Police Arrested In Strike; Memphis Crime Said Down

By LES SEAGO
Associated Press Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Rifle-toting National Guardsmen protected non-striking firefighters, and 39 people, mostly striking police officers, were arrested for violating a dusk-to-dawn curfew as Memphis waited out its latest round of labor strife.

But despite the dual strikes by police and firefighters, crime was reported down in the curfew-quieted metropolitan area of 800,000 and fire officials said there was little sign of the widespread arson that marked a firemen's strike five weeks ago.

Most of the 18 fire runs made Monday by fire department supervisors and non-striking members of the International Association of Firefighters were described as minor. During a normal weekday, Memphis records an average 66 fires between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m.

Guardsmen accompanied the firefighters, as well as standing watch over fire houses and police precinct stations.

The wildcat firefighters' strike showed signs of weakening late Monday, but there was no indication of a quick end to the police strike, now in its fifth day.

A federal mediator failed Monday to get city officials and the Memphis Police Association together in an effort to end the walkout.

Mayor Wyeth Chandler said the strikers were trying to close down Memphis and that the city was taking applications for their jobs. He said the personnel office had received more than 2,000 applications.

Fire department officials said 13 of the city's 48 fire stations were fully manned with both supervisory personnel and nonstriking firefighters.

Fire Director Robert Walker said a steady stream of firemen had called in offering to report for duty. "They called in and said 'We want to come to work,' and we said 'Come on.' It was the greatest message I've had all day."

However, Chandler said striking policemen and firefighters were trying to talk sanitation workers, city hospital employees and workers of the city-owned light, gas and water division to join them on the picket lines.

The president of the Memphis AFL-CIO Labor Council suggested late Monday a city-wide strike in support of the striking police and firemen.

"Our unions are prepared to start withholding from all industries and businesses our services for an indefinite period," said Tommy Powell, head of the 60,000-member labor council. "We will not allow the city to run the fire and police unions out."

Lorene Osborne, president of the Memphis Education Association, which represents 5,200 public school teachers in the city, said her union is asking teachers to avoid crossing police and firefighters' union picket lines if they are stationed at the schools.

Chandler said he would ask the City Council to withdraw recognition of the striking unions today. The mayor also said the city may go to court for contempt citations against leaders of both the 1,100-member Memphis Police Association and Local 1784 of the International Association of Firefighters which represents 1,400 firemen. Both unions are under court orders to halt strikes.

The strikes and the curfew, which permits only law enforcement and emergency services personnel on the streets between 8 p.m. and 6 a.m., came as thousands of people converged on the city for the first anniversary Wednesday of the death of singer Elvis Presley.

Vester Presley, the entertainer's uncle, said about 4,000 people visited the grave at Graceland Mansion Monday, considerably below the earlier estimate that 20,000 people a day would visit the grave.

About 50 people, caught by the curfew, were allowed to camp Monday night on the lawn of Graceland Mansion, Presley's home.

Also "caught" by the curfew Monday night were police strikers who had set up pickets at the west precinct station but were arrested just three minutes after the curfew went into effect.

Earlier Monday, City Court Judge John Dwyer released 66 strikers arrested the night before, pending hearings on charges of violating the curfew and threatening breach of peace.

The latest labor woes escalated Monday morning when what had been intended as a firefighters' union vote on the city wage package turned into a strike rally.

Pathologist Says Shot Could Have Come From New Site

BY MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A pathologist working for the House assassinations committee told the panel today that the bullet that killed Martin Luther King Jr. could have been fired from a brushy area in a rooming house yard as well as from a bathroom window in the house.

Dr. Michael Baden said the medical findings are not sufficiently precise to eliminate either site.

Evidence gathered when the civil rights leader was assassinated on April 4, 1968, pointed to the bathroom window of the rooming house across the street from King's Memphis, Tenn., motel as the place where the killer fired the shot.

Witnesses told of seeing a man running from the bathroom carrying a bundle seconds after the murder. The man was identified as James Earl Ray, who at first pleaded guilty to the slaying and then recanted.

Some conspiracy theories that have arisen in the decade since the murder suggest that the shot actually was fired by someone other than Ray from the brushy backyard of the rooming house.

Baden, chief medical examiner of New York City, said there was no medical examination possible in 1968 and none today that could establish with certainty where the shot originated.

Baden and two other forensic scientists employed by the committee reviewed the autopsy findings and ordered a variety of new chemical tests to trace the path of the bullet. Baden's associates were Dr. John I. Coe, chief medical examiner of Hennepin County, Minn., and Dr. Joseph H. Davis, chief medical examiner of Dade County, Fla.

The bullet track in King's body "was entirely consistent with either position" the assassin may have used, Baden testified.

Baden told reporters later that other evidence in the hands of the committee, including eyewitness accounts, may establish the firing site more precisely.

As the hearing opened, committee counsel Robert Blakey said the medical panel was asked to pin down the path of the bullet that felled King and to determine whether it could have been fired from some place other than the bathroom window of a rooming house across the street from King's motel.

Previous evidence pointed to that window as the site of the shot. But Blakey noted, "from eyewitness accounts, there was disagreement over the point of origin of the fatal shot."

The new studies were not expected to challenge the basic conclusion that King died after a bullet severed his spine and three major blood vessels. He died less than an hour after being wounded.

But who fired the bullet remained a matter of controversy after the committee's first session Monday at the start of a week of public hearings on the case.

Mark Lane, perhaps the most prominent exponent of an assassination conspiracy theory, asserted to reporters once again that "people associated with the FBI are prime suspects." Lane, an attorney, is representing James Earl Ray, who is serving a 99-year prison sentence after pleading guilty to the murder.

Ray, who soon recanted the plea, is scheduled to give his sworn account to the committee Wednesday. Under tight security, federal marshals brought Ray to Washington Monday night from Tennessee's Brushy Mountain State Prison, the prison warden said.

The conspiracy theory also found support Monday from the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, King's friend and successor as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Abernathy told reporters he is convinced there was a conspiracy and suspects FBI involvement. But he said he has no proof for his beliefs.

Abernathy, however, avoided the conspiracy claim in his testimony as the committee's first witness.

Under questioning about the FBI, Abernathy criticized the agency's alleged harassment of King and other civil rights leaders.

He noted that King distrusted the FBI and its director, J. Edgar Hoover.

The SCLC staff received numerous threats against King and "we would report some of them (to the FBI) for the record but King and his aides never saw the FBI as a source of protection," Abernathy testified.

He said he does not remember FBI agents questioning him about the events in Memphis. But the FBI said agents did interview Abernathy. Officials declined to elaborate.

Abernathy told the committee he believes King was forewarned of the assassination and told reporters later he believes the FBI gave King that information "both to warn him and to threaten him."

Walkout 4th Time

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP) — Sanitation workers here walked off the job again Monday in the fourth walkout since July 5 in protest of larceny charges against a fellow worker.

Twenty-eight workers left their jobs, while 10 other sanitation employees called in sick.

Golden Frinks, state field director for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, called on city officials to urge a speedy Superior Court trial for the worker, Alexander Evans, who received a suspended sentence after his larceny conviction last week in District Court.

Evans filed notice of appeal following the conviction, but no date has been set for the trial.

Frinks said rally supporting Evans has been scheduled for Sunday.

Evans was accused July 5 of taking clothing from the porch of a house on his garbage pickup route. Evans admitted taking the clothing but said he thought it had been left out as a gift.

Kinston Man Gets Ag Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. B. "Buddy" Taylor, a Kinston, N.C., warehouseman and fertilizer dealer, has been named a member of the Agricultural Technical Advisory Committee for Trade Negotiation, where he will serve as an advisor to Ambassador Robert Strauss, the country's trade negotiator with other nations.

Taylor's appointment was announced today by Sen. Robert Morgan, D-N.C.

Department of Agriculture officials said one of Taylor's principal duties will be to advise Strauss "what concessions we can expect from other countries and what we may be prepared to give in negotiating on tobacco commerce."

