U.S. 264 Improvements OK'd

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

RALEIGH— North Carolina Highway Improvement Program, including proposed improvements to U.S. 264 from Wilson to Greenville and from Greenville to Washington, was approved this morning by the State Board of Transportation.

The program includes proposed highway construction projects for the next seven years.

Transportation Secretary Thomas W. Bradshaw said the update of the program, "emphasizes the major need for east-west highways to connect our ports to the Piedmont and the West."

"It reflects Gov. Hunt's insistence on a forward looking program that will contribute to the state's economic growth and to the quality of life our people want and deserve."

The Highway Improvement Plan approved this morning includes improvements to U.S. 264 from N.C. 58 at Wilson to the Greene County line at a cost of $24 million. Construction of the 10-mile project is tentatively set for fiscal 1982-83.

The plan also calls for improving U.S. 264 from the Wilson County line to the Farmville by-pass at a cost of $17 million and also four-laning U.S. 264 from the Farmville by-pass to the Greenville by-pass at a cost of $13 million.

The seven-mile project from the Wilson County line to the Farmville by-pass is tentatively set for construction in fiscal 1982 as is the Farmville by-pass to Greenville section.

The Highway Improvement

Program also calls for extending a four-lane section of U.S. 264 between Greenville and Washington in fiscal 1984. The improvement plan also includes the construction of a four-lane highway — U.S. 64 — from Rocky Mount to Tarboro at a cost of $26 million in fiscal 1982-83 as well as widening U.S. 64 from N.C. 171 to Plymouth in fiscal 1984 at a cost of $13 million.

Confer On Cairo Offer

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Israeli Defense Minister Ezer Weizman flies home today to report on the opening of the Israeli-Egyptian talks on the Sinai Peninsula.

Israeli sources said Weizman would deliver the first detailed counter-proposal to Israel's plan for military withdrawal from Sinai. They said he found parts of the Egyptian blueprint acceptable.

He will return to Cairo "in a few days," a joint communique said following 10 hours of talks Wednesday and Thursday. Maj. Gen. Avraham Tamir, the fifth-ranking Israeli delegate to the military talks, will remain for "further discussions and clarifications" with the Egyptians, it added.

The Egyptians offered their plan Thursday after the Israelis presented a paper detailing their concept of security in Sinai, including buffer zones, demilitarized zones and other matters.

The exchange of proposals lasted 3½ hours, and Weizman said the session consisted mainly of stating known positions about the 20 settlements Israel wants to continue maintaining in Sinai, and that Egypt wants dismantled. The delegations met again for two hours Thursday night.

"There is a gap, but we believe the gap can be bridged," the Israeli minister told a news conference held jointly with Gamassy. "But I think since we talked, that's progress in itself."

Gamassy said Egypt and Israel "are not too far apart and (are) determined to bridge the gap." However, he added that Egypt's borders were not subject to "discussion or bargaining."

The statements seemed aimed at easing the confrontation that has developed over the Israeli settlements in the occupied Egyptian territory. Prime Minister Menahem Begin insists that the Jewish settlers must remain, but President Anwar Sadat says not one Israeli can stay.

The other thorny issue between Israel and Egypt is the future of the Palestinians in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip. The foreign ministers of the two governments will begin discussing that one Monday in Jerusalem.

Israel has offered the Palestinians limited self-rule with a continued Israeli military presence. Egypt demands Israeli withdrawal and self-determination for the Palestinians.

Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan met in Rome with Pope Paul VI and told a news conference afterward he pledged that Israel will always guarantee free access to all the holy places in East Jerusalem and will let the various religious groups concerned run the shrines.

Dayan said Israel will never give up East Jerusalem, which it took from Jordan in the 1967 war and which contain Christian, Moslem and Jewish holy places.

Improving PBS Service

SATELLITE DISH — Workers installed a huge satellite receiving dish Thursday for the University of North Carolina TV network. Engineering Director Alan MacIntyre said the dish will improve video and audio reception of the Public Broadcasting Service network programming. The receiver, which is 33 feet in diameter, is one of 165 the PBS network is installing across the nation. It will receive TV signals from Westar II, a satellite operated by Western Union and leased to PBS. Rockwell International holds the contract for installation. (AP Laserphoto)

Tong-Sun Park's Tale Embarrasses

By K. C. HWANG
Associated Press Writer
SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — American investigators began questioning Tongsun Park today at a five-hour session, and a congressional observer indicated the Korean lobbyist made sensational disclosures about his relations with members of the U.S. Congress. Rep. Bruce Caputo, R-N.Y., a member of the House Ethics Committee, said he and the other Americans in the room "could've felt disgraced" at Park's revelations about the conduct of some high-level U.S. officials. Caputo said "substantial sums of money" and "an awful lot of people," members of both the Senate and House of Representatives, were mentioned by Park during the interrogation. But Caputo said he could not disclose the substance of the testimony, the first given by Park to American interrogators since a U.S. federal grand jury indicted him last August.

After the day's session ended, Park left hurriedly with his American lawyer, William Hundley, and made no comment to reporters. He looked tense.

Caputo called the session a "cooperative, useful exchange" and said for the most part Park's answers were "forthright" and "revealing."

The questioning, behind closed doors, was conducted in English by a Justice Department team led by Deputy Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti. He has said he expects to complete the interrogation in about 10 days.

Caputo said he was convinced Park's testimony here would "not be enough for Ethics Committee probers." He said the Justice Department is interested in crimes but the Ethics Committee wants to know about activities that would violate congressional rules on conduct.

The congressman said he hoped the State Department could prevail on the South Korean government to get Park to testify before congressional committees as soon as possible so that proposed American military aid to South Korea would not be affected.

Compromise In Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — The Rhodesia Herald said today Prime Minister Ian Smith has agreed to universal suffrage, promising black rule, and black political leaders negotiating with him have agreed to a white veto to protect against removal of constitutional safeguards for the whites.

The paper said the compromise agreement was a breakthrough in the negotiations, which had been deadlocked since Christmas. Smith demanded a third of the seats for whites in the proposed 100-member parliament after the blacks take over the government. The black leaders — Bishop Abel Muzorewa, the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole and Chief Jeremiah Chirau — had offered a fifth.

The Herald said the blacks agreed that 28 of the seats would be reserved for the whites and that their unanimous vote would be enough to prevent removal from the constitution of the clauses safeguarding white rights.

The report said in return Smith agreed in principle for the first time that all adults would have the vote, which would insure a black majority.

The talks are to resume Monday and are expected to focus on the length of time the safeguards for white rights should remain entrenched in the constitution, the paper said.

Smith is expected to ask for at least the life of two parliaments, or eight years, whichever is the longer, the report said.

Redevelopment Of S. Evans Tabled

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

Action on the proposed South Evans Redevelopment Plan was tabled Thursday night by the City Council after questions arose regarding various aspects of the plan, including rezoning procedures.

The tabling action until the Feb. 9 regular meeting followed a public hearing on the plan during which several citizens challenged parts of the project form.

City Planner John Schofield explained that the South Evans area, located east of the section referred to as Newtown across the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad, is the last remaining area in the city with substandard housing.

Discussing a report prepared by the city's planning staff, Schofield explained that there are approximately 118 acres included in the project area. The project boundaries generally include Tenth Street to the north, Charles Boulevard to the east, Seaboard Coast Line to the west and Norfolk and Southern Railroads to the south.

Questions arose as to whether the Council, in considering the plan, were also designating rezoning changes for the area as proposed in the report.

Mayor Percy Cox said that he understood from conversations with Schofield that if the plan was approved, the zoning changes would also be endorsed. Cox said that the Council's action last night should not be concerned with the zoning.

Schofield explained that the normal rezoning procedures would have to be followed, including public hearings, but he recommended that the Council adopt the plan with whatever amendments it saw fit.

City Attorney Louis Singleton concurred that the zoning could not be changed last night and he observed that the plan did not change the zoning of the project but merely recommended changes.

The plan calls for several zoning changes, "in order to ease the existing problems and promote long-range land use goals." It proposes that the area between the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad and the railroad spur be rezoned from R-6 to Unoffensive Industry which will accommodate the proposed

Public Works facility and offer compatibility with existing warehouse storage.

In addition, R-6 (residential) zoning is recommended in the plan for the central portion of the project area "because of the small lots, duplexes and triplexes in this area as well as the multi-family aspects providing an incentive for future development from the private sector." Exceptions to the area are the frontage on 14th Street west of Evans and the northeast corner of Evans and 14th existing residential land on Evans, and the frontage on Tenth Street and Charles Boulevard.

The plan also recommends that the frontage along Charles Boulevard, north of 13th, be rezoned from Downtown Commercial Fringe to Office and Institutional "to further encourage the same type of development which has occurred recently in the form of professional offices," such as dentist, engineer, and realtor facilities.

The remainder of the project area is recommended to retain its present zoning, "thus accommodating existing land use and minimizing non-conforming uses."

The plan also proposes three major street improvement projects, including widening and improvements to 14th Street to provide a better east-west access corridor; widening and improvement on Evans Street from Tenth to the Norfolk and Southern Railroad; and construction of a Pitt-Clark connector street across the railroad.

Controversy has arisen regarding the widening of 14th Street from Charles Boulevard to the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad since

HOTLINE

752-1336

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day.

RAISE

I have been working at the same place for six years. They told us that the Minimum Wage increase that went into effect Jan. 1 won't enable us old employees to get a raise. Can they do this? A. H.

Hotline checked with the Wage and Hour Division office in Raleigh (There is no longer a local information service.), phone, 755-4190. The minimum wage did go up to $2.65 an hour Jan. 1, a spokesman said, but it is strictly up to the employer as to whether he or she wishes to pay more than this amount to employees who have advanced in seniority. Only the minimum figure is set by law.

CHIMNEY SWEEP?

Is there a chimney sweep in this area? F. M.

Hotline has received this question many times over the past three and a half years and we're happy to finally have an answer. A Farmville bricklayer and chimney builder, Gid A. Holloman, has recently entered the business. He believes himself to be the only chimney sweep in Eastern North Carolina and one of only a few more than 100 in the United States. He says the number will no doubt be increasing, though, as more and more families begin using fireplaces and wood and coal-burning heaters. Sooty chimneys cause an estimated 40,000 house fires each year in the United States, he said he understands.

His charges are $45 for the cleaning of a one-flue chimney on a one-story house which has an averagely pitched roof; $55 for those on two-story or taller and extra for two-flued and "problem" chimneys.

His phone number is 753-3503.

Trade Accord

TOKYO (AP) — The United States and Japan agreed today to work for equalization of trade between them by the 1979 fiscal year and for equal access of each country's products to the other country's markets.

