Dominican Power Struggle Rumored

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — President Joaquin Balaguer's government says vote counting in the presidential election will resume as soon as the country vote is in.

Amid rumors of a power struggle among four military factions, Balaguer's chief opponent, left-of-center Antonio Guzman, claimed victory and asked President Carter for help.

National police invaded the central election headquarters in Santo Domingo early Wednesday and stopped the count of votes cast in the election Tuesday after Guzman rolled up a big lead over the more conservative Balaguer. But leaders of the armed forces denied that they were trying to take control of the country, as right-wing military commanders did in 1963 when they ousted the founder of Guzman's Dominican Revolutionary Party, President Juan Bosch.

Political sources said the U.S. government was urging that the electoral process be carried out without further interference.

"There is all kinds of pressure against the military," said one source.

The State Department issued a statement in Washington reiterating its "concern that the electoral process and the results of the election be respected."

The electoral board said as soon as it "receives the statements of voting in each municipality and the national district it will proceed to the tabulation of the votes for national elections." But it gave no indication when it expected that to happen.

"In carrying out its duties, the board will continue, as it has until now, acting with strict adherence to the legal norms and the impartiality that have guided its actions," the statement said.

At the time the police stopped the vote count, more than a fourth of the vote had been counted and Guzman was leading the 70-year-old president 326,027 to 218,073 votes. Balaguer, a left-over from the Trujillo dictatorship who was first elected in 1966, is seeking his fourth four-year term.

"It is up to the electoral board to declare me the winner," Guzman, a 67-year-old businessman and landowner, told a news conference. "We will not allow the official election results to be altered."

"Jimmy Carter and Joaquin Balaguer committed themselves before world public opinion to have free elections," he added. "We are convinced Balaguer will respect that promise."

Balaguer, reported at the national palace, issued no statement. He said after a visit to Washington in September that Carter assured him the U.S. government would not interfere in the election and would respect the result.

No Reduction For Social Meeting On Security Pay Deductions Rescue In Zaire's War

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A $19.4 billion tax cut tentatively approved by Congress will likely be used to cut your income taxes, but not your Social Security payroll deductions.

The House Ways and Means Committee reversed itself Wednesday and voted not to apply part of the tax cut to Social Security.

But backers of the payroll tax cut this year for 106 million Americans are not conceding defeat. Rep. Fortney Stark, D-Calif., said the fight will be carried to the Democratic Caucus, the rules committee and the full House.

Even if that effort is successful in the House, sentiment for a Social Security tax cut is not nearly so strong in the Senate.

In quick order Wednesday:

—The House Ways and Means Committee voted 21-16 against any reduction in Social Security taxes this year. The same panel had agreed 19-18 only six days earlier on a $14.5 billion rollback.

—The House gave final approval, by a vote of 201 to 198, to a federal budget for fiscal 1979, the 12 months that begin on Oct. 1 this year. The $498.8 billion spending proposal would accommodate a tax cut of $19.4 billion in either income taxes, Social Security taxes or a combination of the two.

Total spending would be about $600 million less than President Carter recommended. The Senate-passed budget, which will guide Congress in considering spending and taxing bills over the next 4½ months, is not subject to consideration by the president.

—The House rejected, 228-167, a bill that would raise the ceiling on the national debt and allow the government to borrow enough money to finance the $50.9 billion deficit anticipated in that budget. The current debt limit expires Aug. 1.

The deficit is almost $10 billion lower than what Carter anticipated when he submitted his budget proposals last January. The reduction resulted mainly from Carter's decision — with approval of the budget committees — to pare his proposed tax cut in order to moderate inflation.

Rep. Robert Giarmo, D-Conn., chairman of the House Budget Committee, said a reduction in Social Security taxes would be a strong step toward further reducing inflationary pressures. But such a cut is opposed by the Carter administration and by a growing number of lawmakers, even in this election year.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the Ways and Means committee, had voted for the rollback when it was approved by his panel last week. But he told colleagues Wednesday he had voted that way primarily because the House Democratic Caucus had instructed his committee to write a Social Security tax cut bill.

"I have decided that I cannot live with a vote" to cut Social Security taxes in a way that would result in massive uses of income taxes for the pension system, Ullman said. He and three other members who had supported the rollback a week earlier changed their votes and the bill was killed.

The bill would have used $14.5 billion of income taxes to make up for a cut of the same size in Social Security taxes.

SUSPEND TRADING

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Trading in Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. stock was halted by the New York Stock Exchange about mid-day Wednesday amid rumors of a takeover bid by R.J. Reynolds Industries Inc. Trading remained suspended today.

Would-Be Looter Ran Against Super-Sisters

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Television's Charlie's Angels would be hard pressed to match the real-life performance of three Philadelphia nuns given police awards after showing no mercy to a would-be bandit.

"He went up against the wrong girls," said Sister Marie Sullivan, 40, with a puckish grin. "He thought a convent of nuns would be easy."

Sister Marie and Sisters Dorothy Payne and Anita Cecilia tackled and choked the would-be church looter, then used him as a makeshift pew until police arrived to make the pinch.

"I think he was happy to see the police come," Sister Marie said Wednesday during ceremonies where the three Sisters of St. Joseph were cited as citizen heroes by the police department.

The adventure began last Oct. 3 when a man identified by police as Juan West, 18, and described as slender but powerful, emerged from a second-floor porch at St. Columba's Church, his arms laden with books and religious garments.

The first to confront him was Sister Dorothy, 38. The 5-foot-2 nun first grabbed the intruder by the hood of his jacket, tearing the cloth and dropping the man to the floor.

"I was really upset about choking him," Sister Dorothy said at the ceremony. "But...you do what you have to do."

When the trespasser broke free of Sister Dorothy's grip and bolted toward a stairwell, he learned a second hard lesson about nuns — they apparently share their skills with their students.

About three steps above the culprit on the stairs was student Maurice Myles, 14, who quickly surveyed the situation, then made a flying leap onto the man's back, knocking him flat.

By this time, Sisters Marie and Anita had arrived on the scene and proceeded to sit on the man, with a little help from the added weight of Myles' classmates Brandon Knight and Mark Rigney, both 13.

"We twisted his arm behind him," related Sister Marie, the mischievous twinkle in her eye belying her delight at having been part of the drama.

When the man tried to grab one of his captors, Sister Marie said she twisted his arm harder, then politely told him: "Sir, let go or I'll break your arm."

Sister Anita, 42, who already had lifted her voice above the heavens with screams that raised the first general alarm, then called the police.

West was arrested and charged with burglary, theft, assault and receiving stolen property, police said.

Police Commissioner Joseph O'Neill broke into laughter while reading the award citations for the sisters and their three students.

"Hey," O'Neill laughed, "this would make a great movie."

Police Arrest Local Man In Connection With Blast, Fire

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer
Greenville Police yesterday afternoon — some six hours after an explosion and fire injured the owner of Tarheel Truck Rentals on Airport Road — arrested a 53-year-old East Carolina University associate professor in connection with the incident.

Chief Glenn Cannon identified the man as Joashley Marshall Colcord of 1738 Beaumont Dr. Colcord, the chief noted, was charged with the "use of an explosive or incendiary device," in connection with the 9:15 a.m. incident, and placed under a $25,000 bond.

Conviction on the charge, Cannon said, could mean a 10 to 30 year prison sentence for Colcord, a certified public accountant and associate professor in the School of Business at ECU.

Cannon said Colcord allegedly went to the 305 Airport Rd. business carrying two glass jugs containing a flammable liquid, such as gasoline or kerosene, and broke them on the floor near the door to the office. The liquid ignited, burning G. Vincent Howell who was at the door, on the legs. The fire then traveled up the front wall of the building and set insulation on the roof of the structure afire.

Howell and a secretary escaped from the office area through a window, with the assistance of another employee who was working at the rear of the building when the explosion and fire erupted. Howell was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment of the burns.

Cannon said this morning that Colcord was taken into custody at his home, without incident, about 3:20 p.m.

A Cuthbert, Georgia, native, Colcord served in the U.S. Army from 1943 to 1945 in Europe and from 1950 to 1952 in Korea. He received his BS degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1950, and a master of business administration degree from the University of Georgia in 1954. He taught at the University of Miami from 1954 to 1958 and at East Tennessee State from 1958 to 1967. He came to ECU in 1967.

Colcord is married and has four children.

PUPPY SHOT

Our four-month-old collie puppy was shot between the ears at point blank range with a 22-caliber rifle Monday a week ago. The shooting apparently took place in the woods behind Eastbrook Subdivision. The animal's body was placed on the train tracks. We feel it was a child or teenager who did this and have seen persons as young as nine and 10 going into the woods with lethal weapons without adult supervision. A person has to be 18 to do a lot of seemingly less dangerous things. Is there any law against a person under 18 carrying a gun? And are these woods in the Greenville City Limits? The Greenville Police Department responded very promptly to our request for assistance, but so far have not turned up the person who committed this act. We have offered a $50 reward for information, mainly because we fear for the children of this area if such a person is not found out and given counseling or other appropriate help. L. S.

