taxes is based on shelter rent or rent less utilities, he explained, and since utility increases take place while tenant income ceilings remain set, the overall payment will be down.

Only two vacancies occurred in the units operated by the Authority during December, according to Sallye Streeter, director of tenant affairs.

Mrs. Streeter said that average rents included: N.C. 22-1 (Meadowbrook), $67.69; N.C. 22-2 (Kearney Park), $77.50; N.C. 22-3 (Moyewood), $76.18; N.C. 22-4 (Moyewood), $66.88, for an overall rent average of $75.24.

The elephant was first used as the symbol of the Republican Party in the United States in 1874.

study commissions dealing with state aid formulae for public libraries and ad valorem tax on automobiles. For the past four years he has represented the House Education Committee on the N. C. Advisory Council on Teacher Education.

Bundy was a school administrator for 42 years, the last 24 in his hometown, Farmville. He is a Mason and Grand Orator of the Grand Lodge of Masons in North Carolina. He is a 2nd Degree Scottish Rite Mason and a Knight Commander of the Court of Honor. He is a member of the Farmville Kiwanis Club and has a perfect attendance record of 34 years. In 1945 he was District Governor of the Carolinas District of Kiwanis International.

An elder and member of the Church Board of the Farmville Christian Church, he has served as president of the N. C. Christian Men's Fellowship and president of the State Convention of the Disciples of Christ.

Since 1972 he has served on the Board of Trustees of Mount Olive College and now is chairman of the Academic Affairs Committee. He is a member of the Pitt County Farm Bureau and the Pitt County Agribusiness Association. He often is employed as an after-dinner speaker and makes it a practice to donate all honorariums to charity.

Bundy said in his announcement, "I have enjoyed representing the good people of Pitt and Greene Counties. I have supported legislation which I thought was good and opposed legislation which I thought was not in the best interest of our people. I have supported appropriations for education, mental health, agriculture, and in other areas which I thought were reasonable and in line with the resources at hand.

"I plan to conduct a vigorous campaign and, if nominated and elected, I plan to continue to give my full time and best efforts to representing all people and all segments of our society. The experience of serving on commissions, committees, and boards gives me an insight and knowledge of state government that cannot be attained otherwise. I believe that my background and training, plus four terms in the General Assembly, equip me to serve you again in 1979."

He says he plans to file his candidacy by Jan. 16. Friends and supporters have promised to pay his filing fee, he says.

Hungarian Crown's Return Is Cleared

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Carter administration, following its latest court victory on the issue, is proceeding with plans to return the Crown of St. Stephen to the Hungarian government.

Supreme Court Justice Byron R. White on Tuesday turned down Sen. Bob Dole's request to delay the transfer. The Nebraska Republican argued the entire court should decide the issue.

Dole, who lost his case earlier in U.S. District Court, said return of the 977-year-old crown was a "treaty" that required Senate action.

White did not issue a written opinion.

A separate but similar suit by 17 members of Congress, including Dole, was rejected by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger on Dec. 21.

The crown has been a symbol of Hungary's national identity and religious freedom. It will be presented to the Hungarian government on Friday in Budapest and will remain on display there.

Americans of Hungarian descent objected to having the crown returned to a communist government.

Vandal Applied A Screwdriver

WINTER PARK, Fla. (AP)—Somewhere there's a vandal with a screwdriver—and maybe with a screw loose.

When officials at Winter Park High School returned from the holiday weekend, they found the place littered with doorknobs, electrical outlet plates, toggle switches and other equipment.

Someone had unscrewed every screw he could reach.

Some of the unscrewed pieces were missing, but no other damage was done.

The culprit "must have spent hours, or else there was an army of them," Assistant Principal Bernard Bell said Tuesday.

School maintenance crews spent most of the day putting the school back together.

Officials weren't sure how the vandal got in, but Bell had a hunch. "Probably with that screwdriver," he said.

Humphrey Had Quiet Holiday

WAVERLY, Minn. (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, who has inoperable cancer of the pelvis, spent his two-week vacation from the Congress enjoying visits with his family and friends, watching football on television and doing casual office work, according to an aide.

Fred Gates of Humphrey's staff says the senator plans to return to Washington for the new session of Congress Jan. 19, but no date has been set for the trip.

Correction

In Bill Noblitt's article "Museum Drive In Schools" that appeared in this paper on Monday, Dec. 12, it was stated, relative to distribution of art reproductions in public schools, that "The Art Society plans to spend some $410,000 for the materials."

The figure cited is in error. It should have read "plans to spend some $10,000."

MEETING FRIDAY

Golden Rod Temple No. 368 will meet at the Elks Home, Bonner's Lane, Friday at 7 p. m.

All members, past and present, are urged to attend for business of importance, according to Dt. Ruler, Anna White.

Tucker...

mayor of Winterville for 13 years, beginning in the late 1940's, and was deputy tax collector for Pitt County from October 1950 until October 1955.

Tucker was chairman of the Selective Service Board in the county and is a retired Winterville fireman, with more than 20 years service.

The candidate is currently serving on the Department of Social Services board, and the Buildings and Grounds and Landfill Committees of the Board of Commissioners.

He is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Reddy Branch Free Will Baptist Church, and the Winterville Ruritan and Kiwanis Clubs.

Tucker is married to the former Mabel McGilnon and they have three children.

Offer 'Biggest Garage Sale'

NEW YORK (AP) — The furnishings in a room Dwight Eisenhower slept in are for sale at $20,000, along with just about everything else inside the Commodore Hotel.

"The biggest garage sale in the world" begins Thursday and might go on for two months, according to Clem Long, president of National Content Liquidators of Dayton, Ohio. It will last until every knife and fork has been sold, he said.

The Commodore, situated on 42nd Street adjacent to Grand Central Station, is to be gutted, then refurbished as a Hyatt Regency Hotel.

A completely equipped bar and restaurant will go for $75,000, a bargain considering it cost $300,000 to refurbish in 1974.

The TV sets are tagged at $55 for black and white and $175 for color. And the big lobby clock goes for $5,000.

Ex-Publisher Died Today

KINSTON — Mr. Clyde G. Simmons Sr., 71, of 403 Cox Avenue, Kinston, died in Pitt Memorial Hospital today.

Funeral services will be held at Garner's Funeral Home in Kinston Friday. Burial will follow in Westview Cemetery.

Mr. Simmons was a former employee of the Kinston Daily Free Press and served as editor and publisher of the Grifton Times and the Ayden Tribune for 21 years. He was also associated with Woodmen of the World for two years and served as state president.

He was president of the Kinston lodge for seven years and secretary for 21 years. Mr. Simmons held the position of Head Council of the Woodmen of the World for North Carolina and was former president of the Eastern North Carolina Press Association. He was past president and on the board of directors of the Ayden Rotary Club.

Mr. Simmons was a member of Gordon Street Christian Church and St. John's Masonic Lodge No. 4.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mildred Inez Coward Simmons of the home; two sons, Clyde G. Simmons Jr. of Kinston, and Robert Earl Simmons of Oklahoma City, Okla.; one brother, L.J. Simmons of Kinston; one sister, Mrs. John T. Harrelson of Kinston; and two grandchildren.

The family will be at the funeral home from 7-9 p.m. Thursday and will receive friends at the home.

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Johnson died early Wednesday morning in Pitt Memorial Hospital. Funeral arrangements are incomplete at Phillips Brothers Mortuary.

McLawn
Funeral services for Mrs. Amelia Downs McLawn, 64, who died Tuesday will be held Thursday at 11 a.m. at Ayers Funeral Home in Bethel with the Rev. R.J. McIntosh and the Rev. William Butler officiating.

Burial will follow in Martin Memorial Garden in Williamston. Surviving is one daughter, Mrs. Dallas (Pat) Cox of New Bern; one son, Wilton (Tiny) McLawn of Greenville; three sisters, Mrs. Maury Daughtin of Bethel, Mrs. C.B. Burroughs of pointed fire chief in keeping with his renomination by the Fire Department members.

Citizens Bobby Evans and Dan A. Thomas were appointed trustees of the Firemen's Relief Fund. Their terms on the board which decides on relief appropriations from the fund for firemen and their families who are in need are two years each.

Citizen Ray Braxton, who said he has only recently returned to Farmville, registered a complaint about the unsightliness of a plumbing yard near his home in the Marlboro area.

