City Schools' Capital Outlay Budget Okayed

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer
Approval was given to a proposed capital outlay budget for the Greenville City Schools for school year 1978-79 that recommends an outlay of $413,584.50 for immediate needs. A separate, long-range capital outlay proposal covering projects over a three to five year period was also approved, in an amount totaling $4,140,584.50.

Both recommendations will be incorporated into the budget presentation to be made to members of the County Commissioners at a later date.

In the capital outlay proposal for immediate needs funds are being requested in three categories.

Category I, at $190,850 covers acquisition of real property, construction, reconstruction, enlargement, renovation or replacement of buildings and other structures of a priority nature.

Category II funds requested in the proposed capital outlay budget amount to $112,040. These funds are being asked for acquisition or replacement of furnishings or equipment, including items for the following schools — Eastern, $4,925; E. B.

Aycock, $11,000; Elmhurst, $4,365; J. H. Rose, $17,500; Sadie Sautler, $6,500; South Greenville, $6,850; Third Street, $3,250; Wahl-Coates, $2,350; Middle School, $30,000; Agnes Fullilove Community School, $5,000; Central Office, $2,000; Maintenance Shop, $5,500; Food Service Division, $7,800; and Musical Instruments, $5,000.

The $5,000 proposal for musical instruments represents the only change from the previous proposal, being an added item not earlier included in the proposal.

Category III funds requested, in an amount of $91,000 is for the acquisition of school buses, activity buses, and other motor vehicles.

This figure provides for the purchase of a 60 passenger activity bus at $20,000; two maxi-vans at $13,500; a heavy duty truck, $12,000; three pick-up trucks, $15,000; a tractor with mower, $12,000; station wagon, $7,500; sedan, $6,000; and a used oil tanker-truck, $5,000.

These three categories of immediate need funds in capital outlay represent what board members consider priority items for the coming school year.

The proposed budget for immediate capital outlay needs also contains a contingency request of $19,694.50. This represents a five per cent tabulation of $393,890 making up the three categories of funds.

Long-Term Needs
In the area of long-term needs, the $4,140,000 proposed capital outlay request includes the major item of $1,750,000 to complete construction on the Middle School, and several projects that vary in time length from three to five years. A breakdown of these proposed projects show:

- Carpeting, $200,000 (five year project) — For carpeting libraries and classrooms at a cost of $40,000 each year for the next five years.
- Heat and air conditioning, $450,000 (five year project) — For installing air con-

Review Outside Funds

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer
Projected funds from state and federal sources to figure into the proposed Current Expense Budget for the Greenville City Schools for school year 1978-79 were reviewed by members of the city school board at Monday night's special call meeting.

In the case of state funds, these are allocated by the state and are earmarked for specific purposes not to be altered in budget planning. A certain leeway exists in decisions for spending federal funds, although these too call for fairly close adherence to the purposes for which funds are designated.

The review last night was for planning and study as the board moves into the total current expense budget proposal to submit to county commissioners.

State funds projected allocations total expected revenue of $4,395,248 — this figure represents a local funding contribution of $122,094.

A breakdown of major categories of state funds are:

- The State Public School Fund, $3,857,567.
- Autistic Program, $19,048.
- Instructional materials, exceptional child, $23,651.
- Improvement of teachers, exceptional child, $1,013.
- Project Care, $12,914.
- Primary Prevention-Drug Education Program, $23,412.
- Trainable Mentally Handicapped, $57,907.
- Driver Education, $60,507, and
- Vocational Education, $339,229.

In the category of total Federal Funds expected as revenue for the current expense budget, the total amounts to $719,945, which includes a carry-over amount of about $100,000 from the current budget.

Federal funds from various programs expected are:

- Title I, ESEA, $538,965.
- PL-874 (Federal Impact), $40,984.

Cordial Exchange Termed Ceremony, Not Progress

By ROBERT CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — White House officials are saying the warm remarks exchanged by President Carter and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin were more the result of ceremony than progress in the peacemaking process.

The officials, who asked not to be identified, said there has been virtually no change in the views of either Israel or the Carter administration after several days of talks that culminated Monday with Begin's brief trip to Washington to mark the 30th anniversary of Israel's founding.

"We've got a good dialogue going, but it's too early to say whether we've moved closer to the resumption of direct talks (between Egypt and Israel)," said one official close to the discussions.

Nonetheless, the atmosphere Monday was decidedly different from the chilly, formal air at the close of Begin's last visit to Washington in March.

Later in the day when Begin arrived in Los Angeles to continue his U.S. tour, he agreed: "There was difficulty in March, but now there is a great improvement."

Carter and Begin talked for about 30 minutes. When they emerged from the discussion, Carter told about 500 assembled rabbis and Jewish leaders, "We will never waver from our deep friendship and partnership with Israel and our total, absolute commitment to Israel's security. We will continue to do so not just for another 30 years, but forever."

No word of the remaining problems between the two countries was allowed to intrude into the Washington festivities. An hour before they began, however, Begin emerged from a luncheon with Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and talked briefly with reporters about one of the disputes.

The two sides had "agreed to disagree" on the Carter's determination to press ahead with the sale of jet fighters to Saudi Arabia and Egypt, Begin said.

Israel and its congressional allies say the sales, particularly that of 60 sophisticated F-15 fighters to Saudi Arabia, endanger Israel's security. The administration says it will enhance Israel's peace prospects by strengthening moderate Arab leaders.

Meanwhile, two congressional committees began formal study of the $4.8 billion arms package. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said the Senate Foreign Relations Committee would seek an extension of the 30-day time limit for congressional rejection of the sales.

Church said the committee's Mideast subcommittee, headed by Sen. Richard Stone, D-Fla., wanted to visit the three countries involved. Without an extension, both houses of Congress would have to pass resolutions of disapproval by May 28 to block the sales.

In addition to the 60 F-15s for Saudi Arabia, the administration has proposed selling 50 less sophisticated F-5E fighters to Egypt and 15 F-15s and 75 F16s to Israel.

Resolutions to reject the entire package, or just the Saudi sale, were introduced in the House Monday.

Prepare To Host Carter

By LINDA KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Neighbors armed with dustmops and brooms are pitching in to help Paul and Janet Olson spruce up their house for an overnight visit by President Carter.

"We're very proud and excited," Olson said Monday after the White House announced that his family would be host to the president.

The Olsons said their 5-year-old daughter, Kristen, and 3-year-old son, Ehrin, were having trouble understanding the excitement.

The president has spent similar overnight stays with families in Clinton, Mass.; Yazoo City, Miss.; Des Moines, Iowa; and Bangor, Maine. Carter's visit Thursday with the Olsons will be his first at a private home in the West.

The Olsons' three-story, butterscotch-colored house has four bedrooms and a separate apartment on the top floor which is rented. Rhododendron, irises and geraniums in full purple and pink bloom line the small front yard and a tangle of green plants is visible behind the front picture window.

They live in Portland's Irvington neighborhood, considered a showcase of inner city revitalization.

"This neighborhood has had a real stigma," said Lynn Gerber, who lives across the street from the Olsons. "We had a high crime rate for a while and people would say, 'How can you live in that horrible part of town?' Now they'll say it can't be that bad if the president stays there."

Olson, 34, is manager of the energy conservation division of the Neil Kelly Co., a Portland firm which designs and remodels buildings and homes. Mrs. Olson, 33, is a former high school teacher. She is expecting a baby in August.

Lengthy Reply To HEW Filed Monday By UNC

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — The University of North Carolina Monday filed a lengthy reply denying any civil rights violations to charges by the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare that UNC has failed to comply with the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The reply to administrative proceedings instituted recently by HEW was filed in Washington and copies were made available to the news media in Chapel Hill.

Under the proceedings, HEW is seeking to cut off some federal aid funds from the UNC system.

In its answer, UNC denied any current violations of Title 6 of the Civil Rights Act. In addition, the university filed 12 defenses to the HEW allegations.

UNC also charged that HEW lacks jurisdiction to maintain the proceeding, that UNC has been deprived of due process of law and that HEW has acted in an arbitrary and capricious manner.

In its answer, filed by Washington attorney Carl

Voght, UNC asks that the 57 community colleges and technical institutions which are part of the state's system be removed from the proceeding, since HEW said earlier these schools were in compliance with federal regulations.

Sutton Re-Elected Housing Authority Chairman

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer
Longtime Housing Authority chairman James E. Sutton was reelected by the board to another one-year tenure as chairman Monday night.

Sutton was named to the new term as chairman during the Authority's annual elections session held prior to the regularly scheduled May business meeting.

Dr. Charles Price, who served during the past year as vice chairman, was also reelected for another one-year term.

Commissioners named Joe Laney, who serves as executive director, as secretary-treasurer of the Authority.

Sutton, who is one of five charter members of the Housing Authority, was first appointed to the board by Mayor S. E. West on May 4 of 1961. He served two five-year tenures before leaving in May of 1971 under the provision that prohibits commissioners from serving more than two consecutive terms.

After a year's absence, Sutton was reappointed to a new five-year term in May of 1972 and upon expiration of that term last May, he was given another five-year appointment. He has headed the board as chairman for numerous terms and also held the vice chairmanship during his first term.

Price, who was appointed to the Authority in May of 1969, will complete his second five-year term next May. Other members of the commission are Dr. Andrew Best, Woody Crumpler and Dallas McPherson.

Laney reported during the regular meeting that contractors are making good progress in the new Southside housing development now although recent rains hindered work somewhat.

According to Laney, the project is now some 52 per cent complete, compared to the original completion schedule of 67 per cent. He said that the completion date is still set for October.

The executive director said that 58 out of 62 foundations have been completed in the project, while 54 buildings have been framed, 35 bricked, and permanent roofs installed on 30 structures. Grading, he added, is now 93 per cent complete.

He said that the Authority hopes to be ready to advertise for bids on the proposed mid-rise housing development for the elderly in 50 to 60 days.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development has been slow in giving the Authority a written guarantee regarding the ten additional units requested for the housing complex. Laney added. He said that HUD seems to be taking the attitude that if the Authority can redesign the project and be within the budget, the units will be approved.

A redesign of the project is necessary since the original bids for the mid-rise came in substantially over available funding. In redesigning, the Authority decided to ask for an increase in the number of units from 50 to 60 in order to increase revenue.

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

GOOD RESPONSE, WILL FIX TOYS

Carl Tripp of REAL Crisis Intervention Center reports that response to the recent Hotline appeal for gifts of furniture, clothing, household goods, etc. was excellent.

He pleased us by telling of a new service being offered by REAL volunteers for which we have had many requests: repair of toys to be given to needy children. He said that from now to Christmas, REAL will accept repairable toys to be refurbished and given away. Anyone who would like may leave these at the REAL House, 1117 S. Evans Street.

JUSTICE FEEDBACK

Mrs. Herbert Travis says messages from her daughter in New York say that Billy Justice, the leukemia patient for whom Hotline appealed, is doing well following a bone marrow transplant last Tuesday.

The donor surgery for his sister, Ann Cash, was difficult, Mrs. Travis said, but she is doing fine now. It will take about five weeks to know whether Billy's body is accepting his sister's marrow, she said.

She says the family has been gratified by the messages of encouragement and gifts that have come to Billy from all over this area and even from throughout the state. She expressed appreciation to everyone.

The yard sale held by Mrs. Mavis Williams near Calico Saturday raised about $270, she said. Another yard sale will be held next Saturday to benefit Billy, this one at the Trivises, Rt. 3, Greenville.

Lengthy Port Shutdown Likely

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — With the rejection of an 11th-hour offer from the State Port Authority Monday, dockworkers and state officials agreed that a lengthy shutdown probably is in store for the Wilmington and Morehead City ports.

Picket lines went up at all three gates to the Wilmington port at 1 p.m. Monday, 37 hours after the first strike deadline passed. No pickets were set up at the Morehead City port, where union members said they had been "locked out" by port officials.

"We don't have to put up pickets," Charles McDonald, president of Local 1850 at Morehead City, said. "We've been locked out."

Morehead City port manager

Charles Sunder acknowledged the first shift was turned away at 7 a.m. and 60 other workers were turned away at 8 a.m. But he said an agreement had been reached between the union and the state that workers would not show up today.

McDonald said he knew nothing of the agreement.

State and union negotiators held a final meeting here late

Monday morning in an attempt to resolve their differences over a contract.

The state's final contract offer was rejected and representatives of the Morehead City port complained after the session that the state had attempted an under-the-table agreement with representatives of the Wilmington port.

