Reform Opponents Blamed As Blaze Takes 377 Lives

By PARVIS RAEIN
Associated Press Writer
TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The government blamed opponents of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's reforms for the arson fire that killed at least 377 persons in a movie theater in southwestern Iran, and the local police chief reported 10 suspects have been arrested.

An Iranian newspaper, in an unconfirmed report, said 430 died in the Saturday night blaze in Abadan, an oil-refinery city. The paper, Ettelaat, claimed 728 tickets had been sold for the show. It did not explain the holy month of Ramadan, discrepancy between the number killed and the number of tickets sold. The paper said only 200 of the badly burned bodies have been identified so far.

Officials said the toll stood at 377 killed and 10 injured. They said 20 to 40 persons escaped without injury.

Cinema Rex, in a working class section of the city was showing a Persian-language film and no Americans were believed among the victims.

Gen. Reza Razmi, the Abadan police chief, said "anti-reform radicals" splashed gasoline around the outside of the Cinema Rex and set it aflame Saturday evening. He named no particular group but said "provocative elements, and those who wear different masks to fight the Iranian revolution were responsible."

It was generally assumed that the arson was the work of ultra-conservative Moslem fanatics who oppose the shah's reform programs and also demand all public entertainment shut down during now in progress. Since Ramadan began Aug. 8, they have made bomb or arson attacks on movie houses, restaurants, night clubs, banks and private and public buildings.

The police chief said several of those arrested were carrying explosives when they were picked up. He said two employees of the movie house were among the suspects, and the owner also was arrested for "negligence," because to save money he did not heed police instructions to hire more attendants and guards.

All the country's major religious leaders except one issued condemnations of the massacre.

The silent exception was Ayatollah Khomeini, an exile in Iraq since 1963. He fled the country after campaigning against the shah's land reform program because it provided for the sale or lease to the peasants of the vast landholdings of the mosques. Since then his supporters have carried on an anti-shah campaign which in the past eight months has become increasingly violent and in which about 100 persons have been killed.

Police said the doors to the crowded theater had been locked as a protection against terrorists, and most of those inside were trapped. A survivor said many of the victims were trampled to death.

Gunshots Echo Again In Dealey Plaza For Tests

By TOM DeCOLA
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Dealey Plaza was sealed off and empty. No crowds packed the sidewalks. No motorcade sped along the streets.

Then gunshots cracked, from a rifle and a pistol, bullets slamming into sandbags as police marksmen positioned in the old Texas School Book Depository and on the nearby "grassy knoll" helped acoustics experts investigate the 1963 killing of President John Kennedy.

The re-enactment project was ordered by the House Select Committee on Assassinations after the recent re-examination of a police recording.

The recording, made accidentally during the assassination when an unidentified motorcycle officer's microphone stuck in the "open" position, seemed to indicate that four shots were fired.

The Warren Commission report claimed Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, fired three shots into the presidential motorcade. Experts generally agree that a fourth shot would mean another gunman was involved.

The Warren Commission had the motorcycle officer's tape during its investigation, but police spokesman Bob Shaw said it was only "recently" that the possible fourth shot was identified. "I can only guess that the reason might be because they didn't have the technology until recently," Shaw said.

An Italian rifle similar to the Mannlicher-Carcano that the Warren Commission said Oswald used to shoot Kennedy spat out the first shot at 7:10 a.m. The round struck one of three piles of sandbags placed at the approximate positions where Kennedy was hit.

More shots followed from the sixth-floor window from where Oswald is said to have fired.

Then a ninth shot was fired. Markedly lower in volume, it came from behind a fence at the rear of the knoll, a position that would have been in front of the motorcade.

Shaw later confirmed that marksmen were also firing a .38-caliber pistol from behind the knoll. Several theorists have claimed shots were fired from there during the assassination.

More than 50 microphones had been placed around the plaza by the Boston firm of Bolt, Beranek and Newman, the firm that analyzed the 18½-minute gap in former President Richard Nixon's White House tapes.

In all, more than 40 shots were fired in three separate programs as technicians changed the placement of microphones, generally tracing the motorcade route toward the "triple underpass." The entire project took more than six hours.

No one from the assassinations committee was present.

Dr. James Barger of the Boston company told reporters the recordings would be analyzed and the results turned over to the assassinations committee by Sept. 1.

Barger repeatedly refused to speculate about what might be heard.

Drug Advisor Won't Be Criminally Charged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A suburban prosecutor decided today not to file criminal charges against former White House drug adviser Peter Bourne for writing a prescription with a fictitious name.

Paul Ebert, the prosecutor in Prince William County, Va., where an attempt was made to fill the prescription, said, "I don't think Virginia law applies to a drug violation outside the state."

Bourne quit July 20 as President Carter's chief adviser on drug abuse just 36 hours after public disclosure that Bourne had given a prescription for the much-abused sedative Quaalude to Ellen J. Metsky, his assistant in the White House.

To keep secret the fact that the emotionally troubled aide was getting the powerful sleep inducing drug, Bourne wrote the fictitious name, "Sarah Brown," instead of Metsky's name on the 15-tablet prescription when he issued it July 7.

Seven Liquor Votes Are Set

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Voters will begin officially voicing their opinion on liquor by the drink next month when the first local referendums on the local option mixed-drink law are held.

September will see seven such elections on the law passed by the General Assembly in June. That law allows votes on whether or not to allow mixed-drink sales in restaurants and social clubs in counties and cities which have ABC liquor systems.

The first election will be in Charlotte and Mecklenburg county on Sept. 8. Four days later Southern Pines, Orange County and Black Mountain are scheduled to vote. On Sept. 20 Sanford and Louisburg will vote, followed by Dare County on Sept. 22.

Several other areas have announced they will vote on the matter after the new year.

Passage of the mixed-drink measure climaxed more than a decade of legislative battle over the issue. During that time, a bill was passed that permitted liquor sales in Mecklenburg County and in Moore County with its resort towns of Southern Pines and Pinehurst.

Mecklenburg approved mixed drinks 38,085 to 26,991 while Moore County said no by 5,649 to 3,525. Mecklenburg's efforts came to naught when the state Supreme Court ruled that local option bill unconstitutional because it did not apply equally to all counties.

A statewide vote was held on the issue in 1973. The Christian Action League helped engineer a defeat of better than two to one.

The new law passed in June in a mini-session that saw the bill die only to be resurrected. Under its provisions, restaurants which do more than half their business in food will be permitted to serve mixed drinks only while social clubs will be allowed to have both mixed drinks and brown bagging.

A commission headed by former Gov. Jim Holshouser recently completed public hearings on regulations for the mixed-drink sales, and is expected to have its recommendations for the state ABC Board by the end of August.

Three Arrested In Roadside Robberies

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Two young men and a young woman are scheduled to appear in Wake County Court today in connection with charges of murder, kidnapping and armed robbery in the slaying of a West Virginia man Saturday.

Terry Ann Hamm, 17, of Wake Forest; Bland Julius Hill Jr., 19, of Youngsville and Mike Reyes Llamas, 21, also of Wake Forest were arrested Sunday and charged in two incidents in which motorists pulled over to help what they thought was a young girl with car trouble but were ambushed by two armed men instead.

The three were each charged with three counts of kidnapping, four counts of armed robbery and one count of first-degree murder. Bond of $10,000 was set on each of the robbery and kidnapping charges, but no bond was set on the murder charges.

The three will appear in court to set a hearing date and to show probable cause, according to John T. Hall, Wake County assistant district attorney.

Hall said the district attorney's office would either go ahead with a probable cause hearing or go straight to the grand jury.

Wake County Sheriff's Deputy P.J. Bissette said the three were arrested without incident in Wake Forest. The arrests came after a Franklin County deputy recognized descriptions of suspects being sought as Miss Hamm and Hill, with whom the deputy was familiar, according to Franklin County Deputy Wesley Dean.

Dead after trying to help what he thought was a stranded motorist was Jerry Romine, 32, a high school teacher from Point Pleasant, W.Va. He was on his way with two friends from Point Pleasant to Nags Head, N.C., for a vacation. They pulled over to help a young girl who appeared to be stranded on N.C. 98 near the Wake-Durham county line.

Deputies said two masked men, armed with a sawed-off shotgun and a pistol, emerged from nearby woods and forced Romine's companions into the trunk of their car.

Romine was made to drive to a abandoned farmhouse where he was apparently shot. Deputies said his friends heard shots from inside the trunk after the car stopped. One shot was fired into the trunk, but it missed them both.

The two men, Richard Pickens and Roger Bumgardner, pried their way out of the trunk and found Romine lying near the car.

Law enforcement authorities said Romine was dead when they arrived at the scene.

In an earlier incident Saturday, George Ballentine of Raleigh was robbed by two armed men after he stopped to help a stranded young woman south of Raleigh. He was also locked in his trunk and got out through the back seat.

The fourth armed robbery charge against Miss Hamm, Hill and Llamas stemmed from that robbery.

Israeli Planes Hit Centers After Attack

By LARRY THORSON
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli planes attacked two Palestinian centers in Lebanon at dawn today in retaliation for a Palestinian grenade and submachine-gun attack on an Israeli airline bus in London less than 24 hours before.

The Palestine Liberation Organization said three guerrillas were killed and 14 were wounded in the Israeli attack on the Burj el Barajneh refugee camp on the south side of Beirut. But eyewitnesses said five guerrillas were killed.

The PLO communique said the village school in Damour, 11 miles south of the Lebanese capital, also was attacked, but there were no casualties there.

In the London bus attack, an Israeli airline stewardess and one of the Palestinian attackers were killed, and two other stewardesses and seven British bystanders were wounded. One of the injured stewardesses was in critical condition.

The Israeli air force struck back at daybreak.

"As a response to the terrorist attack on the El Al bus in London, Israeli aircraft attacked two terrorist bases in Lebanon this morning," an Israeli army spokesman said.

Two jets strafed and rocketed the refugee camp, a stronghold of Dr. George Habash's Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, and three others hit Damour, witnesses reported.

Palestinian spokesmen in Beirut claimed anti-aircraft fire hit one of the raiders, but the Israeli spokesmen said all planes returned safely.

Palestinian sources said Yasser Arafat, the chief of the Palestine Liberation Organization, ordered all civilians to evacuate refugee camps and other areas inhabited mostly by Palestinians.

It was the second time this month that the Israeli air force retaliated within hours for a Palestinian attack on Israeli civilians. A guerrilla base in southern Lebanon was hit on Aug. 3 after a bomb explosion in a Tel Aviv market killed a 71-year-old man and wounded 49 people.

A splinter offshoot from Habash's organization, the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine-Special Operations, claimed responsibility for the attack in London's swank Mayfair district, the first by Arab terrorists against Israelis in the British capital.

Four men opened fire as the bus carrying 21 El Al personnel pulled up outside the Europa Hotel, where the airline's crews stay during London stopovers.

Les Pearson, 37, who was having a noon drink at the crowded Barley Mow tavern next door, reported: "Suddenly a shower of bullets came through the window. They went down the line of bottles behind the bar like a scene from the Wild West. Everyone dived onto the floor."

The injured included drinkers sitting at tables outside the tavern.

The firing lasted two minutes.

One of the terrorists was killed when a grenade exploded while he was still holding it.

Police said they were looking for two other men.

PACIFIER REGULATIONS

I heard someone say at a party that the federal government is now regulating baby pacifiers. I can hardly believe this is true. J. B.

Yes, according to new regulations from the Consumer Product Safety Commission, the following must be true of all pacifiers manufactured: 1. Shields must be a certain size; 2. There must be at least two ventilation holds on the shields; and 3. Labels warning parents not to tie pacifiers around children's necks must be attached to the pacifier when sold.

According to a spokesman for the Consumer Product Safety Commission (1-800-638-2666), pacifiers have been found to be responsible for the deaths of at least eight infants between 1970 and 1975.

HOW TO HANDLE CONDEMNATION

It's a real shock when you're told that part (or all) of your property will be taken for a new highway, sewer line, high tension line or other public use. It's usually an even greater shock when the representative of the public utility, highway department of government tells you what they propose to pay.

Relax, and react rationally. Your property may be taken if it is really needed for public use but you must be compensated at "fair market value." If the initial offer is unacceptable, make an appointment to discuss the facts with your attorney. If he agrees with your position, he'll arrange for one or more Real Estate Appraisers to appraise the condemned property for you. With the facts they give him about "fair market value," he can represent you better in direct negotiation, at a preliminary hearing, or (if necessary) in a court action.

One caution - Have a clear understanding of the fees of attorney and appraisers before engaging them.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at BLOUNT & BALL REALTY CO. 201 E. Arlington Blvd., Greenville, Phone: 756-3000. We're here to help!