Citizen Durwood Little asked if the town is going to refund Carolina Power and Light rebate funds and was told that the town will not do so. It was said that the town refrained from passing on to citizens an increase last February in anticipation of the receipt of these funds. These funds are now earmarked for the Downtown Improvement Project, and refunds would cost so much in postage and clerical expenditures that no citizen would get much at all, they said.

The Board, after some discussion, repealed the town's park closing hours ordinance. They said it is unenforceable and apparently not needed at this time.

Assessment acceleration waivers were granted to 13 citizens whom Thomas said have been into the city office to set up payment plans for street assessments they owe and who have thus far lived up to their respective plans. He said there are 11 others who owe the town and who have not yet worked out payment plans. Many other assessments are delinquent and liens probably will have to be foreclosed to compel payment, he reported.

The Board passed a resolution to participate in the cost of recreation programs of the Town of Farmville, which serves many out-of-town residents. It stated its determination to ask other Pitt County towns to join in an effort to prevail upon the County Commissioners to do something about this problem which seems to be felt by every municipality providing recreation activities in the county. It was pointed out that several Eastern North Carolina counties, including Chowan, Camden, Pasquotank, Sampson, Vance and Wake are providing financial assistance to towns for recreation.

Commissioner David Stowe was appointed by Mayor Sara Albritton as Farmville's liaison with the Mid-East Commission. H. P. Norman was reappointed.

TOKYO (AP) — Sen. Edward Kennedy, traveling in China, has met with Chinese Foreign Minister Huang Hua, China's Hsinhua news agency reports.

In a dispatch from Peking, Hsinhua said Huang and Kennedy met Tuesday and had "a friendly talk." No details on the meeting were given.

Hsinhua said the Chinese foreign minister gave a banquet in honor of Kennedy and his party, who arrived in Peking Saturday from Shanghai.

HOLD PARTY SUNDAY

The public is invited to attend the session.

Demand Refunds At Nudist Camp

ROSELAWN, Ind. (AP) — Two men who apparently didn't like what they saw were arrested on charges of armed robbery after they allegedly demanded refunds on their entry fees to a nudist camp.

Investigators said Wilbur Boyd, 57, and Charles Beverly, 37, both of Hebron, were released from the Newton county jail at Kentland on $10,000 bond each.

According to state trooper Mike Greene, Boyd and Beverly paid $5 each as an entrance fee to the Naked City Nudist Camp Monday. Greene said the pair spent about 10 minutes inside the resort's main building, which houses a restaurant and game room, then grew disenchanted. Greene did not elaborate.

Boyd and Beverly allegedly used a gun to force two female employees to give back their fees.

New Job For Lawmaker

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — State Rep. Thomas O. Gilmore, D-Greensboro, has been named deputy secretary of the state Department of Human Resources.

Gov. Jim Hunt and Human Resources Secretary Sarah Morrow made the announcement Tuesday. Gilmore is a staunch Hunt backer.

The governor said Gilmore "is making an enormous sacrifice both in terms of his business and his legislative career to become deputy secretary of human resources."

Gilmore, 41, part owner and vice president of the Gilmore Plant and Bulb Co. of Julian, has served three terms in the state House of Representatives.

He won statewide attention during the 1977 session when he guided through the legislature the bill which will allow governors and lieutenant governors to run for reelection to a second consecutive term. He resigned his legislative seat Tuesday on assuming the new post which will pay him $40,500 a year.

Hunt said Gilmore brings to his new job a "proven record as a business manager and that will be so important during the coming year as we work to find ways to control health care costs and as we seek to provide the best possible human services with the dollars available."

Dr. Morrow said in making the announcement that Gilmore "will be the second ranking person in the department, and I will be looking to him to help me manage and direct this department as we head into our second year."

Gilmore, a Randolph County native, graduated from N.C. State University in 1959 with a horticulture degree.

Negotiator To Debate Treaty

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Saul Linowitz, one of the two chief negotiators of the Panama Canal treaties, is scheduled to participate in a debate on the documents between Ronald Reagan and columnist William F. Buckley.

The two-hour debate is scheduled for Jan. 13 at the University of South Carolina and will be carried live on national public radio and taped for use on public television at a later date, according to an announcement Tuesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon leaders are preparing for a new round of military base closings and reductions that they calculate will save $25 million to $300 million a year.

They have instructed each armed service to list bases that can be eliminated or cut back. An announcement of installations that may be affected is likely late this month or in February.

"We'll have to get at some bases that are very hard for the services to give up," said one senior official.

This imminent economy move is certain to meet resistance from congressmen whose districts will be affected by a loss of jobs. The last major base cut was ordered by the Ford administration two years ago.

President Carter and top Pentagon officials already are under strong pressure from a bipartisan coalition of more than 200 congressmen from the Northeast and Midwest to prevent any further base closings in their districts.

They claim their areas have been unfairly treated in favor of the South and West.

Beginning with his election campaign, Carter has said he intends to pare the number of base in his effort to hold down defense spending.

Since the Kennedy administration, Democratic and Republican presidents and defense secretaries have been gradually trimming the number of bases in the face of growing resistance.

In recent years, Congress has imposed requirements, including waiting periods and Defense Department environmental impact statements, that have tended to slow the closings.

Some communities have fought delaying actions in the courts, although so far they have failed to prevent any shutdown or consolidation.

Because of restraints written into law, the Pentagon no longer is as free as it was in the 1960s to announce flatly that a specific base will be closed. Instead, it must select bases as "candidates" for closing, which is how the Pentagon will describe the installations on its forthcoming list.

Meanwhile the Army is reportedly unhappy with a proposal by Defense Department officials to spread the returning 2nd Infantry Division among three bases in the Northeast, rather than concentrating that division at Fort Bliss in Texas.

Tax Break

ENGLEWOOD CLIFFS, N.J. (UPI) — Prentice-Hall notes that many citizens offer their services to school and municipal groups without payment, sometimes even at their own expense. The publishing house offers the reminder that under the tax law, such citizens may deduct any expenses incurred in performance of their duties, even to the cost of board and lodging on overnight trips.

N. Pitt Weak In Middle

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer

First-year North Pitt wrestling coach Wayne Powell feels his team needs improvement in the middle weights, but still sees great improvement for the Panthers.

Last year's North Pitt team finished with twice as many losses as wins, but the team is off to a good 3-1 start this season and Powell said the squad is shooting for eight or nine wins before the season ends.

"We still have to meet D. H. Conley again. They're the only team to beat us. But, we feel like we can beat Williamston. We had an off night the first time we met them and they tied us."

Powell added that the team also has to face Farmville Central in what could be another tough match.

The Panthers don't have anyone at 98 pounds right now, but hope to get freshman John Pettaway down to that weight before long. If he gets down, he will be a good wrestler at 98 pounds, Powell said.

At 105, is junior John Simpson. Powell called him a "superior wrestler," who has lost only one match. Junior Tim Andrews holds down the 112 spot.

At 119 is senior Connie Perkins, while brother Tim Perkins, a sophomore, is at 126. Powell said Connie is "not quite up to par, but is a good wrestler. Tim is doing a fair job for us."

Sophomore Bubba Smith at 132 hasn't been extremely successful so far, while at 138, freshman Ricky Mitchell is showing a lot of improvement, Powell said.

Wrestling at 145 pounds is junior Danny Shaw, who had three pins in four matches this year. Senior Mike Manning at 155 is undefeated and "definitely a superior wrestler."

Sam Mayo is at 167 and, although injured right now, has only one loss. He should be back in about two weeks. While he is out, Robert Parker, a senior, will probably move in.

Senior Ricky Stokes starts at 185 and "had done a fine job for us this year." Parker normally holds down the 195 position. The heavyweight is sophomore Eddie Cox who is showing good improvement in his first year.

"I think the strength of the team is our lower and upper weight classes," Powell said. "We're weak in the middle, without a doubt."

The coach said D. H. Conley appears to be the top team in the Eastern Carolina Conference this season, but he hopes his Panthers can challenge Farmville Central for second place.

"We're hoping to finish second. We're working with the middle weights and, if we can tighten them up, we'll have a real good team."

Cauthen Top Athlete

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The son of a blacksmith father and a horse-trainer mother and too small for most sports, Steve Cauthen seemed destined to be a jockey.

His destiny was realized with amazing speed and impact in 1977 as the 17-year-old riding phenomenon from Kentucky burst to the forefront of sports with a string of riding feats unequalled in horse racing history.