U.S. special trade representative Robert Strauss called the agreement "a dramatic breakthrough" but admitted it won't stop what he has called "the raging fires of protectionism" in Congress.

But he said, "Had we not come here, those forces would have raged much stronger."

The agreement was in a joint statement signed by Strauss and Japanese Minister for External Economic Affairs Nobuhiko Ushiba.

Strauss told a news conference the most important item was the promise of "joint efforts to achieve parity in our trading relations and equivalent openness of markets."

"That's a dramatic breakthrough," he said, "and one that will serve both of our interests well. It's a new direction, a new philosophy" for Japan.

"We haven't cured anything," he added. "We're not carrying back 17 million or 17 thousand jobs. But we're carrying back a basic trading relationship that I hope will bring some sense into this whole process."

Jones Avers A 'Minor Issue' Distracts Califano

WASHINGTON, D.C. — First District Congressman Walter B. Jones, chairman of the House Agricultural Sub-Committee on Tobacco, today took strong issue with the Secretary of HEW Joseph Califano over a statement made in Washington, D. C. on Jan. 11.

Jones stated that in view of the fact that for 14 years the Surgeon General, the National Institute of Health, and the American Cancer Society, have consistently warned the American public of the dangers of smoking, "I feel it to be a complete waste of the taxpayers money to permit the Secretary to move in the direction in which he proposes.

"It is difficult for me to understand why the Secretary is so preoccupied with a minor issue of personal preference when so many national issues of urgent concern are under his direct jurisdiction.

"The Social Security program, is near bankruptcy. The educational system of this nation is graduating high school seniors who can barely read or write. The rural health needs of this nation are far from being met, and the national welfare program is in a state of shambles," said Jones.

"In view of this, why would the Secretary propose to establish a special office of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare which will cost the taxpayers approximately $23 million — all this in an effort to eliminate tobacco, a legal agricultural product and to kill the oldest industry in this country which has been a way of life for over 300 years.

"It is foolish to argue the health issue with one so firmly convinced as Califano, but I wish to state some interesting statistics.

"The English smoke fewer cigarettes than Americans, yet the incidence of lung cancer in England is twice as high. Another fact is that Norwegians smoke nearly four times as many cigarettes as Swedish people, yet the two countries have about the same lung cancer rate."

The congressman expressed his continuing confidence in the position of both President Carter and Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland who have consistently supported the present tobacco farm program.

Jones stated that "they have repeatedly rejected any efforts to cut back or to do away with tobacco price support, and I hope that President Carter will be as reasonable in dealing with Secretary Califano's proposal as he has been in dealing with tobacco support programs.

Let Color Set Room's Mood

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Charlotte Finn, designer of interiors and furnishings, encourages young people to live in their own time — they may not be able to afford antiques and "why live in another world anyway," she says.

"Contemporary rooms are really more suitable to our casual, care-free lives and it suits the mode of dress for the young especially," she says.

Color is a big influence "on the way we feel about the way we live," she maintains. Choose color for its soothing effects, to provide a warm, friendly feeling, and to set the mood for an entire house. She likes combinations of shrimp and apricot, perhaps teamed with taupe brown. In another room of the same house, she may use a deeper salmon color and another brown.

"You want to be able to walk in a room and smile," she says. "I like happy rooms. White combined with bone or yellows or other fresh, clear colors makes a very attractive focal point. You really need only one fabric, print or solid, to pull a room into place. It can be the key to an entire environment."

Young people should be inspired by portability, modular rooms that can move easily from home to home. And there are all sorts of boxes and bins that can be stacked and combined and used for storage, display or whatever. Many young people are living in studio apartments and they should realize, Mrs. Finn says, that a real bed can fit beautifully into their decorating scheme. Topped with an interesting blanket or inexpensive throw, it can serve as extra seating. Never leave it unmade, though, she advises.

One bed of her own design is designed to fit in anywhere — it is made of mica, a soft look, and is rounded at the corners. She stands a screen behind it. As she points out, the screen could be changed from time to time to provide a change of scene. A square club chair, another design, takes on a new look with different cushions.

Mrs. Finn enjoys using quilted duck as an upholstery fabric. It is durable, easy-care and inexpensive. She also likes area rugs. And she suggests track lighting as a good alternative to some lamps. It can be detached when one moves to another place. She often suggests bamboo blinds.

A vivacious, youthful-looking mother of three sons, 27, 23 and 17, she has had a lot of experience doing their rooms.

"Each got his own room at 13, when he had his Bar Mitzvah, but I've worked with every age group, and it is getting so that everybody wants the same kinds of things. Older people especially want easy maintenance."

She decorates many resort homes and likes to work from the ground up with a plan and a builder. "Clients want new ideas, a new feeling."

"If the interior designer gets involved early she can suggest changes in structure. One house for a young couple was at the framing stage when there was still time to put in an extra window to take a view into consideration. Another ranch house in New York was redesigned so that spectacular wood scenery could be seen from the master bedroom," says Mrs. Finn, who likes sliding doors out to decks to open up rooms.

Then, too, people forget that kitchens must be more than pretty — they must function and be large enough to contain all the things needed to produce a successful meal. There should be a minimum of walking space, counters near the oven, a broom closet and pantry, and good lighting, especially counter lighting that can be plugged into a counter outlet.

In addition to some furniture — beds, tables and lamps — that she has designed on a small scale, Mrs. Finn has done a number of colorful contemporary accessories — place mats, waste basket, glasses and other things that are well coordinated.

Before establishing her business in White Plains, N.Y., she had "apprenticed" for six years at a local furniture store, where she did everything from selling the merchandise to offering a complete introduction to decorating to the client.

Earl Umphlett Speaks To ABWA Monday

The Pirate Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association held its meeting Monday at the Ramada Inn. Earl Umphlett, CPA, of Vance B. Taylor Co., Farmville, was speaker.

He presented several recent changes in the laws pertaining to personal income tax returns. He suggested several things that can be taken as itemized deductions both on state and federal income tax returns. A question and answer period followed his presentation.

The chapter will conduct an enrollment event in March to recruit new members. Mrs. Judith Blake was named as chairman. Officers for 1978 will be elected at the meeting in February. Mrs. Polly Troutman of Grifton was named chairman of the Nominating Committee and will be assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Ellen of Greenville and Mrs. Cheryl Bleizetter of Grifton.

Mrs. Bleizetter presented her vocational speech at the meeting. She is an administrative assistant in the Data Processing Department at Hampton Industries, Inc., Kinston. She gave a brief synopsis of the day-to-day duties required in her job.

Mrs. Bleizetter will serve as chairman for the group's bosses night in April. A Boss of the Year will be named at the banquet.

On Saturday, Jan. 28, the chapter will conduct a rummage and bake sale at the Elm Street Recreation Center. This will be a ways and means project to boost the local scholarship fund and will feature yard goods, clothing, jewelry and other articles.

Shower Honors Bridal Couple

Miss Susie Allen and Dale Murphrey were honored at a floating miscellaneous shower given by the women of Johnson Memorial Presbyterian Church last week.

'Family-Centered' Birth Changes Seen In U.S.

By BRENDAN RILEY
Associated Press Writer
CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — "Family-centered" childbirth, in which fathers join mothers in the hospital delivery room, accounts for a large share of deliveries in this country now, a leading proponent of the concept says.

Dr. Henry Davis says birth methods such as the Lamaze and Leboyer techniques have caught on in popularity in recent years and new studies indicate the babies are the better off for it.

Davis cites a survey showing that pre-delivery instruction in pain-relieving, relaxing breathing techniques for mothers and support "coaching" in delivery rooms by fathers are now the most popular methods with new parents.

The Lamaze method includes breathing and coaching. The Leboyer technique goes a step further with dimmed lights, a quiet atmosphere and gentle handling of babies during delivery — including no whacks on the babies' bottoms.

Davis says new studies indicate the methods, which also keep the mother and child together after birth, help establish an "identity imprint" with the infant.

Davis and his partner, Dr. William O'Shaughnessy, have been using the Leboyer method for the past several years. He says "Leboyer" babies seem more secure, "and kids have to develop a sense of security before they can develop independence."

He says the babies "are relaxed, looking around right after birth, ready to meet the world. In their early months, they seem to be very advanced motor-wise — they will try to do things like crawling and walking sooner.

"It's not that they're superior types. I think they'll just look forward to the good things. It's like the difference between optimists and pessimists," he says.

He says family-centered methods were not popular at first with many doctors or hospitals, but more and more patients asked for the techniques to be used and they are rapidly gaining acceptance in the medical world.

Davis and his wife, Joan, have 11 children — five delivered with the Lamaze method and the last two by the Leboyer method. From his own experiences and from what he sees in his patients, Davis says the methods "build closeness in couples. They want more out of childbirth than what has traditionally been offered."

"Husbands have been really enthusiastic about it," he says. "Some are hesitant at first, but after they have gone through it, they're almost more enthusiastic than the wives."

The Lamaze method is named after a French doctor, Ferdinand Lamaze, who brought to the Western world the breathing techniques which had been developed in Russia.

The Leboyer method is named after another French doctor, Frederick Leboyer.

Why Pay To Educate Others' Children?

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Why should people who do not use the public schools have to pay taxes for them? We are taxed to death.

I don't mind paying taxes for things I get some benefit from, but we haven't had any children in the public schools for 12 years, so why should we have to pay to get other people's children educated?

TAXED TO DEATH

DEAR TAXED: Free public education, paid for out of general taxes, is the only way to give all children an equal chance to learn. It is considered a "community service," the same as parks, highways, libraries, and the police and fire departments.

Such services are possible only if everyone pays for them. We would be in a fine fix if, for example, our fire departments were financed only by those who "used" them.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a traveling salesman should dance while he's on the road?

It's not the actual dancing I object to, but I think it could lead to more serious things. I became aware of this when my husband started bringing home shirts with lipstick on the collar, shoulders and down the front.

Lipstick seems to get on the shirts only when he dances away from home. Never when he's in a group with his wife. I would appreciate your opinion.

DANCER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Not many traveling salesmen feel like dancing on the road, but if yours does, he'd better cut it out before he gets all tripped up.

DEAR ABBY: My brothers and sisters and I are married. Our mother, who has been widow for years, is hard of hearing, so we all chipped in and bought her a hearing aid. She hears fine when she uses it, but she's either too proud or too contrary to wear it. She doesn't want people to know.

After visiting her we come away exhausted. Our throats are sore from hollering, and our nerves are on edge, so consequently we don't visit her as often as we should. She butts into conversations, and gives answers to entirely different questions from the ones asked. It's just awful, Abby. What should we do?

HER OLDEST SON

DEAR SON: What YOU suffer is mild compared to what your hard-of-hearing mother must be suffering. Don't assume that she's "too proud" or "contrary" to wear her hearing aid. Perhaps it's not in good working order.

