

'Adult Uses' Zoning Is Voted Option Bill Down By Council: Applauded Approved By House

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

A capacity crowd gave the City Council a sustained round of applause last night after the board voted unanimously not to amend the Zoning Ordinance that would include "adult uses" as special uses in the Highway Commercial zoning district.

The Council action followed brief discussion on the proposed amendment to the Zoning Ordinance that would include "adult uses" as special uses in the Highway Commercial zoning district.

The Planning and Zoning Commission, meeting June 1, had voted to recommend the ordinance amendment to the Council, noting that since there is no provision for such uses in the Greenville ordinance, the city would have much firmer footing if the local position was challenged in court.

Under the amendment proposed by Planning and Zoning, the city would have had the authority to issue permits for the "adult uses" through the special uses provision of the ordinance. "Adult uses" were defined as adult bookstore, adult picture theater, adult mini-picture theater, adult drive-in theater, adult cabaret, and massage parlor.

Mayor Percy Cox told the packed house that the Council had the option last night of setting the matter for a public hearing at the July meeting or not accepting the recommendation of Planning and Zoning and putting the issue "to rest tonight."

Cox explained the planning board's feelings that since there was no place in the ordinance to provide for "adult uses," it would put the city at a "disadvantage if someone came in and requested adult uses."

The mayor said that he was in favor of putting the burden on the person who applies for location of an "adult use" here.

The applicant would be told that there is no room in the ordinance for "adult uses" and the applicant could take the city to court and let the court decide the matter.

Councilman John Howard said he was "thrilled to death" Greenville had not been plagued with adult use establishments and that the ordinance does not provide for any "adult uses" in any area of the city.

Howard offered the motion not to accept the recommendation of the planning board to amend the ordinance.

Following the unanimous vote, Cox told the audience that "this puts to rest the adult uses."

In another matter that had apparently generated citizen interest and helped to fill the council chambers, it was announced that the request of Walter Murrell for a special use permit to operate a private club at 1311 W. Fifth Street was being withdrawn.

Cox pointed out that the item had been billed as an "adult entertainment center."

A special hearing had been scheduled for the meeting on the permit request.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Despite what were considered long odds against it, the state House today approved the local option liquor-by-the-drink bill, 62-55.

The measure now must return to the Senate, which passed it last year, for concurrence in amendments to the bill made earlier this week on the House floor.

Two attempts to amend the bill were voted down today during more than an hour of debate before the House vote.

Rep. P. C. Collins, D-Alleghany, sought to add a provision requiring restaurants with liquor-by-the-drink licenses to display a sign in letters between three and four inches high saying that they served mixed drinks so those who objected could eat elsewhere.

It was put aside by a vote of 66-48.

Rep. Jo Graham Foster, D-Mecklenburg, offered an amendment to impose a 15 percent tax on mixed drinks, with the money going for the education of children "with special needs." That proposal was rejected by a vote of 81-36.

The bill was tentatively approved Thursday by a narrow 57-56 margin, and supporters and opponents were both lobbying feverishly today before House debate began. The Thursday approval was a surprise, since the measure was voted down on Wednesday, 61-56.

The bill has been the object of intense lobbying on both sides, and religious leaders who oppose the measure have predicted its defeat Friday.

The Rev. William Wallace, head of the Baptist State Convention's Christian Action League, said he felt the bill would be defeated in the final reading. The measure would allow communities with state-run liquor stores to hold referendums on whether to permit certain restaurants and social clubs to sell mixed drinks. The Senate approved the bill last year, but it was amended in the House Wednesday and would still have to go back to the Senate should it win final House approval.

Pugh, who is from Asheboro, told the House Thursday as he moved to reconsider the bill that he had given "very deliberate and very prayerful consideration," to his vote against the bill.

"I think this bill would give you even greater control than we now have with brown-bagging," he said. "I have come to the conclusion that consumption of alcohol could be reduced."

Opponents of the measure immediately disagreed with Pugh.

"I can hardly believe what I am hearing," said Rep. Jo Graham Foster, D-Mecklenburg.

But the bill's supporters called for a vote on whether to allow the bill to be reconsidered. It was approved 63-51, with several legislators who later voted against the bill casting a yes vote on Pugh's motion.

Rep. James Morgan, D-Guilford, quickly called for the vote, so there was no debate on the bill itself.

Pugh's vote was the only one supporters gained in the final rollcall. Rep. Thomas Sawyer, D-Guilford, the only legislator not voting Wednesday, cast a no vote.

The difference was made by five representatives who voted against the measure Wednesday but did not vote Thursday.

Duplex Apartment Developers Denied

By TOM BAINES

21.6 acres at the intersection of Norfolk and Southern Railroad and 14th Street Extended for the development of duplex apartments was denied Thursday night by the City Council.

The Council vote, by a three to one margin with one abstention, followed a public hearing on the rezoning request by Leroy Cherry that saw a strong showing of opposition from residents of the area.

Mayor Percy Cox reported that the city had received a "valid petition" opposing the request for rezoning from RA-20 and R-9 to R-9 and R-6. In view of the petition, he said, a three-fourths vote of the Council would be necessary in order to approve the request.

Acting City Planner Skip Browder explained to the Council and audience that some 73 duplex apartments were indicated for development on the tract, involving 146 units.

Cherry contended that the duplex development represented a type of housing that is needed here and he said that he saw nothing wrong with the location. He pointed to the fact that the property is bordered by a railroad, duplexes across the street, and undeveloped property.

The developer said that the duplex apartments would involve ownership situations with individuals owning units and being responsible for upkeep. He said he felt the projects he has completed in town "speak for themselves."

Bob Starling, saying that he was speaking for the 5,000 low income workers in Greenville who need the proposed type of housing, offered his endorsement of the development. Starling said that the development is planned so that individual homes would be built on the front of the property and duplexes on the rear section.

Melvin Buck of 1411 Red Banks Road said that a petition of opposition had been signed by 208 residents. He mentioned the duplex apartments that have just been built on 14th Street Extended and said they were "in pretty bad shape."

Buck said that if the proposed duplex apartments are allowed, property in the area would be further downgraded. He cited the increased density resulting from duplex

Palestinian Base Raided By Israeli

By GEORGE A. KRIMSKY

AAQBIYE, Lebanon (AP) — Israeli commandos striking before dawn from the air and sea attacked a Palestinian base at this southern Lebanon fishing village today, killing five guerrillas and wounding seven others, Palestinians here reported.

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv said two Israeli lieutenants were killed and eight of its soldiers were wounded in the surprise assault by seaborne commandos and paratroopers.

It said the strike destroyed a guerrilla naval base and there was evidence the seacoast compound was being used to prepare for terrorist attacks on Israel "in the near future."

An Israeli military spokesman said the raiders counted eight Palestinian bodies, and he claimed none of the estimated 30 to 40 defenders escaped before the Israeli raiders dynamited the base.

Guerrillas said they killed 8 to 10 Israelis in the two-hour clash.

Western correspondents who drove down from Beirut to this village 26 miles north of the Israeli border saw signs of a major firefight.

Abu Jihad, the Al Fatah guerrilla group's top military commander in Lebanon, toured the bloodstained site at midmorning. He denied the base was used to train guerrillas for seaborne attacks into Israel.

He said 19 guerrillas were manning the garrison when it was hit by a force of at least 150 Israelis, landed by rubber boats and helicopters. He admitted the base was caught off guard.

Abu Jihad is No. 3 in the hierarchy of Al Fatah, largest guerrilla group in Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization.

"This is not a major base at all," Abu Jihad told reporters. "We have people here just as we have them scattered all around the area."

Inexplicably, Israel reported the attack was on Dahar el Bouj, about one mile inland and northeast of Aaqbiye. The area is six miles south of Sidon and 20 miles north of the Israeli-occupied zone of southern Lebanon.

The attack was the deepest Israeli penetration north of the Litani River since Israel invaded and occupied 500 square miles of southern Lebanon in March. That invasion, aimed at driving guerrillas out of southern Lebanon, followed a Palestinian terrorist raid into Israel that killed 35 Israelis.

A pooled report prepared for the foreign press in Israel quoted military sources as saying all Israel's casualties today were caused by the explosion of a Palestinian arms depot.

Three buildings were demolished in the beachfront guerrilla compound.

Guerrillas said there were six Lebanese civilians buried beneath one of the wrecked houses. They reportedly were local laborers who tended the orchards around the compound. There was no way to verify the report before the rubble was cleared.

Flying Back To N.C.

NEW YORK (AP) — Joan Little, who had said she would rather die than return to her home state, was extradited to North Carolina in attempted secrecy today to complete a term for breaking and entering.

Her appeals exhausted, the 24-year-old black woman was whisked from the city's Correctional Institution for Women on Rikers Island to a waiting chartered airplane at LaGuardia Airport.

A number of North Carolina officials accompanied her on the flight, which departed about 11 a.m.

Miss Little was lionized by civil and women's rights groups during the widely publicized 1975 murder trial that resulted in her acquittal on charges of stabbing her white jailer as he sexually assaulted her.

She escaped last October from a minimum-security jail in Raleigh, N.C., where she was serving a sentence of seven to 10 years. In December, she was captured in Brooklyn and was subsequently freed on a bail for a time.

New York Gov. Hugh L. Carey granted an extradition request by Gov. James B. Hunt Jr. of North Carolina in February.

Miss Little's attorney, William Kunstler, battled the extradition in state and federal courts, contending that her mental health and her life itself would be endangered by her return.

Parade Permit In Plains, Ga.

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — The City Council has approved a July 4 parade permit in President Carter's hometown for a group protesting the convictions of two black women in the slaying and robbery of a white man.

Omwale Kesting, a spokesman for the Dessie X. Woods Cheryl S. Todd Defense Committee, says as many as 1,000 people from 10 states will be in the parade. Mrs. Woods is serving a 12-year prison term and Mrs. Todd was sentenced to five years, with the last 3½ years on probation. They were convicted in 1976 of manslaughter and robbery in the slaying of Ronnie Horne, 35, of Rentz, Ga.

Commissioners Reversed Year-Old Decision

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners apparently reversed themselves Monday when they adopted a resolution recommending that the Department of Transportation include the present five-mile long section of the present Farmville by-pass, "in the new four-laning of U.S. Highway 264 from Greenville to Wilson."

Almost one year to the day earlier, on June 6, 1977, the board adopted a resolution which said, "The Board of Commissioners of Pitt County supports the development of a four-laned, limited access highway from Zebulon to the Coast passing through the general area now served by U.S. 264 highway."

That 1977 resolution said, "The Pitt County Board of Commissioners recognizes that continued economic development of Pitt County and Eastern North Carolina is dependent on adequate east-west highways to serve the business and industry of this area," and said, "the citizens of Pitt County deserve to be able to travel back and forth to the State Capital along a safe, efficient highway without threat of loss of life, property, or excessive personal time..."

In adopting the new resolution Monday, the board, in effect, asked that at least five miles of the four-lane U.S. 264 route not be a limited access road.

Commission chairman Alton Gardner said this morning, "We don't know whether the resolution is worth a continental..." He added that the Farmville resolution did not appear on the agenda, because, "they didn't call up and ask to come until Monday morning."

He added, "We didn't know it in time," to get the item included on the printed agenda which was distributed Thursday.

Gardner noted that, "their (the Farmville) thinking, is they want these businesses (located on the present by-pass) to stay on..." the four-laned highway between Greenville and Wilson.

The Department of Transportation, at a meeting in Farmville April 25, outlined several possible locations for the four-lane project, including widening the existing route and establishing a new limited access corridor to the North of Farmville.

