

'Adult Use' Zoning Has Commission's Approval

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer
An amendment to the Zoning Ordinance that would include "adult uses" as a special use in the Highway Commercial district was approved for recommendation to the City Council by the Joint City-County Planning and Zoning Commission.

Howell, who presided, pointed out that there is currently no zone that allows "adult uses" and there has been some pressure in Greenville lately for the location of adult businesses. Howell contended that "there has to be a zone for it" if the city is to have a firm position if it is challenged in court. Inclusion of "adult uses" in the Highway Commercial zone as a permitted use was recommended by the Codes Review Committee, it was mentioned. Under the proposed amendment, Section 32-65 regarding Highway Commercial special uses would include "adult uses — permit to be issued by the City Council." Various "adult uses" definitions would be added to the ordinance. Howell explained that the Codes Review Committee decided that Highway Commercial would be the only zone that "adult uses" could be placed in where they would not be next to residential development. Mrs. Ruth Trevathan, a board member, said that in making the amendment, "we have provided a zone for it (adult uses) and if they (adult use developers) don't like what the zone is, they can take us to court." The definitions that would be included under the special use provisions involve: adult bookstore, adult picture theater, adult mini-picture theater, adult drive-in theater, adult cabaret, and massage parlor. All of the uses involve instances where minors would be excluded by reason of age. In addition to the normal requirements of the Highway Commercial zone such as setbacks and parking provisions, "adult uses" will also have to meet several other requirements, including: "All windows, doors, openings, entries, etc. for all adult uses shall be so located, covered, screened or otherwise treated so that views into the interior of the establishment are not possible from any public or semi-public area, street or way." "No adult use shall be established within 500 feet of any residentially zoned land, nor within 500 feet of any church, school, park, playground, synagogue, convent, library, or other area where large numbers of minors regularly travel or congregate; and "No adult use shall be located within a 500 foot radius of another adult use."

New City, Utilities Budget Is Presented 10-Cent Property Tax Hike

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer
The proposed 1978-79 budget and capital improvements program for the city and Greenville Utilities was presented Thursday to the City Council for its consideration. The new city and GUC budget package, delivered to the Council by interim City Manager Charlie Holliday, totals some $42,624,173 and compares to last year's adopted total of $37,014,223. Holliday reported that the budget proposal recommends general government expenditures for the city amounting to $8,241,773 and Greenville Utilities expenditures totaling $34,382,400. Last year, the Council adopted a budget of $7,642,277 for the city and $29,371,946 for GUC. The Council will study the budget proposals and conduct a budget hearing at city hall on June 14 at 5 p.m. Holliday, in his budget message, proposed a property tax rate of 74 cents per $100 valuation in order to finance the General Fund, which he noted includes required debt service payments. "This is an increase of ten cents over the 1977-78 tax rate," the city manager pointed out in his message. "The city has maintained a 64 cents tax rate since fiscal year 1974-75 except in fiscal year 1975-76 when the rate was lowered to 60 cents." According to Holliday, "Each penny on the tax rate yields approximately $34,104. The ten cents increase will generate $341,040 in additional revenues." Holliday explained to the Council, "The high cost of inflation and sharp price-increases in many areas of expenditures are reflected in all departmental recommendations." The official continued, "The increasing cost of personal services, especially merit and longevity payments, accounts for a major part of the total expenditure increase over the current year. Departmental expenditures have been held down consistent with maintaining our current level of municipal services." Holliday said in the budget message that his recommendations "reflect sizable cuts in most departmental requests, especially in requested new positions and capital outlay areas, and was dictated by a balanced budget without a large tax increase." The city manager said that the new budget proposal "contains no new programs, activities, or functions." According to Holliday, the estimated revenues from Revenue Sharing for the 1978-79 fiscal year are $702,343 of which some $190,000 has been recommended for Sheppard Memorial Library for operating expenses and $149,465 for the operation of Greenville's transit system. The remaining Revenue Sharing funds, he reported, "are requested to fund capital improvement projects in the amount of $64,800 and for operating expenses in the Recreation and Parks Department. A much needed street resurfacing project is also budgeted in Revenue Sharing," Holliday said. Regarding debt service, Holliday mentioned in his budget message, "The appropriation for city debt service payments is included in the General Fund tax levy and shown as a transfer to the Debt Service Fund rather than made a separate levy for debt service. This budget was prepared based on outstanding bonds of $193,000 for the city and Parking Authority and $3,440,000 for the Utilities. For a city the size of Greenville, this total bonded indebtedness is extremely low and would permit us to issue substantial new bonds in the near future to meet major capital improvements."

outlay for the purchase and/or improvement of parking facilities. Discussing highlights of the budget, Holliday reported that a contingency of $214,653 is proposed and "will have to cover a cost of living increase if granted by the Council later in the fiscal year and pay plan revisions recommended by the recent salary survey." The new budget proposes that the Planning and Human Relations functions be separated, it was mentioned. Holliday said in his message that "it is recommended that the allocated positions in the Planning Department be decreased so that the staff will consist of a city planner, two planners, and a secretary." Holliday said that the requested new positions in the Fire Department include three firefighters and two night dispatchers in the Combat division, one inspector in Fire Prevention, and three rescue officers. "The necessity for a balanced budget forced the cutback in the salaries allocated for part-time employees in the Recreation and Parks budget and the deletion of one requested position," he said. According to the interim manager, funds have not been included in the new budget for the operation of the Moyewood Center for 1978-79 "in view of the city's recent negotiations with the Pitt County Department of Social Services for full utilization of the center." The proposed Greenville Utilities budget, which is included in the total city budget package, suggests proposed revenues and expenditures of $28,292,000 for the Electric Fund, $1,237,000 for the Water Fund, $1,059,000 for the Sewer Fund, and $2,339,500 for the Gas Fund.

U.S. Embassy In Moscow Uncovers Bugging Gadgetry

By ROBERT PARRY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials, after discovering sophisticated electronic spy equipment in a chimney of the Moscow embassy, are assessing the damage it did to American security and puzzling over how the gadgetry works. One official called the Soviet's use of the espionage equipment a "serious penetration of our embassy," but said the electronic gear would have to be analyzed before deciding if it had caused a major security breach. The official, who asked not to be named, said the equipment was apparently maintained by Soviet technicians who snuck into the embassy by crawling through a tunnel, which originated on nearby Soviet property, and then climbed up the chimney. The discovery last week also raised questions about the equipment's possible link to other mysteries involving the Moscow embassy — such as why the Soviets have beamed microwaves at the building for years, worrying U.S. officials about possible health hazards. Thomas Reston, the State Department's associate spokesman, said Thursday the devices were discovered May 25 and that a protest was lodged with the Soviet Foreign Ministry. Reston declined to give details about the devices or how they were found.

However, another official said the electronic gear — including a large antenna — was discovered during a routine security search. He said U.S. officials followed a cable from the equipment down the chimney and through the tunnel. They then constructed a barrier in the tunnel to "keep the Russians out," he said. "There was regular physical penetration of the embassy by Soviets without the knowledge of the United States," the official said. "They would come through the tunnel and up the chimney." Although the exact nature of the equipment was unknown, the official said it apparently was not limited to eavesdropping devices.

half of the 1.3 percent gain in April, they were still well ahead of the average monthly increases for all of last year. The wholesale prices of finished consumer goods increased 0.5 percent in May, after a 1.9 percent jump in April. However, analysts cautioned that it takes more than one month to establish a trend. Meanwhile, the department said unemployment rose from 6 percent to 6.1 percent in May, although total employment increased by

STAMP MACHINE OUT OF ORDER
I have been to the Greenville Post Office trying to get some stamps. And the machine is out of order. This is a tax-paid service and I wish the job would be done to serve the public. P. M.

Greenville Postmaster Lloyd Mills said the machine is not out of order now, though it may have been either jammed by a coin or out of stamps when you visited it. A good stock of stamps is put in each day, he said, and it's seldom that the stamps give out — but it has happened. More often, though, he said, the malfunction of the machine is caused by bent coins (and occasionally slugs) put in the slot. He urged the public to take care not to use a coin that is obviously bent. A member of the Post Office staff has been trained as a service technician for this machine, he said, and it is checked by him every day during his regular working hours. And sometimes, he said, he is also called back at night to work on it. "We realize that the public values this machine," he said, "It's a convenience for customers and a labor saver for us. We do all we can to keep it in good working order."

The Public Transportation Fund, he reported, provides for the operation of the city's public transportation system at a cost of $127,253. The total fund account of $761,797, he said, includes $4,415 for the Energy Conservation grant and $630,130 for the UMTA Section Three grant. The city's share of the UMTA grant amounts to $63,013. Holliday said that the proposed budget for the Parking Authority totals $50,335 "which is a decrease over the 1977-78 budget of $82,881." He noted that the revenues and expenditures contained in the budget reflect the removal of parking meters, while funds in the amount of $19,208 have been included in capital

Judge Says City Can't Run Pool

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — City officials are a bit miffed. A county judge says the city of Kirkwood can't run that fancy $212,500 swimming pool and 14-acre tennis club it just bought. "Kirkwood has the right to purchase the property," St. Louis County Judge Drew W. Luten Jr. said Thursday. "However, it does not have the right to create, maintain or operate a public recreational facility or swimming pool" because of a city ordinance. Kirkwood city officials say they will appeal.