Tuesday, Cauthen was named the Associated Press Athlete of the Year, becoming the first jockey so recognized in the 47 years of the award.

"I certainly appreciate the honor," said Cauthen, who rode 488 winners in 1977 and won purses worth $6,151,750, the first time a rider has topped the $6 million mark.

"I try to take honors in stride," he said. "I try never to let myself get too excited or too disappointed. I just go day-by-day, try to ride the best I can every day. I don't dwell on awards, but will just try to get another next year."

"Thanks," he added with a wide grin. A 5-foot-1, 95-pounder, Cauthen topped such outstanding athletes as baseball's Rod Carew, football's Walter Payton and basketball's Bill Walton in the balloting among sports writers and broadcasters.

Cauthen received 79 first-place votes while Minnesota's Carew got 40, Chicago's Payton 33 and Portland's Walton 24.

Other first-place vote-getters were Cincinnati outfielder George Foster, 20; New York Yankees outfielder Reggie Jackson, 19; retired Cosmos soccer star Pele, 13; Masters and British Open champion Tom Watson, 10, and Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell of Texas, 8. The past year was filled with notable sports achievements such as Jackson's World Series homers, Carew's .388 batting average and Watson's dramatic victories. But Cauthen's accomplishments overshadowed even those.

Highlights of his year included riding six winners in a day on three different occasions; winning Aqueduct's Gold Seeker Purse on Little Happiness to go over the $6 million mark, and riding three winners his first time out without an apprentice's five-pound weight allowance.

Cauthen, already leading the Santa Anita jockey race in the meet that began here last week, also proved he was a durable athlete.

He suffered a broken wrist and ribs and facial cuts when his mount at Belmont Park, Bay Streak, broke a leg and fell last May 23. A month later, Cauthen came back to win with his first ride since the accident, scoring aboard Little Miracle at Belmont.

Although the year has brought tremendous change in the young rider's public life, he said he strives to remain the same person he was before his success. "My friends still treat me just like I'm Steve Cauthen," he said. "And that's just who I am, Steve Cauthen."

Cauthen's almost uncanny knack for getting the most out of his mounts has been the subject of much conjecture and debate.

"He's a natural," some say. "He knows horses," others say. "He rides smart, knows exactly what a horse can do and when," still others contend.

Cauthen himself, a quiet but articulate young man, attributes much of his riding success to his attitude and to the smooth way he tries to handle horses. "I approach each race the same, whether it's a claimer or a stakes race," he explained. "I figure I owe my best to the people who put me on their horse."

"And I try not to jerk horses around. I try to do everything I do with a horse very gradually and easily."

Irish Cop No. 1 Spot

By The Associated Press

Less than three months after critics were clamoring for his scalp and "Dump Devine" bumper stickers were flourishing in South Bend, Ind., Notre Dame Coach Dan Devine is having the last laugh and basking in the glow of college football's national championship.

The Fighting Irish, whose over-all winning percentage of .774 entering the 1977 campaign was the best in history, added another chapter to the Notre Dame legend Monday when they were voted national champions by the 64 voters in the nationwide Associated Press poll.

In a race among five teams with identical 11-1 records, Notre Dame's 38-10 Cotton Bowl record of previously No. 1-rated Texas enabled the Irish to win out over Alabama, Arkansas, Texas and Penn State.

"There's a lot of personal satisfaction in a job well done and maybe this is hard to understand but I'm happier for the team than for myself," Devine said when he was informed that Notre Dame had won the AP National Championship Trophy. "I have a combined feeling of being humble and thankful."

"I usually try to hold my emotions in, but I'm kind of quivering all over right now. I'm just so thankful that my staff and my players are the kind of people they are."

Notre Dame, which finished the regular season in fifth place, received 371-3 first-place votes — one voter split his ballot among Notre Dame, Alabama and Arkansas — and 1,180 of a possible 1,280 points.

Runner-up Alabama, a convincing 35-6 winner over Ohio State in the Sugar Bowl, climbed from third place to second with 191-3 first-place ballots and 1,132 points. Arkansas jumped from sixth to third with 51-3 first-place votes and 1,011 points by clobbering previously second-ranked Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl 31-6.

Texas, the only team in the country to make it through the regular season undefeated, dropped to fourth place with the remaining two first-place votes and 797 points. Penn State, which also finished 11-1 by downing Arizona State 42-30 in the Fiesta Bowl, rose from eighth to fifth with 768 points.

Rounding out the Top Ten were 10-1 Kentucky, 10-2 Oklahoma, 9-2-1 Pittsburgh, 10-2 Michigan and 8-4 Washington. Kentucky was on probation and ineligible for a bowl while Pitt tumbled Clemson 34-3 in the Gator Bowl and Washington upended Michigan 27-20 in the Rose Bowl.

Kentucky climbed from seventh to sixth with 605 points, Oklahoma plummeted from second to seventh with 592, Pitt's defending national champions went from 10th to eighth with 508, Michigan skidded from fourth to ninth with 443 and Washington rose from 13th to 10th with 437.

Ohio State fell from ninth to 11th, the only team to drop out of the Top Ten.

Both Alabama's Bear Bryant and Arkansas' Lou Holtz expressed disappointment that their teams weren't voted in as national champs but also congratulated Notre Dame.

"I think Notre Dame is the only team that could have jumped over us," Bryant said. "I think we're as good as anybody and Notre Dame's winning it is just some people's opinion."

"Naturally I'm disappointed for our players and our staff because they did an outstanding job this year. We came so far this year against one of the toughest schedules in the country. But Notre Dame has our congratulations."

Holtz said he was "naturally disappointed, but happy for Notre Dame. I'm not upset and not bitter, but I think we're the best football team in the country. We were picked to finish sixth in our conference and it took a long time for people to take us seriously."

'Athletic Thoughts' Topic Of Strayhorn Speech To Club

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer

Former East Carolina and professional running back Ken Strayhorn provided some insight into "athletic thoughts" at yesterday's regular meeting of the Greenville Sports Club.

The Trenton native, who graduated from ECU in 1976 and went on to play professional football with the New York Jets of the National Football League and the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League, said there is a great transition between high school and college athletics and a smaller transition into professional athletics.

Much of Strayhorn's speech dealt with the thoughts and attitudes of the players, the side which is seldom seen by the average fan.

In high school, he said, "the whole thing of high school athletics was fun. If you won, you felt good; if you lost, you felt bad for 10 minutes and then you felt good again." Strayhorn said prep athletics "taught me that you do your best to win and if you win, it's over. If you don't win, it's also over. You don't hold the grudges that you see in real life."

The jump from high school football, where he was a big running back, to college football, where he was small, "was the shock of my life." Strayhorn said. He came to East Carolina under Sonny Randle and hard practices were a way of life. Pre-season practices were tough in his freshman year, Strayhorn said. Randle greeted the team with, "We're going to have a winner, no matter what it costs." He then took the team on to the practice field in 104-degree heat.

"One morning, I lost 12 pounds, and in the afternoon, I lost another eight to 10 pounds. I fell out that day," Strayhorn said he made it through practice, but collapsed in the locker room at the end of the day. "The other freshmen said, 'If Kenny dies, we're going home.'"

That August, sleep came hard. "I couldn't sleep at night. Number one, it was hot; number two, so many guys were packing up and leaving in the middle of the night and making so much noise they kept you awake." Strayhorn said, "It got to the point where Coach Randle took the keys to our cars and took away our bicycles. He didn't want anybody to be able to leave without going through him." If a player turned up missing at roll call in the morning, Randle would say, "I guess he died." "It was no embarrassment to die in those days," according to Strayhorn. "I would have died, too, if it hadn't been for my brother (Les, who also played for the Pirates)."

College football was "do or die, dog eat dog," Strayhorn said, and "when you get to pro football, it ain't much different." As a matter of fact, it's a little worse.

The competition among the men who play for pay was even greater than in college because of the pressure to keep your job. Strayhorn said, "It's like going to work every day and having someone trying to take your job every minute, physically."

The pressure is too much for some players, Strayhorn said, and the rule of preservation is the "survival of the fittest." The Sports Club will meet again on Jan. 17 when ECU Athletic Director Bill Cain will speak.

Zone Helps Rampants Get Win

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer
A switch to a zone defense in the second quarter helped Rose High come from behind West Craven last night and the Rampants went on to defeat the Devilpups, 89-78.