Hotline contacted Chief Glenn Cannon, who said he was not previously aware of the case. He said there is a law that no person of any age shall discharge a firearm, even an air rifle, in the city limits. Anyone who sees someone carrying a gun or hears shooting in town should call the police, he said.

We also called the Pitt County Humane Society, which is investigating. It was an error, the Humane Society pointed out, that the dog was not taken to a veterinarian within a few hours to have the bullet removed so it might be identified. You say the police officer advised you against this action, saying this isn't usually done in dog-shooting cases. It should be done, the Humane Society says, in any mysterious death of an animal, including poisonings which have also been prevalent in this area lately.

We also checked with Kay Dunn, Wildlife Protection Officer, who said there is no law in the rural areas against a child's carrying a firearm with or without adult supervision.

We could not get a clear answer from the City Engineering Department as to whether the woods you're referring to are in the city limits or not. A spokesman said he believes the line goes through part of them.

Anyone having information which might lead to the arrest of the person and possibly to the $50 reward you're giving is asked to contact either the Greenville Police Department, the Pitt County Humane Society or Hotline.

'Dissident' Is Sentenced

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet dissident Yuri Orlov was sentenced today to seven years in a labor camp plus five years internal exile, meaning banishment from Moscow.

A Moscow court gave Orlov the maximum sentence on a charge of anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda, based on documents he wrote and distributed to Western correspondents and embassies.

Orlov has been held incommunicado since his arrest 15 months ago.

The verdict was handed down after Soviet police arrested Nobel Peace Prize winner Andrei D. Sakharov and his wife and drove off with them after the couple struck officers outside the court.

Sakharov, the 56-year-old leader of the Soviet dissident movement, demanded that police allow him and his wife, Yelena, to enter the courthouse, from which they had been barred during the first three days of the trial.

The tall, balding Sakharov shouted: "Let me in! Under Soviet law all citizens are allowed in when the sentence is read."

The police appeared to be trying to calm the situation. But there was a scuffle, witnesses said Mrs. Sakharov slapped a policeman in the face, and her husband hit a policeman who was trying to restrain him.

The police then seized Sakharov by his arms, bundled him and his wife into a green bus and drove away with them.

"Nobel Prize for Orlov!" Sakharov shouted as the bus drove away.

It was the second time the Sakharovs were involved in an incident outside a Soviet courthouse. Two years ago they struck policemen at a courthouse in Qmsk, in Siberia, when they were barred from the trial of Mustafa Djemilev, a Tatar nationalist who was sentenced to 2½ years in a labor camp.

Orlov, held incommunicado since his arrest 15 months ago, was charged with anti-

Soviet agitation and propaganda. His trial after a two-year Kremlin crackdown on dissidents began Monday, and Western reporters and other dissidents were barred from the heavily guarded courtroom.

YURI ORLOV

Orlov, a 53-year-old physicist, was a founder of a group to publicize Soviet failure to comply with the human rights provisions of the 1975 Helsinki agreements. Since its creation two years ago, the group has passed scores of documents to Western correspondents and embassies.

The prosecution sought to establish Orlov's guilt by presenting documents he wrote and distributed as head of the group and bringing witnesses to reject the charges in the documents.

Orlov's wife Irina told reporters her husband made his own summation Wednesday, but the judge and laughing spectators constantly interrupted him with taunts of "spy" and "traitor."

She said she was stripped and searched on her way out of the courthouse at the end of the day by three plainclothes security men and two women.

Orlov's two sons by a previous marriage, Alexander and Dimitri, also were searched, she said, and their tape recorders were confiscated Tuesday.

Busy Doctors, Patients Benefit From Physician Assistant Post

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

That sorely missed bedside manner of the physician is coming back, but now it may be dispensed by his assistant. It represents just one of the many ways the Physician Assistant—called PA—is helping doctors.

"I am very much into patient education," says PA Gretchen Berkebile, 25. "I tell the patients in layman's terms what is going on because they like to know. You must relate to the patient whether he is a bum off the street or an executive.

"Some patients know nothing about their medical history, health, medications or previous surgery. I've talked to people who have taken a pill every day for five years and they have no idea what it does. A long scar on the abdomen can't be explained, and that is horrible in the event they need another operation," she says.

Miss Berkebile is one of 16 PAs—six women and 10 men —at the Norwalk Hospital in Norwalk, Conn., one of two surgical residencies in the country for Physician Assistants.

"Many physicians must go to more than one hospital, some must keep appointments at their offices, whereas a PA has time to sit and educate a person on his disease," she explains.

More hospitals are now going into such programs "because they have been cut back in their surgical training programs."

The daily routine for PAs at Norwalk Hospital begins with an hour-long lecture given by attending physicians. Then they go to the operating room where they might spend up to seven hours watching five or so operations—orthopedic, general, neuro, urological, chest and plastic surgeries.

"After that we visit patients to see how they are progressing post-operatively," Miss Berkebile says. "If anything seems abnormal, we consult with the physician and at the end of the day we see the new patients and perform a physical examination and take their medical history."

About every fifth night Miss Berkebile is on duty at the hospital. She may be called on an emergency or it might be a routine problem like a fever or a patient falling down on the way to a bathroom.

Although there are many PAs working with individual doctors over the United States, about 80 percent work in general practice, not surgery, although they may visit hospitals for the doctors who employ them.

"Ultimately this should decrease costs to patients—it is often less expensive for a doctor who might otherwise need to hire another doctor to assist him," Miss Berkebile explained.

Hospital residency is a fairly new idea. At Norwalk Hospital it has been in existence two years.

A PA must be intelligent, have a lot of common sense, must relate to people on their respective levels and to the physician on his or her plane, she explained.

Miss Berkebile had entertained the idea of becoming a doctor. She attended Arizona State College, studying physiological psychology and graduating with a bachelor of science degree. She went on to Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, where she studied to be a Physician Assistant.

She had been in pre-med but she was never sure that she wanted to be a doctor, and she did not want to be a nurse, so she investigated other health careers and found PA was just what she wanted.

At Houston she had the opportunity to watch Dr. Michael deBakey perform open heart surgery. She also found the emergency room at Ben Taub Hospital there "very exciting."

She is never squeamish in the operating room. When she studied to be a PA she learned that such a problem must be anticipated.

Her salary as a training resident is $13,400. If she becomes a permanent resident—and she hopes to—she can earn from $18,500 to $22,000.

Grandparents: Your Love Is Spoiling

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: What happens to parents when they become grandparents? Mine are too young to be getting senile, but they certainly don't show nearly the good judgment in handling MY children that they did when they raised me.

My parents ruled their children with an iron hand. No back talk, we did as we were told, and if we forgot our manners, we heard about it. We weren't permitted to eat between meals, and we had to be in bed with lights out at a certain time, and no nonsense.

But you should see the way they handle our children! All rules and regulations laid down at home are out the window at the grandparents' house. The kids whine and beg until they get their own way. They talk back, and are fed soft drinks, candy and cookies—all they want at all hours. And they don't have to nap or do anything they don't want to do.

I love my parents, Abby, but I wish they'd realize how tough they are making it for me when they do this. It's difficult for children of any age to tell their parents anything, so even though this is from Iowa, I hope you won't think it's too corny for your column.

CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA

DEAR CEDAR RAPIDS: There's a kernel of truth in almost every corny letter. Let's hope your parents have ears, too. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: I am 28 years old, not married, and I work to support myself. I'm not bad looking and live a fairly normal, happy life, but I'm beginning to wonder if maybe I'm foolish to work the way I do.

What I'm trying to say is, I have a girlfriend who works part-time—like maybe four afternoons a week. She has had three husbands, and now she's single again. She has boyfriends for everything. One pays her rent, another lets her drive his car, another painted and papered her whole house and she bragged that all she gave him was lunch and a few daughterly kisses.

She sees the rent-payer on weekends, and she also has a truck driver staying with her off and on when he's in town. I don't know how she gets away with it. Shouldn't someone tell these chumps the score?

BABE IN B'HAM

DEAR BABE: Don't worry about the chumps. Some men don't care what the score is as long as they're in the game.

DEAR ABBY: I am in the United States Navy. I love the service, but most of all, I love my parents. Before I came into the service I felt I knew just about everything. I was sure my parents no longer needed me, and all I could think of was the day I would be "on my own."

The first time I realized how much my parents cared was the day they took me to the airport to see me off. When my father said goodbye to me, he broke down and cried. I had never seen my father cry before, and I won't forget it as long as I live. I have had a lot of time to think. I never told my father I loved him, and I gave both my parents a hard time when they tried to guide me for my own good.

Now I write home every chance I get, and I am trying to make up for all the heartaches I must have caused them, and for my failure to be a better son. When my next leave comes up, I am going home to get acquainted with my wonderful parents.

I have written this letter in hopes that other thoughtless teenagers will wake up before it's too late. Thanks, Abby, for letting me get this off my chest.

WISER NOW

DEAR WISER: And thank you for a wonderful letter.

Are your problems too heavy to handle alone? Let Abby help you. For a personal, unpublished reply, write: Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Welcome Wagon To Be 50 Years Old In July

Welcome Wagon International, the national greeting service that has welcomed millions of Americans to new homes, will be 50 years old this July.