The tobacco committee of the advisory group consists of 14 members from states where tobacco is grown or manufactured. They are called to Washington when Strauss feels that he needs advice on trade talks concerning tobacco.

Members receive no pay and Agriculture officials said such committees are reconstituted every two years, although some of the same members are generally renamed to achieve continuity.

"This is a good appointment," Morgan said. "Buddy Taylor will bring a wealth of experience, a knowledge of tobacco and good common sense to aid Ambassador Strauss in talks with other countries."

Taylor served as Lenoir County co-chairman of Morgan's Senate campaign in 1974.

Dollar At New Lows

By JAMES R. PEIPERT
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The dollar's tailspin continued today on the world's money markets, with the U.S. currency hitting new record lows against the Japanese yen, the Swiss franc and the West German mark.

The price of gold, reflecting the dollar's weakness, soared to new highs of $216.125 an ounce in early trading in Zurich and $216 in London. The previous highs, on Monday, were $213.625 in Zurich, $214.625 in London and $215.25 in New York.

The British pound broke through the $2 level for the first time since March 5, 1976. It rose from $1.9797 in late trading Monday to $2.0020.

The French, Italian and Belgian exchanges were closed for the Assumption Day holiday, but dealers in London reported hectic trading.

In Zurich, the dollar was quoted at 1.5545 Swiss francs at midmorning, down sharply from the previous low of 1.5810 at the end of business Monday.

In Frankfurt, the battered U.S. currency was trading at 1.9172 German marks, another sharp drop from the previous low of 1.9510 marks late Monday.

It was the fourth day in succession of new lows for the dollar against the mark and Swiss franc.

In Tokyo, the dollar plunged to 181.80 yen, 2.50 yen below the previous low on Aug. 2, and closed at 182.85.

"If you think this is low, wait until next week," said one Tokyo trader.

"We have been very active from the moment we opened," said a London dealer. "Our turnover has been significantly higher than normal for this time. The surge came initially from the Far East. They were selling dollars and they were followed by Europe doing the same thing."

Production Up In July

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first rise in output of consumer goods in three months helped boost U.S. industrial production by 0.5 percent in July, the government reported today.

The moderate increase was the same as in both May and June and reflected the gradual slowing of the economy following much larger production gains earlier in the year. Output of the nation's mines, factories and utilities had increased 1.6 percent in April.

The Carter administration considers some slowing of the nation's economic growth rate as essential to help inflationary pressures in the economy. But the 0.5 gain in industrial output indicates the economy is still growing fast enough to create new jobs and help reduce unemployment.

The production report from the Federal Reserve Board said there were increases last month in the output of equipment, construction supplies, durable goods materials and consumer goods.

The board said production of consumer goods increased 0.3 percent during the month, reversing a decline in the previous two months. It said auto production was at an annual rate of 9.4 million units, up from 9.3 million in June.

Production of both durable consumer home goods, such as furniture and appliances, and non-durable goods, such as clothing, showed gains during the month. However, the board said the non-durable goods production still was below the April level.

The board made significant revisions for industrial production in the past several months. It listed the May and June production gains at 0.5 percent in each of the two months, a change from its report last month that production in June was up 0.3 percent and May production was ahead 1.5 percent.

Firm Qualifies To Bid On Parcel

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The CPA firm of Worsley, Farley & Prescott Inc. here qualified last night as a bidder on a small parcel owned by the Redevelopment Commission adjoining the firm's E. Third Street business.

In seeking to qualify as a bidder on Disposal Parcel H-1, located at the southeast corner of Third and Cotanche Streets, the firm indicated in a letter to the commission that it planned to fill in and level out the lot and plant shrubbery for the purpose of beautification.

Commission real estate officer Kirby Boyd reported that the possibility of the accounting business utilizing the 1,450 square foot tract for expansion or for another entrance to their offices was also mentioned.

The small parcel is zoned for Office and Institutional use. It was pointed out.

In other business on a brief agenda, Boyd said that one parcel of land was acquired in the West Meadowbrook area since the July meeting and eight to ten parcels are under option. He added that one demolition was handled in Southside and the staff disposed of one parcel in Southside.

Faye Brewington, project manager for the Southside program, told commissioners that one relocation took place in West Meadowbrook since last month and two were handled in Southside, involving a business and a tenant family.

Three rehabilitation projects were completed during the period, according to rehabilitation officer Ed Cobb.

Cobb said that Section 312 loans, which have been awarded at low interest rates for home rehabilitations, are nearly depleted for the current fiscal year, ending Sept. 30. Congress has allocated new 312 funds to be available for the new fiscal year, beginning Oct. 1, it was noted.

Since 312 money is not allocated to cities in a lump sum but awarded on the basis of loan applications, Cobb said that he will be preparing as many 312 loans as can be processed for early submission.

The 312 money provides a popular funding source for rehabilitation projects since it is separate from the Community Development funds and actually offers a bonus opportunity for federal funds.

Kucinich To Try For Peace

CLEVELAND (AP) — Acknowledging that the attempt to recall him from office was "a very sobering process," Mayor Dennis Kucinich says he will try to make peace with his political enemies.

But Kucinich, who retained his office by just 275 votes in unofficial returns in a Sunday recall election, appeared to have some difficulty in shedding his brash image at a news conference Monday.

"I'm going to make initiatives for conciliation but I cannot compromise the basic economic policies which I am developing here in Cleveland," Kucinich said.

The 31-year-old mayor said he would try to live up to the expectations of those who opposed him.

"I didn't do anything wrong. I didn't even have a parking ticket to my name, yet they made it seem as though I had committed some kind of a Watergate," he said of the bitter recall drive. "The reason they did that is that they saw an opportunity to punish someone who was standing up for poor people and working people."

Election return analyses show Kucinich received 56.3 percent of the white vote and 28.5 percent of the black vote, a drop from last November's mayoral election when he received 64 percent of the white vote and 36 percent of the black vote.

The turnout in white wards averaged 48 percent, compared to an average of 33.3 percent in black wards.

An unofficial count of paper ballots by the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections showed Kucinich coming out ahead 60,308 votes to 60,033. The board began its official count Monday. One member said he did not expect the totals to change when it is finished, possibly today.

A recount could begin immediately if both sides waived a five-day waiting period.

Nyad Gives Up Swim Attempt

By Dan SEWELL
Associated Press Writer

BOARD "BEST REVENGE" (AP) — Diana Nyad, her mouth blistered and tongue swollen after encountering poisonous jellyfish, abandoned her swim before 11 a.m. EDT today and was helped aboard her escort boat to ride the rest of the way to Key West, the Coast Guard said.

She was reported about 85 miles southwest of Key West when she gave up, spokesman Ray Baker said.

Ms. Nyad, attempting to break the open-water swimming record, fell far short of her 103-mile goal.

Earlier, reports from the marathoner's operations manager had indicated that she had made substantially more progress than the estimate of the Coast Guard.

There was no immediate report on her physical condition after breaking off the swim.

Worried advisers at sea and in Key West considered calling off the swim after Ms. Nyad's tongue and lips began swelling and painful blisters formed inside her cheeks. But the swimmer persisted as she pushed on through a second night.

"She's aware of the medical problem," said operations manager Ken Gundersen as he monitored ship-to-shore radio reports in Key West. "She wants to keep going. They're going to let her."

Gundersen admitted he was concerned the stings might make Ms. Nyad's throat swell shut. He said that would end the swim. He was trying to find a doctor to go to the swimmer by helicopter early today and check her condition.

Gundersen said Ms. Nyad was 60 or 65 miles off the Cuban coast when last heard from Monday night — past the halfway point in the marathon. He said the party had altered its planned course as it tried to cope with waves, winds and the Gulf Stream current.

A second swimmer trying to set a record for open water swimming, Stella Taylor, 46, was reported within sight of shore lights early today in her attempt to swim through 100 miles of shark-inhabited waters from Bimini to Florida.