Or it could be uncomfortable or too conspicuous for her tastes. Investigate the newest in hearing aids, and be sure your mother has the best. It will open up a wonderful new world for her. And for you, too.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOVES JESUS—HATES JEWS": Perhaps you do not know that the Jesus you love was born a Jew, lived his life as a Jew and died a Jew. (He never was aware that he had founded a new religion.) Furthermore, all of the 12 apostles (as well as St. Paul and the first Pope) were Jews.

Problems? Tell them to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, write Abby: Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Special Skill Driving Course For Policemen

DRIVING SKILL — Instructor Ralph Strother walks across course as Greenville Police officers drive through intricate precision and skill maneuver course.

By the end of January, some 60 Greenville Police Department officers will have completed a 16-hour precision and skill driving course sponsored by the North Carolina Department of Community Colleges and the local police department.

The course instructor, Ralph Strother of Raleigh, began the program here last week. Chief Glenn Cannon said classes are scheduled two days a week for a four-week period to allow all city officers to complete the program.

Strother said the course is designed to teach "precision and skills in handling police vehicles," and to develop "good driving attitudes," on the part of the officers.

The instructor noted that contrary to public opinion, "the majority of wrecks involving law enforcement vehicles occur at 30 miles per hour or less...during normal patrol driving," rather than at high speeds while responding to emergency calls or in pursuit of fleeing vehicles.

The course involves four hours of classroom work including three defensive driving films and 12 hours on the driving course. "We take it from the point where they check the vehicle before going on patrol," Strother said, to the point where officers can complete an intricate precision and skill maneuver course — including turns, starts, stops, parking, and backing — in an average of a minute and 35 seconds to a minute and 40 seconds.

The students also face an offset course where they are required to weave back and fourth through a pattern of traffic cones, both forward and backward.

Strother noted that although the driving course is sponsored by the N.C. Department of Community Colleges, the Governor's Highway Safety Program provides the equipment, while the local police department furnishes the vehicles.

City Council...

property acquisitions would be necessary to accomplish the project. Initial proposals had called for a five-lane corridor.

Property owners living on the north side of 14th questioned the proposal to acquire all of the right-of-way necessary for widening on the northern section of the street. They suggested that half of the acquisition be taken from both the north and south sides.

Last night, City Engineer Charlie Holliday discussed a proposed widening plan for 14th calling for a width increase from 50 feet right-of-way to 60 feet to provide four traffic lanes. Holliday said that after looking at the situation first-hand, he feels that a five-lane corridor would place the street to near the marquee area of Carolina Sales Corp.

He proposed that part of the necessary ten feet for widening be acquired on the south side from Charles westerly to Cotanche Street and the remaining widening depth be taken on the north side from Cotanche to the railroad.

According to Holliday, if the proposal to acquire half of the property on each side is followed, acquisition would involve the General Wholesale building.

Evans Street widening would involve a 70-foot right-of-way with widening accomplished either on the west side or on a half and half basis if possible.

Council member Mrs. Mildred McGrath said that the neighborhood commercial zoning at the corner of 14th and Charles concerned her. She said that the Foodland store, for instance, is a non-conforming use and "this is an opportunity to make it a conforming use."

During the public hearing, former councilman John Taylor questioned the benefit that the city would accrue from widening 14th. Cox explained that the plans call for the street to tie in with Farmville Boulevard to provide a suitable east-west corridor.

Taylor also expressed concern regarding the proposed Public Works facilities in the railroad spur area, saying that the development would be detrimental to the Newtown housing area. He said that "that kind of planning is saying to the project 'you are in the wrong place.'"

John Grier, who said that he owns property at the corner of 14th and Cotanche, said that his property is currently appraised at a fair market value of $18,000. He said that if the property is rezoned to residential, it will cut the value in half. Grier asked if the city would be interested in buying the property before the zoning is changed.

J. T. Little Jr., representing Carolina Sales, said that he is in agreement with the plan presented calling for the widening of 14th from Cotanche to the railroad utilizing the north side. He said that the plan would be the least disturbing to his firm.

Holliday noted that in view of the acquisition problems involved in the widening, the city is looking at the 60-foot street with four lanes rather than 70 feet as originally planned.

H. P. Streeper, who also owns property on the north side of the street, said that he did not think anyone had any objections to the plan as long as it treated everyone on an equal basis. He contended, however, that it would be just as easy to acquire part of the General Wholesale structure as it would be to take property on his side of the street.

"I'm not ready to adopt this plan," Mrs. McGrath stated. She noted that "every time I see this plan it changes." She offered the motion to table the matter until the February meeting.

It was pointed out that since the public hearing was held last night, another hearing would not be necessary unless major changes are needed in the plan.

Schofield noted that the major purpose of the plan is to rehabilitate the neighborhood. The entire east section of the redevelopment area from the back property lines on the east side of Pitt Street east would be changed to a code enforcement-rehabilitation area with no scheduled acquisition.

In other business last night on a long agenda, the Council voted, with one member offering a negative vote, to approve a satellite annexation petition for University Medical Park consisting of some 85 acres located in the southeastern quadrant of the intersection of Stantonsburg Road and Allen Road.

Cox said that the city needed to make sure that if the property was annexed, the city would be able to meet its obligation of providing water and sewer to the area within 12 months. He said that it would be it would be a problem if the area is annexed and then easement difficulties arise.

Developer Tom Taft told the Council that the project is in the critical time phase now and he noted that the developers had been working with the city and Greenville Utilities to meet every requirement.

Taft said that he wished the city had mentioned the easement problem before so that something could have been settled prior to last night. The local attorney said that the property owners were willing to give the city an agreement assuring it that if services are not provided due to easement problems, a suit would not be initiated. He said, "We are not going to come back and sue the city."

Mrs. McGrath, offering a motion to annex the property, said that she did not think it was fair to the developers to question the easement situation now.

Council member Judy Greene voted against the annexation petition approval.

Approval was also given to the adoption of an amendment to the Zoning Ordinance regarding required vegetation and traffic control.

Under the amendment, recommended by the Planning and Zoning Commission, all off-street parking areas containing between 15,000 and 99,999 square feet or containing more than one aisle or two rows of parking stalls would be required to meet the vegetation and traffic control provisions of the ordinance.

In addition, all off-street parking areas containing 100,000 square feet or more will be submitted to the planning board for review and approval.

Mrs. Greene said that even though the developers planning parking areas in excess of 100,000 square feet would have to go before the planning board, she felt that internal traffic control was needed for the large parking areas.

Cox explained that if the ordinance applies to the large parking lots, the areas would be congested.

City Manager Jim Caldwell noted that the large lots would have to include some provisions not required for the smaller lots. The amendment to require that the plans be presented to the planning and zoning board for review offers additional control for over the large lots.

The amendment was approved with Mrs. Greene and Councilman Charles Vincent voting against the measure.

Approval was also given to an amendment to the City Code that adds the parking space requirement of one space per unit for elderly housing projects.

The Council, after failing to gain seconds on two motions, finally voted to approve a request by David A. Evans Sr. for reclassification of disqualified deferred taxes back in deferred status and release of the taxes for 1974 through 1977. The released taxes amounted to some $2,257.45.

Action on the request by Evans followed a lengthy discussion by the Council and a presentation of Evans' situation by his attorney, Clifton Everett Sr.

The city, it was pointed out, received a letter from the state attorney general's office saying that the city could not release the tax. The letter, according to Everett, was written prior to action by Evans correcting an error that resulted in the loss of the deferred status.

City Attorney Louis Singleton told the Council that if the attorney general's office said that the tax is due, he would not advise doing something the office said not to do.

The matter was also presented before the County Commissioners and action was tabled there pending the city ruling.

Everett said that he felt the city and county had the authority to grant the tax relief to Evans. He noted that if the petition for tax release was denied, no recourse would be available but to sue the city. He acknowledged that the matter could also be appealed to the state Property Commission but he said that he doubted the board would overturn the city's decision.

Motions by Mrs. McGrath to deny the release request and by Councilman John Howard to release the taxes died for lack of seconds. A third motion by Mrs. McGrath to release the taxes gained a second and passed unanimously.

In another matter involving city taxes, the Council voted unanimously to deny a request by Eastern Tractor and Equipment Co. for refund of 1977 ad valorem taxes paid to the city in the amount of $2,626.66.

Attorney M. E. Cavendish, representing the firm, said that six years after property, including land leased to Eastern Tractor, was annexed to the city, sewer services were finally provided this past December. The city's failure to provide services is in violation of the requirement that services be extended within 12 months following annexation, it was noted.

Mrs. McGrath offered the denial motion on the grounds that no clerical error was involved and the city did not act illegally in issuing the taxes.

Other action taken by the Council included:

- Granting of applications by Ms. Sharon Renee House and James Clifton Daniels (Mrs. McGrath voted against the Daniels application) for taxicab operator's permits;

- Granting of applications by Piggly Wiggly, 2105 Dickinson Avenue, for an off-premise beer and wine privilege license, and by Villa Roma Restaurant at 2713 E. Tenth Street, for an on-premise beer and wine privilege license.

- Approval of an appropriation of $3,500 to the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce to help in the funding of a Greenville Brochure to promote the city from a tourism standpoint (the state has allocated $1,500 toward the brochure project, the county will be asked for $3,500, and the chamber is providing the $4,503 balance);

- Concurrence in the Parking Authority's purchase of the parking lot at the corner of Fourth and Washington Streets;

- Acceptance of streets in Sedgewick Park for city maintenance and dedication;

- Approval of a request by three taxicab companies operating in the city for increased taxicab rates;

- Scheduling of requests

Public Works Dept. On Early Alert For Snow

By DEBBIE JACKSON
Reflector Staff Writer

Local youngsters who had wished for snow today were probably disappointed to see rain this morning.

But they were not the only ones that had anticipated a winter wonderland in the early hours today. Greenville Public Works and the area schools were both watching the weather.

"The Public Works Department was ready and willing with salt and sand to clean up the streets," said Mayo Allen of the department.

"If it'd snowed at one o'clock this morning we would have been ready for it," he added.

According to Mayo, the Public Works Department has a list of certain employees that are to take over various duties in the case of severe weather, such as snow or heavy rain.

"From past experience, this works beautifully." We have a responsibility to keep the streets open, and as far as the snow was concerned, we had the motor grader in the garage ready and warmed up."

Mayo added that even though it would have meant more work for the department, "We're all disappointed."

- Adoption of an ordinance amending the Sunday Closing Ordinance by adding a section on the "Sale of Fruits and Melons" stipulating that the "Stands for the sale of fruits and melons may remain open on Sundays," and also substituting a section on grocery stores, convenience stores and curb markets and stipulating that they may remain open on Sunday for the sale of any items not otherwise prohibited by law;

- Scheduling of public hearings on Jan. 26 and Feb. 9 on the 1978-79 Community Development Program.