At a DOT hearing in Kinston last week, U.S. Highway 264 Association officials, as well as representatives of the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce and the Greenville City Council voiced support for a four-lane limited access facility.

Farmville officials at the Kinston hearing, urged the use of the present route at the Southern city limits rather than bypassing Farmville to the North.

Transportation Secretary Tom Bradshaw said at Kinston, that public hearing will be held on the location of the route the four-lane project should follow after an environmental impact study is completed in August.

"More than one corridor will be presented," he said, adding that there is, "a real strong feeling for controlled access," which the present (Continued on page 12)

MARSHMANSHIP AWARD — Greenville Policeman Richard C. Thornton presents fellow officer George Albertine with the first Dick Thornton Marksmanship Award after Albertine made a perfect score in recent Police Department marksmanship qualification trials. Fellow officers established the marksmanship award to honor Thornton, an 11-year veteran of the department, for his dedicated service to the department. Thornton will retire from the department August 1, on disability. Twice annually, the police officer with the highest score on the pistol range will have his or her name engraved on a permanent plaque to be displayed in the watch commander's office, and will receive a personal award for his marksmanship. LOT CLEAN-UP?

I have been told that Greenville has an ordinance requiring owners to clean up their vacant lots and cut the weeds. I live next to a vacant lot which has recently changed owners. Nothing has been done to it since a fraternity purchased it in 1960. It is smelly as a garbage dump and the vegetation is rotten. There are a lot of starlings breeding there. W. J.

Hotline called the Greenville Inspections Department. The Department sends letters to lot owners requesting attention to needy lots. A grace period of 14 days is given for owner action. If no action is taken, the matter is brought before the City Manager. He then may authorize the city to clean up the lot, with labor charged to the owner's equity tax. Complaints may be called in to the Department, 752-4137, giving the exact location of the offending lot.

Engagements Announced

MISS MARY ELLEN JACKSON. Mr. James Burl Westlake Jr. of Little Rock, Ark., announces the engagement of his niece to Capt. David Boyette Stevens Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. David Boyette Stevens of Greenville. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. Q. L. Jackson of Leesville, La., and the late Mrs. Mary Virginia Jackson. The wedding will take place July 15.

MISS KARLA JUNE MCLAWHON. is the daughter of Mrs. William Lee McLawhon of Ayden, who announces her engagement to Wayne Grizzard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Grizzard of Roanoke Rapids. The bride-elect is the daughter of the late Mr. McLawhon. The wedding will take place July 15.

Elks-Turnage Vows Exchanged

The home of the bride was the scene for the wedding of Miss Wanda Gail Turnage and Ronald David Elks. The Rev. W. M. Pollard officiated at the 7:00 p.m. double ring ceremony recently.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Turnage of Kinston. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lee Elks of Greenville.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white bridal taffeta and cluny lace. Designed by Mori Lee, the gown featured an empire waist and high see-through English yoke accented with lace applique and scattered seed pearls. A full skirt with lace trimmed flounce border flowed from the waist into a chapel length train.

The bride wore a fingertip length veil of illusion attached to a crown of scattered seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of silk yellow rosebuds and baby's breath.

Miss Tammy Turnage, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Delores Elks, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Sherry Becton were bridesmaids.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and ushers included Douglas Whitfield and Larry Turnage, brother of the bride.

Miss Kathy Bell presented a program of nuptial music. Mrs. Edna King Turnage, sister-in-law of the bride, presided at the register. Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents gave a reception at the home of the bride. Mrs. Elsie Ormond served wedding cake and Mrs. Edith Hedgepeth poured punch.

Mrs. Ronald David Elks An after-rehearsal dinner was given by the parents of the bridegroom. After a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, S. C., the couple are living at Rt. 4, Greenville. The bride is a graduate of East Carolina University. The bridegroom is a senior at ECU and is employed by Sutton's Service Center.

He Won't Collect His Own Money

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: You aren't going to believe this, but my husband has been eligible for Social Security for two years, and he has yet to collect a dime of it!

Why? He says that as long as he's able to work, he doesn't feel justified in taking money from the government. I think he's crazy. What do you think?
MOREY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Social Security isn't exactly "welfare" from the government. Since the mid-'30s working people have kicked in part of every paycheck in order to build up some retirement income. Your husband is entitled to do as he wishes, but he's also entitled to the money.

P.S. A person who earns more than $4,000 a year at his job must return $1 of Social Security for every $2 he earns above $4,000.

DEAR ABBY: I know you will find this hard to believe, but every word of it is true:

There is an elderly gentleman (about 85) living in a small single room in a local hotel. This man has married children and grandchildren in town who hardly look at him.

He can't dress himself or bathe very well, and his eyesight is failing, so the maids help him. (The maids take better care of him than his own family.)

Several months ago, a maid found him on the bathroom floor. He had fallen the night before and couldn't get up, so he just lay there, cold and shivering, all night.

He eats only once a day on a tray sent to his room, and that's usually oatmeal and coffee. On Sundays the kitchen is closed, so he doesn't eat from Saturday until Monday morning.

How can people be so heartless? Today is Sunday, and believe me, Abby, my appetite is gone just thinking about that poor, old, neglected man.
FEELING SAD

DEAR SAD: If you really want to help, why don't YOU look in on the old gentleman? (You don't have to be a relative to extend a kindness.)

Writing to me without a clue as to who YOU are, who HE is, or even the city in which he lives, is futile. And your loss of appetite won't help him much, either.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who has just started to date. I am going to ask you a question I have asked many others; I have never been able to get a straight answer from anyone.

When a girl really likes a fellow, and they are alone together, naturally they are going to make out some. But how far should a girl go?
JUST "ME" IN PLAINS, GA.

DEAR JUST: The limits of self-respect will provide the answer. A boy who has genuine affection for a girl will never do anything that will degrade her or make her feel ashamed. Courtship is preparation for marriage; ask any boy how far he would like the girl he marries to go on a date. And if he's honest, you'll have an honest answer.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. William Edward Miller of Rt. 2, Aurora, announce the engagement of his daughter, Pattie Avis, of Wilson to Cecil Ray Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Edward Webb of Rt. 1, Macclesfield. The wedding will take place June 25.

Squeeze For Growing County

A budget of $22.76 million has been submitted to the county commissioners by County Manager Reginald Gray.

Gray said that $25.41 million had been requested. That amount was pared down to the amount recommended by the county manager. The budget, however, still would not be covered by the current tax rate of 92 cents per $100 valuation and Gray is recommending a 2.5 cents property tax increase.

Gray noted a decline in revenue growth. The property valuation this year saw a 6.66 percent growth, compared with a 7.13 percent growth last year. Overall revenue growth was set at 7 percent, or 3.6 percent less than last year.

Gray recommended a six percent cost-of-living increase for employees, some merit increases and the addition of 20 new employees.

He made drastic cuts in the funds requested by city and county schools, pointing out that a bond issue is the proper way to proceed to finance major school capital improvements.

We have the classic picture of a growing county in a revenue squeeze. No doubt the school bond issue is going to be required if school needs are to be met. The sooner the two school systems get together on this, the better.

As far as the property tax increase, we would advise the county and all governments to avoid it if at all possible. The property tax is the most unpopular of taxes among individuals, and we see a taxpayers' rebellion now brewing in California as a serious sign of this.

Legislature Is Moving Rather Rapidly

As this is written most of the Hunt administration recommended spending for the second year of the biennium seem to be intact.

Funds for the vet school, Medicaid abortion funding and a new legislative office building were still in the budget, and they were the most controversial of the spending proposals.

It appears the Legislature may quickly wrap up the budget and that will be the signal to go home.

Changing Profile Of N. C.

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — The tide has shifted strongly in North Carolina: people are no longer leaving the state hunting jobs; they're staying, and many are coming back.

Further, smaller cities and rural areas are gaining from the shift.

Between 1970 and 1975, population growth in North Carolina outstripped the most optimistic projections by state planners. By 1975 the state had about 73,000 more people than planners had said would be here by that time.

Until the late 1960s, people were leaving North Carolina. That trend shifted in just a decade until now there is a net in-migration of .54 per cent per year.

People are no longer flocking to the cities of the Piedmont where the good jobs were once concentrated. Take a drive through rural Piedmont and Eastern counties where bustling cities stand in place of once-sleepy small towns. During the 1960s, small towns and rural areas claimed only 38 per cent of the state's total

Back Home

Non-urban population actually was on a decline until early this decade when growth has spurred so that now 28 per cent of the population growth is in rural and small town categories. In short, people are moving to the country. Even in metropolitan areas, the fastest growth is taking place not in the cities themselves, but in surrounding suburban areas and rural counties.

Growth is now spread more evenly across the state, which will mean some interesting shifts politically as the 1980 Census calls for redistricting U.S. Congressional and North Carolina General Assembly boundaries.

The population pattern, however, is complicated by another trend which is not showing signs of changing; the jobs continue to concentrate in urban areas.

Industry hunters put it this way: all other factors being equal, industrial growth will take place where there is an airport nearby and an interstate highway.

Between 1970 and 1975 the urban Piedmont continued to lead in new jobs. Present conditions indicate that trend continuing, witness the major developments in recent months: Philip Morris in Cabarrus County near Charlotte; two metal or truck-component firms in Gaston, Lincoln; Data General computers to Johnston County close to Raleigh, and IBM expanding in the Research Triangle.

Studies show that trend also reversing, with salaries paid in rural areas just as high as elsewhere, while the urban jobs appear to be offering less. The gap, then, is closing.

State planners are impressing local governmental officials with this changing profile of North Carolina in efforts to design a balanced growth formula. The critical consideration, simply put, is that North Carolina is growing rapidly and even small towns and rural areas can benefit from the trend.

BILL NOBLITT

Labor

Realistically, however, new industries must be in a place where labor is available, since this is a key factor in a location decision.

So it is likely that as the population shift away from the cities and into the country continues, then economic growth can follow since available labor will be within commuting distance.

What about salaries? There was once a differential of significant size between big city pay and small town income.

On the other hand, some experts see more jobs now following the population shift to the country, and Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr. has tabbed retiring East Carolina University Chancellor Leo Jenkins to head a special team of recruiters to intensify that trend.

BIG PROBLEMS AT THE TRAINING TABLE!

The Exalted One Speaks

WASHINGTON — Whenever I get worried about the economy, I go up to the top of the mountain to see the Great Exalted Economist.

Last week I found him seated cross-legged in front of his cave in the Pierre Cardin robe reading the Wall Street Journal.

I placed a fresh sirloin steak at his feet and bowed.

"Oh, Master," I said, "please tell me what is going on with the economy in this country at the moment."

The Great One said, "We are going into a spiral inflation now which could lead us into double digits. The reason for this is that the economy is overheating, and there are too many dollars chasing too few goods."

"I thought you'd say that," I told the Exalted One.

"What can we do about it?"

"We can do many things, but it has to get worse before it gets better."

"That's bad," I said.

"It could be good. If it gets worse before it gets better, it is better than if it gets better before it gets worse."

"I never thought of that," I said.

"That's why I'm an economist. When you live with a high employment rate, and a low productivity record, and the gross national product in real dollars does not increase, you are faced with a stagnant economy, which makes everyone fearful and causes price hikes which lead to unrealistic wage demands."

"Of course," I said. "But surely there are other reasons for coffee costing $3.15 a pound."

"There are many reasons for that, not the least of which is that we are drinking more coffee from Brazil than we are selling coffee cups to the Brazilians. The American dollar is under attack and the weather has been lousy in Sao Paulo. That is why interest rates have gone up in Chicago."

