Morrow Unveils Shakeup

RALEIGH, N.C. (A) — Human Resources Secretary Sarah T. Morrow Monday unveiled a shakeup of top management in the department as part of a move to tighten control over the largest agency in state government.

The reorganization increases the authority of Mrs. Morrow's deputy, Thomas O. Gilmore, by placing responsibility for budgeting and program analysis in his hands.

The changes, which go into effect May 1, include a shift of Roy L. Holley, chief budget officer since the department's creation in 1972, to a lower fiscal position. His salary of $32,436 annually will be cut by about 10 percent.

B. Gene Barrett, who currently heads the program analysis functions of the agency, will be in charge of a new office of budget and analysis. It will be responsible for accounting, auditing, program analysis and property control.

Other duties previously handled by Holley will be shifted to Richard Rideout, assistant secretary for administration.

Gilmore, a close ally of Gov. Jim Hunt, said the department hopes to overcome such problems as difficulty in communicating with its 18,000 employees and the public. He said a fragmentation of effort among the many program divisions has made communication difficult.

"We're in the process now of really trying to mold one department that speaks with one voice," he said. "I see the reorganization as trying to reach that goal."

Moro Death Phone Calls Found Hoaxes

By EDWARD MAGRI
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — A flurry of anonymous telephone calls announcing that former premier Aldo Moro had been executed by his Red Brigades kidnapers was received today by the Italian news agency ANSA. The agency said all had been proven hoaxes.

The calls were received by ANSA offices in Rome, Turin and Milan. One caller said a communique was left in a trash basket and a "surprise" in the trunk of a car parked near the Italian television production center near the Vatican. But an ANSA reporter and police officers searched trash receptacles and cars on the street and found nothing unusual.

The calls came in after the government and the ruling Christian Democratic Party on Monday rejected an ultimatum from the Red Brigades to free 13 imprisoned terrorists to save Moro's life.

Last week, a communique attributed to the Brigades claiming the 61-year-old party president had been executed triggered a massive search of a frozen mountain lake northeast of Rome. Officials said that message may have been sent by Moro's kidnapers as a ruse to weaken the government's refusal to negotiate for his life.

Today, crowds of Italians marked the 33rd anniversary of the nation's liberation from fascism by visiting Via Mario Fani, the Rome street where Moro was kidnapped and his five guards slain March 16.

Premier Giulio Andreotti told journalists on arriving for a leadership meeting at Christian Democrat headquarters in downtown Rome that he had "nothing new" to report.

The premier on Monday had reiterated the party's no-deal line after conferring with key cabinet ministers.

He declared: "All requests for an exchange with detained persons were and are unacceptable because they are directed against the freedom of all, against the respect which is due to the victims of subversion and against the laws of the Republic."

Il Popolo, the Christian Democrats' newspaper, said a handwritten letter found by the newspaper Vita Monday night had been authenticated as Moro's. In it the 61-year-old party president of the Christian Democratic Party and five-time premier who was kidnapped March 16 begged the other leaders of his party to agree to an "exchange of war prisoners (war or guerrilla war, as you prefer), as is done where the war is on, as is done in highly civilized countries...."

"We are nearly at the zero hour. It is a matter of seconds rather than minutes. We are at massacre time," said the letter.

"With mine goes the cry of my mortally wounded family. For this reason, for an evident incompatibility, I request that no state authority or party official should participate at my funeral."

Il Popolo said the letter had "evidently been extorted." It gave the same explanation for the previous letters in which he asked the governments to meet the kidnapers' demands.

The terrorists said last week they would kill Moro if the government failed to agree to a prisoner swap by Saturday, but the deadline came and went with the government standing firm and no word of his death. The second ultimatum set no time limit but said Moro would be killed if the government did not agree immediately to release Renato Curcio, a Red Brigades founder; two other members of the organization on trial with him in Turin.

and 10 other imprisoned terrorists.

In another development, police arrested Mirella Varoni, a lawyer, and her fiancé, Giuseppe Galluzzi, after her father found a cache of arms and explosives in the family's home near Ardea, on the coast south of Rome.

The police said Miss Varoni and Galluzzi were members of an extremist group at Albano, near the summer residence of Pope Paul VI, and transferred 32 rifles, 320 pounds of dynamite, TNT and plastic explosive, and 15,000 bullets to her family's home because they feared it would be found by police searching for Moro.

Curriculum Plan Adopted For Aycock Junior High

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

A curriculum plan for the eighth grade at Aycock Junior High that retains the present three block time period for two groups of students was adopted at a meeting of the Greenville Board of Education Monday night.

The adopted scheduling keeps unchanged the two hours of language arts and the one hour of social studies for approximately 120 gifted and talented students. It also retains the same three hour time block for students needing special assistance.

For the majority of students, those in the middle level of achievement, the present three hour block for these two subjects will be changed to a two hour block.

Last night's approval by the board follows a division of opinions at the school board meeting of April 17, when no decision could be reached on the eighth grade curriculum because of concern expressed over losing any of the features of the program offered to the 120 gifted students.

It was pointed out that although the program is generally referred to as a "gifted-talented" one, it was not officially designated as such with the state. Instead, it is an unofficial grouping of the highest achievers, with and the extent and scope of the program decided within the school.

The curriculum plan adopted is known as Plan B of three plans — A, B, and C offered to the school board on April 17.

The adoption completes authorization on curricula for the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades for the coming school year.

After detailed discussions on an expenditure summary proposal for the 1978-79 proposed capital outlay budget, school board members concurred on Miles Frost's suggestion that Superintendent Glenn Cox bring to the May 1 board meeting a revised summary, one that would be in two sections — a proposal for items applicable only to the coming school year; and a second proposal that would list all items of a continuing nature that Frost termed "as properly belonging within the scope of a bond issue."

The proposal offered by Cox at last night's meeting totaled a request in excess of $2,000,000.

The major share of this figure comes under the category of acquisition of real property and construction — which includes the projected completion of the Middle School at $1,750,000 and acquisition of additional land at Sadie Sautler Elementary School.

Highlights of other proposals include $91,000 for school buses and other vehicles; and acquisition or replacement of furnishings or equipment at $107,040.

Cox informed the board that a study of past figures of allotments by the County Commissioners to the Greenville City Schools capital outlay budget averaged approximately $375,000 per year for the past ten years.

Other comments offered by board members involved the possibility of utilizing Community Development funds for a few of the proposed items. This would apply to things such as playground equipment at Sadie Sautler and physical education items for Third Street School.

Budget items that will conceivably be placed in the multi-year category for possible bond issue funding include air conditioning of schools, reworking the air-heating system at Aycock, renovation at Agnes Fullilove Community School to make it into a full-time community service school, and an athletic complex for the school system.

The Monday night, May 1 school board meeting will be devoted to consideration of the revised plan Cox has been asked to have ready.

Cox noted in his presentation that the proposals presented last night represented a selection of what he and his staff considered higher priority items from a consolidation of capital outlay requests prepared and submitted by the staffs of individual schools in the system.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance is refusing to reveal details of his strategic arms talks with the Soviet Union, but a senior U.S. official admits progress was made in one key area.

Vance, who has discussed specifics in the past, said Monday the Russians regard public discussion of items under negotiation to be a "propaganda exercise."

"We do not want to do anything that would jeopardize serious negotiations," Vance told reporters.

The senior official, who declined to be identified, said Soviet negotiators eased their opposition to U.S. sharing of cruise-missile technology with NATO allies. The issue is one of three that has delayed a nuclear arms limitation pact.

Vance briefed President Carter Monday after returning from a 12-day trip to Moscow.

Africa and Europe. France, West Germany, and Britain have expressed concern that any new strategic arms treaty would block sharing of U.S. technology on the low-flying cruise drones.

But the senior official said that Vance's negotiations, "allayed the concerns of our allies that we will end up with a treaty that does protect their security as well as our own."

The other two strategic arms disagreements involve the production and deployment of new Russian ballistic missiles and the Soviet Backfire bomber.

The Soviets contend the bomber is not a strategic weapon and therefore not subject to restrictions. The Carter administration wants production limited and the bombers deployed so they are not within easy striking distance of the United States.

Vance Declines Talk Specifics On Arms Talks

Break-Ins

A series of break-ins has plagued the Greenville City Schools for the past two weekends, resulting in breakage, some inside damage to facilities, and food and audio visual items stolen.

At the school board meeting Monday night, Superintendent Glenn Cox commented the recent thievery represents a much higher than normal rate of occurrence, and that school staff and local law enforcement people are working on possible leads.

Robert Stewart, Director of Buildings and Grounds for the city schools, says the major targets of the thieves are tape cassettes, small tape players, milk and hamburger.

Cox said from information they had been able to gather, there is an inkling that the break ins are possibly the work of an organized group, rather than a random series of incidents.

Schools that have been broken into during the past two weekends are Rose, Eastern, Elmhurst and Sadie Sautler. Most of them have been hit twice in this current series of break-in and robberies.

TEENS' FOSTER HOMES NEEDED

The Pitt County Department of Social Services Foster Care Program has a special need for families who would like to open their homes as foster homes for teenagers. The agency is in need of families who enjoy and work well with children, aged 13-18. Many of these children have been referred through the Juvenile Court system or educational or professional services in the community. Any interested persons may contact Linda Baldwin or Sallie Williams at 758-2167.

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

YARD SALE FOR JUSTICE

As mentioned in yesterday's column, another yard sale is being held to benefit Billy Justice, who is today being given a bone marrow transplant in New York City. Mrs. Mavis (Robert F.) Williams, a neighbor of the leukemia patient's fiancée, Debbie, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Travis, is giving the sale. It is to be held Saturday at her home on Highway 102 about four and a half miles east of Ayden near Venters Crossroads. Anyone wishing to donate anything is asked to bring it to the Williams' home or to Berce Inc., the garment manufacturing firm where Mrs. Williams works on Railroad Street in Ayden. Those having questions may call Mrs. Williams at 746-3549.

The Canadian visitor to Greenville whose lost glasses were reported in yesterday's column called this morning to say they were returned to him. He is leaving for home tomorrow and was delighted, he indicated.

'Sneaked' A Phone Call To His Wife In Russia

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — University of Virginia professor Woodford McClellan finally got a call through to his wife in Russia today.

But to do it, he said, he had to trick the Soviet telephone operator who handled the call to Moscow.

"I got the American operator to say the call was coming from New York City rather than Virginia," McClellan told the Richmond News Leader. "I think that helped."

McClellan's wife, Irina, last week chained herself to the fence at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow. The Russians, claiming she knows state secrets, won't let her leave the country to join her husband.

Her demonstration, which coincided with Secretary of State Cyrus Vance's visit to Moscow, was an attempt to dramatize her plight. McClellan said.

Soviet authorities held Mrs. McClellan briefly after her arrest last Thursday, but when McClellan tried to call her, "the phone just rang as if she wasn't home," he said.

When McClellan talked to his wife today, she told him "she had been home all the time," he said.

"The Russians just weren't permitting the calls to go through. They've done that sort of thing before."

McClellan said he reached his wife about 3:30 a.m. EST — noon Moscow time — and talked to her for six or seven minutes.

"We kept the conversation pretty bland, so we didn't have any problems," he said. "She's fine."

McClellan learned Monday that his wife was safe. A rabbi at Purdue University, Gerald Engel, called her and then called McClellan, he said.

Engel is connected with an organization that attempts to help people wishing to leave the Soviet Union, McClellan said.

McClellan has been trying to get his wife out of Russia since they were married four years ago.

He said he has repeatedly sought help from the State Department, and now has asked to see Secretary of State Cyrus Vance.

"That may sound presumptuous," he said. "The secretary of state can't see just any itinerant petitioner. But this case has gone on longer than any they've ever had."

Vance's response, he said, "will say a lot about how the Americans are handling this case."

Recharging Old Space Station

HOUSTON (AP) — The 85-ton space station Skylab, abandoned four years ago, has started recharging four of its solar-powered batteries in response to a command from flight controllers.

The command was sent Monday from the Johnson Space Center, and the returning data told controllers that the instructions had been accepted, officials said. Flight controllers are trying to slow Skylab's fall from orbit. Batteries have to be charged before they can command gyroscopes to change Skylab's position.

The Pitt County Democratic Convention will be held here Saturday, April 29 at 1 p.m. in the District Courtroom of the courthouse.

Betty Speir, Pitt Democratic chairman, reported that the main items of business involve the election of delegates to the congressional district convention here on May 20 and to the state convention scheduled for June 24 in Raleigh.

In addition, delegates will be elected to four sectional committees, she said, including the judicial executive committee, the congressional district executive committee, the state Senatorial district executive committee, and the House of Representatives district executive committee.

Mrs. Speir added that the delegate selection plan for the 1978 national conference will be discussed.

Henry Oglesby of Grifton will introduce all present office holders, she said, and all candidates or their representatives will be recognized.

First District Representative Walter Jones of Farmville will be the guest speaker for the session.

May Still Act On Summer Electrical Saving

Some 700 Greenville Utilities Commission customers still have the chance to save up to $30 this summer on their electric bills, by joining the commission's Beat the Peak program, according to Reese Helms.

Helms, manager of the commission's Energy Conservation Department said, "We've received about 1,800 Beat the Peak applications so far and expect to reach the 2,500 mark within the next few weeks."

Beat the Peak is a load management program designed to fight the rising cost of electrical power by reducing the high summer peak demand. High peaks result in overall higher power costs.

"If we can reduce our summer peaks by five megawatts or more," according to Helms, "we can reduce annual power costs by several hundred thousand dollars. We can also help to slow down the pace of electricity rate increases," he pointed out.

Residential customers who volunteer for Beat the Peak receive a $7.50 deduction from their June, July, August and September utility bills. These savings will be repeated each year, "and may possibly increase in future years," Helms emphasized.

He noted that the program is available to residential customers who have both electric water heaters and central air conditioning or heat pump units.

Radio controlled switches are installed on the appliances so they may be cut off for short periods of time by GUC to reduce the peak load on the system.

Helms said customers who wish to volunteer for Beat the Peak may call the GUC office or apply in person.