Schools did not express disappointment in the warmer weather, but he did say that the school system had made preparations for snow.

"Several of us were up between five and six o'clock to determine if it would snow."

He noted that in the event of snow bus drivers must be notified before 7 a.m. since most of the drivers leave by that time.

"We felt real fortunate that it didn't snow," he added.

Temperatures were much warmer this morning with an 8 a.m. reading of 42 degrees. Yesterday's high was 43 with a low of 17 degrees.

Approximately .33 inches of precipitation fell on the area during the 24-hour span leading up to midnight last night with more rain expected during the day. The Tar River level measured 8.9 feet on the National Weather Gauge.

Nixon Role Affected Future

Richard M. Nixon who spent the better part of his life constantly in the public eye, Monday passed his 65th birthday quietly.

Reporters called the president's home in California but Nixon himself was unavailable. Those who answered said they did not know how he and his family were to spend the day.

Now living in San Clemente, Calif., Nixon is back in the state in which he was born — at Yorba Linda, Calif. on Jan. 9, 1913.

Even now — 3½ years after he became the first president to resign — it is not fully possible to assess Nixon's full impact on the nation's political future.

Even his critics cannot deny that he had his impact, particularly in the field of foreign affairs.

The great overriding event of his presidency, however, is his resignation. Unlike some parliamentary governments, the president of the United States is elected for a set four year term. In the past even illness was not a reason to resign. The president served until his elected term of office was concluded.

Now, however, a precedent has been set — a president has left office by resignation. In the future it could be cited as a precedent for a president to resign in case of severe illness, or it could bring down a president who becomes extremely unpopular in a just cause.

We believe the Nixon resignation was justified, given the events of the day, but it will affect the presidency in our nation. Future presidents will feel a little less secure during difficult times, and that might have adverse effects. Some president sometime might be a little less motivated to take a stand in an extremely difficult situation. The Nixon precedent will always be there.

Is Census Really Worth $4 Per Head?

We wonder if the founding fathers had known the census would cost almost a billion dollars — $4 per person — in 1980 if they would have included the census provision in the Constitution.

The census is required, however, and it will cost that much, the Census Bureau says.

The modern census not only counts heads it obtains all sorts of information about our people. Maybe the information is desirable, but is it worth $4 per head?

Plan Remedial Programs

By Bill Noblitt

RALEIGH—As the time comes close when students in North Carolina's schools will be tested—with results publicly displayed—discussion centers about remedial correction.

Some of the most pessimistic in higher echelons of state government predict as many as half the high school students will flunk the minimum competency test.

That is where remedial work will be demanded. The other tests are for all students in elementary grades, allowing time to correct weaknesses.

But for the high schooler wanting to graduate, intensive coaching to pass the test will be required. Already plans are being made for funding of remedial programs by the General Assembly at its May budget session.

No firm cost figures are at hand, but some sources put the price tag at between $10 million and $15 million.

Sooner or later, a critical question will surface:

Spend More

If North Carolina has jumped increasing millions of dollars into the public schools expecting them to do a job which test scores indicate hasn't been done, why throw more money? Is it too much to expect the system to simply do its job?

The latest in a continuing series of annual reports on "How North Carolina Ranks Educationally Among the 50 States" highlights just how well North Carolina has treated the schools.

Published by the Division of Research of the State Department of Public Instruction, the latest shows this state doing remarkably well nationally in backing public education.

Teacher salaries, for example, now stand at an average of $12,034 per year against a national average of $13,297. This state ranks 27th in the nation, first in the Southeast. Over a 10-year period, average teacher salaries have increased 112.8 per cent, the fifth biggest gain in the nation.

High Rank

In sum, this state ranks among the top in the nation in resources committed to education.

And this at a time when the state ranks 38th in per capita income, and at or near the bottom consistently in average manufacturing wages.

With personal income far below national averages, the statistics show that North Carolina ranks precisely level with the national average in expenditures for public schools as a per cent of personal income.

Education is big business in North Carolina, and the state ranks high nationally in a number of categories: only nine states have more public school pupils than our 1.2 million; ten states have more enrolled in higher education than this state's 250,000; ten states have a larger population than 5.4 million; seven states collect less per capita in taxes; and only four states provide a bigger percentage of state funding to schools than does North Carolina.

For every citizen, government, state and local, spends $380.20 on education. Of that, $252.63 goes to the public schools; the rest to higher education. Total combined state and local government spending runs more than $825 per capita; with North Carolina ranking fifth nationally in percentage spent for education (46 per cent).

Typical per capita spending in other programs: highways, $87.33; police, $27.42; health and hospitals, $68; and welfare, $69.31.

A Laugh For The Poles

WASHINGTON—Although President Carter has pledged himself to cutting down on government, he has just made an exception and authorized the State Department to hire a fulltime Polish translator.

It isn't that the President wasn't pleased with the translator the Department provided him with in Warsaw (he even told Mr. Vance he would pray for him), it was just that Mr. Carter feels the United States is not getting its message over in Poland with the part-time help it has on its payroll.

For those of you who were skiing or scuba diving during the holidays, this is what happened. President Carter arrived in Poland on his first stop abroad and gave a very stirring speech about American-Polish friendship. The American translator had trouble with the President's Georgia accent and told the Polish people that Mr. Carter was abandoning Washington and was justing after Poland, or something to that effect.

In any case the Polish people, who are sick to death of American-Polish jokes, had their first laugh at our expense in years.

Fortunately no serious damage was done. It could have been much worse for both countries if the translator had remained on duty during the conference.

President: It is a great honor for me to be here in Poland to reaffirm and to strengthen the historic and strong ties of friendship and mutual respect which exist between our two countries.

Translator: I am very happy to be here in a country where someone has stolen the pen of my aunt.

Secretary Gierek: Tell him that Polish people do not steal the pens of people's aunts. Ask him if he looked on the dresser next to the door.

Translator: The Secretary says he does not know where the pen of your aunt is, but says he will be very happy to put another quilt on your bed.

President Carter: I do not need another quilt. I wish to have fruitful discussions with the First Secretary concerning bi-lateral questions which involve the SALT talks.

ART BUCHWALD

Secretary Gierek: Tell the President the Polish people do not put salt on their fruit, and also that the reduction of armed forces in the Warsaw Pact is based on the reduction of forces in NATO.

Translator: The Secretary wishes to inform you the train will be leaving late. He also does not change travelers' checks, but will take your personal check providing you do not overtip the boatman.

President: Please inform the First Secretary I never overtip, and that my main concern on this trip is to press for human rights, which is still the cornerstone of my foreign policy.

Translator: President Carter says that he is only human and asks if you know of an honest merchant who will sell him a foreign policy he can put in stone on a corner.

Secretary Gierek: It is essential that our countries work together to stop the Arms Race. Inform the President that Poland is willing to do its part to reduce tensions in the world.

Translator: The Secretary says he would like to take off your arms and relieve your tension concerning the loss of the pen of your aunt. He wants to know if you looked under the kitchen table.

President: And in conclusion I wish to say on behalf of Rosalynn and myself I wish to thank you and Mrs. Gierek for your wonderful hospitality shown us, and I desire to visit you and your wife very soon.

Translator: The President says he lusts after your wife and has carnal desires to visit Poland again as soon as he gets the hall porter to bring up his luggage.

THE INSIDE REPORT

An Alliance Of Muscle

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The farm strike, which so far has failed to grasp the nation's attention, will soon be regenerated by a muscular alliance with the truckers who tied the nation in a knot exactly four years ago.

A massive farm-and-trucker rally is planned to coincide in Washington with President Carter's State of the Union address Jan. 19. It is aimed at forcing Congress to confront both farmer demands for higher prices and independent trucker demands for more favorable long-haul rates.

What makes this demonstration, still in the planning stage and not publicly announced, something different for the embattled farmers is the new alliance they have quietly formed with the independent trucks.

These are the same trucks who, under the organizing genius of Mike Parkhurst, publisher of "Overdrive" (the Bible of the independents), conducted the 1974 trucking strike that immobilized interstate transportation, forced widespread layoffs of industrial workers and created shortages of food and other commodities. Independent truckers are owner-operators who carry a major percentage of farm produce.

Plans for the Jan. 19 "tractor-and-truck-in" are impressive, with every sign that what is promised will actually occur. The promise is to line Washington's streets with hundreds of tractors and heavy truck rigs and thousands of farmers. Violence of any kind is out, but inconvenience is not. On Jan. 20, inconvenience will escalate with plans to close at least one of the main bridges between Virginia and the District of Columbia.

So far, the farmers' strike has had little success in pressuring the Carter administration to live up to campaign promises for higher farm prices. But the surprise alliance between farmers and truckers might find a political base in Congress.

Separately, the truckers have been unable to win the rate-making and route-making changes they want from the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC); separately, the farmers are nowhere close to achieving the prices pledged by Jimmy Carter and Fritz Mondale during the campaign. Now they try together.

Hart For President?

Although the White House is primarily worried by a 1980 bid for the Democratic presidential nomination from Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California, plans are also being made quietly by one of Brown's old classmates at Yale law school: Sen. Gary Hart of Colorado.

Hart, the original manager of Sen. George McGovern's

To the editor:

The intention of Human Resources Secretary Sarah Morrow to recommend public abortion funding, effective Feb. 1, at a meeting of the state Social Services Commission on Jan. 17, is both shocking and incomprehensible. The acceptance of this recommendation, unauthorized by the State Legislature, would force thousands of taxpayers to pay for a medical procedure which killed over a million human beings last year and which they consider gravely immoral and in conflict with the basic principles of our government. It is insensitive to the anguish of thousands of couples who are told they have a 10-year wait to adopt a baby.

Governor Hunt is likewise in favor of public funding of abortions.

I urge every taxpayer opposed to the use of tax monies for abortions to express his or her views to Gov. Hunt at 200 N. Blount Street, Raleigh, N. C. 27611 and to Dr. Sarah Morrow, Secretary, Dept. of Human Resources, 325 N. Salisbury Street, Raleigh 27603. Subsequently our representatives in the N. C. State Legislature will need to know our views, as the question of public funding of abortion will most certainly come under consideration.

Strength For Today

PERILS OF THE TOUGH-MINDED

It has been said of a certain nationally-known politician in this country that he had the best mind in his party — until he makes it up. Then he becomes stubborn and disdainful of the opinions of others.