"I feel like a rock has been lifted off my shoulders," I told him. "Tell me, Master, why does a shirt that cost me $7 two years ago now cost $11?"

"Government spending and OPEC must take equal blame for the rise in the cost of your shirt. While one is trying to take the shirt off your back, the other is squeezing you dry. Government drives the inflation engine, which is fueled by the oil we must import to pull the weight of our $60 billion deficit. At the moment the engine is going full steam while the average citizen is hanging on for dear life in the caboose."

"Blessed Guru, what is the answer?"

"The only solution is to bite the bullet."

"I like your solution. It seems much simpler than the others," I told him.

"But while biting the bullet we should not throw out the baby with the bath water."

"Right," I said, trying to remember it all.

"We must hold our hand firmly on the rudder until the storm blows over, keeping all options open even if it means tightening our belts."

"I knew you would have the answer, Exalted One," I said with tears in my eyes.

He turned to go into his cave to broil his steak. The last words he said to me were, "Then again, I could be wrong."

Public Forum

Letters submitted for Public Forum must be limited to 300 words.

To the editor:

On several occasions you have editorialized that the improved U. S. 264 route should be a controlled-access facility and suggested that Farmville is not aware that this type of highway would serve it best.

As a vitally affected community, Farmville has taken steps to carefully evaluate its position with regard to the location of an improved U. S. 264 route. Several planning and discussion sessions have been conducted involving the Town's governing board, the Planning Board, the Chamber of Commerce, the Economic Council and industrial managers. A preliminary impact assessment has been prepared and discussed which evaluates each current corridor alternative on such dimensions as highway role, costs, commercial and industrial development, highway safety, community growth, major land use impacts, geographic limitors (soils, floodplains, etc.), and sensitive environmental factors (noise, sedimentation, wetlands, wildlife, archaeological and historic sites). The result of these community meetings has been a firm community consensus that the existing roadbed should not be duplicated at great public expense, substantial losses in prime agricultural land, great waste in municipal facilities investments, and significant environmental damage.

Your editorial implication that Farmville does not seem to know what its own best interests are is heartily resented by the very active and concerned community leaders that have so carefully chosen this community's position. We must doubt, based on the shallow reasoning expressed in Reflector editorials, that the newspaper has analyzed the consequences of the various corridor options as thoroughly as have we. We also doubt that newspapers can better plan a community's future than that community's own citizens. And we are confident that the environmental assessment being prepared for the Department of Transportation will point out all of the key considerations which have caused Farmville to develop our community position.

We urge "The Daily Reflector" to examine the issues involved in the corridor location process in a more open and receptive fashion. If you do, we are convinced that you will have to recognize a number of important considerations which run contrary to your current editorial position.

THE GALLUP POLL

Divided On Neutron Bomb

By George Gallup

PRINCETON, N.J. — With controversy over the neutron bomb likely to continue for many months, "informed Americans" are found to be evenly divided over the issue of equipping our armed forces and our allies with this weapon.

Among "the informed" — that is, those who have heard or read about the neutron bomb and are able to describe the military use of this weapon — 46 percent think the U.S. should not deploy the bomb while 45 percent believe we should.

Designed To Kill Through Radiation

Neutron warheads are designed to kill primarily through radiation. The weapons have smaller blast and shock effects than older nuclear weapons. The military advantage of the neutron warhead lies in its ability — through intense radiation — to penetrate enemy armor, kill troops within tanks, but leave surrounding property relatively unscathed.

On April 7, President Jimmy Carter postponed plans to proceed with the weapons system. In his announcement, Carter said the ultimate decision on production of neutron weapons would be made later and "will be influenced by the degree to which the Soviet Union shows restraint in its conventional and nuclear arms programs and force deployments effecting the security of the United States and Western Europe."

Ambivalence Noted In Public's Attitude

Some ambivalence is noted in the public's views on the neutron bomb. On the one hand, they favor the bomb because they feel it will help deter possible Russian aggression and thereby promote peace. On the other hand, they are deeply concerned about the actual use of nuclear weapons and the possibility of nuclear warfare.

Women Vote Against Neutron Bomb

An analysis of the views of the "informed" group shows women leaning strongly in opposition to the neutron bomb.

Other sharp differences are found in age and political affiliation. Young adults (18 to 29) are more opposed to equipping U.S. and allied forces with this new weapon system than are older adults. Politically, Democrats are less in favor of the neutron bomb than are Republicans.

Following is the first question asked:

"Have you heard or read about the neutron bomb?"

All those answering in the affirmative (79 percent) were then asked this question:

"What is the chief military advantage of this bomb — that is, how does it work?"

Those giving a correct answer were next asked:

"Do you think the U.S. should or should not proceed to equip our armed forces and our allies with the neutron bomb?"

Here are the results, based on the total "informed" group, that is, those who have heard or read about the bomb and can correctly indicate its military advantage (53 percent of the total sample):

Should U.S. Deploy Neutron Bomb? (Views of "Informed")

British Oppose Storage Of Bombs

A recent survey conducted by the British Gallup Poll shows that about an equal proportion of people in Great Britain (78 percent) have heard or read about the neutron bomb.

Those who have heard or read about this weapon were then asked about its use and whether or not they would approve having American-made neutron bombs stored in Britain. Of the aware group, 20 percent said they would approve while 72 percent would disapprove.

The U.S. results reported today are based on in-person interviews with a total of 1,539 adults, 18 and older, interviewed in more than 300 scientifically selected localities during the period April 28-May 1.

Class Of '48 Report

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
MARLBORO, Vt. AP—What is so rare as a day in June when the newspapers fail to report yet another college reunion taking place in the cement groves of Academe?

And among all these intellectual sheep returning to the fold—or at least vintage mutton—what can be rarer in that rarified air than the 30th annual reunion of the Marlboro College Class of '48.

After all those years, the entire class showed up. Can any other campus clan gathering make that boast? The class secretary proudly could report perfect attendance.

The class statistician could finger his pocket calculator and report that both on the average and the median, the Class of '48 has produced one marriage, no divorces, no children. The class had held two jobs in all the past 30 years, had written four books, traveled in 104 countries, gain 13 pounds and 3½ inches around the equator since graduation, could count one upper place, one mustache and no major operations in those intervening years.

The class president, who organized the 30th reunion, had me to thank for all of this. No one else.

You see, I am the class president. I'm the Class of '48. In 1948, I graduated first in my class from Marlboro College. First in my school too. I was the one and only graduate, the lone matriculating senior in a brand-new college that Dr. Walter Hendricks, who for years headed the Humanities Department at the Illinois Institute of Technology and helped found the G.I. University at Biarritz, France, brought to life on a lovely Vermont hillside. A cow barn was the first dormitory, a blacksmith shop the first library.

My splendor that June day was so solitary. Life magazine sent a writer-photographer team to report the event. Robert Frost came to deliver the nation's only recorded one-on-one commencement speech. He kept it short.

Being the first and only graduate of a college has its problems as well as its unshared honor. Have you ever tried to rent one cap and gown?

In desperation, I tried to make one out of some shirt cardboard and war surplus blackout cloth, but it came out looking like a

40 Years Ago Today

June 9, 1938

The local unit of the National Guard, Battery A, 113th Field Artillery, will leave on July 28 for DeSoto National Park in Mississippi for the annual encampment.

The unit in recent years has encamped at Fort Bragg, but this year will join in maneuvers which will include six southern states.

The unit will travel by motor, leaving here on the 28th. It is scheduled to spend five days on the road, be in camp for eight days and return in five days.

J. H. Blount, one of the owners of Webbs' Warehouse, which was destroyed recently by fire, announced today that preliminary work already had been started on the proposed new structure and the contract would be let in the future.

He said the new warehouse would be modern in every respect and steel beams would be used instead of wood. The building will be ready for occupancy by the time the tobacco market opens.

The cost of the new building was estimated at $75,000 and will cover the entire lot where the old building only covered part.

Strength For Today Remedy In More Beef Imports

WHO'S TO BLAME?

It is always a great comfort to us when we discover that the trouble with the world and ourselves is caused by someone or something else and lies outside ourselves. But eventually we must recognize reality. It is then that we are left with a feeling of terrifying loneliness when we realize at last that our trouble has originated in our own folly or weakness.

Psychological investigation has made this plain for some time. But such teaching has been in the Bible for thousands of years. Jesus warned us against trying to take the mote out of our brother's eye while the beam is still in our own eye. He counseled us against judging others lest we ourselves be judged.

If there is one generalization which can be applied to the whole gospel it is this: that Jesus always insists upon the inner nature of both good and evil. Trouble in our individual lives and trouble in the life of the world begin in the human heart.

—Elisha Douglass

By BRIAN B. KING
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says his decision to ease beef import restrictions will save Americans $500 million this year in cheaper hamburger, but the government still thinks the overall cost of beef will average up to 23 percent higher than last year.

Carter's plan — announced on Thursday — will allow an additional 200 million pounds of hamburger and other low-grade beef into the country by renegotiating meat-import agreements with 13 countries, principally Australia and New Zealand.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland predicted the larger supply would trim hamburger prices from what they might have been by a nickel or slightly more during the height of the late summer outdoor cooking season. What the "otherwise-might-be price" would have been, Bergland would not say.

But Kent Christiansen, an economist with the Food Marketing Institute, the food retailers and wholesalers' trade group, said, "It's hard for me to conceive of its having that kind of impact." The extra beef is a rise in the supply of less than 1 percent.

Some 15 percent to 18 percent of consumer grocery dollars go for beef each year and, Christiansen noted, "it is by far the most important item we sell in the grocery stores."

Beef prices have been rising rapidly since last summer and, with a record leap in April, led the largest increase in consumer prices in more than a year.

Prices to producers for their cattle have been increasing at an even greater rate, and neither spiral is expected to be reversed until sometime next year, if then.

The increases stem from cattle producers' reactions to devastating losses in 1974, losses that have been repeated for 15 of the last 23 three-month periods.

Carter said the added imports of lean, grass-fed beef "will not change the price of fat cattle at all."

"It will certainly not hurt the farmers who produce beef, but it will be of great help to consumers," the president said.

Slippage In Sunday Schools And Baptisms Sees Remedial Effort

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Southern Baptists, the biggest, most burgeoning body of American Protestants, see some disturbing and puzzling clouds on their horizon.

Although steady gains in membership, rising almost twice as fast as the general population, have put the denomination on the 13-million mark, the number of baptisms, oddly, has declined.

So have enrollments in Sunday school and church training classes.

Both setbacks added an undertone of uneasiness to an otherwise surging set of plans and statistics as the Southern Baptists made ready for their annual convention next week in Atlanta, Ga.

"There's a kind of queasy feeling down inside that's not quite panic yet, but we're wearing worried frowns on our brows," said the convention president, the Rev. Jimmy Allen of San Antonio, Texas.

Another "Jimmy" surnamed Carter, the President of the U. S. and also a dedicated Southern Baptist, will speak at a post-convention finale, following appearances by other denominational luminaries such as singer Anita Bryant, lately a crusader against homosexuality.

She's considering a bid to be nominated for a denominational vice presidency.

While membership climbed 1.2 per cent last year, continuing a steady upward pattern that has contrasted sharply with the slump in most major Protestant bodies, enrollments in Sunday schools and church training classes declined.

That down trend is making for a "generation of theological ignoramuses," says the Rev. Dr. Grady C. Cothen, president of the Southern Baptist Sun-ing and puzzling clouds on their horizon.

Deadline To Regularize

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Officials of the American Lutheran Church have given the denomination's largest congregation, the 1,750-member Central Lutheran Church, 60 days to regularize its pastoral leadership or be suspended from the denomination.