Life Magazine Planning Rebirth

By G.G. LaBelle
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "What's Life?" the old joke began. "A magazine," was the reply. And a magazine it will be again. Time Inc. announced Monday that it would begin publishing Life again in October. The publication — in its old 13½-by-10½-inch page size with the familiar white-on-red title, is the latest step in the rebirth of American magazines.

Recapture 2 Escapees

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Two convicts were recaptured by local and state authorities Monday several hours after they overpowered the 72-year-old sheriff of Bladen County as he was taking them to Central Prison.

Sheriff John B. Allen suffered chest pains following the escape and was taken to the cardiac intensive care unit of Wake Medical Center for observation. A spokesman said doctors were uncertain whether he had a heart attack.

The convicts, Donnie Ray Hall, 25, and Eddie Haims, 35, were apprehended near the spot where they escaped following an intense search by heavily armed officers.

Authorities said Allen, who plans to retire in December after 32 years as sheriff, was transporting the men to the prison in Raleigh to begin serving sentences they had received last week. They apparently slipped out of their handcuffs and leg irons and overpowered Allen in the Garner area.

Following a six-hour hunt, two state correction department officers found Hall hiding in a kitchen cabinet in Garner United Methodist Church. He was armed with the sheriff's .357 magnum pistol but surrendered without resistance, the two said.

Several officers spotted Haims running behind a hedge-row behind the church about a half hour later and Sam Garrison, warden of Central Prison, pulled him from a tangle of vines.

Hall was sentenced in Bladen County superior court last week to 15 years in prison after pleading guilty to breaking into two homes in the White Oak community. Haims was sentenced to 8 to 10 years for hitting a man on the head with a baseball bat.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

How I envy my best friend. She's married to an impulsive Instamatic-in-the-shirt-pocket photographer who optimistically shoots the Grand Canyon through the car window going 35 mph.

I married a self-destructive Nikkormat with zoom lens who insisted I delay the birth of our first child until he could get a decent light reading.

There is no ledge too precarious . . . no mountain too inaccessible . . . no area too obscure. When there is a dog with one ear up, time stands still.

The dog-with-one-ear-up shot is only one of several favorites of my husband. We have two traysfuls of slides of dogs with one ear up that has been known to sedate hyperactive children in which doctors had given up hope.

Another "trick" shot that is a perennial is the state line shot, in which the subject is shown pointing to the sign that says, "WELCOME TO INDIANA" (ILLINOIS, COLORADO, NEW YORK, FLORIDA, TEXAS, and 44 more).

For humor, there is nothing that rivals my husband's restroom shots. These are little "candid" of the family coming "spectacular news events; people, famous and not, captured in memorable moments; the beauties and mysteries of nature, science and medicine; the world of arts, architecture, sport and fashion."

out of the restroom, frowning, pulling down apparel, checking zippers — and there is one wonderful one of me with toilet tissue dragging on my shoe that I would kill for the negative.

The shots at the zoo are always fun. Especially if you're a rump man. My husband feels that it's an artistic side of the animal that points out his muscular mobility.

I contend it's an opinion. The zoom lens has done for our marriage what Farrah Fawcett has done for hairnets. I feel that zoom lenses should be registered only to professionals and never left in the hands of Sunday afternoon photographers. I don't want to labor the point, but I will only state publicly that I have burned the green plaid slacks that from the rear look like a slipcover for a Buick.

Yesterday, I saw a man take an indoor picture with no flash of six people in front of an aquarium . . . just after he had dropped his camera.

Now there's a man I could spend the rest of my life with.

Re-Affirm No Cover-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee says there was no coverup of an investigation of Rep. Joshua Eilberg, the congressman who asked President Carter to speed the ouster of David Marston as U.S. attorney in Philadelphia.

In a report issued Monday, the Judiciary Committee said no coverup was possible because Eilberg was not under investigation when he called Carter Nov. 4.

The report is expected to win Senate confirmation this week for Benjamin R. Civiletti as deputy attorney general.

Civiletti's confirmation hearings were used by Republican committee members to investigate the dismissal of Marston and Carter's role in the firing.

Opponents of Civiletti said that Marston's office was investigating Eilberg at the time of the telephone call.

But the committee reported testimony and documents showed Eilberg's name did not surface in the investigation until Dec. 19 — after the call to Carter.

The report also said Eilberg had been requesting Marston's dismissal since the Carter administration took office in January 1977, so his call to the president "did not trigger any unusual reaction."

The panel added the matter was not in Civiletti's area of responsibility since he headed the department's criminal division. The committee voted 10-2 on April 14 to recommend Civiletti's confirmation.

Tax-Exempt Status Of Academy Is Recognized

GREENSBORO — The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has issued a ruling recognizing the tax-exempt status of Karl B. Pace Academy in Greenville.

The tax-exempt status was granted after the school announced a racially non-discriminatory policy in admission of students to all activities of the school, the IRS said.

According to the IRS announcement, "The school has published its racially non-discriminatory admissions policy in newspapers of general circulation in the area that the school is located.

"Where a school has publicly announced a racially non-discriminatory policy, the IRS will assume that such a policy has been adopted and will be maintained in good faith."

The IRS maintains a vigorous program of auditing tax exempt organizations, and examinations of private schools take into account all complaints from the public or information from other sources that would indicate non-compliance with assurances made by the school to the IRS.

If an examination indicated that a school has not administered its non-discriminatory policy in good faith, the tax exempt status of the school will be challenged.

The IRS said, "Should an existing ruling to a private school be revoked, persons contributing to the school will be allowed to deduct contributions made before the date of the IRS notice of withdrawal of advance assurance of deductibility."

The IRS added, "This assurance of deductibility of prior contributions does not extend to persons who know or are responsible for activities that result in disqualification of the organization."

Candidates Report On Their Campaign Funds

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The latest campaign financial reports filed by U.S. Senate candidates with the state Board of Elections show receipts of $14,301 by Lawrence Davis and $3,410 by John Ingram this month.

Davis, Ingram and Joe Felmet, three of the eight Democrats seeking their party's Senate nomination May 2, and incumbent Republican Jesse Helms had reports on file with the board Monday.

Candidates were scheduled to file reports earlier this month for the first three months of the year and federal election laws required a report last Saturday for the period from April 1 to April 17.

Davis reported expenditures of $17,843 for the latest period, bringing his total for the year to $107,261. He has reported total receipts of $84,109 this year, debts of $41,311 and accounts receivable of $4,714.

Among the debts listed by Davis are a $22,000 loan from his personal finances and $14,802 to Walker and Associates of Memphis for campaign consulting work.

Ingram's report showed $5,565 in expenditures for the period and debts of $2,958. It raised his total campaign receipts to $26,968 and expenditures to $25,571.

Helms, who is opposed for the GOP nomination, reported receipts of $178,880 and expenditures of $146,485 during the first 17 days April. His campaign contributions and expenditures for the year exceed $1 million each in addition to about $2.2 million in 1977.

A large portion of the contributions came from out-of-state sources.

Helms, Ingram and Davis all reported a contribution from the North Carolina Medical Political Education and Action Committee of Raleigh.

Helms listed a $2,500 contribution from the committee while Ingram reported $1,000 and Davis $500 from the group. Felmet reported contributions of $3,340.20 and expenditures of $9,609.50 since January 1977.

Nader Opposes Liability Limit

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader, comparing "bodily rights" to civil rights, says a bill before the Connecticut Legislature would "deprive the people of their rights to health and safety."

On Monday, Nader urged defeat of a bill that would limit the types of product liability cases that could be brought and increase the defenses that industries may use against such suits. The insurance industry is lobbying heavily for the bill.

Self-Proclaimed Doctor Is Fined

BLUE RIDGE, Ga. (AP) — A self-proclaimed doctor who treated patients with water, lemon juice and carrot juice for arthritis and cancer has been fined $4,000 and placed on three years probation.

Carey A. Reams, who operated the now-closed Interfaith Christian Church in Hell's Hollow, pleaded guilty Monday before Superior Court Judge Richard Neville to a felony charge of practicing medicine without a license and three misdemeanor charges.

Respond To 73 Fires In County

During March the rural fire departments in Pitt County answered 89 alarms, with 73 fires.

There were 13 houses, six mobile homes, four buildings, 10 motor vehicles, 26 grass or woods fires, three false alarms, 11 "others" and 16 instances of mutual aid.

Some $741,600 was involved in fires, with $2,341,500 worth of property exposed to fire; $304,250 lost; and $2,778,850 saved by the rural fire departments, Pitt County Fire Marshal Bobby Joyner said.

Staton House Fire Departments had the most calls, 10, he indicated.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Parliament has given first approval to legislation authorizing female succession to the Swedish throne, opening the way for 9-month-old Princess Victoria to succeed her father, King Carl XVI Gustaf.

The succession is a constitutional question that must be approved by two successive parliaments, so the legislation must be adopted again by the legislature that will be elected in September 1979.

The bill provides that the monarch will be succeeded by the oldest surviving child, whether male or female, and by a female even if she has younger brothers.

Three-Legged Hose Are Tried

By MARK ANDERSON
HONOLULU (UPI) — The big news in lingerie this spring is three-legged pantyhose.

Bea Weil thought they were a joke when a friend vacationing in Europe sent her a set.

"I opened the package ... and wondered, 'Why is she going to so much trouble just to mail me pantyhose?'" Mrs. Weil recalled in an interview. "Then ... I realized I was holding one leg of hosiery ... Then I saw the second leg and began reading the instructions, telling how they were single-leg pantyhose and each leg could be put on separately."

When one leg develops a run or a hole, you discard it and pull on the spare. Each leg is attached to its own waistband.

Mrs. Weil showed the hose to her husband, Phillip, whose background includes advertising, publishing, marketing and tour consulting.

He saw commercial possibilities, did some quick market research and found 60 million dozen pantyhose are sold annually in the United States.

So the Weils formed their own company, Take Three Inc., acquired United States patent rights to the three-legged design and began test-marketing their product last year in Hawaii.

"The response was fabulous," Mrs. Weil said. "My greatest thrill has been the reaction from women who see our pantyhose for the first time and exclaim, 'Why didn't somebody think of this a long time ago?'"

Their new product was introduced in southern California in March. The Weils say it will become available soon in other major markets, including Denver, Chicago and Dallas. Nationwide distribution is planned by the end of the year.

Economy, convenience and comfort are not the only advantages of three-legged pantyhose. They could relieve certain vaginal disorders that some conventional pantyhose reportedly aggravate. Because the three-legged kind are crotchless, "proper ventilation can prevent irritation," says George Goto, a Honolulu physician.

In Los Angeles, one department store clerk reported a

YES, THREE-LEGGED! Pantyhosiery has become practical, with some that don't become obsolete with one leg picks or run. Enterprising people make their own, though, as related story points out. (UPI illustration) very good response from shoppers, but said she hadn't tried them herself.

Marjorie Wallace, visiting Los Angeles from her home in Regina, Saskatchewan, Can., said she wasn't interested in the new product because she makes her own. She buys two pairs of regular pantyhose at a time. When one leg develops a run, she cuts it off and saves the good one until a leg of the second pair runs.

In New York City, a trade source expressed skepticism about the product's chances for success. The source said a similar product had been test-marketed in the United States a few years ago and flopped. But he added that traditional pantyhose had taken a year to catch on.

When Rachel has friends stay over, which is often, her visitor shares the family's regular meal, food such as homemade burgers, spaghetti with meat sauce or pizza.

In the current magazine article, the editors say they think it would be very difficult for many families to follow as strict a plan, avoiding impulse purchases, going without the steaks and chops thousands of Americans take for granted, eating many bland foods and the same foods over and over again.

"I'm not trying to tell people what to do," Mrs. York said. "Everybody's family is different. They're different ages, sizes, they have different interests.

"My book was meant to be a guide, to help people cope with inflation.

"You can't get a young child to eat spicy food. But my kids eat a lot more variety than their friends."

Jeanne Voltz, the magazine's food editor, confirmed that the Yorks do eat a greater variety of vegetables than the average American family. But there is room for improvement, Mrs. Voltz said, because the vegetables lacking are the dark green types most neglected in most other Americans' diets.

"I think she has some very good ideas about serving things such as green peppers as snacks," Mrs. Voltz added. "And she's doing her family a service by not overfeeding."

From Term Paper Topic, Death Obsession Grew

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: A classmate of mine who lives down the block is slowly driving me up a wall. Here's how it all started:

A few months ago we both started taking an extension course in human behavior at a nearby university. When it came time to pick topics for term papers, this guy I know picked the subject of death. Ever since then I've had it up to my ears with questions like, "Shirley, would you rather die in a plane crash or in an auto accident?" Or, "Would you rather drown or burn to death?"

He's a nice guy, but he has become so preoccupied with death that he's driving me crazy. Every time I see him, he starts in with these depressing questions about death. I've tried avoiding him, but unless I drop the course (which is almost over), it's going to be impossible.

What should I do? I feel like telling him to leave a hearse and leave town.

SHIRLEY

DEAR SHIRLEY: Tell your friend that you'd rather die by drowning, accident or fire than be bored to death. And he is becoming a colossal bore.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, living on a fixed and very limited income. I have a neighbor who is always hounding me to buy raffle tickets, greeting cards, cosmetics, etc. I can't afford to buy things I neither want nor need, although I've bought a few things just to get rid of her. Please help me. I am running out of excuses, and she is very persistent.

SUMMERVILLE, GA.

DEAR SUMMERVILLE: As long as you offer excuses instead of reasons, your neighbor will continue to hound you. Simply tell her that you can't afford it, and that will be the end of it.

DEAR ABBY: I know you hear from plenty of children who wish their parents wouldn't interfere in their lives so much, but what do you think of parents who expect their children who have left the nest to call and write, but who never phone their children or scribble a note to find out how the children are doing?

I am constantly in touch with my parents, as are my older brothers and sisters, yet we feel rather hurt that they don't, on occasion, contact us. It would be nice to think that maybe they wonder how we weathered the last crisis or how the new job is going. Just because we've grown up and out of their hair shouldn't mean that we've also gone out of their thoughts. I'm always hearing how they're doing when I call, but seldom do I get a thoughtful, "How's everything going with you?" I'd sure appreciate your thoughts on this.