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Josip Broz Tito and Chairman Hua Kuo-feng embraced in front of the presidential palace today as the Chinese Communist Party chieftain arrived from Romania.

Tito, now 86, has not gone to the airport to greet a visitor since President Ford's arrival in 1975. Vidoje Zarkovic, president of the Montenegrin Republic, headed the newcomers at the airport, where 2,000 members of youth and folklore groups cheered and applauded.

The Yugoslav government gave Hua a gala welcome but hoped Moscow would not interpret his visit as an anti-Soviet gesture.

West European diplomats stress that the Yugoslavs do not seek to upset relations with Moscow and are expected to call on their Chinese guest to refrain from public anti-Soviet polemics.

"The Yugoslavs are in the delicate position of not wanting Moscow to interpret the visit as an anti-Soviet gesture, but at the same time they want them to understand that Yugoslav relations with China are very good," said one diplomat.

"And this is in full awareness of the very strained Sino-Soviet relations, and Yugoslavia's uncertainty over Moscow's intentions towards her. It is this aspect that gives Hua's visit a touch of drama."

The chairman of the Chinese Communist Party was coming to Belgrade for a week's official visit to the first Communist regime to escape from Soviet domination after a five-day visit to Romania, considered the maverick of the Warsaw Pact because it pursues a comparatively independent foreign policy.

The Soviet Union has expressed displeasure with Hua's trip, saying he is trying to drive a wedge between the Soviet Union and its allies.

BELVOIR — Pitt County deputies arrested a Rt. 1, Macclesfield man Friday night and charged him with the murder near here of 34-year-old William Douglas Barnes of Falkland.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that deputies charged Jesse Clarence Thigpen, 32, of Rt. 1, Box 230-AB, Macclesfield, in the shooting death of Barnes on Rt. 4, Greenville.

The sheriff said that Barnes died at the scene after being struck in the forehead by a blast from a .12 gauge sawed-off shotgun. The shooting occurred off Rural Paved Road 1403 just west of here, it was noted. Sheriff Tyson, who said that a shotgun was confiscated, reported that Thigpen was placed in Pitt County Jail without privilege of bond.

A hearing was scheduled for today, the sheriff said.

Economic Kits Given

The Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce will be giving out instructional kits to Greenville and Pitt County Schools that will aid in clearing misunderstandings about America's private economic system.

According to Orman Whichard, chairman of the Economic Education Committee, phase one of the kit, entitled "Economics for Young Americans," will be presented to the county schools this fall. Phase two of the instructional material was presented to Kay Whitehurst, director of secondary education for Greenville City Schools, Monday morning by Chamber President-Elect Jerry Powell.

The kits contain film strips, scripts, ditto sheets and teaching guides, all written by teaching professionals to further young people's understanding of basic economics. The national Chamber of Commerce aided in developing the material.

Local businesses provided money for the kits. The kits discuss such matters as "Profits at Work" and "Business Means Business about Ecology."

Over 650 Take Part In Program

Over 650 Pitt County students participated in the Library/Media Summer Program sponsored by the county Board of Education and the Community Schools Program.

Library/Media centers were open in 16 county schools four hours a day during the week featuring such activities such as reading, games, puppetry, drama, creative writing, arts and crafts.

Students had a chance to make their own puppets, write scripts and poetry, print a newspaper, visit public libraries and cook traditional dishes from countries they were studying, to name a few activities.

Students, teachers and parents were able to evaluate the summer program at the end of six weeks. According to their responses, the summer program met its objectives, which were as follows:

— To provide activities that would motivate children to want to read and use the Media Center.

— To enable more children to participate in a summer activity program because it was provided in rural areas as well as in towns.

— To provide fun-type activities that would reinforce what children learned during the school year.

— To provide experiences children are unable to participate in while in the academic setting.

— To expand the use of public school facilities during the summer.

Chancellor Choice Important

East Carolina University has recently had a search committee which went through the process of finding a new chancellor.

We think the results were good with the eventual selection of Dr. Tomas Brewer, who is now serving as chancellor.

ECU's sister institute Appalachian State University is currently going through the same process to choose a successor to Dr. Herbert W. Wey.

As is required, a public meeting was held with some interesting suggestions forthcoming.

A letter from an ASU administrator suggested that the committee not limit itself to someone with an earned doctorate. Dr. Robert Randall said, "demonstrated competence in upper level administration in education, business or government provides a much better basis for leadership than degrees earned."

Another professor said the new chancellor "should have charisma — a person who, when he gets up on the floor, gets people's attention."

Ability to obtain money was cited by one person.

"Quality and money are synonymous," it was said. A faculty member said the committee should guard against obtaining a "figurehead chancellor." The speaker was distressed by rumors the position might go to a "faded politician."

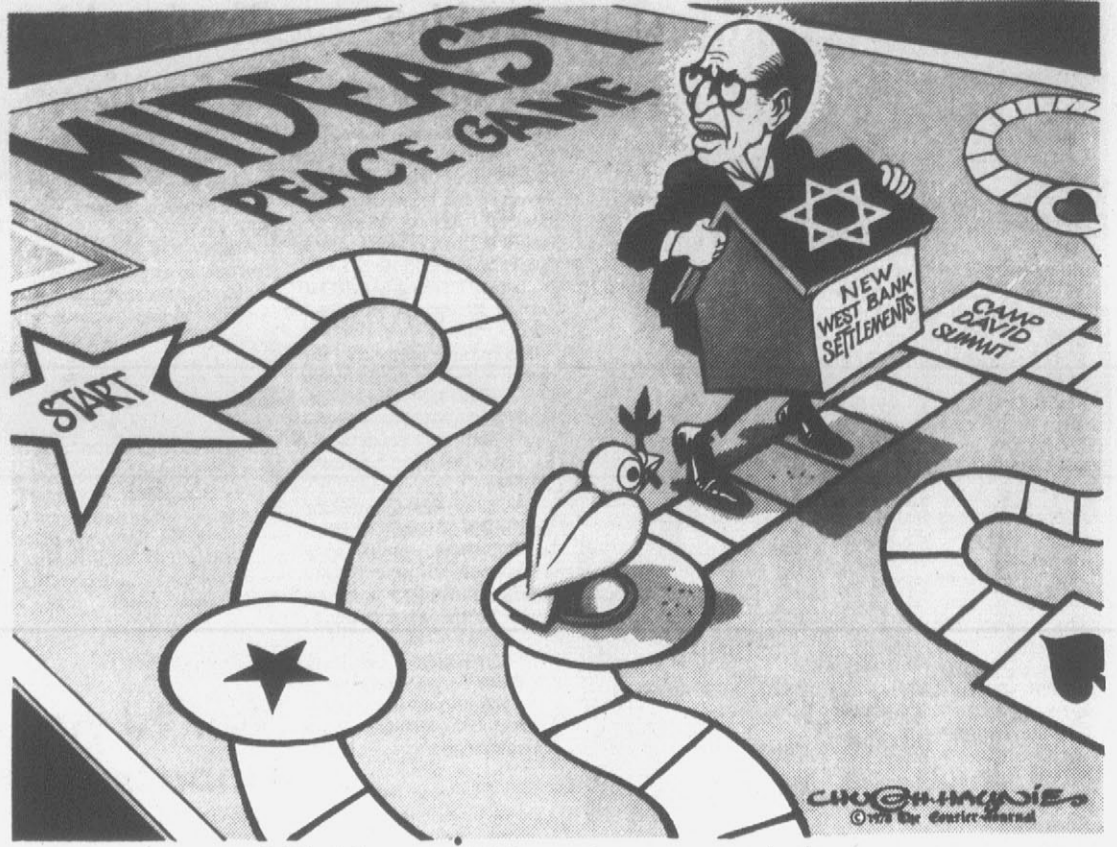

The committee chairman noted that no individual had been discussed specifically for the job and if anyone says "the deck is stacked, you can be sure it is not. It would be a lot easier on us if it were stacked."

The mayor of Boone urged the committee to choose someone who would "fit comfortably into the lifestyle here."

Another speaker urged the committee to find someone who would appoint and promote women.

Well, we don't envy the Appalachian committee and we are glad the work has been completed here.

It is clear that at Boone, as well as Greenville, the person chosen to head the university is all important to the faculty, students, the community and, indeed, the entire state.

"All right, aready! I promise not to put it down, 'least not until after the next move."

Tobacco Barn Fires Cost Farmers

A photo of a burning barn should remind tobacco farmers to exercise extra care as they cure tobacco at this time of the year.

There is a considerable investment in the tobacco and in the barn itself, and often loss by fire is not totally covered by insurance.

Tobacco barn fires have been frequent in our area during the curing season. With extra care farmers may avoid seeing their investment go up in flames.

THIS AFTERNOON Study Backs Off

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—Stricter local hiring and firing procedures to bring more quality to the schools, and a suggested backing away from local bond issues for school construction were originally included among recommendations prepared by the Governor's Commission on Public School Finance.

But as the study group came down to the wire, it decided to eliminate those significant suggestions—not because the proposals aren't worthy of consideration, but because they simply don't fit into the overall subject of the particular commission's assignment.

Despite elimination of these two items, several members of the commission, which includes legislators, educators, local governmental officials, said they hope similar reforms will be suggested from other sources.

The commission, chaired by State Senator Ed Renfrow, D-Johnston, has been struggling for more than a year with the major assignment: making educational opportunity available more equally to all children in North Carolina whether they live in a wealthy, urban area or an isolated, rural section.

Major Items

Given that central charge, the commission members felt that local bond issues and teacher certifications were beyond their scope.

Nonetheless, what the study found about the two subjects and the resulting preliminary suggestions regarding them are important to the future of education in the state and ought to be reviewed.

The study found that with declining birth rates and resultant drops in school enrollment, the state now has a surplus of licensed teachers amounting to some 1,100 per year. "School boards have the opportunity in this era, as never before to turn their attention to quality rather than simply quantity of teaching force," the preliminary report suggested.

Till now, most local school systems have been running hard in building, providing equipment, and hiring just to stay abreast of the increasing numbers of students. With that pressure now easing, the study commission originally summed the situation up this way:

"Properly exercised selective hiring and retention of the most able teachers will be a great asset to the productivity of the schools."

Speaking of the subject of financing local school construction, the commission retained recommendations that the state regularly issue bonds to provide a "reasonable share" of between 25 and 40 percent of the cost of school construction, that the State Board of Education keep tabs on school inventories and conditions to help keep the public and legislators informed, and that a statewide bond issue for school construction be proposed soon.

The argument, however, was put aside as Chairman Renfrow pointed out that "This recommendation would certainly hit them over the head in counties with bond elections pending... opponents could certainly use it."

That was too much, too soon for Kemp, who entered politics as an off-season aide for California Gov. Reagan while still playing professional football.

Shortly after Kilpatrick's column, Reagan aide Peter Hannaford telephoned Kemp for an appointment. Before Hannaford could say anything in the meeting at the congressman's office,

Pay-as-you-go

But the suggestion that "strong consideration be given by each county to the establishment of a capital outlay reserve fund that can be accumulated over a period of years to enable local participation in a proportion of school facility costs" was trimmed.

In the past six years, 29 local bond issues totaling $137.5 million have been approved, while voters turned down 18 proposals totaling $95.6 million. It appears from the commission study that stronger dependence on state bonds plus pay-as-you-go local financing would prove more effective in the face of such voter opposition. Other indications, however, point to growing public support of school bonds and financial wisdom in that course during times of inflation.

The argument, however, was put aside as Chairman Renfrow pointed out that "This recommendation would certainly hit them over the head in counties with bond elections pending... opponents could certainly use it."

BILL NOBLITT

By ART BUCHWALD The Loved Ones

WASHINGTON — This is a government of reports and studies. No matter what happens in this nation, the first solution is to appoint a commission to study it. The commissions take one year, two years, some even longer, and then they make their report to the President. If the President agrees with the report it's released to the nation. If he or his staff disagrees with it it is buried. But where...

Just by chance I discovered the secret burial grounds of reports and studies made by presidential commissions. The cemetery is located on a hill overlooking the upper Potomac. It is a quiet and deserted place, and only the chirping of birds or the call of a hoot owl can be heard.

Mr. Gottfried Snellenbach has been caretaker of the burial area for government reports ever since the Harding Administration, and after I had assured him I would not dig up any of the graves he let me enter the large, well-kept grounds.

"We've got some of the great reports of all times buried here," Mr. Snellenbach told me. "We've got reports that cost $20 million, and we've got reports that cost $2,000, but in the end they all wind up here, buried six feet under."

"Sir, what kind of reports are resting here..."

"It might be better to ask what kind of reports aren't buried here. We have reports on violence, the Communist threat, housing, health care, law and order. You name it, and we've buried it."