It is a fine thing to have a tough, independent mind, but like most of life's advantages it carries with it a certain number of disadvantages also. The tough-minded person is often hard to get along with. Frequently he identifies his judgment with universal moral principle and becomes righteously indignant with anyone who disagrees with him. The curse of the independent thinker is not that he regards himself so often as being right, but that he so seldom accords to his opponents the benefit of the doubt.

This attitude is very often self-defeating. The tough-minded fellow is usually right, but often, by being unpleasant and dogmatic, he hands the victory to his opponents.

'Omen' Described As 'Baloney'

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The investigation was begun after hearing repeated references that trading activity in the first five business days dictated stock prices for the year to come.

John Wright, investment adviser to banks, other institutions and individuals, was curious on two scores, the first being he had doubts about the authenticity of the alleged omen.

More significantly, with the market in the first five trading days down by 7 percent, the largest such decline of the century, he was concerned about the potential impact on future stock prices.

Asked the results of his research, Wright spoke with a directness that helps set him apart from many market analysts. "It's a bunch of baloney," he said. No translation needed.

In 26 of 78 years of this century, said Wright from his Bridgeport, Conn. office, the market fell during the first five trading days. In 15 of those years the market declined for the year; but it rose in 11.

Factual data of that sort hardly documents the ominous portents of the popular allegation. In fact, it might be considered sufficient in itself to dispel the myth. But Wright searched further.

Averaging the highs and lows for each of the 26 years in which declines occurred during the first five days, he found that the losses for the year came to 12.5 percent but that advances amounted to 15 percent.

He looked some more. Taking the five worst declines for the initial five-day period, he found that subsequent prices rose in three of those years. According to the myth, prices should have fallen.

Discoveries of this type are not rare: they happen all the time. Often the discovery is made too late to do much good, the affect already having sent prices higher or lower.

Eventually the market sieve holds the true stories and lets the ersatz material sift through. The market, after all, is considered a fairly reliable barometer of economic conditions to come.

But before that process takes place a lot of prices will have changed, a lot of investors might have entered or exited the market, a lot of

Same 2 Major Issues

By FRANK CORMIER Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — As President Carter has moved through his first year of promised two-month news conferences, only two topics have survived from the first to the latest: energy policy and relations with the Soviet Union.

A year from now, it's a safe bet that American-Soviet dealings will remain a front-burner item with inquiring reporters. But Carter hopes that by January 1979, energy policy will have become a part of history along with such burning topics of a year ago as raising the pay of Congress and high-level bureaucrats.

Comparing Carter's 23rd broadcast news conference Thursday with the first one last Feb. 8 points up areas of continuity. But it more clearly dramatizes differences that inevitably reflect the changing content of daily headlines.

A year ago the president was questioned closely about a personnel problem: his eventually successful battle to win Senate confirmation of Paul Warnke to direct the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

On Thursday, he faced persistent questioning about a more recent personnel decision, to replace Republican David W. Marston as U.S. attorney in Philadelphia amid charges that politics was involved in the decision.

Whether talking about Warnke or Marston, the president seemed equally firm in expressing a determination to make his decisions stick.

Of course, everyone talks now about energy policy, or the lack of one. In fact, Carter began his Thursday conference with a volunteered speech about the need for the energy blueprint he has been trying to steer through Congress since April.

Last February, the sole question about energy — there were several Thursday — had as a takeoff point the possible nationalization of the oil industry. Carter voiced opposition to that concept, then went on to plug his then-emerging energy program.

40 Years Ago Today

January 13, 1938

The Senate's only woman member, Mrs. Hattie Carraway of Arkansas, denounced the anti-lynching bill as a "gratuitous insult to the South".

Wearing, as usual, a simple black dress, and reading from a prepared speech, Mrs. Carraway said she had never "approved or condoned lynchings", and she had "always been sick at heart" on reading of executions without trial.

She added however, the bill was unconstitutional and designed to destroy Southern influence.

General Chiang Kai Shek flew to Suchow, Chinese sources said, to direct an attack on Japanese invaders threatening the Longhai railway, China's east-west lifeline.

With General Fu-chu, commander of Shanghai armies, Chiang was said to have outlined a major counter-offensive along the railway which meets the Longhai at Suchow, about 300 miles northwest of Shanghai.

See 'Conversions' Following Pattern

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

One theory of old-time evangelists was that you couldn't personally know — and tell — of the rejuvenating lift that comes from Christ's forgiveness unless you first really had sinned.

That change from checkered past to high-principled mission, dramatized by the great St. Augustine of old and colorfully claimed by many a latter-day tent preacher, may be part of the appeal of some current prominent converts to faith.

But it has raised some openly voiced questions.

The well-known figures who have turned to Christianity in recent times after unsavory pasts range from former black militant J-Cleaver and Manson family slayer Susan Atkins to one-time political "hatchet man" Charles Colson.

The latest addition to the list, porn-purveyor Larry Flynt, appealing his conviction on pandering charges, has resigned as publisher of Hustler in the wake of his declared dedication to Christ.

Colson has become head of a broad-scale ministry to prison inmates and a featured speaker on the evangelical circuit where Cleaver also is now a favorite, as well as other freshly "born-again" notables.

Flynt, reported converted through the influence of President Carter's sister, Ruth Stapleton, Baptist nightclub evangelist Bob Harrington and others, also has appeared at several religious meetings.

He has named a replacement publisher of Hustler, and says that hereafter, it'll promote a "healthy attitude rather than a perverted one" toward sex and also deal with religion and other positive subjects.

Commenting on his case, the United Methodist mission magazine, New World Outlook, says it is uneasy about the "public — and public relations — aspects of a number of these roads to Damascus" experiences.

The "Damascus" reference was to the New Testament account of the sudden conversion of Saul, a persecutor of early Christianity, on the road from Jerusalem to Damascus, turning him into the missionary-apostle Paul.

The church periodical says it does not presume to judge the sincerity of Flynt and the others, including a host of "born again" sports and show business figures, but the experiences seem to follow a stock pattern.

Generally, the individuals are "faced with a reversal of fortunes" — jail sentences, sagging career or some other difficulty — and come to doubt past lifestyles and see the light, the magazine observes.

"A notorious sinner's conversion seems to guarantee him or her a new career based as much upon notoriety as upon changed heart," the magazine editorializes. "The lecture circuits, the television talk shows, the religious conventions all compete to welcome the prodigal."

The magazine suggests that such converts consider the "pattern established by St. Paul." After his conversion, he went into the desert for three years before beginning his ministry.

That withdrawal into solitude recalled Jesus' 40 days in the desert after his baptism, the magazine says, adding: "We should remember that one of his temptations there was to be offered 'all the kingdoms of the world, in all their glory.' And we know who made that offer." (the devil)

The evangelical fortnightly, Christianity Today, says "the pressures upon Flynt will be greater than those on most new adherents of Christianity" and he needs understanding, prayers, companionship and counsel of mature Christians to face the new challenges.

"If Larry Flynt can come to genuine repentance and faith in Christ, should Christians give up on anyone?" the magazine asks. "Is Madalyn Murray 'Hair next?'" when a side trip to Egypt to meet President Anwar Sadat was added to the Carter itinerary. Jordan wanted to be around for political advice about the Carter-Sadat meeting. That reflects how much Carter campaign manager Jordan's foreign policy role has expanded: first Jordan's management of the Panama Canal treaty ratification, now his political direction over Mideast policies. Such a role would never have been tolerated at the White House by Henry Kissinger. Kissinger's NSC successor, Zbigniew Brzezinski, seems to have accepted it.

Vance Told Of Concern For U.S. Security

Gov. Hunt Wants To Display Displeasure

By DALLAS LEE
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Jim Hunt said today he is urging President Jimmy Carter to meet with the governors of tobacco-growing states over the government's latest antismoking campaign — to hear "our great displeasure and our concern."

Hunt told a news conference he supports efforts to educate and warn the public about potential dangers of smoking, but he said Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph Califano "has gone too far this time."

Califano said earlier this week HEW will seek an increase in the federal excise tax on cigarettes, a proposed ban on smoking in commercial aircraft and smoking restrictions in all government buildings and some public places. Califano also said HEW would set up an Office on Smoking and Health, backed with a $23 million budget.

"You can't make people stop smoking. They've been doing it for 4,000 years," said Hunt, who grows tobacco on his farm in Wilson County. "I am sending a telegram to President Carter and to the governors of the tobacco producing states today...to express our great displeasure and our concern."

"It's a mind-set that concerns me here," the governor said. "It's (the government antismoking effort) beginning to get into individual, personal actions. I'm a nonsmoker, but I'm concerned about the rights of those who do smoke."

Hunt declined comment on the call by state Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham for Carter to fire Califano.

"I don't want to advise the president on what people he has in his cabinet. I want to advise him about policy," Hunt said.

By DONALD ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Carter administration, testing public sentiment on the Panama Canal treaty, is finding Americans concerned about national security questions raised by the pact.

During a three-state trip in which he sought to win support for the treaty, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance was asked repeatedly whether the United States would intervene to keep the canal open and also what ties Panamanian leader Omar Torrijos has with the Soviet Union and Cuba.

In Louisiana, as in earlier stops in West Virginia and Kentucky, Vance received friendly responses when he asserted that under the proposed treaty, the United States would have "a solemn obligation" to keep the canal open.

Vance also suggested that the Senate give its formal approval to an understanding between President Carter and Torrijos stating that the United States has the right to keep the waterway open.

The understanding also gives U.S. warships priority passage through the canal in times of emergency and commits both countries to consult on any plans for construction of a sea-level canal.

Vance emphasized repeatedly that the treaty would benefit the United States militarily and commercially by assuring that the canal would operate free of potential unrest, which the administration has said could result from Senate refusal to approve transfer of control of the waterway to Panama.

He told an audience in New Orleans that "this port and this city and this entire region could be adversely affected if we don't act now to secure a secure future for the canal."

"Most of this country's grain exports are shipped from Gulf Coast ports. Virtually all of the grain exported to the Far East passes through the canal. Thousands of jobs rely on that trade."

"That trade and those jobs will be far more secure under the new treaties than the old," Vance said.

The canal agreement is formally embodied in two treaties. One transfers operational control of the waterway to Panama in the year 2000; the other guarantees that the canal will be kept open.

Asked whether Torrijos is a communist, Vance stated flatly that "neither Gen. Torrijos nor any of the leading officials of the Panamanian government are communist."

The secretary said the Panamanian Communist Party is not legally recognized and is believed to have no more than 500 members.

In an earlier stop in Kentucky, Vance told a Louisville business group that when the Senate reaches its decision on the treaties "there will be sufficient votes to ratify."

It was the first time Vance publicly has predicted the administration can muster the two-thirds Senate majority necessary for approval of the treaties.

Gov. Julian Carroll of Kentucky introduced Vance at Louisville and strongly endorsed the treaties saying they must be ratified by the Senate.