SET ADRIFT

DEAR SET: Are you putting me on? Many more children who have flown the nest neglect their parents than the other way around. Stop sulking in silence. Speak up. To THEM—not to me!

$20 Weekly Miracles Part Of Her Plan

By JEANNE LESEME
UPI Family Editor

Jo Ann York performs the impossible on a weekly basis. She feeds her family of four on $20 a week, take or leave a few pennies. Her budget has risen only $4 in three years, Mrs. York said in a telephone interview from her home in Gaithersburg, Md.

Her inflation-fighting plan first gained national attention in 1975 when a book she wrote about it was published and a book condensation appeared in "Woman's Day" magazine.

Both publications generated a lot of reader response, Mrs. York said, "about 20 percent critical, 80 percent positive."

"I got three or four real hate letters," she said, without rancor. "One called me 'a terrible mother' and asked how I could give my son green peppers to snack on. 'You ought to give your children a peanut butter sandwich and a glass of milk after school,' the letter said."

Her son likes green peppers, she said.

Many of the positive letters were from retirees with simple tastes and fixed incomes, she added.

The May 19 issue of "Woman's Day" now on news-stands brings readers up-to-date on the family's food thrift plan.

When Mrs. York first began it, her husband was unemployed. He now is a haberdashery salesman and she works part time at home for a book publisher.

She said she still cooks everything from scratch except some day-old products she buys at a bakery thrift store. What she cannot use immediately she freezes.

"We live from paycheck to paycheck," she said. "We could eat fancier and we could spend more but we don't need to."

She uses coupons only for products she would buy anyway.

She buys only what she needs, even among products selling four for $1, for example. She keeps servings small, but no one goes hungry. All four Yorks are shorter than average and slim — and healthy. But, "there's an awful lot of heart disease on both sides of the family," she said — one reason why she is concerned about good nutrition and the quantity and types of food they eat.

"When I wrote the book," Mrs. York said, "we had meat, fish or poultry more often. Now we have it about once or twice a month."

She looks for reduced-price produce, makes lists and sticks to them, keeps a small separate budget for non-foods and the little home entertaining they do.

"Usually cards, coffee, cakes, that type of thing," she said. Their friends are not dinner party givers, either. The children's grandparents sometimes come for meals, "but that evens itself out," she added.

Peer pressure is beginning to be felt by the children.

"Rachel will sometimes say wistfully, 'Can I have Kool-aid like Mary?'" Mrs. York said. "But most of their friends don't eat junk food."

"They've grown up with this (eating situation) and they don't put much pressure on me," she said, although they sometimes ask for a powdered drink mix or packaged cupcakes like those their peers eat.

When Rachel has friends stay over, which is often, her visitor shares the family's regular meal, food such as homemade burgers, spaghetti with meat sauce or pizza.

A Long Wait For Celebrating

The Highway 264 Association is holding a Spring four-lane celebration at the Washington Moose Lodge Wednesday night.

It's called a celebration because at last approval has been won from the Department of Transportation for dual laning of U.S. 264 from Wilson to Greenville.

That's plenty to celebrate. In the past we have only been able to dream about a better highway along the U. S. 264 route to Zebulon, and then on U. S. 64 into Raleigh.

We dreamed while the highway money went elsewhere.

Now, however, we actually can expect to see a dual laned road through this part of the east.

The association should not celebrate too much, though, because there is still plenty of work to be done on getting the best possible road constructed.

Ideally it should be a limited access road on a new corridor. That is the only kind of highway which is going to adequately serve our area on into the 21st Century.

Almost anything that is done to improve U.S. 264 is a giant step forward, and we are ready to celebrate what has been accomplished.

This is certainly no time for the Highway 264 Association to become complacent, however. It is still going to take everything everyone can do in order to get the kind of east-west highway we need.

Pitt County Moving Into New Program

The county commissioners took the first step last week to begin a solid waste program to serve the county.

The commissioners approved construction of two container sites — one at Farmville and the other between Ayden and Grifton.

Under the program 40-cubic-foot bulk containers will be used, and they will be strategically placed so that rural residents won't have long drives to dispose of solid waste.

The containers themselves will be hauled to the landfill by county crews.

We are actually moving into a solid waste disposal program, and our entire county should be cleaner in the future.

Schools Can Cut Violence

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — Results of a major study of violence, vandalism and criminal behavior in the public schools of the nation really surprised no one: students and teachers are in danger, and the learning process impaired.

But the conclusions of that project carried out by the Research Triangle Institute here in North Carolina didn't receive nearly enough public attention.

Dr. David Bayless, project director and senior statistical scientist at Research Triangle Institute, puts it bluntly this way: "Where firm, fair and consistent school governance exists, where the rules are known and disciplinary measures enforced, crime and violence are low."

The purpose of the report prepared for the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education, and Welfare was not so much to document what everybody already knew. It really only confirmed the broadspread, commonsense knowledge that school people and parents already possessed.

But the extensive document is an important contribution to getting a strong grip on the issue," says Bayless.

What To Do?

What to do to bring the schools under control? In the February issue of "Hypotenuse" magazine published by the Research Triangle Institute, Bayless expands on that question.

"All the evidence from the survey and personal visits identifies the principal as the key to overcoming a school's problems," he believes. "Effective, even-handed governance is the best answer for a troubled school ... and the principal is the linchpin holding it all together."

Bayless said case studies were done "in some pretty tough places. We found the principal's leadership made the difference between safe and unsafe schools."

It is not known what corrective or preventive action may come from the Federal level, nor even how successful such may prove. But local communities can find in the report many guidelines for effective, immediate action. Here are some of the directions:

School crime and disruption must be openly recognized as significant problems and given public attention and concern so that a response can be planned and financed.

Risks of violence decrease when teachers and administrators establish personal relationships with the students.

Acts of violence against other students is most likely to come from students who have given up on school, don't care about grades, and feel nothing matters.

Vandalism, however, is more likely in competitive school situations where students consider grades and leadership positions important, and build resentments over unfair grading or structural activities.

Snap, Crackle And Pop

WASHINGTON — In the annals of historic litigation, this week marks a couple of neat anniversaries. It is almost six years to the day since the Federal Trade Commission filed its complaint against the cereal manufacturers; and it is almost two years to the day since trial of that monumental asininity began.

The case merits a few moments of your time. The FTC's attack upon Kellogg, General Foods and General Mills provides a classic example of bureaucratic power gone berserk. Here the whole power, weight and majesty of the federal government have been hurled against the makers of Rice Krispies, Wheaties and Grape-Nuts.

The government's oxymoron theory is that the three companies (Quaker Oats originally provided a fourth) have a "shared monopoly" of the ready-to-eat cereal industry. A shared monopoly is a creature of law not hitherto identified on land or sea. Nevertheless this supposed shared monopoly is said to be a violation of Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act. The section

Other Editors Say Aura Of Coverup

(Greensboro Record)

For days in advance of the Washington march in behalf of the Ben Chavis Gang (also known as the Wilmington 10), the Communist Daily World tooted the cause on page one. "We must make our strength felt", trumpeted Henry Winston, national chairman of the Communist Party, USA. "Every Communist, every trade union, church, campus organization, civil rights and civil liberties group, (and) ethnic group must be brought into this fight."

Nothing remarkable about his clarion call, surely, inasmuch as the Washington march was organized by the National Alliance Against Racist and Political Repression, an affiliate of the Communist party — which affiliation neither the NAARPR nor the Communists try to hide. What is remarkable however, is the respectful treatment the organizers received from the American press.

"It is hard to believe," remarks National Review staffer Kevin Lynch, "that Courtland Milloy works for the same paper that gave the world Woodward and Bernstein." Mr. Milloy covered the march for the esteemed Washington Post. Like most of the press, the Post neglected to mention the connection between the marchers and the Communists — sort of like neglecting to mention the connection between Skokie goosesteppers and the neo-Nazi movement.

Among the principal figures at the Washington rally was Pete Seeger, guitar-picking Pied Piper of radical causes. The Post story kissed him off as a "folk singer." Angela Davis was there, too, assuring the faithful that she hadn't "felt this good in a long, long time" — possibly not since the day the jury sprang her for complicity in the kidnap-murder of old Judge Whatsizname during the Marin County shootout. The Post did not think it worthwhile to inform its readers that Ms. Davis was a member of the Central Committee of the Communist Party, USA. It described her simply as an "activist."

None of this has much to do with the guilt or innocence of the Wilmington 10, to be sure. That already has been decided through due process. But it has a lot to do with the nature of the campaign to vindicate the criminals — and, we blush to admit, with the quality, fairness, and detachment of the American press.

prohibits "unfair methods of competition."

Proceeding on this dubious proposition, the FTC six years ago launched a massive campaign of discovery. Government lawyers hit the defendant companies with demands for thousands of documents. On two occasions, they came and rummaged through company files. Finally after prolonged fumbling, FTC prosecutors went to trial on April 26, 1976.

Since then, 28,000 pages of testimony have accumulated. The government, which at first had promised to call 179 witnesses, wound up by calling 62 only. Several of them did the government's case no good. Thus far — and we are roughly at the halfway point — Administrative Law Judge Harry R. Hinkes has presided over 200 trial days. The defendants have spent upwards of $20 million in counsel fees, travel expenses and other costs.

The whole thing is incredible. The case evokes memories of the fictional case of Jarmyoe v. Jarmyoe that Dickens created in "Bleak House". It ranks with the notorious Great Vitamin Case before the Food and Drug Administration ten years ago. It is possible, but unlikely at this point, that Hinkes could call it quits by granting a motion to dismiss. What is more probable is that the defendants' case will drag on for a couple of years; then Hinkes will write an initial decision that will be reviewed by the full FTC. If the manufacturers lose, they surely will appeal to the federal appellate courts. Another ten years could slip by before the case ends.

And all for what? The government's demand is that Kellogg, largest of the three remaining defendants, commit a kind of corporate harakiri. Kellogg would have to spin off three new, autonomous corporations with exclusive rights to manufacture Rice Krispies, Special K and other established brands. General Mills would have to surrender Wheaties to new owners of its

THE INSIDE REPORT

Entering SALT Quagmire

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The quagmire that President Carter is about to enter in the battle of SALT II is depicted by a secret State Department working paper that contradicts both publicly stated policy and expert opinion.

The working paper asserts that the Minuteman, the U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM), can survive Soviet attack through the 1980s if the holy opposed protocol to SALT II is extended. Yet Carter administration officials are selling the prospective new treaty on grounds that the protocol need not be extended when it expires in 1980. Moreover, Pentagon experts say there is no way SALT II — protocol or no protocol — can protect the Minuteman from Soviet attack.

These contradictions pose the central question about the new strategic arms limitation treaty (SALT) nearing completion: would the United States be less or more secure because of SALT II? The intrigue that lies ahead in debating that question may well make the President look back at his just-completed Panama Canal agony with nostalgic pleasure.

A key figure is Sen. Henry M. Jackson. Without his support, Mr. Carter will find it difficult if not impossible to win the two-thirds Senate vote for ratification. Jackson privately says SALT II so preserves and augments Soviet strategic advantages that he cannot back it.

Yet White House strategists find a ray of hope toward winning over Jackson and other defense-oriented Senators. Jackson finds nothing all that onerous in the treaty itself, which would expire in 1985. He objects to the protocol, expiring in 1980, which prohibits mobile missiles (as well as limiting cruise missiles).

The restriction on mobile missiles becomes decisive because recent Soviet missile tests reveal a dramatic breakthrough in accuracy of Soviet SS-18 and SS-19 ICBMs. Based on that breakthrough, some Pentagon analysts now estimate that the Minuteman would be vulnerable to Soviet attack by the early 1980s. Put in plain language, that means a major element in U.S. strategic deterrence will be unable to survive a Soviet surprise attack as early as three years from now.

The antidote is to change the present Minuteman silos and develop mobile missiles (pushing ahead the now suspended MX survivable ICBM basing system). But all such activity would be prohibited by SALT II, which does permit the Soviet Union to transform single-warhead missiles into hundreds of multiplewarheads and thereby threaten the Minuteman.

The answer considered by White House strategists is to make clear that the MX is prohibited only until the protocol expires (in 1980 by U.S. calculations, later by Russian). The Scoop Jacksons can be reassured that MX development will begin then.

Thus the State Department SALT working paper (dated March 7 and titled "The Viability of the U.S. Strategic Deterrence") comes like a warning signal in the night: "The constraints on qualitative improvements to the Soviet ICBMs in the draft SALT protocol have the potential to improve the Minuteman survivability problem as long as the protocol is extended beyond 1980... We estimate that extending the protocol might increase the theoretical number of Minuteman survivors in 1986 from about 100 to about 200."

This claim that SALT II can save the Minuteman echoes two secret studies prepared by academically-oriented theoreticians for the President. A White House contracted study (called the Press Report after president)

Strength For Today

PREPAREDNESS

Throughout our history, when rumors of war were flying, there was much talk about "preparedness." The word referred, of course, to our posture — or lack of it — in military affairs. But quite apart from the military connotations, preparedness is of vital importance when we face our moral, intellectual, and even spiritual problems.

The great teachers of the past have always known the value of preparedness. One of the striking lines in Hamlet is the Danish prince's statement, before the final scene, "The readiness is all." And the gospels are full of Jesus's parables on the subject. We think in this connection about the foolish virgins and the absent master and his servants.

No person can expect always to escape troubles or even disasters. But these events may be foreseen and prepared for. And the strength that comes from readiness can go far toward meeting and averting the blows when they fall.

Given Time, Investments Grow

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "When you invest over a long period of time, just a small amount of money grows into a big sum," said Tom O'Hara, chairman of the National Association of Investment Clubs.

Members of the Mutual Investment Club of Detroit know this. At their first meeting in February 1940 the six organizers deposited $10 each. Each of those deposits is now worth $793.82.