Ms. Taylor had reportedly stopped taking solid foods, switching to soft drinks only as she battled seasickness, but a crew member said she was "going just as strongly as when she left." The swimmer had to climb out of the water three times Monday because of a persistent shark that eventually was shot.

As Ms. Nyad churned steadily through the sea, the swelling became so severe that her tongue protruded from her mouth, Gundersen said. He said she apparently had been brushed by the poisonous tentacles of a jellyfish.

Her crew sent out an emergency call for peroxide and ammonia to counteract the stings.

The swelling was the second crisis in a struggle that began Sunday afternoon when the 28-year-old swimmer entered the water at the Cuban beach of Ortejaso, about 50 miles west of Havana.

She encountered vicious waves her first night out. Salt water washed into her mouth. She retched pitifully. By evening she was screaming at her attendants. "You can't start like this! You can't start like this!"

She was fed every hour. She vomited every hour. Then every half hour. "Why are they doing this to me on my swim?" she sobbed in the darkness. The crew talked of scaling the swim down to 60 miles, just enough to establish a record.

Then they talked of quitting. "I don't think she can hack another nine hours of this," said George Post, an operations manager. "She's crying. She's in bad shape."

The crew huddled frantically, then decided to steer west with the Gulf Stream current to allow Ms. Nyad to conserve energy. "We're making better than a knot and a half an hour — but we're going the wrong direction," said navigator Rich du Moulin.

But Ms. Nyad switched to the more restful backstroke and breaststroke, and the waves started coming at an angle, not head-on. She began making headway.

"I know I can make it now," she shouted.

With the dawn Monday she began keeping down her meals of chicken, yogurt, water and peanut butter.

"Maybe we have a chance," said du Moulin.

ECU Aids Deaf Drama Group

ECU News Bureau

Seven representatives of the East Carolina University Program for Hearing-Impaired Students participated in a three-day workshop at Manteo conducted by members of the National Theatre of the Deaf.

ECU participants were staff members Michael Ernest and Ruth Aleskovsky, faculty member Preston Sisk, sign language interpreter Debbie Parvin, drama student Tony Medlin and sign language students Deen Reynolds and Mary Jane Sisk.

Workshop sessions were held at Manteo's Waterside Theatre, where the outdoor drama "The Lost Colony" is based. The event was sponsored by the Lost Colony Professional Theatre Workshop and featured presentations by performers Ed Waterstreet Jr. and Linda Bove and a National Theatre of the Deaf interpreter, Ms. Bove regularly appears on the children's television program "Sesame Street."

Participants studied dramatic interpretation and "sign-mime," a combination of mime skills, improvisation and sign language communication.

The ECU Program for Hearing-Impaired Students provided sign language interpretation for a spring ECU Playhouse production of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream." More such collaboration between the Program and the Playhouse is planned for the coming season, said Ernest, director of the ECU Program for Hearing-Impaired Students.

"In addition to the academic services we provide for our deaf students, we intend to develop more fully the involvement of both hearing and deaf persons in drama for the deaf," he added.

Since ECU expects to double its number of deaf students enrolled this year, more sign language interpreters will be needed, Ernest said.

Pitt YRC To Host Meeting

The Pitt County Young Republicans Club has been selected to host the statewide Young Republican Platform Convention in October, according to club chairman Jackie Speight.

"This will be the first time such a meeting has been held in this area," he noted.

According to Speight, Greenville was selected to host the convention after several sites across the state were reviewed by the executive board of the N.C. Federation of Young Republicans.

During the October 6 and 7 session, Young Republicans will develop their stand on state political issues for the coming year.

"We are a young club," Speight said, "and we worked hard to get this platform convention here because we thought it would help develop interest in our club and because we want members across the state to see our community."

Speight urged members and other interested persons to attend a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Arlington Boulevard office of Home Savings and Loan, where plans for the platform convention will be discussed.

Persons wishing further information may call Speight at 756-2695 or Young Republican vice-chairman Holly Harris at 758-6078.

Fresh Strip, Believed To Be PCB, Found Along 6-Mile Stretch

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A fresh strip of oily liquid, believed to be the latest in a series of PCB spills on the state's roadways, was discovered Monday afternoon along a six-mile stretch of N.C. 42 near Sanford.

According to state Highway Patrol Capt. O. R. McKinney, the new spill was discovered along a section of road already posted with chemical contamination warnings. He said the new spill is about two feet wide.

McKinney said officials suspect the spill is related to the previous spills. He said the strip has not been chemically tested.

A tanker traveling the state's highways at night is suspected of polluting more than 250 miles of the state's roadways with toxic PCBs, or polychlorinated biphenols. Officials said that until Monday, no new spills had been reported in nearly a week.

Monday's spill was discovered just as state environmental officials were meeting to try to decide how to dispose of the contaminated soil in the spills. The officials, along with representatives of the Environmental Protection Agency, met in public and then held a private session, but failed to come up with a final proposal for disposing of the thousands of gallons of PCBs.

Robert Carter, head of the water quality division of the state Department of Natural Resources and Community Development, said officials were considering digging one to three inches into the soil in areas where PCB contamination is above the tolerable level of 500 parts per million.

"We have reached the point where something needs to be done," Carter said at the meeting.

Carter said if the soil is removed, a large area of state-owned land would be needed for storage. He said no storage sites have been selected yet.

But officials said they were also considering placing activated charcoal on the spills instead of digging up the sites. Carter said the charcoal would "fix" or bind the PCBs, keeping it on the surface and preventing it from being washed away. Carter said the charcoal treatment would slow the migration of PCB particles but would not decontaminate them.

Two Wrecks Yesterday

An estimated $1,550 property damage resulted from two traffic mishaps investigated by Greenville Police yesterday.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 4:06 p.m. collision at the intersection of Memorial Drive and N.C. 33, involving cars driven by Clifton Earl Wooten of Route 2, Ayden, Annie Carolyn Ruffin of Route 1, Grimesland, and Willie Lee Knox Jr. of Winterville.

Investigators, who charged Knox with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety, estimated damage at $300 to the Wooten car, $350 to the Ruffin vehicle and $400 to the Knox car.

Cars driven by Madlen Sutton Jackson of 2123 South Village Dr. and Sandra Darlene Hendrix of 3103 Tucker Dr. collided about 7:55 a.m. at the intersection of Line Avenue and Chestnut Street.

Investigators set damage to the Jackson car at $200 and placed damage to the Hendrix vehicle at $300.

Linda Benner Weds Michael L. Roberson

RALEIGH — In a double ring ceremony performed in Hillyer Memorial Christian Church, Linda Susan Benner became the bride of Michael Lee Roberson Saturday at 3 p.m.

The Rev. Donald C. Brewer, pastor of the bride, performed the ceremony assisted by the Rev. Willis W. Wilson of Winterville, pastor of the bridegroom.

The couple exchanged their vows before an altar of ferns, palms, candelabra and baskets of white and blue carnations.

A program of wedding music was presented by Lewis Briun of Raleigh, organist, and Paul Conway Sr. of Raleigh, who sang "It Seems I've Always Loved you" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde H. Benner Sr. of Raleigh, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney L. Roberson of Greenville.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents, and escorted by her father. She wore a gown of white silk organza with Venise and cluny lace. The gown featured full bishop sleeves with lace appliques and lace and pearls at the cuffs. The fitted bodice with high neckline was formed by the lace with seed pearls. The empire waistline flowed into a full A-line skirt and attached chapel length train that had a flounce with a three tiered cluny lace border.

Her matching headpiece was attached to two tiers of silk illusion veil edged at waist length in cluny lace. She carried a formal cascade bouquet of white and light blue carnations, baby's breath and red roses with white streamers. She wore an heirloom gold locket.