The victory in the varsity game followed a 55-37 Rose win in the girls' contest. Earlier, West Craven's junior varsity defeated the Baby Rampants, 78-66.

"I think West Craven had a fine ballclub," Rose coach Jim Brewington stated after the game. "They showed us some things we hadn't seen before in the first quarter. But, we went back to a zone in the second quarter and that shut them down."

The Devilpups scored six straight points late in the first period to take an 18-12 lead and, despite the play of guard Greg Guthrie and center William Barnes, who combined for 16 first-quarter points, West Craven held a 21-20 lead at the end of the period.

The switch to the zone in the second quarter slowed West Craven down, however, and the Rampants scored 16 points to just five for the Devilpups early in the period to take a 36-26 lead, a lead which they managed to hold for the rest of the game.

Brewington had praise for Barnes and Guthrie after the game. Both turned in fine performances; Guthrie finished with a game-high 26 points and Barnes added 20.

"We got a big game out of William Barnes, probably his best of the year. He scored well and went to the boards. Greg Guthrie played another fine game. I think all the kids that played contributed something."

Brewington also had accolades for Devilpup Arthur Becton, who scored 18 points. "He's one of the best ballplayers we've faced," the coach said.

West Craven was able to break the Rampant man-to-man defense in the first quarter with back-door plays which resulted in a number of baseline layups.

Becton and Clifton Green both played well in the opening period as the Devilpups went ahead of the Rampants.

The switch to zone, which Brewington called for between periods, completely turned things around. After Kelvin Cherry hit a pair of foul shots to make it 23-20, Rose reeled off 10 straight points, with four coming from foul shots by Anthony Bryant and four from a pair of field goals by Barnes.

Jeff James, who led the Devilpups with 24 points, then made good on a three-point play to make it 30-26 Rose with 4:33 left in the first half; but the Rampants countered with six more points to go up 36-26.

Over the last three minutes of the quarter, West Craven was able to cut that margin to 44-37.

The Devilpups stayed close during the opening minutes of the third quarter, countering a three-point play and pair of free throws by Guthrie with some easy shots from the lane. But, with the score 51-45, Rose staged a sudden burst of 10 straight points to make it 61-45 with 3:23 left in the quarter.

The Devilpups scored the final seven points of the period, however, and trailed by just nine points, 63-54, going into the final quarter of play.

James scored four straight points early in the final period to cut the Rose margin to seven, 65-58, with 7:12 left in the game. Again, however, the Rampants came back with a six-point flurry to push the lead to 71-58.

Rose hung on to that lead for the remainder of the period, despite a pair of Devilpup foul shots which cut it to seven, 80-73, with 2:12 left. Brewington cleared his bench in the late going and the substitutes stretched the final margin to 111.

Rose outshot the Devilpups, from the field hitting 30 of 64 for 46.9 per cent to 27 of 61, 44.3 per cent. Taller West Craven controlled the boards, however, with a 42-34 rebounding margin.

Each team hit over 20 free throws in the game. Rose was 25 for 36 at the line and West Craven was 24 of 31.

Besides Guthrie and Barnes, three more Rampants were in double figures. Anthony Bryant with 12 and James Hawkins and Billy Roberson with 10 each.

In the girl's game, Rose jumped out to an 11-6 margin in the first quarter, but saw West Craven come back and go ahead briefly in the second quarter. The Rampettes held a slim 24-21 lead at halftime.

The local girls began to pour it on in the third quarter, however, extending their lead to 39-28 and then adding to that margin in the final period.

Sheryl Taylor paced the Rampette scoring with 14 points, while Kathy Streeter hit 13 and Margaret McGlothin 11. Veresa Hargett and Debra Hagan both scored 11 for West Craven.

The Rose boys are now 5-3 for the year and look to Saturday night's game at Washington. "They have the best ballclub I've seen," Brewington said. The Rampettes are now 4-2.

Wiggins Leads Hawks Past Ayden-Grifton

LITTLEFIELD — North Lenoir's Mitchell Wiggins blistered the nets for 34 points in leading his team to a 70-61 defeat of Ayden-Grifton last night.

The loss was the first in a loop play for the Chargers, who fell to 1-1 in the Eastern Carolina Conference. They are now 7-3 overall. North Lenoir is now 2-0 in the league. The Hawks ran out to a 24-14 lead in the first quarter, while the Chargers were able to cut it to 37-29 at halftime. In the third period, North Lenoir stretched the margin back out to 13 and then coasted in.

Coasty Ormond led Ayden-Grifton with 16 points, while Frankie Dail had 13 and James Leggett 12. Johnny Wiggins was the only other Hawk in double figures with 10.

In the girl's game, the Chargerettes easily defeated the Lady Hawks, 59-44. Ayden-Grifton led all the way behind Karen Haseley, who finished with 16 points. That total was matched by North Lenoir's Rhodes.

The Chargerette victory gives them a 2-0 conference record and 5-2 overall mark. Ayden-Grifton plays again Friday night at North Pitt.

Vikings Rip Farmville

HOLLYWOOD — D. H. Conley fell behind Farmville Central in the first quarter last night, but came roaring back in the second and third periods to thrash the Jaguars, 68-52.

The win followed the Vikings' 60-39 victory over the Lady Jaguars. Farmville won the junior varsity contest, 63-61.

In the boy's game, Farmville Central snuck out to a 14-6 lead at the end of the first quarter, but the Vikings came around in the second period to take a 28-26 halftime lead.

In the third period, Conley upped its margin to 46-32 and then ended with a 16-point lead.

Al Tyson led the Vikings with 16 points and Shawn Little scored 12. The Jaguars were led by Earl Harris with 16 and Calvin Horne with 15.

The girl's game saw the Valkyries outscore the Lady Jags 14-4 in the second quarter to break the game open. They had held a 15-11 margin at the end of the first period, but the second-quarter onslaught stretched that to 29-15. They then easily coasted to the win.

Annie Hardy led the Valkyries with 17 points, while Glenda Green added 11. Farmville was led by Diane Barrett with 12.

The victory leaves the Valkyries with a 2-0 Eastern Carolina Conference record and a 6-1 overall mark. The Lady Jags are now 1-1 and 4-4.

Friday night, Conley will be at C. B. Aycock, while Farmville Central will be at Greene Central.

Best's Basket Drops North Pitt

BETHEL — James Best hit a shot with five seconds left to lift Greene Central over North Pitt last night, 51-49 in North Pitt basketball.

The Rams' big man led his team with 12 points, including the final two, which came after a Panther turnover with about 10 seconds on the clock.

North Pitt held the lead at the end of the first quarter, 14-6, but the teams reversed that output in the second period and the game was tied at the half, 20-20.

The Panthers held a two-point margin going into the final period of play, 39-37, and had a chance to win before the turnover which came with the score knotted at 49.

Mickey Hines led all scorers in the game with 20 points for North Pitt.

The Panthers are now 2-6 overall and 0-2 in the Eastern Carolina Conference, while Greene Central is 3-5 and 1-1.

North Pitt also dropped the girl's game, 35-26.

The Ewes held the Pant-HERS to just two first-quarter points to take an 8-2 lead and they held an 18-11 halftime margin.

In the third quarter, Greene Central stretched its edge to 32-19 to put things away.

Ann Woodard was the game's only double-figures scorer. She finished with 10 points for the Ewes, who are now 1-1 in the conference and 4-4 overall. The Pant-HERS are 0-2 and 1-6.

North Pitt hosts Ayden-Grifton Friday night, while Greene Central will entertain Farmville Central.

Viking Demolish Tigers By 64-50

WILLIAMSTON — Williamston split a pair of high school varsity basketball games with Tarboro last night, winning the girl's game, 56-29, but dropping the boy's contest, 64-50. Williamston also won the jayvee game, 40-34.

The Tigerettes ran their record to 11-1 on the year with their trouncing of the Valkyries. Williamston held a 19-5 first-quarter lead and stretched it to 33-8 at halftime.

The Tigers were up 49-16 at the end of the third period before sending in their second and third stringers. Paula Bennett led all scorers in the game with 16 points for Williamston and Jo Anna Lilley added 14. Tarboro was led by Marilyn Jones with 11 and Sandra Jones with 10.

In the boy's game, the Tigers fell behind early and were never able to catch up, despite a third-quarter rally which pulled them to within three, 42-39. In the final period, Tarboro outscored the home team, 22-11, to win going away.