Open Drive Against Car Theft Problem

The Upper Greene County Jaycees have begun an anti-car theft drive.

Richard Adams, president of the Jaycees, said that it is estimated that nearly one million cars were stolen in the United States last year. Eighty percent of those cars had been left unlocked and 42 percent of them were left with the key in the ignition.

"The Jaycees approach to the problem is through information, education, promotion, and legislation. It has been tried elsewhere and it has worked," said Adams.

"So it makes sense to try it here."

According to Adams, if Greenville motorists will take the following precautionary steps, the car theft rate will decline:

- When leaving your car unattended, lock the ignition, close all windows, and lock all doors.
- Do not leave valuables in the car where they can be seen.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1NT Pass
4 ♠ Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Two of ♠.

In this day of proliferating calculators, people seem to be losing the ability to count. At any rate, that seemed to be West's affliction on this hand.

Once North showed the values for a response, South bid what he expected to make. It was unfortunate that most of his partner's values appeared to be useless.

West led a low trump, and the queen forced the ace. Declarer returned a trump to East's king, and East shifted to the two of clubs. The queen lost to the ace, and the club return was taken by the king. Next, declarer cashed the ace of diamonds.

Declarer then led a low spade, and when West elected to follow low, school was out. Dummy's queen won, and declarer had the entry he needed to discard a loser on the king of diamonds. West made his ace of spades for the third trick for the defenders, but the down trick had gone up in smoke.

It is our contention that West should have risen with the ace of spades when declarer first led the suit, thereby denying declarer an entry to dummy. All he had to do was count the hand.

Since declarer was missing two high heart honors, it was reasonable to assume that declarer had started with a seven-card trump suit. This was fortified by the fact that declarer didn't draw another round of trumps when he had the chance. East's shift to the two of clubs meant that he had exactly four cards in that suit, so declarer was marked with three clubs. And declarer had already shown the ace of diamonds.

If declarer's remaining two cards were one diamond and one spade, the contract could not be defeated. If both were spades, rising with the ace and returning the suit could have only a beneficial result.

If declarer had two losing spades, East would score the king. If declarer held the king of spades, he would be locked in his hand with no way to get to dummy, and he would have to concede a club trick to East for down one.

Rubber bridge clubs throughout the country use the four-deal bridge format. Do they know something you don't? ## Carolina Wants Talk With Dye

The name of Pat Dye has popped up amid the speculation for the head football coaching position at the University of North Carolina.

Officials at the university have expressed interest in talking to Dye, who has not applied for the job, according to reports here.

The East Carolina coach recently returned from the National Football Coaches Association meeting in Atlanta, and stopped in Dunn on the way back, where he talked with at least one North Carolina backer about the job.

"We talked some about the job in Chapel Hill, but talked about other things too," Dye was quoted as saying.

He is spending this weekend on the coast on a duck hunting trip.

Rumors had spread last night that Dye was to be in Chapel Hill to be interviewed, but that did not appear likely.

Dye also has denied that there is any organized effort to put him up for the job, although he has called the position, "one of the best in America."

Pirate Tankers Drown Maine

East Carolina's men's swimming team rolled to its third dual meet victory of the season Thursday night with a convincing 63-50 win over the University of Maine.

John McCauley was the star of the show for the Pirates, capturing wins in the 50 and 100 freestyles, the events in which he ranks first and second nationally. McCauley won the 50 in a meet record 21.17 and captured the 100 in 46.76, also a meet record.

The victory raises the Pirates' record to 3-0 on the season. It also keeps their unbeaten mark against Maine intact.

ECU coach Ray Scharf was pleased with the outcome of the meet.

"I thought we swam fairly well," he said. "We swept the first four events and that was pretty much the meet. We had some guys swimming who were not feeling well, and others who missed the meet entirely, so we were happy to do as well as we did."

The Pirates will now face the University of Maryland, seeking to capture their third straight win over the Terps. The meet will be held on Sunday, beginning at 1 p.m. at Minges Natatorium.

Hartley New Proud Papa

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Last night, when the Pirates played the Athletics in Action, they introduced one East Carolina University basketball player all by himself.

It wasn't for his basketball skills, however, but because he had just become a proud new papa—Dean Hartley.

Hartley, one of two seniors on the Pirate squad, has seen little action on the court, but he feels that he has had something to contribute to the program over the past four years.

"It hasn't bothered me a lot not to be able to play any more than I have," he said. "I just try to help as best I can."

Hartley has had his moments, however. During his sophomore year, the regular center got into trouble, and Hartley had to go into the game. It was a televised encounter with Furman. He entered the game with the Bucs leading by only two, and held the Furman big man at bay while the Pirates extended their lead and went on to win.

"I felt that I would be able to play more after that, but it just never materialized," Dean said. "But what have I got to complain about; I'm getting a free education."

Hartley does feel that perhaps he could have played more and grown more in his ability had he gotten more work. "During my sophomore year, we got a lot of individual work, but I didn't get to play much because Coach (Dave) Patton wanted to go with the more experienced players."

Hartley is still a crowd favorite, however, drawing raves when he gets into the game. "I guess I'm somewhat of a favorite son," he said. "I enjoy it, and I've never felt that the fans were putting me down in any way. And I kind of think they enjoy it when I get a chance to put on the sky hook shot."

Aside from his slim playing time, Hartley works hard in practice, usually taking the role of the opposing team's big man in scrimmages.

Following his graduation from East Carolina, he plans to enter law school. "I've applied at three schools, and I hope to be hearing something in the near future," he said. "I'd like to work in the labor law field, somewhere in the Ohio Valley or in Pittsburgh."

While the West Virginia native seems headed back toward his home area, he admits that there are no finer people he knows than those of Eastern Carolina. "When I first came here, I didn't know my way around and was trying to find some place. A lady actually got into her car and led me there. I just couldn't expect that anywhere else."

About the only thing he doesn't like about the "flat lands" is the wind. "I just can't get used to it."

The latest Hartley, born this Wednesday is Marshall Bryce, who weighed in at 6 pounds 1 1/2 ounces, and 20 inches long. He has a ways to go before he grows to his daddy's 6-10, but Dean grinned and spread his index fingers and thumb a little ways apart. "He's already got fingers like that," he said.

There's no basketball goal on the end of the crib yet, but give Dean a little while, and it will probably be there.

Rampants Rip Northeastern

Rose High School's wrestlers ran their record to 10-1 for the year with a 66-2 slaughter of Northeastern.

The Rampants won 12 of the 13 weight classes and netted a draw in the other, Seven of the Rose victories were by pins: Ricky Warren at 100, Cliff Whichard at 107, James Cherry at 114, Jesse Baker at 128, Mark Shank at 153, Raymond Wooten at 187 and Franklin Clark at heavyweight. In addition, Virgil Tyson won by default at 134 and Ron Butler won by forfeit at 197.

Cornelius, Mack Lead Pirates Past Athletes

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Greg Cornelius had his best game as an East Carolina Pirate last night as he and Oliver Mack paced the Bucs to a 117-107 victory over the Athletics in Action Changers.

Cornelius connected on eight of 14 shots from the floor and four of five free throws for 20 points. He also pulled off 15 rebounds to pace the Pirates in that department also.

Mack's statistics for the game were almost the same. He hit the same 8-for-14 from the floor and was four of six from the line for 20 points. He had six rebounds.

Both played only 26 minutes in a game that saw the reserves get in almost as much playing time as the starting unit. Only Cornelius and Mack, with their time, along with Herb Krusen with 24 minutes and Walter Moseley with 22, played for as much as half the game.

The margin of the game had little relationship to the way it went. The Pirates broke open a tight game in the final three minutes of the first half to go out by as much as ten points before the horn. They upped that to as wide as 17 in the second half.

"It could have been a lot worse," Coach Larry Gillman said. "We gave a good effort, and took them out of the game early in the second half, then just had a lot of fun."

"They (the Athletics) can shoot the ball. They have tremendous kids. Their coach does a good job, but I think they were dog-tired out there in the second half. They hung in well for a half, but I think our running game tired them out. I was really surprised to see them want to run with us."

Gillman said that he felt that Moseley got some of his confidence back in the game, and that he (Gillman) also learned something. "I learned to get Mack out of a game like that. Everyone knows what he can do, so there is no need in taking a big chance."

He also had praise for Cornelius, noting that he is getting his game together now. "He's playing a strong board game right along."

The Pirate coach gave the team the day off on Friday, their first day off in weeks.

"We're starting to improve. We're getting more mature now," the coach added.

The Athletics, who have beaten such teams as Florida, Central Michigan and West Virginia, came into the game with a 17-5 record.

They got fine shooting throughout the game, much of it from outside, but were murdered by the Pirates on the boards. "Looking at their stats, I felt that if we could control the boards, we could handle them."

Not only did the Bucs control the boards, they completely dominated them, pulling off 57 rebounds to just 37 for the AIA.

The Pirates shot well, hitting 52.1 per cent of their shots, as compared to 53 per cent for the

Nine Wrestlers Are Unbeaten

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Nine area wrestlers have posted unbeaten records through matches Wednesday.

Two of those, however, have had draws to spoil their otherwise perfect records.

Currently, Rose High School's Rampants, rated number two in the state in the last rankings, pace the area as far as records are concerned, with a 9-1 mark. Farmville Central is next at 8-1, while White D. H. Conley posts a 6-1 record. Conley and Rose split in their two meetings, while the Vikings downed Farmville in their lone meeting.

Conley currently boasts two unbeaten and untied matmen, with two others featuring a tie. Gary Harris, with most of his matches at the 100 mark, is 12-0-1, while Alton Crandall, at 121, has a 13-0 record. Marvin Hardy, at 147, is also 13-0, while 187-pounder Jesse Davis is 12-0-1.

Rose had two in the unbeaten ranks, 114-pounder James Cherry at 13-0 and 187-pounder Raymond Wooten at 10-0.

Two Farmville Central Jaguars are also unbeaten. They are Howarce Williams, 140 pounds, with a 9-0 record, and William Maye, at 187, at 8-0.

North Pitt's Mike Manning, at 157, is also unbeaten with an 8-0 record.

Other weigh leaders include: Cliff Whichard of Rose at 107 with a 12-2 record; Jesse Baker of Rose at 128, 13-1; Virgil Tyson of Rose at 134 at 11-2; Charles

Lady Pirates See Big Week

East Carolina University's women's basketball team hits the road today for a three-game set in two days at Madison College.

The three games are the highlight of a five-game week for the Lady Pirates between now and next Friday.

Tonight, they will face hosting Madison, then face Penn State and West Chester on Saturday, playing once in the morning and once at night.

Tuesday, the Lady Pirates will face UNC Greensboro on the road on Friday. They'll then face Appalachian State on Saturday at Boone.