Alabama's Senator Jas. B. Allen Dies Of Apparent Heart Attack

By SCOTT SHEPARD
Associated Press Writer
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The thunder of Alabama politics has grown fainter. One of its most powerful voices, that of U.S. Sen. James B. Allen, has been stilled. Allen died Thursday of an apparent heart attack suffered while visiting at a Gulf Shores condominium in south Alabama. He was 65. His death sent shock waves through a political landscape where fewer and fewer giants tread. Gov. George C. Wallace, nearing the end of his third term as governor, intends to return to private life next January. And Allen's colleague in the Senate, John Sparkman, is retiring. The full impact of Allen's death on Alabama politics will be felt soon. Since the state's general election is more than four months away, the governor must "forthwith" call a special election to fill the Senate vacancy. The governor can make a temporary appointment until a successor is elected. But Wallace's press secretary, Billy Joe Camp, said it would be awhile before Wallace considers such an appointment. Many state politicians declined to comment Thursday on whether Allen's death would alter their plans in this year's upcoming elections. Most said political speculation would be inappropriate and discourteous at this time.

But like Wallace's recent announcement that he would not seek the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Sparkman, Allen's death is sure to prompt some political reassessments. For the first time in this century, both of Alabama's Senate seats are up for grabs, a situation difficult for any ambitious politician to ignore. Now, however, the state is in mourning. The flags in Alabama were at half staff today to mark the passing of Allen. Wallace called the senator's death a "deep personal loss." He said Alabama has had "no greater public servant" than the 10-year Democratic senator. From Allen's present and former Senate colleagues there was praise for his skills as a parliamentarian. Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd said Allen "commanded respect with his mastery of the rules and his courtesy on the floor." Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., who often found himself on opposite ends of an argument from Allen, said the senator was "perhaps the greatest parliamentarian ever to sit in the United States Senate." And former Sen. Sam Ervin, a North Carolina Democrat, said, "We really can't afford to lose Jim Allen. He had intelligence, he had industry and he had the courage to stand up for what he knew to be right."

Wholesale Price Index Up, But Not As Much As Preceding Month

By MICHAEL DOAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The inflation outlook brightened slightly today when the government reported that wholesale prices rose 0.7 percent in May, about half of the amount they shot ahead the month before that. Wholesale food prices were up again as usual, but by the smallest amount this year, the Labor Department said. While the overall increase in wholesale prices was about 310.000. The department said unemployment climbed because more people decided to start looking for work. The total work force, including both people with jobs and those looking for them, passed 100 million for the first time. The department's wholesale price report measure the prices that slaughter houses, wholesalers, warehouses and others charge just before a product reaches the retail outlets. Consumer prices rose 0.9 percent in April, but the May figures are not available yet. In its report today, the department said wholesale prices turned down for fruit and vegetables, rice and coffee. The May prices rose less than in April for flour-based mixes, dairy products and most processed foods. Wholesale prices continued to climb for beef, veal and pork, but no faster than they usually rise at this time of year. More worrisome, the report indicated, were new increases for non-food items. These rose 0.8 percent in May after increasing 1 percent in April, particularly because of rising costs for heavy equipment and automobiles. Prices also accelerated for kerosene, alcoholic beverages and tobacco. Gasoline prices edged downward after increasing in April. Despite the slower rise in wholesale food prices, they began rising at an earlier stage of production — between the farm and the marketplace.

Wine Tasting Party Can Be Fun And Educational

NEW YORK (AP) — When Mary Mulligan got her first job seven years ago with the Italian Trade Commission, she was hired because she was an All-American girl who could understand American customs and tastes.

MARY MULLIGAN

She didn't know much about wines. Today, she has become so knowledgeable that she is director of Italian wine promotion in the United States.

"The Italians figured, and I think sensibly, that if they were going to promote their wines here, they had to have someone with a typically American point of view," says Ms. Mulligan.

Since starting work with the commission, she has become fluent in Italian, has taken many trips to the wine regions of Italy and has tasted a lot of am not today," she says. "I believe that you get a basic knowledge of wines simply by drinking what you like and that you can drink anything with any kind of food if you like it. That's the American way."

She frequently attends meetings of the "greats" among Italy's wine producers, "the top names, the men with the greatest reputations and knowledge," and she is usually the only woman.

"It's like being with a group of famous scientists or movie stars," says Ms. Mulligan. "I feel honored to be among the wine luminaries — and to be accepted by them."

She now feels qualified, she adds, to tell her fellow Americans how to get better acquainted with wine, how to serve it, and how to give a wine tasting for fun or organizational profit.

"A wine tasting offers a chance for hosts and guests to discover what wines they like and which they don't," she says. "It's a great ice-breaker because people automatically compare taste experiences and start conversations," says Ms. Mulligan, who offers these tips:

—If a wine tasting is to be serious, keep your party group small and furnish a different glass for each wine served. Clear crystal stemware — the larger size the better is proper — for sniffing bouquet. Colorless glass is needed so you can see the true color of a wine. Change glassware, or rinse, for each change of wine.

Dear Abby

Don't Keep Mum About Violence

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Please reconsider your answer to DEBATING, who asked if she should tell the woman her ex-husband was about to marry that he had beaten her up. (You said, "On the chance that she'll bring out the best in him while you brought out the best in him, keep mum.")

My sweet young niece was married only three months. No one would have believed that the man she married was capable of such violence as he later evidenced. If only someone would have warned that gentle, unsuspecting girl, she might be alive today. She suffered such a beating at the hands of that monster, the undertaker was sickened at the condition of her bruised and battered body.

Wife-beaters sometimes kill. I hope you will change your advice, Abby.

HEARTSICK AUNT IN CALIF.

DEAR AUNT: Thank you for protesting my answer. You are right. My "give 'em another chance" philosophy should not have been applied to a matter as potentially dangerous as wife-beating. I should have emphatically recommended that wife No. 1 warn wife No. 2. I contritely stand corrected.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to LADY PREACHER IN IOWA, she needs to read First Corinthians, Chapter 14 (King James version):

Paul says, "Let your women keep silence in the churches: for it is not permitted unto them to speak; but they are commanded to be under obedience, as also saith the law."

The 35th verse goes on to say, "And if they will learn any thing, let them ask their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speak in the church."

I am a fan of yours, Abby, and hope that even though you are all for women's rights, you will be fair and print this anyway. Sign me ...

23-YEAR-OLD PREACHER, KINGSPORT, TENN.

DEAR PREACHER: Although the printed word remains unchanged, over the years even Scripture has been interpreted in a variety of ways. It is no longer considered a "shame" for women to speak in many churches, temples and synagogues.

DEAR ABBY: I just finished crying my eyes out over something that is not my fault. A very nice boy from school started dating me and I was on cloud nine. I was never popular, and he was like an answer to my prayers.

Well, he just called me up and told me he couldn't date me anymore because his parents have forbidden him to. The reason was they heard that my older sister had a baby out of wedlock. (She did; but, Abby, I have never done one thing out of the way, so why should I have to suffer for something my sister did?) I have even had girlfriends tell me they couldn't go around with me anymore because of my sister's reputation.

I am not like my sister, and I don't see why people should hold this against me. How can I prove that I am a "nice" girl when I have this against me?

NICE GIRL IN RHODE ISLAND

DEAR NICE: Don't try to "prove" anything. People who aren't willing to judge you on your own record aren't worth having as friends.

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (24 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

Smart Shopping For Housewares

CHICAGO (UPI) — Consumers planning to buy housewares would be smart to watch for sales this spring and summer. The 11th annual marketing research study of housewares manufacturers quotes 80 percent of them as saying they expect to raise their prices this year by an average of 7.1 percent over a year ago. The most frequently given reasons for increases were higher costs for materials and labor, and inflation. Two-thirds of the manufacturers reported price increases of 6.8 percent for their products in 1977. The study was made by Bee Angell & Associates, Inc. for the National Housewares Manufacturers Association in Chicago.

For some time we have been trying to impress upon you the need to avoid taking unnecessary finesses. Now, to confuse you, we will show how a finesse that is against the odds can nevertheless be the correct line.

North-South bid smoothly to their club slam. When a cue-bidding sequence revealed that North had no honor control other than the ace of spades, South was content to play six clubs.

West led his fourth-best heart. Declarer discarded a diamond from dummy and won in his hand. Since declarer could get rid of his low diamond on the queen of spades, the slam would come home if declarer could pick up the queen of trumps or, if he lost a trump trick, if the diamond finesse worked.