Miss Linda Oliver of Raleigh was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Libby Roberson, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Penny Benson of Raleigh, Miss Cynthia Edwards of Henderson, cousin of the bridegroom, Miss Linda Blackwell of Greenville, Miss Debbie Stancil of Wilson, Miss Lynn Clark of Charlotte, Miss Janet Ramsey, Miss Kaye Holroyd and Miss Sharon Simmons, all of Raleigh.

The attendants wore formal length gowns of light blue qiana. The fitted bodice was gathered at the neckline to a low vee and was attached at the shoulder with two straps. The gathered empire waistline flowed into a full A-line skirt. A matching shawl edged with a ruffle was worn around the shoulders and tied in front. The maid of honor carried a white wicker basket filled with white roses. She wore a wreath of baby's breath in her hair. The bridesmaids carried three long-stemmed white sweetheart roses accented with baby's breath and white streamers. They wore sprigs of baby's breath in their hair.

The mother of the bride wore a formal length gown of ice blue chiffon over taffeta. The bridegroom's mother wore a formal length gown of off-white chiffon accented with hand-painted flowers. Each wore a corsage of white sweetheart roses and baby's breath accented with matching ribbons.

The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. L. L. Blake of Belhaven, chose a blue print floor length gown while her paternal grandmother, Mrs. J. S. Benner Sr. of Washington, wore a floor length gown of blue knit. The bridegroom's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Guy P. Wells of Henderson, chose a light blue floor length gown with a matching jacket. His paternal grandmother, Mrs. Matthew G. Roberson, also of Henderson, wore a floor length gown of shrimp chiffon over taffeta. Each of the grandmothers were remembered with corsages of white carnations.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and groomsmen were Kevin Willford of Greensboro and Wayne Clayton of Henderson, cousins of the bridegroom, Don McLawhon of Durham, uncle of the bridegroom, Chuck Benner and David Benner of Raleigh, brothers of the bride, Marty Holmes of Rocky Mount, L. A. Williams Jr., Phil Nichols and Dorsell Ward, all of Greenville. The wedding was directed by Mrs. Mary Jo Harris.

For a wedding trip to Williamsburg, Va., the bride changed into a multicolored print sundress and matching accessories with her mother's corsage. The bridal couple will live in Greenville.

The bride attended ECU and was a member of Delta Zeta Sorority. She is a student at Davidson County Community College. The bridegroom is a graduate of ECU and was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

The parents of the bride entertained at a reception following the ceremony in the church fellowship hall.

After the first traditional slice was cut by the bridal couple, the four tiered cake was served by Mrs. Bobbie Benson and Mrs.

Wilma Resesp, aunts of the bride. Punch was poured by Mrs. James Edwards, Mrs. Harold Clayton, Mrs. Bobby Wells and Mrs. Hal Bittick, aunts of the bridegroom. Mrs. Don McLawhon, aunt of the bridegroom, presided at the register. Miss Angela McLawhon and Miss Melodie Edwards, cousins of the bridegroom, assisted in serving.

The bride's portrait was displayed on a table covered in white satin.

A rehearsal dinner was held Friday evening honoring the bridal couple given by the bridegroom's parents. A bridesmaids luncheon was held Friday at the Velvet Cloak Inn given by the bride's parents. Each of the attendants were remembered with a gift from the bride.

Chantilly lace bordered the hemline. Her long veil was bordered in lace and was attached to a matching Camelot cap.

Her flowers were a cascading arrangement of white sweetheart roses, pixie carnations, baby's breath and greenery.

Figures Show A Better Year

Most recent U. S. Department of Agriculture figures confirm a bumper tobacco crop for 1978. The fluecured crop is now estimated at 1.2 billion pounds which is an increase of six percent over 1977. There is expected to be a yield of 2,033 pounds per acre for flue-cured tobacco. In 1977 the figure was 1,917. The Eastern North Carolina belt will show a large increase — from 346,035,000 pounds in 1977 to 409,200,000 in 1978.

Not only is there an increase in pounds of tobacco in the East, but quality is also up from last year. There are still things to concern the tobacco farmer this year, however. Daily rains could have a late effect on quality and harvesting of tobacco. The growers are also watching prices being paid on the markets for any signs of weakening from the strong opening prices. All-in-all though the USDA figures indicate a better than average year for tobacco.

Waste Disposal System Should Be Used

A garbage bag cutting ceremony cutting last week signified that the county solid waste disposal plan is underway. Some 21 such sites are to be established around the county for the convenience of rural citizens. The sites should be used — not only because the law requires that trash be disposed of properly, but also because it is good citizenship to do what is necessary to maintain a clean environment.

THIS AFTERNOON State's Wish Book

By BILL NOBLITT
(First of Two Articles)
RALEIGH—Department chiefs in the administration of Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr. are now busily dreaming up ways to spend more money to buy more goodies for their various operations. The price tag is running into hundreds of millions.

growth, crime fighting, helping children and the elderly, and promoting state-local partnerships.

No Hysterics
He is telling his people not to back off on commitments because of "hysteria" over Proposition 13—the famous California taxpayers revolt—but to come up with plans that can be financed without any tax increases. In fact, say intimates, he has a tax cut in the back of his mind if at all possible.

Here are some of the more expensive and interesting things agency heads are wishing for. Some may be proposed, and some may not. It is, after all, just a shopping list.

Commerce Secretary D. M. (Lauch) Faircloth would like to finance a big push to bring meat packers, food processors and freezers, and other related operations to North Carolina, then campaign for the state's farmers to produce the goods for the food company kitchens. Two new airplanes and a twin-engine helicopter would join the state's air force as additional transportation for the governor and Faircloth's own industry recruiters.

A special division of the Commerce Department would be nice, to help smaller communities across the state zero in on recruiting capital intensive, high technology, high-wage industry.

BILL NOBLITT

And now, with manufacturing taking firm hold across the state, Faircloth thinks it is time to go after the white-collar jobs: non-manufacturing corporate and regional headquarters, warehousing, and research are gaining prominence.