The News and Observer reported that John Ben Smith, president of Local 1426-A in Wilmington had agreed over the weekend to the latest state proposal without knowledge of the Morehead City union representatives.

McDonald termed that agreement "part of a conspiracy to close down the Morehead City port."

But Smith said, "We couldn't make an agreement. We bogged down...we reasoned with the state and the bottom line was that (Commerce Secretary D.M.) Faircloth wouldn't give in."

In a prepared statement Monday, William M. A. Greene, State Ports Authority director, said the state has "bargained in good faith for a settlement of this dispute."

He said the union's executive committee at Wilmington rejected a compromise offered by the state, "leaving me to wonder if its members, in fact, were interested in a good-faith bargain."

A copy of the rejected management proposal showed that the state wanted the union to drop its request for the state to collect dues from union members — the "check-off" provision — and to drop its union shop requests. The state also wanted the union to agree not to strike and the state agreed not to lock out workers "of any kind or degree whatsoever."

The union had been seeking a closed shop, or a requirement that no one could be hired unless they first come through the union office.

William Green, executive director of the state ports, said the state would "sit tight. The state has several options available to it," but he declined to say what those options were.

Both Smith and Green said the strike would likely be lengthy.

"We can hold out as long as the state can," Smith said.

Pinpointing Cause Of Fall

WILLOW ISLAND, W.Va. (AP) — Federal inspectors say they are close to finding out where the break occurred that set off the collapse of scaffolding at a construction site last week, killing 51 workmen.

"We have a pretty good idea where it started," said Charles Straw, one of a team of investigators for the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

Straw said some conflicting testimony from witnesses had to be resolved before it could be definitely established where the break in the scaffolding occurred.

Once they know the location of the break, officials feel the job of pinning down the cause of the accident will be narrowed considerably.

After a brainstorming session Monday afternoon, members of the team, including OSHA regional director David Rhone, went back to the Pleasants Power Station where the disaster occurred Thursday.

"We're getting down to the guts of our work," said Rhone. The investigation has concentrated on four key areas as a possible cause of the collapse: the hoisting mechanism which carried the concrete to the top of the unfinished cooling tower, the quality of the concrete, the design of the tower, the construction method.

Pre-Cut Kits Available For Home Dressmaking

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Family Editor

Two New York City women have applied the cake mix principle to home dressmaking. Cecilia Lewis and Phyllis Kettlen design and manufacture pre-cut kits for making separates that are look-alikes for famous designer garments.

All a customer does is sew by machine or by hand. Each kit contains pre-cut fabric pieces, notched for matching seams; thread and all necessary trims, such as braid, ribbon and buttons. The directions are simple enough for a beginner to follow. Details such as pleats and tucks are factory-made.

In an interview, Ms. Lewis said their kits are designed for women who like to sew but panic at the thought of cutting fabrics or working fine details.

Each garment so far can be made in under three hours, she said.

This writer, with about 35 years of home sewing experience, finished their braid-trimmed unlined Chanel-style jacket in about two and a half hours. The time included setting up the machine, ironing board and iron, basting and removing basting threads and pressing seams, and all the stitching.

Finding your size is easy. Each box is labeled with a chart listing sizes according to height, bust, waist and hip measurements. Fabric swatches also are attached.

Retail prices for the spring-summer line range from $14-$30 each, far below those of comparable ready-to-wear separates.

Ms. Lewis said they can keep prices so low because today's look is unstructured, without interfacing and linings and because their company uses basically the same shopping and manufacturing services as most other New York manufacturers.

"They cut in one factory and truck the pieces to another to be sewn," she said.

"We avoid trucking costs. It's very hard to find people to sew. We avoid the insurance, the hijacking risks, the mistakes that happen (with factory-made clothes)."

Ms. Lewis, a former London model who now has her own public relations firm, said she got the idea for pre-cut garment kits when a jacket she had paid $500 for came back from the cleaners with a shrunken lining and splitting seams.

"I blamed the dry cleaner," she said. "He said, 'nowadays it doesn't matter what you pay, the workmanship isn't good.'"

She bought a paper pattern and found, as a non-sewer, she couldn't understand the directions.

Besides, "I wanted immediate results, I didn't want something in three weeks."

So she got together with Ms.

Kettlen, a women's wear designer-manufacturer who is among her clients, to form Canned Couture, Inc.

"We're copying designers," she said. "We can buy the actual garment or our pattern-maker can copy from a good photograph in a magazine."

"Phyllis tends toward French designers and I lean toward American and Italian."

Knocking off name designers is a time-honored practice among dress manufacturers and patternmakers. Some buy rights to produce line-for-line copies and use the designers' names. Others simply imitate, changing one or more details, usually for production reasons or economy.

Canned Couture's first collection consists of separates in solids and prints: dirndl skirts, loose blouses, a flowered, quilted vest, the braid-trimmed Chanel-type jacket and coordinated pants with elasticized waist. The colors are violet and shades of tan. The fabrics are machine-washable synthetics and blends with the look of cotton, silk or cashmere.

The fall collection will be in synthetics and wool blends and coordinated with the spring-summer styles.

"We try to make everything link up," Ms. Lewis said. "We keep up with colors, fabrics and patterns. We go to the same shows, we have the same resources as name designers."

"Our fabrics are similar but different."

The two big savings to the consumer are time and money. Ms. Lewis said the originals of the St. Laurent-style peasant separates she was wearing at the time of the interview sell for a total of $690. The two kits (blouse and skirt) are about $41.

Fennel Favors Bread Rings

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

DEAR CECILY: Early in the 1960s a recipe for Italian Taralli (Bread Rings with Fennel) was printed in a New Jersey paper. It was an excellent recipe and authentic. Just the way my mom used to make them. However, I've moved so much that I've lost the recipe and wonder whether by any chance you have it. I've tried other recipes but they just aren't as good. Any help you can give me will be deeply appreciated. — NEW FLORIDIAN.

DEAR NEW FLORIDIAN:

The Taralli recipe you refer to is not one of mine. After receiving your letter I checked through a good many Italian cookbooks. Only one, "Italian Regional Cooking" by Ada Boni (published in this country by Dutton in 1969), has a recipe for the Bread Rings with Fennel; it appears in the Naples-Campagna section of the book. We tried it as given but found the rings difficult to eat because they were large, thick and hard. As a result, we revised the recipe so the Taralli would be smaller and thinner. When you first take our Taralli out of the oven and cool them, they have a crisp golden exterior; the insides vary from slightly soft to hard. However, when kept for a day or so, the Taralli get hard throughout. I understand Neapolitans like to dip these plain but delightfully flavored bread rings into coffee or sweet wine. Do you happen to know whether this is true? — C. B.

well. Fashion the remaining "sausages" the same way. Arrange well apart on 2 lightly floured large cookie sheets. Cover with damp towels; let rise in a warm (80 degrees) place until doubled — about 2 hours.

Beat the egg white slightly; brush it on the rings and sprinkle with the fennel. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until golden brown — 30 to 35 minutes.

Must She Share Mother's Day?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: If my feelings are childish and unjustified, please let me have it. I am dreading Mother's Day for the following reason: My only child (a daughter, now married) has always been very close to an aunt who has never married. I think it's lovely of my daughter to remember this aunt with a gift at Christmastime, but when she gives her a gift on Mother's Day with a card which says, "You've been like a mother to me," I resent it. I once told my daughter that I was hurt to have to share that special day with someone else, and she said, "So what? I only gave her a box of candy!"

Abby, it doesn't matter what the gift was, I am her mother and her aunt is not. What do you think?

HURTING

DEAR HURTING: Although your feelings of resentment are understandable, try to empathize with one who will never know the joys of motherhood; don't begrudge her one small thrill once a year.

DEAR ABBY: First I read the letter signed, 36 AND STILL A VIRGIN, and then the one from 60 AND STILL A VIRGIN, which moves me to suggest this epitaph for both:

"Here lies the bones
Of Betty Jones
For her life held no terrors.
A virgin born
A virgin died
No hits, no runs, no errors."
CARL IN MURRYSVILLE, PA.

DEAR ABBY: We were three girls brought up in a strictly Jewish home, so we never had ham, bacon or pork in our house. Now that we are all grown up and married, none of us observes the dietary customs, but our parents still do.

My oldest sister has a beautiful home, and when she has mama and papa over, she serves them a dairy dinner, but she always puts a big pork roast on the table for everyone else.

Mama and papa have never said anything, but I know they are hurt. I once told my sister I thought she was out of line to put pork on the table with the folks here, and she said, "We have pork in this house, and they know it, so why be a hypocrite? Besides, in MY home I'll serve whatever I like."

I still think my sister is wrong. Or am I?
BEA IN THE BRONX

DEAR BEA: Your sister is not only wrong, she's childish, disrespectful and mean. She's trying to show contempt for the old traditions and at the same time let mama and papa know that she's her own boss now and can do as she pleases. (It's true that she can, but she doesn't have to hit them over the head with a pork roast to make her point.)

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Leaky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (24 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

I got a letter recently from a young reader in California who wrote, "As you are a mother, perhaps you could define the phrase, 'Someday you'll thank me for this.' When I confronted my Mom with this question she replied with that age-old cliché, 'You're too young to understand. Wait until you grow up and have kids of your own.'"

"Somehow, I can't conceptualize myself ever thanking my Mom for wrenching a jelly donut out of my mouth and throwing it into the neighbor's yard. I can picture the neighbor's cocker spaniel thanking her, but not me." — Sincerely, Gayley S. (San Francisco)

How we mothers love it when you ask questions. You exhibit the kind of spirit that got my kids eight-hour naps when they were 17. (But then I never had kids who used language like conceptualize.)

Now, indulge me, Gayley, while I give you a little background. The phrase "Someday you'll thank me" was uttered by a housewife in Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 6, 1934, who had one of those kids you couldn't discipline and get a reaction out of. She'd send him to his room, take away his desserts, withhold his allowance, make him wear hard shoes in the summer. Nothing. Finally, one day after she had exhausted every threat she knew, she socked him on a chair and shouted, "One of these days, you'll thank me for punishing you."

The child looked up, stunned. Now he knew what he was dealing with — an incoherent, irrational, weird mother who had inhaled too much laundry bleach and sucked on too many wet shoestrings. He never misbehaved again. The phrase is a last resort for mothers. It is never used lightly or indiscriminately, but only when reason fails. It is reserved for those moments when a child is about to have a wonderful time and a mother is about to put a stop to it. At a time when she is about to inflict pain on your backside and feels there's a dead space in the conversation. It makes a mother feel forgiven for what she is about to do.

Thanks to that housewife from Des Moines, Gayley, there are 18 million mothers sitting around by their phones today waiting for their children to call in their thanks. Frankly, it's not the avalanche we had hoped for, but people like yourself are still searching for the answers. Believe me, Gayley, someday you'll thank me for my vagueness in answering your reply. You may call collect. The number is 555-9990. After 6 p.m., 555-8224. I'll be waiting.

Government Proved Its Fear

You you have a complaint against the government in this country you sound off to anybody who will listen. Right?

That is generally the case. Through the great good fortune of our Constitution government can be criticized, and in fact is a prime target for criticism.

Living under these conditions it is often difficult to comprehend that there are societies where this is not true. The largest and most obvious example is the Soviet Union.

Recently an Associated Press writer interviewed Soviet writer Yuli Daniel, a dissident, who spent seven years in jail for a satirical criticism of Soviet society.

After that experience Daniel turned to translating poetry and declares that he now has no interest in politics.

"I wanted to publish my stories then and so I did," he said. "But I'm very skeptical about the ability of literary people to bring about great social transformations."

With his spirit now apparently crushed, the Soviet people will never know that new ideas Yuli Daniel might have contributed to their culture. For putting words on paper he was hustled off for a long jail term.

Daniel is wrong, though in his doubts concerning literary people bringing about social transformation. If that were not possible the Soviet government would never have been so afraid of what he wrote that it would railroad him to jail.