The organization plans to celebrate its birthday with a party July 18-21 in Memphis, Tenn., where Welcome Wagon was founded and is headquartered. Similar celebrations and special awards presentations will also be held in the some 4,500 communities coast-to-coast where Welcome Wagon is active.

Welcome Wagon representatives also plan to commemorate the event with Special Occasion calls on mayors, state governors, and other dignitaries. July 16-22 will be designated as Welcome Wagon Week in many cities and states.

Local representatives are Katherine Vinson and Judy Mills. They call on newcomers and newly engaged young women.

During every call, the representatives present a packet of civic and community information. For newcomers, this packet includes information from the Pitt County Health Department, Sheppard Memorial Library, Pitt County Information Center, Postal Services, East Carolina University Evening Program, Tar Heel magazine, a packet of material prepared by the North Carolina Extension Service, and other information beneficial to the newcomer.

Representatives also present gifts from local sponsoring businesses. They then extend greetings from each business, describe the business location, products, and services, and extend an invitation to visit the business for a personal greeting and a second congratulatory gift.

Anyone may request a Welcome Wagon call for themselves or for a friend by contacting Katherine Vinson, 752-5778, or Judy Mills, 758-0557.

Libraries Add To Services For Women

CHICAGO (AP) — A significant development in modern library services is the trend toward programming for women, says Margaret Myers, director of the Office for Library Personnel Resources of the American Library Association.

"For women busy raising a young family, or busy with a career, the library can be a valuable aid," she says. "Women today have all sorts of interests in and out of the homes that libraries must cater to."

These interests — from feminism to family — are the focus of many special collections, information and referral services, and innovative programs springing up in public and college libraries all over the country, she points out.

For instance, Denver women can leaf through "Women Awakening," an extensive bibliography of feminist classics, lifestyles and women's rights published by the public library. Assertiveness training is a popular women's workshop at the Oklahoma City library. And the Pierce County library in Tacoma, Wash., offers telephone information on abortion and birth control.

"The popularity of such library activities underscores the fact that, historically, information on women's issues has been hard to come by," Ms. Myers says. "But heightened interest today has encouraged the growth of national networks of women's information and referral services."

"Many news stories and articles today continue to report the man's point of view — and that's understandable, because male writers seldom have access to the women's perspective," the ALA spokeswoman adds. "But libraries are beginning to collect materials for, on and especially by women."

One unusual service belongs to the Center for Women Policy Studies in Washington, D.C. Librarians here track down conference notes as well as unpublished government and social agency documents on a variety of women's issues and concerns — including domestic abuse, for instance, and female crime — for interested researchers.

For female jobseekers, the road to employment can be made easier by the Catalyst National Network of Local Resource Centers, which includes more than 150 libraries, resource centers, colleges and vocational agencies across America. Bringing it all together is New York's Catalyst Library, which has served as the central clearing house for information on women, work and careers since the Mellon Foundation began its funding three years ago.

"A Mobile Women's Information Center," a St. Louis library bookmobile, travels to all corners of that city. The community is invited to sample contemporary and historical information on women, which the library bills as "200 Years of Achievement and Revolution."

"Certainly many formal women's collections are in academic libraries and tend to emphasize feminist issues and sex roles," Ms. Myers explains. "But most public libraries have a wealth of material for women. In fact, volunteerism and homemaking have a place beside women's rights and consciousness-raising on bookshelves in most communities."

The Women's Seminar is a unique feature of the Frances Stein Library in Fayetteville, N.C. Mothers who bring their pre-school children to the library's story hour can spend that time taking in vegetable gardening, Montessori education methods or female novelists — a different topic every week.

Any woman with a problem can find the solution — only a phone call away — from the Women's Information and Referral Service (WIRS) of the Montclair, N.J., Public Library.

The library has a data bank that stores information ranging from job-seeking assistance and welfare help to day-care aid and marriage counseling. One way or another, the librarians either help the caller or refer her to the appropriate agency.

At Wit's End

A miracle is an event that contradicts known scientific laws and is often referred to as an Act of God.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Miss Mitzi Corbett, bride-elect of Ronnie Van Hobgood, was honored at a floating miscellaneous shower Saturday night in the Ayden Free Will Baptist Church fellowship hall.

Mrs. Jay Branch greeted guests and Miss Marisa Davenport presided at the registry. The registry table was covered with a white cloth and featured silver candlesticks and a bouquet of pansies.

The honoree was remembered with a pink rose corsage to complement her pale blue dress.

The refreshment table, covered with a white organdy and lace cloth, was centered with an arrangement of various colored roses in a crystal and silver vase flanked by silver branch candelabra holding white lighted tapers. The mantle featured roses and single burning tapers.

Hostesses were Mrs. Lyman McRoy, Mrs. Louie Tyndall, Mrs. Wayne Evans and Mrs. Guy Corbett.

Assisting in serving were Miss Dana Tyndall and Miss Wendy Wooten.

I have just removed a blouse made out of a miracle (Hallelujah! Hallelujah!) fabric from my washer. I don't want to mention names, but someone does not have their act together.

As a woman in her twilight years, I should be taking long walks, sitting quietly reading good books, smiling wisely, and passing down bits of history to my children. Instead, I am in my utility room reading washing instructions (that have been sewn into the seams) and wondering why my miracle (Hallelujah! Hallelujah!) fabric just fades on itself and looks like something hanging out of the rear pocket of a mechanic's overalls.

I first became suspicious of miracle (Hallelujah! Hallelujah!) fabrics when I bought my husband a shirt one day and the salesperson said, "You will never have to iron this."

"That's a miracle" (Hallelujah! Hallelujah!), I said.

"Exactly. It will always look as wonderful as it does right now."

"But the sleeves are all wrinkled and there are creases where it's been folded."

"Which is precisely why you have a miracle (Hallelujah! Hallelujah!) setting on your iron called permanent press."

"But that doesn't make any sense."

"Are you questioning the deity?" she smiled patiently.

Thanks to these instant miracles (Hallelujah! Hallelujah!), my clothes have been healed, but I'm the one who's sick.

I am growing up in my utility room — gentle cycle, no bleach, mild suds, cool iron, fluff dry, hang on a hanger, remove from washer, do not steam, no heat dryer, do not wring, keep out of sun, iron on reversed side, cold rinse, wash alone, pat dry, remove trimmings, dry clean only. (The latter as I take it out of the dryer.)

Yesterday, I appeared at breakfast in a T-shirt that would have been tight across the chest of a Barbie doll.

"What happened?" asked my husband.

"It's my laundry. It's all been divined by a miracle. (Hallelujah! Hallelujah!) Did you hear angels singing? I didn't think you did."

No Evidence Of Harm In Fluoridation

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — People who drink water treated with fluoride are just as healthy as those who shun the cavity-fighting chemical, a federal study concludes.

"There is no evidence that fluoridation does any harm," said Dr. J. David Erickson, who conducted the study at the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

The federal study was undertaken to investigate reports that link fluoridation with cancer.

Fluoride, which is added to the drinking water of many cities, has been shown to reduce tooth cavities in children by 65 percent, but critics have said it may be harmful to people's health.

Results of the new study were published in today's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine.

Erickson compared the causes of death of 922,000 people over three years in 46 American cities — 24 of them with fluoridated water and 22 without.

After taking into account differences in race, age, sex, education and population density between the two groups of cities, he found that the death rates were virtually the same. In the fluoridated cities, there were 1,124 deaths per 100,000 person years, and in the non-fluoridated cities, there were 1,137 deaths.

The death rate from cancer was 195 in the cities with fluoride and 197 in the cities without.

"We don't know of any adverse health effects at the one part per million level" — the concentration of fluoride typically put in water to prevent cavities, Erickson said.

Two critics of fluoridation, John Yiamouyiannis and Dean Burk, compared death rates in 20 cities last year. They concluded that the chance of dying from cancer was "significantly higher" in cities with fluoridated water.

Yiamouyiannis is science director of the California-based National Health Federation, and Burk is a former National Cancer Institute researcher.

Erickson said they failed to take into consideration a variety of differences between the two groups of cities — such as the age of the people who live there — that could account for the contrasting cancer rates.

Roosevelt Roberson, outgoing president, presided over the meeting. Mary Murrell, President of the Association of Classroom Teachers, welcomed those attending and the Rev. Clarence Gray led the invocation.

Speakers were Izzeta B. Redmon, District 15 Director and Congressional lobbyist, and Bill Bunnell, N. C. A. E. Director-at-large and principal in Elizabeth City.

is echoed in the mayor's refusal to encourage construction projects by SOHIO and Republic Steel desperately needed in Cleveland.

Are "special interests" behind the effort to recall him? Kucinich warmed to the question: real estate and banking, the privately owned electric utility, the regular Democratic party of Cuyahoga County and, mostly, organized crime. "The recall," he added, "is an attack on our system of government. I believe it is un-American."

His immediate problem is not so grandiose: the specter of municipal bankruptcy. Kucinich inherited severe fiscal problems. He intensified them a little by generous municipal wage hikes and a lot by refusing to sell a municipal light plant. The mayor concedes the city will be flat broke if a bond sale is not approved.