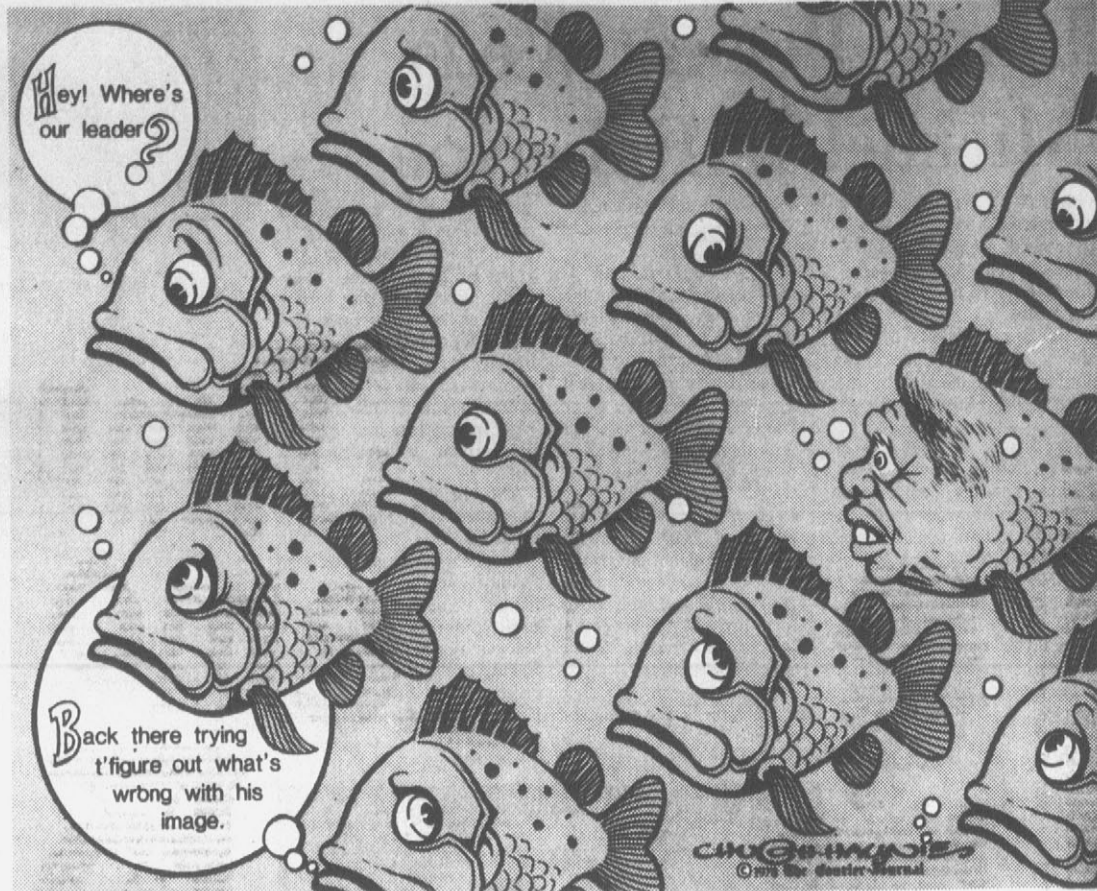

Correction—Secretary Amos Reed is already overseeing this state's most expensive and progressive prison construction activity ever—more than $83 million including a new $27 million Central Prison in Raleigh for the maximum security criminal.

New Prisons
But there's more to be done, on his list: three more new prisons costing about $18.5 million. Plans aren't firm, but it is obvious that a new Women's Prison in the western part of the state is critical; a major medium and maximum security prison in the central or western Piedmont is high in demand; and another modern facility for young prisoners is in demand both to meet the need and to replace the prison near Raleigh which will be displaced by the North Carolina Art Museum now under construction.

Special prison facilities for the elderly and the chronically sick are in the wish book, as are expanded trade and vocational training facilities in a joint program with the Department of Community Colleges.

Prison Enterprises is the agency which runs a dozen or more plants in which inmates produce paint, soap, food goods, clothing, and a variety of consumer items. Plans are on the board to expand that operation even if it means going into competition with private industry in order to provide real-world job experience for the prisoners.

Personalities, Politics

A recent study from the Historical Research Foundation confirms a conclusion that less scholarly analysts reached a long time ago: Politics can be a wacky business.

Wacky in this sense: In congressional elections, and in many other areas also, things that theoretically ought to matter simply don't matter. At least, they don't matter decisively. And the corollary proposition is that things that shouldn't greatly matter in a representative form of government often make all the difference in the world.

Those of us in the pundit business put great store by issues. Public opinion pollsters do the same thing. Such diverse outfits as Americans for Democratic Action and the American Conservation Union are forever drawing up neatly tabulated box scores of how members of Congress are hitting or erring. Because we commentators tend to get all wrought up about national health insurance, aid to education and the Equal Rights Amendment, we fondly suppose the voters are equally concerned with these issues. Well, they're not.

The Historical Research Foundation set out to study some apparent inconsistencies in the House of Representatives. Directors of the project first identified 16 congressional districts in which voters apparently had acted in some inexplicable way. A presumptively liberal district had elected a conservative, or vice versa. A team of interviewers undertook to find out why these anomalies had occurred. In the end, the researchers settled upon six districts for intensive analysis. Their findings would make a political scientist cry.

What matters most is not a congressman's voting record. It's his style. Is he friendly? Energetic? Accessible? Does he have a nice smile? Does he answer his mail? Against these considerations, party labels pale into insignificance. Political philosophy matters little. Did the nice young congressman get Uncle Joe's Social Security straightened out? Did he look after LeRoy's benefits under the GI Bill of Rights? Did he send us the baby book?

Two factors have replaced many of the old, rational reasons for supporting a particular candidate. One factor is personality; the other is constituent services.

For a specific example, consider the Second District of Colorado. It is a

Liabile To The Voters

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)—State and local political leaders worried about rebellious property taxpayers may be able to take out Proposition 13 insurance by keeping rates down and leveling with the voters.

A federal advisory panel suggests that kind of action will at least minimize the chance that other states will face the drastic tax rollbacks and restraint ordered by California voters.

Californians ordered a $7 billion property tax reduction when they approved Proposition 13, which also requires two-thirds majorities in any future votes to impose new state or local taxes.

The Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations says it is unlikely that many other states will take action that drastic.

But an analysis published by that panel of congressmen, governors, mayors and state legislators suggests that there are likely to be new restrictions on state and local tax and spending powers because of the shock waves from California.

The study by John Shannon and Carol S. Weissert, two commission staff members, calls for change aimed at making elected officials clearly accountable for decisions on taxes and spending.

"By so doing, expenditure growth rates can be slowed down without doing violence to the concepts of representative government, majority rule and fiscal flexibility," they say.

In many areas, the property owner can't figure out whether the assessor, the school board, the city council or some other agency is responsible for raising his taxes. Congress and the state legislatures enact new programs that cost many, but leave it to other levels of government to pay the bills.

The study acknowledges the defects of the property tax but says that as the one major revenue source for local Willard T. Kyzer, who was recently selected to serve as executive secretary of the reorganized Greenville Chamber of Commerce, was expected to arrive in the city tonight and take up his duties tomorrow morning.

The new secretary met officials of the Greenville association in Raleigh today where they had gone to attend the hearing on the Atlantic Coast Line's petition to abandon several passenger trains, including the one operating between Weldon and Kinston. The Chamber of Commerce was organized some time ago, with J. Nat Harrison being named president. A committee was later named to decide on a secretary and Kyzer was selected.

Following a collision this morning between a pedestrian who lives near Greenville on the Falkland road, and a rider on a bicycle who delivers groceries, Chief of Police George Clark said hereafter all bicycles would have to have bells, and if ridden at night, lights.

The female pedestrian suffered a broken hip and is confined to Pitt General Hospital.

THE INSIDE REPORT

Carter's Tax Follies

By ROWLAND EVANS
and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — President Carter's tortuous tax course has been guided by a mixture of innocence and ideology, a fact confirmed the morning of Aug. 11 when a high-ranking Treasury official told a colleague that the bill passed by the House the previous night was really not so bad.

That not-so-bad bill had been quixotically opposed by the president in another demonstration of impotence. Innocently, Mr. Carter and principal aides have consistently misjudged the tax temper of Capitol Hill. Ideologically, he has insisted on using the Internal Revenue code as a device for the redistribution of wealth.

The White House decision to fight an unwinnable battle with precious little at stake was the capstone of the Jimmy Carter tax follies. At any time up to a few weeks ago, he could have compromised to get a better bill from his standpoint than the one he unsuccessfully pursued on the House floor Aug. 10.

The resulting damage so far has been localized: further decline of presidential influence on Capitol Hill and unintended revival of the conservative coalition in the House. If Mr. Carter persists in the same course all the way to a veto, still threatened by the White House, the political consequences would be fundamental and severe.

Caught in the middle has been Treasury Secretary W.

Michael Blumenthal, operating under stresses felt by few predecessors in his famous office. While he has shared the president's innocence about what can be passed in Congress, he has waged a losing battle against ideological rigidity in the White House.

Blumenthal was tardy, but well ahead of the still uncomprehending White House, in appreciating the congressional groundswell for capital gains tax relief. His recommendation that the White House come to terms with the capital gains proposal sponsored by Republican Rep. William Steiger of Wisconsin only confirmed the wrong-headed contempt of senior Carter aides that Blumenthal lacks true grit in charging the barricades.

An obvious compromise was at hand. In return for his amendment, Steiger was willing to deliver Republican support for a few Carter tax reforms which otherwise were stillborn. Blumenthal, interested in lowered capital gains rates to induce capital formation, was ready to bargain. "If Mike had been given the power to negotiate," a senior congressman told us, "we would have had a bill weeks ago." But this secretary of the treasury was denied authority to commit his administration.

The reason is the White House mindset: opposition to any tax proposal providing more relief for rich than poor. But that would be true of any conceivable incentive for capital formation. While domestic policy aide Stuart Eizenstat is widely blamed for inspiring this Catch-22, the real instigator is Jimmy Carter.