Won't Be Good For Strikers, Either

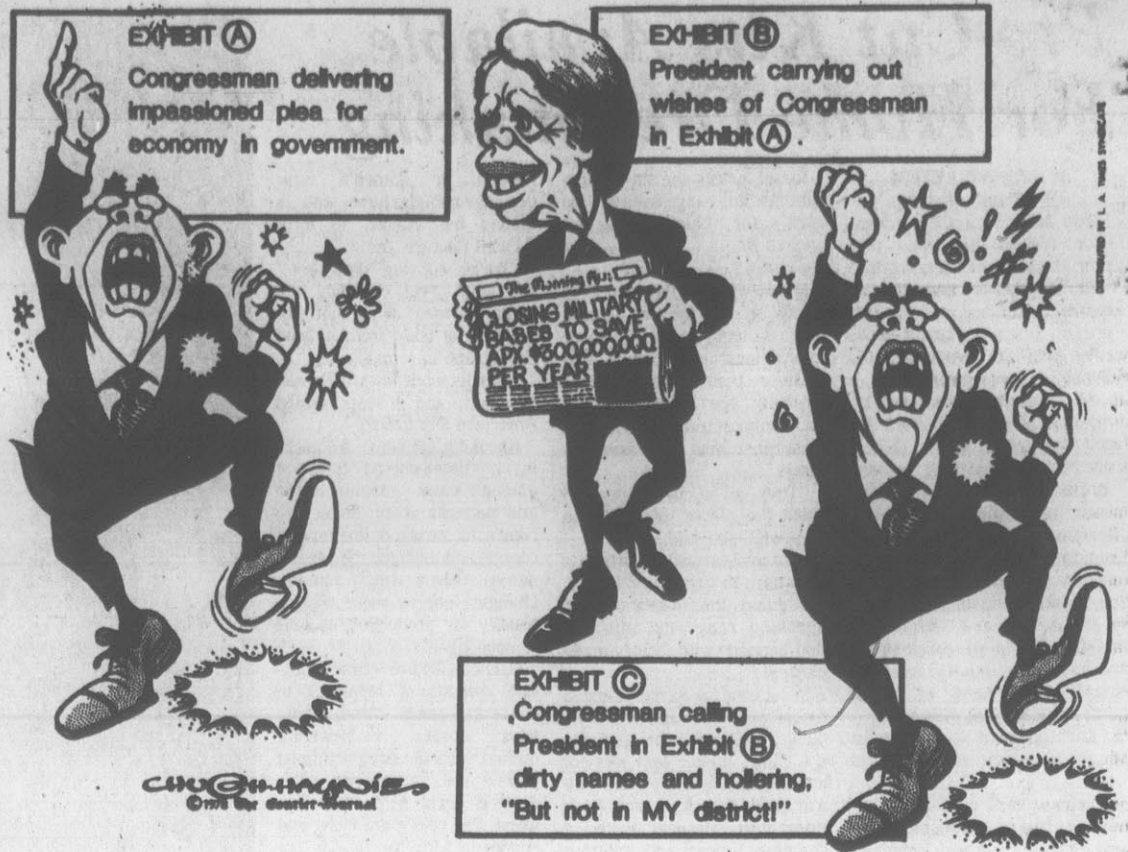

Longshoremen at Wilmington and Morehead state ports went on strike over the weekend after negotiators failed to come to terms for a new contract.

The strike, of course, won't do the state's economy any good. In fact it was reported that there had been a drop-off in ships using the two ports previous to the strike.

The state is refusing to accept union demands for a closed shop and a dues check-off system, a position that we think is proper for the state.

If the strike is lengthy state port business will no doubt go to other ports in nearby states, a situation which will not be good for North Carolina or for the longshoremen.

Hopefully the issues can be resolved soon.

N.C. Power Play Muddled

By BILL NOBLITT
(First of 2 Articles)

RALEIGH — Unprecedented secrecy measures surround meetings of a powerful group of legislators in the North Carolina General Assembly who are scheming ways to take away power from the governor, gaining power for themselves.

The legislators have in the past been involved in similar maneuvers, and are among the legislative leadership which effectively stripped considerable power from former Republican Gov. James E. Holshouser, and who over the past three years have sought to further diminish the executive branch while building up the legislature.

The argument can now be made that giving Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr., the opportunity to run for a second term creates the need for more legislative power to offset that increased clout.

Two broad areas of power and control are under consideration, according to information leaking from behind the locked doors of the committee room in the Legislative Building:

Two Steps

1. The state budget which now is prepared by the governor and his staff and proposed to the General Assembly. Revisions would establish a strong legislative involvement in preparing the budget, and establish a legislative staff which would have access to the same data and proposals which the governor's staff uses in preparing the budget. The net effect would be legislative ability to propose its own budget instead of dealing with that put forth by the governor.

Another major step would be abolishing the power of the governor and his staff to transfer funds within approved budget categories. The result would be that if the General Assembly authorizes so many dollars for paper clips, but the manager finds he doesn't need that many, but would rather have staples — he could not make that decision, but would have to get legislative permission.

2. Bureaucratic oversight by the General Assembly is the second broad area of concern. Legislators would like constant, day-to-day supervision of state agencies, with the power to respond more quickly in approving or disapproving programs.

BILL NOBLITT

The techniques and mechanics of accomplishing such power are varied, but include these approaches:

— Sunset legislation to automatically terminate programs unless state agencies can justify them to legislators;

— Zero-based budgeting in which the total budget, not just increases, are reviewed every year;

— Performance contracts between agencies and General Assembly specifically recording what is to be done, the expected results, and the cost. Failure would mean termination of the funds.

A Report

These and other reforms for study have been compiled into recommendations prepared by the Fiscal Research Division staff for the members of the legislative Governmental Operations Commission. Copies of the booklet are closely guarded and kept under lock and key.

The legislative commission is chaired by Lt. Gov. James C. Green, an outspoken opponent of Gov. Hunt. The membership includes State Senators Kenneth C. Royall of Durham, Craig Lawing of Charlotte, I.C. Crawford of Asheville, and Harold Hardison of Kinston. All are close friends of Green.

Meeting regularly over the past several weeks, the commission has not only met privately, but behind locked doors with entry only through Hardison's private office. Intruders from the press have been ordered to leave.

And at a recent meeting, when some press representatives waited in a corridor outside the committee room, Lt. Gov. Green summoned security guards to order them to "stop loitering" in the area.

Taxes And Mr. Carter

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — The House and Senate are wrestling these days over the final budget figures for fiscal '79. This is serious business, or so they say, but it calls to mind the ferocious sham one witnessed on the pro wrestling circuit in the Carolinas thirty years ago. The congressional match involves some play-pretend.

At the moment, it appears that both chambers are reasonably agreed on revenues of $443 billion. The House Budget Committee would like to spend $501 billion, leaving a deficit of $58 billion. The Senate last Wednesday voted to spend $499 billion, leaving a deficit of $56 billion. Those figures are rounded off, ho-ho, to the nearest $100 million. What's a mere one or two hundred million dollars?

Like the famous backbreaker hold of Haystack McGoon, the figures provide something less than meets the eye. The figures on spending are likely to get higher, especially if the two houses go for some further military outlays; the figures on revenue could drop off if a tuition tax credit bill is passed. But the forecast is bound to be uncertain until agreement is reached on Mr. Carter's tax and energy proposals. Take all the figures, like you took Haystack, for purposes of exhibition only.

Whether we run a deficit in fiscal '79 of fifty or fifty-five or $60 billion will depend largely upon what finally is done with the President's program of tax reduction and reform. In his tax message of January 20, Mr. Carter asked for tax reductions of $34 billion, offset by reforms to recover $9 billion, for a net cut in revenues of $25 billion. The Senate is nervous about the $25 billion, and would like to hold the cut to $20 billion. The House hasn't made up its mind. But the House Ways and Means Committee already has run most of Mr. Carter's reform proposals through the glooply-glop machine, and the committee's recommendations are likely to get further shredded on the bill's way to enactment. There simply is no constituency in either chamber for most of the President's specific ideas.

The situation offers one more illustration of the clumsy amateurishness that has marked so much of the Carter White House. During his campaign, Mr. Carter waxed eloquent on the tax code that was a "disgrace to the human race." It did not occur to him that this same tax code was largely the handiwork of his own Democratic Party leaders, on whom he himself would have to rely. But no matter. In campaign oratory, one is not upon his oath.

The offended chieftains might have been soothed if Mr. Carter had heeded their counsel in preparing his detailed recommendations for 1973. They could have told him, for one example, that altered tax rates could not possibly become effective Oct. 1, 1978. If Mr. Carter had listened to that advice, he might have avoided the little humiliation he suffered last Tuesday. That was the day Mr. Carter insisted in his afternoon press conference on October 1, only to have the Senate vote a couple of hours later for January 1, if at all.

Mr. Carter's tax program suffers not only from his lack of political finesse in pursuing it, but from more critical objections also. The President promised to seek "fundamental reforms," but the reforms he asks are not "fundamental." They are mostly reforms around the edges — cosmetic reforms as ephemeral as the first Martini in a three-Martini lunch.

The President said that "we must close as many of the loopholes as possible," but his plan closes very few. In principle, he said, his tax reform would "treat all income the same," regardless of how the income was derived; but that principle nowhere is evidenced in his program. Mr. Carter has urged fairness and equity as Oppose Action By Fed.

By MICHAEL DOAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board wants to make it harder for you to bounce a check by letting banks automatically move money from savings to checking accounts in case of overdrafts.

That also means a bank customer could keep funds in both checking and savings accounts with most of it lying in the interest bearing savings account.

The United States League of Savings Associations, whose members cannot provide checking services, promised to sue the Fed. The league said current law forbids the move.

Norman Strunk, vice president of the league, said the rule could "dry up the supply of mortgage credit, devastate the values of homes and make the purchase of a home impossible for millions of other families."

The Federal Reserve's action also was criticized by Robert

Test Ban Pact Obstacle

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — In two mid-April meetings conducted here under strictest secrecy, key officials in the National Security bureaucracy agreed with British counterparts not to insist on previous stringent conditions for a total nuclear test ban treaty with the Soviet Union.

The extreme secrecy may have been designed to keep news of the meetings not so much from the Russians as from the Pentagon. The new U.S. negotiating posture amounts to accepting Soviet terms for verification of a comprehensive ban of all underground nuclear tests (atmospheric tests were outlawed 15 years ago). That is wholly unacceptable to the Joint Chiefs of Staff and some senior Defense Department officials who had no part in the decision, thus posing direct confrontation between President Carter and the Pentagon.

The President has talked repeatedly of a treaty "to prohibit any testing of nuclear weapons at all." But the Pentagon believes Moscow could easily violate such a treaty by testing small weapons in the 3 to 10 kiloton range, which cannot be identified as a nuclear blast. Since the U.S. would obey the treaty, this could in time give Moscow significantly higher confidence in the reliability of Soviet weapons and conceivably create self-doubt about the U.S. deterrent.

Ironically, the drive for a comprehensive test ban treaty has been viewed by some arms control advocates as an easy first step before taking the threatened SALT (strategic arms limitation talks) agreement to the Senate. Fitting President Carter's dream of a world free from nuclear weapons, the test ban was thought to offer a quick win in the Senate.

Consequently, a major push has been under way for several weeks in Geneva for a test ban treaty. But Soviet negotiator Igor Morokhov rejected the U.S. proposal that compliance be verified inside the Soviet Union by about 20 new internal seismic stations using sophisticated U.S. equipment guaranteed against Soviet tampering. Simultaneously, the British cabinet secretly agreed to soften its negotiating position.

That was the situation April 17 when British officials came to Washington for a hush-hush conference with two critically important U.S. officials: Alan Neidle of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA) and Leslie Gelb of the State Department. The Defense Department was not invited to send representatives.

Neidle declared the U.S. and Great Britain must have a strategy which "finesses" Morokhov's concerns. Abandoning previous U.S. demands, Neidle proposed accepting no more than 12 seismic stations in the Soviet Union at locations of Moscow's choice. These stations would be located at existing Soviet facilities, possibly improved by U.S. earthquake monitoring equipment not specifically designed for test ban verification.

"The ACDA position," said one inside critic, "seems to be more concerned with obviating Soviet worries than obtaining an adequate verification network." Neidle even suggested that verification details not be worked out in advance but be left to a "joint consultative commission" after the treaty's ratification. The British agreed.

Finally, Neidle told the British the U.S. no longer insists on permitting some relatively low-level testing, called essential by U.S. weapons experts to maintain the nuclear arsenal. Rather, he said, the U.S. delegation will return to Geneva without any position on permitted testing. Neidle's new position (Continued on page 5)

Other Editors Say No. 1 Problem

(Jacksonville Daily News)

Suddenly, inflation has become the nation's No. 1 problem. President Carter says he will now give it his highest priority.

That is a switch, because the Carter administration has been more worried during its first year in office about solving the problem of unemployment.