But his fall from grace was not caused by mundane fiscal problems. Instead, Kucinich is both product and victim of a new political system grounded on televised confrontations and populist rhetoric. We asked a young liberal Democratic politician here, spawned in the protest politics of Vietnam, whether he preferred the structured old politics that produced Cleveland's stodgy mayors of the 1950s and early 1960s or the unstructured new politics that produced Dennis Kucinich. He quickly opted for the good old days.

The gates were erected in an effort to halt periodic attempts by dangerous, addled or attention-seeking motorists to crash their vehicles onto White House property.

Looking sturdy enough to stop a tank, the barriers seem to be serving their purpose. Secret Service spokesman John Warner says they have already stopped at least two aspiring gate-crashers, with minimal damage to the gates.

There's one problem, however. The electric-powered mechanisms that open and close them have a way of failing at awkward moments, sometimes putting a gate out of operation for a day or longer while repairs are made.

As a result, uniformed police who man the busiest of the eight barricades no longer rely on their electric switches. When a motorist with proper credentials approaches this gate, officers rely on muscle power to open the massive portal.

rights of the king of England." Under this legal theory, because the British Crown in the 18th Century took title to abandoned property found at sea by British subjects, the U.S. government in 1978 may claim title to gold found on the Florida seabed in 1971 by Melvin Fisher. Nice theory.

And so it goes. Not much wild adventure remains on land or sea. If the bureaucrats have their way, the "not much" will dwindle to even less.

Pondering Future Uses For The Old ECU Spur Track's Roadbed

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Motorists traveling Tenth and 14th Streets over the past few weeks may have missed a long-standing landmark of sorts in the area of East Carolina University.

Workers a month ago began removing the spur track from Southern Railroad's main line which provided rail access to the school's main campus for more than 50 years.

The earliest record concerning the line on file at East Carolina, according to purchasing agent John Bell, is dated August 2, 1923. It is an agreement between East Carolina Teachers College and Norfolk-Southern (which merged with Southern several years ago), to maintain the spur track and provide service to the school.

However, ECU's vice-chancellor for business affairs Cliff Moore, said one history of the university says the track was laid in 1910 to haul building materials for construction of the original campus.

At any rate, officials agree that ECU owned the track and Southern maintained it. And the school although not owning the property still has an easement along the roadbed for steam and electric lines.

And they agree that the track has carried tons and tons of coal to the old school power plant which was demolished several years ago.

Bell noted that some 2,400 linear feet of the spur were removed under a $2,900 contract with a demolition firm. Between 400 and 500 feet of the track was retained in the area of the University's heating plant on 14th Street, as was the 75-foot long trestle over the Greene Mill Run just South of Tenth Street.

Bell and Moore both said there has been some talk of establishing a bikeway along the path of the old roadbed, indicating that is the reason the trestle was not removed.

Skip Browder of the city's planning department said one

NO TRACKS ... The spur track which for years has served East Carolina University's main campus has been removed from its roadbed between Tenth and 14th Streets. Short sections of rail crossing a sidewalk just North of Tenth Street, and the 75-foot long trestle just inside the wooded area in the background, are all that remain.

plan does call for the right-of-way of the old spur line to be used as a bikeway and path, linking the main ECU campus and Minges Coliseum area.

However, according to Browder, "the person who owns the land has been reluctant," to enter into an agreement because several of his neighbors have voiced some concern about the proposal.

The project is still under consideration, according to Browder. That was, "the original intent," and the, "anticipated use," of the land, he said.

Five Attend Sign Language Workshop

ECU News Bureau

Five representatives of the East Carolina University Program for Hearing-Impaired Students attended a workshop on sign language teacher training at Central Piedmont Community College in Charlotte last weekend.

They were Michael Ernest, director of the program; staff member Ruth Aleskovsky; and student interpreters Karen Lewis, Gail Tyson and Dennis Hamrick.

The workshop was sponsored by the N. C. Council for the Hearing Impaired in cooperation with Central Piedmont and ECU, and featured presentations on dramatic improvisation, psychology of the adult learner, comparative sign systems, methods and materials, lesson planning and evaluative procedures.

With them was Susan Clingenpeel of the Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf Pre-School Program.

Instructional staff included four nationally-recognized sign language educators: Terry O'Rourke and Carol Padden, directors of the communicative skills for the National Association for the Deaf; Larry Berke, bilingual instructor at the Washington, D. C. Secondary School for the Deaf; and Jane Wilk, assistant professor of dramatics at Galludet College.

Approximately 60 sign language instructors from schools and programs throughout the state participated in the workshop.

Undeterred By Recent Defeats

LENOIR, N.C. (AP) — Union organizers say they will continue efforts to organize furniture plants in this area despite setbacks in recent elections.

Herbert L. Thomas of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America said one of the objects of an organizing drive currently under way is the Singer Co.'s furniture division plants, which employ about 1,500 people.

Employees of Broyhill Industries' Harper Plant voted 247-99 last week against unionization. The union had lost two previous elections in the Lenoir area since it began the drive a year ago.

First District Democrats To Gather In Greenville Saturday

A Massachusetts man has used a photograph clipped from "The Daily Reflector" last year as a model for a painting. Alexander Pennucci of Framingham, Mass. sent this week a color snapshot of a painting done from a Jerry Raynor photograph published Mar. 6, 1977. He said he saw the photo while visiting his daughter, Jean, who is on the faculty of the East Carolina University School of Allied Health. "It struck me as a beautiful composition, and I saved it for future use in our amateur painting class in our local Senior Citizens organization," Pennucci said. "I thought you would be pleased to know that the work of your staff is appreciated even as far as Massachusetts. I should like to compliment your photographer on his technical skill and artistic perception."

Democrats representing the 21 counties in the First Congressional District will gather here Saturday, May 20 for the biennial Congressional District Convention.

The district gathering will get underway at 1 p.m. in the Willis Building at the corner of Reade and First Streets.

Lorimer Midgett, First District chairman, said he anticipated some 330 delegates and 330 alternates would attend the convention.

Convention business will include: the election of a chairman to serve for the next two years; election of a member of the biennial state convention Committee on Permanent Organization, Rules and Order of Business; the election of a member to the state convention Committee on Credentials and Appeals; and the election of one member to the Council of Review and one member of the state Legislative Policy Committee.

Of special interest, according to Midgett, will be the election of two delegates and two alternates from the First District to the 1978 National Democratic Party Conference in Memphis, Tenn. in early December.

Candidates for the delegate and alternate positions who filed notices of candidacy by the May 5 deadline are: (for Beaufort County) Georgia Beasley, Mrs. Patricia N. Sheppard, Vincent Devereure Murray, Ray Brooks and William (Bill) Hodges; (Cartaret) Eugene B. Pond and Hedrick D. Arthur; (Chowan) the Rev. James L. Fenner Sr.; (Craven) Ronald William Benfield and Joseph C. George; (Currituck) Constance F. Brothers; (Jones) Richard C. Tyndall Jr.; (Lenoir) Jerry T. Oliver; and (Pitt) Miriam Eugenia Cowan, Ernest Adams, and Ernest Gene Brown Jr.

For the delegate and alternate positions to the national conference, there will be no nominations from the floor of the convention but the election will take place among those who filed their notice or candidacies by the deadline.

Midgett said that delegates and alternates to the convention Saturday are asked to sit together in county delegations and to arrive not later than 12:30 for the purpose of receiving their credentials.

The public is invited to attend the convention.

Prison Policy Violation Suspected In 2 Attacks

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Department of Corrections policies may have been violated when 13 inmates were taken to a high school where two teenage girls were sexually attacked Tuesday.

State prisons director Ralph Edwards said Wednesday he was conducting an investigation of the incident in which two of the inmates walked away from the others during a track meet at Grimsley High School. The girls were attacked a short time later in restrooms at the school and one of the inmates was arrested and charged with felonious second degree rape.

"I can only say at this point that it appears department policy was not followed," Edwards said. "I can't give any further details or be more specific at this time."

School officials said they were unaware that the 13 inmates from the McLeansville Prison Unit were being brought to the Grimsley campus for the track meet. They said they felt they should have been notified of the plans in advance.

One of the two inmates who walked away from the others attending the track meet was apprehended a short time later but the other was still at large Wednesday.

Authorities said Michael Anthony Mayhand of Greensboro was arrested at the scene. After being identified by a 16-year-old girl as the man who raped her, he was charged with felonious second degree rape (no weapon involved).

Police were searching for the second man, Brian Morgan, 19, of Thomasville.

Investigators said the 16-year-old girl was raped in a girls' restroom on the third floor of the main building at Grimsley. She was examined at a hospital and later identified Mayhand as the attacker.

A 15-year-old girl said she was attacked about 20 minutes later in a restroom on the second floor for an adjacent vocational building. That attack was listed as an assault with intent to commit rape.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Areas of rain and showers are forecast Thursday from the northern Plains to the Gulf coast and Georgia. Rain is expected for northern New England. Cool weather is due for the Northwest. Mild readings are expected for the Gulf states and Florida while most of the country will have seasonal temperatures. (AP Laserphoto Map)

By The Associated Press
A weak high pressure system is the governing influence on North Carolina's weather today and partly cloudy skies are predicted for the next several days.