That became clear June 22 when three senior Democrats on the House Ways and Means Committee — chairman Al Ullman of Oregon, Dan Rostenkowski of Illinois and Joe Waggoner of Louisiana — visited Mr. Carter at the White House. In response to their plea for compromise, the president would not budge. That was the point of no-return for Ullman to get his own way.

To the editor:
I recently had some work done... and the service was excellent. It is so rare nowadays that I was reminded of an article I read recently. It said:
When you get excellent service somewhere... or buy a product that stands up well and works better than advertised... do you appreciate it??
You should... because that product was made, or the service delivered, by people who care. We need more like them. One of the problems we face today is too many people who don't care. They are fouling up our lives with products that don't work right and service that doesn't deserve the name.
This is the age of new automobiles that have to go back to the dealer two or three times before everything works, of expensive appliances that lose knobs like cheap toys, of sales people who act as if they were doing the customer a favor, of waiters who keep people waiting, of letters that take a week to go three blocks and of repairmen who take two or three weeks to get something fixed.
This is the age of too many people who don't care about anything but the paycheck. If you're proud of your work, if you're proud of your product or service, if you're giving your customers their money's worth... you've got a right to expect the same in return. More importantly, stop to appreciate it and say the magic words... thank you!

Pension Fund Owners Pessimistic

BY JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The people who run the nation's employee pension funds, which constitute the biggest single category of stock ownership, are pessimistic about the economy's immediate future.

Their mood is revealed in a soon to be released survey showing that fund trustees, managers and advisers believe that:

- Interest rates will continue to rise and the inflation rate will not decrease during the remainder of 1978.
- A recession will occur some time before the end of 1980.
- Unemployment will fail to decline during the rest of the year.
- The nation's investment climate is not likely to improve prior to the end of 1978.

The assessment has a direct impact on the stock market, since pension funds in 1975, the latest year of official figures, owned more than $100 billion of the $685 billion of New York Stock Exchange shares.

Because of this investing power — no other domestic category had even half that amount — the investment mood of pension fund personnel has to some degree the element of a self-fulfilling prophecy.

Asked if inflation would weaken by the end of the year, 88.2 percent said no. Some 65.7 percent said a recession would occur by 1981. Nearly 60 percent felt unemployment would not decrease in the second half.

Slightly more than half — 51.1 percent — said the climate for investments would fall to improve during the second half of 1978.

A breakdown of survey results, however, shows that investment counselors, as distinguished from fund actuaries, trustees, attorneys and consultants, were more optimistic about the investment climate.

The survey, by the International Foundation of Employee Benefit Plans, found 55.6 percent of counselors, those directly involved in investment choices, felt the atmosphere would improve in the second half.

Simultaneously, however, 88.9 percent of the counselors said a recession was likely by the end of 1980, and 66.7 percent said interest rates would continue to rise in the second half of this year.

The latter opinion contrasts with views expressed lately by securities analysts that the peak of high interest rates already has been reached. That view is credited with recent stock market strength.

The results were obtained in the first two weeks of July by surveying a representative panel of 250 personnel of private pension funds with assets ranging from under $1 million to more than $20 million.

The foundation, based in Brookfield, Wis., is the largest membership organization in the field of employee benefits. Established in 1954, it claims 19,000 high-level fund personnel as members.

Strength For Today

THE GOAD OF RETRIBUTION

In oriental countries a goad or sharp pointed stick used to be—and sometimes still is—attached to the front of plows. If the oxen drawing the plows begin to kick, their efforts are not only futile but painful. The plowman does not have to punish a stubborn ox; the ox punishes himself.

So it is with the spiritual universe of which we are a part. Retribution does not come upon us when we offend against the moral law; retribution is built into the moral law. It is part of it, just as the goad was a part of the ancient plow.

When we try to kick against the moral law, and to transgress it, we experience about the same thing as the oxen of ancient times experienced. And this is not because God is angry with us and has reached down to punish us. The moral law is equipped with a goad which automatically punishes us if we kick against it.

What do you say to your customers when you have to increase prices?

When someone raises the price of lemons, someone else has to pay more for lemonade. And no matter how much you value your customers—and no matter how much you hate to increase their expenses—if you're in charge of the lemonade stand, you have to raise your prices. You may not like it, but that's inflation. It's that way with electricity. Prices for the fuels needed to generate electricity are still climbing, and nobody in Virginia has to buy more of those fuels than Vepco. Add to that the rising costs of financing and constructing new power plants, and you've got the inevitable. Price increases.

Conservation really does help. And Vepco will continue to fight for a reliable and affordable supply of electricity. We'll continue to point out the need for construction of new power plants as long as the need is there. And we'll continue to strive for a reliable, economical and balanced use of fuels. Of course, that doesn't mean those unwanted increases will just go away. But it does mean they'll be kept as low as possible. And in these inflationary times, that in itself is some encouragement.

New On The Job

Ray Malavasi, former Los Angeles Rams offensive coordinator, is on the job Monday as head coach issuing instructions during a practice session at the team's training camp in Fullerton, Calif. Malavasi Has Background In Grid Success

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — His years of playing and coaching experience under Vince Lombardi, Red Blaik, Murray Warmath and Chuck Knox — and a few months under George Allen — have given new Los Angeles Rams Coach Ray Malavasi a deep background in winning football.

Malavasi, a stocky, squashednose former college lineman, has been coaching 23 years. Most were in assistant roles, except for 12 games as interim head coach of the Denver Broncos of the American Football League in 1966, before the AFL was merged into the National Football League.

"You pick up aspects of philosophy from different coaches under whom you work," the 36-year-old Malavasi said Monday before directing his first Rams practice at their California State University-Fullerton, training camp. He became head coach Sunday when Allen was suddenly fired.

Allen was coach of the Rams from 1966-70 and coach and general manager of the Washington Redskins from 1971-77. He had just two losing preseason games in his return to Los Angeles before being discharged by Rams owner Carroll Rosenbloom.

Malavasi was defensive coordinator for the Rams the last five years with Knox as head coach. Under Allen, Malavasi switched to offensive coordinator and offensive line coach, jobs he had held before with other pro teams.

"We're going back to the defensive system we've used the past five years," Malavasi said Monday. The defense he directed played a major role in five consecutive divisional championships under Knox.

"We have a veteran team that has been successful with one system," he said.

Tigers Are On A Hot Streak

FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The All-Star break traditionally denotes the halfway point of the season and — with all respect to tradition — the Detroit Tigers were just breaking even at that time with a 42-42 record. Since then, however, they've won 22 of 31 games and moved within a game of second place after falling within three games of sixth.

"They're hot, but they're good," said Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog after the Tigers bombed the Royals 11-2 Monday night for their eighth victory in nine games. "These are the kinds of nights you'd like to hide."

Detroit sent rookie Rich Gale scurrying for shelter in just 313 innings, snapping his sixgame winning streak and handing the Royals their fourth loss in five games. The Tigers scored three runs in each of the first three innings to back a nine-hitter by Milt Wilcox.

"If you can find anything encouraging about an 11-2 loss, it's that my arm didn't hurt," said Gale, 13-4, rocked for five runs and eight of Detroit's 17 hits.

Wilcox, 9-8, hadn't pitched since July 20 because of tightness in his arm.

Before the respite, he said, "My arm was tired." But Monday night, "There was no time when I didn't feel loose."

In the other AL games, the New York Yankees beat the Baltimore Orioles 4-1; the Milwaukee Brewers upended the Boston Red Sox 4-3; the Cleveland Indians nipped the Minnesota Twins 4-3 and the Texas Rangers trimmed the Chicago White Sox 4-3.

The Tigers accepted eight walks off Gale and two relievers in cruising past the Royals. Catcher Milt May led the way with three hits, two walks and two runs batted in while six other Detroit players delivered one tally apiece.