Elsewhere, the Pirate track team will be in action at the CYO Invitational in Maryland tonight, and at the East Coast Invitational in Richmond on Saturday.

The swim team has a Sunday date with Maryland, while the wrestlers take on Appalachian State in Boone on Wednesday.

The Pirate basketball team will face William & Mary on Tuesday and Iona on Thursday, both in Minges Coliseum.

Women's basketball coach Catherine Bolton has just returned from the meeting of the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women in Atlanta, where one basic rule change was passed that could affect the Pirates.

"The main rule change was in relation to full scholarships," Miss Bolton said. "Beginning in the fall, the AIAW will allow the awarding of full grants, just as men's sports now give."

A new divisional setup was also passed, based on scholarships. Division I will give the maximums, while Division II will give up to 25 percent of the

Tar Heels In Win Over Bucs

CHAPEL HILL — North Carolina used its superior strength in the lower weight classes as the Tar Heels captured a 25-15 victory over East Carolina here Thursday night.

It was the first victory for North Carolina over an East Carolina team and dropped the Pirates' won-lost record this season to 1-4.

North Carolina won the first four weight classes to move out in front 16-0 and then managed to win two of the final six matches to preserve the victory.

After UNC freshman C. D. Mock pinned ECU's John Koenigs in just 1:35, Kenny Evans shocked the Pirates' Paul

ECU's Status Is In Limbo

With East Carolina University involved in the expansion of Ficklen Stadium, the question once again has come up as to the future of Rose High School in the use of the facility.

There are those in the community who would like to see the high school have its own facility, while there are others, believed to be a dwindling minority, who would cling to the use of Ficklen, come hell or high water.

The old message from them is that money was put into Ficklen Stadium with the proviso that Rose would be allowed to use that field from here to eternity. That amount of money, now, however, comes to just a drop in the bucket compared with the millions spent in the continued upgrading of the facility.

Next fall, with the seating capacity of 35,000, plus the construction of a new press facility, including an elevator, new problems will arise.

According to East Carolina athletic director Bill Cain, there will be no effort by the university to drive Rose from the field. They may use it as long as they like—under East Carolina's rules.

Those rules include the ban on Friday night games prior to a Saturday afternoon game, to allow time for a "turnaround" of the field. Rose has had to schedule several games on Thursday night because of this.

East Carolina also has told Rose to postpone when it felt weather conditions were not good for the field, when East Carolina was to play the next night, causing Rose to delay until Monday night.

Such moves, away from the traditional Friday night times, cut into the budget, some school officials say. Others contend it doesn't hurt that much.

"We will be making up a new policy on the use of the stadium and its facilities," Cain said. "With the use of an elevator, we will certainly have to have more security on the use of the press box, and that might cause some problems for anyone who uses the stadium."

That policy, not expected to be much different from the one now used, should be ready by the fall. It will call for the continued "cleanup of the stands by those who use the field, along with other minor provisions.

Rose football coach Dave Bumgarner has mixed emotions about a field for his school's lone use. "It is a big plus for us to be playing in Ficklen, but it does cause us problems when we have to move our schedule around, sometimes suddenly."

Bumgarner would like to see a field built adjoining the high school in the "gully" between Rose and the Elm Street Recreation Department land.

"It would fit there, and would be perfect for us. I'd like to see the city own and maintain it, however, and use it for all types of football programs, such as is done in a lot of other places.

"I would be completely opposed to moving the field to some other site, like Aycock Junior High, or Guy Smith Stadium, or somewhere away from our school building," he added.

Frank Davenport, Rose principal, said that currently he was satisfied with the use of Ficklen. "But if the Board of Education saw fit to build a stadium for us, I would appreciate that, too. I wouldn't want to minimize our appreciation to East Carolina for the use of their stadium, and I think we will continue to have a strong program, no matter where we play.

"If and when the superintendent approaches me on this, then I'll get interested in it," Davenport said.

Superintendent Glenn Cox said that a stadium for Rose is in the long range planning of the Board of Education.

"It's never been specified where. We have several sites that we can look at. These include the current Aycock field, in an upgraded condition; the area of the new middle school, and in the area between Rose and the recreation gym. Money to construct such a facility was in the proposed bond issue, but that seems to be on the back-burner now."

Cox said that the board currently is only considering the use of bond issue money for such a project, and would not look favorably on a community drive to raise stadium money at this time.

He said that he expects the construction of a field, on property currently owned by the school system, would run around $350,000. That would include the construction of the field, stands, a press box, toilet facilities and lights.

For now, however, it looks like Rose will continue to play in Ficklen, at least for a few more years, until the stadium project can get rolling with more steam than it has at present.

Under the rules passed yesterday, East Carolina University would be temporarily assigned to the I-AA status.

The school would be given a 60-day period to decide which division it wished to participate in, and a three-year period in which to meet those qualifications.

East Carolina currently meets the standards for stadium size and attendance average (pending the completion of Ficklen Stadium's expansion), but does not meet the critical standard of scheduling 60 per cent of its football games against I-A teams. An upgrading of the schedule during the next three years would have to be done to achieve that.

And that would involve other schools willingness to schedule East Carolina, one official noted.

Further clarification of the ECU position will be available when Athletic Director Bill Cain and Athletic Committee Chairman Cliff Moore return from the NCAA meeting tonight.

By ED SHEARER
AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — A three-year-old battle by the so-called big-time conference and independents to restructure college football's 144 major schools into two divisions finally has succeeded.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association approved Thursday a proposal sponsored by 79 schools separating the current Division I into Divisions I-A and I-AA.

The NCAA convention then appeased some of the bitter opposition when it adopted an amendment requiring less stringent criteria for membership in I-A, opening the door for 25 other schools to qualify.

Schools have 60 days to advise the NCAA of their choice of divisions, and then they would be given three years to meet criteria for membership in the division.

The initial criteria for Division I-A would require institutions to participate in eight varsity sports, have an average home attendance of 17,000 during one of the last four years and play home games in a stadium seating 30,000 or more.

The appealing amendment — offered by the eight Ivy League schools, Colgate and William & Mary — would remove the attendance average and seating capacity requirements for institutions which sponsor 12 varsity sports. Schools with eight sports still would qualify by meeting the other criteria.

The tony restructuring issue occupied most of the convention's business. The proposal for the two divisions was rejected before noon, but then gained approval on reconsideration after the criteria for membership were adopted.

Had the criteria remained without creating Divisions I-A and I-AA, those failing to qualify for the top division would have been dropped into Division II.

The original 79 schools consisted of the 60 members of the Big Ten, Pacific-10, Big Eight, Atlantic Coast, Southeastern, Southwest and Western Athletic conferences, along with independents Air Force, Army, Boston College, Florida State, Georgia Tech, Hawaii, Memphis State, Miami of Florida, Navy, North Texas State, Notre Dame, Penn State, Pittsburgh, San Diego State, South Carolina, Syracuse, Tulane, Virginia Tech and West Virginia.

The 25 schools qualifying under the 12 varsity sport criterion were Appalachian, Ball State, Bowling Green, Brown, Colgate, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Holy Cross, Idaho, Indiana State, Long Beach State, Ohio University, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Rutgers, San Jose State, Temple, Western Michigan, William & Mary, and Yale along with four current Division II schools in the Yankee Conference, Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Columbia, one of the eight

Ivy League schools, did not meet the 12-sport qualification. Some schools on the list of 79 don't currently qualify because they do not sponsor eight sports, but they are expected to have little trouble in adding enough to reach that figure.

"We lost a lot of battles but we won the war," said Bob Murphy, the San Jose athletic director who was the leading spokesman for the opposition.

He said the 12-sport amendment "gave us what we wanted anyway. At least we and the others have an opportunity to go I-A." He said the original proposal may have forced San Jose to lose its football program.

Even with the additional qualifiers, the so-called super powers will still hold a majority vote in the division and will have an opportunity to push through football legislation at future conventions.

Restructuring proposals had been rejected by the 1976 convention and were tabled during last year's convention.

A proposal to require Division I schools without football to participate in 10 sports was defeated after it was noted that Marquette, last year's national champion in basketball, would have been dropped into Division II.

The convention also voted to abolish pro basketball's hardship draft for underclassmen when it approved a measure stating that any player who had his name placed on such a list would be declared a professional and thus would lose his college eligibility.

In recent years, a basketball player could have his name on a hardship list and then retain his eligibility by having his name removed before the actual pro draft.

Also approved was a rule permitting an athlete to receive "broken-time payments" authorized by the U.S. Olympic Committee for Olympic training and competition.

Motor Trend Magazine's Import Car of the Year. The new 1978 Toyota Celica. An aerodynamic beauty enveloping the best Toyota engineering of our time. A car which meets or exceeds all 1980 Federal fuel economy and safety standards. The car which best met Motor Trend's criteria for styling, quality, comfort, acceleration, braking, handling, fuel economy and ride. The Import Car of the Year. The 1978 Toyota Celica. Here's what the Car of the Year and the car of the 80's offers you...

Efficiency and comfort. Exemplified by: a cockpit full of instrumentation. A newly designed GT driver's seat featuring an adjustable lumbar support. And the GT Liftback's practical, split, fold-down rear seat.

Style and engineering. The 1978 Celica's new aerodynamic body contributes to increased stability, acceleration and interior room. These characteristics combine with a 2.2 liter overhead cam engine and a standard 5-speed overdrive transmission to produce a beautiful Grand Touring machine. A machine designed for the 80's. A machine with welded unitized-body construction to help make it last. The Celica. Three models—the ST and GT Sport Coupes and the GT Liftback (pictured).

Toyota quality is a line of cars. If a Celica is not what you had in mind, one of the 26 other Toyota models probably is. Many with the same Celica standard features, like 5-speed overdrive transmissions. All built Toyota tough. If you can find a better built small car or truck than a Toyota... buy it.

Mondale Humor Prevailed Over His Tor

By TERENCE HUNT
Associated Press Writer
RENO, Nev. (AP) — The days were long and the pace was hectic, but the humor never ran out.

Throughout his five-day western trip to mend the administration's fences, Vice President Walter F. Mondale delighted audiences with jokes, wry observations and occasional cracks at a Cabinet member sharing the stage with him.

Some examples:

Throughout the trip Mondale heard many complaints from businessmen of government interference in their operations by burdensome federal regulations and time-consuming paperwork.

Such was the case again during a meeting with businessmen in Ogden, Utah, until a man complained he couldn't get federal aid to start a consumer cooperative grocery.

Mondale asked if the Small Business Administration had been any help. No, the man said. How about other federal agencies, the vice president asked. No help, the man said.

"Well," Mondale sympathized, "we're certainly not interfering with you, are we?"