A few heavy thunderstorms were triggered Wednesday as a warm front moved into the state from the south. The heaviest storms occurred mainly over the Sandhills and coastal areas.

Wednesday also brought a return to sunshine over much of the state and this sent temperatures into the 70s over a wide area. Fayetteville was one of the warmest spots with 77 degrees.

The mountains, as usual, were some cooler with highs for the day generally in the 60s. Low readings this morning were mostly in the 50s with some 60s along the coast.

high temperatures ranging in the 70s to near 80. The weather is expected to be fair through the weekend with some scattered thundershowers expected by Monday.

Arrested On Rape Charges

A 19-year-old Greenville man has been arrested on two rape and two first degree burglary charges. Police Chief Glenn Cannon reported this morning.

Cannon said Linwood Earl Tyson of 507 Church St. has been arrested on rape and burglary charges in connection with incidents in the North Greenville area on March 29 and April 8.

Tyson, according to the chief, is being held without privilege of bond pending court action in the cases.

According to Cannon, Tyson allegedly entered a North Greenville home March 29, and, armed with a gun, raped an East Carolina University coed.

The chief added that Tyson allegedly entered the home of another young North Greenville area resident on April 8, and, armed with a length of pipe, raped her.

Cannon noted that investigation of the cases is continuing.

Graverobbers Planned To Hold Body For Ransom

By ANDREW WARSHAW
Associated Press Writer
LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The two men who stole Charlie Chaplin's body said they got the idea from news reports about grave robbers in Italy who collected ransom for the body of a prominent Italian, the magistrate in charge of the Chaplin investigation reported.

The 300-pound oak coffin containing the body of the famed film comedian was found Wednesday buried in a cornfield 10 miles from the village cemetery of Corsier-Sur-Vevey where Chaplin was buried Dec. 27. Police said the body had not been touched.

The coffin was stolen about 2 a.m. on March 2. Examining Magistrate Jean-Daniel Tenthoré told a news conference two East European refugees who had been working as automobile mechanics in Lausanne, a Pole and a Bulgarian, were arrested Tuesday after the police traced a telephone call they made to the Chaplin family's lawyer demanding ransom for the remains.

Tenthoré said the two men confessed, but their identities were not announced because of a Swiss law protecting the identity of first offenders. The magistrate said the Pole is 24, single and lost his job in December, while the Bulgarian is 38 and has a family.

Both had received political asylum in Switzerland, he said. The magistrate said the men told him they drove to the unguarded cemetery in a small truck one of them owns. It took them two hours to dig the coffin up, then they dragged it to the truck and drove it to Hermann Bronnimann's cornfield outside Noville, a village at the eastern end of Lake Geneva.

Tenthoré said the robbers waited several weeks, then contacted the Chaplin family and demanded $600,000 ransom. The demand was eventually lowered to $250,000.

Telephone calls were pouring in to the Chaplin family and the police, but "let's just say that among all the false demands we received, this demand was serious, and taken seriously," Tenthoré said.

The magistrate's account continued: The police arranged a payoff twice, but "at the last moment the kidnapers broke off all contact and never showed up to collect the money." Meanwhile, Chaplin's widow refused to pay for the return of the body, and the police waiting at the rendezvous were carrying no money.

The ransom negotiations were conducted by telephone. The police set up a watch on 200 booths in the Lausanne area. An electronic tracing system installed at the office of the Chaplins' lawyer, Jean-Felix Pachoud, led to the arrest of one of the men. He was taken to police headquarters, his voice was compared with tape recordings of calls received by Pachoud and the Chaplin family. He confessed, revealed the name of his accomplice and took the police to the cornfield. At the field, however, he could not remember the burial spot, and a mine detector was needed to find it.

The two men were charged with disturbing the peace of the dead and trying to extort ransom. The maximum penalty is 7½ years in prison.

Mrs. Bronnimann told reporters her husband noticed a spot in the field where the earth appeared to have been turned but "thought it might have been caused by wild boars and then forgot all about it." He ploughed over it and planted corn as usual. She said he remembered the incident only after the police started digging early Wednesday. The body was taken to the Lausanne Forensic Institute for examination. The family's plans for it were not known, but the Rev. Alan Borswick, the Anglican chaplain at Vevey, told reporters: "My advice would be a cremation, followed by the scattering of the ashes in a crematorium garden of remembrance. That way nobody could possibly re-steal the body."

Ordination Is Planned Friday

The ordination of Robert M. Lloyd as a Deacon of the Church, by Bishop F. Joseph Gossman, will be conducted at St. Peter's Catholic Church here Friday night at 7:30.

Some 20 priests from across eastern North Carolina will be in attendance; as will be his mother, Mrs. John W. Lloyd and an aunt, Margaret R. Brallier, both of Braddock, Pa.

one (Braddock). The seminarian served four months in 1977 assisting St. Peter's pastor, Father J. Paul Byron.

Because of his sponsorship at Catholic University by the Diocese of Raleigh, he will be serving eastern Carolina upon attaining the priesthood; which, he estimates, is still about a year-and-a-half away.

Lloyd, 27, followed a round-about path to his chosen vocation. He acquired an AB degree in political science at St. Vincent College, Latrobe, Pa., and then entered the Benedictine Monastery as a novice for something less than a year before turning to teaching in a Pittsburgh inner-city school.

From July 1973 to July 1975 he served with the Peace Corps in Ethiopia; following which, he entered the Theological College of Catholic University of America where in 1976 he met Bishop Gossman who invited him to visit North Carolina, a visit which culminated in his coming under sponsorship of the diocese.

The camp's emphasis will be placed on high interest science activities designed to increase an awareness and knowledge of the environment.

Fishing, swimming, sailing, canoeing, model rocketry, and snipe hunts will be part of the week at the camp. Certified teachers will work closely with the students throughout the camp in tandem with six counselors. A teacher camp will be held along with the student camp for instruction and training in ecology, outdoor biology experiments, geology, and environmental education. Teachers will then be able to apply the techniques learned directly to the students. Teachers will receive three semester hours credit from ECU, Science 6019. Science in Elementary Education. A summer science day camp will be held at ECU from June 26-30 for children in grades 1-3. The day camp will emphasize awareness and knowledge of the environment by activities appropriate to the children's level. The final day will be a trip to the North Carolina Marine Center near Atlantic Beach. Enrollment for both camps are limited, so interested students and teachers should apply as soon as possible by writing the Division of Continuing Education or Dr. Dale R. Rice in the Department of Science Education at ECU.

Flynt Agrees Meet Lawmen

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Hustler magazine owner Larry Flynt has agreed to allow Georgia investigators to interview him about the shooting that has left him paralyzed, a police official says.

Gwinnett County Police Chief John Crunkleton had said previously that Flynt's refusal to be questioned was hampering his investigation into the shooting, which occurred on March 6 during Flynt's trial on obscenity charges. A mistrial was declared following the incident.

Simplicity Test For Memoranda

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) Gov.
Jim Hunt says he is now subjecting memos he receives to a simplicity test. The governor says he's tired of getting long memos filled with big words.
So he sent a memo this week to "anyone who writes a memo to the governor" with a warning of the simplicity test.

Hunt said it appears many government officials believe the best way to impress him is to fill page after page with "obscure, multi-syllable words. But the governor said he was impressed more by simple, direct language and brief, well-organized correspondence.

The governor cited one recent memo that included the phrase
"meaningful employment opportunities for economically disadvantaged youths."

Anger Raised By Communist Rally

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) -
Regardless of what the law says about freedom of assembly and freedom of speech, the acting mayor of Gastonia doesn't want any more communist rallies held in Lineberger Park.

"I don't give a damn what the law says about a communist group using Lineberger Park or any other city facility," said Mayor Pro Tem David Frederic. "I'm opposed to it.
I don't want it to happen again."

But the city attorney indicated that it would be difficult to legally block such a rally.

On May 7, the United May Day Committee, the Revolutionary Communist Party, the National United Workers Organization, Vietnam Veterans Against the War and the Unemployed Workers Organizing Committee staged a rally at Lineberger Park in commemoration of the 1929 Loray Mill strike. About 20 persons attended.

During that strike, Gastonia Police Chief O.F. Aderholt was shot and killed and three other policemen were wounded.

City Council discussion of the rally Tuesday was prompted by Maggie Shelton, 31, of Gastonia, Republican candidate for state Senate from the 25th District (Gaston, Lincoln, Cleveland and Rutherford counties).

Mrs. Shelton told the council that City Recreation Director Kieffer Gaddis gave her "a large dose of doubletalk" when she asked him why the city was letting communists meet in the park.

She said she asked him if church groups could hold evangelistic services in the park, and "he told me I should certainly understand that people would not want to be disturbed" by such events.

"We have apparently, a policy - as evidenced by our city recreation director - which says we will turn our back when the group is one that advocates the overthrow of this government by violence, but will do all we can to discourage Christian or other groups from having a rally or service," she said.