Yankees 4, Orioles 1
Mickey Rivers scored the first run and drove in the winner, while Graig Nettles added a two-run ninth-inning homer to carry New York past Baltimore.

Brewers 4, Red Sox 3
Solo homers by Jim Wohlford and Sal Bando helped Milwaukee beat Boston for only its second victory in 10 games. The Red Sox collected 13 hits off Lary Sorensen and two relievers, but stranded 11 runners and had one thrown out at the plate in the fourth inning.

Indians 4, Twins 3
Gary Alexander cracked two run-scoring singles while Sid Monge and Jim Kern combined for 32-3 innings of shutout relief as Cleveland ended a fivegame losing streak by snapping Minnesota's four-game winning streak.

Rangers 4, White Sox 3
Jim Sundberg's two-run single capped a four-run Texas fifth after the Rangers had broken up a no-hit bid by Chicago's Francisco Barrios. The triumph was the ninth in 10 games for the Rangers; the loss was the 10th in 12 games for the White Sox.

Teams, Ref Added To NCAA Tourney

MISSION, Kan. (AP) — Eight teams and a third official are being added to the profitable NCAA basketball Tournament and Wayne Duke, chairman of the Division I Basketball Committee, admits he may be picking backshot out of his hide next March.

The NCAA Executive Committee, on the recommendation of the basketball committee, voted this week to enlarge the field from 32 to 40 teams, with 23 automatic qualifiers and 24 teams drawing first-round byes. The Sunbelt and Southland conferences were added to the 21 automatic qualifiers from this year.

The changes greatly expand the powers of the six-man basketball committee that Duke, commissioner of the Big 10 Conference, has chaired for two years.

The committee will meet at the NCAA's Mission headquarters in March to set the bracket and seed all teams, while choosing 17 at-large entries instead of 11 as in past years. While 16 byes will go automatically to the 16 conferences with the best won-loss tournament record the past five years, the committee will pick the other eight "based on their performance in the past season."

In another departure from the past, the committee will now be able to place two teams from the same conference in the same bracket.

One reason for the changes, Duke said, is "the higher caliber of college basketball being played. Last year there were 54 Division I teams with 20 or more victories and we could only get 24 of them in the tournament."

Another is the proliferation of post-season tournaments instituted by various conferences where the tournament winner, not the conference regular season champion, qualifies for the automatic invitation.

"A year ago eight of 11 postseason tournament winners were not the regular season champions," Duke said. This caused the committee to send Big Eight champion Kansas, Southwest Conference champion Arkansas and Atlantic Coast Conference champion to the West Regional.

Duke and Jernstedt said the addition of a third official will probably encourage most conferences and independents to follow suit this coming season.

The following conferences will receive automatic qualifications and first-round byes this year:

Atlantic Coast, Eastern Athletic Association, Southern and ECAC New England in the East Region; the Big 10, Sun Belt, Southeastern and Mid-American in the Midwest Region; Big Eight, Southwest, Metropolitan and Missouri Valley in the Midwest Region; and the Pac-10, Pacific Coast Athletic Association, Western Athletic and West Coast Athletic Conference in the West Region.

Rosenbloom: Allen Not Given Fair Chance

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "George is right. I didn't give him a fair chance," Los Angeles Rams' Owner Carroll Rosenbloom said Monday as he listed reasons for firing George Allen as coach of the National Football League team after two preseason game losses.

Rosenbloom said Allen, after running a one-man operation as coach and general manager of the Washington Redskins for the past seven years, wasn't able to operate in a situation where he "had to cooperate with other people — instead of telling them what to do."

Allen was fired Sunday and replaced by Ray Malavasi, who had been defensive coordinator of the Rams the past five seasons. Rosenbloom said that the hiring of Allen wasn't working out and it was better to make the change now than wait until the regular season.

"If we had won those two exhibition games," Allen said, "or even if we'd won one of them, this wouldn't have happened."

"You'd give a coach, even a new coach, more than two games," said the 56-year-old Allen, who never had a losing season in 12 years as a head coach in the NFL.

Talking with reporters Monday when he came to clean out his desk at the Rams' regular season training base in Long Beach, Allen said that he was not bitter about the firing.

"The only way I know how to coach is to work hard, to be totally dedicated and to be totally committed," Allen said. "And I demand that approach of everyone (in the organization). They just weren't ready for this here."

Bucs' Healthy Dave Parker Paces Victory Over Cincinnati

By The Associated Press

Dave Parker is healthy again and that made the queasy Cincinnati Reds a lot sicker.

Parker, the defending National League batting champion, drove in three runs and Omar Moreno scored three to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 7-4 victory over the slumping Cincinnati Reds Monday night.

"I'm just swinging the bat real well right now," said Parker, whose average has climbed to .303 after dipping below the .290 mark only three weeks ago.

Parker is not only swinging better but he's finally getting over the effects of a collision with New York Mets catcher John Stearns that fractured his cheekbone and later forced him to wear a hockey goaltender's mask on the field.

"I think I should have a shot at another batting title and I'm known as a strong finisher," Parker said. "All I have to do is stay healthy."

Remaining healthy is something the Reds haven't done this season and it's beginning to show in the NL West pennant race.

"We haven't been scoring runs like we did in the past," said Pete Rose after going 0-for-4 as the Reds dropped their sixth game in the past eight outings. The loss also put them two games behind San Francisco.

"There's no way you can expect us to (score runs) when we've got Johnny Bench and Joe Morgan on the bench with injuries," Rose added.

In other NL games, Chicago blasted Atlanta 13-7 and Houston blanked St. Louis 6-0.

Parker's two-run opposite field homer in the second inning gave Pittsburgh a 5-0 lead off Paul Moskwa, 3-3. It was the 21st homer this season for Parker, matching his total for all of last season. He added a run-scoring single in the fourth.

Moreno doubled and scored a run in Pittsburgh's three-run first inning. He had a single in the second before Parker's home run and he singled and scored again in the fourth.

Cubs 13, Braves 7

Dave Kingman smashed three doubles and drove in three runs and Mike Vail added three hits, scored three runs and drove in a pair as Chicago routed Atlanta despite consecutive home runs by Gary Matthews, Jeff Burroughs and Bob Horner.

The Cubs' 13 runs and 16 hits were both highs for the year.

Astros 6, Cardinals 0

Art Howe drove in three runs with a solo homer and a two-run single to back the four-hit pitching of Tom Dixon as Houston blanked St. Louis and snapped the Redbirds' three-game winning streak.

Elrod Hendricks: A Rare Bird

By The Associated Press

It is unusual to find a batter who has survived 10 years in the major leagues with a career .219 batting average. But, then, Baltimore's Elrod Hendricks is a rare bird.

Officially, Hendricks is the Orioles' third-string catcher, but he does a lot more than warm the bench: he's coached, caught, cheered, pinch-hit, played first base and even put in a surprise pitching appearance this year.

But what Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver likes most about Hendricks is that he's a strong man in the clutch.

"Although he's mainly here as a coach, Ellie has been directly responsible for winning two or three games for us in the late innings this season," explained Weaver, adding, "I know I can count on him in a crunch — and a manager likes that."

Hendricks shines under pressure. He hit .304 during four Baltimore championship series and batted .364, including a game-tying homer, during in the 1970 World Series. And he showed his versatility last June with an unexpected turn on the mound during a certain International Incident when the Toronto Blue Jays whipped the Orioles 24-10. Although he never wants to repeat the experience, Hendricks pitched 21-3 innings of one-hit relief in his major league pitching debut and can now claim the team's lowest ERA—0.000.

"I was just lucky. Those 24 runs tired them out before they reached me," said Hendricks, laughing. "Besides I felt nude out there without my catching gear."

Clearly, Hendricks is an asset to the team. He admits he's never been an outstanding player. But he hustles. "I wouldn't have lasted this long if I had been the type to loaf around," said Hendricks, "but I've had my streaks and I've played with a winning club."