One of the original members invested irregularly during the first 8 years of the club's existence, and has made only sporadic investments in recent years. But his $8,124 investment is worth $83,783.

Another member who joined a year later has deposited $8,238 to date. He has withdrawn $6,000 from his account, but it still has a current worth of $85,696.

O'Hara, who was a founder of that club, reports that the 16 current members have deposited $112,929, have drawn out $193,643, and as of March 31 still had $502,000 on hand.

Over the years members have withdrawn funds for housing, for education and for other essentials and emergencies. They have in a sense lived the biblical parable of the multiplication of the fishes.

Interest is growing again in investment clubs after some relatively bad times when the stock market fell out of popular favor. As small investors withdrew from the market, many clubs were disbanded.

But thousands kept going, and many of them managed not just to survive but to roll up extraordinary gains, if not on a month-to-month basis then frequently in the comparison of one year with another.

Did the Detroit club discover some dazzling insight into the market? Hardly. They discovered some fundamental truths, the kind that many small investors ignore in their eagerness to make a fortune.

First off, they learned patience: that time is important, that time cannot be hurried. People who invest for a quick killing, they learned, often find they have slain themselves.

Those who have patience, however, often find their stocks grow as the economy expands, and often at a much faster pace. And the sole obligation of the investor is to ride along with that growth.

Learning from their experience in the founding club, O'Hara and his associates developed a philosophy that now underlies the thinking of almost all member clubs.

First, the stocks selected for consideration almost always are those of companies growing faster than the industry of which they are a part. And, of course, the industries chosen are also growing solidly.

Second, members are encouraged to deposit a certain amount each month, and all the cash on hand each month is invested.

Third, all dividends and proceeds from sale of stock are reinvested. No dividends are declared by the clubs; all the money goes right back into the market.

If applied, such a philosophy means no in-out trading. Solid stocks are acquired, and held. Short-term fluctuations are all but ignored. So are fads. And as a consequence, commission costs are held down.

Senate Primary Campaign Keeps Bruising Touches

By WILLIAM M. WELCH
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Democratic Senate candidate McNeill Smith, renewing his charge that opponent Luther Hodges Jr. has waffled on issues, accused Hodges Monday of telling college students he had tried marijuana and later denying it.

A spokesman for Hodges, campaign manager George Autry, promptly charged Smith with "desperation tactics" and said Hodges had never smoked marijuana.

The latest exchange of verbal blasts came as candidates began their final week of campaigning before the May 2 primary. Voters have an eight-candidate field from which to choose an opponent for Republican incumbent Jesse Helms.

Meanwhile Hodges, the acknowledged frontrunner, questioned President Carter's decisions to delay production of the neutron bomb and to sell F-15 fighter planes to Saudi Arabia. It came in what Hodges aides called a major foreign policy statement to the Raleigh Lions Club.

Insurance commissioner John Ingram called a news conference Monday to blast the findings of a poll published Sunday by the News and Observer of Raleigh, which showed Hodges with a healthy lead and Ingram a distant second place. Ingram also used the opportunity to again blast Hodges as "the special interest banker candidate."

Smith, in a statement in Charlotte, said Hodges made the remark about marijuana to about 35 University of North Carolina students last Wednesday in Chapel Hill.

"When asked if he had ever smoked marijuana, Luther said he had tried it but nothing had happened and he'd not smoked since," Smith said. "Immediately after the talk a reporter asked Luther if he had really smoked marijuana. He said, no, he really hadn't, but he couldn't tell those students that."

Hodges, who was campaigning in Raleigh as Smith made the accusations, could not be reached for comment later, but Autry said the incident apparently grew out of a session Hodges had with students after a beer-blast rally for the candidate on the UNC campus.

"He has not tried it," Autry said. "Luther is not and never has been a marijuana smoker." Autry said Hodges does not support legalization of marijuana. Autry also said he did not know exactly what Hodges said to the students.

Earlier, Hodges said in his prepared speech that he was concerned about the buildup of Soviet troops on the perimeter of western Europe and believed the neutron bomb should be in this country's arsenal.

"For one thing, the neutron bomb is obviously a useful bargaining chip for the United States in its negotiations with the Soviets. For another, the weapon is, like it or not, extremely effective in penetrating the armor hide of all those Soviet tanks," Hodges said.

Lawrence Davis campaigned in Charlotte Monday, and spoke to a group of elderly persons at a retirement apartment complex. Davis repeated his campaign theme that the federal deficit is the cause of inflation, and said inflation hits hardest on senior citizens.

Meanwhile Ingram said the newspaper's poll was "an attempt to manipulate this campaign" and was "biased" because it was conducted by N&O employees. The poll showed Hodges ahead in the Democratic race with 34 percent, Ingram second with 12 percent and 42 percent still undecided.

News and Observer Editor Claude Sitton had no comment on Ingram's remarks. Dr. Robert L. Stevenson of the University of North Carolina School of Journalism, who directed the poll under contract with the newspaper, said in an interview that the employees were clerical workers on the paper's business staff.

Answering questions, Ingram said his wife has real estate holdings worth "less than $20,000," and owns no stocks or bonds. He said her only other holdings are two automobiles and "some personal property."

Ingram was the only one of the four leading candidates in the Democratic primary who earlier released a statement of personal finances without including his wife's holdings. He lashed out at Hodges last week, accusing him of a "mudslinging attack" on his wife, as a result of Hodges' comments published in an Associated Press story on personal finances of the candidates.

Hodges was questioned about the remark at his news conference Monday. "I do not know exactly what I said. I know for one thing I was not attacking her or criticizing her in any way," he said.

In the original AP interview, published last week, Hodges said, "The truth is I have no ties to anybody. I've disclosed my finances totally. You all let him get away with disclosing just himself and not him and his wife."

"I did my wife. Smith did his wife's...But the main point is Ingram's wife is worth a lot of money. You all let him get away with it," he said.

The remarks were in response to a question, and Hodges added, "I'm not leveling any charges."

of their close association with their governments. For example, China's Tang Mingchao, undersecretary-general for political affairs and decolonization, lives in the Chinese Mission building where all Chinese diplomats stay in New York.

Shevchenko also called frequently at the Soviet Mission on his way to and from work and followed the Moscow policy line strictly.

An undersecretary-general from Western Europe, who prefers to remain anonymous, says there should be "some flexibility" in upholding the concept of an independent civil service for the 149-nation community.

"Given the diverse political situations in member countries, I don't think we can apply any hard-and-fast rule. We should try to deal with glaring violations only — like attempts by some government leaders to place relatives and friends in U.N. posts or the substitution of political favoritism for merit in promotions."

South Chicago plant. The requested suicide at General Mills is not so specific.

In addition, the defendants would have to grant royalty-free licenses to any qualified company that came along. If the defendants developed a new product, within five years the trademark would have to be made available to others. All this somehow would promote fresh competition in one of the most competitive of all American industries.

The bureaucrats and theoretical specialists responsible for this bizarre proceeding have strange notions of monopoly. They have not produced evidence of any conspiracy either to fix prices or to keep newcomers out of the cereal business. On the contrary, witnesses have conceded that Quaker Oats managed to penetrate the market with great success, and that makers of natural "health foods" cereals also have found a degree of customer acceptance.

Barring some unforeseen collapse of the case, by consent agreement or otherwise, ultimately the issue of "shared monopoly" will have to be judicially resolved. If the Supreme Court accepts the theory, much of American industry could be in trouble. Automobiles, TV networks, office copiers — these and many others are dominated by a few successful companies. This is how a competitive and efficient marketplace works, and this is precisely what the FTC prosecutors, in their clumsy way, propose to destroy.

tial science adviser Frank Press) denied any "imminent" threat to the Minuteman, which "will remain a significant survivable component of the U.S. deterrent throughout most of the 1980s." A Defense Department-contracted study (called the Jason Report) is even more blunt: "Present Soviet strategic forces pose no threat to the Minuteman."

The response by Pentagon experts has been sheer outrage. Internal memoranda at the Defense Department contend the two studies reach "unsubstantiated, opinionated and unfounded conclusions" and "indulge in propaganda-like statements." Defense Department officials have not minced words in closed-door testimony on Capitol Hill: the Minuteman is quickly becoming vulnerable.

But is the President getting this word. Pentagon experts doubt it. And if Mr. Carter believes the Minuteman is truly protected under the protocol of SALT II, he becomes entwined in a mass of contradictions from which there is no easy escape.

If the Minuteman can survive through the 1980s, why do the Pentagon experts say otherwise? If it cannot, will he promise development of mobile missiles once the protocol expires? If he does, what about State Department claims that the protocol protects the Minuteman? How, then, can Sen. Jackson's concerns about Soviet strategic advantages be satisfied consistent with pushing SALT II? Jimmy Carter may yet yearn for the classic simplicity of wrestling with the De Conoini amendment.

Rescued Child Later Succumbs

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — John David Council, a 3-year-old Fayetteville boy who was rescued and revived Sunday after falling into Lake Wylie, died Monday at Charlotte Memorial Hospital.

The youngster apparently was under water four or five minutes after falling off a dock and was not breathing when the Steele Creek Rescue Squad arrived at the scene. He was revived on the way to the hospital.

"He was with a friend, a little girl about 11, and he just fell in," Mecklenburg County policeman O.D. Furr said. "He just got too close to the edge. I think they had a lot of trouble finding him in the water."

The boy and his mother, Barrie Council, were vacationing with friends at a cabin on the lake.

FOR UNCLE SAM — Former Senator Sam Ervin, D-N.C., says he agreed to make a commercial for American Express cards because the government needs the money. "You know," he said, "the government takes 53.5 percent of every dollar I make. I knew the government needed the money, so I figured I'd make some more from the commercial so I could pay my income tax." (AP Laserphoto)

The cost of fixing up your home, and how it can pay off.

Bathroom Remodeling $1,000-$3,000

12x15 Room Addition $6,000-$8,000

New Furnace $700-$1,500

Kitchen Remodeling $3,000-$6,000

Attic Insulation $250-$500

Enclosing 8x15 Porch $1,800-$3,000

The photos on the left give you an idea of the range of costs involved in fixing up areas of your home.

And any one of them could increase the value of your home by more than the money you spend.

Improved insulation, storm windows and doors can cut down on utility bills.

In many cases, making the home you're in now better fit your needs can cost a lot less than moving to a new one.

So come see us at NCNB. We'll work out the loan that works best for you.

Maybe a Home Improvement Loan. If you're making a big investment, it could be an NCNB Homeowner Loan.

It lets you use the equity in your home to borrow more than you expect — and make lower monthly payments than you expect, as you can see by the chart.

(In some cases, as much as 50% lower payments than you have with regular installment loans.)

AMOUNT FINANCED	NO. OF MONTHLY PAYMENTS	AMOUNT OF MONTHLY PAYMENT	TOTAL OF PAYMENTS
$ 3,000	60 (5 Yrs.)	$ 66.73	$ 4,003.80
$ 5,000	60 (5 Yrs.)	$ 111.22	$ 6,673.20
$ 5,000	84 (7 Yrs.)	$ 88.26	$ 7,413.84
$ 7,500	84 (7 Yrs.)	$ 132.40	$ 11,121.60
$ 10,000	84 (7 Yrs.)	$ 176.53	$ 14,828.52
$ 5,000	120 (10 Yrs.)	$ 71.74	$ 8,608.80
$ 7,500	120 (10 Yrs.)	$ 107.60	$ 12,912.00
$ 10,000	120 (10 Yrs.)	$ 143.47	$ 17,216.40

Annual Percentage Rate: 12%*

*Homeowner Loans involve certain closing costs which you will have to pay at the time the loan is made. Ask any NCNB Loan Officer for the full details.

The range of costs for improvements and additions depends on the extent of the job you want done. Estimates are for the finished job, including labor. These are average figures; the location, size and age of your house might mean higher or lower estimates.

Either way, we can set up payments that work for you. If you like, we can arrange automatic transfers from your NCNB Checking Account.

Whatever you need money for, the NCNB people who make loans will do more than help you out with credit; they'll help you manage the situation.

Which is probably why, in one way or another, more people borrow from us than any other bank in North Carolina.

Oral Roberts' Hospital Plans Under Heavy Fire

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A group calling itself Oklahoma's Deeply Concerned Citizens used a half-page advertisement in today's editions of the Daily Oklahoman to list a number of points in opposition to the construction of evangelist Oral Roberts' proposed City of Faith hospital in Tulsa.

Labeled an open letter to the three-member Oklahoma Health Planning Commission, the political campaign style advertisement's message begins with a bold print statement.

"It is not a question of what a promoter has done, or has not done but, whether Oklahoma should increase its already over-built hospital beds—our laws should be adhered to," the statement says.

Under the heading "Does Oklahoma need a new hospital?" the ad lists three "facts" the text claims are from an OHPC report.

The three passages deal with hospital occupancy rates and the cost effect of excess hospital beds.

The last section of the message to OHPC members carries the boldface heading "You can't ignore" and lists "1. Your own staff report. 2. (U.S. Health, Education and Welfare Secretary) Califano's statements about the subject. 3. The laws controlling the construction of excess hospital beds."

The advertisement lists R.C. Pattison and Oklahoma's Deeply Concerned Citizens as its sponsors.

Tulsa hospital officials and a spokesman for Oral Roberts University differed Monday on the impact of the OHPC staff report suggesting ORU incorrectly estimated the effect of its proposed new hospital.

The report, which is quoted in today's advertisement, said ORU may have miscalculated patient origin by 2,000 percent in some cases and said the hospital could cost existing Tulsa hospitals up to $6.8 million in lost revenues in 1981.

Wednesday, OHPC commissioners will use the report as a guide when they meet in Oklahoma City to consider an application for a certificate of need to build the City of Faith hospital.

James Harvey, a Tulsa Hospital Council spokesman, said the report "gives great credence" to the council's opposition to the hospital project.

"The facts are still the same," he said, adding that the hospital "would mean unnecessary duplication of hospital services in the Tulsa area. It would cause a reduction in patient load which means a reduction in income which leads to higher costs for the patient."

But an ORU official said he does not put much stock in the report.