Gaddis denied making the statements Mrs. Shelton attributed to him.

The council asked City Attorney Henry Whitesides if he could draft a law preventing Communist rallies in city parks.

Whitesides replied that banning a group like the communists might violate the U.S.
Constitution.

Assistant City Attorney Bob Bisanar recalled there was once a Gastonia law which prohibited political and religious rallies on city property, but it was ruled unconstitutional.

Webster Erases Denver Title Hopes

It's All Over

Denver coach Larry Brown watches his team go down to defeat Wednesday night in their NBA playoff game against Seattle. Seattle won their 20th straight game at home and took the series 4-2. The SuperSonics will face Washington Sunday in Seattle. (AP Laserphoto)

SEATTLE (AP) — For the story on how the West was won, let's get a word from Paul Silas:

"Marvin Webster was just ready to play tonight. That says it in a nutshell."

Silas somehow made himself heard in the noisy Seattle locker room after the SuperSonics had polished off the Denver Nuggets 123-108 Wednesday night to win the National Basketball Association's Western Conference championship.

Webster, the 7-foot-1 center who came to Seattle with Silas from Denver in an off-season trade that sent guard Bobby Wilkerson to the Nuggets, ruled the middle at both ends of the court, scoring 18 points and grabbing 13 rebounds.

"When Marvin's ready to play, no one is going to do anything on him," said Silas, who matched Webster's rebound total.

The triumph before a Coliseum sellout crowd of 14,098 gave the Sonics a 4-2 edge in the best-of-seven semifinal series with the Nuggets and sent them into the NBA championship series for the first time in their 11-year history.

Seattle plays host to the Washington Bullets, the Eastern Conference champions, in Game 1 of the best-of-seven NBA title series Sunday.

"This is the highlight of my life," said Sam Schulman, Sonics owner and president, who watched from court-side as his club won its 20th straight game at home, including eight in the playoffs.

"This is the most extraordinary, special year for any sports team ever," Schulman continued. "Way down deep I have felt this is our year."

Webster said the key was that Seattle played "with intensity the whole game. Tonight our strong point was our rebounding and our defense. We controlled the boards, and there's no question about that."

"I think it was meant to be. I think Seattle beating Denver was meant to be."

The Nuggets fell victim to Seattle's fast break early and never were able to climb out of the hole. They trailed 62-54 at halftime and closed to within six points twice early in the third period, the last time at 66-60 on a pair of Dan Issel baskets.

But the Sonics ran off a 17-6 spurt capped by John Johnson's three-point play for an 83-66 advantage with 4:36 left in the period. The closest Denver got the rest of the way was 13 points.

"Seattle is playing with a great deal of confidence," said Denver Coach Larry Brown. "If they play as well against Washington as they have against us, it should be a very interesting series."

"I'm sorry we couldn't have played better in this game," Brown continued. "I really feel our inexperience showed."

For the fifth time in the six games between the two teams, Seattle guard Dennis Johnson did a fine defensive job on Denver's high-scoring guard, David Thompson. Thompson led the Nuggets with 21 points, but scored just four in Denver's 18-point third period, which ended with Seattle ahead 93-72.

"I didn't see David play as well as he is capable of playing in the series," said Brown. "But you can't get yourself in a spot where you depend on one guy, especially a guard. We're gonna have to do something to correct that."

Said Thompson: "The difference was me. I was getting easy shots and didn't make them. I didn't take as many shots as I'm used to."

Thompson, who shot only 39 per cent from the field in first four games, regained his touch in the Nuggets' victory last Sunday in Denver, hitting 16 of 27 shots for a game-high 35 points. But Denver's leading scorer and pro basketball's highest-paid player hit just seven of 17 shots Wednesday night.

"I was surprised at how consistent they (Sonics) were able to play," said Thompson. "They really didn't have a bad game all series."

"That's been our trouble all year. They're playing with confidence and positive thoughts produce positive action on the court."

The Sonics, who won the rebound battle 57-45, were paced by Fred Brown's 26 points and Gus Williams' 24. Dennis Johnson added 16 points and rookie Jack Sikma 14. Rookie Anthony Roberts followed Thompson for Denver with 19 points and a game-high 16 rebounds for Denver.

Seattle Coach Lenny Wilkens, who took the reins last Nov. 30 when the team was mired in the Pacific Division cellar with a 5-17 record, was elated.

"This is a real pleasure, because of the start, of the uphill battle, because of the fact we're here (in the championship series)," Wilkens said. "No one expected it, no one thought we'd be there, and we're here."

"We're looking forward to playing Washington. I think it's going to be a fantastic series."

Falcons Down Ayden-Griffton

PIKEVILLE — C. B. Aycock exploded for eight runs in the second inning and went on to hand Ayden-Griffton a 14-4 loss yesterday in the Chargers' final game of the season.

The loss left the Ayden-Griffton team with a 7-15 overall record and a 5-9 Eastern Carolina Conference mark.

Ayden-Griffton scored first in the game with a single run in the top of the first. But the Falcons scored three in the bottom of the inning and eight in the second for a 11-1 lead. Both teams added three runs the rest of the way.

In the second inning, Whitley reached on an error for the Falcons and scored on D. Jones' double. Beamon walked and a pair of errors allowed both him and D. Jones to score. R. Jones reached on a fielder's choice and scored when Singleton doubled. Pennington also got on via a fielder's choice and Hare walked to load the bases. Whitley's walk scored Singleton and D. Jones hit a double to clear the bases.

Harold Edwards hit a home run for the Chargers, while teammate Paul Setliff was 2-3 at the plate. The Falcons were led by Singleton, Hare, Thomas and D. Jones, all with two hits.

Matney In Net Defeat

KINSTON — Rose High tennis player Fred Matney lost out in the first round of the state regional tennis tournament yesterday.

Matney, who advanced to the event by winning the sectional singles title, was defeated by Victor Taylor of Wilmington Hoggard, 6-4, 6-2.

"I don't think either of us were real disappointed," Rose coach Lanny Peters said. "He got a tough draw against a highly-ranked 18-year-old. But since he's just a sophomore, he'll get a couple of more years and he'll be back."

Conley Girls Claim Title

HOLLYWOOD — D.H. Conley's girls' softball team pulled out a 6-5 victory over Greene Central yesterday to win the Eastern Carolina Conference championship.

The win left the Valkyries with a 12-2 conference record and closed out the regular season for them. Greene Central, with one game left, is now 10-3.

Conley pushed over two runs in the second inning and added three more in the third. Greene Central came back with two in the top of the fifth, but Conley got what proved to be the difference in the bottom of the frame.

The run came when Angie Roberson tripled and scored on an overthrow error.

Greene Central rallied to within one with three more in the sixth, but fell short.

Lexanne Keeler got the victory for the Valkyries. Roberson led the hitting with two.

Sandra Bright and Angela Sutton each had two hits for the Lady Rams.

Conley's overall record is now 14-2, and the Valkyries will face the winner of Division II 4-A in the second round of the State Softball Tournament. Both Conley and the Division II winner get first round byes.

Greene Central, now 15-3 overall, entertains C.B. Aycock today.

Rain Hits Area Games

Rain halted several sports activities in the area yesterday.

Postponed until today were Jamesville at Mattamuskeet baseball and Washington at E.B. Aycock baseball.

Delayed until Friday was a game between Conley and Greene Central.

Aurora and Bear Grass postponed a softball game, with no date set. Jamesville and Mattamuskeet had their softball game halted with a tie, and the game will be made up only if needed for the championship.

North Pitt and C.B. Aycock cancelled their softball game.

Also postponed were all games on the Greenville softball program, along with Babe Ruth League and Little League games scheduled for last night.

Steady Growth Goal Of New ECU Coach

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
 Cathy Andruzzi, the new women's basketball coach at East Carolina University, admits that while some phases of her program may be limited now, she feels that a top-quality program can be built at the school.

"The next couple of years will be a building program in many ways," she said. "The problems are not really stumbling blocks, but just obstacles that will have to be overcome."

Andruzzi comes to East Carolina just as a grievance complaint has been filed with the administration over unequal treatment for women's athletics under Title IX, but she says that she is not going to let that influence her greatly at this time.

"I've heard a little about it, but my main thing right now is finding out what the institution is going to do about it. I know that they've had a fine basketball program in the past, and I think that the school wants this continued."

"When you have a program that competes against top ranked schools, there is always a disadvantage when you have money problems. We know we don't have that much in scholarships, but I think the administration wants to change this. I believe they want to provide more money for the women's programs to get to the level of competition it should be at."

Andruzzi picked East Carolina because she was looking for a Division I program, and because she wanted to stay in the East.

"I have most of my contacts on the East Coast, and I work a lot in camps, so I wanted to stick close to that base. Then, too, I've always admired North Carolina for its basketball enthusiasm and I was impressed with East Carolina."

The coach said she was also impressed with East Carolina's growth in academic areas. "Having 105 undergraduate curriculum is an asset to recruiting. We can bring students in here who excel in many fields. I don't pick players for just basketball. I'll have no basketball factory. Basketball enhances education, and I want my girls to excel on and off the court and have a professional future. This is an important part of my philosophy."