Holding nine trumps, the percentage play is to try to drop the queen. However, declarer realized that possession of the ten of spades considerably increased his chances for the contract.

At trick two declarer cashed the king of clubs. Then he cashed a high heart, stuffing another diamond from dummy, and ruffed his remaining high heart! This provided a key entry to the table, for declarer could not afford to cross to the ace of spades if his play were to succeed.

Now declarer led a trump from dummy, and when East followed low, he finessed the jack. When West showed out, the slam was home, regardless of which defender

Four Collisions Here Thursday

An estimated $8,500 property damage resulted from a series of four traffic collisions investigated by Greenville Police yesterday.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 6:20 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Greenville and Arlington Boulevards involving cars driven by Della Taylor Stubbs of 1902 East Eighth St., and James Monroe Campbell Jr. of 208 Kent Dr.

Police, who reported Mrs. Stubbs was injured in the mishap, estimated damage to each of the two cars at $2,000.

An estimated $1,000 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 3:50 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Red Banks Road and Tucker Drive.

Investigators identified drivers of the cars involved as Deborah Kay Hoover of Route 1, Burlington and Barbara Whit Pruden of 104 Clifton St.

Cars driven by Pamela Lee Hall of Shady Knoll Trailer Pk., and Annie Harris Ebron of 304 Paris Ave. collided about 8 a.m. at the intersection of Tenth Street and College Hill Dr.

Police, who charged Miss Hall with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety, estimated damage at $900 to the Hall car and $1,200 to the Ebron vehicle.

An estimated $200 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 4:40 p.m. mishap on Greenville Boulevard, 20 feet West of the Golden Road intersection.

Drivers of the vehicles involved were listed by officers as Fleeta Kirkman Tetterton of Ayden and Barbara Gale Mills of Route 1, Winterville.

It's A Fact, We've Only Begun

Eastern North Carolina still has far to go to catch up in the area of health care, ECU Vice-Chancellor for Health Affairs Edwin Monroe told Martin Community College graduates last week.

He cited the medical school, allied health and nursing school at ECU, and 12 other nursing programs in the east.

There is still much to be done, he said, and the younger generation will have the responsibility.

We like to look with pride at what has been accomplished in health education and health care in the East, but it is a fact that we have just begun. We have far to go before health care comparable to other sections of the nation is available to our people in the East.

Civic Center Idea Worthy Of Study

A feasibility study for a civic-community center for the Pitt-Greenville area is underway by the ECU Regional Development Institute.

A Pitt Civic Center Task Force under the Area Chamber of Commerce with Reid Hooper as chairman is spearheading the project.

The group looked at a civic center at Roanoke

Rapids and came back impressed.

There are a growing number of state and regional meetings coming to our area. We are happy to see efforts continuing for development of a civic center which could encourage such meetings here

Delay The Controversial?

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — The General Assembly could get its work done in this brief budget session and go home shortly, says Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr. if members were willing to do what he is doing: putting off until 1979 major proposals for change.

His program in this session is largely updating the state's spending to reflect changing economic conditions. There will be, he says, no "major new initiatives" until next year.

One of the new initiatives to which he refers is one which is a favorite of Hunt's: reform of laws on sentencing convicted criminals.

The homework has already been done for legislative consideration of what is popularly described as "presumptive sentencing."

That means simply that the law would "presume" a certain sentence is appropriate to specific crimes.

But within a flexible range, judges would be able to give less harsh or more harsh treatment — but only when a written explanation of the reason for doing so is placed in the record.

Review
Then, automatic review of every criminal conviction and sentence would be handled by a special appeals court unit to watch for discrepancies.

Critics of the present system point to numerous cases in which prison inmates from different parts of the state or who appeared before a judge whose personal attitudes affect sentencing practices are serving widely varying terms.

It is going on five years, now, since the first serious legislative study into sentencing began. The Commission on Sentencing, Criminal Punishment, and Rehabilitation called for action in the 1975 General Assembly.

Strong resistance stalled that effort, as defense lawyers and court officials alike opposed the approach.

In a report to the 1977 General Assembly, sentencing reform was again placed on the agenda, complete with supporting data and elaborate backup material.

BILL NOBLITT

Fresh emphasis was given the subject by a worsening crisis in prison overpopulation, and sentencing reform was seen as one among numbers of other approaches to relieving that condition.

Several other measures put forth by the study commission chaired by former State Senator Eddie H. Knox, a Mecklenburg lawyer, won legislative endorsement: speedy trials, community based alternatives to imprisonment, inmate idleness solutions, volunteer programs, and funds for new prison facilities among them.

Advisor
Knox has since served as Hunt's close campaign advisor and is currently chairman of the powerful Advisory Budget Commission. The sentencing reform measure still bears his name and has the personal strong commitment of Gov. Hunt, so 1979 consideration should prove interesting.

Opposition stems from essentially two factors:

— Public response is that the sentences would be too short. This appearance results from the fact that a present 30-year sentence, for example, actually nets the offender only eight years anyway. Under presumptive sentencing, the law would set eight years firm rather than a long term with early release possibilities.

— Judges and both defense and prosecution lawyers think reform would take away discretion and flexibility needed to deal with young people, mitigating circumstances, and such. Those who favor the new system, however, say the present method allows favoritism based on politics or personal relationships.

WHO WOULD EVER GUESS IT?

Behind The Closed Doors

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court is still wrestling with the question of obscenity. Last week it ruled that, while juries must vote what is obscene by the standards of the local community, they cannot include children as part of the community. The juror must decide not just for himself but for everyone in the area what should and what should not be permitted to go through the mails.

It's a helluva burden to put on somebody as Melcher, a friend who is now sitting on a jury judging an obscenity trial, told me the other night.

Melcher said, "This is tougher than a murder trial. I'm not just sitting in judgment for myself. I'm representing the entire community, excluding children." "That shouldn't be hard," I said. "Everyone in this neighborhood is against obscenity." "That's what they say," Melcher said. "But they tell me one thing and then go out and tell Kinsey and Masters & Johnson researchers something entirely different. If we believe their statistics, there's more going on in this community than people will admit."

"How do you know this?" I asked.

"Well, I was trying to figure out some way of getting a fix on what the community thought was or was not obscene, so I took a copy of 'The Joy of Sex' and went from door to door asking people what positions in the book appealed to their prurient interests."

"What was the result?" Melcher replied, "Nobody would talk, but I sold 61 books."

"That's a lot," I admitted. "Everyone tells me they're against X-rated movies, but 'Deep Throat' is still playing at a downtown theater. It's had a longer run than 'Star Wars.' Who keeps going to the movies?"

ART BUCHWALD

"Probably people from Georgetown," I said. "Their morals are a lot looser than those of us who live in Wesley Heights. I'd say they've been lowering the community standards in Washington by at least 10 percent."

"That's the problem," Melcher said. "The Supreme Court has ruled that a jury in an obscenity case must take into consideration the opinions of everybody in the community from the 'most sensitive people' as well as 'deviant sexual groups' before we come to a decision."

"What do they mean by 'deviant sexual groups'?" I asked him.

"Nobody has really spelled it out for us. Maybe it's people who go skinny dipping or who dress up in each other's clothes."

"We don't have anybody like that in our neighborhood," I said. "I heard that's the sort of thing that goes on in Bethesda."

"But Bethesda is part of the community," Melcher said. "I have to think of them, too."

"Don't forget Chevy Chase," I told him. "They pretend to be straight, but I've heard the husbands go to massage parlors when their wives are away on summer vacation."

Melcher said, "That's my problem. Every time I think I've got the community standards down pat someone tells me something that throws them completely out of kilter. You've heard about the waterbeds at the Watergate, haven't you?"

"Who hasn't heard about the Watergate waterbeds? You know something, Melcher? I think you're taking the Supreme Court guidelines on obscenity too

White House Status

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the game of White House watching, the title on the office doors doesn't tell you who's who. Not if the door is in the wrong neighborhood.

And there's only one right neighborhood: the complex of offices closest to President Carter's Oval Office. That's the West Wing, the Boardwalk and Park Place of official offices.

Ten steps from Carter's door is better than 20. And the senior aide who is assigned a spot in the Executive Office Building, across a private street, is deemed to be in big trouble.

It doesn't seem to make much difference that proximity does not necessarily mean power — or that the West Wing complex has been partitioned so many times that some offices are little more than cubbyholes.

"The magnificence of the office is in inverse proportion to the importance of the individual," says one White House aide, who is unimportant enough to have a fancy office in the far reaches of the Executive Office Building.

The issue arises out of the case of Midge Costanza, Carter's adviser on women's issues and on domestic human rights. She joined the Carter staff with broader responsibilities, and an office close by the president's.

Then came the memo from Hamilton Jordan: Move. Ms. Costanza was told she would be sent across the street, to the ornate limbo of the Executive Office Building.