Dr. James Winslow, vice provost for health affairs at the university, said he does not doubt the drawing power of the hospital.

"They (patients) are going to spill over. We're a lot more worried about people coming in here in greater numbers than we can handle," he said.

"We have a lot of things to worry about, but that's not one of them. We haven't over-estimated anything. We have been conservative on everything."

Luncheon To Honor Secretaries Day

A special luncheon will be given in honor of Secretaries Day on Wednesday, April 26, at the Ramada Inn, honoring area secretaries.

State Senator J. J. (Monk) Harrington of Lewiston, a manufacturer and president of Harrington Manufacturing Company, will be the featured speaker for the luncheon.

J.J. (MONK) HARRINGTON

Senator Harrington has served in the North Carolina General Assembly consecutively for 16 years, from 1963 through the 1977 Session. In 1968 he was made Chairperson of the Senate Committee on Transportation, a position which he has held for the last ten years. At the present time he is serving on the following interim committees: Legislative Services; North Carolina Utility Review; Consumer Products; and Housing and Building Codes.

The 27th Annual Secretaries Week is being observed, April 23-29, sponsored by the National Secretaries Association.

Fire Damaged Room, Contents

Greenville firemen were called to 1805 East Third St. about 1:48 a.m. today when fire erupted in a bedroom of the dwelling.

Officers, who listed the cause of the fire as undetermined, reported heavy fire and smoke damage resulted to the bedroom and its contents.

Six-Vehicle Mishap Reported

A six-vehicle mishap which caused more than $12,800 property damage, and the wreck of an ambulance at West End Circle, were among five traffic collisions investigated by Greenville Police yesterday that resulted in $17,850 property damage.

Drivers involved in the six-vehicle collision on Memorial Drive at the Fifth Street intersection about 7:35 a.m. were identified as: Christine Sneed Tyson, Route 6, Greenville; Myra Thomas McLawhorn, 110 Holly St.; Edward John Anderle, 105 South Baywood Ln.; Jimmy Davis Meadows, Route 1, Ayden; Ervin Augustus James Jr., 209 Josie Ln.; and Iva Laverne Taylor, Swansea, S.C.

Investigators said all of the vehicles were stopped at the intersection, with the exception of the truck driven by James, which collided with the McLawhorn, Anderle and Taylor vehicles, causing a chain reaction involving the Tyson and Meadows vehicles.

Officers, who charged James with improper equipment (brakes), estimated damage at $50 to the Tyson car, $100 to the McLawhorn car, $2,000 to the Ayderle car, and $2,000 to the Meadows truck and $200 to a small boat being pulled by the Meadows vehicle.

Damage to the truck driven by James was set at $1,000, while damage to the tractor-trailer truck driven by Taylor was estimated at $7,500.

An Ayden rescue truck driven by John Wells Billmyer Jr. of Ayden collided with a car driven by Margaret Rogers Chesson of Farmville about 5:15 p.m. at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Dickinson Avenue.

Police, who charged Billmyer with failing to yield the right of way, indicated the rescue vehicle had stopped at the intersection to allow traffic to clear, then pulled into the intersection and collided with the Chesson car which had the green light.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 to the Chesson car and $500 to the rescue truck.

Officers said no one was injured in the collision.

David Dixon Woodard of 101 Greenbriar Dr., was charged with failing to yield the right of way following investigation of a 5 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Greenville Boulevard and Hooker Road.

Investigators reported the Woodard car collided with an auto driven by Herman Earl West of Grifton, causing an estimated $550 damage to the West car and $1,800 damage to the Woodard vehicle.

Officers reported Phillip

Wayne Gibbs of 211 Hardee Cir. was injured when the motorcycle he was riding went out of control in a turn on Fairview Way near the Greenville Boulevard intersection about 10:25 a.m.

Damage to the motorcycle was estimated at $200.

Thomas Elbridge Hodgkin of 1411 North Overlook Dr. was charged with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident following investigation of a 5:10 p.m. mishap on Cotanche Street, 280 feet North of the Fifth Street intersection.

Police reported the Hodgkin car collided with a auto driven by Sarah Everett Graves of Washington, causing an estimated $800 damage to the Hodgkin car and $150 damage to the Graves vehicle.

'Squeaky' Adapts But Sara A Troublemaker

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — More than two years after she was carried shrieking from the courtroom where she was sentenced to life, Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme is considered a model inmate.

But Sara Jane Moore, who pleaded guilty here saying she wanted to make peace with her conscience, is a troublemaker. Her former attorney says Mrs. Moore, serving time in a room one floor away from Squeaky's, is "in and out of solitary all the time."

Both are in the maximum security unit of the Federal Correctional Institution at Alderson, W.Va., serving life terms for attempting to assassinate then-President Gerald Ford in September 1975.

Their attempts occurred 17 days and 90 miles apart — Squeaky's outside the California state Capitol in Sacramento, where the gun she pulled was wrestled away; Sara Jane's outside a posh hotel in San Francisco, where the shot she fired went astray.

At one time, they lived down the hall from each other in prison. But warden Carson Markley said in a telephone interview that as far as he knew, they had no relationship at all, friendly or hostile.

Both women become eligible for parole in September 1985. Miss Fromme, acting as her own attorney, lost an appeal of her conviction. Mrs. Moore, also representing herself, filed opening briefs in the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here last month after winning approval to proceed as an indigent, without paying court fees.

The tiny, red-haired Miss Fromme, now 29, spends her time much like the other 21 women in the unit, Markley said. Her job assignment is "general maintenance," he said, which involves mopping floors and other clean-up duties.

All the women have private rooms with a bed, dresser, mirror, chair, toilet, sink, wall locker and television set. Markley said they decorate their rooms with plants and often paste pictures on their lockers.

"You can assume in Lynette's case she would have some Charlie Manson pictures up," he said. But despite her devotion to the convicted mass murderer, who is serving a life term 3,000 miles away at San Quentin, and an occasional outburst at her trial, she has been a model prisoner and given authorities no trouble, Markley said.

Mrs. Moore, now 48, is another story. The warden would give no details of prison problems with her.

But she is known to have lived for the past few months in a room apart from the other women, in a unit reserved as a "temporary jail" for inmates who cause trouble. She is there because she refused to move back with the other women and refused to do her job assignment, it was learned.

"She's having all kinds of discipline problems. She's in and out of solitary all the time, for everything," said Peggy Garrity Edwards, a Torrance, Calif., attorney who represented Mrs. Moore until she quit the case in March because of the distance between California and West Virginia.

Farmers Talk Strike Future

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — About 2,000 farmers representing 39 states were planning to continue their American Agriculture movement convention here today with more discussion of farm legislation, federal crop programs and the future of the farm strike movement.

On Monday an effigy of President Carter hung outside the fairgrounds arena where they met.

Anti-Carter sentiment was strong among the farmers, many of whom said they had expected the former Georgia peanut farmer to be especially sensitive to their problems.

"This is just the beginning," Kansas farmer Bob Duran said.

He and other American Ag supporters said the primary purpose of the convention is to generate new ideas and policy aimed at getting better prices for farm produce.

"We're trying to let everyone have input into the organization," spokesman Lee Scheufler said.

Among those in attendance at the convention was Georgia farmer Tommy Kersey. He said he has been arrested 46 times at protests staged since the farm strike began in December.

Another Kansas farmer, Bill Nichols, accused the federal government of either purposely or negligently failing to provide farmers with all the facts about current farm relief programs.

He said the government "doesn't want prices to go up." Oklahoma farm strike leader George Camilli Jr. from Boise City said he and other Sooner State farmers are looking into the possibility of filing a lawsuit against the U.S. Department of Agriculture in connection with the recent defeat of an emergency farm aid bill by Congress.

He said the American Agriculture movement is working on plans to get more political by supporting sympathetic candidates and working against others.

Three Arrested In Fear A Tip-Off By Brzesinski

Greenville Police this morning arrested one man on charges of preparing to commit breaking and entering and charged two others with possession of marijuana, as the result of an investigation into an attempted break-in at Hargett's Drug Store at 2500 Charles St.

Chief Glenn Cannon said Deway Alan Baker, 22 of Tarboro, was arrested about 3:15 a.m. near the Charles Street drug firm. He was charged with preparing to commit breaking and entering and with possession of burglary tools.

The chief noted that Baker was taken into custody by officers as he apparently attempted to flee from the area of the rear of the store.

Cannon noted that a crow bar and three walkie-talkie radios and a car were recovered near the scene.

The chief said officers investigating the attempted break-in, charged Kenneth Dean Nunn, 22 of 211 South Elm St. and Bert Marshall Whitehurst II, 22 of 2305 East Tenth St., with possession of marijuana, after finding a quantity of marijuana and marijuana seeds in Whitehurst's apartment.

Cannon noted that investigation of the attempted break-in is continuing.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence specialists are concerned that a remark by President Carter's national security adviser may have given the Russians a clue to the effectiveness of U.S. monitoring of Soviet air defenses.

They fear this may have been a result of Zbigniew Brzezinski's disclosure to reporters Friday that Soviet jet fighters had fired on a South Korean airliner well inside Russian territory.

At the time Brzezinski said this, the Russians had acknowledged that their fighter planes had intercepted the airliner. But they were silent about any shooting.

It wasn't until more than a day later, after they reached Helsinki, Finland, that survivors confirmed the Soviet attack.

Therefore, it became clear that Brzezinski obtained his information about the shooting through U.S. intelligence monitoring of Soviet communications and a "reading" of Russian pilot radio talk.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union use a variety of highly sophisticated intelligence-gathering electronic devices from satellites, ships, submarines, airplanes and land bases.

While each government knows the other is doing this, intelligence officials are extremely close-mouthed on what kind of methods they use in sensitive situations, and what kind of results they achieve.

These officials contend that public disclosure of methods and results is likely to tell the Russians much about the effectiveness of U.S. intelligence. This could lead to Soviet countermeasures, the specialists say.

Defense officials did say that no radio distress message was received from the Korean plane and no radio call was sent to it from U.S. sources. They did not elaborate.

There are indications that Norwegian radar detected that the South Korean airliner had entered the Soviet air space, yet U.S. officials.

Sources at the U.S.-Canadian North American Air Defense Command headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo., said the Korean plane was about 1,000 miles outside the range of the Distant Early Warning radar line.

That line across Canada has been on guard for many years against a possible Soviet bomber attack over a polar region. It reaches out about 350 to 400 miles. NORAD officials said, and would give U.S. air defense pilots "plenty of warning time to scramble, if necessary."

But NORAD officials said these stations would not "see" aircraft in that area.

As for the violent Soviet reaction, U.S. intelligence officials said they were not surprised the Russians would be sensitive about an air intrusion into the Kola peninsula region.

There are at least five Soviet bases there, including home ports for Russia's latest missile-firing boats, which the Russian navy tries to keep away from Western eyes.

The Kola inlet also is the anchorage for major Soviet surface warships. And Russia's northern fleet air force of some 280 planes is deployed in that area.

Ban Potluck Dinner Plan

BROOKLYN PARK, Minn. (AP) — City officials in this Minneapolis suburb are in a stew over an ordinance banning potluck dinners.

Health officials say potluck can bring bad luck, such as food poisoning.

When a senior citizens' group recently advertised a potluck affair, the health department called to warn them not to hold a bring-your-own meals dinner. The seniors recently stormed a City Council meeting and demanded the law be changed, said City Manager Richard Henneberger.

As a result, a revised ordinance is being prepared for council approval, and potluck dinners probably will be legal again in Brooklyn Park.

"What happened was what happens frequently when councils adopt laws and have to depend on professional people for advice," said Henneberger. Sometimes they go a little too far.

Tom Heenan, director of the health department for the suburbs of Brooklyn Park, Brooklyn Center and Crystal, said the anti-potluck ordinance has been in effect for years in Brooklyn Park but usually was not enforced unless the dinners were widely advertised.

Charles Schneider of the state health department said outlawing the dinners "is like coming out against motherhood and the flag."

More Time For Lobbying

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter will have more time to lobby for his embattled tax reduction program following a House committee's decision to suspend work on the proposal.

Carter stepped up his lobbying Monday as he met with two Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee.

Committee chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., said consideration of the $24 billion tax reduction plan would be delayed while Senate and House negotiators seek agreement on a crude oil tax — part of the president's energy package.

Ullman said he hoped work on the program would be resumed next week, but he refused to give reporters a firm date.

Carter bid for Republican support in meetings with Reps. William Frenzel of Minnesota and Barber Conable of New York, the ranking Republican on the committee.

Conable said he told the president his party favors an across-the-board income tax reduction of about what Carter proposed.

Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, told reporters he expects Congress to pass a bill this year, though the cut might be reduced and its effective date delayed.

Candidates Will Attend

The majority of candidates for the Democratic Nomination to the U.S. Senate are expected to attend the third annual meeting of the North Tar River Fellowship Club — a gathering of men Democrats — at Penny Hill, on N.C. 33 at the Pitt-Edgecombe County line, Wednesday.

A fellowship hour will begin at 5:30 and barbecue will be served at 6:30. In case of rain, the gathering will be held at the community building in Conetoe.

Senate hopefuls who have indicated their intentions to attend the meeting include Lawrence Davis, David McKnight, Luther Hodges, McNeil Smith, and John Ingram.

In addition to the candidates for the Senate, several members of the Council of State will attend, as well as many local candidates from Pitt, Martin and Edgecombe counties.

The first passenger railroad in the United States, the Baltimore & Ohio, was begun on July 4, 1828, and the first 14 miles were opened to horse-drawn railcar traffic on May 24, 1830.

Reception For McNeill Smith

A reception for McNeill Smith, a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate, will be held from 4 p.m. until 5 o'clock Wednesday in the public meeting room of the First Federal Savings and Loan building on Greenville Boulevard.

The reception is being co-sponsored by the Pitt County Political Action Committee for Education of the N.C. Educators Association, and by the Postal Workers Union.

Persons interested in meeting Smith and talking with him are invited to attend.

Authentic English Stoneware. Free. From BB&T.

English Stoneware is something special. Made the way it's been made for over 150 years. By hand. By craftsmen.