Andruzzi likes the running style of basketball. "But I'm going to have to assess the talent here to see what we can do best. I hope we will be able to run because it is exciting both to the players and the fans. But at the same time I want to be proficient enough to be able to slow it down when we need to."

Since East Carolina is limited

in scholarships at this time, Andruzzi wants to take care of those already at East Carolina and build from there. "We have a couple of people interested already, and we hope to sign them. This year won't be a big recruiting year."

Her recruiting philosophy, however, is to bring in people who can help the total team. "I'm not going to try and recruit a super-star to build a team around, but get people who can work with who we have at the time."

As far as scheduling is concerned, Andruzzi wants to stick with the basic schedule of Carolina-Virginia teams this year, and then begin to branch out into other areas against more national caliber teams as the program grows. "I don't want us to get overscheduled too quickly," she said.

As for fan support, she believes that the area fans can enjoy women's basketball. "The people here are already basketball fans. I think it's important that we show them that women's basketball has changed and improved. I want to draw the community into the school. I want to meet people and tell them our plans and about what the school is doing in basketball. Then, my job will be to get the team ready to play like I want them."

"I want to work closely with the PR people to show people that we want them at our games. Having people in the stands helps the players, so the more fans we have the better we'll play."

The coach plans to be in the area for the next couple of weeks prior to working in camps during the summer.

Pitchers Make Wrong Choices; Texas, Detroit Slap Home Runs

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Oakland's Elias Sosa and Milwaukee's Jerry Augustine were having second thoughts Wednesday night...because their first thoughts turned out all wrong.

"I guess I should have thrown him a fastball," Sosa said after Texas' Jim Sundberg rapped a slider for a tie-breaking single in the eighth inning that gave the Rangers a 4-3 victory over the A's.

In Milwaukee, Augustine threw a fastball and wished he hadn't.

"Thompson hadn't been hitting the breaking ball good all night, so I threw him two fastballs in a row and he hit the second one out. I should have my head examined," the left-hander said after Jason Thompson's two-run homer in the seventh inning powered the Detroit Tigers to a 5-3 triumph over the Brewers.

In the only other American League games, the Cleveland Indians nipped the New York Yankees 5-4 in 10 innings and the Chicago White Sox outslugged Nolan Ryan and the California Angels 9-6 while Toronto and Baltimore were rained out.

Sundberg's winning blow was his third single in a contest that extended his hitting streak to 16 games, one short of the Texas club record.

Tigers 5, Brewers 3
 Thompson's decisive two-run homer, his ninth of the season, followed a double by Ron LeFlore, who also homered, as did Lance Parrish. The Tigers posted their fourth consecutive victory.

Sixto Lezcano and Gorman Thomas connected for Milwaukee.

Indians 5, Yankees 4
 Sid Monge kept Cleveland in the game with his brilliant relief pitching until Rick Manning's two-out single off Sparky Lyle in the 10th inning following Paul Dade's two-out triple drove home the winning run. Manning ripped a two-run single off Ed Figueroa in the fourth inning and walked and scored the tying run on a single by Buddy Bell in the seventh as the Indians erased a 4-1 deficit.

White Sox 9, Angels 6
 Bill Nahorodny and Jorge Orta belted two-run homers off Ryan in the eighth inning as Chicago snapped a four-game losing streak. Orta's fifth homer of the season capped a five-run uprising that gave the White Sox a 9-1 lead. Ryan, 2-3, went all the way, yielding nine runs, 10 hits, walking seven and fanning six.

gets were down 3-1 before a victory Sunday in Denver pulled them to 3-2 in the best-of-seven series. There seemed to be little hope that they could win the three games in a row necessary to advance to the finals against Washington.

In addition, the SuperSonics have been devastating at home this season. They finished up with a 12-game winning streak in Seattle and tacked seven playoff victories onto that string. The odds were enormously stacked against the Nuggets.

A BIG PLUS for the Sonics in the playoffs has been the defensive performance of center Marvin Webster. Webster, who was wearing a Denver uniform not too long ago, is nicknamed "The Human Eraser" and it's been easy to figure out why watching the playoffs. The big man has blocked around 25 shots against the Nuggets, from Mack Calvin to David Thompson to Dan Issel. Webster's rejection abilities match anyone's in the league.

Greenville's East Carolina Tennis Association team defeated Rocky Mount 7-2 in a home match yesterday, the last of the spring season.

The win left Greenville with a 4-2 record, including one forfeit.

FARMVILLE CENTRAL WILL have the area's only two entrants in the eastern regional high school track meet at East Carolina's Bunting Track this Friday. Horace Williams, who won the pole vault in last week's sectionals, and Rufus Mayo, who placed third in the triple jump, will be the only representatives from Pitt County in the meet.

Williams' jump in the sectional meet was 12-9, topping his season's best by two inches. Mayo had a leap of 44-3 in the sectionals, but his season best was 45-4 1/2. Both will be hard-pressed to make it into the state meet, scheduled for May 26 at Cary High School. To qualify, they would have to be one of the top three regional finishers, so both competitors would probably have to have their best performances in the regional to even have a chance of qualifying for the state.

It could be done.

Seattle Had Big Advantage
 Going into last night's NBA Western Conference championship series game, the Denver Nuggets had little chance of capturing the series. The Nug-

Brown A Heisman Candidate
 N. C. State senior running back Ted Brown is being touted as the most legitimate Heisman Trophy candidate from this area since Charlie "Choo-Choo" Justice played at North Carolina in the late 1940's. Brown's statistics are impressive. He has rushed for over 3,000 yards in his first three seasons at State, including 1,251 last year. He is also the leading returning rusher in the nation.

But few would argue it will take much more than just another 1,000-plus yard season for Brown to have a shot at the coveted award. He'll have to get a lot of support from his Wolfpack teammates, and have a great deal of luck also.

Most observers feel it will take at least a 9-2 record, along with a major bowl bid and high ranking, for Brown and the Wolfpack to get the kind of exposure needed to draw Heisman votes. The trophy traditionally goes to a player from a school with an outstanding record, as well as a national reputation. State's reputation doesn't compare with some schools, but a great season next year would help Brown's chances.

State plays at Penn State and at home to Syracuse next season, and some feel those two games will be keys. They are the two that will probably draw the most attention of the New York press, which is influential in Heisman balloting. Brown needs to do particularly well in those two games.

The 6-0, 188-pounder also needs to have a better year than the two players now considered to be his biggest competitors, running back Charles Alexander of LSU and quarterback Jack Thompson of Washington State.

But a good record on the part of the Wolfpack is paramount. The last three trophy-winners were on undefeated teams at the time of the balloting, and not since 1970 has a winner's team had more than two losses.

 WINTERVILLE — Doug McRoy pitched a no-hitter and went 3-3 at the plate to lead the A. G. Cox baseball team to a 15-0 victory over Wellcome yesterday. Kevin Pond was also 3-3, while Ronald Daniels was 2-3.

In a softball game between the two schools, Cox chalked up a 9-3 win. Sherri Waters was the winning pitcher and went 2-3, including a home run. Lisa Harda was 3-3 and Amy Gibbs 2-3 for Cox.

It takes time to make a great bourbon.

Only a few bourbons like Ancient Ancient Age are in a barrel a full ten years. Those extra years impart extra bouquet and flavor. And turn Ancient Ancient Age into a truly great bourbon.

It's not easy to make. But it's sure easy to enjoy.

Fuzzy Vision Benches Hitless Bull

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

Greg Luzinski will watch the fourth and final game of Philadelphia's series at the Houston Astrodome from the dugout tonight — if he can see that far.

After the "Bull" went 0-for-4 and struck out three times in Wednesday night's 2-1 loss to Houston, Phils Manager Danny Ozark decided to make him sit out a game.

"The Bull is seeing fuzzy, and I wasn't even going to play him tonight," Ozark said. "but he said he was all right."

The problem stems from Luzinski's contact lenses.

Ozark said Jay Johnstone will take Luzinski's place in the lineup.

In other NL games, Montreal nipped Cincinnati 5-4 in 11 innings; San Diego beat St. Louis 5-2; San Francisco outslugged Chicago 9-5; Atlanta and the Mets split a pair, Atlanta winning the opener 2-1 in 10 innings and New York taking the nightcap 3-1, and Los Angeles ripped Pittsburgh 10-1.

Expos 5, Reds 4

A wild pitch by Cincinnati reliever Dale Murray, 1-1, allowed Andre Dawson to score from third with the winning run in the bottom of the 11th inning. With a man on second and none out, Dawson was walked intentionally. He took second on a fielder's choice that erased the lead runner and advanced to third on another grounder. Darold Knowles, 2-0, pitched four innings of scoreless relief for Montreal.

Giants 9, Cubs 5

Vida Blue, 6-1, struck out 11 batters in seven innings and survived 11 Cubs' hits to post his sixth straight victory. Mike Ivie and Jack Clark homered for San Francisco, which has won seven straight. Blue drove in a run with a double in the third, and Larry Herndon singled home two runs in the first second game.