"How does a report find its final resting spot in this setting?"

"Well, as you know, the President is always appointing a commission to study something or other, and after the study they're supposed to hand in a report. Now, lots of times the President has no intention of paying any attention to the report and it's dead before it's even written. Other times someone on the President's staff reads a report handed in by a commission and says, 'This stuff is dynamite. We have to kill it.'"

"In some cases the President says, 'Let's release this report to the press and then bury it.' Occasionally a report will just die of heart-break because nobody pays any attention to it. "In any case, after the report is dead it has to be buried, because if you're President you don't want someone finding it at a later date and using it against you."

ART BUCHWALD

"So every week each report that has died is placed in a pine box and loaded on a government hearse and brought up here, where we have a simple ceremony before lowering it into the ground."

"If it's a blue-ribbon panel report that's been killed in action, we give it a 21-gun salute. Otherwise, we lay it to rest with as little fuss as possible."

"This cemetery goes for miles and miles," I said.

"No one knows how many reports have been buried here by the different Presidents."

"Mr. Snellenbach, this is a beautiful cemetery and very impressive. But why does the government go to so much trouble and expense to keep it up for nothing more than paper reports?"

"You must understand that most of the men asked to serve on presidential commissions are very important citizens. They spend months and years working on these reports, and they feel very close to them. When their reports are killed or buried, these men feel a personal loss. Many days you will see them sitting here next to the tombstones of their studies, tears rolling down their cheeks. No matter how long you work here, it still gets to you."

Letter Seeks Funds

By BROOKS JACKSON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Would you contribute money for a "Hubert H. Humphrey Leadership Fund" designed to "mold future leaders?"

What if Vice President Walter Mondale sent you a letter on what appeared to be his official letterhead asking you to do so?

What if you were told you could deduct up to $100 from your federal income tax returns "just as you deduct charitable gifts?"

You might be forgiven for thinking that you were sending your money to a scholarship fund for bright young students seeking a career in public service.

So far more than 1 million Americans have received such letters, and they've sent in about $320,000.

But how many would have given if they had known the project actually is an election campaign kitty being used to re-elect incumbent Democrats, some of whom have been in and out of Congress for years?

What if they knew that Mondale didn't write the letter, and didn't even read it before it was sent?

What if they knew that even Humphrey's widow, Muriel, who now holds his Senate seat, hadn't read the letter?

Mrs. Humphrey's spokeswoman, Betty South, said: "There may be some need for clarification in future mailings."

She said three people, apparently confused by the Mondale letter's pitch, sent Mrs. Humphrey letters asking whether it is connected with the effort to raise money for the Humphrey Institute of Public Affairs, which is being established at the University of Minnesota.

It is not. And Mondale spokesman Al Eisele conceded, "maybe it could be misunderstood." Eisele said that although

Kemp's Reagan Blow

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Rep. Jack Kemp no longer feels bound to honor his commitment to support Ronald Reagan for president in 1980 and may announce his own candidacy in November, disturbing Reagan's majestic march toward the Republican nomination.

Kemp's private pledge of support three months ago has been regarded within the Reagan camp as a bulwark of its campaign for maximum support within the party's dominant conservative wing. But this was always considered a blunder by Kemp advisers, and the congressman himself felt relieved of the promise when the Reaganites publicly revealed it.

Thus, as Kemp ponders conflicting advice whether to make an announcement in November, he is not inhibited by ties to Reagan. Whatever he does in November, after the mid-term election, chances are better than even he will run for president in 1980. With conservative Rep. Philip Crane the first announced candidate and with Kemp himself the hottest current attraction on the Republican banquet circuit, Reagan's hopes to monopolize the Republican right are being shattered.

Kemp's presidential thoughts actually go back to last January when he dined in Manhattan with close advisers (including writer Irving Kristol and Jude Wanniski, then a Wall Street Journal editor). It was decided that instead of running for governor of New York this year, Kemp should wait for two 1980 options: a run for the Senate seat now held by liberal Republican Jacobs Javits — or the presidency.

Nevertheless, Kemp was unprepared for the May 6 syndicated column of conservative James Jackson Kilpatrick, pushing Kemp for president and writing off Reagan as "getting a little long in the tooth." Other Editors Say Mayor Survives

(Washington Daily News)

If a 275 vote majority can be termed "survival," the Cleveland's young Mayor Dennis Kucinich has survived the Recall efforts directed against him.

There were 60,308 votes to keep him in office and 60,033 votes to oust him. And that is a razor-thin margin. He was elected for a two year term to the $50,000 per year job. At 31 years of age he is the youngest big city mayor in the country.

We hardly see how he can "survive" in the sense of heading any constructive government operations. With most of his city council against him, the days ahead promise to be turbulent.

Surely, he has been given no vote of confidence, and no clear-cut majority has spoken. And at best he faces a recount of the votes in Cleveland.

He has served only nine months of his present two year term. Certainly, in Cleveland he faces heavy opposition in the next primary and if he "survives" that, he faces a difficult election.

Mayor Kucinich has sustained a survival but he has not sustained any vote of confidence.

His troubles and those of his city, Cleveland, are bound to continue.

Cheering News Is Hard To Find

By CHET CURRIER AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The middle-class man lay on the beach reading the newspaper. Being a middle-class man, he read the baseball news, the money news and the tax news.

His favorite baseball team, the sports page informed him, had won the game, but was still somehow lower in the standings.

The money news was on Page One.

"In twin blows to consumers, the Labor Department said yesterday that retail prices during June rose 0.9 percent for the third straight month, while workers' buying power dropped 0.4 percent."

"That meant that despite pay increases averaging 0.5

percent in June, the average wage earner was unable to keep pace with inflation, which the government said would be 10.4 percent this year."

"Food prices would leap nearly 18 percent this year, while housing would rise 11 percent."

He turned to the tax news.

"Listen to this," he said to his wife, who didn't care much about the baseball news and was smart enough not to spoil a day at the beach by reading the money news.

"Tax bill would aid the middle class," he read aloud.

"A close look at the bill," the story said, "shows that 62.5 percent of the net tax cuts would go to what Congress, in these days of high inflation, views as the great middle class: Those with incomes of $15,000 to $50,000 a year."

His wife inquired what sort of reduction they might expect, and the man began reading again. But the cheery news he was looking for proved hard to find in the rest of the story.

"As with most tax-cut bills, this one would result in a significant reduction for only a relatively few taxpayers — the average net cut would be about $139."

"Some, in fact, could wind up paying higher taxes."

"Nearly 25 million couples or individuals would lose a favorite tax deduction that is worth an average $39 a year. It would no longer be possible to deduct state and local gasoline taxes.

"The 11 million accustomed to claiming a deduction for medical expenses would see a change. No longer could up to $150 in health-insurance premiums be deducted unconditionally."

"And even if the proposed tax cut becomes law, the federal tax bite for all but a few Americans will go up next year because of inflation and higher Social Security costs, congressional figures show."

"The reason is that although federal income taxes will go down, the reduction will be more than offset by inflation, pushing taxpayers into higher brackets, and by increases in the Social Security payroll taxes approved last December."

Strength For Today

TWO WORLDS

The true Christian lives in two worlds. He is born into the world of things; he is reborn into the spiritual realm "where moth and rust do not corrupt and where thieves do not break through and steal."

In other words, Christians live in a world of ideas and ideals, of firm religious commitment, of high and noble purpose. Their relationship with the world of things, the material world, is simply one of temporary residence. They live in the kingdom of God; they reside for the years of their natural life in the world and its society which we see about us.

People who have learned how to live in the higher world and reside in the lower are a happy lot of folk indeed. Sometimes they are rich in this world's goods, but not often. Yet such people are always content. They have learned the great secret that wealth consists not in things but in peace of mind, in quietness of conscience, and in the joy of loving and being loved.

Evans-Novak... X-Ray May Find Risk

Kemp volunteered this: forget the Kemp-for-president talk; count me in supporting Reagan if he runs; I'll be trying for the Senate, whether or not Javits quits. Kemp's inner circle was horrified. He defended his action on grounds that Reagan was the only prominent Republican then praising Kemp and the Kemp-Roth tax reduction bill, and also was stressing national defense. Kemp's other big issue. Besides with Crane's candidacy not yet surfaced, Reagan seemed to have the conservatives to himself.

But a small crowd appeared. After meeting Hananoford, Kemp called Reagan in California, pleading with him to help ex-Reagan aide Jeffrey Bell's seeming quixotic effort to unseat liberal Sen. Clifford Case in the New Jersey primary. Could Reagan at least raise money for Bell? Reagan, seeking to prove himself no right-wing party-wrecker, declined.

On May 12, Kemp adviser Wanniski, in California on a last assignment for the Wall Street Journal before resigning from the paper, lunched in Los Angeles with Reagan aide Hananoford. Wanniski's message: you can't hold Kemp to supporting Reagan.

Wanniski argued that Reagan broke the compact by rejecting Kemp's plea to help Bell. But anyway, he continued, this was "force majeure" — an irresistible power; the tide building behind Kemp would sweep away trivial personal promises.

Kemp's self-described "bomb thrower," Wanniski, was not authorized by the congressman to make these arguments. Kemp does not discount the "force majeure" theory, but he has never agreed that Reagan's non-support for Bell (who won in New Jersey anyway) invalidated his commitment to Reagan.

However, a reason for disconnecting from Reagan was supplied by our column of June 4, which reported Kemp's pledge. George Bush, himself a presidential hopeful, telephoned Kemp in alarm. So did businessman Leon Parma, an intimate of Gerald R. Ford.

Kemp then called Hananoford, saying how unhappy he was to see their "private" conversation in print. Although he did not specifically so inform Hananoford, Kemp believes this was a breach of confidence relieving him of his commitment.

Since then, the Republican National Committee has adopted the Kemp-Roth bill as party doctrine and Kemp has attracted a spectrum of boosters of all ideological colors seeking a new face. Irving Kristol wants Kemp to announce in November and urge all other aspirants also to get in — precisely what Reagan does not want. In Kemp's office, Kristol's suggestion has been subject to intense debate.

But November is not the point of no return. When Kemp attended pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle's annual party at his Westchester County estate Aug. 11, corporate magnates were enthusiastically talking Kemp for president. That is moving toward the DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — An X-ray technique may be more important than family history in predicting breast cancer risk, according to Duke University researchers. The technique involves taking two X-rays of each breast. Women with a high chance of developing breast cancer have breasts that look unusually dense on the X-rays.

According to researchers, these women may be seven times as likely to get breast cancer as women with clear X-rays.

"I think this is the most sensitive risk factor we have, with the exception of having had breast cancer," said Dr. Lawrence Myers, a researcher on the project and an assistant professor of community and family medicine.

Dr. Robert McClelland, an associate professor radiology, said breasts normally turn into fat as a woman ages, looking less dense on an X-ray. But in some women, milk ducts thicken and cast a shadow on the X-ray.

In the study, breast X-rays of women without cancer were mixed with X-rays of breast cancer patients. As expected, the cancer patients tended to be the ones whose breasts showed up most densely in the X-rays.

the stationery bore Mondale's name and was on an official looking blue and white letterhead which said "The Vice President, Washington, D.C." Mondale's actual official letterhead is different. And for those who have never received a letter from the vice president, the stationery certainly looks authentic.

In fine print at the bottom of the letter it admits it is "sponsored by the Democratic National Committee."

And on page three of the four-page letter it does say the money will be used to "seek out public spirited, courageous, dedicated men and women to run for public office" and to "help organize and fund their campaign."

But other than that there is little to indicate that what is being sought is a political contribution and tax deductible within the political contributions limit.

And despite the letter's repeated references to seeking out new leaders, the fund so far hasn't donated a nickel to any new faces.

Susan Morrison, spokeswoman for the Democratic National Committee, said the only direct donations made so far have been to Sen. Dick Clark of Iowa and 15 incumbent House Democrats, including Abner J. Mikva, the 52-year-old suburban Chicago congressman who was first elected in 1968, a decade ago.

"critical mass" that Wanniski feels makes Kemp's candidacy unavoidable. Certainly, no commitment to Reagan will now obstruct it.

Polls Won't Rule Carter

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter says he is working less but enjoying it more, is concerned about his low rating in public opinion polls but will not live according to their results.

In an interview in this week's issue of Newsweek magazine, Carter reflected on his first 19 months in office. He said he is enjoying his job more and working less than when he first became president because he has a better grasp of the federal government and international affairs.

"I had so much to learn when I first came here. I had to learn the structure of government, the budgeting process," he said.