Its North Pacific District executive committee ruled that two of the congregation's assistant pastors had not met requirements for clergy credentials, were ineligible to serve and unless their status was changed, the congregation would be dropped Aug. 5 from the denomination.

The senior pastor, the Rev. Rueben Redal, affiliated with a group which says the ALC has strayed from its historic doctrines, says he's uncertain what will be done about the matter by the congregation, which can appeal the ruling. District Bishop Clarence Solberg says the congregation has refused to meet with him about the issue.

Love Needs Light

The afternoon sun was streaming through the altar window the day Ken and Carole spoke their vows. She looked even lovelier with the soft transfiguration of light upon her face. But, had it been a cloudy day, there would have been no less promise in it for this couple.

Love needs light. But the light that love needs comes not from the heavens but from Heaven itself. It is the light of divine truth... of faith... of religious commitment.

That is exactly what our marriage vows mean to Christians. This is why we usually prefer to be married in church. Our promises are given not only to one another but to God. Our love looks up to Him who described himself as the Light of the world.

For Ken and Carole every Sunday in church renews the glow on their faces... and in their hearts.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 10, 1978

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Avoid doing anything that is strange and unpredictable in the morning. The afternoon and evening are fine for going after your most important aims. Express your creative desires.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Morning may be a little annoying but later you are under fine aspects for having a good time. Be more optimistic.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Put everything at home in the finest possible order early in the day. Some new opportunities arise today, so be sure to seize them.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Good day to visit good friends and relatives as well as making new contacts. Make sure to keep promises you have made.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can easily gain your most cherished desires at this time. You can handle monetary matters most intelligently now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Study your surroundings and make plans for improvement. Strive for increased harmony with family members. Be logical.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Confer with trusted advisers and get the right answers. Take needed health treatments and improve your appearance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Morning is not a good time for seeing friends since you are likely to act thoughtlessly. Be positive and gain your personal aims.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Attend to those duties that are difficult to do during busy work week. Don't take any risks with your reputation at this time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you adopt a new attitude you can accomplish a great deal today. Make plans for brighter future. Strive for happiness.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure you are headed in the right direction in handling money matters. Be grateful for what you have.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Sidestep a temptation to get in an argument with associates. Make plans to have more abundance in the days ahead.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Morning may be difficult where your work is concerned but later you can make up for lost time. Engage in favorite hobby.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be able to overcome difficult problems. Be sure to give as much encouragement as you can during childhood and the results later will be fine. Religious training early in life is a must. Teach good health habits.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Recovery Takes Most Of Week

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — It is just today I am recovering from Tuesday's premiere of the new ABC newsmagazine show, "20-20." Mercy, it looked like a No-Cal "60 Minutes" on speed. It had greyhounds tearing apart rabbits; Flip Wilson crying, California Gov. Jerry Brown bawling, a Greek tanker exploding, a former teen-aged nuclear extortionist reminiscing and some closing thoughts about the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

It also had word of this week's top record, top TV show and "top jock," plus light between-story banter by co-hosts Harold Hayes of North Carolina and Robert Hughes, an Australian.

Hughes, not missing a beat, says: "Coming up next — a '20-20' look at the chance of nuclear terrorism in this country."

Sander Vanocur does the looking. It's chilling stuff, all done in the rat-tat-tat style of Walter Winchell. Like the greyhound piece, it zips about so fast you barely have time to think or reflect.

That may be the aim of "20-20," to juxtapose serious, silly and sad so quickly you're only supposed to react, not think.

"Network" author Chayefsky once noted TV's big problem thusly: "We've lost our sense of shock, our sense of humanity."

"20-20" tries to rectify his first complaint. It justifies his second. ABC News should hang this show in shame.

Final note: Program whiz Freddie Silverman, the guy "Doonesbury" made famous, officially joins NBC today as president. He ran ABC's programming works when "20-20" was conceived.

It is something to think about.

Announce List Of Big Readers

Althea Weathington, W. H. Robison Primary School Reading Lab teacher, and Betty Lou Brock, assistant, announce the names of the students who have read the most books for the sixth marking period.

The students are: "Bears," Gerald Hardy; "Cougars," Tommy Baker; "Giants," Brenda Spell and Cathy Harris; "Lions," Tom Kennedy and Tommy Moran; "Pirates," Krista Waller and Robby Nichols; "Tigers," Ray Umphlett.

Second grade students having read the most books are Tommy Baker and Janet Lloyd. Third grade top readers are Gerald Hardy and Brenda Spell.

He shows "coursing" in Kansas, rabbits killed by dogs and tossed in the trash, and furtive-rabbit selling in Texas. He probes humane and legal aspects, triumphantly reports bills to end coursing are at hand, calls coursing "one of those petty barbarisms" that should end.

Co-host Hughes, a jaunty type, then says: "Thank you, Geraldo. Next — how Flip Wilson turned Geraldine out of the house to take in his own kids."

We see the comic with three of his kids. He talks of trying to be a good father. His eyes fill with tears. Finally, it ends.

The hold-up play—refusing to win a trick when given the opportunity—has become quite fashionable. But it can be overdone, as this hand from the Philip Morris European Cup competition vividly illustrates.

North-South were employing five-card major-suit opening bids, which accounts for South's choice of one diamond to get the auction rolling. West's four heart overcall put considerable pressure on North. Since he had no room to explore the possibilities offered by his freak hand, he decided to gamble on six diamonds, and East was quite pleased with the final contract. He would have been absolutely enchanted had he known that his partner held a trump.

West led the king of hearts, ruffed in dummy. The ten of diamonds was run, and held the trick when East played low. Declarer continued with a low diamond, and all East had to do to defeat the hand was to rise with the ace—that would have guaranteed a second trump trick. However he chose to play low again, and he is still ruing that decision.

Rubber bridge clubs throughout the country use the four-deal bridge format. Do they know something you don't? Honor Wahl-Coates Teachers

Four Wahl-Coates teachers — three who are retiring on June 15 and one who retired in June, 1977 — were honored at a retirement dinner held Thursday evening at the King and Queen Restaurant.

The four — Lou Cavendish, Dorothy Johnson, Frances Tyson, and Edith Worthington, were honored by friends and co-workers. Ms. Cavendish retired in 1977, and the other three are retiring next week.

Together, the four have served as teachers for children of North Carolina for a total of 126 years.

Mrs. Cavendish has taught for 37 years. Prior to teaching second graders at Wahl-Coates, she taught at Pactolus.

Mrs. Cavendish taught for 37 years. Prior to teaching second graders at Wahl-Coates, she taught at Pactolus.

Mrs. Johnson completes 24 years of teaching, and before teaching the fourth grade at Wahl-Coates, she taught in Craven County schools.

A fifth grade teacher, Mrs. Tyson has been teaching for 30 years and previously taught in the Raleigh schools.

Mrs. Worthington, who has taught both kindergarten and first grade at Wahl-Coates, closes out 35 years of teaching in Grimesland and Greenville.

Dr. Rexford E. Piner, Wahl-Coates principal, extended best wishes to the retirees and their guests.

Library Trustees Call Meet To Review Proposed Budget

The Board of Trustees of Shepard Memorial Library will hold a special call meeting Monday, June 12, at 8 p.m. at the library. The agenda item to be discussed is a review of the proposed budget with regard to funding recommendations of city and county managers.

Elizabeth Copeland, Director of Shepard Memorial Library, notes that a total of $347,500 was requested from the City Council and Pitt County Commissioners. Recommendations for allocations, however, total $286,000, or an amount of $61,500 less than that requested.

Miss Copeland explained that additional funds are needed to cover increased costs in operating expenses such as utilities, supplies and materials, photo-copy services, insurance and three additional staff positions.

According to Miss Copeland, "more and more our library is used for information and research. Our present small clerical staff cannot keep up with the increased load of work to support public service. To maintain the quality of our service, we need additional highly trained people. There is no way our present staff can keep going." Shepard Library is open 69 hours per week.

Anne Frost, chairman of the Board of Trustees, commented: "If the library's budget request is not fully granted, then the board must take a hard look at the services we are now providing to determine which ones must be curtailed in order to stay within our funds. We have asked our business manager to provide an estimate of operating costs of each of the two branches and the bookmobile, which provides service to the entire county, so that we can examine the feasibility of continuing these extensions of the main library."

The public is invited to attend the special session and will be given an opportunity to offer comments concerning the library's services.

There will be a gospel singing Sunday at 7 p.m. at Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church.

The Revelairs of Jacksonville will be the featured group. The public is invited.

Arrest Four For Larceny

Braxton Dawson Roscoe, 18, the son of the mayor of Windsor, and three other teenagers were arrested by Greenville Police last night on larceny charges after they allegedly took a painting from McDonald's restaurant at the intersection of Tenth and Cotanche Streets about 9:30 p.m.

Chief Glenn Cannon said in addition to Roscoe, those charged in connection with the theft included: Patricia Robin Radwick, 18 of Route 2, Plymouth; Bruce James Carrington, 19 of Lynchburg, Va.; and Jane Morgan Swain, 17 of Plymouth.

According to Cannon, the painting, valued at $350, was allegedly taken from an inside wall of the restaurant.

Investigators, who stopped the car in which the four were traveling about two hours later on North Greene Street, recovered the picture from the rear of the vehicle, Cannon noted.

Graduates From Medical School

CAMDEN, N. J. — Ronald C. Nimmo graduated Saturday from The College of Medicine of the New Jersey Medical School.

He will begin post graduate training in the hospital of The College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey for two years.

His brother, James A. Nimmo Jr., a graduate of New Jersey School of Medicine, did his internship in otolaryngologist at the General United States Service Hospital in San Francisco. He finished his residence and surgery training at Temple University Hospital, Philadelphia. He will leave July 1 to practice in San Francisco.

They are the grandsons of Mrs. J. A. Nimmo of Greenville, N. C.

Helms To Visit Neonatal Center

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., will visit the newly completed, new neonatal intensive care center at the Pitt Memorial-ECU medical complex here Saturday to spotlight his concern about infant mortality and maternity health care in eastern North Carolina.

Helms was scheduled to introduce legislation in the state this week to establish a national office of maternal and child health and a national advisory committee on maternal and child health programs, according to the senator's office.

The new 33-bed infant care facility here will be completed and officially opened in a few weeks. It is designed to offer intensive neonatal care for the newborn in a 29 county region, an area which has a higher infant mortality and morbidity rate and a higher incidence of maternal health problems than other parts of the state and other states, ECU health officials said.

Hosts for the Helms' visit will include Dr. Edwin Monroe, vice chancellor for Health Affairs; Dr. Jon Tinglestad, chairman of the department of pediatrics, ECU School of Medicine; Dr. William Laupus, dean, ECU School of Medicine; Dr. Darnell Jones, of the ECU department of obstetrics and gynecology, and others. Several doctors deeply involved in the field of infant and maternal care and crippled children were to accompany Helms here.

Church Youth To Hold Yard Sale

FARMVILLE — The Youth Department of Mount Moriah Holiness Church will sponsor a yard sale Saturday beginning at 9 a.m.

The sale will be held at the church located at 1202 S. Main St. All proceeds will be given to the Young Adult Choir.

Judy Carne Is Cleared

CINCINNATI (AP) — Actress Judy Carne says her innocent verdict on a charge of heroin possession will enable her to start "a new life, a new acting career."

The prosecutor, in his summation, had said Ms. Carne had a drug problem and that a jail term might help her conquer it.