Calvin Bryant led the Vikings with 18 points, while Johnny Johnson scored 16 and Haywood Evans added 13. Horace Wynne led Williamston with 14 points and Joe Peele had 10.

The Tigers are now 5-7 for the season. Williamston plays again Friday night when it hosts Plymouth in another Northeastern Conference match-up.

Redskins In Victory

SARATOGA — Roanoke High School had little trouble in picking up a pair of basketball victories over Saratoga Central last night. The Roanokeville school won the girl's game, 57-35, and the boy's game, 79-64.

The Squaws got out to a 12-6 lead in the first quarter of their contest and stretched that to 26-11 at halftime. Saratoga shaved one point off that edge by the end of the third quarter, but Roanoke moved in front by 22 at the end of the game.

Carolyn Duggins scored 13 points and Barbara Bullock added 12 for the Squaws, while Saratoga was led by Shir King with 19. Roanoke's girls are now 7-4.

In the boy's game, Jasper Martin and Edward Ward each scored 24 points to lead the Redskins to their victory. Saratoga took an early 19-16 lead, but the 'Skins came roaring back in the second quarter to go up at halftime, 38-30.

The Cougars inched back to trail 50-46 at the end of the third quarter, but Roanoke put them away in the final period. Sellers Jenkins scored 19 points and Harold Tillery and Yelverton each scored 14 for Saratoga.

The victory put the Roanoke boys above the .500 mark at 6-5. Roanoke plays again Friday night when it hosts South Edgecombe.

Ethics Center Is Established

WASHINGTON (AP) — Georgetown University has established a new Ethics and Public Policy Center, according to Timothy Healy, S.J., university president.

The Center will examine the moral implications of major domestic and foreign policy issues. A major element of the program will be to offer a critical analysis of the social and political pronouncements and action programs of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish bodies, explained Dr. Ernest W. Lefever, director of the Center.

Preparation For Storms 'Good Idea'

By JOE WING
For AP Newsfeatures
ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — While great-grandmother once took such precautions against blizzards as sewing Junior into long underwear and nailing windows shut, the National Weather Service says more and better steps should be taken, even if this winter doesn't turn out as bad as the last one.

A blizzard, incidentally, is defined as a snow storm or snow blown by winds of at least 35 miles an hour; a severe blizzard is one with 45-mile-an-hour winds and temperatures of 10 degrees or less.

Automobile accidents are listed as the leading cause of winter storm deaths, followed in order by heart attacks, freezing, home fires, carbon-monoxide poisoning, falls and the collapse of snow-laden buildings.

Latest figures indicate that about a third of the fatalities result from storm-induced auto accidents, a fourth from snow shovelers' heart attacks and a tenth from freezing.

In case of heavy snow, says a weather bureau spokesman, you should be capable of depending on your own resources. Take it for granted there may be no electricity, central heating or delivery of groceries — and no way to get to the store.

You should make sure that flashlights and a battery radio are in good operating order and that there is plenty of food in the house, including some that need not be cooked. Have an emergency heating system if possible but check for any fire and smoke hazards that may be presented by fireplaces, stoves and space heaters.

Once you can go outside, take it easy lest you overload your heart. Remember that several layers of loose-fitting clothes are warmer than one heavy, tight garment, that mittens are warmer than gloves, and that outerwear is best if hooded and water repellent.

It is even more important than at other times of year to have the family car in good shape — including heater and exhaust system.

Should you plan a long trip, prepare for the worst. A storm kit in the car might well include tire chains, tow chain, snow shovel, sack of sand, flashlight, signal light, booster cable, windshield scraper, first aid kit, compass, sleeping bags or blankets, matches, candles, extra clothing, pliers, screwdriver and adjustable wrench — leaving room, one hopes, for passengers and luggage.

If a bad storm catches you on the road, try for shelter at once. Should that be impossible, stay in your car, where rescuers are most likely to find you. Don't try to push your car out of a drift or shovel forward safely unless shelter is nearby and you are absolutely sure you can reach it. Getting lost in a blizzard is about as sure a way to die as any.

Run the motor sparingly while waiting for help and open a car window slightly lest carbon monoxide creep up on you. Presumably you have kept your tank full of gas by stopping frequently at filling stations.

And don't just sit there. Exercise by clapping hands and moving arms and legs vigorously.

Youth Split On Marital Roles

NEW YORK (UPI) — A survey by the American Council of Life Insurance shows that half of the nation's youth favor a switch in the traditional roles of husband and wife. The survey of youths between 18 and 25 shows that 50 percent approve of the idea of the wife taking over the breadwinning chores while the husband tends to things at home.

Plan Filming Of 2 Amado Books

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI) — Jorge Amado, Brazil's best-known novelist, presently has two books adapted for the cinema by two of Brazil's leading directors.

Bruno Barreto's "Dona Flor and Her Two Husbands," which tells the story of a young widow, her ghost first husband and pharmacist second husband, has broken all Brazilian ticket sales records.

Nelson Pereira dos Santos' "Tent of Miracles," however, may break Barreto's record. Both films are set in Amado's beloved city of Salvador in the northeast state of Bahia, the center of Afro-Brazilian culture.

Debby Became A Rising Star

By PETER J. BOYER
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Once upon a time, the daughter of a man who wore white shoes, drank milk and voted Republican decided to become a singing star. Daddy, having been there himself, warned his little girl of the perils of evil Hollywood, but she wouldn't be shaken.

She recorded a sweet little love song — the theme of a sweet little movie — gave it to a nice record-producer friend of her father's, and waited for it to become a big hit.

And lo, it did.
Debby Boone has one of the fastest-rising, strongest hits of the year with her "You Light Up My Life," the theme song of the movie of the same name. It's atop all three trade magazines' pop charts and, judging by the number of people humming the tune in elevators, it might be there awhile.

Even papa Pat Boone, the man of the straight and narrow in a world of heathens and infidels, approves.

"He's very excited right now," says Debby, who at 21 still lives with her folks. "He's very supportive of what I'm doing."
There was a time, Debby says, when "he discouraged me from getting too involved in this business, having been there himself and knowing how difficult it can be, especially for a girl."

"He just knows that it was real rough on him, being alone on the road, all the different people, people taking advantage of you. He said you become a kind of merchandise instead of a person."

But Pat Boone made a mistake one day about eight years ago. While touring in the Orient, he let his girls join him on stage for one song.

"Once I got a taste of it," Debby says, "that was it. My enthusiasm for school went right out the window."

She says she listened to her father's warnings — "I took it all in and thought about it very carefully, because I respect my father very much" — and trod slowly when she decided to give it a go.

"I know you can't just go into something like this and expect that everything will be fine. It can change you and it can hurt you unless you keep your head together."

As for keeping from those evils in the land of golden spoons, Debby Boone says she has just the answer.

"I don't feel threatened by the corrupt side of show business," she says, "but I don't need to hide from it, either. I think if you're secure enough in your own morals and your own standards, you don't have to be afraid of the things around you."

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JAN. 5, 1978

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Early in the day you can expect some delays as well as difficult attitudes on the part of others, but in the late afternoon an unexpected opportunity will come your way.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be sure you handle every responsibility you have in a most efficient way. Be more aware of what your mate expects of you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You find career matters do not work out too well until late in the day and then all goes smoothly. Think constructively.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Keep working steadfastly at all those duties ahead of you during day despite obstacles that may arise. Express happiness.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Going along with the ideas of those you love is wise now and can bring good results. Relax in the evening.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be more objective in the handling of home affairs and get excellent results. Don't overlook an important business matter.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have to be extremely careful in motion today if you are to avoid trouble. Don't do anything that could jeopardize harmony at home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't try to buy your way out of things in the morning, but use right methods to solve your problems. Be kind yet clever.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you are feeling irate, you may want to take your ire out on others, but maintain poise for best results. Improve your health.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You must use care during daytime to avoid trouble, but by evening all tensions lift. Allow time for social happiness.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your trusted friends could prove disappointing today, so avoid them for now. Establish more order around you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Show that you have self-discipline and gain the approval of higher-ups. Don't be hasty where credit matters are concerned.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Any changes you want to make should await the evening when the planets are more favorable. Make new friends in the evening.

String Of Skits Not That Funny

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "First Came Laugh-In! Then came Saturday Night Live! Now the wackiest comedy hour of all is here," burbles the network ad. The network is ABC.