That is no hardship post. It was built to house the State and War departments, with old-fashioned high ceilings, paneled offices, fireplaces in many, space galore.

There are third echelon aides there with lodgings that would be the envy of the average senator. But it is not the White House.

Ms. Costanza said she really didn't care where she worked, but couldn't accept the symbolism of the office move. After all, the Carter people had made quite a point of her assignment to an office close by the president's as evidence of close liaison with minority groups, women and the other interests with which she was to maintain administration ties.

"We live in a very symbolic nation," she said in appealing to Carter against the move. ...

THE INSIDE REPORT

Carter's Style In Illinois

By ROWLAND EVANS
and ROBERT NOVAK

CHICAGO — President Carter finally made an old-fashioned partisan speech to the late Mayor Richard Daley's Cook County Democratic organization, but he scrupulously protected his own downstate political interests in a flashy display of ambiguous Carter-style politics here last week.

The ambiguity was both typical and intentional. With his huge strength in Chicago's teeming black wards a political constant ("Jimmy has a mystical link with blacks," one white legislator from Cook County told us), the president had little need to woo the once-impregnable Daley organization.

Now weakened and facing more troubles in the future as Daley's former lieutenants fight for power, the country's last political machine is perceived by Jimmy Carter's political aides as not quite superfluous but surely as of declining value.

Mr. Carter is a different political breed from such predecessor national leaders, as Sen. George McGovern, the late Hubert Humphrey and former President John F. Kennedy. He is not persona non grata downstate, where antipathy for the Chicago Democratic machine is expressed in language unfit for the family dinner table.

Having passed up last year's annual fund-raising dinner here hosted by Cook County chairman George Dunne, Daley's successor as party chairman, Mr. Carter allowed Dunne's invitation to this year's May 25 dinner to languish unanswered on his desk for weeks. That infuriated outspoken chairman Dunne, and led to juicy stories about the president's White House staff work, notoriously sloppy, and his failure to appreciate how dependent he is on Dunne's party organization.

In fact, however, the long delay in accepting Dunne's invitation was deliberate, an indication of the high importance given by the White House to the Baptist belt in downstate Illinois, full of twice-born Christians far removed from Chicago's racial polyglot.

Reflecting the White House mood was this reply by a presidential aide when we asked him about fractured relations with Dunne. "The only trouble with George Dunne," he told us, "is George Dunne."

Indeed it was not until he arrived here that the president finally decided to give the frankly partisan speech wanted by Dunne for his $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner, packed with organization leaders (and a sprinkling of Republican businessmen long allied with Daley). Twice discarding speech proposals portraying himself in a more presidential image, Jimmy Carter at the last minute chose to dish out partisan red meat only slightly disguised by his bland delivery. For the first time in his administration he also departed from his anti-pomp-and-ceremony campaign to give specific approval for the playing of "Hail to the Chief" — a stirring symbol dear to the hearts of Cook County patriots.

But just 12 hours later, addressing a joint session of the Democratic-controlled legislature, President Carter played a different tune. "I am a very conservative Southern businessman by circumstance," he said in the course of a long, affirmative reply to a legislator's question as to whether he intended to push the labor reform bill through Congress. Such a self-description would have been heresy the previous evening: downstate, it reminded Illinois farmers and small businessmen that Jimmy Carter, like them, is a small-town Southerner. "He wants to remind them that he has a rural background, too, and isn't in with that Cook County crowd," one prominent Democrat told us.

Likewise, by unannounced pre-arrangement, he was asked a question about the Middle East arms deal by a Jewish legislator. In a long, careful reply, Mr. Carter defended a Mideast policy that is under emotional attack in Cook County but has enthusiastic approval in conservative downstate.

What makes such ambiguous politics possible is the president's unprecedented hold on Chicago's ever-rising black population. He counts on their voting for him in 1980 with or without Dunne's Cook County machine. Practicing the politics of diffusion may be risky, but Mr. Carter displayed a deft touch here. He departed the state more confident than when he arrived, convinced that the only way he could carry Illinois in 1980, after losing it in 1976, is to keep a certain distance from chairman Dunne and the Democratic machine.

To the editor:

I can't believe it! Somebody in our local government is using their feet to think with.

Now rules have come down that our Rescue Squad will no longer be funded as before. Now they will only be allowed to have the equipment that is the state's minimum requirements, which consist of little more than a Bandaid and a bottle of iodine. Any equipment that does not fall under the state's minimum requirements will not be replaced when needed. There is right now a $5,000 heart machine riding around in one of those trucks with no battery. You see, neither the machine nor the battery fall under minimum requirements. It's just riding around for looks, I guess. There haven't been too many complaints about it, probably because the people who needed it aren't around to complain.

We've got a multi-million-dollar hospital that's been the biggest thing to hit Greenville since the discovery of the Tar River. Well, that hospital can't do you an awful lot of good if you're already dead when you get there!

Look, we are used to getting prompt and professional emergency service from the very best. If these funds are continually cut back and vital equipment is not replaced, we might find ourselves calling a taxi to the hospital one day. They can carry the state's minimum requirements in the glove compartment.

In addition, the Rescue Squad will no longer be funded to attend international competition. They happen to be the 1977 International Winners. Maybe some people don't think Greenville needs something like that to be proud of. I think we do!

If you care at all or if you've ever had to call for help, please write or call Mayor Percy Cox or your City Council members.

Strength For Today

GOD IN NATURE

In the twenty-sixth chapter of Job we have an interesting description of God manifesting Himself through nature. Says Job: "Lo, these are but the outskirts of His ways; And how small a whisper do we hear of Him!"

The testimony which nature gives about God is ambiguous. When we look out at the beauties of a summer day or gaze up at the starry heavens at night, we are conscious of a great and good creator. But when the hurricane blows, what then? When pestilence sweeps through the land, what testimony does it bear of God's solicitude?

Nature and the revelation it provides are not enough to provide a basis for religious faith. As Job said, the phenomena of nature constitute the outskirts of His ways, the small whisper of His mighty voice. We get a picture of God which satisfies the soul only when we behold Him as He is revealed in the Bible, and particularly as He is set forth in all the perfection of Jesus Christ.

Compounding And Real Estate

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — Would you prefer to work for someone else at the rate of $1,000 a day for 35 days, or for yourself at an income beginning with 1 cent the first day and doubling on each succeeding day?

Wherever he goes Mark Oliver Haroldsen asks that question. Most people choose the $35,000 that comes with the first option, never realizing that the second would endow them with nearly $340 million.

He uses the illustration to prove the power of compounding, and how it works in real estate. While it's unlikely that anyone will double his money daily, he says, many people can do it by the year.

An example: An income property is bought for $50,000 with $5,000 down. Its value appreciates $5,000 to $55,000 in the first year, a 100 percent gain. True, there are expenses, but there is income also.

Like himself, he says, many ordinary people can become millionaires by following his simple formula of buying income property, fixing it up, refinancing, and managing it wisely or selling at an opportune time.

The tremendous compounding comes from the leverage of using borrowed money, since some properties can be acquired for very little down, and in some instances for nothing at all.

Says Haroldsen, there aren't enough days in a year or years in a lifetime for most people to become millionaires while working for others. On their own they can do it in remarkably short order.

Seven years ago the 34-year-old Salt Lake City resident owed $7,000. Recently he estimated his worth at $5.5 million, but that was before he bought an apartment house, he says, for $600,000 less than its value.

Haroldsen, a clean-cut, disarmingly direct and enthusiastic motivator, a Mormon, now seeks to arouse the dormant financial instincts in millions of Americans. And he hopes to make more millions doing so.

He has flooded the nation and intrigued hundreds of thousands in the past year or so with his magazine advertisements promising to demonstrate "How to Wake Up the Financial Genius Inside You."

That, in fact, is the name of a book Haroldsen wrote while working on his second million. He published it himself, and already, he says, has sold 350,000 mail order copies at $10 each.

The book is now making its way into bookstores, and Haroldsen says confidently: "I'm sure it will be on the bestseller list." It already would be, of course, if sales by mail were included.

Attitudes Of Non-Churchgoers Said Rarely Due Own Experience

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
 AP Religion Writer
 NEW YORK (AP) -

"Church people are hypocrites, phonies, fakers." "Going to church doesn't make any difference." "Churches are just looking for the almighty dollar." "They're always knocking each other." "They talk about love but then condemn you to hell-fire." "Nuts with that." "I'm self-sufficient."

These are among reasons people give for not being church members as found in a study made by the Rev. Dr. J. Russell Hale of Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, Pa.

On a year-long sabbatical, he traveled from coast to coast, interviewing 165 people of various educational, social and economic strata, young and old, all of them outside the churches, exploring their motives for it. The attitudes of the outsiders stem from church experiences "they have known or about which they have heard rumors," Hale says. "Their pictures may be distortions, but are drawn from their own perceptions, real for them." His findings, a 97-page report entitled, "Who are the Un-churches?" was issued by the Glenmary Research Center of Cincinnati, part of a Catholic domestic missions society which supported the research along with several agencies of the Lutheran Church in America.

preservation, who reject organizational structures as useless to "true religion" and who fault the church for its leaders, for "meddling" in secular affairs and for their concern for finances or property.