But unemployment has been trending steadily downward. And inflation has been climbing upward, rather sharply this year.

Meanwhile, there is the problem of energy. It won't go away simply because the Congress refuses to take effective action. Any solution to the energy problem is bound to be expensive. It will add to the inflation problem, at least in the short term. That is why inflation must be kept under control.

Two direct approaches must be rejected. One is wage-price controls. They don't work uniformly across the board. Wage controls are easier to impose than price controls. So people suffer while profits increase. And when controls are removed, whoosh! All the pent-up inflationary forces are released. The economy plays catchup in a hurry.

Another unworkable approach would be the monetary solution, clamping down on the money supply, driving up interest rates. Such action would hit the housing industry, reduce purchasing power and could cause a general recession.

There is no magic answer. The president must keep the pressure on a number of points. He must control the tendency of Congress to inflate the federal budget and reduce federal revenues. He must use his veto pen on the new emergency farm aid bill. He must set an example for private industry and labor unions by keeping a tight rein on salary increases for federal employees.

Only such tough political action in the federal sector will convince policy-makers in the private sector that the president means business when he opposes inflationary price and wage increases.

40 Years Ago Today

May 2, 1938

Considering the fact there was no contest at stake, Greenville citizens were voting fairly briskly in the election here today to name two aldermen and a judge and solicitor for the recorder's court.

At 2:30 p.m., Wards 1, 2 and 3 had cast 52 votes, and Wards 4 and 5, 27 votes.

The officers up for election were aldermen M. B. Massey, J. A. Watson and J. M. Taft and Judge W. Darden and Solicitor Harry Brown.

The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill to prohibit exportation of tobacco seed and plants, except for experimental purposes.

The House Agriculture Committee said foreign nations had been obtaining seeds and plants in this country to grow their own flue-cured tobacco, and that "one of the most important features" in America's international trade was threatened.

Strength For Today

THE IMPOSSIBLE

The men who built the Panama Canal had a song the theme of which was, "We specialize in the wholly impossible."

Throughout history it has only been the greatest people with the most penetrating foresight who have dared to specialize in the impossible. But actually the man who accomplished the most utterly impossible task in history is Jesus of Nazareth. He took all the worldly ideals of his day — power, wealth, success — and refused them.

He proposed in this practical world to build a kingdom of love and gentleness. He bade men return good for evil, to love their enemies and to pray for them. His assurance to his disciples was that if they would say to the mountain, be ye uplifted and cast into the sea, this would occur.

They crucified him for these strange ideas, but time has been dated from his birth.

Evans-Novak...

(Continued from page 4) was confirmed to the British two days later. April 19, in another secret meeting by John Markham of the National Security Council (NSC) staff.

Markham also voiced willingness to accept last year's offer from Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev for "voluntary" onsite inspections at Soviet discretion. But in fact, such inspections — voluntary or not — are ineffective, as the Russians well know. It is sophisticated seismic stations which are the most effective, and that is what Moscow objects to.

The secrecy of the April 17 and 19 meetings suggests that the State Department, ACDA and the NSC are short-stopping usual interagency review procedures — thus gagging protests. That fits test ban tactics followed by Paul Warnke, ACDA's shrewd director.

While publicly saying the question is still open, Warnke has argued within the top-secret Security Coordinating Committee (SCC) for a treaty banning all tests, adding that the Geneva talks should otherwise be broken off.

Two members of the House Armed Services Committee — Republican Robin Beard of Tennessee and Democrat Sam Stratton of New York — were alerted to Warnke's SCC arguments. They wrote Warnke April 4 asking why ACDA wants a total test ban that cannot be verified against Soviet violations. ACDA replied that the Beard-Stratton letter should be classified, partly because it might embarrass Moscow, then sent an unresponsive reply (classified "confidential").

The biggest question now is the reaction of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who accepted the role of good soldier on Korean troops, B-1 bomber and the neutron bomb. Testifying at closed House hearings March 15-16, representatives of the Chiefs said they could not support a test ban treaty which could not be verified; shortly thereafter, intelligence community witnesses testified a total test ban was not verifiable. What was intended to ease the way for SALT is becoming no small headache in its own right.

McKinney, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which regulates savings and loans institutions.

"By making the commercial bank checking account even more attractive to the consuming public, the Federal Reserve's action puts greater pressure on dwindling savings flows into associations," he said.

"This tourniquet on the supply of savings translates into reduced mortgage availability at higher mortgage interest costs," he said.

But Federal Reserve attorneys said the action is legal because the banks are not paying interest on the checking accounts but are simply transferring money from one account to another.

The board may look for support for its proposal in a court decision last year in which a federal judge ruled that nationally chartered credit unions may provide interest-bearing checking accounts.

At its meeting Monday, the Federal Reserve rejected suggestions that customers lose interest when they overdraw accounts or that they be charged for each overdraft.

Federal Reserve Chairman G. William Miller said small depositors would be penalized and that it should be up to the banks to decide about the charges.

The move, which would take effect Nov. 1, technically affects the 5,700 state-chartered and national banks which are members of the federal reserve system. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which controls about 9,000 banks, will act on a similar proposal Friday.

The federal reserve's decision puts pressure on Congress to give savings and loan institutions the same privileges that banks would have. The Senate Banking Committee has approved a bill to let both banks and thrift institutions pay interest directly on checking accounts. The system, called Negotiable Order of Withdrawal, or NOW accounts, is being tested in six New England states.

criteria, but his plan, in essence, is predicated upon the old populist cry of soak the idle rich to support the working man.

On close examination, Mr. Carter's tax program appears to consist chiefly of relief for lower income families. Ten million of these families have been relieved of all direct Federal taxes in the past ten years. Mr. Carter's plan would exempt millions more. But middle and upper income families would get minimal relief or none at all. This may be smart politics, but it is a far cry from the tax reforms that Mr. Carter promised on his way to a balanced budget, some day.

worth of stolen vehicles and equipment. It also led to the arrest of 44 people in Florida, Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina.

The concept of the undercover operation was established at the end of a similar joint investigation during 1975-76, said FBI spokesman John Beale.

Operating under the name of Gordon Equipment Co., undercover agents purchased the vehicles and equipment with $155,979 of a $300,000 grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Spokesmen from the FBI, the Florida Highway Patrol and the Polk County sheriff's office, displaying the recovered vehicles at Orlando International Airport Monday, said more arrests would be made in the next few days. A total of 140 people were under investigation.

"These recoveries and arrests are the culmination of a 17-month investigation covering an 18-state area, with the bulk of activity taking place in Central Florida," the three agencies said in a joint statement.

Thirty-two of those arrested were from Florida and 12 from out of state, including South Carolina, Virginia, Mississippi, Alabama and New York.

In addition to vehicle theft and interstate transportation, the small group of agents uncovered other crimes ranging from illegal drug trading to arson, fraud, even murder, officials said.

Arrested of those indicted and arrested were owners of vehicles who reported them stolen and claimed insurance money.

"This was not an organized crime effort in the sense that it was the Mafia, but it is a loose-knit organization of people who know what's going on, people who want to dispose of stolen merchandise," said Capt. J.S. McKinnon, project coordinator for the Highway Patrol.

Royce Calvert of the National Auto Theft Bureau said his office processes about 20,000 stolen vehicle reports annually from the nine-state Southern Division.

"There is less than 60 percent recovery on all vehicles and 40 percent recovery on trucks," Calvert said.

Special agent in charge of the Tampa FBI office, Phillip McNiff said about 5,000 truck stolen every year are never recovered.

The investigation, given the code name "Gatorbait," will have "a significant but, unfortunately, temporary impact on such criminal activity in the Southeastern part of the country," McNiff said.

Charges under indictments issued by a federal grand jury last week included interstate transportation of stolen motor vehicles, interstate transportation of stolen property, theft from interstate shipments and conspiracy.

Indictments handed down by the Florida statewide grand jury charge suspects with conspiracy to violate and actual violations of the state Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organization (RICO) Act, grand larceny and grand theft. Among the recoveries was a tractor and auto-carrier containing seven 1978 Cadillacs valued at $163,000 stolen in transit from Detroit, Mich., to Pompano Beach, Fla.

Also recovered was a $180,000 Caterpillar D-9 bulldozer, stolen from a construction site in Polk County.