At Salt Lake City, there was no audience reaction when the vice president noted during an address to the Utah legislature that he was accompanied by Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus, a former governor of neighboring Idaho.

Mondale paused. "Anytime you want to applaud, just break right in," he added hopefully. As the laughter died down and the interior secretary blushed, Mondale teased some more:

"We couldn't get a hand for him in New Mexico, either. Tomorrow we're going to try him in Idaho. If not there, the Marianas."

Andrus also was Mondale's target when they arrived late-at a city hall meeting in Lewiston, Idaho, and found a crowd of several hundred people waiting outside in the cold, damp weather to greet them.

Mondale apologized to Andrus' homestate crowd that "Every stop we've made today, Andrus just keeps talking and talking and talking. And there's no way of keeping up."

Mondale traveled to the far southeastern corner of Washington State to visit Washington State University. He told a student convocation he had spent the last four days traveling in New Mexico, Colorado, Montana, Utah, Idaho and Washington.

"Every place I've been and everywhere I've stopped," he said, "the same burning question is on the minds of all the people I meet: 'Where the hell is Pullman?'"

The students there often make the same joke themselves. They gave Mondale a T-shirt imprinted with his question.

At the same student gathering, Mondale was talking about the administration's human rights policy. He said dramatic progress has been made in a domestic human right, the right for a job.

"And if I may say so," the vice president said, "WSU has done its part. You have hired more football coaches in two years than any other institution in America." They've just hired their third.

Mondale's staff also has a sense of humor. At the trip's first stop in Albuquerque, N.M., the local recreation department gave Mondale a gift of a box of rocks, dirt and grass.

Commented one staffer: "The bad news is they gave him rocks, dirt and grass. The good news is they didn't throw it at him."

Indicative Of Cabarrus Site

CONCORD, N.C. (AP) — "We're people-oriented," said Philip Morris U.S.A. president Clifford H. Goldsmith, "and I think you'll be happy with us as corporate citizens."

Goldsmith was visiting Cabarrus County this week, and his remarks appeared to reinforce other strong indications that Philip Morris has all but decided to build its new $100 million plant here.

The installation is expected to provide 2,100 new jobs for the area, enough of an economic boost to get Gov. Jim Hunt interested in the campaign to persuade Philip Morris to build in North Carolina.

"There are still a few problems we must clear up before making a final announcement of plans to locate in Cabarrus County, but none of these seem insurmountable," Goldsmith said.

In addition to Goldsmith's broad hints, a labor official said privately the plant is coming here, and a survey crew hired by Philip Morris spent Wednesday surveying the site that the company has optioned in Cabarrus County.

Jack Alston, Cabarrus County planner, said he could not imagine Philip Morris "sending a survey crew out there to survey somebody else's land."

Some possible roadblocks have been eliminated in recent weeks. These included action of the North Carolina Council of State in approving an easement across state property so Philip Morris would have rail access to the Cabarrus site. In addition, water and sewer facilities are assured.

After meeting with Goldsmith Tuesday, Gov. Jim Hunt said, "I've never felt more confident about Philip Morris coming to North Carolina."

Earlier speculation that the huge Cannon Mills would object to location of the plant in this area because of the competition it will mean for labor evaporated last week when the company said it would welcome Philip Morris and help in any way it could.

Airborne Wedding Cost N.C. Trooper His Job

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A state trooper who got married last month on a chartered jetliner has been fired from the Highway Patrol, apparently because he helped arrange a beer and brunswick stew party to finance the wedding flight.

Melvin H. Connor and Bonnie Kennedy were married Dec. 29 aboard a Piedmont Airlines jet. Connor, who joined the patrol in September 1973, was dismissed Wednesday.

The Greensboro Daily News reported in its Thursday edition that it had seen copies of the charges against Connor that led to his dismissal. The paper also reported that state Crime Control and Public Safety Secretary Phil Carlton personally tried to block issuance of a beer permit for the party.

Connor, 31, was accused of helping to plan and execute the party held Nov. 12, trying to get a beer permit for it and wearing "a part of the Highway Patrol uniform (an old hat without insignia) at the site of the event."

Both the airborne wedding and the party to raise funds for it were suggested by Greensboro businessman Jim Flynn, a long-time friend of Connor, who printed up 1,300 invitations and planned to charge $5 a head. He hoped that at least 400 persons would show up.

"That would just about pay for the plane," he said.

Flynt heard later, however, that ABC officers were planning to raid the party because he had no beer permit, so he went to ABC board headquarters in Raleigh, where he was asked to "go next door and talk with some people."

The Daily News said the people turned out to be Carlton, two Highway Patrol officers and a state ABC board official. The paper quoted Flynn as saying Carlton told the ABC official not to issue the beer permit for the party because a trooper was involved.

But Flynn told the Daily News that the ABC official said Flynn was entitled to the permit, since he had complied with the requirements. Flynn then said Carlton suggested that Connor not dispense any beer at the party.

The Daily News said the charge against Connor actually named Nov. 5 as the date for the party, which actually was held Nov. 12. On Nov. 5 a group of 25 or 30 persons gathered to prepare the brunswick stew.

Flynt said patrol officers in an unmarked car "spied on us all day through binoculars." Connor was there in the old trooper's hat, but no beer was sold that day. At the actual party a week later, Connor was on duty and only stopped by for an hour or so to eat some stew. Flynn told the Daily News.

Patrol officials confirmed Connor had been dismissed but said state law prohibited them from saying more.

My son is strong and healthy. He played football at college, and has been in remarkable shape. He has just gotten an excellent job with a large organization. They demand a complete physical examination. He did not pass because of excessive high blood pressure. The next day he went to our private doctor and his blood pressure was normal. He had a hard time convincing the company that he is in good shape. — Mr. N.N.C., Penn.

Dear Mr. C.:

All companies and organizations that insist on complete physical examinations at yearly intervals should be commended for their interest in the health of their employees.

This serves a two-fold purpose. It protects the health of the employee and it insures the continuation of good productivity.

Periods of tension and emotional stress can produce wide fluctuations in the blood pressure readings. Some people have what is known as a "labile" blood pressure, which means a momentary change in the blood pressure level without any apparent physical reason.

The pressure of a new job probably induced such a reaction during your son's physical examination. The company doctors have probably seen this happen many times. Since your private doctor's letter of assurance was added to the company file, you can be certain that this "flash" of high blood pressure will not affect his position nor his growth in the organization.

I, like many other people, am bugged by psoriasis. Just when I think it is under control, it blossoms out again. Is there any known reason for such flare-ups? — Mrs. J.S., Conn.

Dear Mrs. S.:

Few diseases are more discouraging than psoriasis, both to patients and to physicians who try every conceivable form of treatment to alleviate this chronic skin disorder.

There are some doctors who believe that an increase of weight, an infection, unusual intake of alcohol, emotional disturbances and some drugs can produce a flare-up of psoriasis.

One of the characteristics of psoriasis is that it will flare-up without any discernible reason. To you and the many other sufferers of this persistent, distressing skin condition, it should be noted that an enormous amount of scientific research continues, in the hope that it will soon be preventable and treatable.

The many new drugs, in combination with the process known as "photo-chemotherapy" hold great promise that psoriasis may soon be a controllable disease.

Blackout In Eliz. City

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — Most of Elizabeth City took a holiday Thursday when a Virginia Electric & Power Co. transformer failed, blacking out power to about 30,000 residents for several hours.

The blackout forced most businesses in town to shut down for the morning, and several schools sent students home for the day.

A Vepco official said a transformer broke down at 7:40 a.m., stopping power supplies to all of Pasquotank County and to border areas in neighboring Perquimans and Camden counties.

All power remained out for 34 minutes before the utility could switch to other transformers in Elizabeth City and Shawboro, according to David Harris, Vepco's customer service supervisor.

Parts of Elizabeth City were without power for up to two hours as the company gradually increased the load on its remaining transformers. Some other areas remained without electricity until 12:40 p.m.

The cause of the breakdown was still unknown Thursday afternoon.

"At this time, we don't really know what caused us to lose the transformer," Harris said. "It looks like an equipment failure rather than some kind of overload," he said.

A mobile transformer was expected to arrive in Elizabeth City by Thursday evening and be in operation by 10 p.m.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged upward today in the second day of a modest technical rally after its early-1978 nosedive.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.39 at 779.54 after a 2.25 rise on Thursday.

Gainers held a 3-2 advantage over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

In the economic news, the dollar rose in value against leading foreign currencies today, extending an upswing that began Thursday with the help of intervention by the Federal Reserve and other countries' central banks. The rally by the U.S. currency showed signs of fading as the day passed, however.

Analysts also pointed out that the market's decline of the first seven sessions of the new year had driven prices down to a point where chart-watching investors normally expect a technical rally.

Airline stocks were strong for the second straight day, with American Airlines up 1/2 at 10 1/2 at the top of the most-active list. Continental Airlines ahead 1/2 at 10 1/2, and Braniff International 3/4 higher at 9 3/4.

Wall Streeters noted encouragement over recent stronger-than-expected passenger traffic trends in the industry. In addition, some analysts have singled the group out as showing relative strength in the general market's early-1978 slump.

The NYSE's composite index added .07 to 49.67.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained 23 to 120.69.

No Interest In Carteret

BEAUFORT, N.C. (AP) — Carteret County officials say they're no longer interested in having the Monitor Research and Recovery Foundation headquarters here.

The Thursday announcement, which came one day after Wilmington Chamber of Commerce officials said they were cooling toward the foundation too, left only Norfolk and Hampton, Va., as prime contenders for the headquarters.

Foundation officials have said the consider it likely that if the Civil War vessel is ever raised from its resting place beneath the sea off Cape Hatteras, it will be put on display wherever the foundation is located.

Anticipating a tourism bonanza from such an eventuality, several communities entered the competition, but the North Carolina entries no longer appear to be interested.

The foundation has asked its potential host communities for more than half a million dollars over the next four years in addition to office and display space.

Wilmington chamber officials said they couldn't commit that kind of money until the foundation spelled out in more detail how the money would be spent.

They also indicated they were disturbed by the possibility that the Monitor might not be raised at all or that if it is, the foundation would quarrel with the state, which has an agreement with the federal government giving the state supervisory authority over recovery efforts.

Carteret County representatives expressed some of the same reservations, but emphasized the friction between the foundation and the state.

"It has now become obvious that the leadership of the Monitor Research and Recovery Foundation will not, cannot and has no intention of complying with the committee's desire for a cooperative effort," said Horace McLean, Carteret County Monitor Committee chairman.

The Monitor foundation's board is to meet Sunday to decide where its headquarters will be. Wilmington officials have said they might still be interested in the headquarters if the decision were delayed and more information provided.