"They just build buildings and take our money," the comments went. "I don't have to go to church to be a Christian ... It's between God and me." -The "boxed-in" people who have quit the church, considering it too confining and restrictive, stifling their independence to do "it my way."

"Nobody is going to pressure me," comments went. "I'm a pretty independent guy ... I make my own decisions." -The "burned out" people who feel wearied and drained by church work and want to travel light, relieved at dropping church work. "The church wanted all our time and too much money," one commented.

The "cop-outs," people never really involved in church life, apathetic to it, generally uninformed about it and indifferent. "I could care less." -The "happy hedonists," people who find fulfillment in a succession of momentary pleasures. "It's either church or recreation, and recreation wins," comes to priorities. I come comments went. "When it first."

Rev. Lucy D. Jones, wife of Mr. William H. Jones, was a graduate of United Christian College, Goldsboro, N. C. on May 25, 1978 after four years of study. She now holds a Bachelor Degree of Theology. Rev. Jones is affiliated with Mt. Calvary F. W.B. Church, Greenville, N.C., Dr. W. L. Jones, Pastor.

Alliance Elects New President
 BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - The Christian and Missionary Alliance, led for 18 years by the Rev. Dr. Nathan Bailey, elected a new president, the Rev. Dr. Louis L. King, at its convention here. He takes over July 31 on Bailey's retirement as head of the evangelical denomination with 8,000 churches in 46 countries, 1,461 of them in the United States. He has headed the denomination's overseas missions, including 938 American missionaries, since 1956.

Similar Ruling Is Petitioned
 SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) - Several regional units have petitioned the southern branch of Presbyterianism, the Presbyterian Church U.S., to bar affirmed, practicing homosexuals from the ministry, as was done last month by the northern branch, the United Presbyterian Church. The southern body, which holds its governing assembly June 9-16, also will choose a new moderator from two candidates, one of them a woman, Sara Bernice Mosley of Sherman, Texas. She would be the denomination's first woman moderator if she wins over the other candidate, the Rev. Dr. John McElroy Crowell of Mobile, Ala.

Fresh As A Daisy...
 ... the words instantly evoke a picture of crisp whiteness, of sunny yellow—a kind of jaunty joy. There's nothing depressing about daisies—pick a bunch and you automatically get a lift.
 You start remembering old sayings like "Daisies don't tell." I wonder who invented that one. And that old game, "She loves me, she loves me not." Daisies have been flower fortune-tellers for longer than any of us can remember.
 Yet daisies, too, have their season. Like everything else in nature, including man, they have a life span. And in their crisp, lilying way they make the most of it.
 Do we? Someone once suggested that we should live each day as if it were our last. It seems a sobering thought at first. Yet, what a world it would be if we followed this advice!
 Somewhere in the course of that tremendously important day, our steps would surely lead us to church.
 Why wait?

A weak cold front is expected to move into the North Carolina mountains tonight, pushing thundershowers ahead of it. It will slowly move across the state Saturday, again with thundershowers breaking out ahead of it. The National Weather Service says the greatest concentration of thundershowers will be in the mountains but they will occur throughout the state as the front moves along.

More warm temperatures were forecast for today, following Thursday's high readings that included a 94 at Wilmington and a 92 at Jacksonville. Readings in the upper 80s were general.

Carter Could Prevail On Tuition Tax Credits

By EDMOND Le BRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter may still have his way despite House passage of sweeping tuition tax credit legislation strongly opposed by the White House.

The 237-158 House vote approving the bill Thursday was 27 votes short of the two-thirds majority that would be needed to override a presidential veto, expected if the measure finally clears Congress.

The legislation, which provides credits against college, elementary and secondary school tuition, now goes to the Senate, which has shown itself even more favorable to tuition credits than the House.

The House-passed measure would directly to a taxpayer to subtract directly from his income tax 25 per cent of his tuition outlays, within limits.

The maximum credit in the case of college or other post-secondary tuition would be $100 this year, $150 in 1979 and $250 in 1980, for each student. At the lower educational levels, the maximum would be $50 this year and $100 in each of the next two. The program would end after three years unless Congress renewed it.

Pending in the Senate, with the approval of the Finance Committee, is a measure providing credits up to $500.

House Speaker Thomas P.

O'Neill said he does not think a veto could be overridden. He said House leaders might bring up a bill embodying Carter's proposal to expand existing college aid programs by $1.2 billion and making families with incomes up to $25,000 eligible for some benefits.

The House, which unlike the Senate had never before passed a tuition tax credit bill, not only did so Thursday, approved the measure after first broadening what had been only a college tuition credit to include tuition at the lower educational levels. That change carried by only 15 votes — 209 to 194.

Because the credit would apply to private and parochial elementary and secondary schools, the House action raised a constitutional issue about which Carter has expressed particular concern.

The president has said that he was inclined to veto any tuition tax credit measure that was costly and unconstitutional. The House measure, which appears to fit that description, would cost in lost taxes an estimated $6.5 billion in its first full year and $1.2 billion in two years.

And an opinion by the Justice Department says that a measure including elementary and secondary tuition credits would probably be declared unconstitutional.

"But the conviction could be thrown out by a higher court."
"Why?" I asked.
"Most of the pictures the defendant mailed were taken on Capitol Hill."

To move me now, when I have assumed responsibility for women's issues and domestic human rights issues would tend to give the nation the impression those issues were being moved out of the White House."
"That is debatable. The nation doesn't know where Midge Costanza's office is situated, or didn't, until she protested the move."
She won a split decision. She is yielding her office to Tim Kraft, who switched from appointments secretary to political adviser and handyman. She stays in the West Wing of the White House — in a basement office.

Sunday's Movie Is No 'I Spy'

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Once upon a time, there was a series, "I Spy," with Bill Cosby and Robert Culp as spies. Sunday night, Cosby returns to hush-hush work in a two-hour NBC movie, "Top Secret." It is different than "I Spy." Cos now is a New York art dealer who secretly does special work for Uncle Sam. When thugs steal 120 pounds of plutonium in Italy, he is sent to Italy immediately.

His contact there is McGee (Tracy Reed), a lovely lady spy posing as an expatriate artist. Cos lands in Italy, takes a cab to the famed Via Scenic Harbor View, sees her painting and makes contact.

They jump in her white VW convertible and start driving. She tells him about the stolen plutonium and adds: "Our job is to get it back fast. My theory is that it was terrorists."

Next scene: Two thugs who stole the plutonium haggle with young folks who indicate they are terrorists. They want to buy the boom stuff, the thugs want more money. Guns are drawn, then put away.

Meanwhile, Cos and McGee arrive at a hamlet. He asks "Where is the hotel. And is told: 'There is no hotel. You're staying with me. Our cover is that we're lovers.'"

She also berates him. Each time they're in her apartment she berates him. Berate No. 1 is that field spies take all the risks "while you're in Washington eating beef Wellington and stroking the brass ..."

They then go to an afternoon party held in the big villa of one Carl Vitale (played by executive producer Sheldon Leonard). Carl is a deported New York mob boss who once ran the docks.

McGee, an old flame of Carl, introduces Cos. Carl sizes him up, then mutters, "Treat her right or I'll cut your heart out." Later, Cos softly tells her, "I think he means it."

"Not him," she laughs. "He's a pussycat." She points out some people at the party. Not all are pussycats. Says she: "See the face over there? He owns the drug traffic."

In mid-party, Cos chases a young waiter, Gino, because Gino's hair is falling out, a sure sign of plutonium poisoning. But Gino gets away. Cos returns to the party, and an angry McGee takes him home.

Berate No. 2 occurs: "If you're supposed to be the best, no wonder we're in trouble around the world. We're supposed to be undercover, right? I mean, that's the way the senators set up the thing."

Meanwhile again, Cos and McGee are on Murphy's trail. I can't say how they got wise to him, it'd spoil everything, but they go to his place. Too late. He is tied to the chair and dead.

At this point, McGee says:

"Somebody's juiced him. Looks like he's been electrocuted." (I had to leave after an hour of this on account of it was time for me to go have a beer in San Francisco. Somebody write and tell me how "Top Secret" came out. Thank you and have a nice weekend.)

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices posted a moderate gain today with the help of money-supply statistics that hinted at a possible improvement in the outlook for inflation and interest rates.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 2.25 at 842.95.

Gainers outpaced losers by about a 3-2 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

At the close on Thursday the Federal Reserve reported a $1 billion decline in the basic measure of the money supply.

The Fed has been attempting to curb inflation by pushing up short-term interest rates in order to discourage monetary growth.