"I never had a drug problem," the 39-year-old entertainer said. "I don't have a drug problem and I never will have one. I have seen what happened to too many of my friends."

But Ms. Carne said she was an "incurable insomniac" and planned to do something about her predilection to sleeping pills.

"I'm going to try acupuncture and hypnosis. I've tried it before and it didn't work but I'm going to try again. I'm going to solve it. I'm going to solve all my problems now."

The Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury was unable Thursday to reach a verdict on a second charge, obtaining a tranquilizer with a forged prescription. Judge Thomas Heekin declared a mistrial on that charge after the jury said it was deadlocked.
Ms. Carne was arrested Nov. 11, 1977, while performing at a dinner theater in suburban Harrison.

Set Study Of Second Coming

The Evangelistic Tabernacle Pentecostal F.W.B. Church will hold a Bible study on "The Second Coming of Christ" Monday through Friday of next week at 7:30 each evening.

The Rev. Walter Hudnell, pastor of the Robersonville Pentecostal Holiness Church, who is considered an authority on eschatology, will be the guest speaker. Anyone interested in attending these classes is invited by the church pastor, the Rev. Preston Heath.

TVA Invites Bids On 2 Nuke Plants

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Tennessee Valley Authority announced today it has sent bid invitations to four firms for another twin-reactor nuclear power plant.

TVA Power Manager Nat Hughes said no decision has been made on whether to build the plant. The bids, he said, are sought to evaluate the costs of two new nuclear units compared to other options.

"We have to obtain bids on nuclear equipment while other alternatives are being studied, or the nuclear option will be closed to us because of the long schedule required for licensing a nuclear power plant," he said.
TVA spokesman Mike Butler said the invitations were sent to General Electric, Westinghouse, Babcock & Wilcox and Combustion Engineering Corp., the four manufacturers of nuclear power plant reactors in the United States.

Butler said the bids will be opened in August and a decision on whether to award a contract will be made before the end of the year. The invitation calls for the two 1.3 million kilowatt units to be in operation by 1988, he said.

TVA has the largest nuclear commitment of any utility in the country with one three-reactor plant now in operation and six other plants under construction.

The government-owned utility has two sites, one near Savannah, Tenn., and the other in Marshall County, Ala., for possible location of a nuclear or coal-fired generating plant.
Butler said, however, other sites will be considered and TVA could opt to build the new reactors as add-ons to plants under construction.

Bjorn, Mariana Talk On Lives

By JOHN M. FLORESCU
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — Swedish tennis king Bjorn Borg may be a merciless machine on court, but his fiancée Mariana Simionescu says that behind his icy exterior "he's very warm, kind and not tough."

friends, which ones like me," the 22-year-old Swede said. "I've been around a long time. They go out with you because you're a superstar."

"Since we have been together, I have been happy," Borg said. "Now every minute I enjoy."

Borg said a marriage date has not been set, "but we will probably want to wait a couple more years."

"I think it's not true Borg is an iceberg," says Simionescu, a warm, traditional Romanian who plays on the women's tennis circuit. "You can't judge somebody by the way he plays. He is completely different in private life."

In an exclusive interview with The Associated Press, Borg and Simionescu talked of their life off court, their plans to marry in two years, their desire for children and their difficulties with the Romanian people over their decision to live together before marriage.

"We live as though we are married," Mariana said. "We are together all the time. The only thing that is missing is the paper that says we are married."

Their open relationship has raised eyebrows in Bucharest, where Mariana's family lives. "Everybody knows we are together, that we are engaged," she said.

"The Romanian people, the only thing they are waiting for is when Mariana and Bjorn are going to get married."

Whether speaking of tennis glamorous groupies or Bjorn's new interest in reading history, the young couple laughed happily together Thursday following Borg's quarter-final victory over Mexico's Raul Ramirez, 6-3, 6-3, 6-0.

Borg, the favorite to win his third French Open crown, plays a semifinal match Saturday against Italy's Corrado Barazzutti, who beat No. 4-seeded Eddie Dibbs 6-2, 7-6, 6-1 in another match Thursday.

They both want children but Mariana said it might not be a good idea to have another young tennis star in the family "because the father was so good."

Borg, who already has captured two titles each at Wimbledon, the Italian Open and the French Open, also sees the end of his career within five to seven years.

"I hope I will enjoy it until then," he said. "I don't want to play tennis my whole life because I started so early and I want to do other things. I just hope we are together, married, and then have a family."

Dick Stockton and defending champion Guillermo Vilas of Argentina square off in Saturday's other semifinal match.

It was here on the clay courts of Roland Garros Stadium that Borg first began courting Simionescu two years ago. "I never called him, he called me," Mariana confided with a laugh.

Borg said he finds the simplicity of his 21-year-old fiancée a refreshing change from the "beautiful people" on the circuit.

For the moment, though, much of their life remains improving their tennis, and Mariana says she has not yet been able to adjust to Bjorn watching her play matches.

"Everytime I play, when I see him I lose my concentration," Mariana said. "I tell him not to come. I feel him, no matter how close he is to the court."

"I know which ones are my

Heart Fund Run Is Set

The Heart Fund Run, sponsored by the Greenville Jaycees, the Pitt County Heart Fund and the Coastal Carolina Track Club, will be held Saturday at 5 p.m., starting at the corner of First and Evans streets.

Three races are planned. A two-mile family walk run will be held at 5 p.m., followed by a three-mile competitive race and an eight-mile race.

Registration will be held from 2:30 to 5 p.m. at Minges Coliseum, or people may preregister by picking up an entry blank from any Jaycee, or stopping by Bond's Sporting Goods, H.L. Hodges Co., or radio WOOV.

A $3 entry fee is being charged.

Boredom, the day-to-day, week-to-week grind of the pro tennis tour, is a factor with which Bjorn and Mariana are trying to cope.

Borg used to read comic books but now says "I like to read history, way back, and war books. I like to read true stories, things that really happen."

"I like books too, different books, love books. I'm very romantic," said Mariana. "I would never read a war book."

While Bordley was limiting the Sun Devils to just three singles in the first seven innings Thursday night, Southern California was battering ASU pitching for 16 hits.

The Trojans, 54-9, backed up Bordley, 12-2, with three runs in the second inning, added two more in the fifth, two in the sixth and put the game away with three in the eighth.

Trojans, Sun Devils Dominate CWS Picks

USC Wins CWS Title

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Bill Bordley silenced Arizona State's heavy hitters for more than seven innings while his Trojan teammates blasted three Sun Devil pitchers as Southern California rolled to a 10-3 victory and the College World Series title.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Southern California pitcher Rod Boxberger, who overpowered Arizona State in a key game earlier in the week, was named the outstanding player of the College World Series Thursday night.

Boxberger, 12-1, is a rangy right-hander who was picked in the first round of the major league draft by the Houston Astros Tuesday.

That night, he went the distance in handcuffing the potent Arizona State bats to lead the Trojans to a 5-2 victory when both teams had entered the game undefeated in the series.

USC hammered the Sun Devils 11-3 in the championship game Thursday night, behind the stellar pitching of Bill Bordley.

Boxberger's only other appearance in the series was for one inning against Michigan. He was pulled and saved for Arizona State when the Trojans jumped to an 8-0 lead.

The other pitcher on the all-tournament team, selected by sportswriters and sports broadcasters covering the series, was Casey Lindsey of Arizona State, the only hurler to win two games in the 1978 series.

Also selected were:

Catcher: Chris Bando, Arizona State.

First base: Dave Hostetler, Southern Cal.

Second base: Mike Fox, North Carolina.

Third base: Bob Horner, Arizona State.

Shortstop: Doug Stokke, Southern Cal.

Center field: John Wells, Southern Cal.

Right field: Steve Michael, Arizona State.

Designated hitter: Randy Guerra, Miami, Fla.

The Easy Part Over In Geiberger's Quest

MEMPHIS (AP) — Al Geiberger had a twinkle in his eye as he assessed his position.

"Well," he said, "I've matched last year's first-round score. Now all I have to do is match last year's second-round score."

"The first part," he admitted, "is the easiest."

It was something of an understatement. His par 72 was the same score he fired last year in the opening day of the Danny Thomas-Memphis Golf Classic. In that tournament, however, he followed with a tour record 59 in the second round.

This time he was a distant six shots back of Mike Morley's 66 that set the pace Thursday in the $250,000 event that was interrupted by a thunderstorm and accompanying tornado warning. Play was held up for almost two hours and the final men in the field finished in darkness on the rain-soaked, 7,249-yard Colonial Country Club course.

Lee Trevino, who had to endure the two-hour delay, had a chance to tie for second but missed a 4-foot birdie putt on the final hole.

That left him one shot back of Barry Jaeckel.

Tied with Trevino at 68 were Allen Miller, who had a hole in one with a 4-iron on the 200-yard 15th hole, Spain's Seve Ballesteros, Miller Barber, Bob Gilder, Jim Colbert, Jim Simons, Alan Tapie and rookie Mike Sullivan.

Gary Player, winner of the Masters and two other events earlier this season, had to rally for a 73 and Johnny Miller shot 75.

Morley, a low-key, soft-spoken journeyman, had an extremely solid effort. He didn't make a bogey and missed only one green.

"I've been in a two-month slump," he said. "I played too much early this year and got too tired. I let my swing get too long. I've been trying to shorten it. I had a good ball-striking round today, real solid. I'm very pleased."

Affirmed After Third Jewel

NEW YORK (AP) — Affirmed will try to add another winning beat to the Triple Crown parade of the 1970s Saturday when he carries Boy Wonder Steve Cauthen over the 1 1/2 miles of the Belmont Stakes against four other 3-year-olds, including Alydar.

Of the first eight winners of the Triple Crown — the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont — three were in the 1930s and four were in the 1940s. Then after Citation won in 1948 there was not another Triple Crown champion until Secretariat in 1973.

Affirmed is the early 3-5 favorite to succeed, but the Harbor View Farm colt is not expected to have nearly as easy a time as Secretariat and Seattle Slew, who were dominating winners of the Belmont.

Although Affirmed has beaten Alydar in six of eight meetings — including the Derby, by 1 1/2 lengths, and the Preakness, by a neck — Alydar's trainer, John Veitch, said the Calumet Farm colt will be no broken-hearted challenger in the Belmont.

"Horses aren't like human athletes," said Veitch. "They don't psyche themselves out. He doesn't even think Alydar will recognize Affirmed as the horse who beat him in the Derby and Preakness."

Only three other colts were entered Thursday for the Belmont, and they were expected to battle for third and fourth money of $22,216 and $11,058. If five start the 110th Belmont will be worth $184,300, with $110,580 to the winner and $40,546 to the runnerup.

The other three entrants were Darby Creek Road, Noon Time Spender and Judge Advocate. Post time is 5:40 p.m. EDT with CBS to televise from 5-6 p.m.

Smith's Home Run Robs Rogers Of No-Hit Bid As Expos Win, 4-1

By The Associated Press
Steve Rogers would be very happy if he did not have to pitch to Reggie Smith again... especially in Montreal's Olympic Stadium.

Last year, Rogers had a string of 1471-3 innings without allowing a home run before Smith ended it with a blast into the right field seats at the Expos' home park.

Thursday night, Smith tagged Rogers for another homer — at Olympic Stadium, of course — depriving the Montreal right-hander of a no-hitter.

After Smith's first-inning smash, Rogers did not allow Los Angeles another hit, pitching Montreal to a 4-1 victory over the Dodgers.

In other NL action:
A 10-1 victory over the Reds increased the Cubs' hold on first place in the NL East to one game over idle Philadelphia, while the loss dropped

Cincinnati into second place in the NL West. .008 behind the idle San Francisco Giants.