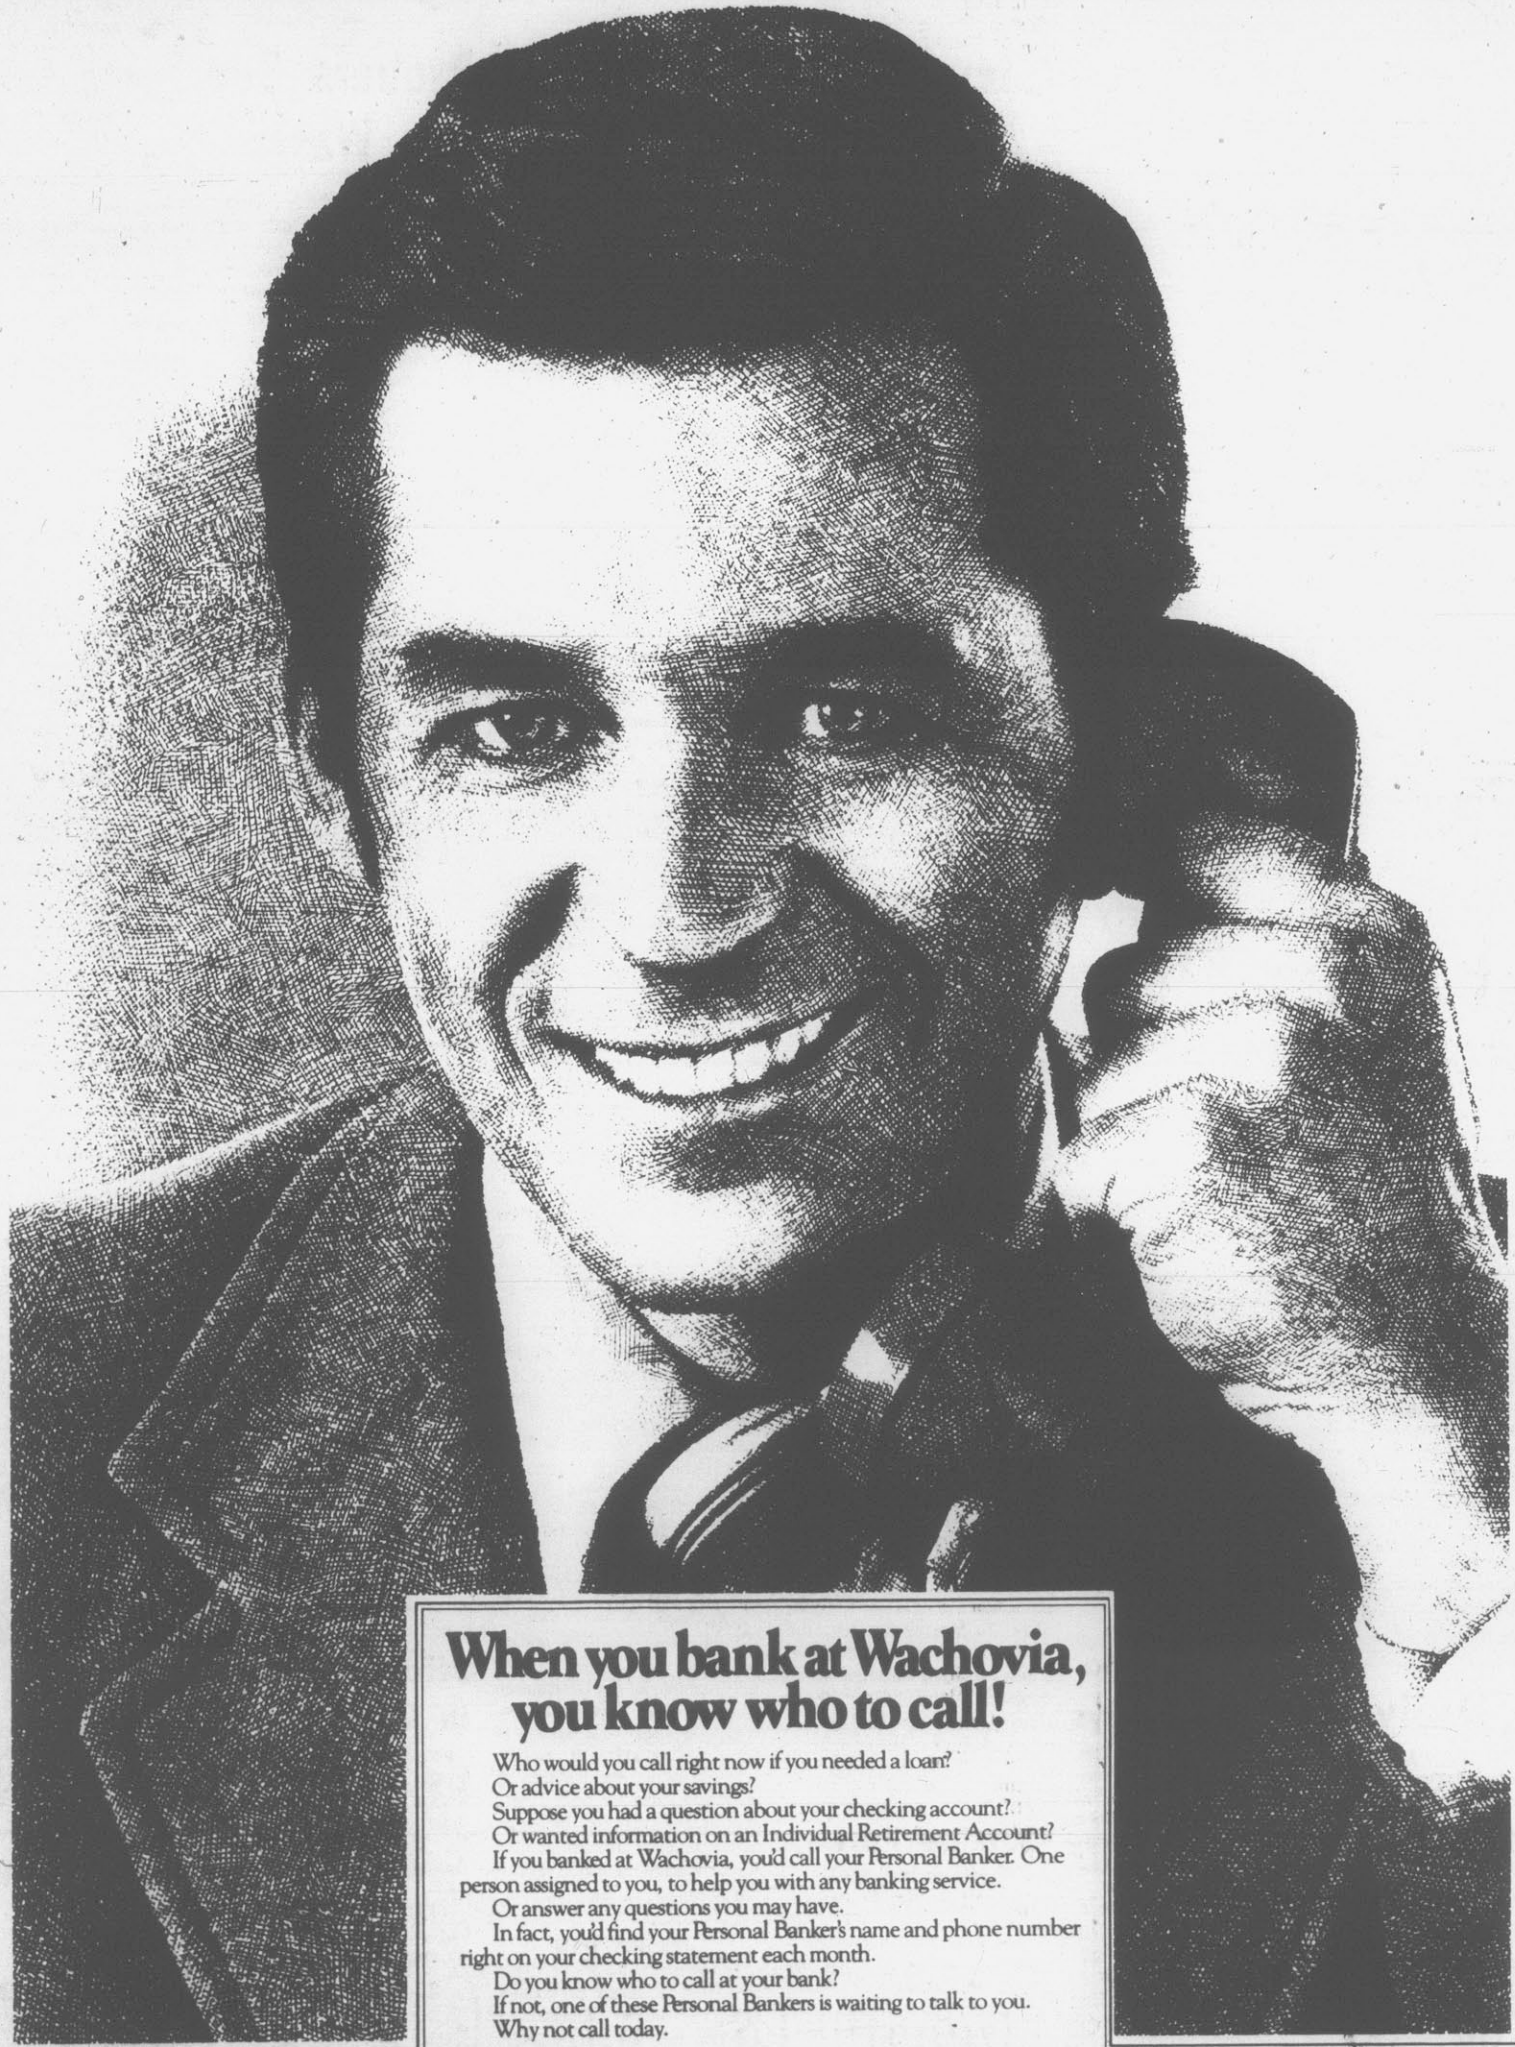

Officials said they paid an average of 5-6 percent of the retail value for the hot vehicles and equipment.

Those arrested from out of state were identified as: James Dale Davenport, Mississippi; Charles Seitz, New York; Lawrence Robert Free-

Stock And Market Reports

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned downward in another busy session today, apparently yielding to an accumulation of bad economic news over the past several days.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which closed Monday at its highest level in more than five months, pulled back 6.15 to 838.18 by noon today.

Losers outnumbered gainers by a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said traders seemed skeptical that the market could continue to ignore the negative economic news that has built up in recent days.

In particular, they cited rising interest rates and inflation worries. The government late last week reported a 0.8 percent rise in the consumer price index for March.

Monday brought the news of a 0.1 percent drop in the government index of leading economic indicators during March, and a record U.S. trade deficit in the first quarter, as measured on a balance-of-payments basis.

K Mart fell 1 1/2 to 25 1/4 in active trading. On Monday the company estimated lower earnings for the fiscal first quarter ended April 27.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index dropped .31 to 54.05. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .08 at 137.16.

Volume on the Big Board reached 16.50 million shares by noon against 15.41 million at the same point Monday.

Hogs
RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — The overall trend on the North Carolina hog market today was .50 to 1.25 higher. Rocky Mount, 46.25-46.75; Wilson, 48.00; Clinton, Fayetteville, Dunn, Pink Hill, Chadbourne, Ayden, Pine Level, Laurinburg and Benson, 48.00; Tarboro and Bethel, 44.50-45.00; Salisbury, 46.50; Spivey's Corner, unreported.

Poultry
RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — The trend on the North Carolina f.o.b. dock broiler market was firm, supplies moderate, demand very good, weights heavy. The dock weighted average price for this week is 40.51. Estimated slaughter today 1,423,000.

Hens
The North Carolina hen market was lower, supplies and demand moderate. Prices paid per pound for hens over seven pounds at farm for Monday and Tuesday slaughter 19 cents; f.o.b. plants too few to report.

Award Given To Fire Chief

Darrell Williams, Chief of Staton House Fire Department near here, has been given an award by the North Carolina Rural Safety Council for "outstanding safety accomplishments."

The award was presented during the annual meeting of the council, held in Raleigh Friday.

Williams, earlier this year named Pitt County Fireman of the Year, was cited for his volunteer fireman service, which included 90 fires attended, 196 hours of training and 20 department meetings attended and for his "general background in firefighting." He has been a volunteer fireman for 17 years and chief of his department for five years. He lives on Rt. 6, Greenville and is a farmer.

Probers See Big Waste

CHICAGO (AP) — Sloppy hospital buying practices waste nearly $664 million in tax money nationally each year, congressional investigators say.

Seattle Sends Portland Out Of Playoffs With 105-94 Win

By TONY BAKER AP Sports Writer SEATTLE (AP) — Suddenly, it becomes a question of how far the Seattle SuperSonics can go.

Playing with the confidence and poise that got them through the rugged times early in the regular season, the surprising Sonics dispatched the beleaguered defending world champion Portland Trail Blazers from the National Basketball Association playoffs with a 105-94 victory Monday night.

The triumph before a wild Coliseum sellout crowd of 14,098 gave the Sonics a 4-2 margin in the best-of-seven series and sends them into the Western Conference finals against the winner of the Denver-Milwaukee series.

"It looks like we're in the groove again. If we are, there's no telling how far this team can go," said a smiling Lenny Wilkens, who took over as Seattle's head coach Nov. 30 with the team mired in the Pacific Division cellar with a 5-17 record.

For Portland, a city that went bananas over its Blazers last year as the club fashioned upset after upset en route to the NBA title, injuries — and the Sonics — finally took their toll in the end.

"This is one of the greatest group of individuals I've ever been around. They've never quit," said Portland Coach Jack Ramsay.

A streak in the final three minutes of the second period in which Seattle outscored Portland 12-0 to take a 55-49 half-time lead gave the Sonics momentum going into the second half.

"We were all in tune for the game. We were not going to be denied," said veteran guard Fred Brown, whose 11 second-period points sparked the Sonics' rally before halftime.

"They made that run, and up until then it was pretty even," said Johnny Davis, whose 23 points paced the Blazers. "But that's when they got their momentum. They started playing with intensity. They played super basketball."

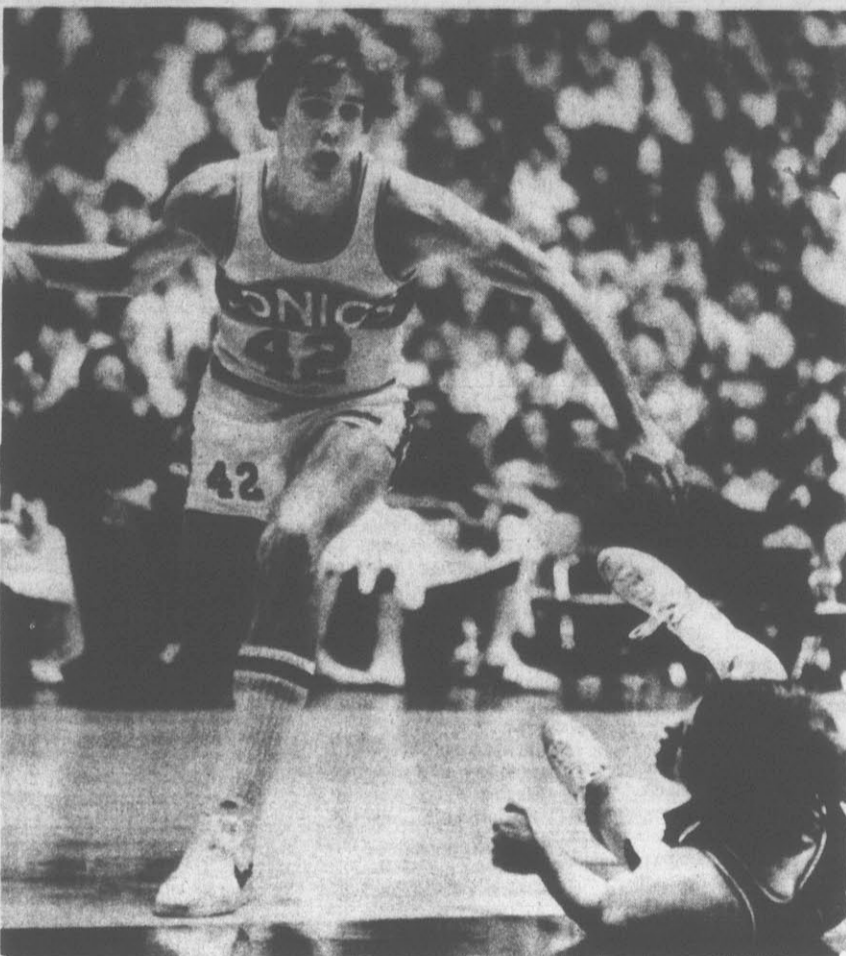

Playing without regulars Bill Walton and Bob Gross and key reserve Lloyd Neal because of injuries, the Blazers stayed close until midway in the final period. But six straight points on a pair of Dennis Johnson free throws and baskets by Wally Walker and Gus Williams gave Seattle an 83-73 lead with 8:07 to play. Portland never got closer than eight points after that.