Hendricks never loafed during his nine years in the minors. He was baptized "The Babe Ruth of Mexico" after batting .298 and hitting 109 home runs in four seasons in the Mexican League. That's when Weaver first spotted him.

"Earl gave me my first break," said Hendricks, "and while I've been traded twice since 1968, I've always ended up with Baltimore. I never thought about getting out of baseball until last year with the Yankees when I had a few ups and downs. But I'm happy where I am now."

Weaver is happy, too, especially when an unfamiliar player strides to the plate. Hendricks, a walking Baseball Register, knows more ballplayers than most.

Portland Seeks Replacement

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Bill Walton's choice of the Golden State Warriors as the team he wants to join hangs on some big "ifs," say officials of the Portland Trail Blazers.

The biggest is if Golden State can produce a center the Blazers want to replace the National Basketball Association's most valuable player.

Walton's decision to play for Golden State was announced Sunday night, 10 days after the Blazers said they would try to trade the 6-foot-11 center at his request. Walton has one year left on his Blazers contract.

Harry Glickman, Portland

general manager, said Stu Inman, Portland's director of player personnel, had spoken earlier with Scotty Stirling, Warrior general manager. Glickman said, "We'll talk again tomorrow (Tuesday) with the Warriors."

Any financial compensation for Walton, said Glickman, would be a "fringe benefit." What the Blazers are looking for is a player or players — specifically, a center.

"They (The Warriors) don't have any centers we're interested in," Glickman said. "They'd have to go out and acquire one..."

"We'll give them a whole shopping list of names," he said. "We'll tell them what we're interested in and if they can deliver it we'll work something out and if not we won't."

Glickman didn't exclude the possibility of any agreement being a three-way deal. The Warriors still are owed compensation by Houston for Rick Barry.

Efen Herrera

Neither Side Appears Happy

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Placekicker Efen Herrera, who wanted $80,000 to play another season for the Dallas Cowboys, has been traded to the Seattle Seahawks, and neither side in the salary dispute is very happy about it.

Dallas Cowboy Vice President Gil Brandt said Herrera was traded for a draft choice. "It's not a franchise saver," Brandt said. "It's undisclosed, but not a high choice."

Herrera, coming off an All-Pro season, wasn't overjoyed.

"I can't say that I'm happy," he said. "I'm not really happy leaving the Cowboys in any way. I have nothing against the Cowboys at all. It was just a matter of getting market value in my contract. They weren't willing to pay it."

Herrera's agent, Bucky Woy of Dallas, was more optimistic. "You have to feel they (Seattle) want to pay that much," Woy said. "They are a high-class organization. If the Cowboys are telling them the facts, they know what they're getting into."

Another kicking client of Woy's, Ove Johannson, was included in Dallas' roster cut Monday, but Brandt said there was no vendetta involved. "Performance is all that counts," Brandt said.

The moves left Dallas with a pair of kickers. Rookie Jay Sherrill and veteran Skip Butler are the two kicking legs.

Stingley Improved

CASTRO VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Doctors say Darryl Stingley's condition has improved slightly, but they avoid any prediction on the future of the New England Patriots wide receiver who suffered partial paralysis in a crushing collision during a football game last weekend.

Officials at Eden Hospital declined to elaborate on their Monday evening statement that Stingley's condition had shown some improvement but they said "some degree of paralysis" still plagued the 26-year-old football player.

Stingley suffered a fracture of the cervical spine with some dislocation of vertebrae. His neurologist, Dr. Manard Pont, issued a statement Monday that said in part:

"There has been little change in the condition of paralysis which began at the time of the injury, with some motion of the right arm and sensation to a limited degree over the entire body."

Husband Calling

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Yelling "Ed-wiiiiiiiiin!" at the top of her lungs, Sharon Randolph took first place and a $75 prize for winning the third annual husband-calling contest at the Illinois State Fair.

As a crowd of 500 looked on Sunday, Mrs. Randolph, a 34-year-old mother of two from Waverly, Ill., outcalled her 12 competitors with threats, words of endearment and a little humor.

Women were judged on a 100-point scale in calling for husbands or husbands-to-be. They were given up to 50 points for loudness and clarity of call, up to 25 points for appeal, a maximum of 15 points for assurance and up to 10 points for originality.

Mrs. Randolph said she won second place in the contest two years ago and has practiced daily since then calling her husband for dinner.

Edwin, the object of all the shouting, said his wife might want to spend her prize money on a new set of lungs.

Hollywood, Records Discover Their Newest Star: Cheryl Ladd

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cheryl Ladd came here in 1971 to sing. Two flop records later, she tried acting. Last season, she got her big break in ABC's "Charlie's Angels" after Farrah Fawcett-Majors left it.

Last week, Billboard magazine's "Top 100" pop music chart said one tune, "Think It Over," was 48th in ranking and headed for greater popularity. The singer: Cheryl Ladd.

At 27, the pretty, blonde-haired Huron, S.D., native finally is succeeding in her original goal. She began singing while a tyke, then, after high school, toured in a band before coming here. Miss Ladd, lunching on fish in her trailer behind the 20th Century-Fox sound stage where her series is made, said the record companies "weren't breaking down my door."

"When I first came to L.A., the music was all hard acidrock groups or Joan Baez-Joni Mitchell."

She smiled and said she is of neither musical persuasion. Her bag simply is "pop," which in the case of her debut album for Capitol Records, "Cheryl Ladd," is of a melodic, gently rocking nature.

Those who don't know she began as a singer usually dismiss her as just another pretty TV star out posing as a vocalist, she concedes.

"When you tell people you've been involved in the music industry eight years and they've never heard of you, it's like saying you're an actor, an actress, to someone when you're not in a series."

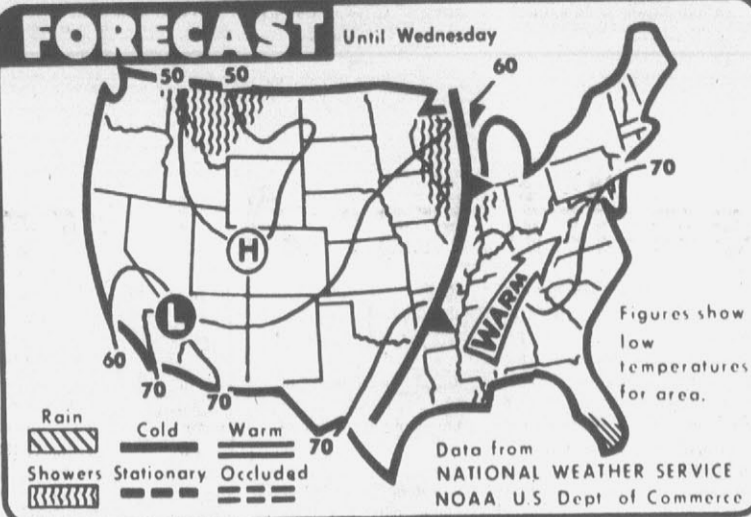

"They say, 'What have you done?'"

However, Capitol executives knew her work, she said, from the early Hollywood days when she cut a single record for them (the other single that flopped was for another label).

The "Charlie's Angels" exposure didn't hurt, either.

"If I were just coming to them off the streets, it would be a much different situation," she said. Not only would the interest be less, so would be her freedom in choosing material.

Some coups are simply matters of technique. But Gilles Cohen, a young math lecturer from Paris, devised a play on the spur of the moment which should rank high in the Bols Brilliancy competition of the Fifth World Olympiad.

Surely this was the way that Lucas Bols, founder of the House of Bols, invented some of his finest recipes 400 years ago.

North-South were a pair of Italian stars, and typical of their methods is to bid the shorter of two suits first. Thereafter, the bidding was normal and the contract, though light in terms of points, was sound enough because of the long suits that might have been developed.

Cohen made his normal lead of the jack of spades, and declarer won in dummy with the queen. A heart to the queen lost to the ace, and as the cards lie a club shift would have sealed declarer's fate. But West had no reason to suspect that his partner