Its ad urges us to watch such as Cheryl "Charlie's Angels" Ladd and John "Three's Company" Ritter tonight on a one-hour special called "That Thing on ABC."

Each star appears for less than a minute. Each does one joke by phone. You tell me an easier way to be a star and I'll do a fan dance at high noon in the Brown Derby.

"Thing" is a series of skits and Monty Python-like cartoon bits. Composed by five writers, it is not the wackiest comedy hour of all, although it does bear "Love Boat" for laughs.

It's mainly fueled by the efforts of nine young troupers relatively new to TV. Two of them, Shelley Long and Denny Evans, co-host things.

They start it with two introductions. In the second, Evans takes a pratfall off stage. It may make Chevy Chase cry. "Author! Author!"

Other skits are equally El Bombo, namely those concerning women's makeup, confidence-building, a Civil War romance, a chat with John Cameron Swayze, a tennis match and a silent comedy film.

However, a good moment escapes now and then. One is a report on a monster called Bigsquat, which has terrified a rural town by lumbering about and sitting on its victims.

Grouses a farmer: "Half my flock was flattened. They looked like big furry pancakes." Impossible, a scientist says, tests show it takes at least 400 pounds pressure per square inch "to squat an average mouse." But folks are terrified, the reporter notes, and "in Decatur County, Idaho, picnics are a thing of the past."

The Daily Reflector, Greenville, N.C.—Wednesday, January 4, 1978—17

Trouper Marsha Warfield also does a good solo, raising questions we'd all like answered. Like: "Where does Ralph Nader shop?"

Another bit, funny in concept but flawed in execution, has a young lady, a classical violinist, suddenly possessed by the spirit of fellow fiddler Henry Youngman. She proves in need of an exorcism.

It's worth checking out, if only to hear the maestro say, "My wife went to the beauty parlor for two hours — and that was just for the estimate."

It almost works, but as with most everything in the show, the "Thing" troops push too hard and lack the split-second timing that makes the difference between a weak chuckle and a belly laugh.

You also get the feeling ABC hired Bigsquat to sit on routines the troops thought funnier than what actually wound up in the show.

Methinks they should be allowed to try another "Thing," this time with less restraint, tighter editing and absolutely no phone-ins by ABC's minor deities.

"There is no balm in Gilead" for a declarer who goes down in a contract that requires no more than a modicum of care to bring home.

North-South bid smoothly to their best spot. When South jump shifted, North presumed correctly that there might be a heart weakness, so he raised clubs rather than suggest a no trump contract with his tenuous heart stopper.

West led the ace of hearts and continued with the jack. Declarer ruffed and decided to protect against a 4-2 spade break. He drew two rounds of trumps and then tried to cash the ace-king of spades, intending to ruff a third round to set up the suit. That line would have succeeded had the spades broken according to plan.

Unfortunately, East ruffed the second spade and played another heart. Declarer was forced to ruff with his last trump and, no matter how he squirmed, he still had to concede one more trick to the defenders for down one.

South's line of play was reasonably conceived. However, he could have protected himself against the possibility of East having a singleton spade. After ruffing the second heart, declarer should cash one spade honor and then cross to dummy with a high diamond to lead a second spade.

If East ruffs, declarer follows with a low spade. He could then win any return, draw two rounds of trumps, exhaust the defenders' cards in that suit, and sluff two diamonds on the king-queen of spades. The defenders would get nothing more than two tricks they had already collected.

But it is no better if East discards on the second spade. Declarer wins and ruffs a spade with a high trump. He returns to his hand with the ten of trumps and ruffs another spade high. Now he draws trumps, and at the end he concedes a diamond trick to the defenders, but that is only their second trick.

Law Could Idle Honest Car Dealers

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—More than 2,000 honest car dealers may be forced to shut down by a new state law designed to squeeze crooked fast buck artists out of business, a dealer spokesman says.

The law requires all auto dealers in the state to post a $15,000 surety bond to insure payment of court judgments against the dealers.

"It appears to me that some honest dealers will be hurt," said John E. Ellis of High Point, executive director of the Carolinas Independent Auto Dealers Association, made up mainly of used car dealers. The association backed passage of the bill, although it tried to have the bond made smaller.

Ellis estimated that more than 2,000 of the state's 7,600 registered auto dealers might be unable to come up with the bond and have to close. The smaller operators would be hurt worse, he said.

He said his office had helped more than 250 of its members to get bonds.

Wade Isaacs, executive vice president of the North Carolina Automobile Dealers Association, made up of new car dealers, said members of his association would have no trouble putting up the required bond.

"We were supportive of the bill when it was introduced" in the General Assembly, said Isaacs in answer to a question.

Ellis said the intent of the law was "to eliminate the 2 percent of the dealers who do not abide by the law and are here today and gone tomorrow." He noted that the law also applies to mobile home and motorcycle dealers.

J.G. Wilson, director of the license and theft division of the Department of Motor Vehicles, said about 4,500 of the 7,600 auto dealers in the state had complied with the law which required posting of the bond by Jan. 1.

He said he had been told that insurance companies had not completed processing the bonds of some dealers whose applications for bonds had been approved.

Wilson said that written evidence that an insurance company had approved the bond would be accepted as compliance with the law until the actual bond can be issued.

Wilson said that the law resulted from frequent complaints by consumers who encountered problems after buying cars. Some customers said dealers told them to return later for titles to cars, but when they came back the dealers were gone.

May Save Victims Of Snakebite

By DAVID N. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Van Philpot wondered for 40 years what kept venomous snakes from dying from their own poison. Now he knows what it is — and his isolation of that clear protein substance could save thousands of lives each year.

Philpot, a pathologist from Houston, Miss., and Rune Stjernholm, a biochemist at Tulane Medical Center, found the substance in the blood of pit vipers in experiments at the medical center here.

That isolation, believed to be the first ever, may now lead to a new method of saving snakebite victims.

Snakebites are currently treated with antitoxin from immunized horses but almost one-third of the people receiving that substance have allergic reactions, sometimes fatal ones.

"In addition, horse antitoxin for rattler bites cannot be used for moccasin bites, for example," Philpot said in a telephone interview. "But what we have found can be used for all viper and pit viper bites all over the world." The viper family includes asps, rattlers, bushmasters, copperheads and moccasins.

The search to find such a substance began when Philpot was a 15-year-old boy in high school biology class in Houston, a small town in northeast Mississippi near the Alabama border.

After learning that some animals were immune to poisons, Philpot said he theorized that antibodies in the blood of king snakes enabled them to fight poisonous rattlers and win.

But it was 10 years before he was able to do anything to prove that hypothesis.

"In 1948 I got 10 mice and inoculated them with a lethal dose of snake venom," Philpot says. "I protected five with serum I had made from king snake blood. The inoculated mice lived but I didn't know what it was in the serum which neutralized the poison.

"I was like a golfer teeing off for the first time and hitting a hole in one. I was lucky — too much venom or too little serum and they would have all died."

Because so much luck was involved, Philpot said few scientists took his results seriously and he spent the next two and a half decades at several sites trying to find the specific neutralizing agent.

It was his collaboration with Dr. Stjernholm, a Swedish immigrant who teaches biochemistry at Tulane, which finally purified the protein substance which naturally inhibits the effect of snake poison.

"It took two years to isolate the agent and another two to find out how it worked," says Dr. Stjernholm. "We found it was the same agent in all vipers and pit vipers."

Philpot and Stjernholm say they have sent their findings off to be published and that drug firms seem interested in producing the substance, which would need the approval of the federal Food and Drug Administration before it could be marketed.

The doctors say that process could take two to three years and that in the meantime they will be trying to isolate the neutralizing agent in the cobra and coral snake family.

DETECTING INTRUDERS
MORRIS PLAINS, N.J. (AP)—Karen Ann Quinlan's parents have had a burglar alarm and electric lock system installed to keep intruders away from the comatose woman's room, officials of the Morris View Nursing Home say.

Collect Classic Instruments
BOSTON (AP)—Twenty-two 17th- and 18th-century baroque and classical instruments, including two Viennese grand pianos, a rare and nearly unaltered double manual harpsichord and a French violin with the original baroque neck, have been acquired by the Museum of Fine Arts.

The instruments formed the Edwin M. Ripin collection and were described by a museum spokesman as being "of the highest caliber." They will be added to the museum's Leslie Lindsay Mason Collection of Musical Instruments.