Brokers said the latest figures heightened hopes that the effort was succeeding, and that the Fed might not feel the need to push interest rates much higher, at least for the time being.

Meanwhile, the government reported this morning that wholesale prices of finished goods rose 0.7 percent in May, compared with a 1.3 percent surge the month before. That also tended to reinforce hopes that recent inflationary pressures might soon subside.

Reliance Group was the most active NYSE issue, up 1 1/2 at 33 1/2. The company said 4.90 million of its warrants to buy the stock at $32.07 a share had been exercised by the close of business Thursday.

The rest of the approximately 6.52 million warrants are scheduled to expire this weekend if they are not exercised today.

The NYSE's composite index gained .15 to 54.74. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .25 at 145.05.

Volume on the Big Board reached 13.41 million shares by noontime, against 12.33 million at the same point Thursday.

reason for the consideration is that public reaction to the inclusion of duplex development in areas near established residential sections has been strong.

Howell explained that the board had not had ample time to study the duplex proposals and he suggested that the matter be sent back to the committee.

In other business, the board approved the preliminary plat of Professional Center, Section II, located north of an adjoining Stantonburg Road on the south and the proposed Arlington Boulevard on the west.

City Manager-City Engineer Charlie Holliday explained that Section II is a continuation of the concept approved several months ago for Section I. He said that the property is located just outside the corporate limits of the city.

The request of Kenneth Whichard for rezoning approximately 13.5 acres some 400 feet south of Greenville Boulevard near Nichol's Discount City from RA-20 to Highway Commercial was automatically tabled for 30 days. A motion to take the matter off the table for approval last night failed.

Whichard, it was mentioned, is seeking an extension of the Highway Commercial zone along Greenville Boulevard to tie in with the existing commercial frontage.

Whichard told the board that he plans to develop the property with a Sheraton Motel on the front section and a convention center on the back section. He asked that the board consider waiving the 30-day tabling period, citing costs involved in waiting until next month for the matter to be considered again.

Rezoning requests are automatically tabled for 30 days unless board members vote unanimously to consider action at the initial meeting. Last night's motion to consider the Whichard request failed when the board split by a three to three vote.

In a final item, a resolution indicating the planning board's endorsement of the concept of a Comprehensive Community Energy Management Program being developed for the city by Greenville Utilities Commission was approved. The resolution also offers the board's assistance in the planning and implementation of the program.

GUC director Charles Horne explained that the U.S. Department of Energy is planning to select 15 communities to set up model programs for energy conservation. Greenville, he reported, will apply for a 100 per cent grant to be one of the test centers.

According to Horne, the test program will probably be a two to five year continuing energy management program. Greenville, in seeking to become one of the model program sites, will be in competition with other cities for the test participation opportunity.

The director added that the local proposal to participate in the $3.5 million program must be submitted by June 16.

No Chance Of Trade If Palmer Keeps On Hurling Shutouts

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

Jim Palmer says rumors that the Baltimore Orioles might trade him are grossly exaggerated.

In fact, Palmer, who tossed his third straight shutout Thursday in a 1-0 victory over the New York Yankees, says he's the source of those rumors.

"I started most of the rumors, so it doesn't affect me," he said. "I called rumor control last night, and they said if I keep pitching like this there's no chance of a trade."

Palmer, now 7-4, yielded only two hits to the Yankees, weak singles by Lou Piniella and Chris Chambliss, in securing his 201st major league triumph and 49th career shutout, one more than San Diego's Gaylord Perry to take the lead among active pitchers.

The 32-year-old, three-time Cy Young award winner was blase.

"Just another shutout," he said. "It was just a win and I just happened to pitch a shutout again. I don't think about shutouts when I go out there. I just try to give up as few runs as I can. It was just a very blah 1-0 game."

Palmer, who walked five and struck out two, has now won four games in a row, and he's still complaining of a stiff shoulder.

"My shoulder has hurt all year," he said. "I thought it was cured when I left Florida but the pain is always there and it never really loosens up. I've had a couple of shots, but they haven't really helped."

Rookie Jim Beattie, 2-1, who had beaten Palmer earlier in the year, allowed four hits in seven innings.

There were no games in the National League Thursday.

Tigers 4, Brewers 3

Ron LeFlore drove in two runs with a sacrifice fly and a single, and bullpen ace John Hiller came in to bail out Jim Slaton, 5-2, who got Detroit's third consecutive victory after seven straight losses. Hiller got his sixth save.

Sal Bando hit a two-run homer in the first inning and Robin Yount hit a sacrifice fly in the second to score Sixto Lezcano for Milwaukee, but Slaton settled down. Slaton gave way to Hiller in the eighth after yielding a triple to Paul Molitor and a walk.

Royals 10, Mariners 0

Dennis Leonard, 4-8, who lost five straight games in May, tossed a six-hit shutout that boosted Kansas City into first place by four percentage points over Oakland in the AL West.

Darrell Porter doubled home three runs for the Royals in the second inning, and George Brett also had three RBI on a pair of doubles in Kansas City's 14-hit attack.

Tom House, 3-4, the first of four Seattle pitchers, took the loss.

Rangers 10, Twins 7

Toby Harrah, who came into the game hitting only .201, smacked his second homer of the season, a three-run shot in the seventh inning that snapped a 7-7 tie and gave Texas a season high in run production. Rookie Steve Comer, 1-1, the third Texas pitcher, was the winner. Doyle Alexander started for the Rangers but gave up eight hits and four runs in five innings.

Twins reliever Mike Marshall, 1-3, was the loser.

College Event Gets Under Way

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Miami challenges No. 1-ranked Southern California and Big Ten Champion Michigan faces Southwest Conference winner Baylor as the College World Series gets under way tonight in Omaha.

Baylor's stock suffered when Coach Mickey Sullivan disclosed Thursday that Burl Corner would not play in the tournament.

The outfielder-pitcher, described by Sullivan as one of those outstanding college players who comes along once in 20 years, had been expected to be available for designated hitter duty here.

But an X-ray this week disclosed a hairline fracture suffered when Coker was hit in the left arm while trying to beat out a bunt.

Michigan and Baylor were to meet in the Friday opener at 5:10 p.m. CDT. Miami will challenge Southern California

Fregosi New Angel Manager

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Jim Fregosi, an original member of the California Angels, is coming home to be their manager, and he believes he can help inspire the club to greater heights in the American League West.

"We felt the Angels needed more motivation and that Fregosi is the type of individual to fill that bill," said Gene Autry, team president and chairman of the board, in announcing the firing of Dave Garcia and the hiring Thursday of the 36-year-old former infielder.

Fregosi, who played with the Angels for 11 seasons starting in 1961, becomes the eighth manager in the Angels' 18-year history.

"The biggest thing is baseball is a lot of fun and the players at 8:10 p.m.

First-round play will continue Saturday, with first-time CWS entry Oral Roberts meeting North Carolina at 5:10 p.m. and defending champion Arizona State facing St. John's at 8:10 p.m.

Miami junior left-hander Ranby Guerra will pitch tonight against USC. The Trojans have won 10 national baseball championships, but they have been missing from the CWS since 1974.

In the '74 title game, USC beat Miami 7-3. The Hurricanes also will be making their first appearance here since that game.

Guerra has a 10-0 record and hasn't lost in two years. Miami Coach Ron Fraser said no matter how he fares, Guerra will play "every inning" of the tournament, and will be designated hitter or first basemen when he isn't on the mound.

"We wanted to end it here. We just had to postpone it a couple of days, that's all," said Seattle guard Fred Brown. "Tuesday night was just a minor setback."

A minor setback for Seattle, maybe, but a major step in the right direction for the Bullets.

Zarley's Hot Putting Gives Him First Round Lead Over Ole Arnie

By KEVIN McKENNA
Associated Press Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) —

From tee to green, Kermit Zarley considered it one of his worst rounds of the year.

But the 36-year-old PGA tour veteran broke out of his putting slump with a vengeance, knocking in four birdies in his last six holes Thursday for a 6-under-par 66 and the first-round lead in the $300,000 Kemper Open golf tournament.

"I'm embarrassed," Zarley said afterwards. "I didn't play that well. I wish I could say I did, but I played pretty bad. I was very fortunate on a few occasions. Everything went right for me."

By his own count, Zarley hit bad fairway shots on all but five holes. After 12 holes, he was only 2-under par — but that, he said, was when his wife, Marilyn, entered the picture.

"I had a 12-foot putt for par, and she said, 'Knock it in, honey.' She said it on every hole coming in, and I holed every putt except one from there to the clubhouse."

Included in that stretch were three consecutive birdies. Zarley completed his day's work by hitting a wedge from the left of the green on the final hole, then sinking a 6-foot birdie putt.

"I just snuck it in there," said Zarley, who bettered his previous low round of the year by two strokes. "I've had eight months, and I'm just coming out of it."

Zarley's highest finish this year was a tie for sixth at the Houston Open. He hasn't won an individual title on the PGA tour since 1970, and he is eyeing the $60,000 first prize at the Kemper.