Rick Reuschel, backed by a 14-hit attack including Bobby Murcer's three-run homer, spaced seven hits and struck out 10 in beating the Reds for the fourth consecutive time over the past two seasons.

Former American League Pete Vuckovich and Mark Littell combined for a seven-hit and Ken Reitz stroked a pair of run-scoring singles as St. Louis handed Atlanta's Preston Hanna his first loss in five decisions this season, a 2-0 score.

Babe Ruth

Pepsi-Cola 8, Wachovia Bank 4

Pepsi-Cola came up with four runs in the fourth inning and took an 8-4 victory over Wachovia Bank in the Babe Ruth League yesterday.

The game was played under protest by Wachovia following a fourth inning ruling by the umpire on a passed ball.

Pepsi took the initial lead in the first inning, scoring three times. Junior Neal walked and stole second. He scored on a triple by Emmitt Walsh. Mike Thurber doubled, driving in Walsh. After moving up on a passed ball, Thurber scored when Bob Bost reached on an error.

Wachovia came back with a run in the bottom of the first. Mark Sasser reached on an error and scored when John Dubber doubled.

After moving ahead with three in the second, Wachovia lost the lead in the top of the fourth, when Pepsi scored four to take a 7-4 lead.

Billy Brannigan led off the fourth with a single and scored when Neal's single was errored. Walsh reached on an error, scoring Neal. After advancing to second on the relay, Walsh stole third, then was waved in by the umpire when a passed ball lodged in the screen. That brought the protest from Wachovia.

Following that, Thurber reached on a fielder's choice, stole second, took third on a passed ball and scored when Bost singled.

Bost led Pepsi with two hits, while no one had more than one for Wachovia.

The other Babe Ruth game, between Coca-Cola and Home Builders was postponed and will be played Tuesday at 5 p.m. at Aycock Field.

The Prep League game between Grantteers and Cox Realty will be played Saturday at 7 p.m.

Brook Valley Golf and Country Club

A two-way tie resulted following the play of the Wednesday evening Jack and Jill Tournament at Brook Valley Golf and Country Club.

The team of Harry Wilson, Jill Carney, Ed O'Donnell and Elsie Wilson tied with Willard Wilson, Janet McGlohon, Emil LaCoste and Jo Lancaster. Both teams came in with 32.

Tieing for second with 34's were five groups. They were: Marty Yancey, Evelyn Ward, John Patrick and Staley Wilson; and Gene Ward, Caroline Chapman, Bake Baker and Dorothy Woolees; and Wayne Chapman, Sandra Smith, Hugh Haney and Kay Yancey; and Bill Mitchum, Arie O'Donnell, Al Haverty and Doris Boles; and Mike Bach Jr., Mae Haverty, Jim Fleming and Vera Pennington.

Caroline Chapman won the closest to the pin contest (second shot) on the third hole, and Mae Haverty won the closest to the pin with tee shot on number five.

Woody Peele had his best nine, a 38, and best 18, carding an 80.

Farmville Golf and Country Club

Farmville Golf and Country Club pro Tom Braswell and a group of local women took first place in the Walter Hagen Memorial Pro-Lady Tournament, held at River Bend Country Club at New Bern.

The foursome, composed of Braswell, Pat Braswell, Barbara Messer and Babe Daurity, took first place in a playoff, and will now advance to the State Tournament, to be played September 25 in Pinehurst.

Jim Lancaster captured first place in the recent Club Championship tournament. Second went to Lowell Liles.

In the first flight, Bob Hunt was first, with Floyd Messer Sr., finishing second. Vance Taylor won the second flight with Kenny Patterson second. Bill Goins was the third flight winner, followed by Al Hamm.

Milton Barrett recently won the President's Cup Tournament. Mike Hicks was the runner-up.

The Women's Club Championship is being held this Saturday and Sunday at the club.

The Member-Guest Tournament will be held June 16-17-18.

Greenville Golf and Country Club

Connolly Branch recorded a hole-in-one during the past week at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

The ace came on the 137-yard third hole.

Jack Mann recorded an eagle on the par four 12th hole.

Harriette White won the Women's Club Championship, completed last week. She beat out Mary Dale White for the title.

Keila McGlohon won the first flight, with Dardie Longino finishing second. Peg Haigwood won the second flight, with Ann Evans second. In the third flight, Marge Parrish was first and Vertie King was second.

The club's annual Member-Guest Tournament is this Saturday and Sunday.

On June 15, a Women's Beginner Golf Clinic will be held from 9 to 10 a.m. A $2 entry fee is being charged. Interested members may register by calling the pro shop.

That same day, a clinic for junior boys and girls, ages 10-15, will be held, from 4 to 5 p.m. This also has a $2 charge.

On June 16, a Husband and Wife Better Ball of Four Tournament is to be held. A 4 p.m. shotgun start will be observed for the 18-hole event. A $12 per couple entry fee is charged.

A Best Ball of Pair Tournament for Men and Women will be held on June 17, with tee times from 8 a.m. to 12 noon. A $3 fee is charged for this 18-hole event.

The Interclub Junior Championship will be June 22. The 9 to 12-year-olds will play nine holes, while the 13 to 17-year-olds will play 18. A $6 entry fee is charged.

On July 1-2, the Father-Son Championship is to be held. The 36-hole event has tee times each day from 8 to 9:30 a.m. There is a $25 entry fee.

Texas Sweeps Pair

By The Associated Press
The eyes of Texas are on first place — in the American League West, that is.

The Rangers swept a twin bill from the defending division leaders, the Kansas City Royals, with 5-3 and 4-2 scores.

Texas lashed 11 hits in the opener, including key triples by Juan Beniquez and Al Oliver, and Doyle Alexander pitched one-hit ball for 62-3 innings before Reggie Cleveland stopped a late Kansas City rally.

In the nightcap, the Rangers were held hitless by rookie Rich Gale for 61-3 innings, then rallied to win in the 13th on Benny Bonds' sacrifice fly.

The two victories lifted Texas into second place in the AL West, one-half game ahead of Kansas City and 2½ games behind Oakland.

Run-scoring doubles by Ralph Garr and Bill Nahorodny supported the seven-hit pitching of Wilbur Wood and Jim Willoughby as the surging White Sox won for the 11th time in the past 12 games, downing the Twins 2-1.

Wood and Willoughby held Minnesota's Rod Carew, the six-time American League batting champion, hitless in three at-bats, striking him out twice.

"Hitting is no fun for Rod Carew right now," said Twins Manager ene Mauch.

California won a home run slugfest 10-7 from Oakland when Don Baylor broke a 7-7 tie with a three-run shot in the ninth inning. All of the Angels' runs came on homers. Earlier, Ron Jackson and Brian Downing blasted three-run homers and Carney Lansford had a solo shot.

Dave Revering hit a three-run homer and Mario Guerrero homered with one on for the A's.

Title Goes On The Line

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Ken Norton battles undefeated Larry Holmes tonight for one of the boxing's heavyweight championships.

The 32-year-old, ex-Marine was given the title by the World Boxing Council when Leon Spinks signed to give Muhammad Ali, rather than Norton, a return match in New Orleans next Sept. 15.

Never before has the heavyweight crown been awarded outside the ring, but Norton says he deserves it even though he would rather have fought Spinks in the fight the WBC had wanted.

Norton goes against Holmes, who was the challenger named by the WBC to fight Norton in his first title defense.

"I'll fight anybody, and I'd like to fight Spinks," said Norton. And Holmes echoed the view, saying he would also like to fight the winner of the Spinks-Ali rematch.

Norton and Holmes dislike each other heartily, but nevertheless Holmes stood up for Norton, saying the WBC made the right decision in stripping the title from Spinks when he would not fight Norton in his first title defense.

NBA Clubs Seek New Jabbars

NEW YORK (AP) — National Basketball Association club owners searched for the new Jabbars today as the player draft opened at NBA headquarters here.

The NBA draft lasted eight rounds last year. Of the players chosen below the first two rounds, Indiana's James Edwards was by far the most successful, but there were others who lasted to make the pro ranks.

Edwards replaced Kareem Abdul-Jabbar at Los Angeles early this past season and did well until Abdul-Jabbar returned to the lineup. Edwards was traded to Indiana, where he's expected to make a major contribution next year.

From the third round last year, guards Eddie Johnson of Atlanta, John Kuester of Kansas City and Mike Bratz of Phoenix all made the grade. In round four, Phoenix' Greg Griffin was on the Suns' roster for much of the year and Los Angeles' pick, Tony Robertson, caught on with Atlanta after being dropped by the Lakers.

Phoenix' seventh-round pick, Alvin Scott, played in 81 games and was the club's seventh leading scorer. And Golden State's eighth-round choice, guard Ricky Marsh, was actually a starter for a couple of months despite being the 165th player selected out of a total of 170.

So while the focus of attention in today's draft was naturally on the opening round, more than a few general managers were fantasizing about uncovering a diamond in the rough like Edwards among the unfamiliar names of the lower rounds.

Senior BR Event Here

Greenville will be the host team and city for the State 16-year-old Senior Babe Ruth League tournament this summer.

The tournament will get underway on July 25. A double elimination format will be used in the tourney.

Teams will arrive in Greenville on Monday, July 24, and begin play the next day.

Tournament officials are now seeking foster homes for the competitors, with approximately 125 boys expected to be here for the tournament. A committee of Floyd Mattheis, Joe Godette and Wilson McDowell has been named to be in charge of finding homes for the boys.

Anyone interested in housing one or more of the youths is asked to contact Mattheis at 757-6736 or 756-2466, Godette at 752-3674, McDowell at 1607 Lincoln Dr., or to call the Greenville Recreation Department, 752-4137, extension 220.

Twenty-One Enrolled In ECU Summer Program

By KEITH MILLS
Reflector Staff Writer

Twenty-one minority and disadvantaged students seeking health related careers enrolled Thursday in ECU's summer program for future doctors, nurses and professionals of allied health.

The purpose of the program, which is comprised of 13 women and eight men, is to provide students with an introduction into aspects of the quality and quantity of work expected of students admitted to medical and health related programs, according to Dr. Zubie Metcalf, director of the Center for Student Opportunities (CSO).

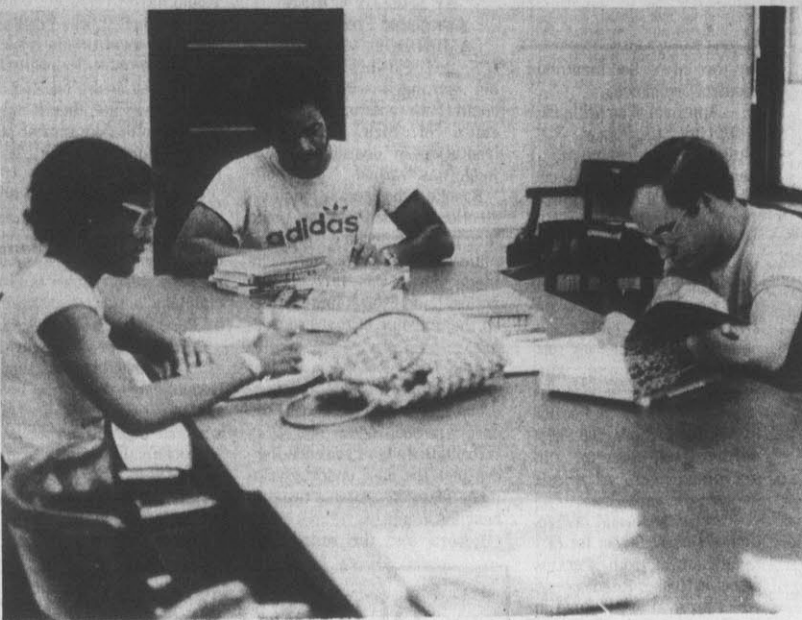

The eight-week class will stress the basic sciences and reading and learning skills and will increase the students' potential for getting into medical schools, although no credit is earned.