Potters take the clay from their native England and fashion it into distinctive shapes. Each piece is individually dipped in a glaze. Then hand decorated by a talented artist.

All this care does make an elegant difference, recognizable in subtle variations from piece to piece.

By saving at Branch Banking and Trust Company, you can get your first three-piece place setting free.

That's a hand-crafted cup, saucer and dinner plate free, just for depositing $25 or more, in a new or existing BB&T Regular Savings Account at any BB&T office.

12 piece snack set for four.

Each snack set consists of a coffee mug, soup/cereal bowl and a salad/luncheon plate. It's ideal for snacks, breakfasts and light lunches.

When you deposit $500.00 in a new or existing BB&T Savings Account, you may purchase this twelve-piece snack set for four for only $31.75.

26 piece service for four.

Entertain the idea of having enough Stoneware for a dinner party this evening: four dinner plates, four cups, four saucers, four bread and butter plates, four soup/cereal bowls, a 1.5 quart casserole dish with lid, an oval platter, a sugar bowl with lid, and a cream pitcher.

They can all be yours for only $65.00. Simply deposit $1,000 in a new or existing BB&T Savings Account. And entertain.

Almost a lost art.

This Stoneware had its origin in Belper, England, which is near the origin of another famous story. That of Robin Hood. Sherwood Forest and Nottingham are just a short distance away.

Here, craftsmen have passed the secrets and skills of their art from father to son to grandson. Establishing a tradition of unsurpassed hand-craftsmanship.

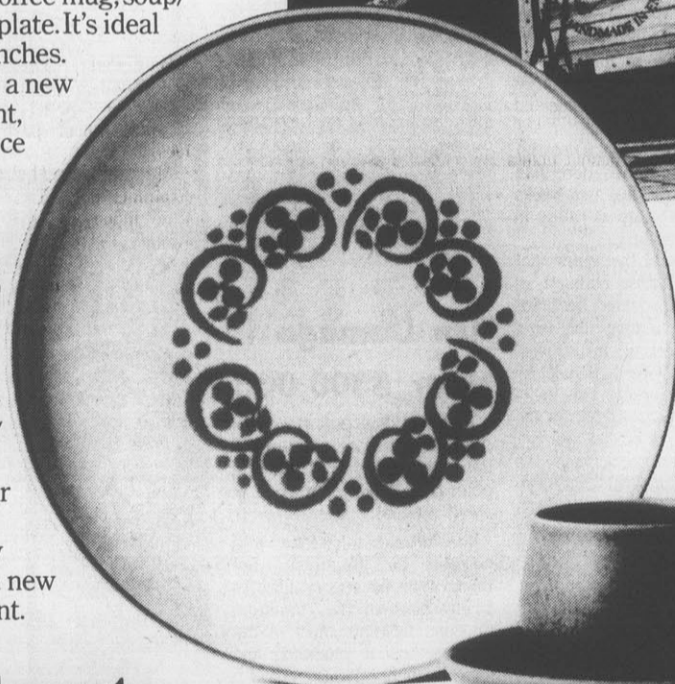

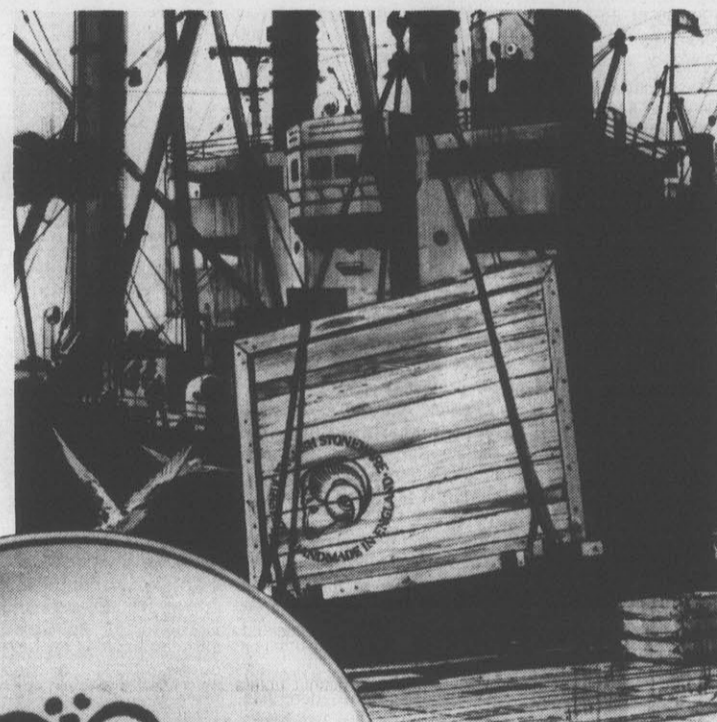

Each piece of Authentic English Stoneware is hand-formed by craftsmen, glazed by hand, and the decorations are painted on by skillful artists.

The result is beautiful in an honest, natural way.

Matching completer pieces at special low prices.

When you make a savings deposit of $25 or more, you may purchase completer pieces at special low prices. For example, additional three-piece place settings are only $6.49 each. And you may pay for your purchases with cash, check or Master Charge. Whichever is most convenient.

If you've ever priced Authentic English Stoneware, and it's only available in the finest stores, you know that BB&T's offer is a remarkable value.

Limited to one free place setting per account.

Beauty doesn't have to be fragile.

Authentic English Stoneware is as practical as it is pretty. You can do things with this Stoneware that you'd never think possible.

You can use it in a regular or microwave oven. You can freeze in it. You can put it in the dishwasher.

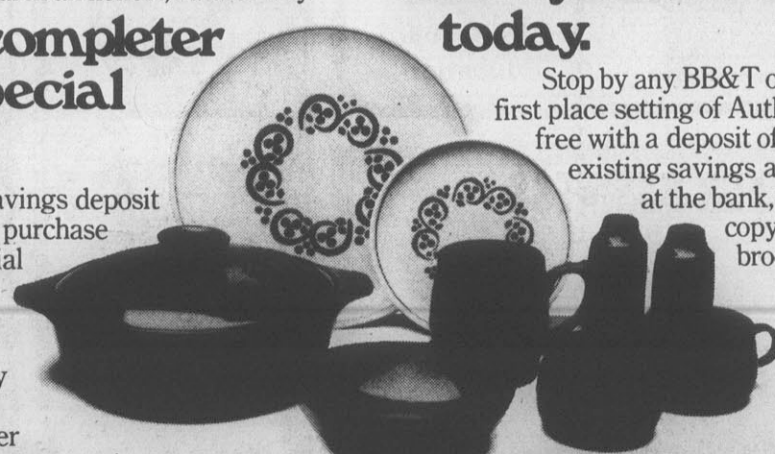

And yet, it will look like new after years of this kind of hard use.

This Stoneware is so strong that the supplier gives a limited two-year warranty. Which you can pick up at any BB&T office.

Start your collection today.

Stop by any BB&T office today and get your first place setting of Authentic English Stoneware free with a deposit of $25 or more in a new or existing savings account. And while you're at the bank, pick up a complimentary copy of our fully-detailed brochure.

Authentic English Stoneware is something nice to have. And BB&T is offering you a nice way to get it.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices swept ahead today in the midst of another runaway rally that outstripped some of the trading volume records set last week.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 13.68 at 839.74 on top of a 13.26-point jump Monday.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 17.58 million shares in the first hour, breaking the opening-hour record of 17.48 million set on April 17.

By noontime turnover came to 28.14 million shares, running just a bit shy of the pace on April 17, when the full day's total was an unprecedented 63.51 million shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average has climbed more than 73 points in the last two weeks in one of the sharpest rallies in Wall Street history.

Analysts said the spark that ignited the latest outburst of buying was provided by Eastman Kodak, a long-time favorite of investing institutions.

Over the weekend Kodak reported a 50 percent rise in its first-quarter earnings from the comparable period last year.

But brokers also said the market was generating its own fuel, attracting "catch-up" buying by investors impressed by the recent strength in stock prices.

As Standard & Poor's Corp. analysts observed in a recent issue of the firm's investment advisory publication "The Outlook": "Market strength itself can do much to bolster sentiment."

Kodak shares, which gained 3 1/2 on Monday, rose another 3/4 to 52 1/2 on heavy turnover today.

Advances outnumbered declines by about a 4-1 margin in the broad tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The NYSE's composite index rose .70 to 54.06, and the Ameri-

East Carolina Drubs Methodist, 23-1

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Macon Moye cracked out two home runs, a double and a single driving in eight runs last night as the East Carolina Pirates rolled up a 23-1 victory over Methodist College.

The Pirates cracked out what may have been a new school mark in the third inning when they sent 17 batters to the plate and scored 14 runs.

Oddly enough, only one of those 14 runs was earned, as Methodist opened the frame by committing five errors around the first four Pirate hits. After that, East Carolina added six more hits, including the first career round-tripper by Scott Layden.

Moye had his single and double in the inning, accounting for his first three rbis. He added homers in the fourth and sixth, driving in five more.

Bill Davis hurled the victory in the game, shortened to seven innings by mutual consent of the coaches. He allowed only four hits, walked two and struck out six. Billy Williamson came in to hurl the final inning, striking out all three batters he faced.

"It was just one of those nights," Coach Monte Little said afterwards. "You know, Methodist had won 14 of its last 17 games. They have a winning record 17-13 now."

Little praised Davis for his performance on the mound. "He did a real good job on them."

"The guy they started was a good pitcher, and our guys had their heads down (after losing twice to Wilmington on Sunday). But when they got their run (tying the game at 1-1), it picked up us. We realized that he was a good pitcher and that we had to start swinging the bats. After that, we had fun."

Fun might have been an understatement, as the Pirates passed the 20-run mark for the second time this season.

The Bucs opened the scoring in the second inning, getting one run. Bobby Supel walked and moved to third on outs. He scored when Jerry Carraway doubled.

Methodist tied it up with one in the top of the third. With one down, Abe Pellom reached on a bunt single, and moved on to second on an error on the play. He took third on an out and scored when Steve Neal singled.

Only one other Methodist player reached second, however as Davis set them down after that.

Then, in the bottom of the third, the bottom fell out for the visitors and the Pirates pushed over 14 runs for a 15-1 lead.

Pete Paradossi opened it up with a grounder to short that was errored. Butch Davis singled and Supel reached on an error, allowing Paradossi to score. Moye got his first hit, a single, scoring both Davis and Supel. Moye moved all the way to third on an error on the play. Carraway's grounder to third was relayed to home, but not in time to get Moye. Layden followed with a single, and an error on the play let Carraway score.

Eddie Gates walked, and Billy Best reached on a bunt single that was also thrown away at first, allowing courtesy runner Tim Hardison to score.

Paradossi singled in Gates, and Davis got a hit scoring Best. Supel reached on a fielder's choice, getting Paradossi at third.

Moye then doubled in both Davis and Supel, scoring himself when Brinkley singled. Carraway also singled and Layden ended the inning with a three-run homer.

The Bucs added four more in the fourth. Best reached on an error and Paradossi singled on a slow-roller to third. An error on the relay to first allowed Best to score and Paradossi to reach second. Davis walked and Supel reached on a fielder's choice, again getting Paradossi at third. Moye then followed with his first homer.

The final four came in the sixth. Davis reached on a bad-hop single to short and Moye cracked his second homer of the night. Mike Sage then walked and Carraway followed with the game's fourth homer, ending the scoring.

Carraway finished with three hits and four rbis, while Davis also had three hits, and Paradossi and Layden had two each.

The Pirates climbed to 25-15 with the win. They are scheduled to travel to Wilson tonight to face Atlantic Christian at 7:30 p.m.

Ayden-Grifton Nips Panthers

BETHEL — Ayden-Grifton scored three runs in the seventh inning to come from behind and gain a 4-2 victory over North Pitt in a high school baseball game yesterday.

The Chargers scored their first run in the top of the second, but the Panthers got a pair in the bottom of the frame to take the lead, which they held until Ayden-Grifton's seventh-inning outburst.

Harold Edwards was 2-4 for the Chargers, while Victor Evans and Roy Briley were 2-4 for the Panthers.

Paul Setliff led off the second with a single for Ayden-Grifton and he stole second. Chris Phillips knocked him in with a single.

In the bottom of the inning,

Roy Briley singled, Tim Corey walked and Bob Hemingway got a base hit to load the sacks for North Pitt. Chris Holder walked to push in Briley and Corey scored on Carl Wilson's safety.

Neither team scored again until the seventh. David Smith was hit by a pitch to start things off for the Chargers in the frame. Setliff reached on an error and Clayton McLawhorn walked to load things up. Phillips' fielder's choice allowed Smith to score, while McLawhorn was thrown out at second. Edwards singled in Setliff and Phillips.

The Panthers, now 3-11, play today at C. B. Aycock, while the Chargers, now 5-9 host North Lenoir.

Drug Use Among Athletes Not As Great As Among Non-Athletes

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

There probably is drug use among athletes on the East Carolina University campus, according to ECU officials, but it is not as widespread as among non-athletes.

"I haven't seen it," Coach Pat Dye said this morning. "But on every college campus in the country, students are using drugs. Athletes are students, so I would think that there is some use."

"At Alabama, and at East Carolina, however, we police our athletes a whole lot more than the average student might be policed," Dye said. "So I would have to think that there is less use among them than among the average students."

Dye added that from time to time, the college police have checked the athletic dorms. "But to my knowledge, none of my players has ever been caught with drugs. Now, I'm not naive enough to think that it hasn't happened, but we are doing all we can to police drug abuse. We have a full-time coach living in the dorm with the players, and we have a close working relationship with the campus police."

Dye said that as far as he knew there was no use of amphetamines prior to games. "Again, it's possible that it has happened, but it's been without my knowledge."

The coach praised the sports medicine department as being one of the finest around. "I don't know of any more respected trainer than Rod Compton, and Dr. (James) Bowman (team physician) is also well-respected. If any pain-killing drugs were administered to players, it was under doctor's supervision where permanent damage was not even possible."