"We played well with a lot of intensity, but they deserve to go on to higher things," said Maurice Lucas, who scored 22 points and pulled down 12 rebounds.

Alydar Expected To Be Firm Favorite

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Laz Barrera, trainer of Affirmed, says his colt not only faces a tough rival in Alydar for Saturday's 104th Kentucky

Derby, but he's bucking sentiment for the Calumet Farm colt.

Not even the presence of Kentucky-born-and-bred Steve Cauthen aboard Affirmed is expected to sway the favorite's role from Alydar, winner of the Flamingo, Florida Derby and Blue Grass Stakes.

"Logic says we should be the favorite," said Barrera on a chilly Monday morning at Churchill Downs. "We beat him four of six races. If this race was in California, Affirmed would be the favorite, but it's Kentucky, so Alydar will be favored."

Alydar's status as favorite will be built a great deal on the fact that Calumet Farm, winner of a record eight derbies, is a legend among racing fans, especially in Kentucky.

Adding to the sentiment: the owners, Admiral and Mrs. Gene Markey, are in their 80's, and Calumet hasn't had a Derby winner since Forward Pass won it in 1968 when Dancer's Image was disqualified.

Affirmed, owned by Harbor View Farm, scored those victories over Alydar last year and emerged as the Eclipse Award winner as the top 2-year-old. They haven't faced each other this year and both are unbeaten as 3-year-olds. Affirmed's big wins this year came in the Santa Anita and Hollywood Derbies.

"I know one thing," said Barrera. "My colt is very sound and in helluva good shape. All we need now is luck in the race. Knock on wood." The Cuban-born trainer saddled 1976 Derby winner Bold Forbes. Asked if he was apprehensive about having young Cauthen, appearing in his first Derby, as Affirmed's rider, Barrera said, "Cauthen learned how to be a jockey on this track. He's cool. He rides like he's been riding for 100 years."

Cauthen, of Walton, Ky., who turned 18 Monday, was the nation's leading rider in victories (487) and purse earnings with more than $6 million last year. He has been Affirmed's regular jockey except for the Santa Anita Derby when he was under suspension.

John Veitch, trainer for Alydar, said, "Alydar is a better horse now than he was last year. He's stronger, more professional and does everything easier than he did as a 2-year-old. There were times last year when he was unsure of himself. He's not like that anymore."

While Alydar and Affirmed are expected to be the top two choices, Joseph Taub's Sensitive Prince, unbeaten in six career starts, and Hickory Tree Stable's Believe It, the Wood Memorial winner, also are regarded as top contenders for the 1 1/4-mile race, first leg of thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown.

A field of 10 is likely, with the rest expected to be Chief of Dixieland, Hoist The Silver, Esops Foibles, Dr. Valeri, Darby Creek Road and Raymond Earl.

A handicap race in horse racing is one in which the weights to be carried are arbitrarily assigned by the racing secretary at the track.

Philadelphia Rips Seaver, Reds With 12-1 Win On National TV

By FRANK BROWN AP Sports Writer

What did they say in 1968, when Cy Young won 13 games and lost 21? Was there no hope at all in 1911, when he finished 7-10?

Did everyone then ask, "What's wrong with Cy Young?" the way everyone now is asking, "What's wrong with Tom Seaver?"

Six starts into the 1978 baseball season, Seaver is winless. His earned run average is 6.52. He is, in his own words, "embarrassed and extremely frustrated."

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson yanked Seaver in front of a national television audience Monday night after the right-hander, a three-time Young Award winner, gave up seven hits and seven runs — six of them earned — in less than three innings against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Worse, almost, was the six walks he handed out.

After eating Seaver alive in three innings, the Phillies picked their teeth the rest of the way. They finished with a 12-1 victory, leaving Cincinnati with the scraps and leaving everyone asking Tom Seaver what's wrong.

He answered the only way he could: "I wish I knew what it was. If I did, I wouldn't be in this situation."

In the other National League games, the San Francisco Giants trimmed the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates bested the San Diego

Padres 7-4 and the Atlanta Braves edged the New York Mets 6-5.

In the only American League games, the Boston Red Sox held on for a 9-6 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles and the New York Yankees topped the Kansas City Royals 8-4.

Giants 2, Cardinals 1

Terry Whitfield doubled and scored from second base on Mark Littell's wild pitch in the eighth inning for the winning run in San Francisco's victory over St. Louis.

The game was spiced by a ninth-inning argument between the Giants' Bill Madlock and rookie umpire Charlie Williams, who was behind the plate for the first time in a major league game.

Madlock, who had struck out twice, stepped out of the batter's box after the count went to two strikes against Cardinals reliever Pete Vukovich. Williams ordered Madlock back into the box, then signalled for Vukovich to throw when his directive was ignored.

Madlock, who had his back to the plate when the pitch was thrown, had to be restrained from going after Williams when the umpire cried, "Strike Three."

Somewhere in the hubbub was an eight-inning, six-hit performance by San Francisco's Vida Blue.

Pirates 7, Padres 4

Singles by Phil Garner and relief pitcher Jim Bibby keyed the three-run eighth-inning rally that sent Pittsburgh past San Diego. Braves 6, Mets 5. Biff Pocoroba and Jeff Burroughs had run-scoring hits in the eighth inning to help Atlanta beat New York in a game marked by four balks — three by Braves pitchers. Red Sox 9, Orioles 6. Jim Rice slugged a pair of two-run homers and Boston survived Baltimore's ninth-inning rally to snap a four-game losing streak.

Yankees 8, Royals 4

Lou Piniella scored Thurman Munson with the first of four seventh-inning runs to help the Yankees beat Kansas City.

Pirates Sign Junior Transfer

East Carolina University basketball coach Larry Gillman announced today the signing of a third player to a grant-in-aid. The latest player is Frank Hobson of Cadiz, Ky.

Hobson, 6-8, 200, comes to East Carolina from Clarendon Junior College in Clarendon, Tex. In Cadiz, Hobson attended Trigg County High School.

The BIC Scouting Service rated Hobson as one of the top ten junior college players in Texas this season and one of the top 50 junior college players overall in the country.

During the 1977-78 season, Hobson averaged 18.3 points per game and 10.0 rebounds per game. He was named to the first team all-Western Texas Junior College Conference. MVP in the Clarendon Junior College festival, all-Region V, and MVP in the Eastern Oklahoma State Junior College Classic.

As a prepster, Hobson was named honorable mention all-State in Kentucky as a senior, averaging 16 points and 12 rebounds per game. His team was district champions and regional runner-up, while Hobson was named all-district and all-region.

This marks the third announced signing by Gillman. Earlier, 6-11 Al Tyson of Winterville, N.C., and 6-7 Mark McLaurin of Springfield, Mass., were announced as having signed grants-in-aid to play at East Carolina.

Women Told Programmed For Defeat

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

"All your life, you have programmed to lose," Pat Moore, sports writer for the Greensboro Daily News told the East Carolina University women's athletic banquet audience last night.

Ms. Moore added that the women are their own worst opponents due to the way they had been programmed.

Linda Christian, a member of the field hockey team was honored as the Student Advisory Council of Intercollegiate Athletics' "Most Dedicated Athlete" award. The award is based on leadership, scholarship, ability and dedication, and is given annually to a senior. Miss Christian also received the Most Valuable Player award for field hockey.

Rosie Thompson was named the Most Valuable Player in basketball, and Claire Baker received the Most Improved Award in tennis.

Ms. Moore, who recounted stories from her own youth on several occasions, pointed out that when in the eighth grade, she was picked to race against several other girls in a field day exercise. Due to false starts, the race was run three times. Each of the first two times, she tried to watch the girl she feared most, and failed to win each of these times. On the final time, she decided to run her own race, and not look around, and won.

"I learned that my own worst opponent was myself," she told the group.

Back in the days of the original Olympic games, women were not even allowed to watch, let alone participate, Moore pointed out. "Women fought wars, bore children, cleared land and built houses, but were not allowed to participate in sports. It wasn't until the late 1800's that women's sports programs began, and even then, the greatest concern was over what they would wear."

There was also worry over whether the women would lose their femininity by playing sports.

"Being an athlete is not going to make you big and muscular," Moore said.

"You must realize in your own head that you are good and you can be good. You have to get past the fact that you've been told you can't do it. Girls can't dunk the ball, we're told. Well, I look for Rosie Thompson to start dunking it, because I think she can," she said.

"Keep your eye on the finish line—your goals, aspirations and dreams. Look at women's athletics in a new way. There are so many career openings available. There are only 70 or 80 women in sports journalism across the country; we need that many in North Carolina alone. Do you realize that uniforms are not even designed for women yet? They are men's uniforms cut down. There is a need for women in sports administration, and in sports research."

Moore added that women should have no fears. "The fears you have are those you give yourself. Don't be afraid to be a woman or to be an athlete. Be strong, be free, be brave, and be whole. Do everything in the world you want to do. Be willing to take a chance."

The banquet, sponsored by the Student Advisory Council of Intercollegiate Athletics, honored the East Carolina women

Campbell Is Oiler's Pick

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Houston Oilers, to the surprise of absolutely no one, officially made Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell their No. 1 choice in the opening round of the National Football League's college draft today.

The University of Texas running back, who gained 1,744 yards and was the fifth leading ground-gainer in major college history, was the man the Oilers wanted as the Houston equivalent of Tony Dorsett, the sensational runner who solidified the Dallas Cowboys' offense last season.

To get the shot at the 6-foot, 200-pound Campbell, the Oilers gave Tampa Bay, which owned the No. 1 overall selection, four draft choices (two this season and two next year) and tight end Jimmy Giles.

Houston Coach Bum Phillips, when asked whether Campbell would line up at halfback or fullback, quipped: "After you get the ball in your hands it doesn't make much difference where you're coming from. It's where you're going to that counts."

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle made the announcement of Houston's selection, then Campbell spoke momentarily, thanking his agent, Mike Trope, for making him an instant millionaire. Campbell has agreed to terms with the Oilers.

The burly running back from Tyler, Texas, then posed with his new uniform with No. 34 on the jersey.

The Kansas City Chiefs, with a defense that ranked dead last among the NFL's 28 teams last year, had the second choice and selected Art Still, a 6-foot-7 defensive end from the University of Kentucky.

Ali Understands Leon

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali, perhaps better than anyone else, can understand the problems of his recent conqueror, Leon Spinks.

"Being world heavyweight champion is not tough at all," Ali told a small group of reporters that gathered around him before a news conference Monday to announce that the Ali-Spinks rematch would be televised live by ABC Sports. "But you can make it hard on yourself."

Spinks, 24, who took Ali's world heavyweight title with a 15-round split decision Feb. 15 in Las Vegas, has been arrested twice in his hometown of St. Louis since he became champion.

He was stripped of his title by the World Boxing Council for not fighting Ken Norton before agreeing to a rematch with Ali Sept. 15 in New Orleans. The World Boxing Association still recognizes Spinks.

He has been sued for back rent on an apartment in Philadelphia, and he has barrowed money from his manager of record, Mitt Barnes, who has been struggling with Top Rank Inc., and Leon's attorney, Judge Ed Bell, for control of the fighter.

The first arrest was for driving without a license and driving the wrong way down a one-way street. The second was for possession of cocaine and marijuana. Bell says papers have not yet been served on the latest charges, and that Spinks, who lives in Detroit, will get a Michigan driver's license today.

"He's got to realize he's human, and the law is for everybody," said Ali. "There is no VIP treatment. I do things that if I got caught, I would be in trouble, too. I'm sure that the things that happened to Spinks have happened to everybody."

"When the policeman comes up to you, you say, 'Yessir, boss,' but he got proud and says, 'Come on, man, you know who I am. I'm Leon Spinks, heavyweight champion of the world.'"

"And the policeman says, 'You know who I am. I'm offcer Jones. Let's go.'"