Ripin, who died in 1975, was one of the world's leading authorities on early keyboard instruments.

Ranks Of Elders Rapidly Grow

NEW YORK (AP)—Current population trends indicate that one out of every six Americans alive in the year 2030 will be 65 or older, according to the American Council of Life Insurance.

The number of elderly persons has grown at more than two-and-a-half times the rate of growth of the nation's total population since the turn of the century, the council reported. At that time, only 4.1 percent of the population was 65 or older, but by 1975 that figure had grown to 10.5 percent.

By 2030, the council said, the proportion of senior citizens is expected to climb to 17.0 percent, then decline to 16.1 percent in 2040 and 2050.

The insurance group cited an extension of the average American's life expectancy — from 46.3 years in 1900 to 68.2 years in 1974 — and a decline in the birth rate to 15 per 1,000 people currently, as the two primary reasons for the trend.

Fantasy Often 'Fact' In The New African Empire

By RAYMOND WILKINSON
BANGUI, Central African Empire (UPI) — A recent major item on radio Bangui instructed a government minister to immediately return the keys of the palace to Emperor Jean Bedel Bokassa.

"Government business is often conducted over the radio like that," a western resident said, affecting no surprise at the bizarre announcement, the number three news item at that hour.

The same day an African ambassador was summoned by Bokassa with a message delivered via his chauffeur. After waiting an hour in vain for Bokassa's appearance at the renaissance palace, the ambassador returned home, resumed lunch and shrugged, "that happens often."

A few blocks away the emperor's daughter, a startling redhead whom he fathered in far off Vietnam, cooked exotic oriental dishes spiced with fermented fishhead sauce (nhuc mam) at her ramshackle timbered restaurant of which she is both owner and chef.

"Fantasy often becomes fact here," a diplomat said. "And its often hard to know whether to laugh or cry."

The empire, in fact, more often than not approximates an Alice in Wonderland world, alternately sinister, cruel, perplexing sometimes outrageous, sometimes charming.

It is a country of deep tropical forest, desert scrubland, grinding poverty and infant mortality presided over by the 56-year-old Bokassa, a former French soldier and latterday Napoleon described generously as mercurial and unpredictable but also often simply as a "nutcase" by his most vehement detractors.

The empire is among the world's 25 poorest nations, often ignored and instantly forgotten except for Bokassa and his bizarre antics.

In 1972, in an attempt to curtail crime in this sleepy riverside capital, Bokassa ordered that thieves would have an ear cut off for the first two offenses and a hand for the third.

He followed this by personally supervising the public beating with clubs and rifle butts of more than 40 imprisoned thieves, three of whom subsequently died.

"It's tough, but that's life," he reportedly said later, shrugging off worldwide condemnation.

Bokassa admitted the incident in a recent television interview and then added, "I administered this lesson just once. But now I have withdrawn this measure (ear cutting). It no longer exists."

While the clubbing underscored the occasional violence in this land-locked state, the empire cannot be compared with the whole scale murders and assassinations in other African nations such as Uganda and Equatorial Guinea.

There are only around 400 prisoners in the country's single jail here and of those perhaps only 40 "political prisoners."

But with a penchant for grabbing headlines, Bokassa further tarnished his image earlier in the year by the violent maltreatment of an American news agency correspondent.

That incident led to human rights advocates in the Carter administration forcing the cancellation of new aid programs to this desperately poor country, though such ongoing schemes as the Peace Corps (nearly 100 volunteers here) will continue.

"Bokassa is certainly no Idi Amin style killer," a diplomat said. "But he does rival the Ugandan dictator for pure theatrics."

A measure of Bokassa's normal treatment of opponents is that the man he toppled as the country's president in 1966, his cousin David Dako, is currently a key adviser and was a prominent guest at Bokassa's coronation earlier in December.

Dako is the only man in Africa advising the dictator who toppled him.

Other political opponents are normally kept under house arrest and often reappear in the government in even higher posts than the ones they were ousted from.

Since assuming power in 1966 Bokassa has led the empire on a rambling, unpredictable and sometimes disastrous course. His one constant has been a steady path toward self aggrandisement which culminated in his $25 million crowning spectacular.

Under his stern, sometimes brutal leadership, per capita income among the country's three million persons, a meagre $155 three years ago, slumped even more disastrously to less than $100 currently.

Infant mortality is among the highest in the world with one child in five dying before the age of one. The rest of the population is swept endlessly by disease ranging from measles to river blindness.

Production in the country's main industries, such as diamond mining, timber, cotton and coffee, slumped dramatically during Bokassa's dictatorship.

The empire, locked firmly in the middle of Africa, still boasts only 250 miles of surfaced roads, no railway and is dependent for the bulk of its exports and imports on a tenuous 1,000-mile Oubangui river link with the sea.

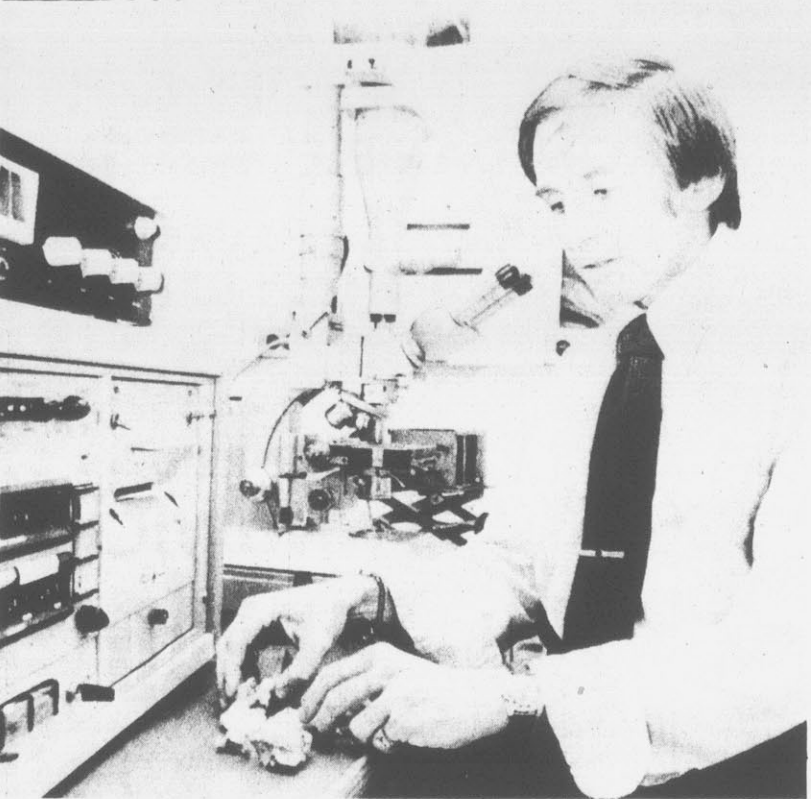

Sailing serenely along on his imperial course, occasionally awarding himself a new medal or title, Bokassa seemed oblivious of many of his country's ills though he has achieved some modest success.

The country is still only 20 percent literate but he established the first university in 1972. School attendance in Bangui has now risen to around 70 percent of eligible children though it lags at around 40 percent in rural areas, still not a bad record in Africa.

The economy, too, showed signs of picking up with record prices paid for coffee and diamond mining showing a turnaround.

There are no political freedoms in the empire, but religious freedom is absolute, not surprising perhaps since Bokassa on occasion has reverted from christianity to the moslem faith (taking the name Saleh Eddine Ahmed) to further his foreign policy aims.

Criminals Found By Dental Sleuth

DR. DUANE T. DeVORE, a pioneer in the field of forensic dentistry, solves crimes by studying bite marks the same way police study fingerprints. (UPI Photo)

By SUSAN GARLAND
BALTIMORE (UPI) — Not long ago, a defendant in a Maryland murder case pleaded innocent — at least until he was given a dental examination. The dentist's work was painful but convinced the defendant to plead guilty.

There was nothing wrong with the defendant's teeth. Done under court order, by Dr. Duane T. DeVore, a pioneer in the field of forensic dentistry, the dental work was a key element in an airtight prosecution case.

— allowed the admission of bite marks as evidence.

So far, about a dozen states — including Maryland, Illinois, Texas, California, Florida, New York, Connecticut and the District of Columbia — have allowed De Vore and other forensic dentists to testify.