Monte Little, head baseball coach, said that he had not encountered any problem with drugs on his team. "We have two basic rules: one is that any drug use will mean immediate cutting from the team. As long as I have been here, there has only been a couple of cases where this has occurred, and the players were immediately dismissed from the team. Our kids are among the top academic group on campus, and I don't think we have that problem with them."

Larry Gillman, head basketball coach, said that he didn't know of any drug abuse going on among his players. Prior to Gillman's hiring as coach, two players under Dave Patton were suspended for marijuana use, and another was dismissed from the team during Tom Quinn's tenure.

"We have one of the most outstanding sports medicine departments in the country," Athletic Director Bill Cain said. "They keep top records, and I'm sure that there has been no unauthorized use of any drugs through them. And as far as players selling drugs to others, nothing has crossed my desk about this."

Compton, head of the sports medicine department, was involved in classes this morning, and unavailable for comment.

Amphetamine Sale Said Passed On From Year To Year At UNC

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The sale of amphetamines by one member of the University of North Carolina football squad to some teammates has become something of a tradition passed on each year from older players to younger ones, according to a published report. The Fayetteville Times, in the second of a six-part copy-right series on drugs and collegiate sports, reported in today's editions details of the use of marijuana and amphetamines on the UNC team during the past several years. The newspaper cited interviews and affidavits from dozens of current and former players.

Although school officials acknowledged they have encountered some drug abuse on the team, they maintained it is not a serious or persistent problem. Former Tar Heel football coach Bill Dooley denied in an interview with the Times that there had ever been any drug abuse on his teams, but he conceded during a second interview that there may have been some problems.

"I am not naive enough to think there was no experimenting going on," said Dooley, who is now football coach and athletic director at Virginia Tech.

"There was a time when there was a lot of that," he said. "But in those cases I found out about, there was a separation of the players from the team."

Considering the extent of drug abuse among college students in general, Dooley said, the number of players kicked off the team was not great. He declined to give further details.

Mark Gaines, who was booted off Dooley's team in 1974 after being caught with marijuana, said it was no problem to get amphetamines when he was on the team. "Each hit cost 75 cents," Gaines said. "If you wanted some, you'd just go to the person and he'd give you some."

"When I was there, speed (amphetamines) was pretty common. A few of us used to take two or three hits of speed at practice to see who could last the longest," he said.

The newspaper quoted players as saying most of the speed taken by members of the squad was Biphemamine 20, a strong amphetamine in the form of pills known as "black beauties."

"It's used a whole lot less than it used to be," said Bill Perdue, a former defensive end for the Tar Heels and a 1976 graduate. "I'd say only 10 guys took it out of the whole traveling squad (40-50 players)."

George Simpson, a Newsweek magazine writer who played at UNC before graduating in 1972, said about eight players on the team with him took speed and some were caught.

"They were caught with a great deal more than amphetamines," Simpson said. "One of the kids was a major pusher of drugs on campus."

He said coaches did little about the problem except to bring in a doctor for a question-and-answer period with players in the absence of coaches.

"I think the end result was to reassure everybody that the drugs they were taking weren't going to kill them," Simpson told the Times.

"I think the coaches were pretty naive about drugs. I remember this one assistant coach who told me he didn't know what marijuana smelled like, which I thought was pretty funny since I was stoned at the time."

The report said players told of at least one member of the 1977 UNC team being a drug dealer for other players. They did not reveal the dealer's name for fear of being hurt.

Billingham Likes American's Grass

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

For Jack Billingham, the grass is greener in the American League. Mainly because it's mostly real grass.

"I'm happy to come to the American League where there is a lot of grass because I'm a sinker ball pitcher." The 35-year-old right-hander said Monday night after pitching the streaking Detroit Tigers to a three-hit 4-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

After winning 119 games in 10 National League campaigns with Los Angeles, Houston and Cincinnati — plus two more in three World Series, where he has an earned run average of 0.35 in 26 innings — Billingham was dealt to Detroit during spring training for a couple of minor leaguers. He has a 3-0 record and has suddenly become a very important person in the Tigers' pitching rotation, especially with Mark Fidrych's shoulder acting up.

In other AL action, the Kansas City Royals turned back the Texas Rangers 8-6, the New York Yankees trounced the Baltimore Orioles 8-2, the Seattle Mariners nipped the California Angels 6-5 in 12 innings and the Cleveland Indians downed the Toronto Blue Jays 4-2. Minnesota at Oakland was rained out while Boston and Milwaukee were not scheduled.

Billingham got all the support he needed in the second inning when the Tigers scored three times on Lance Parrish's double, a walk, Ron LeFlore's RBI single and Steve Dillard's two-run triple. Aurelio Rodriguez homered in the fourth while Billingham blanked the White Sox until the seventh when Bob Molinaro tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly. Chicago's only other hits were third-inning singles by Bill Naborodny and Greg Pryor.

Royals 8, Rangers 6

Tom Poquette's two-run homer keyed a six-run uprising in the sixth inning as Kansas City stormed from behind. Doug Bird gained his first victory of the season with 52-3 innings of scoreless relief as the Royals maintained their slim lead over Oakland in the AL West.

Two walks and Amos Otis' RBI single started the rally with the Royals trailing 6-2.

Yankess 8, Orioles 2

Chris Chambliss laced the first of seven consecutive singles and then capped New York's eight-run fifth-inning with a three-run double. Scott McGregor was working on a two-hitter when the Yanks erupted for two runs on one-out singles by Chambliss, Graig Nettles, Bucky Dent, Willie Randolph and Mickey Rivers.

Winner Ron Guidry allowed six hits and an unearned run before being relieved in the eighth. Guidry swallowed some tobacco juice while jumping for a high chopper in the fifth inning, forcing his removal to two innings later.

Mariners 6, Angels 5

Leon Roberts, who entered the game as a pinch hitter in the 10th inning, singled home the winning run in the 12th to give Seattle the victory after California's Nolan Ryan struck out 15 batters in the first nine innings. Roberts singled after Dan Meyer led off the 12th with a double. Meyer also hit a two-run homer and a sacrifice fly off Ryan while rookie Carney Lansford hit his first major league homer for the Angels.

Indians 4, Blue Jays 2

Cleveland jumped to a quick 2-0 lead against Dave Lemanczyk when Jim Norris opened the game with an infield hit and Johnny Grubb and Andre Thornton followed with run-scoring doubles. The Indians scored in the second when Rick Manning's single brought Ron Pruitt home from third. Their fourth run came in the ninth on a walk, Larvell Blanks' double and a wild pitch. Rico Carty homered for Toronto.

Clemson Is Champ

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — For the fourth straight year, Clemson will be competing in NCAA post-season baseball action.

Clemson, the regular-season Atlantic Coast Conference champion, defeated Wake Forest 7-2 Monday afternoon to win its sixth conference tournament.

Wake Forest won the right to play Clemson with a 4-3 victory earlier Monday over Duke that knocked the Blue Devils out of the double-elimination tournament. Duke led 2-1 before the Deacons erupted for three seventh-inning runs.

Clemson's Brian Snyder gave up 10 hits but went all the way to claim his sixth win in seven decisions. Snyder struck out eight and walked four.

Pitcher Randy Lerch Leads As Phils Discover Lost Bat Power

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
After their inefficient performance in Montreal over the weekend, the Philadelphia Phillies figured to break out in big way.

They did — but they rediscovered their power from the most unlikely source.

Randy Lerch, who gets paid mostly to pitch, did some of the heavy hitting for the Phillies Monday night and led a 12-2 route of the Chicago Cubs.

"After the way we hit the last three games, I guess I expected something," said Manager Danny Ozark after watching his Phillies pound out 12 hits against the Cubs, including a two-run homer and an RBI double by Lerch.

The hitting display gave the Phillies "a more positive outlook," according to Ozark. They had scored only eight runs while dropping a three-game series to the Expos.

Lerch, incidentally, pitched as well as he hit, allowing the Cubs only six hits.

In other National League games, the Montreal Expos tripped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3; the Houston Astros beat the San Diego Padres 4-3 in 10 innings and the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the New York Mets 4-2.

Expos 5, Cardinals 3
Dave Cash and Andre Dawson stroked run-scoring singles off reliever Mark Littell in the seventh inning and triggered Montreal past St. Louis. The victory for the hot Expos was their fifth in a row and ninth in 11 games.

Pirates 4, Mets 2
An eighth-inning double steal by Omar Moreno and Dave Parker and an ensuing error by New York third baseman Bobby Valentine helped Pittsburgh beat the Mets.

With one out in the Pirate eighth, Moreno walked and second, Parker was then intentionally walked before Moreno and Parker executed their double steal and Valentine, playing for ailing Lenny Randle, failed to handle catcher John Stearns' throw that went down the left field line while both runners scored to break a 2-2 tie.

out in the 10th inning to give Houston its victory over San Diego. Art Howe singled in the Houston 10th and pinch-runner Gonzalez was sacrificed to second by Ed Herrmann. Roger Metzger was walked and Wilbur Howard moved the runners into scoring position with a groundout, setting the stage for Walling's game-winner.

Astros 4, Padres 3
An eighth-inning double steal by Omar Moreno and Dave Parker and an ensuing error by New York third baseman Bobby Valentine helped Pittsburgh beat the Mets.

Stevenson allowed only one single, that coming in the third inning of the game. He struck out 14 and did not walk a batter.

The Tigers got single runs in the second and fourth innings to gain the win.

In the second, Allan Peaks

Williamston Nips Ahoskie

WILLIAMSTON — Williamston High School rode the one-hit pitching of Ted Stevenson to a 2-0 victory over Ahoskie High School last night in the Northeastern Conference.

Stevenson allowed only one single, that coming in the third inning of the game. He struck out 14 and did not walk a batter.

The Tigers got single runs in the second and fourth innings to gain the win.

In the second, Allan Peaks reached on a fielder's choice and was later sacrificed in by Rusty Lilley.

In the fourth, Grady Winstead doubled and scored when Peaks singled.

Joey Weller led the Tiger hitting with two.

Williamston is now 3-3 in the league and 6-8 overall. They travel to Robersonville on Thursday to face Roanoke.

in that you work harder."

They'll have to work hard to stay alive as the National Basketball Association playoffs continue, and that includes getting balanced scoring from the rest of the Spurs shooters.

George Gervin has been carrying the team offensively.

"No one else on the team wants to shoot the ball, so George ends up shooting every time," observes Washington's Elvin Hayes. Gervin, the NBA's scoring leader in the regular season, has averaged 37 points per game in the series against Washington.

He collected 35 on Sunday in the Spurs' 98-95 loss, but the next-highest San Antonio scorer was Billy Paultz with 17, and it was seven points back to Larry Kenon and Mike Gale.

So it's certain the Spurs will have to do something, but Moe won't say what.

"There's no telling what we'll do," he says. "We might use a combination (of things), although I'd rather not pin myself down right now."

"It doesn't matter to us what they do," said Bullets Coach Dick Motta. "We want them to run with us. We try to run with everyone."

The Denver Nuggets take their 2-1 lead over Milwaukee into Game 4 of their quarter-final with the Bucks in the other NBA playoff game tonight. Meanwhile, the Seattle SuperSonics must wait until Wednesday night before trying to enlarge their 2-1 lead over the defending champion Portland Trail Blazers.

The Philadelphia 76ers, who swept the New York Knicks out of the playoffs, await a semifinal opponent. They may not have to wait much longer, since a Washington victory tonight would send the Bullets against the Sixers.

The Bucks, drubbed at Denver in the first two games of their series, returned to Mil-

Parsons Gets New Challenge

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Benny Parsons, leader in the Grand National stock car season standings, faces a challenge as Darrell Waltrip and Richard Petty continue their recovery from slow starts.

Parsons leads the standings with 1,467 points, even though mechanical trouble relegated him to 15th place at Martinsville Sunday. Dave Marcis, a consistently high finisher who ran fourth at Martinsville, is second with 1,406.

They are followed by defending national champion Cale Yarborough with 1,307, Bobby Allison 1,294, Waltrip 1,236, Lennie Pond 1,228, Buddy Arrington 1,158, Richard Childress 1,139, Petty 1,114 and Skip Manning 1,083.

Waltrip won the Virginia 500 at Martinsville Sunday and became a three-time winner in the nine races so far this year.

Petty, who finished third at Martinsville, made the top 10 for the first time in the season.

Yarborough continues as leading money winner with $116,630. This makes him the second $2 million career winner with $2,003,466. Petty is the first with $2,945,629.

After Yarborough comes Allison with $109,925, Parsons $105,785, Waltrip $95,500, Petty $58,635, Neil Bonnett $50,795, Marcis $50,145, Dick Brooks $37,865, Pond $37,535 and Arrington $32,315.

Roger Hamby's 14th place at Martinsville earned him $500 as top rookie and kept him in the lead for the $10,000 prize to the season's best first-year man.

After a week off, the drivers end the first 10-race leg at Talladega, Ala., May 7. The driver on top of the standings after that gets a $10,000 bonus and the next nine get lesser bonus money.

Greene Central Lady Rams Look To Move Up To Softball Champs

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer
With the same basic team that finished second in the Eastern Carolina Conference last season, things are looking even brighter for the Greene Central softball program this year, according to coach Tim Corbett.

The Lady Rams have compiled an 8-1 overall record and 3-1 ECC mark so far and Corbett said, "If we can survive this week, we will have a good chance of being one of the top two finishers." The team takes on D. H. Conley, Ayden-Grifton and Southern Nash this week.

"Our success thus far has depended on defense," Corbett said. "We're averaging only two errors a game."

The Lady Rams have not fared as well at the plate, however.

"Our hitting is very weak at this stage. We're swinging hard, but popping it up," Corbett is confident the team's bat work will improve.

Greene Central has only one senior. She is left-center fielder Carolyn Yelverton. "Most of the time, she does a good job for us," Corbett said.

The other outfielders include sophomore Melody Ham in left. "She charges the ball well and is a very good hitter," according to Corbett. Iris Pridgen, a junior, starts in right. She is a very strong hitter and "decent defensive player." In right is junior Alberta Sutton, another strong hitter.