Dodgers 10, Pirates 1

Lee Lacy set a major league record for consecutive home runs as a pinch hitter when he hit his third straight, in the eighth inning to help power Los Angeles past the Pirates. Dave Lopes and Ron Cey each had two-run homers and Tommy John, 6-1, tossed a four-hitter. John gave up his only run in the first inning.

Braves 2-1, Mets 1-3

Atlanta's Jerry Royster singled home the winning run in the 10th inning of the first game, and Phil Niekro, 3-6, tossed a four-hitter. Nino Espinosa, 3-2, scattered six hits and Lenny Randle singled home the eventual winning run for the Mets in the second inning of the

Hodges, Ingram Square Of In Televised Session

By MONTE PLOTT
Associated Press Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Luther Hodges Jr. and John Ingram squared off twice on television Wednesday, with their strongest disagreements coming not on domestic or foreign policy, but over each other's campaign styles and records. One of the most pointed questions put to the two, who will face each other May 30 in a runoff for the Democratic senatorial nomination, came Wednesday night after their second appearance. But it didn't come on television — the lights were being turned off and the candidates were getting ready to leave the studio when reporters asked them individually if they would support the other men should he win the runoff. "I've said all along I'd support the winner," Hodges said. Pressed on whether he would actively campaign for Ingram, Hodges repeated he would "support the winner" but he never mentioned Ingram by name. Ingram was less specific, declaring the question was not relevant because "I'm going to be the Democratic nominee." Asked again, he said, "We'll face that when we come to it." The winner of the May 30 runoff will face Republican Sen. Jesse Helms. During both question-and-answer sessions — a morning taping in Chapel Hill for public television and a live program at WBTV in Charlotte Wednesday night — Ingram held up a newspaper headline which stated Hodges' campaign was running on $400,000 borrowed money. Ingram showed the headline in Charlotte while answering a newsman's question about critics' appraisal of him as a "cheap-shot artist."

Asked by the newsman if showing the headline wasn't a "cheap shot," Ingram said, "No sir, it's not. It's very important." Earlier Ingram said "he (Hodges) has not looked after the pocketbooks of the people of North Carolina, and I have." As insurance commissioner, Ingram said, "I've saved the people of North Carolina approximately $33 million." Hodges replied: "I'd like to see all the money that Mr. Ingram has said he has saved the people. I'd like to see that money in the pocketbooks of the people in the state of North Carolina. "I have to quarrel with him as to his effectiveness as an insurance commissioner," Hodges added, repeating his opinion that Ingram should have resigned as insurance commissioner to run for Senate. The two agreed on some issues put to them Wednesday night, saying there should be some sort of tax cut to fuel the economy, that the U.S. was probably right in selling warplanes to both sides in the Mideast conflict but the preferable role would be as a negotiator, and that economic sanctions would be sufficient involvements for the U.S. in African crises. But they took different stands on some issues. Hodges said he favored a gradual deregulation of natural gas prices because "the government should get out of the price-setting business." Ingram said he opposed deregulation because people "are fearful of deregulating natural gas."

Hodges said the government should act as a "training device" to cut unemployment; Ingram more strongly favored tax incentives to private employers, in hopes of creating more jobs. In their session in Chapel Hill Wednesday morning, Ingram said insurance was an issue in the campaign and that he would introduce "specific legislation" for a health insurance plan. "My opponent, when he says insurance isn't an issue in this campaign, doesn't know what he's talking about," Ingram said. Hodges said he believed people were most concerned about economic issues such as inflation. As a businessman and economist, he said, he was trained to deal with those problems. But their remarks concerning each other's campaigns also cropped up, with Ingram showing the headline concerning Hodges' campaign loans. And at one point in the broadcast, Hodges turned to moderator Richard Hatch and said, referring to Ingram, "I haven't heard any of your questions answered."

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Push those personal desires now so that you gain them with relative ease. Become part of a group affair that is both pleasurable and beneficial. Avoid one who is jealous of you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Listen to advice given you by a trusted adviser and improve your position in life. You get needed information now that has been difficult before this. Go after it early.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Join a group of friends where you can get much accomplished, have much camaraderie. You can gain your desires with relative ease. Be wary of gossip who talk too much.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find the right project through which to operate now and gain the advice, support of bigwigs, too. Work on a civic matter that can be fine for advancement.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Use those good ideas so you can pull yourself out of that rut and make your life more meaningful. Planning a trip to a new place is wise. Much good can come of this.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Follow your hunches and you know which path to follow now that is right for you. Fine evening for enjoyment with kin. Show you are a charming and thoughtful person.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will enjoy much popularity because of the sweet nature here. Life will be relatively easy for your progeny, since others will want to do things for him or her. Be sure to teach early to stand on own two feet and earn own living, otherwise the fine promise here will be spoiled, lessened.

Television's Festival In Mexico Is More Than A Mere Travelogue

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — To find the origin of "Festival of Stars: Mexico," you have to go back more than 10 years ago when Elizabeth Taylor and other stars conducted tours of foreign locales.

"Those were basically travelogues and today's audience wouldn't sit still for that," said Bob Stivers, executive producer of the two-hour CBS visit to Mexico tonight.

What Stivers had in mind was to take a group of American stars to a foreign country and weave them in with the local culture and entertainment. "The stars could be the sugar-coating," he said. "We'd do a salute to a country each year — but don't call it a travelogue because when you say that people think it should be on a Sunday afternoon."

He said: "You just can't go out and do a variety show anymore. There are only so many stars and a week after the fall season starts you've seen them all. Nothing is special any more. You've got to have a concept, like a circus or a beauty pageant or a visit to a foreign country."

For his first venture he went no farther than over the border into Mexico. Hosts for the show are John Ritter, Suzanne Somers and Ricardo Montalban. Guest stars include Roy Clark, Steve Allen, Jamie Lee Curtis, Barbara Eden, Freddie Fender, Rita Moreno and many others.

The result is a comedy and musical tour of Mexico. It is a treat for the ears and eyes.

Roy Clark plays classical guitar with the Mexico State Symphony in the pyramids south of Mexico City. His rendition of "Malaguena" is a showstopping performance that is coupled with some spectacular helicopter shots of the pyramids.

Ricardo Montalban talks about his native country and introduces all the mariachi bands of Guadalajara. They fill the square with music and color.

"We taped the bands in the morning," said Stivers. "At exactly 11 o'clock they all rushed off to other engagements around town."

Stivers, who produces such event specials as "Circus of the Stars," "Command Performance" and "The People's Choice Awards," found taping in a foreign country could be snarled in red tape.

He wanted Vicki Carr on the show but could not get her work permit cleared in time.

He said, "They have a bureaucracy you wouldn't believe."

Soon after the special airs Stivers takes off to Greece to begin scouting locations for a show to air next April. He is also negotiating with Tahiti and the People's Republic of China.

Trio Resuming Concert Tours

NEW YORK (AP) — The rich harmonies and message-filled lyrics of Peter, Paul and Mary will be heard in concert this summer for the first time since 1971.

The trio, perhaps the most popular folk music group of the 1960s, announced at a news conference Wednesday that it will reunite for a 17-city tour and also produce two record albums.

Mary Travers said the tour will run from mid-August to mid-September, and that the group would consider making a television special this winter.

Paul Newman To United Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Newman, whose movie roles have ranged from a cowboy to a hockey player, is getting a role at the United Nations.

Newman was one of five representatives President Carter designated Wednesday to attend the U.N. session on disarmament.

In a statement, the White House said the president would also nominate: U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young, former Ambassador Averill Harriman, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., and Rep. Charles W. Whalen, R-Ohio.

Today's Cryptiquip clue: G equals A
The Cryptiquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Old soldiers never die. They just sit at the table and wait to knock off the Young Turks. Star of this hand was Oswald Jacoby, who won his first championships at auction bridge, took part in the Lenz vs. Culbertson "Bridge Battle of the Century" in 1931 and is universally acknowledged as one of the all-time greats. His performance on this deal belies his age at 76. His opponents were two current world team champions, Billy Eisenberg and Eddie Kantar.

We can find many arguments in favor of a pass with the North hand at his first turn. Once he elected to raise, Jacoby had something in reserve for his four spade bid. As it was, the contract did not seem to stand much chance.

Eisenberg led a low club and Jacoby won the ace. The king of hearts lost to the ace, and the heart return was taken by dummy's jack. Declarer entered his hand with the king of clubs and tried a low diamond to the jack. West grabbed the king and continued clubs, which declarer ruffed.

Ace of diamonds and a ruff put declarer in dummy. He discarded his last diamond on the queen of hearts and led a club. Since it would not help to ruff, Kantar discarded the thirteenth diamond.

Jacoby ruffed, reducing his hand to three trumps, and now for the first time led a low trump. If Eisenberg took his king, he would be end played and would have to lead a card into declarer's ace-ten of trump tenace, so he played low. Kantar won the queen and perforce returned a trump, but Jacoby read the hand perfectly. He went up with the ace of trumps to drop Eisenberg's king, and the ten of trumps was the tenth trick.

At the other table, North-South rested in three spades and made just nine tricks.