"I need the money," said Zarley, who is 78th on the winnings list with $18,567 this year.

Also seeking to end a long absence from the winners circle is Arnold Palmer, who finished Thursday's play 1 stroke back on the 7,160-yard Quail Hollow Country Club course.

Palmer knows the course well. He has a wood-frame home overlooking the 15th fairway and has played the course every day since last Friday.

"It helps that I've stayed at home. I've played this golf course more in the last week than I have any golf course before a tournament in years," said Palmer, who won the first Kemper in 1968 but hasn't notched a PGA victory in the past five years.

Another favorite of the galleries, defending Kemper champion Tom Weiskopf, had a lackluster 71 for the first 18 holes and said he had trouble concentrating on his shots.

Although the tournament opened on a hot and sometimes windy day most of the scores were within a stroke of par. Six golfers were tied for third at 69, including two — Mark Pfeil and Wayne Levi — who played the qualifying round.

Jerry Heard, who won last week's Atlanta Classic, tallied an even-par 72 Thursday. Tom Watson and Jack Nicklaus, the two leading money-winners on this year's tour, are passing up the Kemper.

ECU Hearing Date Is Set

A date for the hearing of a grievance complaint against the East Carolina University athletic department has been scheduled.

The hearing will begin on June 12 at 1 p.m. in Room 221 of Mendenhall Student Center. Artemis Kares, chairwoman of the committee, said that the hearing could extend over several days.

"It will be a typical grievance hearing as outlined in the student handbook," she said. "The students (who have filed the complaint) will be given the opportunity to present evidence and witnesses, as well as the athletic department."

The complaint was filed late last month by five students, four of them women, stating that discrimination was practiced by the athletic department in relation to athletic programs for women. The complaint charged that there were differences in salaries, funding, facilities and publicity between men's and women's programs.

The committee, in addition to the chairwoman, includes Dr. Iona Ryan and Dr. Rick Barnes.

"The hearing will be open to university people," Miss Kares said. "That would mean faculty, staff and students."

Sonics Hope For Lead Tonight

By TONY BAKER
AP Sports Writer

SEATTLE (AP) — Tonight was the night the Seattle SuperSonics figured they'd win it all.

Instead, they find themselves deadlocked with the Washington Bullets in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association championship series and another trip to Landover, Md., ahead of them.

The Sonics held a 2-1 lead in the series entering Game 4 Tuesday night at the Kingdome. If the Sonics had won that game, they'd have been playing for the title tonight.

But the Bullets spoiled those plans when they rebounded from a 15-point third-quarter deficit and outlasted the Sonics in overtime for a 120-116 victory that squared the series and snapped Seattle's 21-game home win streak.

So now it's down to a best-of-three series with Game 5 set for tonight in the Coliseum, the Sonics' regular home court, and Game 6 on Sunday at the Capital Centre in Landover.

The seventh game, if necessary, would be played in Seattle on Wednesday night.

"We're ready to go," said Sonics center Marvin Webster. "The loss won't change the outcome of the series, only delay it. I'm still confident. We know we can beat this team."

"We wanted to end it here. We just had to postpone it a couple of days, that's all," said Seattle guard Fred Brown. "Tuesday night was just a minor setback."

A minor setback for Seattle, maybe, but a major step in the right direction for the Bullets.

"No matter what happens Friday night, we're going back home. I like that a lot," said Washington Coach Dick Motta.

Tonight's game hinges on which team can put its game plan into action.

"If the Bullets play — and I've maintained this from day one — we're tough to beat," said Motta.

"I honestly feel we are a more versatile team than Washington," countered Sonics Coach Lenny Wilkens. "We have more ways of winning. If we play the way we are capable of playing, we will win."

A significant change occurred in Game 4, however — one the Bullets feel could carry them to the title. After relying almost exclusively on forwards Elvin Hayes and Bobby Dandridge for scoring in the first three games, they took a cue from Seattle and got balanced scoring, with seven players finishing in double figures.

"They got seven guys involved, and that's trouble," said Brown. "That's way too many people involved."

Putters Hold Lead

ROCKY MOUNT — Rocky Mount, the host team, captured the putting victory last night, but the Greenville team held onto first place overall in the Eastern Regional Putt-Putt championships.

Rocky Mount came in with a 441.99 under par, to beat Greenville by 26 strokes and Wilson by 32.

Overall, Greenville still holds a 17-stroke lead over Rocky Mount and is 34 ahead of Wilson. Three matches remain in the six-match series.

Bobby Ipock again led Greenville with an 87.21 under par. Quincy Scarborough had a 90, Ken Paramore, a 92, and Robert Stancill and David Manning each had 100 for Greenville.

Greenville will host the next tournament.

Pitt County Babe Ruth

CHICOD — Chicod defeated Bethel 5-0 behind pitcher Roy Lassiter's two-hitter last night in a Pitt County Babe Ruth baseball game.

Lassiter threw 15 strikeouts in the ballgame. Chicod's Dixon Page was the leading hitter with two.

Aching Parsons Out For Win

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Stock car driver Benny Parsons, nagged by a backache, is out to win the Music City 420 NASCAR race for the second consecutive year.

Parsons, 37, from Ellerbe, N.C., arrived Thursday in Nashville to begin preparing his Chevrolet for tonight's qualifying rounds. The National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing event is Saturday night at Nashville Speedway.

He told a reporter he is suffering from a pinched nerve in his lower back.

"Suffering is the right word," the veteran driver said in an interview. "The pain gets pretty bad sometimes, particularly during a long race."

There has been speculation that if Parsons' back problems worsen, he may end his career after this season.

"I don't know about that. Right now I'm just playing it by ear. I want to at least finish this season," he said.

Parsons has won two races this season, at Richmond, Va., and Darlington, S.C.

Tonight's qualifying rounds are to determine the top 10 cars for Saturday night's race. The remainder of the 30-car field will be determined in time trials starting at 1 p.m. CDT, Saturday.

Darrell Waltrip, a local favorite from Franklin, and Cale Yarborough, a four-time winner at Nashville, are rated among the top contenders. Also expected to compete are Bobby Allison, Dave Marcis, Neil Bonnett, Lennie Pond, Jimmy Means, Richard Petty and Dick Brooks, among others.

The Music City 420 was forced back to Saturday from the original date of May 13 after the Winston 500 was rescheduled earlier this season due to rain.

Southern Pitt Little League

CHICOD — Chicod defeated the Hornets 8-2 in a Southern Pitt Little League game yesterday.

Stacy McCarter was the winning pitcher for Chicod, while teammate Steve Mills was 3-3. Mills, Mike Edwards and Tony Ross all had home runs for Chicod, with Edwards hitting a grand slam. Stanley Mills hit a homer for the Hornets.

Three runs in the bottom of the sixth inning enabled Ayden-Grifton to come from behind and slip past Warren Farm Supply.

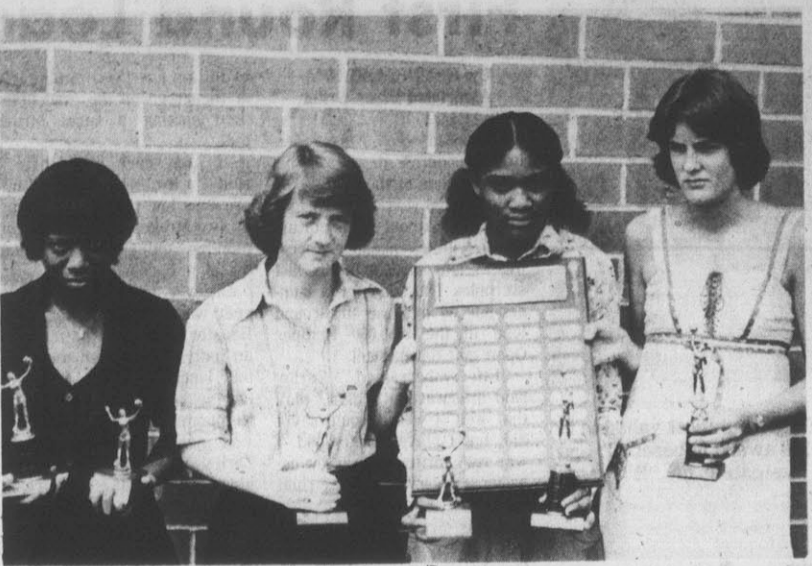

Warren scored first in the ballgame with three runs in the opening inning, while Ayden-Grifton didn't score until the third when two runs came across.
Warren got a pair in the fourth to make it 5-2, but Ayden-Grifton scored four runs in the bottom of the inn-

"You'll never get rich sellin' wood to George Dickel"
Bear Ferguson, logger, 1873

"It's not that George doesn't use a lot of wood in the makin' of his Tennessee Sour Mash Whisky—he does. But he's so durned persnickity.