The team's pitcher is Lynn Shackleford, another junior. She has done a good job so far this season, Corbett said. She is an accurate hurler, giving up only three walks in the conference.

Corbett feels D. H. Conley has the upper hand in the conference at this point. "If anybody has an advantage at (finishing) first, it would be Conley, because they have a very good defensive team, and are hitting the ball well."

Corbett said Ayden-Grifton, Southern Nash and the Lady Rams are the leading challengers. "It basically depends on which team is willing to sacrifice and put forth the effort to get it."

Corbett said, "I think an overall record of about 12-2 will take it and I think we will have to play superb defense to win it. I think our hitting will come around, but our defense has got to hold."

SWITCH TO DEFENSE
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defensive back Nolan Cromwell of the Los Angeles Rams played quarterback in his college days at the University of Kansas. He was asked about making the switch to defense in the pro game.

"It took a psychological adjustment to go back to thinking defensively," he said. "You sort of have to rearrange it in your mind. Of course, I was lucky in that I played in the defensive backfield my first two years at Kansas before switching to offense as a junior."

Thousands Gather In Raleigh To Protest School Reports

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A preliminary hearing on a suit by the state to force 63 Christian private schools to file annual reports drew thousands of demonstrators Monday at the Wake County Courthouse.

The state is seeking a preliminary injunction against the schools, which contend that filing the reports violates the constitutional guarantee of freedom of religion.

The crowd waved Bibles, sang hymns and chanted prayers to "set us free."

"Our schools will be effectively destroyed if they are made to be simply rubber-stamp copies of the public schools," attorneys for the academies argued in court documents.

Deputy Attorney General Andrew Vanore said the state, in requiring the reports listing information on enrollment, course offerings and teacher certification, is not interfering with the schools' religious instruction.

Inside the courthouse, Superior Judge Donald L. Smith listened to 4 hours of attorneys' arguments over whether he should compel the schools to turn over the reports. The state had sued 11 Christian schools to force them to comply with state law. Smith said he would rule later on the lawsuit.

The demonstrators, who began arriving by car and van early Monday morning, crowded the courthouse steps and spilled out onto the Fayetteville Street Mall. Estimated at between 2,000 and 5,000 people, the crowd was violating an anti-demonstration order issued during the Joan Little murder trial in 1975 as well as a 1977 state law against demonstrations within 300 feet of the courthouse.

Police and sheriff's deputies did not begin enforcing the law until shortly before noon since many were tied up with other duties by a telephone service breakdown.

Leaders of the rally agreed to obey the law.

Mystery Bays Stirring Interest Among Some As Crop Locations

ELIZABETHTOWN, N.C. (AP) — There are several theories concerning their origin. Some think they were once whale wallows while others theorize a close encounter with a meteorite caused them.

Whatever the origin, all across southeastern North Carolina a series of elliptical depressions dot the earth, more than 1,000 in number. Carolina Bays, as they have been dubbed, are found in parts of Georgia and South Carolina also. They range in size from a few acres to more than 1,000 acres.

The favorite theory is that the dips were carved out by the action of wind and water. That's the conclusion of Dr. Stan Buol, a professor in the soil science department at N.C. State University.

The wind and water theory is also based on the fact that the ocean once covered the area. When the water began retreating, the wind moved the water in a circular pattern, carving out the bays.

The ocean's presence in the area at one time also gives rise to the theory that the dips are whale wallows but no whale bones have ever turned up in any of them.

And then there is the meteorite theory. Some think a meteor 400,000 to 3 million years ago caused the consistently elliptical depressions that are always elongated from northwest to southeast. But thorough digging and magnetic detectors have never turned up a scrap of meteorite rubble.

"But the meteor people are not about to give up," Buol said. One of their theories holds that instead of hitting in the Carolina area, the meteorite blasted into an ice pack up north between 10,000 and 30,000 years ago, hurling great chunks of ice this way. When the ice melted, the elliptical bays were left.

Generally the bays have been considered unfarmable since they are extremely wet and difficult to clear. However, Bay Tree Farms, a subsidiary of Bay Lake Corp., has cleared a little over 1,000 acres on its 11,000-acre Bladen County tract.

Because of the water, the bays will be best suited to grow corn, beans, celery, lettuce and other vegetables, farm operators say. Although Bay Tree does not intend to farm the land, they hope to sell their 11,000 acres to farmers.

And according to one representative, farmers are skeptical but have asked about renting the bays.

Future Reliance On Oil Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. oil imports, which now provide about 43 percent of U.S. oil, will have to provide about 51 percent by 1990, an Exxon Corp. official says.

W.W. Madden, coordinator of strategic planning for U.S. operations, said Monday in predicting the increase that U.S. energy demand will continue to grow while petroleum production will not keep pace. Madden and James W. Hanson, Exxon's chief economist, said nations around the world are beginning a slow shift away from oil and natural gas as energy sources but will need increasing oil supplies from the Middle East at least into the 1990s.

Sponsor Workshop On The United Way

KINSTON — The Kinston Lenoir County United Way, North Carolina United Way and other United Ways in the area will co-sponsor a one-day legislative workshop Thursday at Lenoir Community College here.

The workshop, according to the United Way, will attempt to identify human service needs and programs in eastern North Carolina which can be improved by actions of the North Carolina General Assembly.

The meeting, which is open to all interested individuals, is the fourth of five to be held throughout North Carolina.

Henry Groseclose, staff assistant to the plant manager at Du Pont here, will chair the day-long session.

Dear Omar:
I agree with you completely. Somehow or other, the little swindler you manage to pull off give you more pleasure than many of the really fine plays you come up with over the years. As an example, I am particularly fond of this hand, which helped Helen Sobel and me to win the Life Master Pairs for the Von Zedtwitz Gold Cup back in 1958.

My bid of three spades was designed more in the hope of keeping the opponents out of the auction than of getting to game, but Helen was never one to linger in a part score if she could see any chance for game. In a way, her decision was right, for the opponents could make ten tricks in a minor-suit contract.

West led the king of hearts and East followed with the six. I was not unhappy with the contract, for we seemed sure of a reasonable score for making nine tricks. The chances for ten were not bright, since East surely held the ace-queen of diamonds for his double once West showed up with the king-queen of hearts.

However, I did not despair. The spots in the hearts suit were significant. I won the ace of hearts, drew trumps in one round and now led a sneaky three of hearts! West saw no reason to squander his queen on a lowly five, so he played low. As I hoped, East was forced to win this trick, and the contract could no longer be defeated.

East cashed the king of clubs and continued with the queen. I ruffed and led the jack of hearts, ruffing in dummy when West covered. I returned to my hand with a club ruff, discarded a diamond from dummy on the ten of hearts, and graciously conceded a diamond trick to the opponents and claimed my contact.

Sincerely,
Charlie

By RICHARD CARELLI Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Television violence will be standing trial soon in an unprecedented court case that may restrict the kinds of TV programs Americans will be able to view in the future.

NBC and station KRON-TV are the only named defendants, but all television could be affected when a state court jury in San Francisco decides whether televised violence causes imitations in real life.

The Supreme Court on Monday set the stage for the trial by refusing appeals by NBC and KRON, thus clearing the way for the jury's eventual consideration of an $11 million lawsuit against the two defendants.

The civil suit was filed for a 9-year-old girl who was sexually brutalized four days after a nationally televised NBC movie dramatically portrayed a similar crime.

If the jury decides against the network and station, Hollywood may sharply limit the violent content of future television programs.

In other matters Monday, the Supreme Court: —Temporarily blocked State Department employees from studying secret telephone notes kept by Henry A. Kissinger when he was secretary of state. The material now will remain sealed while Kissinger battles in court to keep the notes from going public.

—Let stand Patricia Hearst's 1976 bank robbery conviction, action that may result in her being sent to prison soon.

In the television lawsuit, lawyers for the girl charge that the defendants were negligent and reckless in allowing the movie "Born Innocent" to be broadcast in the early evening when young people were sure to be in the viewing audience.

The two-hour movie, televised on Sept. 10, 1974, depicted the life of an unwanted, teen-age girl. In one scene, the girl is sexually assaulted with a wooden handle by older girls. Four days after the broadcast, a 9-year-old San Francisco girl was the victim of a similar attack by four older girls on a local beach.

In seeking to block the trial, now scheduled to begin June 26, NBC and KRON argued in their Supreme Court appeal that constitutional free-speech and free-press guarantees should bar such claims.

The mere possibility of the trial "poses substantial risks of inhibition across the entire spectrum of artistic and journalistic endeavor," their lawyers contended.

The young girl's lawyer, Marvin Lewis of San Francisco, countered: "We do not seek to impose any prior restraint on the media. We merely seek damages."

The issue may return to the nation's highest court. If NBC and KRON should not be satisfied by the jury's verdict, they presumably will again raise their First Amendment arguments in appeals.

Problems Said Poorly Dignosed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Over nine million American children of average or above-average intelligence do poorly in school every day because they suffer from either perceptual or coordination problems or from food allergies, according to learning disabilities expert Dr. Alan C. Levin.

"Less than one-half of these children are being diagnosed properly, yet this is the most critical step in saving them from endless frustration," says Dr. Levin, medical director of the New York Institute for Child Development. "With proper treatment the majority of learning victims can do well academically."

No Progress In Ports Parleys

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — State and union officials reported little progress Monday as negotiations aimed at averting a strike by longshoremen at state ports were resumed.

With Saturday's strike deadline nearing, officials of International Longshoremen's Association Local 1426-A requested Monday's return to the bargaining table.

"Everything still stands the same," said John B. Smith, president of the local, following the first round of talks since Feb. 23. Asked if anything had been accomplished, Smith said, "Nothing I can talk about."

William M.A. Green, director of the state Ports Authority, refused to comment on whether any progress was made.

"I wouldn't like to say anything was accomplished," Greene said. "We had a good meeting and an understanding I think."

But Greene added that there were "no additional developments" toward a new contract.

The old contract expired Dec. 31 and negotiators for both sides said the main point of disagreement was the union's request for compulsory union membership and automatic deduction of union dues from paychecks.

Federal mediators sat in on several negotiating sessions but pulled out after the talks stalled Feb. 23. The negotiators declared a 30-day waiting period before a strike — and that period ends Saturday.

The Ports Authority at last report had offered a wage increase of 47 cents per hour for each year of a three-year contract while the union was seeking a raise of 60 cents. However, both sides agreed money was not the crucial issue.

The threat of a strike apparently has caused business at state ports to slump. Greene said the port at Wilmington, equipped to handle nine ships, had only one Monday while Morehead City also was suffering from a lack of activity.

Search For Absent Girl

WILSON, N.C. (AP) — Authorities have launched a search for a 15-year-old girl missing since Sunday night from the Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf.

James Massey, student life director at the school, said it was the second time the girl, Terri White, had dropped out of sight in the last several weeks.

He said Miss White, described as an attractive blue-eyed blonde who wears a hearing aid in her right ear, left the school about a month ago.

"She apparently hitched a ride and wound up at La Plata, Md.," he said. After being under care of the sheriff's department at La Plata, she willingly returned with Massey and another school official.

Massey said the 5-2, 115-pound girl blamed pressures from her boyfriend and family after her last disappearance.

Miss White spends weekends with her parents in Elizabeth City and had returned to the school Sunday for this week's classes, he said. She was last seen about 8:30 p.m.

Massey asked that anyone knowing the whereabouts of the girl contact him, the Wilson County sheriff's department or Wilson police.

Rackets' Role In Unions Recognized

By DAVID ESPO
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two decades after a Senate committee laid bare a pattern of racketeering in parts of the labor movement, another Senate panel is being told that organized crime still enjoys wide influence over some unions.

Justice Department lawyer Thomas Puccio told the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee that "... many of the individuals whose names first surfaced during those hearings (in the late 1950s) are today principal figures in illegal labor activities now under investigation...."

The Senate panel was listening today to Labor Secretary Ray Marshall, whose department came under attack from some quarters on Monday for not doing enough to help the anti-racketeering effort.

Justice Department lawyers said there were not enough specially trained Labor Department investigators assigned to the organized crime strike forces set up by the Justice Department.

And Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga.,

acting subcommittee chairman, said, "It is apparent that the Labor Department needs more people and they need to have a new attitude and a new spirit." In testimony Monday, acting

Deputy Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti said an estimated 300 union locals across the country are "severely influenced" by racketeers, with most of the locals affiliated with a handful of unnamed national and international organizations.

There are an estimated 75,000 union locals nationwide.

Civiletti told the subcommittee the federal government's organized crime strike force program "is alive and well, and...we have intensified our efforts in the area of labor-management racketeering."

He said investigators look into cases such as these:

— "Ghost" employees, frequently organized crime members, paid for doing no work.

— Kickbacks to trustees of pension funds in return for loans to shaky investment projects that in turn are looted.

— Payoffs to union officials in return for keeping an employer's labor costs to a minimum.

— Embezzlement from union treasuries.

Civiletti told the panel he was satisfied with an agreement recently reached by Justice and Labor department officials concerning the contribution the Labor Department will make to the organized crime strike force effort. The department will assign 15 investigators full time to the strike forces and will ask the Office of Management and Budget for an additional 125 investigators who would be available as needed.

Dreamed Up New Peanut Recipes To Use Supply

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Peanut gelatin and peanut pie? The two recipes are but a few of the creations that school cooks dreamed up to work off a stock of peanuts provided by the U.S. Agriculture Department.

Polk County school officials found 517 cases — or 20,760 pounds — of peanuts left over from last year's federal surplus food program.

Initial attempts to reduce the surplus by dishing the peanuts out in small paper cups foundered when teachers watched in horror as the nuts became flying missiles in lunchroom battles.

"Principals say, 'Please don't serve those peanut cups,'" said Helen Walker, county food service director. "But we've got the peanuts, and we've got to use them up."

So the school cooks pushed their imagination, serving up peanut cake and crushing the nuts into gelatin. The cooks even tried something they named "Waldorf salad a la peanut."

"Peanut pie is just like pecan pie," Mrs. Walker said. "Oh, it's delicious."