Later, during the news conference, Ali told Spinks: "You know, you're doing something real smart 'cause I wasn't recognized as champion until I beat (Sonny) Liston twice ... all through history, the challenger has had to beat the champion twice before he was recognized. But next time you won't catch me off guard; next time you'll see a better Ali, and a better Leon Spinks."

Two Wins Chicod In

GRIFTON — Chicod swept a doubleheader from Whitfield yesterday.

Chicod won the girls' softball game, 23-2. Zina Harrington led Chicod with three hits, including a homer. Jo Lyn Hardy and Annette Manning each added three hits, while Laura Ellison and Hope Jones each had two.

In the boys' baseball game, Chicod took a 6-3 win. Jeff Cox, Roy Lassiter and Todd Rouse each had two hits for Chicod.

Seeking Two For League

The Winterville Recreation Committee is seeking one women's and one men's softball team to complete the field for the regular season, which begins May 15.

Any interested teams should contact Ricky Phillips at 756-3105 or 756-6391 before May 8. Fees are $150 for local teams and $200 for non-local teams.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 3, 1978

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Not a good time to take any chances by putting in motion a new plan that has anything of a risky nature connected with it. At the same time, it is an excellent time to seek out and delve into all up-to-date information that will help you in the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Give more attention to home affairs and show more consideration for family members. Know what your personal goals are and how best to gain them. Avoid one who is anxious to gossip.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take the time to be with good friends and talk over mutual interests, come to a fine understanding. Try not to be forceful where something important is concerned or you lose out instead.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Analyze what your true position is where interests are concerned of every size and nature. Plan how to improve it. Don't be so demanding with a loved, but give time to handle own affairs better.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Gain the favor of a prominent person you know so that you can improve in career matters. Become as efficient as possible and impress others favorably. Avoid one who is jealous of you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have to change your attitude if you are to make a big success of an interest that has not been working well. Plan that trip you have in mind, but don't start right out now. Be wise.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Good time to pay bills and collect money due you. Be more encouraging with a loved one and come to a better understanding.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you clarify your ideas and motives with associates you can gain their cooperation easily now. Find a new method of doing things where public work is concerned and get better results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can get all your work done well if you use a new and more efficient method now. Come to a better understanding with fellow workers and increase production.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Know what your true aims are and how best to gain them now. Accept any invitations for social fun. Reach a fine rapport with one you love. Show you are devoted.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A situation at home needs proper handling, so don't argue, but take care of it quietly, intelligently. Make sure business affairs are in good order.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are able to comprehend data and written material, reports much better now, so make the most of this. Handle correspondence you have been putting off.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get to work early on monetary affairs that are important to your welfare. Listen to what an adviser has to suggest and follow advice.

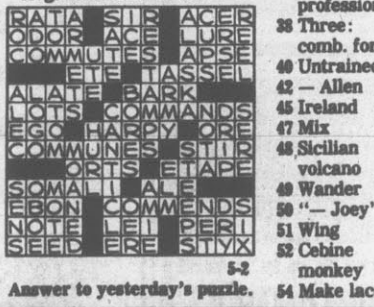

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be able to formulate new plans and carry through with them in a most wise and successful way. Teach early to complete whatever is once started. Don't neglect training or sports to build up the body and ego either. An intellectual person here.

...The Stars inspire, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Today's Cryptoquip clue: V equals S

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Few Changes In ABC Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC will top three current series from its prime time schedule this fall and add only 3 1/2 hours of new programming in an effort to continue as frontrunner in the networks' ratings race.

"The few changes we are making in our fall prime time schedule are testimony to the faith we have in our current schedule and the stability and leadership we have achieved over the past few years," James Duffy, president of the television network, said in a statement Monday.

It was ABC's first fall schedule since the announced departure of programming chief Fred Silverman and the network clearly was reluctant to tamper with success.

Silverman, who has been credited with steering ABC out of last place in the ratings and into its current position ahead of CBS and NBC, announced in January he would leave ABC to become president and chief executive at NBC.

He reportedly was not involved in fall programming at either network, primarily because of the timing of his departure.

CBS and NBC plan to announce their fall schedules in the next several weeks.

ABC said 21 programs from the current schedule would be back in the fall — all but "The Six Million Dollar Man," "Fish" and "Baretta." Most holdovers will stay in their current time periods, ABC said.

The upcoming ABC season, to begin Sept. 11, will include three new comedies, an adventure program set in Las Vegas and a science-fantasy series, the network said.

Richard Nixon Giving A Party

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Richard Nixon, who until recently kept himself secluded in California, is planning a May 21 publishing party at his San Clemente estate.

The guests will include the editor of Nixon's memoirs, Robert Markel of Grosset & Dunlap; publisher Harold Roth, and two executives of Warner Books.

Warner paid Nixon a reported $2 million for rights to "RN: The Memoirs of Richard Nixon." The $19.95 book will be published May 15.

Nixon also has invited former U.S. prisoners of war to his home May 27 during the commemoration in nearby Los Angeles of their release from North Vietnam five years ago.

BLAMES TELEVISION

MIAMI (AP) — Claiming television programs triggered him to kill his neighbor, 15-year-old Ronny Zamora and his parents have sued the three major television networks for $25 million.

Henry Fonda's Talents Undimmed By 73 Years

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Henry Fonda turns 73 this month, but age hasn't diminished his excellence as an actor. Case in point: his work tonight in CBS' "Home to Stay," a gentle yarn about the ravages of age.

He plays an old Illinois farmer, a recent stroke victim slowly going senile but resisting attempts by his son, Frank (Michael McGuire), to put him in a nursing home to await an ungranted finale.

Two kids aid his fight, granddaughter Sara and her boyfriend, Joey, 14, respectively played by Kristen Vigard and David Stambaugh in a manner that almost steals the show from Fonda, a veteran scene-stealer.

"Home" initially is a bit awkward in establishing that:

—Sara's folks were killed in an accident and her Uncle Frank resents the burden of caring for both her and his father at the farm.

—Fonda owns the farm, but refuses to sign it over to his son to back a loan needed to compete against corporate farming companies.

—Frank, who says his father is "not sound half the time," fears his dad, occasionally acting erratically and suffering memory loss, will unwittingly deed the family farm to outsiders.

But once this is past, the show becomes fine drama, with Fonda etching a subtle, gently humorous portrait of a man whose faculties are failing but not his spirit. Though his son hopes to have a town doctor declare Fonda mentally incompetent, granddaughter Sara opposes the idea.

Loving the old man, hating the thought of him in a nursing home, she hatches a plot to have another doctor — married to her aunt — certify him competent before Frank can act.

Problem: The doctor lives several hundred miles away in Chicago. So she enlists pal Joey to put Grandpa's frail old pickup truck in shape for the voyage. Then they whisk him away.

With Joey driving illegally, they take back roads, get stuck in a rainstorm, have mechanical woes and must stop at nightfall at a rural boarding house with their exhausted passenger.

What ensues when the kids and the old man finally wheel into Chicago in their wheezing, stripped-gear steed? Well, I suggest you set aside 90 minutes tonight, turn on CBS and find out for yourself.

This proceeding, in addition to excellent acting, is solid in all other departments, including Suzanne Clouser's script, Delbert Mann's direction and Hagood Hardy's unobtrusive score.

Filmed in Canada, the show comes from the New York emporium of David Susskind, who forever is grouting that television drama in America has fallen on hard times. He may be right.

But he sure offers a ray of hope with "Home to Stay."

Urge Residents Attend Meeting

FOUNTAIN — Residents of Fountain are urged to attend the second public meeting to prepare a Community Development Grant application.

This meeting will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Town Hall. At this meeting specific proposals for community improvements will be made, based on findings made in previous public meetings in which problem areas were identified.

Topics to be discussed include the purpose of the Community Development Program; a review of the previous meeting; the specific projects proposed, with cost estimates; and the estimated overall benefits of the program.

Interested persons may get more information from the Town Hall or Bill Shelly at the Mid-East Commission — 946-8043.

Even looking at all four hands it is not easy to see how South went down at the contract of four spades. The setting trick came from the trump suit, and declarer was helpless to prevent it!

As the cards lie, three no trump would have been unbeatable. However, North cannot be blamed for choosing four spades as the final contract. His probing auction had revealed that his side had no heart stopper, so three no trump seemed an unnecessary risk.

West led the king of hearts, and East signalled encouragement by dropping the nine. An unthinking defender would have continued with the ace of hearts and another, to complete the defensive book. However, that would have been all the defenders could collect, and the contract would have waltzed home.

Before leading to the second trick, West paused

'Duke' Says He Is Much Closer

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Actor John Wayne says he feels he is a month ahead of his recovery schedule because of the warm welcome he has received while recuperating at home from open-heart surgery.

Wayne, 70, was relaxing on his bay-front patio when a flotilla of Newport-Balboa area yachtsmen sailed by Sunday to wish him well.

"The medical profession tells me that when they saw you down the middle, carve out new things for your heart, that it takes about three months to get feeling well again," Wayne said Monday in a prepared statement. "Well" is a wonderful word, and I think your welcome put me a month closer to it. Thank you."

Recovering In Hospital

Ed Walker, executive vice president of the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce, is expected to be released this week from Pitt Memorial Hospital where he has been undergoing treatment for a blood clot in his right lung, his wife reported Monday.

Mrs. Jane Walker said that her husband was admitted to Pitt Memorial last Wednesday suffering from the blood clot and partially collapsed lung.

According to Mrs. Walker, the chest chamber official was admitted to the Intensive Care Unit at the hospital for treatment but showed no progress in care.

Mrs. Walker said that doctors have indicated that Walker may be able to go home on Wednesday.

"He's doing better," she related, pointing out that "it's a matter now of getting his strength back."

Election Quirks Appear In Today's N.C. Voting

By The Associated Press
In today's primaries across North Carolina, brother is pit against brother, and two couples are running for political offices. Among other quirks, a female sheriff's candidate is trying to become her husband's boss.

Wilson County Sheriff Robin Pridden, 54, faces his brother, Thomas, an insurance salesman, and three other opponents today in a race that may be tainted by a federal probe of alleged prostitution and gambling operations. Also running are Gene Pearson, 38, a former deputy, and Charles N. Lee, 51, a former state trooper.

Federal investigators are looking into allegations that Pridden may have accepted payments for himself or his deputies in exchange for allowing the activities to continue, according to published reports. But the campaign has been quiet for the most part.

In Durham County, Sheriff W.A. "Bill" Allen is being challenged by six candidates, including Lois Davis, the wife of Deputy C.W. Davis.

Mrs. Davis, a 56-year-old grandmother, worked 13 years as a secretary and administrator in the Durham Police Department. A city ordinance required her to leave that job — under protest — when she entered the race for sheriff.

She does not feel her husband's position as deputy would raise a potential conflict if she is elected.

"I don't think there will be any problems," she said Monday. "but he is prepared to retire should there be any hassle."

Mrs. Davis said she and her husband had "made a lot of jokes" about her possibly becoming his boss.

Meanwhile, Neal and Elizabeth Smith of Woodleaf are running for separate seats in the General Assembly, and Randy and Joyce Leatherman Duncan of Hickory are vying for district judgeships.

Mrs. Smith is the only one of the four who is opposed in Tuesday's primary. She and four other candidates are seeking the Democratic nomination for two seats in the 21st Senate District, which includes Rowan, Davidson and Davie counties. Smith is seeking a third term as a representative from the 31st House District comprising Rowan County.

He says he is excited about the possibility he and his wife might be serving together in the legislature at the same time.

"It would be really great to have the opportunity to communicate with someone you're not competing with," he said.

Mrs. Smith has not run for elective office before but has been involved in politics for the Democratic Party in local and state roles.

The Duncans are running for two of the five judgeships in the 25th judicial District composed of Caldwell, Catawba and Burke counties.

Mrs. Duncan is seeking the judicial seat now held by William J. Martin of Hickory. Since she has no Republican opposition, she will face the winner of the primary race between Martin and Jack Williams.

Duncan, who served for a short time as a district judge under an appointment by former Gov. Jim Holshouser Jr. is not opposed in the Republican primary. Four candidates are vying for the Democratic nomination.