But now, Carter said: "I work fewer hours. I am more relaxed. I am more conversant with the Washington ways. I know much more clearly the strengths and the weakness of our own staff, of the Cabinet, the Congress, others with whom I have to deal."

Carter said he is concerned about public opinion polls that show his popularity declining, but is reassured because Abraham Lincoln, Thomas Jefferson and Harry Truman "have been much more severely criticized and castigated than have I."

In an Associated Press-NBC poll taken the week of Aug. 6, half of those polled indicated they do not want Carter to run for re-election in 1980 compared with four out of 10 who want him in the race.

As for the opinion polls, which also show that the public prefers Sen. Edward Kennedy over himself for the 1980 race, Carter said he will not analyze himself or live according to poll results.

"I have complete confidence in myself. This is not an office which can be conducted on the basis of looking for approval," Carter said. "I feel at ease with it. I enjoy it. I don't dread the decisions that I have to make."

Warsaw Pact Group Closing In On NATO's Tactical Nuclear Lead

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russian-led Warsaw Pact, which already outnumbers and outguns U.S. and allied conventional forces in central Europe, is narrowing NATO's advantage in tactical nuclear weapons.

That is the consensus expressed in recent U.S. intelligence reports on Soviet development and deployment of tactical nuclear weapons in western Russia, East Germany, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Such weapons include a variety of less-than-intercontinental-range missiles, bombs and missiles carried by fighter-bombers. They could seriously affect, and possibly decide, a battle for Europe if a war escalated beyond conventional high-explosive arms.

Tactical nuclear weapons are not covered in the U.S.-Soviet negotiations to limit strategic nuclear missiles and bombers, which the superpowers could hurl against each other's home territory.

According to U.S. intelligence reports, the Russians appear ready to deploy more and newer short-range ballistic missiles. They also are said to be deploying new fighter-bombers with improved air-to-ground nuclear "payloads."

Intelligence has credited NATO for some time with a 2-to-1 numerical edge in tactical nuclear warheads in Europe.

The new Soviet-theater weapons are described as having better range and accuracy than the older missiles they are replacing. Some are said to be designed to carry either nuclear, chemical, high-explosive or cluster munitions, giving Soviet commanders options in their possible use.

"NATO retains an overall advantage in the number and quality of tactical nuclear weapons," said one analysis. But the Warsaw Pact has been narrowing the gap in recent years and is now "beginning to see the fruition" of extensive development programs, a report said.

The most publicly discussed of the new Soviet weapons is the mobile SS20, which U.S. intelligence estimates could hit Western Europe from inside Russia with a range of about 3,000 miles.

The United States has no comparable intermediate range land-based weapon and a senior Defense official suggested last week that "we ought to open up an option for a longer-range ballistic missile in Europe" to counter the SS20.

The U.S. ground-launched missile in Europe with the longest reach is the 450-mile Pershing.

The senior defense official said one other possibility is a new, ground-launched U.S. cruise missile.

A new short-range Soviet missile designated the SS21 is of particular concern. With a range of some 30 miles, this system with its multiple launchers is rated a potential threat to NATO's air defense radar stations and missile batteries.

The SS21 is said to be capable of good cross-country movement on a vehicle from which it would be fired.

Muddy Winner Morgan Is Chairman

Dr. Carl Robert Morgan, formerly professor of anatomy at Indiana University, has been named chairman of the Department of Anatomy at the East Carolina University School of Medicine, according to Dr. William E. Laupus, dean.

Morgan's major research interest is experimental diabetes. He is best known for developing a widely applied method of radioimmunoassay for insulin, a test used by clinicians to diagnose and prescribe treatment for juvenile and mature diabetics.

Morgan has also done work on the effects of insulin on liver and kidney cells, and he has collaborated on studies testing the effects of pharmaceutical compounds on insulin levels in the blood. The result of his studies have appeared in numerous professional publications.

Morgan received his undergraduate degree from Wartburg College, Waverly Town, Iowa, and his master's degree from the University of Nebraska. He completed his PhD at the University of Minnesota and did postdoctoral training there under a fellowship from the American Diabetes Association.

He has given lectures to medical schools and diabetes associations in Canada, England, Sweden, Germany, Denmark, Belgium and Russia.

Outlaw Clubs Flourishing

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Gaston County Police Sgt. Ralph Miller said sometimes he feels like the county is operating in the 20s when speakeasies were thriving due to Prohibition.

Miller was referring to the county's outlaw nightclubs, which law enforcement officers say are flourishing despite repeated efforts by state and local officers to put them out of business.

District Attorney Joe Brown said that until there is a demand from the people of Gaston County to close the nightclubs, his staff must spend its time on more serious crimes.

In five years, county police and state Alcohol Law Enforcement agents have brought 157 charges relating to gambling and illegal liquor sales against 14 persons they identify as leading nightclub operators and employees.

But 97 charges were dismissed by the Gaston district attorney in plea bargaining and none of the 14 has ever been jailed for any of the offenses, which are punishable by up to two years in prison.

Generally, fines have amounted to less than $100. The biggest fine was $750 — minuscule compared to the $4,000 or more police say the biggest operators clear on a good night.

As a result, seven outlaw nightclubs operate openly in Gaston County. About 30 others, smaller for the most part, operate periodically.

Police, who say the clubs spawn serious crimes and cause other problems, are frustrated.

Drinking at the clubs continues after legitimate liquor and beer outlets close. Police say that's one reason the State Highway Patrol made 1,228 drunken driving arrests in the county last year — more than were arrested in Mecklenburg County which has three times the population.

Police who have raided the large nightclubs five times this year, say the clubs attract drug dealers, prostitutes and dealers in stolen goods.

The officers say that in two years, two persons have been killed in fights at nightclubs and three have been shot and killed in what police say is a feud between some club owners and motorcycle gangs. The body of a woman who was last seen alive leaving one nightclub in February 1977 was discovered about six weeks ago.

"We're concerned about these nightclubs because of the violence, the stolen property and the drugs," said Miller, who heads the special investigation division of the county police department.

"Every time we search a club, we find drugs and guns — stolen guns. We have bought drugs from people who work in these clubs.

PCB Cleanup Gets Underway

By The Associated Press
Crews from the State Department of Transportation were expected to be spreading charcoal today along the 270 miles of roadway which has been contaminated with toxic chemicals, apparently through intentional dumpings.

The first stage of the cleanup of chemical spills began Sunday when the DOT crews began spreading 60 tons of treated charcoal along roadsides in Wilson and Edgecombe County.

Road treatment was started on an experimental basis Friday but stepped up to full scale Sunday, according to Cy Lynn, of the DOT. Plans for removing the spilled chemical, polychlorinated biphenyls, were announced last week. The entire process is expected to cost the state several million dollars.

Lynn said the PCB removal would be conducted by spraying the roadsides with activated charcoal to soak up the chemical and then coated with emulsified asphalt.

State officials say they think the spills were probably the work of someone trying to get rid of surplus supplies of PCBs, which are restricted in use because they are suspected of causing birth defects and cancer.

More than 157 tons of charcoal will be needed the treat the roadside. Lynn said the dirt will be removed to a depth of three inches as soon as disposal sites are approved by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

State Attorney General Rufus Edmisten said Saturday his department has a specific list of suspects, but he would not reveal any identities.

"We're hot on the trail," Edmisten said. "I'm not going to say whether there are individuals, in or out of state, or corporations, but we have a target now. It's the highest priority in the SBI right now."

"We want to find out who they are and why this was done quickly because this is the type of case where the evidence will be fleeing."

Traffic accidents in which Georgia and South Carolina men died Sunday boosted the total of traffic fatalities for the weekend to 14, according to the state Highway Patrol.

The patrol said the deaths bring the state's traffic fatality toll for this year to 850, compared to 928 at this time last year.

Raymond Keith Webb, 20, of Atlanta died Sunday when the car in which he was riding ran off the road and down an embankment near Murphy.

An accident near Shallotte took the life of William F. Rutland Jr., 65, of North Myrtle Beach, S.C., the patrol said.

James Willie Hunt, 45, of Concord, died when his car ran off the road in Charlotte Sunday and struck a pole, the patrol said.

A Lincoln man died Sunday near that city after a two-car collision. The patrol identified the victim as Walter Clarence Briggs, 44.

The state Highway Patrol reported that Mary Dacey Wymard, 35, of Pittsburgh, Pa., fell out of her car and was crushed by it on N.C. 58 north of Snow Hill in Greene County Saturday night.

Also on Saturday night, Harold J. Furness, 52, of Witt, Ill., was killed in a head-on collision in Burke County on Interstate 40, east of Valdese.

A hit-and-run car struck three pedestrians on a rural road near Winston-Salem Friday night, killing Ina Maria Lumley, 12, and injuring two other persons, the patrol reported.

Peter Young, 74, of Longwood was killed on a rural road near Shallotte in Brunswick County Saturday afternoon when his car ran off the road and struck a tree.

Johnnie Dean Locklear, 24, of Fayetteville, was killed in a two-car collision at an intersection near Fayetteville Friday night.

Randy Lynn Waddell, 16, of Ronda, was killed Friday night when his car ran off a rural road five miles east of Ronda and hit a tree.

A three-car collision on a rural road one mile north of Hickory Friday night resulted in the death of Shelby Wright Clark, 41, of Rt. 2, Hickory.

A pedestrian, Michael Howard Warf, 37, of Rt. 6, Calax, Va., was killed in Greensboro Friday night when he stepped into the path of a car.

Richard Allen Hinson Jr., 40, of Cove City, was killed and four other persons were injured in a two-car collision on N.C. 55 16 miles west of New Bern Friday night.

Texas Millionaire Charged In 'Hit-List'

By MIKE COCHRAN Associated Press Writer
FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Two years to the day after he was charged with murdering his stepdaughter, millionaire T. Cullen Davis was accused of masterminding a murder-for-hire plot involving a hit list" of six names, including his estranged wife, his brother and two judges.

Davis was arrested Sunday morning and charged with solicitation of capital murder for allegedly trying to hire a "hit man" to kill District Judge Joe Eidson, who is presiding over the oilman's bitter divorce. He was also charged with carrying a prohibited weapon — a pistol with a silencer.

District Attorney Tim Curry said he will recommend today that the 44-year-old Davis be held without bond in the Tarrant County Jail.

Speaking through his attorneys late Sunday night, Davis called the charges "some kind of frame or setup."

Davis was arrested moments after driving away from a nightclub parking lot where police said he met with David McCrory, an employee of a firm owned by the Davis family. Davis is a partner in KenDavis Industries, a conglomerate that includes Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Supply.

Curry produced an affidavit signed by McCrory, saying that McCrory had several meetings with Davis over the past four days in preparation for the alleged contract killing. Curry added, "We expect to fully corroborate McCrory's statement."

McCrory was wired for sound by federal and local authorities during the meetings, officials said. Law enforcement sources told The Associated Press that at the Sunday morning meeting, McCrory showed Davis a snapshot of Eidson's "body" stuffed in a car trunk and the judge's driver's license. Eidson, said the sources who asked not to be identified, agreed to pose for the photo.

After he saw the photo, the sources said, Davis produced a manila envelope containing $25,000 in $100 bills.

"It's a frame-up," said Davis' niece, Kay. "David McCrory is an opportunist. If Cullen wanted to hire somebody to kill Judge Eidson, he wouldn't go to someone like...McCrory. He just doesn't trust that man."

"Eidson was no threat to Cullen at all. None whatsoever. Cullen had nothing to lose in that marriage."

Eidson was given 24-hour police protection beginning last Friday after the FBI told Curry about the alleged plot, Curry said.

McCrory's statement said he obtained a .22-caliber pistol and a silencer at Davis' request. He said he gave Davis the pistol

Await Project Report

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — An Army Corps of Engineers oceanographer says permission for a proposed dredging project at Allied Chemical Corp.'s Hopewell plant may depend on how currents in the Kepone-contaminated James River will affect the disposal area.

"We asked Allied to prepare a current survey last April because we wanted to know whether the material will stay where it's going to be placed. Allied's consultants have indicated that the Kepone will stay bound to the sediment," Bruce Williams says.

Williams, working with Allied on the permit, says he hopes to have the final report from Allied within the next two weeks. He says it will be another two weeks before the corps makes a decision.

His comments to the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot came after concern was expressed by an environmental group that the project could stir up Kepone and further contaminate oyster beds in the lower James.

"The more you stir up the sediment, the longer it'll take to break down," Nancy Kelly, a staff biologist for the Chesapeake Bay Foundation of Annapolis, Md., told the paper over the weekend.

The highly-toxic pesticide Kepone once was marketed by Allied, which had it manufactured in Hopewell by Life Science Products Co. Production was stopped in 1975 after it was found Kepone was affecting the health of Life Science workers and contaminating the river.