"It will be used more and more," De Vore said. "Initially, there were not enough people trained to even see they were bite marks. Unless you're trained to know what they are, they could look like any other bruise."

De Vore, 44, said although bite marks are not as reliable as fingerprints, he usually has a pretty good idea who did the biting — or at least who did not. He can tell whether bite marks left on the skin were made by an attacker, by a victim during an attack or during sexual activity.

He said he can also determine the general time a bite mark was placed and the positions of the bodies during an attack — frequently essential in corroborating the testimony of a defendant or witness.

Testifying in states that admit the evidence of forensic dentists, De Vore has helped convict some defendants and acquit others.

He is consultant in forensic dentistry for the Maryland medical examiner's office in addition to teaching and to his work in other states.

De Vore recalled one homicide case in New York, where the defendant claimed he was bitten by an attacker before he killed in self-defense.

De Vore said he testified against the man, saying the bite mark on the defendant was made at an earlier time and was the kind of bite mark placed during homosexual activity.

De Vore tells of a case in Illinois in 1973 which he believes to be the first major case in which a court allowed evidence centered on bite marks.

De Vore testified bite marks found on a dead woman could not have been made by the defendant because his teeth were not the same size as the bite marks and the arch of his mouth did not match the marks.

The man was convicted, but De Vore said the case is still pending because new evidence has been uncovered to prove his original contention.

Another Illinois murder case still to be tried offered a number of complex challenges, not the least of which was that bite marks on the victim were not discovered on photographs until two years after the slaying.

De Vore exhumed the body "which had been embalmed quite well" and found the bite marks had been cut with a knife in an attempt to disguise them.

But the suspect's teeth had been removed since the murder. Working with old X-rays of the suspect's teeth, De Vore said he was able to compare the size of the teeth and the bite marks with the help of a special computer microscope.

"I have found specific anomalies that are very compatible," he said.

Forensic dentistry, said De Vore, is like solving a mystery. "You start with nothing and you have to put it all together."

Find Europe Much Older

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The world's oldest living thing, the bristlecone pine tree, has contributed a new concept of European history.

By matching radiocarbon dates with growth rings from the trees, scientists have discovered that Europe is much older than previously imagined.

The great stone tombs dotting Brittany have been dated at around 4000 B.C., making them the oldest buildings in existence. Spanish tombs have proved older than the tombs in Crete from which they supposedly were modeled.

Carvings on an Irish tomb at Newgrange also were made well before any comparable achievements by the Greeks.

"We now know, too, that three thousand years before the Greeks, the Romans or the Celts, European farmers had discovered the principles of copper metallurgy and were using gold to make precious objects," reports Dr. Colin Renfrew in a recent National Geographic.

A professor of archaeology at England's University of Southampton, Dr. Renfrew points out that all this contradicts the long-accepted theory that the earliest stone tombs and temples and the practice of metallurgy began in the great cultures of ancient Egypt and Mesopotamia, the traditional "cradle of civilization."

a 10 year period.

But it is Bokassa, the man who has drawn the world spotlight to this virtually forgotten part of Africa.

Short and stocky, with a smartly trimmed military goatee and looking much younger than his 56 years, Bokassa is personally charming, described by visitors as highly intelligent but with a violent temper and a sense of dramatic theater.

In his 11 years of rule he has become immensely wealthy, but spent a large chunk of his own personal finances on the coronation.

The sheer extravagance of that occasion could be measured by the fact that total revenues from the empire in 1976 totalled $30 million compared with the coronation price tag of $25 million.

Of the country's revenues, $20 million were needed to pay the 22,000 government employees, including the tiny, 2,000 strong army.

Though he pledged to give his government a greater role in ruling the country, Bokassa continued to sign many of the governments checks himself.

he was six and his father was executed by the french for his German loyalties.

Nevertheless, the young Bokassa enlisted in the French army in 1939 and rose to the rank of captain, being extensively decorated.

Not content with those medals, Bokassa has since covered himself with so many self appointed honors and medals, he needed a special reinforced dress uniform to display them.

During military service in Vietnam, Bokassa fathered a daughter, Martine, and several years ago enlisted the aid of the French government in tracing her.

Flown to Bangui amid great fanfare, the first Martine turned out to be a phony.

Eventually a second Martine, the real one, was also discovered, but unperturbed, Bokassa took both of them as his "daughters" and they continue to live with him.

Bokassa rarely travels around his newly created empire and to the bulk of the population remains a remote figure — neither loved or hated by a generally apathetic people.

He spends the bulk of his time at his birthplace of Berengo 50 miles from here in his country "palace," in reality a heavily guarded compound of tin roofed buildings protected by high watchtowers and floodlights.

Bokassa has announced his intention of building a real palace at Berengo and devoting even more of his time to imperial duties there.

Bokassa was born poor and insecure amid the tropical jungles near here in 1921, receiving minimal education in mission schools where he became a great admirer of Napoleon.

That attachment was to dominate many of his later decisions and his coronation was modelled on that of Napoleon in Paris.

Bokassa's mother died when

Claudine And Aspen Share Shaky Truce

By DEBORAH FRAZIER
 ASPEN, Colo. (UPI) — Claudine Longet and the mountain community she calls home have fashioned a truce in the year since her conviction in the killing of skier Vladimir "Spider" Sabich.

It appears likely to be marred by notoriety surrounding a lawsuit and publication of her book.

Miss Longet and her three children from her marriage to singer Andy Williams live quietly in a Victorian-style home a few blocks from downtown. A Christmas tree went up after Thanksgiving and lights are draped along the home's gingerbread exterior.

Other parents chat with the French-born singer at the ice hockey practices her two sons, Christian, 13, and Bobby, 8, attend. Greetings have replaced cold stares when Miss Longet shops or lunches in town.

The petite woman welcomed tranquility after the chaos brought by the March 21, 1976, slaying and her trial, but she knows the $1.3 million damage suit Sabich's parents filed against her will prevent the case from remaining closed.

In addition, a recent television series titled "Aspen" raised community hackles anew. And a book Miss Longet is writing about the trial will not strengthen her truce with the privacy-loving town.

By being charged in the shooting death of the former World Pro ski champion, Miss Longet, 36, shattered the solitude and wholesome image long-cherished by locals.

The former mining town was a sanctuary where celebrities such as singer John Denver, actress Jill St. John and actor Jack Nicholson could dine, drink and stroll without attracting crowds and setting off a salute of flash bulbs.

The shooting, the trial and the resultant one-month jail sentence brought hordes of reporters to the town and tarnished Aspen's image as a clean-living but sophisticated community.

Sabich, 31, was a local hero beloved for his charm and skiing prowess. Miss Longet and her children had lived with him in his elegant, $250,000 home for two years prior to his shooting, an arrangement the world outside Aspen found shocking.

Although results of the couple's blood and urine tests were suppressed, along with the contents of her diary, at the trial, rumors gushed out about their alleged use of drugs, wild parties and other affairs.

Aspen residents saw their carefully tended image melt. The area's reputation as a drug capital saw new life.

By the time the January, 1977, trial opened, jury selection required a week because many of the prospective panelists had already decided Miss Longet was guilty as charged of criminally negligent homicide.

Reporters from all over the world came into Aspen for the trial, descending on residents already short-tempered by earlier publicity and made sullen by record low snowfalls.

The night after Miss Longet was found guilty of a lesser charge, local suggestions for sentencing included lynching and burning at the stake. She was given a one-month jail term, which she served in March.

Sabich's parents filed the suit against Miss Longet the day before she completed the jail sentence. Proceedings are stalled awaiting a ruling on whether the medical test results can be used.

The prospect of another trial is a miserable one for Miss Longet. Ron Austin, her attorney, said an out-of-court settlement would be considered at the appropriate time.

She, like most Aspen residents, would like to forget the 1976 slaying and the 1977 trial. But her book, due for completion in 1978, will help keep the issue alive and prevent a permanent peace between the former Las Vegas showgirl and many residents.

It's Rye Bread On Baking Day

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — Hardly anyone travels to Volksdorf, just outside of Hamburg, just for a chunk of rye bread. But last year more than 10,000 visitors showed up to see this museum village, one of many proliferating throughout Europe.

The village inn, the smith shop and the old open-air bakery are working reminders of a fading way of life.

And when it's baking day in Volksdorf, visitors line up for a huge loaf of real old-fashioned rye bread.