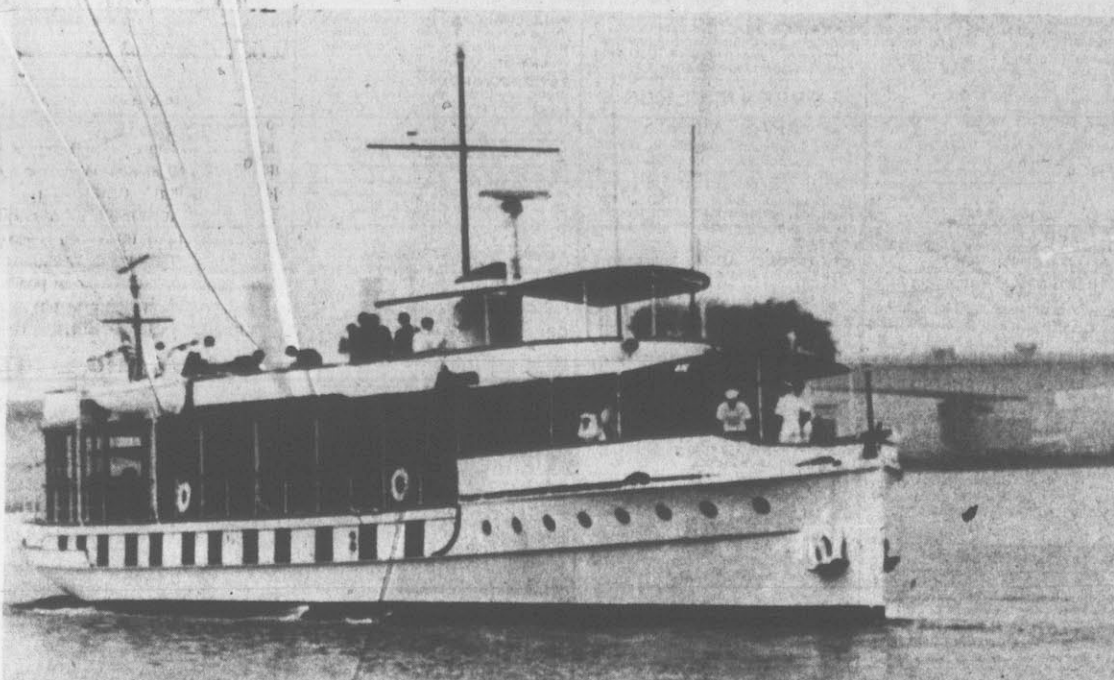

Meanwhile, in Orange County, it's the voters, not the candidates, that comprise the biggest controversy in today's primary. A group of conservatives has filed challenges to 6,500 voter registrations, most of them involving University of North Carolina students in Chapel Hill.

The group contends the 6,500 voters are not bona-fide county residents.

Election officials today were to rule on each of the challenges involving full-time undergraduate students. Before being allowed to vote, a student under challenge will have a hearing before a three-member panel at the polls.

Others under challenge will be required only to sign affidavits stating they are not full-time undergraduates.

CONSIDER BUYING YACHT — A House panel is considering buying back the former presidential yacht Sequoia, and the new owner who paid $285,000 for it is figuring the price right now at about $1 million for openers. Rep. Phillip Burton, D-Calif., chairman of the House Interior subcommittee on national parks, is passing the Sequoia buy-back as part of a wide-ranging national parks bill. Owner Norman F. Pulliam currently has the yacht at a boatyard for refurbishing and plans to put the Sequoia on exhibit at Myrtle Beach, S.C. (AP Laserphoto)

Restorer Dies

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Mrs. May Gordon Latham Kellenberger, 84, a key participant in nearly every major historical restoration project in North Carolina for many years, died Monday afternoon in Greensboro.

Mrs. Kellenberger was best known for her role in restoring New Bern's Tryon Palace, which served as the state's capitol in colonial times.

Mrs. Kellenberger became chairman of the restoration committee in 1951 while her husband, John A. Kellenberger, became finance officer and treasurer.

Between 1953 and 1960, $3.5 million was spent on restoring the palace. Much of the funds came from the estate of Maudie Moore Latham, Mrs. Kellenberger's mother, who had donated it for that purpose.

Funeral services for Mrs. Kellenberger will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at First Presbyterian Church.

PWP Chapter Meets Tonight

Greenville Chapter No. 1058 of Parents Without Partners Inc. will hold an introductory meeting tonight at 7:30 at Tippy's Taco House.

This meeting is being held to explain the purpose and goals of PWP and is open to all eligible single parents. Literature about the organization will be available. Interested guests are encouraged to arrive at 6:30 and eat with the group.

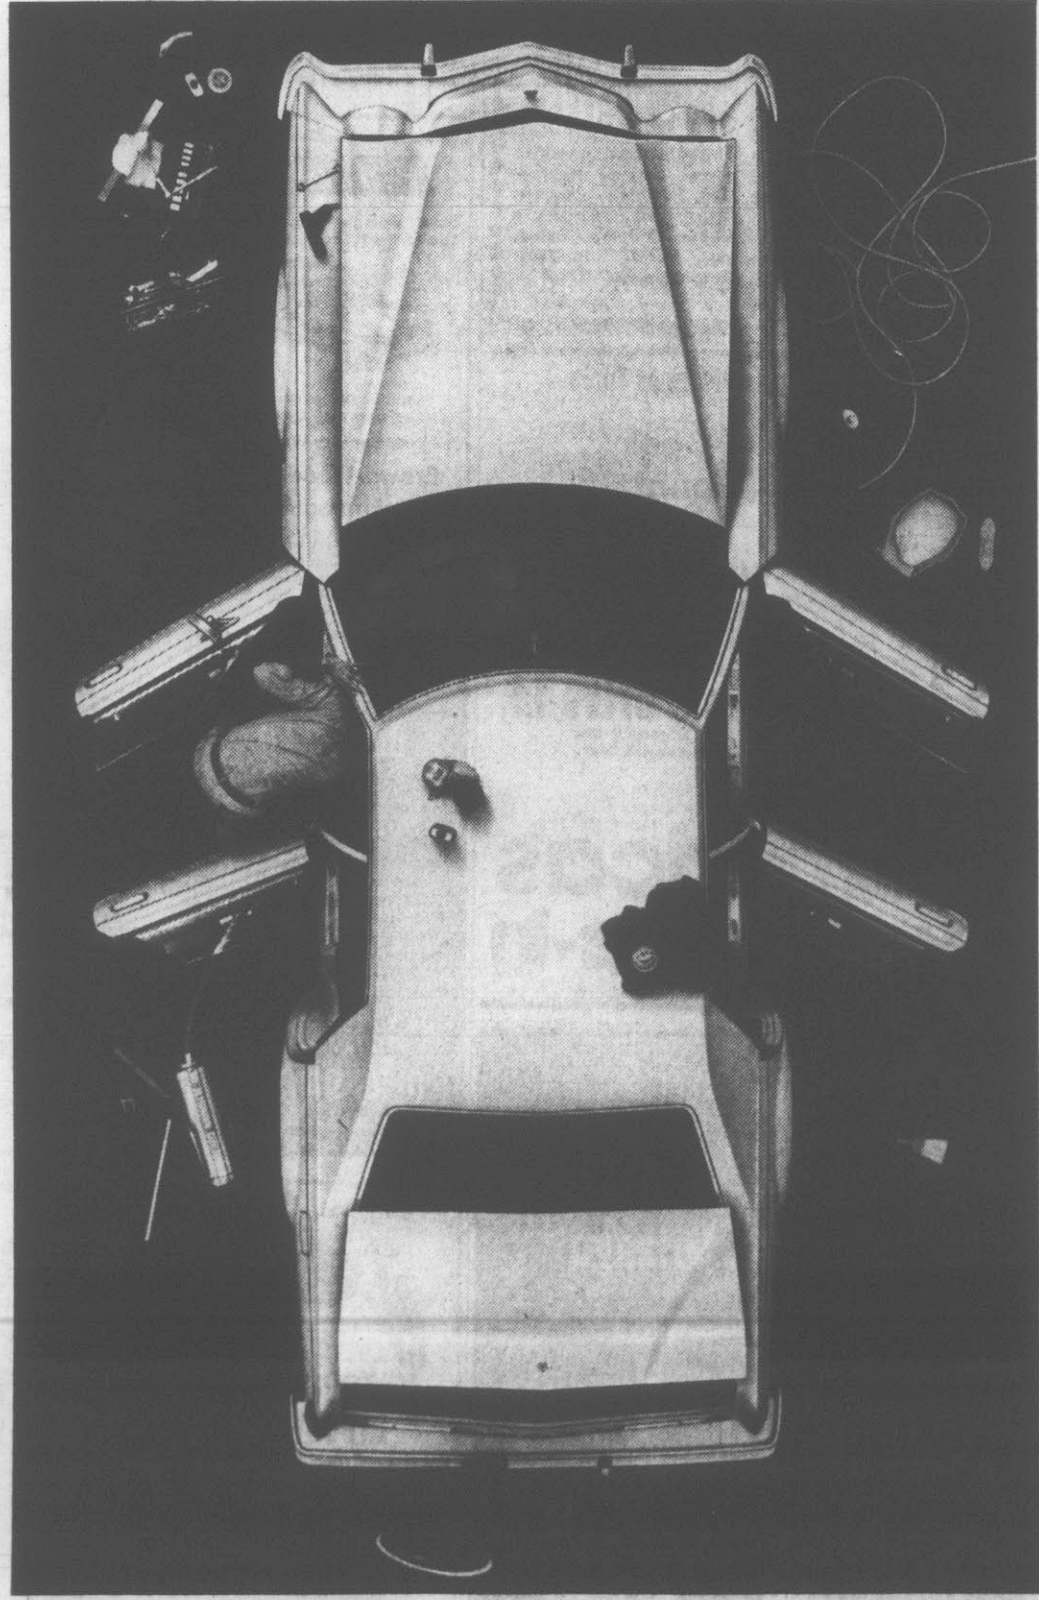

To be eligible for PWP, one must be single and the parent of a living child. Custody is not a factor. Single men who see their children on weekends are especially encouraged to participate, as the organization offers a number of activities to promote greater interaction between fathers and their children. For more information, one may call 752-1674 evenings.

Cars In Mishap On Boulevard

An estimated $300 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 5:02 p.m. mishap on Greenville Boulevard, 50 feet West of the Arlington Boulevard intersection yesterday.

Police identified the drivers of the cars involved as Denise Lynn Marchetti of Richmond, Va., and Mattie Perkins Edwards of Route 4, Greenville.

How your old car can get you the best deal on a new car.

When you buy a car, there's more to consider than just the price of the car and the amount of money you're going to have to borrow.

There's also the amount of money that you put into your old car to get it ready for trade-in.

Some people spend too much; some spend too little.

Either way, it can make as much as a $500 difference in the total amount of money you spend.

So here are some tips on getting your old car ready.

1. Wash and polish the car; touch up paint and chrome.
2. Clean the upholstery, vacuum carpet, wash mats, clean out glove compartment and trunk.
3. Check gas, water, oil, brake and transmission fluids; make sure tires have the right pressure.
4. Replace burned-out light bulbs.

You can do all this yourself for no more than $25.

Now here are some expenses you should avoid:

1. A new paint job. It can make it appear that you're trying to "cover up" some major problem.
2. Major repairs. It'll cost you a lot more than you'll get out of it. So settle for a lower trade-in, if there's a big problem with the car.

All told, this should give you a "better deal" on a new car.

And, if you'd like an idea of the amount you can borrow before you look for a new car, come see us.

We'll give you a fast, direct answer, not a runaround. We'll work out the payment plan that works best for you. (If you like, we can even arrange automatic payments from your NCNB Checking Account.)

In short, we'll do all we can to make things easier for you. Which is probably why, in one way or another, more people borrow money from us than any other bank in North Carolina.

Telephone Ad Backfired

OTTAWA (AP) — "It has backfired," a Bell Canada operator says with a chuckle of a company television advertisement.

The ad showed a Bell operator telling about the time she helped out a caller by providing advice on how to cook a chicken. It was part of an $800,000 "Bell commitment" promotional campaign that ended Saturday.

But the campaign started in early March and Bell operators say they were deluged by callers who poked fun at the ad by requesting cooking instructions.

The company should never have run the ad, one Ottawa directory assistance operator said. It certainly backfired, said another. "It got to be a bit of a hassle," said a third.

Richard Martin, who coordinated the ad campaign, disagreed.

The chicken-cooking ad was not meant to be taken literally and most of the public seemed to understand that, Martin said. The company didn't keep a running tally on the number of troublesome phone calls or complaints the ad prompted, he said.