But Williams said the Environmental Protection Agency, Fish and Wildlife Service and National Marine Fisheries Service "have all advised us they do not object to the permit issuance." The project must be approved by the corps' Norfolk District.

Ms. Kelly, in an Aug. 10 letter to the corps, outlined the foundation's opposition to the dredging project, which Allied says is crucial to the plant's operation.

Allied wants to dredge 35,000 cubic yards of silt, some of it Kepone-contaminated, from its waterfront and dump it about a mile away. Dredging would deepen the existing 24-foot channel by 2 feet.

"The project is critical to us. Without it, ships will not be able to use our deepwater channel and the plant's cooling system will get clogged with silt," said

Edmund A. Giebel, manager of the plant's environmental control department.

Sediment samples taken in the area to be dredged show Kepone content of one milligram per gram, almost 50 times the levels known to be detrimental to shellfish, Ms. Kelly said.

She said she doubted the effectiveness of a special curtain aimed at preventing silt from drifting downstream.

Even if the dredged silt remained behind the curtain, she said plankton could absorb the Kepone and contaminate everything that ate it. She included waterfowl along with shellfish and finfish among life forms that could be affected.

"If the sediments are not dredged, they are less likely to be affected by storm action or to affect waterfowl, since they are 24 feet deep," Ms. Kelly said.

Giebel said the corps gave him a copy of Ms. Kelly's letter, but he has not had a chance to read it. He added:

"We will respond to it, but I feel confident that we can demonstrate to the corps' vironmentally satisfactory that we're just moving the silt satisfaction that we can carry manner." out the project in an en- "The thing to remember is already contaminated, he said.

Tiny Plant May Halt Highway

SUFFOLK, Va. (AP) — Because a tiny plant can't be moved, a proposed giant highway through the Dismal Swamp may have to be.

Standing in the way of a $10 million southeastern leg of the U.S. 58 Bypass is the dwarf trillium, a plant that usually reaches a height of 3 inches and which is being considered for the endangered species list.

While William C. Ashe, deputy director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, hopes the road can be built, it's up to his agency to determine whether plans for the highway project are environmentally acceptable.

A sizable dwarf trillium population thrives in the drier, northwestern part of the swamp — the path of the proposed highway.

"We are making no attempt to stop the highway department's plans. We'll work with them. But we have a responsibility to protect the wildlife refuge" of the Dismal Swamp, says Ashe.

Don Schwab, the swamp refuge wildlife biologist, says about 200 of the more than 1,000 dwarf trilliums in the swamp are in the path of the proposed highway.

The marker guarding the dwarf trillium site in the Dismal Swamp National Wildlife Refuge reads, "AREA BEYOND THIS SITE CLOSED." Schwab pointed out several tiny green plants beyond the marker, the largest about the height of a coffee cup.

"This is a good sized plant. I'd say it's about 18 years old," he said.

Schwab said he feels the bypass "isn't that important" in relation to the plant.

Okays Use Of Lake

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Despite opposition from residents and officials of both states, the Army Corps of Engineers was expected to announce today its approval of the use of Lake Gaston on the Virginia-North Carolina border to supplement southeastern Virginia water supplies.

The corps' recommendation, based on studies and a series of public hearings, was scheduled to be announced at 2 p.m. at its district office here.

About 90 million gallons of water per day are consumed in the populous southeastern Virginia area that includes Norfolk, Virginia Beach, Portsmouth and Chesapeake. The daily need is expected to increase another 78 million gallons in the next 10 years.

Earlier this summer, officials of the State Water Control Board had indicated they believed the Blackwater and Nottoway rivers could be used as the water source.

And the move to tap Lake Gaston as southeastern Virginia's backup water source was opposed by residents and public officials of localities on both the Virginia and North Carolina sides of the lake.

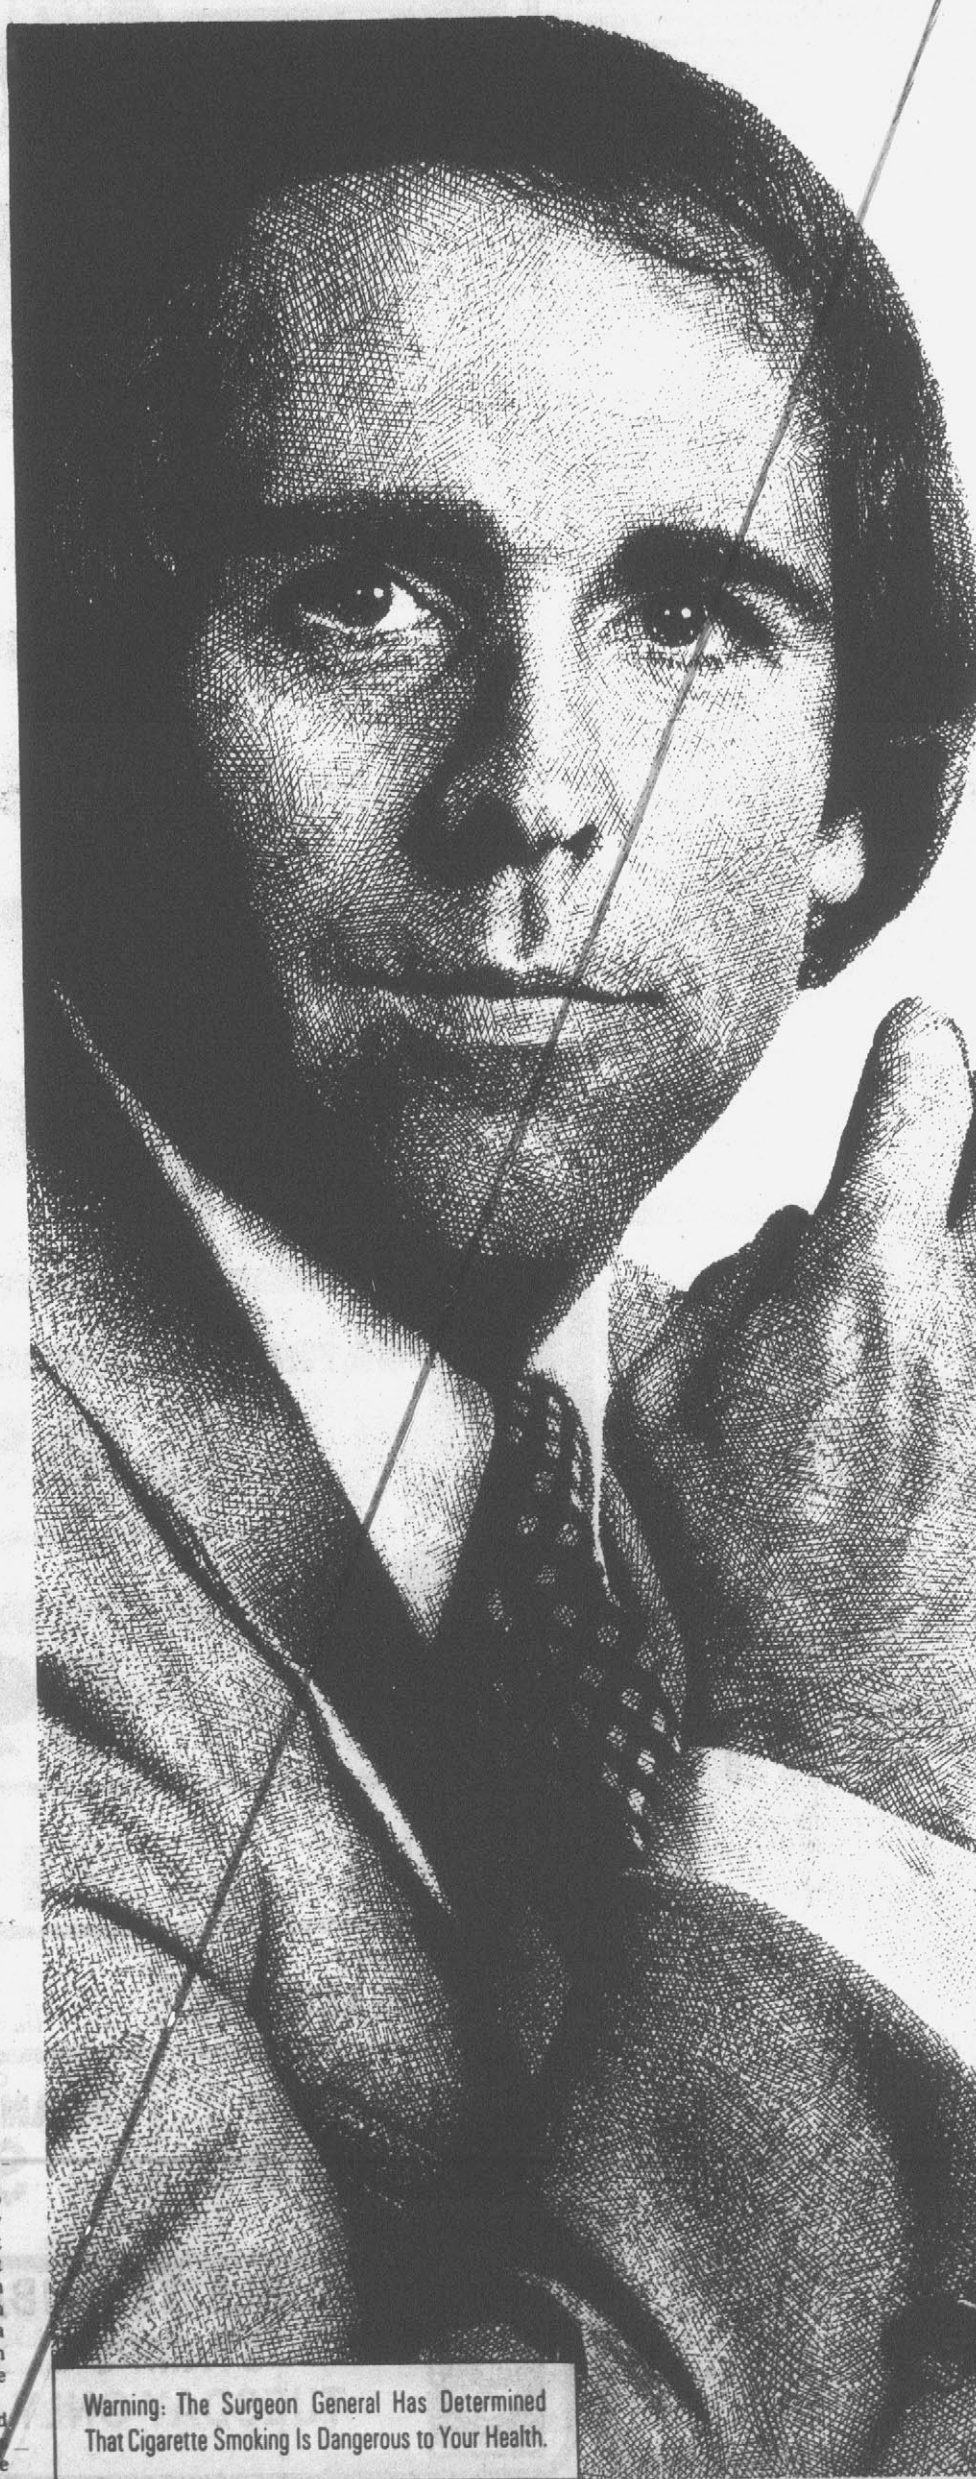

The complaint from residents was that construction of treatment and pumping facilities would lower their property values and turn the clear waters into a mudflat.

In addition, North Carolina residents and officials argued that using the lake as a water source for southeastern Virginia would stifle industrial development on the Roanoke River in their state.

But there has been a difference of opinion between the two governors. Use of Lake Gaston has been opposed by North Carolina Gov. Jim Hunt but supported by Virginia Gov. John Dalton.

The decision was handed to Col. Douglas Haller, the new head of the Norfolk District office of the corps. He spent three days last week in Washington talking with Virginia and North Carolina congressmen, many of whom opposed the move, about the project.