"Many people think these are students whose academic levels would make them a high risk in the medical profession," Metcalf said, "but the average grade point is about 3.1."

"One has attended the University of Paris and another attended schools in Africa, while others have also gained instruction overseas," he said. "They're very interested in upgrading their potential for being doctors. Some have applied to medical schools and were not admitted and some got as far as alternate status."

"But it's possible that some of these people, after this experience, will get admitted here or elsewhere," he added.

"The program is not remedial because the students selected for the session show a high potential for success in the health professions," he said. "This summer is the first time the annual program has been offered."

A Health Careers Opportunity Grant, totaling $104,000, was awarded to the center by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare — along with state supported funds — and provides a $558 stipend for each student. The stipend covers tuition and books. Students will be living in campus dorms and are responsible for their own room and board.

Under terms set by HEW, eligibility pertains only to minorities and disadvantaged individuals. Minorities include American Indians, Hispanics and black Americans.

"The disadvantaged category is not based on ethnic background," Metcalf said, "but is defined in terms of scholastic aptitude. If students scored 350 or below on the math and verbal sections of the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) they were eligible as educationally disadvantaged. The overall average on the SAT for these students was about 400 or more."

The class schedule will consist of basic science courses in physiology, pathology, anatomy, biochemistry, microbiology and pharmacology, which will be taught by ECU medical school faculty members during morning sessions. Clinical concepts in psychiatry and family medicine will also be provided.

Afternoon sessions will involve reading and learning skills and problem solving techniques taught by CSO personnel. Special seminars by visiting university faculty members will also be held.

"We will not be teaching them theories or principles they didn't get or were not satisfied with in undergraduate school," the CSO director said. "The principles taught here will serve as vehicles to give them a feel for the environment, the degree of accuracy, tight schedules' disappointments, the quality and quantity of work that will be expected of them in medical school."

"The student will be able to evaluate himself and the profession of medicine," he added.

Fifteen of the students have college degrees; three are college seniors; two are college juniors; and one has an associate degree.

The class, which consists of 17 students from North Carolina, two from Virginia, one from Washington, D.C., and one from South Carolina, includes: Robert Bradley, Hamlet; C. Ann Rose Brewer, Raleigh; Paul Chu, Asheville; Frances Marie Corbett, Chesapeake, Va.; Gwenellen Lucrille Corley, Washington, D.C.; Wanda Gail Flood, Martinsville, Va.; Lorena Bernice Hawkins, Charlotte; Gerald Kenneth Hill, Elizabeth City; Lenet Hill, Winston-Salem; McDaniel Holloway, Asheville; Vanessa Gale Lane, Carrboro; Flora Gail Lowry, Pembroke; Sandra Marie Mitchell, Castalia; Nicholas N.

Ndetti, Raleigh; James Gregory Nelson, Ayden; Ora Lee Pangburn, Charlotte; Michael Q. Smith, Wilmington; Pamela Jean Spears, Coats; Clinton Anthony Toles, Winston-Salem; Kermit Bentley Wells, Canton; and Daura Ann Decastor, Donalds, S.C.

Bob Bradley, who earned his Masters Degree in microbiology at Howard University, said he hopes to "learn enough to impress enough people to get into medical school, preferably one of the North Carolina schools, possibly ECU."

A senior at ECU majoring in biology, Lorena Hawkins is investigating the medical field because she is not sure what area of medicine she prefers.

"I've been interested in medicine since high school," she said. "I joined an Explorer post where I could investigate a number of fields but decided it would be medicine." Kermit Bentley Wells earned his B.S. Degree in biology in May at Wofford College in Spartanburg, S.C. and "wanted to jump right into it" as fast as he could.

"My main interest is to get into medical school and get an M.D. Degree," he said. "If I don't make it into medical school, I'll probably drop back into pharmacology."

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM NOTICE

The City of Greenville has submitted to the Department of Housing and Urban Development a preapplication for funding under the Community Development Block Grant Small Cities Program (1978-1979) for $2,500,000. The Small Cities Program of Greenville is designed to address the needs of four (4) identified Neighborhood Strategy Areas. The proposed projects for these areas are the result of both City staff research and input from neighborhood residents. The program is primarily directed at improving the housing stock and general living environment of the residents of these areas. Copies of the preapplication are available for public inspection in the City Hall in the Office of the City Clerk, the office of the City Manager, and the Redevelopment Commission located at 316 East Rountree Drive.

FBI Informant Told Must Begin New Life

MIAMI (AP) — Joey Teitelbaum helped get indictments in what the FBI calls the biggest labor investigation in government history. Now the shipping company owner may be in danger of losing his federal protection.

Those new "friends" Teitelbaum had been casually introducing to Miami's waterfront society were really government undercover agents.

The charade went on for 28 months, with not even Teitelbaum's family aware of what he was doing, reported WCKT-TV. To protect him against revenge, up to 17 U.S. marshals were assigned to provide security.

The investigation came to a head Thursday when federal officers arrested 21 people in seven cities on charges of conspiring to "control the waterfront" through payoffs, extortion and threats of violence. Among them were two vice presidents of the International Longshoremen's Association, four local presidents and top officials of shipping companies.

Arrests were made in Miami, New York, Atlanta, Charleston,

S.C., Savannah, Ga., Mobile, Ala., and Jacksonville, Fla.

Teitelbaum has continued to live openly, carrying on his business. He allowed news photographs to be taken Thursday, even as the roundup was under way.

But Thursday night, Teitelbaum said he was told his protective shield of marshals would be withdrawn unless he

Church School Begins June 12

A week of Vacation Bible School has been scheduled by the staff of Oakmont Baptist Church. The dates are Monday, June 12 through Friday, June 16. Hours are 9 a.m. until noon.

Kate Hall, is the director, and the Bible School is open to children of ages three through the sixth grade. Parents of children planning to attend are asked to register them by 9 a.m. Monday. Emphasis in teaching will be placed on Bible study, missions and character development.

enters the federal secret witness program.

That would likely mean he would have to begin a new life in another town under an assumed name. A source close to the family who asked not to be identified said Teitelbaum might not testify if his protection was pulled.

In Washington, the Justice Department said Thursday night that the matter was being evaluated. "There has been no decision whether to withdraw his protection . . ." said spokesman Robert Havel. "What is going to be done, I can't say yet."

development. Buck said he was hopeful that when the zoning ordinance is rewritten, duplex apartments will become a special rather than a permitted use in R-9 residential districts. He said it was a "grave error" to allow duplex as permitted uses in the districts.

E. T. Vinson, pastor at Memorial Baptist Church on Greenville Boulevard, expressed his opposition to the duplex proposal and said that the units already built on property next to the church take away from the aesthetic beauty of the church.

Several other property owners, including residents of nearby Tucker Estates off Red Banks Road, spoke in opposition to the rezoning proposal, citing increased traffic, devaluation of single family homes, and the encroachment of duplexes on established neighborhoods. A large crowd stood in a show of opposition to the request.

Vinson questioned Councilman Charles Vincent, an attorney, as to whether he or his law partner, Mack Howard, served as legal counsel for Cherry.

Vinson reported that Howard handled most of Cherry's legal work and he pointed out that Howard had not talked to him about the matter. The councilman said that he had heard Cherry's side last night and a number of others from the opposing side.

Vinson noted that he represented at least ten persons on the petition and "know some of you personally." He added, I resent the inference that I can not be impartial in this matter and I don't like it one bit.

The councilman said that "It raises questions and it bothers me whether we are going to vote on this. I am very offended about this."

He suggested that the Council adjourn and discuss whether he should be able to vote on the matter. Cox said that he did not think the Council could adjourn to consider the matter.

City Attorney Louis Singleton explained that Vincent could disqualify himself or the Council could disqualify him. Since only five members of the Council were present last night, Singleton noted that Vincent's vote would be needed in the event the request was approved.

Vinson said that "appearance wise," he probably should withdraw but his withdrawal would not be fair to Cherry "so I'm not volunteering to do it." Cox announced that Vincent would be voting on the matter.

Councilman John Howard offered the motion to deny the request and he was joined in voting by Councilmen Joe Taft Jr. and Clarence Gray. Vincent abstained from voting and Mrs. Judy Greene voted against the motion to deny.

In other business on the agenda, the Council conducted a public hearing on the adoption of a proposed Floodway Ordinance and then gave its approval to the "Flood Damage Prevention Ordinance."

The ordinance protects the "identified floodways and flood fringes of the streams located in the territorial and extraterritorial planning and zoning jurisdiction of the city of Greenville."

The request of Ms. Shirley B. Spain for a permit to place a mobile home at 1301 S. Fourth Street for use as a personal residence was denied following a public hearing.

Other business included: — Reappointment of Lacy Harrell to his second term as a regular member of the Board of Adjustments and reappointment of J. B. Surles II and Ms. Patricia Marshall as alternates on the board;

— Appointment of East Carolina University students Janet Dunn, David Cartwright and Al King to the Greenville Citizens Bikeway Committee;

— Reappointment of Lyman Ormond Jr. to his second full term on the Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission and appointment of Wes Hankins to his first full term (had filled an unexpired term) on the planning board;

— Reappointment of Mrs. Dorothy Wooles and Mrs. J. Knott Proctor to terms on the Recreation Commission; — Appointment of Mrs. Janice Faulkner to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Nancy Gustafson on the Sheppard Memorial Library Board;

— Appointment of Monty Frizzell to fill the unexpired term of Donovan Phillips on the Human Relations Council;

— Approval of permit renewals on one-year provisions for Commercial Enterprises of Greenville for the mobile home on State Road 1534, for Mrs. Almata L. McCoy for the mobile structure at 1306 S. Pitt Street, and for Mrs. P. O. Allen for the mobile home at 107 Church Street;

— Adoption of a resolution adopting a policy for mutual assistance by the Greenville Police Department with other law enforcement agencies in the state;

— Adoption of a resolution authorizing the submission of an application to the N.C. Department of Natural and Economic Resources for a communications grant ($8,640) to purchase six portable radio units for the Police Department (local match of $480 required);

— Adoption of a resolution authorizing Greenville Utilities to submit an application to the U.S. Department of Energy for funding of a Comprehensive Energy Management Program;

— Adoption of amendments to the city's Sedimentation Control Ordinance;

— Approval of an ordinance adopting the new N.C. Building Code, Volume I replacing the 1967 ordinance; — Approval of an application by R. B. Jr. Lounge, 1107 W. Fifth Street, for an on and off premise beer and wine privilege license;

Interim City Manager Charlie Holliday reported last night that curb and gutter and island work on the new section of Arlington Boulevard has been completed and the base course will be installed on the corridor within the next ten days. The street will be open to traffic following the base course installation.

According to Holliday, the transit system averaged 570 passengers per day during May.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Edward Brooke and his estranged wife, Remigia, could both end up losers because of their latest confrontation in divorce court, a judge has warned.

Brooke, who faces a tough reelection contest this year, could face possible perjury charges if admitted "misstatements" he made during his 1977 divorce action had a substantial effect on the outcome of that proceeding.

And Mrs. Brooke was told she risked losing part of a generous property settlement if the case was reopened.