"Like only wantin' winter-cut sugar maple that's not all sappy for his charcoal mellowin'. Then he picks over the lot like a hen eyein' a corn morsel.

"Times like that I most always end up sittin' on a cord of wood he's turned down, sippin' his whisky."

At George Dickel, we still use only the winter maple to help make every sip of our Tennessee Sour Mash Whisky as smooth as moonbeams.

Confirm Totals

The official canvass of Tuesday's runoff election results by the Pitt County Board of Elections confirmed the totals published by "The Daily Reflector."

Margaret Register, Elections supervisor, reported that Thursday's canvass made the totals for U.S. Senate candidates Luther Hodges Jr. and John Ingram and also County Commissioner candidates B. Alton Gardner and Walter Gaskins official as published.

Miss Register added that the canvass verified the reelection of Gardner to his Fifth District seat on the county board with 2,872 votes while Gaskins received 1,850 votes.

Officially, Ingram finished with 2,602 votes in Pitt County while Hodges received 2,222 votes.

The elections official noted that 4,870 persons voted in the second primary out of a Democratic registration of 22,797, for a 21.3 percentage of participation.

Department Of Transportation Announces 2 Roadways Opened

RALEIGH — The Department of Transportation has announced the opening of two new roadways — a 4.7 mile segment of U.S. 264 between Bailey and Wilson, and a 22.7 mile segment of U.S. 70 from Dover to New Bern.

Secretary of Transportation Thomas Bradshaw Jr. said the U.S. 264 segment in Nash and Wilson counties is expected to open June 15 or 16. The 4.7 mile long portion was originally scheduled for completion in November, but should open by the middle of this month.

An 8.5 mile segment was opened to traffic last year and the section scheduled for completion this month will complete the 13.2 miles of the eastbound lanes of the four-lane route.

The westbound lanes of the project are presently under construction. One contract, scheduled for completion in November, will finish the four-lane project from N.C. 39 to N.C. 581 at Bailey. The other segment, from N.C. 581 to U.S. 264 East of Sims, is expected to be completed by October 1979.

At present, two-way traffic is maintained on the completed eastbound portions of U.S. 264. When the west bound lanes are completed, U.S. 264 will be a four-lane highway from Wilson to Raleigh.

The 22.7 mile segment of U.S. 70 from Dover to New Bern is expected to open July 1. A four-mile long portion of the New Bern bypass was opened to traffic last year. Total cost of the entire 26.7 mile long project was $57 million.

The opening of the highway will allow motorists to travel on a four-lane facility from Raleigh to Morehead City, except for a segment of U.S. 70 near Smithfield which is included in the 1978-1984 Highway Improvement Program.

Presented Plaque For Safety Contributions

Mrs. Joyce Mills of Greenville has been presented a plaque of appreciation by the Pitt County Safety Council for "her outstanding contributions to safety in Pitt County during the past year."

Employed by the Hines Insurance Company here, she has worked through the Pitt Co. Association of Insurance Women, which was also cited by the Council for its overall safety efforts.

The award was presented by Carl E. Whitfield, field representative for the N. C. Governor's Highway Safety Program, who addressed the Council. He is the retiring president of the Council.

Whitfield complimented the Pitt County Police Chiefs for "maintaining personnel standards and for their efficient operations in all areas of public safety." He noted the following statistics, which he said "reveal exceptional police activity during the past 12 months": 257 narcotics arrests; 351 arrests for drunk driving; 4,932 traffic arrests, of which 2,000 were for exceeding the speed limit and 91 for driving recklessly; 48,699 miles of patrol during a typical month; 1,343 complaints answered, and 126 safety programs presented to various civic and school groups.

Other organizations recognized by Whitfield as making outstanding safety efforts in Pitt County were fire departments, ambulance services, rescue squads and the new hospital.

Whitfield admonished Council members who don't wear seat belts while driving automobiles and reminded them of the need to maintain the national 55-mph speed limit.

New President John Watson said regular monthly meetings of the Council would resume in September.

"Dry Sockets" Mean Infection

I developed a "dry socket" twice in two years, each time after a tooth was extracted. It was very painful. I'm wondering if I should change dentists. What do you think? - Miss F.A., N.C.

Dear Miss A.: When a tooth is removed, a blood clot covers the site of the extraction and protects the bone during the time of healing.

A "dry socket," known as "alveolitis," is a slight infection of the area where the tooth was removed. It is not an unusual complication of dental surgery. The infection can readily be controlled with antibiotics. Pain killers can relieve the discomfort.

You would be doing yourself and your dentist a great injustice if you were to attribute to him the cause of this infection. It is purely coincidental that you have twice developed this slight post-operative problem. There is no reason why you should anticipate that this will happen again. It would be foolish to disrupt a valuable relationship between you and your dentist because of a situation for which he is not responsible.

I play soccer at high school. After a game, I drink a lot of ice water. My father thinks I shouldn't do this because it's bad for my stomach. What is your opinion? - Gary L., Texas.

Dear Gary:

For a long time it has been thought that drinking ice water after vigorous exercise can cause abdominal cramps. Although there isn't a real solid explanation for this, many coaches do not recommend it. I'm sure you've noticed that football players and tennis players just take a sip of water or juice during moments of rest. Often they spit out the water.

A group of doctors recently studied this problem and came to the conclusion that there was no evidence that drinking ice water is harmful to athletes in the course of their participation in sports. Nevertheless, I would suggest that after great physical activity you get into the habit of resting and slowly sipping a little cool water. Sudden chilling of your body with lots of water can't possibly do you a lot of good.

Is a "lazy colon" a dangerous condition? I have it. - Mr. T.L., Nev.

Dear Mr. L.: This vague, non-medical term is sometimes used to describe inactivity of the large intestine, sluggishness of the intestine and constipation. It rarely occurs in the young. Most commonly it occurs in the elderly, especially those who are confined to bed or who are extremely inactive.

There now are a number of simple drugs that are used to stimulate the activity of the large intestine and reduce the unpleasant sense of fullness associated with inactive, or "lazy" colons.

A diet rich in vegetables and fruit, with an increased intake of water, can be beneficial. Of course, I assume that your intestinal tract has been studied and that there is no other underlying problem to account for your symptoms.

'Proposition 13' A Boon To The Giants

By BOB EGELKO
 Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Backers are portraying an initiative to drastically cut California property taxes as a boon to middle-class homeowners. But an Associated Press survey shows the heralded relief for homeowners is dwarfed by the potential savings for big business and the possibility these savings might not be passed on to consumers.

Polls show the initiative has been gaining favor with voters steadily. The latest California Poll released Thursday by Marvin D. Field said 57 percent of those surveyed favor the initiative and 34 percent oppose it. The rest are undecided.

Specifically, the measure would limit taxes on property to 1 percent of its market value, with an additional 1/4 percent allowed temporarily to pay off outstanding bonds.

The AP survey of 13 of the state's biggest property owners found that the initiative, Proposition 13 on Tuesday's ballot, offers them a tax cut of at least $431 million.

Three companies alone — Pacific Telephone, Pacific Gas & Electric, and Southern California Edison — would get a $280 million cut, while the average homeowner's property tax cut would be $870, according to a legislative committee's analysis.

Most of the 13 companies are publicly neutral on Proposition 13 but Southern California Edison and Southern California Gas oppose it, saying they fear possible new state taxes and the initiative's potential effect on the overall state economy.

Howard Jarvis, sponsor of the initiative, cites the lack of big corporate support as proof his measure would not be a giveaway to big business. He contends business tax savings would be passed along to consumers.

But the AP survey indicated that a relatively small portion of the big companies' tax cuts would be reflected in lower prices and utility rates.

The survey showed that for utilities some of the property tax savings would be eaten up in lost federal income tax deductions while other utilities already have rate increases pending that are far larger than their projected tax savings.

For large companies like Standard Oil, no consumer savings at all were forecast, because the tax break probably would be divided among shareholders and worldwide operations.

Proposition 13 would cut property taxes by about $7 billion statewide but state officials say homeowners would get only

35 percent of that total, their share of overall tax payments.

The rest would go to business property, including apartments.

The 13-company total of $431.4 million in savings is only a rough approximation. The actual total is likely to be higher, however, because only partial estimates were available for two of the companies, Standard

Oil and IBM.

Nondenominational Stamp Is Available

A new postage stamp bearing the letter "A" instead of a denomination has been placed on sale at the Greenville Post Office and all postal branches, according to Postmaster H. Lloyd Mills.

The stamp's value is 15 cents, corresponding with the new postal rate for one ounce of first class domestic mail.

The stamp design features a white eagle on an orange background. The letter "A" appears beside the eagle.

The stamps are available in sheets, coils, and booklets, Postmaster Mills said. Embossed stamped envelopes with the begin of postal items with denominations matching the new rate.

Thirteen cents is charged for each additional ounce over a one ounce letter. Mailers can use "A" stamps, plus the old 13 cents stamps to take care of this problem.