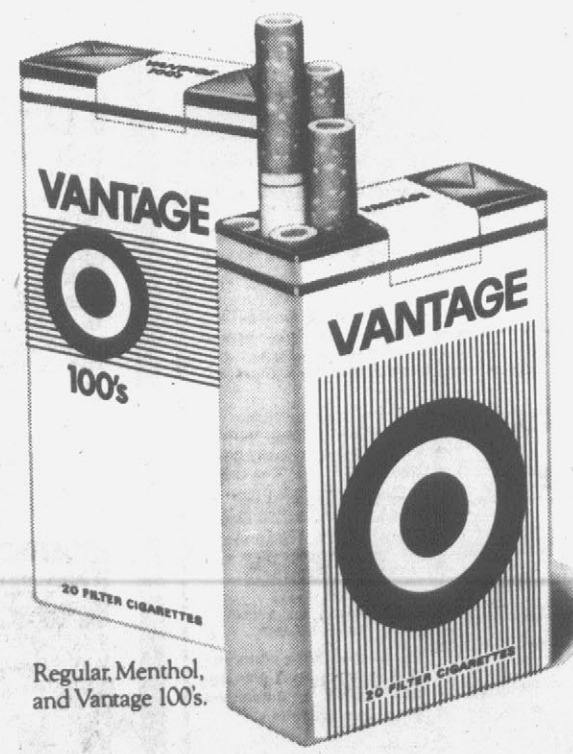

His predecessor, Col. Howard Newman, had said two months ago that Lake Gaston was the tentative choice.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged lower in moderate trading today as traders continued to watch the fate of the dollar and interest rate trends.
 The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off just .87 of a point at 895.96 as of noon. Declining issues outnumbered gainers by a margin of nearly 7-to-5 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Volume on the Big Board came to 12.17 billion shares, down from 13.80 billion shares by mid-day in the previous session. The NYSE composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks slipped .10 to 58.96.

The dollar improved somewhat on foreign currency markets early today in the wake of actions late Friday by the Federal Reserve Board to encourage higher interest rates. President Carter separately promised a series of steps over the next few weeks to deal with the dollar.

Some analysts said the market appeared to be waiting for clear signals on the currency markets, after the dollar's steep slide and late rebound last week.

Goodyear, off 1/4 to 18 1/4, topped the NYSE most active list at mid-day. Trading included a block of 150,000 shares at 18 1/4.

Texaco rose 1/4 to 26 in heavy trading. The company twice last week announced finds of natural gas at its exploratory well, about 100 miles off the coast of New Jersey.

Among other actively traded issues Ramada Inn fell 1/4 to 9 and Continental Oil slipped 1/4 to 29.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained .07 to 164.59.

Ali Has Candy Bar

DEER LAKE, Pa. (AP) — First there was the Reggie bar, named after baseball star Reggie Jackson. And now, the Muhammad Ali Crisp Crunch bar.

Alli, training here for his Sept. 15 heavyweight boxing championship rematch with Leon Spinks, scheduled a news conference today at Wilbur Chocolate Co. in Lititz, Pa., to unveil the new candy bar.

The 2 1/2-ounce bar — a peanut and crisped rice confection — will be available in major markets Sept. 1, will cost 59 cents and will carry the former champ's signature, said Wilson Frederick, chairman of the board of Foltz-Wessinger Inc., advertising agency for the chocolate factory.

Frisbee Champ

HIGHLAND, Mich. (AP) — Whiskey, the Frisbee-fetching champion of the Midwest, hardly has time to bark while practicing hours a day for next weekend's national championship at the Rose Bowl.

"This dog is a winner. He's going to be the champ," the dog's owner, David Emmett, says.

Emmett, a 28-year-old Ford Motor Co. employee, said he's been training the golden shepherd mongrel for more than three years.

Emmett said Whiskey, who recently captured the Midwest title, is best prepared for one of the two main events in the dog tourney, a timed version of fetch in which points are awarded for grabbing the Frisbee in midair. In the regional competition, Whiskey averaged one fetch every 10 seconds.

Emmett and his wife, Jami, are not so sure Whiskey can beat the competition in the other event, a free-form competition.

Last year's canine Frisbee champ, one Ashley Whippet, is a free-form whiz, according to Jami Emmett. "We hear he can jump nine feet high," she said.

Hula Hoop Record

OSAGE BEACH, Mo. (AP) — With little hoopla, a 20-year-old college student set a world hula hoop record, gyrating virtually non-stop for 30 consecutive hours.

Kay Hurtubise of Osage Beach started hula hooping at 9 a.m. Saturday. Pausing only for hourly five-minute breaks, the 5-foot, 88-pound woman went until 5:20 p.m. Sunday, said Jerry Gordon, manager of the Guinness Hall of World Records at Osage Beach.

Favors D.C. Reps

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Insurance Commissioner John Ingram, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican Jesse Helms, said Sunday he favors amending the constitution to give the District of Columbia representation in Congress on the same basis as other states.

Ingram said he favors such an amendment since seven other states have smaller populations than the district, because D.C. citizens pay more income taxes than do those of 11 other states and because more D.C. native sons were killed in the Vietnam War than 10 other states.

Hopes For Understanding

STOWE, Vt. (AP) — U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young, who was standing next to Dr. Martin Luther King when the civil rights leader was slain in 1968, says, "I don't know, and I don't care, if we will ever know who killed Dr. King."

But, Young said during a weekend visit to Stowe, the House assassination committee's inquiry into King's murder may help Americans understand the racism of the late 1960s.

Speaking about the House assassinations committee inquiry, Young said, "My hope is that the American people will get a better understanding of the kind of sickness that existed at that time."

O.J. Says He's Okay, But 49ers Sputter In 31-14 Loss To Raiders

THE PRIZE — Lee Elder displays the $60,000 check he won in the Westchester Classic Sunday at the Westchester Country Club. Elder clinched the first place prize with a birdie on the 18th hole finishing the tournament with a ten under par 274. (AP Laserphoto)

Elder's Birdie Brings A Win

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Lee Elder will never play better. He said so himself. "The last two months I've played the best golf of my life — probably the best I'll ever play," the 44-year-old Elder said Sunday after an almost errorless round of four-under-par 67 had produced a one-stroke victory in the rich Westchester Classic and what Elder called "the most gratifying moment of my life. "I'll never forget this moment. I'll cherish it as long as I live," he said. He ranked this triumph, his second of the year, ahead of the emotion-packed victory at Pensacola, Fla. four years ago which enabled him to become the first black to play in the Masters. "This is a little more significant to me personally," he said. "And there were reasons for it. "I have reached a goal I've been wanting for a long, long time," he said. First, he said, the victory gave him entry into the World Series of Golf at Akron, Ohio this fall. He will be the first of his race to play in the World Series. "And it puts me in position where I have an opportunity to help represent the United States on the Ryder Cup team next

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — O.J. Simpson says his knee is strong. But what about the San Francisco 49ers who looked so weak against the Oakland Raiders? "Communications is the key," Simpson said after making his playing debut with the 49ers, whose offense sputtered badly Sunday in a 31-14 preseason loss to the Raiders.

"Right now, we haven't played long enough with each other to get the feel of things," he said. "We're going to start communicating better and playing together." The 49ers are 0-3 and have just one more exhibition test, against Denver, before opening the National Football League season Sept. 3 at Cleveland. Sunday's game was the first for Simpson since injuring his left knee midway through the 1977 season, his last with the Buffalo Bills, and he said, "I felt great. I really did. I wanted to stay in the game longer."

The $733,000-per-season star left early in the second period after carrying six times for 12 yards, losing the ball once on a fumble and dropping a perfect pass from Jim Plunkett, who had a luckless and frustrating 0-for-11 passing day.

Three touchdown passes by Ken Stabler gave Oakland an early 21-0 lead, it was 31-0 after three periods and the talent gap between the two teams appeared bigger than the 49ers' offensive communications gap. San Francisco got two late touchdowns as young Steve DeBerg scored on a quarterback sneak and passed 21 yards to Freddie Solomon.

In preseason games Saturday, the Philadelphia Eagles whipped the Atlanta Falcons 24-7; the Denver Broncos beat the Buffalo Bills 23-13; the New York Giants upset the Pittsburgh Steelers 13-6; the Cincinnati Bengals defeated the Chicago Bears 27-3; the Tampa Bay Buccaneers whipped the New Orleans Saints 14-3; the Green Bay Packers downed the St. Louis Cardinals 23-17; the Houston Oilers topped the Dallas Cowboys 27-13, and the New York Jets beat the San Diego Chargers 23-10.

In Sunday's only other game, the New England Patriots whipped the Kansas City Chiefs 24-7. Tonight, Detroit plays at Cleveland. One-yard scoring dives by quarterback Steve Grogan and fullbacks Don Calhoun and Mosi Tatupu propelled New England past Kansas City. But the Patriots, still reeling from the paralyzing injury to wide receiver Darryl Stingley, received another jolt when star tight end, Russ Francis, suffered a sprained right ankle and had to be taken from the field on a stretcher.

While Simpson, the highest-paid player in the NFL, was making his limited debut for the 49ers Sunday, Earl Campbell was giving Houston the first return on its million-dollar contract — and it was the key to a winning effort Saturday against Dallas' Super Bowl champs.

Campbell, the No. 1 choice in this year's college draft, steamrolled the Cowboys for 151 yards, 55 on a TD gallop. Ronnie Coleman also scored on runs of 18 and two yards for the Oilers.

"Earl is a complete football player," Houston Coach Bum Phillips said after Campbell also had thrown some key blocks in the game. "When you have him in the game, it's like having Tony Dorsett. The defenses have to watch for him and it opens things up for other guys." Both Dorsett of the Cowboys and Campbell are Heisman Trophy winners.

Tampa Bay got touchdown bursts from Jimmy DuBose and Ricky Bell en route to its third victory without a defeat in the exhibition season.

"We were not awe-inspiring in victory," said Coach John McKay of the Buccaneers. "Maybe we're at the stage we can play poorly and win." It's a lot better than last season when the Bucs, for the most part, played poorly and lost.

Cincinnati's Lenvil Elliott rushed for 112 yards, 79 on a touchdown jaunt, in the Bengals' victory over the winless Bears, still playing without star runner Walter Payton. The Jets got TD passes from Richard Todd and Matt Robinson, more than enough to counter a San Diego TD on an 81-yard punt return by Joe Washington.

Mike Walton ran for a TD from the one and completed 12 of 19 passes for 144 yards in the first half, helping Philadelphia beat Atlanta. Steve Bartkowski of the Falcons completed only 18 of 39 passes and had two intercepted, one by Greg Marshall, who ran it 23 yards for another score. Coach Leeman Bennett said Bartkowski was in danger of losing

Catamounts Will Have To Rely On Defense Against Pirates

CULLOWHEE, N.C. (AP) — Western Carolina, noted for its flashy, passing offense, may have to turn to its veteran defense when the Catamounts open their football season Sept. 2.

Coach Bob Waters will begin his 10th season at Western Carolina, in an early opener at East Carolina, with some big shoes to fill on offense. But the defense will return virtually intact, a little short on size but with speed and experience.

"We've got the holes to fill. When you lose the top two players in the conference, it's tough to replace them," Waters said. He was referring to the departure of the Cats' running back Darrell Liptford, last year's Southern Conference player-of-the-year, and receiver Wayne Tolleson, who led the NCAA in catches.

"We've got a good offensive line and two good fullbacks," he added. "Offensively, we feel pretty good if we can find those two replacements."

That has proved something of a problem as Western opened its fall practice, however. Senior Mitchell Ray, heir-apparent at tailback, has a pulled hamstring and may miss the early part of the season. Waters has moved fullback Jeff Norman to the tailback slot, and behind him are freshmen.

"We're an offensive team without a tailback right now, and that's our offense," Waters said. "We've got to have 100 yards a game from out tailback or we've got problems." At receiver, senior Fred Meadows will take one side but the other receiver may go to one of several freshmen candidates, as sophomore Gerald Harp has a serious ankle sprain.

On the bright side there is junior quarterback Mike Pusey, who won the job two games into last season and led the conference in passing and total offense.

"He's the franchise," says WCU sports spokesman Steve White.

"Pusey can stack up against anybody, anywhere," said Waters. "He's a competitor and he's at his best when the situation gets thick. He makes something happen."

The defense will again be small — Waters says he fears perhaps too small — but will rely on its quickness.

Taylor In Victory

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. — Leigh Taylor, assistant pro at Greenville Golf and Country Club, captured first place in the North and South Carolina PGA Assistant Pro's Tournament yesterday.

Taylor fired a 69 to take the prize, winning over other assistants by two strokes. The tournament was played at the Dunes Club at Myrtle Beach.

Taiwan Is Champ

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Taiwan, turning the Big-Little League World Series into a private dynasty, has swept to a fifth consecutive series title.

The Taiwan team was pressed into extra innings in this year's finale before erupting for three runs in the top of the 13th Saturday night to defeat Tampa 4-1.

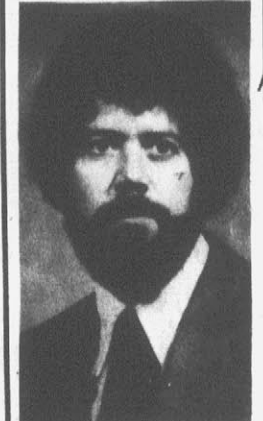

Tampa's Vince Ferlita homered in the bottom of the seventh to send the game into extra innings. The 1-1 tie held until the 13th when Tampa reliever Randy Lopez weakened, allowing a homer by Cheng Hsin Sheng.