Probate Judge Lawrence Perera took the case under advisement Thursday, after a two-day hearing.

Perera told the senator he would have to consider whether his conduct "was consistent with the level of integrity and the level of disclosure this court must insist on. If I conclude it was not, then it may be necessary to take further steps. But I don't care to discuss them at this time."

If the judge finds Brooke lied on sworn statements filed in his divorce action, Brooke could be charged with perjury. As a lawyer, he also could face disciplinary action or disbarment by the state bar association.

Perera ordered the hearing after published reports that the Republican senator had lied on a deposition about a $49,000 loan.

Brooke said during testimony Wednesday that he made up the story about owing the $49,000 to Boston liquor dealer A. Raymond Tye to avoid involving his mother-in-law, the late Teresa Ferrari-Scacco. Testifying under oath, Brooke said he owed Tye only $2,000 and he actually believed at the time he owed his mother-in-law the other $47,000.

However, he admitted Thursday that, at most, the amount owed his mother-in-law was $39,000 at the time and blamed "bookkeeping errors" for the disparity. Mrs. Brooke's lawyer claimed the senator owed Mrs. Ferrari-Scacco no more than $4,500.

Asked for his reaction to the Pitt board's Monday resolution, James Hackney III of Washington, president of the Highway 264 Association said, "In light of Secretary Bradshaw's comment (in Kinston), there will be a consultant's study released in August. We will have the opportunity to comment at that time."

"The 264 Association," Hackney said, "feels that it is too early to take a position at this time," as to which route is followed.

PUBLIC NOTICE SUGGESTED MODEL NOTIFICATION OF BACTERIOLOGICAL MAXIMUM CONTAMINANT LEVEL
 Water Exceeds Bacteria Limit
 Graydon Jackson, of Jackson's Mobile Home, Parts reports that analyses of samples taken during the April reporting period showed a coliform bacteria concentration above the maximum contaminant level listed in the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency's National Interim Primary Drinking Water Regulations.

Although there is no routine laboratory procedure for determining the presence of specific disease-producing bacteria in drinking water, it is normally found in the intestinal tract of man or other warm blooded animals. The presence of this non-disease producing bacteria is used to indicate that some contamination has occurred. The system has been disinfected and repeat samples show the water to be free from coliform bacteria. If you have any questions concerning this notice, please call Mr. Graydon Jackson by telephone or write to Route 1, Box 527, Winterville, NC 28590. June 8, 9, 11, 1978

PUBLIC NOTICE
 The Bell Arthur Water Corporation reports that they take one weekly bacteriological analysis of the water to aid in providing the water to be safe.

The sample submitted on April 10, 1978 at 4:30 P. M. at the water office and analyzed by the State Division of Health Services after April 11, 1978 which was reported on April 17, 1978 to have some coliform bacteria present in the "MOST PROBABLE NUMBER" of coliform bacteria per 100 milliliters of sample was reported to be 9.2. This was considered by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in Atlanta, Georgia to be a concentration above the maximum contaminant level listed in the National Interim Primary Drinking Water Regulations. Although there is no routine laboratory procedure for determining the presence of specific disease-producing bacteria in drinking water, coliform bacteria can be readily detected.

A repeat sample taken, as requested by the State Division of Health Services after April 19, 1978 and reported by the State Division of Health Services on April 21, 1978 revealed "COLIFORM NOT FOUND". Other samples taken after April 19, 1978 show the water to be free from coliform bacteria.

The April 10, 1978 sample was taken during other activities at the water office and was probably contaminated by bacteria in the air or by incorrect sampling procedures. In order to provide you with the best water possible, the Bell Arthur Water Corporation has, in order to comply with EPA Regulations, and attempt to prevent future problems of this nature instituted chlorination of the water coming from all three wells. This notice is sent as dictated by the United States Environmental Protection Agency as a part of the implementation of the Safe Drinking Water Act in North Carolina. If you have any questions concerning this notice, please call the Bell Arthur Water Corporation (a non-profit user owned corporation) at 752-6252 or write the Bell Arthur Water Corporation, P. O. Box 104, Bell Arthur, N.C. 27811. After the drop by and look at your new Water Office and Fire Department Facility downtown Bell Arthur. June 9, 11, 12, 1978

Four Traffic Mishaps Reported Here Thursday

An estimated $15,450 property damage resulted from four traffic mishaps investigated by Greenville Police yesterday. Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 5:45 p.m. incident on Allen Street, 50 feet North of the Mumford Road intersection.

A car driven by Ronnie Earl Brown of 200 East Jackson Ave., police reported, ran off the road and collided with a house at 1300 Allen St., causing an estimated $350 damage to the car and $10,000 damage to the dwelling. Brown was charged with careless and reckless driving in connection with the mishap.

Cars driven by Marion Henry White of Raleigh and Margaret Polloc Carson of 1202 Crestwood Dr. collided about 12:25 p.m. at the intersection of Tenth Street and Riverbluff Road, causing an estimated $2,000 damage to the White car and $1,000 damage to the Carson vehicle.

Officers reported both drivers, as well as a passenger in the Carson car, were injured.

Evone Smith Holliday of 1011 West Third St. was reported injured when the car she was driving collided with an auto operated by Yvonne Best of Riverbluff Apts. about 8:45 a.m. at the intersection of Fifth and 14th Streets.

Damage from the collision was set at $200 to the Best car and $800 to the Holliday auto.

Cars driven by Angela Denise Aldridge of Village Green Apts., and Becky Lynn Leggett of White's Trailer Pk. collided about 7:50 p.m. yesterday on 14th Street.

Officers, who estimated damage at $750 to the Aldridge car and $350 to the Leggett auto, said the drivers could not agree on the exact location of the collision.

One of the drivers, according to investigators, said the mishap occurred at the Charles Street intersection, while the other reported it occurred at the Elm Street intersection.

The drivers came to the Police Department to report the mishap, police noted.

At Minges...

Graduation exercises for Rose High School students will be held at Minges Coliseum tonight, instead of at Ficklen Stadium as originally planned.

The time remains 6:45 p.m. Superintendent of Greenville City Schools said a decision was reached to make the change based on a forecast of continued inclement weather.

Bus Driver Is Honored

Rose High senior Wiley Clark, Jr. received a surprise gift from parents of Lynndale Subdivision today, as a token of appreciation for his outstanding performance as a bus driver.

Clark, who is also one of two recipients of a monetary bus driver award given by Procter & Gamble at Rose High Awards Day, was cited by Lynndale parents through the Lynndale Neighborhood Association.

On behalf of the parents who voluntarily honored Clark, Jim Wilson, the association chairman, told Clark in a letter: "You have driven this route for over a year and in that time become a good friend to all our children. You are courteous, helpful, and concerned about your young passengers. We are aware of many specific incidents of kindness to the children."

Mrs. Ann (Robert) Griffin met the bus on Thursday and presented the letter and a new billfold containing a $100 bill to Clark.

Clark is the driver of Bus No. 172, which transports children from the Lynndale neighborhood to South Greenville Elementary School.

Participation In Heart Fund Run Is Urged

The Coastal Carolina Track Club urges all its members to participate in the Greater Greenville Heart Fund Run taking place tomorrow, beginning at 5 p.m. and starting and ending at the corner of First and Evans Streets.

For those unable to take part in the Heart Fund Run, the usual Fun Run will take place beginning at 8 a.m. Saturday at the ECU Track.

Sunday at 5:30 p.m. the Washington, N. C. Jaycees are sponsoring a minimarathon beginning at Stewart Parkway and running along the waterfront.

Next Saturday, June 17, at Seymour Johnson AFB a five-mile run will take place at 8 a.m., starting at the base gym. The public is invited.

N. Pitt High School Exercises Set Tonight

The 1978 graduation exercises at North Pitt High School will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Teresa Keel will present the invocation. "Both Sides Now" will be performed by the North Pitt Chorus under the direction of Miss Barbara Plummer.

Roslyn Teel will deliver the welcoming address. Twana Dale Wilkins, daughter of Mrs. Velma Wilkins of Bethel, will give a speech entitled "How Well We Remember."

William Stephen Whitehurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Whitehurst of Robersonville, will deliver "What Shall We Do?"

James W. Allen, principal, Ernest McNair, assistant principal, and Sam Keel, member of the North Pitt Advisory Council, will present the diplomas.

Cecilia Riddick and Dennis Teel will lead the tassel ceremony. The farewell address will be given by Tammy Peaden, with benediction lead by Samuel Mayo.

NORTH PITT SENIOR SPEAKERS — Twana Dale Wilkins and William Stephen Whitehurst will speak tonight at the graduation exercises at North Pitt High School.

Sponsored Contest In Safety Posters

Union Carbide Corp. here announced the results of the plant's first safety poster contest that involved participation by sons, daughters and other young relatives of the firm's employees.

Joseph High, contest coordinator, said that the poster contest centered around on-the-job or in-plant safety and first, second and third place winners were judged in nine age categories.

All youngsters who participated in the contest received a gift from Union Carbide, he reported, and cash awards will be presented to the winners at a luncheon on Saturday at the Ramada Inn.

Judging, which was conducted by art teachers Bob Karl and Mrs. Marsh Eakes of E. B. Aycock Junior High and Steve Donald of South Greenville Elementary, was based on the poster's safety message, balance, and composition, it was explained.

The winning posters will be displayed at the plant for a period of time. High noted, and then all entries will be on display in the plant cafeteria for employees to enjoy.

The contest winners in first, second and third place order included: five-year-olds category, Sharon Drum (first place), Cristy Wetherington (second place), and Claire Perryman (third place); six-year-olds, Shamita Crowell, Yasma Lyons, and (not enough entries for third place);

Seven-year-olds, Zachary Perryman, Clarice Blount, and Deshorn Sasser; eight-year-olds, Karin Potts, Tambitha Crowell, and William Fields; nine-year-olds, Tim West, Aubrey Evans, and Major Best; ten-year-olds, Greg Smith, John Report $463,389 Grant To ECU Family Medicine Dept.

ECU News Bureau
The Department of Family Medicine at the East Carolina University School of Medicine has received a $463,389 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to support a graduate training program designed to improve the quality of health care in eastern North Carolina.

Dr. James G. Jones, project director and chairman of the family medicine department, said the purpose of the program is to provide professional training experience for family practice residents in the first, second and third years of training.

Jones says selection of residents participating in the program will target physicians who plan to practice in eastern North Carolina in an effort "to relieve the present critical physician manpower shortage."

"As a result of this training program, our impact on the quality and availability of health care in the region and state will occur even sooner than we projected," says Jones.

There are now only 188 family physicians practicing in eastern North Carolina. The grant will help increase that figure during the next 20 years to 300 or more.

a ratio of at least one family physician per 2,000 population. Funds will be used to develop and enhance training programs, hire additional full-time and part-time faculty and recruit support personnel such as a clinical pharmacist, nurse practitioner and nutritionist.

"The grant will also fund active research in family disease patterns seen by the family physician in rural setting," says Jones. "The studies will help identify the relationship of socioeconomic factors to disease patterns — in hypertension or diabetes, for example — and enable us to update our curriculum to reflect our unique regional health problems."

A director of research will be recruited to coordinate data collected from rural physicians and ECU faculty members.

Grant funds will also be used to support continuing education programs for rural family practitioners in the region. Physicians will be given the opportunity to attend a "mini-residency" at the Eastern Carolina Family Practice Center, the primary care facility operated by the medical school's Department of Family Medicine.

Seven family practice residents are now training at the center, and eight more will begin studies in July. Jones says the grant will help the medical school reach its goal of 36 residents at the center by 1981.