A double, single, squeeze bunt and another double added two more runs for Taiwan.

GETTING READY FOR ANOTHER SEASON — University of North Carolina halfback Amos Lawrence makes an adjustment on his uniform during the team's annual picture day at Chapel Hill Sunday. Lawrence was the Atlantic Coast Conference rookie of the year in 1977. (AP Laserphoto)

Discard In Locker, But Not On Field

FOOT RACE — San Francisco Giants' first baseman Willie McCovey digs the ball out of the dirt as Phillies' Larry Bows reaches the bag in the second inning of Sunday's game in Philadelphia. Bowa beat out the bunt for a hit as the Phillies won, 5-3. (AP Laserphoto)

There may be discard in the Los Angeles locker room, but on the field the Dodgers still are a well-oiled machine.

Pitching ace Don Sutton and star first baseman Steve Garvey were involved in a fightwrestling match in the dressing room before the Dodgers' 5-4 victory over the New York Mets Sunday. The altercation was spurred by a newspaper article in which Sutton was quoted as saying: "All you hear about on our team is Steve Garvey, the All-American boy. But Reggie Smith was the real MVP. We all know it....(Smith) has carried us the last two years. He is not a facade. He does not have the Madison Avenue image."

Joe Ferguson's double was the key hit, scoring Ron Cey with the winning run. Ferguson lined a shot which New York left fielder Steve Henderson misjudged, the ball carrying over his head as Cey scored.

Elsewhere in the NL, San Francisco dropped two games behind Los Angeles in the West by losing 5-3 to Philadelphia; Chicago nipped Cincinnati 2-1; Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from Houston, 7-6 and 3-1; San Diego defeated Montreal 5-4 winner, and St. Louis beat Atlanta 6-4.

Ted Simmons' two-run double off Atlanta ace Phil Niekro, 1513, sparked the Cards' victory. Garry Templeton and George Hendrick led off the seventh with bunt singles and Simmons followed with his big hit.

Clark Sets Junior Record

Abrner Clark of Greenville set a national age group record in the triple jump Saturday at the state AAU age group track and field championships at East Carolina University's Bunting Field.

Clark had a leap of 45-6 to eclipse the old mark for 14-15-year-olds by three inches.

One other national record was broken and another tied at the meet. Mike Benjamin of New Bern ran the high hurdles in 13.9 to set a new mark for 16-17-year-olds and Matt Cairo of Jacksonville tied the national record for the 12-13 age group with a 10.3 in the 100.

Greenville's Chris McLawhorn won the long jump in the 14-15 age group with a leap of 21-10, and McLawhorn and Clark teamed with Joe Weipert and Steve Saunders to run a 4:53.440 relay, the fifth best time in the nation in their age group.

The meet was sponsored by the Greenville Recreation Department.

David Pearson Again Drives To Victory Lane At Michigan

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (AP) — Winning at Michigan International Speedway has become habit for David Pearson.

In the 10 years the track has been operating, the 43-year-old "Silver Fox" from Spartanburg, S.C., has dominated stock car races here like no other driver.

He made his ninth trip to the MIS Victory Lane with a whisker-thin triumph Sunday in the $142,500 400-mile NASCAR event.

"I've always like it. It's my favorite track," Pearson said after nosing out Cale Yarborough and Darrell Waltrip by 0.32 seconds to take the checkered flag and $15,825 winner's purse.

The 200-lap event around the two-mile oval climaxed in a one-lap dash when the caution light flashed on lap 193 and remained lit until the final circuit.

Dave Marcis, whose Chevrolet assumed the lead when the three front-runners pitted under caution, gambled by staying on the track and ran out of fuel on the final lap.

Waltrip gunned his Chevy in front of Marcis, but Pearson's Mercury slipped ahead in turn two and held off Waltrip and Yarborough, who clipped Waltrip at the finish line to capture $14,275 second-place money. Marcis settled for fourth. "I was in the right spot. I couldn't go wrong," Pearson said. I just slingshot past (Waltrip). I thought Cale'd be the guy really gunning for me at the finish."

The final caution — the last of seven which slowed the average speed to 133.921 mph — came when Richard Petty, driving a Chevrolet for the first time in his brilliant career, blew a tire and climbed the wall in turn three. He had been running consistently in the top ten but the wreck relegated him to 14th place.

Petty's debut in the Chevy Monte Carlo — prompted by a more than year-long victory drought in his traditional Chrysler ride — was stronger than most expected. He never drove the car until three days before the race and qualified 14th at 158.583 mph, compared with Pearson's record pole-winning time of 164.073.

"I felt like we did all right," said Petty, whose career 185 Grand National victories far outdistances any rivals. "We outran a lot of people, probably more than I expected."

"We did all right," added Richard's father, Lee, who helps build the Petty racers. "I'm right tickled with the way we ran up until that little incident in turn three."

Yarborough, the defending NASCAR national champion, led about one-third of the race — 72 laps — before a blown tire forced him to an unscheduled pit stop. He managed to stay in the lead lap and became a factor following the Petty crash.

Daytona 500 winner Bobby Allison finished fifth, followed by Dick Brooks, J.D. McDuffie, Lennie Pond, Neil Bonnett and Ferrel Harris.

A crowd of more than 50,000 was on hand under clear skies and temperatures in the 70s. The same event last year, won by Waltrip, was delayed a day by rain.

The race was sponsored by Champion Spark Plugs.

SUNDAY ACCIDENT — A Sunday afternoon accident in Black Jack left four persons with minor injuries when two trucks collided. According to Trooper J. A. Brinkley, a truck driven by Stephen Franklin Walters, Jr., of Greenville was headed west on rural paved road 1774, when it was struck by a truck driven by Charlie D. Elks, II, of Chocowinity. Elks, according to the trooper, was driving with a learner's permit. He was accompanied by his father, Charlie David Elks. No charges were made. Three other persons in the Walters vehicle received minor injuries. Members of the Winterville and Greenville Rescue Squads were called to the 4:55 p.m. wreck. Damage was estimated at $6,000 to the Walters truck and boat, and $1,500 to the Elks vehicle. Senate May Give Approval To Amendment Giving D.C. Voice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Residents of the nation's capital may find out this week whether Congress, which agreed 18 years ago to let them vote for president, is willing to let them choose representatives and senators.

A Senate vote is scheduled for Tuesday on a proposed constitutional amendment, already approved by the House, to give voting representation in both houses of Congress to the 705,000 people in the District of Columbia.

Also on the Senate's agenda for the week is a bill providing federal aid to highways. The House is in recess until after Labor Day.

Both supporters and opponents of the D.C. voting representation measure said the outcome was too close to call. It needs a two-thirds majority of the full Senate, which is 67 votes, regardless of whether all senators are present.

GACOC Conference

The Board of Directors of the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce has planned and approved the third out-of-town planning conference for Oct. 13-15 at the Sheraton Inn, Myrtle Beach, S. C.

All chamber members and community leaders are asked to meet and share ideas for short and long range goals for the GACOC at the planning weekend. If interested in attending the conference, call the Chamber office, 752-4101.

Residents of the district were disenfranchised when it became the seat of government in 1800. A constitutional amendment approved by Congress in 1960 and ratified the next year gave them the right to vote for president and vice president.

Since 1971, they have had a non-voting delegate in the House.

Backers of the measure say it is unfair to deny voting representation to a district with more people than seven states; which pays more taxes than 11 of them and lost more of its men in Vietnam than 10 states.

Opponents say Washington is a city, not a state, and cities should not be entitled to two senators. They say these senators would represent exclusively urban interests and would be swayed by the district's dependence on the federal government.

Over the weekend, both Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., and Minority Leader Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., said they would support the voting rights bill.

'Sultan Of Smut' Kept Eye On Reputation While Doing Business

By CHARLES CAMPBELL Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Michael G. Thevis once called himself "a businessman in an unusual business." The Reader's Digest put it another way, titling him "The Sultan of Smut."

Raised by Greek immigrant grandparents in Raleigh, N.C., Thevis hitchhiked here when he was 17 and two years later opened a bookstore. But his career did not blossom until he realized the public's appetite for sexually explicit literature could be translated into hard cash.

"I sensed that something was happening with reader demands in the early 1960s," he explained in an interview several years ago. "Books that dealt with sex don't stay on the shelves very long."

Thevis, now 56, became a millionaire with that idea but he also developed troubles. When he ambled out of an unlocked door at an Indiana jail while serving time on obscenity and conspiracy charges, he wound up on the FBI's most wanted list.

And it was not just the nature of his product that upset authorities. A racketeering indictment alleges that he founded his pornography empire — and tried to expand it nationwide — by murder and extortion.

In federal court in Dallas, an attorney for one of his co-defendants described Thevis as "the most notorious fugitive from federal justice today save only Robert Vesco" — the financier who bilked investors out of millions before fleeing to the Caribbean.

While Thevis was building his fortune, he was not unmindful of his reputation. Newspaper reports says he supported Little League baseball, symphonies and operas and Atlanta's High Museum of Art.

It was alleged that while in prison he donated $400,000 to Jimmy Carter's presidential campaign, but both he and the Carter camp have denied this.

U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young wrote two letters, one before and one after he resigned his Georgia congressional seat, supporting Thevis' request for a prison transfer. Young said his intervention was a routine service to a constituent. Newspaper reports also said that while in jail Thevis paid guards for favors, and a grand jury report said he was allowed visits from a woman friend, Patricia McLean, for sexual relations. She is scheduled to go on trial Aug. 28 on charges of helping him to escape.

Thevis was serving 8½ years on convictions for transportation of obscene materials in Atlanta, New Orleans and

Jacksonville, Fla., and for conspiracy involving a warehouse fire in Louisville, Ky. If that charge was his only legal problem, he might have been paroled this fall, but on April 28 he slipped out of the New Albany, Ind., jail where he was being held while testifying in a court case.

Little more than a month after his escape, a federal grand jury in Atlanta issued a racketeering indictment alleging that Thevis, an associate, two corporations and seven unindicted co-conspirators plotted to gain nationwide control of the pornography business.

The charges against Thevis include murder, conspiracy to commit murder, arson, extortion and mail fraud.

The 14-count indictment said he shot to death one business competitor in Atlanta in 1970 and ordered the murder of another.

Former Inspector Is Losing His Privacy

SIX MILE BOTTOM, England (UPI) — The former Scotland Yard inspector who says James Earl Ray just about admitted to him killing Martin Luther King Jr. is finding his privacy disappearing — and wondering why he ever came forward.

"No, I won't talk," said former Detective Chief Inspector Alexander Eist, whose words already have been heard at a U.S. House committee hearing on the King murder and in a U.S. television network interview.

"If I'd had any idea what a bombshell this would be — but I thought all this was known," said Eist, who now owns the Green Man pub in Six Mile Bottom, a small farming community halfway between Cambridge and Newmarket.

Eist said Ray, while imprisoned in Britain awaiting extradition to the United States for the King slaying in 1968, admitted indirectly that he had shot the black leader in Memphis, Tenn.

"Everyone keeps asking why I didn't come forward with this 10 years ago when the original trial was on. Well, then Ray was pleading guilty. I felt he was guilty. There was no conflict. What did I have to offer?"

"I only came forward because I read somewhere that Ray had changed his plea to innocent and was trying to implicate the FBI and I knew they'd done a damn good job with him — the agents I saw dealing with him in London, anyway, and I wanted to give my impression of his guilt."

Eist's testimony before the House Assassination committee that Ray seemed "quite proud" of having killed King brought sharp recriminations from Ray's lawyer, Mark Lane, who charged Eist was a discredited policeman accused of crimes including perjury and inventing confessions.

Eist acknowledged some charges were once brought against him, but added, "there was never any question of my being dismissed from the force because of the charges. My retirement was honorable."

Scotland Yard Saturday issued a statement saying Eist "in July 1976 was charged with conspiracy to commit corruption and two counts of conspiracy to pervert the course of justice. Earlier this year ... he was acquitted."

Eist, mustachioed and dressed impeccably in a tweed jacket and brown pants in his two-room pub, was reticent to talk about almost everything except his impressions of Ray, about which there was no question.

"He was shifty, crafty. I knew him for only two months, but you have to remember it wasn't a normal knowing. It was sitting in a room with a man for three, four hours at a time. If you asked him a question, he'd pull back right away. So I'd just let him talk."

"He was smart, that's for sure, and never came right out and said he killed King. But he said he could be famous and rich back in the States if he wrote a book about himself."

"Yes, you could say he gloried in it."

Market Has Honor System

CULLASAJA, N.C. (AP) — "We've found folks to be honest. They pay for what they take."

That's what Mrs. Theon Stanfield says when she tells of the honor system produce stand she operates on U.S. 64 southeast of Franklin. It's one of five similar roadside stands in a three-mile stretch of the heavily-traveled highway.

"It's a self-service, honor market," Mrs. Stanfield said from her home a mile up Lickskill Branch where she was canning pickled beans and corn. "We trust folks to leave the money for what they take. And we've never been disappointed."

"Oh, we'll miss a little once in a while, but not enough to make us want to stop the market," she added. "At such times we don't know whether somebody took some vegetables without paying or if somebody took some of the money out of the jar."

Mrs. Stanfield explained she got the idea for the honor market when they were down in Florida in 1967. There a woman had such a stand "so we decided to try it here."

"As you probably saw, we put our vegetables, such as beans and tomatoes in individual baskets," she continued. And on the back wall of the stand is a price list. The beans fetch 25 cents a basket and the tomatoes 75 cents a basket. Cucumbers go for 10 cents apiece and corn a dollar a bushel or 10 cents an ear. Onions are five cents each and acorn squash 45 cents each.

"We keep a supply of paper bags at the stand for our customers. And there's a fruit jar on the counter with a sign on it telling them to put their money in it and saying, 'Thank you.'"

"We open up the stand every year when the beans and the squash start coming in. What we have for sale varies as to how my garden comes in. I failed completely on cucumbers this time. But the corn and the tomatoes are doing real well."

"The children eat their school lunches out of the stand. It pays for them the year round. I have two children in school now. My daughter Pam is a junior and my son Doug is a sophomore."

"Next year we'll have strawberries for sale for the first time. My son set out 1,700 plants this year. It's one of his 4-H projects."

Says Federal Prison Better

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Attorney Jerry Paul says his client, Joan Little, would be a lot better off if she were in a federal prison rather than the North Carolina Correctional Center for Women here.

Paul said she would be happier because she could be earning points toward her release.

"All federal prisons are better than North Carolina's prison system," Paul said recently.

But more than two months after her return to the state, Miss Little remains isolated from fellow inmates at the center. Deputy prisons director W.L. Kautzky said her case has been routine since she returned, and her attitude has been positive.

became nationally famous in 1975 when she was acquitted of murder charges in the death of a sheriff's deputy she said had assaulted her sexually.

The stabbing death occurred while she was awaiting appeal of a breaking-and-entering conviction. The appeal subsequently was turned back, and she began serving a seven-year sentence.

Last Oct. 15 she escaped from the center, claiming later she was being harassed by prisoners and guards and that her life would be in danger if she returned. She was recaptured in New York in December and returned here after a six-month extradition fight.

She was isolated in a four-person cell with empty cells around her. Those cells have since been filled, and Miss Little gets an hour of exercise outside daily and is allowed some outside phone calls.

Don't Believe It Can't Happen

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Most people my age (22) know what VD is, but they don't think it can happen to them. Well, you don't have to be a "run-around" to get it.

I was a virgin until I was 21. Then I fell in love and went all the way with my boyfriend. Soon after, he told me he just found out that he had gonorrhea, so I went to a clinic and found out that I had it too!

I had treatments and was cured. We fought about this for some time because I knew I hadn't been with anyone else, and he swore he hadn't either.

After we broke up, I fell in love with another guy and we had sex. Soon after, he told me that he had VD, so I went to the clinic again, and sure enough, I had it too! (Syphilis.)

Now that this has happened a second time, I have decided that sex before marriage is not for me.

Abby, please let your readers know how easy it is to get VD. Both these guys looked so clean. I never thought it could happen to me.

LEARNED MY LESSON

DEAR LEARNED: Anyone who is sexually active should know how to prevent VD and how to spot the symptoms. Your county department of public health can provide you with free information, examinations and treatment if necessary. (They are listed in your telephone book.) Planned Parenthood offices also provide free information on how to prevent (and cure) VD. Or ask any physician.

You can get VD from intimate body contact—heavy petting and intercourse. You can't get it from a toilet seat or a doorknob.

Both gonorrhea and syphilis CAN be completely cured if treated promptly by a doctor. If untreated, they can cause blindness, sterility, paralysis, heart disease and even death. If you are under 18 and can't level with your parents, treatment is available in most states without parental knowledge or consent.

For information concerning VD, phone this toll-free number from anywhere in the United States: 800-523-1885. You'll be connected to "Operation Venus," located in Philadelphia.

DEAR ABBY: I love ya, but you've been harping on the evils of smoking often enough. Knock it off, will you?

DRAG QUEEN

DEAR QUEEN: I know that I have been harping on the evils of smoking often. But not often enough.

DEAR ABBY: I will be married soon and everything is all set. There's only one problem. Since my parents are hosting the rehearsal dinner, they thought it would be appropriate to serve champagne. But my fiancée's family belongs to a church that doesn't believe in drinking alcoholic beverages.

What is proper in a case like this? We'll go along with whatever you say.

ANXIOUSLY WAITING

DEAR WAITING: When entertaining, if some guests drink alcoholic beverages and others do not (for any reason), serve a selection of beverages and let your guests take their choice.

Do you wish you had more friends? For the secret of popularity, get Abby's new booklet, "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (25 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

First Soldier Back In Saigon

By RICHARD H. GROWLAND
UPI National Reporter
Hickam AFB, Hawaii (UPI)
—Mike Eiland shook his head. He couldn't think of the words.

Eiland was trying Saturday to conjure up a suitable sentence to accompany an act of some historical note—being the first American soldier to return to what was Saigon but now is Ho Chi Minh City.

The 38-year-old Army lieutenant colonel from San Diego, Calif., is the interpreter for an eight-man congressional delegation moving across the Pacific to reach Ho Chi Minh City next Wednesday for a day and a night.

The words did not come. "Maybe words won't be necessary," Eiland said. The eyes behind the eyeglasses squinted. He put a hand through his brown hair. "It'll be the thought that counts," he said.

Eiland spent five years in uniform in Vietnam—"It was the place for a soldier to be." He left with the U.S. Army before the former South Vietnamese capitol fell to Hanoi's troops in April, 1975.

His current mission was in multi. Like other military men out of the tailored tauntness of a uniform, Eiland appeared a little too casual, maybe a bit floppy in his loose sport shirt and slacks. He carried no weapon. This time his tongue was the tool of his interpreter's profession.

The returning of Mike Eiland was but another special asterisk to the mission of the congressmen led by Rep. G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery, D-Miss. Montgomery's men will be the first elected U.S. officials allowed by Hanoi to visit Ho Chi Minh City. Their travel signaled a possible shift in Washington-Hanoi relations.

On the diplomatic surface, Montgomery was seeking further word on the 340 U.S. servicemen still listed as missing in action in the Vietnam War. But the mission runs deeper.

Hanoi has dropped its demand for $5 billion in U.S. reconstruction money. Hanoi suffers from a poor rice harvest, from the cost of border fighting with Cambodia, from the flight of 160,000 Chinese to an angered China and from a still-ruptured economy. Hanoi wants help.

It wants America to drop its trade ban against Vietnam. It wants U.S. aid in developing its offshore oil. Having lost Chinese aid and having become more dependent on Moscow, Hanoi wants Western hands to help keep its independence.

Vietnam remains the world's third greatest Communist military power. Behind only Russia and China and although it has run out of spare parts for the $2 billion in U.S. arms captured in 1975.

It remains powerful enough in southeast Asia, Montgomery told at a Friday night military dinner. "For America—STILL THE MOST POWERFUL COUNTRY ON EARTH—to take an interest in."

In Washington and in the delegation there was talk of this mission possibly leading to an exchange of embassies between Washington and Hanoi.

"The timing is right," said Rep. Hensen Moore, D-La., a delegation member. The congressmen spent Saturday night in Manila before flying to Hanoi Sunday and then on to Ho Chi Minh City Wednesday. After Vietnam, they will visit Laos on a smaller, similar mission before returning to Washington Aug. 28.

Dollar Rebounds

LONDON (AP) — The dollar rebounded sharply on the world's foreign exchanges today, buoyed by the Federal Reserve Board's increase in the discount rate from 7 1/4 to 7 3/4 percent.

But dealers said trading was nervous. They were waiting for the Carter administration to do more.

The dollar gained nearly 4 yen in Tokyo, 2 pfennigs in Frankfurt, nearly 5 centimes in Zurich and Paris and 7 lire in Milan.

The price of gold plunged in London and Zurich but was still above $205 an ounce.

The dollar rose more than 2 percent in Tokyo to close at 190.15 yen, up from 186.025 at the end of business Friday.

before the Federal Reserve's announcement.

'Friend' Has a Dropped Bladder

I have a close friend who has a dropped bladder. She is very nervous and will not see a doctor. Would you please give me advice as to what she can do if she continues refusing to see a doctor. — Mrs. B.K., N.Y.

Dear Mrs. K.: Forgive me if I ask, but are you yourself the "very close friend" who refuses to see a doctor? Frequently, I have the feeling that readers ask questions about non-existent friends or relatives because they don't want to admit they are the person with the problem.

There are few choices open to anybody immature enough to refuse to see a doctor. I must assume that the diagnosis of "dropped bladder" was made by one. Therefore, "she" probably did see a doctor at some time.

The choice is very simple. Either she continues to have the symptoms and ceases to complain or else does the more mature thing and returns to the doctor for some specific treatment.

The urinary bladder is a hollow organ situated at the bottom of the abdominal cavity. The bladder collects the urine that is excreted by the kidney and expels it through the urethra to the outside. The bladder is a muscular organ and therefore changes in size and shape depending on the amount of urine within it. When it enlarges, messages are sent by way of the spinal cord to the brain. That is how one knows when to empty the bladder.

Like all other organs, it is susceptible to infection, inflammation, growths, stones, and a variety of other disorders. Since it is suspended by ligaments and muscles, a "dropped bladder" can occur if these suspensory ligaments are inadequate. The highly refined techniques that are now available can remedy bladder disturbances both medically and surgically. Unless this is done, a relatively simple problem can become a complicated one.

Now, Mrs. K., if you are as close a friend as you say you are, you must urge your friend to return to her doctor as a preliminary step in her return to health.

What is meant by twilight sleep? — Miss E.R., Maine. Dear Miss R.:

I presume the term was created because twilight is a period between positive light and complete darkness.

Twilight sleep is a state of lowered consciousness or sedation following the combined use of the drugs morphine and scopolamine. This combination of drugs is often given to patients before they are taken to the operating room. This helps to reduce their emotional tension and also to increase the safety of general anesthesia. Patients who are in a state of twilight sleep can respond to instructions, but the experience is almost totally forgotten.

The Integon Life Insurance Corporation Board of Directors wanted to say "thank you" to Booger Scales and Greenville.

It took 214 words to do it.

WHEREAS, Waightstill Morehead Scales, Jr. has since November 15, 1948 represented Security Life and Trust Company and Integon Life Insurance Corporation with enthusiasm, loyalty and dependability; and

WHEREAS, Waightstill Morehead Scales, Jr. has during this time ably served the residents of Greenville, North Carolina, and others with financial protection through life insurance; and

WHEREAS, Waightstill Morehead Scales, Jr. is the all-time leading general agent for Integon Life Insurance Corporation, setting consecutive sales records every year; and

WHEREAS, Waightstill Morehead Scales, Jr. has distinguished his company, his industry and himself through selfless acts for the people of Greenville, North Carolina, through civic and community work; and

WHEREAS, Waightstill Morehead Scales, Jr. has once again led all Integon Life Insurance Corporation general agents in life insurance sales and has once again been named president of the Integon Life Insurance Corporation Inner Circle; and

WHEREAS, his life insurance in force now exceeds fifty-million dollars.

NOW THEREFORE LET IT BE RESOLVED THAT:

The Board of Directors of Integon Life Insurance Corporation do formally recognize the outstanding sales, community and policyowner service of Waightstill Morehead Scales, Jr., do commend him on his most outstanding sales career, and do sincerely congratulate and thank him for the aforesaid contributions to his clients, his company, his state, and his industry.

The foregoing resolution was enthusiastically adopted on July 14, 1978.

When you're honoring the company's all-time leading insurance agent, you want to be sure you're doing it right.

And when this is the first time in the company's 58-year history that you're so honoring someone, you want to be thorough.

So, we had quite a few things to say, because Booger Scales and Greenville, North Carolina mean so much to Integon Life Insurance Corporation.

We hope you'll read all of our resolution. But if 214 words are too much, we'll just say: Thank you, Booger. Thank you, Greenville.
